Clements will call special session

Legislators leave unfinished work

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements and the 67th Legislature said goodbye Monday night but only "for a little bit" because the lawmakers left plenty of unfinished business behind them in the Capitol.

The Legislature reached its mandatory midnight adjournment with conference committees hopelessly deadlocked over some of the regular session's most pressing business.

"I'll say goodbye for a little bit," Clements said during a smiling, handshaking visit to the House just

The largest project of the month was a $38,000 commercial project at 507 E. 4th undertaken by Gary Martin. This was followed closely by a new home to be built at 3213 Duke by the Plainsmen Corporation at a cost of

West Texas land swap withdrawn

DALLAS (AP) - Robert O. Anderson today withdrew from changed one of his ranches in the Big Bend for an equal amount of University of Texas land near El Texas Gov. Bill Clements personally had engineered the proposed land swap with Anderson, chairman of Atlantic Richfield Co. and the Diamond A Cattle Co. of Roswell, N.M. The deal would have exchange his 190,000-acre ranch for an equal amount of land in Hudspeth County.

State officials had planned to convert the ranch into a wilderneses

In a statement, Anderson said he still believes the exchange would be "not only extremely favorable to the State of Texas but the mineral values to be conveyed to the University of Texas exceeded the value of the surface land involved in the exchange. "Unfortunately, the controversy that has been stirred up not only clouds the true merits of the transaction, but clearly makes it inadvisable for us to continue before midnight. "... I regret we'll have to be back soon, but there is unfinished business that must be attended to.'

Clements is expected to call a special session this summer, probably as one representative put it -"after the ink dries on his vetoes," which he has 20 days to sign.

Major tasks left hanging in House-Senate conference committees when the lawmakers adjourned included: Rearranging congressional districts, including Texas' three new ones, to reflect the population shifts systems to all their campuses shown by the 1980 census.

- Correcting flaws found in the Property Tax Code, or "Peveto Bill," since it was passed in 1979.

In addition, Speaker Bill Clayton was mightily disappointed that his plan to use state treasury surpluses to finance water projects died in the Senate. He said Clements had promised to put it on the special session agenda

"I assure you if we have a called session of the Legislature, you will see it at the top of the list of his call," Clayton told reporters.

Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, bottled up the water plan con-stitutional amendment during two critical days, and it failed to make Monday's final calendar.

Doggett and other opponents say the money could be used for better things, and the surplus is the only thing that has kept Texas from having new taxes

A party atmosphere filled the Capitol as legislators wound down the 140-day session.

In the House, representatives donned red and white caps saying "sine die," Latin for "without another journment. Clayton was praised as "the best speaker we ever had" and was given a hunting rifle and a giant gavel to mark the close of his last regular session. He'll still be in charge, though, when the special Reps. Froy Salinas, D-Lubbock, and John Sharp, D-Placedo, offered a mock resolution seeking permission to sue for loss of hearing caused by Clayton's powerful gavel blows, which they likened to "the report of a 12gauge shotgun.

The legislative black caucus presented the G.J. Sutton Leadership Award, in memory of the groups's late chairman, to conservative white Rep. Bob McFarland, R-Arlington.

But, for the most part, the final day was filled with heavy legislating.

Voters were given a chance to decide this November on a constitutional amendment permitting local governments to exempt up to 40 percent of a home's value from property taxes next year.

The idea is to ease the shifting of tax burden from commercial to residential property as a result of mandatory reappraisals in 1982.

Lawmakers agreed on a bill that is a start toward satisfying U.S. District that Texas provide Hispanic youngsters bilingual education as long as necessary, even through high

The measure doubles state spending on bilingual education and requires that it be offered through the sixth grade instead of stopping at the third grade. It also says special courses in English as a second language must be offered through high school.

Legislators passed with ease a $26.7 billion state budget bill for 1962-83, with $14 billion of it going to higher education and public schools.

The 19.6 percent increase over 1960-81 is the smallest rise in spending in vears, said Rep. Bill Presnal. chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

'It represents the drop in state government we all hoped would oc-cur," Presnal told the House.

Also passed to the governor was a bill authorizing 19 new judges to help handle the load of criminal cases the 14 courts of civil appeals will begin receiving on Sept. 1. Voters gave the courts criminal jurisdiction to speed up appeals, which take an average of three years in the overworked Texas

$26.7 billion Texas budget must survive Clements' veto

AUSTIN. Texas (AP) - The Legislature has approved a $26.7 billion budget that still must survive Gov. Bill Clements' vetoes to run state government for the next two years.

