Howard House bought

An Odessa businessman has purchased the Howard House in downtown Big Spring and is negotiating to purchase the Settles Hotel.

Bo Rich, who closed the deal on the Howard House this morning, plans to "take over and revamp" the buildings and "try to fill them up with some work force," according to his wife, Georgia.

The Riches own a hotel in Odessa in which work hands for oil drilling and construction companies are housed and fed. A similar operation is planned here.

Big Spring city inspectors were at the Settles Hotel this afternoon. Mrs. Rich said a meeting between her husband and city officials had been scheduled for Tuesday morning to see if the building would be condemned or not.

State Rep. Martin, assailant arrested

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — State Rep. Mike Martin and a man who has admitted wounding the legislator in a staged shooting in Austin were arrested today, Longview District Attorney Rob Foster announced.

Martin, who has been in hiding, was taken into custody near Gilmer — about 30 miles from Longview — on a year-old assault warrant, Foster said. Officers had staked out Martin's parents' home twice in an attempt to apprehend the elusive legislator.

Charles Goff, 29, identified as Martin's first cousin, told authorities in a statement late Thursday that the shooting was set up. He was arrested in Longview, Foster said.

OPEN HOUSE SLATED — Open house ceremonies at the St. Mary's Episcopal School are set at 1 p.m. today, with dedication ceremonies scheduled at 4 p.m. The school has been moved to 118 Cedar. Here, Linda Porter, 1506

Dayton, listens as headmaster, Father David Bristow, talks to Pamela Porter and Gary Porter about the first day of classes, set Monday. Mrs. Carol Benz, right, a teacher at the school, also listens in.

St. Mary's School ready for dedication

St. Mary's Episcopal School, at 118 Cedar, was the site of an open house at 1 p.m. today, with a dedication set at 4 p.m.

The Rev. David L. Bristow, headmaster of the school, and rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, said the public is invited to attend the festivities today.

The school is being housed in the old Park Hill School building. Classes were previously held in classrooms at St. Mary's Episcopal Church, 1001 Goliad St.

The school was founded in 1959, with one teacher and 13 kindergarten students. On Monday, classes will begin for 129 pupils in classes through the fifth grade. St. Mary's school employs eight full-time teachers, five aides and a music and art teacher, a physical education teacher, and an assistant to the headmaster, Mrs. Bebe McCasland.

St. Mary's acquired the old Park Hill School building by contacting the Big Spring Independent School District Board of Trustees and arranging to purchase the building. Renovations on the building have been going on for the past several weeks in preparation for Monday's opening.

'John Neill' to enroll in tax course

Amnesia victim 'contented'

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer

'John Neill' is still suffering from amnesia, and can remember very few events in his life prior to May 18 of this year. But, in a phone call interview with the Herald today, Neill said he is fine, and feels contented.

Neill was the subject of a story in the Herald July 30, in which he said he was the victim of a robbery which almost ended in his death May 18. The incident occurred in Indianapolis, Ind.

He said he was taken captive by a man who drove his car to a country road, and who then, with a partner, set the car on fire, with Neill still inside.

Neill can remember he was in Indianapolis, to view the Indy 500, but can not remember where he is from or the names of his family.

After the May 18 incident, in which Neill escaped from the car with his life, but lost his memory, he caught a ride with a truck driver, and eventually ended up in Dallas.

While in Dallas, he met members of the Salvation Army, who later introduced him to Lt. Bill Thrasher, who was at that time commander of the local Salvation Army. Thrasher invited Neill here, and Neill has been living in Big Spring since June 1.

Neill said following the story in the Herald, he was contacted by Marjorie Dodson, Big Spring High School choir director. Ms. Dodson invited Neill to come to the high school choir room to look over some choir music. Neill is an accomplished pianist, and provides music during services at the Salvation Army.

Talking with Ms. Dodson helped jar loose more memories of his past.

"I can remember I was in the All-State choir in high school," said Neill today. "But I remember I didn't go to the All-State competition because my dad was sick." Neill can remember that his father died when he was about 18 years old. He estimates he is 22 now.

In the past several weeks, several other things have also sparked his memory.

The young man said that while watching Henry Block in a television commercial, "I remembered I worked for H&R Block. It must have been in a large city, because I remember we had seven offices."

He said he remembers he balanced bank accounts for the firm. Remembering that he worked for the firm "will give me something to do" as far as a trade," said Neill. He plans to enroll in a tax preparation course.

Amnesia won't be a problem in working with taxes, said Neill, because the people who operate the school "will teach me everything I need to know."

Neill is planning a long-term career with the Salvation Army, though, he said today. "I'm going to become a soldier (member) in the church," he said, and plans later to "enroll in officer training. I'm heading in that direction."

Neill said he feels content, and that "I see the Lord is working in this. Salvation Army work is what I want to do."

"I would like to get my life straight. I'd like to find out where I came from." But, should he find out where his family is anytime soon, Neill said he would like to visit them, but then return here and continue working with the Salvation Army.

Unruly Haitians jailed in Midland

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Five Haitian refugees who were confined at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp have been jailed in Midland after they allegedly fled from their assigned recreation area at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, said Jerry Edwards, assistant superintendent of the camp.

There were reports that a guard had been assaulted. Edwards explained that technically the guard might have been assaulted. "He was shoved a bit," Edwards said.

(The refugees reportedly ran from the soccer field at the camp and then around a building where they were apprehended by guards.)

The prisoners were then transported to Midland City Jail by the staff from the federal prison. A spokesman at the Midland Police Department said it was merely holding the Haitians for the federal prison, and that the Haitians had not been charged with any kind of criminal offense.

The Haitians will be held in Midland for the time being, said Edwards, and will be brought back for their scheduled hearings with the Immigration and Naturalization Service.

Edwards said he didn't know if the five Haitians would continue to be held in Midland.

Edwards said the Haitians gave no reason for running off, but he suspects the hearings the Haitians are now going through makes them restless.

The Haitians appear to be optimistic about being granted citizenship and are hoping to hurry up and go to work some place and send money home, said Edwards.

Superintendent finally named to state hospital

By DIANE BALLARD
Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — After more than a year of thwarted attempts to select a superintendent for the Big Spring State Hospital, a state board settled the question. Dr. Albert Keene Smith of Edwardsville, Ill., will take office in late October.

Smith is currently administrator of the Alton Mental Health Center, a facility in the Illinois Department of Mental Health and Development Disabilities.

Smith received his master's degree in hospital administration from Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., in 1965.

"I'm very appreciative. I look forward to this job," Smith said.

The state board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation had narrowed down the candidates from 69 applicants to three, and was expected to make its decision two weeks ago. Selection was postponed because not all of the applicants were available for interviews, said Joe Emerson, MHMR personnel director.

The department's selection committee has been unable to fill the position since Dr. Grace Ferguson was fired last June, because of staff complaints about the work atmosphere.

Ferguson, however, says she was fired on the basis of sex discrimination.

Since then, the committee's attempts to fill the post, have been aborted twice, when each time, candidates withdrew their applications.

Last November, acting superintendent Wallace Hunter and a doctor from San Antonio withdrew their applications. Hunter gave no reason for his change of heart, and the San Antonio doctor decided he wanted to stay in San Antonio, said Dr. John Kavanagh, an MHMR executive director.

In May, the committee postponed consideration of Dr. John White, medical director of the George W. Jackson community mental health center in Jonesboro, Ark., for the job.

White later withdrew his application, saying he was not angry with the committee's decision to postpone, but was disappointed.

Truck tires valued at $61,000 stolen

Dickie Dickerson, of Quality Truck Tires, 2114 W. Third, told police 312 truck tires of various description were stolen from his business. Dickerson estimated value of the tires at $61,000.

Dickerson said burglars cut a lock from the security gate and entered the fenced area of his business and proceeded to rip the tin siding from the back of the firm Wednesday night.

Once inside the intruders stole the tires and left with no trace, said Dickerson.

The Big Spring police say they have no leads.

