Funds for north side improvements denied

Cleanup crew chief to be hired

By JAMES WERRELL
The city decided, Tuesday night, to start the ball rolling on an intensive cleanup program for the upcoming Big Spring Centennial celebration.

Scott McLaughlin, chairman of the beautification committee for the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, has asked both city and Howard County officials for a contribution totaling $32,500 for the project. Money will also be sought from the Industrial Foundation.

The funds would be used to finance a coordinator for the project, a three-man cleanup crew, equipment maintenance, fuel, supplies and contract help.

During its regular meeting, 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, the council agreed to hire a coordinator immediately for five months at a salary of approximately $700 a month. Members also committed the city to a contribution to match whatever the county contributes up to $17,500.

City Manager Don Davis informed the council that the city's preapplication for a Community Development Block Grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development has been denied. The grant was to have been used to rejuvenate streets, homes and other property on the north side of the city.

A letter giving the reasons for turning down the preapplication from Jane Russell, director of community planning for HUD, states that "it was determined that insufficient progress had been made in completing previously approved Community Development Block Grant activities."

"What that essentially means is

Vickie Daniel hysterical on night of killing

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — Vickie Daniel, on the night she fatally shot her husband, bit an ambulance attendant on the knee and chewed on his jacket while suffering from what the attendant called hysteria.

John David Anderson, 26, an emergency medical technician with the Liberty County Fire Department, testified Tuesday in a child custody suit that he came to the aid of another attendant, Oscar Cantu, to help restrain Mrs. Daniel.

"She just kind of lunged at him (Cantu), and he grabbed her arms, and down in the floor they went," Anderson said. "She was hollering and screaming and trying to bite. At one point, she reached over and bit my knee and chewed on my jacket."

Anderson said the scene took place Jan. 19, shortly after Price Daniel Jr., 39, a former speaker of the Texas House of Representatives, died of a gunshot wound at the family home just north of Liberty.

Mrs. Daniel, 33, is charged with murder, but has pleaded innocent, claiming she accidentally shot him after he beat and threatened her.

The testimony came in a child custody suit filed by Jean Daniel Murphy, sister of the victim, who is trying to gain custody of Mrs. Daniel's two children from her stormy 4-year marriage to Daniel.

Cantu testified Tuesday that when attendants arrived at the Daniel ranch home, Mrs. Daniel was waiting for them in the yard. After entering the home and discovering Daniel's body, Cantu said he found Mrs. Daniel huddled in a corner in another room.

that we have not spent the previous two years' grants fast enough," said Davis. "The irony is that Bill Hall (local director of community development) did an excellent job with careful delivery of services. We were not frivolous and therefore we were penalized."

Davis added that the upshot of the denial from HUD is that all local community development money will be used up by July or August, and the local department will be shut down.

Councilmen passed on first reading a resolution calling for City Secretary Tom Ferguson to execute a note with the First National Bank. The note will total $384,670 to cover the purchase of a variety of heavy equipment.

Members agreed to lease the former Webb Air Force Base laundromat to Hydrocarbon Detection Service, Inc., an oilfield service company based in Oklahoma. The building will be used as an office.

Also approved on first reading was an ordinance transferring the gas distribution system located on the Big Spring Industrial Park to Pioneer Natural Gas Company. The only portion of the system to be retained by the city is that serving the Big Spring Federal Prison.

Leo Hull, a 25-year employee of the city, received a watch from the city upon his retirement. Hull was first employed as a warrant officer with the Big Spring Police Department in August of 1956.

Soon thereafter, he was promoted to detective sergeant, and eventually served for 11 years as assistant police chief. The remainder of his service to the city was in the position of operator of the city warehouse.

In other business, councilmen: —Awarded a bid for the purchase 2,800 feet of fire hose to the Pon Fire Hose Manufacturing Company for $5,200. Pon was the lowest of five bidders.

—Passed on final reading a resolution to execute an agreement with the firm of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper for engineering services.

—Approved a list of bills now before the State House of Representatives showing the consensus of the council's opinion on each.

Teen girl with broken neck still in intensive care unit

By JAMES WERRELL
Martha Esquibel, 19, of Big Spring, remains in the intensive care unit of the Odessa Medical Center after being shot in the neck by a gunman at 10:22 p.m. Monday.

According to Big Spring Police Lt. George Quintero, Miss Esquibel underwent surgery Tuesday for injuries which include a skull fracture and a broken neck. The assault followed the shooting death of her sister, Linda Garcia, also a resident of 1510 Mesa, committed by the same attacker.

Eduardo Maidique, 33, a Cuban national who immigrated to the United States in the spring of last year, was arrested for the crimes, 11:30 p.m. Monday, near his home at 104 1/2 Washington. The suspect remains in custody in Municipal Jail, with his bond set at $100,000 on a murder charge and $75,000 on a charge of aggravated assault.

Quintero said this morning that various details regarding the case would be assembled before the case is taken to the office of the 118th District Attorney Rick Hamby.

"A lot of the officers worked the whole night without a break. We want to give them a chance to rest up before we put together the final report on this," said Quintero.

Haig disturbed by appointment of Bush to foreign crisis role

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President George Bush is being given a key national security role following a bitter power struggle in which Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., the self-described "general manager of foreign policy," emerged as a clear loser.

Bush's appointment Tuesday night as chairman of a "crisis management team" came several hours after Haig made the unusual admission in testimony on Capitol Hill that he had not been consulted and was unhappy about the prospective decision.

And presidential press secretary James S. Brady said today that both White House and State Department officials had assured him Haig was "totally on board." On Capitol Hill, Senate Republican leader Howard Baker told reporters he had "no indication that he will resign."

Brady said Reagan had called Haig to inform him of the decision Tuesday. Brady described it as a "good conversation" and said Haig "had concurred in the decision."

The press secretary also said, "My sense is this had been discussed with him" before the first accounts of the plan were published last weekend. That comment conflicted with Haig's testimony Tuesday.

U.S. increases aid

El Salvador army patrols kill 38

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — The corpses of 38 victims of terrorism were found alongside El Salvador's streets and roads as the Roman Catholic Church and the leftist guerrillas observed the first anniversary of the assassination of the archbishop of San Salvador.

Authorities said army patrols made more search and destroy sweeps Tuesday in their three-week-old campaign against anti-government rebels in the north and east of this Central American nation.

It was not known if there were any clashes during Tuesday's military operations, which came despite a 24-hour halt in offensive operations declared by a coalition of anti-government guerrilla groups to mourn the death of Archbishop Oscar Arnulfo Romero.

Romero, an outspoken defender of human rights and opponent of U.S. aid to the Salvadoran junta, was killed by a bullet through the heart as he celebrated Mass in a small chapel in San Salvador on March 24, 1980.

A sharpshooter, believed to be a member of one of this nation's rightist death squads, was blamed for the slaying. Police said they were unable to trace him. More than 100 people were killed during eight days of mourning and street demonstrations that followed the assassination.

There were no reports of similar violence as the church observed the anniversary with hourly Masses in the national cathedral, where Romero is buried, and services in other churches throughout the country.

But Tuesday's dawn provided a familiar sight: the bodies of victims of assassination squads dumped along the roadside. Twenty-five corpses were discovered in slums of the capital, six in the city of Santa Ana and seven in San Miguel.

Every Sunday for more than a year before his death Romero condemned the violence that took more than 13,000 lives in 1980 and called for social reforms and better treatment of the poor in a nation controlled for centuries by a handful of conservative landholding families.

Speaking in the chapel where Romero was shot, the Rev. Jesus Delgado said: "This place has been sanctified by the blood of a witness of Christ. Monsignor Romero sought to become a saint by way of charity and God gave him the way to sainthood through martyrdom."

He reported that the Vatican is studying the possibility of canonization for Romero.

Wilson's sub motion 'saves' El Salvador aid

By PETER VANDEVANTER

WASHINGTON — An additional $5 million in military aid to El Salvador needed parliamentary help from Rep. Charles Wilson, D-Lufkin, to clear a House subcommittee Tuesday.

Wilson offered a counter motion to foreign operations subcommittee chairman Clarence Long's, R-Md., request to dismiss the aid requested by President Ronald Reagan.

Long, who recently visited the Central American country, argued that continued military aid is a "like a Gulf of Tonkin resolution to legitimize intervention."

Wilson said approving the Reagan request would "send a signal to the world that we support a strong stand against communism in El Salvador."

The aid package passed 8-7 after two hours debate but required the yeas of full Appropriation Committee members Rep. Jamie L. Whitten, D-Miss., and Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass.

It is unusual for committee members to voluntarily attend subcommittee hearings to vote.

Wilson's substitute motion had kept the committee from voting on the issue until the arrival of Whitten, full committee chairman and Conte, the ranking minority member.

In a related but separate development Tuesday, Reagan announced an additional $63.5 million in economic aid to El Salvador that would raise the U.S. commitment to $126.5 million.

That aid package — for repairing roads, bridges and farms damaged in the fighting — is expected to reach the subcommittee within a few weeks.

Wilson Tuesday said the military aid was necessary to continue support for the military-backed regime first helped by the Carter administration.

"I still believe that it is better to have a totalitarian, despotic, pro-American, capitalistic dictatorship than a communist dictatorship," said Wilson.

Wilson cited the example of Nicaragua which he said has become a "vehicle for Castro and an arsenal for communist soldiers."

More than 10,000 people have died in El Salvador since a group of military leaders now headed by President Jose Napoleon Duarte seized power nearly two years ago.

Long made an impassioned argument that increased aid to the junta may make them so well-armed the situation will threaten neighboring nations.

