Shuttle Columbia launch is scrubbed

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The long-awaited test flight of America's rocketship Columbia was scrubbed for at least two days this morning when a computer malfunction occurred as two astronauts waited in the cockpit for their release to fly.

It never came; 16 minutes before lift-off, problems began.

"We are stopping the clock," space agency spokesman Hugh Harris said at 9:59 a.m. — three hours after the scheduled launchtime.

"We're sending out a crew to open the hatch of the orbiter and take the astronauts out to their crew quarters," about six miles from the launch pad.

He said the earliest time for launch now is Sunday morning at 6:50 a.m. EST.

The postponement had to be a severe disappointment to pilots John

Young and Robert Crippen, and to the many other employees of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration who had labored through two years' delay in development of the shuttle.

Seventy minutes after postponement, the astronauts crawled from the Columbia, apparently relaxed but their faces strained with frustration. They took an elevator to base of launch pad 39A where a van waited to take them on a trip that they'd hoped not to make.

The Columbia was to make America's first manned space flight in six years; the mission called for 36 orbits around the earth in a delta-winged rocketship that is the first designed for reusable use in space.

On a beautiful, sunny day along Florida's Space Coast, an estimated half-million viewers arrived before dawn to see the launch. They moved into long and dejected traffic jams when the order to scrub was announced.

A space agency computer expert, patched through to the spacecraft, told the astronauts: "the probability that it will clear up is not really that great. It might be that it will, but we're not overly confident."

For good reason. It couldn't be done.

Attempts to duplicate the problem in a shuttle simulator in Houston were unsuccessful. Meanwhile, the astronauts were seated, horizontal, in their cockpit seats for almost six hours — as much "horizontal time" as NASA doctors permit before flight.

"If you guys get to feeling like you're too tired, we sure want to talk about it," a launch official told the astronauts at one point.

While the astronauts worked and waited, one launch control official told them, "You have to excuse the delay, gentlemen; all the ducks weren't in a straight line." The reply, from commander Young, "That's okay."

Carol Hunter is re-elected BSISD trustees president

By CAROL HART

Carol Hunter, was re-elected as president of the Big Spring Independent School District Board of Trustees during a Thursday afternoon meeting.

Board members also re-elected Delbert Donelson as vice president of the group, and Al Valdes as secretary.

In other business, the trustees studied the canvass of the Saturday election returns, and welcomed Dewayne Fraser to the board. Fraser and incumbent Charles Bell were elected from a field of six candidates.

Mrs. Wayne Basden addressed the board as a parent of a high school band member. She voiced her concern that some students could not participate in band activities due to financial troubles, and requested that the board consider budgeting more money for band activities.

"Many students are from low income families," said Mrs. Basden. "The band needs financial help from the school."

The resignation of Mrs. Shirley Tate, an English teacher at Goliad Middle School, was accepted. Mrs. Tate resigned to accept another position in the city.

John Bagnall, vocational administrator, discussed an application for federal vocational funds to be submitted to the Texas Education Agency. The application is seeking $50,875, said Bagnall, a figure which does not include vocational teacher's salaries.

Board members approved the application for the funding.

Dick Milstead and Randal Patterson, attorneys for the Big Spring Independent School District, met with the trustees to discuss litigation matters stemming from a desegregation suit filed by the Justice Department. The attorneys said the Justice Department was conducting a "Discovery" session, a fact-finding process to ask questions about the "make-up of Big Spring schools."

The lawyers discussed the fact that depositions would be taken from school administrators, and also discussed responses to interrogatories from the Justice Department.

An increase of 10 students over last year's enrollment was noted in an attendance report. Last year, 4,813 students were enrolled in the district, compared to 4,823 this year.

Congress begins recess

Congress begins recess

Budget package left in limbo

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress headed for a two-week recess today, leaving President Reagan's economic package in limbo: rejected for its deficits by a Republican-dominated committee in the Senate and spurned for a Democratic alternative by budget writers in the House.

"We'll just let everybody see how they feel in two weeks," a disappointed Senate Budget Committee Chairman Peter V. Domenici, R-N.M., said late Thursday after the panel voted 12-9 to reject an economic blueprint drawn to the administration's specifications.

Congress was to begin its Easter recess today and return April 27. The defeat in the Senate committee was a stunning setback for Reagan. Until then, Republicans had stuck with the president as the panel endorsed various parts of the plan.

Once the package was put together, however, it fell apart. Three Republicans declared the budget deficits too large and joined nine Democrats who didn't like Reagan's three-year tax cut in rejecting it.

Ed Dale, a spokesman for the White House Office of Management and Budget, said, "There is concern about the vote, but it's not irretrievable. We plan to continue to work with the Senate leadership on this."

In the House Budget Committee, meanwhile, majority Democrats pushed their own economic plan, including a one-year tax cut instead of Reagan's three-year package, a balanced budget in 1983 instead of 1984 and more spending on social programs than the administration recommends.

The vote was a virtually party-line 17-13 on the $714.5 billion budget for next year with a $25.6 billion deficit.

All 12 committee Republicans and Rep. Phil Gramm, D-Texas, voted against it, but Democrats insisted they would have enough support from conservative Democrats on the House floor to pass a revised administration package.

Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, ranking Republican on the committee, and Gramm, a conservative Democrat, offered a fresh budget proposal that both said was constructed with the blessing of David A. Stockman, the president's budget director.

Democrats only have a 51-vote majority in the House and significant defections by the 44 members of the Conservative Democratic Forum could give Republicans the upper hand. The substitute drawn up by House Republicans calls for spending $689.7 billion next year with a $38.9 billion deficit. It predicts a modest surplus in 1984, Reagan's target year for balancing the budget.

The Senate panel endorsed Reagan's call for a three-year, 30 percent cut in individual taxes and a host of reductions throughout government, but the committee staff concluded that there still would be a budget deficit of $53.8 billion next year and $44.7 billion in 1984.

Reagan to be released Saturday

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, continuing to recover rapidly from a gunshot wound in the chest, will leave the hospital and return to the White House on Saturday or Sunday, an aide announced today.

Dr. Dennis O'Leary, dean of clinical affairs for George Washington University Hospital, told reporters the president will be examined Saturday morning and if his condition is stable he probably will be discharged from the hospital in the afternoon.

The doctor said he wanted to watch the area of Reagan's lung which was pierced by a would-be assassin's bullet "for another 24 hours before committing to a discharge time."

The president entered the hospital March 30.

White House deputy press secretary Larry Speakes also announced cancellation of Reagan's scheduled trip to Mexico to meet with President Jose Lopez Portillo.

"There will be no presidential travel for the next several weeks," he said. The trip had been scheduled for the end of April.

O'Leary, the hospital's principal medical spokesman since the president was wounded 13 days ago, said Reagan "is in a decent hospital room, but it's not home." "His access to outdoors and fresh air is limited. We're looking forward to him sitting outdoors and getting a little fresh air," he said.

Reagan continues to receive an anticoagulant intravenously, the doctor said, but that treatment is to end on Sunday. The only other medication Reagan is receiving is penicillin, which he will continue to take orally for 10 days.

"Penicillin is precautionary, like X-rays," O'Leary said, "more in the category of treating the doctor than treating the patient. The patient feels fine but the doctor needs reassurance."

Doctors and aides said the president, itching to return to the fray over his economic program, "really can't wait to get home" and is preparing to leave the hospital this weekend.

Reagan, making steady progress from the bullet that punctured his chest in an assassination attempt March 30, had his "best day yet" Thursday, said Dr. Dennis O'Leary, dean of clinical affairs at George Washington University Hospital.

With his temperature normal for more than 36 hours, the president was taken off one of two antibiotics he had been receiving as a precaution against infection, and O'Leary said "we're looking to the weekend, Saturday or Sunday," for Reagan to be released.

The White House was being readied for him.

First lady Nancy Reagan had a roof-top solarium freshly bedecked with tulips and refurbished for the president's convalescence.

"Most of all what he misses is seeing the sky and trees and the lawn," said Helene von Damm, the president's personal secretary. "He's an outdoor person who thrives on all that beauty, so it's twice as hard on him."

The 70-year-old Reagan has lost some weight in the hospital, and it showed in a color picture taken Wednesday and released a day later by the White House. The president, dressed in a dark blue bathrobe, looked a little tired and drawn.

"You would, too, at this stage," O'Leary said.

He said a patient who underwent the same experience as Reagan could be expected to lose 8 percent to 10 percent of his body weight. For Reagan, who normally weighs 184 pounds, that would be 15 to 18 pounds, but O'Leary said, "He's lost significantly less than that." He said he did not know the president's exact weight loss.

Mount St. Helens blasts steam in minor eruption

VANCOUVER, Wash. (AP) — A steam plume laden with a "small amount of ash" blasted 15,500 feet into the air today as Mount St. Helens staged a small, "isolated eruption," the U.S. Geological Survey said.

The plume, at 8:21 a.m. PST, spiraled above thick clouds cloaking the mountain, then quickly diminished to 14,000 feet above sea level and sank back into the clouds, said Susan Russell-Robinson, a USGS geologist.

The crater of the ravaged mountain stands at 8,400 feet above sea level. "We're still looking for further activity," she said. "Seismic activity continues at an elevated rate."

Light ash from the eruption fell to the north-northeast of the mountain near Spirit Lake, she said, but was not carried farther.

The plume was glimpsed by airborne scientists near the peak, but they reported they could not see the mountain itself because of heavy clouds.

An "eruption alert" issued today by the USGS and the University of Washington geophysics center in Seattle remained in effect, Ms. Russell-Robinson said. In that alert, scientists had predicted an eruption would occur today.

They based the prediction on a number of shallow, volcanic earthquakes recorded on the mountain Thursday night and today.

is asking for $7 million in damages. An unspecified amount of damages is being sought by five members of the Canales family.

Named as defendants were the Corpus Christi Public Grain Elevator, Axelson Engineering, a Minnetonka, Minn., firm that installed a $4 million dust control system in the elevator last year and McKenzie Hague-Gillis Co., a Minneapolis grain dust control company.

An unrelated $10 million suit was also filed against the grain elevator by the wife of a man who died when he was buried under some grain in January.

Controlling nematodes; the underground enemy

By DON RICHARDSON
County Extension Agent

Root knot nematodes are the single most important home garden disease in Howard County. I would estimate that at least 50 percent of the gardens in this area are damaged by root knot.

One problem with controlling this pest is that it's hard to detect the problem early enough for gardeners to take protective measures. Once nematodes are found on plant roots, little can be done to save that year's crop.

So, it's important to inspect the roots of plants for galls as you remove them from the garden in the fall. These galls or knots on roots indicate the presence of root knot nematodes and this is the time to take effective steps to control the pests. Another symptom of root knot is stunted, yellow plants. Examine the roots of such plants for galls.

As soon as root knot nematodes are found in the garden, immediately remove all diseased plants. Get as much of the root system as possible because it is in these roots that the nematode will carry over in the egg state to the next crop. Root tissue around the eggs will protect them from chemical treatment and drying.

Once plant roots have been removed, till or spade the area as deep as possible. This breaks up remaining roots so they will decay faster and dries the soil to reduce the number of young nematodes (larvae) in the soil. If nematodes are detected in the spring garden, continue spading at 2-3 week intervals until fall planting time. This continual tilling of the garden will reduce the nematode population even further.

In that portion of the garden not being used for winter vegetables or for those of you who do not want to plant a fall or winter garden, plant the garden to rye (cereal) in mid-September. Water the garden regularly to get maximum fall growth for the small grain.

Rye will act as a control for nematodes. Many of those entering the roots will not be able to undergo complete development and will be killed. When the rye is spaded or tilled under at the end of the season, it decays and produces an organic acid toxic to nematodes.

In addition, rye serves as a source of organic material encouraging the growth of fungi which feed on nematodes. Rye should be turned under as soon as possible after Jan. 1. This will allow some time for plant decay before spring planting.

When soil temperature reaches 50 degrees F for seven days at a depth of 6 inches, treat the area with Yapan fungicide using one quart per 100 sq. ft. Water the chemical into the soil using one inch of water at the time of treatment. Re-water in 24 hours, using an additional one inch of water and repeat in 48 hours.

Vapam is water soluble and will be leached down into the soil with irrigation. It is important that the chemical be moved as deep in the soil as possible to get maximum control. There may be some of you in the county whose soil is such that one inch of water cannot be applied before run-off occurs. In these areas, apply water until run-off begins and then repeat at 24 and 48 hours after treatment.

This method of treatment takes care of the entire area compared to row application where only a 12-inch band is treated. After treatment, leave the area undisturbed for seven days. Then till the soil to get the chemical out. Wait an additional two weeks before planting.