Local court costs spiral

New legislation changing the handling of court costs will result in an increase in local court costs, according to Bonnie Franklin, county treasurer.

Court costs for the Criminal Justice Planning Fund have been raised on misdemeanor and felony convictions, on offenses committed on or after Sept. 1, 1981.

In justice courts, $5 will be assessed on each misdemeanor conviction.

This is up from $2.50 now being charged.

In district courts, county courts and county courts at law, $10 will be assessed on conviction in misdemeanors, and $20 on felonies. This is double what it has been in the past.

According to Justice of the Peace Lewis Hefflin, this new ruling will affect the price of traffic tickets. Tickets will go up $6 after Sept. 1.

Shaw: Washington follows lead of Texas in helping Agent Orange victims

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — Washington is beginning to follow the lead of Texas in helping veterans with their concerns about Agent Orange, Big Spring Rep. Larry Don Shaw said Thursday.

Shaw said he was "very encouraged" by what he heard this week during two Agent Orange-related meetings in Washington, D.C.

"I got the feeling that things are starting to move up there," he said in a written statement. "The Veterans' Administration people we talked to are aware of the veterans' discontent with the V.A., and I came away with the impression that there's a very real desire to improve the situation as quickly as possible."

Many veterans are upset about the use of the chemical defoliant during the Vietnam war and believe that their exposure to it has created numerous medical problems, including birth defects in some cases.

Until recently, however, the government and the V.A. had denied that the defoliant could have any connection with the veterans' medical problems. "Frankly, based on past performance, veterans have good reason to distrust the V.A., and I'm not prepared to say categorically that suddenly everything's going to be all right," he said.

Shaw, author of the landmark Agent Orange legislation that will provide Texas veterans with some medical help, attended a symposium given by the Federal Advisory Committee on Health-related Effects of Herbicides and a meeting with several state officials and the chairman of the V.A.'s Advisory Committee and Chief of Environmental Medicine.

"There's a lot going on," he said. "We received updates on a couple of studies in progress that have already been criticized by several groups, and I was happy to find that the V.A. acknowledges some potential problems and, I think, plans to make some adjustments to make sure the studies are as accurate and as useful as possible."

Shaw said he also has briefed on an 18-month study of Agent Orange to be done by the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

"And I understand that the V.A. contracted with an outside company to do a compilation of all the available data on Agent Orange, and that should be completed and released by sometime next month," he added.

"That should be a big help to members of the scientific community and people designing further research."

During the symposium, Dr. Robert Bernstein, commissioner of the Texas Department of Health, reported on what is being done in Texas to implement Agent Orange legislation.

"I was especially encouraged that the advisory committee has members within government and out, and from all parts of the country," Shaw said.

"There's one Texan on the committee — Dr. Sheldon Murphy from the U.T. Medical School in Houston — and there are a couple of members representing veterans' groups. I think the mix of people will help to make sure the government is responsive to the concerns of veterans."

"I was encouraged by it," he added. "All these things should have been going on a long time ago, though."

OPEC ministers fail to unify oil prices

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — OPEC failed to unify prices in three days of intensive bargaining that ended today, Venezuelan Oil Minister Humberto Calderon Bertoli told reporters.

For consumers, the continuing rift in the powerful cartel could mean prices of oil products will remain unchanged or even decline.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries' ministers were unable in three days of talks to strike a compromise between the positions of Saudi Arabia and most of the rest of the cartel's 13 member states.

No official communique was immediately issued. The Saudis, who charge the lowest prices — $32 a barrel — refused to lift prices beyond $34, a level unacceptable to a majority.

The principal resistance came from Venezuela, OPEC's second largest producer after the Saudis, which declined to budge from its prevailing price of $36.

OPEC has not had a unified price since early 1979. Impetus for the Geneva conference was the world oil glut which put downward pressure on prices.

Saudi oil minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, asked before the meeting ended whether the Saudis would stick to their plan to set the base price as high as $34 a barrel — $2 more than currently charged — told a reporter, "Maximum." He also reiterated the Saudis would continue selling for $32 if there was no agreement.

The Saudi oil minister, said if the others would not come down to $34, his price would remain at $32, OPEC's lowest.

Fiesta Night 1981 scheduled Saturday

Fiesta Night 1981 has been scheduled for Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Amphitheatre in Comanche Trail Park, said Lydia Molina, director of Fiesta Night for the 13th consecutive year.

Mistress of ceremonies will be Imelda Melendez and music will be provided by the Luis Martinez Band.

Band members are Luis Martinez, Eulalio Rodriguez, Simon Moran, Victor Rodriguez, and Eddie Cervantes.

Singing performances scheduled are solos by Esavel Cavazos, Linda Cavazos, and Lydia Molina.

Duets will be done by Eulalio and Gloria Rodriguez, Benne and Eliseo Gracia, and Emilio and Lydia Molina.

The Sacred Heart Church Choir will perform popular songs for the audience. Members of the choir are Teresa Rocha, Sapapa Salazar, Gloria Rodriguez, Emma Cavazos, Linda Cavazos, Esavel Cavazos, Luis Melendez, Inez Salazar, and Nina Diaz.

Imelda Melendez will act out skits and traditional Mexican dancing will be done by youngsters directed by Mary Paredes and the Tom Olague Band.

Could mean easier going for construction of Stacy Dam

River authority's claim may be slashed

Harte-Hanks Austin Bureau
AUSTIN — The Lower Colorado River Authority's long-standing claim to 2.8 million acre-feet a year of Colorado River water stands a good chance of being cut by more than 40 percent, an official with the Texas Department of Water Resources said Thursday.

That could mean easier going in the courthouse for West Texans pushing construction of the $60 million Stacy Dam and reservoir project in Concho and Coleman counties, water resources staff attorney Martin Rochelle said.

During a hearing before the Texas Water Commission last year, LCRA officials "put on evidence that by the year 2020, they'll be using about 1.6 million acre-feet of Colorado River water," Rochelle said.

That's well above the 800,000 acre-feet a year now used by the authority, he said, but much lower than the 2.8 million acre-feet claimed. An acre-foot is about 326,000 gallons.

Despite the testimony, Rochelle said, the Water Commission, at first, accepted the LCRA's claim to all 2.8 million acre-feet of water, but a month ago decided to re-examine the claim after staff attorneys appealed.

"We contested the ruling because there's no evidence in the record that they will need more than 1.6 million acre-feet," he explained.

Back in the 1930s and 1940s, Rochelle said, "people got the water rights they asked for" and most of the claims weren't realistic.

In LCRA's case, he said, the federal government wouldn't loan it money for water projects unless the authority was pretty much assured that it held rights to all the water in the river.

If the LCRA's claim is cut substantially, possibly within the next few months, he said, more water will be available for other uses, including impounding by Stacy Dam.

"Our mission isn't primarily to have the LCRA claims cut back," Rochelle said. "It's just that we feel the commission should not treat a river authority differently ... There are farmers and others around the state that have seen their water claims cut back because they didn't have full use of them."

He said that during the last 10 years or so, the commission has been readjusting water rights claims all over the state.

Generally, the commission grants water rights based on the number of acre-feet being used at present, plus an extra amount for expected "diligent development" in the future.

GREAT GOODNESS — "Life on the range was never like this," says Geronimo, a dogie bull calf, who is being fed watermelon by Pam Wilson, one of Colorado City's pretty cheerleaders. Pam is the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wilson of Colorado City.

Big Spring school costs eyed

Free, reduced-price meals explained

Children whose parents or guardians have an income below a certain level are eligible for free or reduced price meals in Big Spring schools.

Regular prices for students in elementary school are 65 cents for lunch, and 50 cents for breakfast.

Students in secondary schools may purchase lunch for 75 cents, and breakfast for 50 cents. Additional milk is available on all levels for 15 cents.

Figuring on an annual income, families with one child who make less than $5,600 a year are eligible for free meals, and are eligible for reduced-price meals if they make $5,600 to $7,970.

Families with two children are eligible for free meals if they make less than $7,400, and reduced price meals if they make $7,400 to $10,530.

