Slow justice for Haitians

They feel shame that their mission has failed

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

They came to America in search of jobs. Instead, they were rounded up by authorities and held in a crowded camp in Florida. They were put on an airplane and thought they were being flown somewhere to begin work. Instead, they were herded into a minimum-security prison in West Texas.

Deportation hearings began, and it was explained to the men that the outcome of the hearings might be their return to their homeland. They braced for the worst, and instead found themselves given no sentence at all, as the hearings ground to a halt due to a lawsuit resulting in a federal restraining order.

IT'S BEEN TWO MONTHS since 100 male Haitians were brought to Big Spring for temporary holding by U.S. authorities. Two months of slow justice as interpreters were sought for the Creole-speaking men, as attorneys were sought to defend them in a legal process they could barely understand. Two months of potential work and good American wages they wished desperately to earn.

Two months wasted.

FOR THE FIRST TIME since their arrival in late July at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp, the men were allowed to communicate with the public last week. Six of them were picked to meet a reporter and photographer. "The first three that held up their hands on each floor (of their prison dormitory) got picked," explains prison Lt. Frank Fullmer. "There were more than three but if you had a whole roomful you wouldn't be able to get anything."

After signing Immigration and Naturalization Service releases which stated they had willfully given permission to be interviewed, the six men sat down in an unused room on the second floor of the Sunset Hall (where they live in isolation from the prison's other inmates).

It was 11:30 a.m. Only one man had been interviewed by the time noon rolled by. Lt. Fullmer looked at his watch.

"You'd better hurry — just get the highlights of each one. It's time for them to eat lunch," the pleasant, crew-cut officer informed the interviewer. Perhaps just two or three of the men could be interviewed in depth, and the rest could leave to eat, it was suggested. The Haitians were asked how they would feel if only three of them met the press.

They talked animatedly among themselves in their Caribbean mixture of French and Spanish. A consensus quickly emerged.

Forget lunch, they said. We want to talk.

THROUGH CLAUDE LEMOINE, a 35-year-old former Haitian dispatched to Big Spring from New York by the National Council of Churches, the men told their tales of hard luck on Haiti and continued tough times in the "land of possibility," as they called America.

Beckner Nereston was the first to talk. At 51, he is the oldest of the six. He spoke with downcast eyes as he recalled how his mother and father died and it became his task to take care of his two sisters as well as his wife and six children.

To support such a large household, he bought a truck and made deliveries. Sometimes he delivered goods. Other times he carried people. Because he couldn't make his payments on the truck, he lost it — and lost his only source of income as well.

He said he made $30 to $50 a month, average wages for a laborer on Haiti, but he saw only part of the money.

"The truck was always breaking down, so I had to pay more," he explained.

ONE DAY HE DECIDED to flee his home in Cap-Haitien on the north coast of the island which Haiti occupies with the Dominican Republic. He knew "America was the land of possibility." And he had relatives in the U.S. who might help him. He called these relatives "God and the American government."

He learned soon enough that the government would not help him. It took 25 days for 80 people crowded into a sailboat to make the trip to Florida, and when they washed ashore at Palm Beach on June 25 they promptly were rounded up and placed in a detention camp. There they had food and fresh water — a luxury they did without for the last 10 days of the voyage from Haiti — but detention was not what they expected would happen to them when they arrived in America.

For a month the government kept Nereston in the camp, as its population of inmates grew by hundreds daily. His family in Cap-Haitien weighed heavily on his mind.

"ALWAYS WE THOUGHT about our families," he recalled.

Shame furrowed the broad brow of the burly truck driver as he explained how his mission had failed.

"I cannot feed myself. I cannot feed my family. They're eating, but I'm sure it's not a banquet."

Nereston said he would take any job he could get, if allowed to stay in this country. But it's not likely he will stay; he entered the country illegally, without documents, as did most of his fellow refugees. Unless the Haitians can convince the State Department their lives are endangered by returning to their homeland, they probably will be sent back.

Nereston, like many of the Haitians, actually did find work in Big Spring: painting a prison warehouse. But he quit when he found out he wasn't going to make near what he claims prison officials had said they would pay him. Nereston says he was promised up to $150 a month; prison Superintendent John Allman says the man misunderstood, that he was likely to make a maximum of $80 a month. Forty dollars would be average, said Allman.

(Nereston wasn't the only refugee who quit working for the camp, painting and landscaping and sewing together postal service mailbags. "The reason they quit," says Allman, "was peer pressure — to get the INS to speed up the hearings. When they found out that wouldn't work, they went back to their jobs.")

