Holy Week services end at Christ's tomb

JERUSALEM (AP) — Christian faithful celebrate Christ's resurrection at the cave revered as his tomb Easter Sunday, capping a colorful Holy Week of devotions for the tens of thousands who made a pilgrimage to the Holy Land.

The Latin Patriarch of Jerusalem, Monsignor Giacomo Giuseppe Beltritti, celebrates a Pontifical High Mass at sunrise after a procession from the patriarchate to the centuries-old Church of the Holy Sepulchre in the heart of Jerusalem's Old City.

The Holy Week pilgrimage, beginning last week with a Palm Sunday procession from the Mount of Olives to the Old City gates, has been a rich religious awakening for some.

"I feel I can die now. I've seen everything. I'm satisfied," said Virginia Barger of New York City, one of an estimated 20,000 pilgrims who walked the Via Dolorosa, the Way of the Cross, on Good Friday.

"I did nothing but shed tears as long as I've been here — just picturing what our Lord went through, what he suffered and how they crucified him with all the blood running down his face from the thorns," Mrs. Barger said in a quavering voice.

Protestants, who cannot conduct their own services in the Church of the Holy Sepulchre because of a 100-year-old arrangement sharing the massive structure among the Latin and Eastern Orthodox churches, celebrate Easter Sunday outside the walls of the Old City at the Garden Tomb.

Some Protestants believe the skull-shaped hill under the Garden Tomb is the original Calvary where Christ was nailed to the cross. But most scholars accept as authentic the traditional site of Golgotha under the roof of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, identified in 325 A.D. by the Roman Emperor Helena.

Eastern churches celebrate Palm Sunday as the Catholic church concludes its Holy Week, and Jews mark the first day of the eight-day Passover holiday remembering the Exodus from Egypt by the ancient Israelites and symbolizing Jewish freedom.

In the Galilee city of Nazareth, where Jesus grew up, nearly 20,000 Christian Arabs say they are muting their festivities this year in solidarity with the mourning Arabs of a neighboring village, Kfar Yassif.

Two village Arabs were killed last week in a feud with another village resulting from a squabble at a soccer match. Nazareth Arabs said Israeli police could have prevented the violence.

A dawn candlelight mass, the Blessing of the Fire, at the marble mausoleum covering Christ's tomb, attracted about 500 pilgrims Saturday. The ceremony celebrates the light Jesus shed on the world.

In Jerusalem's main shopping mall, relatives and friends of jailed Soviet dissidents observed Passover with what they called a "freedom seder." Many of the dissidents are in Soviet labor camps after applying to emigrate to Israel.

The holiday in Israel began with the traditional seder meal and a reading of the Haggadah, the story of the ancient Israelites' exodus from Egypt and the start of their 40 years of wandering in the Sinai Desert.

In the Sinai, hundreds of Israeli Jewish families celebrated the seder for what might be the last time. Under the Israeli-Egyptian peace agreement reached two years ago, Israel must return the area to Egypt before April 1982.

This year Easter and the first day of Passover fall on the same date, an event occurring only once every 28 years. Many Christian scholars believe that Christ's Last Supper was a seder meal.

Unleavened bread called matzo plays an important part in the seder and is eaten throughout the week to recall the bread that did not have time to rise before the ancient Jews fled into the desert. Observant Jews remove all food containing yeast from their homes the day before Passover.

Many Israelis consider Passover more a spring festival during which matzo represents the first grain harvest.

Shlomo Goren, one of Israel's two chief rabbis, ceremonially "sold" all the leavened products in Israel to a Druse army officer before the holiday started. The Druse's religion is an offshoot of Islam.

The other chief rabbi, Ovadiah Yosef, called on all Jews to come and live in Israel to fulfill the final declaration made at the seder — "next year in Jerusalem."

In a reversal of the exodus from Egypt, Jewish ritual slaughters this year went from Jerusalem to Cairo and Alexandria to prepare meat for consumption by the small Egyptian Jewish community.

All citizens being asked to help in clean-up drive

Saturday, April 25, has been set aside as the start of Keep Big Spring Beautiful Week.

The cooperation of the citizenry is being sought to make Big Spring a neater, more attractive town in which to live.

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce is seeking volunteers to help pick up litter and debris around town on the appointed day.

Those willing to help should contact the chamber at 263-7641. Pickups and drivers are also needed to assist in hauling away the trash that has been collected.

Keep Big Spring Beautiful Day is a part of the preparation going into the planning for the Big Spring Railroad Centennial Celebration, which will be held the latter part of May.

Civic leaders, some of whom have tried to set the example by cleaning up and painting their business buildings, say all Big Springers should have a sense of pride in the community and are recommending that the slogan "Stash Your Trash" be remembered.

Allays should not be neglected in the clean-up campaign. Those who clean up their alleys can have the trash hauled away without charge by calling the aforementioned number.

Stenholm among senators attending

Agriculture hearings in West Texas to allow farmers' input

WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture hearings are being held in three West Texas cities this week so farmers will have an input denied them in past farm bills, Rep. Kika de la Garza, the House Agriculture Committee chairman, says.

"The Farm Bill has not been finalized yet, but we wanted to arrange something to let the people come in and voice their opinions, on their own home grounds," said de la Garza, who has represented the Rio Grande Valley in Congress since 1968.

De la Garza, chairman of the committee only since January, won't be able to attend the hearings at Abilene Monday, at Lubbock Tuesday and at Amarillo Wednesday because he and other congressmen are joining House Speaker Tip O'Neill on a trip to Manila.

However, Texas congressmen Charles Stenholm of Stamford, Kent Hance of Lubbock and Jack Hightower of Vernon will be at the hearings, de la Garza said, along with Rep. Arlan Stangeland, R-Minn.

"Stenholm and Stangeland are on the Agriculture Committee. Hance was on it last year and now is on the Ways and Means Committee, which is a great place to have him, and Hightower is on the Appropriations Committee and looks after our interests there," de la Garza said.

"They were willing to hold the hearings, and I told them to go ahead and bring back the input from the people."

The Democrat from Mission said the farm bill is "going very well, I think, as far as the subcommittees are concerned. But it looks more and more like it will be much the same as the present law is, with some slight modifications."

He said the Agriculture Committee doesn't have the full picture yet from the Reagan Administration on items he wants included in the farm bill. De la Garza was elected vice chairman of the Agriculture Committee in 1979 after Rep. Ray Roberts of McKinney decided against seeking reelection.

The No. 2-ranking Democrat, he moved up to the chair last December when Rep. Thomas Foley of Washington was appointed Democratic Whip, which precludes holding a chairmanship.

"It's going good, I assume, but it's awfully time consuming. The administrative part of it is very, very demanding," de la Garza said of his new responsibility.

"And something I hadn't visualized was that all of a sudden I would become a national figure. They want to visit you from all over — Idaho, Wyoming, California, Vermont. I try to see them all, but..."

He called it "a tremendous challenge, but we're keeping our head above water."

Subcommittees have been meeting on different parts of the farm program. On April 29, the third day Congress reconvenes after its 2-week Easter break, the full Agriculture Committee will start working toward the markup of a Farm Bill, de la Garza said.

Proposed bill would offer convicts fee dental care

Harro-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Rep. Doyle Willis of Fort Worth wants House budget-writers to provide better dental care for state prisoners. His idea is to let the inmates be human guinea pigs for dental students from the University of Texas Health Science Center at Houston.

As it is, Willis said, prison dental practice lacks sophistication. "Now," he said, "if there's something wrong with a tooth, they just pull it."

Prison officials say pay phones could be used for illegal deals

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — An official at the medium-security federal prison here says it would be possible for an inmate to use the prison's pay telephones to transact illegal drug deals or any other business.

Former Dallas car dealer Joe Dee Hicks, serving a life sentence at Texarkana, was accused in an indictment Wednesday of organizing a cocaine connection between Dallas, California and Bogota, Colombia — using prison telephones.

"The way our phone system works is that, normally during a 12-hour period of any day, an inmate can pick up a telephone and call anyone in the country who will accept a collect call," said John Brooks, unit manager of the prison section where Hicks is assigned. "So it's possible."

A federal grand jury indicted Hicks, serving a life sentence for drug smuggling, along with Carmel Cosmo Bowers of Dallas and Ronald David Leon of Santa Rosa, Calif., on charges of conspiring to smuggle cocaine into the country between Feb. 29 and April 1.

Hicks was convicted in 1976 of operating a multimillion-dollar drug smuggling ring in the Dallas area. At his trial, about $3 million in drugs were introduced as evidence, including heroin from Thailand and cocaine from Colombia. Bowers is on parole after serving part of a five-year sentence imposed in 1977 following a federal gambling conviction.

Runoff election slated Tuesday

The runoff election for two seats on the Big Spring city council will take place from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday.

Voters may cast ballots at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum and the Northside Fire Station.

In the race, incumbent Jack Y. Smith faces Michael W. Randle for the Place 3 seat, Robert "Russ" McEwen and Donna Fish will vie for the Place 4 seat.

