Conservatives pass new redistricting plan

By JIM DAVIS

North-Harris Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — In an apparent victory for Gov. Bill Clements, a majority of Texas Senators Wednesday tentatively approved a congressional redistricting plan close to what Clements has indicated he wants.

The plan, sponsored by Sen. John Wilson of LaGrange, would draw a minority-dominated district in Dallas County and thereby seriously erode the support of incumbent Democratic congressmen Jim Maddox and Martin Frost.

State representatives, under the direction of Speaker Bill Clayton, passed a plan with similar intent last May and are expected to do so again later in the special session.

Opponents, all Democrats, say such a design in Dallas County plays into the Republican governor's hands by making possible Republican victories in two congressional seats in that county next year.

In regular session last May the Senate passed a plan that spread the Dallas County minority vote — principally blacks — between new districts for Maddox and Frost. Opposition to this from Clements and the Texas House leadership led to the stalemate that made congressional redistricting an issue for this summer's special session.

Significantly, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, the state's top Democratic officeholder, 1981 voted for the Wilson plan, saying it's less open to legal attack in the federal courts.

The key vote came on a motion to table — or kill — the plan, with 17 votes against tabling and 14 for. Once the outcome was clear, the plan won 20-11 approval.

Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls voted with the minority, all Democrats, to table the Wilson proposal.

Farabee said he favors a Democratic Party-supported plan that protects present incumbent congressmen.

"It's more in line with existing congressional districts," he said. "I voted against the Wilson plan because it had the avowed purpose of creating a minority district in Dallas and South Texas. I don't think it's in the long-range best interest of minority groups or the competitive politics system."

Farabee, whose district includes the Big Spring area, said a final vote Friday may be quite close, since Hobby can only vote in a committee situation or in case of a tie in the Senate.

Wednesday's voting was by senators sitting as a committee-of-the-whole, meaning they recommended the plan to themselves for a formal Senate vote Friday.

Extremely heavy lobbying is expected before Friday's vote from both proponents and opponents of the Wilson plan.

The Wilson plan does not affect the previously proposed boundaries of District 17, of which Howard County is a part.

Under the plan, District 17 would be composed of Borden, Callahan, Coke, Coleman, Comanche, Concho, Crosby, Eastland, Earth, Fisher, Garza, Glasscock, Haskell, Howard, Jack, Jones, Lynn, Martin, Mitchell, Montague, Nolan, Palo Pinto, Parker, Scurry, Shackelford, Somervell, Stephens, Sterling, Stonewall, Taylor, Throckmorton, Wise and Young counties and part of Cooke County.

Wednesday's vote came after a speech by Wilson that was both emotional and pragmatic.

U.S. Reps. Charles Stenholm of Stamford, Jack Hightower of Vernon and Kent Hance of Lubbock would receive districts they previously have indicated are satisfactory.

BOB SLAGLE

State Democratic Chairman Bob Slagle, Austin, has accepted an invitation to speak at a Democratic Party rally here at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, July 28. The meeting will be held in the Cactus Room of Howard College.

Slagle will bring several members of his staff with him. Refreshments will be served and all area Democrats have been extended invitations to attend. Host groups for the meeting will be the Democratic Executive Committee and the Howard County Democratic Club, headed by H.M. (Mack) Underwood, president.

Radio club members track clouds

By RENEE BLACKWELL
Have you ever wondered who watches the clouds during threatening weather? Well, members of the Big Spring Amateur Radio Club take care of that, as does personnel of the Big Spring and Midland Weather Bureau. George Franklin, radio officer for Civil Defense Communications, said that the C-D sky warning classes not only keep in touch with the weather bureau, but they work with the Big Spring Police Department.

"We have a drill every Tuesday night at 9," said Franklin. During these drills, "spotters" will travel outside the town in each direction. They watch the progress of "clouds" and practice reporting.

In a real situation these "spotters" will report to the Midland Weather Bureau and the Civil Defense Director, Larry Miller, through a net who will, in turn, let the public know, Franklin said. A net is a group of people (like the club) on a certain frequency. If Big Spring had a disaster and all the phones and communications equipment went out,

Arson suspected in fire that hits vacant house

By BILLELDER

Arson is suspected in a pre-dawn blaze that gutted a vacant 1610 W. 1st residence, city fire department investigators said this morning.

Two fire trucks were dispatched to put out the blaze, which is believed to have started sometime around 4 a.m. The fire was under control by 4:30, said city Arson Investigator Rodney Phillips.

Phillips said he suspected arson because of "the way it was burned. There was a big hole in the floor. A fire burns upward — it won't burn down like that, unless it has help."

The hole was located in the floor near the front of the house and the charred springs to a mattress were found in the hole, Phillips said. It's possible that the mattress was doused with a flammable liquid and used to start the fire, he said.

The two-bedroom house reportedly is owned by Freddie Puga of Big Spring, who had been renting the house to an undisclosed number of tenants. The tenants were evicted recently, possibly last weekend, Phillips said.

He declined to say whether he thought the eviction was linked to the blaze.

The loss was estimated at $4,000 and the house was not insured, Phillips added.

"It was awful close to being totally damaged," he said.

The standard Chamber of Commerce-City of Big Spring reward of up to $500 has been offered to persons furnishing information which leads to the arrest and/or indictment of anyone in connection with the fire.

Stunt pilot lands in jail

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A low flying pilot from Lubbock is in the Mitchell County jail after some stunt flying along IS 20 and over Colorado City, according to Sheriff Wendall Bryant.

The 37-year-old pilot started his aerial just after midnight Wednesday by flying lower than 100 feet. He proceeded to fly under an IS underpass, dived at 18 wheelers and stopped traffic as the cars and trucks sought safety under the underpasses.

However, authorities got traffic going again when truckers started talking on their CBs about shooting down the Cessna 172. The end of the flight finally came at 1:42 a.m., today when the pilot ran low on fuel and landed on a runway in East Mitchell County. A Mitchell County deputy sheriff had gone airborne with two pilots to keep pace with the wayward pilot. The unidentified man offered no resistance as he alighted from his plane, his motor still running.

Six persons hurt in one-car crash

Six people in a car from Arlington were injured when the car went off the road at 8:01 p.m. Wednesday.

The vehicle hit mile marker 194, on Interstate 30 near Coahoma. The vehicle was owned by Al Martinez of Arlington.

State Trooper Dean Richardson went to the scene, and a Shafter Ambulance unit transported six passengers to Malone-Hogan Hospital.

Treated and released were Adon Martinez, 8, Moses Martinez, 14, and Gabriel Martinez, 7, and John Paul Hittner, 17-months.

Elbow resident's $8,500 dish captures top TV shows in world

By BILLELDER

Hey TV addicts, tired of that fuzzy picture on channel 4? You say that's not snow on channel 11 — but a real blizzard of bad reception?

What you need is a satellite dish.

Enter Bennett Petty, a square-jawed farmer of 52 from Elbow. And owner of Earth Station Antenna Systems.

Petty will install a 12-foot satellite dish on your property which will enable you to pick up channel 4 perfectly. And you can get just about everything else on the airwaves too.

Petty's personal dish, moored in concrete on the edge of an alfalfa field behind his home, even enabled him to pick up NASA transmissions during the space shuttle Columbia's maiden flight, he said. That's how good the reception is with a satellite dish.

There's a hitch, however. You'll have to plunk down $8,500 before Petty will truck in with your brand-new 800-pound, fiberglass-coated, wind-and-hail-resistant satellite dish.

You may also — some day — have to contend with the big cable programming merchants of the world, whose movies you've been intercepting without authorization.

In the meantime, if you've got the money, you can enjoy a smorgasbord of just about everything the nation's cable networks send their subscribers, since they send those programs via satellite signal. And you can enjoy some foreign transmission as well. Not to mention news reports, live coverage from the U.S. House of Representatives and — when scheduled — "other worldly" transmissions from the folks at NASA.

For Petty, satellite TV began about a year ago when he got tired of the minimal television reception in his Elbow Community home, about nine miles southwest of Big Spring. Like the rest of rural America, he was too far from the cities to pick up either normal broadcast transmissions or cable transmissions. So he heard about satellite TV and started shopping around.

"I wanted studio-quality reception," he explained recently. He wound up buying a dish from Fort Worth Tower. Petty was so impressed with his purchase, which was coupled with a giant-screen TV to give him not only the clearest picture but the biggest picture — that he decided to distribute the satellite dishes.

He's only sold two of them in the year he's been a distributor, but business is bound to pick up.

"It's the wave of the future," he says. And it may bring a wave of lawsuits from Showtime, Home Box Office, ESPN and other satellite transmitters of home entertainment, who aren't making a nickel off their programs when satellite TV viewers bring the signal in (unless the viewers confess to what they're doing and offer to pay).

"Theft of service is what it is," said Butch Henley, regional director for Showtime in Dallas. "You can't pick up our signal without being authorized."

Henley said he wasn't aware of Showtime prosecuting anyone with a satellite dish for unauthorized interception of Showtime programming, but added, "If the problem gets much larger, something's going to have to be done about it."

A major part of the reason Showtime hasn't gone after the "satellite people" is because the company would have to prove the dish owner received Showtime programming without paying for it. Short of obtaining a confession, cable owners have little hope of getting the goods on people who intercept their transmission.

To counter that, Showtime might resort to scrambling its transmission, Henley said.

It's not known how many people view satellite programming without paying for it; Henley figures the cost is prohibitive enough to all but "two or three hundred" people around the country.

Meanwhile, Bennett Petty goes on, selling as many as he can. And tuning in daily to Satcom, Comstar, Westar Anik and the other satellites orbiting the earth.

To keep track of all the programs coming over the air, he subscribes to "SAT Guide," a monthly magazine out of Idaho.

As an Arco Oil and Gas electrical engineer, he's picked up the mechanical expertise enabling him to make repairs on the dishes. Maintenance for the first year is covered by a warranty, but since a satellite dish is not exactly something you can ship to Petty's barn-workshop, Petty will have to make house calls. Being a statewide distributor, he may have some long road trips ahead of him.

"It's a side business," he explained, adding that he gets additional income from the 500 or so acres of cotton and alfalfa he farms.

After a day of hard work, he comes home to his wife and 5-year-old daughter and th giant screen in the living room. If the program coming down from, say, Comstar I, isn't what he wants to see, then Petty heads out to his dish, loosens a few bolts and points the dish in another direction to pick up another satellite.

"You've got to line it up right on the money," he said. "If it's off by one percent, you're going to lose half your reception."

He's not so sure that what he does is unauthorized. "It's out there," he says of those movies beaming down from outer space, "and if you've got the money to bring it in — it's yours."

"They're predicting we'll have 345 channels by the mid-1980s. Now doesn't that blow your mind?"

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Well, well

Q. I thought the water at the park was well water. If it is, why does it taste like there is chlorine in it?
A. Because it has a negligible amount of chlorine in it. The water indeed comes from Well No. 1, located near the Old Settlers Pavilion in Comanche Trail Park and there is a chlorine injector next to the well. You have a good taster. Most people can't detect it.

Israel stages new raids

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Israeli warplanes bombed Palestinian strongholds in southern Lebanon today in the fourth major anti-guerrilla air assault in less than a week, according to witnesses and Lebanese radio.

There was no immediate official comment from the Israeli military command in Tel Aviv.

The rightist Voice of Lebanon radio station said Israeli jets raided guerrilla bases in and around the coastal fishing town of Damour, 12 miles south of Beirut.

Witnesses said Israeli jets struck the teeming Palestinian refugee camp of Ein el-Hilweh on the southern edge of south Lebanon's port city of Sidon.

Lebanese reporter Edmond Chedid telephoned from Sidon, 25 miles south of Beirut, and said about 10 Israeli warplanes staged several bombing and strafing runs on Ein el-Hilweh, which has a United Nations-registered refugee population of 23,541 — the largest of the 13 Palestinian camps in Lebanon.

There was no immediate report of casualties.

Lunar eclipse tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Tonight's sky should be darker than usual for half the world as a rare lunar eclipse snuffs the moon from view.

The partial eclipse of the moon will pass through Earth's shadow beginning at 11:25 p.m. (EDT) today. The shadow will take a progressively larger bite from the moon's sunlit face until, at 12:47 a.m., a bit over 55 percent will be darkened. By 2:09 a.m., the moon will drift out of the shadow and the show will be over.

Barring clouds, anyone in the United States and "everywhere on the dark side of the Earth will be able to see it," said Malcolm Cooper of Los Angeles' Griffith Observatory.

However, the eclipse will not be visible to the half of the world that will be in daylight when it occurs.

Lunar eclipses "are of no real scientific value anymore, but they're fun to look at," Cooper said.

Reagan announces plan to control nuke weapons

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan today disclosed his administration's policy for preventing the spread of nuclear weapons, saying the goal has become more important because of "the ominous events in the Middle East."

"Further proliferation would pose a severe threat to international peace, regional and global stability, and the security interests of the United States and other countries," Reagan said in a statement.

The issue has grown in importance recently because of Israel's attack on an Iraqi nuclear reactor and because Pakistan and several other nations are believed to be working on nuclear weapons programs.

Administration officials declined to say how the policy would be applied to individual countries, however.

