Pope shot twice, two men seized

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John Paul II was shot twice in the intestines Wednesday as he rode into St. Peter's Square for a general audience before an estimated 10,000 people, but no vital organ was struck, both bullets were removed during a half-hour operation and he was "not in serious condition," Vatican Radio said.

Police said the shots were fired from a pistol by a man who identified himself as a Turkish national. The Italian news agency Italia identified the suspect as 23-year-old Mehmet Ali Hagca. Italian television said the suspect spoke to police in English and quoted him as telling police, he "didn't care about life."

Police said another man also was seized and that they were looking for a third apparently involved in the shooting of the pope as he rode into the square in his white jeep. Police sources said one of the men held for questioning was a 30-year-old Arab student at the University for Foreigners at Perugia, north of Rome, and that he was carrying a 9mm pistol.

Police said in addition to the 60-year-old pope, two women were wounded by the four or five bullets fired in St. Peter's Square. One was identified as Ann Odré of Buffalo, N.Y. She was not in serious condition, police said.

Witnesses who saw the pontiff enter the Gemelli Polyclinic, Rome's most modern, said he was awake when he arrived there. Vatican Radio said he was "serene and calm" prior to the operation. Italian television said the pope was taken into the operating room at the hospital at 5:55 p.m. — 11:55 a.m. EDT — and wheeled out 30 minutes later.

The Vatican Radio appealed to the faithful to pray for the pope.

President Reagan, himself the victim of a would-be assassin six weeks ago, said, "I'll pray for him," then called Cardinal Terrence Cooke in New York, and "expressed the sorrow of the American people and expressed his personal concern" for the pope, a White House spokesman said.

The Italian news agency ANSA said the pope had been hit by two bullets at the level of his pancreas and that he was standing on his jeep near the Vatican post office between St. Peter's Basilica and the famous Bernini colonnade.

Italian television reported two women were also injured, but there was no confirmation of that. The television said it was not certain whether the women were injured by pistol fire or hurt in the ensuing panic.

Vatican Radio said the pontiff had been driven through St. Peter's Square in his jeep and was about to leave the jeep to start a general audience when shots were heard at about 5:25 p.m. — 11:25 a.m. EDT.

The pontiff collapsed into the arms of his aides as the jeep returned inside the Vatican at high speed, the radio said.

Seconds later an ambulance followed by a car with Vatican dignitaries carried the pope to the Gemelli Polyclinic.

A few minutes after the shooting the loudspeaker which broadcasts over St. Peter's Square announced that the pope had been wounded.

The voice on the loudspeaker asked the crowd to pray for the pope by reciting the Our Father prayer and the Ave Maria. Thousands in the square knelt to pray.

John Paul, the former Cardinal Karol Wojtyla of Poland, became pope in the fall of 1978 at the age of 58 — the first non-Italian pope in 455 years.

POSSIBLE SUSPECT — This closeup made off a television monitor in New York of a broadcast by Italian government television station RAI shows a man taken into custody following the shooting of Pope John Paul II in Vatican City's St. Peter's Square today. According to RAI, the man was identified as Mehmet Ali Hagca. The Italian news agency Italia identified the suspect in custody as Mehmet Ali Hagca, a Turkish national.

Pope John Paul II brought renewed vitality to papacy

By The Associated Press

Pope John Paul II, a Pole who broke a 455-year string of Italian pontiffs on his election in the fall of 1978, was credited very early in his reign with bringing a new vitality to the Roman papacy. He had personal charm, stamina, a straight-forward pastoral style, command of foreign languages and a keen sense of timing.

His conservatism in doctrinal matters was balanced by social eloquence in behalf of the rights of peasants and workers.

He made strong efforts to restore order and discipline in the Roman Catholic Church of 720 million members, but in the process he appeared to have alienated a segment of the church's liberal wing.

A robust man, the former Cardinal Karol Wojtyla of Krakow, Poland, quickly became the greatest crowd-pleasing pope in modern times.

Millions flocked out to catch a glimpse of him on his tours to other countries, which included the United States and his native Poland.

"It was like an earth tremor of faith in all Latin America," said Archbishop Emilio Tagle Covarrubas of Valparaiso, Chile, after the pope's six-day visit to the Dominican Republic and Mexico in January, 1979. "We have heard very beautiful declarations, of great clarity and comprehension, in perfect Spanish. John Paul is a true pastor."

Americans by the scores of thousands in Boston, Philadelphia, Des Moines, Chicago, New York and Washington turned out to see this 26th occupant of the chair of St. Peter as he spent a week in the United States in October, 1979.

POPE JOHN PAUL II

American commentators marvelled at his capacity to draw huge crowds and to drive home unpopular ideas and still be lionized.

"John Paul Superstar" — as Time magazine described him on its cover — turned on the Americans in Philadelphia, an estimated one million people came out to see the pope at an outdoor Mass.

But perhaps the most personally rewarding of his travels in 1979 was a nine-day visit in June to Poland, his Communist-governed homeland, which he had left less than eight months before as a cardinal little-known to the rest of the world. Millions turned out, in tears and in joy, for his homecoming.

He had fast become a traveling pope. With Poland, the United States, the Dominican Republic, Mexico, Ireland and Turkey behind him in 1979, John Paul added Brazil; the African nations of Zaire, the Peoples Republic of the Congo and Ghana, and West Germany to his travels in 1980. Then, in 1981, he made Pakistan, the Philippines and Japan his ports of call.

Fluent in a half dozen languages, including Italian, the pope won over the Italians with his open manner.

In dozens of homilies, speeches and talks to the clergy during his week in the United States, the pope provided material for years of review by theologians and other Catholics.

Issuing injunctions against divorce, sex outside marriage and homosexual practice and insisting on priestly celibacy and its permanence, the pope seemed to establish himself as a strict conservative upholding church discipline. He was later to voice his strong objection to abortion.

Churchgoers asked to 'pray their hearts out for pope'

By The Associated Press

Shock quickly was succeeded by fervent prayers Wednesday as word spread of the shooting of Pope John Paul II. Churchgoers flocked to special services where they were asked to "pray your hearts out for our pontiff."

"We are shocked, tremendously shocked," said William H. Keeler, auxiliary bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of Harrisburg, Pa., echoing the words of others. "We've had prayers here in the building for the recovery of the pope and a Mass is being celebrated in the chapel."

"I'll pray for him," was the reported reaction of President Reagan, still recovering from a bullet fired by a would-be assassin.

As television networks broke off their regular programming to go on the air with news of the attack on the pope in St. Peter's Square, people gathered grim-faced around TV sets — repeating the pattern set only six weeks ago when Reagan was shot.

At New York City's St. Patrick's Cathedral, crowds gathered. A murmur of shock and cries of "Oh God" arose from worshippers at the noon Mass when they were told the pope had been shot.

"I have some dreadful, tragic news to tell you," the Rev. Charles Mahoney said before beginning Mass. "Pope John Paul II was shot just a few minutes ago. ... We want you today to pray your hearts out for our pontiff."

Reagan vows to pray for wounded pope

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, told that Pope John Paul II had been shot Wednesday, said, "I'll pray for him," a spokesman said.

Reagan, himself a victim of a would-be assassin only six weeks ago, was told of the shooting at 11:36 a.m. EDT by presidential counselor Edwin Meese III.

Deputy press secretary Larry Speakes told reporters at midday that he had relayed word of the shooting to Meese as soon as the bulletin moved on one of the news service machines in the White House press office.

Speakes said the president's first reaction was shock. He told Meese, "I'll pray for him," and asked to be kept informed.

Delegates say shooting points to need for handgun control

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Some delegates to the National Council of Churches meeting, representing 40 million American Christians, called on Wednesday for gun control after learning of the assassination attempt on Pope John Paul II.

"We are shocked at this new demonstration of violence in our time and it reinforces our concern that we control handguns all over the world," said the Rev. Robert W. Moon, of Stockton, Calif., who was here representing the United Methodist Church.

Bishop Phillip Cousin, Birmingham, Ala., of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, said the pontiff's shooting "points up the need for all world governments to denounce terrorism in all of its forms everywhere (and) it means we should take another look at handguns."

The Rev. Neil Riley of the United Methodist Church said the shooting "a regrettable sign of our times."

"It brings to mind the need to ban handguns, not only in the United States, but worldwide," he said. "It is disturbing that so many people are gun happy and that people like the pope and our president can be threatened by violence."

The Rev. M. William Howard, Americus, Ga., the president of the council's governing board which is holding a three-day meeting here, said the shooting is "a most tragic event" and demonstrated the poor "psychological health of our society."

Howard, also a minister of the American Baptist Church and a staff member of the Reformed Church in America, said the United States shouldn't try to draw any connection between the attempt on the pope's life and other efforts to assassinate world leaders, including President Reagan.

The announcement of the shooting came shortly before the delegates representing 32 Protestant, Anglican and Orthodox churches had adjourned their opening session for lunch.

Harte-Hanks veep will speak at 15th youth awards banquet

Richard T. Schlosberg III, vice-president of Newspaper Operations for Harte-Hanks Communications Inc., of San Antonio, will be the principal speaker at the 15th annual Youth Achievement Awards banquet, which will be held starting at 6:30 p.m., Thursday at the Big Spring Country Club.

The awards are sponsored each year by Zale's Jewelers, the Big Spring Herald and the Big Spring Rotary Club.

Sixteen senior students from Big Spring, Coahoma, Forsan and Sands high schools were declared finalists in the competition for the awards.

All 16 students, four from each high school, will receive plaques and gifts honoring their achievements. Judging was based on scholarship, citizenship and leadership.

One student from each school will be honored at the dinner as the outstanding student from that school.

Finalists from each high school include:

BIG SPRING — Charlotte Lynn Bell, Bobby Brasel, Matthew Alan Taylor and Dickie Wrightsil.

COAHOMA — Carmen Holman, Clifford Eugene Snell, Thomas Andrew Spell and Karen Jo Woolverton.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Inheritance tax

Q. What is the difference between an inheritance tax on an estate, and a death tax? Does Texas have a death tax?

A. Texas has a state inheritance tax, according to Margaret Ray, county clerk. This is based on the value of an estate. The state does not recognize a "death tax," she said.

Three outstanding grads speak Howard College tradition broken

Howard College broke tradition Tuesday night.

Instead of inviting a distinguished guest speaker to deliver words of wisdom upon the 1981 graduating class, the District chose to feature three outstanding members of the graduating class in recounting to an estimated crowd of 500 parents, guests and 86 graduates what an education at Howard College meant to them.

Nickie L. Billingsley, Michael D. Evans and Beth Boeker were the featured speakers for the 35th annual Howard County Junior College District's Commencement held in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

The three told of their experiences, joys, feelings and about their educations they had received over the past two years at Howard College.

Michael Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.G. Evans of Big Spring, decided to attend HC because he felt he could benefit more in educating and training for a career in accounting.

"I would be willing to put Howard College's best students up against the best students of many of the larger colleges around," said Evans. "The students that graduate from Howard College are more prepared than most juniors at major universities. Students have a better opportunity to gain more knowledge in our normal size classes than in a large college class with perhaps 100 students or more."

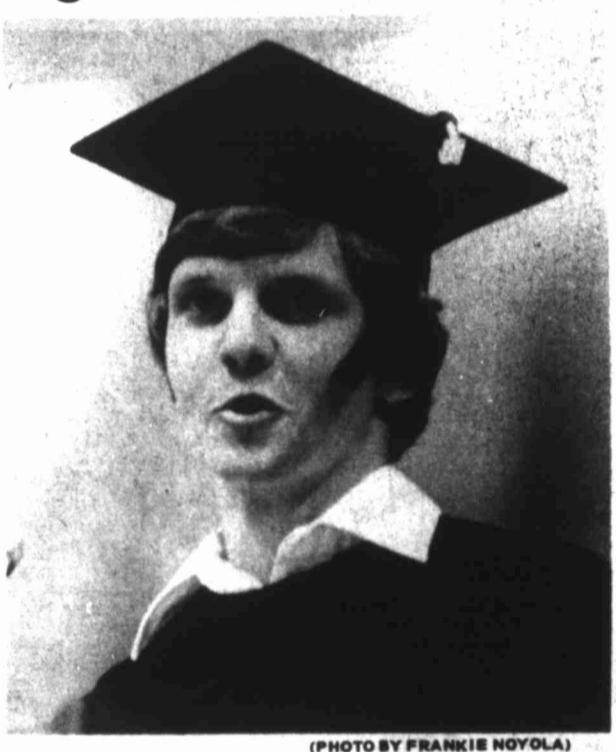

"I'll miss Howard College. As one man once said, 'Never walk through a gate that you do not turn around and shut it.' So we cannot stay in one place or dwell on one experience forever. We must shut the gate at Howard College and go on to what lies ahead. I wish the best for this graduating class and may God guide us all in making decisions affecting our lives in the future," he concluded.

Beth Boeker, daughter of Mrs. Oscar Boeker of Horsan and recipient of the HCJCD Most Outstanding Student Award, talked about what Howard College had done for her.

"The six runners-up will receive many honors during the Centennial, and will be splitting 57 gifts among themselves. Gifts include televisions, barbecue grills, jewelry, crystal, stereos, silver, a microwave oven, recliner, freezer, shopping spree, dinners, flowers, clothes and more than $1,000 in gift certificates."

Persons who bought coupons from First Lady candidates during the past four weeks will begin exchanging coupons for tickets to the "Iron Horse Revue" beginning Friday. Tickets may be exchanged for regular gate admission tickets, or an additional 50 cents will purchase a reserved seat ticket.

Persons who did not buy coupons from the candidates may buy tickets at the Centennial Store-Headquarters at 900 Main for $3. Tickets may also be purchased at the gate. Patron reserved seats, for $7.50, are also available. Children 12 or under will be able to exchange coupons

OUTSTANDING GRADUATE — Michael Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.G. For the first time in recorded history of the Howard

17 graduate from ADN program

The 17 members of the Class of 1981 Associate Degree Nursing Program were among the graduates honored at Tuesday night's Howard College commencement exercises.

The new nurses, most of whom will remain in the Big Spring area, are now eligible for licensure as Registered Nurses, and will travel to Austin July 8-9 to write the required State Board Examinations.

Immediately prior to the commencement exercises, these graduates were honored at a nursing convocation conducted by the faculty of the ADN Program.

Each of the new nurses appeared for the first time in complete graduate uniforms, wearing the graduate cap of Howard College.

During the brief ceremony, the nurses were presented with the gold and white school pin, two interlocked circles, representing the entwined relationship of the nurse and the patient. Both the pin and cap, which will identify these nurses as Howard College graduates throughout their nursing careers, are longtime nursing traditions.

Members of the Class of 1981 Howard County Junior College District's Associate Degree Nursing Program are: Mary Belcher, Melvin Berry, Brenda Burnett, Karen Hahn, Burniade Harness, Cathy Holten, Margaret Kruger, Brenda McAdams, and Linda Mize.

Also graduating were Ruth Owens, Lucinda Payne, Paul E. Payne, Karen Proffitt, Rebecca Torres, Mary Kay Townsend, Leslie Williams, and Tamra Williams.

Police Beat Hot dogs freed from car

Sometimes it isn't a dog's life after all.

Police received a call, 1 p.m. Tuesday, from the Holiday Inn, that two small dogs had been left inside a closed car in the lot of the inn. If left too long, the heat could have seriously injured the canines.

City Code Enforcement officers were called; the dogs were freed from the car, and taken to the animal shelter. The owner picked up the pups later in the afternoon, but didn't get away without a stern warning about how to avoid broiling two hot dogs.

Farm bill provides golden opportunity

Washington, D.C. — The House Agriculture Committee is in the midst of formulating American farm policy, through the Omnibus Farm Bill, that will set this country's food and fiber policy for the next four years.

This work is being done during a period of the most austere budgetary restraints for decades and in analyzing the budgetary cuts, there will be very few areas of our society that will face cuts as severe as agriculture.

