Reagan asks for $48.6 billion in budget cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, declaring, "the next steps are up to Congress," today proposed $48.6 billion in spending cuts for 1982 across the breadth of government, sparing defense and little else from the chopping block.

The $48.6 billion budget for 1982 would leave a deficit of $45 billion. It urges newly announced spending reductions in more than 200 areas, including veterans and job programs, water projects and mortgage insurance.

"The plan I outlined will stop runaway inflation and revitalize our economy it given a chance," Reagan said in a statement that outlined cuts in more than 300 programs from food stamps to space exploration.

In a revamped version of his 1982 spending plans, the president said he is prepared to recommend still deeper spending cuts if necessary to keep federal spending from rising faster. In relaying his plan to Congress, Reagan pointedly reminded lawmakers and special interest groups that he felt he was acting on a "mandate for change" delivered by the voters last fall.

"There is nothing more important than putting America's economic house in order. The next steps are up to Congress," he said.

Reagan submitted his revised 1982 budget in tandem with the details on his proposal for a three-year cut in personal income tax rates of 10 percent a year. Top Republicans on Congress' tax-writing committees were to introduce the administration's tax plan later today.

Reagan's budget makes deep cuts in the spending blueprint President Carter recommended before leaving office.

The more than 200 newly disclosed program cuts included:

—A $700 million reduction in Veterans Administration spending, forcing deferral or cancellation of hospital construction;

—Cuts in the Comprehensive Employment and Training Administration (CETA) in addition to the previously announced intention to abolish the $3.6 billion public service jobs program that employs 310,000 people.

—Sharp reductions in Federal Housing Administration and Government National Mortgage Association mortgage insurance and loan guarantee commitments.

—Reductions in scheduled increases in railroad retirement benefits.

—Reduction of about $180 million in the Corps of Engineers water project program, a politically popular item in Congress.

—Reduced federal subsidies for merchant shipbuilding and a cutback in credit assistance for small businesses.

Reagan also announced further cuts beyond what he specified on Feb. 18 in numerous programs, including food and nutrition, education, scientific research, the space program and the Rural Electrification Administration.

Reagan said his budget recommendations would preserve the "social safety net" of income security programs passed beginning in the 1930s, including basic Social Security pensions, unemployment compensation, welfare for the neediest and basic veterans' benefits.

In explaining his decision to call for $4.8 billion in increased defense spending, he said a "margin of safety" must be created by rebuilding the nation's defense capabilities.

Wallace engaged to C&W singer

JASPER, Ala. (AP) — A country and western singer who traveled with George C. Wallace during his 1968 presidential campaign said today she is engaged to marry the former Alabama governor.

Lisa Taylor, 32, said she and the 61-year-old Wallace will marry in the summer or fall. Her sister, Mona, said the exact date has not been set.

Wallace, in seclusion at his home in Montgomery, could not be reached for comment. His chief aide, Elvin Stanton, said, "The governor does not respond to rumors."

Commissioners start search for replacement of sheriff

COLORADO CITY (SC) — During a meeting Monday afternoon, the Mitchell County Commissioners officially accepted the resignation of Sheriff Bill McGuire and immediately started the search for a replacement. Interviews by the commissioners, probably in executive sessions, will get under way Monday.

Judge Bill Carter revealed the names of the nine applicants for the position. They are Ed Heskey, former Lorraine constable; Jimmy Redwine, presently serving as one of Colorado City's jailers; Jerry Cowan, chief of police at Merkel; Mike Michael, former Colorado City fire marshal; John Conner, Lorraine Oil Co., worker; Jim Eggleston, chief of police in Lorraine; Mike Stutts, of Lorraine; former chief deputy of Mitchell Co.; Wendell Bryant, former chief deputy of Mitchell County; and Jim Reynaud, chief deputy of Mitchell Co.

Judge Carter said March 15 is the deadline for applying for the job. In additional business, plans were finalized for the revenue-sharing budget. One item drew extended discussion, a $2,000 request by Anne Gregory for the Mitchell County Day Care Center. The commissioners agreed to allocate $1,200 to the center. Revenue-sharing funds were earmarked for the following: Wallace you, Mr. President," said Trudeau as he welcomed Reagan to Parliament Hill on his first presidential trip abroad.

Reagan, beginning a 28-hour visit, replied that the Canadian seat of government here "is a monument to the right of self-government, to the value of human freedom that even sometimes — as you yourself have pointed out — makes raucous behavior permissible."

Both pledged, as Trudeau put it, "to seek solutions to the problems that often develop between two great nations and two neighbors."

After their exchange of greetings, Trudeau returned to the microphone to appeal to the demonstrators, who held a forest of placards alluding to issues between the United States and Canada.

"Hey guys," Trudeau said, "when I go to the United States, I'm not met with these kinds of signs. You know, the Americans have some beefs against us, too, but they receive us politely. Now, how about a great cheer for President Reagan."

A roar of approval arose from the largely friendly crowd.

On his arrival, Reagan said he hoped his visit would serve to improve a U.S.-Canadian relationship "that is the envy of the world."

But in talks with Canadian officials, Reagan was expected to encounter complaints over a host of issues including fishing rights, energy, air pollution and the U.S. role in El Salvador.

Canadian Governor General Edward Schreyer, greeting Reagan and his wife Nancy after they stepped off Air Force One at a Canadian air base near here, welcomed them "to the house next door."

"I am confident that your visit to Canada will serve to strengthen the firm and rational ties of friendship and practical cooperation which exist between our two countries," said Schreyer, who represents the British monarch as head of state in Canada.

Reagan acknowledged that the two neighbors seem to be competing at times, but he said he hoped "our two nations will continue the ... relationship that is the envy of the world."

Following Port Arthur refinery sale

Officials make no comment on Petrofina acquisitions

Asked this morning if American Petrofina Inc. planned any refining acquisitions following the sale of the firm's Port Arthur refinery to Venezuela-Switzerland interests last week, Bill Cahill, director of public relations for American Petrofina in Dallas, said officials chose not to comment on the possibility at this time.

Such rumors surfaced after the Port Arthur sale was announced. American Petrofina's subsidiary, Cosden Oil and Chemical Company, which maintains a refinery in Big Spring, is now the only Fina plant making gasoline.

Cahill said that the newly-formed affiliate of Vincente Perez Sandoval, Financiers Credival C. A., Caracas, Venezuela, and Transatlantic Energy A. G. of Switzerland apparently made an offer for the Port Arthur refinery that American Petrofina officials felt they could not turn down.

The amount involved in the transaction was not revealed, but the price put on the refinery in 1973 when it last changed hands was $100,000,000.

Apparently no overtures for the Cosden plant were made by the Venezuela-Switzerland conglomerate at the time the arrangement to sell the Port Arthur refinery was made.

Business will continue as usual at Cosden, according to Cahill.

The refineries in Big Spring and Port Arthur are capable of refining upwards to 150,000 barrels of crude oil a day.

Capital expenditures made on the Port Arthur plant in 1979 totaled $21 million, with the major portion dedicated to improvements to the catalytic cracker and to the catalytic reformer. The reformer project permitted increased production of no-lead gasoline.

The fact that the Port Arthur refinery is accessible from the sea likely made it an attractive property, as far as the Venezuela-Switzerland firm is concerned. Oil tankers from Venezuela and other oil-producing states can put in there and unload their cargo without the added charge of shipping it overland.

Hostages increasingly nervous

Hijackers set Wednesday deadline

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — Hijackers of a Pakistani airliner set a Wednesday deadline today for fulfilling their demands and the more than 100 hostages aboard the plane at Damascus airport were reported getting increasingly nervous. But a top Syrian official expressed optimism their nine-day-old ordeal "will soon be over."

Brig. Gen. Mohammed Khawil told reporters a message from the Pakistani government included "proposals" and that the three Pakistani hijackers holding the plane had also made new demands. He declined to elaborate.

Syrian sources at the airport said the brigadier was acting as a mediator between the hijackers and Pakistani diplomats in Damascus.

In Islamabad, Pakistan, a ranking defense official said the hijackers had set a new deadline of 7 a.m. EST, Wednesday, for the release of political prisoners or they would take "drastic action."

The hijackers shot a Pakistani diplomat when the plane was in Kabul, Afghanistan, Friday.

At various times during the nine-day-old drama, the trio have threatened to shoot all Pakistani government officials aboard, every passenger one by one, and blow up the Boeing 720. Defense Secretary General M. Rahin Khan told a news conference in Islamabad. He said the leader of the hijackers was sometimes "wild and abusive."

During talks today, he said, the hijackers gave a list of 55 political prisoners to be freed, but Pakistani officials noted some of the names had appeared on an earlier list of 92.

A 22-year-old flight attendant released by the hijackers Monday night, Farzana Sharif, told reporters the hostages were being treated well. But "the psychological situation of the passengers is extremely difficult," she said, "...especially since they all know the hijackers will blow up the entire plane."

The hijackers, after they brought the Boeing 720 jetliner from Kabul, Afghanistan, to the Damascus airport early Monday, made new demands for the release of imprisoned opponents of Pakistani President Mohammed Zia ul-Haq's authoritarian military regime. They warned they would take an "extremely drastic measure" if their demands were not met.

