FAMILIAR SCENE IN BIG SPRING IN RECENT MONTHS — City workmen have been having to dig through city streets with increasing frequency in recent months to undertake repairs to old, corroded water mains. If bonds are approved in an election scheduled here Dec. 13, the entire water system of the city will be upgraded. Some of the water mains have been in use here 85 years. Item No. 8 in Saturday's election deals with the problem.

Item 8 of bond election

Water distribution system old, corroded, undersized

One of the standing quips of the past year — only it wasn't a joke at all — was "how many breaks do we have today?"

This attempt at grim humor pinpoints what is acknowledged to be by city officials and citizens alike as one of the most critical elements in the Capital Improvements program on which Big Spring voters will decide Saturday.

Item No. 8 on the Saturday ballot addresses itself to the problems and projected improvements of the water system.

Much of the city water distribution system is old, corroded and rusted, and sometimes undersized. There are some mains still in use which were installed in the first system 85 years ago.

Regardless of the cause, miles of lines are in such bad condition that this year alone there were 2,800 breaks, many of them major ruptures of the system. This is a costly expense not to mention the loss of hundreds of thousands of gallons of water.

There are three parts to the proposed water system improvements. The first will result in replacement of 33 miles of line (specifically 95,000 ft. of 2-in. main; 35,000 ft. of 4-in. main; 3,000 each of 6 and 8-in. main; 12,000 ft. of 10-in. main; and 20,000 ft. of 12-in. main). Also, some three more miles of larger mains (2,000 ft. of 8-in.; 3,000 ft. of 12-in. and 10,000 ft. of 14-in. main) can be made more serviceable by cleaning (reaming) and relining the interior with a cement enamel. Cost is pegged at $2,200,000.

The second part calls for the construction of a fourth pressure plane on South Mountain. This pressure plane would comprise a 250,000-gallon ground storage tank with the capability of providing water for present residents on the south side of the city and all future developments in an area between Wason and Baylor Roads, said City Manager Don Davis. Cost is estimated at $2,220,000.

"The committee that worked on this proposal feels, and I agree, that as Big Spring grows, the highest area of growth will be in the section of the city," said Davis. "In order to provide for that growth we will have to have an adequate water system."

In response to inquiries about the fourth pressure plane planned for South Mountain, City Manager Davis said it was customary for municipalities rather than developers to underwrite the expense of such storage tanks.

When the last bond election was held here in 1960, two such storage tanks were built by the city, one on Scenic Mountain and the other in the Edwards Addition. Developers, then as now, shoulder the expense of utility mains in their areas of development, according to Davis.

"I think that the addition of a storage tank on South Mountain is mandatory if we are to experience any growth in the south part of town," the city manager stated.

A third part of the project is the construction of a permanent water office. The present office is in a small metal building which is not exactly a testimonial to the permanence of the City of Big Spring, worse, say city officials, it is woefully inadequate for present needs, let alone those of tomorrow. Cost of this replacement is figured at $90,000.

All of these steps, to be accomplished during the first four years of the program — are essential for dependable, ample service today; they are an absolute must for growth and development in the future. The one thing everyone has to have is water — and that includes water when you need it, where you need it, in whatever volume you need it.

Water improvements would be financed by increases in the water rates. The water rate would be increased by about $5 a month to the average customer.

Third place before nightfall?

1980 fourth wettest year in Howard County history

1980 has now taken its place as the fourth wettest year in recorded history in Howard County. Furthermore, if the forecasts are right, it stands a chance of moving into third place before nightfall. The outlook was for light rain and — or snow to fall throughout the day.

A total of 1.29 inches had fallen in the gauges at the U.S. Experiment Station last night and this morning up to 8 a.m. It was the first measurable precipitation in Howard County in December and brought the year's total to 31.43 inches.

Rainfall records have been kept here since 1980. All-time records for Howard County rainfall include:

- 1932 — 34.25 inches.
- 1919 — 34.01 inches.
- 1941 — 36.62 inches.
- 1980 — 31.43 inches.
- 1905 — 30.73 inches.

Average rainfall for this time of year is 18.07 inches. Most of the rain this year fell in September, too late to help the cotton crop. In September, a total of 16.17 inches was trapped in the gauge at the U.S. Experiment Farm, compared to a mere .05 inch the following month.

The rain started here shortly before dusk Sunday and a hard shower occurred about 7 p.m. It picked up again before midnight and fell steadily if not hard throughout the early hours of the morning.

At 9 a.m., today, the Colorado River Municipal Water District reported no measurable runoff in either of the district's major reservoirs, Lakes Spence and Thomas.

A rain that started Sunday afternoon had deposited 1.3 inch of moisture on the John Couch place in the Luther community by 8 a.m., today.

James Thomas, who resides at 107 E. 13th St., said his gauges showed 1.2 inches at 9 a.m., today. A light rain started falling at Coahoma Sunday evening and continued most of the night. The fall there midway into the morning totaled 1.5 inches.

The rain reportedly was much heavier about ten miles north of town. Ray Walker, who lives about ten miles from Big Spring, said the rainfall totaled somewhere between two and three inches at his place.

Two inches fell at Lake Spence and 1.5 inches at the Lake Thomas dam. At Elbow, 1.5 inches was trapped in a gauge at the elementary school through 9:30 a.m., today.

Rain started falling late Sunday in Ackerly and by this morning had totaled 1.5 inches. Grover Spring, Lenora, said 1.3 inches had fallen at his place since 5 p.m., Sunday. The rain was not heavy but was continuous, according to Spring.

Officials of the Planters Gin in Lomax reported the total fall there at 2.5 inches. Garden City came in for generous amounts of moisture, too. Carol Montgomery, who works in the Glasscock County Agent's office, said the rain totaled 1.6 inches there. It started about 11 p.m., Sunday.

At Knott's Co-Op Gin, the total measurement was about two inches, while the same amount fell at the Flower Grove gin.

Carter aid says Soviet troops ready

WASHINGTON (AP) — A senior White House official says Soviet troops are ready for a possible move on Poland and he is refusing to repeat his earlier assertion that no Russian intervention is imminent.

Four days after President Carter expressed concern about an "un-

Polish army issues warning

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The Polish army newspaper warned today against strikes and "social unrest" and hinted the Polish military might be forced to intervene to restore order in the country. State-controlled media of the Soviet Union and other Warsaw Pact nations stepped up accusations that counterrevolution was threatening Poland's communist regime.

The new Soviet bloc warnings came a day after the White House in Washington said preparations for a possible Soviet intervention in Poland "appear to have been completed."

At the Vatican, Pope John Paul II asked the Virgin Mary to protect "Poland, my country" in marking the Feast of the Immaculate Conception. The pope also asked the Virgin Mary's protection for Rome, Italy and the world.

The Polish army paper, Zolnierz Wolnosci, issuing a warning, said the Polish army would always "vigorously stand on guard in this state built and won under the leadership of our (Communist) Party."

Christmas Cheer Fund hits $2,774

Collections for the Christmas Cheer Fund toward the $20,000 goal have now reached $2,774, according to a report issued by Lt. Bill Thrasher of the local Salvation Army post.

The Salvation Army is directing the campaign in efforts to see that needy Big Spring families have food at Christmas time.

Such drives have been conducted here for five years and invariably friends of the Christmas Cheer Fund respond to the challenge.

Collections for the 24-hour period ending at noon Saturday amounted to $364.

Included were checks for $100 from Ted O. Groebel and $50 from Mrs. C.L. Rowe.

Those planning to give can make their checks out to Christmas Cheer Fund and forward them either to the Salvation Army or the Herald, which is helping coordinate the drive.

precedented" buildup of Soviet forces on the Polish border, the White House announced Sunday that "preparations for possible Soviet intervention in Poland appear to have been completed."

The announcement came after Carter met for nearly two hours with the National Security Council and conferred with the Special Coordinating Committee, key advisers focusing specifically on the Polish crisis.

"As of now, we're not in a position to say whether it is imminent or not," a senior White House official, who spoke to reporters with the understanding he would not be named, said of a Russian intervention. On Wednesday, he had said such a move was not imminent.

"We are in a position to note that it could take place because preparations for it are completed," he said Sunday, noting that U.S. monitoring operations had verified that the Soviets have since Wednesday completed the "logistical and deployment activities" a major power would undertake before moving into another nation.

"They are ready to move," he said, although adding he was not in a position to judge what action the Soviets would take.

"It is our hope that no such intervention will take place," the White House said in a written statement given to reporters.

Several Democratic and Republican congressional leaders — House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill, D-Mass.; Rep. John Rhodes, R-Ariz.; Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.; and Sen. Ted Stevens, R-Alaska — were called to the White House for a briefing Sunday afternoon.

The White House statement raised questions about whether the situation in Eastern Europe had changed since Friday, when Adm. Daniel Murphy, deputy assistant secretary of defense for policy review, said Soviet forces "are ready to move" into Poland.

White House officials refused to elaborate, but deputy press secretary Ray Jenkins said of Sunday's declaration: "This has a great deal more weight, coming from the White House."

The determination about Soviet forces, stemming from U.S. monitoring activities, has not prompted any change "as of now" in the status of U.S. forces, said the White House official who briefed reporters.

There was no immediate comment from the Soviet Foreign Ministry in Moscow. But previous reports from Washington of military buildups and alerts on the Polish border have been denied by Soviet officials.

Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev left Moscow Sunday for a visit to India, and was spending the night en route to India in the Soviet Central Asian city of Tashkent.

Skeletons found in desert

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A team of police and volunteers will conduct another search next weekend in a section of the west Texas desert where three skeletons have been found in the past two weeks. Sheriff's deputies said Sunday there is no evidence the three deaths were linked. "We have no idea at this time what caused their deaths or even who they were," said Chief Deputy Jesus Reyes. The third skeleton was found Saturday after about 100 deputies, reservists and volunteers fanned out in a weekend search.

KKK barred from parade

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — About 50 robed Ku Klux Klansmen who showed up to march in a Christmas parade in downtown Nashville were barred from participating by police armed with M-16 rifles. "As individuals you can go anywhere you want to in the parade route, but as a group you can't," Police Chief Joe Casey told the Klan members Sunday. The Klansmen did not try to force their way into the parade. When the march was nearly over, police allowed Klan leader Bill Wilkinson and two robed Klansmen to walk on a sidewalk alongside the parade while the rest of the group was held back.

Wildcat bus strike over

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Greyhound buses have resumed a normal schedule in Oregon after workers ended a one-day wildcat strike apparently intended as a protest against a tentative contract their union reached with the company last week. All service was back to normal after Friday's walkout ended, said Greyhound Lines Inc. spokesman Lee Whitehead at the company's headquarters in Phoenix, Ariz. Drivers and baggage handlers also refused to work in Minneapolis, but Greyhound said it was able to maintain full service. Some members of the Amalgamated Transit Union said they are upset with the tentative pact because it was similar to one turned down earlier.

Landscape painting stolen

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Officials at the Wadsworth Atheneum say thieves made off with a small oil painting by the 18th century French landscape artist Charles F. Lacroix. The painting, discovered missing Saturday, had been pried from its frame. Entitled "Seascape with Ruined Arch," it depicts six fishermen working in a rocky harbor framed on one side by an arch.

