Showers dot Big Spring area

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Rain fell hard yesterday in areas around Big Spring, but they just did not fall long enough to suit surrounding residents.

Rains drenched the streets of Big Spring at about 5 p.m. yesterday and again at 6:30 p.m.

The drains in the city streets were swirling as the welcome rain poured down on the quitting time traffic.

After receiving only a brief taste of the cool rain residents will surely be looking to the heavens today in hopes of receiving more.

The Couch residence in Luther reported that about .20 inch fell there. At 5:10 p.m. the Wilkinson ranch 10 miles west of Big Spring reported approximately .50 inch.

The U.S. Experiment Farm weather station measured .30 precipitation between 5:10 p.m. and 10:00 p.m. The Colorado River Municipal Water District said 1.4 inches fell just north of its pump station from 5:00 p.m. until 10 p.m. Showers fell at Lake Thomas Dam but no runoff was reported.

The Boyce Hales said it rained only a trace around 5 p.m. at their home southwest of Big Spring. All residents reported they'd like to see more rain on the way.

James D. "Red" Thomas, 107 E. 13th St., reported 1.3 inch fell on his backyard Monday.

Council to consider O.I.L. expansion plan

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

The Big Spring City Council meets today at 6:30 p.m. in Room 205 of City Hall to take action on a lengthy agenda.

A late addition to the agenda concerns O.I.L.'s expansion plans at the city Industrial Park. The company would like to substantially increase its acreage and to do this several airport buildings would have to be relocated. The park Steering Committee has met on several occasions to hammer out the details of a lease with O.I.L., including a meeting Monday in which tentative agreement between the committee and O.I.L. was reached.

The council will receive word from City Manager Don Davis tonight on the agreement, which, if approved, would likely turn out to be the conceptual basis from which a final lease is drawn up.

Not only the council, but the Federal Aviation Administration must approve the plan as well. And O.I.L.'s expansion is further contingent upon buying out a number of leases held by tenants in the acreage O.I.L. wants to take over.

O.I.L. manufactures equipment for the oil industry and envisions, in its expansion, increasing its job force by 2,000 people and its payroll to $49 million by 1984.

Other items on the council agenda involve the city's response to a rate hike request by Energas, an increase in Big Spring property taxes and a review of the proposed 1981-82 revenue sharing budget.

State redistricting could help GOP gain control of Congress

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — In a vote similar to President Reagan's recent coalition victories in Congress, the Texas Senate has approved a bill that could help Republicans gain control of Congress in the 1980s.

The plan leaves U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm's district identical to the version adopted by the Senate.

Eight conservative Democrats joined eight Republicans on Monday to pass a congressional redistricting bill that critics say could increase the number of Texas Republicans in the U.S. House of Representatives from five to nine.

Although the bill was finally approved 18-13, the key vote was 15-16 against sending the measure to a conference committee.

Sen. John Wilson, D-La Grange, noted that Texas Democrats who had voted with Reagan on his recent budget and tax cuts had been called "boll weevils" and "turncoats."

"I can find no word to call them other than heroes," said Wilson. "And this bill will allow us to send more people of that kind of fabric to Washington."

Legislative approval of the bill was viewed as a blow to Democrat Jim Wright's chances of becoming the first U.S. House speaker from Texas since the late Sam Rayburn.

The GOP already has a Senate majority, and lacks only some 30 members to become the majority party in the House.

The redistricting bill reflects population gains that will increase the size of the Texas delegation from 24 to 27.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy, angry over what he considered the defection of Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and Speaker Bill Clayton on redistricting, quoted Rayburn in saying he would "forgive and remember."

Mauzy, D-Dallas, predicted Hobby would face Democratic opposition in the 1982 primary as a result of his support of the redistricting plan.

Texas Democrats "are not going to nominate someone who uses his office to help the Republican Party to the detriment of the Democratic Party," Mauzy told reporters.

"In my view," said Rep. Paul Ragsdale, D-Dallas,

Hobby and Clayton "have relinquished their right to call themselves Democrats. Hobby, Clayton and the so-called Democrats who voted with them are Quislings who deserved to be recognized as the sellouts they are."

Gov. Bill Clements, the state's first Republican governor in over 100 years, said, "Texas is a conservative state, and the bill reflects what is right for Texas."

Republicans got a redistricting bill they wanted despite their minority status of 38 out of 150 House members and eight of 31 senators.

He said Republicans had stuck together since the regular session began in January, yet "the Democratic Party has been unable to assure the loyalty of elected leaders."

Foreign pressure not softening Reagan's stand on air controllers

WASHINGTON (AP) — While the air traffic controllers strike spreads its impact from Europe to New Zealand, the Reagan administration shows no sign that international pressure will soften its hardline stand against the strikers.

A boycott of aircraft to and from the United States by Canadian controllers forced the rerouting Monday of trans-Atlantic flights and a virtual halt of air traffic between the United States and Canada.

Meanwhile, Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis and more than 50 airline executives met with other administration officials, including White House economics adviser Martin Anderson, for a luncheon today to work out a long-term airline scheduling plan and discuss ways to minimize the economic impact of the controllers strike.

"The airlines are saying that the reduced flights are not going to hurt them that much, but that what they need is stability," Transportation Department spokesman Tom Blank said.

The meeting was closed to the press. Lewis appeared Monday to be unflustered by the international developments.

He accused union leaders of "trying to whip up" support around the world for what he said are false claims that the strike is making U.S. air routes unsafe.

Flights between the United States and five airports in Canada resumed Monday night when Canadian controllers eased their boycott after 29 of them were suspended by the Canadian government.

However, trans-Atlantic traffic was still affected by the continued refusal of controllers in Gander, Newfoundland, to handle planes bound to and from the United States.

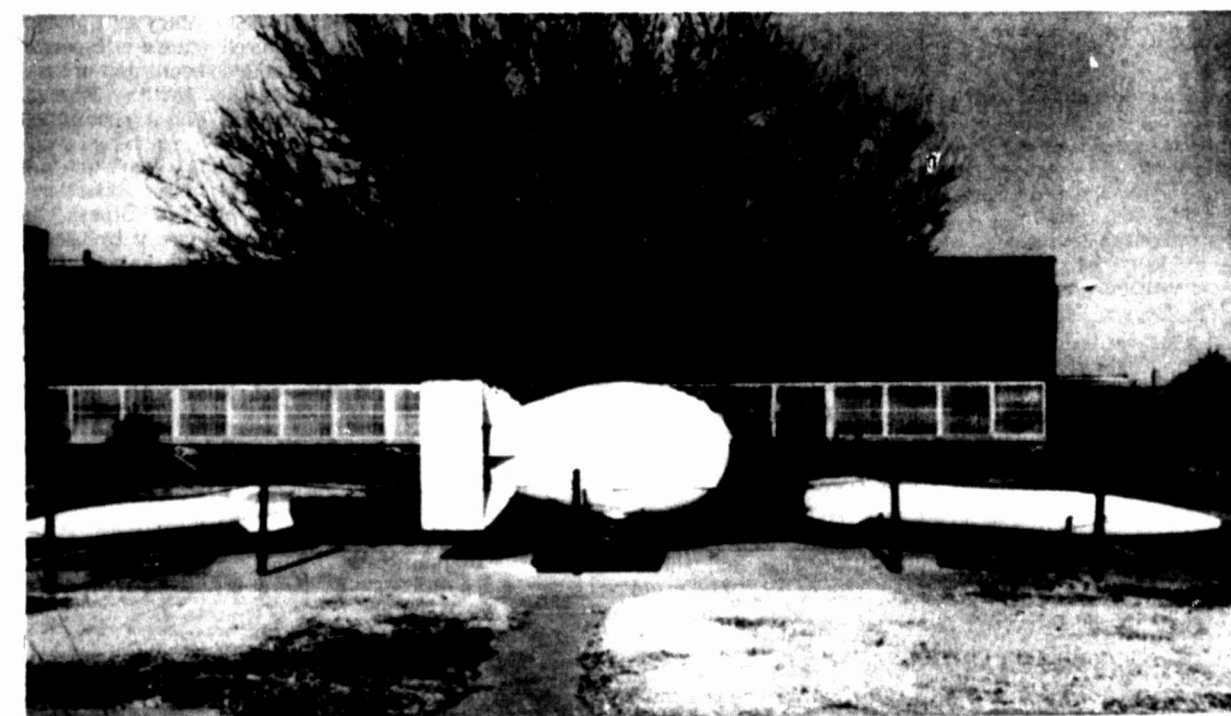

Delays of eight to 10 hours were predicted on some flights between the United States and Europe because of the shifting of routes away from Canadian air space. Controllers in New Zealand also refused to handle flights to or from the United States.

Transportation Secretary Drew Lewis, who was to meet with airline industry executives today to map out a six-month scheduling plan, appeared to be unflustered by the international developments.

He accused union leaders of "trying to whip up" support around the world for what he said are false claims that the strike is making U.S. air routes unsafe.

Robert E. Poli, president of the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization, repeatedly has claimed the traffic control system is unsafe because it is manned by too few — and at times inadequately prepared — supervisors, military controllers and non-striking controllers.

"It's obvious to all of us now that Mr. Poli has whipped up his forces in America to the point they struck and now he's trying to whip them up around the world," Lewis snapped Monday.

Jurors in the case were selected Monday in 118th District Court. They are Maria O. Bridges, Rex A. Greenwood, Peggy Snell, Ordis Walker and L.C. Wilbanks.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Ticks trouble

Q. I've noticed quite a number of ticks around my home lately. Is it just my home, or is there a problem with ticks in Big Spring?