Families with three children are eligible, for free meals if they make less than $9,190, and for reduced-price meals if they make between $9,190 and $13,080. Families with four children are eligible for free meals if they make below $10,990, and reduced-price meals if they make from $10,990 to $15,630.

Families with five children are eligible for free meals if they make below $12,780, and for reduced-price meals if they make $12,780 to $18,190. Families with six children are eligible for free meals if they make under $14,570, and for reduced price meals if they make $14,570 to $20,740.

Families with seven children may receive free meals if they make under $16,370, and may receive reduced-price meals if they make $16,370 to $23,290.

Families with eight children may receive free meals if they make below $18,160, and reduced-price meals if they make $18,160 to $25,340.

Each district determines the price charged for reduced-price meals. Reduced-price meals for eligible children will be 40 cents for lunch, and 30 cents for breakfast.

Parents may apply for free and reduced-price meals at the children's respective schools. They will be notified of approval or disapproval within 10 days of the receipt of the application in the Central office.

Reagan ordered flights off Libya

COSTA MESA, Calif. (AP) — President Reagan says he personally ordered the Navy to challenge Libya's territorial claim and conduct maneuvers in disputed waters to show "America has the muscle to back up its words."

Libyan leader Moammar Khadafy drew the line and the United States crossed it, knowing that hostilities might result, Reagan said Thursday after a three-hour tour on the carrier USS Constellation.

Nevertheless, Reagan insisted that he was not trying to provoke an incident and that the downing of two Libyan jets early Wednesday was a defensive action.

"Our men are going to shoot back," he declared.

Reagan said he decided some time ago to assert the United States' claim that the vast Gulf of Sidra was international waters, not Libyan territory as claimed by Khadafy.

"We were faced with the knowledge that we could not go on recognizing this violation of international waters and that we were going to plan our maneuvers as we would have planned them without that rule, without his artificial line."

"I approved the idea," he said, adding that he revoked a previous standing order to the Navy to "not challenge" Khadafy's claim.

He also watched a dramatic air-power show by F-14 jets, the same type involved in the Libyan incident.

Aladdin Beauty College is now open for business

Whether you want to be a student or just a customer, Aladdin Beauty College at 217 Main St. is now open for business. The Aladdin Beauty College chain recently bought out the Valti Reeves College and remodeled the school, said Edwena Fox, director of schools. "We established a capacity for 50 students and we enroll a new class the first Tuesday in every month," said Mr. Fox. Mrs. Fox said tuition for a nine month course is $1,875. "A down payment is usually made and then the student pays a monthly fee. We will soon be federally funded and can offer our students the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant Program," said Mrs. Fox. The students start in a preliminary program which takes from 150 to 200 hours of class time. After this the student will take a written test along with a performance test and if the student passes he or she will then go on to work with the public in the shop, said Mrs. Fox. "The final test they take is the state board in Austin, that's what we prepare them for," said Mrs. Fox. Lovie Harrison is the manager of the school and an instructor. Mrs. Lucille Turney is also a staff instructor. "The school is open 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and we invite all prospective students and customers to come and see us," said Mrs. Fox.

Immunity being offered in Wood investigation

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A convict linked with two prime suspects in the investigation into the murder of U.S. District Judge John H. Wood Jr. has been offered immunity to testify before a federal grand jury, the witness's attorney says. Calvin Wright, 32, an inmate at the federal penitentiary in Leavenworth, Kan., appeared briefly before the grand jury on Wednesday, but refused to testify until an attorney was appointed for him. U.S. Magistrate Robert O'Connor Thursday appointed Roy Barrera to represent Wright and Barrera later said that Assistant U.S. Attorney Ray Jahn promised that Wright would be given immunity from prosecution when he returns on Sept. 2 for another appearance before the grand jury. Wright allegedly met convicted narcotics trafficker Jimmy Chagra in prison and talked by telephone with convicted hired killer Charles V. Harrelson both before and after Wood was slain on May 29, 1979. Barrera said that Wright appeared before another federal grand jury in San Antonio four months after Wood's death and was questioned about the assassination and the Nov. 21, 1978, attempt to kill Assistant U.S. Attorney James Kerr. "He denies any knowledge of either," Barrera said. After the 1979 grand jury appearance, however, Wright was sentenced to Leavenworth and there met Jimmy Chagra for the first time, the lawyer said. Although Wright talked regularly with Chagra at Leavenworth, none of their conversations were taped, Barrera said. Key witness Jerry Ray James, who made a secret grand jury appearance here last month, allowed his

THE LIGHT TOUCH
By Sherry Wegner

Here I am back to reality, after 32 marvelous days in Montana & other western states. I must admit, we got lonesome with just one kid along & had Billy fly to Billings to join us. Besides, Toni was showing signs of some syndrome not having any competition. We did learn a couple of lessons this trip. (1) Never tell your kids they can go to the motel restaurant to eat alone & to charge it to the room, especially after they have put the evening menus out. (2) Do not believe the advertisements. One motel advertised heated pool, sauna, electric beds, that massage your tired back & the real clincher was, kids love us. Well, either they hadn't paid their electric bill or they lied... the pool was ice cold, the lights didn't work, much less the massager, & who knows where the sauna was. Plus, they had hand written signs all over the room urging the guests to please not steal anything! One motel we stayed at (out of desperation) had such a tough looking group next door (standing in the door) that we casually toted a gun as we unloaded the luggage... couldn't tell if they were planning a hold-up or waiting on a shipment... either way, we didn't want to look too vulnerable. We returned home via Las Vegas & all I'm gonna say about that is... they owe us!  You owe it to yourself to drop by BIG SPRING SEED & CHEMICAL, 602 N.E. 2nd. and see what all they have. Once again, they are offering aerial spray service to defoliate your cotton. Come by & get your name on the list if you want this service.

Watt not so cuddly anymore

WASHINGTON (AP) — When James Watt went to Alaska, he pronounced himself a changed man, "warm and cuddly now." But after a week of being Mr. Nice Guy, the interior secretary is back in battle, awash again in controversy. In Alaska, Watt made a concession to animal lovers, limiting boat traffic in Glacier Bay to protect a depleted population of humpback whales. He also moved to increase recreation opportunities for national park visitors and made a point of listening to Alaskan concerns over his ambitious offshore oil leasing plans. But upon his return to Washington, Watt in quick order got into a slugfest with the liberal Democrat who heads the House committee that oversees his department. Then he ran into charges from environmentalists that he had conspired with his old pro-development law firm in a pending federal court case. Aides say Watt's eight-day visit to Alaska was intended as an image-building trip to shore up his rocky standing with conservation groups. To make sure reporters back East took note of Watt's exploits, aides called to point out the secretary's statements on the whales and on an initiative to spend $2.1 million on visitor facilities at Denali National Park. Watt took a plane ride with Alaska Gov. Jay Hammond for a first-hand look at Bristol Bay, one of the areas Watt is considering including on his accelerated oil leasing schedule. He promised to consider arguments made by Hammond that drilling in the bay would wreck Alaska's prime salmon fishing area. And throughout the trip, Watt stressed that he had decided to tone down the controversial image he had gained during his six-month tenure as interior secretary.

Go to polls on Sunday?

The nation's Secretaries of State, at their annual meeting at Shangri-La Lodge near Tulsa, Okla., have concluded the media was wrong to "call" the 1980 presidential election before it was over.

The Secretaries aren't the first group to suggest the media influenced the voting by projecting Ronald Reagan's win over Jimmy Carter several hours before the West Coast polls closed.

THERE IS LITTLE DOUBT, in fact, that several Democrat Congressmen were beaten because voters stayed away from the polls after learning that Reagan had already won.

But putting a gag on the media in future elections is hardly the solution. The election process simply needs to be changed to reflect a society that has instantaneous communication.

SEVERAL PLANS AIMED at election changes have been put forth in Congress. The most appealing is Sunday elections, a practice followed by many European democracies.

Sunday voting would allow a uniform opening and closing of polls across the nation since working habits would not have to be considered. A side benefit would almost certainly be an increase in voter turnout.

