Klan, Nazi verdict praised, debated

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — A Nazi leader hailed the acquittal of six Ku Klux Klansmen and Nazis as a "great victory for white America," but the Communist Workers Party charged that the verdict in the slaying of five comrades "gives the green light to Hitler-like attacks on the people of America."

The charges stemmed from a bloody shootout between white supremacists and demonstrators at a CWP "Death to the Klan" rally Nov. 3, 1979.

Not long after the jurors announced their decision, the civil rights division of the U.S. Justice Department said it was studying the verdict. Drew S. Days said the branch was checking "to see if there is anything we can do."

The Rev. Hosea Williams, a black civil rights activist, called the verdict "the greatest perpetration of injustice on our country since the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr."

Whether 16 other people charged after the demonstration will be brought to trial now has not yet been announced.

Greensboro police braced for trouble following the verdict, but encountered only minor problems. State Crime Control Secretary Burley Mitchell said in Raleigh that about 50 troopers, had been placed on alert "as part of a plan we have worked out with Greensboro authorities over the past several months."

Police duty officer Dwight Nesbitt said police were unsure whether two burning incidents during the night were related to the verdicts.

In one, he said, a Molotov cocktail was thrown into a supermarket on the east side near where the shootings occurred, but it did not ignite and did no damage. In the other, he said, police made five arrests in another burning incident at a moving company during the night.

"Everything is nice and quiet," he said.

The decision by the all-white jury came after seven days of deliberation and a 23-week trial. Prosecutors had argued the defendants were aggressors in the bloody battle. But defense lawyers said the six men, who had arrived at the rally site in a Klan-Nazi motorcade, came only to heckle demonstrators.

"From the very beginning, it was the communists who did the attacking," said juror Robert A. Williams. "It was the communists who started beating the cars with sticks. From then on, it was a case of self-defense."

"Oh, gosh, I feel like I have been set free," said a tearful Paula Wood, whose husband, Nazi Roland Wayne Wood, was acquitted. "I'm not sure how I feel. It's just a relief."

Regina Collett said she "never thought for a second that they (jurors) would come back with any other verdict" for her fiancée, Lawrence Gene Morgan. "I never believed he was guilty, and he's been set free by God's will," she said.

Lisa Pridmore, 14, said she had believed it was "God's will" that her father Coleman Blair Pridmore would be acquitted.

In Raleigh, national Nazi commander Harold Covington called the verdict "fantastic. It shows we can beat the system on our own ground." CWP member Kurt Krumpner said, "The verdict gives the green light to Hitler-like attacks on the people of America. That was evident when the hand-picked, all-white, Klan-loving jury was seated."

The CWP has scheduled a rally in Greensboro Dec. 5-6 to protest the outcome of the trial.

Beside Wood, 34, Pridmore, 37, and Morgan, 33, other defendants were Jerry Paul Smith, 32, David Wayne Matthews, 24, and Jack Wilson Fowler, 27.

The dead were Sandra Smith, 29, the only black slain; James Michael Waller, 37; Cesar Vinson Cauce, 25; William Sampson, 31; and Michael Roland Nathan, 33.

Iran, Iraq claim supremacy in Susangerd fighting

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — After four days of fierce fighting, both Iran and Iraq claimed supremacy in the small embattled Iranian town of Susangerd today — each seeking a much-needed victory in the 58-day-old war.

Iran said its regulars and Islamic revolutionary guards battled to "clean all areas around Susangerd from the heretics" after driving the invaders from the town's eastern neighborhoods.

A midday Iraqi communique claimed Iraqi forces "tightened the noose on the Persian enemy pockets of resistance and destroyed his reinforcements with rapid blows" in Susangerd, 20 miles east of the border and 30 miles northwest of Ahwaz, capital of Iran's oil-rich Khuzistan Province.

The Iraqi communique claimed 88 Iranian troops and guards were killed in morning fighting.

The Iraqi command also claimed 150 Iranian fighters were killed in an ill-fated attempt overnight to break out from a month-long Iraqi siege of Iran's oil refining city of Abadan, about 100 miles south on the southern end of the 300-mile warfront. Abadan lies on the Shatt al-Arab estuary, Iraq's only outlet to the Persian Gulf.

The Iraqis claimed three Iranian medium-size navy vessels were sunk in a sea battle in the northern waters of the Gulf.

The garrison in Abadan is believed to be getting supplies only by sea. The Iraqis control all highways and railroads into the city.

The Iraqi communique reported Iranian warplanes bombed the Iraqi oil-loading port of Fao on the mouth of the waterway and claimed one Phantom fighter-bomber was shot down.

On Monday, Iran claimed it had driven the invaders from Susangerd after three days of hard fighting. Iraq, however, had made no mention of any retreat and said its jets continued bombing and strafing Susangerd.

Tehran Radio said the Iraqis pulled back nine miles from the city, leaving it littered with Iraqi dead and wrecked tanks and that 45 Iraqis were taken prisoner.

The broadcast said the tide of battle was turned by the arrival Monday of army reinforcements. Up to then, the city was believed to have been defended mainly by revolutionary guards and regulars of the local garrison. The government radio reported today that former Defense Minister Mostafa Chamran was wounded in the foot while leading "an efficient and skillful guerrilla group" that took part in the city's liberation.

"The city is under the control of our heroic forces after three days of heroic resistance," Tehran Radio said. "With the entry of the army with air defense, the enemy was crushed and left a huge amount of war weapons."

It said 650 Iraqis were killed Sunday and 200 Monday, 37 Iraqi tanks and 15 other armored vehicles were destroyed, and Iranian losses were "very low." Iraq said its forces killed 511 Iranians in house-to-house fighting Sunday and Monday and sank 12 Iranian gunboats in the Karkheh River. It reported 34 Iraqis killed.

Iran also repeated a charge that Iraq used "chemical weapons and incendiary bombs" against Susangerd and said this heralded "the use of germ warfare and biological weapons." It asked the United Nations and the International Red Cross "to strongly censure the Iraqi regime and make it stop its inhuman crimes."

Pars, the official Iranian news agency, reported that residential areas of Ahwaz came under heavy fire for more than two hours early this morning. It said no details of damage or casualties were available yet.

Change of venue motion filed in Gonzalez' murder trial

Defense Attorney Geroge Gilkerson, Lubbock, filed a motion for change of venue this morning in 118th District Court as Abe Gonzalez' trial for the murder of Ronald Jeter began.

Jeter, 36, died from gunshot wounds 9:30 p.m. Feb. 15. Gonzalez, 35, is accused of firing the shotgun blasts in BJ's Country Lounge, Snyder Highway.

The jury panel was dismissed at 11 a.m. after being instructed to return at 1:30 p.m. today. Gilkerson filed his motion for change of venue on the basis of "publicity and word of mouth," he said.

Retired District Judge Ralph Caton is hearing the case on assignment of the administrative judge. Jim Gregg is 118th District Judge.

Several notables were listed on the jury voir dire including District Clerk Peggy Crittenden, Tax Assessor-Collector elect Dorothy Moore, Charles Beil, school board member, and Bobby Marquez, who was recently released from prison for drug possession.

Reagan begins meetings with Congressional leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Ronald Reagan, bidding for improved White House relations with Congress, began a round of meetings today on Capitol Hill.

Reagan's arrival Monday night in the nation's capital prompted a series of rumors and reports about the shape of the new administration. Reagan did nothing today to squelch them.

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, who figures prominently in reports as a possible secretary of defense, took part in Reagan's meeting with Senate Republican leaders.

As he left his government residence one-half block from the White House this morning, Reagan was asked whether Tower would head the Pentagon. He waved off the question, saying, "I don't know."

Reagan, Vice President-elect George Bush and senior staff members met with the Senate Republican leaders, including Howard Baker of Tennessee, Ted Stevens of Alaska, Jake Garn of Utah and Paul Laxalt of Nevada, for 50 minutes in a chandelier-lit room, then began a session with their House counterparts.

After the meeting, Baker said Reagan intends to forge a new partnership between the White House and Capitol Hill.

"It is clear to me he understands the nature of the two-party system and the relationship between the two branches of government," said Baker, who is expected to become majority leader when the Republicans take over control of the Senate in January.

Asked whether a tax cut would be Reagan's first legislative proposal to go to Capitol Hill, Baker said he wasn't sure if that would come first, but it would be among the first handful of pieces of proposed legislation originating with the Reagan White House.

Reagan walked from Baker's office through the domed Capitol rotunda while several hundred tourists were allowed to catch a surprise look at the president-elect.

Before leaving Los Angeles on Monday, Reagan cautioned against expecting overnight changes when he takes office. Noting that spending cuts and reorganizations will require legislation, he said, "It's going to take time getting that implemented."

Reagan brought with him to Washington two large binders, which he said contained plans to implement his campaign promises of reducing income taxes 30 percent over three years and cutting government spending 2 percent a year.

Polish leader opposed to labor union resigns

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland's independent labor movement scored again as a district governor opposed to it submitted his resignation.

Gov. Mirosław Wierzbicki of Czesochowa offered to quit Monday during talks between a government commission and workers from Solidarity, the biggest independent union, in the southwestern industrial city, labor and government sources said.

The sources said Premier Josef Pinkowski apparently did not accept the resignation immediately, and the government delegation was to resume talks with the workers today.

The dispute began Nov. 10 when Wierzbicki declared a regional state of emergency after Solidarity threatened to call nationwide strikes unless the Supreme Court threw out a lower court ruling inserting a clause in the union's constitution affirming the supremacy of the Communist Party.

The governor also banned the union's activities in his district. Plant managers had Solidarity posters torn down, took the telephones out of the union's offices and barred union leaders from publicizing grievances in factory newsletters. Residents of the area said revolvers also were distributed to militiamen, who normally do not carry arms.

Even though the Supreme Court overruled the lower court and Solidarity canceled its strike threat, Wierzbicki did not rescind his order. Workers at some 200 plants in the region then threatened to strike.

Polish workers won the right to organize unions free of party control for the first time in the Soviet bloc following nationwide strikes last summer. The Communist Party newspaper Trybuna Luda said Monday that efforts to delay implementation of the settlement as well as new labor demands constitute "anti-party activity."

"There is no doubt that the prolonged crisis is caused by those who treat the agreement as a transitory compromise and either try to halt, delay or postpone the realization of its resolutions or intensify escalation of demands posed to the authorities," the paper said.

Council to give final approval of bond election slated Dec. 13

The Big Spring City Council will give its final approval of a local bond election to be held on Dec. 16 during today's regular meeting at 6:30 p.m.

In addition to the bond election itself, members will consider approval of second readings on two related items. These include: a contract with the First Southwest Company for financial consultation; and the appointment of the law firm of McCall, Parkhurst and Horton as legal advisers in the sale of the bonds.

The council will also consider leasing an additional 21 acres of industrial park property to the Oilfield Industrial Line Company (O.I.L.). The property includes two buildings presently leased by the Cotton Machinery Company and 19 acres of property adjacent to the buildings.

In other business, councilmen will: —Award bids for garbage bags and a new paging system. —Approve bid specifications for a new backhoe. —Consider a second reading on an ordinance that would raise the penalty for bad checks written to the city from $3 to $5.

—Consider the first reading of an ordinance closing Adams Street.

—Consider the second reading on an agreement with the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce to provide money for tourist development.

