FOUND GUILTY — Rep. Frank Thompson of Trenton, New Jersey, says a few parting words as his wife gets into a car Wednesday night after he was found guilty on Abscam charges in Federal Court in Brooklyn. Thompson, 62, was convicted of bribery and conspiracy. He has served in Congress since 1954.

26 persons perish, 40 hurt in inn fire

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — Fire raced through part of the Stouffer's Inn of Westchester today, and County Executive Alfred DelBello said at least 26 people were killed and up to 40 were injured.

"As soon as it went, it went like crazy," said Eric Ewaldt, general manager of the hotel in this suburb about 20 miles north of mid-Manhattan.

DelBello said officials told him "It might have been an electrical fire." John Castle, a Westchester policeman, said "Everything worked, the sprinklers and everything, but it just went boom."

It was not known immediately whether the victims died of smoke inhalation or burns.

The fire came 13 days after a blaze at the MGM Grand Hotel-Casino in Las Vegas, Nev., killed 84 people, injured more than 700 and caused millions of dollars worth of damage. In that fire, the alarm system failed to work properly and the casino, where the fire spread rapidly, was not equipped with sprinklers.

Police said the Westchester fire erupted at about 10:20 a.m. in a three-story brick building housing a ballroom, offices and meeting rooms and was controlled less than 40 minutes later without spreading to guest rooms.

DelBello said he believed as many as 40 persons might have been injured, many from jumping out of the second-story window of a conference room where officials of the Arrow Electronics Co. were meeting. At Arrow headquarters in Greenwich, Conn., executive vice president John Waddell said there was a meeting at the inn and that some of the firm's personnel were casualties.

Local police expect to arrest prime suspect in murder case

Police have a prime suspect in the shooting death of Andy Mendoza, 26, and hope to make an arrest sometime this weekend, said Detective George Quintero, this morning.

Mendoza was gunned down late on the night of Nov. 22. Police found Mendoza lying in the middle of the street on the 200 block of Northeast Ninth. An ambulance transported him to Malone-Hogan Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival.

"We have a primary suspect," said

Quintero. "We are still going around the neighborhood questioning persons who might have seen something. We hope to compile everything and get a warrant by Friday. Then we'll get with the District Attorney and go from there," he added.

Quintero said that investigators believe the shooting may have resulted from a long-standing feud that came to a head during an argument in a local bar earlier on the night of Nov. 22.

Guidelines OK 'criminal' informants

WASHINGTON (AP) — Attorney General Benjamin R. Civiletti today issued guidelines for the FBI that in some cases would allow informants to participate in crimes.

At a news conference at FBI headquarters, Civiletti said the guidelines for the first time pull together policies and practices that had been previously scattered in various government manuals and policy statements.

The guidelines say that a FBI informant in a criminal case shall be warned that his relationship with the bureau will not protect him from prosecution for federal, state or local crimes except in specified instances.

FBI Director William H. Webster gave an example from the case of Gary Thomas Rowe, an FBI informant in the 1960s in the South. Rowe has been charged in Alabama with attempting to kill civil rights worker Viola Liuzzo. Webster said, "We would not have allowed Rowe to fire at Liuzzo, but we might have allowed him to fire in the air."

The guidelines unveiled today cover the FBI's use of informants and confidential sources and for its launching of criminal investigations of individuals and organizations.

They incorporate the guidelines issued during the Ford administration by Attorney General Edward Levi for launching domestic security investigations.

The Levi guidelines said the FBI had to have some evidence that a crime had been committed or would be committed before opening an investigation of a domestic group, in order to avoid investigations based solely on the group's political views.

Those rules were spurred by the revelation that the bureau had engaged in monitoring and disrupting antiwar and civil rights organizations.

Rep. Eckhardt is bitter

Republicans play dirty pool?

WASHINGTON — Rep. Bob Eckhardt, one of many liberal Democrats to bite the dust this year, is bitter. He accuses the Republicans of playing dirty pool and manipulating "demagogic, emotional" issues to scare confused voters.

The congressional leadership, says the Houston Democrat, is a unwitting fool.

Christmas Fund off to good start

The Christmas Fund, which has a goal of $20,000, is off to a good start.

The Salvation Army, which strives to make sure that needy families share in the spirit of Christmas, is coordinating the drive. Checks can be forwarded either to the Salvation Army, 600 W. 4th St., Big Spring 79720, or to the Herald, which will refer the money to the Salvation Army.

Lt. William Thrasher of the Salvation Army reported Wednesday that $1,559.80 had already been donated toward the fund. Included is a $300 gift from Hazel Duggan and $100 each from A and B Farms Inc., S.E. Haney and Mrs. G.D. Dawson.

Thrasher said that it is to be remembered that the Salvation Army's Christmas program is not a part of the Army's activities supported by the United Way.

Item 3 of bond issue

You will pay for lack of fire protection one way or another

Item No. 3 on the list of nine bond proposals which will be voted upon by local residents Dec. 13 deals with needs, immediate and long range, of the city fire department.

The biggest requirement, as city fire officials see it, is for new fire fighting equipment. The total issue would be for $500,000. It is being proposed that four new fire trucks be bought. Two of these could be booster trucks — units designed primarily to fight smaller fires or to put out fires quickly before they get out of hand. Such trucks carry a sizeable amount of water and come equipped with high velocity pumps and hoses, the kind that can be used immediately even without regard to fire plugs.

Two other units would be fire engines, or trucks which have larger, high-pressure pumps that can deliver large amounts of water via a large supply hose from a fire plug, through the engine, to the fire. These units also would carry ladders and other specialized equipment needed to fight blazes, plus a modest amount of water which can be put to instant use.

Three of the new trucks would be used at Central Fire Station, according to Ryals, the fourth at Station No. 4 at North Main and Eighth Streets.

Cost of the new trucks is pegged at $435,000 and Ryals says the need is so urgent that it is proposed the fire protection funds be expended no later than 1981.

"According to the formula used by the State Board of Insurance, fire trucks receive credits for up to 25 years. Three of the trucks that we propose to replace are 24 years old this year, and the fourth is 17 years old," said City Manager Don Davis. "If we lose those points, we pay higher insurance premiums, not to mention the difficulty and cost of finding parts for trucks that old. This is another one of those situations where you have to pay to update the equipment, but if you don't you'll have to pay somewhere else," he added.

Fire officials here point to the need for a new roof on the Central Fire Station, located at Fourth and Nolan Streets. The station has been in use since 1931-32. Since that time, the roof has been kept in good condition but, officials say, it again needs attention.

Fire Chief Jim Ryals also says the building's plumbing and electrical system needs to be replaced to meet today's heavier load demands. These, and other miscellaneous items, would cost an estimated $65,000.

Approval of Item 3 by the electorate in the Dec. 13 election would mean that taxes would go up a mere .0211 cents per $100 valuation.

NOT EXACTLY HOME — Fire station and facility improvements totaling $500,000 will be made to the Big Spring Fire Department if voters approve item No. 3 in the Dec. 13 bond election. The scene here is in the recreational room of the Central Fire Station at Fourth and Nolan Streets. It would undergo improvements.

St. Helens victim found

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — Authorities may have trouble identifying the body of a person who may have died in an eruption of Mount St. Helens because the jaw is missing, sheriff's deputies said.

Deputy Gary Lee said the scattered remains were found Wednesday by workers dredging the Cowlitz River of volcanic silt resulting from a May 18 eruption. That blast killed 34 people and left 28 others missing.

Cowlitz County Coroner D.F. Winebrenner said he would examine the remains but since the jaw was missing no dental comparison could be made.

Sickle-cell anemia suit

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Air Force policy is being challenged in a federal court suit that claims a Minneapolis man was dismissed from the service's preparatory school because he carries the trait for sickle-cell anemia.

A class-action suit filed Wednesday contends it was unconstitutional for the Air Force to dismiss Stephen Pullens, 20, from the Colorado Springs, Colo., school in July 1979 on the basis of the anemia finding. The school prepares candidates for the Air Force Academy.

The Air Force said the policy was instituted because those with the trait may collapse or suddenly die if subjected to strenuous physical exertion or lack of oxygen at high altitude. Sickle-cell anemia is an inherited chronic disease found chiefly among blacks. Pullens is black.

Railroad Centennial Committee will meet with programs pro

The Howard County Railroad Centennial Committee, which is chaired by John Taylor, will meet with a representative of the Roberts Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., at 3 p.m., next Wednesday in the Chamber of Commerce offices.

The Roberts firm has staged 6,000 similar programs around the United States and Canada and would be available to help in the planning and the execution of the program scheduled here next May.

At that time, the coming of the Texas and Pacific Railroad to Big Spring will be celebrated with a program that could last for several days.

New dimension in Christmas music presented to Lions

Members of the Downtown Lions Club got a new dimension in Christmas music Wednesday.

Joe Whitten, director, and the Howard College vocal ensemble presented a program of Christmas music, principally in contemporary setting. For the finale, Whitten had the club join in the singing of a familiar carol. The "New Dimension" is a new part of the college choral program, having been organized at the start of this semester.

Dub Martin, president, announced that there will be no meeting of the club next Wednesday, but instead the club will observe Ladies Night on the evening of Dec. 11 in the Cactus Room at the Club SUB. Also, the Dec. 24 meeting on Christmas eve will be suspended.

Community Christmas program to feature 750 local students

Approximately 750 elementary music students from Big Spring schools, and the 13-piece Howard College Jazz Lab Band will perform Christmas music at the Third Annual Community Christmas Program at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The winner of the cover design, which will appear on the printed program, will be announced and presented a plaque at the event, which will be held in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The Cultural Affairs Council of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce and many sponsors of the Big Spring business firms and the city PTA council are sponsoring the program.

UW schedules caboose meeting next Friday

The Big Spring-Howard County United Way will have its Caboose meeting at 5:15 p.m. Friday, Dec. 12 in the Tumbleweed Room of the Student Union Building of Howard College, according to United Way officials.

The Caboose meeting will be the final meeting of the Big Spring 1980-81 United Way campaign and all volunteers are urged to attend as awards will be presented and totals will be announced.

Officials are urging any workers who have not turned in their cards or money they have collected to turn it in before Friday's meeting. Officials also said that anyone who is interested in giving to United Way may still do so by either sending their pledge to P.O. Box 24, Big Spring, 79720 or call the United Way office at 267-5201 to make a pledge.

Collections, totaling $160,822.34, are within 28 percent of the $225,000 goal or 72 percent, say officials at the United Way office.

By divisions, collections total:

Out of town — $4,651.81; Pacesetters — $61,208.24; Special — $57,730.17; Metropolitan — $7,324.96; CFC — $10,567.91; Professional — $11,876; Rural — $1,390; and Residential — $6,073.25.

This is the most money ever raised for the United Way in Big Spring. The previous high was set in the 1977-78 campaign, when collections totaled $140,575. Last year's total was $128,888.

Carter: Soviet buildup 'unprecedented'

WASHINGTON (AP) — While key officials say there is no evidence that Kremlin has decided to launch a military strike, President Carter and his top aides are calling the Soviet troop buildup along the Polish border unprecedented and encouraging Moscow to imagine the worst if it decides to invade.

In a written statement Wednesday, Carter said, "The United States is watching with growing concern the unprecedented buildup of Soviet forces along the Polish border and the closing of certain frontier regions along the border."

He added: "I want all countries to know that the attitude and future policies of the United States toward the Soviet Union would be directly and very adversely affected by any Soviet use of force in Poland."

Noting Soviet references to "anti-socialist forces" alleged to be operating within Poland's trade unions, which are openly challenging the Communist Party's domination of that nation, the president said: "We know from postwar history that such allegations have sometimes preceded military intervention."

The scope and purpose of the Soviet buildup were uncertain. Some administration sources who have been monitoring the situation closely said that the president might be overstating the case somewhat by calling the Soviet buildup "unprecedented." These specialists said there has been no overall pattern of reinforcement of the 21 Soviet divisions in western Russia, from which strategists believe a major attack on Poland would be most likely to come.

Intelligence sources, meanwhile, said that despite Carter's reference to border closings, traffic between East Germany and Poland has been moving freely. They said the Soviets have barred only Western military observers from a "temporary restricted zone" in preparation for an air defense exercise within the next few days.

No one in the administration was willing to say exactly how the United States would react to an invasion of Poland.

Boutwell to exhibit recent watercolors

George Boutwell, the well-known Austin watercolorist, will be exhibiting his recent works at Citizens Federal Credit Union Dec. 7 thru Dec. 12. The one-man show, which will open with a reception Sunday from 1 to 6 p.m., will also be open to the general public Monday thru Friday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Local residents will be able to meet this highly acclaimed artist during the reception Sunday, as well as during the showing both Monday and Friday.

Works by Boutwell are in great demand and are included in private collections throughout the United States and in other countries. He was commissioned by the Dr. Pepper Company to do four paintings of antique signs, which they later reproduced and distributed during the spring of 1977. Articles on Boutwell and his works have been featured in such national art magazines as Southwestern Art, Fall, 1976; North Light, May-June 1977; Southwest Art, May 1977; and Prints, October 1979. He has also been featured in issues of Texas Highways.

Boutwell works in transparent watercolor and pen and ink; two of the most difficult mediums that exist. His pen and ink drawings depict even the smallest of details and consumes untold hours. His watercolor paintings do not look like the usual watercolorers one sees; the razor sharp focus, the incredible detail and rich colors are not typical of watercolor.

His style of painting is self taught and cannot be found in any books or formal art courses. His individual style, which had not received a name until recently, has been labeled magic realism — a classification normally given to oils, acrylic, or tempera. To even attempt magic realism in transparent watercolor; a medium that allows no mistakes; is virtually unheard of.

At seven branch college campuses

Funds may be whacked

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Students attending classes at some of the state's seven branch college campuses may be looking for other schools if funds for higher education are cut back within the next decade.

In a long-range plan for Texas higher education, the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, has recommended that the legislature consider eliminating some or all of the seven state-supported branch campuses if state appropriations must be reduced.

The board — which oversees the state's higher education system — will meet Thursday in Houston to discuss the plan with junior and senior college representatives.

The legislature appropriated $3.4 billion for higher education for the 1980-81 school year — a 19.3 percent increase over last year's $2.9 billion appropriation.

If funds are not available at the current level during the next 10 years, board members believe that selective rather than across-the-board cuts should be made to avoid reducing the overall quality of education, said Debbey Bay, director of publications for the coordinating board.

Other alternative cutbacks suggested in the staff report include:

—reducing or eliminating support for off-campus and out-of-district courses.

—combining colleges and universities located near each other.

—combining academic departments and staff positions.

—requiring community junior college districts to bear a larger portion of the education and administrative costs.

The report also recommends that the legislature repeal the state's so-called 10 cent property tax, which funds construction projects at 17 institutions.

Lawmakers in effect repealed the tax last year by reducing assessments to 0.0001 percent of market value of property, so that it raises only a few hundred dollars a year.

Ms. Bay said until the tax is officially repealed the schools cannot receive other state money for construction programs.

The board also plans to discuss raising faculty salaries and increasing tuition at senior colleges and medical and dental schools.

A committee headed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby has recommended a 100 percent tuition increase for senior colleges and universities.

The committee also suggests boosting medical school tuition from $400 to $3,600 a year and dental tuition from $400 to $2,500 a year.

Bay said that while the Coordinating Board has not recommended a specific tuition increase, members believe it should be raised since the last substantial increase was in 1957.

At that time, tuition for Texas residents who were full-time students was raised from $25 to $50 a semester. Current tuition is $4 a semester hour with a minimum $50 a semester cost, Bay said.

The board also will discuss with educators raising faculty salaries 12.6 percent each biennium, with an additional 7.5 percent increase as a catch-up appropriation for the 1982-83 school year.

Polish airliner forced down

BERLIN (AP) — A Polish airliner carrying 20 passengers and a crew of four on a domestic flight was hijacked by a Polish citizen today and forced to land at an American air base in West Berlin, the U.S. Air Force said.

"A Polish LOT airliner, flight 770, on a routine flight from Zielona Gora to Warsaw, landed at 0635 hours (3:35 a.m. EST) at Tempelhof Central airfield," a statement from the U.S. Military mission said. Zielona Gora is in western Poland, about 30 miles from the East German border.

The U.S. statement said the hijacker asked authorities for political asylum and was taken into custody by West Berlin police for further investigation.

"The crew, aircraft and passengers will be allowed to proceed when further questioning is completed," the statement said.