Reagan said it is his administration's goal "to prevent the spread of nuclear explosives to additional countries as a fundamental national security and foreign policy objective."

He announced six policy guidelines to back up that goal:

- Reducing the motivation for acquiring nuclear weapons by improving regional and global stability and addressing the "legitimate and security concerns" of other nations
- Supporting adherence to the 1970 Nuclear Non-proliferation Treaty
- Assessing any violations of existing nuclear treaties and safeguards agreements "as having profound consequences for international order and United States bilateral relations..."
- Working to strengthen the International Atomic Energy Agency and improving international safeguards

College for Kids, courses continue

It's been a "Summer To Remember" for 45 children who have participated in the Howard County Junior College District Continuing Education Department's "A Summer To Remember" program, according to Martha Fierro, director of Adult and Continuing Education at HCJCD.

"College for Kids is really in its experimental stages," said Ms. Fierro. "The idea was passed on to me, then my staff and I put our ideas together and came up with the curriculum plan. We wanted a curriculum that would appeal to the interests of kids that are normally high motivated students," she added.

"The program has been met with wholesome interest. We have enrolled a total of 45 children, with a few more courses still being offered. We are very proud and appreciative of the job that the instructors have done with the children in each class," said Ms. Fierro.

The classes still to be offered are Physical Education, Gymnastics, Fun with Art and Radio Broadcasting. Some of the courses already offered were Computers for Kids, Small Engine Repair, Photography and Sign Language I.

For more information on enrolling for one of the remaining courses, call the Adult and Continuing Education Department at Howard College at 267-6311, ext. 70.

Espionage suspect pleads innocent to spy charges

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — An ex-Army officer accused of selling military secrets to the Soviets pleaded innocent today to four counts of Espionage Act violations.

Joseph George Helmich, 44, shackled at the ankles and wrists during his 10-minute arraignment, entered innocent pleas to one conspiracy count and three espionage charges through his court-appointed lawyer, Peter Dearing.

Helmich is accused of selling secret codes and coding equipment in 1963 and 1964 while he was an Army warrant officer. The indictment charges that he was taught photography and secret writing by the Soviets and agreed to give them information in the event of "hostilities."

U.S. Magistrate Howard T. Snyder set trial for Sept. 14 before U.S. District Susan Black and continued the $500,000 bond set on Wednesday.

While Helmich was being held at an undisclosed location, current and former coworkers gave contrasting pictures of him. Some described Helmich as a "very, very nice gentleman," but others said he collected gruesome pictures of Vietnam and Korean war casualties and seemed to get pleasure out of displaying them.

Helmich, who was arrested Wednesday at his Jacksonville home by the FBI, allegedly received $131,000 from the Soviets and was made an honorary colonel in the Soviet army, much like someone might receive an honorary degree from a university, according to the indictment and a statement by U.S. Attorney Gary Betz.

The indictment alleged that the bulk of the activity occurred between January 1963 and July 1964. But as late as last year, the charges said, Helmich met Soviet officials to claim money held for him as "future payment for past activities and information."

He also agreed to provide information to the Soviets "in the event of anticipated hostilities," the charges said. Federal authorities refused to say whether the reference was to U.S.-Soviet hostilities or when the alleged pact was made.

"The damage by the delivery of this type of information (codes) could be very, very grave," Betz said at a court hearing.

"It could have given them (Soviets) the ability to make their own devices and decode messages at a time when this country was involved in hostilities in Vietnam."

At a bond hearing, Helmich said he made about $190 a week as a tile installer, and couldn't possibly make bond and asked for a court-appointed lawyer. Helmich said he, his wife and child came to Florida about six weeks ago from Niagara Falls, N.Y., "on a shoestring."

Betz told Snyder that Helmich likely would try to flee and argued for a high bond because "our investigation has determined that there were funds put away for his use outside the United States and means and methods for him to leave the country."

Lawrence Lawler, special agent in charge of the Jacksonville FBI office, said a federal grand jury had indicted Helmich Tuesday on three counts of espionage and one count of conspiracy.

Each count carries a maximum penalty of life in prison, Lawler said.

Federal marshals said it was such a sensitive case that they could not say where the suspect was held, other than in a jail they used under contract. In this area, that usually is the Duval County Jail.

Officials declined to say when the investigation began, but Lawler said it was still under way. He didn't say whether more arrests were expected.

ESPIONAGE SUSPECT ARRESTED — Joseph George Helmich, 44, of Jacksonville Beach, Fla. was led out of U.S. District Court here after being accused of selling top-secret defense information to the Soviets while he worked as a U.S. Army warrant officer in Paris from 1963-64.

California seeks federal aid in fruit fly fighting

LOS GATOS, Calif. (AP) — Fruit flies spreading out of control threaten California's $14 billion farming industry with virtual shutdown and the federal government should take emergency steps to help fight them, Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. says.

Brown asked President Reagan on Wednesday to declare three San Francisco Bay counties a federal disaster area after fruit flies were discovered 10 miles outside a region designated for aerial spraying with the pesticide malathion.

Officials made arrangements to widen the spraying area, and five helicopters were in the air by 4 a.m. PDT, spraying droplets of sticky pesticide-laced bait over a populated area north and west of San Jose early today to kill flies on backyard fruit trees.

"The increased magnitude of the infestation constitutes a disaster which is now beyond the control of the services, personnel, equipment and facilities" of the state and the three counties, Brown said in a letter to Reagan released Wednesday.

He asked for federal funds to help pay for the eradication program, which has already cost $23 million, and he asked for low-interest loans for residents from the Farmers Home Administration and the Small Business Administration.

The White House said it had not received a copy of the letter, and Brown said he had no indication that help would be forthcoming.

Officials confirmed on Wednesday that maggots of the fast-breeding pest had been found 10 miles north of the infestation area in San Mateo and to the east in Milpitas, as well.

In the first two days of pre-dawn spraying of the pesticide malathion, only 7½ square miles were covered in the heavily populated infestation area of more than 129 square miles. The first night, a pump on the lone helicopter broke down. The second night, one of two helicopters used for the spraying malfunctioned.

Officials had hoped to spray 45 square miles in two days and the full area in a week.

The entire zone is targeted for at least six sprayings of malathion, a common garden pesticide which many experts have said is safe.

Spy plane unveiled

PALMDALE, Calif. (AP) — A new $12.5 million version of the high-flying U-2 spy plane emerged ceremoniously from an isolated hanger as the Air Force praised it as a revolutionary step in tactical reconnaissance.

The black TR-1, its huge wings drooping as it moved into the windy California desert Wednesday before some 200 dignitaries and reporters, was the first of a planned fleet of 35 of the new Air Force planes to come off Lockheed Corp. assembly lines.

Thomas Behan, TR-1 program manager at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base in Fairborn, Ohio, said the new version will not replace the U-2, which hasn't been produced in more than a decade.

Morning storms across Panhandle

By the Associated Press

Early morning thunderstorms rolled across the Texas Panhandle and parts of the Permian Basin today, leaving up to 1.19 inches of rain in their wake.

The only other cloud cover in Texas was over the hill country.

Early morning temperature extremes ranged from 66 degrees at Dalhart to 82 degrees at Wichita Falls. Winds were from the south at five to 15 mph.

The forecast called for partly cloudy skies over West Texas and fair skies across the remainder of the state. Scattered thunderstorms are possible this afternoon in the Panhandle, south plains and areas west of the Pecos River. Highs will be in the 90s statewide except for 100-degree readings in the upper Red River valley and Big Bend.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy with scattered showers Friday with widely scattered mainly late afternoon and nighttime thunderstorms west of the Pecos and north. No important temperature changes. Highs today and Friday mostly in the 90s except near 100 Big Bend. Lows tonight 60s mountains and north to mid 70s extreme south.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy with season temperatures. Widely scattered mainly afternoon and evening thunderstorms in the mountains of Southwest Texas. Highs lower 90s north to near 100 Big Bend valleys. Lows mid 60s north to mid 70s south.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecasts showers Friday for parts of Nebraska, Kansas, Virginia and North Carolina.

56 Salvadorans being held for deportation

VADO, N.M. (AP) — The U.S. Border Patrol says 56 Salvadorans are being held for deportation after a truck driver abandoned them when they began pounding on the walls of his rig as outdoor temperatures reached 90 degrees.

The group was from El Salvador and had entered the United States via Mexico, intending to travel to the West Coast, said Edward Garcia, deputy chief of the U.S. Border Patrol's El Paso, Texas, office.

"They were becoming pretty hot in there and they were becoming nauseated because of lack of oxygen," Garcia said Wednesday.

The driver of the rig pulled into a service station off Interstate 25 near Vado "when he heard pounding on the trailer's side walls and he opened the doors and at that time people started coming out," he said. Vado is about 10 miles north of the United States-Mexico border.

"The driver of the rig apparently panicked and closed the doors and abandoned the people and took off in the tractor-trailer," Garcia said.

The Salvadorans, including women and children, entered the United States about 10 p.m. Monday without any immigration documents, Garcia said.

They were taken into custody Tuesday morning at about 10 a.m. by agents of the Border Patrol's Las Cruces station, Garcia said.

City faced with big problem

The Howard County Junior College District has budgeted $438,000 for its utility bills the next fiscal year, $225,000 for electricity alone. Time was when Howard College could operate with a budget no bigger than that.

Utility expenses are not peculiar to the college district. School districts, government installations, municipal governments — all are feeling the financial pinch because of the escalating cost of water, telephone systems, power and natural gas.

THE CITY OF Big Spring is fast coming up to a crisis. There soon may not be enough income to match the outgo. When that time comes, the councilmen must make a decision — cut back on services or increase taxes.

A few years ago, the city reacted favorably to a proposal to provide free power and free water for use at athletic fields here. At that time, the cost of such services was not prohibitive and the elective officials were impressed by the argument that it was far better to try and channel the energies of the youth in the community through sponsored athletic programs than to risk losing them to ennuil, teen-age gangs and vandalism.

The theory was sound and there is no telling how many youngsters have been helped by participating in such programs. In all instances, however, the contributions made by the city haven't been appreciated. All too many times, no one has accepted the responsibility of seeing that lights are extinguished, that water sprinklers have not been allowed to run day and night.

As a consequence, utility bills that were big enough to start with have sometimes grown enormously. Blame it on benign neglect. It has all but reached the point where the city officials must decide: Exact some kind of fee for the use of such facilities or get out of the business of picking up the tab entirely.

THERE ARE FOUR basic services the council reasons it must furnish to its citizens as matters of necessity. That would be a good water system (which the council is striving to upgrade), a good sewage system, the best streets a community can afford for the money it has available plus strong and responsible police and fire departments. Every service extended beyond that is gratuitously provided.

The individuals, the teams and the leagues availing themselves of city services should perhaps lend a little more attention to cooperating with the city wherever possible, even if they have to lend a little less attention to athletic excellence. Most of us never realize how much we miss something we take for granted until it is taken away from us.

Unto the Deng heaps of history

New Democratic focus

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Amid Democratic efforts to outbid President Reagan on taxes, one of the party's bright new figures is devising a strategy for the future to free Democrats from sterile liberal orthodoxy.

He is 39-year-old Rep. William M. Brodhead of Michigan, chairman of the liberal House caucus (Democratic Study Group). His audacity has kept Democrats from turning their tax fight into a crusade against the rich, and he has much bolder designs for the future.

Brodhead, a member of the Ways and Means Committee, sees nothing gained economically or politically by Chairman Dan Rostenkowski's efforts to redistribute income through taxes. Instead, Brodhead is thinking about dropping all tax rates down to 35 percent, accompanied by a Democratic caveat: closing important tax shelters.

HERE IS A RARE sign of Democratic innovation which Brodhead believes must be applied to every issue for his party to appeal to individual Americans instead of special interest groups. While claiming their heritage as party of the people, the Democrats have become a party afraid of the people.

Brodhead walked onto the national tax policy stage early this year with his surprise proposal to drop the top 70 percent rate on "unearned" income (dividends and interest) to 50 percent. While failing in its intent to outflank

Reagan (who quickly embraced it), Brodhead's move and its acceptance by the Democratic leadership had far-ranging consequences not yet fully appreciated.

Jude Wanniski, prophet of supply-side economics, wrote Brodhead commending him as the economic Arthur Vandenberg of the 1980s. Indeed, by declaring the rich also need tax incentives, Brodhead moved toward ending Democratic bias against wealth that has distorted the party's economic policies.

But the distortion continued in Rostenkowski's frantic efforts to outdo Reagan's tax package. While piling on tax-cutting "goodies" for business, he has performed Democratic ceremonial income redistribution by concentrating tax reductions in lower brackets. Brodhead holds his tongue in deference to his chairman, but sees little value in the emerging Democratic bill.

In early June with Rostenkowski and the White House in a bidding war over tax "goodies," a more rational approach was sought by the House Republican Conference chairman and principal political agent of the supply-side movement, Rep. Jack Kemp of New York. He walked over to Brodhead's office to suggest that they jointly back massive reductions of both "unearned" and "earned" income to the 30-35 percent level.

Brodhead was interested, but insisted that deep rate cuts must be accompanied by traditional Democratic "reforms" closing tax shelters. That doomed Kemp's hopes for a quick bipartisan bill, and he has not been in touch with Brodhead since then.