—Consider a first reading of a resolution that would withdraw the city from the social security system.

—Discuss the city's computer system.

—Record the ballot numbers from each city precinct.

—Consider charging off $53,988.20 of what Tom Ferguson, city finance director, deems uncollectible—debts from inactive accounts in the water department.

—Consider closing Austin Street.

—Discuss installation of four-way stop signs at 10th and Lancaster.

—Consider a claim for damages submitted by Robert Patterson.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: $15 fee quiz

Q. Why is a newcomer from out of state charged $15 extra when he buys his automobile license plates?

A. The $15 fee doesn't have anything to do with the car plates, said Ann McKinney, chief deputy of the automobile division of the Howard County Tax Assessor-Collector. It is a use tax collected from all drivers when they bring their cars into the state for the first time.

Inmates plead innocence

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — Pleas of innocent have been entered by three New Mexico State Penitentiary inmates to charges they killed another inmate during a February riot which claimed 33 lives.

Charged with first-degree murder are Herman Richard Buzbee, 34, Richard Chapman, 27, and Michael Dennis Colby, 24. The three were arraigned separately Monday before District Judge Lorenzo Garcia.

The defendants are scheduled to go to trial Feb. 16, 1981. Along with James Humiston, 29, who was being arraigned today, they are charged with killing Larry Wayne Smith, 31.

Veteran's trial halted

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Sentencing has been postponed for Harold Mann, the Vietnam veteran jailed since he held 27 people hostage in a St. Albans church last year.

Kanawha County Circuit Judge A. Andrew MacQueen said Monday he wanted Mann, 33, to undergo psychiatric treatment at a government hospital before being sentenced.

Mann was arrested Oct. 21, 1979, after he stormed into the St. Albans Church of Christ. Brandishing a rifle, he held the congregation captive until he was allowed to make a statement over the radio criticizing the Veterans Administration. No one was hurt in the four-hour siege.

Nuclear protests moved

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Police removed seven members of an anti-nuclear group who occupied a Kerr-McGee Corp. conference room for three hours.

The company will lodge trespassing charges against the Sunbelt Alliance members who refused to leave the room Monday after discussions with a Kerr-McGee official, a spokesman for the corporation said.

One protester, Trudy Knowles, said talks broke down when company officials refused to discuss with the demonstrators "company accountability for...miners who have died in Kerr-McGee mines."

Weeds to be sprayed

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — Weeds which threaten Oregon peppermint fields will be sprayed with paraquat, a pesticide used to kill marijuana plants in Mexico, state officials say.

Federal authorities have authorized the state to supervise the paraquat spraying of Italian ryegrass, common groundsel and other weeds on 15,000 acres in central and eastern Oregon, state Department of Agriculture officials said Monday.

Leonard Kunzman, state agriculture director, said that under the emergency approval the state must inform the federal Environmental Protection Agency of any adverse effects in use of the pesticide.

Utility suit settled

FORT WAYNE, Ind. (AP) — Mayor Winfield Moses' personal lawsuit against Indiana & Michigan Electric Co. has been settled out of court with the utility agreeing to pay him $90,000, the mayor says.

Moses' suit against the utility had been scheduled to go to court Monday. But the mayor said weekend negotiations led to a settlement in Whitley Circuit Court on Monday.

The utility filed a $5 million libel suit against Moses in 1974 after he praised the state's rejection of its proposed $38 million rate boost. That suit was dismissed but Moses filed his own suit in November 1976, seeking damages from the company.

BSHS band receives two standing ovations

Members of the Big Spring High School Steer Band came away with a Division II rating at the UIL regional marching contest Saturday in Odessa. Division II is the second highest rating possible at the event, according to Steve Waggoner, BSHS band director.

The contest was held in W.T. Barrett Stadium, and was judged by band directors outside the Region 6A area, of which Big Spring is a member.

Waggoner said the BSHS band was the only group of to receive two standing ovations from the crowd, which was estimated at 1,000.

Waggoner added "the entire year was successful, even though we did not receive the first division that we might have deserved. I feel the band has been well received by the people who attend the football games, and that is the major part of the band's job."

Next on the agenda for the band members is a winter concert, slated Dec. 18 at the Big Spring High School Auditorium.

Hahn discusses bad, good aspects of industrial thrust

Granville Hahn, who has been working with the Big Spring Industrial Team, spoke on the good and bad aspects of the industrial thrust being made by the community in a talk made before the Evening Lions Club at the Bonanza Restaurant Monday evening.

Hahn mentioned that Western Container Corp. here was considering plans to widen its operation to the extent that it could manufacture containers for beverages other than Coca-Cola.

Hahn said one of the discouraging things about the local move for more industrial is the fact that the labor force could not always be rallied for a large industry.

Kevin Madison was a guest at the meeting, Larry Sheppard presided. An estimated 25 persons attended.

Snowstorm kills thirteen

A vast storm that swooped out of the Western Plains assaulted cities of the urban Northeast with snows almost a foot deep today, leaving at least 13 people dead from Texas to New York.

Thousands of homes were darkened as the snow and ice ripped down power lines. Highways from Ohio to Massachusetts were littered with stalled trucks and cars. Schools closed in numerous communities.

The storm that had dropped snow up to 17 inches deep in parts of the West intensified as it reached New England in the early-morning hours. With snow still falling, more than 10 inches had accumulated at such places as Albany, N.Y., and Williamsport, Pa. Six inches had fallen in six hours at Concord, N.H., with 5 inches during the same period at Hartford, Conn.

Two traffic deaths in Texas on a rain-slick road and one in Oklahoma were blamed on the storm, which in one day left eight times the normal November snowfall in Oklahoma. Four people died in separate snow-related road accidents in Ohio, where as much as 7 1/2 inches fell.

Two traffic deaths were reported in Pennsylvania and one in New Jersey. In addition, a 9-year-old boy in Armstrong County, Pa., was found dead in his backyard swimming pool after he went outside to shovel snow.

In New York, the storm was blamed for at least two deaths.

A twin-engine airplane piloted by a New York man was reported missing this morning over rugged Pennsylvania terrain covered with nine to 12 inches of snow.

The first snowfall of the season prompted University of Rhode Island students to attack the police station in South Kingston, R.I., with snowballs.

"They broke 11 windows and vandalized a police car, but there were no injuries," said police Capt. James E. McDonald.

Sanding machines began to roll in New York City late Monday.

ASSET THAT CAN EASILY LIQUIDATE — Employees of Pollard Chevrolet Company, 1604 E. Third, put the finishing touches on a station wagon they made out of snow Monday. Though the sports looking car was destined not to last long in today's sunshine, the men consider their masterpiece worth the effort. ### Couple hit with pot charges

A Big Spring couple was arrested Monday on suspicion of possessing over 10 ounces of marijuana.

Members of the Big Spring Major Crime Task Force arrested Frederick C. Birmelin, 25, and Jan Lynn Birmelin, 19, noon Monday. Both have been charged with felony possession of marijuana, and their bond has been set at $15,000 apiece by Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin.

Sherrill Farmer confirmed the resignation, and said that Lockhart had cited low pay as one of the reasons for the decision. The resignation will be effective Nov. 30.

Bill to allow conjugal visits for state prison inmates pushed

Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Prison reform advocates are counting on a recent statewide poll to help pass legislation next year to allow conjugal visits for state prison inmates. A bill similar to one that almost passed the Texas House two years ago was filed for the 1981 session this past week by Rep. Sam Hudson III of Dallas. "We're counting on the Texas Crime Poll to show legislators that the people are for conjugal visits," Pauline Sullivan said. She and her husband Charles run an Austin-based lobby group called Citizens for the Rehabilitation of Errants, or CURE. She was referring to a recent poll by the Criminal Justice Center of Sam

Houston State University at Huntsville. It shows 59 percent of the citizens favor allowing prisoners with good-behavior records to have private visits with spouses. Hudson's bill is similar to one by him that reached the House floor in the 1979 session and failed by only a few votes, Mrs. Sullivan said. She said she believes the bill might have passed in the Senate if it had obtained House approval. Department of Corrections officials opposed the proposal two years ago, and have not indicated a change of mind. They cited the high cost of providing privacy rooms for conjugal visits and possible problems of spouses smuggling drugs or other banned items to prisoners. CURE lobbied hard for the bill in 1979, stressing the sanctity of marriage and the carrot-effect of encouraging prisoners to maintain good-behavior records. Mrs. Sullivan said a similar effort will be made next year, with information supplied about how well similar programs work in other states, such as California.

She said the prison-reform group also will push for a yet-to-be introduced bill calling for "contact visitation" at state prisons. This allows prisoners and family members to visit without separation by a glass or wire barrier. Just being able to hold their children can have a positive effect on the morale of prisoners, Mrs. Sullivan said.

Titan loses title as Saturn's largest moon

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Saturn's moon Titan has lost the title of largest natural satellite in the solar system to Jupiter's moon Ganymede, but not by much, according to the latest analysis of Voyager 1 data. Scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory here calculate that Titan's size indicates a diameter of 3,070 miles, compared with Ganymede's 3,160 miles. Meanwhile, scientist Rich Terrile said the mysterious dark spokes on one of Saturn's rings apparently result from interaction between the rings and the planet's magnetic field. The fields rotate faster than the rings, and the particles in the spokes carry an electrostatic charge, Terrile said. Until Voyager approached Saturn last week, Titan's diameter could not be accurately estimated because its surface, shrouded by dense clouds, was invisible. Voyager data still has not shown the moon's surface, and its size was determined from indirect evidence.

However, readings from several of Voyager's experiments indicate Titan's nitrogen-rich atmosphere extends much further than had been previously thought. "Titan has been dethroned as the largest moon in the solar system," scientist Toby Owen said Monday. It also appears to be too warm at the surface to allow oceans of liquid nitrogen to form, except in the polar regions, Owen said. Liquid nitrogen "rains" may fall from the cloud layer, but the drops evaporate before they hit the surface, he said. Now far past Saturn and on a 36,000 mph course that will take it out of the solar system by the mid-1990s, Voyager 1 cameras will continue to scan the ringed planet until mid-December. Then they will be permanently shut down, although other equipment will continue taking readings of interplanetary space. Scientists hope Voyager still will be working when it reaches the edge of the solar system and plunges into interstellar space.

AUTOGRAPH PARTY TO BE RESUMED — Because the weather Sunday interfered with the plans of a considerable number of people to attend Joe Pickle's autograph party at the Heritage Museum, the Big Spring author plans to devote the afternoon of Sunday, Dec. 7, at the museum to signing copies of his book, 'Gettin' Started,' which was recently published under the sponsorship of the museum. Pickle is shown here with well wishers at the museum the past weekend. Gerri Atwell, museum curator, says an estimated 500 copies of the book were purchased last weekend. Proceeds from the sale of the book go to the museum. (PHOTO BY ANDREA COHEN)

Mixed drink taxes in county listed

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said sales of mixed drinks in Texas during the third quarter of 1980 pushed the yearly total during the first nine months to more than $700 million. Bullock said mixed drinks taxes collected during July, August and September total $24.2 million. There were $22.1 million and $23.6 million collected during the first and second quarters.

