Algerians deliver new U.S. proposal

By the Associated Press
The Algerian intermediaries in the hostage crisis arrived in Tehran today carrying the U.S. reply to Iran's demands for $24 billion. A leading Iranian clergyman said Iran should stop bargaining over the 52 Americans and put them on trial like any other criminals because they are spies, not hostages.

The three intermediaries were met at Tehran Airport by representatives of Prime Minister Mohammad Ali Rajai. They refused to talk to reporters and were driven away for a first round of talks with Iranian officials directly concerned with the hostages seized 14 months ago.

Informed Washington sources said the U.S. reply offers to deposit about $12 billion of Iranian assets in an escrow account in a neutral country, presumably Algeria, and that Iran could claim the funds once the hostages are released.

President Carter said the American response contained "reasonable proposals" and said, "I think it would be to the advantage of the Iranians — certainly to the advantage of the United States and the hostages — if they would accept what we have proposed."

However, Carter has little more than two weeks left in his administration to settle the issue, and most observers saw little chance of the crisis being resolved before President-elect Ronald Reagan takes office Jan. 20.

The Washington Post reported today that the U.S. response gives Iran until Jan. 16 to accept the proposals. The Post said official sources decried the date "not as an ultimatum but 'simply a fact of life'." The sources said Iranian acceptance by Jan. 16 would give the Carter administration time to implement the proposals before going out of office.

The Post said Carter does not want to leave negotiations "in an ambiguous state that limits the options of his successor."

Last week, Iran said the United States had to deposit $24 billion in the Algerian Central Bank before the hostages could be freed. But Iran's chief hostage negotiator said early this week a U.S. counterproposal on the money would be accepted if the Algerians went along with it.

Polish labor movement warned by Kremlin

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland's newly independent labor movement got a stiff warning from the Soviet Union not to press for more reforms that could lead to "chaos in the economy." A ranking U.S. congressman said a Soviet thrust into Poland could be just weeks away.

The official Tass news agency said "anti-socialist" forces were using the slogans of Solidarity, Poland's biggest independent union, to thwart efforts by the Communist Party and government to "normalize the situation" in Poland.

The Tass commentary Thursday said an effort was under way in Poland to fashion Solidarity into a political counterbalance to "official organs of power," a move that would threaten the absolute dominance of the party.

The commentary apparently attempted to fix the blame for Poland's continuing shortages of food, especially meat and other staples which prompted a government plan for full-scale rationing in February.

Solidarity was formed in the wake of a nationwide wave of labor unrest that began July 2 when the government announced an end to subsidies that sent meat prices soaring. Major strikes ended Aug. 31 when the government agreed to formation of the independent unions — a move unprecedented in the Soviet bloc where unions are under party control — and promised other reforms.

Labor unrest has virtually subsided since reports of a massive buildup of Soviet troops on Poland's borders raised fears of military intervention in early December. However, Poland's private farmers are pressing the courts for a free union of their own that could present more problems for the economy.

Howard County New Year's baby born to Big Spring mom of nine

By CAROL HART
Yvonne Aguilar took the honors as the first baby born to Howard County residents in 1981.

Yvonne, who weighed 7 pounds, 13 1/2 ounces, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Raul Aguilar, 1615 Canary. She made her debut at 3:39 a.m. Thursday at Cowper Clinic and Hospital.

Mrs. Aguilar said she and her husband didn't expect the baby would be born New Year's Day. "It was a surprise," she added. The Aguilars have nine other children, including Mrs.

JoAnn Torres and Mrs. Diane Valencia.

Their other children are Gloria, Robert, Raul Jr., Gilbert, Andrew, Belinda and Edward. Mr. Aguilar is employed at the Big Spring State Hospital.

Yvonne's grandparents are Arthur Miramontes, Big Spring, and Joe Aguilar, Midland.

Because Yvonne's parents are Howard County residents, she is eligible for several gifts from area merchants.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Flores Estrada, Box 685, Sterling City, were the parents of the first baby born in Howard County. Kim Denise Estrada was born at 1:25 a.m. Thursday in Malone-Hogan Hospital. Kim Denise weighed six pounds at birth.

Mr. and Mrs. George Martin, 3701 Highway 80, are the parents of the third baby born in Howard County on January 1. Their daughter, Mandy Leigh, was born in Cowper Clinic and Hospital at 10:46 a.m. Thursday, and weighed 7 pounds, 2 ounces.

Carter people heading back to Texas

There are 70 million job changes each year in U.S.

By STEVE SNIDER
States News Service
WASHINGTON — The Labor Department says there are approximately 40 million people involved in some 70 million job changes each year in the United States, which means the grass often, if not always, appears greener on the other side of the time clock.

Not all of the changes are voluntary, of course. In the workaday world there are fights with the boss, layoffs, families moving around and just plain offers you can't refuse.

There are a lot of those kinds of offers in Washington these days — where job changes carry the code name "transition" — and promise to be many more in the days to come.

But despite what looks to be nothing more than 1) election, 2) cabinet selections, 3) inauguration and 4) new president, the transition is actually a scramble for jobs inside and outside the government.

The Carter people are heading outside: White House assistant Sarah Weddington and Labor Secretary Ray Marshall are going back to Austin — she to practice law and he to teach at the university; Bob Krueger, ambassador-at-large for Mexican affairs, and John White, Democratic Party chairman, are heading back to the state to mull the future; and an unconfirmed report says a Texan is the middle-echelon of the administration wants to start a Tex-Mex restaurant here.

But others in Texas who probably say their jobs disappear with the Carter loss are not as well known, including the Milk Market Administration in Dallas, at 452,112 per year and the Texas state director of the Selective Service System in Paris, who is paid nothing.

These jobs are among the thousands included in the publication "Policy and Supportive Positions," known commonly as the "Plum Book." The 151-page government bestseller is a compilation of the jobs available to be filled by the Reagan administration.

But wait. Before you begin to fancy yourself as the next Dallas-based Community Relations Representative in the Office of Community and Congressional Relations for the Civil Aeronautics Board at a salary of up to $200 per day, don't forget the competition.

Hundreds, thousands of resumes are piling up on the desk of Reagan transition officials.

The government job crunch has never been so great, with the loss of 11 Senate Democrats and the new Republican majority there, experience assistants for this and that are keeping the orange-hound "Plum Book" close at hand.

And even if most of those job seekers are Democrats, the list of Republicans pushing their place to the top of the Reagan landslide is long.

For months before the election, the president-elect said his administration would be filled with people forced to take a "step down" into government service from the private sector. The election won and the resumes flowing in, the Reagan personnel people are taking this as a mandate and have begun to complain about the pestering job hunters.

So if you think you qualify, the best way to hunt plums may be to skip the personnel office and go right to the top. In Texas, that appears to be a three-man ad hoc patronage committee of Vice President-elect George Bush, Sen. John Tower, and Gov. Bill Clements.

To help you even further, Tower will reportedly handle the appointments of federal judges and attorneys primarily, since those jobs require congressional approval. So your best bet for the non-legal posts — aside from experience, competence, and probably conservative Republican credentials — is to drop Bush or Clements a line.

If you've been off the job-hunting trail for a while, a few tips are well worth remembering. Keep the letters short and to the point. "Dear Bill, I understand there will be an opening for a Regional Secretarial Representative in the Office of the Associate Deputy Secretary in the Department of Commerce for up to $1,200 a week or so." — is a nice start.

More subtle perhaps is a friendly, non-political opening. Bush, for instance, regularly takes three-minute jogs. "Dear George, I was thinking shoes the other day and couldn't pick between the Nike and the New Balance. How do you rate the Arch supports?" — and so on until the end. "By the way, if you're in the market for a $48,225-per-year Regional National Bank surveillance Systems Specialist for the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency of the Department of the Treasury, I happen to be free."

Lance Dale Grigsby, 18, died in a two-car accident on North Central Expressway in Dallas about 10 p.m. Thursday and Rene Vega, 21, was killed when his car went out of control and struck a dirt bank in San Antonio Thursday morning.

Two other San Antonio men were killed in separate two-car accidents in San Antonio Thursday morning. They were identified as Luis Rosas, 36, and Gary Paradez, 21.

At least 19 die in Texas New Year's holiday traffic

By the Associated Press
At least 19 people have died on Texas roads and highways since the Department of Public Safety began its grisly New Year's holiday traffic death count.

DPS officials predict 37 people will die before the gruesome 104-hour count, which began at 6 p.m. Wednesday, ends at midnight Sunday.

DPS spokesman Richard Grimmitt predicted the heaviest death toll would come on Sunday when holiday travelers begin returning home.

A 4-year-old boy was killed Thursday night when he darted in front of a car on FM 2503 two miles east of Ben Bolt in Jim Wells County. The victim was identified as Jamie Adrian Garcia of Ben Bolt.

Lance Dale Grigsby, 18, died in a two-car accident on North Central Expressway in Dallas about 10 p.m. Thursday and Rene Vega, 21, was killed when his car went out of control and struck a dirt bank in San Antonio Thursday morning.

Two other San Antonio men were killed in separate two-car accidents in San Antonio Thursday morning. They were identified as Luis Rosas, 36, and Gary Paradez, 21.

The New Year's traffic death watch is the second such count in a week. The DPS reported earlier that 51 persons were killed over the Christmas holidays.

Grimmitt said that Texas traffic deaths through the first 10 months of 1980 were running slightly over 4 percent higher than last year's record setting level.

He said 4,229 people were killed on Texas roads and highways in 1979. Through November of this year, he said 3,855 people have been killed in Texas traffic accidents.

Two of those killed so far over the New Year's holiday died in motorcycle accidents, two were pedestrians, including a woman hit by a hit-and-run driver and a 2-year-old boy hit by a car, and six of the dead perished in two-car crashes.

Here are how some died:

Stephen Gary Stephenson, 26, of Houston, was killed Wednesday when his car collided with another and burst into flames at U.S. 59 and Miller Road in Harris County.

'Hangar 18' booked locally for at least week starting Jan. 23

"Hangar 18," the science-fiction movie shot almost in its entirety in the Big Spring area, will be shown at the Ritz Twin Theater here starting Jan. 23, theater manager Guy Speck announced this morning.

Sunn Classics of Utah sent a crew here during the first quarter of 1980 to film the thriller, which stars Darren McGavin, Robert Vaughn, Gary Collins, Joe Campanella and Jim Hampton, among others.

Hundreds of local people were used as extras in the film.

A preview of the movie was held here several months ago and it was greeted with favorable reviews.

Speck said "Hangar 18" will be shown twice nightly at the Ritz Twin for at least one week, probably longer.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Bad example

Q. Why are police cars not required to stop for school bus unloading? Recently, a patrol car traveling 30 miles per hour without flashing lights passed a school bus unloading students on the west side of town. I stopped and after the bus unloaded I was unable to catch the car and get his license plate number.

A. Police officials would tell you that their people are expected to faithfully observe such regulations, indeed set an example for ordinary citizens to follow.

