STORMY WEATHER BREWS — Dark clouds and high winds brought little rainfall to Big Spring Monday, but temperatures dropped to a near-record low of 53 degrees. The record still belongs to 1976, when temperatures on June 15 dropped to 50 degrees. The Big Spring area saw .03 of an inch of rain before clouds cleared the area. This photograph was taken facing west, with South Mountain framed in the haze. (PHOTO BY BILL FORSHER)

More rain forecast for flooded areas; death toll hits 9

Thousands of Texans forced from their homes by flood waters that killed at least nine people have started returning to their residences and businesses to assess damages from the latest wave of torrential rains.

Heavy thunderstorms continued across Central Texas Monday night, forcing delays averaging an hour for almost all flights at Dallas-Fort Worth Regional Airport, a spokesman said.

The weekend deaths brought to 22 the known fatalities since Memorial Day, when heavy thunderstorms caused at least $35 million in property damage in Austin.

Another cloudburst snarled rush-hour traffic in rain-weary San Antonio today, sending water rushing over low-water crossings again.

Shortly before 8 a.m., park rangers at the San Antonio River Walk began searching for a man reportedly seen "bobbing up and down" in the rain-swollen river near the Houston Street Bridge. A witness described the man as a "hobo" who usually slept beneath bridges in the downtown area.

Thunderstorms were predicted to continue in the San Antonio area and Hill Country throughout the day.

The death toll rose Monday afternoon when 15-year-old Cordale Beck of Fort Worth slipped off a moss-covered dam on the Trinity River. His body was recovered from about 10 feet of water, officials said.

Beck and three friends were crossing the slippery concrete dam when Beck fell into the water, surfaced once and then went under, witnesses said.

Ernest Williams Jessie, 16, said he had just crossed the dam when he turned and saw Beck fall in.

"He just slipped in," Jessie said. "When he fell in he started swimming backwards, then he started going under. We tried to get him to grab a stick but he went under. Then he came back up and went back up and his hand came," Jessie said.

Two Dallas youths were struck by lightning during a baseball game, and were reported in fair to stable condition at an area hospital.

Federal experts should arrive Monday to re-evaluate the Memorial Day flooding at the request of Austin Mayor Carole McClellan and Gov. Bill Clements. President Reagan refused to grant a disaster declaration after the first Austin flood.

About 300 families were evacuated in the Austin area over the weekend, but police said most were returning home by late Monday night.

San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros Monday ordered an investigation into why flood gates at Elmendorf Lake, south of the city, were not opened to prevent flooding in nearby homes.

Several houses in the area were inundated with flood waters and vehicles were washed away.

"I can't imagine how we can build a multimillion-dollar facility and for sheer failure to assure proper workings of it, poor people are suffering with four feet of water in their homes," Cisneros said.

Chinese army official to visit Washington

U.S. lifts restrictions on arms sales to China

PEKING (AP) — Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said today the Reagan administration will lift restrictions against sales of lethal arms to China and that an official of the Chinese army will come to Washington in August to explore purchasing U.S. arms.

Haig said at a news conference at the conclusion of his three-day official visit here that there will be a "loosening up" of previous restrictions on arms sales to China, although he cautioned that doesn't mean there will be a major amount of arms purchases by the Chinese.

He said the administration has decided to remove the so-called munitions list restrictions that had previously banned arms sales to China.

This apparently is something the administration can do without congressional approval.

Haig disclosed that Liu Huaqing, vice chief of the general staff of China's army, will head a delegation that will visit the United States in August to explore possible arms purchases.

"A special Chinese request will be considered in conjunction with appropriate consultations with Congress and, where necessary, appropriate consultations with affected allies," Haig said.

Haig met today with China's two top leaders and said the success of his visit here "exceeded our hopes."

Haig met for two hours with Deng Xiaoping, Communist Party vice chairman. He then conferred with Premier Zhao Ziyang in an ornate reception room once used by emperors to give examinations to officers.

Before his meeting with Zhao, the last in his four-day visit, Haig said talks with Chinese leaders were going well, and one U.S. official predicted the visit would "advance Sino-American relations in every sphere."

Both the Chinese and Americans appeared to be playing down the potentially divisive issue of U.S. arms sales to the Nationalist Chinese government on Taiwan. China says it is unhappy about such sales. U.S. officials say the need for a common strategy against Soviet expansion is more important.

"It's been a very, very good visit," Haig told Deng at the start of their session in the Great Hall of the People, before reporters were escorted from the room. "I've felt very welcome. I feel my time has been well-used."

U.S. spokesman had given little information on Haig's meeting for nearly four hours Monday with Foreign Minister Huang Hua, leading to speculation that there might have been serious disagreement over U.S. relations with Taiwan. But Deng appeared to dispel such speculation when he told Haig: "I hear you had a very good session with Vice Premier Huang Hua."

Haig did not reply. Another U.S. official said that while Taiwan had been discussed, "the time and attention devoted to that has been minimal compared to everything else we have been talking about."

However, Haig and Deng did meet in the Great Hall's Fujian Room, named for the province across the Taiwan Strait from the Nationalist island.

Mitchell County

may exceed 100

COLORADO CITY (SC) — If preliminary parade planning in Mitchell County is any indication of "I Love a Parade," then all of the area plans to take part in or enjoy the 5 p.m., July 25 event.

According to the parade committee chairman, Mitchell County's Centennial parade currently includes 90 entries and may climb as high as 100.

Among the participants will be Sen. Ray Farabee, a stage coach from WBAP radio, Fort Worth; and "Tumbleweed Smith," (Bob Lewis of Big Spring); Gov. Bill Clements and Cong. Charles Stenholm also have been invited to participate.

Plenty of lively music, ranging from area bands playing golden oldies, ragtime piano favorites from the 20s, old-timers homemade instruments rendering memorials melodies up to teenage rock bands with their decibels will be interspersed among the floats to keep every music lover tapping toes to music of every era of the last 100 years.

According to Mrs. Bobby Lemons, over-all parade chairman, this will be the largest parade in the history of Mitchell County. "We are all involved and thoroughly enjoying every minute of it," she said. "Parade time in Mitchell County will be quite an event and we certainly want to issue an invitation to all our area neighbors to share in the fun at 5 p.m., July 25."

year tax-cut plan, is being told nevertheless that Democrats may delay action on it until this fall.

The president, after conferring Monday with Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee and with conservative Senate Democrats, invited GOP congressional leaders to the White House today.

Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., said after the White House meeting that Reagan expressed "the absolute necessity in his view ... to deal with the tax bill as promptly as possible."

The president also set aside time at the start of his nationally televised and broadcast news conference this afternoon to complain that the Democrats are not helping meet his Aug. 1 target date for enacting a tax cut, although they are committed to that deadline.

Reagan heard Republican concerns Monday that the Democrats would drag their feet and force consideration of the tax plan after the August congressional recess.

But shortly afterward, conservative Democrats, most of them supporters of the president's plan to cut income tax rates by 25 percent, predicted the Senate would approve the legislation.

Asked after Monday's meeting whether the Aug. 1 deadline would be met, Rep. Barber B. Conable Jr. of New York, the ranking Republican on the House Ways and Means Committee, said: "Frankly, we're beginning to doubt it, and that's one concern that we talked about some."

But there is always the option of applying pressure, he hinted strongly.

"You are dealing with people who see Ronald Reagan as larger than life at this point who are going to be affected if he begins to put pressure on them," he said.

Rep. Robert Michel, R-Ill., the House minority leader, added: "I think the Democrats would be committing a grievous error if they were seen publicly to be dragging their feet."

The House Ways and Means Committee was beginning discussions today about the business side of the tax cut.

