ROYAL KISS — To the delight of thousands of onlookers, Prince Charles and the Princess of Wales share a kiss on the balcony of Buckingham Palace after their marriage at St. Paul's Cathedral Wednesday.

Adoring crowds enjoy 'fairy tale' wedding

LONDON (AP) — Prince Charles and Lady Diana Spencer became husband and wife today in a fairy-tale wedding of age-old majesty, rode through adoring throngs in London's streets, and embarked on their honeymoon to begin a married life they will end as king and queen.

"O let the nations rejoice and be glad!" erupted the massed choirs when the Archbishop of Canterbury pronounced them wed under the soaring dome of St. Paul's Cathedral.

From Buckingham Palace to St. Paul's and back, the princess, in a cloud of ivory tulle, and the prince, in brass-buttoned navy commander's uniform, rode in horse-drawn carriages past multitudes of almost one million people who roared their good wishes and waved a sea of Union Jack flags.

The sunshine poured down and church bells rang across the realm.

The wedding, one of the great royal events of recent decades, gave a lift to a people burdened with heavy economic problems and worried by a recent outbreak of urban rioting.

The British people's joy overflowed when the newlyweds returned to Buckingham Palace, stepped onto the scarlet-draped front balcony and waved to the thundering crowds. Queen Elizabeth II joined them there, along with three generations of the royal family, the five bridesmaids, garlands in their hair, and the two pageboys.

At one point Charles and Diana kissed, touching off a crescendo of cheers from below. They then retired inside for the wedding breakfast.

Later they left, again by open carriage, for Waterloo rail station and their honeymoon, which begins at an English country estate and ends with a Mediterranean cruise.

Having changed into gray suit and pink dress, they were sprinkled with rose petals and confetti by the palace staff. Their carriage trailed a bloom

Local Demos urge Stenholm to change stand on tax cut

By WALT FINLEY
Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Texas, leader of the Conservative Democratic Forum, is being pressured by Howard County Democratic Club members to change his mind about supporting President Reagan's tax cut plan.

An estimated 70 area Democrats, meeting in the Cactus Room of the Student Union Building at Howard College, voted 17-5 last night to send a strongly worded resolution-telegram to Stenholm.

Besides Stenholm, Rep. Kent Hance, D-Lubbock, and Rep. Phil Gramm, D-College, are pledged to support the Republican plan.

D.A. Brazel, veteran Democrat "warhorse," introduced the Stenholm resolution shortly after the meeting opened.

Attorney Wayne Burns asked, "Did you read the newspaper this afternoon? Your resolution looks like water under the bridge. Aren't you just whistling 'Dixie'?"

"Stenholm could change tomorrow," Brazel replied. "His mind was changed by Reagan yesterday."

Texas Democratic Party Chairman Bob Slagle, Sherman, told the gathering that Stenholm served six years on the State Democratic Executive Committee and was a monthly contributor to the Democratic Party.

"His decision to back Reagan's plan doesn't mean he is a bad man or a bad Democrat. It just means he is wrong."

Slagle stressed again and again that the keys to Democratic victories in local, state and national races included registering voters and getting them to the polls.

"There are 6,000 voting precincts in the state," Slagle said.

"We would not have that j—s sitting in the governor's office in Austin if we had changed 3 votes per precinct. We wouldn't have John Tower sitting up there in the U.S. Senate with his hand in his vest, thinking he's Napoleon — if we had picked up two votes in each precinct during the last election."

Slagle said, "Screaming, hollering and rolling in the floor won't do any good after votes are cast. You need to organize in your own neighborhood and then you won't have to register complaints about 'bad' politicians in Austin and Washington."

BATTLE PLANS SHAPED — Texas Democratic Party Chairman Bob Slagle, left, and Dale King, aide to Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, discuss a congressional redistricting bill that hits the floor of the Democrat controlled Texas House today. Strategy was mapped during a meeting of area Democrats last night in the Cactus Room of the Student Union Building, Howard College.

Slagle said he will be in Austin today fighting a congressional bill in the Texas House that could give the GOP as many as three additional seats.

He said representatives planned to work on a modified version of a Senate passed bill carving election districts for the 27 Texas congressmen, including three new ones resulting from the 1980 census.

The bill approved by the House redistricting committee shapes a probable Republican district between Dallas and Fort Worth and changes the district of liberal Congressman Jim Mattox of Dallas from Democrat to Republican.

U.S. Rep. Martin Frost of Dallas would have a 63 percent minority district but says he would run anyway, and some political pros think he would win against a minority candidate.

Instead of a safety Democratic district, Congressman Bill Patman of Ganado will get a district that probably would rate as a toss up.

Slagle said Patman's district would be 55 percent Republican in the bill drafted by the redistricting committee's chairman, Rep. Tim Von Dohlen, D-Goliad.

Patman, a state senator until January, often angered fellow legislators, sometimes by his bluntness but also by his stubborn fights against higher interest rates.

Howard County Democratic Chairman Cecil Riordan, who campaigned with Slagle's father in past campaigns, described Slagle as the "finest state chairman this state has ever had."

Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, failed to show for the meeting. H.M. (Mack) Underwood, said Farabee "promised me last Thursday he would be here. I don't know what happened."

Slagle told the crowd that Farabee's wife "may be ill."

The resolution wired to Stenholm reads as follows:

"Whereas Congressman Charles Stenholm was elected on the Democratic ticket and promised to support the Democratic programs, and

"Whereas Congressman Stenholm has worked with the Republicans on President Reagan's solicitation which provided for the elimination of the Sheppard bill which provided that concessions in Federal Buildings be assigned to the blind so they could earn a living, leaving them without employment and

"Whereas Mr. Stenholm also voted to eliminate the minimum Social Security of $122 per month which adversely affects the most needy and

"Whereas our greatest problem in the U.S. today is inflation and

"Whereas if the Reagan tax bill passes Congress it will increase inflation and the national debt and whereas the benefits will be received largely by the rich at the expense of the poor since it is being done on a percentage basis across the board.

"Now therefore be it resolved that the Howard County Democratic Club notify Congressman Stenholm tonight that we urgently request that he vote against the Reagan-Republican tax cut plan of 5-10-15 over 3 years and support the plan of the Democratic Party presented by the House Ways and Means Committee of 5-10 percent of 2 years with another 10 percent in 3 years if the economy justifies the third year cut and

"Further advise Congressman Stenholm that he respond to the Democratic leadership of the house and vote with the Democratic Party who elected him to office based on his promises to support the party."

Singer to perform for local folks

By CAROL HART
Tammy Worthan will get a chance Saturday to show the home-town folks here in Big Spring a little of her talent with music.

Tammy has been serving as one of the lead vocalists for the Odessa-based band Shalako. She joined the group almost two months ago. She recalled that "my friend's uncle told the band about me," and that she was asked if she wanted to audition for the spot of lead female vocalist for the country-western group. She said yes, drove to Odessa for a try-out, and was hired by the band.

The guys in the band "wanted to make sure I was old enough to get into the clubs they play," Tammy added, saying she assured them that she was 21 years old.

"I've never sung with a band before," said Tammy. "I love it. This is what I've always wanted to do. I enjoy singing and entertaining people."

TAMMY WORTHAN
...Joins area band

Other members of Shalako are Donnie Boykin, Pensacola, Fla., his brother, Ronnie Boykin, Odessa, Jerry McClinton, Bakersfield, Calif., Jerry Stone, West Palm Beach, Fla., and Jim Barfield, McCarney. The group originally got together four years ago, but disbanded.

"They got together again nine months ago," said Tammy. They toured to Las Vegas in February, and Tammy plans to tour to Vegas with the group later this year.

Since joining the band, Tammy and the group have opened for several acts at the Country Carousel in Odessa, including Rusty Weir and B.W. Stevenson. They have also played in Kermit and Midkiff for private parties.

Tammy was at one time a member of "His Children" at the First Baptist Church here. She was also in the local high school choir, and was active in band.

Shalako is working on an album now, still untitled, which features several songs written by Tammy and other band members.

"I'm working on a single," Tammy added. "One side of the record will be a song I wrote, called 'Lovers or Friends.' The other side will be a song Ronnie (Boykin), Jerry (Stone) and I wrote called 'The Choice.'"

Saturday, Tammy and the band will play at the old Officer's Club in the Big Spring Industrial Park. The affair is sponsored by the Big Spring Police Association, Tammy said. Tickets, she added, are $5 a couple, or $3 a person.

Since this will be her first time in front of a home-town audience, Tammy confessed "I'm a little nervous. There are going to be people in the audience that I know. Usually I don't get nervous, I just get out there and sing."

Tammy is the daughter of Dale and Linda Worthan, and Gayle Worthan, all of Big Spring. She is employed at Big Spring Auto Glass when not singing with Shalako.

She also has two sisters, Sonya and Renee, and a brother, Rory. Rory, she explained, is interested in playing the drums, and Renee "sings. She's the future singer in the family."

City improvements gain double go-ahead

By BILL ELDER
Water, sewer and street improvements in the city of Big Spring got a two-pronged go-ahead Tuesday when the city council approved a bond issue and rate hikes to finance the improvements.

Council members met in the morning rather than evening to expedite the $2,375,000 bond issue, which was approved by voters in December. The revenue generated by the bonds, which will be sold by Dean Witter Reynolds, is scheduled to be divided into $865,000 for improvements to the city's waterworks system, $390,000 for sewage system improvements and $1,120,000 for street repairs.

Construction is scheduled to begin in September.

Council members were warned of a possible hitch in the waterworks program when Bennett Reaves of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper, engineers of the improvement programs, told the council that many of the water lines in Washington Place are located in easements behind houses. The plan is to move the lines to the front of the homes because access has been difficult. This will call for dealing with owners on an individual basis, he said.

As low bidder on the right to sell the bonds which will finance the improvements, Dean Witter Reynolds, a national stocks and bonds brokerage, will be selling $5,000-denomination bonds with an average maturity date of 10 to 12 years and an average interest rate of 11.1 percent.

The general interest bonds will cost the city an expected total of $2.8 million in interest payments.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Job switching

Q. One hears a lot about job permanency but, in truth, aren't people inclined to move around a lot, going from one job to another?

A. According to a research group in Cambridge, Mass., called the National Bureau of Economic Research, by the time workers reach the 55-59 age group, they have held an average of 10 jobs during their careers. Most switches occur early, however. Job holding becomes increasingly stable as workers age.

Calendar: Dance club meeting

WEDNESDAY
The Spring City Dance Club will meet at the Eagles' Lodge at 8 p.m. Members and invited guests are welcome.

THURSDAY

The American Heart Association will conduct a free blood pressure screening at the Medicine Shoppe from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Tops on TV: Wedding night

Tonight Charles and Diana will be married three times. The first on CBS at 7, second time on ABC airing at 8, and later at 9 on NBC. If you don't care for three pomp and circumstance weddings, then the movie "Champions" is your best bet. Jimmy McNichol and Joy LeDuc are two young skaters training to go to the national finals in spite of their parents. This airs at 8 on CBS.

700 found dead after Iran quake

NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Tehran Radio reported more than 700 bodies recovered, while the provincial government predicted a toll of more than 4,000 dead in an earthquake that hit the southeast Iranian province of Kerman during the night.

It was the second quake disaster in the region in less than two months and the third in four years.

"The number of victims of the earthquake has surpassed the 700 mark," the Iranian government radio reported this afternoon. "Efforts to recover the bodies of other victims are continuing."

The governor general of the province, Abdolhossein Saveh, said the quake was centered in the small town of Shahdad, about 500 miles southeast of Tehran and 30 miles northeast of Kerman, the provincial capital.

He predicted the toll would be between 4,000 and 5,000 dead, Pars said.

Hospitals in Kerman reported 40 dead and 400 injured in the provincial capital, Tehran Radio reported earlier.

Pars said the quake measured between 5.5 and 7 on the Richter scale and flattened 90 per cent of the buildings in the district.

LEAVING CHURCH — With a 7.6-meter (25 foot) sweeping train, the former Lady Diana Spencer leaves St. Paul's cathedral arm in arm with Prince Charles at the end of the wedding ceremony Wednesday. Nearly a million wellwishers crowded the two-mile route of the wedding procession.

Thousands watch wedding procession of silver and blue balloons, and a sign, "Just Married," was tacked to the back.

The union of the 32-year-old Prince of Wales and Lady Diana, the 20-year-old kindergarten teacher with the captivating smile, was the first time in three centuries that the heir to the British throne has married an English-born woman.

"This is the stuff of which fairy tales are made," the archbishop, the Rt. Rev. Robert Runcie, observed in his sermon during the music-filled, 80-minute Church of England ceremony.

First lady Nancy Reagan, the official U.S. representative, sat in an eighth-row pew at St. Paul's, behind crowned royalty. Besides the masses of spectators here, at least 500 million others were believed to have watched the ceremony on television around the world.

Queen Elizabeth II, wearing light blue, had ridden the two miles to the cathedral in an open landau carriage, sitting beside her husband, Prince Philip, and flanked by red-plumed cavalrymen.

Prince Charles, in his brass-buttoned Royal Navy commander's uniform, appeared slightly jittery as his carriage rolled from Buckingham Palace. He waved and saluted the crowds, his brother Prince Andrew next to him.

"Hip, hip, hooray!" boomed the throng outside St. Paul's, the national cathedral, as the groom stepped down from his coach. Andrew, his chief "supporter," checked that he brought the ring.

Last to arrive for the 80-minute Church of England ceremony, the first wedding of a future monarch since Elizabeth's in 1947, was the bride.