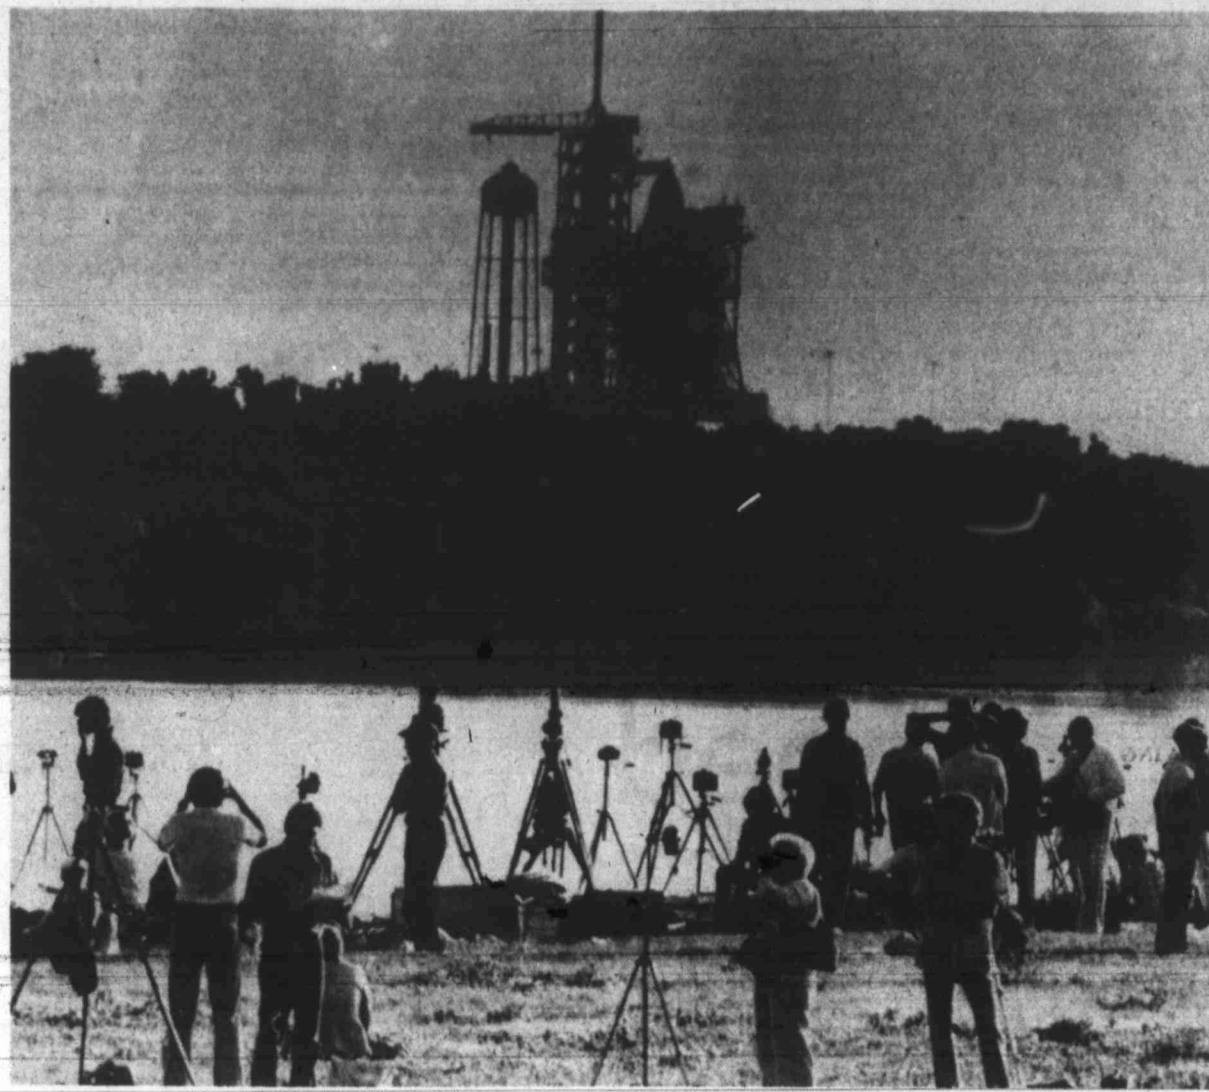

Additional steps can be taken at planting to further insure nematode control. In those areas where root knot is found to be most severe in summer or fall, plant onions, garlic or sweet corn. These crops are not susceptible to root knot, and their use will further reduce the nematode population.

Also, it should be standard practice to plant nematode resistant varieties when available. Following is a list of nematode resistant varieties that have done well in this county.

CROP	ROOT KNOT NEMATODE RESISTANT
Tomatoes	Big Set Better Boy Terrific Bonus Small Fry (cherry type)
Southern Peas	Mississippi Silver (cream)
Sweet Potatoes	Jewell Centennial

Gardeners who find that they are able to follow only one or two of the above-mentioned practices because of planting or economic restrictions will have less success in controlling nematodes. Once nematodes are found in a garden, the control program as outlined above must be followed annually. Based on current knowledge, it is impossible to completely eliminate nematodes from a garden. But a sound control program will keep the population at a manageable level.

Planting your garden is next. More on that later.

Appeals court asks additional arguments in Stacy dam case

The Third Court of Appeals in Austin has made the rare request for additional arguments in the matter of the Colorado River Municipal Water District's permit to construct the Stacy reservoir.

O.H. Ivie, general manager of CRMWD, will be heard June 10. The Court first heard the case Nov. 19, 1980, when the Lower Colorado River Authority and others appealed the District Court decision upholding the Stacy permit granted by the Texas Water Commission.

At a meeting of the CRMWD board of directors in Big Spring Thursday, Ivie also reported on efforts of the District amend its act to make boundaries of the District conform to those of the Jan. 1, 1981 corporate boundaries of the member cities of Odessa, Big Spring and Snyder.

The change also would prescribe extra-territorial jurisdiction in which the District could cooperate contractually with public agencies, industry or individuals in financing or installing works required under the Clean Air and Waste Water Management Acts.

The LCRA again has injected the Stacy project into this matter, said Ivie, and Charles Herring LCRA manager, has circulated a letter complaining that it would give CRMWD the powers of a water authority, or the same powers LCRA possesses.

Directors appropriated an additional $5,000 to complete and equip a warehouse at the Big Spring base station. Previously $15,000 had been voted.

The HIPLEX program of weather modification research will not be operative in Big Spring and area this summer. Ivie told the board. The Montana and of the effort, however, will proceed despite budget cuts. The Texas Department of Water Resources, however, will indemnify CRMWD for commitments and expenses made in preparation for 1981 HIPLEX, he said.

Wolfcamp production measured

Amoco Production Co. completed a Wolfcamp gas discovery in Howard County. Its No. 114-A-B Texas Land & Mortgage Co., previously scheduled 5/2-mile southwest outpost to Fusselman oil production in the Coahoma, North (Fusselman and Clearfork) field and three miles east of Coahoma, had a calculated, absolute open flow of 675,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

Production was through perforations at 7,300-7,318 feet, which had been acidized with 1,800 gallons and fractured with 3,600 gallons and 11,000 pounds of sand.

It was drilled to 8,962 feet, where 5 1/2-inch casing was set. Location is 467 feet from the south and 1,000 feet from the west lines of 5-30-1s-T&P.

Police Beat

Vandals attack auto

A vehicle owned by Susan Phillee, 507 Lancaster, received $300 worth of damage while it was parked at the Pump Club, 700 West IH 20 Thursday night.

An intruder entered the residence of Frank Wilson, 2209 Alabama, Thursday night. When Wilson returned to his home from a movie, he found the front door and the back sliding door open. Nothing appeared missing or damaged.

Two transmissions and three standard rear ends were stolen from the Big Spring Truck and Trailer, 505 NW 12th, between April 1 and Thursday. Value, $10,000.

A window was broken at the residence of Lozell Osburne, 403 Bell, Thursday night.

A rear license plate was stolen from a vehicle owned by Lynn Craft, 2206 Nolan, sometime Thursday.

A window, garden hose and tires were damaged and a gas cap and gasoline stolen from Manuel Arsiaga, 4112 Parkway, Thursday evening.

A hand gun was stolen from Ysabel Luna, 808 Lamesa Hwy. between Wednesday and Thursday.

Two plants were stolen from Bonanza, on FM 700, Wednesday or Thursday. Four mishaps were reported Thursday.

A parked vehicle owned by Mike Stewart was struck by a vehicle owned by Robert Stevens, Granite Shoals, at 400 W. Fourth, 7:55 p.m.

Vehicles driven by Kimberly Clark, 1016 Baylor and Delma Warren, Abilene, collided at 1700 FM 700 E. 4:13 p.m.

A parked vehicle owned by Elizabeth Lawson, 400 Owens, was struck by a vehicle which left the scene at the post office parking lot, 10:30 a.m.

A parked vehicle owned by Elsie Smith, 1404 Austin, was struck by a vehicle driven by Josephine Hilario, 601 E. 15th, 12:50 p.m.

Financial incentives plan unfurled by TESCO chief

"Our main purpose with this program is to encourage the use of energy-efficient equipment which will help reduce the growth in demand for electricity. This helps us hold down the number of new plants we have to build to serve that growth," TESCO President Bill Marquardt said.

"And, in turn, it will help hold down increases in the cost of electricity for all customers," he added.

Among the equipment that qualifies under the plan are replacement central electric refrigerated air conditioning units with an 8.5 SEER (Seasonal Energy Efficiency Ratio) rating or higher; replacement central heat pumps units with an 8.0 EER (Energy Efficiency Ratio) rating or higher; heat recovery or solar-assisted systems for use with electric water heaters, and high efficiency room air conditioners or room heat pumps.

The program also applies to energy-efficient equipment installed in new homes, apartments, and mobile homes.

"This program is extremely cost effective for all customers because we can provide financial incentives to help reduce the growth in demand for electricity at much lower costs than if we had to spend money on new power plants to serve that growth," Marquardt said.

Because high-efficiency equipment uses less electricity, customers who install it will save money on their bills as long as the equipment is in use.

"But the initial cost of this equipment is higher than that of lower-efficiency units, so our program is designed to encourage customers to replace worn or outmoded equipment with the higher-efficiency units," he said.

Under TESCO's plan, the incentives payment would be made to the participating financial institution from which the customer obtains a loan for the equipment. The TESCO payment would then be deducted from the principal loan amount, reducing the amount being financed.

If a customer pays cash for the higher energy-efficient equipment, a direct payment to that customer would be made by TESCO.

The financial incentives are based on the amount of load reduction realized by installing the more efficient equipment.

Texas Electric released details of its program to provide financial incentives to customers who replace worn or obsolete air conditioning and water heating equipment with more energy-efficient equipment. The plan, called the Residential Load Management Program, will become effective April 15.

Suspect arrested in rape

DALLAS (AP) — A man police say is an ex-convict has been arrested in the abduction and brutal rape of a 7-year-old girl who was assaulted and left tied to a tree in a remote, wooded area.

Police said she had been beaten and raped. Charges were being prepared against the man Thursday, police said.

Deaths

Joycie Wilson

Joycie Viola Wilson, 68, died Thursday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness. Services will be at 4 p.m. Saturday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with Royce Clay, minister of 14th and Main Church of Christ, officiating.

Graveside services will be at 1 p.m. Sunday in the Red Oak Cemetery, Red Oak, Tex. Melvin Wise, Walnut Church of Christ, Dallas, will officiate.

She was born Dec. 7, 1920 in Bardwell, Tex. She was married to Loyd Floyd Wilson May 29, 1930. He preceded her in death in 1954.

She graduated from college, and received her master's degree from Sul Ross University in Alpine. She taught school for 20 years, the last several years in Fort Stockton and El Paso. She came to Big Spring 10 years ago from El Paso. She was a member of the 14th and Main Church of Christ.

Survivors include two sisters, Faye Rogers, Big Spring and Floy Hobbs, Montana; four nieces, including Mrs. Jimmy (Pat) Anderson, Big Spring.

Survivors include his wife, Ethel Mae Robinson, Mabank; five sons, Robert Earl Robinson, Mabank, Grady Gene Robinson, California, Charles Sidney, Andrews, Richard Lee Robinson of Germany, and Thomas Wayne Robinson, Andrews; a daughter, Sandra Sue Rollins, Fort Worth; and a number of grandchildren, several great-grandchildren and an aunt, Ruby Hicks, Big Spring.

Services are set for 2 p.m. Monday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Dr. Edwin Chappel, First United Methodist Church, will officiate.

Brian Lee Schwarz, 1, died Tuesday morning in Rochester, Minn., following heart surgery.

Services are set for 2 p.m. Monday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Dr. Edwin Chappel, First United Methodist Church, will officiate.

Services are set for 2 p.m. Monday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Dr. Edwin Chappel, First United Methodist Church, will officiate.

March of Dimes plans Tennythong on May 2

The March of Dimes has scheduled its annual Tennythong for Saturday, May 2, at the tennis center in Comanche Trail Park.

The event is set to start at 9 a.m., and is planned to continue all day, according to Billie Davis, executive director of the Caprock chapter of the March of Dimes.

Doctors optimistic Brady can return to profession

WASHINGTON — James Brady still wants to go shark fishing this summer and he still wants to bring along some dynamite.

The 40-year-old White House press secretary, recuperating from a gunshot wound to the brain suffered in the March 30 assassination attempt on President Reagan, called an old friend from his Washington hospital room Thursday to say the trip off the coast of Delaware is still on.

Physicians at George Washington University Hospital said Brady is continuing to make satisfactory progress and Dr. Dennis O'Leary, a spokesman for physicians there, said he is "extremely optimistic" Brady can "return to his profession."

The call from the traditionally joyful Brady came to Peter Teeley, press secretary to Vice President George Bush, who said he and Brady used their first conversation since the shooting to joke about their trip, in the planning stages the past two years.

"I told him that I was going to hold him to the shark fishing trip this summer but he couldn't bring dynamite," said Teeley, who was press secretary during Bush's presidential campaign last year while Brady held the same job for Texan John Connally.

"He insisted that he had to bring dynamite on the trip. He's always kidded about going shark fishing with dynamite."

Brady's quip recalls a reputation for joking and irreverence he enjoys with reporters. He once reportedly pointed to a forest from a campaign press plane and called out "Killer trees!" in reference to a Reagan remark that trees cause air pollution.