The demands were radioed to Pakistan, but early today there was no word of any response from the Pakistani government.

Truckloads of Syrian troops armed with automatic rifles moved into the airport Monday night and took up positions around the airliner.

Property appraisals being conducted in Howard County

By CAROL HART
Property appraisals are now being conducted in Howard County, according to Gene Pereira, chief appraiser.

Appraisers are required to conduct reviews of property "every five years," Pereira said. "That is the law."

Tax assessors must calculate the tax rate, Pereira, and "they can't do that until we give them an appraisal. We are required by law (Senate Bill 621) to appraise all property once every five years."

One method of appraisal which Pereira does not approve of is utilizing index values. Pereira said this means that an appraiser looks up the old value of a home or property, and then hikes it up to what he feels it is worth. He said he and his staff will view all homes and property in person so that an accurate appraisal may be obtained.

"We need to go on the property to check it," Pereira said. "If we don't look, we can't appraise it correctly."

Pereira said some of the homeowners that appraisers have approached do not want the appraisers coming inside the homes. "We want to respect the wishes" of the property owners.

"All my people are required to be certified" by a state board of certification, he said. They are bonded and checked, and are sent to different schools (nine in all) to learn proper appraisal.

"I'm personally thankful for the cooperation we have received so far," Pereira said. "This is being done all over the state, in all 254 counties."

Tops on TV: Telly returns

Telly Savalas returns to the small screen at 8 o'clock tonight on CBS in "Hellinger's Law." He's still bald, but this time he plays a flamboyant defense attorney instead of a policeman. In this made-for-TV movie, he defends an honest accountant in a murder trial that is complicated because the man works for an underworld front. If that isn't your cup of tea, there's always "Three's Company" at the same time over on ABC.

Chances of rain are 20 percent today, 30 percent tonight, and 40 percent Wednesday.

Border Brass stages Big Spring reunion

A sound heard by many Big Springers during the last years of the 1960s was the music of the Border Brass, a band of high school students out of Coahoma.

Popular in Big Spring, Coahoma and surrounding towns, the seven-piece band, patterned after Herb Alpert's Tijuana Brass, played all over Texas and for such events as the Texas Youth Conference at the University of Texas; the Haltom City Beauty contest; all-night marathons for muscular dystrophy; and went on to place second state-wide among teenage bands in the Dallas Battle of the Bands in 1967.

Members of the Border Brass were Cary Banks, guitar; David Crawford, trombone and marimba; Melvin Mason and Gene Snow, bass; Tim Whittington, piano; Andy Wilson and Marvin Wright, trumpet; and Tommy Rutledge, drums.

This year, on March 6, the Border Brass had a 13-year reunion, the first time the band had been together since breaking up after high school. Seven of the original members, with their wives, met in Midland at the Midland Hilton.

Those attending were Andy Wilson of Big Spring; Mr. and Mrs. Cary Banks of Lubbock; Mr. and Mrs. Tim Whittington of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wright of Odessa; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Mason of Pampa; Tommy Rutledge of Houston and Mr. and Mrs. David Crawford of Big Spring. The only member unable to attend was Gene Snow of Texarkana.

Two of the Border Brass have become professional musicians. Cary Banks, guitarist, works out of Lubbock. David Crawford, pianist, with his wife Susan and their group "Sunny Days," is currently playing in the Discovery Room of the Midland Hilton.

Police Beat — Vandals damage windows

Vandals caused severe damage to two stained-glass windows at the Big Spring State Hospital, over the weekend.

Rocks were thrown through two stained-glass windows in the sanctuary of the chapel and another window in the chapel's reception office. The damage, which amounted to $900, is thought to have occurred over the weekend, but was just discovered Monday.

A 21-year-old local man was arrested for criminal trespass, early this morning. Linda Kay White, 3607 Hamilton, called police around midnight Monday to complain about a man who was prowling around her front yard and refused to leave.

When police arrived, however, the man had fled. Ms. White called again at around 2 a.m. today, and this time the police got their man.

Janet M. Parnell, 1605 Avion, was having similar problems, 11:15 p.m. Monday. Vandals tore a screen from a window in her home, and knocked repeatedly on the front door before running away. Damage to the screen was estimated at $20.

Vandals took out their ire on a car belonging to Ruben Munoz, 107 E. 22nd, while it was parked at 201 E. 13th, Monday night. The mischief makers sprayed shaving cream in and on the car, used white shoe polish to write obscene words on the side of the vehicle, and broke eggs on its exterior. Damage has not been estimated.

Charles E. Tate Sr., 1018 Birdwell, believes he knows who struck the left, rear side of his car, Monday night. Damage was estimated at $50.

Vandals also shattered the right, rear vent window of a 1977 Chevrolet Caprice belonging to Robert Moran, 602 S. Nolan, Sunday night. Damage was estimated at $60.

Five mishaps were reported Monday. Vehicles driven by David Pearson, Ponderosa Apartments, and Ronald Fryar Jr., Route 3, collided on the 700 block of 11th, 11:40 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Kay Barber, 3906 Hamilton, and Mona Tonn, Gail Route, collided in the lot of the Sonic Drive in, 3:37 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Damon Johnson, Old Post Road, and Willard Haynie, Lubbock, collided at West Fourth and Gregg, 5:45 p.m.

Vehicles driven by David Riggie, 204 Washington, and Dewey Phillips, 109 E. 12th, collided in front of the Riggie residence, 7:37 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Sharma Wall, 538 Westover, and Louise Simpson, Gail Route, collided on the 1700 block of Gregg, 8:10 a.m.

Police Beat — Raindrops keep falling locally

Raindrops keep falling on everyone's head — at least those who brave the elements.

Monday's official catch, as reported by the U.S. Experiment Station here, amounted to .13 of an inch, bringing the year's total to 2.66 inches. Of that amount, 42 of an inch has fallen in March alone.

Normal for the year through Monday was 1.49 inches.

Borden election attracts two

GAIL — Only two persons will be contending for the two positions open on the Borden County school board and one of those is an incumbent, Jack McPhaul. A long-time member of the board, McPhaul now serves as the board's vice president.

Van York, a Borden County rancher, is in contention for the other place among the trustees. The term of Brent Murphy expires this year and he did not offer for re-election.

The election is scheduled April 4.

Bid for four tennis courts is awarded

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado City school trustees awarded a bid for four new tennis courts during Monday night's board meeting.

Construction probably will start in approximately 20 days, with the job being completed within 90 days.

In other trustee action, participants in the Church Basketball League were given permission to finish their season in the Wallace Center Gym, basic readers for grades one through eight were approved upon recommendation of the Textbook Committee and election judge Bob Reilly appointed the following persons to work as election judges in the April 4 trustee election: Mrs. Mary Molina, Pam Johnson, Mrs. Mavis Marsh, and Mrs. Margie Wulfjen. Additionally, a new mixer for Kelley Elementary School was bought from West Texas Coffee Co., for $1,765, and the trustees approved participation in the migrant program for next year.

In concluding Monday's meeting, the board went along with an administration proposal to increase building valuations for insurance purposes by ten percent, and high school principal Jerry Reynolds requested a clarification of the dress code concerning beards. The question arose due to student involvement in the forthcoming Centennial celebration, which will feature a "Brothers of the Brush" contest. School board members said it will be all right for students to grow beards... this year.

Customers want water district law repealed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Customers of rural water districts told a Senate committee Monday they want a 1979 law repealed in hopes it will lower their water bills.

A long line of witnesses plus a delegation of about 100 persons from Granbury supported Sen. Bob Glasgow's bill to repeal the 1979 act.

Larry Miller appointed Civil-Defense director

Larry Miller was appointed Civil-Defense director for Howard County during the county commissioner's meeting Monday.

In other business, commissioners waived the deposit charge for use of the fairbarns for a March 20. The dance will be sponsored by the Key Club.

A deposit charge was also waived for a boxing tournament which is planned in the near future at the fairbarn.

Janice E. Montealeone was approved as a new county employee during the meeting. Ms. Montealeone will work as secretary to the district attorney, at $873.00 a month.

Larry Tubb, one of two trappers working within the county, was assigned to work from Sept. 15 through June 15 in the county. Tubb will be responsible for giving a report to the county commissioners each month.

Criminal mischief

Two incidences of criminal mischief were reported in the county Sunday.

The Texas Pipeline Pump Station on Longshore road was damaged when someone used a pipe wrench to pry locks off gates and take off door knobs. No damage estimate was given.

A car belonging to Brent Rainey, parked on the Forsan High School lot, was damaged when someone punctured tires, broke off the antenna and cracked the tail lights.

Housing, energy topic of TESCO workshop

Housing and energy was the topic of this year's Texas Electric Service Company Teacher Workshop. The workshop, sponsored annually by TESCO, is for area home economists in the fields of education business and extension.

A grip to the College of Home Economics at Texas Tech University in Lubbock was the focus of this year's workshop. Participants toured the research facilities at Texas Tech, and attended seminars on housing and energy; and housing and aging. The afternoon featured a tour of a manufactured home complex and a tour of a home where solar energy was being utilized for water heating and space heating.

"The purpose of this year's workshop was to get a first-hand look at the research that is being done towards developing more energy efficient housing, as well as practical home energy management," according to Cheryl Oren, Texas Electric Service Company. "The teaching of energy conservation is a vital part of the management of resources taught in the field of Home Economics," Mrs. Oren continued.

