Will not be present at afternoon news conference

Reagan to unveil part of Cabinet today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ronald Reagan prepared to unveil the first half of his Cabinet choices today, but in a break with recent tradition the president-elect had decided not to introduce his selections in person.

Spokesman James Brady said Reagan will not be present to announce his nominees because "he feels it is their day and he doesn't want to do anything to take away from their announcement."

The nominees were to appear together at a 2 p.m. EST news conference at a downtown Washington hotel, Brady said.

Republican sources said the Reagan transition office planned to announce at least eight of the 15 Cabinet-level choices, including Wall Street leader Donald T. Regan for the administration's top economic post.

Regan, chairman of Merrill Lynch and Co., was to be tapped as treasury secretary.

Other key economic posts were expected to go to Republican Rep. David Stockman of Michigan, who would become budget director, and Connecticut industrialist Malcolm Baldrige, in line to be commerce secretary, the sources said.

Transition aides have been urging Reagan to make his key economic appointments early so they could begin immediately to map strategy for confronting high inflation, rising interest rates, high unemployment and the threat of a new recession.

Regan planned to announce other Cabinet jobs for several close political associates and veteran Nixon administration officials. They include:

William French Smith for attorney general, Caspar Weinberger for defense secretary, William Casey for CIA director, retiring Sen. Richard Schweiker for secretary of health and human services, and Republican Party deputy chairman Drew Lewis for transportation secretary.

A mystery shrouded Reagan's choice for secretary of state, the only top Cabinet post that might go unfilled today, the sources said.

Retired Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., the last White House chief of staff under Richard M. Nixon, re-emerged as the leading candidate. Some sources said they believed he eventually would be named, although there apparently had been no decision.

One transition source said today that Haig still was in line for secretary of state, but an announcement had to be postponed because a review of his personal financial assets had not been completed on time.

The source said Haig and two or more other Cabinet choices probably would be announced Saturday, when Reagan is scheduled to return to Los Angeles, or possibly next Monday.

Haig is potentially the most controversial Cabinet candidate. His chances dimmed last weekend amid questions from Senate Democrats about his involvement in the Watergate scandal. Senate Republicans, however, rallied to his support.

Sen. Jesse Helms of North Carolina, an arch-conservative Republican who led lobbying on Haig's behalf, said Wednesday he phoned Nixon over the weekend to ask if anything on the former president's still-unreleased

White House tapes would embarrass Haig. Helms said Nixon replied, "Not a thing."

Reagan said Wednesday he had no plans to meet Haig. But asked if Haig still was in contention for the post, Reagan replied: "Sure."

Sources said other Cabinet appointments to be announced later include Ray Donovan, a New Jersey construction executive, as labor secretary. ABC News said the agriculture secretary would be Richard Lyng, president of the American Meat Institute and an Agriculture Department official in the Nixon administration.

PLANES TO MONITOR POLISH CRISIS — Four of the United States' most advanced radar planes are being sent to West Germany Pentagon officials said Tuesday night. The E-3A Airborne Warning and Control System planes (AWACS) will increase American ability to monitor Soviet military movements in connection with the Polish situation.

Pereira hired by board members

New chief tax appraiser will be paid $32,000 plus

By DON WOODS

Employment of a new chief tax appraiser in the Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal office to replace Earl Dean was approved Wednesday afternoon in the regular monthly meeting of the tax board.

Francis Eugene Pereira, 56, has 15 years of experience as a fee appraiser. He is currently employed by the Denison Independent School District and the city of Denison.

The Texas A and I graduate will draw $32,000 a year plus $250 a month car allowance and employee benefits.

"I was very impressed with him. I think he is what we need. I think he'll do a job we can be proud of," said Roy Watkins, board chairman.

Watkins said one of Pereira's references told him that he was still amazed that there was not one lawsuit stemming from Pereira's reappraisal of the school district he was working on at the time. "Lawsuits on school district reappraisals have become S.O.P. (standard operation procedures)," explained Watkins.

Pereira is a certified Texas appraiser, senior residential appraiser, and registered professional assessor. He attended for a time St. Edward's University, Austin.

He has a bachelor's degree in business with an accounting major.

In other action, board members purchased $30,000 worth of certificates of deposit. The taxing board has now purchased $90,000 in the CDs.

A part-time inker was hired for the mapping department of the county appraisal office in the Howard County Tax Appraisal Office. He is Juan Guavarrá, home from college from Dec. 22 through Jan. 15. He will receive $4 an hour at eight hours a day.

One of the office's mappers was allowed to cut back his hours to go to college. He will attend Odessa College two days and work here three days a week.

Poland's biggest unions deny they are spreading anarchy

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland's biggest independent union defied the communist regime by launching an investigation of political detentions but rejected charges that it is spreading chaos and anarchy.

Solidarity, which claims to represent 10 million of Poland's 18 million workers, also offered a moratorium on wage demands.

Union leaders met in the Baltic port of Gdansk Wednesday, accused the government of breaking an agreement to end repression, demanded the release of 10 jailed dissidents and set up a group to investigate all political detentions.

This appeared certain to bring new charges from Moscow and its allies in East Germany and Czechoslovakia that Solidarity was meddling in political matters that were not the business of unions.

The jailed dissidents are members of the Confederation of Independent Poland. Its leader, Leszek Moczulski, has been accused of opposition to the government and was detained several weeks ago.

Solidarity spokesman Tadeusz Mazowiecki said the union was "not endorsing Moczulski's line or his organization" but wanted to defend anyone arrested because of political beliefs.

"This may seem a political action but it is much rather a social endeavor," he said.

Solidarity and Poland's other independent unions were formed after a nationwide strike wave last summer forced the Communist Party to agree to the formation of independent trade unions and the right to strike for the first time in a communist country.

The government also agreed in principle to free all political prisoners but has continued rounding them up since the accord was signed in Gdansk Aug. 31. And although the party's leaders have repeatedly pledged to honor the Gdansk agreement, they have insisted that the unions must stay out of the political sphere. Leaders of Solidarity also issued a statement Wednesday rejecting accusations from the union that it was encouraging chaos and anarchy.

Iran says it won't accept U.S. proposal

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Tehran Radio quoted a top Iranian official as saying today Iran "will definitely not accept" a U.S. proposal to allow the U.S. courts to decide whether the late Shah's wealth belongs to Iran or the Shah's heirs — the main stumbling block to release of the 52 U.S. hostages.

Tehran Radio said in its evening newscast that Behzad Nabavi, adviser to Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai and head of a government committee handling the hostage crisis, made the comment in an interview with Iran's official Pars news agency.

The radio quoted Nabavi as saying Iran had not yet finished its answer to the latest U.S. proposals for meeting the four conditions for release of the hostages who have been held by militant students in Iran for 404 days.

He denied a report by Beirut's leftist newspaper As-Safir that Iran had accepted the U.S. plan, conveyed through Algerian intermediaries Dec. 4, and would release the hostages on Christmas Day.

"Whenever the U.S. accepts the Majlis' (Parliament) conditions and the Iranian government procedures, we can hope for release of the hostages," he was quoted as saying.

HC may spend $2.6 million more during next biennium

Howe-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Howard College may get to spend $2.6 million more during the next biennium if the Legislature Budget Board's recommendations are approved by the legislature.

Although the board's recommendation was $635,000 lower than the school requested, the $4.9 million budget they approved represents a 104 percent increase over the current biennium. Howard College had requested a total of $5.6 million

Overall, the LBB recommended a $723 million budget for the state's 47 public community and junior colleges for the 1982-83 biennium — a 47 percent increase over what was spent in 1980 and budgeted for 1981.

Appropriations for Howard College include:
—$1.9 million for academic education.
—$2.8 million for vocational and technical education.
—$214,560 for insurance.

Theories abound about motives in Lennon slaying

NEW YORK (AP) — From the devil's voice to a Dali painting, there has been no lack of speculation about what compelled the man accused of killing John Lennon.

But no single, authoritative view has been offered by the captors of Mark David Chapman, the Beatle idolator, Jesus follower and security guard charged with the murder and now under psychiatric observation.

Among the lines of inquiry that have been reported, attributed to investigative sources, are that he heard voices and that the devil urged him on.

Also, it is speculated that he didn't like the way Lennon autographed an album for him several hours before the fatal shooting; that he was outraged by Lennon's statement 15 years ago that the Beatles were "more important than Jesus," or that he was angered by a contradiction between Lennon's poor-boy, man-of-the-people image and his nine-figure personal wealth.

The possible Dali connection resulted from a report that Chapman recently bought, and displayed prominently in his living room, a $100 print of "Lincoln in Dali Vision." The surrealist's painting has been interpreted as representing Abraham Lincoln's assassination.

Chapman's lawyer, Herbt Adlerberg, has denied that his client's alleged confession contained a devil-told-me statement.

A witness who photographed Lennon signing an autograph for Chapman did not mention any show of displeasure, that he was outraged by Lennon's statement 15 years ago that the Beatles were "more important than Jesus," or that he was angered by a contradiction

"I remember him saying, 'Who the hell are they to compare themselves to Jesus?' He harped on it a little. He thought they were being a bit arrogant."

For the record, the prosecutor's office told the judge at Chapman's arraignment that Lennon's slaying was "a deliberate, premeditated execution."

Action/reaction: 'Junk mail' stopper

Q. How do you go about discouraging 'junk mail' from winding up in your mail box?

A. Postal officials say you can refuse to accept 'junk mail' when it is delivered. Simply mark 'Refused' on any unwanted mail that is not registered, insured, certified or C.O.D. and return it unopened to the post office. To stop receiving most unwanted advertising mail, catalogs and brochures, you can contact Direct Mail Marketing Association, 6 East 43rd St., New York, N.Y. 10017. The Association says it will promptly remove your name from its file.

YOUTH AT WAR — A young Iranian boy, claiming to be 17 years old, pauses with his canteen recently near the Iraqi border on Iran's western front, where artillery battles occur daily. On his helmet is written that Ayatollah Khomeini is his leader and that there is no God but the true God. In Beirut today, war reports said Iranian gunboats attacked an Iraqi island in the Shatti al-Arab waterway.

White asks for reduction

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Former San Francisco Supervisor Dan White, convicted of voluntary manslaughter in the slayings of Mayor George Moscone and Supervisor Harvey Milk, has asked that his sentence be reduced by more than a year.

An attorney for White argued before a three-judge panel of the state Court of Appeal on Wednesday that the trial judge, Walter Calcagno, erred when he considered the shootings two crimes and that the sentence of seven years and eight months was therefore too long.

The attorney argued that the November 1978 slayings at City Hall should be considered one "frenetic" act of violence and the sentence should be reduced by 16 months.

Gamblers losses great

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Gamblers have lost more than $1 billion in the 2½ years casinos have been operating legally in Atlantic City, according to state figures.

The five casinos now open won $59.4 million during November, pushing the total they have taken in since opening to $1.05 billion, according to figures released Wednesday by the New Jersey Casino Control Commission.

A casino's winnings are the amount that gamblers have lost at gaming tables and slot machines and do not include other money made by the hotels.

Siamese twin improving

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Separated Siamese twin Natalie Wackler is in critical but improving condition after surgery to reimplant a tube to relieve pressure on her brain, hospital officials said.

Neurosurgeon Dr. Phillip Minella performed the 45-minute operation Wednesday at Children's Medical Center, said hospital spokesman Philip Stoffan. The tube, called a shunt, was removed Nov. 26 because of an infection resulting from surgery to separate Natalie from her twin, Valerie, who died Nov. 21.

The infection has since cleared up, and the shunt will alleviate pressure on Natalie's brain caused by a buildup of spinal fluid, Stoffan said. Natalie will be 6 months old next Wednesday.

Farabee votes to back $1.5 million for SCID

State Sen. Ray Farabee was among the members of the Legislative Budget Board who voted Saturday to recommend $1.5 million in state funds to be appropriated to the Howard College Community College Deaf Program.

The funds will be used by the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf to assist in funding the program until more permanent federal funds become available.

The recommendation will come before the House Appropriations Committee and the Senate Finance Committee for consideration during the upcoming legislative sessions.

The program, which has been in operation for approximately one year, was initiated with a Federal Block Grant and is housed at what was once Webb AFB.

Citing continuing needs for such a facility in the area, Sen. Farabee said, "we are pleased that the Legislative Budget Board agreed to recommend funding for this very worthwhile program. I am confident the 67th Legislature will agree with us concerning the need and will support the allocation."

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, State Sen. Chet Brooks and Speaker Bill Clayton expressed support for such a program, pointing out that this is the only one of its kind west of the Mississippi River.

When contacted with the news of the recommendation, Dr. Charles Hays, president of Howard College, responded with "this is very much appreciated and is a very definite step in the right direction for a needed program to educate the hearing impaired."

Linen closet cleaned out

Criminal activity was slight in the city, Wednesday.

Dale Neff, McAdoo, left his half-ton truck at Big Spring Truck and Trailer, 212 N.E. 12th, for repairs, Tuesday night. When the company opened for business, Wednesday, the truck, which was loaded with 1,000 gallons of motor oil and a number of gas, air and oil filters, was gone.

Luckily for Neff, a Howard County Sheriff's Deputy spotted the truck abandoned 12 miles south of the city on Highway 87. The owner drove it away.

Burglars cleaned out the linen closet at the home of Suzzie Hinklin, 1507-A Wood, sometime earlier this week. Stolen were six sets of sheets, 15 towels, 20 washcloths, 20 blankets, $35 in cash and a blue shirt. Loss was estimated at $100.

While Rosy Aguirre, 600 Linda, was at the West Side Day Care Center at the Big Spring Industrial Park, someone stole two $20 bills from her purse. The theft occurred between 3 and 5:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Burglars broke into a car belonging to Lori Todd, Southwest Collegiate Institute For The Deaf, sometime Tuesday night, and stole her CB radio. Loss was estimated at $85.

Five mishaps were reported, Wednesday.

A parked vehicle belonging to William Cates, 105 Jefferson, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene at 500 Main, 2:50 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Benito Lopez, 703 San Antonio, and Kathy Howland, 505 Lancaster, collided at Eighth and Gregg, 4:18 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Kathleen Tedesco, 802 W. 18th, and Wilford Prichard, 906 E. 12th, collided at 15th and Lancaster, 8:21 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Jasper Evans, 810 N.W. 3rd, and Nobe Cook, Route 2, collided at 1100 N. Lamesa, 9:02 a.m.

A parked vehicle belonging to Farris Monroe, 3701 Caroline, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene in the lot of the Gibson's Discount Store, 12:09 p.m.

Popular Bohemian artist to exhibit recent works

Williams Muller-Lux, the popular Bohemian artist, will be exhibiting his well-known works and doing commissioned portraits through The Biarritz Gallery here beginning Dec. 14.

The exhibit, which will be the first major showing at the new gallery at 115 E. 3rd, will be open to the general public from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., Monday thru Friday, and by appointment.

Individuals wishing to commission portraits by this renowned artist should contact Jan Iden at 263-6953 for details.

Muller-Lux was born in Wichstadt, Bohemia, the 1911, when his native country was still a part of the Austro-Hungarian empire. At the age of 15, he enrolled at the Gablonz Goldsmith School. A year later he won the first prize for Czechoslovakia in a national contest for jewelry design.

Five years of studying sculpture and paintings at the National Academy of Fine Arts in Prague followed. During that time, he supported himself on a small allowance from home and occasional portrait orders.

The following three years found Muller-Lux in Paris where he studied at the Ecole des Beaux-Arts and spent his afternoons at the Louvre copying paintings of the Old Masters.

At different times, he posed in the studios of Derain and Despiau for a number of compositions of nude figures. Since neither of these artists did any teaching, this was a unique opportunity to watch the masters at work. The years in Paris had a decisive influence upon the development of the young artist and Muller-Lux says that "France has been my spiritual homeland ever since."

In his paintings, Muller-Lux not only gives us the feel of the land, but also a penetrating insight into its people. Portraying the simpler, more enduring joys of life, the artist creates an island of human warmth in an increasingly synthetic world.

Only a complete mastery of the centuries-old techniques of color and tone allows the artist a free interpretation of his subject. In this day of fast production and diminishing values, it is reassuring to find an artist who dares to measure his work against the standards of excellence established by the Old Masters.

The artist cannot content himself with a mere imitation of reality nor a rigid abstraction unrelated to human experience. To create an enduring work of art, he has to impose his vision upon nature. Muller-Lux meets the challenge with a mastery which is the result of a great talent and a life-time devotion to art.

Talking about his subjects and use of some abstraction, Muller-Lux said "It's like walking a tightrope — I try to achieve a balance between the artistic demands of the painting and nature. Also, I think that one of the essential ingredients of art is communication, so the artist has to draw upon experiences that are common to all mankind."

The ability to capture the essence of a personality is a faculty that has stood him in good stead as a portraitist. "I still paint an occasional portrait," he said. "I try to convince my clients to let me paint their portraits as I see them. If you capture the essence of an individual," he said, "the surface likeness comes by itself."

In his still life, he often uses a glazing technique employed by the Old Masters. "As each layer of paint reflects the light at a different angle, a glazed painting has a glowing, three-dimensional quality that cannot be achieved otherwise," he explains. "Every technique and every medium has inherent potentialities and limitations which have to be respected. For instance, pastel is a medium which has a sparkle and freshness all its own but is rarely used nowadays," Muller-Lux concluded.

Works by this popular artist have found their way into the permanent collections of such places as the Municipal Museum of Fine Arts, Dusseldorf, Germany; Galerie Maywald, Paris, France; and the Este Gallery, New York City. His works are also in private collections in Germany, France, Holland, Sweden, Spain, Austria, Canada, and the United States.

