Hostage killed by skyjackers

ISLAMABAD, Pakistan (AP) — Hijackers aboard a Pakistani jetliner at the Kabul airport today shot and killed a Pakistani diplomat held with more than 100 other hostages since Monday, the Afghan radio said. At least four Americans are among the hostages.

The hostage, a Pakistani diplomat assigned to Tehran, Iran, was shot while the leader of three hijackers spoke by cockpit radio to a Pakistani negotiating team at the airport, the broadcast said. There was no indication what led to the firing.

The victim was tentatively identified as Tariq Rahim, a former army officer who served as aide-de-camp to executed former Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto during his last months in power, informed sources in Islamabad said. Bhutto was hanged in 1979.

The Kabul broadcast said a hijacker calling himself Alam Gir used the cockpit radio to request airport officials to take a body off the Pakistan International Airlines Boeing 720. It said the victim was rushed to a hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Earlier, the radio said an unidentified American aboard reported some of the 116 persons aboard were becoming ill. The Afghan and Pakistani governments, at odds over the presence of Soviet troops in Afghanistan, have accused each other of obstructing negotiations.

The hijackers are demanding the release of 90 jailed persons in Pakistan.

Pakistani President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq told a news conference early today that the hijackers claimed their previously unknown group, the "al Zulfikar" organization, was responsible for the Feb. 1 bomb blast in Karachi during the visit of Pope John Paul II. The bomb went off prematurely, killing the person who carried it, authorities said.

Each of the hijackers had a pistol and one carried a plastic bag he claimed contained an explosive, some of the 29 people released from the plane and flown to Pakistan said Thursday. They said the hijackers were in their 30s and fluent in English and Urdu, the Pakistani language.

"They were threatening all the time, saying, 'Be quiet or we will blow up the plane with a time bomb,'" 9-year-old Zulfikar Shah reported. But Bibi Khola, who had her four children with her, said: "They never really harmed us and they gave me medicine."

The evacuees included 10 children, 16 women and three men, but two American women offered their freedom refused to leave, a Pakistani official said. They were identified as Deborah Leighton Weisner of Auburn, Maine, and Charlotte Hubbell of Des Moines, Iowa.

The official said Miss Weisner insisted on staying until her fiancé, Mian Manzoor Ahmed, a naturalized American, was freed. Mrs. Hubbell was believed to have refused to leave her husband, Frederick.

Two other men aboard the plane, Craig Richard Clymore and Lawrence Clifton Mangum, were believed to be either American or Canadian. A third man was identified as Jeffrey Balkind, a World Bank official who lives in Washington, D.C., but his nationality was not known.

Beil's name first on school ballot

Charles Beil's name will be the first on the ballot for the April 4 Big Spring school board election. The drawing for places occurred at the high school this morning.

In the appointed order, the others appearing on the ballot will be David Huff, Fern Alexander, Curt Strong, Dwayne Fraser and Grady L. Cunningham.

Beil is the only incumbent in the race. The term of Bert Harris also expires this year but Harris elected not to offer for the office again.

PLUNGE — A 23-year-old man plunges from the Corpus Christi, Texas, Harbor Bridge Thursday, falling 150 feet to the ship channel below. He crawled over the side of the bridge, dangled for a few minutes from the superstructure beneath the roadway, and appeared to have tried to climb back up on the bridge before falling. He was pulled from the water by a patrol boat that was standing by and hospitalized in guarded condition at Memorial Medical Center in Corpus Christi.

Rural drug use rapidly increasing

By the Associated Press

The use of marijuana, cocaine and even heroin is increasing rapidly in small-town America and may soon equal the levels that have made drugs a scourge of big cities, according to a new federal report.

Dr. Adele Harrell, who led the drug study for the National Institute on Drug Abuse, said researchers "found a slowing of growth of drug use in metropolitan areas but a steady growth in rural sections of the country, and chances are that we will soon see an equal level of drug use throughout the nation."

The report, obtained by The Associated Press, describes a study of the use of marijuana, hashish, cocaine, heroin, hallucinogens and psychotherapeutic drugs by 3,253 people 12 years old and older in "non-urban" communities of fewer than 25,000.

According to the study, one out of every four youths in rural areas had used marijuana at least once, and more than half of those using marijuana went on to use at least one other drug.

"It's clear from the study that states with large rural or non-urban populations have a growing problem and should be making a significant investment of efforts toward the problems of drug abuse," said Dr. Barry Brown, chief of the institute's treatment, research and assessment branch. "Young people in rural communities should be the prime target."

Brown said the survey, done in 1979 and compiled last year, indicates the rural drug problem is greatest in the Northeast and the West.

Reagan seeking to end fed legal aid for poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, who clashed with a poor peoples' legal aid group when he was governor of California, is calling for elimination of all federal money for free legal help for the poor.

Reagan's budget proposals for 1982 also would give states direct control for the first time over 40 health and social programs — such as rat control and alcohol abuse — but provide 25 percent less money from Washington to run them.

Initially, that group was to include the Legal Services Corp., a program stretching back to the Johnson administration's anti-poverty initiatives of the mid-1960s.

But a spokesman for the Office of Management and Budget, who asked not to be identified, said Thursday that Reagan now wants to abolish Legal Services altogether.

The legal services agency, which provides free legal help in civil disputes to some 1.5 million people a year, has a $321 million budget for 1981 and requested $399 million for fiscal 1982, which begins Oct. 1.

Local legal aid groups who receive the money represent poor people only in civil disputes, such as divorces, tenant-landlord cases, consumer problems, minimum wage violations — particularly those involving farm workers — and suits against the government. The agency does not deal with criminal matters.

Reagan's attempt to abolish it reopens a fight that he fought and lost as governor of California.

In 1971, then-Gov. Reagan vetoed a $1.8 million federal grant to California Rural Legal Assistance, which he charged was illegally helping United Farm Workers President Cesar Chavez organize field hands.

Reagan, who frequently attacked the legal organization, reversed himself after a federal review group exonerated the California agency.

The fight this time is unlikely to be any easier for Reagan.

"We would be strongly opposed to any move of this kind," said Robert Evans, a lobbyist for the American Bar Association. "It would result in a serious denial to equal access to justice. ... Many view this as a keystone to the basic rights of people in this country."

Science Fair winners listed

Angie Lee, Forsan, walked off with the Sweepstakes runner-up award at the Permian Basin Regional Science Fair today. "Wonder Water" was the name of her project. Angie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heppner. Angie also won the Marine Technological Society award, honorable mention award from the U.S. Army, and the Meritorious Achievement award from the U.S. Navy.

Two Andrews students again captured the sweepstakes awards, Charlie Mohr and Mark Wilson.

Charlie is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Mohr, Andrews. The "Study of Non-Visual Stimuli in Drosophila (fruit fly) Reproduction" was his project. In addition, Charlie won the United States Army award, and Micro-Biology award and a scholarship from Howard College.

Mark Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Len Wilson, Andrews, won sweepstakes with his project, "Enhancing Alcohol Production by Vitamin Stimulation of the Fermentation Process." Mark also won an award from the American Society of Microbiology and the U.S. Army award.

Both sweepstakes winners will attend the International Science and Engineering Fair at Milwaukee, Wisc., May 11-16. The runner-up will attend if either of the sweepstakes winners cannot.

CALMLY SURRENDERS — A gunman identified by the FBI as Victor Malassauskas of a Los Angeles suburb Marina del Rey, lies on the ground after leaving the Continental Airlines 727 Jet he had seized earlier in the day Thursday at Los Angeles International Airport. No injuries were reported during the incident.

Food costs drop in February; energy costs rising rapidly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rapidly rising energy costs pushed overall wholesale prices 0.8 percent higher in February, although food costs were falling, the government reported today. Unemployment dropped to the lowest rate since last April, but the decline was only slight.

The Labor Department's seasonally adjusted Producer Price Index for finished goods — down slightly from January's 0.9 percent — translates into about a 10 percent annual inflation rate. The 7.3 percent unemployment rate for February followed two months of 7.4 percent reports and ended a nine-month stretch in which the rate had hovered between 7.4 percent and 7.6 percent.

However, the decline of one-tenth of a percentage point is considered statistically insignificant by the Labor Department, which released both reports today.

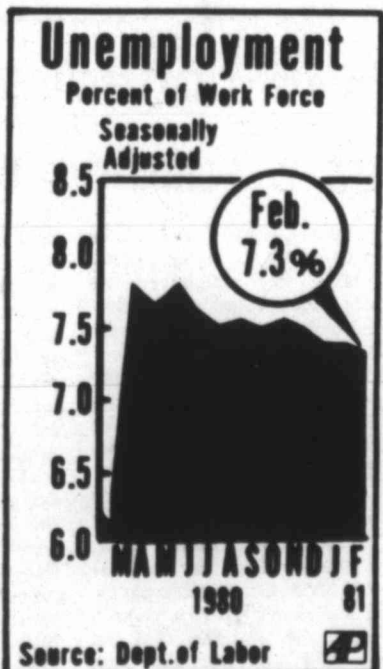

By far the biggest jump in producer prices, which usually precede cost-of-living increases at the consumer level, was in energy costs.

The 3.6 percent energy-cost rise, the fourth straight big monthly increase, included a 6.5 percent jump in fuel oil prices and a 4.7 percent increase in gasoline costs at the wholesale level. However, prices for natural gas remained even after rising steadily for 10 months.

The trend toward higher energy costs is expected to continue, particularly in light of President Reagan's recent action to decontrol most remaining U.S. oil prices.

The consumer foods index declined 0.6 percent in February after showing no change in January, but government and private economists expect food prices to rise substantially later this year.

Prices for finished consumer goods other than food or energy rose 0.7 percent in February after rising 0.8 percent in January, the report said. Increases occurred for a broad range of items, including alcoholic beverages, cosmetics, drugs, tires and tubes, health products and newspaper publishing.

Overall, the producer price index rose 1 percent, before adjustment for seasonal variations, to 262.4. That means that goods which cost $10 in 1967 would cost $26.24 today.

Spring fashions featured Sunday

Thirty-two local advertisers are cooperating with personnel of the Herald to produce a 24-page tab for Sunday's edition, a publication offering the latest in men's, women's and children's fashions in spring attire.

Many of the merchants incorporated ideas for the merchandise they are now offering following their annual trips to market.

Fashion Section editor Tina Miller and photographer Bill Forshee worked closely with the merchants to provide pictorial coverage of the latest trends in dress.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Tornado tracer

Q. My daughter is working on a research project concerning tornadoes. Who may I call to find out some information on what to do in case of a tornado?

A. Larry Miller was recently approved by the city council as Civil Defense director for the City of Big Spring. Miller must now be approved by the County Commissioners before he can take over the position. When that happens, he should be able to handle information about what to do if a tornado approaches.

Girl strangled

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — A 21-month-old girl who went outside to play accidentally killed herself when her T-shirt got tangled in a barbed wire fence and strangled her to death, police reported.

"It was an accidental death by strangulation," said Peace Justice Ruth Nicholson, after investigating the death of Treena Lake.

Tom Green County Sheriff's investigator Pete Skaines said the toddler "was apparently trying to climb the fence to get to a little dog" when she slipped and fell Thursday.

He said the girl's father, Clement Lake, tried to revive his daughter using cardio-pulmonary resuscitation, but she was pronounced dead at a local hospital.

"The father said the baby strayed away from the house to look at rabbits and other pets in a pen at his home," Skaines said.

Iran rejects peace plan

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Iran's Supreme Defense Council today unanimously rejected the latest attempt by other Moslem nations to mediate the Iran-Iraq war, sources in Tehran reported.

The sources, reached by telephone by The Associated Press, said the Council took the "no" resolution at an extraordinary mid-morning session held in Tehran under President Abolhassan Bani-Sadr.

The newest initiative to end the 5½-month-old war called for a cease-fire at midnight March 12 and a four-week Iraqi withdrawal starting March 20.

But Bani-Sadr told a crowd of 100,000 at Tehran University Thursday that Iran would not accept any cease-fire proposal unless it made the Iraqi invaders withdraw completely at once and punished them.

Bani-Sadr said a cease-fire and withdrawal must be implemented simultaneously, and that Iran would not agree to any accord unless it reiterated Iranian sovereignty over the east side of the Shatt al-Arab.

El Salvador peace talks?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid Reagan administration insistence that El Salvador's future be decided by ballots, not bullets, a key congressman says the Central American country's president is willing to negotiate with leftist rebels if "appropriate auspices" can be found.

Rep. Michael D. Barnes, D-Md., said Jose Napoleon Duarte also told him in a telephone conversation Thursday that his government does not foresee the need for additional U.S. military personnel to be assigned to El Salvador.

