Negligence at TMI plant is cited

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional investigators probing the 1979 Three Mile Island nuclear accident asserted Tuesday that the plant's managers unintentionally withheld vital early information on the accident's severity from state and federal officials.

The report, which also alleged that the reactor's operators had made misleading statements, appeared to challenge a Nuclear Regulatory Commission report of just two weeks ago.

That study, prepared by the commission's office of inspection and enforcement, concluded that information on the March 28, 1979, accident at the central Pennsylvania power plant was not intentionally withheld from the government.

Rep. Morris K. Udall, D-Ariz., the committee chairman, asked NRC Chairman John Ahearne in a letter to tell Congress whether "the failure of Metropolitan Edison employees to report certain information ... constituted a violation of the commission's regulations."

The Atomic Energy Act makes nuclear plant operators who deliberately withheld information subject to fines or imprisonment.

Udall also asked the NRC to explain how its staff reached its own rival conclusions that information had not been withheld.

Metropolitan Edison, the utility which operates the power plant, has repeatedly denied making misleading statements on the accident or intentionally withholding data.

Cynthia Dwyer freed to leave Iran

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates (AP) — American writer Cynthia Dwyer, convicted of espionage and deported from Iran after nine months in prison, flew to freedom today in a plane packed with Iranian workers and peasants. She landed in this Persian Gulf sheikdom on her way home and was whisked away in a police car, declining to talk to reporters.

Mrs. Dwyer, 49, flew to Dubai, 700 miles south of Tehran on a regularly scheduled Iranian flight after Iranian officials delayed her departure nearly 24 hours. Markus Hirsiger of the staff of the Swiss Embassy in Tehran escorted her, the Swiss Foreign Office said.

U.S. Ambassador William Walle and the U.S. consul to Dubai, Tom Dowling, met her at the airport.

"Mrs. Dwyer is well, and has expressed a desire not to meet the press," said a U.S. Embassy spokesman. "She has no itinerary, but she is on her way home."

Reporters were not allowed near the plane, but passengers said Mrs. Dwyer sat among the Iranian workers on the jetliner. The plane arrived more than an hour late because of delays at Tehran's Mehrabad airport.

One passenger said Mrs. Dwyer was wearing a skirt and blouse and her head was covered by a scarf.

At the departure from Tehran, Swiss diplomat Flavio Meroni said Mrs. Dwyer was enroute to Switzerland.

Officials in Dubai said they did not know what flight Mrs. Dwyer would be taking out of the country. There are departures to Paris, Amsterdam and Frankfurt later today. There is also a flight to New York Wednesday, airport sources say.

In Washington, State Department spokeswoman Sue Pittman said she knew of no government plan to hospitalize Mrs. Dwyer or debrief her, as was done with the 52 American hostages freed by Iran on Jan. 20.

Mrs. Dwyer, 49, had been scheduled to leave Tehran on Monday on a flight to Austria, but Iranian officials stopped her at the airport. Swiss Ambassador Erik Lang said she was delayed because of the "lack of a travel document."

Western news organizations reported incorrectly Monday that she was aboard the Iranian flight to Vienna.

Colorado school trustees okay pay increases for nine

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado school trustees extended contracts and gave raises to nine district personnel in a meeting Monday night.

Athletic director Tom Ramsey will receive $22,259; business manager and tax collector Jay Craddock $22,477 plus car allowance; Transportation Supervisor Coy Adams $17,068, including an expense account; Maintenance Supervisor Henry Ring $12,512; Cafeteria Supervisor Christene Cooley $11,160, including car allowance; and high school principal Jerry Reynolds $29,356.

Additionally, Middle School Principal Doyle Lowrance was raised to $25,753; Hutchinson principal Del Riley $25,910 and Kelley Principal Bobby Lemons $23,545. Extensions and salaries were announced by Board President Tom Rees, following an executive session.

Additionally, school board elections were set for April 4. Facing expiring terms are Rees and Vice President Mac Morris. Board member Dickie White also will be up for election.

Morris has announced for another three-year term while White will run for the term that expires in April 1982. Rees has not indicated if he will seek another term.

Election judge will be Bob Reily. In other board decisions, trustees voted unanimously to go along with new federal guidelines on the free lunch and reduced lunch programs, awarded a roofing contract on Wolf Gym to Lydick-Hooks of Abilene at a cost of $19,990; and voted to advertise for bids for four tennis courts $50,000.

Tornado hits Alabama school

BAY MINETTE, Ala. (AP) — A tornado struck a school where about 300 children were attending classes today, destroying the gym and damaging several nearby homes. Officials said two students and a bus driver were seriously hurt and about 25 children had minor injuries.

The scene at the Bay Minette Middle School for grades six through eight was described by police as "an awful mess." Blinding rain and a rush of parents to retrieve their children caused confusion.

Ambulances took the injured to nearby hospitals in Baldwin County which had been placed on alert to treat the injured.

Students who were not injured were bused to a nearby high school for a headcount.

Bay Minette is about 40 miles northeast of Mobile. The school is south of Bay Minette on U.S. 31, off Hurricane Road.

has been budgeted for the courts plus $27,000 tentatively awarded to the school district; however, the board indicated it may relinquish the $27,000 due to restrictions attracted to the grant. Estimates for the new courts range up to $105,000.

Sheriff submits resignation

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell County commissioners received but did not act upon the resignation of Sheriff Bill McGuire in a meeting Monday night.

In a letter to the commissioners court, McGuire stated he would like to step down April 1.

According to McGuire, "I've thought about this a long time. I have an opportunity to go into business for myself with my dad and I think it is best for me. I have interests in Crane and Pecos and it's so far down there I can't effectively take care of that business and the office of sheriff, too. There's no such thing as a part time sheriff. I think Jim Reynaud, chief deputy, is the only qualified person to continue the job."

Two additional items were decided by a 3-2 vote. Commissioners Billy Preston, Paul Logsdon and Bill Carter voted to drop the project concerning the possible undertaking of extending FM 2836 from the State Park to Lake Champion while Commissioners Paul Hunter and Johnny Shackelford were opposed to scrapping the extension until more information is available.

Item 2 concerns a proposal by Logsdon to raise the base salaries for county operators to $889 per month, foremen to $935 and the starting salary for road and bridge employees to $866. The proposals passed, with Carter, Logsdon and Preston voting affirmatively and Hunter and Shackelford voting 'no.'

Additional business included a revenue sharing budget workshop Feb. 28, agreement to participate in the national flood insurance program to enable county residents to take out flood insurance, the appointment of Bob Reily to the library board and reviewing a low bid of $22,325 from Jay Adams Chevrolet for two 2½ ton trucks.

Monday's meetings marked the 100th anniversary to the day of the first meeting ever held by the Mitchell County commissioners.

Moderate premier named

Polish court rules no farmers' union

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Poland's Supreme Court ruled today that private farmers could not form the independent trade union they sought but could form an association. The decision came after a government shakeup in which Defense Minister Wojciech Jaruzelski, regarded as a moderate, was named Polish premier.

The court ruling, an apparent attempt to find a compromise between the farmers' demands and Communist Party leaders who oppose a union of farmers, followed Warsaw Radio announcement of the end of a general strike in Jelenia Gora and suspension of walkouts scheduled in the Silesian coal mines.

In the decision, the court said the case was out of its jurisdiction because farmers work on their own, privately-owned land and are therefore not employees of an organization. It sent the case back to a lower court.