Although the spending bill — stretched by higher than usual appropriations for education - was $4.4 billion higher than the 1981-82 budget, it fell within constitutional limits. Senators approved the compromise bill, 22-6, and the House passed it, 100-

Rep. Bill Presnal, D-Bryan, said the 19.6 percent increase was the smallest

"It represents the drop in state government that we all hoped would occur," said Presnal, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee. He said the bill fell about $12 million, or 0.04 percent, below the spending ceiling imposed by the Texas Constitution, which says expenditures may not outstrip the Clements has 20 days to decide if he wants to trim anything from the 500-page bill. Public schools and state universities account for $14 billion of the budget, and Presnal said this is the first time more than half of state appropriations will go for education.

The measure includes teacher pay raises averaging 26.6 percent in 1982-83 and a 25.7 percent increase for college professors, as well as a 17.9 percent hike in state employee

Legislators wrote the budget not knowing how much money to expect from the federal government nor what a federal judge might require them to spend on improving the state prison

Clements has said federal funds will be $610 million less than expected. Partly as a result of U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice's decision that Texas prisons are so bad they are unconstitutional, lawmakers appropriated $148.4 million for prison construction, $112.2 million for prison security and $28 million for medical care for inmates.

They even tacked on $10 million for 'unforeseen developments."
Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus

Christi, asked how much a conference committee had proposed for an ex-panded bilingual education program, and Sen. Grant Jones said $17.9 million, twice as much as the present budget allows.

Truan sought $100 per student, but Jones said the committee recommended $56.85 the first year and $57.03

'You'd be amazed at how we had to fight the House conferees in getting that much money," said Jones. A $1-million-a-year limitation was set on carrying out new legislation authorizing state wiretaps in drug

"I don't think that much will be spent," said Jones, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, "but we were fearful we would get to a point in a good case and couldn't pursue it for lack of money."
"It could allow widespread electronic surveillance," said Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin.

GOP leaders say Democrats must make next move on cuts

WASHINGTON (AP) - Republican congressional leaders said today after conferring with President Reagan that Democrats must make the next move if a compromise on cutting taxes is going to be struck

"We don't like to have to negotiate with a fragment of the Democratic Party," said Rep. Barber Conable of New York, ranking Republican on the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, after Reagan and Democratic leaders failed to reach a consensus on a tax cut bill Monday.

Sen. Robert Dole, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said Reagan was still open to a compromise with the Democratic leadership, but "there are a number of groups on the other side. The next move must be theirs.

In keeping with an apparent GOP effort to drive a wedge among the Democrats by portraying them as divied over the issue, Dole accused House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. of being "so out of touch that he doesn't want the American people to have tax cuts. He'd rather have the government keep the money."

Dole said he believed Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., chairman of the Ways and Meansg committee, "would very much like to negotiate some agreement. Whether he can do that the speaker indicating otherwise ...'

Administration strategists are trying to persuade Rostenkowski to break with his party's leadership and sponsor a bipartisan tax cut measure. Rostenkowski said he would try to get his committee's members to support a compromise, but indicated he would prefer additional concessions from Reagan's side.

Conable said the Democrats appeared to be in too much disarray to compromise. "I think to expect the president to compromise at this point simply because he can't tell which part of the Democratic Party to negotiate with as long as they're in such disarray is to expect the president to negotiate with himself."

Added Conable: "He doesn't see that it's up to him further to compromise his proposal unless there's a coherent proposal on the other side.'

Israel raids Palestinians

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Israeli jets raided Palestinian strongholds in southern Lebanon today, and Lebanon's state radio said 15 people were killed or wounded. Artillery batteries also shelled guerrilla rocket-launching sites near the Palestinian bases

The state radio report did not specify how many had been killed.

Meanwhile, sniping continued across the dividing line separating Christian and Moslem Beirut. In Zahle, some 1,500 artillery and rocket rounds exploded overnight, killing seven people and wounding 13, the Christian Voice of Lebanon radio said.

Yasser Arafat's Palestine Liberation Organization, in its first announcement of the Israeli air attack, said there were no casualties in the 15-minute air raid, the second against the guerrillas in less than a week. Israel said its jets returned safely to base.

The PLO said naval and inland guerrilla bases were bombed and rocketed in the Abul Aswad area north of Tyre. Provincial Lebanese authorities and Israel's military command said the bases belonged to Al Fatah, Arafat's mainline guerrilla group.

The PLO said the bases were located on the Mediterranean shore west of Lebanon's coastal highway and in an orchard some 500 yards inland to the east of the international highway.

Gunman holds nursing home

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — A gunman who police said had been diagnosed as "suicidal" took over part of a nursing home and held about 120  $\,$ elderly patients hostage for about 71/2 hours before being subdued early this morning, authorities said.

At 6:40 a.m. EDT, two shots rang out at the 195bed New Fairview Hall Convalescent Home and the gunman, identified as Dominic Giordano, 59, of New Haven, was whisked out of the home on a stretcher to a waiting ambulance.

It was not immediately known whether the man had been wounded by the gunfire. He was taken to Yale-New Haven Hospital.

