TRAFFIC FLOW ISOLATES HISTORIC PRUSSIAN INN
Dr. Carl Schultheis trying to save landmark

For inn with a past Progress is a problem

KING OF PRUSSIA, Pa. (AP) — The location is an innkeeper's dream. So many highways converge here that the road map looks as if a child scribbled on it with a red crayon. This is progress — and a problem.

The limestone door sill at the King of Prussia Inn is scooped hollow by the shoes of wayfarers for two centuries, including the boots of George Washington on his retreat to nearby Valley Forge.

"Progress did the place in, and progress just might be what saves it," Carl Schultheis was saying the other day, standing before the inn's kitchen fireplace, which is big enough to roast an ox and as sturdy as the day it was built, a day in 1769.

Could be. A shopping mall near the inn, already enormous, soon will double in size. Schultheis believes, or at least hopes, that the planners will have to unscramble this spaghetti mess of highways to handle the added traffic. If so, perhaps they will reroute the one that gobbled up the King of Prussia Inn.

The inn, you see, sits smack dab on the median strip of a four-lane monster called Highway 202.

There the inn survives, barely, a lovely old stone structure of two stories, its ancient timbers rattling with each passing truck, its only enemy progress, its only visitors ghosts.

Had it been left to the highway builders, the inn would have been knocked down and paved over when the highway was built in 1956.

A group of local citizens, horrified at the prospect, formed a "Committee to Save the King of Prussia Inn," and did. The committee became the King of Prussia Historical Society, of which Carl Schultheis, 50, is an energetic member.

He grew up 10 miles from here and remembers when the whole area was countryside, probably not much different from the way Washington saw it when he and his men marched down the road that became Highway 202.

"Then came the Pennsylvania Turnpike, then Highway 202, then the huge mall — one of the biggest in the country at the time — and all the other highways, and all of a sudden it seemed, the town of King of Prussia was lost in a concrete maze.

"Until that time the inn had been in continuous operation. Its first owner named it for Frederick the Great, and the town that grew around it took its name from the inn. It was a meeting place, a voting place, a place of rest and refreshment. ... It's a place worth saving."

During the Bicentennial year, the Historical Society began restoration of the inn as a community project.

Some have suggested that the inn be moved to a place that is safer and easier to get to; it's worth your life to get to it now, out on the median strip. Carl Schultheis has some thoughts about that.

"This is where the inn was built, this is where its history was made, this is where it belongs. I say move the highway."

Crisis in Crisfield: no shuckers

CRISFIELD, Md. (AP) — This small town on Maryland's Eastern Shore bills itself as the "Oyster Capital of the World," but there's a crisis afoot that could knock it off the oyster map — Crisfield is running out of shuckers.

The oyster season, which began about the end of September and ends in March, is now at its peak on the Chesapeake Bay, where Maryland watermen last year took 13.5 million pounds of the sweet mollusks worth $17.1 million at dockside.

But the owners of packing houses here in Somerset County say their output is down for lack of skilled people to extract the delectable meat from an oyster's powerful shell.

"We need a new generation of shuckers. Most of the shuckers in the area are 50 years old or older," said Hayes F. Diggs, who owns a packing house in Pocomoke Sound.

Diggs said some packers are operating with about half the number of shuckers they need. One would like to start a night shift, but can't even find enough workers to go full strength during the day.

The shucker shortage looms at a time when the state is experimenting with ways to reverse a recent steady decline in the number of oysters found in the bay to take advantage of growing demand for the seafood.

Twenty-five years ago, oyster shucking was considered a low form of labor. Diggs said. Now it's considered a dying art, he said, and no one has been able to produce a machine to do the handwork.

There are about 2,000 shuckers in Maryland and a top one can handle about 10 gallons, or 2,000 to 2,400 oysters, a day, according to Bob Prior of the state Seafood Marketing Authority. Champion oyster shuckers, in competition, can do a dozen a minute.

The pay is not great — about $150-$175 a week for skilled practitioners — but the oyster season comes at a time of the year when Eastern Shore watermen and farmers are unemployed. The rate of joblessness in this area likely will top 23 percent at mid-winter.

'Too cold to sleep' 265,000 homeless

NAPLES, Italy (AP) — A major international relief operation swung into action Saturday to feed, clothe and shelter tens of thousands of southern Italy's earthquake victims. The wide-ranging help came as winds, snow and torrential rains pounded the area, stricken by the quake a week ago today.

Searchers using specially trained dogs and sophisticated listening devices made three dramatic rescues, two of them children buried alive in Lioni and the third an elderly woman in another town.

"This is a living hell," 65-year-old farmer Antonio Milano told a reporter in Lioni, in hard-hit Avellino province, as he watched soldiers set up tents in a school ground in ankle-deep mud.

"The children are crying constantly because it's too cold to sleep and I have nothing hot to offer them," he said. "For the first time in my life, I realize death might be preferable to a certain type of living."

The Italian military command reported that 2,913 bodies have been recovered and listed 1,548 people missing.

National police in Rome said 2,285 are dead and 1,211 are missing. Authorities said 265,000 people are homeless.

American paratroopers, West German army engineers and Polish mountain climbers were among the foreign personnel pouring in to bolster Italy's 26,000 soldiers pressed into rescue work.

Italian and U.S. helicopters ferried tents and blankets in poor visibility and winds gusting up to 60 mph. Hundreds of Italian volunteers joined troops driving trucks, buses and campers loaded with relief goods over slippery mountain roads to reach the villages.

Nearly 150 American soldiers, including 100 who arrived Saturday from northern Italy, were erecting tents. The United States has contributed 2,000 tents, 20,000 blankets and tons of foodstuffs since an airlift was launched Wednesday.

West Germany sent a mobile hospital with 80 doctors, nurses and technicians, 1,000 tents and other relief material. Seven special trains were bringing in 700 engineers who helped rebuild Italy's quake-stricken Friuli region in 1976.

Steve McQueen story proves his theories, says medic

DALLAS (AP) — In the final months of his life, actor Steve McQueen sought help in his battle against cancer from a man whose dental license has been suspended and whose cancer treatment program was denounced by the American Cancer Society.

Although McQueen died, the man who devised the controversial, unusual therapy program believes the actor's story vindicates his theories.

Dr. William D. Kelley, founder of the International Health Institute in Dallas, prescribed treatment for McQueen that involved Laetrile, injections of animal cells, coffee enemas, rubdowns with castor oil, a positive mental attitude and a vegetarian diet.

However, the international publicity given Kelley's theories because of McQueen's involvement has brought to a boil the simmering dispute within the mainstream medical community over treatment for terminally ill patients.

"Every man is allowed to resort to quackery but a responsible man should not publicize it," said Houston surgeon Dr. Michael DeBakey.

McQueen had mesothelioma, a rare form of cancer that attacks the linings of the body cavities. He died in a Juarez, Mexico, hospital Nov. 7, one day after surgery to remove tumors in his abdomen and neck. The medical report said McQueen died of a heart attack, not cancer.

"When a person's doctor tells him he's going to die, then he has the right to seek other forms of treatment," said Dr. Jeanne Achterberg, psychologist at the University of Texas Health Science Center in Dallas who specializes in working with terminally ill patients.

Standing on the sidelines of that dispute because the orthodox medical community will not accept him or his ideas, Kelley vigorously declines the "unorthodox" label others try to stick on him.

"I'm so orthodox, I stink," Kelley said during an interview at his International Health Institute, north of Dallas.

The American Cancer Society has listed Kelley's theories as unproven and unsound.

His dental license was suspended for five years by the State Board of Dental Examiners in 1976. In addition, the State Board of Medical Examiners took Kelley to court to prevent him from practicing medicine or distributing his book, "One Answer to Cancer."

Kelley claims he cured himself of terminal pancreatic cancer by using nutritional triggers to fire his own body's immune reactions. That, Kelley says, was 18 years ago and the experience drew him out of tooth-straightening into a battle with this nation's medical establishment that has spanned nearly two decades.

Those bouts with the establishment have left him slightly paranoid and before consenting to a recent interview at his Dallas headquarters, Kelley demanded identification proving the reporter was, in fact, a reporter and not a government investigator.

Now it's a race against time

Fires are abating

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (AP) — Erratic Santa Ana winds died down to a light 10 to 15 mph Saturday as a destructive six-day siege of brushfires neared an end. Officials began surveying denuded hills in danger of becoming muddy torrents in winter rains.

Four Southern California fires were still out of control, but all were at least partially contained and firefighters expected few problems in extinguishing them with no additional damage to structures or injury or loss of life.

The latest blaze, the Proctor Valley Fire in southern San Diego County, charred 1,500 acres after breaking out Friday, but was expected to be contained Saturday.

No structures were damaged and no injuries were reported from the Proctor Valley blaze, said state Department of Forestry spokeswoman Vivian Bentkowski. Authorities said the fire began in an area where people were target shooting.

Meanwhile, engineers trudged through smoldering areas and surveyed the land by helicopter as weary fire crews were slowly sent home, said U.S. Forest Service information officer Ken Slater. "The emphasis is shifting from burn control to flood control," he said.

Some 6,000 firefighters were on the lines at the height of the fires, some from as far away as New York.

Workers from the Forest Service and local agencies will begin an effort "as soon as possible" to reseed burned areas, dig earthen channels and clear debris, he said.

"The flood control effort will depend on how the weather holds and the availability of seed — there are thousands of acres to cover," said Forest Service spokeswoman Nancy Upham.

Re seeding must begin without delay, as November through March is the rainy season in Southern California. No measurable rain has fallen in the area since May 20, but there has been above-average rainfall in each of the past three years.

The northeasterly Santa Ana winds, which roared up to 100 mph Monday, blasting out of canyons and pushing 11 brushfires through tens of thousands of acres of brush and timber, subsided to 10 to 15 mph Saturday.

No drugs turn up in search

PECOS, Texas (AP) — Federal narcotics officers were monitoring a plane that crashed here Friday night, killing both passengers, but authorities found no evidence of drugs on board.

"If there was any, it was burned up," a Department of Public Safety spokesman said Saturday.

Ed Alcorn, a spokesman for the Drug Enforcement Administration office in Midland, said the DEA office in Tucson, Ariz., had "been investigating the aircraft."

A National Transportation Safety Board investigator and Federal Aviation Administration officials began their inspection of the crash site Saturday afternoon.

A Reeves County sheriff's spokesman said the victims had not been positively identified by Saturday afternoon.

Ronald Reagan looking west for economic brainpower

WASHINGTON (AP) — President-elect Ronald Reagan is looking westward for the conservative economic brainpower to turn campaign vows into the specifics of government programs.

Losing its clout is the Brookings Institution here, President Carter's favorite "think tank" as well as a pool of talent and a school of thought for gaining Democratic presidents. Earning new stature is the Hoover Institution on War, Revolution and Peace at Stanford University.

Because a president knows whose ideas he's comfortable with, and whose senior fellows he'd like to borrow, a new group of thinkers and planners is on the way to the nation's capital.

In setting up his new administration, Reagan has sought advice from a number of scholars from eastern schools such as Yale and from West Coast institutions such as the University of Southern California.

But the Hoover Institution, set up more than a half-century ago by the president whose name it bears, has more than a dozen representatives — by far the most of any institution or school — on task forces helping plan Reagan's important economic moves.

And many of those scholars and writers are expected to find their way into upper- and middle-level government jobs in the new administration.

Reagan himself "comes here occasionally to meet with our people," Hoover historian Peter Duignan said earlier this year in California. In fact, the institution and the president-elect feel comfortable enough together that he's been made an honorary fellow.

On the other hand, Reagan's people haven't had much to do with Brookings, where Carter was an enthusiastic visitor four years ago.

Carter filled a number of important posts with Brookings people, including economic advisers Charles Schultz and Barry Bosworth. But few at Brookings are expected to be called by the new administration.

Bosworth returned to Brookings some time ago, and Schultz is expected to do the same come Jan. 20. "We're not looking for many of the Carter administration people to come here in January," Brookings information director James Farrell said recently.

Out in California, spokesmen for the Hoover Institution say they do have some Democrats on their rolls.

Action/reaction: Santa coming to town

Q. Will Santa Claus visit any of our malls or stores this year? It's really hard to take our children to Midland or Odessa just so they can see Santa. Please let all of us with small children know if Santa will visit Big Spring prior to Christmas this year?

A. Both Highland Center Mall and the College Park Shopping Center are planning visits from Santa prior to Christmas, but no definite dates have been made by either, according to Randy Mason, president of College Park Merchants Association and Dave Duncan of the Highland Center Mall.

Montgomery Wards has scheduled "Breakfast with Santa" on Dec. 13 and Dec. 20, according to store manager R.A. Gee. Santa will be at the store at 9 a.m., both dates for a complete breakfast and personal visits with area kids. Breakfast will cost $1.49 per child, and that includes scrambled eggs, buttered toast with jelly and hot chocolate, served in a keepsake mug.

Deputy hit by shot

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — Law enforcement officers from three different agencies are investigating the events that led to a Department of Public Safety trooper accidentally shooting a Ector County sheriff's deputy.

The deputy remained in stable condition Friday after being wounded by the trooper as both participated in a high-speed chase Thursday night.

The trooper accidentally hit Deputy Cliff Davis with at least one shotgun blast as he tried to shoot out the tires of the suspect's car, DPS Maj. Ira Dees said Friday.

Davis was hospitalized with wounds in the chest, buttocks, knee and calf.

"We know that the DPS officer shot him. We're not releasing the name of the DPS officer until we finish our investigation sometime next week," said Capt. Gene Kloss of the Odessa police department.

Kloss said the Ector County Sheriff's Department, the Texas Rangers and DPS are investigating the shooting.

"We're almost positive of what happened, but we need to finish our investigation," he said.

Farm, home safety program set Monday

The Knott 4-H Club is interested in launching a county-wide effort toward a farm and home safety project.

The first program in a series will be held at the Texas Electric Service Company's Reddy Room starting at 6:30 p.m., Monday.

All 4-H members in the county are being invited to the meeting. A special invitation has gone out to all people involved in work related to machinery, including tractors, lawn mowers and small tools.

Mary Dale Martin, Area Four representative for John Deere dealers, will be presenting the safety program relating to general household and farm safety procedures.

Ms. Dale is a native of Mission, Texas, and is a 1979 graduate of Texas A&M University. She now resides in Abilene.

Prior to her employment at John Deere in September last year, she worked for the Farmers Home Administration. She is a licensed insurance agent for John Deere and has previously worked in her father's insurance agency in Mission.

