Air Force describes MX effects as 'manageable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Air Force today released its long-awaited study of the impact on Utah and Nevada of deploying the proposed MX missile system, and described the effects as "manageable."

Air Force Undersecretary Antonia Chayes told reporters that, "while the impacts may appear severe when viewed from the perspective of a little-developed area of the country, from a national perspective — and MX is a national program — the impacts are not that large."

Briefing reporters in advance of the report's release, she called the impact statement a comprehensive and exhaustive study that can guide policymakers in their final decisions on the MX.

But congressional critics were less charitable, describing the 1,900-page report as "the same old euphemisms suggesting that there is no problem too large for the Air Force to solve."

And representatives of 13 environmental organizations announced at a news conference they have asked President-elect Ronald Reagan "to give serious consideration to cancelling the MX program."

They said in a letter to Reagan that the project "will lead to unparalleled environmental destruction. Tens of thousands of square miles will be affected and valuable resources depleted."

Several of the biggest environmental groups, including the Sierra Club and the National Audubon Society, said they are concerned only about the missile system's environmental impact, but some of the other organizations said they are concerned about the weapon itself.

Rafe Pomerance, president of Friends of the Earth, said, "We are as well concerned about the nuclear arms race. The MX has the potential of speeding up the arms race and making a nuclear exchange more probable."

The report reaffirms the Air Force's preference for the desert valleys of Utah and Nevada for deploying the planned $34 billion missile system.

The $17 million study envisions thousands of construction workers, their families and related workers flooding into Utah and Nevada during the peak MX construction years in the mid- to late-1980s.

The study says 85,000 people will be added to the region during that time, with a permanent population increase of about 31,000.

Ms. Chayes said that the predicted MX impact, while "not negligible," are "certainly...manageable."

Communities will be hard pressed to provide services, and will need federal assistance, the study says. Scarce water supplies will be stretched thin. Water may have to be imported from other regions.

But Ms. Chayes said none of the drawbacks is drastic enough to scuttle the project. And none, she asserted, is severe enough to overcome the strategic need for a new missile system.

The MX is touted by officials as the successor to the present Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile system. They say the Minuteman is becoming increasingly vulnerable to Soviet attack.

The MX system would consist of 200 missiles mounted on portable launchers that would shuttle among some 4,600 reinforced shelters in a "shell game" intended to confuse Soviet missile targeters.

The MX may be scuttled by President-elect Ronald Reagan when he takes office. But Ms. Chayes said Carter administration defense planners are going ahead with the MX planning as far as possible and will "leave it up to them to make up their minds."

While Ms. Chayes described the environmental study as complying "in spirit and in detail" with the National Environmental Policy Act, Rep. Jim Santini, D-Nev., congressman demanded a congressional investigation of what he said were the report's shortcomings.

Santini complained that the report was inadequate in describing energy requirements, effects on tourism, water overdrafts, housing shortages and problems of community services.

Directors of Chrysler approve survival plan for corporation

NEW YORK (AP) — Directors of Chrysler Corp., which expects to lose $200 million in the final three months of this year, today approved a survival plan for the automaker that includes wage freezes and an additional $400 million in federally guaranteed loans.

Chrysler Chairman Lee A. Iacocca told reporters following the board meeting in New York that the plan was approved unanimously by the directors. Only Douglas Fraser, president of the United Auto Workers union, failed to attend the meeting.

Chrysler Vice President Wendell Larsen told reporters the application to the Chrysler Loan Guarantee Board would not be made today, as spokesmen had said earlier, but could occur within a few days. He said the board had not asked for the application, and Chrysler was awaiting that request.

Larsen said Chrysler expects to lose about $200 million in the final quarter of 1980, a loss that would boost its 1980 deficit to $1.7 billion, more than any American corporation has ever lost in a year.

At a news conference in Highland Park, Mich., on Wednesday, Iacocca said the No. 3 automaker probably can stay afloat through January, but "has no future" after that unless it gets the $400 million in government-guaranteed loans.

Chrysler is confident of conditional approval for the guarantees. Iacocca said, "I would hope to get a signal to say that this plan looks terrific and it's viable; let's get on with it," he said.

The automaker already has received $800 million in loan guarantees out of the $1.5 billion Congress first authorized last year when the loan guarantee board was created. Each time Chrysler wants more loan guarantees, it must get approval from the board.

To get that approval for the $400 million, Chrysler has undertaken a far-ranging, money-saving survival program.

As part of that plan, Chrysler is asking the United Auto Workers to agree to a 22-month wage freeze that would hold the hourly wage at $17.50 through September 1982. The wage otherwise would rise to $22.11 an hour.

All the company can offer workers in exchange for that concession is "their jobs," Iacocca said.

McMeans submits resignation as Stanton superintendent

STANTON — Russell McMeans has resigned as superintendent of schools of the Stanton Independent School District, effective June 30, 1981.

"This was a real hard decision to make," McMeans said, in announcing his decision, "but it is something I knew was coming. Now I can dedicate my attention to one specialized area of education."

McMeans has accepted a position as Special Education Director, 87-20 Co-op, with the Texas Education Agency. He will head the co-op which takes care of special education needs for six school systems — including Stanton, Grady, Forsan, Coahoua, Garden City and Greenwood. His office will be in Big Spring.

McMeans has been superintendent of schools in Stanton since July 1966, at which time he moved here from Imperial.

He graduated from high school in San Angelo and attended San Angelo College, then graduated from Sul Ross University in Alpine in 1955 with his B.S. and M.Ed. degrees.

He was coach and principal at Van Horn and then principal and superintendent at Imperial before to his move to Stanton.

The Stanton school board is now accepting applications to seek a replacement for McMeans. Applications will be received until Jan. 10, 1981. At that time, the board will begin screening applicants from the resumed received.

Kidnappers free 'kin of wealthy man

ROME (AP) — Barbara Piattelli, daughter of the king of Italian men's fashions, was freed after 11 months in the hands of kidnapers. She told police she spent much of the time in a cave but was not treated "too badly."

Authorities had frozen the Piattelli assets to prevent payment of ransom, and it was not immediately known if any cash changed hands.

The 27-year-old daughter of multimillionaire Bruno Piattelli was described by police as "extremely exhausted but unharmed."

Carter to leave national Christmas tree unlit

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter, dedicating the national Christmas tree tonight, has decided to again leave it unlit to honor the 52 Americans who may have to spend their second Christmas as hostages in Iran.

But the president's action to keep the tree dark for a second straight year may not meet with universal approval from hostage families.

If it were up to her, said Louisa Kennedy, wife of hostage Moorehead Kennedy, the tree would be lit. "I think it should be lit because it's there for many other reasons," she said Dec. 2, the day hostage wife Penne Laingen was hoisted in a crane and placed the crowning ornament atop the tree. Her husband is L. Bruce Laingen, who was charge d'affaires in Tehran when the embassy was seized.

"It's an institution that should go on the way all our institutions should go on, regardless of what takes place in Iran," Mrs. Kennedy said.

Hostage family members will participate in the ceremony dedicating the living 30-foot blue spruce, which has served as the national Christmas tree since 1978.

Parnell loses bid

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Kenneth Parnell has lost a bid to have kidnapping charges dismissed in the abductions of two boys.

The state Supreme Court on Wednesday refused, without comment, to dismiss the charges. Parnell is charged with kidnapping Stephen Stayner, now 14, from Merced in 1972 and with kidnapping Timmy White, 5, from Ukiah last February.

In March, Stayner led the younger boy to police from the home where they were living. Parnell said in a petition to the Supreme Court that he had suffered violations of his right to due process and had suffered unconstitutionally cruel and unusual punishment.

Store boycott urged

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Black leaders upset with the progress of an investigation into the slayings of six black men have called for a three-day boycott of downtown stores to dramatize their concern.

The Rev. Will Brown, who is organizing the protest, said the boycott could pressure authorities to do a better job. He asked blacks and "other concerned citizens" to refrain from buying Dec. 22-24.

District Attorney Edward Cosgrove said he sympathized with the frustrations of the Black Leadership Forum, but said he could not comment on the progress of the investigation for fear of jeopardizing its success. Four black men were slain by a white gunman in September and two black cab drivers were killed in October.

Earthquake in Pacific

SEATTLE (AP) — An earthquake centered in the Pacific Ocean 250 miles west of Vancouver, British Columbia, registered 6.7 on the Richter Scale, but apparently caused no damage, authorities said.

The earthquake was recorded at 8:22 a.m. PST Wednesday, according to Russell Needham, a geophysicist with the U.S. Geological Survey in Boulder, Colo. The International Tsunami Information Center in Honolulu said there were no reports of unusual waves or tides caused by the quake.

In a populated area, an earthquake registering 6 on the open-ended Richter scale can cause severe damage.

Navy jet crashes

TOKYO (AP) — A U.S. Navy jet on a training flight from the aircraft carrier Midway crashed at sea 124 miles off the east coast of Japan, but the pilot bailed out safely and was rescued, a Navy spokesman said.

The unidentified pilot of the A7E Corsair was rescued by the Midway Wednesday evening after spending 10 minutes in the water, said a spokesman at the U.S. Navy Base at Yokosuka, southwest of Tokyo. There was no immediate word on the cause of the crash.

Nuclear test fired

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — After a week's delay because of bad weather, an underground nuclear test has been fired at the Nevada Test Site, about 115 miles northwest of Las Vegas.

The device tested Wednesday in a project sponsored by the United States and Great Britain had a yield of between 20,000 and 150,000 tons of high explosives, the Department of Energy said.

The test had been scheduled for Dec. 10.

CURE director says judge won't allow new prison

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A prisoner lobbyist predicts a federal judge who has ruled that Texas does a bad job running its prisons will prevent the state from building a new penitentiary near Navasota.

"(U.S. District Judge William Wayne) Justice is going to stop that prison from ever being built. Anyone who has read the opinion and not come to that conclusion has not read the opinion," said Charles Sullivan, director of Citizens United for Rehabilitation of Errants (CURE).

In an opinion issued last week, Justice listed a long series of problems within the Texas Department of Corrections. On Tuesday, the Prison Approval Board, chaired by Gov. Bill Clements, voted to buy 5,968 acres in Grimes County.

The land is intended for use as a new prison to relieve overcrowding in the prisons, cited by Justice as a major cause of the TDC problems.

"More prisons seem to be the initial response so far by the political leaders to Judge Justice's challenge. For many reasons, I don't think this response is supported by the people of Texas," Sullivan told a news conference Wednesday.

"Texans not only believe in swift and certain punishment for crime, but also believe in a second chance and rehabilitation. When they discover that the prison system has been conning them, they will reform it," he said.

Sullivan called on Clements to show the state's intent to improve the prisons by freeing some inmates during the Christmas season.

"It's Christmas time, traditionally a time to release prisoners," Sullivan said. The former Roman Catholic priest said he envisioned a selective parole process, "not a wholesale exodus," to show an intent to cut down overcrowding.

Inmates who twice have been recommended for parole, but have been rejected by Clements, should be reconsidered before the end of the year, Sullivan said.

David Ruiz, the inmate who filed the suit that could lead to vast changes in TDC, is among those who twice have won recommendation for parole, only to have it denied by Clements.

Ruiz is now in a California federal prison.

"It would be a signal to the prisoners and their families that the state is sincere and trying to find a reasonable way to meet Judge Justice's challenge," Sullivan said of his proposed holiday parole program.

Yamani says Soviets want Middle East oil fields

CANBERRA, Australia (AP) — Saudi Arabia's oil minister, Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, declared today that the Soviet Union's target is the Middle East oil fields.

Yamani told the National Press Club that Soviet military involvement in the Horn of Africa, Afghanistan and South Yemen showed what the Kremlin goal was.

"Their target is the oil fields, because sooner or later they will need the oil for themselves and for their satellites," he said.

Yamani urged the United States to strengthen its allies in the Middle East to counter the Soviet thrust, but said the Pentagon should avoid establishing a military base in the area.

He said the Soviets could use such a base as justification to move into the Persian Gulf area, and that would only bring "more heat to an area already inflamed."

PRELIMINARY WORK UNDER WAY — Graders are already on the scene at the extension of a shopping center in southeast Big Spring. Anchored by the K-Mart Store, the center will house 35 new stores in all and will be built between Birdwell Lane and Miami Avenue just off FM 700. The Houston firm of Aimbinder and Bramalea drew up plans for the center.

Chlorine linked to cancer in study

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chlorine, the chemical that keeps 80 percent of America's drinking water free of disease, has been linked to several types of cancer in a new study.

The report on "Drinking Water and Cancer," released Wednesday by the President's Council on Environmental Quality, found that death statistics in five states provided fresh evidence to support "an association between rectal, colon and bladder cancer" and chlorinated water.

But officials of the Environmental Protection Agency — which sets the country's drinking water standards — said the new study did nothing to change their position that the benefits of chlorine far outweigh the risks.

Indeed, study researchers conceded the study did not take into account other factors that could alter cancer death rates, including smoking and diet.

The use of chlorine in city water systems became widespread early in the century. The chemical kills a variety of disease-carrying organisms, including bacteria that carry cholera and typhoid germs.

"Chlorine is a very effective disinfectant. It has saved countless thousands of lives," said Dr. Joseph Cotruvo of the EPA.

The study was a follow-up to a 1977 report by the National Academy of Sciences, which raised the first scientific questions of cancer threats from chlorinated water.

The new studies analyzed death statistics in Illinois, Louisiana, New York, North Carolina and Wisconsin to see if cancer rates differed between people who drank chlorinated water and those who did not.

The study said the chance of dying from rectal cancer rose between 13 percent and 97 percent and noted slightly lower increases for the other two types of cancer among groups that drank chlorinated water.

That would mean if 20 persons in a population of 100,000 that did not drink chlorinated water died of rectal cancer, the level of deaths among chlorine water drinkers could be expected to increase to between 22 and 38.

While the study found up to a two-fold increase in cancer deaths among people who drank chlorinated water, by comparison, smokers have 10 times the chance of developing lung cancer as non-smokers.

Dr. Robert Harris, one of three members of the Council on Environmental Quality, said the study provides "significant evidence of increased cancer risks from drinking chlorinated water which should be of concern."

Assessing the study, EPA Assistant Administrator Victor Kim, in charge of its drinking water program, said the agency took steps in November to lessen risks from chlorine by requiring cities to reduce the level of chlorination by-products in water — known as trihalomethanes. The EPA has given cities a year to cut those levels to 100 parts per billion.

Harris said the new standard is a good start but he called on the agency to tighten the requirement. He said the public needs to find out the level of trihalomethanes in its drinking water and, if it is above the EPA limits, consider using bottled water or buying a filter.

Mark Shеды added to staff

By CAROL HART

The board of directors of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce noted that the Chamber is now debt-free during Wednesday's monthly meeting.

Jimmy Taylor, outgoing president of the Chamber, was lauded for curbing the chamber's debts. Taylor thanks the Ambassadors, the community, and chamber executive director LeRoy Tillery.

"These are the people who got the chamber in the black," Taylor said.

Mark Shеды was introduced to the board as a new member of the Chamber staff. Shеды will serve as assistant manager.

Skipper Driver, Joe Pickle and Johnnie Lou Avery were recognized as three members leaving the board. Taylor thanked them for their contributions.

A centennial celebration, which will mark the 100th anniversary of the arrival of the railroad in Big Spring, has been tentatively set for May 19-28, 1981, said John Taylor, chairman of the centennial committee.

Taylor said that $58,000 has been allotted for financing the celebration. A finance committee is studying ways to raise the money, led by John Currie.

Organizing the celebration will be the John B. Rogers Producing Company, headquartered in Pittsburgh, Penn. The Rogers company also organized a celebration in Howard County during the 1940s. Taylor said "The Rogers company claims they have never failed to make enough money to make a profit" on such events.

A change in the policy of auditing the chamber every year was approved by Board members. Sid Clark, chamber treasurer, said "I see no need for a yearly audit," and added that accounts for the Chamber of Commerce would be studied as required by the board of directors.

Eddie Nicholson, the "rockin' chair philosopher" from Lubbock, will speak during the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, it was announced. Tickets will sell for $10. The banquet is set for Feb. 7.

Terry Hanson was announced as president of the Ambassadors Club during the meeting. Other officers will be Louis Tallant, vice president, and Mel Prather, treasurer. The Ambassadors serve as the official greeters for the chamber.

The 1981 budget was presented by Sid Clark. A breakdown of the budget showed that operations for 1981 will be allowed expenditures of $18,500. This compares to $24,150 budgeted for last year.

Administration will operate with $50,880, Clark said. This includes an 11 percent salary increase for chamber employees. Last year, administration was allotted $47,420.

Under programs, $2,900

Chamber now debt-free was allotted, comparing to $2,450 last year. The tourist and convention branch of the chamber will operate with $30,000, as will the industrial development branch. This totals out to $132,280. Anticipated receipts for the chamber are targeted at $135,125, said Clark. This money will come from membership drives, the industrial foundation, the city and the county.

George Weeks, director of the economic development council, told chamber directors that a drive is on seeking approval from the railroad commission to let United Parcel Service make deliveries from Dallas to Big Spring. The Railroad Commission does not allow this at this time, he noted.

Dr. John Key, director of the public affairs council, urged board members to write their congressmen concerning legislation which would disqualify deductions concerning lobbyists. He noted a letter which said the Internal Revenue Service published a notice of proposed rule making concerning deductibility of expenditures for attempts to influence legislation.

The letter, from the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, added that "if adopted, these regulations will adversely affect chambers of commerce, trade associations and corporations." Chamber directors were urged to voice their opinion on the legislation.

Police Beat $2,466 burglary reported

The burglary of thousands of dollars worth of equipment from the Goodyear Store, 408 Runnels, was discovered this morning.

Police arrested a Hobbs, N.M. man, 9:10 p.m. Wednesday, at the intersection of Goliad and FM 700. During a routine inventory of Brit J. Viterback's personal belongings, the arresting officers found a small quantity of hashish in the front seat of his car. He faces charges of possession of a controlled substance.

Vandals tore 10 sheets of asbestos siding from the wall of the Gospel Tabernacle Church, 1905 Scurry, sometime Wednesday morning. They also tore a window screen and wrecked a wooden fence there, causing a total of $400 worth of damage.

A local man is listed in stable condition at Malone-Hogan Hospital after an apparent suicide attempt, 9:35 p.m. Wednesday. According to reports, the man had ingested 50 Anacin tablets.

Thieves broke a window in a 1976 Datsun pickup belonging to Jerry Bennett, 510 Douglas, Wednesday morning. After gaining entrance to the vehicle, they stole a .22 caliber rifle, bringing the total loss to $190.