Giordano, brandishing a shotgun and a handgun, had entered the nursing home about 11 p.m. EDT Monday, apparently searching for his daughter, Denise, who works there, said Police Chief Edware

Emmy Straup, a nursing aide who left the building, quoted the gunman as saying he came "to shoot (his daughter's) legs off so she can't run

His daughter, Denise, was not at the home at the time it was seized. Giordano went to the second floor where he held at least two nurses, apparently at gunpoint, Morrone said. Most of the patients were asleep during the night, said police Sgt. Robert

Silver said the daughter went to the home to help police in talking her father out of the building. Sixty patients on each of the second and third floors were unable to leave the building, Morrone

Two police officers had talked by telephone with Giordano in an attempt to get him to surrender, the chief said, and a police special tactics team had surrounded the building, located in a middle-class residential neighborhood. Streets leading to the nursing home were blocked off to traffic and bystanders

Morrone said Giordano had been examined May 4 at the Veterans Administration hospital in West Haven where he was diagnosed as "suicidal and

Other senators joked Monday night about honoring Ogg with a position that is based primarily on seniority, but they stood silently as he made an emotional appearance on the podium.

Ogg, a 47-year-old Houston lawyer, draped his arm around the shoulders of his son, Jon, 11, and said, with tears in his eyes, "I honestly think there is nothing finer than public service."

Afterwards, numerous senators hugged him and shook his hand.

"He was in the House so long he wasn't fit for anything but going to the Senate," said Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur. Ogg was in the House for four years before

Teamsters delegates close ranks behind Roy Williams

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Delegates to the Teamsters convention are closing ranks behind embattled President Roy Lee Williams and have approved resoundingly a "resolution of rebuke" of the news media.

The resolution assailed news organizations for "chronic, excessive, arrogant abuse of privilege." It elicited an emotional response Monday from delegates just hours after a defiant Williams promised to continue his quest for a full five-year term at the helm of the nation's largest union, despite his indictment on conspiracy charges.

Two other top union officers suggested to the convention that any move away from williams because of his difficulties with the Justice Department and a Senate investigative committee would be tantamount to allowing the government to determine who is their next leader.

Williams, 66, moved into the top spot upon the death of President Frank Fitzsimmons earlier this year, and he told some 2,000 delegates "no indictment will stop me" from seeking the top post.

Williams has been indicted by a federal grand jury on a charge of conspiring to bribe Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev. The Senate permanent investigations subcommittee has labeled him "an organized crime mole" and suggested he was unfit for office.

But Williams repeated his claim of innocence here Monday and said he has no intention of cooperating with Senate investigators, who want to question him about his alleged ties to organized crime. The grand jury charged Williams conspired to bribe Cannon in connection with a Las Vegas land transaction in 1979, when the union was fighting a trucking deregulation bill. Cannon was not charged.

On another matter, Williams urged union members to support President Reagan's economic program. The Teamsters were the only major union to support Reagan's candidacy. "His plan and his program deserves our full cooperation and support," he said. "Without the cooperation, it will fail because this is the first time anybody has

What did the legislature accomplish?

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The first question many Texas legislators will face when they get home is:
"What did you do for me?"

Some of the senators and representatives will have trouble answering after their 140-day session ended with much of its important work undone.

"Not a damn thing," said Rep. Tom Uher, D-Bay City, but he quickly changed his answer to the question.

"Seriously I think the best thing we did was the six bills against illegal drugs. They are in everybody's interest."

Sen. John Wilson, D-La Grange, said once that during all his long legislative experience there were two things the Legislature had done to really help the average Texan stick-on car license permits and automatic right turns

ion

"I still think that's right," Wilson said near the end of this session, "but I guess if you like to fish, the best think we did this time for the average voter was the redfish

The bill bans commercial fishing for redfish and speckled trout in the hope of improving fishing for sports-

Sen. John Traeger, D-Seguin, thinks the average voter should appreciate the $3.50 increase in auto registration

"The crime bills are far and away the most important thing we did this time for the average voter," said Rep. Fred Agnich, R-Dallas. "They will affect everyone."

But there are plenty of other things, little things, that the average voter — who probably doesn't know the name of his senator or representaive — will appreciate.

Take for instance, the resolution, already signed by the governor, requiring state agencies to use "plain language" in all their regulations and letters. Another important matter to many Texans didn't make it through both houses. It would have asked Congress to repeal the 55 mph speed limit. The House was an Indian giver on another matter of great interest to motorists. One day the representatives voted to do away with the pesky state law that calls for car inspections each year, then the next day reversed themselves and tabled the bill.

Some other human interest bills got the same treat-

Although Texas voters said in 1978 they want bingo authorized for charitable purposes, the Legislature argued and argued the matter, then put it aside. Result, the Sunday closing law although there was testimony that public opinion surveys indicate most Texans want that legislation.