The program Monday is being presented through the cooperation of the Fred Bowlin Implement Co., of Stanton, the Knott 4-H Club, the Texas Electric Reddy Room and the Howard County 4-H Clubs.

Pranksters are impeding hunt

LEEDS, England (AP) — Police seeking the Yorkshire Ripper complained today the hunt is being impeded by pranksters leaving ketchup-smear handbags on the streets and hoax calls from people imitating the man responsible for the murders of 13 women since 1975.

Detectives said the hoax telephone calls increased after a television film about Britain's worst mass murderer of modern times was aired by the British Broadcasting Corp. Thursday.

Some of the callers imitated the Ripper's voice, which is well known throughout Britain because of a tape recording the Ripper sent police, taunting them and vowing to keep killing.

"We want people to keep getting in touch but we can do without the idiots," one police officer said. Police said handbags smeared with ketchup were being left on Leeds streets where bobbies patrol, a reminder of a blunder in the investigation of the most recent slaying.

Two constables found the bloodstained handbag of the 13th victim, Leeds University student Jacqueline Hill, 20, about two hours after her death and turned it in as lost property without even making a cursory search of the area. Miss Hill's body was found eight hours later.

Big Spring Lung Association calls Tuesday meet at hospital

The Big Spring Lung Association, formerly known as the Pink Puffers, will meet Tuesday in the classroom of Malone-Hogan Hospital at 7 p.m. Kaki Morton, registered physical therapist from Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center, will discuss exercises that will help patients with lung disease cope with cold weather and winter virus.

Chairman Ken Randall explained the group's decision to rename itself.

"We wanted to identify ourselves more closely with the national group, the American Lung Association," the respiratory therapist said.

Twenty local residents are associated with the support group made up of persons who have lung disease problems. In prior sessions, they have studied general treatments, how to help themselves through diet, and how to cope with problems the lung diseased person confronts when traveling.

'Beauty' treatment available to all

Would you like to know how the beautiful people stay beautiful? Well, some do it by flying regularly to the famed Clinic La Prairie near Montreux, Switzerland, on Lake Geneva, where they undertake a program to regain youth.

The clinic has been in operation for close to 50 years and has treated more than 60,000 patients. Most are famous. All are rich. The roster of clients include Pope Pius XII, Winston Churchill, Marilyn Monroe, Charlie Chaplin and Konrad Adenauer.

ALL GOT old or died trying to retain the image of youth. If you've got an extra $4,000 a week you don't need, you can undertake the same kind of treatment.

The cellular therapy developed by Dr. Paul Niehans, according to Town and Country magazine, involves a series of intramuscular injections of unborn lamb cells into the patient's backside.

Niehans, incidentally, died in 1971 at the age of 89 after a lifetime of healthy, happy living.

"The shots," says the magazine, "are meant to rejuvenate, to slow down the aging process and to be beneficial to those suffering from a myriad of ailments which include stress, menopause, arthritis, impotence and a whole flock of other ailments." They serve to make one feel better, it is the general consensus of those who have undergone the injections. (Maybe the clientele convinces itself that anything that costs $4,000 has to do good.)

One visit to the clinic is supposed to be enough. Some patients come back two to four years later to increase their energy.

It's conceded some jetsetters don't really benefit from the treatment because they don't obey the rules. For 3½ months after treatment, there is a ban on nicotine, alcohol, aspirin, coffee and tranquilizers, and the jet set — let's face it — is a group composed of people who indulge themselves.

That $4,000 weekly fee, incidentally, comes in addition to air fare and hotel expenses.

THE CELLS come from a farm which have a special breed of black mountain sheep, under daily veterinarian care to guarantee perfect health, are bred.

Dr. Christian Barnard, the South African heart transplant pioneer, has consented to direct medical research to further perfect the techniques of live cell transplantation through intramuscular injection.

Now the clinic is expanding production of topical skin-care products that are Swiss-licensed and approved by the Federal Drug Administration in this country.

A few years ago, Dr. Brinkley used a Mexican radio station to advertise the fact that he was offering injections of a different kind to fight impotence and had men by the hundreds flocking across the border to get rejuvenated. He earned the wrath of responsible men of medicine in this country who scoffed at his treatments but he also made millions at it.

Market message

Joseph Kraft

NEW YORK — Normally the stock-market speaks gibberish — at least to me. But at an investment seminar here last week the canyons of downtown Manhattan flashed a clear signal.

The message of the market is that the country can live with inflation at around 10 percent. Whether right or wrong that view is highly relevant to the major choice confronting the Reagan Administration.

BELIEF IN THE inevitability of more inflation seems practically unanimous. Henry Kaufman, the chief guru at Salomon Brothers which organized the seminar, said in the main speech that, "living with, and adapting to, the inflationary process has practically become an American pastime."

"There is a consensus feeling that the inflation problem will not be curbed for some time," says the Money Market Center of the Bankers Trust Co. The Industry Forecast prepared by S. Jay Levy finds that "inflation will continue in the United States as elsewhere. Our consumer price index is likely to rise by an annual average of 10 percent during the next five years."

Still the dominant mood here is buoyant. Last Thursday the Dow-Jones industrial average closed at over 1,000 for the first time in almost four years. Though a rise in interest rates forced a retreat next day, the pervasive expectation remains upbeat. It is assumed that the Dow will pass its record — 1,051 set in January 1973 — before the end of this year. There is talk of a rise to 1,200 before the end of the next year.

The great expectations, of course, do not run across the board. But common stocks in three areas have been surging recently — and for obvious reasons.

Energy stocks of all kinds have forged ahead. The energy companies do well because they can pass on increased costs to their customers.

With Ronald Reagan replacing Jimmy Carter in the White House, the deregulation process which makes that possible is even more certain than before.

Defense-related companies are also doing brilliantly. The explanation, of course, is that the defense buildup forced by circumstances on the Carter Administration last year will be pushed with enthusiasm by the Reagan Administration next year.

Finally, technology issues are booming. The theory is that when the government pushes defense, high technology companies automatically benefit.

THE SELECTIVE nature of the boom, in itself, says one important thing. Professional investors have insulated themselves against rising prices. Being into things like energy, defense and high technology is one protection. In addition they have done the kind of legal footwork that minimizes tax exposure. So they can live with inflation — even at the rate of 10 percent.

Still, how come people who listen to E.F. Hutton don't also pay at least some attention to the growls against inflation which come forth steadily from the most prestigious economic advisers in the Reagan camp? From the likes of Arthur Burns, and George Schultz, and Alan Greenspan, and William Simon? The answer is that the professionals discount the growls because they know how high the cost of an all out effort against inflation would be.

Wall Street believes that an all out effort would mean tight budgets and very high interest rates. That would yield a new recession with unemployment and slack capacity apt to continue for several years at best. Thus inflation, which they rate as only a minor headache, would be cured by decapitation.

Chronic shoulder dislocation warning

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My 17-year-old son dislocated his right shoulder two years ago during gym class. The shoulder was put in again by the instructor and he didn't participate for a week. Then toward the end of the year his shoulder came out of place again. He didn't tell me, for fear I would stop him from playing sports. Since then it has come out three times again, twice while sleeping, and once when swimming. Now I am told he needs an operation. How much use of his arm will he have after the surgery, and how long until he can participate? — M.F.

A shoulder that keeps coming out of its joint is a warning of something quite wrong with the ligaments that hold it in place. After an injury like the one your son had it can very well be that these ligaments have never healed and will not do so. If so, he would have much to gain from surgery to restore stability to the shoulder. Most athletes return to full participation in their sports after this operation.

Much expertise has been gained in athletics-related injuries of this kind and in surgery to correct damage. I cannot give you an exact time for rehabilitation after surgery. He will need special exercises to strengthen the shoulder muscles.

I wish the message could get through to young athletes (coaches, too) that returning to action too soon after such injuries often helps no one. It may, in fact, take a player out of action for a much longer period than if he had given the joint ample time to heal in the first place.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My son got a black eye during a basketball game. It is shiny blue and the white of the eye is red. There is no pain and apparently he sees OK. I wonder if any damage could have been done? How long before the normal eye color returns? — L.L.

If his vision is fine, if he can move his eyes in all directions without any problem and if he does not see double, then there should be no great problem. If you are the least bit doubtful about these things you should have him seen by a doctor.

The blackness is a bruise, just like a bruise any other place in the body. The eye redness is a similar thing. In both areas the tiny blood vessels called capillaries were broken. The blood appears under the transparent membrane covering the eye. Soon this should be absorbed from the white of his eye. It, too, may turn color — a somewhat yellowish green — before all the pigment disappears. That should occur in a couple of weeks, certainly by the time you read this.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I'm trying to interest my company in sponsoring a program for its employees to improve fitness. Are there any companies doing this? — Mrs. R.O.

There are some companies that have fitness programs for their employees, some even offering part of the working day for them. The employers have found that through proper exercise programs their employees are out sick less and live longer, more productive lives. Many companies sponsor memberships in local health clubs, Y's, etc. If you need further ammunition in your drive, you might want to read the May 1980 issue of "The Physician and Sports Medicine." About 150 companies have plans similar to the one you are trying to get.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Would it be OK for me to wear my contact lenses in underwater diving? — B.N.

There are a number of considerations — the kind of lenses, how deep you dive and for how long. About all I can tell you is that divers who used contact lenses in dives to great depths were quoted recently at that depth there is quite a bit of pressure.

If the divers wore hard contacts, nitrogen bubbles tended to form between the lens and the eyeball. That caused swelling of the eye surface and some visual disturbance for a short while after returning to the surface. If the hard lens had a small hole in it, or if soft contacts were worn, that did not happen. You should have a talk with your eye doctor before attempting deep dives while wearing contacts.

You can lose weight if you really want to! The booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Since you are always discussing muscles and tendons, how about a rundown on the Achilles tendon? — Mrs. J.W.

Achilles, besides being the great warrior who slew Hector at Troy, gave his name to a common point of athletic injury — the Achilles tendon. Achilles was dipped into the river Styx by his mother. From that day forward, he was invulnerable, except at one point on his body — his heel, where mother held him.

Medically, the Achilles tendon is the large cord in the back of the heel. It attaches the calf muscles to the foot, the ones that allow us to push off on the foot. Stand tiptoe and you feel the Achilles tendon and the calf muscles working to their fullest.

Great stress is placed on the Achilles tendon in running and jumping. It is easily inflamed. When that happens, there is a creaky sensation in the area and great pain.

Often, simple steps, such as rest and a heel lift, are sufficient treatment. A more serious injury, like a tear, often happens to older persons who stumble or run off balance. Racquet sports are notoriously tough on Achilles tendons. A tear has to be evaluated, and often surgery is required to repair them.

Exercises, such as rising on the toes, keep the tendon flexible and less injury-prone.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have read so much lately about "born-again Christians." Can you tell me how I can accept Jesus into my life? — B.N.B.

DEAR B.N.B.: Our greatest need is to be born again — to be given a new spiritual life by God. The Bible teaches us that God wants to give us this new beginning. If we do not get it, it will not be because God is unable or unwilling to give it to us, but because we have been unwilling to receive it.

How can you be born again? First, realize that God loves you and has made it possible for you to come into a right relationship with him. He sent his Son into the world to die in your place on the cross. You deserved to die for your sins, but Christ died for you. Read John 3:16, and substitute your own name for "world" and "whoever." "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

Second, repent of your sins and confess them to God. Tell him you are not only sorry for your sins, but that you want to live for him from now on. Jesus said, "Repent ye, and believe the gospel" (Mark 1:15).

Next, commit yourself to Christ in faith and trust. Simply tell God that you want Christ to live in your heart by faith. Salvation is a gift from God and, like all gifts, you must accept it or receive it. The Bible promises, "But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name" (John 1:12).

When you do this, God accepts you and adopts you as his child. He forgives you, and you are now part of his family. You have been born again! "Whoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God" (1 John 5:1). Like a newborn baby, you have a whole new life of growth ahead of you. But you will have taken that all-important first step of faith.

Will Reagan act?

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Genealogists have traced Ronald Reagan's family tree back to King Brian of Ireland — a royal distinction the president-elect shares with virtually every Irish-American of whatever social or political eminence.

What makes Reagan's heritage interesting is that his parents were married in a Roman Catholic ceremony, but his mother had been raised as a Protestant and saw to it that her children were also brought up as Protestants. Thus the new president is, in effect, a personal embodiment of the religious conflict that has torn Northern Ireland for centuries, and underlies the bloody battle that has gripped the six northern counties of Ireland for the past decade.

ONE OF THE FIRST foreign policy problems that King Brian's descendant will have to come to grips with is whether or not to reverse Jimmy Carter's hands-off policy toward Ulster. Reagan will take office at a time when tension is building and the conflict could once again explode in a crescendo of violence.

At the heart of the renewed turbulence, which includes provocative political demonstrations and vicious assassinations, is a controversial wing of the Long Kesh "Maze" prison near Belfast. Known as H-Block, it is the scene of a determined hunger strike by seven Irish Republican Army protesters which has now lasted a month.

Last year I reported how 350 Irish Republican Army members and sympathizers — called "blanket men" for their refusal to wear prison uniforms — conducted a "filthy protest" by spreading excrement on the walls of their fetid cells.

The long-haired, bearded protesters, mired in their own waste in the midst of a modern prison, claimed they were political prisoners and deserved that status, which the British rescinded in 1976. British officials now privately concede they blundered when they originally granted special political status.

My associate Jack Mitchell was refused admittance to the H-Block, but, from outside sources, he pieced together the story of the stubborn refusal of either side to compromise. The calculated off-duty killings of 17 prison guards by IRA gunmen over the past two years have turned an already tense situation into an almost unbearable one.

In a desperate, last-ditch attempt to gain international attention for their cause of a unified Ireland, the IRA leaders have ordered seven fanatical partisans in H-Block to starve themselves to death.

EQUALLY HARDNOSED, Britain's Conservative prime minister, Margaret Thatcher, has taken a tough line against the "H-Block Seven."

The hunger strikers will get medical attention and "concessions such as are necessary," in the words of Britain's minister for Northern Ireland, Hugh Rossi. But the prisoners will not be forced-fed, nor will the British be budged on the issue of political status for convicted terrorists. "The choice must be theirs," insisted Rossi.

Although seemingly caught in a no-win situation, the British are far from faultless. Earlier this year, the European Commission on Human Rights rejected the protesters' claim for political status as unjustified, but lashed out at the British for not trying hard enough to find a solution to the 60-year dilemma.

Meanwhile, I have received a personal plea from the desperate mother of one of the H-Block prisoners, Mrs. P. McCloskey, who fears for her son's life.