On Monday, a task force of five committee Democrats started to put together a cut that would aim more relief than Reagan recommended at people with incomes between $15,000 and $50,000 and at working couples.

No decisions were made, but the task force agreed informally that a smaller tax cut should be given to the relatively small group of Americans with incomes above $200,000 a year.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Water-related deaths

Q. We hear about the highway death toll all the time but how many water-related deaths were there in Texas last year?

A. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department says there were 570 such deaths, of which 448 were drownings. The remainder came as the result of boating and other accidents.

$5.45 more per month

Ma Bell wants to hike cost of phone service

Big Spring residents with one-party residence telephone service will be paying $5.45 more per month if proposed increases in rates projected by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company are approved by the Public Utility Commission.

Such service now costs $5.70 a month. That would bring the total charge to $11.15 a month. Increases up to $14.40 per month for one-party business service are also being sought.

Local increases make up about 87 percent of the company's total request for $469.8 million in new rates.

The company is also seeking rate boosts in private line service, TouchTone service and Custom Calling charges. Also requested was implementation of a new measured service plan for local calling in exchanges served by electronic switching systems.

The optional plan would measure each local call on the basis of the distance, duration and the time of day. The present call allowance plan, which counts only the total number of calls, would be continued to existing customers.

No increases were proposed by Southwestern Bell for long distance, WATS, coin calls, Directory Assistance charges, telephone instruments, terminal equipment, one-time service connection charges, or telephone answering services.

Big Spring city officials said this morning they had received no notification of a request for a rate increase and it likely would not be brought up at the next council meeting, scheduled June 23. Such notification would be directed to Mayor Clyde Angel.

The Public Utility Commission likely will not hold a hearing on the proposed rate increase until late summer and if a boost in any amount is approved it likely would not take effect before late fall or early winter, according to V. Jay Allen, staff specialist — public relations for Southwestern Bell.

Bell is challenging a PUC decision made in 1980 to grant only $114 of a $325 million rate increase. Company officials earlier said that decision was a contributing factor in Bell's decision to come back with another request for increased rates.

Southwestern Bell initiated a request for a $298.3 million rate increase in 1976 and was awarded $57.8 million. On March 9, 1978, the company was back with a request for a $214.3 million in rate hikes and was allowed $124.5 million. On June 28, 1979, the company petitioned PUC for a rate hike of $243 million and received permission to bill their customers for an additional $138.8 million. Then came the request for another increase July 7, 1980.

Postal labor negotiations begin; increased mail rates may result

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service and its unions are beginning negotiations on a new labor agreement that will have a major impact on how much it will cost to mail a letter.

The Postal Service was starting contract talks today with the American Postal Workers Union and the National Association of Letter Carriers. Negotiations with two smaller unions will start later this week.

A total of 600,000 workers are covered by the contracts.

the largest group to negotiate new pacts this year.

Because nearly seven-eighths of Postal Service expenses go for labor, any sizable wage increase will necessitate higher postal rates.

The Postal Service was expected to try to hold the unions to smaller wage gains than they have made in recent negotiations. The average annual pay for a postal worker, which stood at $7,913 a decade ago, now is $19,915. During the current three-year contract, annual pay has gone up $5,122 per employee, according to Postal Service figures.

The unions have said they are concerned about the safety of workers in major mail-handling facilities. They cite several recent fatal accidents.

Moe Biller, president of the American Postal Workers Union, said Americans should know "that behind those windows where they buy their stamps or drop off their mail, there are large letter factories today."

"And I'm not talking about machines the size of a sewing machine. Those are monsters, a block long, some 20 feet high, with 20 people working on those machines," he said.

In advance of the talks, both sides said they expect no strike. However, since the last contract negotiations, the two biggest unions have elected new leaders known for militant positions.

Biller and Vincent Sombrotto, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers, both were local leaders in New York City who played key roles in the 1970 strike by 152,000 postal workers.

Both scoff at talk of a strike now. "Strike? I don't even want to hear the word," Biller said.

Postmaster General William F. Bolger said, "This nation cannot tolerate a postal work stoppage of any kind. Nor can I." He said that if there is a strike he would suspend the law that bars private companies from delivering letters. Federal troops also might be used to sort letters, which happened in 1970.

The two smaller unions, the National Association of Rural Letter Carriers and the mail handlers' division of Laborers International Union, are refusing to sit at the same bargaining table with the larger unions.

Representative Larry Don Shaw Reports from Austin

Area junior colleges get big budget boosts

Despite a hectic last month, the Legislature adjourned at midnight on June 1 with several important tasks left undone, and the Governor has called a special session beginning at noon on Monday, July 13.

The Governor has sole authority to decide which subjects will be considered in a special session, and the list he released with his announcement included five items: (1) congressional redistricting, (2) repeal of the state's ad valorem tax, (3) consideration of Speaker Billy Clayton's water trust fund proposal, (4) cleanup of major problems in the property tax reforms passed in 1979, and (5) passage of a new Medical Practices Act, necessary because the current Act expires on Sept. 1 if the Legislature doesn't act.

I have requested that the Governor add a couple of gasohol measures to the agenda, and I have reason to believe that he will give my request serious consideration.

One item surprisingly missing from the announced agenda is a means of funding building construction at state colleges and universities not included in the University of Texas or Texas A&M systems. An aide to the Governor has indicated to me, however, that he feels this is included in the general subject area of the ad valorem tax, which paid for such construction before the tax was reduced to a nearly nonexistent level by the 1979 Legislature.

Fortunately, the funding of our state's junior colleges is not a question mark. They were taken care of when the appropriations bill was passed, and the two junior colleges in the 63rd District did very well indeed.

Western Texas College in Snyder will receive $1,812,757 in state funding in fiscal 1982 and $1,976,747 in 1983. Compared to the 1981 funding level, this represents an increase of 21.7 percent in 1982 and another 9 percent increase in 1983.

Howard College in Big Spring will receive $1,809,485 in fiscal 1982, a whopping 46 percent jump over the 1981 level, and the $1,978,942 budgeted for fiscal 1983 represents another 9.4 percent increase.

In addition, we appropriated $1.5 million a year for the next two years to the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf and passed legislation authorizing independent status for the Institute, which is currently operated by Howard College on a "program" basis.

This funding, combined with the Webb AFB facilities being deeded to Howard College for the Institute, should help to establish SWCID on a par with the other three post-secondary educational facilities for deaf students in New York, Washington, D.C., and California.

Severe thunderstorms rumble over Midwest

By the Associated Press
Severe thunderstorms rumbled over northern parts of the Midwest, spawning at least 16 tornadoes and swelling rivers, as Florida broiled under a heat wave and high winds ripped through Missouri.

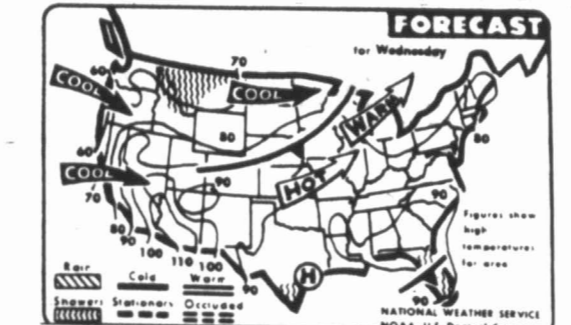

Thunderstorms continued from lower Michigan across southern Missouri to central Texas early today. Scattered showers fell over western New England, the upper Mississippi River valley and the northern Pacific coast.

Winds up to 100 mph blasted the town of Ruskin Heights, Mo., injuring seven people, and a utility worker in Chicago was killed by electricity after pumping water from an underground vault.