A. Gregory Bledsoe, city-county sanitarian, said he would consider ticks "to be a problem" in Big Spring, because he has received a number of calls to his office concerning the insects. "There are more (ticks) than we ought to have" in the city, Bledsoe said, adding he had received several complaints in the last few days. Bledsoe added that "basic spraying" for insects is not handled out of the Health department, but falls under the jurisdiction of the city.

Elephants come to eat at hotel in Fort Worth

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — A dozen large diners had lunch at the elegant Hyatt Regency Hotel here Friday. The guests ate with their noses.

Jewell, Bonnie, Harmon, Ronnie and the rest stuffed themselves with 800 pounds of fresh fruit and vegetables and guzzled 660 gallons of water. They lumbered from table to table and knocked food onto the ground.

No one seemed to mind the mess. It was about what you'd expect from a bunch of elephants.

The Hyatt had invited the hungry beasts, performers with the Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey Circus, to a "trail ride and lunch" on the plaza outside the hotel. The elephants wore cowboy hats and ate enthusiastically.

Hotel chef Steve Felenczak prepared an elephantine lunch for the pachyderms, including 60 cucumbers, 50 heads of iceberg lettuce, 36 zucchini squash, 50 pounds of carrots, 50 pounds of bananas, 120 tomatoes, 144 Danish pastries, and much, much more.

Local couple to ride cycle to Milwaukee

Howard and Marijo Walker are preparing to take a normal business trip. Well, almost normal. The Walkers will be leaving today on a motorcycle for a national meeting of Harley-Davidson dealers.

The meeting is scheduled to begin Aug. 17 in York, Pa. Walker said the company hopes the dealers will all ride their cycles to York and the show of strength will bolster company loyalty.

The Walkers plan to make the trip a combination of business and pleasure. The couple will allow themselves two weeks of travel on the 2,000 mile journey with the highlight being three days at the Harley-Davidson conference. The couple will travel through Arkansas, Tennessee, Virginia and Pennsylvania.

Howard has been working for Harley-Davidson since 1964 and logs between five- and six-thousand miles a year on his cycle.

"I had never ridden a motorcycle in my life until I met my wife and she taught me how," he said.

Marijo grew up around motorcycles and to her the machines represent the open road and a feeling of exhilaration.

"You have more freedom on the road... you can smell the air and feel alive," she said.

Howard and Marijo plan to stay with friends along the way and camp out when possible. Although this is their first long trip together, the couple hopes to be able to take future trips of some distance and enjoy the alive feeling of the open road.

Glasscock Underground Water District to meet

The Glasscock County Underground Water District, created during the last session of the Texas legislature under a bill sponsored by Senator Pete Snelson and Rep. Tom Craddock, will be the subject of a county-wide meeting at 7:30 p.m. Thursday at the St. Lawrence Hall.

The meeting has powers of chapters 51 and 52 of the Texas Water Code to use to insure and protect the flow of the underground aquifers feeding the water supply for the county.

The purpose of Thursday's meeting is to discuss the recent legislation and the amount of taxation needed for maintenance of the district.

Wayne Wyatt of the High Plains Water District will be the speaker Thursday. He will discuss the functions and purposes of a district and give support to the recent legislation. Darwin Schroeder of the Soil Conservation Service will speak to the group on the need to conserve the water table and ways through which the proposed district could be of help to landowners. A question and answer period is also scheduled.

The election for confirmation of the district will be Aug. 22 in all four precincts.

Water trust fund addresses future needs

Back in February, Newsweek Magazine pointed out that "just as Americans have discovered the hidden energy costs in a multitude of products—in refrigerating a steak, for example, on its way to the butcher—they are about to discover the hidden water costs."

Beginning with the water that irrigated the corn that was fed to the steer, one steak may have accounted for 3,500 gallons. The water that goes into a thousand-pound steer would float a destroyer.

It takes nearly 15,000 gallons of water to grow a bushel of wheat, 60,000 gallons to produce a ton of steel, 120 gallons to put a single egg on the breakfast table.

As West Texans, we don't

Representative Larry Don Shaw Reports from Austin

have to be told how valuable water will become in the years to come—water has always been a precious commodity in our area. And as the giant Ogallala Aquifer steadily dries up beneath our feet, water may well become more valuable than oil unless we move quickly to ensure adequate supplies of water twenty or thirty years down the road.

For that reason, I was extremely happy to see the Legislature make a tangible commitment to water development by passing Speaker Billy Clayton's state water trust fund package during the special session.

The Speaker's proposal requires a constitutional amendment, which means it will be submitted for the voters' approval on the Nov. 3 general election ballot. If approved, it will do the following:

(1) Every two years, half of any state revenues in excess of the constitutional spending limit would automatically be dedicated to a state trust fund to back water, sewer and flood control projects; the Legislature, however, could by majority vote at any time divert to other purposes any money in the fund that is not already committed to water projects. Under enabling legislation passed during the special session, each dollar in the water fund could be used to guarantee up to ten dollars of bonds issued on the local level for water projects.

(2) The Legislature would be authorized to pledge up to $500 million of the State's credit to guarantee up to one billion dollars in bonds issued by qualified political subdivisions for water projects. This guarantee will help the subdivisions issuing bonds to get higher ratings for their bonds, which means a possible savings of 1 1/2 percent to 2 percent on the interest rate they must pay.

(3) The allowable interest rate on state general obligation bonds would be raised from 6 percent to 12 percent, thus making it possible for about $200 million in currently-unmarketable Texas Water Development Bonds to be issued and sold.

Right now, Texas is a wealthy state. Some day, however, our oil reserves will be depleted and the loss of state revenue will force the taxpayers to shoulder a much heavier burden just to maintain state services at the present level. The massive amounts of money necessary to deal with a water crisis could break us unless we begin to set aside the money right now when we can afford it. In my opinion, these water proposals represent a major step in the right direction.

Nurse has soft spot for kids

By BOB CARPENTER

Staff Writer

The R.N. behind registered nurse Victoria Moore's name is definitely worthy of being in capitals. The hard-working nurse at Big Spring's Malone-Hogan Hospital was recently nominated for the Dr. Frist Humanitarian Award.

The prize, first awarded in 1972, stresses positive and significant contribution to patient welfare. The contest is held at the local level with winners advancing to district and national competition. Victoria was chosen by her fellow employees as outstanding in her duty.

"I'm excited and thrilled to win. You know, you go down and do your job day in and day out and you think nobody notices... so it's nice to be recognized," she said.

"Vickie," as she likes to be called, believes every patient should be treated as a separate case, and not as if he were just another broken leg or appendix operation. She thinks that compassion and the ability to relate to people comes with the territory.

"I treat each patient as an individual... people are different when they're feeling bad so you have to be aware of their special needs," she said.

When asked if she was striving to win the Frist award she said, "I don't try to win extra things. I do things because they are enjoyable."

Vickie's activities don't end once she gets off work at the hospital. She is involved as a leader in Brownie girls, 4-H, and helping with the Bargain Box store operated by St. Mary's Episcopal Church. Vickie is especially excited about a new program called "Health Resource Series." This is a community program whereby volunteers can help to teach children more about health and physical fitness. The series is taught by use of a puppet and serves to be entertaining as well as informative.

Vickie Moore's reputation is a good one.

"People have gotten to know me and they come to me sometimes with problems and we sit down and try to work them out. I take a personal interest in people and hope my actions will instill good in others," she said.

Vickie has a soft spot for children and makes a special effort to see that their stay in the hospital is as comfortable as possible. She often bestows gifts of toys or balloons to make the children know they are well cared for. Although most of her fine reputation stems from care of children, she insists she takes pain with all patients.

Vickie now moves on to a district competition which involves the winners of various local hospitals. If she is successful at this level she will continue on to the national contest which is scheduled for early September in Nashville.

What with Vickie's dedication and knack for working with patients it's a good bet she may be on her way to Tennessee in the fall.

An officer attempted to break up the fight and allegedly was struck by Moore with the cast he wears on his right arm.

Moore was subdued shortly afterward and a charge of assault on a police officer was filed. Police also filed an aggravated assault charge in connection with the fight with Menjares, who was sent to Malone-Hogan hospital and treated for multiple contusions, according to a hospital spokeswoman.

Continental board to name new chief today

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Directors of Continental Airlines are prepared to name an immediate successor to chairman Alvin Lindbergh Feldman, who committed suicide Sunday.

The board called a meeting today to make the selection and also to recommend scrapping an employee stock ownership plan proposed to foil takeover attempts by Texas International Airlines, said George A. Warde, Continental's president and chief executive officer. Banks approached to finance the plan pulled out over the weekend.

"We polled our board and as far as we're concerned we don't think ESOP can fly without the bank financing," Warde said. "Other avenues are up for grabs, but we have no thoughts or ideas."

However, the Continental Airline Employees Association may have access to other financing.

The group is continuing legislative efforts to overturn a decision by the California corporation commissioner which blocked issuance of common stock to employees unless shareholders approve.

Feldman, 53, shot himself once in the head in the executive suite of his Los Angeles International Airport office between 5:40 p.m. and 7:35 p.m. Sunday, said Los Angeles Police Detective Kena Brutsch.

A security guard found his body along with three notes addressed to his children: David, 25; John, 23; and Susan, 20, Warde said. Feldman also is survived by two brothers, Herbert and Lester.

"Depression and the loss of his wife had been bothering him," said Warde. "It was a year as of July 17 (since her death). That weighed heavy on him, and he worked very hard with regard to the (takeover) situation. It just all added up.

"He was a very strong, capable man with the capacity of a giant, but each of us have our own personal problems we carry with us," said Warde.

"I feel my coming on board last month indicated he felt he needed some help. I was trying to run the airline while Mr. Feldman was trying to take care of the other situation."

Warde formerly was senior vice president with Aerobus Engineering, based in Switzerland, as well as American Airlines president. He was named president and chief operating officer of Continental at the request of Feldman, who joined the airline Feb. 1, 1980. Robert F. Six is chairman of the board.