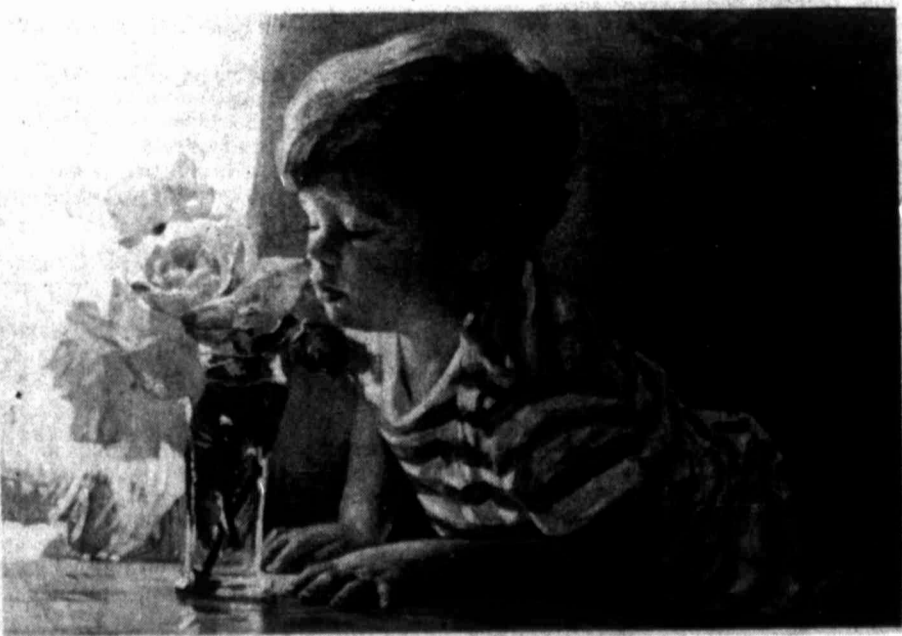

GEORGE BOUTWELL

Boutwell's final day of showing

George Boutwell, the well-known Austin watercolorist, will be on hand Friday for the final day of his one-man showing currently on display at Citizens Federal Credit Union. The show, which features his remaining limited prints and ten of his latest originals, will close at 4 p.m. Friday after being on exhibit at the credit union for a week.

The story behind Boutwell and his art is similar to the story behind other successful artists. Boutwell, like many other top-named artists, did not take any formal art classes. Instead, he chose to develop his own style and techniques through years of trial and error.

ARTIST'S SON — This painting by William Muller-Lux is titled Portrait of the Artist's Son and features many of the Old Masters' techniques used by this well known artist. This painting, and many other popular subjects, will be featured at the new Biarritz Gallery, 115 E. 3rd, Big Spring.

Christmas activities at BSHS blossoming

Christmas activities at Big Spring High School are varied and many.

They include the annual Powder Puff Football Classic, originally scheduled for last week but weathered out; the annual Canned Food Drive for the local Salvation Army; the Key Club volleyball game which will also benefit the Canned Food drive; the annual Christmas Dance in the High School Cafeteria; the Door Decorating Contest; the annual Choir Christmas Concert; the annual Winter Band Concert; and the annual Christmas Assembly.

The Powder Puff game has been rescheduled for Friday, 6:30 p.m., in Blankenship Field. Proceeds will benefit the United Way campaign.

The Canned Food Drive will be held through next Thursday. Students are being asked to bring canned food items to their advisors or to vocational classes.

The Student Council is offering a cash award to the advisory or the vocational class making the biggest donation of food.

The Key Club volleyball game will be held in Steer

Gym at 6 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 18. A team made up of Key Clubbers will challenge the girls' volleyball team. Winner of this game will meet a team composed of faculty members. One canned food item is the price of admission.

The annual Christmas Dance will be held Saturday night, starting at 8 p.m. "Tangent," a local band, will provide the music. Class favorites are usually announced at the dance. Dress will be formal. All faculty members, by tradition, are always invited to the dance.

Judging will take place in the Door Decoration contest next Wednesday. Those desiring to enter should contact assistant principal Craig Fischer prior to that time. The Student Council will award cash prizes to the two top entries.

The annual Choir Christmas Concert takes place Monday in the high school auditorium, beginning at 8 o'clock. The annual Winter Band Concert is scheduled starting at 8 p.m., Thursday, Dec. 18. The yearly Christmas Assembly is set for 9:30 a.m., Dec. 19.

Centennial committee agrees on Roberts pact

Members of the steering committee of the centennial celebration of the coming of the railroad met Wednesday in the board room of the chamber of commerce to hear a proposal by a company wishing to assist in planning the celebration.

During the meeting, Jim Kling and Ellen Roberts of the Roberts Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., presented their proposal for the local festivities.

John Taylor, general chairman of the steering committee, said that he had contacted other communities who had availed themselves of the Roberts Company and that the reports he had received had been favorable. Big Spring itself used the services of the Roberts Company in 1949 for a previous civic celebration.

Kling, representing the company, presented a 23-page proposal to the members of the committee outlining what services the company would provide the local organization, what procedures should be followed, a tentative schedule of events, fees for their services, and ways in which funds could be raised to pay their fees and for the major outdoor pageant.

Following the presentation by the Roberts Company, members of the steering committee asked Kling about many of the items outlined in the initial proposal, as well as other concerns they had about plans for the celebration. One concern expressed by steering committee members was the fact that other local groups were already engaged in preparing plans for the celebration to be held in May 1981.

In addition, members also expressed concern over the fact that Colorado City was also interested in having a centennial celebration and had contacted the Roberts Company for assistance.

Once the questions had been answered, both Kling and Roberts were asked to leave the room to allow steering committee members to discuss the proposal openly. After concerns had been voiced, it was decided that the local committee would sign a contract with the Roberts Company provided they be allowed to retain control over many of the events and the dates they would be held.

In addition, the agreement with the company was also tied to the Colorado City celebration, with the understanding that the Big Spring committee wished to either precede their celebration or have a month between the two celebrations in order not to compete with a neighboring community.

Jim Kling said that he would be presenting the proposal to the centennial committee of Colorado City Thursday evening, but said that he had some reservations over the support their committee was receiving from the community and the general makeup of their organization.

Once the Colorado City group makes a final decision on both the Roberts Company and the dates of their celebration, the Big Spring committee will either sign a contract or reject the contract based on their plans.

U.S. urges tough retaliation if Soviet army intervenes in Poland

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — NATO foreign ministers opened their winter meeting today with the United States urging concerted, tough political and economic retaliation if the Soviet army intervenes in Poland.

U.S. Secretary of State Edmund S. Muskie joined his 14 European and Canadian counterparts in a secret session attempting to agree on responses in the event of a Soviet thrust into Poland.

Muskie arrived in Brussels Wednesday and spent the day conferring with several of his European counterparts in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, including a dinner session with the foreign ministers of Britain, France and West Germany that focused on East-West problems.

Muskie was said to have brought a package of proposed reprisals if the Russians crack down on the independent labor movement in Poland, but U.S. officials insisted Muskie had come to confer with the European allies and not to impose Washington's views upon them.

Among retaliatory measures being discussed were a cutoff of various East-West negotiations, cancellation of some crucial economic, financial and technological agreements, and a buildup of allied military power.

But the governments of Britain, West Germany, France and other European allies reportedly balked at any attempt to impose full-scale sanctions against the Soviets. They contended they could not be made to work, sources said.

The NATO defense ministers concluded their part of the winter meeting Wednesday with a communique which said they expressed "deep concern with situation relating to Poland and agreed that any (Soviet) military intervention would pose a serious threat to security and stability with profound implications for all facets of the East-West relationship."

U.S. Defense Secretary Harold Brown said NATO would increase its military capability in response to any intervention in Poland by the Soviet Union or its allies. He told reporters the alliance has authorized some military precautions, such as stockpiling arms and bringing mobilizations plans up to date. But he said these were not out of the ordinary.

In addition, the United States is sending four AWACS surveillance aircraft to West Germany to monitor Soviet bloc troop movements, and Western military officials cancelled Christmas leave for a six-ship NATO flotilla.

But all the NATO allies have emphasized that responses to Soviet intervention in Poland would be political and economic, ruling out any direct NATO military moves.

Jenrette resigns in order to spare embarrassment

WASHINGTON (AP) — John Jenrette, the only target of the Abscam investigation to resign from Congress, choked with emotion and said he's leaving "to spare the House from further embarrassment."

The South Carolina Democrat, who would have had to give up his seat next month anyway, told the House ethics committee Wednesday he would resign rather than face the possibility of further moves to expel him in the last days of the lame-duck session.

"With the desire to spare the House from further embarrassment, I'm submitting to the speaker my resignation," Jenrette told the committee, and paused as his voice choked, "effective today."

Jenrette was defeated in his re-election bid last month.

Less than a month earlier, on Oct. 7, he was convicted of splitting a $50,000 bribe from an FBI agent posing as a representative of two non-existent Arab sheiks seeking legislation to allow them to immigrate to the United States.

But Jenrette told the ethics committee that he took no bribe and is confident the courts ultimately will clear him.

He said he tried only to help his co-defendant, Virginia businessman John Stowe, get what he thought was Arab financing for a munitions plant to save 550 jobs in Jenrette's district.

The congressman began crying and his voice broke as he told the committee, "I prided myself on trying to help the district. Those people looked to me for the first time ever to help them, and I helped many of them."

The committee recessed for several minutes to allow Jenrette to compose himself.

While Jenrette is the first Abscam defendant to resign from Congress, the House has expelled former Rep. Michael J. Myers, D-Pa., for his conviction on bribery charges in the FBI's undercover probe. Myers lost his re-election bid on Nov. 4.

Two more congressmen were convicted last week — Rep. John Murphy, D-N.Y., of accepting an illegal gratuity, and Rep. Frank Thompson, D-N.J., of bribery. Both were defeated in their bids for re-election.

Rep. Richard Kelly, R-Fla., who lost his primary election, is now being tried on bribery charges in Abscam.

Rep. Raymond F. Lederer, D-Pa., who was re-elected, and Sen. Harrison A. Williams, D-N.J., whose term ends in 1982, face trial on bribery charges later in the Abscam case.

A spokesman for the congressman said a letter of resignation was sent to House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill later Wednesday, although it had not arrived by the time O'Neill's office closed for the day.

The House ethics committee was meeting today to decide whether to drop a proposal that it recommend Jenrette's ouster to the full House, although one panel member called the action "probably moot" in light of the congressman's resignation.

The number of working oil rigs in the state jumped again this week, after dropping off last week.

As of Monday, 1,092 rigs were making hole, compared to 1,070 for the previous week. This tops both the 1,082 total for a month ago, and the 917 total for this time last year.

The national total also rose this week, from 3,209 to 3,262. This is higher than both the 3,209 total for this time last month and the 2,577 total for this time last year.

Mao's widow denounces accusers in 'Gang' trial

PEKING (AP) — Chairman Mao Tse-tung's widow, on trial for her life, has denounced her accusers in court, saying they want to destroy her because they know they never can destroy Mao, foreign diplomatic and other sources said today.

They said Jiang Qing, 67, delivered her bitter accusation last Friday. In effect, she said she was being used as a scapegoat by those who want to discredit the policies of Mao, the "great helmsman," who founded the communist government in China, the sources said.

As she spoke, the microphones and loud speakers in the courtroom went dead and only a handful of the 600 spectators heard her, the informants said.

It was not until Friday afternoon, that authorities decided whether they could satisfactorily edit the film of the morning session and show it on television that night, the informants said. Much of the film that was shown focused on an angry attack by a prosecutor.

Jiang also reportedly denounced her accusers on earlier occasion, calling them "revisionists" who were betraying Mao's ideology. That charge came when she was asked sign the indictment against her on Nov. 10. The sources said that proceeding was filmed three times and only the last part was broadcast.

Previous official reports have said Jiang tried to shift responsibility to those "above and below her" — regarded by many as a reference to Mao.

China's current pragmatic leaders have been downgrading Mao, who died in 1976, and have moved away from his policy of emphasizing communist ideology first. They have said Mao made grave political mistakes in his later years, but they insist his political errors must be kept separate from the alleged crimes of the Gang of Four. Mao's name, they say, must not be tarnished during the trial.

County jail variances granted by commission

AUSTIN — The Texas Commission on Jail Standards granted two variances Wednesday that will bring Howard County jail into compliance with state standards.

The jail in Big Spring does not have a dayroom or a fire hose system as required, a spokesman for the commission said today.

However, the commission approved Howard County's plans to provide some non-physical activities, such as reading, letter writing, arts, crafts, and card games, dominoes, television and radio, — in the cell area itself.

Not all of the activities are required, but they are encouraged where feasible, the spokesman said.

The commission also approved a fire emergency plan that calls for:

- At least one jailer on duty at all times.
- An additional set of jail keys available in case of an emergency.
- Quarterly fire suppression and evacuation drills.

Chinese cities are sinking

PEKING (AP) — Peking, Tianjin and several other Chinese cities are sinking because of the uncontrolled draining of underground water, Chinese scientists say.

The northern coastal city of Tianjin dropped 5.8 feet between 1959 and 1979, geologists reported at a recent national conference.

The official Xinhua news agency today quoted the scientists as saying that Changzhou, an industrial city in Jiangsu province, sank half a foot between 1978 and 1979 and Peking, Xian, Taiyuan, Wuxi, and Ningpo were sinking at varying rates.

China's current pragmatic leaders have been downgrading Mao, who died in 1976, and have moved away from his policy of emphasizing communist ideology first. They have said Mao made grave political mistakes in his later years, but they insist his political errors must be kept separate from the alleged crimes of the Gang of Four. Mao's name, they say, must not be tarnished during the trial.

Capital improvements made with bond funds are expensive and must be repaid with today's high interest costs by your taxes and higher service fees. We must be sure we are getting value received for our investments.

Water and Sewer Improvements have been put off too long and we must now pay twice the price for most of them because of inflation. We cannot afford to further delay these needed expenditures.

Resurfacing and paving of our streets cannot wait. The problems are obvious, numerous and immediate. Maintenance expenses and costs go up in inverse proportion to the condition of our streets.

We must spend the money to up grade our fire fighting equipment. Time is of the essence. If we lose state certification we pay the cost in higher insurance premiums and fire losses.

The character of a community can be judged by how well it keeps up its cemetery; for those resting there have no vote.

All of the bond proposals except one have merit and I hope after you review each one individually you will agree with the Citizens Advisory Committee and give them your full support.

Remember you are not voting a blank check to the City when these issues pass; you can still influence how the money is spent within each category and I am sure your input will be welcomed.

More than $2,500,000.00 in taxes can be saved by the elimination of item 5, the $1,160,000.00 building program at the police station. The pressing problems within the Big Spring Police Department will not be improved by additional expensive facilities. I urge you to vote against proposition 5.

Propositions could hardly be called frills

Among the items in Big Spring's $13.1 million bond election on Saturday, there are three projects whose importance could be overlooked.

These are Propositions 4, 6 and 7. There are some people who might, for selfish reasons, call them frills. Some might think they are unnecessary because they involve only small amounts of money compared with the most obvious needs on the ballot.

THE REASON they are important is that they have a great bearing on Big Spring's ability to grow and prosper. They affect our own quality of life in Big Spring and on our ability to attract new business and new residents to our city.

Proposition 4 would allocate $780,000 to provide new recreational facilities for the residents of Big Spring and to protect the value of tax money already invested in recreational facilities.

One of the greatest selling points this city has in attracting new people to Big Spring is Comanche Trail Park. The park is used by thousands of our residents for a variety of activities.

Is there anyone who could honestly argue that we should allow this fine facility to deteriorate or that we should not increase its usefulness?

We have a tremendous financial investment in the park, in the amphitheater and in the golf course. The various improvements planned include street repaving, irrigation systems and restrooms which will either help protect our present investment or enhance the usefulness of the facilities.

Moss Lake is another tremendous recreational resource for Big Spring.

The proposal includes new facilities for residents of all ages to make the lake more useable for everyone.

New industries and businesses located at Big Spring as a base for operations are very cognizant of our city's ability to satisfy the recreational needs of their employees. Comanche Trail Park and Moss Lake are invaluable sources of pride for Big Spring in helping prospects to choose our city.

The recreational bonds would cost the owner of a house with an current assessed value of $20,000, a monthly tax of about 55 cents.

PROPOSITION 6 proposes $30,000 to spent to build a new animal shelter to protect stray animals kicked up within the city.

Most of us never give any thought to the animal shelter until our own pet happens to end up there. The deplorable conditions of the present animal shelter shouldn't happen to a dog.

The cost for the average resident would amount to 2 cents a month.

Proposition 7 would provide $275,000 to repave roads and a new irrigation system for the city's cemetery. Many people never see or give any thought to the cemetery, but just one look was all it took for us to see why these improvements were needed. We have another great investment here that is deteriorating badly.

The cemetery bonds would cost each residence about 25 cents a month.

Don't be fooled into thinking that because these three issues don't involve a lot of money that they are not important. The Herald strongly recommends approval of Propositions 4, 6 and 7.

Tough but gentle

Around the rim

Don Woods

You can drop the whole pious front when dealing with King David, the Old Testament character who is said to so perfectly exemplify a believer that he will reign eternally as prince over Israel in a resurrected form.

David was an earthy man who wasn't above using impious terminology. David said the certain number in his troop "urinated against the wall," which is simply a crusty way of saying that he led a muster of males.

THESE MEN of his weren't a bunch of lilly-whites. They were a roughshod mob of outdoorsmen, who policed the flocks of local shepherds for hire against thieves and wild beasts.

His men were fiercely loyal and courageous. The Bible relates that two heroes of the band faced death to steal a skin full of water from the camp of their enemy, Saul, when David mentioned that he wanted a drink of water. David was too moved to drink it, and poured it out as an offering before the Lord.

He was hero of the common people of Israel. He was said to be a handsome and ruddy man. He had not come from the nobility of Israel but from common stock.

He was known as the shepherd king, because he learned a muscular faith in God as a shepherd in the lonely hills of Israel. It was there that David learned to kill bears and mountain lions with his bare hands.

To David, killing a giant with a slingshot was nothing after he had taken the lion by the beard and slit its throat.