Lech Walesa, head of the Solidarity independent trade union which backs the farmers' demand for a Rural Solidarity, called the decision a "draw" asked by farmers if they should register as an association, Walesa replied, "of course."

The government shakeup came at a Central Committee meeting Monday. Jaruzelski replaces Premier Jozef Pankowski who took over in August at the height of nationwide strikes.

At the meeting, Communist Party chief Stanislaw Kania warned that Soviet patience was wearing thin. He appealed to the Polish army to "guard our independence" and workers to "stop the anarchy." Kania urged farmers to ignore the call to unionize and "frustrate the designs of those who want to break agricultural self-government."

It was not immediately clear what effect the court ruling would have on the farmers, who had appealed to the Supreme Court after a lower court denied them a union charter. They had spoken of boycotting food supply centers if their demand was not met.

About 5,000 farmers outside the court listened to Walesa explain the decision and then left for a rally planned before the court hearing.

Polish farmers own 75 percent of the land and produce about 80 percent of the food. They are officially represented in government by the United Peasants party, which has a half million members.

Rural Solidarity claimed they have up to 1 million members.

Poland's Ministry of Agriculture urged for months that farmers form an association rather than a union, but farmers claimed that associations under Polish law lack the status and rights of a union.

Warsaw Radio said the strike in southwestern Jelenia Gora was called off after the government agreed to lease a sanatorium for party and government officials to provincial authorities for use as a public hospital until a new provincial hospital is opened.

As many as 100,000 members of Solidarity, Poland's big independent labor federation, were reported to have staged sit-in strikes Monday in their plants and offices in Jelenia Gora, demanding that the sanatorium be turned into a public hospital.

Pinkowski was replaced at a Central Committee meeting Monday, forced out after only six months by the continuing labor crisis. The new premier, Jaruzelski, was reported to have advised against using force against the strikers last summer.

Legislators agree to pass retirement benefit hikes

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Legislators have finished work on bills adding 5.1 percent to the monthly checks of teachers and state employees who retired before Sept. 1, 1979.

The House passed the two bills unanimously on Monday, sending them to Gov. Bill Clements. Senators approved them last week.

Clements, who submitted the increases as emergency legislation, is expected to sign the bills quickly.

The state employee benefits will cost $17.5 million between now and Sept. 1, while the added expense of raising teacher retirement checks will be $93.7 million.

"Teachers who retired before 1977 have not had any sort of raise. They have lost ground to inflation," said Rep. Terral Smith, R-Austin, a co-sponsor of the bill.

Rep. Paul Colbert, D-Houston, came close to winning approval of an amendment guaranteeing every retired teacher at least a $50-a-month increase.

He said some teachers, who retired a number of years ago when salaries were much lower, receive only $200 or $300 a month, so a 5 percent raise would mean only $10 or $15 to them.

Rep. Wilhelmina Delco, D-Austin, said Colbert's amendment was "actuarially unsound" because there was no official cost estimate from the Teacher Retirement System.

Rep. W.S. Healy, D-Paducah, said system executives told the House Appropriations Committee they could not come up with estimates yet had figures handy minutes later for other purposes.

"They just lied about it, and anybody that would lie would steal," Healy said.

Colbert's amendment was tabled, 67-64.

In other action, the House passed and sent to the Senate bills that would:

— Make a $4 million emergency appropriation to pay state employees' workers' compensation claims.

— Make a $380,000 emergency appropriation to the Governor's Committee on Aging in order to qualify the state for $5.5 million in federal funds for Area Agencies on Aging. The agencies contract with local organizations that provide meals, medical screening, home repairs, transportation and other services for old people.

Freedom Foundation winner

Bowen to receive Abe Lincoln Award in Fort Worth Thursday

Jackie Bowen, 32, son of Mr. and Mrs. James N. Bowen of 1714 Purdue, will be awarded the coveted Abe Lincoln Award by the Freedom Foundation in Fort Worth's Convention Center Thursday and will go to Valley Forge, Pa., next week to accept the Freedom Foundation's National Award next week.

Bowen, news anchor man for Television Station KOCO in Oklahoma City and a Baptist lay preacher, is being honored for starting the Wednesday's Child program, variations of which now can be seen on several television stations, including Channel 8 in Dallas.

Jackie's parents plan to go to Fort Worth to attend the awards presentation.

Young Bowen began his career here in television as a sportscaster on KWAB-TV. He later worked in television at Texas Tech while attending that school, then became a news announcer with KLBK-TV in Lubbock. He went from there to KERP-TV in El Paso. He has been with KOCO-TV in Oklahoma City for about six years.

Jackie devotes much of his free time working with orphans, most of whom are handicapped in some way, seeking to find homes for them.

Jackie finds time in his busy schedule to preach somewhere almost every Sunday. He is a deacon in the First Baptist Church in Oklahoma City.

Born in Fort Worth, Jackie moved to Big Spring with his parents when he was a year old and attended public schools here.

He is married to the former Linda Finley of Big Spring. They have a five-year-old daughter, Rhonda Michelle.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Centennial plans

Q. What's with this planning for a Centennial celebration here in May? I attended a Centennial being when I was ten years old. That was about 1949.

A. The Centennial being planned here this year will focus attention on the arrival of the T&P Railroad to Big Spring. The one held here in 1949 focused attention on the arrival of Capt. Marcy into the area. In his diary, Capt. Marcy duly noted that he and his troops made good use of the area around the original 'big spring' as a camp site. The 1981 extravaganza should more properly be called The Railroad Centennial.

Air Force Band unit to perform Wednesday

The Air Force Band of the West's Symphonic Wind Ensemble will appear in concert at 7:30 p.m., Wednesday in the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium. The concert is free to the public.

The 33-piece group, composed of wind instrumentalists and percussionists, performs under the direction of May Ray E. Toler, director of the Band of the West, headquartered at Lackland AFB, Tex.

The most versatile group in the Band of the West, the ensemble performs a broad range of music, from Beethoven to Broadway and from Sousa to the Bee Gees.

The ensemble was originally organized for the purpose of recruiting, educational and community relations activities.

The group performs throughout Texas and adjoining states, though most requests for appearances are from Texas civic groups.

The ensemble is comprised of 33 musicians, all members of smaller Band of the West specialty groups, including Dimensions in Blue, a big band show group, the Percussion Ensemble, Woodwind Quintet and the Brass Quintet.

The Wind Ensemble has gained international recognition for its numerous appearances in the Republic of Mexico and has been featured at "Old Milwaukee Days" in Wisconsin. It is featured annually at the "Fiesta de Amistad" in Del Rio, at the "George Washington Celebration" in Laredo, and Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, and at the Texas State Fair in Dallas.

The group has also been awarded the Air Force's Outstanding Unit Award three times for exceptionally meritorious service in community relations activities, in addition to numerous civic awards.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The removal of remaining controls on production and marketing of domestic oil and petroleum products was good news indeed for Texas and for the rest of the nation.

Texas has known all along that we could be much more energy self-sufficient if we encouraged rather than shackled the energy industry. By ordering decontrol, President Ronald Reagan reaffirmed this basic fact about our free enterprise system.

There is no question that our easily accessible oil reserves are on the decline. Remaining supplies for the most part require expensive recovery processes. It is the height of irresponsibility to expect our producers to make that effort without assurance that their investment, and a reasonable return, can be recovered. Ending the practice of keeping oil prices artificially low also will serve to encourage development of other potential sources of energy, which also are expensive to produce.

