CORN TANK BLOWN OVER — An 80 foot corn storage tank was blown into a second tank in Lazbuddie, Tex. on Tuesday. High winds stormed over the West Texas Plains and eastern New Mexico causing severe damage in some areas. This 500,000 pound corn tank, owned by Farmers Cooperative Elevators is located six miles west of Lazbuddie.

Only minor changes made

Reagan cut proposals roll thru Senate panel

WASHINGTON (AP) — With a sympathetic Republican majority providing the muscle, President Reagan's proposals for slashing billions of dollars in federal spending are rolling through the Senate Budget Committee with only minor changes.

More intense wrangling was anticipated today with consideration of cuts in a variety of social service payments — food stamps, Medicare, Medicaid and Social Security — and other popular programs such as housing assistance and urban mass transportation payments.

But during Tuesday's 11-hour work session, the panel's Republican majority was able to overcome any Democratic opposition and the $12.5 billion in approved cuts exceeded the administration's recommendations in some cases.

Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M., the committee chairman, said Congress is "going to have to make all the cuts the president proposed ($48.6 billion) and then some" to meet his goal of balancing the federal budget by 1984.

The panel is expected to complete work on the package tonight.

The committee voted Tuesday to: —Support the administration's proposal to reduce federal subsidies to the Postal Service by nearly $1 billion in 1982.

—Recommend acceptance of the president's revised federal pay system at an estimated savings of nearly $3.7 billion next year.

—Adjust retirement benefits for civilian and military pensioners once a year instead of the current two times, for estimated savings of $800 million.

Technically, the committee is not enacting the budget cuts, but formulating instructions to other Senate committees.

Once both houses of Congress agree to overall totals, the other committees will be required to make the cuts needed to meet the bottom line. However, the other committees will have leeway to apportion the cuts among the programs under their jurisdictions.

At its meeting Tuesday, the Budget Committee supported administration positions by turning back attempts to eliminate Saturday mail service and rejecting a proposal to freeze federal civilian pay for a year.

However, the committee voted to cut spending by $3 billion more than Reagan recommended when it called for private financing of the nation's Strategic Petroleum Reserve.

Under the plan, major oil importers would pump 125 million barrels a year into the stockpile, which is intended to be used in times of national emergencies. The government, instead of buying the oil directly, would repay the companies at the rate of 10 percent a year for 11 years.

Committee members also voted to exceed the president's own proposed cuts by $155 million with a recommendation to abolish the Small Business Administration's program of direct government loans to small businesses. They also voted to collect $150 million in user fees from boat owners instead of the $100 million Reagan wanted.

In the only outright reversal of an administration recommendation Tuesday, the panel voted to spend $25 million that Reagan wanted cut from Vietnam era veteran counseling centers.

Tuesday's dust storm rates four on scale of one to ten

By ANDREA COHEN

On a scale of one to 10, Tuesday's dust storm rated a four, according to Bill Fryrear, U.S. Experiment Station.

The dust storm was the second of approximately 26 predicted for this year.

"Since 1973 we've been rating every dust storm," says Fryrear.

"About every 46 years we can expect to have one that rates a nine and we can expect one that rates a 10 about every 350 years. Tuesday's was rated a four."

The storm lasted approximately seven hours, ending at about 10 p.m.

"But it's more difficult to tell at night what time the sand stops blowing because it's harder to see," he adds.

Winds peaked at 45 miles per hour blowing northwesterly turning to the north Tuesday night.

"This year we're in better shape because of the rain and snow we've had," Fryrear says. "The number of severe storms will begin to decline after May or the beginning of June."

Since the beginning of January, Howard County has received two and a half inches of rainfall and four inches of snow.

Completes testimony

Vickie Daniel 'ashamed' of her husband's conduct

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — The widow of slain former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. ended two days of emotional, sensational testimony in her child custody battle by saying her husband fondled his 3-year-old son and made her "ashamed" of his conduct with his son by a previous marriage.

However, Daniel's sister-in-law testified that Mrs. Daniel, charged with murder in the Jan. 19 shooting death of her estranged husband, seemed amused — not ashamed — the first time she talked about that second episode.

Charlotte Daniel, wife of Houston Daniel, told a jury today she may have talked to a friend about "not saying anything bad" about her brother-in-law.

Charlotte Daniel said she had heard rumors from Jean Daniel Murph, who brought the custody case against her brother's widow, that someone was saying bad things about her slain brother-in-law.

Under cross-examination by Vickie Daniel's attorney Richard "Racehorse" Haynes, Charlotte Daniel said she talked to Ann Daniel Rogers, her husband's cousin, several days after Daniel's funeral.

Asked why she made such a call, Mrs. Daniel replied, "because I had heard rumors that things were being said about Price."

"Mrs. Murph told me about the rumors," she said, when asked by Haynes.

She said Mrs. Murph talked to her several days after Daniel's funeral.

Vickie Daniel, 33, was the first witness in a suit filed by Mrs. Murph, who is trying to gain custody of the Daniels' two youngest sons, Franklin Baldwin Daniel, 3, and Marion Price Daniel IV, 1.

Vickie Daniel testified Tuesday that she disliked leaving Franklin alone with Daniel because she had seen him sexually fondle the boy.

"I didn't like Price to take Franklin because of something I learned was doing," she said.

When pressed by attorneys for Mrs. Murph to be more specific, she said, "He was playing with Franklin's penis. He would be lying in bed and on several occasions Price would go in and put his hands down his drawers."

She also said she was "ashamed" of an incident she tape-recorded while Daniel was in bed with Tom Daniel, his son by a previous marriage.

She said she confronted Daniel with that tape to protect herself if he ever tried to take her children from her, but she did not say what her reaction was and the contents of the tape have not been revealed in court.

Charlotte Daniel later testified that Vickie Daniel told her about the tape-recorded incident but, rather than seeming ashamed or upset, thought "it was funny."

Zeke Zbraneck, attorney for Mrs. Murph, introduced checks totaling more than $13,000 Daniel wrote to his wife between 1978 and his death. Vickie Daniel said they were to pay for household upkeep, health care and other bills.

Dust halts planes in Lubbock

LUBBOCK — The worst dust storm to hit Lubbock in four years halted air traffic in and out of the Lubbock Airport, and created a serious problem in the airport terminal building when a massive portion of glass collapsed.

At least nine major automobile accidents happened in the Lubbock area during the storm.

Two sections of windows on the upper level of the airport building blew out when a gust of wind hit the more sides of the structure. At least ten more 10-by-8 foot panels of glass shattered and covered the floor. No injuries were reported, however.

The area had been evacuated about 20 minutes earlier when airport employees noticed vibrations in the windows.

Repairs to the windows may take up to eight weeks, according to Aviation Director Marvin Coffee.

At one time late in the day, visibility was severely limited, creating traffic hazards for the "going home" crowd.

Lubbock firemen responded to 14 calls after the storm hit. Some of the fire damage was attributed to downed electrical wires. Most of the calls were to report grass and dumpster fires.

There was a report of looting at one business establishment after the winds damaged the firm. Power outages were reported throughout the city.

Industrial Arts Building plans advanced by trustees

The need for an Industrial Arts Building at Howard College was discussed at length during Tuesday's board meeting of the Howard County Junior College District held at the college.

In fact, plans for such a structure were well advanced. All members of the board indicated they favored such a building but the board delayed taking any action on the structure so that College President Dr. Charles Hays and his staff can "refine the plans."

West Texan first to buy solar power

CROSBYTON, Texas (AP) — Friday afternoon, if all goes as planned, Rex Wheeler will become the first man in the United States to buy electricity from a "big, dumb and simple" solar-powered generating unit.

Wheeler, 76, lives in this dusty West Texas town of 3,000 and will pay his power bill in advance at 2 p.m. Friday, the first day of spring, as scientists turn on the solar power plant, providing the first commercially available electricity produced by the sun.

Dr. John D. Reichert will turn on the solar generator. He led a team of Texas Tech researchers that began working on the Crosbyton project in 1976.

"We've come out of the cotton patch," said Reichert, who was put in charge of the project after some worried Crosbyton residents went to Texas Tech officials and asked if the university could come up with an alternative to the ever-more-expensive fossil fuel electricity.

City council, school board candidates to speak Tuesday

Candidates in both the city council and school board races will be given opportunities to speak at a rally in the district courtroom of the Howard County Courthouse immediately following a meeting of the Howard County Democratic Club, which begins at 7:15 next Tuesday evening.

All candidates in both races have indicated they will respond to the invitation to state their views on their particular races. Each will be permitted to talk up to five minutes. The public, of course, is invited to attend the meeting. The speeches will get under way about 8 p.m.

All members of the Democratic Party in Howard County are being urged to attend the 7:15 party meeting. Presiding will be H.M. (Mack) Underwood, newly named president of the Democratic Club.

Underwood says plans are well along toward rejuvenating the party. All precinct chairpersons and all Young Democrats have special invitations to be in attendance, according to Underwood. Issues concerning those two segments of the party will be discussed, according to Underwood.

This may be the only occasion for all city council and school board candidates to be present at the same meeting. The election in both races is a little over two weeks away.

cerned dormitory meal charges — the five-day meal plan will cost $678.37, compared to an original projection of $571.74; while the 6½-day meal plan will be $827.99, compared to an original projection of $697.74.

The second revision concerns special fees charged for student activities. All full-time students and those part-time students who have paid the fee will be admitted without additional charge to all regular athletic and most social events during each semester.

It was announced that Daniel T. Clair had been hired as a diagnostician at SWCID, effective the past Monday, and that the title of Mary Dudley as Dean of Admissions to the Howard County Junior College District had been approved. Mrs. Dudley will retain her title as Director of Counseling at Howard College. Her new title means she will be the officer in charge of student administrations at both Howard College and SWCID.

Mark Adams, assistant Dean of Students at Howard College, made an appearance before the board asking trustees to consider approval of a boxing program. Adams, who is also the college recruiter, said he had visited with an estimated 5,000 students in 80 high schools since taking the job and found that many of the cities in his recruiting area now had boxing programs.

The trustees took the recommendation under advisement and may act on it at the April meeting. The college will again go on a four-day work week this summer. Dr. Hays said that the plan worked to almost universal satisfaction last summer.

On track Clothing price hike reported

"On Track" is an official column prepared by the Big Spring Centennial, Inc., and lists the various events and meetings being held in conjunction with the upcoming Big Spring-Howard County Centennial to be held in May. Individuals wishing to list their activities and events in this column are asked to call Mel Prather at 267-6373, or bring their items by Citizens Federal Credit Union.

CLOTHING PRICE INCREASE. Frances Wheat, co-chairperson of the participation division of the Big Spring Centennial, Inc., reported that all clothing being sold through the Centennial Store had a price increase effective last Monday. Wheat said the Rosebud Dress Co. in Houston, Texas, has had a policy of increasing their prices each year, but had failed to notify the local organization of the date such increases went into effect.

CENTENNIAL STOCK CERTIFICATES. The Centennial Stock Certificates are now available at the Centennial Store at 900 Main. The certificates allow individuals to purchase one share of interest in the area-wide festivities and reflects a contribution to the Centennial Celebration. Cost for the Centennial Stock Certificate is $5.

BROTHERS OF THE BRUSH AND CENTENNIAL BELLES BUTTONS. The supply of buttons for both the Brothers of the Brush and Centennial Belles has been depleted and a new order is on the way. Individuals joining these two organizations during the next few days will receive an official ribbon, which they will be able to redeem for a button once the new supply arrives.

Judy Cox, Connie Garcia capture firsts in Waco

Judy Cox took a first place in job application data processing, and Connie Garcia took a first place in typing at the Post Secondary Office Educ. Association State Leadership Conference in Waco.

Miss Cox and Miss Garcia were two of a delegation of students from Howard College who attended the conference March 12-14 at McLennan Community College. The group brought back several honors.

Students attending included Cathy Brown, Charles Doan, Kathy Harrell, Bryan Lewis, Kathy Stevens, Miss Cox and Miss Garcia. They were accompanied by Mrs. Mary Deats, instructor in the business department.

The students came away with a total of eight individual awards and one team award in competition with students from 17 colleges from the state. All students in the delegation are eligible to go to the national conference May 2-5 in Corpus Christi.

Other awards won by the delegation include Cathy Brown, third place in accounting clerk and third in job application data processing; Kathy Stevens, second place in accounting practice I; Kathy Harrell, fifth in clerk typist II and 4th in job application data processing; and Charles Doan, third in job application, general office.

The Parliamentary procedures team placed third in competition. Team members were Bryan Lewis, president; Charles Doan, Kathy Harrell, Judy Cox, Cathy Brown and Kathy Stevens.

Bryan Lewis was elected to serve as state historian for 1981-82. He will assume office in August.

Mrs. Deats added that "Texas Office Education Association is hosting the National Leadership Conference in May, and our students will be competing with students from all over the United States. Howard College will conduct the Torch Ceremony at the Awards Banquet culminating the conference."

This will be the sixth national conference attended by Howard College students.

Applications being accepted for nursing program at HC

Applications are now being accepted by enrollment in the Associate Degree Nursing Program at Howard College, according to Mary McClelland, director of ADN Program at Howard College.

The class will start in the Fall of 1981 and graduate in May, 1983. Upon graduation from the nursing program, graduates are eligible to take the State Board for Nurses Examination to become a registered Nurse, said McClelland. Prospective students must have completed 14 semester hours of prerequisite courses prior to entering the nursing courses.

Applications can be obtained from the director's office which is located in the Horace Garrett Building. These applications must be in the director's office by April 20.

Persons desiring more information should contact Mary McClelland, acting director, at 267-6311 Ext. 75, Howard College.

