Report denied that FBI pinpoints nuns' killers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI is denying a broadcast report that it evaluated evidence proving six members of the El Salvador national guard shot and killed four U.S. churchwomen.

Director William H. Webster said the agency had "given an evaluation" of "forensic" that is, physical — evidence received in Washington, with the help of the Panama-based FBI agent responsible for the bureau's activities in El Salvador.

received no new information on the case and rejected any suggestion that the guard knew some of its soldiers were responsible for the killings.

Mechanical problem delays return of space shuttle

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A mechanical problem delayed the return of the space shuttle Columbia this morning, and NASA officials said weather conditions in California might force another postponement in the spacecraft's piggyback flight back to the Kennedy Space Center.

Meanwhile, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said Columbia's arrival at the space center would be a low key event, attended only by a few center officials and reporters.

More than three months pregnant States may outlaw abortions performed outside of hospitals

WASHINGTON (AP) — States may outlaw abortions performed outside of hospitals for women more than three months pregnant, the Supreme Court ruled today.

The newest abortion controversy to reach the justices first arose in Indiana shortly after the nation's highest court legalized most abortions eight years ago.

The ruling said governments may seek to protect the woman's health during the second trimester, and may move to protect fetal life only during the first trimester.

'Jock Ewing' of 'Dallas' dies in his sleep at age 72

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jim Davis, who played the crusty, white-haired patriarch of TV's scheming and extremely popular Ewing clan, has died in his sleep at the age of 72, just weeks before filming of "Dallas" was to resume.

JIM DAVIS

A memorial service will be held Friday for Davis, who was found dead Sunday afternoon by Blanche Davis, his wife of 32 years, according to Ruth Marsh, a close family friend.

listed no year for his birth. Mrs. Davis referred questions to Ms. Marsh, who said the actor was 72.

Actor Larry Hagman, who plays Jock's son, J.R., the best-loved villain on TV, was vacationing in Europe and could not be reached for comment.

The Edgerton, Mo., native attended William Jewell College in Liberty, Mo., and spent a year as a rigger with a tent circus before becoming a salesman for an auto company.

Lorimar Productions spokesman Tom Bishop said Davis had been on the job filming "Dallas" until March 23, when he underwent surgery.

— Agreed to decide whether a list of street addresses compiled by government census-takers falls under the federal Freedom of Information Act.

"We completed production for the season April 9, so he really only missed one episode," Bishop said.

— Refused to hear the appeal of a man police say participated in the 1973 murders of six family members in Donalsonville, Ga.

But Grant said the cast had been notified about a week ago that Davis' condition was not good.

— Left intact Patricia Hearst Shaw's 1976 bank robbery conviction, turning away arguments that famed trial lawyer F. Lee Bailey gave her "insufficient" legal help.

Producers for the series said they had no immediate plans on how to proceed with the "Dallas" storyline following Davis' death.

— The Indiana Legislature later that year passed a law that, among other things, required parental consent for abortions performed on unwed minors and prohibited out-of-hospital abortions for women more than three months pregnant.

Davis, who stood 6-3 and looked every inch the part of a cowboy oil baron, appeared in more than 150 films and 300 TV shows before striking it rich with "Dallas."

— The Columbia will spend a total of about seven hours in the air.

"He's a diamond in the rough who thinks young," Davis once said of Jock. "He has compassion for people, but on the other hand he can be ruthless if he feels his legs are being chopped off."

— Kennedy Space Center spokesman Rocky Raab said Rockwell International technicians had to make a new brace for the Columbia's tail cone.

In addition to his wife, Davis is survived by his mother and two sisters. The couple had only one child, Tara, who died as a teen-ager in an automobile crash several years ago.

— The repair work was complicated by a stipulation line that prohibits the Boeing 747 from taking off if the temperature in the California desert goes above 70 degrees.

Agnew ordered to pay Maryland $248,735

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew was ordered today to pay the state of Maryland $248,735, a sum the judge said represented money Agnew allegedly accepted as kickbacks while governor of Maryland.

alleged kickback scheme resulted in Agnew's no-contest plea to a charge of income tax evasion and his resignation as vice president on Oct. 11, 1973. He paid about $160,000 in back taxes, penalties and interest to the state and federal governments in 1974, according to his lawyer, Thomas R. Harrison.

Investigators try to pinpoint cause of CAF crash

FULSHEAR, Texas (AP) — Federal investigators studied clues today in hopes of pinpointing the cause of a weekend plane crash that killed two pilots training for a Confederate Air Force show in a World War II trainer.

The state has never tried to prosecute Agnew, but Harrison said criminal charges still could be filed.

FAA officials in nearby Houston said air crash detectives have finished their on-site inspection and returned to Fort Worth.

Agnew's former lawyer, George White Jr., testified Friday that he confronted the former vice president in February, 1973, with allegations that Agnew had shared in kickbacks that had been solicited from consulting engineers.

The plane, a two-seater, Ryan PT 22, had taken off from a private airfield near this town just west of Houston when the crash occurred Saturday. Department of Public Safety officer Bill Stricklin said the plane rolled over and crashed from an altitude of only 100 feet.

During that California meeting, Agnew admitted to receiving kickbacks, White testified.

The men killed in the crash were James Newton Bowers, 57, and Thomas Phillips Keeton, 34, both of Houston. Justice of the Peace Carl Bintley said both men were members of the Confederate Air Force, a club of flyers dedicated to restoring and flying World War II airplanes.

Mayor withdraws nomination

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — Mayor Othal Brand, engaged in a fierce May 9 runoff election battle and fending off allegations that he covered up police brutality incidents, today asked Gov. Bill Clements to withdraw his nomination for appointment to the state prison board.

Brand earlier had asked for a postponement of his nomination hearing, scheduled for Tuesday. He said at the time that if the hearing were not delayed until after the election, he would ask that the appointment be withdrawn.

Senator Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler, chairman of the Senate Nominations Subcommittee, sent word to Brand today that he would not postpone the hearing, the mayor said.

"And that effectively is the end of that little story," Brand said.

In a news conference, the mayor blamed whoever was responsible for holding certain incriminating videotapes that showed police officers abusing prisoners without making the tapes known to city officials for several years.

Plane crash hurts two

HOUSTON (AP) — An Eagle Airlines twin-engine Piper Navajo carrying ten people crash landed in a field near Hobby Airport in southeast Houston Sunday night when it apparently lost power after taking off. Federal Aviation Administration officials said.

Two passengers were treated for minor injuries at a Houston hospital and released following the commuter plane crash, which occurred about 5:40 p.m. in a field near Interstate 45 in Houston.

FAA officials said the plane was headed for Austin and San Angelo when the pilot, Capt. Chuck Grant, reported a loss of power and put the plane down in the field.

Witnesses said the plane was not on fire, but the force of the crash tore part of the plane's right wing off.

The plane missed a nearby apartment complex. Seven people died March 21 last year when another twin-engine Navajo owned by the airline lost power in one engine on takeoff, the burst into flames when it slammed back to the runway and slid into a hangar.

Classes to resume

CHILICOTHE, Texas (AP) — State health officials have approved the reopening of Chillicothe's two public schools beginning Monday, almost a month after they were closed because of contamination by insecticides.

The schools were inspected Sunday by Texas Health Department physician Dr. Phil Zbylot, who issued the approval for the reopening.

The Chillicothe high school and grade school were closed April 1, three days after school board members sprayed their interiors with cattle insecticides in an effort to stem an outbreak of head lice among the town's schoolchildren.

The sprayings backfired, causing eye and respiratory irritation and nausea among students and teachers who reported to class on March 30. The insecticides Lindane and Toxaphene are not approved for use in enclosed areas, Zbylot later told school officials.

8-day-old girl is kidnapped

HOUSTON (AP) — Juvenile authorities say a heavy-set woman kidnapped an 8-day-old girl from a Jefferson Davis Hospital maternity ward.

Sgt. William Casteel said a woman said to weigh 200 pounds took the baby while the mother, Donna Pettaway, 21, was sleeping in the first-floor ward Saturday.

Casteel said the woman told a nurse she was taking the baby, Nydra Pettaway, to a car and would return for the mother.

Lois Moore, hospital administrator, said a nurse making routine rounds noticed the baby was missing and police were called after the mother did not recognize the description of the woman seen leaving with the child.

Police Beat Call from Lubbock may have prevented suicide

Police received a call Sunday night from the Lubbock operator for suicide prevention. She had received a call from a residence on W. 16th that a man there was trying to commit suicide. When police arrived, they found a 24-year-old Big Spring man with a large cut on the inside of the right arm between the elbow and wrist. The man was taken to the Veterans Administration Medical Center.

A 39-year-old Big Spring woman told police the overdose she took was accidental. She said she did not take anything on purpose and nothing she drank was spiked Sunday night. A stereo and jewelry box were stolen from the residence of Crescencio Padilla, 300 N.E. Eighth, between Friday and Sunday. Entry was gained through a window on the east side of the residence.

Two windows were damaged at 112-114 E. Second, with a brick Sunday night. Value, $250. A man stepped out of a vehicle Sunday afternoon in front of a large number of people and urinated in the 1000 block of N. Main.

