Dwyer's departure from Iran held up

Cynthia B. Dwyer, the American writer convicted of spying on Iran and ordered deported, was detained in Iran today after a problem with her exit papers delayed her departure, the U.S. Stete Department said today.

Western reporters in Tehran reported that Mrs. Dwyer had boarded an Iranair flight for Vienna, Austria. But in Washington, State Department spokeswoman Sue Pittman said, "We have been informed by the Swiss that she has not left, she is apparently still at the airport.

The spokeswoman said "there is apparently some problem in her exit papers and she is still being detained there." There was no indication when the problem would be settled, the State Department said.

In the Swiss capital, a Swiss Foreign Ministry spokesman said the flight left without Mrs. Dwyer because of "some problems with her papers." Spokesman Othmar Uhl said, "our people are now trying to straighten things out at Tehran airport and they hope to be able to put her on the next plane." He said he did not know when she might leave Iran.

The Iranair office in Geneva said its next scheduled flight out of Tehran was Wednesday, flying to Istanbul, Turkey and Frankfurt, West Germany. Iranair is the only airline regularly flying out of Iran.

The 49-year-old Mrs. Dwyer, who went to Iran to write about Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's revolution and spent nine months in jail, was convicted by a Revolutionary Court Sunday and sentenced to the time she had already served.

Western reporters in Tehran said a black Mercedes limousine with bulletproof glass took Mrs. Dwyer to Mehrabad Airport as the noon Iranair flight was warming up and she was smiling as she ran to the plane. But the Swiss, who represent U.S. interests in Iran, reported to Washington that a problem arose over

He said he and their three children would go from their home in a Buffalo suburb to New York City this afternoon to await her arrival.

Mrs. Dwyer's mother, 77-year-old Mildred Brown of Horatio, Ark., said she felt "grateful to the Iranians for letting her come home." She said she was surprised at her daughter's "early" release

The Amherst, N.Y., woman was arrested May 5 in her Tehran hotel room 10 days after the abortive U.S. military attempt to rescue the 53 Americans held hostage in Tehran.

Mrs. Dwyer's husband said she was sympathetic to the Iranian people and their revolution and went to Tehran last April to gather information for articles she hoped to sell.

A Tehran newspaper account last week of the first session of her trial said members of teh Iranian Revolutionary Guards enlisted her in a fictitious plot to resuce some of the hostages, and the prosecutor charged that she agreed to try to get the plotters arms and a radio from the United States. But the account said she told the court she heard no request for arms and thought the radio was to be used to warn against another military rescue.

Arson fire kills five in New York

An arsonist using a flammable liquid set a fire in a Brooklyn, N.Y., apartment house, killing two mothers and three of their children, and children playing with matches may have sparked a fire that killed two children in Pontiac, Mich., officials

The Brooklyn fire quickly engulfed the four-story apartment house Sunday night and trapped the two women and three children on the top floor, official said.

"When I heard the people screaming the building was already on fire," said a man who safely fled the building.

Maria Melendez, 28, and her 6-yearold son, Anthony, were pronounced dead at the scene, fire officials said. She was being visited in her apartment by the other victims, Olga Rodriguez, 29, and her daughters, Olga, 11, and Estella, 9, when the fire erupted.

The children were found "helterskelter" on the stairs leading from the fourth floor to the roof, Fire Department spokesman John Mulligan said. Flames and smoke apparently stopped them from getting to the roof,

In Michigan, Pontiac Fire Marshal Bobby Cone identified the children who died in the Sunday fire as Tishandra Lester, 2, and her 3-yearold brother, Duayne. Their mother, 20-year-old Marilyn Lester, suffered smoke inhalation and was in critical Hospital, Cone said late Sunday.

Outline for federal revenue sharing expenditures given

By CAROL HART

A breakdown in the proposed use of federal revenue sharing funds was one of several items of business discussed by Howard County Commissioners today.

County auditor Jackie Olson presented the outline of revenue sharing expenditures for 1980-81. Breakdowns under the hearing of public safety were fire department expenses, $5,000; Fire protection, Coahoma, $1,000; fire protection, Forsan, $500; and ambulance, $10,500. Under social service for the aged and poor, the Council on Aging was budgeted at $3,150. Transportation costs were left open in the budget, as were vehicle and equipment costs, and computer costs. Courthouse equipment and repair was budgeted at $5,000, and the Lomax fire station was budgeted at budgeted revenue is Total

$172,569.12. Mrs. Olson and Maxwell Green, certified public accountant, submitted ensive annual financial report for Howard County during the

In the report, Mrs. Olson stated that revenues for the county, for general, road and bridge, airport, debt service, and revenue sharing funds, totaled $2,341,765.63 in 1979-80, compared to $2,270,069.41 for 1978-79. Property taxes produced income $1,298,571.56, compared $1,236,751.76 in 1978-79.