Twice Nereston went before the immigration judge assigned to handle the Big Spring Haitians. The first time he was notified of his right to legal counsel and was asked if he would like the court to supply him with an attorney. He said he would like that. The second time he went before the judge, it was to complain that he no longer had an attorney.

THAT'S RIGHT, THE judge told him, and neither do any of the other Haitians. The Midland-based legal service that had started to defend the Haitians pulled out of the case after it failed to obtain a change of venue for the deportation hearings. It sought the change because it said it couldn't locate enough interpreters and attorneys with immigration experience in West Texas.

Prison officials say the firm told them it estimated it would take two days per Haitian to adequately defend them; apparently overwhelmed with the potential case load the Haitians represented, the firm backed off and left the refugees without legal aid. (The firm, West Texas Legal Services, could not be reached by The Herald to comment on the problem.) Its estimate on the length of time needed to handle the Haitians may have been conservative; Allman said the INS told him it will take 100 hours per man to process all the Haitians.

Today, Nereston is saddened, frustrated, worried.

"Two things bother me if I am sent back," he said. "I will come back to my family with bare hands. They are counting on me."

"The other thing is that I left my country

Reagan cuts Pentagon budget by $13 billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan decided Saturday to trim his proposed Pentagon spending increase by $13 billion for the next three years. He said his action will "assure an increasingly strong defense" as well as the nation's economic health.

Reagan's decision means that anticipated Pentagon spending in fiscal 1982 through 1984 will be $639.3 billion.

The president's choice, made in the wake of predictions of a burgeoning federal deficit next year, was disclosed by his chief spokesman, David R. Gergen, several hours after it was conveyed to Defense Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger and Budget Director David Stockman.

Stockman and Weinberger had disagreed over how much the proposed increases for the Pentagon should be scaled down. Stockman's Office of Management and Budget had proposed cuts for 1983 and 1984 of up to $27 billion.

Weinberger had publicly resisted any major cuts in a projected $1.6 trillion, five-year program that would be the largest military buildup in U.S. history.

White House officials had said earlier Reagan was prepared to cut projected defense spending by as much as $30 billion.

Weinberger, according to Gergen, estimated that the $13 billion reduction in spending would mean a decrease of $21 billion to $22 billion for the three-year period in terms of total obligations. The larger amount involves some sums which are spread out over a longer time, such as multi-year contracts, but for which no money would be yet appropriated.

Gergen said specific decisions on how to cut the $13 billion from the defense budget had not been made. Thus, the actual impact on military activities could not be determined.

In a statement released by the White House, Weinberger said Reagan's decision "is a very fair and appropriate reconciliation of the twin needs" to increase national defense and reduce deficits.

Stockman, in a similar statement, said Reagan took "an important step" toward reducing the deficit.

Action/reaction: Magazine complaints

Q. Could you tell me where the Publishers Clearing House is located? It's where a person can write to complain about not receiving his magazine subscription.

A. Publishers Clearing House is located at Port Washington, N.Y. The address is Publishers Clearing House, 382 Channel Drive, Port Washington, N.Y. 11050.

Tops on TV: Fans to see Cowboys

Football fans won't have to miss their beloved Dallas Cowboys after all. Big Spring fans will be able to catch the contest between the Dallas Cowboys and the St. Louis Cardinals on cable channel 5 at 3 p.m. today.

It was first thought that the game would be blocked in this area so that the network could show continuous coverage of U.S. Open Tennis, but pressure on CBS by 13 Texas affiliates finally resulted in pre-empting tennis in favor of football.

So if you're a Cowboy fan be sure not to miss the game, but if you're a tennis fan don't be alarmed because cable channel 7 will have coverage of the men's final from Flushing Meadow, New York.

AT FEAST IN STANTON — Roger Lipps, 6, and Billy Lipps, 7, were among approximately 1,850 persons who gobbled up barbecue at the Caprock Electric Co-op meeting Saturday night at the Stanton High School football stadium. The boys are children of Ray and Vickie Lipps of Midland, who plan to make their home in Stanton as soon as their new home is constructed.

Cap Rock directors elected

Members of the Cap Rock Electric Cooperative met at the Stanton High School football field Saturday night to vote on three directors to serve on their nine place board of directors.

Incumbents whose terms had expired were all re-ected by the crowd of more than 1,800 persons who showed up for the event.