However, Brodhead has seen Wanniski, Kemp's old economic tutor, Brodhead is intrigued with the supply-side theory that marginal tax rate reduction will increase growth and, therefore, increase tax revenue for liberal social welfare programs.

BRODHEAD HAS carried on without Kemp, seeking not a bipartisan formula for the present but a partisan Democratic strategy for the future. He proposes a maximum 35 percent rate for all taxpayers, linked to "reforms" cracking down not only on real estate tax shelters but hitherto inviolable business expense accounts.

That will encounter resistance from conventional Democrats. But for the first time since the advent of Kemp-Roth, it would seize the offensive on taxes for the Democrats by challenging free enterprisers to give up tax shelters in return for lower rates.

It also belatedly would enlist Democrats in the tax revolution. "I think it's indecent for working people to pay taxes over 35 percent," Brodhead told us. He is after a restored Democratic appeal to ordinary Americans.

That goes beyond tax policy. Brodhead believes his party has become the agent of special interest groups spawned by the Great Society.

Caribbean nations favored

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — President Reagan's foreign policy team has completed a secret development program that would give Caribbean nations unprecedented trade concessions to market their goods in the United States.

The cost to the U.S. taxpayer is expected to reach $325 million to $350 million by fiscal 1983 — but administration officials believe that will be a bargain if the Caribbean Basin blueprint accomplishes what they hope it will. The ultimate goal is to make the member nations self-sufficient, thereby eliminating the economic miseries that make leftist propaganda so beguiling to the downtrodden masses.

At the same time, the administration will take pains to avoid any taint of "Yankee imperialism" or "dollar diplomacy."

ONE WAY IT WILL do this is to focus solely on economic aid, leaving out military or "security" assistance. My sources say that U.S. embassy officials have been told to deflect any questions about military aid by saying, "We are attempting on a multilateral basis to reduce tensions in the region by attacking their root causes; that is, inadequate economic development and social imbalance."

Another means of averting suspicion of U.S. motives is to gain support from other nations, and here the president has stepped in personally. He has discussed the concept with Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo and West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt. Other administration officials have contacted Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau and trade bigshots in France, Britain and Venezuela.

State Department sources told my associate Bob Sherman that the president is hoping to schedule a four-party meeting this summer or early fall with Trudeau, Lopez Portillo and Venezuelan President Luis Herrera Campins. Reagans is hopeful that Lopez Portillo and Herrera Campins will play a leading role in organizing and running the Caribbean Basin program.

Ironically, the feature of the administration's proposal most likely to reassure the Caribbean nations of Uncle Sam's good intentions is the very one that will cause the most trouble at home. This is the plan to establish a one-way free trade program, under which the Caribbean nations could sell their goods in the United States with no restrictions — but without granting American companies similar concessions.

This will obviously encounter opposition from U.S. industry and labor, which would be undercut by unrestrained importation of Caribbean products. Similar complaints can be expected from Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands, which already enjoy trade concessions equal or similar to those proposed for the Caribbean Basin nations.

BEYOND THE one-way free trade opportunity, the Reagan plan would also create a Caribbean Basin Insurance Consortium to provide at least partial protection against the political risks businessmen in the region face from war damage and government expropriation.

Reagan insiders are hoping the Caribbean initiative can be in action by fiscal 1983. They estimate the U.S. costs to be up to $350 million per year for the first three years, with another $100 million from other governments.

State Department planners hope that the ambitious plan will increase agricultural and industrial productivity in the economically hard-pressed Caribbean to the point of self-sufficiency in 10 or 15 years. The initiative would include all the Caribbean and Central American nations except Cuba, Grenada and possibly Nicaragua. Guyana and Surinam in South America would also be included.

UNDER THE DOME: Rep. Dan Rostenkowski, D-Ill., the normally amiable chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, was outraged at what he considered the administration's unreasonable demand for speed on the tax-cut bill — and the "twisting" of his position on it. "The president's demand for a tax bill on his desk by August 1 is high political theater at best," he wrote Treasury Secretary Donald Regan. "I believe that prudence — rather than a media horse race — would better serve the nation's taxpayers."

Rushing in where angels fear to tread, a Justice Department bureaucrat named Bob McConnell unilaterally canceled a meeting that had been set up between the Florida congressional delegation and Justice representatives. One reason: The arrangements for the meeting had not gone through the congressional liaison office. Sen. Lawton Chiles, D-Fla., told McConnell he had never heard of such impertinence in all the years he's been in the Senate. The meeting was held the next day.

The Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, in a biting press release, attacked Rep. Clay Shaw, R-Fla., for junketing off to the Paris Air Show. "The only thing Rep. Shaw knows about bell-lightening is when his stewardess tells him: 'Fasten your seatbelt, Congressman,'" the release said. One trouble: Shaw didn't make the trip. He demanded a retraction, and got it.

Around the rim What a shame

Carol Hart

Last year, I became a baseball fan. When Houston took on Philadelphia for the National League championship, I took notice of a game I had been ignoring for years.

Prior to that, I never cared much for the big-league version of the game, and the only thing I got out of the game on a personal level was a black eye. Having a sports writer for a father did little to enhance my love of the sport. When I was growing up, he always wanted to watch some game on television, while I would have preferred cartoons, or some spicy prime-time drama.

BASEBALL ALWAYS WON the television war, and I became prejudiced against the sport. But when Houston started looking real good last year, and everybody talked of nothing else, I began paying more attention.

At that time, I was working for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, and whenever baseball came on, we stopped working, hooked up the television and cheered the guys on. Not everybody was for the same team, it turned out, but that made for great office rivalries. Besides, any excuse to quit working for awhile was OK by me. With such little background, I have no right to criticize. But the ongoing strike is hurting a lot of people involved in the sport, not to mention fans who have loved the game for years. What's summer without baseball? This summer, everybody's getting the chance to find out what summer's like without the big leagues.

I CAN'T MUSTER up too much sympathy for the players, because the deals they had in the first place seemed phenomenal to me.

The people I feel sorry for are those effected by the strike, like concession stand owners, and all the people who work on the outside edges of the sport. I know they're hurting because the people they're depending on for income aren't playing the game.

We can watch stick figures on newscasts for so long, and imaginary games will be funny for a short period of time. Many people are talking about how the season has already been ruined for them, and voiced little interest in taking up where the strike left everybody off.

It's a shame the great American pastime had to run into this.

Dear Editor:

For years now, I've heard things said about Malone-Hogan Hospital that were not always complimentary. I've been a patient there for the past two weeks, and I could not have had better care.

I came into the hospital through the emergency room on June 26, after a freakish accident at home.

Words seem inadequate to describe the care I received. I would like to thank all employees of the hospital for the concern and compassion they showed in caring for me. The nurses on 4th floor are wonderful, especially the Filipino nurses. They are truly an asset to the hospital.

Thanks, too, to my co-workers at Gamco, Auriel LaFond, Harold Davis, Dr. Moore, my husband's co-workers at Petroplex Acidizing, Inc., and to my children's friends, for the thoughtful things they did for me while I was in the hospital. Also, a special thanks to my neighbor, Millie Cunningham, who found me that day.

Anemia can cause dizziness

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: For about two weeks I have been getting dizzy spells. Some of them happen when I am not doing anything but standing, and some of them happen when I've run up stairs & something like that. It is definitely not because I am pregnant. I've been eating normally and am the right weight. No strenuous work. I am 15 and don't have a family doctor. I would appreciate it if you would give me a clue as to what is causing this dizziness. — Miss C.B.

I am at a loss to answer you with specifics. Dizziness covers such a wide variety of sensations. For example, lightheadedness is often called dizziness. Sometimes, simply a quick change of position can cause it. I mean rising suddenly. Anemia can cause it, and you can have anemia even with the best diet. See what I mean.

For some, dizziness means a feeling of whirling or of motion. Again, possibilities are varied. You have to consider all the organs that have anything to do with balance — the ears, nerves to the ears, the eyes, the brain (the part having to do with how we sense body position — the cerebellum), and so on.

It is too late in the year for you to check with your school nurse, but you do need some explanations. Certainly, someone in the family has a doctor with whom you can set up an appointment. Getting an appointment is really not such a big deal. Think it out.

Dear Dr. Donohue: If you decide you want children, how long should you be off the Pill before you get pregnant? — Mr. and Mrs. C.

You should wait at least three months after discontinuing the Pill before you become pregnant. Use some other means of contraception during this waiting period.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I think I am allergic to penicillin. Is there a test to definitely tell? — Mrs. P.P.

Yes, there is a skin test to indicate undue reaction to such medicine. If you think you are in this situation you should find out.

You can lose weight if you really want to! The booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Changes in credit card terms, costs outlined

COLLEGE STATION — Can you still afford your credit cards?

Credit-card terms, conditions and costs have undergone major surgery in 1980, says Nancy Granovsky, a family resource management specialist.

No longer are credit cards merely "convenience devices." No longer can every card user who pays a bill in full automatically avoid a finance charge. And the cards are no longer free in some states, the specialist says.

Mrs. Granovsky is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Because of these changes, you may wish to take a second look at your bank credit cards to determine how or if you wish to continue to use them, she says.

For example, the Annual Percentage Rate (APR) for bank credit cards is subject to state law.

In Texas, the APR ceiling is 18 percent.

Some states charge 22 percent, while others charge 12-16 percent, so don't assume that because you live in Texas, your bank credit costs are 18 percent.

The rate of your card depends on the state from which your card was issued. Some banks have moved their entire credit-card service operations to states where they can charge higher interest.

Some banks have also changed the method used to compute finance charge by eliminating the "free float" period. It used to be that if you paid your bill in full each month, no finance charge was assessed.

Now you may be assessed a finance charge from the day charges are posted to your account.

Still other banks assess annual fees, most typically $12 per bank credit card. However, many banks still offer the cards at no annual charge. Others assess transaction fees or flat monthly fees.

Consumers can do several things to minimize their credit costs.

Read the fine print in the credit contract. What is the APR? How are finance charges computed and to what balances are they applied? Is there an annual fee for the card?

Check to see what credit-card terms and conditions are available from other financial institutions. You may want to apply for a bank credit card from another institution if you can save money.

But, don't expect credit granted immediately.

Approval depends on your credit rating as well as on the policies of the institution regarding new accounts.

If you have two or more bank credit cards, consider using only one, particularly if your other cards are subject to unavoidable finance charges or annual fees.

Decide which is more cost effective — paying an annual fee or a monthly finance charge. Finance charges are deductible as interest, but annual credit-card fees are not deductible.

Re-assess your credit-card use habits. Remind yourself that everything will cost more if your card assesses finance charges as soon as the items are posted to the account.

Adjust your attitude regarding the use of credit. Many of us have become so accustomed to "free float" or "free credit card" privileges, that we wince when we must bear the costs of credit ourselves.

Ladon Grantham is honored with Saturday brunch

Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins, Knott, was hostess for a brunch Saturday morning honoring Ladon Grantham, bride-elect of Ricky Paterson.

Assisting with the hostesses were Brenda Scott, Coahoma, Mrs. Tom McDonnell, Abilene, and Mrs. Kelly Gaskins, Knott.

Guests registered in the foyer on a polished antique oak table, centered with a hand blown crystal bell and nosegay of summer flowers. Approximately 16 guests were welcomed into the den, where they were served juice from a crystal juice set on a glass topped serving cart.

The oval serving table was laid with an ecru linen cloth edged in lace. A round mirror, holding a lead crystal basket containing green grapes, centered the table.

The guests were seated at quartet tables covered with ecru linen and centered with crystal bells. Places were marked with nosegays and hand-made place cards.

Gifts to be used on the "picnic, porch, or patio" were presented to the honoree in a wicker picnic basket, which was the gift from the hostesses.

Special guests were the honoree's mother, Mrs. Don Grantham, her aunt, Mrs. Wally Slate, both of Big Spring and Mrs. E.W. Patterson, Colorado City, the prospective groom's mother.

The couple will wed Saturday in St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Rebekah Lodge installs officers

The John A. Key Rebekah Lodge installing team installed officers for the Big Spring Rebekah Lodge No. 284 immediately following a short business meeting Tuesday evening at 7. Fifteen members and four visitors attended. Freda Lansperg was installed as noble grand for the July-January term and guests attending were her relatives.

Other officers installed were Marion Savelle, financial secretary; Janet Barnhill, conductor; Gracie Lee Grider, musician; Myrtle Gring, United States color bearer; Mable Morrison, inside guardian; Timmie McCormick, outside guardian; Margie Norwood, right support to the noble grand; Gay Smith, left support to the noble grand; Jewel Thompson, left support to the past noble grand; June Wiggins, right support to the vice grand and Corynne Cunningham, left support to the vice grand.

Mrs. Lansperg chose yellow as her color and the moon and seven stars as her emblem. Psalm 23 was chosen as her scripture. The front of the lodge was decorated in yellow with a silver moon and seven stars hanging on one side. The scripture, lettered in silver, hung on the other side. Guests were served cake

Dear Abby

Another Dentist Can Cap False-Teeth Quarrel

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I are having a big fight with her dentist. My wife is getting a full set of dentures. All her life she was ashamed of her teeth because they were yellowish, and now she wants snow-white teeth, but her dentist won't give them to her. He says snow-white teeth look unnatural. Abby, she doesn't care; she says movie stars have snow-white teeth and they look beautiful, and she wants beautiful white teeth too.