"Please let your voice be heard before it's too late," she wrote. "There must be a way to bring about a just solution."

NO APOLOGY NEEDED: A recent column that told how the Commerce Department mishandled the near-shipment of strategically sensitive equipment to the Soviet Union has provoked an investigation by Rep. Richard Ichord D-Mo.

The column also provoked a self-serving letter to the Washington Post by Commerce Secretary Philip Klutznick, in which he claimed that "Mr. Anderson's column states alleged 'facts' that are — virtually without exception — wrong."

Accuracy is my stock in trade, so Klutznick's charge would be damaging — if true. But the one "wrong" statement he accused me of had to do with a letter from the Defense Department. Klutznick insisted that the letter, written on March 24, did not reach his office until March 26, was not hand-delivered, and was not written by Defense Secretary Harold Brown.

Klutznick should have checked with a subordinate, Willa Y. Tetty, who signed for the hand-delivered letter on March 25 — or two other Commerce employees who were given draft copies on March 20.

As for the origin of the letter — which ordered Commerce to stop a shipment of militarily useful equipment to the Russians — it was written on Defense Department stationery and signed by Brown's deputy, W. Graham Clayton Jr. If Klutznick seriously believes such a letter didn't come from Brown, it's probably a good thing he's leaving Washington.

WAIT A MINUTE: When I write a column, there's no way of knowing how it will be used by people with their own ax to grind. As an embarrassing case in point, the Kremlin has seized on one of my columns to promote its standard party line against Red China, its worrisome rival in the Communist world.

Although the Soviet have attacked me repeatedly for exposing their oppression in the Soviet Union and its satellites, they have no qualms about citing me as an authoritative source when it suits their purpose.

They'll be corrected quickly Redistricting errors

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Federal officials and the courts will be quick to correct any errors in next year's state redistricting, an Austin lawyer warned legislators Saturday.

"There is no area more fraught with the opportunity for serious error," attorney Steve Bickerstaff said. "But you may be confident that someone will find them."

Bickerstaff was part of Saturday's program at the pre-session legislative conference at the University of Texas.

"Almost certainly the actions you take will be subject not only to the scrutiny of certain federal officials... but by the courts, state and federal," he said.

The 1981 Legislature will use 1980 census figures to redraw boundary lines for seats in congress and the state senate and house. If the legislators cannot agree on a plan, the Legislative Redistricting Board takes over. The board includes the lieutenant governor, the speaker of the house, the attorney general, the comptroller and the commissioner of the general land office.

Bickerstaff cautioned the legislators could surrender their redistricting power if they do not adhere to specific principles set by federal officials.

The Justice Department and the courts will review the plan, no matter who draws it.

In 1978, 20 states had their districts drawn by courts, he said.

Stenholm's proposal is backed by businessmen

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Members of the National Federation of Independent Business have overwhelmingly approved of proposed legislation which would limit the length of time the federal government can require records to be retained to four years.

The proposal, sponsored by Congressmen Charles W. Stenholm and Jack Hightower, both Texas Democrats, was included in NFIB's latest Mandate vote on issues and was approved by 90 percent of members responding. Only seven percent opposed the proposal.

Stenholm and Hightower are currently working to obtain additional co-sponsors for the legislation, which will be reintroduced during the upcoming 97th Session of Congress.

"The measure had considerable support during this past session," commented Stenholm, "and with this type of strong backing from NFIB members, we expect to see it move rather quickly through the channels."

The bill would establish a four-year statute of limitations for businesses on record-keeping and alleged civil violations of federal rules, regulations or laws. At present, businessmen are required to maintain records indefinitely and are subject to civil penalties without any time limitations.

"This is one means to cut down the cost of doing business," Stenholm said, "and chip away a little at the inflation rate. The costs of compiling and maintaining unnecessary records are normally passed along to the end user of the product or service involved if that business is to remain solvent."

"NFIB estimated that, aside from tax records, there are more than 1,100 record-keeping requirements that are imposed on small businesses each year," he continued. "While our bill would not eliminate any of these regulations, limiting the retention time of required records would alleviate much of the burden on businesses and cut costs significantly."

Primitive language is used by creatures

NEW YORK (AP) — Science. Besides the leopard, eagle and snake alarms, the scientists found, the monkeys have a baboon alarm and an alarm for unfamiliar humans.

The monkeys frequently sounded the "unfamiliar human" alarm when the scientists first arrived for the 14-month-long study in Kenya's Amboseli National Park. But later, the vervets let the humans range alongside them without comment, the scientists said.

Chimpanzees and gorillas in captivity have been taught to use sign language for many objects, although there is controversy over whether they can string these signs into meaningful sentences.

But there has not been any unequivocal demonstration of the use of signs in nature, the scientists said.

African vervet monkeys use different alarm calls for leopards, eagles and snakes, a finding that scientists say shows for the first time that animals can link sounds with objects in what may amount to a primitive language.

Scientists working in a wildlife park in Kenya have found that the alarm calls alone, with or without the presence of the predator, are enough to cause the monkeys to take defensive action.

Naturalists have believed for years that many birds and mammals give different alarms for different predators. But some have disputed whether the calls themselves have meaning, or whether other animals simply look up, see the predator and flee, said Robert M. Seyfarth, a behavioral biologist.

Now Seyfarth and colleagues from Rockefeller University's Field Research Center in Millbrook, N.Y., 70 miles north of here, have avoided that pitfall by using recorded playbacks of the alarm calls.

They found that a recorded leopard alarm caused the vervets to run up into the trees, just as if a real leopard were nearby. Eagle alarms caused them to look up, and snake alarms made them look down.

The animals are the main predators of the vervet, a gray, black-faced, ground-dwelling monkey the size of a large house cat.

"We think this kind of communication system in which an animal uses a sound to represent something in the external world is much more widespread than has been recognized," Seyfarth said.

"It's not that vervets are different from other animals. It's just that this is the first experimental demonstration that the alarm calls in and of themselves convey a different meaning," he said.

Seyfarth, Dorothy L. Cheney and Peter Marler, director of the center, published their report recently in the journal

NATURAL FORTRESS — Mountains and rivers make Albania a natural fortress, isolating it from the outside world and reinforcing its defiant political stance. The last stronghold of Stalinism, it has no diplomatic relations with the major world powers. The self-reliant route is often hard. Private cars are banned. A foot-bridge stretches across this river.

Foreign loans spurned

Europe's obstinate Albania lives in a world of its own

By JOY ASCHENBACH
National Geographic News Service
WASHINGTON — In a world that runs on international interdependence and often gets tangled in its own alliances, tiny Albania is trying to go it alone.
The last stronghold of Stalinism, Albania, lying next to Yugoslavia and Greece and across the Adriatic Sea from Italy, is Europe's most dogmatic Communist country. It has broken ties with its powerful old allies — first the Soviet Union, and more recently the People's Republic of China — claiming they have grown too soft. And it has virtually shut its doors to the rest of the world.

No international highways cross Albanian territory. No foreign planes are permitted to fly through its airspace. Albanian-bound flights must come and go from the sea. Its own trains stop at its frontiers.

Its constitution — the embodiment of the long tough dictatorship of Marxist-Leninist Enver Hoxha — prohibits foreign credit deals, forbidding bank loans from East or West. When it must buy from other countries, Albania pays cash. In its determination to go it alone, it even turned down disaster relief from the International Red Cross after a devastating earthquake last year.

Foreign visitors are not welcome unless considered "friends, revolutionaries, progressive democrats, or honest tourists." The long-haired or full-bearded among them are forced to shed their displays of bourgeois decadence at the airport barber shop.

How is obstinate Albania managing on its own? Surprisingly well, all things considered, according to a report by Turkish photographer Mehmet Biber in the October National Geographic. His is the first full report from Albania to appear in an American journal in many years. Visits by journalists are rare. Biber had to wait nearly a year for a visa.

Inside Albania, he found that its 2.7 million people are far from prosperous, but are not restricted to rationing. "People are plainly dressed, but none are in rags," he reports. "Families live in small flats or cottages, poorly furnished by Western standards. But compared with yesterday's misery, Albanians don't doubt that they do better today."

In four decades — Hoxha has ruled for 36 years — life expectancy has nearly doubled from 38 years to 68 years. Literacy has jumped from 20 percent of the population to a professed 80 percent. And the amount of cultivated land — once a meager 10 percent — has doubled. Enough food is now produced to export some.

How does Albania survive? By mobilizing production and following a centrally controlled plan that depends on complete state ownership. By relying on its ample natural resources and maintaining an en-garde military stance. The society is rigidly controlled. An entire generation is growing up sealed off in a hard-line socialist laboratory. Civil servants, students, even party officials and diplomats must work one month a year in a factory or on a farm. And all able-bodied citizens, whatever their profession, must spend a month or more on military duty every year.

"Plants often work three shifts to use machinery 24 hours a day," Biber writes. "I saw tractors work fields by headlight, then go by truck at night to another farm complex for the morning plowing."

"Throughout Albania I watched students, both male and female, building roads, putting up houses, tilling farmland, working in factories," he reports. "Albania's railroad system is extending northward primarily through student labor."

"I saw power lines marching to all parts of the country. Mountain hamlets have been electrified."

King Hussein blasted

Syria-Jordan conflict looms

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Syria's Soviet-backed regime appeared to be preparing public opinion today for an armed conflict with neighboring Jordan, a close U.S. ally in the Middle East. Both sides already have massed military forces along their border.

"Jordan has become a training camp for murderers and saboteurs sent to carry out terrorism in Syria at King Hussein's personal instructions," said a front-page editorial in Syria's leading government newspaper, Tichrin.

"It is the right of Syria to protect its national security, and also the security of Arab nationalist movements at any place, with every effective means even if they are not brotherly means," Tichrin said.

The state radio also warned that "Syria will have no mercy for any enemy" and would "stop at nothing to safeguard its national security and the security of its citizens."

The Syrian regime holds Jordan responsible for a 16-month campaign of bombings and assassinations by the fundamentalist Moslem Brotherhood that claimed more than 200 lives, including three Soviet advisers, in Syria.

Despite Jordan's denials, President Hafez Assad insists King Hussein's government is deliberately helping the Brotherhood with money and equipment in a drive to overthrow Assad's 10-year-old regime.

The leftist Beirut newspaper As-Safir, which is close to Syria, said Assad would take up arms against Jordan to close the Brotherhood's training camps in Jordan's northern province of Irbid, along Syria's southern border.

Jordan has deployed scores of tanks and heavy weapons near the border with Syria because of the 400 tanks and 20,000 troops Syria has massed at the frontier.

Associated Press correspondent Nicolas B. Tatro saw the front line of the Jordanian armor about four miles south of Ramtha Friday, but there was no evidence of Jordanian troops.

He said Jordanian tanks, their guns pointed toward Syria, sat on rocky, treeless hills behind freshly dug earthen entrenchments.

Many Americans voted from desire for change

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

HOUSTON — Many Americans voted more from a desire for change this year than from new-found conservatism, two top Republican campaign consultants believe, and Republicans must make changes or suffer at the polls themselves later.

"I don't believe there was a Republican sweep or a conservative sweep," V. Lance Tarrance said at a post-election conference last week. "But there was a changesweep."

Tarrance said Ronald Reagan must make promised changes, such as balancing the budget, within a reasonable time period or he and other Republicans could face basically the same voter hostility displayed for President Carter this year.

Tony Payton an independent consultant to the National Republican Senatorial Committee, agreed that the desire for change had a major impact on voting. He referred to "a change wave rather than a conservative wave."

He said this "wave" also hurt some Republicans, such as Barry Goldwater, the longtime senator and conservative spokesman from Arizona. Goldwater barely edged a Democratic who told voters it was time for a change.

support in the final 48 hours before the election. Reagan would have won anyway, but the spurt increased his victory margin by perhaps four percentage points, Tarrance said.

With such changes in voter attitude, tracking polls take on an increased importance, Tarrance said. Tracking polls question small numbers of voters daily over a period of time rather than a large number at a particular time.

"Two years ago one-third of the campaigns did it," Payton said of tracking. "This year it was one half. Next time, maybe it will be two-thirds."

Tarrance said tracking polls are extremely time-consuming and expensive for a campaign.

Payton said in planning senatorial campaigns this year he had to study various surveys and polls and determine the value of their data. "If it's good data," he said, "you can make a lot of assumptions from it."

Tarrance said the Republicans have a good chance to add to their U.S. Senate majority in the 1982 elections, but probably not at the expense of Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, a Democrat.

"I don't think he's an unpopular person in this state, and he's not a liberal," he said.

Tarrance said he might change his mind about Bentsen's chances if Roger Staubach should run against him as a Republican.

A poll a year ago showed the former Dallas Cowboy quarterback with an 80 to 85 percent name identification and almost all of that positive.

"He's got about $2 million in name ID," Tarrance said, but Staubach in recent months "has done nothing but retreat from running."

Tarrance said evangelical Christians, such as the Moral Majority, probably affected about 15 percent of the 1980 electorate. The greatest effect was the drawing to Reagan of persons not formerly identified with the Republican party or with any politics.

The Moral Majority supporters seldom read newspapers but receive a message from the church about which candidate is most moral, he said.

They believe they were successful this year in the election of Reagan and that feeling should spur them to continue in politics, Tarrance said.

"There is a quiet sort of thing — that they are doing the right thing," he said. "I think the Moral Majority is going to be around for a long time. It's something the Democrats ought to worry about."

Pilot facing legal decision

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — John Provine, the Moscow pilot found a month after he disappeared in a rented plane, has 30 days to decide whether he will fight extradition after being arrested in Texas, authorities say.

Provine was arrested last Sunday in Georgetown, an eastern Texas town near his parents' Austin home. He was released on $2,000 bond Monday, said the Williamson County Sheriffs Department.

He is wanted in Boise on a warrant for obtaining property under false pretenses after his disappearance in a leased plane in late August.

The warrant was issued Oct. 28, but until Sunday authorities were unable to locate Provine.

Chief Deputy Jim Wilson of Georgetown said Provine will have to appear at the Williamson County district attorney's office by Dec. 24 if he wants to waive extradition.

Neither Provine nor his Texas lawyer, Juan Gallardo, were available for comment.

Provine disappeared with a leased plane Aug. 31 on what was supposed to be a one-day flight within Idaho from Boise. He and the plane were found separately in early October.

The Moscow pilot said he had been lost in the rugged woods of north central Idaho the entire time he was missing. However, the warrant alleges he was in California during the time.