WHAT HAPPENED — Sheriff Carlo Listi (right) questions two deputies on what was the cause of a New Year's Day uprising of inmates in the Lafayette Parish Prison in Louisiana.

Lawyer blames Lafayette prison riot on poor living conditions

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) — Officials who ignored court orders to improve security and living conditions at the Lafayette Parish prison are to blame for a melee in which two jailers were held hostage, says a lawyer who mediated a tense, seven-hour standoff between inmates and authorities.

"It is not too hard to make the claim that it would not have occurred had there been better security," said attorney Cliff Remm of Acadiana Legal Services, a law firm for indigent defendants. "It could have led to a lot of bloodshed," he said. "I'm happy it turned out the way it did. It had the potential to be a very bad affair."

No one was injured in the incident Thursday, which began about 2:30 a.m. when 28 maximum security prisoners overpowered two jailers who entered a cell block to investigate shouts that an inmate was being raped, according to Chief Deputy Major Bill Vincent.

The jailers, Ivory Celestine and Wilbert McComb, barricaded themselves into a laundry room of the seventh-floor courthouse lockup as some 95 of the 109 inmates armed themselves with kitchen knives, screwdrivers and hastily improvised clubs and destroyed or damaged jail records and furnishings and inmate property. A special tactics team was in position to rake the jail passageways with plastic shot from 12-gauge riot guns when the hostages were freed and the inmates agreed to return to their cells. "They just gave up," said deputy Michael Minzey. "They didn't have anything left to bargain with."

PLO may have bombed hotel in Kenya

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Speculation mounted today that radical Palestinian guerrillas may have bombed a Jewish-owned Nairobi hotel in apparent retaliation for past Kenyan help for Israel.

The death toll in the New Year's Eve blast and fire climbed to 19, including one American, with eight other Americans still missing. The Palestinian theory was raised Thursday by Arab sources in Beirut, Lebanon, who are familiar with guerrilla strategy and claimed Palestinian radicals hold two grudges against the Kenya government.

One stems back to the government's 1975 transfer of five suspected Palestinian terrorists to Israel. The five men — three Palestinians and two West Germans — were arrested in Kenya and accused of plotting to blow up one of Israel's El Al jetliners at Nairobi. The suspects, alleged members of Dr. George Habash's Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine, are believed to be still in Israeli prisons.

The Arab sources said either or both of the incidents could be grounds for a Palestinian reprisal, such as the bombing of a Jewish-owned target in Kenya. Spokesman for the radical Palestinian organizations in Beirut refused to comment on the speculation.

Ag official revokes citrus dealer's license

AUSTIN — Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has revoked a Dallas produce and citrus dealer's license to do business because of the dealer's failure to honor over $6,500 worth of unpaid claims.

"As of Dec. 29, Medrado Luna, doing business as Luna Produce and Azteca Produce, will no longer be able to legally conduct business within the state," Brown said. "Persons dealing with this company should be aware that since the company is no longer licensed, they will not be covered by any of the safeguards which have been established under Texas law to protect producers of fresh produce."

The decision to revoke the license was reached after a Dec. 8 hearing, at which it was verified that Luna Produce Company owed $6,565.10 to Texas Citrus Exchange for produce which had been sold to Luna, but not paid for.

Social Security system still needs money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite a large increase in Social Security taxes to be paid this year by workers and their employers, the Social Security system is still facing money problems and there are reports that cuts are being considered in benefits. Most of the money problems are long-range and experts say that major deficits won't occur, if they do at all, until early in the next century, when members of the post-World War II "baby boom" begin retiring. Effective Thursday, Social Security taxes went up from 6.13 percent to 6.65 percent and the maximum amount on which the taxes are raised jumped to $29,700. The increases were ordered by Congress three years ago to cover short-term money problems of the system. The 46-year-old system's money problems can be solved either by increasing revenues or cutting benefits and Congress has been reluctant to tackle the problem through the latter method because of the political unpopularity of cutting benefits. The political sensitivity of the question was demonstrated last year during the presidential campaign, when President Carter claimed that Ronald Reagan, now the president-elect, wanted to tamper with the system.

Most Texans are, in fact, urban dwellers

Texas will likely forever be known as the country of "wide open spaces." Although there are more than 14 million people now living within the boundaries of the state, some 80 percent of them are listed as urban dwellers.

That and many other facts written for folks hooked on Texiana are printed in a little brochure entitled "Texas Facts," compiled and published by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

THE OUTER boundaries of Texas extend for 3,816 miles, or a little less than one fourth the distance around the earth. The Rio Grande River forms the longest segment of the boundary, 1,248 miles. The second longest is that touched by the Red River — 726 miles. The tidewater coast extends 624 miles.

Texas has 15 cities with more than 100,000 population each. Their numbers would include Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, El Paso, Amarillo, Lubbock, Fort Worth, Austin, Arlington, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Garland, Irving, Pasadena and Waco. Abilene and Odessa both were counting on making the elite group but failed.

At the other end of the scale, 55 counties have less than 5,000 people each and five have less than 1,000. A couple of those are in easy driving distance of Big Spring.

In elevation, the surface of the state rises from sea level to 8,749 feet. The average annual rainfall varies from 59 inches along the Sabine River to less than eight in extreme West Texas.

Texas boasts 23.4 million acres of woodland, — 10.9 million acres of which are in pine-hardened forests in East Texas known as the Piney Woods. Texas' timber production in 1979 was 523 million cubic feet. Approximately 85 percent of all trees harvested were pines.

Texas ranks second only to Alaska in volume of inland water, with more than 6,000 square miles of lakes and streams. The largest reservoir in Texas is Toledo Bend with 185,000 surface acres at normal operating level.

Texas boasted an estimated 159,000 farms and ranches in 1979 and they covered about 139 million acres — some 79 percent of the state's land area. Income from all Texas crops last year was $3.9 billion. Crops included cotton, grains, vegetables, pecans, peanuts, citrus and other fruits. The cotton crop alone last year was valued at $1.48 billion.

THE VALUE OF all types of livestock in the state last year was $6.1 billion. At the beginning of 1980, there were 13,200,000 cattle and calves on Texas farms and ranches, 910,000 hogs, 2,400,000 sheep, 1,400,000 goats, 17,500,000 chickens (excluding broilers), and 533,000 turkey breeder hens.

Tourism may be hard to define as a Texas industry but its benefit is greater than such Texas enterprises as livestock or farm crops. Last year, 24.9 million out-of-state and foreign visitors spent $4.8 billion in Texas and Texans themselves spent an extra $2 billion for in-state travel.

Manufacturing accomplished in Texas has the most impressive figure of all. Total value of products created by Texas manufacturers in 1979 was $32.9 billion. The manufacturing industry showed a total payroll of $89,200 persons sharing a payroll of $11.7 billion.

It's obvious the state is in a growth period, the end of which is not yet in sight.

Alien visit

Around the rim

James Werrell

Danny "Devo" Reagan, transplanted raconteur and part-time bloodworm farmer, was back in town for the holidays, and in addition to popping off all the tops to my entire collection of canned drinks, he spent much of his time using one of his in-laws, who wish to remain anonymous.

Reagan spent a good deal of time "shooting" with his new metal detector, finding assorted old coins, bottle tops and "bob war".

AMAZINGLY ENOUGH, or perhaps not amazingly enough, he experienced a rare visit when he was out in the unpopulated expanses south of Big Spring. He was visited by aliens in a UFO. As a favor to me, he has agreed to give an exclusive interview concerning that visit:

Well, Danny, I expect you were plenty surprised, huh? Were you worried that the aliens might think your metal detector was some kind of ray-gun (no pun intended) and that they might vaporize you or something?

REAGAN: "No, actually I was quite unconcerned. If you remember, I've seen your wife without her make-up. As to the second part of the question, the aliens showed no apprehension toward the detector, and the biggest one, the commander of the vessel I believe, asked it out for a date."

You know, Danny, most of us earthlings have some pretty standard preconceptions about what an alien might look like: green skin, antennae, six legs, that kind of stuff. But I can't picture a six-legged, green alien getting off on a metal detector.

REAGAN: "The aliens looked like giant pennies. Actually, the figure on the "head" side didn't look much like Abraham Lincoln, but I could tell that they were copper-coated enough to be attracted to detectors. I imagine that that fact is the reason they landed where I was 'shooting.'"

Walt Finley is going to have a heyday with headlines on this story, "Pennies From Heaven" or "Star Coins." But moving along, did you manage to communicate with these living replicas of worthless American coins, and if so, what are they doing on earth, and why Big Spring?

REAGAN: "From what I could make-out, and it was very hard understanding these beings, they were looking for a $40,000, four-bedroom house at six percent interest. I'm not sure, though. They talked in jingle-jangle, vibrations. And it didn't last long. To talk, one of them would have to knock the other over, and you had to listen very quickly before they rolled to a stop."

Weren't you telling me earlier about how the aliens told you about touching down first in Las Vegas? They got pretty upset when they saw earthlings putting alien babies into slot machines where they were changed into different kinds of tropical fruits. Anyway, it looks as though they have a lot to learn about our customs down here. Is there any chance that we could coexist as friends with these creatures?

REAGAN: "They indicated to me that if the United States went back to strictly beaver pelts or huge chunks of wood as the primary monetary system, they would become our ally. Otherwise, they would settle in Chad, where pints of ox-blood are the current systems of exchange."

Can you picture that, Fort Knox piled to the ceiling with beaver pelts? What would you use to make change? Muskrats? I say no way are we going to mess up the monetary system in this great country of ours for a bunch of big pennies from outer space. How do you feel about it?

REAGAN: "I don't know. It might be just the thing our sagging economy needs. But they said something that I totally disagree with. They said that if they settled in America, everyone would have to turn in his or her metal detectors. That goes against my freedom to bear detectors. After all, metal detectors don't detect coins, people do."

Poland under pressure

Joseph Kraft

WARSAW — At the nearby town of Plonsk 10 days ago, Stanislaw Kania, the new leader of Communist Poland and First Secretary of the party, met with a group of party members working at a chemical factory. What happened there shows that beneath a calmer surface, there are still working forces that could blow Poland apart and bring on a world crisis.

The meeting took place at the factory in a small room jammed with workers who filled every available seat, and stood in the doorways. Mr. Kania was introduced by the local party leader. Before opening the floor to questions, the local leader had a complaint to pass on to the First Secretary. He felt the party leadership was moving too slowly in purging corrupt officials.

THE WORKERS started to pop questions from the floor. One, named Kowalski, wanted to know why government ministers were also members of the party politburo and secretariat. Wasn't one job hard enough?

A woman worker, named Wanda Machon, said the party unit in the factory had voted for resolutions demanding more internal democracy in electing party officials. She wanted to know what action had been taken on the resolutions.

An engineer asked for comment on the notion that all party officials should be elected. He said, "The elections should not just be confined to lower echelons. It is not there that the trouble began."

