Maidique guilty of voluntary manslaughter

Jurors mull fate of Cuban weightlifter

By CAROL HART
In a hushed courtroom at 9:30 p.m. Wednesday, Eduardo Maidique, a Cuban weightlifter, was pronounced guilty of voluntary manslaughter in the shooting death of Linda Garcia. The jury began its deliberations at 4:45 p.m. Wednesday, and were taken together for a supper break during the evening.
Punishment in the case was under consideration as of press time today. Maximum sentence in the charge is 20 years in the Texas Department of Corrections, and a $10,000 fine. Minimum sentence is a two-year sentence.
Little reaction followed the sentencing, as Maidique and his twin brother Alberto stood quietly as the sentence was read and interpreted.
In the courtroom audience were Martha Esquibel and her family, who also watched the sentencing with a quiet reserve.

Miss Esquibel is the sister of the woman Maidique is accused of murdering. Testimony showed that Miss Esquibel was in the house at the time Ms. Garcia was shot, and that she sustained a broken neck at that time.
Maidique and his twin brother Alberto are Cuban nationals, who came to the United States during the Cuban immigration. The two said at that time that they were weightlifters for Cuba, and hoped to compete in weightlifting for the U.S. in the 1984 Olympics.
Mike Medrano from Lubbock served as interpreter during the trial for Maidique, who speaks very little English. Wayne Basden was the Cuban's attorney. Rick Hamby represented the state.
Eduardo Maidique took the stand in his own defense Wednesday afternoon, and described to the jury his version of what happened March 23.

Basden asked Eduardo "Where were you early in the evening of March 23?"
Eduardo answered "I was riding around."
"Did you work that day," questioned Basden, to which Eduardo answered "Yes."
Eduardo told jurors that he had left work that day, and gone to his brother's house, at 100 Washington. There, he said he watched television, adding his brother invited him to have a beer.
He said that Simon Balderas came to visit the brothers, and that he continued to drink beer. Then he left the residence.
"I was riding around" (in a car) he said. "I lost control of my car."
He said the car went into a ditch near a hospital, and that he tried to move the car, but could not. He then said he started walking.

"Did you have a gun in the car?" Basden asked. "Yes," answered Maidique.
"Why did you take the gun out of the car?" asked Basden.
Maidique said he thought the police would come and search his car, and find the gun.
He said he got the gun out of the car, and walked in the direction of Linda Garcia's home. An 'American girl' stopped and offered him a ride, he said, and he accepted. She took him to Malone-Hogan Hospital and let him out of the car. He was at the time carrying his gun in a silver box, he said.
"When she left (the girl) I walked to Linda's house." He said he approached the home from the back door, because "I was accustomed to that door." Testimony earlier in the trial showed that Eduardo and Linda Garcia were living together for a period of more than three months, in the house at 1510 Mesa.

Eduardo said he entered the home after "I knocked strongly. The door was opened. Martha (Esquibel), opened it."
Maidique continued "She asked me what do you want? Why are you here? Don't you know you shouldn't be here?"
He then said she told him not to come in, and walked back into the house, where he followed her. "I walked to the sofa," said Maidique.
Eduardo told jurors that Martha Esquibel made a call to the police, reporting that he had come to the home. "How do you know she made a call to the police," asked Basden.
"She told me at the door," said Maidique.
Maidique continued. "Linda

(Garcia), came from the bathroom, bare-footed. Martha handed a gun to Linda. When I saw Linda had a gun, I got up, saying no, why are you handing her a gun?"
"Did Martha have the pistol?" asked Basden.
"Yes, she handed it to Linda," said Maidique. "Martha was hollering," said Maidique. Maidique said Miss Esquibel was shouting "Kill him, Kill him," in Spanish. He said Ms. Garcia fired a shot. Then Ms. Esquibel said, according to Maidique's testimony, "Finish killing him."
"What happened when Martha kept yelling?" asked Basden.
"I came over and picked up my gun, to impress them," said Maidique. He testified earlier that Ms. Garcia knew that inside the silver box he was (See You, Page 2A, Col. 6.)

FATAL CRASH — Big Spring police officers search the wreckage of a Cadillac which struck a light pole on Highway 176 near Interstate 20 late Wednesday afternoon. The driver, lone occupant of the car, was identified as Ethel Hash Case, a 37-year-old Big Spring woman. Police reports said she died of massive internal injuries.

Abortion foes win in subcommittee

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate subcommittee voted 3-2 today to approve legislation defining life as beginning at conception, taking the first congressional step toward overturning the 1973 Supreme Court decision legalizing abortion.
In a major victory for opponents of legalized abortion, the Senate Judiciary subcommittee on separation of powers approved a bill giving unborn fetuses full rights under the Constitution. The bill also would prohibit lower federal courts from considering challenges to the anti-abortion legislation.
Critics say such legislation, if approved by Congress, would make a woman who has an abortion subject to prosecution for murder.
But Sen. John East, R-N.C., the subcommittee chairman, said the bill was merely an attempt to send the abortion question back to the states for their consideration.
As approved by the subcommittee in a partisan vote, the so-called human life bill will be delayed on its way to the full Senate Judiciary Committee until a subcommittee on the Constitution can consider an alternative constitutional amendment banning abortions.
Sen. Orrin Hatch, R-Utah, who heads the Constitution subcommittee and is a member of the East subcommittee, denied that his vote for the human life bill was obtained in exchange for an agreement reverting the bill to his subcommittee.

woman killed when car flips

Firemen will pitch in to help victims of fires

A Big Spring woman was killed late Wednesday afternoon when her car overturned after striking a utility pole on the Andrews highway (SH 176) near Interstate 20.
She was identified as Ethel Hash Case, a 37-year-old former Monahans resident and owner of the Shade Western tavern on North Birdwell.
Police reports said she was traveling eastbound on 176 when she crossed the median divider and hit the pole.
Cause of death was listed as massive internal injuries. She apparently died at the moment of impact or shortly thereafter. Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin pronounced her dead at the scene of the accident. She was taken by ambulance to Sheppard Funeral Home.

The car, a bronze-colored Cadillac, is registered in the name of Dean Case of Andrews.
Services will be at 2 p.m. Saturday in the First Baptist Church of Albany. Burial will be at the Albany Cemetery. Services will be directed by Sheppard Funeral Home. The body will lie in Sheppard Funeral Home until 9 a.m. Saturday.
She was born May 8, 1944 in Stevens County, she married Leroy Case on Feb. 2, 1962. She had resided in Big Spring for seven months.
She is survived by her husband Leroy Case, of Big Spring; two daughters, Beverly Pendergrass of Iowa Park, Tex. and Katherine Jo Portwood of Big Spring; two sons, Allen Dean Pendergrass of Iowa Park and Leroy Case Jr. of Big Spring; three brothers, Joe Hash, George Hash and Lewis Hash all of Big Spring; and four grandchildren.

When some of the men on the Big Spring Fire Department saw a need to help victims of fire damage, they decided to do something about it.
All the men have pitched in to start a fund to give immediate help to the victims of fires.
See photo page 2A, col 3
To start the fund, the Fire Department, with the help of local businesses, the Big Spring Police Department and KMID-TV Channel 2, Midland, will hold five softball games and an auction starting at 11 a.m. Saturday at Comanche Trail Park.
The event, which has a free admission, is expected to raise approximately $2,000 for the fund. The men eventually expect to raise approximately $10,000 for the account.
"With most of the fires that hit people, they have insurance, but it's not usually enough," said Colton Wright, a fireman who has worked for the BSFD six years. "They don't have enough to put a house in shape.

House votes to shelve MX desert basing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House voted tentatively Thursday to shelve, at least temporarily, plans for a network of MX mobile missile bases in the western desert.
By voice vote, the House adopted an amendment by Rep. James V. Hansen, R-Utah, blocking the Defense Department from spending money on the MX basing plan until President Reagan has made up his mind about it.
The bill provides $2.4 billion for the MX missile, but Hansen said his amendment would affect only $1.1 billion for the network of bases in Utah and Nevada.

Q. How do I go about applying for a patent?

A. Through the Patent and Trademark Office in Washington, D.C. The law says that you can prepare, file and prosecute your application on your own. However, unless you're well versed in patent office procedures and law, we suggest you retain an attorney or agent registered to practice before the patent office. If you are not fully informed on patenting policy, you could fail to obtain your patent or you could get one that doesn't adequately protect your invention. Your elected representatives in Washington will send you pamphlets containing general information about how to obtain a patent.

Polish workers strike

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Workers disrupted the flights of Poland's national airline and halted public transport in the northwestern city of Bydgoszcz in separate warning strikes today.

A four-hour warning strike by employees of the airline LOT demanding the right to pick their own boss left about 150 passengers stranded at Warsaw's Okęcie International Airport, a union spokesman said.

Bus and streetcar drivers in Bydgoszcz, a city of 280,000 returned to their depots at 10 a.m. for a two-hour work stoppage pushing for the ouster of the director of the city transport system. The local union chapter charges that he abused his power, lived beyond his means and used public electricians to do private work.

The job actions were the second and third warning strikes this week in a new wave of labor unrest in Poland following a four-month lull.

Thousands riot in U.K.

MANCHESTER, England (AP) — A thousand youths besieged a Manchester police station, screaming "Kill! Kill!" as Britain had its sixth straight night of street violence despite an appeal for calm from Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher.

The mob smashed windows and set fire to police vehicles and private cars in the station yard until frantically wielding bobbies, protected by plastic riot shields and reinforced safety helmets, drove the youths out of a police spokesman said.

Elsewhere in this northern industrial city on the hot and humid night, shops were set afire, broken into and looted in a repetition of the violence in London and Liverpool on the previous nights.

The police said "simultaneous and apparently well-coordinated attacks" were made on shops, pubs, garages and other buildings.

A police spokesman said 17 people were arrested, and three police officers were injured, including one hit in the arm by a crossbow bolt. The spokesman said the streets were quiet by 3:30 a.m.

More than 700 officers were deployed to quell the rioting.

Dole to talk compromise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the Republican-controlled Senate Finance Committee is ready to talk compromise with House Democrats on extra tax relief for low- and middle-income Americans, saying that "would not do violence" to President Reagan's tax plan.

"Between now and next week I hope to have some dialogue with the House Ways and Means Committee," Sen. Bob Dole, R-Kan., said Wednesday. The House panel was resuming work today on its own version of the tax cut.

Dole's committee already has approved a tax-cut plan mirroring Reagan's recommendation for an average 25 percent cut in personal tax rates over 10 months, starting Oct. 1.

Democrats, saying a three-year tax cut would cost $100 billion, are pressing a two-year plan with more relief for people making less than $50,000 a year. In addition, their proposal for reducing business taxes is considerably different from the one advanced by Dole's committee.

"We could sit down and work out our differences on the business tax cuts in two hours," Dole said in an interview on CBS Radio. On individual tax reductions, he said "I think they (Democrats) could give up the 10 percent, we could give up the skewing."

Begin leads in election

TEL AVIV, Israel (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin claims he has lined up the majority he needs to form a new government. Some converts to Judaism may have to pay the price for Begin's renewed alliance with Orthodox Jews.

"I think I can say we have 61 members of Parliament who are ready to support the government I am about to form," Begin said in an Israel Television interview Wednesday.

Israeli President Yitzhak Navon is to make the next election when he formally designates Begin to set up a government, probably next week.

Begin said he hopes he can do it in less than the 21 days allotted by law.

He is believed to have lined up the orthodox National Religious Party, its breakaway TAMI faction and the ultra-orthodox Agudat Israel Party, with a total of 13 seats to join his conservative Likud bloc in a coalition that would control 61 seats in the 120-seat Knesset or Parliament. Members of all three parties served in the outgoing government.

The National Election Commission announced official results today, giving the Likud bloc 48 seats and Labor 20 seats. The two major parties were separated by 10 popular votes and the one-seat edge by Likud's placement as the closest between the two parties in 10 years of their history.