55 POUND RODBREAKER — Howard Dinnell of Eugene, hooked a wheelbarrow load of Chinook salmon, 55 pounds worth, in the Siuslaw River near Swisshome, Ore., early this week. After a 20 minute tug-of-war the rod broke cleanly in the tip section. Howard started hand-lining manofilament around his arm, pulling the fish into shallow water and finished the job with a rock. Add this to a 20-pounder he caught minutes before.

Canada will sell grain to Russia

OTTAWA (AP) — Canada is dropping out of the embargo on grain sales to the Soviet Union but will not try to replace the grain being withheld from the Russians by the United States, the head of the wheat board said Friday.

Sen. Hazen Argue's announcement was contained in a news release here on remarks he was to make to the Alberta Wheat Pool in Calgary.

Canada will sell the Soviets just under six million metric tons of wheat and feed grain during the current crop year, up from 3.8 million tons during the crop year that ended July 31.

The Progressive Conservative government of Joe Clark, then in office, agreed last January to limit sales to the Russians as part of the U.S.-led grain embargo to protest Soviet military intervention in Afghanistan.

The United States and its allies agreed to limit grain sales to Moscow to "traditional" levels. The United States allowed export of 8 million tons provided for in existing agreements, but embargoed an additional 17 million tons.

Washington also curbed the export of high technology to the Soviet Union.

Argue said new sales "will not go beyond levels which would have been exported in the absence of the partial embargo."

"It is not the intention of the government to take advantage of the export policies of the United States or of other exporters," he said.

The other day will be taken off your Christmas holidays. Everyone will have to come to school Dec. 22. School will dismiss at 2:30 after the Christmas party.

Oil issues strong

NEW YORK (AP) — Among all the many stock groups that have soared in Wall Street's 1980 bull market, few can match the performance of the oil issues.

The gains have been dramatic even for the breed of conservative investor who insists on sticking only to old-line blue chip stocks.

Consider Texaco, one of the industry giants, whose shares barely budged out of the $20s for most of the past decade. From 29 1/2 early this spring, Texaco climbed to record levels above 53 by late in the past week.

Over the same period Exxon has risen from 54 1/2 to the upper 80s, and Standard Oil of California from 61 1/4 to around 115.

All three of those issues are components of the Dow Jones industrial average, and they have played no small part in the average's renewed bid this month to crack the mystical 1,000 level.

Just how great their role can be was vividly illustrated on Wednesday, when the Dow posted a 7-point gain. That seemingly robust showing, in fact, was due entirely to the action of a single stock — Social, which jumped 11 points.

Had Social been excluded from the calculations, the average would have gone into the records for that day with a decline of almost a point.

For the four-day trading week, shortened by the Thanksgiving holiday on Thursday, the average rose 3.41 to 993.34.

The New York Stock Exchange composite index climbed .85 to a record 81.02, and the American Stock Exchange market value index picked up 12.31 to 370.75, also a new high.

Big Board volume averaged 49.13 million shares a day, against the record pace of 61.18 million set the week before.

For more venturesome investors willing to put their money on smaller, lesser-known oil stocks, the rewards in some cases have been truly spectacular.

One case in point is Tom Brown Inc., traded in the over-the-counter market. The stock of the Midland, Tex., oil and gas concern was quoted, adjusted for subsequent splits, as low as 4 1/4 bid in 1979 and 10 1/4 early this year. This past week it was pushing 50.

The basic forces behind the gains being shown by these stocks are as familiar as the energy crisis itself — rising prices for the basic products, plus heavy demand for development of new oil, gas, and other fuels.

Ronald Reagan's victory in the Nov. 4 presidential election has given them an extra push. Last Tuesday, the oil group rallied when Reagan indicated he favored removing all price controls on oil and gas, and said he would take "whatever action is necessary to increase domestic supplies."

He became a fugitive from the FBI in 1968 after a federal grand jury in Seattle indicted him and seven other Minutemen on a charge of conspiring to rob banks. He was captured in July 1969 near Truth or Consequences, N.M., and immediately began serving a one-year sentence for violating federal gun control laws.

In September 1970, he was sentenced to 10 years in prison for more gun control law violations while he was a fugitive. He also was sentenced to a four-year term for jumping bond in 1970. The bank robbery charge was dropped after he was sentenced on the other charges, but the other Minutemen were tried and convicted. DePugh was released from prison in 1973.

DePugh founded the ultrarightist Minutemen in 1960.

He claimed a membership of 100,000 for the Committee of 10 Million and said the group eventually hopes to attract 10 million members.

DePugh and his followers planned a demonstration today near the city's Liberty Memorial. They said they would unroll a long petition containing signatures of people opposed to any negotiation of a strategic arms limitation agreement with the Soviet Union.

Some members also will go on unarmed "night patrols" in the city "to practice scouting and patrolling," DePugh said.

Training in guerrilla tactics is slated for Monday at an undisclosed rural site outside of Kansas City. DePugh described the training as "kind of mild stuff."

"People will arrive at a point and be handed a rifle, they'll proceed along a designated path and fire at targets as they become visible. At the other end, they'll turn in their rifle and the next person will go through," he said.

DePugh invited some 150 to 200 rightwing organizations to send representatives to the four-day conference, dubbed a Patriots Leadership Conference. Only about 25 men were at Friday's session to hear DePugh lectured on "psychological warfare" and "psycho-political techniques."

Group training for Red thrust

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — About 25 men intent on preventing communists from taking over the United States have gathered here to get lessons in guerrilla warfare from the former head of the paramilitary Minutemen.

"If we can convince the Russians that the American people are resolved to resist by force of arms until the last dog's dead, it tends to dissuade them from being overly adventurous," said Robert DePugh, one-time head of the Minutemen who is now chairman of a group he calls the Committee of 10 Million.

Today about half your electricity is made from lignite coal.

And a good thing, too, because our biggest contract for low-cost natural gas (which we also use to make your electricity) expires this year.

This contract has been in effect for almost 20 years. It's helped us keep the cost of electricity lower here than in many other parts of the country.

Next year when we have to start paying much more for natural gas, electricity is going to cost more. There's no way around it.

But your bill won't be as high as it would be if we weren't making about half your electricity with economical, abundant lignite coal from Texas.

Bad weather halted state's cotton harvest

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — The season's second major winter storm brought cold, wet weather to much of Texas this week, halting cotton harvesting in the plains and western areas and sending ranches scurrying to feed beans.

Snow over much of the High Plains brought cotton strippers to a grinding halt, the second such occurrence in the past two weeks. A considerable amount of cotton remains to be harvested in the High and Rolling Plains as well as Far West and West Central Texas, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The cold, wet conditions put heavy pressure on livestock feeding. Heavy feeding is taking hay supplies which are already short over much of the state due to this year's drought. Feeding had begun early in many areas due to lack of grazing from the season-long drought.

While recent moisture accompanying the cold fronts has boosted small grain growth in most areas, lower temperatures have also hampered growing conditions. Early planted small grains are providing grazing for livestock although much of the acreage was planted late due to poor soil, noted Pfannstiel.

While cold weather hampered the sugar beet harvest in the High Plains, sugarcane harvesting was in full swing in the Rio Grande Valley. Joining the sugarcane harvest was continued harvesting of fall vegetables and citrus. Some vegetable harvesting also remained active in the Winter Garden of Southwest Texas.

Scattered fields of peanuts and soybeans remain to be harvested in eastern and coastal areas while peanut harvesting is winding down in central and southwestern areas.

Harvesting of a short pecan crop continues over much of the state, added Pfannstiel.

Reports from district Extension directors showed the following conditions.

PANHANDLE: Another siege of snowy weather hampered cotton harvesting which is at the halfway point. Most cotton gins are caught up with backlogs. Sugar beet harvest is about 25 percent complete, and some beets and carrots remain to be harvested. Cattle feeding has intensified. Some stocker cattle have been lost due to cold, wet conditions.

SOUTH PLAINS: Another heavy snow brought good moisture to the area but continued to hamper cotton harvesting. A considerable amount of cotton remains in the field. Most gins are caught up with backlogs.

much cotton has been field-stored in modules. Sugat beet harvesting has also been delayed. Feeding of range cattle is widespread due to winter conditions and lack of grazing.

ROLLING PLAINS: Cotton harvesting continues to be hampered by snowfall and wet fields, with some cotton stringing out of bolls. Recent moisture has given a boost to small grains and native ranges for improved grazing. However, feeding has been heavy due to adverse weather conditions.

NORTH CENTRAL: Soil moisture remains short over the area, with small grains making little growth. Livestock have little grazing so feeding active. Some farmers are preparing cropland for next spring. A short pecan harvest continues.

NORTHEAST: Moisture is now adequate over most of the region, allowing small grains and winter pastures to make some growth. A small percentage of wheat remains to be planted. About 5 percent of the soybean crop is still to be harvested, with poor yields. The pecan harvest is light but nuts are of good quality. Cattle feeding is active and has increased due to cold, wet conditions.

FAR WEST: Snow halted cotton harvesting for the second time in two weeks. The cotton crop is already short due to this year's drought, and quality continues to drop due to weather conditions. Heavy snow in some areas caused extensive damage to trees. A light pecan harvest continues. Cattle are in good shape.

WEST CENTRAL: Last week's snow brought good moisture to the area but also halted cotton harvesting. Small grains should get a boost from the moisture. Most livestock are in fair to good shape, with supplemental feeding heavy.

Harvesting of a short pecan crop continues.

CENTRAL: Recent rains have boosted grazing on small grains but have also delayed completion of the pecan harvest. Up to 20 percent of the crop remains to be harvested in some areas. Peanut yields and quality are both low. Pecan harvesting is moving rapidly, with yields light. Cattle feeding is active.

EAST: Recent rains have given a boost to small grains and winter pastures although cooler temperatures have caused some slowdown in growth. Harvesting of a short pecan crop continues.

UPPER COAST: Wet weather is delaying completion of soybean and peanut harvests as well as land preparation for next spring's crops. Oats are generally making good growth and are providing some grazing for livestock. Cattle feeding has increased with cold, wet condition. A light pecan harvest continues. Second-crop rice yields were good.

SOUTH CENTRAL: Recent rains have boosted small grains but most need more moisture. Wet fields are delaying peanuts harvesting. Land preparation for next spring's crops has been active where fields conditions permit. Harvesting of a light pecan crop continues.

SOUTHWEST: Small grains and winter pastures are responding favorably to recent rains. However, vegetable and peanuts harvests have been slowed. Rust disease is increasing in the spinach crop due to recent cool, wet weather.

COASTAL BEND: Despite recent scattered rains, most of the region remains dry. Some planting of wheat and oats continues, and planting moisture is needed for flax. About 80 percent of the peanut crop has been har-

FEDERAL TAX RETURNS
(Can I Change Mine?)

The period of time (statute of limitations) for changing a federal income tax return is normally three years. This means that the taxpayer and the government both have the opportunity to make changes, large or small in the past three years' tax returns.

There are a large number of taxpayers who prepare their own tax return or have them prepared by someone other than a full time tax counselor. If you are one of these "self-preparers" we recommend that you have your tax returns reviewed at least every third year by a professional preparer.

A review will cost far less than the preparation. If amendments are necessary, the fee should be somewhat in line with the benefits to be had.

Contrary to popular belief, these amendments do not automatically trigger an audit of your returns. Some IRS districts require examination if the tax refund is substantial, say $5000 or more. If you are amending the third oldest year immediately before it is ready to "close under the statute," you should attach an explanation of why you waited so long to amend it. It is logical for the IRS to assume that the person requesting adjustment immediately before the "closing" may be trying to slip by with a questionable adjustment. Unless you have a bad conscience about a prior tax return, you should feel comfortable about amending for a refund of your money.

The three year review by a professional preparer is adequate for many tax returns. If, however, you have a major financial decision to be made, don't leave it to chance. Seek the help of a qualified practitioner to determine the tax effects before the business transaction is completed. Good tax planning cannot be done after the fact.

Crazy Aggies rally to upset UT 24-14

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Senior quarterback David Beal scrambled and passed Texas dizzy in a second-half Texas A&M comeback surge and the upstart Aggies stunned the Bluebonnet Bowl-bound Longhorns 24-14 Saturday in the 97th meeting of their bitter Southwest Conference football rivalry.

The Aggies, who finished the season 4-7 and 3-5 in SWC play, made only one first down as the Longhorns built a 7-0 lead at intermission on Donnie Little's 13-yard run.

Beal slapped the Aggies to life in the third quarter and sent the Longhorns, who will play North Carolina New Year's Eve in the Bluebonnet Bowl, reeling to their fourth loss in 11 decisions. Texas finished the SWC 4-4.

A 23-yard Beal to Earnest Jackson pass set up David Hardy's 38-yard field goal to trim the deficit to 7-3 then the Aggie signal caller really began to work magic against the rocked Longhorns.

A 56-yard Beal to Mike Whitwell pass plus a vital 19-yard interference penalty on Mike Hatchett took A&M to the Texas two-yard line. Johnny Hector scored in two plays from the one.

A&M struck for another third quarter touchdown in less than three minutes and again it was Beall, who turned seeming disaster into big plays. With a fierce Texas pass rush bearing down on him, Beal lofted a short pass over linebacker Bruce Scholtz to Jackson who blazed 50 yards to the Texas 5. On the next play, Beal threw a touchdown strike to freshman tight end Mark Lewis.

A clutch third down run of 19 yards helped put the Aggies on the Texas doorstep again early in the fourth quarter. Beal was shaken up but sophomore quarterback Gary Kubiak had the picture. He flicked a short pass over the middle to Thomas Sanders, who made a one-hand catch then scooted 28 yards for a touchdown with 12:28 to play.

Backup quarterback Rick McIvor came on late to add some punch to the Texas offense with a 57-yard touchdown pass to sophomore wide receiver Herkie Walls with 4:26 on the clock.

The Aggies entered the annual grudge match, played before 72,537 fans in flawless 63-degree weather, as 12-point underdogs.

It was only the sixth time in 44 games that the Aggies had beaten Texas in Austin. A&M's previous wins came in 1902, 1909, 1922, 1956 and 1976.

The defeated knocked Texas out of a chance for a second-place tie in the final league standings with Houston and SMU behind the champion Baylor Bears.

VAULTING WALKER — Georgia tailback Herschel Walker (34) soars over diving Georgia Tech linebacker Duane Wood (49) to score from the one-yard line at Athens, Ga., Saturday. Watching the leap is Georgia quarterback Buck Belue (8) in first period.

Rice routs UH

HOUSTON (AP) — Rice quarterback Randy Hertel stunned Houston with three touchdown passes and safety David Darr intercepted two passes and recovered two fumbles as the Owls embarrassed the bowl-bound Cougars, 35-7, Saturday.