In addition to the above revenues, $48,466.00 was received from the State for partial operation of the Adult Probation Department, $10,590.00 was received as fees from district and county court for the operation of the law library, and $256,000 was transferred from the general to the road and bridge fund for the operation of the internal service fund — equipment operating. Green told commissioners the county "is in good financial condition," adding that the cash-on-hand for 1979-80 year did deteriorate. Green advised the commissioners to continuing working on equipment operating funds, to reserve funds to replace equipment.

County engineer Bill Mims told commissioners that $8,495 had been spent so far on efforts to reduce flooding at Pirkle Lake, which is a buildup of water across a county road northwest of Big Spring

O.L. (Louie) Brown, commissioners, precinct one, asked "Where do we Commissioners then discussed how much time and money could be spent on relieving the problem.

William Crooker, precinct three, said each case of flooding should be studied and evaluated separately.

"This is a real serious problem, undertake problems like this of any magnitude in the future.

Conditions on the A.J. Pirkle land, where the buildup over county road 28 is to be pumped, might "lend itself to a permanent lake" situation, Crooker said. Commissioners plan to study alternate areas for roads to be built if flooding cannot be alleviated

Commissioners asked Mims to submit an evaluation of the problem, which would include a report of the flooded area and an evaluation of costs to pump the area.

"We have an obligation to keep and maintain the roads the best we can.' Crooker added.

John Taylor of the Centennial Committee asked commissioners to approve a resolution concerning the county-wide Centennial celebration, which is set May 21 through 30.

Taylor said that the Centennial Committee expects revenue from admissions to a historical pageant, a special booklet, a carnival, and the sale of novelties and souvenirs. He requested that no individual, company or organization have the opportunity to sell, trade or give away anything with centennial reference without first obtaining the written permission of the Centennial Committee. Commissioners approved the request.

Bonnie Franklin, county treasurer, presented the bids of three banks for the right to serve as the county depository. Commissioners agreed to let State National Bank, which is the county depository now, to remain so. Other bids were received from First National Bank, and Security State

Sheriff A.N. Standard discussed the naming of a constable for the Coahoma-Sand Springs area with commissioners. Standard recommended that J.B. Hall be appointed as constable in the area

Standard said "Mr. Hall is very friendly and anxious to help." and added he felt Hall's offer to serve as constable in the area was "civic minded" and that the man had no ulterior motives.

Commissioners agreed to appoint Hall as constable at the rate of $1 a year. He will serve in the precinct two area until the next general election.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Gasoline prices are rising. Mortgage rates are at an all-time high. Air fares and home heating oil costs are going up.

The Reagan administration and the Federal Reserve Board say inflation, which was 12.4 percent in 1980, will get worse before it gets better. But they insist price increases will level off as their policies take hold.

How long that will take - or whether it will happen at all - is subject to debate. It might be two years or longer, says Robert Gough, vice president of Data Resources Inc., the nation's largest private economic forecasting firm. And many economists say even that outlook depends on deep cuts in rate expected by Reagan, Volcker the federal budget and no further oil price shocks or unexpected summer droughts.

> Reagan's budget President director, David Stockman, told congressmen last week inflation could be cut to 6 percent or 7 percent by the end of 1982 under the administration's economic program.

For the immediate future, however, the Consumer Price Index is expected

Stockman predicted Reagan's decision to lift remaining government controls on domestic crude oil would increase gasoline prices at the pump 8 cents to 13 cents a gallon this year. But less than two weeks after the move, many refiners already have pushed prices up as much as 6 cents a gallon.

Sen. James A. McClure, R-Idaho, chairman of the Senate Energy and Natural Resources Committee, said Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press" that under normal circumstances there is no reason for gasoline prices to go any more than another 5 cents higher by June.

Many economists predict home heating oil could reach $1.40 a gallon by winter's end, compared with 95 cents a gallon late last fall, due largely to price decontrol.

The Civil Aeronautics Board last week said it will permit airlines to raise domestic fares another 3.8 percent because of skyrocketing jet

Lamesa hospital trustees point to facility needs

LAMESA — The indigent patient load at Medical Arts Hospital grew from $44,000 in 1974 to $150,000 in 1980, with the result that the county-owned facility is fast approaching a money

Capital reserves of the facility have been depleted to the point that capital improvement is virtually impossible, according to R.B. Snell, a member of the hospital's board of trustees. The reserve fund has dwindled from $350,000 in 1974 to $50,000, which represents only about ten days of operating costs.