Barnes, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs subcommittee on Latin America, said Duarte voiced an "emphatic statement that the war in his country is...not so much a military war as it is a political war."

On the question of possible peace talks, Barnes quoted Duarte as telling him: "You're a politician, I'm a politician — and what we do best is talk. I am prepared to talk with the leftists if the appropriate auspices are available."

The Salvadoran president said he believed any such talks would be best held under the auspices of West European social democratic parties or other non-governmental organizations, according to Barnes.

Regarding military aid, Barnes said Duarte "felt that no further American military personnel should be considered for El Salvador," beyond the 54 advisers who will be there after the just-primed group of an additional 20 arrive.

Barnes disclosed his conversation with Duarte as his House subcommittee began a round of hearings on El Salvador.

New control system at Y building begins

Bob Cappel, executive director of the Big Spring YMCA, has announced the implementation of a new control system for the Y building.

According to Cappel, the following rules governing control will apply and be enforced, beginning Monday:

(1) All persons wishing to enter the PE Department (gym, pool, weight room, courts and locker rooms) will need membership cards. If a person arrives without a card, he or she will be allowed only one visit and henceforth will be charged 50 cents for a one-day temporary card.

(2) No one will be allowed into the PE Department unless he or she is taking part in a class or working out. Cappel says the YMCA is adopting such a rule to insure that non-members pay their way into the facility and to keep out individuals who might interfere with those working out or who are there for no apparent purpose.

(3) The new control system and desk will allow the YMCA to better service persons wishing entrance into the PE Department. Y personnel will be concentrating its attention to that area of service, issuing keys and equipment, selling merchandise and taking court reservations.

Previously, this was done by the secretary on duty who had the added duty of answering the phone, registering members for classes and stenographer work. Many times, members had to wait for keys or to register for classes.

"We feel it is a positive way to better serve our members," Cappel said. "We hope all persons will support this new system, especially those who have not been in the habit of bringing their cards. I also hope any member who has questions will contact my office."

Fem probationer in trouble again

Irma Jean Dobson, 34, Thrifty Lodge Motel, was arrested by the Lubbock Sheriff's Office Thursday and charged with revocation of probation on a warrant issued from Howard County.

She was transferred to the Howard County Jail Thursday where she is being held without bond.

Video tapes show Clements making denied Arkansas water statements

By the Associated Press

Television video tapes show Texas Gov. Bill Clements saying there was no great resistance from Gov. Frank White and other Arkansas officials to the idea of transferring surplus Arkansas water to Texas.

Clements said Thursday at a news conference in Austin, Texas, that he hadn't discussed water plans with White. "I'm not sure Frank is aware of what the plan might ultimately be," Clements said.

Shown in the tape of a Feb. 25 news conference, Clements said he had talked about transporting water from Arkansas to Texas with state officials who offered no great resistance to the idea.

"I have discussed this with the present governor of Arkansas, the just-succeeded governor of Arkansas and some of the leadership in both the Legislature and the administration of Arkansas and I don't find any great resistance," Clements said in the tape.

On Wednesday, Clements' press secretary, Jon Ford, said Clements had never discussed the matter with White and had been misquoted.

The Arkansas Gazette said today that the video tape was made at Washington and is held by the Iowa Public Broadcasting Network at Des Moines. The newspaper said Clements' remarks were prompted by a question from a Gazette reporter.

The controversy has caused a stir in Arkansas where legislators, after reading news reports of Clements' comments, called White to the House of Representatives on Wednesday to explain.

Police Beat 'Let us spray' artists jailed

Freelance Picassos struck with cans of spray paint at several different locations in the city, Wednesday night, causing an estimated $1,350 worth of damage.

On Thursday morning, officials at the Shaffer Ambulance Service called police to say that three of the service's vehicles had been splattered and sprayed with paint. One of the vehicles, a van, was covered with white and blue paint while it was parked at 207 W. 10th.

"Ha-Ha" was written in blue spray paint on the windshields of two ambulances parked at the East Fourth Exxon Station. The vandals penned "To Moonpie With Love" on the side of a Seven-Eleven Store, 1600 E. 4th, in blue paint.

Obscene words were painted on the front wall of the Big Spring High School, and the side of a car belonging to B.F. Larson, 1403 Robin, was sprayed with blue paint.

Officer Barry Smith suspected that a disgruntled former Shaffer mechanic might be behind the vandalism. Smith first tried to find the suspect at the home of Randy Gamble, 1306 Harding, 11:55 a.m. Thursday.

While there, the officer noticed that blue paint had been sprayed on the side of the garage and that three gallons of white paint had been left in the front yard.

Gamble was arrested on suspicion of felony criminal mischief.

Smith then contacted the former employee, Bruno Cruz, 20, at his residence in the Thrifty Lodge, and arrested him on suspicion of the same crime.

In another instance of vandalism, while on routine patrol, Officer Robert Glenn found three windows smashed in the Fina Service Station, 3101 W. Highway 90, early this morning. Three large rocks were found inside the station. Damage was estimated at $350.

Officers arrested a 29-year-old woman on suspicion of shoplifting a pair of shoes from the Payless Shoe Store, 2011 Gregg, 4:20 p.m. Thursday. The shoes were valued at $18.99.

Mary Guevara, 1507 Oriole, reported that someone kicked in the bottom of the storm door in her home, 4:45 p.m. Thursday. Cost of the damage has not been estimated.

A car wreck involving members of the same family sent three people to Malone-Hogan Hospital, around midnight Thursday. According to reports, cars driven by Bobbie Brumley and David Brumley, both of Gail Route, pulled into the northbound lane of South Gregg at 19th, 11:56 p.m. Thursday. Bobbie's car attempted to pass David's car on the 1600 block, but collided with it instead, crossed the opposing traffic lane, and struck the sign at Herman's Steak House. Bobbie and passengers Sherry Sides, 903 Abrams, and Sussie Walker, Route 1, were taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital.

All were listed this morning in stable condition with broken bones and a variety of cuts and bruises.

Three other mishaps were reported Thursday.

Vehicles driven by Margaret Churchwell, 1607 Vines, and Kenneth Monroe, 1809 Morrison, collided at 1500 S. Birdwell, 2:01 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Nicholas Brown, Howard College Boys' Dorm, and Leland Daniels, 1425 E. 6th, collided at Kentucky and Yale, 2:34 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Mary Marvin, 200 Carey, and Goldy Moad, 702 Abrams, collided on the 800 block of Gregg, 8:52 a.m.

Kelley files for school post

LAMESA — Jack Kelley has filed for a place on the Lamesa school board. He is the fourth candidate in the race. Two positions are open on the board.

Kelley, who has resided in Lamesa 26 years, is an assistant manager of an auto supply firm here. He and his wife, Donnie, are parents of four children.

Those who previously announced as candidates in the race were Frankie McKinney, Jerry Harris and Ronnie Culp. The election will be held April 4.

'Wizard of Oz' lyricist killed in car collision

LOS ANGELES (AP) — E.Y. "Yip" Harburg, who wrote the lyrics to "Over the Rainbow," was killed Thursday when the car he was driving collided head-on with another vehicle on Sunset Boulevard, police said. He was 82.

Harburg, Oscar-winning lyricist for the hit 1939 musical movie, "The Wizard of Oz," starring Judy Garland, died immediately after the accident at 12:30 p.m. PST, said West Los Angeles traffic officer George Lamonica.

"He was eastbound on Sunset Boulevard, crossed the double yellow line and hit another car head on," said Lamonica. "It was raining and the road surface was wet."

Lamonica said the driver and passenger in the other car were injured, but he didn't know how seriously.

Harburg, who worked with Harold Arlen on the score for the first sound version of Frank Baum's fairy tale about the Land of Oz, received his Oscar for "Over the Rainbow," the most famous song from the movie.

Harburg was born in New York City and ran an electrical company until he became a lyricist, librettist and author. In addition to Arlen, his collaborators included Jerome Kern, Ira Gershwin and John Green.

In recent years, he occasionally came to New York for a series of seminars.

Forsan school race draws 11

FORSAN — Eleven persons, including three incumbents, declared for the Forsan school board race before the Wednesday deadline. The election is scheduled April 4, at which time three persons will be chosen for three-year terms on the board.

Bob L. Tarbet was the last to announce he would be a candidate. Coincidentally, his name will appear first on the ballot.

Others in the race, and the order in which their names will appear on the ballot, are Jerry Scoggins, Edman McMurray, Bill G. Mims, Morrison Donaghe, Robert (Rip) Patterson, John Hope, Leonard E. Posey, Borden Mullins, Terry Forrest and Mike Roman.

The three incumbents are Mims, Patterson and Posey.

In the Forsan City Council race, six people will be vying for two three-year seats.

They are Bud Summers and Woodrow Scuddy, both incumbents, Emily Elrod, Joanne Poyner, Charles Williams and Johnny Mills.

Pete Jenkins entered his name into contention for a seat on the school board but later withdrew.

Deaths

Mrs. Harrell

Mrs. Walter L. (Elizabeth) Harrell, 82, died Thursday afternoon in a local hospital following a brief illness. Services are scheduled for Saturday at 2 p.m. at Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with Royce Clay, minister of Fourteenth and Main Church of Christ officiating. # '80 called challenging year for credit union

The 26th annual membership meeting of Citizens Federal Credit Union was held Thursday evening at the credit union's headquarters on FM 700. During the meeting, business reports on the credit union's activities and performances during 1980 were discussed and the new slate of officers for 1981-1982 were presented.

Cal Lowry, president of the board of directors at the credit union, said that 1980 was a year marked by expanded services, as well as a great deal of challenge. "During the year," Lowry said, "we saw the completion of our construction project that included the addition of three new drive-thru windows and more parking spaces. And we also purchased additional safe deposit boxes for those members who had waited many months to lease them."

"During the last few days of 1980," Lowry continued, "we also received a charter amendment that we had been requesting for almost two years. Under the new charter amendment, most of the fine people who worked or lived in Borden, Glasscock, and Howard counties were included in our field of membership. Prior to this charter amendment," Lowry explained, "most of these individuals were denied credit union membership."

He went on to explain how 1980 had also been a challenging year for both the credit union and its members. "We watched as the rates had to pay to retain its large deposits reach record-breaking levels — and stay there," Lowry said. "As a result, the National Credit Union Administration felt that the loan rate maximums set for federal credit unions in 1934 had to be reevaluated to reflect the higher interest rates."

He further went on to say that two bills had been passed during the year allowing credit union some rate relief because of the high cost of money, but that the local credit union had not had to raise its loan rates to the maximums set by NCUA because of cost cuts within the credit union.

Cal Lowry also said that 1980 was the year the National Credit Union Administration was given the undisputed Congressional authority to allow federal credit unions to offer share drafts to their members who wanted them.

Citizens Federal Credit Union had been offering these dividend-earning share draft accounts since August, 1975 and Lowry said that he was pleased that they would be able to continue to offer them without any interruptions.

He said he felt part of the success of getting this measure passed could be traced directly to the countless members of the credit union who had taken the time to write their Congressional leaders in Washington, D.C. asking their support of the share draft bill.

As for 1981, Lowry quoted Jim Williams, chairman of NCUA, as saying that credit unions would have to be "lean and mean in 1981."

He said this did not mean as far as members, but as far as internal cost-cutting policies within the credit union itself. Lowry went on to say that the staff at the credit union had already been making cuts whenever possible during 1980 and that the statement by Williams was meant for credit unions that had not already started cutting back on some questionable spending practices.

Jim Weaver, assistant manager of the credit union, discussed the financial condition of the credit union and said that savings increased while loan decreased, reflecting the pessimism of the average consumer over the nation's economy.

In 1980, savings increased by 6 percent going from $30,803,860 to $32,669,744, for a net increase of $1,865,883. However, Weaver said that when you break this down, you find that the largest area of growth was in the higher-earning share certificates. He reported that there was an increase of 39 percent in share certificates in 1980 for a net increase of $3,533,012 over the $9,069,933, set in 1979.

Along these same lines, Weaver reported that dividends paid to members also increased by 28 percent, going from $1,875,006 in 1979 to $2,391,356, which reflected the higher price the credit union was having to pay to retain and attract large deposits.

He agreed with Lowry stating that cost cuts had taken place within the credit union and reported that while the total income received by the credit union was down only a small amount from the previous year, the operating expenses of the credit union were down a big 17 percent, going from $1,789,085 in 1979 to $1,535,048, in 1980. Weaver said that this meant "that your credit union was able to curb its expenses by $254,037 over what they were a year ago. We feel this is very remarkable when you consider inflation and the other cost increases that have taken place during the past year."

He went on to say that the credit union was continuing to provide full service to all of its members and was one of the few financial institutions in this part of the state that still offered both the FHA Title I home improvement loans as well as the federal insured student loan programs.