Total county tax revenue collected on mixed drinks in Howard County during the quarter totaled $18,523.16. The county's 15 percent remittance amounted to a $2,778.47 return. Total city tax revenue on mixed drinks was $15,357.30. Big Spring's 15 percent return amounted to $2,303.60. County tax revenue for Mitchell County amounted to $3,129.32. The county's 15 percent remittance totaled $469.40. Colorado City's total tax revenue was $1,959.82. The city's 15 percent remittance came to $293.97.

Police storm Korean school

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Hundreds of riot police stormed on the campus of Yonsei University today and dispersed as many as 2,000 anti-government demonstrators. University officials said about 10 students were arrested, and the school will be closed at least until Thursday.

The demonstration began when students scattered leaflets calling for the resignation of President Chun Doo-hwan, an end to martial law, the release of imprisoned dissidents and press freedom. It was the second anti-government demonstration at the major private university in nine days. Demonstrations are illegal under martial law, imposed last fall when President Park Chung-hee was assassinated by his intelligence chief. Chun, meanwhile, said relations between the United States and his country will grow stronger under the administration of President-elect Ronald Reagan, the Asian Wall Street Journal reported today.

Man leads police to grave; woman charged

HONEY GROVE, Texas (AP) — An Allens Chapel woman has been charged in the death of her husband after her son-in-law led police to the man's four-year-old grave near this Northeast Texas town. Officers found the skeletal remains of J.B. Wilson in a shallow grave inside a storage shed at the family's Fannin County farm Monday. Honey Grove police officer Roy Allen said Carl Wilson, 21, turned himself in to police Monday morning and confessed to the slaying. "He said his conscience was bothering him and he couldn't sleep," Allen said. "He was just trying to get things off his chest." As authorities prepared to charge Wilson with the murder, however, his wife told police it was her mother, not her husband, who fired the single gunshot into Wilson's head. Delores Wilson, 48, then was charged with murder. She remained in Fannin County jail today under $10,000 bond. Wilson's statements, however, did lead sheriff's deputies to charge him with indecency with a child. He too remained in Fannin County jail in lieu of $2,500 bond. Officers said they were not certain how Wilson learned of the shooting, but that they have "pretty well ruled out" any complicity on his part. The remains were sent to the Dallas County Forensic Science Center for positive identification and cause of death.

Roloff says state should stay out of his business

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Preacher Lester Roloff says a state agency set up to oversee human resources has no say over that which is divine — such as his homes for wayward children. "The license from the state has to do with controlling my spiritual liberty," the evangelist testified Monday. "I believe the Lord reserves the right to give that license to me."

The courtroom was packed with Roloff supporters as the radio preacher continued his dogged fight against state law requiring licenses to run homes for wayward children. Some of his comments drew hushed "amens" from the audience. "They are stepping out of bounds," he said of state officials. "They came to my church and declared war on me."

Roloff lost the most recent battle in the war but devised a scheme to assure himself another day in court. State District Judge Charles Mathews, who is hearing the current case, ruled in 1979 that Roloff needed the license to keep the homes open. State officials sent to enforce the order in June 1979 were met by a Bible-wielding throng of preachers and Roloff supporters. They lined up in front of Roloff's People's Baptist Church, daring the officials to go in and take the children. The standoff ended when Roloff moved his children out of the state. The transfer gave him time to develop a new plan by which he placed the homes under the wing of his church. They had been under his Roloff Evangelistic Enterprises. The state filed a new suit. Assistant Attorney General David Young said Monday that Roloff is liable for $46,000 in civil penalties. He wants Mathews to again order Roloff to get a license or close the homes. Young presented a brief case, merely stating what Roloff does not deny — that the homes are unlicensed. Roloff said he is being victimized by the state. "There has been a personal vendetta against Lester Roloff," Roloff said. "I've been made a political football and everybody knows it." The feisty preacher reeled off a list of state rules he said he could not obey, even if he did seek a license. "We're not obligated to the state. We're obligated to the parents. I believe the state could keep itself real busy looking after its own wilderness camps," he said. As always, Roloff clutched his well-worn Bible as he testified. He also held the state law that says he needs a license. "Why would I swap (the Bible) off for such upgraded, rewritten human rule books such as this," he said, holding up the state law. He also said the state "track record is not good." "The state hatched out Jim Jones. He had plenty of licenses," he said.

Tower considered for Secretary of Defense

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, emerged today as one of those being considered for secretary of defense in the President-elect Ronald Reagan's Cabinet, but he denied a published report he had been offered the job. "Oh, it's been discussed with members of the transition team, but I don't think any decisions have been made," Tower said. "As I understand it, others are being discussed. I have not talked to Ronald Reagan about it."

Reagan, on Capitol Hill today for a meeting with congressional leaders including Tower, was asked if the Texas senator would be his secretary of defense. He waved off reporters, saying: "I don't know." When the reporters tried to pursue the subject, Reagan press secretary Lyn Nofziger intervened to block further questioning. The head of Reagan's transition team refused to comment on the Tower report but said a list of finalists for the various Cabinet posts was completed in California on Monday evening and will be flown to Washington for Reagan's consideration. Edwin Meese III, one of Reagan's closest aides who already has been named as one of two men slated for key slots in the new White House staff, was asked on NBC-TV's "Today" show this morning whether he brought a list of potential Cabinet officers with him when he flew to the capital with Reagan on Monday. "Well, actually that list was completed yesterday, last evening, in California, and it is being flown to Washington this week," Meese said. "So we'll be looking at it later in the week." The list, said to include three to five names for each Cabinet post, was drawn up by a group of long-time Reagan friends and advisers, including at least two former Cabinet secretaries and several wealthy Western businessmen expected to serve Reagan in an unofficial "kitchen" Cabinet. James Brady, spokesman for the transition team, told reporters at his daily briefing that Reagan will talk with the top candidates, either in person or by telephone, before announcing his choices. He added the president-elect "has said he doesn't want this to become a spectacle," and reporters should not expect to witness a parade of office-seekers trooping in to see Reagan. Reagan himself told his first news conference after his election he expects to announce his choices the last week of November or the first week in December. The report that Tower had been picked for the Pentagon post came from syndicated columnists Rowland Evans and Robert Novak, who also said it was highly probable that Texas Gov. Bill Clements would name John B. Connally to replace Tower in the Senate. In Philadelphia, where he was attending a conference of Republican governors, Clements said: "That's the nuttiest thing I've ever heard." Clements nonetheless is close to Reagan, managed his successful campaign in Texas and visited the president-elect in California last weekend. Connally, a former Democratic governor of Texas who served in former President Richard M. Nixon's Cabinet, switched parties and ran for president earlier this year as a Republican. He dropped out after losing early primaries. Evans and Novak said Reagan had formally made the offer to Tower in a telephone conversation.

Mercury to rise across all of Texas

By The Associated Press
Clear skies and warmer temperatures were forecast across all of Texas today. Much of the Panhandle, South Plains and the mountains of Southwest Texas remained under a blanket of snow, but warmer temperatures were expected to melt some of it. Highs were to be in the 40s and 50s in West Texas and North Texas and in the 50s and 60s in South Texas. Colder temperatures were forecast for tonight with lows dipping into the 20s over much of the northern half of the state and as low as the 30s in South Texas. Some low clouds were reported over East Texas and along the coastal plains early today, but fair skies prevailed over the remainder of the state. Early morning temperatures ranged from the teens in the Panhandle to the upper 40s in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. Most of the state had readings in the 20s and 30s. Extremes ranged from 17 at Amarillo to 48 at Brownsville.

Although they need the money to operate, the Justice and State departments say President Carter should veto a $9 billion appropriations bill if it contains provisions to block school busing for racial balance and the Soviet grain embargo. The Justice Department objects to an amendment to the bill, as passed by both the Senate and the House, that would prohibit it from spending money to seek court-ordered busing to achieve school integration. The State Department opposes a Senate provision that would forbid any federal expenditure to enforce Carter's partial embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union. Carter has not said what he will do if the bill arrives

Carter would veto bill that blocks school busing

WASHINGTON (AP) — on his desk bearing either provision. The bill would appropriate $9 billion to keep the Justice, State and Commerce departments operating through the end of the fiscal year next Oct. 30. The bill won final Senate approval Monday on a 51-35 vote. Next, Senate and House conferees must try to settle disparities in the grain embargo provision. In September, the Senate voted to amend the bill to forbid any expenditure to enforce Carter's embargo of sales of 17 million tons of grain, imposed in January following the Russian military intervention in Afghanistan. The House, however, defeated a similar move in July. If the House acquiesces to the Senate, the State Department said Monday, Carter should veto the bill.

Uncle Sam accepts $15,000 offer

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City's offer of $15,000 for the old armory building here has been accepted by the government. The Colorado City Industrial Team had requested that the city purchase the structure, thereby accepting an option granted it by the government. The building had been appraised for $17,500. The city council has decided to ask for bids on the structure rather than tie up city funds in erasing the debt for it.

An immigrant we didn't want or welcome

The killer bees compelled a lot of attention in the nation's press when it was disclosed several years ago that they were then in South America and headed this way.

The people in the southern and southwestern portions of the United States have reason to worry a lot more about the imported fire ant. Would it surprise you to be told that the fierce little pest is only four counties removed from Howard County? They now partially infest Kerr County and generally blanket Gillespie County, both of which are southeast of Howard County.

THE TEXAS DEPARTMENT OF Agriculture has imposed a quarantine in those Texas counties where the ant has been positively identified, hoping to stem the tide of infestation. Included on the list of items which cannot be moved from quarantined areas into clean areas unless treated are soils and other organic planting materials, plants with roots with soil attached, grass sod, hay and straw, logs, pulpwood and stumpwood, as well as used mechanized soil-moving equipment.

An inspectors for the TDA can also quarantine any other items that he determines present hazards of spreading the ants. Despite such controls, the ant continues to spread at the rate of about 30 miles a year.

The ants are so hard to contain because thousands of the winged ants emerge from their rain-dampened mounds and fly skyward. There, six or seven hundred feet above ground, they perform their mating ritual and then return to earth. The males die soon after landing but the females will discard their wings and dig cavities in the soil. Within 24 hours, they will lay their first eggs, and new colonies will begin.

The fire ants have made great headway since they were first discovered in Texas 30 years ago. Currently, they infest more than 100 counties. Especially high concentrations are found in parts of East Texas and along the coast. The path of the ants covers a land mass equal to about a fourth of the entire state.

THEY SAY OUR high temperature and lack of moisture should halt the natural spread of the ants in this direction. On the other hand, if they are transported by humans — which frequently happens — they could wind up in the moist, fertile areas of the Pacific Coast. They likely will move into Mexico, too.

Solenopsis richteri, or black fire ants, entered the U.S. by boat at the port of Mobile, Alabama, as early as 1918. Oddly enough, they were never successful in gaining much of a foothold in that particular area. However, their more aggressive red relatives, Solenopsis invicta, also arrived in Mobile, probably from their native Brazil. By 1977, they had become a major problem in nine southern states.

They are the bane of farmers and ranchers because they make pasture and cropland virtually unusable.

The ants will swarm at any disturbance to their mound, inflicting angry stings to human and animal life. The bite forms itchy pustules that become easily infected, take time to heal and sometimes require medical attention. Fire ants are also found in the backyards, school playgrounds and parks of cities and suburbs, providing a nuisance for urban dwellers as well.

Mirex was the standard control agent pesticide for fire ants until 1978, when it was banned by the Environmental Protection Agency.