Meanwhile her dentist keeps telling her that his job is to give her teeth that will look natural, and if she suddenly comes out with snow-white teeth, people will know the teeth are dentures and they'll think her dentist did a poor job. We are deadlocked. Should a dentist give a patient what she wants or what he thinks she ought to have?

We live in Maine, but if we have to go to California to get what we want, we will go there. And I wouldn't begrudge the cost, either. Help us.

UNHAPPY SENIOR CITIZENS

DEAR UNHAPPY: The dentist discharged his professional obligation when he told your wife that the kind of teeth she wants will look unnatural. Having said this, and being overruled, he should give her what she wants. If he refuses, there are plenty of other dentists in Maine.

DEAR ABBY: A young woman who attends our church brings a large bag containing some kind of needlework, and all during the church service she either knits, crochets or does needlepoint.

I find this very distracting, and from the looks cast her way from others sitting near her, they too are annoyed.

I don't have the nerve to say something to her, and apparently neither has anyone else. She sits toward the back, so the minister can't see what she's doing. It's irritating to see her knitting away during the sermon. Maybe if you mention it in your column, she'll stop.

DISGUSTED IN YAKIMA, WASH.

DEAR DISGUSTED: Here's the needle. I hope she gets the point.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "WANTS YOUR OPINION IN EUGENE": If you have to explain what your poem meant, then you haven't written a very good one.

QUALITY CARE — Approximately 60 children attend the Westside Community Day Care Center located at the Industrial Park. Three of the older children are seen here enjoying the playground. They are Joshua Peters, Jacob Oliver and Lisa Hernandez.

Special activities planned

Day Care Center can be a Godsend

By ANDREA COHEN
 "I like to play with the Legos and go outside and play with blocks and play with my friends. I like to do everything," Jacob Oliver, age 5.

 The outside of the building says Youth Center. Inside the bright yellow walls encompass 60 laughing children.
 For the parents of the children who are in the Westside Community Day Care Center, the facility can be a Godsend.
 "Ninety eight percent of our children come from a one-parent head of household," said Patricia Lawlis, former director of the center, who resigned as of Thursday.
 The children are admitted if they are between six weeks and six years old and if their parents are eligible under Title 20. The Texas Department of Human Resources cases take first priority, despite income. These are usually neglected children. The second priority is parents who receive AFDC (Aid to Families with Dependent Children).
 "They pay two percent of their monthly gross, weekly for one child," Lawlis said. "For more than one child the cost is two and a half percent."
 Westside became an agency in 1973 when it was located on Third Street. For the last three years, it has been located at the Big Spring Industrial Park.
 "We try to give quality day care, to increase the child's social education and skills," she continued. "We try to give a positive reinforcement of discipline and give a happy home-like life but we don't try to take the place of the parent."

 Other services provided by the Center include referrals for counseling for parents and limited health care.
 Activities are planned so "the kids don't have time to wait around," Lawlis said. Besides meals, playtime and learning activities, the children are taken on field trips approximately every two weeks, a librarian visits the children weekly and they are taught crafts.
 "The kids are usually upset about the parents leaving the first few days," she added. "We're more attentive and try to make it special. We include the kids in more activities. It takes about three days for a child to adjust. Sometimes the kids cry when they leave at night."
 "The kids don't seem to mind being here," she added. "They get attached to their caretakers. When they get promoted to the next classroom is when they cry, sometimes as much as when the mother leaves them."
 In order to qualify for federal money to run the center, 30 percent of the $150,000 needed yearly must be raised locally. The 30 percent is raised through parent fees, foundation grants and United Way donations.
 The Center is run by 15 employees and volunteers, including some from the Willing Workers, from Canterbury Apartments, and some who work through the R.S.V.F. program.
 "We have a good relationship with the parents, a very good relationship, I think," Lawlis said. "Usually the parents are happy with the care."

Thunderstorm theories boom, but prediction remains cloudy

By DONALD J. FREDERICK
 National Geographic News Service
 WASHINGTON — It's bad enough when thunderstorms drench the unwary or scare the kids, but now we find out they're ganging up on us.
 Clusters of thunderstorms sometimes merge in an enormous violent weather system that can cover an area the size of Iowa and Missouri combined, last 12 hours or more, and dump as much as 10 inches of rain on the ground.
 Although the monster storms are most common in the nation's heartland, they sometimes stray over the Appalachians to drench the East.
 "The flooding that inundated Johnstown, Pa., in 1977 and turned Russell County, Ala., into a disaster area early this year was caused by such storms," said Robert A. Maddox, a meteorologist at the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) in Boulder, Colo.
 But one man's flash flood is another's bumper harvest. The big storms also produce the soaking rains necessary for high yields in the corn and wheat belts. "If you're a farmer out in Iowa or Nebraska, you won't be happy if you don't get a few of these during the growing season," pointed out Maddox.

 Until recently, these large violent weather patterns were linked to loosely organized storms that were thought to rumble through an area close together, but individually. Maddox and co-worker J. Michael Fritsch found otherwise after examining hundreds of infrared cloud pictures taken by satellites.
 They discovered that the monster thunderstorm is characterized by an enormous round shield of slowly moving cold clouds that top off at 7 to 8 miles above the Earth. The buildup of this towering mass typically occurs on a hot, humid day with weak winds, when individual thunderstorms in a broad area join forces and interact.
 "This massive circular system usually strikes with its full fury after dark," said Maddox. "Between 40 and 60 of these whoppers occur each year, usually from March through September."

 Most thunderstorms occur when air masses with contrasting temperatures and humidities collide. Where they meet, a sharp zone or front may form as one pushes up against the other. Strong winds develop. The typical summer thunderstorms that buffet an area usually line up ahead of the colder of the fronts and move through rather rapidly, propelled by the winds.
 Not so with the big storms that Maddox viewed. Once they join forces, they move slowly, almost reluctantly. It's still not clear why they form, although Maddox speculates that general climatic conditions such as the weak winds and heavy humidity may be at least partly responsible. With further study he hopes to find out.
 Other meteorologists are trying to learn to anticipate the sudden thunderstorms and downpours that can foul up a picnic or ruin a day at the beach. It's not as easy as it sounds. Predicting the onset and movement of these sudden, warm-weather showers still gives local weathermen fits.

 Andrew I. Watson and Ronald Holle of NOAA's Office of Weather Research and Modification are looking at Florida, which leads the nation in thunderstorms, spawning them an average of 100 days a year. Many of these storms form when converging winds rapidly lift warm, moist air to form the tall dark cloud called cumulonimbus — the familiar "thunderhead."
 The scientists are convinced that at least in Florida, these converging winds can be used to forecast approaching rain and thunderstorms. By setting up a network of 46 small portable wind stations covering a 24-by-32-mile area south of Lake Okeechobee, they found it was possible to predict where the thunderstorm would strike 10 minutes to an hour before the first cloud buildup was visible.
 "The relationship between wind convergence and rain showers has been recognized in a general way for years, but was really spelled out only recently," Holle explained. "Now we know that by using small wind stations to measure the speed, direction, and moisture content of converging winds, it is possible to pinpoint the place a thunderstorm will occur."

 What works for Florida's slow-moving thunderstorms may not be as effective in predicting the appearance of the faster-moving thunderstorms that are more prevalent in other parts of the country.
 Data from a similar wind station program in Illinois are still being analyzed, and results, although encouraging, are not all in. But Holle and Watson are convinced that networks of wind stations will play an important role in thunderstorm forecasting in the future.
 Meanwhile, one of the most detailed studies of thunderstorms ever undertaken has just begun in eastern Montana. Working in a 90-mile radius around Miles City, 200 scientists and technicians from 29 institutions will use everything from radar to weather balloons to find out just what makes these severe storms tick and to improve forecasting.
 They will be supported by 14 aircraft, which will probe the storms for an inside look. One of the craft, a sailplane, will soar along the periphery of storms seeking information in the billowing clouds there.
 Organized by the National Center for Atmospheric Research and the Department of the Interior, the study, called the Cooperative Convective Precipitation Experiment (CCOPE), may someday prove a boon to farmers haunted by drought and hail damage.

 Scientists hope that by studying the anatomy of thunderstorms they will be able to come up with new insights that will enable them to suppress hail and increase rainfall.
 "Past efforts at seeding thunderstorm clouds to achieve these results have largely been unsuccessful, because we just don't know enough about them," pointed out Arlin B. Super, one of CCOPE's site directors and a meteorologist with Interior's Bureau of Reclamation.
 "As things now stand, many of the storms are inefficient rain producers. There are tons and tons of water up there in the spiraling cirrus clouds that accompany these storms, but the water freezes into ice crystals and is wafted away by the accompanying high winds before it can fall to earth as rain. We're still not sure exactly why."
 There's a lot to learn about hail, too. Although scientists have been trying to suppress hail for some time, they still don't know such fundamentals as where in a thunderstorm cloud system the ice crystals form that eventually turn into hail.

Watt to proceed with sweeping offshore oil lease plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — Interior Secretary James Watt says he is going ahead with his large-scale offshore oil leasing program despite objections from environmentalists and reservations from segments of the petroleum industry.
 "There has been much concern that the area-wide concept will result in a weakening of environmental safeguards," he said at a press conference Wednesday. "This is not the case."
 Watt, saying the current offshore exploration program has "a tremendously favorable environmental record," pledged to use all available means to prevent future environmental degradation.

 Asked about statements by some oil executives that his plan to lease billions of acres may be too sweeping for the industry to handle, he replied: "We believe the marketplace will create the capacity."
 Watt said the plan has undergone minor modifications as a result of comments from coastal state governors coastal states since it was introduced in April but that its scope had remained the same.

Energy — Rotary rigs numbers same

There was no change in the number of Texas rotary rigs active July 13 and those making hole the previous week. The figure was 1,349 last Monday, compared to 1,349 for the week ending July 6.
 A month ago, the rig count amounted to 1,322 while a year ago only 973 were probing the earth at varying depths.
 Throughout the United States, the rig count was down slightly. In all, 3,970 were reaming the earth July 13, compared to 3,984 the preceding week. A month ago, the rig count was 3,899 while a year ago 2,943 were active.

Missile fired 'inadvertently'

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — No injuries or damage was reported after a Navy destroyer "inadvertently" fired a live, armed missile during fleet exercises in the Caribbean near St. Croix.
 Lt. Drew Malcolm, public affairs officer at the Navy's Roosevelt Roads Naval Base at Puerto Rico, said Wednesday that the incident was under investigation.
 The missile was launched late Tuesday by the destroyer USS Coontz, Malcolm said.
 "After an extensive search ... all evidence at the present time indicates the missile impacted harmless at sea more than 45 miles away from St. Croix" in the U.S. Virgin Islands, he said.

Bentsen: CIA bungled Hugel security check

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Central Intelligence Agency bungled its security check of Max Hugel, the administration's nominee for chief of clandestine operations, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen says.

Hugel resigned Tuesday in the wake of charges he engaged in improper stock market activity seven years ago.

"It's obvious they made a very hurried security check. I understand they did it in approximately seven days, and that was too hasty for an agency that has a record for being very thorough," Bentsen told Texas reporters Wednesday afternoon.

"They obviously did a very poor job, and it obviously was a very serious mistake," the Texas Democrat said during his monthly press conference.

Bentsen, a member of the Senate Intelligence Committee, said he was not given advance notice of Hugel's resignation, but didn't consider that improper. He learned the news during a meeting of the committee on Tuesday.

"It took them a short time, I suppose, to find out how severe the accusation was. I think once they found out, they acted very expeditiously."

Asked if the embarrassment would have any effect on his decisions concerning the CIA, Bentsen said, "Every time you see one of these things, it leads you to question more, to probe more."

Bentsen touched on several other topics during his press conference, including the decision by House Democratic leaders to leave Rep. Phil Gramm of College Station off the giant House-Senate conference committee concerning the bill Gramm drafted and helped sponsor.

"I'm one who works to bring people into the party. I always have been, and I think it's important that we do it. I don't know the rules of the House to that extent, but I'm stating that as a philosophy," said Bentsen, who beat Gramm in the Democratic primary during his 1976 reelection bid.

Postmaster accused of provoking strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Leaders of the nation's two largest postal unions are charging that Postmaster General William F. Bolger "is determined to provoke a nationwide postal strike."

Moe Biller, president of the American Postal Workers Union, and Vincent Sombrotto, head of the National Association of Letter Carriers, said Wednesday that the Postal Service has failed to make a wage offer or respond to the one offered by the unions.

In a joint speech to the National Press Club, the two claimed that the Postal Service is refusing to meet with them. The only dialogue, they said, is through federal mediators.

After listening to the speech, Postal Service spokesman Walter Duka commented: "We have been at every session that has been called. That hardly can be considered a refusal to bargain."

Troop 5 to attend national jamboree

Boy Scout Troop 5, along with the Buffalo Trail Council, will attend the National Scout Jamboree to be held at Fort A. P. Hill outside Washington, D.C. July 29 through Aug. 4.

Troop 5, made up of scouts from Big Spring, will only be visiting the Jamboree while the Council will actually be participating in it.