Zirah Bednar to be honored at courthouse

Zirah Bednar, retiring county tax assessor-collector, will be honored with a party from 2-5 p.m. Friday, on the second floor of the Howard County Courthouse.

The party is being sponsored by "the whole courthouse," said Dorothy Moore, tax assessor-collector elect. Mrs. Moore added that Howard County residents are welcomed to attend the party honoring Mrs. Bednar.

Mrs. Bednar's last day in office will be Dec. 31.

City's sales tax rebate reaches $1,082,197

The city's sales tax allocation for the previous month dropped sharply compared to the same month last year.

The check totaled only $65,618.31, compared to $152,775.27 during November of 1979. Nonetheless, the city's total for 1980 came to $1,082,197.76, well above the $887,709.55 total for the same period last year.

Big Spring was not alone. All other area cities also experienced a drop in allocation payments.

Coahoma's check diminished from $3,025.99 for the month last year to $1,122.31 for the same month this year. Colorado City fell from $21,711.94 to $7,989.76; Lamesa from $52,764.65 to $18,080.95; and Stanton from $5,256.69 to $1,029.94.

Although the area monthly totals may look rather bleak, the totals for the year statewide showed a marked increase.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said the month's city sales tax payments to Texas cities will bring 1980 totals to more than $960 million.

Bullock said his office is sending $33.5 million in payments to cities who levy the one-percent optional city sales tax this month.

The rebates to Texas cities is $93.5 million more than was distributed among Texas cities during 1979, an average increase of more than 20 percent.

Houston's final check this year will be for $7.8 million, bringing that city's total this year to $116.1 million, a 19 percent increase over 1979.

Dallas will get $4 million, boosting that city's 1980 total to $65.1 million, a $10 million increase over the previous year.

Thatcher appeals for end of hunger strike

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher today urged convicted Irish fasters to give up their 53-day-old hunger strike as one of them was reported near death.

The statement came shortly after the government's Northern Ireland Office said that the condition of seven of the 40 hunger strikers was deteriorating.

Speaking at the House of Commons in London, Mrs. Thatcher urged the hunger strikers to "take the course of life rather than the course of death."

But the Conservative leader repeated her tough line that she will not meet their demand for status as political prisoners rather than criminals, saying, "There is no further way we can go."

She declared the hunger strike "has totally and utterly failed" and stressed that the government has made "all possible contingency plans" to combat a wave of expected Irish Republican Army reprisals in Northern Ireland and on the British mainland if any of the hunger-strikers dies.

"Belfast is as taut as a tightrope," one senior police commander said. Authorities have put security forces on full alert.

There was no immediate reaction from the hunger strikers nor their supporters outside Northern Ireland's prisons. But relatives of the men stressed Wednesday night that none of the seven is ready to give up despite their worsening conditions.

Pet lovers plan meeting

Friends of animals are planning on meeting in the near future to discuss what can be done toward improving animal shelter facilities maintained by the city.

The pet lovers expressed disappointment over the defeat of Proposition 6 in the recent Big Spring bond election, which would have provided funds for construction of a shelter.

The proposition lost by a margin of 500 votes.

Those who would like to participate in a campaign to have such a shelter built can call Ernestine Davis at 394-4870.

Poles receive Christmas meat rationing cards

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Authorities began issuing meat rationing cards for the Christmas holidays this week, the first such cards seen here since the years immediately after World War II and a further sign of Poland's severe economic woes.

The cards will apply only to meat purchased during the rest of December and are not part of a previously announced rationing program that begins in February.

A government move to eliminate costly meat subsidies raised prices in July and prompted a wave of nationwide strikes that spanned a major union-government confrontation and brought the still-present possibility of Soviet intervention.

The strikers demanded a meat rationing plan to stop the diversion of meat to the high-priced black market. The official press has blamed shortages of meat and other consumer goods on hoarding and the black market. Prior to the strikes, meat exports were a major source of hard currency but such exports have been restricted since the strike ended.

Every Pole, regardless of age, will be entitled to purchase 500 grams, or 1.1 pound of choice meat and 800 grams, or 1.76 pounds of ham or choice smoked meats under the Christmas-time rationing plan.

Officials imposed a limit of 1.5 kilograms, or 3.3 pounds per buyer on lower quality meats other than pork, though in reality Poles cannot be sure of finding that much meat in the shops.

Another limit of 1.5 kilograms was imposed on sausage purchases.

Officials said that Poles who don't use the cards before the Christmas holidays can use them later without specifying a time limit.

Newspapers published lists of selected shops where the coupons could be turned in for meat purchases and said the shops would also sell meat on Sunday and the one day a week they are now closed to conserve supplies. That day varies from city to city.

Reagan at work filling remaining Cabinet posts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan still can't make up his mind who to pick for the rest of his Cabinet, say sources on the president-elect's transition team.

While Reagan was trying to round out his Cabinet, his chief of staff, James Baker, told reporters in Washington on Wednesday that Reagan is "seriously considering" declaring an "economic emergency" shortly after he takes office Jan. 20.

Baker said Reagan and his advisers feel "it's extremely important to act quickly and decisively" on economic matters. He also said Reagan would probably ask for changes in the fiscal 1981 budget already approved by Congress. The 1981 fiscal year began Oct. 1.

Baker's comments came several weeks after a call last month by Rep. David Stockman, R-Mich., for an aggressive legislative program of tax and spending cuts during the first 100 days of Reagan's term.

Gov. James B. Edwards is in line to become energy secretary, according to his secretary, Lil Jenkins, who said he had been offered the post by Reagan and had accepted. The appointment of Edwards would mollify southerners who had complained there were no southerners among the first 10 Cabinet appointments.

Richard Lyng, former president of the American Meat Institute, reportedly was in line to become secretary of agriculture, but some sources said his selection might still be in doubt.

U.S. civilian advisor killed in fighting in El Salvador

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — A U.S. civilian advisor to El Salvador's national police force was shot and killed by a "subversive," authorities said. He was the fifth American slain in this violence-torn nation in two weeks.

The killing of the adviser, identified as Thomas Bracken of Las Vegas, Nev., came hours after the State Department announced it was resuming the aid it cut off to El Salvador after the murder of three U.S. nuns and a U.S. missionary Dec. 2.

The three American nuns and the woman missionary were killed Dec. 2. The government said they were victims of right-wing terrorists. Some 9,000 people have been killed in El Salvador this year in continuing violence between the left and right.

The State Department announced Wednesday that a $20 million economic assistance program "critically needed to maintain the Salvadoran economy and avoid food shortages" was resuming because the Carter administration considered the recent restructuring of El Salvador's junta a "positive development which can bring greater efficiency and a stronger, more unified civilian control over the government."

Press reports said Bracken was investigating the disappearance on Tuesday of the president of the National Coffee Institute, Rene Alejandro Machon Rivera, who was kidnapped at gunpoint in San Antonio Abad, a northern suburb.

The armed forces said Bracken was killed Wednesday on a street in a poor neighborhood of San Salvador. It was not known what happened to his killer. Elsewhere in the capital, a bomb exploded in the Bank of America office causing serious damage but no injuries.

No group claimed responsibility, and it was not known if the two attacks were related. The U.S. Embassy said it did not know what Bracken was doing in the country. An embassy spokesman said he had no information that Bracken was in any way connected with the U.S. government. He added the embassy was advised Bracken was working under a private arrangement as a police consultant.

Parachute recovery system blamed for missile crash

POINT MUGU, Calif. (AP) — A parachute recovery system has been blamed by the Navy for the crash of a Tomahawk cruise missile into the ocean off San Clemente Island shortly after takeoff.

The cigar-shaped missile was fired from a submerged submarine Tuesday and was supposed to skim along above the water over the Pacific Missile Test Range off the Southern California coast, thus avoiding radar.

Poerner says Texas oil production at maximum

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Chairman John Poerner of the Railroad Commission sent a message to the incoming national administration today that Texas is doing all it can to produce oil.

Poerner said an option that will be offered to President-elect Ronald Reagan will be for states to produce more oil than allowed by state regulatory agencies — extra output that is known as "surge capacity."

Man is charged for extortion attempt

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A man accused of threatening to detonate explosives planted at two San Antonio supermarkets unless a grocery store chain paid him $25,000 remanded in jail today but authorities refused comment on the validity of the threat.

Robert Holmes, 48, who police believe is from New Jersey, faced charges of robbery threats in connection with the alleged extortion attempt.

Police said a man telephoned the H E B grocery chain headquarters and warehouse complex Tuesday and threatened to set off explosives at two stores if not paid $25,000, said robbery detective Charles Mikolajczyk.

Officers staked out the drop site Tuesday designated by the caller and arrested Holmes.

Police refused to say which two of the 36 H E B supermarkets in San Antonio were targeted by the caller or if investigators found explosives at the stores.

The incident was the second extortion attempt reported by H E B officials this month.

Four Waco men were charged after officials were told items at three of the chain's six Waco stores had been laced with strychnine. The caller said he would pinpoint the poisoned items for $60,000.

No one showed up at two pre-arranged drop sites, and Poacher pays heavy fine

COLORADO CITY — A man charged with killing a deer illegally at night was fined $300 in Justice of Peace Henry Doss' court here following his arrest after a high-speed chase.

The poacher allegedly was using a spotlight to seek out the game south of Loraine. An eight-point buck was confiscated from the poacher. The incident occurred about 4 a.m., last Friday.

The case, which involved Game Warden Ronnie Ashton, covered about 14 miles and ended when the hunter ran out of gas.

Chinese Chairman has agreed to resign post

PEKING (AP) — Chairman Hua Guofeng, under heavy fire within the Chinese Communist Party, has agreed to resign, diplomatic sources reported today — the 21st day of Hua's disappearance from public life.

The sources said he had "expressed his desire" to step down from the top job in the party of 38 million. It was not known, however, when Hua agreed to resign.

Hua is expected to step down at a Central Committee meeting in January and be replaced by the current party general secretary, Hu Yaobang. Hua was forced to resign the state premiership in September.

Hua, 59, has been regarded as a compromise candidate, a virtual centrist between the radical politics of the late Chairman Mao Tse-tung and the current pragmatic ideas of the current party vice chairman, Deng Xiaoping.

In Chinese politics, however, he still has leaned more toward Mao and remained lukewarm toward the economic reforms of Deng.

Exercise great caution this time of year

People should exercise great caution during this Christmas season (indeed all the time), whether they are decorating their homes or purchasing toys for their children.

The Texas Safety Association says that many people become less safety conscious than usual during the excitement of the holiday season. Hazards are created any time you bring a tree into a home and it begins to dry out or you start stringing it with lights and inflammable materials.

Christmas trees often cause tragedies. Trees are better if they are freshly cut. They should be watered and kept away from heat sources to slow drying.

Metal trees, of course, should not be strung with lights. That could create a shock hazard.

HOLIDAY DECORATORS should buy and use only those Christmas tree lights approved by a recognized testing laboratory and those lights should be inspected every year for frayed, broken or exposed wires. One should make certain that all tree and display lights are turned off and plugs disconnected when retiring for the night or leaving the house. Many fires occur when lights are left burning in an unattended house.

The choice of the right extension cord is important, too. Heavy-duty cords should be used for multiple lights and outdoor cords for outdoor lights. Make certain each plug is inserted fully in the socket, with no prongs exposed to cause overheating or a shock hazard. To avoid overheating, don't coil or bunch extension cords or place them under rugs or carpets. Place cords where they will not trip someone.

Don't forget fireplace safety. It is a common mistake to let the fireplace serve as an incinerator to burn gift wrappings, boxes, cartons or packing materials. Because these items burn very rapidly and generate a high heat, their flames can ignite soot deposits in chimneys, causing fires that can spread to ceiling or roofs.

SOME OF THE TOYS considered dangerous for children include Zany Zappers, considered a threat because they impair vision, if not put together well and has limited play value; My Puppy Puddles (very little redeeming value about it, critics say); Small Stuffed Teddy Bear — parts of the bear could become lethal if swallowed; F-15 Eagle, because of its design, its weight, sharp edges and its construction, it is considered a potentially dangerous toy; Rodan, a toy said to be difficult to put together; Clyde's Car Crusher — its permanent dye magic markers can stain almost anything they touch; Slime Worms, such a messy toy it even comes in its own garbage cans; Baby Cries for You — the tears don't just come, they gush out as if they were piped from an underground stream.

Baby toys should be too big to fit into the mouth. Toys with projectiles such as BB guns, darts and bows and arrows should be avoided, too.

Among playthings which caused a high incidence of injury last year were skateboards, roller skates, building sets and those which are battery operated.

Hail and farewell

Around the rim

Don Woods

It's been a little over two years since I was adopted into the Big Spring family. I never thought I'd say it but I will remember your town fondly.

The reason for my hesitancy to esteem Big Spring is that I was reared in a city. People and the way they live are a little different here. But I say like the many others who have lived here and left, "the town grows on you."

THE REASON for my departure is another job and an opportunity for ministry in Abilene's Woods Psychiatric Institute, my father's creation entailing a campus for emotionally disturbed teenage boys, another for girls, a halfway house for boys, and maybe some other stuff I don't know of.

Admittedly, the whole thing is still a little foggy. Dad invited me in with a patriarchal sweep of his hand and a "some-day-my-son-this-will-all-be-yours" talk. So I guess I'll learn.

This learning will entail some experience on campus with the boys, possibly recruiting when I get acquainted with the program, maybe in the future acquiring a master's degree in Christian counseling. But it's all up to the Lord.

But how did all this business about the Lord get started, anyway?

Like just about everybody, when I got into high school I began to think about my life and the kind of lifestyle that was compatible to me, whoever that was. In short I wanted the "good life."

I grew up "religious," which means I went to church and behaved myself reasonably. During high school I broke into some of the forbidden activity I had been exposed to through mass media.

Though my private life grew raunchier, I still attended church because I was still religious. So when a prayer meeting got started in the school I felt obligated to attend.

AFTER WALKING past the door for several days which led to the courtyard site of the gathering, I finally mustered the courage to go in. I met kids with an angle on Christianity I had not been exposed to. They were sincere, genuine and human. For the time being, I began to run with them and forget about my unconscious search for a lifestyle.

It wasn't until I quit worldly pleasures and settled into Christianity that I realized that the lifestyle I was learning was what I had been looking for. The lifestyle I had gone everywhere looking for was in my own "backyard." A righteous life is the best way to be.

I had become a Christian early in life and lived without being spirit-filled. The Holy Spirit came into my heart when I became a Christian, but after I became obedient to Christ, the spirit filled, or empowered, my life. When we sin we have to confess it on the basis of I John 1:9 to regain the Spirit's ability to enable us to live the Christian life. This is the key.

It also requires large and frequent intakes of God's word for the Spirit to use to enlighten our minds to what the Christian life is.

Just after I got here I flew to Austin for a story about efforts to designate 87 as an interstate. It was a failure — too long and detailed. In the summer of 1979 I won second place in travel and leisure writing in a nationwide Harte-Hanks contest.

I inherited some controversy on the courthouse beat that gave rise to unpleasant feelings from people who would have otherwise been my friends. One result was the end of the probation office career of Guy Talbot, one of the more decent courthouse cronies.

Steve Hershberger became a fast friend as he blew through on his way to a legal career. We covered a Reagan rally in Midland, turning in stories the next day. I remember that day was good for seven gray hairs and two wrinkles for City Editor Walt Finley.

I have sat stupefied in press conferences with Republican notables Ronald Reagan, Ed Clements and John Connally.

Around 1 a.m. on April 29, 1979, the bodies of a mother and son was found executed north of town. James Werrell wrote the original stories and I picked up the second day stories. A mass of physical evidence and paperwork still yields meager trails for authorities.

Mix in other killings and fascinating trials for a very interesting two years. It has been the best education I could get in all types of people.

The best part has been working with a gracious, good-natured staff of writers and editors, not to mention the rest of the office crew.

But enough. Thanks for the memories, Big Spring. Adieu.

Laxalt's dominance

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — House Republicans who have been longtime supporters of Ronald Reagan are furious that Sen. Paul Laxalt, the president-elect's designated emissary to Capitol Hill, cut them out of decision-making during the transition.

Laxalt was the only member of Congress who sat with Reagan and his inner circle selecting members of the Cabinet. Nor did Laxalt consult any House members. That effectively excluded longtime Reagan hands in the House: Reps. Thomas Evans of Delaware, Jack Kemp of New York, Trent Lott of Mississippi, Carroll Campbell of South Carolina.

IT WAS BAD enough for the House members to be kept away from Cabinet selections, but the crowning indignity came when Laxalt failed to consult the House members on the selection of Max Friedersdorf as Reagan's chief congressional lobbyist. Friedersdorf, a White House lobbyist in Nixon days and currently chairman of the Federal Election Commission (FEC), is a stranger to junior House Republicans.

The election by the House Democratic Caucus of moderate conservative Rep. James Jones of Oklahoma as chairman of the House Budget Committee may spell the end of Dr. Alice Rivlin's five-year rule over the Congressional Budget Office (CBO) with liberal Keynesian principles.

As CBO director, Rivlin has doggedly refused to permit its economic models to reflect supply-side tax-cutting principles. Nevertheless, the prospective new Republican chairman of the Senate Budget Committee, Sen. Pete Domenici of New Mexico, has been reluctant to sack Rivlin on grounds that it would be too partisan. He is being pressed hard to do just that by two ardent supply-side members of his committee, Sens. Bill Armstrong of Colorado and Orrin Hatch of Utah.

But the election of Jones puts a different tone on the whole proceeding. Jones is no Keynesian and accepts some supply-side principles, advocating moderate tax reduction. He is expected to confer privately with Rivlin — a meeting that conceivable could culminate in a request for her resignation.

WEINBERGER'S DEPUTY Members of Ronald Reagan's defense transition team are trembling in fear that Secretary of Defense-designate Casper Weinberger will push present Deputy CIA Director Frank Carlucci, not much more knowledgeable about the Pentagon than Weinberger, as deputy secretary.

Reagan's defense experts had brushed aside Weinberger's ignorance of military matters and his pinch-penny reputation on grounds that he would be surrounded by experienced hard-liners. But Carlucci definitely does not fall into that category.

Carlucci, who began as a Foreign Service officer, has become a career civil servant working for both Republican and Democratic administrations. He shows a neutral face ideologically with no known leanings on defense policy. But Weinberger was deeply impressed with Carlucci's performance under him at the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) and the Health, Education and Welfare Department (HEW) during the Nixon-Ford administration that has indicated he would like him by his side once again at the Pentagon.