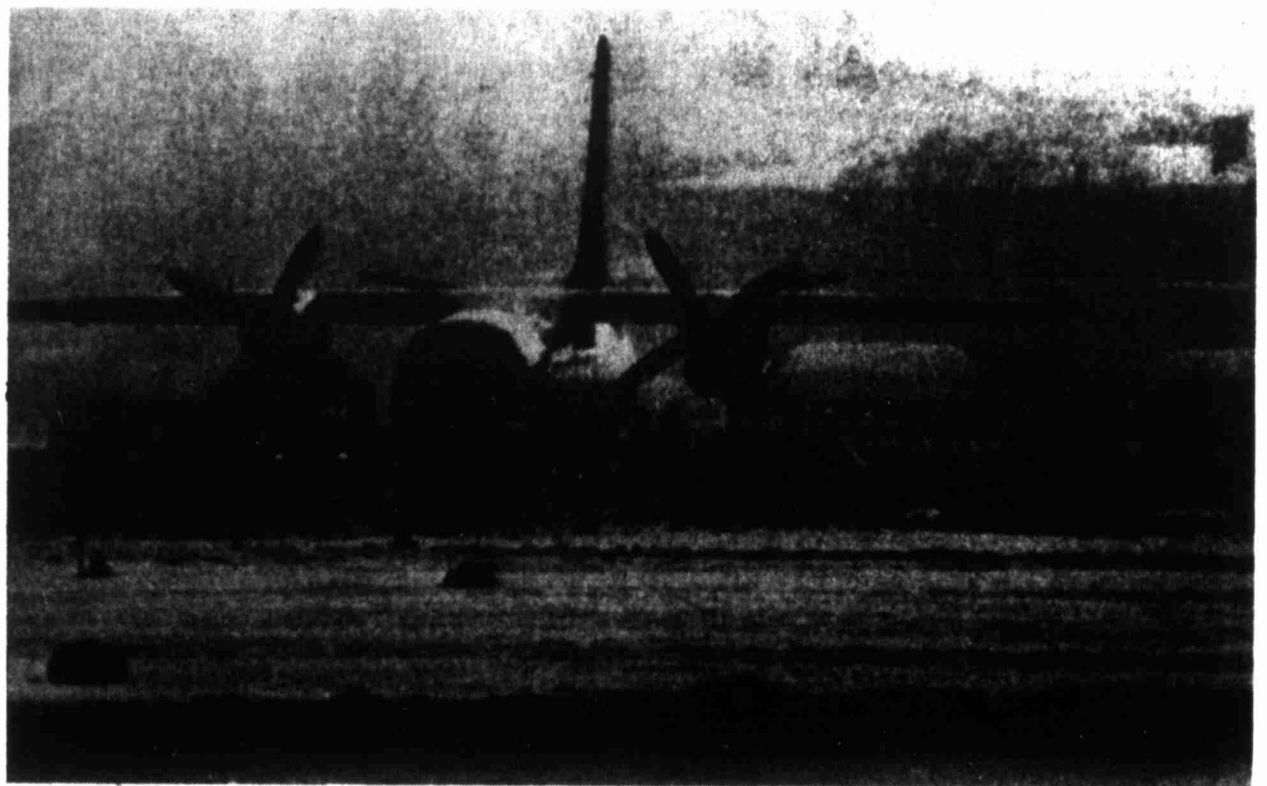

Unconfirmed reports said the hijacker used a hand grenade to force the pilot of the twin-engine Antonov 24 to take him to West Berlin. Another unconfirmed report said a single-engine plane pursued the airliner until it landed at Tempelhof.

The Antonov 24 normally has a capacity of 56 passengers.

It was the second Polish airliner hijacked to Tempelhof in 2½ years. In August 1978, an East German waiter hijacked a LOT Tupolev 134 jetliner with 62 passengers aboard.

Tensions in Poland, beset by government purges in the wake of widespread labor unrest and economic crisis, have risen dramatically this week in the wake of reports of a Soviet military buildup along its borders.

Connecticut Gov. Grasso to resign at end of year

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Gov. Ella Grasso, recently diagnosed as having cancer of the liver, announced today she will resign at the end of the year.

In a statement released by her office, Mrs. Grasso, 61, said: "Last week, it became apparent that cancer is present in my liver and further treatment is required. Chemotherapy has now been instituted."

Cancer of the liver is regarded as virtually incurable. Mrs. Grasso had a hysterectomy earlier this year in which doctors removed cancerous ovaries. She underwent chemotherapy at that time also.

Mrs. Grasso, a Democrat, said she would resign on Dec. 31, 1980. Lt. Gov. William A. O'Neill would succeed her in office.

"I make this decision with a heavy heart," the governor said, "but with full appreciation that the people's business must continue at the highest level and that an orderly transition can be secured."

When Mrs. Grasso was elected in 1974, she was the first woman elected U.S. governor without having had her husband precede her in office. She was re-elected in 1978 to a second four-year term.

Mrs. Grasso was released from Hartford Hospital earlier this week after completing the first phase of

GOV. ELLA GRASSO chemotherapy for liver cancer.

She was admitted for treatment of phlebitis, an inflammation of a leg vein. The liver cancer was discovered during her stay, and doctors recommended she remain in the hospital for chemotherapy.

Oil industry is very big in Texas

A slick publication authorized by the Independent Petroleum Association of America, entitled simply "The Oil Producing Industry in your State," comes up with some interesting statistics concerning petroleum, petroleum dollars and petroleum production in each of the 50 states.

For instance, 213 of Texas' 254 counties boast some kind of oil and/or gas production. The value at Texas' wells of crude oil produced since the first discovery was made in the state to last Jan. 1 came to a rather astounding $151,737,508,005. In 1979 alone, the value of crude oil and gas production in the state reached $21,632,324,000.

NEIGHBORING LOUISIANA is saturated with oil and gas — only two parishes among 64 report no production. The total value of oil production within that state since it was first discovered was about $70 billion, or a little less than half the amount produced in Texas.

Kansas produces more oil from more counties than one might suspect — of the state's 105 counties, 90 have production of some kind and the state's production approached $2 billion last year.

In Oklahoma, only four of 77 counties do not share in oil or gas production. Since oil was first discovered there, more than $32 billion has been realized in sales to consumers. There are 57,300 people gainfully employed in crude oil and natural gas production in the Sooner State, compared to 193,647 in Texas and 74,017 in Louisiana.

Only one of Maryland's 23 counties, for a study in comparisons, produces any oil or gas. That would be Garrett County, the western-most county in the state. Only 16 people are classified as oil field workers in the state of Maryland and the 1979 value of oil produced in Maryland wells in 1979 totaled just $68,000.

Oil was first discovered in the state of Pennsylvania in 1859, at a time when petroleum was still a curiosity and a novelty to a lot of people. The population of oil field workers in that commonwealth amounts to 3,479 and the cash value of their 'crop' in 1979 totaled $243,400,000. Most of Pennsylvania's play has been in the western half of the state, although there is some production in Lackawanna in the eastern portion.

IN THE QUAKER State, oil and gas are outranked by coal, Portland cement and crushed stone among principal mineral products in order of value.

How essential is the oil industry to the Texas economy? The word would likely be immeasurable. In addition to the 193,647 people employed directly in crude oil and natural gas extraction, another 40,196 work in petroleum refining and 490 in converting the raw product into lubricating oil and greases, 5,293 in pipeline work, 26,750 in distribution of gas production, 26,751 in wholesale petroleum and petroleum products while 32,037 are employed in retail distribution gas stations. That totals out to 325,164. Any way you look at it, that's an impressive figure.

Better source

Around the rim

Don Woods

Maybe what we need in our society is an education on the definition of murder.

In our definition we must first establish a basis for our conclusion. The laws of the U.S. Constitution are sufficient, however, since these laws are based largely on the Bible, it is a better choice as an authoritative source.

It has stood the test of time. Its prophecies have been fulfilled, except those dealing with future events. It is not a book subject to different interpretations by different individuals (II Peter 1:20). Its words were written to be understood. We have controversy where there isn't a good grasp on the Old Testament, original languages and basic rules of interpretation. Christ has given to our society people with the gift of teaching if we go to a church where the gift is performed. We don't draw our conclusions and make them for ourselves.

Murder is the idea behind the sixth commandment in Exodus 20:13, "Thou shalt not kill." God has placed a tremendous sanctity on human life. Other passages, such as Exodus 21 and Numbers 35:6-34, amplify this commandment. Murder is the taking of the most holy and most precious thing in the world, in malicious premeditation.

The Bible provides cities of refuge for cases where the killing was proven to be accidental. Even when a blow was struck in a moment of excessive passion, without premeditation, the killer is spared.

But when premeditation can be proven, the death penalty is required. Premeditation is what the Bible calls "lying in wait." (Exodus 35:20). The motive is the all-important thing. This is what Christ meant when He expanded the sixth commandment to say that hatred is the same as murder. If the killing is deliberate and planned, the death penalty is required. The Apostle Paul establishes government as the executioner in Romans 13.

If the idea seems fanatical to members of the religious community they need to take scissors and cut out these passages and throw them away. Just clip them off the page. But don't pretend to anyone to profess to love your Bible or the God who wrote it.

ERROR ARISES when religious people forget to take the Bible as a whole. You can't throw away the Old Testament. It still applies unless New Testament revelation amends Old Testament revelation.

Romans 11:22 says, "Behold, the severity and kindness of the Lord." He is infinitely kind but His severity is just as infinite at the same time.

The author of Exodus 34:6,7 says that the Lord is merciful, gracious, "abundant in goodness and truth," but in the same breath, "He will by no means clear the guilty."

We don't hate the murderer. We love the murderer but hate his action. We balance love with justice. Just as the attribute of love in God's character is balanced with his attribute of justice.

Love should not ask for punishment for sin out of vengeance, because we all possess evil old natures capable of murder. We should ask for punishment out of respect for God's laws.

Love is not provoked (I Corinthians 13). But it does not rejoice in unrighteousness, either.

Odd Justice

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — In an age marked by corrupt law enforcement, the informer is our principal protection against the designs of public wrongdoers who have built massive walls to hide their activities.

Some intriguing informers have come out from behind the walls that the Carter administration has erected around the Robert Vesco scandal. You would think the Justice Department would welcome informers who are willing to testify about Vesco's attempts to bribe his way out of his legal troubles.

BUT INSTEAD, the prosecutors have cracked down on informers whose testimony might implicate people close to Jimmy Carter. This has had the effect of shutting up crucial witnesses or, at least, of discrediting any testimony they may give to investigating senators.

In contrast, the prosecutors have engaged in plea bargaining with another witness, a convicted con man named James Day, who has offered to make statements exonerating the Carter people. It's not uncommon for the Justice Department to make deals with informers to get testimony that might help convict higher-ups. But Jimmy Carter's Justice Department is interested only in testimony that might exonerate the higher-ups.

New information has come to light, meanwhile, on the Carter administration's desperate efforts to silence the chief conspirator — Robert Vesco himself. The fugitive financier has been the target of vigorous efforts by the U.S. government to get him expelled from the Bahamas.

The timing is significant. The pressure began within a few weeks after I first reported in September 1978 that Vesco had tried to pull strings inside the White House.

But even more significant, confidential State Department cables, reviewed by my associates Bob Sherman and Indy Badhwar, reveal that the expulsion effort had "high-level support." This is a diplomatic phrase that usually refers to the White House.

In a November 1978 cable to our embassy in Nassau, Deputy Secretary of State Warren Christopher put it this way: "Justice Department has requested that we examine more closely the alternative of seeking Vesco's return under Bahamian deportation law. On assumption that any initiative in this regard would have necessary high-level support from Washington, embassy is requested to ascertain prospect for deportation."

WHAT'S REALLY fishy about the government's continuing insistence that Vesco be returned forcibly to the United States is that he has repeatedly offered to come home voluntarily, in return for limited immunity from prosecution. Vesco has agreed to testify before a Senate committee investigating his dealings with Carter administration figures. But the Justice Department has said nothing doing.

If he is brought back in Justice Department custody, he can be subjected to the same pressures that were brought on his fellow plotters, R.L. Herring and James Feeney, who had the book thrown at them when they offered to talk on the witness stand.

To put it simply, Vesco wants a chance to testify before the Senate panel freely, and the Justice Department seems determined to get him behind bars before he can talk.

As I reported last week, the State Department, by October 1978, had already taken quiet steps to insure that Vesco would find no haven elsewhere if he were forced to flee the Bahamas. Once these escape routes had been plugged, the government made its equally quiet move for deportation.

Evidently fearful of spooking their quarry into premature flight, U.S. officials didn't even let the Bahamian government in on the situation. "In view of the sensitive nature of this inquiry and formative state of U.S. deliberations on how best to proceed," Christopher cabled Nassau, "embassy should avoid inquiry to (Bahamian government) regarding questions...even if this may prevent definitive answers to a question."

In other words, Christopher wanted to make sure Vesco couldn't flee to one of the fast-dwindling number of countries that would still take him, once deportation proceedings had begun.

The Justice Department's obsessive insistence that Vesco be under its complete control before he can testify — with all the enormous pressure that control would have on his testimony — was demonstrated last year in the Operation Kingfish fiasco. This was the abortive plan to kidnap Vesco and bring him to U.S. jurisdiction.

In a similarly clandestine effort, the FBI's Miami office passed along raw, unverified information to the Bahamian government that linked Vesco to the Caribbean drug traffic. Vesco contends that this information — which conflicts with what the Drug Enforcement Agency officials have told the Senate — is what caused the Bahamian government to revoke his residence permit.

Vesco must leave the Bahamas next week, and has not said where he will go. He would voluntarily return to the United States tomorrow — if the Carter administration weren't so afraid of what he might say.

Reagan mementoes are in demand

Traders on Wall Street likely were lighted with the general reaction to the election of Ronald Reagan. If so, they were not alone.

According to reports from out west, a thriving business is developing mementoes of Mr. Reagan's acting career.

Depending upon their scarcity and relative antiquity, along with other factors, still photos and other items associated with Reagan's 53 movies are bringing up to several hundred dollars each.

The dealers have a right to feel uncertain. Will the demand hold up once the novelty of an actor in the White House wears off? The betting right now is that it could go either way.

That has a familiar ring. Perhaps they are listening to the same politsters who were at work prior to the election. Most of them had Reagan the winner but otherwise they missed not only the bullseye but the entire target as well.

Truth from CIA

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — The top-secret, year-end intelligence report on the U.S.-Soviet strategic balance, the gravest since World War II, is getting final touches — and, for a change, no major dissents — before being sent to President Carter and President-elect Reagan shortly.

Between the lines, the report from Adm. Stansfield Turner, director of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), demolishes hopes of the arms control lobby that a new arms limitation agreement (SALT) somehow can restore the strategic balance of power. One official familiar with its details told us the report spells this out: Growing superiority of Soviet strategic missiles can only be overcome by "new production, not new controls."

KNOWN AS National Intelligence Estimate 11-3-8 covering the new year of 1981, the report is the first in several years to emerge from the intelligence community without serious dissent from the CIA's Turner. "The admiral has hardly any footnotes," one insider said. Footnotes are the traditional mechanism for dissenters to register disagreements without forcing major revision in the main text. For the past three years, Turner and some of his Soviet specialists have either been ferocious footnote writers, or have been the targets of profuse footnotes by Pentagon realists.

The CIA's tendency to downplay Soviet progress in outproducing and outproducing the U.S. in the weapons of strategic warfare has not been limited to the Carter administration. Bese by internal feuds, the CIA in 1976 hired outsiders (known as "Team B") to help its own experts prepare the NIE 11-3-8 covering the first year of Carter's presidency.

Since then, Turner's dissents to the findings of other agencies have tended to dilute the final product. Thus, the estimate for 1981 now getting finishing touches is the first in years solidly backed by both career and political office-holders in the intelligence community.