At some time in his life he was educated in the art of killing and music from the Book of Jasher, though lost to us now it was a book studied by young warriors. It taught use of the sword and bow with song and poetry.

He put the lessons from the book to work when the prophet Samuel an-nointed him to be king when the present king, Saul, died. David was brought from the sheep fold into the courts of the king of Israel. Very soon he led forces into battle that killed more men than Saul's forces.

But the musical training of Jasher also came into play when David used his skills as a musician to quiet an evil spirit in King Saul, jealous over David's triumph.

It was that jealously spirit that finally drove David into the hills again to join the police-like mob; a king in exile. He and his clever troops evaded the king's armies almost indefinitely by hiding in caves.

DAVID was a scrapper like the rest of them, but unlike them his spirit was tempered with sound doctrine, learned as a shepherd alongside learning to kill.

This is seen when Saul wandered into a cave to relieve himself; the same cave David and his men were hiding out in. His violent knaves wanted Saul's blood! But to David the king was the Lord's anointed until his death. He felt guilty for slicing off a piece of Saul's garment.

When Saul walked out, David prostrated himself in the entrance of the cave, producing the cloth as evidence of loyalty to his king.

David continued to hide out until Saul committed suicide. After his coronation he continued in popularity and wisdom that led to prosperity in Israel.

His love and skill in the arts grew. Much of his work is collected in the Book of Psalms, combining sound doctrine with music and poetry. His character is unique.

He was of that strange fabric of men who incorporated toughness and gentleness. Gentle because they know that it is only through God's grace that they are anything at all. And tough because they have been through His school of hard knocks.

Big trade-off

Joseph Kraft

LOS ANGELES — The modern version of an old trade-off provides the best gauge for judging the formation of the Reagan administration. The trade-off is between guns and butter.

So far Gov. Reagan has leaned hard in the direction of butter. Perhaps to the point of a tilt that could unbalance the rest of his administration.

In 1980 garb, to be sure, guns and butter are barely recognizable. Guns is shorthand for the reassertion of American influence in the world. Butter, by contrast, puts the stress on domestic goals, particularly the fight against inflation.

ABSOLUTE, EITHER-OR, choices are, of course, not at stake. These days guns and butter are not two ends of a seesaw, where one goes up as the other comes down. Progress in both areas over a period of time is possible. Still, between guns and butter, there is a tension. Each asserts rival claims on the limited assets of money, time and public acceptance available to a president. It is a question of striking a balance—a big trade-off.

Gov. Reagan has repeatedly asserted that economic problems "come first." Two of his closest associates — William French Smith, his personal lawyer, and Michael Deaver, the public relations man who will manage his calendar in the White House — explicitly reiterated that priority in recent chats here in Los Angeles. Other high ranking aides talk of putting into effect at the earliest opportunity a freeze on federal hiring. The primary legislative target is a tax cut.

Top appointments, though not yet final, tend to reflect that bias. The trinity of senior aides designated to work with Reagan in the White House — Edwin Meese, James Baker and Mr. Deaver — all come from a background that features domestic politics over foreign policy.

The swingman in the cabinet looks like Caspar W. Weinberger, a former Finance director for Reagan in California and Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare. He seems slated to bring his famous budget-cutting talents into the post of Secretary of Defense. Walter B. Wriston the New York banker who seems to be headed for the Treasury, is a veritable St. George when it comes to the dragon of inflation.

By contrast, a heavyweight who would have accepted an invitation to be secretary of state — George Schultz — have been allowed to slip away. Gen. Alexander Haig, the favorite for the job now, is an official of high ability familiar with all the issues. But as a military man he will be slightly on the defensive when it comes to asserting American power. Richard Allen, who seems set to become the Special Assistant for National Security in the White House, has also been put on the defensive by revelations about past dealings with foreign clients of his consulting firms.

POWERFUL ARGUMENTS can be advanced for the bias toward domestic matters that Gov. Reagan clearly favors. Inflation is a true curse but has to be mastered if this country is to recover its morale. As the battle will be long, an early start makes sense. Especially since, if the election yielded a single mandate, it was, as Reagan's aides here point out, "Stop Inflation."

Unfortunately, battling inflation consumes presidential assets immediately while yielding only the slowest payoff.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

Reference here is made to the coming bond election on Saturday, and recent letters to the Editor. One such letter said vote 'no' and we will get a new and better offer in 90 days; another claimed not enough information was being released on the subjects. These comments simply can not be supported by the facts. These issues have been in the making for about 6 months. Each is the result of Citizen Committees appointed by the Council to make surveys and report back to the City Council their findings as to what in their opinion were greatest needs of our Community. Each Committee was not requested to put a dollar value on their recommendations since none had access to cost figures but just recommend what appeared to them to be the city's needs.

Many hours of work were put in by these committees in examining and discussing the needs studied by them. The Council then studied each committee's recommendations, and, after careful scrutiny, put the dollar value on each, cut all the fat in programs not of vital importance. They then asked for a public meeting of all the committees in the city council meeting room to which everyone was invited. Not a dozen people turned out for this meeting, including committee members. Some of the committee members present at this meeting with the Council had failed to attend the regularly held meetings of their committee and falsely represented the position of their particular committee due to lack of knowledge or a deliberate effort to distort the facts. All of the Citizen Committees favorably recommended their reports. It is important to note that representation on these committees came from all areas of our City.

The press and news media regularly reported the actions of the committees and named the chair people and members of each committee. There is absolutely no reason for anyone's not having adequate information on each and every item if he is sincerely interested in helping improve our City.

The press and news media regularly reported the actions of the committees and named the chair people and members of each committee. There is absolutely no reason for anyone's not having adequate information on each and every item if he is sincerely interested in helping improve our City.

The big problem rests with previous members of the City Council, who, over the last 20 years, failed to recognize the current needs of our city and take appropriate action. An inadequate sewer plant was built and in a faulty manner; we have been faced with denial of State funds on several occasions if such problem was not properly remedied. All that was done was patch it up to get by.

Reference was made to parks and recreation matter. I served on that committee and never missed a minute of any meeting. Every item is needed. No city will get industrial growth without providing adequate recreation for its residents. The golf course was originally built by W.P.A. during the last big depression which many current voters do not even realize as they were not yet born, but it cost the city nothing, as was the case of Comanche Park and the outdoor auditorium. We have not properly maintained and upgraded these facilities as the city has grown.

The watering system at the golf course resulted from a gift of drill pipe by a certain drilling contractor. This pipe was then welded and put in by city employees. It is worn out now from corrosion due to no one's fault; the employees of the golf course are constantly repairing leaks and patching patches, more so than in the city proper water lines.

To think that if the bond issue is defeated another will be presented in 90 days is ridiculous. That delay type of thinking is what has put our city in the bad shape physically that we now find it. If it had been done properly when these problems were first apparent, it could have been done at a fraction of today's cost. Tim and delay cost money. To have to go through another reevaluation of each issue is in itself costly because it takes people and time; that costs money. Financial consultants are not cheap, and others involved in preparing the facts and figures cost money.

Trying to get a cheap job is the primary reason we have had trouble with the current sewer disposal plant. It was not adequately designed at the time of construction. Everyone sees the need for a new water system daily and no further comment should be needed on these issues.

If you really believe in Big Spring, if you really want to see your city improve, quit nit picking at everything, especially if you are not in possession of the facts. You should be informed; the newspaper and news media have been reporting on it for 6 months. I urge you to vote yes on all 9 issues. Help make Big Spring Better.

Dear Editor:
In recent weeks, our nation has been plagued with multi-death fires. Those type of fires get the most headlines. The single death fires only get local news. There are approximately 30 to 50 of those per day, scattered through out the U.S.

The U.S. leads the world in the number of fire related deaths, every year. That is not fire to be proud of!

What do you say to a nine-year-old boy, asking you if he is going to die, when all the skin has been burned from his body? What do you say to a mother, whose twenty-month-old baby, has just been burned to death?

We can help! We can change some of the terrifying statistics. We can teach our young to be more fire safety conscious. We can buy smoke detectors for our homes and offices. We can support our local fire departments in many ways.

Our community has a chance to start all three of these solutions, now. We can start the first two today and we can do the third on Dec. 13th by voting for the fire department proposal in the bond election.

Dear Editor:

The complete general purpose bonds will be financed by an increase in the ad valorem tax rate. This tax rate will amount to approximately $4 a month to the average valued house in Big Spring.

I would like to know how long, and will it remain the same?

Also the $275,000 for the cemetery — a number of the citizens of this great city have plots at Trinity Memorial Park and they didn't give them away, why should we pay to keep up another cemetery?

Dear Editor:

This is in regards to the bond election this Saturday. I am certainly in favor of improving the streets and the water lines in our town but some of the other things such as the golf course I am not interested in.

I am a senior citizen living on a fixed income and can barely make a living in this period of inflation. I don't see how a lot of us older people will be able to pay higher utility bills and higher taxes. I'm sure the bond will probably pass because a lot of older people will not vote.

I am not against improving Big Spring but at this time it seems too much to ask of us to vote this large a bond.

Lung problem can be controlled

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: About ten years ago I was told I had bronchiectasis. Since then I have been hospitalized twice for pseudomonas. I cough up lots of sputum, sometimes with blood. It clears awhile, then returns. I was told after tests that I have chronic pseudomonas. Can you explain and suggest what to do? — Mrs. A.

Bronchiectasis itself is an irreversible condition. With this the tubes that draw air into the lungs are worn and weakened in spots like an old innertube. Little bulges appear, and they provide settings for infection, coughing and sputum production. Streaks of blood are common with this.

I don't want all this to sound discouraging. Although the bulges are permanent, they do not mean you have to be an invalid or that nothing can be done. Getting rid of the sputum by assuming postures that help drain the airways is important. I'd rather not try to describe this for you. A respiratory therapist in your local hospital can explain postural drainage for you more effectively. It is almost too basic to remind you to avoid further damage to the lungs. That means quitting cigarettes if you still smoke.

Now, about the infection — Pseudomonas. Buling airways tend to become infected, and many bacteria can be the cause. The Pseudomonas organism is particularly difficult to get rid of. Medicines by mouth do not help. When Pseudomonas is the infecting organism, antibiotics given by injection either into a vein or into a muscle are tried.

Once the worst part of your infection is over, your continuing task will be to keep your airways as clear as possible by promoting drainage, as suggested earlier. That is a lifelong process.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My son-in-law suffers with a bad case of hemorrhoids. For the last several years, every night he has to sit in hot tub of water, and at times during the day he has to get off his feet so that the protruding intestine will return to its normal position. He also has lots of bleeding. He says that surgery will not do any good. I thought surgery for hemorrhoids was always helpful. Please advise. — J.W.M.

I, too, thought surgery for hemorrhoids was almost always helpful. Your son-in-law needs a surgical opinion. Hemorrhoids are varicose veins. These weakened rectal veins and their supporting tissue can protrude and bleed.

I hope you don't really mean that the intestine itself is protruding. If that is the case, he should get a surgical opinion even faster. That would be a rectal prolapse, and it needs to be taken care of with something other than a hot tub bath. Another thought; he should also be examined to see if he is anemic because of blood loss from the chronic rectal bleeding. Why has he put up with all this for so long?

He may not need surgery. There are other ways to treat hemorrhoids, depending on the extent of the involved veins. Whether he needs surgery or not, he needs to have his hemorrhoids cared for.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Now that I am a Christian I want to tell other people about Jesus Christ and his forgiveness. Do you think I ought to become a minister in order to do this? — B.C.A.

DEAR B.C.A.: Perhaps God would call you into the ministry, but by no means is it the only way you can serve him. In fact, one of the greatest needs of our time is for individual Christians who are ordinary laypersons to become witnesses for Christ. Often a layperson can accomplish things a minister cannot do and reach people a minister may never see.

Study the New Testament, for example, as the way God used ordinary people to bring Christ to others. In the early church, for instance, there arose a period of fierce persecution and Christians were forced to flee from Jerusalem. We read that "those who had been scattered preached the word wherever they went" (Acts 8:4). Or Paul could say of the Christians in Rome, "Your faith is being reported all over the world" (Romans 1:8). Or concerning the Thessalonian Christians, he said: "The Lord's message range out from you not only in Macedonia and Achaia — your faith in God has become known everywhere" (1 Thessalonians 1:8).

Start right where you are, sharing Christ with those around you. Pray for them that God the Holy Spirit will give them a hunger for Christ. And then pray that he will make you sensitive to them, and to his leading in their lives. Perhaps there are those in your family who do not know Christ. Or perhaps you know people where you work or go to school who have never really understood the Gospel and committed their lives to Christ. In some ways, I know, it is hard to talk about spiritual things to people who know us and live with us every day. But God wants to use you in their lives.

Remember also as you seek to witness for Christ, that your witness to others is not only your words, but your life. Is Christ evident in your life? Do others see him in you? Do they detect that you are a person who trust him every day and loves others for his sake? By your life and by your words God wants you to be a witness for Christ — and he will use you if you are open to him.

Two fans commit suicide over Lennon's death

NEW YORK (AP) — Two fans, apparently despondent over the slaying of John Lennon, took their own lives, while Lennon's widow called for a 10-minute silent vigil to honor the memory of the rock star who stepped from five years of seclusion into a hail of bullets.

Meanwhile, the wife of the man accused in the slaying, Mark David Chapman, said she too mourned Lennon, but loved her husband. Guards were checking Chapman's cell every 15 minutes to make sure he didn't commit suicide.

And lawyers for the Lennon family filed a will estimating the former Beatle's estate to be at least $30 million.

Chapman, who has twice attempted suicide in the past, according to his lawyer, was being held for a psychiatric examination.

"I've got a good side and a bad side," the New York Daily News said he told guards. "The bad side is very small, but sometimes it takes over the good side and I do bad things."

Lennon's death Monday night outside his luxurious Manhattan apartment building continued to spark tributes from music fans.

Some 10,000 people huddled in snow and wind Wednesday night for a candlelight vigil in Toronto, 2,000 gathered to mourn in Washington, 1,000 in Baltimore and 1,300 people held hands and sang Lennon's songs on the steps of the New York Capitol in Albany.

For the third night, a small crowd kept vigil outside the Dakota, where Lennon lived with his wife, Yoko Ono, and their 5-year-old son, Sean.

In Brooksville, Fla., a 16-year-old girl who "idolized" Lennon and still was mourning her father's suicide took a fatal overdose of sleeping pills Tuesday, authorities said. Jean Costello said her daughter, Colleen, left a note saying she was depressed over Lennon's death.

In Salt Lake City, Michael Craig, 30, fired a pistol into his mouth Tuesday after becoming despondent at the news of Lennon's death, authorities said.

Miss Ono said there would be no funeral for Lennon. His body was taken to a funeral home Wednesday and reportedly was cremated. Officials would not confirm the disposition of the body.

Miss Ono asked those who wanted to commemorate Lennon's death to observe 10 minutes of silence at 2 p.m. Sunday. A spokesman said "the world will be the place... wherever you are."

A will filed Wednesday in Manhattan Surrogate Court said Lennon, whose earnings were estimated to be as much as $235 million, left an estate of $30 million to his wife and a trust fund. The will showed that Lennon owned luxury apartments, several mansions, a twin-engine plane, a 62-foot yacht and 25 percent of Apple Records, which holds copyrights on the Beatles' music.

Lennon, who had recently released a new album after five years in seclusion, was shot as he returned home from a recording session. Police said Chapman, of Honolulu, had received Lennon's autograph just hours earlier.

Dear Abby

Age Didn't Wither Him, Nor Custom Make Stale

DEAR ABBY: Let SIXTY AND NO STUD speak for himself. At 37, I married a 68-year-old man whose performance would be envied by a man of any age. I had had two previous marriages and several lovers in between. I'm convinced that age is incidental, and all a healthy, normal man needs to be a good lover is a warm, responsive woman.

NO COMPLAINTS IN SPOKANE

DEAR COMPLAINTS: Read on for a legitimate complaint from your neck of the woods:

DEAR ABBY: SIXTY AND NO STUD is mistaken when he doubts that men are sexually active at 80.

When I was 70, I married for a second time. My husband was a widower, 85 and amazingly sexually active! I was far from inactive, but this man's demands were so excessive that after the first six months of our marriage I sought help from my physician. My doctor agreed that five times a day was excessive, so he would put me in the hospital a couple of times a year to give me a rest from my husband.

My husband died at 92. Believe it, SIXTY, when Abby says that some men are sexually active at 80, 85 and 90. Believe me, I know!

RESTING AT LAST IN SEATTLE

DEAR RESTING: Judging from my mail, you know whereof you speak.

DEAR ABBY: I have a friend who frequently says, "I could care less." What he means is that he really doesn't care at all. To convey that idea, shouldn't he say, "I couldn't care less?"

AL IN OREGON

DEAR AL: To say, "I could care less," means one could care even less than he does. When one wants to convey that he cares so little he could not care less, the proper expression is, "I couldn't care less." Your friend is careless about his expressions.

...

DEAR ABBY: Regarding BEWILDERED IN BUCKS COUNTY, whose wife was always late. I have a lovely mother-in-law whom I love dearly, but she was never on time for anything. Whenever we'd pick her up, we would have to wait about half an hour for her to get ready, and consequently she made us late.

After numerous times of being late ourselves, we figured out a solution. If we had to be somewhere at 3 o'clock, we would tell Mom we had to be there at 2:30. From then on, we were always "on time."

J. IN FLORIDA

DEAR J.: You may have been on time, but your lovely mother-in-law continues to squander half an hour of your time whenever you pick her up. Let's hear it from someone who was "cured":

DEAR ABBY: I, too, was never on time, but my husband cured me of that habit in two easy lessons. It was simple. Twice when I wasn't ready, he left without me. I was mad as a hornet, but I learned that he who is late gets left.

ON TIME IN TIBURON

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

The same kind of fast-moving, smoky fires that killed more than 100 people in hotels in Las Vegas and White Plains, N.Y., can kill just as easily in your home.