This summer, the TDA has been testing a new chemical on the ants with good results. Counts taken after treatment of the chemical known as Amdro reveal 88 percent control after 12 weeks — not as high as mirex but high enough to give farmers and ranchers some relief. The good thing about Amdro is that it breaks down rapidly in sunlight. Within 24 hours the power of the chemical has been considerably dissipated. Worker ants, which are out foraging, pick up the poison and carry it back to the mound.

It's comforting to know that there is an agency alert to the problem and doing what it can to stay the threat. There's hope for the old homestead yet.

Questions

Around the rim

Richard Horn

The Christian Right Wing in this country is riding a wave of success. They have just finished a campaign to get people to the polls for the presidential election. They have pushed the idea of voting to bring morality back to America and have offered a few guidelines as to which candidates are best able to accomplish that. It would seem they have done their job well.

I think it is great that this new movement, which has been a bit misunderstood and misrepresented by many people, was able to get Christians to come to the polls. Christians are one group that quite simply must take a hand in the running of this country. I do find myself questioning whether the solution they have proposed, and which have been voted for by a majority of the country, will actually bring strong morality back to the country.

disarmament? I don't know how many sermons I have listened to which give the Biblical basis for war. I know the Bible does not say that Christians shall not go to war for the right cause, but nowhere does it say that the way to get along with our enemies is to hold a gun to their heads while they hold a gun to ours. That is not peace through strength, that is peace through fear, which isn't peace at all.

Likewise, why does America have to be superior to everyone? I think this country has done a good bit of evil in the world, at least as much as some other countries and nowhere do I find a verse saying that Americans are God's chosen people. This talk about a 'city, shining on a hill' is ego-inflating pride, and the Bible takes a definite stand on that.

WHY IS IT THAT the free-enterprise way is the Christian way? I agree that the free-enterprise system works well and, like the commercial says, works for everyone. But there is a problem with it. Whereas socialism allows people to be lazy, capitalism allows people to be greedy. I believe that America should operate with a free enterprise system, but I don't believe the pursuit of money should be given a clear road. Christians are giving it just that.

What troubles me the most is the arrogance of the national leaders of this movement. They call the groups the "Moral Majority" and the "Christian Voice." I am a Christian, and these people are not my voice.

I HAVE HAD A fundamentalist upbringing, and consider myself to be an Evangelical. But I am rather far away from this new evangelical movement. I agree with the basic beliefs of this movement, from their stand on abortion and homosexuality to belief in Biblical authority and opposition to humanism. What I have questions about is their methods and proposed solutions.

These are not rhetorical, smart-aleck questions, they are things I do not understand, and would like to understand more clearly.

Why has this group seemingly given up on the idea of peace and nuclear

Mailbag

Dear Editor:
Congratulations to Big Spring. We're perfectly in step with the Nov. 8, 1980 comic strips, and since their producers must write to the interests of our nation, it follows that we are in step with the whole U.S.A. How ever 'did we fall into step so perfectly?'

Examples:
1. Gasoline Alley portrays Gretchen, who communicates with superior mental activity but without speech. Our community is learning "signing" so we may better communicate with our deaf students.

2. We voted with the nation to elect Reagan president. He informs the press that he intends to act as "chairman of the board" over a hand-picked staff (abilities proven by successful functioning in higher echelons of corporate world) — these experts will find ways to "get the job done."

Beetle Bailey relates the events of life for Gen. Hatchback as he trips his light fantastic through a day of delegating authority. Remember... "What's good for GM is good for U.S.?"

3. Some of us are flattened by a bulldozer environment (mentally)... Our psychic alteration is probably illustrated by the Tumbleweeds. Screaming Flea mentally projects an elaborate multi-circle "Mandala" reduced to a single-line tracing of a crazy-maze when the chief fumes.

Confusion guides our efforts in working to produce a better tomorrow.

Wizard of Id's Sir Rodney instructed to withhold fire until he can "see the whites of their eyes" is trounced in a battle with the "red-eyed enemy."

We seek industries to produce throw-away containers and are successful... Shoe drives a huge machine to harvest leaves, then shred them and hurl them sky-ward...

Farmers and ranchers are prodded by state and federal agencies to control soil erosion from wind and water — they are even threatened by these agencies if they are too unresponsive. Urban residents only listen to speeches about such rural efforts... seemingly none of it applies to erosion in a city... last month erosion changed our alley into two gulleys. Water reservoirs fill with "silt" carried by flood waters. City silt is just as damaging as country silt! B.C. depicts a snow-balling single snowflake while it moves into the ocean leaving a great gully-down all the hill.

Donesbury finally has a message I can understand, the passing scene hurls past where I am sitting. Peanuts' Charlie Brown stacks his school books for tomorrow morning and completes a thorough bedtime ritual which should be good preparation for a smooth-starting tomorrow. The troublesome snags begin even before the morn.

Dagwood tucks a squirreled-away $50 bill behind a loose board. I've tucked a previous $10 into a book where I intend to read tomorrow... the book is lost.

Now I'm knitting booties like crazy because months ago I assured a niece that I wanted to provide footwear for the layette. My niece has been diligent, the new relative is soon to arrive and I must produce booties, else the child will suffer frost-bitten feet... Dennis the Menace learns about showers for babies!

Moon Mullins took the words right out of my mouth, "Drat, darn, doggone, daddblame, dang!... The Department of Energy falls to use tax money to provide energy producing units useable by the individual household and farmer — instead our tax millions are given to big business to develop their profits from our tax supported research.

Arizona and Utah have discouraged the Military MX missile proponents from their fragile environment... so how those defenders of the MX — are eyeing our New Mexico and Texas Panhandle area — right on top of our deep-water irrigation source that was already over-endangered before they proposed to further damage the water structure with their deep cellars and practicing explosive blasts to disrupt sub-surface our economy supporting water supply.

This comment leaves the comic strip, but the news items are in the same news issue. Orthodox organized religion moves to join with current social-science life. The Vatican moves to lift its 16th century sanction against Galileo.

There is progress, but it must take time. When will the Protestant Fundamentalists and the Vatican move to prevent the problems of people proliferation beyond our planet's space and food? History has removed excess people via war, pestilence and famine. This is not a loving, humane way to deal with this problem of too many human-animals for our planet to sustain. Moon Mullins frustration is worthy of repetition...

Ralph Coates has categorically denied he wrote a letter which appeared in last Thursday's Mailbag section of the Herald.

The Herald considered the letter laudatory of the improvements made to and of the corrective measures taken to reduce the incidence of water leaks to the water system of the City of Big Spring. Furthermore, we are of the opinion that the letter in no way reflected discredit on anyone.

The Herald apologizes to Mr. Coates for any embarrassment he might have suffered because the letter appeared in print.

No close shave

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — A reader has asked me to help him with a problem he has. The question he posed is: "I notice that PLO leader Yasser Arafat and new Iranian Prime Minister Rajai always manage to appear with a four- to six-day growth of beard, which never grows any longer. How do they manage to do it?"

IN ORDER TO get the answer I called a friend of mine at the CIA who was very upset that I was on to something. He agreed to meet me in a safe house in McLean, Va. He told me to take a taxi to National Airport, buy a ticket to Bangor, Me., and then at the last moment rent a car and drive to the address.

When I met him at the house there were three CIA agents in the living room who refused to give their names, and my friend.

"Why are you interested in Arafat and Rajai's shaving problems?" one of them wanted to know.

I played dumb. "Just curiosity. A reader asked me and I thought he deserved an answer."

"A likely story," one of the others sneered. "You were tipped off by someone in the agency, weren't you?"

"I don't think I have to answer that."
"We've been working on this problem for months now. There are only six people in 'The Company,' not including the CIA barber, who knows what we've been up to. Now it looks as if one of them is a mole."

"You mean he's working for both sides?"

"It's obvious he is. To get to the bottom of this, we'll tell you what we know if you tell us what you know."

"It sounds good to me," I said. "It seems there are a lot of leaders in the Middle East who don't shave every day. By the same token they refuse to grow beards. They prefer a four- to six-day growth, but no more. My source believes they're all using the same razor blade."

One of the CIA men was taking notes. "He's on the right track," he said.

"Did your source tell you how they manage to get the razor blade back and forth?"

"Arafat seems to be the big man. He's always traveling somewhere and my man believes he has the razor blade hidden in his turban. We've never seen a picture of Yasser without his headdress. It would be the obvious place to keep it."

The men looked at each other before one spoke.

"Suppose we told you it wasn't a razor blade but a Soviet electric razor."

I HIT MY HEAD with the palm of my hand. "An electric razor. I never thought of that. But wouldn't an electric razor give them all a clean shave?"

"You would think so," my friend said. "But we have evidence that the Soviets have been unloading bum electric razors on their clients in the Middle East. No one in Russia will buy them because they will hardly cut any kind of beard, so every time a leftist leader comes to Moscow they give him one as a gift. Arafat shaves every day with one, and so does Rajai and a lot of the other people in that part of the world. But even on the adjustable high setting it's the best they can do."

"Why do people want to keep this a secret?" I asked. "I should think it would be to our advantage to publicize the fact that the Soviets are unloading rejected electric razors on their friends."

Some urinary stones inherited

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My brother and I both have cystine stones. We have been told to watch for this in our children. Is this hereditary? Is there any way to prevent this in our children? What are the chances that our children will have this problem? Can diet help? — Mrs. A.P.

Cystinuria is an inherited condition in which there is a larger than normal amount of certain amino acids (cystine is one these) in the urine. This amino acid is hard to dissolve so it tends to form stones in the urinary tract as the amounts rise.

Stones can usually be prevented by assuring adequate fluid intake. If urine is kept diluted stones will not form. Water is to be thought of as a medicine for people with cystinuria. Diet won't help, but if hydration (water intake) doesn't work, other means are available for control. The urine can be kept less acid (by alkalization) or the drug penicillamine can be tried.

Cystinuria is inherited as a recessive trait. Thus, the chances of your children having this would depend on whether or not your mate carries the gene for it too. If he does then there is about a 50-50 chance that your children will actually develop the problem. If he does not have the gene for it, none of your children would develop the problem. If your mate also had the actual illness, all your children would have it too.

FOR M.N. — I share your concern about your relative and hope that you can convince him to get into his doctor's office. The episodes you describe — inability to speak words he wanted to and his partial loss of vision — suggest a warning that a more permanent condition could happen.

The speech and vision centers of the brain are nourished by a common artery. If blood flow to that area is temporarily blocked those symptoms can occur. This is called a transient ischemic attack. It is not a stroke, but a warning that a stroke might happen.

pressure, the doctor can check on other factors that add to the risk of stroke and prescribe medicine to prevent one. For a discussion in greater depth, read the booklet "Stroke Recovery — Hope and Help." For a copy, write to me care of the Big Spring Herald enclosing 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please discuss the pancreas. What is its function? What causes it to become inflamed and what is the treatment required to bring it back to normal? — C.W.

The pancreas is the gland located behind the stomach. It has two important functions — to make enzymes for digestion of food and hormones for control of blood sugar.

The pancreas can become inflamed from infection (certain viruses do it), from some drugs, from alcohol or from stones that block the flow of bile from the gall bladder. The gall bladder shares a common emptying duct with the pancreas. If gallstones block this duct, pancreatic juices back up and begin to digest the gland tissue from within.

