Velasquez admits murdering two women

Kermit man gets two life, one 99-year sentences

By ANDREA COHEN
Victor Carrasco Velasquez stabbed three Kermit women last November, killing two of them. The third victim survived the attack.

In a surprise move Wednesday, Velasquez pleaded guilty to two counts of first-degree murder and a single charge of attempting to commit capital murder. He received two life sentences for the murders of Jeannie Marie Pardue, 51, and her daughter, Lee Ann Wallace, 15. He also received a 99-year sentence for the stabbing of Molly Ann Wallace, daughter-in-law of Jeannie Marie Pardue. His three sentences will run concurrently.

"If my calculations are correct," said District Attorney Rick Hamby, "he will not be eligible for parole until after 20 calendar years."

The guilty pleas came after plea-bargaining talks Tuesday. Judge Ralph Caton had declared a mistrial and released the two selected jurors to avoid the possibility of double jeopardy.

"We weren't sure a mistrial had to be declared," said Hamby. "But we did it. We felt it was better to be safe than sorry."

District Attorney Glen Williamson, Andrews, who prosecuted the case, said the motion was necessary because the prosecution cannot waive the death penalty on a defendant who wants to plead guilty to murder once a capital murder indictment has been returned.

Williamson said there were some "substantial questions" about the case against Velasquez and the jury might have been reluctant to impose the death penalty on Velasquez because of his age. Velasquez recently turned 20.

Hamby agreed, adding, "I don't think there's any doubt that there were some questions that might weigh on a juror's mind."

Before Velasquez changed his plea, he was to be tried for the capital murder of Lee Ann Wallace on a charge of venue from Kermit. When his plea was changed, change of venues in the murder of Mrs. Pardue and the stabbing of Molly Wallace were also granted and moved to Howard County Wednesday.

Velasquez, a resident of Kermit, was indicted by a Winkler County grand jury Dec. 9 on two counts of capital murder in connection with the Nov. 15 stabbing deaths of the two women. The state had alleged that Velasquez was attempting to commit rape when the murders occurred. He was also indicted on a charge of attempted capital murder in connection with the stabbing of Molly Ann Wallace, who survived the attack.

The trial was moved to Big Spring from Kermit on a change of venue because of wide-spread publicity in the case. Velasquez, who was moved to the Howard County Jail Feb. 4, had previously been held in the Winkler County Jail since Nov. 24. He failed to make $100,000 bail in Kermit.

According to the assailant's confession, Velasquez knew Carey Gene Wallace, who was married to Molly Ann Wallace and son of Mrs. Pardue. He had worked for Carey Wallace two years prior to the murders and again, for three days approximately two weeks before the slayings. Carey, a driller for Vernon Drilling Co., had told police Velasquez had talked to his wife prior to the slayings about clothes Wallace was to bring home from work for Velasquez.

The night of Nov. 14, Velasquez had been to two topless bars with some friends and had become intoxicated. Approximately 2:30 a.m., Nov. 15, he and his friends went to his sister's house where he found her sleeping and awakened her. She let them in and went back to sleep. Velasquez left after becoming angry when his brother-in-law requested he turn down the stereo. His friends dropped him off at his residence where he ate a snack and then went to the scene of the slayings.

He took a butcher knife from the kitchen, entered a bedroom and stabbed Molly Wallace. He stabbed Mrs. Pardue and Lee Ann Wallace as he was trying to escape the residence. On the way out of the house, he bent over the couch where 11-year-old Terry Lee Pardue had been sleeping and had been awakened by the noise. He bent over the boy, said nothing and left.

He threw the butcher knife in a yard near a friend's house and then retrieved it Nov. 17 and took it to a field to dispose of it. On Nov. 23, he took a Kermit police officer to the field where the knife was retrieved.

Velasquez remains in the Howard County Jail and will be transferred to Huntsville Penitentiary by Howard County sheriff's deputies. He is expected to be in Huntsville by Monday.

Defense attorney R. (Sandy) Torres of Midland said the plea bargain "beat the hell out of the death penalty. There's an opportunity for parole here and there isn't an opportunity for parole if you're dead."

Clayton welcomes Royer, calls House a 'hostage environment'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Speaker Bill Clayton presented former hostage William Royer a gavel today and told him he was standing in "one of the most hostage environments of all of Texas."

Royer, a Houstonian who was one of 53 Americans held hostage in for 444 days in Iran, received a standing ovation in the House of Representatives.

The House also adopted a resolution, which it presented to Royer, commending him for "extraordinary valor and fortitude" during his captivity.

Grady Cunningham enters school race

A fourth candidate has filed for a position on the Big Spring board of trustees. He is Grady L. Cunningham, 28, who is in the oil and real estate investment business here.

Cunningham has spent his entire life in Big Spring. He is married to the former Ann Tollett. The family makes its home at 10 Glenwick Cove.

Previously announced as candidates for the two positions on the board were Charles Beil, an incumbent; David Huff and Fern Alexander.

Two positions are open on the board. The candidates are offering for three-year terms.

Deadline for filing is March 4. The election will take place April 4.

Action/reaction: Training of JPs

Q. Are the local justice's of the peace trained in forensic science?
A. Judge Lewis Heflin, who along with Judge Bobby West handles JP duties in Big Spring, said he and West go to a school every year to study the basics of medicine as related to civil and criminal law. The school, held in Odessa each May, is sponsored by Southwest Texas State University. The first year he served as a justice of the peace, Heflin said he took a more extensive training course in San Antonio.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan and his top economic strategists began today the tough job of selling a multi-billion-dollar mix of tax and spending cuts to Congress, where enthusiastic Republicans already were hearing from prominent Democratic critics.

Reagan told news media executives in the White House East Room that "the people are ready" for his economic program, and he discounted widespread criticism from labor leaders. "Sometimes they're out of step with their rank and file," he said. "They were in the last election."

Treasury Secretary Donald Regan praised the president's proposals at the White House breakfast as "one of the most stimulating things to happen to the American economy." He and budget director David A. Stockman then carried the message to Capitol Hill.

Stockman, appearing before the Senate Budget Committee, urged Congress to approve Reagan's tax and budget cutting proposals "rapidly and as a package."
The two Cabinet officials testified barely 12 hours after the president recommended spending cuts of $41 billion for 1982 and tax cuts that would be worth $1,456 over four years ending in 1984 for a middle-income family of four.

Reagan, in office only 29 days, pronounced the government "somewhat out of control." He said his "program for economic recovery" would balance the budget, halve inflation and create 3 million new jobs by 1984.

"There is nothing wrong with America that we can't fix," he said in a nationally televised speech to a joint session of Congress. "The people are watching and waiting. They don't demand miracles, but they do expect us to act."

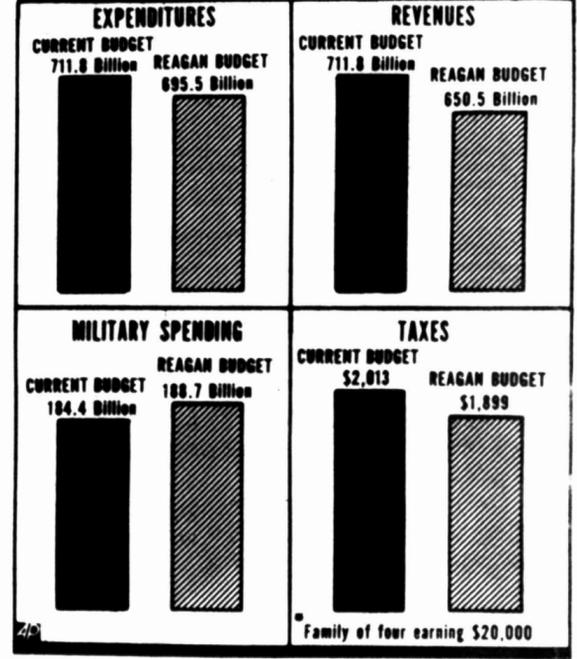

He proposed turning the nation away from policies of spending and regulatory control that have held sway since the New Deal and practically dared his doubters in Congress to support him.

"Have they an alternative which offers a greater chance?" he asked. "And if they haven't, are they suggesting we can continue on the present course?"

But even Reagan's staunchest supporters conceded the president wouldn't get everything he wanted from Congress, where Democrats already were raising objections about the size of the budget cuts and the shape of the tax proposal. Though Republicans control the Senate, the Democrats retain a majority in the House of Representatives.

Two enter Cee City council contest

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Two candidates announced their plans Wednesday to seek election to the Colorado City Council. J.O. Dockrey, a local car dealer, and Gerald Anderson, a 22-year veteran of the U.S. Navy, are the council aspirants.
Four city councilmen face expiring terms. Only Ray Dillard has indicated a firm decision. He will not seek re-election.

Ag, livestock section Sunday

A special section in Sunday's Herald will be dedicated to agriculture and the livestock industry, along with those dedicated individuals who devote their waking hours to producing the commodities that feed and clothe much of the world.

Included are stories about Howard County's cotton crop and crop potential, the increasing popularity of western clothes and a Big Spring octogenarian who still likes to raise his own vegetables.
Merchants and business men who believe in Howard County agriculture and the impact it has on the local economy have combined with the Herald to produce a 32-page section. Look for it.

"Salute To America" 2 p.m. Sunday in the Coahoma High School Auditorium. The show is sponsored by the Coahoma Parents Care Association.

One killed in pileup

TERRELL, Texas (AP) — One person was killed and at least seven others injured, when between 40 and 50 vehicles collided in dense fog on Interstate 20 three miles west of this North Central Texas town during morning rush hour.

A spokesman for the Texas Department of Public Safety said the pileup began about 8:15 a.m. as Dallas-bound commuters negotiated their way along the four-lane interstate in thick fog.

Ambulance crews were dispatched from Terrell and several DPS troopers were attempting to clear the wreckage. A Terrell police department spokesman said the troopers' efforts were hampered by poor visibility and additional pileups that occurred after police reached the scene.

California man held

MIDLAND, Texas (AP) — A 19-year-old California man was being held in the Midland County jail in lieu of $100,000 bond in connection with the death of a Midland High School student who was run down by a pickup truck and beaten in the head with a rock late Tuesday or early Wednesday.

Steve Morris is charged with murder in the death of Karen Rickey, 17, whose body was found by sheriff's deputies early Wednesday along a county road seven miles east of Midland.

Morris was taken into custody later Wednesday at the Midland Park Mall.

18 cent mail approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service today won approval to charge 18 cents to mail a first-class letter, 2 cents less than it wanted. The new rate can take effect on 10 days' notice.

The new rate plus increases for other types of mail were approved by the Postal Rate Commission, a tiny government agency that reviews Postal Service requests for higher rates.

Postal Rate Commission Chairman Lee Fritschler said the rates will bring the Postal Service about $1 billion less per year than the $3.75 billion it had said it needs.

Postmaster General William F. Bolger said last week the agency may need to ask for higher rates again later this year if the rate commission did not approve the full request.

GNP rose slower

WASHINGTON (AP) — The national economy grew at a slightly slower pace than previously announced for the final quarter of 1980, the government said Thursday.

Revised figures released by the Commerce Department showed that the "real" gross national product — discounting for inflation — grew about 4 percent in the last three months of last year.

Preliminary figures announced last month had put the after-inflation growth rate at 5 percent.

The GNP, the value of all of the nation's goods and services, still declined about 0.1 percent for 1980, the same percentage announced earlier, Commerce said, that was the first decline in five years.

Hands and Heart Award presented to Dr. Rao

Dr. U.P. Rao, Gastro-Enterologist in Medical Service at the VA Medical Center here, has been announced as winner of the first Hands and Heart Award at the facility.

The VA recently established an annual award to recognize and pay tribute to the outstanding employee whose sustained and compassionate direct patient care is considered exceptional.

According to Max Cleland, veterans entering a hospital in which they are confronted with a world of strangers and lose their familiar surroundings.

The feeling is also coupled with disabilities and emotional concerns which result in many instances in the patient feeling fear and loneliness. Consequently, the patient looks to someone who is directly involved with the patient to listen, to care and to be a friend to him.

These needs are often answered by a special employee who is willing to serve beyond the call of duty with his hands and heart.

John H. Steward, Medical Center Director here, made the award to Dr. Rao.

Dr. Rao received a plaque and a letter from the Administrator of Veteran Affairs. The plaque will be displayed in the main lobby at the VAMC.

The award has a specially designed, engraved name bar with a sterling silver hands-and-heart symbol.

COLONIAL PARTY — Children in the second-grade class of Mrs. Jan Stroup at Kentwood recently participated in a colonial party. The children came to school dressed in costumes of colonial times, and mothers of the children as well as Mrs. Stroup provided refreshments that could have been served by the early settlers in the United States. The party topped off a week of study of colonial America, complete with studies of quilting, samples of which are on the wall behind the kids.

Europe, Japan react favorably to Reagan's budget proposals

By the Associated Press
President Reagan's sweeping tax and spending cut proposals got generally good early reviews from business people and editorial writers in Europe and Japan today, but there was some skepticism over whether Congress will approve them.

The official Soviet news agency Tass, meanwhile, accused Reagan of trying "to justify the unbridled increase in American military expenditure by referring to invented figures on Soviet defense spending."

In a report from Washington on Reagan's economic speech Wednesday night to a joint session of Congress, Tass said Reagan declared his willingness to open negotiations with Moscow on disarmament, "not hiding Washington's intentions of conducting such negotiations from a position of strength."

The Soviet agency reported Reagan's plans for tax cuts and reductions in government spending, pointing out that "spending for housing and the development of the arts will be sharply decreased."

"Also cut will be expenditure for unemployment, social security and other programs which have been achieved by the workers in long years of hard struggle," Tass said.

There was no immediate reaction to the plan from foreign governments, but in Japanese Foreign Ministry official said privately that Reagan's proposals to trim the size of government will be well received in Tokyo.

The Keidanren, an organization of leaders from nearly all sectors of Japanese business, called the Reagan plan, "Very welcome, very favorable news."

Despite general support for Reagan's proposals, the dollar fell today on the Tokyo foreign exchange, closing at 205.80 yen as compared to 207.10 yen on Wednesday. Most dealers said the drop was prompted by doubts

Reagan will be able to win congressional approval for his economic package.

The dollar was generally unchanged in early trading on European foreign exchanges as dealers expressed mixed feelings about the Reagan plan.

Some said they agreed with the general thrust of Reagan's proposals to emphasize less government interference in business and more private initiative to spur economic growth.

Brazel to gain 50-year pin

A signal honor comes to Dave Brazel of Big Spring tonight, when he will be presented with his 50-year membership pin by his Masonic order.

Brazel holds dual membership in Lodge 1340 of Big Spring and the Tecumseh, Okla., Lodge. The latter is his mother lodge.

The ritual starts at 7:30 p.m. in the grand hall. The deputy grand master of the Masonic Lodge, a resident of Lamesa, will be on hand to bestow the honor upon Brazel.

Firefighters douse blaze

Local firefighters were able to douse a blaze in the Little Giant Food Store, 1103 11th, before it was able to cause serious damage, this morning.

The alarm rang at 5:04 a.m. today, and two pumper trucks were driven to the scene. Firefighters found a small blaze on the floor of the store, evidently caused by grease from a nearby barbecue pit.

Although fire damage was minimal, most of the store had filled with smoke before the flames were extinguished at 6:08 a.m. Cost of the damage has not been estimated.

Annual Chamber banquet nets profit of $696

By CAROL HART
Chamber of Commerce board members were advised that a profit of $696 was realized at the annual Chamber banquet held Feb. 7 at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

During the meeting held at noon Wednesday, board members voted to approve several new committee chairmen. Named to head committees were Bob Lewis, cultural affairs council; Dr. J.W. Cowan, health and safety committee; and George Weeks, business committee.

A resignation was accepted from Oscar Zertuche. The position on the board will be filled by the next meeting, it was announced.

Scott McLaughlin, chairman of the beautification committee, presented a report to board members which stated that a "great effort in cleaning up prior to the Centennial Celebration in May" is scheduled in the city.

The board members passed a resolution to be presented to the city and county, requesting their assistance in cleaning up the city.

Board members heard reports on several programs of action during the meeting. Royce Cox, chairman of the athletic committee, submitted a report explaining that the committee will host the basketball play-off game between Midland and San Angelo today at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, at 7 p.m.

Claude Floyd, chairman of the community luncheon committee, reported that the next community luncheon is set April 6, with special recognition planned for Texas Industry Week.

Carole Hunter, chairman of the tourism committee, reported that the new city map had been received from the printer. She said the committee had found several changes that will be incorporated into the next run, and added that only 3,000 maps were printed initially, but that the total order is now 30,000.

John Taylor, chairman of the centennial committee, advised board members that Jim Kling will meet with the Centennial Committee on March 2 and 3 to discuss the upcoming centennial celebration.

It was reported that the Christmas decoration program cost about $100 more than budgeted, due to light bulb costs, refurbishing, electricity costs, and a payment to the Vocational school program.

Items of special interest to the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, presented to the representatives, included:

Adequate highway funding; funding for the South West Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, and the appointment of Doug Burke to serve on the State Commission for the Deaf; a question on the percentage of interest that can be charged on past-due accounts by wholesale firms selling to companies and corporations. Also the unnecessary development of additional state personnel in settling estate taxes; and a support of a passage that wire tap be instigated not only on drug-related crime but on all related crime.

Other proposals were encouragement of the return to basic education; a support of the United Parcel Service in their request of intrastate service; a survey showing the majority of the major retailers in Big Spring are opposed to doing away with Blue Laws; and a request for help in receiving state or federal programs which would help Big Spring develop industrial sites.

Site needed for new main post office at Monahans

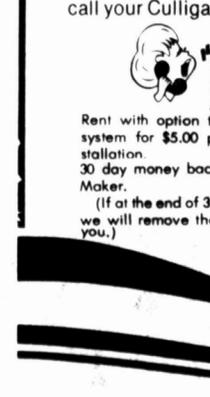

MONAHANS — The U.S. Postal Service is seeking a suitable site upon which to build a new main post office at Monahans, Postmaster Robert E. Fletcher has announced.

The "preferred area" is bounded on the north by Second St., on the east by Calvin St., on the south by Seventh St., and on the west by Betty St.

Approximately site size needed is 79,000 square feet, or a lot with minimum dimensions of 200 by 300 feet.

Property owners are asked to submit their site offerings not later than March 16, 1981 to: Robert J. Bales, realty management and acquisition specialist, Field Real Estate and Buildings Office, U.S. Postal Service, P.O. Drawer 239, Dallas, 75221.

The proposed new post-occupied building will have 7,976 square feet of interior floor space.

PROCLAMATION FOR NARFE — James M. Henderson, president of the local chapter of the National Association of Retired Federal Employees, holds a proclamation proclaiming Feb. 19 as NARFE Day in Big Spring. The proclamation was signed by Big Spring Mayor Clyde Angel.

Weather Cloudy skies in South Texas

By the Associated Press
Dense fog reduced visibility to near zero along the Texas coastal plains early today, prompting the National Weather Service to issue travelers advisories because of hazardous driving conditions.

Fog also was reported in the Lower Rio Grande Valley where visibility was limited to about one-half mile.

Forecasts called for mostly cloudy skies across South Texas today with a chance of showers over Southeast Texas. The cloud cover over eastern sections of the state was to decrease today and the remainder of the state was to have mostly fair skies and continued unseasonably warm temperatures.

Highs were to be mostly in the 70s and 80s. It was cloudy and patchy fog was reported over South Central Texas and the Piney Woods area of East Texas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the mid 30s in the Panhandle, South Plains and Permian Basin to the mid 60s from South Central Texas into the Valley.

WEATHER FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Mostly fair and warm through Friday. Highs 70s except mid 80s Big Bend. Lows upper 30s north to upper 40s south-east.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Fair and not so warm. Highs Saturday low 60s north to mid 80s Big Bend. Highs Sunday and Monday near 60 Panhandle to mid 70s Big Bend. Lows Friday mid 30s north to upper 40s extreme south. Lows Sunday and Monday upper 20s Panhandle to near 40 extreme south.

