Reagan budget chief warns Congress

Neglecting cuts would be 'sabotage'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan met with Democratic congressional leaders today to try to settle terms for a tax cut, while his budget chief said Congress will be guilty of "deliberate sabotage" if it doesn't stand by federal spending cuts already approved in the House and Senate.

Reagan's session at the White House was described as a "last check" with the opposition before he goes ahead with a compromise tax cut bill endorsed by conservative Democrats.

Joining the president were Vice President George Bush, Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan and five Democratic leaders: Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Texas; Rep. Dan Rostenkowski of Illinois, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee; Senate Minority Leader

Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia and Sen. Russell B. Long Jr. of Louisiana, ranking minority member of the Senate Finance Committee.

"They've been here almost 30 seconds, and they've all agreed," Reagan quipped at a photo session. "It's a good morning."

A tax cut bill is likely this year even if Congress and the president cannot agree on a compromise. Congress would simply write one a step at a time and leave it to Reagan to accept or veto it.

The White House and the Democrats who have so far spurned an administration-endorsed compromise all say they want to reach a consensus before the tax-writing committees get down to business.

The committees that deal with federal spending ceilings were getting to work on detailed budget decisions. David A. Stockman, director of the Office of Management and Budget, said they are obligated to stand by the cuts of about $35 billion that have been endorsed by Congress.

He said at a news conference that any deviation from those cuts "must be considered a deliberate sabotage of the expressed will of Congress and the people."

Stockman said budget policy already has been settled, and Congress should simply implement it, not try to change that policy.

The budget resolution instructed the committees that handle detailed legislation to meet specific quotas for spending cuts, and to do so by June 12. The product is to be a reconciliation resolution, tailoring specific programs to the guidelines set last month. "Our approach will be one of flexibility on the details but insistence on honest scorekeeping and the bottom line," Stockman said.

But he said the administration will be wary of major changes in the allocation of funds, because there are few areas left where an increase in one program can be offset by cuts in others.

Stockman said the budget should be handled as a package, not in a succession of House roll calls on separate spending items.

Although the tax cut remains the chief topic of conversation in Congress, it likely will be 10 days or so before lawmakers actually begin writing the bill.

GUILTY AS CHARGED — John Taylor (seated, white shirt), speaks in his defense during a "trial" today, presided over by County Judge Bill Tune. Taylor and eight other members of a "Centennial gang" were sentenced for their roles in the recent celebration marking the first 100 years of the railroad in Howard County. Also pictured are Bob Miller, who served as 'prosecuting attorney,' and defendants Travis Floyd, Frank Hardesty, Dene Sheppard and Arlie Knight.

Tune strikes blow for harassed

By CAROL HART

Howard County residents who had pies thrown in their faces, were ticketed for not wearing proper clothing, or who were harassed by Keystone Kops got their just revenge today, when nine gang leaders of the Railroad Centennial Celebration were 'hauled' before County Judge Bill

Tune. Sentenced before Judge Tune today were John Taylor, Dene Sheppard, Bob Cappel, Bill Forshee, Frank Hardesty, Travis Floyd, Gail Earls, Angel Jones and Arlie Knight. The nine were charged with being general nuisances, and with negligence in caring for their homes, businesses and children. "Is this a joke?" asked one of the wary nine, and it was soon evident that it was.

Judge Tune told the group "all of us had to suffer because of each and everyone of you."

Taylor spoke up in his defense, saying there were up to 10,000 accomplices in the Centennial, including members of the Chamber of Commerce and area financial institutions. Also in on the "conspiracy" were county commissioners, the city government, and the Governor of Texas and President Reagan. "This thing really got out of hand," Taylor quipped.

Travis Floyd offered to plea bargain during sentencing, saying "I'll tell you anything you want to know."

Gail Earls, alias a Keystone Kop, said "I thought this was all serious," when called before the bench. "I've been worrying all weekend." She then turned to Sheriff A.N. Standard, who served her with a warrant, and joked "I'll get you for this."

In a last desperate attempt to have their sentences reduced, the accused told Judge Tune he looked cute without his beard. But Tune sentenced them anyway.

"I don't think there's anyone (who worked on the Centennial) who shouldn't be commended," Tune said. "We really appreciate their time and efforts." Defendants were advised to "go their way and take care of their families, children, businesses and stop harassing the public and particularly the employees of Howard County, Texas... It is further ordered, adjudged and decreed that each of the defendants be commended for a job well done, above and beyond the call of duty, during the celebration of the Big Spring Howard County Centennial."

Margaret Ray, county clerk, gave each of the defendants a trophy for their efforts in the Centennial. In answer to her sentence, Dene Sheppard said "I've enjoyed every minute of it (the Centennial)." "It's the most fun I've ever had."

Extension of legislative session appears likely

By JIM DAVIS

Harris-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — With the possibility of a special session moving closer with every tick of the clock, a legislative redistricting committee today is trying to reach a compromise on how new congressional districts will be drawn.

If no agreement is reached or if there is any delay in passing the House and Senate before midnight today, Gov. Bill Clements will have to call legislators back into session either immediately or later this year to complete the job. The last-minute nature of the negotiations will submit any agreement reached to the threat of a filibuster by any state senator who doesn't agree with it.

As the conference committee — five representatives and five senators — held twice Sunday, it became clear that they were divided both on general and specific issues.

Particular problem areas are Dallas County, Harris County and South Texas.

Almost no district is considered safe, however, since now boundary lines are drawn in one area can have a rippling effect into other areas.

U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, who represents Howard County, has districts in both the House-passed and Senate-passed plans that are not significantly different. Considered as an isolated case, the principal decision for the committee is whether to take the district to Montague County and part of Cooke County on the Red River as in the Senate plan or make Wise County the northeastern tip as in the House plan.

But the conference committee could make changes in the Dallas-Fort Worth area that could affect Stenholm's district also.

There's also pressure from the south, where some members of the committee and a Mexican-American coalition want to create a new Hispanic-majority district. That could push other districts with incumbents Abraham "Chick" Kazen of Laredo and Tom Leoffler of Hunt toward the north and affect Stenholm's district.

Rainfall total

now 8.15 inches

The rains passed up Big Spring and environs Sunday but no one apparently fretted about it. The day, weather wise, was practically perfect. The wild flowers, although their 'day' was supposed to be over for 1981, staged a riotous comeback.

The Sabbath day encouraged people to get out of doors and thousands took advantage of it, whether it inspired people to work in the yard, go fishing or throw a frisbee around.