The treatment for acute pancreas inflammation is to try to correct the problem causing it — removal of gallstones, for example. Food is withheld to put the pancreas at rest. Without food in the stomach, the pancreas will not produce the enzymes that are digesting gland tissue. The patient is fed by vein during this period. As inflammation subsides the first foods given are high in carbohydrates and low in fat and protein. Carbohydrate foods do not stimulate the pancreas as much as other food types.

Most attacks of pancreatitis heal well. Once the gland has healed the person can resume normal diet and activities.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Am I more inclined to end up with a rectocele because I had a hysterectomy? — Mrs. R.D.

Having had a hysterectomy (uterus removal) should not make you more inclined to have a rectocele, a bulging of the rectal wall into the vagina. The supports for the rectal wall may have already become weakened by childbirth or from straining at elimination.

One rare result of a hysterectomy may be a drooping of the vagina. Should that happen, it can be corrected by surgery. In fact, many surgeons will make such repairs in the course of doing the hysterectomy. You get two jobs for the price of one.

To learn of the many factors involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia (which concerns the esophagus), write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My father was a minister, but I rebelled against my upbringing and thought I would have a happy life of freedom. Now I am overwhelmed with unhappiness and wonder if it is too late for me to return to God. — C.M.J.

DEAR C.M.J.: The fact that you want to return to God is proof that it is not too late. God still loves you, and is ready to forgive you if you will come back to him.

Perhaps you know the parable Jesus told about a son who decided to leave his family and seek freedom and happiness elsewhere. In time he discovered what you have found out — instead of finding happiness, he found only emptiness and heartache. So he left the life which had once attracted him, and returned to his father. And do you remember what the Bible then says? "But while he was still a long way off, his father saw him and was filled with compassion for him; he ran to his son, threw his arms around him and kissed him" (Luke 15:20).

This is a parable or story which illustrates several truths, but certainly the most thrilling is that God is willing to receive us and forgive us. What must you do? First, you need to turn from your sin in repentance. Then you need to turn to God, asking Christ to come into your life and cleanse you from all your sins. And he will if you will ask him; "Seek the Lord while he may be found; call on him while he is near. Let the wicked forsake his way and the evil man his thoughts. Let him turn to the Lord, and he will have mercy on him, and to our God, for he will freely pardon" (Isaiah 55: 6-7).

Let Christ into your life, and then learn to walk with him each day by praying, reading his Word (the Bible), and seeking to share your faith with others. You have lived apart from God for too many years — now make it your goal to love him and be faithful to him. Perhaps God will want to use you to reach other young people who have rebelled against God and are spiritually empty as a result.

TWEEN 12 and 20

Probation officer knows best

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I need your help or at least your advice.

I'm a 16-year-old girl and my fiancé is 18. We are very close and very much in love.

Recently we were in San Diego and got arrested with some of our friends. We both served time in juvenile hall. We were living in Santa Ana, Calif., at the time. I am now living in El Centro with my dad but my boyfriend is in a camp near San Diego and will be there until next March.

We write many letters to each other and he calls me whenever he can. I am allowed to visit him once a week. The last time I saw him he told me that I was the only thing keeping him going.

My father really likes this guy and is happy that someone loves and cares for me.

My problem is that I'm a very emotional person and sometimes I get so upset that I get deathly sick and I need my boyfriend to calm my nerves. I love my father but he is never home and I don't have anyone to talk to.

I'd like to live with my fiancé's mother but my probation officer won't allow it. Please tell me what I can do to get my P.O. to change her mind? — Marcie, El Centro, Calif.

Marcie: Your probation officer is doing what she thinks is best for you. There is nothing that I can tell you to get her to change her decision.

It is not wise to sit at home and brood. Get involved in school activities (if you are attending school) and in church youth groups. You made a huge mistake in San Diego.

Hopefully you are making plans to enjoy being with your boyfriend and staying away from trouble.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 16 and my older brother is 17. Lately he has started drinking alcohol and I don't know what to do about it. He has also been skipping school.

My brother has a part-time job in a drugstore and I think that he is stealing the liquor from there.

I hate to tell my mother because she is raising us by herself and she has enough problems of her own. — Paula, Columbus, Ohio

Paula: No matter how many problems your mother might have she would want to know about your brother's drinking.

You will not be a fink for telling. You will be helping your brother.

Send questions to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent, stamped, large, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace, in care of this newspaper.

Ideas that work for you

Though antihistamines have long been used in many cold remedies, their effectiveness in relieving cold symptoms has been controversial, with some doctors considering them to have only a placebo effect.

But according to the current Family Circle magazine's "Here's News In Medicine" column, a recent medical study of 271 cold patients shows that antihistamines do help relieve cold symptoms. Some of the patients received an antihistamine while others got an inactive preparation.

On the first day and as late as the seventh day of the cold, the antihistamine users had relief from sneezing, nasal discharge and nose blowing.

The drug also produced its well known side effect of drowsiness — the reason users are warned not to drive autos.

While antihistamines don't cure the common cold, they do make life a little more bearable while the cold runs its course, notes Family Circle.

Save that soap! If the thought of throwing away leftover cosmetic soap remnants rubs you the wrong way, use this money-saving tip from the "Reader's Idea Exchange" in the current Family Circle magazine. Simply tie them in a piece of nylon net and abracadabra, you have a sensuous and inexpensive "Loofah" body sponge.

Stretch your beauty dollar with these cosmetic recycling tips from a current Family Circle magazine feature, "Cheapskate Beauty."

For near-empty lipsticks, scoop the colors out of the tubes and melt them all together in a small metal measuring cup over a very low heat. Pour into empty pots or pill boxes and chill overnight.

Try to combine shades within the same color families — russets, bronzes and caramels; burgandies, wines and plums; corals and peaches. You can also scoop the last bit of color out of the lipstick tube, mix with petroleum jelly and put it in a pill box to use as a tinted gloss.

For broken blusher, crumble it up and pour the loose powder into a dime-store container. Apply with a fluffy brush of a cotton ball.

For eye and lip pencils that get hard, hold the tips to the lighted end of a match to soften them. Or, soak the tips in baby oil overnight.

Makeup know-how, not extravagantly priced cosmetics, is the key to looking like a $million. With that thought in mind, makeup artist Julie Armacost offers these professional finishing techniques, among others, in a current Family Circle magazine feature, "Cheapskate Beauty."

For flawless, pampered-looking skin, pat on toner with a cotton ball before applying foundation. Then immediately smooth on foundation with a makeup sponge. Set with a buffing of translucent powder and spritz lightly with water.

For a million-dollar mouth, clearly define your lips with a lip pencil first, then fill in with a lipstick applied with a brush. The finishing touch is gloss in the center of your bottom lip only.

For instant cheekbones, apply cream or powder highlighter along cheekbones, from the highest point out to your temple, then brush blusher over this. In the hollow of your cheeks, stroke brown contouring powder.

If you must restrict your sugar or salt beware that both these widely used food additives are often listed under their chemical names, cautions a current Family Circle magazine article on wise supermarket shopping.

Sugar is listed as dextrose, fructose, sucrose, corn syrup and invert sugar; salt, as sodium, sodium chloride and sodium diacetate.

To remove wrinkles from already hung draperies or curtains, take a tip from the current Family Circle magazine and spray them with a fine-mist plant sprayer.

Marking party to finalize garage sale preparations

The garage sale to benefit the Big Spring Squares club building fund will be held Friday and Saturday. All members are urged to contribute items and work during the sale.

A marking party will take place Thursday evening to finalize sale preparations.

Randy Phillips will call the dance set for Dec. 6. A bake sale will be held Dec. 13 at Highland Mall.

The Christmas dance will be called by Harmon Wilson on Dec. 20.

Square and round dance workshops are being conducted each Tuesday at 7:30 p.m., with the exception of Nov. 25, by Phillips. Last Tuesday, guests attended from Colorado City.

All square dancers are encouraged to take part in advancing their dancing skills. The charge is $3.50 per couple.

Members learned that square dancing proclaimed the National Folk Dance of the U.S.A.

Several states have either passed or are working to pass this in their legislatures.

Western jeans get 'shot in the seat'

COLLEGE STATION — Western jeans' latest "shot in the seat" is the one stamped "celebrity."

Spurred by the popularity of recent western movies, TV shows and music, many manufacturers have recruited an array of celebrities to endorse their product, Becky Saunders, a clothing specialist, says in talking about one of today's newest fashion looks.

Mrs. Saunders is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

She points to examples of popular celebrities including Willie Nelson, Mickey Gilley, Loretta Lynn, Conway Twitty, Burt Reynolds, "J.R. Ewing," Larry Gatlin, Charlie Daniels, Hank Williams and Larry Mahon as part of today's jeans-fashion trend.

And there are some specialty labels even banking on past images, such as John Wayne and Buddy Holly.

The celebrity endorsement most often appears as a name or picture on the label, along with recognizable decorative word (s) or design (s) on the back pocket.

As with designer jeans, prices often are higher for celebrity versions than the plain traditional jeans.

Celebrity endorsements may also extend to other western wear, such as sweat shirts, jackets, vests, shirts and hats. However, jeans are the most popular item.

As one current fad, celebrity western jeans will offer variety to sportswear — with a fun choice of backing your favorite star.

Dear Abby

Where There's a Will, There's a Way

DEAR ABBY: The dentist who told you that the gold in a person's mouth is usually not worth bothering about is in error. With the help of a mortician in town I have written down all the instructions as to what should happen to me after I die, and I specifically state that the gold in my mouth shall be removed and given to the executors of my estate (my two sons).

The mortician told me that I was by no means the first to make this kind of request. He said it takes only a few seconds to accomplish this with a dental instrument, and should the mortician feel unqualified to perform this task, a dentist can be called in.

A dental supply salesman I know well said he knows some big-city morticians who get between $15 and $30 thousand a year for the gold they extract from the deceased whose families think "it's just too horrible to think about."

I would rather see the gold in my mouth, which my dentist says is worth between $2 and $3 thousand, go toward educating my grandchildren than to someone who means nothing to me. You can bet your gold-filled molars that there will be someone along the line who will see that the gold doesn't go to the same place the corpse does.

AN ARKIE

DEAR ARKIE: Thanks for a valuable letter. Well, readers, that should settle it — unless some morticians want to get their digs in.

DEAR ABBY: My problem is not unusual. I have two friends whom I've known since childhood. I'll call them Mary and Jane.

Lately Mary tells me that Jane is slandering me behind my back. Then she says, "But please don't tell her I told you." This angers me because I can't fight back without betraying Mary.

Abby, how would you handle this? It baffles me because I've always had a good relationship with both of them.

NO NAME, PLEASE

DEAR NO NAME: Mark Twain said: "It takes an enemy and a friend working together to hurt you to the quick. The one to slander you and the other to get the news to you."

Don't accept as truth anything you can't verify. And the next time Mary starts to quote Jane, tell her you're not interested.

DEAR ABBY: I am a secretary who qualifies for membership in the "I never thought I'd be writing to Dear Abby" club, but I really need help with this problem:

When someone calls to talk to my boss and I tell the caller that he is engaged in a telephone conversation, the caller invariably says, "How long do you think he'll be?"

Now, really, Abby, I am not a mind reader, and there is virtually no way of knowing whether he will be tied up on the phone for an hour or only two minutes.

I always say politely, "I'm sorry, but I have no way of knowing." Then I am made to feel like a dummy.