Eyeglasses touch off face nerve pain

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have the face nerve problem you mentioned briefly recently, and I would like to know more about it. My description of the pain is like that of a dentist drilling and hitting a nerve, kind of an electric shock, or like being stabbed with an ice pick. Does a mentholatum rub aggravate it? I wear glasses, and I wonder if that might touch off an attack, or if allergies can be related. I take Tegretol when absolutely necessary, in other words, off and on. Is this wise? Is this problem inherited? — Mrs. A.B.

From what others have told me, your description of the trigeminal (facial) nerve pain is right on the mark. An attack can be triggered by any slight irritation — eating, speaking, washing the face or cold air. The problem is not thought of as hereditary. I have not heard of allergy as a cause. Eyeglasses might touch a sensitive part of the face, and set off an attack.

You should take your carbamazepine (Tegretol) as your doctor prescribes it. The medicine is usually started in low doses taken twice daily. The dose is increased until attacks have been controlled or until the maximum dose level has been reached. The goal thereafter is to take as little as possible to control painful attacks. When they have been controlled the dose is reduced, and in some can even be discontinued. When there are long pain-free intervals, you do not need to take the drug. Your physician should guide you specifically about the schedule of medication. Discuss it with him. Another name for trigeminal neuralgia is tic douloureux.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is it true that beer shampoos help nourish the hair and make it healthier? — B.L.

Nothing you apply to hair nourishes it. The hair you see is dead material and the object of applications of various kinds is to make it look nice. Facts about hair are discussed in the booklet "Good Health for Your Hair." For a copy, write me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I would appreciate clarification of the drug called Antabuse used in the treatment of alcoholism. I have heard there are those who advocate its use and others who don't. Please explain this difference of opinion. — C.U.

Disulfiram (Antabuse) alters a person's response to alcohol. If a person takes the pill and drinks alcohol the face becomes hot and flushed, a throbbing headache develops and there may be severe nausea and vomiting. For this reason it is called an antagonist drug.

In selected cases, disulfiram helps alcoholics avoid alcohol. The desire to stay sober is bolstered by fear of the unpleasant physical consequences of drinking.

This drug, which is to be taken only under medical supervision, can be one part of therapy for alcoholics. There are many important psychological adjustments the alcoholic must make himself. I can see circumstances where disulfiram might be an important aid in an individual's alcoholic readjustment program. Most professionals I know would object to its use in the absence of back-up counseling of the type groups such as Alcoholics Anonymous provide.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you discuss the use of fructose sugar as opposed to regular sugar for a diabetic? I am a diabetic who is controlled by diet. — Mrs. B.L.

Fructose (fruit sugar) has been advocated as a sweetener because it does not cause as large a rise in the blood sugar as does the kind from the sugar bowl. But it certainly is not the answer to sweets for the diabetic. Fructose may be used in the diet of a well-controlled diabetic patient. This may not be true for a diabetic for

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have heard you talk about the sinful nature of human beings quite a bit. Don't you think this ignores the goodness that is within all of us? — R.T.T.

DEAR R.T.T.: I talk about sin because I find the Bible talks about it a great deal. In fact, it tells us that sin is our greatest problem as human beings. The sickness of sin is so great, in fact, that it is the root cause of all our other problems.

That is not to deny that humanity has the capacity for acts of goodness and kindness, because that is clearly the case. But the reason we can act this way from time to time is because we have been created in the image of God. We bear something of his character. Sin has scarred and twisted that image of God, but some of it still remains.

But the good things we may do from time to time just spotlight how selfish we really are in our basic natures. Instead of putting God at the center of our lives, we have put ourselves whom control is difficult. Fructose has the same number of calories per teaspoon as does regular sugar.

The only way you can be sure if fructose is an acceptable sweetener for you is to talk it over with your doctor. You should, in any event, stick to your carefully-planned control diet.

Never take a chance on diabetes! For a better understanding of this disease, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Dear Editor:

To all of you nice people in Big Spring, my husband I want to thank you for letting us use your city park to rest in — 2 years we have gone through and used the facilities. We also bought a tire and stocked our food, tried to repay your kindness. I'm sure other people appreciate, but just don't get to writing to you. I have been meaning to since last year.

Public minded

WASHINGTON — New evidence has come to light suggesting that Jimmy Carter and Defense Secretary Harold Brown deliberately misled the American public on the SALT II agreement.

The SALT II agreement, now effectively dead, was on the verge of extinction even before the presidential campaign really got started. But Carter, trying to depict Ronald Reagan as a warmonger, kept bringing up SALT II as if it were the last, best hope of avoiding a nuclear holocaust. Brown supported the president with reassuring statements on the treaty's effectiveness.

AT THE same time, however, the defense secretary wrote a "top-secret, sensitive" memo to Carter that tells an entirely different story. My associate Dale Van Atta has seen a copy of Brown's memorandum, which shows Carter's campaign rhetoric on disarmament was pure hogwash. The president was told that SALT II, much less the fast-dwindling prospect of SALT III, would in no way lead to a reduction in the nuclear arsenals of the two superpowers.

The point to remember is that Carter was touting SALT II as a way of reducing nuclear weapons. Brown's top-secret memorandum pointed out that neither SALT II nor the hoped-for SALT III agreement would actually reduce either nation's nuclear stockpile.

"Reductions are important as symbols of progress toward 'real' disarmament," Brown told the president, "but they have serious drawbacks as a means of accomplishing strategic and SALT objectives, and are therefore inadequate as the primary objective of SALT III."

Thus, even while Carter was promoting SALT II as a disarmament hope for mankind, his chief military adviser was warning that it might restrict the number of missile launchers, but not of missiles that could be launched.

The best Carter could reasonably hope for, by Brown's estimate, was to put the brakes on a U.S.-Soviet nuclear arms race. Yet the president was insisting that SALT II and SALT III would lead to a reduction in both nations' nuclear stockpiles.

A SERIOUS DEFICIENCY in the SALT agreements — whether II or III — is that they control only the number of missile launchers each nation possesses. These are the missile silos, submarine tubes and bombers that can send nuclear devices hurtling toward targets in the United States and the Soviet Union. But there has been no coverage of the number of missiles that can be stockpiled to feed the launchers.

By speeding up their reloading capability, the Russians can effectively double their nuclear missile capacity. "Measures designed to control the number of missiles (not just their launchers) are needed...to limit reload capabilities," Brown's memo warned.

Getting down to cases, the defense chief warned that even if the Soviet Union agreed to limit its launchers to, say, 1,000, the lack of restraint on the actual missiles would still allow them to have as many as 11,000 nuclear warheads ready to go — roughly twice the number they have at this point.

And that's just SALT II. As Brown's memo noted, even the proposed SALT III agreement "would not require limits on Backfire, SS-20 (nuclear missiles) or other TNF (Theater Nuclear Forces weapons)."

In his memo, Brown virtually abandoned any chance that SALT agreements would give U.S. missile forces a chance to survive a Soviet sneak attack. "It is very unlikely," he wrote, "that SALT III constraints could be negotiated which would restore (U.S.) ICBM silo survivability in the post-1985 period."

Brown also raised other doubts about SALT II — none of which were raised by Carter in either his fight for ratification of SALT II or his reelection campaign. While Carter was singing the praises of SALT II, and holding out promise of even greater things to come from SALT III, the defense secretary was advising him that neither agreement would accomplish the reduction in nuclear terror the president was promising.

WHITE HOUSE PIPELINE: Among the few chuckles the Carter campaign people can recall from the recent disaster was the president's tour of Philadelphia's Italian market. Shaking hands with everyone in sight, Carter reached out and grabbed an extended limb — which turned out to be a chicken leg the stall owner happened to be waving. The president gamely wiped off the slime and went on to the next handshake — a bit more warily.

The outgoing president is privately smarting over the cloying media treatment Ronald Reagan got for his whirlwind tour of Capitol Hill. The reports invariably mentioned Carter's failure to court Congress during his tenure. But Carter remembers congressional receptions he threw at Blair House and the Smithsonian Institution, a barbecue at Sen. Herman Talmadge's home and dutiful visits with every congressional committee chairman — and probably wonders if they were all worth it.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have heard you talk about the sinful nature of human beings quite a bit. Don't you think this ignores the goodness that is within all of us? — R.T.T.

DEAR R.T.T.: I talk about sin because I find the Bible talks about it a great deal. In fact, it tells us that sin is our greatest problem as human beings. The sickness of sin is so great, in fact, that it is the root cause of all our other problems.

That is not to deny that humanity has the capacity for acts of goodness and kindness, because that is clearly the case. But the reason we can act this way from time to time is because we have been created in the image of God. We bear something of his character. Sin has scarred and twisted that image of God, but some of it still remains.

But the good things we may do from time to time just spotlight how selfish we really are in our basic natures. Instead of putting God at the center of our lives, we have put ourselves

Unrest in Iran is latest flare-up in two-way power struggle

By NICOLAS B. TATRO
Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — A mounting wave of protests and counter-protests in Iranian cities is the latest flare-up in a power struggle between secular, Westernized politicians and the Moslem clergy, two factions trying to shape revolutionary Iran to their own designs.

The key showdown appears to be between Iran's top two government figures, President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr and the clergy-backed prime minister, Mohammad Ali Rajai. The anti-clergy demonstrations, pro-clergy strikes and virulent denunciations of the president in Parliament clearly have Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini worried about the survival of his new Iran.

Twice in the past six weeks, Iran's supreme leader has personally intervened to prevent confrontations, and he has repeatedly made appeals for national unity.

The home-front turmoil is taking place as the three-month-old war with Iraq causes increasing economic hardships for Iranians, strict rationing of fuel and heating oil, nighttime blackouts and bans on private cars. Many analysts see Iraq's invasion of Iran as an attempt to put so much strain on the Khomeini regime that it will collapse.

Iran's powerful Shiite Moslem clergymen were instrumental in toppling the Pahlavi monarchy almost two years ago, but before the revolutionary victory prominent clergymen insisted they had no intention of taking power in the country of 36 million people.

Nevertheless, a month after their victory Khomeini and his fellow Shiite religious leaders won overwhelming voter support for declaring an Islamic republic, with important powers for the clergy.

Following the resignation of Prime Minister Mehdi Bazargan's provisional government in November 1979, Shiite religious leaders took a still more active role in "guiding" government operations, in the Parliament and in overseeing the military.

Bazargan, who resigned in the aftermath of the U.S.

Embassy seizure, represented the Western-educated, left-leaning secular faction of the revolution, those who now support Bani-Sadr. They and their colleagues had joined with the conservative, fundamentalist clergy in order to oust the shah, but disagreed with their plans to fit Iran into a sternly religious and traditional mold.

The simmering conflict broke into the open last month with the brief detention of Bani-Sadr's ex-foreign minister, Sadegh Ghotbzadeh, because he had criticized the way the clergy handled television programming. Ghotbzadeh earlier accused the clergymen-politicians of wrecking the economy and failing to prepare adequately for the war.

Bani-Sadr and his rival Rajai have both complained there are no clear lines of authority, and their offices at times issue conflicting orders.

The seriousness of the dispute has been indicated by the following recent events:

—Sixty-eight clergy-oriented members of the 228-seat

Parliament condemned Bani-Sadr for leaking state secrets about the war in his newspaper column "The President's Report Card" and demanded that he be punished.

—Bani-Sadr supporters in the cities of Mashhad and Isfahan tore down posters of Khomeini and the man he has picked as his eventual successor, Ayatollah Hossein Ali Montazeri. Anti-clerical speeches reportedly were delivered at rallies in those cities.

—Other protests and counter-demonstrations reportedly have been staged in Tabriz, Shiraz and the religious center Qom. Pro-clergy strikes were reported in Qom and Isfahan.

The conflict appears to have touched most levels of society: anti-clerical leaflets were reported circulating in the army; a member of Parliament warned a coup d'etat was imminent; bazaar merchants staged a strike against the clergy.

African elephants disappearing at fast rate

By BARBARA S. MOFFET
National Geographic News Service

WASHINGTON — Elephants — the largest living land animals — are dying at abnormally high rates in Africa, squeezed between an insatiable world demand for their ivory and the march of human encroachment.

In much of their 35-nation African habitat, elephants are being killed faster than they can reproduce. Spurred by a 1,500 percent rise in ivory prices in the last decade, poachers are claiming 50,000 to 150,000 elephants a year — by poisoned arrows in Kenya, fires in Sudan, pitfalls in Zaire, horsemen's spears in Chad, and a newer technique of laying poisoned fruit along elephants' pathways.

The greatest slaughter, though, has been by guns — high-powered rifles and automatic weapons used by poachers, soldiers, guerrillas, and even the rangers paid to protect the animals. Mountains of ivory are leaving Africa — much of it illegally — and being used for currency, jewelry, and art objects, writes Oria Douglas-Hamilton in the November National Geographic.

She helped her husband, African elephant authority Iain Douglas-Hamilton, direct the first census of the animal, surveying by air and on foot from the continent's southern coast to the forests of central Africa and the northern deserts of Mali and Mauritania.

The survey, made from 1976 to 1979, concluded that only about 1.3 million elephants survived in Africa. Once widespread south of the Sahara, they have been nearly annihilated in western and extreme southern Africa and are in trouble in their last strongholds — central and east Africa.

The census, financed by the World Wildlife Fund, the New York Zoological Society, and the International Union for Conservation of Nature, showed elephant numbers to be dropping in three-fourths of their 35 countries.

Major declines were reported in 10 of them — Angola, Cameroon, Central Africa Republic, Chad, Congo, Kenya, Sudan, Uganda, Zaire, and Zambia. A few countries — Zimbabwe, Malawi, Senegal, and South Africa, for example — are trying to enforce strict conservation laws.

Kenya lost an estimated half of its elephants between 1970 and 1977 before banning hunting and the sale of wildlife trophies. Poachers still roam Kenya's wildlife parks, many of them well-armed Somali tribesmen who have fled severe drought areas and turned to ivory for survival. Sophisticated poaching also has spread to neighboring Tanzania.

Elephants in Uganda have fared worse, first under the rule of President Idi Amin and then at his overthrow. At one point troops retreating through the country's Kabalega Falls National Park gunned down scores of elephants and other animals. A later count in the park's southern half found that a 1966 population of 8,000 elephants had been reduced to a tiny terrified herd of 160. The herd has since disappeared.

Another massacre took place two years ago in Zaire, apparently aided by high officials evading ivory trading laws. Military personnel shot elephants and killed whole families of them by placing fruit laced with battery acid or insecticide on elephant trails.

Even after Zaire's president declared a moratorium on ivory exports, trade continued across borders. The country remains a leading ivory producer.

Besides heavy losses to poachers — for the precious ivory and sometimes for the meat — elephants are being crowded off territory by a growing human population in search of land for cultivation.

IVORY GOLD — Africa's white gold — elephant tusks — gleamed alongside rhinoceros horns in 1975 in Kenya. The country banned private ivory sales two years later.

An elephant consumes about 400 pounds of vegetation a day, sometimes destroying whole trees or a farmer's crop. For the hungry African farmer as well as the affluent rancher, the simplest solution is to kill the offender. And there is great economic incentive: A pair of 22-pound tusks may fetch $500, more than an average year's income for many Africans. Not considered an endangered species, the African elephant is listed under the U.S. Endangered Species Act as threatened, which means its products can be imported, but only with a special permit. A further U.S. restriction allows importation of ivory only from nations adhering to the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species. U.S. Fish and Wildlife officials acknowledge that ivory importation laws are hard to enforce. Raw and worked ivory passes through so many countries before reaching U.S. ports that the origin is often impossible to determine. False export papers are readily available in most African nations.

A bill pending in the U.S. Senate, the Elephant Protection Act of 1979, would allow importation of ivory only from nations that, in the opinion of the U.S. government, manage their elephants properly. The United States imports about 1 percent of the world's raw ivory and about 20 percent of the worked product — worth a total of about $6.25 million a year. Most ivory working is done in Hong Kong and Japan, but Singapore, Belgium, France, the Netherlands, West Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Spain, Great Britain, and the United States also have ivory industries.

The American industry is a small but flourishing one of about 3,000 carvers of scrimshaw, jewelry, knife handles, and trinkets, according to a report by the New York Zoological Society. It is based primarily in New England, Alaska, Washington, and Hawaii.

Some of the world's ivory goes to cover the keys of fine pianos, even though plastic substitutes are available. Ivory is believed to absorb perspiration, enabling the fingers to glide over the keys without slipping.

Elephant tusks — actually enlarged incisors — are not the only source of ivory. It also comes from the teeth of the sperm whale, the hippopotamus, walrus, and narwhal. The elephant tusk can weigh as much as 200 pounds, although one weighing more than 20 pounds is considered large.

As much as gold or diamonds, ivory is a hard currency and has been for centuries. African ivory trading first blossomed in the 15th century as the continent gradually opened up to European traders. By the 19th century the ivory trade had spawned a sideline — an increased use of slaves. Virtual armies of Africans were forced by Arab traders to haul the hulking tusks from the jungles overland to seaports. Slaves that survived the journey often were sold along with the ivory.

Later, when European powers secured and partitioned Africa, they used the ivory trade to subsidize colonial administrations.

Move to halt compensation for quitting job

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sen. Roy Blake has introduced a bill that would keep people who quit their jobs from collecting unemployment compensation.

Blake, D-Nacogdoches, said Wednesday he was outraged that a Cuero teacher who quit his job to "seek other employment" was getting a total of $2,520.

Blake's bill would deprive two charged with theft

COLORADO CITY — Marshall Garrett, 19, and David Calloway, 22, have been charged in felony theft before Peace Justice Henry Doss here.

The two are accused of holding up the Kent Service Station Dec. 13, at which time more than $450 was taken.

Chief of Police Robert Bailey said that Calloway was on duty at the station at the time. He claimed two armed men in ski masks held him up, then locked him in the men's room before driving away.

Garrett and Calloway are being held in the Mitchell County jail in lieu of $10,000 bond.

"voluntary quits" of jobless benefits until they obtained new jobs and worked for at least six weeks.

Chairman Nolan Ward of the Texas Employment Commission opposes the bill because, he said, it would deny the TEC flexibility to award benefits to employees who quit for good reason and need money to live on while they start over.

Blake complained because a majority of the three-man TEC had voted to award benefits to the Cuero teacher.

Like all school districts and most cities, the Cuero Independent School District pays unemployment benefits directly from its tax revenue.

"The thing that galls me about the situation is the fact that TEC could have disqualified this person for 25 weeks, and the taxpayers of Cuero ISD would not be made to pay $2,520 to a teacher not to teach plus paying the salary of a replacement," Blake said.