Sharp Drilling Co. places orders for four new rigs

MIDLAND — Sharp Drilling Co., Inc., a Midland-based subsidiary of Pioneer Corporation (NYSE), has placed orders for four new SCR diesel-electric rigs for delivery during 1981, at a cost of $20.7 million. One of the rigs will be financed through a limited partnership, with Sharp acting as the general partner for operation of the rig. The rigs will have depth capabilities ranging from 18,000 feet to 28,000 feet and will be assembled at Sharp's fabrication and maintenance facility in Odessa, Texas. They will be operated in the Anadarko and Delaware basins of Oklahoma and Texas. The additions will increase the Sharp fleet to 26 rigs. Two of the new rigs are committed to work under long-term contracts for Pioneer Production Corporation, another Pioneer Corporation subsidiary. Pioneer Corporation is a diversified energy resources corporation, which has its headquarters in Amarillo and operations in 14 states, the Gulf of Mexico, and the Atlantic Ocean.

Ex-grid 'star' wreck victim

MIDLAND — A 22-year-old college student from Fort Worth, Michael Anthony Lockett, was fatally injured when the 1980 sedan he was driving went out of control while passing another vehicle on IS 20 here Friday evening. Lockett was pronounced dead at Midland Memorial Hospital at 7:13 p.m., almost two hours after the accident occurred. The driver was thrown from the vehicle. Lockett was a former University of Texas football player.

Jury selection in 118th begins

Jury selection in the burglary trial of Curtis Ray Williams, 1518 B Wood, began this morning in 118th District Court. Williams was arrested at 1501 Tucson on Aug. 25 for a break in on Sycamore St. Nothing was taken. Williams was indicted by a Howard County Grand jury Aug. 27. Bond was set at $20,000.

Seminole man killed in Howard County wreck

A one-vehicle accident resulted in the death of the driver and serious injuries to a passenger. Jerry Lynn Smauley, 32, was pronounced dead by Justice of Peace Lewis Heflin 12:45 a.m. Sunday. Donald C. Jackson, 46, Seminole, was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital by Shaffer Ambulance where he is reported in stable condition in intensive care. At approximately 12:15 a.m., Smauley was driving his car northbound on the Old Gail Road about a tenth of a mile past Snyder highway. The driver went off the roadway to the right, overcorrected too sharply to the left and exited the roadway to the left side. He went down a deep ditch, causing him to hit a deep embankment, throwing both men through the windshield. The mishap was investigated by Texas Department of Public Safety Trooper Dean Richardson.

Diabetics unit study goals

Members of the Big Spring Chapter of the American Diabetics Association met Thursday. A board meeting preceded the regular monthly meeting of the group. Gay Shamin, area representative for the Association, spoke to the group, which met at Malone-Hogan Hospital. Future goals for the chapter, patient education, professional education program and membership were discussed. A cooking class for diabetics and a fund raising effort were also discussed by members. Dr. Douglas Park of Malone-Hogan spoke on how diabetes affects vessels. Although the local association meets the first Thursday of each month, the group will next meet Jan. 8. C.G. Evans will speak at that time.

Dental insurance pact voted

By DON WOODS
Howard County employees now have the option of dental insurance since commissioners voted in their regular meeting this morning to buy the insurance from Blue Cross Blue Shield. Cost is $6.49 per month for each employee for the county and $10.20 per month for the employee. The benefit provides 50 percent of the cost of orthodontic work up to $700. The action to buy the insurance followed the move two weeks ago to provide health insurance for the employees. The awarding of the contract to low bidding Blue Cross came just in time to make the December payroll deductions. County employees total 120. Commissioners estimated cost of the county at $713.90 a month. Pumping on Pirkle Lake will be completed in three weeks, said County Engineer Bill Mims. Three local farmers from near Knott appeared at the commissioner's meeting to appeal for help with a water problem of their own. One farmer said when Knott Lake was formed a few years ago the water covered the road to his farm. He began using another road that has since become impassable. He said he was told five years ago that the access would be caliche, but it was never done. The road has been graded, though, he said. Another farmer said he had bought caliche for a road to his house, but that the caliche had been washed into a draw. The commissioners decided to buy caliche from the nearby Joe Myers pit at 50 cents a year to do the job. They also decided the split the cost between the farmers and the county of building a concrete culvert to help alleviate the problem. County Judge Bill Tune said he appreciated the farmers' attendance. "Without bringing it to our attention we don't know the situation," he said. A crossing was approved for Getty Oil Company. Commissioners passed a resolution approving of an unemployment bill pending in the state legislature. Roy Blake, a legislator, has proposed a bill stipulating reasons for disqualification for benefits for an employee who has quit his job without a good reason.

Police Beat Five face pot charges

Five Big Springers were arrested and held by members of the local Major Crime Task Force in connection with the seizure of seven and a half pounds of marijuana, Sunday afternoon. A total of seven persons were seized in the raid, but two were released after officers determined they knew nothing of the drug cache. Bearing warrants issued by Justice of the Peace Bob West, officers arrested Roberto Olivas, 36, 1103 Lamar; Israel Muniz, 17, 1105 Lamar; Ralph Lopez, 48, 1105 Lamar; and two male juveniles. The raid came after a month and a half of surveillance of the two homes at 1103 and 1105 Lamar, said Detective Mike Eggleston. "We suspect that shipments of marijuana were picked up on trips to south Texas about once a month. We were finally able to get an informant on the inside, sometime last week, to confirm that the stuff was really there," he said. Eggleston anticipates still another arrest in connection with the case this afternoon. During the bust, he and Officer Melvin Fowler entered the home at 1103 Lamar, while Officers Bud Jones and Mike Arnold entered simultaneously the home next door. Seven pounds of marijuana were found in the Olivas home, while seven ounces were recovered from 1105 Lamar where four of the five suspects were arrested. Bond for Olivas was set at $25,000 by Justice West. Bond for the other two adults was set at $15,000 apiece, while the juveniles were released to their parents. Margaret Lloyd, 2308 Roberts, noticed that four diamond rings were missing from a jewelry box in her bedroom Saturday afternoon. The rings, which were probably stolen sometime last week, included a wedding ring, an engagement ring, an antique ring and a friendship ring. Total loss was estimated at $15,100. Jewelry thieves struck also at the home of Nancy Lee Twining, 1021 Stadium, sometime Saturday night. They made off with seven rings, two silver bracelets, a turquoise bracelet, a ladies watch, a silver hat pin and a stereo receiver. Loss was estimated at $3,678.50.

While a pickup belonging to Troy King, Gail, was parked at the Big Spring Bowlarama, Saturday night, burglars stole a cassette recorder and 13 tapes from the dash. Loss was estimated at $230. Following an argument at a local lounge, 11:45 p.m. Sunday, one of the arguers smashed the windshield on a 1958 Chevrolet wrecker belonging to Joe Trevino, Gail Route. Damage was estimated at $200. Vandals smashed the window glass on a 1976 Dodge motor home at the Miracle Auto Sales lot, 3239 Drexel, sometime Saturday. Damage was estimated at $50. Dolly McNew, 1301 Lindbergh, believes she knows who entered her home, Saturday night, and stole several packages from beneath her Christmas tree. The packages, most of which contained toys, were valued at over $20. While David L. Campbell, 903 Scurry, was parked at 1506 Cherokee, Sunday night, someone slashed the two right tires of his company-owned pickup. Damage was estimated at $120. Burglars broke into a car belonging to S.H. Wallace, Saturday night, and stole a western hat and a CB microphone. Loss was estimated at $200. Vandals broke out a window in a home at 1301 Mesa belonging to Jerry Worthy, P.O. Box 1487, Sunday. After breaking the window, the vandals tossed rocks into the house, smashing an oven vent hood and four light bulbs. Damage was estimated at $50. Two Big Springers were admitted to Cowper Clinic for X-rays and observation following a two-vehicle accident on the 1900 block of Nolan, 8:20 a.m. today. Vehicles driven by Betty K. Schmidt, 1106 Birdwell, and Guadalupe Pineda, 1102 W. 2nd, collided at that location. Ms. Pineda and her passenger, Mike Pineda, also a resident of 1102 W. 2nd, were taken to Cowper by Shaffer Ambulance Service. Ten-year-old Chuck Patterson, 2601 Central, is listed in good condition at Hall-Bennett Hospital after his motorbike struck a parked car, 3:18 p.m. Sunday. According to reports, Patterson was talking with a friend who was riding another bike on the sidewalk, when he struck a car parked in front of the home of Phillip Rowden, 2513 Ann. Four other mishaps were reported over the weekend. Vehicles driven by Christopher Mindling, Sandra Gail Apartments, and Kimberly Madry, 2713 Coronado, collided at 19th and Gregg, 10:15 p.m. Saturday. Vehicles driven by Alan Carson, 1203 Lloyd, and Ted Lancaster, P.O. Box 391, collided at East Sixth and Holbert, 1:34 p.m. Sunday. A vehicle driven by Tom Currie, 107 W. 7th, struck a chain link fence at 2100 Wasson, 1:30 a.m. Sunday. A vehicle driven by Michele M. Hughes, 2901 Lawrence, struck a light pole at 18th and Gregg, 8:50 p.m.

Hit man says KKK operates camps

HOUSTON (AP) — A convicted hit man who says he taught jungle warfare at a Ku Klux Klan camp in Texas claims there are two other secret training facilities and an ammunition factory located near here, according to published reports. John Allen Mosier currently is serving a life sentence at the state prison near Lexington, Okla. The former Marine pleaded guilty last month to killing his father-in-law for $80. He told the Houston Chronicle he was a guerrilla warfare instructor at Camp Puller, a Chambers County facility located about 40 miles east of Houston. One of the camp owners — who asked that his name not be used — confirmed that Mosier was an instructor at Camp Puller, the newspaper said in its Sunday edition. Mosier said he knew of two other secret training camps near Houston — one near Mauriceville and the other near Cleveland, the newspaper said. Mauriceville is about 10 miles north of Vidor in Orange County and Cleveland is about 30 miles north of Houston in Liberty County, on the edge of the San Jacinto National Forest.

Members of the Coahoma City Council will meet at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in City Hall. Monthly bills, the police department and an employee's Christmas bonus will be among items discussed. Other topics will be the hiring of an outside employee, operation of the dump ground, and construction of a drain pipe for over-flow water at the reservoir tank.

Deaths

Ruth White

STANTON — Mrs. Ruth C. White, 60, of Midland, died Friday evening at Midland Memorial Hospital after a lengthy illness. Graveside services were at 1 p.m. today at Evergreen Cemetery with the Rev. Ed Carson, pastor of First Baptist Church, Stanton officiating. Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Gilbreath Funeral Home. She was born Feb. 26, 1920 in Oklahoma. She was married to William H. White, Nov. 2, 1969 at Fort Worth. She moved to Midland three years ago from Dallas. She is survived by her husband of Midland, a sister, Joanne Casey, Fort Worth; three aunts; one uncle.

James Jones

STANTON — James William Jones, 79, of Stanton, died 5 p.m. Saturday at Martin County Hospital after a lengthy illness. Services were at 3 p.m. today at the First United Methodist Church, Stanton with the Rev. David Edens, pastor officiating. Burial was at Evergreen Cemetery under the direction of Gilbreath Funeral Home. He was born Dec. 18, 1900 at Altus, Okla. He had lived in Stanton 73 years. He was married to Opal Nichols, Jan. 15, 1929 in Stanton. He owned and operated James Jones Toggery from 1926 to 1941. He was the owner of James Jones Hardware from 1941 until his retirement in 1970. Mr. Jones was a charter member of the Lions Club, a member of the Masonic Lodge, Chamber of Commerce, Martin County Historical Museum and the First United Methodist Church in Stanton. He had served on virtually all committees at one time. He was recognized as outstanding older Texan in 1976 and in 1977 for services to the Old Settler's Reunion. Survivors include his wife of Stanton; two daughters, Mrs. Dean (Joanne) Forrest and Mrs. Ellis (Janelle) Britton, both of Big Spring; four grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. The family requests memorial be made to Evergreen Cemetery Association.

