Reagan fires air strikers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration said today it is firing illegally striking air traffic controllers who defied President Reagan's work-or-be-fired order.

The early indications were that many of the 13,000 strikers stayed off their jobs a third straight day despite the ultimatum.

The administration said its resolve was unbending, but it did make one change to accommodate day-shift controllers confused as to when they had to report to avoid dismissal.

Controllers whose shifts started before the 11 a.m. EDT deadline were told they had until their normal starting time Thursday.

Thus it will be impossible until sometime Thursday to determine how many of the strikers ignored the president's ultimatum.

But Reagan's order had little effect as the 7 a.m. shift reported for work at eastern airports.

Of 214 controllers due to work at five sites in and around New York City, only three reported. At Washington's National Airport, only 4 of 15 reported; just one of 20 was on hand at Logan International Airport in Boston; and only eight of 19 reported at Baltimore-Washington International in Maryland. Supervisory personnel helped take up the slack at each facility.

In Chicago, James Pauli, a spokesman for the controllers' union, said no controllers reported at 7 a.m. at O'Hare International Airport and the strikers "consider themselves fired."

"We will appeal to the fullest," Pauli said. "I expect the controllers will start looking for other employment by the weekend."

Earlier, Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis had said he was confident the national air traffic control system can run "relatively well" for a year or two even if several thousand controllers are fired and not immediately replaced.

But, he added, there is "no question we are in trouble and the public is going to be inconvenienced. This is no cakewalk."

Fired controllers will be given routine civil service protections, said Patrick Korten, of the federal Office of Personnel Management.

They will be told in writing of their dismissal and have seven days to respond, after which the Federal Aviation Administration, their employer, will make a final determination, he said.

After that, employees have 20 days to appeal to the federal Merit Systems Protection Board, which is the final arbiter unless a fired worker or the union takes the matter to court.

FAA Administrator J. Lynn Helms conceded at mid-morning that nearly all the 13,000 striking controllers were still off the job despite Reagan's ultimatum. He said about 70 percent of the controllers remained on strike early today — not much change from Tuesday.

Reagan said today he hoped the controllers would bow to his order.

Helms said the ability of controllers who have worked through the strike to handle traffic "continues to expand" and he said nearly three-fourths of regularly scheduled flights were operating today.

He said that, except for 21 of the country's largest airports, traffic is normal, but that airlines continued to have empty seats.

Former controller sides with strikers

STEVE REAGAN

One Big Spring resident feels a special affinity for the air traffic controllers who are on strike. His name is Steve Reagan.

Steve Reagan, who was an air traffic controller at Randolph Air Force Base for two years, says the stresses of the controllers job are immense.

"I'm biased, but I've been there," he said. "There is high stress day in and day out. You have no inkling what those guys go through ... making life and death decisions, sifting plans out, bringing them down, handling emergencies."

"I feel sorry for those guys because I know they're going to get stomped. Reagan is going to break them."

"The federal government ought to find some way to let their employees air their grievances. These guys are willing to go to jail, lose their jobs ... there ought to be some way to get their grievances corrected."

"Statistics show that in the categories of alcoholism, divorce and suicide, controllers are at or near the top of all three," Reagan said. "I don't want to paint a picture that these guys are looneys waiting to crack — they're not. They're pros. I just feel they ought to be able to redress their grievances."

Now a district sales manager for the Herald, Reagan said he "burned out" after two-and-a-half years of controlling.

"In the Air Force we went through six months of technical school and one year of facility training before he was rated."

"One of my responsibilities was to train other controllers," he said. He said beginners can sometimes go blank or freeze. But every trainee is backed up by a controller. And controllers are backed up by crew chiefs, he said. For every three controllers at Randolph, there was one crew chief keeping an eye on their operations, he said.

Reagan said the controllers are underpaid and deserve a 32-hour work week because of the stress they are under. "Their career's not going to be long," he said.

"They just want to get paid what they're worth, which is a lot more than they're getting now," he said. "Most controllers are making below the minimum salary of a professional ball player."

As for other benefits, "They just want to know that if their blood pressure goes up, if they have a heart attack, they'll be taken care of."

Reagan predicts things will be slow for a while. "It'll take time, a long time" to retrain civil personnel if the President carries out his threats to fire the controllers. "I'm not saying I believe in unionizing the federal government ... I'm just saying there has to be a grievance process."

As for the illegality of the situation, Reagan said, "Yeah, and 200 and some odd years ago we were all loyal British subjects."

Supermarket will replace historic home

COLORADO CITY (SC) — After touring the historic W.B. Crockett home in Colorado City Tuesday, the Mitchell County Historical Commission voted to relinquish any claim to the building, thus clearing the way for a new supermarket to be built on the site.

The building was recently purchased by Raymond Fuller, owner of Fuller Foods.

The home had received a historical marker several years ago as one of the early-day Colorado City school buildings.

It had been a private residence in recent years.

Fuller said today that he plans to build a supermarket on the block, which he says took two years to acquire. The block contained several small homes at one time. Some have already been torn down.

In its action Tuesday, the historical commission relinquished any claim to the Crockett building, thereby giving Fuller permission to use or raze the building.

The commission also voted to ask permission from the Crockett family to display the historical marker from the site at the Colorado City Museum.

Halfway point on 600-mile trek

Dallas-bound runner due in Big Spring on Friday

By CAROL HART

At four in the morning Friday, Richard Hackney, who is running 600 miles to raise money for the Epilepsy Association of Texas, is scheduled to breeze through Big Spring, meet with Mark Sheedy of the Chamber of Commerce, members of the media and local supporters, then head toward his final destination, Dallas.

Hackney left El Paso Monday on the first leg of a marathon run which will see him in Dallas Sunday, if things go according to his plan, said Sheedy.

Hackney is attempting to set a record for the run, and hopes to see his name in the Guinness Book of World Records.

Sheedy is monitoring the race, and said Hackney left El Paso at 6:15 p.m. Monday. Hackney is running most of the marathon at night to avoid the sweltering summer temperatures across the state.

At 4 a.m. Friday, Sheedy said he and members of the media plan to meet with Hackney at IS 20 and U.S. Highway 87, by the Mid-Continental Inn.

"Anyone who would like to run with him (Hackney) may do so," stressed Sheedy. The public is invited to be on hand as Hackney makes his way through Howard County.

Donations in conjunction with the run may also be sent to the Epilepsy Association of Texas, Post Office Box 2424, El Paso, Tx. 79952.

Hackney's brother is following him down the highway in a van, which provides the runner with food, drinks and a resting place.

Information released on Hackney shows he became interested in epilepsy when a friend of his at Cartwright Van Lines in Memphis, Tenn., had a seizure. Hackney is an employee at Cartwright.

The company is underwriting part of his expenses. Other major supporters are Nike Shoe Co., and the Athletic Attic of El Paso.

Truck drivers at Cartwright Van Lines have also pledged a certain number of dollars to the Epilepsy Association of Texas for each mile Hackney runs.

Several towns which Hackney will hit during the run include Sierra Blanca, Van Horn, Pecos, Monahans, Odessa, Midland, Big Spring, Sweetwater, Abilene, Cisco, and Fort Worth.

Information from the Epilepsy Association of Texas shows that the disorder is one of the most common in the world. Estimated cases of epilepsy in the U.S. range from four to six million.

Let criminals beware

Crime Stoppers are hoping to corral thugs

By BILL ELDER

Would-be criminals, take note: life could get tougher for you next month.

If all goes well, Howard County's corporate ranks will be joined then by a business with the sole purpose of stepping up the war on crime.

It will accomplish this, the organization hopes, by appealing to an age-old instinct: greed.

Big Spring Crime Stoppers, Inc. — remember the name, it'll make their job easier — will offer rewards for information leading to the arrest or indictment of anyone in connection with crimes that take place in Howard County.

BSCS also will drill the community in a wealth of tips and crime-prevention techniques that could spell the difference between being a victim and a potential victim.

ARC members used crime programs from Abilene, Albuquerque and Rockford, Ill., as their models in setting up the local Crime Stoppers.

ARC members determined yesterday that Big Spring Crime Stoppers Inc. will have a 13-member board of directors who serve without pay. Three chamber executives, a representative of the insurance industry and nine other members — three picked by the chamber, three by the Big Spring City Council and three by the county commission — would comprise the board.

Chamber executives would serve on the board as long as they hold their chamber titles, while the rest would serve three-year terms. BSCS would have no other members, although the directors may have the option of hiring additional people.

ARC chairman and Herald Publisher Tom Watson said the next step is to get the standing rules formulated, specifying what types of crimes would be covered under the Crime Stoppers program. Incorporation papers need to be approved by the state and the IRS must approve the non-profit, tax-exempt status of BSCS, as well.

And finally, BSCS will need donations to build up a reward fund, which will be kept in an interest-bearing bank account.

To the likely chagrin of foes of the law, more is likely to be heard from Big Spring Crime Stoppers as its members educate the public on criminal schemes and reward those who deliver the information crucial to busting up such schemes.

Swim pool closed today

Big Springers who rely on the Comanche Trail Park municipal pool for heat relief will have to find other ways to cool off today.

Blame it on the algae, because that was about the only thing swimming in the pool this morning.

Pool manager Lee Rau said the pool would be closed today while maintenance crews drain and re-fill it.

"The filter went out and the chlorinator system went down," explained Rau, adding that the pool was getting "real murky."

Rau said he hopes the pool can open by 1 p.m. tomorrow.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: In high cotton

Q. Under whose administration was the price of cotton the highest ever in history?

A. The year was 1864. There was a civil war going on and the president was Abraham Lincoln. There were no synthetic fibers to compete with King Cotton and the 299,000 bales that were produced that year had practically a world market. The high price on New York futures exchange was $1.90 per lb. and the lowest price was 72 cents per lb. The following year, production went up to 2,094,000 bales and prices went down to $1.20 high and 35 cents low.

Cotton hit the pits in 1932 when it was going for 5 cents per lb.

Calendar: Dance club meeting

TODAY
Spring City Dance Club meets at the Eagles Lodge at 8 p.m.

THURSDAY
American Diabetes Assn. will meet at 7 p.m. in Malone-Hogan Hospital classroom. Two films will be shown. Public is welcome.

Tops on TV: Crazy animals

Animals are the entertainment on "The Wonderful World of Those Cuckoo, Crazy Animals." Some of Hollywood's animal stars display their talents. Among them are a chimp named Bonzo, Lassie, Rin Tin Tin, Trigger, Flipper and many more. There will also be a number of major TV features. This begins at 7 p.m. on CBS. Later, at 9 p.m. on NBC, "Quincy" rushes to Arizona where his foster son and two others are stricken by bubonic plague.

Inside: Coming soon: tax cut

CUBAN REFUGEES may still find their way into a South Texas detention center, according to LULAC president Tony Bonilla. "They quietly transferred a number of Haitian refugees to Big Spring," he says. "I suppose it could happen here." See story page 3A.

LESS THAN SIX MONTHS after urging Congress to pass the largest tax cut in history, President Reagan is about to sign a bill that gives him what he sought and more. See story page 3A.

JEAN WILDER

Wider new principal at Washington

By CAROL HART

Jean Wilder has been named principal at Washington Elementary School, according to Lynn Hise, superintendent of Big Spring schools.

Mrs. Wilder has been with Big Spring schools since 1970. She served as a teacher at Marcy Elementary and Cedar Crest, and was an elementary counselor of the system.

Mrs. Wilder said serving as principal at Washington "will be a challenge. I'm looking forward to it. I have an excellent professional staff to work with. I'm also looking forward to working with the parents and children at Washington."

Prior to becoming principal at

Washington Elementary, Mrs. Wilder served as Title I supervisor for the Big Spring district.

She began her teaching career at Barnhart in 1957, then transferred to the Hawley school system, and taught in Abilene for six years.

She received her bachelor's and master's degrees at Sul Ross University, and also her professional counseling degree, as well as her L.L.D. certification.

She also holds a supervisor's certification from the University of Texas at the Permian Basin, and a mid-management certification from Sul Ross.