Rice, which finished its season at 5-6, took advantage of eight Houston turnovers, including six interceptions, and turned three of the miscues into touchdowns in avenging a 63-0 loss to the Cougars last season.

which was regionally televised by ABC-TV.

The loss sends Houston into the Dec. 14 Garden State Bowl against Navy with a 6-5 season record and drops them to a 5-3 mark in South-west Conference play.

Hertel, playing his final collegiate game, completed touchdown passes of 36 yards to Bobby Williams and 7 yards to Jose Fortune to ignite the Owls to a 21-0 halftime lead.

Hertel completed a 37-yard touchdown pass to Vance Fance early in the third quarter for his 38th career TD loss breaking the school record set by former Rice all-American Tommy Kramer.

Backup quarterback Robert Hoffmann boosted Rice's lead to 35-0 in the fourth quarter following an interception by Ricky Thomas. Houston avoided shutout by marching 65 yards in eight plays in the fourth quarter, with David Barrett going 23 yards for the touchdown.

Hertel finished with 15 completions in 26 attempts for 226 yards with one interception.

Darr got Rice started in the first quarter when he recovered a fumble by Elston on the Cougar 36.

Hertel completed his first touchdown pass on the first play from scrimmage, with Williams outracing Houston cornerback Reggie Vonner to the end zone.

Rice struck again on its next possession. Punter Dale Waters ran 10 yards for a first down on a fake punt. Fance ran two yards for a score a few plays later.

It was Rice's first victory over Houston since 1975. The Owls shocked Houston again in the second quarter when Tim Sanders broke 73 yards on a draw play to set up Hertel's 7-yard TD pass to Fortune.

Owls Alborn enjoyed ruining Garden party

HOUSTON (AP) — A Garden State Bowl official visited Rice University coach Ray Alborn prior to Saturday's game against Houston and jokingly told the coach, "Don't mess up our bowl game."

But Alborn didn't listen. The Rice Owls, behind the record-setting performance of Randy Hertel and a David Darr-led defense that grabbed eight turnovers, upset the Garden State Bowl-bound Cougars 35-7 in the regular season finale for both teams.

"I told that bowl official I had all the respect in the world for (Houston coach) Bill Yeoman and the Garden State Bowl, but there was nothing I'd love to do more than mess up this game," Alborn said in the jubilant Owl dressing room.

Hertel completed three touchdown passes to set a school career record and Darr intercepted two passes and recovered two fumbles from the error-prone Cougars.

"The score deserved to turn out exactly what it did," Yeoman said. "I can't remember when we played that bad. Rice played really well and outthusted, out-worked, out-everythinged us, and our team was not ready. I really missed the boat."

Houston had beaten Rice the past five years and routed the Owls a year ago, but Alborn said revenge was not a factor.

"The reason they beat us 63-0 last year was because UH played extremely well, and we played very poorly," Alborn said. "You can't tell guys not to play hard. What we emphasized for today was a chance to be 4-4 and in the first division in the SWC when not a cotton-picking person picked us to win even one game."

NFL Roundup Steelers facing must win road

It's sink or swim for the Pittsburgh Steelers Sunday. "We're taking water fast and we've got to start bailing," says defensive end Dwight White. "The ship is sinking and the pumps are broken, so we got to get together and start bailing."

White's nautical allusion refers to the Steelers' foundering position in the National Football League, where the four-time Super Bowl champions are slipping fast.

They have a mediocre (for them) 7-5 record and need a victory Sunday against the Miami Dolphins and a combination of "ifs" to have a chance to make the NFL playoffs this year.

The Steelers currently are running behind two teams in the American Conference's Central Division — the Houston Oilers and Cleveland Browns, both with 8-4 marks.

The Oilers and Browns will play Sunday for the division lead in one of the weekend's top games.

In Sunday's other games, it's Philadelphia at San Diego; Washington at

Pitt maintains slim chance at national title

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Pitt Coach Jackie Sherrill, whose team edged Penn State 14-9 Friday in collegiate football, says he still hopes for the national championship.

"Some things have to happen and we need a lot of luck, but we have a chance," said Sherrill.

The "things" the coach referred to involve a loss for second-ranked Notre Dame to Southern California on Dec. 6; a Notre Dame victory over first-ranked Georgia in the Sugar Bowl; and a loss for third-ranked Florida State in the Orange Bowl.

Pitt, of course, has to beat South Carolina in the Dec. 29 Gator Bowl. But Sherrill believes his fourth-ranked Panthers will have a shot with the others for the No. 1 spot.

Pitt's only loss this season in a 10-1 campaign was to Florida State. "We're back where we started," Sherrill said. "We're in the top five, and I think we're the only one who was picked to be there in the beginning."

The victory over fifth-ranked Penn State, which trimmed the Lions' lead in the series to 39-38 with three ties, came on a 9-yard run by quarterback Rick Trocano in the third period.

Atlanta; Minnesota at New Orleans; Buffalo at Baltimore; New England at San Francisco; the New York Jets at Los Angeles; Tampa Bay vs. Green Bay at Milwaukee; St. Louis at the New York Giants, and Cincinnati at Kansas City. On Monday night, it's Denver at Oakland.

The injury-battered Steelers are coming off a loss in Buffalo, and Coach Chuck Noll hopes there won't be an attitude problem on his team.

"The whole story is going to be how we respond to this," Noll said.

Miami is 6-6 after an overtime loss to San Diego a couple of Thursday nights ago, giving the Dolphins 1 1/2 weeks of rest.

"I still feel we have an outside shot to get into the playoffs," Coach Don Shula said.

In the AFC East, Buffalo leads at 9-3, followed by New England at 8-4 and Miami and Baltimore at 6-6.

"We didn't play well early. We had a lot of problems," Shula said. "Now, we're playing well."

The Eagles go into Sunday's game in San Diego with the best record in the NFL at 11-1. In their only previous meeting, Philadelphia defeated the Chargers 13-7 in 1974, a season in which both finished near the bottom of their divisions.

In their drive toward a first division title in 20 years, the Eagles have two fewer losses than Dallas while leading the National Conference East. Yet, Philadelphia is a 3 1/2-point underdog to the Chargers, 8-4, who are tied with Oakland for first place in the American Conference West.

"That doesn't bother me that much," Philadelphia Coach Dick Vermeil said. "We're coming off a big win last week (10-7 over Oakland) and they (the oddsmakers) might anticipate we won't be as sharp. San Diego has been resting for 10 days. Anyway, I'm not sure we're a better football team than the Chargers."

Arkansas holds off Red Raiders

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Quarterback Tom Jones, playing with a broken nose, completed a 17-yard touchdown pass and set up two field goals as Arkansas rallied to beat Texas Tech 22-16 in a Southwest Conference football game Saturday.

Tech reached the Arkansas 9-yard line with less than three minutes remaining on the passing of Ron Reeves. But four passes failed.

Jones suffered the broken nose moments before the end of the first half and went to the dressing room before the rest of the team. Jones went to the sideline again in the final six minutes after Arkansas scored 12 second-half points.

Jones completed a fourth down pass to set up a 41-yard field goal by Ish Ordonez and then threw a 17-yard scoring pass to Steve Clyde three plays after Danny Phillips recovered a Tech fumble.

That made it 19-14.

Then, on third-and-six, Jones threw deep down the right sideline and Gary Stiggers made a twisting, over-the-shoulder catch for a 40-yard gain. Three plays later, Ordonez kicked a 22-14 with 8:15 left in the game.

Navy proves tougher than Army

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Quarterback Fred Reitzel scored two touchdowns and threw for a third as Navy beat Army 33-6 Saturday to take the lead in the storied service classic for the first time in 59 years.

Navy, headed for a Dec. 14 Garden State Bowl game against Houston, recorded its eighth victory against three losses for the season.

The Cadets completed that season 3-7-1.

IRVING — Odessa Permian used three scoring passes from different arms and played near flawless football here Saturday afternoon in Texas Stadium, taking a 37-7 win over Fort Worth Richland in a state Class AAAAA regional playoff game.

The win was Permian's 12th without a loss in the 1980 season, while Richland ends with a mark of 8-3-1. Permian will face Amarillo in the quarterfinals next week in Jones Stadium at a date and time to be determined.

After a scoreless first quarter, Permian got on the boards twice in the second quarter. The first score came on a two-yard run by Kent Sager, with the second coming on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Jerry Hix to Mike George. Roy Dunn converted one of the PATs.

Dunn booted a 24-yard field goal in the third period for a 16-0 Permian lead, with George again catching another touchdown pass before the stanza ended. This pass was from Terry Mohler.

Oilers vs. Browns: Enough said

HOUSTON (AP) — The Cleveland Browns, led by precision-passing Brian Sipe, will challenge the Houston Oilers for the AFC Central Division lead Sunday and the hobbled Oilers will answer the challenge if they feel their backs are against the wall.

The Oilers, whose psyche seems to allow them to play superior football in desperate situations, missed a chance to take control of their American Football Conference division last week when they were upset by the New York Jets, 3-9.

The Browns, who share the division lead with Houston at 8-4, meanwhile, rode the passing of Sipe, the NFL passing leader, to a 31-7 victory over Cincinnati Sunday. They'll try to redeem a 16-7 loss to Houston in the second game of the season.

"All we were trying to do the first time we played Houston was keep from losing two games in a row," Cleveland Coach Sam Rutigliano said. "Now we are fighting for first place and very possibly the division championship."

Houston would have had a chance to open a two-game lead over the Browns if it had defeated the Jets. Instead, the Oilers will be struggling, which they admit is the posture from which they play their best football.

Alabama gears for Cotton with win

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Freshman quarterback Walter Lewis sprang 73 yards to set up Alabama's go-ahead touchdown as the ninth-ranked Crimson Tide defeated Auburn 34-18 Saturday for its eighth consecutive victory over the Tigers.

The decision sent Alabama into the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl against No. 8-ranked Baylor, 9-2, and gave Auburn a season record of 5-7 in what probably was Doug Barfield's final game as Auburn coach.

Auburn ended 0-6 in the Southeastern Conference. Lewis was the game's offensive leader with 98 yards on a carry and another 42 yards on four of five pass completions.

Auburn's James Brooks got 83 yards on 18 carries to give him 1.14 for the season and 3,523 yards for his four-year college career. He already held the school's rushing record for four years.

"I guess we just play better when things get tough," nose guard Ken Kennard said. "When we realize that our backs are to the wall, we really get going."

The Oilers, with 11 players including leading rusher Earl Campbell and leading scorer Toni Fritsch on the mid-week injury list, must feel they're in a must-win situation.

"This is a money game with a lot on the line," Kennard said. "They want to go to the playoffs and so do we. They control their own destiny right now and so do we."

Campbell, the NFL's leading rusher, had a string of six consecutive 100-yard performances snapped at New York last week when he watched most of the game with a strained knee. Campbell still leads with NFL in rushing with 1,360 yards on 260 carries.

The Browns have undergone a transformation since they got off to an 0-2 start.

"We've played three great quarterbacks the past three weeks (Cincinnati's Ken Anderson, Pittsburgh's Terry Bradshaw, Baltimore's Bert Jones) and we were able to handle them all," Rutigliano said. "It's a matter of confidence. It has led to the belief that we are a legitimate contender for the division championship."

Lewis' long run, with Alabama trailing 10-7, put the ball on the Auburn 4, and Major Ogilvie dived over a guard three plays later to make it 14-10.

Alabama held the lead from then on, although Auburn closed the gap to 21-18 at halftime. After a scoreless third quarter, Alabama added two touchdowns in the final four minutes.

Plano stuns No. 1 Temple

Plano grabbed five Temple turnovers and Butch Fifield and Ken Massa rumbled across the Texas Stadium turf for touchdowns as the underdog Wildcats posted a 16-10 regional playoff victory against the defending Class 5A schoolboy football champions Friday night.

The win avenged Plano's three-point loss to Temple last year in Waco and snapped Temple's 26-game winning streak and its bid to become the first team in 13 years to win back-to-back state crowns in the state's largest schoolboy classification.

"Some things just went our way," said Plano Coach Tom Kimbrough, whose team managed to make the playoffs only because Greenville had to forfeit five games of an undefeated season.

Temple had scored 58 touchdowns in 11 games, but managed only 112 yards rushing on 34 carries against Plano.

Razorbacks start season red hot

Missouri is called the "Show Me" state — and the Arkansas Razorbacks sure showed 'em in the Great Alaska Shootout basketball tournament.

Rolling up a 31-point lead in the first half, the 20th-ranked Razorbacks went on to an impressive 81-73 decision over the 11th-rated Missouri Tigers Friday night in an opening-round game matching two of the nation's Top Twenty teams.

It was one of four first-night games played in the Anchorage, Alaska, tournament as the 1980-81 college basketball season got underway with a full schedule.

In other action in the Alaskan tourney, 13th-ranked North Carolina whipped Alaska-Anchorage 69-50 and No. 16 Georgetown downed Nicholls State 80-58.

In a late game, 12th-ranked Louisiana State met Colgate.

With the help of their classy backcourt of U.S. Reed and Darrell Walker, the Razorbacks broke to a 24-2 advantage over Missouri after just nine minutes of the first half. Arkansas led 50-28 at intermission before the Big Eight Tigers came back behind the shooting of Jon Sundvold to cut the Arkansas lead to six points shortly before the end.

OU clinches Oranges with rout

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Senior quarterback J.C. Watts and freshman halfback Buster Rhymes provided the firepower as sixth-ranked Oklahoma blitzed in-state rival Oklahoma State 63-14 Saturday to lay sole claim to the Big Eight Conference title and land a berth in the Orange Bowl.

Watts tallied three touchdowns and Rhymes tallied on a 66-yard run as the Sooners raced to a 28-7 halftime lead and then buried the Cowboys with 21 more points in the third quarter.

The Sooners finished the regular season with a 9-2 overall record and a 7-0 Big Eight mark. They needed a victory to avert a tie with Nebraska for the league title and insure a date with Florida State in the Orange Bowl on New Year's Day. Oklahoma State wound up 3-7-1 overall and 2-4-1 in the conference.

Watts' touchdown spree gave him the Big Eight scoring crown with 108 points. He had 18 TD's for the season.

Besides the plays by Rhymes and Watts, freshman running back Jerome Ledbetter dazzled the partisan crowd with three touchdowns late in the game, including one on a 95-yard kick return.

WRIGHTSIL MANEUVERS — Big Spring senior guard Dickie Wrightsil releases a pass to an unidentified teammate while giving a good fake during the Steers loss to Lubbock Coronado here Friday afternoon.