L.J. Hale

L.J. Hale, 96, who carried the mail from Big Spring to Lubbock for many years, died recently in Dallas. He resided in Big Spring during and after his retirement until he was well into his 80s. He later moved to Clyde. At the time of his death, he had lived in Dallas only a short time. Survivors include his wife, Golda; four sons, two daughters, a stepson, a stepdaughter, 12 grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren.

Prior to her marriage to Ezzell, she had worked at Cunningham and Phillips Drug Store, Barrow Furniture and the local Ford Motor Co. After the Ezzells returned here, she worked for McDonald Realty Company until 1977. She attended the University of Texas where she was a member of Delta Delta Delta. She was a member of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, the Newcomers Club and the Hyperian Club. She was also a volunteer worker at Malone-Hogan Hospital. Survivors include her husband, who resides at Park Hill Terrace Apartments; a son, Capt. T. Barkley Wood, United States Navy (ret.), of Alexandria, Va.; three grandchildren, Ensign Brian Phillips Wood USN, Pensacola, Fla., Alison Marion Wood, William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va., and Eric Farley Wood, a high school sophomore at Alexandria, Va. She was the aunt of Mrs. Garth (Nancy) Phillips Jones, Austin, and Champe Phillips of Pago Pago, Samoa. Enough Wood is now undergoing flight officers training at Pensacola.

Coahoma Church of Christ. Born Jan. 1, 1951, in Waurika, Okla., he came to Big Spring with his family in 1964. He was employed by Ferrer Construction Company in Seymour, he was a Baptist and had served in the U.S. Army in Vietnam. He was preceded in death by his father, W.E. "Dick" Tindol, Dec. 5, 1970. He is survived by his mother, Jo Tindol of Big Spring; a brother, Chuck Ogle of Big Spring; a sister, Eddie Rasch of El Paso; numerous aunts and uncles; three nephews and a niece. Pallbearers will be Larry Tindol, Terry McIntyre, Ricky Harris, Jim Felts, Russell Felts and Bob Daily.

J.L. Smauley

Jerry Lynn Smauley, 32, of Seminole, was killed in a one-car accident about a mile north of Big Spring on the Gail Road at 12:45 a.m. Sunday. Smauley had recently moved to Seminole from Rankin. He was an oil field worker by trade. He was born Jan. 17, 1948, in Rotan. He was a Baptist and a veteran. Local arrangements are being handled by Sheppard Funeral Home. The body was sent to the Weathersbee Funeral Home in Roby, where services will be at 2 p.m. today. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O.J. Smauley of Seminole; sisters, Mrs. Charlotte Caldwell, Longview, and Mrs. Nancy Keeling, Hobbs, N.M.; two nieces and a nephew.

Dicky Joe Tindol

Dicky Joe Tindol, 29, of Big Spring, died late Saturday in his home after a sudden illness. Graveside services are at 4 p.m. today in Trinity Memorial Park in Big Spring under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. Officiating will be Glen Sargent, minister of the MARIJUANA SEIZED — Mike Eggleston, a detective with the Big Spring Police department, is shown bagging some of the seven and a half pounds of marijuana which was seized Sunday afternoon locally. The raid came after a month and a half of surveillance of homes at 1103 and 1105 Lamar. Seven persons were seized in the raid.

Rain delays cotton harvest

The Martin County's Extension Office at Stanton said 1.5 inches had fallen there. The rain continued throughout the night. In Dawson County, 1.8 inches has been trapped, according to the County Extension Office. Showers began in Lamesa shortly after lunch. Area rainfall will further delay the county's cotton harvest, according to Don Richardson, Howard County Extension agent. Richardson said that approximately 40 percent of this year's cotton crop is still in the fields, but that "It's such a poor crop that it's hard to estimate." Turn-outs on cotton have been 10-12 percent, with grades variable. Prices are mixed, he said. Richardson added that yields have been running from zero to 1/4 bale per acre. Top prices for cotton on the market have been running up to 80 cents a pound, but average has been 68 to 72 cents a pound. Richardson described the cotton quality as "trashy." Richardson explained that "cotton fiber quality deteriorates in the rain." He said when the cotton seed is wet the oil seeps out and discolors the cotton, resulting in spotted fiber.

Ellen Ezell

Mrs. Earl (Ellen) Ezzell died at 1:40 p.m., Saturday in a local hospital following a sudden illness. Memorial services are scheduled for 3:30 p.m., Tuesday at St. Mary's Episcopal Church here. Other arrangements are being completed at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home. The family has requested that memorials be made to Heart or Lung associations or to a favorite charity. Mrs. Ezzell, a long-time Big Spring resident, was born in Baird, Tex. She was the daughter of Judge and Mrs. Farley Bell of Virginia. She had lived in Big Spring off and on since 1935. She married W. Earl Ezzell June 30, 1946, in Big Spring. They left Big Spring shortly after their marriage and later lived in Abilene, San Angelo and Austin before returning to Big Spring in 1963.

Students get running start

By CAROL HART

Some people fear that computers are gaining the upper hand today, but students at Big Spring High School are learning to use the mechanical wizards to further their own education and to prepare themselves for life in an age of fast-moving technology.

Joseph Dawes, a mathematics teacher at BSHS, and Wilbur Cunningham, mathematics department chairman, have been working on acquiring the computers several years. Last year, Dawes explained, money for the system was budgeted, and over the summer two systems were purchased. The men surveyed various computer systems for several years, and chose models from the Apple Computer company, a subsidiary of IT&T.

"The basic outlay for the system was $6,737.71," Dawes said. That price covered all the "hardware" for the system, including a video monitor, thermal printer, card reader, disc drive mechanism, graphic table and a cassette tape recorder.

The school purchased two systems, which are identical in many aspects. Dawes said they are "quite reliable," and added he has had trouble with them on only two occasions. Both times, the problem was quickly isolated and repaired.

The systems vary in the fact that one is fed information through the disc drive mechanism, and the other can utilize the cassette tape machine. One machine is also attached to a print-out machine, which is used to provide a sheet of paper with information that appeared on the video screen. The other is equipped with a graphing table, which has a variety of uses, including use as a drawing board and measurement chart.

Both machines are equipped with keyboards

TEST RUN ON LOCAL SCHOOL'S COMPUTER
Instructor Joe Dawes with student Alyssa Burns which are used to "talk" to the computers and supply information, which appears on the small screens.

Students taking advantage of the computer systems are doing so now strictly on a volunteer basis. Dawes said the system did not arrive in time to budget a credit course for the schedule. He added that someday the computer course may be incorporated into the curriculum.

Although no high school credit is offered at this time, Dawes said 65 students had signed sheets signifying interest in learning to operate the systems, and that the machines are kept active daily. Students come to the computer lab during their study hall periods or after school, and sign-up sheets keep track of when the systems will be available for use.

Students reserve the computers for a 30-minute block of time, and work with self-paced programs using written instructions. Dawes supervises the students and "helps them out" when they are stuck with a problem.

"Since computers are effecting more and more segments of daily life, we want the student to develop computer literacy," Dawes said. "This is an opportunity for those who want to gain this knowledge."

Students working with the machines may utilize them in several different ways.

"We want the students to learn how to program the computers themselves," Dawes said. "Students are not encouraged to come and play with already written programs."

He explained there are two ways of using the computers. "Some students want to learn to program, and others are interested in the computer as a tool." He said that the systems may be utilized to help solve problems, but to solve the problems, the students must first learn to make the computer work.

Dawes outlined some of the uses of the computers. He said that they may be used to math applications, such as using them to solve algebra equations. The computers will display graphs and charts upon request and will calculate area and distances with the push of a button. The machines are also equipped for text editing.

The systems are now "mainly for students use," Dawes said, although some teachers have been working with the machines. "There isn't enough time to monopolize them for administrative use," he said. The system could be used, though, he said, to keep an accurate card file with grading information and attendance records.

Dawes said the system holds a lot of potential. Students utilizing the computers now will have a head start when faced with them in the future.

Freezing rain, snow in Panhandle

By The Associated Press

A rare December tornado caused an estimated $150,000 damage early today in Brownwood, only hours after a small twister hit Spur, about 200 miles to the north.

The Brownwood tornado hit the Village Shopping Center about 1:05 a.m., officials said, destroying a Chinese restaurant, and causing extensive damage to a figure salon, barber shop and a store that sold fans.

The twister narrowly missed a home for the elderly as it lifted into the clouds, skipped over downtown Brownwood and dipped back down to hit a couple of carpools in the Central Texas town of 22,000.

Two metal barns were destroyed and electrical power was knocked out at Spur, about 70 miles east of Lubbock, in a storm that hit about 6:45 p.m.

Sunday.

Police in both towns said they had no reports of injuries.

The tornadoes were spawned from an arctic cold front that moved into the state Sunday. By early today, the front had moved into North Central Texas.

Temperatures in the Panhandle tumbled into the middle 20s, accompanied by scattered freezing rain and snow.

Dalhart, in the northwest corner of the state, reported an inch of snow on the ground in the past midnight hours.

Freezing rain and snow were expected to continue through today in the Panhandle, and rain was forecast for the rest of Texas.

The National Weather Service said temperatures should be in the 40s and 50s north of the front, while readings in the 60s and 70s were likely south of the front.

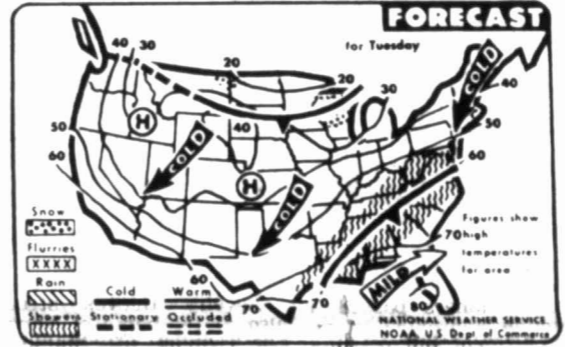

FORECAST

WEST TEXAS: Freezing rain mixed with scattered snow and sleet much of north today and tonight turning to snow Tuesday. Scattered rain south with few thunderstorms southeast through Tuesday and snow mixed with rain mountains tonight and Tuesday. Highs today upper 20s in the Panhandle to near 70 in the Big Bend. Lows tonight near 70 in the Panhandle to the mid 40s in the Big Bend. Highs Tuesday in the mid 30s in the Panhandle to the low 60s in the Big Bend.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Cloudy and cold by midweek. Clearing with a warming trend Thursday and Friday. Lows near 70 north to mid 30s south, warming to upper 20s north and mid 30s south by Friday. Highs mid 40s north to near 60 south, warming to low 60s north to low 70s south by Friday.

Liberal removed from El Salvador's junta

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The military removed a liberal colonel from El Salvador's junta as a U.S. presidential commission interviewed key officials to try to determine if the armed forces were involved in the murder of four American women last week.

Officers of the armed forces voted 300-4 to remove Col. Alfonso Adolfo Majano after he charged in a radio interview that the militant right-wing blamed for most of the 8,500 political killings in El Salvador this year "has infiltrated the high commands of the armed forces and the government."

Majano was considered one of the most liberal members of the five-man junta while the other military member, Col. Jaime Abdul Gutierrez, considered the most conservative.

The two colonels led the coup that ousted right-wing President Carlos Humberto Romero in October 1979, but Majano's power has been steadily eroded by the conservative defense minister, Col. Jose Guillermo Garcia.

