Senate committee makes room for export subsidies

Budget writers slash social programs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recommending even deeper overall cuts than President Reagan has asked, Senate budget writers are slicing more money from some social programs to make room for restoring export subsidies that benefit big business.

By the time it quit work for the night Wednesday, the Senate Budget Committee had approved more than $35 billion in cuts, a net of about $2.4 billion more than Reagan recommended for the areas covered.

One of the panel's votes was to restore $110 million — a third of Reagan's proposed cut — for the Export-Import Bank. The bank subsidizes exports through loans and loan guarantees to purchasers of American goods, and most of the benefits go to a few large American corporations.

At the recommendation of Sen. Nancy Kassebaum, R-Kan., the panel supported deeper cuts in housing for the poor and community services aid to more than make up the money put back in the Ex-Im Bank budget.

Mrs. Kassebaum denied the move was designed to help companies like Boeing and Cessna, which produce airplanes in her state and sell them abroad with the Ex-Im Bank's help. She said the change is intended "to help workers keep their jobs, not big business."

The action on the Ex-Im Bank was one of few times the committee voted more money than Reagan had recommended as it completed its second day of work on the 1982 federal budget.

Sen. Peter Domenici, R-N.M., the committee chairman, predicted the panel would complete its spending blueprint today, and aides said it would wind up approving more than the $48.6 billion in cuts the president has recommended.

The committee recommended reductions in social programs ranging from unemployment benefits and Social Security to food stamps and welfare.

While Reagan was generally getting his way in the Senate, he was winning another victory in another committee of Congress.

The House Ways and Means Committee gave its initial endorsement to $8.8 billion in spending cuts in social programs it oversees and a $50.4 billion tax cut, nearly identical to the president's request.

House approves bill raising drinking age from 18 to 19

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas House today formally approved a bill to raise the state's legal drinking age from 18 to 19 and to require tavern owners and beverage merchants to require proof of age before selling alcoholic beverages.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. Henry Allee, won preliminary House approval on Wednesday. It will be taken up by the Senate following today's final House vote.

The Senate must reconsider the bill because an earlier Senate-passed version did not include the proof-of-age requirement, added in amendment form by House members.

At least one member of the House, Rep. Ed Emmett, questioned how Allee could sponsor a bill taking away 18-year-olds' drinking rights while pushing other legislation that would let them carry guns in their cars.

It is against the law to knowingly sell alcoholic beverages to minors, and the amendment would establish a presumption an illegal sale was made knowingly if the seller did not ask for a young person's driver's license or other proof of age.

Sen. Bill Sarpalis, D-Hereford, said he would ask the Senate to accept the amendment, which would send the bill to Gov. Bill Clements for signature into law.

"I have no problem with the amendment and, in fact, feel that it will strengthen the bill and help with its enforcement," Sarpalis said.

Allee said school officials, teachers and PTAs want the drinking age raised because too many teenagers drink on their lunch hours and return to high school drunk.

Many 18-year-olds are still in school but few 19-year-olds are, he said.

"Are you telling this body that 18-year-olds are not capable of handling alcohol but are capable of handling handguns in a car?" Emmett, R-Kingwood, asked Allee.

"I have found that as a group, they can't handle it (alcohol), and for 14- and 15-year-olds the peer pressure is too great," Allee said.

Allee is the sponsor of a bill that would let Texans — including 18-year-olds, who legally are adults — carry handguns in their automobiles for protection.

Allee said 18-year-olds too often buy liquor for younger friends, who feel "peer pressure" to behave like the older students.

Rep. Gary Thompson, D-Abilene, said only eight states allow 18-year-olds to drink, and "almost all that went to 18 have gone back."

The House rejected an attempt by Rep. Gene Green, D-Houston, to raise the drinking age back to 21, where it was before 18-year-olds were given all adult rights and privileges in 1973.

"I hope with this amendment we will agree we did make a mistake in 1973," Green said.

His amendment was tabled, 72-63.

State law provides a fine of $25 to $200 on first offense of possession or consumption of alcohol by a minor — defined in the bill as someone under 19 — and $100 to $500 on subsequent offenses.

Annual County Spelling Bee gets under way at 4 p.m. today

Eleven of the community's finest spellers start competition in the annual County Bee at 4 p.m., today in the Howard College Auditorium.

Each of the competitors survived spellings in their respective schools to qualify for the County Bee. The event here is sponsored by the Big Spring Herald. The winner gets an expenses-paid trip to the Regional Bee scheduled for April 4 in Moody Coliseum in Lubbock and the winner there qualifies for a trip to the National Bee in Washington, D.C., later this spring.

Eligible to take part in today's event are Trisha Murley, representing Marcy Elementary School; Michelle George, Immaculate Heart of Mary School; Sam Gladden, Goliad Middle School; Jody Strong, College Heights Elementary; Derek Scott Payne, Elbow Elementary; Kimberly Watkins, Bauer Elementary; Tiffany Turnbow, Kentwood Elementary; Taff Wennik, Moss Elementary; Melinda Hernandez, Washington Elementary; Gina Ladwig, St. Mary's Episcopal School; and Quang Mai, Rannels Junior High.

Janice Rosson will again be the pronouncer for this year's competition while Mary Dudley and Steve Lacey of the Howard College staff will be the judges.

The students will engage in a sort of "shakedown cruise" prior to the real competition. They will be given a chance to spell one word, just to get the feel of the loud-speaking equipment and to establish their poise in front of an audience. The real competition will follow, which means they must spell every word perfectly after that to remain in the running.

The public is being encouraged to attend the bee. There will, of course, be no charge.

No plan for direct military action

Haig says U.S. considering plans to deal with Cuban arms pipeline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said today the administration is considering a full range of steps to take if necessary to stop Cuban supply of arms to Latin American rebels, but said it has no specific plan for military action against Cuba.

"With respect to a specific plan, why no. The president has not had an opportunity to approve or to consider in detail any courses of action for the period ahead," Haig said.

Haig gave that reply when pressed at a Senate Foreign Relations Committee hearing on an administration official's testimony Wednesday that specific administration plans do not exclude military action against Cuba.

"It is the responsibility of the executive branch to consider a whole range of options, then prepare a full range of options to deal with this serious problem," Haig said. "And I can assure you that process is underway."

"But in no sense does it represent an approved game plan, if you will," he said.

Undersecretary of State Walter J. Stoessel had told the committee under questioning that the administration does have specific contingency plans and "I would say they do not exclude anything."

Sen. Christopher J. Dodd, D-Conn., had asked Stoessel the question and he pressed Haig today on whether there in fact are such plans.

Stoessel, asked by Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., if Central America could turn into another "quagmire"

Gasoline supplies soar; prices dip

NEW YORK (AP) — With Americans driving less because of high fuel prices, gasoline supplies have reached a record high and the resulting competition among oil companies has brought a dip in prices, the industry says.

The American Petroleum Institute reported Wednesday that inventories of gasoline rose 2.6 million barrels in the latest week, to a record 284.3 million barrels. A barrel contains 42 gallons.

At the same time, the group reported that refineries operated at only 69.1 percent of capacity, down from 70.4 percent a week earlier and "the lowest figure in recent memory," spokesman Gene Johnson said.

The reasons for the surplus include sluggish economies around the world and increased conservation brought on by higher prices.

The latest Department of Energy report showed that in February sales of gasoline averaged just over 6 million barrels a day, down 8.6 percent from the same time last year.

Gasoline prices shot up earlier this year as increases by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries were passed on and after President Reagan ended controls on domestic crude oil prices.

like Vietnam, replied, "We are determined that this situation will not develop into another Vietnam ... the situation is containable."

Arms from Cuba and other communist countries into El Salvador have "substantially abated" and the administration hopes they will stop altogether, he said.

But if they increase instead, he said under questioning from Dodd, "we would have to consider what steps to take to stop that flow."

Haig told the House Foreign Affairs Committee on Wednesday that the guerrilla movement in El Salvador is part of a four-phase communist strategy.

Six space shuttle workers overcome by gas after successful rehearsal

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — Several space workers passed out from lack of oxygen today as they used nitrogen in testing safety procedures on the space shuttle Columbia two hours after a successful dress rehearsal of pre-launch activities, officials said.

NASA officials at Kennedy Space Center said five or six employees of Rockwell International, the private contractor for the shuttle project, were using pure nitrogen to purge shuttle systems after the pre-launch rehearsal.

The workers lingered too long in an area in which there was no oxygen and four passed out, space officials said.

Spokesman Rocky Rabb of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said there was no gas leaks, but that the workers had stayed in an area that was all-nitrogen too long.

Officials said they didn't think any of the workers were injured. One of the workers was carried away from the launch pad on a stretcher, and that the others were helped away.

It wasn't immediately known whether they would require hospitalization.

The incident came shortly after NASA officials proclaimed that the rehearsal "went super." A simulated ignition at 7:25 a.m. EST, marked the end of the test run, NASA spokesman Mark Hess said.

The rehearsal was a dry run of what astronauts John Young and Robert Crippen will be doing on launch day, Hess said.

"The reason (for the test run) was to establish a good time frame, to know how long the pre-launch activities will take on launch day," he said.

Early today, just as will be done on the actual launch day, the flight team was awakened by NASA officials, given breakfast, suited up and taken to the launch pad, Hess said. He said the activities took two hours and 25 minutes.

The shuttle is scheduled for its first blastoff into space on a 54-hour voyage during the week of April 5.

Hess said repairs still need to be completed on the insulation of the craft's huge fuel tank. Then two exercises involving the loading of propellants will precede the countdown for the first launch.

The actual launch date, already two years behind schedule, should be set by the end of this month, he said.

Young and Crippen have practiced simulated liftoffs and flights many times previously, but this was the first time the whole countdown process had been tied together, Hess said.

"That was the final dress rehearsal for the launch from the standpoint of a running countdown," Hess said.

More than 9,000 coal miners continue to stay off jobs

By the Associated Press
Coal miners in Illinois and Alabama returned to work today after a one-day wildcat strike to protest the collapse of contract talks, but more than 9,000 others in at least four states continued to stay off the job.

Meanwhile, United Mine Workers President Sam Church was ready to resume bargaining with the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, a union source in Washington said.

But with a contract ratification process that takes 10 days to complete, it appeared virtually inevitable that there would be a strike by the 160,000-member union when the current pact expires at midnight March 26. The miners traditionally have not worked without a contract.

Nearly 9,600 miners staged wildcat strikes Wednesday in reaction to the breakdown of the talks on Tuesday.

"I guess they just jumped the gun a little bit," said Robert Carter, president of UMW District 30 in Kentucky. "They get a wild hair now and then."

An additional 5,000 miners in Pennsylvania were off the job in a dispute over the firing of six workers at a mine in Kirby, Pa.

The strikes picked up steam in some areas overnight and faded in others.

About 3,300 miners were reported off the job on the 12:01 a.m. shift today in Ohio, West Virginia and Virginia, company and union officials said. In Kentucky, where 5,000 miners were out Wednesday, it was not immediately clear how many miners, if any, were striking.

Two seeking $4,213,165 after drum-dryer blast

By CAROL HART
Although the original petition filed in the Pablo Luna vs. Custom Agriculture Service Inc. suit was asking for $200,000 in damages, the second amended original petition in the suit added another plaintiff and $4 million more in damages.

Benito Delossantos was added as an additional plaintiff in the case on the second amended original petition filed in 118th District Court. He and Pablo Luna are seeking $4,213,165 from Custom Agriculture Service, Inc.

The two men were both injured when a drum-dryer exploded at the Custom Ag Services plant, located on the Lamesa Highway, Dec. 14, 1978. Also injured in the explosion was Oscar Cervantes, a former Custom Ag employee.

Luna and Delossantos were employees of Western Equipment company of Lubbock at the time of the accident. They were at the Big Spring plant making repairs on a shaft when the explosion occurred.

The men allege that the explosion was due to negligence on the part of Custom Agriculture Service employees.

Testimony in the case began Monday afternoon in 118th District Court. The first two days of testimony saw Jim Edwards, lawyer for the plaintiffs, question several people about plant operations and activities prior to the explosion.

Delossantos and Luna were both called to the stand Wednesday. The men outlined their injuries, and Edwards presented depositions from several doctors who had examined the men after the accident.

In a deposition Wednesday afternoon, Delossantos testified that Delossantos was suffering from a severe hearing loss, and the loss of his abilities to smell and taste. Edwards, through the doctor's deposition, alleged that the loss of several of Delossantos' senses were a direct result of the explosion.

Today, Edwards and his associates brought a videotape machine into the courtroom to show a tape of the deposition of Dr. D.K. Powell of Lubbock. Due to difficulties in operating the video-tape equipment, Jim Edwards, and his assistant, Dub Bratcher, read the deposition to the jurors.

Dr. Powell had examined Luna shortly after the explosion, and said the man was suffering from spinal injuries and injuries to his knee. The result was a lot of pain, according to the deposition, and two operations followed the diagnosis.

Dr. Powell's deposition stated that he felt the trouble's with Luna's back were "a pre-existing condition. The condition was there. The injury exaggerated it."

The deposition also stated that the knee injury was caused from trauma caused in the explosion, in the doctor's opinion.

The second amended original petition states that the $4,213,165 requested in damages is for pain incurred from the accident, future pain, earning losses by the men, medical expenses, and physical impairments.

Norman Knox improving

Some improvement has been noted in the condition of Norman Knox, former administrator of Malone-Hogan Hospital here, who sustained a heart attack in Pampa Tuesday.

Knox is in the Intensive Care Unit of High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo. Knox left here last year to become administrator of the Coronado Community Hospital in Pampa.

FREEWAY LANDING — Department of Public Safety officers check a Cessna 210 that crash-landed on Interstate 17 just north of Phoenix, Ariz., Wednesday night. The pilot, Daniel Miller, and his passenger, Bridgett Robson, both of Scottsdale, escaped serious injury in the crash.