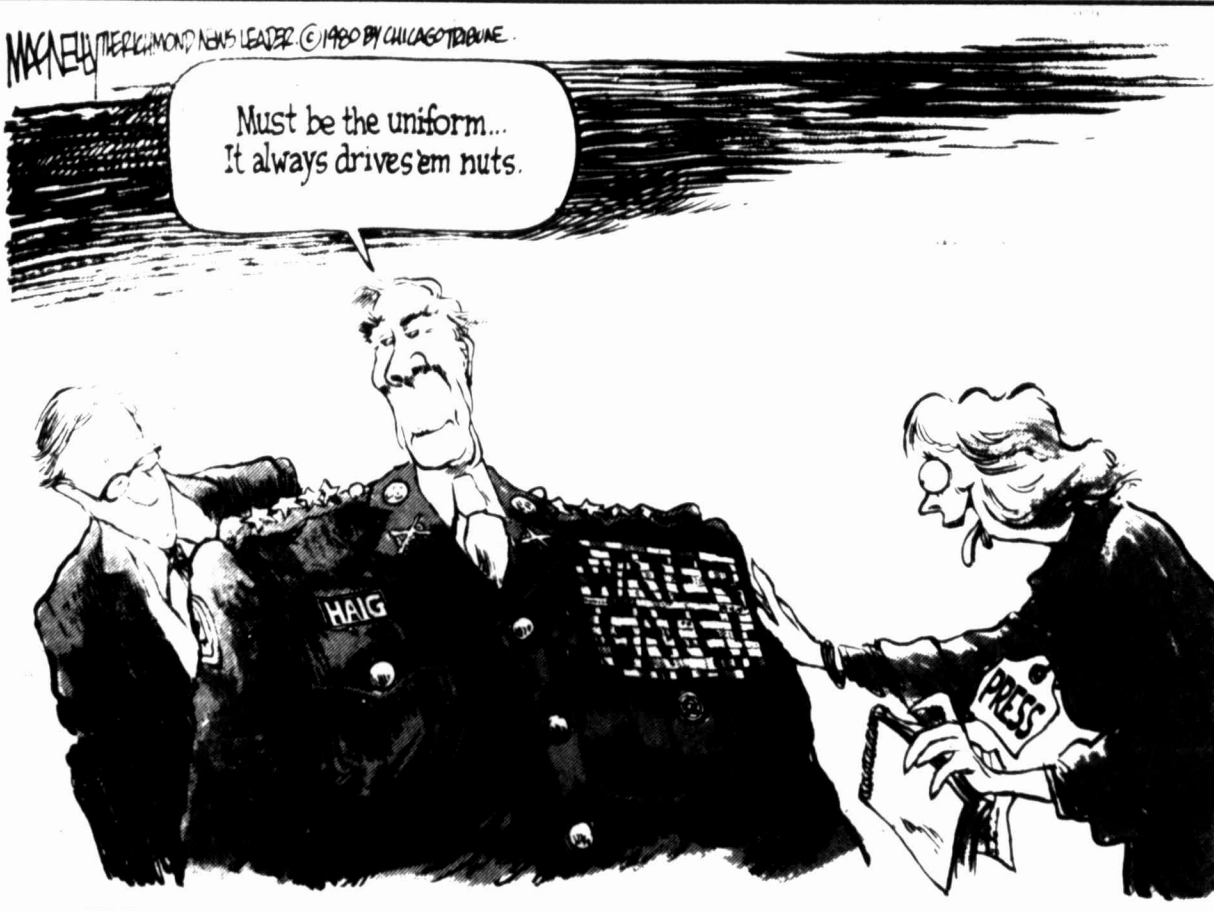

After listening to these and many other complaints, Kania replied. He said the country faced a major economic crisis. He said the party was the "only force" that could bring the country out of the crisis. He said reforms were underway and would continue. But he acknowledged the way ahead was hard. He said: "Today it is difficult to be a member of the party. It is also difficult to be First Secretary of the party."

Meetings like that in Plonsk are going on everyday all over Poland. For there has been a displacement of the struggle that pitted the independent trade union, Solidarity, against the party leadership. Now the struggle has moved, largely behind closed doors, to the center of the party.

The younger members — and about half of the 3.5 million members are under 30 — are putting pressure on the leadership. In many areas they have established autonomous party units. In some cases they have forced all their officials to resign. In others they have passed resolutions calling for sweeping change. Among other things, these resolutions call for free election of party officials, a limit on the number of terms any party official can serve, and a rigid separation between the party and the government. To effect these changes, the younger members have demanded a Party Congress.

KANIA AND his associates have met the challenge by temporizing. They have promised a Party Congress — but not until spring. They have removed some officials, but kept many in office. Their theory, apparently, is that in time the ferment will cease. Poland, after all, has had a tough year, and the period of rest could be welcome. But if the pressure does not ease, then Kania is in a very weak position.

For one thing the economy truly is in bad shape. Food, especially meat, is in short supply and there will have to be cuts in consumption.

Osteoporosis, menopause may be linked

Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I would like to know more about osteoporosis. I fell recently while walking and fractured my hip. Luckily, two cars stopped and two fine gentlemen picked me up so carefully and drove me to a nearby hospital. I shall be forever grateful to these considerate, tender men. My doctor was tops. At the time, I remember telling concerned friends my fall must have been caused by wear and tear on my weary bones. Yesterday, my doctor told me I have osteoporosis. How can the elderly know when this condition starts? — Mrs. C.A.

Osteoporosis starts in most women around age 50. We don't appreciate the fact that bones are not like steel beams. From birth on, bone substance is in a state of change. Bone material is always being broken down and rebuilt. Osteoporosis means that the loss of bone substance is occurring faster than the rebuilding — a kind of shrinking process. This explains why people tend to get a big shorter as they age.

It may happen sooner in women because of loss of estrogen in their bodies after menopause. Estrogen is thought to have a role in maintaining bone density. With less bone support, body weight exerts greater stress on what is left. This can actually cause falls such as yours. A sign of the problem may be low back pain.

Keeping as physically active as possible helps prevent osteoporosis, but it is not a treatment for it. The strain of exercise can be too great for osteoporotic bones. Thus, exercise should be attempted only within the limits the doctor gives. Calcium with vitamin D, sodium fluoride and female hormones have been tried to slow up the osteoporotic process, but this is done in light of the individual's need. I know your doctor personally. You won't be able to get any better advice anywhere about osteoporosis than from him.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Aspirins were specially priced recently at $1.39 for 500 tablets of five grains each. My wife said not to buy in bulk, that they deteriorate chemically. So I didn't. My wife is now president and general manager in charge of our aspirin purchases. Your comment, please. — B.G.

The chemical, acetyl salicylate, should not deteriorate rapidly. Cheaper tablets may become mounds of powder in the bottom of the container. Time will tell. If you get the storage assignment, find a cool, dry shelf. Bathrooms are too damp.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a 54-year-old man with a good health record. I have had a moderate testosterone (male hormone) deficiency, and once had a pellet implanted under my skin by an endocrinologist. I also used to get expensive injections. I want to know now if there are tablets to be taken by mouth and absorbed by the body. — G.L.

Yes, there are testosterone-like tablets that can be taken by mouth. But before you consider doing that, you must find out from your doctor if you need them.

CONFIDENTIAL TO A.C.R. — There are many ways you can influence the amount of medication a patient is getting in the hospital. The first is to talk to the physician in charge of the case. There may be a good reason for what seems to you to be an inappropriate amount of medicine. If that does not work, every hospital has a chief of staff or chairman of a department whose job it is to monitor the appropriateness of

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: How do you understand our nation's commitment to separation of church and state? Do you think this means that religion and politics should have nothing to do with each other? — P.S.A.

DEAR P.S.A.: No, I do not believe that is what it means, nor do I believe that is what the founding fathers of our nation intended. Their concern was that no denomination or religious group would be favored by the government over any other legitimate religious group. But they recognized several things very clearly. They recognized that our nation — and in fact any nation — needs to be built on certain clearcut moral standards if it is to be stable and survive. They recognized that the churches had a legitimate responsibility to function without government interference and that they could help build the moral foundation of the nation.

I know there are different legal issues involved in this question, but I deplore the way our nation has tended to leave God and his moral laws out of our national life in recent decades.

medical care. You can bring your concerns to him. The nurse on the floor will not always know why a patient requires certain dosages of medicine.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My husband and I are 58 and 60, respectively. We thought it would be a good idea to drink a glass of milk every day (low fat). Another couple we know in the same age bracket said milk was bad for you in older age. They do drink a couple of beers every evening. I said our milk was healthier. Do you agree? — Mrs. C.B.

Yes, I do agree. The vitamins and calcium in the milk are good for you. Whole milk is avoided because of fat content. Your low fat milk will not pose any problem for you. I don't even think a glass of whole milk would be all that terrible if you had no choice but that.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Have you heard of a vaccine against hepatitis? — R.K.

Yes, the new vaccine for hepatitis is a potentially great medical triumph, for protection against one form — serum hepatitis or hepatitis B. This vaccine is not yet available for general use. If it does become available it will be especially valuable for those who are at a high risk of contracting serum hepatitis, especially health care workers.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Our nation was built on Judeo-Christian principles, but now we have seen an enormous shift away from this. Now many are saying there are no moral absolutes — that there are no rights or wrongs. We are told, instead, that every individual should be free to do whatever he wants to do, and not worry about whether or not it is right or wrong in God's eyes. I believe we are beginning to bear the tragic fruits of these ideas, through such things as the massive increase in crime, immorality, divorce, and materialism.

Our greatest need as a nation is to turn to God and seek his will for our land. There are certainly dangers in churches getting involved in politics, and I am concerned that churches have sometimes lost their spiritual ministry because they have become preoccupied with political issues. But Christians need to speak out for social justice and moral integrity, and we need to call our nation back to God. If we do not, we can only expect God's judgment to fall on our land. We need spiritual revival — and it must begin in the hearts of each one of us.

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — There's a silver lining to the dark cloud of Soviet aggression in Afghanistan: Afghan opium farmers have been too busy fighting the Russian invaders to harvest their crops.

So however unhappy the State Department is over the Kremlin's move into Afghanistan, another federal agency, the Drug Enforcement Administration, is delighted that the Russians have interfered with the annual Afghan opium harvest.

Afghanistan traditionally has been a significant producer of illicit opium and hashish in Southwest Asia, a classified DEA report on Afghanistan and narcotics begins. "Until the Soviet invasion in late 1979, Afghanistan also served as a major transit area for Southwest Asia narcotics destined for Western markets."

THE SECRET report, seen by my associate Dale Van Atta, says that opium was the principal crop grown in remote areas of Afghanistan, concentrated on the Afghan-Pakistani border. It was traditionally purchased from the Afghan farmers by middlemen who moved it to stockpiles and brokerage areas in the northwest frontier province of Pakistan.

