Snowfall poses problems

A year of extremes

By DON WOODS

A year of extremes in Big Spring weather was evidenced further by a weekend snow. Official estimates placed snowfall at five to eight inches, though indications are that snow was much deeper in other areas.

The snow followed unseasonably warm temperatures the previous weekend when the high was 94 degrees. Other weather extremes were the summer drought and heat wave, followed by record setting rainfall in September.

Indications that snow was deeper than the official weather station measurement include measurement 14 inches of snow on an exposed log at the home of Herald Circulation Director Chuck Benz, who lives in the southwest section of the city. Also, Boyce Hale, with a home south of Big Spring, measured 15 inches of snow.

Drifts of up to three feet were measured around town.

The precipitation here actually amounted to .36 inch.

The Saturday and Sunday night barrage of wet stuff compared with the town's record snowfall on Nov. 22, 1963, the day of the assassination of President Kennedy.

Truckers and stranded travelers piled into the parking lots of Rip Griffin Truck Stop, overflowing into the IS 20 service road and the middle lane and shoulders of N. 87.

One bearded young trucker from New Jersey sat in the cab of his rig when the restaurant became too crowded.

"Better I don't roll," he said. The trucker, who asked not to be named, had been stopped since 4 a.m. He was hauling General Electrical products from Trenton, N.J. to Los Angeles for North American Van Lines.

"It's been that way since yesterday," said the cashier at the full restaurant, referring to the full parking lot. "It just snowed, that's all. As far as I'm concerned it can go to Hades somewhere," she said.

Both truckers and travelers were stuck. "Most everybody is stranded," said one trucker, who also asked not to be named. He had been hauling salvage surplus from the east for K and R Distributors to Arizona. He had seen quite a few wrecks on the way, he said. He and another trucker had stayed in the Mid-Continent Inn overnight after arriving at 9 p.m. Sunday.

Two other truckers from Houston said they had just stopped for coffee and would be continuing on the frozen road toward Lubbock. They were traveling for Turner Brothers, Oklahoma City, Okla., hauling oil field equipment. The two were coming from San Angelo, slowed by six inches of snow and ice on the road. They could only go about 25 miles an hour, they said.

Three Jenco rigs hauling pipe were stranded. They had stayed the night here. "We're a day late right now," said one. "We may be two or three. We're not making no money. We're going to have to wash dishes before we have money to eat, I guess."

IS 20 was virtually empty this morning at 9:30 a.m. as a few small flakes of snow fell.

Howard County Sheriff's Office received numerous calls Sunday about road conditions. "There ain't no telling how many calls we got here yesterday," said Deputy Sheriff Bill Shankles.

At least 80 cars slid off N. 87 Sunday night, including a Department of Public Safety vehicle.

"It doesn't look like we're ever going to get out," the trooper had said.

Authorities set up roadblocks on N. 87 just outside Big Spring Sunday night.

All local and area schools were dismissed today.

Road conditions reported today by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation, by districts, included:

Wichita Falls — Slushy pavements with some ice on structures.

Childress — Four to six inches of snow over the entire district. Main roads open and traffic moving, but most farm roads have not been cleared.

Abilene — Main roads open, structures icy but sanded.

Lubbock — Five to 12 inches of snow over the district, U.S. highways open, but many others not passable.

Amarillo — All roads icy and slick. Interstate 40E particularly poor for travel. Improvement expected later in the day.

Big Spring — Texas 176 closed from north of Big Spring to Texas 349. Remainder of the roads open but driving hazardous.

San Angelo — Texas 158 between Sterling City and Robert Lee closed. Other major routes passable.

Total for the year is now 29.67 inches of moisture. Normal total for this time of year is 17.43 inches. The normal total rainfall for an entire year is 18 inches.

Iranians reinforce against Iraqi gains

BAGHDAD, Iraq (AP) — Iraqi forces attacking Susangerd sank 12 Iranian gunboats in the Karkheh River on the outskirts of the city, the Baghdad command said today. Iran said it sent in tanks and troop reinforcements behind rocket-firing helicopter gunships in what appeared to be a last-ditch effort to hold the southwestern highway city against the invaders.

Kuwait, meanwhile, charged Iran with the second rocket attack on its border in five days and the government held an emergency session to draft a protest note to Iran. Kuwaiti newspapers said the raids were a deliberate Iranian attempt to expand the theater of the two-month-old Persian Gulf war.

Tehran Radio said troop reinforcements, supported by tanks, shot their way through an Iraqi siege and entered Susangerd at midday, joining other defenders "in the valiant city."

Military communiques from Baghdad and Tehran said hundreds of killed and wounded lay in the embattled streets of Susangerd. Both sides claimed Sunday they had killed 500 of each other's soldiers in house-to-house fighting there.

Today's Iraqi communique said in addition to sinking the gunboats, its forces destroyed 10 rocket-launching bases, eight Iranian anti-tank missile launchers and 22 military vehicles in Susangerd, and that "the enemy lost a huge number of soldiers killed in the operations Sunday night and early Monday."

The Tehran broadcast did not say where the reinforcements were sent from. A probable source is the city of Ahwaz, which has the largest army garrison in southwestern Iran and is 30 miles to the north.

A Baghdad communique said Iraqi forces in the drive to capture Susangerd killed 40 Iranian soldiers in mid-morning battles. It conceded 34 Iraqis killed in the morning fighting in Susangerd and elsewhere on the battlefield.

The communique claimed Iraqi troops sank 12 boats in the Karkheh River, which runs along the northeastern outskirts of Susangerd, to close all routes of escape to the city's garrison and Islamic revolutionary guards.

Fires destroy more than 100 homes in L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Roaring fires moved on in front of the capricious Santa Ana winds today after inflicting losses in the tens of millions of dollars over 44,000 acres of parched brushland. More than 100 homes were damaged or destroyed and at least one person died.

Some of the hillside homes were valued at more than $1 million.

Choking smoke and ash blown by the northeasterly winds, which ranged up to 80 mph, blanketed areas several miles from the nine fires that raged through the weekend.

While the fires spread, homeowners tried to salvage bits of their charred homes. One old man wept in the arms of his pregnant daughter as a forlorn dog sat near smoldering ruins in the posh Bradbury area.

The wind and fires interrupted electricity to some 50,000 homes, though power was restored to more than 90 percent of them by Sunday night.

A power failure to one pumping station cut water pressure, frustrating firefighters already having trouble pushing away the curbs, officials said.

Two people were arrested on charges of looting ruined homes.

Fire authorities called a "red flag" alert throughout Southern California due to high fire danger, severely restricting activity in brushy areas. There has been no significant rain here since April.

Added together, the fires had consumed about 70 square miles of land.

In the Carbon Canyon blaze, about 30 miles southeast of Los Angeles in Orange County, several horses died and a number of homes were charred as flames raced across 8,000 acres, fire officials said.

The flames raced through an oil field so quickly they jumped the wells and roared on to threaten the small community of Olinda, burning up to the lawns of several evacuated homes before being stopped.

The 10,000-acre Sunland fire forced residents of suburban Glendale and Burbank out of their homes, said Burbank Fire Department spokesman Rich Kaufman. That blaze claimed 12 homes.

"The fire is almost on top of us. This is a terrifying experience," Burbank resident Jack Elwood said before dashing to hose down his roof.

The Sunland fire started when tension wires blown together by 80-mph winds short-circuited, showering a nearby tree with sparks.

Twenty miles to the east, in the exclusive suburb of Bradbury, John Hervey, 47, suffered a fatal heart attack as he evacuated his home, a Santa Teresita Hospital official said.

The Bradbury blaze was the most destructive of Sunday's brushfires, blasting through 12,000 acres and destroying or damaging 76 homes.

Officials were looking for the cause of the blaze. One official estimated damage to the homes at $25 million.

A 40-acre blaze near the suburban Pacific Palisades home of President-elect Ronald Reagan was extinguished before doing any damage to houses.

Nuclear power costs rise

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Two utilities may need rate increases of almost 50 percent by 1984 to recover unexpected expenses in constructing a nuclear power plant, according to a confidential report obtained by The Associated Press.

The document, prepared by a Chicago consulting firm, said rising costs of the Wolf Creek nuclear plant near Burlington are placing a financial strain on Kansas Gas & Electric Co. and Kansas City Power & Light Co. The utilities serve customers in Missouri and Kansas.

The plant's price tag, now set at $1.7 billion, has more than tripled since the project first was proposed in the early 1970s.

Ribicoff's niece honored

WEST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The 23-year-old niece of Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., was eulogized as a woman "far beyond her years" as 600 people gathered at a synagogue to mourn her death in a holdup.

Sara Ribicoff was shot to death Wednesday night when two robbers accosted her and a companion outside a restaurant in Venice, Calif.

Miss Ribicoff, who grew up in Hartford and graduated last year from Yale University, was remembered Sunday as "bright, perceptive" and a "promising journalist." She had been working as an editorial writer at the Los Angeles Herald Examiner.

Deer shot at petting zoo

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — A $2,450 reward is being offered by a local humane society and a sportsmen's group for information leading to the arrest of a gunman who shot a pet deer at the city's children's zoo and then hauled it away.

Abner, an 11-point, 260-pound deer, probably was asleep when someone cut the chain of his compound last month, walked in, shot the deer and watched as it fled to death, said zookeeper Karl Enter.

The Athens-Clarke Humane Society and the Ethical Sportsmen Awareness Committee are offering the reward.

Stolen infant found

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — A newborn infant who was snatched from her mother's arms two weeks ago was found in good condition in the front seat of an automobile, police said.

Police said they had filed child-stealing charges against Floretta Kerkulah, a former employee at St. Vincent's Hospital. Authorities said the woman was apprehended Saturday after going to a telephone booth she had used previously to call her husband during the two-week abduction.