Another nice bill for homefolks that like a taste of the bubbly would allow Texas wineries to serve samples to visitors. It also was amended to allow importation of three gallons of wine at a time. Presently Texans can bring only one gallon of wine into the state.

Of course, a major failure of the Legislature was to officially name the armadillo as a state mascot. School children in Houston asked for the recognition.

More serious matters that affect each person include the measure requiring every driver to have auto liability insurance in case of an accident. It is estimated about one fourth of the drivers on the road do not have insurance.

There are comic page cartoonists and there are political cartoonists. One of the best at his trade on the political beat was Jeff MacNelly. whose work has also appeared in the Herald. Now comes word that MacNelly is abandoning the political arena to concentrate on the growth and development of his comic page character, "Shoe."

MACNELLY WAS hired a decade ago by Ross MacKenzie of the Richmond, Va., News Leader and since has become one of the two or three best known craftsmen plying the trade

MacKenzie says that MacNelly 'can be referred to as the reluctant assassin. He never went in to hurt with his pen-and-ink sketches, merely To puncture. And he did it by forcing a MacKenzie says MacNelly has a daffy, impious homor that is neat and clean and leaves no blood on the floor.

So MacNelly is gone. In his place will be the works of Jack Ohman, who toils for the Columbus, Ohio, Dispatch. A conservative, Ohman comes highly recommended by Luke Feck, editor of the Dispatch. Even now only 20, Ohman was first syndicated nationally while a student at the University of Minnesota. Among other papers which have subscribed for his work is the New York Daily News. Mike O'Neill, editor of the Daily News, called Ohman a phenomenal young talent and said of his cartoons that they are "masterful, the envy of pros twice his age. His ideas are fresh and original. His ability to drive home a message with force and clarity is almost uncanny. His cartoons are perceptive, witty, timely." O'Neill's endorsement carries considerable weight when one considers the fact that Ohman is not

OHMAN, ODDLY enough, had considered going into politics rather than seeking a career as a political cartoonist. He dreamed of holding a seat in the U.S. Senate. He is, in fact.

majoring in political science. A junior at the University of Minnesota when he took the job with the Columbus paper, Ohman plans to enroll at Ohio State this fall to earn his degree.

Ohman never had a formal art esson. He worked in a number of political campaigns, once as a bus driver for one of Vice President Walter Mondale's swings through Minnesota. He doodled at cartoons. One, a caricature of Robert Kennedy, attracted a great deal of attention.

That attention led him to apply for a job as staff cartoonist on the University of Minnesota Daily. It wasn't long before his work was appearing in the Minneapolis Star. He incorporated himself at the age of 18 and picked up a few clients. That brought him to the attention of the Chicago Tribune-New York News Syndicate. There's been no stopping him since.

So a great talent leaves one of the most visible fields in the world, and another takes his place, hopefully without missing a stride. Herald readers should be able to make the adjustment without suffering any withdrawal pains.

There are good movies and there are bad movies, but there is nothing better than a good, really great bad

This past weekend I watched "The Thing" on late-night TV, and it got me to thinking about all the rotten movies I've enjoyed. For a bad movie to be enjoyable it must have been made with all seriousness, and be full of unintentional laughs.

"THE THING" had a few good belly laughs, but it did not captivate the way Japanese monster movies do. Like cars, cameras, and radios the Japanese also out-produce us in stupid

There is one such inscrutable film I saw several years ago that has stamped itself on my mind and soul. I can't remember the name of it - I dearly wish I could - but it probably doesn't matter since they're all the same anyway.

This one had a monster stomping through downtown Tokyo. He was as tall as two football fields they said, and at one point he had the hero's girlfriend in his fist. All of a sudden the crack Japanese army opens fire on the monster and he drops the girl. She falls the length of two football fields, crashes through a newsstand, bounces down two flights of subway steps, and comes to rest on a train platform.

But confidential memos and State Department cables help to unravel the story of how the United States came to be the only nation to vote against the World Health Organization's code. The nearly unanimous vote puts most nations on record against the aggressive marketing of baby formula in backward countries, where its dangerous.

IN LATE APRIL, Elliott Abrams, the assistant secretary of state for international organizations, was dispatched to Geneva to persuade Halfdan Mahler, director general of the health organization, to accept two concessions: The infant formula code would be defined as strictly voluntary, and it would be made clear that it applied only to formula, not other baby food.

Abrams had been told by Deputy Secretary of State William Clark, who was acting secretary in Alexander Haig's absence, that if these two concessions were granted, the United States would abstain instead of voting against the code.