About half the patients who use

Medical Arts Hospital are on Medicare. Snell said that the more efficiently the hospital is operated, the more apt the government is to reduce Medicare reimbursements

Snell said that hospital board members likely would approach the county commission seeking a bond issue election to upgrade some of the hospital's equipment. Snell said it would cost $150,000 just to replace the facility's x-ray equipment

Medical Arts Hospital serves an average of 37 patients a day and needs about $200,000 a month to operate.

Daniel's sister seeks custody of children

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) - In addition to a murder charge and a temporary restraining order. Vickie Daniel now faces a court challenge concerning custody of the two children she bore former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., the man she is accused of murdering.

Danie's sister, Jean Daniel Murphy, has asked her custody of Franklin Baldwin Daniel, 3, and Marion Price Daniel IV, 1, Mrs. Daniel's attorney confirmed Sunday night.

A hearing on the matter has been set for Feb. 26 in 253rd District Court. "I didn't find out that it (the custody suit) had been filed until Friday evening," Andrew Lannie said Sun-day, adding that he was "surprised" by the custody action filed Friday.

Right-to-work plan approved

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - A Senate committee quickly approved today a legislative package that would put the present right-to-work law into the Texas constitution and call on Congress to do the same for the federal constitution

Only two votes were cast against any of the three measures approved for floor debate by the Senate Economic Development Committee.

Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, said he would not try to bring up any of the measures immediately "at least not until I get the votes."

A proposed constitutional amendment would let voters decide next next Nov. 2 if the constitution should contain a ban on anyone being denied employment because of membership or nonmembership in a labor union.

A second measure would add to present law a provision that an employee could not be forced to pay union dues in order to hold a job. Present law says no one may be forced to join a union.

The third measure would ask Congress to approve a proposed right-to-work amendment for the federal constitution and send it to the states for ratification. Voting against the resolution were Sens. Dee Travis, R-Garland, and Bob Glascow, D-

ROBERT E. TRAYLOR (L), PAUL D. WARREN Works on display in Citizens FCU building

Wood carvings of local artists are on display

Two members of the Big Spring Art Association have recent work at Citizens the work of Robert E. Travlor and Paul D. Warren, will the general public during regular business hours.

A novice to wood carving, Robert E. Traylor said he became interested in the special art form about five years ago when a friend sent him a hand carved coat of arms from Spain. Traylor said "the more I looked at it, the more I felt I could do the same thing." So, with the encouragement of friends, he began a new hobby that was to bring him awards and recognition.

After a medical retirement from Webb AFB in 1977. Traylor started experimenting with his new hobby and found that wood carving could be put to many uses and began to use the rare art form to enhance his home. "I carved Spanish archways in my home, plaques and decorations for the wall, and a hand carved door." He said rewarding, but changed the entire house.

He says "you don't have to be rich and have a lot of money to make the inside of a home a show place; all you need is a little imagination, the desire to try, and a little spare time

Paul D. Warren, another artist who is interested in wood carving, began pursuing his interest in art when he was a teenager. Warren says "most of my life has been devoted to making a living in conventional ways with music as a sideline and woodworking as a hobby.' He even had an orchestra, The Starliters, for nine years in Big Spring while working for the civil service.

A few years before his retirement from the civil service, Warren combined his woodworking hobby with the work was not only painting and developed a new medium. His pictures are now a combination of routing, shopwork, sandblasting, hand painting with acrylics, and spraying. He says he "gets some unusual, sometimes startling, effects in sky and water by utilizing the natural grain of wood."

Warren also does signs and small furniture, including lamps, rocking chairs, cradles, candlesticks, and

The vaccinations at Dodson followed more than 1,500 throat cultures and blood samples taken from teachers, students, staff and relatives last week. Results of the tests were expected to be reported later today.

Including the Dodson cases and three others in Houston, 61 Texans have only 35 throughout 1980.

Texas International said it 'plans shortly to make a tender offer for a minimum of 4 million shares' of Continental at $13 a share, and might buy as many as 2 million more shares. That would cost $78 million if all shares were bought.

Continental already has agreed to merge with another major carrier, Western Airlines, and that union won the blessing Friday of a Civil Aeronautics Board law judge, although it still needs CAB approval and the approval of stockholders of both companies. .

Texas International, a subsidiary of Texas Air Corp., said it bought 800,500 shares of Continental stock on Friday and now owns a total of 1.459.200 shares.

The purchase of 6 million more shares would give Texas Internatonal a 49 percent stake in Continental, the nation's 10th-largest airline, which primarily serves the western states and has routes to Mexico. Texas International said it would seek a combination with Continental if the CAB

Winter drought having effect all across U.S.