Jo Juan Kyle, born Oct. 31, was found in good condition on the front seat of the woman's car. It was not known why the baby was abducted. She was taken from her mother's arms at the hospital on Nov. 1.

Dallas paper reports Mafia works in Texas

DALLAS (AP) — The long arm of the Mafia stretches from Southeast Texas to Dallas and reaches into gambling and pornography operations across the state, a Dallas newspaper says.

The Dallas Morning News reported Sunday that at least four Mafia families are believed to operate in the state.

"There is nothing new about organized crime in Texas," said Aaron Kohn, former director of the New Orleans Crime Commission. "It's intricate, interwoven, but not concealed from anyone who chooses to find it."

Quoting an unnamed source in the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council, the newspaper said Carlos Marcello, an alleged New Orleans Mafia boss, "definitely has influence" in Dallas.

Marcello, 70, has long been connected to Texas, Kohn told the newspaper.

"The Marcello gambling network always included major areas of Texas," he said.

Kohn said Marcello had a "very close relationship" with Joe Civello, whom the FBI named as the leading Dallas Mafia figure in the 1960s, according to the newspaper.

C.T. Burney, chief of the Dallas Police Department's organized crime unit, said at least four local families are owned by Mafia families — including Marcello, the Gambino family of New York, and the Giancana family of Chicago.

But Burney noted that "there is nothing illegal about owning a company," although police "try to keep up with what's going on at these companies."

Houston Mayor Jim McConn said at a Friday news conference that authorities believe Mafia money is being invested in Houston pizza parlors, banks, vending machine businesses and other legitimate enterprises.

Quoting an unnamed source in the Austin Organized Crime Task Force, the newspaper reported that the Mafia also is involved in producing child pornography in Texas.

"They shoot this stuff in motel rooms, private homes, anywhere they can, and yes, it is controlled to a large degree by the (Mafia)," the source said.

The House select committee on child pornography concluded earlier this year that a large part of "kiddie porn" was made in Texas and shipped to California.

Two die of stabbing in Kermit

KERMIT, Texas (AP) — Just before she died of stab wounds, police say, 15-year-old Lee Ann Wallace staggered to a bedroom door and warned the frightened teen-ager inside, "Stay hidden."

Authorities refused to identify the girl for her protection, and a Kermit police investigator would not say Sunday night if detectives had a suspect in the stabbings.

"The more we keep this out of the public eye, the better off we are," said the investigator, who asked not to be named. "I just can't make any comment at this time."

When asked if the girl had been secluded for her own safety, the investigator said, "I don't believe so, but we're trying not to elaborate on anything in that category."

Tipped by an unidentified teen-ager, police arrived at the home Saturday morning and found Miss Wallace slumped against a bedroom door, dead of multiple stab wounds.

Miss Wallace had staggered back to the bedroom door after she was stabbed and warned the covering girl to "Be quiet; stay hidden," police said.

Also killed was Jeannie Marie Pardue, 31, police said.

Molly Ann Wallace, Mrs. Pardue's daughter-in-law, was in stable condition at Medical Center Hospital in Odessa with stab wounds Sunday night.

The attack took place in Mrs. Wallace's home.

Vehicles driven by Floyd Clark, Cisco and Danny Coldiron, 603 W. 17th collided at the 100 block of E. Third, 3:35 p.m.

Sales of 'K-cars' low

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit's Chrysler Corp. is not selling its new "K-car" front-wheel-drive compacts as quickly as it expected and is dropping overtime at the plants building them, an industry trade journal reported Monday.

The Jefferson Avenue assembly plant in Detroit and the Newark, Del., assembly plant reverted to eight-hour shifts from nine-hour shifts this week, Ward's Automotive Reports said.

Chrysler had announced on Thursday that the plants would work nine-hour shifts this week, but a spokesman who asked not to be identified confirmed Monday that eight-hour shifts were in effect, "now that availability at dealers has improved."

Chrysler has said it planned to produce 600,000 of the new compacts a year. Industry reports, however, say the company forecast actual sales of 490,000 in the 1981 model year — the period from Oct. 1 this year to Sept. 30 next year.

From introduction on Oct. 2 through Nov. 10, Chrysler sold 22,149 of the new K-cars, Dodge Aries and Plymouth Reliant, and 8,633 leftover cars of the predecessor family, Dodge Aspen and Plymouth Volare, which are about $1,000 or more cheaper.

That gave Chrysler 15 percent of the market for domestic compacts in the four sales periods from Oct. 1 through Nov. 10, up from 10 percent in the same period last year.

Based on recent sales patterns, Chrysler would expect to sell 13.9 percent of its compacts for the entire year during the Oct. 1-Nov. 10 period. If that pattern held for the coming year, Chrysler would sell only 220,000 compacts by next Sept. 30.

Upwards to 35 fiddlers representing all ages will be entered in the competition. Four winners will be declared in each of three categories — for entries 19 and under, those in the 20 to 55 age bracket and those over 55.

No entry fee will be charged.

Among those expected here include Ricky Boen, 19, the reigning champion of the association, Jaes Horton will be director of the meet.

Entries can be accepted up to 15 minutes before the first fiddler starts to play.

Chili dinner is cancelled

The Hillcrest Baptist Church's men have cancelled their chili dinner, which had been scheduled for tonight. The event was another casualty of the weather.

TREES TAKE A BEATING — A near-record snowfall which started here Saturday night and continued through early this morning proved to be especially devastating to trees. The snow piled up on the leaves to the extent that many of the limbs were broken. The weight carried the limbs of this old mesquite tree all the way to the ground.

Many suffer from malnutrition

Haitians return to homeland

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (AP) — Most of the 106 Haitians who tried to flee to Florida but got shipwrecked in the Bahamas for 40 days were back today in the same villages they never wanted to see again. But at least 20 were hospitalized in Port-au-Prince, suffering from malnutrition or beatings by the Bahamians.

Buses took the rest back to the Artibonite Valley in central Haiti, where malaria was prevalent last year; to Gonave Island off the central coast, where an eight-year drought has caused widespread hunger, and to the arid northern coast, the hardest hit of the erosion-plagued mountainous areas of Haiti.

The rusting Bahamian vessel Lady Moore picked them up from Cayo Lobos Island north of Cuba on Thursday and returned them to Port-au-Prince on Sunday. They looked hollow-eyed and gaunt when they stepped off the ship. A few told reporters they were glad it was over. Others shrugged and nervously said, "No, No," when reporters began asking questions.

The ship also brought 100 Haitians who had been in a Bahamian prison as illegal aliens, and five people claiming to be Cuban-Americans who were found on Cayo Lobos. The latter five were met by representatives of the U.S. Embassy who said they would check on their claim that they lived in Miami.

The refugees were escorted several hundred feet to a reception center where fruit juice, coffee, bread, water and blankets awaited them. So did Red Cross workers, doctors and dozens of policemen.

Nine refugees, including several pregnant women, were carried on stretchers and put into ambulances. Dr. Yves Renaud, an internist at the University Hospital in Port-au-Prince, said at least 20 were taken to the hospital, most with broken ribs, bruises or other injuries inflicted by the Bahamians who removed them from Cayo Lobos. He said they also were suffering from malnutrition.

Girls' contest is called off

The matchup between the Howard College Hawk Queens and opponents from Howard Payne has been cancelled because of weather. The game will be played at a date to be named in the future.

Dam model meets tests; experiments continue

A model of the Stacy dam has come through tests with flying colors.

While some simulated flood runs are continuing on a scale model of the dam at Colorado State University in Fort Collins, the most rugged tests have been completed. O.H. Ivie, general manager of Colorado Municipal Water District which will build the Stacy project, said that the tests had disclosed the need for some modifications, but that most of these will result in savings in construction as well as increase the security of the structure.

The dam model was constructed on an exact scale of one to 40, even down to the sizing of the rocks used as rip rap or in the stilling basin. Then river flows of every possible magnitude were routed through the spillway, and the emergency spillway, including the "100-year flood" of 285,000 cubic feet per second discharge (132,000 acre feet per day), or the maximum possible flood condition of 340,000 second feet (170,000 acre feet per day) discharge.

Because there is a bend in the river channel above the dam location, it may be necessary to construct a "spur" dike at one end of the spillway to convey the flow directly upon the face of the spillway and thus even the flow to all gates.

The ultimate flood test also revealed a moderate problem of tailwater when both the spillway and the emergency spillway are discharging at the absolute maximum.

Ivie said tests were continuing, and a final report from Colorado State University is expected before the end of the year.

Similar model tests on the dam at Lake E.V. Spence resulted in savings which more than paid for the study and also overcame some critical safety problems.

Goes to Washington today

Reagan begins work

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan, armed with a detailed strategy he says can make his promised tax and spending cuts a reality, prepared today to fly to Washington for the first time since being elected president two weeks ago.

In five days in Washington, he will meet with the man he defeated, Jimmy Carter; with congressional leaders of both parties; and with the transition staff he picked to help guide the transfer of power.

He is due to arrive in Washington in the early evening, fly by helicopter to a government guest house and, 30 minutes later, address by phone the nation's Republican governors, meeting in Philadelphia.

On Sunday, Reagan and former Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz, chairman of a committee of 14 prominent Republican economists who drafted the detailed spending and tax cut plan, met reporters. "It's all there in the paperback, some light weekend reading," he carried two large black, three-ring binders, which he said contained summaries of the recommendations.

"We're going to do what I said throughout the campaign we would do. These are plans for implementation, reducing the cost of government, reducing the burden on the people and getting a prosperity that would be shared by all," Reagan added.

Shultz said the report could reshape government and revitalize the economy. "Strong and decisive things can be done," Shultz said.

How is it then, that state tagging usually is done on the basis of spending government money? A liberal likes to spend; a conservative, doesn't.