"Everyone I met with in El Salvador agreed that the real problems in that country are economic and social, not military," he said.

Long said aid to the "desperately poor" country could run into the hundreds of millions or even a billion dollars if the U.S. takes on the job of sparking long-term progress.

"I cannot help wondering what makes the administration think what we can accomplish in an immensely poor Latin American country what we have not been able to do in our cities, and are now preparing to retreat from in a gesture of despair," Long said.

Endorsement didn't hurt wife of Sen. Ray Farabee

Harte Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Helen Farabee, wife of Sen. Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls and head of a special committee on social services, was testifying recently for a bill to improve coordination between local Mental Health-Mental Retardation Centers and state facilities.

At one point, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby stepped into the room through a side door and interrupted, "It is a good bill and a good deal of credit for its development goes to this lady."

R.S.V.P.: No thanks, Mark
 That is a too-kind summation of Ruben Monilla's acid-dripping, three-page, single-spaced response to an invitation to "Mark White Night '81," and fundraiser for the attorney general March 31 in Austin.

Bonilla, national president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, wrote that White's recent activities "lead to the inescapable conclusion that he has decided to part company with the growing Hispanic American community in the State of Texas."

The Corpus Christi attorney singled out as "unfounded, irresponsible and (of) infinite harm," White's comments to Dallas Chamber of Commerce officials that President Reagan should dismiss federal civil rights attorneys.

"It appears that Mr. White sings a different tune when addressing his conservative constituency ... than when visiting LULAC halls," Bonilla wrote.

He also attacked White's efforts to get the Justice Department to oppose a federal court order desegregating public schools in Gregory-Portland as "reckless abandon of Hispanic educational concerns."

Evidently, Bonilla's angry regrets extend to future White invitations, as well. "If Mr. White plans to be governor some day, I would encourage him to repudiate (such) statements," Bonilla wrote, concluding, "Please remove my name from any further mailing lists."

So, Ruben, how about Peyton McKnight?
 McKnight, the state senator from Tyler, is a Democrat like White, an oil-millionaire like Clements and — like both — a rumored contender for the 1982 governor's race.

"I guess anybody would like to be governor of Texas," McKnight said. "There may be some who wouldn't but I think it would be a great honor."

As for whether he could use his personal wealth to underwrite a multi-million dollar campaign, McKnight said with a hearty laugh, "I don't believe I could ever come up with as much as Mr.

Clements did."
 A Republican attorney general?
 That's what Clements' general counsel, David Dean, reportedly wants to be if Mark White vacates the office to run against Clements in '82.

Dean is apparently using his highly visible role as public advocate of Clements' anti-crime bills to that political end, says a Senate staffer whose boss is carrying one of the bills.

New grand jury sworn in for Wood investigation

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A federal judge swore in a new 23-member grand jury today for the investigation into the assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr.

The new panel, to serve up to 18 months, takes up where a special 36-month grand jury left off in the investigation into Wood's death and the attempt to kill a federal prosecutor.

The grand jury that had been hearing the case reportedly will continue to serve, but no longer will hear evidence in the Wood killing. It had been empaneled June 17, 1980.

Chief U.S. District Judge William S. Sessions empaneled the jurors and instructed them on secrecy and they immediately went to a third-floor jury room to begin work.

Sessions made no reference to the Wood case during his 15 minutes of instructions. Several people were subpoenaed for today's grand jury meeting, but by mid-morning none of them had been seen entering the federal courthouse.

Marshals kept two swinging doors outside the entrance to the grand jury room closed to prevent news groups are targeting Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin for defeat next year.

 So is an Austin real estate tycoon, J.B. Goodwyn, who's telling potential supporters he's ready to spend a half-million dollars to take Doggett's seat.

Enough is enough ...
 So when a House hearing on a bill to ban commercial harvesting of redfish and speckled trout had droned for more than four hours, the committee chairman decided to make that point.

... to get another witness, Rep. Bennie Bock of New Braunfels asked pointedly, "Do you swear the testimony you are about to give is the truth, the whole truth — and short?"

reporters from seeing who entered or exited the room. These extraordinary secrecy measures have been imposed during the past several months in the investigation and sometimes witnesses have come up a back elevator to avoid the media.

Among those subpoenaed today was the stepdaughter of convicted hired killer Charles V. Harrelson, who has been identified as a "key suspect" in the judge's death, along with convicted drug dealer Jimmy Chagra.

Along with the stepdaughter, Theresa Starr Jasper of Houston, others scheduled to testify were George Edward "Pete" Kay of Huntsville, a longtime associate of Harrelson; Virginia Farah of El Paso, who employed Harrelson as a bodyguard while he was a fugitive last year, and Hampton and Joann Robinson of Houston, acquaintances of Harrelson.

For the past several months the grand jury investigation has concentrated on Harrelson and his associates. Both Kerr and Wood were considered tough on narcotics traffickers and federal sources have speculated that was the reason both were attacked.

Weather Most of Nation enjoys fair skies

By the Associated Press
 While most of the nation was enjoying fair skies, widely scattered showers and thundershowers stretched over the Mississippi Valley and the northern Rockies and Pacific Northwest.

Thundershowers were reported early today from the Texas Panhandle to western Missouri, and snow showers reached from Lake Erie to western Pennsylvania. Temperatures around the nation at 2 a.m. EST ranged from 20 in Marquette, Mich., to 72 in Blythe, Calif.

WEATHER FORECAST
 WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy north today, otherwise clear through Thursday. Cooler most sections today, warmer Thursday. Highs 60s north to mid 80s Big Bend. Lows mid 20s mountains and north to mid 40s south.

EXTENDED FORECAST
 WEST TEXAS: Windy and turning cooler most sections Friday with blowing dust likely mainly South Plains. Partly cloudy and cooler with diminishing wind Saturday. Fair with a warming trend Sunday.

WEATHER FORECAST — Showers are expected in the forecast period, Wednesday until Thursday morning, for most of the West. Showers are also forecast for the eastern Gulf and from the Ohio Valley to the Great Lakes. Mild weather is forecast for most of the country. Cold weather is expected for the northern Plains.

Committee settles problem with drinking age proposals

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A House-Senate committee apparently has settled its differences on a bill to make teen-agers wait an extra year before they may legally drink alcoholic beverages.

Sen. Bill Sarpalius, bill sponsor, said five House conferees agreed Tuesday to revise a House amendment, paving the way for a compromise.

Without the change, Sarpalius said, the Senate would have passed a bill which raises the drinking age from 18 to 19. Under the House amendment, a seller would be presumed to know a person was under 19 if the seller did not request a driver's license, military identification card or other proof of age.

Sarpalius, D-Hereford, was asked what the vote would have been had he asked the Senate to accept the amendment. "Right down the middle, 15 for and 16 against," he told reporters.

He said senators were concerned the bill "put a lot of burden on retail dealers."

His motion to appoint a conference committee was accepted, and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby named Sarpalius chairman, and Sens. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls; Bill Meier, D-Eules; Ed Howard, D-Texarkana; and Walter Mengden, R-Houston. Speaker Bill Clayton appointed the five House conferees — Henry Allee, R-Houston, chairman; and Reps. Bill Coody, D-Weatherford; Gene Green, D-Houston; and Ray Keller, D-Duncanville, and Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, who offered the amendment. "The House spoke overwhelmingly to the real problem," said Kubiak. "The problem has been enforcement."

Kubiak said the bill already protects the seller in cases where he relies on a false identification card in selling alcohol. Sarpalius said Kubiak's amendment did not specify a "valid driver's license." Also, he said, "it did not address the question of when a person is 17 and looks 25 or is 25 and looks 17. ... It's difficult to come up with the proper wording, but we're going to work on it."

However, he said, "if he (the customer) looks under 19, you'd better ask."

Burnett awaits jury verdict
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carol Burnett says the anticipation "is like waiting in the dentist's chair" as the jury deliberates a verdict in her libel suit against National Enquirer.

The jury of six women and five men spent six hours behind closed doors in their first day of deliberations Tuesday without reaching a verdict. Deliberations were to resume today at 9 a.m. PDT.

Miss Burnett, who sat through every day of testimony in the two-week trial, has been present at the courthouse with her attorneys to see jurors arrive in the morning and depart in the evening.

Asked at one point how she was passing the time, she said lightheartedly, "Praying."

Americans cross border in search of remedies

Grass is greener, gas is cheaper in Canada

By the Associated Press
Dollar-a-gallon gasoline isn't the only thing drawing Americans across the border to Canada. The grass is also greener on the Canadian side for those who want to cure a backache, get cut-rate dentures or save a bundle having a baby.

And as the Yanks stream north, passing them in the southbound lanes are Canadians in search of X-rated movies, cheap appliances or easy abortions on the American side.

They are all taking advantage of a unique symptom between two nations that goes back a century and a half, when they settled a series of major territorial squabbles.

More than 70 million border crossings are made each year, with heaviest traffic in such spots as Niagara Falls and Detroit where American motorists lately have been queuing up at Canadian stations for gasoline up to 50 cents a gallon cheaper than at home.

But perhaps the strongest bonds are formed in the little country towns that hug the 3,989-mile-long border.

Calais, in Maine, and St. Stephen, in New Brunswick, are a pair of 200-year-old towns linked by two bridges across the 100-foot breadth of the St. Croix River.

"In some senses, it's like one community of 10,000 people," explained the Calais city manager, William Bridgeo, the U.S.-born son of Canadian parents.

Calais and St. Stephen sometimes lean on each other. The Maine city buys its water from St. Stephen, and the two fire departments respond to each other's emergencies. The family and commercial web uniting the towns is even thicker.

