JET CRASH — Wreckage of Korean Airlines (KAL) today. The KAL plane burned while touching down at Kimpoo Airport. Ten persons were killed.

Death toll rises in Korean crash

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A Korean Airlines jumbo jet from Los Angeles crash-landed in heavy fog and caught fire as it plunged onto the runway at Seoul's Kimpoo Airport today, killing 12 people including an American, airline officials said. At least 15 of the 214 survivors were injured.

Military sources said the pilot, who was killed in the crash, reported trouble with the controls, then the Boeing 747 brushed an anti-aircraft gun emplacement as it was landing and a wing hit a military vehicle parked off the runway.

Survivors said when the plane touched the runway, it filled quickly with smoke and fire. The upper portion of the fuselage from the cockpit to the tail section was largely destroyed by the roaring flames, while the lower section of the body and the wings remained mostly intact. Inside portions of the cabin were turned into charred rubble.

Quick action by crew members in opening the emergency exits and lowering escape chutes was credited with the large number of survivors. Authorities said the flames did not erupt in full force until most of those aboard had been able to escape. Crews worked through the day to dismantle the gutted carcass of the airliner and clear the runway.

Reports of the number of dead varied, but airline authorities said 12 bodies had been recovered and all others aboard were accounted for.

A spokesman for the line said six passengers, one of them an American, and six crew members, five Koreans and a Hong Kong Chinese, were killed. He denied a report from his Los Angeles office that a ground crewman was killed fighting the fire.

In Los Angeles, Korean Air Lines spokesman Bill Core gave the following names and residences, if known, of the passengers who died in the crash:

Mr. Donald Sailer, believed to be from Tacoma, Wash.; Mrs. K. Hammerschlag, exact address unknown, but family was in Seoul; Mrs. Hong Ok Saeng, of Seoul; Mrs. Kim Hwa Suk, of Los Angeles; Miyake Tane of Japan; Mr. Park Chang Kwon, of Korea.

South Korean officials said two Americans were among the injured, that one was released from a hospital after treatment, and that the other was in good condition.

They identified only one of the Americans, Sue Hachtmann, 44, of San Antonio, Texas, a native of Korea, who said she "barely managed" to escape from the plane.

A spokesman at Severance Hospital in Seoul said none of the injured were in serious condition.

The airliner left Los Angeles with 206 passengers and 20 crew members and refueled en route in Anchorage, Alaska. The airline's office in Los Angeles said 27 Americans and 12 Canadians were among the passengers.

The big jet circled Seoul several times and hit an "unspecified barrier" alongside the runway as it landed about 7:15 a.m., the district aviation control director for Seoul, Kim Pyong Hoon, told a news conference.

But reliable military sources said the pilot radioed he was having trouble with his controls shortly before he began his landing. They said the initial investigation showed the plane brushed an anti-aircraft gun emplacement as it approached the runway, then tilted to one side, a wing hit a Korean military vehicle parked off the runway, and the aircraft skidded on its belly and burst into flames. One of the passengers, Japanese realtor Eiichiro Sakai, told reporters: "The plane tumbled as soon as it landed. It seemed that the landing gear was out of order. Then I looked out of the window and saw flame coming from the engine with sparks."

Jury selection drags in 118th murder trial

By DON WOODS
Jury selection drags on today in 118th District Court in the second day of the murder trial of defendant Abe Gonzales, 35.

Defense attorney George Gilkerson began questioning potential jurors this morning about possible causes for giving a non-objective verdict.

Two were allowed to leave this morning because of relationships and discussions with persons close to the case.

Gilkerson asked the jurors about the influence of the racial specter of the case on their decision. Gonzales is Mexican-American and the deceased victim in the case Ronald Jeter, 36, was Anglo.

Jurors were asked if liquor or gambling would affect their perceptions of Gilkerson's client. Gilkerson asked one woman who was leaning her head against her hand if her posture denoted concern with liquor or gambling.

Gilkerson stressed what he called the "four walls rule" meaning that the only evidence jurors should consider was that presented within the confines of the courtroom. He reminded jurors that their decision should also be based on the law as District Judge Ralph Caton defined it, not on a preconceived notion.

A verbal discussion ensued at the bench as the four attorneys argued Gilkerson's request to allow witnesses to be presented to the potential jurors for them to know if they recognize them by sight.

Gilkerson, former Lubbock district attorney, asked jurors if they had read the Herald account of the incident or discussed the matter with anyone.

One prospective juror, was a grand jury foreman at one time.

Ronald Jeter, who was the son of the owner of Jeter Sheet Metal, W. Third, died as the result of gunshot wounds Feb. 15 at 9:40 p.m. in a local hospital.

Gonzales is accused of pulling the trigger of a shotgun at BJ's Country Lounge, Snyder Highway, earlier that night.

Gilkerson also asked potential jurors if any were members of a motorcycle gang of knew people who were members of a "leather jacket" type gang.

$64,000 bid for coliseum sign at college accepted

A $64,000 basic bid by Triplex Sign Company of San Angelo, lowest of four entered, for a coliseum sign at Howard College was accepted by college school trustees in their meeting Tuesday.

The board decided to complete the base of the structure with local help. Triplex's offer was for the super-structure of the sign, which will be 28 feet six inches tall, and the ground supports.

Money for the sign is being donated by an anonymous giver. The sign will operate with an electrical impulse and will advertise programs scheduled for the coliseum. The contract calls for Triplex's work to be completed within 120 days.

In other business, the trustees voted to accept a bid by Taylor Publishing Company for printing the college yearbook. Taylor's bid was $8,707.20. The only other bid entered was for $10,225 by Josten's Printing-Publishing Co.

A bid extended by radio station KBST to broadcast all home and road games of the Howard College basketball team was accepted.

The school's audit, prepared by the firm of Lee, Wilson, Reynolds and Company, was accepted after a member of the firm, John Wilson, explained aspects of the financial statement.

In a letter accompanying the audit, the firm, Wilson, Reynolds and Company firm noted "in conducting our examination, nothing came to our attention which, in our judgment, indicated a lack of compliance with the accounting and reporting requirements" under Section 42 of the governing bond ordinance.

The audit covers the year ending Aug. 31, 1980.

The trustees again discussed the possibility of initiating legal action against the general contractors of the coliseum for failure to repair leaks in the roof but no decision was made. Several attempts have been made at correcting the problem but they have not been successful.

It was noted by board president Don McKinney that utility costs of the school have almost doubled within a year's time.

Banquet booked Jan. 31

Wrinkle elected president of Chamber of Commerce

By CAROL HART
Winston Wrinkle, owner of Big Spring radio station KBST, was named president of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce during a Tuesday meeting of the Board of Directors.

Other officers selected included Bill Read, vice president, and Sidney Clark, treasurer. The men will be formally ushered into office during the Chamber of Commerce annual banquet Jan. 31.

Gaining a speaker for the banquet is now under consideration by members of the Annual Banquet committee, chaired by Frances Wheat.

Treasurer Clark reported that the Chamber will be debt-free at the end of this year, ending a three-year period of financial problems for the organization.

Board members also discussed today's quarterly community luncheon, which will celebrate the Big Spring Chamber's 50th chartered year. The Downtown Lions club is hosting the event, and O.I.L. is serving as sponsor. All past presidents of the Chamber will serve as honorary hosts.

Board members discussed the upcoming city bond election, slated Dec. 16, in which a proposed $13 million will be allotted for city improvements over the next five years. Wrinkle moved that the Chamber support the city in all proposed bond issues, and the motion was unanimously supported by other chamber members present.

Several people were named to serve on a budget committee within the Chamber. They are Dan Wilkins, Frances Wheat, Tom Watson, Jimmy Taylor, and Sid Clark. LeRoy Tilley, chamber director, and Winston Wrinkle, incoming president, will also work with the committee.

Tilley told board members that he and Joe Pickle, chairman of the transportation committee, attended the highway 87 meeting in San Angelo. The association passed a resolution supporting a change to a percent of price per gallon tax rather than the present 5 cents per gallon tax for highway improvements.

It was reported that O.I.L. (Oilfield Industrial Lines) is now open with 300 employees, and Roundup Tank has its building almost finished. Big Spring Dress Company closed down their operation here, and a search is on for new tenants for the unoccupied building.

Carol Hunter, chairman of the tourism committee, reported that a new city map is now with a printer, and will soon be ready for distribution.

Dr. John Key said that the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Pre-Legislative conference is set for today and Thursday at the South Park Inn in Lubbock.

Tom Watson, vice president of the Chamber, chaired the noon meeting.

Absentee voting in bond election to begin Monday

By JAMES WERRELL
Absentee voting in the city bond election will begin Monday, said City Finance Director Tom Ferguson, during Tuesday night's regular meeting of the Big Spring City Council.

The council gave its final approval of the election, which is scheduled for Dec. 13. Notice of the election will be published in the Big Spring Herald, and will be posted in City Hall and each voting precinct not more than 30 nor less than 10 days before Dec. 13.

Absentee voting, which will end on Dec. 9, will take place in City Hall. Those wishing to vote absentee may receive ballots from Ferguson's office.

All registered voters who reside within the city limits are eligible to vote in the election. Spanish translators will be present to assist non-English-speaking voters, said Ferguson.

In other business, council members agreed on first reading to lease approximately 21 acres of industrial Park property to the Oilfield Industrial Line Company (O.I.L.). The property includes two buildings presently leased by the Cotton Machinery Company and 19 acres of property adjacent to the buildings.

In outlining the proposal, City Manager Don Davis told the council that the company operates a washing area for crop-dusting planes within the company compound. Davis warned that the area was potentially hazardous, and added that he had asked company officials to move it to a more remote area.

Attorney Bob Miller, who was present at the meeting as a representative of the company, assured the council that the area would be relocated.

In order to make sure, however, Councilman Bobby Fuller included a stipulation in his motion to that effect. The motion stated that the operation would have to be approved by the health department and the Environmental Protection Agency, and that the Federal Aviation Administration designate the desired acres as Revenue Producing instead of Aeronautical.

With these safeguards, the motion passed unanimously. If final approval is given, the property will be rented at $100 per acre, per month.

The council also agreed to write off $54,000 in bad debts in the city's utility department. The debts result from customers leaving town without paying their final bill, customers moving within the city and changing the name on their billing records, and a number of other rules designed to rip off the city.

The bad debts occurred during the period between Oct. 1, 1979, and Sept. 1, 1980. They represent about two percent of the total revenues collected by the department, said Ferguson.

"This is really just an accounting procedure. We will still make efforts to collect the money," he explained. "We have a delinquent account clerk who goes after these accounts on a full-time basis."

Councilmen considered three measures involving streets and traffic control. At the request of Mrs. Rose Timmerman, the council voted to erect no-parking signs on the south side of the 400 block of East Eighth.

Mrs. Timmerman operates the Alta Vista Apartments there, and parked cars on the street have hemmed in her tenants in the past.

The council also agreed to close Austin Street which runs next to the Elk Lodge near FM 700.

"Frankly the street doesn't go anywhere. It just washes badly during See City, page 2-A, Col. 1

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: How does trust work?

Q. What is a trust and how does it work?
A. It could be called a useful estate planning tool. Basically, a trust is an agreement whereby you assign money or property to a trustee (either a person or an organization) who invests it and manages it for your beneficiary. Trusts may also help save money on taxes. Although you are free to name a friend or a business associate as your trustee, people often depend on the experience of specialists — a trust company or the trust department of a bank.

Seattle jail too small

SEATTLE (AP) — Officials at the county jail say during the past two months they have turned away scores of people convicted of minor offenses such as fishing without a license because the jail is too crowded.

In a copyright story Tuesday, the Seattle Post-Intelligencer said judges have even excused some people who showed up to serve one- or two-day sentences.

"I don't know what they want you to do to get in," said Melvin B. Molanen, 50, who said he tried three different times to serve a two-day sentence for gillnetting without a license.

Stamp collection on top

NEW YORK (AP) — The Hawaiian stamp collection of Japanese industrialist Ryohei Ishikawa has topped the world record price for a single U.S. postage stamp not once but twice in an auction here.

The first of two 2-cent "Missionary" stamps was sold for $210,000 Tuesday at Sotheby Parke Bernet Stamp Auction Co., only to be topped by the very next "lot" with a winning bid of $230,000.

The previous record for a U.S. stamp was $135,000, paid in May 1979 for a 1918 24-cent airmail stamp on which an airplane was printed upside down, auction house officials said. The $230,000 purchase was by a California philatelist who revealed only that he was acting for someone else.

Senator changes sides

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Saying "That's where the power is," newly elected state Sen. T. Milton Street switched his allegiance to the GOP, guaranteeing the Republicans control of the state Senate.

Street was elected two weeks ago as a Democrat and announced his switch Tuesday even though Democrats in his predominantly black district have a 10-to-1 registration edge.

Before Street's move, there was a 25-25 Senate tie for the coming term with one Republican seat about to be vacated. Now, even if the Democrats win the seat, they can't regain control because Republican Lt. Gov. William Scranton III has a tie-breaking vote.

Republicans have controlled the House since 1978 by a slim margin.

Chemical lawsuits filed

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Lawsuits totaling $600 million have been filed against Hooker Chemicals & Plastics Corp. charging the company with failing to prevent chemical waste seepage from former dumps in Niagara Falls.

Filed Tuesday, the federal court suits seek $100 million for environmental damage and $100 million in punitive damages for each of three sites from Hooker and its parent firm, Occidental Petroleum Corp.

The suits, the first involving the landfills, claim Hooker should have known the sites, which the state said contain as much toxic wastes as the Love Canal dump in Niagara Falls, were unsuitable for the wastes.

YORKSHIRE RIPPER KILLS AGAIN—Police combing the area near a supermarket in Headingley, Leeds in England, where the body of student Jacqueline Hill, 20, was found Tuesday. Police confirmed today that Jacqueline is the 13th victim of the person known as the "Yorkshire Ripper" a killer who has so far eluded capture even though he has sent police tapes confessing to some of the murders.

Tower speculation continues

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — If Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, resigns to become secretary of defense, as some speculate, it would mean another all-out political war between Texas Democrats and Republicans.

Although the dust is just beginning to settle from the GOP sweep of Texas in the presidential race, a special Senate election would stir everything up again.