But this basis isn't as clean as it appears.

Was Kent Caperton of Bryan a liberal when the business political action committees were pouring tens of thousands of dollars into Sen. Bill Moore's

Liberalism is a no-no

AUSTIN — Texas legislators probably won't show up in Austin next January wearing "Born-Again Conservative" buttons, but in their hearts they'll know they're "right."

The legislature never has been a hotbed of liberalism, but 1981 looks like the year that most representatives and senators cast off any semblance of left-leaning tendencies. At least they will do so in their own minds.

Liberal and conservative are terms that really don't mean much when applied to an individual lawmaker. Any member can claim any label he or she desires and the rest of us can either accept it or snicker about it.

If we're going to label someone, we need to establish some grading basis, and that's not easy.

In the public's mind, tagging usually is done on the basis of spending government money: A liberal likes to spend; a conservative, doesn't.

But this basis isn't as clean as it appears.

Was Kent Caperton of Bryan a liberal when the business political action committees were pouring tens of thousands of dollars into Sen. Bill Moore's Senate routinely rant about cutting spending and then work behind the scenes to get extra bucks for a home-area institution or for a pet project of some powerful lobbyist group such as highway contractors. Is that true conservatism?

Journalists and other political junkies in Austin usually try to use consumer issues or "people issues" to grade legislators for labeling. Under this system, a liberal votes for a strong consumer protection law, a conservative against it; a liberal supports increased aid to dependent children, a conservative doesn't.

A similar method involves using the business lobby and its legislative package for grading. Under this theory, conservatives are supported by the business lobby and support it; liberals aren't and don't.

That may be the best grading basis, since business lobbyists always call themselves conservatives and call for election of conservatives. And the business lobby usually gets its way around the Texas Capitol.

campaign? Did Caperton suddenly become a conservative once he beat Moore and started receiving big bucks from those same committees?

Sen. A.K. "Babe" Schwartz of Galveston is one of the few lawmakers who didn't scream every time someone called him a liberal, but he took lots of cash from business political action committees. The lobbyists undoubtedly were happy to see Schwartz lose on Nov. 4, but they had invested in him because he was an incumbent and they thought he was going to win.

The desire to back a winner dictates business lobby support more than do ideological considerations.

Snow makes a mess of roads in Texas

By The Associated Press

The frigid hand of winter touched Texas over the weekend as the season's first storm blew into the state, dumping over a foot of snow on parts of West Texas and making streets and highways dangerously slick.

Snowfall of two to four inches was common in West Texas, but 12 to 15 inches fell in Alpine, and eight to 10 inches covered the Sweetwater area.

The Department of Public Safety reported that all roads in Lubbock, Wichita Falls and Childress were snow-covered and dangerous.

"We got a bunch of ice, and a bunch of snow on top of that," said a Department of Public Safety spokesman in Lubbock. "It all adds up to one big problem: it's slick and hazardous any way you want to go out of Lubbock."

The National Weather Service reported that early Monday, most secondary roads from the Big Bend area northeast to San Angelo were closed, and main arteries were passable only with extreme caution.

In Amarillo, with snowdrifts three to four feet deep downtown, cars and trucks were stranded on the clogged thoroughfares and police said roads were "a mess."

Travelers in West Texas were urged to stay off the streets except when absolutely necessary.

It was cold and wet across most of the rest of the state, also creating hazardous driving conditions.

Two members of an Austin church were killed Sunday when a bus loaded with church members hydroplaned on a rain-slick road near Luling and flipped over. Thirty-six others were injured in the accident.

The dead were identified as Girdleen Jones, 46, and Bessie Grant, 43.

Early morning temperatures ran from 26 in Amarillo, to 29 in Midland and Lubbock, a chilly, snowy 32 in Abilene, to 44 in McAllen, it was a relatively warm 47, and cloudy, Dallas had a 37-degree reading, with light drizzle.

WEATHER FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Travelers' advisory for most of West Texas. Partly cloudy tonight and fair Tuesday. Lows tonight upper teens north to upper 20s south. Highs Tuesday upper 40s to low 50s except upper 30s mountains.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy with a slow warming trend. Lows 20s north to middle 30s south. Highs 40s north to lower 60s south.

Central Texas bus crash kills two

LULING, Texas (AP) — Members of an Austin church today mourned the deaths of two church members killed when their bus began slipping across a rain-slicked highway and flipped over just outside this Central Texas town.

Thirty-six others in the congregation were injured when the bus began hydroplaning and overturned on a curve of U.S. 183 Sunday morning, authorities said.

"I was almost asleep until the bus started to skid and then I woke up," said Herbert Patridge, 29, who was sitting behind the driver.

"The bus just started hydroplaning... and flipped on its side when it hit the ditch. I remember a lot, but I'd love to forget."

Patridge said he received several cuts and bruises when the bus flipped up and over.

Council meets Tuesday, 7:30

COAHOMA — Members of the Coahoma city council will wade through a relatively short agenda when they meet at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday in City Hall.

Councilmen will authorize the payment of monthly bills, discuss the charge for copies made on the Xerox machine, decide upon a contribution to the United Way, discuss the hiring of an outside employee and the purchase of a flatbed truck.

Horsemen ride trail to Gail

Horsemen totaling 32 from three organizations made a ride from here to Gail recently. The riders were from Howard County Sheriff's Posse, Outriders Club and Scurry County Sheriff's Posse.

Region six Princess Tammy Hicks was also one of the riders. Most of the group were members of the American Association of Sheriff Posses and Riding Clubs.

A hamburger cook-out was held on a ranch 28 miles north on the Snyder Highway. After spending the night, the group rode into Gail for lunch and spent the afternoon viewing the Gail Historical Museum and trailing their horses for the ride back home.

The bus had traveled about 50 miles on the 200-mile trip when the accident occurred, said Larry Todd, a spokesman for the Texas Department of Public Safety.

East Side church members held a special memorial service Sunday night in Austin for the victims, identified as Girdleen Jones, 46, and Bessie Grant, 43.

"They were both sitting right there in the third row behind the driver," said DPS Trooper Johnny Kuykendoll, glancing at the twisted wreckage. "They were the only ones killed. Why?"

Edward Jones said his wife, Girdleen, was sitting just across the aisle from him.

"I was just scratched on the leg, not really hurt at all," Jones said.

Lots of opportunites to celebrate

The 80s will be the decade when three presidential elections take place. With the Democrats already laying plans to recapture the White House in 1984, it should be interesting.

The 1980s take on special significance for Big Spring and Howard County residents for other reasons, too. A committee here is already at work to devote a few days in May to a celebration surrounding the coming of the Texas and Pacific Railroad to Big Spring.

IF COUNTY residents are so amind, they can also focus attention on the 100th anniversary of the organization of Howard County and the Big Spring school system during the decade. Big Spring's first general merchandise business was organized by the Fishers in the 1880s.

LOVERS OF THE purple grape might even want to hoist a few for the old Nip and Tuck Saloon. It was founded in the 1880s. The first newspaper published in Big Spring was the Pantagraph. Its first edition came off the press Feb. 10, 1883. Three years later, the owner of the paper installed the first George Washington hand press ever used in this part of the country.

It would stand to reason that, if Big Springers are in a celebrating mood, they will have lots of opportunities to explode a few firecrackers during the 80s. Coincidentally, the Texas Sesquicentennial will be in 1886. That is the year when the state will observe its 150th birthday anniversary. Preparations are already being made for that party.

Plans will be kicked off with a statewide contest to devise an official logo — a simple and readily-identifiable symbol, or trademark, of the special year.

Sponsoring the contest is the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission, which was created by the state legislature last year.

THE CONTEST TO develop a visual symbol, trademark or logo of the Sesquicentennial is open to all Texans. The rules are simple: (1) A person will be allowed only one entry; (2) all are eligible except Commission members, staff and their immediate families; (3) their signs must be submitted on one side of a plain, white 8 1/2 X 11 paper; (4) entrances' names, addresses, phone numbers and school affiliations (if any) are to be printed on the back; (5) all entries must be postmarked no later than Texas Independence Day March 2, 1981. The winner and the runnerup will be announced San Jacinto Day April 21, 1981.

Mailing address of the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission is PO Box 19860, Southeast Station, Austin, Tex. 79760.

Laundry types

Around the rim

Andrea Cohen

I'm one of those lucky people that get to drag all her clothes to the laundromat once a week. It's probably one of my most hated, and expensive jobs. It's not the quarters I have to plunk into the machine one at a time. It's just that I seem to lose at least one article of clothing every week either on my way to or my way back from that house of horror.

But as a regular of this great American institution I get to observe some types of people I'd like to share with you. THE DRYER HOGGER — She isn't a bad person really. It's just that she either has a tremendous family with loads of clothes and a husband that won't buy her a dryer, or she has a large wardrobe just for herself. She always seems to have at least four dryers filled to the brim with clothes, has the dryer on high heat, and the clothes take forever to dry. She is usually there when I'm in a rush and I can't get a dryer.

THE MECHANICAL WHIZ — This is the person who puts her quarters into the washer, but can never seem to get them pushed in. No matter how hard she tries, it gets stuck. When she finally does get it to move, the quarters jam inside and the washer won't go on anyway.

THE TABLE FREAK — We all know her. She was the one who was using four dryers a half hour ago and is now folding everything. The tables are large at the laundromat I go to, and she seems to take up the whole thing, from one end of the table to the other.

THE WINDOW GAZER — She is the one who is always sitting by the window when I get there. She doesn't do anything. She just gazes out the window. For over a year now, I've been trying to figure out what is so interesting out there. I'm not sure if she has clothes in the wash or she is a laundromat groupie.

