Haig links

aid to Cuba, Soviet action

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., dismissing a call to draw the line now on aid to El Salvador, says any further escalation of U.S. involvement depends on what the Soviet Union and Cuba do.

The possibility of additional aid, Haig said Wednesday, "will depend largely on the willingness of Cuba, the Soviet Union and those associated with them to continue to intervene illegally in the affairs of the member states of this hemisphere."

Specifically, Haig refused to say whether U.S. aid would stop with 20 additional military advisers and $25 million in new military assistance. "It would be foolish to attempt to do so," he said.

The administration has accused Cuba and other communist nations of complicity in smuggling at least 200 tons of military supplies to leftist insurgents in El Salvador.

"This is no longer an acceptable or tolerable kind of activity in this hemisphere," Haig declared after a closed Senate briefing.

Earlier, the No. 2 Democrat in the Senate said the Reagan administration should supply no military assistance to El Salvador beyond the 20 additional advisers and $25 million in aid.

House passes bill denying jobless compensation to people who quit

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Legislation denying jobless pay to people who quit their jobs — with some exceptions — won House passage today, 101-28.

Sen. Roy Blake, D-Nacogdoches, the sponsor, said he would ask the Senate to approve amendments added to the bill in the House, a step that would send it to Gov. Bill Clements for signature.

Clements had declared the bill an emergency so lawmakers could consider it early in the legislative session.

Blake's bill would deny unemployment benefits to people who quit their jobs, are fired for misconduct or refuse to accept "suitable" work found for them by the Texas Employment Commission. They could get future benefits only if they found new jobs, earned the equivalent of six weeks' benefits and then were laid off.

Currently, people who quit their jobs are denied benefits for one to 25 weeks, with the TEC basing its decisions on the facts of each case.

"The sole purpose of Senate Bill 2 is to force the Texas Employment Commission to do what the law intended originally — to provide benefits only to workers who are unemployed through no fault of their own," said Rep. Bill Messer, D-Belton.

He said the TEC had been so lenient in allowing benefits that unemployment had become, in some cases, a welfare supplement.

"A woman who is fired for chewing gum after her employer told her not to would be penalized for misconduct," protested Rep. Lloyd Criss, D-LaMarque.

The House amendments would: — Guarantee that military men and women who do not re-enlist would not be denied benefits for "quitting" their jobs.

— Allow a person who quits because a spouse must move to a new city to collect jobless benefits after a disqualification period of six to 26 weeks.

— Prohibit denial of benefits if a person quits because of medically verified illness, injury, disability or pregnancy.

— Allow benefits to people who quit because of a reason that is "urgent, compelling and of a necessitous nature so as to make separation involuntary."

Test of Reagan administration

Tower says Soviets may provoke crisis

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee today said the Soviet Union may provoke a crisis with the United States by life spring to test the Reagan administration.

"Typically, that's what the Soviets like to do," Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, told reporters. "They like to probe the new boy to see what stuff he's made of."

Senate Republican leader Howard Baker said, meanwhile, that he thinks such a test may already be underway in El Salvador.

Baker told reporters the Soviet Union has tested every president beginning with John F. Kennedy and that its alleged supply of arms to El Salvador "may have been a first effort to test the new American president."

But he said the "logical result of (Reagan's response) of unambiguous new American strength" should be "that everybody would just cool it."

Tower supported President Reagan's request to increase defense spending by 16 per cent this fiscal year and next as part of a $1.3 trillion buildup in U.S. defenses over the next five years.

Tower said inflation, if not reduced as Reagan expects, might require even more spending, and said domestic programs would have to give way.

"If we do increase our defense capability, we hasten the day when we can sit down and negotiate in a meaningful way with the Soviets on arms control — and I don't just mean arms limitations but arms reductions," Tower said at a breakfast news conference held by Foreign Policy magazine.

But he put most of his emphasis on what he saw as a Soviet threat to the United States and other countries around the world.

"I think you can expect the Soviets are going to test this administration, and my guess is sometime in the next 60 to 90 days, because typically that's what the Soviets like to do," Tower said.

"They like to probe the new boy to see what he's made of, and I think we can expect that. What form the test is going to take, where they are going to precipitate a crisis, whether it's of minor or major proportions, I think we can expect a test of some sort."

Reagan to provide funds for Atlanta murder probe

ATLANTA (AP) — President Reagan has agreed to provide almost $1 million in federal aid to assist Atlanta in investigating the slayings and disappearances of 21 black children, Sen. Mack Mattingly announced today.

Mattingly, R-Ga., issued a statement from his Washington office saying the White House will allocate $979,000 "for a variety of programs requested by Mayor Maynard Jackson."

City officials had complained that while the government offered assistance from FBI agents and other federal services, it had not given financial help for the investigation. City officials estimated the probe is costing up to $200,000 per month.

Mattingly said $650,000 will be available immediately from the Justice Department and $329,000 will come from other federal agencies. A portion of the money will be used to coordinate and administer "all the offers of private aid coming in," he said.

Duties for BSISD nurses include compiling records

By CAROL HART

Working as a nurse in the Big Spring Independent School District is a busy job, according to Doris Knocke.

Mrs. Knocke has been with the BSISD 24 years, all as a school nurse. "I've been in every school in town except the high school and Washington Elementary," she said.

There are three regular school nurses in the system here, working with grades one through 12. Other women working as school nurses are Addie Brown and Stella Ruiz. Linda Schaffer works as nurse for the Head Start program.

In Texas, school nurses must have a registered nursing degree, said Mrs. Knocke. Duties for the nurses locally range from aiding a sick child to compiling health records for the whole system.

"The first six weeks of the school year we make health records on every student," Mrs. Knocke said. Nurses also keep records of immunizations, which is "a year-long process." In addition, school nurses perform screenings during the year, to check children's vision, hearing, teeth, height and weight. A hair inspection is also conducted.

A test for tuberculosis is also conducted every year in the first and seventh grades.

The school nurses locally rotate between schools. Mrs. Knocke works at the Lakeview and Kentwood kindergartens, and College Heights and Marcy Elementary.

Ms. Brown works at Moss, Bauer and the high school, and Ms. Ruiz works at Goliad, Rannels and Washington Elementary.

"Each day, we are assigned a school," said Mrs. Knocke. In between working on health records for the schools, the women aid children who are sick or injured, and perform minor first-aid when it is required.

"We also make parent contacts if we find any deviations from normal," concerning the health of a child, said Mrs. Knocke.

Retired Big Spring Fire Chief seeking seat on city council

H.V. "Burr" Crocker, retired Big Spring Fire Chief, filed Wednesday to run for the Place 3 seat on the Big Spring City Council, creating a three-way race for both contested seats in the April 4 election.

Crocker will face incumbent Jack Y. Smith and Michael W. Rendle, a teacher and assistant coach at Big Spring High School.

Crocker has been a Big Spring resident for 51 years, 49 of which have been spent in the same residence at 1707 Benton. Before his retirement in 1971, he had been an employee of the Big Spring Fire Department for 42 years, serving for 28 years as Chief.

During those years, he was active in community affairs and civic organizations. These include the Masonic Order of the Eastern Star, the Oddfellows and the Rebekah Lodge.

He is a member of the First Methodist Church and its Men's Bible Class. He was defeated by ex-mayor Wade Choate on April 4, 1976.

In a prepared statement, Crocker listed his reasons for seeking the post:

"I'm putting my name in as a candidate for the city council, Place 3, because I'm deeply interested in the future of this city, and I want to do my part in helping it move forward in a financially sound manner.

"I place my name before the voters to give them a choice in leadership. I would pledge to the voters that I would not represent one faction or a few people, but strive to be a common-sense voice of all citizens.

"To serve on the city council take time, effort and interest. I have all three. As a retired city fire chief, I have the time and my 51 years of residency in Big Spring to give me the perspective and interest to put out that effort.

"I want to serve the people in as selfless a way as possible with the purpose of a sound, sensible city government."

Crocker and his wife, Lona, have three children, H.V. "Sonny" Crocker Jr., a city employee, John W. Crocker, an executive with the Munsingwear Company in Hamilton, Ala., and a daughter, Malinda Blackburn, a musical therapist at the Big Spring State Hospital.

McEwen, Crocker top ballot spots

With the passing of the deadline for filing to run for a spot on the Big Spring City Council, midnight Wednesday, six candidates had decided to vie for the two open seats.

At 10 o'clock this morning, City Secretary Tom Ferguson dropped the candidates' names into a hat, and drew them out to determine the order that each would be placed on the April 4 ballot.

The Place 4 seat will be vacated by one-term Councilman Larry Miller, who announced recently that he will not seek re-election. The first name on the ballot will be that of Robert

"Rues" McEwen, a local insurance agent.

Following his name will be that of Jerry Myrick, traffic engineer for Oilfield Industrial Lines, Inc., and then Donna Fish, a local housewife.

On the ballot for the Place 3 seat, incumbent Jack Y. Smith will occupy the middle slot on the ballot between the two other contenders. Topping the ballot will be H.V. "Burr" Crocker, retired Big Spring Fire Chief who filed just before the deadline, while Michael W. Rendle, a teacher and assistant basketball coach at Big Spring High School, will be listed third.

Six enter Coahoma school board race

COAHOMA — Six people, two of them incumbents, will be in contention for places on the Coahoma school board in the April 4 election.

Don Meyers, an employee at Cosden, and Clovis Phinney Jr., business manager of Local 826 of the International Union of Operating Engineers, are the incumbent trustees who will offer for re-election.

Others who announced before the Wednesday deadline for filing were Bruce Griffith, who is employed by the First National Bank in Big Spring; Bob Leib, an employee of Furr's Foods Store in Big Spring; Ken Cobb, employed by Atlantic Richfield Co.; and Warren Jeter, also employed by Atlantic Richfield.

Two places will be open on the board. The terms will be for three years.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Preserving clippings

Q. We'd like to know how to keep a newspaper from yellowing.

A. By making sure it's read. If you mean "how do I save a whole newspaper without it turning yellow?"; you should seal it in plastic and keep it in a dark, cool place. Ultra-violet light causes the oil pigments in newsprint to oxidize and turn yellow.

Keeping them sealed from changing humidities prevents them from becoming brittle or mildewing, and keeping them away from sunlight practically halts the yellowing process. Sealing can be accomplished by placing them in black or green garbage bags, twisting the top of the bag enough to bend the twist into a loop and securing the loop with a heavy twist-tie.

Another process for preserving newspaper clippings, but hardly practical for whole newspapers, is dissolving one milk-of-magnesia tablet in a quart of warm club soda overnight. Lay the clippings out on a cookie sheet and pour the soda over them.

Once they have soaked for an hour, carefully lift them out and lay them on a towel. Press all the liquid out with another towel and lay them out on a flat surface in a warm, dry place. Let them completely dry before you handle them.

This procedure supposedly makes them last for 200 years, according to one of our really old readers.

Prison official resigns

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Ron Taylor says working for the nation's largest prison system has "a high burnout factor."

Ron Taylor, 37, has submitted his resignation as assistant director of treatment for the Texas Department of Corrections, which he joined in 1971 as a guard.

"This is a job that has a high burnout factor and I've finally reached that burnout point," Taylor said Wednesday.

Taylor acknowledged that the federal court case in which U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice has ordered sweeping changes within the TDC figured prominently in his decision.

He said Justice's criticism of TDC medical facilities was the only part of the court decision that affected him directly.

Odessa police chief fired after 30 years with force

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — City Manager Gary Sweatt says Odessa Police Chief Jack Tomlin has been asked to resign.

Sweatt said the request came after complaints by the city's uniformed officers of poor facilities and inept management of the department.

Tomlin, 59, who had been chief for 12 years, had been with the department more than 30 years.

"I asked Jack to resign," Sweatt said. "The department has experienced a number of problems and I feel this will bring some rehabilitation and bring the department up to the level of service the community deserves."

"I do want to make it clear that I am fired," said Tomlin. The departing police chief blamed the move on "turmoil and obvious interference with the department."

A terrible injustice has been done to the police department by recent administrations in city hall," Odessa Mayor Bob Bryant said City Council played no role in the decision to seek Tomlin's retirement.

"The city manager makes personnel decisions of this type," he said. "I feel he must have had sufficient reason to ask Mr. Tomlin to retire at this time."

Assistant City Manager Chester Nolan, who has no prior experience in law enforcement administration, was named acting police chief.

'Uncle Walter' signs off Friday

'And that's the way it is'

NEW YORK (AP) — He told you about men on the moon, about the murder of a president, about the violent birth of civil rights. He told you about rice paddy warfare, campus bloodshed and landslide elections.

Now he is telling you goodbye.

Walter Cronkite, "Uncle Walter" and "the most trusted man in America" to a generation that scarcely remembers when he was not there to wrap up the day with, "And that's the way it is," signs off the CBS "Evening News" Friday March 6 after 19 years behind the anchor desk.

The following Monday, Cronkite's place will be filled by Dan Rather, a former CBS News White House correspondent and co-editor of the network's "60 Minutes" newsmagazine since October 1975.

"I don't doubt that I am going to miss this a great, great deal," said Cronkite, who took over the "Evening News" April 16, 1962, when the program was 15 minutes long.

"And I'm not sure that in six months I won't say, 'I made a big mistake. I don't think that will happen.'"

It would be difficult to overstate the significance of Cronkite's departure from the "Evening News" to both CBS and journalism.

The "Evening News," delivered by Cronkite in what is usually described as an "avuncular" manner — that is, like an uncle — reached an average of 18.5 million viewers each night in the last three months of 1980.

Cronkite's boss at CBS for nearly 40 years, William S. Paley, once said, "Walter is so objective, so careful and fair in his presentation of the news, that he has been characterized — if not immortalized — with the oft-heard line, 'If Walter says it, it must be so.'"

"I think that only recently, maybe, have I gotten any real sense of the fact that a lot of people do depend on the 'CBS Evening News,' and me," Cronkite, who is 64, said in an interview in his book-lined office, now cluttered with boxes and files.

"I've never felt any sense of authority, though I am aware that anything said on television carries a weight far beyond its real meaning. Because of that, I've always tried to be fair in the selection of items to be used on the news, and in the way they are presented.

"I think anybody who walks around feeling he or she is an authority figure, well, they would be impossible to live with," Cronkite added with a chuckle.

Last year, when he was mentioned as a possible running mate for John Anderson, the independent candidate for president, Cronkite was quick to wave off the notion.

"I think it would be an awful, awful mistake," he said on reflection. "For anyone to move into public office out of the anchor's job."

"From then on, every anchorman's motives would be suspect — even though we know ourselves that most of us would never consider such a thing, and never let politics cloud our judgments."

Cronkite, who is not retiring, will maintain a full schedule for at least the next three months. His primary responsibility will be the production of a dozen editions of "Universe," CBS News' new science series, which he will anchor.