The rain which fell shortly after midnight Friday was officially measured at .49 of an inch by the U.S. Experiment Station. That brought the two-day total to 1.30 inches and raised the year's aggregate to 8.15 inches.

Normal for the year through May 31 is 6.69 inches.

In isolated areas, the rainfall Saturday was much heavier than the official total.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Looking back

Q. President Reagan once said or wrote something about his boyhood home, Dixon, Ill. I liked. Maybe you could repeat it for me.

A. Likely, you're thinking about an article which appeared in 'Small Town Mid-American Shaped Reagan's Future.' In part, the article said "When I was nine years old, we moved to Dixon... It was to be home to me from that moment on until I was 21. All of us have a place we go back to; Dixon is that place for me. There was the life that shaped my body and mind for all the years to come after. It was a good life. I have never asked for anything more, then or now."

Tops on TV: 'South Pacific'

Tonight's programming is not for great movie lovers, unless you get WTBS Atlanta on your television. That station is featuring "South Pacific" a musical starring Mitzzi Gaynor, at 7:00 p.m. Baseball fans should be overjoyed. ABC brings regional coverage of the New York Yankees at Cleveland Indians; and the Montreal Expos at St. Louis Cardinals at 7:30 p.m.

Stenholm says Reagan support is needed for windfall tax relief

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Texas, says independent oil operators will need strong help from President Reagan if they are to receive relief from oil windfall profits taxes.

Bills in both the House and Senate propose a 1,000-barrel-per-day exemption from the tax for independent operators and royalty owners.

Stenholm is coordinator for the 47-member Conservative Democratic Forum that played a major role in House approval of Reagan's budget cut program. He told the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association convention Sunday that success of their tax exemption "will depend on how hard Reagan backs the plan."

He was asked if his conservative Democrats would support an exemption.

"If President Reagan would deliver 190 or so Republican votes, I'll guarantee we could deliver 26 Democratic votes," Stenholm said. He added it will be a hard fight, however, and "probably the last 17 votes will be the toughest."

The independents contend about 200 House members have openly expressed support for the exemption.

While saying passage of the exemption will be tough, Stenholm said he is optimistic that the windfall profits tax can be phased out, possibly within five years, because of an eventual deteriorating effect on drilling programs.

"If we don't fumble too many balls, I think we will have a good chance to phase it out," he said.

He cautioned the oilmen, however, against any thought of pressing for a quick end to federal controls on natural gas prices. Such a course, he said, could backfire by bolstering the chances of Congress broadening the windfall profits tax on oil to include natural gas.

"I would counsel extreme caution," Stenholm said.

A resolution submitted to the independents today would pledge support of congressional action to "hasten decontrol of natural gas pricing and restore demand for natural gas to free-market levels."

A policy committee report accompanying the resolution, however, indicated agreement with Stenholm's plea for caution.

The committee said about one-half of natural gas production is now scheduled for decontrol by Jan. 1, 1985 with probable price increases that "could cause political problems resulting from consumer distress."

Former Rep. Carl Vinson dead at 97

MILLEDGEVILLE, Ga. (AP) — Former U.S. Rep. Carl Vinson, who served in the House longer than anyone else and was a powerful proponent of military might during his 50 years in Washington, died early today at the age of 97.

Molly Snead, Vinson's nurse for 34 years and a close family friend, said the veteran politician died at 5 a.m. EDT at Baldwin County Medical Center. He had suffered a heart attack a year ago and had entered the hospital almost two weeks ago with heart problems, she said.

Vinson, a Democrat, was one of the most powerful political figures in Washington from 1914 to 1965, receiving recognition for his length of service both in Congress and his 16 years as chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee. He served as chairman of the House Armed Services Committee for 14 years.

Considered several times for Secretary of Defense during his years in Capitol Hill, Vinson once quipped, "Shucks, I'd rather go on running the Pentagon from up here."

"During his half century of service... Carl Vinson established an unequalled record for tenure in congress and positive action to strengthen the nation's defense," said Georgia Gov. George Busbee.

Busbee ordered flags on state buildings flown at half-staff until after the funeral, scheduled for 3 p.m. Wednesday at Milledgeville's First Methodist Church. Vinson will be buried at Memory Hill Cemetery next to his wife, who died three decades ago.

GASOLINE PRICES HAVE DROPPED in recent months, but motorists heading for summer vacations will find that filling the tank up takes a big chunk out of the vacation money. Questions and answers on how best to stretch mileage and save money are provided on page 6A.

Outside: Mid 90s
Highs in the low to mid 90s are forecast for today and Tuesday. Lows tonight should fall into the middle 60s. Winds will be southeasterly at 25 mph today, dropping to 5-10 mph tonight, and increasing to 15 to 20 mph on Tuesday. Chance of rain is 20 percent today, 30 percent tonight, and 20 percent on Tuesday.

Rep. Rains: Cut-throat exercise is important

Mark Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — This is serious business... That's what Rep. Don Rains of San Marcos, temporarily wielding Speaker Bill Clayton's gavel, tried to tell distracted members one day during discussion of a bill by Rep. Walter Grubbs of Abilene.

Grubbs' bill would allow state hospitals to fingerprint prospective employees to identify those with criminal pasts. A few members were vehemently opposed but most of the noise on the floor came from legislators huddled to debate redistricting — the once-a-decade but-throat exercise in redrawing political lines to meet census changes.

Finally Rains gravelled for attention, saying, "Members, quit drawing maps. This is an important bill." *** A redistricting sampler... During the past week, House members twice debated the proposed political map into wee hours. There were harsh words, bleary eyes and a trip to the hospital by combatant Republican Rep. Bob Davis, suffering fatigue and chest pains.

50 killed in Bangladesh

CALCUTTA, India (AP) — The Bangladesh government says it has crushed an attempted coup by army officers who assassinated President Ziaur Rahman two days ago and news agencies reported had fighting, with at least 50 people killed, between rebel troops led by Maj. Gen. Abul Manzur and forces loyal to the government in Chittagong, Bangladesh's second largest city and major seaport. The government's Radio Dacca said the rebels fled early today, and the government regained full control of Chittagong. The broadcast announced a reward of 500,000 takas — $30,300 — for the capture of Manzur. It did not say where the rebels went. The broadcast announced a reward of 500,000 takas — $30,300 — for the capture of Manzur. Two Indian news agencies reported that the rebel leader had been captured, but there was no confirmation of the reports. Manzur, the commander of the Bangladesh army's 24th Division in Chittagong, apparently failed to rally other military units to his cause despite repeated radio appeals for their support. It appeared that the rebellion was confined to the port city of 1 million people 140 miles southeast of Dacca, the capital. The United News of India said the rebels took over the Chittagong army base, the local radio station and two strategic bridges leading to the city. But the navy commander, Rear Adm. Mahmood Ali Khan, said his forces were loyal to the government and were in "complete control" of the Chittagong naval base and other port facilities. Radio Dacca reported.