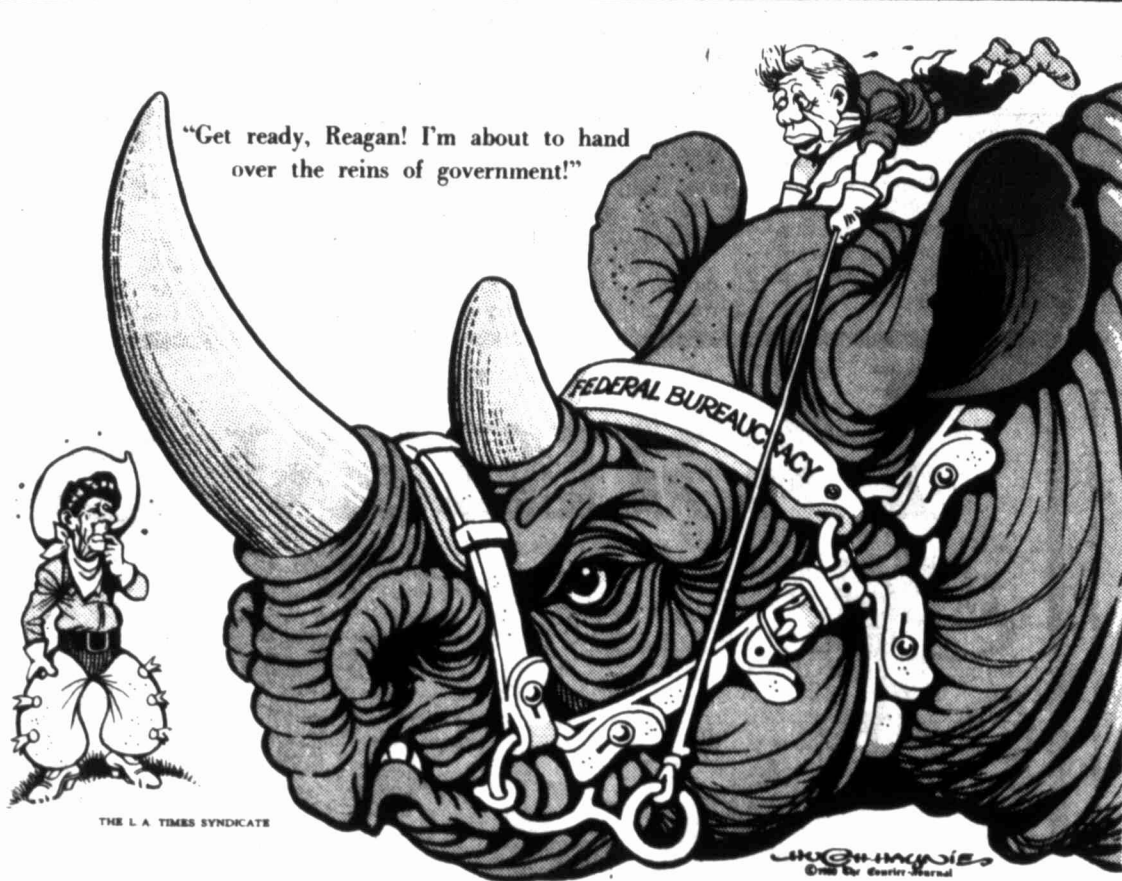

Their agreement shows that debate over Soviet superiority has been resolved in favor of experts who were once called alarmists by the arms controllers. Those arms controllers, in turn, are forced into the back seat.

To the incoming president, the more than 350 pages of NIE 11-3-8 will make frightening reading, for all of his campaign promises to build U.S. strategic strength back to "a margin of safety." The report contradicts the major Carter administration claim that this nation's strategic strength gives it "essential equivalence." That was a dubious conclusion when it was first pronounced nearly four years ago and one now torn to shreds in the new intelligence estimate.

Tearing it to shreds were Carter's repeated decisions slicing off and discarding one strategic program after another. They included the B-1 penetration bomber, the neutron warhead for the defense of Western Europe, accelerated development of the big land-based MX missile, the Trident submarine and cruise missiles.

Carter's thesis was the heart of error: We don't need these systems because we already have essential equivalence; what we need is arms control.

Instead, warnings issued when Carter became president have prematurely borne their bitter fruit. He was warned that the U.S. would face a "window of vulnerability" by the mid-'80s even if he ordered full speed ahead on these discarded systems. He did not, and the "window" is now prematurely open. Reagan has little chance to close it during his first term.

Leaky furnace, headache linked

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: When J.F. wrote in to ask why her husband woke up each morning with a headache, it brought back memories to me that might be of some help to others, and perhaps prevent a tragedy.

One of my employees some years ago came in with a headache each morning, but it soon left him. His wife worked elsewhere, but was likewise affected. One Sunday morning they didn't have to get up early, and were both found dead later that day. The furnace was stopped up and they were overcome by carbon monoxide. — L.O.C.

I have made this point in the past, but it bears repetition, especially in this winter season. The suggestion is even more appropriate in these days of energy consciousness, when people may be adding extra insulation to their homes. Repeated morning headaches that subside when one leaves the house can reflect such mechanical problems.

Other symptoms of carbon monoxide toxicity, besides headache, include faintness, ear-ringing or paralysis. A victim of carbon monoxide poisoning should be kept warm and at rest with clothing loosened. He should be given oxygen as soon as possible and artificial respiration may be required to restore breathing. Of course, the person should be removed to a carbon monoxide-free spot and windows opened.

Carbon monoxide acts by combining with hemoglobin in the blood where it forms the compound carboxyhemoglobin. That causes the tissue poisoning and the ultimate collapse.

Dear Dr. Donohue: A year ago I was hospitalized for tests because of diarrhea, which I'd have over a period of years. They said I had diverticulosis (pockets on the colon). I was told to eat a lot of bulk and roughage. How long do I have to keep this up. I'm 74. — Mrs. E.G.L.

You must continue for the rest of your life. You should have noticed a difference by now from the roughage. Have you? The bulk will help give the bowel work to keep it active and thus keep the outpouching problem under control. This intestinal disorder is discussed at greater length in this booklet "Don't Let Diverticulosis Throw You." For a copy, write me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is it true or isn't true that a person who grinds his teeth at night has emotional problems? — Mrs. N.B.

While this has been thought to be true, some recent thinking about bruxism (tooth grinding) suggests more immediate physical causes. Some dental authorities believe that malocclusion of the teeth may be a cause, that the person grinds in an unconscious attempt to rectify irregularities in the teeth alignment. Certainly, stress could contribute to the problem, but there are enough mentally normal teeth-grinders to warrant some other explanation.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Does Dyazide, the drug my husband takes for high blood pressure, cause the heart to pound? He has been on it for two years and lately this has been happening. — Mrs. M.C.

Any untoward symptom you suspect is due to a medicine should be reported to your doctor. Dyazide is a safe diuretic drug. In a very few individuals it can cause blood potassium to rise. That in turn can produce a change in the heart rhythm. Since your husband's pounding heart is a new symptom, he should return to his doctor for an evaluation at this time. It may have nothing to do with his medicine, however.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I know this is not "in season" but I am curious about something I overheard while camping out with the family last summer. In more than one campsite our neighbors told us about a new kind of arthritis related to campers. I didn't get it straight, but I'll bet you

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I had a relative who took advantage of me some years ago after my husband's death and stole a great deal of money from me, although I can't prove it. Why doesn't God judge someone like this? — Mrs. O.M.L.

DEAR MRS. O.M.L.: Although your relative may appear to be basking in the pleasures of his ill-gotten gains, you can be assured that his improper dealings have not gone unnoticed by God. The Bible teaches us that nothing escapes God's attention and that no sin goes unpunished. In Galatians 6:7 we read, "Do not be deceived: God cannot be mocked. A man reaps what he sows."

God can forgive sin, but men must live by God's principle, which states that sin produces consequences. As a result of his evil actions, your relative will experience God's judgment in the form of natural consequences. He may experience alienation from family and friends, the loss of know what they were referring to. — Mrs. E.W.

I am pretty sure you are referring to Lyme arthritis, first found on the East Coast, but not limited to that area. It is thought to be transmitted by ticks and has its highest incidence during the summer and fall months, when the tick population is also the greatest.

In addition to the swollen joints of arthritis there is a peculiar skin rash that begins as a small red spot, then enlarges to a ringed patch with a bright red outer border. It is not at all common, so it should not make you fear camping next season. Because ticks transmit other illness, they should be carefully removed.

Headaches — you can beat them! Write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am an 18-year-old female who had an abortion when I was 17. My problem is that I am pregnant again. I will need another abortion. If I have the second one, will I be able to become pregnant again or will there be problems? This really scares me. — D.A.

Without commenting on your apparent need for birth control information, I can say that I don't think anyone can predict if the second abortion will prevent you from having a desired pregnancy later on. Women who have had two or more abortions have a greater risk of having miscarriages. That does not mean that they cannot have successful full-term pregnancies.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

reputation, the burden of a guilty conscience; an established pattern of this sort of conduct might eventually lead to his downfall.

The Bible teaches us that God knows even our secret thoughts (Psalm 44:21) and that even these will one day be judged (Romans 2:16). In modern times, we see how tape recording devices are used in gathering evidence to convict men of crimes. God has his tape recorders playing, and the secrets of our hearts are shouted in his ears.

Also, the Bible teaches that at the return of Christ, he will judge all men according to their deeds. "Behold, I am coming soon! My reward is with me, and I will give to everyone according to what he has done" (Revelation 22:12).

Your relative, and all of us, need to confess our sins and receive the forgiveness and cleansing which God promises. "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just and will forgive us our sins and purify us from all unrighteousness" (I John 1:9).

Resolution may oppose all federal farm programs

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The president of the Texas Farm Bureau says a national convention may still approve a resolution opposing all federal farm programs, despite the fact that Texas delegates have overwhelmingly defeated the proposal.

The simply worded resolution-dubbed the "free enterprise" resolution — was part of a thick packet of policy statements voted on Wednesday by 1,200 delegates to the Texas Farm Bureau convention here.

Delegates voted to oppose tax funds going to Texas Rural Legal Aid, an organization that has handled cases for the Texas Farmworkers Union. TRLA also has filed several lawsuits against farmers on behalf of migrant workers.

Delegates also approved resolutions asking that able-bodied persons be required to look for work before receiving welfare payments and calling for "abolition of the federal government's cheap food and fiber policy."

The packet will be presented to the National Farm Bureau convention in New Orleans Jan. 11-15.

The controversial free enterprise resolution was the subject of lengthy debate during Wednesday's closing session. And while most speakers argued that the resolution would signal the government that farmers want to return to a free market economy, delegates defeated several modifying amendments before rejecting it altogether on a voice vote.

The resolution was supported by Carroll Chaloupka, 1980 president of the nation's largest Farm Bureau, who was optimistic it still could pass at the national convention.

"I think they (farmers) basically believe in free enterprise, but (they also think) 'don't screw around with my commodity. Cut someone else, but don't cut me,'"

Chaloupka said after his pet resolution was defeated.

At the convention's opening session, Chaloupka argued that the Farm Bureau's preamble supports free enterprise, but its policies call for massive government programs.

One or the other should be changed, he said.

"Everybody says they're for free enterprise, but they're not ready to make the change," said the Dalhart farmer. "I think everybody's afraid they'll get in (financial) trouble and not be able to get out."

Joe Frantzen of Luckenbach told delegates they should not ask for subsidies when they do not approve of the same help for others.

"On one page we say we're against welfare. On the next page we say we're for subsidies for farmers," he said. "You say you want the money, but you don't want them (welfare recipients) to have any money."

Some rank-and-file delegates said they could not justify voting on a proposal to endorse free enterprise and in the same breath, ask for other agriculture subsidies.

Richard Connell of Dimmitt called the resolution "ridiculous" in light of other approved proposals that asked the state and federal governments to do certain things for agriculture.

And Harry Hamilton, a farmer from Friona, said agriculture now is too closely tied to government programs to break away.

"There's no way they could stay in business," he said. "A lot of counties qualified for federal crop insurance and they ran after it like a dog after meat. There may be a few that don't accept any government programs, but everybody's not in a position to do that."

Jack Cervenka, a farmer at Maverick in Coke County, said he has not sought federal help in two years.

The microscope is used as part of a quality assurance program at Hallmark. The "moon" at upper left is a particle of silicon used to polish the tip.

Canada ups sales to Russia

Grain embargo silly sham?

WASHINGTON — Canada's decision to increase grade sales to the U.S.S.R. may further weaken the U.S. grain embargo but will not significantly improve the Soviet grain crisis, according to government and private grain experts.

The Canadian action may prompt President-elect Reagan to lift the embargo when he takes office next month. Reagan said frequently in the campaign that the embargo is ineffective, but his aides have suggested recently keeping it aloft as a show of strength towards the Soviets.

Morgan Williams, a member of President-elect Reagan's agriculture transition team, called the Canadian action to increase grain sales to the Soviet Union by more than a million metric tons "evidence that the embargo is falling apart."

But an aide to Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kansas, said the Canadian move will have little impact. He said Reagan should reconsider the embargo because of its effect on American farmers and U.S.-Soviet relations.

Other grain experts, however, feel Canada's decision is the last straw. "It will probably make it even more difficult for the U.S. to tow the line," said Margie Williams, government affairs director for the National Association of Wheat Growers.

"It's another nail in the coffin," Morton Sosland, editor of Milling and Baking News, said in a phone interview from Kansas City.

"If (the embargo) becomes even more of a charade when a country like Canada says it won't observe it.

Canada however maintains that it is observing the embargo because it is not replacing the grain withheld by the U.S. to protest the Russian invasion of Afghanistan. The U.S. withheld about 12 million metric tons of grain during the last crop year ending July 31, and Canada, Australia and members of the European Common Market agreed not to increase sale above "traditional" levels to replace the American grain.

Sen. Hazen Argue believes the "traditional" level of 3.8 million metric tons set by the Clark administration was too low and has raised that level to 5.9 million metric tons, according to a Canadian embassy spokesman here.

American officials are watching to see if other grain exporting countries, particularly Australia, follow suit. "If all the other countries decide to throw in the towel, it would leave us out on a limb by ourselves, certainly not a good position to be in," said Williams.

An Australian embassy spokesman said today that Australia will continue to observe the embargo.

While Sosland views Canada's decision as indication that the grain embargo "is a silly sham," he believes the embargo's effectiveness had diminished long before the Canadian action.

Powder Puff Football Classic set Monday

The seventh annual Powder Puff Football Classic will be held starting at 8 p.m., Monday in Blankenship Stadium.

Both the "Uppers" (Juniors-Seniors) and the "Lowers" (Sophomore-Freshmen) will battle it out, hoping to raise extra funds for the Howard County United Way.

In the previous six contests, the Uppers have won three times, the Loweres twice. Last year's contest ended in a 14-14 deadlock. The game is sponsored by the Big Spring High School Student Council and provides a school-wide activity for the student body while raising funds for a worthwhile cause.

Roles are switched, with some of the male students performing such duties as cheerleaders, drum majors and fulfilling other chores. There will be a pep rally at 3:15 p.m., Monday in Steer Gym.

Admission price for the game will be an inflation-fighting $1 per person, with all proceeds going to the United Way.

'Super Chicken II' fails

LIBERAL, Kan. (AP) — The attempted transcontinental flight of "Super Chicken II," ended in a southwestern Kansas pasture today when a coat of ice forced the 10-story helium balloon down about 20 miles east of Liberal, the Meade County Sheriff's office said.

The Federal Aviation Administration office in Garden City said the balloon touched down about 9:30 a.m. EST.

County deputies at the landing site said the balloon made a "soft" landing and the pilots, John Shoecraft, 36 and Ron Ripps, 37, were in good condition.

The balloon ran into trouble about daybreak and dropped as low as 1,500 feet before the pilots jettisoned about 100 pounds of water ballast and climbed back up to 4,700 feet.

Two House committee chairmen convicted in Abscam trials

NEW YORK (AP) — Two House committee chairmen beaten at the polls last month have become the third and fourth congressmen convicted of charges stemming from the government's Abscam operation.

Rep. Frank Thompson Jr., a 13-term Democrat from New Jersey, was convicted Wednesday night of bribery and conspiracy by a U.S. District Court jury that deliberated 21 hours over two days.

John M. Murphy, a nine-term Democrat from New York City, was found guilty of conspiracy, conflict of interest and receiving an unlawful gratuity in the FBI investigation, in which undercover agents posed as representatives of fictitious Arab sheiks seeking help with immigration problems. Murphy was acquitted of bribery.

Murphy, 54, his pregnant wife, Kathleen, at his side, would say only: "We will appeal this decision."

"Obviously I'm upset and disappointed," said Thompson, 62. "I maintain my innocence."

In another Abscam case, proceedings were beginning today in the trial of Rep. Richard Kelly, R-Fla., who contends he accepted $25,000 from undercover agents only because he was conducting his own probe of men he considered suspicious.

In Washington, the House ethics committee ruled 10-0 on Wednesday that Rep. John Jenrette, D-S.C., a lame duck convicted of bribery in another Abscam trial, had violated House ethics. It was doubtful the matter would come before the whole House in the closing days of the lame-duck session.

In the Brooklyn case, the jury acquitted Murphy of bribery but convicted Thompson even though Murphy was the only one of the two present when a $50,000 bribe was passed in a briefcase on Oct. 20, 1979.

Bribery is the most serious charge, carrying a possible 15-year sentence. Conspiracy carries a maximum five-year term. The other two charges carry maximum sentences of two years each.

DEATH IN BROOKLYN — A New York City fireman carries the wrapped body of a child from the burned out shell of a Brooklyn tenement, background, after fire claimed eleven lives in the building early today. Fire struck the three-story frame building shortly after 6:30 a.m. At least one other person was reported injured in the blaze in the Williamsburg section of the borough. (AP LASERPHOTO)

Republican 'chagrined and shocked'

McDade's crusade to exclude aliens from census rebuked

WASHINGTON — The House of Representatives Wednesday rebuked a last-ditch move by Scranton Republican Joseph McDade to exclude illegal aliens from the 1990 reapportionment for congressional seats.