Ward said the TEC does deny benefits for a period of time to persons who quit their jobs as a "punishment" but the time varies from case to case. The TEC can deny benefits for up to 25 weeks.

"If someone quits because her husband is seriously injured or she has a child who is seriously injured, we tend to disqualify for four weeks on the average. If she quits to move with her husband, it's anywhere from one to seven weeks," Ward said.

He said under the present system, the commission can look at the facts in each case and render a decision that is fair for both employee and employer.

"I think the law contemplates that everybody doesn't quit for the same reason. The ability to be flexible in 'punishing' is left to three reasonable people who are looking at the case rationally. The (Blake) bill would take that away," he said.

Ward noted that Texas' unemployment tax on employers is the nation's lowest as are its costs of operating the unemployment insurance program.

"This policy of denying benefits to voluntary quits won't lower that (tax) rate at all. The only thing it would do is make it difficult for people who have circumstances where they must quit voluntarily to start over again," he said.

Ward said in most cases involving voluntary quits, he and commissioner A.C. Shirley, who represents employees, vote to award benefits while employer representative Ken Clapp opposes them.

Shirley's term expired Nov. 21, and Gov. Bill Clements has yet to name his replacement. Shirley is a union man, but the law does not require that the workers' representative come from organized labor.

IRS gets giving spirit

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Bob Haley believes that Christmas time or not, the Internal Revenue Service has gotten carried away with the spirit of giving.

He recently ordered 18,000 IRS 1040 tax forms for use in his tax preparation service and Tuesday received 213,000 — enough to serve most of the taxpayers in greater Kansas City.

The shipment comes at a time when IRS officials say they have been trying to reduce waste by urging tax preparers to use the forms their clients receive by mail at home.

Haley's secretary called him to say he had received a "whole truckload of forms." He dismissed the statement as an exaggeration until he went to his office and found 71 large cartons, rather than the six he normally receives.

William D. Akright, chief of IRS management services in Kansas City, called the mixup a shock. After some checking, he found a requisition for Haley's order. A clerk had written 7c, with the "c" standing for cartons. Some clerk read the 7c as 70.

Mobile manhole covers

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — Albuquerque sewer officials have a problem — aluminum manhole covers are disappearing, leaving gaping holes in city streets.

"They're sprouting legs and walking away," Dean Wall, engineer in charge of building and maintaining city sewer lines, said Wednesday.

At least 50 of the manhole covers, which normally cork sewers, have been removed during the past year, Wall said.

The 60-pound aluminum covers are 24 inches in diameter and cost $70 each to replace, he said.

Wall said the thefts are dangerous because vehicles or people can fall into the manholes.

Cisco manager threatens to quit

CISCO — City manager R.J. Turpin said Wednesday he will submit his resignation if a petition requesting a recall election for Mayor Roy Cartee and councilwoman Louise Allison doesn't rally enough signatures for a vote.

A petition asking for the city manager form of government, bearing 350 signatures, has already been presented to the acting city secretary. If the election is held and the issue passes, Turpin would be out of a job.

Turpin has been serving as city manager only since last Aug. 28, when John Boland resigned. Boland's action served to focus attention on disension that had been growing at city hall.

Turpin said the idea of having Cartee as his boss did not appeal to him.

Robbery investigation

COLORADO CITY — Colorado City Police Chief Robert Bailey is investigating the robbery of the 1-20 Mobil service station, which occurred Wednesday afternoon. The attendant, 16-year-old Danny Hall, of Colorado City said two men took $100 from him, then shoved him into a back room.

robbery was a late model red and white car bearing Illinois license plates.

The Houston Post
HOUSTON (AP) — By all accounts he was an unlikely sort of hero. He was a small, slender, genteel man more interested in architecture than warfare.

But while stationed as a Swedish diplomat in Budapest, Hungary, in World War II, Raoul Wallenberg personally saved at least 20,000 Jews from the Nazi concentration camps.

The Soviet military took Wallenberg into "protective custody" in January 1945, three weeks after the troops reached Budapest. Thirty-five years later, his fate remains unknown.

But now there is a growing international effort to solve the mystery of his disappearance.

One of the people working on the case of the missing Swede is Houston artist Alice Cahana, herself a survivor of Auschwitz and daughter of a man Wallenberg rescued.

Over the years, the Soviets have given three different responses to the questions about what happened to the Holocaust hero.

Fist, the Kremlin said steps had been taken to "protect" Wallenberg. Then the denied any knowledge of the man. Finally they admitted in 1957 that Wallenberg had been taken prisoner, apparently a victim of Stalinist excesses.

In a memorandum to the Swedish government, the Soviets claimed recently uncovered records showed he had died July 17, 1947, of heart failure in prison.

But reports from former Soviet prison camp inmates have been heard in the West, strongly suggesting Wallenberg still is alive, Ms. Cahana said.

Ms. Cahana, who has lived in Sweden, is working with a committee there to try to win his release. By raising world awareness of his case, they hope to bring pressure on the Soviets to act.

She also has done an abstract painting, to be exhibited in several U.S. cities next year, commemorating Wallenberg's heroics.

"He is, to me, the greatest man of the 20th century," Ms. Cahana said.

The scion of a wealthy family often called "the Rockefeller of Sweden," Wallenberg had become a middle-level diplomat for Sweden, a nation that remained neutral during the war.

The war appeared to be drawing to a close in 1944, but that year the Nazis still managed to ship about 500,000 Hungarian Jews to death camps, she said.

Wallenberg decided to put his life on the line. Ms. Cahana said, and do whatever he could to frustrate the genocide efforts.

He bought and rented scores of houses around Budapest and sheltered an estimated 13,000 Jews in the neutral residences which

Jury foreman explains innocent verdict in Veverka's trial

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The foreman of the jury that acquitted a former Florida policeman of civil rights charges in the fatal beating of a black man says the government failed to show that Charles Veverka Jr. "willfully" participated in the incident.

Mood in Miami tense after acquittal news

MIAMI (AP) — Police beefed up patrols and routed white motorists away from predominantly black Miami neighborhoods today after the acquittal in Texas of a white former police officer on charges stemming from the beating death of a black Miami businessman.

Scattered rock-throwing was reported after the verdict was announced Wednesday, but it generally was quiet in the neighborhoods where three days of bloody rioting erupted in May after other acquittals in the same case.

government proved "overwhelmingly" that Dade County, Fla., police fatally beat black insurance salesman Arthur McDuffie on Dec. 17, 1979.

But McNamara said a sworn statement Veverka made nine days after the beating, referred to by government attorneys as a "confession," was a key factor in proving Veverka innocent of the beating and coverup.

Jurors returned the innocent verdict Wednesday afternoon after 16 hours of deliberations.

Violent race riots broke out in Miami last May after the five Dade County officers were acquitted of state charges in the beating. Eighteen people died in the violence that did more than $100 million in damage.

MVCNamara agreed to talk to news reporters after U.S. District Judge William Hoeveler of Miami asked the jury foreman to make a statement.

McNamara said it was not he who deadlocked deliberations 11-1 for a full day, but would not divulge which juror had cast the single vote to convict.

"There was no one piece of evidence," McNamara said when asked the reasoning behind the acquittal. "One factor, possibly, was the defendant's confession, because it was made without an attorney in what appeared to be as truthful a manner as he could muster."

The defense argued throughout the trial that Veverka was the first of eight Dade County officers implicated in the beating to come forward with the truth.

statement was a mitigating factor because the jurors were directed to find "willfulness and intent" to violate the law on each of four counts of the indictment.

"It was an emotionally draining experience," the jury foreman said of the tedious deliberations, which dragged on for three days.

Prosecutors dropped the murder charge Wednesday against Floyd Baker, 38, who had been accused in the brutal beating and dismemberment of his wife.

JOHN THOMAS SMITH

Former Steer is punt returner on prestigious unit

Ex-BSHS star John Thomas Smith named to AFC Pro Bowl squad

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

Before the 1980 season, Kansas City Chief wide receiver punt returner John Thomas Smith set a lofty personal goal of making the Pro Bowl squad for the American Conference of the NFL.

Many observers of the sport felt that he should have in 1979 when he led the league in punt return yardage and punts returned for touchdowns. But instead, Denver's Rick Upchurch was tabbed for the lofty position, basically because of his name.

This year, however, Smith was simply too much for any challengers in the field of punt returning. The former Big Spring Steer star has all but clinched the NFL regular season punt return title, and last night was named to the American Conference Pro Bowl squad.

Smith, who still holds the District 5-A AAAA pass receiving yardage record and also starts for the Chiefs as a wide receiver, was named to the AFC Pro Bowl squad by two teammates. Defensive end Art Still and safety Gary Barbaro are also slated to start in the prestigious gridiron struggle in Honolulu, Hawaii, which caps the NFL season.

Smith, in his third year in the NFL, has returned 37 punts for 517 yards, or a sparkling average of 14 yards per return. That total is more than three yards more than his closest competitor in the NFL.

As a wide receiver, the versatile ex-Big Spring Steer and North Texas State star has latched on to 41 passes for 556 yards.

Rams head NFC Pro Bowl list

NEW YORK (AP) — Los Angeles dominates the National Football Conference Pro Bowl team announced today, but Steve Bartkowski, who helped Atlanta break the Rams' hold on first place in the NFC West, is the starting quarterback.

The Rams, who had won seven consecutive division titles before settling for a wild-card playoff berth behind the Falcons this year, put eight players on the 40-man unit (20 on offense; 17 on defense; 3 specialists) which will face the American Conference Feb. 1 in the National Football League's all-star game at Honolulu's Aloha Stadium.

Los Angeles' starters are guard Kent Hill, center Rich Saul, cornerback Pat Thomas and safety Nolan Cromwell. The Rams' reserves on the team are guard Dennis Harrah, defensive tackle Larry Brooks, middle linebacker Jack Reynolds and cornerback Rod Perry.

Dallas and Philadelphia, battling this Sunday for the East Division title (both already have clinched NFC wild card berths), placed four players apiece on the Pro Bowl team. The Eagles' starters are wide receiver Harold Carmichael, defensive tackle Charlie Johnson and safety Randy Logan; the Cowboys' starters are guard Herbert Scott, defensive tackle Randy White and middle linebacker Bob Breunig.

Bartkowski and reserve quarterback Ron Jaworski of Philadelphia rank second and third in NFC passing, behind Vince Ferragamo of Los Angeles, but were selected ahead of him by the conference's 14 head coaches and NFL members of the NFL Players Association.

Baylor begins NFC Pro Bowl squad preparations

WACO, Texas (AP) — The Baylor Bears, getting ready for their Jan. 1 date with Alabama in the Cotton Bowl, donned pads Wednesday for the first time since the regular season ended.

Coaches sent players through dummy drills and against blocking sleds, and coach Grant Teaff said the Bears are scheduled for two practices daily through Monday before breaking for Christmas.

Baylor, which went through the Southwest Conference race unbeaten and finished the season 10-1, will arrive in Dallas Dec. 27 to begin final preparations for the New Year's Day classic. The Bears will work out in Dallas at Highland Park High School's field.

"We just wanted to get back to basics to get everybody's feet back under them," Teaff said Wednesday.

US hockey team gains SI honor

By The Associated Press

The moment is etched in Mike Eruzione's mind and it will stay there, probably forever.

Sure, he will remember scoring the winning goal for the United States against the Russians in the Olympic hockey tournament.

Sure, he will remember the crowd counting down the clock "...5...4...3...2...1..." and the bedlam that erupted on the ice at Lake Placid, N.Y., after the Soviets were beaten.

And sure, he will remember goalie Jim Craig wrapped in an American flag, his eyes glazed over, looking for his father so they could share that once-in-a-lifetime moment.

But most of all, Mike Eruzione will always remember the medal ceremony when 20 Americans, who called themselves Big Doolies, stood on a podium designed for one, and together accepted their gold.

"I remember it so well," Eruzione said. "Standing there on the podium, I felt at the time and I still feel now that one person doesn't win a hockey game or a tournament like that one. I hoped all 20 of us would get up there. I stood there and I watched for awhile. And then I said to myself, 'Hey, wait a minute, they've got to come up here with me.'"

And that's when the captain of the team, motioned for the rest of the Big Doolies to join him. It wasn't exactly Olympic decorum but it was fitting. The Doolies belonged together at that moment.

Sports Illustrated brought some of them together Wednesday, bestowing on these remarkable young men its Sportsmen of the Year Award.

It was an obvious choice. And an outstanding one.

Remember the circumstances. Fifty-three American citizens were being held hostage in Iran. Russia had sent troops into Afghanistan and the United States was talking about an Olympic boycott of the Summer Games in Moscow. The tenor of the times was bleak at best.

Into this setting skated the American hockey team, a bunch of kids obviously in over their heads at this level of international competition. They were realistic about their chances.

In a pre-Olympic exhibition in New York, the Soviets battered the U.S. team 10-3 with some frighteningly expert, textbook hockey.

"We thought we had a shot at a medal," said Eruzione. "Maybe a bronze, maybe a silver. We had to be realistic. But we thought if we got a chance at the gold, one chance, well then, anything could happen."

And, of course, something surely did.

Cotton Bowl sellout

DALLAS (AP) — Cotton Bowl officials have announced that the Jan. 1 classic between Alabama and Baylor is a sellout.

The Chatham, Ontario native was charged Aug. 25 after four grams of cocaine was found in his luggage at nearby Toronto International Airport.

Jenkins, 37, four-time Canadian athlete of the year who was awarded the Order of Canada in 1979, was to be sentenced later today following testimony from character witnesses.

GETTING A PIECE OF THE "DOC" — Philadelphia 76ers Julius "Doctor J" Erving has a puzzled look on his face as he is grabbed from behind by Cleveland Cavs Kenny Carr as he attempted a lay-up during the second period of the game played in Philadelphia Wednesday night. The 76ers won 103-79 as Dr. J had 18 points.

NBA Roundup

Late coach avoids T, helping Nets take win

While the New Jersey Nets were inside playing ball, Coach Kevin Loughery was outside discovering a novel way to cut down on his technical foul total. Loughery, always one of the National Basketball Association leaders in technical whistles, got stuck in a monumental traffic jam on a New Jersey toll road Wednesday night and didn't take command of the team until halftime, with the Nets leading Milwaukee 65-61. The Nets eventually won 115-112 as veteran Maurice Lucas scored 31 points.

"This is the first time I've ever been late," said Loughery, who has been coaching the Nets since 1973. "It usually takes me an hour to get here, but tonight it took three hours and 40 minutes."

Elsewhere in the NBA, Boston bounced Chicago 115-98, Philadelphia clubbed Cleveland 103-79, New York clipped Detroit 119-103, Phoenix defeated Dallas 115-102, San Antonio nudged Houston 113-107, Portland edged Golden State 115-113 and Seattle beat Kansas City 101-94.

The Nets' victory broke a five-game losing streak and improved their record to 12-22, while the Bucks dropped to 24-10.

Mike Newlin added 24 points to support Lucas, while Marques Johnson led Milwaukee with 24.

Wally Walker hit four straight shots as Seattle outscored Kansas City 23-8 in a 6½-minute burst in the second quarter to take a 10-point halftime lead. John Johnson led seven Sonics in double figures with 19 points, while the Kings' Otis Birdsong led all scorers with 23.

Blazers 115, Warriors 113. Kelvin Ransey hit a 15-foot jumper with five seconds remaining to give Portland its seventh straight victory and Golden State its fifth straight loss.

Mychal Thompson led the Blazers with 23 points.

Knicks 119, Pistons 103.

Michael Ray Richardson scored 25 points and New York never trailed after taking a 22-20 lead late in the first quarter on a jumper by Campy Russell.

If Oilers need him again in big game Sunday

Marcol hopes to overcome nerves

HOUSTON (AP) — Five games into the 1980 season, Chester Marcol's world came apart.

After nine years with the Green Bay Packers he was cut from the team and admits he went on an 11-day binder.

Marcol started putting his life back together but had given up on playing again this season until he got an early Christmas present last Saturday—a call from the Houston Oilers, who just happened to be in town to play the Packers.

With the benefit of only a brief tryout, Marcol signed on with the Oilers and kicked a 27-yard field goal en route to a 22-3 victory. He also missed two of three extra point attempts and says he tried to hide his nervousness. "But I felt it inside," he said. "I wanted to do well so badly that I missed the first extra point. But everybody told me not to worry that I'd come back and kick a field goal. It really helped calm me down." Marcol may get a chance to kick again in Sunday's regular season finale against Minnesota if regular kicker Toni Fritsch has not fully recovered from a back injury that kept him out of the Green Bay game. Fritsch returned to workouts Wednesday and pronounced himself ready to kick but Coach Bum Phillips said both kickers might be on the sideline for Sunday's game to the store and get new parts for my back."

Marcol said he had continued to work out twice weekly after being cut by the Packers. He said he could get his timing down with Oiler holer Gifford Nielsen before Sunday's game.

It's just a matter of going over the little things," Continued on page 4-B "Oiler Kicker"

Astros Forsch still wants to be traded

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Astros pitcher Ken Forsch, one of eight possible starters on the roster, is ready to help Manager Bill Virdon in choosing his five-man rotation—Forsch says he still wants to be traded.

Forsch reacted sharply and quickly to the firing of Tal Smith on Oct. 27 by saying he wanted to be traded. Forsch still wants to leave but under his own terms.

"I've been here a long time and I've always thought about the team first," Forsch said. "Now it's time to think strictly about myself. If San Francisco doesn't want to pay that (extension) then I'm not going to approve the deal. That tells me I don't figure in their plans all that much."

Forsch referred to a proposed trade with the Giants that would have sent Forsch and outfielder Jeff Leonard to the Giants in exchange for outfielder Larry Herndon and an unnamed player.

"I'm not going anywhere unless I get an extension of my contract," said Forsch, who has two years remaining on his current contract. "I don't see any point in taking a financial beating."

As a 10-year veteran with five years on the same club, Forsch can nullify any deal the Astros try to make.

Forsch compiled a 12-13 record last season with an earned run average of 3.20, 10th best in the National League. But the Astros currently have eight potential starting pitchers including recent signees Don Sutton and Bob Knepper.

"I don't imagine I have a good chance to make the starting rotation now," Forsch said. "I'm just trying to be realistic here. It looks like I'm eliminated before I ever get to spring training."

Virdon says Forsch is being to critical of his abilities.

"What he needs to do is to be more positive about his own ability," Virdon said. "He's a better pitcher than he gives himself credit for."