MacNelly quitting

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Jeff MacNelly, two-time Pulitzer Prize-winning editorial page cartoonist for the Richmond News Leader, announced today he is giving up daily political cartooning. MacNelly, who has been with the News Leader since he began his career as a political cartoonist in 1970, said he is quitting to devote more time to his comic strip "Shoe," which is syndicated to 650 newspapers nationwide. His last daily cartoon appeared in the News Leader today. MacNelly, 34, won Pulitzers in 1971 and 1977 for his political cartoons, which appear in 450 newspapers. He also has won many other cartooning awards, among them two Reuben awards, given annually by cartoonists themselves to the individual they regard as the best cartoonist in the country. "The daily demands of the political cartoon make it impossible to expand into other areas," MacNelly said in announcing his resignation as News Leader cartoonist. "I am devoting more time to the birdbrains of my comic strip 'Shoe.' I would like to devote less time to the birdbrains on the national and international stages, thereby making room for new projects and new ideas." MacNelly said he will "not be giving up political cartooning entirely. I'll continue to draw, but in different formats and forums as the occasions arise. I would like to aim my creative energies in other directions and see what happens." "The change is a little frightening. But with the move will come freedom from daily deadlines and freedom, after all, is what makes life interesting."

No espionage charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department will not bring espionage charges "at this point" against an Air Force missile officer accused of making three unauthorized visits to the Soviet Embassy, a department spokesman says. "We have no case at this point," John K. Russell said Sunday. Asked if he could explain why none were being brought against 2nd Lt. Christopher M. Cooke, Russell said, "Absolutely not." Cooke, 25, of Richmond, Va., has been in pre-trial confinement at McConnell Air Force Base near Wichita, Kan., since being charged Friday with three counts of violating an Air Force regulation against unauthorized contact with representatives of a communist country. Conviction on each count could bring a maximum sentence of two years in prison, forfeiture of pay and dismissal from the service. The Air Force cannot bring charges of espionage. This is the province of the Justice Department. The Air Force could bring charges of unauthorized disclosure of secret information but has not done so. Cooke's parents have accused the Air Force of renegeing on an agreement that he would not be charged if he cooperated fully with investigators.

County gets $1,047.20

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said recently Texas counties were paid $627,542 in state funds under a law designed to encourage voter registration and accurate voting lists. He said 219 counties shared in the funds which represent reimbursement for county voter registration efforts. The Texas Election Code permits the Comptroller to pay counties 40 cents for each new registered voter and 40 cents for each cancellation made to update lists. Bullock said the payments were made to help reimburse registration activities from February 1, 1980 through January 31, 1981. Payments to the state's larger counties included: Harris County, $11,286.40; Dallas County, $88,612; Bexar County, $42,146.60; Tarrant County, $54,196; Travis County, $31,773.60; El Paso County, $14,624.80 and Nueces County, $11,711.60. ### Court rules zoning powers can't control nude dancing

WASHINGTON (AP) — Local governments cannot use their zoning powers to ban all live nude dancing, the Supreme Court ruled today. By a 7-2 vote, the justices said such a comprehensive ban violates constitutional rights to freedom of speech and expression. Today's case involved Mt. Ephraim, N.J., which banned within its boundaries all nude dancing and all other forms of live entertainment. "In this case, Mt. Ephraim has not adequately justified its substantial restriction of protected activity. None of the justifications asserted in this court was articulated by the state courts and none of them withstands scrutiny," Justice Byron R. White said in an opinion for the majority. White continued that it did not appear that (Mt. Ephraim's) zoning authority has arrived at a defensible conclusion that unusual problems are presented by live entertainment. In today's case, James F. Schad and Juliette Ann

Weather radar seminar set

Aircraft pilots in this area are invited to attend a Weather Radar Seminar, presented by AOPA Air Safety Foundation of Washington, D.C., as part of their nationwide program to enhance air safety. The seminar was developed to enable pilots to get the most from airborne weather radar, and teaches basics such as weather avoidance, storm analysis, terrain avoidance and ground mapping. Also included are tips on how to select radar equipment, the advantages and disadvantages of multifunction sets, and color vs. black and white displays. The course offers advice on how to get the most information on thunderstorm turbulence and hail from airborne radar systems, and how to keep out of traps other radar-equipped pilots have flown into, according to Archie Trammell, executive vice president of AOPA Air Safety Foundation. The Weather Radar Seminar will begin 6:15 p.m., June 15, at the Holiday Inn-Country Villa, 4300 W. Hwy. 80 (at Midland Dr.), Midland. For information regarding this seminar or to register, one can contact the AOPA Air Safety Foundation, toll free, at 800 638-0853 or 800 638-8088.

Severe storms possible tonight

By the Associated Press

Widely scattered showers and thunderstorms were forecast for most of Texas today. Forecasters warned that severe thunderstorms were possible over the Panhandle and South Plains.

It was to be partly cloudy and warmer statewide. Highs were to be in the 80s and 90s and up as high as 100 in the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.

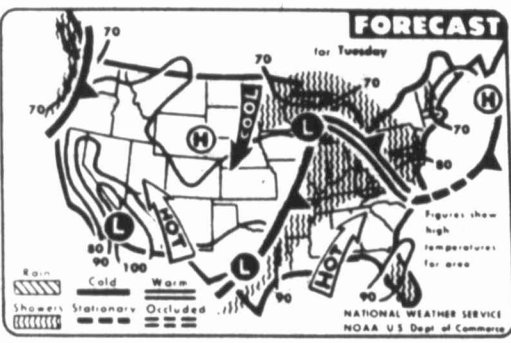

Showers and thunderstorms were reported during the night and early today in North Central Texas and some isolated thundershowers were reported in Northwest Texas and in the Big Bend area. Dallas-Fort Worth received about .64 of an inch as thunderstorms passed through the area before dawn.