By truck or camel caravan, the opium dealers also moved the farmers' crops westward to the consumer market in Iran.

But the Soviets and their Afghan puppets, for all their other faults, do not encourage the production of opium poppies. In fact, the curtailment of opium growing by the Marxist coup of Nur Mohammed Taraki in April 1978 may have been as responsible as the regime's atheistic doctrines for the native rebellion by devout Moslem tribesmen — who also grew opium poppies.

The DEA report explains that many Moslem tribesmen in the opium-growing area of Afghanistan were too busy fighting the Marxists to take care of their fields, while others who normally would have worked in the fields fled to Pakistan to avoid the fighting.

This combination of holy war and "draft-dodging" has apparently continued through successive Soviet-backed regimes in Afghanistan. And the Kabul government's response has tightened up drug traffic control, more for political reasons than any particular distaste for narcotics trade. Dope smugglers are by their nature anti-government; therefore, any government hoping to take control of Afghanistan considers the drug dealers enemies of the state.

Even before the Russians moved in to take direct control of their badly run satellite in late 1979, the Afghan military had established checkpoints to intercept arms and supplies for insurgent tribesmen. And the checkpoints also put a crimp in the drug traffic.

Too Busy

SINCE THE Russians took over the country, "Soviet forces have taken over anti-smuggling operations from the Afghan nationals as part of overall military operations against the insurgents," the DEA report states. And the Russians, for whatever motives, are succeeding in their crackdown.

Because of the Soviet invasion, last year's opium crop was presumed to be partially destroyed "as Soviet air and ground forces pursued the insurgents into the tribal territories," the DEA reported, adding: "Similarly, much of the manpower required to harvest this crop was either preoccupied with fighting, became refugees or was killed in battle."

Furthermore, the DEA predicts: "Should the Soviet-Afghan conflict with the insurgents intensify, it could adversely affect both the planting and the size of the 1980-1981 opium poppy crop, and thereby reduce the amount of opium available on the open market."

SECOND TEAM? Former Vietnam prisoners-of-war are complaining that the Marine Corps is not making a maximum effort to convict suspected turncoat Robert Garwood of collaborating with the North Vietnamese.

They point out that while the Marines' prosecution team is diligent and dedicated, it is no match professionally for Garwood's topflight trial lawyers and researchers, who show up at the Camp Lejeune courtroom and law library in platoon strength.

The Vietnam vets, who insist that Garwood lived high as a collaborator and informant while they suffered in POW camps, wonder why the Defense Department didn't bring in its best legal talent to prosecute him.

Unofficial Marine sources, in turn, insist that the prosecution team is "highly competent."

MEOW! Ronald Reagan's transition-team captain for the Tennessee Valley Authority, Robert Sansom, was dealt a sharp blow by Congress last year. A new law will keep Sansom's firm, the Virginia Vermiculite Co., from strip-mining 14,000 acres of a National Historic Landmark at Green Springs, Va., for vermiculite, a granular substance that is used for potting soil and cat litter.

BACK TO BASICS: While Congress never tires of spending money for glamorous new military weapons like intercontinental missiles and airplanes that cost $26 million apiece, it has a strange reluctance to replace such mundane equipment as Jeeps and trucks. Many of the armed services' ground vehicles are five years older than the soldiers who drive them.

Half the Marine Corps' vehicles, for example, are not usable, and in the case of some classes of large vehicles, every one is broken and awaiting repair.

Ignore gossip

Dr. Wallace: About a year ago I started dating a boy who went to another school. All my friends thought that he was charming, cute and a neat guy. In fact, lots of his friends go to his school.

After a while he started getting a little bit too serious and I told him that we should break up for a while. He seemed very hurt by this and I felt terrible because he was such a nice guy. Well, this nice guy turned out to be a No. 1 rat. He told all of his friends that we were sexually active which was not true.

Now all his friends are razzing me and I really don't like it. Please help. — Fran, San Antonio, Texas

Fran: There is only one way to handle this type of situation — ignore all the comments. I realize that you are hurt and would like to lash out at them but that is exactly what they want you to do. Regardless of how you feel, keep smiling. It will make them furious. It also wouldn't hurt to date the meanest, toughest football player for a while.

Dr. Wallace: I'm 14 and like this boy 18, very much. He does smoke pot and has already fathered a baby but he is a sweet guy.

My parents don't approve of him and say that I should no longer see him. They are afraid that he will get me into bed because of his experience.

One night I sneaked out of the house to see this guy but I got caught. I know that I did wrong and my parents were right in punishing me. I just don't understand why my parents don't want me to see this guy. — Marie, Burlington, N.C.

Marie: Sure you do! He smokes pot, he fathered a child, is 18 and your parents are afraid he will get you into bed because of his experience. How do I know all this? You told me.

Dr. Wallace: I'm a 13-year-old girl and my problem is my dad. He is constantly telling me not to go into his room and I argue with him but he always comes into my room and snoops. I don't think this is right, do you? — Patsy, Everett, Wash.

Patsy: No, I don't think parents should "snoop" in teens' rooms but I do feel that he has the right to inspect your room when you are present.

Cosmetic Surgery Sets Noses Out of Joint

DEAR ABBY: What does a person do when she comes face to face for the first time with a friend (or acquaintance) who has had cosmetic surgery — like a nose job or a face-lift?

I recently ran into a woman who had just had a face-lift, and with absolute sincerity, I said, "Your recent surgery has improved your appearance 100 percent!"

She gave me an icy stare and walked away without even saying thank you. I felt like 2 cents.

Another time, I pretended I didn't notice that a friend had recently had a nose job. It was obvious, but I said nothing.

Finally, she said, "Don't you notice anything different about me?" I felt foolish. Of course I'd noticed, but after having learned my lesson with the face-lift lady, I didn't want to mention it.

So tell me, Dear Abby, what is a person supposed to do? STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: Since vanity prompts most people to have cosmetic surgery, to ignore it would be unkind. But to comment too enthusiastically may give the impression that her (or his) former appearance was dreadful, which is worse.

If the improvement is conspicuous, say, "You look great!" They'll get the message without having to decode it.

DEAR ABBY: While our 29-year-old daughter is no raving beauty, she is better looking than most of the girls whose pictures you see in bridal veils in the Sunday papers. She is very intelligent and has lots of dates, and I know she has turned down several good marriage proposals.

When I ask her what she is waiting for, she says, "Don't rush me, Mom."

Is there any way I can get her to hurry up and think seriously of marrying and settling down? I am 55 years old and would like to see a few grandchildren before I leave this earth.

IMPATIENT IN ILLINOIS

DEAR IMPATIENT: Many moms who have rushed their daughters into marriage see more of their grandchildren than they expected to — they're raising them because the marriage didn't work out. If you're eager to see things hatch, raise chickens.

CONFIDENTIAL TO ANONYMOUSLY YOURS: Yes, you should express sympathy to the family of a friend who took his own life. Make no reference to the circumstances, but be assured they would be far more hurt were none of his friends to send their condolences.

Do you wish you had more friends? Get Abby's booklet, "How to Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to: Abby, Popularity, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

School-based program reducing new cavities

A new school-based fluoride application program costing about 50 cents a year per child is reducing new dental cavities among children by up to 50 percent, according to a recent Family Circle magazine report, "Look Ma—No Cavities."

Researchers at the National Institute of Dental Research at the prestigious National Institutes of Health say this program is the most significant advance in decades toward the prevention of dental cavities.

Washington health reporter Sally Reynolds, who wrote the Family Circle article, notes that almost all of the 12 million American children (and countless numbers of youngsters in other countries) currently enrolled in this program have 35 to 45 percent fewer cavities than children in the same area not enrolled in it.

The program, in which children either use a fluoride mouth rinse (if they live in areas with fluoridated water) or take fluoride tablets every day (in areas without fluoridated water), is an important breakthrough because tooth decay affects 96 percent of the U.S. population by age 17, says Reynolds. Article author Reynolds says that the average 17 year old has cavities in at least eight permanent teeth; and treatment costs run to $2 billion annually.

To find out how to start the appropriate school-based program in your local school system, Family Circle suggests contacting the National Caries Program (NCP) at the National Institute of Dental Research. Address inquiries to Alice M. Horowitz, National Caries Program, NIDR-nih, 549 Westwood Building, 5333 Westbard Ave., Bethesda, MD 20205.

Probably coming down with something

Even a frown can worry Mother. And when he has a fever — she always fears the worst!

Did you know, Mother, that more children fall victim to spiritual neglect than any of the crippling diseases we dread? It has wrecked the fond hopes and bold dreams of hundreds of thousands of parents.

Yet it isn't a disease, at all!

It is a HESITATION; hesitating to start our child in Church School, hesitating to go with him and worship God, hesitating to discuss at home the need for moral and religious foundation for the whole family.

Face it today! Do something about it next week! Choose YOUR place of worship. And make attendance a regular habit. And through a lifetime of worship and faith it can be for your child... HIS place of worship.

TCU's Concert Chorale to sing

FORT WORTH, Tex. — Texas Christian University's premier vocal group, the Concert Chorale, will sing at First United Methodist Church Jan. 7 as part of a nine-day tour of Texas.

The 50-member choir will be presented in concert at 7:30 p.m.

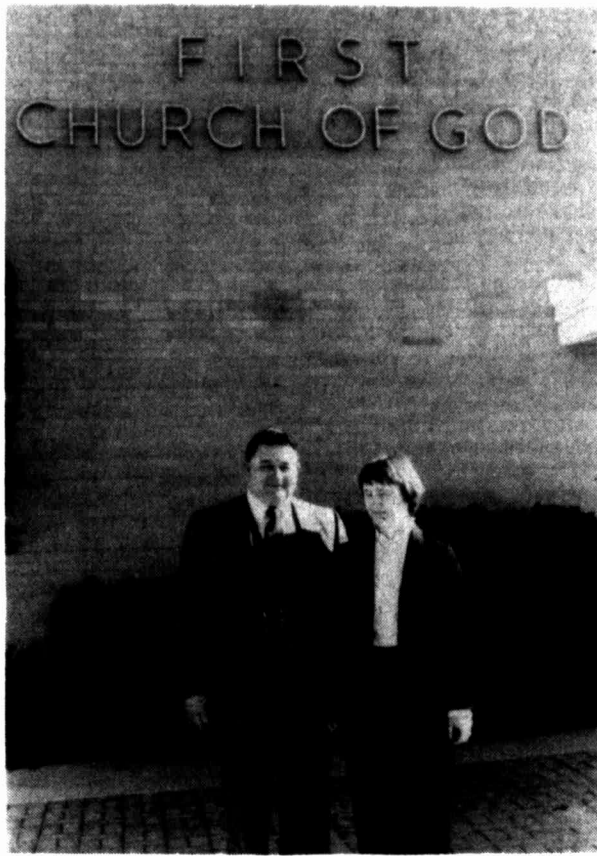

The Concert Chorale, conducted by Ronald Shirey, will open the program with "Alleluia," arranged by Roger Wagner; Monteverdi's "Cantate Domino" and "Psalm 100" by Schutz, a three-choir setting taken from the composer's own manuscript rather than the familiar two-choir setting.