UT Longhorn Jam Jones a possible for Bluebonnet

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The backfield shuffle continues for the Texas Longhorns, this time with A.J. (Jam) Jones due back in the lineup and Brad Beck apparently headed for another team.

Coach Fred Akers said Jones, UT's top rusher with 657 yards despite missing the last four games, has been cleared to practice Thursday. Jones is recovering from a clavicle injury. He cannot yet participate in contact drills, but might be ready for the Dec. 31 Bluebonnet Bowl game against North Carolina.

"He would be rusty but I'd still like to have him," said Akers.

Beck, who starred in spring workouts when Jones and halfback Rodney Tate were hurt. Beck, a junior from Perryton, appeared in nine games, picking up 48 yards on 15 carries.

Akers confirmed that Eastern New Mexico University has asked UT to release Beck to allow him to go to the Portales, N.M., school. ENMU Athletic Director B.B. Lees said he assumes Beck will transfer.

Tate, who missed the last three games due to a finger injury, will be ready for the bowl game, according to Akers.

Steers in Lubbock

LUBBOCK — The Big Spring Steers basketball team will be among eight West Texas toughies vying for the Reese Air Force Base Christmas Classic championship when action gets underway here today.

There will be 16 teams in the tournament, but the field has been divided into a President's Trophy (Class AAAAA and AAAA) and a Commander's Trophy (Class AAA).

Most of the teams in the President's Trophy division have a winning record, so things might be difficult for the Big Spring squad.

Moore guns Spurs to win over Rockets

HOUSTON (AP) — San Antonio coach Stan Albeck says Johnny Moore is "still feeling his way on offense" for the Spurs.

Moore certainly had the right touch Wednesday night, coming off the bench to hit 10 of 12 from the field and all seven shots he attempted in the first half. He finished with 22 points, high for the Spurs, now 23-12.

Moore's performance sparked a comeback in the second half that enabled San Antonio to overtake the Houston Rockets 113-107 and pad their Midwest Division-leading lead in the National Basketball Association.

"Johnny has really played well of late. He has picked us up in a couple of games and at times he has been sensational," Albeck said.

Moore said he felt good all night. "In the first half, I had the shots and I hit them. It seems when I'm playing my best on defense, I also play better on offense."

Houston, 14-17, connected on 30 of 34 free throws, including 21 of 23 in the first half. The Rockets got the early lead, jumping 13 points ahead late in the first quarter, but things turned sour the second half.

"Turnovers and poor shooting hurt us," Houston coach Del Harris said, looking at statistics that showed his team hit only 5 of 23 field goal attempts for 22 percent in the fourth quarter while San Antonio was sinking 11 of 17.

"It isn't hard to figure out that we would have a tough time winning. How could you figure that Rudy Tomjanovich, Calvin Murphy and Mike Dunleavy would be 11 of 33 for the night?" Harris asked.

"That made a big difference in the game. Also, we turned the ball over 10 times in the first half, while San Antonio only had three. Yet we only trailed by one point," Harris said of San Antonio's 60-59 halftime lead.

"But in the second half, we just didn't shoot well, and once again their rebounding hurt us."

Houston was led by Moses Malone with 29 points and Robert Reid with 26.

The Spurs won the game with a spurt of 12 straight points in a 3-minute span of the fourth quarter that turned Houston's 92-91 lead into a 103-92 San Antonio advantage.

Mutual Southwest radio folds after winning war

DALLAS (AP) — Mutual Southwest, a five-state regional radio network that was born three years ago and won a bidding war for broadcast rights to college and professional football is folding its news operations Dec. 27.

Although the network has over 115 stations, Mutual officials say financial problems stemming from a lack of advertising revenues prompted the decision to pull the plug.

"The termination really involves the daily broadcasts of Texas and southwest regional news," said John Butler, Mutual vice president in charge of the Dallas-based operation. "The concept was really received well, but it didn't receive the enthusiasm of the advertisers."

The network, a regional spinoff of the national Mutual Broadcasting System, was formed in early 1978 and quickly outbid long-established networks for the rights to Southwest Conference football and the professional Dallas Cowboys.

The Cowboys had been aired over the Texas State

Network since the 1960s, while an Exxon-sponsored network had handled SWC broadcasts since the 1930s.

Those lucrative contracts will not be affected by the shutdown, Butler said, and a regional sales office will be maintained in Dallas.

The Cowboy contract with Mutual has another year to run, while the SWC contract expires at the close of the 1982 season.

The football rights were a major factor in Mutual Southwest's growth, said Gene Craft, general manager of the Texas State Network, a long-established, 150-station network.

"I don't think there's any question that the rights to the Dallas Cowboys and the Southwest Conference had a lot to do with their growth," Craft said. "They didn't have a dozen affiliates until the rights to the Dallas Cowboys for a dozen years who didn't want to stop carrying them."

TSN picked up the Houston Oilers after Dallas jumped to Mutual Southwest and Craft refused to say if his network would try to get the Cowboy rights again.

"Let's just say my response was 'anything is possible,'" he said.

But Craft pointed out that the Cowboy network flagship station is owned by Metromedia, a broadcast conglomerate that purchased TSN earlier this year.

Metromedia President George Duncan does not think TSN will pick up a large number of affiliates because of Mutual Southwest's demise.

"If we get more affiliates it won't be because of this," Duncan said. "The basic product that Mutual Southwest was providing was sports features. Those folks that want to continue receiving the sports features will continue with Mutual."

Duncan would not say if future Metromedia plans include a push for the Cowboys.

"I don't know if I want to tell you that," Duncan said. "We have an existing contract with the Houston Oilers that goes for two more years."

Butler said "about eight or nine" news employees would be affected by the shutdown.

Chrissie Evert found domestic ability helped return tennis game to top form

By The Associated Press

Eleven months ago, the bottom seemed to be falling out of Chris Evert Lloyd's world.

Oh, she was playing championship level tournament tennis all right, but her heart just wasn't in it. For three straight weeks, she reached the finals of events in Washington, Chicago and Cincinnati only to lose to Martina Navratilova once and Tracy Austin twice. Chris clearly had a problem.

"On the tennis circuit, you need some...a coach, a mother, a husband, someone," she said.

Chris' someone is John Lloyd and he was busy on the men's circuit. Alone and depressed, she found no enjoyment on the court. "It wasn't happy away from him," she said.

For the first time in her life, Chris Evert Lloyd resented tennis.

"I remember calling him every night, getting emotional, crying," she said.

It was bad for her in Washington and it was worse for her in Cincinnati. In Chicago, John Lloyd left the men's tour and joined his wife. But it made no difference. Chris Evert Lloyd was clearly in very big trouble.

"My tennis was fine, but my desire for the game was gone," she said. "I felt burnt out."

So Chris did the only thing she could under the circumstance. She turned her back and walked away from the sport which had been her life. And she came ever so close to making that walk permanent.

"I don't panic at the thought of giving up competitive tennis," she said. "I went home and started being a housewife, cooking more, doing some television commentary with Bud Collins. I was domestic."

She says it now with a certain glow, as if she had proven she could do more with her life than just volley, serve, smash and lob. "I was more of a complete person," she said. "You learn to incorporate other interests."

For three months, the only tennis in her life was strictly recreational. And she prospered under those conditions.

Somewhere between the kitchen and the TV microphone, Chris' competitive fire returned. Perhaps it was a response to being written off, to seeing Navratilova and Austin hogging the attention. And that was when Lloyd decided to return to the tour.

"It was the first time in my life that I had made my own choice to play," she said.

And how she played. After returning to the circuit in May, she won 42 of 43 matches between the Italian Open and the U.S. Open, losing only in the finals at Wimbledon.

She captured her third Italian Open, her fourth French Open and her fifth United States Open. She also won the U.S. Clay Courts, Chichester, Deerfield Beach, Fla., Brighton and the Canadian Open. The victory was queen of the court.

By November, she had moved up to No. 1 in the Women's Tennis Association computer rankings. Once again, Chris Evert Lloyd was queen of the court.

Soltysova takes win

ALTENMARKT, Austria (AP) — Czechoslovakia's Jana Soltysova scored her first World Cup triumph, winning a downhill race that had four American skiers, led by Heidi Preuss, finish in the top 12.

Soltysova was timed in 1 minute, 25.11 seconds, only .08 seconds ahead of Switzerland's Doris de Agostini. Norway's Torill Fjeldstad was third at 1:25.36.

Preuss, of Lakeport, N.H., tied for seventh place with Austria's Ingrid Eberle at 1:26.11. Cindy Oak of Orchard Park, N.Y., was 10th in 1:26.34. Holly Flanders of Manchester, N.H., 11th in 1:26.43 and Cindy Nelson of Lutsen, Minn., 12th in 1:26.61.

CABLE, Wis. (AP) — Tim Caldwell edged fellow U.S. Ski Team member Bill Koch in the men's 15-kilometer cross country race of the Telemark Gitchi Gami Games.

Koch and Caldwell both are from Putney, Vt. Caldwell finished in 39 minutes, 31.57 seconds. Koch in 39:31.76.

Marquette takes big road win

By The Associated Press

It was almost like opening night jitters for Coach Hank Raymonds and his Marquette basketball team.

He had his unranked and inexperienced Warriors on the road for the first time this season, facing a highly touted Minnesota team, and the butterflies were as big as basketballs.

"I'm elated, boy, I'll tell you," Raymonds said after his Warriors rallied to beat the Gophers 92-84 at Minneapolis. "I was scared coming up here, the first time on the road with an untested team."

Trailing 65-55 with 12 minutes left in the game, Marquette finally got untracked. Guards Art Green and Mike Wilson led a nine-point surge that cut Minnesota's lead to one, and freshman Glenn Rivers, the third guard in break offense, hit two free throws to give the Warriors their first lead. Warriors' first lead.

"They just outkicked us," Gophers Coach Jim Dutcher said. "When we had to have patience, we didn't have it. You don't give up 92 points. How are you going to win giving up 92?"

Oliver "Big O" Lee was the top scorer for Marquette, hitting a career-high 30 points. Minnesota's 7-foot-1 center, Randy Breuer, scored 21 despite foul trouble that forced Dutcher to keep him on the bench part of the second half.

The victory left Marquette with a 3-1 record, the Warriors' only loss coming to 17th-ranked Illinois.

Walsh fired as Denver coach

DENVER (AP) — Donnie Walsh was fired as coach of the Denver Nuggets, a spokesman for the National Basketball Association team said, adding that assistant coach Doug Moe would take over on an interim basis.

Walsh succeeded Larry Brown as Nuggets' coach in February 1979 when Brown resigned under pressure. Walsh completed that season with 19 victories in the team's last 29 games.

The Nuggets are 11-20 this season.

Former WBC champ charged in Thanksgiving slaying

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Former World Boxing Council lightweight champion Esteban DeJesus was charged with first-degree murder in the Thanksgiving Day shooting of a 17-year-old youth, police said.

Authorities said DeJesus, 29, who held the WBC title two years, was charged in San Juan District Court in connection with the death of 17-year-old Roberto Cintron Gonzalez, who was shot with a single bullet fired from a .38-caliber pistol, according to Police Information Officer Ramon Gonzalez.

Until Sugar Ray Leonard did it last month, DeJesus was the only fighter to have beaten Roberto Duran.

GOV. FOB JAMES McLEAN STEVENSON

McLean Stevenson marries

BURBANK, Calif. (AP) — Comedian McLean Stevenson has married Johnny Carson's talent coordinator, Ginny Fosdick, whom he met three years ago on "The Tonight Show."
Stevenson, 48, married Ms. Fosdick on Dec. 8 in Captiva Island, Fla., Carson publicist Joe Bleedon said Wednesday.
Stevenson, a nephew of the late Democratic presidential nominee Adlai Stevenson, has worked on several TV series since starring in CBS' "M-A-S-H."
Carson, when told the two had married, joked, "Well, at least one of them is working."

Gov. James job seeking

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. Fob James, a former All-America football player, is wondering if maybe he's in the wrong business.

James serves as chairman of the board of trustees at Auburn University, which is looking for a new football coach. Vince Dooley, the coach at the University of Georgia, turned down a reported $1.8 million offer to take the Auburn job.

James, who was a running back in his student days at Auburn, discussed the coaching situation in a postscript to a recent letter to University of Alabama Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant.

"From what I read in the newspapers, your profession has become rather profitable — think I'll put in my application at 'the other school' and would appreciate your recommendation."
James makes $50,000 a year as governor.

Rolie leaves Santana

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gregg Rolie, one of the founders of the rock band Santana and currently with the group Journey, is leaving the group to begin a solo career. Columbia Records has announced.

Rolie, who handles the keyboards and some vocals for Journey, has an album in the works that should appear next year. He also will be producing a San Francisco Bay area group called 415, Columbia said Wednesday.

He helped Carlos Santana found Santana in 1968. His vocals are on many of Santana's early hits, including "Black Magic Woman."

Rolie moved to Journey when it was founded and appeared with the group in its first live performance in San Francisco on New Year's Eve 1973.

Ali program scratched

LONDON (AP) — A recorded program with boxing great Muhammad Ali was scrapped because his speech was slurred and incoherent, the British Broadcasting Corp. says.

The Daily Mail reported Thursday that a BBC man who was present at the recording session Friday said Ali probably was suffering from jet lag when he did the interview. He had arrived in London the day before to publicize a film.

Ali, 38, was knocked about by Larry Holmes in a recent bout in Las Vegas and there has been speculation in the United States that his speech was affected.

Eagle Rock's Coalition on Television Silliness

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Coalition on Television Silliness, a little-known watchdog organization based in Eagle Rock, Calif., has named ABC the No. 1 network in TV silliness for 1980. NBC finished a close second, followed by CBS.

For the third consecutive year, ABC's "Laverne and Shirley" was named silliest series, with an average of eight minutes of unredeeming silliness per episode.

The coalition was founded five years ago by Dr. Norman S. Neer, a local psychiatrist and consumer activist. In announcing this year's survey, Neer said:

"The documented dangers of televised silliness are shocking. From specific triggering of imitative behavior to broader effects on our nation's moral fiber, reasonable people can no longer ignore the harmful effects of massive amounts of televised silliness."

The "Silliest TV Genre" of 1980 was the celebrity competition show, ranging from "Battle of the Network Stars" to "City vs. Country Showdown." Silliest of these, Neer says, was a recent NBC entry called "Battle of Beverly Hills."

"This program logged 94 minutes of pure silly," says Neer, "and it was only a 97-minute show. Hollywood celebrities played tug-of-war while announcers called the action. It was distressing."

"Predictably, it triggered imitative behavior in a small town in the Midwest — Doltsborough, I think. It was too cold there to try the swimming pool competition, so the townspeople divided themselves into two groups and held a wacky tug-of-war on a frozen pond. The ice cracked and the mayor hasn't been seen since."

A perennial Coalition target is CBS' "Circus of the Stars," which was broadcast last Sunday and scored big in the ratings.

"What is frightening about this show," says Neer, "is that oh-so-serious announcer who whispers in serious tones the dangers involved in each star's performance. You know, a TV starlet will count backwards from 10 while riding on a horse and the guy soberly whispers, 'Ladies and gentlemen — Miss Twinkle is not attached to that horse by a safety belt!'

"What I'd like to hear the guy say is, 'Ladies and gentlemen — who would ever believe that so many of you sit captively watching this dreck!'"

The 10 silliest series, as the Coalition on TV Silliness ranked them, were:

"Laverne and Shirley," (ABC); "That's Incredible!" (ABC); "Flo," (CBS); "Too Close For Comfort" (ABC); "Three's Company," (ABC); NBC's Wednesday night schedule ("Real People," "Facts of Life" and "Diff'rent Strokes"); "Games People Play" (NBC); "One Day at a Time," (CBS).

Bogota, Colombia: capital city in blackout chaos

BOGOTA, Colombia (AP) — The rotating blackouts began this month and will last at least through April 1982, Colombia's minister of mines and energy, Humberto Avila, said in a speech.

Man foils escape of two would-be bandits

McKINNEY, Texas (AP) — Cool nerves, cold steel and a hot temper helped Ken Springer deflate the plans of two would-be bandits.

Although threatened with a shotgun, the Collin County man slashed the tires on a getaway car and then chased the frustrated robbers 20 miles Wednesday along a circuitous route that ended in a muddy field northeast of McKinney, police said.

"I'd never before done anything like this before," said Springer, the 20-year-old manager of a dry cleaning shop.

"At the time, I was kind of mad because they hit my car," said Springer. "When they ran into my car, I decided to follow them because that was the only way I could get any money to fix my car."

A Department of Public Safety helicopter and about 75 city, county and state law enforcement officers joined in the hunt for the two suspects. But police said Springer was the key to their capture.

McKinney police Lt. Doyel Davis said the incident began when two men grabbed Torchi Thompson as she was opening Town & Country Savings Association.

She foiled the robbery attempt when she broke free from their grasp and ran screaming for help, and then flagged down Springer.

"I drove around to the back of the bank and screamed off beside them and they took off running for their car, which was about a block away," Springer said.

"This motorist, who has to be one of the bravest men in Collin County, beat them to their vehicle and started slashing their tires," said Davis.

Springer used his pocket knife to slash a front tire.

Unofficially, sources within the Electric Power Co. of Bogota say the blackouts could continue until the end of 1983.

About five years ago, when Colombia had a severe shortage of both natural and propane, the government encouraged everyone to switch to electric power.

In addition, the population of this capital city has grown from about 3 million people in 1968 to about 5 million today, much faster than anyone had expected, and power needs have escalated accordingly.

The power company has been unable to handle rising demand. Aggravating the problem are several big hydroelectric projects running far behind schedule, Avila said.

The Soviet Union has offered to finance Urrea, one of the hydroelectric projects, which is expected to cost about $400 million. The Colombian government has not commented publicly on the offer. But even if Urrea were finished, the power crunch would remain severe.

So the city is now left without power during periods of highest normal use — two hours every morning between 7 a.m. and noon, 90 minutes in the evening between 6 p.m. and 10 p.m. No power is cut on Sundays.

The enforced outages are saving 25 megawatts of power, Avila said, which is a reduction of about 3 percent in metropolitan power use.

Residents in high-rise apartment buildings suffer the most. Most buildings have emergency power to operate their elevators, but few have independent generators to pump water. Because water pressure is not sufficient to supply the high-rises directly from the streets, residents go without water during the blackouts.

Dinner schedules have to be pushed up or moved back, and chores requiring electrical equipment have to be finished before 6 p.m.

Even before the mandated power outages began, residents of Bogota had coped with two months of rolling, 45-minute blackouts every evening.