When he signed off after the Democratic National Convention in August 1980, he had logged more than 450 hours of CBS coverage in 28 years.

Local student to attend area VOE competition

Melinda Hernandez, a senior at Big Spring High School and an employee at Citizens Federal Credit Union, will be attending the area-wide Vocational Office of Education (VOE) Cooperative competition in Abilene Friday and Saturday.

The local student, who's job manual was selected over that of approximately 35 of her fellow students, will be competing with entries from other area cities for the right to advance to state competition.

Hernandez, a general clerk at Citizens Federal Credit Union for almost a year, is one of the seniors at Big Spring High School who have elected to attend classes four hours a day and work in the community the other half of the day.

As a student, she is assigned the task of writing a job manual to indicate what information and knowledge she has gained from that employment.

The job manuals are broken down into three sections. The first sections deals with the position in general and explains what takes a general clerk in any position or job would be expected to perform. The second section deals with the place of employment, and the third section puts the two together explaining how a person in that position works in that particular place of employment.

Melinda Hernandez said that even though the job manual presented her with many problems, it also gave her a chance to learn more about herself and her interaction with other people. She explained by saying that she tended to remain in one department when she first began work at Citizens Federal Credit Union.

However, since she was required to write the job manual about the credit union in general, Hernandez had to get out and find out what the various other departments within Citizens Federal were doing and how they related to her general clerk position. As a result, she says that she learned more about other jobs at Citizens, as well as the history of the large financial institution.

A member of both the Office Education Association and the National Honor Society, Hernandez will be in Abilene all day Friday competing with area-wide students and will be informed of her standings at an awards breakfast Saturday. Should she place either first or second, she will then advance to state competition.

And what happens after state competition? This student is already making plans on attending the University of Texas at El Paso; setting a major in computer science. Once she gets the basic courses out of the way, she plans to branch out into the general business of computer science with emphasis on being a computer analyst.

Mother flees with child suffering from leukemia

DALLAS (AP) — The father of a missing 2-year-old leukemia victim says he is not worried about doctors' warnings that the child may die if she is not found and given medical treatment.

"I'm not fearful of that because of my belief in God. We believe God has healed her body from this condition," Louis Pendleton said.

"We believe in doctors, but we also strongly believe in God. I think this is out of the doctors' hands."

Louisa Pendleton and her mother, Judith, disappeared last week, shortly after a state district judge ordered Louisa's parents to provide her with medical treatment.

"Every day that this goes on diminishes her chance for recovery. It's just a tragedy," said state District Judge Craig Penfold.

The girl's 27-year-old father says he doesn't know where his wife and daughter have gone, but he's not worried about the doctors' grim warnings.

Louisa will die if she is not treated soon, doctors say.

But if treatment could begin immediately, she stands almost a 50-50 chance of recovering from her illness and leading a near-normal life.

The Pendletons took Louisa to Children's Medical Center Jan. 22, saying she was listless, and her hands were swelling.

The diagnosis of acute lymphoblastic leukemia was confirmed the next day, said Dr. George Buchanan, who examined the child.

The district attorney's office filed suit against the parents in Penfold's court Feb. 3.

Commission okays plan

Mexican cattle may chow down in Texas

By DANA PALMER

AUSTIN — Mexican cattle may find themselves vacationing in Texas in the near future.

Eventually, however, they'll go back to the resorts of Mexico.

The idea is to fatten Mexican heifers in Texas feedlots before shipping them home for slaughter. The plan won't be approved until the Texas Animal Health Commission Tuesday in an emergency telephone conference meeting.

However, the commission's OK is contingent upon federal approval.

Kerry McCan, the Victoria cattleman who is pushing the project, hopes to gain final U.S. Department of Agriculture approval next week in Washington, D.C.

He said in a telephone interview that much of the grain-fed beef eventually would be shipped to Mexico's resort cities, such as Acapulco and Cancun.

"Certainly they need a little higher quality of beef in Mexico for their HIR business — hotel, restaurant and institutional," he said.

Much of the beef now available in Mexico comes from so-called grass-fed or range-fed cattle. The meat is leaner; it doesn't contain nearly as much of the marbling of fat that gives grain-fed beef more flavor.

Most of the beef sold in the United States is grain fed. But it's not easy to find in Mexico, McCan said, in part because of the country's limited grain supply.

"There's been quite an upheaval in the agricultural politics in the past few years and Mexico is so short of grain that (ranchers) probably have been forewarned from using it in feedlots," he explained.

Also, Mexico's population is booming and the government is trying to provide more and better food for its citizens, commission member James D. Sartelle Sr. of Sealy said.

That situation, McCan said, plus the need for American know-how in getting the most edible beef per pound of grain, eventually convinced ranchers in Mexico to come to the United States for help.

"I don't know how many feed yards there are in Mexico — but there are not a lot of them and none of them have the sophisticated equipment that we have," he said. That equipment includes machines that calculate and put together the most economical and best weight-producing feed mixture.

McCan said the project will benefit Texas feedlot owners and feed grain producers as much as it will Mexico.

The high cost of fattening cattle on grain, as well as an American trend toward leaner beef, he said, has cut down on the number of cattle in feedlots and the number of days they are fattened before slaughter.

If the experiment works, he said, and the Mexican ranchers find it profitable, cattle from Mexico could help offset loss in business from American ranchers.

Commission Chairman John Armstrong of Kingsville also noted that "if the market for that kind of grain fed beef materializes in Mexico, it might open some markets for some of our own grain fed cattle."

Arkansas governor claims water won't go to Texas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Texas and other western states suffering from water shortages will not be getting water from Arkansas, Gov. Frank White says.

White told a special hearing Wednesday in the House that shipping Arkansas water to other states would endanger water supplies in the state.

"We're not going to encourage anything that would violate the critical needs of human life and the agricultural sector in the state of Arkansas," White said. "Let me say without qualification that I'm totally opposed to shipping water to Texas."

News reports that Texas Gov. Bill Clements had said Arkansas was amenable to shipping water to Texas prompted the hearing.

"For the next 20 years, I don't think we're going to have any surplus water," White said.

White said none of the state constitutional officers or their staffs had talked with Clements about the water situation. He said no one in state government had made a commitment to ship Arkansas water out of state.

White asked House members to support a bill to set up a Water Code Study Commission to propose water regulations and laws.

Hampton said Clinton had made no commitment to the task force.

Hampton said Clinton met with the task force at Clements' request. He said the task force was interested in drawing up an agreement for Texas to get the water.

"He told them that we would be making extensive studies and that we didn't have a clear-cut policy and that he was in no position to discuss it with them," Hampton said. "He didn't make any concessions to them."

Hampton asked for the special hearing after reading Clements' comments in a newspaper.

"Where there's smoke there's a little fire somewhere," he said. "I wanted to make sure that something wasn't going on that would hurt farmers that have already been hurt by the drought."

White warned the legislators that there will be political pressure in the future to sign an agreement with Texas.

"We've got problems with water in the real no one in state government had made a commitment to ship Arkansas water out of state," he said.

White asked House members to support a bill to set up a Water Code Study Commission to propose water regulations and laws.

IRS taking hard look at some ministers

The prospect of being declared a minister by an organization, rather than being ordained, may dim considerably in the future — at least as far as the Internal Revenue Service is concerned.

In recent years, several groups have offered for fees church charters and minister's credentials for the purpose of reducing or avoiding federal income tax.

THE GOVERNMENT'S bloodhounds say the scheme is a very shallow tax dodge that henceforth won't work. Those who would enter into such a conspiracy should be aware of Section 170 of the Internal Revenue Code (IRC). This section provides a deduction for gifts or contributions to a church. However, to qualify for this tax benefit, the church must be "organized and operated exclusively for religious purposes."

The fact that an organization receives a church charter does not guarantee that contributions to the organization will be deductible, says the government document.

Simply purporting to be a "church" does not establish the facts and circumstances that must be present for the operation to be considered "exclusively for religious purposes." In order for contributions to be deductible, the organization must not only be organized and operated exclusively for religious purposes, but it must also have operations that further religious purposes. This is true even if it is organized properly as a church under state law.

THE TYPICAL PLAN for reducing income tax starts with the taxpayer obtaining minister's credentials and a church charter from a mail-order ministry promoter, along with instructions for creating a non-profit corporation that purports to be a "church." The minister is then assigned to 50 percent of his or her income annually to the "church" which, in turn, uses the income to further the private interests of the minister. The "church" premises, more often than not, are the taxpayer's home or apartment.

Another scam finds the taxpayer taking a vow of poverty and transferring all of his or her assets and income from employment or other sources to the "church." In exchange, the "church" uses the assigned assets and income to meet the day-to-day expenses of the mail-order minister.

If a "church" meets organizational and operational requirements, the applicant must answer a second question. Do the income or assets assigned to the "church" by the mail-order minister constitute a contribution qualifying for a deduction or are they simply an assignment made with the expectation of receiving something of equivalent value in return? The transfer or assignment will not result in a deduction under Section 170 of the IRC if there is the expectation of a return benefit. The mail-order ministry schemes abound with return benefits, invariably to help the private interests of the mail-order minister.

Anything goes

Around the rim

It's getting to the point where it's chancey to watch television or go to a movie in mixed company. In fact, most of the stuff they're offering these days is downright embarrassing. At least the movies have a rating, so one has an inkling of what they're getting into.

Some of the stuff they're showing on television these days would have made our ancestors flee the room. Those things just weren't discussed in public a hundred years ago. Now, rape, child pornography, incest, just to name a few lusty items, are themes of several programs which air, weekly, and each subject has had its own movie made about it in recent months.

MAYBE TELEVISION is just trying to keep up with society. All is not well out in the real world. But television, and entertainment as a whole, used to be a place where someone could go after a long, hard day and escape the cold, cruel facts of reality. But it's not that way anymore. First, after being bombarded by wars, poverty, starvation and rising inflation on the six o'clock news, the viewer has to watch things go from bad to worse during prime time.

Commercials on television can be just as embarrassing as the actual shows. That way, they get you coming and going. If you're sitting in a group watching a television show, and language gets suggestive or action leans toward the lewd, you may be relieved when a commercial comes on. But, what if the commercial is about a certain product that you'd rather not discuss with the guy next to you.

There's cute Cathy Rigby discussing her favorite personal product, a mother and daughter discussing embarrassing itch, and on and on.

Maybe television is better watched alone.

ALSO, HOW FAR are the television programmers going to let the writers and actors go before something is held back because of "pretty bad taste." "Saturday Night Live," long a favorite of many viewers on the NBC network, has really seemed to cross the line from funny to ridiculous. The show was always daring, but at least some of the material during the first couple of years was funny. Now, the garbage that they are poking fun at seems to be the bottom of the barrel as far as getting a laugh goes. They had a good thing going at one time, but maybe it's time to let it die gracefully, or in other words, get it off the air quick.

"Saturday Night Live" isn't the only offender to taste. ABC offered their own tribute to tacky with "Fridays," which ended up being a sorry excuse for comedy.

Of course, there's the other extreme. A night full of "Those Amazing Animals" and "Walt Disney" might get a little boring, and the viewer would soon yearn for lustier fare. There's a fine line between daring, innovating programming, and garbage.

Reagan's recession

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Behind bland official forecasts of a gentle economic dip ahead, economists newly brought into the administration privately predict a deep recession by summer that will balloon the budget deficit and confront President Reagan with a decision-making crisis.

A deep recession would trigger new automatic spending and depress revenue so that the present $54.5 billion target deficit for the current fiscal year could go to $70 billion. Since existing federal credit needs already have sopped up nearly all savings, new and bigger deficits would be calamitous.

The predictable prescription by Democratic congressmen will be easier money by the Federal Reserve Board to finance the huge deficit, while supposedly shrinking the deficit by giving Reagan less tax reduction than he wants. The only two real options facing the president: Try to weather the storm on his present policy, or instead expand his tax program.

THE LATTER COURSE is favored by both the Treasury and the Office of Management and Budget (OMB) — specially, lowered top tax rates on "unearned" income (interest and dividends). But this was successfully blocked by Reagan's political advisers from inclusion in the Feb. 18 economic package. If it is to make it on the second try, the cautious politicians around Reagan will have to be either convinced or rolled.

Nobody can accurately predict today's economy, but civil servants and private forecasters who see only that the dip ahead have been wrong consistently through the 1970s. New economists brought into the Reagan administration, both supply-siders and monetarists who disagree on many questions, believe severe recession immediately ahead is just about inevitable.

Inevitability stems from the tight-money policy followed by the Fed, the nation's central bank, after pumping money into the economy last spring — another of the fluctuations so depressingly typical of recent Fed policy. That this would bring recession was confirmed, in the opinion of supply-siders, when Reagan succumbed to caution and delayed the effective date and reduced the scope of tax reductions.

Democrats in Congress show no interest whatever in the anti-recession device they would have reached for reflexively a few years ago: more counter-cyclical government spending to simulate demand, as prescribed 50 years ago by John Maynard Keynes. Liberal Keynesianism truly has died, without eulogy or burial.

Instead, even before a recession, Democrats are pressing Fed Chairman Paul Volcker to speed up the printing press for new money to finance a widened budget deficit, thereby risking escalation of inflation into hyperinflation. But the Reagan administration is firm against agreeing to this, and believes Volcker will not turn the money machine loose on his own.

While demanding looser money, congressional Democrats — and a good many Republicans, too — would try to cut back drastically on Reagan's tax reductions. That evokes memories of Herbert Hoover's fatal effort to fight depression through higher taxes. It would satisfy orthodox Republicans who long have dreamed of painful austerity to exorcise the economy of its inflationary demons.

THE TURN-BACK-THE-CLOCK WATCH

An idea whose time has apparently come

Blood sugar problem exaggerated

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is there a special diet I should follow? My blood sugar is 26. — V.

Are you positive your blood sugar is that low? That is very, very low! The normal range is 75 to 105.

When blood sugar is low, that is hypoglycemia. A variety of symptoms ensue, including hunger, sweating, anxiety, nausea, confusion. Everyone feels such symptoms at one time or another, and in some popular reports hypoglycemia is said to afflict as much as one-quarter to one-half the population. This is a great exaggeration. For practical purposes, the true incidence is only about one in a thousand people.

After a meal, blood sugar normally rises as it is absorbed. This tells the body to release its store of insulin, which tells the liver to remove sugar from the blood and store it for future use. In hypoglycemia, a person releases too much insulin after a meal, so his liver takes too much sugar from the blood.

A remedy is to eat small meals high in protein, as many as six small meals daily. After a protein meal, blood sugar does not rise to the levels it does after a normal meal, so that less insulin is released and the liver does not remove so much sugar for storage.