ERA Brokers of West Texas report sales of $71,095,811

The ERA Brokers of West Texas reported closed sales of $71,095,811 through the fourth quarter of 1980. Total number of closed sales reported was 1,612.

Approximately $22,052,000 of the total sales volume was covered by the ERA Buyers Protection Plan, a one year limited protection plan covering the nine major working components of a home.

Regional Headquarters for ERA of West Texas is ERA Colkan, Inc. located at 1801 N. Union Blvd., Colorado Springs.

Feather Fanciers host spring show Sunday

The Feather Fanciers of Big Spring will host their first spring show Sunday, an event which is open to the public.

Trophies, ribbons and rosettes will be awarded, as will cash prizes. The following classes will be judged:

Bantams: champion single comb clean leg, champion rose comb clean leg, champion any other comb clean leg, champion feather leg, champion game, grand champion and reserve grand champion.

Standards: grand champion and reserve grand champion.

The super grand champion will receive a trophy, plus $50. The reserve grand champion will receive a trophy plus $25. Entries must be from a member of the Feather Fanciers. Dues for 1981 will be paid at the show. They are $3 for a single and $5 for a family membership.

Officers are Kenneth Williams, president; Eddie Simer, vice-president; and J. Fauver, secretary.

Making up the show committee are Perry Dail, Bryan Kilby, John Grayson and Eddie Simer, with David Spencer as chairman.

Judging the contest will be Tracy Hill.

Entry fee is $1 per bird. Birds will be accepted at the east barn on the fair grounds from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday, and Sunday from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. Judging will start at 11 a.m. Sunday.

Private graveside rites will follow at Trinity Memorial Park.

He was born June 23, 1979. Survivors include his parents, Richard Anton and Macie Ann Schwarz, Big Spring; a sister, Elisa Maria Schwarz, Big Spring; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Stanley Schwarz, Sioux City, Iowa; maternal grandmother, Mrs. Joan Scott, Costamesa, Calif.; great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hofacker, Tuscon, Ariz.; a great-grandmother, Mrs. May Wray, of Tuscon, Ariz.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with interment at Coahoma Cemetery.

Survivors include his wife, Ethel Mae Robinson, Mabank; five sons, Robert Earl Robinson, Mabank, Grady Gene Robinson, California, Charles Sidney, Andrews, Richard Lee Robinson of Germany, and Thomas Wayne Robinson, Andrews; a daughter, Sandra Sue Rollins, Fort Worth; and a number of grandchildren, several great-grandchildren and an aunt, Ruby Hicks, Big Spring.

Services are set for 2 p.m. Monday in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel. Dr. Edwin Chappel, First United Methodist Church, will officiate.

Strike ban demanded

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Premier Wojciech Jaruzelski today demanded Poland's Parliament impose an emergency, two-month ban on strikes and threatened to quit if he doesn't get it.

"I can work only without the threats of strikes," Jaruzelski said in his first major address since his inaugural plea last February for 90 days of labor peace.

"The government asks Parliament to suspend strikes for two months," the premier and defense minister said in the televised speech. "The government counts on the suspension of the right to strike bringing a general calming."

"But I must remind you that when I took over as premier, I promised to step down if the government can't fulfill its duties," he said. "This is the moment."

Jaruzelski painted a grim picture of Polish problems in the wake of last summer's strike wave that spawned the independent Solidarity labor movement. The government guaranteed workers the right to strike in the agreement that ended the summer rebellion, but that right has yet to be formalized as a law passed by Parliament.

"Strikes too often have political and local motivations. We had some strike preparedness last week without the approval of Solidarity's national coordination commission," Jaruzelski said. "We can't work normally in such conditions."

"The government asks Parliament to suspend strikes for two months," the premier and defense minister said in the televised speech. "The government counts on the suspension of the right to strike bringing a general calming."

HC cowboys rope lead in two NIRA rodeo events

SNYDER — After the first night of competition at the Howard College-Western Texas College 1981 NIRA Rodeo, held here this year, Howard College holds the lead in two events.

Wes Smith, a sophomore from Carlsbad, N.M., holds first place in the calf roping event with a 9.7 time; while teammates Jim Bob McNeal and Ed Fernandes, both from Pecos, hold first in team roping with a 7.27 time.

Other results are: Bareback riding — 1. David Peters, Sul Ross State University, 67 points; 2. Britt Cox, WTC, 56.

Calf roping — 1. Wes Smith, HC, 9.7; 2. Gip Allen, Sul Ross, 10.76; 3. Mark Mudd, Cisco Junior College, 11.99.

Breakaway roping — 1. Mandy Tubb, WTC, 2.86 seconds; 2. Nanette Fine, WTC, 4.59.

Steer Wrestling — 1. Guy Allen, Sul Ross, 4.13 seconds; 2. Jimmie Smith, CJC, 4.66; 3. Gary Hickox, WTC, 8.83.

Goat Tying — 1. Sarah Cash, Tarleton State University, 9.97 seconds; 2. Kyla Rice, Sul Ross, 10.12.

Team Roping — 1. Ed Fernandes and Jim Bob McNeal, HC, 7.27 seconds.

Barrel Racing — 1. Tammy Stuart, WTC, 13.587 seconds; 2. Kyla Rice, Sul Ross, 13.891; 3. Tamara Hammons, WTSU, 13.913.

Bull Riding — 1. Vance Smith, ACU, 69 points; 2. Brett Hammon, Ranger Junior College, 59.

The NIRA Rodeo will continue with evening shows Friday and Saturday and matinees Saturday and Sunday.

Tickets for the rodeo are $3 for adults, and $2 for students. Box seats are $5 and $6.

Howard College participates in the southwest region of the National Collegiate Rodeo Association, which includes 17 schools and 225 contestants.

Darrell Barron, who was in Big Spring Thursday in conjunction with the rodeo, said that Howard College Rodeo team members are tied for second place in the men's division for National Intercollegiate Rodeo Association competition. Other schools vying for second place are Western Texas, Tarleton, and Eastern New Mexico University.

The race for second place is important, said Barron.

For the record

Inadvertently omitted from the list of dining places, which appeared in the 1981 Newcomer's Guide in Thursday's edition of The Herald, was the Bonanza Restaurant.

Bonanza, located on FM 700 on the southern perimeter of Big Spring, has become famous for its steaks. The popular restaurant, opened in 1980 to lunch and evening diners, operates seven days a week.

The restaurant provides a play area which is becoming increasingly popular to children and a spacious parking area adequate for handling its largest crowds.

On track Local organizations, churches info needed

"On Track" is an official column prepared by the Big Spring Centennial, Inc., and lists the various events and meetings being held in conjunction with the upcoming Big Spring-Howard County Centennial to be held May 21-30. Individuals wishing to list their activities and events in this column are asked to call Mel Prather at 267-4373, or bring their items by Citizens Federal Credit Union.

HISTORIES OF CHURCHES AND ORGANIZATIONS: Churches and organizations in Howard County are again reminded that they must complete their materials by April 15, if they wish to have it included in the centennial commemorative book. The information can be turned in either to Joe Pickle or the Centennial Store-Headquarters at 900 Main.

CENTENNIAL DECORATIONS: Representatives of the Freeman Decorating Co., the official decorator for the Big Spring-Howard County Centennial, Inc., will be in Big Spring beginning Monday, to contact area merchants about decorations for the upcoming festivities. In addition to the bunting-type decorations available in the past, the Freeman Decorating Co., will also be providing a center panel with the local centennial seal.

FIRST LADY CANDIDATES: Nominations for First Lady candidates will be accepted at the Centennial Store-Headquarters through April 12. Individuals and groups wishing to submit a nominee should be sure that the person is over 17 and a resident of Howard County.

FIRST LADY MEETING: A meeting of First Lady candidates will be held on Tuesday, April 14, beginning at 7 p.m. in the Cactus Room at Howard College. All nominees should make an effort to attend the meeting.

CENTENNIAL BELLES AND BROTHERS OF THE BRUSH MEETING: There will be a meeting of representatives of the various Centennial Belles and Brothers of the Brush chapters Wednesday, April 15, at the Centennial Store-Headquarters at 900 Main. The Centennial Belles will have their meeting at 5 p.m. and the Brothers of the Brush will hold their meeting at 7:30 p.m. Representatives of the area chapters are encouraged to attend.

Body viewed in El Paso Tribute paid to Bradley

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Soldiers stood at rigid attention, civilians watched silently and an Army band played "Nearer My God To Thee" as a military honor guard carried the flag-draped coffin of Gen. Omar N. Bradley into the adobe chapel at nearby Fort Bliss.

The last five-star general returned Thursday aboard a presidential jet to the sprawling fort that had become his home. His body will lie in repose at the post chapel through Monday morning.

Military leaders and Bradley's second wife, Kitty, who arrived on the plane with the general, attended a brief service.

Afterwards soldiers and civilians filed past the closed, flag-draped casket in a quiet tribute to the first chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the last of the nation's great World War II commanders.

"For 69 years he wore the colors of an American soldier — with courage, integrity, professionalism and, above all, honor," President Reagan said Thursday. "Even as he rose in rank, humility never left his side. He was the 'GI's general' because he was, always, a GI."

Bradley, who was 88, died Wednesday at St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital in New York. He will be buried Tuesday at Arlington National Cemetery near Washington, D.C.

Retired Gen. Mark W. Clark, the former World War II commander of U.S. forces in North Africa, said in New York that the death of his comrade-at-arms "came as a jolt."

"Brad's death has saddened me terribly," said Clark, who was to meet with Bradley Thursday for the first time in 10 years.

Clark remembered Bradley as a "quiet, knowledgeable person who inspired confidence and said he 'ranks with our greatest commanders of all time.'"

"He was anything but a showboat. His manner was reserved, but people knew when he said something, he knew what he was talking about. He was a leader, first and last," said Clark.

Bradley and his wife moved to Fort Bliss in November of 1977 because of the El Paso area's climate. The general of the Army suffered from arthritis and a series of strokes had left him crippled and in a wheelchair during his final years.

The easy-going, soft-spoken man became a local celebrity in El Paso and was honored frequently in city ceremonies.

The GI general became attached to the soldiers at Fort Bliss and the fort was chosen as the place for much of his post-death ceremonies.

His body will be flown to Andrews Air Force Base at Washington Monday morning and "will lie in repose" at the Bethlehem Chapel at the National Cathedral Monday afternoon through Tuesday morning.

The funeral for Bradley will be at 1 p.m. EST Tuesday in Washington, D.C., with graveside ceremonies at 3 p.m. at Arlington National Cemetery.

Simultaneous ceremonies are scheduled at Fort Bliss on Tuesday.

The body arrived in El Paso about 3 p.m. Thursday and the casket was loaded into a hearse by a honor guard from the 3rd Guard special detachment as nearby soldiers stood at rigid attention. The body was taken to an El Paso funeral home.

Mrs. Bradley looked more rested Thursday night when she arrived at the funeral home for the procession to the Fort Bliss chapel.

When she arrived on the airplane Thursday afternoon, Maj. Gen. John B. Obinger, commander of Fort Bliss and a close friend of the Bradley's, had said Mrs. Bradley "was pretty shaken up. She was very tired."

Bradley's aides, three officers who accompanied him throughout his stay at Fort Bliss, also were shaken Thursday.

West Texas courting tourists

There was a time not too long ago when West Texans made no effort to court the tourist, when they looked at most visitors with some suspicion. If tourists were spotted in the area, the natives were convinced they were just "passing through." Likely as not, their assumptions were right.

How times have changed. West Texans have grown to appreciate the value of the tourist dollar. It not only spends but it is multiplying by leaps and bounds.

One of the agencies which has become acutely aware of that heretofore untapped source of revenue is the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

ITS RECENT EDITION of "Wonderful West Texas," eighth such publication of its kind, is the best yet and serves to make one want to explore the vast area all over again.

Profusely illustrated in color, the brochure points with pride to the area's 69 (major) lakes, its 159 museums, 17 forts (remains or restored), the Alibates Flint Quarry National Monument, the Armistead Reservoir International Recreational Area, 17 zoos (Ablene has a decent one), 42 colleges and universities, Big Bend and Guadalupe Mountains National parks, 10 symphony orchestras, 29 art galleries and 23 community theaters, as well as the state capital.

There are three Big Spring-area scenes in the brochure—one of Signal Mountain, seen from across the waters of Moss Lake; the scenic setting of the original "big spring" and a West Texas sunset as seen from a Big Spring street.

"We want you in Big Spring," the local ad in the brochure reads.

"Mesas and buttes on three sides with the open plains to the north give flavor and variety to the landscape of the Big Spring area. Free camper hookups and over 5,000 acres of city and state parks including: golf, tennis, boating and numerous other activities highlight outdoor recreation opportunities. A new convention coliseum, seating up to 6,500, provides an unparalleled meeting facility."

IN ALL, 80 participating entities got together to finance and produce the brochure. Included are such things as Alamo Village in Brackettville, the Caverns of Sonora, the Texas Pageant near Canyon, the Highland Lakes above Austin and Del Rio, cited for its availability to Old Mexico and Lake Amistead.

Big Spring's Heritage Museum is cited for having the largest known collection of H.W. Caylor's western paintings. Big Spring itself is identified as a 'bird watching mecca' where free camping is offered to motor home tourists.

In excess of 100,000 copies of the map have been printed and will be distributed through state tourists information centers, auto and travel clubs, travel shows, map participants and inquiries received by the WTCC.

Spending by auto visitors to Texas during the first half of 1980 was running 30 percent greater than for the same time the preceding year—more than twice the rate of national inflation. (Incidentally, Dallas displaced San Antonio as the premier city destination in the state, attracting a third of all auto visitors).