EXCEPT IN UNUSUAL circumstances, the Reagan-Carter match being one of them, media projections would have little effect on secondary races. Sunday voting wouldn't eliminate the projections, but it would lessen the impact.

Perhaps we should give it a try.

McCarthy returns

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, the maverick Democrat who bolted party ranks to run for president as an independent in 1976, has told intimates he plans to run for the Senate once again next year on his old Minnesota homeground.

Still a Democrat but now singing a more centrist, less predictably liberal tune, McCarthy is preparing to enter the primary against rich department store heir Mark Dayton, an all-out liberal with close ties to former vice president Walter F. Mondale.

McCarthy is lining up campaign experts to help him in what could be one of the more dramatic comebacks in contemporary politics. With his party moving sharply toward the center and away from the left, McCarthy cannot be ruled out against the untested Dayton, whose family owns one of America's most successful merchandising houses. The winner faces Republican Sen. Dave Durenberger.

THE MX SHOWDOWN

An Aug. 17 session of the National Security Council has been secretly scheduled in California for debate and possible decision on Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger's airborne MX mobile missile system.

Frantic last-minute lobbying by some of Weinberger's most trusted aides is trying to temper his commitment to the airborne system, and his decision to abandon the land-based system approved by Jimmy Carter. One such lobbying effort pitted Defense Under Secretary Richard D. DeLauer, in charge of the Pentagon's research and development, against Weinberger in a long briefing session. DeLauer outlined problems with the airborne system.

Also on President Reagan's plate at the Aug. 17 NSC session is a decision on the B-1 bomber. The prospect: approval of a relatively small number of bombers, between 50 and 100, and full-speed go-ahead to develop and build between 100 and 200 of the futuristic Stealth bombers.

JERRY BROWN'S PLEDGE

Behind closed doors at breakfast on the last day of the governors' conference in Atlantic City, Democratic governors were surprised at the vehemence with which California's Gov. Edmond G. Brown Jr. promised them he would not exploit his new post as chairman of the Democratic Governors' Association to help his presidential ambitions.

"I want you to know," Brown said, "that I am not going to use this position to run for president. I've been through that before and I promise you I am not going through it again in 1984." But right after breakfast Jerry Brown, speaking into the TV cameras, attacked President Reagan's economic program far more sharply than any other Democrat. He promised reporters that he would be a highly activist chairman of the Democratic governors, putting himself on an equal plane with congressional party leaders.

A footnote: Another ambitious Brown, Gov. John Y. Brown of Kentucky, makes little effort to hide presidential campaign preparations. Brown and his wife, Phyllis George, seldom miss a party fund-raiser or event in Washington.

SOCIAL SECURITY PICKLE

The proposed end to the $122-a-month Social Security benefit that has caused the Reagan administration so much grief was suggested to the president by a Democrat: Rep. Jake Pickle of Texas, chairman of the House Ways and Means subcommittee on Social Security.

In fact, Pickle, in private conversation with his colleagues, takes credit for planting the idea in an Oval Office conversation with President Reagan. Ironically, Pickle's Democratic colleagues in the House have grumbled that his push for reforms was undercutting the party's efforts to paint Reagan as a Social Security ogre.

Rep. Barber Conable of New York, senior Republican on Ways and Means and the House's ranking expert on Social Security, believes the administration should collaborate with Pickle. But influential Reagan officials feel the Texan's Social Security austerity plans mean big trouble and are advising the president to keep his distance.

KEMP'S STAND-IN

Having long ago determined that Rep. Jack Kemp has no intention of running for governor of New York next year, Sen. Alfonse D'Amato is quietly trying to build up interest in Kemp's old professional football teammate and former aide: Edward Rutkowski, Erie County (Buffalo) executive.

D'Amato has said nothing publicly. But behind the scenes, he has been beating the drums for the handsome, vigorous Rutkowski, 40, as the best to be the state's first elected Republican governor since Nelson Rockefeller. Party insiders feel Rutkowski, though a comer, is at least four years away from a statewide race.

A footnote: Kemp, in his native California for three weeks to rest and watch is son Jeff try out for the Los Angeles Rams, tells friends he is making his decision about governor right now. Although polls show him pulverizing two-term Democratic governor Hugh Carey, Kemp is expected to say no — just as D'Amato expects.

Uncle Sam a dirty old man?

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Is Uncle Sam turning into a dirty old man?

There was a time when an individual's sex life was properly considered none of the government's business. But those days are gone forever.

The Nosy Parkers of the federal government have investigated the sexual habits of everything from fruit flies to women athletes, all in the sacred name of research.

Now some prurient bureaucrats in the Health and Human Services Department have proposed a questionnaire that is so explicitly smutty I can't even print some of the questions. Those who are curious might get to see the questionnaire for themselves by getting a job at HHS and then telling their boss they are having personal problems.

For that is the truly incredible feature of Uncle Sam's latest venture into sexual snooping: It was intended as part of the Employee Counseling Service Program, set up "to assist employees in dealing with problems in living, which impact on work performances."

In other words, the very people most likely to be troubled by strangers poking into the intimate details of their private lives are the ones at whom the questionnaire was aimed. Already lacking the emotional resources that would allow them to handle personal problems without an effect on their work, they were to be asked to bare their souls to Big Brother before they can get the counseling help they need. The inquisitive questionnaire would be their ticket of admission to the counseling program.

My reporters Indy Badhwar and Vivian Marino have seen the questionnaire, which in some ways resembles the kind of "research" that has been the basis of best-selling books on human sexuality. It might even be titled, "Sex and the Government Worker."

Employees who seek counseling are expected to reveal the most harrowing intimate details of their sexual encounters, from how they kissed on a first date to the degree of satisfaction they achieve in various bedroom activities. They are also asked if they are homosexuals.

Married employees are asked whether they hit their children and whether they help with household chores.

In other areas once regarded as strictly private, the employees are asked to divulge how often they go to bars, whether they drink or use drugs, and if so how much they spend each week in these pursuits. They are also asked to fink on their friends, telling Uncle Snoop whether their associates also use drugs or alcohol.

Those seeking counseling help with their problems are asked to reveal how much money they have in the bank, how many unpaid bills they have, whether they like their jobs and salary — even how many times they leave their desks without permission.

Many of these answers could be clearly self-incriminatory, the kind of disclosures usually reserved for the psychiatrist's couch or the confessional box. But unlike psychiatrists and priests, the government's nosy bureaucrats are not bound to maintain confidentiality.

In fact, it would be easy for an official or a fellow worker — motivated by prurient interest, thoughts of possible blackmail or simple curiosity — to identify the individual making the confession. Though employees are not asked to put their names on the questionnaires, the forms do require the employee's Social Security number — effectively destroying anonymity.

In fact, the professional counselors under contract to the program are asked to rate employees on how well they answer the questions. Employees fear that the results of the counseling sessions, along with the Social Security numbers, were intended to reach the desks of senior officials.

Despite protests from employees involved in the program and even from the office of the deputy surgeon general, the counseling program is considered a model worthy of emulation throughout the federal government. And superiors may require employees to enter the program if they won't enroll voluntarily.

Footnote: Dr. Dale Masi, a $50,000-a-year HHS consultant in charge of the evaluation program, insisted the controversial questionnaires were scrapped sometime in March. But the same questionnaires wound up in proposals that were circulated as late as July. The forms, she said, were first proposed by Dr. Don Iverson of the Public Health Service. "I assure you the questionnaires will not be used," Dr. Masi said. "The draft policy of the entire program is still being decided."

QADDAFI ON THE AIR: Libyan dictator Muammar Qaddafi has found a new way to spend his petrodollars: According to U.S. intelligence sources, he is building the biggest radio propaganda network in the Arab world.

Qaddafi has ordered seven one-million-watt transmitters from the French and has plans to buy more than 100 smaller transmitters as well.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: Why do the Gospels not tell us anything about Jesus' early years (up until the beginning of his ministry)? — T.V.