A vehicle was stolen from $2.9 million computers pact signed by AP

NEW YORK (AP) — The Associated Press has reached an agreement with ATEX Inc. of Bedford, Mass., for the installation of an ATEX 9000 computer editing system at the news agency's world headquarters.

A contract for the $2.9 million system was signed Monday by Keith Fuller, president and general manager of the news cooperative, and Douglas Drane, president of ATEX. The ATEX system will replace a number of smaller computers operating in a network in New York. AP's domestic and international bureaus will continue to operate on their own computer systems independent of the New York system.

"Our intention has always been to provide the best news report by using the best tools available," said Fuller. "We feel the ATEX system, which will greatly increase our storage capacity and offer editing enhancements not in our current setup, will give us the tools to carry our headquarters operation through much of this decade."

On The Light Side

Pickin', grinnin' and garglin'

COSBY, Tenn. (AP) — Don't be too surprised if there's a run on mouthwash today in this town nestled among the Smoky Mountains.

The vile odor of ramps — those Appalachian wild onions that fool the mouth with a sweet taste — was in the air Sunday on Kineavusta Hill.

"If you see some laughing, a little bit of hand-shaking and a howdy-do, that's what's it's all about — goodwill," M.M. Bullard observed as he played host at the 28th annual ramp festival. "The world needs more of it."

Thousands have flocked each year since 1954 to the festival to honor the ramp. It was no different Sunday as hundreds of east Tennesseans and folks from nearby states basked in the sun to listen to country music, eat barbecued chicken and hot cakes and tease the tastebuds with raw or cooked ramp.

To wash down the grub, the discreet drank beer and whisky, while the adventurous sipped moonshine.

"If you eat it, you better be sure your wife does or she won't sleep with you," Bullard warned one city slicker facing his first taste of the mountain delicacy. "It's stronger than a garlic and 10 times stronger than an onion."

The Cosby Ruritan Club, a rural civic group that runs the festival to raise money for charities, sent a dozen members into the Smoky Mountains for three days last week to dig up the ramps sampled Sunday.

Diana Samples, a 19-year-old from nearby Newport, was crowned maid of the ramps to cap the festivities. She was thrilled with the honor but not the ramp.

"I did (eat one) before and I didn't go out for a week," she said.

An air conditioner and a five-drawer dresser was stolen from 1700 Virginia between Friday and Saturday.

The residence of Vicky Talley Fitzhugh, 428 Main, was burglarized between Wednesday afternoon and Friday night.

A toolbox containing tools was stolen from James Gross, Ponderosa Apts, No. 128, from his vehicle while it was parked at his residence. Value, $150.

Four mishaps were reported Sunday. Vehicles driven by Ralph Clarke, 3700 Calvin and D.F. Stanley, Sterling City Rt. Box 129 collided at Eighth and Gregg, 3:30 p.m.

A parked vehicle owned by M&M General Construction, P.O. Box 2181, was struck by a vehicle driven by Ricardo Manrio, 1501 E. Fifth and Benton, 9:30 p.m.

Fin's net income down for year by $11 million

DALLAS — American Petrofina, Inc., today announced that net income for the first quarter of 1981 amounted to $20,250,000, or $1.88 per share, as compared with $31,410,000, or $2.92 per share, in the same period of last year. Gross revenue increased to $666,474,000 from $523,374,000 in the first quarter of 1980.

In commenting on the first quarter, R.I. Galland, chairman of the board, said that operating income from production and exploration activities increased by 16 percent from the same period last year. Increased crude oil prices realized during the quarter more than offset the windfall profit tax which was not in effect during the first two months of 1980.

The cost of crude oil processed at the Company's two refineries rose sharply in the last two months of the quarter following decontrol of domestic crude oil prices Jan. 28. As refined product prices did not match the rise, margins were substantially below those of the first quarter of 1980. Demand for refined products declined, reflecting a sensitivity to higher prices.

Non-union mines reopen in Kentucky minus fights

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A few non-union mines in eastern Kentucky's coalfields reopened today without any reports of trouble from United Mine Workers pickets now in the 32nd day of their strike, authorities said.

The companies had expected some disruptions, but little picketing and no violence were reported by mid-morning.

Some 30 to 35 roving pickets were spotted near the Letcher-Harian County line, but state police said there were no incidents.

At Hatfield, Ky., five guards armed with shotguns and revolvers stood watch over coal loading operations at Belfry Coal Corp.

But no pickets were on the scene as crews loaded a huge stockpile of coal into railroad cars, authorities said.

Another nearby non-union mine was operating, but no coal was being hauled from that facility.

Independent operators in five counties said last week they would reopen today, despite two shooting incidents involving non-union truck drivers that left six men injured.

Many non-union mines shut down late last week after the shooting incidents. Others had been closed since the start of the strike.

Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said Sunday that while the nation's coal exports have dropped substantially since the strike began March 27, the strike has had no apparent impact on operations of U.S. industries.

But if it continues another two months, Baldrige said in a statement, the nation's oil imports might be pushed up and Americans could face higher utility bills.

In another development, the chief negotiator for the Bituminous Coal Operators Association said that only a new contract proposal from the UMW would get the BCOA back to the bargaining table.

"There's no reason to return to the table otherwise," B.R. Brown said Saturday.

UMW spokesman Eldon Callen argued Sunday that "the BCOA should come up with some ideas."

Rites scheduled today for 'Champagne Lady'

DALLAS (AP) — Alice Lon Bowling, who greeted millions of viewers on the popular Lawrence Welk show in the 1950s, will be buried in a family mausoleum after her death from a skin disease.

Services are scheduled at 1 p.m. CDT for Mrs. Bowling, who died Friday in Baylor University Medical center of scleroderma, a disease that thickens and hardens the skin.

She was 54.

Mrs. Bowling was born Alice Wyche in the East Texas town of Kilgore and rocketed to fame after being selected as Welk's "Champagne Lady" in 1955 while she was singing on the Don McNeill Breakfast Club show in Chicago.

Mrs. Bowling, who was 29 at the time and sang under the name Alice Lon, was selected and Welk said, "The public has chosen her and I agree!"

The bandleader said Saturday in Los Angeles that he was "sorry to have heard of her death. She was such a lovely girl. She was a very pretty little girl."

Welk denied the rumor that she left the show because her dresses were too short. He said she left because she had become "a celebrity in her own right."

Mrs. Bowling wore multi-layered crinoline petticoats which became her trademark on the show.

George Bowling, an American Airlines pilot she married in 1962, said Saturday his wife kept her trademark after she left the show. "I've got an attic filled with those petticoats," he said.

Mrs. Bowling took the Welk show in 1959, saying "I just couldn't take it any longer. It isn't the same happy family it used to be when I joined him six years ago. Lawrence is hard to work for now. He lacks consideration and there are no exceptions in his book."

From the time she left the Welk show in 1959 until she retired two years after her marriage, Mrs. Bowling sang a supper club, state fairs and recorded several record albums that featured songs by Cole Porter, George and Ira Gershwin and Irving Berlin.

She is survived by her husband, three sons and a sister.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Edin Cemetery.

She was born June 22, 1922, in Sheraton, Mo. She was married to J.E. Hughes April 15, 1938, in Blackwell, Tex. He preceded her in

Seek Irish intervention for IRA hunger striker

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Supporters of IRA hunger striker Bobby Sands rioted in Belfast, clashed with police in London and appealed to Irish Prime Minister Charles Haughey to intervene on behalf of the 27-year-old guerrilla.

Today was the 58th day of Sands' prison fast, and his weight was reported to have dropped from 155 pounds to 96. Spokesmen for the Irish Republican Army said he nearly died Saturday night after a heart attack but refused medical help.

Members of his family visited him Sunday at Maze Prison outside Belfast and said he was "extremely weak."

Haughey came from Owen Carron, who managed the election campaign that won Sands a seat in the British Parliament on April 9.

He also called on the prime minister to demand of Mrs. Thatcher that she grant the prisoners' demands.

"Bobby Sands will be dead if Charles Haughey delays any longer," Carron said.

There was no immediate response from Haughey, who was reported under increasing pressure from his own Cabinet to take some personal initiative. He said over the weekend that urgent efforts to solve the crisis should continue.

Sands is serving a 14-year term for gun law violations after a shootout with police. The status of political prisoner would allow him and the others to wear their own clothes instead of prison uniforms, exempt them from prison work and associate freely among themselves within the prison.

It would also constitute recognition by the British government of the IRA as a legitimate political movement instead of the criminal terrorist underground the government claims it is. The government says the imprisoned guerrillas are common criminals convicted of terrorist crimes.

The IRA has threatened a new campaign of violence if Sands dies, and militants from Northern Ireland's Protestant majority have warned of bloody retaliation in the province that has seen 11½ years of sectarian strife.

Sands' hunger strike touched off demonstrations in both Belfast and London Sunday, but the violence subsided by nightfall.

One appeal to Haughey came from the National H-Block Committee, which supports Sands' crusade for political prisoner status for IRA convicts in the H-shaped prison cell blocks. It said it believed the Irish leader could force Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher to agree to the demand of Sands and three other hunger strikers in the Maze by threatening to expel Britain's ambassador to the Irish Republic, Leonard Figg.