Women from one side often have their babies at the hospital on the other, "depending on your doctor," Bridgeo said. Sometimes it depends on whether the woman is a dual U.S.-Canadian national who wants to capitalize on generous Canadian government maternity benefits by giving birth in St. Stephen.

"Some people spend their lives perfecting the system," the city manager said with a laugh.

At the other end of this continental divide, Blaine, Wash., population 2,500, has become something of an X-rated "outlet for the 1.5 million people of metropolitan Vancouver, British Columbia.

Blaine's two "hard-porn" movie theaters, "adult" bookstore, 11 bars and bingo parlor are packed with Canadians who have no similar attractions at home because of anti-pornography laws, "dry" Sundays and other restrictions.

But thousands on both sides make the crossing for more serious pursuits, often driven by pain, fear or high prices at home.

For years, women from the heavily Roman Catholic province of Quebec have been having abortions in the U.S. Northeast. Although the operations are legal in Quebec, many medical personnel refuse to perform them, prompting women to head south.

At the Women's Health Clinic in Arlington, Vt., social worker Dana Gallagher said the number of Canadians coming in for abortions has been declining, "but the newest thing is that we're getting many inquiries from Canadian women about having cervical caps fitted here.

"It seems that barrier methods of birth control are not as popular up there and not as available."

Going the other way, one medical lure for Americans is a drug called Chymo Papain, which does not have U.S. Food and Drug Administration approval.

Some U.S. doctors swear by this extract of papaya as a cure for spinal disc problems and send their patients to Canada for injections.

Canada can also cure a pain in the pocketbook for dental patients.

"Lots of folks from around Buffalo go to the other side to get their dentures made," a U.S. Customs official at Buffalo's International Peace Bridge told a reporter.

In Ontario, Americans can be fitted with full upper and lower plates for about $400, half the price back home.

White House press corps 'ignorant'?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reporters in Washington think the capital's huge press corps is isolated and ignorant of how the government affects people's lives, according to a political scientist who studied how the city's journalists work.

Stephen Hess, a Brookings Institution researcher who served in the White House in the Eisenhower and Nixon administrations, says four reporters in five worry about being out of touch with the country while working in Washington.

To find out about the role of the press in making democracy work, Hess questioned 38 percent of the 1,200 newspaper, wire service, magazine, radio and television reporters who work here. He also took a look at their products: the 1,872 stories they wrote and 132 television telecasts during one week in April 1978.

His results are published in a Brookings book, "The Washington Reporters."

Half the reporters who answered a question on their own politics told Hess they felt the press is unbiased; half thought the press has a liberal bias.

Forty-two percent classified themselves as liberal, but Hess found that most reporters tended to be skeptical of whomever held power.

"Washington reporters are more apolitical than press critics contend," Hess says. One 30-year-old reporter told him: "One bunch of bastards is just as bad as another."

Hess said the typical Washington reporter is a white male from the Northeast who went to an elitist college. He differs from most Americans because he works in a company town whose products are politics and news.

"The reporters' Washington is not a city of dentists, insurance agents, Rotary and Little League," Hess says. "The world of Washington reporters is inhabited by legislators and their staffs, political executives, bureaucrats, diplomats, lobbyists and, above all, by other reporters."

Reporters who specialize — covering economics, law, defense, science or some other field — are particularly concerned about writing over the heads of ordinary people. They worry about developing tunnel vision, writing in jargon, becoming beholden to sources or to agencies, losing objectivity.

Hess says reporters are a complaining lot, but in confidence they admit that their complaints are often groundless.

To hear them tell it, he says, they are overworked and underpaid and hassled by niggling editors who put errors in their stories and come up with juvenile ideas.

In fact, Hess says, reporters confide the opposite: They work 42 hours a week, file two stories a day and rarely hear anything from editors, who treat their copy deferentially.

Eighty-four percent of Washington reporters admit that they like their jobs.

Only 4 percent of reporters complained of arguing with the boss back home about slanting stories politically. Most said their stories are printed just as they are written.

Dallas Cowboys' trainer local seminar speaker

The Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center is sponsoring a seminar on Prevention and Treatment of Athletic Injuries on Friday. The guest speaker at the seminar will be Don Cochren, head trainer for the Dallas Cowboys.

Cochren's presentation will center on the use of the Cybex II, a sophisticated testing and exercise machine, to prevent and treat athletic injuries.

All local and area doctors, coaches, and school administrators are invited to attend the seminar.

It will begin at 10:30 a.m., break for a buffet lunch at La Posada Mexican Restaurant, and end at 4:30 p.m. Lunch for participants will be provided by State National Bank, First National Bank, Security State Bank and Coahoma State Bank.

There will be time at the end of the seminar for a question and answer session with Cochren.

For more details about the seminar, please contact the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center in Big Spring at 267-6387 by Thursday.

Coahoma City Council calls Thursday meeting

The Coahoma City Council will hold its regular meeting, 7:30 p.m. Thursday, in Coahoma City Hall.

Council members will consider granting authorization to stop payment on Waterworks Revenue Fund checks which have been outstanding for over five months. The five checks total $17,100.

Members will also listen to a report on the sanitary landfill from the water superintendent, and discuss the prices for installation of water and sewer facilities for the new Coahoma School building.

TMI neighbors calmer, but still confused

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Roaring boos and rousing applause still disrupt public meetings on Three Mile Island.

Hard-core activists are as determined as they were two years ago to keep the crippled nuclear plant closed. Their opponents, claiming America needs "a mixed energy bag," are equally determined to reopen TMI.

But the impassioned pleas of the public hearings are not heard in the streets of the towns near the reactor — silent since March 28, 1979, when it was shut down by the nation's worst commercial nuclear accident.

"It isn't as hostile as it used to be, when you couldn't even talk about it. I'm not saying people are not worried, but it's normal daily living," said Anne Trunk, a Middletown housewife who was on the Kemeny Commission, the group appointed by former President Jimmy Carter to investigate the accident, and now sits on a TMI citizens' advisory panel.

"Most of the people I come in contact with are not antagonistic. They are just confused by conflicting reports. I'd say it's calmed down," said Lori Dubiel, president of the pro-nuclear Friends and Family of TMI.

Still highly visible, however, is a vocal band of anti-nuclear activists. Admittedly weary after two years of legal and regulatory battles, they remain fiercely committed to their crusade.

Typical is Elizabeth Chavey of PANE (People Against Nuclear Energy). She contends nuclear boosters have no moral right to make her live under stress and pollute the air she breathes. "Their logic is simply economics and a job. Their argument seems to me pathetic, without compassion or morality. Economics to me is nothing," said Mrs. Chavey, a registered nurse with five children.

On the other side, Friends and Family of TMI presents itself as a voice of reason in a sea of irrationality.

"I feel really sorry that they are so terrified by it (nuclear power), because I feel their terror comes from a basic misunderstanding," said Cheryl Shipman, whose husband is a TMI engineer.

The anti-nuclear groups, joined by a coalition of labor unions, have planned a march, a rally and a utility "bill burning" for the second anniversary of the accident.

Mrs. Shipman said her group has no anniversary plans because it wants to avoid a confrontation.

And Mrs. Dubiel said supporters prefer to send written testimony to hearings rather than risk hisses and boos from a hostile audience.

Beverly Hess, president of the anti-nuclear Three Mile Island Public Interest Resource Center, said she has little contact with non-believers.

"Dialogue is important, but there are only so many hours in the day. Our focus has been on working towards an end, not building bridges," said the 54-year-old Quaker.

It is difficult to tell which side, if either, reflects the prevailing mood.

Friends and Family of TMI has a membership of about 650. The Susquehanna Valley Alliance, one of six anti-nuclear groups involved in the resource center, has a mailing list of 600.

Polls in two townships found a great majority of people preferred to keep TMI shut. People on Lower Swatara Township were polled in July 1979, barely four months after the accident, and 64 percent of the respondents were opposed to reopening TMI. In Newberry Township, 82 percent of the people questioned in October 1980 didn't want the damaged Unit II reactor to be restarted, and 72 percent objected to the restarting of Unit I, which was not damaged.

And state Rep. Bruce Smith, a strong nuclear opponent whose wife has been outspoken in the anti-nuclear movement, won election last year after defeating five candidates in a Republican primary.

But Smith said he received both pro- and anti-nuclear votes. And man-on-the-street interviews last fall indicated that Middletown voters — like those all over America — were more concerned about the economy than TMI.

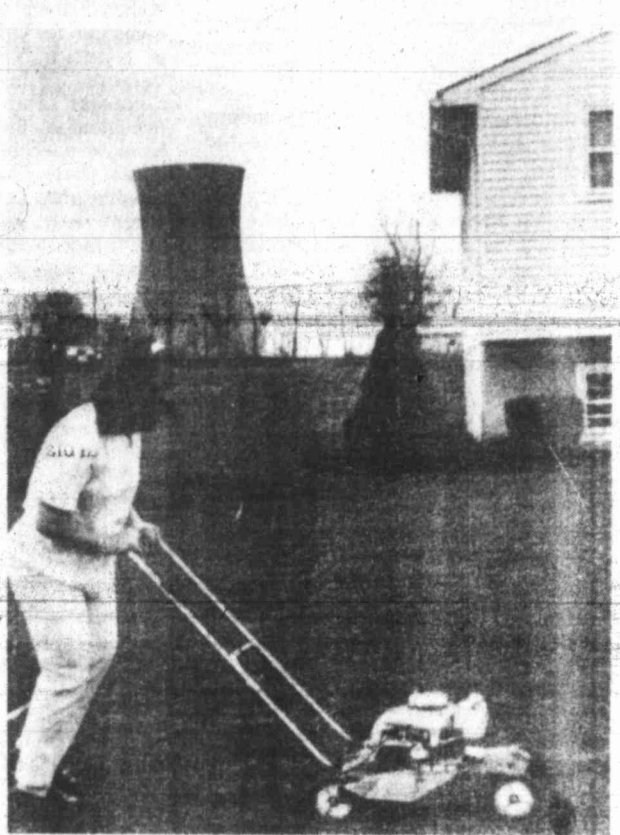

John Minnich, chairman of the Dauphin County Commission and the TMI citizens advisory panel, acknowledged that some people have been permanently affected by the accident.