Height disadvantage hurts BSHS

Coronado blasts Steers

Lubbock Coronado used a big height advantage and numerous Big Spring Steer errors here Friday afternoon in taking a 75-47 decision in a non-district boys basketball game.

The game was a topsy turvy affair, but once Coronado established a sizable lead in the second half, the score simply snowed.

The visitors jumped out to an early lead, scoring the first nine points of the contest before Big Spring's James Doss canned a jumper with 3:45 left in stanza one for the Steers first points. Coronado then increased their advantage to 19-8 at the end of the first quarter.

(Continued from Page 1-B) Permian scored early in the final stanza for a 30-0 lead on a 27-yard scamper by Sager, but Richland came for their only touchdown on a two-yard run by Greg Franklin.

The Panthers final TD came when Coy Brown connected with Stacey Meeks on a seven yard pass.

But Big Spring rallied in the second period, pulling within one at 27-26 with two minutes left in the first half. But what turned out to be a big play occurred at this time, as Doss stole a pass and drove for what appeared to be the go ahead layup.

It was all for naught, however, as the official called the Steers senior guard for charging in what was a questionable call, and nullified the bucket.

Coronado's Kent Johnson then went to the other end of the court and sank both ends of the one-and-one for a three-point Coronado lead. From that point on, the visiting team controlled the action.

They increased their lead to 35-26 at the halftime, with their gradual dominance in the third stanza moving the score to 54-38.

The Coronado team, which had over three players in the game for the msot part at least 6'5", were led in the scoring column by Johnson and Robby Garner, who each had 14 points. Cody Love added 13.

Big Spring was paced in the scoring column by Fletcher Johnson and Robert Rubio, who each scored eight.

Coronado was deadly from the free throw line, connecting on 27 of 35 attempts. Big Spring hit on 11 of 16 from the charity line.

The Steers, now 1-1 for the year, visit Sweetwater Tuesday.

Walker sets NCAA mark as No. 1 Georgia romps

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Herschel Walker scored three touchdowns and raced for 205 yards to shatter the all-time NCAA record for a freshman as top-ranked Georgia completed a perfect regular season with a 38-20 college football victory over Georgia Tech Saturday.

Walker's 205 yards came on 25 carries and lifted his season total to 1,616 yards, breaking the old freshman record of 1,586 yards set by Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett in 1973.

The 220-pound speedster's record came on his third touchdown of the day, a 65-yard gallop off right tackle with 9:30 left in the game.

Walker's other scores came on a 23-yard run in the third quarter and a 1-yard plunge in the opening period.

It was the 12th straight victory for Georgia going into its Sugar Bowl engagement with second-ranked Notre Dame on New Year's Day.

Quarterback Buck Belue accounted for the other two Bulldog scores on a 1-yard keeper and a 5-yard pass to Ronnie Stewart on a fourth down, short-yardage situation.

The Bulldogs also got a booming 57-yard field goal from Rex Robinson, who ran his string of consecutive extra points to 101 after missing the first attempt of his career.

Tech, trailing 17-0 at halftime, rallied behind the passing of Mike Kelley to strike for two touchdowns in the third quarter and another in the fourth.

Kelley fired a 15-yard touchdown pass to Leon Chadwick and a 5 yarder to Steve Henderson. The Yellow Jackets' other score came on David Allen's 4-yard run.

A&M basketball hold off Maine

BANGOR, Maine (AP) — Senior forwards Vernon Smith and Rynn Wright controlled the backboards and combined for 35 points to lead 15th-ranked Texas A&M to a 66-57 win over Maine Friday night in the season opener for both college basketball teams.

The huge Aggies led all the way.

Miami Hurricanes whip Florida, 31-7

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Sophomore Jim Kelly passed for two touchdowns and halfbacks Mark Rush and Smokey Roan each ran for one as Peach Bowl-bound Miami upset 18th-ranked Florida 31-7 in a regionally televised college football game Saturday.

Confusion reigned at the end of the emotional contest. Miami recovered a fumble with one second remaining and Coach Howard Schnellenberger elected to go for a 35-yard field goal. As Dan Miller kicked the ball through the uprights, one official signaled the kick was good, while another indicated it wasn't.

Hollywood to play today

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers today placed linebacker Thomas "Hollywood" Henderson on procedural recall "for the purpose of resigning" the six-year veteran.

Henderson, who was signed by the Oilers before the Cincinnati game Sept. 28, still will play in Sunday's showdown with Cleveland, co-leader of the American Football League Central Division.

Thomas pulled a hamstring muscle in his third game for the Oilers, against Kansas City, and was placed on injured reserve.

Before he was injured, he had won a spot on the Oilers' nickel defense, replacing inside linebacker Gregg Bingham.

Coach Bum Phillips had placed reserve middle guard Charlie Davis on waivers to make room for Henderson on the roster. Davis was signed by the club two weeks ago when veteran middle guard Curley Culp asked to be placed on waivers.

FARM FORUM
By RONNIE WOOD

Safety has always been one of the first rules of any well-run farm operation. An increasing number of vehicles on the farm, as well as in town, are using gasohol and ag safety specialists have asked that some special precautionary steps be taken since gasohol (10% alcohol-90% gasoline) is 35 percent more volatile than gasoline alone. 1) Be sure and use a vented gas tank cap. Check it to make sure it works properly.

- 2) Never smoke while refueling.
- 3) Don't refuel when the motor is hot if your tank is mounted anywhere near the engine.
- 4) Check gaskets, hoses and seals for any sign of leaks on a regular basis and always keep in mind the increased volatility of the fuel.

Duran changes mind, wants rematch

PANAMA CITY, Panama (AP) — Former welterweight champion Roberto Duran told a Panamanian radio station Friday that he will not retire from boxing and is planning a return bout with Sugar Ray Leonard, who defeated him for the title earlier this week. "I will not retire and I will seek a revenge fight with Sugar Ray Leonard," Duran told RPC radio station in a live telephone interview from a Miami, Fla., hotel where he is recovering from Tuesday's fight. Radio RPC belongs to Carlos Eleta, Duran's legal representative.

Duran, who won the title from Leonard five months ago, lost it again to the American when he quit in the eight round. Duran later said he had suffered severe stomach cramps.

The Panamanian, nicknamed "Hands of Stone," had also said after the fight that he was retiring from the ring.

Valley outs Klondike from playoffs

LUBBOCK — Klondike's dream of a state championship was ended here Friday night on a soggy Lowrey Field, as Valley used a second quarter touchdown to take a 6-0 win and advance to the quarterfinal round of the Class A state football playoffs.

Klondike threatened on its first two possessions, but couldn't capitalize on the opportunities. On their opening drive, the Cougars marched to the Valley 12, with much of the yardage coming on a 32-yard scamper by Clay Holcombe. But on a third and two at the Valley 12, Klondike lost the pigskin on a fumble.

The Cougars of Coach Mickey Finley then threatened on their second possession, driving to the Valley 24. But the Valley team, led by linebacker Ray Williams, thwarted the attempt.

Valley didn't waste their scoring opportunity, however, driving 40 yards in nine plays midway in the second stanza, with running back Tommy Morris capping the march by going in from the one. The try for two on a pass failed, but it wasn't to be needed anyway.

Both teams had been high powered offensive units this year, but it was a night dominated by the defenses, as well as offensive mistakes by the Cougars.

The Klondike team turned the ball over five times, three on fumbles and twice on pass interceptions. Valley, meanwhile, lost only one fumble.

Valley will now play Rankin, a big winner of Meridian, at a site to be determined.

Rotan nips Plains on last minute pass

SEMINOLE — Rotan's Byron Weathersbee connected with Greg Hayes on a 45-yard touchdown pass play with 38 seconds remaining to cap a wild fourth quarter and hand the Yellowhammers an 18-13 win over Plains in a Class AA high school football playoff game Friday night.

The win enables Rotan to advance to the quarterfinal round of the playoffs. They will face Panhandle at a site to be determined.

Plains scored in the first quarter on a one-yard run by Mike Cheatham, with Martin Huerta's PAT allowing the Cowboys to take a lead that would hold until the final period.

Rotan countered to make the score 7-6 in the third quarter on a seven-yard pass from Weathersbee to David Thornton. The PAT boot failed. But Rotan scored early in the final stanza to take a 12-7 lead when Keith Mullins ran in from the one. The try for two failed.

Plains came back to take a 13-12 advantage with just over six minutes left when Huerta accepted a 37-yard scoring strike from James McElroy. The try for two failed.

But it didn't stand, as Weathersbee took the Rotan team 68 yards in five plays in the final minute and a half to boost his team into quarterfinal action.

Estacado takes strange win over Brownwood, 14-0

SWEETWATER — The Lubbock Estacado Matadors, despite being nearly totally dominated in the statistics, used two big plays to take a 14-0 win over the Brownwood Lions in a Class AAA regional contest here Friday night.

Brownwood had 17 first downs and 245 yards total offense, while Estacado accumulated four first downs and only 57 yards total offense.

But the Matadors used a 91-yard punt return by Kenneth Cade for one touchdown, with a fumble recovery on the Lions three-yard line setting another easy score.

Cade's touchdown came in the second period, while the final score came in the third quarter when Jerry Gray recovered a Brownwood fumble on the three.

On the next play, Gray, playing quarterback offensively, raced in for the final touchdown of the night.

Estacado will now face the winner of Saturday night's contest between Gainesville and Paris.

Rember issues challenge

Dr. Robert Rember, Chief of Pathology at Malone-Hogan Hospital was the keynote speaker for the Trans-Pecos Health Career Council in El Paso earlier this month. The conference drew 500 health career seniors from the El Paso area to the Bowie High School site.

Sponsoring the one-day conference were health related agencies in El Paso. Career expectations were tested against career opportunities with speakers and displays, giving the students exposure to the hundreds of careers in the health field.

Leading off the conference, Dr. Rember challenged the students to make the next forty years even greater than the 40's, 50's, 60's, and the 70's, years he termed "The Golden Years of Medicine." Outlining the medical strides of the past 40 years, the pathologist discussed the antibiotics, drugs, and hormones developed in the 40's and 50's. "The most significant of these to you, perhaps, were the vaccines that wiped out almost every known childhood disease," Rember said.

The techniques learned during the Vietnam Era of the 60's and 70's in microsurgery, has opened up a new world in surgical success. "Research of the DNA molecule has brought us much closer to the true nature of life and living substance," Dr. Rember stated. "Now we know how this process can sometimes go wrong."

Preventative medicine as we know it today will multiply in coming years, he counseled the young students. Better health through preventative health habits, Dr. Rember said, will profoundly affect so-called senior citizens.

"The over-65 person will be productive far beyond age of 65, and this will shatter the farce so ridiculously imposed upon senior citizens by our regulations in social security and retirement programs," the physician promised.

Other speakers for the conference dealt with an array of health careers from veterinary medicine to the physician specialist.

"All your life you've lived for this moment. Now that you've grown up, what are you going to be?" Rember challenged.

The doctor has been at Malone-Hogan Hospital since June, 1979. He joined the Malone-Hogan Clinic, after 19 years as associate pathologist at St. Paul Hospital in Dallas, Texas. He is a graduate of the University of Colorado Medical School in Denver, Colorado.

SWCID offers quality education to students

By ANDREA COHEN

When a person graduates from the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, it will have the same educational status as a hearing person, according to Cliff Bodiford, SWCID's first student body president.

"I'm really excited about SWCID," he says. "I see it as a very successful school. Its goal is to train the deaf in a high par in education, not for the deaf to be in second place to a hearing person."

Bodiford, 22, is a freshman majoring in electronic technology. He is totally deaf in the left ear, and 50 percent deaf in the right. Formerly a student at Gallaudet College, a liberal arts school for the deaf in Washington, D.C., he moved to SWCID because of the Career Analysis Program offered here. "It will help me to see what I want to do for the rest of my life," he says. "That's what lured me here and it's closer to home."

A resident of Lake Jackson, he attended a junior college near his home. He was frustrated trying to learn in a college not geared for hearing impaired students and transferred to Gallaudet.

"When I came to Big Spring, I thought I'd walk into Howard College and the teachers would feel awkward with a deaf person. But it seems the people of Big Spring see the deaf people as a challenge. It makes me feel I don't have to act like a deaf person. I can be myself. People are really nice to you. At Gallaudet, they made the students feel inferior."

A graduate of a hearing high school, he added, "Most of my life when someone would talk, I'd say 'what' once in a while and I don't hear well. They wouldn't talk to me and it would be lonely. That's why I went to Gallaudet. Here, they're more than happy to communicate. I hope it stays that way."

When he was elected as the first student body president, he was in chemistry class.

"I didn't have a say. But I'm honored and proud of it. I want to live up to their expectations. I couldn't do it without their help."

Bountiful life

Counting her blessings

By JUDITH GRAY
County Librarian

Thanksgiving was celebrated three days ago. As I sat down to a wonderful meal prepared by my aunt, Mary Helen Hanson, at a table with relatives, I thought of all I have to be thankful for in this year.

Most of all I am thankful for life, for being an American and Texan, for being able to work again in the field for which I prepared (to have the opportunity to make use of my education, my Master's degree in Library Science, my years of experience) as your County Librarian. I am thankful to be able to work with such nice people as I have on the Library staff. I am thankful for the friendly people as I've found Howard Countians to be, and for the helpfulness of the County Court. I am happy to be here. However, this thankfulness is felt every day not only on Thanksgiving Day, isn't that the way it should be?

There was another thing for which I felt thanks. Last week, Leslie Earnest, President of the Big Spring PTA City Council, called me after her return from the State PTA Convention. She informed me that the resolution supporting $1 per capita support by the state for public library service had been passed by the Convention. That was wonderful news! The passage of that resolution is a visible result of the column which I wrote for the Herald in October regarding the current situation of state support for public library service.

cents; Ohio (which surprises me because of its population size) with 10 cents; Nevada with 8 cents; and Oregon with 7 cents. There are seven states that give no support. Number 35 is not as bad as number 46! Our score is not zero, but we are still in the bottom quarter of the states that do give support. That is what is terrible: Texas with its population size (officially number 3), with its pride, with its desire for industrial growth should not be in the bottom quarter. Should we?

At this time I would like to update that information for you. The situation is not as bleak as it first appeared. Texas is not number 46. It is number 35. We are tied with Kentucky in the amount of per capita support. That figure is still 16 cents. There are eight states below us: New Mexico with 15 cents; Nebraska, Arizona, Delaware, Maine with 13

The proposal for $1 per capita is part of the Texas State Library budget request. It is in hearings before the Legislative Budget Board. Senator Farabee of our own district is a member of the Board. Those of you who wish to indicate your support for $1 per capita may do so by writing to Senator Farabee at Box 12666, Capital Station, Austin, TX 78711.