According to State Department cables seen by my associate Vicki Warren, the Abrams-Mahler meetings went well. "Mahler was visibly relieved to learn that the U.S. now is in a position to avoid voting against the code," Abrams cabled Washington, "We are confident that we will have his cooperation in creating the conditions necessary to enable the U.S. to abstain. But there was a hitch. Clark had not cleared the U.S. position with presidential counselor Ed Meese, For some reason, Clark didn't want to report the State Department negotiations by telephone. At the bottom of a confidential memo, he wrote: "Please send a copy of this memo to EM and (Richard) Allen," the president's national security adviser

On May 1. Meese, Allen and two other members of Reagan's inner circle, Lyn Nofziger and Martin Anderson, sat down to discuss the developments in Geneva. Foggy Bottom officials learned from a National Security Council staffer that the four White House aides "have met and concluded that the U.S. should cast a negative vote on the WHO infant formula code" and that they "are not prepared to abstain even if the two conditions are met."

and American Home Products Corp. had lobbied the administration against the code. They were joined by the Grocery Manufacturers of America, which feared the code might be applied to other baby food despite assurance to the contrary. The pressure from the companies apparently swayed the White House. U.S. officials in Geneva were put on Lengthy memos went from Foggy Bottom to the White House, warning of the diplomatic black eve the United States would get by voting against the code, Health professionals, members Congress and several high-level government officials added pleas against a negative vote.

But the administration evidently bought the arguments put forth by business lobbyists. Essentially, these were (1) that the code's adoption would give ammunition to critics of Big Business, whereas a U.S. rejection would discredit the code, (2) that adoption would set a precedent which might lead to action in other fields like pharmaceuticals, and (3) that the infant formula industry represented a $2 billion international market that was growing.

The White House also found legal and constitutional arguments, even though the Justice Department's antitrust division at one time saw no objection to a voluntary code.

And when the United States wound up alone in its vote against the code, a White House spokesman insisted: "We did gain by voting 'No.' We gained what you get for standing for a principle."

PRINTING PROBE — The Justice Department has at least three grand juries and as many more U.S. attorneys investigating fraud in the Government Printing Office's $500-million-a-year procurement program. So far, only a few thousand dollars' worth of criminal deals have been uncovered, but both Congress and the GPO management have encouraged Justice to "check every cranny." There are plenty to check. In addition to its own printing and the purchase of paper, ink and other supplies, the agpo farms out government printing work to some 8,000 private firms. Only about 100 contracts have been thoroughly scrutinized so far.

While there is no evidence that toplevel GPO officials are guilty of any wrongdoing, there are strong suspicions that they hid their heads in the sand on occasion. The agency's own inspector general's office has been ordered to work on the investigation full time, and has WHAT HAD HAPPENED was that cooperated with the Justice Depar-

Speak quietly

Art Buchwald

Among the words that are an anathema to the present administration are "human rights." They cause all sorts of unnecessary problems when we're dealing with the majority of our allies.

Ernest Lefever, who as of this writing, is still President Reagan's nominee for assistant secretary of State for human rights, has testified that the best way to approach the subject is through "quiet diplomacy." In other words, you don't want to make a big deal of political repression, torture, and government murders or you will embarrass a friendly power, and it will give its tear-gas business to somebody else.

This is how the new Reagan "quiet diplomacy" could work: Your Excellency, can I speak to you in private? "Of course, Mr. Secretary. What can I do for you?'

"THERE IS A nasty rumor going earound your capital that your troops wiped out an entire village, including men, women, and children.

"I'll try to keep it down to a whisper. "Good. Off the record, and not for attribution? "Of course. That's what quiet diplomacy is.

"The village was infested with Communist guerrillas, and we had to teach the people a lesson.

"Can I say something to you, that will not leave this room? "Of course, Mr. Secretary

'The United States thinks you may have overreacted, particularly since the news of the destruction of the village has gotten into the American newspapers "That is because you don't have press censorship in your country as we do here. We know how the story got out and we have taken measures against the exiles in the United States who released it." "Are you speaking about the assassination of the former editor of "Corrida" in Washington last week?" 5 "Hush, Mr. Secretary, we may be bugged. I will whisper the answer into your ear ... Yes, that's the one. "Your Excellency, I'll say this as softly as I can, but the United States does not approve of foreign foul play con American soil. It violates our sovereignty and brings in the Justice -Department. We were hoping you would not blow up any more of your copposition leaders in the U.S.'

We had no choice. The editor was giving our country a bad name.

"PLEASE DON'T RAISE your voice, your Excellency. I would not want anyone to know we had this discussion. The only reason I brought up the assassination was that we want to modernize your army, and Congress might balk at military aid if 'your government was implicated in the killing. It's one thing to destroy a village in your own country, but it's another to carry your authoritarian 'policies to the United States." "I don't understand you people. We are trying to fight communism and terrorism, and you make a big thing about blowing up one rotten editor in America. I thought your government's attitude towards human rights had changed."