Centennial execs mull developments at store

The executive committee of the Big Spring Centennial, Inc., met Wednesday in the Centennial Store-Headquarters at 900 Main.

Purpose of the meeting was to discuss the developments at the store and the progress of the various committees.

Billie McLaughlin, chairman of the Centennial Belles committee, said that the store was out of Centennial Belles buttons and kits and asked that individuals with these kits, or unsold memberships in their chapters, return these to the headquarters as soon as possible because of the many requests they were receiving for the kits. She said a total of 41 chapters had already been organized and that many more were still out in the community.

Ray Alexander, chairman of the Brothers of the Brush committee, said the initial meeting of the presidents of the Brothers of the Brush chapters would be held Monday at 7 p.m. in the Centennial Store-Headquarters. Purpose of the meeting is to discuss upcoming events and how the various chapters could become involved in those activities.

Representatives from both the Stanton and Colorado City centennial committees attended the meeting to find out more about the local celebration and to receive input on how they might learn from the problems the Big Spring Centennial, Inc., might be having.

Frances Wheat, co-chairperson of the participation division, said there was a heavy demand for clothing at the store and that Linda Williams would be down Thursday to place another order to restock the facility. She said that, as a result of the heavy volume, individuals at the store would no longer be able to call people who had placed orders informing them when they had arrived. Wheat said that the orders would be available on Wednesdays of each week.

John Taylor, general chairman of the local committee, said that Permian Painters of Midland would be here Monday to put up the new sign at the Centennial Store-Headquarters. He said the signs were being painted on boards that would fit over the blank sign currently in front on the building. Taylor also said efforts were under way to take down the old Knight's Pharmacy signs.

Hayes Strippling Jr., chairman of the revenue division, said both the stock certificates and the limited number of signed prints of the centennial train were available at the headquarters for $5, but that the sales were slow as of this time. He said he felt they would have more success if they framed some of them and placed them around at the various businesses in the community.

Taylor said that he had been told that the new supply of buttons for both the Centennial Belles and Brothers of the Brush were to be shipped on March 25, on air UPS and should be available before the end of next week. He also said he had received some interest from junior high students who wished to join and that they would be able to join the adult chapters.

Charles Bell, chairman of the ticket division, said that things were going smoothly and that the First Lady nominations would start being accepted next week and would run through April 10. He said the grand prize for the First Lady contest would be a one-week, all expense paid trip for two to Hawaii.

Beil went on to say that Ann Turner was handling this and that the initial meeting of candidates would be held April 14, at 7 p.m. in the Cactus Room of Howard College. He said interested ladies should contact either Ann Turner or the Centennial Store-Headquarters for more information.

Taylor said that Lynn Hise had been contacted by an organization in Rockport that had ready-made float kits were available to local organizations, but that they must place a minimum of six orders. He said the initial floats would be $178.25 each, and those after that would be around $150 each.

McLaughlin said that they still needed volunteers at the Centennial Store-Headquarters on a regular basis. She stressed that fact that they needed volunteers who could work on a regular schedule and would be familiar with the workings of the store and the prices on the various items being sold through that facility.

Members of the Ambassadors Club are selling memberships to the annual Industry Appreciation Barbecue on April 3.

Board members also voted to show their approval of a $46.5 billion tax cut proposed by Ronald Reagan.

Police Beat

Thieves invade schools

Thieves at Bauer Elementary School were scared off by witnesses, Wednesday morning.

According to reports, two men walked into the school through a door opened by a custodian, 7 a.m. Wednesday. The men searched through the teachers' lounge inside, and lifted a set of keys to the school's soft drink machines.

But before they could steal anything else, they were spotted by school officials, and ran away. Cost of the keys has not been estimated.

Thieves also entered the Moss Elementary School, sometime Tuesday night. Once inside, the intruders broke four windows and ransacked a desk. Loss was estimated at $150.

Burglars hit two rooms at the Howard College Dormitory, Wednesday afternoon. A cassette tape deck and two speakers were stolen from David Adams' room, and a cassette player belonging to Kenneth Jones was stolen from an adjoining room. Value has not been estimated on any of the items.

Drivers and passengers in two cars were treated at Malone-Hogan Hospital and released, following an accident, 4 p.m. Wednesday. Vehicles driven by Enrique Olivarez, San Angelo, and Elizabeth Crenwelge, 2805 Apache, collided at 810 S. Gregg.

Ms. Crenwelge was treated and released. Passengers in the other car, Lynn Olivarez and Desiree Olivarez, both of Southland Apartments, were also treated and released.

Three other mishaps were reported Wednesday.

Vehicles driven by Jose Flores, Earth, Texas, and Ricky Sides, 706 Bell, collided at FM 700 and South Gregg, 2:20 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Paul Richter, 2610 Carlton, and Shana Hoertz, 4038 Vicky, collided on the 1000 block of Main, 8:06 a.m.

Vehicles driven by Billy Shaeffer, 1102 Stanford, and Felipe Bustamante, 1003 N.W. 1st, collided on the 200 block of East 11th, 8:32 a.m.

OIL to contest suit filed by tankcar firm

A suit was filed against Oilfield Industrial Lines Inc. Wednesday in 118th District Court by Evans Tankcar Company of Lubbock.

O.I.L. will contest the suit, according to Claudene Floyd, public relations director for the Big Spring company.

According to a petition, Evans Tankcar Company is seeking $91,471.04, which the firm alleges is the amount of equipment O.I.L. took from the company but never paid for.

Mrs. Floyd said that the original verbal agreement for equipment from the Lubbock-based company was for a little over $20,000.

When the agreement was first made, it was made with the Lubbock Manufacturing Company. Evans later bought out Lubbock Manufacturing.

A billing error, which listed O.I.L. as owing over $90,000, is the cause behind the trouble, said Mrs. Floyd.

"A check for $20,000 was accepted from an Evans representative," said Mrs. Floyd. "What authority he had, we don't know." She added that the check from O.I.L. was never cashed.

"We signed for the merchandise at that price (a little over $20,000)," said Mrs. Floyd. "We can't pay three times what something is supposed to cost."

Accused burglar gets new trial

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Hollis Moore, convicted of burglary in a Howard County state district court, should have another trial, the Court of Criminal Appeals ruled today.

The appeals court overturned Moore's conviction in 118th District Court before Judge K.W. Caton, ruling he was indicted on one charge but convicted on another.

Court records indicate Moore was indicted for entering a habitation and committing theft, but found guilty of entering a habitation with the intent to commit theft.

Clean-up campaign pushed

Dick Helms elected to Area Chamber board of directors

By CAROL HART
Dick Helms was elected as the newest member of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors during the group's meeting at noon Wednesday.

Helms replaces Oscar Zertuche, who resigned his position in February.

Scott McLaughlin, chairman of the beautification committee, told board members that litter and weeds were presenting a poor picture of Big Spring to new residents and people driving through the city.

The committee has submitted a $35,000 budget for clean-up costs, McLaughlin said. They have also submitted a resolution seeking the cooperation of the Howard County Commissioners, the Big Spring City Council, and the Texas Highway Department in the clean-up campaign.

This is a "huge project," McLaughlin added, but "we plan to come up with the $35,000."

Board member Tom Watson questioned street sweeping tactics in the city. McLaughlin explained that street sweepers fell under the auspices of the city, and that of two sweepers run by the city, one is broken down because of a bad motor.

Board members were also advised that April 25 is "Keep America Beautiful" day. Big Spring will observe "Keep America Beautiful" week April 25 through May 2, McLaughlin said.

Mel Prather and Louis Tallant discussed the Arts and Crafts fair with members of the chamber. The men agreed to submit a list of both incomes and expenses of the fair to the directors.

A hike in the monthly rent the Chamber of Commerce spends for its headquarters at 215 W. 3rd street was discussed.

Winston Wrinkle, president of the board, told members that the owner of the chamber building had requested a 250 percent increase in rent. The owner also agreed to pay for repairs of the air conditioning system at the building. The hike in rent will result in the chamber paying $400 per month rent, retrospective to March 1, 1980. After Jan. 1, 1982, rent will rise again to $500 per month.

It was announced that successful bids had been placed on the Region V

Women's basketball tournament for 1982, and for the Region V Men's basketball tournament for 1982. Both will be held at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The next community luncheon will be April 6, and will be in conjunction with Industry Appreciation Week.

The Sports Car Club of America and the Jaycees are planning races March 27 and 28, and again on July 4th, at the Industrial Park, it was announced. Plans for the races are still tentative, Carol Hunter said.

George Weeks reported that many area merchants were joining in plans for a Merchants Days promotion.

The Industrial team of the chamber will start a seven week training program Monday, which will be conducted by the Community Development Department of Texas Electric Service Company.

Members of the Ambassadors Club are selling memberships to the annual Industry Appreciation Barbecue on April 3.

Board members also voted to show their approval of a $46.5 billion tax cut proposed by Ronald Reagan.

Abilene 'star' fined, placed on probation

ABILENE — Oscar Riggins, a star running back for the Abilene Cooper High School football team last fall, received a 10-year probation prison term and a $7,000 fine from a 42nd District Court jury which Wednesday convicted him of the rape of a child.

Riggins, who has another year of eligibility in high school if he is allowed to take it, indicated he would appeal the conviction, conceding he could receive up to 20 years in prison if again adjudged guilty by a jury.

Judge Don Lane set formal sentencing for April 3 and allowed Riggins to remain free on $2,500 bond. Riggins was accused of raping a six-year-old girl in a park restroom.

Riggins currently is a member of the Cooper track team.

Mrs. Daniel is with murder in the death of her husband, has admitted firing shot but insists it was intentional.

Mrs. Oldham became friends with Daniel in 1978 when her husband became an associate in the operation of a trailer park. Years later, she was end of the friendship.

"I wanted to be the friendship but thought she was a cause trouble and my husband between Price and husband," Mrs. testified.

She also said Mr. suspected her husband having affairs with women, and often him of abusing children.

Friends say Mrs. Daniel talked of mistreatment

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — Howard and Stephana Oldham, former friends and business associates of Price Daniel Jr., say their friendship cooled because of Vickie Daniel's suspicions about her husband's infidelity.

And Betty White, once Daniel's bookkeeper, testified that Mrs. Daniel accused her of having a personal relationship with Daniel, the former Texas House Speaker shot to death at his home here Jan. 19.

The three testified Wednesday at a child custody trial filed by Daniel's sister, Jean Daniel Murph, to gain custody of Franklin Baldwin Daniel, 3, and Marion Price Daniel IV, 1, the Daniels' youngest sons.

Mrs. Daniel is charged with murder in the shooting death of her husband. She has admitted firing the fatal shot but insists it was not intentional.

Mrs. Oldham said she became friends with Mrs. Daniel in 1978 when their husbands became business associates in the ownership of a trailer park. But two years later, she was ready to end the friendship.

"I wanted to back out of the friendship because I thought she was trying to cause trouble between me and my husband and between Price and my husband," Mrs. Oldham testified.

She also said Mrs. Daniel suspected her husband of having affairs with other women, and often accused him of abusing their children.

Howard Oldham, who operates a business supply store here, said he tired of the friendship because of the "continual paranoid feeling she (Mrs. Daniel) had about Price. It became the only thing you heard, and I wanted to walk away from it. The friendship drifted apart over a period of time."

Ms. White, who said she worked for Daniel for three years, testified Mrs. Daniel called her on the phone and accused her of having the relationship.

"The gist of it was an insinuation that I might be having a personal relationship with him," Ms. White testified. "I told her it wasn't so."

Mrs. Oldham said Mrs. Daniel frequently complained about her husband's infidelity and disregard for his family.

"She said he made her use money from her previous marriage to buy clothes for her children," Mrs. Oldham said. "She complained that he wouldn't buy her any clothes or give her any money to buy food."

However, Mrs. Oldham testified that she never saw the Daniel family lacking and refuted earlier claims by Mrs. Daniel that her husband beat her.

"There was ample food and she always had clothes," Mrs. Oldham said.

Despite Mrs. Daniel's repeated complaints of abuse, Mrs. Oldham said she never saw any bruises.

Mrs. Daniel, once a waitress at a Dairy Queen in Liberty, earlier testified her husband ridiculed her and tried to make her look "dumb."

Soviet killer satellite successful

WASHINGTON (AP) — A hunter-killer satellite damaged a target satellite in the first full-scale Soviet test of such a weapon in more than three years, Pentagon sources report.

Although the target was not destroyed, the sources said shrapnel from the non-nuclear explosion aboard the hunter spacecraft probably would have disabled the sensitive cameras and electronic equipment spy satellites usually carry.

The hunter vehicle used an early-model radar guidance system to approach the target, said the sources, who asked not to be identified.

Congress should take positive action

A lot of elder Americans are worried about the health of the Social Security program. They've been told that the system is in serious financial trouble, could experience a crisis as early as next year.

President Reagan offers a reassuring word, says that ways will be found to keep providing benefits for 36 million Americans. The word from Washington is that those Congressmen who agreed to study ways to salvage the system did so with varying reluctance. Did they come to the conclusion the situation is hopeless?

NO MATTER WHAT measures are taken, what exacting rules are set up to restrict some benefits, the program has to be salvaged. An astonishing number of people depend almost wholly on Social Security money for survival. That is particularly true of some widows, whose husbands might have been covered by company pension plans but who had their payments halted after their mates died.

President Reagan offered one possible solution recently but it met only lukewarm response. "I've been wondering if you couldn't reform the system in such a way that, if you could prove you are providing for your retirement, you could waive participating in Social Security."

Mr. Reagan is and has long been a man of substance. Quite likely he finds it not easy to comprehend the fact that a lot of elderly people are living near or below the poverty level. Any plans they might have made for salvaging income over and above payments they made to Social Security went down the drain as the cost of living skyrocketed.