Except for areas where thunderstorms and thundershowers were reported skies were mostly clear around the state early today. Some patchy fog was reported in South Central Texas and Southeast Texas.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s in the eastern half of the state and in the 60s over most of the western half. Extremes ranged from 58 at Marfa and 59 at both Dalhart and Amarillo to 79 at both Brownsville and McAllen.

Refugees fleeing El Salvador violence find red tape in U.S.

DALLAS (AP) — Nelson Parrada Escamilla is a victim — of a war-torn homeland where he was once shot in the back for no apparent reason, and of the political realities of the nation to which he fled.

"To return is to die," Escamilla said of his homeland, El Salvador. "If they send me back, I will try again and again. I want only a chance to be with my family and to live. Is that too much to ask?"

Escamilla says he doesn't care about politicians in Washington who see him as a possible political embarrassment — he knows only that he faces death if he returns to the violence and terror of El Salvador's civil war.

He already has been shot once — in the back by a Salvadoran National Guardsman as Escamilla walked down a street in San Salvador last year.

"I don't know why he shot me, maybe because I was a young man and a student," Escamilla said.

In February, Escamilla began a three-month trip that he hoped would free him from the violence of the civil war that has engulfed his country and give him a new life in the United States. The trek ended in a Brownsville Immigration and Naturalization detention center where Escamilla is one of 150 Salvadorans awaiting deportation to their homeland.

Escamilla plans to seek asylum here. But his chances of staying are not good.

"It has to be proven that an individual would be persecuted upon his return," a State Department official said, "and most of these people aren't fleeing the government, as near as we can tell."

Jose Cristin Escobar, a 17-year-old farm worker, also is awaiting deportation back to El Salvador.

"I left to avoid the killing," he said. "If the army or the rebels think you are not on the right side, they shoot you. It doesn't matter what side you are on."

Illegal Salvadoran aliens apprehended in Texas can expect a two- to three-week wait in a detention center or jail. Then they are taken to Houston and put on a plane for El Salvador.

Escamilla said he is afraid for his life if he is forced to go back. "The police will ask for our papers, see we are students and teachers and call us pigs and smash our faces with their rifle butts. I have seen this happen," he said. "And if we go to jail, it is all over. We will exist no more."

Jose Medina, a Houston immigration lawyer who is helping organize an effort to gain political asylum for Salvadorans, said the refugees are creating a conflict of interest problem for the Reagan administration.

AARP chapter meets Tuesday

Bilingual education program is broadened

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — House and Senate negotiators reached a quick agreement today on a bill broadening the state's bilingual education program and spending more money on it.

The agreement went to the House and Senate for final approval, which must come before the Legislature's mandatory adjournment at midnight.

All but one member of the conference committee, Rep. Milton Fox, R-Houston, voted to remove two House amendments and recommend final approval of the bill as it passed the Senate.

Sen. Pete Snelson, D-Midland, said both Attorney General Mark White and new State Education Commissioner Raymon Bynum agreed with the decision.

After about 10 minutes of general discussion, Rep. Hamp Atkinson, D-New Boston, made the motion to remove the House changes, in view of the nearness of the session.

One change would have said none of the $8.6 million appropriated for the expanded bilingual education program could be spent on pilot programs.

"I do not oppose pilot programs," said Rep. Matt Garcia, D-Garcia, author of the amendment, "I just want to see as much money spent as possible on actual bilingual education."

The other change removed by the conferees said any child not proficient in English after four years of bilingual teaching would be transferred to "an alternative transitional language program, such as English as a second language."

Psychologist says some young girls get pregnant on purpose

DALLAS (AP) — Many teenage girls avoid contraception for the wrong reasons, sometimes because church groups teach children not to have premarital sex, a Houston psychologist says.

"The kids will buy that and not use a method, but they don't stop having sex," said Dr. Peggy B. Smith, director of the Baylor College of Medicine's clinic for pregnant teenagers.

Dr. Smith said as many as one in five teen-age girls who become pregnant do so on purpose — to spite someone, to prove their womanhood, to get a husband or just have someone to love.

"While the vast majority are unplanned pregnancies, at least 20 percent ... are intentional," she said.

"Adolescents are dealing with a bittersweet time of life," Dr. Smith said during a speech to physicians and health professionals Saturday at a Texas Medical Association meeting.

"They aren't immune to sexual behavior, whether it's planned or unplanned," she said. "Adolescents don't have to ask parental permission to have intercourse."

Many teen-age girls who get pregnant do so because they "want to prove they are female, and the guys want to prove their masculinity," she said.

She cited the example of a pregnant 16-year-old girl who came to the clinic and, after counseling, chose to have an abortion.

A week later, a hand-lettered sign appeared on the wall of a convenience store in the girl's neighborhood. "Mary Jones murdered my baby on May 15, 1981," the sign read.

"This young guy wanted to prove his manhood, but it wasn't carried out to the conclusion he wanted," she said.

Area Special Olympians triumph at State meet

The University of Texas campus officially opened the largest Special Olympics games in the world on May 24-26. Athletes throughout the state of Texas marched through Memorial Stadium displaying their team banners. The Army's First Cavalry Band from Ft. Hood provided musical selections during the parade. All contestants recited the Olympic Oath as the flame of hope was being lit. On hand to greet the athletes were a number of celebrities and special guests.

Willie Nelson was an honored guest at the opening ceremonies. Dallas Cowboys Wade Manning, Guy Brown, Doug Cosbie and Gary Hughton conducted the football clinic and assisted in the presentation of medals to the winning athletes. Daryl Luce of the Detroit Lions and Johnny Lam Jones of the New York Jets also assisted. Miss Texas, Kathy Anderson greeted athletes during the track meet.

The Womach Brothers Band provided rock-n-roll music for the traditional Victory Dance. The athletes and coaches danced in celebration of the medals, new friends made and other positive experiences had throughout their three-day stay in Austin. In addition, the Howard County Team journeyed to Barton Springs for a noon picnic, train ride and hike in between track events.

The focal point of the State Games was the sports competition. Special Olympians competed in a variety of track and field events, gymnastics, soccer skills, wheelchair events, frisbee disc, pentathlon and relays with the hopes of winning a gold, silver or bronze medal. During the three-day event, over 4,000 medals and 10,000 ribbons were awarded to the deserving athletes. The cost of these awards and the many other items associated with the games were partially offset from generous contributions from Texas State Optical, the Lola Wright Foundation, and the citizens of Texas.