If the program is successful, however, farmers and ranchers will be among the greatest beneficiaries. While inflation and high interest rates have seriously affected all Americans, the agricultural industry, with its heavy dependence on energy and operating credit, has been especially hard hit.

It is still too early in the legislative process to accurately predict the outcome or the final form the Farm Bill will take, but I have noted a shift in concepts that make up the back bone of any farm program that cannot be ignored.

Weather Showers forecast for Northwest Texas

By the Associated Press

Widely scattered showers and thunderstorms were forecast today for Northwest Texas and North Central Texas as a low pressure system moved in over the southern portion of the Panhandle.

Most of Texas was to have partly cloudy skies except in Southwest Texas where clear skies were expected.

Highs were to be mostly in the 80s, ranging from the low 70s in northern sections of the Panhandle to the upper 90s in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.

Skies were mostly cloudy early today over the eastern half of the state and mostly clear over the western half.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 60s and 70s except for readings in the 50s in the Panhandle. Extremes ranged from 54 at Amarillo to 77 at Brownsville.

WEST TEXAS — Widely scattered showers and isolated thunderstorms in northern Panhandle today. Partly cloudy Panhandle and southeast today and southeast tonight and most of south Thursday. Otherwise fair through Thursday. Highs low 70s northern Panhandle to upper 90s Big Bend. Lows low 40s Panhandle to near 60 Big Bend. Highs Thursday near 70 Panhandle to mid 90s Big Bend.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy Friday through Sunday. Chance of thunderstorms at the weekend east of the mountains, warmer most sections Friday. Highs from the upper 70s extreme north to the upper 80s south and the upper 90s lower elevations of the Big Bend. Lows 40s north and 50s south Friday warming to the upper 50s and 60s Saturday and Sunday.

Murder trial continues

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Anastacio Gutierrez murder trial resumed Wednesday morning in the 32nd District Court of the Mitchell County Courthouse.

Gutierrez is charged with the June 15, 1980, fatal shooting of Wa'Keen Cantu. Tuesday, much of the testimony was given outside the presence of the eight-woman, four-man jury.

The defense has filed a motion to suppress, specifically, a 38-caliber pistol, which the defendant's lawyer claims was obtained without a search warrant.

The 55-year-old Gutierrez and two other men were arrested a short while following the shooting when they returned to their home in Coahoma from Westbrook where the alleged murder occurred.

Judge Weldon Kirk is hearing the case.

Headquarters hours revealed

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Mitchell County Centennial headquarters announced its official hours Tuesday.

Week days, hours will be from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m., and on Saturdays from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m., with clothing for women and men for the Centennial festivities as well as souvenir items.

Additionally, characters for the "Brothers of the Brush" and the Centennial Belle chapters can be picked up and turned in.

'A dog and pony show' Lawmakers exchange angry words over redistricting plan

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — U.S. Rep. Bill Patman, D-Ganado, has accused the House redistricting committee of "gerrymandering" his district and drew an angry response when he called the panel's work "a dog and pony show."

The committee's chairman, Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad, had planned for the committee to pass out a congressional remap Tuesday night but delayed the vote until today when he could not hold a quorum.

In the redistricting plan drawn by Von Dohlen and Rep. Bob Davis, R-Irving, Patman's coastal district — the 14th — shifts to the west and leaves him only four of his present counties.

Patman, who until January was a state senator on the opposite side of the political fence from Von Dohlen and Davis, complained Bexar County — which he has not represented before — would make up half the district's population.

The district, he said, was "gerrymandered."

Patman agreed with a spokesman for Mexican-American groups that the committee was trying to rush out a redistricting plan without giving the public time to see it and react to it.

The plan was made public Monday night.

When Patman tried to ask Von Dohlen a question, Von Dohlen cut him short.

"Congressman, when I come to Washington, you can ask me the questions. I'm on the other side of the table now," Von Dohlen said, glaring at Patman.

Patman then referred to the committee "holding these dog and pony shows" and said people should have a chance to participate in the redistricting process. "Don't just cram it down their throats."

"I resent calling the activities of this committee and the chairman a dog and pony show when we've seen the folly of Congress that has led us to the point of bankruptcy," said Rep. Bill Hollowell, D-Grand Saline.

Von Dohlen lives in the district proposed for Patman, but denied Monday night that he wants to run against Patman for Congress.

Sparks also flew when Raul Noriega, director of the Voting Rights Litigation Project of Texas Rural Legal Aid, objected to voting out a bill before his group could examine its treatment of Mexican-Americans.

"We view this as an attempt by the committee to purposely discriminate against minorities in this state," Noriega said.

"Mr. Noriega knows full well his organization has had every input. I personally resent anything in the record that indicates that is not the case," Von Dohlen said.

The committee record is important since Texas is covered by the U.S. Voting Rights Act. Von Dohlen has said that each step of the process must be documented to show there was no attempt to dilute the strength of minorities.

Several blacks from Dallas protested the carving of a 65 percent minority district that includes the home of U.S. Rep. Martin Frost, D-Dallas. They said they feared the result would be the defeat of Frost, who is white.

Isaac Jackson of Dallas said the "Dallas black community has influence over two congressmen" now, Frost and U.S. Rep. Jim Mattox, D-Dallas.

"Martin Frost is highly respected and considered to have a bright future. It would be a crime if the Texas Legislature put his career in jeopardy," Jackson said.

Davis said it was an "almost overwhelming conclusion," however, that Frost "would have no risk of loss" in the minority district proposed by Davis and Von Dohlen.

John Price of Dallas, chairman of the Coalition for Minority Representation, endorsed the plan, however, saying "minorities in Dallas County as a whole can live with it."

The legislative session ends June 1, leaving less than three weeks for redistricting congressional seats and the Legislature.

Taxpayers now able to handle tax burden

A bill making its way through the State Senate provides funding that will enable teachers, college facilities and state employees to stay ahead of inflation. Already approved by the lower house, the bill boosts overall spending by 19.6 percent.

No one begrudges the raises projected for the teachers and the state employees. The legislature, however, sometimes acts as if the good times the state is now experiencing will last into eternity. The solons not only gets generous with the money in the state treasury but are prone to cut up future income the state might or might come by.

Senators will OK a slightly different version before the final document is reconciled and sent to Gov. Bill Clements, but the $26.5 billion budget for the next two years will be balanced as required by the Texas constitution.

And, thanks to the booming energy business and a healthy Sun Belt economy, this record revenue will be collected without any additional tax burden on Texans.

But that is not to say that a $26.5 billion tax burden is light. It isn't.

TEACHER LOBBYING groups have been quieter than usual this year because it was evident from the first that the Legislature would give them at least as much as they could logically expect.

The House-passed bill, together with automatic increases for another year's experience, will give public school teachers an average 27.7 percent raise during the biennium which starts in September.

College professors similarly will stay a step ahead of double-digit inflation. Regular state employees will get a 9.2 percent raise Sept. 1, on top of the 5.1 percent interim boost they got in February, and another 8.7 percent increase the following September under the House measure.

That will total 23 percent in less than two years and should end cries of "we're underpaid" at all but the lowest pay grades.

TEXAS IS UNUSUALLY fortunate to be able to keep up with, let alone stay ahead of, inflation without having to look for new sources of revenue.

Oil drilling and production activity is the main reason for this, of course, but the Texas business climate and industrial development also far outstrip the nation as a whole.

The fact that Texas has no personal or corporate income tax and that workers are guaranteed the right to work without joining a union or paying union dues are among the significant factors favoring economic growth in the Lone Star State.

The new budget addresses itself to problems of water development, new prisons and educational improvement, all of which will help maintain that favorable climate.

Never existed

Around the rim

Tina Miller

As you have no doubt noticed, it's May once again. Even if you haven't looked at the calendar, you probably realized what time of year it was by the flood of high school graduation announcements you are receiving.

Though graduation day is always eagerly anticipated (no more homework, no more tests, etc.), there is occasionally a twinge of apprehension toward the future. Though most adults tend to recall their high school days with happy nostalgia, take just a moment to remember how it really was, and is, to be stranded between childhood and adulthood.

What if your parents constantly told you to grow up, and then proceeded to fight like cats and dogs over which TV program to watch.

What if you got all excited about going to the prom, only to have the boy or girl of your dreams ask your best friend to go instead.

And what if, one day, you failed your Algebra test, found out you would have to wear braces, didn't make the football or basketball team, and all your parents did was smile and tell you that these were the best years of your life.

HIGH SCHOOL IS, of course, a wonderful time. But graduation is too often viewed as an end rather than a beginning. The "carefree" days of youth are not over with graduation — they never existed to begin with. Though their problems may appear minor to you, they often seem like the end of the world to them.

Having somehow survived those high school years, I don't think I'll ever want to go back. My apologies to George Burns, but I just can't believe I'll ever "Wish I was 18 again."

Best scam

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — While only a few members of Congress were caught in the ABSCAM net, the greatest "scam" of all was the one worked on Congress as a whole by the FBI. The G-men got Congress to approve — after the fact — illegal activities the bureau had used as it was setting the trap for targeted lawmakers.

Congress obviously didn't know what the FBI was up to. But the Justice Department did.

MY ASSOCIATE INDIAN Badhar has reviewed a telltale memo from Assistant Attorney General John Harmon, dated July 27, 1978, which clearly acknowledges the FBI's illegal operations during the planning stages of ABSCAM. The memo discusses ways to lend a protective legal cover to the FBI's outlaw activities.

The method decided on — "remedial legislation" — sounded innocent enough. It would have permitted the bureau to set up banks and corporations in contravention of existing laws. But Congress wasn't fully informed that the FBI had already committed the illegalities the legislation would make legal — and that some of its own members would be caught by the "remedial legislation" they were being asked to pass.

Here's what the Harmon memo and related court documents reveal about the FBI's illegal activity:

The bureau had established nine business operations, with five more in the planning stages, and was using the profits to pay for its undercover investigations. This is specifically forbidden under Title 31, Section 484 of the U.S. Code — an important banking law that gives Congress exclusive control of all federal funds.

The FBI had deposited money in commercial banks to finance its operations — a violation of Title 18, Section 643, which states that government officials who deposit public funds in any bank are guilty of embezzlement. "Four major current operations are threatened by the applicable limitations," Harmon wrote, "and four other major operations planned for implementation in the immediate future would be greatly hampered."

The FBI had set up a company named Abdul Enterprises as a financial cover for ABSCAM. The company carried — illegally — a fictitious account in the Chase Manhattan Bank, which served as the FBI's credit reference for ABSCAM.

The FBI leased a townhouse in Washington, D.C. — the one in which it videotaped members of Congress taking payoffs from a fictitious Arab shiek — in direct violation of the law that forbids the G-men to lease property without telling Congress.

The illegal lease of the Georgetown townhouse was made by an FBI "front" called Olympic Construction Co., to which the bureau had made an illegal multimillion-dollar loan. With its taxpayers support, Olympic was able to underbid legitimate contractors and obtain some $8 million in government contracts.

HARMON'S MEMO — WITHOUT being specific or naming names — reported these wholly illicit transactions by the FBI. It then noted that the bureau could have for a budget increase to continue the undercover operations involved — but that this would mean the FBI would lose "control" and would have to make a detailed explanation to Congress.

Aware that it would be in trouble if its illegal activities were exposed, the FBI in July 1978 sent proposals to Congress that would legalize such operations in the future — without fully disclosing that it had already committed breaches of the law. FBI Director William Webster sent a hand-carried letter to Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., asking for his help in enacting the necessary "remedial legislation."

The FBI proposals were enacted by Congress in February 1979. The lawmakers were led to believe they were helping the FBI fight white-collar and organized crime.

Congress was not told that its own members were the targets of illegal FBI activities it had belatedly authorized.

Colleges and universities throughout the U.S. have outlawed the "hazing" and initiations in their fraternities and sororities for the reason that there have been accidents and in cases, even deaths that have occurred from "having fun". What would happen in Big Spring if a tragedy would occur? Who would be blamed? What would your child think, or how would he feel if in defending himself or herself, an accident would occur? Can we as parents, handle that? Can our children? I ask all parents and children; ministers; priests; teachers; school board members and anyone else interested to speak out against this barbaric rite before it's too late, before something terrible happens.

If there must be any sort of initiation, the parents, teachers, other school officials, and the children could work out a day and only one day for a really "fun" type day, in which those who desire to, can participate. Let us stop this senseless rite before one of our loved ones get hurt.

Haig frightens Duarte

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Before the missing American priest turned up unharmed in El Salvador, Secretary of State Alexander Haig frightened President Jose Napoleon Duarte with a tough telephone call misinterpreted as a warning that the U.S. soon might stop supporting the Salvadoran government.

Speaking to Duarte in English without an interpreter, Haig mentioned strong pressure against the Reagan administration's Salvadoran policy in both Europe and the U.S. Duarte thought Haig was threatening total withdrawal of U.S. support. Haig meant only to press Duarte to apprehend the killers of four murdered American nuns and find the then missing priest, Father Roy Bourgeois — who, like the nuns, belonged to the radical Maryknoll order.

The pressure against the Salvadoran government eased when Bourgeois reappeared — after having spent 10 days with communist guerrillas, just as Duarte had speculated. Furthermore, a joint investigation by Duarte's government and the U.S. Embassy in San Salvador may soon effect the arrest of soldiers who killed the nuns.

NOFZIGER WANTED? President Reagan's senior White House staff, searching for ways to strengthen the press operation under deputy press secretary Larry Speakes, is eyeing the possibility: Move top political aide Lyn Nofziger into a temporary role as chief White House communicator.

NOFZIGER BECAME AN instantly-acclaimed celebrity when he took over the briefing microphones at George Washington University Hospital on that fateful March 31 and cleared away anxieties over the president's condition. Letters poured into Nofziger's office in the ensuing weeks praising his performance. He then returned to his job as Reagan's political troubleshooter.

With press secretary James Brady still hospitalized, the senior White House staff wants more muscle in the press office but will not name a new press secretary out of deference to the wounded Brady. The solution: Bring Nofziger in, but not with the title of press secretary, for a couple of months. Nofziger would not take a permanent job as presidential spokesman.

TANGLING TEXANS The normally convivial luncheon of the Texas Democratic congressional delegation turned into a confrontation when Majority Leader Jim Wright accused unnamed colleagues of disloyalty in backing President Reagan's economic package.

Rep. Ralph Hall repeatedly asked Wright to reveal just whom he was talking about, and Wright repeatedly refused. Finally, Rep. Kent Hance volunteered that Wright meant him. Hance, who has a coveted seat on the Ways and Means Committee, backed Reagan's budget and is seeking to devise a modified version of Reagan's tax plan.

Wright has grumbled to colleagues that he secured seats for Hance on Ways and Means and Rep. Phil Gramm, another conservative Texas Democrat on the Budget Committee, only to have them defect from the Democratic leadership and support Reagan's economic proposal. But at the tense Texas luncheon meeting, Hance told Wright to his face that he was out of touch with the times.

ANTI-AWACS REGANITES The proposed sale of AWACS radar planes to Saudi Arabia, in enough trouble as it is with a solid Senate majority presently against it, may soon encounter even more difficulty with an unfavorable report from President Reagan's Arms Control and Disarmament Agency (ACDA).

Dumping syndrome: Which kind?

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I had stomach surgery and have had symptoms similar to those associated with low blood sugar (described in a recent article of yours) My vision becomes impaired, but becomes normal again in about 20 minutes with the intake of a couple of lumps of sugar. Am I right in thinking this is low blood sugar causing this? — C.K.

I think you are referring to the dumping syndrome, which sometimes happens after stomach surgery. The symptoms are a fast heart beat, lightheadedness and even fainting. Visual impairment can be part of the picture.

There are two kinds of dumping syndrome. Early dumping syndrome appears about 30 minutes after eating a meal. Quite literally, a large volume of only partially-digested food is "dumped" from the stomach into the small intestine. This load of food has not been diluted with stomach juices. To try to make up, the small intestine pours out fluids and the symptoms result. Sugar is not a factor.

The second kind of dumping syndrome occurs an hour to an hour and a half after eating. The symptoms are the same, but the reasons are different. This time, the lightheadedness, etc., is due to low blood sugar. Here's why.