Feldman had met with association leaders Sunday "to advise them that it didn't appear ESOP was going to go through," Warde said.

Flash flood watch in Southwest Texas

By The Associated Press

A flash flood watch was issued early today for six counties in Southwest Texas as an upper level disturbance moved into the area from the west, triggering very heavy shower activity.

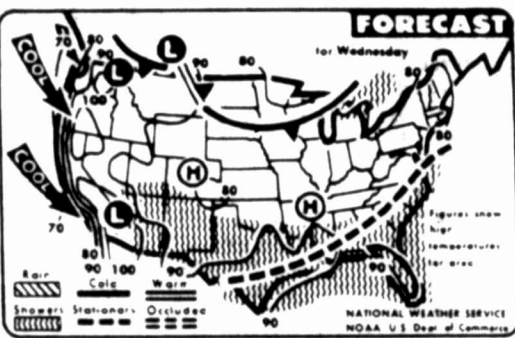

Forecasters said there was a chance that the shower activity would be heavy enough and last long enough to cause flash flooding in El Paso, Hudspeth, Culberson, Presidio, Jeff Davis and Brewster counties.

A weak cold front was located early today along a line from extreme Northeast Texas southward to just north of San Angelo. Showers and thundershowers were located to the north of the front. Rainfall amounts were generally one-half inch or less.

Forecasters called for partly cloudy skies and warm temperatures with scattered thundershowers in southern and eastern sections of the state.

WEATHER FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Cloudy with scattered thundershowers through Wednesday. Cooler except Panhandle. Highs upper 70s. Panhandle and mountains to near 90. Big Bend, Lows near 60. Panhandle and mountains to near 70. Extreme south, Highs Wednesday low 80s. Panhandle to near 90. Big Bend except upper 70s mountains.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Clear to partly cloudy. A little warmer toward the weekend. Highs mid 80s. Panhandle and mountains to near 100. Lower elevations of the Big Bend, Lows mid 60s to the lower 70s.

Alcoholism seminar scheduled at BSSH

The Big Spring State Hospital will hold an alcoholism seminar Friday in the auditorium on the Big Spring State Hospital grounds.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. The general session will begin at 9 a.m. A registration fee of $1 has been set, with an additional charge of $1 for those wishing to receive continuing education units from Howard College.

Eugene Snellings, assistant professor of sociology at the University of Texas at Arlington, and a psychotherapist and director of the LaHacienda Continuum Care Center in Arlington, will serve as consultant for the day-long seminar. Snellings holds a bachelor's degree in psychology from Centenary College, and the C.S.W. and M.S.W. from Louisiana State University. He will begin work on the Ph.D. this fall. He has been studying alcoholism for more than 20 years.

Hospital officials say the seminar will look at the principles of reality therapy and how those principles apply in psychotherapy, especially when dealing with the chemically dependent.

The seminar is being made possible through the Big Spring State Hospital, and is being held in conjunction with Howard College.

$10,160 theft investigated

Robert Kennedy, an employee at Sun Oil Company, Forsan, requested an officer from the Howard County Sheriff's Department be dispatched to the Forsan area to check a suspected theft of equipment.

A total of 600 rod couplings were reportedly stolen from the Sun Oil lease. The couplings were valued at $10,160.

J.B. Hull reported $600 in equipment stolen from the Guitart Rust lease to the Sheriff's department. The equipment was stolen about two weeks ago, according to Hull.

Taken from the Markland Corporation, which operates off the lease, were two well heads, two high pressure valves, and three or four two-inch nipples.

BUSH BUZZED — Vice President George Bush displayed these startled expressions as he ducked and looked up to the roar of jet plane engines that buzzed him from behind after the dedication of a national guard armory at Meridian, Miss., Monday afternoon. Bush was greeting some Boy Scouts when the surprise noisy salute got his attention.

European 'sensitivities' post no problem

Neutron warheads could be moved quickly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Neutron weapons stockpiled in the United States could be delivered to troops in Europe "only a few hours" after allies agreed to accept them in the event of a crisis, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger says.

The United States, therefore, will not be penalized strategically by keeping the weapons at home in recognition of European "sensitivities" to having them deployed in their countries, Weinberger said Monday.

Weinberger, in a news conference and several television interviews Monday, defended the administration's decision last week to resume production of the weapon, which was halted by former President Carter in 1978 following an outcry of protests from NATO allies.

The weapon's "enhanced radiation warhead" is intended to kill the crews of tanks by penetrating armor with intense radiation.

The theory is that such warheads would kill the enemy in the immediate battlefield area but spare friendly troops and innocent civilians, as well as their structures, near the battlefield.

The military says the warhead would release "substantially reduced blast and heat effects" and that the radiation would vanish soon.

Asked if the neutron weapon increases the chance of nuclear war, something the Europeans are known to fear, Weinberger replied: "No, I think it makes it much harder to launch a conventional war and thereby helps preserve the peace."

"The more deterrence we have ... the more ways in which we can be correctly perceived as being able to inflict unacceptable damage to any attacker, anywhere in the world, the more likely we are to maintain the peace," Weinberger said.

The Soviet Union called the decision the latest "in the campaign of silence, lies and deception which had long been used by the United States to cover up development work on this most inhuman variety of mass-destruction weapons."

The State Department dismissed Moscow's criticism as the "expected and standard propaganda line." Spokesman Alan Romberg said the decision to produce the weapon was prompted by the "unprecedented Soviet military buildup in recent years" and said it is designed to protect against the "undisputed superiority which the Soviets have established in armor."

Oriental fruit fly appears in California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The discovery of a new insect threat — the Oriental fruit fly — has forced California to open a second front in its war to save its produce industry, already threatened by the fly's Mediterranean cousin.

The appearance of one Oriental fly in Pacoima on July 9 was "no big deal," but the discovery of six more in Los Angeles County Monday triggered a full-scale eradication program consisting of hundreds of traps, county Agriculture Commissioner Paul Engler said.

"I can think of no pest other than the Mediterranean fruit fly that possibly could be such a serious blow to California's $14 billion agriculture industry than the Oriental fruit fly," Engler said.

Meanwhile, Florida officials announced they were placing a 48-square-mile area near Tampa under quarantine. A state Department of Agriculture spokesman said no fruit or vegetables should be shipped out of the area unless they have first been checked by agriculture inspectors.

The quarantine area, surrounding two sites where four medflies have been found in the last week, is mainly residential and contains no major fruit groves.

In Washington, Agriculture Department entomologist Dick Foote said, "It looks very much as if there is an infestation in the Tampa area."

The Oriental fruit fly is related to the Mediterranean fruit fly, which California has been battling in counties south of San Francisco — about 450 miles north of Los Angeles. Florida officials also planned to dispatch a helicopter today to spray a neighborhood where four medflies were discovered.

Both flies attack the same kinds of fruit, but the Oriental fly destroys only 150 kinds of fruit grown in California. The medfly destroys about 200.

About $500,000 worth of produce was destroyed in Los Angeles County in 1976-77 during a six-month war against the Oriental fruit fly.

The Oriental fruit fly threatens $900 million worth of crops in California, Engler said.

The discovery of the Oriental flies came as officials in Florida and in Northern California were finding their pest-eradication efforts confounded by new discoveries of Mediterranean fruit flies.

Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal Board to eye budget

The Howard County Consolidated Tax Appraisal Board will meet at 1 p.m. Wednesday in County Courtroom to discuss several items on a relatively short agenda.

Planned during the meeting is a review of the proposed 1981 budget, and a request to amend the budget by transferring $582.50 from a contingency fund to labor. Board members will also appoint a committee to select an audit firm, and will consider a request to allow Gene Pereira, chief appraiser, to appear before Howard County Commissioners to request painting for the tax appraisal offices.

A report on a request made to Ken Graeber for schools in this area will also be heard.

Distributive Ed class accepting applications

The Big Spring High School Marketing and Distributive Education class is accepting applications for this year's class. Marketing and distributive education allows students to get training in those fields while attending school, according to Lee Lowery and Bobby Cantu, high school instructors.

The program provides training in food distribution, apparel and accessories, general merchandise, service station marketing and others.

Job openings are available for students in all of the above areas, but only a limited number can be accepted for the school year, said the instructors. Students who are interested in taking marketing and distributive education, and employers who would like to hire and train students should contact Lowery or Cantu at Big Spring High School.

Iran soon won't have any entrails left to tear out

Pretty soon we won't have to worry about Iran anymore.

It will have eliminated itself.

The Iranians have just about gone mad killing themselves, leaping from one side of a political pendulum to the other, getting tangled on its feet in the rush to kill everyone connected with the "last" regime, whatever that happens to be at the moment.

AFTER THE SHAH'S deposal, there was a wave of mass executions.

His replacement, President Bani-Sadr, was hailed as the bright new star of Iran. Now he's fled the country to avoid execution.

Since Bani-Sadr was ousted in June, 441 people have been put to death on political charges.

Meanwhile, 56 French citizens sweated out leaving Iran, following several fear-ridden days of fearing they would be seized at their embassy.

For a while it was beginning to sound like the same old tune, second verse. Perhaps Iran realized the world would not sit still for another hostage situation.

THE LATEST WAVE of killings took the lives of valuable citizens, including a cancer specialist trained at Harvard.

Iran has all the characteristics of a shark gone into a frenzy over its own blood, wildly tearing at its own entrails.

And they thought the Shah was evil.

Take my tax cut

Art Buchwald

I went down to the White House the other morning to pick up my tax cut. President Reagan was sitting at the gate behind a card table counting out the money. He handed me over $800 and said, "You're much better off today than you were yesterday."

