FATAL ACCIDENT—Susan Kim Guthrie, 27, 5 Indian Ridge, died Tuesday night when the car she was driving flipped on the median between the 300 block of West FM 700 and the South Service Road of IS-20.

Woman killed, two passengers injured when auto overturns

By JAMES WERRELL

A 27-year-old local woman died after being thrown from the car she was driving east on FM 700, 7:20 p.m. Tuesday.

Susan Kim Guthrie, 5 Indian Ridge, was pronounced dead at Malone-Hogan Hospital, following a one-car, rollover accident at the intersection of FM 700 and the South Service Road of IS-20.

Two passengers in the car, Lisa E. Burnett, 25, 1407 Young, and Leslie Kay Farrell, 23, Wasson Road, were treated for minor injuries at Malone-Hogan and released.

According to reports, the 1979 Dodge Magnum driven by Miss Guthrie had been eastbound on FM 700 near the Highland South Shopping Center. The auto struck the median between the east and west lanes; the two left tires of the car crept onto the median, and from that point on the car was out of control.

After jumping off the median, the car sped erratically across the two east lanes, struck a curb and a streetlight, and then jumped onto the dirt median between FM 700 and the service road. After traveling approximately 200 feet on the median, the car struck a concrete culvert, breaking off a wheel, and causing the auto to roll several times.

During the roll, the driver was thrown from the car. She was pronounced dead at the hospital by Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin.

Councilmen to stop sending water, sewer bill to firm

LORAIN (SC) — Before adjourning Tuesday night, the Loraine city council voted to stop a business practice it has practiced for 25 years — that of sending a water and sewer bill to Continental Telephone Company of Baird.

The council arrived at its decision after the firm, which maintains an office in Loraine, petitioned the council to straighten out its billing business. Although Continental has been paying the city the minimum bill since 1956, its office building has neither water nor sewage connections.

The council swore in three new members Tuesday night after it was announced incumbent Everett Henderson withdrew from a runoff with Jack Brewer. Both men had pulled 55 votes in last Saturday's election. Brewer, along with Tommy Green, Calvin Forbus and Mayor Vance Dickerson, were administered the oath of office.

Approval of the 1981-82 budget was next on the Agenda with the figure set at $157,100, down from last year's figure of $176,000.

Also approved was a resolution which provides for the taxing of family cars and light trucks. City Secretary Linda Lee stated this tax brings in approximately one fourth of the city's tax roll. The vehicles will be taxed on 100 percent valuation but, with a reduced rate of 84 cents per $100 valuation, which amounts to the same dollar and cent figure as last year, when vehicles were taxed on 80 percent valuation.

Additionally, the council amended its ordinance with Lone Star Gas, redefining a gas "service-line," and the council agreed to buy the fire department 250 feet of hose.

High court upholds 45 years for Swink murder

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Court of Criminal Appeals today upheld the murder conviction of a boy accused of killing his brother during an early morning bloodbath in which his father and stepmother also died.

Roy Glen Swink of Aspermont was convicted of the Jan. 24, 1978 shotgun murder of his brother, 14-year-old Royce Swink, and assessed a 45-year sentence. Roy was 16 at the time of the killing.

White House blasted for 'bunker mentality'

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the House Budget Committee resumed its work today, Chairman James Jones, D-Okla., blasted the administration for adopting a "bunker mentality" by insisting that its economic program of tax and spending cuts be approved without change.

"No administration has ever made such demands and no Congress has ever accepted such demands.

"It's not the job of Congress not to think," Jones said.

He added, "I hope that this attitude, which is a bunker mentality, will not continue."

He noted that when the Senate reviewed Reagan's proposed budget cuts last week, it accepted a move by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., to restore some of the Reagan-backed cuts in nutrition programs and remove money from foreign aid.

Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, retorted that Jones' Democratic alternative "apparently is not going over as well in the country and in the Congress" as the Democrats had hoped.

Noting that Reagan's own plan apparently does enjoy public support, he said, "If we can't do it here we've got another place, and that's on the floor of the House."

The panel began work Tuesday with Democrats using their controlling influence to knock down Reagan's proposal that the government spend $695.3 billion next year and incur a deficit of $45 billion. Instead the committee voted to accept the proposal by Jones for spending of $713.5 billion with a projected deficit of $24.6 billion.

The committee still can change the overall figures as it continues going through details of the budget this week, but the action placed the panel squarely behind the Democratic plan — which envisions smaller tax cuts, more spending on social programs and less on defense.

Jones said he hopes to complete work Thursday and bring the package to the House floor after Congress returns from its Easter recess April 27.

Meanwhile, the Senate Budget Committee, controlled by Republicans, voted along party lines Tuesday to work from a set of economic predictions endorsed by the administration, instead of a less rosy forecast prepared by congressional budget experts.

The House panel rejected Reagan's spending package and accepted the one offered by Jones in two 17-13 votes. The committee's 12 Republicans and a sole Democrat, Rep. Phil Gramm of Texas, voted against the Democratic proposal.

The Democratic plan calls for slightly deeper budget cuts overall than those requested by the administration and recommends a balanced budget in 1983, a year ahead of the president.

But it also rejects the administration's proposal for a three-year, across-the-board cut in income taxes, substituting a less expensive one-year plan.

Vice President George Bush rejected the committee action Tuesday, declaring, "If we're going to have some battles on the House side, we're prepared to do it."

Bush told an impromptu news conference at the Capitol that "we are determined that this package that the president has proposed will get a chance...and get this country back to work."

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., predicted that Democrats would be able to pass their plan on the House floor.

But the 51-vote Democratic majority in the House is tenuous because a group of 44 conservative Democrats, including Gramm, has not yet indicated which way it will go when the measure reaches the floor.

At the White House, the administration's top economic officials reiterated Tuesday that the Democratic alternative proposed by Jones is unacceptable and provides no grounds for compromise.

Big Spring City Council sets April 21 as date for runoff

The Big Spring City Council set Tuesday, April 21, as the date for the runoff election for two seats on the council.

After narrowly failing to attract 51 percent of the voters in Saturday's regular election, Place 3 incumbent Jack Y. Smith, and frontrunner for the Place 4 seat, Robert "Russ" McEwen, will again face challengers in the runoff. Second-place finisher

Michael Randle will try to unseat Smith, while the next-highest vote getter in the Place 4 race, Donna Fish, will have a rematch with McEwen.

All candidates were present at the council's special meeting, 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, and agreed to the selected date for the runoff. Absentee voting will begin Thursday in the office of City Secretary Tom Ferguson, and will continue until April 17.

Possible sale of all OIL assets to Kidde Corp. talked Negotiations reportedly are going on today in Washington, D.C., between representatives of OIL (Oilfield Industrial Lines Inc.) and the Kidde Corp., concerning the possible sale of all OIL assets to Kidde.

OIL is a major tenant at the Big Spring Industrial Park, where it manufactures oil rigs.

Charles Christopher, OIL's chairman of the board and Jack Donaldson, OIL president, flew to Washington today to perform another mission.

Members of the Big Spring City Council voted, during a special meeting, 6:30 p.m. Tuesday, to allow the transfer of the Oilfield Industrial Line Company (O.I.L.) lease at the Big Spring Industrial Park.

Kidde's home office is 9 Brighton Road, Clifton, N.J. The firm's chairman of the board is F.R. Sullivan. Kidde's stock was selling on the New York Stock Exchange today for 48 1/4.

Kidde Inc., is a diversified manufacturing enterprise. Its product line includes industrial and commercial materials handling equipment, business and commercial products, automotive and aircraft equipment, safety, security and protection (fire protection equipment, lighting products and housewares and sports and leisure products).

One of its subsidiary firms, Grove Crane, manufactures a 150-ton hydraulic crane that was introduced in 1981. Its production was immediately sold out.

Kidde reportedly has assets valued at $2.5 billion.

No announcement of Kidde's plans was made but a member of the Big Spring Industrial Board said he had been told the firm planned to expand the local operation, as it acquires OIL's assets.

Second gunman promising to kill Reagan arrested

NEW YORK (AP) — Federal authorities were searching today for any possible connection between accused presidential assailant John W. Hinckley Jr. and a man arrested here with a loaded pistol who allegedly threatened to "bring to completion Hinckley's reality."

Officials said there was no evidence of any conspiracy between Hinckley, accused of wounding President Reagan and three other men last week, and Edward M. Richardson, who allegedly told officials who arrested him at a bus station Tuesday that he was on his way to Washington to kill Reagan or other high officials.

However, the Daily News quoted sources as saying the Secret Service was investigating reports the two may once have been roommates.

And according to officials, there were similarities between Hinckley and Richardson, who was arrested after authorities were tipped off by a maid who found a threatening note in a hotel room.

Richardson apparently shared Hinckley's affection for teen-age actress Jodie Foster.

Richardson recently occupied a room in the same New Haven, Conn., hotel where Hinckley stayed earlier. The hotel was near the campus of Yale University, where Miss Foster is a student.

Richardson spent several months living with his sisters in Lakewood, Colo., 20 miles from Hinckley's home in Evergreen. Hinckley later stayed in a motel three miles from Richardson's sisters' home in Lakewood.

Richardson, 22, of the Philadelphia suburb of Drexel Hill, also allegedly told authorities he was responsible for recent phone calls and letters threatening Miss Foster — including a threat to blow up her dormitory unless Hinckley was released, said federal prosecutor John Martin.

But Martin said there was "no evidence to support speculation of a conspiracy" between the two. The Secret Service and one of Richardson's sisters said there was no indication they had met.

"I don't think at this time we see any connection," said FBI spokesman Roger Young. "We're checking into the possibility."

Richardson checked in at the New Haven hotel and wrote the letter to Miss Foster after the Reagan shooting, authorities said.

CHARGED WITH THREATENING PRESIDENT — Edward Michael Richardson arrives at the Manhattan Correctional Facility Tuesday. The 22-year-old Pennsylvania man was arrested in New York's Port Authority Bus Terminal and charged with threatening the life of President Ronald Reagan, according to the Secret Service. Richardson was armed with a loaded .32-caliber revolver when arrested, the Secret Service said.

A surprised Dr. P. W. Malone learned at Tuesday's meeting of the Howard County Junior College District's board of trustees that the Science and Math building at Howard College has been named for him.

When Board President Don McKinney rose to inform Malone that other members of the board had voted unanimously to lend the doctor's name to the structure, Malone appeared stunned but managed to express his thanks to the trustees for their action.

Trustees vote to buy CAA telephone system

Trustees of the Howard County Junior College District voted unanimously to accept the recommendation of Howard College President Dr. Charles Hays and purchase a telephone system from Communications Corporation of America (CCA).

The college will effect a savings of $104,445 over a ten-year period, Dr. Hays stated. At the end of seven years, the college will own the system outright whereas if HC had dealt with the other bidder, Southwest Bell Telephone, it would have continued to lease the equipment.