The choir will shift to the 20th Century for Debussy's "Trois Chansons" and "Fain Would I Change that Note" by Canadian Healey Willan. Bach's "Jesu, Meine Freude" and Haydn's "Lord

Nelson Mass' will be followed by a group of German songs. Included will be "Es Geht ein Dunkle Wolk Herein" by Hugo Distler, Mendelssohn's "Die Nachtigall," "Gypsy Life" by Robert Schumann and nine of Brahms' "Gypsy Songs," Opus. 103.

The concert will close with the "Gloria" from Dominick Argento's opera "Masque of Angels."

Five of the TCU choir members are residents of Big Spring. Beverly Ann Beil, a junior, and Brenda Diane Beil, a freshman, reside at 502 Highland Dr. Others who live in Big Spring are Joyce A. Hull, a graduate student, of 605 E. 13th St.; Lorinda Lee, freshman of 2600 Crestline, and Larry Wheat, sophomore, of 901 Mountain Park Dr.

FIRST CHURCH OF GOD PASTORS — Revs. Bob and Jean McCray are the new pastors of First Church, coming from East Tulsa Church of God, Tulsa, Okla. McCray formerly lived in Odessa where his mother and a sister now live. He also has a sister in Midland and another in San Angelo.

'Christian right' is top religious story of 1980

NEW YORK (AP) — Emergence of the new "Christian right" in American political affairs has been picked by the Religion Newswriters Association as the top religion story of 1980.

It was accorded that spot by nearly all of the 60 responding members of the association, made up of 110 U.S. journalists who specialize in reporting on religion for newspapers, news magazines and wire services. They noted the role of the newly formed coalitions of religious conservatives, such as the Moral Majority and Christian Voice, in backing Ronald Reagan's election as president and in defeating several liberal senators.

As the second most significant religious development of the year, the religion specialists cited the resurgence of fundamentalist Islam in Iran and other Middle Eastern countries.

The poll, conducted by Willmar Thorkelson, religion editor of the Minneapolis Star, rated these other events among the top religion stories of the year, in the following order of importance:

- The world synod of Roman Catholic bishops in Rome on family life, reaffirming the church prohibition of contraception and divorce, along with efforts of U.S. bishops to deal with widespread dissent among American Catholics.
- The Vatican decision to permit dissenting Episcopalians and their married priests to become part of the Roman Catholic Church and to bring elements of their Anglican tradition with them.
- The Vatican's order to priests to stay out of partisan politics and controversy over the intervention of Boston's Cardinal Humberto Medeiros in the congressional campaign in Massachusetts.
- The Vatican decision to permit dissenting Episcopalians and their married priests to become part of the Roman Catholic Church and to bring elements of their Anglican tradition with them.

Protestant body.

—Controversy over remarks of Southern Baptist president Bailey Smith about Jews, saying God does not hear their prayers.

—The assassination of Roman Catholic Archbishop Oscar Romero of El Salvador while celebrating communion, and continuing violence in that country against religious workers and others.

—Protests over the Vatican censure of the Rev. Hans Kung of Tunbingen University in West Germany and his subsequent triumphal lecture tour of the United States, drawing overflow, supportive crowds.

—Running debate over whether the burgeoning "electronic church" is hurting local congregations by drawing support away from them.

—Election of a woman, Marjorie S. Matthews, as a bishop in the United Methodist Church, the first woman to achieve that status in any major U.S. denomination.

—Reopening of many churches in Communist China and indications that the government there is ready to give religion greater freedom.

—The Vatican's order to priests to stay out of partisan politics and controversy over the intervention of Boston's Cardinal Humberto Medeiros in the congressional campaign in Massachusetts.

—The Vatican decision to permit dissenting Episcopalians and their married priests to become part of the Roman Catholic Church and to bring elements of their Anglican tradition with them.

"Open the Word for the World" was ABS theme for Bible Sunday in 1980

NEW YORK — When you think Bible, think American Bible Society. Last year's theme was "Open the Word for the World," and across the nation churches are being asked to remind themselves that the Word of God, though in ample supply here, is in short supply in many countries around the world.

"It's estimated that seven out of eight Christian homes in the Third World do not have a Bible. A Bible in every Christian home is still an unfulfilled dream for the world at large," says Arthur C. Borden, Church Relations secretary for the American Bible Society.

With this in mind, the ABS Advisory Council, made up of representatives of scores of denominations in the U.S.A. has recommended setting aside one Sunday each year to be called Bible Sunday, to emphasize the universal need for providing God's Word for all people everywhere. Last year it was Nov. 23.

"We want lay and clergy alike to focus on the Bible — to tell their congregations and friends that the Bible Societies are working with sister churches and missions agencies around the world to remedy the deficiency for millions who cannot immediately obtain the Word of God," says Borden.

"Despite our efforts we have only been able to reach a small portion of the world's Christians with the Bible. Millions more have never received God's Word and are thus being deprived daily from learning of the saving knowledge of Jesus Christ," he said.

Last year ABS distributed nearly 259 million Scriptures at home and abroad. Millions of people still do not have the Scriptures in their own language despite the more than 736 translations projects presently going on in which the United Bible Societies, the 64-member, international fellowship of Bible Societies is involved.

More than 80 million babies will be born into the world this year. This means that during the decade of the 80's ABS, and its 63-member partners that form the United Bible Societies (UBS), will need a yearly increase of at least 80 million copies of Scripture — just to remain where they are.

Bible Sunday was aimed at focusing attention to the world's spiritually impoverished. Thousands of lay people across the country will take to the pulpit to share their experience of changed lives through the reading of the Bible. They will also focus attention on the worldwide work of the American Bible Society.

For its part ABS has a large variety of Scripture Selections, Portions, Bibles, New Testaments, cassettes and films to fulfill the needs of all people. A guide for daily reading throughout 1981 is also available.

The American Bible Society, founded in 1816 is a non-profit, interconfessional organization whose sole purpose is the translation, publication, and distribution of the Holy Scriptures without doctrinal note or comment.

Churches of God begin church history series

By MICKIE DICKSON (Editor's note: This is the first of a series of articles on church histories of Big Spring area churches to appear each Friday on the church page.)

The First Church of God and the Highland Church of God with headquarters in Anderson, Ind., are two of four holiness congregations in Big Spring. The other two are the Salvation Army and the Nazarene Church.

Members of the Church of God Reformation Movement began meeting in brush arbors, homes and Howard County District schools soon after the beginning of the 20th century, with preachers or evangelists coming for a week to a month at a time to hold meetings and revivals.

The William M. Spears' home, north of Coahoma and the home of Mrs. Joy Smith hosted meetings led by Sister M. E. Rone, Rev. C.H. Johnson, Rev. W.S. Hancock and Rev. S.M. Rice.

The Howard County Courthouse, tent and brush arbor tabernacles and a vacant store building also served the movement.

Mrs. Linnie Bills, Sweetwater, daughter of W.M. Spears, remembers attending a revival in a tabernacle on the courthouse square when W.S. Hancock was saved. "There was a lot of shouting, I remember," said Mrs. Bills who was just a girl.

George Harrington, pastor of Highland Church, surrendered to preach under Rev. Walters ministry at a revival at Morgan School around 1933. Harrington, Walters and Hancock preached at Knott, Green Valley and Moore Schools as did Rev. J.M. Smith, a Methodist minister and grandfather of Anna Smith, a well-known retired teacher and member of the First Church of God.

The congregation erected their first white frame church building at 4th and Galveston in Jones Valley around 1915. The late Rev. C.H. Johnson, Cisco, was the first pastor and members of the first board of trustees were W.S. Martin, Spears and W.P. Young.

The late Minnie Lee Rice, mother of Ethel Hickson, 107 E. 17th, and Emma L. Neill, Coahoma, were charter members of First Church. Mrs. Neill, the last remaining charter member, passed away in 1980 as did Rev. Johnson, who was about 103 years of age.

The congregation purchased the southwest half of the block at 10th and Main and erected a two-story red brick building with a stucco parsonage just north of it. This project was undertaken under the leadership of Rev. G.B. Walters.

The present church property at 2009 Main was purchased in 1956 under the leadership of the late Rev. John E. Kolar and built during the pastorage of Rev. Hal Hooker. The property consists of the church building with sanctuary and balcony, fellowship hall and kitchen, ten Sunday School rooms with a children's chapel, pastor's study, Sunday school office, and two parsonages covering the length of the block.

The church has had 20 pastors in the 65 years of its existence.

Rev. Bob McCray and his wife, Jean, are the present pastors of the church Jean

(Mrs. Bob) McCray is the youth coordinator; Jay and Jonel Smallwood are Junior High youth leaders with Mike and Mary Woodriddle serving as leaders of the Senior Youth Nelda (Mrs. Darrell) Reagan is director of Children's Church, Donna Lee is Outreach Coordinator and Paul Chappell is the Choir Director and organist.

The present board of trustees includes Paul Chappell, Donna Lee, Marvin Woodriddle, Darrell Reagan, Bob Rybolt, Anna Smith and Terry Walton.

In addition to Rev. Hancock and Rev. Harrington, seven men have gone from this congregation into the ministry: Jay Taylor, Aubry L. Forrest, Elra Phillips, N.C. Dalton, Clyde Castleton and Charles Harrington, son of C.S. Harrington, Luther and Phil Riegel, son of Mrs. Veronica Riegel, 815 W. 18th, a student at Gulf Coast Bible School, Houston.

Jerry Kolb, Anderson, Ind., will be speaking at the First Church of God in the 10:45 a.m. service this Sunday.

William M. Spears donated the residence at 1000 Rannels to a congregation of about 20 people for worship services and the Highland Church of God was begun in October 1962. The late Rev. John E. Kolar was the first pastor.

The original board of trustees included Cleo Carlile, Andrew Dickson of Coahoma, Cliff Draper, Clyde Brown, Terry Walton and the late George Dyer.

The congregation purchased property about two years later at the southwest corner of 6th and Settles and erected a brick building largely with donated labor. The church building has a sanctuary and five classrooms. The congregation began worshipping there in 1964. Seven pastors have led this group which Rev. George Harrington now pastors.

Jerry Kolb will be speaking to this congregation in the 7 p.m. service this Sunday.

Kolb worked as a Certified Public Accountant in Big Spring and assisted with the pastoring of Highland Church from 1976-78. In addition, he served as an accountant for the Mass Communications Board of the Church of God at Anderson, Ind.

He is a speaker, who has served as a youth conference leader and associate pastor and is a graduate of Northwestern State University in Louisiana. Jerry is now a second year divinity student, working toward a master of divinity degree at Anderson College.