Normally, the sugar (carbohydrate) portion of a meal gets into the small intestine on a gradual timetable dictated by stomach activity. With the dumping syndrome, the small intestine may get a large load of sugar from the meal in one fell swoop. When sugar is present in the small intestine, that's the signal for the pancreas to make insulin to burn it up. With this overload of sugar a resulting overabundance of insulin is made. That causes blood sugar to drop too low. It's an exaggeration of the body's normal response to sugar.

First, you have to confirm which kind of dumping syndrome you have — early or delayed. If you have either kind you will have to take smaller and more frequent meals so that food is not unceremoniously dumped into the small intestines. You will have to avoid too much sugar at meals, either in solid or liquid form. With these simple steps, most dumping syndromes can be controlled.

The sugar lumps you take will bring your blood sugar back to normal and relieve your symptoms. It's the same as when an overdose of insulin is taken. Subsequent sugar intake restores the body chemistry. But this is not the solution; the solution is to prevent the blood sugar from dropping too low in the first place.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you please write, if you can, about small pinhead blood spots all over my body? I am getting more and am really nervous about them. My doc just dismisses my questions. — Mrs. J.M.

I can't be sure without seeing you, but your description fits the picture of one of those skin ailments that come with age — senile angioma. I apologize for the first part of the term. We can rename it — maturity angioma. They are entanglements of the skin's blood vessels; tiny, bright red, soft and of no significance. They produce no symptoms and do no harm. They are most commonly located on the back and chest. Your doctor can tell you if this is what you have.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Is there a way to enlarge the breasts through vigorous exercise? How much muscle tissue is present in or around the breast? — S.J.

There is very little muscle tissue in the breast. The breast is made up mostly of milk-producing glands, their ducts and, you should pardon the expression, fat. Exercise will enlarge the chest wall muscles that support the breast and can prevent sagging. Since bust size is measured entirely around the chest, the bustline will increase with exercise because of the increase in size of the chest and back muscles. That means you can end up with nice numbers but the same size breasts. Don't let anyone tell you that exercise will increase breast tissue itself.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a young woman who recently had to have a body cast and a cast over one arm.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I have failed God many, many times in the past. Whenever I did I always asked his forgiveness, and felt that he had truly forgiven me. Now I feel that I really want to live for Christ, but although I have asked for forgiveness I don't seem to feel any different. What can I do about this? — E.F.

DEAR E.F.: The important thing is not how you personally feel about God and his forgiveness, but how God feels about you. In other words, you need to realize that your feelings can sometimes deceive you. What you must come to understand is what God has promised you in his Word.

That is why I want you to understand one central truth: Jesus Christ came into this world for one major reason, and that was to deal with the problem of sin. It is sin that separates us from God, and it is sin which causes so much heartbreak and confusion in our lives and our world. Christ came to conquer sin, and to make forgiveness possible. "Here is a trustworthy saying that deserves full acceptance: Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners" (1 Timothy 1:15). He did this by dying on the cross as a full and complete sacrifice for sin.

Let me make clear what this means for you and me personally. It means that God wants to forgive us of our sins; furthermore, he has done everything possible to make our forgiveness a reality. All we have to do is trust Christ, and believe that he has in fact paid the penalty for all our sins.

That is why when we sin we can come to Christ for forgiveness. God has promised to forgive us, and he cannot lie. His Son paid the full penalty for our sins, and because of that forgiveness is ours. The Bible puts it clearly: "If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just and will forgive us our sins and purify us from all unrighteousness" (1 John 1:9). Trust this promise of God — not your feelings. Your trust is in Christ, and he has promised to forgive you.

Modern version of quack medicine is around today

Malone-Hogan Hospital is featuring a "Quackery" Exhibit in the first floor lobby to call attention to National Hospital Week. The exhibit is on loan from the American Medical Society, and highlights cure-alls of the 1880's, which unfortunately usually were nothing more than sugar and water. Their modern versions under different names and appearance can be found today.

Roosevelt signed the Federal Pure Food and Drug Act into law on June 30, 1906, he brought to a close this unique chapter in American medical history.

Pioneers in the Old West were particularly susceptible to the wiles of medicine show barkers and the fantastic advertisements which appeared in their tiny frontier newspapers.

"Diphtheria instantly relieved and permanently cured by using KURAKOFF, Nature's Life Preserver."

"Piso's Cure for Consumption" has cured thousands.

"Aphroditine, the Celebrated French Cure, is sold on a positive guarantee to cure any form of nervous disease or any disorder of the generative organs of either sex."

There were absolutely no physical or mental ills for which the marvelous panaceas of the 1800's could not give "instant, lasting relief." Hysterics, wry neck, seminal weaknesses, bilious cholera, gravel, nervous derangement and green sickness were all curable with dollar-a-bottle tonics and restoratives.

Qualified doctors were scarce those days, particularly in the western frontier. Man's continual quest for the cheap, quick, painless way to attain good health, one which still exists today to a lesser degree, made "granny" remedies and magic cure-alls, catch on.

The public is invited to visit the exhibit from 9 to 4 throughout National Hospital Week.

THEY ALL PROMISED SAME THING, INSTANT CURE

Bess Truman remains in serious condition

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Former first lady Bess Truman remained in serious condition today at a Kansas City hospital, where she is battling pneumonia and other complications of surgery last week to repair a broken hip.

Helen Roush, a nursing supervisor at Research Medical Center, said early this morning that the 96-year-old widow of President Harry S. Truman was resting comfortably in the hospital's intensive care unit.

Mrs. Truman's physician, Dr. Wallace Graham, reported Tuesday that she had developed pneumonia, despite continued use of a broad range of antibiotics designed to prevent fluids from collecting in her lungs.

However, Mrs. Truman was fighting off complications she suffered Monday, when her kidneys functioned at roughly a third of capacity and her heart rate and blood pressure fluctuated.

"This is not a true bacterial pneumonia," Graham said of the latest complication. "But fluid has accumulated in the lungs and therefore she is not breathing as deeply as she should."

Jim Rice, a hospital spokesman, said late Tuesday night that Mrs.

Truman was receiving antibiotics and respiratory treatments "to clear her lungs and help her breathe more fully."

A respiratory specialist said hypostatic pneumonia was not uncommon among post-operative patients, especially elderly ones, and is not as serious as bacterial pneumonia — although it can develop into the more serious phase.

"We want her to give us some good, husky coughs," said Graham, the Truman family physician since 1945. "But you have to understand that when you're 96 years old and in a weakened condition, this is hard to do."

"Her spirits are terrific," he added. "We asked her to wiggle her toes and she thought that was funny and giggled. She is also enjoying the flowers she has received and asked me to bring one close so that she could smell it."

"We are not fearful," said Graham, "just extraordinarily cautious."

Mrs. Truman "remains in quite serious condition at a critical stage," he said. President and Mrs. Reagan sent a bouquet of flowers to Mrs. Truman, with the note, "Our prayers and our best thoughts are with you." Sheila Tate, Mrs. Reagan's spokeswoman, said Tuesday.

Wife of congressman new capital sleuth

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sam Spade and Phillip Marlowe, move over. There's a new private eye in town — and she's the wife of a congressman.

Arlene Crane, wife of Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill., insists she won't be an arm-chair detective. "I want to dig it out!" she says. "I want a challenge. Solving puzzles is my bag."

But it is unlikely that the busy Capitol Hill socializer, who refuses to reveal her age, will have many of the nation's lawmakers sitting at her desk, chain-smoking and nervously stammering their tales of woe.

Mrs. Crane says she won't take any clients she knows socially. But she says she won't hesitate to take a case just because a congressman or senator is a target of the investigation.

Mrs. Crane says she always wanted to be a private eye. "I like solving puzzles," she says. "I like helping people. I feel like a doctor."

So, at the urging of a neighbor, she enrolled in a private detective training course. After graduation, she was hired by International Investigations Inc. of McLean, Va., where the neighbor, Dick Bast, is chief sleuth.

Mrs. Crane concedes that her husband, a conservative congressman who made an unsuccessful run for the 1980 Republican presidential nomination, at first had mixed reactions to her new career. But she says he is happy now that she is fulfilling her ambition.

Among other things, Mrs.

ARLENE CRANE

Crane says her women's intuition will help her crack cases.

"A woman can size up a man without even talking to him," she says. "Men are always looking for the good — not creeps, of course, but most men. Most women are protecting their bets by looking for the good but seeing the bad."

"Women are not going to be suckered by a con," she continues. "They have an innate capacity to see through people."

Because she has eight children, ranging in age from 8 to 20, she expects to do most of her sleuthing out of her home. She doesn't want any divorce cases, and the prospect of stakeouts doesn't appeal to her. "That would probably mean a divorce case," she says.

What would she do if a client complained of harassing phone calls? "Tap the phone," she says.

Prison meal boycott ends with steak and potatoes

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — Prisoners broke a seven-day meal boycott with a hearty feast of T-bone steaks and mashed potatoes at the Federal Correction Institute here, officials at the medium-security facility said.

Warden Robert A. Gunnell

said most of the inmates returned to brunch Sunday and almost all were back at the dinner table Sunday night.

About 90 percent of the 480 prisoners participating in the boycott had been subsisting on food from vending machines. However, Gunnell said prison officials still have not received specific grievances from the inmates concerning their meals.

The warden said the steak meal was not a lure to coax the prisoners to end their boycott.

"Our meals are planned on a 33-day period and steak was the meal planned for Sunday. We have our own beef operation here and when we save up enough steaks, we feed them," he said.

Gunnell said officials now have started limiting the amount of food allowed each inmate.

Vickie Daniel on food stamps sister claims

BAYTOWN, Texas (AP) — Vickie Daniel, who recently won a bitter courtroom fight with the family of her dead husband for custody of her two small sons, is receiving food stamps and has applied for child welfare payments, her sister says.

Mrs. Daniel, who is accused in the Jan. 19 slaying of her husband, former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr., gets $185 a month in food stamps, her sister, Rita Steadham, said Tuesday.

Mrs. Daniel's sister-in-law, Jean Daniel Murph of Richardson, is executor of her brother's estate and filed the civil suit for custody of Franklin Baldwin Daniel, 3, and Marion Price Daniel, IV, 1. A Liberty County jury decided last month to allow Mrs. Daniel to keep custody of the two children born during the Daniels' stormy four-year marriage.

"If Jeanie is so concerned about the welfare of those boys, why has she given Vickie only $50 since January? I wouldn't call her concerned," Mrs. Steadham said.

City fathers tackle hefty agenda

The Big Spring City Council met at 8 o'clock Tuesday morning instead of its usual meeting time of 8 p.m. on Tuesdays to accommodate councilmen who had other business during the evening.

The same thing will occur when the council meets again at 8 a.m. on May 26. During Tuesday's meeting, the council was faced with a massive, 116-page agenda.

Among the 33 items of business was a proposal by the local chapter of the March of Dimes to use Commanche Trail Park for a fund raising event. The proposal was approved with the understanding that the March of Dimes will not have exclusive use of the park, and cannot charge general admission to the park during the event.

The council awarded a bid to Harry

Money, 1717 Anderson, for painting and carpentry work at the Dora Roberts Community Center. Total cost of the project will be $7,230.60.

In other business, councilmen: — Passed the first reading of an ordinance revising the budget for the 1980-81 fiscal year. The revision includes projects already paid for and projects proposed for the remainder of the year.

— Presented a 20-year service pin to G.O. Gomez, employee with the City Sanitation Department.

— Granted temporary mobile home permits at 107 N.E. 3rd and 800 N. Scurry.

— Awarded a bid to low-bidder Jack Bennett Dirt Construction Company of Big Spring for the demolition of three abandoned local buildings. The structures are located at 401-03 W. 3rd and 419 E. 3rd.

— Passed on second reading an ordinance annexing a seven-acre tract of land adjacent to the Highland South Addition. Request for the annexation was made by Grady Cunningham.

— Approved the final plat of that same property.

— Gave final approval to the leasing of Building Two at the Industrial park to Cotton Machinery Corporation.

— Gave final approval to the leasing of Firehouse Number Six to be used as the Howard County Detox Center.

— Appointed Councilmen Hal Boyd and Jack Y. Smith to the Audit Committee; Councilman Bobby Fuller to the Accident Review Board; Councilman Russ McEwen to the Juvenile Board; and John Curry and Clyde McMahon to the Colorado River Municipal Water District Board.

Agents seize weapons bound for South Africa

HOUSTON (AP) — Customs agents who stormed a Austrian-registered Boeing 707 at Houston's Intercontinental Airport arrested six foreign nationals, seized the jetliner and confiscated a cache of more than 2,200 military weapons bound for South Africa, authorities said.

The weapons, including automatic rifles and grenade launchers, were being transferred from a truck to the cargo hold of the jetliner when about two dozen agents rushed the plane Tuesday, said U.S. Customs spokesman Charles Conroy.

He said two men from England and the four-member Austrian flight crew were taken in to custody and will be charged in federal court early today with violations of the Neutrality Act.

Rocky Rothgeb, the local agent in charge of the Federal Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau said customs officials have asked his agency to investigate whether any firearms violations are involved.

The arrest capped a three-week investigation and represents the biggest seizure of weapons ever made by the customs service, said Conroy, who estimated the value of the lethal contraband at $1.2 million.

Conroy said agents had tracked the truckload of American-made arms from Hartford, Conn.

The cache included 636 automatic M-16 military rifles, magazine clips, ammunition, 38-caliber handguns and 357-caliber pistols, Conroy said.

The weapons, still in wooden crates, were manufactured by Colt and purchased in Connecticut with a letter of credit issued by a European bank, said Conroy.

He said the suspects carried a false U.S. State Department license permitting the export of munitions of war.

The intended use of the weapons was not immediately clear, but an investigation may turn up more details, said Conroy.

"These are military weapons, not sporting weapons," he said. "I don't feel this is completely over yet. Some details haven't surfaced."

The UN Security Council imposed a permanent arms embargo against South Africa in 1977.

The suspects, who offered no resistance when arrested, were taken to the Harris County Rehabilitation Center.

The jetliner arrived from New York at the Qualiton Aero Service Inc. terminal Tuesday morning, said terminal manager Darrell Harris. He said the crew told him the fuel bill, in excess of $20,000, had been paid in New York.

Conroy said two dozen agents took part in the raid. Customs officials were assisted by agents of the Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, airport security and Houston police.

It was the second weapons-related raid in Houston in a week. Last week, Federal Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau agents confiscated 807 high-quality gun silencers at a private Houston airport. Agents said the silencers were for "drug hits" in El Salvador and along the U.S.-Mexico border.

Mother charged in child's death

HOUSTON (AP) — A murder charge has been filed against the mother of a year-old boy investigators say died of head injuries.

The charge filed Monday against Olga Diaz, 25, alleges she struck the child, Santiago, on the head "in a manner and means unknown."

Police said the mother has moved to Mexico since the child died May 2 four days after being hospitalized.

New Mexico woman charged in plot to murder husband

HOUSTON (AP) — A New Mexico woman has been charged with attempting to hire an undercover officer to kill her husband for an $18,000 diamond ring. Katherine Flowers, 32, of Truth-or-Consequences was arrested Tuesday near the Greenspoint Mall near Houston Intercontinental Airport. Bond was set at $20,000. Lt. Don Belcher of the Harris County Organized Crime Unit said the solicitation of murder charge alleges an undercover officer was told the murder of the husband, Maurice Davis, 65, the owner of hot spring spas and motels in New Mexico, was to look like a heart attack. The Houston Post quoted Davis as saying by telephone from Truth-or-Consequences he and Katherine Flowers had been married in February but that he had filed for annulment of the marriage on Monday.