Pollution hurts farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — It would cost relatively little to combat what amounts to a "quiet theft of food," the annual destruction of billions of dollars in U.S. crops by air pollution deemed safe for humans, agriculture researchers said today.

Just $2 million for research "would go a long way" toward resolving the problem, Howard Heggstad of the Agriculture Department's Plant Physiology Institute told subcommittees of the House Agriculture and Science and Technology committees.

Walter Heck, a department researcher based at North Carolina State University, said an annual loss estimate of between $1 billion and $2 billion is probably conservative because it is based on the assumption that air pollution is not exceeding the standards considered acceptable by the federal government.

"Most sections of the country are above the standard and thus current national losses are probably higher than these estimates even when major regional environmental differences are taken into account," Heck said.

"That's a serious problem," he added.

If the pollution could be overcome, consumer prices might be kept down and farm income improved because of reduced losses and production costs.

Murphy Daniels selected for one-man art showing

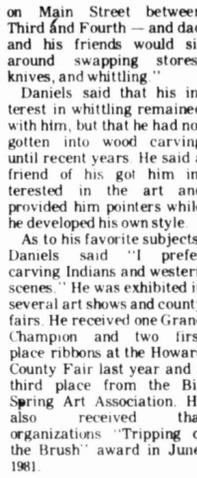

Murphy L. Daniels, a member of the Big Spring Art Association, has been selected by that organization for a one-man showing through July at Citizens Federal Credit Union. The exhibit, which is open to the general public from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday through Friday, will be the first one-man showing sponsored by the local group and will feature many of Daniels' recent wood carvings.

Discussing his individualistic style of wood carving, Murphy Daniels said "I first became interested in whittling when I was quite young. We lived on a farm and on Saturday afternoon we went to town to buy the weekly supply of groceries and take care of what little business there was," he explained.

"After that was done," Daniels continued, "Dad and I would do what I had looked forward to all week. We sat down under what most old timers will remember as the tree of knowledge — it was on Main Street between Third and Fourth — and dad and his friends would sit around swapping stories, knives, and whittling."

Daniels said that his interest in whittling remained with him, but that he had not gotten into wood carving until recent years. He said a friend of his got him interested in the art and provided him pointers while he developed his own style.

As to his favorite subjects, Daniels said "I prefer carving Indians and western scenes." He was exhibited in several art shows and county fairs. He received one Grand Champion and two first place ribbons at the Howard County Fair last year and a third place from the Big Spring Art Association. He also received "that organizations' 'Tripping of the Brush' award in June, 1981.

carrying was a gun, because she had seen the box before, and warned him not to carry it.

"Why didn't you leave?" asked Basden.

"Linda was at my back. I asked Martha 'Why are you ordering her to do this,' he said. 'Without looking, I fired in this direction. I was being fired on. I fired in her direction. I thought (the shots) would stop her from killing me.'"

He said he then went in Martha's direction. He said after firing the shots, Ms. Garcia was still standing. "I saw her (Ms. Garcia) running. She threw her pistol toward the door. Martha attacked me. That's when I hit her with my gun."

He said at that point, Ms. Garcia fell, face down, and "moaned a scary moan. That frightened me."

"I stumbled with the table, with the door. I got out, and kept walking. I continued walking across the street, and away from the house. I started to run. I threw my gun right, in a wooded area."

Basden asked Edwardo if he believed the shot Ms. Garcia fired was at him. "Yes, it passed in my direction," said Maidique.

Maidique said again, when questioned that the order from Miss Esquibel to kill him was firm. "I thought I was about to be fired on. That's when I fired without looking."

"Did you believe you had the opportunity to run to the front door?" asked Basden. "No," said Maidique.

Maidique then described leaving, saying he walked to his brother's residence at 100 Washington. There, he said, he saw the police.

His brother came up to him, he said, and they had a conversation. "He (Alberto Maidique) asked me what I had done. I said that I had killed."

Basden later asked Edwardo "Do you regret this incident," to which he replied "Yes."

"Do you believe that if you had not fired the shots, you would have been killed?" to which he answered "It's probable."

Rick Hamby then questioned Maidique, asking "Did you love Linda?" Maidique answered "With all my heart."

"Did you go there (to Ms. Garcia's home) and say 'I heard you've been whoring around?'" asked Hamby. Maidique said "No."

When he returned to his brother's home, Hamby asked him if he said "Now those whores won't bother me," and Maidique said "No."

"You couldn't bring yourself to call her a whore, because you loved her," said Hamby. "You loved her to death, didn't you?"

Hamby asked Maidique if he had driven by Ms. Garcia's home earlier in the evening. "No," he said. "Did you drive by and see a strange car parked there?" said Hamby. "No," said Maidique.

Hamby then questioned why a gun was brought out when Maidique entered the home. "Don't you think it's strange Linda was afraid of you?" he asked, questioning Maidique's statement that the two were still very close.

Congressmen join battle to control drug traffic

WASHINGTON (AP) — Several congressmen joined Rep. Richard White, D-Texas, Wednesday in pursuing ways to better combat drug smuggling into the United States.

They hailed an amendment by Rep. Charles E. Bennett, D-Fla., that would authorize military personnel to use their sophisticated electronic equipment to track suspected drug traffickers as they neared U.S. shores by ship or plane, then relay the information to civilian law enforcement officers.

The points were made during floor debate on the Department of Defense appropriations authorization bill for the 1982 fiscal year. Votes on the amendments are scheduled later in the discussion, which will continue through Friday.

The Drug Enforcement Agency, the principal U.S. agency responsible for fighting drug smuggling, "probably could not duplicate the equipment available in the military," said Rep. Thomas F. Railsback, R-Ill.

White, saying he agrees in principle with Bennett's proposal, drew support with allowing cooperation between the armed services and civilian personnel, would prohibit military personnel from carrying out search and seizure operations.

Bennett's proposed legislation, White said, "makes possible the use of untrained military personnel to engage in the dangerous act of searches and seizures. It is possible they will not have the special training in law enforcement, which will mean some of them will be killed," White said.

Ruling on remap's legality is expected soon

By JIM DAVIS

Martha Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Texas House members should know by Friday afternoon whether a state district judge thinks their proposed new districts for the 1980s are legal under the Texas Constitution.
 Judge Harley Clark said Wednesday he hopes to be able to rule by then on a suit seeking to knock out the plan adopted by the Texas Legislature and signed by Gov. Bill Clements.
 Clark could rule the plan totally unconstitutional, partially unconstitutional or totally constitutional.
 Whatever his decision, the losing side is expected to appeal to the 3rd

Court of Civil Appeals in Austin. Another appeal to the Texas Supreme Court is likely from there.
 If the plan is thrown out, a special redistricting board composed of five top state officials — all Democrats — probably would redraw the districts.
 Plaintiffs in the suit, three legislators and six others unhappy with the plan, say the House's redistricting unnecessarily cuts county lines of many counties in violation of the Texas Constitution.
 The plaintiff's chief witness, George Korb, spent most of Wednesday in defense against attempts to discredit him and his proposal to redraw House districts with only 17 county-line cuts rather than 34 under the official plan. Korb has testified that numerous counties, such as El Paso County, could have been left intact under redistricting.

 The adopted House plan assigns small pieces of these counties to districts with mostly rural counties.
 Through questioning of Korb, Assistant Attorney General Richard Gray III attempted to show that leaving the counties intact would cause a loss of voting strength for urban residents.
 In El Paso County, for example, the approved House plan would remove 5,472 persons and place them with a mostly rural District 71, which would be represented by incumbent Jerry Cockerham of Monahans if he is re-elected next year.

 Gray sought to show that leaving those 5,472 persons in El Paso County would mean that more people would elect the five representatives in the county and fewer people would elect the one representative in District 71.
 "In fact," Gray asked, "haven't you given more (political) weight to folks in rural areas than those in urban areas?" Korb said voting strength depends on several factors.
 Gray also maintained that leaving urban counties intact would tend to violate the federal Voting Rights Act, which seeks to protect the voting rights of minorities. He said minorities, particularly blacks, tend to live in the state's urban areas.

 Korb said his proposal only affected certain counties where splits were unnecessary and not large minority counties such as Dallas and Harris.
 Under questioning, Korb said he has been involved in redistricting since working for the Mexican American Legal Defense and Education Fund following the 1970 Census. He currently works for the Texas Rural Legal Aid.
 Clark said he would rule by 1 p.m. Friday on the lawsuit challenging the House plan. However, his statement was made before a slow moving afternoon session in the courtroom.

 The boundary lines drawn by the recent Legislature are being contested by three Mexican American lawmakers and other plaintiffs. They claim the Texas Constitution says counties must be kept intact in legislative districts except where necessary to balance population.
 The plan being challenged here bill divides 34 counties, including Dallas, Bexar, Houston, El Paso and Tarrant.
 George Korb, a lawyer for Texas Rural Legal Aid, said Wednesday there are "11 or 12 easy changes" that would lessen the number of divided counties.

Texas 2000 Commission role

Farabee named to head agriculture committee

Sen. Ray Farabee was named chairman of the agriculture committee of the Texas 2000 Commission at the commission's first meeting in Austin Tuesday.
 Sen. Farabee is one of two senators serving on the 30-member commission which was appointed by the governor to provide guidance to the state on areas of importance to the long-term economic development of Texas.

Sen. Farabee expressed pleasure at the appointment, since agriculture is one of the most important economic factors in the 30th senatorial district.
 "Texas recently moved from No. 3 nationally in total cash receipts, for agriculture to No. 2. And we must do more in the future development of state policies to support agricultural growth and productivity during the next 10 years so that Texas will soon be No. 1 in fully utilizing its agricultural resources," Farabee said.
 At the initial meeting of the commission, speakers stressed the importance of a long range perspective in Texas and the increasing need for the public and private sectors to work together in the development of policy actions that will ensure the continuation of Texas leadership in the nation.
 "Agricultural productivity must be improved by individuals on Texas farms, ranches, and in related agribusinesses. However, policies reflecting a clear understanding of the importance of Texas agriculture and its critical problem must be established to sustain and develop programs assuring the development of new technology. The economic and legal climate in Texas encourages private initiative to increase productivity. Increased effort must be made to call attention to this favorable environment," Farabee stated.

Increased research effort and public support will be required in the following areas: 1.) conservation of natural resources — especially water and land; 2.) energy conservation for agriculture; 3.) more efficient crop and livestock production systems; 4.) alternate or improved crops; 5.) increased productivity and production to reduce capital risks, and 6.) development of new markets, marketing systems and policies for both foreign and domestic markets as well as tailoring of Texas products to the market.
 The commission will operate both as a unit and in committees. In addition to Sen. Farabee's chairmanship, other committee chairpersons include Sen. Grant Jones — state and local government finance; Rita Clements — relations with Mexico; Louis Beecherl Jr. — water; Andres Ramos — transportation; Harvey McMains — research and development; and Dr. William Fisher — energy.

Midland jail inmates are penalized

MIDLAND — Because they remained silent while three prisoners were escaping from the Midland County jail, other inmates in the jail's felony tank have temporarily lost such privileges as use of the telephone and access to television.
 Sheriff Dallas Smith said the privileges "are ones we created as a disciplinary tool. We are not required to provide them."
 The three prisoners escaped last Sunday by removing a light fixture in their cellblock, then crawling along the top of the cellblock and dropping on an unsuspecting jailer who was making his routine rounds outside the cellblock.

The escapees later jumped a second jailer and obtained keys which enabled them to open a fire escape door in the jail and go down an interior courthouse stairway to freedom.

No disciplinary action will be taken against the jail staff, Smith has stated. The escapees remain at large.

Waldheim should know better

Some of the more vocal critics of the United Nations say the organization is made up of society's misfits, most of whom couldn't make a living selling apples. The members of the anvil chorus also insist that the UN delegations never resolve anything, that their chief mission in life is to talk ambiguously so that anything they say when they get the floor can be interpreted at least two ways.