74 sophomores cleared for graduation from HC

Seventy-four sophomores have been cleared for graduation from Howard College in May, according to Mary Dudley, director of counseling.

THE PASSING OUT PARADE — Despite appeals from Cardinal Terence Cooke and city officials thousands of teen-agers turned St. Patrick's Day in New York into an outdoor drinking binge. Police, center, seized liquor from the under-age revelers but said statistics on the number arrested for disorderly conduct would not be available until later. City Emergency Medical Service reported 42 calls.

Police Beat Irish eyes wee bit red today

They say that on St. Patrick's Day everyone is Irish. Well, Irishmen all over the city were taking a wee droptoo much, Tuesday.

Police arrested seven Big Springers for public intoxication and three for driving while intoxicated during the day. All will have an opportunity to test their blarney before a judge. Detective Bud Jones and Texas Ranger Eddie Almond arrested Langford Wood, 41, 205 N.W. 3rd, 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, on suspicion of felony theft. Wood is suspected of stealing a cassette tape player and a 35 millimeter camera from the home of Robert Valentine, same address, on the night of Feb. 19. The items are valued at $850.

Sometime within the last week, thieves lifted a picnic table and two picnic benches from the back yard at the home of Derle Harbuck, 1107 Stanford. Harbuck told police he would have no trouble recognizing the equipment; he made it himself. Loss was estimated at $50.

Vandals broke a window, sprayed two gates with red paint, and sprayed the words "El Pepeys" on the side of the Texas Electric Company transmission office at Northeast Second and Goliad, Monday night. Damage was estimated at $50.

Two mishaps were reported Tuesday.

Vehicles driven by Chestley Johnson, 4221 Hamilton, and Daniel Medrano, Denver City, collided on the 900 block of Gregg, 8:32 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Bonnie Nix, Sterling City Route, and Geneva Clinkscales, 1700 Lancaster, collided on the 900 block of Goliad, 12:40 p.m.

TEACHER OF MONTH IS HONORED
Mrs. Elmira Forman with Dr. E.S. Morgan

Kindergarten teacher named teacher of month

Mrs. Elmira Forman, a Big Spring kindergarten teacher for five years, has been selected as January Teacher of the Month by the local unit of Texas State Teachers Association.

Mrs. Forman attended Howard College and Sul Ross University where she earned a Bachelor of Science degree with kindergarten endorsement as well as a Child Development Associate Certificate. Her teaching fields are elementary education and early childhood.

Mrs. Forman's philosophy of education is, "Self concept... I think when a child has a good self concept of himself, academics are easily learned."

She is a member of Classroom Teachers Association, TSTA, and she has served as building representative at Lakeview school. She is a member of the Church of Christ and has taught Sunday school in the Junior and Senior Departments since 1969.

Mrs. Forman is a widow, and her children include Willie F. Forman, Connie Scott, Mary Taylor, Dr. Billy Jones, Clarence Forman, Donny Forman, Cathy Forman, Ronnie Forman and Carolyn Forman.

Cooking, sewing, bowling, and reading are hobbies that she likes. She enjoys reading the Bible and educational material. Her favorite foods are rib eye steak and salad.

Dr. E.C. Morgan, who is principal of the Lakeview Head Start School where Mrs. Forman is employed, was on hand when Mrs. Forman received her plaque and lauded her dedication to her profession.

1,207 Texas rigs working

The number of working oil rigs in the state continued to rise this week.

As of Monday, 1,207 Texas rigs were making hole, compared to 1,191 during the previous week. This tops both the 1,178 total for last month, and the 951 total for this time last year.

The rise was also reflected in the national total, which jumped from 3,566 last week to 3,582 this week. This tops both the 3,529 total for last month, and the 2,669 total for this time last year.

Tennessee 12 farmers take over FmHA office

WASHINGTON — A dozen farmers, charging the U.S. Department of Agriculture deliberately holds up farm operating loans, vow to continue the occupation of a Farmers Home Administration office in Covington, Tenn., they have held since Thursday.

Tom Burrell, leader of the group, said Tuesday the farmers will not leave the FmHA office until the USDA begins an investigation of the loan process.

"The Farmers Home Administration has become the farmers' enemy," Burrell said in a telephone interview.

The Tennessee 12 have become overnight heroes to thousands of farmers, Burrell said his group has received countless telegrams from farmers in several states, including Texas, Kansas and Missouri. "They urge us to stay here until we get action," Burrell said.

Tom Benson, a spokesman for the American Agriculture Movement, said the Tennessee farmers have struck a chart because "they had the courage to stand up."

"But this (the sit-in) could happen everywhere," Benson continued. "Farmers have been getting the run-around on these loans for years. The USDA says it is over loaded with work. That's bull—"

Benson claims the USDA approves the loans but inexplicably waits for months to issue the money. Thus, he said, a farmer does not have funds to plant.

"I've had to wait for 12 months to get my loan," Burrell said. "It's too late to plant by then. The season has passed."

"We're staying (at the FmHA office) until there is an investigation," he continued. "We want to know if there is a conspiracy to get rid of the small family farm."

But Stanley Weston, FmHA director of information, said the department is overworked.

"We have a lot more people applying for these loans because they are having trouble getting credit elsewhere," Weston said. "Delays are inevitable."

Weston said the USDA has offered to investigate the loan process. But, he said, the Tennessee 12 rejected the deal.

Burrell hotly denied Weston's claim. "I've never talked to anybody about an investigation," he said. "They (the USDA) don't want an investigation. They can't stand one."

Meanwhile, Burrell said his group is "playing chess checkers, watching the news ... and when we get tired we just huddle up and collapse."

The FmHA still has four employees who are coming into the office daily.

"We're still open for business but we're not doing much business," said James Rogers, FmHA assistant director in Tipton County, Tennessee.

William Timberlake, FmHA district director, said negotiations to persuade the farmers to leave the office are at a "standstill."

"We've offered to look into their problems but some of them won't even talk to me," said Timberlake. "We just operate the best way we know how. And it's not easy."

The "take-over" of the FmHA office was not planned, Burrell said.

"We went there last Thursday to give the county administrator our grievances, but he never showed up," Burrell said. "So at 4:30 (p.m.) we started to lock up. We said we weren't going to go. We've been here ever since."

Howard County Fair booth space available

The Howard County Fair Association Inc. is making available booth space for the 1981 County Fair.

According to Ruth Mitchell, secretary-manager of the fair association, letters and contracts a.e. being mailed to all persons who participated in the 1980 fair. Space is being offered on a first come-first serve basis. Others interested in booth space can contact Mrs. Mitchell at 263-8301, or 394-4439.

The 1981 fair will run Sept. 21 through 26. Fair gates will open at 3 p.m. Sept. 21, and close at 10 a.m. Sept. 26. Booth space has increased in price this year, said Mrs. Mitchell. An eight by ten space will cost $95 to all Howard County residents and immediate trade area.

Pentagon plans to challenge Soviet space threat with orbiting weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — To challenge a growing Soviet space threat, the Pentagon is moving to station an effective military force of men and machines in orbit.

Dallas Cowboys' trainer to speak here March 27

Don Cochren, head trainer of the Dallas Cowboys, will be the guest speaker at the seminar on prevention and treatment of athletic injuries sponsored by Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center Friday, March 27.

DON COCHREN

Cochren joined the Cowboys in 1965 after experience in college, military and Canadian Football League training.

A graduate of Purdue, Cochren earned his physical therapy certificate at the University of Pennsylvania.

He was trainer at Case Institute (now Case-Western Reserve) in Cleveland for two years, with the Toronto Argonauts of the CFL for four years, and spent a year at the University of New Hampshire before moving to Dallas.

He also served as a physical therapy officer in the Air Force for two years.

Cochren was one of 28 trainers selected from colleges and professional ranks to serve the United States team at the 1980 Winter Olympics in Lake Placid, N.Y.

Cochren, a native of Princeton, Ind., and wife Jan have four children: Jeff, Scott, Wendy and Chris.

Invitations to hear Don Cochren's presentation are extended to all local and area coaches, administrators and physicians. The seminar will begin at 10:30, break for a buffet lunch at La Posada Mexican Restaurant, and end at 4:30.

Cowboy dies of injuries

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A nationally ranked college rodeo performer from Sam Houston State University has died of injuries he sustained when he was thrown from a bull during a rodeo.

Tommy Castenson, 22, died Tuesday evening, according to a spokeswoman at John Peter Smith Hospital. Castenson was paralyzed from the neck down after fracturing two vertebrae near the base of his skull after the Saturday fall.

Gloria Fuller, manager of a nearby cafe, said cornbread, beans and beer would be served in exchange for contributions beginning at 7 p.m. today.

flying space reconnaissance missions, controlling land and space forces from orbiting command posts and perhaps trading laser beams among the planets.

Defense officials, citing a strong and continuing Soviet military thrust beyond the atmosphere, contend such a force would be a major deterrent to a space battleground.

Only a few of the precursor machines already are out there and the first U.S. military astronauts won't go aloft for a couple years.

But to prepare for the day when this nation expects to have a strong spaceborne defense corps, the Air Force said Tuesday it has selected Peterson Air Force Base as the site for a proposed control center for all American space shuttle flights.

Air Force Secretary Verne Orr said the proposed Consolidated Space Operations Center, slated to begin operations in mid-1985, could share personnel and services with the North American Aerospace Defense Command in the mountains west of Colorado Springs, Colo.

The Air Force also had considered sites near Kirtland Air Force Base in New Mexico and Malmstrom Air Force Base in Montana.

The announcement comes just a few weeks before the National Aeronautics and Space Administration is to launch its first manned space shuttle, the first reusable spaceship. That is scheduled for April 8.

After languishing for months because of technical and financial problems, the shuttle received strong endorsement late in the Carter administration because of its military potential. President Reagan has backed the project for the same reason.

The Air Force has some ambitious plans for the shuttle, taking military space operations beyond the manned satellites which now assist conventional forces in communications, surveillance, missile warning capability and navigation.

The Colorado center would require an immediate $13 million appropriation for planning and design, but the Pentagon expects to get the money from a defense-minded Congress. Construction costs are estimated at $150 million, with an additional $250 million needed to make the facility operational, officials reported.

Weather

High winds cover West Texas with dust

By the Associated Press
Howling winds moved clouds of blowing dust out of West Texas across central and southern sections of the state during the night and a fast-moving line of thunderstorms moved across West and North Texas late Tuesday and early today.

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy north, fair south and cooler through tonight. Partly cloudy and warmer Thursday. Highs low 30s Panhandle to mid 70s Big Bend. Lows upper 20s Panhandle to upper 30s extreme south. Highs Thursday low 40s north to lower 50s south except lower 30s west of the mountains.

The thunderstorms spawned several tornadoes although there were no confirmed reports that any of the twisters struck the ground.

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy and much cooler. Chance of snow northern Panhandle Saturday. Lows mid teens north to mid 20s south except lower 30s west of the mountains. Highs low 40s north to lower 50s south except lower 30s west of the mountains.

A day care center at Heiford was destroyed by high winds and several houses and mobile homes were damaged in Denton County in North Texas.

MIDDAY FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for Thursday predicts rain in California, and snow in Mountain States, in the Great Lakes region and in the Northeast.

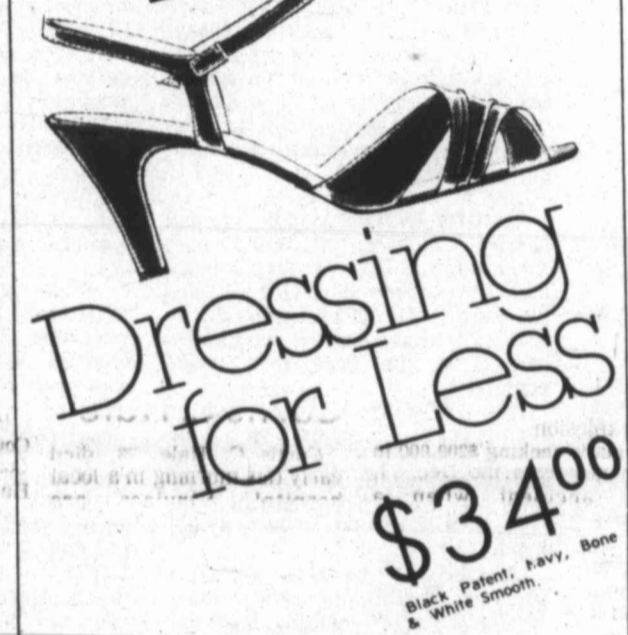

MARCY'S CHAMP, RUNNERUP — Trisha Murley (left), a fifth grade student in Mary Eckert's class, won the March Elementary School spelling bee by turning back the challenge of Michael Zilai (right). Michael matched Trisha word for word until he tripped over the word "shepherd" in the 16th round of the match. Trisha picked up that word, then went on to spell "stalemate" to nail down the crown. Trisha is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Danny Murley of 3620 Hamilton. Michael is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Zilai, 4041 Vicky.

Course in poodle grooming starts March 30 at HC

A course in Poodle Grooming will be offered by the Adult and Continuing Education Department of Howard College, announced Martha Fierro, director. Classes will meet 7:30 to 8:30 p.m. on Monday, March 30 through May 4. Instructor for the course will be Lillian Bohannan. Cost of the course is $9. Cost of all transportation is high

Remember the day of the five-cent subway ride in New York and the streetcar ride in most any metropolitan area that cost no more than a dime. If you wanted a transfer, that came free.

Those days apparently are gone forever. The cost of fuel, the demands of labor for a wage that would insure a decent standard of living have changed all that.

THE RALLYING CRY around the country has been for creation and enlargement of public transportation systems but the truth is, the cost of climbing aboard a vehicle which offers service to all people is getting prohibitive, if one has to do it on a regular basis.