Hard drug use rises Marijuana use among high school seniors drops off

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) —Marijuana use among high school seniors appeared to drop off in 1980—the first decline in 20 years—but experimentation with some harder drugs seems to have risen, researchers at the University of Michigan say.

And while American high schools likely never will be drug-free, the overall use of illicit drugs apparently has leveled off, according to a report released Wednesday by the university's Institute for Social Research.

"We still have a long way to go before we return to anything like the relatively drug-free years of the '50s," said Lloyd Johnston, one of three social psychologists who compiled the report.

O'Malley revealed that in 1980, a larger percentage of students than in years past has at least experimented with stimulants and the sedative methaqualone, better known as Quaaludes.

"The proportion of all seniors who have ever used an illicit drug other than marijuana has risen slowly since 1978—from 35 percent in 1976 to 39 percent in 1980," the researchers wrote. They found cocaine was increasingly popular, along with such prescription stimulants as amphetamines, which are the most widely used illicit drugs other than marijuana. At least one of every four students responding said they had at least tried them, the report said.

William "Green Bar Bill" Hillcourt, one of the most respected men in scouting, will be in the Midland-Odessa area Friday and Saturday, local boy scout officials have been informed.

Hillcourt, author of the latest addition of the Boy Scout Handbook as well as numerous other books and articles, will be the guest speaker at the Buffalo Trail Council's annual Wood Badge Banquet, which will be held at 7:30 p.m., Friday at St. Luke's Methodist Church in Odessa.

Hillcourt is a recognized expert on camping and outdoor skills. He wrote the first edition of the "Handbook for Patrol Leaders" in 1929. Since then, he has authored a number of Scouting books, including "The Scout Field Book," "The Handbook for Scoutmasters," as well as the last edition of the "Official Boy Scout Handbook."

There was no indication how the students were chosen to receive questionnaires or what the margin of error was in projecting the results.

The study by Johnston, Gerald Bachman and Patrick

He has also published a number of reference books on nature and conservation and a biography of Boy Scouting's founder, "Baden-Powell-Two Lives of a Hero." Altogether, more than 15 million copies of Hillcourt's books have been printed.

Since 1932, he has published columns on Scouting, Campcraft and the outdoors in "Boy's Life" magazine under the pen name "Green Bar Bill."

Born in Denmark, Hillcourt joined the Scouts in 1911 and earned the equivalent of the U.S. Eagle Scout badge before coming to the U.S., in 1928. He joined the National staff of the Boy Scouts of America and served in the magazine, editorial and program divisions during his 41-year career with the Boy Scouts.

"Green Bar Bill" recently was honored with the Silver Buffalo award, highest honor of the Boy Scouts of America, in recognition of his distinguished service to youth.

Bubonic plague kills West Texas rancher

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A rare case of bubonic plague has killed a young West Texas rancher who was apparently bitten by diseased fleas as he skinned a fox, Texas health officials announced Wednesday.

A state and federal investigation into the death was launched, and people who came in contact with the man were given precautionary medicine.

It was the first U.S. report of plague in a human this year. There were 18 cases of plague in the nation last year, 13 of them in New Mexico. Doctors from the Texas Health Department did not know how many deaths were caused by plague last year, but the said generally 80 to 90 percent of people infected survive.

Bubonic Plague, known as the Black Death that swept Europe during the 14th century, is transmitted by fleas that bite infected rodents and then bite man.

But Dr. Barry Hafkin, an epidemiologist with the state health department, said in modern times it is a rural rather than an urban problem, especially in the Southwest, where prairie dogs, pack rats, rabbits, coyotes and foxes can carry the bacteria.

The name of the man who died was not released, but officials said he was 25 years old and owned a ranch north of El Paso in the vicinity of Dell City, Texas, that straddled the Texas-New Mexico border. He became ill Feb. 10 and died Feb. 12.

Person with cure for baldness has it made

If you could perform a feat for mankind and live to reap the benefits, what would you like to do the most? Find a cure for cancer? Develop a remedy for a hangover? Perfect a cosmetic that would keep men and women forever young?

All those would be nice, but a lot of people would settle for a solution that would cure baldness or bring back hair that has been lost to the ravages of time.

FOR THOSE WHO are concerned about receding hairlines, there may be good news ahead. A wire report on research recently concerned in a long range experiment now being tried by a doctor, who has been studying the effects of a drug tried in the treatment of severe high blood pressure. One of the drug's side effects, it seems, is hirsutism. That's another word for hair growth.

The drug understandably is not being rush to the market and won't be until a number of problems have been cleared up.

One of the problems of the drug is that it has a tendency to promote the growth of hair not only on the scalp but on upper lips, cheeks and foreheads, as well.

In short, some people would wind up looking like the original Wolf Man. Whether it also increases the urge of the user to run around the countryside and bark when the moon is full wasn't listed among the side effects, but the revelation could cancel out whatever progress has been made toward controlling high blood pressure.

Our only advice to the scientist world is, keep trying. You come up with a true cure for baldness and the whole world becomes your oyster. For some of us, the thought of venturing to the barber again once or twice a month is very pleasant.

Setback for earth

Art Buchwald

The Grumman Company, which built vehicles for the moon, and which is one of the leaders in space technology, has been having trouble building a bus that won't collapse when it tries to get from 23rd Street to 57th Street on Madison Avenue in New York City.

This has caused tremendous consternation in engineering circles. How can someone develop a lunar lander for the moon without any difficulty and not be able to build a bus for New York and other cities?

I discussed this with an urban transportation expert, and he said the Grumman people were not at fault.

"BUILDING A BUS for New York City is not the same as developing a moon vehicle. There were so many unknown factors that Grumman had to deal with. New York streets have a far harsher atmosphere than the moon. For one thing, New York's craters are much larger than anything up there. For another, the environment in Manhattan is so unpredictable that no one can be sure what pressures a bus will encounter when it tries to crawl across town."

"But surely the Grumman people must have tested its Flxible bus before it delivered it."

"Of course they did, but all they had to go on were aerial maps of Manhattan taken from five miles up."

"They had no idea what they would face once the Flxible model was actually put on a street. Everything worked perfectly in the lab, and Grumman scientists were certain their bus could hold up under the toughest jobs it would have to perform on Earth. But unfortunately, when you're dealing with an unknown crust, such as New York City, you have to expect setbacks."

"We now think we know what the problem is."

"What's that?"

"Grumman didn't realize that the buses would carry people. So they failed to make the trunnion strong enough to support the frame. After four blocks, the frame developed cracks, the trunnion collapsed against the wheel, and the bus couldn't move. Urban mass transportation is still not an exact science, and it could have happened to anybody." Does this mean New Yorkers will never be able to have buses they can count on?"

"NOT NECESSARILY. BUT a lot more work has to be done in bus research. First of all, we must devise a way of mapping New York City's potholes. No bus can be expected to hit one and not collapse, no matter how strong you build the trunnion. For another, we have to test these buses under the worst situation conditions. This means we have to load them with twice their capacity, and drive them for days through Queens, the Bronx and Brooklyn, where the streets are almost impassable."

"If the trunnions hold up to these rugged tests, they should be able to survive anything that could happen to them in Manhattan."

"Does the failure of the Grumman Flxible bus mean that our entire space program on Earth will be delayed?"

"No, it only means that New Yorkers will have to do their exploration on foot until the engineering mistakes have been ironed out. We can't afford to send another bus to New York City until we're sure it will work. Actually, the failure of the Grumman Flxible could be considered a plus for the space program. We know that many cities were going to order the Flxible buses, and if something terrible had to happen, better it be in New York, which is used to its public transportation breaking down, than in Boston."

Stones can cause pancreas problem

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I was told a couple of years ago after gall bladder surgery that I had pancreas trouble. This spring after having stomach distress I went in for what was called an "E.R.C.P. test." I didn't understand the patient information sheet on this, but it worried me. Can you explain it, because I didn't remember anything about it after being put under. — Mrs. M.G.

Let's blow those initials up to size. "E.R.C.P." is short for "endoscopic retrograde cholangiopancreatography." An endoscope is a viewing tube that is inserted through the throat and esophagus into the stomach, and finally into the small intestine. The ultimate destination is the place in the small intestine where there is a common opening for the system of passages that allow digestive juices to enter from the liver, pancreas and gall bladder.

When this area is reached by the viewing end of the endoscope, a tiny, soft hose is slipped out into it. Then dye is injected back into the opening, whence the term "retrograde" comes. X-ray pictures are then taken of the pancreas, gall bladder and liver — the cholangiopancreatography.

All of this takes a great deal of skill, but the result is evaluation of the drainage system, to see, for example, if residual gall stones are blocking it. Frequently, blockage may disrupt the flow of pancreas juice, forcing it backward into the gland, where it may begin digesting its tissue. This may or may not be the nature of the pancreas trouble to which your doctor referred. He will be able to give you a complete analysis from the E.R.C.P. testing.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have had brown fingernails for about a year and a half. Thought maybe they would grow out, but they didn't. Could you possibly know what might cause this? — Mrs. R.H.

Brown nails may result from fungal infection. Brown discoloration of the nails may result from infections around the nail beds. A few drugs can cause it. Does your work bring you in contact with any substance that might be staining the nail? It needn't be a brown-colored substance. It can be any chemical.

The fact that the brownness doesn't grow out suggests that it is a substance you are in constant contact with or that you have a chronic infection of the nail bed. For a discussion of various nail symptoms and treatments, see the booklet "Solving Your Nail Problems." For a copy, write me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please discuss the Kegel exercises for urinary stress incontinence, and also the surgical procedure that may be used to correct the incontinence. — G.R.

Any unintentional leakage of urine is incontinence. Stress incontinence is the kind that occurs when the bladder is placed under sudden stress, as from coughing, sneezing, laughing or lifting heavy objects. The strain from these activities places direct pressure on the bladder. Control is lost and urine leaks.

In women, this understandably embarrassing condition most often results from a weakening of the muscles and ligaments that normally hold the urinary bladder firmly in place. Childbirth contributes to this weakening. The Kegel exercises are designed to strengthen those weakened muscles and hence strengthen the bladder control. Several times daily, the woman consciously contracts the muscles that halt the flow of urine. While actually urinating, she consciously stops the stream, starts the stream, etc. Again, the result should be the desired strengthening of the muscle support.

In more severe cases of incontinence, the doctor can elevate the bladder and construct a firmer foundation for it. Not all urinary incontinence is of the stress type. Other causes include a defective nerve supply to the bladder. The Kegel exercises are not helpful if this is the case.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please elaborate on the causes of puffy eyelids. What, if anything, can be done about them? — Mrs. B.G.

The skin of the eyelids is normally somewhat thin and loose. With age, the looseness becomes more pronounced, giving a puffy appearance to the lids. That is to be expected. Abnormal puffiness, however, can result from infections of the lids. Since the lid skin is so loose to begin with, whenever the body retains excess liquid, as in heart failure or kidney disease, the fluid often accumulates there to make the lids puffy.

A low level of thyroid gland hormone can also cause lid puffiness, as can allergic reactions. Treatment of the cause of the fluid retention, whatever it is, corrects the problem. If there is no basic illness producing the puffiness, the sagging skin can be corrected by a plastic surgeon.

Are you having a gall bladder problem? To find out how the gall bladder works and what kinds of trouble to look for, send for the booklet, "You and Your Gall Bladder." Write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Pesticide report most favorable

A study of agricultural pilots regularly exposed to large amounts of pesticides shows no adverse effects in three specific areas of concern.

The study, commissioned by the National Agricultural Aviation Association, matched active agricultural pilots and their spouses with pilots married brothers and sisters not occupationally exposed to pesticides.

The association said the researchers found no difference among couples in each group in number of children, birth defects or miscarriages.

F. Farrell Higbee, executive director of NAAA, said the study was conducted by an outside consulting firm and each phase was monitored by an independent peer review board.

Machine age

Around the rim

Carol Hart

Sometimes, technology can be a little frightening. Computers are rapidly becoming the norm. Everything is electronic, and fast, and outdated before its been around very long.

Recreation is no exception to the rule. Take bowling for example. Many years ago, people had to pick up the pins and stand them up by hand. Then automation took care of that. Then, before long, hand scoring became a thing of the past. A machine will record how many points you accumulate on each frame, and all you have left to do is throw the ball down the lane.

IN TENNIS, if nobody wants to play, a machine will spit the balls out at you at a speed that can knock you into the fence behind you.

People who don't like to exercise can utilize machines which will help them tone the muscles that they can't bring themselves to tone on their own. There's even a machine that will help you jog faster. You just tie it to your legs and you're thrown forward whether you want to go that way or not.

Electronics have really taken over as far as television games are concerned. No TV is complete without an electronic hookup which allows a variety of games to be played on the screen.

And most of these electronic advances are reflected in what was once good old pinball games. Old fashioned pinball, where you put in your quarter and push a button and a little silver ball comes out and you score a few thousand points, is almost a thing of the past. You can still find these machines, but the people at arcades and bowling alleys are lining up in front of electronic games that are too technical for me to understand.

Playing pinball today is like flying a starship in a "Star Wars" movie. The machines have screens with many colors and feature many perils to choose from. There are games with atomic warfare for you to try your luck at, and there are games where strange beings from space try to bomb you out of existence.

AND THESE GAMES are addictive, too. A friend of mine recently was playing a game where the object was not to be blown to bits by alien beings. After inserting a few quarters in the machine, I pointed out that he was spending quite a bit of money a little bit at a time.

"I know," he shrieked, "But I have to play again," he said, as he inserted another quarter and the screen cleared. "I need to go to PA."

"PA?" I asked.

"Pinball Anonymous," he answered, glued to the machine.

After a couple of more games, we finally pulled him away from the screen. But not before I inserted a quarter to play a dual game. And he was right, that stuff can really be habit-forming.

Toyed with plan

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — One of the most bizarre footnotes to the Iranian hostage crisis was the intercession of exiled Ugandan dictator Idi Amin on behalf of the imprisoned Americans.

The brutal Amin is an unlikely peacemaker. Yet in an unsolicited statement from exile, he volunteered to intervene as a mediator to free the hostages from Ayatollah Khomeini's clutches. The offer came to nothing and was quickly forgotten.

But I can now report the even more bizarre origins of Amin's cameo appearance in the hostage drama. Amin was led on by an American con man and gunrunner named Frank Terpil, who had supplied Amin with military equipment and was conspiring with him to arrange a triumphant return to Uganda.

THIS WAS THE DEAL: If Amin would appeal to Khomeini for release of the American hostages, Terpil would see that Amin's 24 children were allowed to come to the United States. This would also make more palatable Amin's efforts to overthrow the government that had driven him from Uganda.

Terpil had no authority to make deals for the U.S. government. Far from it; he was under federal indictment for illegal munitions traffic with Libya. In any event, Amin's appeal to Khomeini was a flop — and Terpil fled the United States to avoid prosecution.

The weird attempt by the indicted gunrunner and the exiled dictator to cash in on the hostage situation was known to U.S. officials. The telephone Terpil used to call Amin in Saudi Arabia late last summer was tapped. My associates Indy Badwar and Dale Van Atta have obtained a tape of the recorded conversation.

The expansive Terpil was free with advice and promises; he even offered to help Amin return to Uganda. And Amin sounded confident that his comeback would be as easy and triumphant as Napoleon's return from Elba.

"We have got leaders ready waiting, less than 400 miles away," Amin boasted. "We are not worried about what type of army they have inside there."

Amin instructed Terpil to tell his presumed congressional and United Nations contacts that Amin's primary goal in returning to Uganda was "trying to stop the communists."

Terpil promised to "leak the information to the right people here."

"And what I want from your people there is ... a loan if you could put it down," Amin went on. He would need money, he explained, to get Uganda back on its feet.

"Is the football team ready, though?" asked Terpil.

Amin: "The football team are in side."

Terpil: "They have all the equipment?"

Amin: "They have complete equipment with them. They don't need any supplies."

Terpil: "That's good. Everybody is just about ready."

The two men closed their conversation with some banter about one of the dictator's favorite movies: "The Dirty Dozen."

Amin: "They can rescue somebody, these boys. One dozen."

Terpil: "Maybe we can make a dozen ourselves. We need some key people. We need some commandos. We'll train our own commandos. They both laughed."

As it happened, Amin's comeback attempt was a fiasco. A month after the taped conversation, about 1,000 of the cocky ex-dictator's troops invaded northern Uganda. They were routed after capturing four or five villages.

FREEDOM TO DECEIVE? Last December, Elliott Jones suffered the horror of having her husband, Dr. Michael Halberstam, shot and fatally wounded a few feet from her by a burglar in their Washington home. Now her grief and shock have been compounded by a reporter she took into her confidence a few days after the cold-blooded killing.

Jones feels the reporter, Hillary Johnson of Life magazine, deceived her by not mentioning that Life was planning a story on her husband's suspected killer, Bernard Welch. If she had realized this, Jones said, she would have thrown the reporter out. Instead, she welcomed Johnson into her home for three days, answered her questions and gave her letters and pictures for what she thought was to be a sympathetic article on Halberstam.

In the end, Life's story was all about Welch, including eight pictures for which the magazine paid the suspected killer $8,000. Elliott Jones isn't even quoted in the story.

A Life spokesman claimed the Welch story was a response to the widow's own expressed wish. Jones told a newspaper reporter she would like to know more about the man who allegedly killed her husband, the Life spokesman said.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM, I am a Christian working in a mental hospital. Do you think it is possible for me to witness for Christ in this kind of place? — N.C.

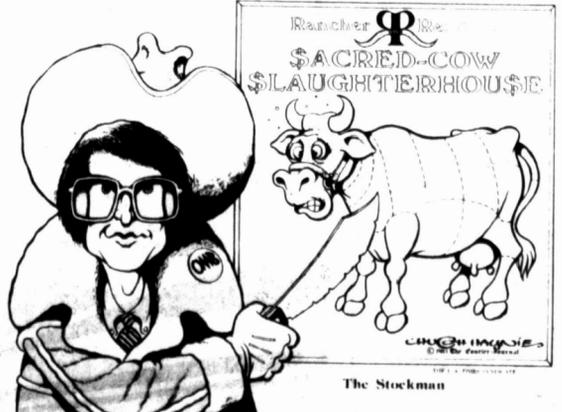

DEAR N.C.: I certainly do. In fact, it may very well be that God has placed you there because he has a specific ministry for you. You may, at times, get discouraged because you seem to have little success. But remember that even if you only touch one life for Christ it is worth it. Furthermore, as a Christian you know that true wholeness and emotional health will only come when a person realizes he is loved by God and responds to that love by inviting Jesus Christ into his life.

Remember that you witness not only by your words but by your deeds. Pray that God will give you a love for with whom you work every day. "Be imitators of God, therefore, as dearly loved children and live a life of love, just as Christ loved us and gave himself up for us as a fragrant offering and sacrifice to God" (Ephesians 5:1-2, New International Version). People will not listen to your words unless they also sense something of the love of Christ within you. And you know that people who have experienced emotional problems have often been deprived of love in their early lives. They need to know they are loved, and most of all they need to know that God, their creator, loves them.

Therefore, you should also pray that God will give you specific opportunities for witness. Do you pray by name for the patients you see each day? Do this, and you will begin to catch the excitement of God working and opening doors for your witness.

There may be other ways you can share your faith. If your hospital has a chaplain, you might see if he needs assistance in any Bible studies or other ministries. But above all, God has placed you there and wants to use you, be open to his leading.

BREAKFAST SPEECH — President Ronald Reagan gestures while speaking to newspaper and broadcast editors from around the nation this morning at the White House. President and Mrs. Reagan departed for California after the meeting.