WATERY RESCUE — Fort Worth firefighters wrestle with rising water as they rescue an elderly woman from a stranded vehicle in which she was a passenger. The auto stalled at the water crossing during a heavy thunderstorm as rains dampened much of Texas Saturday afternoon.

Order extending bilingual education to be appealed

Asefetida bags become popular with citizenry

The Asafetida Belles chapter of the Malone Hogan Hospital recently presented members of the Big Spring Centennial Committee with asafetida bags. The bags, which are believed to cure many age-old problems, are being provided to the Centennial Store-Headquarters by the local belles chapter and are being sold to interested persons for a quarter.
Darlene Brooks, spokesperson for the belle chapter, shared the history of the asafetida bags by saying that wives and mothers did most of the doctoring when the railroad came to the area in 1881.

"They grew herbs in their gardens to make poultices in winter, and searched the woods for roots for medicinal teas," she said.
Brooks said the asafetida bags were usually made from an old skirt or dress, and were filled with a gum resin that smelled like garlic, which was called "assaftidit" by local residents. "The resin did have some healing powers that were recognized by doctors in the treatment of spasm," Brooks continued.
She explained that the ones being sold through the Centennial Store-Headquarters were not as big as the ones that were used in Howard County in 1881. Brooks also added that they were prettier and didn't smell as bad as the ones used by our forefathers.

Brooks went on to say that she hoped the community would wear the asafetida bags "on the days you 'dress Centennial', as a token and reminder that Big Spring is fortunate to have one of the most respected and ethical medical committees in the state of Texas."

She concluded her presentation by saying that the asafetida bags would also be available in the Volunteer Gift Shop at the Malone Hogan Hospital.
The board of directors of the Big Spring Savings Association has named Jerry Foresyth acting president of the association.
Foresyth, a lifelong resident of Big Spring, replaces Ray Don Williams, who died recently.
E.P. Driver, secretary-treasurer of the board, said the board, as was the entire community, shocked by the sudden death of Williams, victim of a heart attack. Joe Pond, who is the association's chairman of the board, is ill. Driver was speaking on behalf of Pond and other directors.
Foresyth, former Assistant City Manager for the City of Big Spring, is a member of the Big Spring board of school trustees and is an active civic worker. He has been an assistant vice president at Big Spring Savings, a company with which he has been associated for the past three years.
Foresyth graduated from the local high school in 1956. He attended Howard College for two years and graduated from Texas A&M University in 1972 with a Bachelor of Science degree. He received his masters degree in Engineering in 1974. He was associated with the City of Big Spring for five years, having served as Director of Parks and Recreation before he was named Assistant City Manager.
He is married to the former Jan Webb, daughter of Mrs. Hollis Webb and the Education Fund, praised the judge's Friday ruling. MALDEF, also representing the American GI Forum and the League of United Latin American Citizens, intervened in the case in 1975 and with the Justice Department submitted the basic program model adopted by the court.

"His opinion sets forth a sound plan for educating the limited English-speaking children. He issued extensive guidelines for developing bilingual programs, recruiting bilingual teachers and monitoring programs without unduly burdening the schools," she said.
School officials had misgivings about the burden, however. State Education

Commissioner Alton Bowen said there was no cost estimate for the court order, but he said, "I'm sure it's going to cost a great deal more than people have been talking about."
White said the Texas Education Agency was preparing a report for release Monday on cost estimates and other factors involved in the ruling.

Justice rejected the plan announced Thursday by Gov. Bill Clements' Bilingual Education Task Force, which called for bilingual education through the sixth grade and special language services through high school for students with limited English proficiency.

Foresyth named acting head of savings assn.

JERRY FORESYTH

late Mr. Webb. The Foresyths have two daughters, Jacklyn and Jana. The family makes its home at 801 Marcy Drive. Jerry is a member of the First United Methodist Church.
A past co-captain of the Big Spring Quarterback Club, he has worked on behalf of the Heritage Museum, YMCA and Howard County Fair Association boards, is a member and a past president of the Chamber of Commerce Ambassadors Club, has served as president of the Texas A&M Club and has been the crusade chairman for the American Cancer Society for Howard and Glasscock counties. He is a Rotarian and served a year on the Parks and Recreation Board.

No coal settlement in sight

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly three months after the United Mine Workers and the soft coal industry opened contract negotiations, both vowing there would be no repetition of past labor-management strife, no settlement is in sight.
As the strike by about 160,000 miners entered its 24th day, no bargaining sessions were scheduled. The two sides are poles apart.
When talks broke off Friday at a Washington hotel, the three-member coal industry bargaining team, led by B.R. Brown of Consolidation Coal Co., rejected the UMW's latest contract proposals.

Union President Sam Church suggested the issue is now in the hands of the coal operators, saying he hoped the BCOA committee would reconsider the decision of its three bargainers to turn down the union's proposals.
The 11-member executive officers committee of the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, the chief industry negotiating strategy committee, will meet soon, possibly this week.
"They took our counterproposal and said to give them a call when we wanted to be realistic," Church said. "I think they should take our proposal and look at it rather than just (giving it) a flat rejection at first sight."
Church and his fellow negotiators are seeking a revised three-year contract that will win acceptance by the rank and file in Appalachian and Midwest coalfields. The UMW members voted down by an overwhelming margin an earlier tentative settlement.
Church is steadfastly refusing suggestions by industry representatives that the spurned contract be taken back to the coalfields for another vote.
But the industry is equally adamant, claiming the earlier contract settlement gave miners a host of improvements in wages and other working conditions and that it will not sanction new concessions.

Former resident leads revival at church here

The Rev. H.W. Bartlett, Artesia, N.M., former pastor of College Baptist Church, will lead a revival at the church at 11th and Birdwell beginning tonight at 7:30. The Rev. Bartlett was converted in the First Baptist Church at 9, began to preach at 13 and was licensed to preach by the First Baptist Church of Forsan.
Ordained to the ministry by the East Fourth Baptist Church in Big Spring at 18,

Thanks and Please

I must express my thanks to those who voted in the April 4 city council election. Please vote Tuesday in the run-off election and encourage your friends to vote also. This is the only way we can have a real partnership between the people and their officials.
I thank you for your support in the first election. I fell one vote short of a majority, and now I appeal for your continued support on Tuesday. The election process is not over until the votes in that election are counted.
For more than two score years I have done my best to serve in various causes. This includes being on the City Council at two different intervals — the last to fill an unexpired term. Now I earnestly ask that you encourage others to give me a full term if you believe — as I do — that my past two years have been marked by teamwork, openness, financial stability and city leadership in industrial growth.
I pledge to continue to listen to all views and then reach a decision on the basis of what is best for the most, what is within our ability, and what can be done efficiently and economically. I will take seriously that I will be representing our city — every segment and every citizen.

AP-NBC poll Gun control favored, effects questioned

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans continue to favor licensing owners of handguns, but they don't think stricter gun control laws would have prevented the recent assassination attempt aimed at President Reagan, an Associated Press-NBC News poll says.
The public splits almost evenly on whether stricter gun control laws would reduce the number of murders in this country.
But by a wide margin, they say such laws would not keep guns out of the hands of criminals.
Even gun owners favor tougher licensing laws. But gun owners don't think stricter laws would reduce the number of murders, while non-owners do believe that would be the effect.
The latest AP-NBC News poll was conducted Monday and Tuesday and is based on telephone interviews with 1,604 adults across the country.
Seventy-one percent said they favor a law that would require a person to obtain a police permit before buying a handgun. Twenty-five percent oppose such a law and 4 percent were not sure.
Support for such a law — similar to those in effect in some areas — has been substantial in AP-NBC News polls since 1978, usually standing close to 70 percent.
Despite such support, Americans are divided on the impact of stricter gun control.
They do not believe that such laws would have prevented the March 30 assassination attempt in which President Reagan and three others were wounded. The weapon used in the attempt was a cheap handgun.
Seventy-two percent of those questioned said stricter laws would not have stopped the assassination attempt, while just 21 percent said such laws would have prevented it. Seven percent were not sure.
Likewise, most people do not believe gun control laws would keep weapons out of the hands of criminals. Three-quarters — 76 percent — said criminals would still be able to get guns. Twenty-one percent again said the laws would keep guns away from criminals. The remainder were not sure.
The public is divided on whether stricter laws would reduce the number of murders, with half agreeing that such would be the effect. But 47 percent disagreed that the number of murders would be reduced. Three percent were not sure.
Here are some of the questions and the results from the AP-NBC News poll:
1. Do you favor or oppose a law that would require a person to obtain a police permit before he or she could buy a handgun?
Favor — 71 percent.
Oppose — 25 percent.
Not sure — 4 percent.
2. Do you agree or disagree with the following statement: "Stricter gun control laws would help reduce the number of murders in this country."
Agree — 50 percent.
Disagree — 47 percent.
Not sure — 3 percent.
3. Do you agree or disagree with the following statement: "Stricter gun control laws would not keep criminals from obtaining guns."
Agree — 76 percent.
Disagree — 21 percent.
Not sure — 3 percent.
4. Do you think that stricter gun control laws would or would not have prevented the recent assassination attempt on President Reagan?
Would have prevented — 21 percent.
Would NOT have prevented — 72 percent.
Not sure — 7 percent.