"Yes sir," I said. "This money is going to come in mighty handy."

"What are you going to do with it?" he wanted to know.

"I'm going to invest in America," I assured him. "I'm going to put it in the bank, buy stocks and bonds, a new house, and a new car, and if there's anything left over, I might purchase the Conoco Oil Company."

The president smiled. "I'm glad to hear you say that. That's what my tax-cutting program is all about. The American working man is going to get the fruits of his labor and no longer be burdened with carrying the heavy load of a welfare state."

The president gave me an extra dollar just for good luck.

I walked away happily with the cash burning a hole in my pocket. Just a few blocks from the White House, a man jumped from a doorway and said, "Your money or your life."

"Are you a thief?" I inquired.

"No, I'm from the school board. The government has cut back on all our programs and we're going to have to make it up one way or the other."

"Will you take $200?" I asked.

"It won't cover the lunch program, but we'll let you off easy this time."

I gave the man $200. I still had $600 to play with. I was looking for a good office building to invest in, when I decided to buy a box of cigars. There was a $5 tax on them.

"Isn't that a bit high?" I asked.

The mayor, who happened to be standing by the cash register, said, "It's not high enough. I have a $300 million deficit, and they want me to provide hospital care for the poor, up police protection, run a transit system, repair the streets and put out fires. They cut the budget for the city and left it up to us mayors to get the money any way we could because they said human resources wasn't the fed's responsibility any more."

"How much is the sales tax going to take out of my tax cut?" I asked the mayor.

"How much you got?" he asked.

"Five hundred dollars," I lied.

"That should about do it," he said.

When I went back to the office there was a call from my wife, who announced there had been a new assessment put on our house. The enclosed notice warned that unless we sent in our tax in advance the city would no longer be able to provide water or sewage and there would be no street lights after 8:30 p.m.

Well, that more or less took care of my tax cut.

I went back to the White House. President Reagan was still smiling as he counted out the money for each taxpayer.

"Mr. President," I asked, "why are we better off today than we were yesterday?"

He looked puzzled at the question until one of his staff handed him a chart.

"It's self-explanatory," Mr. Reagan said. "All you have to do is follow the solid black line."

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I would like to read the Bible, but my husband says it is too difficult to be understood by anyone other than a clergyman. Is this true? — B.T.T.

DEAR B.T.T.: No, it is not. That does not mean you will understand everything in it that you might read; some parts are not as easy to understand as others. But that should not discourage you or keep you from reading the Bible. There are many parts of it you can understand, and as you become familiar with it and its message God will help you to grow in your understanding.

The best way to approach the Bible is to read it carefully, prayerfully, and systematically. The Bible is not just another book — it is God's Word to us, written by human authors but inspired by the Spirit of God. And God has given it to us to guide us and instruct us in his truth. It is, in fact, the source for our understanding of God and that is why you should make it a part of your daily life. "All Scripture is God-breathed and is useful for teaching, rebuking, correcting and training in righteousness, so that the man of God may be thoroughly equipped for every good work" (2 Timothy 3:16-17).

Let me suggest (if you have never read the Bible before) that you set aside time during the day to read and study a portion of the Bible. I suggest you read the book of John in the New Testament, which tells us about the life of Jesus and his meaning for us. Then at the same time also read in the books of Psalms and Proverbs as well, which you will find in the Old Testament. Read a fairly limited portion each day — half a chapter in John, and a Psalm, for example.

Then as you read it, take time to meditate on what you have read. Ask yourself what the main point of the message is. What are the main events? What does it tell you about God or about Jesus? And what should your response be? Always ask that last question — God's Word has been given to us to mold us and shape us, and always ask yourself specifically what the meaning of the passage is for you personally for that day.

Air conditioning causes his sneezing

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am a 67-year-old man. I have had a problem in past years of sneezing when the air-conditioning unit is on in my car. We moved to Florida recently, and now I notice that being in air-conditioned stores, restaurants, etc. does the same thing, and bothers my sinuses. I ache throughout my body. When I get home I have to go to bed. I get sinus headaches. Is there such a thing as being allergic to air conditioning? — J.H.K.

You cannot really say you are allergic to air conditioning, but you may be sensitive to it. Allergy may be involved indirectly. The following will explain what is meant by sensitivity. The nose not only breathes in air, it warms it or cools it as needed. A sudden change in temperature of air from hot to cold makes blood vessels in your nose expand. That is so the blood can reach the surface to warm the cold air as it passes by. Unfortunately, for some, this can cause the nose to drip and set off a sneezing seizure. You may have a particularly sensitive nose. People with allergies do, and your sinus history may indicate an allergy situation. I would explore with your doctor the allergy factors. Perhaps an antihistamine would prevent problems. You can take them when you anticipate an air-conditioning situation. There is an uncommon situation called "cold urticaria," which is a true allergy to coldness. People with this break out with hives, especially when they are in very cold environments, as when swimming in cold water. Your problem sounds more related to sensitivity, as described earlier, which well might be in turn related to allergy to conventional irritants — pollen, etc. For a discussion of the sinus aspect, see the booklet "You Can Stop Sinus Trouble." For a copy, write me in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents. Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Loyal Democrat

responds to letter

Dear Editor:

I had not finished reading the first paragraph of Mr. Gilstrap's latest letter to the editor when I recognized who the author was. He started off as usual, raving, ranting and distorting the facts, as only he can do.

Space in this column will not permit me to enlighten or educate Mr. Gilstrap on all the false statements that he has made, or his self-concocted and self-invented and untrue accusations against Democrats and the Democratic Party.

I wish Mr. Gilstrap to know that I am a blue-blooded American and also a dyed-in-the-wool Democrat, a description that applies to the vast majority of the American people. I am certain that this fact comes as a surprise to Mr. Gilstrap as it seems that he is so badly misinformed on most all the facts on every issue.

I suggest that Mr. Gilstrap does not know the difference between a liberal and a conservative. Proof of this can be found in one of his recent letters to the editor, whereby he referred to Jimmy Carter, and Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton, as bleeding heart liberals.

Shame on you, Mr. Gilstrap, everyone in the world knows that Jimmy Carter has always been known as a strong conservative, even by people of your party. As for your reference to Bill Clayton being a liberal, that just has to be the joke of this century. Ever since he was first elected, Bill Clayton has been well-known as the Dean of the ultra-conservative faction in the Texas Legislature.

Mr. Gilstrap also tells us that some of the programs set up by the Democrats, and some of the laws passed by them are unconstitutional, well Mr. Gilstrap, I defy you to show just one of these that the Republican-packed Supreme Court has rejected.

If it is true that Mr. Reagan, who now resides in the White House, is now against all the legislation passed by the Democrats over the past 45 years. This is rather ironic considering the fact that for more than 30 years Mr. Reagan was an ultra liberal Democrat, who spoke out for, fought for, and championed all the laws and programs that were put into force by the Democrats during all those years, and at the same time he was busy daily, berating and degrading all Republicans for opposing these laws.

I would also remind Mr. Gilstrap that during those years, because of the Democrats, and in spite of the Republicans, our beloved nation became the greatest, the most prosperous, and the most respected country on earth.

As far as calling Democrats Communists, Mr. Gilstrap knows very well that remark is not only adolescent, but pure hogwash. He knows that he couldn't find a communist in the Democratic Party even if he had a search warrant.

A very concerned citizen.

Remember the #### cypress trees

Dear Editor:

Big Spring — I have heard it called Dry Spring, Bad Spring, Dusty Spring and many more names — and some unprintable ones.

But it is home to 25,000 plus and that makes it our city.

When we visited a friend in Ouray, Colo., he took us fishing on a lake almost at 13,000 feet altitude surrounded by snow on three sides.

Took us to a gold mine, silver and copper mines, through forest, beautiful streams and places very beautiful.

When they visited Big Spring — he had never been in an oil region, never had seen cotton growing or harvested, a compress or cotton storage of any kind. After his tour of Big Spring and vicinity, he kept saying one thing amazed him about Big Spring.

How tall and straight the many Italian cypress trees we have in Big Spring. So tomorrow or when you go about Big Spring — look for and at them and if you are hot and dry think what the ice and snow did to many of them last winter. Thank you.

Gregg Street

article criticized

Dear Editor:

I feel that the Gregg Street Article in Sunday's paper was very detrimental to the good that the Police Department has been able to accomplish in eliminating the beer-drinking, drag-racing, loitering and vandalism. The article only glamorized a bad situation.

Big Spring businesses shouldn't have to provide "trash cans" on their property for the beer-drinkers, nor have to ride patrol 24 hours a day, to keep the party-ers off their properties.

Perhaps the Herald would like to volunteer their parking lot and vacant lots to become the gathering place for the ones who "have no place to go." If the Herald staff has to clean up the mess that will be left every night, then we may see a newspaper article presenting the rights that the property owners should have about how their premises are being abused at night.

Gregg Street is not only a street, it is a highway through town ... it has many large trucks, and much traffic. It is no place to "party" or "play."

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: I am white, male and 75 years old. My wife of 56 years died seven months ago, and I am in dire need of sexual contact. I have always had a tremendous sex drive and am at a loss for relief.

I've tried any number of massage parlors and call girls, but such contacts are so cold, mercenary and fleeting. They are also very expensive for a man on a fixed, limited income. I desperately need the warmth and satisfaction of an intimate physical relationship. My deceased wife's female relatives refuse my attentions and call me a "dirty old man."

The only person who has offered me even a glimmer of hope is my widowed daughter, age 55, but I ruled that possibility out because it is illegal and incestuous.

My wife knew and understood my needs. She even sanctioned several discreet affairs in her later years. Can you please help me before I go crazy?

75 AND VIRILE IN PA.

DEAR 75: A man of any age who "desperately needs the warmth and satisfaction of an intimate physical relationship" should look for a woman with the same needs. A romance, and possibly marriage, could result.