"Their feelings must be dealt with. They must be heard," Minnich said. "But frankly, and here's where I'll get booted, I'm not sure they are representative of people as a whole. I have not gotten the feeling that they represent the majority view."

There is one thing everyone agrees on: TMI is being cleaned up too slowly. But once the cleanup is done, some seven years down the road, someone will have to decide whether to restart the plant or decommission it.

That, said Minnich, is when it will be learned which side has more clout.

THREE MILE ISLAND NEIGHBORS — A resident, who had earlier evacuated her home at the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant, mows the yard after returning to her home in this 1979 file photo. Hard-core activists are as determined as they were two years ago to keep the crippled nuclear plant closed.

Jack Little appointed to UT commission

Jack N. Little of Big Spring is one of 176 persons appointed by the University of Texas System Board of Regents to serve on the Centennial Commission of UT Austin.

Little, an attorney, received his Bachelor of Business Administration and LLB degrees from UT at Austin. An active student leader during the 1950s, Little served as vice president of the Students' Association, as Foreman of the Texas Cowboys, and as Abbot of the Friar Society, UT's highest honorary.

Little has served the Big Spring community as president of the YMCA board of directors, and as a member of the board of directors of the United Way, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. He is also a former recipient of the Big Spring Outstanding Young Man Award.

James L. Powell of Fort McKavett, chairman of the Board of Regents, called the commission "a group of outstanding individuals representing a cross-section of citizens of Texas and the University's alumni who have distinguished themselves in their business and professional lives and who have demonstrated a continuing interest in the University."

The commission will undertake a serious assessment of the institution during the 1981-83 time period which marks the University's first 100 years.

Wales H. Madden III of Amarillo has been named to serve as chairman of the Centennial Commission. He is a former member of the Board of Regents, a former president of the Ex-Students' Association and has received the Distinguished Alumnus Award. Mr. Madden also served on the Committee of 75, a group of individuals who undertook a similar assessment project for the University in 1958 during the institution's 75th year.

Among other West Texans appointed to the commission are William D. Noel and John Ben Shepperd, both of Odessa; J. Mark McLaughlin, San Angelo; Mrs. Joan Ragsdale Baskin, Stabley Erskine and Tom R. Sealey, all of Midland; and Dolph Briscoe, Uvalde.

RMA destroys chemical kits

DENVER (AP) — The Rocky Mountain Arsenal plans to destroy 21,700 obsolete chemical agent kits containing "very small" amounts of nerve gas, tear gas, choking agents and such blistering agents as mustard gas, officials said.

The $9 million project is tentatively set to begin May 1 and will take about 18 months, according to John Ursillo, chief of operations at the detoxification plant at the arsenal.

Manufactured between 1930 and 1960, the kits once were used for training military personnel to detect the smell of various chemical agents that might be used in chemical warfare. The military now uses simulants instead of actual chemical agents for those tests.

Democrats wary of Pauken at Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democrats are demanding that Thomas Pauken pledge an arms-length relationship with one of the agencies he soon will oversee, the Peace Corps, because they fear his Army spy work could endanger overseas volunteers.

Pauken says his Army intelligence work in Vietnam a decade ago should have no bearing on his qualifications for the job.

Nevertheless, he is giving increasingly strong assurances that he will allow the Peace Corps to operate with independence.

President Reagan nominated Pauken, 37, a conservative Texas Republican, as director of ACTION, the umbrella agency supervises the domestic volunteer programs, such as VISTA and foster grandparents projects, as well as the Peace Corps work abroad.

The Senate is likely to confirm the nomination with few if any opposing votes.

But labor union officials, representing Peace Corps and other ACTION employees, say Pauken's intelligence background makes Peace Corps volunteers particularly vulnerable to allegations that they are spies.

Peace Corps volunteer Richard Starr, for instance, was held captive for three years by political insurgents in Colombia who accused him of spying. He was freed last year.

"Political factions are quick to accuse innocent Americans of being agents of intelligence organizations," said ACTION union president Kenneth F. Greene in testimony prepared for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee today.

The Starr case was only the most extreme example of such risks, he continued. "There have been many cases when Peace Corps volunteers fell victim to the label of 'spy' and were put in serious jeopardy."

The Peace Corps, from the beginning, has enforced rules to deter even a hint of a relationship with the U.S. intelligence agencies. Anyone who has ever worked for the CIA, even as a low-level clerk, is banned for life from any Peace Corps job.

Those who have worked in military intelligence may be considered for the Peace Corps on a case-by-case basis, at least 10 years after their intelligence work.

Pauken, in an interview Tuesday, denied any connection with the CIA. He said he worked for Army intelligence as an analyst assessing the North Vietnamese relationship with the Viet Cong.

He said he supports the rules banning most ex-spies from the Peace Corps, and he pledged without qualification to continue the current policy guaranteeing the Peace Corps a quasi-independent status within ACTION. That pledge went a step further than his March 11 statement to Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., that he was "presently comfortable with the status quo."

Liberal Democrats on the Foreign Relations Committee planned to pose the same question today in yet another effort to get Pauken, and the Reagan administration, to guarantee on the record that Peace Corps volunteers can count on a degree of insulation from Pauken's intelligence background.

"What I want are assurances, and specific commitments, that the historic independence of the Peace Corps will continue," Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ma., a former Peace Corps volunteer, said in an interview.

"Without that, I would oppose him."

He said another former Peace Corps volunteer, Sen. Christopher Dodd, D-Conn., and Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif., share his concerns.

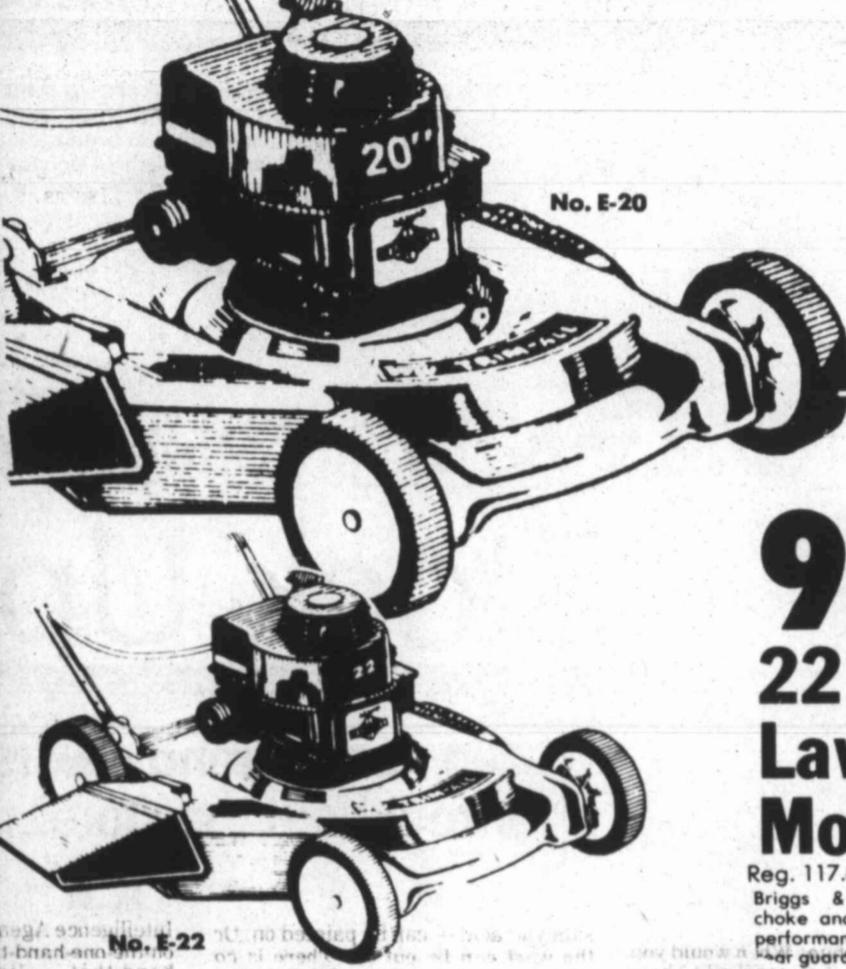

Yet the Democrats, picking their battles carefully as the minority party in the Senate, plan no effort to defeat the nomination.

Women in combat key issue of draft debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's defense of a military draft that exempts women is entwined with the related issue of whether women draftees would be sent into combat.

In an hour of Supreme Court debate Tuesday, neither the government nor the challengers to a male-only draft could avoid the overall question of women in combat.

Zeroing in on the issue, Justice John Paul Stevens challenged Solicitor General Wade H. McCree, Jr., who was trying to defend the exclusion of women from draft registration on grounds that Congress barred them from combat roles.

"Your entire argument assumes the constitutionality of that decision," Stevens suggested.

"It does," McCree admitted, "but that statute is not under attack."