However, it's hard for a number of Democratic, and Republican, leaders to believe it could happen.

"I don't believe it's true for one minute," said National Democratic Chairman John White, who may be a candidate if there is a vacancy for Tower's seat. "My immediate reaction is that it is just a bunch of horsefeathers."

"I just don't see how it could happen," said a prominent Republican campaigner who did not want to be quoted, "but it will be a hell of a race if it does happen."

Under state law, Clements would name a temporary successor to Tower if Congress is in session to be sure Texas is represented. He must call a special election within five days after a vacancy occurs for the next 60 to 90 days to fill the remaining four years of Tower's term.

After Lyndon B. Johnson was elected vice president in 1960, he resigned as a Texas senator and Tower won a "high man" special election in 1961. Later, the Texas Legislature changed state law to require that U.S. Senate races must be won by a majority vote, with a runoff if necessary.

Tower won the 1961 special election and was re-elected in 1962 with considerable help from liberal Democrats unhappy with the conservative faction of the party, particularly Connally. He was re-elected in 1972, defeating Barefoot Sanders, Dallas, now a federal judge. Connally was head of Texas Democrats for Nixon that year but did not support Tower.

"I couldn't pretend that there would be no interest, but it's a bit premature to indicate any definite plan," Krueger said from Washington. "I think clearly I would look at it very closely and there certainly would be that possibility. This speculation has been around for some time."

White said "if there is any substance to it, I might think about it (running for the seat). Right now I wouldn't give it a second thought."

White said he thought Tower would be just as powerful as chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, which he is slated to become in the 1981 Congress, as he would be as defense secretary.

"I'm still interested in public service but I think at this time I will not comment," Hill said in a recent interview with The Associated Press that he was not interested in any political campaign except that for governor in 1982.

"My overriding interest is still in the governor's race," he said Tuesday, "but something has come up and a lot of us have to realize where we are in the Democratic party. I will move where I can make the most contributions to the state."

Still other Democratic names that have been mentioned in the past as possible U.S. Senate candidates are former Gov. Dolph Briscoe and Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong.

Tower said in a statement that he had not talked to anyone about his successor but he believes a Republican could hold the seat in a special election. He noted that the party machinery "built by Clements in engineering Reagan's win in Texas has just been deactivated and could be reactivated again in a brief period of time."

Old-timers can count Conservative Demos receive assurances

WASHINGTON — Conservative Democrats from Texas and across the old south emerged from a meeting with House Speaker Tip O'Neill late Tuesday with what they said were assurances of a wider role in the new Congress.

"There's one thing about old-time politicians, they can count," said Rep. Phil Gramm of College Station, one of 33 members of the newly-formed Conservative Democratic Forum in the House. "Our numbers require the Speaker to take our demands very seriously. O'Neill reportedly committed himself to appoint at least one and possibly two members of the conservative group to the House Democratic Policy and Steering Committee."

The panel decides the Democratic Party makeup of House committees and O'Neill, who declined comment after the meeting, is allowed eight appointments to the 24-member group.

"We got a general commitment from the Speaker to increase committee representation for conservatives and some definite assurances on the Steering and Policy Committee," said Rep. Charles Stenholm of Stamford, the coordinator of the conservative group, who presented O'Neill a list of congressmen to be considered when committee assignments are made.

Included on that list was Kent Hance of Lubbock, who would like to join the Armed Services committee, and Marvin Leath of Marlin, seeking a post on the tax-writing Ways and Means committee.

Others at the meeting included C.V. Sonny Montgomery of Mississippi, John Breaux of Louisiana, Andy Ireland of Florida, Charles Whitley and Bill Hefner of North Carolina, and Billy Lee Evans of Georgia.

Food prices expected to rise 12.2 percent

WASHINGTON (AP) — Retail food prices are expected to climb 12.2 percent in 1981, the sharpest increase in seven years, the Agriculture Department said today.

Jumps in meat, poultry and egg prices will lead the way, a department economist forecast. Such an increase would be almost 1 1/2 times the 8.7 percent rise predicted for this year and the steepest jump since 1973 and 1974, when food prices rose about 14.5 percent each year.

In general, said economist Paul C. Westcott in a report prepared for the department's annual Agricultural Outlook Conference, "the major source of food price inflation in 1981 will come from rises in meat, poultry and egg prices."

Meat and poultry prices, he said, will likely rise between 15 percent and 20 percent due to "only slight increases in...beef and broiler production."

Pork production, he said, could decline "perhaps 8 to 10 percent."

And as people seek substitutes for high-priced meat and poultry, Westcott added, egg prices will rise about 17 percent. Dairy prices are expected to go up 10.7 percent next year, with mandatory boosts in federal milk price supports "and rising marketing costs again being the major causes," he said.

Although fruit and vegetable prices are among the hardest to predict, because of their sensitivity to weather, Westcott said an overall rise of 8 percent now appears likely. Department officials have been saying since August that food prices would increase within a range of 10 to 15 percent in 1981; today's 12.2 percent estimate refined that estimate.

But Westcott said price increases could vary about 2 percent from the new prediction depending on: —The severity of this winter's weather and its effect on citrus crops and livestock marketings. —The size of the fall 1981 grain crop. —Whether inflation surges anew or abates. —How close the global sugar crop comes to meeting demand.

The economists said the report is further evidence of a recovery, albeit slow, from the recession.

City to barricade street

The city will barricade the street and improve its drainage, with the option of opening it to traffic at a later date.

The council also decided to install four-way stop signs at the intersection of 10th and Lancaster. The intersection currently features stop signs for those traveling on Lancaster.

"We ran a traffic count at that intersection, and found that it was about equal for both approaches," said Davis.

The council accepted one bid and decided to rebid another, during the meeting. The city will buy $3,786.05 worth of equipment from the Motorola Company, with an optional service contract that brings the total bid to $3,838.35.

Equipment includes 16 tone and voice pagers and an encoder, plus installation costs.

The city received only one bid for 52,000 garbage bags, and decided to seek more bids at a future date.

In other business, council members: —Approved bid specifications for a backhoe. —Approved the final reading of an ordinance to raise the penalty for bad checks written to the city from $3 to $5.

—Approved the final readings of resolutions to execute a contract with the First Southwest Company for financial consultation, and a resolution appointing the law firm of McCall, Parkhurst and Horton as legal adviser in the upcoming bond election.

—Passed on final reading a resolution that will provide funds to the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce for tourist development.

—Passed a resolution that will give notice to authorities that the city will hold an election among city employees to determine whether to withdraw from the Social Security System.

—Recorded the ballot numbers in each city election precinct.

—Approved the payment of $350 to Robert Patterson for damages to his car, which was struck by a city garbage truck.

During his city manager's report, Davis presented a survey conducted by David Spilman, patrolman and superintendent at Comanche Trail Park. The report stated that during October, 294 vehicles used the overnight camping area and that vehicles ranged from locations in 27 states and four Canadian Provinces.

Davis also suggested, and the council approved designating the Friday after Thanksgiving as a city holiday.

Plane, truck collide close to Peacock

PEACOCK — A small airplane bearing a Jayton man, who was checking on his stock, was in a collision with a pickup truck after the craft had landed on FM 2211 about two miles south of here Monday afternoon.

Ronnie Moorhead, 34, was preparing to take off again after clearing ice from the plane's wings when a truck being driven by 78-year-old N.W. Tipton of Aspermont ran into the plane from the rear.

Moorhead said the collision compressed the 8-foot tail into a foot-long section. Tipton ran into the craft despite frantic signals by Moorhead's companion.

No one was injured in the collision. The plane was later towed to a nearby farm house.

Peacock is in Stonewall County, about 11 miles west of Aspermont — almost due north of Sweetwater. The plane was a 1955 Piper Super Cub.

Police Beat 'Racer' kicks officer

Criminals kept a low profile, Tuesday. Greg McDonald, 17, 2600 Rebecca, faces several charges after a difficult arrest, 10 p.m. Tuesday. Officer David Spilman and Detective C.P. Ward spotted McDonald near the East

A vehicle driven by Glen K. McDaniel, 1504 Johnson, struck a guard rail at the Benton Street Overpass, 12:18 a.m.

A vehicle driven by Daniel Rivera, 906 Scurry, struck a fence at 1200 Young, 1:58 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Rodney Jones, 514 Edwards, and Patrol Capt. Claude Morris, 2400 Alameda, collided at 17th and Johnson, 3:37 p.m.

Vehicles driven by James Quick, Arizona, and David Herrera, 1100 Pickets, collided in the parking lot of the Big Spring High School, 6:34 p.m.

Turkey shoot set Sunday

The Big Spring Police Association will sponsor a turkey shoot at its range on the 11th place extension, beginning 1 p.m. Sunday. Entry fee is $3 per person. Contestants should bring their own .22 caliber rifles or pistols, but guns will be provided for the weaponless.

Six mishaps were reported Tuesday. Vehicles driven by Barbara McQueary, 2606 S. Dow, and Gilbert Limon, 3728

Stenholm, Hightower urge farmers to plan for future

VERNON — If the Rolling and High Plains of Texas are to continue to be a strong agricultural area, helping meet the food and fiber needs of the world, we have to plan ahead and make the most of what is here, U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower told farmers and educators attending the annual meeting of the Rolling Plains Economic Program here.

And if farming is to be profitable enough for the family farm to survive, the farmer must play a greater role in the marketing process, including exports, Rep. Charles Stenholm told the group.

Research and education, coupled with participation in the legislative processes to help Congress shape the 1981 farm bill and export policies, hold the key, the congressmen said.

Hightower, D-13th District, and Stenholm, D-17th District, were keynote speakers for the regional organization. It is sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service to promote economic growth and development in 30 counties of the Rolling Plains. The meeting at the Vernon Region Junior College came two days after both speakers won reelection to Congress.

Hightower was presented the Knapp-Porter Award, the highest honor bestowed on citizens of the state by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, for his outstanding service to agriculture and family living. The award is named for Dr. Seaman A. Knapp, father of Extension education, and Walter B. Porter of Terrell, first farm demonstrator. Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, state Extension director, made the presentation. Citing the limited amount of available farm land, Hightower said America must preserve that land and its quality. We also must consider using land we'd rather not use, he added.

"I'm very proud of the work being done by Texas A&M University and Texas Tech University and others on the utilization of arid land," he said. Efficient use of water resources almost must be planned, he stressed. Noting the "recent vogue of some environmentalists" to oppose any kind of water project, he decried their "demagogic approach" of labeling all such bills as "pork barrel projects."

Energy development, including nuclear, is another necessity for agriculture and the nation, he said. He cited research on wind energy being conducted at the U.S. Department of Agriculture research center at Bushland as an example of forward-thinking efforts which are needed.

Aquaculture is another area in which research and planning are needed, he said. "We cannot wait until we run out of time." Stenholm emphasized that agriculture is an integral part of the foreign policy of America. "Over half of what we are raising agriculturally today in America, we sell into the export market," the Stamford farmer-congressman said.

Seventy-five percent of the people live in the developing countries, but they have only 30 percent of the world's food supply, he noted. While the world food supply is declining, it isn't yet critical, he said.

But he cautioned it will lead to new pressures for farmers to plant "fencerow to fencerow," and then find they have overproduced and "clobbered the market."

He said the challenge facing Congress is to put together a system of producing for a world market that isn't a free market, and yet do so within the "basic philosophy" of the free enterprise system. Embargoes are a fact of life in a politically-controlled world market, he said.

"One of the things I think has been wrong with the export is that we farmers have not participated fully in the export market," he said. "Ninety percent of all the grain we sell in the world market is sold by four major large grain companies, three of which are almost totally owned by foreign sources and the other at least partially owned by foreign sources."

"I think that's one area we need to correct." He said the new farm credit amendments facing the lame duck Congress have some provisions that will allow farm cooperatives to begin to compete in the world market.

"There is no way to have a so-called free market system in a world market in which you have a totalitarian government," he said. "Recognize that. Don't demand the impossible out of domestic agricultural policies by saying, 'We're going to do it on our own, with no help from anyone,' when half of what we raise must be sold into that market and that market will be controlled as a puppet on a string."

Cotton crop will total 11,224,300 bales in '80

The nation's 1980 cotton crop will total 11,224,300 bales, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Nov. 1 estimate.

The total is down 365,000 bales from the Oct. 1 estimate and 23 percent from the total in 1979.

Top states in production are Texas, 3.4 million bales;

California, 3.0 million; Arizona, 1.3 million; and Mississippi, 1.1 million.

Arizona farmers lead the parade in estimated per-acre yields, with 1,062 pounds per acre. California is next with 983 pounds per acre. For the Cotton Belt, the estimated per-acre yield is 408 pounds.

Boy Scout Troop 401 receives certificate

Boy Scout Troop 401 recently received a certificate of thanks from Voluntary Services at the VA Medical Center for the part it played in the Veterans Day Parade of Flags activities.

Present for the ceremonies at the VAMC were George Crawford, Ernest Crawford, Keven Raybon, Randy Bracknell, Daryl Hammond, Tommy Bradbury, Ben Parham, Mike Bracknell and Brent Ainsworth.

The troop will participate in a district camping trip Nov. 21-22-23. All boys, ages 11 and over, who would like to gain membership in the troop and participate in its activities can call Bill Priebe at 263-2317.

Weather

Clear and cold in much of nation

New Englanders were jaded out today from a storm that dumped up to 13 inches of snow, and it was generally clear and cold in much of the rest of the nation.

The storm was blamed for two deaths in Massachusetts, where the snowfall ranged up to 12 inches in the Berkshire hills.

Thousands of schoolchildren got an unexpected holiday, and many homes were without electricity after when snow-laden power lines snapped.

In the Boston area, up to 3 inches of snow that turned to slush and then froze kept sanders "out all night, but they can't keep ahead of the ice," said Officer Ed Lee of the Metropolitan District Commission Police.

In Maine, the heaviest snowfall was reported in Rumford, which received 13 inches according to the National Weather Service. The storm dropped 8.7 inches of snow on Portland, breaking the record of 5.6 inches for the date set in 1956.

A total of 8.6 inches of snow fell at Bradley International Airport in Windsor Locks, Conn., its largest single snowfall since the February 1978 blizzard.