Attending this year's workshop were Home Economists from Big Spring, Coahoma, Lamesa and Sweetwater.

Atlanta police check their files for clues

ATLANTA (AP) — Detectives investigating the slayings of 20 black children have combed nearly 10 years of police personnel files, trying to determine whether a former policeman might be linked to the killings, law enforcement authorities said.

The Atlanta Journal today quoted unidentified authorities as saying hundreds of files on police officers who have resigned or been forced to quit in the past eight to 10 years have been examined by the special police task force.

Investigators were looking for clues that a former officer might be avenging himself against the police force by crimes against children, the newspaper said.

The annual Jaycees Rattlesnake Roundup is scheduled March 27-28-29 in the Howard County Fairbarn.

The roundup has been booked coincident with a renewed membership drive by the Jaycees. An arts and crafts display will be held in conjunction with the roundup. Those interested in setting up displays can contact Louie Smith, acting president of the Jaycees, at 915-263-2035.

The A.T.T. Amusement Company will set up a carnival here to be held in conjunction with the snake show. Snake handlers this year will be Charles Crownover and Louie Smith, both of Big Spring.

The Jaycees say they will play top dollar to the top three people catching the most pounds of snakes, and to the individuals bringing in the longest and shortest snakes and well as the one with the serpent having the most rattlers.

Dick Boss of the Larkspur Snake Ranch in Colorado will offer a special award to the individual with the top poundage in snakes.

The roundup will include a holding pit, show pit, milking pit, skinning pit and an environmental pit. In addition, a 20-minute movie on snakes will be shown periodically.

Show hours will be from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, March 28, and 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, March 29.

Committee changes nuclear waste bill

In 1978, Texas was the 13th largest producer of so-called "low level" nuclear wastes in the country, generating more than 2,100 cubic meters, enough to fill 21 railroad boxcars. Of that volume, 63 percent was generated by Texas hospitals, universities and research institutions, and 37 percent resulted from a variety of industrial processes.

When the two nuclear power plants now under construction in Texas are completed, our state could become the fourth largest producer of low level wastes in the country.

What can be done to protect citizens from this potentially harmful material?

There are currently only three sites in the country for permanent burial of low level wastes — one in South Carolina, one in Nevada, and one in the state of Washington. South Carolina and Washington are both severely cutting back on the amount they'll accept from other states, and as a result the Nevada site could be filled within two to three years.

Meanwhile, there is only one facility left in Texas where our low level waste can be temporarily stored prior to being shipped to one of the three out-of-state disposal sites, and that facility may close at the end of this month.

Attempts to establish another temporary warehousing and processing facility in Leon County have met with considerable local resistance, and I'm sure the response would be the same nearly everywhere unless people are confident that the law is strict enough to insure adequate safety.

I was encouraged last Monday when the House Environmental Affairs Committee added an important amendment to the bill covering low level waste handling in Texas. As originally passed by the Senate, the bill would already be one of the stricter low level waste laws in the nation, and it had the support of the industry, health officials and environmentalists alike.

The amendment we added, however, goes even further in protecting Texas water supplies from accidental pollution by radioactive wastes. Essentially, the amendment says that no license for the disposal or processing of low level waste shall be granted for (1) any site which could be subject to a flood, (2) any site located on a recharge or discharge zone for any known or potential underground aquifer system, or (3) any site with soil types that would allow rapid entry of a spill into the geologic system so that complete clean-up would be difficult if not impossible.

Senate passes bill denying certain benefits to jobless

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texans who quit a job just because they are "tired of working" would not be able to get jobless benefits if Gov. Bill Clements signs a bill approved by the Senate.

Sen. Roy Blake, the bill sponsor, predicted his proposal would "stabilize the work force and make the Texas (unemployment compensation) law more fairly and evenly administered."

At his urging, the Senate accepted House amendments to a bill that would deny jobless benefits to people who quit their jobs, are fired for misconduct or refuse to accept "suitable" work found for them by the Texas Employment Commission.

They could get future benefits only if they found new jobs, earned the equivalent of six weeks' benefits and then were laid off through no fault of their own.

Currently, workers who quit are denied benefits for one to 25 weeks, with the TEC basing its decision on the facts of each case. The Senate sent Blake's bill to Clements on a 28-1 vote, with Sen. Dee Travis the lone dissenter.

"I'm not as happy with the amendments as you are," said Travis, R-Garland. "Why should the state subsidize a spouse who leaves town?" He referred to an amendment that would allow a person who quits because a spouse must move to a new city to collect jobless benefits after a disqualification period of six to 26 weeks.

Area Realtors reminded of course in El Paso

Area Realtors are being reminded of the Texas Realtors' Institute Course II scheduled March 30 through April 3 and Course III April 13-17. The courses will be conducted at the Rodeway Inn IS 20 at Geronimo in El Paso.

The courses are taught by a faculty of professional specialists, qualified in both teaching and actual real estate experience. They are experts in sharing techniques that work in areas such as financing and communications.

Ann Macatee of El Paso, H. P. Hawkins of Abilene and Don Mason of Amarillo, past TAR president, will be among the speakers at Course II. Others include Jim McCrocklin of Wimberley and Jeff Bomar of Austin.

The registration fee per course is $150, payable to TAR. To enter Course II, the student must have completed Course I, or have completed a basic Real Estate Commission approved course or have completed the Course I, or have completed a basic Real Estate Commission approved course or have completed the Course I bypass examination. For entrance into Course III, the student must have successfully completed TRI Course II.

Physical surveillance

Expansion of CIA powers considered

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is considering a broad expansion of the CIA's authority to use break-ins, physical surveillance and covert infiltration of American groups and businesses, sources say.

Sources familiar with the proposal said Monday it was designed as part of an effort to combat terrorists more effectively, but also was intended to improve leak investigations and the CIA's ability to spy on foreign economic developments.

But they acknowledged it would eliminate some barriers established to prevent the agency, set up in 1947 to gather foreign intelligence, from re-entering the search for alleged domestic subversives.

The barriers were established after scandals over the CIA's spying in the 1960s on American anti-Vietnam war activists. The first restrictions were imposed by President Ford in executive order 11905 in 1976 and modified by President Carter in executive order 12036 in 1978.

The Reagan administration proposal was drafted by an interagency working group, chaired by CIA general counsel Daniel Silver and composed of U.S. intelligence agencies including the CIA, FBI, National Security Agency, Defense Department and others, according to the sources, who asked not to be named.

HOUSTON (AP) — The widow of Price Daniel Jr. will testify at a child custody trial she accidentally shot and killed the former Texas House Speaker after he became violent when she flushed away his stash of marijuana, a Houston newspaper has reported.

Mrs. Daniel, who is accused of killing her estranged husband Jan. 19 at their Liberty County ranch home, goes to court Thursday in a fight to retain custody of the couple's two young sons.

The 33-year-old mother waived her Fifth Amendment protection against self incrimination as part of an agreement to keep her sons until a jury resolves the dispute.

Sources close to the investigation told the Houston Post on Monday that Mrs. Daniel grabbed the marijuana and flushed the weed down the toilet during a squabble.

Professional sports in that silly stage

Howard Cosell has tried to explain it all but something is lost in his translation. The professional baseball players are imbroiled in a dispute over labor practices. They don't want to give away anything they've already gained in negotiations with management, or something like that.

We do know that the news concerning baseball — as it is being carried in the papers, on radio and television these days — isn't remotely connected with sports. It belongs in those areas of press coverage devoted to social turmoil. If a true fan would like to be told the reasons a field manager would give for a bright young rookie being returned to the minor leagues for more seasoning, he wouldn't be able to satisfy his curiosity by reading after the sports scribbles. The scribbles would be too engrossed with matters of mediation.

Knowledgeable people suggest that too much sympathy shouldn't be wasted upon the club owners, that they didn't close ranks and bargain from positions of strength rather than weaknesses when they had to.

That may be true. The average follower of the sport, from all indications, though, just wishes the off-field strife involving the players and management would dissolve or at least be discussed away from the arena.

It's difficult for a person making $10,000 to $15,000 a year to comprehend a situation where a ball player earning $400,000 for five months' work threatens not to show up for work because his contract doesn't give him the right to choose his teammates when he wants to.

People supporting the ball players' demands say that the athletes should get their money while they can because their peak earning years are so few. That, no doubt, is true but they realized that inevitability from the first day they sign a professional baseball contract and still they cast their lot in such a profession.

If the players are so unhappy, why don't they carry out their threat to 'sit this one out?' We think the nation could survive without the game. After all, the athletic endeavor involves a bunch of grown men in ridiculous-looking knickers engaged in a child's support. The world would go on, probably with only a minor ripple. If the buffs insisted there be baseball, there is always the sandlot variety, the kind played for the sheer enjoyment of it. We might then turn to other pursuits and ask ourselves how we could get all worked up over something that really doesn't matter.

THE BALL PLAYERS might even have to go to work, and that would really be a tragedy. All the big league ball parks could be used to store hay or be turned into old graveyards for cars that won't run. Why waste the public's time by airing a problem that has no solution? The satisfaction of both sides?