And Philadelphia lawyer Mitchell Hospital trustees to advertise for computer bids

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell County Hospital trustees have decided to advertise for bids for a computer which will offer time-saving, cost saving features.

Hospital comptroller Richard Murphy made the proposal to the board at a meeting Tuesday night and outlined the advantages and possible cost of such an investment, which ranged from $64,157 to $93,306.

Additionally, the board approved two bids: One from

Interest apparently lags in Colorado City contests

COLORADO CITY (SC) — If absentee voting is any indication of interest in the upcoming local elections, voters are showing a lack of interest.

With only a week remaining to cast absentee ballots, there have been only 10 votes cast in the hospital board

Donald L. Weinberg, arguing that it was unconstitutional to register and draft men and not women, avoided the question of whether women also should be required to assume combat roles.

"Registering women does not dictate the number of women to be drafted or their roles," Weinberg said.

Robert Goldberg of Oakdale, Calif., one of a group of men who challenged the male-only draft, commented in an interview after the arguments that "there may come a time when women... will be allowed to fight in combat."

But Goldberg, a physician, said he would not be the one to bring such a lawsuit.

Answering a series of questions, Goldberg said, "If I have to register for the draft, then my wife should also. Again, if we have to draft people into combat situations, then those who are qualified, if that includes my wife, then she might be at jeopardy."

Higginbotham-Bartlett Co., for building supplies for the coming year, the other from Lubbock Sound Equipment Co., the nurses' new call system at Root-Valley Fair Lodge at an expected cost of $4,700.

In final action, Director of Financial Services George Whitten announced the hospital losses for the year to date, at $45,713, almost 45 percent below expectations, and Root Valley Lodge's losses at $31,019.

Both the hospital board and the city council races have contested elections, while the school board has three candidates and three vacancies.

Dear Abby

Mother-in-Law's Company; She May Be a Crowd

DEAR ABBY: WAITING IN WASHINGTON writes to say that her husband's 80-year-old mother has come to live with them. She is financially secure and draws a nice Social Security check. There are four teen-agers at home and they are barely making ends meet. Grandma has been paying a month, but daughter-in-law added up all the household expenses and divided them by the number of people who live there, which comes to $275 each.

WAITING asks you (and your readers) what Grandma's fair share should be. I say at today's prices $275 is a bargain for room and board. Tell Grandma to pay up or pack up! OREM, UTAH

DEAR WAITING: The woman who thinks $150 a month is sufficient is living in a dream world. My mother pays a nursing home in Spokane $1,260 for a 30-day month, and $1,301.50 for a 31-day month! Sign this. REAL WORLD

DEAR WAITING: The mother-in-law should pay $300 a month. She sounds like a selfish old witch who whines, "You'll get it all when I die." Then she leaves everything to a home for stray cats.

TIRED OF FREELoadERS, BOZEMAN, MONT.

DEAR WAITING: In my community, a modest nursing home is $600 a month. Husband's mother should keep her mouth shut, pay the $275 and be thankful her family doesn't just put her in a home and forget about her. RHODE ISLAND READER

DEAR ABBY: I am 88 and live with my daughter and her family. I give them my entire Social Security check ($370.70 a month), which I think is fair. I have a small additional income for expenses, so I manage. I'm treated with kindness and respect. I'm unable to help with the housework, but I do care for myself. Hope this helps. ANCHORAGE, ALASKA

DEAR WAITING: You are giving your children a great example to follow by quibbling about how much your mother-in-law owes you because you have to set the thermostat up a little higher. I pity you when your time comes. Your children will thumb their noses at you and say, "Pay up, Mom. You owe us!"

Both my in-laws, who are 85 and 90, are living with us. One is blind and the other is senile. Caring for them is not a burden. I consider it a privilege. NOT COMPLAINING

DEAR ABBY: I have a message for WAITING. My 73-year-old aunt checked into an old ladies' home. They told her she could expect to live another 12 years, so they wanted $55,000 in advance. She paid it, moved in and died a year later. No refund. (P.S. All her personal belongings "disappeared.") G.B. IN WOOSTER, OHIO

DEAR WAITING: There is no way a family can be adequately compensated for the inconvenience of bringing in a third generation, so the mother-in-law should keep only as much as she needs to survive, and the rest should be thrown into the family pot. She should do all she can to show her appreciation for having been rescued from life in a nursing home. SAN MATEO, CALIF.

DEAR WAITING: Teen-agers surely eat more than a little old lady in her 80s. Do your children pay you $275 a month for their room and board? You say, "But they are my children." Well, our parents, when they grow old, become our "children," as we were once theirs. AGHAST IN ASHVILLE

DEAR WAITING: If you are smart, you will play a waiting game. The less mother spends now, the more she will leave for the loving family who took care of her during her declining years. ALSO WAITING (IN FLORIDA)

Concert cellist to perform

Adolfo Odnoposoff, internationally acclaimed concert cellist, opens the 1st concert of the Midland-Odessa Symphony and Chorale "Series III" season in Big Spring High School Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Known for his virtuoso technique and lyric sound, Odnoposoff will perform the Lalo Cello Concerto in D Minor with the Midland-Odessa Symphony directed by Dr. Thomas Hohstadt.

To refer to concert cellist Adolfo Odnoposoff as "Poet of the Cello" is an understatement of fact. He is a virtuoso performer of the first rank.

Adolfo Odnoposoff brings a rich musical heritage to the Permian Basin area. (As first cellist under the late Arturo Toscanini, Odnoposoff at age 18 was a founding member of the Israel Philharmonic.)

The Argentinian born cellist began his studies at the age of five. He continued his studies while still at a young age in Europe with Emmanuel Feuermann and Paul Grummer in Berlin and with Diran Alexanian in Paris.

An outstanding concert career ensued. Solo appearances with major orchestras under the direction of Erich Kleiber, Fritz Busch, Rafael Kubelik, Paul Kletzki, Carlos Chavez and Eduardo Mata have carried him through every major continent in the world.

The New York Times critic, Eric Salzman, writes "... his reputation is earned for his is a sensitive and penetrating interpretation."

Odnoposoff resides in Denton, Texas, with his concert pianist wife, Berthe Hubermann, where he serves as Professor on 'Cello on the faculty of North Texas State University School of Music.

Thursday night's concert is jointly sponsored by the Big Spring Symphony Association and the Greater Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce and is made possible in part by grants from the Atlantic Richfield Company through its Atlantic Richfield Foundation and the Texas Commission on the Arts.

Season tickets for 3 concerts can still be purchased at a 33 percent savings at the Chamber of Commerce office or by calling 263-7641. Adult season tickets are $15.00, Student and Senior Citizen tickets are $7.50. Single admission concert tickets will be sold at the door prior to the concert for $7.50 adult single admission, and $5.00 student and senior citizen single admission.

RETRACING LEWIS AND CLARK'S STEPS—Four Oregonians clockwise from lower left, Gene Downs, Craig Zuger, Ann Samsel, and Gene Downs carry their canoes past Fort Clatsop and on down to the Lewis and Clark River to begin their reenactment of Lewis and Clark's return journey to St. Louis near Astoria Monday afternoon. The four expect the journey that was made 175 years ago to take them six months.

Physical Education is program topic

The School visitation week was a tremendous success this year with parents, grandparents, friends and neighbors showing their interest and enthusiasm in the school children.

Washington Place elementary school was well attended, and thanks to all of these adults who showed an interest, Washington school won first place in attendance over the elementary schools in the city.

The next PTA meeting will be held April 7 and the members urge all those attending open house to make an effort to attend this meeting. The program will be a discussion of the physical education program being offered here in Big Spring. The moderators will be Ralph Harris, head football coach and Ron Logback, athletic director.

Playground equipment has been purchased by the PTA and has been installed for the children to use during playtime.

Wood, Kerr assassinations linked, newspaper reports

DALLAS (AP) — The same people who plotted an unsuccessful attempt on the life of a federal prosecutor also planned the subsequent assassination of a federal judge, the Dallas Morning News reported today.

In a copyright story, the newspaper said a convicted killer has told authorities he attended a secret meeting in 1978 at which the killing of a "top federal official" — Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr of San Antonio — was discussed.

The same people plotted the May 29, 1978 assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr., according to the man's story as related by the News.

Kerr escaped injury when two men opened fire on his automobile with automatic weapons as he drove toward downtown San Antonio. Wood was killed by a single gunshot wound to the back as he left his home.

According to the News, the convicted killer has become a secret witness in the Wood case. He is currently under heavy security at a federal prison after his conviction on state and federal charges, including several killings, the newspaper said.

He was rebuffed when he first offered his information in late 1979 but investigators later believed his story and offered protection in return for his testimony, said the News.

"What he has said has proven out straight down the line," the newspaper quoted an investigator as saying. "It also says something when he doesn't ask for the (reward) money until there's a conviction."

A group of attorneys has posted a $125,000 reward in the Wood case.

Neither the investigator nor the new witness was identified by the newspaper. The witness said he attended a meeting two weeks before Kerr was attacked at which a group of men talked about killing "somebody big," the newspaper said.

He said he was offered $100,000 and a cocaine source if he would supply the weapons and dispose of them later, but he declined, according to the newspaper.

At another meeting shortly after the Kerr attempt, the same men said "a bigger hit" was in the works, "bigger than the Kerr deal," said the News.

The newspaper said law enforcement agents have seized photographs and identified several people who were at those meetings.

Kerr once headed a narcotics task force and prosecuted several drug cases before Wood, who was known as "Maximum John" for the stiff penalties he assessed in drug convictions.