The Austin area McDonald's donated for the third consecutive year, a Erica and her mother also attended a concert of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra at the zoo in Dallas. Erica decided to 'help' direct the performance. Christian Tiemyer, director of the symphony, rewarded her with a kiss for her efforts.

Shopping requires planning

COLLEGE STATION — Doing the best job of food buying starts before you walk into the supermarkets: meal planning and a "super shopping list."

That's how Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist, sums up food buying, and she also has a step-by-step technique for success. Ms. Haggard is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Take inventory of the food in your cabinets, refrigerator and freezer. This information helps you use food ads a bit later to plan meals on a weekly basis.

Plan meals on a weekly basis. Involve family members in the plans. They can help with menu selection and in assuring variety. This "pre-planning" a week ahead helps you make use of seasonal best buys, special and coupons — and that saves money.

Planning menus on a weekly basis also helps cut down "impulse buying," and it answers the ever-present question, "What shall I fix for dinner?"

Once you've taken inventory and planned your meals, make a "super shopping list."

This starts with a "running" grocery list. It's a list you keep in a handy place in the kitchen so you can jot down food items on it during the week as supplies run low. Near your list, keep coupons and food ads — to keep the whole system efficient.

TWEEN 12 and 20

Get closer to Mom and Dad
By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Dr. Wallace: I am a 12-year-old girl and have a married lady friend who is 26. I like her because I feel comfortable taking to her about my troubles and problems.

My mother doesn't mind but my stepfather does not like this lady. Whenever I come back from her house, I get the third degree from him. This lady is super nice and so is her husband. They never argue or fight and they show real concern for me.

My question is this. Do you think I should continue to see this lady or should I end my relationship with her? — Kris Zanesville, Ohio

Kris: It's unfortunate that your mother and father couldn't have the open communication with you that your lady friend does. I see no reason why you should stop seeing your friend, but do everything possible to establish a closer relationship with mom and dad. They are the ones who really count!

Dr. Wallace: I went with this boy for six days and broke up with him because I felt tied down. Five minutes after I dumped him, he was going with my best friend.

Now I realize that it was a stupid thing that I did and I want him back. What can I do to get him back? — Helene, Seymour, Ind.

Helene: May I suggest a little different advice. Offer congratulations to your best friend and wish her well. It appears that you are a bit jealous and down deep, you don't want this boy back.

Dr. Wallace: Not too long ago, I met a real nice guy at a chorus function. We exchanged addresses but didn't say who would write first.

It's been about a month and he hasn't written. Would I be out of line if I wrote to him? — Cindy, Galesburg, Ill.

Cindy: Absolutely not. Write to him. Girls more than boys seem to be comfortable putting words on paper. I'm sure he would be glad to hear from you and he will find it easier to answer your letter than to start one on his own.

Make your first flight comfortable, enjoyable

NEW YORK, N.Y. — If you're about to take your first trip by plane, here are some tips to ensure a smooth flight, from a recent issue of "Seventeen" magazine.

Start out early. Traffic snarls en route to the airport can mean a missed plane. Boarding begins 30 minutes before departure. On overseas flights, you should arrive one to two hours before flight time.

Travel light. Don't pack a bag so full you'll have trouble carrying it. On certain flights, baggage must be weighed, and you may be charged for extra pounds. Evelyn Echols, head of International Travel Training Courses, in Chicago and other major cities, suggests that you put some essentials in a carry-on bag, in case your baggage is lost or delayed.

Wear casual clothes. Choose a loose-fitting outfit that resists creases, and keep the weather at your destination in mind.

Get the service you need. If you require a specially prepared meal (kosher, salt-free, vegetarian), let the airline "know 48 hours in advance.

Check in. You may leave your bags with the curbside skycaps at the entrance to the airline. Tell them what flight you're on, and make sure you're given a claim stub, then proceed to the boarding gate for a boarding pass and seat assignment.

Listen to the announcements. Pay attention when you're being instructed how to use safety equipment and where exits are located.

Make yourself comfortable. During takeoff and landing, ease ear discomfort by chewing gum or "yawning." To avoid dehydration, a common problem, Ms. Echols recommends drinking plenty of water during the flight.

Be good to your stomach. Excitement plus altitude can upset your stomach, so take it easy. Free soft drinks and wine and cocktails are sold to those 21 or over.

Have fun. Bring along a good book or hobby materials.

Dear Abby

Saga of Bowlegs No Straight-Line Plot

DEAR ABBY: You were way off base with your answer to the fellow who was bowlegged and miserable. It was no help to tell him to thank God he had legs! What about people who want nose jobs? Do you tell them to thank God they have noses?

Ruth Gordon, the actress, appeared not long ago on a talk show and told the world she had had surgery to correct her bowed legs. She even lifted her skirt to display the results! Then there was a 6-foot model on TV named Veruschka who thought her feet were too long, so she had an operation to shorten her toes.

Sarah Miles came on the Johnny Carson show and told how she was self-conscious because her ears stuck out, so she had a plastic surgeon pin them closer to her head.

That bowlegged fellow doesn't have to "accept" his deformity. He should find an orthopedic surgeon, who will straighten his legs.

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: I certainly shot from the hip on that one. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: This is 1981, and so much progress is being made in the field of medicine and surgery that medical students are being told that only one-fourth of what they will learn in medical school today will be up-to-date medical procedures by the time they graduate!

Bowed legs can be straightened out by "Rolfin'." Many movie stars have had it done. One of Charlie's Angels appeared on the Merv Griffin show and said she used to have bowed legs, but now she has two of the straightest legs you could ever hope to find — thanks to Rolfin'!

I'm sorry you will have to eat crow on this one, but you gave the bowlegged kid a bum steer.

ANTHONY S. PEPPE JR.

DEAR ANTHONY: I wrote to Paul Solomon, associate producer of the Merv Griffin show, and asked him about "Rolfin'." His reply:

DEAR ABBY: How can you call yourself a Californian and know nothing about Rolfin'? Have you also not heard about the isolation tanks that feature 800 pounds of epsom salts?

Rolfin' is a technique of muscle massage and manipulation, developed by one Dr. Ida P. Rolf. She claimed all kinds of miraculous transformations, and I'm sure bowlegs was among them.

PAUL.

DEAR PAUL: And now I am informed by orthopedic specialists who tell me that bowed legs should be straightened not only for cosmetic reasons but for therapeutic reasons.