Total loans outstanding at Citizens Federal at the end of 1980 reached $23,427,219, while the average loan balance increased to $2,411. An area showing a marked increase was in real estate loans. During 1980, the credit union had $4,848,819, invested in real estate loans, which was up $868,460 over the $3,980,359 set in 1979.

Ben Bancroft, chief teller of the election committee, reported that the four vacancies on the board of directors and three on the credit committee had been filled. The new officials for the 1981-1982 terms are CMSgt. Robert Clark, USAF, retired; Harold Hall, Bill Mims; and L.V. Miskel. The three candidates receiving the most votes on the credit committee were Major John H. Bennett, USAF, retired; Lt. Col. Ned Crandall, USAF, retired; and MSgt. Bob Custer, USAF, retired.

Family Court Judge Sam S. Emison Jr. of Houston spent Thursday reading about 200 of those letters after State District Judge W.G. "Dub" Wood — who had earlier ordered the correspondence sealed — ruled the letters should be read.

Judge reads private Daniel correspondence

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — A family court judge prepared for next week's child custody trial by reading some private correspondence that supposedly was written by Price Daniel Jr.

The former Texas House Speaker was shot to death Jan. 19 at his home near here. His wife, Vickie, has been charged with murder in the death and she admits the shooting but claims it was self-defense.

Mrs. Daniel, 33, now is fighting to retain custody of the two young sons she bore her slain husband. She and two children by a previous marriage were slated to give depositions today.

She currently has custody of the two youngest children, Franklin Baldwin Daniel, 3, and Marion Price Daniel IV, 1, until jurors resolve the custody question in a trial set to begin March 12.

However, as part of the agreement letting her keep the boys until then, Mrs. Daniel has agreed to waive her Fifth Amendment privilege in the custody fight and on Wednesday her attorneys said she will answer all questions — even about the Jan. 19 shooting — when she gives her deposition in the custody case.

During last week's preliminary hearing on the custody question, Mrs. Daniel invoked her Constitutional guarantee against self-incrimination six times when asked if the shooting was in self defense and about the contents of the letters removed from a warehouse containing Daniel's belongings.

Family Court Judge Sam S. Emison Jr. of Houston spent Thursday reading about 200 of those letters after State District Judge W.G. "Dub" Wood — who had earlier ordered the correspondence sealed — ruled the letters should be read.

Winter storm watch posted for Panhandle

A winter storm watch was posted for the Texas Panhandle for late tonight and Saturday as a winter storm moved out of the Southwest. Forecasters warned that the storm might dump as much as four inches of snow on the Panhandle tonight and Saturday.

As the storm system approaches, forecasters are calling for showers and some thunderstorms to spread across West Texas today and across the remainder of the state tonight and Saturday.

It is expected to turn much colder in the Panhandle tonight and the rain is expected to turn to snow.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Winter storm watch Panhandle late tonight and Saturday. Partly cloudy with scattered showers and a few thunderstorms most sections, ending in west Saturday. Rain changing to snow Panhandle late tonight with accumulations of 4 inches or more possible tonight and Saturday.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for Saturday predicts a mixture of rain, showers and snow from Nebraska to Texas.

Convicted San Antonio madam wants to run for City Council

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Convicted brothel madam Theresa Brown, a key figure in a prostitution investigation in which 19 prominent names on a trick list were published, wants to be on the City Council.

Ms. Brown, assessed a five-year probation sentence for aggravated promotion of prostitution, asked State District Judge James Barlow today to allow her to run for public office.

Ms. Brown, 46, has appealed the sentence, which was assessed after Barlow denied her attempt to withdraw her no contest plea.

"She didn't think the world's greatest whorehouse was in LaGrange. She feels it's right here in San Antonio and that all the celebrated gentlemen she has dined with over the last quarter of a century should come out and help her," her lawyer, Pat Maloney, said today.

Terms of her probation bar her from voting or holding public office, but Maloney has appealed her conviction to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

The filing deadline for the city council race has passed, but Maloney said: "We'd like to see if she can get on the ballot through the auspices of the court. We have asked the court to modify her probation to give an opportunity for the mandate of the people to be shown," Maloney said.

"She feels the jobs of this world should now come out and support her. She's the world's greatest madam, and she has entertained the famous for so long, now she's going to entertain the public," Maloney said.

Maloney contends Ms. Brown was unable to meet the filing deadline because of the court's sentence.

"If she doesn't get on the ballot, she'll win as a write-in candidate, and then I think it's going to be interesting to see which candidate for mayor she favors and which of the other candidates she favors," Maloney said.

"She is our most popular woman and deservedly so. She is going to win by a landslide. We've got so many candidates to be her campaign manager that it's going to be difficult. Her neighbors love her. She'll get every vote on the block."

The election is six weeks away.

Witness offered $500 to make extortion call

WACO, Texas (AP) — Defense attorneys prepared arguments today on behalf of three Central Texas men charged with trying to extort $60,000 from three local grocery stores by making poison threats.

Prosecutors wrapped up their case Thursday against Daniel Glenn, Stephen Howard and David Howard, all of Elm Mott. They are being tried in federal court on charges they demanded money Dec. 4 and 5 from officials at three H.E.B. Food Stores, claiming they had laced strychnine throughout the stores.

No poison was found and attempts to deliver the extortion money were unsuccessful, but store officials decided to destroy and replace their existing stock, estimated at seven tons of food and merchandise, rather than gamble that the threats were a hoax.

Thursday's witnesses included David Lloyd Foster, 19, who told the court the three defendants had talked to him about the possibility of extorting money from a grocery store.

Foster said the three defendants were in his apartment in late November or early December when Stephen Howard, a former roommate, said he had read of a grocery extortion in California in which the extortionist "got away with $100,000 in diamonds."

Mr. G's Landscaping Guide

When you look at trees, shrubs and plants you are looking at an expensive investment. Why not be sure you are doing the right thing instead of making costly mistakes. First draw a basic plan of your property. A particular scale is helpful but not essential if you are doing it yourself. Include all existing walks, terraces, shrubs, trees and compass directions. Three areas should then be considered — the entrance area — the outdoor living and entertaining area — and the work or service area. Landscape design is not a series of rules but keep the following in mind: Plant same plants rather than alternating shrubs to make the walls look longer. Do not separate the house from its site by a ring of plants or foundation planting. Plans should complement the lines of the structure. Plant trees for shade and accent. Make screen plantings to provide privacy. Plan your landscaping — remember it is a major investment in time and money.

Woodlands our next endangered resource

Knowledgeable people say that 99 percent of the flora and the fauna which have existed on this earth since the beginning of time is now extinct.

It's frightening to think about how many plants and animals have ceased to exist in our lifetime. Even now, some of the creatures which propagated across the globe by the millions have no hopes that their species will endure for very long. Man, and his insatiable appetite, are seeing to that.

The next endangered resource, according to men of wisdom, is likely to be the world's forests. Worldwide consumption of wood for all purposes is due to grow from 2.5 billion cubic meters in 1976 to four billion cubic meters in 1994.

COMMERCIAL WOOD demand is rising particularly fast in less developed countries, most of which combine rapid population growth and relatively high economic growth rates with low current levels of industrial wood consumption.

The Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) projects that Third World consumption of wood-panel products and paper will quadruple over the next two decades, and that consumption of sawed wood will rise by 50 percent each decade. These latter estimates cover commercial demand alone. Even if they are realized, many poor people will remain deprived of basic forest products.

Even as the demand for industrial wood soars, a large portion of humanity will continue to rely on firewood for cooking and home heating. The World Bank has assessed future firewood needs, based on optimistic assumptions about the spread of wood-conserving stoves and cooking alternatives such as biogas plants and solar cookers. According to its calculations, 20 to 25 million hectares of new plantations will have to be in place by the year 2000 to order to keep up with demand. At the current rate of planting for this purpose, only two million hectares, one tenth of what is needed, will be established. A recent analysis of energy prospects in the Sahelian zone of West Africa concluded that the planting rate must be multiplied 50-fold if regional firewood needs by the century's end are met.

U.S. WOOD PRICES have been surging since the '70s, consistently outpacing the general inflation rate. Deforestation, of course, leads to flood and silt problems. Because of its curing all the time around the globe, flooding worsens in country after country. Officials in many nations are beginning to wonder if their chronic flood problems can be ameliorated without a restoration of forest cover. The answer invariably is "no."

Ecologists warn that should the clearing and disruption of tropical rain forests continue at present rates, thousands and possibly hundreds of thousands of plant and animal species, many of them not yet named, will become extinct. It is a statistical certainty that numerous sources of beneficial drugs, foods and industrial products will be unknowingly wiped out. The full ecological repercussions of such an unprecedented biological massacre cannot be predicted, but it will certainly constitute an irreversible evolutionary process.

Insatiable lust for material things — no wonder most every other creature shuns his company.

Familiar ring

Around the rim

James Werrell

President Reagan says that the difference between the U.S. involvement in El Salvador and Vietnam is "so profound." His spokesmen say that to draw parallels between the two situations is "dangerous."

May I be so bold as to ask why? The U.S. already has provided millions of dollars worth of guns and bullets to the government of the small Central American country, and has sent military advisers to go with them. Now Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. wants to send the ruling junta $25 million more in military aid and 20 more advisers.

Sound familiar? According to an article in the March 1 issue of the New York Times Magazine, until recently, the top five percent of El Salvador's population received 38 percent of the income. Fewer than two percent owned more than half of the nation's viable farmland.

Malnutrition is the rule among most of the population, and infant mortality is four times that in the United States. Illiteracy among the peasants approaches 95 percent.

In 1932, said the article, a revolt by peasants asking for a minimum wage and unemployment benefits was quashed by the military. More than 30,000 people were killed, and ever since, "El Salvador has been the fiefdom of an oligarchy consisting of wealthy landowners and the army, with a military leader in the presidency."

In what is described by all accounts as the only honest election during this period, moderate Christian Democrat Jose Napoleon Duarte was chosen president in 1972. The Army voided that election and exiled Duarte before he could be sworn in.

Another election was held in 1977, but that too was blocked by the Army.

On Oct. 15, 1979, a group of young Army officers deposed the right-wing government then existing, and placed a moderate junta consisting of three liberal civilians and two colonels in its stead. That government fell apart three months later when the civilians resigned after failing to oust the conservative Colonel Jose Guillermo Garcia as Minister of Defense.

Duarte, who had returned from nearly eight years of exile in Venezuela, was eventually named president of the junta and holds that post today. Despite his presence, however, the government has continued to drift rightward.

In 1970, the government itself organized and armed a cadre of strongmen to control the nation's countryside. That group, government forces and right-wing death squads still operate "with impunity" throughout the country, stated the article.

"A few weeks ago," according to the Times, "an army truck dumped the bodies of 22 young men and women in a pile on the asphalt of a not-beautiful military judicial center in the capital. The government said they were 'subversives.'"

IN THE LAST YEAR, 13,194 people have been killed in political violence, "most of them by government security forces and rightist paramilitary groups," according to El Salvador's Human Rights Commission.

And this is the government which, according to President Reagan, we are "helping, offering some help against the import or the export into the Western Hemisphere of terrorism, of disruption."

Certainly we must make strong efforts to see that Communists are unable to exploit the unrest in El Salvador to their own ends. But, if you will excuse the parallel, the U.S. is in a position to make the same mistakes it did in Vietnam, and, for that matter, in Iran.

By supporting a repressive, right-wing military government bent on protecting the interests of the thin upper stratum of its society, we are helping to create exactly the climate in which Communism thrives.

Fortunately President Reagan has stated that the sending of American soldiers to El Salvador is unlikely. He has also pledged to follow all diplomatic avenues at his disposal to help resolve the crisis, which is a wise course.

But he has also stated that he is not prepared to send American troops into a conflict "we are not prepared to win." His qualification in that statement scares me.

Reagan and his advisers may have grown weary of parallels, but unless this country is prepared to become mired in another Vietnam-like misadventure, those parallels must continue to be drawn.

Brezhnev's ploy

Joseph Kraft

WASHINGTON — A vast hodgepodge, a veritable Chinese menu of measures to "strengthen peace," was laid out by Leonid Brezhnev in his speech to the 26th Party Congress in Moscow last week. His purpose, massive evidence suggests, was to slow down American preparedness, and split the U.S. from its allies.

Still, American opinion being what it is, and the allies being what they are, the Reagan Administration has to make positive response to at least one of the Russian gambits. The least noxious — especially from the viewpoint of the allies — centers around a French plan for a European Disarmament Conference.

