Budget victory savored

Reagan may bend on tax cut plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, savoring a "resounding victory" in his first big budget battle in the House, now is hinting at compromise on the massive tax cuts he has pledged to deliver to the American people.

The $688.8 billion budget blueprint for fiscal 1982, matching Reagan's call for deep spending and tax cuts, was endorsed overwhelmingly by the House on Thursday, with scores of Democrats defecting to join a unanimous Republican minority.

On two votes, the margins were 253-176 and 270-154 for the Reagan-backed plan crafted by Reps. Phil Gramm, D-Texas, and Delbert L. Latta, R-Ohio.

Those far outstripped the 51-seat majority that Democratic leaders had hoped would be their check on what GOP leader Robert Michel of Illinois trumpeted as a change of course for American government. And they left some of the president's opponents and supporters doubting that his less popular proposal for a three-year, 30 percent tax cut could be stopped.

Reagan, however, seemed to be relaxing his vow not to compromise on taxes.

"I happen to believe that what we have proposed is an integral part of the program and strive for all of that," he said when asked about a tax compromise, hours after the House vote as he prepared to welcome Japanese Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki to a formal White House dinner.

"But I don't know what other proposals might be made, just as Gramm-Latta came forth with a proposal with regard to the budget that, uh, even suggested more cuts," Reagan added.

House Budget Committee Chairman James R. Jones, D-Okla., whose budget proposal was scuttled in favor of the Reagan-backed plan, said after the vote that if president gives his tax-cutting recommendation "the same attention" as the budget plan, "I believe it will carry."

Reagan hailed his victory — just the first step on the congressional budget path — as a "historic moment of commitment to a government that can both serve the people and live within its means."

The next step is in the Senate, which is considering a $699.1 billion budget resolution that differs little from the measure endorsed by the House. The Senate's Republican majority was almost certain to deliver on its proposal — also embraced by Reagan — perhaps by Monday.

In initial action, Thursday, the Senate soundly rejected moves to strip $100 million earmarked for legal aid for the poor and to add $100 million for the Veterans Administration.

The tide in the House had been shifting Reagan's way for the past two weeks, but the margins were stunning.

SHOOTING AFTERMATH — Four people were killed and 18 injured when a gunman walked into The Oregon Museum bar in Northeast Salem, Ore. Thursday night. Salem police have a suspect in custody. The shots were fired from a nine MM Luger semi-automatic. (AP LASERPHOTO)

Four killed as gunman sprays bullets into tavern in Oregon

SALEM, Ore. (AP) — A man who "didn't say nothing" walked into a crowded rock'n'roll bar and opened fire with an automatic pistol, killing four people and wounding at least 20 others before he was wrestled to the ground by customers — one wielding a pool cue.

Four of those shot Thursday night at The Oregon Museum bar, located a few blocks from the state Capitol on the city's northeast side, were in critical condition, authorities said.

Police arrested Lawrence W. Moore, 25, of Lyons, Ore., on charges of first-degree murder, Sgt. Gary Kinsman said. Moore was scheduled for arraignment today.

No motive for the shooting was established, police said.

"He didn't say nothing. He just opened the door and started firing," said Brent Yagle, a patron at the popular night spot frequented mostly by young people in their 20s. About 100 patrons were inside the one-story, wood-paneled nightclub at the time.

"I didn't think the shots were real until I saw people dropping," Yagle said.

As about 30 people danced to the music of Jenny and The Jtans, the man fired his first shot toward the bar, patrons said. They said he then turned his weapon — described by police as a 9 mm Luger automatic — toward the crowd, sending patrons diving under tables and running toward restrooms.

Others grabbed bar towels to help the wounded, witnesses said.

Kinsman said the gunman "fired multiple rounds" and apparently reloaded at least twice. Police said they recovered at least two empty ammunition clips which could be loaded with eight rounds each.

"During one of the lulls in shooting, the gunman was jumped by one patron, immediately joined by several other patrons, who were able to subdue him," Kinsman said.

At least four people tackled the gunman, who did not resist, witnesses told police. They said one patron hit the gunman in the head with a pool cue, and another one grabbed his gun.

"The first thing I did was grab for the gun," said Ashley Mitchell, one of the customers who subdued the gunman. "I struck him four times on the head."

The gunman was held by customers until police arrived.

"I'm sure the time period was at least 30 seconds, probably closer to a minute," said Lt. William Kinch who indicated that the police received the first call about the shooting at 10:24 p.m. PDT.

Bush says Castro is West's worst human rights offender

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President George Bush, in the administration's harshest attack on Cuba, said today the Castro regime was "the worst offender of human rights in this hemisphere."

He said that "whatever the faults" of governments in Central and South America in the area of human rights, "the Castro communist alternative would condemn the people of those regions to the most repressive form of government."

The vice president made his remarks in a speech prepared for delivery at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh.

"The Castro regime is a perfect minuscule model of its sponsor and master, the Soviet government," the vice president said. "And the revolution they seek to export is not a revolution of freedom and human dignity, it is a revolution of tyranny and the brutal repression of human rights — including the precious right to worship one's God, the very foundation of Western civilization and culture."

"When was the last time Cuba had a free election?" the vice president asked. "And if the people of Cuba are, as Fidel Castro claims, happy in the communist paradise he has created, why is he afraid to risk such a free election, an election he promised when he took power 22 years ago?"

"To condemn the repressive policies of any nation in Central America, without recognizing that the worst offender of human rights in this hemisphere is Russia's satellite in Havana isn't simply hypocrisy, it is short-sighted foreign policy that ill serves the cause of peace and freedom," Bush said.

Jeep-dump truck accident proves fatal to Odessan

WESTBROOK (SC) — A Jeep-dump truck accident which occurred about 5 p.m. Thursday near the east city limits of Westbrook proved fatal to Donny Dove, 25, of Odessa, a rider in the open-top Jeep.

Ricky Lundin of Walden, Colo., driver of the Jeep, reportedly was trying to pass the dump truck when the two vehicles sideswiped each other.

The Jeep turned over on IS 20. Lundin apparently escaped serious injury. Dove died while en route to a hospital in Lubbock. His condition worsened and the ambulance driver tried to check in at the Cogdell Hospital in Snyder but Dove was dead on arrival there.

Jesse Rhea of Paragould, Ark., was driver of the dump truck. He escaped injury. His truck was undamaged. The other passenger in the Dove machine was James Christian, 24, of Odessa, who suffered serious injuries.

Stenholm surprised by final margin of budget's victory

WASHINGTON (AP) — The voting began at 4:39 p.m., and the big cheer went up six minutes later when the 216th "aye" vote went up on the electronic scoreboard in the U.S. House of Representatives chamber.

President Reagan — with the help of a coalition of conservative Democrats — had won his first major legislative battle.

But Thursday's 253-176 victory on the president's blueprint for economic recovery was also a major triumph for the Conservative Democratic Forum, a band of 47 Democrats, mostly from the South, established only months ago.

"It surprised me, the final margin," said Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Texas, the president of the group that delivered 38 votes to the solid bloc of 190 Republicans — a swing more than enough to overcome the Democrats' 51-vote edge in the House.

The swing of 38 votes by the conservative Democrats was about what Stenholm and many of his associates were predicting, but they were pleased to see 25 other Democrats go with them.

"I think it was a significant vote in that we did change the fiscal direction of the government," added Stenholm, a cotton farmer who came to Congress in 1979.

"But this was the easiest vote we'll have," he said, referring to the battles ahead in earmarking appropriated funds to the programs recommended by the president. "It was just the beginning, but it was a good beginning."

Jobless rate still 7.3 percent

Energy costs, food prices slowing to ease inflation rate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflation at the wholesale level moderated to a 9.9 percent annual rate in April as surging energy costs slowed significantly and food prices held steady, the government said today.

The jobless rate remained at 7.3 percent of the workforce for the third month in a row, the Labor Department said in a separate report.

April's seasonally adjusted rise of 0.8 percent in wholesale prices was down markedly from a 1.3 percent jump the month before. The March rise, which translates into a 16.2 percent annual inflation rate, was buoyed by steep increases in energy costs that produced the largest jump in the monthly index since last summer.

The April increase is in line with wholesale price rises recorded during January and February.

Energy costs last month rose 1.6 percent at wholesale. In March, energy prices had jumped 6.1 percent, reflecting in part President Reagan's Jan. 28 oil-decontrol order.

Food prices at wholesale showed no change from March, when food prices rose 0.8 percent.

The wholesale price report — which the government calls the Producer Price Index for finished goods — usually provides a good indication of future price trends at the consumer, or retail, level.

Finished goods are products ready for sale at retail.

During the 12 months ending in April, wholesale prices climbed 10.6 percent.

Consumer prices rose 12.4 percent during 1980, but slowed to a 9.6 percent annual rate during the first three months of this year.

Despite renewed surges in interest rates, some economists see encouraging signs of a continued slowing of inflation in 1981.

The economists say energy price inflation has been slowed by the current worldwide glut of oil while spiraling housing prices have been cooled off by high mortgage interest rates.

The government, while also measures price changes at earlier stages of production, said that prices at the intermediate stage rose 1.1 percent in April, the same rise as in March.

Prices for crude materials jumped 1.5 percent in April, after declining 1.3 percent in March. This sharp rise was attributed to the first increase in food prices since last November.

With the April increase, the Producer Price Index for finished goods stood at 267.7, which means that a basket of goods that cost $100 in 1967 now costs $267.70.

Chuck Wagon Party Gerri Atwell, Taylor gain special awards

Special awards went to curator Gerri Atwell and Big Spring Centennial Chairman John Taylor at Thursday night's eighth annual Chuck Wagon Party held by members of the Heritage Museum Association in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum. Atwell was presented with an assortment of flowers for her unswerving loyalty to the museum. Gerri is now in her tenth year as the museum's curator and the facility has grown tremendously since that time. Taylor, who couldn't be busier these days if he were twins, was awarded a plaque. It was Taylor who sold the Texas A & M Press on the idea of printing the Caylor Book of Art, which went on sale for the first time immediately following the banquet Thursday night. Together, Taylor and Museum President Jack Cook presented persons who loaned their Taylor paintings to the museum for inclusion in the book with copies of the book. Those who purchased the book Thursday night realized a significant savings. The book, lavishly illustrated with Caylor's best works, will ordinarily sell for something in excess of $30, tax included. The Tom Castle Band played during the barbecue, which was served up by the famed Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang. All 700 tickets for the barbecue were sold. Slides of each of the paintings in the book were shown immediately following the meal.

Forecast too optimistic?

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — Americans will get some relief from inflation this year and next but not as much as the Reagan administration is predicting, executives of some of the nation's largest corporations were told today.

At the same time, the executives, attending the spring meeting of the prestigious Business Council, were told that the unemployment rate will rise to 7.6 percent in the middle of this year and then fall to 6.9 percent by the end of 1982.

The jobless rate stood at 7.3 percent of the workforce in March.

The economic forecast, prepared for the Business Council by economists from 20 major corporations, predicted that interest rates will stay between 14 percent and 16 percent through next year.

"Interest rates are going to stay high," said Charles L. Brown, chairman of the board of American Telephone & Telegraph Co. "The good news is that there is a fairly good consensus the inflation rate will come down."

The Federal Reserve Board on Monday raised its basic discount rate to a record 14 percent. The Fed acted only a few hours after the nation's largest banks raised their prime lending rate on corporate loans to 19 percent. Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan warned Wednesday that the prime could climb to 20 percent.

The council analysis predicted that inflation will level off to 10.8 percent by the end of the year and dip to 9 percent by the end of 1982. The Reagan administration forecasts inflation at 10.5 percent by the end of 1981 and 7.2 percent in 1982. The consumer price index increased 12.4 percent last year but slowed to a 7.5 percent annual rate in March, the lowest rate since last summer.

Both the council and the administration's forecasts assume that President Reagan's economic program will get through Congress. The business groups' predictions, however, are based on a slightly smaller tax cut package — $40 billion — than the $54 billion the administration is now calculating for fiscal year 1982.

Overall, the business group is predicting the economy will pick up in the second half of this year, after some sluggishness in the current quarter, and grow at a moderate pace next year.

Based on the analysis, "1982 looks like an excellent year," said Theodore F. Brophy, chairman of General Telephone & Electronics Corp.

Missiles to stay

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Syria said today its surface-to-air missile batteries will stay in Lebanon as long as Syrian forces remain in this war-torn nation. Israel has demanded Syria remove the missiles and has threatened military action if it doesn't.

"Air defenses, including missiles, are part of Syria's armed forces. They exist now and so they will in the future, anywhere Syrian troops are, to be ready for use whenever the need arises," the Syrian Defense Ministry said.

Local residents treated to electrical displays

For the most part, rain missed Big Spring and environs Thursday but local residents were treated to one of the most spectacular electrical displays ever between 10 and 11:30 p.m., Thursday.

The storm clouds, which had hovered over Midland earlier in the day, skirted Big Spring to the north and then regrouped in the northeast section of Howard County.

Both Mitchell and Scurry counties were placed under tornado watches, but both apparently escaped trouble, despite reports to the contrary. The Snyder city manager said he had heard no reports of the destruction of either a home or a business.

A tornado was reported sighted near Midland but no damage resulted. However, parts of Midland received large-sized hail.

Rains reportedly fell in northwest Scurry County but the Colorado River venting into Lake J.B. Thomas was barely running.

Mother Nature saved her grandest show for northeastern Howard County. The lightning for the better part of 30 minutes was almost constant. It couldn't have been more impressive had it be orchestrated.