More than 6,000 people die in fires in the United States every year. The U.S. Fire Administration says two-thirds of them die in their own homes.

Do NOT assume you will have plenty of time to escape a fire in your home—even if you live in a single-family, one-story house.

The National Bureau of Standards says it takes only two minutes from the time a fire starts for an entire room to reach the "flashover" point when it is completely engulfed.

Early warning is essential. Officials say it could have saved lives in Las Vegas and White Plains. And a smoke detector is one of the best ways to make sure you know when fire strikes.

Someone who lives in a home without a smoke detector is "twice as likely to die" in the event of fire as someone whose house does have a detector," said Bill Overby of the U.S. Fire Administration.

Overby said a survey conducted by the administration earlier this year indicated that about 50 percent of U.S. households have smoke detectors. He said, however, that there is a wide variation among income groups.

Two-thirds of the households surveyed with incomes of over $20,000 a year had smoke detectors, for example. Only one-third of those with incomes under $10,000 a year had detectors.

Safety does not stop with a smoke detector, however. You need to know how to get out of the house once you learn there's a fire.

Draw up an escape plan and hold practice drills for the whole family. The best exit in case of fire is usually the regular way out, but you should pick an alternate in case the normal route is blocked.

Make sure each person in the family knows exactly how to get from his or her room to the nearest regular and emergency exits—during daylight hours and in the dark. Make special plans for people who can't walk by themselves.

Smoke and toxic gases—not flames—are the major killers in home fires, just as they were in Las Vegas and White Plains. Keep close to the floor—the smoke and hot gases will rise—as you manage the task.

Check to see if your plan is realistic. If, for example, you expect your children to open a window and crawl out Decide on a meeting place outside the house so you can be certain that everyone has escaped.

Miss Hester feted at bridal shower

Kathy Hester, bride-elect of Cleve Kirkland Jr., was honored at a miscellaneous wedding shower the afternoon of Dec. 6, in the fellowship hall of East Fourth Baptist Church.

Carnation corsages were presented to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Roy J. Hester. Other special guests were Mrs. W.C. Williams and Mrs. Roy C. Hester, grandmothers of the honoree, and Mrs. Bobby Bradshaw, sister of the honoree.

Guests were registered at a table covered with a brown polyester cloth edged in wide beige lace. The bride-elect's chosen colors of brown, beige, rust and gold were used throughout the entertainment area. Brown silk roses and carnations in a crystal vase were used on the register table.

The serving table, was centered with an arrangement of silk flowers around a large gold candle, in a wicker basket. Silver and china appointments were used.

Hostesses for the shower were Mrs. Royce Griffith, Mrs. Floyd Dixon, Mrs. R.C. Stocks, Mrs. Dick Davis, Mrs. H.M. Macomber, Mrs. Jerry Oliphant, Mrs. Mike Steward, Mrs. David Rhoton, Mrs. Bob Brock, Mrs. Edward Slate, Mrs. J.J. Willingham, Mrs. Mike West, Mrs. Reuben Hill, Mrs. Bob Jones, Mrs. Jack Lee, Mrs. Harold Cain, Mrs. R.G. Adkins, Mrs. W.L. Clayton, Mrs. Loy Anderson, Mrs. Ben Hitt, Mrs. Charlie Sken, and Mrs. M.L. Kirby.

The hostess gift was a reversible king-sized polyester and cotton comforter.

Two nuptial festivities precede Dec. 7 wedding

Elaine Martin, Lamesa, was feted on two occasions prior to her marriage to Michael Ervin Eoff Dec. 7 by her aunts.

Mrs. Kelly Gaskins, Knott, hosted a party the evening of Dec. 5 with Mrs. Tom McDonnell, Abilene, serving as co-hostess.

The living area of the home was decorated for the holiday season. The refreshment table was laid with criss-cross runners in a green and red holly print. A large hurricane globe covering a red candle encircled with cedar and miniature apples centered the table.

The honoree was presented with a variety of ornaments for her first Christmas tree. The guest list included wedding attendants, the grandmothers of the bride-elect and high school friends.

A luncheon was served to Miss Martin and her wedding attendants in the home of Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins of Knott, Dec. 6. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Ralph Jones, Denison and Mrs. Eston Hollis, Luther, other aunts of the bride.

The entertainment area featured traditional Christmas decorations. The dining tables were laid with beige linen, and the bride's chosen colors of pink and burgundy were used in the candles and bows. Crystal candle holders and bells on round mirrors completed the decorations. A pink poinsetta centered the registry table. Places were marked with mistletoe tied with pink and burgundy ribbon.

Guests were from Corpus Christi, Lubbock, Dallas, Waco, San Angelo and Klondike.

Do you deserve 'Miss Piggy' label

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: Whenever my sister and I take a snack, our mother calls us "pigs."

You might think being called a pig is not so bad, but it really is. It deeply hurts our feelings.

We talked to our father about the problem but he said to forget it because mother has a big mouth. But knowing that our mother has a big mouth doesn't make it any easier. Help! — Tanya, London, Ontario, Canada

Tanya: I'm going to respond by asking you several questions. If you will write to me again and answer these, I'll be more able to assist you.

Are you and your sister overweight? Do you clean up your mess when you snack? What kind of snacks do you eat and how often do you snack? Do you eat the snack in the kitchen, or do you carry it around the house in your hand? Have you ever spilled your snack? And finally, do you ask mother if you can have the snack?

Dr. Wallace: I'm a lonely 13-year-old boy and I'm lonely because I live in the country. Living in a rural area is hard because there are few kids to associate with, especially girls.

Well, there is one girl who lives two farms away whom I like very much. In fact, I think I'm falling in love with her. When I hinted to her that I really cared for her she told me that I was a good friend but that any kind of a serious relationship would be impossible.

We have a lot in common and I'm sure we would be a compatible couple. We never argue and we like the same things. Help! — Neal, Cameron, W. Va.

Neal: This girl intelligently told you that she does not want to be your girlfriend. If you push the "romance" issue, you will surely lose her as a friend and since there are few kids to associate with, you don't want this to happen.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TwEEN 12 and 20, Copley News Service, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Seek interesting alternatives

Children would rather switch than fight. Many kids who are forced to give up television discover new and more interesting pastimes, says Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist.

Parents can help children seek out interesting alternatives, she adds.

Ms. Taylor is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

In San Antonio Veverka trial

Former policeman says hitting subjects a 'tension release'

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A former Florida policeman once told a grand jury that chasing a suspect at high speeds can be "fun" and "hitting a subject" can be a "tension release" for police officers, according to documents introduced at the civil rights trial of Charles Veverka Jr.

The statements were attributed to Mark Meier, a former Dade County police officer and colleague of Veverka. Wednesday, defense attorneys introduced the Meier's July 9 statements to a Miami grand jury in an attempt to discredit the ex-policemen, who is a key government witness in the trial.

Veverka, 30, is accused of violating the civil rights of black Miami insurance executive Arthur Duffie, who died Dec. 21, four days after he allegedly was beaten by police.

Meier has testified officers began to chase Duffie after he allegedly revved his motorcycle engine and sped from an intersection.

In the grand jury statement, Meier said chases often can be "fun."

"They're enjoyable, yes," Meier said Wednesday in response to a question on the springtime statement.

According to the statement, Meier also said chasing and striking a subject was "not really an unusual event."

"Hitting a subject that gave you all the trouble that Mr. McDuffie gave you can be described as, maybe, a tension release ... teaching him a lesson," Meier told the grand jury.

"If you put a little hurt on somebody who has led you on an 8 1/2-minute chase like that, you're going to say, 'Hey, look sucker, don't truck again. The next time a police officer turns on his red lights, you stop.'"

"And I think, at that initial point, some of the blows were of that type, you know, 'Hey, don't do it again,'" the grand jury statement said.

In testimony peppered with police jargon, Meier told jurors Wednesday that there is a lot of pressure on policemen who testify against fellow officers. Those officers, he said, are called "hand-up cops" because they "hand-up" a buddy to authorities.

"His life as a police officer is not that pleasant," Meier said of any officer considered a "hand-up cop."

Meier said he went along with the cover-up of McDuffie's beating for nine days because, "if I was to get in trouble in the central district (a black area of town dubbed the "combat zone") and need help in a hurry, a lot of officers would say 'he's a hand-up cop. Let's take our time and let him get his clock cleaned (dawdle to give a suspect time to harm the officer).'"

The opposite of a "hand-up cop" is a "stand-up cop," or one who will lie to protect fellow officers, Meier told jurors.

"It's an unwritten law, an unwritten rule, a code of silence that you don't hand up another officer, you don't fink on fellow officers, especially when it's something of his own doing," Meier testified in the third day of the trial.

Meier, who has been granted immunity, earlier told jurors he watched "six to eight" other officers surround McDuffie, jerk off his motorcycle helmet and pummel him on the head with nightsticks and large flashlights.

However, Meier did not identify Veverka as one of the officers who struck McDuffie or ask Meier to concoct a phony story about the incident.

Veverka is accused of violating McDuffie's civil rights by being an accessory to the beating and participating in the cover-up that followed. Maximum punishment on conviction on the four-count federal indictment is 26 years in prison and $21,500 in fines.

Acquittal of five other officers on state charges in Tampa last May 18 touched off a Miami riot that left 18 people dead and did more than $100 million in damages.

Nancy Reagan interview

Future first lady talks about family

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nancy Reagan says she keeps a "tiny little gun" in a drawer near her bed for protection and her husband, the president-elect, taught her how to use it.

"I have a little gun," she acknowledged in an interview Wednesday.

"Ronnie was away a lot, you know, during the time before he became a candidate. He was out speaking a lot and I was alone in that house" in California.

But the nation's next first lady joked that she would not likely need the gun after she and her husband move into the heavily guarded White House Jan. 20.

Both Reagan and his wife have long opposed gun control, a position the president-elect reaffirmed after the shooting death of former Beatle John Lennon this week.

Mrs. Reagan said she has never used the weapon and doesn't even know what kind of gun it is. "It's just a tiny little gun," she said, laughing. "I don't know anything about it."

Asked whether she had taken a course in marksmanship, Mrs. Reagan responded: "No, my husband showed me. He shoots."

California residents can legally keep a gun at home without registering the weapon, according to Robin Gray, a spokesman for the Reagan transition.

Mrs. Reagan was interviewed at Blair House, the government guest quarters where the Reagans are staying on their second trip to the nation's capital since the Nov. 4 election.

In the wide-ranging interview session, she also: —Denied reports she has never met her new daughter-in-law, Doria Palmieri. "I have met her," Mrs. Reagan said. "I have known her for a year and a half."

She said Ms. Palmieri, who married the Reagans' son Ron on Nov. 24, was with the Reagans on election night.

But Mrs. Reagan gave no explanation for Mrs. Palmieri's absence Tuesday when the president-elect and his son lunched in New York. —Said reports that step-daughter Maureen Reagan planned to hold her third marriage at the White House were not true. Maureen is Reagan's daughter from his previous marriage to actress Jane Wyman.

"She says she wants a small wedding in California," Mrs. Reagan said, adding she would not try to change her step-daughter's mind because a wedding "is a purely personal thing."

—Said she does not believe she raised her two children "permissively" and does not know whether they have ever smoked marijuana.

Besides Ron, she has a daughter, Patti, who is an actress in Los Angeles.

The next first lady was also asked how she thought she and her husband, who earned $515,878 in 1978, would get along on "the presidential salary of $200,000."

"I think most presidents take a cut in salary," she said, adding the question could not be answered "until you are actually there."

BLAIR HOUSE INTERVIEW — Nancy Reagan, wife of President-elect Ronald Reagan, answers a question during an interview at the Blair House in Washington Wednesday. Mrs. Reagan reflected on her future role as first lady.

AMA won't endorse ERA

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The American Medical Association, while saying male doctors should be more sensitive in their treatment of women colleagues, has voted overwhelmingly against endorsing the Equal Rights Amendment.

However, the AMA's House of Delegates, meeting here Wednesday, decided to name a committee to monitor the progress of women doctors.

The 279-member group has three women as voting members. About 50,000 of the nation's 450,000 doctors are women.

Court orders new trial in malpractice suit

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court today ordered a new trial in a malpractice suit brought by an Angeline County woman who claimed her doctor discharged her from the hospital although she had a serious infection.

A Lufkin jury ruled Dr. T.R. Bennett was negligent in the case, but the trial judge said Janette Williams was not entitled to any money from the doctor. A court of civil appeals affirmed the judge's decision.

However, the Texas Supreme Court said there is evidence to support Mrs. Williams claim.

"Under the medical standard established by the testimony of Dr. Bennett, Mrs. Williams should not have been discharged on Dec. 31," the court said.

Mrs. Williams was admitted to Lufkin Memorial Hospital on Dec. 16, 1974, for a total hysterectomy. The surgery, performed by Bennett, went smoothly. However, the patient later developed a serious infection, the court said.

Beginning on Dec. 22, her stomach was swollen and her temperature rose quickly.

On Dec. 23, Bennett removed part of the sutures. The symptoms "confirmed she was suffering from a serious infection," said Justice Charles Barrow's opinion.

Mrs. Williams was released from the hospital on Dec. 31. She later went to another doctor to remove the remaining sutures.

"There is substantial lay testimony that Mrs. Williams was suffering from the symptoms of an active infection at the time of her discharge and that these symptoms continued," Barrow said.

On Jan. 10, after her condition worsened, she was taken to a hospital emergency room where several abscesses in her stomach were opened and treated.

"There is evidence that she suffered from the after effects of the serious infection for several months," Barrow said.

The Supreme Court said Bennett violated his own testimony that it would be bad medical practice to dismiss a patient with a serious infection.

When discharged, "Mrs. Williams was still discharging substantial amounts of foul-smelling pus from three open holes in her stomach," according to Barrow.

First round starts today

Hawk Queen HS Classic tough

16 girls teams begin their quests for the Howard College Hawk Queen High School Classic championship this morning and through tonight in the first round of competition at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, with the final winner having momentary bragging rights to some of the outstanding schoolgirl teams in the state.

A total of five teams come into the tournament undefeated. This list includes defending Classic champion Forsan, Borden County, Slaton, San Angelo Central and Waco-Midway.

But the list of outstanding teams doesn't end there, as some of the more stiff competition for these unbeaten powers will come from the likes of Midland, Klondike and El Paso Parkland.

All of the first round games will be played in Garrett Coliseum, but the consolation round on Friday will be played in Poverty Pavilion on the campus of Howard College. All of the rest of the games, however, will be played in Garrett Coliseum.

Besides defending tourney champ Forsan, Slaton won the Class AA state championship last year, while Waco-Midway is a perennial finalist in the state tournament.

TODAY'S SCHEDULE

Payton slapped with fine

CHICAGO (AP) — National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle slapped a conditional $200 fine on Chicago Bears running back Walter Payton for "jolting" an official, the NFL said.

Payton, upset with a call that he had fumbled, was ejected from a Nov. 23 game between the Bears and the Atlanta Falcons after he touched official Ed Marion. Payton will not have to pay the fine unless he is involved in another such incident with an official this season, an NFL spokesman said.

Stenmark takes World Cup lead

MADONNA DI CAMPGLIO, Italy (AP) — Swedish star Ingemar Stenmark scored his second ski victory in two days, capturing the giant slalom and taking the lead in the season's World Cup men's standings.

Stenmark, 24, clocked the fastest times in both heats — 1 minute, 17.60 seconds in the first run and 1:24.54 in the second for a combined total of 2:42.14. Alexander Zhurov of the Soviet Union was second in 2:42.66. Austria's Gerhard Jaeger placed third in 2:43.14, while teammate Hans Enn was fourth in 2:43.29.

Steve Mahre of Yakima, Wash. was fifth in 2:43.48, and his twin brother, Phil, placed eighth in 2:43.84.

While Angels-Bosox make 5 player trade

Astros get expensive utility in Dave Roberts

DALLAS (AP) — The American League finally got into the act at the winter baseball meetings when the California Angels and Boston Red Sox made a five-player deal which included a swap of All-Star shortstop Rick Burleson and young third baseman Carney Lansford. The Angels acquired Burleson and third baseman Butch Hobson from California Wednesday night for Lansford, relief pitcher Mark Clear and outfielder Rick Miller.

The Angels-Red Sox deal was the first major transaction made by American League clubs at these weeklong meetings. In all, seven trades have been completed involving 34 players.

Another major action

Wednesday was the signing by the Houston Astros of utility player Dave Roberts for $1.3 million over five years.

Meanwhile, American League club owners gathered today for a meeting to consider a second attempt by Edward DeBartolo to purchase the Chicago White Sox for $20 million.

DeBartolo, whose offer was accepted by the White Sox stockholders, was turned down Oct. 24, when he fell two votes short of the 10 necessary to get the franchise.

In the Angels-Red Sox trade, both clubs felt they had strengthened themselves considerably.

"We have obtained one of the finest shortstops (Burleson) in baseball," said Angels' Manager Jim Fregosi.

Burleson had been having difficulty negotiating his salary with Boston. He and Hobson will move right into the California starting infield, which features Bobby Grich at second and Rod Carew on first.

Hobson lost his third base job at Boston to rookie Glenn Hoffman last season after experiencing elbow problems that required surgery. The Red Sox plan to move Hoffman to his original position at shortstop replacing Burleson, giving the third base job to Lansford.

Lansford, 23, hit .261 with 15 home runs and 80 RBI in 151 games last season for the Angels. Clear, who was 11-11 as a reliever, gives Boston needed bullpen help.

"I think the trade strengthens our club," said Ralph Houk, the new Red Sox manager. "We have had a kid (Hoffman) playing third base who ought to be at shortstop and that's where we'll play him," said Houk.