The directors who won are Neil Fryar of Lomax, Sammy Buchanan of St. Lawrence, and Alfred Schwartz of St. Lawrence. They will begin serving their three year terms immediately. The crowd enjoyed a barbecue meal and was shown the cooperative's financial statement for 1980. Lee Herring, Senior Vice President of the Grand Prairie State Bank was the featured speaker at the gathering.

Police Beat

Gun action investigated

Raymond Buss, 1304 Harding, told police that at 12:15 a.m. Saturday while he was at 1604 Wren a person unknown to him approached him in the front yard of the house and pointed a handgun at him and then raised the weapon and shot it in the air.

Buss reported to police he thought the action was provocative and aggravated. Police said the assault currently is under investigation for possible motives and leads concerning the incident.

Clayton F. Cluck, 608 W. 16th, told police that sometime between 3 and 5 p.m. Thursday someone known to him took his car from his residence and failed to return the vehicle.

Kessie Kothmann, Box 1362 Big Spring, reported to police that sometime Thursday night someone entered the fenced yard at Construction Ahead, Inc. on 100 E. 3rd and stole a 1980 Ford pickup.

Police said that at 2:50 a.m. Saturday Ray Serrand, a student at SWCID, was assaulted in his dormitory room by a person known to him.

Michele Viera, of the Southland Apartments, told police that sometime Friday night someone entered her home without her consent. Police said that at the present time no property has been reported stolen.

Omar Jones, 1902 Thorp, told police that sometime in the last two months someone unknown to him stole a 12 x 20' storage barn from 1600 Thorp by dismantling it piece by piece and carrying it off. Jones also said sheet rock, nails, and cement stored inside the building were stolen. Jones estimated the building and supplies at $6,500.

Police reported they are investigating for clues and possible subjects.

Tom Passmore, 3204 Drexel, complained to police that at 8 p.m. Friday someone unknown to him stole three hubcaps worth $360 from his car parked at his residence.

Vehicles driven by Snowie Bratcher Teeter, of Coahoma, and Ronald Terry Winn, 811 W. 18th, collided Friday at 12:50 p.m. in the 1700 block of S. Gregg. No injuries were reported, police said.

Vehicles driven by Carol Joyce Bateman, Gail Rt. 83 and Willie Gibson Boyd, 1506 B Wood, collided Friday at 11:02 p.m. in the 100 block of N.E. 12th. No injuries were reported by police.

A vehicle driven by John L. Whitmore III, 4006 Parkway, collided with a parked vehicle owned by So Binada, Friday at 9:55 p.m. at 1408 Lancaster. No injuries were reported by police.

Vehicles driven by Larry Don Hass, Route 1, and Joe Ramirez, 817 W. 6th collided Friday at 3:30 p.m. at the intersection of 11th and Donley St. No injuries were reported by police.

Vehicles driven by George Truett Thomas, 1608 Osage and John Miles Stuart, of Sioux City, Iowa, collided Saturday at 1:40 p.m. in the 1700 block of Gregg. Thomas received slight injuries, but refused treatment, said police.

Miss Arkansas crowned

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — Miss Arkansas, Elisabeth Ward, a talented brunette who hopes to become a corporate lawyer, was crowned Miss America 1982 on Saturday night.

Miss Ward, 20, of Russellville, is a junior accounting major at the University of Arkansas. Miss Ward brought her hands to her mouth in disbelief when pageant emcee Ron Ely announced her name before 21,300 people in Atlantic City's Convention Hall.

"Thank you, thank you," said Miss Ward, blowing a kiss to the crowd, before the outgoing Miss America, Susan Powell of Oklahoma, crowned her as the 55th Miss America.

Miss Ward won the title partly on the strength of her talent competition, a bouncy and sexy rendition of the 1920s ballad "After You've Gone."

At 5-foot-9 inches tall and 129 pounds, Miss Ward's 36-24-36 figure also scored points during the swimsuit competition in which she wore a cranberry swimsuit. She won one of three swimsuit preliminaries on Thursday night.

She is the second Miss Arkansas to win the title. The other was Donna Axum in 1964.

Woods to resign as mayor

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Mayor Woodie Woods will resign in November and hints he will run as a Republican against House Majority Leader Jim Wright when he seeks re-election next year.

Woods announced Friday that he will resign between Nov. 1 and Nov. 15.

"I will not deny that I am considering a race for Congress, but I cannot confirm now that I will be a candidate for obvious reasons," he said.

Under Fort Worth's city charter, any City Council member forfeits his office immediately if he announces as a candidate for another office.