Q. How can I tell if my broker is doing all he can to sell my property?

A. When you list your property with a real estate broker, you establish an agency relationship... you are the principal and the broker is your agent. The broker agrees to work in your behalf, according to your direction, for an agreed commission... provided he performs certain functions for you. You employ the broker to find a purchaser for you, not merely to sell your property. During the life of your listing, you may expect your broker to make a continuous, bonafide effort to find a buyer for your property... of the price indicated on your listing. Besides simply putting up a "for sale" sign, your broker should advertise your property, talk about it and show it. Never, however, expect your broker to misrepresent your property to a prospective buyer.

Holifield proclaimed genius behind Austin chalk oil boom

DALLAS (AP) — Just as magically as Ray Holifield first drew oil from the enigmatic Austin chalk, the sleepy communities above the fractured limestone have been transformed into a bustling metropolis.

Another Texas oil boom was underway, and Holifield, son of a Missouri sharecropper, was widely acclaimed as the genius behind the prosperity that lessened U.S. dependence on foreign oil.

The Austin chalk, so named because it outcrops near Texas' capital city, had been largely ignored by oilmen because it is somewhat akin to a plastic table top in porosity and permeability. Wells drilled into it came in strong, but the slightest adjustment in equipment or even a shifting wind could cause the wells to stop.

Disgusted wildcaters and major oil companies gave up on the Austin chalk, believing the chalk too unpredictable to invest time and money.

But when Middle East oil first was cut off and demand for domestic oil increased, a few hardy drillers returned to the trend, which runs from Mexico to Florida, to try once again to retrieve its valuable, honey-colored oil.

"Back in the old days, everything was low-priced, so you only went for high volume and high deliverability," said Holifield. "Most of those easy fields have been discovered. So if you want to find much oil and gas today, you've got to go to something that was passed by many, many times before."

In 1975, two oilmen persuaded Holifield, a geologist, to look at a well near Giddings in central Texas that still was spewing after two years — even though it stood smack in the middle of the chalk.

Holifield, who had spent most of the early 1970s searching for oil in fractured reservoirs for various Middle Eastern countries, became convinced similar fracture systems trapped oil near faults in the chalk.

He devised a secret method of interpreting seismic data — sound waves that bounced off various layers of rock when dynamite was set off underground — to pinpoint spots where oil was likely hiding.

Holifield convinced his three major clients to combine his seismic findings with fracturing — a process in which large amounts of water and sand are pumped into a well hole to force oil out of fracture systems clogged with drilling mud and natural debris.

The treasure of the chalk was found. Using Holifield's secret method, the three companies hit oil with nine of 10 wells they drilled. Seven of every 10 became commercial producers. And by the end of 1978, the three owned half of the 150 producing wells in the field.

Although Holifield had kept his findings quiet for fear large companies would gobble up all the oil leases in the seven-county field, the word soon got out and Giddings was transformed into an old-fashioned oil boom town.

By early 1979, the number of operators in the Giddings area had risen from fewer than 30 to more than 100, with oilmen coming from hundreds of miles away to cash in on the boom.

An estimated 7,500 newcomers quadrupled the local population, and lodging became so scarce that people were sleeping in their cars and in tents in the oil fields. One enterprising businessman began converting turned-over oil storage tanks into $24-a-night motel rooms and another built his own trailer park.

Field laborers who showed up for early breakfast at local grills found employers would compete for their services.

Giddings bank deposits grew by $1 million a month, but oilmen were not the only ones getting rich. Some property owners became overnight millionaires.

The boom created a new set of problems for the area, however, as crime kept pace with the rising cost of living.

Johnnie Lou Avery, president of Avery and Associates, was the guest speaker. Mrs. Avery briefed the audience on upcoming Centennial activities. She encouraged members to participate in the fun-filled activities which will take place in May.

Accompanying Mrs. Avery was Mrs. Dene Sheppard, who presented paraphernalia available for purchase at the Centennial Headquarters.

Elma Martinez, Coordinator of Volunteer Services, presented Mrs. Doris Day with a Centennial prize for submitting the winning title, Volunteer Bells, for the Chapter Belle at the Hospital.

Rounding off the luncheon was a barbershop quartet, who provided entertainment for the more than 100 in attendance.

Stout wins $200 and New York art display

LUBBOCK - A Texas Tech University senior design communications student is a prize winner in a national student illustration competition.

Doyle Stout, son of Elizabeth A. Stout of 600 George, Big Spring, will receive a $200 cash award and have his work displayed in a New York gallery April 14-May 1.

Awards will be given during an award ceremony April 24 (Friday) in New York City.

The annual competition which began in 1962 is sponsored by the Society of Illustrators.

Stout's illustration, depicting three men in an old-model car, was designed as an album cover for a bluesgrass band. His work is one of approximately 100 pieces selected for exhibition in the Society's gallery where it will be available for viewing by art directors, buyers, editors, talent representatives and the general public.

The Society will present $8,000 in cash prizes to this year's award winners. Each winning student will receive a Certificate of Merit in addition to the cash award. Other prizes will be announced April 24.

Illustrations were entered in the contest in group form by school, not by individuals. Entries could be on any subject and done within the school year prior to the contest.

Stout has had other art work recently accepted for a visual communications show in Dallas.

He plans to work for an advertising agency or art studio after graduation this spring.

Halloween comes early at Midland College

"Trick-Or-Treat" is coming to Midland College early this year due to an unusual short course dealing with the performance of magic.

Introduction to the Art of Magic starts June 9 and offers a comprehensive study of conjuring and prestidigitation.

James Bramlett, director of the MC Department of Community Services which sponsors MC short courses, pointed out the uniqueness of the study. "We've been able to include more than generally available to the novice," he noted. "Our instructor, Scott Wells, leads students through many avenues of magic, treating them first to a demonstration of a trick and then allowing students to perform the feat themselves."

Classes are scheduled 7-9 p.m. Tuesdays and Thursdays over a period of six weeks. Course fee is $15. Students will be given course book titles and ordering instructions as they pre-register. Book costs will be about $15 total.

Registration is in progress now in room 156 of the Midland College Administration Building between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. weekdays, including the noon hour. Beginning May 18, pre-registration hours will be 7 a.m.-noon and 12:30-5:30 p.m. Monday through Thursday.

More information may be obtained by calling 684-7851, extension 147 or 216.

NOT ENOUGH WIND? - Students in Miss Vicki Newman's class at Goliad Middle School built kites from scratch for a project, then took them outside for test runs recently. But most of the students found that there wasn't enough wind for them to fly, a rare circumstance for springtime in West Texas. Denise Vigus was one student who managed to get her kite in the air and was judged the winner in the kite-building contest.

Runnels Yearbooks arrive, feature string art

By KRISTIE GRIMES

Runnels students were surprised and delighted when the school annual was distributed last Thursday preceding the holidays. All agreed that Runnels truly leads the way with the red and white yearbooks featuring string art. There will be an annual signing party in the gym Tuesday afternoon.

Members of the annual staff who were responsible for the yearbook are Adrienne Allen, Becky Griffith, Kristie Grimes, Paul Kennemur, Mike Leuschner and Theresa Martinez, and the advisor, Mrs. Cornelia Gary. Students who enrolled in Runnels after Sept. 26 and who would like to buy an annual may see Mrs. Gary during the first advisory Tuesday. The price is $7.

Thursday, elections for Student Council Representatives were held. After tallying the votes, the six top winners were Julie Miller, Delia Correa, Melissa Fuller, Willie Wrightstil, Dawn Underwood and Neasa Rhodes. These six students will represent the freshman class next year.

Wednesday in the library students were served cookies and given a free book of their choice. The party was sponsored by a federally funded program known as RIF, or Reading is Fundamental. Hostesses for the party in addition to the librarian, Mrs. Mabel Beene, and her aides were Mrs. James Cowan, Mrs. Loyd Underwood, Mrs. Charles Dunnam and Mr. Robert Fuller.

In the Calendar Clue Game last week, the answer was a playpus. Winners were Mark Moore, first; Scott Pitts, second; and Neasa Rhodes, third.

Concert series here cancelled

The board of directors of the Big Spring Concert Association decided, during their annual open meeting held last Tuesday, to disband the organization and cancel the 1981-82 concert series. Members of the committee said they reached such a decision with great reluctance.

The decision could cause some shock to the community, because the association has been a major force in the promotion of cultural arts of Big Spring for many years. It has brought such programs as Fred Waring, Robert Merrill, Broadway-type plays and musicals, symphonic orchestras; and outstanding choral groups here.

Among reasons for disbanding the association were:

—Although all campaigns were successful in terms of funding the programs — selling 700-1000 memberships yearly — even highly attractive programs would attract no more than 200-300 members and often less than that.