BE THAT AS IT MAY, the UN didn't bathe itself in glory recently with the revelation that it had paid $432,000 to 15 news periodicals in as many countries to print stories favorable to the organization. Furthermore, the UN did it with the blessing of Secretary General Kurt Waldheim.

In other times, such an arrangement would have been identified as 'payola,' not a very flattering term in any language.

Let it be said no American newspaper was involved in the payoff. No matter in what papers around the globe it appeared, such information should have been clearly identified as advertising. Those publishers who would accept money in return for printing such information should have realized that their readers forever after will be inclined to wonder how much of the other 'news' in their papers might owe its existence to a like arrangement.

What sort of an organization is it that is willing to offer such "subsidies" to newspapers? Does it not challenge the integrity of the UN? Certainly the United States delegation is on sound ethical ground in protesting.

In case you're not familiar with what happened, the money came from a Japanese businessman who reasons UN programs designed to help people in the Third World are not reaping enough positive publicity in the world press.

AFTER RECEIVING PAYMENTS ranging up to $48,000 news organs in France and Japan, published supplements replete with favorable stories about the UN in the Third World. Some were authored by UN employees.

It is a basic rule in American journalism that such supplements paid for by an advertiser be so labeled. These were not.

Yasushi Akashi of Japan insists the U.S. protest is not justified because the ethics of publishing in other countries is different from ours.

That may be correct but that does not make it any more wholesome for the UN to be taking advantage of such a failing.

In the past, Waldheim has been quoted as saying he wants to improve the quality of news coverage in the world's media. If that be true, he should recognize that paying publishers to print bogus news is a poor way to begin.

Guard in money-wasting epic

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Big-time Hollywood producers aren't the only ones who go over the budget on a picture, to the dismay of their backers.

The National Guard, a neophyte in the moviemaking game, has already run 66 percent over its initial budget on a 28-and-a-half-minute film titled, "Goodbye, Dear, I'll Be Back in a Year."

The movie is a period piece, an exercise in nostalgia. Its title was the jaunty slogan of draftees in 1940, whose promised 12-month stretch of military service was dramatically extended by the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor the following year.

THE MOVIE, ACCORDING TO one disgruntled source, was the inspiration of "a bunch of old officers" who thought of it as a fitting 40th anniversary tribute to their World War II service. Consequently, in addition to some old documentary footage, the movie includes interviews with former National Guardsmen recounting just what they were doing when they were called to the colors long ago.

The National Guard hired an advertising agency to promote the movie together for $155,000. But the first session of "Goodbye, Dear" laid an egg with the brass-hat critics. Scenes were shot over and other changes made. Result: The Guard now says the film will cost $257,000. Outside sources suggest this is an understatement.

Ventures like "Goodbye, Dear" might seem to be what President Reagan had in mind in his "flicks and flacks" directive last April, which called for review of public relations spending by federal agencies and suggested a moratorium on new p.r. projects. Yet the old soldiers' movie isn't the Guard's only questionable publicity effort.

For the past couple of years, the Guard's commanders have worked — and spent money — on a program they call "GuardAware." One of its purposes was to develop a "comprehensive public affairs program, including a supporting manual" to train local Guard units in the most effective ways to get publicity. The cost of the program so far is about $263,000.

There are two or three things wrong with this: In the first place, sources told my associate Lucette Lagnado, the various state adjutants general are reportedly not enthusiastic about the program.

IN THE SECOND PLACE, The "GuardAware" program is somewhat redundant. The Defense Department already has an information school whose sole purpose is to train military public affairs officers. It has an excellent supply of materials available to offer uniformed flacks the necessary guidance.

And thirdly, the National Guard has been limited by Congress to a $50,000 yearly p.r. budget.

The Guard gets around this spending limit by claiming that "GuardAware" and "Goodbye, Dear" are not simply press agency, but recruiting aids. It's not clear just how the garrulous reminiscences of what it was like when Pop went to war will encourage volunteers to join the Guard.

Meanwhile, though, the presses and the cameras roll.

MOO-VING RIGHT ALONG: The dairy industry lost its fight for an April 1 price-support increase, but its lobbyists have been doing their usual behind-the-scenes work to protect its members at the consumers' expense.

The dairy interests want either a tariff or an import quota on casein. That's the powdery white protein supplement used in a variety of convenience foods, like frozen pizzas, ready-to-bake pastry, non-dairy creamers, margarine and condensed milk. Casein, in short, is a cheap and nutritious competitor to dairy products.

Agriculture Secretary John Block and Sen. Robert Doole, R-Kan., have asked President Reagan to initiate an investigation of casein imports. To support their case, dairy lobbyists have been citing selected parts of an Agriculture Department study on the subject.

But they're not mentioning other parts, like this statement: "A 50 percent tariff (on casein) would increase the cost of consumer products annually by $47.5 million to $5.1 million."

Or this: "A 50 percent quota would (lead to) a total increase in the cost of consumer products of $115 million."

In fact, some experts say the increase could be as high as $300 million.

WATCH ON WASTE: Over the last three years, the Department of Energy spent more than $567,000 on a "weatherization" program in central Illinois. The idea was laudable: Install insulation and storm windows on the homes of the poor and elderly to cut their energy bills and save oil. But when investigators for the DOE inspector general audited the program recently, they found chaos.

On many homes, work had been started but never completed. Storm windows were found stacked in garages.

Many supposedly "weatherized" residents complained about the poor quality of the work. There's a happy ending though: Spurred by the audit, DOE officials saw to it that the work was finally done — and done right.

—Millions of dollars could be saved in federal social programs without hurting the recipients if government agencies would clean up their wasteful administrative procedures.

The float

Art Buchwald

Everyone can understand it when a little guy owes you money and is late in paying it. But it's hard for most people to comprehend when a big corporation will play games with you.

Because of high interest rates more and more of the larger companies are dragging their feet when it comes to paying their bills. These are the same outfits who threaten an individual with the death penalty if he doesn't pay his bill on time.

The reason for this can be attributed to what is known in the banking business as "the float."

"The float" is the amount of cash that a company has on hand at any given time to invest in short-term bonds, notes, or certificates of deposit paying 14 or 15 or 18 percent interest.

LONGER THE corporations on to your money, the more money they make on it for themselves. When interest rates were low, companies didn't pay much attention to "the float." Now it's keeping many of them alive. With double-digit interest, "the float" can make money for its owner on nights, weekends and holidays. Special divisions have been set up to make sure every bit of cash in a company is earning interest at all times, whether it's money that belongs to the company, or money that is owed to you.

This is how it works. You have provided a small service for Corporation Busbee, and your bill comes to $5,000, a pittance to this great conglomerate. One month goes by and you don't hear a word — then the second month goes by, and you decide to call up the man who ordered the work.

Because you're hoping for more business from C.B. you're very polite on the phone.

(Large companies who deal in "the float" count on the little fellows not becoming belligerent when it comes to asking for the money owed to him.)

The man who ordered the $5,000 worth of services is expecting the call. "I put in a voucher for that bill the day I received it," he says in his most surprised voice. "I'll call Wheat Bluff, Kansas, and see what happened to it."

"Why would you call Wheat Bluff, Kansas, when you're located in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania?"

"That's where our computers are. We pay all our bills from Wheat Bluff."

"Isn't that a bit out of the way for you?"

"Not really. They have two computer flights going in there every week. I'll get on this right away."

The next time you call the man is on sick leave, and the time after he's on vacation. Two months later you get him back on the phone.

"Any news about my $5,000?"

"DIDN'T YOU get your money yet?" the man says. "This is a shocking state of affairs. The people in Wheat Bluff promised me they would put your check in the mail the next day. I'll get right back to you."

The next week the man at C.B. calls. "Well, you'll be glad to hear I found out what the hold-up was. Your invoice never reached Boulder, Colorado."

"Where does Boulder fit into this?"

"The computer in Wheat Bluff won't issue a check unless the computer in Boulder confirms the figure is correct. I've sent a duplicate of the invoice off today. I wouldn't be surprised if you got your money in a week."

Whether you finally get your money in a week or a month after this call, depends on whether the treasurer of Corporation Busbee wants to let you out of the company's float.

You may be wondering where your $5,000 was while you were trying to keep your head above water. If it will make you feel any better, it wasn't just sitting in Wheat Bluff, Kansas. It was floating in U.S. Treasury Bills, German marks, Japanese yen, tax-free hockey bonds, or an off-shore Euro-dollar fund and Oil of Olay futures in Toronto, Canada.

Who says the big companies don't give you a ride for your money?

Tommy Hart

Around the rim The Stanton caper

Long-time readers of the Herald might remember a column entitled "The Grub Line," written by the late Franklin Reynolds.

In a column appearing in the March 24, 1964 Herald, Reynolds recalled a Texas & Pacific train robbery which occurred in Mustang Draw a few miles west of Stanton in 1896.

Reynolds had gleaned his information about the crime from Henry H. Haynes who at the time of the interview was 81 years of age. Haynes remembered the incident well, down to the unique locomotive whistle of Engine 109, which pulled the train, and its engineer, Jim Holmes.

Four robbers composed the gang that robbed the train. One was a woman, who was in her fifth month of pregnancy.

AT THAT TIME, the T&P passenger depot in Big Spring was situated just north of the west end of the present freight warehouse. John Birdwell was operating a hotel where the T&P passenger station was to be built later.

The train was due in Big Spring at 8 p.m., from the east and Haynes remembered it was on time. Haynes worked the train that night. The train crew was changed here and the baggage car was cut out, with one man taking charge of both baggage and express for the run to El Paso. The express car was heavily loaded with Weatherford watermelons at one end and was stacked to the ceiling at the other end with crates of chicken, which also had been put aboard at Weatherford.

Haynes didn't hear anything about the robbery until the following morning, when the wrecked express car was brought back here. The blast that blew open the safe smashed watermelons and killed the chickens. There were chicken feathers all over the interior of the car and the floor of the car was awash with watermelon juice. The roof of the car had also been blown off at one end.

Haynes also recalled there were small pieces of currency, torn up by the blast, stuck in various places around the top of the car. Haynes said $30,000 in cash was either destroyed in the blast or carried away by the outlaws.

HAYNES TALKED with members of the train crew the following day about the holdup. As the train was ready to pull out of Stanton, one of the robbers climbed in the cab and, with drawn pistol, forced Holmes to pull the train a few miles west of Stanton.

After it was stopped, the bandit ordered the crew to uncouple the engine and express car from the rest of the train and drive on about a mile, where a signal fire was burning alongside the track. Holmes was to recall he saw four horses nearby. Shortly thereafter, one charge of dynamite blew off the safe.

The woman among the four bandits was dressed like a man. After scooping up their loot, they climbed aboard their horses and rode southeast, but not before one of the bandits had cut open one of the undamaged melons and eaten of it.

Investigation into the robbery proved that the gang wound up in San Angelo. The party split up. Two of the men hurried on into Oklahoma's Indian Territory where they promptly got into trouble and were either killed or incarcerated. The other man and the woman went on to Kansas City, where the woman's baby was born.

Were the man and woman who went to Missouri made to answer for their sins after participating in the robbery? Mr. Haynes never found out. Considering the fact that there were few lawmen to guard the whole frontier, it is doubtful they were ever brought before the bar of justice.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I would really like to become a Christian, but I don't know how. It seems like everyone has a different opinion about it. How can I know the truth about what it means to be a real Christian? — A.N.E.

DEAR A.N.E.: To be a Christian means to be a follower (or disciple) of Jesus Christ. Therefore, the best place to discover what it means to be a real Christian is to see what Jesus himself had to say about it. We find this in the Gospels of the New Testament.

What do we find when we turn to the Gospels? We find two things: We are to believe certain truths, and we are to receive a certain gift which God offers to us. Let us look at each of those.

First, we are to believe certain truths — about ourselves, and about Christ. The Bible tells us that we were created by God, but we have wandered away from him. We have chosen to go our own way and have left God out of our lives. This is what the Bible calls sin, and we are all guilty of sin before God. Our greatest need is to be forgiven and to be reconciled to our heavenly Father.