There is another, uncommon cause of hypoglycemia. A tumor of the pancreas can produce insulin the way the pancreas itself does, causing a continuous production of it. The blood sugar level may drop quite low. This is the opposite of diabetes.

For you, because of that very low blood sugar, you do have something definitely wrong. Whether it is hypoglycemia that would respond to the six-a-day high-protein feedings, or that due to pancreas tumor, I cannot safely say. You must find out. Blood sugar is discussed in the booklet "Help for Hypoglycemia." For a copy, write me in care of the Big Spring Herald. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Will you please discuss dropped foot? What causes it and what is the remedy for it? — M.A.F.

Muscles on the front and outside part of the shin lift the foot upward. Flex your foot upward and you can feel these muscles working. When they do not work, the foot drops. That is foot drop. You know that in order for muscles to work, nerves must "plug into" them, just as an electrical appliance has to have wires plugged into its outlet.

With dropped foot, the nerve that is supposed to plug into these muscles is easily injured because it is very close to the skin. Simply crossing the legs over the opposite knee can injure the nerve. So can prolonged kneeling. The nerve may be affected in certain illnesses, like diabetes. If the injury is not severe function of the muscle will return. If the damage is permanent special braces to keep the foot from hanging limply may have to be used.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am bothered with dry, cracking, and peeling lips. This does not just happen in winter, but all year long. I look awful and have problems applying lipstick. Can this be an allergy? I have no other explanation for it. Do you? — Mrs. O.O.

Yes, this does sound like an allergic reaction. The first thing to investigate is cosmetics. You can easily test this by eliminating all lipstick use on a trial basis. If your condition improves, you can then inquire about some of the hypoallergenic cosmetics now available. They have most of the common allergenic substances removed and are worth a try. There are no guarantees.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I drink plenty of alcohol, but don't know whether or not I am an alcoholic. I have been ordered by doctors to stop drinking, but I can't. I'm being held in jail for a couple of crimes that I don't remember. I have some type of blackouts and do stupid things that I can't remember. — K.D.

You ARE an alcoholic. You'll need help to stop drinking. Call your doctor for an examination. Then call AA for help in stopping. Do both fast.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is it possible for a person to be allergic to his own sweat? — K.F.

I don't think so. It may be irritating though, like prickly heat.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is such a thing as ultrasound being used to determine the sex of a fetus before birth? If so, how soon can this be done? — L.K.

It can be done, if there is good reason to want to know. According to recent material I have seen, this can be done with ultrasound at about the 25th week of pregnancy. It cannot always be done, because it is based on viewing of the genitalia of the fetus. Sometimes this is hidden from view. In one report of 112 pregnancies in which the method was used, the doctors said they were able to determine sex in 72 of them (42 males and 30 females).

There's an old saying — if your feet hurt, you hurt all over. Dr. Donohue's booklet, "Relief and Care of Your Feet," shows you how to avoid and take care of foot problems. To get your copy, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am going through a period of deep depression, and sometimes wonder if I am losing my sanity. I can't even function as a wife and mother anymore. I hardly feel like I can pray. Will God help me? — Mrs. S.K.A.

DEAR MRS. S.K.A.: Yes, God wants to help you during this difficult time. That does not mean he will necessarily bring healing to you all at once, but he loves you and wants you to know that he is with you. Christ was willing to go to the cross to redeem you and make you his child, and if you have put your trust and faith in him you are now part of his family. And you have the sure promise of God himself that nothing "in all creation, will be able to separate us from the love of God that is in Christ Jesus our Lord." (Romans 8:39).

Let me make several suggestions. First, if you have never given your life to Jesus Christ, commit yourself to him. Ask him to come into your life, and resolve by faith that you will trust him for your future — both in this life and in the life to come. Salvation, the Bible tells us, is a gift God offers us. He has done everything possible to give it to us. His Son paid the price for our sins by dying on the cross, and he rose from the dead to show us he is alive and ready to come into our hearts when we open them to him.

Then thank God that he is with you, and that he has promised "Never will I leave you; never will I forsake you" (Hebrews 13:5). Pray that he will help you to know more and more each day, that he surrounds you with his love. Trust the promises of his Word, the Bible.

In addition, I trust that you will seek whatever professional help you may need at this time. Sometimes depression may have physical causes, and your doctor should be fully informed of your problem. Sometimes there are reasons for depression which can be traced back to experiences we had earlier in our lives, and a trained psychologist or psychiatrist can help us understand these. Ask your pastor to recommend a Christian who can help you along these lines. God bless you.

Keeping tabs

Jock Anderson,

WASHINGTON — The Reagan administration's announced determination to combat the flow of Soviet arms to El Salvador's leftist guerrillas has stirred intense controversy. Some Latin American countries — notably Mexico — tend to discount the importance of the Salvadoran leftists' connection with the Cuban and Nicaraguan regimes.

But while others may poo-poo the Reagan advisers' concern over Cuban help to the Salvadoran guerrillas, U.S. intelligence experts point to the intermittent presence of a dangerous Cuban official in Nicaragua, the primary transit point for Soviet aid to the guerrillas.

THE MAN OUR intelligence people are worried about is Fernando Vecino Alegria, a 47-year-old major general in Fidel Castro's clandestine service, DGI. He travels under the cover of Castro's minister of higher education.

Here's what intelligence sources have told my associate Dale Van Atta about Vecino's undercover career:

— Born in Havana, Vecino was an early associate of Castro and became an influential member of the inner circle that took control of Cuba after the ouster of Fulgencio Batista.

— Vecino was initially put in charge of a Cuban province, but in 1962 was made director of the National Institute for Agricultural Reform.

— In 1966, while nominally in charge of the Union of Cuban Communist Youth, Vecino performed a secret — and successful — espionage mission in France.

— Later in 1966, Vecino was given overall command of Cuban missile forces — a post that required close connections with the Russians.

— From 1967 to 1974, Vecino performed a number of missions for Castro's secret police, including a period as military attaché in North Vietnam. Intelligence sources say he took part in the interrogation — and torture — of American prisoners of war.

— Promoted to vice minister of the armed forces in 1975 and made a member of the Cuban Communist Party's central committee, Vecino supervised Castro's adventures in Angola and Ethiopia.

— In 1978, Vecino was named minister of higher education, a post that allowed him to send large numbers of paramilitary agents into various Central American countries under the cover of educational assistance.

— In 1979, Vecino set up headquarters in Costa Rica, where he was able to keep in constant touch with the Sandinista rebels while they were fighting Anastasio Somoza's Nicaraguan dictatorship. When the Sandinistas won, Vecino and a sidekick who was also a Cuban general moved to Managua for a time.

SINCE THEN, ACCORDING to intelligence sources, Vecino has been close to the more leftist elements of the Nicaraguan government, making regular visits to Managua. Among his services to the Nicaraguan regime was arranging the shipment of 100 captured American 105-millimeter howitzers from Vietnam to Nicaragua. The artillery pieces were shipped to Nicaragua in a vessel operated under Lebanese registry by the Palestine Liberation Organization.

Vecino's role as Castro's spy-master and general troublemaker is well known in Latin America. In fact, his presence anywhere in the area is enough to panic military and intelligence circles. For example, his visit to the Dominican Republic in 1979 with two Cuban transport planes, supposedly to offer humanitarian assistance in the wake of a devastating hurricane, produced a cold rebuff from President Antonio Guzman.

In Nicaragua, meanwhile, Vecino has tried to cash in on the Cubans' military aid to the Sandinistas. Intelligence sources say his DGI cohorts were allowed to prepare the guest list for the rebels' first anniversary celebration last year, and the guests were reportedly frisked by the Cuban police agents. The Cubans also are reported to have a training camp in Nicaragua.

In addition, sources disclosed that Vecino's Cuban agents have maintained two guerrilla training camps in Mexico — one run by the Palestine Liberation Organization, the other by a Cuban Army major whose second-in-command is an Argentine Montenegro terrorist.

Footnote: We recently reported that the leftist insurgents in El Salvador were being supplied with arms and ammunition by Cuba and several Soviet satellite nations. The State Department later confirmed the story in every detail.

DIPLOMATIC NICETY: In 1975, the State Department's Office of Foreign Buildings decided the time had come to give the American ambassador in Cairo a new official residence. So a house was purchased in a posh section of the Egyptian capital called Maadi, for $1.8 million. It took another $3 million to refurbish it to the proper level of elegance. But the ambassador refused to move in. It was not only too far out of downtown Cairo, but was not suitable for entertaining. The State Department's house-hunters are now working on a new residence at a cost of some $2 million.

Fake Krugerrands force bank head to resign

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — An Amarillo bank president resigned his post after learning the South African gold coins he accepted as collateral for $270,000 in loans were counterfeit.

However, federal agents say Robert Ringo, former president of Tascosa National Bank of Amarillo, was only one of a number of people duped by a counterfeit operation that has sold the fake Krugerrands in Houston, Austin and Amarillo.

Investigators have confiscated gold-plated lead coins with a counterfeit value of almost $1.5 million in Amarillo and about $70,000 worth in Houston, said Secret Service agent David Freriks in Lubbock. He said some fake coins have turned up in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and agents are aware of sales in Austin.

Besides the Tascosa National Bank, agents say another unidentified lending institution in Houston authorized a $35,000 loan with fake coins as collateral.

Ringo abruptly submitted his resignation Wednesday, which the bank board accepted.

"I made a loan secured by a gold Krugerrand that turned out to be counterfeit. That's what it's all about," Ringo said, adding he made four loans totaling $270,000.

Federal agents say they still cannot account for about 300 of the fake coins that were being sold for $200 to $350 each. The value of a genuine Krugerrand — a 1-ounce, all-gold South African coin — fluctuates with the price of gold and currently is about $588.

Sidney James Heard, 38, of Amarillo, was released on $10,000 bond after he was charged in Houston with theft over $10,000 in connection with the alleged sale of fake Krugerrands, said Freriks.

Houston police became involved when a coin dealer called to say he was suspicious of Krugerrands he was offered for $350 each. Detectives watched the purchase of 100 of the coins for $35,000, then arrested Heard at a bank.

National embargo against California produce mulled

By STEVE SNIDER
States News Service

WASHINGTON — Federal agriculture officials are prepared to place a national quarantine on California produce if current measures to eradicate the potentially devastating Mediterranean fruit fly prove ineffective, spokesman said here Tuesday.

Texas has banned the importation of most fresh California fruits and vegetables since March 1.

Although the national quarantine isn't imminent, this potential embargo of California's $12 billion crop has been discussed in meetings here and between federal and state officials. Such a federal quarantine is in place for Hawaii.

"You get to the point where you've given it your best shot," said Susan Kess, a USDA spokesman. "The next option is to keep other people from getting it, and that's a quarantine. That option comes up regularly in our discussions."

"This is an outright emergency," she added. "We never thought we'd have it."

The "meffy" is a tropical insect slightly smaller than a house fly. The female fly deposits eggs under the surface of many this-skinned fruits and vegetables. The developing maggots feed on the fruit causing it to rot and prematurely fall from the tree and the maggots mature into a new generation of meffies.

The Supreme Court is scheduled to receive a report today from the U.S. solicitor general detailing the government's opinion of Texas' ban on the California imports.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown imposed the ban as of March 1, citing potentially serious consequences of fruit fly infestation to the state. Texas ranks behind only California and Florida in citrus production.

"People keep calling this an embargo, but it's not," said Loretta Ewart, a spokeswoman in Brown's office. "They (California) can bring in all the fruits and vegetables they want as long as they are fumigated," Eart said the state agriculture impairment expects some "temporary shortages" of produce during the quarantine.

The ban prompted California to sue Texas in the Supreme Court and California avocado growers to sue Texas in the U.S. District Court in Dallas.

California claims that without a general, federal quarantine, the Texas action is an unconstitutional interference with interstate commerce.

Hess said federal officials are concerned about general spread of the fruit fly, which was last seen — and quickly eradicated — around Los Angeles in 1975.

"We have to think of the other states," said Hess. "If it (the meffy) ever get into Georgia the peach harvest would be destroyed."

Jerry Scother, director of the California's medfly eradication program, called the potential national quarantine "a disaster."

In 1928, during the nation's worst invasion by the flying pest, National Guardsmen were called out to enforce the slashing and burning of fruit trees in Florida.

Last summer, agriculture officials were surprised by the discovery of fruit fly eggs in Santa Clara County, California, (which includes the city of San Jose) farther north than the flies were thought to live. Since then, a 50-square-mile area has been quarantined and eradication efforts have become intense.

Teams have stripped an estimated 958 tons of fruit from trees to deny the flies a place to propagate, and about two billion sterile flies have been dropped into this core area to mate with female flies. California also is applying the insecticide alathon to the ground under the trees where the maggots develop into flies.

While these methods appear to have been successful, the critical period is approaching. California stateworkers haven't found any wild flies to their traps since late January, but the winter weather may have slowed up their development and kept them in a dormant stage.

Summerville sentenced

DALLAS (AP) — David Lee Summerville, who faces a life sentence for his guilty plea to an aggravated rape charge, has received two more prison terms after pleading guilty to a second rape charge and to kidnapping 7-year-old Matthew Mueller.

Summerville, 24, was sentenced to 50 years for the rape and 30 years for the kidnapping Tuesday. The terms will run concurrently with the life sentence he received last summer.

The boy was abducted last September while riding his bicycle and was held for $20,000 ransom for 28 hours before escaping unharmed.

House fire kills three

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Fire investigators say a defective electric heater that had spewed sparks in the past probably caused a fire that killed three children and injured four others in their adobe home.

The survivors included the mother of the seven victims, who was hospitalized for shock and hysteria after trying unsuccessfully to re-enter the burning house to rescue her screaming children.

"The electrical heater was faulty—they had to kick it to get it started and sometimes sparks flew out—and this was in the origin of the fire," said Fire Marshal Joe Wilson.

Cookie RECIPES

FOR GROWN-UPS AND SMART KIDS

EXPERIENCED COOKS — as well as beginners will find recipes prepared with Girl Scout Cookies both easy and delicious. The cookies are available in seven varieties from all local Girl Scouts. Why not try them all?

What's your favorite? Peanut Butter Patties, Sumores, Shortbread, Peanut Butter Sandwich, Assorted Sandwich Cremes, Thin Mints, or Old Fashioned Oatmeal? If you have difficulty in choosing just one, you already know how delicious Girl Scout Cookies are. But did you know that they can help create mouth-watering desserts, too? Here are just a few of the many ways that the cookies can be used to make delicious desserts in minutes.

BLACK FOREST PIE

1 — 9 inch unbaked pie crust
1 — 21 ounce can cherry pie filling
1/2 teaspoon almond extract
10-12 Girl Scout Chocolate Sandwich Creme Cookies
1 cup whipping cream

1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1 tablespoon sugar
1 or 2 crushed Girl Scout Chocolate Sandwich Cream Cookies.