The crisis that is now facing the program was foreseen a long way back down the road but the Congress hasn't been spurred to action until now. And now is the time to act — not several years in the future when the program is operating in a sea of red ink.

THE PROBLEMS OF Social Security have been caused in part by the fact that annual adjustments to retiree benefits have been tied to the Consumer Price Index. A whopping 14.3 percent increase in payments occurred last July for that reason. Payments to persons who retired early, though such people's checks are reduced accordingly, take a sizeable chunk out of reserves, too. When unemployment rises, that means a larger segment of people are paying no Social Security payments at all.

Each of today's Social Security beneficiaries is supported by the payroll taxes of three members of the work force. By the year 2030, that appears likely to drop to two workers for each retiree.

The problem should no longer be discussed in hypothetical terms. It is here, and it is very real. The chiefs had better be busy because the Indians, those who stand to get hurt if something isn't done, are watching.

The sins of a bumbling bureaucracy are threatening to create a problem of monumental proportion. It's time the Congress prove it can do something right.

Lovable orphan

Around the rim

Puppies are cute and cuddly and have big soulful eyes and are lots of fun, but they are also demanding and bite your toes and do terrible things to the carpet.

When I first saw Nick the puppy, he was four weeks old and wobbling around on a bunch of newspapers. He and his sister were staying at the home of some friends who had generously taken them in after tragedy struck his family.

NICK'S MOTHER had been struck by a car when he was a week old, and ever since that time, these friends had been feeding him with a baby bottle. It was practically love at first sight when I saw him, so I figured I could feed him and raise him to adult doghood with no trouble.

I wasn't going into the situation without experience. Way back in the sixties we got our first dog. My sister and I named her Spot, because even though she had no spots, that seemed like the perfect name. We were just out of our "See Spot Run" readers, and it seemed logical to name our dog after the famous one every kid reads about.

Spot grew up and prospered and had a few puppies of her own, and lived to a pretty ripe old age. But having Nick around has been a different experience.

Tiny dogs who lose their mothers must be fed with a baby bottle several times a day with special formulas. And Nick, during that first week that he lived with me, made little crying sounds like a real baby. And he liked to be cuddled and reassured that someone was around. Sometimes, like around 5:30 a.m., I would hear him whimpering and I'd go see what was wrong.

NOW, NICK is about six weeks old, and he's past his tiny puppy stage. He looks stronger, and really must be developing muscle, because he bites toes like an old pro. Every once in awhile, I'll hear a family member's friend scream out, and look down to see Nick nibbling on their feet.

And there's housebreaking, which every dog must learn if he's going to get along with people. Although I'm sure you're not interested in all the details, Nick has been making admirable progress with only a little urging.

Just when I decide that a tiny puppy is too much to handle, Nick comes romping up and stops dead in my path and flashes those big brown eyes and I forget about his bad points. I figure in a few more weeks he'll stop biting my family and guests and soon he'll stop drinking from the bottle.

And, I guess soon after that he'll become pretty independent and I'll fondly remember those times at 5:30 a.m. when he awakened whimpering for company. Maybe.

Art Buchwald

The United States is going into a crash program to build up its military might. We want to be in a position to match the Soviets on land, on sea and in the air. There is only one problem. Once we get all the new helicopters, planes and ships built, where do we find the people to man them?

The Navy, for example, does not have enough crewmen to handle the ships they're supposed to keep on the high seas now. If we take the "New Jersey" and "Iowa" battleships out of mothballs as Defense Secretary Weinberger wants to do, this is what might happen:

"Captain, as admiral of the North Atlantic Forces, I turn over the command of the battleship New Jersey to you and your fine crew."

"Thank you sir. Where's the crew?"

"They're standing over there."

"Six men for a battleship?"

"THAT'S ALL the bureau of personnel could spare. I asked for 10 but they said they needed the others to man a missile cruiser that will escort you at sea."

"Begging your pardon, sir, and meaning no disrespect, but a battleship calls for a complement of 4,000 men."

"I'm aware of that, Captain. But we're going to have to make it with what we've got. I'm sure with proper training your six-man crew can do the job. They'll just have to double up on their watches."

"You actually want me to take this battleship out of harbor with six people?"

"Captain, may I remind you that getting command of a battleship is one of the highest honors that the Navy can bestow on one of its officers."

"I'm aware of the honor, sir, and it's been my dream to command a ship like the New Jersey. But I always thought when I got one this size, the crew would go with it."

"I assure you, Captain, once you get the hang of it you'll be amazed how few people it takes to run a battleship. We've put in an automatic steering system, so you won't need anyone at the wheel, and all your meals have been prepackaged so you won't require a mess crew, and the engines have been fitted with computers so you won't need anybody in the boiler rooms. And when you press this button you can fire your guns fore and aft. So actually the only thing your crew will have to do is scrape and paint the ship when it pulls into port."

"It sounds very reassuring, Admiral. I imagine your first job will be to brief the officers."

"Officers? You're it."

"You mean I have to eat by myself?"

"Don't feel bad. Your only chief petty officer has to eat by himself also."

"What are my orders, sir?"

"You're to seek out the enemy and destroy him at will. But first check with Washington before you engage in action."

"By radio?"

"We couldn't spare a radioman. Here is a bag of dimes. There's a pay phone on the bridge."

"THANK YOU, SIR. That's very generous of you."

"Money isn't our problem, Captain. We have more of it than we know what to do with. Our problem is that the more ships the Defense Department wants to put to sea, the more we have to stretch our manpower. After I leave here I have to recommission the aircraft carrier Oriskany with three squadrons of Grumman fighters."

"That should beef up the fleet."

"Not quite. They only gave me two pilots."

Adolescent breast enlargement usually harmless

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a 15-year-old boy who is ashamed to go swimming. My breasts have enlarged. I know I would be made fun of if I ever had to. Is there something wrong with me? Can I do anything about it? — F.F.

Gynecomastia, which you have, is a common condition. As many as 70 percent of normal boys have some breast enlargement during puberty (early teens). It's due to a slight hormonal imbalance and it's so common that it is just about considered normal. The enlargement disappears in a year or two.

The enlargement can even be seen after puberty in some. It has been found in as many as 36 percent of army recruits, and most often does not mean any serious abnormality even then. However, a male with enlarging breasts should be seen by a physician.

Because there are a few rare illnesses associated with it, examination is recommended to be on the safe side. I don't want to go into the details of that, except to note that rarely breast enlargement can be associated with abnormalities of the pituitary or adrenal glands or of the testicles. Young males should also know that smoking marijuana can cause breast enlargement, as can many other drugs. These few examples do not exhaust the list of possibilities.

But most cases of gynecomastia are not caused by serious illnesses. If pronounced enlargement does persist into adulthood it can be corrected surgically. I don't think you will need that. But see a physician. I understand your embarrassment. Given your age, I would expect your breast enlargement to begin to diminish shortly. No, I'm not going to suggest that you necessarily go ahead and don your swimming trunks and tough out the wise cracks of your buddies. I'm sure you will find ways to weather this temporary embarrassment on your own.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have been a daily user of aspirin for a few years now. The aspirin seems to clear my head up, and I even feel more alert. I haven't had any stomach problems or any other side effects — so far. Can you tell me if taking two aspirins a day can be hazardous to your health? I know of other people that say they are "addicted" to aspirin also. I think your response would be very helpful to a lot of aspirin users out here. — Addicted.

Many people with arthritis take far more aspirin every day than you say you are taking. Some doctors have their patients take an aspirin tablet a day for prevention of stroke. So, under most circumstances I cannot say that taking one or two aspirin a day should lead you into serious trouble.

But — if you are having a headache every day without the aspirin it is much better to find out why than mask that important sign with a pill. Secondly, I believe that the less we take of anything, especially of unnecessary substances, the better off we are. Thirdly, aspirin can have side effects, not all of them involving the stomach. Admittedly, in the dose you mention that would be rare. But why ask for trouble? Fourthly, I don't think you or your friends are addicted in the sense that if you stopped your body would react adversely, as, for example, it would with narcotics.

You have a habit, but not an addiction. Aspirin is a useful and effective drug, but it should not be taken to mask symptoms. For more on stroke, which is probably your chief concern, see the booklet on that subject. For a copy, write me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have high blood pressure and plan to buy a home blood pressure taking kit. When is the best time of the day to take one's blood pressure? — J.W.

The best time to check your blood pressure is at about the same time every day AND under the same circumstances. If you want to take it in the morning, that's OK so long as you are consistent and not trying to compare the reading with that obtained in the afternoon. Following the same rules, it's OK to take the reading in the afternoons. Whenever you take it relax for about 15 or 30 minutes before to get an honest reading.

To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, send for a copy of "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)." Write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have always concentrated on the New Testament, but now I have begun reading the Old Testament also. Do you have any suggestions for getting more out of it? I'm not sure I really understand it completely. — Mrs. G.C.C.

DEAR MRS. G.C.C.: The Old Testament has many spiritual treasures waiting for us, and it is unfortunate that many Christians never become acquainted with it. The Bible says, "All Scripture" — including the Old Testament — "is God-breathed and is useful for teaching, rebuking, correcting and training in righteousness, so that the man of God may be thoroughly equipped for every good work" (2 Timothy 3:16-17).

Your questions could be answered in several ways, but let me suggest this as a guideline: as you read the Old Testament, seek to find parallels or similarities between events and people in the Old Testament and events and people today. To see what I mean, let me give several illustrations.

For example, perhaps you are reading one of the prophets (such as Jeremiah) who is warning the nation of Israel to repent or the Babylonians will conquer them.

Now you and I are not worrying about the Babylonians taking us over today, but look at the deeper truth which is being stressed. The prophet is emphasizing that God judges his people when they turn their backs on him and refuse to obey him. Is there any parallel with your life? Certainly the truth is the same, although the setting is different. God judges us when we neglect him, and we need to repent and turn to him. It is true for us as individuals, and for us as a nation.

Or again, as you read the same book of Jeremiah you would see many things about Jeremiah as a man. He was a man of prayer, and he also boldly took his stand for God. At times he also became discouraged because it seemed to him as if he was not having the impact he should. Certainly we can learn many things from him, particularly the way he learned to trust God and serve him in every circumstance.

As a footnote, let me suggest that you begin by reading the books of Psalms and Proverbs. They will help you spiritually in many practical ways, and give you insights to discover the rest of the Old Testament.

Reviews vary

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Alexander Haig made his first appearance before the House Foreign Affairs Committee a few days ago, and his performance drew mixed reviews from the members present.

It was a closed session, called to hear Haig explain the Reagan administration's policy on El Salvador. For several of the committee members, it was their first exposure to Haig.

Both his critics and his fans were influenced as much by Haig's personal style as by the substance of what he was saying. Some liked what he said and the way he said it; many didn't.

Haig's brusque military manner turned off some of the members. "He says things and then he glares at you," one congressman told my associate Lucette Lagnado.

OTHERS COMPLAINED that he "talked down" to the committee in the manner of a general lecturing a group of junior officers. This especially irritated senior members of the committee, who felt they were being condescended to by someone they consider a newcomer to the complexities of Latin American policy.

On the other hand, some committee members from Haig's no-nonsense style refreshing. "Secretary Haig is an impressive man," one Republican said with obvious enthusiasm. "He's perfectly forthright in what he says, clear and decisive."

The pro-Haig members, including a couple of Democrats, said they were inspired by Haig's self-confidence and blunt approach to problems. Far from being worried by the prospect of Haig in charge of the nation's foreign policy, these legislators said they were reassured by the closed-door briefing.

Haig had exactly the opposite effect on other committee members. "We've watched Kissinger, Vance, even Muskie," said one veteran, "and they were all pretty sophisticated compared to Haig." Another member said Haig "displayed a bitter contempt for Congress," and attributed it to the general's role as White House chief of staff during the final months of the Watergate mess.

WHAT OFFENDED several legislators was Haig's less than diplomatic insistence that he expected cooperation from Congress and was sick and tired of opposition from Capitol Hill. This struck some of his listeners as evidence that Haig might be less dedicated to the system of legislative checks on the Executive Branch than he insisted he was at his Senate confirmation hearings.

Beyond Haig's personal style, his critics were concerned about his seeming obsession with a military solution to the Salvadoran situation.

They got the impression he was merely paying lip service to the need for economic and social solutions to El Salvador's problems.

At one point, Rep. Jonathan Bingham, D-N.Y., challenged Haig's assertion that Cuba was at the core of the Salvadoran conflict. The secretary backed off, acknowledging that there would still be problems even without Cuba.

Haig's impact on the Foreign Affairs Committee was perhaps best summed up by one Republican member who opposes the administration's military approach in El Salvador. "He is extremely articulate, and has an excellent command of the English language," he said of Haig, adding: "He's brilliant, actually."

But the congressman said he intends to keep an eye on the secretary to make sure he "doesn't get out of hand."

INTELLIGENCE DIGEST: The Iraqi army is quietly consolidating its hold on the territory it has seized from Iran. Intelligence reports speculate that Iraq will form a separate Arab state on the occupied territory. It would probably be recognized by most Arab nations.

—U.S. strategists believe that Soviet President Leonid Brezhnev is pressing for a summit meeting as the best stage for fuming against the neutron bomb. He revealed his attitude in a secret letter to ex-President Jimmy Carter. "We are prepared to enter into negotiations on this matter at any moment," wrote Brezhnev several months ago. "Such an agreement would respond to the spirit of the times, to the interests of strengthening peace and detente..."

—The Kremlin either employs incompetent English translators or puts out distorted versions of important communications. Here is the secret State Department appraisal after comparing the texts of a recent document: "Soviets initially gave us only English-language version. We now have Russian-language text. And it is evident Soviet English translation was inaccurate in several places."

—Intelligence reports warn that the Soviets, though reluctant to intervene in the Polish crisis, are close to taking action. The Kremlin ominously has been repeating the justification that preceded military intervention in Czechoslovakia in 1968.