These are truths you must believe — but there also is a gift you must receive. Imagine that someone offered you a magnificent gift. They had paid for it, and now they offer it to you. But it is not yours until you accept it and take it as your own.

It is the same way with God's offer of salvation. Christ had paid for it — but you must accept it. And you can do that by a simple act of faith, asking Christ to come into your life and telling him you want to be your personal Lord and Savior. If you will do that, Christ will come in and you will be a child of God forever.

The Bible also tells us this is possible because God's Son, Jesus Christ, came to pay the penalty for our sins and take them away. Jesus said, "The Son of Man did not come to be served, but to serve, and to give his life as a ransom for many" (Matthew 20:28).

He also declared, "For the Son of Man came to seek and to save the lost" (Luke 19:10). He did this by dying on the cross as a sacrifice for our sins, although he himself was without sin. He demonstrated that his sacrifice was perfect by rising from the dead.

Many homes, work had been started but never completed. Storm windows were found stacked in garages.

Many supposedly "weatherized" residents complained about the poor quality of the work. There's a happy ending though: Spurred by the audit, DOE officials saw to it that the work was finally done — and done right.

—Millions of dollars could be saved in federal social programs without hurting the recipients if government agencies would clean up their wasteful administrative procedures.

Drug helps hasten delivery

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Recently, my daughter had a baby. She went through 20 hours of labor, which left her exhausted. The doctor was considering a C-section, but they decided to administer Oxytocin instead. The did and the baby was born immediately. It seems there are so many C-sections being done, and I am wondering why this drug is not used more. — H.F.

Oxytocin is a drug that makes the uterine muscle contract harder and is useful in some instances where delivery is delayed. But you must remember that weak uterine muscle contraction is not the only reason birth is delayed. If the pelvic bones are too small for the baby to pass through, you could not use Oxytocin, and would have to resort to caesarean section. That's only one example. There are several other situations in which use of such a drug would not be advised.

Oxytocin is a valuable drug. I am happy that it was used so successfully in your daughter's case. But beware of trying to generalize about all cases of prolonged labor from this one experience. We can all fall into that trap.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Father had a stroke recently. He is doing quite well, we're told, and his mental outlook is gratifying. The thing that bothers him most is his hand, which stays clenched. What is the best method of helping his hand get freed up? — Mrs. G.E.

Contracture of the hand joints is one thing to be watchful of. I am sure there is a rehabilitation unit that can help you with specific suggestions. Today, emphasis is placed on prolonged, gentle stretching of the contracted joints (fingers and hand) a few times a day. One authority suggests application of cold as way to reduce the spasticity, thus making the stretching more effective. The older rubber ball squeezing idea is no longer favored.

I do suggest that you contact a rehabilitation center near you. Often, injection of a dilute phenol into a very specific part of the spastic muscle helps. There was a helpful article on the general subject of stroke rehabilitation in the October (1980) issue of Geriatrics magazine. You should be able to find a copy in the medical library of the large city in which you live.

Did you know that 80 percent of stroke victims resume to some degree their normal lives? The booklet "Stroke Recovery — Hope and Help" describes the causes and treatment of stroke. For a copy write Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing 50 cents and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

National Democratic chairman calls for discipline of Gramm

DALLAS (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Charles Manatt told the Texas Democratic congressional delegation Wednesday the House should discipline Rep. Phil Gramm for aiding the Reagan administration in the budget battle.

Manatt said Gramm, D-College Station, has "abused" his responsibilities as a Democrat.

Gramm responded by accusing Manatt of "a crude attempt to intimidate" him and other Democratic conservatives.

"I'm not going to put up with it," Gramm said of any disciplinary action. "But frankly, I can't see it as being successful."

Manatt spoke to the weekly luncheon of Texas Democrats which turned into a "freewheeling and very frank" discussion, the Dallas Morning News reported.

Party liberals have been calling for Gramm to be punished and House Democrats may caucus next week on that issue. But there is no certainty that those liberals will succeed in forcing the matter before a caucus of all 234

House Democrats.

"I don't think an effort to get Gramm, as unpopular as he is, would make it without some serious debate," a Democratic staff member said.

Luncheon participants agreed not to talk about the verbal sparring, but sources familiar with the exchange between Gramm and other members, including House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth, said it covered "everything that was in the newspaper about what was said to various members."

Manatt told Texas Democrats Gramm accepted responsibilities when he sought and won election to the Budget Committee. But after participating in strategy sessions, he went "over to the other side, sharing the strategy, sharing the confidences" with House Republicans and the Reagan White House, Manatt said.

Gramm engaged in a "concerted pattern of action" in flouting party positions, he said.

Manatt said he was not trying to threaten Gramm with ouster from the Democratic Party, but said he believes the party needs "to develop the discipline and the focus to counter a highly disciplined, highly focused Republican effort."

"I think he ought to shape up so far as responsibility on his budget work," Manatt said.

The DNC chairman would not say what action should be taken against Gramm, although he suggested he be removed from the Budget Committee.

"If I were a member of the caucus, I'd go that way," he said.

He was vague on whether action should be taken against other Texas congressmen, such as Hance, who has sided with Republicans on the budget issue.

Gramm said Manatt's real objection is to the budget cuts.

"I think millions of conservative Democrats in the South and West especially are going to be somewhat surprised to find out from the chairman of the Democratic National Committee that fiscal responsibility is a partisan Republican position and that there is no room in the Democratic Party for those who want to stop the growth of government."

"As long as I can represent my philosophy and the philosophy of my constituency, I don't see any reason to change," Gramm said.

Newly discovered Mozart symphony is premiered

By MARY CAMPBELL

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Mozart symphony written in 1765 but discovered just this year had its American premiere here Wednesday — twice.

"Symphony in F major, K. 19a," written by Mozart at age 9, was performed by the Mostly Mozart Festival Orchestra first for President Reagan, his wife, Nancy, and 300 invited guests on the south lawn of the White House, and then for a sold-out crowd at the Kennedy Center's Concert Hall.

The Kennedy Center performance lasted 13 minutes — two minutes longer than the one at the White House.

At the Kennedy Center, conductor Leonard Slatkin, played harpsichord — and still seated — conducted during rests in his music, which was the practice in Mozart's time.

Slatkin, music director of the St. Louis Symphony, played an eight-bar improvised solo, as Mozart indicated on his score should be done. He also conducted the repeats in the score, making the piece longer than the White House performance.

"I wanted to save something, to make tonight different," Slatkin said after the Kennedy Center concert. "Also, the solo harpsichord couldn't be heard outdoors."

Test tube baby birth attempted in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) — The second known attempt to implant an embryo fertilized in a test tube into the woman's womb has been made by doctors at the University of Texas Medical School.

Drs. Martin Quigley and Berel Held confirmed Wednesday their team has attempted the controversial procedure in a group of 10 women, but said no further details would be disclosed until at least one was three months pregnant.

The chances of a woman becoming pregnant by in vitro fertilization and embryo transfer are about 5 percent, according to data from doctors in England and Australia, they said.

So far, only nine children have been born as a result of the laboratory fertilization and embryo transfer, but reproduction scientists have predicted that number will rise steadily as technical problems are resolved.

Reagan mulls reinstating military draft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite its commitment to an all-volunteer military, the Reagan administration will examine the possibility of reinstating the draft to increase the armed forces by 10 percent over the next four years, a senior Pentagon official says.

A draft will be among prospective manpower policies considered by a new task force headed by Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger.

The administration estimates it will have to add some 200,000 troops to the current military force of 1.1 million by 1985 to meet its strategic objectives, said the official, who discussed the task force at a news briefing Wednesday on the condition that he not be identified.

The Washington Post, meanwhile, reported today that the Army has expressed doubts in a secret report to Weinberger that its required manpower can be recruited under the voluntary concept instituted when the draft ended in 1973.

The secret report did not contain a recommendation for a "draft" or "conscription," the newspaper said. But the Post quoted unidentified Pentagon sources as saying the Army is counting on a draft eventually.

Weinberger told the Post through a spokesman that "the draft is not anything anybody is considering."

The strategic objectives cited by the Pentagon official who briefed reporters include providing the United States with the ability to fight a lengthy non-nuclear war and responding to crises around the world.

The official said it was possible that some of the 200,000 new positions could be filled by civilian Defense Department employees or contract personnel.

Although acknowledging that the task force study could encourage speculation that the administration is backing away from its anti-draft stance, the official said, "These questions have to be faced one way or another."

A White House statement said the task force "will provide recommendations to the president to increase the effectiveness of the active and reserve all-volunteer services." But the official said this wording should not be interpreted to mean that the Weinberger panel will not consider the draft as well.

Semi-Nude Model Fears Total Exposure

DEAR ABBY: I have a rather embarrassing problem. I am a 20-year-old college junior at a large university. For a while I dated what seemed to be a nice guy I'll call Bill. He attends the same "U" and is an art major. Bill took some photographs of me on the beach in my two-piece bikini bathing suit last summer. After that I sort of broke off with him and started seeing another fellow. I recently learned through friends that Bill is painting a nude portrait of me, using as a model the picture he took of me in the bathing suit! Of course, he's using his imagination, but I don't like the idea. He's planning to use this portrait of me in an art exhibit. I do have a great body, but I don't want half the world seeing me naked, in addition to which I don't want people to think that I actually posed for that picture. What should I do?

NO NUDE MODEL.

DEAR NO NUDE: Since it's your "great body" Bill wants to immortalize on canvas, ask him to please use somebody else's face. If he refuses, tell him to leave the suit on, or you will see a lawyer about bringing another kind of "suit" into the picture.

DEAR ABBY: The teacher who punishes an entire class for the misbehavior of a few children is teaching that guilt can be collective as well as individual. The idea of collective guilt was the basis of Theodore Roosevelt's order to dishonorably discharge an entire regiment (black) in 1906 when not one soldier would confess to a murder in Brownsville, Texas.

It also served to justify Franklin Roosevelt's imprisonment of 110,000 Japanese-Americans in 1942 solely on the suspicion that some among them might be planning to commit a crime.

Adolf Hitler applied the same principle in killing all the men of Lidice, Czechoslovakia, sending the women to concentration camps and putting the children in German institutions as punishment for the killing of one Nazi leader.

These are only three examples of the principle of collective guilt in action. A teacher who chooses to apply that principle in her disciplinary actions should be aware of the moral lessons she is teaching her children.

JOHN M. STEVENS, PROFESSOR OF EDUCATION, CALIF. STATE U., HAYWARD, CALIF.

DEAR DR. STEVENS: Thank you for a valuable observation.

Few children adequately protected with restraint seats, says article

Only 8 percent of the nation's children are adequately protected by child-restraint devices when they ride in cars, according to a traveler's safety guide in a recent Family Circle magazine. This lack of protection partly explains the 1,000 children under age five killed and the 70,000 injured each year in automobile accidents, says the article.

In Tennessee, which enacted a mandatory law in 1978, not one child under the age of four has been killed in an auto crash while wearing a child-restraint device, and injuries have been reduced by over 50 percent.

Many effective child restraint car seats are available, the article says. Most cost from $25 to $60, and some community organizations supply child seats for kids under one-year old for as little as $10 or $15.

For information on renting baby carriers, Family Circle suggests writing to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, 400 Seventh St. S.W., Washington, D.C. 20590, or the University of North Carolina Highway Safety Research Center, CTP-197A, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27514.

Carter calls budget cuts 'ill advised'

ATLANTA (AP) — The federal budget cuts proposed by the Reagan administration are "ill-advised" and probably will force local and state governments to raise taxes, former President Jimmy Carter said in a letter to his former aides.

The letter, in which Carter breaks a 5½-month-long silence on his successor's policies, was sent to his former Cabinet officers and one-time senior White House officials.

The Atlanta Journal reported today. The newspaper said the letter, dated July 3, was highly critical of Ronald Reagan's budget cuts and his "unwillingness" to negotiate nuclear arms control. It also criticized Congress for "succumbing so rapidly to strong political pressures."