Radio station sales exec awarded Top Hand plaque

LAMESA — Dorothy Haney, sales manager for radio station KPET here, was awarded the Top Hand plaque by the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce at the organization's annual membership banquet here Tuesday evening.

The award is given annually by the chamber to its member credited with being the most active in recruiting new members.

Remarks on community values. The Lamesa High School Stage Band provided musical belief during the evening.

At the end of the program, new chamber officers were introduced to the audience, and the work of the outgoing officers was applauded.

Some big changes are on the way

The Democratic Party seemed a little slow to realize that the American people have mandated a change toward conservatism in government. The Republicans on the other hand, showed early on in preparing for that change.

Sen. Robert Dole, the senior Republican, will take over as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee. Louisiana's Russell Long has been the holder of that committee and, on occasions, has operated quite unpredictably.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, who has been in the Senate ever since he was elected as a freshman candidate years ago, will inherit the gavel from Sen. Edward Brooke of Massachusetts on the Judiciary Committee.

REP. WILLIAM ROY, a Republican, will be the new chairman of the House Committee on Education and the Labor Force.

of the Ways and Means committee since Wilbur Mills decided pub hopping was to his liking, but Ullman was turned out to pasture by Oregon voters. He will be succeeded by Rep. Dan Rostenkowski of Illinois, if Rostenkowski wants the job.

President-elect Ronald Reagan campaigned a lot on the issue of a tax cut and the new makeup of the legislative bodies is apt to give him such a bill. That would roughly follow the proposals included in the Kemp-Roth tax bill.

The Democrats, sensing that the voters were getting impatient over their back-breaking tax load, had begun to move toward a reduction in tax levies even before the general election. Now that the Democrats got the message, both houses of Congress are apt to advance on a tax cut with expediency. The only question is whether it will be along traditional Democratic-liberal lines or be tailored to encourage individual savings and business expansion to create more jobs.

If Reagan is the quarterback of the tax-cutting plan, as indeed he will be, he could hand the ball off to Sen. Dole in a move to put early points on the board. Let it be said that Sen. Long had long recommended giving the tax payers a break through reduced taxes but had been hamstrung by more liberal minded members of the congressional bodies.

THE NEW TAX cut philosophy is that the nation has passed the point of diminishing returns, that taxes now take so much out of each dollar earned that risk-taking is discouraged and productivity wanes. By cutting the tax rate, this theory holds, there will be only a temporary dip in tax revenue. The long range effect will be to boost federal revenues because there will be more dollars made on which taxes will be levied. It makes good logic and, although laughed at by disciples of economic planning, it stands a good chance of passage.

Meanwhile, Thurmond's control of the Judiciary Committee, conservative at it is, means clearer sailing for Reagan's almost certain appointments to the Supreme Court and to his choices for lesser federal benches.

Under Kennedy, extremist efforts would have been made to find a legal basis for blocking appointments objected to on philosophical grounds.

Pulpit for Democrats

It is the duty of the pulpit to speak the truth, and the truth is that the Democrats are the only party in America that stands for the people.

Three wings of the Democratic Party are on the left headed by Edward Kennedy; one in the middle headed by Henry Jackson; and one on the right headed by Fritz Hollings.

These three groups will provide the Democratic Party with a solid base of support. The Democrats are the only party in America that stands for the people.

The Democrats are the only party in America that stands for the people. They are the only party that has the courage to stand up to the powerful interests that control our country.

Calf exercise helps heel spurs

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a heel spur on my right foot. I have seen a doctor and he told me he could treat it two ways. One is medically, and the other is to operate on it. He gave me a shot and a prescription for some pills to use for 10 days. I had relief for about five weeks, and now the pain is back as bad as ever. What is a person supposed to do, and do these spurs ever go away? — L.E.M.

The best approach, if possible, is to find a way to avoid the pain and leave the heel spur alone. It's one of the rare instances in medicine where treating the symptom (pain) usually suffices.

Heel spurs result from the process that causes the pain. A thick string-like band of fibers supports the undersurface of the foot. It is anchored into the heel bone. Constant irritation of this supporting structure causes calcium to form at the bone attachment. This is part of the body's protective mechanism whenever bone seems endangered. That's your heel spur.

It is best, at first, to try conservative measures. One is to eliminate the constant shock to the bottom of the foot. The heel area should be padded and the calf muscles stretched. Tight calf muscles put more stress on the already troubled bottom of the foot. Once you've eliminated immediate pain you can try this exercise: Stand with your toes perched on the edge of a book or some such object. While bracing yourself to avoid falls, rise up on tiptoe, then lower down past the edge. Repeat, and adjust to avoid pain.

Steroids can be injected into the area to reduce inflammation, and I suspect this is what your doctor gave to you. If all else fails, surgical removal may have to be done. But first, try the combination of heel protection and exercises to stretch the calf muscles. You will probably need a change of shoes. The calcium spur will not go away, but the pain ought to.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have what the doctor says is "Heberden's nodes," for which, they say, there is no cure. I am 78 years old. What is the proper course of action to take with these nodes? — Mrs. C.M.

Herberden's nodes are the telltale signs of degenerative joint disease (osteoarthritis). They are small bony overgrowths at the base of the top-most knuckle, the one nearest the fingernail. Why they form remains a mystery. They may be painful at first, but in time they stop hurting. While there may be no cure for osteoarthritis, laboratories have been busy in recent years developing medicines to control the symptoms. In addition, exercise that can be tolerated without pain can keep joints mobile. Time-honored warm soaks and other physical therapy are also helpful.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a 27-year-old male. About 10 months ago I started having pains in my testes. The doctor said it was epididymitis and said it could linger awhile. He tried antibiotics. As time went on the pain subsided, but now it is back. Can you comment? — T.B.

The epididymis is a series of tubules through which sperm travels from the testes. The structure is located on top of each testis.

An organism called chlamydia is the most common cause of epididymitis (inflammation of the epididymis) in a younger man. It should respond to tetracycline or erythromycin. It may flare up and require a second course of such antibiotics. You have to go back to your doctor now to be sure that what is causing the present pain is your old epididymitis. There are other causes besides chlamydia.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My neighbor, who is sort of a medical nut, is forever tossing out little tidbits of knowledge. Sometimes I wonder. She reads the

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I had a very unhappy childhood, and now that I am in my 30s I find myself filled with anger and resentment. How can I get rid of these? — B.S.M.

DEAR B.S.M.: In some ways you have already started to take the first step. You have sensed that your anger and resentment are not good and need to be conquered. The Bible tells us that such things harm both ourselves and other people, and should be eliminated. "Resentment kills a fool, and envy slays the simple" (Job 5:2). "He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city" (Proverbs 16:32).

But the real solution to your problem is to allow Jesus Christ to come into your life as your Savior and Lord. By faith invite him into your heart, and ask him to purge you of all these feelings. Your feelings are a burden to you, weighing you down and keeping you from being the person God wants you to be. You also do not have the strength that you need to banish these things fully from your life. But Christ loves you, and wants to help you. Jesus said, "Come to me, all you who are weary and burdened, and I will give you rest. Take my yoke upon you and learn from me, for I am gentle and humble in heart, and you will find rest for your soul" (Matthew 11:28-29).

How will Christ help you? For one thing, he will lift the burden of guilt and sin and resentment from your heart. Also, he will show you clearly that he loves you. As a child you came to believe no one loved you, and perhaps felt you were not worth loving. But God loves you — just as you are!

Then Christ will help you by giving you strength — strength to fight the temptation of anger, and strength to accept your life and circumstances because you know he is in control. He will also give you a new ability to love others and be less concerned about your own feelings and reactions.

Are you nobody?

Around the rim

Robbi Crow

When you go to parties and everyone forms into little groups, are you the only one in your group?

Have you ever walked into a crowded room only to find the premises vacated shortly after your arrival?

Are you one of those unfortunate people who steps onto a bus, and even after you've used your Shower to Shower, the others hurriedly leave the vehicle, electing to walk to work?

IF YOU'VE ever been the starring character in any of the above-mentioned roles, this rim is for you.

After being neglected, rejected and forsaken by your fellow man, your time for substantial recognition has come. Your disheartening hours of insignificant existence have finally paid off.

According to a recent article in Seventeen Magazine, Derek Evans and Dave Fulwiler are just a couple of nobodies just like you.

Tired of being excluded from life and stereotyped worthless, the pair have created a book of honorable recognition which they have brilliantly titled "Who's Nobody in America."

Minimal response

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — For reasons that are not clear, the Carter administration has proved reluctant to call the Soviet Union to account for two glaring breaches of solemn treaty promises reported by U.S. intelligence agencies.

The two episodes — a Sept. 14 underground nuclear test and last year's germ-warfare accident in Sverdlovsk — provided convincing evidence that the Kremlin has been systematically violating provisions of two arms-control treaties with the United States. The agreements are the Threshold Test Ban Treaty of 1976 and the bacteriological weapons ban signed in 1972.

INTELLIGENCE SOURCES told my associate Dale Van Atta the September nuclear explosion was somewhere between 100 and 400 kilotons in size. Many experts conclude that the wide divergence in measurement data suggests that the actual intensity of the blast was around 400 kilotons.

U.S. officials could not ignore the incident, as they have often done in previous cases, because even the lowest yield estimate was well above the 150-kiloton limit permitted by the threshold treaty. So the United States officially expressed "concern" to Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin.

The violation of the germ-warfare treaty could be even more serious. The Sverdlovsk disaster, which killed hundreds of Soviet citizens by the release of deadly anthrax bacilli, was apparently the final evidence needed to persuade the CIA that the Russians have been developing biological weapons for offensive use, probably since World War II.

In late April 1979, Sverdlovsk residents were jolted by a loud explosion, probably in a laboratory at the biological warfare installation in the Chkalov district of the city. Clouds of anthrax bacilli were released.

Reservists at the military base were the first to die. Next were workers at a ceramics factory downwind, where ventilators sucked in concentrated quantities of the anthrax germs.

THE OFFICIAL SOVIET explanation was that the victims, who died within six or seven hours, had contracted anthrax from an illegally slaughtered cow. A classified CIA report dated April 4, 1980, notes that, however, the deaths "were caused by pulmonary anthrax as opposed to gastric or skin anthrax, which would be more likely if anthrax-contaminated beef were eaten or handled."

"The ceramics factory was sprayed inside and out with chloramine, and large areas around the military installation were graded and covered with asphalt," the CIA reported. "Wild animals in a small forest near the (facility) were allegedly killed, and most dogs in the city district were picked up and destroyed."

The exact number of casualties was covered up, but analysts have estimated the toll at between 200 and 1,000. "Unconfirmed reports claimed that the installation commander, a general officer, committed suicide following the first casualties," the CIA report states.

Noting that an effective lethal dose for an individual is 10,000 anthrax spores, the CIA concludes that an extremely large number of the spores must have been released — "effectively negating any assessment of peaceful or defensive research being conducted there."

WATCH ON WASTE: Amtrak may not have succeeded in making the trains run on time, but it has managed to get the severance paychecks in on time to a onetime vice president who was given the heave-ho.

The bureaucrat in question is Carole Foryst, who was dismissed by the

Is your name Darrin and your mother-in-law is forever calling you Derwood?

When your class chooses sides for kickball, are you the only one left unpicked until the team captains flip a coin to see who has to take you?

Well never fret. Your long overdue chance for recognition has come about at last.

IF YOUR think you're a nobody and would like to be included in the 1982 edition (the 1981 edition is already full of nobodies, sorry) the magazine article suggests you send your name, birth date, and profession to Who's Nobody, 10746 Esmeraldas Dr., San Diego, Calif., 92124.

A note explaining why you think you're nobody must be included.

Competition is tough. Out of 40,000 submissions, only 2,000 made it in the 1981 edition.

"But don't worry if you're one of those excluded, a real nobody will treat the rejection with pride," the article concludes.

"Just think," says co-author Evans, "you've been ignored by your own book!"

taxpayer-funded railroad last month for "policy differences." As a cushion against unemployment, Foryst was granted severance pay at her old salary — upwards of $50,000 a year. The checks are to keep coming until next January.

Foryst had no trouble finding something to do. She volunteered for the "truth team" sent out by the Republicans to promote Ronald Reagan across the country. This was no great wrench for the former railroad veep. While she was still at Amtrak, she had worked enthusiastically for Reagan on her own time.

The Amtrak officials who fired Foryst may live to regret their judgment. She's contesting the dismissal and is contemplating legal action.

As for the severance pay, Foryst said she hasn't cashed any of the checks she has received. She also points out that a scant two weeks before she was derailed, the rail system's board of directors voted unanimously to reappoint her to her office.

WHAT'S RIGHT WITH AMERICA: The campaign that just ended had perhaps more than the usual share of dirty politics. But there were two notable exceptions. As it happens, both involved Maryland congressional races, but they exemplified one of the things that is right about America.

In the First Congressional District, Democrat Roy Dyson was running far behind the GOP incumbent, Robert Bauman, until the conservative Republican became enmeshed in an unsavory homosexual scandal. Dyson immediately declared he would make no mention of his opponent's personal tragedy — and he didn't. Dyson won without taking advantage of Bauman's troubles.

In the Fifth District, incumbent Democrat Gladys Spellman suffered a massive heart attack four days before the election. Her Republican challenger, Kevin Igoe, called off further electioneering, and was soundly defeated.

Winner and loser both deserve commendation for choosing decency over expediency.

Big Spring Herald

Dear Editor: That there are still people in this world who care was brought home vividly to me on Sunday Nov. 16. My husband and I along with several others were returning from a hunting trip in Northern New Mexico and were traveling southward from Lamesa when we were encountered by a snow and ice clogged highway 87.

Many motorists were, of course, stranded when their vehicles slid into ditches along the highway. Traffic was blocked for several miles.

These people along with many others would likely still be stranded had it not been for the efforts of farmers all along the way who used their tractors and their time to pull one stranded car after another out of the ditch to send them on their way.

This is indeed a fine example of a good samaritan act for these farmers could have remained in the comfort and warmth of their homes and not have cared. I for one am very appreciative of their efforts and know that they should be commended for a service they performed for others in a time of need.