Bogota's rush-hour traffic, which had already bordered on pandemonium with motorists driving down sidewalks to bypass clogged streets, running red lights and frequently turning across two or three lanes of one-way traffic, has become a nightmare with the blackouts.

Traffic accidents have increased 38 percent during blackout hours when traffic lights stand dark, the director of statistics for Bogota's traffic department, Juan Carlos Murcia, told The Associated Press.

Frustrated drivers are seen throwing punches and, on occasion, waving pistols. Thousands of people connected with Colombia's multibillion dollar illegal drug business live here, and a popular saying is that such Colombians feel more naked without their guns than they would without pants.

Pickpockets, stickup men and burglars are keying on blackout areas, but it is too early to say just how much of an increase in crime there has been, said one police official, who requested anonymity.

Companies that sell burglar alarms, lanterns and the Spanish-style wrought iron grills that fit over windows say they have been doing brisk business since the blackouts began.

Movie theater owners complain they are losing thousands of dollars because the blackouts come in prime movie-going time.

The blackouts do not include the southern industrial sector of the city, but Avila said those areas may have to be included, too, if energy savings are not sufficient in the rest of Bogota.

Meanwhile, a sort of gallows humor is settling in. The most popular jokes making the rounds deal with the expectation that Colombia's birthrate is likely to rise because people can't watch television in the evenings.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The CBS station here broadcasts 2½ hours of news, and NBC's station has a two-hour local newscast. Paralleling (or perhaps prompting) the emergence of news as a big seller has been a general softening of the news. "People" stories have health reporters, entertainment reporters and psychiatrists on staff to file reports on jogging, holiday depression, teen-age homosexuals and the like.

Christmas calls for the best

Homebake your gifts this year

It's Christmas, the season to make perfect gifts for those who have "everything" — everything except such home-baked delights as these.

Golden Butter Coffeecake boasts a crunchy topping of slivered almonds. There's real butter in the batter for rich flavor, and more in the lush browned butter glazes. The topping bakes right on, upside down, so all you have to do is turn the coffeecake out of the pan.

A fruitcake studded with sweet surprises can be tucked into gift boxes or enjoyed at an open house. Our two-tone version combines the best of two flavor worlds, dark molasses and savory spices or almond garnished fruit. Age your fruitcake for several weeks for that mellow flavor unequaled when using real butter.

Or how about the homemade goodness of a steamed pumpkin pudding made with butter's special touch, spices and pecans? Serve it with a sauce made from ready-to-pour dairy-fresh eggnog and vanilla instant pudding.

STEAMED PUMPKIN PUDDING

1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
1/4 cup sugar
3/4 cup firmly packed light brown sugar
2 eggs
2 cups regular all-purpose flour
2 teaspoons pumpkin pie spice
1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder

In a large mixing bowl cream butter; gradually add sugars and beat until light and fluffy. Beat in eggs, one at a time. Sift together flour, spice, baking powder, salt and baking soda. Add to creamed mixture alternately with pumpkin and molasses. Stir in pecans.

Turn into a well-buttered 8-cup mold. If mold has its own lid, butter inside of lid and cover mold; or use foil to cover, pressing tightly around edges and securing with rubber band or string.

Place mold on a rack in a pan with a tight-fitting cover. Pour enough water into pan to come half-way up on mold.

Bring water to boil; cover and reduce heat to simmer. Steam 2 1/2 hours or until done. Uncover. Let stand 10 minutes; unmold. Serve with Eggnog Sauce. Pudding may be refrigerated several days or cooled, wrapped and frozen several months. To heat: Thaw in refrigerator; wrap in foil and reheat at 325 F about 45 minutes. Yield: 10-12 servings.

EGGNOG SAUCE

1 1/2 cups dairy eggnog
1 cup milk

1 package (3 1/2 oz.) vanilla instant pudding mix

In a small mixing bowl at low speed blend eggnog, milk and pudding mix until smooth (about 2 minutes). Cover and chill. Serve over steamed pudding. Yield: 2 3/4 cups.

GOLDEN BUTTER COFFECAKE

DOUGH:
2 1/4-2 1/2 cups regular all-purpose flour
1 package dry yeast
3/4 cup milk

1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter
1/4 cup sugar
3/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
3/4 cup sliced almonds
3/4 cup sugar
1/4 cup light corn syrup

2 tablespoons water
2 teaspoons almond extract

To prepare dough: In a large mixing bowl combine 1 cup flour and yeast. In a 1-quart saucepan combine milk, butter, 1/4 cup sugar and salt; heat until warm (120-130 F.). Add to flour. Add egg. Beat 1/2 minute at low speed, scraping bowl constantly, then 3 more minutes at high speed. Add 1/2 cup flour and beat 1 minute longer.

Stir in enough remaining flour to make a soft dough. Turn onto lightly floured surface; knead 5-10 minutes or until smooth and satiny.

Place in buttered bowl, turning once to butter top. Cover bowl. Let rise on a rack over hot water until doubled (45-60 minutes).

To prepare butter glaze: In a 1-quart saucepan, over low heat brown butter and almonds, stirring occasionally, until amber color. Cool slightly. Stir in 3/4 cup sugar, corn syrup and water. Bring to boil. Boil 1-2 minutes; stir in extract. Divide evenly in two 8-inch round cake pans. After dough has doubled in size, punch down and divide in half. Shape each half as follows: Divide dough into 8 equal portions and shape into smooth balls.

Place balls of dough on top of nut mixture. Cover and let rise in a warm place until doubled (about 30 minutes). Bake in a preheated 350 F. oven 25-30 minutes. Invert immediately onto wire rack to cool.

Delights of HOLIDAY DINING

Just the thought of holiday dining brings delight. There's the joy of gathering friends and relatives around the table; the pleasure of filling the house with the savory fragrance of holiday cooking.

Succulent roast duckling makes a noble contribution to the feasting. It's ideal for small group of two to four. For larger groups more ducklings serve more people easily and without waste. Duckling is a bird to serve proudly for your holiday dinner and to remember on occasions throughout the year, for it's always available. Prepared duckling is a perfect protein to round out and balance a menu.

Accompany your holiday duckling with spicy, golden canned cling peach halves. They're a thrifty trick to add tradition and sparkle to the dinner. A festive fruit salad or gala steamed holiday pudding prepared for colorful fruit cocktail add the element of do-ahead ease to important occasions.

Enjoy the holidays with the warmth and delight of festive holiday dining, pleasure-filled with the ease of preparation ever ready processed foods provide.

Gandy's

But they've added a modern twist

Grandmother's secret re-discovered

In the 19th century, every homemaker baked a pound cake or two to keep on hand for unexpected guests. Many women have re-discovered grandmother's secret for success, but they've added their own modern twist. Instead of doing her own baking, today's woman purchases several frozen pound cakes to keep on hand.

Pound cake is a master of disguise. This versatile cake can be used as the base for hundreds of desserts. Especially popular are these instant versions of seven French, British, Italian and American classics.

Whether you're planning dessert for a family meal, a buffet table, an elegant dinner party or late evening snack, make it a classic by starting with a Sara Lee Original All Butter Pound Cake.

The family is sure to demand repeats of these variations of Boston Cream Pie, Cherry Cobbler and Strawberry Shortcake, three American classics. And this Cassata is a lovely Italian cake that would be ideal to serve next time you invite friends in for coffee.

Baked Alaska is the perfect ending for a special dinner. You can, if you wish, slice the cake and ice cream ahead of time, leaving only the meringue preparation for the last minute. Baking the Alaska takes just 3 to 5 minutes.

Those fancy French favorites, Petit Fours, are simply cubes of buttery pound cake that have been iced and decorated. You can add nuts, drizzles of contrasting icing, or make more elaborate designs.

Finally, there is a beautiful Pineapple Strawberry Trifle recipe, similar to the ones brought to America by the British colonists.

So, keep a pound cake and these recipes on hand. With these instant classics, you can offer pound cake-plus in just minutes.

VERY QUICK PETIT FOURS

1 frozen all butter pound cake (10 3/4 oz.), thawed
Lime and Mocha Icing

Cut pound cake lengthwise to form 2 layers. Cut each layer into thirds. Cut each third into 4 squares to make 24 petit fours. Place cake rack over cookie sheet. Prepare one recipe icing at a time. Place one piece of cake on fork. While holding over the bowl of icing, spoon icing over top and sides of cake, and let excess drip back into the bowl.

Using a small spatula, gently push coated petit four off fork onto rack. Touch up fork prints. Let dry 20-30 minutes. During icing process if icing begins to set up, add 1/2 to 1 teaspoon hot water or place bowl of icing in bowl of hot water. Makes 24 petit fours.

Lime Icing: stir 1-3rd cup limeade concentrate, heated until bubbly, into 1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar; blend until smooth. Coats 12 petit fours.

Mocha Icing: heat 1/4 cup semi-sweet chocolate pieces, 2 teaspoons instant coffee powder and 3 tablespoons water until chocolate is melted. Stir in 1 1/2 cups confectioners' sugar. Coats 12 petit fours.

To decorate: trace lines of mocha icing with toothpick in zig zag design over lime frosted cakes. Do the same with lime icing on mocha frosted cakes. OR Decorate as desired with canned decorator icing using star tip for rosettes.

Dear Abby

Teachers' Affair Gets Flunking Grade

DEAR ABBY: As a teacher at a junior high school (no name or location, please) I am deeply concerned about a situation that exists here.

First, let me say I think a major aspect of teaching is to set a good example for the students to follow in terms of behavior. However, it is common knowledge that two teachers here (both married, but not to each other) are having an affair. It has progressed to the point where it is a topic of discussion among students and other teachers.

I realize that what two adults do in private is their own business, but by being so open about it, our students might get the impression that all of us teachers condone such behavior, which is certainly not true. Thus I am truly concerned about the detrimental effect this example is having on our students.

The administration is aware of this problem, but I'm told they have taken the position that it is a private matter, and not within their jurisdiction.

I welcome your advice as to how this situation should be handled by both me and the administration.

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: Children formulate their moral values at home, long before they reach junior high school, so you needn't be concerned about their following the "bad example" set by the teachers you mention.

If this alleged affair is, as you say, common knowledge, it is possible that the administration is dealing with it in ways unknown to you. Since they haven't solicited my advice, I'll offer them none, but if I were you, I'd stay out of it.

DEAR ABBY: One of the women I work with fixed me up with a friend of hers last Saturday night. I hate blind dates, but I must admit that this one lived up to her billing.

On Monday I received a bouquet of flowers from my date. The card said, "Thank you for a terrific evening." I was really shook, but I must say I liked it.

Abby, maybe I'm behind the times, because I have never heard of a woman sending flowers to a man to thank him for a date. I suppose this is part of the women's lib thing. Tell me, is this the way women do things today?

JEFF

DEAR JEFF: Only the smart ones.

...

DEAR ABBY: For whatever this is worth: I drove a taxi for a while, and Christmas Eve was a heartbreaker. Nearly all my calls came from bars. Most of my passengers were elderly; all of them were lonely. As the evening progressed, some of my fares were so drunk I had to help them into and out of the cab.

Abby, please remind your readers to remember elderly friends and relatives who are alone on Christmas Eve.

Inexpensive, unusual

Last minute holiday gifts

The last minute rush to find gifts for teachers, friends and co-workers may find you wandering from store to store. The local five and dime store along with your supermarket have inexpensive items that can be combined to create unusual and long remembered gifts.

Here are some suggestions:

—Select three or more varieties of cheese in either wax or clear plastic wrap. Choose from the popular Cheddar, Swiss, Colby or Longhorn types. Stack the pieces on top of each other, wrap in clear plastic wrap or aluminum foil and spiral ribbon around the assortment. Include a bottle of your favorite wine for extra special people.

—Purchase a coffee cake or cinnamon rolls and add a pound of real butter. Use a straw basket to display your items.

—Combine French bread, cream cheese and a bottle of champagne for a sophisticated gift.

—Give a frozen or freshly baked apple pie with a topping of either Cheddar cheese, real whipping cream or ice cream.

—Give a kitchen gadget and the food it should be used with: a cheese slicer and a pound of cheese; a whisk or egg beater with a container of whipping cream; a dish and a pound of butter; or a dipper with ice cream.

—Line salami sausage, Swiss cheese and party rye bread in a small straw tray, lined with a set of colorful napkins.

—Tie a pretty scarf around cream cheese, crackers and a bottle of gourmet pepper-type or Worcestershire sauce. This spicy party dip or snack item is easily made by pouring the sauce over the cheese.

—Give friends your favorite dessert recipe with the ingredients to prepare it.

—Purchase inexpensive parfait, banana split or sundae glasses and include the dessert ingredients — sauces, nuts, whipping cream, cherries and ice cream.

—Give a fake candle made from a one pound wax-covered piece of cheese placed in a candle ring. Insert a piece of pipe cleaner in the top for a wick.

—Give all the ingredients for eggnog (a few cartons of dairy eggnog, whipping cream, nutmeg and a bottle of alcohol if desired).

—Wrap a variety of dips in small pieces of fabric or small handkerchiefs and include chips or crackers.

—Give a frozen cheesecake with a can of cherry or blueberry pie filling.

—Purchase inexpensive stoneware dishes and fill with port wine cheese or other processed cheese.

—Use a large clay flower pot and fill it with nuts, homemade cookies or cheese selection.

Buttery cookie variations

Magic shapes of Christmas

Gaily ornamental spritz cookies are a traditional part of the holiday festivities. Those tiny bits of buttery rich dough come out of a cookie press in the magic shapes of Christmas — wreaths, trees, stars, camels.

Decorating brings out the creative genius in you as well as the youngsters in your family. Sprinkle cookies with red and green sugar or add chocolate bits to some, candied bits of cherries, citron or fruit peel to others.

Instead of the traditional buttery rich dough try a flavor variation — almond spice, chocolate, or rum and nutmeg. With a surprisingly small number of ingredients — real butter, sugar, an egg, flour and the flavoring of your choice — you'll get eight to nine dozen cookies in the true tradition of good Christmas baking that can be used for entertaining or gifts.

SPRITZ WITH VARIATIONS

1 cup (2 stick) butter
1/2 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
Cream butter; gradually add sugar and continue beating until blended. Beat in egg and vanilla. Gradually blend in flour. Fill cookie press. Using star attachment, form circles or

"S's" on cookie sheets... or use other press designs. Decorate with sugar crystals, candied nuts or leave plain. Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, 8-10 minutes. Remove to wire rack to cool. Yield: 8-9 dozen.

Variations:
Almond spice: Substitute almond extract for vanilla; mix in 1/2 teaspoon cardamom with flour before adding to creamed mixture.
Rum and nutmeg: Substitute rum extract for vanilla; mix in 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg with flour before adding to creamed mixture.
Chocolate: Add 1 square (1 oz.) semi-sweet chocolate, melted and cooled after vanilla.

Distinguish breads by creative shaping

Holiday breads are probably the most irresistible of home-baked treats. Not only are they impressive to look at, but they fill the house with an unmistakable aroma.

There's great satisfaction in making a yeast dough fashioned "from scratch," brimful of raisins, snipped apricots, butter and spices. Shape the dough into a frosted Christmas tree, a sugary wreath or colorful candle.

These lovely breads are a mouth-watering greeting from your kitchen to someone else, a gift made with warmth and thoughtfulness.

CHRISTMAS TREE COFFEE CAKE

DOUGH:
4 1/2 — 5 cups all-purpose flour
2 packages active dry yeast

1 1/4 cups milk
1/2 cup (1 stick) butter
1/4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons grated orange peel

2 eggs
1 egg yolk

FILLING:
1 can (8 oz.) almond paste
1/2 cup finely chopped almonds
1/4 cup (1/2 stick) butter, softened
1 egg white

ICING:
1 1/4 cups confectioners sugar

2-3rd tablespoons milk
1/2 teaspoon vanilla extract

To prepare dough: In a large mixing bowl combine 2 cups flour and yeast. In a 1-quart saucepan combine milk, butter, sugar and salt; heat until very warm (120-130 degrees F.).

Add orange peel. Add liquid to flour. Add eggs and egg yolk. Beat 1/2 minute at low speed, scraping bowl constantly; then 3 more minutes at high speed. Add 1 cup flour and beat 1 minute longer. Stir in enough remaining flour to form a soft dough (about 1 1/4-1 1/2 cups).

Turn onto lightly floured surface; knead 5 to 10 minutes or until dough is smooth and satiny. Add only enough more flour to keep dough from sticking to the board. Place in buttered bowl, turning once to butter top. Cover bowl with waxed paper and towel and let stand in a warm place (80-85 degrees F.) until double in bulk, about 1-1 1/2 hours.

(To raise dough: Fill a large pan two-thirds full with hot water; place a wire rack on top and set the bowl of dough on the rack. Place in an unlit oven.)

Meanwhile prepare filling: Blend together almond paste, almonds, butter and egg white. After dough has doubled, punch down by pushing center dough with fist, then pushing edges of dough into center.

Turn onto lightly floured surface; cover with towel and let rest 10 minutes. Roll dough out to form a 16x14-inch rectangle. Cut off a strip 14x2 inches; set aside for 1st. Spread filling on square of dough (filling is thick).

Fold dough in thirds. Roll out to make a 14x9-inch rectangle. Cut off a strip 9x2 inches, divide this strip in half and set aside to use as bases for trees. To form trees: From the long side of dough, cut a triangle from top edge center point to bottom outside edges. Remove this tree to cookie sheet.

Place two half trees remaining on another cookie sheet, straight sides together. Pinch center seam to seal. Place bases at bottom of tree and pinch to seal. Decorate trees with remaining dough, making ropes or ornaments.

To make ornaments, wrap small balls of dough around red or green candied cherries. (Brush dough with a little water so decorations will stick.)

Brush melted butter over trees. Cover with waxed paper, then a towel. Let rise in a warm place until doubled (about 40 minutes). Bake in preheated 350 degree oven, 15-20 minutes. Carefully slide onto wire racks to cool. Decorate before serving.

To prepare icing: Combine sugar and milk until smooth; add vanilla. Use a pastry brush to brush on icing.

Do pickles and potatoes festoon your yule tree?

Does your Christmas ornament collection include pickles, peacocks, parakeets and potatoes?

Probably not. According to historians at Hallmark Cards, however, glass ornaments made from the late 1900s until the 1930s often included fruit, vegetables and birds.

Besides traditional acorns and oranges, early ornament craftsmen also created pickles, potatoes, tomatoes and even corn-on-the-cob, explains Keith Davis, curator of the various Hallmark collections.