Mrs. Wilder is also a member of ### several professional educational organizations. She is past president of the Classroom Teacher's Association, and is president of Delta Kappa Gamma, the organization for exceptional women educators.

She is also president of ATPE, the Association for Texas Professional Educators, and is past state director of the Association of Compensatory Educators.

She is married to Harold Wilder, Howard College Hawk basketball coach. They have two sons, Casey, who is the business manager at the Rockdale Independent School District, and Scott, a senior at Texas A&M.

Sand Springs family escapes electrocution

COLORADO CITY — A Sand Springs family miraculously escaped tragedy last Saturday at Lake Colorado City when the mast of their sailboat came in contact with a highline wire that was charged with about 69,000 volts, according to Wendell Bryant, Mitchell County sheriff.

Steve and Linda Dick and their seven-year-old daughter Dellamy were on the boat when the freak accident occurred about 9:55 a.m. near Coopers Cove.

Steve Dick, plumber foreman of the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp, received first and second degree burns on his right thigh and second degree burns on his back. He was knocked into the water by the force of the currency and was unconscious for a while.

Mrs. Dick said she jumped into the water and held her husband's head out of the water until help arrived from witnesses on the shore. The couple's daughter also received first degree burns on her calf and back of neck from the melting debris of the boat.

The family was taken by Mitchell County Ambulance Service to Root Memorial Hospital where the daughter was treated and released and her father was treated and admitted for observation. He was released Monday and is recuperating at home.

U.S. Soviet grain agreement is extended

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union have agreed to extend their grain agreement until September 30, 1982, U.S. Trade Representative William Brock announced today.

The five-year accord had been due to expire on Sept. 30 of this year.

The pact calls for the Soviet Union to buy at least 6 million metric tons of wheat and corn in roughly equal amounts every year. The Soviets can buy an additional 2 million tons without further consultation. A metric ton is about 2,205 pounds and is equal to 36.7 bushels of wheat or 39.4 bushels of corn.

Three killed in blaze

CALL, Texas (AP) — Three members of a family died early today when their mobile home caught fire, authorities said.

Linda Lewis, 30, her 3-year-old daughter Misty and 2-year-old son Douglas, were found huddled together in one bedroom of the house, fire officials said.

A.L. Charlton, fire marshal for the Kirbyville Volunteer Fire Department, said the woman had the youngest child in her arms and appeared to be gathering her family to escape the flames when they were overcome by smoke.

The woman's husband, Douglas Wayne Lewis, and an older child had left the mobile home to return to Houston a few hours before the fire started, Charlton said.

The trailer was engulfed in flames when units arrived in response to a call from a neighbor, Charlton said.

He said firefighters believe the blaze started on or near a lawn mower stored under the trailer.

Call is located 25 miles north of Beaumont.

Brady reported improving

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House press secretary James S. Brady, wounded in the assassination attempt on President Reagan, is reported improving after a sudden attack of seizures. Doctors hoped there would not be a recurrence.

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes said today that Brady remained in a hospital recovery room and was "still a bit groggy."

He said Brady was expected to be moved out of the recovery room later today and that his condition was good, although he ran a slight fever following the administration of anesthesia.

A spokesman for George Washington University Hospital said Tuesday that Brady is on stepped-up anti-seizure medication and phenobarbital, a barbiturate that acts as a sedative.

Nuke workers sent home

HOUSTON (AP) — A delay in receiving engineering drawings has been blamed for the temporary layoff of about 250 workers at the South Texas nuclear project near Bay City.

Jim Parsons, Houston Lighting & Power Co. vice president, expressed hope the carpenters, welders and laborers sent home Tuesday can be back on the job by the end of the week.

Parsons said an audit of the project's document control center is under way to assure a steady flow of engineering drawings to the project site.

Missing girl returns

HOUSTON (AP) — A 2-year-old girl who was reported missing two months ago has been reunited with her mother.

Juvenile authorities said Ronida Watson and her babysitter disappeared June 5 and the child was returned Monday after the mother, Charlemagne Watson, received a telephone call directing her to meet a woman who had the daughter.

"There's nothing wrong with the child," said C.L. Newman, juvenile investigator.

A charge of kidnapping was filed against Roberta Denise Phillips, 18.

Sleeping sickness virus

TOMBALL, Texas (AP) — Health officials who discovered a cluster of Culex mosquitoes carrying the sleeping sickness virus, St. Louis Encephalitis, have urged residents to dump any containers with standing water that might serve as breeding grounds.

Bob Bartlett, mosquito control district director, said Tuesday officials discovered the virus in a sample of mosquitoes taken from a chicken coop about six miles west of this Montgomery County community.

In 1980, SLE caused one death in Harris County and was suspected of killing another three people. Fifty-one people contracted SLE last year, while 13 were suspected of carrying the virus.

SCENIC TOUR — A Continental Air Transport Co. bus is partly submerged in a lagoon at Sherman Park in Chicago Tuesday. The vehicle apparently was stolen from the company's yard during the night and ended up in the water near a "No Swimming" sign.

Reversal of redistricting plan called 'sweet' victory by Shaw

AUSTIN — A gradual strengthening of party loyalty helped House Democrats turn back a congressional redistricting plan Monday that would give Republicans two more seats in Washington. Rep. Larry Don Shaw of Big Spring says.

After conservative Democrats and Republicans joined in a coalition to hand Democratic opponents of the plan defeat after defeat last week, party loyalists rallied against the House plan Monday and voted to send the proposal back to the redistricting committee for an overhaul.

Shaw, a freshman Democrat and activist in the House Democratic Caucus, said the 78-66 vote was "a sweet victory" for Democrats who oppose the plan.

The action means Democratic opponents will have a second chance to amend one plan in committee to help Democratic incumbents keep their seats. The committee began work at 9 a.m. today, using the Senate version of the plan as a vehicle for amendments.

Both the plan that was before the House and the Senate version keep Howard County in U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm's District 17.

A spokesman for Stenholm said Tuesday the congressman expects no changes in the district by the House committee.

On the verge of losing to Republicans who want to maximize their party's strength in Washington, Shaw said Democrats are beginning to realize the importance of their votes. Some conservative Democrats switched votes Monday to return the plan to its starting point.

"There's been a sense of unity since we lost last week," Shaw said. "People see it as a partisan battle, but there's much more at stake."

Shaw and other Democrats have argued before the House that Texans stand to lose eight congressional committee chairmanships and subcommittee chairmanships next year if Republicans gain control of Congress.

Police Beat — Accused thief is seized

Make that a hero, and hold the bread.

An employee of Giant Discount Food Store at 811 Lamesa Highway complained to police that a man entered the store about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, took a package of lunch meat and cheese and attempted to leave the store without paying for it. Police arrested a 22-year-old man on suspicion of theft under $5.

Preston Crawford, 29, of 300 Price, complained to police that his pickup was parked outside the Penny Pincher's Lounge, 1310 W. 4th, between 6:30 and 7 p.m. Monday when someone stole a $400 pump from the truck.

Alice Heffler, 33, of 1600-B Lincoln, complained to police of harassing telephone calls that occurred about 11:30 p.m. Monday. She knows the person who made the calls, according to police reports.

Pat Hester, 37, of 2809 Stonehaven, complained to police that her van was parked in her driveway between 9:15 p.m. Monday and 10:30 a.m. Tuesday when a CB radio worth $100 was taken from the vehicle.

Frank Edwards complained to police that a man urinated in the street in front of his 1321 Elm home about 7:40 p.m. Tuesday.

Robert Wood Jr. complained that his car was parked in the Big Spring Industrial Park between 11 p.m. Monday and 7 a.m. Tuesday when speakers and an antenna booster were stolen from the car. Loss was set at $110.

D. Stoker, 38, complained to police that his car was parked at the Sands Motel, 2900 West Highway, between 11:30 p.m. Tuesday and 9:30 a.m. Wednesday when someone broke out the vehicle's rear window, causing $300 damage.

Reagan reaffirms plan to sell AWACS

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan today reaffirmed his plan to sell highly sophisticated radar-equipped jets to Saudi Arabia and asked congressional leaders not to prejudice his proposal, which a majority of the Senate has opposed.

The president said providing those aircraft and improving the attack capabilities of F-15 jet fighters already ordered by the Saudis would improve Saudi Arabia's security and strengthen it in the region.

The moves also would be in the interest of the United States and the Western alliance, Reagan said.

He said the sale would make clear to the Soviet Union and governments in the Middle East that the United States "is determined to assist in preserving security and stability in Southwest Asia."

The administration wants to sell five E3A Airborne Warning and Control Systems airplanes to the Saudis. The sale needs congressional approval.

The president made his plea to Congress in a letter to Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn.; Senate Minority Leader Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va.; House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass.; and House Minority Leader Robert Michel, R-Ill.

Reagan has not formally sought congressional approval of the sale, but more than half of the Senate has indicated opposition.

"I am aware that information from a variety of sources has been circulating on Capitol Hill regarding this sale and that many members have been under some pressure to take an early position against it," the president wrote in a letter distributed by the White House press office.

Deaths

Richard Forisha — Richard Forisha, 76, died Tuesday morning after a short illness. Services are pending.

Mr. Forisha was born on June 19, 1905 in Denison, Texas. He served in World War II in the Navy.

He is survived by his wife, Ethel; a son, Tommy Forisha of Los Angeles, Calif.; two daughters, Diane Key of Denison, Jan Troeger of Denison; two brothers, Guy Raymond Forisha of Denison; two sisters, Leota Baasham of Denison, Sylvia Harris of Big Spring; two grandchildren, and many nieces and nephews.

Dr. Paul Kionka — Dr. Paul S. Kionka, 79, died at 8:20 p.m. Monday at his home. Services will be at 10 a.m. Thursday at St. Mary's Episcopal Church with the Rev. David Bristow, rector at the church, officiating.

Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Palbearers will be Ross Boykin, C.R. Wiley, Ed Bowman, Lowell Jones, Ralph Henderson, D.O. Gray, Hubert Stipp and Dr. Harry Ernsting.

Annie Waldrop — Annie Elizabeth Waldrop, 73, died Tuesday afternoon in Highland Hospital at Lubbock after a lengthy illness.

Services will be at 10 a.m. at the First Baptist Church in Lamesa with Dr. C.H. Murphy officiating. Burial will follow in Lamesa Memorial Park under the direction of Brannon Funeral Home.

She was born Sept. 21, 1907 in Jones County, Texas. She

Frank Burzine — Frank Burzine, 51, died at 10:40 p.m. Tuesday at a local hospital after a seven year illness. Services are pending with Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Frank Weaver — Frank Weaver, 64, died 10:30 p.m. Tuesday in a local hospital after a lengthy illness. Services are pending with Sheppard Funeral Home.

Sherry Wrightsil — Sherry Jo Wrightsil, 30, died at her home Tuesday morning. Services are pending with Sheppard Funeral Home.

Big Spring woman found dead in her apartment

An autopsy was scheduled today for the body of a 30-year-old Big Spring woman who police suspect died of an "accidental overdose of prescribed medication."

Sherry Jo Wrightsil was found dead in the bedroom of her 604-B Runnels apartment about 4:30 p.m. Tuesday, according to police reports.

"It's looking like an accidental overdose of prescribed medication," said police Detective Bobby Armstrong as he awaited confirmation of the cause of death from a Malone-Hogan hospital autopsy.

The autopsy was scheduled to be performed this morning by Dr. Robert Rember, a hospital pathologist.

The body was reported to police by the apartment manager, who was alerted by a suspicious neighbor.

Edwina O'Neal, who lived next door with her husband at 604-C Runnels, said she talked with Wrightsil "nearly every day" but had her last conversation with the woman Saturday evening.

"She was not well. She had crippling arthritis," O'Neal said, adding that she checked in with Wrightsil from time to time because she had told O'Neal she was "in pain."

She was busy Monday, O'Neal said, and when she went to check in with Wrightsil Tuesday her suspicions became aroused.

She said she "banged and hollered" outside Wrightsil's door, rang her on the telephone and then notified the apartment manager that something seemed amiss.