Recruiting tour called successful for SWCID

A recent recruiting tour through the northern part of the United States proved successful for the South West Collegiate Institute for the Deaf at Howard College, according to Jeff Davis, counselor in the office of admissions at SWCID.

Of the approximate 1,000 deaf juniors-seniors contacted on the trip, 295 asked for admission applications for SWCID, Davis said.

"It was a greater success than I anticipated," Davis said.

Davis contacted students from 13 states in the northeast portion as well as the midwest portion of the country.

"This is the territory where they already have two colleges for the deaf. That kind of response from this section of the country was overwhelming. They all wanted to move to Texas," Davis explained.

In addition to the 295 students who are interested in applying for next Fall, Davis said seven hearing impaired people applied for January admittance.

"Most of the students are seniors in high school. Mid-year is a slow time, since most students orient themselves toward Fall enrollment," he said.

The first stop Davis made was in Rochelle, N.Y., where he addressed a conference of students from Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, New Hampshire, Rhode Island and Vermont.

From the conference, Davis traveled to upstate New York, where he talked to students in five schools for the deaf.

"I was able to address 350 deaf students in two days," Davis said of his first two stops. "My material was gone in a matter of minutes," he explained.

From New York, Davis traveled to Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Indiana, and Kansas before returning to Big Spring last Friday.

"I explained the criteria for admission and I told them about Howard College and SWCID," Davis said of the ten day trip.

The Fall tour was arranged in response to invitations from each program visited, Davis added.

The Office of Admissions at SWCID has tours scheduled to speak with deaf high school students in El Paso, Odessa, Lubbock, Amarillo, Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, McAllen, Harlingen and Austin during December.

SWCID is continuing to receive applications and has 27 new applications for the Spring semester.

"We expect at least to double our present enrollment for January and we are able to serve an additional 123 students," Davis said.

SWCID will be accepting applications for enrollment into the Spring semester 1981 until Dec. 12.

After pleading guilty

Senator fined, placed on probation

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Houston Sen. Gene Jones says he lied two months ago when he denied using state employees to work on his unsuccessful reelection bid and the Houston Democrat now has pleaded guilty to those charges.

State District Judge Tom Blackwell Tuesday ordered Jones to pay a $2,000 fine and $10,000 in restitution. Jones also was placed on probation for one year as a result of the Class A misdemeanor conviction for official misconduct.

Prosecutors said Jones, a Democrat, used state employees and equipment to mail out fundraising letters for his campaign.

The allegation initially was made by Mike Richards, the Houston Republican who beat Jones Nov. 4.

The matter were brought to Travis County District Attorney Ronnie Earle by Richards' aides.

Jones, 46, is an associate dean at the South Texas College of Law.

He was called to the witness stand by defense attorney Roy Minton, who asked if the senator "knowingly had people working in your office ... solely and only on campaign matters."

Jones replied, "That is a fact. Yes, sir."

At a September news conference, Richards laid out his allegation.

"This (fund-raising) event from its inception in July was organized, promoted, and implemented entirely from Sen. Jones' office at taxpayer expense — totally in violation of state law," Richards said.

Jones quickly denied the allegation. He said any misuse of state employees or equipment was a result of "over-zealous" work by staff member Jeff Senter. Jones paid $1,647 restitutions to the state in September.

"At no time did I ever request Senter or any other state employees to do any kind of campaign work," Jones said on Sept. 2.

He changed his story when he got to the witness stand Tuesday.

Minton asked if Jones knew at the time that state employees were doing campaign work.

"Yes, sir. There were certain instances where that was correct," Jones said.

He also said there were other instances he did not know about.

"Since then I have learned a great deal of things occurred based on my negligence," he said.

The $10,000 restitution was a negotiated figure, Minton said, and will be paid within 30 days, along with the $2,000 fine.

After the plea, Jones walked silently, hand-in-hand with his wife Gloria, to Minton's nearby office.

Minton said part of the agreement with Earle was to not try the case in the press. He said

Jones would have no public comment.

Blackwell dismissed the grand jury, and Earle said the investigation was complete. The grand jurors never indicted Jones because he waived his right to indictment as part of the plea bargain.

Earle said the $10,000 "was a fair amount."

"The purpose of the criminal law is to hold people responsible for their actions. Gene Jones was ready to accept those consequences," Earle said, adding "it would not have been in the interest of justice" to send Jones to jail.

Jones won his Senate seat in a special election in April 1976. He won a full term in November of that year from the district that includes part of Harris County and all of Fort Bend County.

In 1979, Jones was one of 13 "Killer Bee" senators who hid out to block a vote on an early presidential primary. The early primary was thought to favor John Connally's candidacy.

GOVERNOR'S REPORT

by William P. Clements Jr.

Early this year, with support of the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House of Representatives, I established by executive order a long-range planning project called Texas 2000.

Texas state government, oddly enough, has never had such a long range plan. It has reacted to crisis, rather than evaluate and prepare for those problems and challenges which lie ahead in a growing, dynamic state.

The aim of Texas 2000 is to bring into focus the issues of paramount importance confronting us as we move into the eventful last decades of the 20th Century.

Our staff for this study is made up of personnel from the Governor's Office and the Texas Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. We are receiving cooperation from our great educational institutions, other state agencies and the private sector. Director of the project is Dr. Victor Arnold, an associate professor of the Lyndon B. Johnson School of Public Affairs at The University of Texas. Dr. Arnold managed a similar project in Minnesota.

To fulfill its purpose of providing music services that permit our people and business to thrive, it is imperative that state government look to the future and map a wise course.

The dramatic population and economic growth which Texas has experienced is expected to continue throughout the 21st Century. The more than 13 million people living in Texas today represent an increase of 3.8 million during the last 20 years. But by 2000, as many as 21 million may be living in our State. During the 1970's, 46 percent of the increase in Texas' population was attributed to people moving in from other states. Only nine percent moved here from other states in the 1960's.

Our state and local government expenditures in 1960 were 2.4 billion, but by 1977, state and local governmental spending had jumped to more than $13 billion. And state government alone this year will spend more than $10 billion.

The impact of such change must be carefully assessed if we are to continue providing the services our citizens expect and deserve, increase productivity, maintain a healthy state economy and encourage better use of state funds.

Our challenge is to preserve a climate that encourages growth and, at the same time, to prepare for those changes that inevitably accompany it. We must assure that our resources are used productively and carefully, that the services provided by government are essential and economical, and that the quality of life in Texas is preserved and improved.

Texas 2000, in helping us meet this challenge, will move through three phases.

Phase 1 consists of developing a body of reliable information about the state's population, economy, natural resources, public finances and other areas. This information covers the last three decades of our growth to the position of their most populous state and one of the most industrial in the nation. A 250-page published version of this compiled data was released a few weeks ago.

Texas 2000 will establish a comprehensive data bank for the state — an information system which can be updated annually and used for both public and private planning purposes. That kind of solid common data base will greatly enhance our ability to project and plan for the future, for five years, 10 years, 20 years.

I am confident of its worth. It may well be one of the most-powerful accomplishments of my administration. It will serve our state well through planning now to enable Texas to fulfill the rich promise of the future.

Phase 2 will see the preparation of a series of research reports with the help of task forces of experts drawn from government, education and the private sector. The reports will highlight major issues Texas will face in the future and will form a basis for work of the Texas 2000 Commission which will provide a forum for discussion of critical issues and a mechanism for determining appropriate action.

Drugs may curb sex drives

CHICAGO (AP) — Some drugs that help alleviate high blood pressure and other circulatory or heart problems can also curb the sex drive and render male patients impotent, a doctor says.

In an article published in the Archives of Internal Medicine, Dr. Chris Papadopoulos of South Baltimore General Hospital warned that the sexual side effects "may" cause "some patients to stop taking their medicine."

"Knowledge of the sexual side effects of the drugs and proper counseling of the patient are vital," the doctor said.

Papadopoulos said a reduction in dosage or substitution of an equally effective drug with less of a potential effect on the patient's sexual functions could alleviate the problem.

Papadopoulos, who also is associated with the University of Maryland School of Medicine, reported his findings in the October edition of the American Medical Association publication.

The study focused on the effects of 16 drugs on male patients. Papadopoulos said, "The effects of drugs on male sexuality are far better described and understood than is their influence on the responses of females, partly because the male response is more visible and quantifiable."

The 16 drugs examined are prescribed for various kinds of circulatory problems. Papadopoulos found that while most have been known to have at least some sexual side effects, thiazides, hydralazine and prazosin appear to be the least likely to cause sexual dysfunction.

Dallas man acquitted

DALLAS (AP) — Jurors who acquitted a 24-year-old Dallas man on charges he aided the suicide of a fellow boarding house resident said they were not convinced David M. Touponce caused the death.

In a trial believed to be the first of its kind in Texas, Touponce was found not guilty Monday of accusations he encouraged Charlie Jones to shoot himself last June.

A conviction on the charge would have carried up to 10 years in prison.

Touponce and Jones were residents of an East Dallas boarding home June 13 when Jones threatened to shoot himself with a .38-caliber revolver, testimony showed.

Several Dallas police officers testified Touponce gave Jones alcoholic beverages as the lawmen attempted to dissuade Jones from pulling the trigger. They also said the defendant encouraged Jones to shoot himself, which he did.

Speaker criticizes pope

MUNICH, West Germany (AP) — Pope John Paul II celebrated a Mass directed at young people today, the last day of his West German tour, and was told the church's teachings on sex and personal relationships are too strict for young people.

The Mass was celebrated at the scene of the Oktoberfest terrorist bombing.

Barbara Engl, chairwoman of the League of German Catholic Youth here, departed from the text of her remarks delivered after the Mass and told the pope there were "too many prohibitions" on young people in the church's teachings.

She said many youths do not understand the church position on celibacy for priests at a time when many prospective priests are deterred from taking their vows by church rules against marriage.

She also asked the pope to turn his attention to increasing the participation of women in the church hierarchy.

The pope lowered his head and clasped his hands during her brief remarks, then looked up after she was finished. He made no comment and left the Mass as scheduled.

An estimated half-million people streamed into the city fairgrounds, site of the annual Oktoberfest beer festival. Many carried flags and streamers that dotted the meadow with ever-shifting reds, blues and yellows.

"It is hard to understand what man is capable of doing in the confusion of his mind and heart," the pope said in his homily.

Officer disappears

WHARTON, Texas (AP) — A Wharton County sheriff's deputy has disappeared with a prisoner he picked up Tuesday at Rusk State Hospital in East Texas.

Deputy Alvin Davidson left Wharton Tuesday morning to pick up murder suspect Addie Whalon, who had been held 21 days at the hospital to determine whether she was mentally competent to stand trial.

Sheriff Rudy Machala said Davidson left the hospital with Ms. Whalon about 2:30 p.m. Tuesday. He should have returned to Wharton about eight hours later.

When he had not returned by midnight, Machala alerted law enforcement agencies across the state and sent officers to search the route Davidson would have taken.

Machala said the deputy was driving a standard sheriff's patrol car with a wire mesh cage separating the prisoner from the driver. If Davidson had car trouble, he should have been able to contact authorities via the police radio in the car, Machala said.

Ms. Whalon was arrested Aug. 27 and charged with the suffocation death of her 17-month-old son, whose body was found buried in a garbage bag on her property.

Rusk authorities said she had been found competent to stand trial.

$50,000 jail job expected

COLORADO CITY — A county jail remodeling project costing as much as $50,000 may shortly be authorized by Mitchell County Commissioners.

The State Jail Standards Commission has tentatively agreed to grant an extension on the December deadline for recommended improvements.

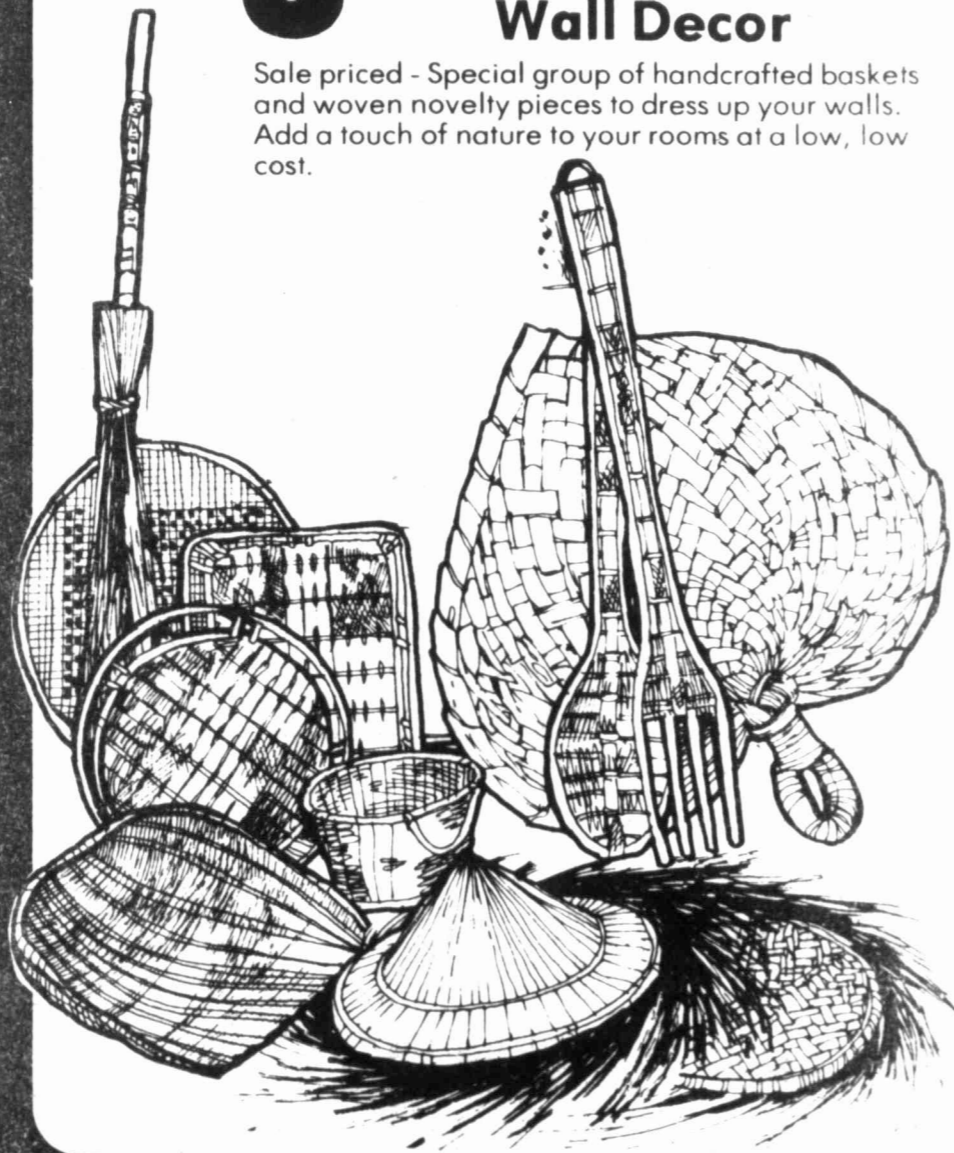

Funding for the project would be derived from the permanent improvement fund, which currently totals about $100,000.