THE SMORGASBORD OF proposals dished up by Brezhnev included practically every initiative ever put forward before by anybody. The Soviet leader smiled on a scheme, once advanced by West Germany, for a freeze on medium-range nuclear weapons in Europe. He revived an idea of his own for neutralizing the Persian Gulf. He tied that to a notion, backed in various ways by Pakistan, Iran, France and Britain, for dealing with the Afghanistan problem. He indicated readiness to renegotiate as widely reported, a summit meeting — at all levels.

But the velvet glove ill concealed the iron fist. The bulk of the speech extolled a Five Year Plan, which continues inordinate emphasis on military spending, and perpetuates the preponderance of heavy industry off which the military feeds. With respect to Afghanistan, Brezhnev made it seem that all that had happened was "limited" Soviet "assistance" called in by popular demand. Events in Poland were described as "a threat to the foundations of the Socialist state."

A call for "deeds not words" would ideally be the right American response. But a sense of guilt about Vietnam still haunts American opinion. Many "enlightened" Americans share the view of the Carter Administration that the interest in arms control transcends such mere bagatelles as Soviet aggression in Afghanistan, and repression in Eastern Europe, and adventurism in Africa.

The most prominent American allies, moreover, have interests, rooted in domestic politics, in doing certain kinds of business with Russia. West Germany drives a brisk trade east of the Elbe, and there is broad public support for Chancellor Schmidt's efforts to foster more rapport with the kith and kin in East Germany. French Gaullists and French Communists — both critical to President Valery Giscard d'Estaing's hopes for re-election in May — like to see their country playing the role of middleman between the super powers. The British, keen to make their way as Good Europeans, fancy a special role as broker between the U.S. and the Continent.

THE REAGAN ADMINISTRATION cannot defy these feelings, however ill-founded. Going against public opinion in this country and the interests of the allies can only weaken the drive to stiffen American defenses and enhance U.S. influence. To give a harsh answer to the Brezhnev speech would be to play Moscow's game.

But one proposal in the Brezhnev grab bag can, temporarily at least, be explored without great risk. The French plan for a European Disarmament Conference would not in any way compromise the projected American military buildup.

MAKING BREZHNEV'S LEADER OF THE YEAR

Device can mask ear noises

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a buzzing in my head. It is worse at night while in bed. I have high blood pressure. At the last check it was 156 over 80. I am taking Regroton. My doctor says it may be a circulatory problem. What does that mean? Can it be the medicine? — Mrs. E.K.

High blood pressure has been associated with ear buzzing, but with the nice readings you report, it would seem an unlikely cause in your case. Ear buzzing is not listed as a side effect of Regroton.

Ear noise (tinnitus) is a most annoying problem and a difficult one to find an answer for because there are 68 separate causes. In a recent survey, more than 36 million people complained of tinnitus.

Circulation problems do cause ear noises if blood flow to any part of the ear is poor. The poor blood supply destroys some of the hearing cells, causing a buzzing or ringing sensation. It seems paradoxical that dead hearing cells will cause a noise, but that is the explanation offered. The noise is sort of like the ear's version of pain.

If no other cause can be found for your buzzing and if the noise is really driving you crazy, you might inquire about a tinnitus synthesizer. This device reproduces various buzzing sounds. The user tries to identify the sound bugging him. When that is done, a tinnitus masker is selected to match the buzzing. It is like a hearing aid, and is worn in the ear. It duplicates the sound experienced, masking the noise within.

It does not work for all, but has been of some help. For night ear noises, some have found help by turning on a radio to a place where only static comes out. That static helps lessen the buzzing noise, the way a tinnitus mask does.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is there any cure or help for diabetic diarrhea? — L.A.

This is an unpleasant and unusual complication of diabetes. The speed with which food passes through the intestinal tract is controlled by nerves. In diabetic diarrhea, those nerves may be damaged. Food rushes through the intestines rapidly, especially at night. I can appreciate the discouragement you indicate in your longer letter. But you may be helped.

The drugs diphenoxylate and atropine or loperamide have been useful. Others have benefited from intermittent use of the antibiotic tetracycline. Has your physician suggested giving these a try? If not, discuss it with him. Good luck.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is there a remedy to make hair grow faster than nature intends it to? Any advice would be deeply appreciated. I enclose some ads for hair growing medicines. — Mrs. E.M.

Hair may grow while taking anything, but there is a very important "if" involved. You hit it in your letter with the phrase "faster than nature intends it" to grow. Since much hair loss is of a temporary nature, regrowth is to be expected. Once the cause of the loss, an illness, for example, is eliminated, the hair grows back normally — as nature intended.

But if one happens to be taking a hair restorer product during the thin stage, it is difficult to argue that it had no effect on the expected thickening stage. This situation may account for many of the sincere testimonials for this or that hair restorer product. For confirmed baldness, neither restorers nor nature itself offers any help.

Dear Dr. Donohue: For the past year or so I have noticed that my pupils are unequal. The right is always smaller than the left. My doctor diagnosed the condition as Adie's pupil. I have been unable to locate any information on this. Can you? — A.W.

The circular, colored part of the eye, the iris, has two muscles that allow it to expand and to narrow. It expands in the dark to let in more light so that we can see better. In brightness, it narrows to keep out too much light.

The Adie's eye stays expanded and narrows only sluggishly in response to bright light. Sometimes the person with Adie's eye will have loss of the knee jerk reflex. It is not a serious problem, and we don't know why some people react this way.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I understand that if I become a Christian I will have to give God first place in my life. Why does he demand this of us? — A.S.

DEAR A.S.: I am glad you understand (at least to some degree) that becoming a Christian is a serious matter, and that Christ asks that you not only believe in him but that you yield your life to him and follow him as Lord. Jesus said, "If anyone would come after me, he must deny himself and take up his cross daily and follow me" (Luke 9:23).

In order to help you see why God asks to have first place in your life, I want you to think about what happens when he is not first place — when he is not Lord of our lives. If Christ is not Lord of your life — leading and guiding you — who is? The answer is: You are. You, in effect, have become your own God. You have taken the place in your life that rightfully belongs to God alone, and that means you have turned your back on him.

But let me take it a step farther. If God is not in control of your life, how can you know whether or not the path you choose to follow is the right one?

Only God knows the future, and only he knows what is best for us. And he wants you to have what is best for you, because he loves you. "Which of you, if his son asks for bread, will give him a stone? ... how much more will your Father in heaven give good gifts to those who ask him!" (Matthew 7:9, 11).

Why should God have first place in your life? First, because he commands it, and even if we could not understand it, we should obey him. The first of the Ten Commandments declares, "You shall have no other gods before me" (Exodus 20:3). Second, he should have first place in our lives because he loves us beyond measure. He loves you so much that he was willing to allow his only Son to be nailed to the cross and die as a sacrifice for your sins. Third, he deserves first place in our lives because only by following him and knowing him will we ever have lasting peace and joy.

I sense you are struggling to decide whether or not to be a Christian. Don't let your will stand in the way, but turn to Christ.

Clout maintained

WASHINGTON — It's safe to say most consumers don't understand exactly how the government's price-support system for the dairy industry works. All they know is that the price of milk, butter and cheese keeps going up and up at the supermarkets.

But the system is really quite simple: Congress authorizes twice-a-year increases in dairy prices. The dairy industry collects the increase no matter how much it produces or how little its production costs have risen. Then the industry's political action committees make fat campaign contributions to members of Congress who control dairy price-support legislation.

IT'S THIS MUTUAL backscratching that will make the Reagan administration's hopes of cutting back on dairy subsidies one of the toughest battles it faces this year. The next upward "adjustment" of dairy prices is due in April, and unless Congress agrees to stop the increase, the price of milk will go up 8 cents a gallon, butter 10 cents a pound and cheese 9 cents a pound.

The amount of money involved is substantial. An April subsidy slash will save the government about $138 million this year alone. Overall, the annual subsidies will have risen from $1.3 billion in 1979 to an estimated $2 billion this year if the automatic increases continue.

And this doesn't count the $1.5 billion a year in high prices paid by consumers or the estimated $2 billion it will cost the government to store the huge surpluses the dairy industry has produced. The Commodity Credit Corporation will buy up and store an estimated 600 million pounds of dry milk this year, along with 275 million pounds of butter and 285 million pounds of cheese.

With money like that pouring into its coffers, the dairy industry can afford to spread some of it around among its friends and protectors on Capitol Hill. The industry's three biggest associations have contributed some $3.1 million to congressional campaigns between 1977 and 1980.

And don't think the dairymen don't know where their campaign contributions will do the most good. My associate Tony Capaccio checked the figures for the 1979-80 campaign period from the Associated Milk Producers PAC ($739,289), the Dairymen's Inc. PAC ($221,908) and the Mid-American Dairymen Inc. PAC ($270,650) against the roster of Senate and House Agriculture Committee members.

Senate committee members got a total of $54,200 from these groups; Robert Dole, R-Kan., led the list with $13,000, closely followed by Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., at $12,000 and Mark Andrews, R-N.D., at $10,000.

THE DAIRY INDUSTRY'S Big Three buttered up members of the House committee with a total of $213,310 in 1979-80. Here are the top recipients: Floyd Fithian, D-Ind., $15,000; Tom Harkin, D-Iowa, $12,500; Tom Foley, D-Wash., $12,000; Ed Jones, D-Tenn., $9,500; Jim Jeffords, R-Vt., $9,700, and Arlene Stangeland, R-Minn., $8,000.

Harkin, the $12,500 man, is chairman of the key Agriculture subcommittee that will handle the administration's proposal to skip the April increase. He has already expressed doubt that his subcommittee will be able to act on the measure before the April 1 deadline.

Footnote: The dairy industry's clout was particularly strong last year. The April support increase was nominated for oblivion by Jimmy Carter's budget cutters, but survived to be announced just before the Wisconsin primary. And when Carter's domestic staff chief Stuart Eizenstat tried to tinker with the subsidy program, he ran into an influential Minnesota — Vice President Walter Mondale.

WHITE HOUSE PIPELINE: Is there something about the Oval Office that literally gives its occupant a swelled head? When he was president, Gerald Ford was once presented with a football helmet that had presumably been checked for size. But it was too small; try he would, Ford couldn't squeeze the helmet on. A few days ago, Rep. Clint Roberts, R-S.C., dropped by the White House and gave President Reagan a cowboy hat that had been handmade by one of his constituents. Reagan shaped it expertly with his hands and set it on his head — where it perched like Happy Hooligan's tin can. Roberts promised to have a bigger one made; the small hat will go to one of the president's sons — or possibly be put away until Reagan leaves the White House.

Unlike his predecessors, Jimmy Carter actually did bring Vice President Walter Mondale into the inner circle of decision making at the White House. Now his successor, George Bush, is benefiting from this precedent. He has been included in many of the high-level White House economic discussions and in most of President Reagan's Oval Office meetings with members of Congress.

WATCH ON WASTE: The Pentagon's budget for recruiting promotion has swollen from less than $7 million a few years ago to more than $140 million this year. Most of the increase, of course, can be traced to the end of the draft. But a substantial amount could be saved — more than $15 million a year — if the armed services advertised jointly instead of aiming their individual ads at the same potential recruits. And a Congressional Budget Office study concluded that joint-service ads bring in 50 percent more recruits.

Clements glad gasoline tax issue re-examined by Clayton

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A trip to the gasoline pump could press your wallet even flatter than it does now if Speaker Bill Clayton can persuade lawmakers to re-examine one of Gov. Bill Clements' ideas.

Clayton, D-Springlake, has resurrected the Republican governor's proposal to raise the state tax on gasoline, and Clements said Thursday he's all for it.

Clements says tensions on coastline are easing

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Tension between Vietnamese and American shrimpers has eased after a series of weekend meetings on the Texas coast, Gov. Bill Clements says.

"Hopefully, we have poured some oil on these troubled waters," Clements told his weekly news conference Thursday.

He said the meetings of the fishermen, his aide Allen Clark, and Sen. James E. "Buster" Brown showed that many of the embattled Southeast Asian refugees are ready to quit the shrimping business.

Recently, American fishermen have loudly complained the refugees are driving them out of business. Then the Ku Klux Klan entered the fray, charging the Vietnamese are Communists.

The KKK sponsored a demonstration at which a Vietnamese shrimp boat was burned in effigy.

"There is strong evidence that a good many of the Vietnamese would like to sell their boats and leave the area," Clements said. "And we'll continue to try to establish a living and fishing environment that will allow those who want to, to stay."

He deplored the presence of the Klan and its role in the controversy.

resurrected the Republican governor's proposal to raise the state tax on gasoline, and Clements said Thursday he's all for it.

"If the Legislature in its wisdom sees fit to raise the gasoline tax, I certainly will sign that bill," he said.

Clements stressed that the idea is still just "floating" while Clayton tries to find out how much support it might get from lawmakers.

Clements' original proposal to double the current nickel-a-gallon tax — the nation's lowest — was practically laughed out of the House.