The 164-208 rout represents the first such loss for McDade, third ranking minority member on the powerful House Appropriations Committee. Only a few months ago, by exercising his clout on Appropriations, McDade was able to ease the measure through the House and a Senate committee, tacked onto the 1980 appropriation for the Treasury and Postal Departments.

But the McDade crusade hit a brick wall in the full Senate, which allowed the committee report to languish without a vote. McDade then tried to breathe new life into the measure by including it in the continuing budget resolution, but the measure died when House leaders pulled it out for a roll call vote.

The issue was not a partisan one in Pennsylvania. Only one member, Broomall Democrat Robert Edgar, voted against it.

When it became clear that the leadership wanted no part of a census debate during the final days of the session, McDade — who merely voted "present" — said he gave up the fight.

"Through a series of procedural devices, the Senate prevented the issue from coming up," he said minutes later, adding that he was "chagrined and shocked" that House leaders, in an effort to ensure passage of the temporary budget resolution, had nixed his provision.

"I finally became convinced it (the continuing resolution) not a convenient vehicle," he said.

McDade vowed, however, to pursue the matter when he and his colleagues return for the 97th Congress. "It'll be the first legislation I'll introduce," he said, promising action as early as February. "I'm not going to abandon this issue."

McDade said he's unsure whether he will draft a new measure, or throw his weight behind one of two constitutional amendments already written.

Specifically, McDade's measure would have forced the federal government to calculate the number of seats allotted each state according to population but excluding the number of illegal aliens residing there. If aliens are included, McDade and supporters contend, states with large numbers of aliens like California and Texas would receive extra congressional seats at the expense of states like Pennsylvania, Ohio and Indiana.

But the census bureau has steadfastly deemed such a statistic impossible to draw, and it is unclear whether McDade can act in time since a final headcount is in the works now.

It is estimated that Pennsylvania will lose two of its 25 congressional seats in 1982 because of declining population.

Red letter days . . .

Calendar for the curious-minded

NEW YORK (AP) — Today is a red letter day. Circle it. Today is the day the 1981 edition of Chases' Calendar of Annual Events arrives.

Chases' Calendar, published the last 24 years by an assiduous date-keeper in Flint, Mich., Bill Chase, is a 144-page answer to anyone who finds life humdrum and humorless.

It allows you, for example, to wake up tomorrow morning and discover it is not just any old Friday, Dec. 5. It is Martin Van Buren's birthday! It is the day Columbus discovered Haiti! It is the 47th anniversary of the repeal of Prohibition!

Now, won't that make getting out of bed seem less pointless?

Every day offers something to celebrate. In fact, checking the 1981 calendar, every day next year will offer at least four things to celebrate, some days a couple of dozen. Busy, busy.

The month of May has eight pages of celebrations, no less — the Kentucky Derby, of course, and 360 other events.

You can attend in May, for heaven's sake, the Hell Hole Swamp Festival in Jamestown, S.C., the Gillikins of Oz Convention in Escanaba, Mich., Rooster Day in Broken Arrow, Okla. Or you may prefer to sit home and meditate upon the Sack of Rome, May 6, 1527.

"The 1981 edition is by far the largest we have ever compiled," Bill Chase said.

"3,280 listings. The first edition, 24 years ago, listed only 364 events. You can see how far we've come."

Chase spent 30 years as librarian for his local newspaper, The Flint Journal, and compiled that first edition merely as a timesaver, a handy reference to answer questions about when such-and-such happened. When was Garfield assassinated, Bill? July 2, 1881.

Last year, at age 57, he left the newspaper because publishing the Calendar had become a full-time job.

It would have to be when you track down such events as Don't Say Ahhh, Ummm and You Know Day (Jan. 7), Be Kind to your Amoeba Day (March 13), the Anniversary of America's First Formal Cremation (Dec. 9), Duce Day (Nov. 8), Fight the Filthy Fly Month (June), Hate Week (April 4-10), Bachelor's Day (Feb. 28), Old Maid's Day (June 4), Press on Regardless Rally (Nov. 6), Wild Ass Hunters Conference (June 21), and World's End Day (Oct. 22).

If you get around to it, you can also celebrate National Procrastination Week, March 1-7, but it can wait.

Chase's publishing house is known as Apple Tree Press — a bow to his father, who kept an orchard — and the Calendar is the only thing it publishes. It is called Chases' Calendar, plural, because it is a family operation.

His wife, Helen, especially, and offspring Anne, Bob and Bill, all have a hand in producing and promoting the book.

"Each edition is entirely rewritten," Bill Chase said. "Every sponsored event is supported by documentation from the sponsor, every international and national event by information from an embassy or responsible agent of government. So there is much checking and rechecking to keep us busy."

Farmers oppose MX missile location

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — Air Force officials say they would prefer to locate a proposed MX missile site in the Nevada-Utah Great Basin area and Texas Panhandle farmers say they wholeheartedly agree with the choice.

"We are not happy to see you come to this area. We don't want our good land turned into missile sites," Bill Nelson, executive vice president of the Texas Wheat Growers Association told Air Force officials at a Wednesday hearing.

A proposed site in the Texas-New Mexico area is one of two locations the Air Force is considering for the mobile missile system that Col. Bill Sims and Maj. Ken Van Dillen said should be finished by 1991 if it is approved by Congress.

Wednesday's public hearing was the latest in a series conducted by the Air Force to gather information prior to the release of an environmental impact statement on the proposed sites.

"It's one thing to be willing

Carroll Wilson, a member of the special committee appointed to study the environmental impact statement, called the hearings "solicitous gestures, designed to diffuse potential criticism in the area," not serious attempts to identify issues of concern.

The issue of water usage surfaced briefly during the meeting when farmers said they feared the use of 20,000 acre feet of water during construction would be harmful to their crops.

Bob Van Tassel, a representative of the consulting firm preparing the environmental impact statement, said the quantity was small in relation to the amount available in the Panhandle.

Officials said more hearings would be held in Texas and New Mexico before a final environmental impact statement is released.

"It's one thing to be willing

Raid on Iran!!!

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — America's arm-chair presidents and generals now can take a shot at freeing the hostages in Iran.

You control the helicopters and commandos. You try to deal with the unpredictable mobs around the embassy. You can even try the ultimate bit of skullduggery — kidnapping the Ayatollah.

All this for $3.

"The person who represents the Americans has a pretty good choice of strategies," said Steve Jackson, creator of "Raid on Iran."

The idea of the paper board game is simple — find a way to free the hostages held since Nov. 4, 1979, at the U.S. embassy in Tehran.

"I started thinking about creating the game a little while after the (aborted April 24) raid," said Jackson, 26, in an interview at his home.

"Raid on Iran" is among four games just released by the former law student.

The game, folded like a road map, comes in a plastic envelope. The multi-colored board is a layout of the embassy grounds — complete with tennis court. Jackson said the game is as accurate as possible, including potential malfunctions on the helicopters.

Small cardboard markers represent the American commandos, the hostages, the weapons and the mobs. A single card bears the picture of Ayatollah Khomeini.

"It works out to be pretty well-balanced,"

Jackson said.

The game takes about 90 minutes to play, and a variety of scenarios can develop. It hinges on which secret options each player chooses.

The American can opt for extra explosives or Farsi-speaking infiltrators. Another choice gives the Americans a leftover CIA spy among the Iranians.

The Iranian side can select from such options as "extreme fanaticism."

"The militants are especially crazy," said Jackson. "They are very difficult to negotiate with."

The Iranians can also choose to booby-trap the building.

Jackson said he considered sending copies of the game to the hostages.

"But they certainly would not let them play with it, I'll send it to them when they get home," he said.

The game shows the aborted raid was justified, according to Jackson.

"It was risky, but it could have worked. They would have had a very good chance of succeeding," he said.

Jackson has other games in the works now, but has given up on a game about the war between Iran and Iraq.

"From a tactical standpoint, it's not a very interesting fight," he said. "You'd have to devise special rules to keep either player from acting sensibly."

Dallas man's confession confuses lawmen

DALLAS (AP) — A Dallas man who claims he has strangled nine women has lawmen in four states reviewing old murder cases and at least one has flown here to talk with the jailed confessor.

Officials in Texas, California, Wyoming and Nevada say there are several similarities between the female victims and they are taking a hard look at Carroll Edward Cole's statements to a Dallas homicide investigator.

Cole, jailed here on $100,000 bond, told homicide detective Gerald Robinson "I need help," then proceeded to talk about the strangulation deaths of nine women, including one whose death was ruled to be from natural causes, Robinson said Wednesday.

Robinson said he arrested Cole, 42, Monday night for questioning in the strangulation death of a 32-year-old Wanda Fay Roberts, last seen alive when she left a nightclub with Cole on Nov. 11.

"He didn't ask me what he was being arrested for, nor say anything all the way to the station," Robinson said.

But when they got downtown, Robinson said, Cole began to speak freely about the Ms. Roberts' death, then the deaths of two other Dallas women and later, the deaths of three women in California — including his wife, Diane — two in Las Vegas, Nev., and one in Casper, Wyo.

Cole talked about the deaths of Sally Thompson, 43, who was found dead in her Dallas apartment Sunday, and Dorothy King, found dead in her Dallas home Nov. 11, Robinson said.

Officials in the four states said several of the victims frequented taverns and they attributed four of the deaths — including that of Cole's wife — to alcohol abuse.

Dallas County Medical Examiner Dr. Charles Petty said Ms. King, 52, had enough alcohol in her blood to put her "flat on her back," making her "easy pickings" for a killer. "It would be easy to kill women with that much alcohol in them ...," Petty said Wednesday. "She could be strangled easily and show no marks."

"An individual with that high a blood alcohol level could have died nicely by herself, and given just a whiff of strangulation, would be easy pickings for someone who wanted to kill them," he said, adding that a statement on Ms. King's death would be released today.

In Texas, a blood alcohol level of .010 indicates intoxication.

San Diego police said they are looking at Cole statements in the deaths of three women, including his wife, who all had high blood alcohol levels when they died.

Cole's wife, Diane, was found Sept. 26, 1979, sitting nude in the closet of her home. An autopsy report showed her blood alcohol level to be 0.42 and the death was attributed to alcohol abuse. The deaths of Essie Louis Buck and Bonnie O'Neil, both 39 and of San Diego, are being re-examined by police there. Both women had high alcohol blood levels when they died, according to coroner's reports.

Ms. Buck was found dead in an unincorporated area near San Diego in 1971 and no cause of death was determined. Ms. O'Neil was found nude in an alley on Aug. 29, 1979 and an autopsy cited alcohol abuse, authorities said.

In Wyoming, Natrona County Undersheriff Ray Clark said Cole is being investigated in the death of an Indian woman named Teepee. Clark said the Casper woman was found covered with a sleeping bag on a sand hill just north of Casper in 1974 and was believed to have been strangled.

Las Vegas police did say both victims were women in the early 40s who were strangled, had high alcohol blood levels and died in "leazy" or "low-class" buildings.

DAR Christmas is held at Key home

Christmas candles, wreaths and figurines decorated the home of Mrs. John Key, 2907 Stonehaven, as members of the Captain Elisha Mack Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, gathered for their annual Christmas program Monday evening.

Co-hostessing the event was Mrs. Jack Alexander.

A business meeting followed the traditional program with Mrs. Margaret Barnett, regent, presiding.

Mrs. Key, Mrs. John Dameron and Mrs. Bill Early were elected to nominate delegates for the State Conference to be held in Dallas March 24-26, as well as to the National Continental Congress set for April 30-May 4.

TWEEN 12 and 20

Parents won't pay medical expenses

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 16, attend school and have a part-time job. I pay for all my clothes, car insurance, gas, most of my food and all of my other expenses except medicine. Now my parents are insisting that I pay my own medical expenses (my parents are not poor by any means).

I have a good friend who is 18 and has her own apartment. Is it legal for me to live with her (I'd help with the rent) if my parents give me permission? — Dawn, Dixon, Ill.

Dawn: Yes, it is permissible for you to live with a friend with your parents' permission. In this case your parents cannot give up their responsibility for you and naturally, you are still responsible to your parents.

For example: If you skipped school, a parent would be notified if the school found out, and if you were ill and missed school, a parent would have to write your excused note.

You will totally be emancipated at age 18 or when you graduate from high school, whichever comes first.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 14-year-old girl and don't know how to handle a delicate situation. About two months ago a guy started following me home from school. He was about 17 and was always riding a motorcycle. Well, one day my girlfriend dared me to ask him for a ride so I did. He started going fast so I had to hang on to him for dear life.

When he let me off, he said, "Boy you really feel good. I'll be seeing you again." That was about two weeks ago and now he follows me home every afternoon and cruises my house at night.

I don't want to go out with him and I don't want him to follow me anymore. Help! — Betty, Battle Creek, Mich.

Betty: Needless to say, you made a big mistake by accepting a ride home. Go to your school administrator and share your problem with him. Also make sure your parents are aware of the situation. Don't talk to this guy or pay any attention to him.

If the school does nothing to stop his harassment, have your parents contact the police.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 17 and my boyfriend is 15. We broke up because his mother told him not to see me anymore because she found out that I have a 2-year-old baby.

We care for each other and I don't want to lose him. What should we do? — Julie, Downey, Calif.

Julie: Listen to your boyfriend's mother. Staying together would cause a great deal of conflict with his family. They look at him as their young son and you as a mature, worldly woman.

Dr. Wallace: I've got a "bad reputation" at school but I shouldn't because I've never gone "all the way" with a boy. My mother thinks that my reputation is caused by the way I dress. Do you think this is true? — Lois, San Antonio, Texas

Lois: Everyone presents an image and if you are dressing in a revealing manner, then you can expect a "loose girl" reputation. This is especially true if you wear the revealing clothes to school.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Texas town dies slow death

A small Texas panhandle town was rocked by an explosion early on a Sunday morning when nearly everybody there was still in bed.

The few who were out and about at 7 a.m. last Jan. 20 in Phillips, remembered a blue steel flash just beneath the low-lying clouds followed by a liver-shaking concussion that knocked them off their feet onto frozen ground being sprinkled by a light sleet.

Stained-glass windows were shattered by the shock wave in the only two churches, the Methodist and Baptist.

It blew out most of the windows at Phillips School, leaving classrooms wrecked.

It shook every house in town to its foundation, broke rafters, cracked walls and knocked out windows.

Storefronts were torn up in Borger, the next town down the road, as the blast ricocheted between the clouds and rock-hard ground.

Ed Phillips was knocked all the way across his kitchen just as he was about to take his first bite of scrambled egg. The ceiling came down on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kuhn's bed, burying them in the wreckage as they awoke.

Miraculously, the blast at the Phillips Petroleum Co. refinery, towering and sprawling on the butte beside the residential community, killed no one. But it shot flames more than 200 feet in the air and sent thunder rolling for miles across the rock and tumbleweed of the Texas Panhandle.

More than 40 persons required treatment for cuts, bruises and sprains in the hours that followed.

In the following months, everybody became reconciled to the notion that it is only a matter of time until the little town of Phillips will be gone, the most serious casualty of the explosion.

Phillips is a company town, and, generally speaking, company towns belong to a past era. Phillips Petroleum Company built it and now the company is gradually taking the community apart.

The company is modernizing the refinery to process high-sulfur crude oil from abroad. Many of the square little houses hard by the refinery were in the way, blocking progress.

That was what the company said, in effect, in a letter to 159 families, two years ago, telling them they would have to move. To soften the blow, each family was offered $2,200 toward the cost of loading their house on a truck and hauling it away and a lot at cost on Phillips Petroleum property in the Buena Vista community on the other side of Borger.

Phillips actually began to decline several years earlier after the road to Borger was broadened to four lanes and people started going to Borger for everything. One by one, the businesses on Phillips' Whittenburg Ave. closed their doors, the Bluebird Cafe, the dry-goods store, the beauty parlor and barber shop, the Sixty-six theater, the pharmacy, even Sutphen's barbecue.

Phillips Petroleum hadn't hired anyone for nearly 15 years and didn't replace the workers who retired, as the refinery became automated. Nearly all the young people left and more and more of the asbestos-sided crackerbox houses by the refinery were occupied by retired couples or widows.

who refused to leave Phillips because it was home.

The town had about 4,500 residents in its heyday, in the 1950's. Its population has gradually dwindled since then to fewer than 2,000.

Phillips once graduated 125 or more high school seniors in the spring, but enrollment has declined until it now has a high school enrollment of 140 with only 272 students from kindergarten through the 12th grade.

The "Fighting Blackhaws" football team, winner of the Texas State AA championship in 1954 and the focus of community pride since the mid-1930s, has only 14 members on its varsity squad this year.