Police Officer Ron Wood responded to the call and noted in his report that music was playing in the apartment. He said he found Wrightsil lying "partially" on a bed. He detected no vital signs and Justice of the Peace Lewis Heflin pronounced her dead.

The body was taken to Sheppard Funeral Home, where funeral arrangements are pending.

A spokesman for the home said Wrightsil was survived by her mother, Essie Marie Wrightsil of Big Spring. O'Neal said Wrightsil had told her of a brother in West Germany.

Voluntary manslaughter, burglary trials are set

According to Howard County District Attorney Rick Hamby, two criminal cases have been scheduled to go to trial next week in 118th District Court.

Set next week are the criminal cases of the State of Texas vs. George Stupar, and the State of Texas vs. Robert Earl Mesker.

Stupar is charged with burglary of a habitation. Hamby said work on the case is under way now.

Mesker is charged with voluntary manslaughter. Records show that Mesker, of Odessa, was taken into custody April 19, 1980, for allegedly shooting and killing his brother, Stephen Allen Martin, 37.

Martin had legally changed his name from William Harley Mesker in December of 1978.

Mesker, 32, allegedly shot Martin twice with a .38 caliber revolver.

Capt. Claude Morris of the Big Spring police department said at the time of the shooting that the men were allegedly having an argument in their father's home, Samuel Mesker, 1812 Main, who had died earlier on April 19.

Mesker is said to have shot Martin during the argument. Police were called at 9:53 p.m. on that date.

Representing Robert Earl Mesker in the case is Robert Moore III.

WARMING UP — Elizabeth Martinez, 19 months, sits outside the Comanche Trail Park swimming pool trying to warm up after spending part of her day there. With temperatures soaring up around the century mark this week, lots of people have been taking a respite in swimming pools in an effort to beat the heat. But Elizabeth found out that the first few minutes out of the pool can be a chilling experience.

Transfer of Haitians to Big Spring cited

Bonilla not convinced Cubans won't show up

DONNA, Texas (AP) — The Reagan administration may still be thinking of sending Cuban refugees to a South Texas detention facility, says the national president of the League of United Latin American Citizens.

"They quietly transferred a number of Haitians to Big Spring. I suppose that could happen here," Tony Bonilla of Corpus Christi said Tuesday.

"I'm not convinced that it's been scuttled," he said of proposals to transfer some of the 950 Cubans at Fort Chaffee, Ark., to Los Fresnos. "To begin with, in the president's statement (on immigration), he refers to authority to increase the capacity in detention centers."

Bonilla two weeks ago released a copy of a memo from Attorney General William French Smith to President Reagan proposing several sites for the relocation of Fort Chaffee refugees. The Los Fresnos Immigration and Naturalization Service facility, currently being expanded from 238-inmate capacity to 500, was high on the list of preferred sites.

Sen. John Tower, R-Texas, has said both Los Fresnos and Big Spring have been ruled out as centers for Cubans or more Haitians. Bonilla said he was in South Texas to visit an area that will be strongly affected by the Reagan administration's proposed immigration policies.

President Reagan has proposed a guest worker program for Mexican nationals, amnesty for some illegal aliens and sanctions against employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens. Allowing 50,000 Mexican workers into this country for two years would create a "sub-class" of people, Bonilla said.

"When we had guest worker programs in the past, we had a critical labor shortage. We do not find ourselves with a labor problem today," he said. Employer sanctions would result in discrimination against Hispanic-Americans who would have to prove their citizenship to get a job, he said.

The amnesty program would put an impossible burden on the INS to keep up with illegal aliens who entered the country before Jan. 1, 1980, he said. Those aliens would be eligible for resident alien status after 10 years under the Reagan plan.

"The idea that the INS could keep up with between 3.5 million and 6 million undocumented workers for 10 years is unrealistic," Bonilla said.

DEPARTURE — Rep. James Shannon, D-Mass., departs the U.S. Capitol following the final approval of the House Tuesday of President Reagan's tax cut plan. Shannon urged the House to delay its action until members voted on the $11 billion bill would give the oil industry through 1986.

Reagan's tax cut awaiting signature

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, winning congressional approval of his tax cut in less than six months, needs only to sign his name to give Americans the largest tax reduction in U.S. history.

The House completed congressional action Tuesday on the tax-cut bill, and White House aides said Reagan will sign it as soon as it reaches his desk. That could be as late as next week, but regardless of when the president affixes his signature, the individual tax relief will begin Oct. 1.

The 282-95 House vote was considerably more lopsided than the two-thirds majority needed to keep a protest over tax relief for the oil industry from delaying final action on the bill.

Rep. James Shannon, D-Mass., sought unsuccessfully to trim the $12 billion that the legislation would give producers and owners of oil-producing lands over the next six years.

The bill, which Reagan proposed Feb. 18 as a cornerstone of his economic recovery program, will cut individual and business taxes by $749 billion through 1986. The heart of the package is a permanent cut in personal tax rates averaging about 25 percent over the next three years.

The farthest-reaching part of the bill is one that Reagan did not seek, but has embraced anyway. The "indexing" provision will cut taxes automatically each year, starting in 1985, to offset some of the inflation of the previous year.

A typical four-member, one-earner family with $20,000 income and current tax liability of $2,013 will get a $25 tax cut this year, $228 in 1982, $271 in 1983 and $464 in 1984. Thus, when fully effective, the bill will reduce the family's tax bite to $1,549.

A single person earning $30,000 now pays $5,718 in taxes. That would be cut $71 this year, $566 in 1982, $1,081 in 1983 and $1,333 in 1984.

The more a person pays in taxes, the bigger the tax cut. This is a reversal of reductions passed in recent years aimed at raising the tax burden on upper-income Americans to help lessen the load on those at the bottom of the economic scale.

Reagan's bill would give 32 percent of its benefits to people with incomes above $50,000. Those people now pay one-third of all income taxes.

Several other provisions were added as the package made its way through Congress. Many of them — including the special tax breaks for the oil industry — represent compromises by Reagan to win approval of his basic bill. Others are ideas that the administration favors but wanted to put on a back burner until the economy is in better shape.

The bill gives added relief to 17 million couples in which both spouses work, and who pay more taxes than if they were single.

It also eliminates estate taxes for all but 0.2 percent of the wealthiest Americans, increases incentives for savings, liberalizes tax-free treatment of money put aside for retirement, fattens tax credits for child-care expenses and establishes a special deduction for charitable contributions made by people who do not itemize.

The tax relief for business will total an estimated $152.8 billion from 1981 through 1986, chiefly by allowing faster recovery through the tax system of money spent for machinery and buildings. The aim is to modernize the nation's industrial capacity so that production can be increased without raising prices.

During the final debate before Congress began a five-week vacation, some House members decried the bill for giving the oil industry so much tax relief at a time when federal programs for the poor and elderly are being reduced.

"This is a disgrace to this nation, something that will further undermine the credibility of government," said Rep. Parren Mitchell, D-Md.

Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill told reporters before the final House vote that the measure gives Reagan full responsibility for the nation's economy.

"The ball is in the president's court — the deficit, interest rates, unemployment, inflation — it's his ball game now," O'Neill said. "I'm gambling he won't win it. For the interest of the American people, I hope he does."

O'Neill: 'The ball is in the president's court... I'm gambling he won't win it.'

Reagan says U.S. will work with Sadat for peace Lockheed plans plant in Austin

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan told Egyptian President Anwar Sadat today the United States is firmly committed to achieving peace in the Middle East and "will walk that road together" with Egypt.

Sadat, who arrived Tuesday night for his first meeting with Reagan, received the assurances he wanted that the new administration would continue efforts to achieve a comprehensive Arab-Israeli peace.

At a welcoming ceremony with 21-gun salute for Sadat on the White House South Lawn, Reagan said, "We have not altered our commitment to peace or our desire to continue building upon the achievements of Camp David."

Praising Sadat for taking the first step that led to the Camp David peace accord between Israel and Egypt in 1978, Reagan said Sadat was a man who "history will undoubtedly label one of the 20th century's most courageous peacemakers."

Said Reagan: "You have taken the first step on a long, arduous journey with many obstacles to overcome, but today I assure you and the Egyptian people that we will walk that road together and we will not be deterred from reaching our destination."

Sadat, standing at the president's side, said that now is "a crucial moment" for achieving peace in the Middle East.

East.

Ways of resuming the stalled peace process will be a dominant topic in the discussions between Reagan and Sadat, which began immediately after their speeches. A state banquet at the White House was scheduled for tonight, to be followed by further discussions Thursday.

Sadat also is to meet privately with former presidents Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter. The meeting with Ford, a late addition to Sadat's schedule, was planned for later in the day.

Sadat found a cool U.S. reception to his proposal that the Palestine Liberation Organization be included in the Middle East peace process. White House spokesman David Gergen said there was no change in official U.S. policy to include the PLO in the talks so long as it refuses to recognize Israel's right to exist.

The Egyptian leader was met at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., by Alexander M. Haig Jr. and about 50 members of the Washington diplomatic corps Tuesday night. Haig had conferred with Sadat in Cairo earlier this year.

Sadat will travel to New York City on Friday and then go to Plains, Ga., on Saturday for a meeting with former President Carter before leaving the United States.

The 62-year-old Sadat, who is serving his 11th year as Egypt's president, has been a friend to the three previous American presidents and appears eager to establish strong ties with the new Reagan administration as well.

He has been outspoken in support of Reagan's and Haig's search for a so-called strategic consensus of Middle East nations to confront Soviet expansion into the region.

Besides getting acquainted, a major purpose of the visit is to lay the groundwork for resumption of the stalled Egyptian-Israeli talks on autonomy for Palestinians in the Israeli-occupied West Bank and Sinai.

Those talks are a major item of unfinished business from the 1978 Camp David accord negotiated by Carter, Sadat and Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

Sadat said Tuesday that he would tell Reagan the United States should continue acting as a partner in the peace process, as it did under Carter.

Senior administration officials say they look forward to hearing Sadat's ideas on resumption of the talks, even though Sadat is bringing one suggestion that Reagan probably would rather not hear.

Sadat said in London on Tuesday that he will urge Reagan to recognize a role for the Palestinians, including the PLO, in the peace negotiations.

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (AP) — Lockheed Missile & Space Co. says it will build a new plant in Austin, Texas.

The company is looking for a plant site in the Texas capital city, with construction expected to begin in 1982, said Robert A. Fuhman, the company president on Monday.

He said the new plant would employ about 1,000 people shortly after it opens, with total employment as high as 6,000 in 10 years.

"We intend to create a new product division in Austin," Fuhman said.

Lockheed, a subsidiary of Lockheed Corp., is a leading aerospace and defense firm.

In addition to its main Sunnyvale plant, it has facilities in Palo Alto, Santa Cruz, San Diego and Vandenberg Air Force Base, Calif.; Huntsville, Ala.; Charleston, S.C.; Cape Canaveral, Fla.; and Bremerton, Wash.

Typical August weather in store

By The Associated Press

Another day of typical August weather was in store for all of Texas today as forecasts called for clear to partly cloudy skies, hot temperatures and widely scattered thunderstorms.

The thunderstorms were forecast for the coastal plains, Southeast Texas and Southwest Texas. It was to be clear over northern and western sections of the state and partly cloudy over the south.

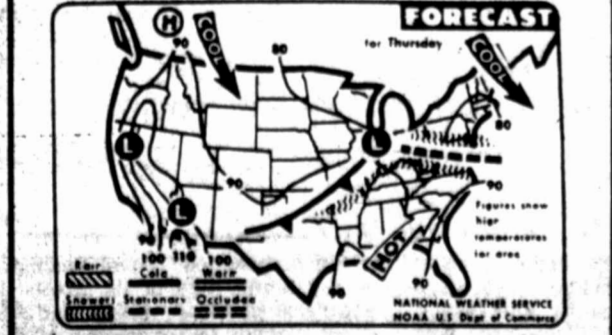

Highs were to be mostly in the 90s, ranging as high as near 105 in portions of North Central Texas and the Big Bend area of Southwest Texas.