It goes without saying that the welcome mat is out for all visitors in West Texas.

Combat overbite

Around the rim

James Werrell

They're finding it all over the country; the holy loophole, also known as the immaculate deduction.

Businessmen from all walks of life are feeling the wrath of the I.R.S. from on high, like a shot right to their ungrudging loins. What is the answer? Well, many of the merchants have decided to build temples out of which to throw the tax collectors, so to speak.

PSYCHIATRISTS ARE DECLARING themselves ministers and forming their own religions; doctors are gathering their own sects around them; dentists are building little tax-free churches in the wild-wood to keep their patients' backs.

And behold, it's happening here! A local group of the aforementioned dentists has banded together to form its own church, the Toothers. Members hope to use the church to fight the overbite taken out of their wallets by the government.

Gathering each Sunday, they pass the partial plate through the congregation, intoning the words from the Tootherman Gospel, "We have been shown to be an effective audit reducing dentistry when used in a conscientiously applied program of moral hygiene and regular professional care."

Smaller offshoots of the Toothers include members of the Plaque Muslims, the Greek Orthodoxists, and a group called simply the Chewers, who meet on Saturday. They split with the main church over disagreements about the second gumming.

Local house-painters joined together to form the Church of the Ladder Spray Paints. Just as with the Toothers, dissidents broke off from the main church, and formed a small sect known as the Holy Rollers.

That group dismisses the miracle that supposedly changed water-base paint to acrylic.

Heavyweights at the local reducing salon have founded a church with a name almost as wide as its brethren. Members of the Our Lady Of Fat-Ima Roman Caloric Church Of Our Lord claim to have their roots in the Holy Holy-poly-Roman Empire, and follow a leader who was crucified, breaded and never-married.

Followers of the true leader are promised everlasting just desserts. Dairymen have chosen Thomas a'

Bucket as their patron saint. They worship a golden calf.

A small sect which grew out of this church, the Milk Shakers, cowtows in the direction of mocha several times a day.

EVEN PLANNED PARENTHOOD has gotten into the act, forming the Rhythm Methodists Church. Admitting that their gospel isn't very effective, they send pilgrims to spread the word to areas they feel could be fertile.

Like many churches, the Rhythm Methodists have formed a basketball team. The team played against another put together by three gynecologists, the First Paptists, and the Paptists got smeared.

Local mechanics gather at the Assembly Line Of God and the Fourth And Mainbearing Church Of Chrysler. The gospel at both places of worship is that "if the Devil would lead you astray, fear no ethel, and you will go unled."

Most area saloon-keepers are members of the First-Drink-At-Any-Costal Church. They are constantly urging the congregation to tithe one on.

Local welders, who have joined together at the United Unifers Church, can be seen during weekly acetylene torchlight ceremonies singing their favorite song, "Onward Christian Solderers."

The owners of health food stores have banded together as Jobba's Wheatnesses. "Give us this day our daily whole-wheat bread with no artificial preservatives so that our dough may rise again," states their gospel.

Just about all the professions, such as the short-order cooks in search of the Holy Grill, and a large group of barn-again farmers, have found the holy loophole. How long before the I.R.S., itself, would catch on?

The word out of Washington is that the I.R.S. is now to be referred to as Followers Of The Teachings Of Confusionism. "Ah so, taxhopper," begins one parable, "Each journey on the long road must begin with a single step. One must consider all of his benefits as well as his deductions in life. But if you are under 30, unmarried, living with your parents, you may want to consider the short road..."

Imperiled policy

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — While President Reagan was lying in his hospital bed seven blocks away, the National Security Council (NSC), in secret session April 1, learned that his whole Middle East policy may founder on the U.S.-Saudi arms deal.

The nation's top policy-making officials for the first time were given an informal Senate headcount made by former Republican Sen. Jacob Javits at the request of the White House. It points to major defections sufficient to kill the arms deal if a vote were held today. The reason: Too many senators agree with Israel that Saudi Arabia is not giving enough in return for AWACS radar aircraft.

THAT RAISES THIS question: If Israeli opposition is viewed by other Mideast nations as strong enough in the U.S. Senate to overcome Ronald Reagan's first initiative in their region, what will happen to U.S. influence in the Arab world?

The Israeli government two months ago instructed its embassy here not to attack Reagan's plan to supply fuel tanks and missiles for the Saudi F-15's. Prime Minister Menachem Begin feared a bloody battle with the new, strongly pro-Israel president. But Reagan's decision to add the AWACS to the package changed Israel's mind, and the word from Jerusalem now is: Whatever the cost, stop Reagan's deal!

...ing that determination are the terms governing the AWACS sale, more favorable than the terms given West Germany several years ago. At the April 1 NSC meeting, Secretary of State Alexander Haig pointed this out and indicated he will try to win Saudi concessions when he goes to Riyadh on his current Mideast trip.

Haig repeatedly emphasized during the discussion that to get the deal through the Senate, critics would have to be persuaded that the U.S. was getting full money's worth from Saudi Arabia.

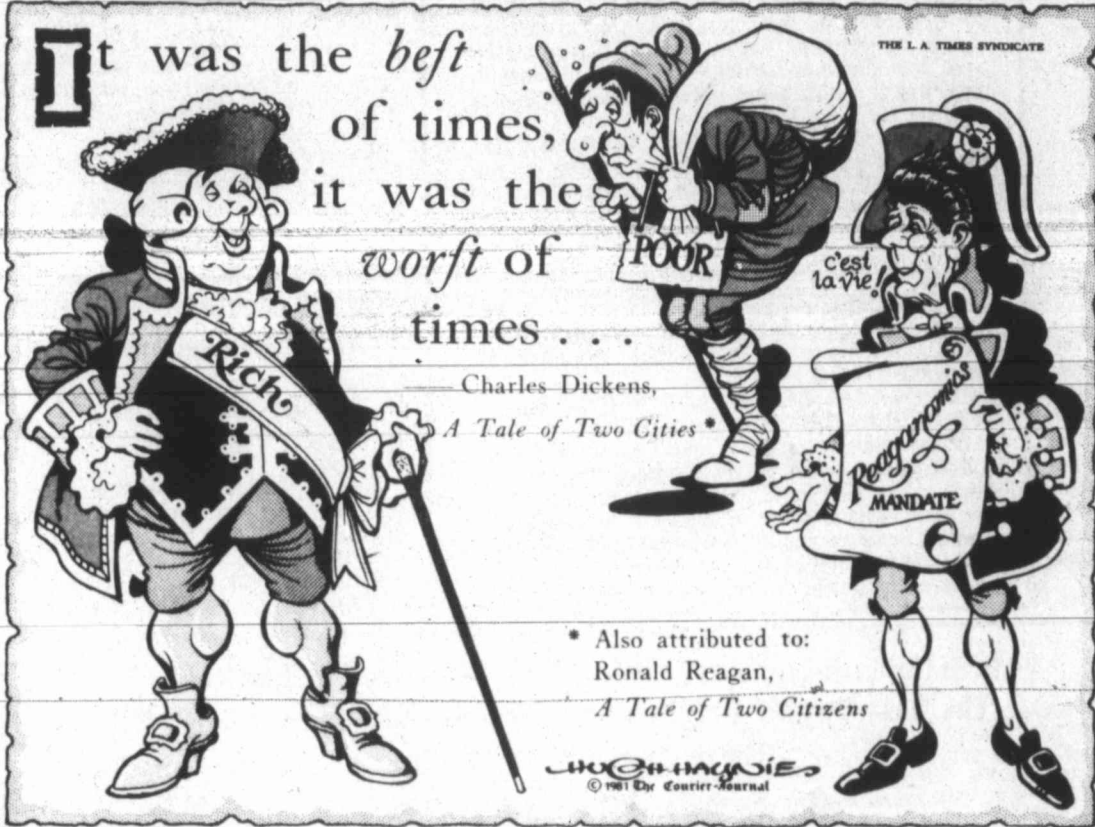

Countering Haig, Defense Secretary Casper Weinberger argued that the Saudis have agreed in a formal memorandum to a "regional" defense concept for the first time in the history of that highly nationalistic, isolationist kingdom. That alone is a big concession, he said, suggesting that other cooperative defense moves may be possible in the U.S.-Saudi future.

But Haig asked whether the "regional" defense argument would be enough to persuade Congress. However valid that argument is in terms of Reagan's decision to foil Soviet intrusion into the Persian Gulf area, it may prove fatally flawed in terms of congressional politics.

REPUBLICAN SENATORS NORMALLY loyal to their new president have been getting signals from Israel that the Saudi deal will threaten Israel's military superiority in the Middle East. These senators protest that the AWACS are being sold to Saudi Arabia without any real quid pro quo.

That explains Weinberger's heavy emphasis on Saudi willingness to concede that its security is part of a "regional," anti-Soviet problem. But opponents of the deal, led by the pro-Israeli lobby, want much more: a guarantee that in exchange for the AWACS the U.S. will get military facilities or base rights in the Saudi homeland. That, however, is regarded as out of the question by administration officials.

The opponents also argue that West Germany and other NATO states that have been sold AWACS automatically share with the U.S. all data picked up by these radar ships.

Cholesterol 'bad word' in house

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: In our house cholesterol is a bad word. My husband was told years ago he had high cholesterol, so he had to avoid meat fats and switch to margarine. Soon, the sight of bacon and eggs and kielbasa proved too tempting. Out went the diet. He refused the cholesterol checks he had promised to have. Then came the government report telling us the cholesterol scare was all wrong. A breakthrough. Now we hear that alcohol will clean out the blood, ridding it of cholesterol. Another breakthrough? Can all this possibly be true? — Mrs. I.B.

A diet lower in saturated fats and cholesterol does lower blood fat levels. Another consideration is whether this is really beneficial in preventing heart disease and artery hardening. Scientists studied a large group of people, some of whom had switched to the low-fat diet and some of whom had not. Among the low-fat diet group, those who were middle-aged and male were found to have less risk of heart disease.

I think the report to which you refer stated only that the scientists had some doubt as to whether diet ALONE was the factor controlling blood cholesterol. I think it does play a role.

Other factors — smoking, lack of exercise, obesity, high blood pressure — have roles in heart disease. It all depends on how great a role you assign to each. I think diet does play a role in all of this. How major a role remains to be seen. I'd urge your husband to go back on his diet.

As to alcohol, moderate (two beers a day) use increases the levels of certain kinds of blood fats (high density lipoproteins) and this lessens the chance of heart disease and artery hardening. I am not selling alcohol. All I mean is that moderate alcohol intake does seem beneficial.

I do not mean that those who do not now take alcohol should begin, only that moderate amounts are not harmful and may be doing some good. I wish delicatessens would stop displaying kielbasa in their front windows.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a 23-year-old woman and have had this thyroid condition for which my doctor gave me radio-active iodine treatment. Well, that was in 1977. I would told by someone who had this same treatment that she cannot have any babies because of the treatment. Is this really true? I am getting married soon and my husband wants to have at least two children and I also want children. We love kids. If I cannot have any kids, well then I don't want to get married and mess up his hopes and dreams of having a wife and children — what about birth defects? — Desperate.

If you are a healthy young woman your chances of becoming pregnant are as good as anyone else's — whether or not you had radio-active iodine treatment or not. The amount of radiation that gets to the ovaries from the radio-active iodine is no more than you get from a lower G.I. examination with X-ray. The number of children with birth defects is no higher in women who had radio-active iodine treatment than in those who have not.

Dear Dr. Donohue: How does someone get the bacteria that causes meningitis? What is the treatment? — Mrs. H.M.H.

The meningitis is the covering of the spinal cord and the brain. Meningitis is inflammation of that covering.

Many bacteria can cause meningitis. I'll deal with a very common one — the meningococcus. About 15 percent of people carry this bacteria in their throats without getting ill. They are carriers and it is almost as though they have been vaccinated against the germ.

If a carrier coughs or sneezes, the bacteria is blown out into the air. When one of the 85 percent of people who do not have the built-in immunity to the germ is around there is a chance it will settle in that person's throat. Eventually, it may get into the blood and be carried to the brain covering. The covering becomes infected and inflamed. It's the same thing that happens when a staph germ causes a boil. In this case, the meninges becomes covered with pus just as a boil becomes filled with pus.

Although bacterial meningitis is a serious illness, antibiotics are almost always effective in treating it. Other bacteria can cause meningitis. The story differs a little with each, but this gives you a general idea of how most meningitis develops.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is at the same time vital to human life. For a copy of his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly," write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have some friends who have been through a type of new psychological group therapy, and they say it has given them a new experience of living. Do you think such things are of benefit? — Mrs. G.I.

DEAR MRS. G.I.: I have a son-in-law who is a practicing psychologist, and I know there are many people who can be helped through such individuals if they have psychological problems — particularly if they are committed to Jesus Christ and have a spiritual dimension to their psychological therapy.

You do not specify what kind of ideas are behind the type of therapy you mention. However, I believe you would be wise to be very careful about becoming involved in such things. I have many acquaintances who are trained in this field, and they have told me there are many facts which come and go, and which actually have little lasting value. They may, in fact, be harmful, or at least tend to keep a person from seeking help from sources which genuinely give assistance.

There are several things wrong with many psychological theories today from a Christian standpoint. One is that many of them hold that the answers to our deepest problems can be found within ourselves and therefore we do not really need God. Many of them, therefore, completely forget the spiritual dimension — or even reject it. Also, at best psychological therapies which leave God out of the picture can never do anything more than make a person psychologically adjusted. But the Bible tells us we have a deeper problem — the problem of sin and alienation (or separation) from God. Our greatest need is to be forgiven, and to be restored to God. Only Christ can do this.