Workshops in Amarillo, Lubbock to tackle child abuse, neglect

In-depth workshops have been scheduled for Amarillo and Lubbock in January to boost church response to the growing problem of child abuse and neglect.

Clergy, lay leaders for service programming, and children and youth workers in congregations across the Panhandle and the High Plains are being urged to attend.

The Panhandle workshop will be held at Polk Street United Methodist Church, Amarillo, on January 17. The workshop for Potter County and 15 surrounding counties will be held at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lubbock, on Jan. 10.

The workshops are among events being conducted throughout the state by staff of the Children and Youth Services Program of the Texas Conference of Churches. Sponsors and local promoters of workshops in additional cities are being sought.

Information is available from Mary Lee Johns, 2704 Rio Grande No. 9, Austin, Tex. Phone 512-478-7491.

'Indefinite sentence violates human rights'

Judge rules against detention of refugee

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Indefinite prison detention of Cuban refugees thought to be security risks is a violation of basic human rights and "an abuse of discretion on the part of the attorney general," a federal judge has ruled.

"You just cannot hold people without giving them a definite time for their release," U.S. District Judge Richard Rogers said Thursday after ruling the government exceeded its authority in holding a Cuban at the federal prison at Leavenworth.

In the landmark decision, Rogers on Wednesday gave the government 90 days to release Pedro Rodriguez, free him on parole supervised by a federal lawyer or prove he is dangerous and should be jailed until he can be returned to Cuba.

Rogers' decision could affect the nearly 1,800

Cubans who have been detained at various federal institutions since being denied formal admission to the United States on grounds that they committed crimes of "moral turpitude" in Cuba.

About 6,000 other Cubans are awaiting sponsorship at a processing center in Fort Chaffee, Ark.

Government detention of the 48-year-old Rodriguez is "unlawful... and amounts to an abuse of discretion on the part of the attorney general and his delegates," Rogers wrote in his 40-page opinion.

Rogers said he concluded the detainees have a right under international law and treaties and the United Nations Charter — in addition to basic human rights — to a rapid resolution of their status.

Rodriguez and 234 others who fled Cuba have lived for the past seven months at the maximum-security prison in Leavenworth while U.S. officials try to convince the Cuban government to take them back.

Rodriguez testified that he had been convicted by a military court in Cuba of stealing a suitcase at a bus stop.

U.S. Attorney James Buchele said Thursday in Topeka that a decision on whether to appeal Rogers' order to the 10th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver would be made next week, and probably would be based on whether the 90-day time limit is adequate.

Work-at-home projects mail stop order issued

U.S. District Judge Barefoot Sanders has issued a preliminary injunction allowing the United States Postal Service to detain incoming mail addressed to American Service Directory, American Service, and American Commercial Publications, at four separate Dallas addresses, pending the outcome of a Postal Service attempt to obtain a mail stop order for mail addressed to the companies.

The Postal Service claims that the three Dallas firms have misrepresented work-at-home projects in advertisements soliciting home workers for envelope stuffing jobs. Classified advertisements placed by the companies in publications throughout the United States claimed that persons could make up to $2,500 per month addressing and stuffing envelopes at home. Other advertisements read, "Home addressers wanted, $500 per week possible, no experience required."

Inspector Newsome indicated that the issuance of the mail stop orders was one of several methods currently being used by Postal Inspectors in their continuing efforts to prevent postal customers from being defrauded through the U.S. mails.

Nine-digit ZIP code delayed until June 1 by Postmaster

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service, bowing to congressional pressure, today postponed until June 1 the start of a new, nine-digit ZIP code intended to save millions of dollars in costs of handling business mail.

Use of the nine-digit code was supposed to have begun in February. The Senate voted unanimously last month to order a delay until June 1, while allowing the Postal Service to buy computerized equipment and make efficiency studies of the new system, but the amendment was dropped in the final version of the legislation to which it was attached.

Postmaster General William F. Bolger said the delay was "consistent" with the Senate action and reflected a desire to make sure "that we exercise all due caution in instituting this important and far-reaching development."

The new, longer ZIP code would improve the efficiency of mail deliveries and hold down rising costs by directing mail beyond a local post office to a letter carrier's route, postal officials contend.

Bolger said the nine-digit ZIP code is aimed primarily at high-volume business mailers, who account for 80 percent of the 105 billion pieces of mail the service handles annually. He estimates the longer code would save $600 million a year when it is fully in effect in 1987.

Turnovers propel Bama rout

DALLAS (AP) — Baylor football coach Grant Teaff had just watched his Southwest Conference champions devastated by Paul "Bear" Bryant's Alabama Crimson Tide in the Cotton Bowl.

Teaff was quick to agree with Bryant on how Alabama had beaten Baylor, 30-2.

"Turnovers," said Teaff in a subdued Baylor dressing room.

Bryant said the failure of Baylor, 10-2, to complete long passes against Alabama, 10-2, made a big difference in the outcome.

"Baylor hurt us some on nearly everything, but they didn't get the bomb or long pass," Bryant said.

One of the reasons Baylor didn't get the bomb against the Crimson Tide was three pass interceptions. The Bears also coughed up four fumbles. Two of Baylor's four fumbles were turned into field goals and another fumble and an interception blunted Baylor's best drives.

Teaff said the costliest turnover came in the second quarter when, trailing 6-0, the Bears fumbled at the Alabama eight after driving 70 yards in five plays.

Speaking of the fumble, Teaff said, "That was really detrimental to us."

Instead of a touchdown at the end of the drive, Baylor wound up with a safety soon after the fumble recovery.

After Baylor sacked Alabama freshman quarterback Walter Lewis in the end zone for the safety, they got a good return of the ensuing free kick from the 20-yard line, moving the ball to the Alabama 37.

But that drive fizzled when Jeremiah Castille intercepted Baylor quarterback Jay Jeffrey's pass on the first play.

"I thought we had a TD when I started to throw. (Mike) Fisher was wide open. But I got hit as I threw and the ball was intercepted," said Jeffrey, who finished the day completing 8 of 19 passes. He threw two of the three interceptions.

In addition to the fumbles and interceptions, Alabama dropped Baylor runners for losses 13 times for losses amounting to 55 yards. The Bears had averaged 397 rushing yards per game, tops in the SWC, during the regular season. They finished the day with only 54 yards rushing, including only 12 yards in 14 attempts in the first half.

"It was very frustrating obviously," Teaff said. "That's the finest defense we've faced."

Despite the fumbles and interceptions, Teaff said he believed Baylor still had a chance to win before two fourth quarter Alabama touchdowns clinched

Alabama players credit coaches

DALLAS (AP) — Score another one for that 67-year-old fox, Paul "Bear" Bryant.

The Alabama coach gave young Baylor Coach Grant Teaff a lesson in preparation New Year's Day as the Bear's extensive homework paid off in his 306th collegiate victory — a 30-2 thumping of the Southwest Conference champions in the 45th annual Cotton Bowl Classic.

"Our coaches beat them," was the way All-America defensive end E.J. Junior described the thorough dismantling of the SWC's most productive offense.

The ninth-ranked Crimson Tide permitted just 54 yards rushing on 35 tries to a team averaging 296 per game.

Baylor wide receiver Mike Fisher said it was almost like the Crimson Tide had somebody in the Bear huddle.

"They must have super scouts," said Fisher. "Everything we learned over the holidays they changed. Alabama just changed up everything. I can run the in-and-in pattern and be open but it sure wasn't today.

"They had everybody ready for everything we do. I do not want to say we were out-coached."

"Baylor is the best team we played this year, including Notre Dame. Baylor didn't quit. They kept coming," said Junior. "You just don't look at the score. You look at the way we prepared. We had 10 or 11 days to prepare and we just wanted to win it more."

"I'm surprised our defense shut them down like that but I knew our coach had some good schemes," said Oglivie.

Alabama linebackers had the Baylor option down to perfection, shifting toward the correct side of the run almost 100 per cent of the time.

Bryant was asked by a reporter if he ever in his wildest dreams thought Baylor could be shutout by his defense.

The Bear growled and replied: "I don't have wild dreams."

Opportunistic Georgia wins Sugar Bowl

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — It took 34 years, but Vincent Dooley got to see the Bulldogs complete another perfect season, this one 12-0, by beating seventh-ranked Notre Dame 17-10 in the Sugar Bowl.

In 1947, Dooley traveled from his hometown of Mobile, Ala., to New Orleans, to see the Sugar Bowl between Georgia and North Carolina.

"I came down hoping to buy a ticket. My daddy gave me one dollar and I got a ride with a next-door neighbor," Dooley recalled Thursday. But Dooley, then 14, was out of luck.

"I sat on the curb next to a policeman during the game," Dooley said. "I still remember hearing the roar of the crowd."

Georgia won that game in Tulane Stadium 20-10 to cap an 11-0 campaign, but the Bulldogs only finished third in The Associated Press ratings behind, ironically, Notre Dame and Army.

Dooley heard the roar of the crowd again Thursday, but this time it was for 51-year-old Coach Vince Dooley and his No. 1-ranked Georgia Bulldogs in the Louisiana Superdome.

The triumph virtually assured Georgia its first national championship in 89 years of intercollegiate football. The Associated Press will announce the national champion for 1980 at 6:30 p.m. EST, Saturday.

"I sure hope it's us. I will be shocked if it turns out any other way," Dooley said. Dooley would have been shocked if Thursday's game had turned out any other way, especially after his opportunistic Bulldogs turned a blocked Notre Dame field goal attempt, a botched kickoff by the blundering Fighting Irish and a fumble into 17 quick points in a span of 2:46 late in the first quarter and early in the second.

Harry Oliver's 50-yard field goal at 4:19 of the opening period gave the Irish a 3-0 lead. Georgia's Rex Robinson knotted the score at 13:15 with a 46-yard field goal, nine plays after Terry Hoage blocked a low 48-yard attempt by Oliver. ## Michigan finally wins Rose Bowl

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The way tailback Butch Woolfolk runs when he's tired may induce Coach Bo Schembechler to hire a brass band to play beneath his window on the eve of every Michigan game next year.

Woolfolk, a 6-foot-1, 207-pound junior from Westfield, N.J., broke open a tight Rose Bowl game Thursday — rushing for 182 yards and a touchdown on 26 carries — to pace the Big Ten's Wolverines to a 23-6 victory over the Washington Huskies.

"I couldn't sleep at all last night," said Woolfolk, who was named Player-of-the-Game. "I doubt if I had more than 3½ hours all night long. I just kept tossing and turning."

Most of the Michigan players had gone with little sleep the previous night after a fire alarm forced the evacuation of the team's hotel at 2:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Once Woolfolk broke a 35-yarder to get Michigan out of a third and 11 situation at the Wolverines' own 10-yard line.

"Tell me that wasn't a great run, when we're pinned in there," Schembechler said. "Butch can be a real load."