THE LAUNDRY LOVER — This is the person who throws her clothes into the wash with three kids under her feet. For the waiting period, she takes out of what seems to be a magic bag, with a book for herself and games for the kids. It looks like a family outing. It's hard for me to understand that. I throw my laundry in the washer, go home, come back to dry the clothes and leave. I get out as soon as possible. Maybe that's why I seem to lose one article of clothing a week.

THE BACHELOR — You know he's a bachelor when he comes in and the whites get separated from permanent press and bright colors. Just the right amount of soap gets put in and the clothes are neatly folded. The bachelor however is not to be confused with...

THE DIVORCEE Any man who has been living with a woman and is now alone will be put under the category of divorcee. You always know him. Everything, and I mean everything, gets thrown in together. The heavily greased overalls get thrown in with the whites, soap gets poured in and he leaves with a look of disgust.

If you recognized any of these people, chances are you're a regular at the laundromat. My favorite type is the divorcee. I stare at him in wonderment and awe for one good reason. After all the things mother teaches you about laundry, the washing, drying, folding a certain way and all the care that goes into it, the divorcee, after dumping everything in together, seems to come up with perfectly clean clothes. Then I watch as he lovingly takes this large load out of the dryer, jumbles it up in his arms without folding anything, and quietly leaves.

Shall Simon return?

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Just before leaving the country Nov. 12 for London and a two-week stay abroad, William Simon passed friends a piece of news calculated to bring Treasury bureaucrats leaping from windows and Wall Street poobahs wailing in despair: He definitely will be Ronald Reagan's secretary of the treasury.

Simon has not been told that by the president-elect himself, who has been in seclusion since the election. But he is the choice for Treasury of Reagan's California-dominated kitchen cabinet. Over the past year, East Coast millionaire Simon has joined that select circle of West Coast millionaires. Among the final half-dozen men screening Reagan's Cabinet choices will be Bill Simon.

The prospect of Simon's return to the Treasury, where he was secretary under Presidents Nixon and Ford in 1974-77, builds passionate opposition. "It would be a grotesque mistake," one Reagan adviser told us, "to have Simon running the most daring, most innovative and most important economic program ever proposed by the Republican Party."

YET, THERE ARE proponents of that program — radical tax and budget reform — who prefer Simon at Treasury to other names most prominently mentioned: fellow Nixon-Ford retreads Alan Greenspan and Charles Walker and Citibank Chairman Walter Wriston. Simon would be far less prone to establishment pressures.

Simon is indeed a retreat of a different color. Within the dingy-gray Nixon-Ford regime, he was a scarlet striver-up of strife — terrorizing aides, feuding with other Cabinet members, defying the president. In 1976, his colleagues felt Simon was playing footsie with Reagan while supposedly supporting Ford for renomination.

He was an early rider on the 1980 Reagan bandwagon, revealing his desire to return to Washington as secretary of defense. But Reagan's national security advisers insisted that Simon's abrasiveness rubbing against Pentagon brass would yield disaster. By early October, the talk turned to Simon going back to the Treasury.

At one recent kitchen cabinet meeting, its unofficial chairman — California drug magnate Justice Dart — did not mince words. Dart made clear that Simon was his first, second and third choices for the Treasury portfolio and that there was no need for other names to reach Reagan. Whether the other kitchen cabinet members fully agreed, they did not dispute the 73-year-old, authoritarian Mr. Dart.

To Dart and other businessmen across the land, Simon is a ilk hero for his unadorned free enterprise gospel preached in his best-selling "A Time for Truth." That 1978 book made Simon a national figure. When Reagan listed his economic advisers at campaign rallies this fall, Simon's name — and his alone — generated cheers.

To Wall Streeters, however, he is a former bond salesman they don't want doing a Treasury encore. Some claim his new job running a firm which manages U.S. investments for Saudi Arabia's fabulously rich Suliman Saleh Olayna disqualifies him for the Treasury. Simon's response: "Nothing I do disqualifies me for anything."

ADVOCATES OF supply-side economics pressing for a Reaganite economic revolution are not disturbed by Simon's unpopularity among the barracudas of Wall Street, the gnomes of Zurich or even the bureaucrats of Washington.

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Anatomy of a faint

Dear Dr. Donohue: Just what happens in the body when a person faints? At my friend's wedding, her bridesmaid fainted, which got me thinking. Does this mean there is something wrong with the person? It added a bit of drama to the wedding, believe me. She came to and everything went on just fine. — Miss T.O.

The common faint usually happens to an otherwise healthy person. The person is most often standing. He becomes pale, sweats, salivates, feels nauseous. For some reason the arteries of the body have expanded in a reflex-like act. It is often attributed to nervous tension. There is also a sudden acceleration, then a slowing of the heart rate. The result is a pooling of blood in the expanded arteries of the lower part of the body, to the point where the brain cannot get its share of blood supply. The person falls to the ground.

With the body in the horizontal position, the brain now gets the blood it needs. In this respect falling to the ground is somewhat of a protective mechanism to get blood circulating again. It also helps to raise the fainted person's legs to aid circulation return.

That is your common faint. People faint for other reasons, some associated with illness. Heart rhythm disturbance and certain problems with heart valves can cause a blackout. Low blood sugar from missing a meal can make a person feel woozy. A brain seizure can look like an ordinary faint.

Even though a single fainting episode usually has no significance, it is proper to let the doctor know that it has happened so that it can become a part of the patient's history. The doctor can decide if further investigation is needed. Bridesmaids are not the only victims. At my nephew's wedding this summer, the groom himself nearly fainted.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I woke up one day and had a black eye. I was told this was a platelet problem caused by a strain — perhaps from mowing the lawn or sneezing, coughing, etc. To me this sounds unusual. Should I have a blood examination? — Mrs. D.S.

Yes, I think you should have a blood analysis if you are having many spontaneous bruises of this kind. Your platelets should be checked.

Blood flows through extensive and delicate branches of tiny vessels called capillaries. These vessels allow the blood to do its important work. Oxygen is passed out through the walls of capillaries, and cell waste (carbon dioxide) is taken in to be carried to the lungs and blown off. For all this to happen, capillaries have to be fairly flimsy structures.

We are constantly breaking them, as you say, from a bump or a bad cough or a strain. Normally, the breaks are sealed off immediately by platelets, which float in the blood along with the red and white blood cells. If there are not enough platelets the blood continues to ooze from the capillary breaks. A bruise or black-and-blue mark results. Perhaps you have too few platelets. Finding and eliminating the cause of a platelet deficiency corrects the bleeding problem.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have condylo- ma acuminata, but the doctor did not tell me much about this. Is it sexually transmitted or can it be transferred by other methods? What are the chances of a sexual partner getting it? — W.M.

Another name for condylo- ma acuminata is venereal warts. That's because it is most commonly transmitted by direct contact during sexual intercourse. Non-sexual transmission is possible, but is not the usual way for it to be spread. As with other warts it is presumably a viral infection.

A common treatment is with the chemical podophyllin, which is painted on the wart. This should be done only by an experienced person.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Two years ago I became a Christian. But I am a very shy person, and have never bothered to attend church. Now I feel that I am not growing spiritually as I should. Do you think church would help me? — R.L.

DEAR R.L.: Yes, it certainly would. In fact, you cannot really grow as God wants you to grow spiritually unless you have fellowship with other believers. That is why the Bible commands us, "Let us not give up meeting together, as some are in the habit of doing, but let us encourage one another" (Hebrews 10:25).

Why is it so important for you to have fellowship with other believers? There are many reasons, but let me mention three. First, God can use other believers to instruct you. In church you hear the Word of God preached and taught — from the pulpit, in Sunday School and in Bible studies. Remember that the Bible is basic to your spiritual growth, and while it is important for you to study it on your own, God also will use others to help you understand it and apply it

The substance can irritate normal skin if applied carelessly. I frankly do not know how catchy it is. I can find no reliable data on how often people become infected after coming in contact with this virus.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is a lipoma the same as fatty tissue or a fatty tumor? Are these bad? What can be done about the size? — S.D.

Some medical words inspire fear without justification. Tumor is one of these. It does not have to mean cancer or danger. Doctors have much more ominous-sounding words for those situations. The ordinary lipoma is a fatty tumor made up of fatty tissue. It is not cancer. However, a lipoma can cause problems because of its size or location, in which event it can be removed surgically without trouble.

Vaginitis can strike any woman at any time in her life. You can read about the causes — and cures — for this troublesome complaint in the booklet, "Vaginitis: The Hidden Ailment." To get a copy, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Headaches — you can beat them! Write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

to your life more fully. That is one reason God has given the spiritual gifts of preaching and teaching to some people, "so that the body of Christ may be built up... and become mature, attaining to the whole measure of the fullness of Christ" (Ephesians 4:12, 13).

Second, fellowship with other Christians is important because they can help you and encourage you from their own Christian experience. Every Christian is engaged in a spiritual battle, and Satan will do all he can to overwhelm us with doubts and discouragement. But Christ wants to help us in our battle, and one of the means he wants to use is other believers. "Let us consider how we may spur one another on toward love and good deeds" (Hebrews 10:24).

Finally, remember that God has given you at least one spiritual gift to be used to help others and build them up in the faith. But as long as you remain isolated from others you will not be using that gift for God's glory. Ask him to help you overcome your shyness, and get involved in a church where Christ is preached.

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Perhaps the last person who should be passed through customs without a thorough search would be a gambling entrepreneur. Yet on more than a dozen occasions, a high official of the Drug Enforcement Administration ordered his subordinates to expedite the customs inspection of the chairman of a company which controls a consortium that is seeking an Atlantic City, N.J., casino license.

Evidence of this preferential treatment — which meant that the businessman was spared the routine of having his baggage opened and checked for contraband when entering the country — is contained in a secret diary kept by DEA agents who objected to this improper favoritism. My associate Gary Cohn has confirmed the facts from other government sources.