Another appeal to Cee City plans pick up speed

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado City Centennial activities will hit high gear at 7:30 p.m., Thursday in the Civic Center when several plans are implemented prior to July's Centennial Celebration.

According to George Walker, chairman of the Brothers of the Brush, "this will be a kickoff for this group as well as for the Centennial Belles. Charter for both groups will be available, as well as packets of materials for distribution to all local organizations."

Walker added "We have sent letters to all local groups and we hope to have a representative from each one to pick up a packet and get us all off to a strong Centennial celebration."

Students from Hutchinson School will present a short play depicting Mitchell County history, which will be followed by a style show featuring fashions from the 1880s onward, ranging from early era bathing suits to fall gowns.

Walker indicated he will be modeling one of the bathing suits if he can figure out how to get in to it.

Federal officials investigate alleged police misconduct

KAUFMAN, Texas (AP) — The Kaufman County District Attorney says a sizeable number of "resisting arrest" charges filed by officers triggered an FBI investigation into charges that police have beaten, illegally arrested and extorted money from as many as 30 people.

"It would have just been a matter of time until someone got killed by one of these officers," said District Attorney Bill Conradt in a story published in Sunday's editions of the Dallas Times Herald.

"I think most of the people in Kaufman knew this sort of thing was going on, but they didn't know what to do about it."

The paper said FBI agents have questioned more than 30 witnesses who have accused officers of various civil rights violations, including a claim by a 19-year-old Ennis woman who said she was two months pregnant and miscarried after being punched in the stomach when the driver of a truck she was in was stopped for a traffic violation.

Kaufman officials were quoted in the paper as saying that the firing of the police chief Robert Parker and an officer and the resignation of another officer were related to the investigation.

"I haven't done anything," Parker said. "My department's an open department. I'm willing to take a polygraph test. I've got nothing to hide."

He called his firing "political" and expressed doubt that the FBI actually is investigating the police department.

He said the FBI and Justice Department investigated an allegation of police brutality in Kaufman last fall and cleared Parker and his department in January.

Conradt said he called federal agents after he and Assistant District Attorney Michael Minor began noticing the number of "resisting arrest" charges being filed against people stopped for traffic or other minor offenses.

When the City Council fired Parker last week, "I think the council members knew there had been some illegal acts on the part of some officers and they apparently thought Parker couldn't keep control of his department," Conradt said.

Four Dallas-area men and the 14-year-old son of one of them claim officers handcuffed them and forced them to lie in a ditch as one officer held his finger on the trigger of a shotgun pointed at their heads.

Conradt said he called federal agents after he and Assistant District Attorney Michael Minor began noticing the number of "resisting arrest" charges being filed against people stopped for traffic or other minor offenses.

Water problems get worse in nation

Commenting on the exodus of people from eastern and mid-western states who are headed for the Sun Belt, an Eastern journalist was recently prone to remark, in effect, "you'd better take your water with you."

While it is true much of the Great Southwest will never be free of water problems, parts of the east and the midwest have discovered in recent years that such woes are not peculiar to any one section. More than a few cities in New England had to adopt strict rationing plans before their "rainy seasons" started again.

IN A RECENT issue of Reader's Digest Magazine, Marc Reiser wrote that the nation's water is being abused and wasted much as oil was when it cost only 35 cents a gallon. Reiser had recently completed a year studying water supplies in Western states.

Reiser was especially pessimistic about the reserves in the Ogallala Aquifer, which stretched from South Dakota to West Texas.

"(The water) cannot last," Reiser said, to the surprise of no one in the Southwest who has any knowledge of the problem. "The Ogallala Aquifer is being pumped out many times faster than it is being replenished by nature. Like oil, the resource is limited and when it starts to give out, dust and depression may return to this non-prosperous region to stay," he adds.

The Reader's Digest article says that the nation's water is being abused and wasted much as oil the water table has dropped hundreds of feet, making pumping very expensive," Reiser states. "In Arizona, 53,000 acres of irrigated cropland in the Santa Cruz basin has been abandoned, and some 100,000 more acres may soon revert to dust."

PROFLIGATE USE of water has historical roots. Western water laws and traditions inhibit sensible use. The cost of federal irrigation water is ludicrously underpriced. "Thanks to the U.S. taxpayer, who subsidizes 80 percent to 95 percent of the cost, federal irrigation water in the desert is cheaper than sand," Reiser points out. Finally, agriculture has always been the sacred cow of the American supplies to rescue regions that are overdraining ground water, they want to develop new desert farm land.

Western water lobby push for more dollars for water

What can be done? Reiser proposes that an independent review panel, divorced from the special-interest orientation of Congress and involved agencies, evaluate proposed water projects. In addition, cost-sharing formulas between the federal government and the states would induce states to show more concern that projects made economic sense. Discount rates applied to federal water projects should be raised and water conservation made a fundamental consideration in planning of any new projects.

Water is a precious resource, Reiser says, and must not be treated in the present fashion.

Bitter taste

Around the rim

Andrea Cohen

A 26-year-old woman, whose name is already being forgotten, is causing those involved in the journalism profession to make a close "self-examination of themselves and the system they work under."

Janet Cooke's name will be forgotten soon, but what she did will leave a bitter taste on editors' and reporters' tongues for a long, long time.

Cooke is the former Washington Post reporter who was forced to relinquish her Pulitzer Prize when it was discovered her story about an eight-year-old heroin addict was a hoax.

TO MY DELIGHT, and to the delight, I'm sure, of others, she was caught, forced to resign from the staff of her newspaper and will probably never work in journalism again.

The editors of the Washington Post embarrassed themselves twice. The first round was printing the story. Then with questions raised about its accuracy, the editors of the newspaper submitted the story for a Pulitzer Prize.

Bill Green, the Washington Post ombudsman said "It was a complete systems failure, and there's no excuse for it."

Janet Cooke's colleagues found out quickly she wasn't what she claimed to be. She was not proficient at four languages as she had claimed. She lied about her college education, the tennis games she told them she had with executives, her alleged piano talents. One can wonder if her name was Janet Cooke.

As a graduate of the Woodward-Bernstein School of Journalism, she found herself with an immediate boss who was half of the team. Her boss was the man who told the world in a book, and then again, through Robert Redford, that he met someone on a regular basis known to the public, his editors and publisher, only as Deep Throat. Eight years ago, the thought of two small-time reporters getting the trust of their editors while writing stories about the president being corrupt on the word of a man named Deep Throat sounded romantic. The same men who put everything on the line during the Watergate days, partially on the basis of an unnamed source are the same men who were embarrassed recently over a non-existent heroin addict named Jimmy.

ANYONE WHO WORKS in the communications field can see how a mistake like that could have easily been avoided. The people they hire as reporters, since they are the ones on the street. In the same vein, reporters have to return the trust. Cooke was a "reporter" who had a "brilliant" career ahead of her. Her employers had never received a complaint about her. They had no reason not to trust her.

Do editors put too much trust in their reporters? Probably. Unfortunately, the Cooke affair will force editors and publishers to question their reporters about unnamed sources. It will mean the editors will join their reporters in jail when courts try to force the sources' names to public view.

The thought that her personnel application was never verified, and the fact that her editors submitted the story for a Pulitzer when they had doubts about the credibility of the story is a bitter pill to swallow.

The best thing to come out of this is a reevaluation of the system which broke down and needs to be corrected.

The worst thing Cooke did was to make every reporter's job a little harder.

The most important thing a reporter has is trust, trust of her publisher, her editors, and her sources. Cooke has taught these people to take a second look at that trust. And the public can rightfully question the credibility of the press when something like this happens.

The thought of that woman turns my stomach. This one "reporter" has caused a decline in respect for the press by the general public, and it is extremely painful for the honest reporters who try to make their deadline everyday. Hopefully, that opinion will only be temporary.

Hidden facts

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — Washington has its own version of Mount St. Helens, which periodically belches hot steam into the atmosphere. This is the recurring question of arms aid to Saudi Arabia, America's great oil ally.

President Reagan now wants to sell the Saudis some super-radar planes, plus midair refueling capability and bomb racks for their F-15 jet fighters. Opponents of the arms sale fear that the equipment will be used offensively against Israel.

TO PREVENT A major eruption, officials have tried to keep some details out of the public debate. These include: (1) the hair-raising possibility that the Saudi air force could make unauthorized strikes against Israel in their souped-up F-15s; (2) proposals to approve the sale of even more military equipment to the Saudis, including 10 long-range helicopter gunships, American anti-tank missiles and several ground radar stations; and (3) the State Department's push to sell five Boeing transport planes to neighboring Iraq.

The Saudis insist they have no intention of using American arms to attack Israel. But as part of the weapons deal, the United States would provide Saudi Arabia with bomb racks and refueling equipment for the F-15s that Jimmy Carter sold to the Saudis in 1978.

This would extend the range and increase the firepower of the F-15s. Coupled with the fact that several pilots in the Saudi air force are Palestinians, the F-15s could pose a serious threat to Israel.

There is also some misunderstanding about AWACS. The radar command planes will not give the Saudis much ground surveillance capability beyond what they already have. But the system would greatly reduce Israel's critical advantage in air warfare.

Pentagon sources told my associate Ron McRae that the Saudis have a genuine need for an early warning system like AWACS. But the Pentagon would prefer not to sell the system to the Saudis and, instead, wants to maintain the present arrangement of American-owned and-operated aircraft.