Many of the psychological problems people have today are actually spiritual problems. One of the most wonderful truths of the Bible is the fact that "if anyone is in Christ, he is a new creation; the old has gone, the new has come!" (1 Corinthians 5:17).

Club hears book review by author

The GFWC Forsan Study Club met Monday at 7:30 p.m. at Garrett Hall of the First United Methodist Church. President, Shirley Summers introduced Margaret Baum and Susan Dawes. Mrs. Baum reviewed her book, "Keep Out of Reach of Children." Mrs. Dawes sang the songs that accompanied each of the anecdotes.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses Sue A. Holguin, Kathy Pickett, Sharon Cregar and Susan Gaston.

The business meeting was called to order by Mrs. Summers. Susan Alexander gave the devotional and Mrs. Cregar gave the treasurer's report.

The members voted to become a charter club for the "Howard County Centennial." They named the chapter the Forsan Parlor Pumpers. The officers are: High Bustle, Emily Elrod; Silver Belle, Mrs. Pickett; Susy Quill, Brenda White; Calamity Jane, Susan Gaston; Main Stay, Mrs. Alexander. The club chose Nola Story to be their representative as First Lady.

Mrs. Pickett, correspondence secretary read letters of thanks from the Heart Association and the Cancer Society for the club's donations.

The club voted to buy one-fourth of a page in the Howard County Historical

The annual Community Clean-Up was scheduled for June 20. Members were urged to begin planning activities. The project will be entered in the National Federation Community Improvement Project Contest.

On April 5, seventeen club members and their three guests attended the production of "Same Time Next Year" at the Midland Community Theater. The next meeting date was changed to April 23 at 7:30 p.m. in Mrs. Elrod's home. Members were encouraged to wear their Centennial costumes.

Rebekahs receive instruction

Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 met Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. Lillian Rhine presided over the 23 members present.

District Deputy President, O'Dell La Londe, and five other members from John A. Key Lodge No. 153 were also present. Mrs. La Londe conducted a school of instruction.

Members reported 22 visits to the sick. Refreshments were served following the meeting. Cake and coffee were served to patients at the Veterans Administration Hospital Wednesday morning.

The next meeting will be held April 14 at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Murphy is honored with baby shower

A baby shower was held in honor of Mrs. Skeeter (Lisa) Murphy Wednesday, from 7:30-9 p.m. in the Texas Electric Reddy Room. Mrs. Murphy was presented a corsage made of baby socks in assorted pastel colors.

Hostesses were Marian Buzbee, Candy Chesworth, Kathie Gomez, Delynn Howard, Barbie Myers, Oleta Weaver and Vonda Wrye. The hostess gift was a mattress and mattress cover. Guests were served cake and sherbert punch.

Baby Murphy is due to arrive the early part of May.

Couple's Celebration Stalls at Countdown

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were married May 10, 1956. We were divorced in 1970 and stayed divorced for a year and a half. Then we were married again in November 1972.

We have always celebrated our anniversary on May 10, but now we have a question. Should we celebrate our 25th wedding anniversary on May 10, 1981, and forget about the year and a half we weren't married? Or should we wait until all the time we spent as man and wife actually totals 25 years? This is a small town and a lot of people here know we were apart for a year and a half. What do we say if somebody mentions it?

We'd really like to have a nice 25th anniversary celebration in May.

TWO ANNIVERSARIES, ONE MAN

DEAR TWO: Have your 25th wedding anniversary in May 1981, and if somebody mentions it, tell 'em it's "new math."

DEAR ABBY: I am almost 15 and have a brother who is 11. We both have our own rooms, although we might as well have only one between us. My problem started last summer when my mother put a cot in my bedroom so my brother could sleep there. The reason was to save energy by running only one air-conditioner instead of two. I didn't put up much of a fuss, although I hated not having my privacy.

It's nearly a year later, and my brother is still sleeping in my room. He uses the excuse that he has nightmares about robbers and murderers. Maybe this is true, but I think I should face this problem and sleep in his own bedroom.

I've talked to my mother about it and get nowhere. She says she can't make him sleep in his own room if he says he has nightmares.

My brother thinks because he sleeps in my room, it's his, too, and he is in it during the daytime. Now I have absolutely no privacy. Don't you think I should have a room of my own?

BROTHER TROUBLE

DEAR TROUBLE: I'm all for conserving energy, but the nightmare excuse is a horse of a different color! Brother should sleep in his own room. Perhaps a night-light would eliminate his nightmares. If it doesn't, he should get professional help.

DEAR ABBY: Can you stand one more "other woman" story? I became the other woman when I was a girl of 19. He was 43 at the time. I worked for him (but don't say doing what). He was married and had children (but don't say how many).

I wasn't particularly sexy-looking, but I was competent, always available and had nothing else in my life but him. He was a workaholic and we spent a lot of time together, in the office and out. If there was any gossip about us, I never heard it. I was like a piece of office equipment.

I never dated anyone else, but it was no sacrifice for me. I loved him. He told me he loved me, too, and when his kids were grown he'd leave this wife and marry me. I never pressured him, and I was content to let time take care of things.

Well, time did. I am 38 now and he is 62. His wife died four months ago and yesterday he married a 27-year-old girl he had known for only six weeks!

Now I know how Jean Harris (the woman who shot that diet doctor) felt.

TLC aids mothers in labor, says article

A mother giving birth in a hospital may reduce the time from admission to delivery by more than 50 percent when she has a little tender loving care from a friend or family member, according to a recent study cited in the current Family Circle magazine's "Here's News In Medicine" column.

The mothers in the study, Guatemalan women bearing first children, received the same basic treatment. However, in addition, the test group of mothers had an untrained lay woman with them from admission to delivery, day and night. They lay woman provided conversation, a friendly presence, and other support such as back rubs and hand holding. The mothers with companions averaged 8.8 hours from admission to delivery, versus 19.3 hours for the other mothers in the study. What's more, the supported mothers were awake more after delivery, and stroked, smiled and talked to their babies more. According to the researchers, similar or greater benefits may be expected when a family member or friend remains with the mother.

Family Circle notes that in all but one of 150 cultures studied by anthropologists, and in some U.S. hospitals, a mother has a family member or friend with her during labor and delivery.

one Friday

When we become mired in the routine of life, one day is like any other. This was just another working-day for most of the people in Jerusalem. Three men died on Calvary Hill. One of them was the Galilean! Business as usual in Jerusalem. Unless we understand the whole significance of what is happening we pay little attention. . . . Do you understand what happened that Friday? Do you realize WHO hung on that central Cross? Do you know WHY he died? And FOR WHOM? There is nothing more necessary in our lives than the deep, personal knowledge of what happened that Friday . . . and the Sunday following.

Weaver replaces Choate at helm of credit union

Wade Choate has announced he is stepping down as general manager of the Citizens Federal Credit Union to devote full time to oil and gas leasing and consulting.

Choate, who has headed the credit union since June 1965, said that Jim Weaver would become manager of Citizens Federal but that he would continue to serve as treasurer on the board of directors at the credit union.

In making the announcement, Choate said that the decision to go into business for himself had been one that he had been considering for the past few years, but that civic activities and other factors had prevented him from doing so. Choate said he began to develop his oil and gas consulting interests shortly after his last term as mayor of Big Spring in 1980. Since that time, his business has grown and he has found it necessary to devote more of his time to his new endeavors.

WADE CHOATE

JIM WEAVER

Choate said he planned to continue serving as treasurer on the board of directors at the credit union until his term expires in 1982. He said that he would review his plans at that time to determine whether he wished to remain on the board of the large financial institution.

"My decision to leave Citizens Credit Union was a difficult one to make," Choate said. "But there were outside interests that I wanted to pursue and I didn't feel that I could do both jobs at the same time," he said.

"Jim Weaver is a very capable individual," he continued, "and I have no questions about his ability to manage Citizens Credit Union. I feel the credit union will continue to grow and prosper under his guidance as it did under mine," Choate said.

Choate has been associated with credit unions for the past 20 years. His career in the credit union movement began when he organized and served as first president of the Howard County Employees Federal Credit Union in Big Spring in 1961. Since that beginning, Choate has worked extensively on the credit union, chapter, state, and national levels as either a volunteer or as a professional.

When Choate took over as head of Citizens Federal Credit Union — formerly Webb AFB Federal Credit Union — in June 1965, the credit union had assets of only $2,500,000 and approximately 4,000 members. Since that time, the credit union has become one of the largest and fastest growing federal credit unions in the nation with assets in excess of $34,000,000 and a worldwide membership of more than 20,000.

While serving as general manager, Choate became involved in the state and national levels within the credit union movement. He was the first representative from a federal credit union to be named to the State Credit Union Commission by Texas Governor Preston Smith. His involvement in the credit union movement and the city of Big Spring led to his appointment as a board member of the National Credit Union Administration by President Gerald Ford. While on the board, Choate represented Region V, which includes the State of Texas, as well as all surrounding states and states throughout the Southwest.

His successor, Jim Weaver, has served as both general counsel and assistant manager of Citizens Credit Union since January 1978. Weaver is a graduate of Austin College with a degree in history and economics. He also holds a doctor of law degree from the Baylor University of Law.

Weaver has been a member of the Credit Union Executives Society since 1978 and was a director on the Texas Association of Federal Credit Unions. He has also served as president of the Big Spring Chapter of Credit Unions. Weaver is a member of the Howard County Bar Association, the Texas Bar Association and the American Bar Association.

In discussing Choate's decision to step down as general manager of Citizens Federal Credit Union, Weaver said "Wade provided me with an excellent example to follow and he will be greatly missed by all of us at the credit union. I am grateful for all of the vast amount of knowledge and experience that he has shared with me since I arrived at the credit union," he said. "At the same time, we can also understand his desire to develop his new business and we all wish him the very best of luck in this new endeavor," Weaver concluded.

Musical will be at Midway

This Sunday night, the adult choir of Midway Baptist Church will present the Easter musical, "His Last Days", written and composed by Dallas Holm and adapted for choral presentation by Elmo Mercer.

The central theme of the musical is Jesus Christ and His last days here on earth. Bible personalities like Peter, Mary, the Roman Centurion, the adulterous woman, the "Hosanna" crowd that turned into the "Crucifixion" crowd, come alive with personality from the pen of Dallas Holm, truly inspired of God to compose this music.

The glorious message in a nutshell is to be found in the one song "Rise Again." Jesus came to save sinners. This made possible by His death, burial and resurrection. But there is also the promise of His return to claim the redeemed as His own for all eternity.

The musical will be directed by Kerry Wood, Minister of Music and Youth, and he will be assisted by John Gibson, Bro. Rick Davis, Pastor, will do the narration. Soloists include Wayne Drewery, Brad Grandon, John Gibson, Joan Davis, Glynn Drewery, and Kerry Wood. The choir includes 34 voices. The service will begin at 7 on Sunday night, and the public is invited to attend. Midway Baptist Church is located on the south service road of Interstate 20, four miles east of Big Spring.

THE REV. DAVID L. BRISTOW

New rector elected to St. Mary's

The Rev. David L. Bristow, currently associate rector of the Episcopal churches in Odessa (St. John's-St. Barnabas), has been elected to the rectorship of St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Big Spring.

He succeeded Harland Birdwell, who resigned last fall to become rector of St. Andrews Episcopal Church in Roswell, N.M. The Rev. Mr. Bristow will assume his duties as rector here the first Sunday in May. The Rev. Bristow had previously served churches in East Texas and in Houston. He is a cum laude graduate of the University of Texas at Austin and the Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest. During a tour of duty with the United States Air Force in Viet Nam, the Rev. Bristow was awarded, among other decorations, the Bronze Star and the Purple Heart. The Rev. Bristow is married and has two children.

Students motives selfish

WASHINGTON (AP) — Surveys over the past decade show an increasingly selfish motivation among students entering college, reports researcher Alexander Astin.

He told the annual meeting of the Lutheran Education Conference of North America that beginning in the early 1970's, college freshmen when "asked to state their primary objective expressed a growing interest in money, power and status."

During the same period, "altruistic goals" either stayed on the same level or diminished, he said.

Astin of the University of California in Los Angeles and president of the Higher Education Research Institute said the report was based on surveys of some 4.5 million entering students at 550 institutions over the past 15 years.

Along with the changing motivation, he said, freshmen showed deteriorating levels of academic preparation, especially in verbal skills.

Fellowship will meet Saturday

The Women's Christian Fellowship will meet Saturday at 10:30 a.m. at the First Baptist Church, Coahoma.

The speaker will be Mrs. W.A. Kennedy, First Baptist Church, Hawley.

All women having birth-days in April do not have to bring a dish. A nursery will be provided. We had 18 in attendance at the last meeting.

REV. DAVID STEVEN WOMACK

Emmanuel Baptist has minister

Emmanuel Baptist Church, 2107 Lancaster, has recently called the Rev. David Steven Womack, 1104 Nolan, as their pastor.

Emmanuel is a new congregation, having been established in September, 1980.

The Rev. Womack graduated from San Angelo Central High School in 1973 and from Angelo State University in 1978 with a bachelor of arts degree. He also holds a master of public administration degree from Angelo State with additional undergraduate work in Homeric Greek and anthropology at the University of Texas, Austin. He has done additional graduate work in behavioral science at the University of Texas in the Permian Basin, and in theology through the Luther Rice Seminary. He was a resident member of the 'Clinical Pastoral Education Program at St. John's Hospital, San Angelo from September, 1979 to February, 1980.