However, if all you want is an outlet for the "tremendous sex drive" that threatens to drive you crazy, don't exploit any innocent women, and don't approach family members.

In the meantime, see a physician about quieting your unfulfilled needs.

***

DEAR ABBY: My housework can wait. That letter from PATTY IN TACOMA, the 25-year-old woman who's unhappy because she looks like a teen-ager, has made me write my first Dear Abby letter. Patty doesn't know when she's well-off.

My problem is just the opposite. I look older than I am, but to make matters worse, my husband looks much younger than he is. We are the same age, but lately I'm constantly being mistaken for Leonard's mother. I think the gray hair is doing it.

Widower Needs Brake For High-Gear Sex Drive

Don't tell me to dye my hair — Leonard says he likes gray hair. (His mother was prematurely gray.) I know I'm overweight, but Leonard says he likes me this way, and he keeps bringing me candy and pastry, which I love and can't resist.

Believe me, I don't enjoy looking like I'm my husband's mother, so what should I do?

J. IN SPRINGFIELD, MO.

DEAR J.: You may not enjoy looking like your husband's mother, but apparently your husband enjoys it. If you really want to look years younger, go on a sensible diet. Tell Leonard if he brings home any more sweets, he will have to eat them. Then wash that gray right out of your hair! Leonard might even like the new you better. And if he doesn't, you'll be stuck with a girlish figure and a dye job that doesn't last very long anyway.

***

DEAR ABBY: In answer to EMBARRASSED, regarding guests who ask for a "grand tour" of the house. May I suggest how some of San Francisco's sharpest (also wealthiest) hostesses handle this? They simply say, "This is our entertainment area; the rest of the house is private."

Period.

Vanity publications are often disappointing, warns bureau

Have you ever received a mail solicitation stating you were recognized as a community leader and for a modest fee your biography would be included in a book of distinguished personalities?

Or perhaps the solicitation suggested your surname was rare and for a low fee you could purchase a book explaining your family ancestry?

Vanity publications, as they are often called, exist because people enjoy seeing their name in print. There are numerous publishers ready and willing to assist aspiring authors or recognize community leaders for a specific sum. While there are many respectable vanity publishers, it has been the experience of the Better Business Bureau that often the advertising is misleading and many people are disappointed either with the publication or with the service they receive.

By learning the types of vanity publications, you can avoid buying a product or service that brings only frustration and dissatisfaction.

Ancestry Books: the direct mail advertising will imply that your surname has been extensively researched and is very rare. It will also suggest that the book contains an explanation of your family background. Actually, the book will only contain a list of names and addresses of many others in the United States having your same name. Other chapters will be devoted to general subjects such as how to research a family history and genealogical charts for you to fill in.

Biographical Directories: patterned after the "Who's Who" publications, various publishers solicit the biographies of persons for inclusion in directories, which may bear prestigious-sounding titles. The solicitation will often come after your name has appeared in the newspaper, and is typically accompanied by the request for a "membership" fee, or for an order of one or more copies of the projected directory.

The distribution of the book is usually limited to libraries and those who order a copy because their biography will be included.

Manuscript Publishers: opposite of conventional publishers who risk their own money to have a book published and promoted, the vanity book publisher requires the author to underwrite either a partial or total amount of the cost of publishing and promoting the book. Thus, the risk to the publishers is relatively nominal, enabling them to accept many manuscripts which conventional book publishers would reject as being a poor investment.

If you are only interested in seeing your manuscript printed, then the services of a subsidy publisher might be valuable. Those who are interested in producing a commercially successful book should only work with a conventional publisher, since books published by vanity presses seldom are published or distributed enough to make money.

Song Publishers: as with manuscript publishers, companies who publish songs can be divided into two groups: those who invest their own money to publish, record and promote a song, and those who will print several copies of a completed song for the use of the songwriter for a fee.

Vanity publishers are only interested in making money on your desire to see your manuscript, song, or name in print. If you receive any direct mail advertising that appeals to include your name in their book or publish your work, contact your Better Business Bureau at 563-1880 for a report.

Patterns, textures abound in children's wear

NEW YORK — The selection of children's sweaters for back-to-school is full of interesting textures, authentic, folkloric patterns and rich colors. Styles range from the classic to the unexpected.

As for texture, there are popular hairy or brushed effects, often in yarns that are heathery or blended to give depth and clarity. Even reliable crew necks and cardigans have a fresh look in the new textures. Some are made of Bi-Loft acrylic and boldly striped or knitted in a checkerboard pattern.

The authentic folkloric designs are used as overall patterns in intricate Icelandic, American Indian or geometric patterns. Many have a hand-knit look and feature embroidered motifs and appliques.

Styling for boys includes V-neck, argyles, classic Acrilan pullovers in cable and authentic fisherman patterns, as well as smooth turtlenecks and striped varsity cardigans.

Girls can choose from rugby-styled pullovers with coordinated hats, shawl-collar cardigans and pullovers buttoned at the neck and ribbed in flattering stripes.

Color is rampant from the off-white tones of a cuddly Sherpa pullover and paled shades, to deep varsity and primary brights, as well as

Child's tonsils should not be removed routinely, says doctor

Don't assume that if your child has frequent bouts with tonsillitis, the tonsils should be removed.

Even though this surgery is still common, "Modern medicine now feels that the tonsils have a very important role to play in the body's defense system," says pediatrician Dr. Behrstock in a current Family Circle magazine report on child care.

Noting that tonsils should not be removed routinely,

Dr. Behrstock says in the magazine, that there isn't sufficient evidence to indicate whether removal of the tonsils is actually justified when a child has recurring sore throats, repeated enlargement of the lymph nodes, recurrent upper-respiratory-tract infections, difficulty in swallowing, or snoring. In these cases, says the article, your child's doctor must decide on the most appropriate course of action.

Gasohol deadline nearing

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The House has one day — today — to work on a bill that gasohol supporters say is vital to creating a Texas market for the alcohol-gasoline fuel.

Senators on Monday approved on voice vote a bill that would exempt gasohol distributors from paying the five-cent per gallon state motor fuels tax through 1986. The measure was sent to the House for action today, the final day of the special legislative session.

Sen. Bill Sarpalus' bill also would give gasohol a tax break through 1991. After 1986, the exemption would drop by a penny a gallon, until it ended in 1992.

Gasohol prices at the pump would not necessarily be reduced by the amount of the exemption, but Sarpalus said there are "very strong chances" that the saving would be passed to consumers.

Reagan turns economy's fate over to consumers

NEW YORK (AP) — Having won tax and spending victories that are said by some to be the most fundamental economic changes since the 1930s, the Reagan forces are now turning much of the battle over to you.

Henceforth, you are an agent of change. Hereafter, you are to be the catalyst the supply-siders say will shore up production, eliminate budget deficits, and lower prices, interest rates and unemployment.

Arthur Laffer, economist and a member of the President's economic policy advisory board, explained the plan at a symposium of supply-siders arranged recently by Morgan Guaranty Trust Company.

"Supply-side economics is nothing more than classical economics in modern dress," said the professor. "It basically looks to incentive. People alter their behavior when incentives change."

Laffer, who probably has done more than anyone to popularize the notion that you get out of the economy nothing more than you are willing and able to feed it, continued with this explanation:

"If you make an activity more attractive, people will engage in more of that activity."

Rose sets new NL hit record

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Rose, proving an old adage that age is a state of mind, is the National League's new all-time career hit leader.

The 40-year-old Rose singled through the shortstop hole into left field in the eighth inning of Monday night's game against the St. Louis Cardinals to erase Stan Musial's 19-year-old mark of 3,360 hits.

The Phillies lost, 7-3, to the Cardinals, but it's doubtful if there was anyone in the crowd of 60,561 spectators who went home unhappy.

The fans came to see Rose get the big hit and they were rewarded by the first baseman, who had gone 0-for-3 before slashing the second pitch from Mark Littell for the record-breaking hit.

"It was an inside fastball and I hit it to left field," said Rose of his 3,361st basehit.

Rose had tied Musial's 22-year career record on June 10, his last game before baseball's 50-day strike, with a first-inning single off Nolan Ryan.

Rose recalled that as he waited in the on-deck circle for Littell to finish his warmup pitches. He told his son, Petey, honorary Phillies' bat boy: "Watch this, I'm going to get a hit."

As Rose spoke, the telephone rang, and Rose joked, "tell the President to wait a minute."

The joke was on Rose. It was President Reagan trying to get through to congratulate him.

It took about five minutes to make the connection, as an unidentified voice repeated, "Mr. Rose, just a moment. We'll call back."

Rose looked toward the back of the room and asked his agent if it was O.K. to talk with the president.

Rose rattled off one liners as he waited for the connection to come through.

"It's a good thing it isn't a missile on the way," he said.

"Can you imagine, they can send a man to the moon but I can't talk to the president?"

He added, "well, I've waited 19 years for this — I can wait a few more minutes."

Finally, Reagan did get through.