STEER GIRLS IN HAWK QUEEN HIGH SCHOOL CLASSIC TONIGHT — When the first day of the Howard College Hawk Queen High School Classic closes tonight in the final game at 8:00 p.m., the Big Spring Steers girls basketball team will have the unenviable task of taking the Borden County Coyotes. Borden County is un-

Lakers turn tide on Rockets

HOUSTON (AP) — Los Angeles Lakers coach Paul Westhead says that because he learned his lesson in an earlier loss the team was able to withstand a "relentless" Houston Rockets comeback attempt. Kareem Abdul-Jabbar and Jamaal Wilkes had to combine for 14 points in the final five minutes Wednesday night to help the Lakers take a 109-108 National Basketball Association victory over the Rockets.

Momentum bounced back and forth rapidly in the game before the final surge by Abdul-Jabbar and Wilkes iced the victory.

Westhead recalled that on the Lakers' last visit to Houston the team had a big lead only to see it wiped out and turned into a Houston victory.

"I learned my lesson the last time we were here," Westhead said.

After leading most of the way through the first half and taking a 62-56 halftime lead, the Lakers were victimized by a Houston surge in the opening minutes of the third quarter.

The Rockets scored 14 of the third quarter's first 16 points and jumped out to a 70-64 lead. They increased the lead to 80-70 with 2:46 left in the third quarter.

The final 5:30 of the game was wild with the lead changing hand several times before three straight baskets by Wilkes enabled the Lakers to pull ahead, 109-104, with 22 seconds remaining.

Robert Reid scored a layup with 14 seconds to go to cut the lead to 109-106. Norm Nixon fumbled the ball and Moses Malone stole it and made a stiff shot with three seconds left to cut the score to the final margin.

Nixon, who finished with 22 points, said the Lakers were able to win because they changed playing style in the second half.

"We slowed down and started playing our style of ball. We played much better in the second half because we used our ball control," he said.

The key to Houston's comeback in the second half was the play of Billy Paultz, according to Westhead.

"Paultz did a good job at center against Abdul-Jabbar. His play was the key thing that brought them back," the Los Angeles coach said. Paultz scored 14 points and had 11 rebounds while guarding the former UCLA star.

Powderpuff set Friday contest

The Annual Big Spring High School Powder Puff Football Classic will be held tomorrow night at six o'clock at Blankenship Field.

This annual game is always an intensely competitive battle between the Upperclassmen and this year's bout between the Upperclassmen and Lowerclassmen (Freshmen and Sophomores) promises to be no different.

Everything is switched in the contest, as not only will the girls be playing the role of football players, but the cheerleaders and twirlers will be boys decked out in their best Steer dresses.

This year's game will be for the benefit of the United Way of Big Spring. Cost of admission is one dollar for both adults and students.

Boys from the respective classes will serve as coaches for the gridiron struggle. Upper class coaches will be Scott Barnes, Chuck Gibbs, Patrick Connelly and David Bordofski, while the Lower class coaching staff will consist of Alan Trevino, George Bancroft and Adam Rodriguez.

Hawks visit SPC

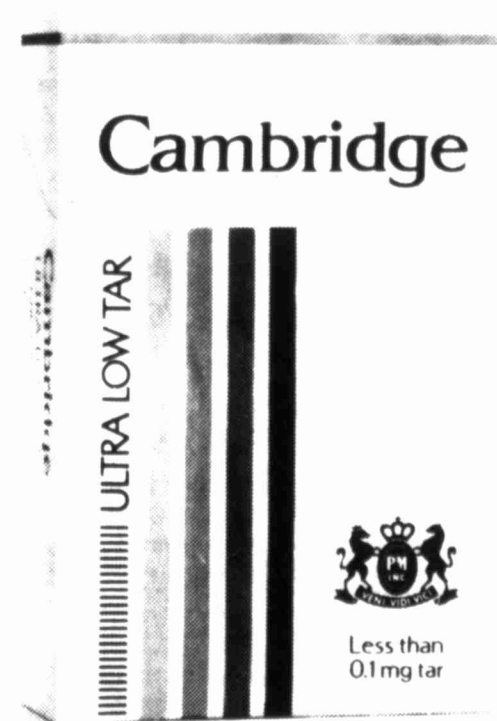

LEVELLAND — The Hawks of Coach Harold Wilder won, Corker has poured in 145 points, or an average of 29 per contest. For the year, Corker has an average of 22.8 per tilt. That's second in the WJC behind Odessa's Craig Ehl.

Howard's rebounding duo of sophomores Ron Akins and Kenneth Jones rank 2-3 in WJC rebounding, with Corker eighth.

South Plains is a very balanced team. Their leading scorer is Scott Ferrell, who averages 13 points per game. The Texans B.J. Jones is the second leading WJC field goal percentage shooter, with an average connection rate of 66.7.

This will be the last game for both teams before they take off for the Christmas break.

INTERFERE, WILL YA? — Terry Ruskowski of Chicago Black Hawks lands atop linesman Paul Flaherty as linesman John D'Amico keeps Mel Bridgman of Philadelphia Flyers at bay during Wednesday night NHL brawl in Chicago. Referee Bryon Lewis takes notes. Ruskowski was ejected from game for misconduct. Teams tied, 2-2.

Meet Berger in first round

Steers visit Snyder Tourney

SNYDER — The Big Spring Steers boys basketball team will be among 16 entered when things get underway in the annual Snyder Tournament here today.
The Steers draw the unenviable task of facing highly touted Berger in the opening round at 2:30 p.m. But there are really not any easy teams in this field, as two of the schools advanced to the state tournament last year, while there are many returning district champions.
Other schools competing in the tournament include San Angelo, Abilene, Mineral Wells, Lubbock Estacado, Lubbock High, Lubbock Monterey, Amarillo Caprock, Snyder, Abernathy, El Paso, Austin, Sweetwater and Burk Burnett.

The Steers of Coach Ed Haller are fresh from a big 67-53 win over the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes, and must play that well in order to get past their first round foe today. Big Spring is 4-3 on the year.
Probable starters for the Steers include Jerald Wrightsil, Dickie Wrightsil, James Doss, Bobby Earl Williams and Fletcher Johnson.

FSU coach scared of OU explosion

NEW YORK (AP) — Florida State is the second best college football team in the nation, according to The Associated Press poll, but Coach Bobby Bowden says the Seminoles will need some help from Oklahoma to win their Orange Bowl rematch against Oklahoma.
"If they don't make mistakes, I don't know if we have a chance," Bowden said Wednesday during an NBC-TV Orange Bowl luncheon that also featured Coach Barry Switzer of fourth-ranked Oklahoma and the respective quarterbacks, Florida State's Rick Stockstill and OU's J.C. Watts.
"I don't know if anyone can beat Oklahoma if they don't make mistakes," Bowden said. "I think we've got a chance, no matter what they do, but we've got to feel that if they don't fumble, they don't lose."
"I know we don't have the speed and possibly the physical strength of Oklahoma. We have to win with perfection — great kicking, keep the other team backed up and our offense has to cash in on the mistakes other team makes. If Oklahoma doesn't make mistakes you don't stop Oklahoma."
"Fumbling is something Oklahoma did as well as anyone until mid-season, when the Sooners suddenly found the handle on the football. After fumbling 33 times in their first five games and losing 18 of them, they coughed up the ball only 16 times in the final six contests and turned it over just eight times."
Accordingly, their wishbone attack, run by Watts, perked up so much that Bowden refers to the standard triple option as a "quadruple option."
"They take the triple option one step further," he said. "I've never seen a quarterback take the ball as far as Watts does before pitching it. He's the most daring one I've seen."
Switzer said the Sooners "became a football team when we received a challenge in the seventh game against an unbeaten North Carolina team which was ranked sixth nationally and first in scoring defense. The team accepted the challenge and controlled the game on both offense and defense. We had 500 yards in total offense, scored 41 points, gained respect and confidence and became the type of team Oklahoma had been in the past."
"It's important where you fumble the ball," he continued. "Fumbles are never very good but in the past we had the ability to offset it. We fumbled 13 times once and won by something like 41-10. This year, we haven't had the ability to overcome those mistakes."

Vandeweghe ironic in pro debut

DENVER (AP) — Kiki Vandeweghe, who had failed to come to contract terms with the Dallas Mavericks since being selected by that team in the first round of last June's National Basketball Association draft, finally made his NBA debut in a Mavericks game.
"But Vandeweghe was wearing a Denver Nuggets' uniform when he began his pro career Wednesday night in a game against, ironically, the team he had feuded with for six months."
Seeing considerable playing time, Vandeweghe scored six points in the Nuggets' 116-107 victory.
The 6-foot-8 former UCLA forward signed a multi-year contract with the Nuggets earlier Wednesday. Denver obtained his rights after Dallas had unsuccessfully sought a trade with various other clubs. In exchange for Vandeweghe, Dallas will receive Denver's first-round choice in the 1981 draft. In addition, Dallas will receive Denver's No. 1 draft choice in 1985, with the Nuggets getting Dallas' top selection in 1986.

New York clubs expected to meet Winfield's price

By The Associated Press
"I have the right talent, I am the right age and I am at the right place at the right time," says big Dave Winfield.
"It's impulse buying," adds Al Frohman, his agent. "Homes are up. Clothes are up. The pattern was set four or five years ago. Owners fix the market. Baseball is entertainment. People will pay for quality performances."
Thus a ballplayer and his negotiator-financial adviser rationalize the $12 million to $20 million price tag that may be necessary to land the 6-foot-6, 220-pound free agent outfielder, formerly of the San Diego Padres.
Winfield and Frohman are ensconced in an 18th floor, three-room suite at a mid-town New York hotel, waiting for baseball executives to break from their winter meetings in Dallas and return home.
Then Winfield and Frohman can expect an early call from George Steinbrenner, the principal owner and master salesman of the New York Yankees, as well as contacts from principal owner Nelson Doubleday and president Fred Wilpon of the rebuilding Mets. There also will be gestures from Atlanta, Cleveland and possibly Houston.

Who's going to get the multimillion dollar piece of resistance of the 1980 free agent re-entry draft? The betting is that it will be either the Yankees or Mets, with Steinbrenner's persuasiveness a 5-4 shot to tilt the scales.
Winfield isn't saying, because he hasn't made up his mind. He spent five days on the beaches of Hawaii trying to sort out all the tangibles and intangibles. He returned as undecided as ever.
The Yankees can offer him pinstripes, prestige, dignity, national exposure and possibly a gleaming World Series ring for the third finger on his left hand. Also some turmoil. The Mets can offer him equal stardom, a challenge, a 371-foot power alley and familiarity with the National League.
"Money is not the overriding factor," says Winfield, whose original demand was for $1.3 million for 10 years. The Mets reportedly have offered $12 million for eight years. Steinbrenner's checkbook knows no bounds.
Regardless of who signs him, Winfield, at age 29, stands to become the highest paid performer in baseball.
Winfield is a low-key, soft-spoken Midwesterner (St. Paul, Minn.) who remained faithful to the Padres for seven years although he was underpaid and underappreciated without a chance to exploit his unquestioned potential.
"I was stifled, the Padres were anemic," he said. "Rarely did I come to bat with men on base. Pitchers always could pitch around me. I never reached my home run or runs-batted-in potential."

Honored in ceremony Wednesday 66-67 Philly team named best NBA ever

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — There are championship teams and there are great teams, but now a team from this sports-hungry city has laid claim to the title of greatest pro basketball team in history.
The 1966-67 Philadelphia 76ers, winners of the National Basketball Association championship in a record-setting, dynasty-busting year, were honored here Wednesday night as the greatest team in the 35-year history of the NBA.
The selection was made last month by the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, and NBA Commissioner Larry O'Brien presented plaques commemorating the title to 11 team members, in a nostalgic reunion before a game between the 1980 76ers and the Chicago Bulls.
Philadelphia won the game, 113-100.
"The basketball writers made a tremendous selection," said O'Brien. "It's historic in basketball and historic in sports. I congratulate the 76ers."
In their best-ever year, the Sixers finished the regular season with a record-setting 68-13 season. They followed that with the NBA championship, ending Boston's eight-year reign by defeating the Celtics in the Eastern finals.
They defeated the Golden State Warriors in six games for the title.
Present from the championship team were starting forwards Chet "The Jet" Walker and Lucius Jackson; starting guards Hal Greer and Larry Costello; former coach Alex Hannum; Billy Cunningham, now coaching the team; and Dave Gambee, Matt Goukas, Wali "By Golly" Jones and Bill Melchior.
But the standout was 7-foot-11 Wilt "The Stilt" Chamberlain, the center whose stature and play have left a permanent mark on pro basketball.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
 from the CARROLL RIGNER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, DEC. 12, 1980

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You need to be careful that you are not too fixed and determined in your viewpoints today and tonight or you could encounter more trouble than you had hoped for.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Don't be forceful with others who disagree with your views. Come to a better accord with co-workers. Be wise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Listening to suggestions of associates is wise now and be sure to cooperate more with them. Try to be helpful to others.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Schedule your work activities wisely and then carry through with them in a positive manner. Don't waste time.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): You may want to have a good time now, but it's to your best interest to save money now instead of spending it.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You have to be diplomatic at home today to avoid trouble. Study a new project well since it is bound to have some flaws.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Be tactful with others so that they don't take their ire out on you. Avoid a tendency to splurge when you can't afford it.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23): You have to be careful in the handling of investments and other financial matters to avoid trouble at this time.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Be more thoughtful of others in going after your aims and avoid unpleasantness. Take steps to improve your health.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Keep personal worries to yourself since others have their own problems to think about. Think constructively.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Take advantage of an opportunity coming your way that could give you added income. Strive for happiness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Study new activities that interest you early in the day but don't make decisions until the evening.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Put off until tomorrow an activity that is concerned with improving your welfare. Take positive steps to gain your goals.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have the ability to solve problems that are difficult for others, so be sure to give as fine an education as you can afford and teach to be objective for best results. The latter years will be most self-satisfying.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

HOLIDAY OPEN HOUSE — For the past several years, the Vocational Office Education class of Big Spring High School has chosen the Christmas season to open its doors to faculty, former students, employers and visitors interested in the program. Here, VOE students Colleen Craver, Belinda Claveran and Patty Garner serve refreshments to Mrs. Anna Walker, pre-employment lab instructor; visitors Andrea Sink and Sidney Clark; and co-op coordinator, Mrs. Vonna Swim. This year's event was held Tuesday.

Dessert souffle deliciously rich

Though some families like to enjoy traditional desserts on holiday occasions, it's often nice to add some change of pace to the menu. And if you select a souffle made with chocolate and cherries, you can expect no quibbling over the choice.

HOLIDAY DESSERT SOUFFLE

Yield: 10 to 12 servings
 1 can (16 ounce) tart red pitted cherries, drained
 3 tablespoons brandy
 1 1/2 cups sugar, divided
 2 envelopes unflavored gelatin
 2 cups milk
 3 eggs, separated
 4 squares (4 ounce) unsweetened chocolate
 1 1/2 teaspoons vanilla extract
 2 cups whipping cream, whipped
 Whipped cream, if desired
 Maraschino cherries, if desired
 Chop cherries and place them with the brandy in a small shallow bowl. Let stand about 1 hour. Combine 1/4 cups sugar and gelatin in a medium-sized saucepan. Combine milk and egg yolks. Stir into sugar mixture. Let stand 2 minutes. Heat over low heat, stirring frequently, until gelatin is dissolved. Melt chocolate over low heat, stirring constantly, until chocolate is completely melted.

Place gelatin mixture in a large mixing bowl. Beat in chocolate until completely blended; stir in vanilla. Chill chocolate mixture until partially set. Meanwhile, beat egg whites until foamy. Gradually add remaining 1/4 cup sugar. Beat until stiff peaks form. Fold egg whites and whipped cream into souffle dish with a 3-inch collar. Chill several hours or overnight.

To serve, remove collar. Decorate top of souffle with rosettes of whipped cream piped through a fluted pastry tube. Place a maraschino cherry in center of each. Serve immediately.

Chicken made more flavorsome

Credit for "gulya's" or goulash, as the recipe is universally known, goes to the herdsmen who once elevated cattle raising to be the national industry of Hungary.

These herdsmen combined meat, vegetables and paprika and slowly cooked the combination in black kettles hung over their campfires. Slow cooking over lowered heat is still one of the secrets of a fine goulash. The other: the use of modern instant chicken bouillon for added flavor.

While beef is the traditional meat used for goulash, there's no reason why chicken cannot be used. Furthermore, at today's food prices, chicken is less expensive than beef. This satisfying meal-in-one needs only a small serving of salad or a green vegetable to complete a nutritious menu.

For your kitchen from the Borden Kitchens comes this updated version of the "herdsman's stew" recipe...Hungarian Chicken Goulash! Here's how:

HUNGARIAN CHICKEN GOULASH

(Makes 6 to 8 servings)
 2 whole chicken breasts (about 2 pounds); split, skinned, boned and cut into strips

Salt and pepper
 Flour
 1/2 cup vegetable oil
 1 large onion, sliced (about 1 cup)
 1 clove garlic, finely chopped

1-1/2 cups tomato juice
 1 (16-ounce) can stewed tomatoes
 1 tablespoon Wyley's Chicken-Flavor Instant Bouillon or 3 Chicken-Flavor Bouillon Cubes

2 teaspoon paprika
 1/2 teaspoon thyme leaves
 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 1 (8-ounce) container sour cream, at room temperature

Hot cooked noodles or rice
 Sprinkle chicken lightly with salt and pepper; coat with flour. Brown in oil. Pour off all except 3 tablespoons drippings. Add onion and garlic; cook until onion is tender.

Add remaining ingredients except sour cream and noodles. Cover and simmer 20 to 25 minutes. Uncover; remove from heat. After 5 minutes, stir about 1/4 cup sauce into sour cream; add slowly to mixture in skillet, stirring constantly until sour cream is thoroughly blended.

Heat through (do not boil). Serve with noodles. Refrigerate leftovers.

Santa Claus guest of Tele-Butcher

Holiday menu ideas from our American heritage will be Santa's subject this month when he served as "guest butcher" for the Adolph's Tele-Butcher consumer phone-in service.