"It has, Your Excellency. We don't care what you do as long as it's done quietly. All we ask is that you keep your atrocities under wraps, at least until we get your military aid approved by Congress."

The valve (called the mitral) prevents blood from backing up into the upper chamber during this pumping action. In Barlow's syndrome this valve is more rubbery than normal, so it tends to bulge up into the upper chamber with each beat.

In a few people, peculiar heart beats are detected. The medication you are taking is to control that. It is often necessary for people with Barlow's syndrome to have antibiotics before dental procedures, for example, to prevent possible valve infection. Dear Dr. Donohue: This is the third time I have written about this problem. But I know how busy you are so I have no bad feelings. For hair to grow, you have to have healthy hair follicies. A follicle is like the bulb of a plant. The stem and flower won't appear without the bulb. Furthermore, the follicle has to be infertile soil of a healthy scalp. If you have a scar, that means there are no follicles in that area. No matter how delicately I want to break the news to you, I cannot avoid it; hair will not grow in a scar.

Can't you comb your hair over it? If this is a very great psychological problem for you, I guess you could see a plastic surgeon or a dermatologist to find out if the scar can be removed and a hair implant (follicles and all) made. The booklet "Good Health for Your Hair" is a discussion of hair problems. For a copy, write to me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Editor

Recently, I was reading the gospel narrative of Luke 12:16-21, about the teaching of Jesus indicting the "eat, drink and be merry" concept of life. Such people obviously view life as a playground-never viewing it from an eternal context

It came to mind of the many articles and statements voiced about the inmates at our Federal Prison Camp, statements which indicate how luxurious and pampered their life style is. I began feeling a responsibility to answer some indictments toward their everyday life style. I would suggest they indeed are not eating three banquets daily, nor are they drinking tea from China cups. Neither are they making merry. Most of the men stay depressed or stay busy trying not to be depressed. Every week I have a Bible class with around 16 of these men. Eric Dickey, minister at the Sand Springs Church of Christ, labors with me. However, we visit with more than this number. When listening to people one would think that the camp was some type of second degree heaven. The concept of their daily schedule is probably blown out of proportion. The thought probably goes something like this: After work hours, which are short, they tee off at their own Utopia golf course. Following a brisk 9 holes they relax in their own Shangri-la Health Spa. Now comes dinner time! All make their way to the camp restaurant, Paradise Lost, where they are served succulent steaks 2 inches thick. After this period, the men go to the camp den

The above sarcasm comes from concern over their concept of people on the outside, Likewise, I am concerned about the concept of the inmate by those of us on the outside! You may wonder if I believe in incarceration. Yes. Every prisoner that knows me knows what I do. They also know that I endorse capital punishment in regard to certain crimes. After all, the sword of Romans 13 certainly isn't for slicing butter. However, most of these men should serve punishment in a different way They could pay back taxes and such like much guicker if they were allowed to work for full wages and live at home. That would also serve to keep their families together.

The camp chaplain told me that legal separations and divorces run up into the high 80 for these men. That will serve to bring no joy to any man, let alone a nation. I have never seen a spa. There are some body-building tools. I have never seen a golf club, let alone a course. I have never seen a private club. I do not mean to say they are not fed-they are, of course! What I am saying is that the conditions are not as elite as some would think.

There are some things far worse than bars or barbed wire fences. How would you like to be in the prisoners place? If the conditions are so good, why not? Consider the pressure you might feel knowing that there are no fences or bars to hold you in. I suggest that before we assume certain things that we check them out. Eric and I appreciate the Camp's kindness in letting us work among these men who need encouragement and salvation in Christ.

I couldn't judge others who have written or spoken out against the life style of the Prison Camp. But I would like to suggest this though. If we are really concerned about the nation, and specifically Big Spring, should we not turn our eyes to an even greater problem that is manifest within our city? On Gregg Street there is a grave problem. Have you never noticed how many young people line the drive-ins and sidewalks to talk and drink beer? What does this tell you about your nation and Big Spring? Does it not point to serious problems?

Do our youth have nothing better to do with their lives than to burn gas and pump beer? It seems to me that the cure-all to prison life is by getting to the root of the problem. The problem is that we have so many who are not in Christ and making Christian goals. They have no direction because they have do director!

Flower Power Still Has Its Place

DEAR ABBY: I'd like to know on which side a woman wears a flower in her hair to let men know she's available. I'll be going to Hawaii soon and must know. Thanks.

DEAR LEONA: A flower over the left ear means "I'm available"; a flower over the right ear means "I'm taken"; and a flower over both ears means "Let's negotiate."

DEAR ABBY: I don't have a problem. I have a solution to what used to be a major headache in my life. Perhaps others may benefit should you care to print this. My 90-year-old mother has been confined to a nursing home for the past three years. She is alert and enjoys relatively good health. Her major disability is that she has become quite deaf, but she refuses to wear a hearing aid because she says it will make her look "old." Consequently, visits with her always end up in an angry shouting match, and communication with friends and family has come to a halt. Now Mother sits alone in a silent, frustrating world.