The Buffalo Trail Council, to be led by Bill Waddell from Odessa, Joel Hamlett from Snyder, Bill Foster and Jerry Norton both from Midland, and Steve Miller from Odessa, consists of boys from 18 counties extending from Loraine to Van Horn and from Snyder to the Big Bend area.

Phil Corbin, scout executive for Big Spring, said the Jamboree is basically a skills demonstration. "It covers all facets of skills used by the boy scouts," Corbin said. The boy scouts are a participating agency of the Howard County United Way.

Local hospital administrator completes thirty year tenure

"Thirty years really does not seem to be a long time when one enjoys what he is doing and when he has been blessed with a good staff as I have been. The hospital (Hall-Bennett Memorial) was a challenge to me when I chose to become its administrator and it remains a challenge to me today."

CHARLES A. WEEG

These were among some of the comments of Charles A. Weeg, administrator of Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital, when his co-workers honored him with a recognition party on Thursday, July 9, occasioned by his completion of a 30-year tenure as hospital administrator.

Weeg started his hospital career shortly after his graduation from the University of Texas in Austin in 1953 with a B.B.A. degree. He took his training at Breckenridge Hospital in Austin, an institution he served for 15 years in the capacities of trainee, business manager and administrator. His tenure at this hospital came to an end when in 1960, he accepted a position as hospital consultant at Roy H. Laird Memorial Hospital in Kilgore, Tex. He supervised this hospital during its construction phases to its final opening.

It was on July 9, 1961 that Weeg was summoned by the late Dr. M.H. Bennett to be administrator of what was then known as the Big Spring Hospital Corporation. Weeg has since served as administrator of three separate legal entities — Big Spring Hospital Corporation, Howard County Hospital Foundation and finally, Hall-Bennett Memorial Hospital.

When questioned about retirement, Weeg shrugs off the idea saying, "If I retire, I am afraid that I will get old before my time. As long as I enjoy good health and as long as my Board of Directors wishes, I plan to continue my career."

Weeg, who is also very active in civic and community affairs is married to the former Reta Debenport, daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. H.R. Davenport, and they reside at 1703 Harvard.

North Central, Lamesa take All-Star wins

Midland North Central and Lamesa advanced into the quarterfinal round of the winners bracket Wednesday evening by posting wins in the Texas District III Little League All-Star Tournament here at two parks.

The Midland North Central team used the three-hit pitching of Jason Logi in taking a hard earned 2-1 triumph over Midland Mid-City.

Logi whiffed nine while limiting Mid-City to only three hits, while losing hurler Curtis Tipton fanned 10 batters.

North Central only four hits in the win, with Logi's triple being the big blow. Eric Boyd, Jeff Connally and Lance Wood contributed singles.

Scott Mowles had two of the hits for Mid-City, with Tipton adding the other.

North Central will now move into the next round next Monday night, and will oppose the winner of the Midland Tower-Big Spring Texas League contest.

Mid-City, which had beaten Stanton 8-0 on opening night, will move into the losers bracket. They will face either Big Spring International, Midland Tower or Big Spring Texas on Saturday night.

In the other game last night, the Lamesa All-Stars exploded in the second inning for nine runs on seven hits in rolling to an 11-1 triumph over the Midland Western All-Stars.

Wes Shook was the big stick in the uprising, connecting for a grand slam homer, while Tim Demerson banged out a three-run homer.

Carl Pennington led the Lamesa crew with three doubles, while both Demerson and Shook added a single to their home runs. Scott had a double and a single, while Tim Berry had two singles for the Lamesa team.

Midland Western managed only two hits off winning hurler Carl Pennington. Those were singles by Gregg Bick and Kendall Bowlin.

Lamesa now moves into the quarterfinal round and will meet Midland Eastern. That game will be played next Monday night.

Students show improvement, Easterling excited

HC running class proves valuable

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

It's not your normal college class, but then again, she's not your normal professor.

Sherrill Easterling, usually a math professor at Howard College who also is a successful marathon runner on the side, has introduced a course through the PE department of the local JUCO dealing with running.

It is a course that teaches a person how to run, and how to get the most out of it.

From listening to some of the students that took the course during the first summer session, it has been nothing short of a valuable learning experience.

"It's helped a lot in several different ways," said student Bonifacio Salazar. "Physically, I don't feel so run down. I find that I'm able to do a lot more without being so out of breath. Psychologically, it gives you a new type of mental energy. I have better ability to concentrate and am not as nervous as I used to be."

Salazar wasn't the only person who felt that the running course benefited him mentally, as Lee Henry, minister of the Anderson Street Church of Christ, agreed.

"The primary benefit for me is the good health that I'm going to get out of it (the course), the improving of the cardiovascular system and good breathing, but more than that, I have discovered as my health improves, my attitude improves. I feel better about myself and other people," said Henry.

The running course began at seven in the morning during the past session, although Easterling indicated that it would be moved to the 1:00 p.m. time slot in the fall session. That early time made it difficult for many would be runners, but the simple fact that most of them were out of shape didn't help, either. But that changed during the six-week course, as some attested.

"I surprised myself in that when I started, I could only run a-fourth of a mile," explained Juanita Lopez, "but now I can run a mile-and-a-half."

"My pulse rate has slowed down 30 beats a minute," explained Henry, "and I can run three miles without stopping. When I started, I couldn't run a block."

professor feels is a necessary college course, too, not just a jollyroll to pick up hours.

"When this class first started," said Easterling, "most of the students could only run a quarter-of-a-mile. I wanted them to be able to run two miles by the time they finished the course. Some would only go 1/4 of a mile, then walk, then a little more until they covered the distance. But by the end of the course, they could all cover the distance without too much trouble."

Easterling, who competed in the Boston Marathon the past May, feels that the most important thing for a person that wants to take up running is to get both the proper pair of shoes and the proper program.

"That's what I like about this class," she explained. "Not that I know everything, but at least we follow a program and I think that it was gradual enough that it got people started. So many people start on their own, do too much, get too sore, and then quit."

The course is very inexpensive as far as equipment goes. "If they have a good pair of shoes, that's all they need. Nothing else really matters," said the instructor.

For those people that might feel the road to travel in the running class would be embarrassing, Easterling said no way.

"A lot of people start into running want to do too much too fast. They've got to keep it low and very gradually build up," Easterling noted. "The important thing is moderation. So many men are into the macho thing and they might press a little more than is comfortable. That's not good for the person."

Like many of her students, Easterling began running for her health. That's not the case now. "I run because I love it," she explained.

The summer running class will be open in the fall semester at Howard College. "It will be Monday-Wednesday-Friday at one o'clock and I'm really excited about it. It's for everybody, that's what's neat about it."

About ending strike soon

Secretary of Labor optimistic

NEW YORK (AP) — The Secretary of Labor gave the baseball talks a shove — a good one, he thinks.

"I think the country should be encouraged," Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan said Wednesday after his dramatic visit here from Washington. "What I can tell you is we're excited about the fact they're back talking in a serious way."

"I've asked them to get back to serious bargaining. They have done that, and I'm pleased. The collective bargaining system is working."

Later in Washington, Donovan said further, "There is some room for optimism" about the chances of ending the first mid-season strike in baseball history.

Donovan indicated, however, that if there is no reasonably quick movement in the talks between the players and owners, they could move to Washington for closer scrutiny by government labor officials. "It is a possibility," he said.

Federal Mediator Ken Moffett had asked Donovan to step into the talks "in an effort to add new leverage to the bargaining process" and himself was optimistic about a fast settlement because of it.

"I hope it gets done tomorrow (Thursday)," Moffett told reporters Wednesday night in one of the shortest news conferences since the strike began on June 12.

With a sudden news blackout blanketing the talks in the 34-day old strike, Moffett told newsmen after four hours of negotiations Wednesday: "Both sides have decided to make no press comments. Other than that, there's not much to report."

Despite the outward hopes of Donovan and Moffett, at least one negative voice was heard in the crowd. Peter Rose, associate counsel to the players' association, just shook his head when Donovan's name was brought up.

"Nothing happened today," he said. "I am not optimistic. I've given up trying to figure this thing out. I just don't know."

Rose said that the owners made no proposals Wednesday, but that one was expected from them today.

"We're just waiting for a proposal from them," he said. "That's the only thing I can say for the record."

Donovan's appearance was the major news Wednesday in a painful strike that not only has meant the cancellation of 406 games thus far — nearly 20 percent of the season — as well as postponement of the All-Star Game, but caused some damage to the American economy.

THE LONG AND THE SHORT OF CAMP OF CHAMPS ... Howard College's Boys Camp of Champs, which is directed by Harold Wilder and has over 100 boys registered this week, has participants from all over the state and into New Mexico. Among those in attendance were the three people shown above, which proved to be the tallest and the smallest camper. The boy with the ball is 14-year old Paul King, a 6'8", 244-pound specimen from Houston who is the largest camper in the nine-year history. Reaching for the basketball at left is Chris McGowan of Brownfield, who stands at 4'5", while Paul Christensen (right) of Knott pulls his 4'5" frame toward the ball. The Camp of Champs started Sunday and will continue through tomorrow's championship games in Garrett Coliseum.

Dallas Tornado streak is over

DALLAS (AP) — The North American Soccer League's longest losing streak ended Wednesday night as Cliff Calvert's first-half goal earned the Dallas Tornado a 1-0 victory over the Portland Timbers.

The win snapped the Tornado's 20-game losing streak, dating back to an April 12 1-0 shootout win at Toronto 95 days ago.

The Tornado streak, which started April 18 with a 3-0 loss to the Cosmos, was the third longest in North American sports history, topped only by the 26-game NFL losing streak of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and the 22-game losing streak of the 1899 Cleveland Indians.

Calvert's first-half goal at 37:49 came after he stole the ball deep in the Portland zone from Timber defender Young Jeung Cho, the NASL's only Korean player.

"Only the people closest to the Tornado family can know what this victory means to our organization," said Dallas coach Peter Short. "Obviously, the players took each loss very hard. But it was obviously also difficult for every member of the Tornado family."

"I felt the difference tonight obviously was the fact that we didn't make any silly mistakes that let them get back in the game. That obviously always helps when you score more goals than they do."

Dallas outshot the visiting Timbers, who fall to 12-11, 10-8 as the Tornado upped its record to 3-21. The lowest Texas Stadium crowd of the season — 2,905 — braved the 90 degree heat along with the San Diego Chickens.

"This feels like winning the World Cup final," said Dallas defender Neil Cohen, who started playing with the team as a teenager in 1974.

Wild British Open gets mixed reviews

SANDWICH, England (AP) — The long hitters started out as favorites over the lush, hump-backed fairways of the Royal St. Georges links today in the hunt for the 110th British Open golf title.

The bookies made American Tom Watson, defending champion, the favorite for the $50,000 first prize. Many of the top players touted Raymond Floyd, enjoying his best-ever season at age 38.

They all agreed on one thing. This undulating 6,829-yard, par 70 course among the sand dunes had been changed by a new watering system and the ball does not bounce and roll as on most British Open courses.

It meant some big driving was needed to clear the hillocks that bar the way to the greens.

Some players, including Watson, thought the course had been Americanized and were disappointed by the lack of bounce.

But Lee Trevino, who won the British Open in 1971 and 1972, declared it the best course he had ever seen for the championship.

"It is in beautiful condition," Trevino said. "I have never seen a seaside links like it."

The British Open began in Scotland in 1860 and it was 34 years before it was first staged in England. Sandwich has been out of favor since 1949, when Bobby Locke of South Africa won the title.

Now the old tournament was back at Sandwich again, and the new watering system was a matter of controversy.

Watson, seeking his fourth Open title in seven years, said he didn't like what he saw.

"You can't roll the ball," he said. "It's a different kind of golf from what we expect when we come to play the British Open."

Like all Britain's ancient seaside links, this one is affected by changing winds.

As the players had their final practice rounds Wednesday, the wind rose and fell. Within an hour, spectators lining the 18th fairway had put on coats for the chilly breeze, taken them off when the wind dropped and the sun came out, and then put them on again.

"It can make golf difficult," said Britain's Nick Faldo, who knows the course of old. "You can reach the greens comfortably one day and then find the wind against you the next."

Whitworth ready to reach $1 mill in LPGA

JERICHO, N.Y. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth remembers it well.

Her first tournament as a member of the Ladies Professional Golf Association was in 1959 in Asheville, N.C., and she collected the grand total of $33 for finishing in a two-way tie for 18th place.

Things have come a long way since then for both Whitworth, now 41, and the LPGA. A native of Jal, N.M., who now lives in Avon, Conn., Whitworth is on the verge of becoming the first LPGA player to earn $1 million on the tour.

With 60 victories to her credit, the 5-foot-6, 140-pounder needs only to collect $5,031 in the 72-hole WUI Classic, which starts Thursday at the par-72, 6,941-yard Meadow Brook Club.

Certainly a far cry from the first check of $23, and certainly a far cry for the LPGA, which, in 1969, offered a little more than $300,000 in prize money for 25 tournaments. This year's 40 tournaments have purses totaling $6.8 million.

Of course, the LPGA Hall of Famer would like a victory in the WUI Classic, with Sally Little as the defending champion. Should Whitworth collect her $2nd title, it would tie her with Mickey Wright as the association's all-time money winner.