CAA's final offer for installation of the system was $173,367. The only variances will be line charges exacted by Southwestern Bell.

The system has a station capacity of 230 at Howard College and 214 at Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, a Howard College adjunct.

A hundred phones will initially be installed at Howard College, 40 at SWCID.

Nominations for First Lady candidates deadline nearing

Nominations for First Lady candidates are beginning to pour into the Centennial Store-Headquarters as the April 12 deadline nears.

The nominees, who will compete for numerous honors during the upcoming celebration, will also be competing for some very valuable prizes, including a trip for two to Hawaii for a week.

Ann Turner, chairperson of the First Lady contest, said the number of names being turned in was beginning to increase as the deadline approaches.

However, she was quick to remind groups and organizations that they needed to turn in their nominations prior to the April 12 deadline if they wished to compete for honors and prizes during the upcoming festivities in May.

Turner said that candidates would not be accepted after the deadline and only the registered nominees could compete for the valuable prizes.

Talking about the prizes, Turner said that many merchants and businesses in the city had donated some nice prizes to the First Lady candidates. The first award will be an all-expense paid trip for two in Hawaii for a week.

Turner also explained that in addition to the First Lady, there would also be a court of six that would also be receiving honors and prizes during the centennial celebration in May. The six in the court will be made up of those individuals placing second through seventh in competition. She also said that persons who did not get selected to be in the court could still win some very nice gifts.

Saying that the contest for First Lady was not a beauty pageant, Turner went on to say that all candidates must be over 17 years of age and residents of Howard County. She said that groups, clubs, churches, and organizations could turn in their nominations, and that individuals could also submit the names of their friends, as well as their own name.

The rules and additional information concerning the First Lady contest will be presented to all First Lady candidates at the initial meeting of nominees on Tuesday, April 14, at 7 p.m. in the Cactus Room at Howard College.

House OKs compromise on product liability

By JACKIE CALMES
Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Woth pro-business and consumer-oriented interests having fought their battles in private, a products-liability bill tentatively passed the House Tuesday with little debate and no bloodletting.

The bill would provide Texas, with first its law governing legal suits brought by consumers against manufacturers. Currently, legal guidance comes from court precedents.

The bill comes up for a final vote Wednesday and is expected to pass easily. It will when it goes to the Senate, where bill-carrier Sen. Bill Neier of Euless has been unable to muster support to bring his bill up for consideration.

In Tuesday's House action, only Rep. Lynn Nabers of Brownwood bucked a no-amendments-on-the-floor agreement both sides had forged. His amendment, to exempt manufacturers from liability for heavy machinery older than 25 years old, went down 112 to 33.

The bill then passed on a voice vote, quickly gavelled through by Speaker Bill Clayton. Clayton had signed on as co-sponsor and initiated the behind-the-scenes negotiations.

The primary House sponsor, Republican Rep. Bob McFarland of Arlington, said the bill has "a carefully orchestrated compromise among competing interests," and that it would turn back a pendulum that had swung too far in consumers' direction.

"Neither side is excited about it but they have endorsed it," he said.

On one side were lawyers for consumer-plaintiffs, the Texas Consumer Association and the AFL-CIO. On the manufacturer-defendants' side were lobbyists for auto dealers, truckers, restaurateurs, chemical producers and the Texas Association of Business.

The only group to balk was the Texas Association of Defense Counsel. President Paul Green said it increases liability for individuals, businesses and political subdivisions like cities and counties.

The highlights of the bill favoring manufacturers are two new defenses to use in lawsuits: "state of the art" and "useful safe-life" of a product.

Under the first, the manufacturer could argue the product was made using the best technology available at the time. If potential danger is discovered later, the manufacturer has no expressed duty to warn the buyers.

The second defense would allow a manufacturer to plead that a product was no longer safe through such unfavorable causes as normal wear-and-tear.

Several legislators complained that the bill would increase lawsuits, particularly against state and local governments, and would cause hikes in manufacturers' insurance premiums.

Many representatives mainly were relieved that a floor "bloodbath" had been averted.

Rep. Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring supported the bill. "When both sides say, 'I can live with this,' then you've come up with something that's okay," he said.

He said it was a fair compromise that would protect consumers without "regulating industries to the death."

"If a manufacturer expects a fair profit, he also has to respect the people who are going to be using his product," Shaw said.

Reed Holler, 2519 Guinter, had his car-keys stolen at gunpoint, 11 p.m. Tuesday.

According to reports, Holler had stopped his 1976 Dodge Colt at the intersection of Navajo and Comanche when he was approached by a man he knows. Holler told police that the man "held a gun in his face," and demanded the keys to the car.

The key chain also held keys to Holler's business and his home. After stealing the keys, the man forced Holler and a passenger, Kyle Lister, also of 2519 Guinter, to flee the scene on foot. The gunman then took off in his own car.

Detectives Pat Dunham, William Price and Bud Jones arrested four boys, 1:19 p.m. Tuesday on charges of burglary. The four youths are suspected of damaging the Windy Hill Gun Club building on Knott Route, and stealing soft drinks, candy and ice cream sandwiches from inside on March 31. Loss was estimated at $209.40.

Burglars broke into the residence of Cinnamon McKinney, Sonthland Apartments, Tuesday afternoon. Stolen were a black-and-white television set, a portable color set and a children's record player. Loss was estimated at $255.

Brenda Sue Priest, 4112 Dixon, reported that someone she knows tried to run her car off of the road on the 1200 block of Gregg, 3:45 p.m. Tuesday. The same person, said Ms. Priest, has threatened her before.

Thieves stole two rear-window guards for pickup trucks from Chuck's Surplus Store, 900 W. 3rd, sometime Tuesday morning. The window covers were valued at $120.

A clerk at the Seven-Eleven Store, 1801 Gregg, reported that a stocky man with a moustache, wearing a brown cowboy hat with a feather in it, walked into the store just after midnight Tuesday, and set $3 on the counter for a six-pack of Budweiser Beer. The clerk told the man that it was afterhours, and she could not sell him beer.

He told her that she would have to call the police, and walked out of the store with the beer, leaving the $3. She called the police.

Two mishaps were reported Tuesday.

A vehicle belonging to Cherie Watson, 1405 E. 15th, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene in the parking lot of the Cowper Hospital, 4:10 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Cecil V. RJordan, 1103 Barnes, and John E. Mulkey, Coahoma, collided in the Highland Shopping Center, 6:54 p.m.

'Same Time, Next Year' called fun to watch

Robert Horton and his real-life wife, Marilyn are fun to watch as a couple happily married, but not to each other, in "Same Time, Next Year," on stage now at the Country Squire Dinner Theatre, located in Odessa on Highway 80.

Horton may be remembered as the scout in "Wagon Train," a popular series a few years ago. Now, he and his wife play a couple who meet during a weekend in California, and who plan to keep meeting the same time each year for a weekend of togetherness. The play takes place over a 25 year period, showing the couple meeting every five years.

The characters go through quite a transformation during the time they are on stage, as the play encompasses a period from the 1950s to the 1970s. Each five year period elapsing between scenes has the players coming back older and wiser. Their respect for one another also grows as the play continues.

Same Time, Next Year, is running nightly, except Mondays, at the Country Squire Dinner Theatre through April 18. Buffet food service at the theatre begins at 6:30 p.m. each evening.

ROBERT HORTON

...Playing in Odessa with show time at 8 p.m. Sunday evenings, the doors open at 6 p.m., with performances at 7:30 p.m.

Horton, in addition to his role on "Wagon Train," has appeared in "The Man Called Shenandoah," and "The Rainmaker," which he created on Broadway in the play's musical version, "110 in the Shade."

Recent movies, he has appeared in include "Battle Beyond the Stars," and "The Dangerous Days of Kiowa Jones."

Ticket information may be obtained through the Country Squire Dinner Theatre.

Paper figures invade HC

Cactus Jack majors in sleep

By CAROL HART
Cactus Jack sits in the hallway of the Howard College administration building, sound asleep. In the Anthony Hunt Library on the campus, a boy is leaning over a paperback selection of books, and a girl is reclining on a couch, doing homework.

What do these three have in common? For one thing, all three are made out of paper mache and chicken wire. They are the handiwork of the students in Mrs. Becky Smiley's art classes at Howard College.

"To wish the Howard College Rodeo Team good luck, here sleeps Cactus Jack, resting up for next week while waiting for the Dean."

Mrs. Smiley is the only full-time art instructor at Howard College. Two part-time instructors also are employed there. They are David Norvelle and Roberta Ross. About 60 students participate in art classes at the college.

Courses offered at Howard College include basic drawing and design, life drawing, watercolor, painting, crafts and advertising art. Scholarships are awarded every year through the department.

Howard College also sponsors "a good art club," said Mrs. Smiley. The group is planning a trip to a museum in Dallas this week.

Mrs. Smiley said that Howard College has a freshman core program at the school, which will permit transfer of credits to any state university. "You can't go wrong with basic drawing and design," she stressed. The college also plans to offer a two-year certificate for an advertising art program that is "still in the works."

A water-color course is planned for the first summer session this year, she added.

EROY BROWN
... inmate suspect

Lawyers want Brown moved

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Lawyers for an inmate charged with murdering a prison warden and a veteran prison employee plan to ask that he be transferred to a federal prison.

Eroy Edward Brown, 30, has been held in the hospital at the Huntsville prison unit since Warden Wallace M. Pack, 54, and Billy Max Moore, 49, a farm manager, were killed Saturday at the maximum security Ellis unit.

Jerry Register, Brown's court-appointed lawyer, said Tuesday the anger which permeates the Texas Department of Corrections makes Brown's situation dangerous.

TIME FOR A NAP — Cactus Jack, a paper mache and chicken wire creation by Howard College Art Department students, takes a quick nap as he sits in the hall at the college administration building. There are three such figures at the college on display now.

Congressional interns

Big Springers selected for personal interviews

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Rep. Charles W. Stenholm, D-Tex., announced that 10 finalists have been chosen for the summer congressional internship program.

The two Omar Burleson Congressional Interns and two Lyndon Baines Johnson Congressional Interns will be selected by the District-wide seven-person committee, chaired by former Congressman Omar Burleson.

These interns will work in the Washington office of the Congressman for one month, in June or July.

"This program is designed to provide the intern with a full Congressional legislative experience in the Washington office," Stenholm said. "The committee told me that all of the applicants were outstanding, and I am very pleased with the response we have had from the students and teachers in the 17th District. I know it was very difficult to make the selections from the 56 applications received."

Finalists appearing for interview will be Tom E. Adams, senior government teacher at Big Spring High School; Leslie Ann Barr, of Coleman, a sophomore agricultural journalism major at Texas A & M University; Charles Douglas Calvert, Texas Tech University Law School student from Post; Robert Bruce Elson, from Ranger, a graduate student at Texas A & M University; James Robert Griffin, of Big Spring, sophomore finance major at Texas Tech University; University of Texas senior, Kenneth Hawari of Cisco.