The Dallas Transit System is a prime example. In December, the fares in Dallas went from 30 to 65 cents inside Loop 12, $1 from the inner city to the LBJ Freeway and $1.25 beyond LBJ.

A few years ago, it was possible to ride all over Dallas for ten cents.

The subway fare in New York was a nickel before World War II. Now it is more than a dozen times that, and the end is not in sight.

Because energy costs are going out of sight, the time may come when, if a business man doesn't live in quarters above his business, he may not be in business long.

Mass transit systems, of course, have long been in use in eastern and some midwestern cities. Los Angeles, on the other hand, resisted the idea of developing such a system for many years and is now paying the price for such neglect. The highways and the freeways out there are glutted hopelessly with traffic.

OLD DOBBIN MAY yet stage a comeback, if the cost of gasoline gets as high in the United States as it is in many other parts of the world. When it comes to the point where the masses can't even afford passage on mass transit systems, man is apt to confine himself to living day-to-day in a much smaller area. Travel and transportation as we have known it may only be available to the ultra rich.

Mind boggling

Around the rim

Tina Miller

Somewhere out there lurks a sadistic inventor who is quickly becoming a millionaire. The poor, unsuspecting souls who purchase his invention do so believing that they are acquiring a game. In reality, they are acquiring a 2 1/2 inch cubic nightmare known as the Rubik's Cube.

The Rubik's Cube, a product of Ideal Toy Company, is quite innocent-looking. It comes in a neat little package, perfectly assembled so that each side is composed of cubes of only one color. It has six sides, naturally, and hence six colors. The cube will not disassemble, and the only way to change the look of the cube is to turn it either horizontally or vertically. The "game" begins when the innocent consumer gives the cube a few twists, thus scrambling the colors of the cube.

THE OBJECT IS, of course, to return all six sides of the cube to their original condition. Once the Rubik's Cube has been scrambled, however, it may be quite a while before you see it back in its original condition. According to the Ideal Company, if you can manage to get even one side back to one color you are practically a genius, for there are more than 3 billion possible color combinations. In the ultimate solution, all but one of these combinations are wrong. Good luck, sucker.

Now I ask you: what kind of person sits around and dreams up things like the Rubik's Cube. Better still, what kind of person will pay for something that is certain to drive him (or her) crazy?

Admittedly, there are those who definitely have a talent for this type of puzzle. These patient souls can sit for hours on end, studying, calculating and rotating.

Some even become obsessed and can think of nothing else until the puzzle is finally solved.

OTHERS, HOWEVER, ARE not as proficient with puzzles. Having less than the patience of Job, these poor souls pick up the puzzle and twist it, push it, pull it, beat on it, and in short, do everything but solve it for a grand total of 15 minutes. At the end of that time, the puzzle is tossed into the nearest trash can or dark corner, never to be seen again.

The advantage to a game such as the Rubik's Cube, is that it can be played alone at anytime, anywhere. After all, how many people do you want watching as you slowly lose your mind?

Republican Strauss

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — The skill of James A. Baker III as player in the game of Republican succession was demonstrated by his inclusion in a Human Events photo spread of "conservatives" even though he is perceived as an arch-enemy by key figures on the right.

They view him as an arch-enemy because of his coolness, displayed behind the scenes, to the cutting issue of the right: supply-side tax reduction. But Human Events, the right-wing weekly, was justified in including Baker in its centerfold pantheon considering his very public promotion of conservatives to high office in the Reagan administration.

In less than two months, Baker has established himself as the most accomplished politician in the White House and a major player in future games to determine the successor to Ronald Reagan. "Next to Bob Strauss," a White House colleague told us, "Baker is the best politician in town."

LIKE FELLOW TEXAN Robert S. Strauss, Baker managed to enter a president's inner circle after opposing his progress there. But whereas Strauss's opposition to Jimmy Carter never was formal, Baker managed campaigns against Reagan in 1976 (for Gerald R. Ford) and 1980 (for George Bush). Moreover, Baker is much closer to Reagan than Strauss ever was to Carter.

Nancy Reagan has been a principal patron of Baker, an urbane, Princeton-educated Houston lawyer, in his quick progress up from oblivion. He gained the confidence of both Reagans during the campaign when he was the first adviser to insist that the candidate should and must debate President Carter. His subsequent selection as White House chief of staff stunned the right.

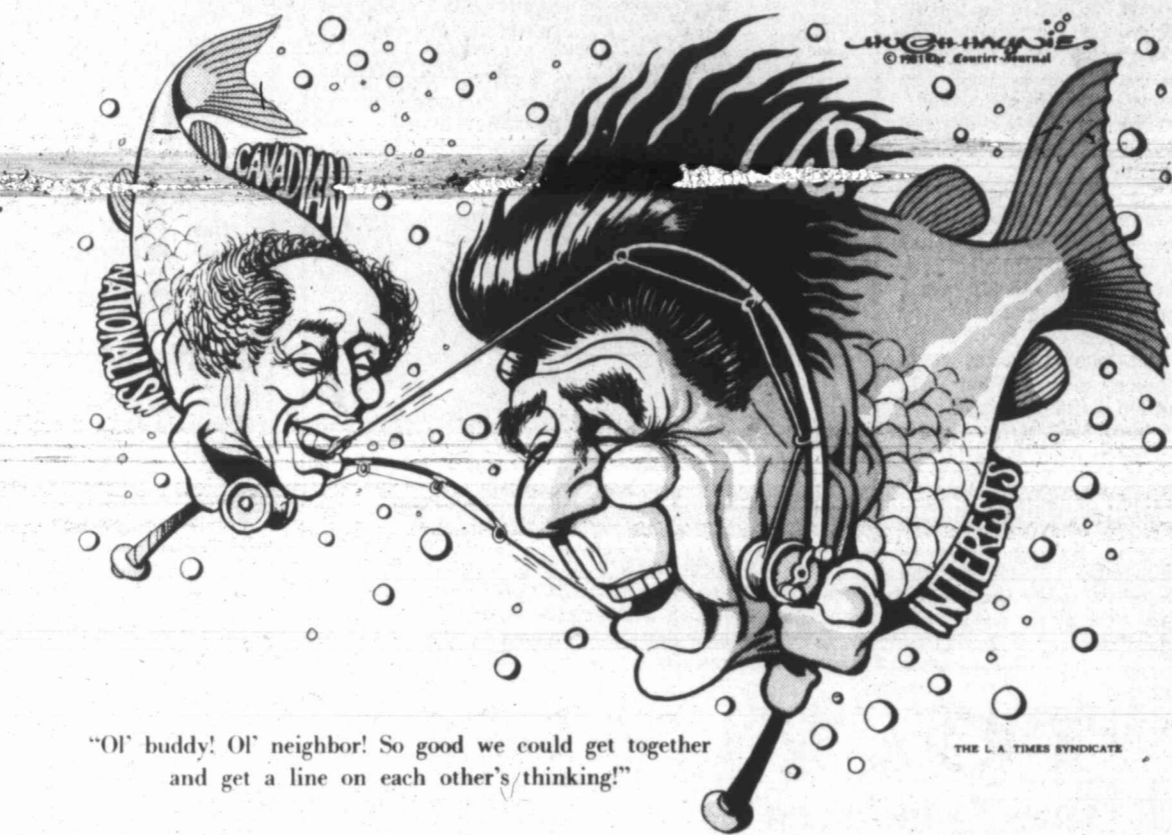

Baker immediately set off on conciliation, volunteering responsibility for insuring appointment of rightwingers in the administration's middle levels. Nor did Baker hide from the right that he was protecting it while their fellow conservatives long associated with Reagan — including presidential counselor Edwin Meese III — were oblivious to its interest.

Baker's first peace offering was the selection of Thomas W. Pauken, a right-leaning Dallas politician, as director of ACTION (which includes the Peace Corps). Baker then successfully supported Donald Devine, doggedly backed by conservatives to head the Office of Personnel Management, in a long struggle against Meese.

That Jim Baker was staking out ground on the right became indisputable when he maneuvered an assistant secretary of education slot for a bona fide new right activist: the Rev. Bob Billings, former executive director of Moral Majority. Routinely passed over as too far out by Reagan's headhunters, Billings had abandoned hopes of federal office when Baker intervened.

ACTUALLY, SUCH ACTIVITY does not constitute abandonment of principals by Baker, who was rigorously conservative in his losing but impressive 1978 candidacy for attorney general of Texas. But neither Baker's campaign oratory in Texas nor his good works for deserving rightists in Washington undercuts the contention that he is riding the point in the Republican war of succession.

Militant advocates of Kemp-Roth tax reduction, both inside the administration and in Capitol Hill, see that war as the backdrop for Baker's coolness toward deep tax reduction. They attribute the White House emphasis on spending cuts at the expense of tax cuts to Baker and his lieutenant, White House staff director David Gergen (another Bush campaign veteran).

"Oh buddy! Oh neighbor! So good we could get together and get a line on each other's thinking!"

THE L.A. TIMES SYNDICATE

Muscle problem requires steroid

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I hope you can help me. I have been sick for some time and have had many doctors trying to help. The doctor I have now diagnosed my trouble as polymyalgia rheumatica, and I believe he is right. I am somewhat better, but he is treating me with prednisone and insists there is no other medication that has been at all successful.

This may be so, but I would like you to tell me if you know of any other, because the side effects of prednisone are extremely bad for me, and if I could take anything else I would. My doctor said I might be on this medicine for even two years. — Mrs. H.H.H.

Your doctor is using the standard treatment for polymyalgia rheumatica, a condition featuring pain and stiffness in the neck and shoulder muscles, sometimes of the arms and thighs.

Other medicines, such as aspirin, indomethacin and phenylbutazone, may help relieve some of the symptoms, but are not too helpful in controlling a condition that accompanies them — a form of arteritis (inflamed arteries). The prednisone does produce remarkable results for that.

There are, indeed, unpleasant potential side effects to prednisone, but those have to be tolerated when the medicine is deemed the most effective treatment. As soon as your illness is under control, the dose of prednisone can be lowered. Perhaps you can talk to your doctor about the possibility of taking alternate-day doses. You will notice then that the side effects will begin to disappear — the facial fullness, the weight gain, the acne, for examples.

The drug may have to be used for an extended period, but your doctor will reduce the dosage gradually over that time. When the drug can be completely discontinued, most of the unpleasant side effects will leave. That takes time, but it does happen. Whatever you do, do not discontinue this medicine on your own. A sudden discontinuation of it might produce problems for you. It must be discontinued gradually.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I read the article about Stein-Leventhal syndrome. I am writing to you because I have many of the same symptoms. I have only three or four periods a year. I get a lot of hairs under my chin and on my upper lip. I also have hair at the side of my head, where sideburns would be. I wish you would suggest someone I might be able to call about investigating the question of Stein-Leventhal syndrome. — Ms. C.A.B.

Any gynecologist will be able to tell you if you have Stein-Leventhal syndrome.

Dear Dr. Donohue: The doctor has ordered me to drink decaffeinated coffee. Would you please tell me why caffeine is so bad? — C.F.K.

Moderate amounts of caffeine are not bad for most people. But they may be for you. Caffeine is a stimulant. It can cause tremulousness and palpitations. Perhaps because of these stimulant effects your doctor feels it is not good for you.

Dear Dr. Donohue: In reference to the person (C.H.) who had a problem with her legs twitching at night before sleep, so did I. I found a hot bath before bed and a pair of tube socks up to the knees relieved it. Maybe she'd like to try this if no other course is found. — D.H.

The world is still awaiting a universal cure for restless legs, and if this works it is simple and harmless enough to warrant a try.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I recently became the mother of a beautiful blue-eyed, black-haired baby girl. I have a two-year-old son who has dark hair and brown eyes, and everyone (including us) are wondering how our little girl got blue eyes, or will they change? There are blue eyes on my side, but none on my husband's. — Mrs. W.L.

At birth, there is little or no pigment in the iris, the colored circle of the eye. Most infants' eyes, therefore, are bluish. As pigment begins to appear, the iris develops its lifelong color. I'll bet your blue-eyed infant will be a brown-eyed toddler, but there's no absolute assurance.

How to get rid of leg cramps and foot pains? The answer may be simple — write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald for a copy of the booklet, "How to Stop Leg Cramps and Foot Pains." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have been married two years. Although I had sex with other men before my marriage, I have NOT had any sex with anyone but my husband since the wedding.

Last week, my husband started a rash and itch in the genital area. He thought it was "jock itch." A day or two later I started to get it, only mine got worse than his. My doctor said it was scabies. We both had it. Now my husband is accusing me of having sex with someone.

He is a traveling salesman, so I suspect it was he who was unfaithful, but he denies it. I want very much to believe him, but I do know that I am innocent. Doctor, is it possible to get scabies from motel sheets or from something like that? I want to prove my innocence and I really want to believe him too. — S.M.

Both of you are laboring under a delusion if you think that sexual contact is the only way to transmit scabies. Yes, it is possible to get scabies from sheets or from non-sexual human-to-human contact.

For a comprehensive discussion of how to cope with the change of life, write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for his invaluable booklet, "Make Menopause Easier." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know you get a lot of mail. What is the No. 1 problem that people write you about? — E.C.

DEAR E.C.: Although almost all of the letters I receive in my Minneapolis office are related to spiritual matters, the most prominent issue people write me about is marriage. Many young people, for instance, want to know how to find happiness in marriage. A large number of letters, however, come from older people who are experiencing serious problems in their marriages. Many of these are heartbreaking stories.