Tornadoes were reported in Missouri, Indiana and Wisconsin and states of emergency were declared in Kansas, Ohio and Illinois as rivers and creeks overflowed.

WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy southeast, otherwise fair and warm today. Fair and mild tonight. Continued fair and warmer Wednesday. Highs today mid 80s north to lower 80s southeast and near 100 Big Bend valleys. Lows tonight mid 50s north and mountains to upper 60s southwest. High Wednesday near 90 north to mid 80s southeast and near 107 Big Bend.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for Wednesday predicts showers in portions of Idaho and Montana, southern Texas and Florida.

Inner Peace Movement lecture set Wednesday

Have you ever wished you could have that "Saturday morning feeling" all week long? Have you ever known that the phone was going to ring? Robert Kanause, regional director for the Inner Peace Movement, will speak on these and other subjects at a 7:30 p.m. lecture Wednesday in the Holiday Inn.

ROBERT KANAUSE

The Inner Peace Movement, founded in Washington, D.C. in 1964, is an educational, non-profit organization that promotes self-awareness. Its founder, Dr. Francisco Coll, spent 27 years in the research and creation of the program.

Kanause, who stresses that IPM is not a religion or a club. He said the purpose of the program is to provide individuals with the tools and techniques needed for security, self-respect and independence. Originally from Kalamazoo, Mich., Kanause became involved in IPM seven years ago in Tucson, Ariz. Since that time, he has toured the United States and Europe lecturing on the program.

said Kanause, "and everyone is a spiritual being. The four psychic gifts, which everyone has, are intuition, feeling, prophecy and visions. We simply show people how the psychic gifts operate."

Cost for the lecture, which lasts an hour, is $5. Following the lecture, a workshop will be held for those wishing to know more about the program. Cost of the workshop is $10.

Sure, sunshine is free, but . . .

let's be realistic.

We Americans tend to be skeptical of cure-alls. And rightly so. They're seldom realistic. Some people think sunshine is a free and easily available cure-all for our energy problems. Sunshine is free. Solar power isn't.

Equipment is now on the market that uses direct heat from the sun to help warm our houses and heat our water. In some areas these installations are economical. But collecting, concentrating, converting, storing and using solar energy to generate electricity is not economical. It's many times more costly than using coal or nuclear fuels, and much more expensive than using Middle East oil.

At your electric company, we're supporting the development of solar technology. Some day it may become a more viable source of electrical energy

. . . but not today. Until it is, our job is to keep you supplied with dependable electricity, generated with the most plentiful and economical fuels we can use.

We think you'll agree: that's realistic.

Is story of Russian muscle a myth?

The military strength of the United States and Russia is constantly being compared, even though each nation boasts enough nuclear power to kill everyone on earth 50 times over.

Does Russia now lead the United States in military muscle? If so, how much of a lead is it? Anthony Lewis, a columnist for the New York Times, recently reported on an in-depth study made of the Red Army and its equipment and came up with some interesting conclusions.

THE STUDY WAS accomplished by a British journalist working for television stations in Boston and Great Britain and was presented on a public broadcasting system in this country. It went beyond general intelligence estimates into actual examination of Soviet first-line equipment and the conclusion was that Soviet technology isn't much past the stone age and that which we keep seeing referred to as 'superior' aircraft and 'modern' battle tanks aren't that, at all.

ACCORDING TO THE columnist, the Soviets' main battle tank, the T-62, which has been installed in all the Soviet client nations, is 20 years old. That is about the age of our Titan missiles, which many Americans are concerned about because of their age. Numbers of Soviet tanks were captured by the Israelis in wars with Egypt and Syria and are presently employed at Fort Hood, Texas, as a means of illustrating techniques for fighting against Russian equipment. Americans were at the controls of the Red tanks in the tests and their regard for the hardware is not awesome.

With the T-62, the inside is so cramped that only short men can fit into them. They have a mutual transmission that is so stiff that a sledge hammer is a permanent necessity to move it from position to position. Some of its fuel tanks are external, meaning they blow up without any overpowering impact. Too, the ammo loader has the kick of a mule, so much so that it sometimes injures the gunner.

A Soviet tank officer who defected in the mid 70s says that his crews were allowed to fire only six real shells a year for training purposes. Americans, on the other hand, fire 36 annually.

The study also disclosed that the U.S. regularly flies Russian MiGs in the Nevada desert as a means of training U.S. pilots in techniques to fight them. An expert, formerly with the Department of Defense, says that all the Russian planes have numerous 'disabilities,' not the least of which is 'cockpit visibility is quite poor.' On the whole, he sees the MiG series as a 'rather poor aircraft.'

A MIG-25 OR 'Foxbat,' regularly referred to as the Soviets' best plane, was taken to Japan by a defector not too long ago. It was examined minutely by American defense officials who found it 'very disappointing technologically.' It turned out the thing was made of steel, not the light weight titanium we've been using for years. And its range, which was reported to be 700 miles, was actually only 186.

As to ships, the Soviets have 289 major surface ships to our 175, but the American ships are larger and more powerful and outweigh the Russians in tonnage by about 2 to 1.

The report also said there was a morale problem in the Russian Navy because personnel get only ten days leave every three years. Reports of alcoholism and racial tension throughout the Soviet military are continually surfacing.

So, the Russians aren't ten feet tall after all, or even five, for that matter. And it is highly unlikely that this country is as far behind the Russians in anything as we have been led to believe.

That is not to say that we should be lulled to sleep but we have no reason whatever to be terrified of Soviet might.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

Please accept our appreciation for your assistance in getting together the stories and the exhibit concerning the role of early doctors in the development of this community. Were it not for the stories the Big Spring Herald had published over the years, the stories we eventually told in the exhibit and in our ad would not have been possible.

We sometimes fail to realize the role that a local newspaper plays as the recorder and keeper of the town's historical archives. We tend to criticize more than we commend the newspapers' attention to daily events, forgetting that history lurks in the lines written on a busy morning, by a reporter facing a noon deadline.

Our appreciation, too, to the families of Dr. J.H. Hurt, Dr. W.C. Barnett, Dr. G.T. Hall and Dr. G.S. True, for sharing their memories and memorabilia of these men. Without them, this tribute would not have been possible. It is gratifying to see visitors standing before the permanent exhibits among them young people of our community who comment about the importance of roots and heritage, as depicted in this story of West Texas.

Our special appreciation to Joe Pickens, Darryl Atwell and the Heritage Museum. Daryle Hohertz, Mary Crum and Howard College. David Rhoads, Jack Barber, Charlie Upton, Roy Smith, and a host of Malone-Hogan Hospital employees and volunteers who contributed in a number of ways to the project. A special thanks to Louise Porter, who provided one of the surprises of the exhibit, the hypodermic case belonging to Dr. W.C. Barnett and given to her by the Cole sisters, nieces of Dr. Barnett.

We are grateful, too, to the Texas Medical Branch at Galveston for loaning us the painting of Cabeza de Vaca performing the first surgery in North America, in West Texas. And for allowing us to reproduce it as a part of our permanent exhibit.

And finally, thanks are in order to the Centennial Executive Committee, Dr. P.W. Malone, Mrs. J.E. Hogan, Louise Porter, Mamie Roberts and Ramona Harris. Also to all who have visited the exhibit, we've enjoyed having you come out to the hospital. Come again, soon.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Can a person be a Christian and not have the Holy Spirit living with him? — R.A.

DEAR R.A.: No, this is not possible, but it does not mean that every Christian is controlled and filled by the Holy Spirit, for that is not the case. Christians still can sin and turn their backs on God but, when they do, God the Holy Spirit is grieved. (See Ephesians 4:30).