Jimmy Chagra was scheduled to be tried in Wood's court on a cocaine smuggling charge.

Rep. Shaw to hold public discussion in Big Spring

Rep. Larry Don Shaw will hold a "Town Meeting" Friday afternoon in Big Spring to review the issues facing the 67th Legislature and to field questions about votes he has already cast or will be casting before the Legislature adjourns on June 1.

The Town Meeting in Big Spring is scheduled for 5 p.m., Friday afternoon at the Cactus Room in the Howard College Student Union Building. The public is invited.

Rep. Shaw said he will review his own legislative package and discuss the more controversial bills facing the Legislature.

"The main reason for the meeting, however, is to give Howard County residents the opportunity to tell me what their concerns are and to ask any questions they might have about what's going on in Austin this session," Shaw explained. "We'll try to keep it very informal and open, and I hope anyone who is interested will take the time to drop by to say hi."

Shaw will hold similar Town Meetings in Robert Lee and Sterling City on Thursday, and he said he would be scheduling public meetings in Gail, Snyder and Lamesa in early to mid-April.

SPRING FATIGUE? — Maybe it's spring fatigue, maybe this tiger only tries to enjoy the first warm sunbeams as intensively as possible, in any case it looks like being rather pleasant for the animal to spend his time in the Munich zoo "Hellabrunn" lying on the ground of his open-air enclosure.

Cocaine confiscated in largest U.S. seizure

SEVIERVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Authorities searched today for four people believed connected with the aborted shipment of 614 pounds of uncut cocaine seized from an unattended airplane at the Sevier County Airport.

Still wrapped in dozens of yellow plastic bags, the cocaine, with an estimated street value of $217 million, is under lock and key in Nashville, where it was taken for weighing, analysis

Braniff recalls workers

DALLAS (AP) — Braniff International will recall laid-off pilots and flight attendants and activate several aircraft in a major route realignment, a spokesman said today.

"We are realigning some of our equipment for the summer season, reducing some service in what we feel are our less profitable areas, adding equipment and people to more profitable areas," said Ray Chaunaud, vice president of public relations. "We are not dropping any service, but there will be some reductions."

Chaunaud said 49 pilots and an undetermined number of flight attendants will be recalled May 1, with a "strong possibility" more will be re-hired June 1.

Also on May 1, the airline will activate some Boeing 747 planes that Braniff owns but is not using for its South American routes.

"We have more 747s than we have required, but they haven't been in service because we alternate the use of them," Chaunaud said.

Braniff has been slapped with penalties from Boeing Co. because it ordered, but refused delivery on three 747s and five 727s.

Chaunaud said details of the revamped route system, which will go into effect April 26, will be announced the first of April.

"We want to wait until our competition's new schedules are in place before we announce our strategy," he said.

Of the airline's 2,135 pilots, 779 have been furloughed. Chaunaud also said 1,326 of Braniff's 2,929 flight attendants have been laid off.

"We think this is a good sign for Braniff and its employees," he said. "We look forward to the day we can recall all our employees."

After Braniff reported a net loss of $128.5 million in 1980, employees approved a 10 percent pay cut that will be applied to a profit sharing plan.

In a related move, the airline's 39 major creditors have agreed to defer the company's debt payments until after July 1.

and safekeeping after Tuesday's predawn raid, said Tennessee Bureau of Investigation officials.

It took 13 boxes and two duffel bags to load the cocaine bags, officials said.

TBI Director Arzo Carson said the raid by federal, state and local authorities resulted in the second-largest cocaine seizure in U.S. history and the largest ever from an aircraft.

"We've known for some time now that there might be a shipment of cocaine coming into the state, but we didn't know exactly when or where it would be coming to," Carson said Tuesday.

Sevier County Sheriff Carmen Townsend said the search for the four people was concentrated in the county.

Authorities said the contraband — 90 percent pure — could have netted about $75 million wholesale.

Agents had tracked the plane starting Friday when it left San Antonio, Texas, and headed for Colombia, South America. Two men picked up Bolivian cocaine and headed back for the United States, U.S. Customs Service officials said.

The plane landed briefly in Orlando, Fla., before making the stop in Sevier County in Upper East Tennessee on Monday night, authorities said.

Al Wenzlaff, a member of the U.S. Customs San Antonio air branch, said agents did not board the Beechcraft Queen Air until Tuesday because they needed a search warrant.

At least two men reportedly were seen leaving the airport in Sevierville, agents said.

Wenzlaff said he and other agents from his department were on surveillance aircraft with a member of the Austin, Texas, Organized Crime Unit.

"My partner and I had been tailing the plane but we were quite a bit behind because of some ground fog," Wenzlaff said. "Before coming to Sevierville, they touched down in Florida, but were never in touch with the control tower."

Carson said authorities had not determined the plane's final destination. He declined to give any details of the chase. The plane, valued at $90,000, also was seized.

The cocaine will be kept in a secure place, but not the TBI laboratory which has been broken into recently, Carson said.

He added that he thought the cocaine would be burned

AN OPEN LETTER TO FARMERS AND LANDOWNERS IN THE WEST TEXAS AREA:

Farming is rapidly changing from the days when our main concerns were hail, insects, not enough rain, too much rain, too hot, too cold, blowing sand, or early frost just to name a few. On top of these old bugaboos we now have to be concerned with higher interest rates, higher fuel, seed, fertilizer, chemical and labor costs not to mention the effects inflation has on our profit picture.

We at Howard County and Glasscock County Federal Crop Insurance understand these things because we are farmers ourselves. We know that crop year 1980 is one that would be best forgotten but we also know that it will not be easily forgotten because it will take the profits from many of the coming years to make up for the losses or loss of profits from 1980. From what many of our customers from this past year have told us, Federal Crop Insurance has been a life-saver. Some have even said it has been the difference of whether they stayed in farming or were forced out.

We don't need to tell you how devastating another crop failure can be. You knew the risks when you started putting up your land for the 1981 crop year. We do need to tell you about all-risk crop insurance. Our past experience as agents for the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, coupled with our knowledge of farming, makes us feel that we are well qualified to tailor a coverage that best fits your farming operation and give you the best service available to your policy. Under the auspices of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation, we are now authorized to sell and service Federal Crop Insurance in Howard, Glasscock, Martin, Borden, Midland, Reagan-Upton, Mitchell, Dawson, Andrews, Gaines, and Scurry Counties.

The decision is yours to make. If you didn't have Federal Crop Insurance last year, don't make the same mistake twice. Call Lonnie Nichols at 915-263-1263 or Bennie Blissard at 915-354-2411 and let us show you how Federal Crop Insurance can pay off in good years and in bad years. Final date to insure your crop is March 31, 1981.

For Ainge, it's back to basics

By the Associated Press

The pretty lady with the baby in her arms appeared in momentary distress. "Oh, goodness," she said, "Ashlee needs her pacifier and Danny's got it in his pocket. I can't disturb him. He's tied up on television."

"That's OK," said a good Samaritan, moving to the rescue. "I'll get it."

"Hey, Danny, your wife says the baby needs her pacifier!"

Danny Ainge blushed with embarrassment, reached in the breast pocket of his jacket and produced the soothing object.

The TV cameras had to grind to a sudden halt for this touching little domestic scene.

It's hardly what you would expect in the case of a talented young athlete, already involved in a major league baseball career, flown into New York and brought to one of the city's fanciest restaurants to be honored as college basketball's "Player of the Year."

Yet it behooved the man of the hour.

Ainge is a skinny, scruffed-up 22-year-old who looks more like 16 but whose sports talents are of such magnitude that he has had operatives of Major League Baseball and the National Basketball Association scuffling for his professional services.

Danny chose baseball, signing a three-year, $500,000 contract with the Toronto Blue Jays. The NBA, which undoubtedly would pay $1 million or more, was left with its tongue hanging out.

The 6-foot-4 high-leaping, high-scoring star of Brigham

Tulsa can win it all tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Syracuse hopes to complete a month-long cycle of disappointment and happiness on a positive note tonight when the Orangemen meet Tulsa in the championship game of the 44th annual National Invitation Tournament.

Syracuse completed the regular season Feb. 28 with a 15-11 record, its worst in 11 years, followed that with a glorious three-game sweep of the Big East tournament and then was crushed when other conference schools were invited to the NCAA championships and it was ignored.

Instead, the NIT selection committee came calling and the Orangemen responded with four more victories leading to tonight's game with the Golden Hurricane, this year's best rags-to-riches basketball team.

"Our backs were to the wall after the 15-11 season," said high-leaping forward Tony Bruin, a standout in the postseason after a 50-50 year. "Now the NIT is our reward for winning the Big East tournament."

"It's funny how life works out sometimes," said assistant coach Brendan Malone, who represented Syracuse at a news conference Tuesday while head Coach Jim Boeheim kept a speaking engagement in Philadelphia. "We were so disappointed a few weeks ago. Now we're just delighted to be in the NIT. For some reason we've put seven real good games together."

In addition to the three victories in the Big East tournament, the Orangemen have won four in a row in the NIT for a combined 22-11 mark.

To win tonight at Madison Square Garden against Tulsa, 25-7 under new Coach Nolan Richardson after an 8-19 season in 1979-80, Syracuse will probably need a healthy 6-foot-11 center Dan Schayes.

The son of former professional star Dolph Schayes injured his left ankle in a Monday practice and limped noticeably throughout Monday night's 70-63 semifinal victory over Purdue. Schayes had only nine points, well under his average of 15, but he had a basket, a free throw and two rebounds in the final minute after the score was tied 63-63.