The town's prodigal children came back to Phillips the weekend of Sept. 19, some 300 of them, many past middle age. Coming from both coasts, and as far away as London, England, they came for a last waltz at home, another taste of Sutphen's barbecue and a chance to recount the glory days of the "Fighting Blackhaws."

Most, even though they had an idea what it would be like, were still stricken by an empty feeling when they saw the theater, the cafe and the barbershop gone like tumbleweeds in the Texas wind.

"It's just a little disconcerting," said Jerry Fenley of Houston, "to come back after a long time and see your home town being moved piece by piece."

Close to the refinery 159 houses have already been moved, their foundations leveled and the streets wiped out by bull-dozers, making room for modernization.

Across from the school, 317 families have lived in a section unaffected by the refinery expansion.

But since the blast last January, 30 of them have moved away, and more than 100 others have asked if the oil company will make them the same deal it gave to those required to move their houses of company property. Phillips told them it would.

Phillips never was a pretty town. It got its start in 1926 after Phillips' oil strike set off a boom in the panhandle. The community was first called "Ragtown" or "Shacktown."

Later the company built four-room houses by the hundreds, at first renting them for $16 a month and furnishing lights, water and gas.

The company began selling the houses to occupants with no down payment and without the land under them.

Phillips being a company town was different from any of the neighboring communities.

"It was a classless community," said Richard Vaden, a professor at Kansas State University who was back home for the first time in 25 years. "Everyone was paid the same, everyone lived in the same kind of house, so there was no class discrimination. And because of the company's hiring policies, it was also monocultural. We were all alike."

One small deviation from this were the families of the refinery's top management who lived in somewhat larger houses in an area called the "bullpen", but they gradually moved into Borger when the town grew large enough to have modern subdivisions.

With the oil company paying more than 90 percent of the taxes in the Phillips Independent School District, the school was better off than most, with 80 percent of its graduates going on to college each year, according to J.I. Kimmins, the retired principal.

Lonely Wife's Life Needs More Spice, Less Sauce

DEAR ABBY: I read your column faithfully and hope you can help me. I am so lonely I could die. My husband is gone about 90 percent of the time. He's in Japan right now, and from there he's going to Australia. The company he works for keeps him on the road for months at a time.

I have turned to drink (only wine), but I drink so much, sometimes I'm not even sure what day it is. I live in a place that is quite isolated. I have no children and there is very little to do here. I am 100 percent faithful to my husband. I go nowhere and have only a nodding acquaintance with my neighbors. Most of my neighbors are older. (I'm 28).

I have started to buy wine by the case. I have nothing to live for, but who cares?

LINDA

DEAR LINDA: I do. Please look up Alcoholics Anonymous in your telephone book, call and tell them what you've told me. I promise you they won't let you down. If you are unable to go to them, they will come to you.

And when your husband returns, have a heart-to-heart talk with him and let him know that you can't handle those long separations. But work on sobriety first; then you'll be able to work out your other problems. Good luck, Linda. Please write again soon. I care.

DEAR ABBY: When I read a letter to you from a divorced man crying because he can't find a "nice" woman anywhere, I had to smile.

I'll tell you exactly where we are. We are teaching their children. If those fathers would attend the next PTA meeting or open house at their children's school, they would meet three or four single or divorced women in every school building.

We are not at the singles bars because we're home grading papers or at a school activity with your kids. We are educated, capable, decent women who love children, but don't meet many eligible men because of the limited exposure of the classroom.

So, gentlemen, if you want to meet a bright, respectable, professional woman, go to your child's school and get acquainted with the teacher, counselor or principal. She just might teach you a thing or two.

Six-year-old the 'Toast of Brazil'

JUIZ DE FORA, Brazil (AP) — Luciano Fleury da Cruz has become a celebrity in Brazil by writing a book about bandits who try to take over a city by polluting its water supply with a pipe-corroding chemical and then kidnapping all the city's plumbers to prevent repairs.

Luciano is 6 years old. "He's been writing stories since he was 4," his mother, Therzina, said in a recent interview. "This was his first book and on a lark we submitted it to a publisher. Somehow the newspapers found out and since then everything's been just crazy."

Reporters line up for interviews. Nationwide television shows scramble to invite the boy to appear. Strangers knock on the door and ask for copies of his page book.

The book, a children's story, is called "A Epidemia Hidraulica," Portuguese for "The Plumbing Epidemic." In it Luciano writes: "Castor was sleeping when the tap began to drip heavily and he woke up and went to fix it. But it kept dripping and he kept getting angrier. Luckily his friend Mosca, the detective, managed to plug the leaking hole, but they needed a plumber."

"They went to the workshop of Metalico, Mosca's plumber. But when they got there it was closed. Castor's house remained flooded, and so did all the other houses in the city because all the plumbers had disappeared."

"I don't know where Luciano gets the ideas for his stories," his mother said. "He won't accept suggestions from us, and if we try to help he throws a tantrum and runs into his room."

Luciano insisted his stories are wholly original but admitted to being influenced by Walt Disney and Brazil's best-selling author, Jorge Amado.

"One reporter didn't believe Luciano wrote the book by himself," his father, Afonso, recalled. "So Luciano took the man's pen, sat down in front of him and wrote a chapter."

Luciano said it takes him two to four months to finish a book, writing when and where inspiration strikes. He wrote the last chapter of his book in his pediatrician's waiting room. Illustrations are drawn by cousin Marinete, supervised by the author.

Luciano's father is a sociologist, his mother a social worker who quit her job when their only child started showing signs of precociousness.

Luciano taught himself to read and write at age 2, his mother said. "We used to buy him books and paper and pencils," she added. "Then one day I walked over to his crib and he was writing the word 'gato' (cat). Two years later he was writing short stories."

Schooling has been a problem, she said. Luciano skipped the first grade, entering public school this year at the second-grade level. He barely studies but still gets straight A's.

"School bores him," his mother said, "but what can we do? There aren't any schools for gifted children in the area." The family lives in the fashionable neighborhood in Juiz De Fora, a southeastern city of 300,000.

Other problems may be his size, far smaller than children his age, and a birth defect which left Luciano with a large head and squat stature. His parents said they fear Luciano's relationships with classmates would suffer if he were placed with children much bigger than he is.

Luciano said he gets along fine with other kids, although he prefers the company of his teachers because, he said, "the conversation is more interesting."

"The Plumbing Epidemic" had a first printing of just 100 copies. "We had intended to distribute them only among family and friends," Luciano's father explained. "We didn't want to make it seem we were exploiting the boy."

The boy has a different version. "My father wouldn't let me sell it," he said. "That sure was dumb."

His father now is negotiating a second printing of 200 copies with a small local publishing house. These also will be distributed free, he said. "Luciano will turn professional only with his second book."

The second book — and the third — are already written.

Luciano's father is typing the manuscripts from the author's handwritten notebooks. "The Treasure of Comba-Tomba" and "The End of the Hunt" should be published in January with printings of at least 2,000 copies each.

All profits will go to Luciano, his father said. "We're now negotiating with the publisher about the price," he added. "We think we can get the books printed for about 35 cruzeiros (60 cents) a copy, and we hope to sell them for around 100 cruzeiros ($1.65) a copy."

"That would give Luciano a nice little profit — more than 120,000 cruzeiros ($2,000) if all the copies are sold," he said.

Luciano, however, seems less than thrilled with the publicity. He enjoyed the publicity for a while, he said, but "giving so many interviews is tiring." Anyway, when he grows up he plans to be "a scientist, an inventor and a chemist," and will write only in his spare time.

Grocery bills surge; worse to come

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Grocery bills jumped by almost 2 1/2 percent last month — six times faster than they did in October, an Associated Press market-basket survey shows.

Economists, meanwhile, are warning that the worst is yet to come, as the full impact of the summer drought makes itself felt at the supermarket.

The AP survey covers 14 food and non-food items, selected at random. Prices for the items were checked at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973 and have been rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. A 15th item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped from the list after the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey.

November brought higher prices up and down the aisles. Eggs increased at the checklist store in 10 cities; milk went up in seven cities; sugar and pork chops each rose in six cities. Coffee — which dropped in price at the checklist store in seven cities — provided the only bright spot.

The AP found that the marketbasket bill went up at the checklist store in 10 cities during November, rising an average of 3.2 percent. The bill decreased at the checklist store in only one city — Atlanta, where it dropped half a percent. The total was unchanged in two cities. On an overall basis, the average cost of the items in the AP marketbasket was 2.4 percent higher at the checklist stores at the start of December than it was a month earlier.

During October, in contrast, the marketbasket bill increased in six cities and decreased in seven, for an overall rise of only four-tenths of a percent.

November's retail price fluctuations generally reflected changes at the farm and the wholesale level. Milk prices, for example, have been boosted by an Oct. 1 increase in the government price support level and by higher marketing costs. Coffee roasters have reduced wholesale prices several times in recent months.

Comparing prices today with those at the start of the year, the AP found that the marketbasket increased at the checklist store in every city surveyed, rising an average of 13.4 percent. During the same period of 1979, the marketbasket total went up an average of 7 percent.

No attempt was made to weight the AP survey results according to population density or in terms of what percent of a family's actual grocery outlay each item represents. The AP did not try to compare actual prices from city to city. The only comparisons were made in terms of percentages of increase or decrease.

The items on the AP checklist were: chopped chuck, center cut pork chops, frozen orange juice concentrate, coffee, paper towels, butter, Grade-A medium white eggs, creamy peanut butter, laundry detergent, fabric softener, tomato sauce, milk, frankfurters and granulated sugar. The cities checked were: Albuquerque, N.M., Atlanta, Boston, Chicago, Dallas, Detroit, Los Angeles, Miami, New York, Philadelphia, Providence, R.I., Salt Lake City and Seattle.

Stabler, Oilers need Burrough!

When things start to go sour for a football team, especially one in Texas, the fans begin looking quickly for the reasons why. And that's only natural.

So when the Houston Oilers dropped consecutive games to the lowly New York Jets and the tough Cleveland Browns, fans of the Oilers began finding scapegoats. Two of the biggest are the ones that seem the most natural — blue quarterback and the coach. In this case, it's Ken Stabler and Burn Phillips.

Stabler has thrown more than his share of interceptions this year, but what most people remember him for is the most in the final two minutes deep in Cleveland territory.

Most remember Phillips, at least I do, as the one that ordered an injured Tony Fritsch to attempt a 38-yard field goal when the Oilers faced a fourth and one at the Cleveland 21 in the fourth quarter.

And these are logical gripes, but only if one remembers that Stabler is the person that directed a 28-point fourth quarter against the Jets to allow the Oilers to get back into a game they seemed out of, and that Bum has won a few games in his stint in the Dome.

But while people look for negative reasons for Stabler's interceptions, let's put the ball into a more realistic field. That's Kenny Burrough.

Burrough, sometimes an All-Pro wide receiver with lethal speed and good hands to go with his 6'4" frame, has been missing from the Oiler line-up for most of the year. At first it was a knee injury, and the last time a wrist.

With Burrough in the line-up, the Oilers and Stabler have a deep threat that can keep enemy defenses honest in more ways than one.

With a healthy Burrough, opposing cornerbacks and safeties would have to be more concerned with defending the possible deep passing threat than stopping big Earl's rumbling thrusts.

And with Burrough, it would also help Houston's snoot passing game, and in the process keep many of Stabler's passes from being picked off.

Why? It's really quite simple. As of now, opposing secondaries don't have the fear of the deep threat as much as they would if Burrough were in the line-up. Mike Renfro and White Shoes Johnson are not slow, but they do not have the burning speed to make opposing cornerbacks line up as far from the line of scrimmage, and subsequently, cover their zones with as much pass drop as if Double Zero (Burroughs) were on the field.

They therefore can play the short passing game with less honesty, and that's the main reason that many of Stabler's passes are being picked off.

With Burrough in the line-up, it's double jeopardy on defensive backs. It's not only his speed, but the mental factor that the opposing defensive backs must carry concerning the fear of getting burned. In many instances, the best ally an offensive passing attack can have is the fear of the deep threat. In the end, the secondary doesn't play with the same amount of aggressiveness on the underneath patterns and the outside running game.

So for you that blast Stabler for throwing the interceptions, take a better look at the circumstances. As Confucius once told me: "In order to win the war, you sometimes have to drop the bomb in paydirt."

Quotables

Houston Oiler QB KEN STABLER, on having to play Cleveland and Pittsburgh in a span of four days in a pair of crucial AFC Central games: "That's fine with me. Let's get on with it. Roll the dice and see whose number comes up. Why drag things out?"

University of Arkansas-Little Rock basketball coach RON KESTENBAUM, in reference to the beginning of a season: "It always takes so long to get here, and then I always want just one more day. I feel like an expectant father."

NEW ASTRO FAMILY — Don Sutton, the free agent who had pitched for 15-years for the Los Angeles Dodgers, with his family, wife Patricia, daughter Staci Renee, and Daron Gregory, Wednesday after announcing that he had signed to pitch for the Houston Astros. Sutton, a right hander compiled a 230-175 record with the Dodgers, signed a four year contract, with three being guaranteed.

Don Sutton an Astro

HOUSTON (AP) — Pitcher Don Sutton says he won't have any trouble fitting in with his new teammates on the Houston Astros — all he'll have to do is pull on his jeans.

"You can wear blue jeans and drive a pickup truck here and still be considered normal," Sutton said Wednesday shortly after signing a four-year contract with the Astros.

Sutton, the winningest pitcher in Los Angeles Dodger history during his 15-year career there, also said he and his new teammate Nolan Ryan had a common pitch.

"His changeup is the same as my fastball," Sutton said. The announcement that Sutton had shunned an offer from the New York Yankees and signed with the Astros, was not a laughing matter, however, to Yankees owner George Steinbrenner, who thought he had Sutton in the bag.

"Steinbrenner was very courteous throughout our negotiations with the Yankees," said Larue Harcourt, Sutton's agent. "But when I called to inform him we had accepted the Astros' offer, he was not courteous and he hung up the phone on me."

Steinbrenner, who has seldom lost a free agent he really wanted, later downplayed Sutton's decision.

"We would have liked to have Sutton, but he's not indispensable," he said. "There's one free agent we'd like to have and that's (outfielder Dave) Winfield."

Winfield has been drafted by the Astros but has not yet signed a contract.

Rumors had circulated all week that Sutton, 35, who led the National League with a 2.21 earned run average last season, would sign with the Yankees for a reported $900,000 annually.

contract were not announced, but Harcourt said the first three years were guaranteed.

I have to think Sutton is making a big mistake," said he Yankees new manager, Gene Michael.

"Also, Al Rosen reminded me frequently of the advantages of pitching in the National League where I already know the hitters," Sutton said. "I just have a greater comfort level here than I would in New York."

Sutton was the Dodgers' winningest pitcher with 230 victories and also held the club record of 52 shutouts. Sutton also is the most successful active righthander against the Astros with a 21-15 record.

In addition to feeling more comfortable with Houston, Sutton said several other reasons figured into his decision: the reputation the AstroDome has for being a pitcher's ball park, the quality of the Astros' bullpen, the stability of Manager Bill Virdon and the economic factors.

But the Snake claims he can't feel heat

Stabler knows pressure's on vs. Pittsburgh

HOUSTON (AP) — Winning, Ken Stabler says, is everything.

The Houston Oilers' quarterback knows what he's talking about. In the National Football League (and in almost any sport you'd care to mention), the name of the game is numbers — the numbers in the win column. And "Snake" speaks from experience.

Two years ago, when he wore an Oakland uniform, he was intercepted 30 times while throwing just 16 touchdown passes in the regular season and the Raiders took a tumble. The blame was placed squarely on his shoulders. It didn't suit him, and he said so. The talk that he was washed up infuriated him. And in 1979 he was the American Conference's second-best passer with, among other things, 26 TD passes and 22 interceptions.

Now, in his first year as Houston's quarterback, he's back throwing to the wrong people with 24 interceptions in 13 games, five of them against Pittsburgh in a season-opening 31-17 loss. The talk is starting up again — and it's starting to bug him again.

"All people see is the No. 24. That's all they think, the 24 interceptions. But I've probably had 7, 8, 9 balls that were tipped, that were catchable passes. But it doesn't count that way. It counts as 24 interceptions," Stabler said after the Oilers' brief workout for tonight's game with the Steelers.

"Interceptions have hurt us. Turnovers have hurt us. But we still have a shot at it (the playoffs). If we get in the playoffs and do well in them, nobody'll bring up the fact that I had 24 interceptions. If we don't make the playoffs, well, then I'll be one of the scapegoats... It all hinges on winning and losing."

The loser tonight is almost certain to watch the playoffs from the stands or on television. But Stabler, who has been through plenty of pressure situations before, says this game is no different from any other one.