"Some of the proposals now being considered by the Congress are an abrupt departure from the commitment of our nation to a better and more productive life for Americans not strong enough or able enough to win these opportunities for themselves," the paper quoted Carter's letter as saying.

"Students, farmers, the aged, mentally afflicted and

Boy's legs are stolen

MESQUITE, Texas (AP) — For two weeks, 15-year-old Danny Barrett had to get around on a skateboard — because someone stole his artificial limbs at a swimming pool dressing room.

Now Danny can walk again. The Scottish Rite Hospital of Dallas has fitted the youth with a new pair of legs at no charge, his mother says.

"Most likely it was a prank," said Mesquite police investigator G.C. Westphal. "It's hard to believe that somebody would just walk out with a pair of artificial legs."

Danny had gone swimming June 24 with his 18-year-old brother Eddie and Eddie's girlfriend. But when the three returned to the public dressing room, the limbs were gone.

marginally employed Americans will soon begin to suffer personally and in large numbers," it added.

Carter said the budget cuts will lead to an "inevitable increase in state and local taxes which will be required to replace at least part of the lost federal revenues."

"Someone will have to pay the bill for that portion of the program which will survive because of public demand.

The Journal reported that Carter's strongest criticism of the Reagan administration dealt with the nuclear arms race.

In refusing to negotiate a nuclear arms treaty with the Soviet Union, "the administration is engaging in a risky game of chance, the letter said.

"The danger of an out-of-control nuclear arms race is exacerbated by recent announcements of large weapon sales which are serving, unfortunately, to restore our former reputation as arms merchant of the world," he said.

Carter said he waited until now to speak out on Reagan administration policies because "having served as president, I know how necessary it is to have a few months in which to develop and evoke policies and plans with minimal comment or assessment from one's predecessors in the Oval Office."

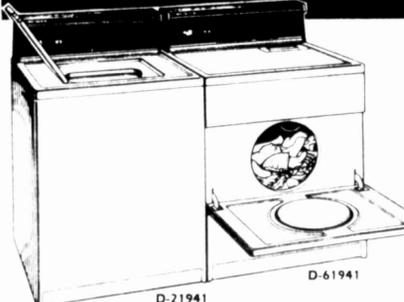

"But now, on occasion, some reasonable expressions of concern might be appropriate," he wrote.

Carter also criticized the "misguided and radical" new policies of the Interior Department, saying they are "a serious threat to the future of our nation, condemned almost unanimously by those who are dedicated to the proper stewardship of our nation's natural resources."

1981 first half drilling establishes record pace

DENVER, Colo. — U.S. drilling for oil and gas during the first half of 1981 proceeded at an all-time record pace. Petroleum Information Corporation said.

Drilling was particularly strong in the case of new field wildcats and other exploratory drilling. PI reported a 30.1 percent increase in purely exploratory (wildcat) drilling and a 30.7 percent increase in other exploratory drilling such as deeper pool tests and field extensions. These are the most significant increases in recent years.

Of all wildcat wells drilled during the first half of the year, 18.7 percent found oil or gas discoveries.

A total of 35,581 wells were completed during the first half of the year — 6,317 wells or 21.6 percent higher than the first half total in 1980. The mid-year 1981 completions included 17,614 oil wells, 7,614 gas wells and 10,353 dry holes.

By comparison, the first-half totals for last year included 14,338 oil wells, 7,145 gas wells and 7,781 dry holes for a total of 29,264 completions. Last year's drilling resulted in all-time industry high for wells completed and this year's totals in every category at the mid-year mark are even higher.

Total footage drilled through the first six months was more than 160.9 million, compared with 131.2 million at the same time in 1980.

Purely exploratory (wildcat) drilling showed an increase of 994 wells for the first half of the year. Of 4,296 wildcat wells drilled, 423 found oil and 380 gas. The 803 wildcat discoveries during the first half of 1981 were 146 higher than during the same period last year.

Other exploratory drilling — in association with known oil or gas fields — was also up substantially.

PI recorded 3,002 other exploratory wells during the first half of the year, up 705 from the same period in 1980. This drilling resulted in 741 oil wells and 663 gas wells, or 283 more discoveries than in the same period last year.

Development drilling during the period also increased, up 4,618 completions, or 19.5 percent. Development drilling accounted for 28,283 completions at the mid-year mark, including 16,450 oil wells, 6,571 gas wells and 5,262 dry holes.

The overall success rate for first-half drilling dipped slightly to 70.9 percent, compared with 73.4 percent for the same period in 1980. The average drilling depth for all wells drilled during the first half of the year was 4,523 feet, or about 40 feet deeper than the average well depth for the first half of 1980.

Tied closely to the record completion pace has been a steady climb in the number of rigs at work. By late June, the Hughes Tool Company count of active rigs reached 4,008 — exceeding the expectations of many industry observers.

Texas — the top state for drilling completions — recorded 10,932 completions during the six-month period, up from 8,836 during the same time in 1980. Oklahoma was the second-ranked state by completions, with 4,908 by mid-year. Oklahoma counted 3,707 completions during the same period last year.

Klan leader says whites can't get justice

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The Grand Dragon of the Texas Ku Klux Klan says white people never get "justice under the law," but attorneys for Louis Beam say they plan to appeal his conviction anyway.

Beam was convicted Wednesday of holding paramilitary war games without a permit last February at the Lyndon B. Johnson National Grasslands in North Texas. U.S. District Judge David Belew fined Beam $250, put him on a year's probation, and gave him a six-month suspended prison sentence.

"I got the justice I expected to get," Beam said after the sentence. "I don't expect white people to receive justice under the law."

The maximum penalty for the misdemeanor charge is a

$500 fine and a six-month prison term.

Defense attorneys said the paramilitary maneuvers were intended to train Klansmen to prepare for an invasion of the United States by Soviet or other communist armed forces.

Beam contends the U.S. Constitution guarantees his right to assemble and bear arms and "is the only permit I need or will ever seek."

Harry Walsh III, one of Beam's two attorneys, said if a request for a new trial is rejected he will appeal the conviction.

Girls Camp of Champs indicates improvement Of female programs throughout the state

CAMP OF CHAMPS DIRECTOR HAROLD WILDER GIVES INSTRUCTIONS. (PHOTO BY DAVID PARTLOW)

By NATHAN FOSS
Sports Editor

The Howard College Girls Camp of Champs is in full swing, and the progress exhibited by the females this year is on par with the progress being displayed throughout the state in the girls basketball ranks.

A total of 98 girls arrived Sunday evening and early Monday morning from 21 cities, once again continuing the success story of the summer camp implemented by HC Athletic Director-Basketball Coach Harold Wilder nine years ago.

The 98 girls were divided into two leagues, appropriately named the Big League and Little League. The Big League consists of the older females, those that will be in the eighth and ninth grade this year, while the younger girls are in the Little League.

Wilder and his staff of 10 keep a busy schedule during the week. Each day begins early, with the girls being tutored in the morning in the various fundamentals of the roundball sport. While the Big Leaguers are on the court with the Camp of Champs coaching staff, the Little Leaguers participate in fun tournaments involving checkers, chess, dominoes and ping pong. The groups switch at appropriate times, keeping everyone both fresh and busy.

Camp afternoons are spent with a variety of activities, including going to the movies, bowling and miniature golf.

At night, the girls are involved in true to life games. Each girl is placed on a team at the start of camp with a particular coach, with the competition leading to the championship round on Friday.

Wilder has put together a staff of men and women that are experienced and compliment each other. Usual camp instructor David Middleton, who coaches at Klein and had the opportunity to tutor the South in the Texas High School Coaches Association's All-Star game two years ago, returns. Other returnees include Jan McIvor of Marble Falls, Mike Randle of Big Spring, Susan Martin, who plays at Angelo State, and Bubba Stripling.

There are other qualified instructors at the camp, including Forsan's Bob Evans and Howard College Hawk Queens Melissa Luna and Christi Adams.

Stripling, a former MVP at the Camp of Champs who later was an all-around stalwart at BSHS, is a defending champion coach. He is looking to improve that this year, as both his Big League and Little League teams were undefeated through Wednesday night.

"The progress of the girls each year is really amazing," said Stripling, who looks to be one of the more popular instructors, at least from the girls point of view. "Every year they get better and better. Some of these girls in the Big League can really play."

Wilder echoed those thoughts while observing a Wednesday morning session. "The improvement each year of the girls that come into the camp is a credit to what's happening in Texas girls basketball. The coaches are getting better, and the girls are learning more about the game," Wilder stated.

Wilder has been somewhat astonished by the popularity of the camp he started some nine years ago. It began as only a boys camp, but with the added emphasis on the girls programs around the state, he added a camp for the females a few years back.

The boys Camp of Champs will be next week.

"I don't know how some of these people found out about the camp," Wilder related. "We've got a few from places that I've never even heard of. We've got the dorms full with people from all over the country and half of Texas."

Wilder indicated that the public is invited to attend the nightly games in both the girls and boys camp. The girls championship games will be on Friday. The Little League finale is set for noon, with the Big League championship set for 4 p.m.

As Davis Cup approaches

Connors ready for teamwork

NEW YORK (AP)—"I've always been a loner. I'm not a team man in any way," says Jimmy Connors. But Connors' decision to join the U.S. Davis Cup team for the first time since 1976 has boosted his country's chances in this weekend's series against defending champion Czechoslovakia.

Connors and Wimbledon champion John McEnroe will play the four singles matches for the U.S. team, while veterans Stan Smith and Bob Lutz will play the doubles in the best-of-five quarterfinal competition at the National Tennis Center. Two singles matches will be played Friday, the doubles Saturday and the remaining two singles matches Sunday on the fast, cement courts.

"There's a lot of experience on our team," observed Arthur Ashe, the non-playing captain of the U.S. squad. "All the players we have here are used to pressure situations and play well on cement. Jimmy won the Open here in 1976 and John won it here the last two years, so they've shown they play well here."

Czechoslovakia's key player is 23-year-old Ivan Lendl, who is ranked fourth in the world behind McEnroe, Bjorn Borg and Connors. Tomas Smid, Pavel Slozil and Stanislav Birner complete the Czechoslovakian team.

"We have two strategies," said Ashe. "One strategy is to beat Smid twice (in singles) and win the doubles. The other strategy is to try to win 5-0. But Lendl is so good it's not out of the realm of reality that he could win two

Charges against UNM coach will be dropped in one year

Judge says Ellenberger 'cog in entire machine'

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—The judge called convicted former University of New Mexico basketball Coach Norm Ellenberger a cog in the machine, and did not put him in jail because he refused to be part of "hypocrisy."

It was the only thing Ellenberger liked about the trial, and he said Wednesday he still plans to appeal his convictions.

A district court jury returned guilty verdicts

Tuesday on 21 counts of fraud and making false public vouchers, all fourth-degree felonies.

The jury also found Ellenberger innocent on one count of fraud over $2,500, a third-degree felony that could have carried a maximum sentence of 2-10 years in prison.

"The question is how fair is it to incarcerate in prison a man for doing what almost everyone in the community wanted him to do — namely win basketball games at whatever cost," Judge Phillip Baisamonte said.

"I'm being asked to sentence a man who was only one cog in the entire machine called college basketball. I'm being asked to sentence a man because he got caught, not because his conduct was unacceptable," Baisamonte said.

The judge called this "hypocrisy" and said he would not be a party to it.

Ellenberger, asked about the judge's comments, said, "I was amazed at his perception." He said Baisamonte's comments were what he had wanted to come out of the trial.

"I'm not guilty. The compassion of the court didn't change that," Ellenberger said in announcing he would pursue an appeal.

"I don't agree I should have been sentenced at all. I do not believe it erases the cloud and weight still on top of my head. I'm going to do everything possible to change it," he said.

Baisamonte deferred sentence for one year and said that at the end of that period, all counts against Ellenberger would be dismissed. He also placed Ellenberger on unsupervised probation and said the former coach would not be required to make restitution.