Also selected were Joseph Curtis Henderson, of Jacksboro, a freshman at Austin College in Sherman;

1960 Hardin-Simmons University graduate Standlee Clarence McCracken, of Cisco, now a senior student of nursing at Corpus Christi State University; William Bryant McDaniel, of Abilene, a 1980 graduate of Texas A & M University, now a graduate student in management at Indiana University in Bloomington; and Karri Waddell, of Roscoe, a sophomore math major at Angelo State University in San Angelo.

Final selections will be made April 17 after personal interviews in Abilene.

Person who listens will go farther

How many people honestly listen to someone talking in their presence? Probably not a large percentage, even though the way we communicate determines our successes and failures more than any other activity.

The average person is involved in communication at least 70 per cent of his waking hours. For many people, the percentage is even higher.

WE ARE ALMOST continually bombarded by information aimed at us through personal conversation, newspapers, the telephone, radio, television, books and other forms of communication but, even with two ears, our brains can absorb just so much.

Sadly, most of us read newspapers simply by quickly skimming through them, lingering over only those items which interest us. Most of us have developed lazy reading habits. We like to think we have absorbed everything a news story says by reading only the first couple of paragraphs. The telecasters and radio news people move from one subject to another much too fast for us to be sure what they said at the beginning of their programs. Did that earthquake in Italy kill 20 or 120 or did it even occur in Italy?

The bigger the newspaper, the harder it is for the reader to read. Surveys show that most readers spend an average of no more than 20 minutes pouring over a newspaper, no matter its size. And even then they are apt to toss aside most periodicals to concentrate on a particular section — whether it be about sports, the theater, business or what ever.

From his days in the crib, a person learns the value of communication. The baby expects attention when he cries, learns quickly the mother is hovering near, listening for signs of communication from her infant.

Good communications occur only when one person makes others understand his thoughts and feelings. In order to function properly, the communication process requires four components. These are the sender, the message (the information provided), the medium (the manner in which the information is communicated) and the receiver. As senders, we have considerable control over the first three, but none over the last one.

MISCOMMUNICATION is one of the main causes of human conflict. It can lead to divorce and to war. In business, it can also provide a short-cut to bankruptcy.

A survey done at a major business company recently showed the tremendous difference in communication efficiency. Among executive assistants who listened to their company president's message, 67 percent fully understood them. At the other end of the scale, only 20 percent of the workers absorbed them correctly and, if the truth were known, probably wanted to.

The person who listens well bids fair to go a lot farther in life than the individual who appears to be tuned in on another wave length, or listening to a different drummer.

Around the rim

'Tis the season to get married, or at least engaged. Due to some confusion concerning our wedding and engagement announcement policies, now seems to be a good time to clarify them. If you are getting married, or know someone who is, reading this article carefully can help you help you tell the world about the happy occasion.

There is no charge for either a wedding or engagement announcement and picture. However, the picture may only contain a picture of both the bride and the groom in one announcement. In other words, if the engagement picture contains both the bride-elect and prospective groom, the wedding picture can contain only the bride.

PLEASE DON'T ASK TO HAVE AN engagement announcement published more than two months prior to the wedding. If the wedding is to take place July 11, the earliest date it can be published is May 10. Information must be received by The Herald, by noon the Thursday before the Sunday it will be published.

For best results, pictures should be black and white, and 5x7 in size. Color prints and prints of a smaller size will be accepted as long as they are sharp and clear. We reserve the right to reject any print that we believe will not reproduce in an acceptable manner.

Forms are available at the front desk and in the Family News Department for both wedding and engagements. These forms make it much easier for you to tell us what we need to know. Please remember to include a phone number in the event that we have a question.

Due to limited space, there are several wedding items that we cannot publish. Descriptions of attire, other than that which is worn by the bride, titles of music performed, members of the house party, those who hand out rice bags, and descriptions of the ceremony (such as scriptures read) are the major items we cannot include. We are happy to include names of the towns from which out-of-town guests attend, and brief descriptions of the bride's and groom's table at the reception, altar decorations, flowers, the bridal attire, ushers, and names of those who perform the wedding music.

AFTER THE PICTURE appears in the paper, it may be picked up at the Family News Department anytime from 8-5 during the week. In fact, we would be simply thrilled if everyone who has gotten married during the last five years came in to pick up their pictures. We keep them in our files indefinitely, but please pick them up as soon as possible. The pictures are, of course, unharmed except for a occasional fingerprint.

I hope this has clarified some of the little known facts concerning our policies. Should there be any additional questions, please feel free to call The Herald, and ask for the Family News Department.

American disease

Joseph Kraft

WASHINGTON — History does not automatically repeat itself. Recurrent events denote a continuity of basic conditions. There is an underlying logic to human affairs.

So it is appropriate to ask what features of American life work so egregiously to promote assassination attempts on well-known public figures. The more so as the trouble turns out not to be an incurable national proclivity toward violence.

THE PORTRAIT of the potential assassin is by now well known. The Violence Commission established by President Johnson in 1968 set forth for "the next assassin to strike at a President" the following salient traits:

"Withdrawn, a loner... unable to work steadily in the last year or so before the assassination... white, male... chooses a handgun as his weapon... selects a moment when the President is appearing amid crowds." That amounts to a prevision of John Warnock Hinckley Jr., the man charged with shooting President Reagan.

All modern societies tend to throw up such types. By definition advanced countries are on the move. Individuals by the thousands are broken from their moorings and forced to develop new attachments. They experience disappointments galore, and nurse grievances and resentments to the point of frenzy. They focus hatred around national idols, they make a bid for self-assertion by highly visible acts of destruction.

But in other countries — in Germany and Japan and Italy and even France and Britain — the assassination project, their passions around totalitarian movements, in the United States, they are largely left to their own devices.

Weapons are not that much more easily come by in this country than in many others. In the tribal areas of northern Pakistan practically everybody carries a gun or two. The same prevalence of weapons seems to characterize El Salvador. But the U.S. is the only highly industrialized country that makes the acquisition of weapons a casual act — something that can be done by mail or at the corner gun shop. Why?

The answer, I think, lies in a national trait widely recognized as singularity American. It is a quality of unworldliness, a sense of America being a blessed land, a confidence that it is possible to do good and to do well at the same time.

IN THAT SPIRIT, this country has achieved many of its most striking triumphs. We, and perhaps we alone, created a modern industrial state without a whiff of social revolution. We, and perhaps we alone, became a world power without waging major wars of conquest. We, and perhaps we alone, developed a highly educated population with establishing a closed elite.

But the other side of that success is a certain willful blindness, a cultural shallowness, a disposition to expect results without making sacrifices, to imagine that it takes villains to make things go wrong.

In that spirit, almost all of us relentlessly pursue higher and higher living standards based on more and more consumption and less and less saving. But we blame inflation on the government. Almost all of us use gasoline as though it were water. But we suppose that shortages are the fault of the oil companies, or of OPEC.

In the same spirit, we refuse to have Selective Service, and then we blame pay rates or are simply surprised when the Army turns out not to be very good.

"Right, CIA. Allied Liaison Section. And you, I presume, are with MI-5, British counterintelligence."

Skin and intestine problems

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I was interested in your recent item on sprue. My sister had it and is doing well on her diet. My problem is dermatitis herpetiformis, which I have had for more than 12 years. It is not all that bad, but I worry about having to take my medicine for so long. I really am not getting over it. I take sulfone. My rash is on my elbows, sometimes on my thighs. I am healthy in all other respects. No one else in my family of 12 has ever had any skin problem like this. Is there any concern about my taking this medicine for so long? — Mrs. E.P.

I'll answer your direct questions first, then make an observation that should interest you about your sister's sprue history.

Dermatitis herpetiformis is a skin disease with itchiness and tiny blister-like eruptions. It can be limited to a single area of the body or be quite extensive. The sulfones have been the mainstay of treatment for this. It is safe to take it for long periods, but one ought to have blood counts periodically as a precaution because this medicine can affect the body's ability to make both red and white blood cells.

Your remark about sprue is intriguing. A great number of people with dermatitis herpetiformis have stomach problems much like sprue and both the skin and stomach problems often respond to a diet that avoids gluten, the type that helped your sister. Even if one has the skin problem without stomach involvement, you often see an improvement in the rash if you avoid wheat products. I think it would be worth giving this a try. Mention the sprue connection to your doctor. The condition sometimes will run in families. I would like to hear from you again regarding this.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Would you explain a little about Bell's palsy? What causes it? Is the paralysis permanent? I've never heard of it before. My daughter-in-law has it. — M.W.

OK, a little on Bell's palsy. For any muscle to work it has to be connected to a functioning nerve. The nerve passes the signal on to the muscle when we want a muscle to work. A muscle without a working nerve is like an electric cord that isn't plugged in. It looks fine, but it is useless. When the nerve not "plugged in" is the one to make face muscles work, you have Bell's palsy. Facial muscles are not working, so the mouth droops. The eye cannot close. You cannot wrinkle your brow.

This is not a stroke. It is malfunction of this single nerve. A virus infection can cause it and is one of the most common causes. About 80 percent recover from Bell's palsy within a few weeks.

The affected eye may become dry because of the inability to blink, so it has to be protected. The facial muscles should be gently massaged to keep them from becoming flabby. But in time Bell's palsy almost always completely disappears.

Dear Dr. Donohue: You mentioned recently that Zenker's diverticulum can possibly contribute to bad breath. Could you elaborate on the treatment for this to eliminate the bad breath? Is surgery required? — E.E.V.

The cure for Zenker's diverticulum is to have the pouch removed surgically. Bad breath comes with Zenker's because food decomposes in the pouch (located in the throat).

Dear Dr. Donohue: My legs have broken out in little red bumps that itch. I am in excellent health and hate to see a doctor about this. I am not allergic to anything I know about. I feel quite well otherwise. I do shave my legs every day, but if this keeps

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Recently my mother joined a religious group that seems to have rather strange teachings in some things. They base their teachings on a certain book they believe is divinely inspired, in addition to the Bible. What are your views on this? — P.B.

DEAR P.B.: Whenever anything is either added to the Bible or substituted for the Bible, the Gospel of Jesus Christ will almost certainly be twisted and distorted. The Bible, and the Bible alone, is God's Word, and it alone has been uniquely inspired by God. The Bible itself, in fact, gives us a solemn warning against adding other books to the Word of God: "And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book" (Revelation 22:19).