When we come to Christ, the Holy Spirit takes up residence within us. In fact, the Bible tells us that we cannot come to Christ unless the Holy Spirit first works within our hearts to convict us of sin and show us the truth of the Gospel. He is the one who brings the new birth to us.

Jesus said, "I tell you the truth, unless a man is born of water and the Spirit, he cannot enter the kingdom of God" (John 3:5). And when we put our trust and faith in Christ, the Holy Spirit comes to dwell within us. That is why the Bible declares, "If anyone does not have the Spirit of Christ, he does not belong to Christ" (Romans 8:9).

That does not mean that we are necessarily aware of his presence at first, or that we always live under his control. Nevertheless, by faith in what God has told us in his Word, we accept the fact he is within us and we act on that fact. God's will is that our lives would be controlled by the Spirit.

This is actually what the Bible means when it says we are to "be filled with the Spirit" (Ephesians 5:18). We are to yield ourselves to Christ as Lord of our lives and, when we do, the Spirit of God is free to strengthen us and guide us.

Far too many Christians live defeated and shallow lives because they are attempting to live as Christians in their own strength, rather than in the strength of the Holy Spirit. But that should not be the case. Instead, each day we should yield ourselves to Christ and ask his Spirit to give us wisdom and strength for whatever he has in store for us that day.

Around the rim Fans are forgotten

Richard Horn

New York Yankees star Dave Winfield has gone to his St. Paul, Minn., hometown to sponsor health exams for 200 youngsters. St. Louis Cardinals' pitcher Mark Littell has gone fishing — and Montreal Expos pitcher-philosopher Bill Lee has floated to Prince Edward Island to attend the Shakespeare Festival there.

It is a fantasy of mine that when they and their colleagues return to the game, they discover that the fans too have formed a union. And they vote to boycott big league baseball until no player makes more than $35,98 a week. You talk about power, the fans have.

BUT THEY probably won't use it, because any self-respecting baseball fan feels that the game is more important than any of these squabbles. They'll wait until the players and owners come to some kind of agreement that will last a year, and then they'll file back to the ballpark.

When it comes to taking sides in the strike issue of compensation, I begin at wishy, pass through washy, and end up not caring. My first impulse is to suggest that every striking player be forced to slide down an oversized razor blade into a large vat of alcohol. Here they are playing baseball for a living — in a position that most fans would give more money than the average American hopes to, and they go out on strike for no other reason than they just don't want to be considered employees.

But there are times I can see the players' points — and I can see the points of the actors, and screen-

"THAT'S FINE, but it doesn't answer the question of why baseball fans (and soon football fans) and movie-goers should have to foot the bill. If players and actors become too expensive, the powers that be aren't going to take a smaller cut of the profits, they're going to charge higher prices. They seem to forget that it is the public that put them in business to begin with.

This baseball strike is a bit different, but comes under the same heading. The players don't want their careers controlled by whoever has the most money to own them at one particular moment. They want to be able to control their own destinies, and unfortunately they're sacrificing the fans to do it.

The owners are not free of blame. Everybody blames the players for the huge salaries, but the truth is the owners are the ones who offer. Million dollar pitcher Nolan Ryan would have probably played for less money, but the Astros offered millions, and there's no reason to turn it down.

Sometimes it seems like everybody is in it for the money. Except for the fans, who are in it for fun, and end up paying for it all.

Don't use diuretics for weight loss

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please explain the dangers of the diuretic hydrochlorothiazide. My friend has some and offered them to me. She said they are harmless and will take off weight. Please answer. — Mrs. E.S.

The diuretic hydrochlorothiazide is not dangerous when it is used as it should be. By that I mean when it is used under medical supervision and for the particular problems for which it is intended (high blood pressure, for example). A prescription is needed, which should tell you something about it.

No, it will not take off weight for you. It will take water, sodium and potassium out of you, one good reason for the supervised use. But you will not lose fat with it.

You may deceive yourself into thinking you are losing weight, but you are losing fluid only, which is quickly regained. Do I have to preach, and tell you it's a very bad idea to borrow someone's medicine? Drugs can become harmful when they are taken for purposes other than those for which they are intended. That's why it is obtained through prescription — so that it will be used only for sound medical reasons and so that the person who uses it can be instructed in the best manner of taking it and be informed about potential side effects.

For example, if you deplete your sodium, potassium and water, you can increase the uric acid in your blood. Can I get off my soapbox now? Have I convinced you to turn down your friend's offer?

Dear Dr. Donohue: Please let me know what Digoxin is, also Levothyroxine. — M.J.
Digoxin is one kind of digitalis drug used to increase strength of the heart muscle and to regulate irregular heart beats. Levothyroxine is thyroid hormone. It is given to people who are not making enough of their own hormone. It has the same actions your own thyroid gland hormone has, and those are many.

But for simplicity's sake, you can think of the chief function as keeping the body functioning at the proper speed. Without the hormone, things slow down. You'll find a complete review of thyroid problems and treatments in the booklet "Your Thyroid: How It Works for You." For a copy, write me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Would you say a word or two about the illness that children get from worms of dogs? Our veterinarian made an issue about having our pet dog dewormed. We do have young tots. I cooperated, of course, but didn't understand what the fuss was about. We keep very good care of our dog. What is the illness he referred to? — Mrs. E.V.

I am sure your veterinarian was talking about toxocarasis (tox-oh-care-EYE-ah-sis). Almost half of all newborn puppies are infected with it. The worm lives in the intestinal tract of the puppy.

If a youngster plays in dirt that has been contaminated with the droppings of the infected dog (say in an outdoor sandbox, for example) the eggs can be transmitted into the child's digestive system. There the eggs hatch. The immature worm can migrate to many parts of the body, the brain, the heart, the eye, etc. That doesn't happen all the time, but the possibility is there.

So children shouldn't handle newborn puppies or the mother dog until they have been wormed. A similar worm is carried by cats, but is not as prevalent as the dog worm.

You can lose weight if you really want to! The booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

What to do

Art Buchwald

Anyone who has been flying tourist class these days has noticed that the airlines are placing their rows closer and closer to each other, making it more difficult to get your entire body into a seat.

I was on a shuttle to New York City the other morning, and the stewardess announced that all carry-on luggage had to be placed under your seats.

The man next to me called her over and said, "What do I do with my knees?"

The stewardess said, "I beg your pardon?"

"My briefcase is under the seat in front of me, but I don't have any place for my knees."

"Neither do I," I told her.

"COULD I PUT MY knees in the overhead rack?" he wanted to know.

"No," she said. "That would be against regulations. It would present a safety hazard in case we hit turbulence."

"Why don't you put them on your chest?" I suggested to my seatmate. "I was hoping to read my newspaper," he replied. "It's almost impossible to turn a page if you have your knees on your chest."

The stewardess said, "FAA regulations forbid you to put your knees on your chest while the safety belt sign is on."

"Why doesn't the FAA have a rule that an airline has to provide room for a passenger's knees?"

"Because the airlines have been deregulated to increase competition. They can now put the rows as close together as they want. The government is no longer concerned with leg room."

My seatmate said, "I'm in the cattle business and the government still has strict regulations as to how many cattle may be shipped in a car. You'd think we would have the same rights as animals."

"I'm just a stewardess. If you have any complaints, why don't you make them to management?"

"Could I check my knees in the baggage compartment?" he asked.

"I'm sorry, we're just about to take off and we can't check anything."

The stewardess went away. I turned to the man and said, "I have a suggestion, if you don't mind. Why don't you put your knees on my lap and I'll put my knees on your lap. In that way we'll both be more comfortable."

"You're not gay are you?" he wanted to know.

"Heck no, and I assume you're not either."

"Well, let's give it a try," he said.