BUDGET WINNERS — President Ronald Reagan meets in the Oval Office of the White House Thursday with the Congressmen who sponsored a budget proposal that he

'I didn't come here to be loved' Budget fame costing Gramm

By PETER VAN-DEVANTER (States News Service)
WASHINGTON — Rep. Phil Gramm, thrust into a media spotlight for his legislative role during the budget debate, has paid a price for his new visibility — but has no regrets. "I didn't come here to be loved," said Gramm. "The Democratic leadership has a right to be upset because I've helped hand them the biggest upset of the decade." The second-term congressman from College Station has been an oft-quoted personality on Capitol Hill since Reagan in a televised speech to Congress endorsed his budget blueprint.

The House Thursday passed that bill 253-176. Despite Democratic Majority Leader Tip O'Neill's impassioned speech to keep Democrats in line, 63 crossed over in the vote.

In recent weeks House Majority Leader Jim Wright, D-Fort Worth, fought hard against Gramm's budget proposal. At one point Wright described his feeling toward Gramm and other conservative Democrats backing the Reagan budget as "sorrow."

Gramm needed Wright's endorsement to win a spot on the Budget Committee. Gramm denies any foul play. "I promised Wright when I took the post on the Budget Committee that I would vote for final passage of whatever was the majority's choice," Wright said. "I would always do that because any budget is better than no budget."

However, Gramm bristled at the innuendo that he had reneged on promises to Wright, citing the fact that he was actually elected to the committee by a House vote.

However, some members of the Conservative Democratic Forum have become upset with Gramm because he has "opened his mouth too much," said a congressional aide who asked not to be identified.

Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, acknowledged that some of the Budget Committee members are upset with Gramm, but he is not.

Gramm, visibly place and thinner than usual, said he had been working around the clock the last two weeks. A hiking trip with his children on the Appalachian Trail had been planned for this weekend because they have been together so little lately.

"The media has no implications for me personally," said Gramm. "I'm not innately charismatic. I'd be a fool to think so. It's not my looks or personality, so after the budget I'm sure it will go away."

Police Beat Local thugs take it easy

Criminal activity was very light in the city, Thursday. The only offense reported was the vandalism of a car belonging to Bob Ligon, Silver Heels, while the auto was parked at 1507 E. 6th. The vandals broke out both left-side windows of the vehicle between 7:30 and 11:30 p.m. Cost of the damage has not been estimated.

Antonio, was treated at Malone-Hogan Hospital and released, following a two-vehicle accident at Third and Gregg, 7:17 p.m. Thursday. Vehicles driven by Jones and Seledonio Vanquez, Lamesa, collided. No one else was injured.

Three other mishaps were reported Thursday. A parked vehicle belonging to Lina F. Horton, 422 Hillside, was struck by a vehicle driven by Jose Yzaguirre, 1503 Robin, in front of the Horton home, 5:58 p.m.

A parked vehicle belonging to Anne Strickland, 1605 Harding, was struck by a vehicle driven by Dulah Snow, 711 Abrams, at 703 Magnolia, 6:19 p.m.

A parked vehicle belonging to Marcela Mendoza, 101 Carey, was struck by a vehicle that left the scene in the lot of the Rip Griffin Truck Stop, 12:20 p.m.

Old time 'gunfighters' have lost their touch

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two old men had a gunfight to settle an old grudge in the hallway of an apartment house, but all 12 bullets went astray, police said.

With each brandishing an antique pistol, the men, one 77 and the other 76, were standing just five feet apart during the duel, the officers said.

Police theorized that they missed because one needed a cane to prop himself up while firing and the other had trouble seeing because of glaucoma.

The two, who lived across the hall from each other in the east side building, began quarreling in the hallway at about 11 a.m. Tuesday. They went back into their apartments and came out with the guns, police said.

Each fired six shots as a woman walked by. "I knew I was dead," said the unidentified eyewitness who was not injured. I was standing right next to them. I started running down hall to get away."

Residents called police, who took the pair to headquarters. "There were bullet holes above, bullet holes down and bullet holes all over the hallway," said Detective Tony Zalar.

The men were released after both signing papers saying they did not wish to press charges against the other.

The 76-year-old man said they were fighting over a grudge "that goes back."

Police kept the guns.

One killed, several hurt at Byron Nelson Classic

DALLAS (AP) — One man was killed and several other persons were injured this morning when a tree limb fell into a gallery at the Byron Nelson Golf Classic at Preston Trail Country Club, authorities said.

The injured were taken to Presbyterian Hospital, where a spokesman confirmed the death of one man and the injury of three other persons.

Club officials identified the dead man as Otis John Clark, a businessman from Grandview, Mo. Clark and two companions were among 20 persons felled when a huge limb from a live oak tree separated from the tree about 9:10 a.m.

One of the companions, Don Jamieson of Marion, Kan., suffered possible fractured ribs. A second, unidentified companion was believed to have suffered a broken nose. A third spectator, Mona Hunter of Los Angeles, was believed to have broken a leg.

"There was a loud crack and all of a sudden it fell," Jamieson said of the tree limb, which measured about five feet in circumference at the point at which it separated from the tree trunk. "I was lucky. I only received a glancing blow. My friend wasn't so lucky."

The incident occurred as more than a score of spectators gathered beneath the oak tree behind the third green to watch the threesome of Gene Littler, Charles Coody and Pete Brown approach the hole, a par-five that is the farthest of the 18 holes from the clubhouse.

Golf course officials said the country club was buffeted by high winds and thunderstorms between 4:30 a.m. and 5 a.m. this morning, just a few hours before the start of the second round, and said the storms may have weakened the branch on the tree, estimated to be more than 100 years old.

The Los Angeles company has constantly applied the state of the art technology they've developed to many different areas of entertainment. Concerts, symphonies, amusement parks, television, motion pictures, and trade shows are but a few of the entertainment frontiers that they have helped pioneer to the use of laser.

At Laser Media, Dr. Seiji Inatsugu, internationally educated, with a PhD in Physics, heads the research and development program. Talking about laser lights, Inatsugu said that "laser light is the most powerful light that man has ever harnessed. It can be made to cut through diamonds and metal.

Unlike other kinds of light, which is made up of electromagnetic waves oscillating in the mish-mosh of frequencies," he explained, "a laser is a coherent light that operates at a single frequency. It can be focused and aimed precisely."

"The laser we use is a straight quartz tube, a few feet long, filled with either Krypton or Argon gases and sealed with electrodes. At each end of the laser, a quartz window and a mirror are mounted," Inatsugu said.

Although simplification of such a complex phenomenon is difficult, Inatsugu continued saying that "by applying a certain voltage between these electrodes, the gas in the tube glows brightly. Reflected back and forth by mirrors, a certain frequency of light gets amplified in the tube and becomes extremely powerful and is emitted as a single, pure intense beam of coherent light."

Two different type lasers are used in Laser Media's performances: Argon for bright green and blue, and Krypton for red, green, blue and yellow. Argon lasers are used most often in outdoor performances since they are

Lester Roloff excluded from child care proposal

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Sen. Chet Brooks said his child-care facility bill did not mention Lester Roloff, had nothing to do with Lester Roloff and never would have anything to do with Lester Roloff.

Nevertheless, Brooks on Thursday had to dump a portion of his bill that critics feared one day could make Roloff's youth homes exempt from state licensing.

The Democrat from Pasadena said he dropped it in order to get another part of the bill approved by the Senate. By a 27-0 vote, senators approved Brooks' bill that would take Texas Youth Council facilities out from under Department of Human Resources regulations.

Brooks said DHR regulation over TYC is needless and costly duplication.

His original bill, approved by a Senate committee on May 1, would have allowed homes that housed only court-referred children to operate without a state license. Although Roloff's homes would not qualify for this exemption, officials of

Weather Heavy rains flood parts of North Texas

By the Associated Press

Thunderstorms, including some severe storms, moved eastward across North Texas early today bringing strong winds, heavy rain and hail to some areas.

Some power lines were blown down and some houses had their roofs blown away early today as the storm moved through the Snyder area. Some low lying areas around Snyder were flooded and some roads were under water before dawn. Fluvanna, about 20 miles northwest of Snyder, received three inches of rainfall, according to the National Weather Service.

The thunderstorm activity was expected to die out in North Texas by noon, but forecasters warned that new thunderstorm activity would resume in western portions of North Texas and begin moving eastward across the area late today and tonight. Some of the new activity could become severe, forecasters warned.

Forecasters called for partly cloudy skies statewide today. Highs were to be mostly in the 80s and 90s except in the Panhandle where highs were to be in the 70s.

Except for North Texas, partly cloudy skies were reported early today across the eastern half of the state while the western half had clear skies. Some fog was reported in South Texas.

TI makes new offers to Continental

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Continental Airlines, locked in a bitter battle to stop a takeover bid by Texas International Airlines, has two weeks to decide whether to accept two new bids from the smaller carrier.

The Houston airline's president, Frank Lorenzo, made the new offers late Wednesday, only hours after Texas International lost in its effort to block a stock ownership plan by Continental employees.

One of Texas International's new offers proposed to purchase all outstanding stock at $13 a share, while the other called for a tax-free reorganization in which all Continental shares would be converted into securities of a new company. The second proposal was estimated at being worth about $14 a share.

The TI offers called for a response "in no event later than May 21," but TI spokesman John Carlson, reached by telephone in Houston, said, "If we get a response after May 21, we will look at it, but we will feel under no obligation."

The initial TI takeover attempt was resisted by Continental's directors, who already had agreed to merge with Los Angeles-based Western Airlines. However, it seemed TI was going to win the battle until employee groups, led by pilots, came up with the stock plan.

Under that plan, 15.4 million new shares of common stock would be issued and purchased by the Employee Stock Ownership Plan, with employees forgoing half their raises for the next five-to-seven years to pay for it.

That would give the employees control of the company, since only 15.3 million shares, currently exist, with TI having taken control of 48 percent of those since the beginning of the year.

Continental officials were studying TI's new offers, but company spokesman Julian Levine said, "We still see great opportunities in the Employee Stock Ownership Plan. Texas International's original offer compared poorly with the ESOP, but we are not certain how the new offers will compare."

By law, Continental's directors must approve the offer that is best for shareholders.

For the first time, the new offers by TI contained assurances that the Houston carrier would agree to labor-protection language that is standard in airline mergers to protect workers.

"Hopefully, this will allay fears of some Continental employees that we would come in and not honor their contracts," Carlson said.

Continental employee groups have opposed the TI takeover, fearing the smaller carrier would sell off a considerable number of Continental's planes and attempt to break the unions.

At Wednesday's shareholder meeting in Denver, Continental President A.L. Feldman said Continental, which has been laboring under $52 million in red ink since 1980, will "fight for ages" if necessary to prevent a takeover by TI.

Meanwhile, TI has a lawsuit pending in Los Angeles, contending that the new stock issue for ESOP would violate federal securities laws and threaten the $93 million investment TI already has made in Continental.

Long distance phone rates increase due

WASHINGTON (AP) — Long-distance phone calls within the United States will likely cost more next week as overseas calls become cheaper and the telephone bills of government and the nation's largest businesses skyrocket.

It's all part of a series of rate actions granted American Telephone & Telegraph Co. that, more by chance than planning, came together Thursday before the Federal Communications Commission.

Under a Supreme Court ruling which also took effect Thursday and rate increases effective May 14, the government and other large users of leased private telephone lines will see their bills soar by 35 percent to 63 percent.

Rates for business users of Wide Area Telephone Service (WATS) lines will jump 16 percent the same day. The WATS and private line increases already have final approval for implementation May 14.

Unless the FCC changes its mind today, the cost of residential and regular business long-distance calls within the United States will increase 16 percent the same day, while rates for overseas calls drop 35 percent.

The FCC already has approved the 16 percent increase in interstate long-distance rates with the condition that the company's profit margin on all regular long-distance calls not exceed 12.75 percent.

AT&T's proposal to meet both criteria by cutting the cost of overseas calls 35 percent has won tentative approval from the commission's staff. Officials wanted to go over the figures one more time, and the final OK was expected late today.

The company said Thursday that it settled on a domestic increase and an international decrease because the volume of overseas calls is climbing much more rapidly than interstate calls.

None of the rate changes will affect a customer's bill if he makes no interstate or international phone calls.

Two Texans are charged with importing 6 aliens

BOSTON (AP) — Two Texans have been released on $1,000 bail for a May 21 hearing on charges they illegally brought six Mexicans into the country to work for their Houston-based roofing company.

The two men were arrested earlier this week after police in Woburn discovered six Mexicans living in an old warehouse.

William Overstreet, 31, and Alvaro Nunez, 42, could receive $2,000 in fines and two years in jail if convicted. The Mexicans, also released on $1,000 bail after a hearing in U.S. District Court, could receive six months in jail and $500 fines for entering the country illegally.

Authorities claim the six Mexicans were hired in Texas and shipped across the country to work on several roofing projects.

When you plant a rose bush select a place where there is sun at least half of the day, not under trees nor next to hedges. Preventing diseases (black spot and powdery mildew) gives more success with roses than anything else. Black spots can be controlled by spraying every 7 days. Powdery mildew is a white, mold like covering of the young leaves, buds or tender stems. Best control is by adding special fungicide to those for black spot control before mildew occurs. Principal insects are aphids (plant lice). Use Diazinon, Malathion, Sevin or Isotox when needed. These same insecticides also will control beetles, caterpillars and other leaf chewing insects. For red spider mite (tiny insects yellowing and finally webbing the leaves), spray with Kelthane. Feed rose bushes regularly. Keep fertilizers off leave and canes. Have a garden filled with color — plant roses.