"I was ecstatic when I won $33 as my first check," recalled Whitworth after Tuesday's practice round. "I thought I had just won a championship."

"Now the sentiments have been growing for me to become the first millionaire, and while I try to ignore the goal, I'm being constantly reminded of it."

too, what with its plans to

The LPGA is guilty of that, present her with a diamond ring on the 18th hole Sunday at the conclusion of the event.

"It's not that I mind all that is taking place," said Whitworth, who went almost three years on the tour before winning her first tournament. "But it seems that my entire career hinges on my reaching the $1 million mark."

DALLAS TORNADES CELEBRATE AFTER ENDING 20-GAME LOSING STRING.

To San Angelo training camp today Oiler rookies report

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — A pair of "name" athletes will among 51 rookies and free agents trying to break into the Houston Oilers organization beginning today when the Oilers open the team's training site at Angelo State University.

Lawrence McCutcheon, a five-time Pro Bowl performer for the Los Angeles Rams and Mack Mitchell, a former starting defensive end for the Cleveland Browns, were expected to be among the early arrivals.

New Oiler head coach Ed Biles and a revamped coaching staff will hold the team's first workout Friday to begin gearing up for the first exhibition game Aug. 6 in the Astrodome against Super Bowl finalist Philadelphia.

Oiler veterans won't report until July 22 and begin workouts the following day. The Oilers finished with an 11-5 record last year before a disappointing first round playoff loss to Super Bowl champion Oakland.

All of Houston's draftees have signed their contracts and are expected by Thursday's 6 p.m. deadline including wide receiver Michael Holston, who was the Oilers' first pick in the draft. Holston, 6-3, 183, from Morgan State, was taken in the third round.

The Oilers did not have selections in the first two rounds.

Other Oiler draftees are: Nick Eyre, offensive tackle, Brigham Young; Delbert Fowler, linebacker, West Virginia; Bill Kay, defensive back, Purdue; Don Washington, defensive back, Texas A&I; Willie Tullis, wide receiver, Troy State; Avon Riley, linebacker, UCLA; Larry Jones, running back, Colorado State; Claude Matthews, offensive tackle, Auburn; and Bill Capece, kicker, Florida State.

Other veteran free agents in camp include Charles "Tank" Marshall, a former Texas A&M defensive tackle who played two seasons in the Canadian Football League and David Posey, a kicker from the University of Florida who last played for the New England Patriots.

Harold Bailey, who spent the 1980 season on the Oiler injured reserve list, also will get an early look. Bailey, a quarterback at Oklahoma State, was impressive in training camp last year prior to his injury.

Americans favored in Wightman

CHICAGO (AP) — An American team of youngsters seasoned with two veterans expects no problems bringing the United States record in Wightman Cup play to 43-10.

The British squad has the benefit of experience, however.

Led by former Wimbledon champion Virginia Wade, 36, who has played in every Wightman Cup match since 1965, Great Britain will field a squad including Sue Barker, ranked eighth in the world, and Anne Hobbs, a veteran of three Wightman Cup matches.

Rounding out the British squad will be Glynis Coles, who played on British squads are ranked first, second and third in the world by the Women's Tennis Association and the team should extend the United States record in Wightman Cup play to 43-10.

which won the cup in 1974 and 1975, and Debbie Jevans, making her third Wightman Cup appearance.

The cross-Atlantic rivalry began in 1923, when Mrs. George Wightman of Boston presented a silver vase to the U.S. Lawn Tennis Association as a trophy for women's international competition.

Great Britain challenged the United States for the cup in its first year of existence, and the rivalry was born.

Last year, the U.S. team emerged with a 5-2 victory behind the play of Evert Lloyd, who won two singles matches and aided a doubles win.

NCAA investigating Maryland

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Collegiate Athletic Association is reportedly likely to investigate the University of Maryland's football program because of misuse of a telephone credit card by several players during the 1979 and 1980 seasons.

The Washington Post reports in today's editions that Maryland Chancellor Robert L. Gluckstern said he did not learn of the credit card problem, in which nine players made $6,000 worth of personal phone calls, until it was published in the newspaper Wednesday.

Gluckstern said the university is beginning to provide the NCAA with information about the incident.

The problem apparently started when assistant coach Thomas Groom gave his credit card number to All-ACC tailback Charlie Wysocki and wingback Jan Carinci during the 1979 season. Last January, a university official discovered the phone calls on Groom's credit card bill and reported them.

Allowing athletes to use a coach's telephone credit card for personal calls could violate the NCAA's "extra benefits rule."

Hale McMenemin of the enforcement division of the NCAA, said he could not comment on whether Maryland will be investigated. The Post said.

McMenemin did say that if a school is to be probed, it is told by a letter sent to the university president.

Bass Club sets weekend tourney

The three San Angelo lakes will be the sites of this weekend's Big Bass Club Tournament.

The tournament will be held in conjunction with the San Angelo Bass Club Tournament, and will be a part of the Texas championship.

The 1980-81 champion for the Big Spring Bass Club was Maxi Ware.

Tournament times for this weekend's action in San Angelo begin at 5:30 a.m.

Saturday, with weigh-in on that date at 4:30 p.m. Fishermen may start again on Sunday at 5:30 a.m., with the weigh-in at 3 p.m.

Election of officers for the upcoming year were held at the last Bass Club meeting. Rick McKinney was named the president, with Howard Stewart the vice-president. The secretary-treasurer elected was Vic Keys, with Mike Murphy the tournament director.

Utilizing Canadian Football to soothe upset sports fans

ESPN taking advantage of strike

The game in Vancouver had just ended, with Vince Ferragamo and the rest of the Montreal Alouettes on the short end of a 48-8 score. Said Jodi, Vince's wife: "I can just hear my friends in Los Angeles complaining, 'I paid $30 for the cable to watch that?'"

Yes, that.

And bizarre (by our standards) rules notwithstanding, the Canadian Football League is attracting an increasing following south of the border, thanks to ESPN.

With the Winfields and Roses of baseball temporarily off the playing fields and the Bradshaws and Paytons of the National Football League not yet on them, appetites across the United States are being sated by the Ferragamos and Overstreets who, at least twice each week, flicker across television screens fed by the cable.

This is the second season of CFL coverage by ESPN, the all-sports cable network now wired into about 10 1/2 million U.S. homes and adding roughly 400,000 each month.

In 1980 it carried 42 CFL games, including the Grey Cup championship game. Most of those games, though, were shown on a tape-delayed basis. This year, most of the 42, including the Grey Cup, are telecast live, and often shown a second time later in the evening or the following morning for fans who can't catch them the first time around.

"It's not as though we're jumping into this because of the baseball strike," says Scotty Connal, ESPN's executive vice president in charge of production. "We'd be showing the games this way anyway. But it's nice, for the time being, that it's the only game in town. Besides, even without the strike, there's been a growing interest in the CFL because of Vince Ferragamo, David Overstreet, Billy ("White Shoes") Johnson, Frank Kush — all the Americans who have found their way up there."

And for all the Americans still down here, ESPN has its own announcers for many of the games. Jim Simpson, who called the plays for NBC at American Football League games back in the 1960s, is teamed now with Paul Maguire, the place-kicker and linebacker with the Buffalo Bills in the late '60s.

For baseball-starved fans who think the only kind of single is the kind Pete Rose hits, having Simpson and Maguire at the microphones (and former NFL and CFL player Fred Biletnikoff doing field-level commentary as he did in the season opener) can be a blessing.

British Grand Prix qualifying has interesting arguments championship status of Saturday's race if the Lotus is allowed to run.

SILVERSTONE, England (AP) — Qualifying for the British Grand Prix was to begin today amid more quarrelling over cars and drivers.

cour, of appeal of the International Automobile Federation (FIA), FISA's parent body, ruled illegal earlier this year.

The group, led by Canada's Gilles Villeneuve and including American former world champion Mario Andretti, had given FISA until today to lift the fines.

responsibility because they pressured officials into starting the race before order had been restored after two people were fatally injured.

Another incident at the Belgian race was partially solved here Wednesday.

The major controversy was over the eligibility of the Lotus 88B, declared illegal by the International Auto Sports Federation (FISA), but ruled legal by the scrutineers of the British Royal Automobile Club.

But FISA president Jean-Marie Balestre had no immediate comment Wednesday night after a long meeting with Lotus team owner Colin Chapman and his American lawyer Robert Hinerfeld.

Chapman himself said the car had been changed only in minor respects and retained the controversial double chassis system FISA ruled illegal.

The drivers have threatened unspecified action if the fines are not rescinded here. Sources said another startline protest might result.

But Balestre said the drivers' demand for a greater say in the running of grand prix racing would be met.

It was not known what FISA would do to Piquet now. It had already officially reprimanded him for his conduct.

Cowboys simply didn't invite him back to camp

Pearson didn't have choice

IRVING, Texas (AP) — For a man who never played a down of college football and was not drafted by the pros until the 12th round, Preston Pearson admits he did all right for himself.

there."

His name is in the National Football League record book as one of seven players to appear in five Super Bowls and the only player to make the Super Bowl with three different teams.

But after 14 years in the NFL, the veteran Dallas Cowboy running back called a news conference Wednesday to announce his retirement. He said only regrets leaving the game before he was ready.

"I take great pride in the fact that I started the so called third down specialist roles," he said. "The Cowboys ... won't miss me after the first two games, there will be somebody to take my place. But the replacements will never, ever be able to do what I did. I started it all."

He also says an event that was, at the time, the low point in his life turned out to be his biggest break.

"I would drop everything I have right now to go to training camp. But ... I will not be there. I do not expect to be asked to be there and, if they do ask me, I will not go," Pearson said.

Pearson was drafted by the Baltimore Colts in 1967, after making the All Big 10 team as a basketball forward at Illinois.

"There's only one thing I might change in my career — that's when Pittsburgh put me on waivers. However, that is probably the single most important thing that ever happened to me. I had the opportunity to choose the team I wanted to go to. I chose the Dallas Cowboys, ever since then my career has escalated."

Putting aside a game he has played for 14 years will not be easy, but is something he must do for his own good, Pearson said.

In 1970, he was traded to Pittsburgh and, in 1975, was released by the Steelers and joined the Cowboys. He played six seasons with Dallas and holds the club record for pass receptions by a running back.

But Coach Tom Landry told Pearson three months ago that he did not fit into the team's plans for the coming season and would not be invited to training camp.

His reaction at the time? "Complete surprise," he said. "At this very moment I don't understand the

NBC needs some 'hocus pocus'

By FRED ROTHEBERG
 AP Television Writer
 NEW YORK (AP) — The man who changed the face of NBC Sports says the quick-fix syndrome that doomed Fred Silverman at NBC won't work for Grant Tinker either. He recommends a little hocus-pocus — at least at the beginning.
 Don Ohlmeyer, the dynamic executive producer of NBC Sports, doesn't mean the kind of programming spell that Silverman said he would cast over NBC, instantaneously turning a frog into a prince.
 He means the great art of illusion, giving the viewer less than meets the eye but making him think it's more.
 "The first thing Grant has to do is change the public's perception of NBC," said Ohlmeyer, who defected from ABC in 1977.
 Ohlmeyer resorted to fancy footwork in NBC Sports until he could improve the product. Now Tinker, NBC's new chairman, faces a similar task: raising the image and ratings of the last-place network.
 "I knew right away that I couldn't change NBC Sports overnight," Ohlmeyer said. "What I could do immediately was change the form of our programming. Later we could change the content. The cosmetic changes are the easiest, and they're often perceived as what we're all about."

Ohlmeyer said the first patch-up job involved the programs' openings and promotionalis. Like an unknown restaurant, a spiffy outside can sometimes lure curious diners inside.

"We were stalling for time," Ohlmeyer said. "While we were improving the form, we were working all the while on the substance."

It might have been a charade, but it worked. NBC's Sports has reached parity with its rivals in style and substance and has made some small inroads into ABC's large ratings lead on the weekends. New RCA Chairman Thornton Bradshaw praised NBC Sports as one of the bright spots of the Silverman era.

Ohlmeyer is a disciple of ABC News and Sports President Roone Arledge, who has built ABC from a journalistic also-ran into a razor-sharp news department. It took time before ABC's news content was strengthened, but Arledge immediately put it in a prettier package.

ABC's news quality now can sell itself. In the fierce battle for network news supremacy at night, ABC is now closer to No.1-rated CBS than it is to No.3 NBC. The Nielsen figures from last week give CBS a 10.6 rating and a 25 share, followed by ABC's 10.1 rating and 23 share and NBC's 9.1 rating and 21 share.

 NBC's problems in daytime and prime time are more difficult. All the networks report the same news. It's the entertainment programming that varies so greatly in quality and public acceptance. And already the industry's forecasters are predicting another third-place finish for NBC in 1981-82.

Heloise has the handy hints

The latest of her crusades is against perspiration buildup

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Heloise argued with a plumber about dumping coffee grounds down the sink.

Not unusual for a woman who keeps a tablecloth wadded up in her freezer.

Heloise — the columnist synonymous with household hints — chats with as many as 100 readers a week on her writing.

The San Antonio resident, talks about her second book, taking over her late mother's column and life with her new husband, David, the plumber.