Skies were clear early today except over South Texas and the Panhandle where partly cloudy skies prevailed.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 70s, ranging from the 60s in the mountains of Southwest Texas to the 80s along the coast.

Air controllers' union officials face charges

By The Associated Press

Six Texas union leaders face criminal charges from the air traffic controllers' strike — now in its third day — that has forced airlines to slash flight schedules, disrupted shipments of blood and perishable food and left some passengers facing three-hour delays in Texas airports.

U.S. District Judge John V. Singleton in Houston charged James E. McDonald and Dick Hoover, presidents of two Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization locals, Tuesday with criminal violation of a federal law that prohibits strikes by government employees.

Leslie F. Hall, a PATCO vice president in Houston, was charged with the same offense Monday.

While in Dallas, union officials Harry Lee Grant, Sam Anselm and Gary Greene were arraigned Tuesday on felony charges of violating the federal law that prohibits government employees from striking.

All six men face a maximum penalty of a year and a day in jail and a $1,000 fine.

The Justice Department also filed suit Tuesday in Tyler asking U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice to forbid PATCO members in Beaumont, Longview and Tyler from walking off their jobs.

Passengers endured delays of up to three hours Tuesday because of flights cancelled by the walkout that a blood bank clearing house spokesman said also has severely hampered delivery of blood.

Sule Gleason, secretary of the South Central District of the American Association of Blood Banks Clearing House in Dallas, said blood — mostly type O positive — was in short supply in several areas of Texas and airlines were hesitant to ship it because they could not guarantee delivery.

"We are shipping by bus," she said, "and that can be a problem because the blood has to be changed from bus to bus to reach its destination."

The strike forced restaurants specializing in fresh seafoods to take those items off their menu, said Jay Fitch, purchasing agent for the posh Mansion restaurant in Dallas.

"It's having a terrible effect on us," he said. "At least 65 percent of our menu deals with fresh fish, and so far, there's none coming in on the airlines."

But there were signs Tuesday that a few of the controllers were crossing the picket lines to return to work, according to Federal Aviation Administration spokesman George Burlage.

He said the number of controllers reporting for work on the evening shift Tuesday at FAA Control Center and Dallas-Fort Worth Airport had increased slightly, but that five of the six controllers scheduled to work at Love Field had come to work where none had appeared Monday.

"We had 26 people report to FAA center at shift change," he said, adding that normally 115 traffic controllers worked in the FAA control tower.

In Houston, Burlage said the evening shift at Houston Intercontinental Airport had almost twice as many controllers reporting for work as did on Monday.

He said things were "going very smoothly" at the FAA control center in Houston and at Houston Intercontinental Airport.

"Houston Center had 47 out of 106 (controllers) report at 4 p.m., and that's better than yesterday (Monday)," he said.

Bill limits individual prizes to $1,000

Charity groups testify for bingo bill

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — In an attempt to make good use of his time, Sen. Carlos Truan of Corpus Christi brought his bill to legalize local-option bingo to a Senate Committee Tuesday where questions were few and the reception generally favorable.
 One official with the United Cerebral Palsy Association in San Antonio testified that if the bill does not pass during the special legislative session, his group's charitable work might end.
 "We could live very well with this bill, and we could not live without it," Robert N. Mazen of San Antonio said.

He said his charity uses 100 percent of the net proceeds (about 50 percent of the gross take) from bingo games to take handicapped people out of state institutions and bring them back home.
 "The savings to the state treasury is $320,000 a year," Mazen said.
 Bingo games by the charitable group, however, have been raided by the San Antonio police department.
 The group has been cleared of criminal charges by the grand jury, but future games are in doubt unless Truan's bingo legislation is approved.
 Mazen also noted that because the bill limits individual prizes to $1,000 and an evening's giveaway to a total of $5,000, it should not attract organized crime.

 Later, a state officer with the Veterans of Foreign Wars said about 50 percent of the VFW posts in Texas conduct bingo games, but the others are reluctant because of strict enforcement of the state's gambling laws in their areas.
 No one testified in opposition to the bill.
 The Senate State Affairs Committee lacked a quorum after hearing the testimony, however, and no vote on whether to recommend the legislation to the full Senate was taken.

But a quorum could get together at some time before the end of the session and vote the bill out, committee members noted.
 In any case, Gov. Bill Clements still must add bingo to the special session agenda before it can be considered by either House.
 Last month, Clements told a delegation of San Antonio-area representatives that he was inclined to let the Legislature consider the matter.
 That inclination could disappear, one senator noted, if three other agenda items — redistricting, state property tax repeal and property tax reform — are still up in the air in the last days of the session.

Grand jury to look into Juneteenth drownings

GROESBECK, Texas (AP) — Limestone County Attorney Patrick Simmons, saying there is probable cause to indict three law officers on charges of "reckless or negligent homicide," made final plans today to present the June 19 drownings of three black youths to a grand jury.
 Steve Booker, 19, of Dallas, and Carl Baker, 19, and Anthony Freeman, 18, both of Mexia, drowned in Lake Mexia shortly after they were arrested for possession of marijuana at a Juneteenth celebration.
 The three died when a boat used by officers to transport them across the lake capsized. Three officers accompanying them, including a black reserve deputy, made it safely to shore.
 Simmons said he will give each grand juror a copy of the transcript of a three-day public court of inquiry held in late June. The grand jury was scheduled to be empaneled today.

Reagan's victory -- end of honeymoon?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is giving a final, rousing endorsement this week to President Reagan's economic, but leaders say this triumph could also spell the end of his honeymoon with Congress.

Key members of both parties agree that Reagan will have a far harder time winning support for his non-economic legislation than he did for his budget and tax cuts.

Social Security financing, revisions of clean air and clean water standards, an extension of the Voting Rights Act, arms for Saudi Arabia, immigration policy — these are among the subjects that could pose problems for Reagan in Congress in the months ahead.

The 97th Congress leaves town for a five-week recess on Wednesday after it sends to the president the completed version of his three-year, 25 percent tax cut. Approval is expected in the Senate today; in the House on Tuesday.

This largest tax cut in history follows congressional approval last Friday of Reagan's companion plan for the largest-ever cut in federal spending.

Now, with the big Reagan economic bills out of the way, Congress is planning to get back to business as usual.

"So many of these things coming down the road are of a parochial nature. Each one has to be dealt with on its own," said House Minority Leader Robert Michel, R-Ill. Michel, whose GOP ranks are outnumbered 244-191 in the House, concedes that the bipartisan coalition Reagan called on for his tax and budget proposals can't be casually reassembled. "These were such dominant, overriding issues that we were able to put together what we did," Michel said.

He dismisses the notion that leadership of the House has effectively passed from House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., to this coalition of Republicans and conservative Democrats.

"I can't imagine that happening again," said O'Neill, looking back on last week's House tax vote, won decisively by the administration. "Never in my 30 years here have I seen that kind of pressure," he added. "Are they going to be able to do that on clean air, clean water, voting rights? I doubt it."

Reagan administration plans for relaxing environmental standards have already generated deep opposition in Congress.

His newly announced legislation to tighten some immigration controls while granting one-time amnesty to 6 million other illegal immigrants has already generated considerable opposition in Congress. And the administration's proposed cutbacks in Social Security benefits — elimination of the $122 minimum benefit the House voted in a futile gesture Friday to restore and earlier proposed penalties on early retirees — are causing major political problems for the GOP.

Social Security financing will be the top item on the congressional agenda after the recess, and it's already become the No. 1 campaign issue for Democrats planning to run in 1982.

On The Light Side Don't skirt grass issue

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — A bamboo shoot suit has sprouted in Alameda Superior Court. Bing and Jessie Wong are asking $150,000 for the damage they say has been done to their well-manicured lawn by the bamboo planted by their next-door neighbors, Adolph and Johnnie Conner. The Wongs say the bamboo must vamoose too. The dispute put down roots two years ago when the Wongs pleaded with the Conners not to line their property boundary with the tall Oriental grass, which tends to "encroach and trespass" into areas where the grass is leaner. The Conners planted it anyway, and it wasn't long before the Wong yard was littered with bamboo shoots, says the suit, filed Monday. The Conners could not be reached for comment on the growing controversy.

Build a garden fresh polenta from garden fresh tomatoes

Your red, vine-ripened tomatoes deserve to be showcased in a dish worthy of the care you've put into growing them.

Garden Fresh Polenta is a mountain of a meatless main dish, made simple because you use your best ally, your microwave oven.

How does your Garden Fresh Polenta grow? Step by step. The first one is to prepare the polenta, the classic sliced corn meal mush that had its origin in Italy. You cook the mush in the microwave, spread the mixture in a pan and chill, preferably overnight.

The next step is to prepare the filling and topping. Again, the microwave comes in handy for cooking the tomatoes. Mozzarella and Parmesan cheeses, eggs and cream are stirred into the hot mixture.

The next step is to assemble the polenta. Layers of corn meal mush, tomato, cheese, egg and cream are alternated with the rich tomato-y sauce.

The final step is to melt the remaining cheeses over the top of the casserole. A beauty of a dish from the bounty of your garden!

GARDEN FRESH POLENTA

Polenta:
1 cup enriched corn meal
1 cup cold water
1 1/2 teaspoon salt
3 cups boiling water

Filling and Topping:

4 medium-size ripe tomatoes
1/4 cup green onion slices
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon basil leaves, crushed
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg (optional)
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Mozzarella cheese
3 eggs, beaten
2-3 cups heavy cream or one 5-1/3 ounces can evaporated milk
2 tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese

For polenta, grease 13x9-inch baking pan. Combine corn meal, cold water, and salt in large glass bowl. Gradually add boiling water, mixing well. Cook corn meal mixture in microwave oven at HIGH about 10 minutes, stirring after each 3 minutes of cooking. Spread evenly into prepared pan. Chill about 2 hours or until set. Or, refrigerate overnight.

For filling and topping, blanch tomatoes in boiling water about 2 minutes; peel. Chop tomatoes, removing seeds. Combine tomatoes, onion, salt and seasonings in large glass bowl. Cook at HIGH for 15 minutes, stirring after each 5 minutes of cooking. Combine 1/2 cup Mozzarella cheese, eggs, cream and 1 tablespoon Parmesan cheese, mixing well; stir in small amount of hot tomato mixture. Gradually add egg mixture to tomato mixture, stirring constantly.

To assemble, cut polenta into eight 4-1/2x3-1/4-inch rectangles. Arrange 4 rectangles on bottom of 8-inch square baking dish. Spoon half of tomato mixture over polenta. Place remaining polenta slices over tomato mixture. Spoon remaining tomato mixture over polenta. Cover loosely; cook at HIGH about 12 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean, turning 1/4 turn after each 3 minutes of cooking. Sprinkle with remaining cheeses; continue cooking at HIGH 1 minute or until cheese is melted. Cover; let stand 5 minutes before serving. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

VEGETABLE POLENTA

POLENTA:
1 cup Quaker or Aunt Jemima Enriched Corn Meal

1 cup cold water
1 1/4 teaspoons salt
3 cups boiling water

VEGETABLE TOPPING:
3 cups thin zucchini slices (about 2 medium zucchini)
1/2 cup finely chopped onion
1 tablespoon vegetable oil
One 4-oz. can mushroom stems and pieces, drained
One 15 1/2-oz. jar prepared meatless spaghetti sauce
1 1/2 cups (6 ounces) shredded Mozzarella cheese
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

For polenta, combine corn meal, cold water and salt. Gradually add to boiling water, stirring constantly. Cover; continue cooking over low heat about 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Pour into greased 13x9-inch baking dish. Chill at least 2 hours or until set. Or, refrigerate overnight.

For topping, heat oven to 350 degrees F. Saute zucchini and onion in oil in large skillet just until crisp-tender; arrange with mushrooms over chilled polenta. Pour spaghetti sauce over vegetables; sprinkle with Mozzarella cheese. Sprinkle Parmesan cheese over top. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 to 35 minutes. Let stand at room temperature about 5 minutes. Cut into squares to serve. Makes 8.