Ellenberger, 45, could have received maximum prison sentences of 1-5 years on each count.

UT loses potential slugger

SEMINOLE, Okla. (AP)—Curtis Morgan of Seminole has been offered a full scholarship by Texas University, but he's walking away from baseball to continue his present job as vice president of Tiger Trucking Co., a tank truck service started by his father 10 years ago.

Curtis was the Most Valuable Player in the Junior College National Tournament in Grand Junction, Colo. last May as he hit a sizzling .836 while leading Seminole Juco to a second-place finish. He was also on the juco all-American team.

It's normal for MVPs at the JUCO tournament to sign pro contracts, or at the very least, sign with a major college and get a chance to play two more years.

Morgan visited Austin and Texas coach Cliff Gustafson gave him the big tour. Gustafson said: "We feel like the key to our recruiting could be Curtis Morgan. He's an outstanding left-handed hitter."

"That made it a lot harder," Curtis said. "I wanted to go to Texas, but I needed to go to work or decide what I was going to do. I didn't get drafted, so I had to decide whether I would stay here and work or go to Texas and play."

"Texas offered me everything," a full scholarship, but I just don't feel I could go down there and be satisfied. I am tired of playing baseball. I am just ready to go on and do something else."

Morgan has worked for his father's company since he was 17. "I drove a tank for a while," he says, "and I am in management and sales now."

"I don't think not going on to a four-year school will hurt me financially. We run 14 trucks."

Morgan hit 440 for the Trojans the past season as the junior college baseball power was compiling a glossy 78-7 record.

Don Brown, the Oklahoma City University baseball coach, also offered Morgan a scholarship.

"He just had a tremendous national tournament," Brown said. "I told him if he came to OCU he'd be our starting catcher. But my philosophy on these kids is a little different than a lot of people."

"Wherever he goes or whatever he does, he is going to come right back to Seminole and go to work for the trucking company. He is a very mature young man. I think he has figured out he is not going to make the major leagues."

"He impressed me as being a level-headed intelligent guy who knows what life's all about."

Brown coached at Eastern Junior College before moving to OCU and he saw Curtis Morgan's decision as rare. "Most junior college players offered a chance to play in a program like Texas, would jump at it."

Is Steinbrenner ready to lead owners?

Tommy John, self-appointed pollyanna of the New York Yankees, sees a crack in the baseball strike.

"Maybe I'm too optimistic, but I have faith that the strike will end soon, within the next three days," says the Yankee pitcher.

John's high hopes, despite noise by most other players to the contrary, are linked to the efforts of George Steinbrenner. The Yankee owner is reportedly working on a plan — as yet unrevealed publicly — that hopefully will snap the logjam between players and owners.

Apparently, that will be one of the matters discussed when major league owners meet in midtown Manhattan tonight.

"I think George can do it — his idea is close to what the players have been proposing since April," says John, who didn't elaborate on Steinbrenner's secret weapon.

"And I think that the other liberal owners — the guys like (the New York Mets' Fred) Wilpon, (the Texas Rangers' Eddie) Chiles, (the Baltimore Orioles' Edward Bennett) Williams — will follow and create a sort of momentum."

John says if the strike does end within the next few days or so, "it'll be because of George's new proposal."

Steinbrenner will be among 26 major league owners expected to be at tonight's meeting chaired by Ray Grebey, chief negotiator of the owners' bargaining committee in these strike talks. There were reports that Grebey lacks support from all 26 owners and that tonight's meeting might be a stormy one.

"I have unanimity where I need it, on the board of director of the Player Relations Committee," he said. "You never expect unanimity from 26 clubs. If you get a 26-0 vote, it's a fix."

Grebey said he was not angry with Chiles and Williams, identified earlier as the only owners who have not sent telegrams of support to the PRC.

"The last time I talked to Eddie, he said I had his complete support and he said he was going to pray for me the next time he went to church," Grebey said. "I'm not mad at Mr. Williams, but I doubt Ed prayed for me."

Earlier this week, players met here and reaffirmed their unified stand against management. It's expected that the owners will throw their wholehearted support behind their negotiating committee as well in tonight's meeting.

"I'd be willing to bet anything that the meeting results in strong support for the committee's position," says owner Jerry Reinsdorf of the Chicago White Sox. "If the meeting had occurred prior to last Saturday I think it would have been different. But our committee made a major move Saturday."

Reinsdorf's reference was to last Saturday's negotiating session between management and players, where the owners came up with a new proposal in an effort to resolve the key issue in the strike, free agent compensation.

They proposed a limit of 12 on the number of ranking free agents who would require professional players as compensation in any re-entry draft. The proposal was rejected by the Major League Players Association and Grebey says that management was prepared to alter its offer, but never got the opportunity because the players' union broke off talks.

Grebey said he wished to continue the negotiations Wednesday, but had to attend a National Labor Relations Board hearing on the union's unfair labor practice charge that the owners have failed to bargain in good faith.

"We've made some moves and had some more to make last Saturday when we asked the union to stay and negotiate," Grebey said. "I'd have rather postponed this hearing (Wednesday) and spent the time at the bargaining table."

In answer to Grebey's contention that the players shut off any further discussion Saturday, Marvin Miller, head of the players' union, insisted that Grebey was at fault himself for discontinuing negotiations at that time.

"It has now come out that Mr. Grebey had considerable more room than he gave our committee Saturday," Miller said Wednesday. "He was authorized to make a more liberal proposal and didn't do it."

Miller didn't say how he knew of the supposed latitude possessed by Grebey. But Grebey was quoted in the New York News' Thursday editions as saying, "I had the authority to go further. There was room to move." However, he did not elaborate on this position.

Reinsdorf, who attended Wednesday's NLRB hearings, said he wasn't aware that Grebey was authorized to offer more than he did.

"I do know what he did," said the White Sox owner. "He made a major move and he said everything was negotiable. Whatever coalition of militant or moderate owners there might have been disintegrated Saturday when Mr. Grebey made that proposal."

The players, Reinsdorf said, should have reacted with a counter-proposal, adding: "The people I talk to who I would consider moderate consider it an insult that there's no counter-offer and all there is a stone wall."

REACHES BACK — Vancouver Whitecap Peter Beardsley (bottom right) watches team-mate Ray Hankin (9) attempt to head the ball as Tulsa Roughneck goalkeeper, Zeljko Elecki reaches back and gains control of the ball. The game played tonight in Vancouver was tied 1-1 at half time.

Past success makes Littler favorite

BIRMINGHAM, Mich. (AP) — Gene Littler's memories of his 1961 U.S. Open victory at Oakland Hills Country Club are dim. But his swing remains smooth and he knows the course well, two reasons the veteran golfer is one of a handful of "young seniors" believed to be prime contenders in the U.S. Senior Open, which began today at the suburban Detroit course.

"I've played 9 million holes since 1961, and I can't remember much (about the victory)," said Littler following Wednesday's final practice round.

He does remember the golf course, however, and as in 1961, the holes are still long, the rough heavy and the greens lightning quick.

"Anybody who's still hitting it out there long has a chance," he said. "There are a lot of guys in the field who will wear their woods out."

Littler, who turns 51 later this month, heads a new

Cey turns to acting during strike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Third baseman Ron Cey of the Los Angeles Dodgers could be making his acting debut soon although he's been before the public as a professional baseball player since 1968.

"Baseball to me is the most important thing in my life and I hope to play just as long as I can," said Cey, who has been in a movie entitled "Serpent, the Ultimate Thriller."

He'd be the detective sidekick to David Carradine, who plays the main role in the film. It was written and is being directed and produced by Larry Cohen, who has had the same triple role nine times in the past.

"I haven't had any acting lessons and don't have any experience, but I've been before the public a lot," explained Cey.

Asked what might happen if the players' strike is ended, he said Wednesday: "We'll cross that bridge when we come to it. But most of the filming will be here, so I don't think it will be a problem."

Cey said the offer for the acting role "just came out of the blue. I have talked with Milton Kahn over the past couple of months."

Kahn is the public relations representative of Cohen. Asked if he hoped to go into acting when his baseball career ends, Cey answered: "I am open to anything. Baseball is most important but it might be a vehicle to what I might do in the future."

"I really still don't know what my role will be in this picture. I think they are still writing my piece."

Ovett swift in Italy Meet

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Steve Ovett of Great Britain won the 1,500-meter race of the Milan track meet Wednesday in 3 minutes, 31.95 seconds, a half-second off his own world record.

Running in a slight drizzle, Ovett had a strong start and was doing better than his world-record time after 800 meters. Ovett had clocked 1:53.08 in Cologne last year on the way to his 3:31.42 world record.

Rain troubled the meet during the most important of the scheduled events and probably hampered the events.

76ers sold to weight loss magnate

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia 76ers, winners on the court but losers at the box office, have been sold to weight-loss entrepreneur Harold Katz.

F. Eugene Dixon, who has owned the team since 1976, was expected to make the official announcement of the sale at a press conference today. The sale was confirmed by a source close to the team, who asked not to be identified.

The purchase price was believed to be between $7 million and $11 million. Katz, 44, of suburban Huntingdon Valley, owns and operates Nutri-Systems, Inc., which markets diet plans. A former overreiter himself, Katz started his weight loss centers in 1972, emphasizing diet and psychological counseling. The sale had been rumored ever since Lou Scheinfeld resigned as president about a month ago. Scheinfeld was named president Jan. 30, 1980, in an effort to boost dwindling attendance.

Dixon's teams never had a losing record. The 76ers won 50 games in their first season, 55 in their second year and 62 last year. But despite such top players as Julius Erving and Darryl Dawkins, the 76ers failed to draw at home.

The 76ers also did not win any NBA championships under Dixon, and last season, even playoff games failed to fill the home court at the Spectrum. In April, Scheinfeld said the team's regular season attendance averaged 11,448, while they needed 15,500 to break even.

The loss of fans and the failure to win the title apparently led Dixon to unload the franchise.

"For me, it won't last too much longer," Dixon said in April, contemplating the attendance figures. "The financial impact of this is so great that, with the current attendance and the current costs, it's just impractical for me to continue much farther."

Dixon purchased the Sixers in 1976 from Irv Kosloff, a Philadelphia paper manufacturer who retained an interest in the team. Kosloff said he would retain his interest under the new ownership.

"I have certain connections with the team that will be continued," Kosloff said. "But that's not what's important now. What's important is what's happening."

Besides the 76ers, Dixon has owned a portion of the Philadelphia Eagles football team, and at one time was the second-largest stockholder in the Phillies

Low scores expected in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Most of golf's biggest names again are missing, but tradition indicates some of the best scores of the year will be recorded this weekend in the $250,000 Greater Milwaukee Open golf tournament.

Lon Hinkle, Bobby Clampett, Ed Fiori and George Archer — the only golfers among the year's top 30 money winners entered — were favored as the 72-hole event began today over the 7,010-yard, par 72 Tuckaway Country Club course.

Bill Kratzert, also in the field, won here last year with a 266 total. That was 22 under par, tying Andy Bean (Hawaiian Open) and Jim Colbert (Tucson) for the best 72-hole score by a tournament winner in 1980.

The pros traditionally overmatch Tuckaway for several reasons. The course features wide open fairways because surrounding trees are not fully grown. The four par-5 holes are easy birdie holes because most pros can reach the greens in two shots. The course is in immaculate condition, and the rough poses little problem.

GMO officials have been fertilizing and watering the rough for weeks, but persistently dry and recently hot weather have negated their efforts.

"In some spots the rough is bad, but in most places it's very easy," said Archer, winner of 12 tournaments in his 18-year career.

While many pros praise the GMO as one of the year's best run tournaments and Tuckaway as one of the finest courses, the meet has had unfavorable dates for nearly all its 14-year history.

Many of the best golfers skip the GMO in order to travel and rest for next week's British Open, one of the four major tournaments of the year.

Banks comes oh so close

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Willie Banks came within a half-inch of the American triple jump record with the third longest jump in history, leading a group of five Unijrs in an invitational meet.