And she talks about her latest household crusade.

This time it's perspiration buildup. Of the 2,000 to 3,000 letters Heloise receives in one week, 20 to 30 readers have complained lately that they can't get stains out of new T-shirts. Heloise has put the Soap and Detergent Association on the case.

Yes, the youthful Heloise with naturally gray hair listens to her readers. Yes, she tries every one of the hints she recommends. And yes, she writes her columns.

With help from her household of four animals — "They're just like children except you don't have to send them to college" — two secretaries, her husband, Heloise tries anything that doesn't sound too dumb.

But "some of the hints are really dumb," Heloise said. "I got one letter from a woman. She said she had the 'ultimate use' for nylon net. She cuts up green nylon net and puts it into salads — to help her cut down on eating. God forbid she swallows it."

Picking hints is the hardest part of the job. "What I think is a dumb hint you may think is fantastic," she said.

For example, Heloise would never re-use a coffee filter.

"But now, I re-use coffee," she said with a laugh.

And re-using coffee can cause commotion with

PONCE CRUZ (HELOISE)

David. "My husband thinks it's gross. So, each to their own."

Despite the savings from Heloise's decision to use black ties and tails instead of bridesmaid dresses at her Feb. 14 wedding, her husband doesn't easily follow Heloise's hints.

"David doesn't believe me a lot of times and I tell him, 'David, 75 million women across America listen to what I tell them.' And he says, 'But are you sure?'"

Some questions make Heloise grow weary of being Heloise. "Once in a while when I come off a book tour or something, I think, 'If just one more person says 'ring around your collar'..."

At her mother's death in 1978, the daughter — born Ponce Cruz — became Heloise II, and assumed a lifestyle she knew well.

Growing up where it wasn't unusual to catch Mom in the back yard testing hints on her blue jeans, Heloise never thought her childhood was out of the ordinary.

"It was unusual, but I didn't know it at the time... Then I went off to college."

During a cooking spree with friends "we'd burned something and so I went and called my mother," Heloise said. "She said 'oh yes' and told me how to fix it. I went back and told my friends. They said, 'do you know how lucky you are? How many people can call home to Heloise?"

But life as the daughter of the homemakers' hint-helper wasn't always so helpful.

"I remember when my mother went to New York when I was 8. I really didn't understand. 'Why are you leaving me?' I asked her. She tried to explain to me that she wasn't leaving me, she was just leaving. But I didn't understand."

As she speaks, Heloise admitted her admiration of homemakers — male or female — that stems from her mother's respect of "the backbone of the world."

"I'd rather run an office with four people than be a mother with four children. It's easier. You can go home in the evening," she said.

When her mother died, readers made it easier for the new Heloise.

"The people in New York (who syndicate her column) were so concerned when mother died. Would people accept a 27-year-old single lady as Heloise? I told them, 'You don't know the trust of the readers.' We didn't lose any accounts."

Within a week after her recent wedding, and even now, readers sent "the most beautiful cards, congratulations on the wedding — pretty cards with all the glitter and gold. And some sent checks," Heloise said. "What do I do with these?"

Heloise — always observant, always ready with a suggestion — will think of something.

She sees herself as Heloise for the rest of her life.

"This is me. I don't see this as a job," she said. "Now, I don't spend 24 hours a day hinting and I don't go in someone's house and open the cabinets."

But she is dedicated. The other morning, for example, she got up at 2:30 to write down a hint that came to her in the middle of the night: You can make five flower arrangements from two arrangements that you pick up at the grocery store.

FDA approves of low cal sweetener

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Food and Drug Administration today said it would approve the sale of a new low-calorie sweetener which the manufacturer says is 180 times sweeter than sugar.

The sweetener, called aspartame, will be available for use in tablet form as a free-flowing table sweetener and in products like cold cereals, drink mixes, instant coffee and tea, gelatins, puddings, fillings, dairy products and toppings.

The manufacturer, G.D. Searle and Co. of Skokie, Ill., says its taste tests show that aspartame is "virtually indistinguishable from sugar." And while a teaspoon of sugar has 18 calories, the aspartame equivalent has only one-tenth of a calorie.

The company did not seek approval for the sweetener as a substitute for sugar or saccharin in products like carbonated beverages, but it is likely to do so shortly.

Dr. Arthur Hull Hayes Jr., the FDA commissioner, said approval will take effect 90 days after his decision is published in the Federal Register. The notice will be published in about 10 days.

Aspartame is not expected to be available to consumers before 1982, after test marketing has been done. It will be sold under the brand name "Equal" as a tabletop sweetener. As a food additive it will be known as "NutraSweet."

Aspartame is made by combining two elements found naturally in protein. It joins saccharin as an option to sugar available for a wide variety of consumer products.

by entomologist

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The pesticide Malathion recently has caused quite a controversy in California where the Mediterranean fruit fly is stirring up plenty of problems.

Most homeowners use this chemical in some form to control garden pests, as well as ticks and fleas. Really, it's not that controversial and probably is one of the safest insecticides available and, as most people are aware, an insecticide used in the spraying of mosquitoes, for example.

When asked to comment on California Gov. Jerry Brown's opposing the use of Malathion, Jany replied, "My first thought was I'm glad I'm not the County Entomologist there, however, Gov. Brown has to take care of the urban, as well as the rural population, so I can understand the problem he's running into."

not Biblical,

says pastor

BRYAN, Texas (AP) — Sandra Day O'Connor's place is in the home rather than on the U.S. Supreme Court because "a woman in a position of authority is not compatible with the scriptures in the Bible," says a Brazos County official.

District Attorney Travis Bryan III says he's "certainly not prejudiced" but believes women should stay at home and raise children. "They should not be judges, law enforcement or military officers or even district attorneys," the 34-year-old fundamentalist Baptist said Tuesday. "The world is a better place because of women. But there are too many women competing with men for jobs," he said.

Water bills of local residents to rise

By BILLELDER
Big Spring residents can expect a $1.65 increase in their monthly water bills as a result of city council action Tuesday night.

The council gave initial approval to water and sewer service rate hikes for both residential and commercial water users. Further discussion and final action on the matter are expected at the council's next regular meeting July 28.

Acting on the recommendation of Finance Director Thomas Ferguson, the council approved a rate schedule which would, in the case of residential water users, charge a monthly minimum of $5.75 for the first 2,000 gallons and 95 cents for each 1,000 gallons subsequently used.

Currently, residential water users are charged a monthly minimum of $5.75 for the first 3,000 gallons and 85 cents for each 1,000 gallons used afterward. That would have the effect, Ferguson told The Herald prior to the meeting, of raising the average residential bill — calculated to be $11.70 — to $13.35 per month.

City Manager Don Davis explained to the council that the increase was necessary to satisfy the city's annual bond requirements for three years. If approved by the council at its next meeting, the rates would become effective Aug. 1.

Sewer service rates increases also would become effective at that time. The council approved a hike in sewer service — also to satisfy bond requirements — which would increase the minimum monthly charge for a one-bathroom home to $5.60 from the current $5 per month.

There was no dissent and little discussion of the water and sewer rate increases.

In another matter, the council unanimously approved the first reading of an ordinance which would increase the speed limit along nearly four-tenths of a mile of F.M. 700 from 35 to 45 miles per hour.

The stretch of road runs from Parkroad 8 past Wasson and Westover almost to the point where the exit ramp to Gregg merges with F.M. 700.

The council acted on the recommendation of the Traffic Commission, which apparently felt it was unnecessary for traffic to slow down from 50 mph near the park road to 35 mph near Wasson and then back up to 55 mph just beyond the exit ramp. A final vote on the matter is likely at the next council meeting.

Action allowing the Big Spring Bass Club to put on a fishing tournament at Comanche Lake was postponed by the council pending an exploration of the city's deed to the lake. The club had asked to use the lake for a tournament for kids under the age of 16, and was told by the Parks Board that because of deed restrictions prohibiting fishing, boating and swimming in the lake, the club would have to hold its tournament in Moss Creek Lake.

The club pressed its claim for Comanche Lake and while the council indicated it thought the plan to be worthy, the matter of the deed restrictions needed to be explored before the tournament could be approved for Comanche Lake.

City Manager Don Davis urged the council to get the prohibition against swimming and fishing lifted before the city sanctions any events on the lake; otherwise, approval "might open us up to the possibility of liability should anything happen out there."

Perplexed by why such restrictions existed if the city in fact owned the lake (it apparently was deeded to the city by the Cosden Pension Fund), Councilman Robert Fuller said he personally would investigate the matter of who owns the lake and why the swimming-boating-fishing restrictions exist. A representative of the Bass Club said a firm date for the tournament had not been set and that a delay of council action was acceptable.

In other business, the council:

- Approved a request by the Texas Army National Guard to make road and fence improvements at Moss Creek Lake in order to hold training maneuvers there. Assistant City Manager Paul Feazelle told the council the city would set the specifications for the work and would provide — out of a $2,000 budget — materials for fence construction. All labor and equipment would be furnished by the guard.
- Approved a one-month extension of the city's contract with Shaffer

Ambulance Co. while the city prepares a new annual contract effective Aug. 1. Davis and an Ambulance Study Committee are recommending that the next contract with Shaffer include a provision for it to purchase a new vehicle "and upgrade the rest of their equipment as soon as possible."

- Gave final approval for the mayor to sign an application for a project to build a boat ramp at Moss Creek Lake. The state would pay 60 percent of the cost and the project has the approval of the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

- Swore in newly appointed Councilman Larry Miller as Hal Boyd's replacement. Miller had resigned from the council in February, citing the press of business. He told The Herald prior to Tuesday's swearing-in ceremony that he accepted a job on the council because he had "caught up with the work I needed to do."

Miller will serve out the rest of Boyd's term — until April — and told The Herald "most likely" he will run to keep his post in the April election.

He said he would continue to keep his job as Howard County Civil Defense Director. "We discussed it the other day and there is no conflict of interest, since it is a volunteer position and there's no pay involved."

Miller also is owner of Carver's Pharmacy.

He's said to have been picked to return to the council for his fiscal expertise as the council prepares to formulate a new annual budget.

Convict files habeas corpus writ

By CAROL HART
Jose Antonio Saracho, who was sentenced to 99 years in the Texas Department of Corrections by a Howard County jury in 1976, has filed a writ of habeas corpus with the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Saracho is accused of forcing a woman to be driven from the Continental bus station to a secluded area along First Street, where she was allegedly abused.

The victim in the case testified she was asked to wait outside the bus station early in the morning of Aug. 23, 1976. She had gone to the station to wait for her brother, sister and mother, who were to arrive on a bus at 1:25 a.m. Aug. 23. The bus station attendant asked her to wait outside while he locked up the building.

Testimony indicated Saracho approached the car from the rear, and threatened the victim with a butcher knife, then drove her to First Street.

At that time, Saracho was convicted of aggravated sexual abuse, and given the maximum 99-year term. He has also served time on an armed robbery conviction.

Don Richard, special assistant to the District attorney, is working on the case now. In a petition filed, Saracho charges that he is "illegally confined and restrained" at the Ramsey No. one unit, Rosharon, in Brazoria County.

Richard said that Saracho is alleging 16 points of misconduct in his trial. Richard explained that it is a routine procedure for those sentenced to 99 years or life to file appeals in cases. Saracho has already filed a regular appeal through the courts and lost it. The next move is the writ of habeas corpus.

The petition reads "the trial court erred, committed a fundamental error, and abused its discretion in trying the appellant upon an indictment that did not comply with the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure. The indictment failed to give the accused notice of 'how' the appellant allegedly threatened to inflict the prosecutrix with 'serious bodily injury to be imminently inflicted' on her, according to the petition. Richard said evidence in the case would be examined, and a report made to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Loraine hints hike in taxes

LORAIN (SC) — Loraine School Trustees got a look at the proposed budget for 1981-82 during Monday night's meeting and didn't like what they saw.

State funding will be down for the school district, expenses will be up and as Principal Mike Hartman stated, "There's no way you can get by without a tax increase."

Specifically, the Loraine School System needs almost $118,000 additional money, which represents an increase in tax dollars of at least one-third.

According to School Superintendent Glen Sanders, "It looks bad right now. We've compared last year's budget with this year's and we're planning a meeting Friday night during which we'll sharpen our surgical knives and do some slicing."

Sanders cited the system's being down in ADA as one reason for lower state funds, as well as some $41,000 received last year in tax refunds which will not be available.

Sanders added, "Couple the above with increased utility bills, put the pencil to it and it adds up fast."

Superintendent Sanders commented he believes $15,000 to $20,000 can be trimmed from the budget, but any trimming above that amount will result in the cutting of major programs, such as band. To add to that, Hartman stated unless he can hire a band director within the next two to three weeks, the program probably will have to be scrapped anyway.

Other board action included setting a tentative date of Aug. 10 as the date for a public hearing on the budget, approving the purchase of two classrooms of furniture at a cost of $4,176 and discussing holding a sale of surplus school property within the next two weeks.

Hospital gains JCHA accreditation

Two year accreditation has been given Malone-Hogan Hospital by the Joint Commission on Hospital Accreditation (JCHA). The accreditation means that the hospital has demonstrated a team of professional health care surveyors, that it is maintaining high professional standards in patient care.