Womack was licensed to the ministry at the Harris Ave. Baptist Church, San Angelo, in February, 1976 and ordained to the ministry in May, 1979.

Womack served his ministerial internship at the Harris Ave. Baptist Church from August, 1978 to May, 1979. He served as pastor at Eola Baptist Church at Eola, as part-time chaplain at St. John's Hospital, San Angelo and as Pastor of Prairie View Baptist Church, Big Spring, from February, 1980 (until April 15).

The Rev. Womack married Kathy Ann Toungt Aug. 20, 1976, a native of San Angelo. She holds a bachelor of business administration degree from Angelo State University and is secretary to Roger Brown, attorney.

The Rev. Womack's plans for Emmanuel Baptist are to see an increase in attendance from 60 to 100 in Sunday school by the first of next year. He wants to create a family church where everyone gets to know each other. He hopes to see an increase in youth and young adult attendance and will solicit their participation in worship services.

Womack assumed the pastorate of Emmanuel April 15.

Church opposes FCC decision

LASHINGTON (AP) — The decision by the Federal Communication Commission to deregulate radio — free stations from public service program requirements — is being opposed by Protestant and Catholic organizations.

An "abdication of the commission's responsibilities," says Richard Hirsh, communications secretary for the U.S. Catholic Conference. Officers of the National Council of Churches also have criticized the step, and the United Church of Christ has filed a suit to block it.

Sunday mass is at 10:30 a.m. parishioners gathering School Hall at 10:30. The eighth grade School class will present Passion Play at 9:15 in the School Cafeteria. Sunday School starts at 9:15. Parents and other interested persons will be invited to the Easter Sunrise Service at 7 a.m. April 19 in front of VAMC.

Hillcrest Baptist Church is assisting with the service. Dr. Phillip McClendon will be the guest speaker.

Dr. Kraemer guest speaker for Holy Week services

Holy Week services begin Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church. Dr. Charles E.S. Kraemer of Charlotte, N.C., will be the guest speaker for Holy Week services.

The guest speaker formerly held the highest elective office in the Presbyterian Church in the United States, when he served as Moderator of the General Assembly. He is a native of Bonham, Tex.

He has served parishes in Kentucky, Missouri, Mississippi and North Carolina. In 1954, Dr. Kraemer assumed a presidency of a Presbyterian school of education, in Richmond, Va., a position he held until his retirement.

The Holy Week services at the Presbyterian Church begin with morning worship on Palm Sunday, April 12, and continue through a noon day service of prayer on Good Friday, April 17. Evening services will begin at 7:30 each evening, with Dr. Kraemer speaking.

Ford rejects merger with Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — Ford Motor Co. said today its board of directors considered and rejected a possible merger with Chrysler Corp.

In a statement released by the No. 2 automaker, Ford Chairman Philip Caldwell said the question was considered at a Thursday meeting of Ford's board of directors and was raised "by intermediaries acting on behalf of Chrysler."

"It was unanimously determined that a merger or other similar arrangement with Chrysler should be rejected as clearly not being in the best interest of Ford or its stockholders," Caldwell said.

Chrysler officials were not immediately available for comment.

Ford and Chrysler were staggered by record losses in 1980. Chrysler lost $1.71 billion for the year while Ford's losses totalled $1.55 billion.

The companies are expected to report continued losses for the first quarter of 1981, which ended March 31.

Industry analysts predict that Chrysler will report a loss of between $200 million and $300 million for the first quarter. And a preliminary prospectus released Thursday by Ford Motor Credit Co., Ford's finance subsidiary, reported that Ford lost about $470 million before taxes in the quarter.

Mr. G's Fertilizer Guide

Are you getting maximum results from your fertilizer program? In order to have a beautiful lawn you must provide a given amount of plant nutrients — part of this is provided by the soil, but the balance must be applied as commercial fertilizer. The Occidental Chemical Company made an analysis of the soil of West Texas and has come up with the answer — ZIPP — a formula of 16 nitrogen, 8 phosphorus, 8 potash and 16 sulfur. Nitrogen provides good root system. Potash provides strong stems; disease resistance and winter hardiness; and sulfur not only enhances the availability of plant nutrients, but creates a more desirable environmental for beneficial soil organisms as well. Along with zinc and iron ZIPP contains all the nutrients for top lawn quality and fertilizes shrubs and trees as well.

Come talk to us about the best fertilizer for West Texas.

Missionary to India speaks to congregation

Louise Harrington, Odessa, shared her tour as a "Spot Missionary" to India with the First Church of God congregation and guests Monday evening.

A salad supper at 7 p.m., sponsored by the Women of the Church of God, preceded the program.

A spot missionary is anyone interested in missions who goes for a short term, usually five weeks, to a particular mission at their own expense to fulfill or assist with a specific task.

Mrs. Harrington's interest in India stems from the fact that her mother, Alice Hale, served as a missionary in Lahore, India, from 1907-12 and had told her of the work there.

Louise and Liesl left New York on Dec. 9 and arrived in New Delhi first. She was shocked and depressed by the abject poverty evident everywhere. Her mother's description of the country had not prepared her for the people on the streets with nowhere to go, sleeping on the ground, existing in little huts thrown against the walls of public buildings, and the ever-present beggars.

Arriving in Cuttack where The Shelter is located she was relieved to be met by Asim Das, the director and an old friend.

The Shelter was started in 1912 to provide a home for abandoned baby girls. The oldest building in use was built in 1916. Thirty-six girls are cared for there by the director and his wife, who teaches in a woman's university nearby, and four women. Asim's mother and father also live with them.

The two had some happy times sharing the lives of the girls, their programs, play and craft sessions. They made felt Christmas stockings and many other things. The girls sang, accompanied by one of them banging on an overturned washtub, and danced.

Two of the older girls, sisters, 28 and 25, one with her teacher's certificate and the other with a master's degree in Home Science, are there. One teaches on the grounds.

Mrs. Harrington wore a silk sari with silver filigreed pendants and a jade necklace and displayed several objects of native crafts to the group.

A hand woven cloth, a vegetable dyed cloth, baskets, an elephant carved from a buffalo horn, silver jewelry and a straw painting of a boat were some of the items shown.

The two missionaries arrived in Florida Jan. 14 from their tour of duty.

presented at 7 p.m. in the Church Sanctuary at 4th & Scurry Streets.

"The Witness," written by Jimmy and Carol Owens in 1978, has proven to be one of the most popular Christian musicals ever written. It has been presented across the nation by every conceivable group, large and small, and stands with "Celebrate Life" and "Tell It Like It Is" in appeal and witness.

Singing the lead role of Peter, The Witness, will be Chris Showalter, Chris's excellent singing voice and strong stage personality brings the character of Peter alive in a very moving way.

The troubled personality of Judas is portrayed by Dennis Launarey in a gripping, moving manner. Debbie Hamill sings the Mother Mary role beautifully. Pam Smith portrays James and John's mother who is interested only in their success while Peter's wife, Beth Boeker, finds she married a traveling man. Kelly Draper and Pete Crabtree sing the roles of James and John.

Other singers and actors include Michelle Bowers, Amy Ragan, Charley Ragan, Buddy Beach, Jayma Horn, Amy Dwire, Mike Maas, David Deal, Jim Cearley, Jim Fisher, Richard Moren, Jerry Holten, and Holly Parham. Technical director is Jim Moss; stage director is Kelly Draper, and Charles Parham is music director.

The musical will be accompanied by a small ensemble and will utilize special lighting and interesting stage effects.

You are invited to attend this special presentation of "The Witness".

Visitors attending were the Rev. and Mrs. George Harrington, The Rev. C.D. Phillips and Delmar L. Daniel from the Highland Church of God; Mrs. A.L. Gatewood, Big Spring, Mrs. Ruby Reeves and Gertrude Lowe, Luther, Mrs. Harrington's sister-in-law.

Confirmation candidates and their families only.

Thursday the Lord's Supper and Washing of Feet Eucharist will be observed at 7:30 p.m. Prayer and worship of Blessed Sacrament will be from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Holy Week scheduled

The Rev. Carroll C. Kohl of St. Paul's Lutheran Church will conduct special Palm Sunday services at 8:30 and 10:45 a.m., beginning Holy Week activities.

The adult choir, under the direction of Mrs. Rob Haney, will sing, "Why Does He Look So Sad?"

Maundy Thursday service will be held at 7:30 p.m. "A Christian's Observance of the Passover" is the theme of the service with special music by the choir. Holy communion will be celebrated.

A Tenebrae service commemorating the Crucifixion, will be held at 7:30 p.m. on Good Friday with candles being extinguished at intervals during the service. The choir will present, "Were You There?"

An Easter Egg Hunt will be held at 3 p.m. April 18 at the church for Children from 2-12 years of age. Each child is asked to bring six hard-boiled colored eggs one dozen candy eggs individually wrapped. Prizes will be awarded.

A Sunrise Easter Service will be conducted by the Rev. Kohl in the courtyard of the church at 6:30 a.m. Special music will be presented by the choir with guitar accompaniment.

The Senior Lutheran Youth Fellowship will serve a pancake breakfast immediately following the service for volunteer contributions. Counselors of LYF are Mr. and Mrs. Dan Cowan and Mr. and Mrs. Danny Heckler.

Special Easter service will be held at 10:45 a.m. April 19 in the sanctuary with the choir presenting, the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's "Messiah."

Gospel singers to perform at Assembly

The Young Disciples, a Country Gospel singing group of five brothers, will present a concert at the First Assembly of God Church, 4th and Lancaster, at 10 a.m. Sunday.

These full-time music evangelists are Sammy, 32; Joel, 25; Carlos, 23; Hector, 20 and Johnny, 19. This young group is independent and are more than a singing group, sharing messages, testimonies and counseling. Their albums and tapes will also be available.

J.W. Farmer, superintendent of the West Texas District and former pastor here, in Ackerly and Midland, will minister in the 7 p.m. worship service.

Mother of slain man sues gun manufacturer

DALLAS (AP) — The mother of a 20-year-old convenience store clerk who was slain during an armed robbery has filed a $60,000 suit against the manufacturer of the handgun used by her son's murderer.

James Patterson was shot to death during a Dec. 29, 1980 robbery at the 7-Eleven store where he worked as a clerk. He was felled by five .38-caliber slugs from a revolver made by R.G. Patterson Industries, Inc., makers of the .22-caliber revolver believed to have been used to shoot President Reagan last week.

Mrs. Jett Edwards Patterson claims the revolver used to kill her son was an "unreasonably dangerous product" and that its manufacturer should be held strictly liable for injuries resulting from its use.

Product liability lawsuits usually are brought against manufacturers who design items that cause harm because they fail to function properly or are unsuitable for their intended use.

Mrs. Patterson, however, is not contending that something went wrong with the handgun used to shoot her son.

I WAS THERE, TOO

In a painting of the Crucifixion by the famous Dutch artist, Rembrandt, your attention, of course, is drawn first of all to the Cross and to Him who hangs there. Then you look at the crowd that is gathered around the Cross and note the attitudes and actions of these people. As your eyes drift to the edge of the picture you see another figure standing in the shadow. This is Rembrandt himself — Rembrandt helping to crucify Jesus! How true that is! The Crucifixion is not merely a historical fact. It is a personal experience... It may be an interesting pastime to point fingers at those who crucified Jesus Christ, but it is a shocking thought that I can be as indifferent as Pilate, as scheming as Caiaphas, as callous as the soldiers, as ruthless as the mob, as cowardly as the disciples. It isn't just what they did... "Twas I that shed the sacred blood"

I nailed Him to the tree,
I crucified the Christ of God,
I joined the mocker!
I look again and in the shadows with Rembrandt, I am there!

Nursing home investigation delayed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — State Sen. Chet Brooks, chairman of the Senate Human Resources Committee, has admitted he had a role in delaying the suspension of the state license of a Texas City nursing home where corporate owners and eight employees later were indicted for murder, a Dallas newspaper reported.

Brooks, an influential Pasadena Democrat, said he asked the Texas State Health Department to reinspect the Autumn Hills Convalescent Center in July, 1980 after a May 20-23 inspection disclosed serious deficiencies in nursing care, diet and the administration of drugs. The Dallas Times Herald said in today's editions.

The health agency's inspection team had recommended after the first inspection that the nursing home's Medicaid contract not be renewed the following August. But at Brooks' request, Health Department officials scheduled a second inspection on July 1. The deficiencies noted in the earlier visit had been corrected by then and Autumn Hills' state funding contract was renewed on Aug. 1, 1980.

Brooks told The Times Herald he interceded after he received a visit from Robert E. Gay, president of Autumn Hills Convalescent Centers, Inc.

Brooks reported receiving a total of $4,700 in campaign contributions from Gay's corporation in 1978 and 1979. The company, its board of directors and eight employees were indicted for murder by neglect last week by a Galveston grand jury.

Brooks said Gay visited him at his office and outlined what Gay felt was unfair treatment from the health department. At Gay's request, Brooks said he asked his staff investigator, O.L. Hamilton, to visit the home.

Earlier Thursday, Texas

Health Commissioner Robert Bernstein said Medicaid certification for Autumn Hills was not revoked because a state legislator intervened. Bernstein would not name the legislator, however.

Chopper falls on city street; two are killed

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Federal Aviation Administration officials launched an investigation today into the crash of a helicopter that fell onto a residential street, killing the two Canadian occupants.

Police Lt. Carlos Pinon said no one on the ground was injured in the crash Thursday and said the flames from the helicopter that hit in the middle of the street did not spread to any of the nearby houses.

Pinon said the two-passenger helicopter was flying toward the El Paso International Airport when it began losing altitude.