Second caravan to roll Saturday

The second of the two caravans to seven neighboring cities to promote the Big Spring-Howard County Centennial will leave Big Spring Saturday at 9 a.m. The caravan, which will visit the cities of Stanton, Midland and Odessa, will be advertising the ten-day celebration and encouraging their residents to participate in the festivities planned for May 21-30, 1981. The caravan, like the previous one on May 2, to Colorado City, Snyder, Gail and Lamesa, will originate from the parking lot next to the Centennial Store-Headquarters at 900 Main beginning at 8:15 a.m. and depart the city at 9 a.m. The civic-minded group is slated to arrive in Stanton at 9:45 a.m. and will make a brief presentation at their courthouse. After the program promoting the centennial, the group will depart Stanton at 10:15 a.m. and arrive in Midland at the Midland Park Mall at approximately 11 a.m. They will be in the mall from 11 to 11:30 a.m. handing out brochures and posters on the centennial festivities and plans. The group will then break for lunch in Midland. At 12:45 p.m., the caravan is slated to leave Midland for Odessa, with an estimated time of arrival at 1:30 p.m. at the Odessa Permian Mall. The group will be in the mall from 1:30 to 2 p.m. giving a brief presentation on the local centennial and handing out literature on the many festivities. The program will end at approximately 2 p.m. and the delegation will be released from the caravan at that time to either return to Big Spring or to remain in Odessa. As in the first caravan, motorhomes will be provided to transport the seven winners of the First Lady competition who wish to participate in the promotional tour. In addition, persons wishing to go on the caravans are being asked to decorate their vehicles to attract attention to the procession. The winning entry will receive a check for $25 for their efforts. While in the three cities, the local group will also be providing a variety of entertainment to attract people to the caravan. Plans call for a barber shop quartet, square dancers, and other music. The caravan will also be receiving an escort from the various law enforcement agencies in the cities and will have reserved parking for vehicles in the tour. In addition to the entertainment, persons taking part in the trip are also being reminded to wear their old-style clothes and to bring a sack lunch for the break in Midland. Janet Mahoney, chairperson of the caravan committee, said "the first caravan was a lot of fun and we received a warm welcome from each of the four communities we visited." Mahoney also said the caravan not only helped promote the centennial festivities, but also promoted the city as a whole. Talking about the reception expected in the three cities, Mahoney said she had been told that there would probably be live television coverage of the caravan in both Midland and Odessa, and hoped that a large group from Big Spring and Howard County would be participating in the caravan because of the live coverage. "It wouldn't look very good for Big Spring," Mahoney said, "if we only have 20 or 30 people involved in the caravan when their television stations come out to film us." Individuals and groups interested in participating in the second caravan should contact the Centennial Store-Headquarters at 267-3641 by Thursday to allow them to begin firming up plans for the trip.

Police call latest slaying 'different'

ATLANTA (AP) — Police say the death of a 17-year-old black youth found strangled with a cord was a "different-type case" from a string of 26 slayings of black youths, and they considered today whether to assign the case to the special child deaths task force. Like 15 of the youths killed in the series of slayings, William Barrett was small, died by asphyxiation and apparently didn't struggle with his killer. But DeKalb County Public Safety Director Dick Hand said Tuesday there was not "sufficient proof" to connect the killing with the others, which have occurred over the last 22 months. He said the killing of Barrett, whose body was found early Tuesday near a highway, was different, but refused to elaborate, saying only that the differences were "evidentiary." Seven of the eight bodies found most recently in the Atlanta area were discovered nude or partially clothed in or near rivers, and many of the bodies had decomposed. Barrett, who had an arrest record that included burglary and theft, was found fully clothed and had been missing less than a day. State Crime Lab Director Larry Howard said the condition of Barrett's body would make it "much easier" to find evidence — "fibers, hair, soil, paint chips, glass fragments — the possibilities are many." Hand said a 24-hour moratorium on releasing details on Barrett's death would be lifted today, and said he would decide today whether to turn the case over to Atlanta authorities. Barrett, like four of the victims on the list, was found in suburban DeKalb County just east of Atlanta. The information blackout was imposed to allow investigators to "retrace (Barrett's) steps without people having a chance to see it on TV or on the news," said DeKalb Police Col. Jimmy Stanley. Barrett was reported missing by his mother before dawn Tuesday at about the same time a passerby discovered his body next to a suburban road, Hand said.

LITTLE LEAGUE SALESMEN — John Covington, left and Brad Roberts, right, explain the wide variety of Designer Collection Kitchen Products available from Little League members to Lynn Hise. Proceeds will go to Little League equipment and park improvements.

Designer kitchen products will be sold by Little League

Members of the American Little League will be offering to Big Spring area citizens useful Designer Collection kitchen products beginning Friday.

Funds for this project will be used for Little League equipment and improvements to the American Little League Park.

Shelane Roberts is the chairperson for the campaign. Darlene Pirkle, Darla Ferguson and Mary Margaret Sinclair will be serving as co-chairmen.

A meeting of mothers with each representing the major, minor and pee wee teams will be held this evening at 7:30 at the Texas Electric Company Reddy Room.

The help of everyone in the community is needed for this campaign to be successful.

In order to reach their goal, Little League players will be calling on every home, offering residents the opportunity to order one or more of these excellent quality, fairly priced Designer Collection kitchen products.

Items available include vinyl placemats, cloth napkins, color coordinated candles and acrylic hot pads.

These are products that every home can use and will make excellent gifts for this time of year.

Everyone uses products like these daily, so let's all support this fund raising campaign and encourage Little Leaguers.

are: John Little, Drenda and Jennifer, Shirey, Valerie Richardson, Kay Pollard, Jan Turner, Alison and Claire Littlewood and Jo Ella Childress.

Others include: Lauri Roberson, Kristi Evans, Joan Wilson, Shelly Carmichael, Louis Shive, Beth Boeker, Vicky Baggett, Teresa White and Dawn Estes.

50-year DAR is honored by elisha Mack chapter

Mrs. Curtis Driver was honored by the Captain Elisha Mack Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution Saturday at a luncheon at the Big Spring Country Club. Mrs. Driver has been a continuous member of the DAR for fifty years, as of April 16. Mrs. Bernie Chesley McCrea, Abilene, president of both the National and Texas DAR Fifty Year Club, presented a corsage to Mrs. Driver from the chapter.

Mrs. C.G. Barnett, regent, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Jack Lipscomb was the hostess.

Mrs. Barnett, chapter delegate to the National DAR Continental Congress held in Washington, D.C. April 30-May 6, reported on rules affecting the chapter and mentioned an increase in the subscription rate of the National DAR Magazine effective June 1. She also accepted the "Gold Award" Certificate for outstanding accomplishments in attaining the Honor Roll of the National Society DAR.

Members voted to provide a rotating Regent's bar to be worn by the regent during her term of office.

The Chapter will participate in the Memorial Services at the Soldier's Memorial on the court house lawn May 25, with the Gold Star Mothers and the All Veteran's Council, placing wreaths at the foot of the memorial.

Mrs. Bernie McCrea, National Insignia chairman, gave a program on Insignias. She defined them, describing the manner in which they should be worn. She also displayed all insignias that are permitted to be worn on the insignia ribbon.

Mrs. McCrea gave a brief report on the 90th Continental Congress.

The chapter adjourned until September.

Dear Abby

Husband's Jewelry Interest Flies in Face of Facts

DEAR ABBY: My husband is 36, attractive and well-liked. He owns his own business, which requires some traveling and night entertaining, but he's always come home at a reasonable hour, ready, willing and able to make love to me, so I had no reason to worry.

One day last week before sending his suit to the dry cleaners, I checked the pockets and found a paper cocktail napkin on which was scribbled "Margo" and a telephone number. Then I did something I'm not very proud of. I wrote down the number and kept it.

When my husband came home, I casually handed him the cocktail napkin, saying, "This was in your pocket, it might be important."

He took it very matter-of-factly and said, "She's a woman with a wholesale jewelry connection. I was going to surprise you with something for your anniversary next month."

Later that evening when I was alone, I called the number and Margo answered. I told her I was interested in buying some jewelry, and she said I must have the wrong Margo because she was an airline stewardess!

So far I haven't told my husband about that call, but it's been bothering me. Should I tell him, or let it go?

NEEDS ADVICE

DEAR NEEDS: Tell him. But wait until after your anniversary. One "surprise" deserves another.

DEAR ABBY: My parents are divorced. I live with my mother but spend every other weekend with my father. When I'm with Dad, he asks a lot of questions about Mom. Like, "Does she go out very much? Who does she go out with? Does she have company at the house? And does she ever say anything about me?"

And after a weekend with Dad, Mom wants me to tell her everything that happened and everything Dad said. Should I tell?

I don't want to answer and I don't want to lie, but I feel funny telling the truth. What should I do, Abby?

TO TELL OR NOT

DEAR TO TELL: Be honest. If you feel uncomfortable telling one parent about the other, ask both of them, respectfully, not to question you.

DEAR ABBY: On a recent trip to Scotland, I stayed with my 73-year-old maiden cousin who made our trip most enjoyable with her humor and gracious hospitality.

One morning she said, "Where's the newspaper? I want to see who quit smoking."

Amazed at this, I asked, "Do they publish the names of people who quit smoking in the Scottish newspaper?"

"Aye," she said. "In the obituary column."

FRANK GALLAGHER, KENT, WASH.

DEAR ABBY: This question has been on my mind for a long time. Which hand do you put the wedding band on if the person is left-handed?

DUMMY

DEAR DUMMY: The left hand, the same side your heart is on.

(Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply, write to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Graduate is honored here

Terri Dean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.M. Dean, 1518 Vines, was honored with a graduation luncheon Saturday in the home of Mrs. Wayne Speegle. Jennie Speegle, Lubbock was co-hostess.

Luncheon tables were covered with pastel-colored cloths and centered with arrangements of varicolored pastel carnations and fresh mint.

Miss Dean will graduate from Big Spring High School May 28.

Mrs. McCrea gave a brief report on the 90th Continental Congress.

The chapter adjourned until September.

GFWC Modern Woman's Forum encouraged to take CPR

Mrs. Cass Hill, president of GFWC Modern Woman's Forum, highlighted the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs meeting in Abilene May 5-7 for the group Friday. The Forum met for lunch at Canterbury House with Ruby McElrath serving as hostess.

Mrs. Bert Affleck voiced the invocation and Mrs. Hill conducted a short business meeting following the luncheon.

Mrs. Fred Whitaker, federation counselor, gave a report on the TFWC

"Project Heart Saver", encouraging the involvement of all clubs in Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation (CPR) program. Members from each club are urged to take the training course in CPR. This consists of from 6-8 hours to support the CPR training in the school system and to have fund raisers to purchase CPR equipment.

The Club officers and chairmen made their reports on the work for the year. There was a discussion of programs for 1981-82 club year.

Mrs. Hill presented to Mrs. Affleck, Western District Chairman of Veterans Administration Volunteer Services (VAVS) a second place award from the State Convention. She reported that there were about 350 women in attendance at the convention in Abilene. Mrs. Hill is first vice-president of Western District.

The Forum will not meet again until September, when the new club year will begin.

FLOATING TO A NEW LOCATION — A tugboat towed a barge carrying the Eagle Inn, an Ephraim, Wis. motel, across Green Bay Tuesday. The two-story, 12 unit motel was ferried six miles around Door County's Peninsula State Park to Fish Creek, Wis. where it will become part of the Fish Creek Motel. After the motel is unloaded from the barge it will be moved a block overland to its new site. The water part of the move took a little more than an hour. (AP LASERPHOTO)

Volcano power may be Hawaii's answer to growing oil problems

HONOLULU (AP) — Electricity generated from a tap in the hellish bowels of Kilauea Volcano will surge into 3,000 homes next month, sparking hope that Hawaii one day no longer will depend almost entirely on imported oil for its energy.

Volcano power is just one alternative to oil, which costs the islands almost $1 billion a year, and sticks residents with the second highest household electric bills in the United States.

Sugarcane tops are burned to produce power at most sugar refineries on Hawaii Island and researchers are looking at the potential of macadamia nut shells and wastes from pineapples, two of the main export crops. And at last count there were solar heaters on the rooftops of 15,000 homes and businesses.

But John Shupe, chairman of the governor's advisory committee on alternate energy development, sees the tapping of volcanoes as the most promising source.

Already, permission has been granted for commercial developers to drill 24 other geothermal wells at Kilauea to produce steam to turn generators. At 676 degrees Fahrenheit, Shupe says, the volcano is "one of the hottest and most promising in the world."

Other backyard sources of energy are seen in the trade winds, ocean waves, bright sunshine and lush vegetation that lure tourist dollars to the islands.

"Solar collectors and biomass are already cost-competitive with oil," said Shupe, energy research coordinator at the University of Hawaii's Natural Energy Institute. "And geothermal and wind power soon will be."

By biomass he means vegetation, such as the sugarcane tops and bagasse — a fibrous cane residue — that are burned to produce 42 percent of the electricity used on Hawaii Island.

Efforts also are under way to produce ethanol from molasses, a sugar byproduct, and cultivate oil-producing algae.

Shupe estimates that by 1990, half of the state's electricity will come from renewable sources. By the year 2000, he predicts, the state will produce 90 percent of its electricity and half its liquid fuel from local sources.

Among the alternatives under consideration is a process called "ocean thermal energy conversion." The potential energy created by temperature differences between sun-warmed surface water and deep, polar-fed bottom currents is harnessed to generate electricity. Although theoretically possible anywhere in the ocean, close-to-shore sites where the sea floor drops rapidly are most practical.

In the energy-conscious islands, even the 19th century residence of Gov. George Ariyoshi is equipped with a solar water heater, while 124 state cars use gasohol.

But nuclear energy is definitely not one of the alternative energy sources under consideration in Hawaii. A state energy planning document notes "a climate of acceptance for nuclear energy is not found in Hawaii."

One of the reasons is the islands are too small. Even the densely-populated island of Oahu, which uses 82 percent of the energy consumed, requires far less electricity than that produced by the smallest nuclear reactor presently on the market.

For the short term, foreign oil will remain crucial to Hawaii's two major "industries," tourism and the military.

"The estimated 35,000 barrels a day of aviation fuel used in 1980 represented nearly one-third of the state's total energy demand," the planning documents says, adding that the projected need is expected to increase 66 percent by 2005.

Tapes show Klan's guerrilla camps

HOUSTON (AP) — Attorneys representing Vietnamese fishermen in a harassment suit against the Ku Klux Klan promised more videotapes of Klan activities today before they let the "grand dragon" of the Texas Klan off the witness stand.

During Tuesday's hearing, the immigrants showed two tapes on a color television in the federal courtroom showing Klan leader Louis Beam training men in guerrilla warfare tactics and telling them "we're going to assume authority in this country."

Attorney Morris Dees, who represents Vietnamese fishermen on Galveston Bay in their quest for an injunction against the Klan, asked Beam if he had offered American fishermen military training "so they would be ready to defend themselves against the Vietnamese."

Beam and Dees argued as to the exact wording of Beam's offer until Dees finally dismissed the argument by saying, "That's okay. We'll see it (on videotape) tomorrow."

"Wonderful," Beam replied sarcastically.

During Tuesday's videotape shows, Beam was seen telling his troops, "The lines are clearly drawn — it's us on one side and them on the other." He said the group's enemies were "all of those who are opposed those things that we stand for."

The tape was made by Wayne A. Derrick, a Rice University film student who documented the Klan training camp as a project for class. A second videotape shown Tuesday was filmed by Dan Molina of Houston television station KPRC and it had been previously broadcast on the NBC "Today" program.

Both films depicted Beam addressing men he identified as members of the "Texas Emergency Reserve." They were dressed in camouflaged fatigues and training in a secret location, apparently within a 90-minute drive of the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

A Fort Worth, Texas, federal grand jury indicted the Klan leader last month, accusing him of conducting such training camps on U.S. Forest Service property in Wise County, Texas, without a permit.

The Vietnamese claim American fishermen and Klansmen are trying to run the refugees out of the crowded Galveston Bay, where the shrimping season opens Friday. U.S. District Judge Gabrielle McDonald has given both sides until noon Thursday to complete their presentations.

She is expected to rule on the case before leaving the federal courthouse Thursday.