Word of the approved accreditation came to John Bingham, administrator, July 2. The hospital had undergone a two-day survey of 24 different areas, in April, in an on-site visit by a team composed of a physician, a nurse, a hospital administrator, and a laboratory technician.

"We invited JCHA to do this survey of hospital operations for several reasons. One of them is that it keeps us abreast of changing standards in health care. Another reason for subjecting our hospital to the scrutiny of outside surveyors, is that we want to provide this community a hospital that measures up to governmental standards that will qualify patients for Medicare reimbursement for their health care expenses. In non-approved hospitals, the senior citizen receives no Medicare assistance in paying his or her hospital bill."

JCHA is governed by representatives of five national health care organizations — the American College of Surgeons, the American College of Physicians, the American Denton Association, the American Hospital Association, and the American Medical Association. It is a private, not-for-profit organization.

Two-year accreditation is the maximum approval given by JCHA. Had the hospital had significant deficiencies, or problems, a one-year accreditation could have been given, and the team would have returned in one year to examine the hospital's compliance with their suggestions for improvement.

"We were told by the survey team at their summary conference in April, that they 'may have set some sort of record' in finding so few deficiencies. This was a welcome compliment, of course," Bingham said.

Dear Abby

Girl's Wanderlust Causes Boyfriend to Flee

DEAR ABBY: WEAK IN ILLINOIS, who went from one adulterous affair to another, although she got nothing out of any of them, sounds like my ex-girlfriend. She was beautiful but as promiscuous as they come. Whenever she'd meet a stranger she was attracted to, they'd end up in bed. She was honest. She'd tell me about it, cry and promise it would never happen again, but it always did — about twice a week. She hated herself so much she attempted suicide four times in the six years we went together.

I paid for seven months of psychotherapy for her, during which time she was seducing her therapist and giving out her phone number to patients in his waiting room. Abby, that was the last straw!

Even though I really loved her, I finally had to break off the relationship. It wouldn't have done any good to have sent her to a female therapist. She was also bisexual.

LOVED A WEAK WOMAN

DEAR ABBY: May I contribute to your list of commonly misused words? "Presently" means "soon, before long," or "without undue delay." It does not mean, as is commonly assumed, "at the present time."

"The plane will arrive presently" is correct. "I am presently employed as a secretary" is incorrect. "Currently" is the word to use when one means "at the present time."

MELANIE

DEAR MELANIE: Thank you. I'll wager that many of my readers who are currently saying "presently" when they mean "currently" will be mending their ways presently.

...

DEAR ABBY: You had a letter in your column a while back from a woman who said that every time she got pregnant, her husband started drinking. My problem is just the opposite. Every time my husband starts drinking, I get pregnant.

I love kids, but we've got just about all we can handle right now. Don't tell me to use birth control. I've tried several methods, and they don't work for me.

You keep saying that a wife shouldn't turn her husband away when he wants sex because that gives him an excuse to find another woman. So what do you recommend?

ENOUGH KIDS

DEAR ENOUGH: Planned Parenthood for you, Alcoholics Anonymous for him and self-control for both of you!

You're never too young or too old to learn how to make people like you. Get Abby's new booklet of practical advice. Send $1 and a stamped (35 cents), self-addressed envelope to: Abby, Popularity, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Girl Scouts provide opportunities for establishing goals and values

There is one 17 year old Big Spring High School Senior who has found herself early in life and established worthy goals and values. Her name is Pamela Beth Caudill.

Pam has participated in Girl Scouting for approximately eight years. She attended Camp Boothe Oaks as a camper for four years and as a counselor for two years.

Pam has one sister, Laura, who works at Camp Mystic in Hunt, where their mother, Carolee, once camped and worked. Carolee Caudill is now a recreational therapist for special education with the Big Spring Independent School District. Pam's father, Don Caudill, owns the junior clothing store, My Closet, in the Westgate Mall of Abilene.

Pamela is known as "Dusty" at Camp Boothe Oaks (near Sweetwater) and enjoys the out-of-doors and working with younger girls. Dusty says, "The girls seem to make it very worthwhile. It only takes one smile of satisfaction from a camper to assure me that I'm fulfilling my job. Believe me, there are many smiles. The girls are a joy and being outdoors tops everything off."

She is an outdoor person, loves to canoe, participate in archery, swim, lifeguard, play volleyball and softball, cook-out and sing songs. She enjoys jogging, racquetball and just being outdoors.

As a Senior Girl Scout, Pam was a delegate from the West Texas Girl Scout Council to a Planning Conference at Lubbock for TAWASI, the Senior Girl Scout Annual Event for six neighboring Girl Scout Councils. It was held this year at Camp Boothe Oaks and she was one of the hostesses to the 60 girls and adults in attendance.

She works as an assistant to Debbie Burrow's Junior Troop 36, and is editor of the monthly Big Spring Girl Scout newsletter, "True Treasures."

Future plans for Pamela include majoring in Forestry at Stephen F. Austin State University or Texas A&M. "I hope to someday be more deeply involved in the camping picture, and to be joint owner of a camp which will benefit younger children."

As a participating agency of the Howard County United Way the Girl Scout program is made possible for girls in grades 1-12. The organization strives to enrich the lives of the members by providing a variety of programs and opportunities. Through the Girl Scout program, girls like Pam can develop their skills and find career education and opportunities.

Pam has had many devoted leaders who have given her much. Now Pam wants to share her interests and skills with other girls growing up in the organization.

Forsan Study Club outlines activities

A called meeting of the GFWC Forsan Study Club was held July 10 at 7 p.m. in the home of Eunice Thixton.

Club members voted on several changes in their constitution and by laws. The recording secretary and reporter positions were combined into one office, and Susan Alexander was chosen by acclamation for that office. The executive committee will be composed of all officers, and shall meet prior to each business meeting.

prize. New yearbooks will be presented. All members are urged to attend.

The executive committee submitted for approval a new scorecard for Club-woman of the Year. The new scoring will have participation worth 70 percent.

The club members also decided to have a booth for the March of Dimes West Fest to be held Sept. 13 at Comanche Trail Park. The booth will be open from 10:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m.

The club added two new yearly projects. They will assist a local handicapped child and give a money tree to the Howard County Library.

The club resolved to bring international foods to the annual Homecoming Smorgasbord. Kathy Pickett and Susan Gaston will compile a cookbook. Recipes must be submitted at the Sept. 14 meeting and food categories this year will be meats, vegetables, salads, desserts and breads.

The club voted to buy a half page in the Historical Book for Nola Story's history of the club.

The members decided to sponsor a speaking engagement of Norma Gabler from Longview, Jan. 25. They will order a case of her books, "Textbooks on Trial", to begin generating interest. Mrs. Gabler has been standing up for better textbooks in Texas for 20 years.

The first meeting of the year will be a brunch Aug. 22 at 11 a.m. at Garrett Hall of the First United Methodist Church. The Big Lake 20th Century Club will be guests. Members are to bring a gift for Girlstown, and members of the yearbook committee are asked to bring a door-

Bride-elect honored with kitchen shower

Cynthia Fierro, bride-elect of Dean Harvey, was feted with a kitchen shower Friday evening in the home of Cheri Sparks. Patsy Conway was co-hostess.

Flower corsages were presented the honoree, Martha Fierro, her sister and Mrs. Augustin Fierro, her mother.

Refreshments served were sandwiches, fresh fruits with fruit dip, crab and shrimp dips with chips and crackers along with a fruit punch.

Hostesses presented the bride-elect with a vegetable bowl in her chosen pattern.

The couple will exchange wedding vows Aug. 1 at the First United Methodist Church.

Budget support 'not easy'

WASHINGTON, D.C. — On June 25, the House of Representatives passed a austere federal budget and I, along with nine other Texas Congressmen stood firm against such opposition and supported that budget.

It was not an easy vote. My colleague from the neighboring 13th District, Congressman Jack Hightower, eloquently expressed his views on that vote in the following article:

"Hard National Choices"

In 1776, Thomas Paine, a great patriot, wrote: "These are the times that try men's souls. The summer soldier and the sunshine patriot will, in this crisis, shrink from the service of his country."

There have been many such times in this country in the last 205 years. We are in such a time at this moment.

On Thursday, June 25th, the House of Representatives came face to face with the issue of federal spending. Our government has grown so big, it has found so many ways to spend tax dollars, the economy has become so complex, inflation has become such a monster, that many were seriously questioning the willingness and the ability of Congress to make the hard decisions necessary.

The question we faced was whether to make a series of judgements on programs that are individually popular and have their own entrenched constituencies working to protect their programs, or to group them together, face the issue, bite the bullet, and embark on a program of governmental reform that could possibly be a solution to many of the economic problems we must deal with. All can agree that "something must be done," the question was "what, specifically, to do" and in reducing spending, "where the cuts were to be made."

I have never had to make a more difficult decision because this vote will inevitably involve people on a very personal basis, as well as taxpayers in general.

Last year in my campaign, I pledged to the people of this district that I would work with all my might to bring inflation under control. I am a Democrat, but the Democratic candidate for President was not elected. Mr. Reagan is now my President and your President. As President, he is head of the Executive branch of government. As an elected Representative, it is my responsibility to: 1) represent the 13th District of Texas in the Congress and 2) work with other elected officials to achieve the goals we all share for the strength and prosperity of America.

If we are to stop inflation, lower interest rates, make our economy strong again and compete more effectively with growing foreign competition, all of us, Democrats and Republicans, the Congress and the President, must work side by side.

I will continue to support the President when I think he is right, such as on government spending; however, as any responsible representative of a congressional district should do, I will oppose a presidential proposal when I think it is wrong — such as Mr. Reagan's social security cuts to present recipients and his weak farm bill. That is how our system is supposed to work. That is how this system of checks and balances are designed. And it has served us very well for 205 years.

I do not want it said of me that as your elected representative, I was a "summer soldier" of a "sunshine patriot." I will continue to speak up for this district and its people both in Congress and in meetings with the President.

The hard issues have to be faced and I will continue to make those hard national choices that require sensitivity to people as well as common sense about taxes and spending.

I have great confidence in the American people's ability to accept change when necessary and, if sacrifice is called for, to make it. One of Congress' challenges is to make sure that if sacrifice is called for, it is as possible. That is also a challenge President Reagan must face, and meet, successfully.

Well-said, Congressman Hightower.

NO INJURIES — No severe injuries were reported in a traffic accident that occurred at 11 a.m. Tuesday 7-10 of a mile west of Big Spring on Interstate 20. A 1980 black Datsun pickup driven by John Louis Smith III, Midland, was struck from the rear by a 1972 Green Ford tractor-trailer, driven by Wayne I. Bergman, Clarence, N.Y. The Datsun ran off the road, overturned, and had to be towed from the scene. The tractor-trailer rig was driven away.

Councilmen OK water line repair

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City Council dealt with several problems in less than an hour Tuesday night.

After getting a first hand look at the water line problems on Pine Street, the council voted to repair the line at an estimated cost of $3,000, money that is budgeted for the project.

Additionally, the council agreed to make an application for funds from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department for the use of building a new city swimming pool. If the department will grant the funds of $85,000, the city will match the grant to construct at the same location a new facility to replace the old pool.

In a related problem, City Manager Brenda Tarter stated, "Broken glass has been thrown into the pool to the extent we cannot clean the floor area successfully without completely draining the pool, which holds 150,000 gallons of water... a job which will require our closing the pool for three days at a cost of $200 to the city." Mrs. Tarter asked that anyone having information concerning the identification of the vandals please contact the local police department.

The problem of non-maintenance of vacant lots was discussed with council member "Nina" "C" "C" suggesting offenders' names be published, or utilizing the filing of charges. The council instructed Mrs. Tarter to crack down on owners who have allowed their vacant lots to deteriorate.

On another note, the firm of McCreary and Huey was hired to collect delinquent taxes for the city, with 15 percent of collections going to the firm.

Additionally, approved was given to advertise for bids on new radio equipment to be used by the city, which will include a base station, five radios and fifteen pagers, at an estimated cost of $14,000 to $15,000. The county already has indicated it will foot about $7,000 of the bill.

'Boom Town' Review to open with sirens

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell County residents will have their cake and eat it, too, when the official opening ceremonies for the Centennial production of "The Boom Town" Review will be held at 11 a.m. Saturday on the East side of the Court House lawn.

At 10 a.m., sirens will herald the beginning of the event to alert residents to be on hand for the program, which will include a proclamation by Gov. Clements, plus appearances by Brothers of the Brush, Centennial Belles, First Lady candidates, as well as city and county officials.

A special treat is planned for area youngsters from 2-4 p.m. ... all the watermelon they can eat.

For those interested in whipping up a similar cake to Mitchell County's Centennial treat, the completed project will weigh 140 pounds and includes 60 eggs, 20 cups of sugar, 10 cups of shortening, 10 teaspoons of vanilla, 10 teaspoons of butter flavoring, 35 cups of flour, 30 teaspoons of baking powder and 12 cups of milk.

The icing alone calls for 28 pounds of powdered sugar, 14 cups of shortening, 11½ cups of water and 14 teaspoons of vanilla.

Responsible for the mammoth sweet tooth which measures 3 by 5 feet, are Debra Chaney and Jeanie Hamby.