A U.S. official who asked not to be identified said he understood Majano would not be replaced, leaving the junta with only four members. And two of the three civilians on the junta, Jose Napoleon Duarte and Antonio Morales Erlich of the Christian Democratic Party, told a news conference they would quit unless "profound measures" were taken to end the civil war between left-wing and right-wing militants.

The U.S. government cut off military and economic aid to the junta Friday, two days after the bodies of three American nuns and a lay Catholic social worker were found shot in the back of the head beside a country road. They disappeared Tuesday between the San Salvador airport and the city.

Worker ID card may be recommended by panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — Absentee votes could push the Select Commission on Immigration and Refugee Policy in favor of recommending a national worker-identification card, the panel's chairman said today.

The Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame, said the four members of the commission who were not present for a weekend session would have a chance to vote during the next 10 days.

The 12 members who attended the session voted in favor of employer sanctions as a way to crack down on the flood of illegal immigration to the U.S., but they were unable to reach agreement on a worker identification system.

Hesburgh said his personal view was that an employer sanction system would be meaningless without an easy, effective and counterfeit-proof identification card to establish a work applicant's citizenship or legal status.

The commission's recommendations are to be presented next March to the president and Congress.

Sanctions would penalize employers who systematically hire illegal aliens.

The commission accepted staff recommendations that tighter enforcement to keep aliens from entering the U.S. illegally should be the foundation for a coherent immigration program.

Leader says Klan won't retaliate

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — A national leader of the Ku Klux Klan says no retaliation is planned against a reporter who infiltrated the Klan for more than a year and then wrote of his experiences for The Tennessean.

Reporter Jerry Thompson, 40, began writing about his life underground in Sunday's editions of the newspaper. The series continued today. The Klan, he wrote, "grows more dangerous every day" and should be disarmed. He said he was under police protection because the Klan threatens death to members who violate their oaths of allegiance.

Asked about possible retaliation, Bill Wilkinson, imperial wizard of the Invisible Empire faction of the Klan, replied, "If you mean physical, corporal retribution, none as far as we're concerned."

Thompson said he infiltrated two Klan organizations, including the militant Invisible Empire, helped light crosses and demonstrated in his white Klan garb.

The reporter said he fabricated a detailed identity as J.W. Thompson, a retired Army sergeant who took early disability retirement and went to work as a cabinet maker in Birmingham, Ala.

"Before leaving Nashville for Birmingham I had spent weeks preparing myself for... when a Klan leader would cross-examine me about my past," Thompson wrote in today's editions.

Thompson's test came Nov. 8, 1979, when Don

Black, successor to David Duke as head of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, cornered him in the parking lot of a Sambo's restaurant in Birmingham.

"It was clear that he was suspicious — as he must be about every Klan recruit," Thompson said. "His eyes, staring intently into my own, did not waver. He was looking for that flicker of hesitation, that momentary stumble, that one slip of mine which would tip him off to the fact that I was not what I pretended to be."

"He quizzed me sternly, seriously and thoroughly. I was glad I had spent a month preparing for that ordeal. But when... (he) finished with me and I stood there in the chilly evening, sweat dripping from my face, I wasn't certain I had passed the test... Only when he took my Klan initiation fee that night did I know I could say AKIA."

AKIA, he said, means "A Klansman I Am."

"For years I sought to condition my thinking to be aware and sensitive to a changing society," Thompson wrote. "Suddenly, in the Klan, I found myself submerged in a cauldron of racism and intolerance. It was necessary and important for me to undergo an immediate reconditioning. With a sense of guilt I would find myself engaging in the same sort of 'nigger and Jew talk' that offends decency."

The newspaper said Thompson's assignment began in July 1979, when Tennessean president and publisher John Seigenthaler asked Thompson to go underground to report on the Klan.

The newspaper said it waylaid questions about Thompson's absence from the regular news columns by a staged incident.

Man's capacity for evil dates far back

An eminent brain researcher named Dr. Paul MacLean says man's problem in trying not to commit evil dates all the way back to the time of the giant dragon lizard, and it likely is a hopeless one.

Dr. MacLean says he discovered some years ago that a small, ancient segment of our think tank, inherited from the reptile brain, controls such functions as mating, insistence on routine and obedience to precedent and ritual.

Because that portion of the brain exerts itself, according to Dr. MacLean, man battles man in the prizefighting ring and nation fights nation with incredible brutality.

IN AN ARTICLE appearing in Science Digest Magazine, the researcher reveals startling new findings in his works with lizards. MacLean comes with splendid credentials — he is chief of the Laboratory of Brain Evolution and Behavior at the Poolesville, Pa., facility of the National Institute of Mental Health.

MacLean's latest research presents what the magazine says is "exciting, if disturbing, evidence that this arcane part of the brain may control the neural circuitry for violence, obsessive-compulsive neuroses, mass hysteria and deception.

"And MacLean's most provocative investigation yet suggests that our basic personalities may have their physical site not in the lofty realms of the neo-cortex (which houses our intellect) but in the saurian jungle of the reptile brain," the magazine continues.

In man, the counterpart of the reptilian brain consists of a group of ganglia of gray matter that MacLean refers to informally as the R-complex. MacLean's theory is that the R-complex is one of three brains operating at all times within the human cranium.

In addition to the reptilian brain there are the limbic brain inherited from early mammals, and the neocortex — the three of them countless generations apart in the evolutionary sense.

"VERY LITTLE is known about the brain mechanism underlying deceptive behavior, but it is likely that the basic circuitry will be found in the R-complex," Science Digest says. "MacLean points out that Arthur Bremer's obsessive trailing and stalking behavior (in his attempt to dispatch George Wallace) is notably similar to the predatory and deceptive behavior of the giant Komodoro dragon lizard."

MacLean has written: "As human beings, we seem to be acquiring the mental stuff of which we imagine angels are made. Perhaps it is time to take a fresh look at ourselves and try again to act accordingly."

Will man take that look, to put it another way, can man do it? Judging from the violence he has shown in recent years, he can't. He seems determined to terminate his stay on this earth.

Decision time

Around the rim

Andrea Cohen

Here we go again. It's the holiday season and it's time to get my greeting cards out.

I have a terrible problem with anything that has to do with the post office. First, I hate getting whatever needs to be written, written. Then I have to get around to mailing it.

CHRISTMAS CARDS are not a problem at the moment. I can procrastinate signing and sending them another week. Hanukkah started last week, but that is also no problem. I couldn't find any cards in town last year so I won't have to send any this year either.

Wrong! A local store has them this year, I discover as I'm searching for a box of stationery in my quest to bring the phone bill down.

Since 100 percent of my family and a large proportion of my friends are Jewish, and since they're all sending me cards and since I don't want to lie to anyone and say they aren't being sold here and since I wouldn't want anyone up north thinking that southerners don't know what Hanukkah is, I pick several packs off the shelf and held home. This is a job I can't procrastinate. The last night of the eight day celebration is tomorrow. Strike that last comment about procrastinating.

I hate getting a holiday card from someone out of town with just a signature on it. I like to know what's happening. "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," I think to myself, very unhappily.

Does this mean I should put notes in all these cards? Since I owe everyone letters, the answer is yes. But WILL I enclose a note in every card because I owe everyone a letter? Nope. If I had the drive to sit down and write that many letters, I wouldn't owe one to everybody.

Well, I know what they all want to hear. I'll make it short, simple and to the point. "Hi there." "I'll begin." "I'm doing fine. I have no aftereffects from the Scarlet Fever and I'm not seeing anyone special." (Translation to the receiver: Everything is under control, she's healthy and she's still denying us a wedding to attend and children to spoil.)

But I still have to decide who is going to get the notes and who won't. Diane will get one. She sent me one in her Hanukkah card. Lisa also put a note in hers, but she isn't going to get one from me. We talk on the phone every two weeks when, each time she gives me a blow by blow on what it's like to be pregnant. Randy should get one, but he won't. For the past seven years, his two biggest concerns about me, in order of importance, have been my weight and if I'm serious with anyone. He'd be happy to hear the weight is down since we last saw each other a few years ago, but I figure after all these years, our friendship does not thrive on anyone's looks, his included. Maybe someday I'll get a letter from his wife explaining how she's put up with him since they were married two years ago. It might make a good feature story. Well anyway, that's another note I don't have to write.

MY RELATIVES ARE a breed of their own. Part of the family will be so glad I even got the darn things out, they'll be happy with just a signature. The other part of the family, well, no comment. No notes to any of them.

Elaine and Sharon have been bugging me for a picture of myself. I have one left. Sharon will get it because she was down here when it was taken. Elaine will have to wait. I talked to them both this week, long distance. Neither will get a note.

If I keep persisting at this, all these cards will be finished in a minute. C'mon kiddo. You can do it. Seal them, stamp them and force yourself to get down to the post office.

Ahhh. Finished! Until next week when I start the Christmas cards. I hope next year, all the stores decide not to carry any holiday greeting cards. Or maybe if I'm lucky, the post office workers will go on strike for a month, starting Dec. 1.

Choice for Democrats

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Just how much Democrats learned from their Election Day debacle will be flashed Dec. 10 by the House Democratic caucus when it decides whether to place an LBJ disciple, targeted for extinction by liberal political activists, in a post of tactical leadership.

Rep. James Jones of Oklahoma is slightly favored over his principal opponent, Rep. David Obey of Wisconsin, to be elected chairman of the House Budget Committee — the point man confronting Ronald Reagan's overall program. Superficially, they are similar: tough, smart, young (Jones is 41; Obey is 42) and new legislative masters of the House.

But seldom have Democrats been offered a clearer choice of how they should react to defeat. Obey is a skilled practitioner of liberal constituency-group politics who wants to reform big government sufficiently to save it. Jones wants to throw out liberal spending paraphernalia that has collected in the Democratic attic for generations.

TRIED-AND-TRUE liberals have viewed Jones as Judas Iscariot ever since he guided through the House the 1978 tax reduction bill backed by Republicans and opposed by President Carter. He is on the secret hit list of the National Committee for an Effective Congress (NCEC), the famous liberal political action group, for 1982 Democratic primary defeat by a liberal in his conservative Tulsa district.

By supporting corporate tax incentives for industrial expansion, Jones has earned cloakroom indictment by liberal colleagues as a mouthpiece for the Business Roundtable. "The problem with Jimmy," one such congressman told us, "is that he'd give the store away to the Republicans."

Actually, Jones has voted more as a centrist than a conservative: most recently, 32 percent liberal according to the Americans for Democratic Action (ADA), and 45 percent conservative according to the American Conservative Union (ACU). That compares with figures of 89 percent liberal and 11 percent conservative for Obey and 74 percent liberal and 3 percent conservative for Rep. Paul Simon of Illinois, who is running a poor third for budget chairman.

Obey is current chairman of the Democratic Study Group, the House liberal caucus. On the budget committee, he protected health and education spending from many assaults and opposed all increases in defense spending. On the House floor, he manned the barricades against anti-abortion riders. Last spring, Obey talked the Carter administration into relaxing domestic spending restrictions, much to the mortification of Jones.

Differences between Obey and Jones over tactics may be even more significant. Jones, a junior aide to President Lyndon B. Johnson in the mid-1960s, would imitate tactics employed by Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson in the 1950s: Oppose the Republican administration only rarely; but when a constructive alternative is in hand, attack in force.

Thus, in reacting to Reagan's tax program, Jones supports tax cuts in principle but would apply a Democratic twist by making upper-income-bracket reductions conditional on investment. Jones wants a Democratic label on relief for middle-income voters (earning up to $40,000 a year) who abandoned Jimmy Carter a month ago because they felt the Democrats had abandoned them.