Derrick testified he did not know exactly where the camp was because he was blindfolded by Klansmen who drove him and the Houston newsman to the site in a van with shrouded windows. He said it was within a 90-minute drive of the Dallas-Fort Worth area.

"We no longer live under a constitutional government, but a tyranny that seeks to dominate the people who made this country great, and by that I mean the white people of this country," Beam said.

The men answered "yes, sir!" and "no, sir!" in unison as Beam barked orders and instructed them in surprise ambushes, live fire rifle training, simulated search and destroy missions and reconnaissance patrols.

"We're training while the rest are watching television," Beam said. "When the shooting starts we're going to win it just like we did in Greensboro," an apparent reference to a shooting incident in November 1979 in which five Communist party activists were killed as they staged a "death to the Klan" rally in the North Carolina city.

"We're going to assume authority in this country," Beam said. "When we're holding the front line in Southeast Texas you can hold it up here. We'll link up, and you can bet it'll be ours."

The tape contained several racial slurs.

Beam told the men when they caught their enemies in a surprise ambush they should not leave any survivors. "Utterly destroy everybody. Maximum damage, maximum violence in the shortest period of time. They can only do one thing — die. You give them no other opportunity. They die," Beam said.

Derrick complained his film was "extremely sensationalized" by attorneys for the Vietnamese who edited more than three hours of tape down to 33 minutes. "They took the more violent things that happened and put them together," he said.

Defense attorney Sam Adamo said, "The tapes perpetrated a fraud on the court as to what actually happens during the training for self defense."

Beam testified his involvement in the Galveston Bay dispute had been misinterpreted by "prostitutes for the media" and denied any act of intimidation or harassment.

PARIS (AP) — The French Communist Party, down but not out after a stunning setback for its candidate in the first round presidential election, is seeking a strong voice in the government of newly-elected Socialist President François Mitterrand.

The election of Mitterrand, who defeated conservative President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing in Sunday's runoff, gives France's pro-Soviet Communists a foot in the government door for the first time since 1947.

Police raid sex parlors, arrest 40

DALLAS (AP) — Police carrying warrants and sealed indictments swept through nude modeling studios and massage parlors in three counties Tuesday and arrested 40 people on charges ranging from aggravated promotion of prostitution to drug possession.

The raids on sex-for-pay businesses in Dallas, Tarrant and Johnson counties capped a three-month undercover operation into alleged prostitution and possible organized criminal activities among area massage parlors and modeling studios, Tarrant County District Attorney Tim Curry said.

In Dallas, authorities arrested 11 people after raids on six establishments. Four other sex-for-pay businesses were raided in Tarrant and Johnson counties, culminating in the arrests of 29 others, police said.

It's a situation that's gone unchecked for some time," said Police Sgt. J.T. Williams of the Greater Dallas Area Organized Crime Task Force.

Williams said investigations leading to the raids began after Tarrant County officials developed information concerning a possible link in the ownership of several nude modeling studios and massage parlors being used as fronts for prostitution.

When investigators determined the ownership chain extended into Dallas and Johnson counties, Williams said, officers there were brought into the investigation.

Police said they have evidence linking one man, Aubrey Joyce Estes Jr., 49, of Midlothian, to at least four of the modeling studios.

Estes was named in one of seven sealed indictments returned Tuesday by a Dallas County grand jury. He also was one of three persons indicted secretly April 27 by a Johnson County grand jury in Cleburne, The Dallas Morning News reported.

For the record

The name of Amanda Reagan was inadvertently omitted from a list of children in a dance class at the YMCA. The troupe will offer a recital in the City Auditorium at 7:30 a.m., Friday.

Amanda is a four-year-old who is enrolled in a class taught by Mrs. Ora Burson. The Herald apologizes for the oversight.

Party Secretary-General Georges Marchais, who was soundly defeated as the Communist candidate for president, has called a meeting of his central committee for Friday to discuss how to deal with the Socialist president, and to plot a strategy for upcoming parliamentary elections.

Immediately after Mitterrand's victory, Marchais announced that his party was ready to open negotiations with the Socialists, saying the Communist were "ready to assume all our responsibilities to the government."

But the Socialists appear in no hurry to enter into such negotiations, and certainly are not prepared to begin discussing a common program.

Socialist campaign manager Paul Quilès said Tuesday his party will be going into the legislative elections "on Mitterrand's program." Any Socialist-Communist deal apparently will have to come after what is now being called the "third round" of the elections.

Mitterrand's main goal now is to dislodge the conservative majority in the National Assembly, or Parliament, and return with enough leftists and leftist sympathizers to push through his program of economic changes.

The Communists, on the other hand, are anxious to recoup what has been viewed as a disastrous showing in the first round. Marchais got only 15.3 percent of the vote in the 10-way race, the worst Communist performance in more than four decades.

Marchais finished fourth behind Giscard d'Estaing, who received 28.3 percent, Mitterrand, 25.9 percent, and Gaullist Jacques Chirac, 18 percent.

Many analysts think a weakened Communist position will give Mitterrand significant leverage when negotiations do get underway. But there is reason to believe that the Communists may not be as weak as some people think.

Taking 3-2 lead in NBA championship series

Celtics show true form in running by Rockets

BOSTON (AP) — After posing for nearly three weeks as a mistake-prone group that struggled to unleash its running game and dominate the boards, the real Celtics resurfaced Tuesday night.

In the first quarter, the Celtics raced away from the Houston Rockets en route to a 109-90 win to charge into a 3-2 lead in their best-of-seven National championship series.

The Celtics can wrap up their 14th NBA title in Houston Thursday night. If the Rockets bounce back from their second decisive defeat of the series and win, the seventh game would be here Sunday.

Boston led 34-19 after the first quarter, when five of their 14 baskets came on fast breaks and the Celtics outrebounded the Rockets 13-7.

The Celtics held a 54-41 rebounding advantage for the game and snared a series-high 35 defensive rebounds to prevent second shots by Houston and kick off their own transition game.

Boston did not play a solid game with running and rebounding spurts since April 22, when it defeated Philadelphia 118-99 in the second game of the Eastern Conference finals. Even when the Celtics won the last three games of that series, they had to battle back from big deficits.

As in Saturday's easy 94-71 win in the third game with Houston, there was no need for a Celtic comeback Tuesday night. Their smallest lead after the opening quarter was 12 points.

The lanky Maxwell had his best offensive game of the playoffs. His 28 points set a career playoff high and his 15 rebounds tied one.

Moses Malone led Houston with 20 points but had only 11 rebounds, his lowest total of the series.

Guard Tom Henderson was the only starter to score more than his series average. The other starting guard, Mike Dunleavy, fouled out with five points in 14 minutes after pouring in 28 points in Houston's 91-86 win Sunday.

Between baskets by Calvin Murphy with one minute gone in the second period and Billy Paultz 4:56 into the third, Malone was the only Rocket to hit a field goal. And Houston suffered through a stretch of 12:06 at the end of the second quarter and beginning of the third with only one field goal.

The Rockets' last lead was 14-13. Then Larry Bird's jumper kicked off a 19-11 burst in which Boston center Robert Parish, who finished with 18 points, scored eight and blocked a shot to set up a three-point play by Maxwell.

At Texas Bonanza this weekend

Lietzke gets chance

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Bruce Lietzke, the PGA Tour's only three-time winner this season, may be seeking some advice from Ray Floyd.

"I guess I ought to have a little talk with Ray to find out what to expect this week," Lietzke said before a practice round for Colonial National Invitation tournament over the 7,190-yard, par 70 Colonial Country Club course.

Floyd won a $250,000 bonus prize as the winner of consecutive tournaments in Florida earlier this year.

And Lietzke, as a playoff winner over Tom Watson in the Byron Nelson Classic last weekend, now is in a similar situation. He's in position for a shot at the Texas Bonanza, a $200,000 bonus paid to a man able to sweep the titles in the Dallas and Fort Worth events.

"I'll just have to figure out a way to get up all over again," said the road-weary Lietzke, who is looking at his sixth consecutive tournament in the 72-hole event that begins Thursday.

His record indicates the tall, slender man has a better-than-average chance. He comes in as the defending champion in the prestigious tournament that holds a special fascination for the large corps of Texas players on the tour. And he has a history of being a streak player, performing at a very high level for an extended period of time.

But Lietzke will be facing an elite, invitational 102-man field that may be the strongest this old tournament has ever seen. It includes all of the men who have won 1981 Tour titles and 24 of the top 25 players men on the current money-winning list.

Forsan's Brumley inks with Howard

LAVONNE BRUMLEY

Howard College Hawk Queens Coach Don Stevens announced another signing for the upcoming year, and in the case of the latest inking, Lavonne Brumley of Forsan High School, it has a local flavor.

Brumley was a main cog on the Forsan girls team of Coach Ron Taylor that won their district title the past two years, using her excellent shooting skills to keep the opposition honest.

A 5'6" performer, Brumley was a spot starter during her junior year at Forsan, but blossomed into an All-District 5-AA and All-South Plains in her senior season. She was also named to the All-Region I-AA Tournament team, helping her Buffalo Queens advance to the finals of that affair before losing a two-point decision to New Deal.

Brumley averaged 10.6 points per game in 1980-81, and also dished out over five assists per contest from her guard position.

Stevens liked numerous aspects of the latest signee, also mentioning that she would likely play both the wing and guard positions. "She is a real good outside shooter and has quick hands," said Stevens. "I look for her to be very valuable offensively, especially so against a zone defense."

Brumley hit on 47 percent of her shots from the field last year, excellent in women's high school basketball.

"She is definitely one of the better shooters I've coached, if not the best," said Forsan's Taylor.

A's saliva to be checked

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Billy Martin's Oakland A's are special guests of Mr. George Steinbrenner this week at Yankee Stadium, and they may not get out of town without a saliva test.

The spitball issue is flaring again in baseball — as it frequently does when somebody starts making batters look foolish at the plate — and the center of the controversy is the Kiddie Korps of the Oakland A's, the hottest in the game.

"Who, us?" says skipper Billy the Kid, affecting that look of complete innocence. "Don't look our way," insists Art Fowler, Martin's wily pitching coach, the designated villain in the long-running drama. "It's somebody's imagination." "We're clean and dry," chorus the A's throw boys — Mike Norris, Rick Langford, Steve McCarty, Matt Keough and Brian Kingman, whose strong young arms are threatening to make a runaway of the race in the American League West.

The struggling Yanks barely escaped with their dignity 10 days ago in Oakland, squeezing out a Sunday doubleheader to break even in the four-game series.

Stan Williams, the Yankee pitching coach, insists that all five A's starters use a "freak pitch." "They're not the only club doing it, just the most flagrant," Williams adds.

This delights the feisty Martin, who was suspended once as manager of the Detroit Tigers — later fired — for openly telling his pitchers to throw spitballs.

Whether he encourages or discourages illegal use of a foreign substance on the ball — in this case, saliva, Vaseline, hair oil or ordinary sweat — Billy recognizes the psychological advantage in the mere suggestion of a hidden outlawed weapon.

"Our guys don't have to throw spitters," he says. "If the batters think they are, it gives them something to think about."

Yankee Manager Gene Michael was constantly storming to the plate to protest as the Yankees' "Murderers Row" kept falling like hevn oaks before the strange dipsy-do deliveries of the young A's.

"Rick Langford threw about 15 against us," Michael told New York baseball writers. "We didn't see Mike Norris, but we know he throws it (the spitter) too. They all do, but Langford was the worst."

Chambliss inks lucrative new pact

ATLANTA (AP) — First baseman Chris Chambliss, saying he hopes to play the rest of his career with the Atlanta Braves, has signed a five-year contract that begins with the 1982 season.

"I'll be 38 years old when this contract ends and I plan to play forever," said Chambliss, in his 11th major league season with a 282 lifetime batting average. "I'd like to play until I'm over 40."

Terms of the contract were not disclosed, but it is believed to total at least $3.5 million.

Atlanta Braves manager Tom Lawless said Chambliss is "one of the best first basemen in the game."

U of Illinois working on reducing Big 10 penalty

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — The eligibility question of University of Illinois quarterback Dave Wilson is still unsettled, but Big Ten officials and Illinois representatives have made progress in settling their own dispute that developed over the complicated case.

Last month the Big Ten faculty representatives placed Illinois on probation for three years, charging the school deceived them about Wilson's academic status.

The representatives also ruled the Illinois ineligible for postseason action in all sports for two years and denied the right of the school to share in conference revenue for the same two years. This would include funds received in football bowl games and postseason basketball action by other conference members.

Illinois officials denied any deceit and protested the sanctions, which were to start July 1.

Tuesday, the faculty representatives and a delegation from Illinois that included the school's president and chancellor met for more than eight hours to discuss the sanctions.

In a joint statement, Illinois and the Big Ten reported progress in the negotiations over the sanctions and said they would be delayed until at least Sept. 1.

The statement said the deferment was to give the faculty representatives and Illinois officials time to continue their discussions.

By The Associated Press

Jim Palmer, a three-time winner of the AL League's Cy Young award, may be about to sayonara to the Blue Jays' starting rotation. "I just don't think start any more," the old right-hander dejectedly Tuesday after giving up four five hits in 41-3 inning Orioles bowed to the Blue Jays 5-2.

"I just can't get enough any more. I got at the end of last season so far this season, seems ridiculous going out there. I just too many other things this club that call longer and probably better job."

Niekro

By The Associated Press

After a blistering mower accident a Phil Niekro wasn't could pitch.

"I couldn't throw ball," he said. "On my finger touched when I tried to throw it didn't affect knuckleball."

Actually, that's about all Niekro Tuesday night in a two-hitter to put Atlanta Braves to victory over the Pirates.

"I was just fine enough to get the kn over and when I can get them to some bad pitches - did," said Niekro, about 90 per cent in controlling the Pirates.

The shutout, incident was the 40th of career and was also lifetime victory.

In other NL action St. Louis 3, Houston 1; Cincinnati 3, Chicago 1; San Diego 1; San Francisco 0; Philadelphia 0; Los Angeles 5, Montreal 2-1, never a runner past season.

THE UNKNOWN FAN — Kansas City Royals' baseball fans started wearing bags over their heads in the right-field bleachers of Royals Stadium on Tuesday night. The Royals, who were last year's American league pennant winners, have the worst record in the league. The Royals 3-2 win over the Texas Rangers moved their record to 7-16.

New SMU AD wants basketball improvement

DALLAS (AP) — Bob Hitch says the ticket giveaway days at Southern Methodist University are over.

"I'd rather have 40,000 paid fans than 65,000 fans in the stands with 25,000 paid," said SMU's new athletic director Tuesday — a concept directly opposite of the man he succeeded, Russ Potts.

Potts, the father of the flashy promotion called Mustang Mania, often would say that empty seats don't buy popcorn and paper Dallas with freebie tickets for Mustang home football games at Texas Stadium.

Potts is now the marketing director for the Chicago White Sox of the American League.

Hitch, the athletic director at Wyoming for a year before he took the SMU job effective June 1, increased the Cowboys' basketball attendance 3,000 to 9,000 last year.

But he said it was a combination of a quality product — Wyoming won 24 games and advanced into the NCAA playoffs — and low key promotions like halftime shootouts and family ticket night.

"I'm not Russ Potts so give me an opportunity to be myself," said Hitch. "I'm an

Astros lose homestand opener, 3-2

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Astros returned home to the supposedly friendly confines of the Astrodome, but still appear to have claustrophobia.

After compiling a 10-4 mark on their recent road trip, the club's best ever, Houston came back to drop its home record to a disastrous 4-10, with a 3-2 loss to the St. Louis Cardinals Tuesday.

The Cards scored one unearned run and put the winner on the scoreboard in the tenth inning on Tommy Herr's picture-perfect suicide squeeze bunt.

"Anytime we give the other team one or two runs instead of making them earn it, we have a tough time winning," said Manager Bill Virdon.

Herr's bunt plated Gene Tenace, who led off the tenth with a double off Houston reliever Joe Sambito, 1-2. A sacrifice bunt by Ken Oberkfell advanced Tenace to third and set the stage for Herr's heroics.