SALMON LOAF

One 15 1/2-ounce can salmon
One 1/2-cup Quaker Oats (quick or old fashioned, uncooked)
1/4 cup milk
2 eggs, beaten
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion

2 tablespoons minced fresh parsley or 1 tablespoon dried parsley flakes
1 tablespoon butter or margarine, melted
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper

Heat oven to 350 degrees F. Line an 8x4-inch loaf pan with foil, allowing edges of foil to extend over sides of pan; grease lightly. Drain salmon. Remove skin and bones; flake. In medium-sized bowl, combine salmon and remaining ingredients; mix just until blended. Turn into prepared loaf pan.

Bake at 350 degrees F. for 40 to 45 minutes or until knife inserted in center comes out clean. Cool in pan about 3 minutes; invert onto wire rack. Gently remove foil. Place loaf on serving platter; garnish with lemon slices and sprigs of parsley, if desired. Serve with tangy tomato sauce, if desired. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

H & R BLOCK INCOME TAX COURSE BEGINS SEPT. 3rd

Thousands of people with spare time are earning money as tax preparers in the growing field of Income Tax Service.

H & R BLOCK is offering a Basic Income Tax Course starting September 3rd. There will be a choice of morning or evening classes. Classes will be held at 3 area locations — 1512 Gregg, Big Spring — Odessa — Midland.

For a total of eighty-one hours over approximately three months students will study all areas of tax preparation and receive actual experience in preparing individual returns. Experienced Block personnel will teach current laws, theory and application as practiced in their offices coast to coast. There is a classroom lecture on each subject and practice problems at every level. The course is programmed to teach students increasingly complex tax problems as study progresses. Students find this course interesting and challenging.

Anyone may enroll. There are no restrictions or qualifications of any kind. The course is ideally suited for housewives, retired persons, teachers or anyone wanting to increase his tax knowledge.

While qualified graduates of the course will be offered job interviews, they are under no obligation to accept employment with H & R BLOCK. There are franchises available to residents of small cities as well as job opportunities locally.

The modest fee charged for this course includes all textbooks, supplies and tax forms necessary for completion of the school. Certificates are awarded to all graduates.

Registration forms and brochures for the Income Tax Course may be obtained by contacting the H & R BLOCK office at 1201 E. 8th St. Odessa, Texas 77761. Call collect (915) 332-7801. Mon-Fri. 9-5 or Sunday 2-4 p.m. Adv.

Save energy with tuna

Stop, look and save energy by having a cool, crunchy tuna salad for lunch or supper.

Start with unflavored gelatin which needs to be heated only until it dissolves. Add a can of condensed cream of asparagus soup and perky seasonings of lemon juice, mustard, salt and pepper.

After the mixture has chilled, fold in tuna, dairy sour cream, chopped and grated fresh vegetables and almonds for texture and flavor interest. Further refrigeration will set the mixture to graceful sculptured lines.

Unmold this main dish salad, top with a swirl of sour cream, then surround it with Cheddar cheese sticks and Swiss cheese slices so it offers complete appetite satisfaction.

CRUNCHY TUNA SALAD

6 to 8 servings
1 envelope unflavored gelatin
1/4 cup water
1 can (10 3/4 ounces) condensed cream of asparagus soup
2 tablespoons fresh lemon juice
1 tablespoon prepared mustard
1/4 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
1 cup dairy sour cream

1 can (9 1/4 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked
1 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup grated unpeeled cucumber, drained

1/2 cup toasted slivered almonds
1/4 cup chopped green pepper

Soften gelatin in water in a 2-quart saucepan; add soup. Heat, stirring until gelatin is dissolved. Add lemon juice, mustard, salt and pepper. Chill until partially set. Fold in sour cream, tuna, celery, cucumber, almonds and green pepper. Turn into 5-cup mold; chill until set.

Unmold salad, top with a dollop of sour cream and serve with pieces of assorted cheeses.

Resignation won't stop Bolivian rebels

LA PAZ, Bolivia (AP) — Leaders of the rebellion to overthrow President Luis Garcia Meza took a skeptical view of the general's resignation today and vowed their movement would continue. Sources in Santa Cruz said the rebels may demand the three-man junta step down as well.

Sources in Lima, Peru, said Garcia Meza was en route to Miami aboard a Braniff airliner that stopped in the Peruvian capital in the middle of the night. But his departure could not be confirmed in La Paz.

Garcia Meza, 52, surrendered power to the military regime's three-member junta after the fifth attempt to oust him in three months. He bitterly attacked his opponents in a nationwide broadcast announcing his resignation Tuesday. "General Garcia Meza is not a coward, everyone knows," he said in a ceremony at the presidential palace.

"The movement will continue," the leaders of the coup that began early Monday said in broadcasts on the rebel radio network in southeastern Santa Cruz.

"The resignation of General Garcia Meza constitutes a hoax played on the Bolivian people," an announcer said.

A former president and a former army chief of staff fled two months ago by Garcia Meza, Gen. Alberto Natusch and Lucio Anez Rivero, led the two-day rebellion centered in Santa Cruz, Bolivia's second largest city 325 miles southeast of La Paz.

Sources said the rebel leaders, at the head of about 6,500 troops from several army regiments in the area, met at the 8th Division headquarters to analyze Tuesday's events.

The junta, composed of the commanders of the army, air force and navy, was expected to meet with ranking military officers from throughout the country to name another president from their ranks. Observers said it was unlikely the junta would try to govern as a council because past attempts to do so have failed.

The rebel leaders demanded Garcia Meza's resignation, a return to press freedom, respect for human rights in Bolivia and the end of prohibitions on labor and political activity in effect since Garcia Meza came to power.

Shortly after the president stepped down, Anez Rivero told The Associated Press in a telephone interview that the leaders of the uprising expect the junta in La Paz to fulfill all the group's demands.

"They must back the demands; it is a consensus in the armed forces," he said.

Labor woes may close Juarez garment plant

CIUDAD JUAREZ, Mexico (AP) — Company officials threatened to close an American garment manufacturing plant here if striking workers don't fire their negotiators. Jim Leonard, comptroller for New York-based Acapulco Fashions' said Tuesday the plant would close unless workers allowed truckloads of finished goods to cross picket lines and got rid of labor leaders he accused of fomenting trouble at the plant.

"There have been a whole series of antagonistic moves meant to start trouble," said Leonard.

"As long as these people are causing problems, it's frivolous to even deal with them."

He said the 461 workers at the plant "are being led around like a bunch of sheep" by strike leaders, including union attorney Gustavo de la Rosa.

"We've made agreement after agreement to try to keep the plant operating, but they've broken every agreement," said Leonard.

Polish workers strike

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Nearly a million Warsaw workers shut down all but essential services in the capital today in warning strikes to protest food shortages and proposed price increases.

It was believed to be the biggest labor demonstration in Poland's capital since a nationwide warning strike in March. The walkout by transport and factory workers today drew support from Solidarity chapters across the country.

About 1,000 bus and tram operators launched the massive strike at 9 a.m. Factory workers began their strike an hour later, and 8,000 workers in 10 factories in skierniewice, west of Warsaw, struck for two hours also.

Meanwhile, drivers who jammed Warsaw's biggest intersection with hundreds of buses, trucks and taxis since Monday planned to remove their blockade by noon, a union source said. They were protesting a 20-percent cut in the meat ration this month.

Solidarity said it exempted education, health and communications centers, trade and service outlets, and food, hygiene and pharmaceutical factories from the strike. And at some plants, the protest was symbolic only.

About 9,000 workers at the Huta Warszawa Steel Mill wore red and white arm-bands but continued working, said Solidarity spokesman Krzysztof Wroblewski.

"It would be impossible to bring a huge plant like this to a standstill quickly," said Solidarity spokesman Krzysztof Wroblewski. "We have sent a token force to the main entrance of the plant to inform people of the cause of our action."

Workers in most divisions of the giant Ursus tractor factory kept producing badly needed tractors for the farmers, a spokesman said, but a few divisions did join the strike.

Elsewhere in Poland: About 1,500 people marched through Tarnowskie Gory and sent a petition to Parliament demanding full meat rations and economic reform.

Workers at a pre-fabricated housing factory in Sosnowiec threatened a walkout Thursday if full meat rations were not restored.

Miners at a coal mine in Silesia failed to report to work Tuesday because rationing cards were not distributed on time.

Burnett begins journalism integrity fund

HONOLULU (AP) — Carol Burnett, who won a libel judgment against the National Enquirer, has sent a check for $100,000 to the journalism department at the University of Hawaii, according to the department chairman.

Prof. John Luter said Miss Burnett sent the gift Monday even though she still has not collected any of her $800,000 award from the tabloid, pending appeals.

The money will be used to start the Carol Burnett Fund for Responsible Journalism, Luter said. It will support workshops on ethical issues, a special lecture series, prizes for student writing and faculty research on ethical issues in journalism, Luter said. The department has 125 journalism majors.

Miss Burnett planned to give a similar grant to the graduate school of journalism at the University of California at Berkeley.

ROME (AP) — Pope John Paul II underwent surgery Wednesday to reverse the intestinal bypass performed after he was shot in St. Peter's Square May 13, the Gemelli Hospital reported.

The pope's doctors said the operation to restore the normal functioning of his lower intestine was only a bit more risky than an appendectomy and they anticipated no problems.

The operation was performed by Dr. Francesco Crucitti, who headed the team that performed the emergency surgery on the 61-year-old Roman Catholic pontiff after he was shot.

Hard-liners fill Begin's Cabinet

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin presented his hawkish new government to the Israeli Parliament at a stormy session today and was assured of a narrow vote of confidence.

The second-term prime minister sharply attacked the opposition Labor Party, saying his Likud party's victory was solid, despite the closeness of the recent election. In return, he was repeatedly heckled by opposition deputies.

In his policy speech, Begin again attacked U.S. plans to sell F-15 warplanes and AWACS radar aircraft to Saudi Arabia, saying the F-15s could reach Tel Aviv and return to Saudi Arabia without refueling or landing. But the AWACS planes would render Israel's air defenses "transparent."

The prime minister charged that Israel recently "learned with absolute certainty" that Saudi Arabia was supplying weapons to Palestinian guerrillas fighting Israel from bases in Lebanon. He did not elaborate.

However, Begin expressed hope the United States "in the very near future" would lift its embargo on 10 F-16 warplanes whose delivery was held up in retaliation for Israeli bombings of the Iraqi nuclear reactor June 7 and of Palestinian headquarters in Beirut six weeks later.

The prime minister voiced readiness to normalize relations with the Soviet Union, severed since the 1967 Mideast War, on the condition Moscow give its Jewish citizens full emigration rights.

But most of Begin's foreign policy comments dealt with the United States, Israel's main political ally and arms supplier.

He said there was no longer "an incessant argument" with Washington on the issue of Jewish settlements on the occupied West Bank, which President Reagan said are "not illegal."

Begin again obliquely invited the United States to offer Israel a formal defense treaty, saying he would recommend that his cabinet accept a U.S. offer. But Israel would not propose the treaty because "no state, even a small one, wants to invite refusals," he said.

He also reiterated Israel's insistence on conducting reconnaissance flights over Lebanon, saying these were explicitly permitted by the July 24 U.S.-mediated cease-fire. In a veiled warning to the Syrian air force, Begin said anyone interfering with these flights "will bear the consequences of his attempts...."

Shimon Peres, leader of the opposition Labor Party, accused Begin of bungling military and foreign policy.

Begin left one of the 18 Cabinet portfolios vacant today when he presented his coalition government to the Knesset, the Israeli parliament.

Protesting concessions to the religious parties, David Levy refused to resume the post of housing minister but Begin held the job open for him.

Iranian official murdered

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Gunmen firing from a car assassinated the top theoretician of Iran's dominant Islamic Republican Party outside Tehran today, and the self-proclaimed shah declared he was making "concerted plans" to overthrow Iran's revolutionary regime.

Iran's official Pars news agency said Hassan Ayat, the IRP ideologist and a member of Parliament from Tehran, was shot to death as he left his house in an eastern suburb of the capital to attend a special parliamentary session that gave the country's new prime minister a vote of confidence.