The main reason for this is that God's full plan of salvation has been given to us in the Bible, and we need not look beyond its pages for it. Many of the cults which add other supposed "revelations" or "inspired books" to the Bible actually reject the basic teachings of the Bible. They may, for example, say that Jesus Christ is not actually God, although the New Testament makes it very clear that he is fully God as well as fully man. Others suggest that sin is not real, although the Bible declares clearly its reality and horror. Still others say that Jesus Christ's death on the cross was not sufficient to obtain our salvations, and they substitute something else (such as some type of ceremony or good work) for Christ. But the New Testament teaches without any doubt that Jesus Christ was God's only Son who alone is able to save us. "Now he has appeared once for all at the end of the ages to do away with sin by the sacrifice of himself" (Hebrews 9:26).

Pray that your mother will find Christ. And if you have never turned to Christ yourself, I urge you to do so. Your example could have an important effect on your mother.

WASHINGTON — Nine out of 10 American soldiers who operate and maintain the Army's nuclear weapons in Western Europe flunked basic tests of their military skills last year. This is an appalling statistic, frankly, it comes as no great surprise. For years I have warned about the deterioration of our armed services.

While the shocking details have often been hidden from the American public, our GIs' inadequacy is no secret to our allies. West German Foreign Minister Helmut Schmidt once remarked in disgust, "At least our soldiers do not use drugs and can read and write."

MY ASSOCIATE RON MCRAE has been classified studies that leave no doubt about the cause of our problem: The United States has put the burden of its defense largely on the poor and uneducated. As a result, with the Defense Department about to spend billions on sophisticated new weapons, the services don't even have properly trained personnel to man the weapons we already have.

Here are some of the depressing details from unpublished reports:

—Not only did 90 percent of U.S. nuclear weapons technicians fail their basic-skills tests, but 86 percent of the Army's artillery crewmen flunked, as did 77 percent of the computer programmers, 89 percent of the tracked-vehicle mechanics and 82 percent of the Hawk surface-to-air missile crews.

—Many technical manuals have been converted to comic-book formats because the Army's technicians can't understand standard written instructions. One unit found that a third of its supervisory personnel were functionally illiterate. Black soldiers, incidentally, score better than whites, apparently because the Army is seen as a road to opportunity by blacks — but a dead-end by better-educated whites.

—In NATO competitions, hand-picked American crews finish dead last with dismal regularity. In a recent gunnery exercise, American crews failed to score a single hit, while allied gunners racked up scores of 70 percent or better.

—In all of the Army's combat units, there is a total of just 25 enlisted men with college degrees serving their first enlistment. Since World War II, college-educated enlisted men have kept the paperwork flowing as clerks and supply personnel. Now these functions have to be done by junior officers or senior noncommissioned officers with better things to do.

—Multimillion-dollar aircraft are sitting idle because the maintenance staff doesn't know how to order spare parts, or because there aren't enough trained mechanics to keep the planes serviceable.

THE ARMY MIGHT TAKE a leaf from the Marine Corps, which emphasizes quality in its recruits — "a few good men." The Marines claim they now have the finest personnel they've ever had, and outside experts agree.

The Reagan administration has signaled its intention to make service careers more attractive, and congress seems to be in a mood to go along. But many experts are pessimistic. They see no way to lure the better-educated middle class back into military service voluntarily.

The only recourse, these experts believe, is a return to some kind of draft within the next four years.

CIVIL WRONGS: Most of his life, Stephen Horn has battled for civil rights with a great clanking of the crusader's armor. His record has earned him membership on the U.S. Civil Rights Commission, a no-nonsense body of other capacity as president of California State University at Long Beach, he has been accused of violating civil rights. The complaints came from the faculty after Horn dropped an affirmative action program at the university and removed a black affirmative action director from his position.

The Labor Department routinely investigated the complaints. It is embarrassing, of course, for a Civil Rights Commissioner to be accused of civil rights violations. So Horn raised such a howl that the Labor Department suddenly called off the investigation. Horn denied that he had committed any violation or that the investigators had found any violations.

But this is not what their reports shows. The report, of course, has been withheld from the public. But it shows that the investigators indeed found sound evidence of discrimination at CSU-Long Beach.

Their report notes that 11 departments had no minority faculty and five had neither minority nor female faculty members. A third of the departments had no black faculty members; half had no Hispanics. In the departments that had minorities and/or females, the labor Department investigation found that they had to be far better qualified than their white male counterparts to get promotions and tenures.

Horn has attributed the charges of discrimination to troublemakers on the faculty who "play games." He also denied to my reporter Sharon Geltner that he tried to sidetrack the investigation. But at last month's meeting of the Civil Rights Commission in Washington, Horn grilled Labor Department officials about "mistaken assumptions involving campus investigations."

HEADLINES AND FOOTNOTES: The Department of Energy, apparently kowtowing to the Reagan administration's nuclear-oriented energy program, has refused to publish a study by its Solar Energy Research Institute pushing conservation and "renewable energy" to eliminate dependence on foreign oil.

But word leaked out anyway. Both senior policy advisor John McLaughlin and Stanley Schneider of the White House Office of Science and Technology have requested copies of the study... Television producer Norman Lear has formed People for the American Way to counteract the Moral majority's drive to monitor sex and violence on the tube. He has discussed the situation with comedian Woody Allen privately, but says that "not a lot of entertainment people are involved." Lear claims the "Christian Right" is threatening Americans' "freedom to hold an opinion without fear."

Do a number on Shakespeare!

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — One reason Johnny can't read is all the garbage they try to stuff down his craw in school in the name of culture.

Take Shakespeare, for instance. Nobody talks like that on TV, especially at halftime in a college basketball game.

A few years ago a London tabloid, the Evening Standard, sponsored a contest for a new version of Hamlet's "To be or not to be" soliloquy.

This was the winning entry: "Do we at this moment in time have an on-going ec-situation?"

Or do we call time out, existence-wise? That is to say: does the cat who's really got his head together

Stay loose and hang in there When the fickle finger of fate lays a bad trip on him?"

If Public Television is going to keep putting on those Elizabethan snorers, the time has come to jazz up the jargon of the other plays.

With that end in mind, "Mulligan's Stew" announces a nationwide contest for a trendier version of Mark Antony oratory to Julius Caesar.

Shakespeare wrote it this way in Act III, Scene two of the tragedy:

"Friends, Romans, countrymen, lend me your ears. I come to bury Caesar, not to praise him. The evil that men do, lives after them; The good is oft interred with their bones; So let it be with Caesar."

As an example, "Mulligan's Stew" has come up with a modernized translation of the Caesar eulogy:

"My fellow Americans, I come into your living room tonight

Not to blow smoke up Caesar's toga, but to cremate him. That is to say have him organically relate to his environment.

Why is it that folks who do a number on you these days

Always get more ongoing upfront feedback Than the laid-back dude who's really in touch with himself?"

'His lips were sealed in death'

White defends reputation of Price Daniel Jr.

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — Two state officials made an unexpected appearance at a sensational child custody hearing, saying they came to shore up the battered reputation of former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., whose "lips were sealed in death."

Jean Daniel Murph, Daniel's sister, filed suit to gain custody of her late brother's two youngest sons by Vickie Daniel, charged with murder in her husband's Jan. 19 shooting death.

Mrs. Murph's testimony Tuesday was twice interrupted by surprise appearances from Texas Attorney General Mark White and state Rep. Craig Washington, D-Houston, who spoke briefly as character witnesses.

"I came here as a close friend who knows the lies told about him (Daniel) are not true," Washington said following his appearance. "I don't know how it all came up, but I thought somebody who knew the man should stand up and say something."

Earlier Tuesday, White, who defeated Daniel in the 1978 attorney general's race, said he had known Daniel since 1959 and that the former Texas House speaker was a sober person and a not big drinker.

Mrs. Murph's attorney, J.C. "Zeke" Zbrank, said it was only a coincidence that both state officials testified on the same day, but Mrs. Murph was expected back on the witness stand today among hints of more surprise character witnesses.

Attorneys for Mrs. Murph appeared to be nearing the end of their attempt to discredit the parenting skills of Mrs. Daniel.

Attorneys for Mrs. Daniel say they will present 21 witnesses in her behalf.

"My recollection of Price was not that of a big drinker," said White.

He said he read newspaper accounts of charges by Mrs. Daniel that her husband was an excessive drinker, a homosexual, and abused his family, including sexually fondling his children.

"I find that very difficult to believe about him," White testified. "Certainly, if it were true it would have some effect on White's opinion of Daniel."

Washington said he was angered by allegations about Daniel's personal character and said he requested the opportunity to testify concerning Daniel.

"I thought an assault was being made on a man I knew very well and he couldn't speak for himself," Washington said. "His lips were sealed by death, so somebody had to speak up for him."

Between testimony by White and Washington, Mrs.

Murph said she and Mrs. Daniel had a close relationship, but she suspected Mrs. Daniel of making exaggerations.

"She'd say she loved Price so much one day, then the next day she'd be complaining about him," she said. "It was chronic. She would even change during one conversation."

Mrs. Murph said she did not believe Mrs. Daniel when she said Daniel had a drinking problem.

"There had been too many other instances that made me wonder if this was just another exaggeration," Mrs. Murph testified.

'80 safest year ever for city employees

City employees had their safest year ever, during 1980, said City Manager Don Davis, today.

Accidents are tabulated from November to November in a given year because insurance policies were assigned during that month, said Davis. Only five accidents, with total paid claims of $325.92, were reported last year.

The City Safety Program was begun in September of 1978. Its purpose is to promote safety awareness among employees and to reduce the number of on-the-job injuries.

"These goals were far surpassed last year, as the figures reflect," said Davis. "The city would like to commend its safety committee members as well as the employees for working in such a safe and efficient manner."

The following figures show the improvement in safety over the last four years:

Year	Claims	Amount Paid
1980-81	Five	$3,25.92
1979-80	36	$11,718.73
1978-79	47	$12,867.74
1977-78	74	$45,760.92

Locked-up hero?

Supporters mount drive to free Abbie Hoffman

NEW YORK (AP) — Supporters of former Yippies leader Abbie Hoffman are mounting a drive to keep the 1960s activist free despite his three-year prison sentence on a drug charge.

Hoffman, 44, said he would appeal the sentence imposed Tuesday by Acting Justice Brenda Soloff in State Supreme Court. But in addition, supporters are seeking to persuade Gov. Hugh Carey to pardon Hoffman before the sentence begins April 21.

The fight for a pardon is being led by Johanna Lawrenson, who lived with Hoffman while, as "Barry Freed," he lived in the upstate town of Fineview and led ecologists in a successful drive to stop winter navigation on the St. Lawrence River.

As Freed, he was praised by and photographed with Sen. Daniel Patrick Moynihan, who lauded him for his ecology work.

Miss Lawrenson, who was to appear with Hoffman at a news conference today, distributed a printed statement at Hoffman's sentencing Tuesday. The statement said in part:

"You have just locked up the hero of 35 communities who live along the St. Lawrence River."