It was the third time in Sambito's career that the Astros fireman has seen a game go against him as a result of a suicide squeeze.

"It's one of the exciting plays in baseball, but I don't like to get beat with it," Sambito said. "They executed well and we just did what we could."

The RBI was no surprise to Herr, even though the Cardinals' second baseman was batting eighth. Herr has now batted in 20 runs, three coming off sacrifice flies. "I just wanted to get the run in," Herr said. "It doesn't matter if you hit away, squeeze or score on a passed ball, the run scores, and that's all that matters."

inside type of guy — not a flashy type ... I'm a pretty darn good guy if you get to know me."

He said of promotions in general, quality will sell a program ... you don't see the Dallas Cowboys doing a lot of promotion.

SMU basketball attendance dropped dramatically last year under new Coach Dave Bliss but Hitch said that would be turned around.

"We're going to take Moody Coliseum and make it a tough place for our visiting teams," said Hitch. "We're going to have people hanging from the rafters in there."

He said SMU would continue to play a few games at Reunion Arena.

"To play at Reunion helps us promote our program," said Hitch. "We'd like to bring in some nationally ranked teams like DePaul and Louisville."

He called the quality of Southwest Conference basketball poor.

"The league is very weak and there is no reason it shouldn't be strong," said Hitch. "There needs to be a lot more emphasis on basketball ... it can be a big revenue maker."

Hitch, who also been in sports administration at Missouri and Louisville, said he had been briefed on the NCAA investigation of SMU's football program.

"I'm concerned about it ... I've never been at a school that was investigated before," he said. "We expect to hear something in a month or so."

Palmer wants bullpen?

By the Associated Press

Jim Palmer, a three-time winner of the American League's Cy Young Award, may be about to say sayonara to the Baltimore Orioles' starting rotation.

"I just don't think I should start any more," the 35-year-old right-hander said dejectedly Tuesday night after giving up four runs on five hits in 4-3 innings as the Orioles bowed to the Toronto Blue Jays 5-2.

"I just can't go long enough any more. I proved it at the end of last season and so far this season. It just seems ridiculous to keep going out there. There are just too many other guys on this club that can pitch longer and probably do a better job."

Does that mean Palmer is bullpen-bound after making 459 starts in his 487 big league appearances, including 199 complete games?

"That would probably be the best thing for the sake of the ballclub," he said.

AL Roundup

Rangers 3-2, the Chicago White Sox beat the Cleveland Indians 7-4, the California Angels blanked the Milwaukee Brewers 4-0, the Minnesota Twins edged the Boston Red Sox 4-3 in 10 innings and the Detroit Tigers trimmed the Seattle Mariners 6-2.

The Orioles staked Palmer to a 2-0 lead on Mark Belanger's RBI double and Eddie Murray's first home run of the season but managed only two other hits off Dave Stieb, who beat them for the first time in his career. And after breezing through four innings, Palmer collapsed in the fifth.

Yankees 4, A's 1

New York collected only five hits off Rick Langford but four of them went for extra bases. Bobby Murcer homered and Graig Nettles rapped an RBI single in the fourth inning. In the eighth, Johnny Oates and Dave Winfield doubled — the latter a 430-foot shot — around a triple by Willie Randolph. Meanwhile, Ron Guidry and Rich Gossage checked

Oakland on six hits in handing the A's their first loss of the season after 11 victories.

Royals 3, Rangers 2

Kansas City rallied for two runs in the bottom of the ninth to snap a four-game losing streak and win for only the seventh time in 23 games. Amis Otis doubled leading off the inning and Lee May singled him to third, chasing Texas starter Jon Matlack. After reliever Steve Comer walked Willie Aikens to load the bases, Frank White's sacrifice fly tied the score. One out later, Wilson delivered the game-winning hit off John Henry Johnson.

White Sox 7, Indians 4

Tony Bernazard tripled and singled, driving in one run and scoring two others, and Carlton Fisk drove in three runs with a pair of singles and a sacrifice fly. The White Sox jumped on Rick Waits for five runs in the first two innings and added another in the sixth to offset solo home runs by Cleveland's Dave Rosello and Joe Charboneau.

Niekro's knuckler too much

By the Associated Press

After a blistering power mower accident at home, Phil Niekro wasn't sure he could pitch.

"I couldn't throw a fast ball," he said. "The blister on my finger touched the ball when I tried to throw it. But it didn't affect my knuckleball."

Actually, that was just about all Niekro needed Tuesday night in pitching a two-hitter to pace the Atlanta Braves to a 2-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I was just fortunate enough to get the knuckleball over and when I do that, I can get them to swing at some bad pitches — and they did," said Niekro, who used about 90 per cent knucklers in controlling the Pirates.

The shutout, incidentally, was the 40th of Niekro's career and was also his 235th lifetime victory.

In other NL action, it was St. Louis 3, Houston 2 in 10 innings; Cincinnati 2, Chicago 1; San Diego 3, New York 0; San Francisco 4, Philadelphia 0 and Los Angeles 5, Montreal 0.

Niekro, 2-1, never allowed a runner past second base.

NL Roundup

He walked three and struck out five and yielded only singles to Phil Garner in the second inning and Tony Pena in the fifth.

Reds 2, Cubs 1

Cincinnati beat Chicago as Ray Knight raced home from first base with the winning run in the ninth on right fielder Leon Durham's wild relay throw on Ron Oester's base hit.

Knight had walked with one out off Cubs reliever Dick Tidrow and Oester singled to right. Durham's relay trying to nail Knight at third bounced into the Cubs dugout, letting in the winning run.

Mario Soto scattered five hits and struck out 10 for his second complete game of the season. Randy Martz pitched seven innings for Chicago before yielding to Tidrow in the eighth.

Padres 3, Mets 0

Juan Eichelberger scattered seven hits and Broderick Perkins, the major leagues' leading hitter, smashed a home run, double and single and drove in three runs as San Diego defeated New York.

Giants 4, Phillies 0

Enos Cabell and Larry Herndon had RBI doubles in the first inning as San Francisco beat Philadelphia behind the combined nine-hit pitching of Doyle Alexander and Greg Minton.

The Giants got four hits and three runs in the first inning off Nino Espinosa for all the runs they needed.

Dodgers 5, Expos 0

Ron Cey knocked in four runs with two homers and a single and three Los Angeles Dodgers pitchers combined to shut out Montreal. Burt Hooton earned his fifth victory without a loss, pitching the first 6-3 innings.

Bobby Castillo and Steve Howe followed Hooton, with Howe recording his fourth save.

Tim Raines, the major league leader in stolen bases, notched his 29th and 30th of the season for Montreal. But he suffered an injury to his right wrist when he was picked off base in the fifth inning by Hooton and was removed and taken to a hospital for precautionary X-rays.

Children's programming threatened

BOSTON (AP) — Children's programs developed during the past decade are threatened by plans to cut the federal budget and censorship by groups such as the Moral Majority, says the president of Action for Children's Television.

"If the Reagan administration succeeds in its budget cuts, public broadcasting could cease to be an alternative, especially in children's programming," Peggy Charren said Tuesday.

"The anti-regulatory fever in Washington also is producing an atmosphere of 'anything goes,'" she said. "Just this week one of the networks announced it would add another 30-second commercial to Saturday morning shows starting this September."

The Moral Majority's threat to boycott products of sponsors who advertise on television shows it finds offensive also will discourage programmers from experimenting, said Ms. Charren, whose group formed 13 years ago in an effort to promote more diverse television shows for youngsters.

Ms. Charren admitted she herself finds many current shows offensive. "But I just don't watch them — I don't try to get them taken off the air. The Moral Majority is compiling a 'hit list,' and that's the kind of censorship we're ready to fight."

Despite the political problems, ACT found "a wealth of talent working in children's programming" last year, she said.

The 15,000-member organization, based in Newton, Mass., gave awards Tuesday to 15 shows for 1980 programming.

The award winners were: WCVB-TV, Boston, "The Body Works," KGO-TV, San Francisco, "Dudley's Diner," WLBT-TV, Jackson,

On The Light Side

Blasted dragon

WEBSTER, Mass. (AP) — Robert Duteau's fire-breathing dragon has breathed its last.

Six months ago Duteau commissioned the construction of a 10-foot, three-ton cement dragon for his property on a pond overlooking this southern Massachusetts town. It had a propane gas line running through its innards to its mouth. Each time the gate to the pond was opened, the dragon let off a fiery roar.

Until Saturday.

"I was walking away from it, I had my back to it," Duteau said. "I heard a noise. Some pieces of cement went by me. One hit me on the shoulder. I didn't have to turn back. I knew what happened."

No one was hurt in the explosion that fractured the dragon, sending most of it to the bottom of the pond.

"It can't be repaired," Duteau said.

Power to poultry

DOVER, Del. (AP) — Delmarva Power and Light Co. apparently sees no reason to be chicken when it comes to alternative fuel, so it is spending $23,375 to see if there's power at the end of the food chain.

The utility has commissioned Energy Research Co. of Cambridge, Mass., to find out if chicken manure and sawdust — in a mixture called "chicken litter" — can be burned in power plants.

"We trucked 20,000 pounds of chicken litter to Cambridge the second week in April for the study," said William Ferguson, research coordinator for the power company. He said the verdict should be in by the end of the month.

The idea came from Joseph Kollock Jr. and William Chandler Jr. of Dagsboro, Del., who employ 35 poultry-house cleaners. Kollock and Chandler told the power company they could supply a minimum of 100,000 tons of chicken litter per year.

"We project that the cost of chicken litter is not going to escalate as much as the cost of coal," Ferguson said.

The chicken litter would be converted to a gas that would be burned in a boiler to produce steam for power turbines.

House approves tax-break for production of gasohol

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gasohol would get a five-year tax break under a bill tentatively approved by the Texas House, but consumers probably will not receive the full benefit of the exemption if the measure becomes law.

A final vote is expected today, which would send the bill to the Senate.

Rep. Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, called the exemption from the five-cent-a-gallon state gasoline tax essential if the manufacture of industrial alcohol was to become profitable in Texas.

However, Kubiak acknowledged that consumers probably would not receive the full benefit of the exemption.

"I assure you there will be a difference, but it may not be the full nickel," he told reporters.

As tentatively approved by the House, the bill would suspend the nickel-a-gallon motor fuels tax on gasohol entirely from Sept. 1, 1981, to Jan. 1, 1987. After that date, the tax would be phased back in at a penny a year until the full nickel is restored on Jan. 1, 1991.

Gasohol is a mixture of 90 percent unleaded gasoline and 10 percent ethyl alcohol.

The big push for gasohol comes from agricultural areas, where many farmers see alcohol production as a major new market for their crops.

Kubiak's bill advanced on a voice vote Tuesday after he won an overwhelming test vote in favor of his original proposal instead of the weaker substitute sent to the floor by the House Ways and Means Committee.

The committee bill would have suspended the tax only until the wholesale price of unleaded gasoline reached $1.80 a gallon.

"The comptroller estimates that in 1984 we will have $1.80 gas. This means the bill would be in operation only two years," Kubiak complained as he offered his original bill in place of the committee measure.

Rep. Bob Davis, R-Irving, committee chairman, said Kubiak's bill would cause revenue losses starting with $12 million during the coming year and hitting $35 million annually in 1985. Meanwhile, he said, with Texas-based alcohol production at least two years away, the bill would subsidize alcohol plants in the major producing state, Illinois.

Davis said gasohol would be competitive with unleaded gasoline when the price hits $1.80.

Speaker Bill Clayton, whose district includes the sites of at least two planned alcohol plants, said last week he favored Kubiak's bill over the committee bill.

When Davis tried to table Kubiak's bill in favor of the committee measure, he failed, 33-105.

Kubiak later gave some of the credit to Clayton.

"If any one person helped us get that bill out of committee, it was the speaker," he told reporters.

Davis said he hoped "the Senate would look with favor on a bill that doesn't open the door to subsidizing alcohol from Illinois."

Luncheon showers bride with gifts and memories

Though April showers bring May flowers, as the expression goes, May showers often bring June brides. Bridal showers abound during the months before a wedding; they are a traditional, fun way to give the bride-to-be some of the things she'll need when setting up a new household.

These days, the most contemporary of showers are called wedding showers and include the bride and groom along with other couples in the festivities. In the traditional bridal shower, however, guests are usually the mothers of the bride and groom, members of the bridal party and women friends and relatives.

The themes for traditional showers vary according to what the bride needs.

Bathroom, bedroom, kitchen and personal showers are among the more popular ones. Whichever theme is chosen, ask guests to be creative and imaginative in choosing gifts, rather than spend lots of money. They might bring a favorite recipe with one of the ingredients in the dish. Or, they could pass along household hints which they have found invaluable in the past. The key is to give something which will be used, not left in the box.

Gift giving is the main activity in the shower and is usually followed by an evening appetizer or dessert buffet or luncheon. When having a luncheon shower, plan to serve a simple entree which will appeal to everyone, like Fruited Turkey Salad, Lemony Layered Angel Cake and Wine Sun Punch.

Try a light, white wine punch for the beverage in either a luncheon or buffet-type evening shower. Wine Sun Punch, with orange and lemon juices, is bubbly and refreshing. These recipes were developed and tested in the Borden Kitchens as were over 75 beverage recipes from ReaLemon for a new booklet called "Beverages With the Real Difference" from the Borden New Idea Recipe Book series. FRUITED TURKEY SALAD

(Makes 6 to 8 servings)
4 cups cubed cooked turkey or chicken
1-1/2 cups seedless white grape halves
1-1/2 cups small cantaloupe balls
1 cup chopped celery
3/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
1/4 cup ReaLemon Reconstituted Lemon Juice
1 teaspoon ground ginger
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cashews
Melon rings and lettuce leaves, optional

In large bowl, combine turkey, grapes, melon and celery. In small bowl, combine mayonnaise, ReaLemon, ginger and salt. Pour over turkey mixture; mix well. Chill at least 1 hour to blend flavors. Add cashews just before serving. Serve on melon rings and lettuce leaves if desired. Refrigerate leftovers.

LEMONY LAYERED ANGEL CAKE

(Makes one 10-inch cake)
1 (14.5- to 16-ounce) package angel food cake mix
3/4 cup margarine or butter
1/2 cup ReaLemon Reconstituted Lemon Juice

1-1/2 cups sugar
6 eggs
1 (4-ounce) container

frozen non-dairy whipped topping, thawed
Strawberries, optional
Prepare cake mix according to package directions. Cool thoroughly. In medium saucepan, combine margarine, ReaLemon and sugar. Cook and stir over low heat until sugar dissolves and margarine melts. In small bowl, beat eggs until light and lemon-colored. Gradually stir about 1/4 cup hot mixture into eggs; stir into remaining ReaLemon mixture. Cook and stir over medium heat until thick and creamy (about 5 to 10 minutes). Chill thoroughly. Fold in whipped topping. Cut cake into 3 equal layers. Spread 1-3 filling over each layer; stack layers. Chill. Just before serving, garnish with strawberries if desired. Refrigerate leftovers.

WINE SUN PUNCH
(Makes about 2-1/2 quarts)
3 cups orange juice, chilled
1-3rd cup ReaLemon Reconstituted Lemon Juice

1 (750 ml) bottle semi-dry white wine, chilled
1 (32-ounce) bottle lemonlime carbonated beverage, chilled
1 orange, sliced
Mint leaves, optional
In punch bowl, combine orange juice, ReaLemon and wine; just before serving, add carbonated beverage. Top with orange slices and, if desired, mint leaves.
Tip: Recipe can be doubled.
FRUIT MEDLEY PUNCH
Della Robbia Ice Ring,

optional
2 (10 ounce) packages Frozen strawberries in syrup, thawed.
3 cups apricot nectar, chilled
3 cups cold water
1 cup ReaLemon Reconstituted Lemon Juice
1 (6 ounce) can frozen unsweetened orange juice concentrate, thawed
1 cup sugar
1 (32-ounce) bottle ginger ale, chilled
Prepare ice ring in advance. In blender container, blend strawberries well (about 30 seconds). In large punch bowl, combine strawberries, apricot nectar, water, ReaLemon, juice concentrate and sugar; stir until sugar dissolves. Slowly pour in ginger ale; add Della Robbia Ice Ring if desired.