"Apparently he was looking for an open landing spot, then all of a sudden it just dropped," Pinon said. The helicopter crashed about one-half mile from the airport.

The pilot was declared dead at the scene and a woman passenger was rushed to nearby Eastwood Hospital, where she was pronounced dead, Pinon said.

Federal Aviation Administration spokesman Al Pospisil identified the victims as Jacque Dagenais and Roxanne Francoeur, both of Montreal, Canada.

Police identified Dagenais as president of the L'Allier Automobile Inc., dealership of Montreal.

District Fire Chief Bob Garmon said five fire units rushed to the scene of the crash and found area residents attempting to extinguish the flames with garden hoses.

Garmon said none of the debris from the crash damaged any of the houses nearby, although a piece of a landing strut was found nearly a block away.

"We're lucky they landed out in the middle of the street," he said.

Teenage League sign-up tomorrow

The American League Teenage League will have their final sign-up of the year tomorrow, April 11 at the Roy Anderson Complex. The time for registration is 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Boys that were on teams last year are reminded that they need to sign-up again, as do first year players. Birth certificates should be displayed when signing up. The Teenage League includes all boys from ages 13-18. Sign-up fee is 10 dollars.

In District 5-AAAAA Track and Field Meet today

Steer girls expected to challenge

SAN ANGELO — The Big Spring Steers and the Abilene Cooper Cougars girls track teams are expected to be the front-runners here today and tonight when the District 5-AAAAA Track and Field Meet unwinds. And although most observers rate Cooper a favorite over Big Spring with the rest of the field chasing them, anything can and usually does happen in this event. Big Spring no doubt appears to have the edge over the rest in this afternoon's field events, as the Steers Carla Jackson and Elise Wheat could no doubt be double winners before the sun goes down. Jackson has the best marks in 5-AAAAA entering the district meet in both the long jump and triple jump, while Wheat has a district best discus toss and is a close second in the shot put. And if pressure means anything, both Jackson and Wheat have been there before. Although the duo are only juniors, they both were winners last year in the 5-AAAAA meet. Jackson won the long jump and finished second in the triple jump, while Wheat won the discus and finished third in the shot put. Jackson will no doubt end up as the leading point getter in the history of the District

5-AAAAA girls track meet. As a freshman she scored 35 points, and added another 35 points last year. That is bordering on the amazing, as the most any competitor that runs two relay events as she does could score is 40 points. Jackson also has to be considered one of the favorites in the 100-meter dash, an event she won last year, along with Abilene Cooper's Karla Seldon. Another Steer girl that no doubt is hoping for a repeat of last year's 5-AAAAA performance is Shell Arledge. As a freshman, she won the district 200-meter with a time of 24.92, but she has not approached that this year.

But while the Steers will hopefully be, racking up points in the field events, short running events and relay races, Cooper will come in favored in the long distance events and with a great amount of depth. "There's no doubt that we have the best individual performers in the district," Big Spring Assistant Track Coach Sandy Brown noted earlier in the week, "but we just don't have the depth that some of these teams do. We could finish second or third in district and then win the regionals." Big Spring Track Coach Micki Fitzhugh is uncertain of what to expect, but has her own idea of what will be the critical areas in deciding the 5-AAAAA girls title. "We should do well in the field events, the relays and the short distance events," she philosophized. "But distance will be a problem for us. It has been all year." Cooper always does well in the distance events, having the favorites in the 1600, 800, 3200 and 200," Fitzhugh continued. "I think a lot of the meet will come down to how well they can do in the shorter things." San Angelo Central has won the 5-AAAAA meet the past three years, the past two years edging second place Big Spring. But San Angelo doesn't appear to have the power to take the 5-

AAAAA crowd again, although Fitzhugh won't count them out. "Central has had a lot of injuries and not run in the past weeks. They may be healed, but no one's for sure about them," the BSHS track mentor stated. There are many circumstances involved if the Steer girls are to win the 5-AAAAA title, but one key is success in both the 400 and 800-meter relays. BSHS has the best time in the 800 coming into the meet, and are close to even with Cooper, Odessa Permian and San Angelo in the 400-meter relay. But Fitzhugh had to change the Steers relay Cont. on 3-B "Depth"

Hangin Out with Nathan Poss

Did Corker get the shaft, then give it?

The NJCAA recently released their end of the year statistics, as well as their 1980-81 All-American men's and women's basketball team. And as in any post-season honor case, there was controversy.

Howard College's Kelly Lyons was named to the women's First Team, but the absence of Hawk freshman Randy Corker from the men's team was ridiculous.

I'm not necessarily speaking of the First Team, as there were no doubt many players more worthy than Corker. But still, when the Second Team, Third Team and 40-player Honorable Mention list left the Howard College freshman off the list, it makes you wonder.

Of course, the fact that he is only a freshman hurt his chances, as the unit is nearly always made up of sophomores. And let's face it, in order to be All-American, the school has to do one helluva job promoting the player.

In the case of Kelly Lyons, it was done. The same is true of Midland College's First Team All-American, Charles Johnson. The Chaparrals sports information office made one of most impressive brochures on Johnson that one could ask for. And that's not to take anything away from Charles, a 6-6 player who was no doubt the MVP for the 30-3 Chaps and in the Western Conference.

But back to Corker. The bulky freshman from New Jersey only averaged 25.4 points per game, good enough for sixth in the nation. And his points were not from an undisciplined run and gun shooting style, as those who watched can testify.

Corker was more than a scorer. In more than one game that the Hawks won on their way to an excellent 24-win season, "Chief" controlled the game with his ball handling, passing and free throw shooting in the late stages. He was "the man" in the Hawks four-corner win over the previously undefeated and number one ranked nationally Midland College team, but still, no All-American mention.

The discrimination by the NJCAA against freshmen is definitely not right, although one could see their reasoning. If a player were to make All-American in his freshman year, what big incentive would there be from a personal standpoint not to reap the benefits and take the first good major-college offer that came along? Why stay at a junior college for another year when you are ready and can obviously play big time roundball?

In Corker's case, it didn't matter. He's leaving Howard College after one year, anyway. The 6'5" forward signed Wednesday with Virginia Commonwealth of the newly formed and tremendously tough Sun Belt Conference, therefore saying adios to the Hawks and Coach Harold Wilder.

But for those of you interested and with a mouth for starting gossip, it was not for the reason that he didn't get along with Wilder or other members of the team, or the school itself.

And although Wilder would no doubt love to have Corker back for another year, there are no hard feelings from the Hawk mentor.

"When he came here, it was with the understanding that he would play for only the one year," Wilder explained. "I can only be very happy that he came here and gave us the great year that he did."

"Of course, when he signed with Virginia Commonwealth, it meant that that was the only NCAA school that he could play for," Wilder continued. "But if something happened before next fall with that, he could still come back here."

"And if for any reason that something would happen," Wilder said with his voice growing stronger with emphasis as he continued speaking. "I want Randy to know that we would more than welcome him back!"

An old Howard College assistant to Wilder, Leroy McClendon, originally got Corker started off for Big Spring.

McClendon, who has moved from Howard to Tulsa and now to the University of Alabama as a top assistant, was recruiting Corker for the Crimson Tide last year at this time. When it became apparent that he would have to go to a junior college for a year in order to improve his grades, McClendon notified Wilder of Corker, and encouraged both to take a look at each other.

And that's the way it works in many cases in regard to some of the better juco players. It's simply a matter of a major college coach either suggesting or sending a high school senior he either can't get into school or doesn't feel is quite mature enough for a big-time program yet to a junior college.

The junior college coach then tries to keep the player's mind in tune with the school that sent him, although it doesn't always work that way.

Some claim Corker is shunning Alabama by signing with VC.

But Corker claims that he was not placed here by Alabama, obviously trying to prove his point by signing with Virginia Commonwealth.

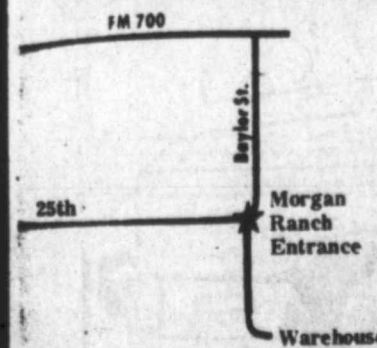

"Coach McClendon suggested me coming to Howard," Corker said earlier this week in the Garrett Coliseum weight room. "But he didn't place me here."

"They still wanted me to come back and sign with Alabama, but I really didn't want to go there after thinking about it. It's such a football school," Corker explained.

Logjam develops in Masters

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Johnny Miller parlayed an 11th-hour gamble and a new, relaxed attitude into a share of the first-round Masters golf lead.

"I changed my putting grip overnight. I'm crazy to do that right before this tournament," said Miller, trying to regain the talent that once made him the world's foremost player.

His 3-under-par 69 in the baffling winds of Augusta National Golf Club Thursday tied Miller with Australian Greg Norman, Lon Hinkle and Curtis Strange.

"For some reason, I wasn't nervous. Playing with Fuzzy Zoeller helped. He's a nice, easy-going fellow. I usually get antsy at Augusta."

Miller's fresh approach reaped dividends — his best ever first Masters round by two shots.

Seventeen players in the select, international field of 82 broke Augusta National's par of 72 despite severe pin placements, soft fairways and the unpredictable wind.

Three shots separated 27 challengers. Some of the sport's most feared golfers — Jack Nicklaus, Tom Watson, Hubert Green and Bruce Lietzke — were lurking behind the leaders.

Nicklaus was in a logjam at 70 with Jim Simons, Japan's Isao Aoki, David Graham, John Cook, low amateur Jim Holtgrieve and Green.

Another shot back at 71 came Watson, joined by Ben Crenshaw, Jerry Pate, Gibby Gilbert, Don Pooley and Peter Jacobsen.

Lietzke, a two-time winner earlier this year, was among 10 players at 72.

South African Gary Player, seeking a fourth Masters championship, was another shot back at 73.

The warm, partly sunny day, however, was cruel to defending champion Seve Ballesteros, leading 1981 money-winner Ray Floyd, Lee Trevino, Sam Snead and Keith Fergus.

Coahoma's Fowler signs letter with Hawk Queens

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

Coahoma's Andrea Fowler has signed a letter-of-intent with the Howard College Hawk Queens, thus becoming the second recruit of Coach Don Stevens for the upcoming year.

Fowler, a 5-7 guard, has won numerous individual awards while at Coahoma, but what no doubt impressed Stevens the most was her all-around play on the Bulldogettes' successful basketball teams.

She has been honored as an All-District performer the past two years, and added to that by recently being named to the Lubbock Avalanche Journal's All-South Plains team.

Much of that final award was no doubt due to her role on the Coahoma team the past year. The Bulldogettes compiled an impressive record of 24-7, including winning the District 6-AAA title, bi-district and the first round of the Region I-AAA Tournament before losing in the finals to Abernathy.

Fowler began her varsity basketball career for Coahoma midway through her sophomore year. In those two-and-a-half years, the Bulldogettes won 59 games.

During her high school career, Fowler scored a total of 892 points, averaging 12.2 points per game. But that's misleading. During the past two years: During her junior year, Fowler averaged 14.9 points per game. In her senior year, Fowler averaged 13.1 points per game.

"Andrea could have scored a lot more points," explained Coahoma Coach Billy Gordon. "But we had a very balanced scoring attack, and she played for the team at all times, sacrificing her scoring."

Fowler also was an excellent floor player, averaging four assists, six rebounds and 2.7 steals per game. She had a career shooting percentage of 51 percent, and connected on 69 percent of her free throws.

Fowler, as stated earlier, was the second recruit for Stevens' Hawk Queens next year. The first was 6'5 1/2" Susan Cordell of Eules Trinity.

The latest HC female recruit cited the proximity of the school as her basic reason for continuing her roundball career as a Hawk Queen.

"I guess the main reason I signed with Howard was that it was close to home and has a real good basketball tradition," Fowler revealed. "And it will also give many of my friends a chance to see me play for a couple of years."

Howard's Stevens, Lyons among elite in juco All-Star battle

WACO — College coaches from around the state and from many parts of the country will converge on Waco this weekend when four games matching the best in Texas high school and junior college basketball are on hand.

Big Spring's Howard College will be well represented in the star-studded affair, as both Hawk Queens Coach Don Stevens and his All-American performer, 6-3 Kelly Lyons, will be performing for the drooling scouts on hand to try and sign those high school and juco players that have yet to ink national letters.

Johnson, heads the Region V team.

On Saturday, the high school stars from around the state hit the hardwoods at Baylor as the North will meet the South in both the Class AA-AAA level and the Class AAAA-AAAA level.

One member of the North Class AAAA unit is Midland High's Herb

Johnson, a 6-9 guard who many consider the best all-around player in the state. Johnson has given a verbal commitment to join his brother Charles at Texas Tech, but there no doubt will be many college coaches desiring to change his mind.

The high school games will be at six and eight o'clock, respectively.

Trevino, needing a Masters victory to join four others with titles in all four majors, took a 77. So did Snead, the 68-year-old wonder from another era.

Floyd settled for a 75, but the most disappointed likely would be Fergus.

He went from 3 under to 4 over at 17, assessed six penalty shots for lifting his ball twice from the white-lined gallery fairway crosswalks.

Hinkle, 33, reached both par 5's on the front side in two, two-putting each for birds.

Strange's aggressive approach on the greens of these flowered, 6,905 yards led to just 11 putts on the frontside.

Nicklaus called his 70 his best round ever, that from a man who has won the Masters an unprecedented five times.