Riding in a glass coach and wearing a frilly wedding gown in ivory silk taffeta and old lace with a 25-foot sweeping train, Lady Diana smiled radiantly from behind a lace veil. Her father, the 8th Earl Spencer, sat beside her as two bay horses drew the carriage through the teeming streets.

When she arrived, a vision in white topped by a bejeweled tiara, she turned sweetly to wave to a wildly cheering crowd.

A trumpet fanfare sounded to announce her arrival, and to the robust "Trumpet Voluntary" of Jeremiah Clarke, she took the arm of her father and began the 3½-minute walk down the aisle, followed by her youthful wedding party.

In his sermon following the exchange of vows, the archbishop, Rt. Rev. Robert Runcie, told the congregation and the royal couple:

"This is the stuff of which fairy tales are made: the prince and princess on their wedding day. But fairy tales usually end at this point with the simple phrase, 'They lived happily ever after.' This may be because fairy stories regard marriage as an anticlimax after the romance of courtship.

"This is not the Christian view. Our faith sees the wedding day not as the place of arrival but the place where the adventure really begins."

Charles was seen quickly brushing his hand near his eyes once or twice during the ceremony; he had said the music might make him cry.

His 80-year-old grandmother, the Queen Mother Elizabeth, dabbed her eyes several times as she watched her first grandson and his wife, now the Princess of Wales.

For the first time in history a Roman Catholic clergyman took part in a wedding service for British royalty in this Protestant country. Cardinal Basil Hume, head of the Catholic Church here, read a prayer of "Joy and Peace" for the couple.

The crowd outside, some with heads bowed beneath souvenir red-white-and-blue plastic hats, joined in the singing of Diana's personal favorite hymn, "I Vow to Thee, My Country," from hymn sheets distributed along the route.

Queen Elizabeth II bit her lip as the national anthem, "God Save the Queen," in a special arrangement for double orchestra, choir, state trumpeters, organ and clashing cymbals.

The queen alone stood silent as her family, crowned heads of about 20 nations and dignitaries from the Western world, including U.S. first lady Nancy Reagan, joined in singing with the congregation.

The world got the first good look at the just-married couple as Prince and Princess of Wales after they signed the register and emerged back into the choir, the bride with her veil off.

The queen smiled as Diana curtsied to her in progressing, arm in arm with her dashing prince, up the aisle.

The ash blonde earl's daughter carried a bouquet of golden Mountbatten roses, named for Charles' godfather, who was assassinated in 1979, mixed with lilies of the valley, white orchids and freesias.

They entered the 1902 state postillion landau, drawn by four gray horses with two outriders and headed back to Buckingham Palace and the wedding breakfast.

Diana's father joined Queen Elizabeth in her carriage for the ride to palace, and her mother, Frances Shand Kydd, rode with Prince Philip in another carriage.

Among the Americans along the procession route was Rose Skelton, who brought her 12-year-old and 14-year-old daughters from Ocean Springs, Miss., and spent the night on a Fleet Street sidewalk.

O'Neill is gloomy about Demo chances

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., complaining that his Democratic troops have been "engulfed by telephone calls" urging support for President Reagan's tax cut, today all but conceded the long-awaited showdown to the president.

In his gloomiest assessment yet of Democratic chances, O'Neill declined to repeat his earlier prediction that Democrats would defeat Reagan's tax plan and substitute a two-year, 15 percent proposal of their own.

"All I can say is we are experiencing a blitz... a telephone blitz like this nation has never seen. It's had a devastating effect," O'Neill told reporters as the House prepared to open debate on the legislation.

But deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said today that an administration count of the likely vote in the House showed the outcome "too close to call."

He said White House aides worked "into the wee hours this morning" on the issue and continued calls to congressmen until 10:00 p.m. Tuesday.

"It is right down to the wire," Speakes said. "We feel we have gotten a number of people in the last 24 hours. A victory in the Democratic controlled House would give the president a double-barrelled triumph as the Senate was also poised to vote its expected approval today for his three-year, 25 percent tax cut bill.

Reagan was virtually certain of victory in the Republican-run Senate.

Reagan's plan, the keystone of his economic program, calls for a 25 percent cut in tax rates over 33 months, with all taxpayers getting the same reduction regardless of income. There would be automatic annual reductions to offset inflation starting in 1985.

One-car rollover turns vacation into tragedy

COLORADO CITY — What started out as a vacation trip ended in tragedy here Tuesday morning for a group of New Mexico residents.

A one-car turnover 7.1 miles west of Colorado City on IS 20 about 8 a.m., killed Debbie Hummel, 25, of Rte. 3, Las Cruces, N.M. Jerry Hummel, 30, husband of the dead woman and driver of the car, suffered numerous bruises and head injuries.

The 1975 Granada was eastbound. State Trooper Frank Costabile, who along with Bob Calloway and Buddy Hertemberger, investigated the mishap, said Hummel might have done at the wheel. The car went off the road, bounced into and out of an excavation ditch about 18 inches deep, catapulted across IS 20 over an embankment into the south service road, landing on its top.

Others injured in the crash were Elizabeth Hummel, age 4, who was ejected from the car; Becca Hummel, 1½ years; and Marilyn Chase, 25, of Mesilla Park, N.M.

Elizabeth Hummel escaped with minor scrapes. Becca Hummel had head injuries. Miss Chase suffered a broken arm, a broken back and facial lacerations. She was removed to Shanon Hospital in San Angelo.

The group was driving to Dallas after first having stopped off in El Paso.

Mrs. Hummel was pronounced dead at the scene by Peace Justice Ruby Claxton.

Services for Mrs. Hummel are pending at the Harrington-Bratcher-Dickey Funeral Home in Plano.

Council seeks funds for swimming pool

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado City Council voted unanimously to make applications for a 50-50 grant for a swimming pool from the Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife.

The action came Tuesday night during a special meeting of the Council. However, the motion made by Councilman Macca Findley does not commit the city to spend its share of the $85,000 project, if it wants to back out.

Several council members voiced reservations regarding the project, if the grant is approved, since the city needs to build a new water dike sewer plant and the building of the new pool also will mean a slight increase in taxes to local residence.

If the grant is approved, council members will research a financial study and determine whether or not to proceed with the new pool.

City Manager Brenda Tarter told the council the present swimming pool was built in the 1939's by the WPA and she seriously doubted if it could be used again next year. A new pool if constructed, will be built at the site of the current pool.

The city should know within 30 days if application is approved.

Sewer service rate increase voted

In order to retire the bonds on schedule, the council voted in a water and sewer service rate hike which will boost the average residential water bill by $1.65 a month. A slight increase of 60 cents in the typical monthly residential sewage service fee also was approved.

In other action, the council:

— Awarded the Mark-M company the right to drill for oil and gas at the Industrial Park. Mark-M's bid offered the city the largest amount of up-front money as well as the largest percentage of royalties — a $26,105 bonus and a 20.5 percent royalty. The lease commits the company to drilling one well within 120 days and at least one well every 150 days thereafter.

— Opted for fuel economy over comfort and accepted a bid from Bob Brook Ford to sell the city a car to be used primarily by fire department officials. The city will buy a six-cylinder 1981 Granada for $8,391 and will use the car to replace a damaged one. Bids had been sent in for an eight-cylinder car as well.

— Gave final approval to an ordinance increasing the speed limit along a portion of F. M. 700 near Westover from 35 to 45 miles per hour.

— Gave tentative approval to an ordinance clarifying the recreational uses of Cosden or Comanche Trail Lake. On the portion of the lake separated from the site of the historical spring (in other words, in the bulk of the lake), it is prohibited to swim or operate a motorized boat. Sailing and fishing are permitted, however, and fishing is just what one local organization has in mind for the lake. The Big Spring Bass Club had asked the council for permission to use the lake as the site of a fishing tournament for kids 16 and under, and after checking for possible liability resulting from restrictions in the city's deed to the lake, the council determined that the sport of angling would have a future within city limits.

— Denied a request to extend the hours during which peddlers and solicitors may ply their wares in the city. The current law prohibits soliciting after 6 p.m. and a peddler had made the case to City Manager Don Davis for an additional hour at the end of the day to do business. But the council nixed the request.

— Voted to send Assistant City Manager Paul Feazelle to Austin for a meeting of the Texas Municipal League. The council joined the league's effort to fight Southwestern Bell's $469 million rate increase — at a cost of about $850 to the city — and Feazelle would be in charge of keeping the council abreast of the case.

— Stood firm in its protest vote to the federal government against the Haitian refugees who were sent to the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp to await deportation hearings. A local pastor, Jim McWilliams of the United Methodist Church on North Birdwell, appeared before the council to chide them for their reaction to the refugees. Speaking for the majority, Councilman Jack Y. Smith replied to the pastor that "my conscience is clear at night" over the matter. The city had said it didn't want any more refugees sent here and several days after the complaint the U.S. Justice Department, acting on behalf of a White House refugee task force, announced that no more refugees would be sent here.

A problem that is worsening

Imagine, if you will, a city of 200,000 wiped out by a hydrogen bomb or an invading army. Such a story would make headlines the world over.

There are, however, 200,000 people who die of alcohol addiction in this country every year and nobody says much about it. Where 200,000 perish, another 10 million adults and teenagers suffer problems related to the indulgence of alcohol.

THE STATISTICS ON the drug scene are almost as bad in this country and bid fair to get a lot worse. The price in physical pain and emotional stress is tremendous, but that is only part of the awesome cost the country pays.

Think it's not your concern if some one in your community is victimized by excessive drinking or the taking of drugs? Think again. Every insured person and every taxpayer picks up the bill for health care and for time lost from work. The bill came to a $4 billion last year alone.

An editorial which appeared in the most recent quarterly edition of the publication, "Prisoners," published by inmates of the Texas Department of Corrections, had this to say about the challenge:

"Alcohol and drug addiction is a problem for every level of government. How many of us consider the lives of family and friends affected by the alcohol and drug problem? Some reports estimate as many as 75 percent of us in prison are here for alcohol or a drug problem, either directly or indirectly."

The author of the editorial outlined his own personal experiences with alcohol and drugs and urged everyone to take whatever steps are necessary to help get off the street of no return at all levels of society.

INMATES IN A penal institution will often admit to having a problem a lot more readily than will someone in the main stream of society. The silent drinkers, the people who quaff drugs in the secrecy of their homes are the hardest to get to, the most difficult to counsel. They simply will not admit to being addicted to the use of one poison or another. And any doctor will tell you: A person must admit to having an ailment before he or she can be treated for it.

their search for freedom. In the 30's and 40's the government turned away boats of refugee Jews, consigning untold numbers to concentration camps. Lately, immigrants have fallen into great disfavor. Their fault is not a desire for welfare or a government-financed gravy train. They want a life of opportunity for themselves and their children who follow them in a free society. They want to work and become part of this nation. If we cannot admire a person who wishes to better himself and his family by entering into the free enterprise system, working for fair wages, and contributing to this country, then we need to look at ourselves. If immigration laws need reforming now, maybe they should have been reformed before. If we Americans, of whom almost 50 percent didn't vote in the last presidential election, can't risk a little discomfort in going to the polls, how can we criticize those who risk their lives to come to this country. We who are descended from immigrants should remember the words of an American Indian Movement leader, who, when asked what the Indian called America before the white man, said simply, "ours."

Officials at odds over condors

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fewer than 30 California condors — all that remain of a majestic species that once ruled the Western skies — are putted federal and state wildlife officials at odds and splitting old environmental allies.

The California Fish and Game Commission ended a daylong hearing Tuesday by postponing its vote on a plan to rescue the endangered birds through captive breeding and tagging wild birds with radio transmitters to study condor habits and range.

A final decision is now promised at an Aug. 7 meeting in Eureka after state and federal officials try to work out their differences in private.

"I've never seen such a shambles at a public meeting," said David Brower, a force in the environmental movement for 40 years.

Brower's Friends of the Earth was left behind in the state-federal stalemate over how many birds should carry transmitters and how much blood should be taken from captured condors.

He said his organization favors protecting the condors' rugged but dwindling habitat and would almost certainly fight in court any plan that involves trapping, tagging or "imprisoning" the birds. The larger Sierra Club, while grudgingly willing to accept very limited hands-on work, also threatens legal action.

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know you will probably think I am foolish, but I recently lost my pet dog and it has almost broken my heart. Do you think it is wrong to feel this way about an animal? — Mrs. T.J.F.

DEAR MRS. T.J.F.: I am sure many people can sympathize with you because they have valued a pet very much and feel a great sense of loss when that pet dies. It may especially be true for people who live alone (which your letter indicates is your situation).

It is important, however, for you to get this issue in its proper perspective. Be thankful for the years of companionship your pet gave you, but do not become so absorbed in its loss that you are emotionally paralyzed. This would not be right, and would be harmful also because it might keep you from establishing relationships with others which you ought to be building.

I cannot say whether or not you have placed too high a value on your pet — only you could answer that. But

Dilution may be widespread

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Shockingly, some of the gold in the nation's bank vaults may not be as pure as it is certified to be.

Even a trifle of impurity would reduce the value of a 1,000-ounce gold bar by thousands of dollars. If it turns out that there has been widespread dilution of the gold content, it would rock the world's monetary system.

My associates Indy Badhwar and Jack Mitchell have learned that gold from at least one bank has allegedly tested out below standard.

WHAT IS EVEN more disturbing, this bank — the Rhode Island Hospital Trust National Bank — is a big dealer in precious metals. Its impure supply apparently came from one of the giants in the world of gold mining and refining — Engelhard Industries of New Jersey.