Into the pie crust, spoon one-third of the cherry filling. Add the almond extract to the remaining filling, in the can and mix well. Arrange whole cookies on top of the cherry filling in the crust, covering filling. Spoon remaining filling over the cookies, smoothing top. Bake in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) for 25-30 minutes, until filling is bubbling and crust is well browned. Remove from oven and allow to cool completely. Whip cream with vanilla and sugar. Spread over cooled pie. Sprinkle crushed cookies over the top. Serves 8.

COOKIES 'N FRUIT

Turn a 22-ounce can of cherry pie filling into 8-inch pie plate. Press 6 to 8 Vanilla Sandwich Cookies slightly into surface. Heat in 400 degrees F. oven until bubbling, 15 minutes. Spoon into dessert dishes, with cookies on top of each serving. Serve warm with cream.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.
Vanilla Sandwich Cookies are delicious with peach or pineapple pie fillings.

BROWNIE PIE

14 Girl Scout Thin Mint Cookies
3 egg whites
dash of salt
3/4 cup granulated sugar
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
1/2 cup chopped nuts

Roll cookies to crush. (If cookies are warm and chocolate soft, chill slightly before rolling.) Beat together egg whites and salt until soft peaks form. Add vanilla. Add sugar gradually, and beat until stiff peaks form. Fold in cookie crumbs and nuts.

Pour into a greased 9 inch pie pan. Spread evenly. Bake in a slow oven (325 degrees F.) for 35 minutes. Remove from oven and cool completely. Serve with whipped cream garnished with chocolate bits, or shaved chocolate. 8 servings.

EASY PEANUTTY BRITTLE

10 Girl Scout Peanut Butter Sandwich Cookies
2 tablespoons margarine
1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla

Cut cookies into large pieces. (Use a cutting board and cut each cookie into thirds and then into thirds again.) Melt margarine in a heavy skillet. Add sugar, salt and vanilla. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until sugar is melted and smooth. (Sugar will turn a golden brown.) Do not overcook. Remove from heat and add cut up cookies, mixing to coat them. Pour immediately into a well greased 9x13 inch pan. Cool thoroughly. Break brittle into pieces.

SUNDAE TOPPINGS

Your Girl Scout Peanut Butter Patties make super dessert toppings. Coarsely chop one cookie and sprinkle it over a scoop of your favorite ice cream. Or chop 5 thin mint cookies and add to 1/2 cup chocolate syrup. Let stand awhile before pouring over vanilla ice cream.

For a nut treat, chop 4 peanut butter patties and fold into two-thirds cup light corn syrup. Spoon over vanilla ice cream. This makes a thick topping.

SUPER EASY APPLE CRISP

1 — 12 ounce can apple slices
2 tablespoons lemon juice
One-third cup butter or margarine, melted
One-third cup brown sugar
24 Girl Scout Oatmeal Cookies, crushed.
Combine apples and lemon juice. Pour into a greased 6 1/2 x 10 inch pan. Mix butter and brown sugar. Add crushed cookies, stirring well. Distribute mixture evenly over apples. Bake in a hot oven, (400 degrees F.) for 20-25 minutes. Serve warm, with whipped cream or vanilla ice cream if desired.

Loving Words Ease Couple's Heavy Burden

DEAR ABBY: I am a 55-year-old chemical engineer, married to a 52-year-old woman for 32 years. Since last August I have suffered a heart attack, my wife has had a malignant tumor and one kidney removed, my 64-year-old sister died of cancer, my wife's 46-year-old sister died of cancer, and our closest friend has just been diagnosed with an inoperable brain tumor.

And as if that's not bad enough, two of our three children have hit bottom — drugs, alcohol, charged with robbery and all the other things that tear parents up. In one month I must return to the hospital for removal of an aneurysm and replacement by aortic graft.

Yesterday I came home and found a "love letter" from my wife. It read (in part), "Darling, you are like a rock and I am like a balloon. And if we weren't tied together, I'd have floated off into space long ago and burst! Thank you for your commitment to a lasting marriage. I don't know all the hurts I've caused you, but knowing myself, I've caused you plenty. I just want to say I love you, and I'm glad you love me." Abby, my spirits are high, and I feel so lucky I had to share this with someone.

I MARRIED AN ANGEL. (ATHENS, GA.)

DEAR MARRIED: Your letter started out like the Book of Job, but what a lovely O. Henry ending! Thanks for sharing. And may you and your angel enjoy another 32 years together.

DEAR ABBY: A woman signed ENVOIOUS wrote in to list all the advantages of being "the other woman" instead of the wife. Well, she is all wet. I have been the other woman, and I know firsthand that it's a losing game. I was married. My lover wasn't, but he was living with a woman who watched him closer than most wives watch their husbands. He managed to see me anyway. He kept telling me he loved me, but as long as I was a married woman there was no hope of marrying me, so he might as well live with this other woman and let her keep house and cook for him.

I was so in love with him that after two years I couldn't stand it, so I got a divorce. Did he marry me? Are you kidding? He ran like his pants were on fire!

LOVED AND LOST

DEAR LOVED: From the sound of your lover, you didn't lose much.

DEAR ABBY: Recently a woman signed G. IN JERSEY asked, "Now that I'm a career woman, why can't my husband be as supportive of my career as I was of his?" You said, "He must be the exception; most men are very supportive of their wives' careers."

Usually you are so "right on" that it's hard to believe that you were so out to lunch on this subject. I took that column to work with me, and you should have heard the reaction from the 30 women with whom I work! They said, "Abby must be referring to her own husband — and he is the exception."

Abby, my husband has never lifted a finger to help me in my career, although I have given him tremendous emotional and financial support in his. I've helped him entertain his bosses and clients, but he would never do the same for me.

If the kids were sick, he'd think I had lost my mind if I suggested that he miss work because I had an important business trip scheduled. His career is all that matters to him. He constantly belittles mine, although I help pay the bills. All the women at work agreed that their husbands feel the same as mine.

As a surprise for my husband's next birthday, I am giving him a divorce!

Nation's cattle herds continue expansion

COLLEGE STATION — holding back cows and heifers to rebuild their breeding herds." On Jan. 1 there were 5 percent more beef cows than year ago in the U.S. The buildup of the nation's cow herd could remain rather rapid for the next year or so, but some slowdown is likely as early as 1984, speculates Uvacek.

"In fact, expansion could be so rapid that over-production problems might again plague the cattle industry by 1985 or '86," he points out.

Most cattlemen are continuing to expand their herds, and as a result 1980 was another buildup year in the new cattle cycle," points out Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing economist with the Texas Agriculture Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "In other words, cattlemen are

Child crime on the rise

"Kids are getting worse than adults"

NEW YORK (AP) — A 9-year-old pulled out a loaded pellet gun and held his New Jersey parochial school class at bay. Another held up a midtown Manhattan bank. A third youngster robbed a Fort Worth, Texas, convenience store at gunpoint — and tipped the cashier.

Schoolyard games of cops and robbers have come to life in recent days. Psychiatrists say child criminals generally act impulsively without knowing the consequences and may be imitating each other.

"Youngsters are even more prone than adults to emulate and imitate the actions of others," says Dr. Elissa Benedek of the Center for Forensic Psychiatry at Ann Arbor, Mich. "When a youngster pulls a prank, other youngsters emulate that type of thing."

Ms. Benedek says young children still are developing a sense of right and wrong and "many simply don't have that ability to think ahead to the consequences."

Mario Merola, The Bronx, N.Y., says 28 children under 15 have been arrested in the past six months for crimes involving guns in his area.

About 1,900 juveniles between the ages of 7 and 12 were arrested in New York City last year. Under state law, those children cannot serve time in secure facilities.

"The kids are getting worse than the adults," Merola says. "There was a time when we classified juvenile crime as truancy. Now we call it murder, robbery and rape."

In New York on Monday, a 9-year-old boy identified only as Robert was charged with armed robbery and possession of a weapon in juvenile-delinquency proceedings stemming from the New York bank robbery.

The boy used a toy cap pistol in the heist of $118, authorities said. He spent part of the money on hamburgers, a movie and a wrist watch that played music.

In Collingswood, N.J., Wednesday, a fourth-grade student at the Transfiguration Grammar School pulled a loaded pellet gun in front of 28 classmates and a nun.

The boy "had a bit of a problem with another student in school from the day before," explained police Detective James Wilson.

Shortly after the students returned from Ash Wednesday services at an adjacent church, Wilson said, "the suspect is alleged to have produced a handgun, confronted the whole classroom and the teacher with the weapon."

No one was injured. The 9-year-old was charged with unlawful possession of a weapon, making terroristic threats and assault with a weapon, police said.

The latest FBI figures indicate that 117,589 children aged 11 or 12 were arrested in the nation's cities in 1979, down slightly from the year before.

But the FBI says those figures aren't a pure indication of the trends in child crime. Many children are referred to special treatment programs and their records not formally counted.

Jump Rope for Heart event begins Friday

Jump Rope for Heart, a marathon event to aid the American Heart Association, Texas Affiliate, Inc., will be staged at the Immaculate Heart of Mary School Friday, beginning at noon, according to Sissy Mann, coordinator.

All money earned during the event will benefit research, education and community programs of the Heart Association.

Students will be working together in terms of six, using one jump rope. Each team member will jump rope until tiring, and then pass the rope to the next member.

Pledges will be based on each minute the six-member team jumps.

Each participant in the event will receive a certificate of appreciation. They will also be eligible for T-shirts. The team which raises the most contributions, in excess of $200, will receive warm-up suits.

Woman sues for JFK pics

DALLAS (AP) — A woman who took two photographs of President John F. Kennedy during his assassination here in 1963 has filed suit against the federal government to get the pictures back.

Frank Shor, attorney for Mary Ann Bortoni, says he believes the government is keeping the photographs because they may prove the "grassy knoll" theory that a second gunman participated in the assassination.

Lee Harvey Oswald, who was killed shortly after the assassination, was accused of being the lone gunman who killed Kennedy.

War protest re-emerging in America

WASHINGTON (AP) From campuses to church a fledgling anti-movement is emerging in America. This one upped U.S. military involvement in El Salvador, and it is drawing support from veterans of Vietnams a decade ago.

Already, there have been campus teach-ins, protest rallies. A hunger strike is scheduled soon, the hallmark of anti-Vietnam era return: a march on the Pentagon.

"There is a tremendous awareness that this involvement looks like happened around Vietnam," said Heidi Tarver, director for the Committee for Solidarity with the People of El Salvador. "People are saying, 'We're not going to be taken in again.'"

Ron Kovic, former leader of Vietnam Veterans Against the War, said he was prised when hundreds of college students turned out for a teach-in on West Coast.

The protests over Salvador "have been sophisticated and have come very quickly," Kovic said. "The protest is inevitable going to build and it involves Vietnam Veterans Against the War. I think another American should have to die another mistake."

Sister Pat Haggerty of her Maryknoll order of Catholic Church has flooded with requests speakers on El Salvador. The talks have been attracting "a wide cross-section" of people, she said.

"There is a very strong feeling as Americans have a chance to see the other side of the picture in Salvador," Sister Haggerty said, arguing that the Department has represented the Salvadoran civil war as a power struggle between the United States and the Soviet Union.

She contends the conflict is the people's struggle for liberation and against repression. "Test groups frequently on opposite sides increased military aid to Salvador's civilian-military junta with attacks President Reagan proposed cuts in aid programs."

"U.S. — Hands off Salvador! Money for Human Needs, Not for Pentagon," reads a flyer a May 3 march on the Pentagon scheduled for a group called the People's Anti-War Mobilization.

The newly formed coalition of student civil rights groups, left and right-wing religious leaders, and former Vietnam War activists.

Here's how to prevent mildew

WASHINGTON, D.C. The molds that cause mildew are present in the air they will settle and wherever it is warm, dark, or dirty—in ceiling crawl spaces, closets, a clothing, shoes, upholstery and books.

Keeping clean and dry places and materials mildew is likely to grow the first line of defense according to a bulletin recently published by U.S. Department of Agriculture's Science Education Administration (SEA). Fans, dehumidifiers, and moisture absorbers mold inhibitors may keep mildew from gaining foothold in the home.

Mildew can discolor eventually cause rot in cotton, silk, linen, wool, leather, wood, paper. If you live where humid, you are especially likely to have a mildew problem.

The bulletin suggests several ways to remove mildew and treat the material depending on the material affected. Many of the recommended treatments are items commonly found in the home, such as bleach, washing soda, talcum powder.

Keeping clean and dry all places and materials where mildew is likely to grow is the first line of defense, according to a bulletin recently published by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Science and Education Administration (SEA). Fans, lights, dehumidifiers, and chemical moisture absorbers and mold inhibitors may also keep mildew from gaining a foothold in the home.

Mildew can discolor and eventually cause rotting in cotton, silk, linen, rayon, wool, leather, wood, and paper. If you live where it's humid, you are especially likely to have a mildew problem.

The bulletin suggests several ways to remove mildew and treat the stains, depending on the material affected. Many of the recommended treatments are items commonly found in the home, such as soap, bleach, washing soda, and talcum powder.

For a free copy of "How to Prevent and Remove Mildew—Home Methods," Home and Garden Bulletin 68, write to U.S. Department of Agriculture, SEA Publications Requests and Distribution, Room 6007, South Building, Washington, D.C. 20250. Please include your address and ZIP code with your request.

Credit union employees learning sign language

Fifteen employees of Citizen Federal Credit Union are currently learning sign language. The course, which is being taught through both the Southwest Institute of the Deaf (SWID) and Howard College of Big Spring, will entail 20 hours of classroom instruction.

The classes are being held Tuesday afternoon each week at the credit union and cover the various elements of sign language and spelling.

Jim Weaver, assistant manager of Citizens Credit Union, said he felt there was an increasing need to learn sign language in an effort to better communicate with students attending the Southwest Institute of the Deaf (SWID) in Big Spring. He said that many of these students were coming into the credit union to transact business and that employees felt at a loss when it came to communicating with SWID students.

Bob Coltrane, who arrived at SWID from South Carolina in August, teaches the classes at the credit union Tuesday afternoons beginning at 4:00 p.m. During the initial class, Coltrane said that people first have to realize that these individuals are deaf and that the old phrase of 'deaf and dumb' does not apply to any deaf people since all have the ability to make sounds. He said telling a deaf person that he is 'deaf and dumb' makes them think that you're a hearing person and dumb.

Coltrane went on to say that "as a group, deaf people have more patience than any group I've ever met." He said that the people should try to use sign language with deaf people if for no other reason than to make them feel better — that's you're trying to communicate with them.

As with any new language, he said that individuals taking the class were going to have to practice to become better at it. "If you don't practice," Coltrane said, "you'll forget all that you learn." He said he also felt that those students attending the classes at Citizens Federal Credit Union were fortunate in that they all worked together and used sign language during breaks and at other times during the day.