—The municipal auditorium, home of the programs, is an antiquated building; poorly ventilated,

Acquisition is completed

Harte-Hanks Communications, Inc. has completed the previously announced acquisition of Del Rio Publishing Company, Inc., publisher of the Del Rio, Tex. News-Herald.

The News-Herald is published five afternoons a week Sunday and has a paid circulation of 6,700. It becomes Harte-Hanks' 30th daily newspaper and a member of the company's Metro Group. Harte-Hanks recently named Fritz W. Wirt, formerly executive editor of the San Antonio (Texas) Standard-Times, as publisher of the News-Herald.

Harte-Hanks Communications, Inc. operates in 87 markets in 27 states. The company owns and operates 30 daily newspapers, including the Big Spring Herald, and 75 non-daily publications, including weekly newspapers, advertising publications and trade publications. Also owned and operated by the New York Stock Exchange company (symbol: HHN) are seven direct mail or alternate delivery systems, four marketing services companies, four VHF network affiliated television stations, five AM and six FM radio stations, and a division which develops entertainment programs and products. Harte-Hanks also owns and manages cable television systems.

Award presented to office here

The Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission received a Distinguished Service Award April 10 from the American Legion Department of Texas at the International Association of Personnel in Employment Security Institute in San Antonio. The award was presented by Harry Riggs, Department Commander, and was accepted by Jerry Damm, manager of the local TEC office. The American Legion made the award in recognition of outstanding service to veterans during the past year.

This is the second award of this type to be given to the Big Spring office of the Texas Employment Commission. Last year the Disabled American Veterans Department of Texas recognized the Big Spring TEC office for Outstanding Service to Veterans.

in need of many repairs, a most unattractive locale for artists to perform in. Association members say it is apparently also unattractive to the Big Spring public.

In the last few years it had become almost impossible to recruit new workers to help in the fall membership campaign. The task remained in the hands of a dedicated few and has proven to be too large a burden to continue to handle properly. There seemed to be little interest and therefore little need for community concerts in Big Spring.

Thus dies an institution, that has brought a succession of high quality events to the city.

Jean Kuykendall, president for the last several years, made this statement for herself and the Board of Directors:

"If it were only a matter of money, we would not have made the decision to disband. However, with such sparse attendance we do not feel justified in continuing. It is such a shame for memberships to be purchased and not used.

"We wish to express our deep appreciation and heartfelt thanks to all membership workers who have so unselfishly given of their time; and to the loyal and faithful members who, year after year, supported our efforts. Special thanks go to the patrons and donors of the last several years.

"I am sure that some people will be very disappointed by our decision. The death of community concerts is perhaps a sign of the times and the change in people's desires and interests. Perhaps a day will come when demand and support for concerts will revive. We certainly hope so."

Texas officials say compromise is possible in prison rulings

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas' top officials say they are assured by the U.S. Attorney General's office there can be a compromise in the civil rights suit that seeks widespread changes to the state's prison system.

"We have concluded that there is much room for compromise, allowing Texas great flexibility to adopt practices and implement structural changes in the way Texas thinks best," said a letter received Friday by Gov. Bill Clements from U.S. Deputy Attorney General Edward C. Schmults.

On Friday, Attorney General Mark White hand delivered a letter to Federal District Judge William Wayne Justice in Tyler saying he had been authorized by Schmults to ask for a 30-day delay before Justice enters a final judgment.

"Both the state and the United States have agreed to approach such negotiations with a sense of compromise and flexibility," White said.

Clements said he and David Dean, the governor's general counsel, would meet with U.S. Attorney General William French Smith in Washington on Tuesday afternoon to discuss negotiations in the case.

There has been no reply from Justice to the 30-day delay request. Texas Department of Corrections inmates filed the civil rights suit in 1972.

COMMEMORATIVE PLATES ARRIVE — A shipment of centennial commemorative plates was received at the local Centennial Store-Headquarters, 900 Main, last week. The plates, which sell for $6 each, in brown (l) and green (r), depict a Big Spring and Howard County theme. Due to the excellent response to these new items, a new shipment has already been requested and an additional 20 dozen of each should be arriving before the present stock is depleted.

Even judge wondering about Williams' Abscam defenses

NEW YORK (AP) — Lawyers for Sen. Harrison A. Williams are taking a "multiple choice, take your pick" response to bribery-conspiracy charges, leaving even the judge wondering where the case is going.

"I'll connect it up, your honor," defense attorney George Koelzer has assured U.S. District Judge George

C. Pratt countless times during the trial's first three weeks.

But after calling 41 witnesses for the New Jersey Democrat and co-defendant Alexander Feinberg — a Cherry Hill, N.J., lawyer — the "connecting up" has started to irritate Pratt, who is sitting in his fourth trial stemming from the FBI's Abscam investigation. However, the defense theory continues, if the jury should determine that criminal acts were committed, then the defendants were the victims of entrapment.

Books, other equipment are good memorial gifts

By ROSE VON HASSEL
Cataloguer

There may be a time when you are out of town, and you hear of the death of someone you know. There is no time to order flowers, or for you to get back in time for the funeral, but you want to do something to express your sympathy.

Consider donating a book, piece of equipment or donation to the Howard County Library's Revocation Fund in the person's name. Such a gift would be greatly appreciated by the library. A book may be one purchased by you directly, or the library can do the ordering, and help you decide on the type of book you would like.

When the library receives the book, equipment or other donation a letter is sent to the person's family telling them of the gift. The donor is also sent a letter of acknowledgement, and a bookplate is put into the book, stating who gave the donation and for whom it was given in memory. A plaque is put on the equipment with the same information. We also keep a record on file in case someone wants to find out what book was given in memory of a particular person.

Some of the donations that were given this past year were: The estate of the late Ellen Ezzell donated $250.00 to the library because she was a very interested and active library patron. This gift will be used to buy a piece of equipment the library needs.

Two books were donated to the memory of Susan Kim Guthrie, "One Hundred and One Famous Poems" was given by Norma Porter and Hugh Porter, and "A Standard Guide to Horse and Pony Breeds" was donated by Ruth Dooley.

The Green Thumb Garden Club presented the library with a beautiful copy of "The Original Water-Color Paintings by John James Audubon". This was in memory of Mary Stipp, who had been one of their members.

The 1905 Hyperion Club ordered two books, "The Magnificent Builders" and "The Belles Heures of Jean, Duke of Berry". They were given in memory of Sam Anderson, J.D. Elliott, Mrs. Greene, and Dr. Preston Harrison.

Donald E. Smith, donated "The Book of Art in Three Volumes" in memory of Joe Crawford.

"The Scotch Irish of Colonial Pennsylvania" was donated by Doris Nesbitt in memory of Una Castle Dunagen.

Mrs. Lee Hansen was remembered by the 1905 Hyperion Club when they donated "James Herriot's Yorkshire."

Mrs. Jim Roberts and Mrs. L.F. Smith gave a donation in memory of Mrs. W.H. Smith, to be used in anyway the library felt it was needed.

Mrs. H.P. Gent donated "The Illustrated Children's Dictionary" in Mrs. W.H. Smith's Memory.

Mr. L.A. Griffith donated "The NSRVRE-Cavaliers and Pioneers, Volume II, 1666-1695" in memory of his wife Sarah.

Mr. W.H. Zarafonitis donated 82 books to the library in memory of his wife Pauline.

When a donation is given to the library it is not only a permanent memorial for the person, but is also a gift other people benefit from and will be used for many years.

Marker event to commemorate arrival of train 100 years ago

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Four generations of the family of W.A. Crowder, first Texas and Pacific ticket agent in Colorado City, were on hand Thursday for the unveiling of an historic marker dedicating the sites of the old Texas and Pacific Railway depots on Walnut Street.

Representing the Crowder family were Mrs. Mary Lee Moore, Colorado City, Crowder's granddaughter, Mrs. Charles Franklin of Robert Lee, a great-granddaughter of Crowder's; David Sanders of Georgetown; Crowder's great-great-grandson; and great-great-great-grandchildren David and Lori Sanders, also of Georgetown, who unveiled the marker.

Mayor Elmer Martin read the marker's inscription which says, in part, "railway service began in Colorado City in 1881 and initially brought materials with which to construct the first Texas and Pacific depot. The railroad helped establish Colorado City as a major shipping and supply center to serve the vast ranch lands in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. W.A. Crowder was the first T & P ticket agent and served for 35 years. The Texas and Pacific served this area until service was discontinued in 1967."

When asked to recall her grandfather, Mrs. Moore, now a Mitchell County justice of the peace, commented, "I remember him well, for he lived until 1943. I don't think he had an enemy in the world. Everyone loved him. He and my grandmother started the First Christian Church in a dugout and I remember visiting the depot as a child."

A reception in the City Center followed the ceremony which was presided over by the J. Lee Jones Jr., with County Judge Bill Carter giving the welcoming address, Virgil Fox, minister of the First Christian Church, the invocation and Mrs. Witt Hines, a vignette of the history of the old depots.