There is no evidence of foul play. Both the Rhode Island bank and the Engelhard Industries appear to be victims of faulty testing methods.

Yet they are the victims of a system of their own making. For gold trading and testing is controlled by a tight, little circle of pin-striped bankers. The investigation by my reporters indicates that industry test standards are arbitrary and archaic.

Most of the gold trading on the New York Commodities Exchange is controlled by only six banks. Incredibly, the industry empowers only three assayers to be official testers, and they work at the pleasure of the corporations whose gold they are testing.

Because of this inadequate quality control, there is no telling whether defective gold bars have escaped detection. But the implications are staggering.

THE TRAFFIC IN gold bullion and gold futures has been bullish. Since 1975, when Americans were permitted to own gold again, billions worth of gold have changed hands. Once in 1980, the price passed $800 an ounce — an incredible 23 times higher than the $35 an ounce of less than a decade ago.

Inside the Reagan administration, top officials are agitating for a return to the gold standard. A congressional Gold Commission will report in October on the precious metal's effect on our money system.

So the allegation that gold bullion from the Rhode Island Hospital Trust National Bank didn't measure up to the 99.9 percent purity standard will send shock waves throughout the world of gold mining and refining.

The bank, using industry methods, had certified the ingots as pure gold. Yet this was disputed by a new testing machine, called the Hetra machine, which showed some adulteration.

For verification, the ingots were sent to independent assayers — Photometrics, Inc., and Jarrrell-Assh. Both confirmed the startling finds; they reported traces of silver, nitrate, copper, zinc, iron and other elements. Some gold bars varied from the certified purity standard by .06 percent to .33 percent.

One ingot was also shipped to England to be melted down by Her Majesty's assay office. This most prestigious of tests confirmed that the ingot did not contain the purity that was represented.

Bank executive Carl Peterson refused a request for an interview, but Engelhard vice president Joe Feldstein said he was "shocked" at the test results. "We can make mistakes in other areas," he said, "but in this case, we have to be purer than Caesar's wife." He promised a thorough investigation.

Other sources have raised the frightening possibility that the loose testing standards may permit the Mafia to wash its illegal profits in adulterated gold.

It is also possible, of course, that the below-standard ingots are rare exceptions. But the testing procedures are so lax that the phrase "good as gold" may lose its meaning.

Footnote: In future columns, we'll examine the controversy over the gold industry's testing methods. Weekly, has apparently trod on some tender White House toes.

The publication recently received a stiff note from presidential counsel Fred Fielding, chiding the editors for using a masthead carrying a picture of the Executive Mansion overlaid with the title of the newsletter.

Fielding sternly pointed out that the Better Business Bureau, a non-governmental agency, frowned on using the White House name or logo for commercial advertising. "Accordingly," wrote Fielding, "it is requested that you make the suggested changes and advise me." There is no specific law against such use; indeed, Washington has a White House Motel, White House Real Estate Sales and White House Sightseeing tours, to name three commercial enterprises.

White House Weekly publisher C. Emily Feistritz suspected that the objection was precipitated by the fact the newsletter had disclosed some unflattering tidbits, including the item that Nancy Reagan had stopped a special tour for a group of Boy Scouts "because she felt they wouldn't appreciate White House art."

DMSO RAID — DMSO is a product I cited several years ago as a promising medication that could relieve pain and speed the healing of bruised bones. It had been commonly used as an industrial lubricant and solvent.

The Food and Drug Administration, however, blocked sale of DMSO as a medical substance pending prolonged investigation. Some sufferers from bone bruises, meanwhile, have obtained the cheap chemical from industrial sources.

FDA bloodhounds are now tightening the loophole in their red tape. They recently seized $13,000 worth of DMSO in a Buffalo, N.Y., warehouse along with copies of a book spelling out its medical properties. The confiscated chemical containers were labeled as an industrial solvent.

Check number on sunscreen product

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you give us easy burners some tips on sunning? And incidentally, does sunning really have dangers besides the usual discomfort of the burn? — S.J.

Dear Dr. Donohue: What do the numbers on sunscreen lotions mean? — H.H.

S.J. first. There are two sides to the sunning controversy — for and against. Some feel it is a mark of health. I cannot join that side. Too much sun is unhealthy. It ages skin, causes premature wrinkling and actually makes it thinner. In excess this can lead to skin cancer. All in all, the suntan craze is one I hope will disappear soon.

It should be understood that the skin tans to protect itself from the ultraviolet light of the sun — the kind that can be felt but not seen. The pigment cells multiply, increase their pigment production, and increase in size. All of this produces the yellow and brown plaques noticeable in some sun freaks, again an attempt by the body to protect its largest organ — the skin.

If you must be out in the sun, avoid times when the ultraviolet rays are strongest — from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Use a sunscreen, which brings us to H.H.'s question. These lotions have numbers on the containers. A number "2" means very little protection. A number "15" means very great protection. Numbers in between are gradations of protection.

The best way to acquire a harmless tan is to start with gradual exposures — no longer than 15 minutes at a time. That gives the skin a chance to adapt to the ultraviolet light. Do not use pure oils on your skin while sunning. I mean oils like baby oils. They smooth out the natural wrinkles to skin and reflect ultraviolet light, making for more severe burns.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you clear up once and for all the myths or facts about using ointments, like cocoa butter or oils, for prevention of stretchmarks of pregnancy? How would they work with regards giving the skin greater elasticity? Most doctors I have spoken with say nothing can be done. — Mrs. M.I.

I have to agree that nothing can be done to prevent stretchmarks except to maintain the ideal body weight during pregnancy to avoid the stretching itself. There is no evidence that any ointment or oil will prevent them. I am sorry to have to go along with all your other doctors. The color of stretchmarks fades in time. That is about the best I can do.

Dear Dr. Donohue: While scuba diving I experienced the most dreadful pain in one of my teeth. What was it? — Mrs. R.R.

It could have been from a tooth that had lost one of its fillings. Or it could have been pain referred to the tooth from a partially blocked sinus. Such pain is also found in pilots when cabin pressures change rapidly.

There's an old saying — if your feet hurt, you hurt all over. Dr. Donohue's booklet, "Relief and Care of Your Feet," shows you how to avoid and take care of foot problems. To get your copy, write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Mrs. Reagan is seated with honor at wedding

LONDON (AP) — First lady Nancy Reagan, wearing a peach silk ensemble she had kept secret for weeks, was seated in an honored place at St. Paul's Cathedral today to watch Britain's future king and queen exchange their wedding vows.

Mrs. Reagan, who topped off her outfit with a pale straw hat trimmed in peach chiffon at the brim, represented President Reagan and the United States at the historic ceremony.

Smiling broadly as she arrived alone at the great cathedral, Mrs. Reagan was escorted down the aisle by an usher and seated in the eighth row behind crowned royalty.

The first lady, who in the last year has missed the marriages of both her son and stepdaughter, had said she was unconcerned about where she would be seated at the marriage of Prince Charles, heir to the British throne, and Princess Diana.

Some British news reports, however, said Mrs. Reagan had requested a first row pew. "I could care less where I'm seated," the 58-year-old Mrs. Reagan responded to those reports. "I'm just delighted I'm going." Nevertheless, she was seated far ahead of most of the other 2,500 guests.

Her wedding outfit, which was revealed Tuesday, was a pleated, blouson top over a tuck-pleated skirt with a long matching silk shirt-coat.

It was made by one of her favorite designers, Galanos of Los Angeles.

After the wedding, Mrs. Reagan attended a formal luncheon given by British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher at the Bank of ETWW & D. It was the second time Mrs. Reagan has been Mrs. Thatcher's guest during her week-long visit to Britain.

Mrs. Reagan was not invited to a post-wedding party at Buckingham Palace. The palace breakfast was a private affair for about 100 of the royal family's closest friends and relatives.

The first lady, however, has twice before been included at wedding festivities at Buckingham Palace. She was one of 1,500 guests at an after-dinner reception there Monday night.

REPRESENTS THE U.S. — America's First Lady Nancy Reagan sits with the President of Iceland at the Royal Wedding in London today.

The royal price tag:

- According to published reports and palace officials, these were among the major costs:
- $600,000 for security.
- $100,000 for decorations, flowers and barriers along the wedding procession route from Buckingham Palace to St. Paul's Cathedral.
- $100,000 for a pre-wedding reception Monday.
- $40,000 for the wedding breakfast and cake.
- $300,000 for a two-week honeymoon cruise on the royal yacht Britannia.
- $60,000 for Diana's sapphire and diamond engagement ring.
- $10,000 for the five bridesmaids' and two pages' costumes.

Inside St. Paul's Cathedral Charles gets his wish for musical experience

LONDON (AP) — The royal wedding as witnessed from the pews of St. Paul's today was just as Prince Charles wanted it to be: "a marvelous musical and emotional experience."

The bridegroom didn't spend half the time in tears, as he had predicted in a wedding eve interview. He smiled through much of the ceremony, except when the massed choirs sang "Let all the people praise thee, O God" he brushed at his eyes several times as if wiping away tears.

But his voice was manly and robust when he answered "I will" to the marital vows administered by the Archbishop of Canterbury.

Lady Diana Spencer's responses were more frail but quite audible in Sir Christopher Wren's magnificent cathedral, where at the archbishop's words "I pronounce that they be man and wife together" she became the Princess of Wales.

It was all a splendid royal and ecclesiastical spectacle of trumpet blasts and singing choirs, even if at one point the bride stumbled over her spouse's four Christian names, and he left out the word "worldly" in promising her all his goods.

The assembled heads of state, crowned heads of Europe and honored guests like first lady Nancy Reagan, all joined in the singing of the hymns, as did the wedding couple.

Leaving the high altar after the 80-minute ceremony, the princess' father, the Earl Spencer seemed to lean heavily on the arm of an usher as if worn out by it all.

The earl, who suffered a stroke two years ago, also got the seating arrangements mixed up after the newlyweds had signed the register, and did a little switching act with the Queen Mother.

He was helped into the carriage with the queen, but went off waving and smiling down Ludgate Hill to the post-noon wedding breakfast.

The five bridesmaids, down to 5-year-old Clementine Hambro, one of the new princess' former kindergarten charges, had quite a time turning and gathering in the bride's 25-foot long train.

But they handled it with the aplomb of sailors aloft in the rigging of a clipper ship. And very pretty little maids they were, too, not "eight as ugly girls as you could wish to see," as Lady Somerset sniffed when the future Edward VII was the last Prince of Wales to marry 118 years ago.

And, for some reason, Prince Philip did turn and gaze about when the Archbishop, Rt. Rev. Robert Runcie asked if either the bride or bridegroom knew of any impediment to the marriage.

Buckingham Palace bored by the festivities

BUCKINGHAM, III. (AP) — The royal wedding isn't causing much of a stir at Buckingham Palace.

"I didn't really keep up with it. I'm no news reader or nothin'," said businessman Tom Holmes, a visitor. Would he follow the wedding on television? "Depends on whether it's fishing weather or not."

"I really think they're spending too darned much but I thought they spent too darned much on the inauguration of President Reagan, too," said Janet Jordan, a former government worker now employed in the Palace.

There you have it. The voices of the people in Buckingham Palace, a tavern in this community of 200 people, as interviewed by the Kankakee Journal.

Energy policy in the works

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower

U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

When an individual decides to form a carpool because the price of gasoline is too high to drive alone, he is helping create a conservation policy. When an independent producer decides to drill an oil well on the hope of a return on his investment, he is implementing a policy of increased production. Computers cannot gauge human responses to future situations with precision. That is a major reason so many projections of future energy production and consumption have been wrong. Increased reliance on the market decisions Americans make every day offers a continuing national referendum which is a far better means of charting the nation's energy path than stubborn reliance on government dictates or a combination of subsidies and regulations.

Certain mitigating measures may be required from time to time to avoid unacceptable burdens on one sector of our society or another, but these can best be considered in the context of social, not energy, policy.

The President's action to end oil price controls and to dismantle the burdensome regulatory apparatus associated with those controls was a major step in implementing an energy policy focused on market realities. The challenge ahead is to provide a healthy economy and policy environment that enables citizens, businesses and state and local governments to make rational energy production and consumption decisions — decisions that reflect the true value, in every sense, of all the nation's resources.

Panicky, piecemeal efforts by government to relieve energy supply and price uncertainties have been and always will be counterproductive.

I know that the citizens, the energy producers and the industries of Texas stand ready to do their share and more in implementing a reasonable energy policy which relies on the traditional greatness of the American people and their ingenuity and resourcefulness.

Holiday Inns to build hotel in Southern China

SHENZHEN, China (AP) — Holiday Inns Inc. has agreed in principle to build a $30 million hotel in China's Shenzhen special economic zone in southern China, and a Pepsi-Cola bottling plant is under construction, the head of the economic zone says.

He told The Associated Press in an interview Sunday that Holiday Inns already has picked out the site in the zone's commercial area, a site that one year ago was a rice paddy.

Ting also said PepsiCo Inc. is building a $7.5 million bottling plant in Shenzhen. Rival Coca-Cola Co. already has opened a bottling plant in Peking.

Testing of private rocket delayed again

ROCKPORT, Texas (AP) — Owners of a rocket they hope will symbolize the beginning of a free enterprise space age say an engine test already scheduled for Tuesday will have to be delayed again.

Space Service Inc. engineers postponed a five-second burn of the Percheron rocket engine Tuesday and then scrubbed today's rescheduled test when additional problems developed Tuesday night.

"We have a major problem in the electrical switching down here and it is going to cause a major delay," said company spokesman Walter Pennino.