By the Associated Press

Students in Hawaii are eating off paper plates to save dishwater and officials in New York are thinking of digging a well under Shea Stadium to keep the Mets' baseball park green as a winter drought parches farflung parts of the nation.

Weekend drizzles in the Northeast served to dampen only hopes after less than an inch of rain fell across the thirstiest areas.

North Jersey now faces a record low 40-day supply of water, and the worsening drought throughout New Jersey has prompted Gov. Brendan T. Byrne to extend emergency water rationing to cover more than half the state, including all of heavily populated Bergen and most of Passaic

The rationing order now covers 202 communities and 3 million residents, who are required to cut water consumption by 25 percent. Those affected are restricted to 50 gallons of water per person daily. Single-person households are allowed 65 gallons a day.

The region needs 25 inches of rain — 50 percent above normal precipitation — to bring reservoirs to full capacity by summer, said Paul H. Arbesman, deputy commissioner of environmental protection. Rainfall in December and January was 14 percent

Because of a drought emergency in New York, both the Mets and Yankees have been told they may be barred from using city water on the grass when their baseball seasons begin.

Texas gays becoming more militant

To future generations, the 1980s will likely be identified as the decade the gay community became very visible and very vocal in Texas politics.

The Dallas gays have not only organized a political caucus but now have a newsletter they have entitled 'Dialog.' One of the recent editions of the publication directs attention to the fact that approximately 100 legislative bills have been prefiled that deal directly with the gays' efforts to have the state's legal umbrella offer them protection, too. The Dialog concedes that many of the bills will never get out of committee but holds out hope that some will be attached as 'riders' which would, of course, improve their chances for noted that the foundation had received what he believes to be the largest single contribution ever given to a gay charitable organization—a donation in excess of $7,500.

An emergency hotline has been opened for gays who think they have been subjected to police harassment. A group called the Social Justice Committee of the DGPC reportedly is investigating what it says is a growing number of crimes against gays.

A fund-raising show featuring actress Pat Carroll as 'Gertrude Stein' will shortly be held in Dallas, with tickets selling for $20 each.

Among other items, the most recent edition of "Dialog" duely noted that Dallas gay community would have what likely is the first truly gay shopping mall of its own. Among tenants are a book store and a shop dealing in leather goods. A flower shop, a sportsware shop and a gift stop will likely be included in the mall. The gays have already established themselves as a political force in some areas, specifically San Francisco, who they coerced city hall into making some concessions on their

Texas gays showed up in force at a Texas Democratic rally in Houston not too long ago to remind the pillars of the party they had a gay rights plank in the party platform and expected that it to be honored.

Women attracted to the movement are pressing passage of a resolution which states in effect that they will not be discriminated against by being referred to as 'lesbians.' Rather they suggested that it would be helpful to stress the inclusion of both sexes in the expression—'gay men and women' or 'gay women and men.

IT IS EMPHASIZED in the newsletter's masthead that the inclusion of names of people appearing in the publication does not reflect the sexual orientation of those mentioned. That would seem to indicate that the gay community is encouraging support from all people within the community.

The Dallas Gay Political Caucus sent two people to Austin for the opening of the state legislative session and lent assistance to a Dallas television station which did a special series on gay life in Dallas.

It's obvious the gays have con-cluded that a good offense is the best defense, for it is becoming in-creasingly obvious they will never again adopt a passive stance about anything that would drive them back into the shadows.

Outsider

Around the rim

Andrea Cohen

An old friend of mine once publicized the fact that his stomach was torn to pieces soon after he drank my coffee. The problem was that I didn't know how to make it to begin with. So I followed his instructions as he stood next to me, making his stomach problem his own fault.

I don't know how to make coffee, because I can't stand the smell, taste or sight of coffee. Under no circumstances will I wash a coffee pot.

NOT BEING A COFFEE drinker causes problems a coffee junkie would never understand. Speaking from experience, I can tell you that being a non-coffee drinker makes me feel like an outsider to the very meaning of life

I feel left out at coffee breaks, no matter what I'm drinking, and I feel left out when everyone is complaining about "the coffee. Coffee drinkers have a certain way about them. For instance, each person has his very own style as he walks up to the coffee pot early in the morning, half asleep. As he is looking at the person he is having a conversation with, he can pour the coffee without looking and it never overflows. Then he pours in the cream and sugar, grabs the stirrer and starts sipping without ever looking away from the other person. Then as he continues talking, he holds the cup down by his waist, with his fingers in the handle and his thumb over the rim of the