"This idea was dropped several months ago (because) it got no support whatever in the Legislature, and I said so at the time," Clements said in his weekly news conference.

But Texans' successful conservation efforts have made the proposition more attractive, he said.

Funds from the tax pay for highway construction and maintenance, as well as for public schools. Clements said the highway department's shortfall, which is made up by general taxes, could be as much as $900 million over the next two years.

Asked if voters would perceive a tax increase as "punishment" for using less gasoline, Clements said people who drive should pay for state roads.

South Texas 'Rich Kids' not legally entitled to $490,000

WACO, Texas (AP) — Two South Texas youths are not legally entitled to $490,000 police took from them four years ago, but they may be allowed to keep it anyway, a judge declared.

Jurors in a civil trial decided Thursday that the money was stolen, eliminating the youths as rightful possessors.

However, U.S. District Judge Fred Shannon said the youths, who maintain they dug up the money on their Texas ranch, still might be able to retain the cash if he decides police improperly seized it.

The six jurors deliberated about an hour before deciding that James Dean Bridges, 19, took the money from its rightful owner, Bridges and a friend, Percy Garcia, 20, were arrested and the money confiscated in January 1977 as the pair, then 15 and 16, ran a red light while driving through Waco.

The money has been drawing interest in a local bank since then, as various governmental agencies filed claims against the sum.

But Shannon said if he decides the money was confiscated illegally then there would have been no basis for this week's trial in the first place and the money should be returned to Garcia and Bridges.

Assistant Attorney General David Bragg argued that the state was entitled to the money because the proceeding was a civil matter.

However, Shannon said Bragg's argument would mean the government could confiscate something illegally, then keep it because it was a civil matter, which would be an "end run" around the U.S. Constitution.

George Schaffer, an attorney for Bridges, predicted the case would be appealed "all the way to the Supreme Court" regardless of Shannon's decision.

Between the time of his arrest and the time the trial began, Bridges told four different stories to explain how he and Garcia came to have the money.

He initially told police he was a "Mafia runner" making a delivery, that he found the money in a Chicago man's yard, that he found the money in an ice chest when a flood uncovered it and that he discovered the cache in a quail pen on his father's Alice ranch after he scratched away the dirt on top of it.

The latter version, Bridges told the court, was what really happened and he only told the other stories because police didn't believe the truth and grilled him all through the night.

Bridges also claimed he was mistreated by police at the time of his arrest and that one officer pushed him to the floor at the police station, resulting in bloodstains on his clothes.

Legislators introduce tax exemption bills in House

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A legislative package to prevent shifting of the tax burden from businesses to homeowners has been introduced in the Texas House.

Reps. Lee Jackson, Wayne Peveto and John Sharp said taxing property on its full market value, which will be mandatory next year, would cause the shift if the Legislature does not prevent it.

The lawmakers said homestead exemptions of up to 20 percent would remedy the problem.

Steve Bartlett, Dallas city councilman, said the package has the support of the Texas Municipal League and the Dallas and Fort Worth city councils.

Bartlett called the measures "the best hope Texas cities have for achieving equity and fairness in the property tax system."

Dallas revalued property in 1979 and saw huge jumps in residential tax assessments while business share of the tax burden stayed about the same.

"Ample evidence exists to suggest that without homestead tax relief, the Dallas experience will become a statewide nightmare in 1982. Dallas was not unique. We were simply first," Bartlett said.

The measures introduced Thursday by Jackson, Peveto and Sharp are:

- A constitutional amendment enabling local governments to exempt up to 20 percent of a home's market value from property taxes. An exemption would have to be at least $5,000 and no more than $30,000. The amendment also would allow the Legislature to grant a similar exemption from school taxes.
- If approved by two-thirds of the House and Senate, the amendment would be submitted to the voters at a special election in November.
- A bill granting all Texas homeowners a 20 percent homestead exemption from school district taxes, up to $30,000, and reimbursing the districts for their revenue losses. Estimated cost to the state would be $75 million.

The bill could take effect only if the constitutional amendment passes.

Jackson, R-Dallas, said 78 of the 150 House members have signed as co-sponsors of the package.

The State Property Tax Board and the Real Estate Research Center at Texas A&M estimate that homeowners' share of the total tax burden will rise an average of 27.5 percent statewide unless big homestead exemptions are granted.

Meanwhile, the portion of the tax load carried by commercial and industrial property would drop 6 percent.

This is because residential property values are rising faster than those of businesses and industrial plants. At the same time, homes are more likely to be on current tax rolls at a lower percentage of their value, Jackson said.

Peveto, D-Orange, was House sponsor of the 1979 law requiring local governments to tax real estate on its full market value.

Former alcoholic defeats life of booze, drugs

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Seven years ago Walter "Buddy" Teague III was sleeping under a bridge in a wine jungle on South Pesa Street, vomiting blood because of a 15-year bout with booze and drugs.

"I was one of the sorriest turkeys that ever walked across the United States," he said. "I was sick and tired of being sick and tired."

Teague, now 36, said he started drinking at age 14 in his native Stephenville, Texas, stayed drunk for a week at a time in Mexico at age 16, then went from worse on a "conning and conning" binge of alcohol and narcotics that took him to Puerto Rico, through a four-year Army tour and across the country.

"I came home and drank up a business and got run out of the county," the eighth-grade dropout recalls. "I've been in Mexican prisons and wine jungles and undergone all sorts of treatments — Jesus freak farms, Mental Health and Mental Retardation, insane asylums, the whole bit."

Teague said he spent eight years going to Alcoholics Anonymous meetings before he finally dried out.

Today Teague heads an unorthodox communal self-sufficient and operates outside normal bureaucratic guidelines.

Teague recalls being treated under tax-supported programs in which the participants felt each other's faces and were supplied drugs simply by saying they were nervous.

"It was very humiliating the way I allowed these people to condition me because I was hooked on alcohol and dope," Teague said.

"We don't baby them here," he continued. "They're not allowed to have booze or drugs. If they do, then we take their butts out on the road and tell them not to come back downtown and embarrass us. We've got a good rapport."

Teague said he and his wife, Ann, also a recovered alcoholic, were sleeping on the floor of a house with no heat 27 months ago when a lawn work job earned them $40. From that turning point came the idea of the HOW Foundation, begun with $500 in borrowed funds.

Last year, the foundation grossed $1 million and sent out 30 to 40 work crews each day, Teague said.

HOW initially paid its participants minimum wage, about $100 a week, but that proved too difficult for many of the recovering alcoholics to handle, he said. Now all the money earned goes back into the foundation.

Each participant must sign a contract to work six months "in return for food, clothing, rehabilitation counseling, recreation activities, medical, dental and eye care. They agree to work every day on a HOW team for lawn care, tree trimming or steam cleaning, but are paid no cash until late in the program when each receives $10 a week.

There have been scattered accusations that HOW deals in "slave labor," but Teague said he has nothing to hide, including the more than $30,000 in wages he and his secretary wife take from the program. He said he cut his salary to about $14,000 this year because last year's drought slowed the lawn business.

HOW owns a deer lease on nearby land and takes its recovering alcoholics and addicts hunting, and on charter fishing trips, as part of the program. Teague said this is to teach them to enjoy life without drugs or liquor. "They have to have sober friends and sober places to go. If they go and sit among 100 straight people, it's just like you going and sitting among 100 alcoholics and dope fiends. They feel a little uncomfortable," he said.

HOW's participants have included clergymen, pipefitters, doctors, lawyers and retired military men.

"I don't feel sorry for alcoholics, and I'm not

A SIMPLE GARDEN PLAN CAN HELP INSURE SUCCESS.

You still want to grow garden? Well, plan it

By DON RICHARDSON County Extension Agent

You probably have a good reason for wanting to grow a garden. Maybe it's because you like to be outdoors next to the good earth and let the fertile soil run through your fingers. Maybe it's because you like the taste of fresh vegetables right out of the garden. Or maybe it's because you dropped $100 on your last trip to the supermarket.

Regardless of the reason, you want to grow a garden. So, where do you start? Certainly not with your hands in your pockets looking at pretty seed packets at the local garden

Clements likes tuition hike

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The high cost of a college education has not kept anyone who "really wants one" from getting it, Gov. Bill Clements says.

Supporting a proposal to double tuition at state colleges and raise medical school tuition 400 percent, Clements recommended that poor and middle class students take advantage of existing loan and scholarship programs if they find themselves strapped.

"I don't know of a single student in the state of Texas who has a high school diploma who can't get a college education if he really wants one," Clements said Thursday. "There have been monies and funds for scholarships that were unused."

He also suggested needy students get jobs or participate in work study programs.

The governor was unsympathetic with a statewide coalition of students, the Texas Student Lobby, whose members claimed earlier in the day the proposed increases were unnecessary and unfair.

"I am in favor of (the hike) and the fact that some students don't want it is no surprise to me," Clements told his weekly news conference. "If you asked them if they want to take castor oil tomorrow morning they wouldn't like that either."

He said tuition has not increased in 10 years and that students now pay less than 4 percent of the cost of their educations.

"The student should pay 25 percent and the state 75 percent," Clements said.

Two bandits draw 15 years in pen

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Two men accused of holding up the North Side Fina Station Dec. 2, 1980, have entered guilty pleas in Mitchell County's 32nd District Court.

Sentenced to 15 years each were Myers Lee Johnson and Darren D'Wayne Woody. The two men robbed station attendant Clayton Hardin after pulling a starter pistol on him. However, they were apprehended less than 20 minutes after the robbery.

Both men had been indicted in Dallas County on another charge of aggravated robbery. In addition, Johnson was on probation at the time of the local robbery after being convicted of forgery in Dallas. Woody was on probation from Dallas after being convicted of burglary.

center or nursery. You've got to do it right. Think Plan.

First, make sure you have room for a garden. You won't need a lot of space if you are a beginner with an average size family. Perhaps your garden might only be 20 feet by 20 feet, or maybe even less.

Whatever the size garden you have, think in terms of four basic requirements. First of all, you need sunlight because all vegetables need some sunlight. And, believe it or not, most vegetables must have full sunlight for highest yields of quality produce. Unless you are concentrating on leaf or bulb crops like broccoli, collards, spinach or onions, your crops need every ray of sunshine that is available.

The next thing to consider is closeness of your garden. Put it as near to the back door as possible. Make bringing home the fruits of your labor a pleasant and enjoyable chore. The out-of-sight out-of-mind principle applies here. A garden does not demand a constant care and attention, but it will thrive and do better if you visit it about once a day. If you do not check it regularly, many insects and diseases which are a problem in Howard County or maybe even lack of water can destroy your garden in a short period of time. So put the garden close to the house where watching it will not be a hassle.

Next, consider the soil. Realistically, there is not much you can do about changing the type of soil you have in your yard. But, ideally, the soil should be fertile and easy to till, with just the right texture — a loose, well-drained, loamy soil. If your backyard soil does not meet these specifications 100 percent — and let's face it, not many soils in Howard County do — don't panic. You can work it into shape without breaking your back.

Avoid areas heavily infested with Johnson grass, nutgrass and other weeds. Don't put your garden on a rocky ledge or in a poorly drained area. All of these things make gardening more difficult.

The next thing to consider is availability of water. Your garden should be near a spigot or at least easily reached with a garden hose. It's no poor reflection on Mother Nature, but unfortunately, it doesn't always rain in Howard County when it's needed. In a typical year, your garden will need watering about once a week.

After considering all of these things and you still want to grow a garden, now you are ready for the planning stage.

The first step in planning is selecting vegetables you want to grow. Plant vegetables you like to eat. Avoid those that your family doesn't usually buy on trips to the local grocery store. With a few exceptions, you can plant almost anything in your garden you want.

If you are undecided about what to grow, give our office a call. We'll be glad to help you with information on what vegetables grow best here.

Police add different beat tonight

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado City's Police Department will add a different beat to its regular rounds tonight when it sponsors a dance for school students seventh grade and up from 8 p.m., to midnight in the Civic Center.

The tempo will be set by a local band, "Loosely Tight," which includes former Big Spring electric base, as well as Mike Wailor, lead guitar; Tony Clifton, vocalist; Arthur Orono, drums; and sound man Roy Miles.

Connie Costillo and Baum also will serve as disc jockeys, providing a variety of recorded music in addition to the live band.

The event is an effort on the behalf of the police department to provide supervised fun for local young people.

According to officers, Jesse Dominguez and Johnny Slough, co-chairmen of the event, "our police department wants to establish the best possible relationship with Colorado City's school students. We're interested in them and their activities and hope they'll all turn out for the dance."

Dear Abby

Gold Digger Gets Nailed By Irate Customer

DEAR ABBY: I used to get a manicure every other week. My manicurist charges $12, which is all profit because she works out of her home and is self-employed. Considering this, I never tipped her. However, I always gave her a gift on special occasions.