—American analysts are worried about North Korean dictator Kim Il Sung's next move. A secret analysis points out that his "efforts to undermine the (South Korean) government through political subversion and guerrilla warfare have failed," that he "probably expects" South Korea to make "major improvements in its defense capabilities" and that the "United States really has no intention of withdrawing all of its combat forces from Korea."

Multi-million dollar burden

Federal aid for refugees nearing end

By PETE JACOBS
Associated Press Writer
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Minh fled Vietnam for the United States three years ago, homeless and broke. Next month, along with thousands of other jobless Indochinese refugees, Minh will become part of a multi-million dollar burden for state and local officials.
Effective April 1, a provision of the Refugee Act of 1980 will cut off the 100 percent federal reimbursement for Indochinese who have been in the United States for 36 months. Those here a shorter time will not be affected.
State and local governments will have to bear the costs of the refugees' transition into society.
Nowhere will the cutoff have a greater effect than in California. Between 130,000 and 165,000 of America's 450,000 Indochinese refugees — about 30 percent — live in the state, says a report issued last year by the state Social Services Department. The report estimated 5,000 more refugees arrive each month. Federal officials say some 14,000 refugees arrive in the country monthly.

"If there is not a change ... and the April cutoff remains, we will be in a very difficult fiscal situation," said Marion Woods, director of the California social services department.
Last October, the state Department of Finance estimated that 92,580 Indochinese in the state were receiving cash assistance.
"The federal funding will end for almost 11,000 refugees," Woods said, estimating the number of refugees who have been here three years and thus will transfer from federal to state and local rolls.
"That will mean ... California will have to pick up almost 50 percent of the grant cost," Woods said, pegging the tab at about $24 million for the state fiscal year beginning July 1.
Reps. Dan Lungren, a Long Beach Republican, and George Danielson, a Los Angeles Democrat, have introduced a bill to extend the deadline. The congressmen, and other critics of the federal act, say state and local officials have not had time to prepare for the refugees, partly because control of where the refugees are sent after they enter the country rests with volunteer agencies in New York City.

At the offices of the American Council of Voluntary Agencies in Manhattan, the refugees' destination is decided in what is known as the weekly "auction."
Each refugee's dossier is assigned to one of 11 volunteer agencies working under contract with the federal government. According to their individual policies, the agencies determine where refugees are sent. Representatives say most decisions are based on reuniting families, and because California has the most refugees, the flow tends to continue in that direction.
Minh, for example, arrived in New York City and stayed there for two years. But after contending he could not find a job, could not adjust to the cold and missed his relatives, he was relocated to Linda Vista, the "Little Saigon" section of San Diego.
This tree-shaded four-mile square residential chunk of north-central San Diego, carved out by developers in 1941, is the largest Indochinese community in the country. An estimated 7,000 of 15,000 residents are Indochinese. That is more refugees than most U.S. states have taken in.

At Linda Vista Elementary School, classrooms are filled with the confusing chatter of 19 languages, evidence of decades of ethnic movement from Mexicans to Laotians, Cambodians and Vietnamese.
"Linda Vista is the only area I know where aliens from outer space could land and it would take two weeks before they would be noticed," commented local resident Margarita Castro.
The patient load at the Linda Vista Health Care Center, which was 5 percent Indochinese in 1976, now exceeds 70 percent.
Unable to anticipate this sort of explosive "migration," San Diego officials can only estimate the county's Indochinese population at 20,000. They further estimate they will have to spend $500,000 in the first year of the Refugee Act if federal aid is withdrawn from all 2,500 refugees in the county.
In Orange County,

Supervisor Harriet Weider, who estimates the county refugee population at 31,000 to 50,000, said: "We are not being impacted. We are being inundated." Officials say about 2,800 county refugees will move from federal to county rolls, at a cost of $1.6 million the first year.
Los Angeles County estimates its costs at about $3.6 million for 3,900 refugees from a population of between 50,000 and 75,000. Officials estimate San Francisco's first-year cost at $220,000.
Woods believes a national plan would help distribute refugees more evenly that they are apportioned now, with 90 percent of them going to 10 states.
"We don't get the refugees until one day they walk into a welfare office," Woods said. "That's where we begin. I'm saying we need to begin at the decision-making level."

Clements writes Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Texas Gov. Bill Clements says Arkansas officials shouldn't be too quick to say no to exporting the state's surplus water.
In a letter released Wednesday by Gov. Frank White, Clements said he recognized the state's power to control its water. But he said it would be prudent for the state to weigh the benefits of exporting the water to Texas and other western states.

Computer science training is available to women in science

AUSTIN — Applications are now available for the Women in Science Career Development Program to begin at The University of Texas at Austin in June.

The program provides computer science training for women with degrees in one of the natural or social sciences who currently are not employed in a field that uses their scientific training.

The UT program and six other similar ones throughout the country are funded by the National Science Foundation. This will be the third year UT has offered the training.

In the past two programs at UT, 44 women completed the course work, says Dr. Nell Dale, who directs the program at the University and is a member of the computer sciences faculty.

Of those 44 women, 29 were placed in full-time jobs as a result of the program and 13 found part-time work and/or continued their education, Dr. Dale reports.

This year's program will begin in June with an intensive 12-week course which will cover the first two courses in the regular computer sciences curriculum. It will be a partially self-paced course, says Dr. Dale, with videotaped lectures and group discussions offered during the noon hour. Participants will be able to complete their laboratory work during the day, in the evening or on weekends, she says.

After the summer program, participants will enroll in regular computer sciences courses and follow schedules individually tailored for each student depending on her career goals, math background and available time.

Participants may remain in the program for up to two years.

Tuition and fees for the summer course will be paid by the program. The remainder of the training will be the students' expense, but some financial support will be available, according to Dr. Dale.

To be eligible for the program, women must have received their sciences degrees prior to August 1979.

Completed applications must be returned to the program office no later than April 1. For an application form or more information, contact Dr. Dale at the Department of Computer Sciences, The University of Texas at Austin, Austin, Texas 78712, telephone (512) 471-4353.

Dear Abby

Man's Seizures Are Good Cause for Seizure

DEAR ABBY: I feel as though I should be doing something about this problem, but I don't know what. A relative of my husband has epilepsy. He's on medication, but he forgets to take it and keeps on having seizures.

The law here states that if an epileptic hasn't had a seizure for a full year, he can apply for a driver's license. Well, this relative has had seizures right along, but he lied about it and got a license anyway.

Last year while driving alone, he had a spell, lost control of his car and hit another car. Fortunately, nobody was seriously injured. Three months ago while he was driving, he had another seizure. His wife grabbed the steering wheel, but the car jumped the curb and struck two children playing on the sidewalk. They were lucky they weren't killed. After that, he swore he'd never drive again. In less than two weeks he was driving again!

Abby, for his own safety and the safety of others, this man should not be permitted to drive, but I don't want to be the one to turn him in. What should I do?

ANONYMOUS, PLEASE

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Write to the department of motor vehicles in care of your state capital and describe what you have told me. Your identity will be held in the strictest of confidence. Please do this today, before he maims (or kills) himself and innocent people. You will be doing the man — and society — a tremendous service.

DEAR ABBY: I have had this problem for as long as I can remember, and I am sick of it. All a person has to do is say "Hi" to me and I turn red. I don't consider myself extra shy, but for no reason at all, even when I'm with people I know well, I feel my face getting hot and I know I'm turning red. The people I'm with think they have embarrassed me, which makes me blush even more. I feel so dumb.

My grandmother told me that she had the same problem when she was a girl, but she outgrew it. Abby, I'm 24 and I haven't outgrown it yet.

Is there anything I can do about this dumb blushing?

BLUSHING IN BLUSHING

DEAR BLUSHING: Yes. Make up your mind that if you blush, you blush, and you don't give a hoot! Your fear of blushing contributes to your blushing. Once you overcome that fear, you'll have the problem licked. (P.S. In the meantime, it might be a consolation to know that blushing is "in." Women who haven't blushed in years are buying "blush" at the cosmetic counter.)

Johnnie Lou Avery named national consultant for Salvation Army

Johnnie Lou Avery of Big Spring has been named a national consultant for the Salvation Army. Lt. Bill Thrasher, commanding officer of the Salvation Army in Big Spring, has been informed.

Approval of Mrs. Avery's nomination has been received from the Salvation Army's Divisional Headquarters in Dallas and from Southern Territorial Headquarters in Atlanta, Ga.

This clears the way for any local branch of the Salvation Army to submit a proposal to contract with Mrs. Avery to conduct program evaluation and long range planning for their organizations.

To date, the Salvation Army has approved only one other consultant. He is G. Walter Coles of Coles and Associates, a Southern California-based management and planning firm.

"These consultants have been engaged by the Salvation Army to assure that studies will be conducted in a professional and objective manner," said Major Leon Ferraez, Community Relations and Development secretary from the Southern Territorial Headquarters in Atlanta.

"At the time Avery was named national consultant, she was also given the contract to begin the first community long-range study in Big Spring," said Lt. Thrasher, "and her firm has already begun working on it. It should be completed in six to nine months and will result in a final printed document, which can also be used as an information and public relations brochure as well as our long range plan of service."

Major Ferraez visited Big Spring recently and met with Mrs. Avery before her approval was given. Accompanying him was Major David Mikles of the Dallas Division Headquarters.

Lt. Thrasher said, "The Salvation Army has served and ministered in the United States for 100 years and as we begin our second hundred years, it is appropriate that we make a concerted effort in each community to assess our work and prepare a comprehensive long range development plan based on reliable, current information about the communities we serve. We look forward to working with Mrs. Avery and her company."

Thrasher went on to say that program evaluations are based on a review of records and service statistics, interviews with staff, contacts with funding sources and planning bodies, information from and about other community agencies and other data gathered by the consultant.

Of special importance will be Avery's evaluation of present and proposed programs and facilities within the unique framework of the Salvation Army philosophy, goals and standards of operations.

There is a unique international religious and charitable organization, ministering to the spiritual and social service needs of people world-wide. The international headquarters is in London, England, national headquarters is in New York, and there are 4 territorial headquarters. In turn, the divisional offices have direct supervision over local and statewide services of the Salvation Army.

Avery is president of Avery and Associates, a firm specializing in personal, organizational and corporate development. Before opening her own company, Avery was assistant to the president at Howard College, where she had served as an administrator for 13 years. Avery has over 20 years of experience in higher education administration, public relations, and business management.

Her varied background also includes development and fund raising, personnel training, sales, motivation, grantsmanship, and advertising. She has conducted seminars, training programs, and youth development workshops, been in demand as a public speaker, and served as a speech writer for others. She has been cited several times on the local, state and national levels for her contributions in professional and public service. She has been an effective and tireless civic worker, making contributions in many areas of her community.

Working closely with Avery in each community will be the commanding officer and a Long Range Development Committee made up of outstanding community leaders. In the role as consultant, Avery will gather the data and make recommendations and findings available to the committee and then prepare the final master plan as adopted by the committee. Funding for the study is being made possible by a grant from the Territorial Headquarters in Atlanta.

But Coach Britton sees good potential as ABC Relays approach Steer tracksters need improvement

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

San Angelo Central will probably be the favorite in the boys division of the ABC Relays here Saturday, and Big Spring Track Coach Randy Britton can't see anyone overcoming them.

"It's going to be a tough meet," Britton said of the nine-team boys field that will invade Blankenship Saturday morning along with 21 girls teams. "Central is the definite favorite, along with Lubbock Estacado. From there I just don't know."

to be pretty good in both the relay and the sprint relay. But so far, our sprint relay hasn't made it all the way around the track in a meet without dropping the baton."

Britton sees good things ahead for the mile relay unit of BSHS. "I know we have the ability to be pretty good in that event. It's just a matter of getting the kids to realize that they can run with Midland Lee, San Angelo Central and Odessa Permian. Those are the three best teams in the district in the mile relay."

Britton said.

One added plus the mile relay quartet is counting on is Bobby Earl Williams. The Steer junior joined the track program from basketball just over two weeks ago, and is not in track shape yet. But when he comes around, it will no doubt help.

Williams is also running the individual 400-meters and the long jump and high jump. But Britton expects him to only compete in one of the field events by the time the District 5-AAAAA meet rolls around.

"We'll probably sacrifice one of those events (high jump or long jump) in order to get him into better running shape," said Britton. "I think we need him more there right now."

Thus far, Britton has been pleased with the performances of Greg Jones, Richard Evans, Pat Connelly and Tommy Madigan.

"Greg has been very consistent in the shot," Britton noted. "He won down at Fort Stockton, and then threw it 58 feet at the West Texas Relays and scratched."

hurdles.

"Mathews will pick us up some points, especially if he has a good day in the long jump. He could win district in that event," Britton noted.

The Big Spring distance runners are very young, consisting of sophomores and juniors. "Our distance people are coming around," Britton said. "I don't know if they'll help us point wise this year, but they should be real tough next year. Karl Wolfe in the 3200-meters is our best bet at this point."

"But really, we continued, 'I can't see anyone overtaking San Angelo Central. They've got good people in every event. I know we'll (Big Spring) be able to keep up with Central in many areas, but we just don't have the overall depth that they do.'"

Britton feels that his Steer tracksters have started out slowly, and is hoping for some improvement, especially in the running events.

"We're weak in the running right now," he mentioned. "We have the ability

Unsel retires

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — Wes Unsel, the veteran Washington Bullets' center, bowed to injuries and Father Time and announced his retirement after 13 years in the NBA.

In 1968-69, Unsel was named both the NBA's Most Valuable Player and Rookie-of-the-Year, a feat previously accomplished only by Wilt Chamberlain. He led the Bullets to their lone NBA title in 1978-79.

Only one of a handful of NBA players to score both 10,000 points and grab 10,000 rebounds, Unsel ranks sixth on the league's all-time rebounding list. His retirement will take effect at the end of the season.