Yield: About 3-1/2 quarts
DELLA ROBBIA ICE RING
1-1/2 cups ginger ale, chilled
1/2 cup ReaLemon Reconstituted Lemon Juice
Any of the following:

Canned apricot halves, drained
Seedless white grapes
Strips of orange peel, curled
Whole strawberries
Mint leaves
Marachino cherries, drained
In 1-quart measure or container, combine ginger ale and ReaLemon. Pour 1/2 the mixture into 1-quart ring mold. Arrange fruits, peel and mint leaves in mold. Freeze. Pour remaining liquid over fruit. Freeze.

Teens can prepare easy, nutritious meals

Working mothers need kitchen help

Even though a working mother is liberated enough to ask teenage children to prepare dinner one or two nights a week, it's sometimes not worth the mess or the inedible food.

Some teens enjoy cooking. Others think cooking is a bologna sandwich and potato chips, or spaghetti and canned sauce three times a week.

Nevertheless, there are times when these adolescents must shift for themselves. A wise mother not only instructs her son or daughter on what constitutes a nutritious meal, but helps the project along by pre-preparing and storing dinner components.

The common hamburger, for instance, can be mixed with grated onion and shredded cheese and quickly made into uniform patties with the aid of a plastic hamburger press such as the sturdy one made by Tupperware. This forms the patties right in their own individual sealed containers which keep the meat fresh and juicy. The convenient containers can be stacked and refrigerated, or frozen.

Another idea is to vary the spaghetti routine and add more nutrition with a zesty sauce. Chop and fry together green pepper, onion and a small, peeled, cubed eggplant. Brown a pound of ground meat. Store meat and vegetables in separate, sealed plastic containers just a bit bigger than the amount of food so that drying air is kept at a minimum. Ask your teenagers to mix both the meat and vegetables into a saucepan of jarred spaghetti sauce and heat it all thoroughly. Ask them to make a green salad to go with this, or fix one ahead and store it tightly sealed.

TUNABURGERS

BERNICE
2 cans (6½ or 7 ounces) tuna, drained
¾ cup shredded Cheddar cheese
½ cup packaged, seasoned, dry bread crumbs
¼ cup chopped onion
¼ cup chopped green pepper
¼ cup mayonnaise
2 eggs, lightly beaten
1½ teaspoons lemon juice
Dash hot pepper sauce

In medium mixing bowl, combine all ingredients. Divide mixture into 6 equal portions. Form patties with press in the hamburger containers. Stack and seal tunaburgers. Store in refrigerator or freezer. To serve, arrange burgers on baking sheet; place under broiler about 5 inches from source of heat. Broil on one side 5 minutes or until lightly browned; turn and broil other side 5 minutes. If burgers are frozen, broil about 7 minutes before turning.

FRESH VEGETABLE PICKLES

½ pound carrots
½ pound fresh zucchini, unpared
1 cup chicken broth
½ cup cider vinegar
One-third cup diced red onion
¼ cup lemon juice
¼ cup vegetable oil
½ teaspoon dried dill weed
½ teaspoon salt
1 or 2 cloves garlic, minced
Cut carrots and zucchini into 5-inch sticks. In large saucepan steam carrots just until crisp-tender about 5 minutes. Do not cook zucchini. Stand vegetables upright in a plastic container with strainer insert and domed seal. In small bowl combine broth, vinegar, onion, lemon juice, oil, dill weed, salt and garlic; mix well. Pour mixture over vegetables. Cover; turn container over several times to distribute ingredients. Store in refrigerator.

Yield: 5 cups vegetables.
FIRESIDE CASSEROLE.
3 cups cooked mashed potatoes
1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese, divided
2 tablespoons chopped onion
¼ teaspoon dried leaf thyme
2 cups cubed cooked ham
1 medium zucchini, sliced (2 cups)

1 can (8½ ounces) tomatoes, drained and chopped
Combine mashed potatoes, ½ cup shredded cheese, onion and thyme; mix well. Set aside. In a greased 1½-quart casserole layer cooked ham, zucchini, tomatoes and remaining ½ cup cheese. Cover with mashed potatoes. Bake in a 375 degrees F. oven 20 to 25 minutes or until potatoes are lightly browned.

Yield: 4 servings.
BAKED HAM SALAD SANDWICH
1½ cups cooked ground ham
One-third finely chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped chutney
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
2½ tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
¾ cup grated Muenster cheese
1 teaspoon ground nutmeg
Dash pepper
8 slices toasted whole wheat bread
In a medium bowl combine ham, celery and chutney; set aside. In a medium saucepan, melt butter. Stir in flour and cook 2 minutes. Remove from heat and gradually stir in milk.

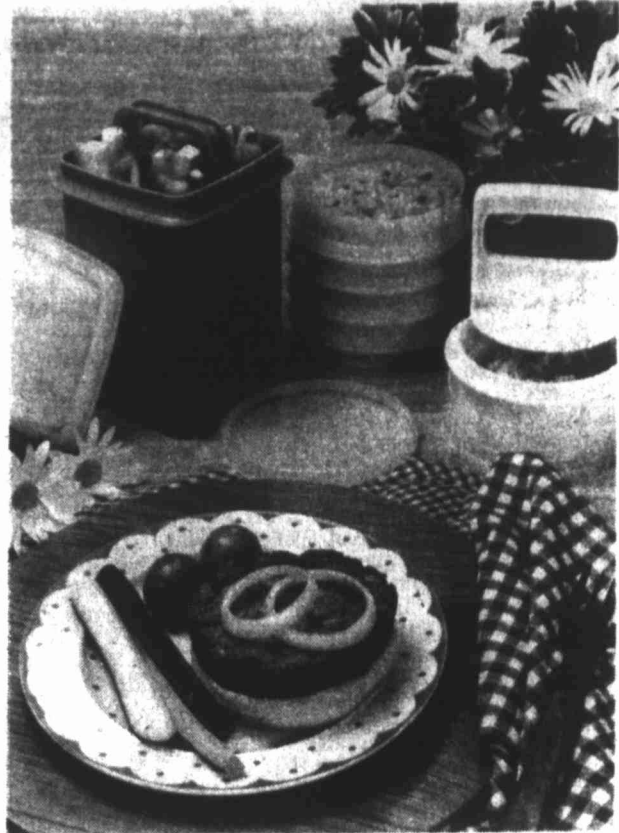

Return to heat, stir constantly until sauce boils and thickens. Stir in cheese and nutmeg; continue stirring until cheese melts. Add ¼ cup sauce to ham mixture; mix well. Spread ham mixture evenly on 4 toasted bread slices. Top with remaining 4 slices toast. Cut each sandwich in half diagonally. Arrange sandwiches in a buttered, shallow casserole. Pour sauce over sandwiches. Cover loosely with aluminum foil. Bake in a 350 degrees F. oven 20 minutes or until heated through.

Yield: 4 servings.
EASY BEEF FRITTATA
3 tablespoons vegetable oil
2 medium potatoes, cooked, pared and sliced (1½ cups)
One-third cup chopped onion
1 garlic, crushed
6 eggs
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon dried leaf thyme, crushed
¼ teaspoon dried marjoram
1 jar (2½ ounces) dried chipped beef
Heat oil in a skillet over medium heat. Add potato slices, cook until lightly browned. Add onion, and garlic, cook 3 minutes. In a medium bowl, beat together eggs, parsley, salt, thyme and marjoram. Rinse beef with water to remove excess salt; drain. Add beef to egg mixture; pour over potatoes in skillet. Cover. Cook over low heat until bottom of frittata is lightly browned. Wrap handle of skillet in aluminum foil and place skillet under broiler until top of frittata is set and lightly brown. Turn out onto serving plate.

Yield: 4 servings.
MEDITERRANEAN STUFFED PEPPERS
4 large, green peppers
1 pound ground chuck
¼ pound bulk sausage
One-third cup chopped onion
1 can (1 pound) whole tomatoes, undrained
1 clove garlic, crushed
1½ cups cooked rice
One-third cup chopped walnuts
1 teaspoon dried leaf basil
½ teaspoon dried leaf oregano
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground cinnamon
One-third cup dark seedless raisins.
Wash peppers; cut slice off tops; remove seeds. Drop peppers in a large pot of boiling salted water 3 minutes; remove and drain. In a large skillet cook the beef and sausage just until pink color disappears; transfer to a large mixture bowl.

Add onion to skillet; saute 3 minutes; add to mixing bowl. Add tomatoes and garlic to skillet; simmer 10 minutes. Meanwhile, add rice, walnuts, basil, oregano, salt and cinnamon to meat mixture. Add ½ cup of the tomatoes; mix well. Stir in raisins. Spoon mixture into green peppers. Stand peppers upright in an oven-proof casserole. Spoon remaining tomato sauce over peppers. Cover. Bake in a 350 degrees F. oven 35-40 minutes or until peppers are tender.
Yield: 4 servings.

Note: Peppers may be stuffed and refrigerated. Store in an 8½ x 8½ plastic container with a square seal.

PASTA WITH BROCCOLI SAUCE — A timely spaghetti dish, Pasta with Broccoli Sauce, spans the seasons with canned and frozen ingredients. Accompaniments are a tossed salad and crusty bread, followed by dessert of vanilla pudding and cherry parfaits.

Preparation is convenient, economical

Pasta, cheese are always favorites

Good-tasting dishes that can be served any time of the year should be in every cook's repertoire.

Here are three that have the added advantage of being economical yet satisfying. They require only one-half pound of cheese to please four-to-six people with a pasta entree and six-to-eight dinner guests with exceptional side dishes.

To simplify preparation, all three recipes call for canned condensed soup as a flavorful and cost-conscious base for sauces. The results are always first class while preparation is quick and convenient.

Pasta with Broccoli Sauce is a timely new way to serve spaghetti. Shredded Cheddar cheese and condensed cream of chicken soup are the base for a sauce that includes broccoli flowerets, sliced carrots and chopped parsley. Lemon juice and garlic heighten the flavor of a sauce that looks garden fresh served over cooked spaghetti.

Two cups of shredded Swiss cheese, chopped spinach and tomatoes make the taste difference in Scalloped Potatoes Florentine. The sauce beginning is condensed Cheddar cheese soup and the added interest comes from green onions, lemon juice, marjoram leaves and garlic powder. The longest time required to ready this dish is for slicing the potatoes — if done by hand. The six-servings casserole bakes for one hour and 15 minutes.

PASTA WITH BROCCOLI SAUCE
1 medium clove garlic, minced
1 tablespoon butter or margarine
1 can (10 1/4 ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
1/2 cup milk
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
Generous dash pepper
4 cups cooked elbow macaroni

1/2 cup milk
2 packages (10 ounces each) frozen broccoli flowerets, cooked and drained
1 cup sliced cooked carrots
2 cups shredded Cheddar cheese
1/4 cup chopped parsley
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
Cooked spaghetti
In saucepan, cook garlic in butter a few minutes. Add remaining ingredients except spaghetti. Heat; stir occasionally. Serve over spaghetti. Makes about 5 cups, 4 to 6 servings.

ALPINE MACARONI AND CHEESE
1 can (10 1/4 ounces) condensed cream of chicken soup
1 cup milk
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1/4 teaspoon dry mustard
1/4 teaspoon hot pepper sauce
Generous dash pepper
4 cups cooked elbow macaroni

roni
1/2 pound Swiss cheese, cut into 1/2-inch cubes
In 2-quart casserole, combine soup, milk, onion, mustard, hot pepper sauce and pepper; stir in macaroni and cheese. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 25 minutes or until hot; stir. Makes about 6 cups, 6 to 8 servings.

SCALLOPED POTATOES FLORENTINE
1 can (11 ounces) condensed Cheddar cheese soup
1 can (about 16 ounces) tomatoes, chopped and drained
1 package (about 10 ounces) frozen chopped spinach, cooked and drained
1/2 cup sliced green onions
1/2 teaspoon lemon juice
1/2 teaspoon marjoram leaves, crushed
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 cups shredded Swiss cheese
4 cups thinly sliced

potatoes
To make sauce, in bowl, combine all ingredients except 1/2 cup cheese and potatoes. In buttered 2-quart casserole, arrange alternate layers of potatoes and sauce. Cover; bake at 375 degrees F. for 1 hour. Uncover; sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake 15 minutes more or until done. Makes 6 servings.

CHEESE OMELET
Yield: 2 servings
Cheese Sauce:
1 tablespoon butter
1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
1 cup milk
1 cup (4 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 teaspoon dry mustard
Omelet:
4 egg yolks
Dash pepper
4 egg whites
1/4 cup water
1/4 teaspoon salt

1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
2 teaspoons butter
For cheese sauce, melt butter over low heat. Blend in flour. Cook until smooth. Remove from heat. Stir in milk. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Blend in cheese just until melted. Stir in mustard. Keep warm.

For omelet, beat egg yolks and pepper until thick and lemon-colored. Beat together egg whites, water, salt and cream of tartar until stiff but not dry. Fold egg yolks into whites. Melt butter in a 10-inch skillet that has an oven-proof or removable handle. Heat until just hot enough to sizzle a drop of water. Turn omelet mixture into preheated skillet. Cook over low heat on top of range until puffy and browned on bottom, about 5 minutes. Transfer to oven preheated to 325 degrees and bake 12 to 15 minutes or until knife inserted near center comes out clean.

To serve, remove omelet to heated platter. Score down the center with a spatula. Pour half of the cheese sauce on the bottom; fold omelet in half and top with remaining sauce.

MACARONI AND CHEESE SQUARES-RATATOUILLE SAUCE
Squares:
1 1/2 cups elbow macaroni, uncooked
2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup chopped onion
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Cheddar cheese
1 can (10 1/4 oz.) condensed creamy chicken mushroom soup
1/2 cup soft bread crumbs
1/2 cup milk
3 eggs, beaten
Sauce: (Yield: 2 1/2 cups)
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup EACH: chopped celery, green pepper, onion
1/2 cup sliced zucchini
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon basil
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/8 teaspoon garlic powder
1 can (8 oz.) tomato sauce
1 can (8 oz.) stewed tomatoes
1/4 cup water
2 teaspoons cornstarch
1/2 teaspoon instant chicken bouillon
Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. For squares, cook macaroni according to package directions; drain. Meanwhile, saute onion in butter until tender, about 3 minutes. Combine macaroni and onion. Add remaining ingredients; mix well. Spoon into a well-buttered 2-quart rectangular baking dish. Bake 40 to 45 minutes, or until a knife inserted near center comes out clean. Let rest 10 minutes before loosening edges and cutting into squares. Meanwhile, for sauce, saute celery, green pepper and onion in butter in medium-sized saucepan until tender, about 5 minutes. Stir in tomato sauce and stewed tomatoes with liquid. Combine water, cornstarch and instant chicken bouillon. Stir into vegetable mixture. Bring to boiling over medium heat, stirring frequently. Boil and stir 2 minutes. Serve sauce spooned over macaroni and cheese squares.

Yield: 6 to 8 servings
TUNA-CHEESE LASAGNA
1 tablespoon butter
1 jar (15 1/2 oz.) spaghetti sauce with mushrooms
1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
One-third cup water
1 can (9 1/4 oz.) tuna, drained and flaked
1 1/2 cups cottage cheese
1 package (10 oz.) frozen chopped spinach, cooked and well-drained
1 egg, beaten
1/4 cup grated Parmesan cheese
8 lasagna noodles, cooked and drained
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Mozzarella cheese
Saute onion in butter until tender about 3 minutes. Combine spaghetti sauce, garlic powder, water and sauteed onion in medium-sized saucepan. Simmer, uncovered, 10 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in tuna; set aside. Meanwhile, combine cottage cheese, spinach, egg and Parmesan cheese. Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. arrange 4 lasagna noodles in bottom of a 2-quart rectangular baking dish. Layer half the cottage cheese mixture, a third of the Mozzarella cheese and half the tuna sauce. Repeat layers; top with Mozzarella cheese. Bake 30 to 35 minutes. Let stand 10 minutes before serving.