Recently I hit upon a partial solution. Each day I mail her a "bulletin," bringing her news of the family, cheery comments on life, and absolutely no bad news. I type six at a time (one can improvise on coming events), using large uppercase letters and double spacing for easy reading. It takes only one hour a week - a small price for the joy it gives my mother. The results can't be measured. She gets a little present every day the mail is delivered and is no longer

My daily bulletins do not replace personal visits, they make those visits more pleasant. R.H.G., ELM GROVE, WIS.

DEAR R.H.G.: I hope you will mention in one of your "bulletins" that a hearing aid does not make a person look "old." It's hardly visible, but if it's noticed at all, it's evidence that the wearer is doing his or her part to stay in communication with the outside world.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 50-year-old nurse who has been widowed for 15 years. In the line of duty, I took care of a very attractive, well-to-do widower, age 59. When he left the hospital, he asked if he could see me again so we could get better acquainted. I It took him nearly six months to call me, after which we started dating. I was on cloud nine! We've been going out for over a year now, and he proposed marriage. My problem is that he admits that he is still seeing several other women and says that until he has a definite answer from me, he will continue to date others. Abby, this has turned me off on him and made me skeptical of his so-called marriage proposal. I am losing my respect for him. If a man thinks enough of a woman to want to marry her, why would he want to date other women? How can I say yes tonight when I know he had another woman in his arms last night?

FRUSTRATED AT 50

Studies continue on causes, cures of migrane headaches

Migraine is a type of of chemicals, including severe headache involving serotonin, a neurotransthe blood vessels within the skull. It can last for hours or days and usually recurs. The word "migraine" comes from the Greek term causes intense pain. "hemikrania," meaning "half the skull" because the headache is usually confined to one side of the head.

More than 200 years ago, John Fotergill, an English physician, was the first to accurately describe the symptoms of a migraine. He called it a "sick headache," an apt description since the sufferer often looks pale and sick during the attack.

A migraine usually begins with symptoms such as the illusion of flashing lights or flickering vision, or temporary defects in speech or body movement. These symptoms are replaced by a painful, throbbing headache centered over one of the temples or the back of the head. Many sufferers have nausea and vomiting. Extreme sensitivity to light is also common.

Migraines may appear as infrequently as once a year or as frequently as every day. Repeated attacks can

An estimated 10 to 20 million Americans suffer from migraines. Women are twice as susceptible as men. but among children, more boys than girls have migraines. Studies have shown that 75 percent of all physical sufferers have a family history of migraines and allergies. Some experts talk about a "migraine personality," that is, a person who is fastidious, over-organized, hardworking and somewhat a perfectionist. But most authorities say migraines

Research indicates that the female hormone estrogen is associated with migraines in women. Women who are chornic migraine sufferers seem to experience temporary relief when using birth control pills which maintain a steady estrogen level, and during the latter stage of pregnancy when estrogen is high. But some experts warn that certain migraine-prone women may be adversely affected by birth control pills and other estrogen supplements. Controversy exists over the possible role diet plays in migraines. Some experts believe that certain foods either trigger or aggravate migraines in some persons predisposed to the malady. Among the implicated foods are nitrite- and nitratepreserved foods such as ham, bacon, sausage and frankfurters:

Monsodium glutamate (MSG), a seasoning used in many processed foods and Chinese foods;

Cheese (especially aged or fermented), chocolate, nuts and alcohol.

Many experts feel that cannot take medicine. But often difficult to master this kind predicipitates migraines. However, migraines occur not during the height of stress, but during the period just after the stress is over during the "let-down."

Some medications such as reserpine and nitroglycerin can trigger migraines, as can certain health conditions as depression, hypertension and perhaps allergies. But most headache specialists do not consider migraines to be an allergic condition. One peculiar trigger cited by the experts is excessive sleep which is believed to produce a low blood sugar level and disruption of normal hor-

When the doors of the clinic at Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital were secured at the close of day Friday, the final chapter in a book of memories and rich experiences were recorded.

For Mrs. Relerce (Juanita) Jones, the turn of the locks had a special meaning. She has retired after more than 29 years of service to the hospital, its staff and its patients. To patients, it will mean the absence of her friendly smile and helpful service and her consideration for those in distress. To the hospital and clinic staff, says hospital administrator Charles A. Weeg, it is a tremendous loss. Weeg remarked, upon learning of Mrs. Jones' retirement:

"You just can't replace 29 years of experience and dedicated service overnight. All of us will miss Juanita so much.

Members of the hospital and clinic staff feted Mrs. Jones with a retirement party in the dining room of the hospital May 22. Mrs. Jones was presented with a money tree and numerous other gifts.