"We have some signals from valves in the fuel system and at the moment we don't know what they mean. We may have to test by possibly fueling the vehicle," said Pennino.

He said engineers will examine the electrical system today and may be forced to at least partially fuel the rocket in order to test the valves.

"We are not really sure whether it is a valve or a spurious signal in the instrumentation," said Pennino, who added that the problems would delay the test at least until Thursday.

Space Services had planned two engine tests this week — a five-second burn first on Tuesday and a 25-second burn scheduled a day later.

Tuesday's burn was postponed because "engineers weren't satisfied that, mechanically, everything was in order," said Pennino.

"They didn't want to run that risk until all the fittings and instrumentation and plumbing systems were in order," he said.

House committee OKs property tax code changes

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House committee approved a bill Monday that would allow states to pass in 1982 a property tax code, or to have a new code passed in 1983.

The bill, designed by the House Tax Committee, would allow a state to pass a new code in 1982, or to have a new code passed in 1983. The bill would also allow a state to pass a new code in 1984.

on which a person may claim a homestead exemption. — Reduce the voter turnout requirement in elections to roll back property tax increases from 25 percent to 15 percent.

Enable elderly and disabled taxpayers to apply only once, instead of annually, for special homestead exemptions.

Permit appraisers to enter businesses to evaluate equipment and inventory.

Enable governing bodies of half the taxing units in an appraisal district to veto its budget or any of its actions.

Exempt farm and ranch equipment from property taxes.

board members to be elected officials of taxing units, the committee rejected the idea. Its bill says board members may be elected officials but don't have to be.

"If elected people must serve, it creates a burden on them, and it could prohibit getting talented people on the boards," Schlueter said.

Lawsuits arose from the Peveito Bill's provision allowing three-fourths of the taxing units served by an appraisal district enlarge its board or change the method for selecting its members.

Some small local governments have used the rule to gang up on big cities and school districts.

The bill says the three-fourths rule cannot be used to reduce the voting strength of a taxing unit to less than a majority without its consent.

Situations have occurred where basing the agricultural productivity value of rural land on Texas A&M estimates resulted in zero or negative table values.

The bill says estimated net income to the land, for use in figuring property taxes, must be at least 50 percent of what the land would bring the owner in a typical lease arrangement.

Some local governments still have appraisers on their payrolls, despite the Peveito Bill's purpose of saving money by having a single appraisal office in each county.

The bill prohibits a local government from having its own appraisers after Jan. 1.

Old man shoots burglar suspect

A 70-year-old man shot a burglar suspect in his car. The man, who was driving, saw the suspect get into his car. He fired a shot, hitting the suspect in the chest. The suspect was taken to a hospital but is expected to die.

When he tried to run, I leveled the gun and shot down at his feet," Bell said. "I didn't know I had hit him."

Dear Abby

Wife Thinks Secretary Should Mind Boss's Business

DEAR ABBY: Re wife searching husband's desk at office. Sorry, Abby, but it is the consensus of every single (or married!) secretary with whom I discussed the letter that you are wrong.

As a confidential secretary to a corporate vice president of a major oil company, and as a wife of an executive with the largest automobile manufacturer in the world, I would no more expect my husband's secretary to permit me to go through his desk than I would expect her to jump into his (and my!) bed. In fact, I've never even been to my husband's office; nor has my boss's wife been to his. I would not even think of going through my husband's briefcase in our home. This would be violating not only his privacy, but his company's.

My suggestion to a secretary put in such a spot would be simply to offer to find whatever it is the wife is looking for. If the wife is persistent, I'd stand boldly at the desk watching every move, stating that she should know that I would, indeed, feel obligated to inform her husband of this.

A secretary works for her boss and his company. If a wife has the audacity to intrude, for whatever reason, the marriage is already in trouble, obviously; and the secretary's alliance is to her boss at all times. Your job, Abby, may be saving marriages (lots of luck!); mine, in this particular instance, would be to protect my job.

LOYAL SECRETARY

DEAR SECRETARY: Your answer was better than mine. Thank you. I learned something today.

DEAR ABBY: I am 23 and my fiancée is 22. We've been engaged for a year and went together for three years before that. A Christmas-season wedding is scheduled. My problem is I don't want to marry this woman. We are not happy together and we fight and argue every time we see each other.

I have tried to break the engagement several times, but she cries and carries on and I get nowhere, so I give up. She said she couldn't consider breaking the engagement because she would be humiliated before her friends.

Another complication: About six months ago, I fell in love with one of her best friends. (This friend was asked to be a bridesmaid.) She loves me, too, and we feel terrible having to sneak around to see each other.

I know I have to break this engagement, but how?

NO NAMES, NATURALLY

DEAR NO NAMES: Tell your fiancée that you cannot marry her knowing that the marriage will not be based on mutual love. Let her know that if it's humiliation she's dreading, she may tell her friends that she broke it off. And don't mention your present love affair. One blow at a time is enough. Good luck. You'll need it.

DEAR ABBY: I have worked 14 years in an office where no smoking was permitted. Six months ago we got a new supervisor who smokes, and now two-thirds of my co-workers have cigarettes going all the time.

My clothes smell terrible, my eyes are red and sore, and I am concerned about the damage secondhand smoke can cause to my health.

How can I get clean air where I work? If I bug my supervisor about it, I could lose my job to a smoker.

SMOKED OUT

DEAR SMOKED OUT: Sorry, there is nothing you can do about it. I know it's unfair. But who ever said life was fair? (P.S. Our country, for all its advantages, is lagging in citizens' rights. A law was recently passed in Switzerland making it illegal to smoke in a public telephone booth. Hooray for the Swiss!)

Miscellaneous shower honors Debbie Sloan

Debbie Sloan, bride-elect of Jimmy Butts, was honored with a bridal shower July 17 in the Flame Room at Energas.

Hostesses were Jo Tindol, Betty Davis, Jan Butts, Martha Pitts, Janice Pitts, Cindy Moorehead, Rita Gonzales, Susan Palmer, Joy Decker, Helen Gladden, Kim Barnes, Shirley Burgess and Gail Beringer.

The honoree and honored guests, Mrs. George Sloan, her mother, Mrs. Marvin Butts, mother of the prospective bridegroom and Mrs. Ethel Stager, his grandmother, were presented with light blue carnation corsages tied with blue ribbons.

The refreshment table was covered with a white, lace tablecloth. The centerpiece was an arrangement of yellow daisies, light blue iris, and pink sweet peas. A double-heart cake completed the decorations. The couple's names were printed in the middle of each heart.

The hostesses presented Miss Sloan with a seven piece set of Silverstone and several miscellaneous items. The couple will be married Aug. 7 at the North Birdwell Lane United Methodist Church.

Garden City couple announces birth of third child July 23

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rackley, Garden City, announce the birth of a son, Jarred Ryan, July 23 at 6:18 p.m. at Midland Memorial Hospital. The infant made his debut weighing 7 pounds 5 ounces and measuring 18½ inches long.

Jarred's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Don Williams, Lake

Coleman, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. D.R. Rackley, Idalou. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, Roosevelt, Okla. and Mrs. Joe A. Pryor, Pottsville, Ark., are his great-grandparents.

The new arrival is welcomed home by his sister, Stephanie, 6, and brother, Joey, 2½.

Garden City student attends gifted student summer program

Lynn Sparks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Craig Sparks, Garden City, attended a summer program co-sponsored by the Gifted Students Institute and Texas A&M University's Gifted and Talented Institute, July 12-26. The program offered four classes including Architecture, Space Science, Marine Biology, and Creative Writing. Approximately 75 students and 15 counselors attended. Lynn attended the Creative Writing class. Activities included tours of historic homes in Galveston, the Strand, and the Elissa, a sailing ship being restored by the Galveston Historic Foundation. The ship dates back to 1877 and is not open to the public as of yet. Those attending also witnessed a performance at the Lone Star Theater. Lynn attended the program last year as a member of the Architecture class.

Bride-elect is feted with shower

Brenda Kay Lewis, bride-elect of Tony Claxton, was honored with a bridal shower Friday evening in the home of Mrs. H.C. Blackshear.

Hostesses for the event were Mrs. Sherrill Carroll, Mrs. Fred Phillips, Mrs. Dwayne Fraser, Mrs. Harold Hicks, Mrs. Joe Fortson and Mrs. Byron Smith. Others were Mrs. James Findley, Mrs. Blackshear, Mrs. Pete Hull, Mrs. Jimmy Wallace, Mrs. Bill Blalack, Mrs. Noel Hull, Mrs. Don Miller and Mrs. Preston Adams.

Corsages were presented to Miss Lewis, Mrs. Sam Lewis, her mother, Mrs. Lloyd Claxton, mother of the prospective groom, and Mindy and Shana Claxton, his sisters.

Refreshments were served from a table covered with white lace and centered by an arrangement of fresh and silk flowers in the bride's chosen colors of peach and brown. Crystal appointments were used.

The hostesses presented the honoree with a queen sized comforter.

The couple will marry Saturday in the College Baptist Church.

Saturday afternoon rice bag party honors Brenda Scott

A rice bag party honoring Brenda Scott, bride-elect of Van Gaskins, was held Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Kelly Gaskins, Knott.

A straw mat covered with baby pictures of the engaged couple marked the front door, and guests were registered on a small square table before drawing for partners.

The guests worked during the afternoon to fashion apricot tulle rice bags. The apricot rice was made by Mrs. A.J. Beckmeyer of Conroe. The rice bags were placed in handmade miniature baskets tied with apricot ribbon.

A rectangular refreshment table, laid with natural burlap, was centered with a wire basket filled with eggs and ceramic fruit. Punch was served in one-half pint Kerr jars from a hand-painted crock. An assortment of homemade breads, jelly and cheese squares was served. Ivory antique stoneware plates and apricot napkins completed the table appointments.

Guests attended from Coahoma, Lamesa and Ackerly.

The couple will marry in the Midway Baptist Church Saturday.

Bani Sadr granted asylum in France

PARIS (AP) — Abolhassan Bani-Sadr, Iran's fugitive ex-president, emerged in France today after 43 days in hiding and was granted political asylum, the French Foreign Ministry announced.

The 47-year-old Iranian revolutionary arrived in an Iranian military plane at the French military air base at Evreux, about 60 miles west of Paris, at 4:30 a.m., sources at the base reported.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said asylum was granted after Bani-Sadr gave a written pledge to "exercise no political activity whatsoever on French soil."

He left the base about four hours after his arrival and was driven to the home of his daughters in a Paris suburb. Several carloads of police escorted him.

The Foreign Ministry said the aircraft "will be returned to the Iranian government." Informed sources said the four crewmen told French officials they had been forced to fly to France and wanted to return to Iran as soon as possible.

Tehran Radio relayed the news of Bani-Sadr's escape to the Iranian republic and said he "has joined the united front of the counter-revolution." Tass, the Soviet news agency, reported from the Iranian capital that a spokesman for the Iranian Foreign Ministry demanded his extradition.

It was a return visit to France for Bani-Sadr, who spent 14 years in exile there during the regime of the late Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi, took to Parisian dress and socialist economics and taught at the University of Paris.

He became a close associate of Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini when the exiled Iranian religious leader was expelled from Iraq and came to France in 1978. He helped Khomeini direct his revolution against the shah by remote control, returned in triumph to Tehran with him in early 1979 and was elected Iran's first president by a landslide on Jan. 26, 1980.

Bani-Sadr disappeared from the presidential compound in Tehran on June 16, and five days later the Majlis, Iran's parliament, adopted a resolution judging him incompetent to hold office. The next day Khomeini removed him from the presidency, and Tehran's prosecutor general ordered his arrest.

BANI SADR IN FRANCE — Deposed Iranian President Abolhassan Bani Sadr holds a newsconference outside his daughter's apartment in Cachan, south of Paris Wednesday after his arrival early this morning at Evreux military airport on an Iranian aircraft. He was granted political asylum by the French External Ministry in France.

Polish workers may strike

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Workers protesting food shortages have called a strike alert in southern Poland and are marching in the nation's second largest city despite the government's promise that meat rations will be cut for only one month.

Workers in Czestochowa called a strike alert in 340 factories Tuesday. Local leaders of Solidarity, the independent labor federation, planned to meet today to discuss further action.

"The conditions of work, and the general conditions here are near the brink of endurance, and our attempts to solve the conflict with the authorities didn't bring any results," said a statement from the union leaders in Czestochowa.

But it sounded a note of caution, adding: "For the time being we want the action to be as moderate as possible. We do not want people to take to the streets and we want to avoid possible clashes."

However, thousands did take to the streets in Lodz, chanting as they marched behind a caravan of 46 buses and trucks to the mayor's office.

Rioting hits Liverpool

LIVERPOOL, England (AP) — Fierce rioting raged here for the third straight night as Britain prepared for the royal wedding in London today with thousands of police and troops guarding the festive capital. In Northern Ireland, army experts defused a 400-pound bomb in a mobile home and said they believed Irish Nationalist had planned to set it off as a "wedding spectacular."

Oilers experimenting in secondary

SAN ANGELO, Texas (AP) — Houston Oiler defensive back Carter Hartwig doesn't know if he's a pawn in a game to get reluctant safety Mike Reinfeldt in camp, or a knight to the rescue or a corner back or a safety. And he's not really concerned.

All Hartwig knows is that he's been moved from his reserve corner back position to the starting free safety job that starter Reinfeldt has declined to fill.

"I can't be worrying about decisions I have no control over," Hartwig said. "I like Mike. He's a friend of mine. I don't want to get caught in the middle of something. I'll work hard, roll with the punches and see what happens."