Regrettably, there are no magic formulas for ending our energy problems. Decontrol in itself will not end all our potential shortages. But ending counterproductive and needlessly complicated regulations will free the energy industry to concentrate on producing oil instead of following the mish-mash of government mandates.

And the beneficial effect of decontrol will be partly offset by the continuation of the so-called Windfall Profits Tax.

This tax was a classic example of political expediency winning over sound reason and economic reality. Its very existence could cost the U.S. up to two million barrels of oil a day.

In my view, it must be repealed immediately if we are to see any real prospect for breaking our dangerous dependency on foreign energy.

Further, we must unlock the vast reserves that lie under federal lands. It seems that some bureaucrats have forgotten that federal lands belong to the people and not the bureaucracy. These lands must be allowed to serve the people by yielding their energy, with reasonable but not excessive environmental consideration.

However, President Ronald Reagan's action in signing the decontrol order during his first 10 days in office is a signal that during the coming year we can expect a change in attitude toward private enterprise.

For too long, Washington has put too much faith in the abilities and wisdom of government and too little faith in the ability of American men and women operating in private industry to serve the best interests of this nation.

This attitude has hampered the energy industry and virtually every other segment of the economy. I am pleased to say that officials here seem to have finally heard the message from home that government is not the answer.

I believe we will see still more in the way of decisive prompt actions to put our economy back on track.

Weather Much colder weather hitting West Texas

By the Associated Press
Much colder weather was headed for Texas today after a wild night in which tornadoes, hail, fog, severe thunderstorms and near hurricane force winds were reported around the state.

Tornadoes were sighted at Georgetown and just north of Bryan. Some wind damage was reported in the Bryan-College Station area and there were numerous reports of large hail in Southeast Texas and South Central Texas.

One person suffered undetermined injuries when a mobile home overturned west of Kurten, located just northeast of Bryan, according to Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman Larry Todd of Austin. The tornado at Georgetown struck a savings and loan association building and damaged several buildings at the Lakeair Shopping Center, Todd said.

The DPS spokesman said some wind and large hail damage was reported in downtown Bryan and some trees were damaged.

A vast area of Southeast Texas and South Central Texas was under a tornado watch for about six hours during the period ending at 8 a.m. today.

The tornado watch, issued at 2 a.m., covered an area along and 70 miles on either side of a line from 20 miles west northwest of Victoria to 20 miles east of Lufkin.

Forecasters posted gail warnings for the upper sections of the Texas coast between Port Arthur and Port O'Connor when southerly winds of 20 to 30 knots swept across the coast line and as far out as 50 miles in the Gulf of Mexico.

Impending prison sentence led minister to 'suicide pact' killing

TERRELL, Texas (AP) — Money problems and an impending prison sentence apparently drove a "mail-order" minister to sign a suicide note with his wife and daughters, kill the three of them, torch their house then lie beside their bodies and shoot himself to death, investigators said.

Ralph A. Simpson Sr., 57, a Southern Baptist minister; his partially paralyzed wife, Mildred, 50, and their two daughters — Pattie, 12, and Rebecca, 17 — were found dead in Simpson's bedroom Monday when firemen arrived at the one-story frame house.

All four were lying side-by-side on Simpson's bed, all shot in the head with a .22-caliber rifle, said Police Chief Joseph Patterson. The weapon was found near the bodies and the suicide note, which all four family members had signed, was found in the family car.

The one-page typed note read, in part: "We choose to die by our own hand."

"The note said the money was gone," said Justice of the Peace L.T. Smith. "It said there was no other reason than things had not gone well (financially) with the father."

"Obviously the man was overcome by paranoia," said Patton. "This seemed like a planned thing — they all signed the note. I guess they gave up on the world."

Simpson was convicted of aggravated assault in August 1979 on charges he threatened a man with a deer rifle and was free on a $10,000 appeal bond at the time of his death, Van Zandt County court records show.

His son, Jim, 27, a car salesman in Terrell, said he had just moved out of the house three days before the killings

How much in tax revenue is enough?

Eight years ago, the state government in Texas collected a little over $2.8 billion in taxes. In 1980, collection of state taxes amounted to $6.7 billion plus, or a little more than a billion more than would up in state coffers the preceding year.

Never before in the history of the state have tax revenues risen anything like this amount in a year's time. None of the increase was attributable to new taxes or increased state levies.

Three taxes were primarily responsible for the big jump in receipts: (1) the four percent general sales tax; (2) the natural gas production tax; and (3) the most spectacular of all, the $319 million increase in the oil production (severance) tax, which came about because of price increases resulting from the phased deregulation of oil prices.

THE SALES TAX should continue to increase if the state's economy continues strong, because the state's population will continue to grow.

The three taxes accounted for 83 percent of the total tax revenue increase in fiscal year 1980. (Sales tax receipts were up nearly 14 percent, or $347 million. The natural gas production tax was up $180 million, or more than 32 percent.)

The beer and liquor tax within the state showed only nominal increases but the levy on wine went up 15 percent in a year's time, which would indicate there is a heavy trend toward wine drinking.

It shouldn't be surprising that motor fuel taxes went down nearly $9 million from FY 1979, because as the cost of gasoline goes up some people are being forced to cut down on the use of their cars. The tax on gasoline alone was down $19 million, representing a decrease of 380 million gallons of taxable gasoline sold during the year.

Despite the whopping increase in tax receipts within the state in a year's time, there have been dark hints that the state may need more money to operate its government.

LEGISLATORS RUSHING TAX bills to committees for consideration should first determine if the money now being taken in is being spent wisely. Ronald Reagan's sweep in the last presidential election occurred because tax payers are fed up with candidates who promise them Utopia and then confess they can deliver only if they can provide the necessary funds with new taxes. No where did Reagan get a more attentive ear than in Texas and no where was he better supported.

Quality no concern

Around the rim

Richard Horn

There must be something about the power of television that makes intelligent people do stupid things on commercials. Take a current antic ad making the rounds. Roger Staubach, a fairly sensible former pro quarterback roams the streets of America, asking folks on the street how they spell "relief." Silly isn't it? But what's even sillier is that he has yet to find anyone who comes even close to the correct spelling.

Then there's his colleague, Terry Bradshaw, sittin' on a barbed wire fence, playing the guitar and singing about chewing tobacco.

TELEVISION IN THIS COUNTRY is in such a dismal state that the commercials are often better than the main programs. That's probably not so strange since a program's worth is judged on the number of ads it attracts. But coming up with ideas to attract our attention and sell items is not easy, and we should be grateful to Madison Avenue for their contributions to our culture. Where would we be without Mrs. Tucker and her lovely topping for pie, pudding, and French onion soup, or Mrs. Olson and her can of coffee that she will undoubtedly carry to her grave? Would it be America without the little man and his little boat in the toilet?

What is frustrating is that fact that so few people pay attention to commercials. You can bet that when the breaks in programming come, collective America heads for the refrigerator, or back to the book they've been trying to read. Advertisers must come up with ways to battle this. They do.

Commercials, like everything else, have trends. One current trend is patriotism. You've probably seen Angie Dickenson stare at the camera and in a no-nonsense voice declare, "America is NOT going to be pushed around anymore!" A political ad?

Nope, it's a car commercial, telling us that the answer to America's defense problem is not to be found in defense, but in the auto industry. It reminds me of what Winston Churchill said when the first British Leylands came rolling off the assembly line. "This..." he began, his voice breaking with emotion. "...this is Britain's finest hour."