The agency said the assassins were "counter-revolutionaries" who opened fire from a car and then sped away. Two of Ayat's bodyguards were wounded, Pars said.

Sources in Tehran said Ayat was a major behind-the-scenes power inside the IRP and that his death was a severe blow to the party.

In Cairo, Reza II, the self-proclaimed heir to the Peacock Throne, said he was making "concerted plans" with unspecified opponents of the Islamic government to overthrow Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's regime.

Hunger striker, police officer are buried

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — The Irish Republican Army and its Protestant foes repeated their firm stands for and against the demands of the IRA hunger strikers at funeral services for the eighth man to die in the fast and a policeman killed by the guerrilla army.

"While these murders of law-keeping officers continue, how can anyone talk with hunger strikers or others who are in our prisons guilty of murders and other heinous crimes?" the Rev. Ronald Craig asked 2,000 Protestants at the funeral Tuesday of John Smyth.

Smyth, one of two policemen killed by an IRA landmine Sunday, was buried at Omagh, 50 miles west of Belfast. The officer who died with him was to be buried today.

Meanwhile, 8,000 Catholics turned out in Belfast for the funeral of Kieran Doherty, the eighth man to die in the hunger strike by imprisoned members of the IRA and its splinter factions in Belfast's Maze Prison.

Despite indications that support of the fast is lessening among the Catholic population and families of the strikers, IRA spokesman Jimmy Drumm declared at Doherty's graveside that the protest would continue until the British government agrees to treat imprisoned nationalist guerrillas as political prisoners.

"There is no basis for a settlement," said Drumm, a senior official of Sinn Fein, the outlawed IRA's legal front.

After the funeral, gangs of youths threw bricks, bottles and gasoline bombs at police and troops in Catholic neighborhoods of Belfast, and the security forces fired plastic bullets to disperse the rioters. But no casualties were reported, and the violence was much less than it was after the deaths and funerals of the first hunger strikers in May.

The mother of hunger striker Paddy Quinn broke the families' united front last week when Quinn went into a coma and she told the prison doctors to save his life.

Bear Bryant downplays winning role

By The Associated Press

He was a dapper dandy in his pastel blue slacks, matching tie, pink shirt, silky pink-and-blue plaid jacket and two-tone shoes. But he still looked half-dressed and unrecognizable without that familiar hound's tooth hat.

But the charm was still there — the charm plus the droll humor, molasses Dixie drawl and over-stated humility that make the "Bear," Paul William Bryant, the football personality of the year as well as the age.

Despite the air traffic controllers' strike, the Bear was flown into New York Tuesday to join six potential All-Americans in a promotion of the 1981 collegiate season.

It was strictly the Bear's show.

"I've never won a game in my life — the team, the boys and assistant coaches, they win the games," the 67-year-old University of Alabama football coach mumbled modestly, shrugging off the significance of his dramatic bid this year to surpass Amos Alonzo Stagg as the winningest coach of all-time.

"I've lost plenty of games I should have won. My teams have won a lot of games in spite of me."

This is typical of Bryant, who declines to take credit for his record of 306 victories in a 36-year college coaching span at Maryland, Kentucky, Texas A&M and his alma mater, Alabama, where he has served 23 years.

"I haven't personally done any coaching in years," he insisted. "I just do the planning, set up the schedule, sort of like a chairman of the board, and then turn it over to my assistants."

"I have a lot of bright, young men to help me. They do the coaching. They are overworked and underpaid. There must be a place in Heaven for all assistant coaches' wives. They have to run the house and rear the children while putting up with long absences and frustrations of their husbands."

Bryant is expected to wipe out this season, his 37th, coaching marks that took Stagg 57 years and Glenn "Pop" Warner 44 years to accomplish. Stagg won 314 games, one more than Warner, before dying at the age of 102 in 1965.

The Bear could catch Warner by Oct. 24 against Tennessee and Stagg the next week against Rutgers, enabling him to set an all-time record by beating Mississippi State Oct. 2.

This involves winning the first nine of 11 games. Bryant looked fresh and relaxed Tuesday as he tackled writers and cameramen at the Plaza Hotel where he shared the limelight with one of his own players, strong safety Tommy Wilcox, quarterbacks Art Schlichter of Ohio State and Jim McMahon of Brigham Young, Maryland's running back Charlie Wysocski, Notre Dame wingback Tony Hunter and Stanford halfback Darrin Nelson.

Air strike won't stop major league baseball

Major league baseball players are overwhelmingly supporting the agreement that ended their seven-week strike as they go on with the business of getting ready to take the field again.

The 26 player representatives voted unanimously last Saturday to accept the agreement, and club owners, who had planned a ratification vote in Chicago Tuesday, rescheduled their meeting for Thursday because of the air controllers' strike.

Ten teams released ratification vote results Tuesday, with the players supporting the settlement agreement 245-12. Six of the 10 — the Milwaukee Brewers, Kansas City Royals, Baltimore Orioles, Houston Astros, St. Louis Cardinals and Atlanta Braves — reported unanimous votes.

Eligible to vote are the 650 players on major league rosters, plus those on the disabled list. A simple majority is needed for ratification.

Don Fehr, general counsel of the players association, was not surprised the agreement is being ratified easily.

"The day we make an agreement we can't get ratified, we all ought to be fired," Fehr said.

In other results, the New York Mets approved the contract 24-1, while the Seattle Mariners voted 23-3, the San Francisco Giants 23-2 and the Minnesota Twins 21-6 in favor of the agreement. Phil Garner, player rep for the Pittsburgh Pirates, said his teammates ratified the agreement, but declined to announce the vote.

The player voting is supposed to end by Thursday, when the owners also hope to take a ratification vote and decide on the format for the rest of the season, which resumes Monday after the All-Star game in Cleveland Sunday night. Among the options are a split season, multitermed playoffs and continuing the standings they way they were when the strike started June 12.

If the controllers' strike makes it impossible for the owners to meet in Chicago, their Player Relations Committee will set up a conference call so all the executives can vote.

Should the controllers' strike continue, a spokesman for Commissioner Bowie Kuhn said, neither the All-Star game nor Monday's Reopening Day will be affected.

"We could resort to using trains, as teams used to do before there were planes," the spokesman said.

Despite their support and the detailed explanations of player representatives, many players expressed confusion about the agreement, which deals primarily with a new system of compensation for teams losing top-flight players to free agency.

"I didn't understand one thing we were talking about," said one player. "Players don't!"

But it bothers writers more than golf extraordinare'

Watson's success does not include PGA

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) — Despite his dominance of professional golf for the past 4½ seasons, Tom Watson has yet to win a U.S. Open or PGA National championship.

To the winner of five majors, 25 PGA Tour events and $2.5 million in one decade, that's pure media hype.

"The press makes a heckuva lot of my not winning the U.S. Open. And the same for the PGA," Watson said Wednesday, on the eve of the 63rd PGA over the heavily-roughed Atlanta Athletic Club course.

"It doesn't bother me," said the PGA Player of the Year every season since 1977. "But it does bother the press. Sure, I'd like to win both. It just hasn't happened."

The 31-year-old Missourian, however, must rank in the forefront of the challengers for the $60,000 first prize in this $400,000 event, the last of the four annual majors.

The field of 150 is a formidable one, starting with defending champion Jack Nicklaus.

The 1980 PGA winner by a whopping seven shots at Rochester's Oak Hill, Nicklaus is faced with his second non-winning season in the past three years.

Still, he has performed well this year, the latest being an excellent warmup with a second-place tie in the Canadian Open three days ago.

Besides Watson, the Masters champion, U.S. Open victor David Graham and British Open titleholder Bill Rogers are aiming at Nicklaus' crown.

And then there are Raymond Floyd and Bruce Lietzke, both three-time Tour winners like Watson in 1981; two-time winner Johnny Miller; consistent Tom Kite, and Peter Oosterhuis, forced to make a hurried schedule change after he won the Canadian Open. Oosterhuis had not been a previous PGA qualifier.

Sure to be favorites of the huge galleries over this 7,060-yard, par-70 layout will be the names from another era — Gary Player, Arnold Palmer and 69-year-old Sam Snead.

Snead has won this tournament three times, the first 39 years ago. Player, the South Africa veteran, has two PGA crowns while Palmer, now 51, has yet to win this event although he has finished second three times.

Kite, because of his consistency and attitude, could be the man to beat. He has won just once this season in the American Motors-Inverrary Classic way back in March.

But of late, he has been the terror of the tour, finishing in the top seven in 10 of his last 11 starts.

Oosterhuis admits he's still on an emotional high after his Canadian victory, his first in seven American tour seasons after 19 world tournament titles in four seasons.

Rogers promises there will be no personal let-down after his stirring major triumph last month in the British Open.

Watson and Nicklaus agree on one thing: even par could produce Sunday's champion.

As Seattle, San Fran battle tonight

NFL exhibition matches college foes

SEATTLE (AP) — Rookie defensive backs Ken Easley of the Seattle Seahawks and Ronnie Lott of the San Francisco 49ers, two old rivals from Southern California, will make their National Football League debuts tonight in an exhibition opener for both clubs.

The 7:30 p.m. PDT meeting is the first of two exhibition games this year between the teams. Seattle is at San Francisco on Aug. 22.

Easley and Lott were first-round draft picks in April. Easley, of UCLA, was the No. 4 overall choice and Lott, of Southern Cal, was the No. 8 pick. Easley will start at a safety, Lott at a corner.

The 49ers defense has given up more than 400 points in each of the past two seasons, and Lott will be one of three rookie starters in the 49ers' defensive backfield. The others are cornerback Eric Wright and safety Carlton Williamson.

The Seahawks fell from 9-7 in 1979 to 4-12 last season, and that included an 0-8 showing in the Kingdome. They lost their last nine regular season games. The last time the Seahawks won at home was Aug. 29, 1980 when they beat New England 30-23 in their preseason finale.

They haven't won a game since last Oct. 19 when they beat the New York Jets at Shea Stadium, 27-17.

"Our game plan for San Francisco is so simple that we put it down on paper just for the exercise," Seattle

Coach Jack Patera said. "We've been a little shaky on offense during drills so I'm hoping we can smooth out some of the wrinkles," 49ers Coach Bill Walsh said.

The Seahawks will be starting their sixth season tonight. In the past two years, since Walsh took over as the San Francisco coach, they've beaten the 49ers three times, once in regular season play.

They edged the 49ers 10-7 in Candlestick Park last Aug. 23.

That was San Francisco's only preseason loss of 1980 as the 49ers went 3-1. After a pair of 2-14 regular seasons, they were 6-10 in Walsh's second year.

Patera is expected to use all three of his quarterbacks — Jim Zorn, Sam Adkins and Dave Krieg — while Walsh has said he will go with Joe Montana and Steve DeBerg. Zorn has been the Seahawks starting quarterback in each of their five seasons. Montana won the San Francisco quarterback job from DeBerg last season.

The preseason schedule continues Thursday with Philadelphia at Houston. On Friday, it's Kansas City at Washington and the New York Jets at Den-

NEW YORK (AP) — Rookie sensation Fernando Valenzuela of the Los Angeles Dodgers and two-time Cy Young Award winner Steve Carlton of the Philadelphia Phillies lead a squad of nine pitchers named today to the National League All-Star team by Manager Dallas Green.

Green also named Vida Blue of the San Francisco Giants, Burt Hooton of the Dodgers, Dick Ruthven of the Phillies, Bob Knepper and Nolan Ryan of the Houston Astros, Tom Seaver of the Cincinnati Reds and Bruce Sutter of the St. Louis Cardinals to the NL team for Sunday's game in Cleveland.

Valenzuela, 9-4 with a 2.45 earned run average, and Carlton, 9-1 and 2.80, lead the league in victories and are 1-2 in the majors in strikeouts with 103 and 94, respectively.

Hooton, Knepper and Valenzuela were named to the All-Star team for the first time, and Nolan Ryan has played in four All-Star games for the American League, this was the first time he has been named to the NL squad.