All professional sports are pricing themselves out of the market. The entertainment dollar should be the first thing eliminated from the family budget when times get hard. It's entirely possible for a family to spend upwards to $100 on a sports weekend, especially if such an occasion calls for any travel and a weekend stay at a motel or hotel.

The ticket nudge in pro football can cost up to $15 a game maybe more, if the ticket purchaser demands exclusive seating. The bite in baseball is somewhat less but is getting bigger all the time.

No big time sport could exist with its present format today, if the truth were known, without being subsidized, in part, by the taxpayer. Business firms, for instance, buy great blocs of tickets for the professional golf tournaments and then benefit from tax writeoffs.

Maybe a summer afternoon without baseball would be a day without sunshine for the average American, but we doubt it. Try offering us a diet without professional sports. For most Americans, there would be no withdrawal pains.

A philosophic view

Around the rim

Richard Horn

"The horrid doubt always arises whether the convictions of a man's mind, which has evolved from the mind of the lower animals, are of any value or at all, trustworthy. Would anyone trust the convictions of a monkey's mind, if there are convictions in such a mind?"

—Charles Darwin

That's an interesting statement — straight from the monkey's mouth, you could say. What Darwin is saying, in a letter written to a close friend in 1881, is that if my brain is nothing more than a monkey's brain, something that came about through a random action of natural selection, then I can not really be sure that my own theory of my creation is correct. Logic is called into question.

DARWIN'S CONVICTIONS, however, are accepted and often taught as undisputable. On TV the other night, Carl Sagan all but said that anyone who doesn't hold to the evolutionary theory is irrational. For a number of reasons, people agree with him. Evolution gives the impression of being honest and objective, and very humble besides. In addition, most people who question it aren't even sure of what they believe.

A great many Christians feel that Darwin was right, only God was responsible. I've used that line a lot, usually as a kind of cheap way of getting out of an expensive debate. It doesn't work though. The strongest creationists I know take the whole thing on faith. They don't argue or dispute scientific findings, they just don't get bothered by them.

The very thought of that probably disgusts Carl Sagan and other evolutionists who believe that not dealing fully with science is stupid.

Sagan believes the creation theory is preposterous, but then he has a great deal of trouble with the idea of there being a God. He doesn't argue or dispute Biblical evidences of special creation, he just doesn't get bothered by them. In light of Darwin's own questions about his convictions, the game must be called 'pick your faith.'

IN SOME KIND of screwed up way, that's what the trial in Sacramento was all about. Creationists wanted school textbooks to show that evolution was theory and that a number of Christian scientists don't hold to it. The judge ruled that textbooks already do that — (they do, but in a very vague way). It doesn't really make any difference though because a teacher is going to teach whatever theory he or she believes, or at least slant their teachings in one direction or the other. Nobody listens to courts anyway.

Despite what was said in Sacramento, scientists hardly stand united looking down on ignorant God-fearers. Astronomer Robert Jastrow, in his book "God and the Astronomers" said that the discovery of the "big bang theory" of the beginning of the universe asks a lot of questions that science can't answer. Somewhere down the line scientists, including Carl Sagan, are going to have to come to terms with the fact that the idea of the universe being created out of some random force is pretty unscientific.

Obviously Carl Sagan does not have the convictions of a monkey's mind. I'm not "anti-science" and I found a lot of interesting things in Sagan's "Cosmos" series. I only wish evolutionists would admit that the issue in all this is not science at all, but Man's philosophic view of the world.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

Now that your readers have read Supt. John Allman's pronouncement of life at Big Spring Federal Prison Camp (Herald, P. 1, March 1, 1981) let this inmate submit a somewhat different picture according to one who resides here 24 hours a day.

It seems that Mr. Allman is anxious to maintain a polished image of the camp in order to promote good community relations. And so it should be. But in describing the "good life" at the camp, he very obviously stopped short of detailing some of the real problems that exist here and, at times, overshadow the advantages of serving a sentence at this institution. I, for one, am tired of reading of the ravings about how good the life is at this place and seeing it reported in a biased manner by the press. It seems that every time things seem to "heat up" here at the camp, one of these rosy banners is raised extolling the great life at the prison without walls . . . or fences. There is another side of the coin that never gets looked at, and that side is a little tarnished. It is the inmate's side.

This same type of article appeared not long ago in the Odessa American, and last year in the Dallas Morning News. Now here it is in the Big Spring Herald (again . . . and again . . .) and it has also been seen in a Houston newspaper. And each time it seems to get a little more soggy. Surely the inmates side of story should be told sooner or later. It may not be as good public relations material for the camp as Mr. Allman's, but it no doubt will be read!

If need be the major problems could be summed up in two . . . no, let's say three . . . words. Respect. That's one, and actually the lack of this consideration is what I make reference to. The second word is attitude, and of course this one is closely related to the first, as is the third word . . . moral.

Now you could have all of the swimming pools in the county, drink your color-added coffee from crystal china, and have access to one TV per set of eyes, if moral is low due to disrespect and an abusive attitude on the part of some, life can be miserable!

Oh, yes, Mr. Allman did admit at the last Inmate Council Meeting that he realized an attitude and respect problem existed between the staff here at the camp and the inmates. He also stated that he was working on the problem with his subordinates, but, so far, had not had too much success. And, too, he said that he had not authorized certain high ranking staff members to discipline inmates for very minor rules they had broke (such as possession of a common government writing pen used in the offices and, get this, for not making their bed properly).

Briefly, let's take a look at what has been happening. Room shakedown is a necessary part of maintaining proper security in any penal institution. Contraband is controlled by this means, among others, and the realization that one is indeed in a prison institution is relayed. Fine. But it can also be used by over zealous correctional officers as a means of harrassment. And has this ever been the case!

For example, here is one for you: One inmate had his legally purchased commissary, authorized typewriter and properly issued medication toted out of his room and down to the Unit Officer's office . . . for no apparent cause whatsoever. The stuff was subsequently returned, but the damage had been done. He was steaming mad, and rightfully so.

Three other inmates on this same evening (several weeks ago) had properly authorized articles picked up . . . and returned . . . this same evening. And it goes on and on. Isolated incidents? Simple errors in judgement? Hardly! These were, and are, tactics and harrassment carefully conceived and perpetrated by arrogant, hostile staff. The intentions are obvious: to mentally torment inmates in the institution.

Remember Chuck Colson and John Dean, infamous Watergate participants? Well, to show that this kind of harrassment has gone on for years and years in Federal penal institutions, these two spoke of it openly and bitterly shortly after their release. In the absence of hard labor and physical punishment in these institutions, these acts are practiced. It is real . . . very real, and it sets up a deep resentment between inmate and staff member. And it is very much prevalent here at the Big Spring Camp.

What type of person would go to work in a penal institution? What kind of person would be inclined to heap misery on an already wretched group of people? To know, and to really feel the full impact of their behavior, one would have to be an inmate in one of these institutions. But, to state it politely, these people are, for the most part, losers. They have lost out in whatever endeavors they were making working for outside, free enterprise and come to work for the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

More than one of the staff members here at the camp have spent a night or two in Big Spring's city jail. One dormitory manager has been cited more than once for DWI and is presently facing some very serious problems. At least one has been transferred out due to adjustment problems. Reprimands from the Chief Correctional Officer here are fairly common towards some staff members, and there have been a number of brief suspensions for infractions of Bureau policies. And these are some of the same officials that go out in the evenings and dig for some minor violation by an inmate that they can dress him down for and pronounce extra-duty hours upon, or write an incident report.

And it goes on and on. And bitterness is instilled in the inmate because here, in his opinion, is a person that is of no better moral character than himself, and probably worse, reining supremely over him.

Yes, we drink from glass coffee cups here. Big deal. And we are served our dinner on a china plate. Great. Now I understand that the food service administrator will be replacing some of the fresh meat we were getting with soy bean meat substitute. I ask you, which is more important, the plate or what goes in it? The soy bean substitute is phoney meat . . . but no more money than some of the propaganda published about this camp. By plan it should be beautiful place . . . a real show place for modern penology. It could be, and probably should be. But, sadly, it falls short. However, these places do change, and maybe, just maybe, some day the right chemistry will combine here between good, mature staff and the inmate population and it will be just that.

Harold Bulger — 10839-077

Approach to Problem

Joseph Kraft

WASHINGTON — By hints and winks, and in bits and pieces, there is emerging from the Reagan Administration the outline of a new approach to the Middle East. The critical innovation subordinates the regional quarrel between Arabs and Israelis to the global rivalry between Russia and the U.S.

The new American emphasis is on building from the Camp David Accords between Israel and Egypt a network of security that extends to Saudi Arabia. In the interim, the Palestinians and their backers would be leaflonged and Iran and Iraq left to stew in their own juice.

A VISIT TO THE area by secretary of State Alexander Haig in the first week of April is the principal vehicle for the new approach. Egypt and Israel will be primary stops, and the secretary will restate the administration's commitment to Camp David. He will travel in the wake of larger American arms shipments to both countries. Already underway are discussions about a base, somewhere in the area, for stationing a multinational force, including Americans.

The base will mainly be used to guarantee the Egyptian-Israeli peace as stipulated in the Camp David Accords. But it can also be sited so as to provide what President Reagan, in an interview with five columnists last month, called an American "presence on the ground" near the Persian Gulf.