Watson, the winner of 20 tournaments the last four years, but none in 1981, said his round easily could have been up to three shots lower.

The field will be trimmed to the low 44 golfers and ties or anyone within 10 shots of the lead after today's second round. Portions of the last two rounds Saturday and Sunday will be carried by CBS-TV.

Murcer uses crowd to slam Rangers

NEW YORK (AP) — It was a baseball fairy-tale acted out in front of 55,123 fans — the largest opening day crowd in the 58-year history of Yankee Stadium — and Bobby Murcer turned out to be Cinderella.

Hanging onto his roster spot by the narrowest of threads, Murcer responded to a standing ovation from the record stadium crowd Thursday by walloping a pinch-hit, grand slam homer in the New York Yankees 10-3 rout of the Texas Rangers.

The fans are aware of Murcer's shaky status with the club. He will be 35 next month and there are a glut of outfielders already on the roster. So, they saluted the veteran with a roar for old times sake when he came up to bat in the seventh.

"The anticipation started when I got to the batting circle," Murcer said. "They cared that I was here. I didn't expect that. It was pretty hair-raising. It sent some chills through my body."

The count went to 3-2 —

Steers try to stay alive in 5-5A race

ODESSA — It's do or die time for the Big Spring Steers baseball team in regards to their chances at staying in the first half District 5-AAAAA baseball race here Saturday when they tangle with the Odessa Bronchos.

The Bovines, still reeling from a loss to Abilene Cooper on Tuesday in which they blew a 4-2 lead by allowing seven unearned runs with two outs in the sixth inning, take a 3-2 first half mark into the OHS battle.

A Steer win would allow them to remain in the league race, but only if either Abilene Cooper lost to Midland or Abilene lost to Midland Lee.

The race still remains tight, with five teams still in the running for the first half title with only two games to play. But tomorrow's action might well eliminate three of them.

Big Spring will likely send Moe Rubio to the mound against the Bronchos, which started strong in 5-AAAAA play but have lost their last two games to fall to 2-3.

Umpires change meeting time

The Big Spring Umpires Association will not hold their weekly meeting tomorrow, rather moving the time to 7 p.m. on Tuesday. The meeting place will be the Big Spring Teachers Credit Union, located at 1110 Benton just across from BSHS.

League prexy Rocky Viera urges anyone interested, including coaches and fans, to be in attendance. Tuesday's meeting will be an umpiring clinic.

Bums blank Astros with young lefty

By the Associated Press

In their 24 years in Los Angeles, the Dodgers never had started a rookie pitcher on opening day — until, that is, a chubby 20-year-old named Fernando Valenzuela strode to the mound.

Valenzuela, a left-hander from Sonora, Mexico, still hasn't learned to speak English, but he had no trouble understanding Houston's batters. He tossed a five-hit shutout and led Dodgers to a 2-0 victory Thursday over the Astros, last season's nemesis.

Valenzuela, the youngest player in the major leagues, was pressed into service when Jerry Reuss pulled a muscle in his calf on Wednesday. He now has pitched 262-3 major league innings without yielding an earned

Congressmen to talk

Democrats schedule April 23 fundraiser

ABILENE — Retired U.S. Rep. Omar Bureson and local Democratic leaders announced today a special fund raiser for April 23 at the Abilene Civic Center. It is titled: "An Evening with Our Representatives". The reception is to begin at 5 p.m. Tickets are $10 each. Tickets at $100 per couple are available for a dinner planned for later in the evening.

Bureson will be joined by U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm in hosting several from Washington D.C. as well as state officials including Sen. Grant Jones and State Reps. Gary Thompson and Walter Grubbs.

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance, who serves on the Ways and Means Committee, U.S. Rep. Dick White from Armed Services, and U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower of the Appropriations Committee are to be in Abilene for this event which is designed to give local citizens an opportunity to learn more about trends in the Democratic party and discuss future needs. All these congressmen have been active in the Conservative Democratic Forum led by Stenholm. "I have been a lifelong Democrat", Bureson said. "In recent years, I have been very concerned about the direction of our party. I want to do what I can to insure that we are always the party of the people".

Tickets for both the reception and dinner are available at 302 Chestnut, telephone 673-3792, or Box 3819, Abilene, 79604.

Proceeds from these events will be divided between the Texas Democratic Party and the Taylor county organization.

Charles Scarborough, local attorney and member of the State Democratic Executive Committee added: "We want to have local funds available in 1982 to open a headquarters to help Sen. Bentsen, Charles Stenholm, and others nominated in the primary".

Stenholm recently said, "We are convinced that unless our party changes directions, we will become the minority party in the U.S. House of Representatives in 1982. I urge everyone to take an active part."

Social Security fund bill pushed by Pickle

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Texas Congressman Jake Pickle said other members of his subcommittee may not see eye to eye with his bill to shore up the shaky Social Security retirement fund, but said all agree with him that something has to be done soon.

"Those who depend on this great social program fear it will dwindle before their eyes. Those who do not yet receive benefits fear it will be gone when their time comes," the Democrat from Austin said Thursday in a speech on the House floor.

Pickle's bill includes all 23 proposals his Social Security subcommittee had agreed upon as part of a first-draft bill to be put before the House for its consideration. Among them is the recommendation that the full retirement age be moved from 65 to 68 by the year 2000.

But Pickle's proposal that the retirement fund balance be rescued by the transfer of $22 billion from the more stable Medicare fund is one of four proposals the subcommittee had not agreed upon.

"This is a Pickle bill, not a subcommittee bill. The transfer of funds from Medicare is controversial, but I would ask members if they don't want to take funds from Medicare, what is their alternative?" Pickle asked at an afternoon news conference.

"We can pass a bandaid approach for next year, hope that all goes perfectly with the economy and hope that we will need to do nothing further. Or we can take more decisive action. Our answer here will determine whether the people have a Social Security program — or a social "insecurity" program — two, three and four years from now."

Current projections show the large retirement fund will run out of reserves to pay benefits some time next year unless more money is siphoned during this session of Congress.

"No more important challenge faces the government today than restoring confidence in social security," Pickle said.

Pickle said his bill is also an effort to comply with President Reagan's budget recommendations that call for $2.4 billion in cuts in social security.

Other subcommittee members have suggested that Pickle's approach amounts to creating a new, $22 billion budget item. If half of the Medicare fund is transferred to the retirement fund, as Pickle's bill provides, an equal appropriation from the General Fund to the Medicare fund would have to be authorized next year.

Martin County Alfalfa Tour rolls next Tuesday

STANTON — The first annual Martin County Alfalfa Tour has been set up for next Tuesday. The tour will begin at the Martin County Courthouse at 9:30 a.m.

Alfalfa is becoming a very important crop in agriculture in Martin County. Many producers are putting in acreage to diversify their farming program.

A fantastic alfalfa tour and program has been put together by the producers in Martin County and the Martin County Extension Service. One of the top specialists in the state on alfalfa production, Dr. Ken Lindsey, will be helping conduct the program, as well as the county Entomologist David Foster.

Dr. Lindsey will be discussing ways to get maximum production out of an alfalfa crop as well as how to establish a crop, maintain it and water it.

David Foster will discuss insect control of alfalfa and scouting your own fields and identification of alfalfa pests.

Names in the news

GEORGE LUCAS HERMAN TARNOWER

Lucas strikes back

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of the hottest moviemakers in Hollywood history is cutting his ties with the film establishment.

George Lucas, maker of "Star Wars" and "The Empire Strikes Back," has resigned from the Directors Guild of America and Writers Guild of America. Last year, the 37-year-old resigned from the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Sidney Ganis, executive vice president of Lucasfilms Ltd., said only that "personal reasons" were behind the latest resignations.

The Directors Guild fined Lucas $25,000 last year for putting the name of "Empire Strikes Back" director Irvin Kershner at the end of the film — violating a contractual requirement that the director's name appear last in the opening credits.

Lucas is currently writing "Revenge of the Jedi," third film in the "Star Wars" series.

Movie without Tarnower

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y. (AP) — A movie about the shooting death of Scarsdale Diet developer Dr. Herman Tarnower without anyone to play the victim?

NBC says that's possible if the made-for-TV saga, "The People vs. Jean Harris," focuses on the convicted killer and her trial.

Martin Balsam, of the "Archie Bunker's Place" series, will play defense attorney Joel Aurnou and Ellen Burstyn will portray the former girls' school headmistress in the movie, tentatively scheduled for broadcast in May.

Mrs. Harris, who contended she shot her longtime lover accidentally while he tried to keep her from suicide, was convicted of murder and sent to prison.

GOP portrayed as party of rich

Democrats are on the offensive

WASHINGTON (AP) — After weeks of licking their political wounds and agonizing over how best to combat a skilled salesman in the White House and a Republican resurgence around the country, Democrats are on the offensive.

With a well-orchestrated campaign designed to hold public attention throughout the week, the Democrats came up with their alternative budget on Monday, some political rhetoric on Tuesday and a major tax-cut bill on Thursday.

The clearest theme that emerged from all the activity was a portrayal of Ronald Reagan and the Republican Party as the president and party of the wealthy.

It's a political tactic Democrats have used in the past with varying success. No one can predict whether it will work this time, but to a lot of Democrats, it beats doing nothing.

Since Nov. 4, the Democrats have been staggering around like a badly defeated army, many of their troops looking shellshocked, others sounding like they were ready to surrender or desert.

Given the results of the 1980 elections, that wasn't too surprising. Not only did the party lose the White House to Reagan, but it ended up as a minority in the Senate for the first time in 26 years.

Then Reagan hit town and started displaying the kind of skill that served him so well during the campaign. Although a political force in the country for more than a decade, Reagan was an outsider to Washington, but he quickly showed he had a keen sense of how to operate in the nation's capital.

The new president stroked the power centers, including those still occupied by Democrats, and he played skillfully on the general acceptance that people wanted something done about inflation and if that meant less government, so be it.

The Democrats listened and they waited for the specifics to emerge.

Reagan put his program out in stages. He told the nation on Feb. 5 that the federal budget was out of control, that the nation had "stalled the judgment day" but now was "out of time."

Those were strong words, and Reagan followed two weeks later with a speech to Congress announcing more than $40 billion in cuts from the budget submitted weeks earlier by Jimmy Carter.

The next day he correctly forecast that the fight was more likely to center on his tax-cut plan than on the budget cuts.

The alternative budget being pushed by the Democratic majority in the House would restore some of the social program cuts proposed by Reagan and would be less generous to the Pentagon.

On taxes, the Democrats have come up with a one-year plan they say is tilted more toward lower- and middle-income Americans.

It was left to Democratic National Chairman Charles T. Manatt in a speech Tuesday to sound the theme underlying those alternative proposals.

TV news crews helping police

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The presence of TV news crews may have discouraged potential customers from approaching undercover officers posing as prostitutes during a police crackdown, but officers say that was fine with them.

"The idea is to reduce the prostitution and crime associated with it and television and camera crews reduce the problem," Lt. Dan Cooke said Thursday after police arrested 27 men at a Hollywood street corner in a well-publicized six-hour prostitution crackdown.

On Tuesday, police recorded the largest number of arrests in one night with the arrests of 71 prostitutes. Vice Squad Sgt. Bob Rebhan said the action was needed to reduce harassment of female residents by men seeking sex.

Intense light harms babies?

CHICAGO (AP) — While there's little solid information on the effect of intense light on the eyes of newborn infants, it's best to be careful and keep flashbulbs as far away as possible, a doctor says.

Dr. Morris Waxler of the U.S. Food and Drug Administration warns in this week's Journal of the American Medical Association that there is a chance standard flashbulbs and electronic flash units could cause damage to retinas when they pop too close to newborns.

'Buck Rogers' massive surgery in vain

LOS ANGELES (AP) — John Mantley, who has a reputation as a doctor of sick TV shows, has been attending an anemic "Buck Rogers" this year.

The patient had shown signs of improvement, but, alas, lost its fight for life. NBC announced in early April the show would leave the air before the end of the month.

"What I'm putting on the air today is a far cry from what I ought to be doing," said Mantley, with the patient still in recovery. "The holes in some scripts are embarrassing, but we don't have time to correct them."

Mantley, who previously produced "Wild Wild West," "Gunsmoke" and "How the West Was Won," took over the NBC series after it had limped along for two years.

"This is absolutely the most difficult project I've ever done," he said. "You've got to create a new world every week. You've got a new wardrobe, new location, and all kinds of effects. We have enormous wardrobe problems, enormous set problems, enormous makeup problems, enormous budget problems."

"You spend so much time on the effects you don't have time for the human stories. Without the actors' strike, which gave us time to prepare, this show would have self-destructed in a few weeks."

The series was adapted from the comic strip created in 1929 by Dick Calkins and Phil Nowlan.

Mantley said he agreed to take over the show for several reasons. For one, he owed favors to people, not the least of whom was Fred

Silverman, president of NBC. "Fred said it has potential and maybe you can fix it," he said. "I owed a lot to Fred."

Another reason, he said, "I've always loved science fiction. My first book, 'The 27th Day,' was science fiction and was made into a movie. I wrote science fiction for the pulps, and I own the rights to Isaac Asimov's 'I, Robot' and 'The Rest of the Robots.'

"And the third reason," Mantley said, "is that the remuneration was extraordinary."

He wouldn't mention a figure, but reports in the industry indicate his salary was not merely extraordinary — it was astronomical. The reason he was able to command such a salary was that Universal was anxious to recover its enormous investment in the show.

industry indicate his salary was not merely extraordinary — it was astronomical. The reason he was able to command such a salary was that Universal was anxious to recover its enormous investment in the show.