"It's a big game, no doubt about that, but I don't feel any pressure. To me it's just another game. All games are important. I look at every game we play as being important from game one to game 16. Look at the Kansas City game now. It's important 'cause we got beat. Seattle was important; we got beat. New York was important; we got beat. This is an important game because it's the next one we play."

Just two weeks ago, the Oilers owned first place in the American Conference's Central Division, then losses against the Jets and, last Sunday, Cleveland dropped Houston into its present second-place tie with the Steelers, one game behind the Browns. Stabler said he can't pin down the reason for the Oilers' erratic season.

"If I could figure that out," he said, "I'd quit playin' and start coachin' and I could straighten out all the teams that have trouble, make more money and not get beat up as bad."

Dunleavy sparks

Rocket comeback

HOUSTON (AP) — Mike Dunleavy lit a fire under the Houston Rockets in the fourth quarter just as the Cleveland Cavaliers retired to the deep-freeze.

Dunleavy scored 12 points in a final period rally that saw the Rockets come-from-behind to take a 118-109 National Basketball Association victory over the Cavaliers Wednesday night.

Cleveland couldn't hit a basket in the final four minutes of play and watched hopelessly as its 109-105 lead vanished in the rally inspired by Dunleavy, who scored 10 of Houston's final 13 points.

"Dunleavy really took charge at the end," said Cleveland Coach Bill Musselman. "We didn't play that bad... In fact we are really playing good basketball. The officiating was good and we missed some chances at the end."

Houston Coach Del Harris said the Rockets "went with the best defensive matchups that we had" to hold the Cavaliers scoreless in the final moments.

Howard College teams go separate ways tonight

Both the Howard College men's and women's basketball team hit the road tonight, but they will be traveling in different directions and in different types of games.

College Hawk Queens women's team will be making the long trek to Borger to face Frank Phillips College in the Western Conference opener for both teams.

The Howard College Hawks men's team will travel to play in the Midland College Chaparral Classic in the first of three games they will have in that affair against St. Phillips College. Meanwhile, the Howard Hawks, who play today at 5:30 p.m., will be one of six teams competing in the Olympic style tournament. Other first round games feature Midland College and Laredo JC at 7:30, and Odessa College and Eastern Arizona at 9:30.

All of the teams will play three games in the three-day tournament. At the conclusion of the tourney, the team with the best record will be declared the winner. If two or more teams are tied for the title, then the winner will be decided by a positive point differential.

The Hawk Queens, meanwhile, take the best non-conference record among WJC foes into the league opener tonight. Coach Don Stevens crew is a most healthy 9-1 at this time.

But their foe, Frank Phillips, has shown remarkable improvement this season in posting a 6-1 mark, and this worries Stevens somewhat.

"We know they are much better than they were last year, but we don't know how much," he said. "It's hard to judge them from the teams that they have played. All I know is no matter what kind of team that they have, they always play tough up at their place."

UNM placed on probation

MISSION, Kan. (AP) — The University of New Mexico's scandal-torn basketball program was put on probation for three years and fined $36,000 by the NCAA.

The NCAA said the university's "constructive attitude" during the investigation prevented the penalties from being even harsher.

During the NCAA investigation of the New Mexico athletic program, authorities uncovered information concerning falsification of transcripts for student-athletes, a scandal that became one of the most highly publicized and widespread in collegiate athletic history.

Pete Rose divorce is final

CINCINNATI (AP) — Carolyn Rose says she is sad her 16-year marriage to Philadelphia Phillies first baseman Pete Rose has ended, and refuses to talk about terms of the settlement.

Neither the judge nor the lawyers announced details of the settlement Wednesday, but courthouse sources, who had seen the paperwork, indicated it was more than $1 million, according to The Cincinnati Enquirer.

"The property settlement is over," Mrs. Rose said in a telephone interview Wednesday evening.

"I have no ties on Pete. It's a sad thing. I will always love him. He did give me two beautiful children. He's a super ball player. I wish him all the luck in the world."

Neither party attended the session in Hamilton County Domestic Relations Court when Judge Paul George said lawyers for both sides had reached an agreement.

The judge said among the few details to be worked out were Rose's visiting rights to his children, Fawn, 15, and Petey, 10.

Dominic Mastruserio, Mrs. Rose's lawyer, said the attorneys agreed that no exact figure would be revealed. He said Mrs. Rose decided that if the dollar amount was revealed, she would be "besieged by suitors and business deals, and she doesn't need this."

"It's private. It's my private life," Mrs. Rose said. "It isn't that I don't want people to know. I just like to be with my children and myself. We have to make our own lives now. The kids are the most important things in my life. What my lawyer said will stand."

"It's hard. It's really a hard thing to go through but I'm sure my children will be happy," she said.

She said she will keep the children and remain in the family home.

The former star of the Cincinnati Reds was married here Jan. 25, 1964. The divorce was granted July 31 on the grounds of gross neglect of duty, with Mrs. Rose maintaining her husband's extramarital affairs caused the breakup.

FROM BUG SPRAY TO RENTAL CARS — Muhammad Ali comments on his new role promoting rental cars for the Econo-Car company at a press conference in Miami, Fla. Wednesday. Ali said he would return to boxing in about three months, possibly in a match against John L. Gardner.

As Dooley decides to stay as grid coach

Georgia breathes sigh of relief

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — The sighs of relief spread from the University of Georgia campus to the governor's mansion Wednesday when Georgia football coach Vince Dooley announced that he had rejected Auburn's offer to become head football coach and athletic director.

"I was delighted by Coach Dooley's decision to remain at the University of Georgia," Gov. George Busbee said. "The experience he amassed during his 17 years would make him extremely hard to replace."

Dooley, after toying for several days with a reported $1.8 million, eight-year contract offer from his alma mater Auburn, announced at a news conference Wednesday that he would remain at Georgia.

"I am a Bulldog and proud to be one," Dooley said. "I have reached a decision that is the most difficult in coming, and that decision is to remain at the University of Georgia. There were emotional ties to my alma mater involved, and I hope everyone can understand that."

While Georgia fans were greeting Dooley's decision with relief, Auburn officials announced that they immediately would begin a search to find a successor to Doug Barfield, who resigned under pressure this week as the Tigers' head football coach.

Georgia freshman sensation Herschel Walker, meanwhile, said he knew all along that Dooley wouldn't abandon the top-ranked Bulldogs.

"I knew he wouldn't leave," Walker said. "I'm proud that he stayed and I'm very happy. He's a super coach."

"We have a commitment which I feel we should honor," he said. Monroe said other factors in deciding to keep Michael were "the realities of where we are, the desire to have recruiting continuity (and) a desire to be thoughtful of all the individuals and families affected."

UTEP keeps grid coach, but fires AD

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Bill Michael, who has racked up 41 losses and only five wins in his four years at Texas-El Paso, will be retained another year as head coach at the Western Athletic Conference school.

His boss, however, has been demoted.

Monroe, who had conferred with local civic leaders over what to do about the school's football program after this fall's 1-11 record — the 10th straight losing season — made the announcement at a Wednesday press conference.

Monroe said Athletic Director Jim Bowden would be replaced and demoted to associate director after the new chief is hired. He said Bowden's salary would not be reduced.

"I could not find any foolproof, sure course of action which guaranteed success," Monroe said. "It is my judgment that this is the best course of action for us at this time."

"We have a commitment which I feel we should honor," he said. Monroe said other factors in deciding to keep Michael were "the realities of where we are, the desire to have recruiting continuity (and) a desire to be thoughtful of all the individuals and families affected."

Women of First Christian Church slate luncheon

CFW has annual fund-raising event

By MICKIE DICKSON
The Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church will host their traditional annual bake sale and luncheon Saturday.

The event begins at 10 a. m. in the Fellowship Hall downstairs at 911 Goliad.

Luncheon will be served from 11 a. m. Ticket prices for adults will be $3.50 and $1.50 for children under 12. Carry-out orders will be available. In addition, meals will be delivered to those who wish to phone orders in.

Coffee and doughnuts will be available throughout the day for shoppers. Everyone is invited to come and browse for special selections.

Now is the time to solve gift giving problems with homebaked and home-canned goods, or to stock your freezer for holiday entertaining and family meals.

This traditional luncheon in past years has been chicken spaghetti, a dinner favored by many Big Spring people according to church members. However, this year, the menu will feature turkey and dressing, gravy, vegetables, salads, hot rolls, desserts, tea and coffee. A wide variety of vegetables, salads and desserts will be available with hot, home-made rolls completing the menu.

CFW members declare that this meal will be just as delicious as have their luncheons in the past.

Lahoma Clark, Jeanne Carney, June Waters and Treva Fellows will bake the turkeys and make dressing. Cliffla Slate, chairman of the event, will make the gravy. Undine Kernodle, Jackie Simpson, Dorothy Taylor and Faye Turner will make the traditional apple crunch.

The Chi Rho Fellowship for Junior High age youth will have a Bake Sale division featuring baked goods which they have made. The proceeds from this sale will go toward financing their out-reach projects.

Proceeds from the CFW bake sale and luncheon will go toward their missionary pledge to Unified Promotion which directs both home and foreign missions. One of their home missions is Inman Center in San Antonio.

Dr. James Turner Barclay of Albemarle County, Va., was the first and for some time the only missionary of the Disciples of Christ reformation movement in America according to history. He and his wife, Julia, served as missionaries to Jerusalem under the newly formed American Christian Missionary Society beginning in 1850. Dr. Barclay was an uncle of the well-known Lottie Moon, early Baptist missionary to Northern China.

The ladies of the First Christian Church share their recipes with Herald readers. Mrs. H.W. (Ella) Smith's Chicken Spaghetti recipe is the one that has been served by the church women at their annual luncheon in previous year.

A make-your-own brunch party is easy with small appliances

A weekend brunch can be an easy, budget-conscious, yet very gracious way to entertain. Whether you're serving up a fancy spread for the family, entertaining out-of-town guests or having a few friends over, brunch is one of those delightful kinds of meals that can be a relaxed and pleasant time for the cook as well as the guests.

There is even a way to do it that doesn't get you out of bed at the crack of dawn to pull the works together. With the use of a couple of small appliances and a few good coffee and waffle recipes, you can turn the occasion into a do-it-yourself, create-your-own brunch, according to the home economists at General Electric.

Here are several coffee suggestions that are sure to please. The Colonial Coffee makes a great all-American partner for the cornbread and bacon waffles, or, to keep the creativity going, try the make-your-own spiced coffee.

COLONIAL COFFEE
1 tablespoon honey
2 cinnamon sticks
8 cups coffee
whipped cream, optional
Pour water into drip coffeemaker, following use-and-care directions. Add honey and cinnamon to the carafe. Make coffee as usual. Stir and serve with unsweetened whipped cream if desired.

SPICED COFFEE
Offer your guests a selection of garnishes when serving coffee. Cinnamon sticks, cardamom seeds, nutmeg, orange or lemon peel, sugar or grated chocolate make interesting additions. When adding the ingredients to the carafe, allow them to steep for five minutes to brewed coffee for maximum flavor. Top with whipped cream if desired.

CORNBREAD AND BACON WAFFLES
1 cup yellow cornmeal
2 tablespoons flour
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1 1/4 cups milk
1/4 cup vegetable oil
1 egg
1/2 cup crumbled bacon (about 6 slices)
Lightly brush waffle grids with vegetable oil. Close unit and preheat at "Waffle" setting.

In large bowl, combine dry ingredients, milk, vegetable oil and eggs; mix well. Stir in crumbled bacon. Pour 1/4 cups batter evenly on preheated grid. Close unit and bake until light goes out (about 4 mins.). Rest batter before baking second waffle. Makes two 4-section waffles.

HEALTHY WHOLEWHEAT WAFFLES

1 1/4 cups whole wheat flour
1 cup wheat germ
2 tablespoons sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 tablespoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
1/2 cup vegetable oil
2 eggs

Lightly brush waffle grids with vegetable oil. Close unit and preheat at "Waffle" setting. (For browner, crunchier waffles, it may be necessary to turn control beyond "Waffle" setting — about halfway between "Waffle" and "High" settings.)

In large bowl, combine dry ingredients. Add milk, vegetable oil and eggs. Mix until smooth. Pour 1 cup batter evenly on preheated grid. Close unit and bake until light goes out (about 5 mins.) Makes four 4-section waffles.

TOPPING IDEAS
When you're making special waffles from scratch, they deserve some extra special toppings. Here are some topping ideas that are quick and easy and that will add interest, plus flavor, to your waffles.

1. Fruit-Yogurt Topping:

Combine 1 cup plain yogurt with 1 can (11-ozs.) drained, mandarin orange segments or 1 can (8-ozs.) drained, crushed pineapple. Mix together. Makes about 1 1/2 cups topping.

2. Tangy Velvet Topping: Mix 1 cup sour cream with 3 tablespoons brown sugar; stir until smooth. Makes 1 generous cup topping.

3. Tasty Fruit Topping:

Over low heat, melt 1/2 cup marmalade, strawberry preserves or another favorite flavor of preserves. Spoon over cooked waffles. Makes 1/2 cup topping.

4. Honey Cream Topping: Combine 1 cup heavy cream with 2 tablespoons honey. With a portable mixer, whip at high speed until stiff peaks form. Spoon over waffles. Makes 2 cups topping.

Consumer food choices contribute to inflation

Every American shopper has looked at the price of at least one item on the grocery store shelf and said to him or herself, "I remember when this cost..." While the effects of food price inflation are evident, the causes are not quite so clear.

However, in a year long study released in 1979, the U.S. Department of Agriculture was able to pinpoint those factors which contribute most directly to the ever-rising cost of foods. It also determined that consumers can control the effects of some of these factors by changing their buying habits.

First, some background. Food price increases aren't continuously during the past decade, with the sharpest increases occurring after 1973. Between 1967, the base year for figuring the Consumer Price Index (CPI), and 1979, the CPI for all items went up 95 percent, while the CPI for food increased 111 percent. (The CPI of all items is a measure of the average change in prices of overtime in a fixed market basket of goods and services: food and beverages; housing; apparel and upkeep; transportation; medical care; entertainment; and other goods and services.) USDA reports retail food prices rose 11 percent in 1979, and its prediction of an increase of somewhere between 7 and 11 percent during 1980 isn't any better.

The main cause, according to the USDA report, "Food Prices in Perspective," is inflation in the general economy, inflation which has increased the costs of both producing and marketing food.

Higher food prices in 1973 and 1978, it said, were caused by greater farm-level commodity prices, due mostly to higher production costs. Poor weather worldwide also contributed to the problem by reducing the production of fruits, vegetables, grains, oilseeds and coffee.

The USDA reports that farmers spend approximately 80 percent of their farming incomes on production inputs such as fertilizer, pesticides, fuel and equipment. The cost of all production inputs went up more than 100 percent between 1967 and the beginning of 1979; farm wage rates and machinery costs went up 150 percent.

Retail food prices also are affected by inflation in the "marketing bill," the cost of manufacturing, transporting and selling food. For every dollar spent by the consumer for food in 1979, 32 cents went to the farmer and 68 cents went to food marketing firms. Between 1967 and the beginning of 1979, the cost of packaging and transporting food rose more than 100 percent, and direct labor costs increased 155 percent.

FOOD PREPARATION COSTS FEED INFLATION

While much of this is beyond the consumer's power to change, the USDA has named several causes of food price inflation that are directly related to consumer buying habits. It says the growth in away-from-home eating and increased use of frozen and partly prepared foods have pushed up marketing costs.

Between 1967 and 1977, food store sales rose 140 percent while sales at all away-from-home eating establishments (restaurants, fast food outlets, schools and institutions) increased 193 percent. Sales by fast food places rose faster than any other part of the market: 600 percent since 1967.

Food eaten in restaurants and fast food outlets is expensive because of preparation and service, energy and labor costs. Menu prices, therefore, reflect inflation in the general economy.

Basically, the more someone else has to do the food, the more it is going to cost you, which applies to frozen and partially prepared foods as well. Partially prepared foods cost more because extra work and fuel are needed to process them. Frozen foods cost more because it is expensive to keep them frozen on their way to the store and in the store.

If you are suffering from food inflation, changing your buying and eating habits can help ease the pressure. You can do more of the preparation yourself and you can eat out less often by making your own fast foods at home. Both may take more of your time, which is valuable, but you will be getting more for your food dollar—more food and more nutrition.

BROWN BAGGING SAVES LUNCH MONEY

One of the most painless and often overlooked ways to save on away-from-home eating costs is to "brown bag it." Workers and students who bring their lunches from home don't have to spend money and time in the cafeteria line or 'burger place; they have their choice of fresh, inexpensive, nutritious food with reduced calories if needed and with a menu that is always changing to suit their tastes.

The brown bag has been ignored as a lunch alternative because it suffers from an image problem. Here are some tips on adding interest to its contents while maintaining good eating habits.