The most acute security problem in the Gulf is presented by Saudi Arabia. Not that American planners expect a Soviet invasion from Afghanistan across Iran. The danger, instead, is thought to lie with elements in the armed forces, or among the foreign work force which does most of the labor in the kingdom. Separately or together, they could set in motion a coup against the royal family.

Saudi Arabia, therefore, is another big stop on the Haig itinerary. The secretary is expected to put emphasis on the security problem. In that connection, this country is enhancing the F-15 warplanes sold to the Saudis three years ago, and urging them to improve their intelligence operation. There is also a view held by many Reaganites in the State Department that in a pinch the American military could help the Saudi royals. The basic idea is for a small, highly mobile force, presumably based on Egyptian territory, that could put several thousand men anywhere in the kingdom within an hour or two.

Jordan is the other stop on the Haig tour. The U.S. has no immediate hopes of bringing King Hussein into the Camp David process, which, in any case, is on dead center until after the Israeli elections on June 30. But the belief is that if the U.S. can promote understanding between Egypt and Saudi Arabia, Hussein would enter the game. In time, particularly if Prime Minister Menachem Begin is replaced by the Labor opposition, there could be negotiations between Jordan and Israel on autonomy for the West Bank territory, which is home to most Palestinians.

Many Palestinians, especially those who look to the Palestine Liberation Organization, are adamantly against such dealing. But the PLO is currently immobilized. Two of its chief sponsors, the Iraqis and Iranians, are at war. A third, Syria, has aligned itself with Iran against Iraq, and is located in the Arab world.

This anemia needs no treatment

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: My doctor told me I had thalassemia minor and that nothing can be done about it. I am always tired. I am 59 years old. Please explain thalassemia. — A.B.

Thalassemia is an inherited hemolytic anemia. Hemolytic means that the anemia is not due to either bleeding or iron deficiency, but to the fact that the red blood cells are not living out their normal lives.

Thalassemia major is the quite severe form. The red blood cell count gets dangerously low, less than half the normal level. If it becomes life-threatening, transfusions are given. This is not what you have.

You have thalassemia minor, the more common type. It is mild, with the blood count getting only to about 15 percent below normal. Only rarely do people with this have symptoms or need treatment. So your doctor didn't mean that nothing can be done, but that nothing NEED be done.

Your kind of thalassemia usually is discovered later in life, without it having given the person trouble. I don't know if your fatigue is related to your thalassemia. You don't mention your blood count. Unless it is very low, there is no real point in giving transfusions.

You might ask, why not one little transfusion to make me feel better? The answer is that one transfusion would do you no permanent good. The transfused red blood cells would be gone in a few months and you would need more transfusions. Besides, other factors may be causing your fatigue.

The anemia is prevalent among the people who live near the Mediterranean Sea or in their descendants. In Southern Italy, 10 percent of the people have thalassemia. Most people don't know it. You will sometimes hear it called Cooley's anemia or Mediterranean anemia.

Dear Dr. Donohue: You seem to be a patient man. I hope you can put up with another letter on the thyroid gland. What are the tests T3 and T4? When thyroid medication is given does it make any difference what time of the day it is taken? How long before the symptoms for which a person is taking it subside? — Mrs. N.V.

(1) T-3 and T-4 are abbreviations for two thyroid hormones in the blood. They can be measured to see if the thyroid gland is producing them in sufficient quantity. (2) It does not matter what time of day you decide to schedule your medicine because it lasts 24 hours. (3) It is better to take it at the same time each day. (4) The effects of the medicine should be noticed in from two to three weeks. See the booklet "Your Thyroid: How It Works for You." To get a copy, write me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Here's my solution for the child who gets car sick. Our daughter was under two years of age and she would get car sick in the daytime. We used motion sickness medicine until we found the real answer. She needed glasses. Her two eyes were not working together to focus properly during trips. She has not been car sick since, and that has been seven years. — C.S.

A good example of how blurred images can bring on car sickness.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a heavy smoker, but noticed that since I have been pregnant the desire to smoke has left. In fact, the idea of a cigarette almost nauseates me. Is this uncommon? — Mrs. T.P.

No, some women report this.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Do you believe that God still demands that we give 10 percent of our money to him? Personally, I find this would be hard to do, with inflation and all. — Mrs. R.C.C.

DEAR MRS. R.C.C.: This is a good question for us to consider, particularly in light of the times in which we live. It is important for each of us to give careful thought to how we manage our money.

First, let me direct your attention to the teaching of the Old Testament. By law, each Israelite was to give 10 percent of his income (a tithe) toward the support of those who were responsible for the religious training of the nation. Once, during a period of severe economic crisis, the Israelites abandoned the practice of tithing. God swiftly rebuked them with these words, "You are under a curse — the whole nation of you — because you are robbing me. Bring the whole tithe into the storehouse, that there may be food in my house. Test me in this," says the Lord Almighty, "and see if I will not throw open the floodgates of heaven and pour out so much blessing that you will not have room enough for it" (Malachi 3:9, 10).

What was God trying to tell these people? There seem to be two important principles here. First, they were to continue to tithe regardless of the economic conditions within the nation. Secondly, their obedience to God's command for tithing would bring blessing.

Now let's turn to the New Testament teachings. Although tithing as such is nowhere specifically commanded, neither is it annulled. Many verses challenge the Christian to give generously. And the Christian does maintain the responsibility of supporting those who contribute to his spiritual growth. "Anyone who receives instruction in the word must share all good things with his instructor" (Galatians 6:6).

It seems that God wants our giving to be motivated by love and not legalism. Love sets no limits, but gives according to the needs of another. Our supreme example for this is Jesus himself. The Bible tells us, "Be imitators of God, therefore, as clearly loved children and live a life of love; just as Christ loved us and gave himself up for us" (Ephesians 5:1, 2).

In light of what God has done for us in Christ, should we give him less now than what was required under the law?

Dear Abby

'Sensible' Choice Not Always the Right One

DEAR ABBY: My problem is a conflict between my head and my heart. Two men want to marry me. "A" is successful, attractive, attentive and we share many of the same interests and beliefs. He has loved me for years, and I know he would make a wonderful husband and provider. Everyone thinks I'm crazy for putting him off as I have. My head tells me that marriage with "A" would be very sensible, but Abby, my heart just isn't in it. I make our good-night kisses as brief as possible.

The other man, "B," is the reason I have been putting off "A." He will always make a good living because he's hard-working and industrious. He's rich because he helps so many friends and family members. He's supporting both his parents, and he's helping a nephew through college. Abby, I really love this man; just holding his hand excites me.

Both men are waiting for my answer. I want to marry before my 30th birthday. What do you say?
A 29-YEAR-OLD VIRGIN

DEAR VIRGIN: Use your head, and listen to your heart.

DEAR ABBY: May I comment on your men's underwear debate? We in our brief-type "Fruit-of-the-Looms" remain fruitless, while our brothers in their boxer shorts remain "hair-conditioned."

ROBERT W. IN WALTERBORO, S.C.

DEAR ROBERT: I wish I'd thought of that.

DEAR ABBY: Since others use your column to air their pet gripes, may I let a repairman who set up appointments to repair a television, refrigerator, furnace or whatever, and never call to say they can't make it. They just don't show up.

I left work early on Tuesday to be home at 3 p.m., the time when the TV repairman said he'd be there. He never showed up! I called him the next day and set up another appointment. Again I got off work early, and again he didn't show. (Always an excuse — car trouble, got tied up on another job, etc.) He had my number at work and home and he could have called me.

Abby, I paid someone to cover me at work so I could leave early for these appointments. My friends tell me they've had the same lousy experiences with repairmen.

If there's a solution, please print it. If not, thanks for letting me get this off my chest.

Eckstein couple presents SWCID overview to Civitans

The Big Spring Civitan Club held its regular meeting March 4 at Furr's Cafeteria, following a 5:30 p.m. dinner. President Micki Potter conducted the meeting. Special guests were Bill and Teresa Eckstein from the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf.

The business meeting included discussion of the Citizenship Essay Contest, the collection of Proctor & Gamble proof-of-purchase labels, and sponsorship of the Association for Retarded Citizens swimming program. President Micki Potter will collect the essays from the area schools on Friday. Students in grades 11 and 12 are eligible for cash and possible scholarship prizes. The boxes for collection of the P & G labels are at the Howard County Library and the College Park Safeway store. These boxes will be picked up March 18, so the labels may be sent to Proctor and Gamble. The company has agreed to donate 3 cents per label toward expenses of the Winter Special Olympics. The club voted to donate $55. to ARC for sponsorship of their swimming program now in progress.

Mr. Eckstein, a mathematics teacher at SWCID, gave an overview of the programs offered at the Institute. During a question

Cruising: a new way to enjoy family vacationing in style

What family vacation offers all family members the vacation they deserve? A break from everyday routines and a relaxing, enriching experience the whole family can share?

If it sounds too good to be true, you may be among the families who have overlooked cruising as an alternative to the tough problem of selecting a family vacation that pleases everyone.

But the idea of family cruise vacations is catching on quickly, and for good reason. Families are discovering in increasing numbers that cruise vacations provide something for every member of the family to enjoy, and often require less planning than many overland vacations.