Zimmer wants Darwin a starter

VERO BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Right-hander Danny Darwin is going to be a starter for the Texas Rangers throughout 1981, even if reliever Jim Kern is not able to overcome his neck and shoulder problem, Texas manager Don Zimmer said.

"He's going to start and that's it," Zimmer said.

Darwin struck out seven batters in four innings of the Rangers' 2-0 loss to Los Angeles Tuesday.

Last season Darwin worked almost exclusively as a relief pitcher because of Kern's physical problems, and became the Rangers' only dependable bullpen performer, posting a 13-4 record with eight saves and a

Atlanta ends Celtics home victory streak

By the Associated Press

It should have been Boston's night. Instead it became Boston's nightmare.

The Celtics had won 28 straight games at Boston Garden, and when the Atlanta Hawks came to town they brought only eight healthy bodies. The Celtics, who had moved into first place in the National Basketball Association's Atlantic Division the previous day, figured to have a cakewalk.

"We thought with all their injuries they were going to lay down, but they didn't," said Boston's Larry Bird after the Hawks stunned the Celtics 108-97 Wednesday night behind 38 points by All-Star guard Eddie Johnson.

The Philadelphia 76ers took full advantage of Boston's defeat, climbing back into first place by one-half game with a 107-95 decision over the Indiana Pacers. Julius Erving scored 25 points as Philadelphia snapped a three-game losing streak.

NBA Roundup

The 76ers have the best record in the NBA, 59-18, with five games to play. Boston is at 58-18 with six to go, including two against Philadelphia. Whoever finishes first gets a first-round playoff bye and the home-court advantage in every postseason series.

In other NBA games, the Phoenix Suns defeated the Los Angeles Lakers 126-114, the Golden State Warriors nipped the Houston Rockets 118-117, the New York Knicks beat the Milwaukee Bucks 116-103, the Detroit Pistons edged the New Jersey Nets 118-115, the Denver Nuggets trimmed the Kansas City Kings 126-124 in double overtime and the Utah Jazz beat the Dallas Mavericks 120-113.

76ers 107, Pacers 95
Erving scored 10 of his points in the fourth quarter to keep Philadelphia in front. Indiana closed to 87-85 with 5:48 to play, but baskets by Erving, Lionel Hollins and Bobby Jones enabled the 76ers to pull away.

The 76ers shot 52 percent from the field to 36 percent by Indiana.

Suns 126, Lakers 114
Phoenix stretched its Pacific Division lead over Los Angeles to 4½ games by beating the Lakers behind 23 points apiece by Walter Davis, Len Robinson and Dennis Johnson. The Suns pulled away by shooting 65 percent from the field in the third period and outscoring Los Angeles 34-24 to open a 14-point advantage.

Any combination of three Suns victories or Laker defeats will give Phoenix its first division title since joining the NBA 13 years ago.

Knicks 116, Bucks 103
New York saw a 16-point lead dwindle to three in the third period before bouncing back to beat the Bucks for its fourth consecutive victory. Guard Michael Ray Richardson led the Knicks with 28 points, 12 of them in the fourth quarter.

Pistons 118, Nets 115
A 15-foot jump shot by rookie guard Larry Drew and a free throw by Kent Benson in the final 44 seconds were the margin of victory for Detroit, which outscored New Jersey 38-17 from the foul line. Bob McAdoo, who was waived by the Pistons last week, returned to the Pontiac Silverdome and played the first eight minutes for New Jersey, scoring four points.

Nuggets 126, Kings 124, (2 OT)
Reserve guard Billy McKinney sank a floater from the lane with 22 seconds left in the second overtime to give Denver the victory.

Jazz 120, Mavericks 113
Adrian Dantley, the NBA's leading scorer with a 31.2 average, riddled Dallas for 48 points to power the Jazz over the Mavericks. Dantley got 15 of his points in the final period to help Utah take control of what had been a close game.

Lucasless Warriors enough for Rockets

OAKLAND (AP) — If the National Basketball Association playoffs began today, the Golden State Warriors would be included.

But the season hasn't ended yet, except for guard John Lucas whose latest unexcused absence probably ended his three-year stay with the Warriors.

The short-handed Warriors scored a 118-117 victory over the Houston Rockets Wednesday night on forward Bernard King's short jump shot with four seconds remaining.

Houston, also fighting to make the playoffs, went down to defeat in utter confusion. The Rockets tried to call a timeout, realizing too late they had none remaining.

"We may have been short-handed, but it didn't feel that way. In fact, if anything, it seemed like we had an edge," said King, who finished with 32 points in the victory which ended a four-game losing streak.

"But we can't enjoy this one too long," he added.

The Warriors, now second among the four teams battling for three available Western Conference playoff spots, play at San Diego tonight.

"The thing with John came to a head, and we decided it was in the best interest of the Warriors to suspend him. We told the other players we are prepared to go without him, and we told the fans that we are prepared to not make the playoffs, if that's what it means," said Coach Al Attles.

Lucas, who began his NBA career with Houston in 1976, was missing for the sixth time this season Wednesday night and the Warriors had no word from him. A pre-game announcement that he had been suspended for the rest of the season, including the playoffs, drew a cheer from the sellout crowd.

"I hate to see it. I like the man, and if there was any possible way for me to help him, I'd go out of my way to do it," said Lorenzo Romar, the rookie who took over Lucas' starting guard job.

"I have no idea what John's problem is," said Attles, but he added that he considered him "very emotional and unstable."

Attles said Lloyd Free, who has been sidelined four weeks because of a dislocated thumb, may be back in uniform this week.

Virginia tries to avoid upset vs. Tennessee

Crazy NCAA Tourney resumes tonight

Upset City, alias the NCAA basketball tournament, resumes tonight with Virginia, North Carolina and Notre Dame putting their Top Ten rankings on the line and Louisiana State, Indiana and Utah hoping to take advantage of friendly surroundings.

The East and West Regionals tip off tonight with the Midwest and Midwest coming up Friday night. The regional championships to determine the Final Four will be played Saturday and Sunday.

The fifth-ranked Virginia Cavaliers will get things rolling against No. 15 Tennessee in the opener of a doubleheader at the Omni in Atlanta. And All-American Ralph Sampson, their 7-foot-4 star, put things in perspective for all the remaining games, as well as most of those already played.

"It will be a battle," he said. "It will be a war."

The 48-team skirmish already has claimed 10 members of The Associated Press Top Twenty among its victims, including top-rated DePaul, runner-up Oregon State and third-ranked Arizona State.

In the Atlanta nightcap, seventh-ranked Notre Dame meets No. 16 Brigham Young. Meanwhile, the University of Utah, ranked 14th, will be at home in Salt Lake City against sixth-ranked North Carolina. In the second game, No. 19 Illinois faces Kansas State.

Friday night starts with a twinbill at Bloomington, Ind., where the Cinderella Hawks of St. Joseph's (Pa.) meet Boston College and the hometown Indiana Hoosiers tackle upstart Alabama-Birmingham.

At the New Orleans Superdome, little more than an hour down the road from Baton Rouge, fourth-ranked LSU faces No. 20 Arkansas after intrastate rivals Kansas and Wichita State meet for the first time in 25 years.

All four teams in the East have ailing players. Lee Raker, Virginia's third leading scorer, is not expected to start, although he will be available. And Tennessee's Steve Ray developed colitis last month and has been slow to recover.

Orlando Woolridge, one of Notre Dame's key performers, is still slowed by a charley horse and hasn't practiced all week. And BYU's Danny Ange, the regional's top scorer with a 25-point effort, is bothered by a back ailment. Coach Frank Arnold says his star is 90-95 percent effective.

Utah will have the homecourt advantage but the home uniform disadvantage against North Carolina. That's because the Utes are seeded third in the regional and the Tar Heels are second.

"We may be wearing our home uniforms against Utah, but I can tell you who will have whatever homecourt advantage there is to be had," says Carolina Coach Dean Smith.

The game will match two imposing front lines. North Carolina goes with 6-6 Al Wood, 6-9 James Worthy and 6-9 Sam Perkins while Utah counters with 6-7 Danny Vranes, 6-7 Karl Bankowski and 6-10 Tom Chambers.

Kansas State relies heavily on 6-6 guard Rolando Blackman, whose last-gasp shot eliminated Oregon State. Illinois' strength is in the front court in forwards Eddie Johnson and Mark Smith.

Alabama-Birmingham's Gene Bartow is trying to become the first coach to take three different schools to the Final Four. He did it previously with UCLA and Memphis State.

"We're playing as well as we have all year," he said.

NFL outlaws sticky substance

No more stickum for Lester the Molester

MAUI, Hawaii (AP) — Owners of National Football League teams have decided not to modify the pass interference rule because they felt such action would lead to more infractions.

The rule gives possession to the offensive team at the point of infraction by a defensive player. Offensive pass interference calls for a 10-yard penalty from the line of scrimmage.

Spokesman Tex Schramm, president of the Dallas Cowboys, said most of the owners were not in favor of changing.

The owners did pass

several new rules, most of a minor nature.

One of interest will prohibit the use of stickum on players' hands. Lester Hayes of the Oakland Raiders, who led the NFL in interceptions last season with 17 (including post-season play), smeared stickum on his hands and arms. Many other players also used stickum.

Also, it will be against the rules to use any slippery substances to make a player more elusive.

Another rule passed concerned quarterbacks intentionally grounding the ball when about to be sacked. Instead of just a 10-yard penalty and loss of down, the defense will have the option of taking that or making the offense put the ball in play from the point of the infraction, plus the loss of down. So there will be no advantage in grounding if a quarterback is about to be hit 25 yards or so behind the line of scrimmage.

In a move for more safety in the game, the owners approved a resolution against chop blocking by interior linemen, a rule already in effect for the ends. Coaches must agree not to coach that type of block where a player goes after the knee of one already engaged by another.

The owners refused to change the rule concerning onside kicks that go out of bounds. The rule says that the kicking team gets a five-yard penalty and must kick again. Proposed by the Competitions Committee was a change that would give the receiving team the option of taking possession at the point where the kickoff went out of bounds.

State Boys Basketball Tourney begins today

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The always powerful Snook Bluejays and unbeaten Gladewater Sabine return to Austin today to open defense of the state schoolboy basketball crowns they won last year.

Talented 6-2 senior Hezekiah Carter, an all-tournament pick last year, leads the Bluejays against Midland Greenwood in a Class A semifinals game. The winner plays Saturday against the survivor of today's Avinger-Henrietta-Midway clash.

Sabine's Cardinals open their title defense Friday with a rematch of last year's final against Bartlett. The Cardinals are 32-0 on the year, and return four starters from last year's title team. They are joined by Greg Grissom, a 6-10 transfer.

Bartlett features Charles Smith, an all-tournament selection last year who went on to average 28 points a game this year as a junior.

The other Class 2A semifinal Friday pits Archer City vs. Shallowater.

Class 3A action opens today with Perryton vs. Altair Rice, and Van Vleck vs. Powderly North Lamar.

In Class 5A, Dallas Roosevelt is led by the Wright brothers, Carl, a 6-4 junior pouring in 25 points a game, and Billy, a 6-8 senior. They are the brothers of Texas A&M basketball player Rynn Wright. 'The Cook's Book' Recipes sampled at luncheon

By TINA MILLER
A recent luncheon in the Flame Room of Pioneer Natural Gas launched a five month cookbook distribution program for Century 21, Spring City Realty. Attending the event were approximately 20 guests, consisting of local officials and news media.

An array of dishes were prepared by the staff of Century 21, each from the book they will be distributing, "The Cook's Book". The books will be distributed door to door one weekend per month, beginning this month, for five months. This cook book is filled with delicious recipes for everything from appetizers to main dishes and desserts. Here are a few recipes prepared for the luncheon, taken from "The Cook's Book".

SHRIMP MUFFINS

12-20 English muffins

Mix shrimp, cheese, butter, mayonnaise and garlic salt until well blended. Spread on English muffin halves. Broil until brown, cut into halves or quarters to serve.

CHOW MEIN

1/4 cup shortening
1 1/2 pounds lean pork, diced
1 cup onion, finely chopped
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 cans bean sprouts
2-3rd cups cold water
4 tablespoons cornstarch
4 tablespoons Soy sauce
2 teaspoons sugar
2 cups celery, finely cut
Soy sauce to taste

Melt shortening in hot skillet. Add meat. Stir and sear quickly, without browning. Add onions and fry for 5 minutes. Add salt, pepper, bean sprouts, celery and Soy sauce to taste. Cover with water and cook at least one hour. Add cornstarch blended in cold water, soy sauce and sugar. Cook, stirring until boiling.

6 green onions, chopped
Salt and pepper

Cut tortillas into quarters and layer on bottom of greased casserole dish. Arrange a layer of chicken, olives, chiles, onions and cheese. Repeat a layer. Mix soups and pour over top. Let soak through. Top with more cheese and bake at 350 degrees for 45 minutes.

FRESH BROCCOLI SALAD

1 can kidney beans
1 can pinto beans
1 can butter beans
3/4 pound bacon, diced and fried

1-3rd cup vinegar

FOUR BEAN CASSEROLE — This hearty side-dish is perfect for those summer cookouts and picnics, as well as the chilly days that are still with us. Prepare it for your family or for a casual evening with friends.

1 1/2 teaspoons paprika
1 cup sour cream
2 1/2 cups milk

1/4 cup shortening
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup milk

Divide dough in thirds. Roll out like pie crust about 1/8 inch thick. Cut in triangles like cutting a pie. Roll from large to small end. Place on greased cookie sheet and let rise for 3 hours. Bake at 375 degrees for 12 minutes.