I have often asked myself why there are so many problems today along these lines, and why so many marriages are in trouble. Some have said that our society places special strains on marriages and families. Others blame the general breakdown of moral values today; the feeling is widespread that an individual should be able to do whatever he wants in order to make himself happy — even if it means breaking the marriage vow. Whatever the reasons, I am convinced the ultimate problem is a spiritual one. God has given marriage to us, and he did not mean for it to be a source of unhappiness and conflict. In fact, God intended marriage to be a source of joy. "The Lord God said, 'It is not good for the man to be alone. I will make a helper suitable for him'" (Genesis 2:18). God also gave us certain guidelines for marriage. For example, both partners in a marriage are not to seek their own selfish interests, but instead are to love each other and seek to do what is good for the other partner. Love is the opposite of selfishness.

Christ wants to come into our lives and remake them — including our marriages. Young people should commit this whole area of their lives to Christ, trusting him to guide them and give them strength to resist temptation. Christ also can bring new life into any marriage when the partners commit their lives to him and seek his blessing.

Spy is aide

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — After pressure from the Soviet Union, U.S. Secretary General Kurt Waldheim has extended the employment of an assistant who is described in secret U.S. intelligence reports as the KGB's top espionage agent in the United Nations.

The KGB man is Viktor Lesiovsky, who was scheduled for retirement January 4 from his post as a special assistant to Waldheim. The Soviets wanted to keep their spy in this sensitive spot, and the Americans wanted him extricated.

CAUGHT IN THE middle was the harried Waldheim, who needs both American and Russian acquiescence if he is to continue in his job for a third five-year term. He compromised by giving Lesiovsky another six months, instead of the year the Soviets demanded.

The pressure play behind Waldheim's decision was unprecedented in U.S. history — for the simple reason that it was the first time the KGB had infiltrated the U.N. administration at such a high level.

Members of the U.N. staff are supposed to maintain their primary loyalty to the international body, not to their spy organization. While no one seriously believed the Soviet employees took this requirement seriously, Lesiovsky's case was more flagrant than others.

In 1978, Lesiovsky was identified as a KGB agent by Arkady Shevchenko, the top-ranking Soviet known to have defected to the West. A highly classified CIA report reviewed by my associate Dale Van Atta details Lesiovsky's strange career in the United Nations.

The report describes Lesiovsky as "a sophisticated Soviet official who has had tours in Burma, Thailand and Australia, and came to the United States in 1961." In Asia, Lesiovsky became close to the late U.N. Secretary General U Thant — an "in" that apparently got him his job at the United Nations. Lesiovsky was and is, the CIA report states bluntly, "a senior KGB official."

MORE SOCIABLE THAN most Soviet diplomats, Lesiovsky speaks "fluent English with an American accent," the CIA reported. When Shevchenko defected in April 1978, the Russians began pressuring Waldheim to move Lesiovsky up to the prestigious position of assistant secretary general. This would have given him access to far more information — and influence — than he possessed as a mere "special assistant" to Waldheim.

Lesiovsky apparently complained to a colleague that Waldheim had reneged on a promise to promote him, and added the startling prediction that if the promotion never did materialize, Lesiovsky "hopes to accept an offer from the Smithsonian Institution... for a two-year research contract."

How this alleged offer occurred, the CIA did not explain, but the agency was clearly alarmed: "Should this (appointment) materialize, it would give the KGB access to an important medium for reaching sophisticated American influence builders," the CIA noted.

As it turned out, Lesiovsky didn't get to be Waldheim's assistant secretary, and no one in the Smithsonian's farflung branches has any record of an offer being made to the KGB's man at the United Nations. Lesiovsky may have been deliberately planting false information for Byzantine reasons of his own.

Instead of letting the unmasked KGB agent go January 4, Waldheim gave him a six-month extension on grounds that Lesiovsky's successor won't arrive in New York for several months.

So the Kremlin spy in the United Nations was given more time to create mischief.

UNDER THE DOME: Rep. Jim Jones, D-Okla., is now a certified member of New York City's "subway alumni" — though regular riders on the Big Apple's underground may well challenge his credentials, in their cynical big-city way. On a recent visit to Manhattan, the House Budget Committee chairman was the guest of Rep. Steve Solarz, D-N.Y., and was treated to a trip on the subway that can best be described as unusual. The Transit Authority produced a special non-stop train that was not only spotlessly clean and free of graffiti — but was miraculously empty of other passengers.

Dismayed by the Reagan administration's de-emphasis on human rights, liberal Rep. Don Bonker, D-Wash., struck a small blow for the cause by renaming his Subcommittee on International Organizations. It will now be known as the Subcommittee on Human Rights and International Organizations.

Some prominent Republican senators were distressed over the timing of President Reagan's delivery of his penny-pinching budget to Congress — just before he took off on a vacation at his California rancho. "People will not take kindly to the idea that while they're being asked to tighten their belts, nearly $150,000 is being spent for the president to go to California," a GOP senator lamented. "We don't need this."

Less than two months after he was sworn in, freshman Rep. Charles Schumer, D-N.Y., is already the target of a federal investigation, according to reliable sources. The 30-year-old, Harvard-educated Schumer headed a special investigations committee while in the state assembly. But while supposedly fretting over fraud and corruption, the committee allegedly became little more than a government-funded campaign office for his congressional race.

ARCHITECT'S DRAWING OF PROPOSED RETREAT HOUSE-RENEWAL CENTER
Catholic Diocese gets running start in campaign for necessary funds.

Catholic Diocese of San Angelo starts campaign to fund center

SAN ANGELO — The Catholic Diocese of San Angelo has begun a campaign to fund the construction of a retreat house-renewal center. Though barely underway, the drive has already received more than $386,000 in pledges. Pat Bunnell, lay chairman for the Appeal, and Omer Dreiling, co-chairman of the Major Gift Committee, report that this total represents gifts made by fewer than 40 families.

Pleased with the initial results of this year's drive—the first of what will be an annual Diocesan appeal—Most Rev. Joseph A. Fiorenza, bishop of San Angelo says he hopes that all 17,000 Catholic families in the diocese will be given an opportunity to help in the construction of the retreat house. Plans call for every Catholic household to receive a visit from parish representatives over the next few weeks, soliciting support for the Appeal.

Addressing groups of volunteers in Midland, Abilene and San Angelo recently, Bishop Fiorenza stated, "I have confidence in you, in my fellow priests, in the deacons and religious sisters and, above all, I have confidence in God that this project will be a success."

The retreat house-renewal center will have a chapel as its focus and will feature meeting rooms, administrative offices, a cafeteria, courtyards and two dormitory wings.

Upwards of 100 people could make use of the retreat house at the same time, participating in such programs as Family

Retreats, Youth Retreats, Engaged and Marriage Encounters, Search For Christian Maturity and other educational and spiritual-renewal programs for men and women, for young people and the elderly.

The San Angelo firm of Chakos, Zentner and Marcum Architects, designers of the preliminary plans for the center, estimate the cost of construction alone to be around $1 million, while furnishings and landscaping would require an additional $250,000 or more. With over 30 percent of this grand total already pledged in major gifts, organizers of the Appeal are confident that these substantial gifts will eventually amount to more than $500,000.

At the parish level, volunteers are busy explaining the needs of the diocese including budgetary requirements for operating expenses—to their fellow parishioners and asking for their support. While the average pledge received to date has been in excess of $9,900 per donor, everyone, no matter what their level of income, will be given the opportunity to pledge a sacrificial gift to the campaign and pay off that gift over a five-month period.

A minimum goal of $450,000 has been established for the combined efforts of the parishes and mission churches. The remainder of the required funds will be sought from foundations.

As diocesan priests prepared to travel to San Antonio for their annual retreat, the Very Rev. Larry J. Droll, Chancellor and campaign coordinator, noted that "Throughout our 19-year history as a diocese, people wishing to go off on a retreat for personal reflection and renewal have either had to leave the area or settle for less-spiritual arrangements in motels or parish halls. The need for a central facility has long existed in our diocese.

The encouraging number of lay volunteers who attended regional training sessions shows that the people of the diocese recognize the need expressed by Father Droll. At one such meeting held on March 8 at St. Vincent Pallotti Church in Abilene, Mrs. Margarita Calderon, a campaign secretary for that parish, expressed her support of the project by saying, "Anyone who has ever been involved in the Crusillo Movement (a diocesan educational program) knows just how much we need this retreat house."

Primary bill would make Texas 'outlaw state'

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Passage of a presidential primary bill backed by Gov. Bill Clements would make Texas an "outlaw state" at the 1984 national Democratic convention, State Democratic Chairman Bob Slagle said Tuesday.

The proposed legislation, by Sen. Jack Ogg, D-Houston, calls for a presidential primary in March 1984 with the results determining the allocation of delegates to various presidential candidates in the national Democratic and Republican conventions.

Slagle told a news conference that the bill, as written, would allow a person to vote for a presidential candidate in one party in March then vote in the other party's state primary in June.

"This kind of crossover presidential primary clearly conflicts with National Democratic Party rules which require that delegates be chosen "through processes which restrict participation to Democrats only."

"This bill, if it became law, would make the Texas Democratic Party and its delegation an 'outlaw' party and delegation," Slagle said. "The Texas Democratic Party does not want to be an outlaw party."

"There is absolutely no reason to pass this bill," said Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin.

Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, said such a primary would hurt Texas Republicans also. "The Republican has just reached viability in Texas and this would do more to destroy a two-party state than anything," he said.

ONE OF THE FINEST TREASURIES OF RECIPES EVER ASSEMBLED

Capturing the spirit of America through its recipes, the editors of Random House and McCall's have created one of the finest treasuries ever assembled—the McCall's Great American Recipe Card Collection.

They have brought together famous dishes from the great riverboats and restaurants...spicy Creole dishes from New Orleans...chowders and barbecues...stews and casseroles...cakes and pies from the 50 states.

They have combed through century-old files to recover long-lost, mouth-watering recipes from early America, and have captured all of their variety, elegance, and excitement on individual recipe cards. Each card features a full-color photograph of the completed dish on one side and easy-to-follow, fool-proof directions on the other. The cards are 4x5", plastic-coated, and stain-resistant. And what is even more exciting, they are available now.

Start acquiring the entire collection on your next visit to the supermarket. You'll find it a most delightful and rewarding experience.

AN OPEN LETTER TO FARMERS AND LANDOWNERS IN THE WEST TEXAS AREA:

Farming is rapidly changing from the days when our main concerns were hail, insects, not enough rain, too much rain, too hot, too cold, blowing sand, or early frost just to name a few. On top of these old bugaboos we now have to be concerned with higher interest rates, higher fuel, seed, fertilizer, chemical and labor costs not to mention the effects inflation has on our profit picture.

We at Howard County and Glasscock County Federal Crop Insurance understand these things because we are farmers ourselves. We know that crop year 1980 is one that would be best forgotten but we also know that it will not be easily forgotten because it will take the profits from many of the coming years to make up for the losses or loss of profits from 1980. From what many of our customers from this past year have told us, Federal Crop Insurance has been a life-saver. Some have even said it has been the difference of whether they stayed in farming or were forced out.

We don't need to tell you how devastating another crop failure can be. We knew the risks when you started putting up your land for the 1981 crop year. We do need to tell you about all-risk crop insurance. Our past experience as agents for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, (coupled with our knowledge of farming, makes us feel that we are well qualified to tailor a coverage that best fits your farming operation and give you the best service available to your policy. Under the auspices of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation,) we are now authorized to sell and service Federal Crop Insurance in Howard, Glasscock, Martin, Borden, Midland, Reagan-Upton, Mitchell, Dawson, Andrews, Gaines, and Scurry Counties.

The decision is yours to make. If you didn't have Federal Crop Insurance last year, don't make the same mistake twice. Call Lonnie Nichols at 915 263-1263 or Bennie Blissard at 915 354-2411 and let us show you how Federal Crop Insurance can pay off in good years and in bad years.

History of Texas traced in program

GFWC Modern Woman's Forum met March 13 in the home of Mrs. Hugh Duncan. Mrs. Cass Hill, president, conducted the opening ceremonies and business for the 11 members present.

Mrs. F.C. Tibbs presented "The Centennial Belles" packet, and the members agreed to become Belles and participate in the celebration of the Railroad Centennial in May.

The program for the Western District Convention of Texas Federation to be held in Dorothy Garrett Coliseum on March 20-21 was outlined and several members pre-registered.

Mrs. Fred Whitaker presented the program, "Texas". She told of the historical eras of Texas under Spain, France and Mexico, and the emergence as a republic in 1836 when independence was won from Mexico. Texas has 624 miles of coastline, 90 mountain peaks over a mile high and 26 million acres of forest. Texas has one-third of the national oil production, with its natural gas serving three-fourths of the United States.

Mrs. Whitaker then brought the history to Howard County. The county was organized June 15, 1882, and named in honor of Volney Erskine Howard, a delegate to the first State Constitutional Convention, a Texas Legislator and United States Congressman. Big Spring was declared the county seat. She also related the significance of the historical spring to the early settlers of Texas, and of the discovery of the first wildcat oil well Nov. 9, 1925.

The next meeting will be March 27, with Mrs. W.E. Singleton as hostess.

Club elects new officers at meeting

A "Mexican Hat Supper" was the theme of the social held Monday night by Alpha Tau Rho chapter of Beta Sigma Phi in the home of Arlene White.

JoAnne Ezell, president, presided over the business meeting following. Arlene White, vice-president, conducted pledge training. Glynn Drewery was granted a leave of absence from the chapter.

Tracy Fadal, ways and means chairman, initiated plans for a bake sale which is tentatively scheduled April 25.

New officers were elected as follows: Sheri Lepard, president; Tracy Fadal, vice-president; Laura New, treasurer; Jan Nichols, recording secretary and Shirley Terry, corresponding secretary.