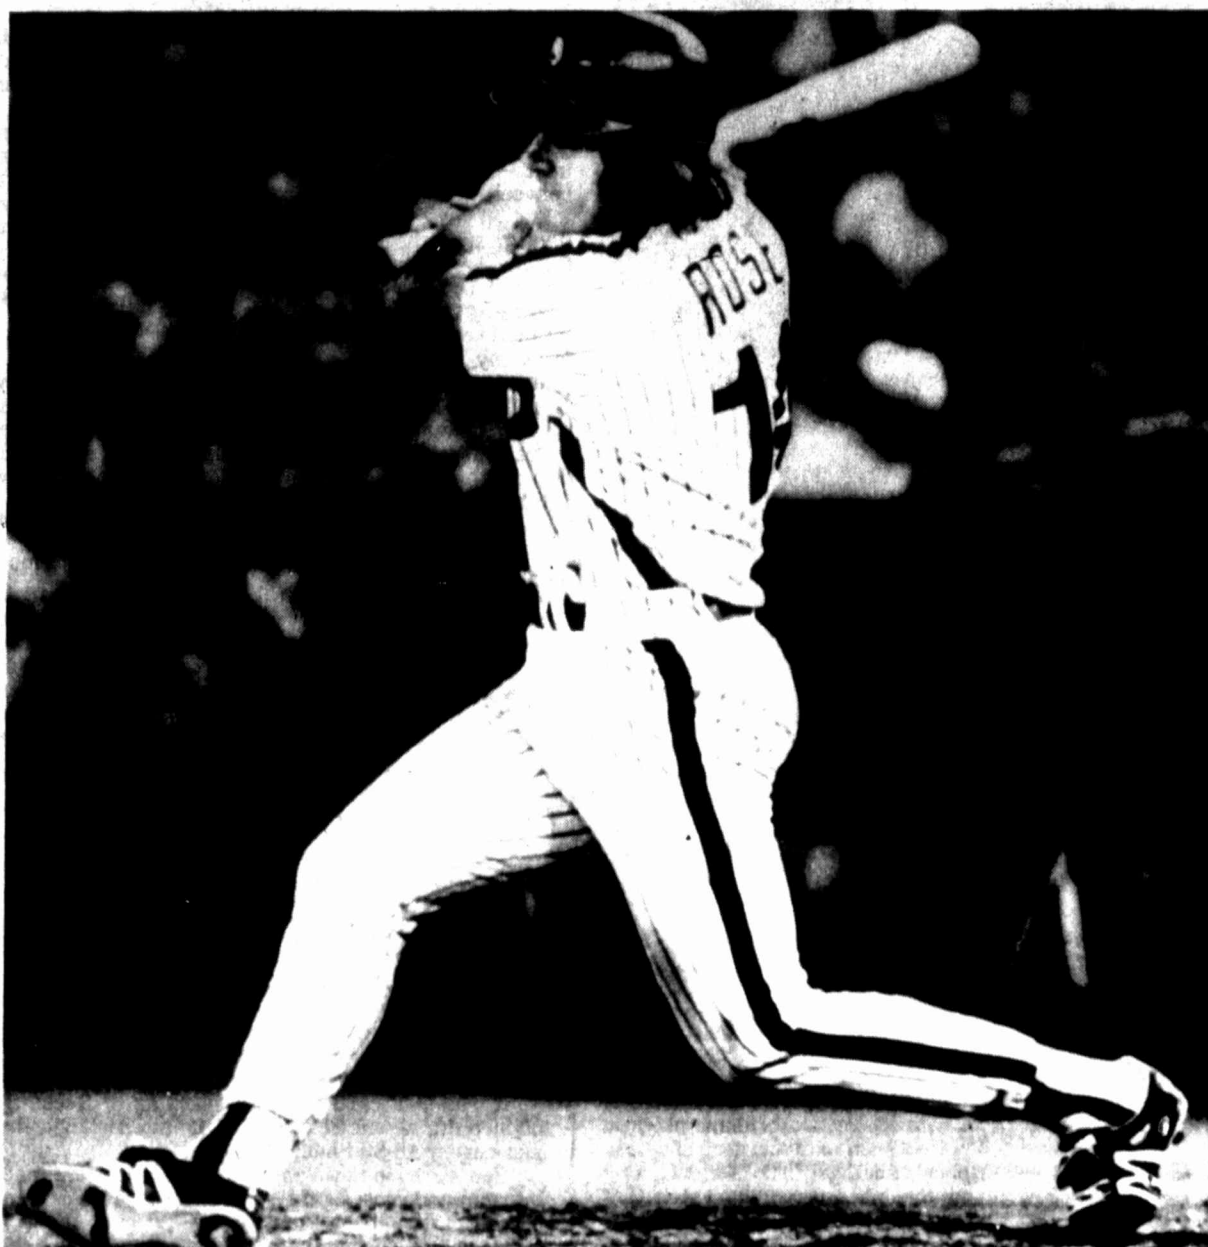

"Hello, Pete Rose?"

"Yes sir," replied Rose.

"How ya doing?" Rose asked the president.

"We were going to give you five more minutes and that was it," Rose joked.

"We've been having some trouble here getting through and I just wanted to call and congratulate you. I know how you must feel and I think it's great," Reagan said.

Just another busy day for baseball

By the Associated Press

They packed the stands in New York and stayed away in Cleveland. The White Sox lit up the scoreboard in Boston and the Orioles withstood 101-3 innings between hits in outlasting Kansas City.

Minnesota finally found a way to beat Oakland, Detroit got clutch hitting from its double-play combination, and Seattle's Julio Cruz fell short of breaking a league record.

Just another busy day in the American League.

Actually, Monday was the first day of business for AL teams in nearly two months. Ironically, each of the seven games were rematches of Opening Day I back in April.

On Opening Day II, the beginning of the "second season" following a 50-day strike by the players, once again every team started out even. They're all in the race to determine division winners for the second half of the campaign, with those champions entering postseason action against the winners of the "first half" pennants: the Yankees and A's.

The Yankees rode the strong pitching of Tommy John and homers by Graig Nettles and Oscar Gamble to a 2-0 victory over Texas Monday night before 40,373 fans, including Secretary of Labor Raymond J. Donovan, who threw out the first ball.

"I thought once we got back to playing, the fans who would come out would be your good baseball fans because they wanted baseball as much as we wanted to play," said John, who gave up two hits and struck out six in seven innings. "The fans were enthusiastic for their team. The people who came out tonight were baseball fans."

"I'm just glad to get back to playing. We all are. I thought I could go five without any sweat and I hoped to go six. But when I came in at the end of the sixth, Stick (Manager Gene Michael) asked me if I could go one more. I said yeah, but I started to labor a little bit in the seventh and there was nothing to be gained by going any farther."

So John, 6-4, who was on the disabled list when the strike began after suffering back spasms and then a cut finger, yielded to Ron Davis and Rudy May, who completed the three-hitter.

In another opening-night extravaganza, Milwaukee topped Cleveland 5-2 in 13 innings before just 4,773 fans, smallest turnout at an Indians' game this season and more than 67,000 fans fewer than were at the All-Star Game Monday night in the same stadium.

Minnesota topped Oakland for the first time this season after seven losses, winning 6-2 before 15,514, double the average attendance for Twins' games.

Chicago had the biggest offense of the night in the AL, slamming 12 hits and beating the Red Sox 7-1 before 20,227. The Orioles drew 19,850 as they edged Kansas City 3-2 in 12 innings. A disappointing crowd of 15,187 — about 5,000 less than expected — turned out for Detroit's 4-3 decision over Toronto. And Seattle, which beat the Angels 6-5, drew 14,527 fans (about 1,100 over the Mariners' season average), many hopeful of competing for a one-minute shot at picking up $10,000 that was scattered on the field by a radio station.

Brewers 5, Indians 2, 13 innings. Gorman Thomas' two-run single capped a three-run Milwaukee 13th in a game delayed 1 hour, 53 minutes by rain in the 10th inning.

With the bases loaded, Ben Ogilvie's fly ball advanced all three runners, pushing Milwaukee ahead 3-2. Thomas then singled up the middle to score Howell and Cooper.

"I think sports fans here shot their wad over the weekend," said Brian Lambert, a Cleveland city councilman attending the game. "They had 150,000 people here for the All-Star game and the Steelers-Browns game and 8,000 for the Roberto Duran fight. It would have been better if they had spread it out."

Twins 6, A's 2. Oakland beat Minnesota seven consecutive times in the opening two weeks of the pre-strike season. But the Twins used a six-run fifth to down the first-half division titlists.

Registration for YMCA Youth Soccer underway

The start of a youth sport league is usually not the stuff of which editorials are made. However, the YMCA's youth soccer leagues are different, we think, that is worthy of editorial comment.

The difference lies in the Y's belief that sports for youngsters should be fun ... not competitive "pressure-cookers" in which youngsters are all too often subjected to verbal abuse for failure to make the big play.

What happened when the emphasis is put on fun? In Y soccer leagues, everyone who wants to play, plays. There are no youngsters warming the bench for most of the game.

As for competition, Y leaders attempt to put that in proper perspective. Y-participants play to win. But they also learn that losing is not the disaster it might appear to be.

And since parents and coaches are sometimes the worst offenders in pushing the win-at-all-cost philosophy, special meetings for both parents and coaches are built into the Y program.

We think the Y has a great idea. We, too, think that the primary reason for youth sports is to have fun, engage in healthy exercise, and learn a skill to the best of one's ability.

We too, think the time has come to stop demanding of youngsters more than all but the most natural athletes can achieve. All too often the results is to assure a youngster on sports for the rest of his life.

We hope that the Y idea is a catching on in your community. We hope, too, that it will receive a wholehearted support of everyone in Big Spring.

Registration for the 1981 Fall season is underway. Final date to register before the players will be assigned teams is Saturday, August 15th. Play will begin Saturday, September 12th.

A parents meeting will be held Wednesday, August 12th, 6:30 p.m., at the YMCA. The meeting will be to present information to the parents about the Y's soccer program and the rules to be adopted this fall. The meeting is open to any parent who have or have not enrolled for the fall season.

Seven hitter leads Mets to 2-0 win over Captains

By the Associated Press

Rob Seimand allowed only seven hits as he pitched the Jackson Mets to a 2-0 Texas League baseball victory over the Shreveport Captains Monday night.