DEAR T.V.: It is not quite accurate to say that the Gospels do not tell us anything about the early years of Jesus' life. Matthew, for example, tells us that the first several years of Jesus' life apparently were spent in Egypt, where his parents had fled to avoid the threat of King Herod to kill the young Christ child. Luke recounts (in Luke 2:41-50) an incident when Jesus was twelve and was taken to Jerusalem for the annual observance of the Passover.

At the same time, it is true that the Gospel writers do not reveal very much about this period of Jesus' life because they were not simply writing biographies, trying to recount the details of his life. Instead, they wanted to demonstrate clearly that Jesus was the Messiah, sent from God to save us from our sins. As John wrote, "Jesus did many other miraculous signs in the presence of his disciples, which are not recorded in this book. But these are written that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God, and that by believing you may have life in his name" (John 20:30-31).

That is why, for example, Luke has included the little incident from Jesus' life at the age of twelve. In it, Jesus becomes separated from his parents and when they return to Jerusalem to look for him they find him in the temple, discussing the truth of God with the scholars and priests. In reply to the comments of his parents he asks, "Didn't you know I had to be in my Father's house?" (Luke 2:49). His reply shows that he understood his unique relationship to God even at that early age.

Although our natural curiosity would make us want to know more about the early years of Jesus, they are really not important. Instead, we need to look at Christ as the Gospels present him — the Savior we can know personally when we give our lives to him.

Around the rim The almighty dollar

Bob Carpenter

The other night as I was flipping channels on the television dial I suddenly came face to face with one of those T.V. evangelists shouting heal, heal, heal! He invited me to put my hand on the screen as he held out his hand to me. He said something about feeling the power of God together.

It seemed a little strange and perverse to me for this man to be wanting people to feel God's presence through a television. In fact, I'm beginning to believe the T.V. evangelists, themselves, are just a little bit strange.

The electronic reverends are flourishing it seems, there are certainly enough of them around.

These shows usually follow an established format. The host is a man about 40 years of age with a manicured haircut and a spiffy three piece suit. He is intense and optimistic at the same time. The show contains plenty of shouting, praising, praying, and singing. The singing is sometimes handled by a pretty girl backed up with three male singers. They sing about God and love and money. Wait a minute. Money? Yes, I'm afraid it's true. In fact all too often the message of these shows is money.

Most T.V. evangelists say you have to give money to receive the good things in life, that is, a happy marriage, a good job, etc. And the more you give the more you get, so they say.

I wonder what happens to the poor people who aren't able to give money. Are they excluded? It seems like I heard somewhere that all men are equal in the eyes of the Lord.

An interesting sidelight to this is that I heard 52 percent of the people polled concerning the T.V. evangelists say they trust the evangelists about as much as they do a politician. So I guess when it comes to sermons and political promises some people are just skeptical.

I'm not trying to say all evangelists are hucksters out for a fast buck. I'm sure some of them are upstanding. I just can't help wondering if religion is something that should be reduced to dollars and cents, not to mention God competing for T.V. ratings.

So the next time you see that guy asking you to touch the television screen think about how absurd it is — God's power surely must be more than just the static pop of a picture tube.

Jaw bone can cause pain symptoms

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: In reference to your article on trigeminal neuralgia. It has been my experience as a dentist that many patients afflicted with what seems to be trigeminal neuralgia are actually suffering from temporomandibular joint (TMJ) dysfunction. TMJ, as I'm sure you are aware, is a multi-faceted syndrome involving stress, diet and malpositioning of the TMJ. Repositioning often results in alleviation of the pain described by your letter-writers.

The symptoms of TMJ are many and varied, often presenting as face, head, neck and back pain. Since symptoms of trigeminal neuralgia are frequently similar to those of TMJ, it would be wise to visit a dentist skilled in this before undergoing treatment involving drugs, injections or surgery. It's unthinkable that a physician would casually recommend surgery before making absolutely sure that more conservative and predictable therapy could be used. — A.B. (D.D.S.)

By way of clarification the TMJ is the joint system that connects the upper and lower jaw. The joints are located just in front of the outer opening of the ears. Like other joints, they are subject to changes, as from arthritis or tumor formation. Being so close to the teeth, however, places them under those pressures. Malocclusion of teeth, for example, can set off the pains that are so like those from the nerve problem, trigeminal neuralgia. Often a brief examination by a dentist will reveal this problem, which can be corrected easily.

I thank you, doctor, for making this point for me, and I would urge patients who suspect trigeminal neuralgia to have this possibility checked out as a cause of their facial pain.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I read your article in the local paper and have benefited from some of it. I still think an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. One half of a lemon's juice without sugar half an hour before breakfast every morning and you will never have a cold. Wife and I have taken it every morning for more than 50 years. We have been married 68 years. Both real well. Have two sons and 10 grandchildren. The bank gave us a party of being the longest continuous customer. I will send you a picture. I am 96 and my wife is 94. — W.S.

I'm not going to give you any argument about your health formula. It's worked for you, apparently, I'm glad to hear you find at least some of my advice helpful, even if it doesn't include your half a lemon a day regime. My best to Mrs. S.

Boy Won't Kiss for Fear Girl Will Tell

DEAR ABBY: I won't beat around the bush. The fact is, I've never kissed a girl and I'm 19 years old. Isn't that ridiculous? It all started in grade school when an older kid told me that kissing a girl wasn't all that easy — there was a right way and a wrong way, and if you didn't know how to kiss a girl, you'd be better off not kissing one at all. So I never kissed a girl because I was afraid I'd do it wrong and I'd get laughed at.

Now the situation is worse than ever. I've gone all through high school and one year of college with very few dates. I'm fairly good-looking, friendly and have many girls as friends. I have no trouble getting dates, but I never take a girl out more than once because eventually she'll expect me to kiss her, and when she discovers I don't know how to kiss, it will be all over.

I'm too embarrassed to admit this problem to others — they'd die laughing. So tell me, Dear Abby, what do I do? Pay a total stranger to teach me how to kiss?
NEVER BEEN KISSED IN OHIO

don't worry about it. Regardless of how inexperienced you are, with a little cooperation, you'll catch on fast. Trust me.

DEAR ABBY: I have nine children between 8 and 13 years old, most of them adopted. I would gladly write out a progress report to any mothers and fathers who wanted to know how their children were. Some of these children came to me from agencies, some were given to me personally. I am grateful to all their parents.

My twins were given up at birth by a Korean woman. There are no records of who she was or where in Korea she lived. How I would like to tell her that the twin girls she bore are now 13 — both honor students in seventh grade, musically talented and budding artists.

Each of the others has special talents. Nothing earth-shaking, but news of them might mean something to women somewhere who gave them up only after some long and painful pondering. Feel free to use my name.

Women more often affected by bone weakening condition

As early as age 25, from 10 percent to 15 percent of women show signs of osteoporosis, a condition in which abnormal amounts of calcium are lost from the bone. So says a health report in the current Family Circle magazine by gynecologist Art Ulene. Dr. Ulene notes that these are women most likely to suffer bone fractures later in life.

Each year more than six million Americans, mostly women, have bone fractures resulting from osteoporosis, says the report. A diet lacking in calcium is a major contributor to this great bone robbery, which ultimately affects one fourth of all women. The magazine report cites Government studies which reveal that the average American woman is getting only half the recommended amount of calcium — which is 800 milligrams per day for adult men and women and for children between the ages of one and ten. Women who are pregnant or breast feeding, and teenagers need 1200 milligrams of calcium per day. However, only a few foods contain calcium in large quantities: dairy products, shellfish and some green leafy vegetables. It's difficult to meet your calcium needs with other foods. For example, a chart in the magazine listing the calcium content of common foods shows that 29 apples or 22 large potatoes contain the calcium present in one ounce of cheese. Fortunately, there is good evidence that simply raising the amount of calcium in the diet to the minimum recommended daily allowance (RDA) can stop osteoporosis — perhaps even reverse it to a small degree — says Dr. Ulene in the magazine. If you are allergic to dairy products which are calcium-rich or if they give you indigestion, Dr. Ulene recommends supplementing your diet with calcium pills so that you meet the RDA. He cautions, however, that "In no case should you take supplements exceeding the RDA unless you are advised to do so by a physician."