Raft recalled as 'pussycat'

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Legendary tough guy George Raft was remembered as "just a pussycat" by actor Danny Thomas, one of about 100 friends who attended an invitation-only funeral for the actor at Forest Lawn in the Hollywood Hills.

Raft, 85, whose a career spanned 50 years and more than 70 movies, was buried at the cemetery Friday. The Rev. Patrick McTolin conducted a memorial service and lawyer Sidney Korshak gave the eulogy. "He always played the role of a tough guy but didn't have a tough bone in his body. He was just a pussycat," Thomas said. Raft died Monday of emphysema.

'Vanities' could be NBO winner

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Filmed or taped versions of stage performances often fall flat, but Norman Twain believes he is whipping up a winning soufflé with his production of the comedy "Vanities" for the national pay television network, Home Box Office.

For one thing, the production done at the Westwood Playhouse near UCLA stars three actresses familiar to television viewers — Meredith Baxter Birney, known for her long-running role in "Family"; Shelley Hack, formerly of "Charlie's Angels," and Annette O'Toole, star of the TV movie "Love for Rent" and the feature film "One on One."

"I think money is a factor in attracting the right people," said director-producer Twain, who has directed on Broadway. He made it clear he also was referring to the non-performing staff, from himself to the camera operators.

Also, said Twain, "Home Box Office felt that this play more than most does have appeal. It's about pompon girls and cheerleaders and sororities, and that does hit a broad audience."

"Vanities," a widely performed three-character comedy by Jack Heifner, focuses on three women friends over a 10-year period. They are shown as seniors in high school, as seniors in college, and five years later.

Produced in cooperation with Television Amusements Inc., "Vanities" is scheduled for national release by HBO in February.

Twain said he also believes working before a live audience, for all its potential drawbacks, is basically an advantage. The show was taped at the intimate theater over three nights, Nov. 18-20, toward the end of a three-week run.

"It's all in the way you shoot it," Twain explained. "There is something that happens in the way a play hits an audience, the dynamics, that is different from television. We tried to capture that."

The only differences in performance during the taping were that the lighting was brighter than normal and some toning down of dramatic gestures by the actresses, Twain said.

He admitted he scored a coup in securing such well-known performers, but said he was as concerned with ability as with fame.

"They were cast with regard to how right they were for the part," he said. "Shelley is, compared to the other two, inexperienced in the theater, but certainly has had stage and acting experience."

"They're not making as much to do this as their established price on commercial television," he noted.

Ervin's book best-seller

MORGANTON, N.C. (AP) — Former Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr.'s long-awaited book about the Watergate scandal is already a best-seller in his hometown. And it hasn't even been released yet.

Morganton's only bookstore has sold 700 copies in advance and 100 copies over-the-counter from a 1,000-copy shipment sent by Random House, the book's publisher, according to Shirley Sprinkle, operator of The Muses. The book, entitled "The Whole Truth: The Watergate Conspiracy," has not been released elsewhere.

Ervin, 82, a Democrat who retired from the U.S. Senate in 1974 after serving 20 years, presided over the Watergate Hearings as head of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Reunion idea has no appeal

CHICAGO (AP) — John Lennon, who says he spent most of the last five years as a "househusband," has no interest in performing again with his one-time Beatles colleagues.

Lennon, who lives in New York with his wife Yoko Ono and their 5-year-old son Sean, said in an interview in the January issue of Playboy magazine that he had felt imprisoned by his life as a rock star. He said he retired to learn about himself and spend time at home with Sean.

He emerged from retirement to cut an album with Miss Ono that was released this fall.

Court backs ban on DES

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-judge federal appeals court panel has upheld the government's ban on use of the cancer-causing chemical DES as a cattle growth stimulant.

The case, which was decided Monday, was brought by two manufacturers of the drug, DES, or diethylstilbestrol, was administered as pellets to fatten cattle and sheep quickly.

The DES ban was imposed by the Food and Drug Administration in 1979 but the FDA was made aware earlier this year of widespread abuses of the ban.

Early Confederate lady spies are kin to missionary

Two Lottie Moons take different paths

By MICKIE DICKSON
(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a series of articles on the two cousins, Lottie Moon of Oxford and Lottie Moon the missionary to China.)

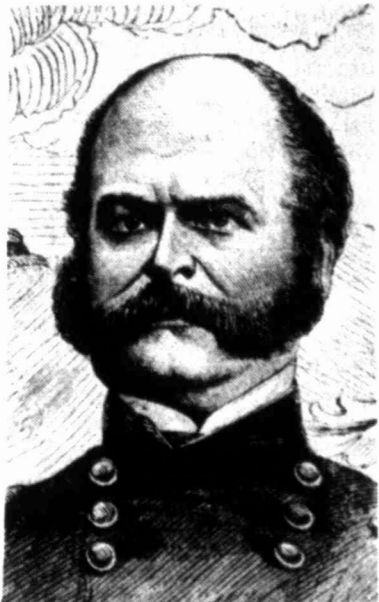

Two petite, scintillating cousins, both named Lottie Moon, figure prominently in the history of the United States and Northern China. Neither of them was considered by historians to be beautiful, but both girls were, in addition to being highly intelligent, mischievous pranksters, petite and rosy cheeked.

Cynthia Charlotte "Lottie" Moon is one of Ohio's most colorful heroines. A gently reared Oxford, Ohio girl, her sensational love affairs, service as a confederate spy and fabulous life after the Civil War, comprise a true story as exciting as fiction.

Charlotte "Lottie" Digges Moon of Viewmont, Albemarle County, Va., pioneered as one of the first single women missionaries in Northern China where she served faithfully, many times almost alone, under the Southern Baptist Foreign Mission Board.

VIRGINIA MOON, CONFEDERATE SPY — was born June 22, 1844, at High St. and University Ave., Oxford, Ohio.

DESERTED AT THE ALTAR — Ambrose Everett Burnside, was deserted at the altar by Lottie Moon, later a Confederate spy. Burnside was a U.S. General in the Civil War, a governor of Rhode Island (1866-68), railroad tycoon and United States Senator from 1875 until his death Sept. 3, 1881.

THE LOTTIE MOON HOUSE — Here in a small house, a part of the present one at 220 High St., Oxford, Ohio, lived Lottie and Virginia Moon. It sold in 1859 at a collector's sale to a local citizen who built brick walls around it and added a four-room, two-story front. It is now the summer home of Samuel Richey of Cincinnati, Ohio.

REBEL — Oxford female college, where Virginia Moon shot the stars out of Old Glory because she resented the sentiments expressed by her Northern schoolmates.

The name of Lottie Moon has been a household presence for millions of Southern Baptists, some of whom have given more than $450,000 in support of foreign missions to the Lottie Moon Christmas Offering for foreign missions. This offering is a cherished Southern Baptist tradition for celebrating the birth of Jesus Christ.

According to history, both cousins were descendants of William de Mohun, Earl of Somerset, noted for daring and courage, and dubbed "the noblest man of the Norman army" who was rewarded by William the Conqueror for his services in the Battle of Hastings. It is said that one of the De Mohuns settled near Jamestown, Va. During 1609-10, the starving time, they migrated to other parts of Virginia. William Moon I of the Albemarle County, Va., Moons, was the grandfather of William II, the father of Robert S. Moon of Oxford, Ohio.

A land grant from King George III of England included the plantation of William Moon II where the father of Lottie, Robert, was born in 1798.

The Oxford "Lottie" and Virginia, her sister, carried messages from the Richmond government of the Confederacy to the Knights of the Golden Circle as spies.

In Miami Valley, Ohio, versions of the Moon story, Lottie is the heroine, but in Memphis, Va., Virginia Moon is a part of the city's folklore, forgotten by "Yankee Oxford."

Robert S. Moon came to Ohio to free his slaves along with other family members through Memphis when he heard of the new college town in the forested lands of four-mile creek, a tributary of the Great Miami river.

He bought a lot across from the Miami University campus in 1831 which he sold to Zachariah Dewitt in 1833 for $150. Dewitt built a substantial two-story brick home on it which Moon bought from John McGonigle in addition to paying $300 for the lot adjoining it on the East. The Beta Theta Pi fraternity is now located there and the DeWitt-Moon part of the structure in the rear is still in use.

Robert brought his family, Cynthia (Sullivan) Moon, two sons and one daughter, to Oxford in 1834, building an ell on the house where he lived in the comfort and style befitting a Virginia gentleman. Cynthia Charlotte was 5 at the time.

Five years later, Robert Moon sold the home and the family moved to a main two-story rented house at 220 High St.

Moon was considered eccentric by his neighbors, reading good books, dressing plainly and often walking alone in the woods. His wife, Cynthia, was an orthodox Presbyterian who was active in church and sent the children to Sunday school.

The sons, James Apperson and Robert Anderson, possessed a calm temperament like Moons. The daughters showed the fire and spirit of their turbulent Moon forebears who didn't know the meaning of defeat.

Many a beau found his way to call on Charlotte and Mary Beeler Moon, another sister. To avoid being called "Cynth" which the family preferred, Cynthia Charlotte took her middle name and the family then called her "Lot." Friends softened this to "Lottie." Though not beautiful, Lottie was rosy cheeked and petite, with exquisite hands and forearms, dainty feet and neatly turned ankles. Vivacity, originality with a scintillating mind compensated for her lack of physical beauty.

The Oxford Lottie is perhaps best remembered for the prank she pulled at her would-be wedding to a young Yankee lieutenant named Ambrose E. Burnside, whose distinguished whiskers later earned the name "sideburns."

President Morris of the college refused her request to be sent home, but this act won her immediate expulsion.

After Burnside said his vows at the altar, the minister turned to Lottie and asked her to reciprocate.

To the guests' outrage and the bridegroom-elects' humiliation, Lottie answered, "No siree, Bob, I won't," lifting her skirts and fleeing the room.

The courtship continued, however, until Lottie married another man, a lawyer named James Clark, on Jan. 30, 1849, half promising to marry another if he arrived first.

On the appointed day the minister arrived and guests gathered at the Moon home at 220 E. High Street. As the clock struck the hour, two upstairs doors opened and James met Lottie in the hallway.

According to one history book, "as they started to descend to the parlor below, James pulled a small pistol from his pocket, saying quietly but firmly, 'There will be a wedding here tonight or a funeral tomorrow.'" Needless to say, the union was consummated.

James and Lottie Clark were against war, believing that the south would eventually abolish slavery as unprofitable itself. Clark was said to have been one of the brains of the Copperheads or Peace Democrats in Butler County.

Lottie's career as a rebel spy began in the summer of 1862, when she volunteered to deliver some important dispatches through rebel lines to General Kirby Smith.

Disguised as an Irish washerwoman with a floppy bonnet and ragged shawl, she weasled her way into Confederate territory, delivered the dispatches to a surprised Confederate horseman, and slipped back employing her superb acting skills whenever necessary.

Two years later, she disguised herself as an English invalid and managed to trick President Abraham Lincoln into letting her travel with his official party. Again, she proved her ability as spy courier. Lincoln was "appalled" when he later learned how he had been duped.

Deciding to use the English invalid disguise a second time, Lottie was captured and hauled before a Yankee family moved to New York. In 1878 she wrote a book about her experiences entitled "How She Came Into Her Kingdom."

The book immediately became a best-seller with some critics comparing the work to that of Jules Verne, George Eliot and Charlotte Bronte.

Lottie was an agnostic until her only child, a son, was confirmed as rector of the Episcopal church. She also was confirmed.

Lottie died in 1895 of cancer, but her name lives on in legend.

An update on the Lottie Moon story in Oxford is the creation of a rock bar from a former disco bar with the name, "Lottie Moon's Underground." The new look of the establishment, formerly known as Ziggy's bar, includes a custom-made stained glass window, an ornate wood and brick decor and a solid oak bar.

(Next Sunday look for a follow-up on one of the most intelligent and well-educated women of Pre-Civil War South. Lottie Moon became a successful missionary and advocate of Women's Missionary Societies, women's liberation and a powerful influence for good both on the mission field and in America.)

THE BRAINS — James Clark, husband of Lottie Moon and a common pleas judge for Butler, Preble and Darke counties, 1855-57 and said to be, along with M. M. Maginnis, "the brains" of the Anti-War Party in Butler County, a hotbed of Copperheadism.

SPUNKY LADY — Charlotte Moon, Confederate spy, newspaper correspondent, lecturer and author, born Aug. 10, 1829, in Danville, Va. Lottie lived in Oxford, Ohio from 1831-49 where she married and lived with James Clark.

Wedding ceremony is solemnized in Roswell

Wedding vows were spoken Saturday afternoon by Iris Gloria Narbaiz and Simon T. Correa Jr. in a double-ring ceremony solemnized in the St. John's Church, Roswell, N.M.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chon Narbaiz, Roswell, N.M. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Simon T. Correa Sr., Big Spring.

The Rev. Larry Bernard, pastor, read the 2 p.m. rite before floral arrangements in colors of burgundy, yellow and burnt orange.

Mrs. Bernard Klein provided traditional wedding music at the organ as the bride was presented down the aisle attired in white floor-length gown.

The bodice, fashioned with a high neckline, was designed with an empire waistline from which flowing pleats fell to the floor to form a chapel-length train.

Completing her bridal ensemble was a hat which held a waltz-length veil. Lace and seed pearls accentuated her ensemble.

She carried a cascading bouquet of white, dusty rose and beige silk rosebuds sprinkled with baby's breath.

Tonya Carstensen, Big Spring, attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Beatrice Correa, sister of the groom, and Karen Bellinghausen, both of Big Spring; and Mary-helen Ruiz, cousin of the bride, Roswell, N.M.

David Correa, Big Spring, was best man. Groomsmen included Gume Narbaiz, Dallas, brother of the bride; Richard Bellinghausen, and Joe Correa, brother of the groom, both of Big Spring.

Guests were seated by Mario Cadena, Dallas, and Alfred Narbaiz, brother of the bride, Roswell, N.M.

Debbie Fuentes, Roswell, N.M., and Aaron Bellinghausen, Big Spring, served as flower girl and ring bearer, respectively.

The bride graduated from Roswell High School in 1973 and is currently employed with Halliburton Services Equipment Operators Training School.

The groom is a West Texas State University graduate with a degree in business. He is employed with Correa Cabinet Shop.

Following the exchange of rings and vows, Mr. and Mrs. Correa were feted with a dinner reception at the Ave Maria Center. Guests were registered by Lupe Prudencio.