In other Texas League action, Amarillo edged Midland, 7-5. Arkansas beat the Tulsa Drillers, 13-4, and San Antonio swept a doubleheader from El Paso, 5-2 and 3-2. Jackson scored first in the third when Rusty Tillman singled home Marvell Wynne. The Mets added the second run in the ninth when Tillman singled and scored on a sacrifice fly by Rick Poe.

Seimand is now 5-6. Mark Dempsey, 13-4, was the losing pitcher.

Ron Tingley homered as the Amarillo Gold Sox edged the Midland Cubs, 7-5.

Dave Dravecky was the winning pitcher. The loser was Jon Pearlman.

Fred Tiedman hit his 11th home run, driving in two runs in the second inning as the Arkansas Travelers beat the Tulsa Drillers, 13-4.

Pete O'Brien had a two-run homer for Tulsa.

National League round-up

Astros halt Giants' comeback try, win 6-5

By the Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Baseball's 714-game sitting streak appeared to be completely forgotten by 20,842 fans at Candlestick Park.

They were on their feet in the bottom of the ninth inning, responding to the comeback efforts of the San Francisco Giants, who fell just short and lost 6-5 to the Houston Astros Monday night.

"You could tell the fans enjoyed themselves. There was an ovation after the game ended. I know it was because the Giants almost pulled it out, but it told me the fans were glad we're back," said Dennis Walling of the Astros.

The Giants and Astros players, back from the two-month strike which wiped out 714 big league games, provided plenty of excitement over three hours. Afterward, fireworks originally planned for use July 4 were shot off over Candlestick.

Only 11,115 fans paid their way into the park. The rest came in free on "Top Students Night." The Giants' average paid attendance before the strike was 14,094.

"It would have been a great game to win. Now we've just got to forget it and win the next one," said Giants Manager Frank Robinson, whose team has a six-game losing streak but is 0-1 in the new National League West standings.

"It was an interesting game. That seems to be the only kind they play in San Francisco," said Houston Manager Bill Virdon, recalling a 14-inning, 9-8 victory here in May.

Walling's two-run pinch-hit in the top of the ninth sent Houston ahead 6-4 Monday night, and Darrel-Evans of the Giants doubled home a run with two out in the bottom of the inning. The game ended with San Francisco runners at second and third as second baseman Joe Pittman speared a line drive by Larry Herndon.

"I was just trying to keep the fans around. They call me Mr. Excitement. I get into a jam and then work out of it," said Frank LaCorte, the reliever who faced the Giants in the ninth and saved a victory for Joe Sambito, 2-3.

Before doubling in the ninth, Evans connected with a LaCorte pitch and hit a drive into the right field seats, foul by about a foot. A homer would have made the Giants 7-6 winners.

"I thought that was the ballgame," admitted LaCorte. Walling's game-winning hit, on a 1-2 pitch, was off Al Holland but the loss went to Fred Breining, 2-2, who walked the first two batters in the ninth.

There were 21 hits in the game, 10 by the Astros and 11 by the Giants. Evans and Houston's Cesar Cedeno had three hits apiece, and the Giants got homers from Joe Morgan and Herndon.

"But I still believe the pitchers are going to be ahead of the hitters for a week or so," said Morgan.

George Hendrick, Sixto Lezcano and Gene Tenace hit the other homers for St. Louis.

Braves 3, Padres 2

Rufino Linares' sacrifice fly scored Bruce Benedict with one out in the ninth to give the Braves the victory before 52,608, the largest baseball crowd in San Diego history. All fans were admitted free by Padres owner Ray Kroc as an apology for the strike.

Benedict greeted Padres reliever John Urrea with a double to open the ninth and reached third when Urrea couldn't handle a bunt by Rafeael Ramirez. After pinch-hitter Terry Harper struck out, Linares lofted a fly to right for the winning run.

Expos 3, Pirates 1

Gary Carter, the most valuable player of the All-Star Game who received a three-minute standing ovation before the game from the crowd of 37,275, drove in the tie-breaking run as the Expos scored twice in the eighth inning to win.

Andre Dawson led off the eighth with a double against reliever Pascual Perez — who ironically had lost Pittsburgh's last game before the strike — before Carter drilled a double to left. After Warren Cromartie was intentionally walked, Tim Wallach followed with a run-scoring single to center.

Three amateur umpires were pressed into service after the regular NL umpires assigned to the game were unable to get a flight to Montreal due to the air traffic controllers strike.

first six innings and Steve Howe held the Reds hitless the rest of the way as Los Angeles, which won the first half of the N.L. West by one-half game over Cincinnati, snapped the Reds' seven-game winning streak that had been on hold for nearly two months because of the strike.

The Dodgers scored all their runs in the second inning on RBI singles by Mike Scioscia, Davey Lopes and Dusty Baker and a sacrifice fly by Bill Russell.

The game was played before a crowd of 35,120, one of the smallest at Dodger Stadium this season and well below the pre-strike average of 46,238. However, the early starting time of 5:30 p.m., PDT, to accommodate network television, cut down on the crowd total.

Mets 7, Cubs 5

Ellis Valentine, acquired from Montreal shortly before the strike began, singled home Joel Youngblood with the tie-breaking run in the 13th inning, his first game-winning hit for the Mets.

A crowd of 7,551 watched the game, well below the 13,979 the Cubs were averaging before the strike and nothing near the 37,030 who attended when the two teams opened their season last April.

Fans are slowly re-catching Baseball Fever

By the Associated Press

Not everyone has caught Baseball Fever yet, but the symptoms of a healthy return of major league play were evident on the first night of the Second Season after a divisive 50-day players strike.

Most of the 13 games that marked the reopening of play Monday drew average or better attendance, although several were spurred by special promotions, and in the case of San Diego, free admission.

Only at Chicago and Cleveland were the crowds abnormally sparse, but there was no sign that the fans there harbored any more antistrike hostility than anywhere else.

The most successful game from an attendance standpoint was at Philadelphia, where 60,561 saw the Phillies' Pete Rose get his 3,361st hit for an all-time National League record.

But many fans haven't forgiven the players and owners for depriving them of the game for eight weeks since June 12.

"I don't care if they win or lose, I'm going to boo," said Agnes Pleis at the Cardinals-Phillies game. "I've had season tickets for 11 years, but I'm not getting them next year. No way."

"I won't be going back," said self-described longtime Orioles fan Bob Rutkowski, who picketed outside Memorial Stadium before the Orioles-Royals game, trying to persuade others not to enter. "I don't know if it'll be forever, but it'll be years."

It is that kind of negative reaction that worries Commissioner Bowie Kuhn, who was in Philadelphia to see Rose beat Stan Musial's record. His presence at Veterans Stadium was not announced to the crowd.

"We'll be watching attendance very carefully in the next few days," Kuhn said. "We don't expect fans to be enchanted with what's happened. But I think you'll see fans pick up their enthusiasm as the season goes on. I see some disaffection, I'd be foolish if I didn't think there was any."

Padres owner Ray Kroc, who in his hamburger commercials says "you deserve a break today," gave his team's fans a break, letting them in free for the Reopening Game with Atlanta. A capacity crowd of 68,000 accepted his hospitality.

Crowds also were far above-average at New York and Montreal.

"I have to forgive them because I love baseball," said Ray Fortin of Montreal, where a crowd of 37,275 saw the Expos beat Pittsburgh 3-1.

"It was just like waiting for Christmas," said William Guldy Jr. of Walden, N.Y., known to thousands of Yankee Stadium fans as "Uncle Willie." Wearing a red, white and blue cape and a king's crown, Willie was one of more than 40,000 who watched the Yankees beat Texas 2-0 on free T-shirt night.

U.S. Secretary of Labor Raymond Donovan, an instrumental figure in the strike settlement, drew waves of cheers when he threw a ceremonial first pitch from the mound at Yankee Stadium. But he also heard some boos.

Yanks are back, so are the fans

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Yankees came back — and so did the New York Yankee fans.

"I'm not surprised," said Tommy John. "Yankee fans don't surprise me. They're enthusiastic for their team."

The Yankee left-hander pointed to a paid attendance of 40,373 at Yankee Stadium Monday night to show that baseball was alive and well, despite the 50-day strike that soured some fans on the sport.

John also showed that his arm was alive and well by pitching seven sparkling innings of two-hit ball. "It was like having 50 rainouts," said John with a smile. "Then coming back to pitch on the 51st day. No problem."

The Yankee pitcher, of course, referred to the 50-day players' strike that ultimately resulted in 59 days of inactivity. It may have left some rusty, but obviously not John.

"The adrenalin wasn't really flowing. I'll have to admit," he said. "Maybe I'm blasé, but there's only one opening day. True, you're excited and anxious to play, but it's not the same as April."

Starting the second half of the season after a nine-day tuneup period, the Yankees seemed perfectly capable defensively. Dave Winfield, for one, made two brilliant plays in left field — one a diving grab of a Leon Roberts line drive in the second inning and the other a leaping catch that saved a home run off the bat of Buddy Bell in the seventh.

But the teams only had seven hits between them in a 2-0 Yankee victory, perhaps a tipoff that the hitters' timing was off.

Cowboys cut seven rookies

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — The Dallas Cowboys released seven more free agent rookies Monday to trim their team roster to 80, which now includes 45 veterans and 35 rookies.

Placed on waivers were safety Lester Ward of Baylor; running back Al Darring of Indiana, defensive tackle Jamie Davidson of Kansas State, running back Ken Lovely of Fresno State, and John Wangler of Michigan.

Duran feels ready for Leonard, but does he have the strength?

By ED SCUYLER Jr.

AP Sports Writer

Roberto Duran entered the ring wearing lavender colored trunks and a matching robe that looked as if it had been designed for a much heavier man — perhaps Duran when he is between fights.