Others outside the courtroom shouted, "Free Abbie Hoffman."

Hoffman and three others, Carol Ramer, John Rinaldi, and Diane Peterson, were arrested on August 28, 1973, allegedly after selling $36,000 worth of cocaine to undercover narcotics agents. The others pleaded guilty to reduced charges in May 1975. By then, Hoffman had been in hiding for more than a year.

Hoffman, a former leader in the Youth International Party, or Yippies, surfaced last Sept. 4 and agreed to plead guilty to third-degree criminal sale of a dangerous drug.

In a 10-minute statement to the court Tuesday, Hoffman said of the cocaine sale, "It was an act of stupidity and it was an act of insanity." He said that at the time his counter-culture activities had no direction and he was "very depressed."

Hoffman was free on $25,000 bail pending his surrender to begin serving his term. He must serve at least one year before being eligible for parole.

Dear Abby

Coed Slumber Party Gets Mixed Reviews

DEAR ABBY: I teach sixth grade at Lockwood Elementary School in Bothell, Wash. The students are between 11 and 13 years old.

We had a very interesting discussion concerning a letter in your column signed VIRGINIA DAD.

Dad's 12-year-old son wanted to have a slumber party and invite six of his neighborhood friends. One of the friends just happened to be a girl, but since she was considered "one of the guys," the boy thought she should be invited without concern for her sex.

Dad said that even though the party would be well chaperoned by him and his wife, he didn't think the girl should be invited to spend the night with six guys.

Abby, your answer read:

"Dear Dad: Even though the gal is considered 'one of the guys,' underneath it all, she's still a gal. I would not invite her."

I asked the class what they thought of your answer. Enclosed are their letters. I hope you enjoy them. Sincerely,
MICHAEL NELSON

DEAR ABBY: I think your opinion is wrong on not letting that girl go to the slumber party. If you are 12 years old, you are not going to do anything. I'm 12 and I've gone to a girl's house and nothing big happened.

JIM WALKER

DEAR ABBY: About your answer to the parents of the 12-year-old boy who wanted to have a girl at his slumber party: I think that the father is a paranoid person and is just expecting something to happen. I am 11, and I think it would be perfectly all right to invite the girl, no questions asked.

DAVID BLACK

DEAR ABBY: I think you made a wrong decision about the slumber party. (No offense, Abby.) If the girl is considered "one of the gang," she should be invited. The parents would be there, and if anything did get out of hand, the girl would either be asked to leave or they would give her one more chance.

LAURA VARA

DEAR ABBY: About that 12-year-old boy having a slumber party and inviting a 12-year-old girl to sleep over with six boys: I think that's going a little bit too far. That is my opinion.

CHRISTY BOAS

DEAR ABBY: I think you made the wrong decision. You made it sound like the parents don't trust their own son. What do you think is going to happen anyway? Do you think they are going to have sex or something with five other boys around? No way.

KENNY BALDWIN

DEAR ABBY: I think if they all got into their own sleeping bags and stayed there, nothing could happen. I know how that father thinks. My mother thinks the same way. Not trusting. As for me, I don't think I would go, and I am a girl.

BETH

DEAR ABBY: I am 11½ and I do not agree with your answer. I think if the girl was asked to a boy's slumber party, it would be up to the girl. I know if I were asked to a boy's slumber party that was well-chaperoned, I would go.

KATHY

DEAR ABBY: I think your opinion is OK. The girl shouldn't be there with six boys. But if it had been OK with the parents, it would have been OK with me, too.

Bridal shower honors Vickie Annen Newman

The Fellowship Hall at East Fourth Street Baptist Church was the setting for a bridal shower April 4, honoring Vicki Annen Newman, bride-elect of Howard D. Stewart.

Carnation corsages in spring colors were presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. John Annen, and the prospective groom's mother, Mrs. H.D. Stewart, Jr. Other special guests were Mrs. Runie Stewart, grandmother of the prospective groom, and Mrs. R.F. Davis, aunt of the bride-to-be.

The guest register table was covered with a rose pink polyester cloth edged in white lace and held pink and yellow silk carnations and roses in a milk glass bud vase. A similar cloth covered the refreshment table, which was centered with an arrangement of pink and yellow roses in a crystal bowl, flanked by pink candles in crystal holders. Crystal and silver appointments were used.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. David Rhoton, Mrs. Mike Stewart, Mrs. D.O. Worthan, Mrs. Edward Slate, Mrs. Bill Hanson, Mrs. Reuben Hill, Mrs. H.M. Ray and Mrs. W.F. Harrell. The hostess gift was a vegetable bowl and a gravy boat in the honoree's chosen pattern. The couple will marry April 11 in the chapel of the First Baptist Church.

Roommate matching service is successful in Los Angeles

A two-year-old roommate matching service for the elderly, begun two years ago in Los Angeles, has proven to be a highly successful alternative to being institutionalized for oldsters who treasure their independent life styles but can't afford to live alone.

And, the idea is catching on across the country. So says a recent Family Circle magazine investigative report, "Wanted: A Roommate Age 65 or Over Preferred." The report says that the concept of sharing housing and living expenses offers seniors relief from inflation's devastating impact on their fixed incomes.

The Los Angeles service, Housing Alternatives for Seniors, has a "remarkable track record," notes the Family Circle report. Last year it matched up more than a hundred couples (mostly elderly women) with compatible interests, with only one rematching required.

To prevent odd-couple conflicts, Housing Alternatives' director and founder, 33-year-old Janet Witkin and her staff encourage potential roommates to go through several sessions of talk and a weekend or two of trying out the living-together arrangement.

Witkin, whose fondest hope is to see the pairing experiment in Los Angeles spread across the country, says in Family Circle: "If programs like ours can be started in other communities, it's going to mean so very much not only to our old people but to the children who can't take the parents into their own homes, but also don't want to see them in institutions."

She points out that two elderly people rooming together can live cheaper, more independently, and have more options than one. "There are very few older people with absolutely nothing," she says in the magazine report, "so they all have something to work with."

Family Circle says the best thing about Janet Witkin's idea is that finding a roommate can be a do-it-yourself project. The magazine gives step-by-step tips on how seniors can go about finding a roommate.

DARs choose name for Centennial

The Captain Elisha Mack Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution met at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the Pottou House with Mrs. Polly Mays, who took the group on a guided tour of the house. In an atmosphere of the early 1900's, Mrs. Mays told of the finding of a copy of the original floor plans, which guided them in the restoration of the building.

The floors are of the original wood and are beautifully preserved. The parlor's wall-to-wall carpet is a replica of the original pattern. The china is the same that was used by the Pottou Family.

The group voted to name their chapter "Revolutionary Belles" for the duration of the Railroad Centennial.

History of Texas Society of the National Society of the DAR 1929 through 1974, will be placed in the Howard County Library by Mrs. C.G. Barnett.

Hostess for the evening were Mrs. L.J. Jeter and Mrs. C.G. Barnett.

Next meeting will be at the Country Club, May 9 at 12:30 p.m.

A business meeting was called to order by Mrs. C.G. Barnett, regent, in the home of Mrs. L.J. Jeter after the tour of the Pottou House.

Mrs. Jack Alexander gave a report on the conference held in Dallas, March 23-25 which she, Mrs. C.G. Barnett and Mrs. John Key attended.

Atlanta police searching for middle-aged black man

ATLANTA (AP) — Investigators are searching for a middle-aged black man who was the last person seen with Larry Rogers, the latest black youth missing in a string of 25 deaths and disappearances. A neighbor told police he saw the 21-year-old retarded man shortly before noon on March 30, getting into a faded green Chevrolet station wagon driven by a middle-aged black male. Rogers, who police said looks about 14 or 15 years old and has the mental capacity of a 7-year-old, has not been seen since. A composite drawing of the station wagon driver, released by police late Tuesday, depicts a black man 50 to 55 years old with a light brown complexion, long gray and black hair, heavy eyelashes and a "thick, false-looking mustache," police said. "At this point in time, he's only wanted for questioning in regards to the disappearance of Larry Rogers," said Beverly Harvard, a spokeswoman for Atlanta Public Safety Commissioner Lee Brown. "We have no reason to consider him a suspect." Police officials were discounting a report that a man resembling Rogers was seen by two children in a park in suburban Decatur on Sunday.

RESCUE PRACTICE — NASA and Dept. of Defense divers work on a mock Space Shuttle for rescue procedures in case of a water emergency as a helicopter with divers hovers in front of the actual Space Shuttle sitting in the background on pad 30-A at Kennedy Space Center, Fla. The Space Shuttle is scheduled to lift off on a 54 hour mission with a crew of two.

Survival is investment

Tax rebels out to 'save Constitution'

GARDEN GROVE, Calif. (AP) — With nearly 19,000 members, Your Heritage Protection Association may be the largest tax-protest organization in the country. But its leaders say they're not just trying to end income taxes. They're out to save the Constitution.

YHPA, begun in 1975 by vending machine owner Armen Condo, is trying to wake up Americans to the idea that "one-worlders" and international bankers intend to do away with the U.S. Constitution.

"They're planning another '29 crash for you and they know you'd rather do anything than lay down and die," said YHPA production coordinator Dan Mitchum at an Orange County smorgasbord.

Neither he nor Condo was taken to court, although Mitchum said they haven't filed a tax return or paid taxes in more than four years.

William Connett, regional director of the IRS, says that if true that can't last forever.

"If the person is not filing tax returns and is required to do so, I think it's safe to say we're not going to ignore them," he said.

The YHPA draws big crowds to its meetings, up to 150 a night, five nights a week, primarily on its promise to tell people how they can avoid paying income tax because "you don't owe it."

"I'm going to tell you how to take a 20-percent to 60-percent raise in pay," Mitchum told his audience recently, referring to the YHPA plan of writing "exempt" on tax withholding forms, then refusing to file a return. "But I don't want you to take that money and blow it," Mitchum said, whose group — convinced that the national fabric is about to be torn asunder — also advocates survivalist techniques.

"Invest in your survival," he told the audience. "Get a two-years' supply of dehydrated food for your entire family. ... And when you get that put away, get yourself some protection."

Connett says the YHPA's advice that people file a form exempting themselves from tax withholding "seems to be clearly illegal."

The YHPA maintains the issue really hasn't been dealt with in court because judges routinely deny defense lawyers the right to present evidence about the U.S. financial system and whether a dollar earned is a dollar paid.

In a recent Los Angeles case, U.S. District Judge Laughlin Waters said that such testimony was irrelevant. Waters added that he believed Condo and YHPA were perpetrating a fraud on members who pay $15 a month to join. Waters called the defendant, William Burns of Costa Mesa, a victim.

"But then he sentenced the victim to a year in jail," said Morgan Taylor, who has filed an appeal to the Supreme Court. Burns has had his wages garnished and fined $2,000.