Cows, buses, boats, college kids are liabilities in budget plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — If there's a person in America who owns cows and rides the bus to town and takes an outboard boat onto the lake for recreation and sends his kid to college, he gets hit on all sides by Ronald Reagan's "national recovery plan."

If he's a middle-income taxpayer, he would lose a lot more in government benefits and subsidies than he would gain in tax cuts under the plan President Reagan laid before Congress and the nation Wednesday night.

Millions of people are in that boat. Everybody who pays taxes will gain from Reagan's plan, but millions would lose more than they gain as a result of the retrenchment the president proposes for federal activities.

Reagan's ideas would take benefits from all sorts of people — the near poor and the very rich, but especially from the middle class whose votes put him in office.

His budget document called the middle class "an obvious focal point" of budget cuts.

Almost all of Reagan's proposals require Congress' approval to take effect, and that promises to be a struggle that will preoccupy Washington for the rest of the year.

The president's gamble is that the middle class will agree that his program will curtail inflation sharply and quickly and will be willing to give up some of the benefits government bestows with the people's taxes.

Everybody stands to lose from some Reagan proposals. For example, postage would go up more rapidly if the government subsidy is phased out, as Reagan suggests. The subsidy pays 7 percent of the Postal Service's costs.

Other cuts are very specifically aimed. The Coast Guard, for example, would charge a fee on those it rescues.

And everyone who uses a boat, from outboard to yacht, or big commercial vessel, would pay Coast Guard fees for services rendered — everything from maintaining buoys to making safety inspections. The Transportation Department is to spell out details in a few weeks.

Reagan's proposals mean that a family sending a youngster to college on a government grant or a low-interest loan may no longer qualify. The administration wants to revise loan and grant programs so that $30,000-a-year families will no longer be eligible. Other families will have to pay a bigger share of college costs.

Dairy farmers would lose an increase in price supports that otherwise would go into place April 1. Reagan predicted that milk prices would fall as a result, but he also indicated some dairy farmers would go out of business.

Travelers of all sorts would have to pay more if the Reagan plans are enacted. Bus and subway fares would rise with the loss of mass transit subsidies. Reagan said those fares have been kept artificially low since the 1973-74 Arab oil embargo and predicted that people would not shift from mass transit to private cars because of higher fares.

Tobacco, VA benefits

Some programs spared Reagan's ax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal programs spared from President Reagan's budget ax — from veterans benefits to tobacco subsidies to Nancy Reagan's pet social program — tell much about personal and political power in Washington.

That sacred cows still exist in the federal budget is made clear by a look at which programs which were not included in Reagan's $41.4 billion "hit list."

The leading sacred cow in the new Reagan budget is clearly the Defense Department, which is slated to come out ahead in the shifting of federal priorities despite minor reductions in some military programs.

The president is proposing a $4.3 billion net increase in 1982 spending on defense and, a source said, a $26.4 billion boost in 1982 defense budget authority, which commits the government to future spending.

Although Reagan pointedly includes cuts in business subsidies in his budget package, subsidies for three politically powerful industries are conspicuous in their absence from the hit list.

While dairy price supports would be reduced under Reagan's plan, tobacco subsidies would not be, an apparent victory for Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., a longtime Reagan supporter and chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Helms, whose home state of North Carolina is heavily dependent on the tobacco industry, lobbied against possible cuts in the subsidy — and had won the earlier commitment of Agriculture Secretary John Block to leave the program intact.

Amid heavy cuts for solar energy and synthetic fuels, federal support for nuclear power was not targeted for reduction in the budget package released Wednesday — a development sure to please the embattled nuclear industry.

Matrons to celebrate anniversary

Ortry Boatler and Ruth Pittman were hostesses at a "Dutch Treat" dinner-meeting Tuesday evening for the Past Matrons' Club of Big Spring Chapter No. 67, Order of the Eastern Star, in the La Macarena Room of Alberto's Restaurant.

Dorothy Hull, president, called for reports from Edith Murdock, Ann Russell, Zan Ryan, Pyle Bradshaw, Ruth Pittman, Mary Arnold Hefley, Sue Stripling, Doris Mason, Mae Hayden, Vera Gross, Ortry Boatler, Pearl Urey and Bernice Davis.

Pyle Bradshaw read the February message from Lena May Cook, Worthy Grand Matron, Grand Chapter of Texas, Order of the Eastern Star. Mrs. Cook gave the thought for the month, "The supreme happiness of life is the conviction that we are loved." Mrs. Alden Ryan gave the program "Valentines" by Vivienne Guinn. Bernice Davis introduced Mrs. Josie Prather, as special guest. The members sang "Happy Birthday" to Bonnie Allen, Ila Keathley and Zan Ryan.

Hostesses for the next meeting of the club will be Bernice Davis and Pyle Bradshaw, on March 10. The chapter will observe its 93rd anniversary with a Masonic supper Feb. 21, 7 p.m., at the Masonic Temple.

Lodge installs new officers

The members of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 met Feb. 10, 7:30 p.m. in the IOOF Hall, West Highway 80. Melicia R. Santellan, Noble Grand, presided. Thirteen members were present.

Juanita Hamlin, protem recording secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting. Sick members were reported on and 10 visits to the sick members were made.

Under unfinished business, the following members were installed: Margaret Beechly at Right Support to the Vice Grand, Elizabeth Beck at Right Support to the Noble Grand, Juanita Hamlin, Lodge Deputy and Odelle LaLonde, Chaplain were the installing officers.

Under the Good of the Order, Melicia R. Santellan, Noble Grand, read an article about Thomas Wildy, who was the founder of the fraternity.

A Valentine cake, made by Pauline S. Petty, was raffled off and won by Margaret Beechly.

After the meeting was closed the members were served chicken salad sandwiches, cake, coffee and punch by Melicia R. Santellan, Beatrice Bonner, Frances Lettis and Mrs. Petty. The table decoration was carried out in the Valentine colors.

Marcy PTA will sponsor

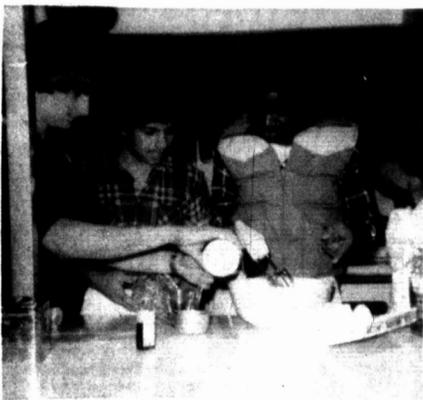

Teacher Appreciation Week

Marcy Elementary School Parent-Teachers Association met Feb. 10 in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Arnold, school counselor, spoke to the group about how she interacts with children through play, just talking or working with them. Mrs. Arnold displayed materials used with the children such as filmstrips, puzzles, coloring books and books on the child's reading level. "One of the most important things that a parent can do to help a child is to just listen to him," Mrs. Arnold stressed.

The PTA special project for the year, to attach a permanent roof over the walkways from the main school building to the portable buildings, was discussed.

The group will sponsor Teacher Appreciation Week during Texas Public School week, March 2-6. All parents are encouraged to participate in Texas Public School Week. Marcy

National FHA Week is busy time for students

With February as the month of love, the Big Spring High School Future Homemakers of America showered their affections upon Big Spring State Hospital.

Coordinating National FHA Week with volunteer activities, the Future Homemakers spread themselves in all directions. National FHA Week, Feb. 8-14, included daily themes and activities in which all members were to take part.

Feb. 10, a party was held for the Adolescent Unit at the State Hospital. Club members decorated the party room and provided music and refreshments for the two-hour affair.

In addition, Mrs. Alma Wright's Foods I classes baked and decorated Valentine cookies for some of the patients at the Officer nominees announced by club

Mrs. Udonia Bass was made an Honorary member of the Big Spring Altrusa Club at a noon meeting Feb. 12 at the Holiday Inn. Mrs. Bass was an active member of the Altrusa Club for many years, but due to health reasons has been inactive this year.

The noon meeting was called to order by Doris Guy, president. The program was brought by Gertrude McCann on the theme of love. A Sweetheart election was held and Doris Guy was named sweetheart. One guest, Alicia Amaro, was present.

Kaye McDaniel, nominating committee chairman, named the following for officer nominees: Gertrude McCann, president; Debbie Mitchem, vice president; Pat Highley, recording secretary; Frances Hendricks, corresponding secretary; Deloris Albert, treasurer; Tot Sullivan, two year board member; and Jane Watson, one year board member. The election will be held in June. The next meeting will be Feb. 26.

Forum hears program on aging myths

GFWC Modern Woman's Forum met Feb. 13 in the home of Mrs. Woody Smith, with 12 members and one visitor, Mrs. J.T. Galloway present.

Mrs. Cass Hill, president, conducted the opening ceremonies and the business meeting. She stated that several of the members would be working on the registration and hospitality for Western District Convention to be held in Big Spring March 20-21.

Mrs. Fred Whitaker, Federation Counselor, gave a report on the project of Austin Junior Woman's Federation erecting braille directories and other signs for the blind in malls and other centers, which provide identification and location of shops, as well as locations of shops, ramps, telephones, restrooms, entrances and exits. These clubs are now busy developing braille street signs for downtown Austin and the University of Texas area intersections.

In presenting a program on "Living Long and Like It" Mrs. H.M. Rowe, Chairman of Home Life Department, gave data from the book "Our Own Years" by Alice Lake, on facts from noted gerontologists and sociologists. She said that the problems of aging are the problems of women, who constitute over 65 percent of the American population. Women seem better adapted than men to changes in the rhythm of life, yet the idea of being lonely or incapacitated are fearful.

The next meeting will be held Feb. 27 at Texas Electric Reddy Room, with Mrs. Allen Hull as hostess.

Shower honors Mrs. Craig Dunnam

A bridal shower was held Feb. 14 honoring Mrs. Craig Dunnam, formerly Carrie Poyner, at 2713 Coronado in the home of Mrs. Jimmy Madry.

Hostesses were Mrs. Jimmy Madry, Mrs. Lynn Hise, Mrs. Norma Porter, Mrs. Randall Ried, Mrs. J.M. Ringener, Mrs. Rob Roberson, Mrs. Charles Warren and Mrs. Joe Whitten. Special guests were Mrs. Curtis Reynolds, Mrs. Charles Dunnam and Mrs. Jo Ann Poyner.

The bride was presented with a pink silk rose corsage. The hostess gift was a General Electric Toaster-Broiler Oven. The serving table was accented with crystal appointments and a burgandy and pink silk flower arrangement, which was presented to the bride.

Drinking Husband Going for Broke

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband is an alcoholic. He also has cirrhosis of the liver. Last year he had a mild heart attack after drinking at his favorite bar, which is located in a shopping center near where we live. He goes there every day.

The manager of this bar gives my husband liquor on credit, so naturally that is where my husband always goes. I went there and told the manager not to give my husband any more credit because he was an alcoholic and it was killing him, but the manager said, "If I don't give him credit, somebody else will."

Abby, I think this is disgusting. That manager is killing my husband! What should I do?

IRKED IN PUEBLO, COLO.

DEAR IRKED: Don't blame the manager. The problem lies with your husband. If he hasn't tried Alcoholics Anonymous, he should. His very life depends on it. And if he doesn't value his life enough to preserve it, go to Al-Anon and learn how to deal with a husband who's drinking himself to death. Al-Anon is in the phone book. Please call now. It's free, and well worth trying.

DEAR ABBY: My ex-husband is coming to town to visit our children. He is now married to the woman who broke up our marriage. When he left me for her, he told me he loved this woman more than anything else in the world, and if he couldn't be free to marry her he would kill himself.

Listen to this: When he called to tell me he was coming here to see the children, he asked me to get him a "date" while he's here. Should I?

GLORIA

DEAR GLORIA: Yes. With a psychiatrist.

DEAR ABBY: I hope you will correct the misstatement made in your reply to HASHIME SAITO. You said: "To our everlasting shame, approximately 100,000 decent, law-abiding American citizens were held in concentration camps for the duration of World War II. Their 'crime'? They were of Japanese descent."

I was shocked and disappointed that you would use the term "concentration camps," since the connotation of the term is "death camp." To quote California Sen. S.I. Hayakawa, the world's leading semanticist:

"The use of the term 'concentration camp' when referring to the War Relocation Centers for persons of Japanese ancestry, is highly propagandistic and makes a mockery of what happened to the Jews under Hitler. It is a term used by a wolf-pack of young Japanese American dissidents who weren't even born during WWII."

LILLIAN BAKER, GARDENA, CALIF.

DEAR LILLIAN: Thank you (and all the others who wrote) for setting me straight.

Stiff drug abuse penalties proposed

Mrs. Charles (Glenda) Pruitt, District 17 PTA president, Midland, got a first-hand look at the problem of Texas teenage drug abuse at a two-day seminar in Austin Feb. 4-5 at a Drug Education Seminar.

Ross Perot, Dallas businessman and head of the state-wide Texans' War on Drugs Committee, told seminar participants that "drugs are the No. 1 criminal and social problem in Texas today."

Perot said there is a $50 billion drug industry operating in the U.S. today including $40 billion a year spent on marijuana and $3 billion a year on drug paraphernalia.

"If you want to cut down on crime in Texas, then do something about the drug problem," he said. The seminar, sponsored by Perot's anti-drug committee, but paid for with private funds, drew some 200 participants, including state PTA officials and wives of Texas legislators.

Prior to his keynote speech at the seminar, Perot held a press conference at the state capitol to unveil five proposed bills aimed at making narcotics, particularly marijuana, more difficult for teenagers to obtain. The legislation would stiffen penalties for selling drugs to minors, make mandatory no-parole jail sentences for narcotic dealers, and permit law enforcement officials to maintain lists of people prescribing or receiving controlled substances.

Also, the bills would make it easier for law officials to seize vehicles used in drug trafficking and would allow the confiscation of profits from the sale of illegal drugs.

In an attempt to close the "head shops" which sell marijuana paraphernalia one of the bills would prohibit possession, display, or sale of equipment intended for use in production or use of dangerous drugs.

The Texas PTA board voted to give all-out support to the Texans' War on Drugs Committee and the proposed anti-drug legislation.

Gov. Bill Clements, who appointed the 18-member Committee, recently declared the anti-drug issue a legislative emergency, which means the Legislature is free to take immediate action on any or all of the bills sponsored by Perot's committee.

A large part of the drug education seminar was devoted to what parents of Texas teenagers can do to keep their children "drug-free," and what they can do to help their children if they become drug users.

Experts in the drug education field advised them to:

— Seek information on drugs and the "drug scene" in their local communities to become a credible source of information and advice for their children.

— Be alert for signs of drug use (listlessness, loss of interest in school).

— Beware of messages in society condoning drug use, such as found in rock music, rock concerts, entertainment and sports personalities.

— Work with other citizens in your community to develop alternatives for drug use and to educate your children about the deadly dangers of drugs. Form a "Families in Action" or other parent peer pressure group against drugs.

While in Austin, the PTA officials held their winter board meeting to determine policies and make plans for the parent-teacher activities throughout the state.

There will be a Drug Education Seminar the evening of March 16 in Big Spring. For more information, call Mrs. Bobbie Wooten, 263-7473. The public is invited to attend.

Howard College ventures West for big battle with OC teams

ODESSA — Both the Howard College Hawks and Hawk Queens hit the road tonight for a pair of important Western Conference games against their perennial bitter rival, the Odessa College Wranglers.

The two games are of big importance to all four teams involved tonight, as their final standings in the WJC race and seedings in the Region V Tourney in early March will be directly affected.

In the girls game, which is slated to begin at six o'clock, both teams will be fighting to stay in the running for the WJC title.

Losses will hurt both teams chances, but a setback for the OC women would all but end their WJC title hopes.

The OC girls bring a conference mark of 7-3 into the game, and are 18-9 on the year. Howard is 6-2 in the WJC women's race, and an impressive 24-5 on the year.

Both the HC and OC women are in the thick of the four-team battle for first place in the league with Amarillo and Western Texas, who are 7-2 and 8-2, respectively.

The two teams have met twice this year, with Howard winning both times. But that doesn't make Hawk Queens Coach Don Stevens feel any better.

"I'm expecting a real dogfight," Stevens said. "The Odessa girls are always extra tough when you play them over there. The last few years our games with them at their place have been one or two point games, or overtime."

Stevens is also hoping that the same thing doesn't happen to the Hawk Queens as did in their third meeting with OC last year. After beating OC twice during the regular season, Odessa reversed the decision in the championship game of the Regional V finals.

Howard is led into the game by 6'3" Kelly Lyons, a bonafide All-American candidate who averages 19 points per game, 11 rebounds and leads the WJC in blocked shots.

Odessa has an all-around everything player in Jackie Skinner, who is rated fifth in the WJC in scoring and leads the league in assists. OC's Tanya Wells is second in the WJC in rebounding.

The men's game is also important to both teams, but for different reasons.

While the Howard College Hawks of Coach Harold Wilder are still in the running for the WJC title, despite the fact that they have lost two games, Odessa is clawing for a spot in the Region V Tourney.

Howard is 11-4 in WJC action, two games behind Midland and a game back of Frank Phillips. But a Hawk win tonight, coupled with a Frank Phillips win over Midland, would tighten the race back up with a week remaining.

Odessa, meanwhile, has only a 5-10 conference mark, but can't be totally considered out of the Region V running. But in order for Coach Jim Yeakell's team to make it as the fifth spot in the qualifying round, they would have to win the remainder of their three games. That makes tonight's game a must for OC.

Odessa's main man is 6-5-Craig Ehlo, rated in the Top 10 in almost every WJC category. But in many games, he has had little help from his mates.

Howard, meanwhile, boasts the WJC's leading scorer in Randy Corker. He has ample help from the likes of Ron Akins, Kenneth Jones and Crushon Loving.

The men's game tonight will begin at eight o'clock.

Lee, San Angelo here tonight for fem 5-5A

The District 5-AAAAA girls basketball title will be decided here tonight in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum when the San Angelo Bobcats meet the Midland Lee Rebels in a seven o'clock battle.

San Angelo won the first half title in 5-AAAAA, while Midland Lee came back to win the second half title. The two teams have played twice, splitting the matches.

In the first on San Angelo's home court, the Bobcat girls prevailed 44-42. In the game in Midland, Lee won by a 41-38 score. So tonight's game is expected to be close.

San Angelo has a better record than Lee, but the Rebel girls have been more hot lately. After winning the first half with a perfect 7-0 record, San Angelo went 5-2 in the second half and brings a season mark of 25-3 into the battle.

Lee got off to a slow start, but won all seven second half games and brings a 19-9 mark into the district title bout.

The winner of tonight's 5-AAAAA battle will face 6-AAAAA winner Lewisville sometime early next week.

Metcalf praises refs in loss

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Texas A&M basketball coach Shelby Metcalf says he has looked at the game films of the A&M-Arkansas game Tuesday night and that the officials did an "excellent job in a very difficult game."

Arkansas won the key Southwest Conference clash 65-61, but the contest was marred by three fights and the ejection of Aggie player Claude Riley.

Shelby said he reviewed the game films Wednesday morning and, despite the disturbances, the officials "kept control of a tough game throughout."

"Arkansas definitely deserved the win," he said, adding that the spectators also helped keep a lid on the pressure-packed game by not resorting to "poor crowd behavior."

Hagins takes MHS job

BALLINGER — Bernie Hagins, former head coach at Coahoma High School, has resigned as head coach at Ballinger High to become an assistant coach at Midland High School. The resignation formally becomes effective March 6.

Two of Hagins' assistants, Milby Sexton and Jack Martin, also submitted their resignations to the Ballinger school board.

OFF SEASON JOBS? — Though it appears that the ailing Dallas Mavericks NBA team has drafted some help from the Dallas Cowboys, it was only for a half-time attraction in Saturday's Dallas-San Antonio NBA game in Dallas. Cowboys quarterback Danny White (11) shoots over the outstretched arms of running back Tony Dorsett (33) for a basket. White's team won the exhibition, 15-10.