"IT'S ONLY RUBBER, MR. WILSON! YOU DON'T THINK I'D PUT A REAL SPIDER IN YOUR SOUP, DO YA?"

"If they lived happily ever after, does that mean they're still alive?"

Your Daily HOROSCOPE
from the CARROLL RIGNER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, MAY 13, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: State your views in a precise manner for best results at this time. A day to organize your activities well so you can make rapid progress and have more abundance.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Avoid an argument with one who thinks differently from you. Go to influential persons for the backing you need.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can see clearly now how to put your current affairs in order. Avoid one who is a troublemaker. Be more optimistic.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) An associate could be difficult if you antagonize this person. Cement better relations instead. Think along constructive lines.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try to be more objective and you can advance in career activities. Come to a better understanding with an opponent.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A talent you have can be best expressed in the afternoon. Study the work ahead of you and clear up your thinking.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You could be confused in the morning, so wait until later in the day before coming to any important decisions. Use your wisdom.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Obtain the true facts and figures before going ahead with a plan you have in mind. Take no risks with your reputation.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Don't part with your money in the daytime or there could be deception of some kind. Avoid one who brags too much.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) The planets are favorable for making progress now in career activities. Know what higherups expect of you.

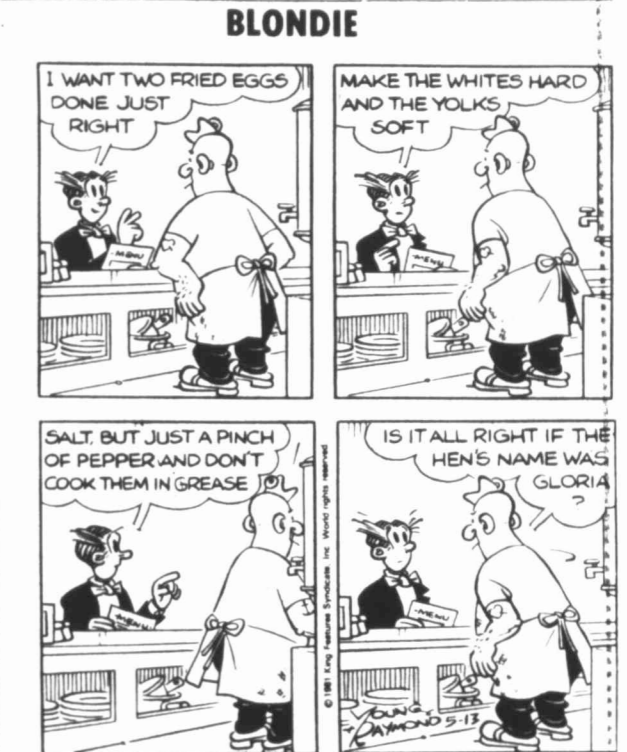

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You may want to make some changes now, but study them well first, otherwise you could regret it later.

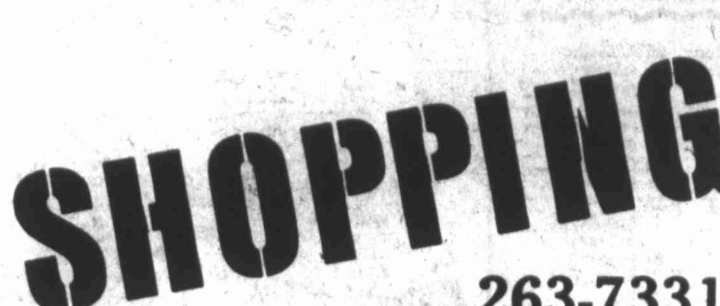

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Go over any statements carefully, since there are likely to be some mistakes at this time.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Sidestep a co-worker who is out of sorts in the morning. Make new contacts or worth to add to present roster.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one with many talents, and the ability to formulate a plan and then execute it to a successful conclusion. Give as comprehensive an education as you can in order to achieve the greatest results.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower U.S. SENATOR FOR TEXAS

142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

The framers of our Constitution created a new system of government they called federalism. Simply stated, this new concept provided for a strong national government to do those things that only such a government can do—defend our shores, deliver the mail, regulate currency and other truly national functions.

But while the powers of this national government were considerable in its area of responsibility, all other powers were left to the states. Thus, the states, and in turn still more local jurisdictions, were responsible and sovereign in those areas which were more appropriately handled at that level.

Not only was this revolutionary, but also it worked. We Americans have enjoyed the benefits of a unified national government while preserving the maximum amount of autonomy to run our own affairs at the level closest to us.

But over the past half century, the federal government has slowly encroached upon powers intended for lower levels of government. It wasn't an insidious plot. Well-intentioned people saw needs and misguided thought only a federal law or regulation could meet them. The only problem was that often a national program failed to meet the needs of individual states or citizens because national rules don't allow for differences in local needs. As money became more centralized through federal taxes to pay for federal programs, more and more things were turned over to the national government—a classic vicious cycle.

The Reagan Administration has developed a plan to systematically reverse this trend, to restore federalism in its true meaning.

With the reams and reams of laws and regulations involved, it could take years to accomplish the process if only a hit or miss system was available. So the Administration has created two groups—the Coordinating Task Force on Federalism and the Presidential Advisory Committee on Federalism. The Task Force is comprised of the highest level presidential advisors and cabinet members. The Advisory Committee is composed of governors, state legislators, mayors, county officials, U.S. Senators and Representatives and private citizens. Both are chaired by Sen. Paul Laxalt of Nevada.

These people will be in a unique position to review current laws and regulations, draft proposals for new legislation and executive orders and help see that necessary actions are taken in timely fashion.

As President Reagan has said, too often the federal government has treated "elected state and local officials as if they were nothing more than administrative agents for federal authority."

Working out ways to reverse the trend, without loss of vital services and without returning responsibilities but not revenue sources, is a task little short of Herculean. But I am convinced it can be done. The Administration is committed to it. The present Congress will, I believe, be largely receptive, state and local governments want to serve their own people, and the citizenry wants the federal government off its back.

With concerted effort, perhaps we can celebrate the Constitution's 200th anniversary this decade with a true rebirth of the federalist system it invented.

CBS in dead heat with ABC for ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — CBS' three-week run as the No. 1 network in prime-time ended in a dead heat with ABC, although NBC had the most-watched program in the period ending May 10, according to the A.C. Nielsen Co.

NBC, in last place for 10 consecutive weeks, scored with the concluding installment in the two-part "Murder in Texas" miniseries, and had three shows in the top 10. But NBC's rating for the week was 15.2, still below the 16.5 figure for each of the competing networks.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 16.5 percent of the homes in the country with television were tuned to CBS, and the same percentage to ABC.

"Murder in Texas" took the No. 1 spot held 18 times in the last 27 weeks by CBS' "Dallas." "Dallas," in rerun, dropped to 27th place for the week.

The rating for Part II of "Murder in Texas" was 26.8. Nielsen says that means of all the country's homes with TV, 26.8 percent saw at least part of the program.

"Murder in Texas" began its two-night run the week before, and the premiere installment finished in the ratings. NBC did not fare as well, however, with another two-part dramatization drawn from a real-life story.

Part I of "The People vs. Jean Harris," based on transcripts from the recently completed New York murder trial, was No. 52 for the week, with the concluding chapter 65th.

The TV premiere of the Barbra Streisand-Ryan O'Neal film, "The Main Event," scored for ABC — No. 10 for the week. CBS' made-for-TV movie, "The Gentleman Bandit," finished 20th.

The five highest-rated programs of the week were first-run productions, with "M-A-S-H" on CBS in second place, followed by "Love Boat" and "Three's Company" on ABC and "Different Strokes" on NBC.

NBC had three of the week's five lowest-rated shows, including "Nep Wolfe," No. 64; "The People vs. Jean Harris," Part II, No. 65, and "The Gangster Chronicles," No. 67. A "Pink Panther" special on ABC finished 66th, with another ABC special, "Benjie Takes a Dive at Marineland," 68th.

Here are the week's 10 highest-rated programs: Movie, "Murder in Texas," Part II, with a rating of 26.8 representing 20.9 million homes, NBC; "M-A-S-H," 23.2 or 18 million, CBS; "Love Boat," 21.3 or 16.6 million, and "Three's Company," 21.2 or 16.5 million, both ABC; "Different Strokes," 21.1 or 16.4 million, NBC; Movie, "Broken Promise," 21 or 16.3 million, CBS; "60 Minutes" and "Nurse," both 20.5 or 15.9 million, both CBS; "Facts of Life," 20.4 or 15.8 million, NBC, and Movie, "The Main Event," 20.1 or 15.6 million, ABC.

The next 10 shows: "Laverne and Shirley" and "20-20," both ABC; "Battle of the Network Stars" and "Too Close for Comfort," both ABC, tie; "CHIPS," NBC; "Fantasy Island," ABC; "Real People," NBC, and "House Calls," CBS, three-way tie; "Happy Days," ABC, and Movie, "The Gentleman Bandit," CBS.

Mathematics awards went to Carmen Holman, Cheryl McCoy, Kristi Franklin and Ronda Fowler.

Social studies winner was Orlando Minard. Art winner was Brenda Rinard. V.O.E. winners were Andrea Fowler and Sharon Pherneton.

In child care and homemaking categories, winners were Royce Islas, Karen Boyett and Teresa Savell. In business, Lori Phinney, Polly Barbee and Louise Shive were awarded.

In science, winners were Jana Griffin, Tommy McDaniel, Shana Souter, and Fay Fryar.

Homemaking winners also included Candy Word and

RATE REBELS — Barney Epstein and his wife Evelyn sit in front of a wood stove in their Millersville, Pa. home displaying copies of a complaint they have filed with the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission against the Pennsylvania Power and Light Company. The couple withheld 10 percent of their electric bills as a sign of protest against the power company's new nuclear power plant would lead to skyrocketing utility bills.

Couple fights rate hikes by withholding payments

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Evelyn and Barney Epstein always were conventional, law-abiding citizens. But two years ago, they began withholding 10 percent of their electricity bills.

The middle-class couple feared a planned nuclear power plant would lead to skyrocketing utility bills and economic chaos. So in a courteous but determined way, the Epsteins decided to try to hamper construction of the Susquehanna plant by the Pennsylvania Power & Light Co.

They've joined a growing band of middle-class mavericks willing to take sometimes illegal steps to curb their electricity bills and impede the growth of nuclear power.

Hundreds of utility customers in Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and New York are staging rate boycotts — withholding some portion of their electricity bill that reflects spending for nuclear plants. Convinced that nuclear power is not the cheapest form of energy, they believe that rates, which already may reflect nuclear construction costs, will jump when reactors start up.

People are "disturbed that they are being forced to invest in nuclear plants," says Marge Harrison, who is organizing a rate strike aimed at the Long Island (N.Y.) Lighting Co.'s controversial Shoreham nuclear plant. The Epsteins, convinced by the Three Mile Island accident that nuclear power was no bargain, felt the Susquehanna plant would be "an economic disaster," says Mrs. Epstein, the advertising supervisor of a Lancaster watch company.

So she and her husband, a semi-retired appliance repairman, deposited their delinquent payments in escrow for a year and sent letters to PP&L, explaining what they were doing and why.

When PP&L threatened to cut off their electricity, the Epsteins filed a complaint last summer with the Public Utility Commission, saying their bills were "excessive and unreasonable" due to the nuclear construction program.

That hand-written complaint has developed into a full-scale legal fight involving scores of teachers, professors, civil servants and businessmen in many parts of PP&L's 29-county service area.

All have paid their bills because they "don't want to prejudice anything by clouding the issue," Mrs. Epstein explained.

An administrative law judge will decide Friday whether to dismiss the case, as PP&L has requested.

The utility defends its nuclear investment as reasonable and necessary and has accused the Epsteins of "attempting to transform a political statement into a rate complaint," said PP&L spokesman Paul Schock.

But the Epsteins, who heat their 1840 farmhouse with two wood stoves and a solar water heater, insist rates — and cost-efficient forms of energy — are the issue.

Some industry officials say the rate rebellion is not widespread.

"If it's happening, it's on a very, very minor basis. It's apparently not making any kind of serious dent," said Kirk Willison, a spokesman for the Edison Electric Institute, an industry trade association.

Port Houston leads nation in foreign trade

HOUSTON (AP) — For a second consecutive year, Port Houston led U.S. ports last year in foreign trade.

A report submitted Monday to the port commission placed Houston's foreign trade at 53.5 million tons compared with 52.9 million for the Port of New York-New Jersey.

Norfolk, Va., was third with 45.8 million tons and was followed by New Orleans with 43.4 million.

Joiner wins Sousa Award

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Karla Joiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Joiner, won the John Phillip Sousa Award Tuesday night when the final spring concert was held by the Colorado High and Middle School Bands in the Middle School Gym.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to high school band officers Karla Joiner, president; David Wilson, vice-president; Tammy Aguillon, secretary; and Marjori Maddox, reporter. Additionally, it was announced Miss Maddox, captain of the Colorado City High School band-flag corps the last two years, has made the flag corps at the University of Oklahoma where she will be a freshman student in the fall.

Other special recognition went to band manager Billy Gilstrap and uniform chairman Melissa Gorham.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Dealers of pornographic films featuring children "wil...

down a state law to help authorities stamp out "kiddie porn," a state legislator who sponsored the measure says.

In a 5-2 decision Tuesday, the state Court of Appeals struck down portions of a 1977 law aimed at making it easier to prosecute people who exploit children by using them in sexually explicit films, books, photographs or other material. The court said material portraying children involved in sexual activity may not be barred unless it fits legal definitions of obscenity.

The law was struck down because it prohibited "the promotion of materials which are traditionally entitled to constitutional protection from governmental interference under the First Amendment," the court ruled.

The court held the law could have applied to "a live performance of a Broadway play and a filmed report of New Guinea fertility rites."

The law made it a crime to promote a performance that "includes sexual conduct by a child less than 16 years of age."

Paul Ira Ferber, who owns a bookstore in Times Square in New York City, had been convicted of a felony in selling to an undercover police officer two 12-minute films depicting children romping nude or engaged in sexual acts. Ferber challenged the law, saying it was a violation of his constitutional right of free speech.

Assemblyman Howard Lasher, a Brooklyn Democrat who sponsored the law, said the bill had dried up the kiddie porn market in New York. "With this decision, I'm sure they will be back," he said.

Twenty-one other states have provisions similar to the New York law, and if they follow Tuesday's decision, "all these statutes would be in jeopardy," said defense lawyer Herald Price Fahringer. There already was a state law which made it a crime to promote or sell legally obscene performances by a child. The penalty for convictions under that law was stiffened in 1977 to make the offense punishable by up to seven years in prison.

But law enforcement authorities said there was a need for a broader prohibition to allow more effective prosecution of those involved in the kiddie porn business and they added the section concerning portrayal of children in sexual activity.

Ferber also was charged with promoting obscene sexual performances by a child. But a jury acquitted him of the obscenity charges, while convicting him on the other charge.

The Court of Appeals, the state's highest court, reversed the judgment of the state Supreme Court and a unanimous ruling by the appellate division against Ferber.

In a strong dissent to Tuesday's ruling, Judges Matthew Jasen and Dominick Gabrielli argued that the 1977 law was a constitutionally defensible effort to protect children from exploitation.

Council accepts bridge grant

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City city council breezed through its agenda in a little more than an hour Tuesday night with the first item on the docket being the council decision to accept a bridge grant.

Two items tabled were a request by George Golden to put a mobile home at 850 Houston St., and an airport zoning request as well as the tabling of a decision concerning the closing of old roads in the cemetery.

Council members voted to buy a new police car from low bidder Anderson Motor Co., a Dodge in the amount of $7,815.1 with trade, and three sewer pumps and motors from Smith Pump Co., of Waco for $7,600.

In final action, council members voted to advertise for bids on a used dump truck.