Obey as budget chairman would resist far more than Jones the Reagan run at cherished social welfare programs.

Sarcoidosis can hamper lungs

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I was hospitalized three months ago and was told I have sarcoidosis. It's a mystery to me. How is it treated? — D.A.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please tell the effects of sarcoidosis on a person who also has a mild case of diabetes. I control my diabetes through diet. If I need sarcoidosis treatment, will that affect my diabetes? Please discuss sarcoidosis. — Mrs. B.T.

Even though sarcoidosis (sar-coy-DOH-sis) has been recognized for years, its cause remains a mystery. Its calling cards are little nodules in many areas of the body, especially in lungs and lymph nodes. Sarcoidosis can be so mild that all the patient has is the abnormal chest X-ray without any symptoms. Or it can be so severe as to cause lung problems, like shortness of breath.

A newer test aids in diagnosis and treatment. If lungs are affected by the nodules, their cells release a substance (angiotensin-converting enzyme) into the blood. This is the substance detected by the new test. During treatment (with steroids) the level of this enzyme declines, indicating effective progress. No treatment is necessary in the absence of symptoms.

B.T. (second letter) has sarcoidosis and a mild diabetes she controls by diet. What is on her mind is concern about her taking steroids. Steroids do make diabetes harder to control. But a person with diabetes may take steroids if they are necessary to treat another illness; the diabetes then has to be watched more closely. There may have to be a change in the diabetes control program while taking steroids. Please don't let that frighten you, B.T., into not taking your steroids, if they are prescribed.

Follow your doctor's advice. He can weigh all the evidence for and against any treatment, since he knows you, the condition of your body and the degrees of your twin illnesses.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I get one cavity after another. Unless something is done soon, I won't need an answer because I won't have any teeth left to have cavities in. Is there anything I can do to stop the cavities? — B.L.

This is not my field, so I can't answer you with any claim to depth of knowledge.

The first thing to do is to get on a regular program of dental examination, and have a frank talk with your dentist about what you may not be doing right. Cavities, or dental caries, can be thought of as an infectious disease. Certain bacteria in the mouth cling to the surface of teeth, and they are avid eaters of sugar, from which they make acids. These acids dissolve the tooth substance and a cavity is born.

Therefore, prevention is aimed at reducing the numbers of acid-producing bacteria — by brushing and flossing your teeth. If your dentist has a dental hygienist in his office, he or she can explain how to brush and floss correctly. At your first appointment, your dentist will remove the plaque from your teeth to get you off to a good start. That plaque is actually bacterial growth. You have to cut down on sweets, especially the chewy kinds that stick to teeth. Fluoride treatment of teeth helps prevent caries as do fluoridated water supplies, which many communities have.

Dear Dr. Donohue: For years, my 13-year-old son has had cracking bones. Whenever he isn't wearing shoes his ankles crack with every step. This seems hereditary, since my wrists sometimes crack with normal movement. I also have a cousin who cracks her neck. There is a lot of rheumatoid arthritis among older members of our family. Is this bone cracking a warning sign of arthritis? — Mrs. L.S.

The cracking noise can come from perfectly normal joints. The sound itself is not a sign of illness. If the joint is swollen, stiff and painful, then the noise can be significant. A grating sound in the joints of arthritis may mean that two roughened joint surfaces are rubbing together. Creaking sounds often originate from the

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you think it is wrong to pray for happiness and success in life? — G.C.

DEAR G.C.: I would like you to read the prayer Jesus taught his disciples — what we usually call "The Lord's Prayer." You will find it in the Bible in Matthew 6:9-13 and Luke 11:1-4. Jesus was showing his disciples in this prayer how they should pray. I think it will also help you see what prayer should be.

There is much I could say about this prayer, but let me point to two of the things for which Jesus said we should pray. The first is the phrase: "Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven." What did Jesus say we should pray for? We should pray for his will to be done — not ours. Just as God's will is perfectly done in heaven, so we should pray that his will be perfectly done here on earth. In other words, when you pray you should not be seeking your own selfish desires, leaving God's will out of the picture. Instead, you should be seeking God's irritated tendons. The sound itself is not accompanied by signs of joint disease, should not be disturbing. I don't see it as a sign of impending arthritis. But with so much family history of rheumatoid arthritis, it would be wise to have a physician keep an eye on your son.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for his booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Are there any calories in vitamins? — M.M.

No.

FOR B.K.H. — The back should not be bent when running. The trunk should be upright. Keep your neck and arms relaxed with elbows bent at about 90 degrees. Do not clench your fists. That can cause tenseness and soreness of muscles in the shoulder, neck and chest.

Not all back pain originates in the back. In his newest booklet, Dr. Donohue explains the spine, its muscles and nerves and how you can help yourself avoid back problems or ease those you may already have. For a copy of the new booklet, "Backache and Spine Problems," send 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

will, asking him to show you what his will is for your life right now.

The second phrase you should notice is this: "Give us this day our daily bread." Now think about that. God knows we all have a need for food and it is perfectly legitimate to ask God to supply this need. But note that when you ask God for this, you are acknowledging that he is the one who supplies our needs and you are trusting him to meet your needs.

What does all this mean? It means that our first concern should be the will of God. Are you willing to let him have your life and are you willing for him to lead you and bring into your life whatever he wills? Are you willing to turn from your selfish desires and let Christ be Lord of your life? Then we know that when we belong to God through faith in Christ, we can trust — and should trust — God for every real need that we have. "But seek ye first the kingdom of God, and his righteousness; and all these things shall be added unto you." (Matthew 6:33).

Mid-East landscape

Joseph Kraft

WASHINGTON — Events in the Middle East reveal with startling clarity a new political landscape. The danger is obvious, and even the possibility of a general war. But there is also at least the slim chance for American diplomacy to shape alignment in a way that promotes both international security and a steady flow of oil.

The major new feature in the landscape is the gathering of radical states around the Iran of the Ayatollah Khomeini. The Ayatollah is a Moselem of the Shi'ite sect, and his movement has sought to advance the Shi'ite cause through the rest of Islam. A natural harmony, as a result, exists between Tehran and the Syrian regime of President Hafez Assad. For President Assad and his chief colleagues are members of the Alawite sect, an offshoot of Shi'ism.

THE GREAT MAJORITY of Syrians, however, are orthodox, or Sunni, Moslems. The Sunnis of Syria have long been in a state of open revolt against the Alawite domination. To reinforce himself at home, President Assad has had to collect allies all over the world. In that spirit he has entered into partnership with Colonel Qaddafi of Libya, signed a friendship treaty with Russia, and forged close ties with the Palestine Liberation Organization, and the radical regimes in South Yemen and Algeria.

The second new feature on the landscape is the grouping of moderate Arab states around the Iraqi regime of President Saddam Hussein. Saddam Hussein heads a small clique of Sunni Moslems who rule with an iron fist over a country that's predominantly Shi'ite in population. To reinforce his internal position, Saddam Hussein has struck alliances with the Sunni leaders of the Arabian peninsula — notably King Hussein of Jordan and the royal families of Saudi Arabia and Kuwait. As a rallying cry Saddam Hussein has proclaimed Arab domination over the Persian Gulf.

The third major feature, of course, is the ongoing peace negotiations between Egypt and Israel. Those negotiations neutralize the only two countries in the area with the stomach and the skill to fight a major war. But that accomplishment is threatened by difficulties on the issue of autonomy for the Palestine Arabs living in area occupied by Israel.

Out of this caldron of political, religious and international rivalry there has already been brewed one war. Iraq attacked Iran in September in order to assert domination of the Gulf. The fighting continues, and could easily spread.

MILITARY AID IS being furnished to Iraq by Jordan, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia. The Iraqis have twice launched air strikes against border posts in Kuwait. Random shots at the oil fields of the Iranian peninsula, and the sea lanes through which the oil passes, could follow. That would engage the U.S. — and probably Russia.

Diplomatically there has also been Arab aid to Iraq. An Arab summit meeting was organized in Jordan by King Hussein last week with an eye toward isolating Syria as the Arab country which stabbed Iraq in the back. When the Syrians failed to stop the meeting by verbal protest, they mobilized troops on the Jordanian frontier, and accused King Hussein of stirring up the internal opposition to the Assad regime. Although war between Syria and Jordan makes no sense for either country, border tension is certain to persist and incidents could occur.

Amidst all these undoubted dangers, however, there can be traced a path to safety. The starting point is the Egyptian-Israeli peace treaty. It has, so far at least, been the main stopper in the Middle East — the reason why the Persian Gulf war has not spread. So the U.S. interest is to push the peace making process, and protect it against would-be saboteurs. At the same time this country needs to reaffirm its commitment to the defense of the Saudi oil fields. That means a purposeful buildup of American forces in the area with an eye toward a major presence. The final, far step is to link the Egyptian-Israeli peace process with the defense of the Arabian peninsula. One possibility is to draw King Hussein into the Palestine autonomy talks. But the principal American diplomatic objective now, is a rapprochement between Egypt and Saudi Arabia. For once that were achieved, there would be both the minimization of danger to security and an assurance of oil flow.

Mailbag

Dear Editor:

In regard to the bond election, there is much more we need to know about some of the items. I listened to Don Davis (city manager) on the radio, and the program left too many questions to be answered.

About the streets, will 26 miles of paving take care of all the rough streets? Concerning the buildings proposed, it seems like a lot of money the city is asking for, but then there is inflation and I don't know about costs. About the buildings in the Industrial Park, don't they belong to the city? It seems a lot of buildings out there are going to waste.

About the parks, again that seems a lot of money to improve a beautiful golf course, but I don't know anything about golf. The lake (Comanche trail) sure needs a lot of improvements. I don't understand the need for an overnight camping facility that far out of town and so far from the highway. I believe a pay camp would be better. There are so many people here on weekends and many would spend their vacations there.

About the water and sewer bonds, they seem to be a must. I believe all the water lines are bad so I wonder, after we take on this big debt, what happens when the rest of the lines go out? We want to draw more industry to town but the question is, can we, with above average utility bills and the bad-tasting water when the supply gets low.

I am not campaigning against the bonds. I am just seeking answers.

CHRISTMAS SEAL MONTH — Holding the proclamation signed by Mayor Clyde Angel declaring December Christmas Seal Month, is Bee McKenzie, ALA state board member, in center, Dr. S. Supuya, founder of the Big Spring Lung Association formerly known as Pink Puffers, and to the right, Ken Randall, chairman of BSLA.

Big Spring Lung Association urges use of Christmas seals

Mayor Clyde Angel has declared December to be Christmas Seal Month in Big Spring by signing a proclamation in conjunction with the 1980 Christmas Seal campaign of the American Lung Association of Texas.

The proclamation notes that over 800,000 Texans are afflicted with one or more chronic respiratory diseases, with 197,000 children under 17 suffering from asthma statewide.

The American Lung Association of Texas appeals to all citizens to help this large number of victims of chronic respiratory diseases.

The Big Spring Lung Association, formerly known as the Pink Puffers, is part of the ALA, Big Country Area. Offices in San Angelo and Lubbock which formerly provided programs in the schools have closed for lack of support in this area.

Help is needed to assist the Big Spring Lung Association patients in understanding their disease, treatment and how to cope with problems associated with the disease. Contributions are tax deductible and members of BSLA ask that contributions be made with a note stating that it is from the Big Country Area or send it directly to the local chapter, Box 1884, Big Spring. It will be properly credited and sent to the state office.