Weeg presented her with a plaque in recognition of her long tenure and in doing so, mentioned that he was presenting it on behalf of the board of directors and all of her co-workers.

Weeg wished her much happiness and expressed the hope that her retirement years would be the golden era of her life. Juanita's husband, Relerce, and Lydia Minchew, sister of Mrs. Jones, were special guests at the party.

Mrs. Jones is being succeeded as clinic registar by Norma Cherry.

Talks non-productive, negotiator reveals

YORK (AP) -Marvin Miller, executive director of the Major League Players Association, and Grebey, chief for representative management, agreed on one thing after the latest negotiations in the baseball's lingering labor crisis over the degree of free agent compensation. Both said no progress was made in more than three hours of talks Monday. After their previous negotiating session last week had lasted only seven minutes, there was some speculation that the long meeting might indicate some movement. But Greby denied that.

"It indicate nothing other than that we talked about compensation and there was no progress," Grebey said. "Nothing really new was discussed today," concurred Miller. "I cannot say we made any progress." Then what were the two sides doing for all that time? "We held general discussions, part of the time together and part of the time separately," Miller said. "The discussions were nonproductive."

Much of the time, apparently, was spent on semantics.

"You phrase and rephrase arguments and positions from time to time," he said. "You try to explore and think of new ways of wording arguments and you are not always successful."

Royals awaken in race

be getting there. With a come-from-behind 3-2 victory over the Seattle Mariners Monday night, the fifth-place Royals, who got off to the worst start in their history, have won five of their last six games and are 10 games out of first place in the AL West after trailing by 13½ less than a week ago.

'We've been coming back, and to me that's the sign of a ballclub coming to life," said Manager Jim Frey. "I think the troops are getting ready to do their thing."

In the only other AL games, the New York Yankees defeated the Cleveland Indians 5-3, the Detroit Tigers edged the Milwaukee Brewers 4-3 in 12 innings and the California Angels blanked the Toronto Blue Jays 3-0.

Frey said a doubleheader loss in Seattle last Monday may have been the point where the Royals bottomed

Off to a slow start, like most of the Royals, and hampered by nagging injuries, George Brett has been up around the .300 mark for a while now. He greeted Seattle reliever Shane Rawley with an RBI single in the eighth inning Monday night to give the Royals the triumph. Willie Wilson and Amos Otis singled off Larry Andersen to start the eighth before Rawley came in to serve up Brett's hit.

Brett also drove in Kansas City' first run with a sixthinning triple after the Mariners took a 2-0 lead. The Royals tied it in the seventh on Frank White's single and Clint Hurdle's triple.

Ellington resigns DA post at Texas

FAIRFIELD BAY, Ark. (AP) — University of Texas athletic director Bill Ellington says that after 37 years in high school and college athletics it is time to quit — time for a little time to himself.

Ellington, 60, announced he will resign from the university on Aug. 31, and added that he is not in the market for another job.

"I just flat retired," Ellington said Monday night in this town in North Central Arkansas where he was attending a meeting of Southwest Conference coaches.

"My relation with the University of Texas is just super. I promise you there's not a thing under the rug about this," said Ellington, who added that he had been considering retirment for some time.

Ellington joined the Texas staff in 1959 and was named assistant athletic director in 1968. He was promoted to athletic director in January of 1980 when Darrell Royal became a special assistant to the university president.

"I've been in this 37 years. I'm ready to have a little time on my own," said Ellington.

He said he had not recommended a placement, but added, There are a lot of capable people" on his staff.

Why has the cost of electricity increased so much?

Mainly, fuel. Mainly, natural gas. We still have to use it to make more than half your electricity. Our fuel bill in 1980 was $198,900,000*; our estimate for 1981 is $450,000,000.

As the graph shows, Texas Electric's customers paid much lower fuel costs on their electric bills throughout the "70s. But now our biggest contract for low-cost gas has expired, and we have to pay the going rate.

The amount we have to pay for fuel to make electricity is the exact amount we charge our customers for fuel.

Our lignite-fueled generating plants (and our nuclear plant in the future) will help protect our customers from rising gas prices.

Jaeger, 15, boosted her career lead over Mima Jausovec to 3-0 by coming from behind to take a 4-6, 6-2, 6-0 match from the No.7-seed Yugoslav. Jaeger, the No.3 seed, has lost two sets and 33 games in reaching the semifinals.

Lloyd has lost 24 games but not a single set in her advance.

Trailing 2-4 in her first set with Ruzici, Lloyd fought back with some hard-earned points to win the next four games and the set.

The score was tied at 2-2 in the second set when Ruzici started to tire and lose her consistency. Lloyd built up a healthy 5-2 lead, but the Romanian won the next two The duel lasted two hours
