Mayo first in bareback event

Jaw-rattling action delights rodeo fans

By BILLELDER
Spectators ready to see some of the best rodeo competition around got what they came for at last night's opening of the 48th Annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo at the Howard County fairgrounds.

The rodeo bowl was about three-quarters full with fans of all ages, who, whether eight or 80, knew the special thrill a rodeo delivers and cheered wildly when the events delivered that thrill.

The crowd got to watch two-time world champ Paul Mayo hang on for first place in bareback riding. They got to see Lee Shepperd and Tutt Garnett of Austin provide some of the smoothest, fastest team roping on the circuit when they notched up a time of 8.6 seconds.

And they got all the thrills anyone could ask for in bull riding, as one thrashing bull after another threw his rider off, and then Art Ray of Keller and Roy Carter of Crockett split the pot by each hanging on for the full eight seconds.

The top placers in each of the categories:
BAREBACK RIDING — Putting himself in position for a shot at a projected first-place prize of $960 was Paul Mayo of Justin, who rode away with a score of 76 points out of a possible 100. Chuck Logue of Cumby came in second with 75 points, while Mike Flannigan of Fort Worth was third with 73 points. Ten cowboys competed.

CALF ROPING — Jim Cade of Sonora tied up the best time last night when he was clocked at 10.1 seconds. Paul Petaska of Carlsbad, N.M., was close behind with a time of 10.6, while Mike Grohosky of Irving was third. Ten ropers competed, vying for the top spot and a chance to take home a projected first-place prize of $2,840 Saturday night.

BARREL RACE — Martha Wright of Stephenville was awarded first place when she rounded the barrels and raced across the finish line in 17.90 seconds. Glenda Wiseman of Cypress clocked the second best time, 18.16, but was not competing with the pros since she entered as a Nestea contestant competing against several other Nestea entrants for scholarship money. Gail Petaska of Carlsbad, N.M., was the official second-place winner with 18.18 while Christi Fryar of Big Spring was third with 18.35. Twelve cowgirls competed for a shot at Saturday's projected first-place prize of $800.

SADDLE BRONC — Joe Spearman of Greenville held on long enough to earn 74 points out of a possible 100 and become last night's first-place finisher. Gary Williams of Okeechobee, Fla., came in second with 73 points and Jim Little of Fort Worth was third with 61 points. Seven cowboys competed for a chance to take home Saturday night's projected first-place prize of $704.

STEER WRESTLING — Randy McKenzie of Austin was the top bulldogger with a time of 6.1 seconds. Dale Cobb of Stephenville was second with 10.5 and Mark Wallace of Justin came in third with a time of 11.1. Ten cowboys competed for a shot at Saturday's projected top prize of $1,730.

TEAM ROPING — Lee Shepperd and Tutt Garnett of Austin shared the best time of 8.6 seconds, followed by Kent and Arlan Youngblood of Lamesa at 10.7 and David

BAD TUMBLE — Danny Mason of Mineral Wells took a spill Wednesday night that had the rodeo crowd on the edge of its seat. Mason was thrown off his bull, landed on the bull's back, and then narrowly missed being trampled by the bull inside its spin.

Leeton of Marfa and Junior Campbell of El Paso at 11.8. Ten teams competed for Saturday's top prize of $3,120.

BULL RIDING — Art Ray of Keller earned 90 points with a masterful ride that won him the first-place prize of $190. Roy Carter of Crockett split the pot with an 82-point ride.

Following are the scores for each qualifying participant in all of last night's events, with the best scores listed at the top of each category:

Life is a backache for champion rodeo rider

By BILLELDER
Life is a backache for the professional rodeo rider. Just ask 39-year-old Paul Mayo, who's been in rodeo competition for half his life and suffered a ruptured disk, temporary paralysis and assorted bruises — all for the love of a few seconds on the back of a bucking animal.

It's those injuries, however, that have shaped him into what he is today, earning him the respect of fellow rodeo riders and sharpening his talent to the point where he's become one of the top bareback and saddle bronc riders around.

A two-time world champion (1966 and 1970) in Oklahoma City, Mayo rode away with last night's best score in the Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo's bareback category, earning 76 points and a good shot at first place in the four-night competition.

There's every reason to believe that Mayo will emerge from the circuit of about 400 rodeos and 5,000 cowboys and find himself one of the top 15 bareback riders hanging on for the money in the national finals. After all, Mayo's been to Oklahoma City 10 times already.

'Everything was going so fast. I just blacked out.'

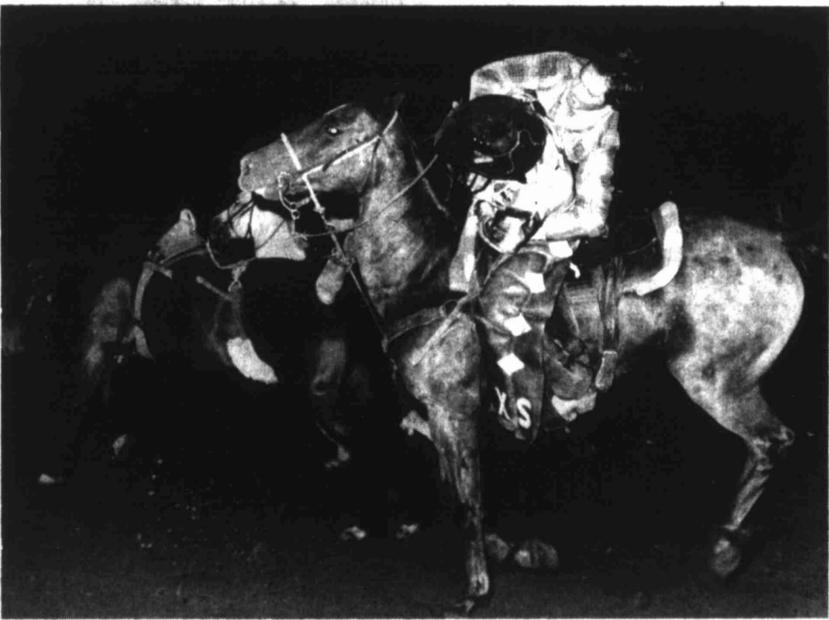

You just can't keep a good bareback rider down — especially one who once got thrown on his head from 15 feet in the air and wound up paralyzed on his right side.

Mayo recovered and came back to the circuit to become one of the select few sharp enough at barebacking to earn a living from it.

Of course it means life on the road for Mayo, who's single and travels the circuit for about 11 months a year — a lonely, trying experience which can wear down some men like no bucking bronc ever could. Stamina on and off the horse is called for.

Mayo exemplifies that stamina.
"Your professional lifespan, when you do what Paul does, is about that of a professional football player. As soon as you hit 30, you start to go downhill. He's really an exception," says rodeo clown Quail Dobbs, who's followed Mayo around on the circuit for a number of years and watched him hang on for the money.

Mayo says he turned pro at 16 in the Cheyenne, Wyo., rodeo, after a spell as an amateur in Grinnell, Iowa, where he was raised. Most riders turn pro around 20, he explained.

RESCUED AFTER WIN — Paul Mayo gets picked up after delivering his winning performance in bareback riding in last night's rodeo opener. Mayo took 76 out of 100 points, making him the leader in bareback competition for the four-night event.

Breaking into the big time in Cheyenne was fortunate because it gave Mayo a taste of the money available to the best riders in the larger rodeos.

"We judge a rodeo by the added prize money. Cheyenne's the largest rodeo around, so it's the best," he said Wednesday evening as he waited for his chance to ride. The winner in bareback competition at Cheyenne can expect to take home about $18,000, he said.

But it's not the kind of job that brings you much of a profit, and every single one of the cowboys knows that.

The expense of going from rodeo to rodeo eats up a lot of their earnings. They're in this business because they never become who they are until they straddle the horse or bull in the chute and experience the adrenalin-rush of dropping onto the animal's back.

He remembers the first time he straddled a tense, kicking horse with an idea of holding on to it with one hand for a few seconds — a "simple feat" only to those who've never done it. As soon as the gate pulled back and Mayo and the horse bolted into the bright lights, everything

"Everything was going so fast. I just blacked out," he recalled. Mayo didn't stay on.

He still has nights when he can't stay on.
"Sometimes there's nothing you can do—the horse just beats you," said Mayo's friend, Buddy Reynolds.

That wasn't the case last night, when two-time world champ masterfully rode a kicking horse named Jingles. The next jingle Mayo is likely to hear is the kind of jingle you hear at the bank.

Supreme Court rules women can be excluded from draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Women can be excluded from military draft registration and any military draft, the Supreme Court ruled today.

By a 6-3 vote, the justices ruled that the Military Selective Service Act is unconstitutional.

Today's decision overturned a lower court's ruling that the act is an unconstitutional form of sexual discrimination against men.

The nation's highest court said Congress can require young men to register for possible military service and require them to serve even though young women face no such obligations.

Noting that Congress enjoys the greatest deference from the courts in matters of national defense, Justice William H. Rehnquist wrote for the court: "Men and women, because of the combat restrictions on women, are simply not similarly situated for the purposes of a draft or registration for a draft."

Rehnquist added that "the exemption of women from registration is not only sufficiently but closely related to Congress' purpose in authorizing registration."

"The fact that Congress and the executive have decided that women should not serve in combat fully justifies Congress in not authorizing their registration," he said, "since the purpose of registration is to develop a pool of potential combat troops."