ENERGIZING — Cutting down and conserving energy can mean big savings for homeowners this winter. According to the Water Quality Association, implementing "energizing" measures can offer relief from both inflation and the cold.

Energy tips give the boot to Old Man Winter

He's back. Old Man Winter is returning for his seasonal tour and once again he's blowing into town with his favorite side-kick, Mr. Inflation. Like "The Man Who Came to Dinner," this troublesome twosome are wearing out their welcome as they work double-time, eating up consumers' money and energy.

In fact, with the average home totting up an annual heating, maintenance and cleaning aids bill of almost $1,000, the effects of this trouble-making duo are being felt on everyone's pocketbook.

It's time for attention to be paid, report specialists at the Water Quality Association, who advise that individuals employ special measures to cut down and conserve on home energy consumption.

Using less energy can mean big reductions on heating and utility bills which add up to more money put back into the family cookie jar in time for the holiday gift-giving season ahead.

To keep consumers ahead of these annual trouble-makers the Association offers some suggestions for beating them at their own game. Though some may require an extra expenditure now, they'll pay off in big savings as the team's annual visits add up.

—Insulate attic, basement and walls. The addition of this protective shield keeps heat inside, cold out, and is one of the best ways to make your heater work most efficiently. Though it does require an extra expenditure now, recent surveys show that insulation can actually reduce fuel costs up to 17 percent annually.

And, at year end when temperatures dip to their lowest, homeowners will be warmed further by an energy tax credit the U.S. Government offers to those who opt to insulate.

—Weatherstrip windows and doors, caulk around cracks and crevices, install storm windows and doors. All these help keep out drafts that can make the heater work over-time and increase fuel costs.

Besides dipping into the family savings to "energize," here are some free tips suggested by WQA to reduce consumption:

—Check the thermostat. While the setting of 68 degrees has the Presidential Seal, an additional 3 percent savings can be realized for every degree lower its set. Remember to keep heat-producing appliances such as lamps and space heaters away from the thermostat as it can throw it off causing it to work over- or under-time.

—Use soft water. A recent study conducted by the Water Quality Association shows that when hardness minerals are removed from the hot water heating systems, up to one-quarter savings can be realized on home water heating bills.

Because the softened water helps prevent limescale from building up in the water heater, it can work at maximum efficiency using minimum energy.

—Take showers instead of baths. The average bath uses up to 35 gallons of hot water while a quick shower consumes only about 7 gallons. And, if the water has been softened, consumers can save further on items like shampoo and soaps as less amounts are required for working up a lather.

—When cooking with gas, be sure the flame is blue. A yellow flame indicates an excess amount of gas is being used. To save energy on electric ranges, turn burners off a few minutes before food is done cooking, the burners will stay hot enough to finish the job.

—Use the oven whenever possible. Once an oven heats to its set temperature, it automatically shuts off, working only part time to cook food. And, remember, every time the oven door is opened, 20 percent of the heat escapes. So, no peaking!

Thanksgiving luncheon is held at Canterbury

The Sew and Chatter Club held its annual Thanksgiving luncheon Nov. 12, at Canterbury Apartments, with 14 members in attendance.

Table decorations were dried fall arrangements, miniature turkeys and pumpkins.

Mrs. Allie Moore, president, presided at the business meeting. A letter was read from the chairman of the Railroad Centennial Celebration. A discussion followed concerning club plans for the celebration. An invitation was read from Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Daniel who will celebrate their 50th Wedding Anniversary Nov. 30, at the First Baptist Church Parlor, from 2-4 p.m.

Mrs. Neva Clinkscales led the group on a tour of Canterbury.

The next meeting will be the annual Christmas covered dish luncheon and party at the home of Mrs. Adele Tibbs, 1606 Wood, at noon, on Dec. 10.

Smokers: Here's Your Chance to Quit

DEAR READERS: Tomorrow will be the fourth annual Great American Smokeout. It's a good-humored, upbeat effort to encourage smokers to give up cigarettes for 24 hours — just to prove to themselves that they can. It's sponsored by the American Cancer Society on the theory that anyone who is able to quit for 24 hours can quit forever.

According to the Gallup organization, in 1979 nearly 15 million Americans attempted to give up cigarettes on Smokeout day. Five million succeeded for the full 24 hours; one to three days later, 2.3 million said they had cut down considerably.

Natalie Cole, who describes herself as a "moderate" smoker, is the 1980 honorary Smokeout chairperson. She has vowed to set a national example by quitting permanently on November 20. She admits she's tried to quit several times, but failed. Natalie's father, the beloved Nat King Cole, died of lung cancer in 1965. He was a heavy smoker.

Sammy Davis Jr., the national honorary chairman in 1977, tried to go without smoking for 24 hours, but he couldn't make it.

Ed Asner, a lifelong heavy smoker, quit the habit permanently when he became the honorary chairman in 1978. He accepted the chairmanship again in 1979 and is still clean.

So, if you're hooked on cigarettes and have been meaning to quit, why not start tomorrow — for just 24 hours? It won't be easy, but it will be the best present you can give yourself — and those who love you.

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful hairdresser with whom I have a standing appointment once a week. I am a busy woman and like to get in and out of the beauty parlor as quickly as possible. My problem is that my hairdresser is a chatty person, and he talks with his hands! He just about drives me crazy, wasting all that time gesturing. How can I tell him to work with his hands, not talk? No names, please. I need him more than he needs me.

DEAR IN: It's time you did a little talking. With the voice, lady.

Fund-raising dances are scheduled by Elks

The Elks Innerlodge and Entertainment Committee, chaired by Morris Robertson and Walt Ussery, met Nov. 13.

Plans for fund-raising dances to be held at the local lodge Nov. 22 and 29 were discussed. Featured entertainers will be Amos and Don Tolle. The public is invited to attend from 9 p.m.-midnight.

Tickets will sell for $2.50 at the door. All proceeds will go to the Youth Activities Fund.

It was announced that the Innerlodge's Christmas Bazaar opened Nov. 15 and will continue through Dec. 15. All proceeds will go directly to the Hospital for Handicapped Children at Odine, Tex.

For further information, call 263-7306 or 267-8164.

Mini-conference held Elderly needs examined

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. — A survey conducted at the Rural Mini-Conference on Aging here revealed that better in-home services, adequate income, proper nutrition, and improved transportation systems were the major concerns of the 125 delegates attending the conference.

Physical well-being and energy related problems were also main targets of concerns for the delegates, who came from Texas, Arkansas, Missouri, Kansas, Missouri, New Mexico and Oklahoma. Venora Williams attended from Big Spring.

That the problems are not being fully addressed was brought out by Richard Conn, the President's Counselor on Aging in Washington, D.C.

In addressing the delegates, he said, "Some persons have the pernicious notion that old people on the whole are not too badly off. They decry the 'graying' of the budget, which has brought a measure of relief to rural elderly, and seek to divert funds for their own pet projects."

Sylvia Hoagland, Secretary of the Kansas Department on Aging pointed to the conference as a method of bringing the needs of rural elderly to the attention of federal and state officials. In a keynote address, she said, "Meetings like these provide the grassroots input to elected officials and service providers that keeps them informed as to the actual needs and the effectiveness of current service delivery systems."

The delegates expressed the notion that availability of in-home services and ability to keep pace with inflation were the two most pressing problems. With more in-home services, older persons would be able to remain in their homes longer and avoid premature institutionalization.

The cost to the nation, they pointed out, is nearly three times higher for institutionalization.

The cost to the nation, they pointed out, is nearly three times higher for institutionalized care than for delivery of in-home services.

Income was closely associated with employment opportunities, and the delegates stated a need for expanded availability of jobs, such as through the Green Thumb Senior Community Service Employment Program.

By being provided with these employment opportunities, older persons earn additional income, retain their self-esteem, and continue to contribute in a productive manner as they have been doing in the past.

The conference was conducted by Green Thumb, Inc., a federally-funded employment program for rural senior Americans, and by Oklahoma's Special Unit on Aging, Carl Larson, President of Green Thumb, led the conference activities.

TWEEN 12 and 20

Few teens lead the wild life

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: My letter might surprise you, but I'd like to apologize for my generation. I'm a senior in high school and I'm sick of the "sex, drugs and rock 'n' roll" philosophy of today's teens.

I don't drink, smoke, take drugs or indulge in sex. I prefer country and western music to loud car-busting acid rock. Do you think there are other teens who feel the same way that I do? — Mike, Torrance, Calif.

Mike: You have no need to apologize for all teens. Believe me, there are more teens who feel the same way that you do than teens who practice the wild life. It's unfortunate, but the wild ones get most of the publicity.

really enjoy his friendship and that you care a great deal about him but that you do have a steady boyfriend.

Keeping quiet will only give him false hope and will eventually hurt him. Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Murder suspect sought, $5,000 reward offered

Rewards totaling $5,000 are being offered and composite drawings of a possible suspect are being circulated following the slaying of Harold Judy, the newspaper sales representative whose body was found Sept. 20th, near Datil, N.M. He had been shot in the chest. He had been missing since Sept. 11.

A $3,000 reward is offered by Judy's employer,

HAROLD JUDY, MURDER VICTIM

Berkley-Small, Inc., of Mobile, Ala., and a $2,000 reward is being offered by the Crime Stoppers, Inc., of New Mexico. Both rewards are for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Judy's killer or killers.

Information for the composites was provided by three persons who read newspaper reports of the search and who had seen Judy's missing motor home and were able to describe one of the occupants.

Judy was a western sales representative for Berkley-Small, Inc., a Mobile, Ala., based company and the major supplier of circulation products to the newspaper industry. He covered the states of Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico.

On business trips Judy traveled in his 23' Open Road motor home, a beige vehicle with brown striping bearing the Colorado license number SS 2589 and with "B S EXPRESS" and the Berkley-Small name lettered on the right side. The vehicle, occupied by two men, was spotted several times, first in Arizona and then in California.

Judy worked at the Danville (Ill.) Commercial News for 27 years with assignments as sports editor, promotion manager, operations manager and employee relations manager.

He held offices in the International Newspaper Promotion Association and had been a member of the Associated Press Writers Association and the Golf Writers Association. He joined Berkley-Small in 1977. He was 53. His wife, Barbara, and their son, Scott, will continue to reside in Littleton, Colo.

Persons with information pertaining to Judy's death should contact: Detective William Garcia, Criminal Investigation Division, New Mexico State Police, 3000 E. University Avenue, Las Cruces, N.M., 88001, (505) 522-2222.

KILLER OF JUDY? The above composites of the murder suspect are based on descriptions from three witnesses.

Dahart considered for MX base

WASHINGTON (AP) — Dahart, Texas, is under consideration as a support base in the unlikely event that part of the proposed MX missile system is located in the state, the Air Force has announced.

A base at the Texas Panhandle town is included as one of eight options being studied by the Air Force in the MX draft environmental impact statement scheduled for release next month.

Six of the eight options locate the entire system in the Nevada-Utah desert, which the Air Force has described as the preferred location for the massive system.

The seventh analysis included in the report considers locating the entire system of 200 missiles and 4,600 shelters in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

In that case, the proposed support bases would be at Dahart and at Cannon Air Force Base in Clovis, N.M.

The eighth analysis considers split-basing, or placing half the system in Utah-Nevada with a base at Coyote Spring, Nev., and the other half in Texas-New Mexico with a support base at Clovis.

Lt. Col. Mike Terrill, spokesman for the mobile missile system, said the draft statement also analyzes a ninth possibility of taking no action at all.

After the proposal generated criticism in Utah and Nevada, Congress ordered the Air Force to at least examine alternatives.

The schedule for the public hearings has not been announced.

Seven charged in 'one of biggest arson rings'

HOUSTON (AP) — Seven people have been charged with multiple counts of arson in Pasadena and Houston in "one of the biggest arson rings ever broken" in the metropolitan area, authorities said.

Pasadena Fire Marshal E.C. Summers said Tuesday the arrests culminated a 1 1/2-year investigation by his department, the Houston Fire Department's arson division and the Harris County District Attorney's special crimes division.

"This is the biggest arson ring that I've seen in this area," said arson investigator Sterling Jones, who has been with the Houston fire department 18 years.

Arrested on charges of arson were Henry D. Womble, 65, a Houston vending machine distributor; Charles J. Lunsford, 45, of Houston; and Neil F. Moss, 43, address unknown, Summers said.

The three were named Nov. 13 in sealed indictments, accusing them of burning two game rooms. Each was charged with two counts of arson and released Tuesday on $20,000 bond.

Also arrested and charged with two counts of arson were Henry A. Caldwell, 21; Rodney J. Ryans, 18; and Earl H. Conz, 49, all of Houston. They were released on bonds ranging from $2,000 to $55,000, Summers said.

The indictment alleged the trio conspired in the June 2, 1979, burning of a home and allegedly set fire June 26 to another game room.

A 16-year-old male also was arrested, Summers said.

"These were insurance jobs," Summers said.

'Skeet' Raybon is promoted

Michael L. "Skeet" Raybon of Andrews, an oil field sales engineer for the Tretolite division of Petrolite Corp., has been promoted to district manager of the Midland North sales district.

Raybon joined Tretolite as a field sales representative in Hobbs, N.M., in 1973. He has served in the Big Spring, Texas, territory since 1978. Raybon and his family reside at 602 Northwest 16th St., Andrews.