"Try not to take the crease out of my pants," I begged him. "I have to speak at a lunch today."

"I'll be careful."

We put our legs across each other's laps.

THE PILOT announced we were third in line for takeoff.

The stewardess came down the aisle to check if our safety belts were fastened.

"That's not permitted," she said sternly.

"Where does it say so in the regulations?" my seatmate demanded.

"Look what you've started," she said. "Everyone is putting his legs in the person's lap next to him."

It actually wasn't a bad trip, and when we got to La Guardia we shared a taxi into New York. Fortunately it was a checker Cab and we could both stretch our legs as far as we wanted. The ride put shuttle airline to shame.

FORECAST FOR WEDNESDAY, JUNE 17, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Don't be upset if there are changes today that you are uncertain about. Through these new arrangements you will be able to express your talents and capabilities much better.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Make plans that will mean greater benefits in the future for you. Avoid one who is detrimental to your progress.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Use approved methods if you want to gain a personal aim. Go to the right sources for the information you need.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You need more modern appliances to make your daily routines more profitable. Engage in civic affairs and gain prestige.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Go to new places where you can gain knowledge and find new opportunities to advance in your career.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Making sure to keep promises you've made is most important at this time. Strive for a more harmonious relationship with loved one.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Discuss a new project you have in mind with associates and get their approval. Strive for increased happiness.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Don't neglect important duties in your field of endeavor. Plan time to improve your health through proven methods.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) A good day to plan amusements that will extend into the future. Express your finest creative talents to others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Those plans made with close ties can be in operation now with good results following. Be more optimistic.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you are more cooperative with associates at this time, you can gain their goodwill and accomplish a lot.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You have clever ideas for adding to present abundance, so put them in motion without delay. Be practical in all things.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Put more effort into gaining your personal aims and get excellent results. Use positive methods in a business deal.

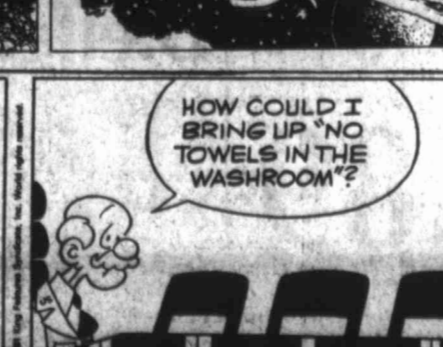

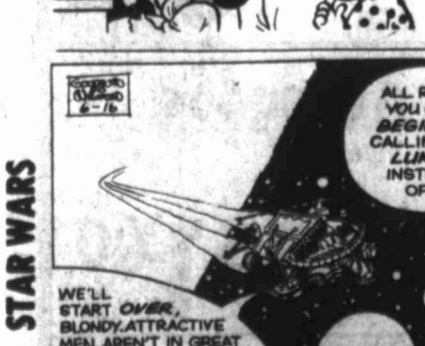

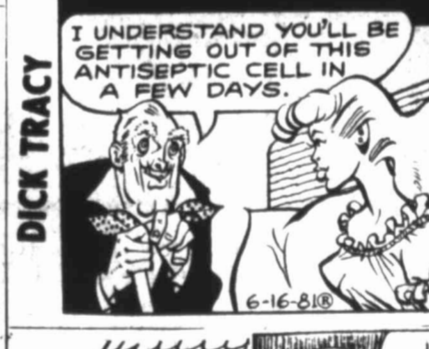

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one who can comprehend a most difficult task and will be cooperative with others. Teach to use the fine intuitive faculties to best advantage. Fine chart for professions that require being alone much of the time.

Local high school student attends VICA conference

Local high school student Johnny Ybarra was among those attending a recent leadership conference in Wimberly of the Vocational Industrial Clubs of America. The conference brought together district and state officers. Ybarra and his fellow conferees studied leadership skills, personal goal setting, speechmaking, parliamentary procedures and public relations under the direction of Jeanie Hicks, the governor's advisor to the state council.

Also in attendance at the conference was Don Cook of Big Spring, who serves as area consultant to the clubs. Ybarra is the district sergeant-at-arms of VICA.

Other area club members who went included Tonya Warren of Charne, district president; Patricia Quintanar of Odessa, vice president; Alice Jimenez of Andrews, reporter; and Clinton Cook of Andrews, parliamentarian.

Mrs. Charlene Jackson cosmetology instructor of Andrews, is the district advisor and accompanied the group.

Fink to toast its namesake

FINK, Texas (AP) — Texas folklore figure Mike Fink will be toasted June 26 in a National Fink Day chili cookoff in the town that bears his name.

"We're going to put up a plaque in Mike Fink's memory," said Fink Mayor Dovie Haliburton. "We're starting a memorial collection to raise funds to eventually erect a Mike Fink statue."

ROWING AROUND TOWN — Jackie and Allan Felkey of Ottawa, Ohio canoe over a downtown street Monday as the Blanchard River remained put of its banks. Boats and tall trucks were the only means of transport in several parts of the Northwest Ohio city.

'Alice In Wonderland' will be staged at 7 p.m.

"Alice In Wonderland" will be staged at 7 p.m. today instead of 8:15 p.m. as stated on tickets, according to Cecelia McKenzie.

Mrs. McKenzie is president of the Spring City Theater Board of directors. SCT is sponsoring the production, which will feature members of the Dallas Theater Center in the cast. The production is set in the Municipal Auditorium.

Tickets for the performance may be obtained from members of Spring City Theater, at the door, or by calling 263-2321.

Dallas Theater Center is one of the most highly regarded resident professional theaters in America. Director Paul Baker founded the Center in 1959, and together with the group has compiled a unique and impressive record in modern theater.

"Alice in Wonderland" will spotlight the work of Dallas Theater Center's nationally recognized MimeAct.

At the theater center, and on tour, MimeAct has presented such acclaimed productions as "Lady Liberty," "Grimm's Fairy Tales," "Raggedy Ann and Andy," and "Interweave." "Scapino!," the show which has toured throughout the U.S., grew out of the work of MimeAct, and utilized many of its members in the cast.

The touring production of "Alice In Wonderland" is made possible in part through support of the Texas Commission of the Arts, and the National Endowment for the Arts, a Federal Agency, Washington, D.C.

Ruben Bonilla ending term as LULAC leader next week

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Ruben Bonilla — who has traveled more than 1 million miles the past two years trying to strengthen an Hispanic organization formerly looked on as a "Mexican-American Rotary Club" — hopes his philosophy will continue when he leaves office next week.

Bonilla — the most activist national president during the 52-year history of the League of United Latin American Citizens — says he hopes the organization will not revert back to a purely social organization.

Bonilla has traveled as far away as military bases in West Germany seeking to broaden the role of LULAC, pushing his "Hispanic Agenda for Domestic Equality" on Capitol Hill, encouraging membership of Cubans and Puerto Ricans, Germany, talking to Hispanics in Alaska, and establishing communications in Mexico and Central America.

"While LULAC has dramatically changed its image nationally the past two years, it would be ever so easy to fall back into what we call the 'Rotary syndrome,'" said the 35-year-old attorney whose term comes to an end with election of a new LULAC national president next Sunday in Albuquerque, N.M.

To keep LULAC on the new activist course he set for it, Bonilla is backing his brother and law partner, Tony Bonilla, 45, to succeed him as president of the nation's oldest and largest Hispanic organization. The pair's older brother, William Bonilla, also was national president of the organization in 1984.

LULAC, founded in Corpus Christi 52 years ago, now boasts more than 100,000 members in 42 states, and has moved outside the Continental United States for the first time to add members in West Germany, Alaska, Puerto Rico and Okinawa, Bonilla said.