When considering a cruise vacation, the first step a family should make is to select a cruise line. While some cruise lines make provisions for families vacationing onboard, others have given little attention to the special needs of the family. A good travel agent and a little investigation will go a long way toward ensuring a successful family cruise.

One cruise line with a reputation for making family vacations and pleasantly memorable experiences is Sitmar Cruises, which operates the popular ships T.S.S. FAIRWIND and FAIRSEA. Not only are the ships larger than most with spacious cabins and closets designed to accommodate four, but Sitmar schedules a program of activities for children each day which provides all the fun and enjoyment of cruising that most all lines provide for adults.

Sitmar's 25,000 ton vessels each have a Youth Center which is open from 9 a.m. to midnight daily, both in port and at sea. A minimum of four youth counselors sail on every cruise, and on those cruises with a particularly large number of children, eight youth counselors are onboard to plan activities and assure children receive all the attention and supervision they deserve.

Daily activities for youths are numerous, including a morning exercise class, craft projects, disco dancing and a soda fountain for teens, ping-pong and shuffleboard tournaments, and much more. The ships have a children's pool (one of three swimming pools onboard) and on cruises with a large number of children, a special movie or entertainer, such as a magician, is often brought onboard.

The full range of separate daily activities for youths and adults allow each to pursue their own special interests onboard, with others their own age — one of many reasons families are turning to cruise vacations. But perhaps the main reason families are choosing cruises over other vacation alternatives is the enriching experience this type of vacation offers the entire family.

For youths, a cruise is often an introduction to many new and exciting experiences, including formal dining, fine cuisine, foreign ports and travel by ship.

Such experiences provide opportunities for family togetherness, and learning experiences families can share. First-hand experience with geography and foreign cultures opens a whole new world for youths, one they're sure to enjoy discovering.

Take the Caribbean, for example. Here, the natives have absorbed the influence of their European colonizers, making cultural diversity one of the Caribbean's primary attractions. While visiting such ports as French Martinique, British Nassau, Dutch Aruba and Curacao, or the United States Virgin Islands, families discover the individual foreign flavor of each port, and the various languages and cultures each island has assumed and mingled with their own.

This summer, Sitmar has a full range of Caribbean cruises onboard the T.S.S. FAIRWIND, offering families a choice of 10-, 11-, or 14-day cruises throughout the summer months. And with the variety of cruise lengths and the many cabin categories available, it's easy for a family to choose a cruise to meet their budget, and pay for the majority of their vacation costs upfront.

Family cruising is often less expensive than many expect. Sitmar's children's rates for youths from the ages of two through 17 who share a cabin with their parents are about one-third the minimum fare, and infants under two sail free. In addition, summer is Sitmar's Caribbean Value season, when savings are available on cruise fares.

There are other advantages for family cruisers as well. There's the need to pack and unpack only once; the security of returning to a familiar home-away-from-home in every port (especially reassuring for children); and the luxury of a self-contained, floating hotel offering first-class service, fine Continental cuisine, a full day's activities for adults and youths and professional entertainment nightly.

And cruising is a vacation that enables families to reach their destinations in comfort, without hurrying through airports or spending long, uncomfortable hours en route to a vacation destination.

With its many diverse activities and the advantages of shipboard travel, a cruise may well be the ticket to an idea family vacation during 1981. To learn more, see a travel agent and ask for a complete run-down on costs, destinations and cruise lines that provide youth programs. With the help of a travel agent and a little advance investigation, your cruise can be a memorable, enjoyable vacation for every family member, regardless of age.

Most sleep disorder cases can be treated and cured

More than 30 million people in the U.S. suffer from insomnia and the typical victim is the middle-aged housewife. According to a recent article in Woman's World magazine, "Insomnia: In Search of A Good Night's Sleep," most cases of sleep disorders can be successfully diagnosed and treated.

The magazine reports that there are many misconceptions about insomnia. Unfortunately, television commercials for sleeping pills only confuse the picture because "most people think of insomnia as an affliction that can be treated with pills rather than as a symptom that can best be alleviated by dealing with the cause."

A common type of insomnia is "situational," characterized by a person's lying in bed, mulling over problems, unable to fall asleep. Causes of insomnia can be depression, aging, ailments such as headaches and ulcers and faulty "biological clocks."

If you lie in bed for more than 10 minutes without dozing off, get out of bed, start some kind of activity and return to bed when you are sleepy.

Keep your alarm clock set for the same time each morning to establish consistent sleep patterns.

No napping.

BEDWETTER

LET THEM HAVE A DRY BED

The greatest gift you can give a bedwetter and the rest of the family is a HOKY. This serious problem, and make no mistake, bedwetting is serious. It can cause complicated psychological problems that last a lifetime. It's so needless to cause bedwetting, when not caused by organic defect or disease, can be ended. # Corker, Lyons honored on All-WJC first team

Howard College's Randy Corker and Kelly Lyons were the lone local performers named to their respective 1980-81 All-Western Conference squad, announced this week by WJC Sports Director Kenneth Tidmore.

Both were first team selections on the elite list, with some teammates joining them on the honorable mention selections.

Those Hawks joining Corker on the men's All-Western Conference team with honorable mention are sophomores Ron Akins and Kenneth Jones.

Jill Floyd was the lone Hawk Queen on either the second team or honorable mention list. Floyd, a sophomore from nearby Sands High, made the WJC honorable mention women's group.

Corker, a freshman from Trenton, New Jersey, was instrumental in helping lead the Howard College men to a regular season record of 23-8 and second place in the Western Conference.

He was the leading scorer in the WJC, averaging 24.9 points per game. He was also the sixth ranked rebounder in the league, and was in the top 10 in the WJC in both field goal and free throw percentage.

He had a high game of 43 in a triple overtime win over South Plains, but probably his finest performance came with Ron Akins out of the lineup, when he helped direct the Hawks to an upset win over the then undefeated and top ranked juco team in the land, Midland College.

Joining Corker on the men's first team were Charles Johnson and Puntus Wilson of Midland, Maurice Bradford of Amarillo, and Chuck North of Western Texas. Johnson, a 6'6" sophomore was named as the WJC's Most Valuable Player, while the Coach of the Year went to Clarendon's Mark Nixon.

Akins and Jones were also key figures in the Hawks excellent season. Akins, a sophomore from Fort Worth, was the number two rebounder in the WJC, grabbing 12.5 carsoms per game. He also averaged over 15 points per game, ranking him 11th in the WJC in that category.

Crane, is known as one of the better leapers around. He grabbed an average of 9.6 rebounds per game, fourth best in the WJC, as well as averaging 14.6 points per game.

Lyons is a sure fire candidate for All-American honors, as this is her second consecutive year to be named to the First Team All-Western Conference list.

A 6'3" sophomore from Safford, Arizona, Lyons and Floyd were the only two sophomores on an otherwise freshmen team that ended up as the 19th ranked team nationally, and lost in the Revison V championship.

Lyons, despite heavy pressure from opponents every game, ended as the second leading scorer in the WJC at 19.4 per game, and led the league in blocked shots, rejecting 83 in the 31 regular season games. She also averaged a most healthy 11 rebounds per game, and was the second ranked female performer in the WJC in the field goal percentage department.

Joining Lyons on the All-Western Conference Women's First Team were Amarillo's Olivia Jones, Clarendon's Cassandra Crumpton, Odessa's Jackie Skinner, and Western Texas' Shari Teal.

Jones was named the women's Most Valuable Player, joining her mentor, Kelly Chadwick, who was named the women's Coach of the Year.

Floyd didn't show up much in the WJC's weekly statistics, but her floor play was usually most impressive.

She averaged 8.7 points per game and 7.2 rebounds per game, utilizing her talents both inside and outside. She ended as the WJC's number two thief.

and development for the Minnesota Vikings, said Mike Lynn, vice president of the Vikings.

Gehrke said he was surprised by the action, taken just 12 days after the team was sold to Edgar Kaiser Jr. of Vancouver, British Columbia.

"Red has been a good coach. I hired him. It's all a surprise," Gehrke said.

Asked if he felt bitter, Gehrke, 62, said, "No, no way." He said he may retire from professional sports and devote himself to playing golf.

Tom Landry, head coach at Dallas, said Reeves was offered the Broncos coaching position after Reeves talked with Kaiser over the weekend.

Miller spent the evening removing his personal belongings from his office. From a second-story window, he told a group of newsmen assembled outside the Broncos offices that he was "unavailable" for comment.

Miller's firing was the first major change to take place since the team was sold Feb. 25 by Gerald Phipps of Denver. The new owner, 38-year-old Kaiser, is chairman and chief executive officer of Kaiser Resources Ltd. of Vancouver and Kaiser Oil, U.S. Ltd., a Denver-based oil and gas exploration company.

No sale price was announced, but sources indicated it was in excess of $30 million.

Miller, 53, has coached the Broncos for the past four seasons. A former offensive coordinator for the New England Patriots, Miller succeeded John Ralston as the team's head coach in February 1977.

The following season, Miller led the Broncos to the Super Bowl in New Orleans after the team posted its best regular-season record ever 12-2. At Super Bowl XII, the team bowed to the Dallas Cowboys, 27-10.