Also in attendance was Joe Pickle of Big Spring, former editor of the Big Spring Herald.

Spring is the time to consider delicate, haughty marigolds

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's spring. Time, perhaps, to consider the marigold. Time, perhaps, to recall the late Sen. Everett McKinley Dirksen of Illinois, whose thunderous prose immortalized what might otherwise have been an ordinary flower:

"It is as sprightly as the daffodil, as colorful as the rose, as resolute as the zinnia, as delicate as the carnation, as haughty as the chrysanthemum, as aggressive as the petunia, as ubiquitous as the violet, and as stately as the snap dragon."

And not only that. "Its robustness reflects the hardihood and character of the generations who pioneered and built this land into a great nation — not temperamental about fertility. It resists its natural enemies, the insects. It is self-reliant and requires little attention. Its spectacular colors — lemon and orange, rich brown and deep mahogany — befit the imaginative qualities of the nation."

Each year until his death in 1969, Dirksen introduced legislation to have Congress declare the marigold, sometimes known as the Friendship Flower, as the national flower of the United States.

But as politician, not poet, Dirksen was a realist.

"I am fully sensible of that fact that all persons, young and old, male and female, rich and poor, have their own preference when it comes to a flower," he said in sponsoring the legislation on Feb. 4, 1969. "But mine goes for the marigold for a variety of reasons."

"It beguiles the senses and enables the spirit of man. It is the delight of the amateur gardener and a constant challenge to the professional," he said. Since his death, Dirksen's son-in-law, Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn., has carried on the tradition of introducing the legislation in the Senate.

And this month, with the nation's capital once again ablaze with cherry blossoms, azaleas and tulips, Baker once again took up the cause.

Using language similar to that used by his late father-in-law, Baker, now the Senate Majority Leader, said the United States is one of the few nations of the world which has not adopted a national flower.

"While I am aware that many flowers have been nominated for this honor," he said in introducing the legislation, "I believe that the marigold, which was brought to our shores in the earliest days of our own history and which has flourished in every part of our great country."

Astros take risk, sign David Clyde

HOUSTON (AP) — It's almost as if the prodigal son has returned home. David Clyde, who set out from Houston Westchester High School with a solid-gold baseball in 1973 to seek fame and fortune with the Texas Rangers, has been signed by the Houston Astros and will report Tuesday to their Class AA affiliate at Columbus, Ga.

It means a full-circle route for Clyde's star-crossed baseball career that has spanned the heights and depths in eight years. Twenty days after his graduation from high school, Clyde dazzled a victory-hungry capacity crowd at Arlington Stadium with five innings of one hit baseball and a 4-3 victory over Minnesota.

They said it saved a franchise. It also tarnished a teenager's career. From that Merriwellian beginning, Clyde's career degenerated to a 4-8 finish and 5.03 earned run average that first year, to marriage and divorce from his high school sweetheart, to a 3-9 record in 1974; to the minor leagues; to shoulder surgery.

Back to the minor leagues; a trade to Cleveland in 1978; a trade back to the Rangers and his release in January 1980; and finally to a second shoulder surgery prior to the start of the 1980 season.

Now, at age 25, Clyde's getting possibly his final chance at stardom. "I'm really happy about being back in baseball," Clyde said Saturday shortly after the Astros announced his signing. "I am in mid-season shape but not mid-season form. I haven't pitched for more than a year and it's made me forget some things about pitching."

WINNING COMBINATION — Houston Rockets guard Calvin Murphy, right, gives Houston head coach Del Harris a hug on their way to the locker room in San Antonio after defeating the San Antonio Spurs, 105-100. Murphy scored 42 points in the last game of the best of seven Western Conference NBA semi-final series. Houston will face either Phoenix or Kansas City for the conference title.

In Bulldog Relays

Rotan boys, Coahoma girls triumph

COAHOMA — Rotan used a victory in the 1600-meter relay here Friday to edge past Denver City and take the title in the Bulldog Relays here Friday afternoon for boys. Denver City, which finished second in the 1600-meter relay and only one point behind Rotan's 85 points, led going into the final event. There was also plenty of girls action here Friday, as the area regional qualifiers in Class AAA, AA and A participated, with the Coahoma girls taking an easy win over the rest of the field. Coahoma's girls, behind a double win from Gayla Paige in the high jump and 100-meters and strong finishes in all three relay events, tallied 129 points. Slaton was a distant second at 73. Other winners in the girls division from the immediate area included Christi Adams of Forsan, who won the shot put and finished second in the discus, and Tollison and McCalister of Stanton.

Tollison won both the 1600-meter and 3200-meter runs, while McCalister triumphed in the 400-meter run. The Coahoma boys enter the District 6-AAA meet next week, as do most other area boys are also involved in district meets. Meanwhile, all of the regional qualifying girls head toward their respective classifications in the Region I Girls Meet. The Class AAAAA, AAAA and AAA girls regionals will be held at Lubbock, while the Class AA and A will be held at Odessa.

Steer girls prep for regionals with improved effort at Monahans

MONAHANS — The Big Spring girls track team finished fourth among 18 teams in the Monahans Regional Qualifiers Meet here Friday night, while the Steer boys finished in the fifth spot in their Class AAAAA division in preparation for their 5-AAAAA Meet next week. The Steer girls 66 points was accomplished despite the fact that the BSHS team could take only six girls into action. That was because those six were all the regional qualifiers the Big Springers had after finishing second in the 5-AAAAA Girls Meet last Friday. Those six competed in eight events, and Coach Micki Fitzhugh was most pleased with the results, especially the 800-meter relay quartet of Carla Jackson, Shell Rutledge, Linda Magers and Paula Spears. They breezed to a third place finish of 1:45.2 behind Monahans and Odessa Ector after setting a season best of 1:44.2 in the preliminaries. "That's about the second or third best in our region," said Fitzhugh. "so if we can do that next week there will be a good chance that we can advance."

As usual, Carla Jackson was the leading Steer girl in producing points and in the meet. Besides anchoring the 800-meter relay team, Jackson won both the triple jump and long jump, as well as finishing second in the 100. Elise Wheat copped a second place in the discus and a third in the shot put, while Rutledge finished second in the 200-meter dash. The other Steer girls points came in the mile relay quartet of Janet Fleckenstein, Magers, Wheat and Spears, who combined for a 4:18.4.

Fitzhugh also noted that both of Jackson and Wheat's lengths in their field events were less than their average, but that was due to the weather. "Considering the weather," she stated, "I thought Carla and Elise had very good days." Big Spring's Edwin Matthews looked to be recovering from a muscle pull in his thigh in the boys division, winning the long jump with a leap of 21-8, and finishing fourth in the high jump at 6-2, and fourth in the 110-hurdles with a time of 15.5.

Booster Club Tourney this week

The Big Spring Booster Club is sponsoring a Scotch-Twosome for any area student-parent team in high school or junior high on Saturday, April 25 at the Comanche Trail Golf Course.

The Booster Club is inviting not only students at BSHS, Runnels and Goliad, but also those from Coahoma, Forsan, Sands, Stanton, Grady, Colorado City and Lamesa.

The fee will be 12 dollars per team, with an assortment of trophies and prizes being awarded. The reason for the unique student-parent tourney is to raise money for the BSHS Spring Banquet, which is set for May 5.

Deadline for entering is Wednesday, April 22. Tee off time on the 25th will be at 8 a.m. Those interested in playing may call Sherry Bordsoske at the United Way (7-5201) or at home (3-3793).

Powers flexes muscle for Tallahassee lead

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — Greg Powers fired in six birdies and an eagle for an 8-under-par 64 Saturday to take a one-stroke lead after three rounds of the $100,000 PGA Tallahassee Open. Powers, who has never won a Professional Golfers' Association event, sank a 15-foot putt for an eagle-3 on the par-5, 506-yard 17th hole. He took a 16-under-par total of 200 into Sunday's final round.

"It was fun to watch that eagle putt go in," he said. "And the crowd let me know about it. It was the loudest roar I've ever heard." Second-round leader Dave Eichelberger had two bogies and five birdies for a 69, but it wasn't enough to catch Powers. He was at 201, while Bob Murphy's 68 put him at 202. Jerry Heard and Mark O'Meara were at 204, Heard with a third-round 67 and O'Meara with a 65.

Tied for fifth at 205 were Gary McCord, Jerry McGee and ChiChi Rodriguez. Mike Donald and Cesar Sanudo were at 206.

Fisk tough on ex-mates

CHICAGO (AP) — Carlton Fisk's two-run homer backed the combined five-hit pitching of Steve Trout and Lamarr Hoyt and led the Chicago White Sox to a 2-1 victory Saturday over the Boston Red Sox. Fisk's homer was his third of the season and his second game-winning shot against his former teammates. It came in the fifth of loser Frank Tanana, 0-1, after Bill Almon led off with a single and was sacrificed to second. Trout, 1-0, was making his season debut and was helped by three double plays. He had a three-hit shutout going into the eighth. But Gary Allenson led off with a single and Joe Rudi followed with a pinch double. Dwight Evans walked to fill the bases and Allenson scored on a sacrifice fly by Dave Stapleton. Trout got Carl Yastrzemski to hit into a forceout before yielding to Hoyt, who retired Jim Rice on a fly ball and struck out Tony Perez.