BUSINESSES WITH THE coffee pot rarely have tea and one can feel pretty silly drinking soda at 8 a.m. But if you don't like coffee, there doesn't seem to be an alternative

But most businesses do seem to have a coffee pot, so as not to put up with grounchy employees all day if they can't have their fix. But as a smoker, and a Coke addict, I can see how anyone can get addicted to coffee. GOLD BOS

FL(

But being a non-coffee drinker and not being a member of mainstream America gives me another problem. I was never a big drinker. But the reason I never go out of my way to get drunk, is because I know sure enough, someone will try to shove loads of coffee down my throat. And that, would be worse than getting drunk

No puppeteer

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON President Reagan's nomination of John F. Lehman Jr. as secretary of the Navy after weeks of backstage battling showed that presidential counselor Edwin Meese III, while Reagan's most influential adviser, is not the de facto president who pulls the strings of the puppet in the Oval Office.

That notion is so strong that even Lehman's supporters assumed that opposition faded only because the allpowerful Meese had a change of heart. In truth, Meese never dropped his preference for Lehman's competitor. The heart that changed was Reagan's, overruling the advice of his oldest aides There are enough such instances to refute the notion that Meese manipulates Reagan as the mayors of the palace controlled long-haired Merovingian kings in medieval France. Reagan's passion to delegate details and Meese's joy in accepting them is building a perception of a puppet president, a notion whose falsity makes it no less dangerous to the new administration.

MORE THAN ANYBODY else, Reagan included, it was the cool, cautious Meese who set the tone of the administration by selecting a Cabinet more noted for stolidity and respectability than intimations of greatness Yet, on personnel and policy alike. Reagan has frequently asserted himself. The battle over secretary of the Navy is not the most important example, must the most recent. Lehman, 38, a rare combination of Ph.D. and naval jet fighter pilot, was unusually qualified. The Ford administration's deputy director of the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA), he had the past four years promoted hard-line defense as Republican policy. His rival: Robert Nesen, a 62-year-old Cadillac dealer from Thousand Oaks, Calif., once assistant secretary of the Navy for management but generally unknown in defense circles

Nesen did have one unique asset: second-tier membership in Reagan's "kitchen cabinet." He appears to have been promised the Navy job (perhaps by Reagan himself) and was backed not only by the kitchen cabinet but by Reagan's closest advisers: Mike Deaver, Lyn Nofziger — and Ed Meese. On inauguration even, Lehman's chances were slim

But Reagan decided Lehman's qualifications, coupled with his backing on Capitol Hill and in the Pentagon, overrode any political promise to Nesen. "Can't we find out if Bob isn't interested in something else?" Reagan asked. That ended the debate. The "something else" turned out to be ambassador to Australia.

This is the latest in a modest list of cases in which Reagan has overruled Meese. Many were in the Lehman mold: Reagan taking the route of principle over political expediency. This was routine during the campaign when Reagan rejected policy recommendations of Meese and his campaign staff.

IN THE OTHER GENERAL category in which the two old friends disagreed, Reagan has accepted risky initiatives and Meese has opted for caution. Reagan probably would not have persisted in uncompromising support for the Kemp-Roth tax bill, which was seemingly weak in public support and derided by the economic establishment, had it been up to Meese. Yet, this was the energizing core of the Reagan campaign. Similarly, the director of the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) surely would not be David Stockman today if Meese had controlled this as he did other Cabinet appointments. Impressed by Stockman's brilliant impersonation of John Anderson and Jimmy Carter in presidential debate rehearsals, Reagan intervened for him. The result is risk-taker Stockman in a Cabinet generally cautious as Meese

While Meese is today's dominant figure in the administration, his authority has limits. Knowing Meese's limitations as Reagan's chief of staff in Sacramento, old friends urged Reagan to split the functions Meese envisioned for himself: policy direction would stay with Meese, but James Baker (George Bush's campaign manager) would run the White House staff. Reagan agreed, to Meese's temporary discomfiture. Meese did not sulk for long. That would be out of character for a man who combines great good humor (common in politics) with an unwillingness to speak ill of anybody (almost unheard of in politics). Add to this a quick mind, ability to absorb huge doses of information and sound judgment, and it is no wonder this is the man Reagan trusts most.

A 70-year-old president who shuns details needs somebody playing prime minister. For a president whose remarkable career from sports announcer to actor to political polemicist shows an entrepreneurial flair, a chief aide endowed with lawyerly caution is desirable. The worry is whether that relationship should ever reverse itself so that the safety-first aide dominates the risk-taking president. That is why the nomination of John Lehman, reflecting the limitations of Ed Meese's power, is reassuring.