Miller says baseball players don't want strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Marvin Miller wants baseball fans to know that major league players aren't asking for anything more than what they already have under their basic agreement with the club owners.

"Usually, the fans get the impression that the players want something," Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, said Wednesday, discussing the possibility of a strike over the free agent compensation issue.

"The fans always want to know, 'What do the players want now?' The answer is that the players want nothing," Miller said.

"The players want to keep the current free agent rule allowing compensation limited to an amateur draft choice. Owners want compensation from a team signing a premium free agent in the form of a major league player not listed on a protected roster of 15 players. Premium is defined as a free agent chosen in the re-entry draft by at least eight clubs.

Negotiations on the question have stalled, and owners are expected to implement their proposal Friday.

That could lead to a player strike. Such a decision would be made when player representatives meet Wednesday in Tampa, Fla.

Under the Basic Agreement reached last May, players would have to announce strike intentions by March 1, and if they decide on a walkout, they would have to do it no later than June 1.

Ray Grebey, head of the clubowners' Player Relations Committee, said there has been "little or no progress" in attempts to settle the compensation issue," and he added, "Realistically, the probability of a negotiated settlement is unlikely."

He said his committee would meet the Friday deadline for announcing whether the owner's compensation plan would be implemented.

Grebe said he did not think the compensation issue is, one that can justify a strike.

"On the other hand," he added, "there are no other issues to trade off."

"The next move is up to the players. If the owners implement the compensation procedure... we won't have any more demands. We have what we want in the contracts."

Players contend the owners' proposal, awaited since last May, would reduce the value of free agents.

"We found out—with a great deal of pleasure, I might add—we were more valuable than we thought we were," said Bob Boone.

National League player Strike, and hopes that there is not one. He claimed that the players don't want to see their salaries go down.

While stopping short of promising a strike, Boone did say the players will not accept the owners' proposal as stated.

"We would never stand still for that," he said.

Staubach says Hollywood H hard to figure out, on drugs or off

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Roger Staubach says that former Dallas Cowboy teammate Thomas Henderson often acted strangely, but the former quarterback said he never realized drugs were behind the character changes he witnessed.

"I saw the change. I wasn't aware of it. Henderson's drug use specifically," Staubach said Tuesday.

Henderson, who joined Dallas in 1975 as a rookie, recently admitted that he had developed an expensive cocaine habit while a linebacker in the National Football League. He was fired during the 1979 season for hamming it up in front of television cameras and is currently undergoing treatment for the cocaine habit.

"The symptoms were there," Staubach said, explaining that Henderson's emotions "changed from day to day."

Staubach said he ignored the linebacker's emotional ups and downs, because, "He was really flamboyant anyway."

"We were friends in the locker room, but I did not see him socially," Staubach said.

Staubach said he became aware of Henderson's "change of character" after Dallas won the Super Bowl in 1978. He said most people had attributed the change to the new-found success Henderson had after that game.

"It's a great shame, because he's a tremendous athlete," Staubach said. "It cost him a year and possibly his career."

Henderson ended up playing on specialty teams with the Houston Oilers this year, but was waived at the end of the season.

Staubach, who retired following the 1979-80 season, was in town to address a local businessmen's club.

BSGA sets opener Sunday

The Big Spring Golf Association will hold its first tournament of the 1981 season on Sunday at a Louisiana Draw.

The deadline for entering the season opener will be 12:30 p.m. Sunday, with a shotgun start slated for 1:30 p.m. Entry fee will be five dollars, and only members are allowed to play in the BSGA affair. A membership costs only three dollars, however.

The BSGA sponsors eight one-day tournaments each year, as well as two partnerships and the city championship.

The two partnerships, which are open to any golfer, are slated for May 2-3 and July 11-12. The city championship, open for any golfer who resides in Howard County, will be August 8-9.

Big Springer Chico Flores wins Golden Gloves division

Big Spring boxer Chico Flores brought home the championship trophy in the 116-pound division of the Regional Golden Gloves Boxing competition here Monday night, defeating Sylvester Ramirez of Pecos in the finals.

Flores had reached the finals by blasting an Odessa boxer on Saturday. He was the lone member of the Big Spring Boxing Team headed by Abe Gonzales to claim a championship.

Gonzales, nevertheless, was encouraged by the performance of his young boxers. "These were the toughest boys our team has ever come up against. Considering our team is new, I'm extremely proud of each boy. We didn't win them all, but I'm glad we went. This was the best experience the boys will get and they'll fight better because of it," Gonzales said.

This weekend the Big Spring Boxing Team travels to Sweetwater for a tournament, with one at Abilene next week.

Then the Big Springers will sponsor a tournament to be held in the local Fair Barn on March 13-14.

BSHS boys whip OHS

ODESSA — The Big Spring boys tennis team dominated the Odessa Bronchos Tuesday afternoon scoring a 7-2 win. Action took place at the OHS Tennis Center.

But the BSHS boys were not as fortunate, dropping six of their seven matches.

Kip McLaughlin, Kevin McMahon, Aubrey Weaver and Greg Franklin led the BSHS boys win, as each scored wins in both singles and doubles action. The other winning singles match was by Scott Nelson.

The lone Big Spring girl to win her match was the doubles combination of Penny Prudhomme-Dawn Estes. They took a 6-3, 6-4 win over Vickers-Polomio.

The Big Spring netters

TCU holds off Nebraska for stud ink

By the Associated Press
The Southwest Conference kept most of the Texas schoolboy football talent within the confines of the state on national signing day Wednesday, but there was a notable defection in Arkansas.

Quarterback Danny Bradley of Pine Bluff, Arkansas ignored his hometown Razorbacks to jump to Oklahoma.

However, Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz pulled off a coup by signing linebacker Marty Kobza of Schuyler, Neb., who was being sought by UCLA and Nebraska.

Texas Christian coach

F.A. Dry scored twice against the Big Eight Conference.

Dry signed bluechip quarterback Anthony Culley of Dallas South Oak Cliff, who had signed a Big Eight Conference letter of intent with Oklahoma State after signing a Southwest Conference letter with TCU.

Classy Temple running back Kenneth Davis made Dry's day complete by ignoring Nebraska and joining the Horned Frogs.

Nebraska also took it on the chin from Texas Tech when Greenville running back Robert Lewis said yes to the Red Raiders. He had been considering the Cornhuskers.

Southern Methodist Coach Ron Meyer landed highly regarded running back Larry SADBERRY of Houston Milby, who had been heavily courted by Colorado.

SMU was still battling for Andrews' running back Van Pearce, who has caught the eye of Notre Dame.

Southern Methodist, which divulged last week that it was under investigation by the NCAA, signed the rest of its players.

Two heavily recruited SOC players, bluechip linebacker Gary Spann and lineman Marvin Ayers, never gave the Big Eight a second thought in signing with SMU.

As usual, Oklahoma did well, signing blue chip defensive back Lawrence Hardin of West Orange-Stark, the only one of Texas' 15 blue chippers in a poll of SWC head coaches who didn't sign last Wednesday.

TCU finally released its closely guarded list of 10 junior college transfers. The list included two top LBs from Pasadena JC:

Pete Rose still moving strong at 40

By the Associated Press
When Pete Rose blows into town, it's like a fresh breeze off the ocean.

The little guy with the Prince Valiant hairstyle and unquenchable enthusiasm is so natural, so basic, so uninhibited that it's hard to believe he's for real in a game being inundated with pompous millionaires.

Pete got up before daylight Wednesday, caught a plane from Philadelphia to New York and arrived a half-hour late for a breakfast news conference at which the Mizuno Corp., of Osaka, Japan, unveiled some of its bizarre ideas for moving baseball into the space age.

"It's a long way to come for breakfast," he grumbled good-naturedly, then added: "I've been roasted so much this winter I feel like a chicken."

Rose got hooked on Japanese equipment on his visits to the Orient with the Cincinnati Reds. Before long, he was using their bats, shoes and gloves — for a princely sum, of course.

"They're really smart guys, dedicated, got brains that are hard to believe," he said. "I don't see how they lost the war."

The 39-year-old first baseman of the world champion Phillies said he expected to play out the final two years of his four-year, $3.2 million dollar contract and perhaps go a couple or three more.

If not, he hinted that he might wind up his career in Japan.

Mizuno presented Rose with a rose colored bat with which to pursue his goal. He will be swinging it on opening day.

"I can't hit home runs, I'm not going to beat out anybody in runs-batted-in," the peppery old warhorse said. "I don't have much speed and I don't throw all that well, but I don't need to, playing first base I have to try to excel in areas that fit my talents — most games, singles, doubles, runs scored."

Over one of those plans is to overtake Stan Musial as the National League record holder in number of hits. He needs only 76, which would give him 3,631. Then only those two other iron men — Ty Cobb (4,191) in the American League) and Hank Aaron (3,771) overall, including 3,600 in the NL would be ahead of him.

Spurs owner providing winning incentive

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — National Basketball Association victories are costly and getting more costly each time, but San Antonio Spurs president Angelo Drossos says he doesn't mind.

In fact, Drossos said he would be pleased to shell out an extra $1 million to members of his team at the end of the season.

"That's correct, I'd like to be able to pay it out because I believe solidly it will create greater public relations with the fans and provide the groundwork and foundation for the coming year," Drossos said. "I believe the fans and players enjoy it."

Spurs players are already piling up extra cash because of a "prize fighter type" bonus plan — triggered by 35 San Antonio wins — that Drossos put into effect before the season started.

San Antonio has captured 41 contests, equal to the number of victories during all the 1979-80 season, and are 10 games ahead of their nearest rival in the Midwest Division.

Attendance is up to an average of 10,739 for home games. The rabid Spurs fans have been rewarded by watching the team pile up a gaudy 17-game HemisFair Arena winning streak before falling to Boston this week.

The bonuses for each of the 11 players continue to accumulate through the 56th victory, which is unlikely, but not out of the question for the Spurs with 19 contests left on their schedule.

Provisions of the plan call for the highest paid players to get the biggest slice of the incentive money.

Man guilty of using aliens as slaves

HALVESTON, Texas (AP) — An Anahuac seafood processing plant operator has been found guilty of kidnapping and forcing two illegal aliens to work as slaves.

A jury of eight women and four men deliberated about two hours in returning the verdict against Benjamin Harrison Nelson, 42.

U.S. District Judge Hugh Gibson allowed Harrison to remain free on $50,000 bond pending sentencing. Maximum punishment would be 25 years and $22,000 in fines.

Harrison was found guilty of two counts of kidnapping for slavery purposes, two counts of peonage, and one count of aiding and abetting the transportation of an illegal alien.

Nicholas Martinez-Delgado of Houston is alleged to have taken illegal aliens from Houston to Nelson's plant at Smith Point on Galveston Bay and is awaiting trial on three counts of transporting illegal aliens.

Prosecutors contended during the five-day trial that Nelson forced illegal aliens to work against their will until each worked off a $100 cost for their transportation. Aliens testifying said they were under the impression they would receive $300 a month and room and board, saying they knew nothing of the $100 fee.

Witnesses said two Mexican aliens who attempted to leave the plant after working three days in September were forced to return and work off their $100 debts.

Interest rates tough issue

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The big test of the 67th Legislature will come when it considers the legislative proposal for floating interest rate ceilings, according to opponents.

"The legislators can vote to put more money in the pockets of the banks or they can vote to make each one come in and prove they need an increase in interest rates," said Rebecca Lightsey, legislative director for the Texas Consumer Association.

"They are just ganging up on us," said Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, and Rep. Bill Messer, D-Belton, who introduced the measure that could raise the ceilings as high as 30 percent.

Jones said a floating ceiling would be created equal to double the interest on six-month treasury bills, with an outside limit of 30 percent.

"As the T-bill rate stands today that would be a ceiling of about 27 percent," Jones said, "but that does not mean that much would be charged. There would be competition."

Jones and Messer said the bill was their answer to wildly fluctuating interest rates, tight money and selective federal policies.

House mortgage loans would not be affected since Texas' 12 percent ceiling has been preempted by federal law. Jones said home loans in Texas now carry about 13.25 percent interest.

The Consumer Credit Code has an 18 percent add-on for the first $300 of a loan, with 8 percent on amounts between $300 and $2,500. Under the bill, the 18 percent add-on would be allowed on loans up to $750.

Clarence Johnson of the Texas Legal Services Center said at a news conference following introduction of the bill that the measure, if passed, "would impact heavily on low income consumers. It would eliminate the offense of usury," he said. "Lawyers won't be able to figure out what usury is."

WINTER BREAKAWAY

Taste Travel the Carribean Islands

If a Carribean cruise doesn't fit your budget, plan an economical breakaway "taste tour" of flavorful island dishes to bring new interest and excitement to family meals.

Thrifty cooks in the Carribean stretch food dollars by extending small amounts of meat with rice plus a wealth of fruits and vegetables. In the face of today's rising food costs we can benefit from this practice in dollars saved.

In your taste travels, savor the flavors of Trinidad with Party Paella. This economical, crowd-sized variation of the traditional Spanish dish teams savory Eckrich Smoked Sausage with minced clams, chicken, colorful vegetables and satisfying rice for an easy-to-fix dish with universal flavor appeal.

Honey-Glazed Sausage Kabobs, served impressively over Paradise Pineapple Rice, recall the relaxed mood of the islands. Prepare the kabobs indoors now, and outdoors as weather allows.

WEST INDIES SKILLET SUPPER

- 2 packages (10 ounces each) smoked sausage links, cut in quarters
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 2 medium onions, sliced
- 1 can (13 3/4 ounces) chicken broth
- 1 cup rice
- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1 cup shredded Edam, Gouda or Swiss cheese
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley

In a large skillet, brown meat in 1/4 cup water over medium-high heat about 6 minutes; remove from skillet. Melt butter in skillet; cook onions in butter until tender but not brown. Add enough water to chicken broth to make 2 and one-third cups liquid. Add liquid to skillet and bring to a boil. Stir in meat, rice and garlic salt. Cover tightly and simmer 20 minutes. Remove from heat. Let stand covered until all liquid is absorbed, about 5 minutes. Sprinkle with cheese and parsley. Makes 6 servings.

PARTY PAELLA

- 1 1/2 pounds smoked sausage, cut in 1/2-inch pieces
- 1 tablespoon olive oil or vegetable oil
- 1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
- 2 cans (6 1/2 ounces each) minced clams
- 2 cups rice
- 2 cups coarsely chopped cooked chicken
- 1 teaspoon garlic salt
- 1 green pepper, cut in 1/2 x 1/4-inch strips

- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas, thawed
- 12 large cooked shrimp (optional)

Fry sausage in oil in 12-inch skillet until browned; drain off drippings. Drain and coarsely chop tomatoes, reserving juice. Drain clams, reserving juice. Combine juices; add enough water to make 4 1/4 cups liquid. Stir liquid, tomatoes, clams, rice, chicken and garlic salt into skillet. Bring to a boil. Cover tightly and simmer 20 minutes. Stir in green pepper and peas; arrange shrimp, if desired, over rice mixture. Remove from heat and let stand covered until all liquid is absorbed, about 5 minutes. Makes 10 to 12 servings.

HONEY-GLAZED SAUSAGE KABOB

- 1 cup pineapple juice
- 1/2 cup brown sugar
- One-third cup honey
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 1/2 pounds smoked sausage, cut into 18 pieces (about 2 inches each)
- 24 fresh mushrooms (about 1 pound)
- 2 medium onions, cut into 6 wedges each

For honey glaze, combine pineapple juice, brown sugar, honey, lemon juice and dry mustard in a small saucepan. Cook over medium heat about 5 minutes. For kabobs, alternate sausage and vegetables on 6 skewers. Brush with glaze. Grill or broil about 4 inches from source of heat about 4 minutes on each side, brushing frequently with glaze. Serve with remaining glaze over Paradise Pineapple Rice. Makes 6 servings.

PARADISE PINEAPPLE RICE

- 1 can (8 ounces) sliced pineapple in unsweetened juice
- 1 cup rice
- 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon finely shredded fresh ginger, or 1/4 teaspoon ground ginger

Drain pineapple chunks, reserving juice. Combine pineapple juice, cornstarch, soy sauce, sugar, vinegar, remaining 1/2 teaspoon of salt and reserved pork liquid. Add to skillet with mushrooms along with pineapple chunks and reserved pork.

Cook and stir until mixture is thickened, about 2 minutes. Serve over rice, if desired.

- 1 package (6 ounces) frozen pea pods, thawed
- One-third cup toasted slivered almonds
- 12 cherry tomatoes, cut in half (optional)

Drain pineapple, reserving juice. Cut pineapple into 1/2-inch pieces. Add enough water to juice to make 2 1/2 cups liquid. Bring to a boil in large saucepan. Stir in rice, butter, salt and ginger. Cover tightly and simmer 20 minutes, stir in pineapple, pea pods and almonds. Remove from heat. Let stand covered until all liquid is absorbed, about 5 minutes. Stir in tomatoes, if desired. Makes 6 servings.

SWEET AND SOUR PORK WITH MUSHROOMS

- 1 pound boneless pork shoulder, cut in 1-inch cubes
- 2 cups water
- 1/4 teaspoon salt, divided
- 1 clove garlic
- 12 ounces fresh mushrooms
- 2 tablespoons vegetable oil
- 1 cup green pepper strips
- 1 can (8 oz.) pineapple chunks
- 1 1/2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 4 teaspoons soy sauce
- 1/2 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon white vinegar

In a small saucepan place pork, water, 1 teaspoon of the salt and garlic; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, until pork is tender, about 30 minutes. Drain pork, reserving liquid. Discard garlic clove. Rinse, pat dry and slice mushrooms (makes about 4 cups). In a large skillet heat oil until hot. Add mushrooms and green pepper; saute until tender, about 3 minutes.

Drain pineapple chunks, reserving juice. Combine pineapple juice, cornstarch, soy sauce, sugar, vinegar, remaining 1/2 teaspoon of salt and reserved pork liquid. Add to skillet with mushrooms along with pineapple chunks and reserved pork.

Cook and stir until mixture is thickened, about 2 minutes. Serve over rice, if desired.

Proper behavior 100 years ago

By ROBERT WALLACE, Ed.D. Copley News Service

TEENS A woman today wouldn't think twice about stopping on the street to chat with a male friend. But if the year was 1880 rather than 1980, no well-bred lady would dare speak with a gentleman in public.

A century ago, there were some 40 etiquette books published to help people learn how to behave properly. The rules below, from the October issue of Seventeen, are samples from several of these books. Take a look, and learn about good breeding in the 1800s.

Stepping in time "Ladies should avoid walking rapidly upon the street, as it is ungraceful and unbecoming. Staring at people, spitting, looking back after they pass, saluting people across the street, calling out loudly or laughing at people as they go by, swinging the arms when walking, eating upon the street, whispering in public conveyances are all evidence of ill-breeding in ladies."

"When crossing the pavement, the lady should lift her dress with her right hand, a little above the ankle."

"To raise the dress with both hands is vulgar." (From Professor Thomas E. Hill's "Manual of Social and Business Forms" 1873.)

Meeting and greeting "The young ladies of a family are called Miss Edith, Miss Margaret, etc., by gentlemen who do not know them well. The rule is for the lady to bow first and then the man takes off his hat." (From "The Girl's Own Paper," a periodical published in London and widely distributed in the United States, 1886.)

Going-out guide "No young girl would think of going to a ball unattended by her mother." And, "A man of honor does not, unless he is lacking in even the rudimentary knowledge of social proprieties, compromise a young woman by being her constant escort for a long time without having some serious intention." (From "Good Manners," The Butterick Publishing Co., 1888.)

Girls, the next time Mom "suggests" that you come home from a date a little sooner than you want, be tolerant. You've come a long way, babe!

Skin care tips given to club

The Big Spring School Food Service Club met at Marcy Elementary Cafeteria Feb. 12. Meeting called to order by President Clara Lewis.