THE SALE OF Boeing 747 and 727 transports to Iraq is being promoted as strictly a commercial deal to help Boeing compete with foreign aircraft manufacturers. The contract would be worth about $200 million to Boeing — it can get congressional approval for the necessary export license.

The sticky point is that Iraq is one of four nations on the State Department's list of terrorist-supporting regimes in the Arab world. The others are Libya, Syria and South Yemen. Sale of military equipment to any of these countries would be hard to justify, especially for an administration that has made terrorism its chief foreign-policy target.

So the Foggy Bottom strategists are trying to stress the peaceful use of the transport planes — though U.S. intelligence analysts have documented a number of instances in recent years in which such transport aircraft have been used to ferry troops in wartime situations — by Libya, Iran and Israel, to name three.

Capitol Hill sources told my associate Lucette Lagnado that the administration apparently is hoping to push the Iraqi deal through quietly, while Congress is occupied with the Saudi arms controversy.

To spike the opposition of Rep. Jonathan Bingham, D-N.Y., whose subcommittee oversees export licensing, the State Department resorted to a little horse trading: The administration agreed to drop a long-pending proposal to let the Iraqi Navy buy American frigate engines, in return for Bingham's silence on the Boeing license. Bingham, who had fought the warship engine sale for months, reportedly agreed to the transport plane transaction as the lesser of two evils.

Meanwhile, the Saudi oil minister, Sheikh Ahmed Yamani, has made it quite clear that the Saudis expect American arms as a quid pro quo for holding down the world price of oil. And fuel prices are obviously an important consideration for the Reagan administration in its fight to curb inflation.

THIS IS THE ARMY?: "Private Benjamin," the fictional female Sack of movie and TV fame, would be a super-soldier compared to most of the male recruits the Army is getting. Pentagon sources acknowledge gloomily. Six out of 10 recruits have to get remedial reading instruction before they can even begin to learn basic technical skills, though the Army's training manuals have been rewritten down to elementary-school levels in most cases.

Despite the extra help, 4 out of 10 fail instruction in infantry skills, supposedly the least demanding in technical knowhow. For that reason, the generals privately think the congressional plan to pay up to $10,000 as a bonus for infantry volunteers is a waste of money. What the Pentagon really wants is middle-class youths who have already acquired adequate academic skills.

WATCH ON WASTE: The Commerce Department's top brass have ordered some refurbishing of their office suites, supposedly to impress the business executives and foreign trade dignitaries they deal with. Secretary Malcolm Baldrige is having his carpets cleaned and getting some chairs and a sofa upholstered at a cost of $1,203. His under secretary for international trade, Lionel Olmer, is gussying up his private kitchen with $2,970 worth of redecorating touches.

Averting retreat

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — The threat of a Senate Republican retreat from President Reagan's economic program before the battle is truly joined was fessed at breakfast April 15 when budget director David Stockman lobbied the Republican staff on the Senate Budget Committee not to turn tail and flee, with apparent success.

That staff, headed by Steve Bell, had been sounding retreat for five days by plotting a moderate Republican-Democratic coalition on the budget resolution that would slow down and stretch out Reagan's tax rate reductions. Thus, while preparing for a setpiece budget resolution battle in the Democratic House, the White House was on the brink of losing the war in the Republican Senate.

ALTHOUGH MANY CONGRESSMEN of both parties still do not appreciate it, the tax reduction is the cutting edge of the Reagan economic program. There will be eventual compromise, but toward intensifying the impact of tax rate reduction, not softening it. That would mean dropping tax rates on "unearned" income and perhaps settling for heavy rate cuts over two years. If the Senate Budget Committee goes off in the opposite direction under the chairmanship of New Mexico's Sen. Pete Domenici, the result could fatally undermine Reagan's program.

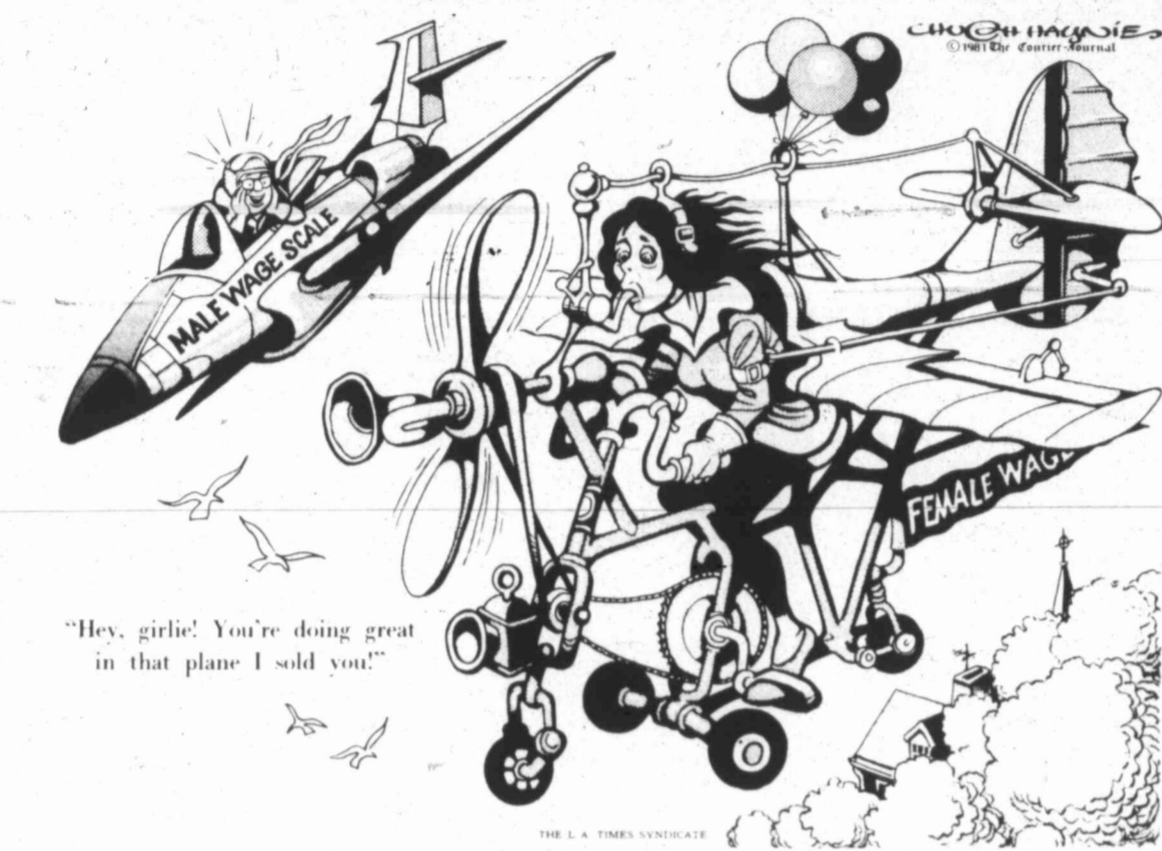

The rationale for early Senate Republican retreat was that only a shrinking of the tax cut would achieve the balanced budget necessary to pass the budget resolution. In truth, however, the budget committee staff seemed to be exploiting the projected budget deficit to win a desired political objective: killing the Kemp-Roth tax bill.

That tone was set from the start by the Republican staff installed at the budget committee by Domenici — especially Steve Bell. A 37-year-old ex-newspaper reporter, poet and self-styled Renaissance man, Bell has inveighed against "supply-side ideologues" and belittled tax reduction. Add to that anti-tax cut bias by the committee's Republican economists and it is no surprise that Domenici has been downgrading the Reagan tax plan all year.

It was sour economic assumptions by Domenici's staff that produced a $40 billion-plus deficit in the projected budget for fiscal year 1984. That prompted three conservative Republicans led by Colorado's Sen. Bill Armstrong to join Democrats in defeating the budget resolution in the Senate committee April 9, just before the current Easter recess.

What was afoot became clear immediately after that unexpected vote. Domenici's staff proclaimed, with unconcealed delight, that Kemp-Roth was dead. Bell was explicit. He told fellow staffers that future cooperation between Domenici and Armstrong was futile. Instead, said Bell, a coalition with Democrats could reduce the deficit by stretching out the 30 percent tax cut — from 10 percent annually for three years to 7.5 percent a year for four years. Moreover, he would cut back liberalized depreciation procedures.

The votes to pass such a package were in the budget committee. Armstrong and his two colleagues, Sens. Steve Symms of Idaho and Charles Grassley of Iowa, were the three members of the committee most deeply committed to Reagan's tax and budget reduction. Yet, they would be overridden as the rest of the committee sought revenue in the way Jimmy Carter did; by caution on tax reduction.

"Hey, girly! You're doing great in that plane I sold you!"

Reye's--aspirin link not yet proven

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Donohue: I recently heard that if a child has certain illnesses, like chicken pox, etc., that aspirin should not be given and is related to Reye's syndrome. Could you please comment on this and also explain what Reye's syndrome is? What are the signs? You'd put a young mother's mind at ease. — G.P.

It is sometimes difficult to strike a balance between providing helpful information about an illness and avoiding hysteria over it.