For best nutrition, select foods from each of the four food groups: meat or meat alternative, milk, grain (breads, pasta, cereals) and fruits and vegetables.

For meat, you don't have to rely on processed lunch meats which are expensive, high in fat and often contain preservatives. Use sliced meat, poultry or fish leftover from last night's dinner, chop it and mix it with sour cream, celery, onion, other chopped vegetables and/or hard-cooked egg to make a sandwich spread. Sliced cheese, a whole hard-cooked egg or either one made into a spread are good meat alternatives. So is peanut butter. Nuts, raisins and pieces of apple, although they sound unusual, make tasty additions to sandwich spreads.

Leftover chili, stew, or bean, pear or milk-based soup, reheated thoroughly and placed in a vacuum bottle, supply the nutrients of the meat group.

For the milk group, cold milk from a vacuum bottle is always refreshing. Yogurt or cottage cheese in a small plastic container is easy to carry.

Raw vegetables add flavor and crunch to lunch without adding many calories. Pack tomato wedges, strips of green pepper, green beans, cauliflowerets or broccoli pieces as alternatives to the traditional celery stalks and carrot sticks.

Opt for an omelet

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Pressed for time? Opt for an omelet. With a cooking time of just 40 seconds, it's a flash in a pan, says a recent issue of Seventeen.

SINGLE SERVING OMELET

2 eggs
 2 tablespoons of water
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 dash of pepper

Break eggs into a bowl. Add water, salt, and pepper. (Use water instead of milk, because milk toughens eggs when they're cooked over high heat.) Beat eggs lightly with a whisk or fork, just enough to blend yolks and whites. Heat the omelet pan over high heat until a drop of water sizzles and bounces when it hits the surface of the pan. Add 1/4 teaspoon butter, and swirl it around in pan until it melts and starts to foam.

Quickly pour the egg mixture into pan. Bottom of omelet should start to set immediately. Use a spatula to pull cooked portions toward center. Tilt pan so uncooked egg on top runs into bottom of pan. Repeat all around pan, until omelet top is barely moist. Remove pan from heat. Add topping on just one half of omelet. Use a spatula to fold unfiled half of omelet over filled half.

 Healthy lungs run foul

BELO HORIZONTE, Brazil (AP) — Seven-month-old Alexandre Coimbra was summoned to the police station here in response to complaints that his crying was disturbing neighbors, officials say.

The infant's mother, Neraide Coimbra, was allowed to accompany her son during a two-hour interrogation. She denied the neighbors' charges, contending Alexandre "only cries when we take him out of the bathtub because he likes to play in the water all the time."

The baby has no previous arrest record, police said.

Governor's unusual party

PIERRE, S.D. (AP) — Gov. Bill Janklow celebrated the start of the Jewish holiday of Hanukkah with a party in his office that departed somewhat from traditional observances.

The governor, whose father was Jewish but who was raised as a Christian, surprised the two Jewish reporters in the capitol press corps Wednesday with a cake decorated with a Star of David, four candles and a misspelled version of the word Hanukkah.

Hanukkah lasts eight days and commemorates the rededication of the Temple in Jerusalem by the Macabees after their victory over the Syrians in Biblical times. Jews generally observe the holiday by lighting candles each night.

Hanukkah celebrations in Pierre are rare, with fewer than a dozen Jewish families in the city.

Families stay away from homes until gases purged

MONT BELVIEU, Texas (AP) — One fourth of an area contaminated by hazardous gases has been purged in a cleanup operation, but officials in this small Chambers County town still are uncertain when 80 families may return to their homes.

"We're encouraged by the work so far and we're working as quickly as possible to return the families to their homes," said Keith Owen, spokesman for Warren Petroleum Co. which is funding the operation.

The families were evacuated two months ago after officials discovered gas fumes seeping from the ground and into the city's sewer line.

Tests revealed the fumes were a mixture of propane and ethane gases.

Mont Belvieu, a city of about 1,700 located 33 miles east of Houston, sits atop a salt dome that has the nation's largest petrochemical storage capacity.

City manager Jay Jordan said the cleanup operation is not "moving as fast as we would like. We are just having to live with this until it is taken care of."

Cleanup crews have drilled 290 test wells and plan to drill 50 additional wells in an effort to pinpoint the exact location of the escaping gas, Owens said.

Defendant's told of bracelet

DUNCAN, Okla. (AP) — Charged with first-degree murder are 34-year-old Robison and Johnny Gillum, 29, both of the Healdton area, and William Starr Jordan, 25, of Wichita Falls, Texas. Jordan is still in Wichita Falls, fighting extradition.

The British woman was one of three people later found slain at a house near Velma after an apparent robbery attempt, investigators said.

Under questioning by Stephens County District Attorney Tony Burns, Sharon Briscoe of Healdton said the remark about the bracelet was made by Molly Davis of Healdton, Mrs. Davis' sister, Sheila Lovejoy, was one of the shooting victims.

Farabee's bill

Competency testing of teachers proposed

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Competency testing may take on new meaning for Texas teachers in the coming months. Such testing for high school students is already a requirement for graduation, but a bill prefiled this week by Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls, would extend the idea to the teaching profession.

The bill calls for college students to pass a basic skills test before they can enroll in any state-approved teacher education program and once more prior to certification. Under a grandfather clause, the law would not affect those already certified or enrolled in a teacher education program, Farabee said.

In a statement released Monday, Farabee acknowledged that "teacher testing alone will not insure quality education."

"Other resources such as improved salaries and increased parent participation must be utilized to insure quality education for our children."

The legislature convening in January is expected to give a significant boost to teacher salaries and to increase the state's financial assistance to local school districts, he said.

Despite that, the 30th District senator expects a fight with various teacher groups, especially the Texas State Teachers Association, as well as criticism from some college officials.

TSTA President Dora Scott told a legislative commission in September that her group opposes competency testing for teacher certification because the validity of such tests has not been proven.

"If properly accredited, institutions training teachers should be accountable through their screening and evaluation procedures for the competency of those entering the training and for the four-year program leading to a bachelor degree and certification," she added.

However, those who will complain the loudest, Farabee said, may well be college officials who fear their education students are marginal and unable to pass such tests.

Opposition from college officials may make passage of the bill difficult, Farabee said.

But he added that he hoped opposition from teacher groups will be tempered by the grandfather clause.

The bill, Farabee noted, is a result of findings by the Commission on Standards for the Teaching Profession, created by the last legislature.

As a part of its study, the commission looked at an experimental testing program instituted by the Dallas school district. Results showed that many of the district's teachers could not pass a minimum competency test similar to one being given students.

That in itself is a good indication that some sort of testing is needed at the college level, Farabee said.

The senator also said the Texas Education Agency is now working on examples of what a teacher competency test might contain. The bill would provide $1 million during the next biennium to develop a testing program.

All test standards and starting dates would be set by the State Board of Education, according to the bill.

Missing San Angelo man admitted to hospital

SAN ANGELO — Grady Sims, 48, who has been sought since October on felony theft charges, has been admitted to Shannon Hospital here for treatment of carbon monoxide poisoning.

Two unidentified men reportedly found Sims, 46, slumped behind the wheel of a car at a roadside park on US 83 near Eden in Concho County.

DPS Patrolman Travis Hall of Eden said he noticed a hose leading from the car's exhaust to the interior of the vehicle when he arrived at the park. Sims had already been removed from the car by the time he got there, Hall stated.

A hospital spokesperson said Sims was moved out of the intensive care unit Monday but declined to offer a condition report on the patient.

Sims formerly was manager of the San Angelo Blood Services. He offered for the city council in San Angelo in 1978 but lost. He was reported missing by his wife Oct. 8.

About a month later, a Tom Green County grand jury indicted Sims on felony theft charges.

The indictment alleges a man with whom Sims shared a business office gave Sims a $500 check to pay rent, but Sims never made the payment to the landlord.

Three days following the San Angelo indictment, Sims was charged with felony theft in Abilene in connections with chartered trips to Dallas Cowboy football games that never materialized.

Sims allegedly gave two worthless checks to Sunset Motor Lines of Abilene for two chartered buses to Texas Stadium Aug. 23.

AAM's Marvin Meek labeled mover, shaker

Bergland beefs up releases

By STEVE SNIDER
States News Service
WASHINGTON — Bob Bergland, the soon-to-be secretary of Agriculture for the soon-to-be ex-President Jimmy Carter, has never been one to cringe from the public eye.
And the USDA, known at times to churn out a full foot-stack of press releases and official publications each week, has never been shy about putting the boss's name-up high for the announcement of a new grand or federal program.
But in the month before the election, Bergland's "announcing" appeared to hit a peak. An unofficial count revealed 11 different releases, texts, or government-written articles that featured the Minnesotan's name near the top.
It started Oct. 1 with "More than $173 million of national forest revenues is being distributed to 38 states and Puerto Rico, Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland announced today."
It ended Oct. 31 with "The U.S. Department of Agriculture has approved loans to nine telephone systems totaling $20,784,000. Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland said the loans were made through the Department's Rural Electrification Administration (REA)."

Along the way there was: "Bergland Announces $10 Million in Loans to Help Finance Hydroelectric Plants."
"Bergland Says Phone and Electric Systems Helped Create Jobs."
"Bergland Strengthens FmHA County Office Staffs to Help With Drought Loans."
***
Marvin Meek and his American Agriculture Movement have also carved a reputation as the quiet kids on the agriculture block, but the talk has almost always been tongue-lashings of the Carter USDA.
With his favorite Republican presidential nominee Ronald Reagan coming to the White House,

Meek is part of the "in crowd" as AAM director David Senter wrote recently in the group's newsletter:
As Marvin quickly realized, everybody in Washington knows who A.A.M. is and who Marvin Meek is. Senator Jepsen (Democrat of Iowa) came into a meeting and said: Am I glad to finally meet the famous Mr. Meek... You are a mover, shaker, the cutting edge for change. He said the A.A.M. is a very well thought of and powerful force here in D.C. and in America. We met with Representative Hagedorn, Senator Dole, and many important people."
***
Texas had more applications for emergency feed aid payments than any state in the nation during the fiscal year ending Oct. 1 and received more than half of all the money paid out during the period.
Nearly $23.4 million was paid under the program in the year beginning Sept. 30, 1979. Texas got $13.5 million in aid money, which is used to help agriculture producers buy feed during periods like last summer's drought.
***
A group of USDA scientists traveled into the Maryland suburbs recently had bought fast food from three of the most popular chains in the country. They got the Whaler with Cheese from Burger King, McDonaldland Cookies from McDonald's, and a Super Chef from Burger Chef. In fact, they bought everything there was to buy at all three outlets, except for a few beverages.

And what did the leader of this excursion into quick cuisine have to say at the end of the trip? "We need better data about the fats people eat," said Hal Slover, a USDA research chemist. The Ag department crew found, for instance, the special sauce on a McDonald's Big Mac has 105 calories, compared to 159 calories worth of mayonnaise on Burger King's Whopper. The calories in both sandwiches were more than 40 percent fat.
About the same percentage of fat swam in the french fries at the three outlets, but the researchers found as much as a 30 percent difference in the amount of fries in a regular serving.

The studies of fat levels are considered especially significant because about one percent of all the food consumed in the U.S. is purchased at one of these three chains. Said Slover, "Reliable data aren't as easy to get as you think."
***
For the 99 percent who are apparently buying their food elsewhere, the USDA reports dried prunes and raisins are plentiful for December, as are milk and dairy products, pork, oranges, grapefruits, tangerines, apples and broiler-fryers.

Robin Ethridge named 1980 Texas Farm Bureau Queen

Robin Ethridge, 16, of Coahoma, was named the 1980 Texas Farm Bureau Queen Monday night at the 47th annual Texas Farm Bureau convention in San Antonio.
Miss Ethridge is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rob Ethridge. She was named winner in the event from among eight district competitors.
Competitors were judged on poise, personality and appearance. Runner-up in the contest was Lorraine Helle, 17, of Mission.
Miss Ethridge, a Coahoma high school junior, is active in track and is a member of a 4-H club. She lists cooking, horseback riding, basketball and tennis as her hobbies.

Taking the title of Farm Bureau Queen entitles the winner to an expense paid trip to the American Farm Bureau Convention in New Orleans in January. Miss Ethridge will also be entitled to attend the Texas Farm Bureau Youth Citizenship Seminar in Waco in July.
Miss Ethridge plans to attend Texas A&M University upon graduation from Coahoma High. She plans to study agri-business or veterinary medicine.
Master-of-ceremonies at the contest was Millard Shivers, manager of rural development for Blue Cross, Blue Shield, out of Dallas.

Former Herald publisher 'Dub' Pearson replaced as publisher at Bryan

John T. Williams, formerly general manager of the San Angelo Standard Times, has been named publisher and president of the Bryan-College Station Eagle.
Williams succeeds W.S. (Dub) Pearson, former publisher and president of the Big Spring Herald, effective Dec. 31.
The Eagle is a member of the Metro group of Harte-Hanks Communications Inc. Tucker Sutherland, San Angelo publisher, is president of the Metro group.
Pearson joined Harte-Hanks in 1972, when he moved to Big Spring from Midland to become publisher. He took over as publisher of the Bryan-College Station paper in 1976.
The announcement about Williams' promotion was made by Richard T. Schlosberg III, senior vice president of Harte-Hanks and president, newspaper operations.
"Dub (Pearson) has served Harte-Hanks well for many years and we wish him the best in his new pursuits," Schlosberg said.
Williams, 36, joined Harte-Hanks in 1975 as manager, financial services, and was promoted the following year to corporate director, financial services. He became treasurer of the company in 1978 and was named general manager of the Standard-Times in March 1979.

He joined the Eagle as general manager in October this year.
A graduate of Baylor, Williams is a Certified Public Accountant. His father was once president of a San Angelo bank. John Williams was born in San Angelo.
Pearson has not announced his plans for the future.
Commenting on Williams' new assignment, Sutherland said, "Bryan-College Station is one of the fastest growing markets in the nation, and John will be a major asset in the Eagle's efforts to grow with the market. We are confident he'll be an outstanding publisher."
Harte-Hanks Communications, Inc. owns and operates 29 daily newspapers and 68 non-daily publications in 43 markets. Also owned and operated by the New York Stock Exchange company (symbol: HHN) are four VHF network affiliated television stations and five AM and six FM radio stations in 11 markets, two trade publications, three alternate distribution companies, four CATV systems and three market research firms.

Whites face theft counts

James Earl White, 901 NW Fifth, and Bobby Wayne White, same address, were arrested at their residence on a charge of theft of gas from a vehicle belonging to Juan Arguello.
Arguello filed the complaint in the office of Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin Wednesday, the same day of the offense.
The Whites were arrested Wednesday also. Bond was set by Hefflin at $10,000 for Bobby and $5,000 for James. James' bond was originally set at $10,000 by Justice of the Peace Bobby West but later lowered to $5,000 by Hefflin.

Two HC students gain photography awards

Two photographers on the 1979-1980 Hawk Reporter staff have received awards from the Rocky Mountain Press Association for feature photography, according to Stephen Lacy, journalism instructor at Howard College.

Courtney Carroll won a first in feature photography and Mike Henry won a second in feature photography for colleges under 1,000 full-time enrollment.

The winning feature photograph appeared in the Sept. 17, 1979, issue of the Hawk Reporter and was a series of two pictures of Susan Martin catching a balloon during dorm competition.

The second place photograph was in the same issue and shows a student framed by the shadows of the lattice work in front of the administration building. The same photo won third place feature photograph in the Texas Junior College Press Association contest last year.

Due to a delay in judging, the photography awards were not announced last summer along with the writing and yearbook awards.

The Hawk Reporter won first place in the general excellence category for its division. The Hawk Reporter is printed by the Herald.

Big Spring woman granted emergency naturalization

A Big Spring woman, Frances June Wiggins, was granted an emergency naturalization in Abilene Tuesday so she could obtain a passport to visit her mother, who is "quite ill" in England, said U.S. District Clerk Georgia Sanders.

Ms. Wiggins took her oath of citizenship before U.S. District Judge Halbert O. Woodward at the federal courthouse in Abilene.

Malpractice suit filed

Dr. James Matthews and Dr. W.A. Riley, both of Big Spring, have been named as defendants in a malpractice suit filed by former patient Robert Ernest Jones.

Jones is maintaining in his petition that complications arising from a condition in his right leg led to amputation of the leg to the mid-thigh. He maintains the physicians delayed treatment on the leg too long after his problem was diagnosed, with the result that the leg had to be amputated in October of 1979. Jones is also charging negligence and departure from standards of medical care on the part of the physicians.

No monetary figure for a settlement was mentioned by Jones' legal representation.

Construction plunge posted in Big Spring

Construction during November took a severe drop when compared to the same month last year.