Five YHPA members are now involved in appellate court cases.

Senate votes to halt illegal drug traffic

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A bill to feed drug prescriptions into state computers has been approved by the Senate in an effort to stop the sale of dangerous drugs on the street. The Senate approved the bill on voice vote Tuesday and sent it to the House.

Sen. Betty Andujar, R-Fort Worth, objected. "This speaks to probably the least problem in the control of drugs. ... You're catching the flea and the elephant is getting away."

An estimated 300 million doses of dangerous prescription drugs ended up on the street in 1979. Four states — New York, Illinois, California and Idaho — use a "triplicate prescription" system to control diversion of drugs.

Sen. Ray Farabee's bill would require prescriptions of drugs such as Dilaudid, Preludin, methamphetamines and methaqualone to be written in three copies on numbered control blanks printed on special hard-to-duplicate paper.

The doctor and pharmacy would each keep a copy, and the third copy would be entered in a computer system.

Mrs. Andujar complained the bill would "probably increase" drug costs, because of the additional paperwork at pharmacies.

According to a bill analysis, the computer system "would disclose the identities of only those persons whose prescribing, dispensing or consumption patterns are highly aberrant, and this disclosure would be only to law enforcement officers in cooperation with licensing board investigators."

Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said until now "there has been no way to track those who are abusing the law."

Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, asked if H. Ross Perot of Dallas, who heads the Governor's War on Drugs Committee, which recommended the legislation, might not profit since Perot is in the computer business.

Farabee said Perot had stated he would disqualify himself from any "economic interest."

Boy faces murder trial

HOUSTON (AP) — A 15-year-old boy has been certified to stand trial as an adult on a capital murder charge. Family District Judge Criss Cole ruled Tuesday that Marion Anthony Branch can be tried for the Jan. 17 beating death of Angelia Fran Dean, 15, daughter of a former Crosby football coach.

LIFT OFF... Big Spring's Elise Wheat prepares to send off the shot put during a practice session yesterday as the Steer girls prepped for the District 5-AAAAA Track and Field Meet in San Angelo Friday. Wheat has an excellent chance at winning the 5-AAAAA title in both the shot put and the discus. Her discus toss of over 127 feet last week was a personal best and a record at the Concho Belle Relays, and it appears the BSHS Junior is reaching her peak at the right time of the season.

HC star players ready for big time

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

In fitting style for the successful years that both the Howard College Hawks and Hawk Queens enjoyed the past basketball season many of their outstanding performers will be leaving to become student-athletes at major universities around the nation.

The national signing date is today, and college recruiters throughout the country were scurrying around in hopes of landing the best of the high school and junior college talent available.

Among those sign on the recruiters list were Howard men Randy Corker, Ron Akins and Kenneth Jones, while HC fem All-American Kelly Lyons has also been recruited heavily.

Corker became the first to sign, inking this morning before lunch at The Herald with Virginia Commonwealth, VC, located in Richmond, is a member of the Sun Belt Conference, a league that has made a reputation for ruggedness in their short history.

Watch The Herald tomorrow for an in-depth story on Corker's signing with Virginia Commonwealth. Corker actually signed earlier than most junior college players do, as he is just a freshman.

That's not the case of Akins, Jones and Lyons, who all waited until their sophomore seasons to ink letters of intent with four-year schools.

Akins is expected to sign with Idaho State next week, and Jones with New Mexico State. Lyons, meanwhile, has committed to Baylor and will sign sometime this week.

Howard College Men's Coach Harold Wilder also indicated that Jeff Faubion will sign with Cameron State in Oklahoma.

Oilers begin 81 on road

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers open their 1981 National Football League exhibition schedule with a home game against the Philadelphia Eagles — last year's Superbowl contenders.

The team's full pre-season and regular season schedule was released Tuesday by the NFL. As in previous years, it features two regular season games each against Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Cincinnati — all Central division rivals.

Preseason action opens Aug. 6 when the Oilers meet the Eagles in the Astrodome. Other preseason games will be played in New Orleans, Tampa and Dallas.

Regular season play opens Sept. 6 with a game in Anaheim against the Rams. The Oilers then play against the Browns in Cleveland before returning home to face Miami.

Houston also will play home games against Cincinnati, Seattle, Oakland, New Orleans, Atlanta, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

In addition, the Oilers play road games with New York, Pittsburgh, New England, Cincinnati, Kansas City and San Francisco.

Cowboys 1981 slate set

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys open their 1981 National Football League schedule they way they opened 1980's — on the road against the Washington Redskins.

The team's full regular-season schedule was released Tuesday by the NFL. It features a two-game, home-and-home series with each team in Dallas division — St. Louis, New York, Philadelphia and the Redskins. In addition, the Cowboys play road games with New England, San Francisco, Detroit and Baltimore plus home games against Los Angeles, Miami, Buffalo and Chicago.

Cowboys officials said five of the 1981 regular-season games are scheduled for national television. A win against Washington Sept. 6 would give Dallas an NFL-record 17 straight opening-day victories, the team said.

Bucks even series in road win over 76ers

By the Associated Press

The Milwaukee Bucks have taken the home-court advantage away from the Philadelphia 76ers in their National Basketball Association playoff series, but they aren't taking anything for granted.

"We can't get too ecstatic about winning in Philadelphia," said Milwaukee forward Marques Johnson, after the Bucks did just that by a 109-99 count Tuesday night to even their best-of-seven Eastern Conference semifinal at one victory apiece. "It's just one game, and this figures to be a long series because these are two very good teams."

Another very-good team, the Boston Celtics, took a 2-0 lead over Chicago in the other East semifinal by beating the Bulls 106-97. And in the West semifinals, both of which opened Tuesday night, the Houston Rockets defeated the San Antonio Spurs 107-98 and the Phoenix Suns whipped the Kansas City Kings 102-80.

Milwaukee was led by its forwards, Johnson & Johnson. Marques Johnson scored 22 points, 18 of them in the second half, and Mickey Johnson added 20 points, including 14-for-14 from the foul line, where the Bucks outscored the 76ers 45-25.

"They played 48 minutes of good, consistent basketball and we didn't," said 76ers Coach Billy Cunningham. "We had stretches of very good basketball but we couldn't sustain it."

Philadelphia, which was led by reserve forward Bobby Jones' 22 points, was crippled by 26 turnovers although both teams shot just 40 percent from the field.

It was a game of spurts, and it was the Bucks who had the decisive one midway through the fourth quarter, outscoring Philadelphia 16-4 in a 4:09 span to turn an 87-82 deficit into a 98-91 lead. Four points by Jones lifted the 76ers within three, but a three-point play by Bucks center Bob Lanier with 3:03 left clinched the victory.

Now the series shifts to Milwaukee, and Marques Johnson expects the 76ers to be even tougher the next time out.

Celtics 106, Bulls 97

Chicago will have the home-court advantage for its next two games against Boston, and Bulls Coach Jerry Sloan will take any edge he can get after the way his team played Tuesday night.

Chicago didn't get a basket in the first five minutes, trailed 32-14 after the first period, fell behind by 26 in the second quarter and could never get out of that hole. Robert Parish and Nate Archibald led the Celtics with 27 points apiece, while Reggie Miller scored 18.

Suns 102, Kings 80

While San Antonio lost after coming off a nine-day layoff, Phoenix, which also received a first-round playoff bye after winning its division, won rather handily.

Phoenix pulled away from a 51-46 halftime lead to an 87-60 margin with 8:01 to play and coasted home. Included in that surge was a run of 14 consecutive points and another 8-2 spurt in which all eight Suns points were scored by Len "Truck" Robinson.

Guards Walter Davis and Dennis Johnson led Phoenix with 16 points apiece while forward Reggie King scored 17.

Rockets keep upset string alive

Moses wisdom: "If we keep winning, we can win it all"

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — The Houston Rockets, who compiled a mediocre 40-42 record and barely made the playoffs, continue to shock teams in post season play and now ironman Moses Malone is talking of the National Basketball Association championship.

"If we keep on winning, we can win it all," said Malone, who scored 27 points and ripped down 10 rebounds to pace the Cinderella Rockets to a 107-98 victory over the Midwest Division Champion San Antonio Spurs Tuesday night.

"We played solid defense and we really pressed," Malone said. "The key to winning is a solid defense and we must control the tempo of the game."

The Rockets did both well to shock the Spurs in the opening game of the best-of-seven Western Conference semi-final series and steal the homecourt advantage San Antonio had enjoyed. The Rockets earlier defeated the defending world champion Lakers twice in Los Angeles to eliminate them from the playoffs.

The second game of the Houston-San Antonio series is set for 7:05 p.m. today in HemisFair Arena.

San Antonio, which finished 12 games ahead of the Rockets in the regular season with a 52-30 record and drew a first-round playoff bye, was well rested entering Tuesday night's fray and raced to a 9-point first quarter lead.

But the Spurs stalled out with the score 27-18 with 2:21 to go in the first period and the tenacious Rockets reeled off eight uncontested points, two baskets apiece from Mike Dunleavy and Billy Paultz to cut the margin to 27-26 at the end of the period.

Calvin Murphy, the shortest player on the court, came off the bench to can 15 second quarter points as the Rockets outscored the Spurs 36-26 and take a 62-53 halftime lead. The Spurs never got closer than 6 points after that.

"Murphy's presence was felt the moment he came into the game," San Antonio coach Stan Albeck said. "Dunleavy also played exceptional basketball. As a team, they executed extremely well. Malone is such a great money player. Every time we made a run, he did something positive for them."

Forsch's holdout won't hurt Astros rights to Thon

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Al Rosen, Houston Astros general manager, says a reported contract dispute between the California Angels and pitcher Ken Forsch will not affect the trade in which Houston acquired infielder Dickie Thon.

"I know this, if they ever tried to take Thon back, and I'm sure they won't, they'd have to take me with him," Rosen said Tuesday as the Astros prepared to move into Los Angeles for Thursday's regular season opener against the Dodgers.

Forsch, traded last Wednesday to the Angels, reported to the California team Monday in San Diego after reportedly asking that some non-monetary clauses of his contract be rewarded.

Rosen would not comment on details of the reported dispute, saying any announcement should come from Buzzie Bavasi, Angels general manager.

"We gave Forsch an assignment notice and he signed it the day he left," Rosen said. "I don't have any further comment."

SMITH AS FIELDS — Boxing promoter Harold Smith, shown left in photographs taken in 1974, and Ross Fields, shown right, allegedly have been responsible for passing fraudulent checks throughout the United States. Ross Fields, using both fictitious separate checks and stolen checks, has produced a check for $200,000. Smith is a fugitive. (AP LASERPHOTO)

Harold J. Smith finds no sympathy on bond

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Harold Smith, the bearded boxing promoter whose true identity as Ross Fields was hidden until his arrest on federal charges, remained in custody as a judge added $200,000 state bail to his $200,000 federal bail.