In 1980, the Broncos had their worst finish in Miller's four years as head coach. At 8-8, the team tied with Kansas City for third place in the American Conference Western Division. But the Chiefs' two victories over Denver gave Kansas City third place, and the Broncos dropped to fourth place for scheduling purposes.

"I have lived half of my life. I think I contributed my share behind the plate. I don't want to jeopardize the last half of my life."

In his 14 years with the Reds, Bench has caught 1,731 games, only 187 short of the all-time record of Al Lopez. He has caught 100 games in 13 consecutive seasons, tying Bill Dickey's major league mark, and hit more runs than any receiver who ever lived.

He has lived with pain. "My hands look like pine knots," he said. "I have broken my left foot six times, my right four times. I have to wear a special harness for my aching back."

"Sure, I asked to catch two days a week and offered my services for another position," the bull-shouldered, 33-year-old receiver said.

Pan American added to rugged NIT field

NEW YORK (AP) — Pan American has been added to the National Invitation Tournament, and officials say they'll have the final spot in the 32-team field filled by tonight.

for the 44th NIT, which begins play tonight with Fordham at Dayton.

Pan American opens NIT play Friday night at Tulsa, 21-7. The winner goes into the second round March 16 against the winner of the San Jose State-Texas-El Paso game.

The last spot in the field will be decided after tonight's Ivy League playoff between Penn and Princeton at Easton, Pa., according to Kevin Kennedy, a spokesman for the tournament and Madison Square Garden. The loser there, however, will not necessarily be the 32nd NIT selection.

"There are a couple of considerations that they're going over," Kennedy said Monday. "Penn-Princeton is one of them, but that's not the only factor. There are a couple of other teams they want to consider. It will definitely be tomorrow night."

Also apparently being looked at is Pepperdine, which lost the West Coast Athletic Conference playoff to San Francisco, 96-82, Monday night. And Paul Munick, the Garden's director of amateur athletics, said other schools were also in the running.

Greenwood, Sterling City meet here in bi-district tonight

Dorothy Garrett Coliseum will be the site of tonight's Class A boys bi-district basketball battle between Greenwood and Sterling City. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Greenwood, ranked in the state's Top 10 for much of the year in Class A, brings a record of 26-5 into the contest.

Sterling City, the winner of District 13-A, will carry a mark of 26-7 into the game.

The winner advances on to the regional tournament this weekend.

From Red to White

Fisk expected to change Sox

CHICAGO (AP) — After almost a decade as the pride of Boston, Carlton Fisk says he's ready for a change of scenery. But Chicago White Sox owners Eddie Einhorn and Jerry Reinsdorf still are trying to get the All-Star catcher to sign on the dotted line.

Fisk appeared Monday at a news conference with White Sox officials amid speculation that a contract already had been signed. But the veteran catcher said only that he had made a decision — "a potential decision, really" — to come to Chicago.

White Sox Board Chairman Reinsdorf said, "I'll be very, very surprised if a contract were not executed by the end of the week."

But Fisk, asked if the deal might fall through, said, "There's always a chance. I'm actually not signed and, in actuality, I am a free agent."

Baseball agent Jerry Kapstein, was meeting with White Sox lawyers beginning today to work out the final details of the contract, Fisk said. He hinted that a multi-year deal was in the works, but no other terms were disclosed.

Fisk, 33, became a free agent when the Red Sox failed to mail him a new contract before a date spelled out in his previous contract. That episode apparently soured his relations with Red Sox management, particularly executive vice president Haywood Sullivan.

"What it has come down to was a breach of contract," said Fisk.

The White Sox sales pitch reached a climax last weekend with four days of intensive negotiations involving Fisk, the two owners and Sox General Manager Roland Hemond.

But Fisk said he didn't reach his decision to sign with the White Sox until an early-morning plane flight Monday from his home near San Diego.

Fisk said later that he expects a move to Chicago to spark a less-than-enthusiastic response in Boston.

"There's going to be a reaction," he said. "There's going to be a loud reaction. It's going to tug a little bit at the heart. But I can handle it."

Fisk missed much of the 1979 season because of an elbow injury, but came back last season to club 18 home runs and drive in 62 runs with 478 at bats. He batted .289, in line with his career .284 average.

"My health is great," Fisk said. "I feel as good now as I've ever felt — no problems."

"My health is great," Fisk said. "I feel as good now as I've ever felt — no problems."

Joined by Sampson, Thomas, Ainge, Magee Aguirre lone returnee on AP All-America team

NEW YORK (AP) — Mark Aguirre, the man many consider the best in college basketball, "skyrocketed us into the national limelight," DePaul Coach Ray Meyer says. The junior forward also has launched himself toward superstardom.

Aguirre was named Monday to The Associated Press' first-team All-America squad for the second season in a row, the only repeater from 1979-80.

"He's worked harder this year and is no longer just a scoring machine," Meyer said. "His defense has gotten better as well as his rebounding, and he's given out more assists this year, I think, than in his first two years combined."

In addition to his scoring average of 23.5, Aguirre handed out 130 assists, actually 33 shy of his combined

DePaul named No. 1 in final AP poll

DePaul, riding a 14-game winning streak, regained the No. 1 position in the final Associated Press college basketball poll for the 1980-81 season Tuesday as Oregon State, knocked from the unbeaten ranks by Arizona last weekend, slipped to No. 2.

The Blue Demons, who held the top spot for six weeks early in the season, collected 55 of 61 first-place votes and 1,214 points of a possible 1,220 in the balloting by a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

DePaul, 27-1 and ranked freshman and sophomore totals but an astounding figure for a high-scoring forward.

Joining the 6-foot-7 Aguirre on the first team were Ralph Sampson, a 7-4 sophomore center from Virginia; 6-8 junior Kevin Magee of California-Irvine; 6-5 senior guard Danny Ainge of Brigham Young, and 6-1 sophomore Isiah Thomas of Indiana.

Members of the team were 6-6 senior Al Wood of North Carolina; 6-7 senior Danny Vranes, Utah; 6-10 1/2 senior Steve Johnson, Oregon State; 6-3 junior Eric Floyd, Georgetown, and 6-2 senior Darnell Valentine, Kansas. Lewis Lloyd of Drake, Jay Vincent of Michigan State, Sam Bowie of Kentucky, Jeff Lamp of Virginia and Rob Williams of Houston were named to the third team.

Meyer said Aguirre's participation on the 1980 U.S. Olympic team had changed him.

"He's really improved," Meyer said. "In his freshman and sophomore years, it was hard getting him to practice because nobody could guard him. He was bored and never felt challenged."

"I think playing on the Olympic team helped every day in practice there, and that brought about a great change in his game," Meyer said.

Besides scoring and assisting, Aguirre grabbed 248 rebounds in 28 games with DePaul for an average of 8.9, and his presence has helped make the Blue Demons an NCAA pretournament favorite.

Although he tailed off at the end of the season, Sampson averaged 18.4 points and 11.8 rebounds per game for Virginia. He blocked 92 shots, and even that figure is not entirely indicative of his ability to intimidate.

Magee came from practically nowhere to compile one of the most statistically impressive seasons of any player in the country. His scoring average of 27.5 was third in the nation. His field goal percentage of 67.1 was second. His rebound average of 12.5 was fifth.

A transfer from Saddleback Junior College in Mission Viejo, Calif., out of the steel mills of Magnolia, N.C., Magee is considered a top prospect by many scouts.

"It was a surprise, a big thing," Magee said. "I figured I'd make the second or third team being from a small school, but I guess all the exposure I got gave me a boost."

Front office people at UC-Irvine expect Magee to play his senior year, but he said if he could get the "right amount of money" and a guaranteed contract, he'd head for the National Basketball Association.

"The coach told me I'd be a fool not to," Magee said, "but otherwise I go back to school."

Ainge already has his pro contract — as an infielder for the Toronto Blue Jays of the American League. Although he does not contemplate an NBA career in the next four years, he has not given him his fame.

Averaging 25 points a game this season, Ainge set an NCAA record by scoring in double figures in 108 consecutive games. He was held to less than 10 only once, in his freshman year.

"This is the best honor I've ever had," Ainge said, "better than any of the others in the WAC (Western Athletic Conference) because this covers the entire nation. To be in the company of the others is a great honor and makes me very happy."

Still, Ainge says, "I have no regrets about my decision to play baseball."

Thomas, meanwhile, may be the best playmaker in the nation. He had 154 assists this year for Bobby Knight, a man who stresses defense first. While scoring 15.7 points per game, he also had 92 rebounds for Knight's Big Ten Conference champions while playing an average of 35 minutes a game. Thomas also had 64 steals.

Denver fires Red Miller

DENVER (AP) — Red Miller has been fired as head coach of the Denver Broncos, and Dan Reeves, offensive coordinator for the Dallas Cowboys, has been hired to take his place, team sources say.

Miller was fired Monday afternoon along with Fred Gehrke, general manager of the National Football League team. Gehrke will be replaced by Grady Alderman, 43, director of planning

Landry happy Reeves named Denver coach

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboys head coach Tom Landry was without an offensive coordinator today, but he says he's "delighted" that Dan Reeves is going to become head coach of the Denver Broncos of the National Football League.