"He'll be there Wednesday," said Malone. "He's in his hotel room with his foot in ice right now."

To win over Abilene Rubio paces Longhorns

Domingo (Moe) Rubio pitched Big Spring to an impressive District 5-A AAAA baseball victory over Abilene High here Tuesday afternoon. Final score was 4-3.

Rubio spaced five hits, outshining Mike Hargeshelmer, who was tagged for six safeties by Big Spring. In seven decisions this year, Rubio has won four times.

The Steers scored once in the first, added two in the third and won it with a run in the fifth.

Rubio shut out the Eagles until the sixth, when they broke through for all their runs.

The win was the sixth of the year for Big Spring, compared to six defeats. Abilene has won only twice in seven starts.

The Longhorns will play a practice game in Crane Thursday afternoon and return to conference competition Saturday here against Midland High. Saturday's contest will start at 2 p.m.

Two rally ending double plays in the fifth and seventh innings turned in by Tommy Rodriguez, Beef Armendariz and Tommy Olague wiped out all hopes for an Abilene victory.

After Mark Warren grounded out to start the game for Big Spring, Dickie Wrightsil singled to left field and Blake Rosson came through with a double to score Wrightsil.

In Big Spring's third, Rusty Hayworth walked. Warren sacrificed him to second and got aboard himself on a bobble. Later, Lupe Ontiveros singled to score both runners.

Big Spring scored again in the fifth on a single by Warren, a sacrifice of Wrightsil and a two-out single by Rosson.

Winning FG too late, Spurs say

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The San Antonio Spurs claim a 21-foot bank shot by Denver's Alex English did not leave his hand until time had expired in the game.

But the shot went in as the final buzzer sounded and the referees said it counted. The shot lifted the Nuggets to a protested 125-123 win over the NBA's Midwest Division champion Spurs Tuesday night.

"That shot was by design. I worked on it," said English, who took an in-bounds pass with 23 seconds left, dribbled over the three-point line, avoided a defender and let fly with the winning shot.

"Whenever I feel good, I put the ball up more," said English who led all scorers with 33 points.

"He dribbles the ball twice and shots, and banks it in. There's just no way that's a good shot," protested Spurs captain James Silas.

"In order for a shot like that to count, the ball must be out of his hand. The TV replay shows he still had the ball in his hand when the clock ran out," said San Antonio coach Stan Albeck, whose hopes of passing Los Angeles for homecourt playoff advantage dimmed considerably.

"In this league, when times runs out the game is over. The league has to make the judgment, but we feel we have a strong case," Albeck said.

"It was a judgment call. We all know it didn't count, but apparently (referee) Hugh Evans didn't. It's just one of those things," Spur Ron Brewer said.

Jubilant Nuggets surrounded English after his winning shot found its mark just seconds after San Antonio's Mark Olberding canned a desperation three-pointer that tied the score at 123 after the Spurs had trailed most of the second half.

"It was a gutsy performance by a team with no place to go," said Denver coach Doug Moe whose Nuggets are out of the playoff picture with a 35-44 record. "Lately we have been winning and we have been playing tough. We are getting ready for next year. The Spurs won three very fortunate games against us, the third being at our place."

District 5-A AAAA Permian, Cooper, Odessans triumph

ODESSA — Odessa Permian edged Midland High, 4-3, here Tuesday in the opening District 5-A AAAA baseball game for both teams.

Jerry Hix won it in the sixth for the Panthers with a single that produced a run.

The Panthers ganged up on Joel Castaneda in the third, scoring three times without the aid of a hit. He walked two and his team mates committed four misplays behind him.

Brad Phillips was credited with the mound victory, improving his record to 2-3. Phillips fanned six and yielded five walks.

The win was the fourth of the year, compared to seven defeats, for Permian. Midland High is now 5-7.

San Angelo's pitchers had trouble finding the plate, walking a total of six. Cooper scored all the runs in the needed with a two-run outburst in the first.

MIDLAND — Odessa High got off on the right foot in District 5-A AAAA baseball play here Tuesday, edging Midland Lee, 2-1.

The Bronchos had to go an extra inning to turn the trick. They won it when Hector Sanchez clubbed a bases-empty home run.

Lee's hard-luck pitcher was Alan Koonce, who fanned 13 Odessans and yielded only three hits from the second through the seventh inning.

Koonce was also invited in the Lee scoring. The Rebels' only run came home when Koonce hit into a double play in the opening inning.

JV teams tie in game here

The Big Spring JVs and Abilene's JVs played to a 2-2 deadlock here Tuesday. The tie was the second of the season for the Steer reserves, who have yet to lose this spring.

Abilene scored twice in the first inning. A bloop single into right scored both runs for the Eagles.

Big Spring came back to get a run in the bottom half of the inning when Adam Rodriguez tallied on a two-out base hit by Danny Arista.

Big Spring deadlocked the count at 2-all in the second when Alan Trevino moved across on a single by Marty Rodriguez.

After that, Oscar Limon limited Abilene to four hits while fanning six.

The Big Spring team, who has won seven decisions this spring, returns to play here Thursday against Midland High and goes to Odessa Friday for a contest with Odessa High.

Richardson is voted honor

NEW YORK (AP) — Michael Ray Richardson was named National Basketball Association player of the week for the period ending March 22.

Richardson, a 6-foot-5 guard, led the Knicks to an unbeaten week.

Survivors in playoffs all have confidence

By the Associated Press

Confidence could be a factor, says Virginia Coach Terry Holland, but it will favor all four teams in the finals of the NCAA college basketball tournament that gets underway Saturday in Philadelphia.

Holland's fifth-ranked Cavaliers meet Atlantic Coast Conference rival North Carolina, ranked sixth, in one of the semifinal games, while No. 9 Indiana and fourth-rated Louisiana State meet in the earlier contest.

The championship and consolation games are scheduled for Monday.

Virginia, 28-3, beat the Tar Heels twice during the regular season, but Holland feels North Carolina is a changed team.

"They're playing with a lot more confidence," the Virginia coach said, "but I think that's true of any team in the Final Four. I know we are, and I would guess Indiana is and LSU is."

During the season, Virginia beat North Carolina by scores of 63-57 and 80-79, in overtime, but both times, the Cavaliers had to rally from large second-half deficits. In the first game, it was 13 points — 16 in the second. North Carolina Coach Dean Smith's famous four-corners offense, a half-court spread, led to both defeats.

"Let's face it, they're a great team with a great tradition, and I don't think they'll change their game for us," Holland said. "We'll have to change our strategy, though. Down 14 won't work again."

Virginia won the ACC's regular season title, while North Carolina won the conference tournament. But while Virginia never has been to the Final Four before, Smith has made it five times — without winning the title. The last time North Carolina won it all was in 1957 under Frank McGuire.

"This one is for all the marbles," Holland said. "We have two films on them, and they have two films on us."

Holland will send one of the best big men in basketball, 7-foot-4 Ralph Sampson, against what has become one of the best front lines in basketball. Freshman center Sam Perkins, 6-9, will be giving away seven inches to Sampson, but he will get plenty of help from forwards Al Wood and James Worthy.

Indiana Coach Bobby Knight will be going after his second NCAA title. His Hoosiers won it in 1976, but with a more experienced team that relied on a starting five of Bob Wilkerson, Scott May, Quinn Buckner, Tom Abernethy and Kent Benson. All are still playing in the National Basketball Association.

"As long as we win, it doesn't matter who plays," said sophomore Isiah Thomas, Indiana's All-American guard. "We have to count on guys like Chuck Franz (sophomore), Mike LaFave (freshman) and Phil Isebnarger (senior)."

"These guys might not see a lot of playing time, but they're the guys who play the opposing team in practice, and they're the ones who take all of the bumps and bruises... they're the guys who set the picks and the ones who get knocked around," Thomas said.

Knight will start only one senior against LSU, 6-foot-9 center Ray Tolbert, along with three juniors and Thomas.

"This is not a one-man team," junior forward Ted Kitchel said. "It's a 13-man team. Just because some of the other guys don't play as much doesn't mean they don't work as hard in practice. They're probably the main reason why we're here."

LSU, meanwhile, will use three seniors — 6-7 Rudy Macklin, 5-10 Ethan Martin and 6-9 Howard Cook — in its first Final Four appearance since 1953. The big question mark for LSU is Macklin, who dislocated the little finger of his right hand in the Tigers' 96-86 victory over Wichita State in the Midwest Regional title game last Sunday. Although Macklin is a left-hander, he still could have problems since a cut on the finger required three stitches to close.

"The X-rays showed no broken bones or torn ligaments," said Jordy Hultberg, one of Coach Dale Brown's assistants. "When there's something this big at stake, you can just forget the pain."

BS woman is 2nd in contest

Annette Beams, Big Spring, won second place in the Miss North Texas Women's Bodybuilding Competition held in Dallas at the Convention Center March 21.

Competitors in the event were from all over the state, according to Mrs. Beams husband, Doug. The couple owns the Bodycentre, located in College Park Shopping Center.

Mrs. Beams has been bodybuilding for about a year. She competed in the Miss Southwest Contest in Albuquerque, N.M., last year, and won fourth place in that event.

Flushed with success, Floyd enters Hermitage

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Ray Floyd brings the hottest hand in the golf and the most financially-productive game in the history of the sport into the $300,000 Sea Pines Heritage Classic.

"Winning tournaments back to back — something I'd never done before — is rewarding enough in itself," Floyd said before a practice round Tuesday. "The monetary considerations are just icing on the cake."