THE DEA OFFICIAL is John Fallon, head of the agency's New York City office. As a former Customs Service official, he knows the rules forbidding such preferential treatment — and, obviously, how to get around them.

The recipient of the favors in Charles Stein, chairman of Hardwicke Companies, Inc., which controls a company which has been trying to get a gambling license for a casino in Atlantic City.

Interestingly, the Hardwicke corporation has been linked to the FBI's celebrated ABSCAM operation. Secret videotapes show Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., recently indicted on ABSCAM corruption charges, boasting that he had intervened with the state casino commission to help Ritz Associates Inc. with its licensing problems. The Hardwicke company — on whose board the senator's wife, Jeanette, served — owns a majority interest in Ritz.

Stein travels frequently to and from Europe on the Concorde. Fallon has repeatedly issued orders to his subordinates at Kennedy International Airport to "intercept and assist" Stein when he arrives. The DEA agents are supposed to see that Stein is whisked through customs without the inconvenience of having to open his bags.

"I.A. for Fallon... Charles Stein on Concorde from London," reads a typical notation in the government agents' secret diary. The initials "I.A." mean "Intercept and Assist." The latest entry is dated just last month.

Fallon, incidentally, has ordered that similar preferential treatment be accorded to other individuals, including friends and relatives of colleagues.

FOOTNOTE: DESPITE several attempts to interview him, Fallon has refused to discuss the charges contained in the diary. Instead, he issued a brief statement through a spokesman that Fallon was "unaware of any criminal record or 'similarity'" Stein did not respond to repeated requests for comment.

BYE-BYE, JIMMY: President Carter has hinted, in apparent jest, that he might become a Baptist missionary when he leaves the White House. Democratic Party leaders wouldn't mind if he joined a monastery and took a vow of silence. They've made it clear they don't want the titular leader of their party around.

What makes the traditional Democratic power brokers so bitter is not that Carter lost, or even that he dragged so many party stalwarts down with him. What really irks them is the manner of his losing.

Numbed by his personal repudiation at the polls, blinded by the peculiar egocentricity of recent Oval Office occupants, Carter was oblivious to pleas that he delay his concession speech Election Night at least until the polls on the West Coast had closed. Instead, wanting only to shorten his own personal anguish, he conceded — influencing thousands of voters who knew the final verdict before they could cast their ballots, and dooming a number of congressional and local party candidates.

Leading the purge of Carter and his henchmen is Robert Strauss, who headed the Carter-Mondale campaign. My sources say he was on the phone to party leaders across the country before the shock of the Reagan landslide was over. He reportedly has lined up enough support to kick Carter's man, John White, out of the party chairmanship.

POLARIS PROBE: A decision by the admirals to take all 10 Polaris submarines out of the Navy's nuclear strike force has moved critics of the plan to seek action from Congress. They want the watchdogs on Capitol Hill to hold hearings on the controversial plan.

The Polaris subs, which carry 16 nuclear missiles apiece, are to be replaced by Tritons, which carry 24. But Trident production is far behind schedule, ax some experts say that removing the Polaris' nuclear clout could make the United States vulnerable while the Trident fleet is being built.

Dear Editor: Some of your readers may be curious to know why President Carter was defeated. Amongst the various factors which contributed to his defeat the following may be considered important: (1) His handling of the hostages in Iran for over a year and inability to have them released before the election. (2) Doubling in oil prices in 1979. (3) He was hurt politically by the influx of Cuban refugees. (4) Senator Kennedy's campaign in the spring crippled the President so badly that he had to spend a lot of time in re-establishing his credentials. (5) Billy Carter's dealings with Libya and the inquiry by a committee of the Senate was a great embarrassment and contributed as one of the factors. (6) He could not get a hold on the economy. (7) He could not work very effectively with the Congress. K.S. Narayan Rao 912 Culp Avenue, Coahoma

"Rocks the size of recreational vehicles"

Yosemite rock slide kills three hikers

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK, Calif. (AP) — Boulders the size of pickup trucks crashed down on weekend hikers on the hairpin turns of a trail near Yosemite Falls, killing three and injuring seven, park officials said.

Two of the dead were believed to be Germans on their first day in California.

The rock slide, onto the 4.8-mile trail about a half-mile below the top of the famed 2,700-foot waterfall, left a "big blank space" on the face of the mountain, said Mary Niles, librarian at Yosemite National Park. Debris was scattered over a 600-yard section of the tortuous trail.

About two dozen hikers were on the trail when the slide rumbled down Sunday, said Linda Abbott, a National Parks Service spokeswoman.

Bob Williams, of Cupertino, Calif., said he scrambled to safety as the rocks tumbled down. His relief soon turned to horror.

"A guy came up to me and said in German that two of his friends were dead and another was hurt," Williams said. "I took a parka off one of the ones who was dead and covered up the one who was injured."

"The Germans told me they believed a boulder six feet in diameter rolled completely over him (the dead man). I saw the other one in a kind of hole, 30 feet below. His leg was wrapped around his shoulder."

Williams said he believed it was the Germans' first day in California.

Farther down the trail, Williams and a friend, Stuart Kagan of San Mateo, Calif., spotted two teen-age boys. "One was underneath a rock. The other boy...was OK and was holding the hand of his friend" who was dead, Williams said.

"Big trees were broken right in half," said another hiker. "There's no more trail in that area."

Ms. Abbott said the slide stranded eight people at the top of the mountain for several hours. They and the injured were evacuated by helicopter, she said.

The body of one of the dead hikers was removed by nightfall Sunday, and the other two were to be removed today, park officials said.

Names of the victims were being withheld until relatives could be notified. Five of the injured were taken to hospitals in Modesto and Fresno, while two others were treated at Yosemite Hospital and released.

Mike Rover, a security officer for the park's concessionaire, said he heard a "big rumble" and rushed from his Yosemite Valley office.

"I looked over there and saw a boulder rolling down slowly. It seemed about the size of half a house," he said. "There was all kinds of dust. The dust cloud extended from the lower falls to almost the top of the upper falls," a distance of about a half-mile.

Edna DeCaro, who was working in the concession security office, described the rock slide as "awesome."

"To see a tree that stands 80 to 100 feet tall being bent by a huge boulder is really something," she said.

Ms. Abbott said the slide virtually obliterated the trail. The slide occurred shortly after noon along a series of switchbacks — hairpin turns — on the scenic trail, one of the park's most popular.

A husband and wife were taken by helicopter to St. Agnes Hospital in Fresno, and a hospital spokesman said their conditions were "not critical."

A man underwent surgery for leg fractures at Modesto's Memorial Hospital Sunday night, and he was in stable condition. Two others were being treated at Valley Medical Center in Fresno, where they were listed in stable condition.

The park is located about 200 miles southeast of San Francisco.

TWEEN 12 and 20

The fascination of horror

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Teens: Ever wonder why some people love to sit through a spine-tingling horror movie? Or why others get a thrill from a chilling roller coaster ride?

"A person tends to tremble when danger is inevitable," says Michael Kaplan, editor of Cinefantastique, a magazine about horror, fantasy and science fiction movies. Half the fright of a roller coaster ride is the knowledge that there is no escape as the car takes its first downward plunge. But why do we like to shake and quake? Dr. Paulina F. Kernberg, associate professor of psychiatry at New York Hospital-Cornell, offers a few reasons in a leading teen magazine.

"It's exhilarating. 'Everyone gets pleasure out of doing something very frightening and surviving,'" Kernberg says. People frequently need to test themselves, to prove that they can sit through "Alien" or go on the scariest ride. — It's safe. Deep in your fast-beating heart, you know that the blood is fake and the enemy can't hurt you. "A movie permits you to tolerate danger because it's confined to the screen," Kernberg observes.

— It's social. While you're holding your breath or digging your fingernails into the chair, chances are that one or more of your friends are beside you doing likewise. Favorite frights are often "communal," Kernberg says. "It's a release. Do you ever storm around your bedroom wanting to scream away the day's frustrations? What better place to let it all out than at a movie like 'The Shining'?" It sure beats "taking it out" on your younger brother or sister or does it?

If you enjoy writing poetry, please send a copy to me. Those that "tickle my fancy" will be printed.

Send questions to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper.

For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent, stamped, large, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace in care of this newspaper.

Dear Abby

Tongues, Tails Wagging Over Doctor's Advice

DEAR ABBY: Who am I to refute your medical authority concerning whether psoriasis can be cured by dog-licking or not? (He said he wouldn't recommend it because a dog's saliva contains certain chemicals that could do more harm than good.)

All I know is this: Our dog had a nasty cut on his leg, and when I took him to the vet, he refused to bandage it, saying it would prevent the dog from licking the wound. The vet maintained that the dog's saliva contained certain healing properties that could do more for the dog than he could.

BARBARA IN WORCESTER

DEAR BARBARA: I have received a rash of letters attesting to the healing powers of the dog-licking treatment. The mail is running 20 to 1 against me, but I'm not licked yet.

DEAR ABBY: I have a gentleman friend I've been going with for three years. He is 58 and I am 53.

On his birthday I gave him a friendship ring, which he accepted with much pleasure.

When my birthday rolled around, he completely forgot it. Naturally I was hurt, but reminded him (in a kidding way) toward the end of the day. He quickly bought a birthday card (one of those humorous ones), stuck a $20 bill in the envelope and handed it to me that evening.

The following day, I returned the $20 with a letter telling him it was demeaning to my character to accept money from a man.

He feels that I was wrong in returning the money. He said, "If it had been a diamond bracelet, you wouldn't have returned it."

I said, "A diamond bracelet is a gift, but money, regardless of the amount, is more of a 'payment.'"

Who is correct? Is it proper for a lady to accept a gift of money from a gentleman today? Or does it still carry the same connotation as years ago?