Head Coach Ed Biles said that former Buffalo Bills safety Doug Green took a physical in Houston Tuesday and was supposed to report to the team's training camp today. He also said the Oilers are negotiating with former Washington All-Pro safety Ken Houston who was waived by the Redskins.

Reinfeldt, the Oilers' defensive quarterback the past four seasons and league interception leader in 1979, played out his option and has missed six days of training camp while negotiations continue between his lawyer and Oiler General Manager Ladd Herzog.

Head Coach Ed Biles has praised Hartwig's work at free safety and Tuesday said he would be actively seeking to trade Reinfeldt for a backup quarterback.

"We're seriously discussing a trade," Biles said. "It's a fact of life that the longer Mike stays out, the more of a problem he'll have getting his job back."

"We're talking about a starter for a reserve," Biles said. "I'm not sure we'd make a one-for-one trade but that would depend on who we're talking about. We might want another player or draft choices in addition to a quarterback."

Meanwhile, Biles praised the progress of Hartwig at Reinfeldt's position.

"A guy who's played cornerback, who's used to one-on-one coverages, can cover better than a safety," Biles said. "Carter can handle the position. He's a fine athlete. All he needs at this point is to learn to make some calls back there."

Hartwig split time last season with Jack Tatum as the fifth defensive back in the Oilers' nickel defense. Hartwig figured he would end up playing safety sooner or later.

Ken Stabler's sudden retirement last week elevated Gifford Nielsen to the starting position and left the backup job vacant. Craig Bradshaw and Harold Bailey, who have no pro experience at quarterback, currently are battling for the No. 2 position.

But former Cincinnati quarterback John Reaves, who did not play last season, looked impressive in his first day of workouts with the Oilers Tuesday.

Biles said the Oilers probably will sign Reaves, who last played for the Minnesota Vikings, to a contract.

"Once he gets into shape and learns how we do things, you have to give him the edge for the No. 2 spot," said Biles.

Packers would trade QB for Oilers Reinfeldt

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Coach Bart Starr said Tuesday that the Green Bay Packers would be interested in talking to the Houston Oilers about acquiring Oiler safety Mike Reinfeldt in a trade.

"I haven't talked to our people about it and it would be presumptuous for me to comment further," Starr said. "We certainly would discuss it. Anyone would be willing to talk about it."

Meanwhile, Oiler Coach Ed Biles said he was considering trading Reinfeldt, who has not signed a 1981 contract, for a backup quarterback if he can find the right deal.

"The Packers have been trying to trade one of their six quarterbacks: veterans Lynn Dickey, David Whitehurst, Mark Miller and Mark Mancuso, and rookies Rich Campbell and Nickie Hall.

"We're seriously discussing a trade," Biles said after discussions between Reinfeldt's attorney and the Oilers broke off Monday. "It's a fact of life that the longer Mike stays out, the more of a problem he'll have getting his job back."

Reinfeldt, who attended the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee and who led the National Football League with 12 interceptions in 1979, played out his option last season. His attorney, Ron Grinker of Cincinnati, has been negotiating with Ladd Herzog, Oiler general manager.

Irishman Fitzgerald wants job back

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Training camp has been a stroll in the sunshine for the Dallas Cowboys' John Fitzgerald, an 11-year veteran who is well again and ready to win his starting center's job back.

"I hate to admit it," said Fitzgerald, looking around the California Lutheran dining hall to make sure no veteran could overhear him, "but I'm actually enjoying camp ... it's a strange feeling."

Fitzgerald lost his job to Robert Shaw last year due to a combination of injuries and the sudden maturing of the former No. 1 draft pick.

Offseason surgery has healed his shoulder and his sprained foot has been responding well to rigorous two-a-day practices.

"The Irishman is making a comeback," said Fitzgerald, one of the most popular members of the Cowboys'. "Heck, I've been interviewed four times today. Not bad for an old washed up second stringer."

Fitzgerald owes his physical resurgence to conditioning Coach Bob Ward.

"It's unbelievable the shape he got me into," said Fitzgerald. "I've been handling those 110-yard sprints after practice just fine. If you can handle those, brother, you are in condition."

Fitzgerald said this is more than likely his final campaign with the Cowboys although he admits "I'd probably come back one more year if Coach (Tom) Landry asked me."

"I'm trying to enjoy camp because I realize this may be my last one and that puts everything into perspective," he said. "Don't get me wrong. It's still drudgery."

Fitzgerald said this current edition of the Cowboys could be among the very best he has seen in little over a decade with the club.

"I know the WANT is there," said Fitzgerald. "Our offseason program was among the best we have had. For example, look at (running back) Tony Dorsett. He looks great. He has been really working hard."

"(Strong safety) Charlie Waters looks good. He's a big key to our defense. I didn't even think Charlie would practice much because of his offseason knee operation and there he is out there taking two-a-days. Now, that's strong."

Fitzgerald said he must play at the top of his game to unseat Shaw.

"That guy looks real good ... he has matured a lot," said Fitzgerald. "He was darn good last year. I'll just have to show him I'm pretty darn good again."

CAMP SHULA — Don't get caught sitting on your helmet. Don Shula's camp has tougher practices, longer team meetings and better overall organization than most of the other summer camps in the NFL. At least that's what six Dolphins, all of whom have been involved in other NFL camps during the past say. A few of the players could not criticize their old team. They simply referred to Shula's way as "different".

Unhealthy US basketball goes for gold vs. USSR

BUCHAREST, Romania (AP) — It was a tired, battered United States squad that prepared for its rematch today with the Soviet Union for the men's basketball gold medal at the World University Games.

"Tomorrow will be our 18th game in 27 days," U.S. Coach Tom Davis of Boston College said Tuesday. "We are near exhaustion in several positions."

The Americans needed a double-overtime to outlast the Soviets 113-107 in round-robin play earlier in the competition. But since then, Derek Smith of Louisville has been sidelined with a knee injury and Sidney Lowe of North Carolina State has been out with a sprained ankle. Both could miss today's contest.

With John Bagley of Boston College scoring 22 points, the U.S. team advanced to the gold-medal game with a 91-79 victory over Romania. The Soviet Union eliminated Yugoslavia 92-84.

On Tuesday, Jill Sterkel of the University of Texas captured her fourth gold medal of the Games, while the United States failed in gold medal bids in water polo and women's basketball.

Sterkel anchored the 400-meter freestyle relay team, which won in 3 minutes 55.05 seconds. Also on the victorious squad, which finished far ahead of the second-place Soviets, were Ann Lett, Carol Borgmann and Barbara Major.

The U.S. water polo team, which needed only to win its final match against Romania to take the gold, was upset 6-4 and had to settle for a silver medal.

Cuba took the gold by swamping the Soviet Union 11-6. Romania earned the bronze medal.

The Soviets defeated the United States 96-75 in the women's basketball final.

Galina Krisevici paced the winners with 27 points, and the Americans were never in the game. Lataunya Pollard of Cal State-Long Beach led the U.S. team with 13 points, while 6-foot-8 center Anne Donovan of Old Dominion, playing with a swollen knee, added 12.

Donovan was injured in a preliminary game and had to sit out Monday's victory over Romania.

In swimming, Kim Linehan and Kris Kirchner, both also from the University of Texas, won their second gold medals of the Games. Linehan won the women's 200-meter butterfly in a Games record 2:15.71. Kirchner was a member of the victorious men's 400-meter freestyle relay team.

Bruce Baumgartner, 20, of Indiana State won the gold medal in the freestyle wrestling unlimited weight class. Mike Land of Iowa State took a silver in the 130-pound category, and Dave Schultz of the University of Oklahoma won the silver in the 160-pound event.

PLUNKETT GETTING BACK IN SHAPE — Oakland Raiders quarterback Jim Plunkett stretches during exercises at training camp Monday afternoon in Santa Rosa, Calif. Plunkett, 33, threw for 261 yards and three touchdowns in the 27-10 victory over the Philadelphia Eagles in Super Bowl XV last January.

From Big Spring, Coahoma Physicals set for athletes

The annual athletic physical day for students from Big Spring and Coahoma schools will be Thursday, August 6, 1981. This will include all boys and girls in grades 7-12 which wish to participate in athletics during the coming school year.

The physical will be given at both Malone-Hogan Clinic and Cowper Clinic. Boys going to Malone-Hogan Clinic and Cowper Clinic, should enter from the South employees' door and girls from the Southeast emergency exit door. All Big Spring students should plan on getting their physical from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. All Coahoma students should plan on getting their physicals from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m. Malone-Hogan clinic will not require that students bring their 'blue' card, and there will be no fee for the physicals.

Boys and girls who wish to have their physicals at Cowper Clinic will start at 12:45 p.m. All students should enter through the Northwest parking lot door. There will be a $6 fee for all physicals given at Cowper Clinic.

All students need to report for a pre-physical screening before going to get their physicals. Students from Big Spring should report to these areas for the screening:

All girls, grades 7-12 should report to the Physical Education Gym, Coaches Office, which is located in the gym just off 10th Street, next to the North parking lot of the high school.

All boys, grades 7-12 should report to the training room which is located next to the East parking lot of the high school at Steer gym. Please use the East door.

Hours for pre-screening shall be Monday, Aug. 3 through Wednesday Aug. 5, from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Pre-screening shall be open Thursday, Aug. 6, from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. The student will need to know which clinic they plan on receiving their physical when they report for the pre-screening.

All students from Coahoma should contact the coaching staff concerning location, date, and times for their pre-screening.

All students must have a 1981-82 physical on file before being allowed to participate in athletics. Thursday, Aug. 6, will be the ONLY day which these clinics will offer group athletic physicals. Anybody not getting physicals at this time will be responsible for arranging their own.

Y soccer has different theme

The Big Spring YMCA is gearing up for its fourth year of youth soccer, according to Executive Director Bob Cappel. Last year, over 100 boys and/or girls participated.

"Participation is the name of the YMCA soccer game," Cappel said. "There are no tryouts in YMCA youth soccer. Each youngster who signs up is assigned to a team and has an opportunity to play in every game. In Y soccer no one who signs up ends up warming the bench for most of the game."

Participation is not the only aspect of the YMCA soccer that sets it apart from many youth sports leagues. Another is its built-in values component. "In youth soccer, we seek to de-emphasize the win-at-all-cost philosophy," Cappel said. "Of course, youngsters will play to win. But in a variety of ways throughout the season, leaders will seek to put winning and losing into perspective. The emphasis will be on achieving personal goals, on the fun of playing as well as on fair-play and good sportsmanship."

YMCA youth soccer programs have exploded across America in the past few years. Just five years ago, only 50 Y's across the country reported youth soccer programs.

The local Y is currently registering prospective performers.

In District Big League Tournament

Strong pitching boosts Abilene by Big Spring All-Stars

ABILENE — Mike Hargesheimer hurled a two-hitter and the Abilene All-Stars ran on for a 5-0 victory over the Big Spring All-Stars in the second round of the District Big League Tournament here Tuesday night.

Hargesheimer allowed a hit in the first and second inning, and then stopped the Big Springers. Collecting the hits for the Big Spring team were Mark Warren and Rusty Hayworth.

Abilene used little time in scoring all of the runs that they would need, as Big Spring hurler Waine Shipman walked three of the first four hitters, with a single by Scott Harris coming in between the free passes. A walk to Lanny Dycus produced the first run, with a sacrifice bunt by David Scarborough plating the whip second run.

Big Spring will now face Arlington tonight at 6 p.m. in the losers bracket. Arlington bounced back from a lopsided defeat at the hands of Big Spring on Monday to whip Wolf City 11-2 last night.

In the other game tonight, Abilene tangles with San Angelo.

Baseball bargaining slowed again

By The Associated Press

The 48th day of the major league baseball strike finds feuding players and owners' negotiators meeting some 3,000 miles apart. Whether the walkout is any closer to a settlement may be known after those separate meetings on each coast today.

While the 26 club owners were scheduled to sit down with their bargaining unit, the Player Relations Committee, in New York, the executive director of the Major League Baseball Players Association, Marvin Miller, was to meet with a group of players in Los Angeles to brief them on the status of the negotiations.

There has been no bargaining since the talks collapsed in Washington, D.C., last Thursday just as an agreement was rumored to be imminent. No further meetings have been scheduled, but Ray Grebey, the owners' chief negotiator, said he was available for joint talks at any time and a source close to the PRC said it was likely that a session would be held Thursday in New York.

The strike has wiped out more than 25 percent of the season with some 579 games canceled through today.

Although Miller's office indicated that he may return to New York after the Los Angeles meeting, that session also may touch off a series of regional briefings to close what he called "a terrible information gap." He said the gap resulted from the news blackout imposed last week by U.S. Labor Secretary Raymond J. Donovan.

Meanwhile, American and National League owners will first meet separately in New York, followed by a joint session.

"The main reason for the joint meeting is that people lost track of things last week during the blackout on information," Grebey said.

However, there were reports that new pressure to reach a settlement may come from three moderate-

Canadian Open only national title Golden Bear has not won

Nicklaus seeks cure for blemish

OAKVILLE, Ontario (AP) — For Jack Nicklaus, the Canadian Open is the big one that got away.

"I haven't won it," Nicklaus said. "It's time I did. It's something I'd like to do very much."

The absence of this title serves as one of the few blemishes, possibly the only one, on his career record. It is the only major national title that has eluded him.

He has won four U.S.

Opens, three British Opens and six Australian Opens, but in this national championship, he has been shut out. He's been second four times, third once, fourth once and fifth twice.