The chapter elected the Girl of the Year and the Pledge of the Year to be revealed at the Mother's Day luncheon.

Arlene White presented the program on Heather Floyd, a victim of cystic fibrosis.

An executive board meeting will precede the next meeting April 6 at 7:15 in the home of Tommie Perez.

Bride-elect is honored with rice bag party

Dian Stallings, bride-elect of Lane Griffin, was honored with a rice bag party and luncheon at 1 p.m. March 15 in the home of Mrs. Roger Huitt.

The bride's chosen colors of peach and cream adorned the luncheon table, with arrangement of silk flowers as centerpiece. The hostess, Laura Maud Huitt, presented Miss Stallings with the centerpiece as a gift.

The couple will be married April 4 in the First Baptist Church.

Dear Abby

Kids Also Can Leave The Gift of Life

DEAR ABBY: I am an 11-year-old boy who has been reading your column in the Camden Courier-Post ever since I can remember. I sure have learned a lot. One thing it got me to thinking about is... I should die or get killed accidentally before I'm a grown man. I would like to donate my eyes and kidneys to some young kid who needs them. Children who are blind or have kidney trouble must need transplants, and I understand they can't use organs from an adult.

Abby, I am healthy and don't plan on dying before I grow up, but just in case I do, I would really like to donate whatever parts of me are usable to some kid who needs them. I think it is a crime to bury good organs in the ground when some child needs them. Maybe this will give other kids an idea.

Do they send donor cards to kids? Answer soon. Love, TIMMY IN N.J.

DEAR TIMMY: Yes. But minors require the consent of their parents or guardians before they can become donors. Discuss this with your parents, Timmy, and if they agree, write to The Living Bank, P.O. Box 6725, Houston, Texas 77005, and ask for a donor card. (Confidential to Timmy's parents: You certainly raised a beautiful son.)

DEAR ABBY: Would it be tasteful to run a combination bridal and baby shower?

ROSITA

DEAR ROSITA: Profitable, si. Tasteful, no! I don't recommend it.

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old son needed to see a doctor in an emergency situation, so I called our physician. He was not available, so he recommended another doctor. I called him, and was told that he, too, was busy, but if I brought my son in they would squeeze him in between patients at 12:45 p.m.

Before leaving for the appointment, I couldn't find my checkbook, so rather than be late, I went without it. I explained this to the receptionist, but gave her the name of my husband's company and told her that my regular doctor could vouch for my credit. She gave me some forms to fill out and I promptly completed them.

The doctor saw my son, and while waiting for the results of some tests, the doctor stormed into the waiting room, and in a fury he shouted, "You have some nerve! You can just go right home and bring back your checkbook!"

I was shocked and left the office in tears. Abby, we live in Florida, which has a lot of transients, so I can understand caution against deadbeats, but this doctor could have called the doctor who recommended him and checked on my credit.

My question: Do you think the American Medical Association would consider this doctor's behavior unprofessional?

NO DEADBEAT IN JENSEN BEACH, FLA.

DEAR NO DEADBEAT: My guess is yes. Write to your state and/or county medical association and file a complaint.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Clayton suggests 3-cent state property tax for education

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Speaker Bill Clayton says he might have the answer to a pair of chronic legislative worries — state college construction funds and neglect of black universities.

Clayton said he was mustering support for a three cents per $100 value state property tax that would be dedicated to construction and remodeling at schools outside the Texas A&M and University of Texas systems.

His proposal contains special treatment for the two predominantly black schools, Prairie View A&M and Texas Southern University.

"We just lack a little of having everybody agreed.... The main thing is getting something the blacks could go for that will show real support for Prairie View and TSU," he said.

Clayton told reporters Tuesday he doubts the Legislature will double state university tuition but thinks there is "a good chance" it will raise it by 50 percent.

That would raise tuition for a Texas resident carrying a typical course load by $60 a year.

Clayton said a tuition increase should be earmarked for faculty salaries and scholarships. This, he said, should make it easier to pass.

A special committee, headed by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, last year recommended doubling tuition, with the money dedicated to construction and remodeling at college campuses.

But Clayton's proposed constitutional amendment would remove the state property tax at a rate of up to three cents per $100 valuation and dedicate it to a Higher Education Permanent Fund for schools outside the two super systems.

All schools in the UT and A&M systems would benefit from the Permanent University Fund (PUF), which now goes mainly to UT-Austin and Texas A&M's main campus.

Except for Prairie View and Texas Southern, no school could obtain construction money from general taxes.

Folks buying drugs, guns with food stamps

WASHINGTON — Beneath the full glare of TV lights, Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., opened debate on the future of food stamps with a characteristic rap at abuse and fraud.

Helms, chairman of a Senate committee that is holding hearings on the food stamp budget, described food stamp abuses, recounting a couple of "horror stories" of people buying drugs and guns with food stamps.

Sen. Patrick Leahy, D-Vt., responded with a pointed reminder that "hunger still exists in the United States. Malnutrition still exists in the United States."

Leahy, ranking Democrat for the Agriculture Committee's nutrition subcommittee, added, "We may not always admit it but it's a fact and it is a shame on our country."

Helms countered, "Let's make sure we don't forget the man in North Carolina who bought three motor vehicles, 32 weapons and a quantity of marijuana and paid for the whole shebang with food stamps."

Helms said the program's cost figures "demand that painstakingly scrutiny be given."

Since 1976, he noted, seven million more people have been added to food stamp rolls, and the program's cost has more than doubled in the last three years.

The American people "are almost up in arms" about that, he suggested.

"Neither President Reagan nor this chairman nor the committee seek to eliminate nutrition assistance to the sick, the crippled, the elderly, the blind nor anybody else who cannot provide for themselves," Helms said, trying to offset criticism that he plans to gut the program.

The target of cuts would be "those able-bodied citizens who refuse to work and those households whose incomes are above the poverty line," he said.

For years Helms has tried to convince Congress to pare the number of food stamp recipients, now 22 million people. As new chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, he is now better positioned to have his way.

President Reagan has also endorsed a $1.8 billion reduction in the program for 1982, a change that the USDA says would drop 1.4 million recipients and cut benefits for 35 percent of households getting food stamps.

MIDLAND-ODESSA SYMPHONY AND CHORALE, INC.
Dr. Thomas Hohstadt, conductor and musical director

Symphony 'Series III' to begin here March 26

The Big Spring Symphony Association and Greater Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce — Arts Council, with a big boost from the Atlantic Richfield Foundation and the Texas Commission on the Arts, are offering a series of three concerts by the Midland-Odesa Symphony and Chorale to our citizens.

First concert of the season, scheduled for March 26 at 7:30 p.m. in the Big Spring High School will feature Dr. Thomas Hohstadt, with world famous concert cellist, Ady Odoposoff as soloist.

Big Spring and area communities can now enjoy the same high quality concerts featuring internationally famous artists as Odessa and Midland.

Grants from the Atlantic Richfield Foundation and the Texas Commission on the Arts for the March 26 concert total $5,700, making possible the low season ticket price of only $15 for adults, and $7.50 for students and senior citizens for all three concerts. Individual concert tickets can be purchased at the door throughout the season before each concert, but will bear a premium price over season ticket purchases.

The second concert will be in the fall of 1981 and features the Orchestra, a guest artist, and a guest conductor in the Symphony Music of Spain. Closing the three concert season on Dec. 17, the Midland-Odesa Symphony and Chorale under the direction of Dr. Thomas Hohstadt will perform Christmas music in a program entitled "The Joys of Christmas."

The Midland-Odesa Symphony is no stranger to Big Spring. The Orchestra performed here for the first time last May in a program that included the concert version of the Gershwin opera "Porgy and Bess."

Earlier this year the orchestra performed twice before over 2,000 Big Spring students with the Kelly Draper Puppets in a production of "Peter and the Wolf."

Draper, a well known puppeteer and Big Spring native, made seven concert appearances with the Midland-Odesa Symphony before audiences in Midland, Odessa, and Big Spring totaling 10,000 school children.

The Greater Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce — Arts Council is jointly sponsoring the three concert series with the newly formed Big Spring Symphony Association, Inc.

Tillery has long been an advocate of business for the arts, having been instrumental in the formation of the Amarillo Arts Council, as well as the Big Spring Arts Council.

The Symphony Concerts are unfailingly exciting and are a welcome addition to the Big Spring Area Community. Season tickets can be purchased at the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce offices or may be reserved by calling 263-7641.

A 33 percent savings can be realized by purchasing the adult season tickets for only $15 and student and senior citizen season tickets for only $7.50.

Finders-keepers maxim faces test

By DAN PALMER
Herald-News Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Finders-keepers; losers weepers. That's the basic law of ownership in a neighborhood full of greedy children.

Does it hold, however, for artifacts recovered from the remains of a Spanish treasure ship wrecked in 1667?

An Indiana salvage firm says it does; the state of Texas says it doesn't.

An official answer, however, will have to await a nonjury trial this spring before U.S. District Judge Lucius D. Bunton in Austin.

Bunton isn't expected to announce the trial date for several weeks.

In the meantime, Brownsville attorney Jack Sanchez is preparing a case based on the finders-keepers maxim.

Sanchez represents Platoro, Ltd., the Indiana salvage firm that found many of the 400-year-old artifacts during secret dives off the Texas Coast in 1967.

State officials later stopped the dives, confiscated the treasure and eventually claimed title to all the shipwreck's remains. But Platoro continues to push its claim for the artifacts.

The state argues that previous federal court decisions give Texas title to the artifacts. Those decisions were based on English common law that gives the state title to property abandoned within its territory.

Sanchez contends that the so-called English rule is superseded in some maritime cases by finders-keepers, or the so-called American rule of common law.

Platoro officials say they are for salvaging the artifacts.

In briefs filed in federal court in recent weeks, Sanchez notes that Platoro spent more than $150,000 to find the shipwreck under 40 feet of water and 10 feet of sand, and to recover various artifacts, including anchors, cannonballs and various weapons.

But state officials say Platoro operated without permission and deserves no compensation.

His brief notes that in 1978 the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals "clearly enunciated the American rule, which vests title in the finder, as the standard applicable in federal court."

But even if that ruling in the so-called Treasure Salvors case doesn't apply, the state argues that previous federal court decisions give Texas title to the artifacts.

Get your tickets now for Eighth Annual Chuck Wagon Party

Invitations for Heritage Museum's Eighth Annual Chuck Wagon Party have been mailed early due to the upcoming increase in postage.

Gerri Atwell, curator, asks that all who are able, to please come by the museum to purchase their tickets.

The Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang does not bring extra food. So, get your tickets before May 4, which is the deadline for us to order the number of plates they will bring.

No tickets will be sold at the door. Any late (door) comers will be turned away, so get your tickets now as we hope this will be our very best party.

There will be no stairs to climb. Everyone will enter through the east side ramp.

Dress will be western or pioneer, but don't forget your centennial buttons regardless of your type dress.

Campaign designed to sway votes of lawmakers

Shaw wants to take serious look at Perot's anti-drugs package

By JAY ROSSER
 Austin — What has looked like a war on drugs is being fought in the halls of the State Capitol as rapidly becoming something akin to a skirmish.

It is a low-key battle, at worst a fight between civil libertarians and staunch conservatives — waged not with bullets, but with words and with gum, but with serious tactics.

On one side is the conservative army captained by H. Ross Perot of Dallas, a clean-cut man with a crew-cut who spends days running a Dallas-based computer conglomerate, Electronic Data Systems, Inc.

Gov. Bill Clements, acting as a field marshal, calls his Perot-led army the Texas War on Drugs committee. The army is on the offensive, trying to score a victory against the drug world.

To ensure grassroots support for the legislative package, the Texans war on Drugs committee formed the non-profit foundation, Drug Abuse Research and Education Foundation to hold virtual revivals across the state warning of the hazards of drug abuse. With little publicity, the campaign is designed to sway the votes of Texas legislators.

Shortly after its inception, the foundation received a $284,000 grant from the governor's criminal justice division to help spread the word.

One legislator who wants to take a serious look at the Perot package is Rep. Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring. "I'm concerned about how drugs affect our younger children," Shaw said. "But it also is important that we look at the total spectrum of the package."

If it takes a police state to ensure the problem is brought under control, I'm not for it. Some of the war on drugs package is going to be unconstitutional. I don't want to uphold the constitution of the United States, not just Texas.

An active sponsor of the Perot War on Drugs legislation is Wichita Falls Sen. Ray Farabee who is carrying a bill in the Senate that would increase drug trafficking penalties and another requiring copies of certain drug prescriptions to be forwarded to the Department of Public Safety. That measure is known as the triplicate prescription bill.

"I'm concerned about the drug problem and the people of my area are concerned about it," Farabee said. "The chances of some of the bills are touch and go, and frankly they aren't moving out of the committee as fast as I'd like."

Heading the opposition is John Duncan, president of the Texas Civil Liberties Union. Duncan accuses Perot and his team of distorting medical research in a misguided effort that is basically dangerous to civil liberties and political freedom.

"All this stuff seems to be an overkill," Duncan said. "His whole presentation is designed to get parents to believe that if they don't accept his solutions their kids will be junkies in a year."

Working parents with stories of how marijuana permanently damages the brain cells of its users, Perot has recruited his campaign in rural areas and has elicited the support of the 700,000 member Texas Parent-Teacher Association.

"I believe all five of the bills are going to pass," said Rick Salnew, an Electronic Data System's attorney and chief lobbyist for the war on drugs committee.

"Some are going to be amended in committee, and perhaps even on the floor (of the House or Senate), but that isn't going to weaken them. But strengthen and improve them," Salem said.