Reye's syndrome is serious and it does happen after certain viral diseases, like influenza and chicken pox, in a few children. But if you consider how many children have had those illnesses and how few develop Reye's syndrome, you can appreciate that it is not all that common.

The classic story of Reye's syndrome is of a child who has had a viral infection — like flu. A few days after apparently getting better he begins to vomit. Then he acts drowsy and confused and can quickly sink into delirium and coma. The liver and brain are affected and the blood sugar can be quite low. If this picture begins to develop in a child, immediate attention must be sought. Medical care can save nine out of 10 children who develop Reye's syndrome.

Many studies have attempted to explain why these few come down with Reye's while the vast majority do not. In trying to find a common factor in those children who get Reye's, investigators cannot ignore any single possibility. It was determined that Reye's children had been given aspirin more frequently and in greater amounts than usual. That does not prove aspirin as a cause. There may be a number of other factors involved.

It means that further investigation is required to clarify the issue. And it means that reasonable caution should be exercised in children who have fevers. I am sorry I cannot be more definite about this. About the best advice I can give you is to be guided by your physician as the proper medicine to give during your children's illnesses. When and if aspirin is proven or disproven to be a factor in Reye's, I will print that.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a seven-year-old daughter. She has normal bowel movements. In spite of this, her grandparents give her a laxative once a week. My question is: Could this have an effect on her as she grows older? — S.J.

Shame on grandma and grandpa. I don't see any value in what they are doing. They are probably clinging to an old idea of getting rid of poisons from the body. How I wish that idea would die! I cannot say that a laxative once a week is definitely harmful. I see no point in it. I think it ought to be stopped. I cannot predict that this practice will or will not cause a laxative dependency to develop. I doubt it, but why tempt the odds.

Dear Dr. Donohue: We women are told to examine ourselves to find any lumps in order to catch cancer early. Now tell us, doctor, how can we tell if lumps are cancerous or not? I'm sure your readers would like to know. — Mrs. C.

You can't tell if a lump is cancer just by feeling it. You shouldn't expect to be able to. If you feel a lump, you should have a doctor examine it. It takes a lot of experience even for him to be able to distinguish one kind of lump from another, and even he may not be able to be sure from simple examination. Continue with your self-examination schedule. If you find a lump, call your doctor for an appointment. Any other approach is dangerous.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I had a water analysis of my well water made (enclosed). Is the sodium too high, and is it all right for a person with normal health? — F.Z.

The sodium content of well water is usually less than 100 milligrams per quart. Your well water has 314 milligrams. That is high. But if you are not on a sodium-restricted diet for high blood pressure or heart disease, then you can use that water without fear.

Since you are getting a load of sodium that most people are not getting, you should go easy on the use of salt in cooking and at the table. Take away the salt shaker and explain things to the family.

What about constipation? Many can be relieved of it, both mentally and physically, by reading Dr. Donohue's booklet, "The Way to Stop Constipation." For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Which of all the sports would you consider most demanding? — B.K.

Without hesitation, I say basketball. I should get some argument.

Basketball demands just about every athletic attribute and that each be brought into play almost constantly throughout a contest. The perfect basketball player would have speed, alertness, agility and endurance, along with good general condition. He must be able to execute complex offenses and complex defenses and alternate these continuously on a second's notice as possession of the ball demands.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Some people I talked with the other day said that God's true name was Jehovah, and that since Jesus never used the name Jehovah to describe himself, Jesus therefore is not divine. Is there any truth in this? — B.G.M.

DERA B.G.M.: "Jehovah," as we translate it from the original Hebrew, was the primary name for God, although there are many others as well. (An English translation will reveal many of these, such as "God," "The Lord of Hosts," "The Holy One," etc.)

But the second part of your statement — that Jesus did not apply "Jehovah" to himself, and is therefore not divine — is not true. For one thing, the divine nature of Jesus is not dependent only on his claim to be divine — although he did make that claim. (See, for example, his statement, "I and the Father are One" in John 10:30 — which was immediately taken by his listeners as a claim to divinity.) You should remember, instead, that Jesus' divine nature is seen in other ways, such as his miracles, his sinless life and especially his resurrection from the dead.

In addition, it would not be surprising if Jesus did not apply the name "Jehovah" to himself. At least 300 years before Jesus, the Jewish people had stopped speaking the name "Jehovah." They considered it too sacred to speak, and always substituted another term for God (such as "Lord"). You will remember that Jesus frequently accepted the term "Lord" as a proper title for himself (e.g. John 13:13).

But there is at least one point in the Gospels where Jesus implies that the term "Jehovah" should be applied to him. The word "Jehovah" comes from a Hebrew verb for "I am." (Consult a good Bible dictionary for a fuller discussion.) On one occasion, Jesus declared: "Before Abraham was born, I am!" (John 8:58). Not only was he claiming to have existed before Abraham, but he was also clearly claiming divinity for himself. Those who heard him clearly understood this, and immediately accused him of blasphemy and tried to stone him.

Hiding figure flaws

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Nothing, but nothing, reveals your shape like a swimsuit. And if, like most people, your figure is a little less than perfect, opt for a swimsuit that makes the most — or least, of what you've got, says a recent issue of "Seventeen." Below are some common figure flaws and tips on finding the right swimsuit to camouflage them.

Wide Hips: If your figure's the type that gets broader at the hip line, you might think the way to cope is to cover up around the hips. No so. When it comes to swimwear, at least, the best bet is to de-emphasize by exposing. Choose a swimsuit with high-cut legs.

Large Bust: Making a large bosom seem more in proportion with the rest of you is simply a matter of choosing the right neckline. Select a swimsuit with a square neckline and straight-on-the-shoulder straps.

Short Legs: If you happened to get short shrift in the leg department, this is your year. Short legs get a longer look in suits with extra-high-cut bottoms, and this year, there are all sorts of suits with high-cut legs to choose from.

Small Bosom: When it comes to filling out a small bust, it's often the subtlest tricks that do the prettiest job — soft gathers, a bit of shirring, or a couple of tucks along the side and bottom of the bra.

Too Thin: If you're slender, you probably look great in just about everything — fully dressed, that is. But drenched and bathing-suit-bare, your leaner parts may need a little camouflage. What's best? A suit made of no-cling cottony fabrics striped with width-adding horizontals.

Coufunds are newest form of rebate

Combine the dollar-saving benefits of a coupon and a refund and what do you get? A "coufund," the newest form of rebate for shoppers.

Family Circle's refunding expert, Susan Samtur, notes in the magazine's current issue that a coufund requires proof of purchase the way a refund does, but that it is redeemed at the checkout like a coupon.

Among the benefits of coufunds (which have been appearing in supermarkets, newspapers and magazines): You pay no postage and handling costs; there is no limit on the number redeemed, provided each coufund is accompanied by a purchase; and, best of all, you don't have to wait for the refund to arrive by mail.

Ms. Samtur's Family Circle article, "Save Over $45 At The Checkout," lists the latest refund offers, including 22 requiring no special forms.

Wedding Check Holds Family Hostage

DEAR ABBY: A year and a half ago our son married a girl whose well-to-do family lives out of town. My son and his bride (I'll call them Ann and Sam) wanted the wedding here, but insisted on keeping it simple and intimate, so we agreed. They were married by a justice of the peace in a ceremony near our home.

After a party for them at our home following the ceremony, and we gave them a check for $1,000 as a wedding gift. Sam was ecstatic and thanked us, but Ann didn't say a word! We were in shock.

Days passed and we didn't hear from Ann. We were so hurt, we stopped payment on the check and told Sam that if his wife found it so difficult to say thank you, now she wouldn't have to say it at all!

Here it is, a year and a half later, and things have gone from bad to worse. They have a new house, a new car, a baby (planned) and they are drowning in debts. Our son wants "his" $1,000.

Abby, we are not rich people. Sam and Ann are now subjecting us to emotional blackmail, saying if we don't give them "their" $1,000, we can't see our grandchild. Any suggestions would be gratefully appreciated.

NAMELESS, PLEASE

DEAR NAMELESS: You were wrong to have stopped payment on the $1,000 after giving it to Sam and Ann as a wedding gift. Sam thanked you, which should have been adequate.

Sam and Ann are understandably angry, but refusing to let you see your grandchild unless you fork over "their" $1,000 is indeed blackmail. However, if you hope to have any kind of relationship with your son and his wife, you can start by giving them the $1,000.

DEAR ABBY: I have a question concerning invitations that specify, "No gifts, please." Does this mean the party-givers expect nothing except your presence at their party? Or does it mean they prefer money instead of a gift?

PUZZLED IN MONTREAL

DEAR PUZZLED: "No gifts, please," means, please do not bring a gift. Money is considered a gift, so bring nothing but yourself and your good wishes.

DEAR ABBY: A recent column leans heavily to surgery as the solution for breast cancer.

Please ask for letters from women who have been treated with alternatives to surgery. There is a growing group of radiotherapists who are treating cancer of the breast with interstitial Iridium 192 implantation.

When a tumor is implanted with radioactive seeds, no mastectomy is needed and no reconstructive surgery. Statistics are showing that radiation therapy is offering the same number of cancer-free years as mastectomy, with a great improvement over surgery in quality of life and the emotional health of the patient.

Let the women who have been treated this way speak up! MRS. R.S.