"It's time to change that," Nicklaus said while waiting for a chilly rain to subside so he could get in a practice round Tuesday on the 7,050-yard, par-71 Glen Abbey Golf Club course, site of the 72nd Canadian Open beginning Thursday in suburban Toronto.

"I'm playing reasonably well. My health is good. I'm striking the ball reasonably well. It's just a matter of getting something in the hole at the right time," Nicklaus said.

"I'd very much like to win this tournament."

As an indication of his desire for this title, he is making a rare competitive appearance the week prior to one of the Big Four events. The American PGA championship, in which Nicklaus is the defender, is scheduled next week in Atlanta. Normally, he skips competition the week before one of the Big Four tournaments.

The growing stature of this tournament, however, has drawn a strong field to the course Nicklaus designed as a permanent home for the Canadian Open.

Topping the 156-man lineup are all the men who have dominated the American tour this season: Masters champion Tom Watson, U.S. Open king David Graham of Australia and Ray Floyd and Bruce Lietzke, each a three-time winner this season.

Probably the biggest threat, however, is Lee Trevino, who has won three Canadian national championships, including in 1979.

ROGERS HOMECOMING — When Bill Rogers, recent British Open champion, returned home to Texarkana, Texas-Arkansas nearly 88,300 friends and fans turned out to greet him. Rogers gets a kick out of one of the homecoming signs made for him by good friend, Jim Brower of Texarkana. Rogers had this week's Canadian Open on his tentative schedule, but chose to come home and share his "greatest" victory with this family. He said he was looking forward to doing some fishing.

Galimore perfect in Sports Festival gymnastics

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — Gymnast Ron Galimore seeks perfection. And, Tuesday night, he reached his goal at the National Sports Festival.

Galimore, the son of the late Willie Galimore, a star running back for the Chicago Bears until his death in an automobile accident nearly 15 years ago, swooped down the long runway, flew off the springboard and soared to a 9.9 score in the first of two attempts in the finals of the vault competition.

He added a 9.9 vault, giving him an average of 9.5 and the gold medal in that individual competition.

Galimore, one of the many U.S. athletes chosen for a 1980 national team but deprived of an Olympic appearance by the American boycott of the Moscow Games, was pleased by his showing in this six-day Festival of American sports, noting that most of the other top performers in gymnastics chose to be elsewhere.

Brian Meeker, 22, who won the men's all-around championship Saturday, was leading in the vault competition, even following Galimore's 10.0. But, on his second try, he hit the springboard too far back and crashed full force into the vaulting horse with his chest.

He was taken to Crouse-Ingving Hospital, where he was kept overnight for observation. Dr. Patricia Potter of the U.S. Olympic Committee medical staff said Meeker, the Big Ten all-around champion from Minnesota, apparently did not have serious injuries. He took the silver medal in the still rings before the mishap.

In other highlights Tuesday, Roy Palassou of Santa Clara, Calif., won two gold medals in men's gymnastics, winning the floor exercise and the parallel bars, and Richard Savage of West Monroe, La., gained a close decision in the feature bout in the boxing, taking the gold in the 119-pound class.

Brian Babcock of Enid, Okla., won the gold in the pommel horse, while Mark Caso of Syracuse and UCLA, who broke his neck last year in an accident in practice, won the rings and was third in the vault and parallel bars.

Savage, a 21-year-old bantamweight, beat his friend and arch-rival, Cruz, on a 3-2 decision. Afterward, he said he thought he'd won only the first and third rounds of the three-round match. Cruz, on the other hand, said he thought all three rounds were his, not Savage's.

U.S. Navy X-ray technician Mark Mahone hardly broke a sweat in disposing of Johnny Keys of San Francisco in the heavyweight title bout. Mahone stopped Keys on one punch, with the referee counting the loser out 10 seconds into the second round.

Tyrone Biggs of Philadelphia, who broke his hand while winning a fight Saturday night in which he qualified for the heavyweight finale, was awarded the silver medal. He was forced to withdraw from the tournament because of the injury.

In an upset, Mark Breland of Brooklyn, N.Y., scored a first-round knockout over Darryl Robinson, the American Boxing Federation champion from Houston, in the 147-pound class.

Among the handful of events today — the last day of the U.S. Olympic Committee-sanctioned Festival — will be the gold medal battles in men's and women's basketball and ice hockey.

The West and South teams earned berths in the men's cage final with victories Tuesday night. The West beat the East 93-83 as Stuart Gray, a 7-foot UCLA recruit from Sepulveda, Calif., led the way by scoring 11 of his 15 points in the last nine minutes.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RICHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, JULY 30, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Much confusion exists today. It is wise to confine your efforts to a specific plan. Try to organize your day so you can utilize your time to best advantage and make progress.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Study quietly and come to the right decisions where important matters are concerned. Seek an expert if you need advice.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) If invited to a social affair, make sure you don't become involved in an argument. State your goals to a trusted friend.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Some work connected with your career is annoying but has to be done. Don't jeopardize your credit by not paying a bill.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) A new project needs more study before putting it in operation. Do whatever will improve your career.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Talk over money matters with close tie and avoid misunderstanding that now exists. Don't rely on your intuition at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Know exactly what is expected of you by associates and consult with them before making personal plans. Be alert.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Quickly handle obligations awaiting your attention. Use a more direct approach with others. Don't neglect health treatments.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Show in some tangible way that you appreciate the alliance with associates and add to the goodwill you now enjoy.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Give attention to those problems at home that require immediate handling. Show that you are a loyal family member.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Being alert in motion could prevent an accident. Think before you speak or you could say the wrong thing today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Be mindful not to spend money on foolish things today or you could regret it later. Avoid the social tonight and be safe.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) You have personal aims that require a proper perspective if you are to attain them. Take steps to improve your appearance.

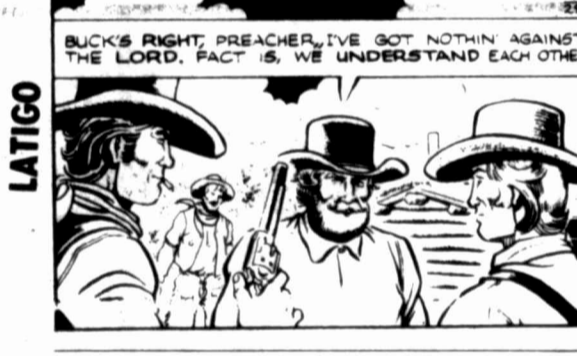

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be full of fantasy and should be given the right training to permit steady advancement in chosen career. Learning comes quickly here. Education should be directed along scientific lines for best results.

Let summer breakfasts brighten your day

Summer days usually start nicely anyway, the weather balmy, the sun shining, the children not pressed to get to school. A good breakfast is the "icing" on a lovely morning.

Nutritious warm weather breakfasts can reflect the less rigorous needs of the body; hot cereals and heavy pancakes are not as necessary, nor are they as tempting as cold cereals with milk and fruit.

Fruit, in fact, can be eaten in several forms for breakfast, all delicious and nutritious ways to start the day. Fruit jams and preserves are wonderful spreads for toast. Quick breads gain sunny color and flavor with cottage or mashed fruit. Cottage cheese surrounded by a necklace of fresh and juicy peach, pear and banana slices seems even more succulent for breakfast than for lunch. And pureed cherries, peaches or melons make refreshing, healthy breakfast drinks.

Granted, there is some work entailed in peeling, slicing, chunking or pureeing the fruit. And in the summer, with children home from school, many mothers find themselves in the position of having to leave for work before children or a vacationing husband arise.

The solution is advance preparation, either the night before or early in the morning. Cut fruits, sprinkled with a little lemon juice to keep their color natural, will stay fresh refrigerated in a sealed plastic bowl. Or you can prepare individual cottage cheese and fruit breakfasts right in colorful Tupperware bowls which have their own tight seal so that everyone can easily pick a chilled, fresh breakfast right from the fridge.

A selection of dry cereals left on the table to prompt reluctant breakfast eaters will keep their crispness better if offered in plastic cereal stainers which keep dampness out so that the cereal stays crunchy. Offer a bowl of mixed blueberries and raspberries and a pitcher of milk with the cereals.

In the last resort, a basket of fresh fruit on the kitchen counter may wean the breakfast-on-the-run eater from less-healthy sweet huns, and add to both his vitamin and fiber intake of the day.

MELON BREAKFAST COOLER
1 cup cantaloupe pieces
1/2 cup milk
1 egg
2 teaspoons honey
1/2 teaspoon ground nutmeg

Combine all ingredients in container of food processor. Cover. Process 45 seconds. Yield: Two 8-ounce servings.

BREAKFAST BLUEBERRY BREAD
1 1/2 cups plus 2 teaspoons, sifted, all-purpose flour, divided
1/4 cup whole wheat flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 cup granola cereal
2 eggs
Two-third cup vegetable oil
1/2 cup honey
1/2 cup plain yogurt
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon peel

1 cup fresh blueberries
Sift together 1 1/2 cups flour, whole wheat flour, baking powder, cinnamon and salt. Stir in granola. In large mixing bowl beat eggs, add oil, honey, yogurt and lemon peel, mix well. Blend in dry ingredients. Coat blueberries in remaining 2 teaspoons flour, fold into batter. Spoon batter into a greased and floured 9x5-inch loaf pan. Bake in a 350 degrees F. oven 55 minutes or until bread tests done. Yield: One 9x5-inch loaf.

STRAWBERRY OMELETTE
1 egg
Pinch of salt
Dash of pepper
1 tablespoon of butter
One-third cup sliced sweetened strawberries
Set a 6-inch pan over a hot burner. Beat the egg with salt and pepper enough to blend it. Drop the batter into pan, when slightly brown, pour in egg, swirl around and take off heat. Spoon the strawberries into the center give the pan a little shake and detach edges with a fork. Flip over the third nearest you, then the top and slip the omelette out on a warm plate.

CRUNCH TOP MUFFINS
Makes 12 muffins.
(Microwave Recipe)
1 1/2 cups corn bran cereal
1 cup all-purpose flour

1/2 cup quick or old fashioned oats, uncooked
1/2 cup sugar
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
One-third cup vegetable oil
1 egg, beaten
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted

Finely crush 1 cup cereal to make 1/2 cup. Coarsely crush remaining 1/2 cup cereal to make one-third cup; set aside. Combine 1/2 cup finely crushed cereal, flour, oats, sugar, baking powder and salt in medium bowl. Combine milk, oil and egg; add to dry ingredients, mixing just until dry ingredients are moistened.

Fill 12 paper muffin cups 1/2 full; place 6 or 7 filled muffin cups in microwave muffin dish. Cook at HIGH 1 1/2 to 2 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean, rotating dish 1/4 turn after 45 seconds of cooking. Immediately remove muffins from dish. Repeat with remaining filled muffin cups. Let muffins stand 5 minutes on cooling rack.

Meanwhile, combine remaining one-third cup coarsely crushed cereal with cinnamon. Brush muffins tops with butter; dip into cereal mixture. Serve warm.

FRESH APPLE COFFEE CAKE

1 1/2 cups whole wheat flour
1 cup Quaker Oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
1/4 cup Quaker Unprocessed Bran or wheat germ
1 tablespoon baking powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1/2 cup honey
1/2 cup vegetable oil
One-third cup milk
2 eggs, beaten
1 1/2 cups finely chopped apple
One-third cup raisins

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Combine dry ingredients in large bowl. Add honey, oil, milk and eggs; mix just until dry ingredients are moistened. Stir in apple and raisins. Pour into greased 9-inch square baking pan. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 to 35 minutes or until wooden pick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool; sprinkle with confectioners sugar, if desired. Cut into squares. Make 9-inch square cake (9 servings).

AUNT JEMIMA CORN MEAL PANCAKES

1 cup Aunt Jemima Original Pancake & Waffle Mix
1/2 cup Quaker or Aunt Jemima Enriched Corn Meal
1 tablespoon sugar
1 cup milk
1 egg
1 tablespoon vegetable oil

Heat griddle to 400 degrees F. Combine pancake mix, corn meal and sugar in medium-sized bowl; stir until well mixed. Add milk, egg and oil; mix just until batter is fairly smooth. For each pancake, pour scant 1/4 cup batter onto hot, lightly greased griddle. Turn pancakes when tops are covered with bubbles and edges look cooked. Turn only once. Serve with butter and Aunt Jemima Syrup, honey or preserves. Makes about twelve 4-inch pancakes.

VARIATION: For Oatmeal Pancakes, substitute 1/2 cup Quaker Oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked) for corn meal. Omit sugar. Proceed as recipe directs.

Common sense cooking
By RUTH McDANIEL

Dear Ruth,
Do you have a recipe for a yeast bread called Monkey

Bread? My family loves it and we can buy it at the bakery, but I cannot find a recipe for making it at home.

Thank you.
Annette, Semmes, Ala.

I'm glad I'm able to supply Annette with the recipe she asked for. Usually we're able to come up with most recipes, but sometimes when a reader requests a recipe from a particular eating place we're not able to supply it. If you have a need for a particular recipe, please write. Don't forget to enclose a large self-addressed STAMPED envelope for a prompt personal reply. Please give as many details as possible about the recipe which helps us find it much easier.

MONKEY BREAD

This is a treat. The dough is very rich and buttery. So tender it almost falls apart.

You pull off the pieces from the loaf and it's extra good eaten warm.

1 cup milk
1 cup butter or margarine, melted and divided

4 Tbsp. sugar
1 tsp. salt
1 package dry yeast
3-2-3 cup flour

Combine milk, 1/2 cup butter, sugar and salt in a pan. Heat until butter is melted. Cool to 110 degrees and then stir in the yeast until dissolved. Place flour in large bowl. Make a well in flour and pour in liquid mixture. Stir till well blended.

Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk, about an hour and one half. Turn dough out on a floured board. Roll to 1/4" thickness. Cut into 3" squares. Dip each square into remaining butter.

Layer squares in a 10" tube or Bundt pan. Let rise until doubled in bulk about 40 minutes. Bake at 375 for 30 to 40 minutes.

Paroled convict wins appeal, loses again

TITUSVILLE, Fla. (AP) — In 1977, Willie Reddick was convicted of robbing a convenience store at gunpoint. Sentenced to 10 years in prison, he had served almost four years when he was paroled.

Determined to clear his name, he finally won his appeal for a new trial — and was promptly convicted a second time and sent back to prison, given another 10-year sentence for the same crime.

Is this double jeopardy — prosecution of a person twice for the same crime? Reddick and his lawyer say so.

Prosecutors, other attorneys and officials of the state Parole and Probation Commission call the case "rare" and "unusual," but not unprecedented, and strictly within the law.

Reddick, now 27, filed an appeal shortly after his 1977 conviction for the robbery of the Titusville shop. The store cashier and a customer had identified him as one of two gunmen who held them up and stole $230 from the till.

The 4th District Court of Appeal in West Palm Beach rejected Reddick's argument that Circuit Judge Volie Williams had erred while instructing the jury. The appeal then went to the Florida Supreme Court.

The years passed. Last December, when Reddick had served 1,390 days — almost four years of his sentence — he was paroled. He went back to "civilization," as he calls it, found work as a carpenter's helper and was doing well.

This February, the state Supreme Court found that the judge in the Reddick trial had, indeed, erred in his jury instructions. It ordered a new trial.

Again, the state attorney's office in Brevard County charged Reddick with armed robbery. Prosecutor Kent LeBlanc rounded up his witnesses and went back to the courtroom.

It meant a disruption in his new life, but Reddick was pleased with the chance to clear his name. He had maintained his innocence all along, and he felt certain a new jury would find him innocent and wipe the slate clean.

But on June 26, a Brevard Circuit Court jury found him guilty. By law, a jury isn't told of a man's previous record. Jurors didn't know he was on parole after serving almost four years for the same crime.

Circuit Judge Virgil Conkling imposed a 10-year sentence, identical to the one he'd received earlier, but credited him with time already served.

So Reddick went back to jail — a victim of his own appeal.

The Parole and Probation Commission is working on the case — again — and Reddick's lawyer, Leon Daniel Watts, expects him to be a free man again within three or four weeks.

Reddick finds that small consolation. "I'm trying to lead an honest, comfortable, decent life and people won't let me," he said from his jail cell. "I feel I've been treated like I'm a wild animal."

Watts said that what happened to Reddick was due to "a quirk in the law. His reincarceration is virtually double jeopardy. But the law in Florida allows that to happen."

Because the Supreme Court's ruling had the effect of wiping out what went on before, there were three possible courses of action in Reddick's case, lawyers say: a new trial, dismissal of all charges or a guilty plea from Reddick.

If the defendant had pleaded guilty, putting the crime back on his record, the judge probably would have sentenced him to time already served and continued his parole, most lawyers agree.

But, Watts said, "Mr. Reddick has always maintained his innocence. An innocent man is not going to plead guilty."

Assistant State Attorney LeBlanc decided to re-try Reddick instead of dropping the charge because "armed robbery is a pretty serious charge."

"We consider a number of things — past record, seriousness of the offense... If we had dropped the charge, Mr. Reddick would have had no record for a very serious crime," LeBlanc said.

Reddick's hope now lies with the Parole and Probation Commission, which has agreed to interview him to decide whether he should be granted immediate parole.

"We've got to go back and talk to him, be sure that his record was clear during his previous parole," said a commission spokesman. "Case material has to be compiled just as if it were a new parole."

"I've been here for 12 years, and I've never seen a case like this."

Call the Cat Retirement Center

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Is tabby getting on in years and a bit too fussy? Moving out of town and can't take the mouser along?

Don't despair, just call the Cat Retirement Center.

The center, a non-profit group affiliated with the National Cat Protection Society, promises to care for the retiring feline for life and guarantees that the cat won't be put to sleep.

The cost is $100 and an additional $35 if the cat does not have up-to-date blood tests for leukemia and other diseases.

"This past year, we probably got in 50 retirement cats," said Debby Gravelly, a kennel worker and technician. "We encourage the owners to come down and see the cats, give them treats, pet them, love them."

But sometimes the cats pine away, not able to adjust to the new setting. Cats can die of a broken heart, Ms. Gravelly contended, usually within a month after being brought into the center.

"It's too often that people bring their cats down and forget about them," she said. "If the owners would just come down and spend 20 to 30 minutes a day, two or three times a week, it sometimes helps the cats adjust."

"But, if the cat is quite old or obese, then they don't have much of a chance," she said. "The stress of being brought in here tends to shorten the life span of cats that are old or overweight."

Ms. Gravelly said there are many reasons why owners call the center. The most common is moving and not being able to take the animal along.

Most of the cats at the center can be adopted, she said. But owners can arrange for their cats not to be adopted for a monthly fee, Ms. Gravelly said. She did not say how much the fee was.

"We feel personally the cats should be put up for adoption," Ms. Gravelly said. "The only thing they lack here is the amount of attention that they are getting."

Sexy mice show marijuana not the best

WASHINGTON (AP) — Occasional use of marijuana can enhance sexual desire, but chronic smokers may find their sexual functions impaired, a new study says.

Researchers at the University of Texas said Monday that new animal studies appear to resolve the contradiction between what marijuana users said they felt and what scientists measured.

"I'm as guilty as other animal scientists in the last few years in neglecting what people were saying about their experiences," said Dr. Susan Dalterio. "We weren't seeing in animals the reactions people were talking about because we waited too long after administration to measure them."

The active ingredient in marijuana, tetrahydrocannabinol, or THC, has different effects on male sexual hormones in a short period of time, the scientists say.

Initially, THC causes rapid increases in the levels of testosterone and other sex hormones in mice, considered a good animal model for human in tests with marijuana. But after a short time, these levels plummet far below normal, Dr. Dalterio said. Male mice receiving low THC doses maintained high levels of testosterone, a hormone produced primarily in the testes, for more than an hour, the researcher said in a telephone interview.

However, mice getting high doses showed dramatic drops in testosterone to below normal levels in 20 minutes, she added.

Dr. Dalterio previously reported that copulatory behavior in male mice dropped sharply after they got THC.

But she found recently that the mice perform well "if the female is introduced immediately rather than one to four hours after drug administration."

"A little bit (of THC), without waiting too long, can enhance sexual performance," said Dr. Dalterio, an assistant professor of pharmacology, obstetrics and gynecology at the university's Health Science Center in San Antonio.

BSSH unit physician appointed

Big Spring State Hospital Acting Superintendent Wallace C. Hunter, M.D., has announced the recent appointment of Dr. Joseph Conrace as unit psychiatrist for the Adolescent Unit.

A native of Richmond, Va., Dr. Conrace earned his bachelor of arts in Biology from the University of Virginia in 1956 and his doctor of osteopathy in 1958 from Kansas City College of Osteopathic Medicine in Kansas, Missouri. Upon graduation in 1958, Dr. Conrace did his internship at Mesa General Hospital, Mesa, Ariz. and his residency in psychiatry at the University of Missouri School of Medicine in Kansas City, Mo.

Dr. Conrace has had considerable experience in child psychiatry, as well as private psychiatric practice. His work experience includes chief resident of Adult and Child Psychiatry Training, Kansas City, Missouri 1970-74, chief of Inpatient Psychiatric Services, U.S. Army Hospital, Heidelberg 1974-76; chief of the Child Adolescent Guidance Center, U.S. Hospital, Heidelberg 1974-77 as well as director of Psychiatric Services at the Mannheim Mental Health Center; division surgeon for 2nd Armored Division U.S. Army, Ft. Hood, Tex. 1977-78. More recently, he had been in private practice and has served as consultant in Abilene to the Woods Psychiatric Institute, Abilene Regional MHMR Center and the Abilene Independent School System.

He is a diplomat of the National Board of Examiners in Medicine and Surgery.

Dr. Conrace and his wife, Susan, a registered nurse and their two children Christina 5 and Michael 3 currently reside in Abilene. The family plans to move to Big Spring in the near future.

Discovery pumping in county

A gas discovery has been indicated in Howard County.

An unidentified discovery was indicated with the pumping of 59 barrels of oil, along with six barrels of water, in an unreported time, at P E D Oil Corp., Midland, No. 1 Choate, in 17-31-18-T&P, 1/2-mile southwest of a depleted Cisco discovery, 1 1/2 miles southwest of 7,421-foot Wolfcamp production in the Hutto, South multiphase field, 1 1/2 miles east of the Red Draw (Fusselman and Mississippian) field and six miles southeast of Big Spring.

Recovery was through perforations at 9,131-35 feet. Testing continued. It was drilled to 9,477 feet on a 9,700-foot contract.

The Mississippian opener of the Red Draw field, North American Royalties Inc. No. 1 Flanagan, was finished Sept. 2, 1980 to pump 47 barrels of 42 gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio of 3,404-1, through perforations at 9,168-318 feet. It has three Fusselman wells producing at an average depth of 9,564 feet.

San Antonio rates rise

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A price increase by the city's natural gas supplier, Valero Energy Corp., will up household natural gas and electric bills an average of 20 cents beginning in August, City Public Service officials say.

The bonds are being sold as part of the utility's 1981-82 budget schedule, officials said.

The darker side of the Golden Gate Bridge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — By anyone's reckoning, the Golden Gate Bridge is one of the wonders of the modern world — a monument to function and beauty, a landmark recognized as among man's greatest engineering achievements. But the graceful span that guards the entrance to San Francisco Bay holds another, darker, claim to fame. It is without doubt the nation's favorite spot for suicide.

Since its opening in 1937, the Golden Gate has served as the final stop for at least 708 souls. The rate is better than one suicide per month. The California Highway Patrol, which keeps the morbid statistics, lists another 285 "possibles" — cases where notes or abandoned vehicles were found but where no one was seen and no body was recovered.

An additional 720 people have been stopped before they could jump the low railing and fall 220 feet to the cold, choppy bay.

The search is almost always the same. A 41-foot Coast Guard utility boat churns out, sometimes beneath blue skies, sometimes in the gray-white fog that blankets the gate. "We search as long as we can, but there are very heavy tide rips and turbulence," Coast Guardsman Dave Cipra said. "Many times we can't find the person even if we saw them jump."

At the Marin County Suicide Prevention Center north of San Francisco, counselors deal with people threatening to jump. "It's become a symbol," center coordinator David Nolan said. "People look at the bridge in a very romantic way, and they see suicide as a romantic. They describe it to us in almost positive terms."

Indeed, survivors — there have been barely a dozen — report euphoric sensations as they hurtle through the air.

"I felt like eternity, like flying through the air like an angel," said Thomas Baker, who lived after a 1969 jump. "I felt absolutely at peace with myself for the first time in my life," said another survivor. "I had the feeling that I would vanish from the face of the earth and be with God."

Another man who lived said, "The hardest thing was stepping over the rail. Once I pushed off, it was different. I really remember the air. I was flying. You see people fall in the movies, and you hear that godawful scream. There was none of that fear."

For most, however, death is quick. It takes about three seconds to fall to the water. Speed at impact is 75 miles per hour.

Those who survive are just lucky. Last summer German stuntman Wolfgang Hans Gunther Kopke tried to set a world high diving record by jumping off the bridge into the bay. Most people jump out of desperation. Lost love, illness and financial troubles are the common reasons. But there are exceptions. Last summer a Coast Guard seaman left a note saying he preferred death to serving Ronald Reagan.

In its efforts to prevent bridge suicides, the Highway Patrol looks for people who stand at the railing too long and don't appear to be there for the spectacular view. "Even if we feel there is a remote possibility of a suicide we have authority to take a person into protective custody," said officer Richard Myers, who has talked many people out of jumping.

Sometimes, he said, he'll go up to a person, "and introduce myself and maybe inquire how things are going. I've had people turn around and look at me and just burst into tears."

He isn't always successful. "Not too long ago there was this fellow over the rail standing on the girder. He was emotionally distraught over illness, lack of employment, and he thought it would be best for him not to be a liability for his family. He was 54."

"I was able to get his wife and daughter and brother to the bridge. But in front of everybody, he just jumped."

Can bridge suicides be stopped? In 1971, a committee proposed a barrier be erected along the rails. It was stymied for esthetic and financial reasons.

"We tried to build one that would do the job and still be aesthetically pleasing, but we couldn't do it," said Golden Gate Bridge District engineer Harry Rellich.

Meanwhile, about every four weeks, another obituary is published. The circumstances are almost always the same. A witness, a body. Only the names change.

Former MIA is buried with honors

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Capt. Richard Van Dyke was buried at the Provo Cemetery with full military honors — 13 years after his plane was shot down over North Vietnam.

Kay Van Dyke of Salt Lake City wept quietly during Tuesday's ceremony as a 21-gun salute was fired for her dead son and Air Force jets flew overhead in a "missing man" formation.

"I thought it was beautiful. It was a great relief, but I felt it was too good to be true," said Mrs. Van Dyke, who wore an Air Force pin she purchased when her son enlisted.

Van Dyke was shot down Sept. 11, 1968 while on a mission in his Air Force F-4 over North Vietnam. He was one of three servicemen whose bodies were turned over to U.S. authorities July 7 in Hanoi.