Safety advocates take a body blow

Those leadfoots which want no truck with the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit feel they have a friend in Ronald Reagan. A recent decision made by Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis would indicate that the president thinks that speed limit is unrealistic and the country would be better off without it.

LEWIS ACTED TO cut off $24 million the National Highway Transportation Safety Administration, had been using to help states enforce the 55 MPH law, starting with Fiscal Year 1982.

Most of that money was used to pay state police overtime, which means states will have a tougher time holding down speeders.

Driver behavior varies widely nationally, and depends, of course, on what part of the country you're driving in.

A MOTORIST on the endless stretches of West Texas roads, in short, shouldn't be held to the same standard as one winding through mountains on the heavily traveled Pennsylvania Turnpike.

The 55 m.p.h. law, enacted by Congress in January 1974 as a "temporary" oil crisis measure, required all states to establish the speed limit and directed the transportation secretary to cut off federal road funds to states that didn't comply.

The law was made permanent in 1975. It was revised in 1978 so that, in fiscal 1979, any state whose proportion of 55 m.p.h.-plus vehicles exceeded 70 percent would lose 5 percent of federal road funds.

IN 1980, NO MORE than 60 percent of vehicles were permitted to exceed 55 m.p.h. And in the current year, only 50 percent.

The real crunch comes Oct. 1. The proportion of vehicles permitted to exceed 55 m.p.h. drops to 40 percent and the penalty doubles to 10 percent of federal road funds.

As a Texas state highway commissioner last year, FHWA administrator Ray Barnhart saw Texas come close to losing federal road funds. Only an optional speedometer variability gimmick got Texas off the hook.

The merits, or lack thereof, of the limit can be argued until doomsday. At least both Lewis and Barnhart appear ready to get the feds' nose out of auto speed enforcement, where it doesn't belong, and turn responsibility back to the states, where it does.

Music to ears

Around the rim

James Werrell

I warn you, this Rim is sick, sick, sick!

I saw a friend recently for the first time in about three days, during which he'd been bedridden with something like a combination of the croup, the ague and the gripe. It was a mysterious condition that makes you feel like Sherman's army started on your head and marched south. His nose dripped, his throat scratched, his ears rang, and he said I should have seen him when he really felt bad.

IRONICALLY, IT WAS a real effort to work up any real compassion for his plight. After all, he was on his way home to crawl back into bed, and I was headed back to work.

"This is ridiculous," I thought to myself, "My friend is near death's door, and I'm jealous." After a quick self-examination for any symptoms that might warrant an afternoon under covers, I suddenly realized that I had come down with a severe case of nostalgia for childhood illnesses.

You remember childhood illnesses? There were the biggies; measles, mumps, chicken pox, flu. And then there were the garden-variety maladies; stomach-ache, sore throat, ear-ache, pink eye.

The latter, of course, were far and away the more desirable. They were usually serious enough to keep you home from school, but not serious enough for a shot from the doctor.

Remedies included, for me anyway, chicken noodle soup, plenty of stuff to read, ginger ale, extra pillows, heating pads, and all-day television.

But tender, loving care had its price. There were aspirins. Ther-ometers (less of a problem when you became old enough to hold one under your tongue), the inevitable night spent in a cloud of Vick's Vaporub, and the constant threat that you wouldn't be cured by Saturday, to contend with.

By the way, thinking of Vick's Vaporub makes me wonder, am I the only child who believed that the stuff was actually absorbed into my chest?

ANOTHER QUANDARY: When I had a sore throat as a child, my mother would make me choke down a potion of whiskey, honey, lemon juice and hot tea. I hated it then, but now that I've developed a taste for it, Mom says, "Take it easy, that stuff will make you sick."

Mother, where is thy credibility? Talking with friends makes me think that there must be a certain universality about childhood disorders. Every stomach-ache, for example, warranted the proverbial pan beside the bed which either filled up too fast or was missed altogether.

If you really wanted to stay home for the day, the proclamation that "I think he has a slight fever" was music to your ears.

Shots that hurt more than they were supposed to were ultimately more gratifying, allowing the victim an I-told-you-so. Shots that weren't as bad as expected were just humiliating.

Every child has, at one time or another, been afflicted with something he has been warned not to pick at.

And finally, the quickest cure for any childhood disease is the sound of friends returning from school.

Security boost

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — A few weeks ago, five activists opposed to the administration's policy in El Salvador managed to make their way onto the seventh floor of the State Department, where the top brass have their offices.

While two of the intruders diverted the guard on duty, the other three entered Secretary of State Alexander Haig's suite, shouted slogans and dumped blood and ashes on the plush furnishings.

HAIR WAS IN his suite at the time, but security officers subdued the protesters without much trouble. The incident, however, has quickened the department's moves to tighten security at home and abroad in the wake of the attacks on U.S. embassies in recent years and the assassination attempt on President Reagan in March.

Haig's high profile and headline policies make him a prime target for terrorists, security officials fear. They note that he narrowly escaped an assassination attempt in Belgium on June 25, 1979, four days before he left his post as NATO commander.

Special measures are being taken to make Haig's home in nearby Bethesda, Md., safe from unexpected visitors. Officials did not want to set a dollar figure on the cost of these security arrangements for fear of tipping off potential intruders to the exact nature of the safety devices. But sources told my associate Lucette Lagnado that only about $12,600 worth of equipment will be permanently attached to the house; the rest can be removed and used again when Haig leaves office.

Possibly to reassure Haig's neighbors in the posh suburb, officials did disclose that attack dogs are not part of the security system. Instead, sophisticated "motion detector" devices will spot anyone approaching the large house and its tree-shaded yard.

Haig's limousine is also being fitted out with security equipment, including a special tracking device that will enable authorities to locate the vehicle in case it is stolen.

Internal security measures are also being tightened up at Foggy Bottom — particularly concerning access to the seventh floor. "It's a tricky business," one State Department official explained. "There are all sorts of visitors — busloads of tourists, schoolkids. It makes it very difficult."

OVERSEAS, PLANS ARE proceeding both to make our embassies more secure and to prevent sensitive documents from falling into the wrong hands in case an embassy is overrun. The Iranian militants were able to seize our Tehran embassy before security officers could destroy some highly sensitive papers.

Eventually, the State Department hopes to solve this perennial problem by simply eliminating the presence of sensitive documents in our embassies. The plan would involve an electrical storage and retrieval system in Washington. Overseas personnel would plug into the computer to store sensitive information and call it up later as needed. All transmissions would be in code, just as messages sent by cable are now.

Officials estimate that the data bank will take about five years to install in 250 U.S. missions worldwide. Meanwhile, top priority is being given to embassies in countries on the State Department's secret list of "severe" security problems. These countries reportedly include El Salvador, Lebanon, Pakistan and Afghanistan.

Meanwhile, on a personal level, foreign service employees are being given instruction on the best way to behave — and survive — in the event of a terrorist attack on their overseas post.

A KNOTTY PROBLEM: John Crowell, President Reagan's choice as the assistant secretary of agriculture, who will oversee the Forest Service, has already aroused opposition from environmentalists because of his background as general counsel for Louisiana Pacific, the nation's biggest buyer of publicly owned timber. Sen. Edward Kennedy, D-Mass., has put a "hold" on Crowell's confirmation and is expected to challenge the nomination on the Senate floor.

But more than Crowell's industry background is likely to be debated. A subsidiary of Louisiana Pacific — the Ketchikan Pulp Co. — just lost a civil anti-trust suit that has sparked a criminal investigation into charges of price fixing and restraint of trade in southeast Alaska. A federal judge in Seattle found that Ketchikan and a Japanese-owned company, Alaska Lumber and Pulp, conspired to rig bids, falsify prices and endeavor to force smaller loggers out of business.

Interestingly, a fire broke out in a Ketchikan mill where thousands of pages of company documents were stored — shortly before Ketchikan attorneys were to turn the documents over to the plaintiffs. The local fire department's quick response preserved the evidence.

Big Spring Herald

Dear Editor:

A few nights ago, someone shot and killed our beautiful, black cat, Trouble. Trouble was an old friend of eight years that we had come to love dearly. And I guess, even take for granted. What bothers me the most about her death is that she was killed deliberately. We live in the small community of Garden City and there was no chance of Trouble being mistaken for a stray cat who might be carrying rabies. Whoever killed her did so for the pleasure of killing.

Incidents like this in which human lives are lost are the basis for the programs concerning gun control. Most people in our community are against gun control contending that it violates our "right to bear self-control. Until we teach ourselves and our children to respect life — all life, animal and human — then more of these violent incidences will occur.

Life is a God-given gift that we have no right to destroy — unless that life threatens our own life or our livelihood. We cannot give back a life that is taken. We can only grieve and remember the good times. That's what we're going to do — remember the good times with Trouble. She deserves at least that much for her love and service to us. Somehow I've got to tell our three little girls that Trouble will not be coming home anymore, that she is not lost, and that no amount of searching will find her. God help the person who dismisses her death as "just an animal" because the next step is "just a human."

Task force

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — The continued presence of a Soviet naval task force, including a missile-firing, Kara-class cruiser, in the Cuban navy base of Cienfuegos has raised this question at high administration levels: Is the Soviet purpose to challenge President Reagan or to prop up the falling political fortunes of Fidel Castro?

The last Soviet naval presence in the Caribbean was early 1980, but it bypassed Cuba and sailed away after Carter administration protests. Some Reagan officials believe the quick departure was to help Jimmy Carter's presidential campaign. Thus, the nearly three week presence of the new task force at Cienfuegos could be a calculated response to Reagan's anti-Soviet hard line, serving notice that what was given Carter is withheld from Reagan.

THE CONTRARY VIEW here is that President Brezhnev sent his ships to Cuba merely as a symbol of Soviet support for Castro, who is alarmed about Reagan's hard line in the Caribbean. That conclusion is based on earlier indications that Brezhnev secretly informed Castro to expect no Soviet help in shipping communist arms to El Salvador. If that assessment is accurate, the Soviet task force is Brezhnev's token of affection for Castro — but not much more.

ADLAI H COMEBACK
Former Sen. Adlai Stevenson III, out of public office only five months, is seriously considering a 1982 comeback attempt to oppose the reelection of the most popular politician in Illinois, Republican Gov. James Thompson.

Democratic politicians critical of Stevenson are chortling over the prospect that he will be chewed up by Thompson's third-term bid. However, the Stevenson name is still a respected one in Illinois (particularly downstate, in the predominantly Republican area outside metropolitan Chicago) and he may be the only Democrat able to oust the governor.

A footnote: Thompson has mended his fences with the Republican right. He impressed President Reagan's inner circle during last year's campaign while during last year's campaign with his pro-Reagan speeches. If he becomes the first governor of Illinois ever elected to three terms, Thompson would be a serious entry in the post-Reagan succession sweepstakes.

REAGAN TO HELMS
President Reagan finally told Sen. Jesse Helms, the conservative leader, that he really did want Senate confirmation of half a dozen top State Department nominations that Helms had objected to the past three months.

The president's April 29 call followed a Helms White House talk with top Reagan staffers April 23 at which presidential counselor Edwin Meese III and staff chief James A. Baker III told him the president truly was committed to the State Department nominees. Helms listened politely, then said he would like to hear that word from Ronald Reagan himself.

In their 20-minute chat, Reagan promised Helms that the performance of the disputed diplomats would be closely monitored by the White House. In that case, said Helms, he would end his blocking operation (with the possible exception of Under Secretary of State-designate Myer Rashish and African affairs assistant secretary Chester Crocker). The nomination may be confirmed early this week.

A footnote: The luncheon arranged between Secretary of State Alexander Haig and Helms for April 25 turned instead into a long conversation on the telephone. Driving to the State Department from his home in Virginia, Helms was caught in a giant traffic jam resulting from the March of Dimes Walkathon and finally drove back home.

Nipple discharge calls for exam

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 73 and in very good health. A few mornings over the past three or four weeks I have had a discharge from the nipple of my right breast. It looks like water, but is rather sticky. Will you please give me some information about this?

What would an examination amount to? — Mrs. M.E.

Although most clear breast discharge does not imply serious disease, any woman with a nipple discharge should see her doctor, regardless of her age. A bloody discharge, especially, raises the specter of cancer.

I cannot state what is causing your discharge. Is there a lump present?

That would be an important consideration and would make one think of a growth. Is the fluid a little cloudy, like milk? That could indicate something different, a problem related to glands that make milk-producing hormones, for example.

Many times nipple discharge comes with breast stimulation, and even a tight-fitting bra can do that. Drugs can produce breast discharge, so you would have to tell your doctor about any you may be taking. Inflammation can lead to discharges. Often there are benign illnesses like fibrocystic disease or growths in the milk ducts.

Of course, cancer must always be a prime concern.

So you can see the problem. In addition to a breast examination your doctor might want to have a Pap smear done on the nipple discharge to see if there are any suspicious cells present. He may also want you to have a mammogram. Then again, he may tell you that nothing need be done, that it is one of those kinds of discharges that come and go without indicating any disease.

But because of the diverse causes I mentioned and because of the remote possibility of cancer, you should be examined, even if the discharge has since subsided. I just cannot be of any real help to you by letter. Promise yourself to do that.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I belong to a bridge club and you seem to be one of our favorite subjects. A couple of us suffer from migraine headaches, and we notice you have written on that from time to time. We were wondering if you would answer a couple of questions for us. First, you state there is a way to offset them. Please tell us how. What medicines? Also, we would really like to know what causes them.

Doctors in this area tell us that you just must live with them. True? — M.S.