Keeping active also helps protect against osteoporosis. People who remain inactive are more likely to lose calcium from their bones, says the article. After menopause, small doses of estrogen may prevent the development of the condition.

Coffee, rice bag party honor Candy Middleton Tuesday

The home of Mrs. Rip Patterson was the scene of a coffee Tuesday morning honoring Candy Middleton, bride elect of Jacky Brown.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Toots Mansfield, Mrs. Morris Patterson, and Mrs. R.T. Piner.

Guests were served from a polished table featuring a centerpiece of yellow silk flowers, white napkins with yellow trim, kitchen accessories, and various condiments arranged in a wicker basket. This was presented to the honoree by the hostesses.

Joining Candy as honored guests were her mother, Mrs. Harry Middleton, her grandmother, Mrs. Ray Hightower and Mrs. Johnny Middleton, her sister-in-law. Approximately forty guests attended.

Miss Middleton, was also honored with a rice bag party Tuesday night in the ranch home of Mrs. D.L. Dorland. Co-hosting this event were Mrs. Johnny Ray Wright, and Kim Dorland.

Refreshments of assorted candies, cookies, and nuts were served from a polished oak table.

The honoree was presented a colonial telephone pad and key holder.

The couple will be married Saturday in the Chapel of the First Presbyterian Church.

Vote No
on Saturday, August 22
Glasscock County Underground Water District
On Saturday, August 22nd the voters of Glasscock County are requested to go to the polls and disapprove the creation of a new tax, that can amount to $2,500.00 per $100,000.00 real estate value. If this water district is created it will have total control of all water, surface & underground, in Glasscock County. Don't be misled by rumors that larger area cities want our water. The Colorado River Municipal Water District already supplies the needs of these cities and this danger does not exist.

Folks used to wonder what Grandpa Brown and I had in common. He must have been close to eighty when I was just a kid. But I remember him as one of the best friends I ever had.

He was a wonderful old man, with a simple, native wisdom. We used to go fishing together and he would talk to me about God and Faith and Love. I remember he said people shouldn't wait until they're in trouble before going to Church. "When you're happy," he told me, "take time out to offer a prayer of thanks."

The Church had acted as a balance for him during good times and a bulwark during bad times.

Down through the centuries the Church has made great Christians out of unassuming people. They in turn have transmitted the blessings of the Church to oncoming generations. I hope I can bring Grandpa Brown's faith and wisdom to others, as I was impressed by him.

Baptists to host concert

The Jubilation Brass of Howard Payne University, Brownwood, will be presented in concert at 11 a.m. Sunday, by the First Baptist Church of Big Spring.

An extension of the University's School of Music and Church Orchestra Division, the "Brass" is under the direction of Daply G. Combs, HPU Director of Bands.

The Jubilation Brass is a recent addition to the music program of the University. An instrumental ensemble, its professor for the past ten years has conducted seminars, clinics, concerts and worship services in the area of orchestrated sacred music. It has appeared at Gloriana and Ridgecrest Baptist Assemblies in New Mexico and North Carolina and opened the Southern Baptist Convention in St. Louis, Mo.

The "Brass" is part of a sacred music instrumental program designed to provide concerts and to assist churches in developing their own instrumental groups.

The Jubilation Brass has been invited to participate in both the 1961 and 1962 Student Weeks at Gloriana, N.M., in addition to several other church and denominational events, including the Texas State Music Directors Workshop in November.

Native son to lead Salem Baptist revival

REV. MAC ROBINSON
 The Rev. Mac Robinson, Beeville, a native of Big Spring, will lead a revival meeting at Salem Baptist Church Sunday through Aug. 20. Salem Baptist is located 9 miles northeast of Big Spring on Salem Rd. James Kinman, 2002 Rossmore, will lead the music.

The revival will begin with the Sunday morning service at 11 a.m. with services each evening at 7:30. Morning services will be held at 10 Tuesday through Friday.

Rev. Robinson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Womer Robinson, R. 2. A graduate of Oklahoma High School, he attended Howard College and received his Bachelor's degree at Baylor University, Waco. He earned a Master of Divinity degree from Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth and has done graduate work toward his Doctor of Theology degree here.

Robinson was licensed and ordained at First Baptist Church, Fort Worth in 1954, has taught Wilson Movement Now (WIM) schools and led revivals. He was also publicly chairman for a citywide crusade in Big Spring in 1955.

Rev. Mac married Loretta Overton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.W. Overton, Sterling City, Mo., Jan. 12, 1941. The couple has four daughters, Tracie Rene, Pamela Joyce, Kenda Louise and Amy Michelle.

James Kinman has directed music in the area for the past 10 years. He is currently minister of music at East Fourth Baptist where he's served for 26 years. In addition, he has led singing in 25 revivals.

The Rev. A.L. Ottobrow, pastor of Salem Baptist, cordially invites everyone to the revival.

PROPHETIC FILM — A Mark IV film, the Image of the Beast is the mightiest of three films, the others being "A Thief in the Night" and "A Distant Thunder." This intense, 99-minute drama depicts the stark realities of the sufferings to be undergone during the years of tribulation.

Prophetic Mark IV film slated at Hillcrest Baptist Sunday

"Image of the Beast from Mark IV Pictures, a powerful motion picture about the Great Tribulation period predicted in Bible prophecy, will be shown at Hillcrest Baptist Church, 200 W. FM 200, on Sunday at 7 p.m.

"Image of the Beast is terrifying, yet touching; yet it leaves hope. This 93 minute film about the Great Tribulation predicted in Bible prophecy is from Mark IV Pictures, producer of A Thief in the Night and A Distant Thunder.

As the movie begins the Baptists has removed Christians from Earth, a new world government has been established and all who refuse to take its compulsory "mark" are being tracked down and executed. Focusing on the "plagues of destruction" described in the Book of Revelation, the movie follows several of those who are in hiding.

Their desperate struggle to survive against the powerful Satan-controlled government and God's destructive forces illustrate the grim scenario predicted for the Tribulation period.

The movie is uncompromisingly truthful and frightening. All who refuse the "mark" are executed by guillotine or shot while trying to escape. Friendships turn to hatred as those with the "mark" seek to kill former friends and family who refuse the mark of the Beast. Meanwhile, God's plagues destroy a large portion of the earth and mankind with fire, earthquakes, tornadoes and rivers of blood.

The film portrays the torment of those in hiding and their fear of being discovered ... wondering where the next meal will come from or whether they will even live through the day.

Yet, as the world undergoes horrendous destruction, new "believers" preach the love of Jesus Christ and the salvation available through Him. The Gospel is made understandable to a child, portrayed by the faith of a little boy as he accepts a terrifying death by execution with his bold new faith in Jesus Christ. This movie is recommended for children when viewed with a Christian adult.

Emmanuel Baptist schedules revival for Senior Adults

The Rev. C.T. Aly, San Angelo, will lead a revival with special emphasis given to Senior Adults, tonight through Sunday at Emmanuel Baptist Church, 2202 Lancaster. Rev. Aly is a semi-retired pastor, former chaplain, evangelist and clinician to senior adults. Phillip Marshall, Stanton, will lead the music.

Services will be at 7:30 Friday and Saturday night, 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Rev. Aly has pastored in Texas, Oklahoma, Alabama, California and Florida. He served as associate pastor to senior adults in the Park Heights Baptist Church, San Angelo. He is now serving as vice-chairman of the Copco Valley Association's Senior Adult Committee. Rev. Aly was real empathetic for the ministry to senior adults, feeling that service to them, as an important service of the church.

Marshall is the son of a former army missionary to Van East. He received his music education at North-

REV. C.T. ALY
 East Louisiana University, McMurtry College at Abilene and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth. He has served in the North Monroe Baptist Church in Monroe, La. and Ingleside Baptist in Shreveport, La. with music and youth. He served also at Cockrell Hill Baptist, Dallas and Forest Park Baptist in Pine Bluff, Ark.