Rehnquist was joined by Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justices Potter Stewart, Harry A. Blackmun, Lewis F. Powell and John Paul Stevens.

Justices William J. Brennan, Byron R. White and Thurgood Marshall dissented.

Camp proves cheerleading not all rah-rah-rah

By CAROL HART

Sharon Garrett, head instructor at the Howard College-National Cheerleaders Association Camp, under way now in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum, has been a cheerleader since her high school days in San Antonio.

Ms. Garrett said she was chosen by the NCA during a camp she attended in high school. This is her eighth year working with the NCA, an organization which "has very little turnover," she said.

The opportunity to work with the NCA is open to every girl attending the local camp. Instructors keep an eye out for enthusiastic cheerleaders who really seem to enjoy what they are doing, said Ms. Garrett. Those who excel during the camps are given applications to join the National Cheerleaders Association.

The NCA sponsors more than 200 camps around the world for cheerleading squads, said Ms. Garrett. Instructors are sent across the United States, including Alaska and Hawaii, and camps are also conducted in Europe.

Since Ms. Garrett has been with the NCA for eight years, she is one of several instructors who get a choice in where they are sent. She is now a teacher at a San Antonio high school, and said "I like to stay around Texas. I like the kids here." She chose the Howard College camp, and said she is glad she did.

"The campus people have been fantastic," she said, adding that Howard College personnel brought banana splits to the girls one day, and have provided lemonade breaks, instead of water breaks.

Most camps are conducted outside in stadium fields, Ms. Garrett added, saying she appreciated working inside the coliseum.

"I'm going to request this camp again." Ms. Garrett continued in cheerleading at Angelo State University, and is now a cheerleader sponsor at the San Antonio high school in which she teaches.

Other instructors in Big Spring from the NCA are Mary Ann Rice, a dance major at Southern Methodist University; Regina Villareal, a cheerleader at the University of New Mexico; Billy Smith, a cheerleader for Texas Tech, and Jarilyn Henson, a cheerleader for New Mexico State University.

There are 144 girls and eight sponsors working with the instructors on a daily basis. The camp began Monday, and will continue through Thursday. The day begins at 8:15 a.m., with stretching exercises, said Ms. Garrett. Girls then practice two cheers, three sideline chants, go through a jump class, a pom routine, and a gymnastics class, all before lunch break.

A workshop begins at 3 p.m., and continues until 5 p.m. Instructors walk around helping various squads during this time. From 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m., the squads are evaluated daily. The group also plans a talent show and a style show before the camp comes to a close.

Squads attending the Howard College-National Cheerleaders Association camp are from Big Spring High, Coahoma, Sands, Floydada, Miles, Paint Rock, Grady, Garden City and Loop.

Others are from Frosan, Sterling City, Rankin, Winters, Olton, Colorado City, Denver City and Sonora.

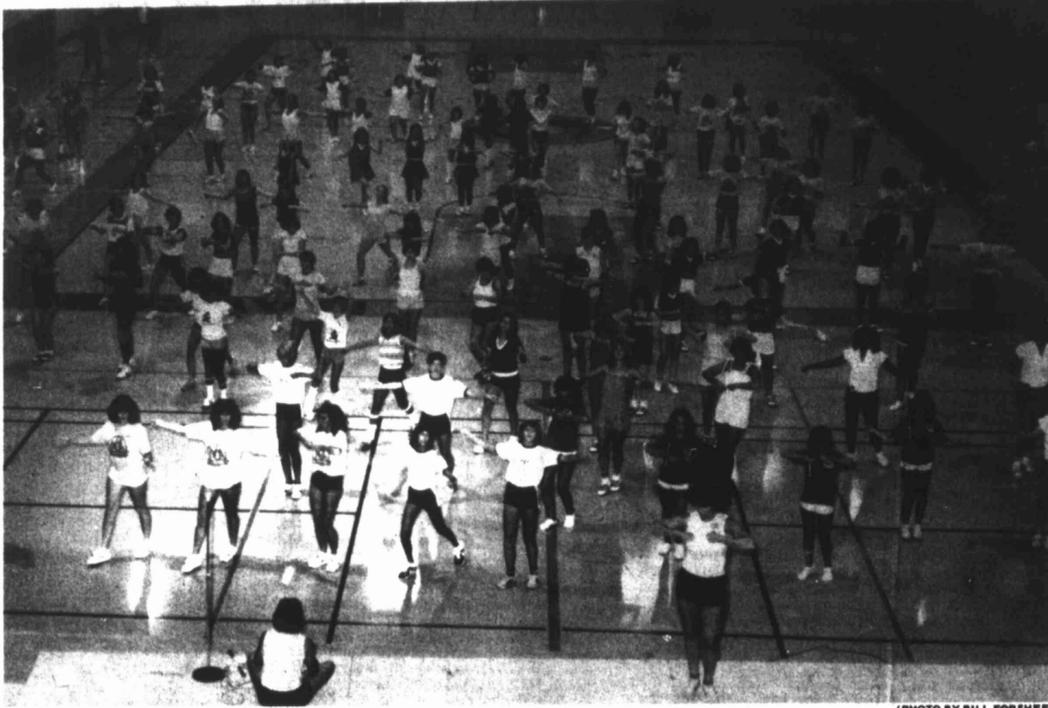

Howard College coordinators include Anne Applegate, secretary to the assistant dean of students at HC, and Julie Bailey.

During practice Tuesday, a Coahoma squad, composed of Rita Uranga, Tobie Henry, Stephanie Dobbs, Donna Myers, Ronda Fowler, Lavana Ball, talked about the camp.

Miss Dobbs said "It's been lots of fun, but we've been working hard." Miss Henry added that the instructors "have made it fun."

Miss Uranga said one reason the hard work was worthwhile was because "I've gotten closer with my own squad."

Another reason the camp was important was "we've met a lot of people," said Miss Fowler. The girls all agreed with "we're sore, and tired, but we've had a good time."

CHEERLEADING CAMP—Cheerleaders from several towns across the state are in Big Spring attending the Howard College-National Cheerleaders Association cheerleading camp, which is set to conclude this evening. Sharon Garrett, San Antonio, is head director for the camp, which runs from 8:15 a.m. to 9 p.m. daily. (PHOTO BY BILL FORSHNER)

Local auction owner one of six facing theft of cattle charges

ANSON—Six men, including C.A. Rees, owner of the Big Spring Livestock Auction Co., have been indicted here for "engaging in organized criminal activity" resulting from the alleged theft of cattle and a livestock trailer.

Others named as defendants in the indictments were Melvin Gray, a San Angelo attorney; R. L. Goble, Abilene; Everett Mitchell Price, Abilene; and T.L. Steward, San Angelo.

Goble, Shields and Price are oil field workers. A spokesman for the 25th District Attorney's office in Anson identified Steward as a former ranch worker.

Then, according to the indictment, Goble and Price located cattle and a trailer May 28 in Jones County. The stock and trailer were owned by Dr. J.C. Duff. Goble, according to the indictment, told Shields he had located the cattle and trailer and agreed to deliver them to Shields in San Angelo.

Change in total behavior a must

A Baylor College of Medicine scientist, John Foreyt, says that the key to losing weight and keeping it off is to change total behavior, not just eating habits. Foreyt is also director of the Methodist Hospital Diet Modification Clinic.

"Losing weight requires a complete change in lifestyle and principles and can take years. It is one of the hardest things people try to do," Foreyt said.

THE ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR of medicine at Baylor recently completed a study of the effectiveness of the program in which behavior modification is taught and found that it was successful for a majority of the program participants. More than 70 percent of the patients maintained their weight loss or continued to lose weight one year after completing the program.

The study also found that women have a lot harder time losing weight than men and that, contrary to belief, people who have been overweight all their lives may not find it more difficult to shed poundage.

By making changes in their behavior, Foreyt said that people must avoid the food table at a party, or reading and exercising instead of eating when distressed.

He also found that a person's sex and the amount of weight he or she wants to lose can influence success at shedding pounds.

As a general rule, the average weight loss was relatively modest (under 20 pounds) and the program was not always successful, especially among women.

Three times more males than females in the program were successful in achieving their goal weight.

FOREYT ATTRIBUTED THAT to the fact that men are prone to have less body fat than women and the distaff side is around food more than men.

Foreyt's study also confirmed that the more weight someone wants to lose, the harder the task becomes. Only two percent of the patients who wanted to lose more than 30 pounds achieved their goal. One woman, however, lost 100 pounds.

The key word in any weight-losing campaign, as it is in almost any endeavor, is "discipline." Those who cannot discipline themselves in following any regime are doomed to disappointment and failure.

WASHINGTON — International terrorism has been proclaimed the No. 1 target of the Reagan administration's foreign policy. Yet our own clandestine services may have contributed to the spread of terrorism.

As I first reported last October, two CIA renegades, Ed Wilson and Frank Terpil, have used the grisly expertise they gained in their undercover work to help such bloodthirsty despots as Libya's Muammar Qaddafi and Uganda's Idi Amin dispose of their opponents. They have also enlisted the services of other former CIA men and green berets to train gangs of terrorists.

What is most disturbing is that the CIA has done nothing to halt this macabre moonlighting and may even have condoned it. There is evidence, for example, that these merchants of death had close contacts with high-level U.S. officials as they planned and executed their terrorist training operations.

IN FEBRUARY, THE frustrated star witness in the Terpil-Wilson gun-running prosecution, an ex-CIA analyst named Kevin P. Mulcahy, approached my associate Dale Van Atta with shocking details of the FBI's bungled investigation of the case.