Abby, you're quick on your feet. Please give us secretaries a quippy reply to this asinine question.

A.F.

DEAR A.F.: Instead of telling the caller that the boss is on the phone, simply say, "I'm sorry, he's unavailable now, but if you care to leave your name and number, I will have him return your call as soon as possible." End of problem.

Jonestown deserted two years after massacre

JONESTOWN, Guyana (AP) — Two years after the People's Temple massacre, Jonestown is a ghost town, with a dozen guards and workers keeping out the curious and the jungle vegetation.

The area around the main pavilion where the Rev. Jim Jones exhorted more than 900 of his followers to drink poisoned punch and "die with dignity" on Nov. 18, 1978, shows no trace of the 913 suicides and murders.

Survivors said some of the members of the cult were forced to drink the death potion but most of them did so willingly.

Only two people have been charged in Guyana in connection with the tragedy.

Charles Beikman, a 44-year-old cook and shoemaker at the commune, was sentenced in April to five years for the attempted murder of a 9-year-old girl at the cult's Georgetown headquarters on the night of the massacre.

Another member of the temple, Larry Layton, 33, is being held on murder charges in connection with the slaying of U.S. Rep. Leo J. Ryan, three reporters and a People's Temple defector at an airstrip a few hours before the massacre, but he may be released soon because witnesses against him have refused to return from the United States to testify.

Layton was acquitted last May of the attempted murder of two other defectors, Vern Gosney and Monica Bagby. But if he returns to the United States, he could face federal charges of conspiracy to kill the California congressman and the four others who died with him.

Two-thirds of the cult's liquid assets in Guyana have been used to pay the Guyanese government $770,000 for the two Guyana Airways planes damaged in the shooting of Ryan and his party and for cleaning up Jonestown after the massacre.

An estimated $7 million in People's Temple assets in the United States is the object of a court suits filed there by heirs of those who died at Jonestown, 79 survivors from the commune and the U.S. government.

Chinese 'Gang of Four' trial may start soon

PEKING (AP) — Followers of China's radical "Gang of Four" deployed 33,500 militiamen in Shanghai and planned an armed rebellion after learning of the gang's arrest in October 1976, foreign ministry officials said today.

In the last of four briefings on indictments against the gang and six members of the "Lin Piao Clique," the officials said the gang's followers planned to control key facilities in China's biggest city and instigate strikes and demonstrations across the country.

There was no indication why the alleged rebellion failed to start.

The officials again declined to say when the trial of the 10 would start. But the Communist Party newspaper People's Daily said today it was imminent and hundreds of representatives of various organizations had arrived in Peking to attend the trial.

The newspaper said parts of the trial would be telecast to the world by satellite. All 10 defendants face the death penalty.

The indictment says the gang handed out 74,000 rifles to the militia in Shanghai in August 1976, along with 300 artillery pieces and 10 million rounds of ammunition in preparation for an armed rebellion.

Chairman Mao Tse-tung, who led the People's Republic from its founding in 1949, died on Sept. 9, 1976. Senior leader Deng Xiaoping has said the gang did not accept his choice of a successor, a reference to current Party Chairman Hua Guofeng, and wanted to seize power.

The gang's alleged leader was Mao's wife, Jiang Qing. She was not among those charged with plotting the October 1976 rebellion, but the other three members — Zhang Chunqiao, Wang Hongwen and Yao Wenyuan — were.

On Oct. 8, 1976, according to the indictment, the gang's Shanghai followers learned by secret code of the gang's arrest in Peking, called an emergency meeting and decided to use the militia for an armed rebellion.

They set up a command team and two secret command posts, deployed 33,500 militiamen, assigned 27,000 rifles and artillery pieces and 225 motor vehicles and made available a large quantity of food and other materials, the indictment said.

On Monday, foreign ministry officials provided details of charges that Lin Piao, China's defense minister and Mao's chosen successor, plotted to assassinate Mao and stage a coup in 1971.

The indictment said he planned to attack a train carrying Mao with flame throwers and bazookas, dynamite or aerial bombs and, when that fell through, to launch a "pincer attack from the north and south in alliance with the Soviet Union."

Lin died in a 1971 plane crash in Mongolia while trying to flee after the plot came to light, it said.

Oral arguments heard in Kerr-McGee appeal

DENVER (AP) — Kerr-McGee Corp. attorneys say lawyers for the Karen Silkwood estate capitalized on anti-nuclear "hysteria" to win excessive damages from a jury that found the company negligent in her plutonium contamination.

Kerr-McGee lawyers argued Monday in a hearing before the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals that the entire $10.5 million judgment against the Oklahoma City energy conglomerate should be dismissed because publicity after the Three Mile Island nuclear accident on March 28, 1979, created an environment "that denied us a fair trial."

"This case went to the jury one week after the largest cry-out in the history of the United States for an anti-nuclear moratorium," said Kerr-McGee attorney William Paul, referring to demonstrations that followed the worst commercial nuclear accident in the nation's history.

Paul also argued the $10 million punitive award was unfair because there was no proof Kerr-McGee was guilty of "evil intent." But Silkwood attorney Arthur Angel said anything less would have been "a slap on the wrist."

The three-judge appellate panel dismissed attorneys after 90 minutes of oral argument. There was no indication when a decision would be handed down.

Miss Silkwood, who died in an automobile accident on Nov. 13, 1974, worked in Kerr-McGee's quality control laboratory. The Crescent, Okla., plant — which has been closed since 1975 — processed liquid plutonium nitrate into nuclear fuel rods for power plants.

Plutonium, one of the most radioactive substances known to man, can cause cancer when inhaled.

The jury in Oklahoma decided Miss Silkwood had been contaminated with plutonium during the week before her death because of Kerr-McGee's negligence. Lawyers for the company had alleged that she "spiked" her urine samples with plutonium, possibly to publicize her claims that the plant was unsafe.

Angel said Miss Silkwood had been contaminated under circumstances unrelated to her work.

WINNING EDGE — Oakland's kicker Chris Bahr, 10, kicks the ball from holder Bob Chandler, 85, and reacts

Monday as his field goal in the last minute gave Oakland a 19-17 victory over Seattle.

On last minute field goal

Plunkett continues revival as Oakland rallies by Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — The amazing comeback of Jim Plunkett continued — at the expense of the Seattle Seahawks.

The Oakland Raiders' storybook quarterback had a mediocre passing game Monday night and, for three quarters at least, it looked like Plunkett's 1980 magic wasn't going to work.

But he did everything right when he had to in the final quarter in a 19-17 comeback victory over the Seahawks.

The nationally televised game was Oakland's sixth straight triumph, all behind the rejuvenated Plunkett, the 10-year National Football League veteran who got a chance to play when Dan Pastorini broke a leg.

"You have to give them credit for hanging in there," Seattle quarterback Jim Zorn sighed.

Oakland stayed in sole possession of first place in the American Football Conference's Western Division — at 8-3 — on Chris Bahr's 28-yard field goal with 56 seconds left.

The Raiders trailed 17-7 early in the fourth quarter.

"It was a great comeback," Oakland Coach Tom Flores said. "I'm proud. Jim Plunkett came through in the clutch. And when we had to protect him, we did."

"This game," Plunkett said, "was the toughest we've had in the last six weeks. It's the first time we've had to come back. But we're a good football team, and we came back in the second half."

Plunkett's statistics were 9 completions in 22 attempts for 135 yards and no touchdowns. He had an interception, lost a fumble and was sacked four times.

But when the Raiders marched from their own 39 — with 4:20 left after cornerback Lester Hayes picked off a Zorn pass — to the Seattle 10 to set up Bahr's game-winning field goal, Plunkett came through.

He contributed key runs of 7 and 4 yards and, also completed passes of 18 and 9 yards in the march. He carried four times for 19 yards in the game.

"That's about as much as I want to run," Plunkett smiled.

Seattle Coach Jack Patera watched his team lose its fourth game in a row and drop its second straight contest in the final minute to remain winless in six games at home in the Kingdom this season.

The Seahawks now are 4-7 with four of their defeats coming in the last three minutes.

"I don't think we can play much better," Patera said. "We dominated most of the game. Everybody connected with our team is frustrated because we played pretty well."

"We've been in scoring position too many times to not win the game. We weren't too lucky."

Zorn completed 19 of 35 passes for 250 yards and one touchdown. He was intercepted twice.

"It's really frustrating to play well and lose," Zorn said. "I thought Oakland played really well but they were fortunate to win."

Hawks host Sul Ross tonight

Coach Harold Wilder is hoping that his Howard Garrett Coliseum night with College Hawks can rebound from a disappointing loss in the finals of the Great Plains Classic Saturday night when they host the Sul Ross JVs at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. Game time is 8:00 p.m.

The Hawks played well in advancing to the finals at the Great Plains Classic, defeating George Wallace State of Alabama in the opening round and Clarendon in the semifinals. But they ran into a tough Cisco team in Saturday night's finals, losing 95-75.

It was only the second loss in five starts for the Hawks, and ironically, both have been to Cisco.

Wilder had mixed emotions about the play of the Hawks in last weekend's tourney. "We played extremely well in the first part of the tournament, especially the first half against Clarendon," Wilder said. "That first half against Clarendon, we played like the conference champs. But after that, we played very poorly."

With the conference schedule beginning in just two weeks, it is imperative that the Hawks begin showing definite improvement each game.

Wilder stated to his team in yesterday's practice session that he will start the same five he has been tonight, but that nobody has a place notched down unless performance from certain individuals improves.

That starting five will consist of guards Jeff Faubion and Crushon Loving, with the inside trio consisting of Ron Akins, Kenneth Jones and Randy Coker.

After tonight's game, the Hawks host Western State of Oklahoma on Saturday night, and then travel to face Cisco next Monday.

The first 500 people who enter the coliseum tonight will be given theater tickets, courtesy of Big Spring Sports, which is sponsoring the event.

Hawk Queens prepare for big tourney here

Last night's girls juno basketball battle between Howard College and Howard Payne, set for Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, was cancelled and has been rescheduled for a later date.

The Howard College women will now begin preparations for the highly prestigious Hawk Queen Classic, which will bring in the top junior college outfits in the state to Dorothy Garrett Coliseum beginning Thursday.

Hawk Queens Coach Don Stevens was disappointed in the postponement of last night's game, as he feels his team will be somewhat rusty when they set to defend the title they won in last year's exciting tourney.

Joining the Howard College women in the tournament this year will be Odessa College, Schriener, Western Texas, Tyler, Temple, Weatherford and Cisco.

The Hawk Queens first round foe will be Schriener.

As Georgia stays in top ranked position

Notre Dame jumps to No. 2 in AP grid poll

By The Associated Press

Riding a Crimson Tide, Notre Dame has swept into second place in The Associated Press college football poll.

The Fighting Irish thus moved up right behind top-ranked Georgia, a team that Notre Dame is scheduled to meet on New Year's Day in the Sugar Bowl.

A 7-0 victory this past weekend over defending national champion Alabama was the impetus that helped push Notre Dame four places to the runner-up spot. Dan Devine's team, 8-0-1 so far this year, picked up four first-place votes Monday from the nation's sports writers and broadcasters for a point total of 1,188.

The Fighting Irish took over No. 2 from Southern California, 7-1-1, which dropped all the way to No. 12 after a 20-10 loss to Washington's Rose Bowl-bound Huskies.