But it was the Panamanian's fighting style that was on display on this Sunday afternoon in Cleveland in his first bout since he quit against Sugar Ray Leonard in New Orleans.

"I felt very strong, but I can't really force my body to do certain things after nine months of not being in the ring," he said. "Yes, I'm happy with the way I fought."

But Duran's unanimous 10-round decision over 22-year-old Nino Gonzalez got mixed reviews from members of the media and fans.

Duran didn't fight badly for a fighter coming off a long layoff and a devastating loss. But he isn't just any fighter — he is Duran.

Those who looked for some sign of the pre-New Orleans Duran had to be disappointed. Those waiting for Duran to knock out that belly-ache loss to Leonard seemed bound to be disappointed.

Many of us would not or could not admit that Duran, while a top fighter, was not the machine as a welterweight that he was as a lightweight, the 135-pound division he dominated for much of the 1970s. Fighters who move up in weight because of age or living habits usually are at a distinct physical disadvantage against younger opponents who carry weight more naturally and reduce more easily.

Now at 30, Duran is fighting as a junior middleweight, a division with a 154-pound limit, seven pounds more than the welterweight class limit, and the division in which he is seeking another fight with Leonard.

"I came back into the ring to fight Sugar Ray Leonard," Duran said. "He owed me that."

Duran maintains that he couldn't continue in New Orleans because of a sick stomach and that he would stop fighting again in a similar situation. But he seems to have convinced himself that the loss that cost him a share of the welterweight title wasn't really a victory for Leonard. He seems to think that since his own action in the eighth round resulted in a defeat, Leonard owes him another chance.

Leonard owes Duran nothing, and has said he won't fight Duran again. Of course Sugar Ray's mind could be changed if another Duran match becomes attractive economically.

"There will be another championship for Roberto Duran," said Duran, who could help his cause by winning the World Boxing Council junior middleweight title. Leonard holds the World Boxing Association's version of that crown.

But it is extremely doubtful that Duran has the physical strength, speed and punching power to win the WBC title from Wilfred Benitez. Against Gonzalez, Duran's vast experience gave him a vast edge. But that experience will be less effective against the 23-year-old Benitez, who has won world titles in three different divisions as he heads toward what looks to be his natural weight class — the 160-pound middleweight division.

Legends abound at All-Star Game

Beating the Babe at bridge

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent

CLEVELAND (AP) — Babe Ruth still owes Jimmy Reese $2.50, and Jimmy has about given up hope of ever getting it — anytime soon, anyhow.

"It was in a card game 50 years ago," Reese explained during one of those flights into nostalgia that mark every All-Star baseball game.

"You know, in those days the road trips were made by train and most of the guys passed away the time playing cards — bridge mostly."

"No one was a more avid bridge nut than the Babe. He was very good, but also very competitive. He really hated to lose."

The memory was just like yesterday for Reese, and he savored it as he sipped of the costliest cognac.

"Lou Gehrig and I were playing the Babe and Harry Rice," Reese remembered. "The game lasted until near midnight and Gehrig, yawning, said he guessed he'd go to bed."

"Oh, no, you don't," said the Babe. "I'm down a buck and you've got to give me a chance to get it back. After a protest, Gehrig agreed to continue. We played another hour or so and by this time we were down $5.

"Lou excused himself a second time and the Babe almost had a tantrum. 'I want a chance to get even,' he bellowed. This time Lou just packed up and went to his berth."

"I paid off. The Babe still owes me for his half."

One of the pleasures of the All-Star Game is that, while generally meaningless and little more than a talent parade as in the case of the National League's 5-4 victory here Sunday night, it is a Roman feast for the diamond gourmet.

Legends and tales of legends abound.

Reese was one of the more interesting but less conspicuous of the congregating alumni. An erect and alert man of 75, he was Ruth's roommate for two years — 1930 and 1931 — in a career that saw him spend most of his lifetime in the Pacific Coast League.

Now with the California Angels, he was honorary coach of the American League All-Stars.

"They say the Babe was a rouser," Reese recalled. "I found him no more so than any of the other guys. He had a big appetite. He loved fun and he satisfied both."

Live warmer and help hold down your bills.

You may not feel quite comfortable at first when you set your thermostat at 80° or higher, but most people adjust very quickly to living warmer. At the same time, if you dress cooler and use a fan, you may not even notice the difference. But it will help hold down your electric bill.

Head of blind commission is criticized

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) - The executive director of the State Commission for the Blind has been criticized for an expensive, inefficient operation, according to a group of blind Texans who want the director fired.
"Rather than being led and effectively served by competent and well-motivated career employees, many blind persons are at this time frequently being abused by incompetent hacks and quacks," Elaine Johnson of Pasadena said at a Monday news conference and rally at the Capitol.
Mrs. Johnson called for the firing of Executive Director Evans Wentz, and a state investigation of the agency.
A spokeswoman for Wentz said Monday the director would have no comment until he saw the written complaints presented by Mrs. Johnson, who charged that "Mr. Wentz has no qualifications for being in work for the blind."

WEeping for joy - LuAnn Caughey, Miss Abilene, spills tears of joy Monday night as she is crowned Miss Texas USA 1982 at the annual beauty pageant in El Paso. Placing the crown is Diana Durnford of El Paso, Miss Texas USA 1981.

Miss Abilene wins Miss Texas title

EL PASO, Texas (AP) - Calling the event "a dream come true," Miss Abilene, LuAnn Caughey, was chosen Miss Texas USA 1982 Monday night in the annual beauty pageant in El Paso.
"It was rough, but I made it," the 22-year-old, blue-eyed blonde said. "It was all just a dream for me. It's a dream come true."
The winner received $70,000 in cash and prizes, including a new car, a fur coat and an $8,000 cash scholarship. She will represent Texas in the Miss USA pageant next spring.
"I'm ready to start meeting people and traveling," she said, as she sat on the roof of the car, receiving congratulations and signing autographs.
Miss Caughey, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Caughey of Abilene, is a senior fashion merchandising major at Texas Tech University in Lubbock. She told the judges she might like to design swimsuits someday.
Miss Caughey burst into tears of joy when it was announced that she would hold the title for the next year. She was crowned by Diana Durnford of El Paso, the 1981 Miss Texas USA.
Miss Caughey, who wore a bright crimson evening gown with ruffled bodice, was selected from five finalists during the two-hour pageant, aired on 18 television stations around Texas.
First runner-up was Miss Richland Hills, Lisa Allred, a sophomore at North Texas State University. She will serve as Miss Texas USA if Miss Caughey is unable to complete her reign.
Second runner-up was Miss Waco, Mary Davis, a recent Baylor University graduate. Lamar graduate Debbie Maffett, Miss Cut and Shoot, was third runner-up. Fourth runner-up was Tanya McGinty, Miss Meyerland.

Bentsen seeks move against juvenile crime

WASHINGTON (AP) - In the next 12 months, from 3,000 to 6,000 juveniles will illegally cross the border from Mexico and commit numerous crimes, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas, said today.
In most cases, he added, U.S. authorities cannot prosecute the youthful offenders.
The Texas Democrat sent a letter today to Sen. Alexander Haig asking him to negotiate an international agreement with Mexico as a first step toward solving the problem.
Fifteen members of Congress from New Mexico, Arizona and California joined Bentsen in signing the letter.
"In many border communities, it has become necessary to simply return these juvenile offenders to the border and release them because of the absence of a formal procedure for dealing with this dilemma," Bentsen said.
"While the Border Patrol does handle some juvenile cases, it is not specially trained nor equipped to deal with the juvenile offender under the substantive due process guidelines mandated by the U.S. Supreme Court."
Many of the violations involve state or local laws, but the states often are unable to prosecute juvenile offenders because of the absence of documentation, he added.
"In Texas, for example, juveniles must be 10 to 17 years of age to be prosecuted under state law. Since these children and young adults are illegal and undocumented, proof of age is difficult, if not impossible to obtain."
El Paso County officers tried to cope with the problem by processing juvenile suspects and then delivering them to a justice facility across the border in Mexico. But questions arose about the legality of sending employees of a U.S. county into Mexico, and the practice was ordered stopped.
"It is not up to the states, on an individual basis, to formulate foreign policy with respect to the treatment of illegal juvenile offenders," Bentsen wrote Haig.
"However, until the federal government establishes such a policy, cities and states along the border with Mexico will continue to grope for alternative and often ineffective solutions."
Bentsen added: "Crime in our border communities is accentuated when there is an absence of an effective national policy concerning the juvenile offender."

Houston heirs secure half of Howard Hughes fortune

HOUSTON (AP) - Cousins who banded together to exclude pretenders from a share of Howard Hughes' fortune say they are relieved - but not surprised - to have secured at least half of the eccentric billionaire's vast estate.
Probate Judge Pat Gregory ruled Monday the 16 cousins of Hughes on his mother's side were legitimate heirs entitled to half the estate estimated at between $180 million to $2 billion.
"I'm just relieved that this part of it is over," said Annette Gano Gragg, a Hughes' cousin and Houston architect who testified Monday she had never met the man whose wealth she eventually will share.
"I'm afraid this is just the beginning, we've got a long way to go," she said.
Gregory said the court still must determine how "paternal heirs fit into the picture," and that a final order on the distribution of Hughes' fortune could be delayed for years by pending appeals.
Final settlement of the estate also has been clouded by the appearance of another purported Hughes will in Los Angeles and the continuing battle between Texas and California over which state has the right to levy inheritance taxes.
"We just thought it (Gregory's ruling) was one more step in long and complicated process," said Marilyn Lummis, wife of Hughes' heir Dr. Frederick R. Lummis Jr. of Houston.
The family expected the ruling and did not celebrate their success despite the tensions and annoyances that accompanied the five-year legal drama.
They testified they rarely saw their famous relative.