But Duncan, who, during a heated interview with an Amarillo reporter captured Salnew's wrath for using strong expletives in describing the package as garbage and Perot and Salnew as dumb, thinks otherwise.

Perot's package could, in some instances, lead to an increased crime rate, he said. The mandatory five-year prison sentence for selling drugs to minors is an example, he said.

Persons 21 or over convicted under this law could emerge from prison unemployable, thus increasing the chances that they will commit additional crimes, he said.

Two of the bills would impact directly on the medical profession, but lobbyists for the 20,000-member Texas Medical Association aren't putting up a fight.

One bill, calling for the suspension of drug-trafficking doctors is enthusiastically endorsed by the medical lobby.

"We support it because it is drafted in such a fashion that it gives physicians, just like everyone else, their day in court," said lobbyist Greg D. Hooser.

Hooser said the medical lobby is less supportive of Perot's triplicate prescription bill, but isn't going to oppose the measure.

Already the lobby has sought and received amendments to the bill during committee hearings, which Hooser said makes the measure more palatable.

Not only has the Perot faction gained grassroots support for the plan, but it also is lobbying hard to gain legislative favor.

Already Perot and six other Electronic Data Systems employees have registered as lobbyists with the Secretary of State's office on behalf of the Texans' War on Drugs committee.

NATIONAL ENQUIRER — Comedian Johnny Carson denounced the National Enquirer on Tuesday night's broadcast of the "Tonight" show.

Howard Conformer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Just hours after entertainer Carol Burnett took the witness stand to charge that a National Enquirer item about her was "a pack of lies," comedian Johnny Carson denounced an Enquirer article about him as "scurrilous" and said the publication "stinks."

"I'm going to call the National Enquirer and the people who wrote this 'liars,'" Carson said during Tuesday night's broadcast of the "Tonight Show." He was referring to a cover story in the Enquirer that said his third marriage was breaking up.

"This is absolutely, completely, 100 percent falsehoods," Carson said, adding he would not sue the Enquirer because of the troublesome process of litigation.

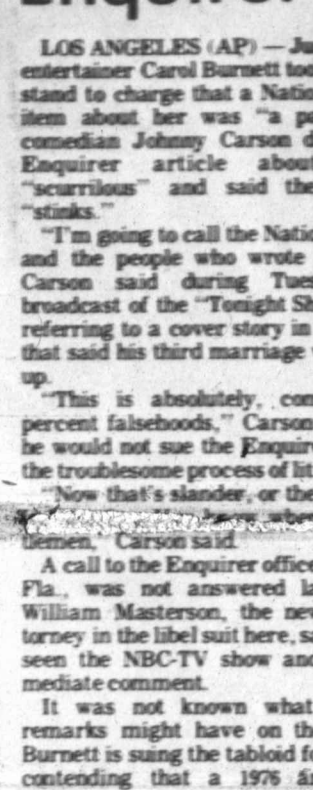

"Now that's slander, or they can sue me. I'm going to sue them," Carson said.

A call to the Enquirer offices in Lantana, Fla., was not answered late Tuesday. William Masterson, the newspaper's attorney in the libel suit here, said he had not seen the NBC-TV show and had no immediate comment.

It was not known what impact the remarks might have on the trial. Miss Burnett is suing the tabloid for $10 million, contending that a 1978 article falsely reported she had an argument with then-Secretary of State Henry Kissinger in a Washington restaurant.

Miss Burnett said Tuesday the article was "disgusting and it is a pack of lies." "It hurts because words — once they're printed — they've got a life of their own," she said. "When I'm dead and gone, it will be in my file for my children and grandchildren to look up."

DUNLAPS

Howard Conformer confirmed the failure, Ray Albaugh No. 1 Hamlin, was abandoned June 16, 1951.

The Knott, West field gained its third and a 1/2-mile west extension with completion of Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1 P.E. Little, 15 miles northwest of Big Spring, to pump 11 barrels of 41 gravity oil, plus 14 barrels of water, with gas-oil ration of 31-545-1.

Perot's package could, in some instances, lead to an increased crime rate, he said. The mandatory five-year prison sentence for selling drugs to minors is an example, he said.

Persons 21 or over convicted under this law could emerge from prison unemployable, thus increasing the chances that they will commit additional crimes, he said.

Well, just what's in five-point measures?

The Texans' War on Drug committee chaired by H. Ross Perot spent almost two years drafting legislation to minimize the state's drug problem.

The five-point legislative package primarily is aimed at drug traffickers and not, its proponents point out, the individual drug user.

Through the assistance of a conservative coalition of House and Senate sponsors, the committee has proposed the following bills:

Outlawing the sale and possession of drug paraphernalia. The bill is targeted at closing so-called "head shops" proffering items designed to maximize marijuana and other drug "highs."

Such firms sell items such as "bongs" designed similar to water pipes used to alleviate the harshness of marijuana smoke; "roach clips," used to clasp small marijuana cigarettes so fingers won't be burned; cigarette rolling papers for making marijuana "joints" and "coke spoons," used to hold small quantities of cocaine to be inhaled through the nostrils.

Opponents of the measure have questioned its constitutionality, citing other states that have had similar laws struck down by the U.S. Supreme Court.

Requiring professional licensing boards to suspend the licenses of physicians, pharmacists, dentists and veterinarians convicted of drug felonies.

The license would be terminated at the conclusion of the appeals process.

Establishing a triplicate prescription requirement that would force physicians writing prescriptions to forward a copy to the Department of Public Safety.

Stored in DPS computer files would be the name and address of the patient, the doctor, the pharmacy and the quantity and type of drug.

The bill would pertain to Schedule II drugs — Dilaudid, Preludin, methamphetamines and methaqualone. Lobby groups, such as the Texas Medical Association, have so far successfully fought the inclusion of other prescription drugs in the final bill.

Making it a first-degree felony for adults to sell or distribute drugs to anyone 17 years old or younger. The sentence would be mandatory set at a minimum of five years.

Steers use Snyder pitchers, nasty wind in blowing to 30-11 baseball victory

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

To say the least, it was a unique type of baseball game, and the score matched it. Under some of the most windy, dusty conditions possible, the Big Spring Steers won their third consecutive game here Tuesday afternoon in Steer Park, scoring a whopping 30 runs in a 30-11 decision over the Snyder Tigers.

It was a game that, for all practical purposes, could have been called after the second inning, with the Steers leading by a football score of 16-0. But both teams continued to brave the choking conditions, even if most of the fans wouldn't. With the wind and dust blowing as high as 45 miles per hour into the faces of the defensive teams, the hitters in the non-district contest stroked out 33 hits and five home runs. Steer senior catcher Lupe Ontiveros took the most advantage of the circumstances, stroking a game high four hits, with two of them being towering wind-aided home runs.

Mark Warren, Dickie Wrightsil and Tommy Olague added three hits each for the Big Spring team, with one of Olague's being a round tripper.

The Steers opened the game by using an Ontiveros two-run homer to achieve a 2-0 lead, but it was the second inning that proved to be more than set the tone for the wild contest.

The first seven Big Spring hitters in the second inning reached base safely and eventually scored, with the Bovines eventually plating a whopping 14 runs in the frame to extend their margin to 16-0. In the wild 14 run inning, the Steers managed seven hits and benefitted from six bases on balls and two Snyder errors. Wrightsil, Beef Armendariz and Olague had the biggest hits of the inning, as each counted doubles.

Snyder managed their first run in the top of the third off Moe Rubio when leadoff hitter Brent Roemisch drilled a line drive home run that was no doubt more of a result of the wind than the power of the Tiger batter.

Snyder then continued to load the bases with only one out, but Rubio got Curtis Gafford to hit into an inning ending double play.

The Steers, obviously not satisfied with their lead, added four more runs in the bottom of the third, with the big blow being a two-run homer by Ontiveros.

Snyder began picking away at Rubio in the fourth inning, scoring three runs, but by this time nobody really cared.

The Steers countered by adding a pair of runs in the fourth and fifth innings, only to see the Tigers to score seven runs in their half of the sixth inning.

In any other game, a seven run sixth inning by the opposition would have surely spelled defeat, but in this case it didn't even make it close. The big blow of Snyder's seven-run outburst came on a lengthy blast over centerfield by Tony DeGrate, a 6'4", 255-pound bulk who has signed a football letter-of-intent with the University of Texas.

But the Steers matched that with six runs of their own with only one out in the bottom of the sixth before a near harmful error by Snyder third baseman John Wilson caused the coaches to call the game at that point.

With the high winds and blinding dust blowing in the face of Wilson, Big Spring's Russell Stukel hit a hard grounder at the Tiger third sacker. After a couple of bounces, it skipped off the side of his head.

At this point, the coaches decided enough was enough. Actually, it was too much, as players had already escaped on a couple of occasions earlier in the game without being hurt due to the harsh conditions.

The win gives the Bovines a record of 5-4, and provides them some momentum as the District 5-AAAAA race nears. The Steers go to Fort Stockton on Saturday for a final non-district doubleheader, and then return home next Tuesday for their 5-AAAAA opener against Abilene High.

800 athletes expected Saturday for ABC Relays

A total of 47 teams and 800 athletes will converge on Big Spring's Blankenship Field on Saturday for the annual ABC Relays, with a record number 21 girls varsity teams on hand to highlight the action.

"There are simply no other track meets for a lot of these girls teams to enter this weekend," Big Spring Athletic Director Ron Logback explained. "For that reason, we just opened it up to most anyone, and I hope we didn't overextend ourselves."

The one-day track meet will begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday morning, and will end at approximately 5:30 p.m. the same day.

With the 21 girls varsity teams, their will also be a most competitive nine-team varsity boys field, as well as both JV boys and girls divisions.

Boys varsity teams being represented in the ABC Relays include Big Spring, San Angelo, Lubbock, Lubbock Estacado, Lubbock Monterey, Levelland, Amarillo Caprock and Amarillo Tascosa.

Logback went through the girls list, and it is easier to say that nearly every Class AAAAA and AAAA school within a 120-mile radius of Big Spring will be on hand.

Logback indicated that plaques will be given to the top three finishers in the boys and girls varsity divisions. "They are a little nicer than the medals that are usually given out," he stated.

Blankenship has recently been refurbished with an all-weather track, and Logback is anxious to see how it holds up with the abundance of athletes competing at one time in the one-day time span.

"Time is the matter on our hands," Logback said of the 800-athletes field. "The field events will be in the morning, and some of the running prelims. This will be our first real test of the new surface, but I'm confident it will hold up, and I also think we've got the meet itself set up so that everything will run smoothly and on time."

With the large number of teams on hand for the one-day meet, Logback stated that some of the normal preliminary races will not be run. Only the short distance races and hurdle events will have prelims.

The long distance races (800 and 1600-meter runs) and the relay races will all be run in final heats in the afternoon, with the winners decided strictly by time.

Marvin Miller blames owners for potential strike

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Marvin Miller, the executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, rejects the notion that baseball owners are out to pin him with a defeat.

"I don't think it's that personal," Miller said Tuesday, following a closed-door meeting with the Detroit Tigers at their spring headquarters. "I think they want to give the players a loss. That, I think, is more likely and most proven by what has happened." What has happened is that the owners have spent a reported $35 million for strike insurance through Lloyds of London in anticipation of a player walkout May 29.

The stumbling block is compensation for clubs losing players through the free-agent draft.

When the compensation matter was tabled in the agreement last May, a committee of player and management representatives was set up to seek a solution, but the study group was unable to solve the matter.

"Maybe the word 'compensation' is getting in the way," Miller said. "We're not opposed to a club losing a really quality player and getting something in return — without damaging the free agent. (However, any proposal we make that doesn't damage the free agent isn't good enough for them to accept, and that's the crux of the problem."

Miller added. Miller said, as he has many times, he hoped there wouldn't be a strike but maintained that the issue is up to the owner's.

"I think the one thing that's happened in the coverage of this dispute is that it has not been made clear to the fans that the players have no demands."

Miller said. "The players have no proposals for improvement. The dispute is caused by an owner demand to take back rights players already have.

Celtics regain lead as 76ers take tumble

The horn blared, the scoreboard blinked and the Philadelphia 76ers sputtered.

Philadelphia lost its hold on first place in the Atlantic Division by dropping a 126-120 overtime decision to the New Jersey Nets in a game that was interrupted in the first half by a malfunctioning scoreboard.

The Boston Celtics climbed a half-game ahead of the 76ers in the division race by trouncing the Washington Bullets 112-91. Boston now owns the best record in the National Basketball Association at 58-17, with Philadelphia at 58-18.

Boston has seven games remaining, Philadelphia six, and they play each other twice. Whichever club finishes ahead will get a bye through the first round of the playoffs as well as the home-court advantage in every series.

In other NBA games, the Los Angeles Lakers beat the Dallas Mavericks 114-109, the New York Knicks trounced the Indiana Pacers 114-89, the San Antonio Spurs stopped the Utah Jazz 94-86, the Cleveland Cavaliers defeated the Atlanta Hawks 123-107, the Chicago Bulls downed the Milwaukee Bucks 116-106, the Denver Nuggets beat the Seattle SuperSonics 124-112 and the Portland Trail Blazers defeated the San Diego Clippers 127-112.

Mike Newlin led the Nets with 23 points. Julius Erving scored 23 for Philadelphia, which was without center Darryl Dawkins, who missed the game because of an inflamed ankle.

NBA Roundup

Celtics 112, Bullets 91

Boston ran away from Washington in the final period, outscoring the Bullets 34-15 after leading by just two points after three quarters. It was the 23rd game in which the Celtics, the league's best defensive team, have held their opponents below 100 points.