By dialing the toll-free Tele-Butcher number 800-243-5305 (in Connecticut 1-800-852-8599) consumers will hear Jolly Old St. Nick recommend an assortment of Christmas entrees and accompaniments that reflect Mexican (Dec. 5-11), British (Dec. 12-18) and French-

Canadian (Dec. 19-24) culinary traditions in the United States.

To welcome in the New Year, Santa will suggest a colorful and tasty meal from the medley of cuisines popular in the American South (Dec. 25-31). On January 1, Tele-Butcher will return with tips on how to marinate meats for maximum flavor and tenderness.

Tele-Butcher operates throughout the year, providing one-minute pre-recorded messages on current topics influencing the family's grocery budget, such as seasonal meat buys, nutrition information, recipes and menu suggestions.

A public service of Adolph's Natural Meat Tenderizer, Tele-Butcher messages are compiled from government and industry sources and offer helpful information in these inflationary times.

TELE-BUTCHER

Cereal: trend for the eighties

So What's for breakfast?

Breakfast is back! Many nutritionists consider breakfast the most important meal of the day. It should provide about one-quarter of the day's nutritional needs, according to nutritionists, and there are many ways to achieve this goal.

Increasingly, the people's choice for the morning meal is a cereal breakfast, because it fits in so well with today's lifestyles. In fact, a recent National Menu Census shows that of all breakfasts eaten 38 percent include a ready-to-eat or hot cereal, and the number one breakfast choice of both children and adults is a bowl of cereal and milk.

Variety and moderation are the most reliable keys to a nutritious diet. Growing consumer interest in nutrition and health has focused increasing attention on the contribution grain foods such as breakfast cereals can make to the diet.

This focus on grains is one of the important trends affecting breakfast cereals in the Seventies and likely to continue in the Eighties.

Most significant among these trends are:

A Way to Stretch Food Budgets. Consumers recognize that breakfast cereals are relatively inexpensive sources of nutrition. Early this year, the average national price of 14¢ for a bowl of ready-to-eat cereal with milk was significantly below average prices for other breakfast entrees.

Changing Lifestyles. With 60 percent of mothers of school age children working outside the home, breakfast preparation by children is a fact of life. The rapid increase of one- and two-member households has resulted in greater individual responsibility for meals, increasing the appeal of convenient, nutritious, quick-to-serve foods such as breakfast cereals.

Growing Interest in Nutrition. Many nutritionists have suggested that an increase in consumption of complex carbohydrates, including cereal grains, would be a desirable dietary modification for many people. In fact, the U.S. Government's Dietary Guidelines suggest that for the American population as a whole, a reduction in current intake of fat would be sensible. The guidelines recommend "foods which are good sources of fiber and starch, such as whole-grain breads and cereals, fruits and vegetables, beans, peas and nuts."

Breakfast cereals are important grain foods. And grains are recognized as excellent sources of several B vitamins, iron, complex carbohydrates and fiber. They are also low in fat. Moreover, the basic nutritional value of most ready-to-eat and some hot cereals has been enhanced by the addition of nutrients through fortification.

Role of Fiber. Widespread interest in the role of fiber in the diet has increased demand for bran-type cereals. This increased demand is being met by the development of new and appealing bran-type cereals and a greater emphasis on the fiber content of a variety of other ready-to-eat and hot cereals.

Impact of Physical Fitness and Weight Consciousness. Physical fitness and weight consciousness had a greater impact on food choices in the 1970's than ever before. With this growing concern for weight control has come increased awareness of the importance of breakfast. The morning meal can supply significant amounts of nutrients with relatively few calories, thus helping to alleviate hunger pangs that lead to excessive snacking or heavier eating later in the day.

- HEARTY OAT FLAKES MUFFINS
2 cups fortified oat flakes cereal
3/4 cup milk
1-3rd cup vegetable oil
1 egg
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt

Heat oven to 400 degrees F. Combine cereal and milk; let stand a few minutes to soften cereal. Add oil and egg; mix well. Add combined remaining ingredients, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened. (Batter will be very stiff.) Fill 12 greased or paperlined medium-sized muffin cups 2-3rd full. Bake at 400 degrees F. about 20 minutes or until golden brown. Makes 1 dozen muffins.

- FROSTED FLAKES JAMMY CAKE
2 cups sugar frosted corn flakes
1 cup milk
1-3rd cup vegetable oil
1 egg
2 teaspoons grated lemon peel
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1-3rd cup preserves or jam

Heat oven to 375 degrees F. Combine cereal and milk; let stand a few minutes to soften cereal. Add oil, egg and peel; mix well. Add combined remaining ingredients, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened. Spread into greased 6-cup ring mold; bake at 375 degrees F. about 25 minutes or until wooden pick inserted into cake comes out clean. Immediately loosen edges of cake from sides of pan; invert onto serving plate. Spoon preserves over top of cake; serve warm. Makes 1 ring coffee cake.

- BAKER'S DOZEN CRUNCH BISCUITS
1 3/4 cups bite-size rice cereal biscuits, coarsely crushed
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
1/2 cup shredded Cheddar cheese

4 crisply cooked bacon slices, crumbled
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1-3rd cup vegetable oil
Heat oven to 425 degrees F. Combine all ingredients except milk and oil; mix well. Add milk and oil, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened. Drop by heaping tablespoons onto greased cookie sheet; bake at 425 degrees F. for 13 to 15 minutes or until golden brown. Makes about 13 biscuits.

- RAISIN 'N BRAN CAN BREAD
1 1/2 cups whole bran cereal
1 carton (8 ounces) plain yogurt
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup raisins
1/2 cup butter or margarine, melted
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
3 to 4 teaspoons grated orange peel
1 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1/2 teaspoon ground cloves

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Combine cereal, yogurt, water and raisins; mix well. Let stand a few minutes to soften cereal. Add butter, sugar, egg and peel; mix well. Add combined remaining ingredients, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened. Divide batter evenly between 4 greased 16-oz. vegetable cans. Bake directly on center oven rack at 350 degrees F. for 45 to 50 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool 10 minutes; remove from cans. Cool completely on wire cooling rack. M.

On the light side
Carter credit scandal?
 BEAVER FALLS, Pa. (AP) — Back in October, Joe and Laddie Knapp were thrilled when Secret Service agents drove President Carter's sleek limousine into their service station for a fillup.
 Laddie Knapp was so excited he ran across the street and had a photographer take a picture of him with the car, which was being serviced while Carter was off campaigning.
 Now the Knapps have received notice from Atlantic Richfield Co. that it would not accept the $5.10 credit card charge for the 3.8 gallons pumped into the bulletproof Lincoln Continental. An Arco spokesman told the Beaver County Times the company does not accept certain federal credit cards.
 "We'll probably sue," Laddie Knapp joked. "Actually we were hoping Carter would stay in office four more years because it might take that long to get the money back from the government."
 Anthony Carmona, a Secret Service agent in Pittsburgh, said the brothers would be reimbursed if they send the receipt to the agency. He said agents regularly ask proprietors if they accept federal credit cards before ordering any products or service.
 The Knapps said an agent did indeed ask if his card was acceptable.
 "At the time I was so surprised to see the president's car pull in I just forgot to check it," Laddie Knapp said.

What's Santa made of?
 INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Veteran costumer Joseph B. Landes remembers when Santa Claus suits were made of deeply napped Italian velvet and the beards of Himalayan yak fur.
 But Landes, who bills himself as Santa's tailor, says the 1980 Santa has a beard of imitation white fur because of world politics and a suit of cotton velvet because it wears better and keeps Santa cooler.
 Landes runs the Indianapolis-based Landes Costume Co. which has been catering to the special needs of would-be Santas, Easter bunnies and other fantasizers since 1910. The company made 326 rentals of Santa suits last Christmas.
 He says yak fur was the favored material for the beard and hair until 1949, when the Chinese revolution cut off the source of supply. Landes says it took years to come up with the synthetic white fur, which now sells for $105 as a beard-and-hair package.
 Rental for the complete deluxe Santa suit is $28.75 a day.

Y holiday schedule released
 The YMCA has announced it will close its doors at noon, Wednesday, Dec. 24 and reopen Monday, Dec. 29. The Y will also be closed Jan. 1.
 The closings are due to the Christmas and New Year holidays.
 Several events are slated at the Y during the coming weeks. On Saturday from 9 a.m. until noon, the Y is conducting a Mother's Day, Out program. Moms can go shopping and leave their kids. Movies and swimming will be provided.
 Two youth holiday fundays are set, one on Dec. 29, and another on Dec. 30. Pool games, gym games and movies are slated both days.
 Several youth open swims are also scheduled during the holidays.

PUBLIC NOTICE
 NATIONAL FLOOD INSURANCE PROGRAM
 Proposed Flood Elevation Determinations
 AGENCY: Federal Insurance Administration, FEMA
 ACTION: Proposed Rule
 SUMMARY
 Technical information or comments are solicited on the proposed base (100 year) flood elevations listed below for selected locations in the nation. These base (100 year) flood elevations are the basis for the flood plain management measures that the community is required to either adopt or show evidence of being already in effect in order to qualify or remain qualified for participation in the National Flood Insurance Program (NFIP).
 DATES
 The period for comment will be ninety (90) days following the second publication of this proposed rule in a newspaper of local circulation in each community.

 SUPPLEMENTARY INFORMATION
 The Federal Insurance Administrator gives notice of the proposed determinations of base (100 year) flood elevations for selected locations in the nation, in accordance with Section 110 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (Pub. L. 93-234), 87 Stat. 980, which added Section 1363 to the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (Title XIII of the Public Law 85-624) (Pub. L. 90-448), 47 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 44 CFR 67.4 (a).
 These elevations, together with the flood plain management measures required by Section 403 of the program regulations, are the minimum that are required. They should not be construed to mean the community must change any existing ordinances that are more stringent in their flood plain management requirements. The community may at any time enact stricter requirements on its own, or pursuant to policies established by other Federal, State, or Regional entities. These proposed elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second year of insurance on existing buildings and their contents.
 The proposed base (100 year) flood elevations for selected locations are:

ICE OVERCOATS — The perpetual mist rising from the Horseshoe Falls at Niagara Falls, Ont., freezes on nearby shrubs to form an ice overcoat. Each winter, trees and bushes around the falls take on the appearance of crystal lace.

One dead, two missing in fishing boat, tanker wreck

ARANSAS PASS, Texas (AP) — One crewman remained missing early today following a collision between a fishing vessel and an oil tanker that killed one man and injured another, Coast Guard officials said.

The tanker Texaco Anna Cortez and the Gulf King No. 62 collided between the jetties at Aransas Pass Wednesday night, trapping one crewman in the submerged wheelhouse of the fishing boat.

Coast Guard divers recovered the body, but the identity of the dead man and the missing crewman are being withheld pending notification of next of kin.

John Pierotti was rescued from the wreck of the partially submerged vessel by Coast Guardsman and transported to Lyman Roberts Hospital in Aransas Pass where he was listed in stable condition.

"He was trapped in the boat for three or four minutes and then went out through a window in the head (the vessel's bathroom)," said a Coast Guard spokesman, who asked not to be identified.

A Coast Guard cutter continued to search early today for the missing third crewman on the fishing vessel.

"There is quite a lot of debris. It is possible the other victim is out among the debris, there is a chance he still is floating," the spokesman said Wednesday night. But he added, "I'd say the chances are not really good."

No one aboard the tanker was injured in the collision and the tanker did not sustain any damage, the Coast Guard spokesman said.

He said the Gulf King had "quite a large hole in one side" but could not sink completely because the "water is so shallow."

The spokesman said the Texaco tanker has anchored offshore pending an investigation of the collision by the Marine Safety Office.

Court rules used home sales not covered by deceptive trade act

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court held today that the state's Deceptive Trade Practices Act does not cover used home sales in which the seller makes no misrepresentations.

Without writing a new opinion, the court said it could find "no reversible error" in a decision of the 1st Court of Civil Appeals in Houston.

The Houston court had refused to change a Galveston district court judgment that denied triple damages and attorneys fees to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cheney, who had sued the former owners of their house in Kemah.

The Cheneys refused to pay their note to Mr. and Mrs. James Parks after finding, they said, numerous defects in the 16-year-old house. The Parks refused to close, and the Cheneys sued. The Parks filed a countersuit for payment of the note.

A jury found there had been no misrepresentation but reduced the amount the Cheneys owed on the note by $3,800 because of the failure of the house to "meet a standard of habitability that a reasonable and prudent buyer would expect."

Habitability means suitability of a home or apartment for comfortable living.

The Cheneys appealed, saying that under the Deceptive Trade Practices Act, they were entitled to have the $3,800 damages tripled and to have their $12,500 attorney's fee paid by the Parks.

But the appeals court disagreed and ruled against them.

"The Deceptive Trade Practices Act does not create an implied warranty."

Under Texas law, there is no implied warranty that used goods are fit for the purpose for which they are purchased. "We find that this holding is equally applicable to the purchase of a used dwelling. A buyer of a used home takes the same, subject to wear and tear of use, just as does the buyer of a used automobile," the court said.

In their appeal to the Supreme Court, the Cheneys cited the high court's recent decision that consumers may collect damages under the Deceptive Trade Practices Act from private

— as opposed to commercial

— sellers who misrepresent the condition of goods.

That case involved a defective used boat and motor.

ABC snares prime-time ratings race

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC won the networks' prime-time ratings race in the week ending Dec. 7 despite the continuing success of the CBS' hit series "Dallas," according to figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co.

ABC got a boost from three specials broadcast during the week — "Barbara Walters Special" in third place, a pro football game between Pittsburgh and Houston in fifth and a movie, "Fighting Back," sixth — to end CBS' two-week run atop the ratings.

ABC's victory was by the narrowest of margins, one-tenth of one ratings point. ABC's score for the week was 19.4 to 19.3 for CBS and 15.6 for NBC.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 19.4 percent of the nation's TV-equipped homes were tuned to ABC.

"Dallas," meanwhile, was prime-time's most-watched program for the fifth straight week. The program had TV's highest rating ever on Nov. 21 with its "Who shot J.R.?" episode, then lost nearly 20 percent of its audience for the follow-up program Nov. 28.

The program's audience increased a bit for the most recent program, Dec. 5, from a rating of 34 for Nov. 28 to 37.3. The record-setting rating for "Dallas" Nov. 21 was 53.3.

Last season's highest-rated series, CBS' "60 Minutes," was second to "Dallas" in the week's ratings, more than eight points behind.

CBS leads the networks' competition since Oct. 27 — CBS and ABC maintain the season began then — by nearly a point and a half over ABC. NBC says the season started Sept. 15, and is first in the race by that measure by two-tenths of a point over CBS.

NBC was damaged in the most recent week surveyed with four of the five lowest-rated shows, starting with a movie, "Semi-Tough," in 61st place, followed by "Jack Frost" 62nd, "NBC Magazine with David Brinkley" 64th and "Gene Shalit Talks with the Stars" 65th. ABC's "Christmas from the Grand Ole Opry" was No. 63.

For not helping paving projects

Davis: 'County is not at fault'

By JAMES WERRELL
City Manager Don Davis vowed during the regular meeting of the Big Spring City Council, Tuesday night, to take "full advantage" next summer of a deal between the city and Howard County to repair city roads.

For most of this year, the city has provided fire protection for buildings in rural areas of the county. In return, the county had agreed to provide labor and equipment for the patching and sealcoating of several city streets.

So far, the county has done no work. But that, admitted Davis, is not the county's fault.

"The city staff felt we were somewhat lacking during the summer of '79 and '80 because of the materials involved. Consequently, we asked help from Bob Renshaw with FINA to help us come up with the right asphalt and sealant to use," explained Davis.

Renshaw, a specialist in road repair materials, suggested a special treatment called "fog coating," said Davis. When cracks in the road expand during cold weather, the sealant is applied, hardening all the way down to the base of the street. Later, in order to improve the surface of the street, a layer of special sealcoat is applied.

"But what about the expenditure for firefighting during the last year. Shouldn't we get something to show for that?" asked Councilman Larry Miller.

"We hope to ask the county to do twice as much during the summer of '81 as it would have in order to make up for it. We'll take full advantage of the agreement," said Davis.

Fire Chief Jim Ryals, who was present at the meeting, estimated that the local department has fought 30 fires in the county this year.

Members also approved a plan to submit preapplication forms to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for $1,750,000 in federal funds. The funds would be used for a variety of community development block programs, primarily on the north side of the city, said Bill Hall, head of community development.

"We will hold a public hearing on Monday at 7 p.m. in the Northside Fire Station to discuss what to do with the money," said Hall. "We really want to urge the people to attend, and give us some input on how the money should be spent. At our last meeting, one person showed up. We would rather have the community members themselves decide how to spend the funds, and not the city staff," he added.

Two moves involving damage claims against the city were made by the council Tuesday. In the first, councilmen split over a decision to pay Sam Morris $397.04 after a city vehicle collided with his pickup at West Fourth and San Jacinto, Oct. 28.

Representing Morris was Lanny Hamby, local attorney, who cited a police accident report that found the city vehicle to be at fault in the wreck.

"I ask you to regard the judgement of this policeman, a man you have hired as an expert in this sort of situation," said Hamby. "I ask you to judge not as the protectors of the city's money, but as a forum where citizens can come to find justice."

City Attorney Elliott Mitchell produced photos taken after the wreck that he said proved that the city vehicle wasn't moving at the time of the accident.

After a discussion among council members, Bobby Fuller said, "It looks like we have a difference of opinion here. But at the risk of this council appearing to rubber stamp everything our attorney recommends; we hire experts on this, and I make a motion to deny the claim."

Miller, Hal Boyd and Mayor Clyde Angel voted against that motion, defeating it. Miller then made a motion to grant the claim, and the three councilmen passed it, with Fuller and Jack Y. Smith dissenting.

In another motion, the council voted to allow City Attorney Mitchell to settle claims against the city for less than $500 where no personal injury is involved. All of Mitchell's decisions will be reported to the council, and if the claimant isn't satisfied with that decision, the claimant may appeal to the council.