Georgia, meanwhile, the nation's only undefeated and untied team with a 10-0 record, defeated Auburn 31-21 last Saturday and held a firm grip onto the No. 1 spot with 55 firsts and a total of 1,306.

After an idle weekend, Florida State held onto third place with three No. 1 votes and 1,175 points, just two more than No. 4 Nebraska. The Cornhuskers defeated Iowa State 35-0 to garner the four remaining first-place votes and 1,173 points.

With Alabama and Southern Cal both losing, Ohio State, Pitt and Penn State all moved up in the polls.

The Buckeyes moved up to No. 5 with 1,012 points after a 41-7 trouncing of Iowa; Pitt climbed to No. 6 with 973 points after beating Army 45-7 and Penn State moved to No. 7 with 896 after routing Temple 50-7.

Alabama's loss to Notre Dame cost the Crimson Tide three places, to No. 8 with 735 points. Oklahoma, a 17-7 winner over Missouri, went one place to ninth with 719 and Michigan climbed from 11th to 10th with 695 points after a 26-0 beating of Purdue.

Baylor held down the No. 11 spot, followed by Southern Cal, Brigham Young, South Carolina, North Carolina, Washington, Mississippi State, UCLA, Florida and Texas.

Washington returned to the Top Twenty after a three-week absence while Texas reappeared after a two-week hiatus with a 56-26 beating of Texas Christian.

Oilers Hollywood act palls off in big win

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Oilers Coach Bum Phillips thinks kicker Toni Fritsch may have a future in acting when his kicking career is over.

Fritsch and the entire Oilers kicking unit put on a realistic performance Sunday on a fake field goal that turned out to be a shovel pass from holder Gifford Nielson to fullback Tim Wilson for the game's only touchdown in a 10-6 victory over Chicago.

"Fritsch made it look so real I wasn't sure he knew the play," Phillips said Monday at his weekly news conference. "They all made it look just like we were going for the field goal."

The Oilers were facing a fourth down at the Chicago eight with time running out in the first half when the Oiler kicking team went onto the field.

Nielson took the snap and shoveled the ball to Wilson, coming across from the left. Fritsch went ahead and completed his follow-through as Wilson skirted the goal line.

Wilson was jostled by a Chicago player as he caught the ball, but maintained his balance and dove into the end zone for the score and a 7-6 halftime lead.

"I don't know of many backs that could have got hit like he did just as he was catching the ball and still score," Phillips said.

Oilers special teams coach John Paul Young suggested the play, Phillips said.

"He said it would be a good time for it if we came up to fourth down," Phillips said. "That's his job, to know the other team's tendencies. It was the ideal situation for it with so little time left in the half. They had to be looking for the field goal."

Nevertheless, he told a news conference Monday, he wished his team could change places with the Bears, who defeated Rice, 16-6, to win the Southwest Conference title for the second time in seven years.

By beating Rice, Baylor extended its SWC record to 7-0 and immediately accepted a bid to the Cotton Bowl at Dallas to play Alabama on Jan. 1.

After Texas walloped Texas Christian, it accepted a spot in the Bluebonnet

It's more than just Sugar Ray and Duran

Welterweights making heavyweight bucks

By The Associated Press

There's excitement in the hills in those welterweight hills.

The 147-pound division once ruled by Homicide, Hank Sugar Ray and the Keed from Cuba is thriving under Hands of Stone, another Sugar Ray, the Hit

Man and Pipino, who draw the kind of attention and purses once reserved for top heavyweights.

Sugar Ray Leonard reportedly earned $10 million when he lost the World Boxing Council welterweight title June 20 to Roberto Duran. Duran, "Hands of Stone," made $1.5 million — tax free. The fight in Montreal was a gigantic closed-circuit television success, reportedly grossing about $30 million.

For their rematch in the Louisiana Superdome Nov. 25 in New Orleans, Duran is getting anywhere from $6 million to $10 million and Leonard anywhere from $4 million to $7 million, depending on who's doing the talking.

But the gold rush doesn't stop with these two. Wilfred Benitez got a $1 million payday, as did Leonard, when he lost the title to Leonard, and Pipino Cuevas was very well paid when he got knocked out in the second round to lose the World Boxing Association title to Tommy "Hit Man" Hearns.

A Hearns-Benitez fight is a lucrative bout and a universal title fight involving Hearns, Duran or Leonard would be another gold mine. Cuevas, a devastating puncher, still is very much in the money and title pictures. It seems a Duran-Hearns match is more likely because it wouldn't be surprising if Leonard retires after the Duran rematch ... win or lose.

Below the Big Five welterweights are other solid pros such as Randy Shields, Pete Ranzany and Adolfo Viruet.

Is the division the most competitive in boxing? "Absolutely," said Gil Clancy, who once managed Emile Griffith, who three times ruled the welterweights in the early 1960s. Clancy now is matchmaker for Madison Square Garden and a boxing commentator for CBS.

Clancy also noted that lightweight division, ruled by Hilmer Kenty and Jim Watt, and the light heavyweight class, ruled by Matthew Saad Muhammad and Eddie Mustafa Muhammad, also are highly competitive. But no division in boxing can match the welterweight for overall talent and none, except the heavyweight, can come close in matters of money.

Tech's Gabe Rivera SWC defensive ace

DALLAS (AP) — Hulking Gabe Rivera likes to tell jokes about his appetite.

Recall the one making the rounds this summer about his diet in which he lost 30 pounds? It was a tuna diet, the 285-pound Rivera said. A whole school at a time.

When the Texas Tech sophomore noseguard from San Antonio isn't making one-liners about his love for food, he's eating alive opposing running games.

Rivera made 10 unassisted tackles and one assisted tackle in Saturday's 14-0 Red Raider upset of Southern Methodist to earn The Associated Press Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Week award.

He personally stopped a Mustang drive late in the second period on third and fourth downs from the Tech one-yard line. The first time he tackled SMU quarterback Lance McIlhenny on a sneak then blocked out the middle as Eric Dickerson tried to charge through on fourth down.

Rivera said "This is my best game so far. I hope to come up with a few more."

He is often the victim of double-team blocks but is now getting to the point where he relishes action like a good tuna sandwich.

"The double-team blocking gets frustrating but I got used to it," said Rivera. "That's just gonna be the facts. So now I look forward to it... it's a challenge."

On one particularly impressive tackle, Rivera blasted SMU running back Eric Dickerson and sent his helmet flying three yards into the air.

"I hit him and saw his helmet," said Rivera. "I thought it was a football. Then I saw he (Dickerson) was missing his helmet."

Tech Coach Rex Dockery said "This was Gabe's best game ever in a Tech uniform. He made people aware of his presence all over the field. SMU's line is as good as any in the Southwest Conference so that says something about the way he played."

"He was much more dominating than he has been. Sometimes noseguards go unnoticed because they attract so much blocking but people haven't been able to run inside on us consistently this season and one reason is because of Gabe's ability."

Rivera said "I haven't felt that way in a game this year... I know what it was just a feeling... a feeling I've never had before."

And Tech opponent's hope he never gets it again.

Manager of Year

Viridon is honored

HOUSTON (AP) — Bill Viridon, who once lost his job as manager of the New York Yankees because he didn't show enough flamboyance, proved last season as Houston Astros manager that calm can be a virtue.

Taking a mild-mannered approach, Viridon engineered the Astros to their first division title in the franchise's 19-year history and for his leadership has been named National League Manager of the Year by The Associated Press.

Throughout the Astros' historic 1980 season, the team reflected Viridon's influence. Viridon never allowed himself to get too high or too low and the team seemed to adopt a similar personality.

The Astros almost lost the divisional title in a tense final three-game series against Los Angeles. The Dodgers won three straight games and forced a one-game playoff for the title.

The Astros won the playoff and then took world champion Philadelphia to a nerve-racking five games in the best of five National League championship series.

After the final heart-stopping 8-7 Phillies victory, Viridon spoke of his team in his now-predictable low-key fashion, taking no credit and praising the players.

"The Astros don't have to bow their heads," he said. "They are a better ball club than a lot of people give them credit for — I have to tip my hat to them."

"This team went through a lot in this season. There were injuries, but they held together. They had a lot of heart and I think that surprised a lot of people. They proved that they were a top-rate team."

Viridon could not be reached at his Missouri home for comment after Monday's award.

A nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters gave Viridon 293 1/2 votes for a wide victory margin over Phils Manager Dallas Green, the runnerup with 167 1/2 votes.

Bobby Cox, who led

Atlanta on a surge in the second half of the season before the Braves finished fourth, was third with 66 votes.

Montreal's Dick Williams, whose Expos lost the division title to the Phillies on the final weekend of the regular season, was fourth with nine votes.

The Astros' 1980 performance climaxed five years of teamwork between Viridon and former President and General Manager Tal Smith, who hired Viridon shortly after taking the job in 1975.

Houston finished 43 1/2 games off the pace in 1975 but improved slowly each year. Houston challenged for the Western Division title in 1979 before going over the top last season.

Viridon managed Pittsburgh to a division crown in 1972 but was fired the next year when the Pirates slumped.

Viridon later managed the New York Yankees to a second place finish in 1974 but was fired again, primarily because Yankee owner George Steinbrenner wanted a more flamboyant manager and had a chance to sign Billy Martin.

Eighteen days after Viridon took off his Yankee uniform, he changed into a Houston uniform and the Astros started their blastoff.

Massachusetts tax cuts having effect

BOSTON (AP) — Tennis buffs in Newton, one of Massachusetts' richest communities, may have to pay to play on the town courts.

Officials in Boston are suspending projects totaling $45 million, including a $1.7 million fire station and a $68,000 executive dining room for City Hall.

In Lowell, the Industrial Revolution mill town now undergoing revival, City Manager Joseph Tully has asked that city employees be listed by seniority — he may have to lay off 500 of them so the budget can be cut by $3.6 million.

Proposition 2½ is sinking in. Two weeks after Massachusetts voters approved a measure slashing property and auto excise taxes, state and local officials — and the public — are still trying to grasp its dimensions.

"People don't think it is real," says Honora Kaplan, a member of the school committee in Newton. "They will only think it is real when we say hockey is no longer being offered."

What is clear is that voters approved, by a 3-to-2 margin, a measure limiting the property tax to 2½ percent of assessed valuation — it previously averaged almost 4 percent across the state — and reducing the car excise tax to $25 from $66 per $1,000.

Every sizable town and city expects to lose millions of dollars in revenue; statewide estimates range from $600 million to $1 billion next year.

The law, with some exceptions, goes into effect Dec. 4. Officials are predicting heavy cuts in police, firefighting and school services to keep budgets within the bounds of shortened revenues.

"I'd really like to get 400 people...who voted for Proposition 2½, give them a budget book and let them make the recommendations where to cut," said Dennis McNamara, school committee member in Dracut, where a 6,606-to-2,967 vote favored the proposition.

Many officials say they hope the Legislature will amend, even repeal the law.

That's not likely, says state Sen. Alan Sitsisky, D-Springfield, who learned the hard way that the voters were serious.

Two die after North Sea rescue attempt

SAXTHORPE, England (AP) — A British rescue crewman's heroic bid to save a U.S. Air Force pilot ended in tragedy today with both drowning in the North Sea after two U.S. jets collided and fell, officials said.