Account to help defray medical expenses of Dovie Hart opened

An account to help defray the medical expenses of Mrs. Arvin (Dovie) Hart has been opened at the Security State Bank, according to friends of Mrs. Hart.

Money for the fund may be sent care of the bank, P.O. Box 271. The account number is 224-113-7.

Mrs. Hart is suffering from amyotrophic lateral sclerosis, and has been in the hospital for a lengthy period of time. Her daily hospital costs run between $400 and $450, and balance to date on her hospital bill is $5,586.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association cannot pay hospital bills, unless they are involved with the original diagnosis.

Mrs. Hart's husband, Arvin, worked for the Howard County Road Department for 27 years. He retired in 1977 to take care of his wife.

The couple's children include Clifford Hart, Cecil Hart, Peggy Pachall, Travis Hart and Lanell Parks.

Others are Fredia Chapman, Betty Van Allen, Carl Hart and Janie Jones.

'There are no jobs' in Haiti

without a visa and that is a violation of the law."

TWENTY-FIVE-YEAR-OLD Antoine Davilmar violated Haitian law in a more serious way, and he is one of the few men prison officials believe will be punished if returned to Haiti.

Davilmar clutched a prison-issue Bible as he talked — and for good reason. The young man deserted the armed forces when he boarded a boat June 1 for America.

"I'm going to die if I go back," he said. "They will hang me."

Davilmar said the Haitian army fed and clothed him and paid him $40 a month as wages. The money went to his mother, who cashed the check and used it to try to feed her husband, who couldn't find work, his brother and an untold number of relatives who seemed to show up often at dinner time.

Davilmar married just before he fled Haiti. He carries two photographs of "my woman" in his French Bible along with a postcard of the prison camp. He will not send the postcard to his wife because he does not want her to know he is in a prison.

HE FLED HAITI because as a soldier he was making no money at all to support his wife. Asked what work he would take on if he could remain in the U.S., he replied cryptically: "There is no vice in working. Lack of working is dishonor."

He seemed to mean he will do almost anything to make money — and stay alive.

JOSEPH MOISE IS 27. He was a farmer and grew corn outside the town of Eyaes on the island's southern coast, he said. A single man, he came from a family of eight — none of whom work, all of whom lost their home after a hurricane roared across the island. He misses his family but does not want to return to Haiti.

"If I do (go back), I will have a lot of problems," he said, afraid he would be punished because he fled the island without a visa allowing him to travel abroad. Because he left without permission, he thinks he will be jailed immediately upon returning to Haiti.

The interpreter, Lemone, was asked if Moise had reason to fear imprisonment. "There is no legal system there. When you are put in jail, you can disappear," Lemone replied. Haiti's President-for-Life, Jean-Claude Duvalier, has told reporters the refugees returned to the island are "welcomed by the Red Cross" and allowed to "resume their normal lives." He also says the government gives each returning refugee "a little pocket money."

He blames the exodus of his countrymen on a "population explosion" that has "greatly reduced the yield of the land" in his predominantly agricultural country. He says he has asked the U.S. for help in patrolling the coastline and controlling the flow of refugees, and says he has received no response from the government.

OCTAVE LAGUERRE WAS a shoe salesman in Port-au-Prince, the capital city of Haiti. With a population of nearly 1 million, the city is a home for about a sixth of the island's estimated population.

"I'm going to die if I go back," he said.

"They will hang me."

Laguerre, 46, lived in a house with his wife, six kids, two brothers and 12 in-laws. Some of the men in the house had skills, but they couldn't find work.

"There are no jobs," Laguerre complained.

But there were jobs in America, he heard. So he banded together with friends and they built a boat. They worked secretly, each man contributing whatever he could to the boat's construction. They made the sail out of their clothing "because we had not enough money to buy a good sail," he said.

They hid in the woods by the beach and watched the patrol boats of the Haitian navy cruise by. Then, when the time seemed safe, they shoved off for the 800-mile voyage to the land of possibility. Moise, Davilmar and Laguerre apparently were on the same boat.

Their 30-foot sailboat was captured some 12 miles off the coast of Florida on June 22. They had been without food or fresh water for five days, they said. They arrived on American soil at ten o'clock on the night of the twenty-second, the time of arrival in the land of possibility is etched, perhaps forever, in Davilmar's mind.

LOUIS SAINT JOUR, 30, also lived in Port-au-Prince. He saw wealth in the big city "but I never had any of it."