Mulcahy also talked to Seymour Hersh of The New York Times, whose recent articles have confirmed many of the facts I had previously reported. From what Mulcahy divulged, it became clear that the Terpil-Wilson case was being properly pursued only by a pair of courageous investigators for the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms named Richard Pedersen and Richard Wadsworth.

One thing the two sleuths concluded was that the investigative agencies involved — Customs, BATF and the FBI — were not cooperating. "From the perspective of the current investigation," they wrote in a secret memorandum, "the extent of the problem appears to be much greater than recognized, and is compounded by conflicting agency jurisdictional responsibilities."

Despite the widening ramifications of the Terpil-Wilson case, neither the White House nor congressional intelligence committees seem to feel the need for a special effort to get to the bottom of the case. What's needed may be a special prosecutor not confined to the narrow limits of indictable offenses, but whose job would be to expose the whole sorry mess.

Here are some of the things that should be explored through a coordinated investigative effort:

A theft ring has been operating at the supersecret naval weapons facility at China Lake, Calif., where James Bond-type devices are developed for the CIA and other agencies. China Lake employees and ex-employees have been stealing and selling explosives, night vision devices and electronic gear to Libya, according to secret Justice Department files.

TERPIL AND WILSON are "known to bribe U.S. government officials to enhance their businesses," according to secret files that identified two specific cases. Mulcahy hinted that the arms merchants may have bribed members of Congress and bugged Army supply panel meetings.

A government witness, who had been "less than candid with the FBI" when questioned about allegations that a CIA official accepted payoffs from Wilson, had a change of heart and told investigators he had "disbursed $8,000 — in cash — in the lobby of the Page Building in Vienna, Va." The alleged bribe went to the suspected CIA official and others, the witness testified.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I was into the drug scene pretty heavily, but I gave my life to Christ and left all that behind me a couple of years ago. Now, however, the temptation to get involved with drugs is becoming stronger. What can I do? — L.I.

DEAR L.I.: I believe you need first of all to see the real source of these temptations. The temptation to turn your back on Christ and get back into drugs is coming ultimately from Satan himself.

More than anything else, Satan's goal is to defeat people spiritually. He tried to do that once before in your life by keeping you from Christ, and now he will do all he can to drive you away from Christ.

Don't believe Satan, no matter how much he tries to convince you that your old way of living is better than what you have as a child of God. The Bible reminds us that Satan "was a murderer from the beginning, not holding to the truth, for there is no truth in him. When he lies, he speaks his native language, for he is a liar and the father of lies" (John 8:44).

Instead, note closely what the Bible tells us in James 4:7-8, 10: "Submit yourselves, then, to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. Come near to God and he will come near to you... Humble yourselves before the Lord, and he will lift you up." Note what we are to do: "Submit... Resist... Come near to God... Humble yourselves..." In other words, as we draw closer to God and turn our backs on Satan and his temptations, we find that Satan no longer has as much power or authority over us.

Big city champs

A woeful lament for the plight of the cities went up from the Conference of Mayors in Louisville last week. But all signs indicate that politically the best-known big city leaders are doing brilliantly. How come?

Majority politics seems to be the answer. Most of the mayors have learned how to identify themselves with fiscal responsibility by going against what are widely regarded as giveaways to unions, bureaucrats and minority groups.

The troubles of the great cities are not being overstated. Cleveland, Detroit, New York and Chicago have all recently been on the verge of bankruptcy. Schools and transit systems have been temporarily shut down in Philadelphia, Chicago and Cleveland.

Crime batters in Miami, New York, Los Angeles and Detroit.

EVEN MORE striking, though, is the political success of the big league mayors. It is not merely that George Voinovich of Cleveland, Jane Byrne of Chicago and William Green of Philadelphia are much more popular than the hapless figures who were their immediate predecessors. Edward Koch of New York has just been endorsed for re-election by both Democratic and Republican parties.

Tom Bradley of Los Angeles won re-election without a runoff and is a fair bet to be the next governor of California.

A tough stance on financial questions is one obvious reason for the high standing of the mayors. Messrs.

Green and Voinovich and Ms. Byrne have been squeezing hundreds of millions out of city budgets. Mr. Koch has achieved — on paper, at least — a surplus. Compared to those who went before, those now at city hall come on as scrooges.

In making economies, most have had the skill to take on groups that are little loved. Labor, first of all. Byrne took a three-day strike in order to cut down on the cost-of-living adjustments to transit workers in Chicago.

Mr. Bradley won a public referendum against increases in police and fire pensions. Green held pay increases in Philadelphia to zero during the past year. Koch counts as his chief enemies in the Big Apple the labor lawyer Theodore Kheel, and the head of the municipal unions, Victor Gotbaum.

Bureaucratic structures provide a second target of opportunity. Most major cities parcel out power among a network of independent authorities.

Courts and judges also have a say. These institutions regularly draw the fire of successful mayors. Judges and the transit authority are favorite punching bags for Koch. Green has publicly invited members of the Philadelphia school board to quit so he can appoint his own people. Byrne won a victory over Gov. Jim Thompson of Illinois by asserting influence inside the municipal transit authority.

Even Kevin White, the much harassed, veteran mayor of Boston, has been able to score points at the expense of the school board there.

LASTLY THERE ARE the minority groups receiving assistance in the big cities — especially, at least in the North, the blacks. The subject is a delicate one, and I should emphasize that what follows is strongly impressionistic. Still my impression is that in the major cities, mayors are skillful in using the local identity of home in the native style, so to speak — can win approval by showing that minorities do not receive special favors.

Koch came out of the pack in New York by asserting himself — in opposition to most black figures — as being for the death penalty. Since then, in the feisty way dear to New Yorkers, he has said of blacks the kind of things that has earned him the sobriquet "urban redneck."

Bradley, a black himself, personifies the more "laid-back" style of the West Coast. It is notable that he did not lift a finger to stop the action by white suburbanites that brought the end of busing in Los Angeles.

Byrne specializes in the dramatic assertion of personal authority that suits the Chicago style. Her move to a public housing project expresses the community's belief in equal access to municipal services — but without making any serious change in the status quo.

If this view is correct, the solution of urban problems — the improvement of schools, transit and personal security — does not follow what the best-known mayors are doing. Rather the actions of municipal leaders testify to the nature of present-day politics.

Increasingly beset by incomprehensible problems, and more and more split from party affiliations and separated from each other by the privatizing force of television, Americans project their hopes and frenzies on individual leaders. In the great cities the mayors are urban champions doing combat for ordinary people against the system.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

Here is a shocker that few people know about. Try it on for size and see how much dust the tax (Social Security tax) payers kick up. How would you like to get your house rent, utilities bills, groceries and all clothing provided at no cost, and on top of that receive more than $300 per month? Put all this together and it adds up to a pretty hefty income with no tax deductions of any kind.

The following information was taken from The Spotlight (June 22nd issue) which is published by Liberty Lobby in Washington, D.C.

Did you know that a large portion of your Social Security Tax dollars goes toward providing a cash living for some prison inmates? Yes. Even those convicted for murder, rape and other heinous crimes. Consider this. "Son of Sam" David R. Berkowitz, a psychotic murderer who was sentenced to more than 300 years in prison for slaying six persons in New York City, collects more than $300 a month in Social Security disability benefits, for his mental impairment.

There are many others doing likewise. According to the Liberty Lobby report, there are more than ten percent of the prison inmates on your (the Social Security tax payer) payroll. The point I want to make is: These criminals who are supposed to be paying a debt to society are receiving full Social Security benefits, while you the taxpayer provides him with food, shelter and clothing at no cost to him. That adds up to a healthy income. He has no taxes to pay, no house rent or payments, no grocery bills, no utilities. All of these with compliments from you, the taxpayer.

There is one ray of hope that we can look forward to. We do have one legislator in D.C. who is trying to do something about this situation. He is Congressman James Collins, of Texas. He has introduced a bill (HR 3274) that if approved and is put into the law will prohibit the payment of Social Security benefits to prison inmates.

We (the voting public) can do a great deal toward getting this bill (HR 3274) passed. Write to your legislators and let them know that you want them to support this bill when it comes before them.

Carol Hart

It's rodeo week, and the nothing-to-do post-Centennial blues are officially over, at least through Saturday.

According to Charlie Creighton, one of the original members of the rodeo board of directors, and president of the board now, the Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion came dangerously close to not being staged this year. Creighton said that the price of gasoline (and just about everything else) had skyrocketed so that it's been getting harder and harder each year to conduct the rodeo. Creighton said that the rodeo board of directors thought seriously about cancelling the rodeo this year.

BUT, THANK GOODNESS, the 48th annual Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion squeaked past the cutting board, with the rodeo directors putting their heads together and coming up with solutions about how to save the local rodeo from an untimely death.

One thing that had to go was the big name entertainers, who had been featured locally in the past. Bob Lewis, who is handling public relations for the rodeo, said those big name entertainers have priced themselves way out of range for many rodeos.

But the heart of the rodeo remains intact. Many of the top 15 cowboys in the nation in calf roping, bull riding, team roping, saddle bronc riding, bareback riding, steer wrestling and steer roping will be here through Saturday. These are the guys who can say "yes ma'am" when some girl walks up to them in Gilley's and asks them if they are "real cowboys."

And the top women rodeo riders will also be present, as barrel racing will be one of the featured events during rodeo week.