There are medicines to prevent migraine. Three of them are cyproheptadine, methysergide and propranolol. Each must be taken only with the approval of your doctor. You also must try to find whatever it is that might be triggering your migraine headaches. Missing a meal or standing in glaring sunlight are just a couple of typical examples. Certain foods (cheese, chocolates, alcohol, cured meats, citrus fruits and caffeine) have been associated with migraine attacks.

Ergotamine is the standard drug to alleviate full-blown attacks in process. Migraines are blood vessel caused. The arteries first narrow, then expand, and it is during the expansion when the throbbing pain occurs. Ergotamine narrows the expanded artery. Yes, you do have to live with migraine headaches or the threat of them but quite often you can devise a program of medicine and avoidance of triggering factors. That will make the living more bearable.

Please put me down for five spades. I don't want to play dummy at this table.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is it true that vitamin E in a lotion will take away

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have just retired from the military, and now I feel absolutely useless. What can I do to fight this feeling? — S.E.

DEAR S.E.: I suspect this is a common problem with people who retire, regardless of what they have been doing. But it is important for you to realize that you are not useless — far from it. In fact, the years to come could be the most productive of your life if you will let Christ guide you.

Some of God's choicest servants in the Bible were people who had virtually their whole working years behind them by any normal standard. Abraham was 75 when God called him to go to Haran; Moses was likewise an old man when God called him to lead the Israelites out of their slavery in Egypt. Many other examples could be given.

There are at least two things you need to do. First, realize that quite possibly your work has been occupying too large a place in your life. Yes, our work is important, but we have other responsibilities also. Remember that God should be the center of your life, not your work or anything else.

Have you ever really faced that fact? Have you honestly yielded your life to Jesus Christ, and let him take control of your life? If not, it is not too late — in fact, it is vitally important for you to do so.

Then realize that God has a purpose for you during these years. Our lives should always be devoted to serving him (when he is Lord of our lives, then everything we do should be done for his glory — including our job). The real question you need to ask is this: How does God want to use me during these years?

Perhaps he will lead you into another job. But perhaps he has other paths for you. Are there things in your church you can do? Have you ever considered some type of service for Christ, such as a short-term missionary appointment? Even if that is not what God wants you to do, there are people all around you who need your help and your witness for Christ. Ask God to use you — he will.

'Centennial Cleanup Campaign' Violations of garbage laws to net citations

Greg Bledsoe, city-county sanitarian for the local Health Department, announced today that the Department will begin to issue citations regarding violations of City Ordinances relating to trash and garbage, especially in alleys.

"This is no attempt to find fault or to assign blame to anyone for the violations," said Bledsoe, "but rather to inform citizens that they are in violation of the ordinances."

"Naturally, we'd like to have voluntary compliance so that the health and physical attraction of Big Spring might be renewed and continued," Bledsoe said.

The ordinances involved are those concerning unsanitary conditions and improper garbage and trash cans.

City ordinance Sec. 14-12, concerns prohibited conditions designated — stagnant water. Sec. 14-13 is the same — accumulation of carrion, filth, etc.

Sec. 12-3 states that cans or receptacles are required, and Sec. 12-4 is same — capacity, material, cover and handles.

Full details of the ordinances are contained within the Big Spring City Code.

"I hope that all citizens voluntarily comply so that the 'Centennial Cleanup Campaign' will be successful, and that same spirit will continue. There's no reason we can't clean it up and keep it clean," Bledsoe said.

"I've started with myself," Bledsoe added, "I've had to give myself a citation for a dirty alley."

Clements ordering tents to ease prison crowding

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Tent cities inside present state prison units and a new conditional parole system will be used to ease overcrowding in the Texas Department of Corrections, Gov. Bill Clements said Thursday.

National Guardsmen stretched a squad-sized tent on the Capitol lawn later as a preview of the "prisoners' new homes."

"If tents are good enough for our Army," four our Marines and our National Guard, they're good enough for our prisoners," Clements told a news conference.

Clements said the tents are part of a two-pronged effort to answer a federal court's finding that Texas prisons are so overcrowded that 3,000 inmates sleep on the floor.

He said the plan resulted from a series of conferences that involved state prison officials, the Board of Pardons and Paroles, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Speaker Bill Clayton, and Attorney General Mark White.

Clements said the two steps would include:

— Amend a Senate-approved bill, now pending in the House, to allow 1,500 low-risk prisoners, near the end of their sentences, to be released from Texas Department of Corrections units and sent to halfway houses in Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, and San Antonio. He said a number of prisoners have already asked to be released under the conditional parole plan.

— Set up tent cities, "with cots and board floors," within the security perimeters of present TDC units. "These groups of tents would take another 1,500 inmates off the floor by July 1." By November, Clements said, prison construction planned or now underway would allow these 1,500 to be moved into permanent housing.

Violence following Sands' funeral less than expected

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Sniper fire, a gun battle and some rioting occurred in Northern Ireland after the Irish Republican Army buried its new hero, hunger-striker Bobby Sands, and renewed its vow to free all of Ireland from British rule.

In Dublin, police reported a bungled attempt to assassinate a former foreign minister of the Irish Republic, Garrett Fitzgerald, leader of the opposition Fine Gael Party and an outspoken critic of the IRA.

The violence in Ulster Thursday night was less intense than security chiefs had feared. But the 20,000 mourners at Sands' funeral cheered wildly when IRA political expert Owen Carron declared in a fiery graveside oration:

"Bobby Sands, your sacrifice will not be in vain... We haven't got the tanks and the guns but, please God, this will not always be so."

Police headquarters warned the province to be alert "in the days ahead...having regard to the known intentions" of the IRA's Provisional wing and the splinter Irish National Liberation Army. The police statement added: "This should be especially borne in mind by persons who occupy positions of prominence or influence in the community."

Mobs of young Roman Catholics lobbed gasoline and acid bombs at security forces in Belfast and Londonderry, as they have every night for more than a week, and in the border town of Strabane. Police said Strabane's municipal tourist bureau was gutted by firebombs.

Army and police patrols came under sporadic sniper fire in Roman Catholic areas of Belfast and Londonderry. Officials said at least one policeman was wounded.

An army patrol fought a gun battle with four guerrillas near the border of the Irish Republic Thursday night. The soldiers captured one gunman and another was arrested by police in the republic. Unconfirmed reports said the other two guerrillas were shot and killed, but the army refused to confirm or deny it.

Minister facing Judgment Day

THE COLONY, Texas (AP) — A 33-year-old Presbyterian minister stands a good chance of going to jail because of his belief that a parishioner's right to confidentiality is more important than the state's right to know.

The Rev. Ron P. Salfen, pastor of Trinity Presbyterian Church in this town north of Dallas, has claimed the pastoral privilege six times in refusing to tell prosecutors whether church secretary Maud Williams ever discussed "skipping bond" on a drug possession charge.

State District Judge John R. Roach cited the clergyman for contempt and told him to return to court May 14 to "present arguments why he shouldn't be held in contempt," said Salfen's attorney, James M. Stewart.

Salfen faces six months in jail and a $500 fine if he is found guilty.

"I'm locked into a principle, and the judge seems to be locked into his," Salfen said. "I have no particular desire to be a martyr or a test case. I feel I'm right, but it's in the court's hands now."

Salfen was called by the defense as a character witness in Ms. Williams' bond-reduction hearing April 29. Ms. Williams, secretary at the 60-member church since October 1979, faces a retrial on a two-year-old drug possession charge because of errors in the original indictment.

At the April hearing, Roach reduced Ms. Williams' bond from $150,000 to $15,000. She was released from the Collin County jail and has returned to her job.

"I couldn't discuss what we talked about in conferences," Salfen said. "It's a sacred trust, and I don't feel like I had a choice but to protect the clergy-parishioner relationship."

Texas courts have generally failed to recognize that relation hip as privileged and judges have used their discretion in compelling information learned in such conversations, Stewart said.

The issue affects ministers of all faiths, according to A.M. Hart, co-executive of Grace Union Presbytery, the ruling body of Presbyterian churches in North Texas.

Council elects officers

Big Spring Council of the Parent-Teacher Association re-elected Leslie Earnst to a second term as president at the group's meeting Tuesday.

Other new officers will be Kim Wooten, first vice-president; Shelene Roberts, second vice-president; Nelda Reagan, recording secretary; Marcia Rogers, corresponding secretary; and Mattie Watson, secretary.

All five Big Spring schools having PTAs are represented in the Council's slate of officers for 1981-82.

Goliad Middle School hosted this PTA Council meeting, after which principal Jim Holmes showed Council members the school.

Mrs. Earnst thanked the five PTAs for their roles in coordinating the recent District 17 spring conference in Big Spring. She announced that Midland and Odessa's Parent Teacher organizations would host next year's fall and spring district conferences.

Barbara Claxton reported on local drug education activities. She reminded members that each Texas school has been asked to provide two parents to act as liaisons between Texans' War on Drugs and their local schools.

PTA members are urged to attend the next meeting of the local War on Drugs' branch at 7 p.m. Monday, in the Senior Citizens' Center.

PTA Council's annual installation and recognition banquet is scheduled for 6 p.m. May 26 at La Posada Restaurant. Local administrators, as well as old and new officers and committee chairmen from local PTA units and city PTA council, are invited.

Dear Abby

Bed-Hopping Woman Needs A Couch

DEAR ABBY: You've often recommended Alcoholics Anonymous, Gamblers Anonymous and Overeaters Anonymous for compulsive drinkers, gamblers and overeaters. I wish there was an Adulterers Anonymous for compulsive adulterers. I am one, and there's nothing I can do about it.

Don't laugh, Abby. I have a wonderful husband and family, but I've gone from one adulterous affair to another until now I can't even count them. I'm not oversexed. In fact, I'm just the opposite. I get nothing out of these affairs. I can't for the life of me understand why I deliberately get myself into such miserable situations that offer no sexual fulfillment, knowing if I'm caught I'll lose my husband and children and everything that is dear to me.

I must be crazy. Can't something on the order of Alcoholics Anonymous be organized for compulsive adulterers?

WEAK IN ILLINOIS

DEAR WEAK: I can't imagine a compulsive adulterer phoning another compulsive adulterer and being talked out of it.

You need some form of psychotherapy. Only when you understand what motivates you to behave as you do will you be able to control your actions. Your community mental health clinic can provide you with confidential counseling at a price you can afford. Please give the clinic a call.

DEAR ABBY: A former associate of my husband (a married woman) has been in love with him for some time. I found some letters she had written to him. He admitted receiving them but said he never loved her — only liked her — and he was not responsible for what she wrote. He said he never responded to those letters, but it's hard to believe that she would write such passionate letters without some encouragement.

The problem is that although she is no longer associated with him, she visits him regularly at work. I have asked him to tell her there is no future in it for her and that she should quit visiting him. He says to tell her this would be making more of the relationship than exists. I think she is trying to wear him down. What do you think?

UPTIGHT IN ENCINO

DEAR UPTIGHT: I think by not discouraging the woman, your husband is encouraging her. And regardless of what he tells you, he is getting something he enjoys out of her visits.

DEAR ABBY: Here's the picture. I took a date to a lovely dinner dance. Mary Jo sat at my left and to her left sat a gentleman named Bill who asked her to dance. Without any further ado, Mary Jo turned to me and said, "I'm going to dance with Bill."

On the way home, Mary Jo and I had a few words about what happened. I say either Bill should have asked me if he could dance with Mary Jo, or she should have asked my permission to dance with Bill.

I figure that she is my girl for the evening, and I don't like giving her free to entertain single men who are there. It just so happens that Bill's wife would not attend with him because she thought the modest amount for the evening was too much. (Incidentally, this couple is very well-heeled.)

But even if the evening cost me only a dollar, I still think my date should have shown more loyalty to her escort. What is your opinion, O Wise One?

RICHARD IN LANSDALE, PA.

DEAR RICHARD: You're right. Mary Jo should have asked you if you minded if she danced with Bill. And/or Bill should have asked you if he could dance with your date. However, Mary Jo is not your "property"; she is only your date, and as such she is not yours to "give free" or withhold.

...

You're never too young or too old to learn how to make people like you. Get Abby's new booklet of practical advice. Send $1 and a stamped (35¢), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Popularity, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Responsibility Committee in 1972 pilot project to insure patient's rights.

Because of the success of the project, the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation commissioner made it a mandatory project of each of the state facilities in 1974.

The local PRC is composed of nine volunteers who serve as an investigative committee. Joy Henning is chairman over members Faye Wallace and Murlene Williams of Ackerly; Lucille Pettit, Hazel Duggan, Byron Corn, Gene Puckett, Bob Cappell and Dr. Jack Wood.

Each volunteer is assigned one patient to visit each week. They meet with patients and receive complaints, comments and suggestions from them. They take time to investigate the patients' problems, be they minor or serious. Each is handled as thoroughly as the next.

The committee comes together each month to discuss various problems and try to come up with solutions. All complaints are recorded on a log and sent to the superintendent and commissioner. All transactions are kept confidential.

The committee's efforts have resulted in policy changes in some cases. At other times, explanations are made to patients as to why a situation is as it is and reasons that cannot be changed. The patients have come to regard the PRC representative as a friend, someone they can depend on to see to their needs.

Many times, the opportunity to talk with someone and get a situation out in the open goes a long way in solving the problem.

Imitation of Mama

The most exciting thing about having Mama put up your hair isn't the curls you're going to have.

No! It's looking in the mirror and seeing you look just like Mama with her hair up.

Maybe only the most conceited couples look on themselves as model parents. But that's what being parents involves. Whether we intend to or not we become models to our children. Their strongest impulse is to imitate grown-ups — especially those they love.