Recently he has served First Baptist Churches in Ralls and Crane. He's been music and educational director at Stanton First Baptist the last three years.

David Womack, pastor of Emmanuel, cordially invites everyone to share this time of revival.

Vealmoor Church of christ summer meeting begins Sunday

Ray Lester, Jr., Denver, Colo., will conduct the summer meeting at Vealmoor Church of Christ from Sunday through Thursday. Davis Fowler, Big Spring, will lead the singing.

Services will begin with the 11 a.m. Sunday morning worship and continue each evening at 6 p.m.

Lester is an instructor at the Bear Valley School of Preaching in Denver, and does extensive evangelistic work. All are welcome to share in this time of revival.

Missionary to present slide program

Del Poss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delnor W. Poss, 704 Mathews, will share his missionary experience at the First Christian Church Sunday evening during a Fellowship Dinner at 6:30 p.m. The event is sponsored by the World Outreach Department of the church.

Poss served as a missionary from June-July in Maracaibo, Venezuela, partially aided by the church. Del, 21, is a senior at the University of Texas at Austin, working on a government major. He works for Charles Steinhilf's office half days while in school.

He has served as member of 4-H State Council; president district 6 4-H Council; president Howard County 4-H Council; president Knott 4-H Vice-President County Council in 1978.

He has served as director for the 4-H junior rodeo for five years; master of ceremonies for County and District Elimination Contest in 1980. Scott is a regular church pianist at his church. He also served as president of Student Council at school.

He was winner of Zales-Herald Outstanding Youth Achievement Award. He plans to attend Howard College in Big Spring and San Angelo State College majoring in an Agricultural related career.

Scott will retain possession of the large rotating J.T. Rutherford 4-H Achievement Trophy for one year.

Paula Kay Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Allen of Coahoma placed second in the girls' division.

A fishing rod and a sickle helps 'keep it clean'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reese Gardner, 83, fishes every day on the nearby Potomac or Anacostia Rivers. He carries a shovel, trash bag and a sickle along with fishing gear.

He uses the tools to clean the banks of the river where he fishes. Gardner picks up beer cans, bottles and other debris, cuts high weeds, fills in holes, prunes tree limbs and warns other fishermen to "keep it clean." In honor of his work to maintain the rivers' environment, Gardner was named grand marshal of a festival to promote a cleaner Potomac.

Man charged with selling fake alien cards

DALLAS (AP) — A 45-year-old man described as a "well-known and highly-respected" member of the Mexican-American community is free on bond after federal agents found more than 1,200 bogus Social Security cards in his office.

Pete Martinez was charged Thursday with three counts of selling bogus alien registration cards after officers found what they termed the largest cache of fake Social Security cards ever, along with more than 300 fake Hidalgo County birth certificates.

U.S. Magistrate John B. Tolle released Martinez on his own recognizance.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Michael Heiskell said the seizure was made by agents from the Immigration and Naturalization Service as part of an undercover operation that began in May.

The Martinez would sell these false alien registration cards for $350 apiece.

Heiskell said, of Martinez, who runs an immigration counseling service along with several other businesses.

The haul of counterfeit Social Security cards comes less than a month after 1,000 fake cards were confiscated in Laredo earlier this month.

A preliminary hearing for Martinez has been scheduled for Aug. 28. If convicted, he faces a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $5,000 fine on each charge.

Heiskell said Martinez sold three counterfeit "green cards" to undercover agents for $350 apiece, accepting a down payment on July 28 and final payment on Aug. 19.

Martinez's attorney, Russ Henrichs, described his client as a "nice guy" and said the case was "no big deal."

"Pete's a pretty good fella," Henrichs said. "As far as I know he runs an immigration service over on Singleton (Blvd.), and apparently he's been doing something illegal, which is surprising."

Henrichs said he also was surprised that federal authorities were discussing the case because he "wasn't expecting it to be a big deal at all."

"I hope you don't blow this up," he told a reporter, "because I want to get a nice quiet settlement on the case and keep him out of the pen."

"I can see where you got some illegal aliens who can't get jobs and I can see someone selling them some papers so they can get jobs," Henrichs said. "These people (illegal aliens) are here and they must have these things (documents). I think there's moral justification involved."

Dallas attorney Frank Hernandez said he has known Martinez "for a long time" and that the suspect was active in community affairs in the early 1970s. Hernandez said Martinez once served as president of Los Barrios Unidos, a West Dallas community group.

Hunt developing Oceans of Fun

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — This midwest area, which has not seen sight of the sea for some 250 million years, will soon have its very own ocean site.

A 60-acre aquatic park, Oceans of Fun, is being developed here by a businessman, Lamar Hunt, with opening scheduled for the summer of 1982.

When completed, the $6 million facility will be an inland seaside resort where visitors can body-surf on 4-foot waves in a million-gallon pool; sail a rented boat on a 5-acre lake; shoot mini-rapids in a 1,000-foot raft, and hurtle down a giant hillside water slide.

In prehistoric times the Kansas City area lay at the bottom of a vast inland sea. During the Pennsylvanian period, which ended about 250 million years ago, the limestone formations that characterize the area were formed. They represent an accumulation of organic remains of seashells and coral.

Reds, Rangers fuming over baseball playoff decision

NEW YORK (AP) — Players union chief Marvin Miller perhaps summarized baseball's problems best when he said that "Einstein himself couldn't devise a system that didn't have bugs in it."

So it was predictable that the response to a new split-season format for major league baseball would be harsh in some quarters. One executive called the new plan "unjust and irrational."

Under the revised format, if the same team wins both halves of a division race, its opponent in the divisional playoffs will be the team with the second-best record in the second half.

Commissioner Bowie Kuhn was heavily criticized for the original format, which called for the team with the second-best record for both halves in a division to get a playoff berth in case there's a double division winner. Under this plan, it was possible that a team would need to lose games late in the season to assure itself of a playoff berth.

Thursday's announcement by Kuhn,

American League President Lee MacPhail and National League President Chub Feeney, said, "This revision eliminates the outside possibility that a club losing a game or games toward the end of the season would thereby qualify as a wild card team for the new Division Series."

Both the original split-season format — conceived at the end of the 50-day players' strike — and the new plan call for division winners in each half of the season to meet in a best-of-five divisional playoff. The New York Yankees, Oakland A's, Philadelphia Phillies and Los Angeles Dodgers, all first-place teams on June 12 when the strike began, were declared first-half winners.

The division playoff victors will advance to the league championship series. The survivors go on to the World Series.

The change in plans hurts teams that did well in the first half, but weren't in first place when the strike started. For example, the Cincinnati Reds were only one-half game behind the Dodgers in the NL West on June 12. One of those who was upset with the revised plan was Cincinnati President Dick Wagner.

"As the architect of the split season and the leader in promoting this recent decision, the commissioner must take full responsibility," said Wagner. "It was a situation that required surgery and was treated with band-aids. The change is simply an easy way out and whitewash by baseball's leadership."

The Texas Rangers, who were second to Oakland in the AL West in the first portion of the season despite losing one less game than the A's, also weren't happy with the new plan.

"I don't like it," said pitcher Jon Matlack, the team's player rep. "It makes the first half meaningless except for the first place teams. Oh, well, it makes it more interesting to make up the rules as you go along."

"They should have the playoffs between teams with the two best records overall," added Texas pitcher Doc Medich. "Teams that play well all year shouldn't be penalized."

The St. Louis Cardinals, only 1½ games behind Philadelphia on June 12, were unhappy too.

"It's the most unjust, irrational concept ever perpetrated in baseball," said Joe McDonald, executive assistant to General Manager-Manager Whitey Herzog. "To go into a season with one thought — to win your division — then change in midseason — is unthinkable."

"They turned it into a big farce, a big joke," said the Cards' Dave Iorg. The new format calls for the second-half runner-up to host a double-winner in the first game of the divisional playoffs. The next four games would be played at the field of the two-time division champion.