Coltrane said "the hardest part for you will be reading sign language. Anyone can learn to sign," he continued, "It's not that bad, and anyone can finger sign." He said that the hard part of reading the signs was that they were backwards and that speaking people were usually unable to grasp sign language as quickly as deaf people were accustomed to using it.

SIGNS OF THE TIME — Bob Coltrane, an instructor at the Southwest Institute of the Deaf, is teaching employees of Citizens Federal Credit Union how to improve their communications skills with deaf students who are currently attending SWID.

DOE plans project to free gas

PARACHUTE, Colo. (AP) — The federal Department of Energy has announced plans to spend $20 million on a five-year project to develop technology that will free millions of gallons of natural gas trapped in sandstone at a 56,000-acre gas field here.

A nuclear blast was used unsuccessfully in an attempt to release gas trapped in so-called "tight" gas sand formations in the Rulison field during 1969. The technique, a 40-kiloton blast set off 8,400 feet below the ground, increased gas production rates but not enough to pay for the costs of recovery.

Officials at the DOE's energy center in Bartlesville, Okla., say the new experiment calls for drilling and massive hydraulic fracturing tests.

A contract for the leases on the project was signed Jan. 30 with Superior Oil Co. in Houston.

BIG SPRING, TEXAS MARCH 5, 1981

SECTION B

A WAVE FOR THE CROWD — David Santee of Park Ridge, Ill., had a smile and a wave for the crowd after his performance in the men's short program moved him into first place in the men's competition in the 1981 World Figure Skating Championships in Hartford, Conn., Wednesday. The final event in the men's competition will take place tonight.

In Regional finals

Amarillo winner

BROWNWOOD — Olivia Jones gave a prime example of why she is a returning junior college All-American by leading Amarillo College on a late charge that overwhelmed Howard College, 62-52, in the finals of the Region V women's basketball tournament here Wednesday night.

The victory clinched a spot in the National Tournament for the Lady Badgers.

Jones was held in check for the most part by Howard's All-American candidate, Kelly Lyons, but she and Kelly Richardson were simply too much for the Big Spring team in the final five minutes.

That, and the fact that the Hawk Queens went completely cold late in the contest, broke the game wide open. The Hawks could score only one bucket in the final five minutes. It was the second such streak for the HC women.

With the Hawk Queens holding a 50-45 lead with 5:20 remaining in the second half, Jones connected for five quick points to knot the score at 50-all.

Howard College's Kelly Mull, who earned all-tournament honors with her excellent offensive showing, canned a short jumper to regain the lead for the predominantly freshman Queens. It proved to be their final two points of the game, however — in fact, their last two points of the year. At the time, 4:05 remained in the game.

Jones came back to knot the score with a twisting jumper and Mitzi Marquardt gunned Amarillo into the lead for good at 54-52 with a missile shot from the top of the circle.

The Hawk Queen offense couldn't hit on its next two possessions, and the lithe 6-1 Jones scored two more field goals to give AC a 58-52 advantage.

This forced the Howard women to try and shoot quickly in an effort to catch up. Nothing would fall, however, as attempt after attempt seemed to roll around and farmlessly drop into the arms of a Lady Badger.

Richardson climaxed the Amarillo comeback in style, canning all four of her free throw attempts to ice the regional championship for the regular season winner in the Western Conference.

Howard began the game as it would turn into a laughter. Amarillo scored first but Howard reeled off ten straight points to lead, 10-2. Amarillo fought back to trail only by a score of 14-11 but Jones suffered a knee injury under the defensive backboard and the Howard prospects immediately got brighter.

The rest of the Lady Badgers refused to quit, however. Richardson's shooting kept them close at 22-17 until 'O.J.' returned to the floor with four minutes left in the first half.

Howard College managed to retain the lead, with a Mull basket from the side in the final five seconds, enabling the Queens to go to the dressing room with a 30-25 advantage.

The first of two very cold play periods hit the Big Spring team shortly after the second half began. The Queens failed to score for over four minutes. It took a Carrie Lee Lutrick jumper with 15:36 left for the Queens to regain the lead.

From there, the Queens gradually stretched the margin to five points at 50-45 before the second cold period at the end proved fatal to the Big Spring team.

Jones ended the game with 23 points, high for either team. She also captured 12 rebounds. She hit on 11 of 14 shots from the field.

Mull counted 16 points to lead the Queens, with Cynthia Robinson adding 13 and Kelly Lyons 11. Lyons managed to connect on only five of 16 from the court.

Both teams were hot at the charity line. Amarillo made good six times in as many efforts while Howard hit on eight of nine.

Amarillo had the advantage from the field, hitting 29 of 70, compared to 22 of 58 for Howard. The Lady Badgers outrebounded the Hawk Queens, 36-26.

In the end, it was the surge in the final minutes that sealed the Hawk Queens' doom.

The Howard women ended their season with a 28-8 worst record. Amarillo is now 28-6, with a chance to improve on that mark.

HOWARD COLLEGE (82) — Floyd 0-0; Wassermann 1-0; Lutrick 3-2; Lyons 5-11; Luna 1-0; Robinson 5-13; Mull 7-2-16; Totals 22-52.
AMARILLO (62) — Marquardt 3-0; Robinson 1-0; Wiley 1-3; Jones 11-22; Richardson 5-2-14; Dale 5-0-10; Kocurek 3-0-4; Totals 58-42.
Half time score — Howard 30, Amarillo 25.

Hamilton, Santee in title bid

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — American figure skaters David Santee and Scott Hamilton are set for what both predict will be a great showdown — their battle for a World Figure Skating gold medal tonight.

If Wednesday's short program was any indication, they're right.

Santee, 23, of Park Ridge, Ill., moved from second into first place overall and Hamilton was third, with Jean-Christophe Siméoni of France, in second.

Although Santee, who recently lost the national championship to Hamilton in San Diego, says the faceoff with Scott will be "fun," he is confident of a gold medal.

"My goal in ice skating has always been to be world champion," said Santee, who has competed in five other worlds and never won a medal. Now I'm on the doorstep.

Also Wednesday, the Soviets continued their world domination of the pairs event, with Irina Vorobieva and Igor Lisovsky winning the gold medal. Sabine Baess and Tassilo Thierbach of East Germany were second and Christina Riegel and Andreas Nischwitz of West Germany were third.

It was the 16th time in 17 years that the Soviets have won the championship, with only Americans Tai Babilonia and Randy Gardner breaking the stranglehold in 1979.

The defending world champions, Soviets Marina Cherkasova and Sergei Shkrai gave a lackluster performance and finished fourth overall.

The American national champions, the brother-sister team of Peter and Kitty Carruthers, of Wilmington, Del., moved from seventh to fifth overall. Newcomers Lea Ann Miller and William Fauver, of Colorado Springs, were 10th out of 11 pairs.

1982 meet to be here

Coaches and representatives of the women's division of Region V of the National Junior College Athletic Association, meeting Tuesday in Brownwood, chose Big Spring as a site for the 1981 basketball tournament.

The tournament will be staged in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum on the Howard College campus. The top five teams in the Western Conference and the top five in the North Athletic Junior College Conference will compete in the tournament.

The winner will oppose the winner in the Region XIV Tournament for the right to take part in the National Tournament in Kansas.

Representing Howard County and Big Spring at the Brownwood meeting were Don Stevens, coach of the HC Hawk Queens; and Mark Sheedy, assistant manager of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

New champion assured in Region V tourney

BROWNWOOD — When the first round of the Region V Men's Tournament gets under way this afternoon, it will be assured of producing a new champion for the first time in five years.

That's because Western Texas College, which has won the tough Region V title the past five years, didn't even make the field this year. The defending national champions finished in a tie for seventh place in the Western Conference, and they can't put three very good games together. In fact, the Hawks were the first team to defeat Midland this year, kayoing the then undefeated and number one ranked team in the nation by 74-72.

Led by freshman star Randy Corker, the Hawks meet Ranger in a 4 o'clock afternoon game today. Ranger is a team that scrimmaged the Howard College team back in early November, but the two schools haven't seen each other since then.

Both teams actually tied for second in their respective conferences. But Howard got the number two seed in the team has an off night they'll probably get beat."

Midland, which won the Western Conference with a 16-2 record and carries an impressive season mark of 28-2, plays the winner of the Wednesday battle between NMJC and Cisco. That contest will begin at six o'clock tonight.

The Howard College Hawks of Coach Harold Wilder, who finished second in the WJC behind Midland, has the talent to win it all, if they can put three very good games together. In fact, the Hawks were the first team to defeat Midland this year, kayoing the then undefeated and number one ranked team in the nation by 74-72.

Led by freshman star Randy Corker, the Hawks meet Ranger in a 4 o'clock afternoon game today. Ranger is a team that scrimmaged the Howard College team back in early November, but the two schools haven't seen each other since then.

Both teams actually tied for second in their respective conferences. But Howard got the number two seed in the WJC by beating Frank Phillips on power points, while Ranger had to take a back seat and accept the third seed in the NJC to McLennan by losing on the power point procedure to that Waco school.

Corker, who was named to the first team All-WJC team earlier this week, joins Ron Akins and Kenneth Jones to give the HC crew as good an inside game as anyone in the tournament should have. Akins and Jones were both Honorable Mention choices on the All-WJC team.

The Hawks will take a season mark of 23-8 into today's contest. A win today will throw them into a semifinal match against the winner of the Cooke-South Plains-Weatherford contest.

Nazareth eyes 5th crown

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Cousins Sharon and Lori Gerber combined for 38 points today as Nazareth opened defense of its Class A girls' state basketball title with a 70-35 victory over LaRue LaPoyner in the semifinals in the state tournament.

Nazareth has won four straight state championships and has won 34 games and lost two this year.

The Panhandle team is beating its opponents by an average of over 40 points this season, and even its subs outscored LaPoyner when they were in the game.

Lori Gerber scored 21 points and Sharon Gerber had 17. Sharon Birkenfeld tallied 14 for Nazareth even though she played only 5½ minutes.

LaPoyner trailed 39-19 at halftime and never came close to Nazareth. Patty Hanks scored 9 points for LaPoyner and had 18 rebounds.

LaPoyner was eliminated from the tournament with 31-4 record. Nazareth will play the winner of the Colmesneil-Weatherford Brock game for the championship Saturday.

Teams' records same but moods are different

By the Associated Press
It's been nine years since the National Basketball Association has had two teams with records as good as the Philadelphia 76ers and Boston Celtics have today.

Both teams are 54-15, a .783 percentage, the best since Los Angeles finished .841 and Milwaukee was .788 in 1972.

But after Boston beat Houston 108-101 on the road and the Chicago Bulls upset the 76ers 111-100 in Philadelphia Wednesday night, the moods of the two powerful teams were decidedly different.

"I have to sit down and figure out what went wrong," said Philadelphia Coach Billy Cunningham. "We looked quite dead. It didn't look like it was any fun to be out on the court. I guess I'll have to make changes in the lineup. I'll decide that after practice tomorrow."

"The Bulls came out and played a determined game, while we were flat and tentative," said Sixers forward Julius Erving. "And we let them run the show."

The Celtics, who won their second in a row on the road, were happy.

"When we went on this road trip, we felt that we had a good chance to win two of the three games. We now have a chance to win all three," Boston star Larry Bird said. "Philadelphia thought that they could widen their lead on us when we went on the road, but now we have pulled even and the pressure is on them."

"I don't think that Houston played as well as they can, but it is a tribute to our team when we can have a bad quarter or a half on the road and still win the game," said Boston Coach Bill Fitch.

Elsewhere in the NBA, Kansas City surprised San Antonio 111-97, Denver trimmed Los Angeles 123-114, Phoenix bounced Cleveland 126-106, Washington clubbed San Diego 115-103, Golden State edged Utah 107-105 and Seattle tripped Indiana 105-93.

Chicago Coach Jerry Sloan, whose team is fighting for a playoff berth, said the victory "should give us a big lift."

"It was important to win on the road," he said. "Neither team played especially well. I know the 76ers have played better ball against us in other games — they once beat us by 41 points at home."

"We knew we could beat the 76ers," said Reggie Theus, who led all scorers with 26 points for Chicago. "This victory was very important to us, since Philadelphia is such a powerful club and everybody thought we would lose to them on their home court."

Kings 111, Spurs 97
Kansas City passed Houston in their battle for a Western Conference playoff berth as Otis Birdsong scored 39 points to beat Midwest Division leader San Antonio. Portland is 36-33, Golden State 34-34, the Kings 34-36 and Houston 33-36 in the race for three playoff spots. The victory was the first for the Kings in San Antonio in 10 games and snapped a four-game winning streak for the Spurs.

Birdsong had 20 points in the second period, when the whole San Antonio team scored just 14.
Bullets 115, Clippers 103
Greg Ballard scored 24 points and Elvin Hayes 19 to pace Washington to an important road victory over

San Diego. The triumph kept the Bullets 2½ games behind Chicago, the team they are chasing for an Eastern Conference playoff berth.

Mitch Kupchak had 18 points and 16 rebounds for Washington as he replaced injured center Wes Unseld, who missed the game because of knee problems.
Nuggets 123, Lakers 114
Alex English, David Thompson and Dan Issel combined for 86 points as Denver won its fourth game in a row. The Nuggets shot under 40 percent for three quarters and still trailed 104-98 with nine minutes remaining, but they outscored the Lakers 25-10 the rest of the way as Ken Higgs contributed most of his nine assists in the waning minutes.

English scored 31 points, Thompson 28 and Issel 27 for Denver.
Suns 126, Cavaliers 106
Truck Robinson scored 20 points, including 10 in a crucial third-quarter spurt, to lead six Phoenix players in a double figures.

Cleveland led 71-70 midway through the third period before the Suns, with Robinson leading the way, outscored the Cavaliers 22-9 the rest of the quarter to take a 92-79 lead.
Sonics 105, Pacers 93
Vinnie Johnson scored 22 points and Seattle fought off two Indiana comebacks to snap a three-game losing streak. The Sonics led 59-45 at halftime as the Pacers shot 33 percent from the field in the first half. Seattle built the margin to 17 points in the third quarter before Indiana whittled the lead to 78-71.

Then Seattle reeled off 10 points in a row early in the fourth quarter to take another 17-point lead, and Indiana cut the advantage to 94-96 before falling back again.
Warriors 107, Jazz 105

Bernard King's basket with seven seconds remaining gave Golden State its victory over Utah.

King scored nine points in the final 3½ minutes to finish as the Warriors' high scorer with 31. Adrian Dantley led Utah with 34 and Darrell Griffith added 29 for the Jazz.
Golden State scored the last five points in the game. Joe Hassett tied the score 105-105 with 40 seconds remaining with a three-point goal.