Caffeinated beverages affect all age groups

More than half of all Americans over the age of nine drink large quantities of coffee and other caffeinated drinks. Despite studies linking caffeine to birth defects, according to a recent issue of Environmental Nutrition newsletter.

Of those who drink coffee, the most highly caffeinated beverage, the publication says about 23 percent have five or more cups per day. This puts them well over the recommended daily limit of 200 milligrams, the amount of caffeine in just one 8-ounce cup of coffee.

Most health professionals, including Dairy Council, Inc. dietitians, recommend moderation in the use of caffeinated products like coffee, cola drinks and tea. One easy way to avoid over-consumption of such beverages is to select nutritional, four food group drinks like tomato or carrot juice, fruit juice or milk when it's break time at work or school.

'All of Poland' mourns at funeral of Cardinal

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Eulogized by the Vatican as a "hero of the church of our times," Cardinal Stefan Wyszyński was buried in the crypt of St. John's Cathedral after a nationally televised outdoor funeral attended by more than 250,000 Poles, including leaders of the Communist government.

"All Poland is taking part in the funeral," the official news agency PAP said Sunday.

But one Pole could not. Pope John Paul II, who said Wyszyński was responsible for his elevation to the papacy in 1978, sent a message from his Rome hospital bed expressing his longing to be among the mourners. In an allusion to wounds he suffered in an assassination attempt May 18, he added, "God has decided differently."

The pontiff celebrated a memorial Mass in his hospital room at the hour of the funeral Mass in Warsaw.

Polish church sources in Rome said they believed Wyszyński and the Polish-born pope agreed before the cardinal's death of cancer Thursday on his successor as primate of the Polish Catholic Church.

foot red-draped cross facing the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Cardinal John Krol, the archbishop of Philadelphia, Pa., read the final prayers in flawless Polish and sprinkled the coffin with holy water before it was lowered into the cathedral crypt.

Other Americans who came to Warsaw for the funeral were William Wilson, President Reagan's envoy to the Vatican; Reps. Clement Zablocki, D-Wis., and William Broomfield, R-Mich., and Aloysius Mazewski, president of the Polish-American Congress.

Wyszyński during the 33 years he led the Polish church as primate wielded enormous influence since an estimated 90 percent of the 36 million Poles are Catholics. Once held by the Communist government under virtual house arrest during the Stalinist 1950s, he came to be held in great respect by the present Communist leaders as well as by independent union leaders for counseling moderation during the past year of strikes and labor tension.

Test your mileage stretching sense

Gasoline prices have dropped in recent months, but motorists heading for summer vacations will find that filling up the tank still takes a big chunk of the travel dollar and stretching mileage is as important as ever.

More than seven years of shortages and soaring prices, started by the 1973 Arab oil embargo, have made many Americans familiar with the basics of saving gasoline. The more you learn, however, the more you can save.

Here is a quiz to test your knowledge. It is based on information from the Highway Users Federation. The questions come first; the answers are below.

1. Which cuts mileage the most? (a) dirty air filter (b) misfiring spark plug (c) sticky carburetor.
2. What is the most fuel-efficient way to cool a car on the open highway? (a) open the interior vents and vent windows (b) open the side windows (c) turn on the air conditioning.
3. True or false: Carrying a bag of sand in the trunk of a rear-wheel drive car increases gas mileage by improving traction and forward momentum.
4. Driving at 55 mph instead of 70 mph increases gas mileage by (a) 60 percent (b) 40 percent (c) 20 percent (d) 7 percent.
5. To save fuel, shut off the engine if you are going to idle (a) any time at all (b) more than 20 seconds (c) more than one minute.
6. True or false: It is more fuel-efficient to carry loads on a roof-top luggage rack which distributes weight equally through the car frame than to carry them in the trunk over the rear axle.
7. The most fuel-efficient way to start a car is to (a) let the engine warm up for a minute before driving (b) start driving immediately, going slowly for the first mile or so (c) start driving immediately in a normal fashion.

- The answers:
1. (c) A sticky carburetor can cut the number of miles you get to the gallon by three. A misfiring spark plug costs two miles to the gallon and a dirty air filter one mile.
  2. (a) Open vents don't drain power from the engine. Air conditioning cuts fuel efficiency by 10 percent to 20 percent and the wind resistance created by open side windows can cost just as much.
  3. False. Unnecessary weight cuts mileage by at least 1 percent for every 100 pounds you are carrying.
  4. (c) Driving at 55 mph instead of 70 increases fuel efficiency the average automobile by about 20 percent.
  5. (c) Restarting uses less gasoline than one minute's idling, but more than only a few seconds of idling.
  6. False. The key to the answer is in wind resistance, not in how the weight is distributed. Bulky luggage on top of the car increases wind resistance and cuts mileage.
  7. (b) You can warm the engine up without harming it by starting to move immediately, then going slowly for a mile. Idling the engine without moving just wastes fuel.

Pre-entrance test slated

The next class will begin in August.

Blind golfer says lack of sight not a handicap

DALLAS (AP) — Patrick Browne Jr., must be six feet, three inches tall, a youngish 48, strikingly handsome, engagingly articulate — and blind.

He was at a golf tournament here last week. He scored 83 at Dallas Country Club. Of course, it was strange ground for him and he verbally lashed himself for "stupidly" three-putting five greens.

Browne, a New Orleans attorney and president of the Hibernia Homestead Savings Association, was at fatherly ease sitting on the sunny patio cradling his youngest child in a broad left arm — 4-month-old Patrick Browne III, expertly draining his noon bottle.

And when father swung son to his shoulder for the pat and burb and kept talking golf and faith and love for life and the plight of others, you knew you had met something more than the four-time national champion of the U.S. Blind Golf Association. Or the man who had incredible rounds of 75-74-79-75 on the demanding Mission Hills course out of Palm Springs, Calif.

Once captain of the Tulane University basketball and golf teams, Browne lost total eyesight when thrown through the windshield of his automobile in a 1966 accident. But he didn't lose sight of his mission.

"I never had a doubt during those months of hospitalization that I would make it," he said. "I had no feeling of trauma when they told me I'd never see again. I had my faith in God. He doesn't give you more than you can handle..."

An accomplished young trial lawyer, Browne pursued his career in the courtrooms after the accident. "You don't really have to look people in the eye to know and feel whether they are telling the truth," he said.

The father of three daughters and infant Patrick, Browne doesn't know Braille or use a guide dog. Devoted family, a limitless supply of friends, and faith and confidence are his only props.

He insists that blindness "is not a handicap, just an occasional inconvenience."