Banks reached 57 feet, 7 inches on his sixth and final attempt. He set the American record of 57-7½ at Sacramento, Calif., two weeks ago.

Other American winners were high hurdler Dedy Cooper, sprinter Dwayne Evans, javelin thrower Bob Roggy and James Robinson in the 800 meters.

Amarillo College coach resigns

Mundt said he has "already received a lot of calls on the job." "I think we ought to be able to have a coach hired within three weeks, four at the outside," Mundt said. He said AC would "recruit nationally" to fill the post. In four years at AC, Calvin's best season with the Baugers was a fourth place conference finish in 1979-80 play.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, JULY 10, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: There could be some unpleasant opposition by those who are unable to control their temper today. Keep in mind that a conciliatory attitude can prevent rows at this time.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get a good hold on your emotions today or they could lead you astray and cause trouble. Use caution in motion.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A friend is in a strange mood today and could prove most trying to you, but keep poised and this will pass. Relax tonight.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Any public duties you have should be handled without delay. Don't neglect to pay your bills. Avoid a troublemaker.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have new ideas on how to expand right now, but proceed with caution for best results. Be poised.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Attend to routine duties early in the day so you'll have time for more important things later. Make the evening a happy one.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) An associate could be in a bad mood so control your temper and avoid an argument. Establish better relations later.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Be more alert to opportunities coming your way now. Take a more optimistic outlook on life. Show others you have wisdom.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Find new ways to put your creative talents to work. Strive to make life more satisfying. Take health treatments.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) If you control your temper at home today, harmony can be restored. Not a good time to engage in outside activities.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Don't labor under any miscalculations or unpleasant results could follow. Obtain the data you need from the right place.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Plan to save more money instead of spending it foolishly. Take time for thinking and planning about the future.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You may want to have a showdown with one you think has done you an injustice, but wait for a better time when tempers cool.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she may have to struggle to get ahead in life. Teach to be less pugnacious and to be more willing to work for what is desired, and to consider the feelings of others. Stress sportmanship and honesty in your teachings.

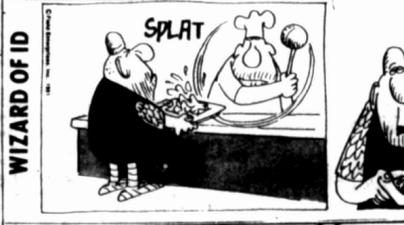

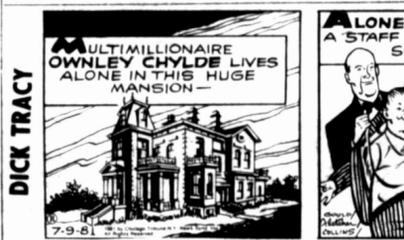

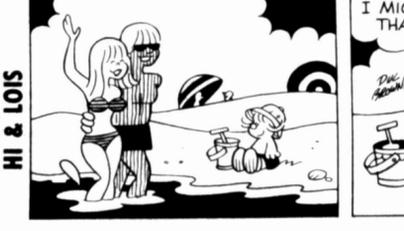

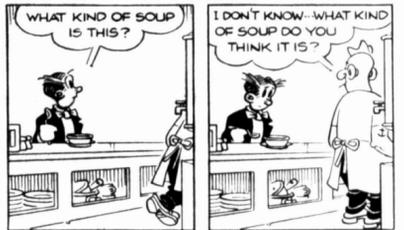

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Taste Knock-Out!

Research consistently proves MERIT taste equal to—or better than—leading higher tar brands.

Five years ago, low tar MERIT sparked a whole new era in smoking by delivering taste way out of proportion to tar.

Until MERIT, no low tar cigarette had been able to prove it could match the taste of higher tar brands.

MERIT: Taste Success

Switching studies confirm it. 90% of smokers switching to MERIT are coming directly from higher tar cigarettes.

Fact: Since its introduction, MERIT has gained more smokers than any other low tar brand!

Millions Endorse MERIT Taste
MERIT continues to win higher tar smokers with its unique combination of taste, ease of switch, and long-term satisfaction.

A combination that appeals to millions of smokers who have switched to—and stayed with—the first proven taste alternative to higher tar smoking.

The momentum builds: MERIT is changing the future of smoking.

Comanche Lake Dam found 'hydraulically unsafe'

By BILL ELDER

A federally funded dam safety program has inspected Comanche Lake Dam and classified it as "hydraulically unsafe," an official with the Texas Department of Water Resources told the Herald.

Structurally, the DWR inspection determined, the dam is in good shape. As a "hydraulically unsafe" dam, however, Comanche Lake Dam possesses an "inadequate capacity for allowing floodwaters to pass safely through the reservoir instead of over the top of the dam," said John Clarke, head of the DWR's dam safety unit.

He said a combination of the height of the dam and spillway capacity (the spillway is a stone structure to the northeast of the dam) would not channel any floodwaters entirely through the spillway rather than over the top of the dam.

"You want it to go through the spillway — not over the top of the dam," he explained.

During more powerful floods, the water has poured over the top of Comanche Lake Dam as well as through the spillway, which naturally catches water because of its lower elevation. The water carried by the spillway is then safely channeled under the Highway 87 bridge.

OVER THE EDGE — Rising lake water pours through the spillway by Comanche Lake Dam after a heavy rain last spring. The dam has been rated "hydraulically unsafe" by the state Department of Water Resources because it does not entirely channel floodwaters through the spillway rather than over the top of the dam. Numerous dams in Texas have been inspected and given the "unsafe" classification because of the same problem.

Comanche Lake Dam, which is about 15 to 20 feet high and runs for about 500 feet along the eastern edge of the lake, was inspected as part of a national inventory of non-federal dams ordered by President Jimmy Carter during his first year in office. Carter's concern about the safety of dams under local ownership grew when a dam in his home state of Georgia collapsed, releasing 900,000 tons of water and killing 39 people.

The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers funded the inventory, contracting with individual states to carry out the inspection of dams within their borders. Faced with the task of inspecting some 60,000 dams owned by cities, counties, schools, churches, private companies and individuals, the Corps decided to test only about 9,000 "high hazard" dams — dams whose location would mean considerable loss of lives and property if they collapsed.

Preliminary reports from the Corps revealed that about a third of the dams — 2,300 — were classified as unsafe. One hundred and twenty-one were determined to be in danger of imminent collapse, the Corps reported.

Only Missouri recorded more unsafe dams than Texas, with the inventory turning up 389 unsafe dams in Missouri and 187 in Texas.

A total of 734 dams were inspected in Texas at a cost of "about $6,000" per dam, according to Robert Behm, a Corps geologist and statewide coordinator for the national program. None was found to be structurally unsafe, Clarke said.

In West Texas, eight dams in Coke, Nolan and Howard counties were classified as unsafe.

In Coke County, four Kickapoo Creek Watershed Soil Conservation Service dams were classified unsafe, along with a fifth dam owned by the Upper Colorado River Authority and located only half a mile from the city of Robert Lee.

In Nolan County, a dam owned by the Sweetwater Country Club and another dam owned by the city of Sweetwater were classified unsafe.

Comanche Lake Dam, which was given to the city along with the lake by the Dora Roberts Foundation in the 1960s, was inspected in late 1979, Assistant City Manager Paul Feazelle recalled.

Under Texas dam safety laws — which the Corps has generally appraised as adequate — the DWR can require owners of unsafe dams to make the necessary safety modifications.

The city hasn't been notified yet of any measures it must take, according to Feazelle, and may resort to a bond issue if the cost of modification runs too high.

There's a good chance the DWR will let the city hang loose on the dam.

"There's going to be some cases where the dams stay the way they are," Clarke said. "We don't always agree with the criteria of the Corps — there are some cases where they're more severe than we think is necessary."

It's expected to be several months before any recommendations are issued by the DWR. The reports for all the dams aren't due to be completed until the end of September.

Many glad woman nominated to High Court

By ANDREA COHEN

President Reagan, who Tuesday nominated Arizona Judge Sandra D. O'Connor to become the first woman justice in the history of the Supreme Court, said he did not name a woman "merely to do so, but because Mrs. O'Connor has the qualities needed on the high court."

Reagan's choice of a woman justice fulfilled a campaign promise made last Oct. 14.

Reaction to the appointment, which still must be confirmed by the Senate, has been swift around the country and locally.

"I think it's fine if she's qualified," said District Attorney Rick Hamby.

"I have faith in Congress. If she's qualified, I don't see anything wrong with her being confirmed to the bench.

If she's not qualified, I hope she isn't put on the bench just because she is a woman."

"Any qualified person should be nominated for a position like that," said Sarah Higgins, owner of Heirlooms. "It should have happened a long time ago. Don't you think it's kind of ridiculous that a woman hasn't been nominated up until now?"

"Her appointment won't have that much effect on the Supreme Court," said Glynn Mouton, a local attorney. "It will have an effect, but not enough to override other conservative judges."

I doubt the complexion of the Court will change much. I'm delighted she was appointed, not because she's a woman, but because she's qualified to do the job."

"Undoubtedly, she's qualified," added District Judge Jim Gregg. "She was in the upper portion of her graduation class, and she has plenty of judicial experience along with legislative experience."

"I don't have any idea what it will do to the court he added. "I don't know that much about her background. They seem awfully sure she'll be approved by the senate committee. I don't think it will make any difference on women's issues. One person wouldn't make that much difference."

"If a woman is just as qualified as a man, it makes no difference," said Essie Jackson, collections and exchange teller at First National Bank.

"I'm not ERA on the far-out stuff, but for working I am. It should not make that much difference on women's issues. She shouldn't let it make a difference. Just because she's a woman doesn't mean she should always side with women's issues."

Nelda Colclazer, new accounts representative at First National Bank added, "I am for a qualified person, male or female. However, I do think we have women more qualified than what we have had on the Supreme Court. On women's issues, a woman would be much better suited. Women, especially in the field of law, are inclined to make up their own minds on what they've learned than to take advice. I do hope she gets it."

"I think it's wonderful," said Billie Barron, secretary to the county judge.

"It gives women an opportunity to prove they can do a man's job."

Her boss, County Judge Bill Tunc added, "What's the big deal? If she's qualified, why not?"

Flying red ants invade Colorado City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Flying red ants have invaded Colorado City due to recent rains and one result in the closing of the local swimming pool temporarily because of the insect influx.

According to city manager Brenda Tarter, "these ants have been a problem all over town. At the pool, they fly into the water and cannot get out. Consequently, children are stung. These ants produce a severe bite, causing fever and allergic reactions in some cases, so we closed the pool as a safety measure."

Mrs. Tarter added "we have treated the water with additional chemicals to rid the water of the ants and also have sprayed around the pool area. We hope to be open Thursday as usual."

Mrs. Tarter apologized for the inconvenience to swimmers and voiced her appreciation for their patience.

Dear Abby

If It's a Grand Tour They Want, Send 'em Home!

DEAR ABBY: What do you do about people who are invited to your home for the first time, rave about how beautiful the room in which they are being entertained is, then ask to have a "grand tour" of the rest of the house? Sometimes I don't even have time to make the beds because I work outside the home. (I'm lucky to get the living room area cleaned up in time for company, let alone the bedrooms and baths.) This is very embarrassing for me, Abby. I could never do this to someone else. But what should I do when this happens to me?

EMBARRASSED

DEAR EMBARRASSED: There are two solutions. Anticipate the request for a grand tour and 1) have the place reasonably picked up to minimize the embarrassment; 2) counter emphatically with, "Sorry, another time; the other rooms aren't ready for the grand tour just yet."

DEAR ABBY: Why would a man check up on his wife to be sure he knows exactly where she is every minute? Do you think he suspects that she's playing around?

CURIOS

DEAR CURIOS: Not necessarily. Maybe he just wants to know where she is while he's playing around.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GAYLE P.: Please send me your address. I want to return Lisa's Mother's Day card you shared with me. It's a treasure I know you want to keep.