Dear Abby

Just Hope You Look As Good at Age 69

DEAR ABBY: Now that Ronald Reagan has made it to the White House, do you think he will quit dyeing his hair? Or will he "dye" lying?

CURIOS IN GEORGIA

DEAR CURIOUS: Mr. Reagan has never dyed his hair. This comes straight from Drucker, the barber who has cut Ronald Reagan's hair for the last 40 years. And if he gets a few gray hairs in the next four years, let's not have any "I told ya' so's." That job is enough to turn anyone gray overnight.

DEAR ABBY: I know this is childish, but I am going out of my mind. After being married for eight years, we finally found a house we could afford that is perfect for us. It's in a wonderful neighborhood, and everything about it is ideal except for one couple who are neighbors.

This couple comes over every Friday night to play cards with us. It doesn't matter what we are doing, they come over without calling. It started two years ago when we first bought this house, and now it has become a habit. They have a nice home of their own, but they're never home because they have a place to go every night in the week — and on Fridays, it's our house!

My husband doesn't want me to say anything, but, Abby, this is making me crazy. I love my home and I don't want to have to start going out every Friday night just to get away from this couple.

What do you do with people like that?

GOING MAD IN MAINE

DEAR GOING: If your neighbors read "Dear Abby," you may not have to "do" anything. If they don't, you have two choices: 1) Tell them the Friday night card game is off unless you call to confirm it; 2) suffer in silence and continue to be stuck with them every Friday night.

DEAR ABBY: This is for the physician who complained about having $35,000 on the books because of slow-paying patients.

Let me assure you that lawyers have the same problem. I never cease to be amazed at the people who brazenly telephone wanting free advice, or "just a minute of your time," totally ignoring the fact that all a lawyer has to sell is his time.

We have had clients phone for legal advice that requires hours of research, and when they are billed for "services rendered," they call up and say, "You're kidding about this bill, aren't you?" What then, Dear Abby?

TENNESSEE ATTORNEY

DEAR ATTORNEY: Reply, "No, we're not kidding about the bill." And if they don't pay it, sue 'em for services rendered.

Mothers celebrate Christmas

TWEEN 12 and 20 'Baby' is overprotected

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

The American Gold Star Mothers met the morning of Dec. 5, at the Veterans Administration Medical Center to decorate the sixth floor, the Nursing Care Home Unit, for the Holiday Season.

Following the tree decorating, the chapter held their regular monthly meeting in the Solarium of the VAMC.

Mrs. Herbert Smith, president, presided at the business session, and opened the meeting according to the Ritual. Mrs. Truett Thomas, chaplain, voiced the Ritual Prayer.

Community Service report showed 17 trays of food and 15 vases of flowers given to friends and shut-ins and $60 donation to charity.

Christmas greetings were read from Mrs. Leola Hale, Bonham, and Mrs. Odell LaLonda, Christmas gifts were exchanged by the mothers present before they had noon lunch in the VAMC Canteen.

Christmas gifts will be distributed by the chapter Members on Wednesday to the hospital patients.

The January meeting will be on the morning, Jan. 15 in the home of Mrs. Huey Rogers, 709 Tulane.

Kelly, 15, from Lake Charles, La., feels she is mature enough to start dating but feels that since she is the baby of the family, her parents are overly strict and will not allow it.

Jenny Rowe, 15, from Pueblo, Colo., and Ron Becker, 16, from Elizabethtown, Ky., will share their views with Kelly. Welcome!

Dr. Wallace: I'm the baby of the family and the only girl. I've got eight older brothers. Please believe me when I say that my parents are strict.

Last week I was asked on a date but I said no because I know my parents wouldn't allow me even though I'm 15 years old. All of my girlfriends are already dating and many of them have already had sexual intercourse.

This would never happen to me. I will stay pure until I am married. Also, I'm very picky about boys whom I would date. I would select only those who would respect me.

I have never done anything bad to give my parents a reason not to trust me.

I would really like to start dating but I know my parents will say no.

Please give me your point of view and I'd appreciate hearing from the teen guest writers. — Kelly, Lake Charles, La.

Kelly: Dating is a very important part of a teen-ager's life and parents should discuss it intelligently with the teen as to when it should commence. This is especially true when the teen is a girl. If you haven't had this discussion with your parents, ask them for it. You sound as if you have the maturity to start dating. — Dr. Wallace allowed to date but only on Friday or Saturday night. If a car is needed to get to some certain location, my parents will drive us.

Hi Kelly: I'm 15 and I'm

I never have abused my privilege of dating and I don't intend to. My parents and I sat down and agreed upon some rules that we feel are fair.

I don't envy you being an only girl with eight older brothers but look at it this way: You've got lots of protection. Oh, yes, I almost forgot, I think you are old enough to be dating. — Jenny, Pueblo, Colo.

Hello Kelly: I have been dating since I was 14 but my sister is almost 15 and my parents do not allow her to date.

I'm sure this is true in many families. Boys can date whenever they choose but girls have restrictions. I asked my mother why my sister can't date when I could at the same age and she said, "You couldn't get pregnant."

Naturally, that is why your parents are so strict, but I think you are old enough to start dating. In fact, you might be a little bit late. — Ron, Elizabethtown, Ky.

If you would like to be a guest teen writer, please write to me, in care of this newspaper.

Send questions to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of the newspaper. For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent, stamped, large, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace in care of this newspaper.

Council receives award

Big Spring Parent Teacher Association's emergency library resolution, to increase state aid to public libraries presented at the recent state PTA convention in El Paso, passed. Kathy Schrum announced at Tuesday's meeting of the Big Spring Council of PTAs.

Official position of the Texas State PTA is now to urge positive legislative action on the proposal before the state Legislative Budget Board to increase state aid to public libraries from 16c to $1 per capita.

Nationwide average for state support to libraries is 82 cents per capita, according to Howard County librarian, Judith Gray.

Marcy PTA originated this resolution, very likely the first ever from Big Spring PTAs. College Heights, Moss and Washington PTAs had also voted affirmatively on the proposal.

The resolution, presented to the convention by city PTA council president, Leslie Earnst, was one of nine passed by the Texas PTA convention.

The resolutions which did pass put Texas PTA support behind the following:

State reimbursement of school districts for revenue lost by ad valorem tax exemptions; demonstration of instructional proficiency prior to teacher certification; state funding of university museums; more stringent control of the sale of tobacco to minors; opposition to advertising of alcohol at Southwest Athletic Conference events; right to work legislation; strict enforcement of current immigration statutes and a possible United States Constitutional amendment to define rights and responsibilities of illegal aliens; increased state aid to public libraries; Amendment to national PTA by-laws limiting national dues increases to 10 percent per year.

Besides Big Spring's resolution, the other proposals were presented by the PTA city councils of Pasadena, Austin, Carrollton-Farmers Branch, Odessa, Lubbock and PTA District 15.

Texas PTA said "no" to resolutions asking support for state funding for optional full-day and full-year kindergarten and legislation to allow recall of school board members by voters.

Moss delegates Pat and Kathy Schrum attended the convention in El Paso as did city PTA council president Leslie Earnst, despite inclement weather. More than 2,200 parents, teachers and school administrators from across Texas attended the Texas PTA's 71st annual convention.

All five local PTAs received the convention Merienda Award given to local units increasing their memberships at least 10 percent. Big Spring PTAs increased from 40 percent to 190 percent. The Big Spring

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A fine day for deciding policies and the tenets under which you would like to operate in the days ahead, so think them out with care. You can gain much success as a result.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study new ideas that could lead to advancement in your line of endeavor. Enjoy the company of close ties tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't criticize a close tie at this time or there could be a severance of connection. Don't rely on your intuition today.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can get excellent results if you are more supportive of associates. Maintain your poise at all times today.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get an early start on work ahead of you and gain benefits. Be cooperative with fellow workers.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Figure out a practical way that could give you added security in the days ahead. Follow the advice of a financial expert.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You know exactly how to improve conditions at home, so don't waste any time. Show more devotion to loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Gain the cooperation of close ties for gaining a personal aim. Steer clear of one who has an eye on your assets.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Analyze personal aspects of your life and figure out the best way to improve them. Not a good day for taking risks.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Daytime hours are best for pursuing personal aims. Obtain the information you need from the right sources.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Morning is best spent handling career matters. A new plan needs more study before you put it in operation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A business matter could cause you to worry early in the day but later it turns out fine. Strive for happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Morning is fine for handling civic matters. In the afternoon influential persons can help you advance in career matters.

Hostage crisis moves closer to solution

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The 13-month-old U.S. hostage crisis has moved closer to a solution as a result of the latest American response to Iranian demands for release of the 52 captives, the speaker of the Iranian Parliament said in Tehran today.

Hashemi Rafsanjani told reporters that the U.S. clarification delivered Thursday by Algerian diplomats "has come closer to solving the problem" and that the issue would not be re-examined by Parliament, or Majlis.

"In the past the U.S. has accepted our demands in principle," Rafsanjani told a news conference. "But this time it has taken more clear steps in executing them."

His comments come on the heels of statements Sunday by Behzad Nabavi, head of the government commission studying the issue, that the U.S. response is more favorable to Iran.

The developments came as the Algerian diplomats remained in Tehran awaiting instructions from the Iranians for relay to the United States.

On Sunday, Nabavi said "Totally, I can tell you that there are some changes, favorable changes for us."

Iran has demanded the U.S. government return the wealth of the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and his closest relatives, drop lawsuits against Iran, release $8 billion in Iranian assets frozen in U.S. banks and pledge not to interfere in Iran's affairs in exchange for the hostages.

Informed sources said the latest U.S. clarifications contained no objection to the non-interference pledge and unfreezing the assets, and offered assistance in fighting the legal claims against Iran and help in locating the whereabouts of at least some of the shah's fortune.

Nabavi's comments, in an interview Sunday with Greek television in Tehran, represented the first real indication of government reaction to the U.S. clarifications that were requested by Iran last month.

The response has been under study since Thursday when it was explained by Algerian envoys who are acting as intermediaries at Iran's request. The diplomats remained in Tehran awaiting instructions for relay to Washington.

Nabavi said the hostages were in good health and would soon be transferred to the custody of the government by the militants holding the U.S. Embassy in Tehran since Nov. 4, 1979.

But he refused to state their location, saying only they had to be rounded up from several points. The whereabouts of the captives has not been confirmed since the U.S. attempt to rescue them failed in April.

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini, Iran's revolutionary leader, declared Sunday that both the United States and the Soviet Union want to destroy Iran.

"Keep always in mind that the East and West are our enemies and whatever they give us is meant for our destruction," he said.

He also warned against attempts to "establish a dictatorial state," a reference to the power struggle between President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, a moderate, and Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai, supported by hard-

Dorsett, Jefferson swap favors; Dallas clinches playoff berth

By The Associated Press

Dallas' Tony Dorsett fulfilled his half of an agreement he made six weeks ago, so the San Diego Chargers and the Cowboys are tied for first place in their respective divisions two weeks before the end of the National Football League season.

When Dallas played San Diego on Oct. 26, "Dorsett asked me to beat Philadelphia, and we did." John Jefferson, Chargers wide receiver, said Sunday after his team was upset 40-17 by Washington. "And now he is supposed to return the favor by beating Oakland for us."

After the Chargers lost to the Redskins, Dorsett ran for 97 yards, including a 20-yard touchdown, as the Cowboys defeated the Raiders 19-13, allowing San Diego to stay even with Oakland for the AFC West lead, both with 9-5 records.

The Dallas victory, combined with Philadelphia's 20-17 loss to NFC West leader Atlanta, moved the Cowboys into a tie with the Eagles in the NFC East, both with 11-3 marks.