In a wok, heat oil over medium heat. Add almonds, stirring and cooking for about 3 minutes. Add chicken and cook just until meat turns white. Pour in sherry mixture and cook until sauce thickens. Add pea pods and stir-fry until hot and glazed. Serves 4.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower

U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The Senate Armed Services Committee is holding hearings now on the Administration's proposed defense budget changes for fiscal year 1982. The request is for some $25.8 billion in budget authority above the recommendation of the previous Administration. Although only a relatively small portion of that will be actually spent in the next fiscal year, that is a great deal of money.

Even so, all that this additional money would do is to fund the minimal requirements to begin positioning our military strength to match our foreign policy objectives. Our national defense system has suffered a decade of neglect. After subtracting for inflation, our defense spending in real terms has stayed at almost the same level while the Soviets have invested some $355 billion in 1982 dollars more than we.

Defence spending used to take almost half our federal budget. Now it consumes less than a quarter of the federal dollar — even under the increased Reagan budget.

What will this $25.8 billion buy us in national defense? Almost a billion of it is necessary just to fund adequately the programs in the previous Administration's budget.

Another $8.7 billion is needed to improve the readiness of our armed forces. Supplies of spare parts for planes and other equipment are so low that we are forced to cannibalize some equipment to keep other pieces operational. Our training often is inadequate because we don't have enough fuel, ammunition and other items for sufficient training time. We do not have enough reserve stocks to meet our own anticipated resupply requirements, much less for foreign assistance or repositioning in other parts of the world.

Personnel retention still is a serious problem. Although the significant pay increase approved last year has begun to turn the tide, we must do still more to bring military pay and benefit levels to a level comparable to that which our talented and dedicated service members could expect to receive in civilian life. The budget proposals asks $1.8 billion to cover a 5.3 percent "comparability" pay increase which will be required for a cost-of-living increase at the end of the fiscal year.

The largest increases in the budget authority requested — $13.7 billion in fiscal year 1982 — is for modernization of our forces. We must fully use our technological genius to begin to rebuild our industrial capability to manufacture the best equipment possible. These attributes always have been our primary strengths, but we have not invested enough to maintain our technological or industrial edge.

Approving these funds for modernizations will begin to correct the deficiencies that have resulted, by giving us more and better tanks, helicopters, vehicles, weapons, airplanes and missiles.

Finally, another large chunk, $3.8 billion is necessary for shipbuilding. We must have naval superiority because we depend on sea lanes to bring us so many products essential to our security and a prosperous economy. We have only the most tenuous edge in naval capability now, if we have not already fallen behind.

All of us realize that this is a time of economic crisis, and each federal dollar spent must be weighed to make sure its expenditure is absolutely essential. We have made some economies in lesser priority defense spending, but the increases I have outlined are of the most vital importance. If we fail to maintain our place in the world, we will find ourselves living on a Soviet-dominated planet. We cannot allow that to happen.

On The Light Side

Computers have feelings

ATLANTA (AP) — It may have been a malfunction that caused an electronic bank teller to swallow State Sen. Franklin Stutson's pass card, but you'll have a hard time convincing him it wasn't spite.

The Norman Park Democrat made an impassioned but unsuccessful plea to his fellow senators Wednesday for their votes against a bill that would allow banks to charge a $12 fee for the use of bank credit cards.

Later, during lunch break, Stutson went to an Atlanta bank to withdraw some money with an automated teller card. The teller machine ingested Stutson's card and kept it without spitting out a dime.

"Here I am," he sighed, "penniless in Atlanta, my car's about out of gas and the fish ain't biting."

A ringing endorsement

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — State Rep. C.A. Smyser's proposal was a bit unorthodox, but it only needed one vote to pass — his girlfriend's.

Melinda Slovaczek of Middleton was watching from the gallery when Smyser, a Parma Republican, took the floor Wednesday on a point of personal privilege.

"There's a young lady in the gallery now who I've been dating lately," Smyser said, "and I'd like to ask her to help me leave the ranks of being the only member of the Idaho Legislature who has never been married."

He motioned to the gallery where Miss Slovaczek was sitting and asked, "Will you?"

The proposal prompted a recess, during which Smyser went upstairs to the gallery, got an affirmative reply and promptly put a ring on Miss Slovaczek's finger.

Which law is written on stone?

Thou shalt (shalt not) post Ten Commandments

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Thou shalt post the Ten Commandments on the classroom walls, says a 1978 Kentucky law. Thou shalt not, says the U.S. Supreme Court. Help! say confused local school boards.

A group of Crittenden County residents sued when their school board decided to remove copies of the Ten Commandments from the public schools.

In Bullitt County, an angry woman shouted, "And I thought we had Christians on this board!" after her local school board voted 3-2 last week to remove copies of the commandments from classrooms.

Such passion is butting up against the vow of a Louisville civil rights attorney, the lawyer who originally took the matter to the nation's highest court. He says he'll sue court against any school board that votes to leave up the Ten Commandments.

The controversy began three years ago with passage of the state law requiring copies of the commandments to be posted in all public school classrooms. The law was struck down by the U.S. Supreme Court last fall.

Backers of the law, led by the Kentucky Heritage Foundation in Louisville, contend the ruling struck down only the law and does not apply to donated copies.

But state Attorney General Steve Beshear, asked for an opinion by state school officials, says he believes the Supreme Court meant to ban the posting of the Ten Commandments in public classrooms under any circumstances.

A random survey by The Associated Press turned up 10 districts whose boards voted to take the copies down and 10 districts whose boards voted to keep them up despite Beshear's opinion that the boards are leaving themselves open to legal action. The state has 180 school districts.

John Wilson, chairman of the Shelby County board of education, said he didn't feel his board was defying the law in keeping up the copies.

"If there was a state law or clear instruction that they come down, I'm sure they would come down," Wilson said.

There is also a political danger involved, as the three members of the Bullitt County board who voted to remove the Ten Commandments found out.

"You're on our list," Kenneth Mills, one in a large crowd that attended the board meeting, said to the three. Mills and others urged that board members Bill Dawson, Charles Hamilton and James Robards be voted out of office when their terms expire.

The Bowling Green Independent school board decided in January to remove the commandments from the classroom walls. The Warren County board voted March 9 to keep them up against the advice of its attorney.

"We felt like the parents don't really want them taken down," said board chairman Henry Moss. "We were elected to serve the public and if the public wants them up then we will keep them up as long as we can."

The Hopkins County Board of Education passed a motion Feb. 2 saying it would allow the commandments to remain posted "for the time being." The board received petitions with more than 4,000 signatures urging that the commandments remain posted until the question is settled.

A petition containing nearly 6,000 signatures was circulated in Christian County to keep the commandments posted, but the local board voted to take them down.

"It is one of the hardest decisions I ever had to make in my life," said board chairman Richard Brame. "I'm bound by my oath to uphold the law."

Wolfe County Schools Superintendent Richard Jett said, "My recommendation will be that, unless we have a suit, we leave them up as long as we have 'In God We Trust' on the dollar bill."

Tom Riner, executive director of the Heritage Foundation, says his organization has volunteered to pay legal costs for any school board that is sued.

Sons second-generation casualties of Asian war

By JACKIE CALMES
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — If Dan Jordan could turn back time, his two sons probably never would have been born.

Unlike him, they've never been to Vietnam. But all three, he believes, are casualties of the war there.

The boys, now eight and 10, were born with missing fingers and wrist bones. The younger boy's left forearm is a third shorter than the right one. Each boy has undergone corrective surgery four times.

Their father suffers loss of feeling in his limbs, rectal bleeding, skin rashes and depression.

Jordan is convinced their suffering and his stem from his wartime exposure to Agent Orange, the chemical used to strip the Vietnamese jungle hideouts, but the U.S. government — "for obvious national and international reasons," he says — refuses to recognize a link between the toxic herbicide and high rates of cancer among veterans, of miscarriages among their mates and of deformities among their children.

"So Jordan, now president of the newly formed, Austin-based Brotherhood of Vietnam Veterans, Inc., and other Texas veterans are looking to the state for help.

Four state representatives — Bill Keese of Somerville, Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring, Jerry Benedict of Angleton and Gonzalo Barrientos of Austin — have filed four pieces of legislation on behalf of the estimated 500,000 Vietnam era veterans in Texas.

One resolution urges Congress to extend the time period during which veterans are eligible for service-related medical benefits. The limit now is the year after discharge.

"What that excludes specifically," Jordan says, "is people who suffer from genetic defects, but don't show up for many years after exposure — like carcinogens."

And, he adds, it excludes their children who suffer genetic defects.

The second measure is a bill requiring physicians who treat Vietnam veterans or their children with birth defects, to send records to the Texas Health Department. The department, in turn, would provide data to the Legislature and federal veterans' agencies.

Another bill specifies that Texas' attorney general represent veterans in class-action suits. It also would require the health department and University of Texas System health-science centers to provide veterans with genetic screening.

Had such genes-tests been available when Jordan came home from Vietnam in 1969, he says, he would not have fathered children.

"Of course," and if I knew that it was a great possibility (that he'd suffered chromosomal damage), how could I take the chance?"

Jordan still has never been tested. "I can't afford it," he says, "noody I know can."

He estimates the cost at $500. Multiply that by Texas' thousands of veterans and it adds, Rep. Keese acknowledges, "to a bunch of money."

Why should the state pick up the tab if the federal government?

"That's the reason — because the feds haven't taken responsibility," Shaw says. Keese agrees, and adds a second reason: "The state has responsibility for deformed and retarded children. When they (affected veterans) do have children, the state will come in then, so why not step in before that?"

Keese says the legislators will ask Gov. Bill Clements for an emergency appropriation but, he concedes, "more than likely he's not going to go along."

Attorney General Mark White agreed to the class-action provision, Keese says, but only if the health department is first required to compile the necessary data on which to base a case.

The final piece of legislation is a resolution that would require a legislative study of Vietnam veterans' problems in time for consideration of the 1983 Legislature. Jordan says those include not only health problems but also unemployment, high rates of imprisonment and psychological suffering.

"The figure that just blows me completely away," Keese says, "is that there were 55,000 American soldiers killed in the war in Vietnam and, since the war, 56,000 have committed suicide."

To push for the four-part package, a veterans' march on the capitol is being discussed. Jordan says, 50,000 persons possibly could be mobilized before the legislature adjourns June 1.

"The Vietnam War was one the country would like to forget," says Shaw, "but we can't let it."

House approves castration bill

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Convicted rapists and other sex offenders would have the option of undergoing castration in hopes of receiving reduced sentences under a bill passed overwhelmingly by the Oklahoma House.

The measure, contained in an amendment to a bill increasing the minimum penalty for rape to 10 years from five, was passed by a 66-25 vote Wednesday. It goes on to the Senate.

Democratic Rep. John Monks argued for the proposal, saying it was one way to "cure" mentally ill rapists and "make them productive members of society."

Democratic Rep. Frank Shurden, the bill's sponsor, said his mail has been running 25-1 in support of the sexualization idea since he introduced it.

Mize selected as Regents Professor of I.E. at OSU

STILLWATER, Okla. — The Board of Regents for Oklahoma State University and the A&M Colleges, during its March meeting, approved the selection of Dr. Joe H. Mize, an OSU professor of industrial engineering and management and director of OSU's Institute for Energy Analysis, as Regents Professor of Industrial Engineering and Management.

A native of Big Spring, Tex., Mize received his B.S. degree in industrial engineering in 1958 from Texas Tech University. His M.S. degree (1962) and his Ph.D. degree (1964) both in industrial engineering, are from Purdue University.

Mize went to OSU in June, 1972, as professor and head of the School of Industrial Engineering and Management. He held that position until June, 1980, when he asked to be relieved of his responsibilities as head of the school to become director of OSU's Institute for Energy Analysis, and to devote more time to teaching.

During those eight years as school head, Mize developed a School of Industrial Engineering and Management which is recognized internationally as one of the top I.E. programs. His faculty and staff members have won numerous significant awards and honors, and the students have a record since 1972 second to none in the nation.

Mize is currently president-elect of the American Society of Professional Engineers and will assume the presidency Apr. 1. He is listed in nine biographical publications, including Who's Who in America.

In 1977, he won an Oklahoma Society of Professional Engineers' Outstanding Engineering Achievement Award, as well as the AIIE H.B. Maynard Innovative Engineering Alumnus from Purdue University, and in 1979, received the AIIE Book of the Year Award.

Before coming to OSU, Mize was employed from 1958 to 1961 at White Sands Missile Range at White Sands, N.M.; from 1964 to 1969, he was an associate professor at Auburn University, and from 1969 to 1972, he was a professor of industrial engineering at Arizona State University.

DR. JOE MIZE

As a consultant, Mize has been retained by such organizations as Western Electric, U.S. Army, Farm Builders Associates, Honeywell, Good Samaritan Hospital, Boeing, Sandia and others. His work included computer modeling, statistical analysis, operations research, plant layout, simulation production control, information systems, inventory management and economics. He is the author and co-author of numerous books, and technical publications, and is a registered professional engineer in Oklahoma and Alabama.

Senate hears horrible horse stories

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Frontier justice came swift and sure for horse thieves left to dangle from the ropes that broke their short fall. And now some Texas legislators suggest that was a method not without its merits.

"They hung 'em," said Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler. "I've been thinking that might be appropriate now," said Sen. John Wilson, D-La Grange. Wilson said a horse can be sold to slaughter houses for up to $500. "They're worth stealing," said Wilson, "that's what it boils down to."

Farm Spray applications can help control greenbugs

By DAVID G. FOSTER
Extension Agent Entomology (PM)
Martin, Howard, Glasscock,
Upton, and Reagan Counties

Small grain fields throughout the area should be inspected for greenbugs at regular intervals during the growing season. When greenbug numbers are increasing, the fields should be inspected at least once and preferably twice each week.

Greenbugs can increase at a rapid rate. Greenbugs under favorable conditions can reproduce 80 young over a 25 day reproduction period. Small plants are more easily damaged by the aphids than larger plants. Small plants, two to three inches tall, can be damaged by 25 to 50 greenbugs per foot of drill.