SONGS ARE VERY big attention grabbers in commercials. I've already mentioned Mr. Bradshaw's ode to "chewin'", but how about the sparkling pop metaphysics of "Taste the High Country"? Perhaps it should go "Where they know what's right - But they don't know beer - So there's just one beer - That's brewed up here."

Commercials aren't an evil, they're a necessity. I remember Alfred Hitchcock used to illustrate this by presenting television as a kind of conveyor belt, steadily moving along. What would happen, he wondered, if the commercials were taken out? He made the command and the conveyor belt abruptly came to a halt. And so it is.

Still, despite their importance to the economy, commercials are not easy to watch. Even the most ardent free-market marketer must choke when the lady riding in the canoe suddenly stops rowing and starts talking about what she does when her family's constipated. Surely Milton Friedman shakes his head in disgust when a woman bounces through a packed restaurant joyously singing, "Oh yes I washed that gray right out of my hair!"

Quality is of no concern to advertisers. Since nobody really watches them, commercials must be made to stick in the viewers' minds. Stupid ones stick in the minds the best. And because ads pay TV's enormous bills, we must endure.

TV in courts

Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court just voted to allow television cameras into the courtroom. It might be one of the most far-reaching decisions the Burger Court has ever made, and possibly the most frightening as far as protecting the innocent goes.

Let me explain. Anyone who has had any exposure on television knows that everyone who has seen you recognizes you, but no one can remember what you said or did. For 15 years people who watched them every night didn't know Huntley from Brinkley. I had the good fortune to be on "60 Minutes" in a friendly piece done by Mike Wallace — but to this day people can't remember if I was the scheming real estate developer in Arizona, or the guy who was smuggling in illegal aliens from Mexico.

WITH THE ADVENT of cable television and its eventual choice of 50 channels, we have to assume that courtroom trials will provide some of the best entertainment on television. Therefore some smart cable TV operator will plug into the courts and get an entire channel of free time shows.

Let us assume that a defendant, Arnold Gullible, is being tried by a jury in New York for refusing to pay for an AMTRAK train ride, because there was no heat in the car and the train was two hours late.

After three days Arnold is found innocent of the charges and freed. All this has been on television.

The next day Arnold is walking to his office and a lady on the street says to her companion, "Look, there's the man we saw on television who held up the liquor store in the Bronx."

"No, that's not the man who held up the liquor store. He's the one who mugged the old man in the park."

Arnold keeps walking. He stops off at his bank to cash a check. The guard immediately recognizes him and draws his gun. "You're not going to pull another bank robbery here," the guard tells him. "I saw you on TV and I couldn't believe the judge would give you a suspended sentence."

"I'm not a bank robber," Arnold protests. "You saw me on television in regard to a case in which I refused to pay a train ticket."

"Don't tell me what I saw on television. You were on Monday night."

"That was another trial."

"Get out of the bank, I don't ever want to see you here again," the guard tells him.

Arnold leaves in a daze. He's stopped on the street by a man. "Hey, Arnold, I'm a big fan of yours. Anyone who could embezzle $7 million from his company and wind up with a hung jury is my kind of guy. How about your autograph?"

"I didn't embezzle $7 million from my company."

"Okay, so it was more. I bet 5-to-1 you'd beat the rap. Just put your John Hancock here on my business card and sign it to my son Billy."

Arnold signs it. A crowd gathers and asks for autographs. "Who is it?" a lady wants to know.

"It's Son of Sam," someone else says. "They just let him out."

ARNOLD MANAGES to break through the crowd and make it to his office where all his friends are shaking his hand. One says, "Arnold, I don't want to be critical but you should look at the camera more when you're talking." Another says, "You looked awfully nervous. Were you nervous?" A third says, "I didn't see the show but my wife said your lawyer was a dummy and if she had been on the jury she would have given you the maximum."

"Oh, but au contraire, sir! This must come first!"

Control is key with Crohn's disease

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My grandson, age 28, has Crohn's disease. The medicines he is taking (under doctor's direction) are sulfa and Prednisone. He is experiencing all the side effects and does not seem to be improving. Would you have any suggestions that might be helpful?—Mrs. L.G.

Crohn's disease is a serious inflammation of the lower portion of the small bowel. Because of its location (where the small intestine empties into the large) it may be troublesome than other forms of colitis. Only when the mystery surrounding the cause of Crohn's disease has been solved will doctors be able to give a person specific treatments for it.

In the meantime, we are forced to rely on steroids, sulfa drugs and a few non-drug therapies to control matters. You grandson's side effects are to be expected. Once the inflammation is controlled the steroid dose can be reduced and in time may be discontinued. The side effects will then leave.

Somewhat doctors are experimenting with alternate drugs for Crohn's. Although these are not ready for general use, their day will come. The non-drug treatment I mentioned involves putting the intestinal tract at complete rest for a while. In a few individuals, when circumstances warrant it, nutritional needs can be met at this time by giving them food through a vein. This can be done at home if hospitalization is impractical. It cannot be done for all cases of Crohn's disease. I mention it to let you know that there is much work being done on this illness.

I understand your concern and your grandson's resentment toward an illness that strikes so many young adults in their most productive years. Keep in mind that Crohn's disease does respond to treatment and that many famous people have led productive lives in spite of it (President Eisenhower comes to mind).

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a problem with high blood sugar, usually around 170-200. I am a male, elderly and weigh 160 pounds. But all I am told is to watch the sweets. Is there any medication for this? What is it that I should not eat?—E.E.L.

A blood sugar of 170-200 is moderately high but not dangerously

so. There are pills to lower blood sugar, but if you can accomplish it with diet, so much the better. There is a little more to it than just watching the sweets. You have to know how many total calories are best for you to have every day. Then those calories can be divided among protein, fat and carbohydrates (sweets). This takes a good deal of explanation — more than I can effectively give you here. Why not have your doctor call a dietitian in your town? The dietitian can arrange the doctor's suggested diet for you, but it may take more than one visit to get the hang of it.

I don't know if your 160 pounds makes you overweight because you don't give me your height or describe your build. If you are overweight, it will help to lose. Your diet might be a bit less restrictive when your ideal weight is attained. For more on this, see the booklet "Diabetes — The Sneaky Disease." For a copy, write me in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose 50 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can a hernia be cured by the use of the enclosed literature says it can — without belts, straps or surgery? Most doctors advocate an operation as the only way to stop a hernia.—R.M.

I read the material you sent, but there was no explanation in it of how the therapy being sold works to stop a hernia. A hernia is like a bulge in an inner tube that is pushing out through a tear in the tire wall. Fix the tear in the tire and the inner tube can be held

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My father was a minister and a very fine Christian, but I rebelled and have lived away from God for many years. Now I have come back to Christ, and I rejoice in his forgiveness, but why do you think so many people who are raised in religious homes tend to rebel? — Mrs. N.I.

Dear Mrs. N.I.: You raise a question which has plagued God's people through the ages. Even in the Old Testament we read about the heartaches experienced by the prophet Samuel and King David, both of whom had sons who were undisciplined and corrupt. Let me suggest several factors which might contribute to this problem.

First, we must remember that all children are born with a sinful nature, including the offspring of Christian parents. The Bible tells us that "all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God" (Romans 3:23).