Energy companies commit $1.4 billion for oil leases

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Energy companies wanting to search for oil and natural gas in the western Gulf of Mexico have committed more than $1.4 billion for federal leases.

A total of 101 companies submitted 268 bids Tuesday totalling more than $3.5 billion on 74 of 81 tracts put up for lease by the U.S. Interior Department's Bureau of Land Management.

The bid opening coincided almost to the day with the 33rd anniversary of the first far offshore oil discovery in the Gulf of Mexico on Nov. 14, 1947.

The apparent high bids totalled $1,436,448,959 — including a highest of all $169,004,160 by Mesa Petroleum Co. and Texaco Inc. for exploring 5,760 acres off the Texas coast between Brownsville and Corpus Christi.

Mesa and Texaco had to outbid eight other companies or groups of companies for the costliest of the leases. That same general area — about 40 to 50 miles offshore in water between 200 to 250 feet deep — also produced the next highest bids.

Superior Oil Co. and Sohio Petroleum Co. outbid four others with $108,215,000 on 5,760 acres. Gulf Oil Corp. and General American Oil Co. outbid seven others with $81,365,000 for the same acreage in the same general area.

The U.S. Geological Survey estimated the parcels bid on Tuesday might produce 7.58 million barrels of crude oil and 524.96 billion cubic feet of natural gas.

Neither Mesa nor Texaco could be reached for an immediate estimate of what their costly parcel might produce. Texaco representatives at the bid opening left the Louisiana Superdome immediately afterwards.

While Tuesday's sale of 458,308 acres did not exceed the $2.8 billion bid in September for about twice as many parcels, some oilmen considered the total proportionately comparable. Oilmen bid on 147 of the 192 parcels offered in the September sale.

The new exploration area extended from High Island, near the western Louisiana border, to Padre Island, just north of the Mexican border. Most of the 81 tracts offered this time are a mile square and some are as far out as 120 miles.

Twenty-two of the tracts were offered on a new bidding formula by which the government gets a fixed share of the net profit if drillers strike oil or natural gas.

Ten tracts — including the three which brought the highest bids — were offered for a flat cash payment plus future royalties on a sliding scale basis, depending on the amount of oil or gas produced.

Eleven were offered for a cash payment, called a bonus, plus a fixed royalty of 33 and one third percent.

The remaining 38 tracts were offered on a conventional basis — a cash payment plus a royalty of 16 and two-thirds percent of production.

The leases are for as long as the wells produce, but companies may lose their lease if drilling hasn't begun after five years.

Coahoma school trustees discuss grades reporting

COAHOMA — Coahoma school trustees approved the district's general audit for 1979-80 and the ESEA Title I program for the period of July 1, 1977, through Sept. 30, 1980, when they met in regular session here Monday evening.

The board also discussed grades reporting and attendance for all schools, the renovation of the football stands and moved the starting time of the December meeting from 7:30 p.m., until 8:45 p.m., to avoid conflict with the elementary school Christmas program.

Bids on the renovation of the football stands will be acted upon at the December meeting.

Trustees also discussed the National School Board Convention, which will be held in April, and the Pre-Legislative Seminar on School Finance scheduled Dec. 5 in Austin and approved the resignation from the staff of Mrs. Shirley Bradshaw.

Alfred Eisenstaedt: A photographic legend

By MARGERY BYERS
Smithsonian News Service

For a man who did not walk for a year after suffering shrapnel wounds in both legs during World War I, Alfred Eisenstaedt has had a remarkable career — on the run. He is of small stature, just four inches over five feet, but he has built a towering reputation as a photojournalist for LIFE magazine.

Born in 1898 to well-to-do German parents, he was given a camera as a teenage birthday present but soon lost interest. His parents' wealth diminished with post-World War I inflation, and Eisenstaedt sold buttons and belts for a Berlin wholesale firm. Again becoming fascinated by photography, he sold his first picture in 1927 and, two years later, became a full-time professional.

He emigrated from Nazi Germany in 1935, became one of LIFE's original four photographers and has remained with the magazine through more than four decades. Now in his eighties, it would seem appropriate that he be addressed formally. "I feel funny if people call me Mr. Eisenstaedt," he protests. "Most people call me Eise and a few call me Alfred; it doesn't matter as long as they don't call me Mr. Eisenstaedt."

But when Henry Ford asked to be called by his first name, Eisenstaedt simply could not do that. Ford insisted. "It was the first time in my life I felt uncomfortable," Eisenstaedt recalls, "and I could more easily call President Carter Jimmy."

"Eise did not invent photojournalism, but it must have been invented for him," Ralph Graves, editorial director of Time Inc., says. "The pictures and stories and essays and covers that he has shot for LIFE over 44 years are so many and so familiar that he would be entitled merely to bask in the afterglow. Instead, he wakes up every morning wondering what pictures he will be able to shoot today. That's why he is still a wonderful photographer, not just a famous name."

Although he has traveled the world on assignment for LIFE, Eisenstaedt first returned to Germany with his camera in 1979 and again this year. His German was somewhat rusty, but his eye was as discerning as ever. An exhibition of his work contrasting the Germany of the 1930s with that of the present is being shown at the Smithsonian's National Museum of American Art (formerly the National Collection of Fine Arts) through Jan. 4 under the sponsorship of United Technologies Corporation. These 93 black-and-white photographs — historical, poignant and humorous — include as subjects Marlene Dietrich and Joseph Goebbels in the 1930s and Max Schmeling in both 1931 and 1980.

A master of candid photography and portraits, Eisenstaedt has a prodigious memory, an inquiring mind, a quick step and a determination to keep working. In his small windowless office in New York, he is surrounded by the extraordinary creativity of a lifetime. "I'm sitting here like a spider in a web," he says with satisfaction.

On one wall is a black-and-white photograph of John F. Kennedy inscribed in 1961 to "Alfred Eisenstaedt — who makes the hard look easy." This, the official photograph for the inauguration, was the result of typical Eisenstaedt enterprise. Photographing a story on ponds, he found himself near Hyannisport after the election and suggested to his office that

HAVE NO FEAR — These are two of the 93 black-and-white photographs by Alfred Eisenstaedt on display at the National Collection of Fine Arts in Washington, D.C., Oct. 31-Jan. 4, 1981. At left, Marlene Dietrich was photographed at a 1928 Berlin ball with actress Anna May Wong and Leni Riefenstahl, actress and director known for her propaganda films of the 1930s on the visit the president-elect. "I got that picture because of frogs," he says with a grin. His 2,500 LIFE assignments produced 90 covers. "When the old LIFE was in existence, it was an absolutely fantastic and very glamorous career," he says today. "We photographers really were an elite corps. We had entree and we were somebody."

Assigned to do a story on Hollywood stars in 1938, he was given ego-building advice by the LIFE picture editor. "The gist of it," he recalls, "was that I was not to be in awe of these movie queens and that I was a king in my profession. Because of that, I'm not in awe of anyone, whether a king or a president or a board chairman."

That advice has served him well. His books of autographs, begun in 1934, are a fascinating record of the notables of this century — Haile Selassie and the Shah of Iran, Shirley Temple and Charlie Chaplin, Lauritz Melchior and Leopold Stokowski, Dwight D. Eisenhower and Ronald Reagan, Rachel Carson and Jonas Salk, Laurence Olivier and Marlon Brando, Gloria Vanderbilt and Henry Kissinger.

In 1975, Cloris Leachman was exuberant when she was added to Eisenstaedt's gallery. "Oh, Alfred," she wrote, "I've been waiting for you for so long. I'm just happy that you have had the chance to practice on so many people before me."

That he has. In 1932, he "wooded" vegetarian George Bernard Shaw with the best-looking bunch of bananas he could find — and a portfolio of his work. The tactic was so successful that Shaw played the piano for him.

During a long wait for Winston Churchill at his country home, Eisenstaedt was pacified with tea and a shirt. Then Eisenstaedt, proud of his own lean physique, put on a virtuoso performance which, remarkably, he can repeat today.

Asking for a pocket knife, he flexed his biceps and dropped the open blade onto his rock-hard flesh. It bounced off, producing not even a nick. "Look, a little Papa!" an impressed Hemingway cried.

All was reasonably serene until he noticed Eisenstaedt shifting his feet to avoid the 33 cats and two dogs. With a glass in his hand, he very slowly approached Eisenstaedt until his huge head was only two inches from the photographer's face. "Do you like cats?" he asked ominously. "I lied, naturally," Eisenstaedt says. "I told him, I love cats but, Papa, they move my tripod and change my focus!" The animals were banished.

Although his photographs often reveal a subject's personality and mood, Eisenstaedt does not sneak pictures and, almost always, is welcomed back as a friend. He has photographed Sophia Loren and Carlo Ponti many times, and she remains one of his favorites. The feeling is mutual.

When People magazine wanted a photograph of the Pontis with their children in Paris, the answer was a firm "no" unless Eisenstaedt was assigned. He was greeted with the usual kiss on both cheeks. "Come right in my bedroom," Sophia said. "You've sat on my bed I have."

Always health-conscious, Eisenstaedt does not drink, smoke or take pills. He goes to bed early and usually rises by five in the morning. On Saturdays, all year round, he drives to Long Island's Jones Beach to walk on the sand.

He enjoys music, and horticulture has been a longtime hobby. Years ago, John Hay Whitney was showing him his enormous greenhouses, and Eisenstaedt suggested that several plants would be good for his greenhouse. "Take what you want," Whitney offered. "How big is your greenhouse?" Unabashed, Eisenstaedt said it was 18 inches high and 30 inches long — a fish tank.

"Of all the LIFE photographers, Eise is outstanding in praise of other photographers — not a prominent commodity among actors, photographers or musicians," Doris O'Neil, curator of vintage prints at Time Inc., says. "He's very generous with new photographers and old colleagues, and part of his secret of staying young is responding to new things."

O'Neil remembers being invited to a luncheon one winter day at Eisenstaedt's sister-in-law's and, with New York almost immobilized by a snowstorm, she expected the date to be cancelled. When Eisenstaedt arrived to pick her up, she noticed that his eyes were bloodshot. As if it were the most normal thing in the world on a bitter day, he had been on the roof of a Brooklyn tenement photographing the return of homing pigeons. "Time and the river go by," she says admiringly, "but Eise flows on."

Although the wiry, agile Eisenstaedt seems immortal, he has given all his negatives to Time Inc. "When I'm dead and in heaven," he says, "I won't have to worry about my negatives because they'll be nicely protected."

Unlike many people, he has no regrets about his choice of a career. "If I could be reborn," he says, "I'd like to be a photographer for the old LIFE."

DALLAS (AP) — Tom Landry is always his grimmest when the sub-500 teams show up on his schedule.

Forsan takes pair from GC

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffalo and Buffalo Queens basketball teams got off to impressive starts in the 1980-81 season here Tuesday evening, thrashing Garden City in a pair of games.

The Forsan boys erupted in the second quarter in racing to a 66-17 win. After holding a 16-8 lead after one stanza, the Forsan boys outscored their Garden City counterparts by 26-2 in the second period to all but ice the game.

Forsan was led in the scoring by Andress Alcantar, who had 15 points, Ricky Bedwell, David Harrell and Robert Eggleston chipped in with 10 each. Duane Hirt had five for Garden City.

In the varsity girls game, a big second quarter also allowed the Forsan team to take complete control of the contest in smoking to a 79-29 win.

The Forsan girls, who are the defending district champions and return most of their players from last year, were led by Christi Adams' 25 points. Carla Cregar added 14 and Lavonne Brumley 13 for the Buffalo Queens. Anita Jansa scored 16 for the Garden City girls.

Forsan also won the girls JV game by a count of 55-11. Vicki Baggett and Carla Nix had 14 and 10 points, respectively, to pace Forsan.

Heisman nearing

The Downtown Athletic Club of New York in its infinite wisdom soon will award another Heisman Trophy. This one will go to the outstanding college football player during part of the 1980 season.

It's had enough that the DAC will announce the 1980 Heisman winner on Dec. 1 — before the Notre Dame-Southern Cal and Florida-Florida State games have been played. All are ranked teams and just might have someone worthy of the Heisman, wouldn't you think?

But to make matters even worse, the DAC has announced that the voting will close at 5 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 28. With the U.S. Postal Service being what it is, that means any ballots not yet in the mail may not get anywhere by Nov. 28.

Would you care to guess which highly regarded Heisman candidates play that weekend? Only Hugh Green of Pitt, James Brooks of Auburn, Herschel Walker of Georgia, Jim McMahon of Brigham Young and UCLA's Freeman McNeil and Kenny Easley.

Also scheduled for action in the 19 regular-season games on tap after the Heisman deadline will be such teams as Penn State, Alabama, Arkansas, Houston, Navy, Oklahoma and Texas.

Hawks blast Sul Ross JV's

By NATHAN POSS Sports Editor

In what has to be politely considered as a laugher, the Howard College Hawks did just about whatever they wanted to here Tuesday night in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, racing to a 104-55 win over the hustling but hapless Sul Ross JVs in a non-conference battle.

The Hawks scored the first eight points in the contest and increased that margin to 23-8 after eight minutes. At this point, Howard College Coach Harold Wilder began freely substituting his reserves, but the rout was to continue.

The game was billed Free Movie Pass night, with the first 500 people entering the coliseum receiving a ducat allowing them to enter a local theatre either Wednesday or Thursday without admission. To add to the draw, the halftime festivities featured both a male and a female slam dunk contest, with Rick Mound and Renee Kelley winning the competition. And these two, coupled with the free movie pass, no doubt proved to be more intensely exciting than the game itself.

But even with the runaway score, both the Hawks and the fans enjoyed the action on the court, as it gave the crowd and Wilder a chance to observe some of the lesser used performers in action.

After charging on to a 47-21 halftime lead, the rout continued, regardless of who played for the Hawks. Sean Mound, a freshman from Ruidoso, received the magic honor of cracking the 100-point barrier for Howard College, with his layup with three minutes remaining giving the Hawks a 100-44 lead. And with everyone playing at least five minutes in the contest, the entire team got into the scoring act. It was finalized in grand fashion when freshman Bill Wigington from Sands worked his way off the Hawks patented "star" play and hooked a shot off the glass from 10 feet out on the right side in the waning seconds.