It was the Eagles' second loss in a row, the other coming at the hands of San Diego, which fulfilled the first half of the Dorsett-Jefferson pact.

The victories by Atlanta and Dallas clinched playoff berths for both teams, a feat Philadelphia had already accomplished.

"If we win our last two games, we'll have the most victories in Cowboys history," said Dorsett. "That should tell you something."

"I never thought we'd be tied with Philadelphia at this point," admitted Coach Tom Landry of the Cowboys, who trailed the Eagles by two games two weeks ago. "It's a good feeling to know if we win our last two games, we'll win the East again."

The Cowboys earned their 14th playoff berth in 15 years as Rafael Septien kicked a 52-yard field goal and Ron Springs scored a 2-yard touchdown in a two-minute span of the second period.

Dorsett, who became the first NFL runner to go over 1,000 yards in each of his first four seasons, scored his TD in the first quarter.

In other NFL games, AFC East leader Buffalo beat Los Angeles 10-7 in overtime. Minnesota took over the lead in the NFC Central with a 21-10 victory over Tampa Bay.

Cleveland stayed on top in the AFC Central with a 17-14 triumph over the New York Jets. St. Louis knocked Detroit out of a first-place tie in the NFC Central with a 24-23 decision. Cincinnati outlasted Baltimore 34-33. Chicago trampled Green (Cont. on Page 2-B) (Atlanta)

Western Texas men are defending national champs

Hawks, Queens host WTC tonight

Basketball will fill the air tonight in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum as the Howard College Hawks and Hawk Queens face the always tough teams from Western Texas College in WJC action. The females from the two schools will pair off at 6:00 p.m., with the male species from the two jocos hitting the hardwood at 8:00 p.m.

All of the teams in action tonight sport winning records, so there should be some quality roundball on hand.

In the opener, both of the women's teams come into the game with perfect conference marks of 1-0. The Hawk Queens defeated Frank Phillips in their lone league game, while WTC toppled South Plains.

The Hawk Queens of Coach Don Stevens enter the game with an overall record of 10-1, despite the fact that only two performers from last year's conference champions, Kelly Lyons and Jill Floyd, return.

But a bevy of talented freshmen have alleviated the inexperience factor for the Queens thus far.

The WTC women of Coach Joe Cushing have a season mark of 12-2, and are always a rugged foe. They return two of the premier players in the conference in sophomores Sheri Teal and Linda Holubec.

Western Texas won the men's junior college national championship last year, but that is nearly a sure bet not to happen again this time around.

Gone are almost the entire team that went through the 1979-80 season undefeated, and so is Coach Nolan Richardson. Richardson, after guiding the WTC team to the national championship, left to take over the reins at Tulsa University, and took four of his starters with him. They've been impressive thus far, knocking off last year's NCAA champion, Louisville, last week. The problem for WTC is that that won't help them now.

Still, new coach Larry Dunaway has managed to direct Western Texas to a mostly healthy 9-2 mark, with their two losses coming to the Angelo State JVs and South Plains. WTC is 1-1 in conference.

WTC is a much smaller team than last year, too, with 6'5" Chuck North to the tallest player. Since they don't have the height advantage that they enjoyed for the most part last season, Western Texas is a run and gun.

That should make things interesting, as the 9-3 Hawks are a typical Harold Wilder team that doesn't mind jacking it up.

The Hawks are coming off three wins in the Midland College Chaparral Classic. Although they won all of their games in the tourney, they still didn't win the crown, as it was an Olympic style affair.

Freshman Randy Corker is the Hawks leading scorer. The New Jersey native set a Chaparral Classic record by scoring 92 points in three games.

Howard enters tonight's men's battle with a conference mark of 1-0, having defeated Amarillo.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS BOND PROGRAM

The bond program as presented is a comprehensive program that will provide for the needs of the City through the ensuing five-year period. The program is one that has been recommended by an eighty-five member Citizens Advisory Committee and has been reviewed by the City staff and the City Council.

The following is information concerning the bond election. This information is designed to acquaint the voter with the proposed program and answer questions concerning the proposals in order that you might cast an informed vote.

General Information

The election will be held on Saturday, December 13, 1980. Polls will open at 7:00 A.M. and will close at 7:00 P.M.

The following locations will be where you will vote and will serve as the polls:

- Precinct No. 1 — Northside Fire Station, Main and N.E. Eighth Streets
- Precinct No. 2 — 11th and Birdwell Fire Station
- Precinct No. 3 — 18th and Main St. Fire Station
- Precinct No. 4 — Central Fire Station, Fourth and Nolan
- Precinct No. 5 — Airport Elementary School, West 13th and Airbase Road

Who is eligible to vote? Any resident of the City of Big Spring, who has lived in the State of Texas, Howard County, and the City of Big Spring at least 30 days prior to the day of the election and has a valid voter registration certificate issued by the County Clerk of Howard County indicating a voter's residence in the City of Big Spring, is eligible to vote.

Absentee votes may be cast in the office of the City Secretary at City Hall, 4th and Nolan, from Monday, November 24, 1980, to Tuesday, December 9, 1980.

Cost of the Bond Issue

The general purpose bonds will be financed by an increase in the ad valorem tax rate. The water and sewer improvements will be financed by an increase in the water rate and sewer rate.

The complete general purpose bond program will require an additional tax rate of thirty-one cents. This amounts to approximately $4.00 a month to the property owner of the average valued house in Big Spring.

The water rate will be increased by approximately $5.00 per month to the average consumer.

The sewer rate will be increased by $1.00 per month per customer in order to pay for the proposed sewer improvements.

The Bond Program

There are nine propositions contained within this bond program. These propositions are broken down into three general categories — General Purpose Bonds, Water Bonds, and Sewer Bonds.

General Purpose Bonds:

The proposed street bond issue includes improvements to approximately 1200 blocks of streets and monies for a special assessment fund for the City to participate with property owners for the new construction of streets. Approximately half of this program (600 blocks) will be for reconstruction of existing streets. The other half will be used to resurface streets in conjunction with the water and sewer main replacement program.

Resurfacing and reconstruction	$1,945,000
Resurfacing in conjunction with water and sewer line replacement	$1,900,000
Voluntary assessment program	$ 700,000
Total	$4,545,000

The proposed vehicle storage facility involves the construction of covered stalls for vehicles and equipment storage at the City service center. This construction will cost $70,000.

The fire station improvements and equipment bonds provide for some basic renovation of the Central Fire Station and the purchase of four new fire trucks.

Purchase new trucks	$ 435,000
Renovation of Central Fire Station	$ 65,000
Total	$ 500,000

The proposed park and recreation facilities bonds provide for (1) the construction of restrooms and street paving in Comanche Park; (2) the installation of a new irrigation system and turf reconstruction at the municipal golf course; (3) construction of restrooms, fencing, trailer park, play ground equipment, and an enclosed fishing dock at Moss Lake; and (4) the installation of a new light and sound system and the construction of various facility improvements at the amphitheater.

Comanche Park improvements	$ 200,000
Golf course improvements	$ 325,000
Moss Lake improvements	$ 185,000
Amphitheater improvements	$ 70,000
Total	$ 780,000

The proposed police building bond issue will provide for the construction of an addition and the remodeling to the existing facility. Also included in this proposal is the acquisition of new communication equipment. The total cost of this project is $1,160,000.

The animal shelter project will construct a new facility, consisting of concrete runs, cages, and fencing. This new plant will provide protected housing for stray animals picked up within the City. The cost of this project is $30,000.

The proposed cemetery bond issue provides for the repaving of the roads within the cemetery and the installation of a new sprinkler system. The total cost of these improvements is $275,000.

Water Bonds:

The proposed water bond issue provides for (1) the replacement of deteriorated distribution mains, (2) construction of a fourth pressure plane, and (3) the construction of a permanent water office building.

Replacement of mains	$2,220,000
Construction of fourth pressure plane	$2,220,000
Permanent water office	$ 90,000
Total	$4,530,000

Sewer Bonds:

The proposed sewer improvements consist of the construction of enlarged sewer collection mains and the replacement of damaged sewer lines.

New mains	$ 810,000
Replacement	$ 395,000
Total	$1,205,000

PGA WINNER — With a smile, Arnold Palmer accepts a victory cup for the 42nd PGA Seniors Championship Sunday in North Miami. Palmer, after having difficulty with his putts earlier, claimed the $20,000 first prize by birdying the first hole in a sudden-death playoff against Paul Harney. This is Palmer's first PGA win.

Morgan, Cabell gone from Astros

DALLAS (AP) — The Houston Astros today traded third baseman Enos Cabell for left-handed pitcher Bob Knepper and outfielder Chris Bourjos of the San Francisco Giants and announced a mutual agreement for the release of veteran second baseman Joe Morgan. General Manager Al Rosen also said first baseman Art Howe has signed a new three-year contract.

Steer swimmers earn 1st trophy

FORT STOCKTON — The Big Spring Steer swim team returned home with their first trophy of the year from the past weekend's Fort Stockton Swim Meet, with the BSHS girls highlighting the performance.

Based on their third place finish, the Steer female swimmers garnered a trophy. The BSHS girls had three first place finishes in the four-team meet, with the medley relay group winning a big first.

That group, which swam to a winning time of 2:13, consisted of Cathy Miller, Tonda Batchelor, Paula Willadson and Rita Fleckenstein.

The same group also finished second in the freestyle relay for more important points.

Individuals winning first place medals included Ann Barno and Fleckenstein. Barno swam to a time of 7:23.5 in capturing the 500-foot freestyle, while Fleckenstein won the 100-breaststroke with a clocking of 1:22.9.

The Big Spring girls finished with 193 points. Fort Stockton won the affair with 275 points, barely ahead of second place Monahans, which accumulated 251 points.

The Big Spring boys finished fourth in the competition with 145 points. Ahead of them were first place Monahans with 310, Odessa High with 223, and Fort Stockton with 215.

Todd Loyd was the only Big Spring male swimmer to win a first place medal, but he did it twice. Loyd won the 200-individual medley in a time of 2:17.5, and then came back to capture the 100-breaststroke with a clocking of 1:06.3.

The boys medley relay quartet of Loyd, Speight Grimes, Tim Plew and Chris Batchelor finished second with a mark of 1:55.9. The freestyle relay unit finished fourth in a time of 4:04. That group was the same as the medley relay, with the exception of Kevin Lewis for Loyd.

The Steer swimmers return to action next weekend in the Odessa Invitational. The preliminaries begin at the Permian fieldhouse at noon Friday, with the finals at 1:00 p.m. Saturday.

Atlanta is for real

(Cont. from Page 1-B) Francisco came back to beat winless New Orleans 38-35 in overtime and the New York Giants defeated Seattle 27-21.

New England meets Miami in tonight's game. Falcons 20, Eagles 17.

Tom Mazzetti's 37-yard field goal with seven seconds left gave Atlanta its victory over Philadelphia. The Falcons, 11-3 and two games ahead of Los Angeles in the NFC West, recovered from a 14-3 deficit on Steve Bartkowski's two touchdown passes.

"We're no fluke. We can let our record speak for itself," said Coach Leeman Bennett, whose Falcons finished 6-10 last season. Redskins 40, Chargers 17.

Washington intercepted five passes, three by Joe Lavender, and Mark Moseley kicked four field goals in the shocking upset of San Diego.

Lavender returned one of his three interceptions off Dan Fouts, who surpassed the 4,000-yard mark in passing despite the four interceptions he threw, for a 51-yard touchdown. Joe Theismann had two touchdown passes and completed 26 of 37 tosses for 269 yards. Bills 10, Rams 7.