The tendency to rebel against God is just as strong among these children as any others. In order to lead a truly meaningful and productive life, a child of Christian heritage needs to make his own personal commitment to Christ and allow God to direct his life. As the saying goes, "God has no grandchildren."

Second, Christian families are not immune to the attacks of Satan. On the contrary, they probably become his favorite targets. "Be self-controlled and alert. Your enemy the devil prowls around like a roaring lion looking for someone to devour" (I Peter 5:8).

Third, Christian parents will make mistakes in raising their children, just like all parents. There are no rehearsals for parenthood.

Let me offer the following suggestions to Christian parents: Pray for and with your children regularly. Love your children with God's love (accept them for who they are; do not hold unreasonable expectations of them, and do not compare them to others.) Admit your mistakes to your children, and seek their forgiveness, as well as God's. Compliment and encourage your children often. Spend time with your children. And, finally, do not simply tell your children how they ought to behave, set a consistent, Christ-like example for them to follow.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for his booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Space-shuttle scam

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Even as the long-delayed space shuttle Columbia is being readied for its first mission, its buffer, Rockwell International, is being investigated for apparent misuse of millions of dollars on the contract.

Evidence from two years of investigations by the FBI, the Defense Contract Audit Agency and the inspector general of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration has been turned over to a federal grand jury in Los Angeles. Rockwell could wind up being charged with improper use of government funds, covering up cost overruns and deliberately juggling expenses from other, fixed-price federal contracts to the cost-plus space-shuttle project.

ROCKWELL HAS ADMITTED switching expenses of an Air Force contract to the NASA space shuttle. A company spokesman said Rockwell had disciplined the employees involved in the illegal swindle, and has taken steps to see that similar rip-offs won't occur in the future.

Rockwell employees, past and present, have described the corporate swindle in depositions and interviews. They have insisted that the mischarges were not only known to company higher-ups but were ordered by them.

In a signed statement, one foreman testified that his supervisor ordered him to switch expenses from the first shuttle project to a second one because the first "was running out of funds." The foreman said his boss told him he had "just come from a meeting in (the project directors') office, and that was the way we were to go."

The night foreman also signed a statement claiming that he was ordered to mischarge space-shuttle expenses. Both foremen said they were asked to sign memoranda clearing the corporation of responsibility. "Their words were to sign this letter and we will never bother you again," the night foreman testified.

Robbing Peter to pay Paul was apparently a standard Rockwell scam in the space-shuttle project. A confidential Defense Contract Audit Agency report disclosed that Rockwell charged work supposedly being done under one budget supplement to a future one — because the money in the first supplement had already been spent. After prodding by investigators, Rockwell admitted mischarging some 4,000 hours of work in this way to hide some of the cost overruns that have plagued the space-shuttle project since its inception. The company has now corrected the mischarges.

THE G-MEN ARE ALSO looking into a fishy subcontract Rockwell awarded to a public-relations firm that employed a company vice president's son. The firm, Winner-Wagner, was awarded contracts from $1.5 million to publicize the space shuttle over a three-month period in 1979, and the contracts were issued by the same vice president.

Sources told my reporters Frank Washington and Eric Yoder that the four contracts awarded to Winner-Wagner were kept to less than $500,000 each to get around a company policy requiring corporate approval for contracts above that amount. A Rockwell spokesman said that corporate approval was in fact given to the contracts, and anyway, only two of the four contracts were implemented.

Nepotism aside, of course, federal regulations prohibit the use of government funds to lobby for a government project — and Rockwell charged the cost of its flackery off to

NASA. Unfortunately, a confidential Pentagon report acknowledges that the scope of the services to be provided by the vice president's son's firm "is described in such general terms that it is not possible to determine the extent to which the costs are allowable."

WHERE'S DOLLEY? With an effete snobbery that would have chagrined the staunchly Republican president for whom their building was named, officials of the James Madison Building annex to the Library of Congress have decreed that all furnishings in the building be relentlessly ultramodern chic.

They have even given their taste in decor an unofficial name, much to the amusement of the tweedy bibliophiles who inhabit the research facility. The term is "Madison compatible," and every stick of new furniture in the place must meet its severe criteria.

What has genuinely upset some of the library annex employees is the poobahs' decree that desk lamps are just not acceptable. The cold, harsh illumination of fluorescent ceiling fixtures should be enough; no bookish scholars basking in the warm, cozy glow of desk lamps are to be tolerated.

A nearsighted employee has to get permission to brighten his or her corner with a desk lamp by bringing in a note from a doctor attesting that the additional lumens are medically necessary.

NEIGH SAYERS: Despite the enormous profits racked up by Big Oil in recent years, New York State will get more tax revenues from horses than it does from the fuel pharaohs. Two years ago, for example, Aqueduct race track alone paid 127 million in taxes to the state — $2 million more than the total tax bill paid by the state's 10 biggest oil companies. Even last year, with oil prices running away at a Man-o-War clip, New York's 11 race tracks kicked in $10 million more in taxes than the Big Ten of oil.

WATCH ON WASTE: The Reagan administration's economy cuts are aimed at the $616 billion federal budget — but there's another $120 billion in federal spending that's not even included in the massive document. There are at least 80 government agencies and programs that chug along every year with virtually no review by Congress. They include the Tennessee Valley Authority's power sales, the Regional Rail Reorganization Program, housing and farm loan programs and fees, plus rents and royalties for everything from timber harvesting to offshore oil drilling. The income from these programs is spent with no annual congressional OK, since it doesn't come from taxes and isn't in the federal budget.

Dear Abby

Marriage 'In God's Eye' Good Enough for Her

DEAR ABBY: If you did nothing more in 1980 than what you did for me, you will have earned your place in heaven. I wrote to you saying I was the widow of a retired railroad man and that four years ago I had fallen in love with a fine gentleman who had a limited income. We wanted very much to marry, but if we did, I would lose my widow's pension, which I needed to survive. Because both of us were too old-fashioned to "shack up" as some younger couples do, we just went together, each maintaining a separate apartment, although living together would have made more sense.

You advised me to get in touch with Chaplain R.A. Masse in Lawrence, Mass., saying he would perform an "In God's Eye" marriage to accommodate people in our circumstances.

Well, I did. My gentleman friend and I went to see him, and, Abby, the ceremony he performed for us was every bit as spiritual and beautiful as my very first!

Now I feel that God has truly blessed this union, and I can't thank you enough.

HAPPY IN PHILADELPHIA

DEAR HAPPY: I have heard from couples in Rhode Island, Florida, New York and Maine telling me that they, too, went to Lawrence, Mass., to be married by Chaplain Masse. He has recently enlisted the help of chaplains in every state of the union (and Canada) who will perform the same service. Interested parties may write to: Associated Chaplains, P.O. Box 1077-C, Lawrence, Mass. 01842, for information. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to say a few words about the "May-I-Borrow-Your-Husband-for-This-Dance"-type woman. There's a lady we know who never waits to be asked to dance. She asks other husbands to dance with her. And as if that's not bad enough, she keeps them on the dance floor for at least three dances! And when the gentleman returns her to her own husband, she says, "Oh no, not yet!"

This lady is at least 60 years old, which is old enough to know better. I might add, there is nothing wrong with her own husband or his dancing, so there's no excuse for her actions.

I can only say, "Enough already," and hope she reads this, as she has borrowed my husband too often for too long. Sign me...

BURNED UP IN NORTH CAROLINA

DEAR BURNED: If the shoe fits the lady you had in mind, let's hope she wears it — to dance with her own husband.