During the early 1970s, LULAC was overshadowed by the vocal leaders of the "Brown Power" movement, such as Jose Angel Gutierrez who founded La Raza Unida Party at Crystal City, Texas.

But in recent years La Raza Unida and several other activist Chicano organizations faded away, leaving Bonilla and LULAC as primary spokesmen for Hispanics who are predicted to become the largest ethnic minority in the country this decade.

Enrollment of illegal aliens causing school overcrowding

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Local school officials say they have ended a remedial reading program and are considering half-day sessions to ease overcrowding that was worsened by illegal alien enrollment.

"We need 85 new classrooms," said Tom Keller, deputy superintendent of the Brownsville Independent School District. "We don't have money to do that (build them.) That's our real problem."

The district has enrolled 843 undocumented aliens since August under a federal judge's order which the U.S. Supreme Court agreed Monday to review.

The Supreme Court had agreed May 4 to use a case from Tyler in deciding whether states must provide free education to illegal alien children.

U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice ruled the Tyler district's tuition of $1,000 for each illegal alien was unconstitutional.

In the Brownsville case, U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals of Houston struck down a state law prohibiting use of public funds for illegal alien education.

Texas Attorney General Mark White, who is challenging the lower court rulings in both cases, had asked that they be considered together.

The Brownsville district enrolled almost 28,000 students as of May 31 and counted 833 illegal aliens from Mexico and 10 from other countries.

Local officials failed to get an exemption from Seals' order after telling local U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela the district would be adversely impacted by illegal aliens.

Keller said the Tyler case involved only a handful of children and did not adequately present the problems faced by districts along the Texas-Mexico border.

"We have a high child-adult ratio down here. The population is about 88,000 and we had 28,000 enrolled in public schools. In most parts of the country it's half that," he said.

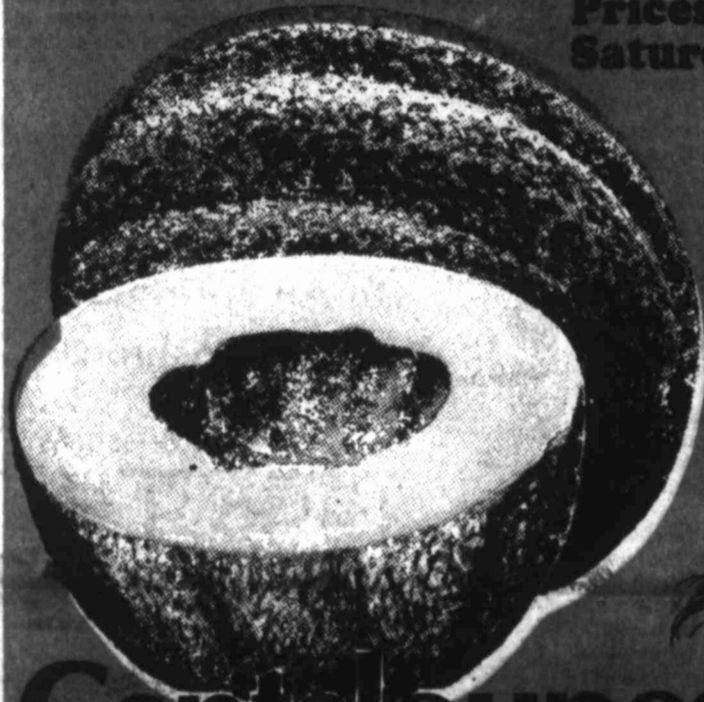

The school official said the district has asked for "impact" money from state and federal sources such as was given to communities with large numbers of resettled Cuban refugees.

Doggy in the Window Requires Much Care

DEAR ABBY: My name is Joshua and I am 7 years old. I want a dog but my mother says no. I really want one bad, Abby. I will take any kind. I promise to take care of it. How can I get my mother to let me have a dog?

WANTING A DOG

DEAR JOSHUA: Please answer these questions:
1. Who will prepare the dog's meals?
2. Will someone be home during the day to look after the dog?

3. If the dog is a puppy, someone will have to exercise it at least twice a day. Who will do it?

4. Who will pay for the dog's license, collar, shots, regular examinations at the vet's, and any emergency treatment the dog may need?

5. Who will pay the cost of spaying or neutering your pet to prevent the birth of more unwanted puppies in a nation that already has so many? Every day, thousands are "put to sleep."

6. Are you willing to obey all the laws concerning dogs, such as keeping it on a leash, and seeing that it doesn't do its "business" where it shouldn't?

7. Are you willing to care for the dog as long as it lives?

Important lessons are learned from having a pet, but it takes time, money and a willingness to accept responsibility to be a dog owner. Can you handle it?

DEAR ABBY: I was a Catholic widow who married a devout Catholic widower. The problem is he won't let me into our bedroom while he's dressing or undressing. And if he's in the room while I'm undressing, he turns his head. He acts as if it's sinful for us to see each other undressed.

I thought maybe time would improve the situation, but it has been years, and he's still the same.

I must admit that our sex life is wonderful — in the dark. This may not seem like much of a problem, but it makes me feel less of a wife, and I am hurt.

What is the official Catholic position on nudity, Abby? Perhaps the reason for my husband's attitude can be found there.

FRUSTRATED

DEAR FRUSTRATED: There is no Catholic doctrine on nudity. Nudity is the natural state and is so regarded in matrimonial affairs. Don't blame your husband's inhibitions on his religious upbringing. Leave well enough alone, lady. You're doing well where it counts.

...

DEAR ABBY: I just buried my beloved husband of 20 years, and here are some of the questions I was asked at the funeral:

1. Are you going to get married again?
2. Did your husband leave you fairly well fixed?
3. Will you have to get a job now?

4. Don't you think you should change your hair style? Abby, please tell people if they can't say something that will make the mourners feel better to shut up or stay home.

STILL IN SHOCK IN N.C.

DEAR STILL: You said it well. I'll pass it on.

DEAR ABBY: Why all the flak about the guy who was bowlegged and miserable? Now that Western clothes are in style, so are bowed legs. He should find himself a knock-kneed girl, and when they stand side by side, they will spell "OK."

BOWLEGGED AND HAPPY

(Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply, write to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.)

Genealogical Society hears of search for family history

Jack Gulley was the speaker for the Genealogical Society meeting Thursday in the conference room of the Howard County Library.

Gulley told the group how, when and why he started his search on his father's side of the family. His research has carried him on trips to Panama, and to the states of Ala., Ky., Miss., La. and N.C. He has made friends and found many of his relatives in these states. He told of visiting in some of the old homes of his ancestors in various states, and the remarkably good condition they were in.

Gulley traced back as far as his great, great, great-grandfather (the fourth Grandfather), who was William Gulley. He was born Feb. 10, 1737, in Johnson County, N.C. and died about 1800 as was reported in one family account. His will was dated 1821 and probated in 1822.

Jack displayed a file he had on his family in Panama, which contained a file of wills, land grants and other items from 1840 through 1845.

Mamie Roberts, president, presided over the meeting and a discussion was given by all members present of the need of acquiring more books on genealogy and state histories to be placed in the Howard County Library. Also, a discussion was conducted concerning a new membership drive for the society.

Mrs. Nadine Hodnett also talked about her family and her work on her family history.

New prospective members are invited to come to the next meeting, July 9 in the conference room of the Howard County Library.

Boys, girls taught to speak differently

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Girls and boys in America are still brought up to speak differently, says the June issue of "Seventeen" Magazine. Males tend to use a more direct, forceful way of talking, females a more tentative, questioning approach. What males typically phrase as a statement, females formulate as a request.

For instance, a female may say, "Is there a chance you might like to go to the movies tonight?" A male probably would put it, "Let's go to a movie tonight."