"The adjustment of the Division Series was made solely to eradicate any possible question of integrity, which must be preserved at all times," said major league baseball's statement. "There was no intention of changing the basic split-season format."

Kuhn admitted that "various other Cont. on 2-B "Kuhn explains"

Landry concerned more about contract woes

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry says his team, which has looked less than sterling in two pre-season outings, has had a good training camp but he's not sure they haven't performed any better on the field.

"We've accomplished a lot in camp," Landry said Thursday as the Cowboys ended their pre-season practices sessions at the Thousand Oaks training site.

"I believe we made progress in our defense, especially with our people up front in our run situations."

Landry also said he thought the secondary had performed well in practice, but added, "It hasn't shown up on the field yet, where it has to start showing soon."

Dallas dropped its pre-season opener to Green Bay, 21-17, then got thumped by the Los Angeles Rams last Saturday 33-21.

Landry said the low points of the training sessions included safety Randy Hughes' shoulder injury and the contract squabbles with wide receiver Drew Pearson, defensive tackle Randy White and offensive guard Pat Donovan.

He said the contract talks were having an affect on the team's morale, because "whatever your leaders are thinking and doing has an affect on your football team."

The Cowboys host Pittsburgh Saturday night.

Japan's Aoki gets quick start in Buick chase

GRAND BLANC, Mich. (AP) — Japanese golfer Isao Aoki has been an international star for years, with 37 victories to his credit. However, the 38-year-old resident of Yokohama who won his PGA Tour card last March, has never won in the United States and that rattles him a bit. "Winning a tournament in the U.S. was a dream when I was playing in Japan," the 6-foot, 170-pound Aoki said through an interpreter Thursday after shooting a 7-under-par 65 to share the lead with Hale Irwin in the $350,000 Buick Open going into today's second round. "As a pro, winning here would be a final goal for me."

Irwin, the two-time U.S. Open champion who won the Hawaiian Open earlier this year, says he prepared for this tournament by vacationing at Kapalua on the island of Maui. "This tournament carries sufficient prize money ($63,000 to the winner) to get Cont. on 2-B "Irwin predicts"

Early LPGA lead means nothing to Donna Caponi

SHAKER HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP) — Donna Caponi didn't put much stock in her first-round lead in the $150,000 World Championship of Women's Golf.

Beth Daniel, the defending champion and one of Caponi's pursuers for the record first prize of $50,000, agreed.

"People put a big thing on leading, but we've got three rounds left. There are going to be some girls shoot in the 60s tomorrow. A two-shot lead on this course is nothing," said Caponi after her opening 2-under-par 70 Thursday.

Actually, she led by a single shot over Sally Little of South Africa, the only other member of this 12-player field to break Shaker Heights Country Club's difficult par of 72. Little had a 71.

Daniel was one of four golfers nestled at par. "If somebody is playing mediocre, you can make up strokes here," Daniel said. "You don't have to play poorly to have a bad round. This course can jump up and bite you."

Joining Daniel in a three-way tie for third place going into today's second round were Jan Stephenson, last week's victor at Dallas, Nancy Lopez-Melton and Amy Alcott.

Is NCAA pulling double standard in fight with CFA over TV rights?

ATLANTA (AP) — The president of the College Football Association says the National Collegiate Athletic Association "pushed the panic button" when the CFA moved into money matters rather than academic and recruiting issues.

The controversy comes to a head today when the CFA decides whether to ratify a four-year, $180 million television contract with NBC, an agreement that would guarantee each CFA member at least two appearances and $1 million.

The NCAA, which has a $263 million package for the same period (1982-85) with ABC and CBS, has threatened to take disciplinary action against CFA members if they adopt the TV package with NBC.

"Naturally that kind of reaction is a little repugnant to me," Dr. Fred C. Davison, president of the CFA and the University of Georgia, said Thursday night.

Davison said threats of probation and possibly even expulsion from the NCAA never arose when the CFA pushed for raising academic requirements. But he said the NCAA "pushed the panic button" when the TV issue arose.

The CFA consists of 61 universities, represented by 17 major independents and five conferences — the Atlantic Coast, Big Eight, Southeastern, Southwest and Western Athletic. It includes most of the major powers, except the Pac-10 and Big Ten.

Kuhn explains playoff decision possibilities such as a bye (for any two-time division winners) were considered, but nothing else aside from the bye was considered seriously.

"We felt a bye would take a team out of action for eight days and it could take several more teams out of action. It was possible that all four divisions could have been out of action for eight days."

Kuhn added that since baseball "must have set dates scheduled for the playoffs," and that those dates had to be set almost immediately, giving a team a bye "didn't seem like the way to go."

The commissioner also had to consider baseball's commitment to television that there would be playoff games on certain dates.

Stephenson, Melton close

Pat Bradley, the U.S. Women's Open champion and No. 1 money winner this year, stood at 73; Kathy Whitworth and Jane Blalock had 75; Jenny Lee Smith of Great Britain had 76; JoAnne Carner had 77; and Juli Simpson Inkster, the lone amateur here, scrambled to an 82.

Caponi says that winning this record purse and becoming the sport's all-time money champion here is her prized goal.

If she wins her sixth tournament this year, the 36-year-old veteran would have 17-year earnings of $1,032,521 and bypass Whitworth, providing the latter doesn't finish second.

Irwin predicts new Buick mark my attention," Irwin said.

Aoki, who has qualified for next week's World Series of Golf as the winner of the Japanese Order of Merit, made the turn Thursday in 32 and came back with a 33 on the back nine over the 7,001-yard layout at Warwick Hills.

Irwin went out in 33 and shot 32 on the back nine.

After watching the assault on the firm greens under near-perfect weather conditions, Irwin flatly predicted that the tournament record of 14-under-par set by Julius Boros in 1963 would be broken this week.

Canadian Dan Halldorson began today's play one stroke behind the leaders with a 66.

Dave Hill, the 1969 Buick Open winner who grew up about 100 miles from here in Jackson, was tied at 5-under 67 with Bill Loeffler.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, AUG. 22, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Try to keep your activities on a practical level because if you make moves to extend your interests you are likely to have difficulties now. Take any upsetting conditions in stride.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Talk over with an expert how to make your life more successful where business is concerned. Become more economical.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): A good friend can help you attain some of your personal aims at this time. Take treatments to improve your health.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): A private talk with an influential person can pave the way to future success. Be sure to show your appreciation.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Go to an interesting site with a new friend and gain the knowledge you desire. Strive to be more successful.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): If you carry through with the promises you've made, you can easily gain the recognition you want at this time. Be alert.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Get an early start on an important business matter for best results. Make plans for a trip soon and count the cost.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Be sure to handle duties that require your immediate attention. Come to a better understanding with loved one.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Go to a fascinating new site with the one you love and relax. Take steps to cement better relations with associates.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Make plans for the future that will give you more security. A close tie can be demanding, but take everything calmly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Getting together with congenials for recreation is fine today. Try and avoid the expenditure of too much money.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Discuss with family members practical affairs that affect all of you and come to a fine meeting of minds. Show loyalty.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): A good day to visit with others and find a better way to achieve success. Being with persons you like is wise.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: he or she will have an eye for culture and art, and could become very successful in life because of the ability to stick to something until it is completed. The mind is keen in this chart. Sports are a natural here.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

PUBLIC NOTICE
NOTICE
 Energas Company, a division of Pioneer Corporation, hereby gives notice of its intent to implement new rates for its domestic and commercial type, small industrial and large air conditioning/electric generating customer classes in the 63 cities and towns on its West Texas City Plant System, effective September 4, 1981. It is anticipated that the new rates will result in a 16% increase in Energas' gross revenues on its West Texas City Plant System, which increase is a "major change" as defined in Section 43(b) of Article 1446c, V.A.T.C.S.
 A Statement of Intent to change said rates was filed with each of the cities and towns (listed below) on or about July 31, 1981, and is available for inspection at the Company's Amarillo office, 301 S. Taylor Street.
 The proposed increase will not become effective until or except to the extent that the same rates are approved for service within the municipalities on the West Texas System.