In a similar motion, the council voted to allow Mitchell to take whatever action may be necessary to collect delinquent rental payments on leases of city-owned property.

"This is pretty limited in scope. We just want to give Elliott the power to operate in regard to properties on the industrial park," said Davis.

In other business, council members:

—Presented a five-year pin to Bruce Pitts, a foreman in the city's meter reading department.

—Awarded a bid for 280 Christmas turkeys for city employees to the Winn Dixie Super Market. Most of the birds will weigh 10 pounds at a cost of 88 cents a pound.

—Awarded a bid for the purchase of eight light poles and three light shields dismantled from the Benton Street Overpass to Marcellous Weaver. Weaver will pay the city $404 for the items.

—Approved the specifications for a computer service to the city.

—Approved the second and final reading of a resolution to announce the city's intention to withdraw from the Social Security System.

—Approved a resolution to exclude the payment of FICA from sick pay to employees.

Santa to visit here Thursday

Santa Claus will pay an early visit to Big Spring. Furthermore, he'll get to ride in a Big Spring fire truck.

Santa's treat, and that of the kids, will come to pass here Thursday evening, when members of the Ambassadors Club will greet the jolly old gent and escort him first to the east side of the courthouse at 7 p.m., then to the north side of the Highland Shopping Center for a 7:30 p.m. appearance.

From there, Santa's entourage will move to the College Park Shopping Center near TG&Y at 8 p.m.

The Ambassadors will offer more than escort service. They will distribute candy while Santa is visiting with the children.

Defendant in burglary trial ruled not guilty

By DON WOODS
Curtis Ray Williams, 1518 B Wood, was found not guilty by a 118th District Court jury today around noon in the alleged break-in of the home of Christina Hernandez, on Sycamore St., Aug. 1.

Earlier alleged burglary victim Christina Hernandez testified there was not enough light in her bedroom to clearly see the man who had kicked in her door and attempted to rape her.

"Was there enough light to tell if he was Mexican or Black?" asked District Attorney Rick Hamby Tuesday in the second day of the trial.

"It was the hair. That was the only reason I thought it was a black person — because of the hair," said Mrs. Hernandez. She had the impression that her assailant had on a partially blue cap. The hair stuck out from underneath like a black person's would, she testified.

"Why did you say 'turn on the light,'" asked Hamby.

"I don't know if it was because I couldn't believe what was happening to me, or if it was because I was still asleep," said Mrs. Hernandez. "It was very dark."

She said the man had spoken a slang Spanish phrase when he entered her bedroom meaning, "All right, man," or "Come on man." She said he had seemed to remove his trousers. She said her husband was at work. Her son was sleeping next to her. When she tried to rouse him the intruder threatened to kill them both if she awakened him, she said.

She said a light on her window frightened the man, and she ran out of the house. While attempting to use the phone in a neighbor's house she saw the man run from her kitchen.

She said she had known Williams for some time but that she wouldn't have recognized him from the voice she heard in her room or the fleeing form of her assailant.

She said she had been lonely and desperate prior to a conversion experience in April. She formed associations with disreputable character, she said. She and her husband have been attending church functions since April, she said.

She said she had not indicated the race of her assailant in her statement to police. When confronted with the statement by Defense Attorney Roy Ford, however, she said, "It's not the same statement as I read." She denied saying to police, "The black man said, 'Give me some sex,'" and all references to the race of her assailant.

She later testified that she may have made the statements on basis of information given by Jenny Clark, her neighbor, that she had seen Williams that night near the house. Ms. Clark testified Tuesday in the trial.

Mrs. Hernandez said though she was acquainted with Williams and members of his family she had never been intimate with him.

She testified she had been raped when she was younger and assaulted by a friend of the defendant when she had refused to date him.

Williams testified that he had stayed at Mrs. Hernandez's home through the weekend for a period of three and a half months before she had moved to Abilene. Ford produces a key to Mrs. Hernandez's former home and asked Williams if it was his. He said it was. Williams also said he had two pictures of Mrs. Hernandez. He said he had helped her move to Abilene.

Williams said he couldn't remember being in the neighborhood Aug. 1 but that he had a friend he visited there frequently and could have been there. He recalled he was not arrested until Aug. 25.

He had stopped seeing her when she began dating the brother of her husband, but had visited her on occasions.

He also testified that he didn't own a pair of khaki-colored, or light colored trousers. Ms. Clark testified Tuesday that she had seen Williams near the scene of the burglary, wearing a pair of khaki trousers, 10 minutes before police arrived.

Williams said he was acquainted with Ms. Clark from school. Ms. Clark now works as a teacher's aide at Goliad Middle School.

Hamby asked the defendant under cross examination, "Are you sure you didn't decide, 'I think I'll and see what I can get'?" "No," said Williams.

"Well, where were you?" asked Hamby.

"Home, probably," said Williams.

He said a number of men frequented Mrs. Hernandez's house and that he had met one of them in jail. Three other witnesses for the defense testified that Williams and Mrs. Hernandez had established a "boyfriend-girlfriend" relationship.

Ford and Hamby produced final arguments this morning in the case.

Ford appealed to the jury to adhere to their reason and "not be sheep" led about by the foreman or other member of the panel.

Hamby played down a police report that described the assailant's clothing according to Mrs. Hernandez's description. "This is nothing more than a police report to tell whether or not a case would be taken," he said. The report was written by a "very busy policeman," said Hamby.

The report states the assailant wore blue jean shorts, though Mrs. Hernandez testified she had no idea what he was wearing.

Hamby said Ford "would like you to believe the police browbeat" Mrs. Hernandez into signing a statement containing references to the assailant's race when she insisted she couldn't see him.

Hamby said the key evidence was testimony Tuesday by Jenny Clark and her niece who testified they saw Williams running.

Hamby said the defense establishment of a former relationship with the defendant tries to discredit the victim's testimony, but "only enhances the probability, the logic, of the defendant being there."

INJURED IN WRECK — Mrs. Otis Grafa, P.O. Box 709, is helped by Officers Charles Doan (left) and Jimmy Wallace after her car collided with another driven by Rupert Halbrook, 1111 Wood, 1:58 p.m. Tuesday. Mrs. Grafa sustained a broken right shoulder in the accident, which occurred at East 11th and Birdwell. It was the second accident in 30 minutes in which Halbrook had been involved.

Suspects in inn robbery arrested

Two suspects in the Dec. 3 robbery of Big Spring's Mid Continent Inn were arrested and charged with the crime in Lewisville Tuesday.

Leonard Glenn Fiori and Ernest Frederick Garcia, both in their late teens and both Lewisville residents, were arrested by authorities there in connection with the burglary of a convenience store. According to Detective Avery Falkner, the men are suspected of stealing $1,300 from the safe of a quick-stop store in Lewisville several weeks ago.

"After they were arrested, they 'copped out' to the armed robbery here, as well as one in Riverside, Calif.," said Falkner.

Lewisville police recovered a 12-gauge shotgun thought to have been used in the robbery here, and three rolls of coins that may have come from the Mid Continent's cash register.

The robbery occurred here just after midnight on Dec. 3. Two men reportedly entered the inn, pointed a shotgun at the clerk, and demanded all the money from the cash register.

They then warned the clerk to lie on the floor for three minutes before calling the police, which she did. The suspects had fled before officers arrived at the scene.

Felony charges are dropped

Charges have been dropped against two people accused of felony possession of marijuana.

Apollinar and Emilio Solis, La Grulla, were arrested Monday and Saturday, respectively, and released Tuesday.

Toying around in Christmases past

GOODIES GALORE — St. Nick's bundle of toys grew ever larger during the 19th century, until it became a bottomless cornucopia of goodies, spilling forth a variety of playthings, from horse-drawn carriages to small military arsenals.

By MARY COMBS
Smithsonian News Service

Sixty-three years ago this season, a committee of bureaucratic Scrooges nearly ruined the spirit of Christmas Day. But in the end, like Scrooge, they were captivated by the charm of that very special holiday.

Charged with conserving the nation's resources during World War I, the U.S. Council for National Defense proposed clamping an embargo on the buying and selling of holiday gifts, a plan reminiscent of the spirit of self-denial practiced by the Puritan fathers, who had banned the celebration of Christmas altogether.

The hero of the hour was A.C. Gilbert, inventor of the Erector set and president of a year-old trade association, Toy Manufacturers of the U.S.A. Armed with an assortment of their wares, Gilbert and a representative group of manufacturers set out for Washington to convince the Council that most toys would not drain materials or manpower from the war effort.

The Boston Post reported that Gilbert and company were at first so intimidated by the dignified atmosphere of the office and the seriousness of the Council members that they hurriedly stowed the toys behind a couch. (The boxes already had been efficiently and hilariously inspected by security guards.) Gilbert embarked upon an eloquent defense of the role of toys in molding the patriotic character and skill of American youth.

His audience thus primed, out came the toys, followed by the Council's swift capitulation. According to the Post account, "From the moment he opened them... the secretaries were boys again. Secretary of the Navy) Daniels was as pleased with an Ives submarine as he could be with a new destroyer... he kept fast hold of it... Toys appeal to the heart of every one of us, no matter how old we are," said another cabinet member. And it was because they did... that the boys and girls of the United States are going to awake this Christmas morning upon a day as merry as Christmases in the past."

Those eager middle-aged "boys" were playing with toys barely dreamed of by their great-great-grandparents. And neither generation could have guessed that their playthings — a link to today's line of electronic toys — would end up in the collections of museums such as the Smithsonian Institution.

The 19th century saw the industrialization of America and the growth of the United States from a fledgling nation to a world power. The changes were reflected, and sometimes anticipated, by a parallel growth in the toy world. Mass-production techniques and increasing prosperity and sophistication played a role in this surge, but in the end, youngsters wanted — as always — toys that were copies of things in the real world.

Toys advanced from being generally home creations or imports to the products of large-scale manufacturing enterprises. In 1882 author James Lukin commented: "Talk of the march of the intellect — the march of toydom beats it all hollow: I do not believe a modern baby would look at such rude creations as delighted the babies of 50 years ago... the really instructive and highly interesting toys of our time, the scientific and mechanical ones (were) a class utterly unknown in olden days."

Lukin went on to describe the earliest "mechanical" toys, powered by fine sand poured over a wheel that animated cut out figures. Like almost all early toys, these "rude creations" were made of cardboard or wood. It was the increased use of metal for toys that ushered in the new era in the 1830s and 40s. Metal made possible elegant and detailed shapes and, more importantly, added truly durable wheels and gears to the stock of parts.

By the mid-1840s, the toy business had grown so large that almost every town, no matter how far from the beaten track, had a toy store, or at least a store which sold toys. Woodworth's Fancy Store in New York proudly advertised the arrival of the most popular playthings in December 1844 "by packet from Le Havre — locomotives, mechanical and Automaton toys for children."

Toy manufacturing was interrupted during the Civil War, but emerged from the conflict raring to go. Industry and America were on the move, and soon most toys moved somehow, with the help of wind-up clockwork, friction motors, gravity devices, magnetism and, finally, steam and electricity.

There also was a significant and increasing vogue for realism. Wilkins Toy Works, for example, got its start when one Mr. Wilkins found that his model clothes-wringer sold better than the real thing. Like other enterprising men of the time, Wilkins knew a good thing when he saw it. He plunged into production of small versions of trains, carts, wagons, fire engines — anything that moved.

The second half of the 19th century was the golden age of wind-up toys; steel springs continued to be cheaper and safer than steam or electricity. The period saw the success of such manufacturers as Ives, producer of the realistic submarine the Secretary of the Navy clutched fervently in that meeting room in 1917.

From mid-century, the boom in vehicle toys led to copies of every kind of horse-drawn conveyance, eventually moving from horses to horsepower. One of the first wind-up toy automobiles on the American market — if not the first — was produced in the 1890s by H.T. Kingsley, who simply removed the horse from a sporty carriage model and added a steering wheel.

Animated pull-and-push-toys remained hugely popular. In the 1880s a new variation arrived and considerably raised the noise level on Christmas morning. These toys were fitted with chimes or bells automatically struck as they rolled merrily along.

There was socio-political commentary as well. One popular item during the Spanish-American War was "Uncle Sam and the Don," depicting a fist-fight, with Uncle Sam ultimately sending the foe down for the count with "a solar-plexus blow." A few years later, when Russia and Japan were at war, the manufacturer revived the model with a new paint job — "The Cossack and the Jap." Teddy Roosevelt and the Rough Riders charging up San Juan Hill was also a huge success.

Although electrical motors were sold by themselves and "shocking machines" were a popular novelty, there were no real electrical toys in the 1880s. Steam engines were somewhat less dangerous, running on small quantities of alcohol, and toy steam trains and locomotives were very popular.

The first electric train seems to have been produced in 1896, but the quintessential boy's toy did not come into its own until the new century. In 1903 Joshua Lionel Cowan issued a catalog of model trains featuring a small electric motor of his devising — and Lionel trains chugged into their place in history.

Playthings magazine noted in the same year that electricity had entered the toy world to stay. The new century brought an increasingly heavy burden to St. Nicolas' already straining sack: an electrified doll's house equipped with running water, miniature sewing machines, toy telegraph and telephone sets, toy printing presses, do-it-yourself electric toy kits and endless varieties of wind-up automobiles.

The love affair with motion and speed swiftly moved into a new realm — and model planes appeared hard on the heels of the Wright brothers' flight. Here the toy world began in earnest to anticipate and outstrip the adult reality, as eventually it anticipated man's move into space.

Early mechanical planes were propelled by wind-up spring motors, but by 1921 Sears was carrying one with an electric motor which flew around a pole. As always, manufacturers were at the mercy of the whims of the market. In the early '20s, Kingsbury produced a monoplane which sat on the shelves unnoticed by kids whose heroes were World War I aces in their biplanes. Then Lindbergh flew the Atlantic, and a quick paint job produced the "Spirit of St. Louis." An eventual lull in sales of this item was reversed when Wrong-Way Corrigan flew to Ireland; the planes were painted green and sold like hotcakes.

The Great Depression and the second World War meant the disappearance of many old, established firms and the toys they made. But a new generation swiftly filled the gap. The post-war baby boom brought unprecedented focus on family life and children.

Oldster takes music box

You're never too old to steal. The manager of the Giant Food Store, North Lamesa Drive, reported that she spotted an "elderly gray-haired lady, very neatly dressed," purloin a music box from the store and walk out without paying. The manager followed the geriatric thief into the parking lot, and called for her to stop. But it was too late; she had driven off with the $11.96 music box. Thieves made off with a large truck belonging to Daniel A. Heimbecker, Lubbock, while it was parked in the employees' lot of the Big Spring Veteran's Administration Medical Center, Tuesday afternoon. The truck was valued at $23,000.

STATE WINNER — Tammy J. Peugh, Stanton, was named state winner of the 4-H Home Environment project at the 59th National 4-H Congress, Nov. 30-Dec. 4 in Chicago, Ill. Her award was presented by William G. Weller, president of S&H Motivation. The award included an all-expense paid trip to Chicago and a tour of the Sperry and Hutchinson Company's Chicago facilities to view the automated merchandise distribution system. The National 4-H Home Environment Program has been sponsored for 20 years by the S&H Foundation, Inc.

Vandals slashed two tires on a car belonging to Raymond Buss, 1504 Harding, sometime Tuesday afternoon. Damage was estimated at $100.

Over the weekend, Sarah Higgins, 709 E. 14th, got her car stuck in the mud in an alley between Lincoln and Virginia. When she went back to get the auto, Tuesday, she found that thieves had cut the battery cables and stolen her 12-volt battery. Loss was estimated at $60.

Regina Faulkner, Barcelona Apartments, believes she knows who stole $17 in cash and three silver dollars from her home. The theft occurred Tuesday afternoon.

Vandals smashed a window and screen and damaged the door to the home of Tresa Boykin, 1511-

B Wood, 1:10 a.m. today. Damage was estimated at $70.

An unfortunate Rupert Halbrook, 1111 Wood, was involved in two accidents, resulting in the injury of three persons, within a span of 34 minutes, Tuesday. In the first, Halbrook's car went out of control and struck a guard rail at the intersection of South Scurry and FM 700, 1:24 p.m. Tuesday.

His passenger, A.E. Bailey, 75, 1100 E. 12th, was taken to Hall-Bennett Hospital with minor injuries. He was listed in good condition this morning, and was expected to be released this afternoon.

In the second accident, Halbrook's auto collided with a vehicle driven by Otis Grafa, P.O. Box 709, and a vehicle belonging to Roger Watson, Knott, stopped at a light at 11th and Birdwell, 1:58 p.m. Tuesday.

The fire department's "jaws of life" were needed to extricate Mr. and Mrs. Grafa from their car, and both were taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital. Mrs. Grafa sustained a broken right shoulder and several minor cuts, while Mr. Grafa was slightly cut and bruised from the wreck. Both are listed in satisfactory condition.

Vehicles driven by Donny Christian, Gail Route, and Maria Barrientos, 900 1/2 Goliad, collided on the 900 block of Goliad, 4:14 p.m.

A vehicle driven by David Dominguez, 1605 Canary, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene in the parking lot of the Airport Grocery, 6:45 p.m.

Beatle records are hot items

By ANDREA COHEN
Sales of Beatles and John Lennon albums have skyrocketed in Big Spring since Tuesday morning.

Former Beatle John Lennon, who once said that no one would want to see a 40-year-old Beatle, was gunned down Monday night, at the age of 40, in front of his apartment house on New York's west side.

Bobbie Glickman, owner of The Record Shop on Main Street, said sales of his music have been "great, really good. One guy bought seven of them," she said. "They're not going to quit making them, but people are buying them up now. When Elvis Presley died, we had a big rush on his albums, but they're still selling them."

Glickman says they're selling quite a few albums. She estimates that 55 were sold on Tuesday and her last two were sold out this morning.

"We're going to have to order extra. We might have trouble getting them. I just called Dallas and they're out. But we have other places to order from. We should have more tomorrow.