Last Christmas I gave her a pair of expensive costume earrings. The next time she showed up she showed me the gifts all her other clients had given her, then she proceeded to return my earrings, saying, "Sorry, I wear only real gold."

Abby, I thought this was so rude I never went back to her. Later her neighbor told me that she returned my gift because I had never tipped her.

What do you think of her behavior in view of her self-employed status?

BETTY E.

DEAR BETTY: Her behavior was gross, and her profit was net.

DEAR ABBY: After 19 years of marriage, my husband decided he wanted a night out with the boys. I wrote to you, and you said it was good for a man to have a little diversion from his work and everyday routine, so I accepted your answer and have been trying to live with it.

The problem is that my husband has been coming home at 4 a.m. and 5 a.m. from his "nights out." By the time he gets home I am not only upset, I am worried sick, wondering what has happened to him. Do you think he is being fair to me? He says he is not hurting me, and I should go to sleep and not worry about him, but I can't go to sleep, and I can't help worrying about him.

I feel that if this continues it will put a strain on our marriage. Please tell me what to do.

READY TO CRACK

DEAR READY: My idea of "a night out with the boys" is a card game, bowling, seeing a basketball game, etc. — not disappearing until dawn! He is hurting you. Perhaps if he were more specific about where he is, or if he called you, it would put you at ease. A more equitable solution would be for you to take a "night out with the girls" and agree that both of you should be home at a certain time.

Phillips speaks to women of the Church of God

The Women of the Church of God met Monday at 7 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First Church of God for their monthly meeting.

Hettie Minix, president, presided and prayers were offered by Frances Miller and Virginia Chappell.

Jean McCray directed the devotion, centering her thoughts around the "Will of God" for each person.

Group singing was directed by Betty Reagan with Susan Wood at the piano.

Vera Blackburn, Missionary Education director, introduced the concluding study on Latin America with the theme, "Word Pictures of South America". The study was centered around Colombia, a republic in the northwestern part of South America.

Ted Phillips, guest speaker, was introduced and he presented pertinent information of this area, where he had visited an Evangelical Mission Station, as well as films of a Mission Station in Bogata where his daughter, Luan, was killed in an airplane crash in October, 1969.

Colombia was named in honor of Christopher Columbus. It covers an area of 439,997 square miles with a population of more than fifteen million people. The principal language is Spanish.

The speaker noted that the chief products in this country are coffee, gold, oil, and agriculture. Farming is the chief industry, and the methods of farming vary with the size and location of farms. Some farming is still in very primitive stages.

The people are receptive to the gospel and will walk miles to hear the word of God preached. The Evangelical faith makes up only two percent of the population.

The group was reminded of the Spring Convention which will be held in Corpus Christi, March 19-21 at Park Side Church of God.

The next meeting is Membership Month, and will be held on April 6 in the Fellowship Hall with a salad supper.

The Federation Counselor's report was presented by Susan Alexander who read an impressive list of accomplishments the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs have sponsored in Texas. Among the accomplishments were: adoption of State flower and bird, child labor laws, and seven major traffic safety regulations.

The club voted to become Centennial Belles for the upcoming celebration in Howard County. Each member is asked to get a bonnet and hopefully a costume of the time.

Costumes are on sale at the Centennial Headquarters, 900 Main St. The club also decided to have a float in the May 25 parade.

Shirley Summers read an invitation to the March 17 membership tea for Friends of Howard County Library.

Members were urged to attend. Emily Elrod discussed the March 20-21 Western District Convention to be held at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. The Forsan Club will be responsible for the decorations for the March 21 luncheon and will begin decorating at 10 a.m. Mrs. Elrod reminded everyone to send in the registration fee by March 15.

Carole Hope won the door prize which was donated by Donna Parker.

Methodists will serve chili supper

The North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church will sponsor a chili supper today from 5:30 p.m. until 9 p.m. at the church. For $3 a bowl of homemade chili and dessert may be purchased. Also for sale will be items baked by church members including cakes, pies and cookies.

The church is located approximately 2 miles north of Interstate 20 on North Birdwell Lane.

NOTED HYPNOTISTS IN BIG SPRING TO HELP SMOKERS & THE OVERWEIGHT

WADE M. GENTHNER F.A.I.H.

Are you overweight or a cigarette smoker? Have you tried to lose weight or stop smoking, only to fail time and time again? If you find yourself answering "yes" to either of these questions then the Techniques For Living Seminar, under the direction of Wade M. Genthner F.A.I.H. at the Holiday Inn, 300 Tulane Ave., will be the place for you to be on Wed., March 11. Techniques For Living will be conducting their famous Lose Weight — Stop Smoking Seminar which has helped thousands of people throughout the United States. Techniques For Living is a national organization dedicated to helping Americans solve these and other problems that have kept them from enjoying their lives to the fullest.

The subject of numerous newspaper and magazine articles as well as television appearances, Mr. Genthner and his staff have been conducting these seminars throughout the country. In a comprehensive and fascinating three hour program, those who attend the seminar experience the relaxing and beneficial effects of clinical hypnosis. Not only do people permanently lose weight and stop smoking as a result of the seminar, they also report that they sleep better, feel more energetic, and generally enjoy life more than they had previously.

Mr. Genthner's skill in clinical hypnosis was noted by Dan Rather of CBS' "60 Minutes," who referred to him in a nationally televised report as a well-trained and highly experienced hypnotist.

"Clinical hypnosis is the easiest way there is to solve these problems," Genthner says. "Simply put, it helps to eliminate these types of problems permanently."

Genthner says that the reason clinical hypnosis is so successful is that "it removes the causes of problems, not just the symptoms." For example, he explains: "People who are overweight go on diets. A diet is only good for as long as you can follow it. Once you stop the diet you regain the weight. Hypnosis is permanent because it eliminates the causes of over-eating, not just the symptoms." The same holds true for smokers where the need to prevent cravings for cigarettes or weight gain is just as important. Both problems are covered at the seminar, and each seminar leader is personally trained by Mr. Genthner. Further information can be obtained by calling, toll free, 1-800-645-5744 or 1-800-645-5538.

BURIAL HALTED — Tim and Alpha Daugherty, of Dublin, Tex. seek release of the body of their son, Steve, by the U.S. Army. Staff Sgt. Steve Daugherty, 32, a tuba player in the 5th Army Band at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio, Texas, shot himself February 26. The Army will not release the body until they have exhausted all leads to find Steve's estranged wife, Sun Hwa, who may be in Hawaii or South Korea.

Following week of red tape

General orders body of soldier shipped to parents for burial

DUBLIN, Texas (AP) — A Pentagon general snipped red tape Thursday and ordered the body of a soldier to be shipped to his parents for burial.

The body of Army Staff Sgt. Steve Daugherty, 32, had lain for a week in the morgue at Brooke Army Medical Center in San Antonio while Army officials tried to locate his estranged wife, Sun Hwa, his legal next of kin.

His parents, Tim and Alpha Daugherty of Dublin in North Central Texas, spent the week calling senators, congressmen and military officials.

Their persistent efforts, along with that of an aide to House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Texas, paid off Thursday when Maj. Gen. J.C. Pennington, Army adjutant general, ordered the body released.

Joe Shosid, Wright's military affairs aide, said Fort Sam Houston officials in San Antonio were legally correct in holding the body. Sun Hwa has first claim to the body and death benefits because the couple still was married.

But he said Pennington "went against the advice of his locker-room lawyers because he felt the parents were being misjudged completely."

The Daughertys have maintained they were not trying to claim the benefits.

"We're happy in one way, but sort of tired and sad too," Mrs. Daugherty said after hearing the news late Thursday afternoon.

The Army said Daugherty, a tuba player in the 5th Army Band, committed suicide Feb. 26 in his barracks at Fort Sam Houston.

Before the red tape was cut, the Daughertys said they wanted the band to play at the funeral but doubted the Army would do it. But the Army liaison officer from nearby Stephenville who first informed them of their son's death reportedly was told to give the family "anything they want."

Daugherty met and married Sun Hwa in 1975, in Korea. While stationed there again in 1979, his mother said, Sun Hwa took $1,100 from his savings account, sold his clothes and left.

"They were still married, but just last month Steve was working on a divorce," Mrs. Daugherty said. "He talked to a lawyer who said it would cost $1,000. Steve was trying to get the money, but you know how long it takes to save up nowadays."

John Fuschich, casualty officer at Fort Sam Houston, had said Wednesday the Army is "doing everything that's humanly possible. But there's no time limit that the search can go on, as long as the people in charge think there's a reasonable chance of finding her."

Evenings will be different for many

Trusted Cronkite to hoist anchor

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — Evenings will be different from here on out for many Americans. "That's the way it is" now becomes part of the way it was and the way we were.

Walking to Walter Cronkite's incredibly cluttered office in the CBS studios for a farewell interview, I think about some of the events and incidents that go into making a man the most trusted American of his time.

Hanoi, 1973, rushes to mind. The release of the last American pilots from those North Vietnamese prison camps. A number of us had flown in from Laos on a press charter. Through some lucky scheduling foulup we had gotten there ahead of time. The prisoners were still in their cellblocks, wearing their POW pajamas and Ho Chi Minh sandals.

At a camp named "The Zoo," I went into a low-slung building to talk with American servicemen who were about to be freed after four or more years imprisonment. To my surprise, they all climbed on their straw bunks, turned their faces to the wall and rebuffed questions. One pilot's cot faced a window.

"Hey," he cried, "there's Walter Cronkite. We really are being released."

All at once the prisoners surrounded me, embraced me, peppered me with questions. Until they saw Cronkite, they apologized, they thought we were part of "another Jane Fonda peace group."

Cronkite had given us credibility. His image even surmounted the language barrier. The North Vietnamese referred to him as "Mister Concrete."

I remember the first time I met him. It was at Cape Canaveral during an early manned missile shot. Alan Shepard's Walter was in a chaise lounge off by the pool surrounded, almost obliterated, by a pile of scientific background material. As always, he was doing his homework to go live on camera for hours on end.

Missile shots and moon shots were the most difficult to prep for, he confessed, as movers carried out the mementos of three decades from that tiny office next to the CBS newsroom. "I started out from an advanced state of idiocy."

Conventions, elections that went far into the night, even until 10 a.m. the next morning, like Nixon-Kennedy in 1960, were comparatively

Six Flags to feature flying ship of Spain

ARLINGTON — The gates of Six Flags Over Texas will swing open for the 1981 season Saturday.

That date also marks the public debut of the theme park's new ride Conquistador, the flying ship of Spain.

The half million dollar ride is the focal point of an extensive revamping of the park's Spanish section.

General Manager Ray Williams said the theming of the ride site is the most extensive decorative treatment ever given a single Six Flags attraction.

The 16,000 pound replica of a sailing ship swings like a pendulum in an arc which carries its passenger more than 50 feet into the air, creating the sensations of both weightlessness and freefall.

Six Flags will be open Saturdays and Sundays only during the spring, with the exception of the week of March 15, when the park will be open daily for the spring break period.

Host families being sought for 25 Scandinavian pupils

American host families are being sought for 25 Scandinavian high school students from Sweden, Norway, Denmark and Finland for the high school year 1981-82, in a program sponsored by American Scandinavian Student Exchange (ASSE).

Interested families in this area should contact: Mrs. Jane Feathers, 2830 Colorado, San Angelo, 76901. Tel: 915-949-0295.

Letters should contain the writer's phone number.

The high school students, ages 16 and 17, will arrive in the United States in late August 1981, attend the local high school, and return home in late June 1982. The students, all fluent in English, have been screened by their school representatives in Scandinavia and have spending money and medical insurance.

American families with small children are welcome to participate in this program. All host families having a student can deduct $50 a month for income tax purposes.

ASSE is also seeking American high school students, age 16 to 17 who would like to spend a high school year with a Scandinavian family or participate in a five-week family stay in the summer of 1981.

American Scandinavian Student Exchange (ASSE) is the official high school exchange program in the United States operating under the auspices of the Swedish Ministry of Education. The ASSE program is officially designated as an exchange-visitatory program by the U.S. State Department.

Since its inception in 1938, the Swedish Educational Travel Program has resulted in over 150,000 student exchanges in Europe and the United States.

Clayton is flabbergasted

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Speaker Bill Clayton says a crude attempt at humor by the dean of the House left him "flabbergasted," but that there would be no attempt at censure.

Rep. W.S. Healy, D-Paducah, shocked some House members and onlookers Wednesday when he presented Rep. Bob Davis, R-Irving, a bottle of "red ass salve" during a formal session of the House.

Elementary school children were in the gallery during the presentation, which included some raw language on Healy's part.