Construction for November of this year totaled only $211,696, compared to $3,250,692 for November of 1979. Totals for the year-to-date had been holding their own with those of 1979 until this month when 1980 figures came to $4,783,889, compared to $7,204,490.50 for the same period last year.

One project accounted for well over half of the total construction costs for the month. The Carter Furniture Company will construct an addition to its store at 200 Scurry at an estimated cost of $125,000.

The only other projects to top $10,000 were two new homes at 1201 Barnes and 1302 Lamar. Both will be built by J&J Construction Company at a cost of $22,500 apiece.

The Borden County boys varsity took a 69-44 win; to even their record at 1-1, with Bart McMeans pouring in 28 points to lead the way.

Kenny Riley had 17 for Hermligh, now 0-2. In the girls varsity game, the Borden County team increased their record to 3-0 with a lopsided 74-13 triumph. They led 22-0 at the end of the first stanza, and 54-4 after three quarters.

Tally Griffin had 22 for Forsan. In the girls JV battle, Moron and Smith paced Forsan with 12 and 10 points, respectively, while Rains had six for Coahoma. The win was the second without a loss for Forsan, while it was the season opener for Coahoma.

Borden County, with Jana Edwards and Gena Faught adding 14.

Borden County's boys JV's won by a 35-12 count, with Sammy Williams and Scott Jones each scoring eight.

Borden County took a 62-15 win. Roxie Wolf and Maria Benabidez had 16 and 12 points, respectively, for BC.

Runnels girls lose

ANDREWS — The Runnels girls basketball team opened their season here Monday night by absorbing a 30-18 loss from Andrews JHS.

"We were very tight and nervous," said Runnels Coach Barbara Fletcher.

Alice Lopez had seven to pace Runnels, with Adrienne Allen adding five.

HC looks super tough in win

Hawks blast Amarillo

By NATHAN POSS Sports Editor

The Amarillo College Badgers came into Dorothy Garrett Coliseum Monday night tagged as the favorites, but the Howard College Hawks refused to listen, putting on their best performance of the year in blasting their way to an 84-62 win. It was the conference opener for both teams.

much worse.

The Hawks came out red hot, and stayed that way longer than anyone expected, including Coach Harold Wilder. "I kept thinking the bubble would burst," he said after the contest. "But we just kept on playing extremely well throughout."

After jumping out to an early 7-4 lead, the Howard College men applied the smoke to the visitors. Behind the shooting of Randy Corker, who had 11 points in the first ten minutes, the Hawks reeled off 16 of the next 17 points to increase their lead to 23-5 midway through the opening half.

Amarillo usually just had one shot at the bucket in the early going, as the inside rebounding of Corker, Ron Akins and Kenneth Jones simply disallowed any second chances for the Badgers.

Amarillo's Maurice Bradford finally sank a field goal with nine minutes left in the first half, the first Badger bucket in over eight minutes.

But it didn't seem to help, as the Hawks continued to outscore their opponents in playing a near perfect basketball. And it made no difference who was playing.

Howard College quickly increased their lead to 52-22, and minutes later increased it to 55-24, their biggest margin of the night.

From that point, it was simply a matter of playing out the remaining time on the clock, as the HC lead was safely in hand with 10 minutes to play.

Amarillo scored 29 points in the final 10 minutes when the Hawks relaxed, or nearly as much as they managed in the first 30 minutes against the Howard College team put up.

The inside trio of Akins, Corker and Jones combined for 69 points in the contest, and also did an outstanding job on the boards. Akins led the Hawks in rebounding with an astronomical 20 cars.

Needless to say, Wilder was extremely satisfied with the win. "I can't emphasize what a big win that was for us," he said happily in his office after the contest. "We played so very well as a team. Their was some excellent defense played, and our passing game was very good. It was a totally unselfish performance by everybody on our team. I don't remember a bad shot taken by our guys in that first half."

The Hawks mentor also praised his squad's defensive efforts. "Our defense, both inside and outside, did a great job of forcing them to shoot from the perimeters. And from that point, our inside rebounding was just great. That was a big factor," Wilder concluded.

The Hawks, now 1-0 in WJC play and 6-3 on the year, will travel to play in the Midland College Tournament on Thursday. Amarillo, meanwhile, is 0-1 in league play and 8-3 on the year.

NEW CHIEF AND HIS MILIEU — If you have business at the city police station, or even if you don't, chances are you'll be seeing this man occasionally. He is Elwood W. Hoherz, who assumed his duties Monday as Chief of Police of the City of Big Spring. Hoherz, a native of Hamilton, stands in front of the police station. He came here from Waco.

Police Beat Bandit flees with $229

In one armed robbery they got away with the money; in the other they were spooked by customers entering the store.

Two black men walked into the Mid-Continent Inn, IS 20 and Highway 87, 12:45 a.m. today, pointed a blue-steel shotgun at the desk clerk, and ordered her to clean out the cash register. After she had handed them cash and six rolls of coins totaling $229, they ordered her to lie flat on the floor for three minutes "if she knew what was good for her."

She did just that before calling police. The robbers, by that time, had fled the scene.

Two white men walked into the Seven-Eleven Store, 907 Willa, 5:18 a.m. today, and pointed a revolver at the clerk there while she was cleaning the display cases. She was about to give them the money they demanded when a car pulled into the store's parking lot, frightening the robbers, who fled east on foot without a penny.

Another man, without a gun, walked out of the Seven-Eleven Store, 300 Owens, early this morning, with a 12-pack of beer. Loss was estimated at $5.15.

Vandals punctured two tires on a 1980 Ford Bronco belonging to Dewayne Wagoner, 1403 Aylford, while it was parked at the Big Spring Bowl-a-rama, between 6 and 8 p.m. Tuesday. Damage was estimated at $300.

Two tires, two wheels and a 12-volt battery were stolen from a car belonging to Michael Jones, 1500 Sycamore, while it was parked at 705 Cherry, Monday night. Loss was estimated at $93.

A.D. Heirman, 1701 S. Monticello, believes he knows the culprit who put a fist through a window screen and five panes of glass at the Heirman home, early this morning. Cost of the damage has not been estimated.

While a car belonging to Joe Diliberto, 604 Circle, was parked at the Industrial Park, Tuesday night, vandals shot BBs through its windshield. Damage was estimated at $150.

A Pioneer Natural Gas Company employee discovered that the gas meter at 805 Willa had been stolen sometime Monday. The meter cost $75.

Two mishaps were reported Tuesday. Vehicles driven by James Eastham, 2712 Carol, and John Restelli, 2308 Merrilly, collided at FM 700 and Birdwell, 12:57 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Manuel Baeza, 1307 W. 2nd, and Cornell Kimble, 1405 Mesa, collided at 400 S. Main, 1:11 p.m.

CEMETERY WOULD BE UPGRADED — If voters approved bonds in an election scheduled here Dec. 13, the city-owned Mount Olive Memorial Park will get a new irrigation system and other improvements will be made to the facility. Several key drives within the cemetery will also be paved.

Animal shelter, cemetery, vehicle storage needs cited

Several relatively small but important buildings are proposed under the City of Big Spring Capital Improvements program.

One of these is Item No. 6, proposing a new animal shelter at an estimated cost of $30,000. Plans are to locate this on city property on high ground near the landfill and city sewer treatment plant. The present location is in the lowlands which flood frequently, backing water into the crowded cages. While no stray animals or lost pets have been drowned, they have had to stand in water for long periods of time, according to attendants.

City workers say the new shelter should be designed for humane treatment of animals and should have concrete runs and cages that can be cleaned easily and regularly. Fencing, they add, should be strong enough to be secure and offer other accommodations so that a lost pet can get good care until it is reclaimed.

If a new permanent water office is approved by the electorate, the present metal building housing the water office, located at 305-07 Johnson Street, would be moved to the new shelter location and serve as a service center and offices for the shelter, according to Don Davis, the city manager.

Item No. 2 on the proposed bond issue calls for a structure which would be used for vehicle storage. The cost would run upward to $70,000.

City officials contend that many items of expensive equipment now kept in the open at the city service center.

City officials contend that if this protection adds just one year to the life of a equipment unit, the facility will more than pay for itself in a few years. They also point out that because this makes good business sense but does not constitute an emergency, plans call for the project not to be undertaken before 1985.

Item No. 7, if approved by the voters, would authorize improvements to Mount Olive Memorial Park, the city-owned cemetery. The cemetery was begun before the turn of the century although the city did not inherit it until about four decades ago.

City money has been used in recent years to upgrade it and convert it on the perpetual care plan but officials say a new irrigation system is urgently needed in order to keep the cemetery attractive.

Mount Olive improvements would also include a simple new marker at the main cemetery entrance plus repaving of key drives so that all areas will remain accessible in all kinds of weather, in contrast to puddles and mud wallows in parts of the cemetery during and after inclement weather.

Such improvements would cost an estimated $275,000.

What would the three items mean in the way of a tax increase to the voters, if they are approved by the constituency?

Approval of the animal shelter would add .0012 cents per $100 valuation to the property owner's bill. Approval of the vehicle shelter would boost tax levies .0029 cents per $100 valuation while the improvements to the cemetery would cost tax payers .015 cents per $100 valuation. That compares to .1914 cents per $100 valuation for the proposed street improvements, which were discussed in a front page article appearing in Tuesday's Herald.

NOT FIT FOR A DOG — This building is now being used as an animal shelter by the City of Big Spring. Those favoring the bond issue which will be voted upon here Dec. 13 are proposing that the city spend $30,000 for a shelter for stray animals. Located in the lowlands, the present structure is frequently flooded during heavy rains, with the result that water backs up into the overcrowded cages.

EXPENSIVE EQUIPMENT PARKED OUT IN OPEN — Sheds for lots of expensive automotive equipment maintained by the city can be made available only if the voters approve a bond issue here Dec. 13. Estimated cost of such structures is $70,000. The scene here is of the area now used for parking city vehicles when they are not in use.

Cactus chapter ABWA hears Moore on bond elections

Cactus Chapter, American Business Women's Association, met at Furr's Cafeteria, Nov. 24. The speaker, Dub Moore, spoke on "Faith in our Second Century," an in depth study of the upcoming bond election Dec. 13. The bond program as presented is a comprehensive program that will provide for the needs of the city through the ensuing five year period. The program is one that has been recommended by an eight-five member Citizens Advisory Committee and has been reviewed by the City staff and the city council. Each of the issues will be voted on separately. He urged all concerned people to get out and vote. The vocational talk was given by Eunice Homan.

Three guests were a member of Scenic Chapter, Vicky Morrow, and two daughters of Butch Cooley, Hugh Leene McElyea and Ellen Stanloski. It was reported that the scholarship fund benefitted well from the Harvest sale Nov. 15. Also, a letter from the Stephen Bufton Memorial Educational Fund was read announcing that a $600 outright grant is to be given to Kathy Lloyd, one of the scholarship recipients, to further her education. Essie Jackson received a certificate from National, recognizing her as being the group's Woman of the Year. A Christmas centerpiece, given by Sybil Horn, was won by Laverne Rogers. A new member, Joyce Phillips, was installed. The Dec. 15 meeting will be at Bonanza at 6:30 p.m. instead of regular time of 7 p.m.

Civitans to help TARCs

The regular meeting of the Big Spring Civitan Club was held at 5:30 p.m. on Nov. 19 at Furr's Cafeteria. Micki Potter, president, presided.

The Christmas dinner for club members and their families will be held Dec. 15 in the Flame Room of the Pioneer Natural Gas Co. It was announced that the March of Dimes is in need of assistance with its drive in January. Claxton Fruitcakes have been distributed to members and sales are in progress.

Jerald Wilson volunteered to check into the assistance the club could give to the Texas Association for Retarded Citizens programs. Suggestions were made for donations to special education programs at Christmas. Members will attempt to identify needs.

The educational program for the evening was presented by Larry Bristo of the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. He began with a brief history of the center since its beginning in 1961.

He discussed physical therapy, occupational therapy, speech pathology, audiology and the "Big Help for Little Folk" program.

When asked about the finances of the center, Bristo explained that about 20 percent of the funding comes from fees and charges. Other assistance comes from the city and county, the United Way and the Endowment Fund. The center is certified by Medicare and receives additional funding from this source.

"However," the director continued, "there is a deficit budget of over $100,000. We need about $10,000 to come from small donations of $5, $10 and $15. Memorials to the center would be most appreciated."

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center has 10 full-time staff members. The medical director is Dr. Jack Woodall. They serve about 150-160 persons per week, 40 percent of which are children.

The next meeting of the Civitan Club will be today at 5:30 p.m. in Furr's Cafeteria. George Colvin will present information in the City Bond Issue.

Alpha Tau Rho meets

The Alpha Tau Rho chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met Monday in the home of Kathy Nichols at 7:30 p.m. Jo Anne Ezell, president, presided.

A salad supper was planned for the Christmas party to be held at the next meeting. Secret sisters will be revealed and the Christmas centerpiece decorating the table will be given as a door prize. All committee chairmen gave committee reports.

Mrs. Nichols presented the program on sculpture, showing pictures of famous sculptures.

The next meeting will be Dec. 15 in the home of Mrs. Ezell at 7 p.m.

Compulsive stealer asks for help

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 14-year-old girl who has everything going for me — looks, brains, good family, friends. My very serious problem is that I steal. I started lifting things six months ago and I can't seem to stop. Last night I baby-sat for some friends of the family and I stole some of the lady's perfume. I'm afraid if I don't stop now, I'll wind up in jail. Please help me if you can.

— Nameless, Beatrice, Neb. Nameless: "Stealers" can be put into three categories — Those who steal because of need and they can't afford it (food, clothing, etc.), those who want, but can't afford it (makeup, cigarettes, alcohol, magazines, etc.) and those who can afford what they steal.

It appears that you fall in the last category and many of these persons steal because of a psychological need that isn't being met. Something or things are missing in their lives — trust, love, the need to be wanted. Does this relate to you?

It's great that you realize you need help. It's the first step in solving the problem. In your case I would suggest that you share your problem with someone you admire and trust who will give you the moral support needed to help you stop stealing.

Your parents would be best if you can talk with them. If not, talk to a teacher, counselor, school nurse, church leader or a relative. When the temptation to steal starts to overpower your reasoning, remember that millions of teens read your request for help and they are pulling for you to shake this nasty habit! And you will.

Dear Abby

Boy Can Be Father, But Not Husband

DEAR ABBY: My 15½-year-old grandson is nearly 6 feet tall and looks like a full-grown man, but he has two years of high school left. I'll call him Billy. Billy has always been a good boy and never gave his mother (my daughter) any trouble. Now it turns out that Billy has been seeing a friend of his mother's. She's a 30-year-old divorcee with two children. She claims she's 4 months pregnant with Billy's child!

My daughter says that this divorcee has had several affairs with other high school boys, but she's blaming this pregnancy on Billy. He admitted he had been skipping his first class at school every day and going up to this woman's place to have sex with her. He says he will quit school and marry her if that's what she wants. Abby, he is only a child himself, and this would ruin his life.

I know there's a law against having sex with a minor girl. How about sex with a minor boy? Can't this woman go to jail? And isn't there some way to find out if the baby is really Billy's?

Can you see a way out of this mess? And how can I help Billy?

BILLY'S NAMAW

DEAR NAMAW: Having sex with a minor — girl or boy — is punishable by law. Billy needs legal advice and counsel. The best present you can give your grandson is a competent lawyer to represent him.

...

DEAR ABBY: I just had to respond to FAT, FEMALE AND MISERABLE, as my lovely wife is also overweight. I am 64, she is 5-4, and we weigh about the same, but I wouldn't trade my darling for a dozen size 9's.

We've been married over 15 years and she has given me two beautiful children and more happiness than one man deserves in a lifetime.

They say there is someone for everyone in this world. I thank God that I have found someone special, and FAT, FEMALE AND MISERABLE will find hers, too. Not everyone measures people by the size of their waistline.

CAROLE'S JERRY

DEAR JERRY: What a lovely man you are. You should be cloned.

...

DEAR ABBY: Boy, did you ever blow it with your answer to CONFUSED, whose fiance wanted to keep his possessions in his name for the first five years of their marriage.

As a self-employed, hardworking man of 25 who has owned his own business for the last three years, owns a house, a nice car, is negotiating on an apartment building and has a comfortable little nest egg in the five-figure area, I would not share my acquired assets with the woman I marry for at least five years either.

Nowadays, with divorce so easily obtainable, I'd be a fool to let a woman walk into my life and claim half of what I've amassed alone through hard work. In this day of women's lib, my approach is simple. If a man finds a woman he thinks is for him, before discussing religion, future children or anything else, they should agree that what's mine is mine, what's yours is yours, and what we build together during our years of marriage is ours — to be split 50-50 in case of divorce. That's fair, simple and easy. And the woman who is unwilling to accept it is clearly after a man's money — not his love.