Attendance up at Six Flags

ARLINGTON — Six Flags Over Texas has begun daily operation following a spring season which saw average daily attendance up more than 16 percent over last year.

The theme park's general manager, Ray Williams, said more than a half million visitors were counted through Memorial Day. "In 1980 we had an average of 11,260 guests per day," he noted, "and this year the daily average is up to 13,433. This indicates to us that prospects for the summer season are extremely strong."

He added, "When you consider the unusual amount of weekend rain we have had this year, the numbers are even more impressive. We'd say the state's tourism outlook is excellent. Our attendance is traditionally one of the best barometers."

For the summer months, Six Flags Over Texas is adding a nightly fireworks show to its entertainment lineup. The fireworks spectacular will be presented at 9:30 each evening through Labor Day.

WAKE UP TO Country AMERICA

There's a wave of sound rolling across America. You can see it. Rawhide boots and ten-gallon hats, snap button shirts and straight-legged blues. You can hear it. The honky-tonk whiskey voice with the lazy twang of steel guitar, the pure, harmonic four-part country blend with a smiling five-string banjo in the background keeping your hands clapping and your feet stomping. From the tumbleweed prairieland of the Great Plains to the screaming footlights of New York City, America is Waking Up to Country Music. Wake Up to Country, America.

The word probably best describes way left-hander Carlton treated the Cardinals.

Sundays mean rags and riches in AL East

By the Associated Press

While the Baltimore Orioles and Milwaukee Brewers are separated by just two games on top of the American League East standings, their Sunday bests are as different as tatters and tuxedos. The Brewers improved their Sunday record to 8-0 with a 5-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox as Jim Gantner belted the game's second pitch for his first homer, Marshall Edwards drove in two runs and Pete Vuckovich picked up his sixth victory during the month of May. "I hope we can keep it up — on Sundays, Saturdays, every day," Milwaukee Manager Buck Rodgers said. Meanwhile, the first-place Orioles lost for the eighth time in nine Sunday outings as the Detroit Tigers captured a 5-4 decision in Baltimore. Scott McGregor had beaten Detroit six times in a row, but it didn't help the Orioles' Sunday jinx as Lynn Jones' two-run double in the seventh inning for the Tigers sent Baltimore to its 11th loss in 17 day games this season. The Orioles are 22-5 at night. In other American League games, Oakland edged Toronto 6-5, Cleveland downed New York 7-2, Minnesota trimmed Kansas City 5-4, Seattle defeated Texas 5-3 and California and Chicago split a doubleheader, with the Angels winning 7-4 before the White Sox came back to win 2-1 in 10 innings. Vuckovich provided a badly needed complete game to rest Milwaukee's relief corps, which was battered Saturday when the Red Sox rallied for five runs in the ninth inning and added the winning run in the 10th. He scattered nine Boston hits, including Rich Gedman's second homer in the third inning, to improve his record to 6-2. "After yesterday, this looks as a very biggie. Our bullpen was shot and we needed a complete game," said Rodgers. "It was a good pick-me-up, a plus game all the way." The Brewers' bats were perking too, pounding 15 hits off Boston pitching. After the Red Sox came to within 3-2 with a run in the seventh, Milwaukee scored two in the eighth to clinch the victory. Mark Brouhard beat out an infield hit, Edwards followed with a triple, his third hit, and came home on an infield out. Tigers 5, Orioles 4. After Jones' double in the lead, hot reliever Kevin Saucier took control. Saucier, who has not allowed a run in 11 of his last 12 appearances, recorded his fifth save while pitching hitless ball for the final 22-3 innings. He induced pinch-hitter Lenn Sakata to hit into a double play after replacing Aurelio Lopez, 2-1, with two runners on base in the seventh, then retired sluggers Ken Singleton and Eddie Murray after Gary Roenicke walked in the ninth and moved to second on a sacrifice. A's 6, Blue Jays 5. Wayne Gross, who had slugged a two-run homer earlier, hit a sacrifice fly to cap a two-run rally in the ninth inning to pace Oakland over Toronto. The victory vaulted the A's back into first place in the AL West and snapped a four-game losing streak. The Blue Jays had won four in a row before the loss. Damaso Garcia highlighted a four-run fifth inning for Toronto with a two-run single, and the Blue Jays took a 5-4 lead into the ninth. But a walk, a single by Rickey Henderson, a sacrifice and a wild pitch by reliever Jerry Garvin tied the score before Gross' sacrifice fly. Indians 7, Yankees 2. Len Barker fired a six-hitter to win his first game for Cleveland since his perfect no-hitter May 15. Barker, 4-2, allowed only one earned run to lower his league-leading earned run average to 1.93 and got strong hitting support from Alan Bannister, who singled, doubled and homered. Angels 7-1, White Sox 4-2. Carlton Fisk crossed up California with a hit-and-run, run-scoring double in a bunt situation in the bottom of the 10th to give Chicago a twinbill split. Mike Squires drew a walk leading off the 10th off loser Don Aase, 1-1. Fisk faked a bunt on the first pitch and then doubled down the left field line, scoring Squires from first. Juan Beniquez gave Gene Mauch his first victory as Angels' manager when he drove in four runs with three hits in the first game. Twins 5, Royals 4. Danny Goodwin hit a two-out single in the eighth inning to break a 4-4 tie and give Minnesota the victory over Kansas City. Goodwin's second hit of the game came off Dennis Leonard, 5-6.

TELL ME IT ISN'T TRUE — New York Yankee slugger Dave Winfield winces in disbelief after home plate umpire Jerry Neudecker called a strike on him in the 6th inning of Sunday's game in Cleveland. Winfield obviously thought the ball came nowhere near the strike zone but protested only in silence before grounding out to Cleveland Indian second baseman Dave Rosello.