"It seems when Elvis Presley died, people of all ages came in for his records. With Lennon, it seems to be people in their 20s or early 30s. But everybody feels sorry for him, that he was killed in the prime of his life."

Four albums were left at Tape Town this morning. "Everything else is gone," said Frank Aciri, manager. He estimates that 15 albums were sold Tuesday and another shipment is expected in Thursday. The expected albums, according to Aciri, are all spoken for.

"We usually keep a lot of Beatles and Lennon albums," he added, "but we'll probably stock more than we have."

is selling some. However, the greatest interest is in the new album released last month, which is not in stock yet, according to Dorothy Cotton, department head. "There's an interest, but sales aren't that great," she stated.

"We have quite a few left. We didn't sell more than a half dozen. But we did sell more Beatles albums than usual yesterday. We'll probably order more for Christmas plus Lennon's new one which should be in next week," she added.

TG&Y had three or four in stock Tuesday which were all sold. "Normally we probably wouldn't have sold any," said Lynne McWilliams, department head. "They hadn't been selling."

The store is not able to order extra in time for Christmas but will be ordering more for their next shipment.

Miss Pierce and Stephens will speak their wedding vows Jan. 3 at the Wesley United Methodist Church.

TWEEN 12 and 20

Letter turned her life around

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Monday night was the last straw. I didn't eat anything all day and I started drinking at 2 in the afternoon and continued until I passed out. I've been told that I was very ugly and said some very nasty things. That is where your column comes in. I read the letter from Gary in it and I saw my life.

It was Tuesday morning and I was wondering how I got home, where my wallet and car were. I was a total wreck when I glanced at the Seattle Times and Gary's letter hit me between the eyes. Immediately I realized that booze and pot were controlling and ruining my life. And I decided to never imbibe again.

I have now no desire for anything that would hurt my body and mind. I QUIT. Dr. Wallace, I want you to know that this letter in your column turned my life around. I thank God that I am not seriously injured like Gary was. I know that it's only been a few days but for the first time in my life I know that my getting loaded days are history. In closing, I want to say thank you for printing the letter and thanks to Gary for writing it. My prayers are with him. I want him to know his letter has helped me. I am enclosing a clipping of his letter to refresh your memory. Please return it to me. I'd like to keep it in my wallet. It will serve as my inspiration. — Lisa, Seattle, Wash.

and I am thrilled that you turned your life around. Please keep in touch with me.

Send questions to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, in care of this newspaper. For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 28-cent, stamped, large, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace in care of this newspaper.

NARFE will hear Beel

The National Association of Retired Federal Employees (NARFE), Chapt. 1095, will meet on Thursday at 10 a.m. at the Kentwood Older Adult Activities Center, 2805 Lynn Dr.

Principal speaker will be Vernon E. Bell, newly elected national officer, vice-president, Region VI of NARFE. He will talk on items of special interest to all retired federal employees. Bell is from Lubbock. Mrs. Ada M. Spivey, Midland, District 11 Representative (NARFE) will also be an honored guest, who will give a short talk on events of local interest which took place at the NARFE National Convention in Albuquerque, N.M. in September. The installation of the new officers for 1981 will be conducted at this meeting. The annual Christmas dinner will follow.

Dear Abby

No Return Required For This Xmas Gift

DEAR ABBY: I have had it with all this meaningless gift-giving to people who already have more than enough. Here's a suggestion: Figure out how much you spent last year on Christmas gifts, add 10 percent for inflation, then make out a check in that amount to UNICEF, The Christian Children's Fund or to some other non-profit organization that feeds starving children. To your check, staple your Christmas gift list. Mail. Then to all those on your Christmas gift list, send a card stating, "In the true spirit of this holiday season, a donation in your name has been sent to ()." Be sure to advise them early that you are not sending them a gift this year, so they won't send you one. Sometime between Thanksgiving and Christmas have only a bowl of rice and a glass of water for dinner to remind yourself of how lucky you are to be who you are, living where you are, instead of someone else, living on the other side of the world. Under your unencumbered Christmas tree will be a nice warm glow, guaranteed not to burn your carpet. Enjoy it. Consider the above advantages, plus no racking your brain about what to buy those who already have more than they need, no shopping, no gift-wrapping, and no thank you notes to write. And best of all is knowing that somewhere a child lives who would have died without you. MONEY WHERE MY MOUTH IS

DEAR ABBY: My name is Danny and I am 10 years old. My grandparents always give me and my sister money for Christmas, but it is like getting nothing at all because my mother makes us put it in the bank. Don't you think kids should be able to buy whatever they want with their own Christmas money? GYPPEE IN JACKSONVILLE

DEAR GYPPEE: That depends. If the money is given to "buy a gift of your choice," then you should be able to buy what you want. If it's intended to be put away for your education, or saved for something specific, it should be banked.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15, and can't decide whether to do something or not. The guy whose gym locker is next to mine reads pornographic magazines. He's not allowed to keep them at home, so he stores them in his gym locker. He's got quite a collection, and it's growing. He ran out of room in his locker, so he's asked me to "rent" him space in my locker to store his magazines. I could use a few bucks, but I'm not crazy about keeping this kind of stuff in my locker. It's not real hard-core porno, but it's bad enough. If I kept this stuff in my locker, I doubt that I'd ever get caught, but something tells me not to. What do you think? UNDECIDED

DEAR UNDECIDED: That "something" that tells you not to rent space in your locker to store pornography is good sense. Skip the chance to make a few bucks. And never be a party to any deal you can't feel proud of.

WRIGHTSIL BLOCKED... Big Spring guard Dickie Wrightsil finds out what happens when you're 5'9" and try to go inside, as Lamesa's tough sophomore, Victor Spencer (23) blocks his shot during second quarter action last night in Steer Gym. The block wasn't enough for the visitors, however, as Wrightsil, who scored 14 points, and his teammates took a 67-53 win over the perennially stout Lamesa team.

In best performance of year

Steers put whammy to Lamesa

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

In a locker room speech attended by the local Sports Editor and Photographer, Big Spring Steer boys basketball mentor Ed Haller, after explaining some tactical strategy, gave a short speech. "We can beat these guys tonight. You guys are 200 or 300 times better than last year I know that, Poss knows that, you've just got to believe it."

Believe it they did, as the Steers put on their best performance of the young season against the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes of the legendary Coach O.W. Follis, exploding in the third period en route to a 67-53 non-district triumph.

The Steers never trailed in the contest, although the Lamesa team did manage to tie the contest on numerous occasions. But each time they did, the Big Spring crew would regain the advantage.

Bobby Earl Williams, who did an outstanding job in all phases of the contest, got the Steers ahead early with a 10-4 lead on some inside scoring. Lamesa rallied to tie the game at 15-15, but a pair of buckets in the final 30 seconds of Quarter One, capped by Dickie Wrightsil's bomb at the buzzer, gave the Steers a 19-15 lead.

Lamesa, behind the work of sophomore star Victor Spencer, came back in the second quarter and held their own, with a late Golden Tor bucket tying the contest at 29-29 at the intermission.

But the Steers, a team whose hustle would make any coach proud, came out red hot in the third quarter, and was to be the big difference in the game.

In the opening minute of the second half, Williams hit for a pair of field goals, and Robert Rubio had another to allow the Steers a quick 35-29 lead.

It stayed around that margin for a time, but with two minutes left, Wrightsil and another guard, James Doss, nearly put the game out of reach.

Wrightsil hit three straight long range jumpers and the gambling Doss hit on two lay-ups following steals to vault the Big Spring advantage to 49-36 going into the final stanza.

The Steers scoring froze in the early going of the fourth quarter, but Lamesa guard Joey Froman did not. He canned three straight field goals under heavy pressure, and with 5:45 remaining, the Steers lead had dwindled to 49-44.

But Williams, who jumps higher than most 6'2" performers can dream of, hit a short turnaround shot in which he literally fell to his back in the process of shooting, and seconds later Froman fouled out to help the Bovines regain the momentum.

Wrightsil helped get the Big M back in Big Spring's favor by sinking both ends of the one-and-one off the Froman foul, and the Steers were back up by nine.

Everybody in the line-up got into the act for the Steers at this point, with Williams' driving dunk with 2:25 left and causing a momentary eruption by the Big Spring fans.

contest was matter of academic clockwork.

The Steers benefitted from a well-balanced attack, with Doss leading the way with 16 points. Williams and Wrightsil connected for 14, with Fletcher Johnson adding 13. This was no doubt pleasing to Haller, who hopes for more of the same in the remainder of the season.

"This was the best overall game that we have played in my two years here," Haller said following the win over the always tough Lamesa team. "The big thing tonight was that both the inside and outside people played well.

In our games thus far this season, if the inside players well, the outside doesn't, and vice versa. But not tonight." The Steers won the rebounding war against the slightly taller Lamesa team, which was fresh from winning the Chief Challenge Tournament in San Angelo the past weekend. Williams, the versatile junior who led District 5-A-A-A-A in the rushing stats during the football season, also had 15 rebounds and blocked five Lamesa shots. Johnson added 10 rebounds for the Steers.

Spencer paced the Lamesa team with 23 points, with Froman adding 12.

The win gives the Steers a record of 4-3. They will play Borger on Thursday in the first round of the Canyon Reef Tournament in Snyder. Borger should provide as tough a competition as the Big Spring team has faced thus far.

"Hey, they're supposed to be tougher than mustard gas," said Haller. "But I think we can be competitive with about anybody if we get an all around effort like tonight. We had guys scratching, grabbing and really helping each other out on defense."

The loss for Lamesa was only their second of the year after six wins.

Forsan, Klondike split two

FORSAN — Forsan and Klondike split a pair of basketball games here Tuesday night between varsity units of the two schools.

The Forsan girls, undefeated with a record of 6-0, warmed up to defend their title in the prestigious Hawk Queen High School Classic in Big Spring this weekend by scoring a narrow 44-43 win over a taller Klondike team.

Post performer Christi Adams was a one-woman scoring machine for the Buffalo Queens, posting 23 points. But much of her scoring was due to the excellent passing from the likes of Joni Poyner, Karla Cregar and Monica Dyess.

Forsan Coach Ron Taylor also had words of praise for the defensive efforts of Lana Grantham, who had seven steals to help stop the Klondike attack.

Sisters Dana and Cynthia Cave led Klondike with 14 and 13 points, respectively. Klondike is now 3-0 on the year.

The Klondike boys evened the score with the Forsan school, however, taking a 64-45 win. The contest was close until halftime, but the Cougars took control in the second half.

The boys game was even from the field, with both squads connecting on 22 field goals. But Klondike connected on 20 free throws, while Forsan managed only one.

Forsan drops to 4-2 with the setback, while Klondike, still only a week and a half from ending their football season, is 2-2.

Randy Holcombe led Klondike with 23 points, with Clay Holcombe adding 12. Rickey Bedwell had 14 points for Forsan.

In the boys JV game, Klondike scored a 50-48 overtime win. Trevino led the Klondike JVs with 18 points, while Mitch Gill had 17 and Daniel Bristo 15 for the Forsan team.

Both the Forsan and Klondike girls teams are among early favorites in the Hawk Queen High School Classic, which will feature some of the outstanding girls teams in the state. Forsan opposes El Paso Hanks at 2:00 p.m. Thursday, the Klondike meets El Paso Irvin at 11:00 p.m. the same day.

Coahoma tough on Ballinger

COAHOMA — Coahoma basketball teams played like the bully here last night, sweeping all four games with the Ballinger Bearcats in non-district affairs.

The boys game was a rematch of the district title game last year between the two schools. That won't happen this year, as the UIL realigned the two schools in separate districts.

Ballinger won the district title game last year over the Bulldogs, but not this time around, as Phillip Ritchey and Michael Myer led the Coahoma team to a measure of revenge in a 63-49 triumph.

Ritchey scored 18 points and Myer added 17 in the contest, which boosts the Coahoma boys record to 4-1.

Elliot paced Ballinger with 18 points. "We didn't play that good offensively in the first half," said Coahoma Coach Doug Harriman. "We're still having too many offensive turnovers and cold shooting hurts, too."

"But we're still playing pretty good defense," said Harriman. "Nobody has scored 50 points on us this year, so we're doing okay in that department."

The Coahoma girls increased their record to 5-2 with a 65-43 blitzing of Ballinger. Andrea Fowler led the way for the Coahoma girls, pouring in 25 points. Darla Henry added 13.

Piel had 13 for Ballinger.

Fowler had made the All-Tournament team last weekend at the McCarney Tournament, Coahoma finished third in that event.

In boys JV action, Coahoma took a 57-55 win when Brad Fryar hit a field goal at the buzzer in the second overtime period. The Bulldog JV team is now 2-0.

Ricky Martin had 15 for the Coahoma JVs, with Fryar adding 13. Brett Sterling 12 and Jim Rinard 11.

The Coahoma girls JV scored a 47-31 win behind a 12-point effort from Vicki Buchanan.

BOYS GAME
COAHOMA (63) — Harmon 4-0-8; Tucker 0-4-4; Clanton 2-0-4; Ritchey 8-9-18; Hall 1-0-2; Meyer 6-5-17; Whitworth 5-8-10; TOTALS 56-11-63

BALLINGER (49) — Manley 7-0-14; Willingham 4-1-9; Fuchs 2-2-6; Quarles 1-0-2; Elliot 5-8-18; TOTALS 19-11-49

Forsan girls win tourney

FORSAN — The Forsan High School basketball teams play host to Klondike tonight in non-district basketball action.

The Forsan girls are coming off a championship in the Garden City Tournament the past weekend, and will no doubt be warming up to defend their title this weekend in the Hawk Queen High School Classic, slated for Thursday through Saturday in Dorothy Garrett

Runnels White wins in OT

The Runnels White boys basketball team, after trailing for most of the game, rallied in the final seconds of regulation to tie the contest, then took a 40-35 win over the Snyder Gold squad in overtime here Monday evening.

Paul Prudhomme scored only two points in the contest, but they were plenty big in tying the game at 35-35 with only two seconds remaining in regulation.

The Runnels crew then outscored the Snyder team by 5-0 in the overtime period to take the win. Arthur Jackson scored 12 points to lead the Yearlings, with Jay Pirkle adding 11 points and 14 rebounds.

Anderson paced the Snyder Gold team with 12 points. The Runnels Red team was not as fortunate, however, as they dropped a 49-38 decision.

Doug Walker had 12 points for the Red team, with Richard Thompson adding eight and Freddie Rodriguez and Jose Arenidaz four each.

The Runnels White team is now 1-1 on the year, while the Red team is 0-2. They both return to action at home on January 5 against Sweet-water.

WTC rallies for one-point win

Lyonless ending spells cold loss for Queens

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

Howard College All-American candidate Kelly Lyons fouled out of the game with 2:07 remaining, and with that, the rest of the Hawk Queens found the nets to be totally unfriendly, as the Western Texas Dusters scored seven unanswered points in the final two minutes of the contest to take an exciting 58-57 win here Monday evening at Garrett Coliseum in a Western Conference girls game.

In fact, the WTC lead was only the second that they enjoyed in the second half, but it came at the time that matters the most. The end. After the two teams played very closely in the first half, the Hawk Queens managed a narrow 26-25 intermission advantage.

But in the opening minutes of the final half, the Howard College women of Coach Don Stevens erupted for a 36-27 lead. But with 16:20 left, Lyons was whistled for her fourth foul, and the Hawk Queens mentor quickly put her on the bench to save her for the final minutes.

Stevens no doubt hoped that the Queens could hold the lead without Lyons. They did, but not before the visiting Dusters narrowed the margin to 46-45 with 7:28 to play.

At this point, Howard College's other big inside player, 6'1" Melissa Luna, drew her fourth personal foul. Stuck between a rock and a hard spot, Stevens replaced Luna with Lyons.

After the Dusters' Valerie Wells sank both free throws off the Luna foul for a momentary 47-46 WTC lead, Lyons led her team back.

She quickly sank a free throw and then canned a short jumper for a 49-47 lead, with consecutive buckets by Kellie Mull. Cynthia Robinson and Lyons over the next three minutes giving the Hawk Queens a 55-47 lead with just over four minutes remaining.

But WTC refused to fold.

Wells and Linda Holubec hit field goals to narrow the Howard lead to 55-51, but Lyons answered with a successful shot of her own for a 57-51 advantage.

Lyons, however, drew her decisive fifth personal only seconds later with only 2:07 showing, and the Queens were not to score again.

It wasn't as though they didn't have chances to, however. After WTC scored three points to bring the score to 57-54, they fouled Mull. A usually accurate shooter, Mull missed both free throw opportunities, and WTC quickly brought the ball up and scored on a Shari Teal layup.

Following a steal, WTC put what proved to be the clincher on the board with 1:10 remaining, with Wells getting the honors on a short jumper.

Still, the Queens would have chances. The first came when Luna missed a pair of free throws with less than a minute remaining, and the second opportunity that failed came when a Mull jumper from the side bounced off the rim and into the hands of Teal.

The Dusters couldn't score this time, giving the Hawks a final chance to win the game. But Holubec stole a Hawk Queen pass and was quickly fouled with only eight seconds remaining.

An injury timeout forced the Dusters, who were out of regulation time-outs, to replace Holubec with Cindy Rodolph.

She missed the free throw on a one-and-one opportunity, but the ever present Teal snatched the carom and held onto the ball until time expired.

The heartbreaking loss was only the second one for the Hawk Queens in 12 games this year, and even their conference record at 1-1. WTC is now 2-0 in conference play and 13-2 on the year.

The Hawk Queens outscored WTC by 54-44 from the field, but it was the charity line that proved to be the final difference. WTC connected on a respectable 14 of 22 from the free throw line, while the Howard College women could manage a very poor three of 11 performance.

It was not a good shooting night from the field for either team, but one player unaffected was Hawk Queens freshman Robinson, who canned 18 points. Mull added 12 for the Hawk Queens, with Lyons and Luna chipping with 11 and 10 points, respectively.