Kings rip SA Spurs

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs, who have practically clinched the Midwest Division title, were given a basketball lesson by the Kansas City Kings, a team hustling for a berth in the National Basketball Association playoffs.

The Kings, ignited by a brilliant 39-point performance from Otis Birdsong and a stingy defense, raced by the Spurs 111-97 to get themselves back into the playoff picture Wednesday night, leaving San Antonio coach Stan Albeck wondering what happened.

"As far as I'm concerned, this is the most disappointing game this year," said Albeck. "They beat us in every phase of the game and Birdsong's shooting absolutely killed us."

"They are not out of the playoff picture. Their backs were to the wall and you've got to give them credit," he added.

Birdsong outscored the entire San Antonio team in the second period, driving around the Spurs for five layups and shooting over them for five more baskets, while San Antonio totalled only 14 points in the quarter.

That outburst fueled Kansas City to a 56-40 halftime lead, marking the lowest point production by the Spurs for any half this season. Kansas City upped the lead to 91-67 after three periods.

"I was able to shoot well tonight. Some nights they fall and tonight was one of them," said Birdsong, who hit 19 of 25 field goal attempts for 64 percent and sank his only free throw.

"I was really fired up when I came. I wanted to play good, aggressive basketball. We needed a win after last night (a 99-98 loss to Los Angeles in Kansas City.) Last night was a tough loss."

Cooper triumphs

Playing in impossible weather conditions, Abilene Cooper won the Big Spring High School Invitational Golf Tournament Wednesday with a two-day team score of 645.

Scores skyrocketed due to wind and intermittent rain. Cooper led by three shots after the first day and beat out Lamesa's No. 1 squad by five shots at the finish.

Third was Midland L. No. 1. 16 shots off Cooper's winning pace.

Play took place on both the Comanche Trail and Big Spring Country Club courses. Trophies were provided by the State National Bank and Big Spring Savings.

Two players, Ron English of Cooper and Rick Woodson of Lamesa, tied for medalist honors with scores of 157. Woodson led after the first day of play with a 78, three shots ahead of English.

In the consolation flight, Jay Eiland of Snyder posted a winning 85 while Trey Womack and Mark Piland, both of Colorado City, tied for second with 86s.

Big Spring's individual scoring:

No. 1 team — Scott Underwood, 85-89-174; David Stephens, 81-91-172; David Hamil, 79-96-175; Brian Mitchell, 93-92-185; Rory Worthan 90-97-187.

No. 2 team — John Rodriguez, 94; Ronnie Martinez, 101; Rodney Jonas, 104;

Zimmer hit in Boston

POMPANO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — While Don Zimmer sits in the dugout down here, spitting tobacco juice into an oil barrel and salivating over his revival of Texas Rangers, he can't completely erase memories of Boston, where he was victim of a different kind of tea party.

"My daughter, Donna, still lives here," the 60-year-old onetime Dodger says, "and she's always writing me about what's going on."

"She called the other night and said, 'Daddy, guess what? They announced your game here on Patriot's Day is already a sellout.'"

Zimmer smiled at the thought of it.

"Yeah, we go in on April 20," he paused to release a spurt of brown juice, then added, "It ought to be interesting."

bitter over the abrupt, inasmuch he was fired last fall after four years as manager of the Red Sox, to be replaced by his old friend, Ralph Houk.

As was the case when he was a shortstop for the Dodgers, Cubs and old Senators — twice rallying from what could have been career-ending injuries — he bounced up and landed on his feet with the Rangers.

It is a rare challenge. The Rangers, loaded with talent, were favored to win the American League West last year. They foundered and wound up fourth, 20½ games behind Kansas City.

Derogatory rumors spread. It was a club lacking in pride. They were individualists who never played as a unit. They choked. No winning attitude.

"I hear all this stuff — not from baseball people but mainly disgruntled fans and sore-toe critics," Zimmer said. "I tell them, 'I don't want to hear it.'"

"I tell them, 'Wait and tell me about it in July.'"

Zimmer is not ready to predict the club will win the division or the pennant but he is certain they will be competitive and have a shot.

"In my seven years of managing I've never had a better pitching staff," he says. "In my last two training camps at Boston, I had eight pitchers and would have scrounge around for two more. Here we've got 20 and it's hard to reduce them to 10."

The team is solid in other areas with such reliables as Al Oliver, Mickey Rivers and Buddy Bell.

Mike Hocker, 115; David Dobek, 116.

Shane Slaton had a 121 and Ken Thorpe a 109 in individual play. Both were Big Spring entries.

Forsan's scoring: Jim Shoultz, 93; Billy Thompson, 97; Pat Gent, 104; Mitch Gill, 106; Phillips Harrison, 117.

Coahoma scoring: Cliff Snell, 103; Ricky Long, 143.

Canutillo is winner, 64-53

Canutillo upset Kermit, 64-53, in the playoff Wednesday night for the District 5-AAA boys' basketball playoffs, complicating matters in that conference.

Kermit must now play Fabens at 4:30 p.m., today in Van Horn. The winner of that matchup opposes Canutillo at 7 p.m., Friday in Van Horn.

Coahoma's Bulldogs, champions of District 6-AAA, will play the team which emerge with the 5-AAA championship. The site for that contest will likely be arranged sometime Saturday.

Four Coahoma girls were named to the All-District 6-AAA squad, with two of them earning first team honors, it was announced earlier this week.

The two Coahomans featured on the first team girls All-District 6-AAA unit included Andrea Fowler and Kari Robinson. Fowler is a senior while Robinson a junior.

Joining Fowler and Robinson on the elite unit included Cesaly Gressett and Joan Hill of Seminole, and Diana Autery of Denver City. Gloria Gonzales of Crane was voted the Most Valuable Player.

Coahomans on the honorable mention list were Robbie Ritchey and Darla Henry. Ritchey is a junior and Henry a senior.

Bears, UT are favored

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Baylor and Texas were favored tonight in the Southwest Conference Basketball postseason tournament, but if you want to bet on it, then you haven't been paying attention in the wake of a wild, wild regular season.

Not much made sense during the regular season as favorites suffered ambushes almost every week.

And the oddsmakers took note for tonight's doubleheader in this sixth annual affair, giving Baylor a 1-point edge over the surprising Texas Christian Horned Frogs and installing the Longhorns as 1½-point favorites over Texas Tech.

TCU, which finished eighth during the regular season, wasn't even supposed to be here. A 38-foot shot at the buzzer Monday night by guard Darrell Browder gave TCU a 62-60 victory over the defending champion Texas Aggies and a spot in the tournament.

In fact, TCU received tournament sweaters Wednesday night which had Texas A&M sizes. TCU coach Jim Killingsworth said, "We're just excited about being here and we don't mind if the sweaters don't fit."

Baylor coach Jim Haller, honored by his fellow coaches as The Associated Press SWC Coach of the Year, said, "All I know is I'm scared to death of TCU.

The game will feature two of the highest scorers in the conference, with Baylor's Terry Teagle matching his 20-point per game scoring pace against that of Browder, who has scored a 19.5-per-game clip.

Navratilova is easy winner

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Martina Navratilova overpowered Roberta McCallum 6-1, 6-1 and Bettina Bunge rallied back from a first-set loss to defeat Leslie Allen 4-6, 7-6, 6-3 in the second round of the $150,000 Avon Championships of Los Angeles women's tennis tournament.

In other second-round matches, Julie Harrington defeated Glynis Coles of Great Britain 6-0, 6-1; Sylvia Hanika of West Germany topped Maureen Louie 6-1, 4-6, 6-1; and JoAnne Russell beat Eva Pfaff of West Germany 6-3, 6-1.

Vets hope to return to form

By the Associated Press

A trio of veterans who couldn't find their way out of the infirmary last year began comeback attempts Wednesday. If they succeed, their teams just might find themselves in a very healthy situation — as pennant contenders.

Relief pitcher Don Stanhouse of the Dodgers and outfielders Dan Ford of the Angels and Joe Rudi of the Red Sox worked out with varying degrees of success. But, this early in spring training, just the fact that they were back in action was good news for their clubs.

Stanhouse, the ace reliever of the American League champion Baltimore Orioles in 1979, signed with Los Angeles as a free agent prior to last season. But he appeared in just 21 games while on the disabled list in 1980 and managed just seven saves.

On Wednesday, he pitched batting practice at the Dodgers' camp in Vero Beach, Fla.

"His control was not as good as it could be," said Coach Danny Ozark. "But for the first time out, he threw well. He threw for 10 minutes and threw quite freely."

Ford, a .290 hitter with 21 home runs and 101 RBI in 1979, when California won the AL West, underwent surgery for torn cartilage following that season. He appeared in just 65 games last year, hitting .266.

Ford participated in a baserunning drill at the Angels' training facility in Palm Springs, Calif., on Wednesday, then said his knee "feels fine."

"It could be stronger, it still gets a little sore at times," he added. "But I'll keep working with it and it should be no problem by the time the season starts."

And Rudi, acquired by Boston from the Angels in the deal that sent Fred Lynn to California, hit the ball hard in his first shot at live pitching at the Red Sox' camp in Winter Haven, Fla.

Tips, tidbits for taxing time

Wouldn't it be nice to be able to take a deduction for all the mental anguish you've suffered just thinking about filing your income tax? Well, you can't do that. But there are a great many deductions that are permissible that will make you feel better mentally and financially.

You've been putting off that moment of truth and now it's cliff-hanger time. So, here's a safety net. Make that jump and get those forms on their way to the IRS.

The name of the game is making sure you're getting every deduction possible. Tax experts say most taxpayers are not claiming all the tax benefits they're legally entitled to. For instance, medical expenses cover much more than the obvious — hospital stays and visits to the doctor, dentist, optometrist, and the whole cast of medicine men in 20th-century society. Since three percent of gross income is deductible in this category, every dollar spent should be recorded.

Expenses incurred getting to and from the doctor's office — by auto, taxi, train or plane — are also deductible. But you can't deduct the price of the Playboy magazine you bought to read in the waiting room.

Medical expenses run the alphabetical range from acupuncture to vaccines; and in between may be some overlooked items like Christian Science practitioners, elastic stockings, hearing aids, and walking sticks. Any special equipment prescribed by a doctor is deductible. This even applies to wigs if there has been a hair loss that is deemed to affect a person's self-esteem.

On the other hand, a business person who finds it essential to wear a wig to look more youthful on the job doesn't have to flip his wig at tax time just because it's not a medical expense. It is an allowable business deduction.

If your job requires you to wear a uniform at work, that's deductible. And "uniform" covers a wide variety of clothing; the commonplace ones like those for nurses and waitresses, plant employees, postmen. And the uncommon ones: an employee of a world-famous couturier was required to wear his designs in the boutique to project the image of an exclusive lifestyle. Since she didn't think it appropriate to her own lifestyle and wore the clothes only at work, it was deductible — at the discount rate she had purchased them for.

A fashion coordinator was able to deduct the cost of very advanced styles she wore for special meetings. But an advertising executive was not able to deduct the cost of a mink coat which his wife wore to places where clients were apt to be because he could not show that a mink coat was an essential uniform for the wife of a successful executive.

It's important to remember that having a deductible expense is one thing. Proving it to the Internal Revenue Service is something else. They want to see records: receipts, bills of sale, canceled checks, and other documents. You'll be expected to produce these papers if you are called down for an audit.

And that's where most of us run into trouble. If you're like most people, you've been accumulating documents like these in the most unlikely places: in shoe boxes, in your dresser drawers, in cookie jars with those one-of-a-kind cuff links or earrings, clipped to your old golf score cards, or stuffed into a metal box.

To be prepared for the tax man, three simple rules should be observed: keep all your expense records; keep them organized; and keep them in a safe place. If you had done that last year you wouldn't be in the spot you're in now.

All three requirements can easily be met by investing in an Underwriters' Laboratories fire-rated safe, such as a Sentry "Survivor." A fire-rated document safe will protect your irreplaceable papers even if your house should burn to the ground. On the other hand, in a conventional tin box, or even in an asbestos lined box, they will burn to a cinder. Fire-rated safes are inexpensive, and the cost is tax-deductible if used to store income or tax records.

There are many charitable deductions that may be taken even though the donation was not in the form of money changing hands. That, incidentally, accounts for the mid-December rush in pickups by the Salvation Army and other organizations.

If you're giving a piece of art to a museum, the appreciated value is deductible. If you paid $200 for the art and its current sales price would be $2,000, you have a ten-fold appreciation, which make you appreciate the tax laws — in this case, anyway.

If business has been good during the year and you've decided to be especially generous in your charitable deductions, remember this is an area where the IRS can get finicky, so guard those receipts.

Another good, inexpensive tax-deductible purchase would be one of the many books that outline hundreds of tax deductions most frequently overlooked. Go through it carefully before you file that return.

It is better to be safe than sorry.

EXHIBITION — Jerry Seagle, the popular Austin artist, will be in Big Spring March 9-13 to exhibit his recent works at The Biarritz Gallery at 115 East Third Street and to teach both a day and an evening workshop at the Hobby Center at 1005 11th Place.

Another quake hits Greece

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Another earthquake rocked Greece today, adding to the fear and misery of thousands of people camping out in the streets and squares across the nation after a quake less than a day earlier.

Many schools, stores and offices were closed because Athenians were afraid that new tremors would bring down more buildings. No new casualties were reported in the latest quake, which measured 5.8 on the Richter scale.

Police said more than 170 houses in rural areas collapsed and hundreds were damaged in the quake Wednesday night. Many of the houses had been weakened by two previous quakes over the past two weeks.

One Athenian died and 30 were injured in Wednesday's quake, which measured 6.2 on the Richter scale and was centered 42 miles west of Athens in the Gulf of Corinth.

Seagle to exhibit art, conduct two workshops

Jerry Seagle, one of the state's most popular artists, will be in Big Spring, March 9-13, 1981 to exhibit his recent works in a one-man showing at The Biarritz Gallery at 115 East 3rd and to teach both a day and an evening workshop at the Hobby Center at 1005 11th Place.

The renowned impressionistic and semiabstract artist currently lives in Austin, but does extensive traveling throughout Mexico and the Southwest to get the inspiration for many of his paintings. A native of Corpus Christi, Seagle was graduated with honors from the University of Texas. He studied on a Graduate Fellowship at the University of the Americas in Mexico City before completing his two years of graduate study at the University of Texas.

Quickly becoming known throughout the nation for his individualistic style of art, Seagle has won more than 55 prizes, awards, and purchase prizes, and has done over 70 one-man shows in several states. His paintings, prints, and etchings hang in the permanent collections of museums, galleries, and private collections.

Anti-smoking campaign may be cut sharply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The controversial anti-smoking campaign set up by the Carter administration will cut considerably by President Reagan's budget ax, it was reported today.