While Malone gets big attention, Calvin Murphy bullets kill Spurs

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — It has been no surprise that Houston's super center, Moses Malone, has been a dominant figure in the underdog Rockets' dispatching of highly touted Los Angeles and San Antonio in the National Basketball Association playoffs. After all, the muscular 6-10, 235-pound Malone led the league in rebounding and was its second highest scorer in the regular season. The durable Malone averaged playing 45 minutes per game through the long San Antonio series, averaging 22 points and 12 rebounds a game while wearing down three Spurs per contest.

But the shocker in the Rockets' deliberate march through the playoffs, despite giving up homecourt advantage at every juncture, has been gnat-sized Calvin Murphy who bombed in 58 percent of his shots in the seven-game series with San Antonio. The 32-year-old Murphy, oldest player on the court, poured in 42 points to pace the Rockets to a 105-100 win in the seventh and decisive game over San Antonio Friday night. Through the series, Murphy connected on 77 of 133 shots over the befuddled Spurs, most of them coming in rapid-fire fashion off the dribble as he darted to and fro like a frightened waterbug. He averaged 26 points a game and led his team with 10 steals in the series.

But the veteran out of Niagara, who wears seven pairs of socks to protect his flash-quick feet, likes to say he is "the only normal size player in the NBA." The Murphy-Malone "Mutt and Jeff" combination and supporting cast of forwards Billy Paultz and Robert Reid has helped Houston, which finished with a mediocre 40-42 regular season record, become the first team since the St. Louis Hawks in 1966-67 to make the Western Conference finals after posting a losing record. Murphy canned 23 of his free throws during the San Antonio series, which was no surprise since he sank an NBA record .958 percent of his foul shots in the regular season, including a record 78 in a row during one streak. Murphy credits the never die spirit of the Rockets, who beat the Lakers twice in Los Angeles and the Spurs three times in San Antonio, for their strong showing in the playoffs. "I think we just had that little something extra," Murphy said as the champagne flowed after the final San Antonio game. "That is, a lot of pride." "I'm happy for the players," Houston coach Del Harris added. "They showed they had the biggest heart."

HR, error costs Steers share of first half

score on a passed ball, but was thrown out easily to end the only Big Spring uprising of the day. It didn't seem to matter, however, as after Castro led off with a single in the Bobcat half of the sixth, Shipman got the next two hitters out. But Ross' big bat surfaced again, as he singled to keep things alive. David Ramirez followed with another single, plating Kel Crain and narrowing the Steers lead to 5-4. Scot Duda then hit a shot yards to the right of Steer second sacker Armendariz. Armendariz did a good job of getting to the ball, but it bounced off his glove after he arrived, with both Ross and Ramirez racing home to give San Angelo what would be the winning runs.

The Steers weren't through, however, although their attempts at a rally would be thwarted after a tease. With one out in the bottom of the sixth, Olague singled and Armendariz drove a walk from Barron. Rodriguez's grounder then forced Armendariz at second, but Armendariz then stole second to put two Big Springers in scoring position with two outs. Warren then hit a drive to left field just 10 feet in fair territory, and it appeared the Bovines would regain the lead. But San Angelo's left fielder, Ramirez, made the play of the day, diving and making a nifty catch of the ball for the third out. After Shipman retired the Bobcats in order in the seventh, Big Spring made one final attempt at taking a win and gaining a share of the first half district title. Wrightsil hit a hard shot in the same direction as Warren's had been, but Ramirez again came through, this time with a running catch for the first out. But Ontiveros singled up the middle and Rosson drew a walk and the Steers had hope. But Barron retired Hayworth and Shaver to end the game and the Steers first half title hopes.

SQUEEZING THE OUT... Big Spring catcher Lupe Ontiveros (left) squeezes an infield pop-up during third inning action Friday afternoon at Steer Park. Coming in for a possible tip catch is Tommy Olague (9). The Steers lost the game, 6-5, and thereby relinquished a share of the first half title in District 5-AAAAA.

TUNE-UP

Less time in the feedlot for leaner beef and lower costs is the outlook for the future according to a number of cattle experts. Many authorities now believe that because of two important developments: 1) the 30 percent increase in grain prices; and, 2) the American consumer's demand for leaner beef, feedlot operators are going to be changing their ways of finishing cattle. Research indicates cattle, after reaching certain weight levels, and depending on breed, tend to lay on only fat which must be trimmed and discarded. In order to provide cattle which will efficiently produce greater amounts of quality lean beef in a shorter feeding time, cattlemen believe an increase of larger-framed, higher cutting cattle is needed.

name to tell the truth. They want to create a city of Rio Grande City.

If they succeed, it will not be the first time this border community of 8,000 experienced as a municipality.

The last experiment failed dismally in 1933. After six years of incorporation, the town was broke and unable to pay its bank debts. Some say it fell victim to the Great Depression. Others blamed corruption.

Citizens voted the city to death in 1933 and looked to Starr County government for services.

"There's too many parasites as it is," attorney John Pope III said in dismissing the prospect of more government officials paid from taxes.

Pope worked three years ago against incorporation. Apathy reigned at the polls as the measure lost 632 to 143.

Incorporation supporters say they have learned their lesson and are giving it another try.

"We felt we didn't do our homework last time," said Ruben Saenz, high school principal.

Saenz is collecting 50 signatures needed to call for a June election on the issue.

A bit of history helps explain the controversy.

The area around this community and its sister city of Ciudad Camargo in Mexico first was settled in the 1750s as Spain parceled out land grants.

Henry Clay Davis moved here from Kentucky in the 1830s and founded a town named for the river that separates the United States and Mexico.

The town quickly became a strategic trading and military post at a time when steamboats plied the river and the U.S. Army established Fort Ringgold here.

Prominent families controlled the land and its people through the early 20th Century and vestiges of their influence remain.

Various political factions, split along family lines, have wrangled for power.

One of the few times the factions united was last year in a determined and successful fight against state plans to build a prison in Starr County.

In addition to legendary political battles, the county has been chronicled by numerous writers and law enforcement authorities as a hotbed of drug smuggling.

Sheriff Gene Falcon, a 27-year-old lawman elected last year, says incorporation and the resulting local police force would free his 11 deputies to cover the rugged, rolling landscape where drug smugglers operate.

"We're only able to cover Rio Grande City now," he said. The only other town of any size in the county is Roma, which is incorporated.

The major objections to a city government are taxes and politicians.

Some ask if the community has a large enough tax base to support city services. Recent figures show Starr County with a per capita income of $2,960, the lowest in the nation.

The county's history of rough-and-tumble politics leads others to fear emergence of a political machine at city hall.

"We don't want the old machine to move in," said one county official who asked not to be named.

Airman Jack E. Cornell, son of G. Geraldine Hoffman of Big Spring, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force operating room specialist course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex.

Graduates of the course studied theory and skills of operating room procedures and pre- and post-operative care of patients. They also earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Cornell will now serve at Hill Air Force Base, Utah.

Whisenhunt is promoted

Larry T. Whisenhunt, son of H.M. Stone of 106 Hillside Drive, Lamesa, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of technical sergeant.

Whisenhunt is security police supervisor at Andersen Air Force Base, Guam.

Easter symbolizes rebirth

Traditions are timeless

In almost every nation, Easter has long represented the rebirth of life and the renewal of the human spirit.

Symbols of Easter and spring are important parts of both religious and secular celebrations. The egg, in ancient times, was chosen by pagans as the symbol of new life. Later, Christians adopted the egg as the symbol of the Resurrection and dyed it red to represent the blood of Christ that was shed on the cross. Today, the egg remains an important part of the Easter tradition, but is joined by the rabbits, birds and butterflies.

The cross is the most important religious symbol, representing Christ's victory over death. The lamb, representing Christ, has been the symbol of sacrifice since the first Jewish Passover.

The traditional colors of Easter and spring are also symbolic. White, the color of the Easter Lily, represents light, purity and joy. Yellow and gold denote sunlight and radiance, while purple, the color of royalty, symbolizes the mourning and sorrow of death. Green, nature's most prevalent color, is symbolic of man's hope for eternal life.

Easter is celebrated the first Sunday after the full moon that occurs on or after March 21. This was decided in 325 A.D. by the Nicene Council. This Council of the Christian Church was called by the Emperor Constantine in Nicaea (or Nice), which is now the northwestern portion of Turkey.

Today, one of the most popular Easter traditions in the United States is the Easter egg hunt. Encyclopedias state that Germany is the probable origin of this custom. According to one legend, a poor woman dyed eggs and hid them in a nest for her children. When the children discovered the eggs, says the legend, a rabbit hopped away at the same time, thus causing the children to believe that the rabbit had brought the eggs.