"Pickle ornaments are among the more valued collectors' items because glass blowers held cucumbers in low esteem and didn't make very many," Davis says. "Ears of corn were also rare because they were generally unpopular with Germans, who were the major craftsmen of early ornaments. Germans consider corn to be pig swill, but Americans insisted on using it as a tree decoration."

Songbirds, parakeets, peacocks and birds in nests, birdhouses and cages were particularly popular ornaments. "Birds have long been symbolic of the spiritual world and are considered to be messengers of God and love," says Davis.

Many of the birds held special meaning. Owls, for example, were symbols of wisdom and were very popular at the turn of the century. Birds in nests, birdhouses or cages symbolized the sanctity of the happy home. Swans stood for beauty and purity; peacocks symbolized vanity and pride.

Storks stood for motherhood, but few examples of stork ornaments exist today because their legs and necks were very fragile and most have been broken.

In recent years, the popularity of bird ornaments has given way to Santa Claus figures, drummer boys and other Christmas symbols.

But bird ornaments still appear, usually as redbirds or cardinals, because of their holiday coloring.

Hallmark reports that elaborately crafted as well as dated ornaments are especially popular today, with Muppets, angels and elves all well represented.

CUCUMBERS, CORN AND POTATOES may seem unlikely candidates for dressing up a Christmas tree, but they were quite popular in the early 1900s. These ornaments are from the Historical Ornament Collection of Hallmark Cards.

'Christmas is many things' says Mrs. Hefley to Past Matron's Club

Doris Mason and Elva Biffar were hostesses at a "Dutch Treat" dinner-meeting Tuesday evening for the Past Matrons' Club of Big Spring Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, in the El Matador Room of the Spanish Inn Restaurant.

President Vera Gross called for reports from Ruth Pittman, Pyrlie Bradshaw, Thelma Helton, Ila Keathley, Edith Murdock, Dorothy Hull, Mary Arnold Hefley, Sue Stripling, Doris Mason and Mae Hayden.

Mrs. Rogers Hefley gave the Christmas program, "Joy to the World." She told the members that Christmas is many things — church bells ringing, glittery trees, gaily wrapped presents, buttery cookies, wide-eyed children, crackling fires, sweet-voiced carols, chestnut-stuffed turkeys and wreaths of holly and pine.

Christmas is a time for the family gathering. It is a time for giving thanks. A time not just for being happy, but for making other people happy. It is a time to take stock, think on the bright side and know that each person creates his own special times at Christmas.

"We find our special ornaments, create our special dishes, delight in hanging the mistletoe or placing the star as we have done before," she said.

The members exchanged gifts and sent cards to the shut-ins. New officers were elected for the ensuing term.

Dorothy Hull, president; Mary Arnold Hefley, vice-president; Doris Mason, secretary; and Ruth Pittman, treasurer.

"Happy Birthday was sung to Isla Davis, Mae Hayden, Willie Mae Dabney and Margie Baker. Marjorie Errington, president of the West Texas Past Matrons' and Past

Patrons' Association gave the thought for December, "Friendship needs no symbol or vow to make it whole, it's just a sacred covenant that's locked within the soul. It knows no creed or station or thought of gain or fame for what it does is sacred and is done in friendship's name."

The West Texas Past Matrons' and Past Patrons' Association will meet Jan. 10 at the Masonic Hall, 1300 North Avenue "G," Lamesa for a dinner-meeting and installation of officers.

Hostesses for the next meeting of the Big Spring Past Matrons' Club will be Vera Gross and Mae Hayden on Jan. 13, 7 p.m. at the Spanish Inn.

Lucky Acres 4-H Club makes candy wreaths

The Lucky Acres 4-H Club met Dec. 1 at the Texas Electric Reddy Room.

Joining the meeting were members from the Knott, Coahoma, and Gay Hill 4-H clubs.

Jamie Phillips, president, introduced a representative from John Deere Co., who presented a program on farm equipment safety.

Cale Hunt, Knott 4-H'er, explained a safety project being launched by 4-H clubs in Howard County. Members will be selling safety emblems.

After refreshments were served, Lucky Acres members made Christmas candy wreaths to be delivered to nursing homes and various other places in Big Spring.

TWEEN 12 and 20

Why not walk to school?

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I'm in the eighth grade, 13, and in trouble.

Yesterday I woke up late for school and missed the school bus. My mom was also late for work so she couldn't drive me to school so I asked her if I could stay home and she said yes.

Well, my girlfriend was also staying home because she had a sore back. About 10 I went over to see her at her house.

When I got home at 4 my father was waiting for me. He accused me of skipping school and grounded me for two weeks. I think my father has done me a great injustice. What can I do about it? — Dolly, Florence, Ala.

Dolly: You asked your mother if you could stay home and she said yes. Spending most of the day at your friend's house wasn't in the agreement.

I think your father handed down justice and it was deserved. Why couldn't you have walked to school?

Dr. Wallace: Are all of your letters real or do you make some of them up? My mother thinks most of them are "far-fetched" but I don't. — June, Sidney, Ohio

June: Thanks for your faith. Believe me, all of the letters printed in this column are factual and indeed did come from teen-agers throughout the United States and Canada. As many as 5,000 letters come in on any given week.

Your mother may doubt the authenticity of some of the letters but she will recognize this one.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a guy who made a stupid mistake. My girl broke up with me because during a weak moment, I said something cruel and nasty to her, but I really didn't mean it.

I have told her that I am human and humans make mistakes and asked her to forgive me but she won't. Please tell me how to get her back. — James, Lake Charles, La.

James: I can't guarantee that you will ever get her back. It depends on how cruel and how nasty you were and how deeply your behavior has affected her.

Your girlfriend (former girlfriend?) needs time. Tell her for the last time that you were wrong and that you are

Council takes initial step

Two places to cast ballots

By JAMES WERRELL
The Big Spring City Council took the first step in consolidating voting precincts here, during its regular meeting, 5 p.m. Tuesday.

If the plan passes on second reading, Big Springers will be able to cast ballots for city, school board and Howard College elections at one of two locations instead of separate ones for each election. Precinct 1 would feature all three ballots at the North Side Fire Station while all other boxes would be located inside the Howard College Coliseum.

"We have met with the Big Spring Independent School District and Howard College on this. The plan is a result of the ordeal we went through last April when people had to go to three different locations to vote in the city, school board and college elections," said City Manager Don Davis. "We think the plan would ease the election process and allow the city to economize at the same time."

According to Davis, the city was required to employ 30 officials to man polling places during the last election. Under the new system, that number could be reduced to eight, he said.

"I understand the theory, but I'm still against it," said Councilman Larry Miller. "I think it will make things even worse for voters. Why can't the school and college place ballots at each location?"

"Then we'd still have to hire the same number of people," said Davis. "People will have to drive to the college, but that's still more convenient than driving to three different boxes," he added.

Davis was also asked why all the precincts couldn't be consolidated at the college instead of allowing Precinct 1 to remain at the North Side Fire Station.

"We think we should provide a central location for voters on the north side," he said. "Besides, the attorney general might not approve a relocation. Someone might get the idea that we are trying to gerrymander something in the minority areas."

All but Miller decided to give the new plan a try, and passed a resolution on first reading.

A total of 63 persons attended a planning session to determine uses for federal grants, compared to just one at the last such meeting. The city will submit a preapplication to the Department of Housing and Urban Development for over $1.8 million to finance projects primarily on the north side of the city.

The meeting was held Monday night, and the first priority of those present was improvement of neighborhood streets. To meet this need, $250,000 of the total grant will be earmarked for paving and installing curbs and gutters on 25 blocks in the designated area.

Other funds will be used for cleanup projects and the rehabilitation of a number of homes. Homes that can't be repaired will be purchased with the funds and demolished, and their occupants relocated.

Officials of the Planned Parenthood Agency in Odessa attended the meeting and proposed that the Big Spring facility be rehabilitated. Only 22 of those present expressed an opinion on that project, and eight of those were against it.

"I have some question about helping an agency that already receives private funds and other contributions," said Davis.

"As much controversy as that agency has caused, I agree," added Miller.

When the vote for approval of the preapplication took place, councilmen voted to shift the $30,000 proposed for Planned Parenthood to further street improvements.

The council also voted in favor of asking state representatives and legislators to establish a municipal court of record. If established, such a court would be required to transcribe the proceedings of each trial at the city level, using either a court reporter or a video recording.

If the case is appealed to the county level, the transcript will be submitted into the proceedings.

Members approved a list of specifications for seven new cars to be purchased for the Big Spring Police Department. The cars will be much the same as those already used by police, except the required engine size will be reduced from 351 to 310 cubic inches.

Five of the autos will be used by uniformed patrolmen, while two will be unmarked for use by detectives. The approximately $49,000 needed for the purchase of the cars will come out of the city's revenue sharing budget.

The council also voted to turn over Adams Street, which runs through the middle of Howard College, to the college. Dr. Charles Hays, president of the college, said that the street will be closed to through-traffic sometime in the future.

"There aren't many colleges in the country that have a city street running through the middle of their campus. We would like to limit Adams to pedestrian traffic as part of our plan for the future of the college," said Hays. "Of course, the only thing blocking traffic will be a short curb, so the fire department could still use the road if necessary," he added.

In other business, council members:

- Presented a five-year service pin to Mark Campbell, city building inspector.
- Awarded a bid for the construction of a railroad spur inside the Industrial Park to Sparks and Hudson Company. The project is expected to take 120 days.
- Passed on second reading ordinances allowing City Attorney Elliott Mitchell to take legal steps to collect delinquent Industrial Park rental payments, and to settle damage claims against the city that amount to less than $500 when no personal injury is involved.

Deputies transport 4 to state penitentiary

Howard County Sheriff's Deputies transferred four men to state prison today, two of them on revocation of probation.

Melvin Ray Heffington, 4111 Muir St., and Austin Sherrill, Jr., Walnut Spring, Tex., will serve prison terms. Heffington will start a four-year term and Sherrill a three-year term.

Both ex-probationers entered pleas of guilt in 118th District Court Tuesday.

Heffington was arrested Dec. 11 by Howard County Sheriff's Office on suspicion of a Dec. 7 DWI. He was arrested Aug. 19 on suspicion of disorderly conduct and public intoxication.

Heffington was given a 10-year probation July 17 when he entered a plea of guilt to burglary-breaking and entering.

Bobby Wayne White, 901 N.W. Fifth, who entered a plea of guilt to the break in of the D and A Pipeyard, will serve a three-year sentence.

Robert Dale Daily, 20, 2525 N. Chanute Dr., entered a plea of guilt Tuesday in 118th District Court to unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

Daily was arrested Friday at the Sheriff's Office. The Japanese-born Daily will serve a four-year sentence.

White and Daily were taken to prison today.

Domestic arguments keep officers busy

Except for breaking up six domestic arguments, Big Spring Police spent a very busy Tuesday.

The first domestic was reported at 9:17 p.m. Tuesday, and the last was settled at about 2:30 this morning. No one was hurt in the scuffles.

Sometime early this morning, thieves stole two glass T-tops from a 1977 Buick Regal belonging to William H. Young, Barcelona Apartments. The equipment was valued at $300.

The only other criminal activity was the theft of a mother-in-law's tongue plant from the front porch of the home of Angie Bravo, 711 San Antonio, Tuesday afternoon. The plant was valued at $10.

Four mishaps were reported Tuesday.

A vehicle driven by William Bordsoske, 705 W. 15th, struck a street barricade at 14th and Douglas, 8:23 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Mike Eggleston, P.O. Box 391, and Adolph Garcia, Knott Route, collided at Highway 87 and the North Service Road of IS-20, 9:34 p.m.

A vehicle driven by Mark Bergeron, 2717 Cindy, struck a curb at IS-20 and Tulane, 11:58 p.m.

Airplane used to seek patient

A search by horse, foot and airplane got under way at 8 p.m. Monday for a 67-year-old Big Spring State Hospital walk-away.

The pajama-clad man was searched for by the Howard County Sheriff's posse on horseback through the 20 acres of wood and brushland west of the state hospital.

One hospital employee searched by air in all directions. Other employees searched the area west of the hospital by foot last night.

"He's 67-years-old and confused," said Gordon Canner, administrator of treatment unit. "He didn't escape; he walked off. People don't escape from out here because this is not a locked hospital."

Hospital admissions are sometimes voluntary, he explained. "If they don't get what they want they just walk off."

The patient walks with a limp and a shuffle, has a butch haircut and sometimes talks coherently.

Heads medical center

Former resident promoted

Glen D. Bunn, formerly of Big Spring, administrator of Gilmer Hospital and Ragland-Fenlaw-Ford Clinic Association in Gilmer, has been appointed executive director of Gilmer's Upshur Medical Center, a unit of Baylor University Medical Center. Units in the Upshur Medical Center include the new Ford Memorial Hospital; T.S. Ragland Memorial Clinic and the Gilmer Convalescent Center. The announcement was made by Baylor University Medical Center Senior Vice President, L. Gerald Bryant.

Bunn will continue his duties with the present hospital and clinic until the transition is completed.

Dr. Madison S. Ragland, Chairman of the Board of Gilmer Hospital, Inc., said in a letter of recommendation that during his tenure, Bunn was principally responsible for a changeover from a partnership type operation into two separate entities. He credited him with a remodeling program which resulted in a four bed ICU-CCU Unit, recovery and family room; being fully accredited four straight times by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals; successfully recruiting physicians; working closely with the construction of a new medical complex; and maintaining the clinic and hospital's primary goal of quality patient care. Bunn has been associated with the Gilmer institution since May, 1967.

A 1952 graduate of Big Spring High School and Texas Christian University, Bunn received an honorable discharge after serving four years with the United States Navy. He served aboard the USS Oak Hill and 18 months on the Admiral's Staff of the Commander of the Naval Forces of the Philippines. From 1977-1979 he was administrative consultant for the Gilmer Convalescent Center.

The administrator is past president of the Northeast Council of Health Resources; served as Board member of the Northeast Texas Health Systems Agency; past president of the Upshur County Chamber of Commerce; campaign director of the Upshur County March of Dimes; member of Northeast Texas Health Advisory Group; member of the Gilmer Country Club; and has served on the Board of the Gilmer Rotary Club.

He pointed out how fortunate Gilmer is to be associated with Baylor University Medical Center. Baylor, the state's largest hospital and second largest voluntary, private, and general hospital system in the United States, has five hospitals included in the Dallas campus with 1,275 beds. It was founded in 1903 and has been recognized as one of the top ten medical centers in the country. Dewey Preeley of Gilmer is chairman of the board while Boone Powell, Jr., is president of the medical center.

The new executive director pledged that he and the staffs of the hospital and convalescent center will fulfill Baylor's primary mission "to give quality patient care in a Christian environment" for the patients of the new ultra-modern hospital, professional clinic and the residents of the 109 bed convalescent center.

Bunn is a former personnel director of the Big Spring State Hospital. He is the brother of Billy A. Bunn, Route 1, Big Spring.

Firm extended contract to remodel bleachers

COAHOMA — A $213,530 bid extended by the Southern Bleacher Construction Company to remodel home-side bleachers, build new visitors' bleachers and install new lights at the Coahoma football field was accepted by the Coahoma school board in its meeting held Monday evening.

In other action, the trustees passed a resolution to approve the official notice of the sale and bid form for the school's $6 million building program.

Danella Souter was employed as a fourth grade teacher, replacing Mrs. Shirley Bradshaw, who resigned effective Dec. 19. Mrs. Souter is a recent graduate of UTPB with a degree in elementary education.

Joe Morren was named the school auditor for the 1981-82 school year. Selected to the textbook committee were Tomasa Perez, Bo Fryar, Vickie Harriman, Sherry Rowden, Patsy Blackwell, Martha Spell, Myrtle Tindol, Bill Easterling, Rob Ethridge, Harry Herbst, Tom Spell, Danella Souter and Richard Souter.

The trustees approved plans for a new Special Education Co-Op Building to be built in Big Spring, which the district will share with Coahoma, Forsan, Stanton, Garden City, Greenwood and Grady.

The January board meeting was changed from the 19th to the 26th.

Supt. Richard Souter offered a report on the cafeteria special milk program, proposed the school's calendar for 1981-82, detailed a proposal for the Vocational Ag shop and the use of the elementary school cafeteria when the new school is completed, reported on the maintenance of grounds in the bus storage and the NASB Convention in Dallas, discussed personnel contracts for next year and approved moving the old visitors' stands to the rodeo grounds, providing portable stands on the home side of the baseball field and adding lights to the baseball field.

Souter also updated the trustees on his conferences with architect Tommy Huckabee concerning the building program and noted that the deadline for filing homestead exemptions under Housebill 1060 is April 1, 1981.

All residential homeowners are eligible for $5,000 exemptions. All residential homeowners over 65 years of age are eligible for $5,000 and $10,000 exemptions. All disabled, under the Federal Old Age, Survivors and Disability Insurance program administered by the Social Security Administration, are eligible for $5,000 and $10,000 exemptions. Exemption forms for 1981 are being mailed to all who claimed an exemption for 1980. Those who are eligible for exemptions in 1981 are being advised to go by the school tax office and apply in the Administration building. Those who received exemptions in 1980 but failed to get exemption forms in the mail are also advised to go by the office.

Tree growing business is growing like Texas weeds

ROSE HILL, Texas (AP) — With the price of Christmas trees growing taller than the evergreens, more and more Texans are getting into the business of nurturing young saplings.

A lot of people think Texas can grow nothing but oil wells and cactus. Not so, says Hugh Epps, a Walker County extension agent.

But, he warns that it takes a lot of work, from the day of planting to the day of harvesting.

"You've got to watch your trees closely, year round," Epps said in a recent interview. "It's not easy."

Gophers can attack the root systems of seedlings and the pine, moth is tough on the trunk and limbs.

Donnelly Hawkins, a 75-year-old retired plumber, cleared a plot on the family a few years ago and planted a crop of Virginia pines.

Q. How can I look sensational on special occasions?

A. Create a sensation with bows—the newest look in footwear today. Tuxedo pumps have made a comeback and they're bigger and better than ever! Choose from a variety of beautiful bows on your favorite Joyce silhouettes. Try them on! Bows can look elegant, festive, sophisticated... it depends upon your mood and what you're wearing. Best of all, Joyce bow pumps create the fabulous look you want for those very special occasions.

Buffalo Queens stomp Seagraves

SEAGRAVES — The Forsan girls opened up their District 5-AA basketball schedule by taking a lopsided win, but it was just the opposite for the Forsan boys as the two teams played at Seagraves.