Knicks 114, Pacers 89

The Knicks shot 57 percent from the field in routing the Pacers behind 20 points apiece by guards Michael Ray Richardson and Ray Williams. It was New York's first victory in four games against the Pacers, their likely first-round playoff rival.

Despite the loss, Indiana clinched a playoff berth thanks to Washington's defeat.

Spurs 94, Jazz 86

Guards George Gervin and

James Silas scored 23 and 21 points, respectively, for San Antonio, which went ahead to stay midway through the third period and then drew away.

Cavaliers 122, Hawks 107

Forward Mike Mitchell scored 18 of his 31 points in the third quarter as Cleveland pulled away to a 20-point over Atlanta and coasted home. Center Bill Laimbeer added 25 points and 19 minutes.

Bulls 116, Bucks 106

Artis Gilmore scored eight straight points in a three-minute spurt late in the fourth quarter and finished with a game-high 30 points as the Bulls moved four games ahead of Washington in the battle for the final Eastern Conference playoff berth. Each team has six games to play, and a combination of two Chicago victories and Washington defeats will put the Bulls in the playoffs.

USGA registration Saturday

The United Girls Softball Association will hold their sign-up on March 21 from nine in the morning to five in the afternoon. Registration will be at the Howard College SUB. A fee of ten dollars is required for each player, as well as a birth certificate and parent or guardian.

Farmer named at UCLA

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Larry Farmer brings a solid basketball background, heavily steeped in John Wooden philosophy, and a diverting sense of humor to his new job as UCLA's basketball coach.

The first attribute may help him bring a sense of continuity to the school's basketball program, and the second might ease him over rough spots that contributed to the departure of his three immediate predecessors.

Farmer, a 30-year-old former Bruin star under Wooden and a UCLA player for six years, was named Tuesday to replace Larry Brown as the team's coach.

"It's been a tough six years for me," Farmer said at a news conference. "I had to get rid of three coaches to get the job. Now guys are lining up for my old spot for the same reason."

Asked how long he thought it may take for him to receive his first criticism, he grinned and said: "What time is it?"

Farmer said he's quite aware of the pressure of coaching the Bruins, who won 10 NCAA titles under Wooden before the legendary coach retired in 1975.

"I like the challenge that people expect UCLA to win and I accept it full well knowing what I have to do," Farmer said. "So much of the tradition here at the school, I have been a part of."

Brown, who left to become coach of the National Basketball Association's New Jersey Nets, held the Bruin post for two years, as did Gene Bartow and Gary Cunningham before him.

Those three all had winning records at UCLA — never failing to reach 20 victories in a season — but the marks paled in comparison to the Wooden string of championships.

"This is day one of what I hope is not a two-year stint," said Farmer. "I have been with the Bruin basketball program for 11 years and I intend to stay long."

He will try to coach "like Larry Farmer," he said.

"My background is closely linked to John Wooden, so my foundation is rooted in Coach Wooden's style," Farmer explained. "The icing on the cake is what I've learned from Gene Bartow, Gary Cunningham and Larry Brown, who I respect under them."

LARRY FARMER

NIT doesn't feel right to Schayes

The way the Syracuse basketball team was playing toward the end of the year, things could only get better. And, actually, they have.

Since finishing their worst regular season in a decade with a 15-11 record, the Orangemen have brightened considerably in playoff competition. Jim Boehm's team swept three games to win the Big East tournament and has since won twice in the National Invitation Tournament.

Thursday night, the Orangemen hope to keep rolling against Michigan in their $27 million Carrier Dome in one of two NIT quarterfinal games. In the other, Minnesota hosts West Virginia.

Quarterfinal play continues Friday night, with South Alabama playing at Tulsa and Duke visiting Purdue.

"It's an excellent matchup," observed Boehm of his team's game with Michigan. "They like to run. We like to run. Any team that has beaten teams like Arkansas, Kansas and Indiana — teams that are still going in that tournament — has got to be good."

Boehm's remark about the "other" tournament was, of course, a reference to the NCAA playoffs. He had previously expressed resentment that Syracuse wasn't invited after winning the Big East.

The Wolverines have had a season much like the Orangemen. They fell out of contention in the Big Ten with a late-season slump, losing seven of their last eight games. But they have since bounced back with two NIT victories, including an 80-68 rout of Toledo last Sunday night.

"It seems strange playing here this late," says Syracuse center Danny Schayes of the 26,000-seat Dome. "The season was over and we're still playing home games. It doesn't seem like a tournament. We're not going anywhere."

In NCAA Mid-East Regionals

St. Joseph's must come to earth

By the Associated Press

Now that St. Joseph's has knocked top-ranked DePaul out of the NCAA basketball tournament, the Hawks' biggest problem might be trying to avoid living in the past.

The Philadelphia team didn't lead the whole second half against DePaul in the NCAA Mid-East Regional until the final seconds, when John Smith's unmoored layup gave the Hawks a 49-48 victory.

"This is the glamour of what this tournament is all about — for a team that doesn't have a national reputation to go out and do this," said Lynam. "So we beat the No. 1 team. But we've got to play again Friday."

That game will be in the Midwest Regional semifinals against Boston College, which beat 11th-ranked Wake Forest in another of the big upsets in the second round last weekend. No. 9 Indiana faces unranked Alabama-Birmingham in the other Midwest game at Bloomington, Ind.

"This is the glamour of what this tournament is all about — for a team that doesn't have a national reputation to go out and do this," said Lynam. "So we beat the No. 1 team. But we've got to play again Friday."

Joseph's team but could have been talking about any of the other five unranked teams, including Boston College, still alive in the tournament.

The state of Kansas boasts three of the unranked teams. Kansas upset No. 3 Arizona State and Wichita State defeated 13th-ranked Iowa to advance to the semifinals of the Midwest Regional Friday at New Orleans, where they will play each other for the first time since 1955. No. 20 Arkansas and fourth-ranked Louisiana State meet in the other Midwest semifinal.

Kansas State also took the upset route, advancing to the semifinals of the West Regional against No. 19 Illinois Thursday by beating second-ranked Oregon State. No. 14 Utah faces No. 6 North Carolina in the other West game at Salt Lake City.

In the East Regional Thursday at Atlanta, fifth-ranked Virginia tackles No. 15 Tennessee and No. 16 Brigham Young faces No. 7 Notre Dame.

"They humiliated us," Brown said. "They smashed us on the boards 46-30."

Nets officially name Larry Brown as coach

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — The New Jersey Nets ended months of speculation today when they formally announced that Larry Brown, the former UCLA coach, would be their head coach effective at the end of this National Basketball Association season.

The Nets also said Brown chose Bill Blair, who recently resigned as Colorado's coach, as his No. 1 assistant.

Bob MacKinnon, the Nets' current coach, will become general manager of the team, said Nets President Joe Taub.

"Bob is a basketball person and he can offer a great deal of help to our new coaching staff," Taub said.

NFL turned down by court; Committee studies changes

MAUI, Hawaii (AP) — The National Football League's concern over the suit against it by the Oakland Raiders and the Los Angeles Coliseum Commission is apparent at the league's annual meeting.

Attorney Patrick Lynch, who was scheduled to talk to the owners today, instead left abruptly and flew to San Francisco to file an appeal of a ruling that turned down an NFL bid for a change of venue for the trial.

U.S. District Judge Harry Pregerson issued the ruling Tuesday. The league said it would appeal the decision within 24 hours and off flew Lynch, who's expected back to talk to the owners Thursday.

While the league's Competition Committee was making suggestions such as playing 11 conference championship games at warm, neutral sites, interest remained with the antitrust suit.

The Los Angeles Coliseum Commission and the Raiders, headed by Managing General Partner Al Davis, have sued the NFL because the league refuses to permit the team to move to the Los Angeles site vacated last year by the Los Angeles Rams.

"I feel pretty good about this," Commissioner Pete Rozelle said of the court battle, but he made the statement before Judge Pregerson's latest ruling was announced.

"The judge's denial of our motion to change venue to a neutral site reflects what appears to be a determination to keep the case in Los Angeles regardless of obvious exposure to serious risks of unfairness," said a handout attributed only to an NFL spokesman.

"We are obviously concerned about going to trial in a very jurisdiction whose citizens have the biggest stake in the outcome."

The court of appeal is expected to make a decision within 10 days. If the appeal is not accepted, the antitrust trial that had been scheduled to begin next Monday would start about 10 days after the decision is made.

Tex Schramm, president and general manager of the Dallas Cowboys, heads the Competition Committee that includes Don Shula of Miami, Paul Brown of Cincinnati and Eddie LeBaron of Atlanta.

They believe the NFL and AFC championship games should not be decided by weather conditions, such as the freezing cold at Cleveland when the Browns lost to the Oakland Raiders 14-12 in a playoff game last January. In the AFL title game, the Raiders played at San Diego, one of the warm weather sites.

The committee proposal calls for a "neutral" site in a warm climate, meaning that a non-NFL city would be involved.

The committee's 30 proposals also include such as one permitting kicking tee such as used in college, reduction of the penalty for pass interference, giving both clubs at least one possession in case of overtime, and reduction of penalty when an ineligible receiver inadvertently touches the ball.

Lakers lackadaisical in win over Mavs

DALLAS (AP) — Pro basketball's defending world champions, the Los Angeles Lakers, are too lackadaisical and too short of momentum to expect to defend their title successfully, said Laker guard Norm Nixon.

"We don't have as much momentum going for us as we did this time last year," said Nixon. "We really need to pick things up our last five or six games before we head into the playoffs."

"We need to play a lot better defense. We seem to have a tendency to get a big lead and sit on it. We have become too lackadaisical."

Despite Nixon's assessment, the Lakers fended off the feisty Dallas Mavericks for a 114-109 National Basketball Association victory Tuesday night, giving coach Paul Westhead his 100th career NBA win.

The triumph also kept the Lakers two games ahead of San Antonio in the quest for home-court playoff advantage. Los Angeles has already clinched a playoff spot.

But Westhead admitted the Lakers were pressed to beat the Mavericks before 17,828 fans, the team's first home sellout and, Dallas team officials said, the largest audience ever to watch an NBA expansion team.

Tyler JC coach in at Tulane

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Ned Fowler, who describes himself as a stern but fair taskmaster, has been named to succeed Roy Danforth as basketball coach at Tulane University.

Fowler, 37, compiled a 31-4 record at Tyler, Texas, Junior College this season and was 83-22 for his three years at the school.

Danforth, who led Syracuse to six consecutive post-season tournaments before moving to Tulane, accumulated a 45-90 record in five years at the school. He resigned after this season to become an associate athletic director at Tulane.

TREAT YOURSELF TO A GOOD DRINK OF WATER
... Culligan man says it's better than bottled water
Culligan has alternative to Big Spring water

If you think you have to put up with the unusual taste of Big Spring water you don't. Neither do you have to haul bottled water. "That's too expensive," Richard Wright, owner of the Culligan Water Conditioning Company of Big Spring says. There's no better time than the Spring to start getting ready for a hot and thirsty summer. Think about purchasing an Aqua-clear drinking water appliance. The H-5 Aqua-clear appliance will make Big Spring water taste as good as expensive bottled water and for only 70 cents for five gallons. "The Aqua-clear can be piped to your automatic ice maker too," Wright says. This is the only appliance Culligan uses in Big Spring for drinking water. Culligan has an activated carbon or charcoal filter, but it will not remove the salt taste from Big Spring water. The Aqua-clear is reverse osmosis for your home. Your bottled water is probably made by the same process. Check your bottle. If you're paying more than Culligan's 14 cents per gallon, you're paying too much. The Aqua-clear unit fits under your sink and the special faucet fits into your present one. The Culligan Co. also offers free water analysis for your private well or in your home. The Culligan man can recommend the precise unit to remove the dissolved rock that causes burned out water heater, scale build-up in dishwasher and clothes washers, and tarnished sink fixtures. You can do something about your water problems. Conditioned water will give you more suds with less soap in your washers. No more scale and film build-up on appliances and clothes. Soft water can help prevent red, itchy, or dry skin. Shaving is easier and blades last much longer. Just dial 263-8781 and say "Hey Culligan Man!" He will be glad to install an appliance for 30 days for free.

League of Women Voters rates Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — The League of Women Voters has ventured into the political rating game with a list that may raise more qualms than assurances for those who scored well. Half the senators given perfect marks by the League lost their jobs last fall.

However, only three of the 46 House members given perfect scores by the League lost re-election bids. Two others sought higher office and lost.

The first of what the League says will be its annual Political Accountability Ratings was released Tuesday.

It gave zeroes to one senator and nine representatives who disagreed with the organization's views on every issue checked during the 96th Congress. Although four of these have since retired, none was defeated at the polls.

Although the League is a non-partisan organization, all but one of the senators and one of the House members voting with the League on all the test issues were Democrats.

The League's ratings were based on whether a House or Senate member voted for or against the League position, or otherwise took a position on each issue.

A second pair of ratings assigned negative scores for issues on which members did not vote or otherwise take a public stand. In some cases this produced a lower score. For example, Rep. John B. Anderson, R-Ill., who did not run for re-election so he could run for president, was the only House Republican to get a perfect score. But Anderson got only a 30 percent score when the seven issues he passed up were counted against him.

The League based its ratings on support of fair housing legislation, the food stamps program, civil rights measures, extension of Revenue Sharing, international development banks, authorization for foreign economic development assistance, the superfund for cleanup of hazardous waste, the Energy Mobilization Board, state rights in nuclear waste disposal, agricultural land protection, federal housing subsidies, cuts in water projects and support of strip mining regulation.

Among the senators given scores of 100 on the League scale, John Durkin, D-N.H., George McGovern, D-S.D., and Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., were targeted by right wing political action groups and were defeated by their Republican opponents in the Nov. 4 elections.