Bringing the family to worship every week provides rich opportunity in religious training for our youngsters. Equally important is the growing impact of faith and worship on the Mama and Daddy those youngsters daily imitate.

Rev. Kohl attends seminar

The Rev. Carroll C. Kohl leaves for Austin Sunday to attend a five-day introductory seminar on CROSSWAYS! An in-depth Bible study program for adults.

CROSSWAYS! was written by Harry Wendt, a Lutheran pastor, to help pastors and people do something about the "widespread biblical illiteracy that exists even among Christians" as spoken of by Prof. John Bright in his book, "The Kingdom of God." Wendt also states that "there has grown up in the Church alongside a total neglect of the Bible, a dangerous partial use of it."

CROSSWAYS! is designed to serve as a "road map" to help Christians make an in-depth, meaningful journey through the entire Bible. Parish Leadership Seminars, Inc. of Indianapolis, Ind. are the distributors of CROSSWAYS! The program and materials are explained in detail in the five-day seminars such as Rev. Kohl is attending next week. Materials for the program may be purchased only by those churches whose representative(s) has taken part in one of these seminars.

The materials used in CROSSWAYS! are a study manual of 680 pages containing 60 lesson units, 40 on the Old Testament, 20 on the New Testament, 59 question sheets and 12 review sheets. It also contains 75 full color transparencies for use by the instructor and a leader's guide.

CROSSWAYS! is designed to be used over a two-year period, with 30 units being studied each year. However, the key to the effective use of the program doesn't lie in a particular time plan. The power of the program lies in the Word of God through which CROSSWAYS! leads the participating student. Accordingly, each church may choose whatever time plan suits its local needs.

"The Word works, but one must work the Word," CROSSWAYS! is a proven, effective tool to help individuals work the word.

Church of God hosts Church Women United

TV consultant is becoming first prophet of low power TV

Gary Bayer is a man driven by the vision of thousands of additional local TV stations appearing across the nation. As new 1981 Federal Communications Commission regulations create "neighborhood TV" for the first time, the young television consultant is fast becoming the nations first prophet of "low-power TV." Traveling and speaking almost full-time to churches, colleges and local religious groups, he is determined that grass roots local organizations should get the first crack at the new licenses before they are "gobbled up by the corporations and commercial interests."

And his greatest fear is that pornographers and organized crime will gain control of many of the new local channels. "I'm not advocating that the F.C.C. should regulate content of this new local programming," exclaims Bayer emphatically, "so the only way we can assure that the programming will really be wholesome and benefit the community is to help local groups get early control of the licenses. Low-power TV was created for the benefit of minorities like religious groups, and I see my mission as one of helping them be among the first to obtain these new licenses."

The furor over "low-power" stations is being created by an F.C.C. announcement last September that it would create vastly simpler rules permitting thousands of new stations to go on the air. The low powered stations will fill in the gaps between existing channels on the UHF and VHF dials. Until now, F.C.C. rules have largely served to protect higher powered network affiliated TV stations.

Excited over the possibilities, Bayer thinks "This is the most revolutionary development in broadcasting since the creation of the FM Band.

The critical issue for local groups is to apply immediately. It's like the Oklahoma Land Rush all over again. Valuable frequencies will go to commercial rather than community groups if we don't act now."

As Bayer describes it, there is a "crisis-information" about the new stations. "As I talk to local community and religious groups, I find all kinds of misunderstandings. It doesn't take big dollars or skilled personnel to open one of these new stations. It is not such a high technology thing at all. Up until now, a few people in New York controlled television as a medium — but now every local community can have its own TV station."

Bayer has linked forces with Quality Media, a supplier of equipment and expertise to Religious Broadcasters. Bayer says, "Quality Media is the best source I know to help individuals learn how to operate these new stations successfully."

In seminars, on platforms, and in committee meetings, the 27-year-old former Psychologist is proposing a "model" for local TV stations that will program a mixture of religious family shows, high school and college sports, community events and local government meetings. "Now everyone in the community can watch the local basketball game or town council meeting," says Bayer, "and local churches can program teaching and preaching every day of the week. It will take Sunday School into the home and turn the community into a real village again."

Bayer says that he thinks the new low-powered stations will, "without question be the most significant development in communications during this decade."

In January, Bayer will meet with nearly 4,000 church leaders at a special combined meeting of the National Association of Evangelicals and National Religious Broadcasters in Washington, D.C. Bayer believes that born-again Christian religious groups are the most likely candidates to apply for the newly available licenses.

"If local pastors only realized the implications of this," he says passionately, "they would be filing applications by the thousands."

In order to facilitate the rapid filing of applications in 1981, Bayer has put together a "Legal task force" to help local groups with the help of Quality Media in Columbus, Ga. It includes Washington attorney Jay Baraff and broadcast engineer Peter Gureckis.

Bayer insists that a local group can do all the F.C.C. required paperwork and research for about $6,500 and set up a VHF transmitter without studios for about $15,000. A UHF transmitter would cost much more, he says, "about $80,000 plus the cost of studios." He puts the price tag on setting up a local studio at about $45,000.

During the NAE-NRB Convention, which has a theme of "Church and Media: Partners in World Evangelization," Bayer plans to hold daily "mini-workshops" to brief delegates on how to go back to their communities and organize a station. Bayer will work out of the Quality Media exhibit at the convention.

"With a 100 foot antenna," predicts Bayer enthusiastically, "a local group can broadcast within a radius of 3-6 miles. With higher antennas, they can reach out as far away as 20 miles." Although the F.C.C. is accepting applications now, no licenses have yet been granted. But Bayer thinks that early applicants will be able to start broadcasting in mid-1981 if all goes well. So far, he has been able to get groups in Alabama, Virginia, Georgia, Indiana, Oklahoma, Texas, Illinois, Florida to apply. His goal is to file 1,000 more applications in the next two years.

"With video cassettes, satellite tie-ins, translator pick-ups, and local program opportunities I don't see any reason why these new stations can't supply a whole new type of programming to Americans at the local level," says Bayer.

"At last, the people will be able to control their own local programming for the first time."

Vatican envoy is protested

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baptists, as they've done in similar situations before, are protesting President Reagan's naming of a personal envoy to the Vatican.

"Unnecessary, wasteful, ill-advised and divisive," said the Rev. Foy Valentine, head of the Southern Baptist Christian Life Commission, after Reagan appointed William A. Wilson, a real estate developer and cattleman to the Vatican assignment.

Baptists, with their strong emphasis on keeping church and state separate, have protested such appointments ever since Franklin D. Roosevelt made the first one in 1939.

Church of God women celebrate

"Joy" was the theme of the Spiritual Birthday Party of the Women of the Church of God as they met Monday at 7 p.m. in the church at 2009 Main.

Jean McCray, spiritual life director, directed the Spiritual Life program, using three words from Psalm 5:11, Trust, Defender and Love.

Hettie Minix gave the devotion, "Putting on the Whole Armor of God" from Galatians 5:22. Mrs. Minix stressed that the fruits of the spirit help people to keep on the whole armor of God, and that prayer, faith and love are the key characteristics of a Christian life.

Mrs. McCray explained the three key words found in Psalm 5:11 as follows: Trust — We trust in God, practice humility, accept others, then we will let God have His way in our life.

Defender — If we want God to defend us we are responsible to live a life of love in action, to be trustworthy and kind, with a good attitude towards all persons.

Love — If we love God we're responsible to respect His Word as a guide for our life, share the love of God, and we realize daily how He loves us and directs our lives. Therefore, we're responsible to keep His commandments.

By our trust in God we accept Him as our defender and love will keep us kind, strong, giving, humble and satisfied.

Joy based on God's love will spread and reach out to others.

The service closed by each of its 12 members placing their Spiritual Birthday offering on the worship center where the words, Trust-Defender-Love adorned a cut glass tray holding a lighted candle signifying "Joy" based on God's love for spreading His word to Missions.

The Rev. R.E. McCray, pastor, gave the benediction.

First Methodists show 'Jesus' film

"Jesus," the first totally authentic film on the life of Christ — shot on the actual biblical locations throughout the holy land — will be shown Sunday at 7 p.m., the First United Methodist Church.

"Jesus" adheres faithfully to the account of Christ's life as chronicled in the new testament gospel of Luke, which is acknowledged to be the most complete story of Christ of all the four gospels. "Other films on Christ have been made by people who have thought it necessary to write a screenplay and embellish the gospels ... but the language of the scriptures has endured longer than any screenplay ever will," notes John Heyman, the film's producer.

Apart from the actual words of the gospel, dialogue is kept to an essential minimum and much of the film's budget was spent on ensuring total historical accuracy.

With the exception of British actor Brian Deacon, a member of the Eminent New Shakespeare Company, who plays the part of Christ, not one of the actors in the film is known outside Israel.

In addition to the 45 actors in featured roles, the production employed more than 5,000 extras, all of whom were dressed in authentic costumes of the period.

"What we have made," says Heyman, "is a first century docu drama. When you see Christ in this film, you can believe that he is a man who spent 18 years in a carpenter's shop before he started his ministry. He is a man who can smile and laugh and share emotions with people."

The public is invited. A nursery will be provided.

NEW TESTAMENT EXCHANGED FOR A CHICKEN

The age-old practice of bartering is still alive on the Amazon River. In this picture two young girls from a village deep in the Brazilian jungle offer Wilson Villanova, the Bible Society of Brazil's regional secretary for Porto Alegre, a chicken in exchange for a Portuguese New Testament. The launch, "light of the Amazon" plies the 6,400 kilometer river and its tributaries distributing Scriptures to people in tribal villages set in some of the most impenetrable regions of Brazil. The boat also carries food, clothing and medicine and occasionally medical students and nurses. The American Bible Society contributes, through the World Service budget of the United Bible Societies, towards Scripture distribution in that vast nation of 120 million people. The launch was bought with a donation from the National Bible Society of Scotland.

Women aid seminaries this year

A film strip of four Presbyterian seminaries was shown to the Women of the First Presbyterian Church as they met May 4.

The 22nd annual Birthday Offering program of the women was included in the general meeting at 10 a.m. in the fellowship hall of the church.

Mrs. Olen Puckett presented the program for this year's four recipients of the funds: Austin Seminary in Sherman, Columbia Seminary in Decatur, Ga., Union Seminary in Richmond, Va. and Louisville Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

Because of local Presbyterian interest in the Austin Seminary, the ladies are encouraging the congregation to join them in this endeavor. Plans are underway for an Exchange Study program between the Presbyterian Seminary in Mexico City and the Austin Seminary.

A film strip was shown portraying pictures and talks by the presidents of the four seminaries involved.

The money collected each year during the Birthday Offering month goes to various places and people in need, alternating one year in America and the following year in a foreign country or countries.

Mrs. Noble Kennemur, president, presided at the business meeting. Plans were made for the group to help with a party at the Big Spring State Hospital May 8 at 2 p.m. on Unit 10-S.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction, then refreshments were served.

Originally from Amarillo, Patrick finished high school in Chicago, Ill. and returned to Texas to attend Hardin Simmons University. He received the B.A. degree in 1971, with a major in Bible and a minor in Greek. In 1974, he graduated from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth with the Master of Divinity degree.

Patrick also pastored churches in Bradshaw and Princeton, Ill. He has been published in Church Administration magazine. The former Nancy Smith of Abilene is his wife. She too graduated from Hardin Simmons with a B.S. in 1971, and M.A. in 1980. Mrs. Patrick had two articles published last year in a National literary journal and will have a collection of stories published in the 1982, Texas Folklore Journal. Currently, she is finishing out the school year teaching 10th grade English at Cooper High School.

The Patrick's have one son, Jason, who is six.

Methodist bishops will preside at conferences

DALLAS, Texas — Two of the four United Methodist bishops in Texas and New Mexico will preside over their first annual conferences this spring since their election to the episcopacy last summer in Little Rock, Ark., at the South Central Jurisdictional Conference.

Bishop John W. Russell, resident bishop of the Dallas-Fort Worth Area, presides over the North Texas Annual Conference, May 24-27; meeting in Dallas at First United Methodist Church and Highland Park United Methodist Church. The following week, May 31-June 3, he chairs the Central Texas Annual Conference scheduled for the Convention Center in Waco.

Bishop Louis W. Schowengerdt, resident bishop of the Northwest Texas-New Mexico Area, presides over the New Mexico Annual Conference, May 26-28, meeting at Gloria Baptist Assembly, in Glorieta, N.M. He presides over the Northwest Texas Conference, June 2-4, meeting at First United Methodist Church in Lubbock.

The bishops will announce the new pastoral appointments during the seven annual conference sessions.

Texas United Methodists are fishing for converts

HUMBLE, Tex. — What do a telephone, a direct mail campaign and personal contact have in common with church growth? They are the tools utilized by three United Methodist congregations in Texas which have striking success stories to tell about increasing attendance and membership.

"The telephone is our primary contact in a busy city," reports the Rev. Will Reed, Minister of Evangelism for Memorial Drive United Methodist Church in Houston. "We average 300 visitors to morning worship each Sunday, with around 50 of them visiting for the first time. Our lay volunteers and ministers call those first timers during the following week."

The names are then turned to members of the Fisherman's Club and the Fisher Folk (composed of women, youth and singles), Mr. Reed says. Each of the groups has about 55 members who visit the prospective members. The 6,489 member church has posted an average net growth of 297 persons in each of the past five years.

In suburban Plano, the Custer Road United Methodist Church had an exposure problem, "since we don't have a building," says the Rev. Mark Craig. "We blanketed the area within a radius of two and one-half miles of the school where we are meeting with three direct mail-outs of brochures to every residence telling about the church. One carried a coupon inviting people to receive further information and another time we mailed our local church edition of "The Texas Methodist" newspaper."