Smith's attorney, Robert Michaels, said the second bail set Tuesday in response to check forgery charges in North Carolina made it unlikely that Smith would be released from jail immediately. But Michaels expressed confidence Smith's friends would continue to stand behind him and pledge their property as backing for his release.

Smith's first $200,000 bail was set Monday after his arraignment on a passport falsification charge. Assistant U.S. Attorney Dean Allison wants Smith kept in jail, saying his arrest record dates back to the 1960s.

Smith, said Allison, is wanted in three jurisdictions and is at the center of a continuing grand jury investigation of an alleged $21.3 million bank fraud involving Wells Fargo Bank.

In Municipal Court Tuesday, Smith spoke only once to confirm again that his true name was Fields and that he was the fugitive sought by authorities in Guilford County, N.C.

Then he stood in stunned silence as Michaels, Patti Jo McKay disagreed with Michaels' contention that the $200,000 bail being posted on federal charges would be sufficient to ensure Smith's appearance for further court proceedings.

The judge also set a hearing for May 7 on the question of extradition to North Carolina.

As the judge announced her decision, Smith, standing in the jury box, wiped his forehead with his hand in apparent exasperation.

Smith had been brought from the Los Angeles County Jail to the criminal courts building late Tuesday for arraignment on the charge of felony by false pretenses in a case involving check forgery in 1975.

Smith's attorney said word had come just before attorneys were about to bail out Smith.

Michaels told reporters outside court he hoped to be able to raise the additional $200,000 in bail today.

Cooper takes 9-4 win Steer errors cost 5-5A lead

ABILENE — The Abilene Cooper Cougars scored seven unearned runs after two men were out in the bottom of the sixth inning en route to an important 9-4 win over the Big Spring Steers in a District 5-AAAAA first half contest here Tuesday afternoon.

The Steers held a 4-2 lead in the sixth, and hurler Wayne Shipman had two outs and a man on first. But Scott Harris singled to left off Shipman, and when BSWS outfielder Tim Shaver bobbled the ball, Lanny Dycus and Harris were on third and second, respectively.

Moe Rubio was then called on to replace Shipman on the mound. The first hitter he faced, John Arnold, hit a ball toward first baseman Tommy Olague, who fielded the ball cleanly. But BSWS catcher Lupe Ontiveros was called for interference on the pitch, awarding Arnold first base and allowing Dycus to score, narrowing the lead to 4-3.

Cooper then put pinch-runners on both first and third and went for the double steal. The Steers had Cooper's Roger Forkner nailed at the plate, but Ontiveros dropped the ball after the tag, allowing Cooper to tie the game at 4-4.

From that point, the roof caved in on the Steers, as the Cougars raked Rubio for four hits and a walk in increasing the margin to 9-4 before the inning ended.

The win allowed Cooper to remain in a tie with Abilene High in the first half 5-AAAAA race, boosting their mark to 4-1. The Steers are now 3-2, and in a must-win situation if they are to have a chance at tying for the first half title. Big Spring is 9-8 on the year.

Both Mark Warren and Dickie Wrightsail had two hits to pace the Steer attack, and Tim Shaver added a pair of runs batted in.

No Cooper hitter had more than one hit, but the Cougars rapped out four extra base hits, including a home run by Dycus.

The Steers return to action on Saturday when they visit Odessa.

Blue-chip 7-footer won't listen

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Greg Dreiling, a forceful seven-footer from Wichita, Kan., was expected to end one of the bitterest recruiting battles in NCAA history today by signing a national letter of intent with Wichita State.

As the recruiting war heated up in past weeks, reports circulated that recruiters were urging Dreiling to spurn Wichita State, his hometown school and first choice, because the Shockers have been accused of NCAA violations and might soon wind up on probation. "Coaches have been telling him, 'Even if you don't come with us, don't sign with Wichita State, whatever you do,'" one source, who wished to remain anonymous, told the Associated Press.

Goliad boys 2nd in Monahans Relays

MONAHANS — The Big Spring Goliad JHS boys track team finished in second place in the Monahans Relays here the past weekend. Monahans won their own meet, collecting 110 points, with the Goliad team finishing with 104 1-3 points. Following those two teams were Crane, Fort Stockton, Kermit, Alpine and Buena Vista.

Winning first place gold medals for the Goliad Mavericks were Dwayne Sherman in the 210-hurdles, Ray DeLeon in the 100-dash, Colin Carroll in the high jump and Scott Allinson in the shot put. But the biggest point production for the Mavericks came on the 1200-meter relay, as Chris Hill, Ray DeLeon, Sherman and Tony Hill won that event.

Says Romanian officials are reason Comaneci's coach defects to US

WASHINGTON (AP) — Because the state of Romania interfered with the coaching of his prize-winning pupil, Nadia Comaneci, Bela Karolyi has defected to the United States. That's the reason the 38-year-old Karolyi gave Tuesday after defecting with his wife, Marta, and a colleague from the Romanian national gymnastics team, choreographer Geza Poszar.

The state left us alone until we were successful. "But once we produced a superstar they wanted to take her away from us," Karolyi said. "When Nadia slipped, the state rushed back to us, asking us to take her back. This exercise took place on three separate occasions, and it made us very unhappy." The Karolyis and Poszar filed for political asylum with the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service last Thursday. A State Department official said asylum is granted in such cases 99 percent of the time. The officials said the decision to defect in New York March 30, the last day of a four-week tour of the United States by the Romanian women's national gymnastics team and two days after the tour was in Washington.

Cuban refugees held in El Paso following Miami arrests

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — The U.S. Border Patrol's detention center here has become a "rotating holding center" for Cuban refugees who are found in the Miami area without the proper papers.

Refugees and their sympathizers insist that most of the ones being held have done little wrong.

Al Velarde Jr., head of the United States' Catholic Conference's refugee services here, says most of the refugees are the victims of breakdowns in sponsorship.

"Some of these guys don't belong in the El Paso detention center," Velarde said. "They just happened to be in the wrong place at the wrong time."

Border Patrol Agent Eddie Payan said, "All these guys knew Miami is a place where you could speak and be understood. They go down there and then they get picked up."

Silverio Torres' story is typical. Torres, 24, was relocated with a sponsor in McAllen after he arrived in Florida aboard the "Freedom Flotilla" last year. Unable to contact his relatives in Cuba, he went to Miami to seek help for them there.

"I was stopped on the street in Miami by police," he said through an interpreter. "They checked my papers and took me to court. There were no charges, but they still sent me to Immigration (and Naturalization Services officials)."

Torres then was shipped to El Paso, where he has been held for the past three months.

"I wasn't afraid (of the police) because I hadn't done anything wrong," he said. "Now I am here. This is an injustice."

Despite the contentions of the refugees, Miami police spokesman Angelo Bitsis said Cubans in Florida are picked up only if they break the law.

"When they break the law, they go to jail," Bitsis said. "We enforce the law. We're not a social agency."

Joe Howerton, district director of the INS at Miami, said the refugees that have been sent to El Paso and a similar facility in El Centro, Calif., have been arrested in Miami for serious misdemeanors or felonies.

"We interview these people after they get through the courts," he said. "If they do get convicted and they're going to be doing time, then they do that time."

The refugees are turned over to INS which then sends them to El Paso or El Centro. Howerton said the refugees are shipped out of the Miami area because of "limited holding space in this community."

But officials in El Paso say the arrests are a backlash against the number of refugees that flooded into the Miami area.

"I found out that it was political," Velarde said. "The heat was on in Florida to get these guys off the street."

Velarde and Payan said few of the refugees were convicted of serious crimes, and most of them were charged merely with public intoxication, loitering or vagrancy.

"I talked to one guy who had bought a six-pack of beer and was drinking one of them as he walked down the street, carrying the other five," Velarde said. "They picked him up for public drunk. You know that if you or I had been doing the same thing, we wouldn't have been arrested."

Msgr. Bryan Walsh of the Catholic Service Bureau in Miami agreed with Velarde's assessment.

"Apparently," he said, "if the refugees can't show that they have a job and a place to live, they are being held for immigration. They are not being treated the same as anybody else that's arrested."

"Some of us are getting concerned about the human rights aspect of this," he added.

But Bitsis denied that the refugees are singled out for arrests.

"We treat them all the same," he said. Meanwhile, the refugees who have been sent to the detention center are taught about American society by Payan and co-workers. They are destined to eventually be sponsored again, but the voluntary agencies charged with relocating the refugees have put them at the bottom of the list.

Velarde said he is under orders from his central office to make the relocation of the detainees a low priority. He said political pressure has caused his agency to concentrate its efforts on the more than 3,000 refugees still being held at the relocation center at Fort Chaffee, Ark.

Most of the refugees at Fort Chaffee have never been sponsored.

"I'd much rather get these guys out," Velarde said. "All indications are that these guys aren't real hard-core types. But there's a lot of pressure to close Chaffee by June 1."

The people in Washington said 'you don't touch any of that group,' he said.

Velarde has managed to link about 15 of the refugees to family members in other parts of the country and he said they should be released within a couple of weeks. Family reunification remains the top priority for the agencies, he said, even higher than closing Fort Chaffee.

But the other detainees interviewed don't have relatives in the United States. The bulk of the refugees still have not been interviewed by Catholic Conference workers.

When he was told his group was at the bottom of the list, refugee Walter Leyva, 45, was surprised.

"I don't know why the Catholic Conference would say something like that," he said through an interpreter. "There are Cubans here who were working and had a place to live. The only reason that they're here is because they are Cuban."

Demolition of five structures approved

After meeting for the first time in nearly a year, the Big Spring Structural Standards Board voted Tuesday to approve demolition orders for five local structures.

"The board hasn't met since June of last year. There was no case load, and the demolition and improvement projects in connection with the Community Development Block Grant Program had been moving in another direction," said Assistant City Manager Paul Feazelle.

"This meeting came about pretty much because of the new community cleanup program."

Members of the board gathered in City Council Chambers, 9 a.m. Tuesday, to review the cases for five buildings slated for demolition. During the meeting, owners had the opportunity to comment on board's decisions.

Those buildings slated for demolition were:
— 602 W. 3rd, owned by Leslie Christensen
— 350 N.W. 10th, owned by Enrique Longoria
— 401-03 W. 3rd, Joseph R. Taylor
— 305 E. 3rd, George H. Zaranonitis
— 419 E. 3rd, Fredia West Jones

Clayton will be featured speaker during farm tour

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Texas Speaker of the House Bill Clayton will be the featured speaker at August's Mitchell County Farm Tour.

Clayton scheduled appearance was announced at Monday night's Chamber of Commerce meeting with arrangements having been made by Mayor Elmer Martin.

In other action, George Walker presented two bids for new bleachers and a concessions stand at the Rodeo Arena, one for $14,940 and the other for $16,000.