RODEOS PROVIDE LOTS of entertainment. There's the grand entry when area residents ride their horses in file, joined by rodeo personalities, the board of directors and a color guard. And there's the clowns and the music and the crowds.

The cowboys and cowgirls themselves who are appearing here will be trying to accumulate enough points to remain at the top. And that means heavy competition. Plus, the rodeo will offer specials, like tonight's Centennial night, and Friday's special tribute to Big Spring's own Toots Mansfield, a rodeo legend soon to be inducted into the National Cowboy Hall of Fame.

Like Lewis said, and was quoted early this week, "When cowboys talk about good rodeos, they talk about the Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion."

Cluster headache: Special kind

Dear Dr. Donohue: I have a nephew who has cluster headaches. Now they are getting more numerous. Could you explain them, and if possible treatment for them? Do you know of medicine for them? — Mrs. K.M.

Cluster headaches are headaches that occur in periodic clusters. There may be severe headaches several times in one day lasting from 30 minutes to three hours. They may keep coming for several weeks or months, then suddenly disappear.

They differ in many respects from ordinary tension or migraine headaches. They often appear two to three hours after going to bed. In contrast to the migraine sufferer, who prefers quiet during attacks, the person with cluster headaches keeps moving around. As with migraine, though, the cluster headache is often one-sided. The eye of the headache side may water and the nose may become stuffed up. For unknown reasons cluster headaches occur more often in the spring and summer months.

Medicines to ease cluster headaches are numerous: methysergide, ergotamine, steroids in small doses, lithium, propranolol (Inderal) and cyproheptadine are examples. Some get relief from breathing pure oxygen (which should be prescribed). I am sure one of these drugs or a combination of them will give your nephew some relief. Sometimes the headache clusters may disappear for years at a time, which is the only kind light I can put on them.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Would you tell me if a severe case of heat stroke could happen to a person again? — D.S.

A heat stroke is a true emergency. What many people call heat stroke really isn't that at all. With heat stroke, the person is quite confused or even unconscious. The skin is red, hot and dry. The temperature gets quite high (often above 104).

I shortened your letter. Hope you don't mind. What you describe sounds more like heat exhaustion — weakness, sweating, nausea and vomiting. With this, the skin is usually damp with perspiration and the temperature is only slightly elevated, even normal. This is much less serious than heat stroke.

Because this happened to you means that you may be more susceptible to the effects of heat. So yes, definitely take precautions when you are in the sun or in very hot weather. Wear a hat. Keep yourself well-hydrated. If you feel yourself getting too warm, sit down, rest and sip some water. That's good advice for anyone, whether he has had heat sickness or not.

Headaches — you can beat them! Write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "How to Tame Headaches." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Psychologist opens Brown Bag Specials

Dr. Ron Cohorn, clinical psychologist, opened the Brown Bag Specials for this year with the topic, "Coping With Stress and Depression."

Brown Bag Specials are lunch-time programs sponsored jointly by Texas Electric Service Company and Howard County Extension Service. The meetings are Wednesdays at noon in the TESCO Reddy room. Participants are asked to bring a lunch, partake of the coffee and tea supplied by the sponsors and enjoy each program.

Dr. Cohorn received his education at Texas Tech through a doctorate (Ph.D.) He was the director of outpatient services at Big Spring State Hospital until four years ago when he went into private practice at Malone-Hogan Clinic. Cohorn has done studies on suicide, alcoholism and brain damage in psychiatric patients and has had several articles published in these fields. He is a member of the American Psychiatric Association, was chosen Outstanding Young Man of the Year in 1974 and was in Who's Who in the South and Southwest in 1975.

Dr. Cohorn began his presentation with a definition of stress, a word that is used a lot, meaning pressure or tension. Stress is anything that starts the body working faster than it's supposed to. The pulse rate is faster, movement is faster, like walking, and talking is faster.

In his private practice at Malone Hogan Clinic, Dr. Cohorn said, "I often begin by teaching people how to take care of themselves. Each one needs to have the ability to tell people what he needs to make him comfortable. In today's society most people are over-committed because of an inability to say 'no.' A certain amount of stress is necessary to get things done, and it's really OK to do things that put you under stress if you have made the decision to and want to do it."

Routine sometimes causes stress, doing the same things the same way day after day. Cohorn advises a break up of routine to break the tedium of life. "Today, people are so busy living that they can't find time to really 'live,'" he continued.

Another stressful situation is caused by people not taking time to relax, and actually feeling guilty if they do. Cohorn stressed that it's really OK to take out ten minutes just to sit in a chair and relax and think about things that are pleasant.

Everybody doesn't feel stress in the same way. Some have a stiff neck, some experience stomach distress and other have headaches. Cohorn stated that it is important for one to be aware of the signals of distress that his body sends out. Studies have proved that if tension level is too high, efficiency suffers. He suggests that persons review themselves sometimes under stress and learn to deal with the symptoms by deliberately relaxing.

Many times people create their own stressful situations by being perfectionistic and each has a rigid adherence to self-made rules. He advised that life is a series of things that have to be done over and over and over again and there is never going to come a time when everything gets all done up this side of the final curtain. "Is it OK to take a day and say 'I'm not going to do anything today?' Of course it is," stated Cohorn.

Many create stress by worrying about "What they will think?" Who are they? Most people of the area really don't know who you are and are concerned about their own problems. It is important to get in touch with who you are, what you want, what's good for you and what's going to make you feel good.

Stress is created by worry and guilt. Worry is concern over something in the future that may not happen anyway.

Techniques to handle stress were given by Dr. Cohorn. One of them was to live for today. The past is no place to live in. Yesterday is waste of time and tomorrow may never come, so all we have today to live in.

Symptoms of depression are early morning awakening, eating compulsive or loss of appetite altogether, loss of interest, withdrawal from people, cessation of hobbies, self depreciation and suicidal thoughts. Also lack of desire to do anything and a hatred of self.

FIESTA del CONCHO — Miss Texas Teen, Felicia Ford, made a special appearance at the Fiesta del Concho in the San Angelo Convention Center last week. Felicia placed third in the adults' division of the Fiesta del Concho Talent show Friday night, tying with the San Angelo trio, "The Glory Gang." Felicia sang "You're Beautiful" by Carole King, winning $50.

Mushrooms make an appetizer

While your guests wait for dinner, serve them Blue Cheese-Stuffed Mushrooms. Select two dozen, good-sized caps; wash and dry, then sprinkle lightly with salt. Combine one-half cup (1 stick) butter and one-fourth cup (1/2 oz.) crumbled blue cheese; beat until smooth. Stir in one-half cup herb-seasoned stuffing and one tablespoon finely chopped onion. Spoon about one and one-half tablespoons into each mushroom cap. Bake 10 to 15 minutes in preheated 400 degree F. oven. Remove from baking sheet and serve immediately. (Yield: 24)

For the record

The Herald misspelled the name of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tamplin in the write-up of their 40th wedding anniversary June 14. In addition, an invitation for friends of the couple to attend the celebration was inadvertently left out.

The Herald sincerely regrets the error and the omission plus any embarrassment or inconvenience these may have caused family and friends.

Little Lady Wants A Place of Her Own

DEAR ABBY: The mother of a friend is a lovely lady of 82. She is sweet, gentle, alert and is not ailing physically. She takes turns living with her children, who love her dearly, but she is very unhappy.

She feels that she is "in the way," but whenever she mentions going to a retirement home, her children insist that elderly parents belong with their families, not in "institutions with strangers."

The little lady appreciates everything her children do for her, but says she wants a place of her own, however tiny. She wants to feel independent.

Her children are well-to-do and could afford to keep her in a very nice retirement home, but they refuse to consider it. Please comment, Abby. The elderly lady says her children read your column.

A FRIEND

DEAR FRIEND: Aging parents who are in good health and able to look after themselves "belong" where they want to be, if they have a choice. With most, independence means survival.

DEAR ABBY: Paul and I have been living together for two years and we're very happy. We have no intention of marrying because we both feel that we don't need a piece of paper to prove we love each other. We plan on being together for the rest of our lives, but we realize we could break up anytime.

I have three children from a previous marriage who live with us, and they are the problem. Paul's parents have accepted me, but they have never accepted my children. I am invited to all the family gatherings, but my children are excluded. If I refused to go, Paul wouldn't go either, and I don't want to be the cause of any arguments between Paul and his parents.

How can I make these people accept my children? Please don't say that Paul should speak to them. I've asked him to, but he finds one excuse after another and keeps asking me to give his parents more time. Well, I think two years is long enough, and I'm tired of having my children ignored and hurt. I can't handle it any longer. What do you suggest?

DISGUSTED WITH PAUL'S PARENTS

DEAR DISGUSTED: Paul's spineless attitude doesn't say much for Paul, so you will have to decide whether to continue having your children ignored and hurt, or insist that they be treated as part of your family. Paul's parents are obviously trying to discourage the relationship between you and Paul by ignoring your children. If he permits it, he is choosing his parents over you; if you permit it, you are choosing Paul over your children.

DEAR ABBY: Norma married George. George's sister Emma married Pete. George and Pete are brothers-in-law. What is the relationship between Norma and Pete? Is Pete Norma's brother-in-law?

Please settle the argument.
C.S. IN LA MARQUE, TEXAS

DEAR C.S.: Yes. A brother-in-law is
1. the brother of one's spouse;
2. the husband of one's sister;
3. the husband of one's spouse's sister.