DEAR ABBY: About the guy who made love with his socks on: I'm reminded of the minister in a small Iowa church who became enamored of the new, voluptuous, Parton-bosomed choir director. After three weeks of lustful after her, he could no longer stand it, so he gave in to his baser feelings, confessed his yearnings to her, and invited her to sneak off with him to the basement. To his delight, she confessed to similar desires and readily accompanied him. But lo, it was too narrow and cramped to recline, so both, entangled in their respective choir robes, stood upright locked in loving embrace. Then he expressed the worry, "I hope none of the congregation catches us doing this. They might think we were dancing."

Club has cosmetic program

The GFWC 1941 Study Club of Coahoma met Feb. 2 in the home of Mrs. Rod Tiller. The Club collect was led by Mrs. Dwayne Clawson.

Two guests, Mrs. Raymond Phillips and her daughter, Nancy Crenshaw, were introduced by Mrs. Raymond Phillips. Mrs. Phillips, assisted by her daughter, demonstrated Merle Norman cosmetics, using Mrs. Carroll Choate as a model.

"Merle Norman began developing cosmetics in 1931, and it was a 'rags to riches success story,'" Mrs. Phillips said. "Their motto is 'try before you buy.' Anyone interested may come into the shop in College Park Shopping Center for a demonstration."

The nominating committee submitted names of next year's officers to be elected next meeting, March 2. Names submitted were Mrs. Guy Hodnett, president; Mrs. Dwayne Clawson, vice-president and Mrs. Ovis James, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Wendell Shive reported on the club's assignment for the District General Federated Women's Club meeting scheduled at the Dora Roberts Coliseum March 20-21. The group will be in charge of decorating for the Friday night banquet. The decoration committee appointed includes Mrs. Hodnett, Mrs. James, Mrs. Grady Tindol, Mrs. Richard Souter and Mrs. Billy Jack Darden.

Members will deliver valentine remembrances to some special people next week.

Big Spring clubs and the Forsan Study Club will host the occasion for the 34 clubs in the Western district. Mrs. Choate will be on the courtesy committee.

SHIELDS AND YARNELL ON BROADWAY — The comedy team of Robert Shields, bottom, and Lorene Yarnell are rehearsing in New York with an international cast of entertainers for the vaudeville musical, "Broadway Follies," which opens in March at New York's Vederlander Theatre. Producer Edgar Lansbury gathered the improbable cast by bearing one goal in mind: "I wanted to find people who enjoy doing immensely difficult things just for the sake of doing them. That, after all, is what vaudeville is all about."

Ahead-of-time sandwich making suggestions

COLLEGE STATION — If you hate to make sandwiches and pack lunches every morning, take heart.

Here are a few suggestions for making sandwiches ahead of time from Dr. Cass Ryan-Crowe, a foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Most sandwiches fillings will freeze, when properly packaged. The old standby of peanut butter is an excellent choice for the freezer. Also cheese, sliced meat and fish are good choices for sandwiches you prepare ahead of time. In addition, when you have leftover meat such as roast, and everyone in the family is tired of it, slice it and make a few sandwiches out of it.

For freezing, be sure to wrap the sandwiches in a moisture-proof material.

Extension Service will offer monthly programs

All clubs and organizations are invited to participate in programs offered by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The main focus this year in Home Economics will be on Housing and Home Furnishings. The County Extension Agent-Home Economics will present programs upon request in any home economics subject matter area.

Another type of program available will be leader training sessions. This training is designed to teach the participants how to present the program at their own club meeting or organization. Leader training programs are open to all, and are usually held in the Extension Office in the basement of the courthouse.

will be offered as leader training sessions:

February: "The Economic Value of a Homemaker"; April: "How to Fabric Cover Your Walls"; November: "Updating Your Kitchen."

These sessions are held the third Monday of the month at 2:00 p.m. Additional countywide programs and special activities which will be available are: a mailout series on Home Remodeling, a seminar on simple repairs to make around the home, a furniture refinishing workshop, a tour on landscaping to save home energy and a workshop on carpet selection.

Extension personnel cannot assist any group, organization or agency that prohibits participation of anyone on the bases of race, color, sex, religion, socioeconomic level or national origin.

For additional information on these programs or other home economics subjects, contact Janet Rogers, County Extension Office 267-8469 or 267-1821.

SCRAPPY WOMEN — Howard College Hawk Queen All-American candidate Kelly Lyons (24) proves that she'll get down on the floor after the loose balls as she battles an unidentified South Plains performer during second half action in the Queens 80-55 win here last night. Lyons scored 27 points in the win. Other HC women in the photo are Cynthia Robinson (top) and Carol Wasserman (20).

Hawk Queens blitz SPC with 2nd half explosion

Carrie Lee Lutrick, Kelly Lyons and Cynthia Robinson led a Howard College Hawk Queens eruption in the beginning of the second half to propel the local crew to an 80-55 win over the South Plains College Lady Texans in a WJC contest Monday evening in Garrett Coliseum.

Holding only a 36-34 lead over the underdog South Plains crew, Lutrick, Lyons and Robinson scored all 22 of the Hawk Queens points over the 10 minutes following halftime to boost HC into a comfortable 56-41 advantage at the midway point in the final half.

And while this trio was providing the necessary fireworks for the scoreboard, it was Hawk Queens Coach Don Stevens that learned a valuable lesson on sticking to what you do best. "I hadn't seen South Plains play before tonight," Stevens explained, "and everyone I had talked to told me to play them in a man defense, and look what happened."

"At halftime," Stevens continued, "I decided the heck with this, I'll quit listening to everyone else and do what I know's the best. We went back to the zone and it worked great."

South Plains entered the contest with only one conference win in six starts, but it appeared for a while that they might be able to change their luck. Behind the scoring of Lynette Joiner and Regina Melton, they stayed close.

But the zone and the overall superiority of the Hawk Queens finally began paying off, and the HC team ran to their fifth win in WJC play against only two losses. The Hawk Queens, ranked 12th nationally in the latest NJCAA poll, are an impressive 22-5 on the year.

Lyons once again paced the Hawk Queens in scoring with 27 points, the same amount as Joiner had for SPC. Lutrick added 16 and Robinson 13 for the Hawk Queens, while Melton chipped in with 17 for the SPC attack.

Stevens praised the play of Lutrick and Lyons in the contest, but wasn't too impressed with the rest of the team. "We just didn't play with any great intensity, especially in the first half," he noted.

But they'll have to before the week is over. After visiting Howard Payne on Thursday for a non-conference encounter, the Hawk Queens return for a Valentine's Night battle against rugged Amarillo College.

Amarillo is the Western Conference leader at this time, and the Saturday night game will match Lyons against another outstanding tall female player in AC's Olivia Jones. It will be a battle that will have many major college scouts on hand.

Steers visit Midland in biggie

MIDLAND — The Big Spring Steers, fresh from a District 5-AAAAA second half opening win over Abilene, hit the road tonight for what has to be considered their most important game of the season when they visit the state ranked Midland Bulldogs.

Midland also won their initial second half game over Odessa Permian, and they

BSHS fish end year with win

The Big Spring ninth grade girls basketball team closed their season last night with a 30-21 win over Lamesa.

Paula Spears led the win by gunning in 12 points, with Vicki Halfmann adding eight. Jana Matthews had six for the Big Spring girls, with Debra Lewis and Esther Douglass rounding out the scoring with two each.