The Washington Post said the Reagan administration originally planned to do away with the program entirely, but it agreed to restore some funds at the urging of Health and Human Services Secretary Richard Schweiker.

The anti-smoking program, with a budget of $3 million and 24 employees, was started several years ago by Joseph Califano, former secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Construction due to begin in August

Councilmen select engineering firm

By JAMES WERRELL
The engineering firm chosen by the city to oversee repairs of streets, sewers and water lines predicts that construction will begin in August.

During a special work session, 7 a.m. today, the Big Spring City Council decided unanimously to hire the engineering firm of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, Inc., of Lubbock to oversee various phases of the city's capital improvements program. The firm was one of five which applied for the job.

"This firm was selected primarily because we (the city staff and council) felt they were the best qualified," said City Manager Don Davis, this morning. "We felt they submitted the best proposal, and that they were the proper size. They are capable of handling the work, but not so big that they wouldn't give us the personal attention we will need," he added.

According to Davis, proposals from all five applicants were reviewed by the staff and council during a meeting last week. At that meeting, two firms emerged as favorites.

Although many factors played a part in the council's decision, said Davis, the fact that the chosen firm is based in Lubbock while the other contender is based in Fort Worth helped sway councilmen.

Those applying for the job were: Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, Lubbock; Freese Nichols, Inc., Fort Worth; S&K Engineering, Inc., San Angelo; Esmond Haner, Inc., Odessa; and Roy Crim Engineering, Inc., Big Spring.

Included in the proposal submitted by the chosen firm was a tentative schedule for the first year of the capital improvements program. If everything goes according to schedule, the firm will complete the preliminary planning phase of the water and sewer improvement portion of the program in April.

A final planning report will be submitted in early May, while work will begin simultaneously on the design phase of the program. That phase should be completed in June, with bidding on construction taking place in July.

The city hopes that construction will begin in August, said Davis. Plans for street improvements will follow roughly the same schedule with approximately a month's difference; construction to begin in September.

"There are various ways to finance this thing, but I think we'll go with a lump sum. That way we'll know exactly what we're facing before we even start," said Davis.

Fees for the services will be negotiated before a contract is signed, and the city will have the option to discontinue the service at any time, Davis added. He estimates that the planning phase will cost the city between $15,000 and $20,000.

Myrick enters race for place 4 seat on Big Spring City Council

Jerry Myrick, traffic manager for Oilfield Industrial Lines, Inc., has decided to make the race for the Place 4 seat on the Big Spring City Council a threesome.

Myrick filed Tuesday afternoon to seek the post that is being vacated by one-term Councilman Larry Miller, who announced last month that he would not seek re-election. Myrick will face opposition from two other candidates, Russ McEwen, local insurance agent, and Donna Fish, local housewife.

Myrick, 36, is a lifetime resident of Big Spring who attended Howard College and had been an employee of the Cabot Corporation for 12 years until the plant was closed in March of 1979. In community affairs, the candidate currently serves as vice president of the United Girls Softball Association, and as a member of the Big Spring Bowling Association.

He is also a past secretary of the Big Spring Bowling Association.

"I feel that it is now the time for the average citizen of Big Spring to step up and say how the city should be run. Big Spring must open up its doors to all industries, large or small, if it is to grow and prosper," he said in a prepared statement.

"As a citizen of Big Spring, I feel that I know some of its needs, and would like to be your next city councilman, Place 4. If elected, I will work hard for a better community for a better tomorrow."

Myrick resides at 1703 Jennings with his wife Muriel, an employee of Malone-Hogan Hospital. They have two children, Sheri, 12, and Shane, 7.

Colorado City man denies beating child

COLORADO CITY — A man on trial in Colorado City for alleged child abuse told jurors Tuesday the statement he signed May 21 in which he admitted hitting the child was not true.

Melvin (Shack) Jackson, 25, said that he and the child's mother, Gloria Garcia, had been told by welfare representatives that somebody would have to admit to beating the child before the welfare people (Department of Human Resources) would allow Ms. Garcia custody of the children again.

Ms. Garcia's two children had been removed from her care May 19, 1980. He said he had confessed to the beating so that Ms. Garcia could have the children back.

Rusty Carroll, prosecutor in the case, failed to alter Jackson's contention he had no idea who had beaten the child. Jackson insisted to the jurors during cross-examination that he had not beaten the child.

The state and defense closed their cases at 3:57 p.m. Tuesday and Judge Weidon Kirk recessed court until 9 a.m. today, when he said the charge would be read to the jury.

Bourland named Coahoma principal

COAHOMA — Ronnie Bourland has been employed as Coahoma High School principal. He will not begin his official duties in that capacity until this summer but will move to Coahoma before school is out to become familiar with the high school, its teachers and its personnel.

Bourland is a native of Vernon, Tex. He received his degree at Angelo State University. He has 12 years experience in teaching and coaching. For the past two years, he has been head coach and athletic director at Anson High School.

His wife's name is Tommie Sue. They have two daughters and a son.

Mrs. Bourland is a native of Snyder and a graduate of Angelo State University. She presently is teaching Special Education in Anson.

Supt. of Schools Richard Souter said the trustees would open bids on the $6 million worth of construction planned for the school system on March 31. The construction was authorized by the electorate last year.

Representative Larry Don Shaw Reports from Austin

Drinking age in Texas should be raised to 19

One of the more controversial bills currently being considered in the Legislature is a measure to raise the drinking age in Texas from 18 to 19. It's not fair, and many 18-year-olds will undoubtedly consider it a slap in the face, but I support it. Here's why:

Most young Texans are still in high school when they turn 18. When they turn 19 — almost without exception — they're in college or they're working fulltime at a job or they're married and setting up a home of their own.

The difference in age is minimal, but the difference in life situation is immense. Many — in fact, most — 18-year-olds are mature, responsible young citizens ready and eager to enter the adult world and begin their life's careers. Still, their circle of friends includes many fellow high school students who are 17, 16, or younger. They participate in school activities together, and they socialize with each other outside of school.

And at that age, two factors can be overpowering: The pride of reaching legal adulthood, and the peer pressure from friends to share in the benefits of reaching that legal milestone. In short, the legal ability to drink is often an overwhelming temptation to do just that, and the ties of friendship often lead the new 18-year-old to want to share his or her legally-purchased alcohol illegally with younger associates.

As a result, many more Texas high school students are drinking today, and not only 18-year-olds but younger students, as well.

In fact, some students, according to testimony from a number of school officials, are drinking before school starts in the morning and leaving school at noon to drink instead of eating lunch. And for an 18-year-old, it's all legal, at least until a drunk student assaults a teacher or a fellow student, increasingly common occurrences, especially in the major urban school districts of our state.

The argument against raising the legal drinking age is the same one that resulted in the lowering of the age from 21 to 18 more than a decade ago. Namely, if a person is adult enough to fight and die for this country, he is adult enough to drink.

As for the rest of you who are approaching 18, you're getting a raw deal and I regret it. But your 19th birthday will arrive and fade into the distant past much too soon.

Police Beat

Man popped, pot found

Guillermo Jose Garcia, 20, 2621 Ent, probably regrets calling the police in the first place.

Garcia first contacted police at 10:40 p.m. Tuesday after discovering that burglars had broken a window in his home and lifted his stereo system and two speakers. Loss was estimated at $300.

Then, Garcia called officers again at midnight Tuesday after he had answered his front door, only to be clubbed over the head by people he knew. Three patrolmen and a detective appeared at the home to see what the situation was.

In the course of their investigation, however, officers discovered a closet lined with aluminum foil containing special lights and 14 marijuana plants. Garcia and Kraig Johnson, 19, also a resident of 2621 Ent, were arrested on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

It was later discovered that Garcia was also wanted on a warrant issued in Pontiac, Mich. for delivery of hallucinogens. In addition to local charges, the suspect also faces the possibility of extradition to Michigan.

Bond for both men was set this morning at $5,000 apiece by Justice of the Peace Bob West. It has not been determined whether the offense is a felony or a misdemeanor.

"In order to determine that, we would have to have the weight of the marijuana after it has been stripped from the plants and its seeds and stems removed," said District Attorney Rick Hamby, this morning.

Burglars broke into the building that houses the Howard County Health Rehabilitation Center, sometime Monday night. Stolen were $346 in cash and several vials of adrenaline and ephedrine. Including $300 worth of damage to the building, loss was estimated at $676.

Sam Robertson, 426 Hillside, says he knows the person who took 140 yards of carpet from his home in mid-February. The carpet was valued at $1,400. Thieves stole two aluminum mag-wheels and two tires from a 1969

Chevrolet Camaro belonging to Morty Biddeson, 1304 Stadium, early Monday morning. Loss was estimated at $200.

Harvey Abbott, 1314 State Park, knows the man who took a rim and tire from his vehicle, Monday night. Loss was estimated at $65.

An overnight guest at the Thrifty Lodge, 1000 W. 4th, left with the portable color television set from his room, Tuesday morning. The set was valued at $350.

Sometime over the weekend, intruders forced the door at the home of Thomas B. Burk, 405 S. Benton. No entry was gained, but the incident caused $10 worth of damage to the door.

Three men stole a wooden chair with an orange cushion from the Big Cheese Pizza Restaurant, 208 S. Gregg, 1:20 p.m. Tuesday, and drove off in a grey Ford Mustang. Value of the chair has not been estimated.

One mishap was reported Tuesday. A vehicle driven by David Lownes, 1017 Johnson, struck the gate on the south side of Comanche Trail Park, 7:36 a.m.

Who is that policeman hiding behind that fuzz?

The patrolman's face was pretty hairy. Some folks found it downright scary. Why the fuzz on our cops' cheeks? It's Centennial time in just eight weeks!

By JAMES WERRELL

A jingle on a Burma Shave sign? No, just the opposite. In the spirit of the Big Spring Railroad Centennial celebration commencing in May, Big Spring Police Chief Elwood Hoherz has decided to allow local officers along with much of the rest of the male citizenry, to sprout beards. And he wants to make sure everyone understands the reason for the hirsute appearance of Big Spring's finest.

"Since it is imperative for all of us to participate in the Big Spring Railroad Centennial coming up in May of this year, it is permissible for all male personnel to grow beards for this occasion.

"The beards will be removed at the end of the event. Please explain to out-of-town people on traffic stops the reason for the beards," stated the Chief in a memo to his officers issued this morning.

At presstime, none of the women working at the police department had complained about the policy's restriction to males only.

Rainey being held for FBI

Charles LeRoy Rainey, 38, of Bowler, was arrested here Tuesday on a warrant stemming from charges out of Fort Worth.

Rainey is being held for the Federal Bureau of Investigation. He is facing charges of passing a worthless check and credit card abuse. He also is charged with interstate transport of stolen property.

For: Walter Grubbs of Abilene
Against: Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring.

SENATE
On adoption of a Senate bill barring deductions from state employee checks unless approved by the legislature. Opponents of the bill said it will be used to prevent state employee groups from having union dues deducted.
The motion prevailed 19-9.
For: Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls.

On tabling amendment to Senate a solution that would tighten state regulations on low-level radioactive waste dumps. The amendment would have deleted a section of the bill allowing individuals to seek injunctions against poorly run dumps and substituting a similar section allowing local governments to file suit instead.
The motion prevailed 20-9.

Eldred E. Gray can help you with your income tax

The tax laws in this country make people laugh, or cry, depending on what time of year they're reading them. It's not that their particularly funny, it's just that their ridiculousness is complicated.

Whether you use the long or short income tax form, whether your tax records are simple or complex, Eldred E. Gray, a Big Spring certified public accountant, can make your income tax payments as small as possible and as easy as possible.

Although it is against the law to not pay income tax, it is wise to pay as little income tax as possible. The government has given tax breaks for a number of things to make individuals' payments lower. Eldred Gray can help you find and use those breaks.

Among the things that can be deducted to make tax payments smaller are moving expenses, energy saving measures for the home, and job related expenses. Political contributions and contributions to charitable organizations can also be written off for savings to the taxpayers.

All of this is not easy to understand; it often takes several different forms to get the needed breaks. Eldred E. Gray can help you. He has the qualifications necessary. He's been a certified public accountant for 15 years and has 25 years

Control grassburs in lawns with herbicides, management

Last year's drought may aggravate the grassbur problem in lawns for many homeowners this year. Where drought-weakened lawns got some late spring and summer rainfall, grassburs are doubly bad, according to Dr. Richard L. Doble, Extension Turfgrass Specialist at Texas A&M University.

Grassburs are commonly found in open fields and meadows where competition from other plants is not great. They are rarely found in a dense, vigorous turf.

Lawns damaged or weakened by insects, disease, drought or wear are susceptible to invasion by grassburs. The seed (burs) for this pest may lie dormant in the soil for several years until environmental conditions favor germination, Doble says, or the seed may be carried in by birds, small animals or people.

Once they get started, where there were only a few plants one year, there may be hundreds of grassbur plants the following year.

All the grassbur needs to become a problem is a weak turf and favorable moisture conditions during the late spring and early summer. The plants may go unnoticed most of the summer but once burs develop, they're unavoidable.

Close mowing and catching the clippings will improve the appearance of the lawn and reduce seed for next year but enough burs will remain to reinfest the lawn for several years.

It takes a good management program to eliminate grassburs, Doble says.

Preemerge herbicides applied in the spring for crabgrass control before emergence of the grassburs has been shown to reduce grassbur populations according to research done by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Herbicides or fertilizer-herbicide (weed and feed) combinations containing benefin (Balan), DCPA (Dacthal), oxadiazon (Ronstar) or simazine are effective against the grassbur if the timing and rate of application are correct. As for all pesticides, follow label instructions to the letter.

In bermudagrass lawns, postemerge herbicides can be used for grassbur control. Products containing one of the organic arsenical herbicides such as Ortho's Crabgrass Killer, Diamond Shamrock liquid DSMA and Amchem's Weedone Crabgrass Killer can be used for postemerge grassbur control in bermudagrass lawns but label instructions must be followed for effective control.

Always keep in mind that herbicides only provide a temporary solution to the grassbur problem, Doble cautions.

A healthy, vigorous turf is the ultimate solution. Regular mowing, proper fertilization and watering and pest control are all required for satisfactory control of grassburs.

Fertilize lawns in the spring and summer to promote desirable grasses. If the grassburs are already established in the lawn, fertilization will stimulate them as well as the desirable grasses.

But a more vigorous turf will reduce the grassbur population the following year. Late fall fertilization, after grassburs have matured, is worthwhile.

Water lawns as needed to maintain a complete turf cover since thin turf is more susceptible to invasion by grassburs.

Avoid light, frequent watering which keeps the soil surface moist and is ideal for weed seed germination. Instead, water lawn thoroughly and infrequently to promote deep-rooted grasses.