John and Juanita Dibrell

A PART OF HOWARD COUNTY'S HERITAGE

Fri. June 26

COME BY AND VISIT WITH THEM BETWEEN 10 A.M. AND 4 P.M.

For the first five years that John and Juanita Dibrell lived in Big Spring, Dibrell was head football coach at Big Spring High School. The couple then opened Dibrell's Sporting Goods in 1947, and kept the store running until 1979, when they sold the business.

Dibrell brought quite a background in the sports field with him when he came to Big Spring. He coached high school football at Colorado City, Post, and college ball at the Shreiner Institute in Kerrville. Dibrell was also varsity end coach at the University of Texas.

While coaching at UT, Dibrell began dating the woman he would later wed. The couple had met for the first time when Mrs. Dibrell was visiting in Kerrville. They corresponded, and later ran into each other at the registrar's office at UT.

The Dibrells have two children, David Benton Dibrell, and Merry Lee Wilson. Their son is president of Logic Incorporated, a data processing corporation in Dallas, and their daughter is married to the associate pastor of the United Methodist Church in Johnson City, Tenn. The Dibrells also have four grandchildren.

In addition to operating Dibrell's, Mrs. Dibrell was library clerk at Big Spring High School for 15 years. She retired two years ago. Dibrell was adult probation officer for Howard County for 19 years. He also served on the school board, the YMCA board, and is a member of the Downtown Lion's Club.

Both are actively involved in the First United Methodist Church, a church they have been members of for many years. Dibrell served as chairman of the church finance committee.

Dibrell was born in Colorado City, Mrs. Dibrell in Lufkin. But both have been calling Howard County home for nearly 40 years. They will be honored at First Federal Friday.

Mortician says drowned youths were handcuffed

GROESBECK, Texas (AP) — A mortician who said he's seen 200 drownings believes that three black teen-agers were handcuffed when they fell from a boat and drowned last weekend while in the custody of sheriff's deputies.

The hands of Carl Baker were in "a very unusual position," when he arrived at the Darsey-Keatts Funeral Home in Mexia, mortician Leon Darsey II, who examined the body, said Wednesday.

Steve Booker of Dallas and Baker of Mexia, both 19, and Anthony Freeman, 18, also of Mexia, drowned about 11 p.m. June 19 when a small boat they were in with two Limestone County deputies and a probation officer capsized.

The three officers, who had arrested the youths on drug charges during a "Juneteenth" celebration at Lake Mexia, were able to swim safely 40 yards back to shore.

Relatives said Booker and Baker were excellent swimmers, although Freeman apparently could not swim.

State District Judge P.K. Reiter called the Court of Inquiry to get a "public airing" of the incident. The FBI and NAACP are conducting separate investigations.

Darsey testified in the second day of the inquiry that it looked as though Baker had died with handcuffs on because his hands were at his side, palms facing together, and because his wrists were discolored.

"It's highly unlikely you will find a drowning victim's hands in that position," said Darsey, who told the court he has been a mortician for 17 years.

However, Mexia Fire Chief Aaron Thompson testified earlier Wednesday there were no handcuffs on the bodies of three teen-agers when their bodies were pulled from the water.

Thompson said rigor mortis already had set in when the youths' bodies were recovered, but that all were in a relaxed position, with their arms stretched out above their heads.

Larry W. Baraka, special prosecutor for the court of inquiry, said he is convinced all three were handcuffed when they drowned and said he would produce television videotapes and witnesses to support his claim.

"I think some people also are suspicious of the medical report, and that's why the funerals are delayed," said Baraka, a Dallas attorney recommended for the inquiry by the NAACP.

YOU GOTTA HAVE A HEART — It wasn't the Senators, nor was it Joe Hardy, but in a scene reminiscent of "Damn Yankees," little Mark Ross took time out between batters during a Little League Championship Monday in Sherman Oaks to do a bit of crooning. The 11-year-old Yankee third baseman probably won't make the charts, but he may have helped drive the opposing Reds batty... the Yanks won, 13-4.

Semifinals to feature three second place teams

Underdogs advance in city LL playoffs

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

The underdogs proved to be the giant killers in the second round of the Big Spring Little League City Tournament, as three teams that finished in second place in their respective leagues knocked off first place teams from other leagues in the four games played.

Only the National League champion Herald Rangers escaped the wrath of the second place teams, as they remained undefeated after 16 starts by posting an easy 17-2 win over the International League Rangers.

In the games in which second place teams pulled upsets over regular season league champions, the Texas League Tigers rallied for a 5-3 win over the International League Indians, the National League Devils blanked the American League Falcons, 4-0, and the American League Hawks blasted the Texas League Cubs by a lopsided count of 17-0.

This sets the stage for tonight's semifinal round, with the winning teams advancing into tomorrow night's 8:00 p.m. battle for the city championship. The losing teams tonight will have a chance to play again, as they will meet in a third place game tomorrow at 5:30 p.m.

In tonight's semifinals, the Rangers will travel to the Texas League Park to meet the Tigers, while the Devils and Hawks, both second place finishers in their respective leagues, will meet at eight o'clock in the National League Park.

The Hawks, a team which didn't begin to mature until mid-season with their young team but now looks as tough as anyone, erupted for eight runs in the first inning and never looked back in rolling to their rout of the Cubs, the regular season champions of the Texas League.

Robert Guzman hurled the win, exhibiting flawless control and using some excellent play from his mates in the field. Second sacker Joe Louis Paradez was the defensive star for the Hawks, igniting a pair of double plays that helped take out any steam the Cubs had.

The Hawk bats, which have produced 39 runs in their two city playoff wins, were led by Joe Louis Paradez and Chris Crowover, who both had triples in the contest. The Hawks also benefited from 13 walks from Cub pitching.

Lupe Rodriguez had the only big hit for the Cubs, a double.

The Devils unseated the American League champion Falcons by 4-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Russ Parks, by scoring single runs in the second, third, fourth and fifth innings.

The Devils also only had two hits, but made them count the most. Hitting safely for the winners were Matt Garrett and David Woods, while Parks and Matt Garrett both had sacrifice flies which produced Devil runs.

The losing hurler was Eric Thompson. Both Falcon hits came off the bat of Jimmy Casey. Parks struck out eight in the contest.

The Rangers of the National League rapped out nine hits and relied on a tough pitching performance from Carey Fraser in dumping the International's Rangers.

Fraser allowed just two hits from the IL invaders, both by Heath Robey, and struck out a playoff high 15 hitters.

Doug Marriott and John Hart both had a single and a double to lead the winning Rangers at the plate, with John Moore having a pair of two-baggers. Mitch Griffin had one double, with Brant Nichols and Michael Sparks both producing singles.

The Tigers win over the International champ Indians was a comeback affair. Trailing 3-2 going into the sixth inning, the Tigers used numerous walks and one hit in plating three runs and taking the win.

Sidney Parker hurled the win for the Tigers.

The teams in tonight's semifinal round are no strangers to this stage of the city playoffs, although many of the players on them are newcomers. The Tigers won the city title three years ago, the Hawks won the title two years ago, and many of the Rangers return after advancing to the semifinals last year.

TONIGHT'S GAMES
6:00 — (Texas League Park) — National Rangers at Texas Tigers.
8:00 — (National Park) — American Hawks at National Devils.

Catholic nuns change habits during strike

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Sisters Frances Evans and Magdalen Hession have discovered baseball is a tough habit to break.

The two Catholic nuns scan the newspaper sports sections each morning, hoping to find a headline that reads, "Strike Over; Rangers Playing in Arlington Tonight."

The sisters, members of the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word, have shared their enthusiasm for the sport since the first Texas Rangers game at Arlington Stadium.

"I never saw a big league game until 1972, when the Rangers came to Arlington," Sister Frances said. But she grew up playing baseball as a catcher and a shortstop.

"When the Rangers came I was determined to get tickets for Maggie and me to the opening game," she said. "Tickets were only $5 then, so we could go to that one game."

The highlight of that game was when Frank Howard hit the first home run out of Arlington Stadium, Sister Frances recalled — a moment so exciting that a fellow in another section had a heart attack.

Shortly thereafter, a friend found out how much the nuns enjoyed baseball and bought them season tickets. They've rarely missed a game since.

"What I enjoy is the competitiveness," Sister Frances said. "And I like the kind of crowds. They're family-oriented people who bring their children. Some of the children were just little ones when we started going to games and now they're practically grown. We've made lots of friends."

"Since we work in a stressful situation all the time, it's nice to be outside and to relax. To forget about p.u.," added Sister Magdalen.

Sister Frances is director of social services at St.

Joseph's Hospital, where Sister Magdalen is a patient representative in the surgical area.

They also enjoy getting to know the ballplayers and their families.

"Our seats are such that we can look at our guys in the dugout," Sister Frances said. "We're right over third base. When Bert Blyleven used to pitch, he used to wave. And whenever Billy Martin comes back he always looks for us."

The strike has left a gap in the sisters' lives. They say they spend more time visiting some of their elderly friends now, but they miss cheering for their team.

"I just want those guys to know how much their fans are hurting," said Sister Frances. "I mean both the managers and the players."

"I think there's wrong on both sides. Someone like George Steinbrenner is giving such huge salaries. It's like giving candy to a baby. Once he has it he wants more."

Big Spring Herald SPORTS THURSDAY

BIG SPRING, TEXAS, JUNE 25, 1981

Big rookie field tests Memphis vets

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Two old pros, Lee Trevino and Dave Hill, and a corps of brand-new ones were among the central figures today in the first round of the $300,000 Danny Thomas-Memphis Golf Classic.