"From time immemorial, the way men talk has been

Official flower proposed

The dandelion, that scourge of fathers who tend summer gardens, was proposed as the official flower for Father's Day in June, 1924. That was the year that President Calvin Coolidge proclaimed the first national observance in honor of these parents sometimes regarded as down-trodden species.

The Coolidge proclamation followed a 13-year campaign by Mrs. John Bruce Dodd of Spokane, Wash., for such an observance. At the conclusion of the campaign, the citizens of Wilkesburg, Pa., proposed the dandelion as the official Father's Day flower because "the more it is trampled on, the more it grows." The proposal never took root, the dandelion giving way to the rose as a symbol for the occasion.

Nevertheless, father still seems slightly trampled. About 75 million greeting cards are sent on Father's Day compared to 125 million on Mother's Day, according to the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers.

Rebekahs award certificates

Three members of John A. Kee Rebekah Lodge No. 153 were presented certificates of perfection June 9 at a regular meeting. LaVelle Hill, district deputy president, presented the certificates to Mary Cole, Beatrice Bonner and Lois Hood.

Melicia R. Santellan, noble grand, presided over the 16 members present.

Juanita Hamlin, pro-tem recording secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting which were approved.

Eighteen visits to the sick were reported.

A memorial service was held by LaVelle Hill for members that passed on last year. Members assisting were Odelle LaLonde, Beatrice Bonner, W.C. and Mary Cole, Lois Hood and Brookie Martin.

A resolution of sympathy was read by Odelle LaLonde for James C. Clanton, the father of LaVerne Rogers.

A Resolution of Sympathy was read by Mary Leek for Mrs. M.S. (Grace) Warren, the mother of Estaline Rice and Leta Metcalf.

After the meeting closed in regular form, members enjoyed a salad supper.

Carpet life increases with regular cleaning

COLLEGE STATION — Get "knee deep" in carpet care, a home economist urges homeowners.

Many savings are the reward of learning how to clean your own carpet, significantly longer carpet life and aesthetic "face-saving" too, says Jane Berry, a housing and home furnishings specialist.

Dr. Berry is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Shampoo rugs every year or two to get rid of heavy dirt and grime. Vacuum or sweep the rug, before shampooing.

Before shampooing, though, check to see if the rug fades. Simply "test" a spot using the shampoo. Use clear warm water to rinse the suds by rubbing the spot with a clean damp sponge. Be sure the test spot is in a place usually not seen — such as a spot under a piece of furniture or in a closet.

Rinse the sponge and rub the patch again. Do this several times to make sure all dirt and detergent are out — but don't use too much water.

Let Debbie date her old flame

By Robert Wallace, Ed. D.

Jim, 16, from Merced, Calif., has some concerns about his girlfriend and would like some advice from his peers. Anne Wise, 16, from Weirton, W. Va., and Pete Stenkowski, 17, who resides in Springfield, Ohio, will do the honors.

Mona, Lynn Nancy, Mary ... — Dr. Wallace

Dr. Wallace: I have been going with Debbie for six months and she is a super nice person. We get along great and enjoy each other's company. We have yet to have our first serious fight.

About two weeks ago, Debbie's old boyfriend moved back to Merced and has been calling her. He says that he wants to take her out. Debbie wants to continue dating me but also would like to date her former boyfriend.

What should I do? I'm really confused and hurt. My mom says to drop her, my dad says to hang in there. — Jim, Merced, Calif.

Jim: Continue to date Debbie but allow her to see her former boyfriend as often as she wishes.

To deny her this, would put too much of a strain on your relationship with Debbie. Eventually, Debbie will make her choice. When Debbie is dating her "ex," you should be dating Janet.

Hi Jim: I see no reason why you shouldn't continue to date Debbie even though she may stray back to her old boyfriend. Just the reverse happened to me. My boyfriend broke up with me because he wanted to see his old girlfriend. We still dated and eventually got back together. But once I got him back and satisfied my ego, I dumped him. — Anne, Weirton, W. Va.

Hi Jim: You have nothing to lose by continuing to date Debbie but don't compete with her old boyfriend — just be your good old natural self. When Debbie is dating this other guy, you should be seeing the "sharpest" girl possible in Merced. Who knows, Miss "Sharpe," in a few months, may make you forget all about Debbie. — Pete, Springfield, Ohio.

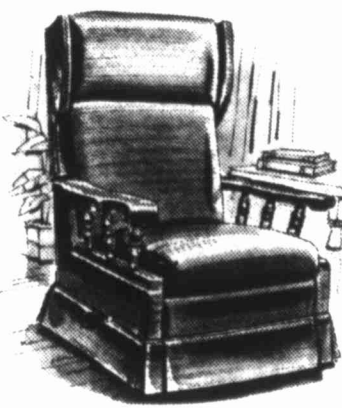

For Dr. Wallace's teen booklet, "Happiness or Despair," please send $1 and a 35-cent stamped, large, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Wallace in care of this newspaper.

Flying to New York to meet with other owners and end strike

Chiles tired of being passive

NEW YORK (AP) — Management and players were set to meet at the bargaining table today for the first time since the baseball strike began, and it was learned that another high-level meeting would take place in New York.

Baltimore Orioles owner Edward Bennett Williams, George Steinbrenner, owner of the New York Yankees, and perhaps Texas Rangers owner Eddie Chiles planned to meet today with baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn in an effort to get talks moving. There was a possibility that still more owners would join the summit.

Federal mediator Kenneth Moffett said negotiations would begin at 2 p.m. at the Doral Inn in New York. The two sides have not met since Friday, the first-day games were cancelled because of the strike.

Chiles told a Dallas radio station Monday that he no longer was content to take a passive role in the strike. He said "somebody has to do something to make things happen. I'm not content to sit back in Fort Worth and wait for something to happen in New York."

Through today, 64 games have been cancelled by the strike, 30 in the National League and 34 in the American League. Thus far, owners have shared in a mutual assistance fund set up more than a year ago to handle such a contingency. The fund provides about $100,000 per game to be shared by the two clubs.

Lubbock Monterey steals state baseball title

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The teacher taught the pupil how to play baseball as Lubbock Monterey's swift base stealers ran past defending champion Pearland 7-3 for the Class 5A state schoolboy baseball title.

The state championship games in Class A, 2A and 3A were set for today — the sixth day of a tournament that would have been over Friday except for postponements brought on by heavy rains. The tournament was the longest since play began in 1949.

Monterey stole four bases in squeezing seven runs out of three of its five singles against Pearland. The thefts gave the Plainsmen 13 for the two game tournament, breaking the record of 10 set by Austin High School 23 years ago.

Monterey had nine stolen bases in its semifinal victory over Nacogdoches Friday for a single game record. Two key Monterey plays came on sacrifice bunts in the first and third innings.

without a hit as Doug Hatch walked, stole second, went to third on a bad throw by catcher Jeff DeWills and scored on a sacrifice fly. Pearland's last chance at getting back in the game fizzled in the sixth when pinchhitter Ron Coker lined to second baseman Darrell Kitten with two out and the bases loaded.

2-0 until the fifth when two walks, a sacrifice bunt, Floyd Haman's two-out, two-run single and a passed ball by Estacado catcher Dewayne Slaughter allowed South San to score three runs on one hit for the 4A championship.

As age increases

Nicklaus changes priorities

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP) — There is a different feeling, a different outlook, for Jack Nicklaus in the U.S. Open this year.

U.S. Open, Nicklaus' matchless career appeared to be nearing an end. His game was, at best, questionable. At age 40, he hadn't won in two years. He was, he later admitted, considering retirement from the game he had dominated so long.