Control insects and diseases that may weaken the lawn grasses, Doble says. St. Augustine Decline (SAD) is a serious problem since there is no chemical control at present for the disease. Resistant varieties, such as Floratam released cooperatively by Experiment Stations of Texas and Florida, may be planted in the lawn to help reduce this virus disease.

In summary, the best system for controlling grassburs is to use the right herbicides, good fertilization, and control of disease and insect problems, Doble concluded.

Kleingrass gives top production

LUBBOCK — Among ranchers kleingrass may be the most talked about plant in Texas, and for good reason.

Dr. Bill Dahl, professor of range management at Texas Tech University, contends that, for money spent, kleingrass will give top production as cattle forage.

"Fifty to 60 pounds of actual nitrogen in fertilizer on kleingrass will produce the kind of response that 200 pounds of actual nitrogen in fertilizer will produce on coastal Bermuda grass," Dahl said.

High production is not the only advantage of Kleingrass. Cattle like it. They prefer it to other native grasses, as can be observed in pastures where there are mixed stands of kleingrass and native grasses.

And kleingrass appears to tolerate heavy grazing well. Research indicates that, in stands of kleingrass where more than 60 percent has been grazed, the stands rejuvenate better than undergrazed stands. Less than 50 percent grazing allows the inner stems of the grass plants to grow old and die, causing eventual death of the kleingrass plant.

Dahl said, however, the grass, originally native to southern Africa, has some problems. For one thing, it prefers a warm climate.

"In severe winters, kleingrass is marginal. It is usually not palatable in winter, but that depends on the year," Dahl said. "In some years kleingrass retains enough green that cattle still like it."

Another drawback is the kind of soil kleingrass will grow on.

"Kleingrass grows suitably on medium to fine-textured soils—except for deep sand. Other grasses, such as weeping lovegrass, would be a better choice on sandy soils," Dahl said. He considers kleingrass ideal for most of Texas, except for the High Plains, with its cold winters. However, kleingrass is used on the High Plains, Dahl said.

Finally, there is the danger of a disease called photosensitization in some animals that eat kleingrass. Animals, usually sheep, that contract this disease become sensitive to sunlight and develop a skin condition that is sometimes fatal. There have been a few cases of photosensitization with goats, but so far no cases involving cattle have been reported. The disease has been observed especially in sheep on the Edwards Plateau.

Reagan's cut proposal does not spare farmers

WASHINGTON — To no one's surprise, President Reagan's proposed $49 billion reduction in the 1982 budget does not spare farmers.

Reagan has offered a vast of cuts that would reduce farm revenues a $1.8 billion slash in the food stamp program, a Farmers Home Administration's $598 million alcohol fuel loan program, a $761 million cut in the Energy Department's alcohol fuel loans expenditures and a $2.4 billion reduction in ERA home loans.

But, surprisingly, the budget does not mention farm price supports which farmers have urged Reagan to raise. Agriculture Secretary John Block and Budget Director David Stockman have called for a decrease in supports.

Farm leaders speculated Wednesday that price supports have been withheld from the budget pending a Reagan decision on the Russian grain embargo. They have suggested they will support the embargo if supports are increased.

Reagan will deliver his "complete" budget on March 18.

The entire Reagan

agriculture budget package is sure to undergo close scrutiny by farm state congressmen and farm groups who have predicted a "bloody battle" over proposed cuts.

The cuts are no surprise. Stockman suggested similar reductions last week in briefing papers submitted to members of Congress. But recently farm leaders have bobbled the White House to reduce the cuts.

Kansas Republican Sen. Bob Dole Tuesday asked Stockman to reduce his $2.0 billion proposed cut in food stamps to $1.5 billion.

Reagan's budget calls for a

$1.8 billion cut.

The apparent compromise is the only significant difference between Stockman's proposal and Reagan's final budget.

The president's report, entitled "A Program For Economic Recovery," details the following changes in agriculture programs:

—A $2.8 billion cut in food stamps. For a family of four, food stamp eligibility would be limited to those whose gross income is less than $35,000 per year. Current law permits families who make less than $34,000 to receive food stamps.

—A $1.1 billion cut in dairy price supports. The administration report says this would eliminate "excess" milk production and lower prices for consumers.

—Termination of the FHA $500 million alcohol fuel loan program and a $765 reduction in BOE's $1.1 billion alcohol fuel loan outlays.

Alcohol plants, the report says, could get loans from the private sector. But the administration promises to support the continuation of tax incentives for alcohol fuels.

—A $2.4 billion cut in farmer home loans. The FFA would narrow its focus to serve lower income farmers who lack access to their credit sources.

In addition, the Reagan budget calls for a $5.5 billion cut in Rural Electrification Administration loans that are used for electric and telephone service on farms and rural areas and a $1.6 billion cut in the school lunch program.

Chamber panel okays budget

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Rodeo plans for this year topped Monday night's agenda when the Chamber of Commerce trustees met in the Civic Center. This year's show will be produced at a cost of $6,000 by the producer, plus what ever the announcer and a secretary to record times will change.

In additional business, the chamber board approved a budget of $54,020 for 1981, which compares with annual expenditures of $52,212 last year.

The board also appointed Dr. Rick Shaffer to meet with local aviation interests to discuss the annual fly-in.

In other activity, Chamber manager Jack Hollis suggested restoration of Colorado City signs along IS 20 and the board voted to establish a $300 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons guilty of vandalism or criminal mischief.

Concluding the meeting was an agreement by the chamber to rent the rodeo arena for $25 per Sunday for roping events that will be held beginning March 15 and to initiate "fun" breakfasts in the near future.

Colorado City police busy

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado City police have been busy lately with a series of incidents locally.

Four juveniles were arrested in one of the acts, the burglary of a coin-operated machine at Colonial Food Store. Officer Jesse Dominguez handled the investigation. Additionally, three local businesses suffered a total loss of $600 when window glasses were shot out.

The victimized firms are the Parts House, the Col-Tex Fina Station and the Stereo Corral. A local resident who lives on 2nd St., also had a door glass shot of his home, with a total damage of $75.

Investigation of the three incidents was handled by Sgt. Billy Ray Williamson. Police chief Jimmy Roundtree arrested a 24-year-old man who is wanted in Oklahoma on a charge of embezzlement by bailee.

Teen fem placed on probation

Netha Thurman Felts, 19, of Lot 33, IH 20 Trailer Court, entered a guilty plea in 118th District Court Tuesday on a possession of marijuana charge.

She was given six years probation and released.

Ms. Felts was arrested on May 9, 1980, on a charge of possession of marijuana with intent to deliver. At that time, a $5,000 bond was set by Judge Bobby West.

The practice baseball between Big Spring High School and Lubbock Monterey, which was to have been played in Lubbock Tuesday afternoon, was postponed due to inclement weather.

The contest has been set for next Wednesday.

The Longhorns, who lost their opening game to Monterey by a score of 10-3, will open play in the eight-team Roswell Tournament at 11 a.m., Thursday, at which time they will oppose Lubbock Coronado. Wayne Shipman likely will pitch for Big Spring.

Other teams in the Roswell Tournament include Roswell High, El Paso Coronado, Odessa Ector, Artesia, N.M. Roswell Goddard and Amarillo Tascosa.

Starkey (6-5) got in foul trouble early and had to sit out much of the game. Coahoma took full advantage of his absence.

The Bulldogs were ahead by four points with only seven seconds left. Seminole scored again but the Bulldogs let the clock run out by holding the ball out of bounds.

A big second quarter turned the tide in Coahoma's favor. The Bulldogs outscored the Indians in that round, 20-8, and left at half

Earnst, Avery top fishermen

W.C. Earnst and Jerry Avery combined to win the February Bass Club Tournament with a catch of four pounds, five ounces.

That was more than enough to win over the second place duo of Vick Keys and Maxey Ware, who had a total catch of two pounds, three ounces.

The Bass Club's next meeting will be Thursday, March 5 at the Kentwood Activity Center. A fishing film will highlight the meeting.

The March Tournament will be a 'fish anywhere' on the 14th day. Weigh-in will be at Farm Road 700 and Birdwell Lane at 7:00 p.m.

Easterling will race in Boston

Howard College math instructor Sherrill Easterling, of Coahoma, continued her winning ways last Saturday when she captured the Cowtown Marathon in Fort Worth.

Easterling said she was "thrilled to death" about her winning time of 3:05, which was eight minutes faster than the second place winner in the women's division.

"I felt real good the whole time and finished real strong," she said of the race which concluded in a storm.

"The first five miles were real hot. Then the storm hit and the course became real slick. After a while, I was running through deep puddles," Easterling added.

"After the race everyone kept asking me where Coahoma is," she said with a laugh.

Easterling is currently preparing for the Boston Marathon scheduled for April 20. She will run in a half marathon in Abilene at the end of the month and then in a 10 kilometer race in Midland.

"It helps in preparing for a marathon to run the short race real hard," she said.

She also plans to work back to running 70 miles a week and spend time on speed work.

Saturday's victory had its negative side, however, since Easterling is nursing a sore knee.

All of her running during the past few years has resulted in a new course to be offered at H.C. Easterling will start a run-for-fun course the first semester this summer for the physical education department.

Former PBRSF contestant is 2nd place winner in Arizona fair

Stephanie's science project isn't going too well and she's having no luck getting Uncle Archie to help her — that is until her best friend's father helps turn the project into a competition in parenting, on "Archie Bunker's Place," Sunday March 8, 7-8:30 p.m. on the CBS Television Network.

Stephanie can hardly recognize her project — a model of the Earth and Moon — after Archie, Murray and the rest of gang at the bar get through with it. Stephanie's teacher finds the whole thing a little hard to take, too!

Amy Rochelle, first place winner of $12,000 and a trip to Washington, D.C. in the Westinghouse, was interviewed Tuesday on the Today show.

Amy's project was a study of what changes DNA into protein in the body. Amy's older brother was a finalist in the competition and another brother was an honors winner.

As a result of her winning trip to Washington, Amy has met many interesting scientists and has enjoyed the contacts with her peers.

The winner plans to attend Harvard University and study chemistry and biology.

In addition to science, she likes English and philosophy.

Permian Basin Regional Science Fair in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum is scheduled to open at 8 a.m. Thursday with 8-12 noon being registration and setting up projects time. Judging will occur from 1-6 p.m. Thursday.

Friday morning will be the long awaited Awards Assembly on the coliseum floor at 8:30 with Mayor Clyde Angel, Winston Wrinkle, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Tom Watson, Herald publisher; Dr. Charles Hayes, Howard College president or his representative;

Lynn Hise, Big Spring Independent School District superintendent; Mrs. Jerry (Mary) Dudley and Mrs. Jerry (Jan) Forsythe on the platform. The awards ceremony is open to the public.

The PBRSF opens to the public from 10:30 a.m.-4 p.m. Removal of exhibits is 4-5 p.m.

Entry categories include Behavioral and Social Sciences, Biochemistry, Botany, Chemistry, Earth and Space Sciences, Engineering, Mathematics and Computers, Medicine and Health, Microbiology, Physics and Zoology.

A former Big Spring High School student and science fair entrant, winner of second place in the 27th Arizona Science and Engineering Fair, Tolver Singer, wrote to Joe Reed, PBRSF director recently: "Mr. Reed, I can't thank you enough for helping me in last year's science fair. Please tell everyone 'hello' from Tol. F.S. The science fair here couldn't compare with the fair in Big Spring." Tolver also won the Eastman-Kodak award for his entry: "Photographing Star Spectra."

Over 350 projects have been entered in this year's PBRSF covering the entire floor of the coliseum.

STEPHANIE SEES HER SCIENCE PROJECT for the first time and it's not quite the same as the one she left with Archie, Murray and the gang at Archie Bunker's Place when she asked them for help. (L. to R.: Amy Meara as Veronica, Allan Melvin as Barney, Carroll O'Connor as Archie, Loretta Bragg as Stephanie, Jason Wingreen as Harry and Martin Balsam as Murray.)

Mrs. Adele Tibbs was chosen as chairman, with Marie Affleck, Goldye Moad, Gene Duncan, Dorothy Hill and Lavelle Hill as members.

The club was also asked to have members attend the rally on March 16 at 7 p.m. at Howard College Auditorium on Texas War on Drugs. An invitation to the Silver Tea at Howard County Library on March 17 was read.

Mrs. T.G. Adams, chairman of International Affairs Committee introduced two guests, Frances Loftis and Marie Seaman, members of the International Wives Club of Big Spring. The ladies are natives of Germany who married servicemen during World War II. They later came to the United States and became naturalized citizens.

Dear Abby

Let Sleeping Boys Lie

DEAR ABBY: Our son, who is 12, wants to have his neighborhood friends over for a slumber party. We are eager to have him well-liked so we agreed to let him have the party. It will be well chaperoned by his mother and me. Our son doesn't object to this supervision, but one of the neighborhood guys happens to be a gal, and therein lies the problem.

Our son feels that this gal is one of the group and should be invited without any concern for her sex. My wife feels the invitation should be issued, and the girl's parents should assume the responsibility for the proper decision.

I think it's improper for a 12-year-old girl to spend the night with six boys, and since it's not proper for her to accept the invitation, it shouldn't be issued.

What do you say, Abby?

VIRGINIA DAD

DEAR DAD: Even though the gal is considered one of the guys, underneath it all she's still a gal. I would not invite her.

...

DEAR ABBY: Last summer, the last of our brood got married, and for the first time in 30 years my husband and I are alone. He will retire soon, and we have great plans. The problem: My widowed mother wants to move in with us, and it just won't work. She is bossy, arrogant, inconsiderate and expects me to be her slave. She has a lovely home, no money worries, a car, several widowed friends and other children. So why me?

I keep saying "No," but she won't listen. She is already selling some of her things in anticipation of breaking up her home to come and live with me. HELP! I'm afraid I'm weakening. After all, she is getting old, and she is my mother.

WHY ME?

DEAR WHY: Because obviously your mother has chosen you as the one with whom she wants to live. A better question to ask yourself is, why, when you keep saying "No," does your mother ignore your decision? Can it be that in her eyes you are still a "child" who must obey Mother's wishes? Your words, "Help, I'm afraid I'm weakening," then, "After all, she is getting old and she is my mother," tell me that even though you feel it won't work, you're not sufficiently assertive to say NO and mean it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 36-year-old college dropout whose lifelong ambition was to be a physician. I have a very good job selling pharmaceutical supplies, but my heart is still in the practice of medicine. I do volunteer work at the local hospital on my time off, and people tell me I would have made a wonderful doctor.

If I go back to college and get my degree, then go to medical school, do my internship and finally get into the actual practice of medicine, it will take me seven years! But, Abby, in seven years I will be 43 years old. What do you think?

UNFULFILLED IN PHILADELPHIA

DEAR UNFULFILLED: And how old will you be in seven years if you don't do it?