"I thought it was a disgrace to the House," Clayton said Thursday.

FRESH WATER FROM AN OLD WELL

The seven statements of our Lord from the cross give us great insight into the heart of God. This Sunday morning the message will be taken from the second statement which is recorded in Luke 23:42-43.

This scripture points to great truths of our salvation. Before any sinner can be saved he must come to the place of realized weakness. This is what the conversion of the dying thief shows. He could not walk in the path of righteousness for there was a nail through either foot. He could not be baptized or perform any good works for there was a nail through either hand. He could not turn over a new leaf and live a better life for he was dying. All he could do was trust Jesus. Have you in faith given your life to Christ? Our singing, praying, and preaching are to lift up Jesus. We invite you to come be with us this Sunday.

Over Baylor in SWC Tournament

TCU continues Cinderella story in upset

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The late-blooming Texas Longhorns take on the regular season champion Arkansas Razorbacks and the Cinderella TCU Horned Frogs tangle with the Houston Cougars tonight in the semi-final round of the Southwest Conference Basketball Tournament.

The Longhorns, spurred by 21 points and 13 rebounds from towering LaSalle Thompson, rallied in the second half to down Texas Tech, 66-58, and TCU's Jeff Baker came off the bench to score 18 points to lift the Frogs to a 56-47 triumph over Baylor in tournament play Thursday night.

TCU meets Houston at 7:05 p.m. and the Texas-Arkansas tilt will begin 30 minutes after the first game is completed. SWC officials announced 2,500 tickets were still available for the two games and the 8:05 p.m. finals Saturday in the 16,000-seat HemisFair Arena.

Tonight's action matches teams that split during the regular season. Texas downed Arkansas 62-60 in Fayetteville and the Razorbacks won 54-48 in Austin, while the Cougars beat TCU 68-59 in Houston and the Horned Frogs won 78-77 in four overtimes at Fort Worth.

Underdog TCU's victory in the first game Thursday upped its record to 11-17, the most wins for the Frogs since 1972, in the wackiest SWC basketball race in memory.

Ranger guards dribble, shoot past Howard

Hawks grounded in Region V

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor
BROWNWOOD — The town of Ranger is a small one of less than 10,000 inhabitants, but it was a pair of guards from the Big Apple of New York City that propelled the Ranger JC Rangers to an 82-70 triumph over the Howard College Hawks in the first round of the NJCAA Region V Men's Basketball Tournament here Thursday afternoon in the Brownwood Coliseum.

Joe Foster and Dennis Johnson, the New York City natives, combined for 53 points and nine assists in leading a Ranger attack that hit on a red hot 56.6 percent from the field in ending the Hawks hopes of a Region V title.

That, combined with the fact that five of the Hawks fouled out, including Randy Corker and three other starters, was too heavy a load for the Howard College unit to topple.

Ranger drew first blood in the contest, and the Hawks never fully recovered. That was despite the fact that Ranger's 6-8 Ben Rodgers, who was expected to combat the Hawks lethal inside game, drew three fouls in the first 100 seconds of the contest.

That only seemed to spur on the Ranger team, as they quickly began utilizing their guards and corner shooter Mike Hatch without a thought of testing the Hawk defensive interior. They pulled out to a 21-9 lead eight minutes into the game, and it set the stage for a long comeback for the Hawks.

But Howard stayed close, narrowing the margin to 39-31 at the intermission, basically behind the scoring of Corker and Ron Akins.

Hatch had 14 points in the first half for Ranger, with Johnson adding 11. But in the second half, the Ranger guards were enough.

Foster, who had 19 of his game high 27 points in the second half, burned for six of the first eight Ranger unanswered points in the second half, boosting Coach Ron Butler's team to a 47-31 advantage.

But Corker, the leading scorer in the Western Conference during the regular season, began bringing the Hawks back. He scored their first six points of the second half, and the Big Spring juco gradually narrowed the Ranger lead to 53-43 with 12 minutes to play.

But Hawk guard Crushon Loving fouled out at this time, and many of his teammates would follow suit as the game wore on.

As Ranger's lead began to narrow, yet another guard from the Northern Conference team emerged as a star.

That was in the form of Maurice Dorsey, who didn't score like Johnson or Foster, but still worked with them at playing keep away like pros. Dorsey dazzled the crowd for lengthy periods with his dribbling, cutting valuable time off the court and trying to ruin any momentum the Hawks had gained.

Howard cut the lead to 62-55 on a Corker drive to the hoop with 6:31 left, but the points were far from worth it. Corker was whistled for charging on the play, and it was his decisive fifth foul.

He had scored 23 of the Hawks 55 points up to this time, and his absence would be sorely missed.

But the Hawks stayed close with a hustling effort, despite the fact that Kenneth Jones and Bobby Word fouled out in the next three minutes.

An unlikely HC unit of David Adams, Les Hirsch, Jerome Johnson, Greg Bess

Midland, McLennan take exciting wins

Region V Tournament Roundup
By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

BROWNWOOD — Midland, McLennan and Cooke County joined Ranger in advancing into the semifinals of the Region V Tournament here Thursday at the Brownwood Coliseum.

Both Midland and McLennan had to wait until the final seconds before taking comeback wins that were in doubt throughout, while Cooke never trailed.

McLennan now faces Midland in the six o'clock semifinal game tonight, while Cooke meets Ranger in the eight o'clock tilt.

McLennan trailed 37-25 after the first half, and actually was down 49-35 at one point in the final half before pressing their way past Frank Phillips to win in the final seconds.

Daryl Baucham capped the rally, scoring the winning McLennan bucket after grabbing a missed shot with only two seconds left to give his crew a 72-70 win over Frank Phillips.

The McLennan win was a miracle if one looked at the stats. Frank Phillips hit 30 of 52 from the field, compared to a 29 of 63 performance by McLennan. FPC also had a 30-25 rebounding edge.

by Kenny Patrick and Jeff Roberson, the Thunderbirds proved their potential in racing back for a 48-40 half-time lead.

Everything NMJC was doing right, and the stunned Chaps seemed primed to be upset.

It didn't stop there, either, as NMJC came out in the second half and increased their lead to 62-52.

But at this point, NMJC Coach Ron Black ruined his team's momentum by going to the four-corner slowdown.

"He just lost the ballgame," predicted one of my outspoken courtside observers, Bob Bell.

But NMJC ran the offense well, breaking for a bucket about this time to increase their lead to 64-52.

It was the only time their strategy would work, as Midland's tenacious defense nullified the slowdown tactics of NMJC, which had kept the game in their favor by running and gunning with the nationally ranked Chaps.

Midland finally regained the lead with 5:48 to go on a three-point play by Charles Johnson, the Western Conference's MVP, by a count of 71-69.

At this point, NMJC began fouling out some key members, but they still hung close to the end.

The contest was not decided until Midland's 6-6, 240-pound Ernie Tate slammed down a couple of dunks with less than a minute left to seal the Chaps 91-86 triumph.

Tate came off the bench in the second half to lead all MC scorers with 20 points, and grabbed nine rebounds.

Both teams played extremely tight defense, but it was not enough to stop the sizzling shooters. NMJC hit on 33 of 66 field goals attempts, while Midland hit 36 of 75.

TCU, shooting 56 percent from the field, ran up a 28-23 halftime lead over the cold-shooting Bears, who tied Houston for second place in the regular SWC season standings. Baylor ended the season with a 15-12 record.

"Houston is really tough," TCU coach Jim Killingsworth said of tonight's contest. "We split with them and played to four overtimes at our place. If we have four overtimes this time, I told (Houston coach) Guy Lewis instead of shooting free throws we ought to have a spelling bee."

Texas coach Abe Lemons was relieved that his team came back on Tech, because the Red Raiders led 48-41 midway through the second half until Thompson went to work and scored 8 straight points.

"I got to go home and unpack," Lemons said. "It looked like we were winning. Then we were losing and might not get back. It could have gone either way," Lemons said.

The Longhorns, now 14-14 for the year, outshot the Raiders from the field 54 percent to 50 percent and outrebounded them 27-24. Texas turnovers helped keep Tech in the game as the Longhorns miscued nine times to five for the Raiders, who ended the season at 15-13.

"We picked up where we left against the Aggies Monday night," Killingsworth said. "We played very intelligently and we kept our patience... We did a good job defensively."

Despite TCU's late-season heroics, Baker said he was not surprised at his team's success.

"I'm not surprised. Everybody says it's a miracle, but I don't think it's a miracle," said the 6-4 guard who comes off the bench to spark his team. "I was on a small team in high school and we won. I just think the team that wants it the most is going to get it. If we go out and play team ball and work the defense together, our chances are good (against Houston)."

"We've got to come out and play harder than we did tonight," added Browder.

The 6-10, barrel-chested Thompson said he had a tough time with Tech's Clarence Swanegan until late in the game.

Thompson said the Longhorns could beat Arkansas, which captured the regular season trophy with a 22-6 record, "if we're able to limit Scott Hastings and U.S. Reed." The Razorbacks' center and guard combined for an average 29 points during the regular season.

Heavy favorites lose in Southeast Tourney

Kentucky, Tennessee big victims

By the Associated Press

Some of the poor relatives in the Southeastern Conference are finally getting rich, thanks to inspired play in the post-season basketball playoffs.

Such teams as Vanderbilt, Mississippi and Georgia, who spent the season idling at the middle or bottom of the standings, won quarterfinal games Thursday night in one of the most upset-studded SEC playoffs in history.

Vanderbilt pulled off the biggest surprise, beating seventh-ranked Kentucky 60-55 in the tournament at Birmingham, Ala., as freshman Al McKinney hit seven straight free throws in the final 2½ minutes. Mississippi knocked off No. 10 Tennessee 81-71 as Cecil Dowell scored 22 points, and Georgia, which had lost twice by big margins to Alabama during the regular season, upset the Crimson Tide 88-80 behind Dominique Wilkins' 31 points.

Only third-ranked Louisiana State among the favorites got away unscathed, beating Florida 85-73 as Leonard Mitchell came up with 27 points in the other quarterfinal.

Upsets also marked play in the Big East and South-west conferences as a variety of college basketball playoffs continued from coast to coast Thursday night.

Regular-season champion Boston College was beaten 67-65 by last-place Providence in the first round of the Big East playoffs as Ricky Turner delivered a final-second shot for the Friars.

In other matches Thursday night, Eric Floyd scored 19 points to lead Georgetown to a 58-52 decision over Seton Hall; Aaron Howard scored all of his 15 points in the second half to lead Villanova past Connecticut 65-64, and Erieh Santifer and Leo Rautins each scored 18 points to lead Syracuse past St. John's 71-66.

Fisk still shopping despite Bosox offer

Don't count out Boston in the Carlton Fisk sweepstakes. The Red Sox have been vigorously pursuing Fisk in an effort to re-sign the veteran catcher, who was declared a free agent in an arbitration decision last month. General Manager Haywood Sullivan said

Thursday night that the Red Sox would offer Fisk a four-year, guaranteed contract. He said the proposed contract includes several incentive clauses, such as playing in 140 games and making the All-Star team, that could make it worth up to $3 million. The Toronto Blue Jays and the Chicago White Sox also have expressed strong interest in signing Fisk, who has been with Boston for nine years. Jim Essian, a catcher who already has signed with the White Sox as a free agent, was one Chicago player not enthused about the prospect of Fisk joining the team. "I hope he signs somewhere else so he doesn't come here and catch all the games," Essian said Thursday. "It's not going to break my heart if he comes here, but if he does, I'd expect to be traded."

Steers lose in tourney

ROWELL, N.M. — Jay Lindstrom limited Big Spring to five hits and Jerry Foster drove out his second home run of the year in leading Lubbock Coronado to a 4-2 victory in the first round of the Roswell Baseball Tournament here Thursday. Coronado, now 1-1 on the year, jumped out to a 2-0 lead in the third inning on Mark Gilliam's single to center. Foster's fifth inning home run came with the bases empty. Both of Big Spring's runs were unearned. Coronado committed four errors.

Despite role, McEnroe not too cocky

CARLSBAD, Calif. (AP) — U.S. Davis Cup captain Arthur Ashe says today's opening match between John McEnroe and Mexico's 17-year-old Jorge Lozano is "ostensibly my best against their weakest."

But McEnroe, smarting from two straight losses to Argentina last year, isn't taking anything for granted. "Obviously, on paper, we're the favorites here. But you never know for sure. The Davis Cup can make people play better," said McEnroe, the second-ranked player in the world, behind Sweden's Bjorn Borg. Roscoe Tanner, ranked 14th internationally, was paired against Mexico's ace Raul Ramirez in today's other singles match. Ramirez is ranked 36th in the world. The best 3-of-5 event continues Saturday with doubles play matching Marty Riessen and Sherwood Stewart against Ramirez and Lozano. Riessen and Stewart were late replacements for Bob Lutz and Stan Smith

Nicklaus regains form to lead Inverrary

LAUDERHILL, Fla. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus came into the start of his Florida swing with the idea, as he put it, "the time has come to start putting some numbers on the board."