Drawing praise for their defensive work were Debbie Donelson and Linda Edgington.

Big Spring Coach Patti Purser was pleased with the improvement displayed by her team this year. "Although it was not a great year from the won-loss standpoint, we improved each game," Purser said. "I think they handled some things very well this year, and can add to the program next year."

are the first half champions in 5-AAAAA. And as the saying would sometimes go, in order for the Steers to have any chance at staying in the 5-AAAAA race, a win over Midland tonight would be near mandatory.

Some might laugh at the suggestion, as the Steers will put their 11-15 record on the line against Midland's season mark of 25-3 and their ninth ranked rating in Texas.

But the Steers have been playing nearly up to their capabilities lately, and a win might not be out of the question.

Against Abilene, they displayed a very patient and controlled offense, and it worked quite well. Another big factor is the continuing improvement of 6'2" Bobby Earl Williams, who has tremendous leaping ability for his size.

Midland counters with 6-9 Herbert Johnson and 6-6 Horace Brown. Johnson is one of the premier all-around players in the state.

In the other District 5-AAAAA battles tonight, Midland Lee is at San Angelo, Odessa travels to Abilene Cooper, and Abilene visits Odessa Permian.

The Runnels girls now sport a record of 8-5 and return to action on Thursday night against Lamesa.

To maintain WJC co-lead with Midland

Hawks take wild win over South Plains

By NATHAN POSS

Sports Editor

It wasn't one of the more conventional junior college basketball games around, but as far as the local fans are concerned, that didn't matter.

In a contest that was ended by the officials 14 seconds early, the Howard College Hawks won their 20th game and maintained their share of the Western Conference lead by taking a topsy-turvy 81-65 decision over the South Plains Texans here Monday night in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The triumph allowed the Hawks to improve their conference mark to 11-2, remaining tied with Midland College. On the season, the Hawks of Coach Harold Wilder are now 20-6.

The loss ended any hopes that the South Plains team had of remaining in the race for the WJC title. They are now 7-6 in WJC action, and nursing a one-game lead over their closest competitors in the battle for fourth place in the standings.

WESTERN CONFERENCE MEN'S STANDINGS

South Plains	7.6

LAST NIGHT'S RESULTS: Howard 81, South Plains 65, Midland 96, NAMI 72, Frank Phillips 62, Clarendon 47, NAJJC 96, Amarillo 95, Odessa 75, Western Texas 69.

The top five WJC teams get into the Region V Tournament at the end of the year, with the top three receiving byes on the first night.

The contest resembled a roller-coaster, but in the end it was the Hawks that left the Texans on the ground.

The Hawks, behind the early play of Randy Corker, Ron Akins and Greg Bess, rolled to an early 22-13 advantage, and then stretched that margin out to 43-30 by halftime against South Plains — a team that took them into double overtime before succumbing in their initial encounter in December. But things changed quickly in the second half, as the Hawks could not buy a bucket, and were not helping themselves with some sloppy ball handling in the process.

The Texans, behind the play of Brad Blastick and Scott Ferrell, scored 14 of the first 18 points in the second half to narrow the HC lead to 47-44.

But Howard's Kenneth Jones made good on a field goal and ensuing free throw after being fouled on the shot for a three-point play, and the Hawks led 50-44.

The teams traded two buckets each for a 54-48 count before the Texans made yet another run at the Hawks.

They scored the next seven points, with a short tip-in by B.J. Jones giving the Texans a 55-54 lead with 10:34 remaining.

At this point, the visitors seemed to have gained the momentum in the contest, but Wilder ordered a time out to calm his squad down and re-evaluate their game plan.

It worked to near perfection. With nearly every player on the court getting into the act, the Hawks reeled off 12 unanswered points over the next five minutes, taking a 66-55 lead and complete control of the WJC battle.

"That was really the key to the game, that streak right there," Wilder said in stating the obvious.

With 5:45 remaining, SPC's William Jones finally broke the drought for the Texans, but things wouldn't get much better for the visitors.

With the Hawks running their four-corner offense quite well, they managed to extend their lead, and in the process infuriate the South Plains team.

As certain members of both teams, including the SPC cheerleaders, had jawing matches with each other, the Texans seemed to become somewhat frustrated.

And after his side had been given three technicals in the contest, it was somewhat understandable that SPC Coach Dennis Perryman lost his cool. With 14 seconds to play, he continuously harrassed official Ron Pritchard, which in turn forced Pritchard to stick Perryman with three technicals.

It was really academic as far as the final outcome, but in what has to be considered a wise move, the two officials finally tossed aside the game ball and called the contest with the 14 seconds still left on the clock.

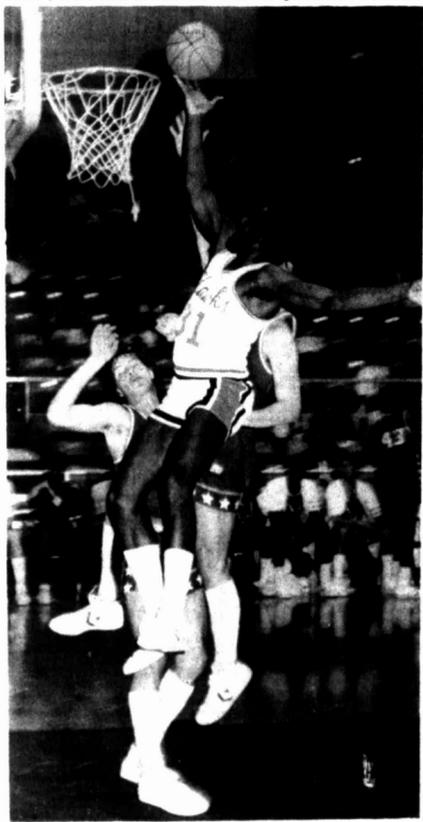

The Howard College win all but sews up a spot in the Region V Tournament, but Wilder realizes that the higher his team can finish in the standings, the better seed they will get in the post-season tourney that sends its winner to the national tournament.

Wilder was pleased with the win, but saw things that could be improved upon. "When we stuck to our game plan," Wilder explained, "we played very, very well. But when we didn't, we looked awful."

"This could really be a very good team," the long-time successful HC mentor continued, "but we've got to become consistent throughout the entire game."

Wilder offered praise for both Bess and Akins in the win.

"One of the keys to us getting the big lead in the first half was the way Greg Bess played. He's really going to help us," Wilder said. Bess was making only his second appearance in an "Hawks"

TO THE HOOP — Howard College's most recent recruit, Greg Bess (31) goes airborne for a bucket last night past two South Plains defenders. Bess scored on the play, and proved that he could be a valuable addition to the HC team as they stay in contention for the WJC title. Bess, a freshman from Chicago, scored eight points as the Hawks downed South Plains, 81-65.

A large part of saving energy — and money — is simply a matter of cutting waste. In these days of "scarce" energy and inflation it's important to all of us to conserve. You can start by maintaining your own home.

Seal cracks around doors and windows with caulking and weatherstripping to stop heating and cooling leaks.

Check to ensure that ductwork is well insulated and sealed. If this is not done right, much of the heating and cooling escapes into your attic.

For the full story on saving energy — and energy dollars — get our Unhandy Person's Guides. Just call Texas Electric or ask for them on the comments section of your next electric bill. They'll help even the most unhandy person tighten up his home.