Randy Corker led the Hawks in the scoring column with 24 points, with Ron Akins adding 16 and Kenneth Jones 12. Crushon Loving scored only three points, but was impressive with his passing game to set up easy buckets in the early going.

David Tandy had 21 points to help Sul Ross achieve an amount of respectability. Although it wasn't a stern test, Wilder was pleased with the win which raised the Hawks record to 4-2. "I'm happy with the way everything went," he said after the game. "We accomplished what we wanted, and that was to let everyone get a lot of playing time and have a good time."

The Hawks return to action on Saturday night at nine o'clock, at which time they host Western State of Oklahoma. That contest will follow the championship game of the Hawk Queens Classic.

HOWARD COLLEGE (104) — Akins 7; 2-16; Corker 10-42; Jones 5-21; Fabian 4-9; Loving 1-13; Hall 2-0-4; Johnson 1-2-4; Hirsch 4-8; Adams 1-6-2; Mound 3-10; Word 1-2-4; Wallace 2-0-4; Chaffield 1-0-2; Wigington 1-0-2; TOTALS 104-55
SUL ROSS JVs (55) — Cobb 3-8-9; Tandy 9-21; Mundy 5-15; Skinner 1-1-3; Walker 1-0-2; Sewell 0-1-1; Montgomery 1-0-2; Starkweather 1-2-2; Lange 0-1-1; TOTALS 55-104
Halftime Score: Howard 104, Sul Ross 55-21.

Four Steer spikers honored

Two Big Spring Steer volleyball team members were named to the First Team All-District squad, in 5-AAAAA while one was named Sophomore of the Year and another earned honorable mention status.

Linda Magers, a senior, and Elise Wheat, a junior, were the Big Springers named to the league's First Team. They were joined by Ruthie McDivitt, Lori Kelly and Jeanne Bryant of district champion San Angelo, Landra Siseros and Kathleen Teague of Midland High, Laurie Brown and Leann Hill of Abilene Cooper, Mandi Forrest of Odessa, Lori Breeding of Midland Lee and Sayle Durham of Odessa Permian.

Big Spring's Shell Rutledge was named the Sophomore of the Year, while McDivitt was honored as the Most Valuable Player. Nita Vannoy of San Angelo was named the Coach of the Year.

Big Spring's Pam Caudill, a junior was named to the league's Honorable Mention squad. She was joined by Erma Reyes of San Angelo and Rachel Garza of Abilene.

San Angelo represented the district well in the playoffs, winning bi-district over Sherman before losing in the regionals to Arlington Bowie.

Win over San Angelo brightens Steer future

Though a 3-7 record won't make opposing coaches and teams shudder with respect, it's definitely an improvement for the Big Spring Steers as the local gridders hang up their pads from the 1980 season until spring training rolls around next May.

The record, compiled in Coach Ralph Harris' first year at the helm, is deceiving in more than one way to those not close to the Big Spring program, too.

For one, it's three times as many wins as the BSHS team had managed in 1978 and 1979 combined, and as many wins as the local football program had managed from the years 1976-79.

For another, there will be plenty of performers from this year's squad back, as the Steers usually started 14 or 15 underclassmen, with the entire starting backfield of quarterback Tracy Spence and running backs Bobby Earl Williams and Richard Evans returning.

Another positive aspect of the mental factor for future success for Steer grid teams is that they have been through yet another learning period in adapting to a new offensive and defensive philosophy.

"We'll definitely get more balance in what we do offensively," said Harris. "We'll have two backs next year (Williams and Evans) that will be as good as any in the district, if not the best, and it will force people to stop that threat, which will open up the passing game. Plus, our offensive line knows what they're doing now, as well as quarterback Tracy Spence. It all will help."

"We need to get a more coordinated defense, but that will come in age," Harris said. "But, as Harris stated the morning after the San Angelo win and again yesterday afternoon after he and I returned from Odessa and the All-District selection meeting, a big part in the success of the Big Spring football team next year will be mental."

And in mental, the meaning here is confidence in what you're doing and in one's self.

"Our program has not arrived until we play the quality people like we're capable," he said. "And that's my job as far as getting us ready to play them mentally, as well as physically. The kids must realize that the people that beat our brains out are not that much better than us. We can play with them, and we can beat them if we play like we're capable."

"A big part of what hurt us this year is that many times against the very good teams some of our players didn't play the way our scheme was set up," the Steer football boss continued. "But against the average teams, they would. As a coaching staff, we've got to convince them that they can beat the quality people with what we're doing."

"What it comes down to," he said as we drove out of Odessa, "is that we've got to clean up our act. We've got to make sure our players take care of our own business, and the rest will fall into place."

"When we do that," he continued, "there won't be an easy team on the district schedule for anyone, because I don't see San Angelo staying down for too much longer, either."

Hawk Queens Classic boasts outstanding field

The second annual Hawk Queen College Classic gets underway tomorrow afternoon when the Odessa College Lady Wranglers tangle with Cisco JC in what promises to be the first of many outstanding games in the prestigious event.

The college classic, which brings the very best in the state of Texas in girls junior college roundball, will feature the above schools, as well as Tyler, Western Texas, Howard College, Temple, Weatherford and Schreiner.

So strong is the field that seven of the eight teams entered made it to their respective regional tournaments last year, with Howard, Odessa, Western Texas, Temple and Tyler at one time or another being ranked in the top 20 nationally in the juco ranks.

Odessa College, the defending Region V champs, lost many of their top performers, but returns a pair of dandies in Jackie Skinner and Tanya Wells. Coupled with these two sophomores are outstanding newcomers Karen Enderle, Jasar Okenfuss and Cheryl Horton.

Cisco has started out slow under first year Coach David Land, but are rapidly improving. A big blow was dealt when their star player, Valencia Douglass, was kicked off the team, but big Mitzi Henderson is back.

The Temple Leopardettes lost All-American Rose White, but should be just as strong as last year's impressive team with the addition of some excellent outside shooters.

Weatherford made it to the semifinals of the Region V Tournament last year before bowing to Howard College, and 6'1" Darla Finch gives the Coyotes hopes for a similar year. Adding help will be outstanding newcomers Paula Jefferson and Kay Cole.

Western Texas is always outstanding, and coming off a 26-10 record last year and returning Linda Holubec and Shari Teal, Coach Joe Cushing expects another fine season.

Cushing recruited a pair of very solid players in Valerie Wells and Cindy Maddox, and won't be too cocky in describing his team.

"We'll be somewhere between fair and good," said Cushing.

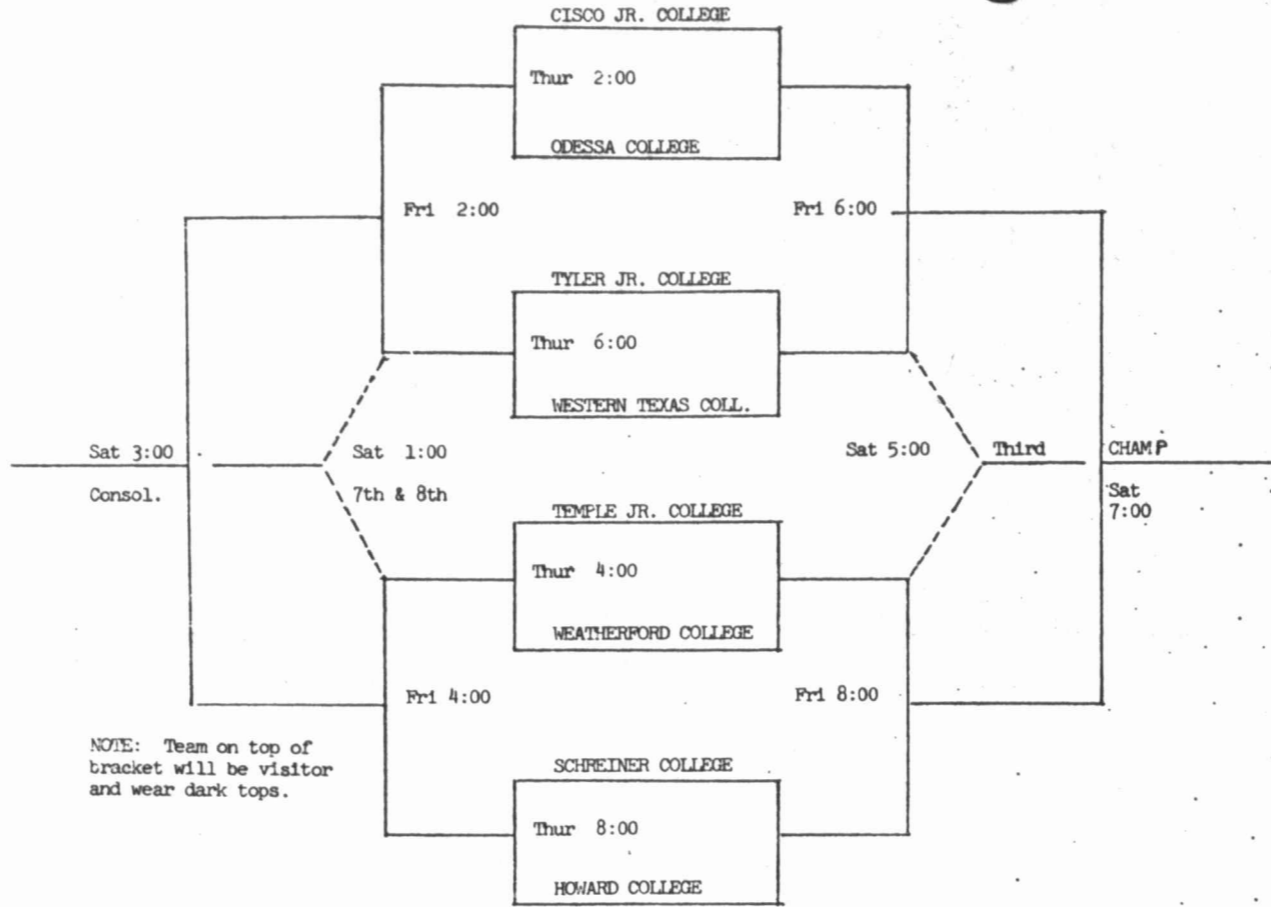

Western Texas' first round foe in the college classic will be the defending tourney finalist, Tyler JC. Coming off a 28-5 year, Coach Floyd Wagstaff's team will no doubt be considered as one of the favorites in the three-day event at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Tyler returns a pair of All-Conference and All-Regional performers in Barbara Archie and Rosie Aldridge, both 5'9" in height. To compound this Tyler duo, an outstanding 6' freshman in Kara Andrey has joined the team.

Howard College is the defending champions, and Coach Don Stevens is hoping for a repeat. But the road will be tough.

His team opens up with Schreiner, and the Hawk Queens are heavy favorites in that match. But after that, Stevens sees the tourney as very well balanced.

"Although Tyler may have to be considered the favorite due to returning experience, I think that realistically speaking, any of the seven teams could win it," Stevens said. I think that Schreiner may be somewhat outmanned, but the rest is wide open. I feel that if our Queens can cut down on their turnovers and put three good games together, we could win this thing again."

BECOMES COWBOYS LEADING RECEIVER — Dallas wide receiver Drew Pearson (88) breaks from the Cowboys huddle hearing the cheering crowd at Texas Stadium Sunday after becoming the Cowboys leading pass receiver. Pearson caught his 366th pass in the fourth quarter against the St. Louis Cardinals, which puts him ahead of the former leader, Bob Hayes.

Allegation involves former Midland coach Dennie Hays and son South San Antonio stripped of district title

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — South San Antonio has been knocked out of the state high school football playoffs because the coach's son — a wide receiver and safety — lived outside the school district.

Coach Dennie Hays said Tuesday the only time his son, Russell, had lived in the district was when he stayed with him last spring in the South San Antonio field house "because I couldn't afford an apartment."

The University Interscholastic League state executive committee declared Hays ineligible on a 7-0 vote.

The ruling required South San to forfeit all games in which Hays played. "We just went from 8-2 to 0-10," said Coach Hays.

The state committee accepted district runner-up San Antonio East Central as the District 29-SA representative in bi-district play Friday night.

Coach Hays, who had served as the head football coach at Midland High the previous two years, pleaded that the district executive committee twice had declared his son eligible. After arguments before the state committee, however, he urged a decision even if it meant South San fans would "roll my head down the street."

"I'll take that — let's go," he said.

Hays told a reporter complaints about his son's eligibility had intensified after South San had defeated East Central, 20-9. South San finished with a 6-1 district record. East Central and Eagle Pass tied for second, with East Central advancing as a result of its victory over Eagle Pass.

District Chairman Reggie West, the principal of East Central, said he certified South San as district

Laker win over Kings, but lose Magic touch

The Los Angeles Lakers won a game — but it may turn out to be a most costly victory.

Magic Johnson, the Lakers' brilliant backcourt leader, suffered suspected cartilage damage to his left knee and had to be helped from the court during the second quarter of the Lakers' 107-94 National Basketball Association victory over the Kansas City Kings Tuesday night.

Dr. Robert Kerlan, the Lakers' team physician, examined Johnson and said the injury was "a suspected Clippers 104-94, the Golden State Warriors topped the Washington Bullets 103-97, the Indiana Pacers beat the Detroit Pistons 102-97, the Houston Rockets outscored the Seattle SuperSonics 138-118, the Milwaukee Bucks defeated the Utah Jazz 126-93 and the Portland Trail Blazers downed the Denver Nuggets 122-103.

Warriors 103, Bullets 97. Golden State won its fourth in a row as guards Lloyd Free and John Lucas combined for 55 points and 13 assists. The Warriors jumped out to a 16-4 lead at the start and never trailed.

Pacers 102, Pistons 97. Centers Clemon Johnson and James Edwards helped Indiana dominate play in the final period as the Pacers handed Detroit its 16th defeat in 20 games. Johnson scored seven points as the Pacers moved from an 81-81 tie to a 92-87 lead midway through the fourth quarter, then Edwards scored five points down the stretch to turn back a late Detroit rally.