DEAR MRS. R.S.: Consider this an invitation for women who have had experience with the alternative you mention to speak up.

Public is invited to PTA conference

April 28 has been proclaimed PTA Day in Big Spring by Mayor Clyde Angel in recognition of PTA members from a 15-county area of West Texas. These members will be in town for Texas PTA's District 17 Spring Conference.

Scheduled for 8:30-2:30 tomorrow, the conference will feature workshops of interest to Big Spring's parents, educators and more than 2,100 PTA members.

PTA emphasizes that membership is not required.

Registrations and luncheon tickets will be sold at the door. Registration fee is $2.00 and lunch (chicken fried steak dinner) is $4.50.

Big Spring PTA'ers are urged to wear Centennial Belle buttons, Brothers of the Brush beards and any Centennial costumes they may have to help make Big Spring's PTA contingent stand out.

Workshops of special interest to parents will include "Speaking Out for Your Children," presented by Midland School Board member Ann Page, Midland principal Frank Marlow and District 17 PTA legislative chairman Molly Bedrich; and "Parenting Challenges of the '80s" presented by Sue Willbanks, chairman of Big Spring High School's homemaking department.

Other workshops will be: "How Nutrition Affects Your Child and More" by Big Spring homemaking teacher Virginia Martin; "Texans War on Drugs," "What Is Your Non-Verbal I.Q.?" and "A Walk Through the Tool Kit."

Consultant offers advice on avoiding job burnout

By CAROL DEEGAN
NEW YORK (AP) — Management consultant Beverly Potter quotes Albert Camus, "Without work, all life goes rotten, but when work is soulless, life stifles and dies."

Dr. Potter, who holds a Ph.D. in counseling psychology from Stanford University, says many people today are suffering from a growing problem, "job burnout." She defines it as "the impairment or the destruction of the motivation to work."

"We spend so much time at work, it's our identity. The first thing a person asks at a party, is what do you do? A person can have a great relationship, they can have financial security, they can have everything they can possibly imagine, and when the work goes bad, none of that means anything," she said.

"On the other hand," Dr. Potter added, "if you have good work, that can carry a person through a divorce, through aloneness, through financial hardship, all kinds of things."

Dr. Potter, who lives in Palo Alto, Calif. and is the author of "Beating Job Burnout," said.

Nutrition vital in looking young

Women who look younger than their years eat fewer calories, consume substantially less fatty foods of all types, and take more of vitamins B1, A and C than those who appear older. These, according to a recent Family Circle magazine article, "How to Stop the Biological Clock," were the conclusions of a 30-year study by longevity researcher E.D. Schlenker and his colleagues at Michigan State University.

Burnout," said job burnout does not occur overnight.

"It is a cumulative process, beginning with small signals that, when unheeded, can progress into a profound and lasting dread of work," she said.

What are the symptoms of job burnout?

"Well, the problem is the symptoms of job burnout are so close to the symptoms of stress. But one thing is, what is the motivation? Your drive?" Dr. Potter said.

"The classic is type-A executives. They have the heart attack from stress and — bing — you can't keep them in bed. They're back on the job. Their motivation level is high, whereas the burnout person is going through this hate feeling toward work, anger toward work, and that's a big sign," she said.

Dr. Potter said other burnout symptoms included frustration, emotional withdrawal, interpersonal problems, depression, physical complaints, drug usage, and declining performance and efficiency on the job.

She said burnout situations might occur in a variety of ways, but, essentially, "what destroys motivation are those situations where you can't succeed."

"One extreme is the person who gets all the goodies, whether they do well or they don't do well.

More typically, it's the negative or the ignoring — I do something, no response. I do something well, negative," she said.

"So what happens is a

Rockets deck Kings, 100-89

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston Rockets Coach Del Harris told his team to play the Kansas City Kings as if they were in the final game of the National Basketball Association Western Conference finals with only 48 minutes separating them from elimination.

The result was a stunning performance by center Moses Malone, who scored 42 points and grabbed 23 rebounds as the Rockets decked the Kings 100-89.

Kings Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons will make the same speech Wednesday night in Kansas City, but he'll be telling the truth — the Kings have only 48 minutes to avoid elimination from the playoffs.

Houston has a 3-1 lead and is one victory away from a spot in the NBA championship finals against either Philadelphia or Boston.

"Before the game, Del went to the board and wrote 'pretend this is game seven,'" Reid said. "He said we always play better in the last game. He told us to forget our lead and think it was 3-3 with 48 minutes left."

The Kings have had difficulty picking which Rocket is the decoy and which one is armed with live ammunition.

The Rockets used Malone as a decoy last Friday night, so Calvin Murphy and Robert Reid blasted away 22-28 victory. But Malone came out firing Sunday.

"I just want to win this series, I don't care how many points I get myself," Malone said. "I got 12 Friday night and we still won and it's no different when I get 42."

"I really think it's great that the two Cinderella teams that nobody thought would make it this far, are battling it out for the Western Conference championship."

Kings Coach Cotton Fitzsimmons praised his team despite the loss and guaranteed the Kings would return to Houston Friday for a sixth game.

"We were with them all the way," Fitzsimmons said. "They didn't kick us and I will guarantee you we will be back here. We play the hand that is dealt us and this time we've got a pretty tough one."

"We've survived two tough series and we aren't out of it yet. Granted, they may beat us, but if they do, then they'll have earned it."

The Rockets outscored the Kings 13-4 in the opening minutes of the second quarter to take a 33-23 lead, with Malone hitting nine of the points in the spur.

The Kings came back to trail by 46-45 at halftime.

Weekend NL action

Cardinals fly high

By the Associated Press

What a relief it is for Bruce Sutter to be out of Chicago! "It's a lot more fun when you're winning," says the new ace of the St. Louis Cardinal bullpen.

Sutter is responsible for much of that winning, of course. On Sunday he saved another game for the high-flying Cardinals as they defeated the Pittsburgh Pirates 3-2 and boosted their record to 9-2, their best start since the World Series-winning season of 1946.

"We're having a good time right now," said Sutter, who pitched for the Cubs last season and saved 28 games. "I've got a lot of good friends on that Chicago team, but I'm a Cardinal now. We've got so many good ballplayers here and it's really great being in St. Louis."

Sutter, by the way, seems to be just as effective as ever with his enigmatic knuckle-curve. He's saved four games so far for the Cardinals.

While Sutter's new team was winning, the Cubs, meanwhile, continued to tumble by losing their 12th straight game with a 6-2 loss to the Philadelphia Phillies. The Cubs are one loss away from a team record of 13 successive losses set in 1944.

In other National League games Sunday, Los Angeles edged San Diego 3-2, Houston blanked Cincinnati 1-0, Montreal took a doubleheader from New York 6-4 and 7-6, and San Francisco swept Atlanta 3-1 and 8-5.

Phillies 6, Cubs 2

Mike Schmidt's two-run homer triggered a four-run third inning to lead Philadelphia over the slumped Cubs. The Phillies erased a 1-0 deficit with a run in the second on Bob Boone's RBI grounder, then sewed it up with their four-run third as Schmidt cracked his fifth homer of the season and 32nd of his career at Wrigley Field.

Marty Bystrom, whose major league record is now 6-0, worked seven innings and scattered six hits for the Phillies. Bill Caudill took the loss for Chicago in his first start of the year.

Dodgers 3, Padres 2

Reggie Smith's pinch double in the eighth inning broke a 2-2 tie and Jerry Reuss scattered seven hits as Los Angeles beat San Diego. The hit was the first of the season for Smith, who is recovering from a shoulder operation last year and has been relegated to pinch-hitting duty.

Steve Garvey led off the Dodgers' eighth with a single off loser Gary Lucas. Ron Cey sacrificed, Pedro Guerrero walked, and then Smith, batting for catcher

Expos 8-7, Mets 4-6

Ellis Valentine and Gary Carter each slammed two-run homers to back the sixth pitching of Ray Burris as Montreal beat New York in the opener of their doubleheader.

It was the second victory in three decisions for Burris, both triumphs coming against his former teammates. Burris walked one and struck out six.

Jerry Manuel hit his first major league home run, a three-run blast, in the seventh inning, to lead the Expos to their second-game victory.

Giants 3-8, Braves 1-5

Enos Cabell's sixth-inning RBI double and Jack Clark's seventh-inning home run triggered San Francisco's first-game victory over Atlanta. Doyle Alexander, a former Braves pitcher, pitched 7 1/3 innings, allowing only one run and five hits against his old teammates, whom he beat for the second time this season.

Darrell Evans slugged four hits, knocked in a run and scored twice to help the Giants win the nightcap. The Giants had a season-high 17 hits as they overshadowed a three-run homer by Dale Murphy and Bob Horner's solo blast for the Braves.

Weekend American League action

Lerch hurls six-hitter, Brewers bomb Royals

By the Associated Press

Randy Lerch knows the Milwaukee Brewers are behind him — even the guy in front of him.

That guy is catcher Ted Simmons, on the receiving end Sunday of Lerch's masterful pitching. The big left-hander, who suffered through 1980 in Philadelphia, then was traded to Milwaukee last March 1, made his first American League start an eight-inning six-hitter as the Brewers bombed Kansas City 11-1.