Texas blasted in first-round play

By the Associated Press

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — "The first game of this tournament is always toughest for everyone," said Miami Hurricane Coach Ron Frasier of the College World Series. Frasier is a veteran of the 35th annual college baseball championship. He is making his fourth straight trip to Omaha this year and his second-ranked team from Florida was among the first-round winners during the first weekend of play. Saturday's opening games saw Mississippi State blank Michigan 4-0 and Arizona State blast previously unbeaten Texas All-American Tony Arnold 11-2. On Sunday, Oklahoma State went 10 innings to best South Carolina 8-5 and Miami broke Maine 6-1. Michigan, 41-19, plays

Texas and South Carolina faces Maine in elimination games today. Mississippi State tackles Arizona State in Tuesday's winner's game while Oklahoma State and Miami meet in Wednesday's p.m. winner's contest. Despite the victory and Neal Heaton's six-hit pitching, Frasier was unhappy with his second-ranked hurricanes Sunday night. "Heaton had 17 men against him tonight," Frasier said. "We were poor with the bat. I'm unhappy with my team. We left too many men on third base. We didn't have any intensity at the plate. We just didn't play well." Maine freshman Stu Lacognata kept the Black Bears with Miami through the first six innings but then the Maine defense fell apart, committing six errors to help the Hurricanes open the game. "We played terrible," said Maine Coach John Winkin. "Defense is usually the best part of our game. We just don't do what we did tonight."

Lifespan short for Yankee skippers

By the Associated Press

The "House that Ruth Built" has become the "House of Horrors" for baseball managers. Yankee Stadium is now the place where not elephants but field tacticians come to die. Not physically, of course. They manage to carry on resolutely elsewhere, most of them — as note Billy Martin, Bill Virdon and Ralph Houk. But the big Bronx ball yard remains a cavern of indignity and shattered spirit for any manager who dares chance it — and there have been seven, counting the feisty Martin twice — in the eight years that George M. Steinbrenner has been boss. The latest to be thrust onto the sizzling griddle is Gene "Stick" Michael, a bright young man carefully hand-fashioned for the job by the big man himself. Michael discovered last week that no one is immune from the spasmodic whims of the man in the suite upstairs. He came within a whisker of being dumped, less than two months into the season, simply because the Yankees lost important series to Cleveland and Baltimore. It was a mad charade. It is hard to believe that this is what Steinbrenner intended when he decided Jan. 3, 1973 to head a group buying the Yankees from CBS. The once proud team of Babe Ruth, Joe DiMaggio and Mickey Mantle had fallen into the doldrums. Steinbrenner, a wealthy shipbuilder with a college coaching background, had an obsession for the Yankee pinstripes which he linked in Americana with "Kate Smith and apple pie." He loosened the purse strings and purchased quality players, some, such as Reggie Jackson and Catfish Hunter, costing millions. He turned a temporary sow's ear into a silk purse. Within three years he had a championship team, winner of three straight American League pennants and two World Series. There was a new pulse beat in the Big Apple. Yankee spirit was alive again. Then the scenario became ludicrous. High drama turned to comedy and boredom. The Yankees, instead of filling their dignified royal robe, became a source of ridicule. It started with the Steinbrenner-Billy Martin off-again, on-again shenanigans. Then Reggie Jackson became the target, with the same general reaction.

Diablos edge Mets in Texas League

By the Associated Press

Doug Loman drove home the winning run with a bases-loaded ground out Sunday night to give the El Paso Diablos an 8-7 Texas League baseball victory over the Jackson Mets. In other Texas League action, Tulsa and Amarillo split a doubleheader and Midland swept a twin bill from Shreveport. Arkansas' game at San Antonio was postponed because of rain. Tulsa took the first game, 3-0, and Amarillo won the nightcap, 5-2. Shreveport won the first game, 5-4, and took the second, 3-1. Loman's ground out drove home John Skorochocki with the winning run in the 8-7 victory over Jackson. The victory moved the Diablos to within one game of the idle San Antonio Dodgers in the Texas League West. Bob Skube had a three-run homer for El Paso in the first inning and Jackson's Marvell Wynne had a solo homer in the second inning.

Tony Torres, 2-2, was the winning pitcher. John Semprini, 2-3, was the loser. Bobby Ball tripled and scored the winning run for the Tulsa Drillers when pitcher Mark Thurmond balked in the 3-0 victory in the first game of a double header with the Amarillo Gold Sox. The winning pitcher was Greg Hughes, 3-2. The loser was Thurmond, 2-2. Amarillo's Ron Tingley had a two-run homer as the Gold Sox bounced back in the second game for a 5-2 victory over Tulsa. Dave Devecky, 1-2, was the winning pitcher. Ron Carney, 1-2, was the loser. Randy Krutcher's single drove home the winning run in the seventh inning as the Shreveport Captains took a 5-4 victory over the Midland Cubs in the first game of a doubleheader. Scott Garrelts gave up only four hits as the Captains took a 3-1 victory in the nightcap. Garrelts is now 2-8.

Golfer predicts bright future

BETHESDA, Md. (AP) — Craig Stadler believes he will be a force to be reckoned with in three weeks at the U.S. Open, one of the four major golf tournaments in the world. Stadler said, after winning the Kemper Open by six strokes Sunday, "Right now,

I feel I can knock it in the hole from anywhere." Stadler, who finished second here a year ago, shot a 68 Sunday to go with his 66 Saturday and his 67 and 69 earlier in the week to give him a 10-under-par 270 over the famed 7,054-yard, par 70 Congressional Country Club.

Tied for second were Tom Watson, who jumped in front as the top money winner with his $35,200 second prize, and Tom Weiskopf. John Cook, who was tied for the lead on opening day, came in at 3 under par and picked up $19,200, while Dave Edwards, the second day leader, finished fourth at 2 under and collected $16,000. "When I made the birdie on 13, I felt that I was right there," said Stadler, who earned $72,000 with the victory and moved from 22nd to seventh place in the money standings with his $146,452. "After that birdie, I felt the other guys had to say to themselves 'I guess I'll play for second place.'" Watson, who went into the tournament $2,970 behind top money winner Bruce Lietzke, absent from the Kemper to get married, said he hopes to straighten out his golf swing before the U.S. Open, to be played at Merion, near Philadelphia. "I just don't have a key swing club right now," said Watson after Sunday's round. "I'm just trying to work on my setup. It hasn't been too good all year. "I'm playing poorly, but scoring well. I have to play better if I want to go into the Open and realistically think I have a chance," said Watson, who won the Masters and the New Orleans Open this year. Stadler, who will turn 27 on Tuesday, said he has had only one goal since joining the tour five years ago. "I just wanted to move up on the money list each year," said Stadler, who won the Bob Hope and Greenbowl a year ago. "That's the only goal I had. I've had some long range goals which are not possible right now because my golf is so inconsistent."

KEMPER WINNER — Craig Stadler, of Lake Tahoe, Nevada reacts as his putt drops in the cup on the 18th green to win the Kemper Open at the Congressional Country Club Sunday. Stadler won the $72,000 first prize with an eleven-under-par 269.