Nine men who graduated from the most PGA Tour school two weeks ago were making their first start as full-fledged members of the Tour in the chase for a $64,000 first prize over the 7,249-yard, par-72 Colonial Country Club course.

Those players who made it through their first Monday morning qualifying round include Billy Glisson, Denis Watson, Clarence Rose, Larry Rinker, Gene George, Jeff Sanders, David Sann, South African Gavin Levenson and persistent Charles Krenkel, who made 13 attempts to get through the qualifying school before gaining his card.

All are seeking their first checks in regular Tour competition.

At the other end of the scale are Trevino and Hill, each a $1 million winner, who have combined for seven victories in this event alone, three by Trevino, the defending champion, and four by Hill.

Each has a particularly fondness for this tourney.

"If I could only play one tournament a year, this would be it," said Hill, 44. "I'm not sure exactly what it is. The people, I guess. I like the people here and I just seem to like me and I just feel at home and relaxed."

He's been in a deep slump all year but said he's encouraged by his recent play.

Borg using Wimbledon's best to advantage

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Bjorn Borg took another step toward his sixth successive Wimbledon title and then talked of how playing on the two show courts here has helped him.

The Swede has not had to play on an outside court at the All-England Club since he faced Australian Mark Edmondson in 1977. All his matches since then have been on either Centre Court or No.1.

"Centre and No.1 are much better," said the 25-year-old Borg after his 6-4, 6-1, 6-3 second-round crushing of Mel Purcell of the United States Wednesday afternoon.

"The ball bounces much better on those courts. It stands to reason. They are not played so much."

Center and No.1 are the enclosed courts at Wimbledon, with some 22,000 seats between them — all sold months before the tournament. They are carefully tended and kept exclusively for the championships.

There are 16 other courts, most of them free to spectators once they have paid their entrance money to the grounds. These courts are used all summer by All-England Club members.

Borg was one of the few player able to finish his second-round match Wednesday before Wimbledon's traditional enemy, the wet English weather, ended play prematurely.

Borg was particularly happy with his serve.

"I think I'm timing it much better when I throw up the ball," he said. "I had a much better feel. I was much more comfortable today."

John McEnroe, who Tuesday was fined $1,500 and warned about his future behavior following incidents in his opening match against Tom Gullikson, behaved faultlessly in his second-round match against Raul Ramirez of Mexico.

McEnroe, the No.2 seed, led Ramirez 6-3, 5-5 when rain halted the proceedings.

Second-seeded Jimmy Connors won two tiebreakers to lead Chris Lewis of New Zealand 7-6, 7-6, 1-2 when the rains came.

While McEnroe managed to stay out of trouble, his close friend and doubles partner, Peter Fleming, took up where "Superbrat" left off Monday.

Major league ump's stop owners insurance pay

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Common Pleas judge issued a temporary injunction Wednesday blocking Lloyds of London from paying major league baseball team owners any of $50 million in strike insurance they were to have begun collecting, according to the attorney for the umpires.

Richie Phillips said Judge Stanley M. Greenberg issued the temporary order at 3:30 p.m. pending a hearing Friday morning on the class action suit filed by the Major League Umpires Association.

The 26 major league owners paid Lloyds $2 million for insurance that would pay each $100,000 per date lost to the players' strike for approximately seven weeks after the cancellation of the first 153 games. The 153rd cancellation in the 13-day old strike took place Wednesday.

"The temporary restraining order was granted that restrains Lloyds of London correspondents from paying any monies to major league baseball or any member teams under their strike insurance policy," Phillips said in a telephone interview.

Phillips said the class-action suit was filed on behalf of the major league umpires and persons "similarly situated, namely those individuals or groups having contractual relations with major league baseball... municipalities, players' vendors, concessionaires."

The umpires are being paid for the first 30 days of the strike. "That means if they don't play the rest of the season, the umpires lose half a season, and of course, they won't be in position to seek other employment because they'll be on constant standby to go back to work," Phillips said.

"It's our feeling that the million dollars plus a day the owners will receive from the insurance provides incentives and encouragement to continue the pattern of refusing to bargain to gain a full settlement of the dispute," Phillips said.

Future bout overshadows Leonard-Kalule

HOUSTON (AP) — Sugar Ray Leonard shoots for a second world championship tonight and Thomas Hearns defends his portion of another crown. But in three months the two will be back in the same ring...together.

Leonard, the World Boxing Council welterweight champion, is challenging unbeaten Ayub Kalule for the World Boxing Association junior middleweight title. And Hearns, who owns the WBA welterweight crown, puts his crown on the line against Pablo Baez.

Also on tonight's card are a pair of 10-rounders with ex-welterweight champion Jose "Pipino" Cuevas going against European welterweight champion Jorgen Hansen, and unbeaten Tony Ayala facing Jerry Cheatem in a junior middleweight bout.

Both Leonard and Hearns are heavy favorites and most of the fight crowd is looking ahead to a proposed Sept. 16 match between them in Las Vegas, Nev. In fact, there has been so much talk about that confrontation that Bob Arum, president of Top Rank, Inc., promoter of tonight's card, is threatening a lawsuit against Leonard.

Arum says his contract for this closed circuit show specifically bars Sugar Ray from pumping up a Hearns bout until after he's finished with Kalule. The promoter talked Wednesday about holding up the purses but that will be tough since Leonard's $2.5 million is in the form of a letter of credit, automatically released when the fight takes place.

Mike Trainer, Leonard's attorney, shrugged off Arum's bluster which seemed designed to stir interest in the show, reportedly lagging at the gate.

Meanwhile, the WBA spent Wednesday debating the fate of its heavyweight champion, Mike Weaver. After a long discussion, it ruled that Weaver must sign by mid-July for a Sept. 30 defense against James "Quick" Tillis.

Weaver already has a contract for an October date with Gerry Cooney but the WBA is insisting on a Tillis fight first, claiming that the youngster from Chicago was the "leading available contender" on March 31, when Weaver was supposed to make a mandatory defense.

If Weaver does not agree to a Tillis fight, and his manager, Don Manuel, made it clear the Cooney fight was still on, the ruling body could strip him of his title. There is already talk of a Tillis-Greg Page bout to fill a vacated WBA title if Weaver balks at Wednesday's decision.

Baseball strike costing NBC, ABC

By The Associated Press

It's Saturday afternoon and you turn on your TV set looking for baseball's Game of the Week on NBC. What do you find? Drag racing, boxing, motocross — but no baseball.

It's Monday night and you remember that ABC shows baseball in prime time until Monday Night Football gets underway. So you turn on your set, only to find made-for-TV movies and series pilots — but no baseball.

The players' strike is causing considerable scrambling along network row as executives from NBC and ABC dig up replacement programming for the baseball games that aren't being played.

NBC has come up with another one of those sports anthology shows for Saturday afternoon, with an update on the baseball strike situation taking the place of the usual pre-game show. ABC, meanwhile, has gone to entertainment programming to take the place of its Monday night prime-time baseball.

Both networks are losing some money, although it's too early to estimate how much, because of the two-week-old strike as sponsors seek their own alternatives to baseball.

"There's been a fallout," conceded Tom Merritt of NBC Sports. "Some sponsors have stayed with our anthology program while others have decided to put their money into other things. I'm sure the strike has to have cost some amount of money, but I don't think the difference is all that great."

NBC showed a videotape of Game 6 of the 1975 World Series, between Boston and Cincinnati, on the first Saturday of the strike, then went to the anthology show last week. ABC, which has contracted to show 10 Monday night games and eight more on Sunday afternoon, showed the movie "Elvis" on its first strike night, then went to a pilot for the TV series "Breaking Away" and a made-for-TV movie called "A Last Cry for Help" this week.

"At this stage there's no way of determining how much money this strike will cost us," said Irv Brodsky of ABC Sports

Owners upset with Phillies Boone

Strike talk fruitless again

NEW YORK (AP) — The major league baseball strike entered Day 14 today with the players association due to respond to new free-agent compensation proposals from the owners — and the owners in danger of losing their projected $50 million in strike insurance.

The first face-to-face bargaining sessions in five days broke up after less than two hours Wednesday as a grim-visaged Bob Boone of the Philadelphia Phillies, the National League player representative, termed the proposals "insignificant" while management expressed its displeasure with Boone's remarks.

In Philadelphia, Common Pleas Judge Stanley M. Greenberg issued a temporary injunction blocking Lloyds of London from paying out any of the strike insurance the owners were to begin collecting Wednesday.

Richie Phillips, the attorney for major league umpires, said the order was issued pending a hearing Friday on a class-action suit filed by the umpires' union, which accuses the owners of bad-faith bargaining, partly because of the existence of the insurance policy.

The 26 major league owners paid Lloyds $2 million for insurance that would pay each $100,000 per date lost to the players' strike for approximately seven weeks after the cancellation of the 153 games. The 153rd cancellation in the 13-day old strike took place Wednesday.

Phillips said the suit was filed on behalf of the umpires and persons "similarly situated, namely those individuals or groups having contractual relations with major league baseball...municipalities, players, vendors, concessionaires...It's our feeling that the million-dollars plus a day the owners will receive from the insurance provides incentives and encouragement to continue the pattern of refusing to bargain to gain a full settlement of the dispute."

The owners threw the ball back to the players when the chief management negotiator, Ray Grebey, director of the Player Relations Committee, said that "the burden of movement at this point in time rests with the players association; they called the strike."