The victory ended what seemed like a lifetime of frustration for Schembechler, who had lost seven bowl games in as many tries during his 11 previous years at the Wolverines' helm. Schembechler, whose fifth-ranked Wolverines finished the season 10-2, had lost five previous Rose Bowls in the 1970s plus an Orange and a Gator.

The Huskies of the Pacific-10 outplayed the Wolverines in the first half, but still trailed 7-6 after the first 30 minutes. Then Michigan took the second-half kickoff and marched down the field to score on a 25-yard field goal.

OU rally spoils FSU Orange party

MIAMI (AP) — J.C. Watts is willing to concede the national championship to Georgia and Barry Switzer has no qualms about Pittsburgh being No. 2, but don't dare rate Oklahoma lower than third.

"We've been No. 3 so many times that that's what I wanted," Sooners' Coach Switzer said Thursday night after quarterback Watts engineered a nine-play, 78-yard scoring drive in the closing minutes of an 18-17 victory over second-ranked Florida State in the 47th Orange Bowl.

"After Georgia beat Notre Dame, I told them I didn't really care about No. 2, let's go for No. 3," Switzer added, referring to the top-ranked Bulldogs' 17-10 triumph over Thursday's Sugar Bowl. "We've been three more than anybody else in the last decade."

Watts threw 11 yards to wide receiver Steve Rhodes with 1:27 remaining and then flipped a pass to tight end Forrest Valora for a two-point conversion that enabled the fourth-ranked Sooners to complete a 10-2 campaign.

Florida State, which had its bid for a perfect season rejected by Oklahoma 24-7 in the 1980 Orange Bowl, dropped to 10-2. The Seminoles' only other setback was also a one-point decision, 10-9 to No. 20 Miami.

Watts completed 7 of 12 passes for 128 yards. Meanwhile, Florida State, which ranked second in the nation in total defense, limited the Sooners' explosive wishbone running game — second best in the country — to only 156 yards. Florida State picked up 212 on the ground and only 51 through the air.

"They defended us well, but we got a few breaks and didn't fall apart when fell behind," said Watts. "It's just an example of what we've done all year long. We've had our backs to the wall before and we've

Walker runs Georgia to national title

(Con't. from 1-B)
Walker's 1-yard dive over the middle and Walker added the decisive touchdown on a 3-yard sweep at 1:11 of the second period.

Walker's first tally followed a mixup by Notre Dame kick returners Jim Stone and Ty Barber on Robinson's kickoff after his tying field goal. The kickoff hung in the air for 4.4 seconds and Stone and Barber moved up to block, each thinking the other would field it.

The ball landed behind them at the 4-yard line, free for the taking. Had it reached the end zone, it would have been a touchback and Notre Dame's ball at the 20. But Stone and Barber both dived for it, and so did Georgia's Dale Carver.

Carver won. He slipped under the two Notre Dame players and nudged the ball just enough for teammate Bob Kelly to recover it at the 1. Two plays later, Walker went airborne over the top and Georgia was in front for good.

Less than a minute into the second period, Notre Dame fullback John Sweeney fumbled and Chris Welton recovered for Georgia at the Irish 22. A 12-yard run around right end by Walker, a 7-yard keeper to the left side by quarterback Buck Belue and a pitchout back to the right to Walker produced the decisive points.

"Some of the things that got us here backfired a bit," said Dan Devine, who bowed out after six seasons as Notre Dame coach with a 53-16-1 record, including 9-2-1 this season. "We have not been a team that turned over the ball deep inside our territory. That got us today."

OVER THE TOP — Alabama's Major Ogilvie (42) flies over the top of the Baylor Bears defensive line to score the Tide's first touchdown of the day. Ogilvie became the first collegian to rush for a touchdown in four consecutive bowl games and was voted the Cotton Bowl's most valuable player as Alabama defeated the Baylor Bears 30-2.

Second half boost Michigan to Rose win

by Ali Haji-Sheikh.
"That was the turning point, as far as I could see," Schembechler said. "To take the kick and drive down the field on them, I think, might have taken something out of them."

However, Washington Coach Don James said that his defenders became disheartened earlier — before the half — when the Wolverines put on two good marches, the second of which ended in a 6-yard touchdown sprint by Woolfolk, who barreled right through Husky cornerback Bill Stapleton at the goal line.

"I could tell in the locker room at the half that my defensive guys had lost a little of their confidence," James said. "Then, too, you have to remember we were down in there on them a couple of times in that first half and came away empty."

On one occasion, it appeared that Washington fullback Toussaint Tyler had plunged for a 1-yard, fourth-down touchdown on the Huskies' second possession of the game. One official signaled TD, but another waved it off and the Wolverines took over.

"The referee who signaled

TD told me he changed the call after the other official told him he clearly saw the ball was not in," James said. "If you look at the final score, we'd still lose, but you never know what effect taking that quick lead might have had on Michigan."

Coahoma splits pair in Jayton

JAYTON — Coahoma High School split a pair of basketball games with Motley County here on New Year's Day in the Jayton Tournament, with the Bulldog girls staying in the run for the championship in the three-day affair.

The Coahoma girls raced to a 26-6 first quarter lead en route to a 70-35 triumph. Karri Robinson led the Coahoma team with 16 points, as they increased their record to 9-4.

The Coahoma boys, meanwhile, were overcome by a fourth quarter by the Motley County team in taking a 67-60 loss. The setback dropped the Coahoma boys' record to 8-3, while Motley County remained unbeaten in 13 starts.

Philip Ritchey had 27 points to lead Coahoma in the loss.

Baylor gets embarrassed

(Con't. from 1-B)
"I felt we were still in the game deep in the fourth quarter," Teaff said.

Baylor All America linebacker Mike Singletary also believed the Bears still had a chance until late in the game.

"I think they just wore us down, they kept coming, we held up inside but broke down on the inside," Singletary said.

Singletary summed up Baylor's game, saying, "Everybody has their day and this was not ours."

Jeffrey had a simple explanation for the overwhelming Alabama victory.

"They did a job on us," he said.

Late Sooner aerial raid nips Seminoles

always fought back.

Florida State made a last-ditch effort to win the game, but Bill Capece's 62-yard field goal attempt came up short on the final play in the game.

Watts' heroics made amends for the three fumbles he lost earlier in the game. One of them preceded an 11-play, 70-yard scoring drive which gave Florida State a 7-0 lead in the second quarter and another set up Capece's 19-yard third period field goal which lifted the Seminoles into a 10-10 tie.

The senior quarterback nearly saw the game-winning drive halted by Florida State defensive tackle Gary Futch. Watts, under pressure unloaded a screen pass to avoid a sack and Futch nearly intercepted it.

"I was sitting down there on the ground watching him juggle it and hoping he'd drop it," said Watts. "When he did, I said I ought to go over and pay that guy."

Florida State Coach Bobby Bowden said the defeat was one of the most disappointing of his career.

"It was ridiculous for a wishbone team to throw the ball against us the way they did," he said. "We had to be our own worst enemy."

But all season Georgia has been a team that took advantage of its opponent's mistakes, a team that tied for the lead nationally in turnover margin with a plus-23 in fumble recoveries and interceptions.

"We've been that kind of a team," Dooley said. "We prepare to be lucky. We prepare to take advantage of the breaks when they come."

For the first 27 minutes of the second half, Georgia only managed two first downs, one on a penalty. But with 2:56 remaining, Scott Woerner intercepted his second pass of the game at the Georgia 34 and the Bulldogs picked up three more first downs while running out the clock on their longest drive of the afternoon.

But would have appreciated warning

Bum not mad at Oiler owner

HOUSTON (AP) — Firing professional football coaches is an owner's prerogative, and O.A. "Bum" Phillips says it doesn't make him mad, even though he's now out of a job.

Oiler owner Bud Adams exercised his prerogative on Wednesday and in a move that shocked a lot of people — including Phillips — he fired the colorful coach.

"I hold no grudge against anybody. If Bud Adams wants to pay me not to coach, that's his privilege. I'm sincere. I'm not mad at him... An owner has a right to do what ever he wants with his property and the Houston Oilers are Bud Adams' property," said Phillips.

Phillips still had a year left on a contract with a salary estimated at $120,000 to $150,000 a year.

He admitted he would have appreciated a little more warning.

"I've ridden to work with him every day for the last seven years and I don't think you could pick a better buy," said Phillips.

"The only thing that disappointed me was the way it was done. I just wish he (Adams) would have given me a chance to tell my staff and family," said Phillips.

who added his 13-year-old daughter burst into tears when she heard of the firing from a television bulletin.

Phillips, who joined the Oilers in 1974 and became head coach in 1975, said when Adams called Wednesday morning he jumped in his Oiler-Blue pickup and drove 20 miles to the office expecting to talk about a two-year contract extension.

Instead, he was fired. The entire process took only about 15 minutes, he said.

The firing came just three days after the Oakland Raiders crushed Houston 27-7 in the American Football Conference wildcard playoff game. Adams said the decision stemmed from Phillips' refusal to hire an offensive coordinator.

Adams, who has become known for firing coaches, said he met with Phillips around mid-season and "expressed concern over a lack of scoring." He said he recommended either elevating one of the assistant coaches or hiring a new offensive coordinator.

"If I was putting together a new staff I'd hire one every time. But you don't hire an offensive coordinator once your staff is set," said Phillips.

Bum: 'I only got fired, 'I didn't die'

HOUSTON (AP) — Fired Houston Oilers Coach O.A. "Bum" Phillips said today that he has accepted the fact that he was ousted by owner K.S. "Bud" Adams and asked that fans also accept the fact.

"I only got fired, I didn't die," Phillips said in an emotional final meeting with the media ending his six-year tenure as the Oilers head coach. "Rather than look at the last six years, I ask everyone to look forward to the next six years."

"I had every opportunity here, whether you believe it or not. Bud Adams has done everything I asked him to do. He gave me the football to run with, I just didn't run far enough."

Phillips' news conference came amid speculation that Oilers defensive coordinator Ed Biles would be named the next head coach.

"I've ridden to work with him every day for the last seven years and I don't think you could pick a better buy," said Phillips.

Soviet SST out of service, undergoing safety tests

MOSCOW (AP) — More than three years after Soviet officials triumphantly inaugurated passenger flights on their TU-144 supersonic jetliner, the problem-plagued plane is out of service, back in its builders' hands and still undergoing tests, Soviet officials say.

A spokesman for the Soviet Ministry of Aircraft Production claimed this week that the tests are "coming to an end," and that the 140-passenger plane could be back in service "soon."

But he declined to predict when regular flights will resume, and references to the supersonic jet were missing from official congratulations to airline workers published last Monday in the Soviet press.

The spokesman, speaking with The Associated Press, asserted that the safety of the plane, a prototype of which crashed spectacularly at the 1973 Paris Air Show, "now has been assured."

But Western specialists say they still suspect that the plane has problems that could affect flight safety. Only this, they believe, could account for the lack of mention of the plane in the Soviet press and the absence of more demonstration flights.