Aunts of the bride hosted the affair. Burgundy roses and white trimmings decorated the three-tiered wedding cake. Flower arrangements and candles enhanced the setting as centerpieces.

Upon returning from a wedding trip to various points in South Texas, the newlyweds will be at home in Big Spring.

Sense of humor is key to coping with problems

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — You can survive almost any emotional steamroller if you can hold onto your sense of humor, says Emily Hardy of the University of Iowa Counseling Service.

"We create our own climate or tone for living," she explains. "Once you get the habit of looking on the bright side, you'll be surprised how much easier it will be to cut daily problems down to manageable size."

Most people have to cultivate a sense of humor, Ms. Hardy believes. Few are born able to spot all those silver linings.

"You are missing something vital if you're not finding situations or anecdotes or comical events daily that will trigger joyous laughter — one wave of chuckles after another that help you 'let go,'" the UI psychologist says.

"If your outlook has been somber till now, you may have trouble at first finding things to laugh at," she adds.

One way to begin cultivating your ability to accentuate the positive is to start building a collection of all types of "moments to remember," she suggests. These can range from happenings at home to triumphs and compliments in the job.

"They can include any experience that made you feel good — from something beautiful to look at, like the flaming yellow of the maple tree outside your dining room window, to the spontaneous hug of a child you love. You may recall episodes of great physical exhilaration — such as your first time on water skis — or the deep satisfaction of being able to give a lift to someone in trouble."

Keeping a journal of such cherished moments will help you to remember them, Ms. Hardy says.

Once you've made a good start recording these experiences, start looking for funny happenings to add to your collection. Sharing funny experiences with friends will help you remember them, too, and will multiply laughs for everyone.

But avoid ethnic jokes or any type of humor that puts others down, Ms. Hardy cautions. Such jokes are hostile.

"You'll find constructive or creative humor much more rewarding," Ms. Hardy points out. "This type of humor doesn't step on anybody's toes, but lets everybody laugh together at the minor failings of human beings or the incongruous situations we get ourselves into."

An example: the teacher who said to a student, "Suppose you took 75 cents out of one pocket of your trousers and then 75 cents out of the other pocket. What would you have?"

"Someone else's pants," replied the realistic child.

Such humor can ease a tense situation or create a relaxing atmosphere at home, at work or in a social situation. It's consoling to others and sparks a "We're all in the same boat, so let's make the best of it" feeling, the counselor says.

Cultivating this kind of humor will enable you to laugh at yourself frequently, Ms. Hardy explains. Besides keeping you from taking yourself too seriously, this will endear you to others.

"When the daily hassle has drained you of energy, take a few minutes out to sit back and savor one or two of these happy times or funny situations again," Ms. Hardy advises. "Reliving the glow of hard-earned success or pulling out all the stops for a good laugh will recharge you emotionally."

Focus on family living

Big game -- nutritious eating

Big game provides variety and contributes high quality nutrients to meals of families of Texas sportsmen. Utilization of this wild game aids conservation of a valuable resource and can stretch the food budget year round.

Big game also fits into the meat group of the basic four food groups. Like domestic meat, it is rich in protein, minerals and vitamins. There is one difference though — it is generally low in fat. Serving size is two to three ounces of lean meat.

Meat of big game furnishes protein needed for growth and repair of body tissues, muscles, blood, skin and hair. It also provides iron, thiamin, riboflavin and niacin.

For those who prefer to have their deer meat made into sausage, here are some deer sausage recipes.

Since there are many preferences for different flavors and textures, adapt these recipes to please individual tastes.

FRESH BREAKFAST SAUSAGE

- 25 pounds lean deer, antelope or elk meat
 - 25 pounds very fresh regular pork trimmings (50 percent lean, 50 percent fat)
 - 1 pound salt
 - 1 1/2-2 ounces ground sage
 - 1 1/2-2 ounces black pepper
 - 1/2 ounce red pepper (if desired)
 - 5 ounces sugar
- FOR SMALL QUANTITIES
- 2 pounds wild game meat
 - 2 pounds regular pork trimmings
 - 2 teaspoons salt
 - 2 teaspoons ground sage
 - 2 teaspoons ground black pepper
 - 1/4-1/2 teaspoon red pepper (if desired)
 - 1 teaspoon sugar
- Thoroughly mix trimmings, and grind through a plate with 1/2-inch holes. Spread coarsely ground meat on table top, sprinkle seasoning on top and thoroughly mix. Re-grind through a plate with 1/8-inch holes.

If a 1/2-inch plate is not available, sprinkle seasoning on top of trimmings, thoroughly mix and grind once through a plate with 1/8-inch holes.

For stuffed sausage, stuff immediately for best results. Stuff into natural hog casings, plastic bags or muslin bags (use any cloth bag made from strong cloth that has been washed several times).

Obtain natural hog casings from meat markets, local meat processing plants or stores.

Soak them in warm, salty water for about one hour or until they are pliable.

If bulk sausage is to be served soon after making, add 3/4 cup of water to about four pounds of sausage. Knead with hands until sausage becomes sticky.

Pack tightly in small molds, pans or cans and chill overnight before slicing.

CURED AND SMOKED SAUSAGE COUNTRY STYLE

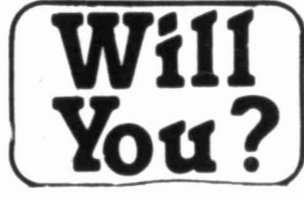

- 37 1/2 pounds of deer, antelope or elk meat
 - 12 1/2 pounds of very fresh pork fat trimmings (fat-back)
 - 1 bound salt
 - 1 ounce salt-peter (potassium nitrate — obtain at drug store)
 - 2 ounces black pepper
 - 1/2 ounce ground cloves (or 1/2 ounce ground nutmeg, if desired)
 - 1/4 ounce garlic powder (if desired)
- Prepare and grind meat, and add seasonings as for fresh sausage. Stuff into natural hog casings or muslin casings. Hang or place on racks to cure, and dry for 24 to 48 hours at a temperature of 38-40 degrees F.

The Fresh Breakfast Sausage recipe can also be used to make cured and smoked sausage.

SMOKING: Smoke the sausage one to two hours or until light brown color is obtained.

Smoke and store big game sausage properly.

TWEEN 12 and 20

Time to drop that torch

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I am an 18-year-old girl and the last time I dated a guy was three years ago. My boyfriend was really sweet but due to a misunderstanding we broke up. Ever since, I have never wanted to be close to a guy.

For the last three years I hung around with a close group of girls. We have now gone our separate ways except for one very close friend.

Last month she started dating a guy so now I'm friendless, and I'm really in a negative, nasty mood.

This girl suggested that I should start "LIVING" again, but it's been so long since I've been with a guy, I don't know how to get one and what to do if I do. Help!

— Connie, Battle Creek, Mich.

Connie: It's time you started dating again. You've carried the torch long enough. Have your girlfriend fix you up with a guy.

Dating is like riding a bicycle. Once you have learned how, you never forget how no matter how long the lay off.

Dr. Wallace: I've got a problem. I'm a 17-year-old girl who is going with a guy, 15. We have been going steady for about a year but for the last two months she has been lying to me, cheating on me and totally ignoring me.

She says that she loves me but by the way she is acting, I don't think she does. I have plans of marrying her and I love her too much to dump her so what else can I do? — Scott, Nashua, N.H.

Scott: I agree with you. I don't think that she loves you but she does know that she has you wrapped around her little finger. She knows that she can do as she pleases and that you will do nothing about it.

At this stage in your life it would be foolish to consider marriage. You don't have to stop caring for this girl but your chances with her would be much better if you would date other girls.

Dr. Wallace: My mother and I are having a disagreement on how a woman should be addressed. Since all men are addressed as Mr., I think all women (and girls) should be addressed as Ms.

My mother disagrees. She prefers Miss for unmarried women and Mrs. for those who are wed. I'd like to hear your thoughts. — Brenda, Elgin, Ill.

Brenda: What's fair is fair. Since it's Mr. for men then it should be Ms. for ladies. But it appears that most females don't agree with us.

In a recent poll of 3,000 women in North America, sponsored by Virginia Slims Women's Opinion Poll, 77 percent of the women preferred to be called Miss or Mrs., 16 percent favored Ms., and the other 7 percent didn't care, just so they were called.

Send questions to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent, stamped, large, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace, in care of this newspaper.

JANUARY VOWS — Mr. and Mrs. Doke Pierce, Big Spring, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Barbara Lavelle, Odessa, to Stephen R. Hurst, also of Odessa. Hurst is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hurst, Mineral Wells. The couple will speak their wedding vows Jan. 3 at the Wesley United Methodist Church. Phil Harguess, Odessa Church of Christ minister, will officiate.

Dear Abby

Woman Wonders As She Wanders

DEAR ABBY: I am a grown woman with a good husband, two wonderful children and a full, busy life. I do a lot of driving and always allow myself time for getting lost.

Even if I have been there before, I get turned around and have to stop and ask for directions. Sometimes I have to stop and ask for directions two and three times. I am a careful driver and I am considered fairly intelligent, but I have absolutely no sense of direction.

My husband says I get lost because I lack self-confidence and I set out expecting to get lost. Can that be? Are there others like me? Have you any suggestions?

GETS LOST A LOT

DEAR GETS: Don't be ashamed. Some of our brainiest people get lost a lot. Recommended solution: When you start out, have written instructions on how to get to where you're going. Should you get lost, stop at once and ask for help. (And be sure to listen carefully, so that you understand the directions.) Also, always take the phone number of the place you headed for in case you want to call and ask how to get there. If that fails, carry a compass, a Bible and a survival kit.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from SHOCKED IN SAN DIEGO didn't shock me. (Shocked's 17-year-old son was dating a 17-year-old girl whose mother rented a motel room for the kids so her daughter's first sexual experience would be "nice.") Listen to this:

Our son, age 18, was invited to go on an extended motor trip with his 17-year-old girlfriend and both her parents. When they stopped overnight at motels, the parents rented two rooms. And instead of putting the men in one room and women in the other like respectable people, they put the two kids in one room and occupied the other room themselves.

I think they were hoping their daughter would get pregnant so our son would have to marry her. Care to comment?

DISGUSTED IN CALIF.

DEAR DISGUSTED: Under California law, "Sexual intercourse with a female under the age of 18 and not the wife of the male constitutes Statutory Rape." And, "The combination of two or more individuals in furtherance of an unlawful act constitutes a Conspiracy."

So your son could have been charged with statutory rape, and his girlfriend's parents could have been charged with conspiracy.

Today's teens need to know all about drugs, boy-girl relationships and how to grow up in a permissive society. Get Abby's new booklet: "What Every Teenager Ought to Know." Send $2 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Ervin Daniel married the former Marie Adams of Lubbock on Nov. 26, 1930 in Clovic, N.N. Daniel began working in the Post Office in Big Spring in 1929.

After being employed for 18 years as a clerk, he transferred to carrier of route one where he worked until his retirement in 1965. His hobby is golf and he has spent 56 years as an active member of Masonic Bodies.

Mrs. Daniel has devoted the past 50 years to being a housewife and mother. Her hobbies are sewing and crocheting. She also plays golf and is a member of the Order of Eastern Star and Social Order of Beauceants. The Daniels have been members of the First Baptist Church in Big Spring for 48 years.

The children request their parents' friends to share anything which recalls memories from their parents' first 50 years of marriage. They are compiling a book which recalls memories from the past and will present this gift to their parents on their honored day.

The book is to contain pictures, events and other special memories from the past 50 years.

All friends are invited to attend.

Ceramics fosters originality

Create personalized gifts

NEW YORK (AP) — Ceramics offers a way to make one-of-a-kind decorations and gifts, suggests Sui-Ming Chen, a teacher of the craft.

"Hobby ceramics allows the beginner to create beautiful original objects at low cost," says Mrs. Chen, who is certified by the National Ceramic Manufacturers Association as a master teacher of hobby ceramics.

It is also a form of family recreation, she points out, since preparing inventive ornaments for the Christmas tree is an activity that the family members can join in.

techniques or start their own workshops at home.

According to Mrs. Chen, it's really quite simple. The hobbyist cleans the greenware by smoothing down the mold marks and any undesired surface roughness with a damp sponge or plastic scouring pad.

The piece is then fired, in the studio's kiln for a small fee, or in a low-cost kiln for some use that does not in most cases require special wiring.

Some hobbyists prefer to buy greenware that has already been fired. This greenware, called bisque, comes out of the kiln with a matte white finish that the hobbyist can decorate with a non-firing glaze or stain.

The piece is now ready to be decorated with a variety of ceramic colors and glazes. If a non-firing stain is used, it is not necessary to refire. When dry, it is simply sprayed with sealing fixative. The item is ready to use as soon as it dries, Mrs. Chen says.

A variety of effects is possible: fur or wood textures, marbelizing, embossing, raised designs, metallics and lusters. Non-toxic stains and glazes are used for kitchen accessories and serving pieces.

"If you have ever longed to create personalized gifts that can be identified as exclusively yours, this is an opportunity to create true originals," adds Mrs. Chen.

4-H club makes wreaths

Members of the Forsan 4-H Club met Nov. 20 at the Elbow Cafeteria. It was voted to change meeting time from Monday to Tuesday nights.

Those attending made wreaths from coat hangers tied with candy to take to the Veterans Administration Medical Center.

Refreshments were served following the meeting.

What's silverplate? As the price of sterling continues to climb, there is new interest in this luxurious flatware. Here at ACCENT SHOPPE, we explain that silverplate is pure silver, bonded by an electroplating method to a harder metal base. The technique was originally used for religious icons in the Russian Orthodox Church, but it was perfected on flatware in England and thence transplanted to America. Ever since Victorian times — when the pieces were much in demand — shining silverplate has been a growing status symbol in American homes. Like yours?

Denita's Beauty Basics

Q: Should my skin care program change from one season to the next?

A: Nearly everyone's regimen should change from season to season.

Take into consideration the conditions your skin must put up with during the cold months of winter: Cold temperatures, drying winds, dehydrating hot water baths and indoor heat. Consequently, you will notice your skin becoming dryer.

To offset this dryness, begin using moisturizer if you are not already. If moisturizer is presently part of your daily regimen, you may want to switch to a richer more emollient one, and apply it liberally.

Soap and water users may also change to a milder, less drying soap — a cleansing cream or lotion — or apply a rich oil to the face before washing with soap.

Also, don't forget that mask or sloughing cream to speed the exfoliation process, this will help the skin to absorb more readily.