Federal mediator Kenneth Moffett said both sides would meet again today — "We're shooting for 11 a.m." — but it appeared likely that the players would reject the owners' new proposals which, among other things, would limit the number of "ranking" free agents in the re-entry draft requiring a major league player as compensation to no more than 14 in any one year.

The new alternatives also would reduce the percentage of free agents who would qualify as "ranking" under certain specified performance criteria and would thereby require more than the current amateur draft choice as compensation.

BS Yankees bats silent in twinbill loss

The Big Spring Yankees traveled to meet the Snyder Athletics Sunday, leaving five of their starters at home. But after the dust had cleared in the double-header, it was obvious that they also left their bats at home.

The Yankees, now 13-4 on the season, dropped both ends of the twinbill, losing by scores of 3-1 and 2-0.

Charlie Vernon pitched three innings of one-hit ball in the opener before yielding to a sore throwing arm. Manager Chris Uchman then took over, and was the victim of a weird two-run homer that won for the Snyder crew.

That came when a long ball off a Snyder bat carried over the fence for a homer after Yankee outfielder Jeter Grant had tried to stop it with his hand in hustling for the ball. His hand hit the ball, but it caromed over the fence for a round tripper.

The Yankees then lost the finale.

David Barbee had three hits to pace the Yankees, who managed but nine hits in the two games.

The Yankees host the Abilene Jets in a double-header on Sunday at the Anderson Complex.

Local oil security firm scrutinized by state board

By BILLELDER
A local oilfield security company's license to operate is being withheld by the state pending an investigation into whether the company began offering its services before receiving the license.

Howard Kloss, head of Oil Safe — the company under investigation by the Texas Board of Private Investigators and Private Security Agencies — termed the inquiry "more or less a misunderstanding" and said the board's investigator recently came to Big Spring only to learn that the allegation of operating without a license was "unfounded."

Kloss, however, admitted he has been offering security services to about 20 West Texas clients since April while he waits to take an examination for his license. He said he has done so under the provision that a security company may operate without a license for 90 days "if you are qualified."

A source close to the board's investigation said no such provision exists and the qualification of the applicant is not determined until after the examination is taken.

The source declined to divulge details of the investigation beyond confirming that Oil Safe was being investigated in connection with possible violation of licensing law.

The investigation apparently was sparked by an inquiry from a source which neither Kloss nor the board will reveal. Kloss said the matter began when a competitor from the Midland area felt Oil Safe was cutting in on his territory and made a complaint to authorities about Oil Safe's lack of a license.

The source close to the investigation said all companies that "furnish private security officers to protect property" in Texas must be licensed as a guard company by the board. If a company failed or refused to obtain a license, then "we would go to the district attorney and present our evidence. It would be up to him to decide whether to prosecute," the source said.

The maximum penalty upon conviction of violating the licensing laws is a $500 fine and — or a one-year sentence to county jail, the source explained.

He noted that Oil Safe's application had been received by the board during the first week of June and added that "it is complete and in order. The applicant is waiting for us to schedule an appointment to take an examination for the license."

The examination will not be scheduled, however, until the investigation is finished, the source said.

Kloss is applying for a Class C license, one of three types of license available. It combines the powers granted with A and B licenses, enabling a Class C licensee both to carry out private investigations and to offer an unarmed guard service.

As a former Big Spring police officer and current certified peace officer, Kloss says he is the only individual within his organization carrying a handgun. In order for his guards to carry handguns on the job, they would have to be commissioned law enforcement officer or else receive a private security officer's commission from the state board. Kloss says he won't go that far, and will let his guards carry shotguns under their right as citizens.

The license does not confer the authority to make arrests, according to a board member. Kloss says he had aided in six arrests so far, detaining the suspects until sheriff's deputies could reach the scene and make arrests.

One client of Oil Safe, who asked not to be identified because it might suggest the nature of operations protecting his business, said he was not aware that Oil Safe was unlicensed until an investigator from the board confirmed that the license hadn't been issued yet.

The client said he signed a three-month trial contract with Oil Safe after he was solicited by the company.

He declined to reveal the terms of the contract but added that it seemed to be "a good bargain."

Cattle on feed declines

AUSTIN — "The total number of Texas cattle on feed stands at 1,560,000 head, a 2 percent drop from 1980," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

According to the June 1 report from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, placements during May were 11 percent above 1980 and 5 percent above the previous month. May cattle marketings stood at 310,000, unchanged from last year but 16 percent above last month's total.

Nationwide, cattle and calves on feed totaled 7.05 million head, a 3 percent increase from a year ago. Cattle marketings were up 10 percent from 1980 at 1.40 million head and placements nationwide were 1.62 million, virtually unchanged from a year ago.

"Texas is the nation's leading cattle state and produces almost one-fifth of the total supply of grain-fed beef," Brown noted. "In addition, the cattle industry adds almost $28 billion annually to the Texas economy with money from cattle production, meat packing, processing and retailing."

BUY, SELL AND TRADE BABY ITEMS ...at Baby Things, owned and operated by Wanda Ford

Baby Things designed for your baby's needs

Most everyone knows that babies are pleasant, but often expensive little people. Not only do they need quite a few things, but no sooner do they have those things than they've outgrown them and need some more.

Baby Things, a new store located at 3103 W. Hwy. 80, is designed to meet the needs of new parents. Owned and managed by Wanda Ford, Baby Things sells new and used infant clothes, furniture, and a host of other infant needs. You can find beds, play pens, high chairs, bassinets, and car beds and car seats.

Baby Things also has a wide selection of diapers and clothes for infants up to size six. Toys are also available, as well as bottles and sterilizers.

Since most of the stock is second hand, prices are lower than at retail stores, and if you don't think that is important, you've obviously never had a baby. Baby's items are quickly outgrown, but never worn out, so buying from Baby Things is indeed a wise investment.

Baby Things meets a need in Big Spring. Instead of buying all the items at one store at a high price, new or future parents can buy from a store at low resale prices, without time consuming garage sale hunts.

Baby Things is open from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday. Their number is 263-8291. Baby Things can offer just about everything you need for your baby, at a cost that will please you.

Operated by Bea Walker and Laura Duke, the Book Exchange has over 16,000 paperbacks to sell at half their list price. In addition, the Book Exchange will buy and trade old books that are bought in.

The Book Exchange is a real inflation fighter. They allow you to buy books at a price much cheaper than they can be bought in regular book stores, and in addition will pay you for old books that you've already enjoyed. The Book Exchange only stocks slightly used books, ones that are still in good condition. They have books for every taste, from popular fiction to classics of literature, as well as gothic novels, mystery novels, and non-fiction books. They also stock a selection of hardback books.

AJRA rodeo discussion highlights Chamber meet

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Chamber of Commerce board of directors' meeting Monday night dealt with the upcoming AJRA rodeo to be held July 1-4 at the local rodeo grounds.

Highlighting the meeting was the discussion of the rodeo grounds renovation program. Tough broncs and snorting bulls still will come out of the chutes but spectators will enjoy the events on new metal bleachers, which have replaced the former splinter-filled accommodations. A new concessions stand also has been erected.

According to George Walker, overseer of the renovation, "we're happy to have been able to get the rodeo grounds in good shape for participants and spectators."

Beautiful and practical

Salads are summer favorites

If salads are nature's gift to the menu-maker, then summer is the season of generosity. With fresh produce filling grocery bins and roadside carts, the time is ripe to add new salads to your menus. Celebrate summer with salad suggestions from the Kraft Kitchens. With each colorful collection of fruits and vegetables there's an extra special dressing idea created to enhance the salad flavors and yet assert a distinct character all its own. After all, produce is only the beginning. Real salad "savvy" shows in a memorable dressing. From a light summer luncheon to a Sunday night supper, here are six ideas that spotlight fresh fruit and vegetables for irresistible summer eating.

The three salads on the right are each unique, but each uses a piece of fruit as the "Salad Server." The Cantaloupe Fruit Bowl starts with a cantaloupe to provide the server for a cool, refreshing fruit salad with an interesting dressing to top it off. Hawaiian Delight features the ever favorite pineapple in the traditional way, chunks on a skewer, with chunks of ham, tomatoes, bananas, and green pepper. The pineapple itself holds the dressing to make it a "Salad Server" too. Avocado halves filled with rice salad and topped with French dressing are perfect for the light lunch.

Casual get-togethers and picnics mean lots of help-yourself salad fun for active appetites. Main dish salads as shown below can be served in a variety of ways. Zesty Potato Salad combines favorite potato salad ingredients and turns them out in a spectacular new way! Sunshine Salad Toss mixes those sweet and sunny flavors of California fruits with lettuce, chicken and creamy cucumber dressing to create a summer supper.

Another main dish is the Hearty Potato Platter. Create an attractive salad by arranging potatoes, roast beef slices, chopped tomatoes and onion on a bed of lettuce. Crumbled blue cheese and bottled thousand island dressing add that special occasion flair for another tasty summer salad. Fresh and refreshing, these salads and dressing ideas help you create summer favorites with great taste and style.