Blue, 5-5 and 2.22, is the only pitcher to start an All-Star game for both leagues, having started for the NL in 1978 and the AL in 1971, earning that league's only victory in the last 18 years.

Seaver, on his 12th NL All-Star team, is 7-1 with a 2.07 ERA for the Reds and reached the 3,000 career strikeout plateau on April 18. Carlton followed with his 1,000th on April 29 to become the first NL left-hander to accomplish the feat.

Sutter, 2-3 with a league-leading 11 saves, will be making his fourth consecutive appearance, having victories in the 1978 and 1979 games and a save last year. He is the only relief pitcher among the nine pitchers.

Ryan, who took over third place on the all-time career strikeout list this season when he whiffed his 3,118th batter on April 15, is 5-3 and 1.37 for the Astros, but that ERA is not even enough to lead his team, with Knepper pacing the league at 5-1 and 1.15.

Hooton, overshadowed on the Dodgers by Valenzuela's five victories and four shutouts in April, is 7-3 and 2.96.

Ruthven, 8-3 and 4.03, will be appearing on his second team, although he did not play in the 1976 game.

Sports in Brief

Big loser does it again

MIAMI (AP) — Former major league pitcher Pedro Ramos was sentenced to three years in prison for violating probation stemming from a 1979 firearms possession case.

Ramos, a native of Cuba who lives in Miami, was arrested June 8 for violating probation after being charged with drunken driving and possession of a concealed weapon.

Ramos, who led the American League in losses four times, was arrested in 1979 and charged with possession of cocaine, drug trafficking and possession of a concealed weapon. The drug charges are still pending.

Illinois State win nixed

NORMAL, Ill. (AP) — Illinois State's 48-47 basketball loss to California State-Bakersfield last season has been reversed because Bakersfield used an ineligible player.

The game was the consolation contest of the Milwaukee Classic hosted by Marquette University on Dec. 20, 1980.

A letter from Bakersfield Athletic Director Rudy Carvajal to Illinois State Athletic Director Don Kelley did not name the ineligible player, but officially forfeited the game to Illinois State.

Farm club fight draws fine

EDMONTON, Alberta (AP) — The Billings Mustangs of the Pioneer Baseball League have been fined $1,500 for forfeiting a game against the Calgary Expos after a bench-clearing brawl last week.

Ralph Nelles, the league president, said the money will go to the Expos to make up for the loss of the game. The Calgary club had to hand out more than 1,000 rain checks because the game did not go the required five innings before the forfeit, Nelles said in a telephone interview from Billings, Mont.

Ole Miss loses star QB

OXFORD, Miss. (AP) — Quarterback John Fourcade, whose strong passing arm carries the hope of better football days for the Mississippi Rebels, underwent surgery for a broken right hand.

Fourcade, the Southeastern Conference total offense leader last year with 2,299 yards, broke his passing hand in an intramural softball game Monday night.

Pokes Dutton looks primed

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — John Dutton, the Dallas Cowboys' big defensive tackle, says he isn't sure. I do know that I've picked up some things. I've learned a lot about the game since coming to the Cowboys. I think I'm a better player because of it.

"I feel better than at anytime since my first and second years with the Colts," Dutton said Wednesday between practices at the Cowboys training camp.

"I know there are some people who think I've lost a step or two, but I'm not so sure. I do know that I've learned a lot about the game since coming to the Cowboys. I think I'm a better player because of it."

Dutton's dispute and holdout with the Colts in 1979 led to his being traded in mid-season to the Cowboys, who needed an emergency replacement at defensive about," said pitcher Neil Allen after listening to Mets player rep Rusty Staub.

"It took an hour and a half to simplify it," said Brewers player rep Ted Simmons. "We went over it word for word, paragraph by paragraph, from beginning to end."

Overhearing Simmons, pitcher Mike Caldwell asked, "If it was so simple, why did it take 50 days to get it?"

Pittsburgh player rep Phil Garner said several players were concerned about performance clauses in their contracts. For example, players can be paid bonuses for the number of starts, number of at-bats, number of hits and so on.

"That's been a big issue," said Garner. "A lot of people have performance bonuses, and those will be prorated."

Dan Quisenberry of Kansas City said his teammates had similar questions.

"A couple of guys with bonus clauses based on service time were concerned and a couple of people wanted to know why we have to play so many games in the second half to make up for the first half," Quisenberry said.

The Royals played only 50 games before the strike, 10 fewer than the Oakland A's.

Meanwhile, all the teams continued workouts or played intrasquad games Tuesday in an effort to get their eyes, arms and legs ready after the long layoff.

Three days of exhibition games will be played Thursday through Saturday.

On Thursday, Albuquerque of the Pacific Coast League will meet its parent club, the Los Angeles Dodgers; Baltimore is at Philadelphia, Oakland at San Diego, Pittsburgh at Cleveland and Houston at Texas.

Big Spring, Coahoma athletes have physical dates tomorrow

The annual athletic physical day for students from Big Spring and Coahoma schools will be Thursday, August 6, 1981. This will include all boys and girls in grades 7-12 who wish to participate in athletics during the coming school year.

The physical will be given at both Malone-Hogan Clinic and Cowper Clinic. Boys going to Malone-Hogan Clinic and Cowper Clinic, should enter from the South employees' door and girls from the Southeast emergency exit door. All Big Spring students should plan on getting their physical from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. All Coahoma students should plan on getting their physicals from 2 p.m. to 3 p.m.

Boys and girls who wish to have their physicals at Cowper Clinic will start at 12:45 p.m. All students should enter through the Northwest parking lot door.

There will be a $6 fee for all physicals given at Cowper Clinic.

All students need to report for a pre-physical screening before going to get their physicals. Students from Big Spring should report to these areas for the screening:

All girls, grades 7-12 should report to the Physical Education Gym, Coaches Office, which is located in the gym just off 10th Street, next to the North parking lot of the high school.

All boys, grades 7-12 should report to the training room which is located next to the East parking lot of the high school at Steer gym. Please use the East door.

Hours for pre-screening shall be Monday, Aug. 3 through Wednesday Aug. 5, from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. Pre-screening shall be open Thursday, Aug. 6, from 10:30 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Police empty handed in Martin shooting

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Police are without suspects or a motive in the shotgun ambush of State Rep. Mike Martin after five days of questioning Martin's friends and associates and tracking down "rumors" that failed to lead out.

MICHAEL MARTIN

Martin, R-Longview, may be asked to undergo hypnosis to help him provide clues that might lead police to his assailant, according to Clayton Smith, one of two Texas Rangers assigned to the investigation.

The lawmaker was shot about 2:30 a.m. Friday at a southeast Austin trailer park where he had been staying during the special legislative session.

Police found four spent 12-gauge shotgun shells on the street leading to the trailer park. The shells, fired from about 90 feet, broke out the windows on the passenger side of Martin's car.

Martin was released from an Austin hospital Saturday after being treated for an elbow wound.

Martin, who campaigned on a platform to force the teaching of biblical account of creation in public schools, returned to the Capitol under guard Monday for debate on the congressional redistricting bill.

A Dallas newspaper Wednesday quoted sources close to the investigation as saying they do not believe Martin is telling all he knows about the assault.

Investigators have complained from the start that Martin is not being candid in insisting that he has no idea who shot him or why, according to The Dallas Morning News.

Austin police have ruled out the possibility that the shooting was related to Martin's legislative duties.

the News reported. "They figure it's personal," a source told the newspaper.

Martin, who lists his profession as a carpenter and construction company owner, was fired in November 1973 after less than six months as a policeman in Big Sandy, a small community about 25 miles west of Longview, the News reported.

Big Sandy Mayor Pro-Tempore Carolyn Davis, who was city secretary at the time, said Martin alienated the town's residents with his overzealous enforcement of the law.

"The badge and the uniform really kinda made him gung-ho and he wasn't old enough for it," Ms. Davis said. "They (the townspeople) just didn't accept him."

Ms. Davis said Martin later filed an unemployment compensation claim against the city challenging his firing, but it was rejected on the grounds he had disobeyed orders.

But former city councilman James A. Crow remembered Martin as a "pretty nice boy."

Property tax code subject of new bill

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Senate Finance Committee approved a bill today to make the 1979 Property Tax Code more acceptable to taxpayers and appraisers.

"Current provisions are so complex nobody could question them — not in 100 years," said Carl Smith, tax assessor-collector for Harris County.

The committee sent the House approved version of changes in tax code to the Senate on a 9-0 vote, after adding several amendments that will require yet another House vote.

Time has now become important in considering the 137-page bill revising the code as the 30-day special session ends Tuesday.

Spokesmen for the Texas Mid Continent Oil & Gas Association, the Texas Association of School Boards and the Texas Automobile Dealers Association all endorsed the House version. It was approved 120-21 on Monday night.

The Senate committee voted to delete a proposal that appraisers would have to give 72 hours notice before entering businesses to evaluate equipment and inventory.

Another amendment tightened the tax exemption on "tools of the trade." Sen. Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, said if the definition of "tools of the trade" was too broad "a greater (tax) load would fall on homeowners."

Sen. Grant Jones, D-Abilene, failed 4-4 in an attempt to make it more difficult to override the decisions of appraisal district boards. The bill passed two years ago requires property taxes to be levied on full market value of real estate and income producing personal property as determined by countywide appraisal districts, after Jan. 1. Options have been offered, however, to delay the effective date.

Daniel changes lawyers

HOUSTON (AP) — Vickie Daniel has changed lawyers for her murder trial on a charge of murdering her husband, former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr.

Mrs. Daniel said Tuesday she has hired Jack Zimmerman, an associate of prominent criminal lawyer Richard "Racehorse" Haynes and that she had done so on Haynes' recommendation.

Zimmerman, 30, said he now has full responsibility for Mrs. Daniel's defense. He said he and Haynes had planned to work together on the case but a heavy trial schedule warranted a division of the case load.

Zimmerman was not involved last spring as Haynes successfully defended Mrs. Daniel in a six-week child custody trial in which Daniel's sister, Jean Daniel Murph, had sought custody of her brother's two young children.

Two other lawyers who were active in the child custody case also said they will not participate in the murder trial defense.

In Liberty, Harlan D. Friend said Mrs. Daniel telephoned Tuesday that he would not be needed in that she had retained Zimmerman. Friend said he will continue to represent her in civil court matter.

In Baytown, Andrew J. Lannie, the Baytown lawyer who filed a divorce petition for Mrs. Daniel three weeks before the Jan. 19 fatal shooting of her husband, said he had not talked with her about the murder trial but that he had talked with Zimmerman.

"I am in the process of withdrawing from the case," Lannie said. "I don't know all the facts, but it appears Zimmerman wants to work alone."

Zimmerman said Friend and Lannie are civil lawyers and that he is not used to working with co-counsel.

Two pickups hit, no injuries

A minor accident was reported at Hilltop Road and North Birdwell Lane Tuesday.

A 1978 Chevrolet pickup driven by James Brian Ellison, 1607 Donley, and a 1972

GMC pickup, driven by Michael Kent Brown, 2603 Apache, collided at 6:35 p.m. Howard County sheriff's deputies and a highway patrolman were called to the scene, but no injuries were reported.

Tools stolen by burglar

A burglary at the Midway Texaco Gas Station in Sand Springs was reported at 9 p.m. by Mrs. Mack Shoales. Entry was reportedly gained by kicking in the east door on the garage. Taken in the incident was $100 of tools. An estimated $100 in damage was caused to the door.

Farm — 1981 Texas cotton crop looks promising

COLLEGE STATION — Despite a rough start in some areas due to a siege of wet spring weather, Texas' cotton crop looks promising. In fact, with a general rain the next few weeks and some letup in insect activity, a good crop could result.

"Our crop went through a stress period earlier due to the extended wet weather, but the return to cotton weather has encouraged fruiting," says Dr. Bob Metzger, cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "We started the season with good deep moisture in most areas to sustain the crop, but a rain in early August would put the icing on the cake."

About 7.4 million acres were planted to cotton in Texas this spring, which is more than half of the nation's crop of about 14.2 million acres.