Invocation was given by Grlene Stalcup. Treasury report and minutes were read and approved by Louise Keller. Committee reports were given, and a short business meeting was held to decide on an ad for the Convention ad book. Motion was made by Ray Lawless to take a quarter page ad and the motion carried.

Speaker for the Club was Emma Lea Spivey, who is the Mary Kay Cosmetic Consultant for this district. She gave a talk on how to care for your skin in West Texas dry weather and demonstrated how to give a facial. Ruth Williams, manager of Marcy kitchen, was her model. Anyone wishing to contact her may call 267-5027.

Marcy cafeteria ladies decorated in the Valentine theme, good refreshments were also carried out in Valentine decorations. Approximately 30 members and one guest attended.

Sick Shingle Creek

Polluted stream seen as a symbol of Florida's development problems

KISSIMMEE, Fla. (AP) — Shingle Creek, a puny silver of water that sloshes through the teeming developments of Orange and Osceola counties, is sick—infected with phosphorus, nitrogen and other damaging wastes it is fed by man.

Environmentalists call the ill-fated creek a symbol of statewide malaise, a "growth of any cost" mentality common among developers and politicians.

The torrent of sewage pouring into Shingle Creek, which feeds Lake Tohopekaliga, the magnificent, fish-rich body of water known as Toho, has prompted the Florida Environmental Regulation Commission to warn cities and counties that such pollution can lead to state-ordered restrictions on growth.

Moratoriums on hookups to overtaxed sewage treatment plants have already caused long delays in development of housing and tourist attractions.

"Nobody ever dreams that something like this can happen until the moratorium hits them," said Bill Fredrick, chairman of the Florida Department of Environmental Regulation.

The Florida League of Anglers, a statewide group claiming some 10,000 members, has chosen Shingle Creek as "a horrible example" on which to concentrate its fight to halt growth that ignores environmental concerns.

"There are many Shingle Creeks in Florida," group founder Lyman Rogers of Ocala said. "But this was the most highly identifiable, in the heart of Florida and at the headwaters of the Kissimmee-Okeechobee basin.

"We cannot expect to get anything done at the bottom of the system if we have state agencies allowing that degree of pollutants to be put at the top," he said.

Shingle Creek once rose from a swampy, southwestern corner of Orlando, meandered into Osceola County, entered its historical channel and, just before emptying into Toho, became a small stream filled with fish.

But the swamps that nurtured it were drained and bulldozed. Upland canals were dredged so runoff water from the new residential areas could drain into the creek.

From a gentle, winding stream, Shingle Creek became a straight-line ditch filled with sewage wastes which nurture plants but poison fish and other aquatic life.

Hydrilla, an exotic weed, and water hyacinths feed on the pollution and form dense mats on the lake bottom, blocking sunlight and threatening the aquatic food chain. Blue-green algae blooms choke fish breed areas. Trophy-sized bass could eventually give way to tough trash fish such as gar and shad.

Environmentalists point to nearby Lake Apopka in warning.

The 51,000-acre lake once proclaimed "Bass Fishing Capital of the World" is now tainted by years of mucky farm runoff, sewage treatment discharge and citrus processing wastes.

VA on a witch hunt?

Veteran benefits being reviewed

WASHINGTON — For most disabled veterans, the first warning came last October, in the Disabled American Veterans' magazine.

A short article on page 4 told how the Veterans Administration was re-examining 70,000 to 100,000 disabled veterans to see if they deserved the full benefits they were receiving. "This review is obviously designed to eliminate certain veterans," the article stated, adding the DAV was worried that it could result in "wholesale reductions in the benefits of a large number of veterans who suffer severe disabilities."

Four months later, the review is continuing and both DAV and VA representatives at opposite ends of the country continue to be at odds over the handling of the unfinished review.

Most of the vets representatives say their worst fears have not yet been realized. Reviews in Texas have generally resulted in more increased disability ratings than decreased. Nationally, few veterans so far have had their benefits reduced.

But some in the DAV say the review is living up to its expectations. The VA, they charge, has arbitrarily reduced benefits of hundreds of disabled veterans who had not been working but, in the VA's opinion, could work. In some cases, they contend, family men in their forties and fifties with children in school have had their monthly payments cut by more than half, and have been told to make up the loss by getting jobs.

"Now really," says John Regan, head of the DAV office in Boston. "Where is a guy like that going to work? He probably hasn't been in the workforce for 10 or 15 or 20 years. What are his chances of making enough money to make it up? I maintain the VA is on a witch hunt."

Regan's counterpart in Houston, Richard Richards, blamed the reviews on budget cutters in the Carter administration. "I think it's lousy. We're talking here about individuals who have depended on these programs for 10, 12, 15 years," he said.

DAV officials in both Texas and Massachusetts claim the VA review boards are paying special attention to cases of veterans with "NP," or neuro-psychiatric problems, even those who have lost jobs in the past because of their conditions.

"The trend here is to be harsher in psychiatric cases," said Richards. "Anytime you change someone's eligibility based on a one day examination, it's ridiculous."

Regan describes a harsher scenario in Massachusetts: "To get full benefits from the board, the veteran has to be under the porch chewing a bone. I tell these guys sometimes, the cards are against you, dress in a sweat shirt and old jeans, and when the doctor asks you how you are, punch him in the mouth."

Adjudication officers directing the reviews in Texas and Massachusetts disagree. "We don't set out on witch hunts at the VA. I've checked with other offices and we're certainly not more harsh," said VA adjudication officer James Chandless in Boston.

VA officials in Texas, admit there has been "anxiety" on the part of veterans over the review, but they point to statistics in the still incomplete study to show the program has not resulted in wholesale reduction of benefits.

In Houston, one of two Texas regional VA centers, the VA office was instructed by Washington to review 2,153 cases. As of the first week of January, 60 percent of the reviews had been completed and benefits were reduced in 14 cases.

In 118 cases involving neuro psychiatric disabilities, veterans with less than 100 percent disabilities, whose conditions rendered them "unemployable," were elevated to actual 100 percent disabilities.

Tax exemption needed to make gasohol work?

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Suspending the state's nickel-a-gallon motor fuels tax on gasohol is essential for the birth of a Texas alcohol industry, the House Ways and Means Committee was told Wednesday.

Without the tax exemption, gasohol cannot compete for a share of the fuels market that would make alcohol production worthwhile, said Bovina farmer Ralph Roming.

He spoke in favor of a bill by Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, suspending the tax until 1990, then phasing it back in at a rate of a penny a year.

The committee sent the bill to a subcommittee for more study, and a similar action was taken by the Senate Finance Committee on the companion Senate bill.

Gasohol is a blend of 90 percent unleaded gasoline and 10 percent ethyl alcohol. It reportedly raises the octane rating of gasoline and stretches the available supply.

Kubiak said if the Legislature doesn't grant the exemption this year, alcohol producers will build their plants in neighboring states that do have exemptions.

"If we are going to get into alcohol production, we have got to pass this measure this session. If we don't, Texas might as well forget about it."

Unless we pass this thing this time, we are going to kill it (the potential Texas gasohol industry) because these people are going to go somewhere else," Kubiak said.

Roming said a farmers' group called Hereford Agrifuels is waiting for legislative action to determine where it will build a 35 million-gallon-a-year alcohol plant.

"If we get the exemption, we will build in Hereford. If not, we will build in Texico, N.M., where there is a 6 1/2-cent exemption," he said.

Kenneth Johnson, head of Central Texas Grain Producers Cooperative, which is contemplating an alcohol plant in Hutto, echoed Roming's view.

"A tax exemption would be the greatest single encouragement we could get. It helps where we need it most, in the marketplace, by making gasohol more attractive to consumers, who already are buying all the gasohol on the market," Johnson said.

Gov. Bill Clements has designated gasohol tax exemption legislation as an emergency, entitling it to expedited floor action if it gets out of committee.

Congress has suspended the four cents per gallon federal motor fuels tax on gasohol.

Corn and grain sorghum are the primary feed stock for alcohol plants, but other plants also could be used, said Ray Prewett, assistant state agriculture commissioner.

"The national security is at stake, and money is at stake," Prewett said.

Kubiak said there would be no revenue loss to Texas for two years because it will take that long to put the first gasohol plant into production.

His bill would suspend the tax only for gasohol containing Texas-made alcohol or alcohol made in states such as Arkansas that grant a reciprocal exemption to Texas alcohol.

Most Texas congressmen find Reagan budget plans 'desirable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Many Texas congressmen are calling President Reagan's plan to slash federal spending workable and desirable, but there is at least one exception.

"I must reiterate that I'm really sorry that the president has declared war on the poor, particularly the working poor," Rep. Mickey Leland, a Houston Democrat, said Wednesday after Reagan addressed Congress.

Leland, the only black member of the state's congressional delegation, said such cuts as the ones Reagan proposed for food stamp and school lunch programs would have a devastating effect.

"I'm optimistic that we're going to get a significant coalition going to block some of the president's proposals," Leland said. "But I think we're going to lose in some significant areas." Other Texas congressmen jumped in with praise for the president's program.

Rep. Phil Gramm, a College Station Democrat, said he was enthusiastic.

"I've been waiting for 10 years for a president to level with the American people about how severe our problem is," he said. "I think the president has done that and I'm going to support him."

Rep. Charles Stenholm of Stamford, who has emerged as the spokesman for a group of almost 40 conservative Democrats, said the mood on Capitol Hill generally is one of support for the president.

"The quicker we get on with the program, the better off we'll be," he said.

Stenholm said his main problem would be going along with a tax cut if it means a budget deficit will continue.

"Obviously, I strongly agree with the general direction that the president's program has taken even though I've got some unanswered questions," he said. "On balance, there's not a great deal of it that I'm going to have problems with."

Texas Republicans greeted the president's program with extravagant praise.

"I'm very excited, tremendously excited. In fact, I think you can say I'm bordering on ecstasy," Rep. Jack Fields, a freshman Republican from Humble, said. "I feel we're truly at the proverbial fork in the road."

"I feel like the spirit of Thomas Jefferson is smiling down on us tonight," Rep. Bill Archer, a Houston Republican, said at a hometown news conference.

He called Reagan's program comprehensive and courageous.

"It is a well thought out plan calling for a return to greater state and local government control—a plan which challenges the private sector to bring this nation out of its economic dilemma." Archer, a member of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, said.

Rep. Jim Collins, a Dallas Republican, said he was prepared to go much farther with tax and spending cuts than the president proposed.

"I'd go way beyond it," he said. "But as a practical political matter, most people are not as conservative as they are in Dallas, Texas."

Collins said he thought Reagan suggested about as much in the way of cuts as the American people are prepared to swallow.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said he had "serious concern" about Reagan's call for a 10 percent tax cut in each of the next three years.

"I can well understand the political popularity of massive personal income tax cuts, but locking this country into a 30 percent tax cut over a three-year period will obviously stimulate consumption dramatically. That will spur inflation and that, in turn, leads to bigger deficits and even higher interest rates," Bentsen said. "He has a better chance to get a one-year, 10 percent cut than what he is proposing."

In a statement that followed a White House briefing, the senator said he agreed with the need to cut federal spending.

"I've supported that and I'm going to try to be helpful to the president," Bentsen said.

Rep. J. J. Pickle, an Austin Democrat who is also on the ways and means committee, echoed Bentsen's doubts about the extent of the tax cuts.

He said Congress might be "a little more careful" than the program Reagan proposed.

"I think the president gets an Oscar for his appeal, for his sincerity and for his personal commitment for tax cuts and for a cut in spending," Pickle said. "I would think the Congress probably would have a little bit less on both spending cuts and tax cuts."

Rep. Martin Frost, a Dallas Democrat, called the president's speech a positive one that gives hope to the nation.

He said he was hopeful that the total amount of the budget cuts Reagan proposed could pass Congress, even if the final program differs in its details.

"I think he's going to get substantial budget cuts. I think it will take time," Frost said. "I for one want to make sure that we do not make cuts that will harm the truly needy and the elderly."

The Dallas congressman added that he thought it would be important to determine the extent of the budget cuts before taking steps to reduce taxes.

Susan Skelton to head Bike-A-Thon event

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is proud to announce that Susan Skelton has been named to head the 1981 Spring Bike-A-Thon Campaign in Garden City, Texas.

In making the announcement, Clifford Damstrom, St. Jude Director for the Southeast Region, stated that "We are proud to find such a dedicated person for this important job."

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital is the largest childhood cancer research center in the United States, and it is the first research center dedicated exclusively to the research and conquest of catastrophic diseases of children, such as cancer and other life-threatening diseases," Damstrom stated. "Scientists and physicians, working side by side at St. Jude, have succeeded in rewriting medical textbooks. When St. Jude accepted its first patient in 1962, the survival rate for children diagnosed with acute lymphocytic leukemia was less than 5 percent. Today, the disease free survival figure for children in long-term remission has grown to 50 percent. Cancer treatment procedures that originated at St. Jude are now being used to treat children throughout the United States and in other parts of the world. Such progress has brought world-wide acclaim to St. Jude."

"Children come to St. Jude for one purpose: A chance to live," Damstrom stated. "But no one has ever been charged for medical treatment. Yet medicines and treatments are extremely expensive. St. Jude has always been supported by the public, and we must continue to rely on public support to help finance the research and patient care programs. Over 70 percent of our 26 million dollar budget must come from public support. That is why this Bike-A-Thon is so important."

Danny Thomas, who founded St. Jude Children's Research Hospital because of a vow, stated its purpose clearly: "To wipe catastrophic diseases of children from the face of the Earth."

"Since Thomas opened the research center in 1962, his dream of conquering cancer and other diseases that destroy our children has been brought closer to reality," stated Damstrom. "Thomas is still extremely active in pursuing this goal, and he inspires all of us in this cause."

The location and time of the Bike-A-Thon in Garden City, Texas will be announced later by Susan Skelton.

Business reaction favorable

NEW YORK (AP) — Business leaders and economists, using words like "commendable," "solid" and "constructive," are hailing President Reagan's plans for sweeping cuts in federal spending and taxes.

At the same time, however, they say that even if the Reagan program sails through Congress, there will be no quick cure for the ailing economy. And some labor leaders were lashing out at proposed economies that would jeopardize their members' jobs and benefits.

Reagan, in a speech Wednesday to a joint session of Congress, proposed $4.8 billion in spending cuts for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30 and another $4.1 billion reduction from next year's budget. He said his program would cut inflation in half within two years and would lead to a $500 million budget surplus at the end of his term.

He proposed cutting individual income taxes by 10 percent in each of the next three years, starting July 1 and quicker tax writeoffs for business investments in plants and equipment to improve productivity.

Walter Hoadley, chief economist of Bank of America, the largest U.S. commercial bank, said Reagan seemed an "economic disciplinarian."

William Douce, president of Phillips Petroleum Co., called the program "strong medicine," but added, "I think it is important that we the people respond to his message so that the Congress will have an indication of the attitude of the nation."

Winning the greatest praise from the executives and economists was Reagan's proposal — retroactive to Jan. 1 — to speed up depreciation allowances for businesses and spur sluggish capital spending.

Retired army sergeant to receive Medal of Honor award from Reagan

HOUSTON (AP) — It began in a jungle fire-fight almost 13 years ago when a Green Beret sergeant saved eight men from death although he was shot, clubbed and stabbed with a bayonet.

It will end Tuesday when retired Army Master Sergeant Roy P. Benavidez of the South Texas town of El Campo receives the nation's highest military award, the Medal of Honor.

In a telephone interview Wednesday, Benavidez says when the medal is pinned on his dress jacket by President Ronald Reagan, there will be many men standing with him but "they will be there in spirit because they died that day while I survived."

Benavidez said from now on he "will then try to spend the rest of my life teaching youths the meaning of love, honor, and service to their country."

"I want those young educated men, those who have attended college, to consider the military as their future. What is wrong with serving your nation and seeing how other parts of this nation and of the world lives." Benavidez, 45, and retired from the service, received the military's second highest award for wartime valor, the Distinguished Service Cross, but the Joint Chiefs of Staff turned him down for the Medal of Honor, saying there was insufficient evidence of his "conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity in action at the risk of his life above and beyond the call of duty," the century-old standard for the citation.

Within the past year, a new witness to his heroism told his story to the Army and the case was reopened.

The sergeant said the lone survivor who had witnessed all of his action during the encounter had also been badly hurt and for several years has lived in the islands of the South Pacific.

"It was not easy to reach him to confirm what had happened, but he came to the United States and told of what he saw," Benavidez said.

Benavidez said he does not blame the Army for the long delay in receiving the award for his actions against North Vietnamese troops near Loc Ninh on May 2, 1968.

"I am glad it is all over," he said, "and it took some time. But you must understand that the Army must have confirmation. They must fit all the blocks together before awarding the medal. This they did."

The former master sergeant said, "I just want to teach kids that quitters never win, and winners never quit."

Benavidez never quit during that jungle encounter.

The Medal of Honor citation states that Benavidez volunteered to fly from the relative safety of his forward headquarters to help evacuate a 12-man Green Beret team that had sustained heavy casualties in a clash with North Vietnamese.

Benavidez brought the wounded to a helicopter and, according to the citation, "he was clubbed from behind by an enemy soldier" but killed the man in hand-to-hand combat and continued to help the wounded.

The citation added, "with little strength remaining, he made one last trip to the primeter to ensure that all classified material had been collected or destroyed and to bring in the remaining wounded. Only then, in extremely serious condition from numerous wounds and loss of blood, did he allow himself to be pulled into the extraction aircraft."

He said now during parades or sports events, "I am troubled to see "so many people refuse to stand up when the flag went past. They sit there with a hat on, a beer in one hand, and chewing away on popcorn. What kind of example is that to their children?"

"I don't know. We must convince the children to love their country, but maybe we have to convince their parents first."

He said, "everyone should visit a Veteran's Administration hospital at least once and see what I see."

"I came up in the tough school of education. I learned my lessons back of the barracks. Now let us get as many of the young educated youths into the service as possible. We need them."

No agreement reached on 'money questions' in suit against prisons

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A proposed agreement worked out by the state and lawyers for inmates who sued the prison system does not answer some of the bigger — and most expensive — questions about the way Texas punishes criminals.

Attorney General Mark White said Wednesday the proposed agreement, in the mail to a federal judge, who could veto it.

The agreement includes proposals to improve health care in the 30,000-inmate Texas Department of Corrections. There also are plans to improve solitary confinement procedures, work safety and care of handicapped inmates.

"This largely eliminates most of the emotional issues," White said at a news conference.

However, he acknowledged the proposal does not mention the "serious hard-money questions," including how many prisoners should be in a cell, how big cells should be, and where prisons should be built.

The civil rights suit was filed in 1972 by inmates who claimed their rights were being violated. U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice's opinion, issued in December, ruled in favor of the prisoners.

Lawyers for the state, the inmates and the U.S. Justice Department, which intervened on the prisoners' behalf, attempted to agree on ways to deal with conditions Justice said violated prisoners' constitutional rights.

The agreement reached on medical care was based largely on improvements already underway, including the construction of a prison hospital in Galveston. White said the hospital would give TDC the best prison health care in the nation, and would be the only such facility accredited by the American Medical Association.

The proposed agreement says TDC would prepare by June 1 a plan "which will assure that prisoners receive necessary medical, dental and psychiatric care from the moment of their arrival in TDC." White said the plan would prohibit prisoners from giving medical treatment to other inmates, a practice condemned by Justice. TDC is asking the Legislature for money to hire 278 medical assistants.

Trial testimony included horror stories about prisoners dying because of poor medical care administered by inmates.

There also was testimony about prisoners who died after TDC personnel took away medicine the inmates brought to the prison. The agreement says, "No prisoner who arrives with medication and a prescription therefor will be deprived of that medication until a licensed physician has examined him and made a medical determination regarding...that medicine."

Until AMA accredits the TDC facilities, the department would file reports with the court every four months, if the agreement is approved.