The Forsan girls upped their season record to 9-2 in the conference opener with a 71-27 triumph. The contest was a rout from the beginning.

Monica Dyess enjoyed her biggest point production of the year for the Buffalo Queens, pouring in 18 points. Christi Adams and Lavonne Brumley added 14 for the Forsan girls.

The Forsan girls of Coach Ron Taylor return to action tomorrow in the Borden County Tournament at which time they face Sands at 3:00 p.m.

The Forsan boys were never in their game against Seagraves, as the host school jumped out to a 20-3 lead in the opening stanza and refused to look back in going on for a 69-26 win.

Three Seagraves players hit in double figures, with Middleton and Terrell each having 16.

Rickey Bedwell had five points to lead the anemic Forsan boys scoring attack.

The Forsan boys, who also meet Sands in the Borden County Tournament tomorrow, are now 6-4 on the year.

In a girls JV game, Forsan triumphed over Seagraves by a 45-42 count. Teresa White paced the young Buff Queens with a 16-point night.

MORE THAN BIG — When the Houston Oilers All-Pro offensive tackle Leon Gray went down for the year during the recent Pittsburgh Steeler contest, a young 330-pound rookie had to step in and fill his shoes. That rookie, Angelo Fields (shown above), was not highly respected by many before he took the field, but his performance thus far has been impressive. He'll start again when the Oilers try for an important win over the Minnesota Vikings on Sunday.

Lamesa stops cold Steers

LAMESA — The Lamesa Golden Tornados gained a measure of revenge here Tuesday night by taking a 53-44 win over the cold shooting Big Spring Steers.

The game was close throughout, but the Steers couldn't overcome the Lamesa team as there was hardly any point production from the outside.

"They had a balanced attack, and we did not," Steer Coach Ed Haller admitted.

"We played sporadically throughout the contest," Haller continued. Our effort was good, but we broke down badly on defense. They were patient, and when they penetrated and kicked the ball off to the open man, we didn't cover it up."

But while the Steer guards didn't have a good night from the shooting standpoint, post man Bobby Earl Williams did. The 6'2" junior scored 16 points and snatched 11 rebounds. James Doss, a guard, added eight points and seven rebounds, while Robert Rubio also had eight points.

The Steers, now 4-7 on the year, return to action tomorrow in the Reese Air Force Base Tournament in Lubbock. It is an eight team tournament of some of the finest teams around, and the Steers will open with the very tough Lubbock Dunbar outfit.

Dunbar led the second ranked team in the state in Class AAAAA Midland High, last Friday night before losing by three points.

By quarters: Big Spring 12 12 12 8-44; Lamesa 15 12 14 21-53.

Stanton takes win

KLONDIKE — The Stanton Buffaloes continued their wild scoring ways here Tuesday, running wild in the early going en route to an 81-70 win over the Klondike Cougars in a non-district boys basketball game.

Stanton raced to a 49-33 lead over Klondike and never was seriously threatened in the second half by the Cougars.

David McReynolds canned 25 points to lead the Stanton scoring attack, with Craig Eiland and Lewis Henry adding 20 and 18 points, respectively.

Klondike's Randy Holcombe led all scorers in the contest, however, with 26 points. Clay Holcombe added 17.

Stanton, now 8-3 on the year, will resume action on December 30, at which time they will travel to face Reagan County.

By quarters: Stanton 21 28 20 12-81; Klondike 16 17 18 19-70.

Lubbock girls rally to stop Big Spring

The Lubbock High girls basketball team rallied from an early deficit and used a late full court press to hold off the Big Spring Steers girls basketball team here Tuesday night by a score of 53-40.

The Steer fems held a 15-11 lead after one stanza, but the Lubbock High team came back at that point to take the halftime lead.

The Steer fems held a 15-11 lead after one stanza, but the Lubbock High team came back at that point to take the halftime lead.

Big Spring Coach Sandra Brown felt the big difference in the game was the man-to-man press in the fourth quarter, but still had words of praise for her squad. "We had a very good team effort," she stated. "And Elise Wheat, Shell Rutledge and Shirley Dixon all did an excellent job on the boards."

Wheat paced the Big Spring team with 14 points, with Sissy Doss and Rutledge adding nine. LaShaun Zahn paced the Lubbock team with 15 points.

In the JV contest, Lubbock emerged with a 57-29 win. Tracey Williams had 13 for the Big Spring JV, with Teresa Ezell adding eight.

By quarters: Big Spring 15 20 32 40; Lubbock 11 27 26 53.

Coahoma, Greenwood split decisions

COAHOMA — Both the Coahoma boys and girls basketball teams matched their strengths with powerful Class A Greenwood, with the two schools splitting decisions.

The Coahoma boys basketball team scored a big win in the non-district meeting with a pulsating 43-41 triumph in the final seconds.

Greenwood, ranked number one in the state in Class A, took a 25-19 halftime lead before Coahoma came back to take a 33-31 lead after three stanzas.

But Greenwood rallied to regain the lead in the final stanza, only to see the Bulldogs of Coach Doug Harriman tie the count with less than two minutes to play.

With the score knotted at 41-41 with 1:39 left, the Coahoma team held the ball and played for the final shot. Scoring ace Philip Ritchey received the hero chance, and connected on a 15-foot jumper with only two seconds showing on the clock for what would be the winning points.

Greenwood then called time out for one final shot. They threw the ball three-fourths of the length of the court on the in-bounds pass, but Tommy Somers' 35-foot shot at the buzzer bounced off the rim.

Ritchey led all scorers in the contest with 20 points, while sophomore Rodney Whitworth added 12 for Coahoma. The Bulldogs are now 7-2 on the year.

Greenwood, now 8-2 on the year, was paced by Rex Evans' 15 points.

There were many heroes for the Coahoma team in the win. Besides Ritchey and Whitworth, Harriman singled out the floor games of Michael Meyer, Bobby Joe Tucker and Jay Hall. Tucker and Hall came off the bench and played well in crucial situations.

"It was one of the biggest wins we've had since I've been here as the coach, if not the biggest," said an elated Harriman.

The rugged Coahoma girls team was not as fortunate, as they dropped a 37-29 decision to the undefeated Greenwood squad.

The Greenwood girls played a slow, deliberate game and it paid off in their tenth win of the year without a loss. The Coahoma girls are now 8-3 on the year.

The contest was close throughout, as Greenwood held only a three-point lead heading into the final stanza.

Evans paced the Greenwood team with 12 points, with Coahoma's Andrea Fowler matching that point output.

As in the varsity action, the JV squads of the two schools also split their games.

The Coahoma boys JV team scored an easy 62-42 win over Greenwood. Brad Fryar had 14 points for the Coahoma JVs, with Brett Sterling adding 13 and Ricky Martin 10.

The Greenwood girls JV team took a narrow 35-31 win over the Coahoma girls JV squad. Shana Souter paced the young Bulldog fems with nine points.

All of the Coahoma teams return to action this Friday, at which time they travel to meet Abilene Wylie.

Goliad girls win

Green and Monique Jones drew praise from Coach Linda Jones for their floor play. The Goliad girls return to action on January 8, at which time they host Lamesa JHS.

Five receive certificates for phases of seminar

Certificates were awarded in Monday night ceremonies for the completion of the first two phases of the personal and career development seminar.

They went to Sue Baker, Busy Bees exchange gifts

The Busy Bee Club met in the home of Mrs. Paul Sweatt Dec. 11, at 10:30 a.m. Coffee and cookies were served before gifts were exchanged. The gifts were either made, grown, or baked and consisted of crocheted items, pillows, cookies, cakes.

After pictures were taken, the group went to the Bonanza for lunch.

The next meeting will be a covered dish luncheon in the home of Laura Duke at 1811 Lancaster, Jan. 8.

employed by the Colorado River Municipal Water District; Bonnie Long and Donnette Phillips, both employed by the Texas Electric Service Co.; Shirley Shroyer, employed by the Big Spring State Hospital; Maxine Myers, employed by the Western Container Co.; and Sue Willbanks, employed by the Big Spring Independent School District.

Also present were Dene Sheppard, Cecilia McKenzie, and Judy Murphy.

This seminar was held in Big Spring but similar seminars are offered in other areas. Participants attended weekly seminar meetings for eight weeks during which time a personal plan of action was developed by each participant and various areas of development were explored in group settings.

The remaining nine months of this year-long program will involve one-to-one counseling and follow-up mail service of study materials.

The seminar and follow-up program is aimed at personal development in every facet of one's life: career-financial, physical-health, family, social, mental-cultural, spiritual-ethical.

It is designed to help an individual take the restrictions off herself by removing the self-imposed limitations, developing winning characteristics, thinking and acting positively, decisively and immediately, giving up guilt, learning to accept self and others, learning to share one's self by effective communications, and learning the power of the self-fulfilling prophecy, affirmations, visualizations and goal setting.

Built into this program, which started in September and will end in August 1981, are the printed texts, cassette tapes and action assignments, progress conference with supervisors, a client-counselor relationship, and a follow-up program.

'Joke' causes pain

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: Last June I dated Steve. One of my so-called friends decided to play a joke on him and told him that I was pregnant. One night Steve got drunk and told all his friends about "our serious problem."

To make a long story short, everyone in school thinks that I was pregnant and had an abortion.

I still have people coming up to me and asking me about it. My friends said the talk would fade away but it hasn't and it's been almost six months.

Please help me. It really hurts a lot. — Sandi, Newark, Ohio

Sandi: If anyone else should ask you about "your serious problem," politely say that you never had one and say no more! Don't try to explain what didn't happen. It will fade away!

Dr. Wallace: My 17-year-old brother has a problem with drugs. I've never seen him talking but I have heard him talking on the phone to his friends about needing more drugs.

I love my brother but because of our age difference, I'm 14, we are not close. Please tell me what to do. — Jackie, Tacoma, Wash.

Jackie: There is a difference between being a tattletale and someone who tells to help a brother on the verge of trouble. Tell your parents what you overheard.

would write to me. So far I have written to him twice but he has not answered.

Please give me some helpful advice as I really like this guy and want to hear from him. — Sally, Santa Barbara, Calif.

Sally: Boys are notorious "non-letter writers." (I receive four letters from teen girls for every one letter from a boy.)

Write him one more letter and tell him to call you (don't forget to give him your telephone number). Regardless of how far away he lives, if he cares for you, he will call.

If he doesn't contact you, then the message is clear.

Write to Dr. Robert Wallace, TWEEN 12 and 20, Copy News Service, in care of this newspaper. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Abby Girl Worried About Growing Up but Not Out

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that is ruining my love life. I am 14 and flat-chested. I have reached puberty, but my chest isn't growing. I am 5 feet 7 and weigh 100 pounds. Could it be because I am so skinny? Are there exercises I can do to make me bigger? I will do anything.

Guys think I'm pretty, but they don't want a "flatso" for a girlfriend. Please tell me what to do.

CHEATED IN CHINO

DEAR CHEATED: First, get over the idea that "guys don't want a flatso for a girlfriend." Guys prefer girls who are fun, natural, and feel good about themselves. Don't place so much importance on your dimensions. You may be a late bloomer, but if you're a flatso forever, be proud of the way God made you, and don't feel cheated.

DEAR ABBY: I can't believe that after 30 years of marriage to a kind and decent man I'm actually writing about a problem that has bugged me for years.

We have five terrific kids and I'm not unhappy, but I am absolutely dying for a compliment from my husband. He never gives me credit for anything. When I ask him if he loves me, he says, "I married you, didn't I?"

I made a really beautiful dress, and all he said was, "The color is nice."

When I washed, polished and cleaned out his car, which is his pride and joy, he said, "Gee, that portable vacuum cleaner sure does a great job."

I knock myself out selecting gifts for members of his family — even for his mother on Mother's Day. He signs the cards, takes all the credit and never gives me a word of praise.

He's clean, helps me with the housework, is a good provider and a wonderful father. He doesn't drink or run around like some men, so maybe I shouldn't complain. When a compliment is in order and he doesn't say a word, I feel like crying. What should I do?

NO COMPLIMENTS

DEAR NO COMPLIMENTS: When you feel like crying, go ahead and cry. And don't hide your tears. If he asks why you're crying, tell him.

Face it — after 30 years he's not apt to change. Some people (women, too) simply can't bring themselves to compliment anybody. A comforting thought: Talk is cheap. Deeds say more.

Do you have questions about sex, love, drugs and the pain of growing up? Get Abby's new booklet: "What Every Teen-ager Ought to Know." Send $2 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Teen Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Pay incentive plan adopted

New phone system OKed

Two building projects of significance will be undertaken at Howard College in the near future and school officials will enter into a contract with Southwestern Bell Telephone to expand and upgrade the college's telephone system.

HC President Dr. Charles Hays discussed the plans at length with members of the college board at their meeting held at noon Tuesday at the school.

Hays said the money is now in sight for the remodeling of the school administration, a move designed to add more office space. The air conditioning system will be expanded and space created for two vaults where college records are kept. Cost of the building program, which will largely be undertaken by college personnel, will not exceed $60,000.

Some of the trustees were to gather at the school again this morning to decide upon a location for a new sign, which will serve to advertise current and coming attractions in the coliseum. Money for the project was donated by a friend of the school. Work on the sign's base will be undertaken by college personnel.

Trustees approved plans for a new telephone system. Cost of the system was calculated at $3,973 a month for ten years, after which the fee will drop to $2,934.60. The system will provide up to 300 phones at both the main campus and the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf.

The school pays $1,717.19 monthly for the system it now uses and demands are being made on it which cannot be met, according to Hays.

Trustees also decided to adopt a pay incentive plan and study its effectiveness for a year. Upwards to 40 percent of the money allotted for salaries at the college would go into the incentive pay program, according to Dr. Hays.

No changes will be made in the college catalog. A $21,772.94 bid for two college vehicles, including a van, extended by Bob Brock Ford of Big Spring was accepted. Six bids were sought but only three were received. The other two came from out of town — Rogers Ford of Midland and White Motor Company of Stanton.

The title of Ann Duncan, who has been serving as the assistant director of Financial Aide, was changed to that of Director of Financial Aide. Ms. Duncan will continue to receive the same salary.

Several promotions will be undertaken by school personnel and its students to raise funds to see a college representative to the 1981 Deaf Olympics.

WINNER GETS AWARD — Mark Bailey (right), manager of K's Thrift Center in downtown Big Spring, extends congratulations to J.J. Fitts of 1102 Lloyd, who recently won a 12-inch B&W TV set in a drawing held at the store.

Clements joins firm's sales force

Janie Clements has joined Home Realtors as a sales associate, having completed the intensive RELO real estate marketing training program, according to Sue Brown, owner-broker.

Mrs. Clements just moved to Big Spring from Houston where she and her family lived for the last 8 years. Mrs. Clements had been recruited for real estate in Houston by Laguarda, Gavrel and Kirk, Inc., of which owner Julio Laguarda is the incoming president of the National Association of Realtors. Janie Clements is married to Cliff Clements, Advertising Director of the Big Spring Herald. They have two daughters, 11 and 7 years old. Mrs. Clements, originally from Lubbock, is a Texas Tech graduate. Before she entered the field of real estate, she taught school for four years. She is a member of the Methodist Church.

By joining Home Realtors, with offices in Coronado Plaza, Mrs. Clements became part of RELO, world leader in relocation; major corporations have used RELO for employee transfers for 20 years. Since Home Realtors is the local exclusive authorized member of RELO, Mrs. Clements will know of families moving into the Big Spring area, and will immediately have prospects who are ready and able to purchase some of Home Realtor's listings.

RELO affiliated realtors are leading the profession in other marketing concepts and programs available to their clients; some of these effective marketing techniques include a home warranty plan, free appraisals by only designated appraisers, equity advance plans, and video listing service. The home warranty plan begins immediately when the home owner lists their home for sale with Home Realtors and has only a $50 deductible clause, covering the major components of the home.

Jail transfers are discussed

Members of county and city government met with Police Chief Elwood Hoherz this morning in the grand jury room of the courthouse to discuss procedural changes on transfer of prisoners from city jail to county jail.

Attending the meeting was the city attorney, justices of the peace, county attorney, county judge, county attorney-elect, district judge, district attorney and the new chief.

Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin said the change would affect the hours that peace justices will have to work.

Further information is expected later this week.

Men are jailed following spree

LAMESA — Two Lamesa men were jailed Sunday following a crime spree that included two burglaries and the theft of a vehicle.

Charged with burglary of a building and burglary of a habitat were Joe Louis Annalla, 19, and his brother, Johnny Annalla, 18, both of Lamesa. The alleged thefts occurred in both Lynn and Dawson counties.

The men, along with a 12-year-old boy, were apprehended about 10:30 a.m., Sunday after a Lynn County farmer reported he had been shot by some men he had caught stealing a battery from a tractor.

The arrests occurred in a field about 12 miles west of Tahoka.

Man surrenders to authorities

Ernest Garcia, Jr., Lewisville, surrendered himself to police in Dallas on a Howard County aggravated robbery charge.

Garcia is free on $5,000 bond set by Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin. Garcia's bond, mailed to Howard County, was received Monday. He was arrested last week.

Translation different

Howard County Sheriff's Office personnel had cause to believe the pickup of Rickey Rauls, 100 Brown, had been stolen on Andrews Highway near the sheriff's Posse Arena. The call was received 6:15 p.m. Monday.

Rauls called back 10 minutes later to advise deputies that it was a domestic matter and involved a peacock, not a pickup.

Heart problem killed youth

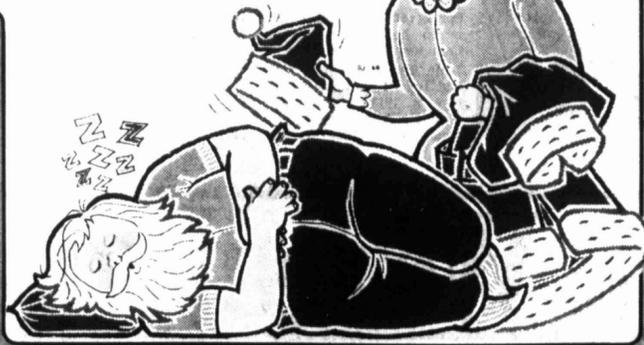

SNYDER — An autopsy reported released Monday in the death of a 15-year-old Midland youth, Theodore (Tedy) Terrazas, showed the athlete died of ventricular fibrillation and an enlarged heart.

Dan Callaway, Scurry County justice of peace, issued the report.

Terrazas, a member of the Midland High junior varsity basketball team, was playing in a Snyder tournament Dec. 6. He collapsed on the sidelines after leaving the court.