NEW YORK

DEAR NEW YORK: I see nothing improper about a gift of money. Not everyone has the knack of selecting appropriate gifts, so rather than risk spending hard-earned money on some useless doodad that must be exchanged (or worse yet, shelved), cash may seem brash, but it's practical. It's always the right color, the right size, and it fits — into all wallets.

Now I really have something to cheer about: 58 pounds lost!

Gladys Conway's True Story:

I never worried about my weight, until my husband started telling me a couple of years ago that I needed to slim down. He was right. At 170 pounds, I was just too heavy. I was determined to get rid of that weight, and since a friend of mine was having a lot of success at Pat Walker's, I started going there, too.

Now, I'm the successful one! I'm down to 112 pounds, and I've lost a total of 68 inches — ten inches from my waist alone. I love the way my figure has stayed firm and smooth all along... Pat Walker's Symmetricon passive exercise unit takes care of that.

My husband and I go to every football game we can (we haven't missed one University of Texas game in 18 years). I enjoy going more than ever now, because I look as good as I feel!

Pat Walker's program has made a big difference for me. When I was a much bigger fan, I'm sure it will for you, too.

DIVING OVER THE LINE — Dallas Cowboys' running back Preston Pearson (26) dives over the goal line to pull in a Danny White pass for the Cowboys' first touchdown against the St. Louis Cardinals Sunday. The score came on a 20-yard pass play in the first quarter in Texas Stadium.

Cowboys deck Cards, 31-21

Pearson tops Hayes

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Not only does Drew Pearson now own the all-time Dallas Cowboys' receiving record, but he's not half bad at prophecy either.

Pearson surpassed Bob Hayes on Dallas' all-time list Sunday in a 31-21 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

He snared one of three touchdown passes off the arm of Danny White, who bounced back with an excellent outing after serving five interceptions in a 38-35 upset loss to the New York Giants a week ago.

"I felt all week that he would come out of this and have one of his best games ever," said Pearson, as the Cowboys ran their record to 8-3, two games behind Philadelphia in the National Conference Eastern Division.

another one to break it.

After the interview session following the game, Pearson went to the telephone and called his father, who is critically ill with cancer in New Jersey.

Pearson kept two footballs — the one he tied the record with and the record-breaker.

"I rank it right along with making the National Football League's All-Decade team and being named All-Pro for three years," said Pearson.

After the record catch, Pearson said, "My brother (Andre) ran out of the stands. He was one of the first to greet me."

Dallas' 8-3 record puts the Cowboys in excellent wild-card position should they fail to catch the Eagles.

The luckless Cardinals dipped to 3-8.

St. Louis jumped to a 14-0 lead behind Otis Anderson's 51-yard touchdown and Jim Hart's 69-yard scoring pass to Mel Gray, who had to leave the game with a sprained ankle.

White answered that salvo with the first of his scoring passes, but Hart wasn't through. He nailed Pat Tilley with a 60-yard pass for a touchdown.

A 58-yard White to Tony Hill connection cut the score to 21-17 St. Louis at halftime.

It was all Dallas in the second half as White flicked the 14-yarder to Drew Pearson for the score that gave the Cowboys a 24-21 lead.

Why go for a field goal when you can score a TD?

CHICAGO (AP) — You're trailing by six points, the first half is almost over and you're eight yards from the goal line on fourth down. So you try for a field goal, right?

Not necessarily.

The Houston Oilers had almost everybody in Soldier Field thinking they were going to attempt a 25-yard field goal as the first half of Sunday's game against the Chicago Bears neared the close.

But Houston Coach Bum Phillips called a special play, one that the Oilers last used two seasons ago in a game against New England.

Outplayed in the first half with the Bears leading 6-0 and seconds remaining on the clock, Toni Fritsch lined up for a 25-yard field goal attempt.

Holder Gifford Nielsen then took the snap from center and shoveled a pass to Tim Wilson, who went around right end for the touchdown and a 7-6 halftime lead. Houston went on to win 10-6.

"I felt like it was a perfect situation because they just knew we were going to go for it (the field goal)," Phillips said. "I thought it was an excellent strategic move."

"The Bears wanted to block the field goal so they were loaded on the left side," said Nielsen. "The right side was open a bit, and that's where we went."

Nielsen added that if the Bears hadn't lined up overloaded on one side, the Oilers could have taken a five-yard delay of game, penalty and still have been within easy field goal range.

Earl Campbell rushed 31 times for a career-high 206 yards, with all but 68 yards coming in the second half when the Oilers controlled the ball and kept the Bears from scoring.

The win gave the Oilers sole possession of first place in the American Conference Central by improving their National Football League mark to 8-3.

Houston's other score came early in the second half when they took the opening kickoff and moved from their own 30 to the Chicago 12-yard line on the running of Campbell. Fritsch then booted a 29-yard field goal.

Chicago's scoring came in the first half on field goals of 27 and 22 yards by Bob Thomas as the Bear record dropped to 4-7 in the National Conference Central.

The heralded running duel between Campbell and Chicago's Walter Payton was won by Campbell, who boosted his league-leading total to 1,300. Payton gained 60 yards in 18 carries and now has 959 for the season.

"He had a super day," Payton said of Campbell. "What else can I say? As for myself, we didn't run much."

"It's a pleasure for me, being in the league only three years, to be compared to someone like Walter Payton," said Campbell. "Now I'd just like to get me a Super Bowl ring before I get too old. I think this year we've got a good chance."

Leonard denies spy charges

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The older brother of welterweight challenger Sugar Ray Leonard denies allegations of trying to spy on champion Roberto Duran's training camp.

"I'm not trying to agitate anybody, and I'm not spying on anybody," Roger Leonard said in a statement Sunday.

"In fact, my brother doesn't even want to hear anything about Duran or what's going on at his training camp."

Both fighters work out at the Superdome, preparing for their Nov. 25 rematch. They train at different times during the day.

On Saturday, Duran

stopped his training when he saw Roger Leonard, Sugar Ray's older brother, standing among the spectators.

Duran charged toward the challenger's brother but was restrained by trainers.

Roger Leonard said he just happened to be at the training center and stopped in to watch Duran workout.

Five have shot at succeeding Bama

The jinx is still intact. No team has ever won three consecutive national college football championships.

Alabama became the eighth team to try and fail. The fifth-ranked Crimson Tide, hoping for a Sugar Bowl at unbeaten, top-rated Georgia, suffered its second setback of the season Saturday, a 7-0 loss to sixth-ranked Notre Dame that left the unbeaten-but-tied Irish one of five teams with a realistic chance at No. 1 when the shooting ends on Jan. 1, 1981.

The others are Georgia, of course, along with third-ranked Florida State, which was idle Saturday, fourth-ranked Nebraska, Notre Dame and seventh-ranked Ohio State. Like Florida State, Nebraska and Ohio State, five others have just one loss — eighth-ranked Pitt, No. 9 Penn State, No. 12 Baylor, No. 13 Brigham Young and No. 15 North Carolina — but are probably too low in the ratings to have a serious shot at the top rung in the final Associated Press poll.

Bear Bryant, the Alabama

coach, had said during the week that a loss undoubtedly would drop the Crimson Tide out of the national picture and that seems to be the case. Alabama settled for a Cotton Bowl date with Baylor.

Bama's successor as national champion probably will come from either the Sugar Bowl (Georgia-Notre Dame) or Orange Bowl (if Nebraska, rather than Oklahoma, is Florida State's opponent). The rest of the postseason lineup goes like this:

Rose Bowl — Ohio State-

Michigan winner vs. Washington.

Fiesta — Ohio State-Michigan loser vs. Penn State.

Gator — Pitt vs. South Carolina.

Liberty — Purdue vs. Missouri.

Sun — Nebraska-Oklahoma loser vs. Mississippi State.

Holiday — Brigham Young-Utah winner vs. Southern Methodist.

Bluebonnet — North Carolina vs. Texas.

Tangerine — Florida vs. Maryland.

Hall of Fame — Tulane vs. Arkansas.

Garden State — Navy vs. Houston.

Peach — Virginia Tech vs. opponent to be named, probably Stanford or Indiana.

Independence — McNeese State-Southwestern Louisiana winner vs. opponent to be named, reportedly Southern Mississippi.

Alabama's demise did not eliminate the Southeastern Conference from another national king.

Cowens stands tall in world of sport

A season or so ago, Jane Gross of the New York Times was in Boston on an assignment to interview the All-Star center and later player-coach of the Celtics basketball team, Dave Cowens.

After watching practice and questioning her subject, she was offered by Cowens a lift back to her hotel.

"That is," Cowens said apologetically, "if you don't mind riding in an old pickup truck."

"No, that's fine," said the grateful newswoman.

"On the way," Gross recalled, "Dave apologized again because he said he had to make a brief stop. He dropped off some things at the Salvation Army. I got the feeling that Dave Cowens was an extraordinary person."

Indeed he is.

Quickly now, name another person who would walk away from half a million dollars and job security worth an added million or more because he felt he couldn't carry his part of the load.

In this age of often spoiled and mercenary sports super stars, this raw-boned, rusty-haired product of Florida State stands apart because of his basic honesty and sense of values.

On Nov. 14, 1978, Cowens was hand-picked by owner John Y. Brown and General Manager Red Auerbach to succeed Tom (Satch) Sanders as coach of the traditionally successful National Basketball Association team.

He signed a multi-year contract, reported at the time to be $300,000 a year but later confirmed to be closer to $500,000. He was to serve as both coach and player, a dual role that the great Bill Russell had performed before him.

At the end of the 1978-79 season, after coaching for less than one year, Cowens decided he had enough of coaching and would return to concentrating on playing.

Then on Oct. 1 this fall, the same day Don Zimmer was fired as manager of baseball's Red Sox, Cowens announced his retirement as a player — a development that hit Boston like a thunderclap.