Mentally retarded and physically handicapped prisoners would get special attention under the agreement which promises TDC "will provide all special needs prisoners with adequate medical care, adequate living facilities and working conditions, fair discipline, and protection from other prisoners."

Guidelines for solitary confinement would be revised to assure no inmate could spend more than 15 days in solitary without a hearing. Consecutive stints in solitary could only be ordered for "totally separate incidents."

Inmates in solitary would get the same meals served other prisoners, instead of "reduced rations," White said.

There also are safeguards to protect prisoners from chemicals used at prisons, and to protect them at their prison jobs.

White said the proposed agreement "largely eliminates most of the emotional issues."

"It should satisfy and set to rest the concerns about health care," he said. The state probably will appeal at least parts of Justice's final order, which has not been issued, White said.

The state and the plaintiffs could not reach an accord on overcrowding — one of the main problems mentioned by Justice.

The Justice Department wants one inmate per cell. Some TDC units now have three prisoners per cell, with one sleeping on the floor.

Gov. Bill Clements wants $35 million to build new units by November. TDC also has selected a Grimes County site for a new prison. Other new prisons are being considered.

White said three inmates per cell is too crowded, but the state would never agree to one inmate per cell.

"We don't feel like the Constitution compels private cells for a prisoner," White said.

He said selection of prison sites is a "policy decision" out of the realm of the courts. Justice criticized TDC for building large, rural prisons.

Ex-hostage Royer donates mementos

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — While William Royer was looking for somewhere to store the greetings sent to his Houston home while he was a hostage in Iran, a college friend already had an idea in mind.

Royer and Mary Pound got together on the idea after Royer came home. On Wednesday the ex-hostage pulled up to a University of Texas library with a Cadillac loaded with the souvenirs. Mrs. Pound works at the library.

"There'll have to be some sorting out," Royer warned Don Carleton of the Barker Texas History Center as they unloaded the car.

The trunk contained the good wishes — mostly homemade — of a nation.

"I'm very happy to find a home for many of the inspired and creative items citizens all around the United States, primarily Houston," sent to his Houston home, Royer said. The collection, which will be put on public display, includes hand-lettered cards from elementary school students, huge banners signed by entire high school student bodies, a Christmas card from the city of Birmingham, Ala., and a flag that had flown over a Houston home during the 44-day ordeal.

Mrs. Pound said she met Royer when he worked at a university bookstore when they both were students. Royer got his degree from UT in 1961.

Carleton said the library's collection of hostage mementos is the first such effort in the nation. He said he hoped the items given by Royer would spark donations from other former hostages.

The International Communications Agency employee said the collection is for "some enterprising history major" in the future to look through. He said the items mailed to him show the "revival of patriotism and all that."

The trunkload he unloaded Wednesday was only part of the collection, he said. Royer plans to go back to work in Washington by mid-April.

Brothel controversy going to court

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A monthly newspaper has opened a second front in its bitter and controversial battle to publish a "trick list" of 3,000 men who were alleged patrons of a longtime San Antonio brothel.

State District Judge James Onion, who issued a temporary restraining order forbidding columnist Armandina Saldivar and the non-profit "El Pueblo" newspaper from publishing the names, scheduled a hearing today to determine if a permanent injunction should be granted.

However, Mrs. Saldivar expanded the legal spat Wednesday, filing a $7.5 million slander suit against attorneys representing alleged brothel madam Theresa Brown and asking a federal court to rule the state judge had violated her right to freedom of the press.

Mrs. Saldivar contends in her suit that she was branded "a thief" by the attorneys who claim she came into possession of the list illegally and that the Ms. Brown's attorneys were attempting to us state courts to infringe on her First Amendment rights.

The suit also named Onion and the State of Texas as defendants and asked the federal court to intervene to uphold Mrs. Saldivar's right to publish the reputed "trick list" allegedly given to Mrs. Saldivar by Ms. Brown, whose Oct. 2 arrest started the controversy.

Mrs. Saldivar contends that the names of some of the city's top politicians, judges, school board members, journalists and businessmen appear on the list along with the price they paid, their sexual proclivities and who recommended them.

The controversy over the "trick list" appeared finished two weeks ago when Ms. Brown pleaded no contest and was found guilty of aggravated promotion of prostitution in a plea bargain agreement. But she fired her attorney later and hired another lawyer who is attempting to withdraw the plea and try the case before a jury.

After that, Mrs. Saldivar announced her intentions to publish the list of names, beginning the controversy anew.

Mrs. Saldivar said at a news conference Wednesday that the list, which she is seeking to copyright, detailed the kinky sexual practices of some of the customers.

"Some of them paid $35 just to kiss toes," Mrs. Saldivar said in describing the type of information on the volatile list. "We have some abnormal sexual tendencies."

However, Mrs. Saldivar said the newspaper, for which she writes an anti-establishment column, intended to publish only the names and not the attached sexual information. They said the paper's intention was to publicize an alleged "double standard" of justice administered and supported by influential men who break the prostitution laws.

"I will mention some of the sadistic and masochistic tendencies, but I will use no names in my column," she said.

For eight days Mrs. Saldivar eluded process servers trying to deliver Onion's restraining order, but a Bexar County deputy sheriff caught up with her at the news conference outside the federal building Wednesday.

When Mrs. Saldivar refused to accept the document, the process server threw the court order at her feet and said, "you have been served."

Mrs. Saldivar and other staff members of "El Pueblo" have alleged they were threatened and offered money and jobs by unidentified men attempting to stop publication of the names.

The squabble has raged off and on since vice squad officers raided Ms. Brown's house, an alleged prostitution operation for 16 years, and seized the alleged "trick list" on Oct. 2.

Mistrial ruling in capital murder case remains mystery

By CAROL HART
A gag order by retired District Judge Ralph Caton, and the judge's refusal to discuss details in the case left many people wondering why a mistrial was called in the capital murder trial of Victor Carrasco Velasquez.
But Howard County District Attorney Rick Hamby, who is one of the lawyers representing the prosecution in the case, said he expected facts substantiating the decision should be cleared up by this afternoon. Hamby could not further discuss the case due to the gag order.
A motion for a mistrial was agreed to Tuesday by both defense and prosecuting attorneys. John R. Lee, Kermit, and R. "Sandy" Torres, Midland, represent the defense. Glen Williamson, Andrews, and Hamby represent the prosecution.

Two jurors had been selected to hear the case as of Tuesday afternoon, prior to the motion for a mistrial. Jury selection had been expected to last a week in the case prior to the mistrial announcement. Those two jurors already selected were dismissed, as was the rest of the panel.
The trial was originally moved to Big Spring's 118th District Court on a change of venue motion from Winkler County. The trial was moved because of extensive publicity in the Kermit area.
Velasquez, 19, was indicted by a Winkler County grand jury Dec. 9 on two counts of capital murder in connection with the Nov. 15 stabbing deaths of 51-year-old Jeannie Marie Pardue, and her daughter, Lee Ann Wallace, 15.

The state alleged that Velasquez was attempting to commit rape when the Wallace murder occurred.
Velasquez was also indicted on a charge of attempted capital murder in connection with the stabbing of Molly Ann Wallace, who survived the attack. Ms. Wallace was Mrs. Pardue's daughter-in-law.
Hamby said that no formal plea had been entered by Velasquez on either the two capital murder charges, or the attempted capital murder charge.

Bill to register foreign land ownership criticized

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A bill requiring disclosure of foreign investment in Texas agricultural land has received a chilly reception from a Texas House committee.
The bill, sponsored by Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, would impose a $10,000 fine if foreigners did not provide county clerks and the state secretary of agriculture with the location, size, and purchase price of farm or ranch land.
The House State Affairs Committee Monday night referred it to a subcommittee to be named later.

Representatives of the American Agriculture Movement, Texas Farmers Union, Texas Farm Bureau and Independent Cattlemen's Association testified in favor of the bill.
Testifying against it were representatives of the Dallas Chamber of Commerce, American Petrofina, Texas Association of Realtors and Shell Oil.
The bill was needed because foreign purchases of Texas land are increasing and existing federal registration requirements are inadequate, Kubiak said.
"We need to see what danger we're in (because of foreign investment)," Kubiak told the committee.
Committee members repeatedly asked the bill's supporters to state exactly what the threat of foreign ownership was.
"We can't take even the smallest chance with such a precious commodity as our food supply," said Calvin Allison of the American Agriculture Movement. "We could find ourselves tenants in our own land."

"If there were a crisis in our food supply, don't you think the government would react?" asked Elton Bomer, D-Montalba.

JAMES W. SHAW

Exxon employee retirement told

James W. Shaw of Big Spring, who was assigned as an operator for the Exxon Company in the Mid-continent Production Division, Midland District, Howard Glasscock Field, retired Feb. 1.
Shaw worked in the Forsan area.
Since joining the company in 1946 as a roustabout in McCamey, his assignments have continued in various other West Texas production field locations. He transferred to Forsan in 1959.
Shaw grew up in Burk Burnett. He and Mrs. Shaw will continue to make their home in Big Spring.
He will receive his retirement awards at a dinner planned in his honor.

Older SS retirement plans opposed by commissioners

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two former Social Security commissioners told Congress today they oppose any effort to raise to 68 the age at which workers could retire and receive full retirement benefits in the next century.
The higher retirement age has been suggested as a way to help rescue the main Social Security trust fund, which pays retirement benefits. That fund, one of three that make up the Social Security system, is expected to run short of cash as early as next year.
Robert M. Ball, who was Social Security commissioner from 1962 to 1973, said raising the age for full retirement benefits from 65 to 68 "is simply another way of cutting benefits."

Phasing out the benefits for college students and the minimum benefit, and eliminating the burial payment benefit.
"Limiting the amount of payroll taxes that would finance the system and use some general revenues."
"This significantly reduces the value of the protection that young workers are now paying for. There would be many people who could not get jobs or keep jobs after 65 who would be forced to take the lower benefits," he told the House Subcommittee on Social Security, which is holding three days of hearings on financing the system.
William J. Driver, who just stepped down as commissioner, argued that "the

Uncle Sam tells about cars

Associated Press Writer
The federal government is trying to tell Americans everything they've ever wanted to know about automobiles with a 68-page guide called "The Car Book" that has become an instant hit with consumers.
Critics, including some industry sources, charge that the publication — now in its second printing — is inaccurate and unfair, particularly in its safety ratings.
The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration prepared the guide and defends it. Bob Boaz, a spokesman for the agency, said the book is designed to show that there ARE differences among various makes and models. It is designed to show, he said, that there ARE cars on the market today that combine safety and good mileage. "The choice between safety and fuel economy is not one that the consumer should have to make," Boaz said.

Critics of "The Car Book" say that the safety tests used were too limited because they involved only one type of crash, in which a car is driven, head-on, at a speed of 35 mph, into a concrete bar. The critics also say that the flat "pass-fail" rating system used to grade the cars is unfair.

Boaz said "pass-fail" grades are not meant as a complete safety rating. They are simply intended to show comparative performance. He said the head-on crash test was used as a standard for testing because it is a common type of accident. He said more than 60 percent of crashes involve a front-end collision of some type. "The Car Book" says that 55 percent of deaths and serious injuries occur in frontal crashes.

The publication is available at no charge from the Consumer Information Center, Pueblo, Colo., 81009. It includes information on domestic and imported automobiles in the categories of safety, fuel economy, maintenance and repair costs and insurance fees.
"The Car Book" appeared early in December. Two weeks later, all available copies — 450,000 of them — had been ordered, according to the Consumer Information Center.

Transition to parenthood is normal time of stress

By JANET ROGERS
Extension Agent
What is cute, cuddly, lovable and fragrant? A baby — some of the time! First-time parents will feel that way about their new baby — some of the time. Other times may be full of stresses, and that is normal.
Passing from the non-parental state to the parental state is a transition period, and, as such, it will have "ups" and "downs." This transition can be easier when parents prepare themselves for the changes they will face, including an awareness of different ways to cope with the changes.

though, stresses are normal and they can be handled. Parents can more easily handle the stresses, and cope successfully, if they are prepared for them.
Finally, remember that coping with the arrival of the new baby and the first few months is only the beginning.

The first month or so after the baby's birth is often a "honeymoon" period for the family. By the time the child is eight months old, however, the parents have become far more aware of the tremendous impact that having a child has on their relationship.

AFL-CIO hopes to improve GOP relations

BAL HARBOUR, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO President Lane Kirkland, urging labor leaders to come to grips with the conservative mood of the country, says opposition to the Reagan administration's proposed budget cuts should not erupt into political warfare.

Kirkland and the 35-member executive council of the labor federation expressed broad disagreement Monday with the administration's developing economic policy, but the AFL-CIO chief said, "I recognize the facts of life. I recognize that fiscal conservatism is dominant today, and there will be a major effort to make large-scale slashes in the federal government."

Following an executive council meeting with Senate Majority Leader Howard Baker of Tennessee, Kirkland said — as he has in the past — that organized labor shouldn't stake all its hopes on one political party.

"The American trade union movement is not conditioned or premised on who's in the White House or who's in Congress," he told a news conference in this Florida resort city. "We had our differences with the prior administration ... and we have had presidents in the White House who did not share our philosophy nor were overwhelmed with warmth about our role in society."

Kirkland's remarks came as the AFL-CIO's political action committee studied ways to improve the lobbying clout of the 14 million-member federation, which has seen its influence wane since last November's election.

"We're going to endure," Kirkland said. "We're going to thrive. We're going to survive."

Kirkland said he believes the organization has "abundant opportunities to tend to our trade union garden and prepare for the battles to come. If we depended on the outcome of an election for our survival."

Be aware that a new child generally places some degree of stress on the parents and their marriage. More stress is usually felt by the first-time mother than by the father. Remember, the transition is easier if acceptance. Accept the fact that you may have good and bad feelings toward the new baby — and accept the fact that this is normal. Also, accept the fact that much of a smooth transition is up to you as parents. How you handle your feelings is what really matters. Discuss your expectations, your own as individuals and each other's. This will be especially beneficial to first-time fathers.

Senate votes to raise drinking age one year

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Senate has voted to make teen-agers wait an extra year to buy booze or beer in an attempt to cut down on high school drinking.

Senators voted 26-2 Monday to raise the legal drinking age from 18 to 19. They refused to make an exception for 18-year-old military personnel, who can still drink on base.

"I think your motives are noble, but I think the bill may be unconstitutional," Sen. Carl Parker told the sponsor of the proposal, Sen. Bill Sarpalius.

Parker, D-Port Arthur, predicted "some smart lawyer is going to come in and have this (bill) declared unconstitutional."

"That may be," replied Sarpalius, D-Herford.

The passage of Sarpalius' bill nipped Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston, who admonished him not to "horn in" on legislation that other senators have worked years to develop.

Mengden, a senator since 1973, told the freshman Sarpalius that Mengden's bill raising the drinking age to 19 was approved by the Senate in 1979 after he had spent 18 months on it. The same bill was on the Senate agenda Monday, but Mengden did not attempt to bring it up after the Senate approved Sarpalius' measure.

If approved by the House, the Sarpalius bill would leave only 10 states with a legal drinking age as low as 18.

Texas' drinking age was lowered from 21 to 18 in 1973 when the Legislature voted to endow 18-year-olds with full adult rights.

Parker asked if under Sarpalius' bill an 18-year-old "go-go" dancer "bare as a yard dog" could sell drinks between dances although she could not drink herself.

"That's right," said Sarpalius.

Similarly, an 18-year-old could work in a package store selling whiskey and beer.

Sarpalius said the bill would prohibit anyone under 19 from holding a license to own a liquor store. Otherwise, he said, "There would be nothing to keep an 18-year-old from buying a liquor store and selling to his friends."

A bill summary stated that raising the drinking age by one year would be important because a smaller percentage of high school students are 19.

Committee testimony disclosed there is more drinking at high school events, and some students even return from lunch under the influence of alcohol and throw up or fall asleep in class. Also, witnesses said, 18-year-olds are buying alcoholic beverages for younger classmates.

Sen. Bob Vale, D-San Antonio, asked Sarpalius if he would accept an amendment exempting military personnel off base, but Sarpalius said, "I don't think there are that many 18-year-olds in the military."

Only Sens. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, and Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, voted against the bill on final passage, although Parker voted against bringing the bill before the Senate.

Senators voted 26-2 Monday to raise the legal drinking age from 18 to 19.

Senator says teachers can't afford insurance

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas public school teachers cannot afford health insurance premiums and need help from the state, the Senate Economics Development Committee was told Monday.

Four bills proposing state funding of group health insurance for teachers were sent to a subcommittee Monday in an effort to recommend one compromise bill for Senate debate. Similar bills are pending in the House.

"We all agree that teachers need an insurance program," said Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, author of one proposal. "We all agree that any plan should have freedom of choice, where a teacher could belong or not and that local schools could keep their present programs if they wish."

He said the state already has a plan established six years ago for state employees and a second plan set up four years ago for state college teachers.

Traeger's plan to set up the teachers' group insurance plan statewide with administration by the Teachers Retirement System drew support from the Texas State Teachers Association.

Twenty-six students asked to join Phi Theta Kappa Twenty-six Howard College students have been invited to become members of Phi Theta Kappa, Iota Beta Chapter, at Howard College, according to Mrs. Susan King, English instructor at Howard College.

Those invited to become members are: Sandra Kuykendall, Linda R. Mitchell, Alice Munoz, Nicholas Brown, Bryan Lewis, Toni D. Myrick, Frankie Noyola, Adrian Ormelas, Jerry Bennett, Rocky Bryant, Roxanne Daniell and David Finley.

Others are James W. Franklin, Cindy Knight, Timothy Lelek, Richard Mound, Jara Ernest, Melissa R. Baker, Gary Hernandez, Tresa Hohertz, Ronald D. Sundry, Tammy Burgess, Dennis Grandon, Weldon Nichols, Karen Spears and Carrie Lee Lutrick.

"We have asked these students to meet with our organization in a get-acquainted session so that we might get to know them better and they may become more familiar with our chapter," said Mrs. King.

The session will be held at 9:45 a.m., Wednesday in the Tumbleweed Room. Initiation dues for Phi Theta Kappa are $17, which includes $15 for national dues and $2 for the first year local dues. Dues will not be collected at the get-acquainted session.

Phi Theta Kappa was founded in 1918 at the Missouri Junior College to recognize the intellectual achievement of college students and to promote scholarships in American colleges.

Members chosen for this honor comprise the upper ten percent of the total college enrollment and are judged according to good moral character, good citizenship qualities and proven scholarship, said King.

The organization will hold its initiation meeting Feb. 22 at 3 p.m. in the Tumbleweed Room. Dr. Charles Hays, president of Howard College, will be the guest speaker.

House committee considers extending power of PUC

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Public Utility Commission would have the power to get a receiver to run a water or sewer utility that violates a PUC order under provisions of a Texas house bill referred to a subcommittee.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Gene Green, D-Houston, was introduced to solve the problems of Harris County residents served by Peoples National Utility Co., Inc., a water company, and Gulf Water Co., a small sewage disposal utility. It was referred to a subcommittee Monday night.

PUC and local residents had no recourse when the companies, which serve the communities of Colonial Hills and Greenwood Village, refused to obey PUC rate rulings, witnesses said.

Ronald Knight of the attorney general's energy division told the House State Affairs Committee that Peoples was not properly disinfecting drinking water, Gulf was not treating sewage, and the companies tolerated grossly unsanitary conditions.

Knight said residents are frequently without water or sewage disposal service, but are billed anyway. "These people may be the last of the robber barons," Green told the committee. "They are so immune to the public welfare it's unbelievable."

Morris Robertson, sons want to please public

With all of the ice on the roads this year, it's all too easy to put a nice big dent in your car or truck. If that has happened to you, or if you think you need a new paint job on that not-so-new automobile, Morris Robertson is the person you need to see.