The 14-month-old congregation has zoomed from zero membership to 445.

The United Methodist Church in Hico, (pop. 1366) depends upon "people reaching out to invite others in and going by to bring them in," says the Rev. Bob Bowling. "That's what I do as well," he adds. "I am involved in the community on a day to day basis and I visit my members and prospective members." The church has added 140 new members in the last three years and has doubled the attendance and membership.

Stressing the adult Sunday School has also accounted for each of the three church's growth, the pastors report.

Bowling, Hico pastor, says when he came to the rural church three years ago, "there wasn't a nursery, a young couples class or a single adult class. So we started all three, secured regular teachers and built off of that." Sunday School, which averaged 45 then, now boasts 95.

Plano Pastor Craig believes adult education is a "key to growth." He says, "If the adult department is strong, the youth and children will follow along.

We have seven adult classes now and plan to start two a year." The Sunday School averages between 250-275.

In the Houston church, Reed says "People get lost in a big church if there isn't intention to assimilate them.

Each adult class in our church school as well as all the other organizations within the church have a contact person who receives the names of the new members from the Evangelism Work Area. The contact person then reports back to the church office of the response from the new members. The response is recorded so we can keep up with each new person."

Church growth not only marks these three churches but seems to be a concept that is catching on across United Methodism, according to a church executive. "People have begun to talk about the church growing," says the Rev. Ed Otwell, director of church growth and development for the Central Texas Annual Conference.

"For a long time no one said much about it, but now the attitude of lay leaders and pastors has changed. We are playing it up. "In this conference we are on our way," he adds. "Before the quadrennium (1981-84) is over, we will have turned the tide of decreasing church membership into a gain."

BRIAN ZACK (B.Z.) LEWIS

Local boy celebrates Bar Mitzvah

Brian Zack (B.Z.) Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lewis, 1508 Dayton, celebrated his Bar Mitzvah at Congregation Beth El, Fort Worth, May 1.

B.Z. Lewis is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Zack, Big Spring and Mrs. H. L. Lewis, Fort Worth.

The Bar Mitzvah, which means "Boy's Blessing" took place during the normal Friday night worship service at the synagogue, which B.Z. conducted.

The prayers and the Torah (scroll of laws) were read as the traditional part of the celebration. Also, as part of the celebration, he gave a short speech about his reading, its meaning and his feelings about the effort and time spent to prepare for this event.

B.Z.'s grandfather, Jim Zack and his brother, Kevin, were given pulpit honors which consisted of assisting the Rabbi, Robert J. Schur and reading the blessings after B.Z.'s Torah portions were completed.

A reception was held after the ceremony in the parlor of the synagogue. Relatives and friends from Big Spring, Wharton, Ft. Worth, Canton, Austin, Waco, Dallas, and Los Angeles, Calif. attended.

Laotian children's death brings unity

FORT WORTH — On April 27, Oy Phonnaraj, 7, and her 3-year-old cousin, Apple Xayachack, ran across a Fort Worth street into the path of a car and were instantly killed.

In the days that followed, the grief-stricken Laotian refugee families of the children were ministered to interdenominationally by Fort Worth churches.

St. George Catholic Church had been sponsors of the Phonnaraj family of eight. Apple, an only child, and his widowed mother were sponsored by Trinity Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. O'Rourke, who rent housing to both families, donated cemetery plots for the children. All Saints Episcopal Church contributed the grave markers. Rev. Msgr. Eugene Witkowski of St. George and Rev. Richard Blair of Trinity Baptist shared the funeral services for the two Buddhist children. The women of the Baptist and Catholic churches took turns taking food to the families.

Church World - Services provided emergency funds which covered most of the funeral expenses and the balance was donated by Baptist, Catholic and Presbyterian churches in Fort Worth.

"The deaths of these children was a tragedy," commented Margaret Cox, coordinator of the Refugee Sponsorship Development project for the Texas Conference of Churches.

You can tell a mother's love

 When there's just one piece of pie.

Black judge refuses Klan's demand

HOUSTON (AP) — A black judge who has refused to withdraw from a simmering dispute between the Texas Ku Klux Klan and Vietnamese fishermen has promised "equal justice" for both groups.

After hearing an hour of testimony under tight security Thursday, U.S. District Judge Gabrielle McDonald rejected a motion by the Klan asking that she disqualify herself in the case.

Vietnamese fishermen who live in the Galveston Bay area filed a lawsuit last month against KKK leaders and native shrimpers, claiming they are being threatened and harassed. The refugee settlers also asked for federal protection as the May 15 opening of the shrimping season approaches.

Louis Beam, grand dragon of the Texas KKK, argued he could not get a fair trial before Ms. McDonald "any more than if you went to trial before a member of the Ku Klux Klan."

But she told Beam he is not entitled to select the judge of his choice to preside over the case.

"Let me tell you I am deeply committed, deeply committed, to equal justice, and you will get it," she said.

"You are entitled to nothing more and nothing less."

The trial tentatively is set to begin Monday.

Beam accused Ms. McDonald of being "prejudiced against the Klan" because of her race.

The judge asked Beam to substantiate his accusation.

Beam said that during his 12 years as a Klanman, "everywhere I go I hear (from blacks), 'Death to the Klan,'" he said.

During the exchange, Ms. McDonald asked the Klan leader when he became aware of her race. Beam replied he learned she was black after the suit was filed April 16.

"You know I am black," the judge asked.

"Partly black," Beam replied without elaborating.

On Wednesday, attorney Morris Dees filed a motion seeking protection for himself and other lawyers representing the Vietnamese refugees. Dees alleged Beam was "mentally deranged" and "exhibited bizarre behavior" toward the lawyers while depositions were being taken in the case.

No action was taken on Dees' motion.

El Paso man held in Wyoming for threatening Reagan's life

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP) — An El Paso, Texas, man was being held today in Wyoming for allegedly threatening President Reagan's life, federal officials said. Alfred Lee Baker is being investigated for writing "three or four" threatening letters to the White House, according to assistant U.S. Attorney Jeff Fisher and Wyoming's resident Secret Service agent, Jerry O'Rourke.

The arrest marked the second time Baker had been arrested for threatening a president.

Bill outlawing scalping of athletic tickets OKed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Scalpers who hawk high school and college athletic tickets for more than face value could spend six months in jail under a bill that has advanced in the House.

Representatives tentatively approved the bill Thursday on a voice vote and were scheduled to take final action today. Passage would send it to the Senate, where a broader bill already has passed.

Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas, said Southwest Conference officials requested the bill because of a "serious problem" with scalpers accumulating large blocks of tickets while college alumni and students sometimes can't get seats.

Scalping recently came to public attention when it was reported that some University of Texas football players had sold tickets above face value in violation of NCAA rules.

Bryant's bill provides up to six months in jail and a $1,000 fine for buying or selling a ticket to a high school or college game at more than face value.

Rep. Ed Emmett, D-Kingwood, tried to expand the bill to include scalping of tickets to professional sporting events, but Bryant said he feared this might kill the measure.

Baker, 38, surrendered to Secret Service and FBI agents in Cheyenne on Wednesday. He was being held in the Laramie County Jail Thursday under $100,000 bond.

Baker appeared before U.S. Magistrate William Beaman Wednesday and requested a court-appointed attorney. He faces a preliminary hearing May 18.

A spokesman for U.S. Attorney R.E. Thompson said the arrest warrants for Baker were issued in Albuquerque, N.M., because the letters were postmarked from Albuquerque.

Baker, a former press server for the El Paso County Sheriff's Office, was arrested by Secret Service officers in El Paso in February 1979 for threatening the life of former President Jimmy Carter.

Federal Public Defender Herb Cooper said charges were dropped after local arrangements were made for psychiatric help.

Baker reportedly had also sent threatening letters to various governors and his ex-wife recently.

El Paso Police Detective Ramiro Gonzalez said Baker was arrested in El Paso April 21 on a charge of harassment by mail for allegedly sending a threatening letter to his ex-wife.

The charge was a Class A misdemeanor and Baker posted bond. He said the El Paso Secret Service office is working on the case. Baker reportedly had sent a threatening letter to every governor in the country, Gonzalez said, and the Secret Service has received 18 of those letters, Gonzalez said.

Overthrow of Dominica planned

Mercenary offered 'influence' if he could put black in power

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The alleged ringleader of a "band of mercenaries" that included six men with ties to the Ku Klux Klan was offered wealth and influence if he could overthrow the government of Dominica and restore a black politician to power, according to a federal indictment.

Michael Perdue, 32, of Houston and his nine alleged co-conspirators were indicted Thursday on multiple conspiracy, firearms and customs counts. The charges carry penalties of up to 50 years in prison and $33,000 in fines.

The men — eight Americans and two Canadians arrested April 27 with a vanload of automatic weapons and explosives — are in custody on bonds totalling $4.6 million.

According to the seven-count indictment, Perdue was to receive $150,000 in cash, Dominican citizenship and a high position in the government. In return, the indictment said, Perdue signed a contract to mount an invasion of the tiny Caribbean republic, oust Prime Minister Eugenia Charles and reinstall former Prime Minister Patrick

John. At that point, the indictment said, the alleged conspirators were "to set up an enterprise known as Nortec Enterprises, whose agent was to be Michael E. Perdue, to engage in agricultural development...

the construction of an international airport; tourism and gambling; the cutting and exportation of lumber found on government land."

The indictment said the Dominica National Defense Force then would be increased by 200 and Perdue's men would be hired "as specialists used in training and maintaining the National Defense Force."

Others indicted were Stephen D. Black, 27, of Birmingham, Ala.; William B. Waldrop, 33, of Braxton, Miss.; George T. Malvaney, 21, and Joe D. Hawkins, 37, both of Jackson, Miss.; and Michael S. Norris, 21, of Tuscaloosa, Ala.

Also, Robert W. Prichard, 30, of Raleigh, N.C.; Christopher B. Anderson, 41, of Oklahoma City; Larry L. Jacklin, 22, Listowell, Ontario, Canada; and Wolfgang W. Droege, 31, of Toronto.

Black, Norris, Hawkins, Malvaney, Perdue and Droege have been linked to various Klan factions by Klansmen and police in the United States and Canada.

Perdue's lawyer, John McVeigh of the Federal Public Defender's Office, and the nine other court-appointed defense lawyers could not be reached immediately for comment.

The indictment included a chronology of the alleged plot, which was said to have begun Sept. 20, 1980, when "Michael E. Perdue and Patrick John entered into a written contract."

The indictment said the alleged operation was penetrated when Perdue gave an undercover U.S. treasury agent $5,000 as partial downpayment for chartering the one boat to be used in the alleged invasion.

According to the indictment, Perdue told the agent, John L. Osburg, he was paying each of the other alleged mercenaries $3,000 "for the purpose of mounting an invasion and coup on the island of Dominica."

Bess Truman reported in 'noble spirits'

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Bess Truman was in "noble spirits" after hip surgery, but the health of the 96-year-old former first lady cast a shadow on an award ceremony today honoring former President Jimmy Carter.

Carter and other dignitaries were to arrive today to mark the 97th birthday of Mrs. Truman's late husband, former President Harry S. Truman.

Mrs. Truman was reported in stable condition today in the intensive care unit of Research Medical Center, where she was taken Wednesday after suffering a "serious" fracture of her right hip in a fall at her home.

After 45 minutes of surgery to remove bone splinters and replace the hip ball joint with metal parts, Mrs. Truman was in "noble spirits," doctors said.

Carter was scheduled to arrive in nearby Independence, Mo., today to receive the annual Harry S. Truman Public Service Award. The award is given each year by the city of Independence in Truman's honor.

Phil Wise, Carter's chief of staff in Plains, Ga., said the Carters were praying for Mrs. Truman and had planned to visit her at her Independence home.

A hospital spokeswoman said Thursday night that no one from the Carter camp had called to arrange a hospital visit.

Mrs. Truman's daughter, Margaret Truman Daniel, saw her mother Thursday afternoon, a hospital spokeswoman said. Mrs. Daniel, who was Mrs. Truman's only outside visitor since the surgery, arrived Wednesday from her home in New York City.

Reagan promises closer work with Japanese

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, asking visiting Japanese Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki to work with him so "we do not exhaust ourselves," is acknowledging that the United States and Japan have become competitors as well as partners.

The two leaders promised increased cooperation Thursday as they began two days of talks designed to help them get to know each another while forming a foundation for future efforts to resolve policy differences on trade, defense and foreign relations.

The president, looking fit and carefully groomed less than six weeks after he was shot in the chest in an assassination attempt, chatted with his guests Thursday night after a formal White House dinner in Suzuki's honor. He then sat erect in a straight-back wooden chair during a performance by soprano Shirley Verrett.

After escorting the prime minister and his wife to their limousine, Reagan returned to dance two numbers with his wife, Nancy, and chat with a few friends before retiring for the evening.

Suzuki, who like Reagan is 70 years old, told his host: "I have to admit, Mr. President, that I can't match your health and vitality. I was born 26 days before you."

Reagan's toast, like that of his guest of honor, stressed deep friendship between the United States and Japan and how "profound the similarities are," although the two countries have become both "principal trading partners and chief competitors."