And it's very expensive icing, too. Floyd's playoff victory in the Tournament Players Championship Monday was worth $72,000 from the total purse of $440,000. And, as the winner of the Doral Open the week before, Floyd also collected a $250,000 bonus prize put up by sponsors of certain Florida events.

Those two checks, along with the $45,000 he won at Doral, gave Floyd $367,000 in earnings for the past two weeks, $117,000 of it "official" money.

And that makes the 38-year-old veteran the man to beat in the chase for a $54,000 first prize in the prestigious Hermitage which begins Thursday on the deceptively difficult 6,650-yard, par-71 Harbour Town Golf Links.

"We all know that your golf game can go at any time," Floyd said. "But, happily, I'm still playing wonderful golf, the best of my life. There's no reason I couldn't win again."

"I'm not predicting that I will win. There are too many factors that go into it for anybody to say he's going to win a specific tournament."

"But I'm playing very well. Success breeds success. I'm coming in here with my confidence at a high point. I feel like I can hit the shot I need at the time I need it. It's a wonderful feeling."

Arrayed against him on this resort island is an extremely strong, elite, invitational field of 120, headed by Tom Watson, Hale Irwin and Bruce Lietzke.

Lietzke has won twice already this season and played well last week. Irwin, twice a U.S. Open champion and a winner in Hawaii earlier this season, has scored two previous victories on this picturesque course. Watson, golf's Player of the Year for the past four seasons, has not played up to his usual standards this season and is making his last start prior to the Masters.

The field also includes defending champion Doug Tewell, Jerry Pate, two-time Hermitage winner Hubert Green, and 1981 tournament winners John Cook, Andy Bean and Tom Kite. Jack Nicklaus, Lee

Athlete who conquered disease back at work

DALLAS (AP) — For most college football players, spring training is drudgery, a chore to be tolerated.

But for Jeff Apodaca, son of former New Mexico Gov. Jerry Apodaca, spring training is an opportunity that he was afraid he had lost forever.

For Apodaca, a one-time star New Mexico running back, his first appearance at a Southern Methodist University spring practice came just 15 months after he was told he had cancer.

"It's always been out in my mind, the time when my wife and I and the doctor had to tell him he had cancer," said Jeff's father. "The first thing he asked the doctors was if he could keep playing football."

A tumor had developed near Jeff's bladder after five games of his senior year at Santa Fe High School, a season in which he had already rushed for more than 500 yards.

But when his teammates won the Class AAAA state championship later that fall, he was on the sidelines and well into chemotherapy treatments.

"I can remember emotional lows after seven straight days of chemotherapy when I wondered if I could ever get back in shape — if I would ever want to get back in shape," he said. "I dropped 30 pounds — to 150 — in three weeks of treatments. I wondered if I could ever play again."

The cancer struck with little warning, said Jeff's mother, Clara.

"He was perfectly fine, then one Monday morning he woke us up saying he couldn't urinate. When we took him to the doctor... they discovered the tumor. It was so large it had closed the urinary tract."

"No one really thought it would be cancer," said his older brother, Jerry. "It upset us a lot for a few months until we could learn to live with it."

"At first it was tough to deal with," said the former governor. "We asked, 'Why us? Why Jeff?'"

"Then we went to Houston to begin treatments and for three or four days the doctors pounded us with the very worst. They talked about saving his life... and all of a sudden football seemed so unimportant."

But not to Jeff. "... through this whole trauma the only time I saw him shed a tear was at that point — and it was just for a moment — when he might have realized his football days were over," said his father.

"Doctors have not found a trace of cancer for nine months and all tests are negative," said Mrs. Apodaca. "They informed us last month the tumor was in complete remission."

So here is Jeff Apodaca, grunting and sweating through Mustang practice sessions, but why SMU? Largely, he said, because of assistant football coach Mike Barr, SMU's recruiter for West Texas and New Mexico.

Mackovic is hired by Pokes

DALLAS (AP) — John Mackovic, head coach at Wake Forest University since 1978, will join the Dallas Cowboys as quarterbacks coach this year, head coach Tom Landry announced Tuesday.

Mackovic, 37, was named coach of the year by the Sporting News, the Walter Camp football Foundation and the Atlantic Coast Conference in 1979 after leading Wake Forest to an 8-4 record, including a berth in the Tangerine Bowl.

Mackovic fills a vacancy left by Dan Reeves, who resigned as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks and wide receivers coach to become head coach of the Denver Broncos.

"I didn't think we would be able to add a coach at this late date, but we're very fortunate to be able to obtain a man of the caliber of John Mackovic," Landry said.

Moore greets 36 lettermen

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — New football coach Jerry Moore welcomed 36 lettermen, including 14 starters, Tuesday as Texas Tech opened its 1981 football spring training drills.

More than 100 athletes went through the first-day drills, the first of 20 scheduled performances. Six scrimmages have been slated, with the first set for April 1. Others will follow on April 8, 11, 15, 18 and 22.

"The main thing we will try to do this spring is try to get the kids in the right slots," said Moore, who was hired in January to replace Rex Dockery, who left the Red Raiders to take a similar job at Memphis State.

"We are probably going to change to an even defensive front and the I-formation on offense. I think the I makes your offense more versatile, plus our quarterbacks are more suited for that offense. I haven't had a chance to see a lot of film of our players, so it will be a learning experience for everyone," Moore said.

Among the returning starters are all-Southwest Conference performers Rennie Baker at split end and Tate Randle at free safety. Other top returnees are noseguard Gabriel Raviera, quarterback Ron Reeves, punter Maury Buford and offensive guard Matt Harlin.

FOR FAST, EFFICIENT, QUALITY SERVICE
 See Pat Gray's Body Works at their new location

Pat Gray's Body Works has moved to a new location at 700 N. Owens. Their new building at this location is designed to offer the best service to the customers. The facilities are designed for speed and efficiency, offering customers complete work in a short amount of time and at a low price.

Pat Gray's is well known around the area for their professional paint and body work. They can paint anything from soup cans to trucks to airplanes. Mechanics are also skilled in body repair for cars of any model, foreign or domestic.

They can make misshapen frames look like new, no matter what part of the car is damaged. The new building is designed to make the service even better. They have a lot more room to serve customers, and have many new facilities to lessen your period of waiting. These include a paint room large enough to paint a diesel truck completely. The paint room is well illuminated so that workers can do a better paint job on your automobile. The building has 10 work stalls, two machines designed to straighten misshapen frames on any make of car. In short, whatever your repair or paint need, Pat Gray Body Works is equipped to give you quality service.

In addition to cars and trucks, Pat Gray's will also paint small appliances. They do not use the special paint material they use on automobiles, but the finish is just as fine.

Call Pat Gray's Body Works today and add new-found beauty to any item, large or small. Visit them at their new location, 700 N. Owens.

Baby Things designed for your baby's needs

BUY, SELL, AND TRADE BABY ITEMS ... at Baby Things, owned and operated by Wanda Ford

Most everyone knows that babies are pleasant, but often expensive little people. Not only do they need quite a few things, but no sooner do they've outgrown them and need some more.

Baby Things, a new store located at 3103 W. Hwy. 80, is designed to meet the needs of new parents. Owned and managed by Wanda Ford, Baby Things sells new and used infant clothes, furniture, and a host of other infant needs. You can find beds, play pens, high chairs, bassinets, and car beds and car seats.

Baby Things also has a wide selection of diapers and clothes for infants up to size six. Toys are also available, as well as bottles and sterilizers.

Since most of the stock is second hand, prices are lower than at retail stores, and if you don't think that is important you've obviously never had a baby. Baby's items are quickly outgrown, but never worn out, so buying from Baby Things is indeed a wise investment.

Baby Things meets a need in Big Spring. Instead of buying all the items at one store at a high price, new or future parents can buy from a store at low resale prices, without time consuming garage sale hunts.

Baby Things is open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Their number is 263-8291. Baby Things can offer just about everything you need for your baby, at a cost that will please you.

Legislators urged to follow census figures for redistricting plans

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Legislators drawing up new districts for themselves and their successors ought to stick very close to the population standards established by the U.S. Census Bureau, the chairman of the House Redistricting Committee said.

"We probably need to be thinking in terms of a deviation of not more than 5 percent from the norm," Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-

Goliad, said Tuesday as his committee began hearings.

If all 150 House districts were equal, each should have 94,856 people, according to U.S. Census figures.

Austin lawyer Steve Bickerstaff, advising the committee, said the largest deviation allowed by past federal court cases has been 10 percent, and then only when unavoidable and clearly justified.

And no matter how good a job the Legislature does of redistricting, somebody will go to court to challenge the result, he predicted.

The committee plans to hear testimony first on districts to represent the less-populated areas, then hear from legislators and residents of the big cities.

Population data, broken down by census tracts, is due from the Census Bureau on April 1 and the committee then will be able to begin work in earnest, particularly on metropolitan districts.

Rep. Bill Presnal, D-Bryan, was the first legislator to voice his thoughts on his district. Presnal's job was an easy one, since his home county, Brazos, has 93,487 people, close to the mathematical ideal.

Presnal said the county is coming closer to that ideal each day since it is the fastest growing county in Texas and the sixth fastest in the United States.

He also represents Robertson County and said he recognizes he will have to give it to another legislator.

Rep. Elton Bomer, D-Montalba, said he has no preference whether his district should be balanced by giving up Freestone County or a "neck" of land that includes 14,000 people in Smith County. His district has about 14,000 too many people.

Rep. Jim Turner, D-Crockett, said his district is 5.1 percent under the equal population standard but probably will grow rapidly because of plans for lignite mining in Cherokee, Leon and Limestone counties.