Legislature approves creation bill

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Legislature has approved and sent to the governor a bill that would require Arkansas schools to give balanced treatment to the scientific views of creation and evolution.

The bill specifically prohibits the teaching of religion or reference to religious writings in classrooms, but requires that lectures, textbooks and other teaching materials be balanced in reference to the two theories.

Neither the creationist nor evolutionist view would be required, but balanced treatment would be required if either is taught.

The evolution view includes the idea that the earth is billions of years old. Evolutionists believe scientific data show man evolved over long ages from creatures of lower order, which in turn developed from the first organism that somehow came into existence in a lifeless world.

The creation view holds that data show the earth to be much younger, perhaps 10,000 to 500 million years old, and that man somehow came into existence suddenly and fully formed.

The bill was passed in the House on a vote of 68-19 after being fought by Rep. Mike Wilson of Jacksonville and others.

The bill was first brought up by Rep. Cliff Hoofman of North Little Rock, who handled it in the House, but Wilson made a motion to amend the bill before Hoofman could take the floor to explain it.

The amendment would have struck the enacting clause from the bill, rendering it invalid.

Hoofman temporarily withdrew the bill from consideration after complaining that he should have been allowed to explain the bill.

Murder over Miami: 'Whodunit' killings increase threefold

MIAMI (AP) — Police cars with flashing lights block the road. Officers stretch rope from a small rental-car agency to the warehouse across the street to keep away the curious. At 3 a.m., there isn't much of a crowd. The only signs of what's happened are a dark stain on the pavement, the blood of Carlos Vasquez, and a crumpled jacket someone has left behind after it had cushioned the victim's head. Vasquez, 23, the overnight attendant at Fliteways Rent-A-Car, was shot once in the chest. He died at Jackson Memorial Hospital. "Another typical Miami murder — nobody saw anything," Detective John Armentrout mutters as he wipes sleep from his eyes and follows the trail of blood from the office door to the street, where Vasquez collapsed. "We'll probably never find out who did it." "Whodunit" killings, random deaths like Vasquez' in which there are few clues and no apparent suspects, have jumped from about 25 percent of all local murders five years ago to as many as 75 percent today, according to Capt. Marshall Frank, chief of the Dade County police homicide force. Such murders require more detective work. With the Miami area's murder rate up 90 percent in the last two years, that isn't always possible — and trying to keep pace puts pressure on a detective squad already strained. "Way back when most homicides were the domestic types, you could handle them in three to four hours," says Detective John LeClaire. "Anybody can do that — you have a willing subject and clear evidence." Now, he adds, the typical Miami murder is a shootout that takes days of tracking down witnesses, friends of the victims and background. A record 580 people were slain in Dade County last year, up from 363 in 1979, and the number of homicides so far this year is running well ahead of the 1980 pace. Vasquez is just one more murder victim, but his death gets the careful attention of a squad of detectives. "I was early start and others who have been working since early afternoon. A crime lab technician busily measures, sketches and photographs the scene and dusts for fingerprints as homicide Lt. Raul Diaz examines the empty cash drawer in the Fliteways office. Detectives interview the agency's owner and all witnesses, view the body at the medical examiner's office and search the rental-car agency. "There's not much physical evidence," Diaz says, shaking his head. "Even if we get some good prints, if there're no prints on file to compare them with, we've got no subject." A tourist buying gasoline next to Fliteways tells detectives he saw three Hispanic men race away from the murder scene in a blue car. They were going too fast to catch the license number and he couldn't see their faces. The job pressures — internal and external — eventually take their toll. Last year, an exhausted detective ran off the road, wrecking his car and injuring himself, on the way home after a long day. Another detective, already suffering from hypertension, handled two murders in one. A few years ago, a detective night, went home, collapsed with another area police and required major surgery. department killed himself.

DENNIS THE MENACE 30 YEARS AGO TODAY

"BE FAIR ABOUT IT, BERT... I CUT HIS HAIR LAST TIME!"

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

"I'm practicing to be a daddy."

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, MAR. 19, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good time to observe the progress you have made in the past and to draw up new plans for greater progress in the future. Strive for success and happiness.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Go to the right sources for information you need. Take time to visit with friends and relieve tensions you are under.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You may find it difficult to handle monetary affairs early in the day but later they work out fine for you. Be wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Radical changes may be made in your most cherished aims at this time. Be sure to improve your perspective.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make a deep study of what is really important in your life and then go after your aims in a positive manner.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Friends cannot be of much help to you during the day, but can be relied upon in the evening. Much pleasure is yours tonight.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Follow every rule and regulation that applies to you today and gain the respect of others. Be poised at all times.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Situations may not work out as fast as you would like at this time, but don't force matters, or you could get into trouble.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Compose yourself so that sudden situations today will not get the best of you. The evening can be a most happy one.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Try to please others as much as possible today and avoid unpleasantness. Take time to meditate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be careful in the handling of important work at this time. Taking risks could bring trouble at this time.

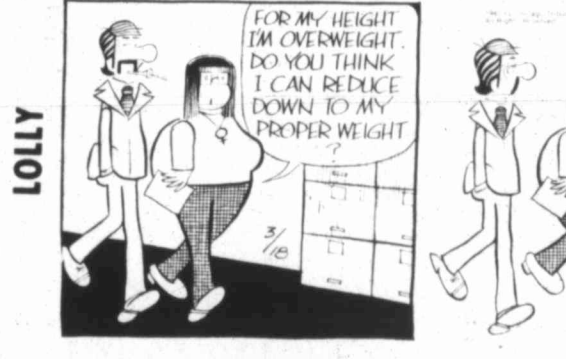

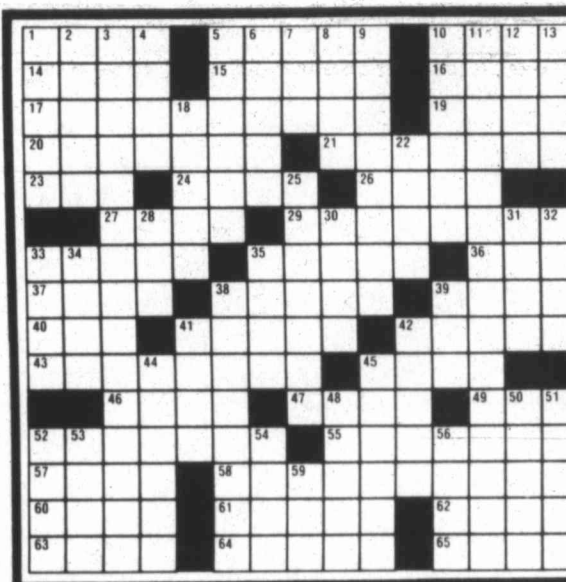

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Don't permit anyone to force you into some situation that you know is not right for you. Be poised at all times today.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Express your fine ability when called upon to do so today and please higher-ups. Come to a fine accord with associates.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can easily get along well with others, so be sure to give the best education you can afford and future success is assured. Give ethical training early in life. Sports are a must in this chart.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

CBS dominates prime time TV

NEW YORK (AP) — "Dallas" was again the most-watched show in prime time and Dan Rather's version of the evening news was the most popular with the viewers as CBS held on to its dominance in the three-way ratings race, according to figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co.

In fact, CBS had seven of the 10 highest-rated programs in the week ending March 15, including the top five. The victory for CBS, the network's fourth straight in the weekly competition, was accomplished with an average rating of 19.7, to 16.6 for ABC and 15.7 for NBC.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 19.7 percent of the nation's TV-equipped homes were tuned to CBS.

For "Dallas," the first-place finish was the 14th for the program in the 19 weeks since mid-November. The rating for "Dallas" was 32.3, and Nielsen says that means of all the homes in the country with TV, just under a third saw at least part of the episode.

CBS' "Evening News" held onto No. 1 position among newscasts as Rather succeeded Walter Cronkite as anchorman, the first permanent change in the position in nearly two decades.

Rather compiled a rating for his first week of 15.1, compared with the 16.6 recorded by Cronkite during his last week in the job. Cronkite's average for that week included a huge audience for his final broadcast.

Made-for-TV movies scored points for both CBS and NBC. "The Edge" and "Three's Company" ABC; "House Calls," CBS; "Happy Days," ABC, and "Real People," NBC, tie; "Trapper John, M.D.," CBS; "Fantasy Island," ABC; "Lou Grant," CBS, and "Too Close for Comfort," ABC, three-way tie, and "Archie Bunker's Place" and "Knot's Landing," both CBS, or 16.8 million, NBC.

The next 10 shows: "Three's Company," ABC; "House Calls," CBS; "Happy Days," ABC, and "Real People," NBC, tie; "Trapper John, M.D.," CBS; "Fantasy Island," ABC; "Lou Grant," CBS, and "Too Close for Comfort," ABC, three-way tie, and "Archie Bunker's Place" and "Knot's Landing," both CBS, or 16.8 million, NBC.

Wreath layed in San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A wreath-laying at the Alamo concluded the largest St. Patrick's Day celebration in the Southwest.

The wreath-laying ceremony by the Harp and Shamrock Society at noon Tuesday honored the heroes of the 1836 Battle of the Alamo, especially those of Irish ancestry, who died in the fight for Texas independence.

Theme of this year's St. Patrick's Day celebration was "A Salute to the Senior Citizens of Texas." The festivities also included a street parade and the dyeing of the San Antonio River green for a barge parade.

Avowed racist charged in two more slayings

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Avowed racist Joseph Paul Franklin, already convicted of federal civil rights charges in the killing of two black men in Utah, was charged today with murdering an interracial couple here in 1979.

First-degree murder charges were filed in Oklahoma County District Court alleging Franklin shot and killed a black man and a white woman as they left a northwest Oklahoma City supermarket on Oct. 21, 1979.

Killed in the shooting were Jessie Taylor, 42, and his 31-year-old common-law wife, Marion Bresette.

Franklin was convicted March 4 in federal court in Salt Lake City of violating the civil rights of two black joggers who were killed in Salt Lake City last Aug. 20. He could be sentenced to life imprisonment for that conviction and still faces state murder charges in the Utah case that could lead to the death penalty.

"Franklin told friends and some of his cellmates that he, in fact, committed the homicides here in Oklahoma City and he told them specific details about the homicides," said Bill Lewis, Oklahoma City police homicide detective.

Lewis said police have established that Franklin was in Oklahoma City at the time of the killings.

He said those facts, along with the similarities to the killings in Salt Lake City, led to the filing of charges.

In both cases, Lewis said, the shootings had racial overtones and a high-powered rifle was used.

Lewis said police have not found the murder weapon in the Oklahoma City killings.

The break in the case came when the U.S. Justice Department supplied information to Oklahoma City police after Franklin's federal trial, authorities said.

In the Salt Lake City case, the two black men were jogging with two white women in a city park when they were shot with a high-powered rifle. Sentencing on the federal conviction is March 23.

Franklin is seeking a new trial on basis that his attorney claims that a witness in the first trial committed perjury.

Business profits slowed in last quarter of '80

WASHINGTON (AP) — Profits of American businesses slowed in the fourth quarter of last year, and the nation's gross national product rose less than previously estimated, the government reported today.

The report came one day after government agencies released more recent statistics on housing, industrial production and personal income that indicated a long-predicted national economic slowdown may be close at hand.

Before-tax corporate profits rose 4.9 percent in the fourth quarter of 1980 after climbing 9 percent in the third, the Commerce Department reported today. After-tax profits rose 3.1 percent compared with 8.6 percent for the previous three months.

The "real" gross national product — the value of goods and services after adjustment for inflation — rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 3.8 percent in the fourth quarter to $2.7 trillion, the report said.

The Commerce Department originally reported a 5 percent fourth quarter annual rate of increase, but revised it to 4 percent last month and then revised it again today to take into account updated and more accurate information.

Inflation, as measured by the broad-based GNP fixed-weighted price index, rose at an annual rate of 10 percent in the fourth quarter compared to 9.2 percent in the third, the department reported. It had reported a 10.7 percent fourth quarter figure earlier.

The new report said corporate before-tax profits rose to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $249.2 billion in the fourth quarter, while after-tax profits rose to $164.1 billion.

Corporate profits from current production — adjusting for depreciation and inventory replacement costs — rose 2.9 percent to an annual rate of $183 billion after rising 5.1 percent in the third quarter.

Economists inside and outside government stopped short of saying the February

Business profits slowed in last quarter of '80

WASHINGTON (AP) — Profits of American businesses slowed in the fourth quarter of last year, and the nation's gross national product rose less than previously estimated, the government reported today.

The report came one day after government agencies released more recent statistics on housing, industrial production and personal income that indicated a long-predicted national economic slowdown may be close at hand.

Before-tax corporate profits rose 4.9 percent in the fourth quarter of 1980 after climbing 9 percent in the third, the Commerce Department reported today. After-tax profits rose 3.1 percent compared with 8.6 percent for the previous three months.

The "real" gross national product — the value of goods and services after adjustment for inflation — rose at a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 3.8 percent in the fourth quarter to $2.7 trillion, the report said.

The Commerce Department originally reported a 5 percent fourth quarter annual rate of increase, but revised it to 4 percent last month and then revised it again today to take into account updated and more accurate information.

Inflation, as measured by the broad-based GNP fixed-weighted price index, rose at an annual rate of 10 percent in the fourth quarter compared to 9.2 percent in the third, the department reported. It had reported a 10.7 percent fourth quarter figure earlier.

The new report said corporate before-tax profits rose to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of $249.2 billion in the fourth quarter, while after-tax profits rose to $164.1 billion.

Corporate profits from current production — adjusting for depreciation and inventory replacement costs — rose 2.9 percent to an annual rate of $183 billion after rising 5.1 percent in the third quarter.