Dear Editor: I see, on NBC news, where the orange growers (SUNKIST) and marketers in California have just reaped a bumper crop of oranges this year. That should have been good for the nation. But, Sunkist does not believe in the natural supply and demand concept (except when they have a short crop) to govern the

They did not like the idea of the supply causing the prices of oranges to go down. So, they destroyed millions of pounds of oranges just to keep the prices up. That is a rip off and is all considered to be legal. Well it may be legal but it sure proves that the Sunkist group are not concerned about the economy nor the consumers do so when the crop is short. Well that is supply and demand. But when a group deliberately destroys the proceeds of a harvest just to keep the price up that is not supply and demand, it is pure contempt for the consumer.

the consumer decided to boycott those organizations that practice such contempuous actions, also instruct their legislators to refuse to provide funds to bail-out those organizations when they go broke. I would like to see a consumer boycott of all Sunkist products. This would let Sunkist know that they do have a responsibility to this nation just the same as the rest of us. Endometriosis means that bits of it have found their way to places where they don't belong—the ovaries, the intestines, the bladder, for examples. That out-of-place tissue responds to the woman's menstrual cycle the same way the endometrium does in the uterus-by bleeding. And it also may respond with pain during the menstrual period wherever it is located. Rectal bleeding, for example, can occur if the tissue finds its way to

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I'm afraid our marriage is falling apart, because all my husband does is criticize me and cut me down. This is so depressing that I don't see how I can take it any longer. What do you think I should do? — Mrs. C.N.E.

Dear Mrs. C.N.E.: I am sorry that you are living in such a difficult situation. The Bible says that "The tongue has the power of life and death" (Proverbs 18:21). We all need to be aware of the impact that our words have upon others. We should choose our words carefully so as to encourage others and not to scar

Regarding you particular problem, may I offer these suggestions? First, "don't retaliate." "A gentle answer turns away wrath, but a harsh word stirs up anger" (Proverbs 15:1). Although your natural instincts will tell you to fight back, that will only make matters worse.

Second, "listen carefully to your "He who answers before listening-that is his folly and his shame" (Proverbs 18:13). What is your husband really saying by his belittling remarks? Often those who frequently criticize others do so out of deep feelings of insecurity and inadequacy. Or are there unusual pressures which he is facing at work? Or is he reacting to negative attitudes and actions which you might be displaying unknowlingly?

Third "encourage your husband." "Pleasant words are a honeycomb, sweet to the soul and healing to the bones" (Proverbs 16:24). Help build your husband's self-confidence by giving him your special support.

Most importantly, "forgive your husband" for his hurtful actions and seek his forgiveness when you wrong him in any way. Harboring resentment will only poison your relation-ship. And, Mrs. C.N.E., make certain that your life is completely yielded to God; pray that together you and your husband will put God in the center of your marriage, for he is the only one who can truly mend and re-mold your relationship.

Loving, Not Judging, Will Get Daughter's Attention

DEAR ABBY: I'm concerned about our 17-year-old daughter. Before she started high school she was a good girl and got good grades. But she's a senior now and her grades are slipping, and I can't trust her because she lies about where she goes and what she does.

My main concern is that I know she's been having sex with every boy she goes out with. I'm sure she had an abortion last year, but she never admitted it. I gave her every opportunity to tell me, but she never did. We've gone around several times lately about her curfew and dating habits, but she does as she pleases, paying no attention to

I don't want to be too strict for fear she'll get married just to get away from home like I did - much to my regret. Her father is no help. He's very hot-headed and isn't able to talk calmly to her. He puts her down, calls her a tramp, and lets her know he doesn't trust her.

I've hear that some girls have sex with a lot of boys because they never got any affection from their fathers. Is that true? I've thought of writing to you many times, but never knew where to start. I love her and care what happens to her. Abby Please help me.

WORRIED MOM

DEAR MOM: If you really love your daughter, you will put her into the hands of a counselor with whom she can communicate comfortably. It's true, girls who were ignored by their fathers tend to become promiscuous in their search for the understanding and affection they missed while growing up. Don't be judgmental. Let her know that you love her, and let the counselor do the rest.

DEAR ABBY: May I add my 2 cents' worth concerning "the other woman" plight? I have been "the other woman" in a married man's life for three years. He's too decent to leave his wife, but I'm willing to wait forever if necessary. I would rather have 50 percent of him than 100 percent of Canker sores (apthous ulcers) are recurring sores that form inside the mouth. They frequently appear in groups and most often are limited to the inside of the cheeks and lips, the tongue or soft palate. The ulcer is round or oval, grayish-white, and has a bright red edge.