The others were Navy Cmdr. Ronald Dodge of Olympia, Wash., and Navy Lt. Stephen Musselman of Texarkana, Texas.

Watt appeals oil lease blocking

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Secretary of the Interior James Watt vowed to take his case to the U.S. Supreme Court after a federal judge blocked sale of 29 oil-drilling leases off the California coast.

"It is clear now that the question will be decided by the Supreme Court, and the U.S. government will appeal," Watt said in Washington after the decision here Monday by U.S. District Judge Mariana Pfaelzer.

The decision appeared to be a major setback for the administration's program to accelerate exploration for oil in almost one billion acres of coastal waters. The victors were coastal states concerned about the environmental impact of the projected five-year program.

The judge upheld a claim by the state of California that it had veto power over offshore projects that directly affect its shoreline. She issued an injunction preventing sale of leases for more than 150,000 acres of California coastal waters, on which $220.6 million in bids already have been received.

In a 35-minute oral ruling, the judge criticized Watt, saying he "clearly violated the spirit" of the Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act because he gave only "minimal" considerations to objections raised by Governor Edmund G. Brown Jr. and the state of California.

But the judge said Watt's action did satisfy the act's legal requirements, while the plaintiffs had contended it did not. The judge also rejected the state's claim that Brown had violated two other envi-

Guardian Angels in Houston

HOUSTON (AP) - The Guardian Angels began recruiting for a Houston chapter today with the founder anticipating from 150 to 300 applicants.

Founder Curtis Sliwa of New York began the eight-day campaign on the steps of City Hall without the support of Mayor Jim McConn or Police Chief B.K. Johnson.

Sliwa said he had been unable to arrange meetings with the city officials but spokesmen for both McConn and Johnson said they had requested no written or verbal requests for such meetings.

McConn reiterated his opposition to a group "who answers to no one" and expressed doubt that a meeting would be fruitful.

Larry Trout, police information director, said Johnson's concern about the Guardian Angels "is their apparent intent to make citizen arrests."

FAMILY LIFE - Actress Lynn Redgrave and her husband, John Clark, sit with their three-week-old daughter Annabel Lucy following news conference in Los Angeles Tuesday. Miss Redgrave, one of the stars of the CBS television series "House Calls," stated her case in a contract dispute with CBS and Universal Studios. The dispute arose because Miss Redgrave wished to breast feed her daughter in her dressing room between shooting sessions for the series.

Purse snatcher dies in gunfight

DALLAS (AP) - A food purser snatched while walking near the Dallas Convention Center.

Two men who worked with the secretary, Susan Kleinhenz, saw the woman sprawled on the sidewalk after the purse-snatching and ran to her. They chased the man she pointed out, who had been joined by a second man, police said.

Police said Robert Alexander Collins, 29, of DeSoto, shot Ricky Leeburn Carney about 12:10 p.m. after a secretary had her person at the scene that Ms. Kleinhenz had been robbed and gave chase in his truck.

He told police he pulled out his .357 Magnum revolver and fired a warning shot into the air. The two men split up and the one with the purse dropped it, police said.

"All I did was act in self-defense," Collins said. "He shot at me with my back turned."

Founder of petrochemical complex will retire Aug. 1

ODESSA — Jesse L. Owens, senior vice president of marketing for El Paso Products Company in Odessa and instrumental in the founding of the Company and the location of the petrochemical complex south of Odessa, will retire Aug. 1.

Monte Miller, vice president of marketing, will assume all petrochemical marketing activities formerly handled by Owens, who will continue to serve the Company in a consulting capacity.

"Owens' contributions to the Company are difficult to measure," said J.V. Waggoner, president. "Without Jesse's and Bill Noel's planning and diligence and without the foresight of El Paso Natural Gas Company's founder, Paul Kayser, there would be no Products Company."

JESSE L. OWENS

Owens, whose prior experience had included Chamber of Commerce work in bringing industry to communities and whose background included a degree in chemical engineering from Texas A & M University, was brought to Odessa as manager of the Chamber of Commerce in 1952 by Noel, E.G. Rodman and others with ties to the oil and gas industry, specifically to help create a chemical industry in Odessa.

It was recognized in the late 1940's and early 1950's that El Paso Natural and others in the Permian Basin were producing millions of gallons of liquid petroleum gases (LPGs) in a severely depressed market. Noel, Owens, Rodman and others recognized the overabundance of the potential feedstocks represented by the excess LPBs and decided to sell their availability as well as other Odessa attractions to petrochemical company executives.

After two years of intensive effort and travel in excess of 100,000 miles, Owens and Noel felt they had done enough spade work to approach Paul Kayser in 1954 to enlist El Paso's participation in the venture.

They walked in Kayser's office in El Paso, Tex., and said, "We want you to join us in building a butadiene plant in Odessa."

According to Noel, Kayser said, "Bill, I don't even know what butadiene is!" Noel and Owens proceeded to explain.

Kayser then said, "Bill, if you can get us a long-term take-or-pay contract from a major rubber company, El Paso would be interested in joining you and your associates in making this investment."

An agreement was later consummated with General Tire and Rubber which led to construction of a synthetic rubber plant, a butadiene plant and a styrene plant. Initial construction on the plants began in 1956.

After successful conclusion of the agreement, Owens joined El Paso Products as manager of chemical activities with offices in El Paso. The offices were moved six years later to Odessa. Owens has continued to play a major role for Products in his years with the Company.

The native Texan and World War II veteran (five years in the South Pacific Theatre, achieving the rank of major) said his 30-year association with the Company "has been good to me."

"Everything good that could have happened to me has happened right here in Odessa. Opportunities that existed nowhere else in the world opened up for me here. I've enjoyed serving this community. I've enjoyed the contribution I know I've helped make in bringing the chemical industry to West Texas," Owens said.

He and his wife, "Bunny," will continue to make their home in Odessa.

Actor weds Austrian at brewery ceremony

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Jim Goode and Herta Buhrow got married at a brewery, then honeymooned by touring Luckenbach — population 3 — and attending nightly performances of "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas."

Goode, 58, of Houston, plays a newspaperman in the touring play "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas," and decided to have his western-style marriage ceremony at the Lone Star Brewery because he and his bride have decided it was the best little brewery in Texas.

Goode and the former Mrs. Herta Buhrow, 44, of Vienna, Austria, were married Monday night at the German Beer Garden of the brewery.

Goode said he introduced his bride to the beer and she liked it so well he took her to the brewery three times in one week.

The couple both wore western suits and cowboy boots for the ceremony, performed by Bexar County Court-at-Law Judge Carolyn Spears. The cake was shaped like a long neck beer bottle and decorated with the beer's insignia.

Goode uses a Lone Star bottle as a prop in the play, which is continuing a three-week run at the Majestic Theater.

The couple said they met 18 months ago in a currency exchange line in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico.

Goode said he was with another woman and Mrs. Buhrow was with her son, 24-year-old Hans, who gave her away at the wedding. Mrs. Buhrow said she told Goode to write her, and the actor did.

Firemen to promote 16-team tournament

The firemen will challenge the world, or so it will seem as the "Extinguishers" promote a 16-team tournament this weekend at Johnny Stone Memorial Park, Friday, 6 p.m.

The "Extinguishers" are coming off big wins over KMD-TV Channel 2 and O.I.L. in the Fireman's Association Charity games played earlier this month. In those games, and with the auction of merchandise donated by the local merchants, more than $3,000 was raised for the Firemen's Association Disaster Fund.

The Disaster Fund is being set up to help area residents get through the trauma of having their home and possessions destroyed by fire.

The Fireman's Association will add a portion of the proceeds from the 16-team tournament to the Disaster Fund. Everyone is welcome and encouraged to come out and cheer the good guys and boo the bad. You pick who you think is who. Ya'll come.

Farm

Are you trying to sell some dry beer gall?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to sell some dried bear gall? A buyer in Japan is interested for earthworms, try Italy.

The latest weekly report by the Export Trade Services Division of the Foreign Agriculture Service, an agency of the Agriculture Department, lists dozens of items prospective foreign buyers are asking about. It part of a referral service in the department's program to boost exports.

For example, the current report also lists an inquiry from a party in the Netherlands who wants some "peeled squash seeds" in 50-pound bags, one from Spain about "a large variety of vegetable seeds" and a query from Egypt about getting 10,000 metric tons of horsebeans.

Also, an importer in South Africa wants 15 to 30 metric tons a month of butter that "must be rancid" and for delivery as soon as possible.

One in Italy "wants live earthworm adults for reproduction" in a large-scale worm farm enterprise.

The brief item about bear gall said only that a Japanese importer wants 100 kilograms (about 220 pounds) a year. The gall, it said, "must be completely dried" and packed in cans for air shipment.

Most of the trade inquiries are much less exotic than bear gall and earthworms, however. And, in some cases, the listings indicate consumers in some countries are developing demands for U.S.-style livestock and poultry or ways to produce them.

The current report, for example, includes inquiries from:

- New Zealand, regarding meat and bone meal, dehydrated alfalfa, corn gluten, cottonseed meal, feather meal and other high-protein meal for making livestock feed.
- Syria, for shipments of yellow corn and soybean meal.

- Canary Islands, for broiler parts, canned fruits and vegetables.
- The Netherlands, Mexican-type foods, including flour and corn tortillas, burritos, Mexican sauces and others.
- Japan, canned corn.
- Spain, canned fruits and vegetables, pickles, sauces and salad dressing, frozen fruits and vegetables.
- Saudi Arabia, sugar, non-alcoholic beer, cigarettes, soft drinks in cans.
- Egypt, dietetic canned foods in general, chocolate and candies.

—Greece, natural and processed cheese, cakes, cookies and related products.

Questions about the weekly listings can be directed to: Export Trade Services Division, Foreign Agricultural Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250. Or phone 202 447-7103.

Cattle inventory is up from 123 million in '80

WASHINGTON (AP) — A midyear report shows the nation's inventory of cattle and calves at 125 million head, up 2 percent from 123.1 million a year ago.

The Agriculture Department report, released Monday, also showed the nation's cattle herd up 6 percent from 118.4 million head on July 1, 1979.

The inventory of all cows and heifers that have calved was estimated at 51.1 million head, up 2 percent from a year ago and 7 percent more than two years ago, the report said.

Beef cattle producers had 6.24 million replacement heifers as of July 1, an increase of 7 percent from July 1 last year and 8 percent more than two years ago.

Dair producers reportedly had 4.64 million replacement heifers on hand, up 6 percent and 13 percent, respectively.

By major cattle-producing state, the July 1 inventory of all cattle and the percentage change from year-earlier totals included:

Alabama, 2 million head on July 1, up 7 percent from a year earlier; Arizona, 1 million, down 9 percent; Arkansas, 2.32 million, down 1 percent; California, 5.1 million, up 7 percent; Colorado, 3.4 million, up 1 percent; Florida, 2.78 million, up 9 percent; Georgia, 2.05 million, up 6 percent.

Idaho, 2.3 million, up 10 percent; Illinois, 2.75 million, up 4 percent; Indiana, 1.7 million, down 11 percent; Iowa, 7.45 million, up 2 percent; Kansas, 6.35 million, down 4 percent; Kentucky, 3 million, up 5 percent; Louisiana, 1.45 million, up 1 percent.

Michigan, 1.45 million, up 1 percent; Minnesota, 4.04 million, up 6 percent; Mississippi, 2.08 million, unchanged; Missouri, 5.85 million, unchanged; Montana, 3.96 million, up 9 percent.

Nebraska, 7.55 million, up 6 percent; New Mexico, 1.835 million, down 5 percent; New York, 1.9 million, up 4 percent; North Dakota, 2.42 million, unchanged; Ohio, 1.9 million, up 3 percent; Oklahoma, 5.7 million, down 7 percent; Oregon, 2.25 million, up 13 percent.

Pennsylvania 2.1 million, up 9 percent; South Dakota, .65 million, down 2 percent; Tennessee, 2.75 million, up 6 percent; Texas, 14.8 million, down 1 percent; Virginia, 2 million, down 9 percent; Washington, 1.55 million, unchanged; Wisconsin, 4.65 million, up 3 percent; and Wyoming, 1.89 million, up 2 percent.

Other states, not listed individually, were estimated at 5.94 million head, up 2 percent.

Soviet Union buying more corn

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has bought an additional 400,000 metric tons of U.S. corn for delivery after Sept. 30.

Agriculture Secretary John R. Block said Monday the latest sales raised to 850,000 metric tons the amount of corn Russia now has bought in the past few days. Last Friday, 450,000 tons were announced, the first sales since the partial embargo was lifted on April 24.

The sales were reported to the Agriculture Department and made public according to law which requires disclosures of large grain sales to foreign buyers.

A metric ton is about 2,205 pounds and is equal to 39.4 bushels of corn or 36.7 bushels of wheat.

U.S. exports of grain, including corn, to all foreign countries in 1981-82 is projected at 121.6 million metric tons.

'Farmer's Newline' is promoted

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department is promoting a new telephone service for farmers, who for 50 cents per call can get a 60-second summary of current information on a variety of topics.

The "Farmers Newline" gives a caller recorded news items and special features that relate to current agricultural subjects. For example, on Aug. 3 the schedule calls for a "feed grain update" followed on Aug. 4 by a "crops and weather" report. Similar subjects continue through the month.

The information is provided by the department's Crop Reporting Board and the World Agricultural Outlook Board. It is available seven days a week, 24 hours a day, according to the department's Economic Reporting Service.

Officials said the number to dial is 900-976-0404. In some areas, they said, it may be necessary to dial 1-900-976-0404.