As the British airman tried in strong winds to pluck the American from the sea, the Briton apparently became entangled in the American's parachute cords, a winchline to a rescue helicopter was cut and both were swept away and drowned, said an RAF spokesman in London.

The British airman had been lowered down into the water from a Royal Air Force helicopter which answered a distress call from the American pilot, following the collision near this Norfolk County village between two U.S. A-10 jet fighters.

The U.S. pilot had ejected safely and was floating in the sea caught among the lines of his open parachute.

"They both drowned," the RAF spokesman in London said. "It was a most unfortunate accident. I cannot recall a crewman losing his life in these circumstances previously."

The U.S. Air Force and the RAF were withholding the airman's identities until their families were told.

The pilot of the other U.S. jet ejected near this village an Air Force spokesman said, and he was only slightly injured.

The twin-engined, single-seat fighters collided at about 9:25 a.m., some 50 miles after takeoff, the spokesman said. One plane fell in the sea and the other crashed in flames on land.

The U.S. planes were on a routine training mission from their base, a Royal Air Force base at Bentwaters, Suffolk County, to a firing range at Wainfleet on the east coast, some 80 miles away, the spokesman said.

The crash was the second involving one of the approximately 70 American A-10s based in Britain.

In July 1979, an A-10 crashed in Bedfordshire County north of London, killing the pilot, during a U.S. Air Force display.

Wanda Fowler joins ERA

Wanda Fowler has joined ERA — Reeder Realtors, 506 E. 4th St., as a sales associate, it has been announced by Lila Estes, broker.

By joining a firm which is affiliated with ERA (Electronic Realty Associates, Inc.), a nationwide home marketing service, Mrs. Fowler will offer home buyers and sellers exclusive consumer aids such as ERA's Home Buyers Protection Plan and Home Sellers Protection plan and photo-by-wire listings.

The two planes cover the repair of major components of the home. The Buyers Protection Plan provides coverage for one year against the operational failure of major home components including the central heating, electric air conditioning, plumbing and electrical systems, built-in appliances, water heaters and softeners, and accessible sheet metal ducts. Home Sellers Protection coverage begins 15 days after the home is listed for sale with an ERA Broker for up to six months or until the home is sold.

The exclusive "Moving Machine" enables prospective home buyers to see six photos of homes and descriptive data in the distance cities to which they are moving. The transmission only takes six minutes from the time the request is made to the central bank of homes on file at ERA headquarters in Overland Park, Kan.

Mrs. Fowler and husband, Melvin, and one child live in Big Spring.

"If I had the choice of building a dam or a nuclear reactor, I'd build the reactor. Many more dams have collapsed."

Teller said the Nuclear Regulatory Commission has become too political and too populated by non-nuclear experts and the Three Mile Island accident would never have happened if the agency had been doing its job.

Teller was in Houston to speak before the South Texas Section of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers.

Big Spring Employment puts right person in job

Success in finding a job or in finding the right person to fill a position is better assured by calling a professional employment service such as Big Spring Employment Agency, located in the Coronado Plaza.

Finding the right person for the right job is the duty of Mrs. Sue Brown and Mrs. Rubi Taroni, the experienced personnel counselors at Big Spring Employment.

Each employer has the right to demand the person best qualified for the job, considering the requirements for the work, the salary to be offered and the availability of applicants. With this in mind, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Taroni carefully evaluate each applicant so employers do not waste time interviewing persons not qualified for the job opening. The agency refers only those who measure up to the job's requirements.

Thus, fewer rejections plague the employer or the applicant. The employer sees fewer applicants, and fewer rejections make for better public relations. There is also a smaller personnel turnover, and the efficiency of employees tends to rise.

Many highly qualified job applicants prefer to use the services of a private employment agency, thus protecting their own identity.

Big Spring Employment carries on an extensive testing program in the area of office skills, exposing applicants to personnel tests in business and industrial situations.

Both the employment counselors and the employers may refer to these tests as an indicator of future possibilities.

All services are handled on a confidential basis.

From the minimum-wage clerk to the highly-paid executive, job applicants come to Big Spring Employment because they know private agencies are specialists in job-hunting and can, because of experience and contacts, place them in desirable jobs sooner than they can locate jobs themselves.

Applicants desiring employment in other parts of the state or country can be referred for interviews through associated agencies.

FINDING THE RIGHT JOB ... Ruby Taroni, Sue Brown

Border Draculas

Plasma buyers flourish

By JAMES R. KING
Associated Press Writer
EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Ricardo Torres Martin has puncture scars on the inside of his right arm that could be mistaken for the "tracks" of a heroin addict. Actually, the marks were left by what some call "border draculas."

The marks on the teenager's arm are not from injecting any drug. They are from needles that were used to remove his blood in exchange for cash.

Martin, 16, of Delicias, Mexico, said he has sold his plasma four times for $10 a pint to El Paso Plasma Corp. clinic located about five blocks from the international border here. He said he needed the money to live.

Critics of the plasma collection centers concentrated along the Texas-Mexico border say Martin and countless other Mexican aliens who sell their plasma are being victimized by "border draculas" that prey upon the poor. Some doctors say the clinics increase the risk of hepatitis.

Many directors of the plasma centers admit they deal with Mexican aliens, but they say their clients provide life-saving fluids without causing harm to anyone.

"Does anyone ever ask where the serum come from when their sons need a gamma globulin or a shot for tetanus, mumps or rabies?" asked John Coffey, director of the Laredo Plasma Donor Center, Inc.

Coffey's clinic in Laredo is one of at least 13 plasma collection centers thriving in four Texas cities along the Rio Grande. One El Paso clinic reported taking plasma from 1,500 to 2,000 donors a month.

They are different from blood banks in that the plasma clinics filter out and return to the donor all red blood cells, keeping only the hazy, off-white fluid — plasma — that makes up slightly more than half of human blood. Doctors say it is safe to give a pint of plasma every 72 hours.

The centers make no apologies for recruiting Mexicans — the clinics advertise in English and Spanish. Most pay bonuses for repeat donors and reward those who bring friends willing to sell their plasma.

"It is not our problem what their nationality or legal status in this country is," said Rebecca Ramirez, director of one of three clinics operated by the El Paso Plasma Corp. The centers have been frequent targets of U.S. immigration officers searching for illegal aliens.

"At times we would get large numbers of aliens out of there," said Assistant Border Patrol Chief Michael Williams.

Mickey Gilley files mechanical-bull suit

TEMPE, Ariz. (AP) — The country-western singer whose Pasadena, Texas bar set the scene for the movie "Urban Cowboy," says a mechanical bucking machine sold in this Phoenix suburb is costing him big bucks of another sort.

A Pasadena, Texas, company, partly owned by singer Mickey Gilley, has filed a lawsuit accusing F.W. and Associates, of Tempe, and rodeo champion Larry Mahan of copying its patented mechanical bull, which actor John Travolta rode in the movie.

That's bull, says defendant Fred Wagenhals, the Tempe company's president.

The bull he and partner Ed Fochtman recently started manufacturing is an amusement ride with safety features, while the original bull featured in the movie was designed to train rodeo novices, Wagenhals said.

The original device looks like a saddle, while the Tempe creation looks like the torso of a bull. Neither device has any legs or head, but both give powerful bucks.

conditioned stagecoaches with stained-glass windows, television sets, phones and bars. One of the $35,000 coaches recently was purchased by actor Burt Reynolds.

The 10-year-old-company was sued in Maricopa County Superior Court in January 1979 by sports-car magnate Malcolm Bricklin, creator of the gull-winged Bricklin SV1.

Bricklin claimed that the company had violated an exclusive promotions contract with him by using his nationwide contacts to expand its business. Wagenhals said Monday that the claim has not been resolved.

The idea for creating a bull specifically as an amusement ride came from Mahan, a six-time rodeo world champion All-Around Cowboy, Wagenhals said. The machine they created has 350 modes and is programmed to gently rock a child or to test the most skilled rodeo champion, he said.

The suit was filed Friday in U.S. District Court by Gilley's Enterprises, and Joe D. Turner, a Corrales, N.M., resident who said he invented the mechanical bull in 1974 and received the only federal patent for the "rodeo-training device" in December 1976.

Gilley's Enterprises owns Gilley's Club, a Pasadena nightclub that was the location for the shooting of Urban Cowboy, the pop-culture love story that featured a bucking contest.

The only company authorized to sell the patented bull is Gilley's Enterprises, said the suit.

The plaintiffs ask for a court order stopping any further manufacture of the Tempe bull and for monetary damages.

Wagenhals said he does not believe there is an infringement on any patent.

"We took a long look at that patent," he said. "We're not going to do anything to jeopardize our company. We had our attorneys look at it and we felt we could over look it (the patent)."

Jenrette to stay on in Congress

NEW YORK (AP) — Rep. John Jenrette, D-S.C., defeated for re-election following his conviction for bribery in the FBI's Abscam operation, said today he will not resign his seat in the face of possible expulsion from Congress.

He will have to relinquish his seat in January in any event because he was defeated in the Nov. 4 election by Republican John Napier.

But Jenrette said on the NBC "Today" show this morning that he will continue his fight against the FBI Abscam probe during hearings before the House Ethics Committee.

He called the undercover operation "reminiscent of Hitler's Nazi Germany."

FIG PUSHING — Joy Chun, daughter of newly elected Hawaii Rep. Connie Chun, gives the family's pet pig, Sooeey, a push as they take a stroll in Honolulu. City officials say pigs are livestock and can't be kept in residential areas, but Mrs. Chun says she's ready to challenge that rule in court.

Two indicted in CETA case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A man from San Jose and an El Paso, Texas, man have been indicted by a federal grand jury on charges of fraud and coverup in connection with money allegedly paid an Arizona training group.

The two, Alejandro L. Delgado, 32, of San Jose and Robert A. Cuellar, 41, of El Paso, were charged with lying to the Santa Clara Valley Employment and Training Board about the use of Comprehensive Employment and Training Act, or CETA, funds.

Delgado is executive director of SER-Jobs for Progress of San Jose and Cuellar is a former official of Progressive Enterprises Group of Phoenix, Ariz.

The indictments allege that Delgado misrepresented some documents about a $2,485 payment by SER to Progressive and that later both lied about the documents and tried to coverup the action.

The money was supposedly to pay for a seminar Progressive sponsored. It was not known whether the money actually reached Progressive or whether the 1976 seminar was indeed held.

Cuellar now heads Anahuac Inc. and Adcom Associates. Neither he nor Delgado could be reached for comment.

Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Contracts awarded

Two contracts have been awarded by the Colorado River Municipal Water District as part of a program to increase water delivery potential to the western end of the system in 1981.

The bid of Cain Electric Company of Big Spring for a three-phase transformer was accepted in the amount of $26,127, as was a proposal by Water Industries, Inc. of Hereford for drilling two additional water wells in the Ward County field for $99,000.

The transformers will enable motors to handle larger pump impellers that will add 5,000,000 gallons of water a day to the present 30,000,000 pipe-line capacity west from Big Spring. There are 36-in. and 27-in. parallel lines from Big Spring through McWhorter station to the Martin County central station.

From that point there is a 30-lb. line to Midland and 33-in. and 27-in. lines to Odessa, with valve connections to divert water to Midland, if needed. The two wells in Ward County will bring that field back up to its 25,000,000 pipeline capacity to Odessa.