"I felt I wasn't contributing that much to the team," he said. "I enjoyed the years I played. I got a kick out of hard-nosing it against centers bigger than I was. I got a charge out of rebounding, clearing people out of the lane and playing defense."

"Then suddenly the game wasn't enjoyable any more. I didn't want to be at practice. I lost my enthusiasm. I had sprained my ankles 30 times, suffered other injuries — none too serious — and basketball physically was no longer fun."

"So I had to walk away."

It was an unusual act. No one else had detected an erosion of Cowens' skills — not John Y. Brown, not Auerbach, not the public. He was popular both with players and the fans.

Cowens, in New York to study physical fitness—medical clinics (his newest venture) and to appear on Larry Merchant's Sports Probe cable television show on the USA network, acknowledged that he agonized over the decision.

The team was on a mid-western exhibition tour. Cowens stayed up most of a night writing his resignation by hand on a legal pad. He gave it to a sports writer friend, Bob Ryan of the Boston Globe, for sentence structure and grammar.

Then, just before the team was to leave for Evansville, Ind., he got on the bus and read the four-page statement, some 1,000 words, to his teammates.

"Get off the bus!" one of his teammates yelled after he had finished.

"I set a high standard for myself," Cowens explained during his weekend stop in New York. "Sure I considered the money I thought of my family and my future."

"I was never a pure-bred athlete. I was a sock 'em, rock 'em, wear 'em down guy. I couldn't do that any more. I found it's a young man's game. So I threw it in."

"You will never see me in a professional basketball uniform again."

Born on a farm in Newport, Ky., Cowens at 6-8 was considered small for an NBA center but he survived on hustle and aggressiveness. He played on six All-Star teams and injury kept him out of a seventh. He was a demanding coach but left most of the details to K.C. Jones and Bob McKinnon.

Raiders to try for six in a row

SEATTLE (AP) — The Oakland Raiders, whose three-year contract runs out at the end of the season, apparently don't have to worry. Patera doesn't have a new pact yet but the signing of a new one is just a matter of time, says Seattle general manager John Thompson. Thompson says there have been contract discussions this season.

"There's no pressure on him (Patera) whatsoever," Thompson said last week. Thompson added, "He is desirous of staying with us and we're very desirous of having him come back."

While Patera's status has drawn much of the media attention in Seattle, the story in Oakland is the 32-year-old Plunkett.

Since Pastorini suffered a broken leg, the 1970 Heisman Trophy winner from Stanford has directed the Raiders to consecutive victories over San Diego, Pittsburgh, Seattle, Miami and Cincinnati.

"I'd rather keep a low profile and just concentrate on playing well," Plunkett said. "I'm trying to take it all in stride."

"I don't want to get too excited about it (the Raiders' five wins in a row). It was pretty quiet for a couple of years."

Suns are homicidal

By The Associated Press

John MacLeod thinks his Phoenix Suns lack a "killer" instinct — but they've been murdering just about everyone in the National Basketball Association this season.

Along with the Philadelphia 76ers, the Suns have the best record in the league at 15-3 following Sunday night's 19-107 triumph over the Portland Trail Blazers.

"We get complacent sometimes when we get a comfortable lead," says MacLeod. "We seemed to come out flat for the second half."

The Pacific Division leaders got off to a big early lead and held a 12-point advantage at the half, 64-52. But the Trail Blazers eventually cut the Suns' lead to two points in the fourth quarter before Phoenix put the game away with a 10-2 spurt.

"They made a run at us in the third quarter," said MacLeod, but luckily Dennis Johnson and Rick Kelly came in and gave us the lift we needed."

In other NBA action, Los Angeles beat Dallas 110-102; Chicago stopped Milwaukee

this season, Seahawks Coach Jack Patera, whose three-year contract runs out at the end of the season, apparently doesn't have to worry.

Patera doesn't have a new pact yet but the signing of a new one is just a matter of time, says Seattle general manager John Thompson. Thompson says there have been contract discussions this season.

114-108 and New Jersey trimmed Detroit 89-80.

Walter Davis led all Phoenix scorers with 25 points, and Johnson added 18 in his first game in three nights. It was the seventh straight victory at home for the Suns, while the Blazers lost their ninth straight on the road.

The Suns led 89-82 through three quarters, but Portland scored the first five points in the fourth and cut the lead to 89-87. The Suns then scored 10 of the next 12 points to stretch their lead to a game-breaking 99-89.

Calvin Natt led the Blazers with 21 points and Michael Thompson added 20 in the losing effort.

Lakers 116, Mavericks 102. Ervin "Magic" Johnson scored 24 points and chalked up eight assists to lead Los Angeles over Dallas. The Lakers took a 25-5 lead and led by as many as 24 points before the Mavericks rallied in the closing minutes. The eight-point final margin was as close as Dallas got in the final three quarters.

"I thought Dallas showed their character by coming back, especially their guards who kept on shooting," said Los Angeles Coach Paul Westhead.

Bradshaw, Swann put Steelers back in it

LAST-SECOND HAPPINESS — Pittsburgh Steelers Lynn Swann, 88, and Mike Webster, 52, celebrate after Swann caught a 3-yard pass from Terry Bradshaw with 17 seconds left to give the Steelers a 16-13 win over the Cleveland Browns in Pittsburgh Sunday.

By The Associated Press

The Pittsburgh Steelers, led by the passing combination of Terry Bradshaw and Lynn Swann, borrowed the success formula of Cleveland's "Kardiac Kids" to beat the Browns and climb right back into the National Football League playoff chase.

"We won it when we had to. We didn't buckle under pressure. We played Steeler football again," said Bradshaw, whose 3-yard scoring pass to Swann with 11 seconds to play Sunday gave Pittsburgh a crucial 16-13 victory over Cleveland.

For most of this season it has been Cleveland which pulled out games in the closing minutes, but this time Pittsburgh turned the tables on the Browns and won a heart-stopper of its own.

Asked his reaction to the Bradshaw-Swann game-winner, Steelers Coach Chuck Noll heaved a sigh and said, "Aaaaahhh! And that was my emotion throughout the whole game, not just the end."

The victory lifted Pittsburgh, which had lost three in a row earlier this season, to a 7-4 record and a tie with Cleveland, one game behind first-place Houston in the American Conference's Central Division. The Oilers beat the Chicago Bears 10-6 behind a career-high 206 yards rushing by Earl Campbell.

"We've got a chance now. We're not out of it," said Bradshaw, who had limped to the sidelines after being hit by Cleveland's Lyle Alzado with 25 seconds left to play, but came back out to lead the Steelers to victory.

In other NFL games Sunday, the Philadelphia Eagles blanked the Washington Redskins 24-0, the Dallas Cowboys beat the St. Louis Cardinals 31-21, the Atlanta Falcons defeated the New Orleans Saints 31-13, the Buffalo Bills shut out the Cincinnati Bengals 14-0, the Los Angeles Rams edged the New England Patriots 17-14, the Minnesota Vikings outscored the Tampa Bay Buccaneers 38-30, the San Diego Chargers downed the Kansas City Chiefs 20-7, the Miami Dolphins nipped the San Francisco 49ers 17-13, the Denver Nuggets beat the New York Jets 31-24, the Baltimore Colts edged the Detroit Lions 10-9 and the New York Giants defeated the Green Bay Packers 27-21.

Oakland plays at Seattle Monday night.

Swann caught a career-high nine passes for 138 yards, but the big one was a short flip into the left side of the end zone to cap the comeback after Cleveland seemingly had the game won.

The Browns, leading 13-7, had stopped Pittsburgh on a goalline stand with less than three minutes to play. But they couldn't move the ball, so they took an intentional safety and then used a free kick to give it to the Steelers on their own 46 with 1:44 to play.

Completions of 24 yards to Theo Bell and 23 yards to Swann, plus a holding penalty against Cleveland safety Clarence Scott, moved the ball to the 3. Bradshaw then sprinted out to his left, spotted Swann one step ahead of Browns defensive back Ron Bolton and completed the short toss for the winning score.

"It was an illegal play all the way," charged Bolton, contending that Bell had set a pick to free Swann in the end zone. "He couldn't beat me unless it was."

"I think they're just trying to find a reason to explain losing," responded Swann, who said he had been elbowed by Bolton throughout the game. "I wanted to spike the ball right in front of him (Bolton), but I couldn't find him."

Eagles 24, Redskins 0

Philadelphia won its seventh in a row and raised its record to 10-1, best in the NFL, by breezing past the struggling Redskins as Ron Jaworski threw a pair of scoring passes.

Falcons 31, Saints 13

Atlanta won its fifth in a row to remain one game ahead of Los Angeles in the NFC West as Steve Bartkowski threw three touchdown passes and ran for another score.

Bills 14, Bengals 0

Buffalo took over sole possession of first place in the AFC East by posting its first shutout of the season. The Bills limited Cincinnati to just nine first downs and 213 net yards.

Rams 17, Patriots 14

Los Angeles stayed one game back of Atlanta, and knocked New England one game behind Buffalo, thanks to Elvis Peacock's 1-yard scoring run late in the third quarter. The TD was set up by a 44-yard pass from Vince Ferragamo to Preston Dennard on a flea-flicker play.

Vikings 38, Bucs 30

Tommy Kramer completed 24 of 37 passes for 324 yards and two touchdowns and Ted Brown rushed for two scores as Minnesota beat Tampa Bay despite a brilliant performance by Bucs passer Doug Williams, who hit on 30 of 55 for 486 yards and four TDs.

Chargers 20, Chiefs 7

Mike Thomas, replacing the injured Chuck Muncie and John Cappelletti, ran for 109 yards and two touchdowns for San Diego. It was Thomas' first 100-yard game in nearly four years.

Dolphins 17, 49ers 13

Rookie David Woodley tossed two touchdown passes to send San Francisco to its eighth straight loss.