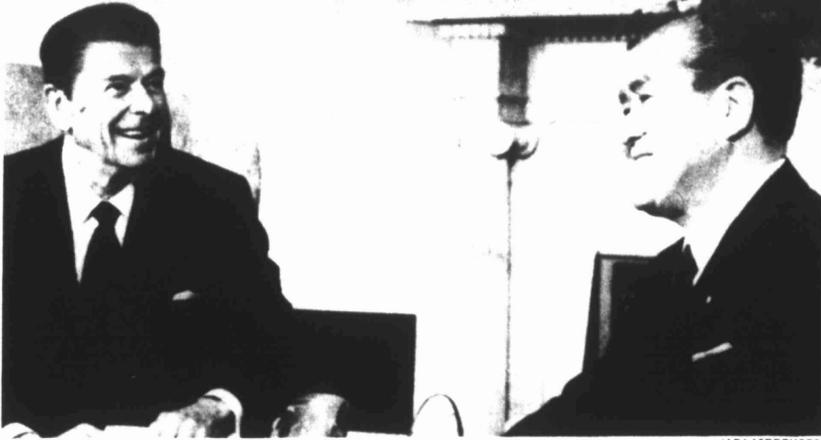

The American president recounted a Japanese legend about two villages separated by a river. A man from one town would come out and sing, and his voice would carry across the river to the next town, Reagan said. The people of the second town found a singer of their own.

Hearing the second singer prompted the first man to sing at the top of his voice.

"The singing grew more and more beautiful as each singer found depths to his talent that he hadn't known were there," Reagan said. "Well, Japan and America are like those singers....The standards we set for each other are marks of excellence."

But as if to ward off the inevitably tragic conclusion to that legend, the president said, "Yet, we do not exhaust ourselves in that contest but rather pursue our respective goals as friends and allies."

"REAL BUDDIES" — President Ronald Reagan meets in the Oval Office of the White House Thursday with Japanese Prime Minister Zenko Suzuki. The prime minister told the president he valued the opportunity to speak "openly as real buddies."

Jackson, Wheat set for state meet

Steer girls among Lone Star best

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

Two Big Spring Steers will be going for esteemed state titles in four different events today and tomorrow when the Texas State Girls Track and Field Meet unwinds in all five classifications.

Carla Jackson and Elise Wheat are the BSHS girls that will be competing, with the former vying for state honors in three events in the large school, Class AAAAA affair.

Jackson, a junior, will be entered in the triple jump, long jump and 100-meter dash. But she is no stranger in Austin, as she finished third here last year in the long jump.

Wheat, also a junior, will be competing in the discus. She qualified with a second place Region I throw of 123', but has a season best of 127'.

LaMarque and Dallas Skyline, with a couple of relay teams and a bevy of other individuals, are expected to be the top contenders for the team title. But as in the case of any track meet, especially this one, anything is possible.

And that is what makes this one hard to predict. If counting the points that the contestants would have accumulated based on their regional efforts, the Steer girls would combine for eight points. Jackson would be third in the long jump and sixth in the triple jump, with Wheat sixth in the discus. Jackson's 100-meter time of 12.25 would not place.

But those regional marks are hard to figure, as such factors in each separate region as wind, rain, overall competition and the biorhythms of each individual makes it hard to predict the outcome of the state meet.

Jackson long jumped 18'3" last year to finish third, but went as high as 19'4" in setting a new Region I-AAAAA record two weeks ago.

GETTING READY — Big Spring junior Carla Jackson warms up Wednesday by practicing some starts in preparation for the State Girls Track and Field Meet in Austin. Jackson is entered in three events in the prestigious state affair after an excellent showing in the Region I-AAAAA meet. She will compete in the long jump, triple jump and 100-meter dash. Another Big Spring girl, Elise Wheat, will also compete in the rugged state meet. Wheat will be in the discus competition. (See Related Story).

Steer hopes ends in loss

MIDLAND — The Midland High Bulldogs took a giant step toward the second half baseball title in District 5-AAAAA here Thursday afternoon by erupting for seven runs in the bottom of the sixth in taking a 13-7 win over the Big Spring Steers.

While the win was a biggie for the Bulldogs, it also eliminated the Steers from any post-season hopes that they had.

Midland totaled 14 points in the contest, with six of them coming in the big sixth inning.

Doug McLean was the winning pitcher for Midland, with the Steers Waine Shipman taking the loss.

The Steers big inning was the fourth, when they scored five runs. Mark Warren was the star of that uprising with a bases loaded triple.

The Midland win puts the Bulldogs at 5-1 for the second half, tied with Midland Lee. The two squads face each other in their second half finale, and a Midland win would give the Bulldogs the second half title. That would force Lee, Abilene, and Abilene Cooper to play for the first half crown. But a Lee win would clinch the 5-AAAAA title outright for that school.

The Steers, now 13-22 on the year, can still have a winning season when they close on the road tomorrow afternoon against San Angelo.

DOWNWARD PRESSURE — Houston Rockets Bill Willoughby has a problem trying to reach the basket from Boston Celtics Larry Bird during third quarter National Basketball Association championship action at Boston Garden Thursday night. The Rockets edged to a 92-90 victory.

Knepper gets 3rd shutout for Astros

NL Roundup

By the Associated Press

It's been the kind of a year for Bob Knepper that even when his fastball isn't working, it won't slow him down.

"I didn't have a good enough fastball so I had to concentrate on keeping the ball down," the Houston Astro left-hander said Thursday after posting his third shutout of the young season with a 6-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Knepper, who earlier pitched 1-0 shutouts against Los Angeles and Cincinnati, scattered six hits this time, allowing the Cubs to hit only two outfield flies.

Knepper's pitching, incidentally, has been a big factor toward the Astros' recent surge. The defending National League West champions have won nine of their last 11 games after a dismal 3-12 start.

In other NL games, Los Angeles edged Philadelphia 2-1, New York nipped San Francisco 3-2, Montreal stopped San Diego 2-1, Atlanta beat St. Louis 4-3 and Pittsburgh swept a doubleheader from Cincinnati 3-1 and 7-1.

Knepper, 3-0, was in

Rockets stun Celtics

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Celtics, having lost the battle against overconfidence, are a step closer to losing the war against the Houston Rockets.

The dominant feeling among observers was that the contest for the National Basketball Association title would be no contest. Rarely has there been such a disparity in the records of the final combatants.

The Celtics were 62-20 in the regular season. The Rockets were 40-42. Going into Thursday night's second game of the championship series, Houston had lost its last 14 games against the Celtics and was 3-31 in Boston.

Like many others, the Celtics apparently expected the series to be brief — until Thursday night.

Showing strong defense in the last half of the fourth quarter and capitalizing on sloppy Celtic play, the Rockets rallied from a seven-point deficit in the final 7:09 and won 92-90 to even the best-of-seven series at one game apiece.

"We just played a very poor basketball game. It's a demonstration of what guys do when they get a big head," said Boston forward Cedric Maxwell.

The Rockets didn't win their eighth post-season road game, a playoff record, simply because Boston played poorly. The brilliance of Houston center Moses Malone, coming off a mediocre opening performance, had a lot to do with the victory after he had 13 points and 15 rebounds in the Celtics' 98-95 victory Tuesday night but came back with 31 points and 15 rebounds Thursday night. After Boston took an 82-75 lead with 7:09 to go, Malone scored seven points, blocked two shots and stole a pass.

Larry Bird led Boston with 19 points and, for the second straight game, grabbed 21 rebounds. He also had five of Boston's 22 turnovers. The Celtics had 19 in the first game.

Until Thursday night, Boston had won all 29 games this season in which it had held its opponent below 100 points.

Sharing lead in Byron Nelson

Watson where he belongs

DALLAS (AP) — Attila the Hun hardly had it as good as golfdom's Tom Watson.

When it comes to plundering and pillaging, Watson has no peers at the Preston Trail Golf Club and the Byron Nelson Classic.

Watson, the game's current kingpin, assumed his usual lofty role today atop the leader board of the $300,000 tournament but he had to share it with an unknown.

He is seeking an unprecedented fourth straight Nelson championship and a place in the history books beside legendary Walter Hagen, who won four straight PGA championships. No other player has won a tournament four times in a row.

Dipping three under par after four holes, Watson breezed home Thursday with a 4-under-par 66 and a share of the first round lead with young Tim Norris.

Tim Norris?

Don't feel bad if you've never heard of Norris. Watson wasn't sure he had either.

"Honestly, I don't know him," Watson confessed after learning he was tied for the lead with the 24-year-old rookie, a product of Fresno State in California.

"Is he just a rookie?" wondered Watson, the reigning Masters champion who won his last time out at New Orleans.

"Where is he from?" he asked.

Told of the Fresno connection, Watson, whose $193,000 this year eclipses Norris' earnings by almost 200 to 1, smiled and said:

"Wait a minute, now. He's from California. Yes, I met him at San Diego. He's a big strong kid — looks like a middle linebacker. But he plays better than a middle linebacker."

For his own part, Norris seemed singularly unimpressed by a round that included six birdies and two bogeys over the 6,993-yard par-70 Preston Trail course.

"I know if you shoot the scores out here, everything else would take care of itself," he said. As for Watson, he added:

"I don't worry about Tom Watson... I have enough to worry about with myself."

The prince and the pauper took a 2-shot lead over a quintet that included Ray Floyd, Mark McCumber, Lennie Clements, Beau

Baugh and stormy Bruce Lietzke.

"Even if I won the tournament I still wouldn't like this golf course," said Lietzke, complaining that the greens were bumpy and grainy and the fairways less than adequate.

Twelve other players, however, managed to beat par with 69s, and another 11 matched it. Lee Trevino, who has vowed to win this tournament in his hometown, headed a group of 15 at 71.

"I won't die happy until I win here," said the Merry

Forsan's Adams goes for state shot gold

Forsan's Christi Adams will be among the elite participants when the Texas State Girls Track and Field Meet.

Forsan's Christi Adams will be hoping to improve one place from last year Saturday morning when the Class AA shot put competition begins at 10:30.

Adams finished second in the state shot put last year, with a heave of 38'6", and has surpassed that this year, going as high as 38'11" last week in a State Qualifiers Track Meet in Hamlin.

As far as her competition, Forsan Coach Ron Taylor isn't for sure. "I haven't seen any of the other peoples distances, but I'm pretty sure none have done much better than Christi. I think she'll hit 39 or 40 feet at state, and that ought to give her a pretty good shot in the shot," said Taylor with a pun on word.

One thing for sure is that last year's shot put champ in Christi's division, Vicki Tolliver of Munday, won't be back, as she has graduated.

Coahoma's Buchanan in discus

Coahoma's Vickie Buchanan will be one of eight girls vying for the Class AAA state discus title today when the Texas Girls State Track and Field Meet gets underway.

Buchanan earned her berth in the state meet by finishing second in the Region I-AAA Meet. She threw 111'9" in that affair two weeks ago.

A's relievers earning respect

Who are Bob Owchinko, Jeff Jones, Craig Minetto and Bo McLaughlin and what are these imposters doing on the mound for the Oakland A's?

What's that, you say they pitch for the A's? Don't be silly, everyone knows only Mike Norris, Rick Langford, Matt Keough, Steve McCatty and Brian Kingman pitch for the A's. Don't they always finish what they start?

Not always. Thursday was one of those rare occasions — only the ninth time in 28 games — when Oakland's starting pitcher wasn't around at the finish. In fact, Keough departed with one out in the third inning, allowing three runs on eight hits. And Manager Billy Martin not only went to his bullpen, he trotted out everyone who resides there before the A's nailed down a 5-3 triumph over the Detroit Tigers.

AL Roundup

"The bullpen was super, especially Bob Owchinko," said Martin, who has claimed all along the A's have an underrated relief crew.

"The biggest reason we've been unnoticed is that our starters are so good," said Jones, the winner as the A's upped their record to 22-6.

In other American League action, the Seattle Mariners made it two in a row under Manager Rene Lachemann by defeating the Milwaukee Brewers 4-1, the California Angels nipped the New York Yankees 2-1, the Toronto Blue Jays downed the Cleveland Indians 6-2 and the Texas Rangers whipped the Chicago White Sox 9-4. Baltimore, Boston, Kansas City and Minnesota were not scheduled.

While Oakland's relievers were stifling the Tigers on one hit over the final 6-3 innings — a two-out single in the ninth — the A's batters went to work to erase a 3-1 deficit. Cliff Johnson homered in the fifth inning, pinch hitter Mitchell Page connected in the sixth to tie the score and Tony Armas and Jeff Newman added solo shots in the seventh. Armas' was his ninth of the season, tops in the majors.

Owchinko pitched four scoreless innings and Jones went two more, giving way to Minetto after walking Alan Trammell with one out in the ninth. Minetto retired Steve Kemp on a line drive to right, then surrendered a single to Richie Hebner. McLaughlin took over and went to a full count on Lance Parrish before the Detroit catcher fouled out to end the game.

UGSA (DIVISION IV) — Gary's Welding Blue Demons of Big Spring used the five-hit pitching of Cynthia Hernandez in taking a 4-4 win over the Midland R and P Welding team.

Helping Hernandez at the plate for the Big Spring team were Esthler Rodriguez with two singles, and Cassie Abernethy, Ione Crane, Gayla Paige and Sandy Puga with one each.

Suzy Terrazas had two hits for Midland, with Lori Breeding, Kelly Nelson and Robin Bailey adding one each.

Karen Kuykendall was the losing hurler.

Clay changes tennis strategy

NEW YORK (AP) — Take it from a loser: "It's an altogether different game on clay."

South African Johan Kriek made that point before he was eliminated in the $52,000 Tournament of Champions being played on the Har-Tru courts at Forest Hills. And now that the Tourney at the famed West Side Tennis Club has reached the quarterfinals, the clay players are still around.

"I think playing on clay is a war of the minds," Kriek said. "The guy who lasts the longest is going to win the match."