Sighted Need Eyes Opened To Problems of Blind

DEAR ABBY: I am a blind woman who has recently moved to Westery, R.L. from Florida, where I lived for many years, and I find that all people are alike. Will you please tell your readers that just because a person happens to be blind, that doesn't mean he can't answer questions, sign his name and do any number of things for himself. The one thing we can't do is recognize people, so if sighted people would please speak first, we would appreciate it. Please publish this, Abby. It could help a lot of people.
 IRMA HAGMAN

DEAR IRMA: I will not only publish your letter, I'll add some of my own suggestions to it: When you meet a blind person, offer your help, but don't be surprised (or hurt) if the blind person would rather do without your well-meaning help. If you aren't sure how much assistance a sightless person wants or needs, ask an expert - the person you want to help. When you enter a room where a blind person is (or if he enters), let him know that you're there by speaking up. For openers, mention your name. And be sure to say goodbyes when you leave the room. Never grab a blind person's cane. And never pet his guide dog without first asking the master's permission. (Guide dogs are trained to protect their masters as well as guide them.) If a blind person gives you permission to walk with him, never grab his arm. Don't "guide" him or steer him as though he were a piece of furniture. Let him take your arm.

The blind are not deaf. And please don't talk to a blind person as if he were a child or a fool. Always speak directly to him. It's amazing the number of sighted people who thoughtlessly ask the person who is with someone who's blind, "And what will he have?" Though blind, he is able to hear well, and certainly able to answer for himself. When talking with a blind person, don't try to avoid using the words "look," "see" or "blind." Pity is out. Many blind people have adjusted to their blindness very well. So well, in fact, that they have become teachers, musicians, machinists, secretaries, lawyers, salespeople, psychologists, writers, social workers, and even expert skaters, golfers, bowlers and swimmers. The list is endless. I hope you see some merit in these hints. I know the blind will.

Spectators from five states attend field day in Stanton

STANTON — Some 250 people were on hand for the Centennial Hereford Field Day held at V Bar Ranch, Stanton.

Spectators from five states participated in the Texas Junior Hereford Association junior activities and viewed some of the first progeny of Centennial, the 1981 Denver grand champion Hereford bull.

On display were some outstanding prospects from Centennial that drew considerable attention from the crowd.

An exciting agenda of activities was held including an ice cream social, cake auction and dance the evening prior to the field day. Several hundred dollars were collected for the TJHA through the cake auction.

Numerous contests and activities were held including live animal evaluation contest, public speaking contest, queen contest and special games included a boot scramble, two-legged race, sack race and cow calling.

Special guest speakers included Curley Hayes, Abilene, longtime youth promoter and former football referee of the Southwest Conference for some 25 years. Also featured was Julie Cahill, American Junior Hereford Association first vice-president from Weiser, Id.

Top individuals in the live animal evaluation contest were Shawn Ramsey, Odessa, top junior individual, and Rhonda Coonrod, Hawley, top senior individual and winner of the calf donated by V Bar Ranch. The top adult individual award went to Kelly Schmidt, Mason.

The top junior team award went to an Ector County 4-H team composed of Shawn Ramsey, Larry Roberts, Jennifer Oman and Shawn Mitchell, all of Odessa.

In the senior division Cathy Hutchens, George Town; Carol Brandenberger, Llano; and Shelly Summerour, Dalhart, won the top senior team award.

Rene Stewart, Sterling City, received the first-place junior achievement award while Shana Summerour, Dalhart, took first-place senior honors. Shelly Summerour and Lea Weinheimer, Stonewall, were second and third-place senior achievement winners, respectively.

In the public speaking contest Brett Barber, Channing, took top honors in the junior division while Jonama Cox, Stanton, received the top senior public speaking award.

Lea Weinheimer, Stonewall, will be representing the Texas Hereford Association's 1981-82 THA Queen. Jonama Cox, Stanton, was crowned princess.

FIELD DAY HOSTS — V Bar Ranch of Stanton hosted the Centennial Hereford field day recently, which attracted a turnout of approximately 250 people. The visitors came from five states. From the left here are Charley and Mary Midkiff, owners, and Bruce and Judy Brandenberger, managers. On view was the first progeny of Centennial, the 1981 Denver grand champion Hereford bull.

Summer gardens having problems

DON RICHARDSON, COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

Summertime hits West Texas like a blast furnace and gardens do suffer because of it. Mild spring weather and abundant moisture resulted in luxuriant growth in many gardens. Now, high temperatures and drying conditions make regular watering necessary.

Don't let just the mid-day wilting of plants fool you into watering however. This is only natural for the plants. Check the soil before you water. If it is dry down a few inches then water thoroughly. Be sure and drip irrigate or flood it — sprinkling it can result in leaf scald and burning of the leaves.

Nematodes are hitting area gardens. Not a lot can be done now for this. Consider using a soil fumigant like Vapam and work for a fall garden.

Curly-top is continuing to hit tomatoes. This is a virus disease and not a lot can be done for it. If you have a sick plant affected by it, remove it from the garden before it can be spread to healthy plants by sucking type insects.

Blossom-end rot is hitting some tomatoes. Keep your soil moisture level as uniform as possible to help them. A little calcium on the plants could help some too.

Peaches and other fruit trees are showing up with yellow leaves. This is a lack of iron. Spray with iron sulfate late in the afternoon to help this. Some new chelated forms of iron are now available that can be added to the soil with success. They are expensive but do a good job.

Pecan trees are starting to show up with rosette, a zinc deficiency problem. Use NZN on these trees in a good spray program for this. Early symptoms of this are tiny black spots and browning of the leaves. Stunted terminal growth is also a symptom. Be sure and spray late in the day to avoid leaf burn on your trees.

Aphids are causing "honey-dew" on pecan trees now also. Malathion usually controls this pest. As with any insecticide be sure and follow label directions.

You might also fertilize tomatoes, peppers, and egg plants now with one level tablespoon per plant. Repeat every four weeks. Vine crops can be fertilized when vines are one foot long with one level tablespoon per plant. Whenever side dressing, avoid getting fertilizer on plant foliage and always water thoroughly after each application. A good garden fertilizer is ammonium sulfate. (21-0-0).

Leon Coffee living proof rodeo clowns not crazy

ON FOUNDING BOARD — Charlie Creighton (center), currently president of the Big Spring Rodeo Association, stands with two members of the group who organized the association 48 years ago. R.V. (Bob) Middleton is at the left while Harry Lees is at the right. It was Lees' job to prepare the arena floor for the rodeo and Harry invariably did good job. Creighton is the only one of the three still alive.

Leon Coffee, who will be one of the clowns working the 48th annual Big Spring Rodeo and Cowboy Reunion here June 24-27, took up a dangerous profession that most people would shun. Some rodeo followers think people like Coffee are loco risking their lives night after night. Others are sure they have a death wish they are impatient to satisfy. Leon is living proof rodeo clowns are neither crazy nor suicidal. It is his job to look after the safety of the performers in the Big Spring Rodeo and Leon does his job well. Leon and his partner, Mike Moore, clown around in rodeo arenas for most of the year, entertaining thousands of people while protecting cowboys from bulls that would like nothing better than to rearrange the physical appearance of the ride. "A bull can exert 2,000 pounds of pressure on a man," said Leon. "That's enough to rip a man's head off." While chances are Leon will not lose his head over an angry bull, the rodeo clown's life in the arena is nonetheless dangerous. So why does he continue to confront bulls that would be glad to arrange for Leon's early retirement? "I just love the sport of rodeo. There is no better feeling than when a bull rider comes up to you and says 'Thanks man, I really appreciate it.' "I could do a lot of things, but if you take me away from the rodeo you might as well write me off. It's a great big party." It's a party that seldom provides one with a gracious host inside the arena. But Leon does not seem to mind that bulls make it their business to try reducing his life expectancy. He travels around the country during rodeo season, clowning around, giving bulls the business. Even traveling does not seem to diminish Leon's love of the rodeo. He lives out of a suitcase about 10 months of the year, and does not necessarily welcome going back to his home in Austin to relax until the start of the next season. "There is no lonelier feeling than to leave a rodeo," Leon said. "At the end of the year I get cabin fever. I don't like staying home. This is my life." Considering how tight his schedule was last year — rodeo season started in January and lasted through December — being a home-dweller is not an activity that occupies most of Leon's time. "And this year I got more contracts than I ever had before."

At 28, Leon's career as a rodeo clown is rocketing toward success. He has been on national television several times and has been approached about the possibility of appearing in a movie. But while Leon waits the decision on his future ventures into motion pictures, he sits back when he is not distracting bulls and absorbs all the publicity. "It still amazes me that I made television." The career of a rodeo performer is a short one, seldom lasting past the age of 30. However, how long a clown can stay in the same arena with a steaming bull depends on his ability to perform his primary function of saving the cowboy's hide should it become necessary. Leon is determined to last as long as he can, but he points out he will quit the business as soon as he feels his performance drops below what it takes to protect the bull rider. "I'd rather see a kid out there who is more agile than me. Those cowboys depend on us. When you can't hold up under the strain, it's time to leave the game. And how long will Leon be able to hold up? That's hard to tell. He suffers from a torn cartilage and ligament in his right knee, and was told by doctors to stay off his feet for at least six weeks. Four days after receiving the advice Leon was back in the arena, doing what he knows best — harrassing bulls. "My doctor said he likes working on cowboys because he thinks we're total idiots. He said he was amazed how we keep our bodies together. But what is a man to do after spending years looking directly into bulls' eyes; after spending all of his life since age six around rodeos; after rodeoing his way through high school? "I can always become a plumber," said Leon.

GREEN BAY, WIS. — Junior high school students from Wisconsin and six other states are attending the two-week "Exploration Bay" study program June 15-27 at the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay. Among the 37 participants are Justin Hunter, 1810 Vilas Ave., Big Spring, and Debbie Bednar, Garden City.