Plants three to six inches may tolerate up to 100 to 300 aphids per foot of drill. Four to eight inch plants may be damaged to 200 to 400 greenbugs per foot and it takes 300 to 800 aphids per foot of drill to damage plants six to 16 inches tall.

Factors that influence the level of damage to plants from the attack of greenbugs are the vigor of the plants, the time of year, the moisture conditions, the stage of plant growth and the presence or absence of parasites and predators.

Small grain crops under irrigation production can usually withstand larger greenbug numbers than can dryland small grain.

Greenbugs are aphids, approximately one-sixteenth inches long, light green bodies, with a dark green stripe down their back. Greenbugs may be winged or wingless, with both forms in the same colony. They may be found feeding on leaves, stems or the base of plants just below ground line, depending upon temperature.

Greenbugs suck plant juice and inject a toxin into the plant during the feeding process. This toxin causes the plant to turn yellow and enough toxin will cause the plant to die.

Any stress put on the plant will increase the damage caused by greenbugs. This damage often occurs in localized spots.

As plants die, greenbugs move to uninfested plants, enlarging the affected area, leaving dead spots in the fields.

The only way to make counts on small grain crops is to get down on your hands and knees and look closely at the plants for the small greenbugs and their damage.

Their damage is quite distinct. Soon after a few greenbugs start to feed on a leaf, the area where the colony is located will take on a spotted appearance. The spots will be reddish brown and the area between the spots will be dirty yellow.

Damage will help you find the greenbugs but make sure the aphids are present in large enough numbers before applying an insecticide.

A minimum of five random counts per 20 acres of field area, counting the greenbug numbers on one linear foot of drill row at each location, should be made while walking diagonally across the field. More counts may be necessary in fields with larger acreage.

On small plants, greenbugs can be counted on the plants. On larger plants, slap the plants against the ground to jar greenbugs loose for counting. If greenbugs are numerous, estimate the number present. Make counts during the warmest part of the day when greenbugs are most likely to be exposed on the above ground part of the plants.

Spray applications of Cygon, De-Fend, malathion, parathion or Thimet can be used for greenbug control on small grain crops.

Bad luck rock returned to cursed Hawaii volcano

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Nixon Morris scoffed silently at a guide in Hawaii who warned vacationers on a tour bus not to take any rocks from the Mauna Loa volcano where the bus stopped to allow tourists to walk around.

"He said if we took a piece of lava the goddess Pele would put a curse on us. I've never been a superstitious man. Right away I got the idea I had to have a piece of that lava," said Morris, 59.

Today, he's just hoping that mailing the rock back to Hawaii will break the curse and return his life to normal.

"I just got nine days to go before they take this cast off my leg," said Morris, a hardware dealer who said he had always led a quiet life until he took the black rock home with him two years ago. That's when all the trouble started.

Morris fell off his roof, lightning struck an antenna and ruined several appliances in his house, and his wife got sick with a mysterious infection that left her knee swollen.

Then a burglar broke into their house and Morris fought with the intruder and suffered a broken hip and thigh, the family's cat was sleeping under the hood of Mrs. Morris' car when she started the engine and stripped one side of the pet bald, and Morris' granddaughter fell and broke her arm in two places just last week.

"That was really the last straw," Morris said. He said he had broken the rock in two when he returned home from his Hawaiian vacation and had given a piece to a friend as a souvenir. But it brought his friend a streak of rotten luck too, Morris said.

"He brought the rock back to me after he wrecked four cars in less than two years, and he'd never before had a wreck in his life," said Morris, who boxed up the rocks and gave the package to his wife to mail Tuesday.

"I'm mailing them to the Chamber of Commerce in Hilo, with a letter telling them why," he said.

Conoco to build $150 million chemical plant near Bay City

HOUSTON (AP) — A Conoco Inc. subsidiary announced plans today to build a $150 million chemical plant on the Colorado River south of Bay City.

John D. Burns, executive vice president of Conoco Chemicals, said purchase of the 1,900-acre site is being completed, construction is expected to begin in June, and production should begin in early 1983.

Burns said the plant will make Conoco Chemicals a major supplier of high density polyethylene, a plastic used for such products as milk and detergent bottles, pipe, merchandise bags, and industrial containers. Capacity will be about 200,000 metric tons a year. Burns said the use of technology developed by Japan's Nissan Chemicals Industry to produce lighter and thinner products will reduce raw materials requirements.

As a merchant supplier, Conoco plans to sell all the plant's production to other companies.

Burns said the site 11 miles south of Bay City has ample space for future expansions.

Raw materials for the plant will be received from the new Conoco-Monsanto ethylene plant near Alvin.

Sadat's wife visits Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The Middle Eastern nation that provided Americans a glimpse of treasures from the past now is displaying the arts and crafts of contemporary artisans from along the Nile.

Jihan Sadat, wife of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, brought a three-city exposition of modern arts and crafts to Houston on Wednesday.

"Before, we showed you King Tut," Mrs. Sadat said. "Now, we want to show you modern arts. We hope it will let us come closer, to give you a real image of contemporary Egyptian culture."

She flew to Houston from a similar festival Tuesday in Washington, D.C., sponsored by the Smithsonian Institution, and she opens another exhibit in Los Angeles today.

On her fourth visit to the United States, Mrs. Sadat presented an Egyptian tapestry to the Texas Children's Hospital and later was honored at a dinner given by Houston Mayor Jim McConn.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, MAR. 20, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A time not to resent slights or make sudden changes, or you could fail to gain your objectives. Accept conditions as they are and don't become irritated with others at this time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Try to please your friends today instead of talking about personal worries. Show more consideration for the one you love.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't irritate a higher-up or you could have more trouble than you can handle. Show increased devotion to family members.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be alert to opportunities but don't jump into old situations that need clarification brings right answers.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Use care and tact in attending to promises and gain the respect of others. A new outlet can be profitable.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You have to be tactful with an associate and prevent some action that could be detrimental to you both. Think constructively.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Quietly straighten out any errors at work and avoid getting panicky. A co-worker could be distraught so give words of encouragement.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have to be more sensible where practical matters are concerned to gain your aims at this time. Be poised.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Any situations that arise today should be considered from a standpoint of how they will affect you and family members.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Attend to duties that must be done early in the day so you'll have time for social activities later. Be cheerful.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You need to apply yourself more now to gain your cherished wishes. Sidestep one who will impose on you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Use good sense today, especially in the face of a possible emergency. Also, be sure to show thoughtfulness for others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Carry through with original plans even though you may be limited in some way. Use diplomacy in your business dealings.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who has to be taught to seek sensible solutions for whatever is puzzling and thereby avoid trouble. Direct education along lines of entertainment since there is talent in this chart. Don't neglect ethical training.

BING THE BONG — Out of town speakers and local leaders were in attendance at the H.E.L.P. anti-drug rally Monday night at Howard College auditorium. Inspecting bongs, used by marijuana smokers are Irvin C. Swank, of the Drug Enforcement Division, U.S. Department of Justice; Bobbie Wooten, Big Spring Parent Awareness H.E.L.P. Committee, Thomas J. Marquez, Dallas Chairman of the Texans' War on Drugs education committee, Sally Williams, legislative coordinator for Texans' War on Drugs and Elwood Hoherz, local chief of police.

Children exposed to peer pressure

Marijuana facts frightening

By ANDREA COHEN
— All children have been or will be exposed to peer pressure in the use of drugs.

— Marijuana use is more dangerous than drinking beer because marijuana is a mind-altering drug.

— Books are written geared toward small children encouraging the use of drugs.

— Big Spring is a main artery in drug trafficking from Mexico to the United States.

— Most drug addicts started using it out of curiosity and never expected to get hooked. Ninety-five percent of drug abusers started with marijuana.

These are some of the facts a large number of people learned Monday at an anti-drug rally, sponsored by The Big Spring Parent Awareness H.E.L.P. Committee. The meeting was in the Howard College Auditorium.

"Drugs are our biggest criminal and social problem," said Tom Marquez, Dallas chairman of the Texans' War on Drugs education committee. "The illegal drug business is highly profitable and tax-free."

To support his claim that marijuana is the drug most widely used, he explained that drug paraphernalia, items used in connection with drug use, are sold legally on the open market.

"The only reason for the drug paraphernalia business is to make it glamorous for the kids," he added.

Behind a display of paraphernalia confiscated by the Big Spring Police Department, Marquez showed literature aimed at young children encouraging drug use.

"And when the kids get into the teenage years, they can start reading magazines that are put out on newsstands," he said, holding the magazine to the audience. "Here's a copy of High Times with Willie Nelson on the cover. And if you want to know what drugs do, just remember him at the Democratic National Convention. He couldn't remember the words to the national anthem."

To reemphasize that the drug market is being aimed toward young children he told a story of an incident that happened near the school his children attend.

"I went into the store," he said, "and asked for two different brands of papers (to roll marijuana). The lady said 'You don't want that,'" speaking about one of the brands. "I asked why not and she said 'It's strawberry flavored for children.'"

He then held up a Christmas stocking aimed at the children's market, containing paraphernalia to use with marijuana and cocaine.

"Marijuana," he continued is the biggest drug used by kids. Pills, whether they be legal or illegal are the second largest problem. Texas has the largest production of illegal pill manufacturing in the country. Cocaine is on the increase with younger kids. It used to be used by kids mostly in their early 20s and up.

"One hundred percent of our children have been or will be exposed to peer pressure in drug use. They're exposed to it in the first grade and a decision is usually made by the fifth or sixth grade as to whether they'll use it, where as it used to be the decision wasn't made until high school or college."

He said that ignorance by the parents as to what damage can be done stems from the fact that drugs were not as widely used "when we were kids as they are now. In 7,500 different medical studies on marijuana alone, every one of them says it causes damage."

"Parents, the facts are 100 percent on our side," he declared.

"Overwhelming medical evidence shows marijuana affects the brains, lungs, the reproductive process and psychological changes."

He explained that THC, the major psychoactive ingredient in marijuana, lodges in the fatty tissues and takes four to six weeks to be completely eliminated from the body.

"That means if it's smoked weekly, it accumulates and lodges in the fatty cells. Liquor takes approximately 12 hours to be eliminated from the body."

He also told the group that five marijuana cigarettes do the same amount of damage to the lungs as 112 tobacco cigarettes.

"When they buy marijuana," he continued, "they don't know what they're getting. The marijuana can be laced with something like angel dust, which can make a person violent. Kids have no idea. They think they're getting the pure stuff."

"The solution," he explained, "is to form a parent peer group in every grade, in every school in Texas. The parents must get together and educate themselves and determine the most practical way for the child not to make the decision to take drugs."

Bobbie Wooten, chairman of the Big Spring Parent Awareness H.E.L.P. Committee and organizer of the rally said she was pleased with the response.

"I'm real pleased with the response and I'm real pleased with the turnout," she said. "I think everyone was really impressed with the program. This really is only the beginning. Just because people didn't come to the rally, doesn't mean they can't help. They can call me and you can put my phone number in the paper."

Mrs. Wooten's phone number is 263-7473.

Clothing price hike reported

"On Track" is an official column prepared by the Big Spring Centennial, Inc., and lists the various events and meetings being held in conjunction with the upcoming Big Spring-Howard County Centennial to be held in May. Individuals wishing to list their activities and events in this column are asked to call Mel Prather at 267-4373, or bring their items by Citizens Federal Credit Union.

CLOTHING PRICE INCREASE. Frances Wheat, co-chairperson of the participation division of the Big Spring Centennial, Inc., reported that all clothing being sold through the Centennial Store had a price increase effective last Monday. Wheat said the Rosebud Dress Company of Rosebud, Texas, had a policy of increasing their prices each year, but had failed to notify the local organization of the date such increases went into effect.

CENTENNIAL STOCK CERTIFICATES. The Centennial Stock Certificates are now available at the Centennial Store at 900 Main. The certificates allow individuals to purchase one share of interest in the area-wide festivities and reflects a contribution to the Centennial Celebration. Cost for the Centennial Stock Certificates is $5.

BROTHERS OF THE BRUSH AND CENTENNIAL BELLES BUTTONS. The supply of buttons for both the Brothers of the Brush and Centennial Belles has been depleted and a new order is on the way. Individuals joining these two organizations during the next few days will receive an official ribbon, which they will be able to redeem for a button once the new supply arrives.

TREAT YOURSELF TO A GOOD DRINK OF WATER... Culligan man says it's better than bottled water.

Culligan has alternative to Big Spring water

If you think you have to put up with the unusual taste of Big Spring water you don't. Neither do you have to haul bottled water. "That's too expensive," Richard Wright, owner of the Culligan Water Conditioning Company of Big Spring says. There's no better time than the Spring to start getting ready for a hot and thirsty summer. Think about purchasing an Aqua-clear drinking water appliance. The H-5 Aqua-clear appliance will make Big Spring water taste as good as expensive bottled water and for only 70 cents for five gallons. "The Aqua-clear can be piped to your automatic ice maker too," Wright says. This is the only appliance Culligan uses in Big Spring for drinking water. Culligan has an activated carbon or charcoal filter, but it will not remove the salt taste from Big Spring water. The Aqua-clear is reverse osmosis for your home. Your bottled water is probably made by the same process. Check your bottle. If you're paying more than Culligan's 14 cents per gallon, you're paying too much. The Aqua-clear unit fits under your sink and the special faucet fits into your present one. The Culligan Co. also offers free water analysis for your private well or in your home. The Culligan man can recommend the precise unit to remove the dissolved rock that causes burned out water heater, scale build-up in dishwasher and clothes washers, and tarnished sink fixtures. You can do something about your water problems. Conditioned water will give more suds with less soap in your washers. No more scale and film build-up on appliances and clothes. Soft water can help prevent red, itchy, or dry skin. Shaving is easier and blades last much longer. Just dial 263-8781 and say "Hey Culligan Man!" He will be glad to install an appliance for 30 days for free.