Today's quarterfinals sent Carlos Kirmayr of Brazil against Hungary's Balazs Taroczy, Victor Pecci of Paraguay against Mel Paraguy against Mel Paraguy, Eddie Dibbs against Jose-Luis Clerc of Argentina and Eliot Teltscher against Wojtek Fibak of Poland.

Who's favored now that top-seeded John McEnroe and third-seeded Vitas Gerulaitis, the defending champion, are sitting on the sidelines?

Norton realization may be too late

NEW YORK (AP) — It dawned on Ken Norton one day in acting class that he really hadn't made the most of his boxing career.

Yes, Norton, who fights Gerry Cooney Monday night, got the World Boxing Council championship when Leon Spinks had his title recognition withdrawn for failing to defend against Norton.

But, Norton said Thursday, "after the Ali fight in 1974, I lost quite a bit of interest. I was just going through the motions."

Norton, who was knocked out in two rounds in a title bid against George Foreman in 1974, lost a controversial decision in another try for the championship against Muhammad Ali in 1976.

After the Ali fight, Norton won three fights, got the WBC title, but lost it on a split decision to Holmes in 1978. He then knocked out

Bucs beat Reds twice

Jerry Reuss, last year's NL comeback player of the year, pitched a six-hitter for his third victory in four decisions. He struck out four and walked none.

Mets 3, Giants 2
Ed Lynch gave up six hits in 7-3 innings while Doug Flynn and Mike Jorgensen belted home runs to lead New York over San Francisco. Lynch left the game in favor of Neil Allen, who earned his fourth save after the Giants scored their second run in the eighth when Dave Bergman singled and came home on Mill May's single and an error by right fielder Joel Youngblood.

Doyle Alexander got by the first 21-3 innings, but Flynn belted a homer to tie the score at 1-1 in the third. With one out in the sixth, Bob Bailor singled. After Youngblood popped out, Jorgensen hit his third homer of the year.

Expos 2, Padres 1
Ellis Valentine delivered the tie-breaking run with a two-out double in the eighth, leading Montreal over San Diego behind Scott Sanderson's four-hitter.

Rodney Scott began the Expos' eighth with a walk off starter Chris Welsh with one out. Scott then stole second and advanced to third on a fly ball. He coasted home as Valentine drilled a pitch to left field.

Sanderson walked one and struck out four while improving his record to 4-1.

Braves 4, Cardinals 3
Reliever Bruce Sutter walked Brian Asseltine on a full count with the bases loaded in the eighth to give Atlanta its winning run over St. Louis.

Sutter issued the walk, forcing in Jerry Royster, after St. Louis starter Silvio Martinez yielded a one-out single to Bob Horner and walked Dale Murphy. After pinch-runner Royster and Murphy executed a double steal, Sutter intentionally walked Glenn Hubbard and struck out Bruce Benedict before walking pinch-hitter Asseltine.

Right-hander Rick Camp picked up his third victory in four decisions after allowing one unearned run in the final three innings.

Pirates 3-7, Reds 1-1
Tony Pena drove home the winning team and pitched with relief help from Enrique Romo as Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati in the first game of their doubleheader.

Dale Berra drove in four runs, including three with a bases-loaded double in the fourth, to pace Pittsburgh's offense in the second game. Eddie Solomon scattered seven hits in the nightcap before needing Grant Jackson's relief help in the ninth.

How will people remember Billie Jean?

By the Associated Press

The Billie Jean King palimony saga has reached the stage of media over-kill.

It seems that Billie Jean herself, a great champion and a force in the women's movement, should be anxious now to close the door and let the matter rest.

But, no, the reels and presses roll on — with Billie Jean obviously disinclined to apply any brakes. Why? Is it, as she insists, that, having always been available to the media, she refuses to run for cover now? Or does she feel that openness will remove whatever tarnish there is to her image and protect her credibility?

Only Billie Jean knows. But those who know Billie Jean know that she has no intention of tossing away the cuage she has welded for so many years.

Everybody admits that Billie Jean gave a gutsy performance in a specially called news conference a week ago when she acknowledged, chin quivering but with little wetness behind those familiar spectacles, that she had once carried on a homosexual relationship with a former secretary.

That was vintage Billie Jean. Cornered, go into the attack. Storm the net. Hit the big overhead. Win the crucial point. Always fight back.

But how many more times must we see her baring her soul on national television? Why should she continue subjecting herself to the same outworn questions and wrenching apologies?

Why did it happen? "I made a mistake."

Is your marriage threatened?

"No, our relationship (with husband Larry King) is stronger than ever."

Will what you have done hurt women's tennis?

"No, the game is bigger than any one of us."

Ad infinitum.

We, the media, must shoulder some of the blame, not for pouncing on the stunning development — it had to be handled fully and objectively on its merits — but for prolonging and sensationalizing it.

The TV networks have been fair. It's just that they didn't know when to quit. And Billie Jean has appeared amenable to an endless series of these national inquisitions on a subject unpalatable to a large segment of our society.

For years, insiders have whispered of homosexuality on both the tennis and golf tours, touching even the greats. However, discretion has kept gossip largely from the public ear except in the case of the legendary Big Bill Tilden who, before his death, was arrested for molestation of a minor.

It's been an accepted tenet of journalism that what a person, even a celebrity, does in private should remain that person's private business. Billie Jean has found that is not always the case. But nothing and no one can shake the monument she's built in tennis and the struggle for women's rights.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Kareem Abdul-Jabbar of the Los Angeles Lakers, Moses Malone of the Houston Rockets and Adrian Dantley of the Utah Jazz headed a list of 16 NBA players who will play three exhibition games in Japan during the first week of June, it was announced.

The tour will match East and West All-Star squads in the three separate contests. The East team will consist of Marques Johnson, Elvin Hayes, Bill Cartwright, Nate Archibald, Larry Kenon, Michael Ray Richardson, Dudley Bradley and Tom McMillen. The East coach had not been named.

Film director Ingmar Bergman claims he can't stand writing

DALLAS (AP) — Ingmar Bergman, one of the world's most critically acclaimed directors, says he hates to write and turned to filmmaking because he didn't know how to do anything else.

"I can't dance, I can't write books ... so what is left?" Bergman asked an audience of drama students at Southern Methodist University Thursday. At 62, Bergman has authored more than two dozen plays in addition to a score of major and minor film pieces. Of his plays, he said, "The critics always thought they were lousy and I must say, today I share their opinion."

He says intuition is the essence of creativity, the tool of the artist, and the foundation of his unparalleled success as a filmmaker.

"I make all my decisions on intuition," said the Swedish-born Bergman.

"I throw a spear into the darkness. That is intuition. Then I must send an army into the darkness to find the spear. That is intellect."

In a rare public appearance — his first in the United States — Bergman spoke of his successes and failures, reactivity and laziness.

"I'm very, very lazy," conceded Bergman. "I love to sit in a chair and look out the window and do nothing."

"Writing is boring, very boring and it takes so much patience."

Yet Bergman has overcome this inertia more times than he cares to admit, frequently with the aid of a vision that comes to him while seated in his lazy chair, doing "nothing."

He cited as an example his 1972 film, "Cries and Whispers," a haunting look at the passions, anxieties and insecurities of three women, which was written after the filmmaker was visited by a recurring image of a red room bathed in diffused light, the three women inside it clothed in old-fashioned white dresses.

"The room was full of melancholy, a strange magic. I knew the women were related to each other but I didn't know how."

What followed was the creative process, "a very secret, lustful time" when the artist is given to fits of brilliance marred by an overwhelming desire to "protect" his inspiration, said Bergman.

"You feel that this is going to be the best scene ever made and you want to protect it from others," he recalled.

He spends about five hours a day, six days a week, in front of a typewriter on his island home in the Baltic Sea.

His four-day visit to SMU will be highlighted Saturday with the presentation of a $25,000 award for artistic excellence. A jury of artists and critics selected Bergman for the first international Meadows Award, citing his "seminal" achievements that have "distinctly altered and changed man's perception of the world."

The award is named for the late Alger H. Meadows, arts patron and benefactor of the Meadows School of the Arts at SMU.

COLLECTS CHILDBIRTH REBATE — Sally Gallant of Saugus, Mass., the first woman to receive a $200 post-partum rebate from Massachusetts Blue Cross-Blue Shield, holds son Patrick, born March 4. Under a one-year trial program at Melrose-Wakefield Hospital, women who leave the hospital within 24 hours of giving birth can collect the rebate if covered by the master medical plan offered by the insurance program.

Inmate threatens to jump from rooftop of jailhouse

HOUSTON (AP) — Authorities talked five hours with a "despondent and depressed" Harris County jail inmate who had threatened to jump from the rooftop of the eight-story building before the prisoner voluntarily surrendered.

The inmate, Dudley Shawn Prichard, 23, stood near the ledge Thursday until his attorney, sheriff's deputies, fire department officials and members of the Crisis Negotiating Team coaxed him back into the building.

Prichard had demanded to be given "some kind of uppers," said Lt. J. Glantzberg of the Harris County sheriff's department.

Childbirth rebates help to cut maternity costs

BOSTON (AP) — Women who give birth and leave the hospital within 24 hours are collecting $200 rebates from an insurance program in an experiment to cut maternity costs at a suburban Boston hospital.

The plan is intended to give doctors and women an incentive to reduce costs while still delivering babies in the hospital.

"So far as we know, it's the first in the nation," Dr. Louis F. Alfano, chairman of Massachusetts Blue Shield and an obstetrician at Melrose-Wakefield Hospital.

"We're studying to see what the real savings will be so we can then make a judgment as to whether we can offer this kind of program in our regular business and ultimately lower the premium," said Robert Murphy, a Blue Cross planner. "I'm obviously expecting to save dollars. That's why we're doing it."

The plan is an outgrowth of the hospital's maternity day care program, which was developed to allow women to have their babies in a comfortable, home-like atmosphere and go home as soon as possible.

So far, two mothers have participated in the program open to women covered by master medical Blue Cross-Blue Shield, which is sponsoring the one-year trial. And if it works here, a spokesman says, Blue Cross will expand it to other hospitals. Dr. Walter G. Leonard, the hospital's chief of obstetrics, said there is no chance women will go home too soon simply to get the money, since doctors must agree to early release.

The first woman to deliver a baby under the program was Sally Gallant of Saugus, who stayed in the hospital overnight when she delivered her son Patrick on March 4. She will collect a $100 check on Monday, and another $100 will be set aside to pay for her followup care for the next year.

"When you're having a baby, you're not sick," said Mrs. Gallant, 33. "I wanted to go home as soon as I could. Home is the best place to be with a new baby."

The potential savings are large. A single day in the 350-bed hospital costs $170, and the average stay for a maternity patient is 3.6 days.

Another form of the program is open to women who have Caesarian sections or hysterectomies.

The average stay for a Caesarian birth is 6.2 days. If a woman is discharged one day early, $50 is set aside for followup care. And for getting out two days early, $75 is available for later doctor bills.

Hysterectomy patients get similar rebates if they stay less than the usual eight days.

Reagan's road to budget success is just beginning

WASHINGTON (AP) — Now that President Reagan has won the first big test of his campaign to slash federal spending, he's going to have to win a succession of smaller ones to make it stick.

The budget process is not over; it is only beginning.

The resolution adopted by the House on a 270-154 vote Thursday set targets for spending and federal tax revenues. But it is not an itemized and binding budget for the federal government.

That is yet to come, in a series of bills that authorize federal programs, then bills that appropriate the money for them. In addition, Congress has not started to act on the tax legislation that is an integral part of the Reagan package.

Reagan's three-year tax cut plan is calculated into the revenue projections that are part of the House budget resolution. Its adoption, and the wide margin of Reagan's victory in the Democratic House, will be persuasive in the appropriations votes to come.

But congressional committees already have approved assorted measures that breach the budget.

For example: —A House Ways and Means subcommittee has recommended about $1.2

Triple murder defendant is sentenced

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Triple murder defendant Clifford Henry Bowen has been formally sentenced to death in a courtroom ringed with guards following threats against the judge's life.

More than a dozen law enforcement officers ringed the courtroom as District Judge Raymond Naifeh pronounced the sentence.

Naifeh said he received a telephone call shortly after midnight Thursday threatening his life if he sentenced Bowen to death.

Bowen was convicted of three counts of first-degree murder and was sentenced to death by lethal drug injection on July 21. Because of automatic appeals, the sentencing date will be changed.

The 49-year-old Tyler, Texas, man was convicted March 13 in the July 6, 1980, slayings of three men at the Guest House Motel in northwest Oklahoma City.

Former police officer, Harold Dean Behrens, is serving a life sentence for a murder conviction after hiring a hit man to kill one of the men.

billion in reductions in Social Security spending, only half the cuts contemplated in the Reagan budget.

—Another Ways and Means panel has voted against an $11 billion Reagan reduction in unemployment benefits.

—The Senate Agriculture Committee has tentatively approved wheat, milk and other farm subsidies far beyond the levels recommended by Reagan and set by the House resolution.

Under a system adopted seven years ago as Congress sought to improve its management of federal spending, the budget resolution sets an overall spending ceiling, forecasts revenues and fixes separate limits for the various categories of federal programs, such as defense, education and agriculture.

But individual federal programs are handled item by item, and while the committees that draft them are supposed to work within the budget resolution limits, it doesn't always happen that way.

There is another budget resolution to come. After Congress has completed action on the separate appropriations bills, it adopts a resolution setting what is envisioned as a firm ceiling on total spending and a floor on budget receipts. That is due by Sept. 15.

It can repeat the numbers of the first resolution or it can change them.