Proxigel, a cleaning and debriding medication in gel form, is currently recommended by many physicians and dentists to facilitate healing, and to help keep the area clean. No prescription is required.

"Bringing people to atheism is a very slow, gradual process, and we still have a long way to go," said Viktor Timofeyev, another atheism lecturer

"Remember that churches still operate in this country and have their own rights. Timofeyev said. "We aren't allowed to go into a church, grab someone by his lapels and say, 'Look, there's no God, so let's get out of here.' The police would fine us for interfering in church ac-

Still, the Soviet Union's atheism campaigners have plenty of opportunity for their work. Moscow's "enthusiasts" say they lecture to more than 200,000 citizens a year on such subjects as "What Science Knows About Jesus Christ."

They are aided by regular anti-religious cartoons and articles in the Soviet press, a monthly atheism journal called "Science and Religion" and virulent press attacks on foreign perialist" subversives who allegedly play on citizens' religious feelings.

Some Russians fear a display of religious feelings can retard their career or political advancement. although official policy forbids job discrimination on religious grounds.

Atheism campaigners, like religious evangelists, say they keep a constant eye out for people who can benefit from their aid. Shvets says with pride that he once persuaded a young woman he met by chance on a train to stop wearing a crucifix around her neck

And they claim that each careful, and we can't go around just stopping people on the street and asking if they're religious, Timofevev said. might say, 'What business is it of yours?

Rather, atheism campaigners invite pensioners to quiet chats over tea and cookies, and speak to factory and office social clubs and "Of course, we have many opportunities to hold lectures and do our work,' Timofeyev said. "But don't underestimate propaganda effect against us, in favor of religion, when thousands of people line up at churches on Easter and other occasions. That's powerful propaganda for the other side.

Churches in the Soviet Union are not permitted to evangelize outside their buildings. But many Soviet citizens, even if they do not practice religion regularly, drop by at churches from time to time for family occasions or just out of curiosity.

By some accounts, up to 60 million of the Soviet Union's 266 million citizens have occasional contacts with Russian Orthodox, Catholic, Baptist, Jewish, Moslem or other religious groups.

One Moscow atheism lecturer complained last year that university students, on the eve of examinations on Communist and atheist philosophy, were visiting churches and lighting candles for good

Lakers miss Magic

The last time the Los Diego Clippers 123-107, the Angeles Lakers were in Philadelphia was a Magic the Chicago Bulls 128-109, the night — 42 points, 15 rebounds and seven assists by Earvin "Magic" Johnson as the Lakers nailed down the 1980 National Basketball Association championship in the sixth game of the series. But the Lakers' brilliant guard was on the sidelines Sunday, as he has been since he suffered torn knee cartilage nearly three months ago. He's still at least two weeks away from returning to action and without him the Lakers dropped a 102-99 decision to the Philadelphia 76ers, snapping Los Angeles' seven-game winning streak.

"We missed Magic, no question," said forward Jamaal Wilkes, who led the Lakers with 28 points. "He helps us in every phase of the game. It's great having him back with the team (Johnson began working out last month), I just wish he was back in the lineup."

Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham said Johnson's absence didn't take anything away from the 76ers' fourth straight victory and 21st in a row at home.

"Injuries are part of the game," said Cunningham. "They're without Magic, we're without Doug Collins (the guard who is out for the season with a foot injury). You just have to make the most of what you have." The 76ers made the most of their depth as seven players scored in double figures and Philadelphia's reserves outscored the Los Angeles substitutes 30-11. Elsewhere, the Boston overtime. Julius Erving, Darryl Dawkins and Maurice Cheeks topped the 76ers with 16 points apiece while Caldwell Jones hauled down 18 rebounds and teamed with Dawkins to limit Lakers center Kareem Abdul-Jabbar to 19 points, breaking a string of 33 consecutive games in which he had scored 22 or more.

The 76ers went ahead to stay 40-39 on Bobby Jones' fast-break layup with 6:58 to go in the second quarter, led 61-52 at halftime and were coasting at 81-64 with 3:25 left in the third period.

'We could have been blown out right there," said Lakers guard Norm Nixon, "but we weren't. We made a game of it."

Indeed they did. They pulled within seven early in the fourth quarter, then put on a 14-3 spurt — Wilkes getting six of those points to close to 100-99 with 1:26 to play before Erving's clinching dunk with 18 seconds

Hawks, Queens play tonight

The Howard College basketball teams continue their Western Conference schedules tonight when they play host to teams from South Plains College.

The women's game is slated for a six o'clock tipoff, in Garrett Coliseum, with the men's tipoff set for an eight o'clock beginning.