Dear Abby

Kids Also Can Leave The Gift of Life

DEAR ABBY: I am an 11-year-old boy who has been reading your column in the Camden Courier-Post ever since I can remember. I sure have learned a lot. One thing it got me to thinking about is this: If I should die or get killed accidentally before I am a grown man, I would like to donate my eyes and kidneys to some young kid who needs them. Children who are blind or have kidney trouble must need transplants, and I understand they can't use organs from an adult.

Abby, I would really like to donate whatever parts of me are usable to some kid who needs them. I think it is a crime to bury good organs in the ground when some child needs them. Maybe this will give other kids an idea.

Do they send donor cards to kids? Answer soon. Love, TIMMY IN N.J.

DEAR TIMMY: Yes. But minors require the consent of their parents or guardians before they can become donors. Discuss this with your parents, Timmy, and if they agree, write to The Living Bank, P.O. Box 6725, Houston, Texas 77005, and ask for a donor card. (Confidential to Timmy's parents: You certainly raised a beautiful son.)

DEAR ABBY: Would it be tasteful to run a combination bridal and baby shower?

ROSITA

DEAR ROSITA: Profitable, si. Tasteful, no! I don't recommend it.

DEAR ABBY: My 15-year-old son needed to see a doctor in an emergency situation, so I called our physician. He was not available, so he recommended another doctor. I called him, and was told that he, too, was busy, but if I brought my son in they would squeeze him in between patients at 12:45 p.m.

Before leaving for the appointment, I couldn't find my checkbook, so rather than be late, I went without it. I explained this to the receptionist, but gave her the name of my husband's company and told her that my regular doctor could vouch for my credit. She gave me some forms to fill out and I promptly completed them.

The doctor saw my son, and while waiting for the results of some tests, the doctor stormed into the waiting room, and in a fury he shouted, "You have some nerve! You can just go right home and bring back your checkbook!"

I was shocked and left the office in tears. Abby, we live in Florida, which has a lot of transients, so I can understand caution against deadbeats, but this doctor could have called the doctor who recommended him and checked on my credit.

My question: Do you think the American Medical Association would consider this doctor's behavior unprofessional?

NO DEADBEAT IN JENSEN BEACH, FLA.

DEAR NO DEADBEAT: My guess is yes. Write to your state and/or county medical association and file a complaint.

COMPOSTING — New steel slide-panel compost bin, the GrowMaker, provides access to finished compost while upper layers are maturing.

New bin makes compost continuously

Composting solves most soil problems

One of the biggest problems experienced by home gardeners is poor soil — not so much poor soil fertility, but poor soil structure. Compacted loam, sandy soils and clay soils all produce poor plant growth even when fertilizers are added. Compacted soils "lock up" nutrients; sandy soils leach them away and clay soils don't allow plant roots freedom to grow. The most effective remedy in every case is compost, with its fibrous structure and pockets of air allowing plant roots to breathe.

A regular program of adding compost to garden soil is the surest way to improve plant growth, since compost not only improves soil texture, it adds beneficial micro-organisms which manufacture plant nutrients and help fight soil diseases.

The difficulty experienced by most home gardeners is making enough compost to do the job. Many backyards don't have the space for several slowly-decomposing compost heaps at different stages of maturity to supply the garden with all the compost it needs. Now, home gardeners have an efficient system of composting that allows them to make tons of compost from readily available kitchen and garden wastes in a small space. The system consists of a new steel compost bin with sliding panels that rests on paving or soil. Called a Growmaker, the unit is scientifically designed to make tons of compost quickly and continuously, simply by dropping waste material in at the top, and shovelling rich, valuable compost out of the bottom within a matter of weeks.

Made from a new aluminum-zinc alloy called Galvalume it's four times longer lasting than galvanized steel and sturdier than plastic. The steel panels have air holes and slide up to allow access to mature compost at the bottom of the heap, while upper layers are maturing. A hinged lid provides protection from adverse weather — particularly excessive rain — and a rot-proof ventilator at the base speeds air circulation for speedy decomposition. Also, the cylindrical shape helps to ensure an even distribution of heat since there are no corners to cool off. There's even an optional thermal quilt to arrest heat loss and extend the composting season into cold weather when bacterial action normally slows down.

Catholic Diocese of San Angelo starts campaign to fund center

SAN ANGELO — The Catholic Diocese of San Angelo has begun a campaign to fund the construction of a retreat house-renewal center. Though barely underway, the drive has already received more than $386,000 in pledges. Pat Bunnell, lay chairman for the Appeal, and Omer Dreiling, co-chairman of the Major Gift Committee, report that this total represents gifts made by fewer than 40 families.

Pleased with the initial results of this year's drive — the first of what will be an annual Diocesan appeal — Most Rev. Joseph A. Fiorenza, bishop of San Angelo says he hopes that all 17,000 Catholic families in the diocese will be given an opportunity to help in the construction of the retreat house. Plans call for every Catholic household to receive a visit from parish representatives over the next few weeks, soliciting support for the Appeal.

Addressing groups of volunteers in Midland, Abilene and San Angelo recently, Bishop Fiorenza stated, "I have confidence in you, in my fellow priests, in the deacons and religious sisters and, above all, I have confidence in God that this project will be a success."

The retreat house-renewal center will have a chapel as its focus and will feature meeting rooms, administrative offices, a cafeteria, courtyards and two dormitory wings.

Upwards of 100 people could make use of the retreat house at the same time, participating in such programs as Family

Howard confirmers.

A wildcat has been scheduled and a confirmer finalized in Howard County.

RK Petroleum Corp., Midland will drill the No. 1 Clay, a 10,800-foot wildcat in Howard County, one location southwest of a 10,630-foot failure, 1 1/2-mile southeast of Knott, West (Pennsylvanian) field, 1 1/2-mile southeast of the two-well Buzzard Draw (Fusselman) field and one mile south of Knott.

Location is 467 feet from the north and 1,320 feet from the west lines of 21-34-2n-T&P.

The failure, Ray Albaugh No. 1 Hamlin, was abandoned June 16, 1951.

The Knott, West field gained its third and a 1/2-mile west extension with completion of Gulf Oil Corp. No. 1 P.E. Little, 15 miles northwest of Big Spring, to pump 11 barrels of 41 gravity oil, plus 14 barrels of water, with gas-oil ratio of 31-545-1.

Luna seeking $200,000 in 118th trial

Testimony continued this morning in the case of Pablo Luna, et al. vs. Custom Agriculture Service Inc.

Testifying were Pablo Luna and Jack Haynes. Haynes is the president of Western Equipment and Supply, Lubbock who employed Luna at the time of the explosion.

Luna is seeking $200,000 in damages from the Dec. 14, 1978 accident when a drum dryer, exploded, injuring three men.

Injured at the time of the explosion were Luna and Benito de los Santos, both of Lubbock and Oscar Cervantes, Odessa. Cervantes was a Big Spring resident at the time of the explosion and was an employee of Custom Agriculture Service Inc.

Luna and De los Santos were both employees of Western Equipment Company at the time of the accident. They were working on broken down equipment within the plant at the time of the accident.

Custom Agriculture Service Inc. is a cotton delinting plant located on the Lamesa Highway.

Retreats, Youth Retreats, Engaged and Marriage Encounters, Search For Christian Maturity and other educational and spiritual-renewal programs for men and women, for young people and the elderly.

The San Angelo firm of Chakos, Zentner and Marcum Architects, designers of the preliminary plans for the center, estimate the cost of construction alone to be around $1 million, while furnishings and landscaping would require an additional $250,000 or more. With over 30 percent of this grand total already pledged in major gifts, organizers of the Appeal are confident that these substantial gifts will eventually amount to more than $500,000.

At the parish level, volunteers are busy explaining the needs of the diocese including budgetary requirements for operating expenses — to their fellow parishioners and asking for their support. While the average pledge received to date has been in excess of $9,900 per donor, everyone, no matter what their level of income, will be given the opportunity to pledge a sacrificial gift to the campaign and pay off that gift over a five-month period.

A minimum goal of $450,000 has been established for the combined efforts of the parishes and mission churches. The remainder of the required funds will be sought from foundations.

As diocesan priests prepared to travel to San Antonio for their annual retreat, the Very Rev. Larry J. Droll, Chancellor and campaign coordinator, noted that "Throughout our 19-year history as a diocese, people wishing to go off on a retreat for personal reflection and renewal have either had to leave the area or settle for less-spiritual arrangements in motels or parish halls. The need for a central facility has long existed in our diocese.

The encouraging number of lay volunteers who attended regional training sessions shows that the people of the diocese recognize the need expressed by Father Droll. At one such meeting held on March 8 at St. Vincent Pallotti Church in Abilene, Mrs. Margarita Calderon, campaign secretary for that parish, expressed her support of the project by saying, "Anyone who has ever been involved in the Crusillo Movement (a diocesan educational program) knows just how much we need this retreat house."

Steers use Snyder pitchers, nasty wind in blowing to 30-11 baseball victory

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

To say the least, it was a unique type of baseball game, and the score matched it. Under some of the most windy, dusty conditions possible, the Big Spring Steers won their third consecutive game here Tuesday afternoon in Steer Park, scoring a whopping 30 runs in a 30-11 decision over the Snyder Tigers.

It was a game that, for all practical purposes, could have been called after the second inning, with the Steers leading by a football score of 16-0. But both teams continued to brave the choking conditions, even if most of the fans wouldn't.

With the wind and dust blowing as high as 45 miles per hour into the faces of the defensive teams, the hitters in the non-district contest stroked out 33 hits and five home runs.

Steer senior catcher Luke

Ontiveros, took the most advantage of the circumstances, stroking a game high four hits, with two of them being towering wind-aided home runs.

Mark Warren, Dickie Wrightsil and Tommy Olague added three hits each for the Big Spring team, with one of Olague's being a round tripper.

The Steers opened the game by using an Ontiveros two-run homer to achieve a 2-0 lead, but it was the second inning that proved to be more than set the tone for the wild contest.

The first seven Big Spring hitters in the second inning reached base safely, eventually scored, with the Bovines eventually plating a whopping 14 runs in the frame to extend their margin to 16-0.

In the wild 14 run inning, the Steers managed seven hits and benefitted from six bases on balls and two Snyder errors. Wrightsil, Beef Armendariz and Olague had the biggest hits of the inning, as each counted doubles.

Snyder managed their first run in the top of the third off Moe Rubio when leadoff hitter Brent Roemisch drilled a line drive home run that was no doubt more of a result of the wind than the power of the Tiger hitter.

Snyder then continued to load the bases with only one out, but Rubio got Curtis Gafford to hit an inning ending double play.

The Steers, obviously not satisfied with their lead, added four more runs in the bottom of the sixth before a near harmful error by Snyder third baseman John Wilson caused the coaches to call the game at that point.

With the high winds and blinding dust blowing in the face of Wilson, Big Spring's Russell Stukel hit a hard grounder at the Tiger third

sacker. After a couple of fourth and fifth innings, only to see the Tigers to score seven runs in their half of the sixth inning.

In any other game, a seven run sixth inning by the opposition would have surely spelled defeat, but in this case it didn't even make it close. The big blow of Snyder's seven-run outburst came on a lengthy blast over centerfield by Tony DeGrate, a 6'4", 255-pound hulk who has signed a football letter-of-intent with the University of Texas.

But the Steers matched that with six runs of their own with only one out in the bottom of the sixth before a near harmful error by Snyder third baseman John Wilson caused the coaches to call the game at that point.

With the high winds and blinding dust blowing in the face of Wilson, Big Spring's Russell Stukel hit a hard grounder at the Tiger third

sacker. After a couple of ounces, it skipped off the side of his head.

At this point, the coaches decided enough was enough. Actually, it was too much, as players had already escaped on a couple of occasions earlier in the game without being hurt due to the harsh conditions.

The win gives the Bovines a record of 5-4, and provides them some momentum as the District 5-AAAAA race nears. The Steers go to Fort Stockton on Saturday for a final non-district doubleheader, and then return home next week for their 5-AAAAA opener against Abilene High.

800 athletes expected Saturday for ABC Relays

The one-day track meet will begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday morning, and will end at approximately 5:30 p.m. the same day.

With the 21 girls varsity teams, their will also be a most competitive nine-team varsity boys field, as well as both JV boys and girls divisions.

Boys varsity teams be represented in the ABC Relays include Big Spring, San Angelo, Lubbock, Lubbock Estacado, Lubbock Monte Levelland, Amarillo, Caprock and Amarillo Tascosa.

Logback went through the girls list, and it is easier to say that nearly every Class AAAAA and AAAAA school within a 120-mile radius of Big Spring will be on hand.

Logback indicated that plaques will be given to the top three finishers in the boys and girls varsity divisions. "They are a little nicer than the medals that are usually given out," he stated.

Blankenship has recently been refurbished with an all-weather track, and Logback is anxious to see how it holds out with the abundance of athletes competing at one time in the one-day time span.

"Time is the matter on our hands," Logback said of the 800-athletes field. "The field events will be in the morning, and some of the running prelims. This will be our first real test of the new surface, but I'm confident it will hold up, and I also think we've got the meet itself set up so that everything will run smoothly and on time."

With the large number of teams on hand for the one-day meet, Logback stated that some of the normal preliminary races will not be run. Only the short distance races and hurdle events will have prelims.

The long distance races (800 and 1600-meter runs) and the relay races will all be run in final heats in the afternoon, with the winners decided strictly by time.

USGA registration Saturday

The United Girls Softball Association will hold their sign-up on March 21 from nine in the morning to five in the afternoon. Registration will be at the Howard College SUB. A fee of ten dollars is required for each player, as well as a birth certificate and parent or guardian.