He shot a 7-under-par 65 in gusty winds Thursday to grab a share of the first round lead in the $300,000 American Motors Inverrary Golf Classic. He was tied with Larry Ziegler, a 15-year veteran who scored the last of his three PGA Tour victories five years ago.

preparations for his annual assault on the Masters in Augusta, Ga. Nicklaus, holder of a record 17 major professional titles, broke the only real slump of his legendary career with record-setting victories in 1973 year in the U.S. Open and the PGA. He took a long break from competition and was not overly concerned that he'd failed to score a finish in the top 10 in any West Coast tournament this year.

"When you take five months off, it takes a little time to get it back," Nicklaus said. "But now it's time for me to start getting tournament-sharp." And he very obviously felt the 65 was a major step toward that goal. "My best round since the PGA (last fall)," he said.

"For the conditions, it was a very good round." The conditions were difficult. The winds were announced as gusting to 30 miles per hour, but they may have been higher. They were strong enough to blow down a tree on the fourth hole at the 7,129-yard Inverrary Golf Club course.

Hawks lose in Region V

and Akins managed to scramble their way back into contention with 1:30 to go, slimming the Ranger lead to 74-68.

But the poised Ranger guards were too much. With Foster, Johnson and Dorsey playing keep away, the Hawks continued to foul in hopes of getting back into the game. It was the only way, as stealing the ball from the Ranger guards was like trying to steal money from a man without it.

With just over a minute remaining, Foster sank four consecutive free throws to all but end the Hawks season.

Howard College Coach Harold Wilder felt the key factor to the game was that Ranger jumped to the early lead.

"They got that early lead and it allowed them to control the tempo. Their guards are the best part of their game, and the fact that they led allowed them to do what they wanted," a disappointed Wilder noted.

"I think it might have been different if we could have started out differently and gotten the lead. But, we didn't," he stated flatly.

So dominating were the Ranger guards that Howard had a huge 39-28 edge in the rebounding department. But turnovers, and excellent shooting and ball handling of Foster, Johnson and Dorsey were the swords that ended the Hawks season.

Howard's final ledger will read with a 23-9 mark, nothing to be ashamed of.

Ranger, meanwhile, advances into the semifinals of the Region V Tourney and will face Cooke County tonight at eight. Cooke County routed Weatherford 80-62 in the final game last night.

Peden advances to finals

HARLINGEN, Texas (AP) — Defending champion Roy Peden and Lee Fisher meet for the title today in the championship match of the Life Begins at 40 golf tournament.

Henry Richards of Jacksboro 2-and-1. Playing along with the championship contenders will be Blake West of Albuquerque, N.M., and Bill St. Clair of Muleshoe, the finalists for the consolation prize.

Peden canned a birdie putt on 18 Thursday to clinch his 1-up semifinal win over Bill Buchanan of Irving in the annual match play tournament. Fisher's win was only slightly easier, as he beat West advanced with a 2-and-1 victory over Bill Lowe of Corpus Christi while St. Clair took a 1-up win over former two-time champion Billy Bob Coffey of Fort Worth.

Forsan netters win second straight

FORSAN — Forsan increased their tennis record to 3-0 here this week by taking a 13-7 win over Borden County. They have earlier defeated Garden City and Stanton in the season.

If you've had doubts about the quality of our feed, then it's time to stand back & take heed.

A recent "GRAND CHAMPION" pig at the Borden County show... Had a shiny coat of hair, that really did glow.

The lass SHARLA HERRING was the owner in question. Who readily admits, she fed her 'pigs' with our suggestion.

Her second 'pig' entry was of the crossed breed kind... It won RESERVE CHAMPION & blew her mind.

It's obvious to see why her pigs had "luck"... She fed them with BIG SPRING SEED & CHEMICAL'S, special PIG CHUCK!

I'm guessing, what I'm really trying to say... is, Shop with us for your feed... it really might pay!

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, MAR. 7, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's new aspects can bring you all sorts of opportunities, so be alert at all times. Make sure that you understand with clarity just what others are expecting of you now.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Find out how you stand with others and do whatever is needed to improve relations. Strive for increased happiness.
TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Make new acquaintances who can help to enrich your life in many ways. Attend a party that is worthwhile.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Study your surroundings and make plans for improvement. Allow time to engage in favorite hobby with congenials.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take part in new activities that are fine for you but first know all the facts concerning them. Think constructively.
LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Loved one may have a change of attitude, so go along with new ideas for best results. Take it easy tonight and express happiness.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Show more interest in civic affairs and gain the respect of others. Make this a most worthwhile and productive day.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 23) Improve your environment so that it is more inspiring and brings you greater comfort. Come to a better understanding with mate.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Listen to what a good friend has to suggest for greater pleasure ahead. Take health treatments and improve your appearance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get rid of whatever is causing disharmony at home and be happier in the future. Put your talents to work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure to study a new project well before you put it in operation. Don't take any risks that could prove costly.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Make long-range plans that could give you added income in the future. Come to a better understanding with family members.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You are likely to be upset about matters you can't change, so concentrate on whatever brings you inner peace.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can understand both sides of a situation, so teach to stand up for what is right and success and happiness will follow. Be sure to give ethical and religious training early in life.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Winter of '79

The winter of '79 chalked up new records for sub-zero temperatures and unbelievable snow storms. Just ask anyone who lived through it all in Chicago.

Old man winter also left many a frayed temper in its pathway. Snow-heavy roofs caved in, buses and trains were hours late and people's nerves were stretched tight.

Winter's chill is only a memory now, though many of us are a bit tougher for the experience. Life has its ways of testing us and making us develop muscles we never knew we had.

Yet the sun always comes out. And the clouds of modern day living eventually turn into clear blue skies.

Our Lord has overcome the world and the trouble in it. And we have His promise to be with us always — through all the passing seasons.

Draw fresh strength from that promise this week. Worship in the church or synagogue of your choice.

Film on 'God's Plan for Mankind' to be shown

The Lenten services at St. Paul Lutheran Church began on Ash Wednesday, March 4 and will continue each Sunday evening March 8, 15, 22, 29 and April 5 at 6:30 p.m. Lent will be observed by members of the congregation and guests observing the theme, "You Are My Beloved" by exploring what faith is all about: becoming and being God's children through His Son, Jesus Christ. An audio visual filmstrip will be shown each evening revealing "God's Plan for Mankind" as part of Rev. Kohl's sermon. Special Lenten hymns will be sung and special music will be presented by the adult choir. Rev. Kohl will pursue this Lenten theme in his Sunday sermons at 8:30 a.m. and 10:45 a.m., "Standing on the

SUNDAY EVENING SERVICE BROADCAST ON
KBYG 6:30-7:30 P.M.

Lenten services are scheduled

The Rev. Marshall L. Mason, Jr. will be celebrant at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Sunday for both the 8 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. services. A resident of Midland and geologist during the week, the Rev. Mason is a non-stipendiary priest who assists area churches on the weekend or whenever he is needed. Born in Post, Rev. Mason is a Texas Tech graduate in petroleum engineering. He has worked as a seismic interpreter and geologist for various companies. The Thursday evenings of March 12, 19, 26, and April 2 and 9 are set aside for a Lenten Series at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Following an Evening Prayer service at 6:30, the parish will gather at 7 for pot-luck supper, after which they will have a film and discussion. The public is invited to participate in these Lenten observances.

SINGING EMPHASIS WORKSHOP
This workshop will be held at 14th and Main Streets, MARCH 15-18
It is FREE and all who love to sing, regardless of your religious affiliation, are invited to attend.

Network officials don't expect dramatic change after Cronkite

NEW YORK (AP) — Walter Cronkite is retiring as the nation's most beloved anchorman tonight, leaving his familiar seat at "CBS Evening News" to Dan Rather after 19 years of assuring Americans that "that's the way it is." Cronkite, recognized in a poll taken in the mid-1970s as the most trusted man in America, leaves as the pre-eminent figure in television journalism. "He has been an absolute giant, and all of us in the business owe him a great deal," said Roone Arledge, president of ABC News and

Sports, whose "World News Tonight" stands to gain from Cronkite's departure. The competition for Cronkite's faithful began several days ago, though neither Arledge nor William J. Small, NBC News' president, expects any sudden shift in viewer preference. "I think a lot of people underestimate Dan Rather's ability and popularity," said Small, a former CBS News executive. "I don't see any immediate change. If one does come, it will be a matter of months." Rather takes over as "Evening News" anchorman Monday night. His new contract was originally reported to be for $8 million over five years, but a recent report put the pact at $20 million over 10 years.

Cronkite, at 64, will continue as a CBS news correspondent and sometime commentator, and will anchor "Universe," the network's new science magazine. In a full-page advertisement in some newspapers today, CBS presented a picture of Cronkite above the phrase "Introducing Our Newest Correspondent." The decision to give up the "Evening News" assignment he took April 16, 1962, was his own, Cronkite said, and "I don't doubt that I am going to miss this a great deal." The selection of Rather to replace Cronkite touched off a chain reaction that elevated Ed Bradley to "60 Minutes," where Rather had been co-editor since 1975, and sent Roger Mudd—once considered Cronkite's heir apparent—to NBC. Ironically, Rather and Mudd may someday compete as rival anchor-men. "At the time," said William Leonard, CBS News' president and the man who made the choice, "the only other serious alternative was to team Dan and Roger. I just wasn't able to put that package together." Cronkite, a former foreign correspondent for United Press, joined CBS News in July 1960, and replaced Douglas Edwards as "Evening News" anchorman when the program was still 15 minutes long.

Bill ending licensing of religious schools moves

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A Garland preacher says the state's failure to enforce criminal laws has forced churches with well-run schools to seek the state licenses hated by many clergymen. The Rev. Earl Little, testifying for a bill that would end state licensing of religious day schools, said the licenses are offensive to clergymen who believe their schools should be ordained by God, not the state.

"If the state has the right to license our Monday school, the state has the right to license our Sunday school. Little said better enforcement of criminal laws is the way to protect children from schools where they are abused or mistreated. Keller wants an exemption for religious day schools with facilities for students in any grade kindergarten through 12.

Five seeking three places

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A number of last minute filings for the Lorraine city council election has increased the number of applicants to five candidates, seeking three places. In addition to incumbent Everett Henderson seeking reelection, Tommy Green, Jack Brewer and Calvin Forbes also have filed. Incumbent Mike Stutts previously had announced for reelection.

"I'm willing to go to jail rather than seek a license," Little told the House Committee on Human Services on Wednesday.

The committee set up a subcommittee to look at two similar bills that would take religious day schools out from under the Child Care Licensing Act of 1975. The act requires the churches to seek a Department of Human Resources license or join an association approved by DHR.

The subcommittee, chaired by Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, will look at bills filed by Rep. Ray Keller, D-Duncanville, and Sen. Walter Mengden, R-Houston. Mengden's bill has been approved by the Senate.

Several clergymen testified the bills would not lessen the schools' responsibility to meet local fire and safety codes. The preachers said the state has no business licensing church schools.

"If the state has the right to approve the church ministry, the state has the right to disapprove the church ministry," said Rev. Lewis Bridges of Lewisville.

Court ponders cocaine effects

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Prosecutors say the state Supreme Court will have to resolve a legal dispute over cocaine, which one appellate court calls a harmful narcotic and another terms a "not very dangerous" drug.

Prosecutors seeking to uphold a three-year prison term for a man convicted of selling several grams of cocaine said Thursday they will go to the high court to fight an appeals court ruling giving a lighter sentence because state law had misclassified it as a narcotic.

Woman gets new trial

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 42-year-old woman who contends she shot her husband to death because he beat her will get a new murder trial because a newspaper story on battered wives prompted a mistrial a day before the case was to go to the jury.

Common Pleas Judge William Matthews dismissed jurors Thursday after learning that three of them had read the Cincinnati Enquirer article quoting a University of Cincinnati expert scheduled to testify that day. Matthews will schedule a new trial at a hearing Tuesday.

Handicapped students seek damages

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Fifteen handicapped students denied high school diplomas after failing a competency test are seeking $1 million in damages from the Peoria School District. The federal class-action suit filed Thursday says the test was "illegal, unconstitutional and unfair" because it discriminates against the disabled. There was no immediate comment from the school district on the suit.

Ruth Williams is charged with aggravated murder in the June 5 slaying of her 47-year-old husband, Lonnie.

The students' attorney, Gary Kerr, said they have met state requirements for graduation. He said the test is not required by state law.