Virginia still No. 1

By the Associated Press
Virginia, which rallied from a 16-point deficit en route to an 80-79 overtime victory over then-No. 11 North Carolina, retained the No. 1 position in The Associated Press college basketball poll Tuesday, increasing its lead over runner-up Oregon State from 10 to 28 points.

Bald power helping UH

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Houston center Larry Micheaux walks baldly where wise basketball players fear to tread.

Micheaux, angered two weeks ago following a loss to Texas Tech, shaved his head and pledged to rededicate himself to improving his basketball skills.

Inspired by the reaction he got to his air-conditioned hair cut and something Coach Guy Lewis calls the "one-step," Micheaux has shown more than a shiny pate in the past two games.

With his head gleaming like a full moon, Micheaux scored a season high 19 points and picked off 10 rebounds against Southern Methodist Feb. 3 in the debut of his shaven head.

With a slight shadow of peach fuzz beginning to show last Saturday, Micheaux was even more impressive against Texas' LaSalle Thompson, recognized as the most dominant center in the Southwest Conference.

Micheaux scored 17 points, grabbed 14 rebounds and blocked four shots as the Cougars blasted the Longhorns for the second time this season to solidify their SWC lead.

"I needed to be more aggressive and shaving my head helped a lot," said Micheaux, a sophomore from Houston Worthling.

1,221 of a possible 1,240 points in the balloting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters. The Beavers, who defeated both California and Stanford last week, received 18 first-place votes and 1,193 points.

Last week, Virginia, 20-0, collected 35 first-place votes, while Oregon State, 19-0, was tabbed No. 1 on 26 ballots. All 62 members of the poll voted this week.

DePaul, Louisiana State, which got the final first-place vote, and Arizona State retained the Nos. 3 through five positions.

The Blue Demons, who posted victories over Detroit and Alabama-Birmingham, picked up 1,096 points — 25 more than LSU, which is riding a 20-game winning streak. The Sun Devils, who edged California 84-81 in overtime and whipped Washington State 77-63 last week, collected 945 points.

Utah, 20-1, nipped Wake Forest, 19-2, for the No. 6 slot by a single point. The Utes, who squeaked by Air Force 48-46 and downed Nevada Las Vegas, received 882 points. The Deacons posted victories over Maryland and Georgia last week.

UCLA, which got 692 points, jumped four places and took over the No. 8 position in the poll following its nationally televised victory over Notre Dame on Sunday.

The trained, professional employees at Pat Gray's specialize in painting cars and trucks, and they intend to do it that will fit into your tight-as-a-drum budget. These mechanics use a special paint called urethane enamel. It lasts much longer than most brands of paints. They also use acrylic lacquer to insure their customers the best quality finish. If you own a foreign-made automobile, don't worry because Pat Gray's can match the color of your car and paint it just as easily as an American-made auto.

They'll do complete car painting as well as touch-up jobs.

The new facilities to open soon will add to the service they give. These will include a paint room large enough to paint a Diesel truck completely inside. They will have ten working stalls, a paint shop, and a truck shop.

In addition to cars and trucks, Pat Gray's will also paint a number of appliances. They do not use the special paint material that they use on the automobiles, but the quality of the finish is just as good.

The mechanics at Pat Gray's will repair dents and other body mishaps. Using fiberglass presents no problem if that is the part of your car that is damaged.

Call Pat Gray's today and add new found beauty to any item, large or small. They're currently at 1221 W. Third. Watch for the opening of their new shop.

AUNT FRITZI---I STEPPED ON SOME CHEWING GUM ON THE STREET

IT'S A LOVELY DRESS AND IT FITS YOU PERFECTLY

YOU LOOK WORRIED, LOLLY

WHAT'S YOUR RECIPE FOR THAT CASSEROLE?

YOU ARE TO RECOVER THOSE STOLEN HORSES, CANTRELL, AND THE INDIANS WHO TOOK THEM. THAT'S AN ORDER!

WHY CAN'T YOU PLAY CARDS TONIGHT, LUKEY?

LET ME ALONE, MUTT! SHOO!

HOW CAN SPARKLE PLENTY GET IN TO SEE B.U. TUFFIL?

Some folks like electric organs an' some don't, Joel!

AFTER ALL THESE YEARS YOU'D THINK THEY COULD PUT A LITTLE FOOD COLORING IN MY SWILL

Sometime after the fall of the Death Star, an anxious LUKE SKYWALKER fights through a steaming jungle

NICE TO SEE YOU UP AN' ABOUT AGAIN, FLO

TALKING TO YOU IS A WASTE OF TIME

LET'S DO SOMETHING SPECIAL FOR OUR 25TH ANNIVERSARY, JAKE.

I DON'T HAVE A RECIPE

HOW DO YOU KNOW WHAT TO PUT IN IT

I GOT THIS TERRIBLE NAGGIN' PAIN AN'...

LUKEY!! GIT BACK IN HERE AN' DO THESE DADBURN DISHES!!

I'M SORRY, NO ONE ELSE CAN BE ADMITTED.

MR. TRACY--IF YOU'D LIKE TO TALK TO B.U., YOU CAN COME IN, NOW

I'LL MENTION IT TO THE COOK

ANYTHING BUT GREEN

OW WAS ANDY'S NURSIN'?

VERY TASTY, RUBE

LET'S REPEAT OUR MARRIAGE VOWS

OK BUT THIS TIME WE USE MY LAWYER

THESE ARE VALENTINES FOR ALL THE BOYS AT SCHOOL THAT I LIKE...

I DO NOT!

Bill Haley dies of heart attack

BILL HALEY

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Bill Haley, who skyrocketed to fame with what was considered the first big rock 'n' roll hit and faded into obscurity as fans crowned Elvis Presley king of the new era, has died, apparently of a heart attack.

Haley's "Rock Around the Clock" blared from jukeboxes in the 1950s as teens discovered a new beat and a new, defiant identity.

Friends and police in this Rio Grande Valley town where Haley lived in semi-seclusion for the past several years said the man credited with inspiring the term "rock 'n' roll" died a private man, perhaps lonely and confused.

Haley was pronounced dead at 12:35 p.m. Monday in his two-story wooden house. A friend had found him lying fully clothed on a bed.

Justice of the Peace Tommy Thompson ruled that the death was from natural causes and said he assumed Haley had suffered a heart attack about six hours earlier.

The former rock star was 55 according to a July 6, 1925, birthdate on his Texas drivers license. Music reference books listed his birthdate as March 1927, which would make him 53.

The funeral home in charge of arrangements said Monday that Haley's widow had banned release of any information, including the names of his survivors, believed to include two children.

"He was friendly with me but he was not an outgoing individual," Thompson said. "He had problems."

William John Clifton Haley Jr. was born in Highland Park, Mich., to a musical family. His mother, a church organist, and his father, who played banjo, encouraged him to learn the guitar.

He deliberately mixed rhythm and blues with country music and christened his band Bill Haley and the Comets in 1952.

Haley's "Rock-a-Beat" Boogie" included the line, "Rock, rock, rock."

Haley's fame seemed to die almost as swiftly.

By 1958, both Haley — gentlemanly, thirlyish, plump, with a curl in the middle of his forehead — and his music were considered old-fashioned.

His trademark song returned 20 years later as the movie theme for "American Graffiti" and the "Happy Days" TV series.

Among Haley's other top 10 hits were "Shake Rattle and Roll" 1954, "See You Later, Alligator" 1954, "Dim, Dim The Lights" 1955, and "Crazy, Man, Crazy" 1953.