Morris Robertson Body Shop has the experienced people to do the job you need. They are a family business and have been in Big Spring since 1946.

Morris and his sons take a great deal of pride in the professional work they do. The residents of Big Spring and the surrounding area know they can trust the Robertsons. They are not out to take the public, they are in the business to please the public. And they please the public by turning out the best work at the most reasonable prices.

They are very open and honest with the way they deal with customers, and have no desire to make a little extra money by taking advantage of someone in need.

Morris Robertson Body Shop offers complete body work facilities. They can do radiator work, body work and can mend the broken glass and straighten the frame on your car. Morris Robertson and sons open their doors at 7:30 every Monday through Friday morning and close the doors at 5:30 p.m.

With all of this cold, wet weather we've been having, even the most cautious of drivers can make a big mess of his or her car. If you find yourself looking for quality body work, and want a business that takes pride in their work, look no further than Morris Robertson's Body Shop, located at 207 Goliad. They are here to stay, and they are here to please.

Big Spring Employment puts right person in job

Success in finding a job or in finding the right person to fill a position is better assured by calling a professional employment service such as Big Spring Employment Agency, located in the Coronado Plaza.

Finding the right person for the right job is the duty of Mrs. Sue Brown and Mrs. Rubi Taroni, the experienced personnel counselors at Big Spring Employment.

Each employer has the right to demand the person best qualified for the job, considering the requirements for the work, the salary to be offered and the availability of applicants. With this in mind, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Taroni carefully evaluate each applicant so employers do not waste time interviewing persons not qualified for the job opening. The agency refers only those who measure up to the job's requirements.

Thus, fewer rejections plague the employer or the applicant. The employer sees fewer applicants, and fewer rejections make for better public relations. There is also a smaller personnel turnover, and the efficiency of employees tends to rise.

Many highly qualified job applicants prefer to use the services of a private employment agency, thus protecting their own iden-

ity. Big Spring Employment carries on an extensive testing program in the area of office skills, exposing applicants to personnel tests in business and industrial situations.

Both the employment counselors and the employers may refer to these tests as an indicator of future possibilities.

All services are handled on a confidential basis. From the minimum-wage clerk to the highly-paid executive, job applicants come to Big Spring Employment because they know private agencies are specialists in job-hunting and can, because of experience and contacts, place them in desirable jobs sooner than they can locate jobs themselves.

Applicants desiring employment in other parts of the state or country can be referred for interviews through associated agencies.

Eastern Brass Quintet to perform in Big Spring Thursday

One of the most unusual and musically satisfying events to be presented in Big Spring, Texas is scheduled for the 1980-81 season, it was announced today by The Big Spring Community Concert Association. On Thursday, Feb. 19 at 8:15 p.m. in the Municipal Auditorium the Eastern Brass Quintet will perform the kind of concert program which has brought these artists increasingly wide popularity in this country since the Quintet first banded together in 1970.

Popular attraction on any concert series, the quintet has been considered the best of its kind now appearing before concertgoers. The group consists of Richard Green and William Wich, trumpets, Robert Fanning, trombone, Charles Baxter, horn and Stephen Ross, tuba.

About one of their recordings, High Fidelity Magazine declared — "that these five talented and exuberant young men feature genuine bravura, as well as zestful playing." Of one concert the Louisville Courier-Journal stated: "They made a spectacular Louisville debut in a program that held its audience entranced."

Lexington's Herald-Leader called the artists

"five major talents forming an ensemble of major importance." It was the Portsmouth Herald which best summed up the quintet's talents: "Each player is a virtuoso in every sense of the word, and together they achieved that exalted level of perfection in ensemble playing which has been for years the prerogative of the string quartet."

In a Sunday feature article of The New York Times of October 9, 1977, critic Robert Sherman declared: "I would rank the Eastern Brass Quintet with the top brass ensembles in this country today." During the 1977-78 season, its first under the aegis of Columbia Artists

THE EASTERN BRASS QUINTET performing at Municipal Auditorium Thursday at 8:15 p.m.

Bach's writing and the intricate revelations of individual line that the five young artists were able to recreate blossomed into a moving musical performance of remarkable skill and sensitivity."

Commenting on other program items with equal spirit, the review concluded: "The four Ives pieces included on the program were breezy comments on every day (20th century) happenings, mixed with robust touches of Ives' sarcasm. Terrific!"

Such versatility is an important factor in the artists' consistent success wherever they play. The works they perform are stylistically varied and range from the Renaissance to the Contemporary eras of music history. The concerts they offer have been called "musical banquets" which reflect their keen sense of programming and their painstaking scholarship.

Although composers of different periods have created many works for brass quintet, these young artists have supplemented availability with their own special arrangements of works originally composed for other instrumental combinations. The results have been programs of exceptional merit.

Since 1970 the quintet's performance record has grown prodigiously: over six hundred educational performances, radio and television appearances, a touring schedule of concerts and university residencies from coast-to-coast. By the end of the 1978-79 season there were a grand total of more than 1,000 performances. Sold-out coast-to-coast tours during the 1979-80 and 1980-81 season conform this quintet's continuing popularity.

The quintet's dedication to the realm of music education and its experience and expertise in conducting clinics and residency programs in many major universities has brought an impressive demand for the group's talents in this area. To this aspect of the artists' careers must be added the fact that when not touring they serve as Artists-in-Residence at the University of Connecticut in Storrs, and as members of the New Haven Symphony Orchestra.

The quintet's activities in December 1976 were typical of their "in demand" schedule. On Tuesday evening, Dec. 21, the group performed a program of Christmas music for President and Mrs. Ford and their guests. The ensemble's participation continued a long White House tradition—the National Christmas Tree Lighting Ceremony.

Dec. 17th found the Eastern Brass Quintet appearing on a two-hour live WQXR New York broadcast with Robert Sherman. At Town Hall on the following Sunday the ensemble offered another concert of Christmas music in a program that included the instrumental duo — Toccatas and Flourishes.

As their artistry onstage presents a remarkable oneness of purpose, these young men have become inseparable in their offstage lives. With the exception of Stephen Ross, the members have been together from the beginning, and leisure hours with their families are matters shared mutually. Their sense of ensemble is indeed complete.

The completeness extends to touring. Stories of musicians who stay in separate hotels while on tour do not apply to the Eastern Brass Quintet. "They travel in a large Chinook Motor Home which sleeps six, and in their case familiarity does not breed contempt," the New Haven Register recently informed readers. When not rehearsing they do not discuss their work, or even music in general. On tour they discuss athletics, since each is a sports fan. Card playing consumes some time, and each artist enjoys reading.

Perhaps it is their conscious divergence away from music that contributes the freshness to their every performance. The excitement one feels when listening to the beautiful sound of this ensemble has brought the Eastern Brass Quintet its well-deserved success.

Police Beat Pot arrests reported

Three local men were arrested on suspicion of possessing a small amount of marijuana, 8:40 p.m. Tuesday, but two of them were later released.

Bearing a search warrant, members of the local Major Crime Task Force arrested the three men in a trailer on Harding on suspicion of possessing under two ounces of marijuana. Charges against two suspects were later dropped, and they were released, but an 18-year-old man still faces misdemeanor charges in connection with the incident.

Another local man was arrested, noon Tuesday, at a Main Street residence on the same charge.

Burglars have taken their toll at the Bill Hanson Trucking Company, 1610 E. 3rd, within the last two months. Stolen were a motor for an air compressor, a torque wrench and several transmission parts. Loss was estimated at $1,050.

Sometime within the last two weeks, thieves lifted an eight-foot aluminum ladder from a workshop belonging to Boyd Bryans, 1222 E. 15th. The ladder was valued at $35.

While Dorothy Blevina, 1401 Virginia, was fishing off the dock at Moss Creek Lake, Tuesday afternoon, thieves stole $12 cash and a gold and diamond watch from her purse. Loss was estimated at $612.

Burglars broke through a window in the apartment of Pearly Mae Lister, 902 N.W. 3rd, between 8 and 9:45 p.m. Tuesday. Stolen were $106 worth of food stamps, a bottle of perfume, four pork chops, a ham and numerous canned goods. Total loss was estimated at $204.

Officials at the Scenic Mountain State Park reported that four car batteries were stolen from a storage room on top of the mountain. Cost of the batteries has not been estimated.

Management, the quintet toured from coast to coast. Enthusiastic reviews and the audience praise with which the members were met in city after city echo the opinion of Robert Sherman.

Typical were the remarks of the Nevada State Journal's critic, Jack Neal: "Brass instruments offer some of the most long-lived historic sounds in the musical repertoire. The Eastern Brass Quintet hits a wide-ranging spectrum of that tradition in an extraordinarily versatile program that was at once satisfying, enlightening, stunningly bright and very droll. The majestic sweep of

Three seeking sheriff's job

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Three persons have applied for the job of Mitchell County sheriff, anticipating the resubmitting of the resignation of current sheriff Bill McGuire.

County Judge Bill Carter says names of the three will not be announced but all officially applications for the expected vacancy.

Three additional persons have expressed interests in the sheriff's job, but at this time have not applied.

McGuire had planned to step down April 1 in order to devote his full energies to his family cattle business, but when it was learned his resignation would have been effective immediately the letter was withdrawn. By law, the county commissioners will appoint a replacement, but by law that replacement only can serve until the next general election in November 1982. At that time, any legally qualified candidates can throw his hat in the proverbial ring with hopes of being elected to serve out the remainder of McGuire's elective term through 1984.

No date has been set to name a new sheriff in that technically Sheriff McGuire hasn't resigned and isn't expected to until March 1.

Potton House on TV Feb. 28

The Potton House, a Big Spring landmark, will be featured on "The Eyes of Texas" at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 28 on Channel 2.

The show will be aired again March 7, according to Polly Mays, who talked to Gary James Tidwell. Tidwell is a former Big Springer who is now associated with the syndicated television show as co-producer.

Bill Murray says mother loves nothing but money

HOUSTON (AP) — Atheist leader Madalyn Murray O'Hair claims she is poverty-stricken but is actually in love with money, said her son, William Murray.

Mrs. O'Hair has a new $300,000 home in Austin but does not want her supporters or media representatives to see it, said Murray. He also said she recently wrote that she is an anarchist but accepted funds last year from the Travis County Republican Party for processing GOP material at her American Atheist Center.

"Madalyn Murray does not believe in atheism," he said Tuesday. "She does not believe in anything whatsoever other than money."

Murray said Ms. O'Hair simply cannot accept his 1979 conversion to Christianity. He now leads the Houston-based Murray Faith Foundation.

An objective of the foundation, he said, is to correct things he and his mother instituted through the American Atheist Association. He says he wants to convince Americans that atheism is a misdirected, ill-founded religion.

On Tuesday, Murray distributed a prepared statement he said was prompted by Austin news stories quoting Ms. O'Hair as saying recently she had moved from her home of 15 years because "We had busloads of choir singers singing hymns on our lawn."

"The news conference was called to explain to her employees and supporters why she would not invite anyone to her new home in Austin," Murray said. "She will not even have those at her home who helped to pay for it with contributions to her tax exempt corporation."

She does not want her supporters or the press to see her home, he said, "because of its size and cost."

"The house located in northwest Austin cost over $300,000," he said. "It is one of the largest homes in the most affluent section of Austin. Madalyn Murray O'Hair continues to swear she is in poverty. The home mentioned above has two Cadillacs parked in front of it."

Murray said Ms. O'Hair has sworn she cannot pay legal fees in a pending criminal case but has received Social Security and Veterans Administration benefits.

Two instructors at HC will relocate in May

All instructors now on the Howard College staff will be offered contracts for the 1981-82 schools with the exception of two people, who have already indicated they will relocate after classes terminate in May.

Steve Lacy, director of the Journalism Department at the college, plans to return to college to seek his doctorate. Cynthia Hughes, affiliated with the college's nursing program, has accepted a teaching job in Abilene.

The board of trustees, meeting in regular session Tuesday, voted to rehire all the instructors on recommendation of Dr. Charles Hays, college president.

The trustees also voted to give Dr. Douglas Burke, executive director of Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, a $1,000 a year raise, retroactive to Jan. 1. Dr. Burke's contract will likely be extended and embellished prior to the September school term.

The board approved an offer made by Feagan Implement Company to purchase a used tractor for $8,700, which will be used on farming acreage maintained by the college.

Trustees, in addition, conditionally approved the purchase of filing cabinets from an Adirondack, N.Y., manufacturing firm at a cost of $2,179 after trustee Harold David recommended that the equipment be closely inspected upon its arrival here.

Davis also asked if a complete financial audit of college books was necessary any more often than every three years, pointing out that expenses for the audit, when added all together, might approach $25,000.

Mike Bruner, the school's business manager, was instructed to study the feasibility of holding only partial audits two of every three years.

The food service maintained by the college was roundly applauded by the trustees, who get an occasional taste of the school's cuisine. Dr. Hays said this was the first year in his experience that he had received no complaints about the tastiness and the kind of food offered in the school cafeteria.

Several revisions in the school catalog were approved by the trustees on recommendation by Cheri Sparks, dean of students.

Chrysler hopes for word today

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler Corp. trying to persuade its lenders to go along with massive loan concessions, was waiting today to hear whether the Canadian government has pledged more loan guarantees than United States authorities were counting on.

Centennial goal topped

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Mitchell County Centennial Committee has gone over the top in its drive to raise $15,000. Finance committee chairman Mrs. Charles Thompson says the effort now has grown to a total of $15,847.

Initially, the committee faced raising a minimum of $10,000 but set a goal of $15,000 and come close to $20,000. Mrs. Thompson reiterated her appreciation to all workers on the Finance Committee who gave their time and contribution in addition to each person and business contributing to the effort.

Additionally, Mrs. Thompson indicated several oil companies and other industries have voiced their interest in the local centennial plans and a higher goal may well be achieved before final efforts are through.

Forsan trustees accept Silver Heels petition

In its regularly scheduled monthly meeting Monday night, the Forsan school board accepted a petition from a group of residents in Section 19 of the Silver Heels area which, in effect, is seeking separation from the Big Spring School District and annexation to the Forsan district.

The Forsan trustees acted favorably to the petitioners' request. Section 19, with the exception of some 30 acres, was detached from the Forsan ISD in 1961 by a petition to the County School Board and annexed by the Big Spring ISD.

Lynn Hise, Big Spring superintendent of schools, said that he and members of the Big Spring school board had been informed of the petition and planned no move to contest it. Since 1961, school boundary lines have been the cause of much confusion and occasional hard feelings. The petitioners must next meet with Howard County commissioners for action regarding their request. Big Spring school officials say they see no reason why it shouldn't be approved.

In other action the board renewed the contracts of Jack Woodley, junior and senior high Principal; George White, assistant junior and senior high principal; and Bill Cregar, elementary principal, through June 30. The board had previously extended the contract of J.F. Poyner, superintendent, through June 30, 1984.

Drivers Education will again be offered by the school district with the classroom phase beginning in March in the afternoons after school with the lab or driving done this summer. The fee charged students will remain at $20, unchanged for the past 14 years.

The 1981-1982 school calendar was adopted. In-service for teachers will begin Aug. 17, with classes beginning Aug. 24. The normal holidays will be observed for Labor Day and Thanksgiving. School will dismiss on Dec. 18 and resume Jan. 4. A spring break will begin March 5 at 2:30 p.m., with classes to resume March 15.

Students and teachers will also get a break at Easter with students being out Wednesday, April 7, at 2:30 p.m. and teachers April 8 at 3 p.m. Classes will resume Tuesday, April 13.

Dear Abby

Wayward Mother and Child Find Refuge of Love

DEAR READERS: In my mail this morning was a picture of a beautiful newborn baby boy. I'm sorry I can't share it with you, but I can share the letter that accompanied it:

DEAR ABBY: I'm 18 years old and want to tell you about a place that is to many a godsend. It's Booth Memorial Residence, a home for unwed mothers-to-be. It's run by the Salvation Army people, and the atmosphere is one of love, caring and understanding. In the five months I lived there, not one girl was turned away. There are no age, race or financial barriers. It provides a friendly family atmosphere for pregnant girls as well as health care, prenatal courses, assistance in schooling and career goals and personal counseling. No girl is ever pressured to give up her baby or keep it.

The residence I lived in is in Omaha, Neb., but there are others throughout the country. I hope one day to return to Omaha to live and work, and when I do, I plan to volunteer at Booth to help other girls who come there for help as I did.

Thanks to terrific counseling, I am content and happy knowing that I made the right decision in giving up my son. The couple who adopted him were ecstatic to receive him, and I know that they will always celebrate Thanksgiving on Nov. 27th, his birthday.

If this letter helps just one girl and her family, it will have been worth the writing. Love and many thanks, Abby. STARTING OVER IN MO.

DEAR STARTING: What a beautiful letter. God bless you.

DEAR ABBY: A social club of adult women recently had a party for members and their escorts only. Some members indicated that they wanted to attend unescorted. It was ruled that attending a dancing party without an escort was unacceptable because it would put a burden on the other club members' escorts in terms of dancing or entertaining those women who came unescorted.

In today's society, with so much emphasis placed on women's independence and doing their own thing, I totally disagreed with this rule. How do you feel about restricting attendance to only those women who bring an escort? PERPLEXED IN N.Y.

DEAR PERPLEXED: I think it's discriminatory and therefore unfair. However, the majority rules in most clubs, so you may be in the wrong club.

DEAR ABBY: Would you please inform your readers that the armed forces are not the place for social misfits, or hard-to-handle characters who lack direction and motivation in their lives?

I can't tell you how many times I've heard people say, "A couple of years in the service would straighten out that young man!"

Edit this letter any way you want, Abby, but please let your readers know that the Army, Navy, Marine Corps or Air Force is not an alternative to a reform school! C.W.K.

DEAR C.W.K.: I couldn't have said it better. Do you wish you had more friends? Get Abby's bookies, "How to Be Popular; You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to: Abby, Popularity, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Lee takes win over Steers in battle

MIDLAND — The Midland Lee Rebels and the Big Spring Steers staged a performance on how not to shoot here last night, with the Rebels finally managing a lackluster 41-36 triumph in the District 5-AAAA game.

Both teams shot atrociously from the field, with Lee's free throw performance in the final half eventually spelling the difference.

Lee managed to connect on only 24 per cent of their shots from the field, while Big Spring could hit on only 30 percent. But while the Steers once again were poor at the free throw line, hitting six of 15 for the game, Lee managed to can eight of 10 in the last half.

Lee held a 27-17 halftime lead, but the Steers slowly whittled that down by the end of the third period.

Midway in the final frame,

Steer sophomore Jerald Wrightsill's field goal tied the game at 33, and the BSHS rookie gave the visitors the lead seconds later with a free throw.

But Lee regained the lead for good on a pair of free throws by Kenneth Brown, and held on for the win.

Lee is now 2-2 in the second half of district play, and 13-18 on the year. The Steers are 1-3 and 11-18.

Alvin Dunson paced the Lee attack with 14 points, while Big Spring was led by the duo of James Doss and Bobby Earl Williams, who had 12 and 10 points, respectively.

By quarters: Big Spring 9 8 10 9-36; Midland Lee 9 19 4 10-41; BIG SPRING (38)—Williams 42 10; D Wrightsill 10 2; J Wrightsill 12 4; Doss 5 7 2; Johnson 1 0 2; Rubio 2 0 4; Spears 1 0 2; TOTALS 15-46.

MIDLAND LEE (41)—Dunson 4 2 4; Van Buren 2 1 5; Blackwell 0 2 2; Berry 1 0 2; Smith 1 4 6; Pepper 1 1 3; Brown 3 3 9; TOTALS 14 13 41.

Total Fouls: Big Spring 18, Midland Lee 14.

In 6-AAA boys race Seminole hurts Coahoma chances

SEMINOLE — The Seminole Indians took a big District 6-AAA boys basketball win here Tuesday night, holding off the Coahoma Bulldogs by a 63-50 score.