"I think it's tremendous that he could have a team like Denver," Landry said in a telephone interview Monday night from his Dallas home, adding that not many coaches got the chance to go to a "winning team."

"We're delighted that he has the opportunity to become a head coach."

Reeves, 37, was named to the Denver head coaching spot Monday after it was announced that former Denver coach Red Miller and general manager Fred Gehrke had been fired. The announcement was to be made formally at a news conference in Denver today.

Landry said that Reeves, a former Cowboys running back, who signed on as a coach with Dallas in 1972, "is well-grounded in what it takes to be a successful head coach."

"He's always gotten along well with the players," Landry said. "...he's capable and very intelligent."

The long-time Landry assistant was in Denver at the time the announcement made and could not be reached for comment.

His career with the Cowboys was cut short after eight seasons by extensive knee surgery. He is the fifth all time leading Cowboys rusher and was inducted into the University of South Carolina Hall of Fame three years ago.

Reeves' departure won't scramble the Dallas offensive picture, the coach said. "He's been a contributor to our staff and we'll have a void there for a while," Landry said.

The Cowboys were "not gonna be in a big hurry" to fill the post Reeves vacated, Landry said.

"He was our offensive coordinator with quarterbacks with quarterbacks and the passing game," Landry said, adding he had "no idea" who Reeves' successor would be.

Johnson led Midland moves by Denton

ABILENE — The Midland Bulldogs used a 31-point performance from 6-9 Herbert Johnson in rolling to a 67-53 win over the Denton Broncos in a Class AAAAA bi-district boys' basketball game here Monday night.

Midland, the champions of District 5-A, trailed in the contest, although Denton stayed close until the final quarter.

But early in the fourth quarter, Johnson slammed home a couple of dunks, and the Bulldogs used that as momentum to quickly put the game away. They led by as much as 18 points in the final stanza.

The Bulldogs are now 32-4 on the year, and will advance on to play in the Region I-A, AAAAA Tournament beginning Friday night. They should have a slight advantage in that tournament, as it will be played in Chaparral Center on the campus of Midland College.

Besides Johnson's 31 points, Mike Velasco was the only other Bulldog to hit in double figures, scoring 14.

By quarters: Midland 22 11 13 21—67; Denton 16 13 12 12—53. MIDLAND (47) — Velasco 5-14; Bolger 0-2-2; Felt 1-1-3; Mackey 0-2-2; Brown 3-1-7; Morett 0-2-2; Miller 1-0-2; Sharnowski 2-0-4; Johnson 12-7-31; TOTALS 24-19-67.

DENTON (53) — Freeman 3-0-6; Jackson 4-0-8; Berg 5-0-10; McCoy 2-2-5; Wagner 1-0-2; Cole 3-2-9; Franklin 5-2-12; TOTALS 29-7-53.

they topped Canutillo 73-68. These two teams, along with Fabens, had tied for the 5-AAA regular season title.

Game time tonight is 7:30 p.m. The winner will advance to the Region I-AAA Tournament, which will be held this weekend in the Lubbock Coronado Gym.

Coahoma, which ended District 6-AAA action tied with Seminole and Denver City, won the title last Tuesday night when they defeated Seminole 54-52.

Kermit, meanwhile, clinched the District 5-AAA crown on Friday night when their respective districts. Coahoma, which ended District 6-AAA action tied with Seminole and Denver City, won the title last Tuesday night when they defeated Seminole 54-52.

Coahoma, Kermit in bi-district

CRANE — The Coahoma Bulldogs boys basketball team goes for a bi-district title tonight when they meet the Kermit Yellowjackets at 7:30 p.m. in the Crane High School Gym.

Both of the teams in action tonight advanced after tying with two other teams for

ADD TO YOUR HOME WITH HANDMADE PIECES... gifts of distinction at Heirlooms

Heirlooms will help you find the right antiques

Heirlooms is a new shop that combines the old charm of antique furniture with new handmade gifts. Owned and operated by Howard and Sarah Higgins, the business at Third and State has finished as well as unfinished antiques and old furniture. The do-it-yourselfer has a large selection of furniture to choose from, and the Higgins refinish the pieces that appear in the showroom. "Right now we are not refinishing furniture for other people because we have plenty of our own to renovate," Mrs. Higgins said. This is evidenced by more than 300 pieces stacked in the storeroom. Homemade gifts include barbed wire pictures, handquilted pillows, embroidered aprons, handmade cutting boards, needlepoints, baby blankets and pillow sets, macramé, weavings, silkscreens, lithographs, and ceramics. "We try to have unique gift items that are not available in other stores," said Mrs. Higgins who does some of the gift work herself. "Our stock changes dramatically from week to week," Mrs. Higgins said. She suggests customers check often because there is always something new in both the shop and showroom. "The concept of Heirlooms is to find a keepsake that can be passed down from generation to generation," Mrs. Higgins said, "and with the popularity of accenting with an antique item here or there, we think that Heirlooms has something to offer Big Spring residents. "We hope to start some refinishing classes in the next few months so other people can learn how to economically restore their own heirlooms," Mrs. Higgins said. Heirlooms is located in the Wooten Self-Storage building at 1100 E. Third. Store hours are from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

Water district's model of spillway paying off

The $98,000 the Colorado River Municipal Water District spent for construction and tests of a scale model of the Stacy reservoir service spillway seems likely to prove a wise investment.

Two major problems were demonstrated during a series of tests of the model at Colorado State University at Fort Collins. Correcting them before final plans are made not only will save multiplied thousands of dollars, O.H. Ivie, CRMWV general manager pointed out, but they also will guarantee safety of the structure.

The model, which had its final tests in mid-February, was scaled down to 1-45th of actual size — even down to rock which will be used in the stilling basin. The six Tanter (discharge) gates were designed to show exactly how varying volume of water would be let out during different sized floods.

"Probably the structure never will be subjected to the stresses and extreme conditions of the tests," said Ivie, "but with a $50,000,000 dam at stake, you can't afford to take even the remotest of chances."

One of the problems which was revealed by the tests was water during a maximum flood cutting across a bend of the river to exert diagonal instead of perpendicular pressure on the dam, thus making the gates discharge unevenly. Engineers say a spur dike can cure this.

Another, and more difficult, problem, has to do during the period of absolute flood. The tests showed that water from the emergency spillway had a pinching effect on the river at the point where the emergency surplus spill came back into the river. Because of the narrowing effect, velocity of the water in the river channel would be increased tremendously, causing great damage and erosion. This may be cured by extending walls of the service spillway further down river, or to divert, by dikes parallel to the river, the emergency flow about a mile farther downstream.

Midland to be site of 'TCU Today' seminar

Choosing a college or university that meets the student's need and the family's budget is a major decision for high school students and their parents. Each spring Texas Christian University staff and student body members visit cities across the nation with a personal, local presentation of what TCU can offer in making that decision.

A "TCU Today" program will be held in Midland on March 10. The reception will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Petroleum Club, 501 West Walk. Reservations are due by March 8.

Began in 1965 as an effort to "take the campus setting" to the prospective student, "TCU Today" is a traveling program that features current students and faculty members as well as administrators. This spring the group will explain advantages of an independent, coeducational institution when visiting 30 cities in 16 states.

Reservations for the complimentary program are accepted from high school students and their parents. Coordinated by the TCU admissions office, the event is designed to answer questions about various aspects of collegiate life. An audio-visual presentation will introduce the 243-acre campus, more than 300 full-time faculty members and the student body of approximately 6,300. Current TCU students will discuss their impressions of TCU and why they chose this particular institution.

An administrator will speak on TCU's role in higher education, and financial aid and admissions procedures will be discussed by an admissions counselor. Faculty members will outline briefly some of the academic areas offered by TCU.

Reservations and additional information are available by calling (915) 694-4740.

The course will introduce or review skills of storytelling and oral interpretation through picture books and reading aloud from books. Uses, audiences, methods, techniques, selection, practice, and historic overview will be presented. There will be demonstrations and each participant will have the opportunity to show his or her skills.

This course is designed for library aides, teacher aides, librarian, education majors, Sunday school teachers, Head Start workers, camp counselors, nursery or day school workers, kindergarten and elementary teachers and anyone interested in storytelling.

The instructor for the course is Judith Gray, the county librarian. She has been a former children's and school librarian. Mrs. Gray has been at Mississippi State Arts Festival in Storytelling Tent. She has been a guest lecturer at the university.

For more information about this course, please contact the Continuing Education Department at Howard College at 267-6311, ext. 70.

Church annex site of classes

Sacred Heart Catholic Church Annex will be the site of new Adult Education classes, announced Martha Fierro, director of Adult and Continuing Education at the Howard County Junior College District.

On March 12 classes for adults will begin at the Sacred Heart Catholic Church Annex. This class will meet every Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m.

Classes in Adult Basic Education (A.B.E.) will be offered to help adults learn basics such as math, science, social studies, and reading. Also offered will be classes for the General Equivalency Diploma (G.E.D.), and English as a Second Language (ESL) for those wishing to learn to read, write, and speak English.

"We are taking our adult classes out to the public. We try to locate teaching in convenient places so that more people may take advantage of our program. Adult Education offers free classes as well as materials, we are hoping for a large turnout," said Ms. Fierro.

For more information call the Adult and Continuing office at 267-6311, ext. 70.