It was his second victory and lowered his earned-run average to a minuscule 0.64. Reggie Cleveland pitched the ninth inning.

Elsewhere in the AL,

Toronto trimmed New York 2-1, Oakland beat Seattle 9-4, Chicago edged Detroit 5-4, Boston defeated Baltimore 7-5, Cleveland shaded Texas 4-3 and, in a doubleheader, California beat Minnesota 7-2, then the Twins took the second game 5-2.

"The situation got overbearing in Philadelphia," Lerch said of his 4-14 record and 5.16 ERA. "There was bad blood between me and other people in the organization. A lot of it was my fault and a lot of it was the organization's, and it got to the point, when I went on the field, there was a very unconfident feeling in the other players. If they're not confident in me, I couldn't be confident in myself."

"The plays" included a falling, over-the-head catch

"Now I get the feeling the guys behind me are happy to see me pitch," Lerch went on. "It's a feeling of being accepted."

Blue Jays 2, Yankees 1

Dave Stieb, 1-3, finally got some runs to work with — after 23 innings on the mound with nothing but goose-eggs from his teammates — and made them stand up against the Yanks.

Tom Underwood of the Yanks is working on a streak of his own. He's gone 132-3 innings this year without a run to work with and is 0-2.

A's 9, Mariners 4

Oakland made it another unbeaten week — six more victories in a row — as Dwayne Murphy drove in four runs, three on a homer, and Matt Keough pitched a six-hitter against the Mariners.

The A's are 17-1 for the year and 11-0 on the road. Keough is 4-0 with four complete games.

And pity Mike Parrott, Seattle's starting pitcher. Since winning on opening day a year ago, he's 0-17.

White Sox 5, Tigers 4

Pinch-hitter Bob Molinaro drilled a two-run triple in a three-run seventh inning that extended Chicago's winning streak to six games and Detroit's losing streak to seven games.

A walk to Greg Luzinski, Lamar Johnson's single, a hit batter and Carlton Fisk's sacrifice fly produced the first run off Milt Wilcox before Molinaro, batting for Greg Pryor, tripled to right. Lance Parrish homered for the Tigers.

Red Sox 7, Orioles 5

Jerry Remy's hitting game Boston its first two runs in the eighth inning and his heads-up baserunning gave the Red Sox the last of their three which helped carry them past Baltimore.

Glenn Hoffman singled and Rick Miller doubled before Remy singled to right. He took second on the throw home. Then, when Jim Dwyer crashed into the right field fence while catching Carl Yastrzemski's drive, Remy scampered all the way home.

Angels 7-2, Twins 1-5

Rookie Mike Witt two-hit Minnesota for the Angels in the opener, one of the hits a John Castino homer in the ninth inning. California erupted for four runs in the fifth inning to victimize loser Roger Erickson. He threw too late to third trying to nail Bobby Grich on one play, then missed a tag when Grich fell down during a rundown between third and home, Grich scoring.

In the second game, Roy Smalley, who had the other hit of Witt, hit a two-run homer, his fifth of the year, in the fourth inning off Jesse Jefferson. Smalley also singled in the sixth and scored on a double by Glenn Adams.

Astros ace Reds

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston pitcher Bob Knepper has figured out a way for the run-starved Astros to win ball games — you don't let the other team score at all.

The left-hander did just that Sunday, scattering eight hits and walking one en route and used Denny Walling's solo home run to record a 1-0 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

Not coincidentally, it marked the first win for Houston since Knepper, obtained before the season from San Francisco in exchange for Enos Cabel, took to the mound five games ago.

Houston has been anything but awesome offensively, but that didn't bother Knepper.

"I think any time a pitcher worries about how many runs he's going to get, he'll get in trouble," said Knepper, who now boasts a 0.43 earned-run average. "I can't worry about it."

Results of the District meet for Coahoma qualifiers for Regional include:

The Astros, now 4-12, owe half their wins to Knepper, who shut out the division-leading Los Angeles Dodgers 1-0 Tuesday.

"I'm pretty happy about it," Knepper said. "Some guys made some outstanding defensive plays behind me. I had to let them hit the ball sometimes, and the guys made the plays."

"The plays" included a falling, over-the-head catch

Mario Soto, 1-3 drew the loss for the Reds, even though he combined with reliever Tom Hume for a six-hitter.

Sixers top Celtics, lead 3-1 in series

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Julius Erving said he felt the Philadelphia 76ers showed their character as a team in turning back the Boston Celtics' second half onslaught.

The 76ers, led by Erving's 20 points, beat Boston, 107-105, Sunday to take a 3-1 lead in their National Basketball Association best-of-five conference final series.

The Celtics twice trailed by 19 in the first half, and were behind 65-48 at halftime. Their star, Larry Bird, had been held to six points, only one field goal.

As Boston coach Bill Fitch put it, "we lost the game in the first half with miserable, horrible play. We were one pass behind. But this team is still capable of winning the series."

The fifth game is in Boston Wednesday night, with a sixth, if necessary, here Friday.

Erving said the Sixers showed what they can do by rallying after blowing the 19-point advantage.

"We didn't win 62 games (during the regular season) by allowing teams to come back all the way on us,"

Erving said.

Boston actually outscored the 76ers from the field, 46-89, but lost at the foul line, where Philadelphia converted 29 of 39 and the Celtics only 13 of 19. Boston was devastating from the field in the third period, shooting 14 for 21 (67 percent).

In that third period, Chris Ford scored 10, Bird 8 and Cedric Maxwell 7, as the Celtics slashed the huge Philadelphia lead to 82-79. In the final period, Boston actually went ahead by a point, 84-83, with 10:42 left. But Bobby Jones regained the lead for Philadelphia, and although the Celtics tied it three more times, they couldn't get ahead again.

The last tie was at 97. Philadelphia's Maurice Cheeks then scored a pair of baskets for a four-point Philadelphia lead. The closest Boston got after that was two points.

Bird said he felt he could have made the play if Jones hadn't leaped into the air to get the ball.

WATSON WINS ANOTHER — Golfer Tom Watson survived a disastrous triple bogey-7 in Friday's round of the USF&G New Orleans Open Golf Tournament to shoot an eight-under-par 64 on Saturday to tie for the lead. Watson won the tourney Sunday with an 18-under-par 270 total.

Watson hangs onto title

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The minor disaster of a triple bogey-7 early in the tournament served as the turning point in Tom Watson's victory in the USF&G New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

Watson returned to that jarring experience — a shot out of bounds that could have knocked him out of the tournament — after he'd scored a two-shot triumph in a successful defense of his title.

"That was just stupid," he said of the triple bogey in Friday's second round. At that point, he was far out of contention and was, in fact, in some danger of missing the cut for the final two rounds.

"I was really very mad at myself," he recalled Sunday. "I just had a little talk with myself. That's stupid. Really stupid. Get your act together. With a few good shots you can get back in the golf tournament."

And he did.

He salvaged a 69 in that round, followed that with a brilliant, 8-under-par 64 that put him in a tie for the top after 54 holes, then pulled away from Dr. Gil Morgan with a burst of three birdies in a four-hole stretch over the last nine.

He won it with a 270 total, 18 strokes under par on the 7,080-yard Lakewood Country Club course that, Watson said, is "maybe a little too easy. It's probably the easiest course we play on the Tour."

"With the greens as big as they are, and given these playing conditions, we're going to shoot lights out every time," he said.

The victory, worth $63,000 from the total purse of $350,000, came only two weeks after Watson had won the Masters and extended his history of making successful title defenses and scoring multiple triumphs. The outstanding player in the game since 1977, Watson now has scored 21 of his 27 career triumphs in only nine events.

Rangers fall again

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mike Hargrove's single climaxed a three-run ninth inning that catapulted the Cleveland Indians to a 4-3 victory over the Texas Rangers Sunday.

Bo Diaz and Rick Manning drew walks from Jim Kern to start the rally, then losing reliever John Henry Johnson, 0-1, took over. After Miguel Dilone popped up, Alan Bannister bloomed a single to right for one run. Manning took third on the play and scored the tying run on Jorge Orta's sacrifice fly.

Bannister reached second on the throw to the plate and raced home when Hargrove hit a soft liner down the third base line to win it.

Texas took a 1-0 lead off winner Bert Blyleven, 2-1, in the second inning on singles by Jim Sundberg and Billy Sample and Mario Mendoza's RBI grounder. The Rangers loaded the bases in the third on a walk to Mickey Rivers, Al Oliver's single and a walk to Buddy Bell before John Grubb lined a single to right for two runs.

Cleveland scored a run off Jon Matlack in the fifth. Toby Harrah doubled, Manning beat out an infield hit and Tom Verzyer reached on Mendoza's error to load the bases and Bannister's fielder's choice drove in the run.

Midland golfers win local tourney

Steve Whitesides and Randy Geiselman, both of Midland, teamed up for a first place finish in the Big Spring Country Club Partnership Golf Tournament, which wound up here Sunday.

The two had a best ball score of 128.

Four strokes back of the leaders was a tandem composed of Bruce Carroll and Gary Howell, both of Big Spring.

The team of Gene Aube and David Newberry, Dallas, won First Flight honors in a playoff with Bob Hecker and Terry Franks, Big Spring, after each twosome had finished with a score of 141.