Joe Ferguson hit wide receiver Frank Lewis on a 30-yard pass play to set up Nick Mike-Mayer's game-winning 30-yard field goal that beat Los Angeles in the fifth minute of overtime. The Bills are 10-4 and 1 1/2 games ahead of New England in the AFC East pending the Patriots' game tonight, while the Rams are 9-5 and are faced with losing the NFC West title for the first time in eight years.

Vikings 21, Buccaneers 10. Minnesota quarterback Tommy Kramer had only 63 yards passing before halftime but he had 201 in the last two quarters and engineered two long scoring drives.

Cardinals 24, Lions 23. Detroit fell out of a tie with the Vikings when Roy Green returned a punt 57 yards for a touchdown with 3:40 left.

Browns 17, Jets 14. Quarterback Brian Sipe hit a club-record 30 passes in 41 attempts for 340 yards and a touchdown, a 5-yarder to Greg Pruitt that wiped out a 14-10 New York lead in the fourth quarter, to give Cleveland its victory.

Bears 61, Packers 7. Vince Evans completed 18 of 22 passes for 316 yards and three touchdowns and Walter Payton scored three TDs to lead Chicago over Green Bay. The Bears equalled their club record for points in one game set in 1965.

49ers 38, Saints 35. San Francisco wiped out a 35-7 halftime deficit, climaxed by Ray Wersching's 36-yard field goal with 7:20 left in overtime.

Archie Manning threw for 248 yards and three touchdowns in the first half as New Orleans outgained the 49ers 324-21, but San Francisco turned it around in the final two quarters as Joe Montana threw two touchdown passes and ran for another.

Bengals 34, Colts 33. Cincinnati's Jim Breech kicked a 21-yard field goal with 12 seconds remaining to foil a Baltimore comeback attempt. The Bengals led 31-6 before the Colts scored four TDs in the fourth quarter to go ahead.

Chiefs 31, Broncos 14. Quarterback Bill Kenney, making his regular-season debut after nearly two seasons in the NFL, threw touchdown passes of 33 and 8 yards to lead Kansas City over Denver.

USC wins make college football national title pix interesting

By The Associated Press
Southern Cal's upset of second-ranked Notre Dame took place in Los Angeles, but the impact was felt 2,500 miles away.

"This place exploded," said Florida State quarterback Rick Stockstill, who watched the telecast of Southern Cal's 20-3 victory Saturday in the Tallahassee, Fla. apartment building that houses the Seminoles. "We knew we had to have some help to become a serious challenger for No. 1, and Southern Cal gave us a big push."

Florida State, ranked third last week, stayed in the chase for the national championship by rallying to beat Florida 17-13 on a pair of second-half touchdown passes from Stockstill to Hardis Johnson. The Seminoles, 10-1, figure to move up a notch to No. 2 in this week's rankings.

No. 1, of course, is Georgia, the only unbeaten and untied major college team in the nation. And the Bulldogs can wrap up the national championship by beating Notre Dame, 9-1-1, in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day.

But if the Irish can bounce back and knock off Georgia, then things would get interesting — and you can be sure that the Seminoles, who rooted hard against Notre Dame on Saturday, will be solidly behind the Irish next time.

"If Notre Dame will just cooperate with a victory over Georgia in the Sugar Bowl, the opportunity of a lifetime will be in our hands," said Stockstill.

But it's not that simple. To stay in the running, Florida State would have to beat fifth-ranked Oklahoma, 9-2, in the Orange Bowl New Year's Night. And even that would not necessarily make the Seminoles No. 1.

Georgia, after all, would finish with an 11-1 record — the same as Florida State — even if it loses to Notre Dame. And while Notre Dame's record would only be 10-1-1, the Irish's big bowl win over the team that had been No. 1 would be fresh in the voters' minds.

Three other clubs can also finish with 11-1 marks: No. 4 Pitt, which plays No. 18 South Carolina in the Gator Bowl; No. 7 Baylor, which takes on No. 8 Alabama in the Cotton Bowl, and No. 12 North Carolina, which meets unranked Texas in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Notre Dame had been in the best position to take the top spot away from Georgia before it was derailed by Southern Cal, which is barred from bowl participation by conference sanction.

Blue Jays stop Kern trade

DALLAS (AP) — The Texas Rangers offered over the weekend to trade relief pitcher Jim Kern and shortstop Nelson Norman to the Toronto Blue Jays for shortstop Alfredo Griffin but were turned down, a Dallas newspaper said today.

Kern was the American League's best relief pitcher in 1979, but was plagued by arm troubles last year and had a mediocre year.

Need win badly in Miami

Patriots in familiar position

MIAMI (AP) — The scene must be all too familiar to the New England Patriots. A late-season loss to a non-playoff contender, an 8-5 record after a fast start and a Monday night National Football League appointment with the Miami Dolphins in the Orange Bowl, where New England hasn't won since 1966.

A year ago, the Patriots got off to a 6-2 start but had fallen to 8-5 by the time the team rolled into Miami for a crucial American Conference East matchup on national TV. By that time, the critics had started the talk about the Pats annual nosedive and a 39-24 loss to the Dolphins dealt a serious blow to their playoff fortunes.

The scores and some of the opponents are different in 1980. But the Patriots got off to an identical 6-2 start and stand 8-5 and in desperate need of a victory heading into tonight's nationally televised game with the 6-7 Dolphins. Game time is 9 p.m. EST.

The critics started clearing their throats last week after the Patriots dropped a 21-17 decision at San Francisco and a loss to the Dolphins will again hinder their stretch run for the playoffs.

"We've got to win this game. It seems like we haven't had much success down here, but this has been a different team from teams in the past," said New England safety Tim Fox.

"We've always had certain things over our heads: We can't win on grass, we can't win on national TV," he added. "We've overcome a lot of those things."

The Patriots need a victory to remain one game behind AFC East leader Buffalo in the race for the division crown and an automatic playoff berth.

McGraw, Porter reach agreements on pacts

DALLAS (AP) — Reliever Tug McGraw agreed to a four-year contract with the Philadelphia Phillies, and the St. Louis Cardinals reached agreement with free agent catcher Darrell Porter Sunday in major developments at baseball's National League winter meetings.

The 36-year-old McGraw, one of the stars of the Philadelphia Phillies' National League pennant and World Series triumphs, agreed to a pact estimated at $1.6 million.

McGraw, who telephoned his acceptance to Phillies' personnel director Paul Owens, said the first three years and half of the fourth were guaranteed.

Owens said the key to the settlement was deferred payments that would assure education for McGraw's children. It took a month to hammer out the contract.

The Phillies gave the veteran reliever the rich contract even though he was ignored by all 26 major league teams in the recent re-entry draft.

McGraw said Sunday, however, that he had feelers from five or six teams if he was unable to work out a deal with the Phillies, with whom he wanted to finish his career.

Porter, who played out his option with the American League champion Kansas City Royals, will sign officially with St. Louis when he returns from a honeymoon cruise.

The agreement with the catcher, who overcame a drug and alcohol problem to help Kansas City win the American League pennant.

Budget recommendations Includes provisions for teacher pay raises

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Legislative Budget Board's $26.3 billion budget recommendation includes, for the first time, detailed provisions on school finance and teacher pay raises, a political hot potato. The recommended budget for the two years beginning Sept. 1, 1981, is $6.1 billion higher than the present $20.2 billion budget. The package, completed Sunday night, also includes state employee pay raises of 14.3 percent for the first year and 8.7 for the second. Although the recommendation is $280 million beneath the spending ceiling imposed by a voter-approved constitutional amendment, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby said it is unlikely there will be money left for tax relief. He said the Legislature probably will make emergency appropriations and could add more spending after it convenes on Jan. 13. Gov. Bill Clements will issue his own budget proposal before the Legislature meets and has said he thinks Texans should get $1 billion in tax reductions. Hobby, however, said there just was not room for the kind of budget cuts that would make tax relief possible. "We recommended just under $1 billion for medical education, I don't see any room to cut there," Hobby said. "Certainly not in higher education. I think we took a very conservative position on public school education, and I see no room for cuts there." The board's budget includes a $1.4 billion increase in state aid to public schools, including a 23 percent teacher pay raise. In the past, public education expenditures have been detailed in a separate bill. More than half the recommended increase in state expenditures for public schools would go for teacher pay raises. The 23 percent salary hike over the next two school years originally was recommended by the Texas Board of Education. The Texas State Teachers' Association has proposed a 33 percent increase. Both the TSTA suggestions and the board proposals include the automatic experience increase that most teachers receive each year. Under the board proposal, the minimum beginning salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree would increase from $9,430 now to $10,070 in 1981-82, and $10,750 in the 1982-83 school year. The state guaranteed salary for a bachelor's degree teacher with 10 years' experience would rise from $14,150 now to $15,110 next year and $16,130 in 1982-83. Local costs of the Foundation School Program — which includes minimum salaries for teacher pay, bus expenses and essential operating funds — would increase by $142 million dollars. Earlier Sunday, the board voted to raise expenditures for Tuition Equalization Grants fund from $25.9 million to $36.25 million per biennium. The grants help students pay tuition at private colleges and universities. Board members approved the increase after rejecting a staff recommended increase of $45.4 million. Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline, argued to hold the fund at $25.9 million. "I personally oppose it," he said. "If the state provides a system of public education and someone opts to go to a denominational or private school it is their responsibility to pay for their own tuition."

Alcoholism seminar set Friday at BSSH

The Big Spring State Hospital will conduct an alcoholism seminar on Friday in the auditorium at the Big Spring State Hospital. These seminars are made possible through the BSSH and are being held in conjunction with Howard Richard G. Jones, Ph.D., Psychologist and Consultant, presently Director of Behavioral Medicine Services at Medical Center Del Oro Hospital, Houston, will be the consultant for the day-long seminar. This seminar will be of interest to those working in the field of alcoholism and to those of the general public who are interested in learning more about this problem. All of the easy ways to share practical, useful skills is to share experiences with people who do the same thing. * This seminar involves the sharing of some of the ideas, approaches, insights, techniques and strategies that Dr. Jones has stumbled upon and over through the years. The aim of the seminar is to be practical rather than theoretical, and you can expect Dr. Jones to be more anecdotal than erudite. Registration will begin at 8 a.m. The general session will begin at 9:00 a.m. A registration fee of $1 will be charged, with an additional charge of $1 for those wishing to receive continuing education units from Howard College. (The persons wishing to receive credit for attendance will be expected to remain the entire day.) The theme for the day will be: "Twenty, twenty-five (more or less), hot (more or less), ideas for people helpers." Additional information can be obtained from Clyde J. Alsop, Training Officer, Alcoholism and Drug Abuse Program, Big Spring State Hospital.

Nuclear plant's licensee performance 'acceptable'

The Nuclear Regulatory Commission, in assessing Texas Utilities Generating Company's performance as licensee for the Comanche Peak nuclear plant, has found that performance to be acceptable. In a report on its evaluation, the NRC said it sees no need to make any adjustments in its inspection program for the plant. The evaluation, part of the NRC's Systematic Assessment of Licensee Performance program, was given October 30 during a meeting between NRC personnel and TUGCO corporate management. The review covered Comanche Peak construction and quality assurance activities from Aug. 1, 1979, through July 31, 1980, and included discussion of TUGCO's "enforcement history" during that time period. This history includes a list of the items of non-compliance which were identified by NRC inspectors during the time period covered by this evaluation. The NRC report stated the items have been resolved satisfactorily. According to the NRC evaluation, the number of non-compliances (all of which have been detailed in