Seminole held a five-point margin with just over two minutes to play when Coahoma was forced to foul in order and catch up, allowing the host Indians to increase the final margin.

Coahoma girls meet Alpine in bi-district on Monday

CRANE — The girls basketball teams from Alpine and Coahoma will meet here Monday evening in a Class AAA bi-district battle, with the winner advancing on to the regional tournament.

Coahoma is the champion of District 6-AAA, while Alpine won honors in District 5-AAA. The game will be played in the Crane High School Gym begin at seven.

Seminole led by slim margins for most of the game, utilizing their height to control the backboards. "They beat us pretty bad on the boards," said Coahoma Coach Doug Harriman. "That was the deciding factor in the game."

While Seminole had a balanced attack in the game, Coahoma's scoring came mostly from 6'5" senior Philip Ritchey. Ritchey canned 30 points to help keep the visitors in the game. Sheets and Spradlin had 18 and 16 points, respectively, for Seminole. The Indians had three players in double figures.

Seminole is now 3-1 in the second half, and tied with Denver City. Coahoma fell to 2-2 with the loss. Seminole, Denver City and Coahoma tied for the first half title. Coahoma must now win their final two games against Denver City and Crane, and hope that Denver City beats Seminole.

Coahoma, which had already clinched the District 6-AAA girls title, defeated Seminole in a game Tuesday night. No report was given.

By quarters: Coahoma 11 20 35 50; Seminole 15 28 30 63; COAHOMA (50)—Walker 3 0 6; Tucker 1 0 2; Ritchey 14 2 30; Hall 2 0 4; Hall 2 0 4; Meyer 3 1 7; Fryar 0 1 1; TOTALS 29 4 50; SEMINOLE (63)—Robinson 2 1 5; Rodriguez 2 3 7; Stewart 1 0 2; Spradlin 7 2 16; Quisenberry 1 0 2; Starkey 6 1 13; Sheets 9 0 18; TOTALS 28 7 63.

Arkansas takes SWC lead

By the Associated Press

A "really disappointed" Shelby Metcalf says his Texas Aggies were the victims, not the assailants in the embattled 65-61 victory won by Arkansas Tuesday night in noisy G. Rollie White Coliseum.

"They say the mark of a good player is retaliating without getting caught. We must not be very good because everytime we retaliated, we got caught," Metcalf said after the game.

Two fights, and almost a third, delayed play in the televised Southwest Conference basketball game. Arkansas victory, coupled with TCU's 78-77 upset of Hovocin in four days, left the Razorbacks all alone atop the league standings.

In the two other SWC games Tuesday night, Baylor edged Texas 84-82 to slip into third place aoki, ice and Rice pushed SMU further into the cellar, 70-62.

The Aggies picked up two more field goals than Arkansas, but the Razorbacks took 23 free throws to only 10 for A&M. The 15-7 edge in the charity shots gave the Hogs their winning margin.

A&M freshman Reggie Roberts shoved Arkansas sophomore Darrell Walker, and they exchanged blows on Arkansas' end of the court with 7:06 left in the first half, as both benches emptied.

Officials warned an ejection would accompany any further shenanigans, and A&M's 6-9 sophomore Claude Riley got the heavens with 11:47 left in the game after getting into a skirmish with Arkansas 6-10 junior Scott Hastings.

Roberts and two other A&M starters, Rynn Wright and Milton Woodley, fouled out in the second half.

"I thought we were the victims. Rynn said Hastings took a cheap shot at him. I'm anxious to see the film. There were just a lot of things going on away from the ball," Metcalf said.

"I don't want this to sound like sour grapes, but we played some people tonight that wouldn't even play in the Rice game that we won by 15 or 20. When you look at it that way, you've got to be proud of the job our players did."

Arkansas coach Eddie Sutton said he didn't see what happened in an exchange between Roberts and Walker.

"It was about as rugged a game as we've seen in a long time. I'm very proud of the way our team played. We had to keep our poise throughout the game," he said.

Although Sutton was shaking his head over Arkansas' mediocre 15-of-23 performance from the free throw line, he praised Keith Peterson, whose two successful free throws with 2:22 left put the Porks into a 63-59 lead that A&M couldn't overcome.

Hastings, who led Arkansas with 19 then came two more with 7 seconds left.

Houston led TCU 77-72 with only 2 minutes left in the fourth overtime before what Cougar coach Guy Lewis called "a silly turnover, just a silly turnover" triggered a Horned Frog rally.

"They scored after that, and then that blocking foul on (Clyde) Drexler gave them two more points," Lewis said.

Deckery Johnson's two free throws cut the lead to 77-74 and Warren Bridges' 18-footer made it 77-76 to set up the winning 18-foot jumper by TCU's Jeff Baker with 2 seconds to play.

It was TCU's third victory over Houston in Fort Worth in as many years. "The harder we tried to get up, the flatter we seemed to play," Lewis said.

5-AAAA girls championship in Garrett Thursday night

The District 5-AAAA girls basketball championship will be held here tomorrow night in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum beginning at seven o'clock when the San Angelo Bobcats meet the Midland Lee Rebels.

San Angelo won the first half in District 5-AAAA with a perfect 7-0 mark, but Lee came back to take the second half with a perfect record.

The winner will be named district champion and advance on to meet the winner of District 6-AAAA. That district encompasses Wichita Falls, Wichita Fall Rider, Sherman, Denison, Lewisville and Denton.

Seagraves forces 5-AA playoff

SEAGRAVES — The Seagraves Eagles held on for a 63-62 win over the Stanton Buffaloes and won the second half title in the District 5-AA boys basketball race in a contest here Tuesday night.

Seagraves trailed 50-45 entering the final stanza and faced the end of their season, but a rally pulled out the important win.

Seagraves thus finished the second half with a mark of 6-0, and will meet first half champion Morton for the 5-AA title.

Stanton's Della Brown had 19 points, with Lana Looney adding 10.

8 Steer swimmers earn region berths

MIDLAND — The Big Spring Steers swim team will be represented by eight people in the Class AAAAA regional swim meet in Lubbock beginning Friday, Feb. 27.

The Steer swimmers that earned that distinction did so with their efforts in last weekend's District 5-AAAA swim meet here.

The Big Spring girls finished sixth in the 5-AAAA-A affair with 20 points, barely missing a fifth place finish. The Steer boys ended in seventh place.

Host schools Midland High and Lee won the 5-AAAAA swim meet, with the Lee Rebel boys winning their end of the competition.

Earning berths in the regional meet from BSHS were Todd Lloyd, Doug Horton, Becky Stephens,

Johnson led Midland

takes big 5-AAAAA win

Midland's 6'9" blue chipper Herbert Johnson poured in 37 points in totally devastating the San Angelo Bobcats here Tuesday night, leading the Bulldogs to an important 63-45 win in the District 5-AAAAA battle of the second half unbeaten.

Johnson dominated the game, actually outscoring the Bobcats by 22-21 in the first half. At that time, the Midlanders led 35-21.

The win gave Midland a second half record of 4-0, while San Angelo fell to 3-1. Midland, the first half champion, thereby has to only win two of its final three games to assure itself a spot in the state playoffs.

In the other 5-AAAAA games, Abilene took a 63-54 win over Odessa and Abilene Cooper retained a slim shot at the title with a 42-40 win over Odessa Permian.

Robert Haynes led the Abilene charge with 18 points. It was their first second half win after three losses. OHS, led by Rayford Wright's 24 points, is winless in district action.

Cooper moved to 3-1 in the second half and retained their slim hopes at knocking off Midland next week when they held on for a two-point decision.

The game was close throughout, with the largest lead being five points. Lanny Dycus had 15 for Cooper, while Permian, now 2-2 in the second half, was paced by Greg McDonald's 14 points.

'Time for waiting, hoping has passed'

Reagan preparing economy overhaul

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, striving to convince the nation there is an urgent need to overhaul economy, will tell Congress and the American people tonight "time for waiting and hoping has passed."

"If we do not act now, the economy will get worse," a senior aide to the president said Reagan will tell a joint session of Congress in a nationally televised address.

One source said Reagan will propose $6 billion in budget cuts this year and $41 billion next year. Another said the 1982 cuts would total $44 billion.

Either way, the 1982 budget cuts would be close to the expected $44.2 billion that the companion tax cut recommendations would cost the treasury.

Those proposals would reduce the federal income tax of a typical family of four with a $20,000 income by more than $1,000 over the next 3 1/2 years.

The Reagan approach — so-called "supply side" economics — is to couple tax cuts with spending cuts in an attempt to reduce inflation and spur economic growth at the same time.

"The need to come to grips with an array of economic problems has been the central theme of Reagan's first 29 days in office and the tone of tonight's speech is said to reflect the intensity of that effort."

"He strongly says we really don't have a choice between doing something and not doing something about the economy," said the senior White House official, speaking with the understanding that he would not be identified by name. "If there are alternatives, let's hear them. But we do not have the luxury of choosing not to act."

A detailed, written message listing specific budget cut proposals, another giving details of tax recommendations, and a third document on proposed revision of government regulations will accompany the 9 p.m. EST speech.

However, not all of the 80 specific spending cuts Reagan reportedly has settled on are expected to be outlined in tonight's speech.

Thirteen hours after the address, Reagan leaves for a four-day visit to his ranch near Santa Barbara, Calif., handing to his Cabinet and economic advisers the initial task of selling the program to Congress.

Pope urges friendly relations between China, Catholic Church

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — Pope John Paul II urged China today to forget the past and reestablish friendly relations with the Roman Catholic Church which were broken off after the communist takeover of the Mainland in 1949.

"Whatever difficulties there may have been, they belong to the past, and now it is the future that we have to look to," the pontiff said in an address to representatives of the Chinese community in the Philippines.

The pontiff has made a series of overtures to Peking in the past two years but his statement today was the first open invitation for rapprochement.

"Your country is indeed devoting all its energies to the future," the pope said. "I'm convinced that every Catholic within your frontiers will fully contribute to the building up of China, since a genuine and faithful Christian is also a genuine and good citizen."

Two years ago, China lifted restrictions on Christian worship, a Protestant and Catholic churches have reopened in Peking, Shanghai, Canton and some other large cities. But there has been no firm sign that Peking's communist government is ready to tolerate any reconciliation with Rome.

The pope earlier exhorted the residents of one of Asia's most wretched slums to escape their grinding poverty through "love, brotherhood and peaceful solidarity," not "violence, class struggle or hate."

"Defending the human dignity of the poor and their hope for a human future is not a luxury for the church, nor is it a strategy of opportunism, nor a means for currying favor with the masses. It is her duty," said the pope, speaking from a large platform in Manila's Tondo slum as a burning sun shot the temperatures into the 90s.

Nobody has a keener sense of justice than the poor who suffer the injustices that circumstances and human selfishness heap upon them," he continued.

But he warned the slum dwellers "not to be tempted by ideologies that preach only material values or purely temporal ideals, which separate political, social and economic development from the things of the spirit."

"The road toward your total liberation is not the way of violence, class struggle or hate; it is the way of love, brotherhood, and peaceful solidarity," he declared.

The pontiff appeared unperturbed earlier in the day when an engineering student wearing a T-shirt with the slogan "I Love You" in Spanish dashed toward him at a university stadium. Plainclothesmen arrested him, but he got a papal embrace.

The youth, Lou Callegue, 19, told reporters he wanted to kiss the pope.

"I kissed his hand, and I told him I loved him very much," he said. "I'm not surprised the security people grabbed me. I expected them to."

"People just shouldn't make a stupid move like that," said a police official, Rufino Reyes. "We see Mendoza's ghost in anybody trying to come near the Holy Father."

Benjamin Mendoza, a Bolivian painter, attacked Pope Paul VI at Manila airport in 1970, slightly wounding him in the chest with a knife.

John Paul ended the second day of his six-day visit to the Philippines by giving Asia's only Roman Catholic nation its first candidate for sainthood. In a ceremony attended by more than 1.5 million people, he beatified Lorenzo Ruiz and 15 other martyrs put to death in Nagasaki, Japan, between 1633 and 1637.

Grimm planning

Titanic search

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Oil millionaire Jack Grimm says he will send "swimming robots" to open the purser's safe believed to contain a treasure of diamonds and gold aboard the Titanic — if he finds the luxury liner that sank after hitting an iceberg in 1912.

Grimm said Monday he will sail June 15 from Boston to pin down the exact location of the vessel and explore its hull.

He sponsored an expedition last summer off Newfoundland that located what he believes to be the Titanic.

Lonergan

named new publisher

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — James D. Lonergan, 55, has been named president of Times Publishing Co. and publisher of the Wichita Falls Times and Record News, succeeding the late Rhea Howard.

Howard, 88, died Feb. 9. He had been president and publisher of the newspapers since 1948, succeeding his father, Ed Howard, who was a founder of the newspapers in 1907.

In announcing Lonergan's appointment, Richard T. Schlosberg III, senior vice president of Harte-Hanks Communications and president of its newspaper operations said, "We will miss Mr. Howard's community and industry leadership, but feel confident that Jim Lonergan will continue in that tradition."

Lonergan was named president of Harte-Hanks' National Group and a corporate vice president last October. The National Group includes the Wichita Falls newspapers, Nortex Offset Press of Wichita Falls, the Abilene Reporter-News and its commercial printing plant and the Hamilton, Ohio, Journal-News.

"I accept the challenge of guiding two fine Texas daily newspapers and their dedicated staffs," said Lonergan.

Lonergan has maintained his office in Wichita Falls since his appointment in October. He was born in Omaha, Neb. and is a graduate of the University of Nebraska. He began his newspaper career in San Jose, Calif., and later moved to Ohio where he has been associated with several newspapers, most recently with Horvitz Newspapers' Loraine, Ohio, Journal and Lake County, Ohio, News-Herald.

AUSTI No sick should be a hospital because and th hospitals be stiff lobbyist: Dean Texas H told Jurisru

Some names include judges and school board members

Court will decide if brothel list should be published

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A state judge must decide whether a local newspaper's First Amendment rights are more important than the reputations of 3,000 people whose names are on a "trick list" police say they seized from a brothel now dubbed "The Best Little Whorehouse in San Antonio." The Thursday hearing in District Judge James Onion's court is the latest episode in a controversy that has raged in the nation's 10th-largest city since Oct. 2 when vice squad officers seized the list of names and arrested three women at what police claim is a brothel.

Editors of "El Pueblo," a community newspaper that claims to have a copy of the list, said it includes some of the city's most well-known political movers and shakers — influential businessmen, school board members and even some judges.

"We believe that the people of San Antonio want to know what kind of men are legislating laws and then breaking them themselves, what kind of men are sending people to jail when they themselves should be in jail, what kind of men use their wealth and influence not only to control the city but also to promote illegal businesses like a house of prostitution."

Cabral, spokesman for El Pueblo's editorial board.

"We believe that the people of San Antonio want to know what kind of men are legislating laws and then breaking them themselves, what kind of men are sending people to jail when they themselves should be in jail, what kind of men use their wealth and influence not only to control the city but also to promote illegal businesses like a house of prostitution."

went into hiding and process servers have been unable to locate her.

From an undisclosed location, Mrs. Saldivar told reporters by telephone that El Pueblo editors would "rot in jail" rather than yield to pressure and threats to keep the names from being published. She said she would talk to reporters today on the steps of the federal building.

Cabral said efforts to keep the list being published included offers of bribes to some staff members of the newspaper and the making of threats to others. He said Mrs. Saldivar received a "dummy hand grenade," after she made public statements about the list, which he said was supplied to the newspaper by the brothel's alleged madam through a third party.

The restraining order was sought by Pat Maloney, the second attorney to represent Theresa Brown, accused of operating the brothel at her house for the past 16 years. Mrs. Brown allegedly kept the list of men customers, their sexual preferences and who recommended them as patrons.

At first, Ms. Brown — through her attorney, Rick Woods, pleaded no contest to a charge of aggravated promotion of prostitution in exchange for a three-year prison term with a good chance of probation.

However, she fired Woods and hired Maloney last week, then withdrew her plea. Maloney said he wanted her tried before a jury and threatened to reveal some of the names in open court.

"It was a bum rap and the lady ain't no bum," Maloney said in explaining why he withdrew her original plea. After the original plea, local reporters dubbed Ms. Brown's alleged operation "The Best Little Whorehouse in San Antonio," parodying the name of a highly successful Broadway play.

Cabral said although El Pueblo was complying with Onion's order pending the hearing, the latest edition of the newspaper was being put together at an undisclosed location.

Emergency care should not depend on ability to pay, lobbyist says

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — No sick or injured persons should be turned away from a hospital emergency room because of inability to pay, and the penalties for hospitals who do that should be stiffened, a hospital lobbyist said.

Dean Davis, with the Texas Hospital Association, told the Senate Jurisprudence Committee he would like to help rewrite a bill, sponsored by Sen. Carlos Truan, raising penalties for turning poor people away from emergency rooms.

The bill would apply only to general hospitals supported with public funds and was sent to subcommittee for more work.

Davis told committee members about three instances in which persons denied emergency treatment later died.

"These incidents are continuing to happen. We would appreciate a statement by the Legislature that these would be considered criminal acts from now on," said Jose Camacho of Austin, an attorney with Texas Rural Legal Aid. "Hospitals do believe that individuals, regardless of ability to pay, are entitled to emergency services that are truly emergency services... I believe you can come out with a bill that will address the issue to the extent the Legislature can address it," Davis said.

A big problem, he said, is defining "emergency services."

Farmer's Town Hall to feature Stenholm

The Farmer's Town Hall Meeting will begin at 11 a.m. with an open meeting to draft resolutions to present to Stenholm. A Dutch treat lunch will be available from noon to 12:30 p.m. The Congressman will deliver a prepared talk at 12:30 p.m. immediately following will be a question and answer session beginning at 1 p.m. The meeting should be complete by 3 p.m.

Results of the 3,000 questionnaires which were mailed individually to people in the 17th Congressional district will also be presented to Congressman Stenholm. "Preliminary indications show area farmers are interested in a strong government program to sell commodities to other countries, prohibiting purchases of farm land by aliens and relating price support programs to parity," Moeller commented.

Stenholm is a member of the House Agriculture Committee and on the subcommittees on Cotton, Rice and Sugar; Livestock, Dairy and Poultry; Tobacco and Peanut; Wheat, Soybean and Soil Grain and also on the Small Business Committee.

In urging broad participation in the meeting Saturday, Moeller said "we need to tell the lawmakers back in Washington the family farmers and ranchers are extremely interested in having their voices heard in the multi-year farm bill. We do not want another act like the 1977 Farm Bill," he concluded.

The Farmers Town Hall Meeting is free and open to the public. The luncheon will be served for a nominal fee. The event is sponsored by the Texas Farmers Union.

Family farmers and ranchers who want a direct input into the 1981 Farm Bill will have their chance Saturday, Feb. 21, when a Farmer's Town Hall Meeting will be held with Rep. Charles Stenholm (D), Stamford, the representative of the 17th Congressional District.

The open meeting will be held from 11 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the Fine Arts Building of the Cisco Junior College in Cisco and will include a question and answer session with the congressman.

The Farmer's Town Hall Meeting is a result of a 14 county tour and grass roots meetings last month with farmers and ranchers sponsored by the Texas Farmers Union. Newly elected Texas Farmers Union President Mike Moeller said the culmination of the series of local meetings held the week of Jan. 20-27 "will provide the opportunity to directly present to Congressman Stenholm the views of those people whose livelihoods depend on agriculture."

Moeller urged those family farmers and ranchers who attended previous county meetings and those who were unable to make the previous sessions to attend the open meeting Saturday.

"Instead of having the 1981 Farm Bill written by economists, staff members and lobbyists in Washington, we can have input into the process while the legislation is being formed," Moeller said. "This way, we can let our opinions be known before the law is adopted rather than having to wait and find out how it will affect family farmers and ranchers after the legislation is approved," the Texas Farmers Union President added.