The aircraft industry spokesman, however, asserted that the TU-144's problems now are basically economic. The plane's Western rival, the British-French Concorde, has also suffered from high operating costs.

The slim, needle-nosed Soviet craft was once expected to beat the Concorde into passenger service, but was finally inaugurated as a passenger jet on Nov. 1, 1977, 21 months behind its rival. Previously, it had carried mail and cargo.

The new passenger service was presented with great fanfare, and foreign journalists were invited on a 2,000-mile wine-and-caviar demonstration flight from Moscow to Alma Ata in Soviet Central Asia. Reporters aboard said the flight was smooth, but some said vibration noise forced them to communicate by writing notes to each other.

The aircraft's designer, Alexei Tupolev, said at the time that the aircraft had already been tested in 2.5 million miles of flying and that noise inside the cabin would be reduced.

Fears for the safety of the aircraft date from the Paris Air Show incident, when a prototype exploded in the air as 30,000 spectators looked on. Thirteen people, including six crewmen, were killed and flaming wreckage destroyed a dozen homes in the Paris suburb of Goussainville.

No major accidents since then have been reported, and the plane flew for a time between Moscow and Alma Ata after the 1977 inauguration. Flights were later suspended, however. Eight to 20 of the aircraft are now believed to exist.

Welfare boss refuses payment

BURRILLVILLE, R.I. (AP) — John Nolan Jr. says he doesn't work hard enough to be paid and has refused to accept his salary as town welfare director.

It wasn't a sudden change of heart that caused Nolan, a retired steamfitter, to turn back his first two biweekly paychecks of about $415 each.

Nolan was elected to the job in November after promising to accept only $1,000 of the $10,000 allocated for the welfare director's salary. He believes the job should be made part-time or eliminated.

Nolan said he has handled his responsibilities with two-hour visits to his office about two times a week. In the last four weeks he said he has answered only two requests for assistance from welfare recipients.

Town Solicitor Irving I. Zimmerman is preparing an opinion on whether it is legal for an employee to refuse his pay. Nolan said Zimmerman is seeking advice from the Internal Revenue Service and the town's auditors.

New technique could cut heart ailment deaths

CHICAGO (AP) — A new technique for dissolving clots in the arteries around the heart could cut sharply into the 300,000 deaths now caused by such blockages each year, a researcher says.

The technique, if used promptly when symptoms of a coronary attack appear, could help save the lives of victims of arterial clots or coronary thromboses, said Dr. William Ganz, cardiology professor at the UCLA Medical School who is developing the procedure.

The procedure is still in the developmental stage, Ganz said, and until it is perfected "it cannot and should not be done in an institution that doesn't have the intellectual and physical capacity to do so."

But when the technique becomes available for general use in about two years, it will represent the first significant means of reducing death rates from coronary thrombosis in a decade, Ganz said.

A coronary thrombosis involves the cutoff of blood to portions of the heart muscle, as when a clot forms to block the artery. Without blood, the muscle tissue begins to deteriorate after 20 minutes and gradually worsens until, after six hours, it is irreparably damaged.

Ganz reported in the Jan. 3 issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association that he and colleagues at the Cedars-Sinai Medical Center in Los Angeles have used the new technique to open clogged heart arteries in 20 of 21 patients who were suffering from coronary thromboses.

Under the technique, doctors feed into a patient's heart arteries a small flexible tube telescoped inside a conventional-size catheter tube inserted into the arteries at the arm or groin.

Researchers maneuver the tubes as near to the clot site as possible, then extend the smaller flexible catheter until it reaches the site of the blockage. They then inject medication which triggers production of a body enzyme that actually dissolves the clot and reopens the vital flow of blood to heart muscles, Ganz said.

Other techniques to dissolve heart clots are currently in use, but Ganz said his is different primarily because the smaller tube extends inside the pulmonary artery all the way to the clot and quickly brings medication where it is most needed.

Ganz infuses the drug Thrombolytic into the clot site. One of its components triggers the body's natural production of the enzyme plasminogen to dissolve the clot. The drug also adds extra amounts of the enzyme to speed the process.

"To save a patient we must save a large quantity of muscle," Ganz said in a telephone interview. "That's why we have to intervene quickly. We have to see the patient within 3 hours of onset of chest pains for the procedure to be effective."

Since the procedure was first tested on animals two years ago, it has been used on about 200 patients around the world — strictly on an experimental basis, Ganz said.

Grocery prices rose almost 15 percent during 1980

By the Associated Press
 Boosted by drought and an international taste for sugar, grocery bills rose almost 15 percent last year — about 1 1/2 times faster than they did in 1979, an Associated Press marketbasket survey shows.

The AP survey of a random sample of items on supermarket shelves also showed that prices rose much more slowly during December than they did during November, but the good news is not expected to last.

The AP drew up a list of 15 commonly purchased food and non-food products and checked the price at one supermarket in each of 13 cities on March 1, 1973. Prices have been rechecked on or about the start of each succeeding month. One item, chocolate chip cookies, was dropped from the list after the manufacturer discontinued the package size used in the survey. Among the findings of the latest survey: —The marketbasket bill increased at the checklist store in every city during 1980, rising an average of 14.4 percent. That compared with a 9.5 percent boost in 1979.

—During December, the marketbasket bill increased at the checklist store in nine cities — up an average of 1.9 percent — and decreased in four cities — down an average of 2.9 percent. Overall, the bill increased by an average of four-tenths of a percent. During November, the average increase was 2.4 percent.

—Sugar was to blame for much of the increase in supermarket bills during the year. Raw sugar prices have surged because production has not kept pace with demand and retail prices have followed. The U.S. Department of Agriculture estimates the 1980 average retail price of sugar at 37 cents a pound — up 50 percent from 1979 — and says prices will rise further this year. The AP survey showed the average price of a five-pound sack of granulated sugar at the checklist store went from $1.42 at the start of 1980 to $2.85 at the end of December.

—Last summer's drought is expected to cause increases in meat prices next year, because of higher feed grain costs. The drought already has caused price increases on supermarket shelves; the December survey by the AP showed the price of peanut butter was up at the checklist store in nine of the cities checked.

The AP did not try to weigh the survey results according to population density or in terms of what percentage of a family's actual grocery outlay each item represents.

election, McHenry said one of the problems was "Brzezinski, who shouldn't have been speaking."

On Tuesday, in an article in the February issue of Playboy magazine, Hodding Carter III, who served as press secretary to former Secretary of State Cyrus Vance, also criticized Brzezinski, characterizing him as a "second-rate thinker."

"You can have only one secretary of state," McHenry said in an interview Wednesday with The Associated Press. He said Brzezinski spoke out when he

Brzezinski criticized for big role

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — U.S. Ambassador Donald F. McHenry has criticized Zbigniew Brzezinski for assuming too big a role in foreign policy. It was the second attack on the national security adviser this week by an official of the outgoing Carter administration.

"You can have only one secretary of state," McHenry said in an interview Wednesday with The Associated Press. He said Brzezinski spoke out when he "shouldn't have" and sent "mixed signals" on the Carter administration's foreign policy.

The comments by McHenry, whose foreign policy positions have been identified closely with those of Vance, apparently reflect some State Department unhappiness with Brzezinski's interpretation of his role.

When asked to discuss reasons for Carter's defeat in the Nov. 4 presidential

$27.9 billion available for '82-83 state budget

AUSTIN — State Comptroller Bob Bullock has released a bottom-line forecast that $27.9 billion will come into state government from taxes and all other sources of revenue during the 1982-83 state budget period.

This compares to $22.7 billion in revenue available during the current 1980-81 budget period.

Bullock made his estimate in a letter to Gov. Bill Clements, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Billy Clayton, saying that details of the estimate will be published prior to the Legislature coming into session on Jan. 13.

Bullock said in his letter that of the total income, $19.4 billion would be available in the state's major funds for the Comptroller's required certification of spending bills passed by the Legislature. The Comptroller's certification is required by the Constitution's pay-as-you-go provision.

The major funds include the General Fund, the Available School Fund, the Motor Fuels Fund, Highway Fund and others. The balance of the state's revenues go to other funds earmarked for specific purposes.

Bullock's estimate includes a $68 million cash surplus projected for the end

Town's only Policeman quits

LAPWAI, Idaho (AP) — Dan Quackenbush, the one-man police force in this Indian reservation town, says he's been shot at, fought with and threatened in his two months on the job. The violence has convinced him he ought to quit.

Rocks and bottles have bounced off and broken against his office while he worked inside. He keeps lots of guns around his house and has told his wife to shoot anyone who tries to break in.

"It hasn't been too much fun," said Quackenbush, who makes $950 a month and because of the laws government Indians has been largely powerless to do anything about the situation.

The last straw came two weeks ago when a bullet smashed through his squad car window, narrowly missing him.

"That's when I decided they'd have to pay me a lot more if they wanted me to stay here," he said.

For 18 months before Quackenbush arrived from Belle Fourche, S.D., to become police chief on Oct. 31, Lapwai, a town of 1,050, was without its own police force.

Passengers sidetracked by executive train

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Passengers on the Amtrak "Inter-American" missed connections after the train was shunted to a siding and delayed 31 minutes to let a Missouri Pacific train carrying railroad officials through.

The Missouri Pacific train was a "business special" carrying railroad officials south on an inspection tour, said Harry E. Hammer, a public affairs spokesman.

The Amtrak train was on a trip Tuesday from Laredo, Texas, to Chicago. The train arrived in St. Louis about an hour and a half behind schedule after the unscheduled stop on the siding near Arcadia, Mo.

Hammer said the delay of the Amtrak train was "an unavoidable thing." The passenger train had been thrown off schedule by malfunctioning signal lights at Annapolis, Mo., he said.

"We were supposed to pass the trains at Cadet (Mo.), but because the Amtrak train was losing time, we decided to put it on a siding," Hammer said. "It was the only practical place to do it. Had the northbound train not lost time, Cadet would have been a perfect meet."

Several passengers made other bus or plane connections in St. Louis because they expected to miss connections in Chicago, one rider said.

Another passenger, who asked not to be identified, said the incident was "an example of 300 paying Amtrak customers being inconvenienced by 50 railroad big shots."

Liza Minnelli has miscarriage

NEW YORK (AP) — Entertainer Liza Minnelli has suffered another miscarriage and lost the baby she was expecting in May, it was reported today.

Columnist Earl Wilson reported in the New York Post that Miss Minnelli, 34, suffered a "mid-second trimester pregnancy loss" about 10 p.m. New Year's Eve at a hospital near Reno, Nev.

Miss Minnelli had an earlier miscarriage in December 1979.

Son says Vesco will return

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — Fugitive financier Robert Vesco, who disappeared from his home shortly before officials arrived to serve him with a deportation order, took his wife and a son on a five-day trip and will be back Sunday, another son says.

Anthony Vesco, 23, who is staying at his father's oceanside home here, said Thursday that his father, his mother, Patricia, and their younger son, Patrick, left on Tuesday.