Other teams finishing play in the championship flight included:

3 — Doug Huckaby and Glenn Smith, San Angelo,

137; 4 — Don Osborne and Dan Wilkins, Big Spring, 138; tied with Doug Dobbs and Tom Spillman, Lubbock, 138.

Other First Flight scores included:

3 — Richard Smith and Ken Burgess, Midland, 142; 4 — Tommy Rutledge and Johnny Freeman, Big Spring, 144.

Second Flight results:

1 — Sam Walker and Bill Willis, Big Spring, 154, who beat Baxter Moore and Ty Young, Big Spring, in a playoff; 3 — Bill Burt and Charley Burdette, Big Spring, 155; Dick Pfeiffer and Hudson Landers, Big Spring, 156.

In Individual Flight competition, Geiselman and Whiteside tied for first place, each with a 138. Mike Weaver and Glenn Smith deadlocked for third place, each with a score of 142.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, APR. 28, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A fine day for deciding the policies and the tenets under which you would like to operate in the days ahead, so think them out with care. You will have much success as a result.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Don't criticize a close tie at this time or there could be a severance of connections. Don't rely on your intuition today.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You can get excellent results if you are more supportive of associates. Maintain your poise at all times today.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Get an early start on work ahead of you and gain benefits. Be more cooperative with fellow workers.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Figure out a practical way that could give you added security in the days ahead. Follow the advice of a financial expert.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You know exactly how to improve conditions at home, so don't waste any time. Show more devotion to loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Gain the cooperation of close ties for gaining a personal aim. Steer clear of one who has an eye on your assets.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Analyze personal aspects of your life and figure out the best way to improve them. Not a good day for taking risks.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Daytime hours are best for pursuing personal aims. Obtain the information you need from the right sources.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Morning is best spent handling career matters. A new plan needs more study before you put it in operation.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A business matter could cause you to worry early in the day but later it turns out fine. Strive for happiness.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Morning is fine for handling civic matters. In the afternoon influential persons can help you advance in career matters.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will easily comprehend varying schools of philosophies which could lead to a most successful life. Teach not be so overly independent and to become more interested in humanities. There is musical talent here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Big Spring Howard County Centennial

May 21 - 30, 1981

TELLING THE WORLD — Two signs leading into Big Spring on both the east and west entry to the city have been repainted by the Lamar Advertising Company of Midland to help promote the local railroad centennial celebration. The signs, which are owned by the Tourism Development Council, were painted by the Lamar Company without charge as a gift to the residents of the area.

Reagan's economic plan wins new Demo support

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress, which left President Reagan's economic program in limbo two weeks ago, returns from recess to find momentum swinging back to the administration and to hear the recuperating chief executive himself offer cooperation but not compromise.

Reagan goes before a joint session of the House and the Senate at 9 p.m. EDT Tuesday — his first public appearance since the attempt on his life almost a month ago — to make a pitch for his tax and budget-cutting plan.

The president spent the weekend polishing the speech at his Camp David, Md., retreat. White House spokesman Larry Speakes said Reagan intends to tell Congress and a national television audience that "now is the time to act" on his program.

The administration's offensive is two-pronged: to cement Republican support in the Senate and to gain Democratic votes in the House. Both seem to be working.

The House had been expected to be stiffest test, but head counts by both parties last week showed considerable new Democratic support for a slightly modified Reagan program — perhaps more than enough to pass it after the House begins debate Thursday.

In the Senate, Budget Committee Republicans scheduled a vote today on a plan to ally conservative skepticism about Reagan's ability to balance the budget by 1984. That was the issue that derailed the president's program on April 9, when three Republicans joined the panel's Democrats in turning down a budget-cutting package for fiscal 1982 because of projections it still would leave a $60 billion deficit.

The proposed settlement, which over the weekend appeared to have gathered enough support to win approval, would trim the projected deficit to $45 billion, Reagan's original estimate.

In the administration view, that's merely an adjustment, not affecting the program's basic philosophy. Speakes said Reagan's speech will promise to cooperate but not to compromise, especially on his proposed 30 percent tax cut over three years, which many members of Congress are reluctant to accept.

The speech is the keystone of a stepped-up lobbying drive. "The big push will be on," said Dick Legitt, an aide to Rep. Stan Parris, R-Va., the chief GOP vote-hunter in the House.

Republicans and Democrats ready to vote for Reagan's program in the House reportedly planned to wear lapel pins sporting small baseball bats this week — a symbol of their willingness to "play hardball," as Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. called it, to push the plan through Congress. GOP leaders said Reagan

For grain elevators

Improved designs sought

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — A grain dust explosion expert from Texas A&M University told a House committee Wednesday that innovative design features would be more effective than additional inspections in curbing grain elevator disasters.

The testimony by Dr. Calvin Parnell threw an obstacle into the path of legislation sponsored by Rep. Arnold Gonzales of Corpus Christi that would initiate state inspections of public and private grain elevators.

The bill, which would appropriate $405,000 to hire three state inspectors, is a response by Gonzales to a series of grain elevator explosions that have rocked the state since 1977.

The latest catastrophe occurred April 7 at the Corpus Christi Public Elevator, killing eight and injuring 31.

The House Appropriations Committee lacked a quorum Wednesday and could not take action on the bill. Rep. Bill Parnal of Bryan, committee chairman, assigned the legislative budget staff to review the measure until it can be rescheduled for a committee vote.

"We're losing an awful lot of Democrats," confided one top House Democrat who asked not to be identified. "There are an average of 20 grain dust explosions every year in the United States but no body of evidence has been compiled on how to prevent them," said Parnell, an associate professor of agricultural engineering at Texas A&M.

"It is not a simple problem and there is not a single answer," Parnell said. "I really don't think inspections will prevent future dust explosions," he said.

Parnell argued for development of new construction designs that would prevent the build-up of suspended dust particles inside grain elevators. Those heavy concentrations of mid-air particles serve as the combustive fuel in elevator explosions.

Gonzales agreed that design research must be conducted but advocated state inspection of elevators in the meantime to "cut the odds" on further explosions. "I think it's going to be a disaster if we don't get money (for inspections) while we're waiting for A&M to develop a perfect building," Gonzales said.

The majority of the state's 900 public and private grain elevators have never been inspected for defects or safety code violations, he said.

The state's three public elevators, in Brownsville, Corpus Christi and Galveston, have never been inspected because they are exempt from federal review, said Walter Martin, director of occupational safety for the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Many private grain elevators gain similar exemptions through insurance credit ratings, he said.

Martin said the state has been unable to fill the inspection gap because the legislature stopped funding such a program in 1975.

He said his department received a complaint about possible safety violations at the Corpus Christi elevator before the explosion there but did not have the power or personnel to investigate.

It is that lack of state initiative that caused Texas to compile the worst occupational fatality rate in the nation in 1980, Martin said.

The $405,000 sought in the Gonzales bill would enable the TBA's occupational safety division to employ three trained inspectors and one secretary for two years.

However, Rep. Foster Whaley of Pampa said he wants some of that money to go directly to grain dust research.

"We really don't know what we're looking for because there hasn't been enough research on it," Whaley said.

Parnell said the disasters are caused by a series of explosions. An original ignition source, such as lightning, an overheated surface, or a worker's cigarette triggers an initial explosion of dust particles swirling inside a grain elevator.

This first explosion causes little damage but spawns pressure waves and a fire front that ignited secondary explosions that rend the giant grain bins.

Hospital bake sale tests willpower

DENVER (AP) — Porter Memorial Hospital officials say they know it's hard to stay on a diet. So they were all apologies when they discovered they had scheduled a bake sale in the same auditorium where a group of weight watchers was meeting.

Hospital employees held a bake sale Thursday morning to raise funds to help a 19-year-old leukemia patient meet medical expenses. But nurses who planned the event were unaware that the sale clashed with the weekly weight watchers' meeting.

When the 70 participants in the weight-watching group showed up for their class in the hospital auditorium, they were greeted with a difficult test of their willpower — tables of cakes, cookies, pies and other fresh pastries that they had to help each other resist.

Inventories are being cut by cattle feeders

AUSTIN — Texas cattle feeders are fattening far fewer cattle for slaughter these days, as they trim inventories and try to weather the current economic storm, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown reports.

As of April 1, some 1,520,000 head of cattle and calves were being reared for slaughter in Texas feedlots. This was a decline of 12 percent from a year ago, and resulted in a 25-percent drop in placements into feedlots during March. Placements for the year to date are down 15 percent.

In the nation's 23 leading cattle feeding states (Texas is No. 1), cattle and calves in feed for slaughter as of April 1 were down 4 percent from a year ago, and 12 percent lower than two years ago, Brown said.

"The cattle industry is in a period of adjustment and uncertainty at the present time," said Brown. "The perennial question of how much beef do consumers want, and at what price, has been complicated by inflation, the diet-health controversy and a number of other factors."

Brown also noted that the cattle industry is experimenting with a number of innovative ways to increase its competitive advantage. A few are electronic marketing, greater use of futures contracts, a revamping of the beef reporting system, marketing of portion-wrapped cuts directly from the packer to the retailer, and a greater reliance within the cattle industry itself to fund research, development and education on beef through industry associations.