"We currently have the potential range of 325 to 350 pounds of lint per acre," believes Metzger. "We might even get close to the 400-pound mark if needed rains come and insect damage is limited."

Boll weevils and bollworms are currently plaguing some producers, and fleahoppers caused damage in some locations, resulting in loss of early fruit set. In addition, some squares were lost to the wet weather, which also caused boll rot problems in coastal and southern areas.

"A problem looming ahead is that of cotton root rot, particularly in the Central Texas Blacklands," points out Metzger. "Root rot is always a problem when there is good soil moisture, and it tends to increase with wet weather."

Cotton in the High and Rolling Plains and western areas got off to a good start this year, notes the specialist, although heavy spring storms caused considerable replanting in some locations.

Hance calls 1982 farm bill poor piece of legislation

Provisions of the 1982 farm bill, to be voted on by the Senate and House after the August congressional recess, miserably fail to meet the objectives set forth by the legislative policy of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

In fact, says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, Congressman Kent Hance was right on the money in a recent "Ag Update" letter when he said the bill "as it is now written is one of the worst pieces of farm legislation I've ever seen."

PCG policy calls for a minimum loan level at 65 percent of parity (now about 76 cents) and retention of the current disaster program until federal crop insurance has proven itself as an acceptable substitute, Johnson points out. Both Senate and House bills now call for a minimum loan of 55 cents and both would eliminate disaster payments beginning in 1982.

Changes may or may not be made in the House Ag Committee bill before a full vote. But the Senate Committee bill is complete, Johnson notes, and along with its failure to meet the needs of all cotton producers "it contains a separate provision aimed straight at the throats of producers on the High Plains."

That provision, tacked on by Senator Howell Heflin (D-Ala.), would require the Secretary of Agriculture each year to set cotton quality differentials at the simple one-to-one average of the previous year's loan discounts and the August-March average of spot market quotations.

Traditionally USDA has had authority to avoid drastic changes in quality premiums and discounts from year to year by giving additional weight to the previous year's loan discounts.

1981 Soviet grain harvest hurt by weather problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications are growing that the Soviet Union's 1981 grain harvest may be smaller than described by official U.S. estimates.

The Agriculture Department is scheduled to release its new estimate of Soviet grain production a week from today, and some trade people are suggesting it probably will show a further reduction.

For example, U.S. Wheat Associates — a market development organization supported by wheat farmers — says in its current newsletter that "most observers now peg the 1981 Soviet grain harvest in the 180 million to 185 million metric ton range" because of weather problems in recent months.

That would be down 15 million tons or more from USDA's current estimate of Soviet grain production.

Meanwhile, a hot, dry spell that has threatened much of the Soviet Union's spring-planted grain area is still hanging on, the government's Joint Agricultural Weather Facility said Tuesday.

"The dry conditions were not quite as extreme as the previous week, but they covered a broader area and persisted longer," the report said.

Excessively wet weather in the western Ukraine "caused substantial problems" for harvesting winter grain, it said. The report covered the week of July 27-Aug. 2.

But in the United States, the report said, "unseasonably cool weather" spread over the central portions of the country, the East Coast and Pacific Northwest during the week.

"Timely rain fell over most crop regions, improving conditions especially in many areas of the Corn Belt," it said.

No yield estimates are included in the weekly reports, which are issued by the facility operated by the departments of Commerce and Agriculture.

Du Pont likely winner of Conoco wars

NEW YORK (AP) — Du Pont Co. apparently won control of Conoco Inc. today for $7.4 billion in stock and cash after the biggest takeover battle in U.S. corporate history.

The victory for Du Pont, the No. 1 chemical company in the nation, came after competing bidder Mobil Corp. failed to persuade a federal appeals' court judge to block the Du Pont offer for Conoco, the No. 9 oil company.

Although there was no immediate official word, Du Pont apparently won control of a majority of Conoco's 86 million outstanding shares of stock when shareholders' tenderings — offers to sell their stock to Du Pont — became irrevocable at midnight Tuesday.

Company officials were working early this morning to determine how many shares were actually tendered. Du Pont was expected to buy the stock quickly.

In a takeover battle, competing companies offer to buy stock of the target business from shareholders. A stockholder's decision on whom to sell to is influenced by various factors, including price and the likelihood that a company's bid might be blocked by the government on, for example, antitrust grounds.

Du Pont will pay $3.8 billion for 38.7 million Conoco shares tendered for cash and give 1.7 shares of its own stock for each of the remaining shares of Conoco. Du Pont offered an extra $275 million or more to Monsanto Co. in a deal that was negotiated to secure Justice Department approval of the Conoco takeover.

Mobil, the nation's No. 2 oil company, raised its bid for Conoco to $8.8 billion in cash and securities Tuesday, but that was not enough to overcome fears of Conoco stockholders that Mobil would never be allowed to buy the shares because of antitrust problems.

Du Pont now becomes a major oil company and the owner of Consolidation Coal Co., the nation's No. 2 producer of coal. It also finds itself owing billions of dollars that it borrowed to finance the deal.

The chemical company has not made clear what it will do with Conoco, but there has been speculation that it might sell off part of it to gain money to repay the bank debt. Conoco, with service stations in more than 40 states, has large domestic holdings of coal, oil and natural gas.

Consolidation Coal has been mentioned as a possible target for selling, although Du Pont has said its own research into synthetic fuel could make the coal assets more valuable.

Detective's digging leads to death penalty

HOUSTON (AP) — Diana Wanstrath's friends did not believe the attractive 36-year-old woman killed her husband and baby son, then herself, as medical examiners had ruled in 1979.

Houston homicide detective Johnny Bonds also believed a mistake had been made.

Tuesday he saw his two-year investigation of the killings end with a death penalty for Diana's brother, who was accused of masterminding the slayings to inherit the family estate.

But Markham Duff-Smith, 34, received the sentence for another killing — the 1975 hired strangulation of his adoptive mother, Gertrude Zabolio. He was charged, but never tried, in the deaths of Mrs. Wanstrath and her family.

A jury deliberated only 15 minutes before deciding Duff-Smith should be sentenced to die in the Zabolio slaying. The death of the 61-year-old woman had been listed as a suicide for more than four years.

Prosecutors said Duff-Smith might never have stood trial in his mother's slaying without Bonds' investigation into the Wanstrath deaths.

His digging eventually led to the confessions of a hit man and two middlemen who said Duff-Smith was the mastermind in both the Zabolio and Wanstrath killings. Rulings in both cases were changed to murder.

Duff-Smith was convicted of capital murder Monday. Prosecutors then used the penalty phase of the trial to present evidence he was behind the three murders he had never been tried for — the shootings of his sister, Diana Wanstrath, her husband John and their 14-month-old son, Kevin.

Bonds, a 6-foot-2, 14-year veteran policeman, shocked a packed courtroom into silence as he wept on the witness stand when he told why he continued to investigate the Wanstrath case after it was closed with the murder-suicide ruling.

"Diana Wanstrath was being falsely accused and couldn't be defended," Bonds said, his voice beginning to break. "And because they killed Kevin, too."

In final arguments before jurors began deliberating Duff-Smith's punishment, Assistant District Attorney Bill Eggleston asked jurors to remember a photograph of Kevin, who was shot as he slept in his crib.

"Because (Duff-Smith) had to have monogrammed shirts and fast cars, Kevin was denied little league and the tooth fairy," Eggleston said.

Bonds, 33, was absent from the courtroom when jurors announced their punishment verdict. Eggleston said the detective was afraid he would get too emotional.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, AUG. 6, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A time when your creative ideas should be used to advantage. You are able to improve relationships with others so there is a greater amount of accord in the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get together with congenials and enjoy amusements during spare hours. Put talent to work and get fine results.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Look over your environment and make improvements where needed. Improve your health and accomplish more.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) A conference with associates will pave the way to more success in the future. Strive for increased happiness.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) The right time to elevate your thinking where money is concerned and then you can command more prosperity.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Engage in more social activities after business matters are handled properly. Use that smile more. Be wary of outsiders.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Gain the advice of financial experts so that you can advance more quickly. Draw up a campaign of action.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Consult with an influential person who can assist you in your career. Much good can come of this in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Become more active in civic affairs and get excellent results. Obtain the guidance you need from higher-ups.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You should be highly inspired now and can easily gain your fondest aspirations. Arrange for a future trip.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Use your hunches where loved one is concerned and you come out a winner. A good time to make plans for the future.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Meet with associates and make better arrangements for the future. Take health treatments that will perk you up.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take time to make your environments more comfortable. Come to a better understanding with co-workers early in the day.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those persons who can envision the highest results of any undertaking and know its true potential, plus knowing the needs of others. Be sure to equip your progeny with the finest education.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Royal wedding major factor in TV ratings

NEW YORK (AP) — The wedding of Prince Charles and Lady Diana Spencer dominated the original TV network programming in the week ending Aug. 2, but only one of five pre- and post-wedding specials was broadcast by CBS — winner in the weekly ratings race. That show, "The Royal Wedding," placed 17th among 63 shows broadcast in the week, behind ABC's preview program, in 13th place, figures from the A.C. Nielsen Co. showed Tuesday. CBS instead listed four repeats among the week's 10 highest-rated shows, including a rerun of "The Jeffersons" in first place, and won the three-way race with an average rating of 14.5 to 13.6 for ABC and 12.2 for NBC.

The networks say that means in an average prime-time minute during the week, 14.5 percent of the nation's TV-equipped homes were tuned to CBS. It was the 11th straight week for CBS as the No. 1 network in prime-time NBC, meanwhile, continued on a streak of its own, now at third place. ABC's "20-20" was the only first-run program among the week's 10 top-rated. No. 2, and CBS had just one other first-run show among the 63 surveyed for the week — "Walter Cronkite's Universe" in 53rd place.

CCC offers sorghum sale
 Farmers and other interested persons are eligible to purchase sorghum from the Commodity Credit Corporation.

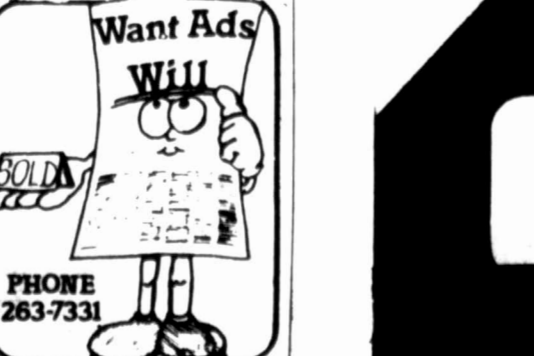

Tim Hall, County Director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said the CCC will offer sorghum for unrestricted use sale at market prices, but not less than the formula price which is 115 percent of the county loan rate for sorghum where stored plus 97 cents per hundred-weight carrying charges. "The minimum quantity that will be considered for acceptance is 560 hundredweight", Hall said. According to Hall, offers will be received and sales will be made on a first come, first served basis. Interested persons should contact the county ASCS office as soon as possible for further details.

Trailer stolen
 A 1971 Mack truck and a 1974 General flat bed dozer trailer were stolen from the Luce Water Station on the north edge of Coahoma. Shannon Boyles, of Harding Well Service, the firm who owned the equipment, reported the loss.

Pickup recovered in San Angelo
 A 1979 Ford pickup, which had been reported stolen Monday was found by the San Angelo police Tuesday. Dick Nichols, Box 1201, Big Spring, reported that his 1979 Ford was taken from his residence about 1:20 a.m. Monday. A subject wearing a western hat was seen driving the pickup south on U.S. 87. The car was reportedly found in San Angelo at about 8:10 a.m. Tuesday.

Exxon boosts drilling plans
 HOUSTON (AP) — Exxon Co. USA plans to drill 1,000 development oil and gas wells this year compared with 700 last year. Exxon reported Tuesday it is boosting its 1981 oil and gas production budget by $282 million to $1.4 billion. The 1980 budget totaled $910 million. C.D. Roxburgh, production vice president, said $136 million of the increase will go for development wells, those designed to increase production in previously discovered fields.