Family reunion is scheduled

Descendants and friends of the families of W.B. Daniels, W.H. Nelson and O.F. Roberson are invited to a reunion Sunday at the Howard County Fair Barns. The event will begin at 9 a.m. and conclude at 4 p.m. Those attending should carry a picnic lunch. For more information, call Mrs. H.M. Nichols, 393-5285.

Big Springers receive degrees

Loretto Heights-College of Denver, Colo., held its sixty-first commencement May 9 at the May-Bonfils-Stanton Center of Performing Arts. Among the 150 graduates were two students from Big Spring. Charles Nickle, son of Mrs. Wanda Nickle, 1601 E. 5th, received a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree. David Trim, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Trim, 1508 Tucson, was recognized Magna Cum Laude with a Bachelor of Fine Arts Degree. The commencement address was delivered by Dr. Chester M. Alter of Harvard and Chancellor Emeritus of University of Denver. Dr. Alter based his challenge to the graduating class on the theme for the occasion quoted from Ralph Waldo Emerson: "What lies behind us and what lies before us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us." Other commencement events included the President's Reception in the Loretto Heights College Quadrangle and Baccalaureate services in the Sisters of Loretto Chapel May 8.

Chemical is used to remove caffeine

How do they take the caffeine out of decaffeinated coffee? They use a method developed at the turn of the century, says Cass Ryan-Crowe, a foods and nutrition specialist.

Basically, a chemical solvent, methylene chloride, is applied either directly to the bean, or hot water is applied with the solvent, and then the solvent separates the caffeine from the solution, the specialist explains.

Dr. Ryan-Crowe is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Cupcakes make quick treats

Be prepared with a sweet treat when unexpected company arrives. A tip in a recent Family Circle suggests keeping a large supply of cupcakes in the freezer. For a fresh treat without a lot of leftovers, as needed, take out what you need and frost them.

The refreshment table was graced with a mixed bouquet of spring flowers. Matching corsages were presented to Miss Cowan, James W. Cowan, her mother and Mrs. Larry D. Knight, mother of the prospective groom.

Carbonless paper can cause skin irritation, says journal

CHICAGO, Ill. — Some new brands of carbonless copy paper can cause skin rashes, according to a report in the Journal of the American Medical Association. The University of Pennsylvania dermatologist who authored the article cites earlier reports of allergies to typing paper which caused a hand rash, and to papers used in photocopying machines. There was also the woman who developed a rash from lying on the paper cover spread over the doctor's examining table.

Local couple weds on top of mountain

By RENEE BLANKENHORN
At 8:00 this morning B.C. Coates and Reene Ann Sneed were married atop the mountain on Scenic Drive in Big Spring State Park.
When asked why they were married there B.C. answered, "Because I told Reene that once I married her I would be on top of a mountain."
Reene, whose birthday is also today, was wearing a bright red dress.
A cousin to the groom, Carroll Coates Jr., and his wife,

Janis, served as best man and maid of honor.
The Rev. Jim McWilliams of North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church officiated.
Reene works at the VA Hospital, and B.C. works as a drilling consultant at BMW and Associates. He also writes stories for Paul Harvey's "The Rest of the Story."
The couple plans to go to Six Flags next week for their honeymoon.
They plan to build a home and live in Big Spring.

MOUNTAIN TOP WEDDING — Married near the edge of the mountain on Scenic Drive in Big Spring State Park this morning were B.C. Coates Jr. and Reene Ann Sneed, pictured in center. They are flanked by Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Coates Jr., who served as best man and maid of honor. The Rev. Jim McWilliams, right, pastor of North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church, officiated. The newlyweds will reside in Big Spring. (PHOTO BY BILL FORSHEE)

Loraine councilmen hear good, bad news

LORAIN (SC) — Loraine councilmen heard his property as good and bad news at their meeting Tuesday night.
Auditor Joe Morren told the council the city is in "good financial shape. Morren's audit credits Loraine with its operation last year, which ended March 31 with a plus in expense revenues of $12,382. And the city's cash position has improved to its highest level since at least 1979 with a cash balance of almost $48,000.
Bad news came from the Plumlee of Will Environmental Engineers Inc., Austin, who told the council there is no use in town as small as Loraine applying for federal funds to improve its waste water works facility.
Plumlee stated, "I don't think the city has a chance for the money." He cited cutbacks in federal programs by the Reagan Administration for the shortage of funds. Plumlee recently met with Colorado City Councilmen that time encouraged the city to seek funds. Now, said, Colorado City is in the same category as Loraine.
On another note, the council authorized payment of $6,666 to Hershel Williams.

business to be operated by Mrs. Maggie Rodriguez and also a decision to serve a warrant on a Loraine citizen who has ignored a warning to clear out abandoned miscellany on his property. City secretary Brenda Lee says the man is subject to a fine up to $200.

Application for retirement center filed

An application for a proposed 142 unit retirement center in Big Spring has been received by the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, and will be reviewed at 1:30 p.m. July 13 upon conclusion of the Commission's semi-annual meeting at the Odessa Country Club.
St. Mary's Episcopal Church is proposing to construct the project, which will be on the site adjacent to the Canterbury Apartments on Lancaster Street. Canterbury contains 120 units.
The proposed project will consist of 142 housing units which will provide for elderly and handicapped persons. Type of units built are 12 two bedroom efficiency and 106 bedroom units.

LISD may add to tax rate in fall

LUBBOCK — A $2.5 million Lubbock Independent District may add at least 10 cents to its tax rate this fall.
The estimated 1981 budget of almost $51 million was inflated this year by a cutoff in state money previously reimbursed to local school districts for property tax exemptions.
The projected budget includes no funds for increases in salaries for teachers.
If the tax rate increases, it is almost a certainty that taxes on a $50,000 market value house would rise from $453 to $503.
Even then, the school district would be left without a carryover balance which is used for emergency funding.

Time to check turfgrass areas

DAVID G. FOSTER
Extension Agent-Entomology, Pest Mgt. Martin, Howard, and Midland counties

Now is the time for homeowners in Howard County to check turfgrass areas in their home landscape for white grub infestations.

This soil insect is a very destructive pest of turfgrasses in home lawns, especially Bermudagrass and St. Augustine. This soil insect attacks the roots of the grass plants and when their numbers become excessive in a lawn, feeding activity of the insect can result in severe damage to the turfgrass.

The adults, known as May or June beetles, are about 1/2 to 3/4 inch long and vary from light brown to black in coloration. The adults emerge from the soil in turfgrass areas in late spring or early summer, mate and start laying eggs in June or early July in turfgrass areas. Eggs are laid in the soil and usually require about 2 to 3 weeks to hatch.

The egg-laying period average about 30 days. The larvae or grub worms are white with brown heads and the hind part of their bodies are smooth and shiny with dark brown contents showing through. They usually lie in a curled position. The grubs feed on the roots and underground stems of grasses and other plants and in warm weather usually stay within one to three inches below the soil surface.

For effective control of white grubs in turfgrass areas, insecticide application must be applied to the infested areas when the white grubs are less than 1/2 inch in body length. In order to determine proper time to apply insecticide applications, it is essential that turfgrass areas be checked periodically in the month of July and August for white grub infestations.

To check for white grubs take a shovel and cut a one square foot section of sod and examine all the roots and soil to a depth of 4 inches for white grubs. After examination, soil and sod should be put back in place. Examine several spots in the turfgrass area.

White grubs normally are not distributed evenly in turfgrass areas because of a suspected aggregation on the part of females at the time of egg-laying. Therefore, several samples should be taken in order to make certain that an infestation justifies treatment.

An insecticide treatment usually is justified when more than 4 grubs per square foot are found. Diazinon and dursban are the insecticides suggested for control of white grubs in turfgrass areas in West Texas.

The granular formulation of diazinon is usually easier for the homeowner to apply, and to wash into the soil than the liquid or spray formulation. When granules are used, the suggested rate is 1 pound of 14 percent granules or 2.5 pounds of 5 percent granules or 6 pounds of 2 percent granules per 1,000 square feet of turfgrass area.

After application of the granules, the treated turfgrass area should be dragged with a tow sack, water hose, etc., to knock the granules down near the soil surface. Then apply enough irrigation water to wash the insecticide into the soil (1/2 to 1 inch of irrigation water).

When liquid formulations of diazinon are used, follow the recommended dosage rate listed on the LABEL of the chemical container. Spray formulations should be applied at the rate of 20 to 40 gallons of water per 1,000 square feet to wash the insecticide into the soil. Wetting the lawn before application also helps. The key to control is getting the insecticide through the grass to the root zone where it will be most effective. Keep children, pets, and other animals off the lawn until the insecticide has been thoroughly watered into the sod and turfgrass has dried.

Seven officers nab fugitive

Five police department detectives, a sheriff's deputy and a Texas Ranger arrested a fugitive Illinois man thought to be armed on Old Colorado City Highway Monday afternoon, police said.

Joseph F. DeCicco, 34, of Hinsdale, Ill., reportedly was sought by Illinois officials on a six-count burglary warrant.

Local officials were alerted by law enforcement agencies in Illinois that DeCicco was believed to be either in Big Spring or headed this way, said Detective Roy Lee Osborne this morning.

Supplied with a description of the man's vehicle, and warned that he might be armed, police converged on DeCicco about 1 p.m. as he was driving just west of Highway 350.

Osborne said DeCicco surrendered peacefully and was placed in jail and a $150,000 was set by Bobby West.

Extradition proceedings reportedly were already in motion, Osborne added.

Damaged autos may soon be flooding West Texas

The Better Business Bureau of Austin has warned the West Texas BB office that flood damaged automobiles may soon appear in the Permian Basin area.

The automobiles were flood damaged following severe rains in the Austin and Central Texas area in late May.

At least four new car dealers suffered flood damage to over 300 new Volkswagens, Ford, Plymouth, Chrysler and Toyota model automobiles.

As usually happens in such incidences, the automobiles were sold to insurance companies by the automobile dealers to be resold to salvage dealers for parts and scrap. However, a potential problem exists for unwary consumers if the salvage dealers clean the automobiles and sell them to a used car dealer for resale to the public.

Often, such water damaged cars are irreparable, yet they may be made to appear sound through several standard tricks. Such cars are frequently offered as "fantastic" bargains, either as new or used automobiles.

Although submerged automobiles can be spruced up to look and run satisfactorily for a while, problems may develop after about six months, including corroded wiring leading to electric problems, rust on the body, mildewed carpet and seats, and transmission and/or engine problems.

Use the following suggestions to identify flood-damaged automobiles:

1. Check truck around tail lights for mud.
2. Run fingers under dash for sand or silt.
3. Check under carpet in car and trunk for silt and debris.
4. Look for a milky finish on interior vinyl.
5. Test all electrical components, such as turn signals and windshield wipers.
6. Inspect dashboard gauges and dials for evidence of water.
7. Check for corrosion and rusting underneath the car's hood, bumpers, and body.
8. Examine the interior of the automobile, including the trunk. Remove the rear seat to check for musty odors and watermarks on stuffing and upholstery.
9. Be watchful for white smoke being emitted from the exhaust pipe. This may be an indication that the engine has recently been cleaned out, an unusual practice ordinarily employed only when something is serious or wrong.
10. Most of all, do business with a responsible dealer. He will not attempt to sell a flood-damaged automobile without describing its actual condition.
11. Beware of a much lower price ($500-$600) on a new car than the going market price.
12. Check the title — if it's a "duplicate original" it may be the car was salvaged or from a dealer in a flooded area, and a duplicate title was applied for to obscure that information.
13. Check the vehicles' I.D. number with the manufacturer to determine if the auto is still under warranty — or if the warranty has been canceled because the car was flood damaged.

The Better Business Bureau has obtained a list of ID numbers from the automobiles that were flood damaged in Austin. Individuals who suspect an automobile they are considering purchasing to be flood damaged may check the vehicle ID number by calling 563-1880 to determine if the automobile was salvaged from the floods in Austin.