For more than 20 years, the Ladies' Country Club Association has sponsored the annual Easter buffet for Big Spring Country Club members and their guests. The event will take place today from 12-2 p.m. The buffet will be followed by a children's fashion show, and conclude with an Easter egg hunt. Reliable sources say that the Easter Bunny will be present for the festivities.

President of this year's Ladies' Country Club Association is Jane Mahoney. Other officers are: Leslie Johnson, vice president; Cinda Stanley, secretary; and Marilene Kasch, treasurer.

READY FOR THE HUNT — Andrew Fraser, 1, (left), seems to believe that one bunny by the ear beats two in the bush. Andrew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Fraser, 606 Matthew. The eager faces of Jamie Arrick, 4 (center) and Aubrea Newton, 4, reflect the anticipation of the day. Jamie is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Sidney Arrick, 509 Westover, and Aubrea is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harrell Newton, 706 Tulane.

PRETTY AS A PICTURE — are Pagie Duncan, 3 (left), and her sister Alyson, 2, (right) daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Duncan II, 811 Highland. Not objecting to being surrounded by the blond beauties is handsome Spencer Mahoney, 4, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mahoney, 2904 Melrose.

ANTICIPATION — With high expectations, Meagan Stanley, 1, and Brandon Johnson, 3, reflect all the joys of Easter. Meagan is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Dickey Stanley, Sterling City Route, and Brandon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Johnson, 2918 Melrose.

CYNTHIA WASHINGTON
Local club sponsors debutante

The Ever Ready Civic & Art Club will sponsor Miss Cynthia Washington as talent queen at the Stokes-Parker District Association of Women's Clubs' 31st Annual Convention. The event will take place April 24, 25, 26, in Odessa's Holiday Inn.

She is a member of the Centennial Belles, High Interest Chapter with the State National Bank. Her hobbies are softball, volleyball, basketball, bowling and watching T.V. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Connor, 4006 Dixon.

The District Talent Performances will be featured at noon that Saturday during the luncheon at the Holiday Inn Ballroom. At 8 p.m. that evening, the debts will be presented at the annual banquet. Miss Washington will be presented by her father, and will be escorted by Michael Earl Domino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Domino.

Cynthia plans to attend Tyler Junior College. She is presently the vice president of the F.H.A. HERO Chapter. She was a nominee for Big Spring High School Homecoming Queen, and is a member of Mt. Bethel Baptist Church.

Many members of both local clubs, Ada Belle Dement Club and Ever Ready Civic & Art Club, will attend the convention. Mrs. Shirley Tate, president of Ever Ready Civic Art, will be the club's delegate. Mrs. Eloise Jackson, president of Ada Belle Dement will also be a delegate.

Bride-elect is honored with shower

The Berea Baptist Church fellowship hall was the setting for the April 2 bridal shower honoring Jennifer Byrd, bride-elect of Donnie Andrews.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Alva Thomas, Mrs. Dearly Pittman, Mrs. Vaughn Martin, Mrs. Marvin Callahan, Mrs. Doc Tindol and Mrs. Bill Banks. Others included Mrs. Jerald Burgess, Mrs. Hugh Rhyne, Mrs. Chester Faught and Mrs. Jimmy Kelly.

The future bride's chosen colors of pastel yellow, blue, pink and green were used throughout the motif. Cor-sages were presented to the honoree, Mrs. Buddy Andrews, mother of the prospective groom; and special guest Mrs. Terry Vigus.

The refreshment table was decorated with blue cloth featuring an overlay of lace and hand-embroidered cloth from Hong Kong. An arrangement of pastel silk flowers laced around blue crystal candle holders complimented the table. A two-tiered cake in the bride's chosen colors was served to guests. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Mrs. Byrd and Andrews will marry April 25 at Berea Baptist Church.

Feather Fanciers have show at HC Fair Barn

The Feather Fanciers of Big Spring held their spring show last Sunday at Howard County Fair Barn. "It was quite a success, to be only our second show," said Eddie Simer, president.

"Our first show last fall at the fair, had 62 birds, all local. This show, we had 138 birds, some from Odessa, Lubbock, Slaton, Lamesa, Hermleigh, and Kauffman." A crowning contest was held first. Trophies were awarded to Scott Kincaid for his silver spangled Hamburg cock for the loudest crow, and to Judge Fauver for a white Chocin cock named Popcorn who crowed the most during the two minute limit.

"This was fun for the whole crowd, whether or not you knew anything about poultry, and something we hope to have each year," stated Trace Roberts who was in charge of this event.

Drifters report two campouts

The Western Drifters' March campout at Andrews State Park was hosted by the Marvin Callahans and the Lee Wrights. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Self, Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. Randy Marshall, Big Spring; and Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Lockley, Abilene. Eleven rigs were represented, even though a large number of members have been ill.

The March pot luck supper was held in the Flame Room, with 14 rigs being counted.

Because people are wanting to join the club, it was necessary to vote that each rig be present at least four times yearly to maintain active local membership. These four events can be campouts, club suppers, or a combination of both.

Reports of ill members were given.

Several rigs have been on spring trips and several are presently at Kerrville State Park on annual campouts. Some have been to East Texas, others to The Valley. Other spring and summer trips are being planned by the club.

Buddy Marshall and Lee Wright, recently retired, plan to extend their camping activities. They were presented money trees along with best wishes from the membership for active, long and happy retirements. The April campout was hosted by the Welby Jacksons and Victor Jacksons at Colorado City State Park the second weekend of the month. The April potluck supper underwent a date change from April 28 to 30, because of conflicting dates with the Flame Room.

The Feather Fanciers would like to thank these sponsors: John Grayson; Eddie Simer; James Horton; Shroyer Motor Company; Pat Boatler Fina; Cosden; State National Bank; Shirley Grayson; Western Pontiac Datsun; Mr. and Mrs. John A. College Heights PTA views 'For Parents Only'

Texas' War on Drugs was the program topic for the College Heights PTA meeting Tuesday night.

Bobbie Wooten, local coordinator of "Help," the educational branch of Texas' War on Drugs, showed drug paraphernalia, discussed drug abuse legislation now before Texas lawmakers, and showed the film, "For Parents Only."

Mrs. Wooten urged parents and teachers to write the district's Senator, Ray Farabee, and Representative Larry Don Shaw, asking their support for the anti-drug abuse package now before the Legislature.

Texas PTA's involvement in Texas' War on Drugs is featured on the College Heights PTA's April bulletin board. Parents and citizens interested in more details on the drug problem in Texas may check the display in the school's main entry.

In other business, Diana Bailey, president, encouraged parents to attend the PTA District 17 spring conference, slated for April 28 at Dorothy Garrett Coliseum here in Big Spring.

College Heights PTA voiced enthusiasm for the City PTA Council's proposal to unite the local PTA carnivals into one giant carnival next year.

The group voted to raise PTA memberships to $1.50 each next fall, in order to cover increases in state and national dues which go into effect at that time.

Focus on family living

Personal taste important in purchasing art work

It isn't suggested that you purchase an art work just because it seems to be the "in" thing. One rule of thumb is: if you buy something that really means something to you, whether its "in" or "out", you will have gotten your money's worth.

In buying art, as in buying anything, your own taste is most important. Never buy anything that you don't want to live with, no matter how valuable or how much of a bargain it might be.

How can you judge art? You can begin by becoming familiar with the standards of good art, both contemporary and art of the past. One of the best places to learn is the museum. Books are another good source for forming judgment in art. Visit galleries and art associations to get a general idea of what different kinds of art are available and at what prices. The impact that a work of art makes on you determines whether or not you buy it. Taste and personal preference affect this impact.

The important thing is to cultivate a sense of quality. For additional information, you are invited to attend a leader training session April 20 at 2 p.m. at the County Extension Office.

SOFT CONTACTS AND ASTIGMATISM

Soft contact lenses for the correction of astigmatism are now a reality. This commonly occurring refractive error, has in the past, prevented millions of people from enjoying the comfort & appeal of soft contact lenses. New designs & techniques have allowed production of new lenses that can successfully correct the most common astigmatism errors. Difference Between "Crystal" And "Lead Crystal"

Here at ACCENT SHOPPE, we're often asked about the difference between "crystal" and "lead crystal." The American Better Business Bureau's criterion for "crystal" is "a transparent lead or lime glass as nearly colorless as can be obtained."

The more specific European definition designates "crystal" in terms of lead content, with the term "crystal" indicating 10 percent or more lead present, and "lead crystal" indicating that there is 24 percent or more lead present.

Both types of stemware are available in a wide range of styles and should be selected to complement dinnerware and flatware. Use your "crystal" often. There's nothing wrong with saving the finer things for special occasions, but shouldn't at least one meal a day be special!

Sewing denim requires special techniques, skills

COLLEGE STATION — Denim, a "popular" in sports fabrics, has special characteristics and sewing requirements, advises Nancy Brown, a clothing specialist.