The Hawk Queens of Coach Don Stevens are coming off an overtime loss to Western Texas College on Thursday, and need to win the remainder of their six games in order to repeat their WJC title.

They stand at 4-2 in conference play, and 21-5 on the year. That mark has been good enough to put the Hawk Queens in the national ratings the past three weeks. They are rated 12th nationally this week.

South Plains comes into the women's game with a conference mark of 1-5 and a season record of 7-12.

The men's game features a pair of teams still in the running for the Western Conference championship.

The Howard College Hawks of Coach Harold Wilder have the best shot at the title, as they are currently tied with Midland College for the WJC lead. The Hawks are 10-2 in conference play and 19-6 on the year.

But South Plains proved to be a most tough opponent when the two teams met earlier, as the Hawks managed to take a double overtime win in Levelland Randy Corker scored 42 points in that Hawk win. South Plains, although three games behind the Hawks with a conference mark of 7-5, still is in the WJC title chase, but must win tonight to maintain any

Accident kills veteran sledder

Italy (AP) - A stunned American bobsled team was returning from Italy today with the body of a veteran competitor killed in a world championship meet.

Jim Morgan, a 32-year-old Lake, N.Y., was killed probably was already dead Sunday when the No.1 U.S. sled overturned at the last banked curve of the Olympic track in the third heat of the side four-man bobsled championship.

The sled, hurtling over the course at 66 miles an hour, bumped against the icy side walls on the final stretch.

Doctors reported that Morgan, who was in the front position as the driver, suffered fractures of the neck and jaw and a severe throat

Michael Hallrock, an of-

CORTINA D'AMPEZZO, team, said Morgan's neck "first hit the upper part of the wall as soon as the sled overturned, and then his helmet bumped repeatedly against the wall and the leather lace slit his throat."

Doctors at the Codivilla car salesman from Saranac Hospital said that Morgan when the sled stopped after skidding 60 yards through the finish line on its right

> Braker Randy Bielski of Towson, Md., said he first thought his teammate had escaped the accident unhurt.

> When I saw Jim in a pool of blood, his face and neck badly hurt, I realized he was dying. I will never forget that moment," he said.

Morgan, whose father and brothers formerly competed in bobsleds and luge, had resumed racing in Cervinia's Michael Hallrock, an of-ficial of the U.S. bobsled world championships in 1975 after a two-year retirement.

No flex for Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — At first helped pioneer. glance, it looked almost like a straight swap of head coaches when Dick Nolan signed on with the Houston Oilers. After all, Nolan was fired at New Orleans last season and that's where Bum Phillips went to work after he was fired as Oiler head man.

But that's where the resemblance ends.

Phillips is in charge of the Saints but Nolan is only assistant - defensive coordinator for head coach Ed Biles — and will have to desert the 4-3 flex defense he favors for the 3-4 Biles

'There will be no change in our defensive scheme from last year," Biles said after hiring Nolan Saturday night. "If you're asking about the flex, no, we won't be going to it."

Nolan agreed.

"Ed's done a great job with the defense. I hope to maintain the level he's established . Any ideas I have will go through him."

Nolan, 48, learned the flex from Tom Landry as a Dallas Cowboys' assistant

"Mommy, will you watch my building for me today so PJ doesn't knock it down?"

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, FEB. 10, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: An excellent day for you to extend your influence far beyond present boundaries. Make constructive plans to gain your goals. Be more alert to what's going on around you.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Those at a distance can help you solve a difficult problem if you are cooperative. Think along optimistic lines.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You are able to handle your obligations in a positive manner now. Find a different kind of amusement to enjoy. GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Anything you have in mind that concerns greater accord with an associate is now fine at this time. Be logical. MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You are able to handle your work more efficiently now and can cooperate more with allies.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Take advantage of an opportunity and profit from a special talent you have. Enjoy good friends during spare time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Seize an opportunity to make the situation at home more harmonious. A new plan needs more study to be successful. LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you tell your associates what you expect of them, this will lead to a better understanding. Strive for happiness. SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Discuss your ambitions with higher-ups and they will help you to advance. Not a good day for taking any risks. SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Seek the aid of others in activities that mean much to you. Postpone handling an uncertain business matter.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Get your biggest ideas whittled down to practical size and then you can get backing for them. Maintain your poise.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Good day to get together with friends and be of mutual help to one another. Relax at home tonight.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) An important business matter could cause worry early in the day but by evening all is okay. Express happiness

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will do well in any profession that requires much talking, such as sales, the law, teaching and the like. The field of imports and exports would also be good. Don't neglect exposure to the religious side of life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!