Walker was asked to get new bids on a scaled down project.

Other Chamber business included plans for a membership drive the latter part of this month with the drive being headed by Murrell Blessingame, voted to drop sponsorship of a "fly-in" this year and accepted the resignation of board member Travis Cawthorn, who is being replaced by Dr. George Lindsey.

Police skeptical of 'evil spirits'

PEARLAND, Texas (AP) — William Sterling of the Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, who was called to a home to bless each room and ward away "evil spirits," says he is nevertheless skeptical of the resident's claim that her 12-year-old son is harassed by demons.

"I've been there 12 or 15 times, each time with another person, and nothing has happened while we were there," said Sterling. He said he went through each room with a candle and said prayers to bless the home.

The boy's mother says he cannot sleep at night because demons "poke needles into him, pull his hair and punch him in the mouth."

Police Detective E.J. Chapman said he doubts any supernatural happenings. Firemen found burned matches while investigating three fires that caused minor damage to the home, and the boy has been charged with arson but was left in the custody of his parents.

Sterling said, "This is very real to them and I've seen real terror in the parents' eyes. Something is happening and whether the boy is doing it, I don't know."

In the meantime, Sterling said the family has moved to an apartment because of the strange happenings.

Bill toughens trespass laws

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Rep. Gerald Geistweidt says trespassers have shot at him, killed cattle and cheated ranchers out of deer lease money.

His bill raising penalties for criminal trespass passed the House Tuesday after representatives rejected, 130-18, an attempt to kill it.

"I recognize we need to deal with cattle theft and property damage...But this bill goes much further than it needs to in dealing with the problem," said Rep. Gene Green, D-Houston, who made the unsuccessful motion to table the bill.

The bill raises the maximum penalty for criminal trespass from a $200 fine to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine. If a trespasser has a gun, the top penalty would be raised to one year in jail and a $2,000 fine.

The bill says a fence designed to contain livestock would be the equivalent of a "No Trespassing" sign. Texas courts have held that a three-strand barbed wire fence is sufficient to contain livestock.

Rep. Bennie Bock II, D-New Braunfels, said the $200 fine was not deterring trespassers in rural areas.

Geistweidt, R-Masport, said ranchers charge $500 to $1,500 per gun for hunting leases, "yet some trespasser can come on and shoot the same deer for $200," the maximum fine if he is caught, Geistweidt said.

"A $200 fine is not enough deterrent. That's the same as you get for smoking in an elevator," he said.

Geistweidt defended stiff sentences for armed trespassers, saying, "In the past four years I have been shot at twice by trespassers."

The bill says a fence designed to contain livestock would be the equivalent of a "No Trespassing" sign. Texas courts have held that a three-strand barbed wire fence is sufficient to contain livestock.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
 142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
 WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The Corps of Engineers treatment of "navigable waters" is perhaps the classic case of a simple, clear-cut law being turned into an oppressive and nonsensical regulatory beast.

In 1972, Congress passed the Federal Water Pollution Control Act authorizing the Corps to issue permits for activities in navigable waters involving the discharge of dredged or fill material. "Navigable waters" had been defined since 1899 as "waters navigable in interstate of foreign commerce," and certainly the federal government has an obligation to regulate those waters.

But in the regulatory process, the term has been expanded to mean the "waters of the United States" — a definition so broad the Corps could claim jurisdiction over a backyard swimming pool.

The effect has been to deny land owners the right to discharge material on their own property. In Texas coastal areas, the Corps' interpretation has been to delay and add to the cost of needed flood control projects. In other parts of Texas, the regulation has been invoked to control what landowners do with obviously un-navigable farm ponds on their property and "draws" which flood farm property but are dry except when it rains.

I have introduced legislation this year to limit Corps activities to truly navigable waters. The legislation also would leave the question of federal assistance in the regulation of non-navigable water up to the states.

If passed, it would end the prolonged delays and piles of red tape which continue to erode public confidence in and support of the legitimate objectives of the clean water effort.

It would return to the states the right to evaluate and protect wetlands adjacent to navigable waters on a local basis, and to seek federal assistance if — and only if — that is necessary.

I might note that the Texas Legislature has passed a resolution supporting this principle. This resolution also commits the state, through the Texas Energy and Natural Resources Advisory Council and other appropriate agencies, to recognize and accept responsibility for the management and protection of all coastal wetlands.

Legislation similar to that I have introduced this year passed by large margins in the House in both 1975 and 1977, but was narrowly defeated in the Senate. I introduced it again in 1980, but neither House nor Senate had time to consider it prior to adjournment. I am hopeful that this year favorable action can be taken.

The import of this legislation goes beyond the specific relief it would provide. If we are to control the size and scope of government, Congress must behead the regulatory beast. Congress must exercise its oversight responsibilities and bring regulatory agencies under control when congressional intent has been so blatantly distorted.

Enacting this legislation will send a message to the bureaucrats. It will tell them Congress no longer will allow them to legislate through regulatory interpretation.

Bringing the federal government back under control is our goal. We can meet the goal only by systematically rooting out unwarranted intrusions on state responsibilities. Certainly this legislation concerning navigable waters is a good starting point.

Garcia wants newspapers to open editorial pages

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Newspapers often print critical columns, editorials, and political endorsements around election time, and one legislator says he's tired of it.

"Federal Communications Commission regulations say a person who's been subjected to radio or TV editorials has the right to respond, but this doesn't apply to newspapers," Rep. Matt Garcia, D-San Antonio, told the House State Affairs Committee late Monday. His bill would change that.

The measure would force newspaper editors to print rebuttals of their columns or editorials, or go to prison. It would also allow a political candidate to respond if a newspaper praised his opponent in an endorsement, Garcia said.

A University of Texas law professor says the bill is "inescapably" unconstitutional.

David Anderson, a specialist in mass communications law, said the U.S. Supreme Court unanimously struck down a similar law passed in Florida.

"It was ringing," he said of the decision. "It's about the only 9-0 1st Amendment decision the court has made recently."

Anderson said the argument that newspapers should be subject to regulations similar to the FCC rules was "squarely made... and squarely rejected."

Garcia said he had not heard of the case, Miami Herald Publishing Co. vs. Tornillo, but that he would read it. He told the committee that sending recalcitrant editors to prison was not too severe. The bill makes refusal to print a response submitted within four days a felony punishable by two to 10 years in prison and a fine to $5,000.

"When I think of how some people have had their political careers destroyed... I sometimes feel even the death penalty isn't too strong," he said.

"I don't care what kind of penalty they have in there. They can make it a capital offense if they want to, because the unconstitutionality is inescapable," Anderson responded.

The measure was sent to a subcommittee.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, APR. 9, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You can solve a difficult problem when you are fresh and thinking clearly early in the day. Take constructive steps to overcome obstacles in your path of progress.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Look to experts for advice you need. Take time to concentrate on making your life more harmonious with close ties.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Concentrate on how you can be more productive in the days ahead. Sidestep one who likes to waste your time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Ideal day to improve conditions at home. Use your own excellent taste where clothing and furnishings are concerned.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can get your points across to others easily in the morning and get ahead in career activities.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Handle matters of credit intelligently in the morning and later you can join congenials for recreation. Be happy.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Going after your personal aims will see you gaining them quickly. Try to meet the expectations of family members.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Morning should be spent taking care of personal matters, then go after what means the most to you financially.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Close friends can be helpful in a new project you have in mind. An intuitive prompting could be wrong so forget it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Let others know that you are a good citizen. Study a new outlet that looks promising. Relax at home tonight.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) New ideas you have can be put in operation quickly with good results following. Strive for happiness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle your duties wisely, then engage in more pleasurable activities. Avoid the expenditure of too much money.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Make better arrangements with those you wish to be associated with in the future. Be practical in making your plans.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will have the knack for getting others to join in some worthy cause, and should have sufficient education in order to make the most of the ability. One who can easily gain the cooperation of others in almost any endeavor.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Attorney's want charges dismissed

Mix-up caused illegal recording of Harrelson conversation

DALLAS (AP) — A mix-up involving an appointment that El Paso lawyer Joe Chagra never kept resulted in an illegal tape recording of confidential conversations between convicted hit man Charles V. Harrelson and his attorneys, sources have told a Dallas newspaper.

Federal sources acknowledged Tuesday that the government obtained a court warrant giving them permission to monitor Harrelson's conversations in Harris County jail, where he remains without bond on state charges involving gambling, weapons and drugs.

Other sources told the Dallas Morning News that due to a foul-up, an illegal recording between Harrelson and his attorneys was made last December.

The government bugging was approved to record a conversation between Harrelson, a key suspect in the 1979 assassination of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr., and Joe Chagra, another suspect in the slaying, sources told the News.

But the monitoring devices mistakenly recorded a conversation between Harrelson and two of his lawyers, who showed up at the Houston jail instead of Chagra, the sources said.

Chagra said he didn't make his Dec. 10 appointment because of an extended trial he was involved in.

Harrelson's attorneys now say because those tapes were passed along to state prosecutors and because the conversations are protected by law under attorney-client privilege, the state charges against their client should be thrown out of court.

An April 22 hearing has been set during which Harrelson's attorney's, Bob Tarrant and Don Ervin of Houston, will ask that the state produce the tapes.

"They (federal agents) are committing 50 felonies to solve this one case (the assassination of the federal judge)," Ervin said.

Federal authorities have suspected that Harrelson was involved in the alleged contract murder of Wood on May 29, 1979. A sniper shot Wood in the back as the judge was leaving his San Antonio townhouse.

The attorneys say if they can prove their conversations with Harrelson were recorded, they will request to court to dismiss state charges against their client.

But Harris County Assistant District Attorney Ted Wilson says the recordings would have no effect on the state's case against Harrelson.

Wiretaps by federal agents would have involved an investigation "which we're no party to," he said.

"All I want to do is try Harrelson for what he did back on Feb. 1, 1980 (the day officers discovered illegal weapons, gambling paraphernalia and narcotics in his car)," Wilson said.

"The issue for the court to decide is if there was any disclosure to the state of the contents of the tapes," he added.

Harrelson found a tape recorder beneath a bench in the jail visiting room Dec. 10. His stepdaughter, Teresa Starr Jasper, discovered another bugging device on the visitor's side of the interview room.

Chagra said he had called Tarrant about his pre-arranged meeting with Harrelson in the Harris County jail. But the El Paso lawyer said he never made it to Houston because he was held up by a trial "that went on much longer than I figured."

Chagra and Tarrant have said their phone conversations were monitored before Harrelson found the bugging device.

Federal agents, acting on a search warrant, raided Joe Chagra's office and home Feb. 27. Among items allegedly confiscated was a map that reportedly pinpointed a place east of Dallas where the gun used to kill Wood was hidden. Government authorities have refused to comment on whether the gun has been found.