Ms. Brown is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

"Denim has body, it is a firm twill weave, and it tailors beautifully. In selecting a pattern for denim, choose one that has few curves and no extreme bias," the specialist says.

In cutting denim, use the "with nap" layout to make sure all pattern pieces are going in the same direction. When pattern pieces are cut from a double thickness of fabric, always fold the fabric lengthwise, she advises.

When sewing denim, use cotton or cotton-polyester thread of a size that is suitable for the fabric weight.

In finishing denim seams, remember that it ravel more than any other sports fabrics, so it does require a seam finish. Which kind depends on the type of garment being constructed. For a tailored look, use welt or flat-felled seams. These will eliminate bulk, and they'll add an interesting detail to the seams.

MRS. RANDY LEE YOUNG

Couple exchange vows in Lamesa ceremony

Jill Jeanine Walker became the bride of Randy Lee Young in a ceremony held the evening of April 11 in Crestview Baptist Church, Lamesa.

The couple exchanged vows at 5 p.m. before an arched candelabrum entwined with English ivy. Rev. Scott Pool, pastor, officiated. Votive cups with English ivy decorated the choir railing, completing the altar scene.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Walker, Lamesa, formerly of Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. M.D. Young, Lubbock.

Wanda Chapman performed traditional wedding music at the piano and accompanied Ben Walker, Pecos, brother of the bride, soloist.

The bride was accompanied down the aisle wearing a formal length white organza gown fashioned with a Victorian neckline edged in Alencon lace. The princess bodice featured a sheer yoke of Brussels lace sprinkled with seed pearls, fashioned with Bishop sleeves ending in wide bands of lace at the wrist. A band of lace extended down the front of the full skirt which gracefully flowed into a chapel length, lace edged train.

The chapel length veil of illusion edged in Alencon lace fell from a Juliet cap. A cascading bouquet of blue silk rose buds, grey eucalyptus and corn flowers was carried by the bride.

Leslie Welch, Alpine, was maid of honor. Stephanie Deck, San Angelo, Cindy Allee, Castorville and Karen Walker, Pecos, sister-in-law of the bride served as bridesmaids.

Richard Plant, San Angelo, was best man. Groomsmen were Billy Ballard, and Doug and Devery Baker, all of San Angelo. Doug Walker, brother of the bride and Maxie Chastain, San Angelo, seated the guests.

A reception in the fellowship hall honoring Mr. and Mrs. Young was held immediately following the rite. Cindy Baker, San Angelo, registered the guests. The bride's table, covered with a white lace cloth, was centered with the bride's bouquet flanked by angels holding blue votive cups. The traditional three-tiered wedding cake was served by Anita Johnson and Carla Stout.

The groom's table was covered with a blue cloth. Grey silk roses, tied with blue satin ribbons on each corner, were centered with a grey candle in a crystal glove and circled by a blue silk flower candle ring.

The German chocolate cake was made by the groom's grandmother, Shirley Young, Lubbock. A silver coffee service completed the table. Vicky Huckert, Becky Pittman, Crane, cousin of the bride served.

Guests attended from Arlington, Snyder, Hobbs, N.M., Big Spring, Sterling City, Crane, Odessa, Plainview and Mansfield.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School, attended Howard College and Angelo State University.

She is presently employed at First City National Bank, San Angelo.

Husband's Pep Partner Losing Her Cheer

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for five months and I'm just about all in. I think my husband is trying to set a record. You never saw a guy with so much pep!

I said to him last night, "I do believe you married me just to have somebody to sleep with regularly." He said, "Sure, dummy. What else would a man get married for?"

I took it as a put-down. He said it was a compliment. What would you call it?

LUCILLE

DEAR LUCILLE: Stupidity.

DEAR ABBY: I recently met a man who is charming, attractive, intelligent and holds a responsible position at a bank. We've dated several times and relate to each other very well, but he has one strange idiosyncrasy that bothers me. He will not shake hands with anyone. It's very awkward when someone extends a hand to greet him and he keeps his arms folded. He compensates with an enthusiastic greeting and a very warm smile, but he will not shake hands!

He has held my hand (in a movie) and doesn't seem afraid to touch me, but his refusal to shake hands with people puzzles me. Is there something seriously wrong with him? I am very much interested in this man, and he seems equally interested in me.

CONCERNED IN SYRACUSE

DEAR CONCERNED: The man is clearly a mysophobic — one who has an abnormal fear of contamination. He needs to shake hands with a competent therapist.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are to be married soon, but we have one large problem. Religion!

I love my church and my religion. He never goes to his church and doesn't really care about it. When we get married, he wants me to change religions because he doesn't like what mine is. He says he will give up his religion for any other if I will also give up mine. Abby, for him to give up his religion is nothing big, but for me to give up mine would be like giving up a very important part of my life.

I told him, "No, I will not change, and I am not asking you to." I don't care if he stays what he is, but I want to stay what I am.

I truly love this man, Abby. Do you think I am right in saying no?

ALMOST MARRIED

DEAR ALMOST: Yes. Unless you want to be married to a man who is selfish, unfair and insensitive to your spiritual needs.

DEAR ABBY: The letter from BETHLEHEM, PA., about a woman's insensitivity to her mother's suicide threat, touched me deeply. Nine years ago my mother — in a "middle-age menopausal depression" — did commit suicide. She never threatened, she just took her life without warning. It was a shock from which my father, my sister and I will never recover.

Consider this letter a plea to depressed, suicidal women and men to swallow false pride and ask for psychiatric help and family understanding. The best definition of suicide that I've ever heard is, "It's a permanent solution to a temporary problem."

MRS. DAVID STRINGFELLOW

Ivie-Stringfellow wed in candlelight ceremony

Nancy Ellen Ivie and David John Stringfellow were united in marriage in a candlelight ceremony Saturday evening in the Church of Christ at 14th and Main Street.

Perry B. Cotham, minister, Grand Prairie, officiated as vows were exchanged before tree candelabrum flanked by seven-branch candelabrum. Centering the candles and greenery was a massive arrangement of pink carnations, white snapdragons and baby's breath.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Owen Hartwell Ivie, No. 3 Coachman's Circle, and Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Dean Stringfellow, Rose Hill, Iowa.

A Capella selections were performed by Mr. and Mrs. David Elrod and Mr. and Mrs. Rick Lee, Hobbs, N.M. Soloist Karen Lee performed a selection.

The bride was escorted by her father down the aisle marked by hurricane lanterns. She chose to wear a formal gown of white chiffon combined with Schiffl embroidered lace. The empire bodice featured a see-through yoke with high neckline and cap sleeves. The A-line skirt of flowing chiffon over taffeta unfolded across the center back releasing a full chapel-length train.

Her chapel length veil fell from a Camelot headpiece. She carried a nosegay of pink Aster Marys, stephanotis, pink roses, and baby's breath with white streamers.

The bride's attendants were her sisters, Mrs. Richard Watts of San Bernardino, Calif., and Mrs. Bob Massey of Burleson. Kerry Massey, niece of the bride, served as flower girl and Greg Massey, nephew of the bride, served as candlelighter.

Rodger Stringfellow was his son's best man. Bob Massey served as groomsman. Ushers were Keith Ivie of Abilene and Dee Elrod.

Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Stringfellow were honored with a reception at the Big Spring Country Club. The three-tiered wedding cake was served from a round table draped with a floor-length white chiffon cloth. White doves and a Cinderella coach nestled among fresh pink carnations and baby's breath between the tiers. The cake was topped with a nosegay of matching flowers.

Music Study Club has program on Schumann

The Music Study Club held its regular monthly meeting April 18 in the home of Mrs. Charles Beil. Mrs. Carl Bradley was co-hostess.

The meeting opened with the members singing the hymn of the month "Look Ye Saints, The Sight is Glorious", directed by Mrs. Jean Kuykendall accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Mary Skalicky. New officers elected for the 1981-1982 year are: Mrs. J.W. Cowan, president; Mrs. Mike Skalicky, 1st vice president; Mrs. Rudy Haddad, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Bernard Zilberg, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Melvin Newton, recording secretary; Mrs. Tommy Dodson, treasurer; Mrs. Clyde Cantrell, reporter-historian; and Mrs. Cleo Carlile, parliamentarian.

With the theme of the month "A Feminine Touch at the Keyboard" as her background, Mrs. Skalicky presented a Lecture-Recital in which she portrayed the life of Clara Schumann, the most famous female pianist of the 19th Century, and perhaps the greatest interpretative artist the world has even known. Clara made her debut at the Gemandhaus Concert Hall when she was nine years old and played her last concert in 1890 at age 71, six years before her death.

Following her lecture, Mary Skalicky interpreted Schumann's "Etudes en Form de Variations", considered one of the peaks of the piano literature — "lofty in conception and faultless in workmanship."

The next meeting will be a salad luncheon at Mrs. Theilma Carlile's home, 608 W. 15th, May 2 starting at noon. The newly elected officers will be installed.