SORELY HURT — Los Angeles Lakers star Earvin "Magic" Johnson hobbles toward Lakers team physician Dr. Robert Kerlan after Johnson injured a leg during Tuesday night game against the Kansas City Kings in Los Angeles. Kerlan said he suspected, pending hospital tests, that Johnson may have suffered torn cartilage in his left knee.

tear to the posterior horn of the medial semi-lunar cartilage." X-rays and further tests were scheduled for today to determine the extent of the injury.

"I went to cut, to pick up my man, and the knee said, 'I'm not going with you,'" said Johnson, the second-year man who leads the league in assists and steals and ranks 10th in scoring with 22.4 points per game. "I heard something pop or crack."

In other NBA games Tuesday night, the Philadelphia 76ers beat the New York Knicks 113-99, the Atlanta Hawks topped the San Antonio Spurs 97-93, the Phoenix Suns stopped the Dallas Mavericks 102-91, the Boston Celtics edged the Chicago Bulls 113-112, the Cleveland Cavaliers defeated the San Diego final 4:45 as the 76ers pulled away from the Knicks to win for the 15th time in the last 16 games. The triumph avenged two early season losses to New York and increased their lead over the Knicks to three games in the Atlantic Division.

Hawks 97, Spurs 93. Atlanta broke its 10-game losing streak as Eddie Johnson scored 23 points, including the clinching basket on a baseline jumper with 20 seconds left. George Gervin had 35 for San Antonio, including the Spurs' first 14 points of the game.

Suns 102, Mavericks 91. Len "Truck" Robinson scored 24 points and Dennis Johnson added 23 as Phoenix raised its record to 16-3. The expansion Mavericks, meanwhile, dropped to 3-18, the worst mark in the league.

their fourth consecutive victory. Boston overcame a seven-point deficit in the final period to pull it out.

Rockets 138, SuperSonics 118. Houston raced to a 68-51 halftime lead and coasted past Seattle as Moses Malone scored 33 points and pulled down 16 rebounds. Malone got 23 of his points in the second half to keep the Sonics at bay.

Bucks 126, Jazz 93. Reserve guard Sidney Moncrief scored 21 points and six other Milwaukee players also scored in doubled figures as the Bucks coasted past the Jazz.

Blazers 122, Nuggets 103. Jim Paxson scored 11 points and handed out four assists as Portland raced to a 21-6 lead and the Nuggets never caught up. Paxson finished with 25 points, six assists and four steals.

Steinbrenner, Howser deny reports of firing

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Dick Howser, banker or baseball manager?

Those options appear to still be open for Howser after a day of word-playing Tuesday when he joined New York Yankee owner George Steinbrenner in denying published reports that he had been fired as the Yankee manager.

"I am still the manager of the Yankees," he said shortly before addressing a Florida State University boosters club meeting here. "I haven't been fired, I no one else has been hired. I haven't been replaced."

That statement followed a similar denial in New York from Steinbrenner, who said: "Today's story was completely without fact or basis. In the first place, if Dick Howser makes a decision not to return as (Con't. on Page 6-B) "Steinbrenner"

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, NOV. 20, 1980

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A wonderful day to make an advancement in career activities, but be sure not to force your will on others. You can easily extend your ideas beyond present boundaries now.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Extend your interests so you can gain more profits in the future. Be less demanding of family members. Express happiness.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take the right steps to improve your financial position. A new project needs more study before going ahead with it.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Schedule your activities wisely so you get maximum use of your time. Be sure to use extreme caution in motion today.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can now understand how to improve your financial position so don't waste valuable time.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Go after your finest personal aims and you can easily gain them. Sidestep a foe who could spoil your happiness.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Study your ambitions well now and don't confide in others. Show more affection for mate. Many benefits can come now.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Go after personal aims with more enthusiasm and effort and you can easily gain them. Be alert at all times today.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) You are now able to get the backing you need from a higher-up. Be sure to keep promises you've made to friends.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You can make a good impression on others by showing you are honest and decent. Relax at home tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be more objective in dealing with others where business matters are concerned or you could jeopardize your security.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be sure to keep the promises made to family members. Come to a better accord with associates. Think constructively.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Go after your aims in a positive manner and get excellent results. Contact loyal friends who can be helpful to you.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be capable of comprehending a great deal of knowledge, so give the finest education you can afford and there can be much success. Don't neglect religious tenets that are important to a good way of life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Soviet Union takes pride in development

DUSHANBE, U.S.S.R. 1,675 miles away in Moscow. (AP) — The Aeroflot flight from Moscow cuts across three time zones and passes from the white-skinned world of European Russia to bronze-complexioned Moslem Central Asia.

Yet in this southern Soviet city near China and Afghanistan; the face of Soviet communism is everywhere.

At the airport is a large poster of Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev. The main thoroughfare is Leninsky Prospekt. Huge portraits of the nation's Communist Party leaders hang in the town square, and a bust of Lenin is sculpted into a wall of the Council of Ministers' building.

"It would take a lot of time to speak in detail about all the developments here," Rustambek Yusufbekov, deputy chairman of the Council of Ministers, told a group of visiting Western journalists recently. "From backwardness, we have become a flourishing republic."

All these achievements were made thanks to the friendship of all the Soviet people, especially the Russian people.

Apartment houses specially designed to withstand earthquakes, a thriving textile industry, a hydroelectric plant with a dam nearly 1,000 feet tall or about the height of New York's Chrysler Building, and vast increases in the number of educational and cultural facilities are monuments to change brought by a government.

Abdullah Kalonov, a local holy man, told reporters the number of Moslems in the area was increasing nevertheless. The birthrate in Tadjikistan is reportedly the highest in the Soviet Union. "The old people die and the young people come to take their place," said Kalonov.

Can communism and Islam co-exist in the Soviet Union?

"We don't ask those Moslems who come to the mosque whether they are communists or not," he answered. "There are Moslems in the Communist Party but we don't ask. It is the matter for those people."

Although wounded Soviet soldiers have reportedly been seen in both Dushanbe and Tashkent, the provincial capital of neighboring Uzbekistan, there is apparently little discussion here of the fighting in Afghanistan.

Bench won't retire but wants new role

CINCINNATI (AP) — Johnny Bench, who will be 33 next month, figures he can extend his home run total and lengthen his major league career if he doesn't kill himself catching every day.

He won't seek a trade to the American League, where he could be a designated hitter, he said Tuesday. Instead, he'll try to win a new fielding position with the Cincinnati Reds, catching no more than 50 games next season.

"It's up to the Reds to tell me what glove to bring down (to spring training)," Bench said. "I'm going down with the thought of winning a job down there. I'm afraid I'm going to be going after somebody."

"If I go down and take a position away from somebody, then that's the way it's got to be."

Bench said that 13 years of catching full time in the major leagues was enough, and he didn't want to subject his weary legs and back to additional physical abuse.

Reds president Dick Wagner has said the club would honor Bench's request to catch no more than twice a week, but he wouldn't guarantee that Bench would play when he wasn't catching.

"I'm too young to retire," Bench told reporters at a news conference he had called to announce an end to his dispute with Reds management. "Something will happen...that will enable me to play as much as I want."

Bench said he had compromised and decided to stay in Cincinnati because of personal and business reasons and his affection for the city where he's spent his entire major league career.

He would not say if he had been assured of a position privately, but implied that when he said he knew that the Reds could not publicly say they would trade away another player to create a place for him.

Bench, who has two years remaining on a five-year contract, said he could play four defensive positions other than catcher — most likely first base, third base, left field and right field.

Bench declined to say whose position he coveted most. He said he was not aware of any deal being negotiated, but again implied that some Cincinnati starter would be traded away.

Bench said he's attained most of his goals in baseball, including the record for home runs by a major league catcher and a share of the record for most seasons catching 100 games.

He said thought about retiring, but his 24 home runs this season convinced him that he could still have some productive years if he didn't tax his body so heavily by catching regularly.

Steinbrenner denies reports

Continued from Page 2-B manager, it will be his decision. For that reason, there could not be, and will not be, any firing."

Steinbrenner referred to a story in Tuesday's New York Post that claimed Howser had been fired and was replaced as field manager by General Manager Gene Michael.

"If Michael signed a contract," said Steinbrenner, "he must have done it in a closet by himself. I was 1,000 miles away from him and I did not then, nor have I now, authorized any contract signing. The decision is still in Dick Howser's hands and will be made with his best interests in mind, without any set of rules as has been previously reported. I rather expect that this decision will be coming to a head sometime later this week."

Title lost in housing question

Continued from Page 2-B staffing, he thought the district committee "should be warned it needs to follow" UIL rules. He was referring to the two rulings declaring Hays eligible. Probation, he said, would not carry a penalty.

Sports in brief

Another UT runner injured

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Freshman halfback John Walker, who jumped from Texas' third team to the first as a result of injuries to others, has an infected elbow that is keeping him out of practice for the Baylor game on Saturday.

Texas Coach Fred Akers told the Longhorn Club on Tuesday that Walker had been hospitalized the previous day and is taking antibiotics.

Akers said he had told his squad, "Every time we get a running back out there, you can count on him being hospitalized the following week."

Walker scraped his elbow in Texas' 51-26 victory over Texas Christian last Saturday, and it became infected.

Akers said halfback Carl Robinson and center Mike Babb should be "100 percent" for the Baylor game. They missed the Texas Christian game with injuries.

Akers claimed Baylor supporters are saying the Southwest Conference champion Bears have the best offense and the best defense in the SWC, "and a lot of people don't argue about it."

"We're going to argue about it Saturday," said Akers. "The game does mean a great deal to us."

Akers reminded the Longhorn Club, however, that Baylor had defeated Texas three consecutive times at Waco and added, "It's going to be quite a task" to beat the Bears.

Driver sentenced to jail for beer can incident at title fight

LONDON (AP) — A London truck driver has been sentenced to two months in jail for throwing beer cans at the middleweight title fight between Britain's Alan Minter and Marvin Hagler Sept. 27.

Anthony Henry Jones was convicted after two off-duty policemen told a magistrate that they had seen him throw two cans in the direction of the ring after the fight at the Wembley Arena.

Hagler won the world title by stopping Minter in the third round, prompting a barrage of missiles that forced the new champion to flee the ring.

Judge denies Mason request

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — A Pima County Superior Court judge has denied a request by former University of Arizona football coach Tony Mason to sever his trial from seven other persons on charges of illegal use of recruiting funds.

Mason had asked that his trial be separate because assistant coaches implicated him in the alleged misuse of travel funds, while the coach did not admit to a conspiracy.

A state grand jury indicted Mason, six assistant coaches and American Airlines freight supervisor Michael Hoffman on 88 felony charges in July. They are accused of defrauding the university of $13,000 by charging for recruiting trips that never were taken.

Abdul-Jabbar a father again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A nine-pound, eight ounce boy, Amir Abdul-Jabbar, was born at 5 a.m. Tuesday to Cheryl Pistono and Los Angeles Lakers' center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, according to an announcement distributed by the Lakers at Tuesday night's Kansas City-Los Angeles game.

The 7-foot-2 Abdul-Jabbar, the only six-time most valuable player in the National Basketball season, also has three other children from his 1971 marriage to the former Janice Brown of Los Angeles, who took the muslim name Habiba at their wedding.

Charger Coach Coryell moans about Thursday night

SAN DIEGO (AP) — On the eve of their Thursday night Monday Night Football game against Miami, San Diego Charger coach Don Coryell frets that three days isn't enough time to prepare for the Dolphins.

"We won't get near the preparation we'd like to have," said Coryell, a worry wort under the best circumstances. "I don't think it's fair. But there's nothing I can do about it. If they were coming out here and playing us, we'd think it would be great and it wouldn't be fair to them."

It will be the Chargers second Thursday night contest in two seasons. They took part in the National Football League's first Thursday night game last season, and were defeated by the Oakland Raiders 45-22.

Coryell says he realizes the Dolphins, 6-5, have the same amount of preparation as the Chargers, 7-4, going into the American Conference matchup, except the San Diego team has a 5½-hour flight to fit in today.

"They'll get a full day of practice and meetings," said Coryell of the Dolphins.

"We've got to fly all the way back there and Miami just sits there and waits for us," said Charger offensive coordinator Joe Gibbs.

Because of the shortened game week, the Chargers are expected to be without leading rusher Chuck Muncie for the second straight game. With Muncie still suffering from a knee problem, they will turn to Mike Thomas.

In the Chargers' 20-7 victory over Kansas City last Sunday, Thomas rushed for a 100 yards, the most since his acquisition from Washington last year, and most yards in four years.

"He was a savior," Coryell said. "We have great confidence in Mike. He kept us from a division championship one time. When we had a chance to get him, we got him."

Kentucky early favorite in NCAA college basketball

By The Associated Press
The Kentucky Wildcats will go into the college basketball season as the No. 1 team in the nation.

The Wildcats were accorded that lofty position in The Associated Press preseason poll by a panel of the nation's sports writers and broadcasters after a strong recruiting year for the second straight season by Joe Hall.

Led by 7-foot center Sam Bowie, and peopled with a host of high school All-Americans, the Wildcats collected 30 of 59 first-place votes and 1,131 points in the poll released Tuesday to edge out DePaul for the top spot.

DePaul, which finished No. 1 in last season's final poll, taken before the NCAA playoffs, grabbed 18 first-place votes for 1,072 points.

Louisville, the defending NCAA champion which lost superstar Darrell Griffith, was third in the voting with two firsts and 902 points. Maryland, led by Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year Albert King, was No. 4 with two top votes and 837 points.

Syracuse Coach Jim Boeheim is among those in agreement with the Wildcat's top rating.

"Kentucky has the best talent I've seen in a long time," he says. "They have the top ten players of any team in America. Their second five can beat anybody else's second five by at least 20 points; I think

Boeheim, whose own team was picked for No. 19, added: "I think there are three great teams in the country this year — Kentucky, DePaul and Maryland — and dozens of good ones who all have some kind of talent."

The highest Eastern team in the poll is Georgetown's defending Big East champions, at No. 16, a fact that does not surprise Boeheim.

"The East is not easy to sell in the preseason polls," he says, pointing out that voters tend to go for traditional teams like the Kentuckys, Indiana and UCLAs.

The Top Twenty teams in The Associated Press preseason college basketball poll, with first place votes in parentheses, and season records and total points. Points based on 20-19-18-17-16-15-14-13-12-11-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1.