"We've been self-destructive," said 49ers quarterback Steve DeBerg, who completed 15 straight passes in one stretch of the first half and finished with 29 of 41 for 225 yards. "We moved the ball up and down the field on them all day long and came up with only 13 points. That's been the story of our streak."

Broncos 31, Jets 24

Denver rallied from a 17-3 deficit to win behind Craig Morton, who passed for 306 yards and two touchdowns. It was the first time Morton has surpassed 300 yards in his four seasons with the Broncos.

Colts 10, Lions 9

Rookie Lynn Dickey scored the only touchdown of the game on a 1-yard run capping the opening drive, and Steve Mike-Mayer added a 43-yard field goal. Detroit's Eddie Murray kicked three field goals but missed on a 44-yard try with 29 seconds left.

Giants 27, Packers 21

Phil Simms hooked up with Earnest Gray on touchdown passes of 50, 20 and 4 yards to carry the Giants past Green Bay. It was New York's second win in a row after losing eight straight.

Longhorns loaded for bear, now they're shooting blanks

By The Associated Press

Now that all this bowl business has been settled, the Baylor Bears and Texas Longhorns can play in Waco Saturday just for the pure joy of knocking each other loose from their helmet straps.

The Bears made a "Pride Bowl" out of what was supposed to be the Southwest Conference's big Nov. 22 shootout.

They beat Rice 16-6 Saturday to earn the right as the host team in the Cotton Bowl, leading a parade of five Southwest Conference teams into post-season play.

The lineup reads like this: COTTON BOWL, Jan. 1, Dallas: Baylor 9-1 vs. Alabama 8-2. BLUEBONNET BOWL, Dec. 31, Houston: Texas 7-2 vs. North Carolina 9-1. HALL OF FAME CLASSIC, Dec. 27, Birmingham: Arkansas 5-4 vs. Tulane 6-3. HOLIDAY BOWL, Dec. 19, San Diego: SMU 7-3 vs. WAC champ, probably Brigham Young. GARDEN STATE BOWL, Dec. 14, East Rutherford, N.J.: Houston 5-4 vs. Navy 7-3. All that bowling will kick some $2 million into the coffers of the SWC. In other games Saturday, SMU was stunned 14-0 by Texas Tech, Arkansas blew a 24-point lead but nipped Texas A&M 27-24 and Texas outlasted Texas Christian 51-26.

Baylor has a 7-0 SWC mark with Houston and Texas battling for second place with 4-2 ledgers. SMU 4-3 and Texas Tech 3-3 are in contention for third place.

In games Saturday besides Texas-Baylor scuffle, Arkansas is at SMU, Houston is at Texas Tech and TCU is at Texas A&M.

face, just the tops of their heads."

One Alabama official told Scovell the players wanted to come to Dallas instead of the Orange Bowl because "they liked the idea of going somewhere they could get cowboy boots and cowboy hats."

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff said the Bears "started preparing for the moment right here in this (Rice) dressing room two years ago. We lost to Rice in 1978 and since then we have lost only five games. After that game, we dedicated ourselves to becoming a better team, one worthy of being a conference champion."

"We had a good nucleus coming off last year's Peach Bowl team, but still I didn't entertain any thoughts of being league champions this year."

SMU Coach Ron Meyer told representatives of the Holiday Bowl "I'll guarantee you we'll play better in San Diego than we did today. We just couldn't get untracked."

SMU halfback Craig James pretty well summed up the SWC season when he said "The world's crazy."

Only Rice, TCU, Texas A&M and Texas Tech didn't get bowl bids.

October Carrier of the Month: Russell Butts

Russell Butts has been honored as October Carrier of the Month. Carriers are given the award based on sales, service, collections and record keeping.

Tony Whitt, Russell's district manager, says Russell is friendly and does a good, consistent job managing Route 163. That is evidenced by his being a second time winner of the Carrier of the Month award. He previously was given the award in November 1979.

Russell porches all 98 papers along his route, his books are in order, his bills are paid by the 10th of the month, and he had no service error for October. Russell also has a trained substitute available when he needs her to deliver his route.

We are sure we are joined by Russell's customers when we congratulate him on another fine job and the honor of receiving the October Carrier of the Month award.

Father's life saved by four-year-old son

RANDALL, Minn. (AP) - When Jeff Jaskche's father caught his hand in a corn picker, Jeff brought the machine to a halt, turned off the power, ran for help, and brought the tools that were used to extract his father's hand.

Not bad for a 4-year-old. Jeff's quick action is credited with saving his father's life. Ernest Jaskche, a rural Randall farmer, was unloading corn about two weeks ago while Jeff and Greg Jaskche, 2, watched from a wagon.

Most of Jeff's knowledge about tractors and other farm machinery comes from watching his father work on the family's 240-acre farm. Mrs. Jaskche said, adding that she doesn't think Jeff had ever shut off the power before that day.

With his father hospitalized, Jeff is now doing his part to help his mother and 10 brothers and sisters run the farm.

"Dad said to come quick, his hand is in the roller of the corn picker," Jeff told his mother, who then ran out to her husband. "I checked for severe bleeding and ran in and called our neighbors who were here like lightning," she said.

By the time the neighbors arrived, Jeff had brought out tools and wrenches needed to loosen the rollers. Within a half hour, Jaskche was in the emergency room of St. Gabriel's Hospital in Little Falls.

Jaskche is still hospitalized with injuries to the four fingers on his right hand. He underwent a second operation last Wednesday and it appears he may lose his middle finger, Mrs. Jaskche said.

"It really paid to have him (Jeff) out there," Mrs. Jaskche said. "I don't know how long it would have been otherwise."

Most of Jeff's knowledge about tractors and other farm machinery comes from watching his father work on the family's 240-acre farm. Mrs. Jaskche said, adding that she doesn't think Jeff had ever shut off the power before that day.

"I didn't know where to turn off the fans the other day and Jeff had to show me," she said.

League wants Reagan to meet with locals

HOUSTON (AP) - A National Municipal League resolution suggests President-elect Ronald Reagan and his top aides meet with state and local officials to discuss cutting back federal programs.

The resolution approved Sunday at the league's 86th conference on government also suggests discussions at such a meeting include possible assignment to the states and local governments the responsibilities for some of the federal programs.

Strategies also would be discussed on how to limit the federal bureaucracy and hasten the re-emergence of states rights as advocated during the Reagan campaign.

It was suggested participants in the meeting include congressional leaders and representatives of the National Governors Conference, National Conference of State Legislators, National League of Cities, U.S. Conference of Mayors, and the National Association of Counties.

"This composition would give greater authority and legitimacy to the bargaining process between the federal partners than would a wholly presidentially appointed commission," the resolution said.

Court bans posting of Commandments

WASHINGTON (AP) - Kentucky cannot post copies of the Ten Commandments in every public school classroom, the Supreme Court ruled today.

By a 5-4 vote, the nation's highest court said posting the commandments in public schools violates the Constitution's freedom-of-religion guarantees.

The court's decision, coming in an unsigned opinion, reversed a Kentucky Supreme Court ruling that the state's action was constitutional.

"The pre-eminent purpose for posting the Ten Commandments in schoolroom walls is plainly religious in nature," the court said. "The Ten Commandments is undeniably a sacred text in the Jewish and Christian faiths, and no legislative recitation of a supposed secular purpose can blind us to that fact."

The court's majority included Justices William J. Brennan Jr., Thurgood Marshall, John Paul Stevens, Byron R. White and Lewis F. Powell Jr.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Harry A. Blackmun dissented, voting to review the case more fully before deciding it. Justices Potter Stewart and William H. Rehnquist said the Kentucky Supreme Court was right.

At issue was a state law requiring the Ten Commandments to be posted in all schoolrooms.

The 1978 law was challenged by four Louisville residents - Anne Bowers, Patricia Bricking, Sydel Stone and Rabbi Martin Perley - represented by the Kentucky Civil Liberties Union.

Ms. Bowers was described by her lawyer as a non-believer in any form of organized religion. Ms. Bricking is a Roman Catholic, a school teacher and a mother with three children in public schools. Ms. Stone is a Unitarian.

Search for Poet continues

NEW YORK (AP) - Coast Guard crews were scouring the Atlantic Ocean again today for the missing freighter Poet after extending for one day the deadline of a search which already had covered 300,000 square miles.

The Coast Guard had intended to end the search for the freighter and its 34 crew members on Sunday, but decided to continue the effort though all logic dictates that the search should be suspended," said spokesman Jim McGranahan.

The search deadline was extended out of "compassion and concern" for the crew members' families, he said. Coast Guard and Navy planes have spent eight days in the search for the vessel.

Coast Guard officials described the hunt as being "one of the largest, most expensive searches ever conducted." The Poet, which sailed from Philadelphia on Oct. 24, was bound for Port Said, Egypt, with a cargo of grain. Delaware Bay pilots were the last to see the 12,000-ton freighter and the ship's last communication was received as it sailed out of Philadelphia.

Detroit looking at ways to end sales problems

NEW YORK (AP) - In your opinion, are these recent business decisions well advised?

-Beset by foreign competition, poor sales and enormous losses, the domestic automotive industry has decided it needs higher prices for its new, more fuel-efficient cars.

Though costing more, some of the new cars will be less fuel-efficient than some of the imported ones. They are less of a known quality than some imports, which have established reputations.

Interested in correcting their finances than in expanding their responsibilities. Question: If interest rates rise faster than the borrower's wages will the borrower be able to continue meeting payments?

If not, and assuming the lender doesn't desire to keep extending the length of the mortgage, what option is available other than to repossess the house. No lender likes to be involved in that.

-In an effort to fight the energy shortage, the government is actively working toward development of a new industry: ethanol alcohol. Ethanol is a vital ingredient in the mixture called gasohol.