Nicklaus' stature as the dominant force in golf, at least insofar as the showcase Big Four events are concerned. He has not won this season. But that is not significant. "I changed my priorities several years ago," said Nicklaus, generally considered the finest player the game has known.

Los Angeles Coliseum — National Football League attorney Patrick Lynch seemed to be talking about another sport when he called Oakland Raiders' Managing General Partner Al Davis "ringwise and cagey."

the right to have a professional football team," Davis told the jury. Lynch, showing some counterpunching ability of his own, then asked Davis whether there was any reason to deprive the Oakland Coliseum of a football team.

Coliseum — which the Los Angeles Rams left to go to Anaheim in 1980. "He is a very ringwise witness, more ringwise than any I have been up against," Lynch said after the court session.

Delays NFL vs. CFL again

Rogers future hazy

MONTREAL (AP) — Wednesday before Rogers Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers, the No. 1 pick in the recent National Football League draft, has delayed a decision on his football future for at least a day.

Bill Putnam, executive vice-president of the Alouettes, said at the time he feared the NFL might pressure the Saints to sign Rogers because the league couldn't afford to lose another first-round pick to the CFL.

They had just finished five hours of questioning each other Monday, although it was supposed to be Lynch posing the questions in the U.S. District Court antitrust trial on the issue of the NFL's blocking the Raiders' planned move to the Los Angeles Coliseum last year.

Diehard Red Sox fan will outlive strike despite age

BOSTON (AP) — The only compensation Boston's No. 1 baseball fan, 87-year-old Dick Casey, will get out of the baseball strike is lower electric bills.

Casey has been on strike as well. "I should be dead now but baseball has kept me alive and I'll outlive this strike, too," he told the Boston Herald American in an interview published today.

Casey didn't make the big leagues, but played semi-pro ball for awhile until he got hit on the head and his mother told him to get a job with a department store.

Kutes and Brutes win 5-4 Tourney

The Kutes and Brutes captured the Third Annual 5-4 Tourney held the past weekend at Johnny Stone Park, defeating the second place Axelson team for that honor. Taking third place were the Bad News Bears.

Casey said team owners deserve some free agent compensation, but he said some owners are greedy. "I blame the owners," he said. "They think the fans will pay to see those big-salaried players, but I think it could ruin the game."

Chicago man files wild suit against baseball

CHICAGO (AP) — A Chicago man filed Monday a class action suit in Circuit Court which seeks to direct baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn to order major league baseball players to end their strike.

Chicago fans," claims Kuhn has the power to order an end to the strike, which began last Friday because of a dispute between club owners and the players over the degree of compensation to teams losing free agents in the re-entry draft.

wishes of baseball "owners, most players and all of the fans... and thus is contrary to the public interest and not in the best interests of baseball," the suit alleges.

Senate honors Tower

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower of Texas was honored by his colleagues Monday on the 20th anniversary of the day he was sworn into the U.S. Senate.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Arizona, led off the tribute for the Texas Republican, who began his duties on June 15, 1961, after winning a special election called to name a successor to Lyndon B. Johnson.

"He has made a great contribution to the Senate, to his state of Texas and to our great country," Goldwater said.

For almost an hour, senator after senator stood to add to the praise.

"It has been my pleasure for more than a decade to work with him. He's been a friend," said Texas' other senator, Lloyd Bentsen.

The fact he is a Democrat and Tower, is a Republican hasn't kept them from working together, Bentsen said.

"We have attempted and generally succeeded in reaching across party lines to serve the best interests of our country to me that's the type of accomplishment that's needed and that we can be proud of," Bentsen said.

"We've been able to foster that sort of relationship and make it work so well for so long. I thank him for the many courtesies he's extended to me over the years."

After the tribute had ended, Tower rose to thank his colleagues for their "kind words."

"Now I know what it feels like to be present and listen to your own funeral ceremony," Tower said.

"At occasions like this, you rarely say anything disparaging about the party in question, and my colleagues avoided saying a lot of things that they might have said. I thank them as much for what they did not say as for what they did," he chuckled.

Tower said he is thankful to have had the opportunity "to serve with men of such caliber in the world's greatest deliberative body."

AP strike is averted

NEW YORK (AP) — The Associated Press reached a tentative agreement with the Wire Service Guild and the United Telegraph Workers Union today, ending a strike threat after a 19-hour bargaining session.

The Guild had announced that a strike was imminent late last night with the expiration of the UTW contract at midnight.

The terms were not immediately announced. The Guild has been working under a contract since its old agreement expired Dec. 31.

Kenneth Kowalski, the federal mediator assigned to the talks, worked with the parties through the final bargaining session.

The two unions accepted tentatively, subject to ratification by their members, the two-year agreements.

Rusty Weir arraigned

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — A state district judge has continued bonds totaling $17,500 for Rusty Weir and two local men who pleaded innocent to charges stemming from a cocaine seizure at a March concert by the country-western singer.

All three were scheduled to be tried the first week of August on charges of possession of a controlled substance.

State District Judge Leonard Giblin Monday continued the $5,000 bonds under which Weir and 31-year-old Jake Julian Plaia of Beaumont were free. Bond of $7,500 was continued for Thomas Acquinas Deslattes, 29, of Nederland.

Beaumont police said they used a tip from a confidential informant to seize a small amount of cocaine from Weir's dressing room after a concert at the Beaumont Civic Center.

Giblin said a pre-trial hearing would be held to review the expected legal challenges to the search and seizure. Lum Hawthorne, attorney for the 37-year-old Austin singer, has contended the search was illegal.

GOOD BARBECUE AND FAST FRIENDLY SERVICE ...at Hickory House Barbecue in Big Spring

Hickory House barbecue has great quality food

If you get tired of the same old ham and cheese and indigestion sandwiches, or lumpy tomato soup that doesn't taste like any kind of tomato you ate as a child, treat yourself to traditional Texas barbecue at Hickory House Barbecue restaurant at 1611 E. 4th.

Hickory House Barbecue offers excellent lunch sandwiches — either for eating there or taking home. Chopped beef, sliced beef, sausage, and succulent ribs are a specialty. After years in Big Spring, Hickory House Barbecue, under the leadership of Travis Mauldin, has established itself as a popular eating place, somewhere where customers know they can trust the good food and friendly atmosphere.

Besides their barbecue specialties, a wide assortment of beverages and side dishes are available. They add to the complete, satisfying meals provided by the staff.

Another service provided by Hickory House is catering, for large and small functions. They will be glad to help you with parties or meetings. Just give them a call at 267-8921.

Hickory House Barbecue is located at 1611 E. 4th. Their hours are 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday thru Saturday. Come by and treat yourself. They have a drive-in window for your convenience.

Economists begin to offer rosier view of inflation

NEW YORK (AP) — Of all things, some of those economist people who have had so little good to say for so many months are now sounding as if there might be a future down the road.

The conventional wisdom may be changing. "On the inflationary front, the key question voiced by conventional wisdom now concerns how rapidly inflation will abate and how far volatile commodity prices will decline," says Merrill Lynch Economics.

This, it continues, "represents an abrupt shift from earlier attitudes which typically assumed double-digit inflation would persist indefinitely."

How true in that respect seems the comment by John Filer, Aetna Life & Casualty chairman — made when inflation and interest rates were soaring — that anyone who used existing trends to project the economic future could be making a fundamental mistake.

Based on conditions existing then, said Filer, it might sound preposterous to say that interest rates and inflation could fall sharply, but that possibility, he said, could never be dismissed.

Now, after a winter of economic gloom, Morgan Guaranty Trust offers the opinion that "Much evidence suggests that the recent ebbing in inflation is more than just a temporary dip." Reduced inflation, it says, "is a strong possibility for the year ahead."