"If you want a good job," he explained, "you have to pay for it. The wily man wearing a t-shirt with 'Miami C.B.S.' scrawled across the front had been a radio repairman in Port-au-Prince. Sometimes he got paid for his work, sometimes there just wasn't enough money to pay the repairman. It wasn't unusual to get paid with a chicken, or perhaps a shirt, in lieu of cash.

Saint Jour said he has two children and a third is on the way. He is not married to the woman who bore him his children, and, he says he and the woman have an agreement to get married someday when times are better.

PINCHINAT NOEL, 31, had been a factory laborer. He explained with punctuating thrusts of his fingers how a factory man got paid: You earned maybe $40 a month, but only took home half. The boss kept the other half because he had done you a favor in hiring you.

Noel spent eight months in a factory that produced musical tapes. He took home $20 a month. It wasn't enough to feed and clothe his wife and four children. So he too learned through the grapevine when a boat was leaving for America, and made plans to go.

"If I go back to Haiti, I am in trouble. My whole family is in trouble because I am head of my family, and if I die, my whole family will suffer because of me," he said.

Noel was asked how he would solve Haiti's problems if he was elected president.

"That is a good question to ask," he said. "The government, instead of helping the people and the country, are just helping themselves.

"The first thing I would do is replace the people (in government), because all they do is take money and give it to their friends or families," Noel charged.

WHETHER IT TAKES 200 days to reach a disposition in all 100 cases, as the lawyers reportedly claimed, or twice as long, as the government is said to have claimed, the Haitians are sure to be in town at least 10 days longer than original estimates. A restraining order granted in federal court in Miami Wednesday will stall the hearings for 10 days and perhaps longer as a permanent injunction against deportation procedures is sought.

An organization called the Haitian Refugee Center asked for the injunction on the grounds that approximately 800 Haitians detained around the country weren't getting adequate legal help. At the time of the suit, the Haitians in Big Spring had no legal representation at all.

Allman says his camp is prepared to handle the men through the delay.

"We're set up to operate until such time as the men leave here," he said.

It is costing the government an average of $17 a day to feed, shelter, clothe and watch over each of the men, he said.

The camp has a capacity of 500 inmates, "but the special housing for the Haitians cuts me back to about 400," he said, adding he had 335 inmates at the moment (including the Haitians).

THE MEN FREQUENTLY communicate with their families back home — thanks to local churches which took up a fund to supply the Haitians with postage money, Allman said. He explained the federal government gives inmates 80 cents per month for postage, "but (the Haitians) ran out because it takes 80 cents to mail one letter to Haiti," said Allman.

The church fund also pays for cassettes which the men mail home if they can't write. Just before the interview, Saint Jour's face broke into a smile intense enough to light 10 Christmas trees as a prison officer handed him a return tape his family had mailed him.

It's not known how many of the men have confessed to their families that they have not found jobs in America, that they are — in essence, if not in physical reality — behind bars in the land of possibility.

IRONICALLY, ONE of the Haitians sent back should be pleased to return to Haiti. According to a prison officer who says he has talked extensively with the Haitians, one of the men went before the immigration judge and asked to be returned to Haiti.

"The judge said he could go back, but we don't know when he'll be leaving," the officer said.

"He didn't really want to come here. Apparently he went to the boat to sell some fish and they took off with him."

LOWELL BAIRD

Lowell Baird, 73, of Big Spring, an employee of Cosden Oil and Chemical for 38 1/2 years, died at 11:55 a.m. Friday in a local hospital after an illness. Services will be at 2 p.m. Monday at Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel.

The Rev. Keith Wiseman of First United Methodist Church will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Jack Abendschan, associate minister. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park.

Born May 14, 1908, in Sweetwater, he was reared in Loraine, where he was graduated from high school in 1926. He married Allene Bass March 7, 1932, in Lovington, N.M. He began working for Cosden Oil and Chemical in 1930. In 1939, he was transferred to Graham as assistant superintendent for Cosden's refinery there.

During World War II, he served in the U.S. Army Air Corps. He returned to Graham and was superintendent of the plant until it closed in 1946. He was the first foreman of Cosden's asphalt plant in Big Spring. He was a member of First United Methodist Church.

Palbearers will be David Yater, Lonnie Alexander, Don Reese, Joe Bob Reese, Carrol Yater, Wesley Yater, Billy Yater, Travis Yater and J.M. Yater.

Big Springers provide aid to fire victims

A spokesman for the Big Spring Fire Department told The Herald Saturday that citizens in the area have responded "magnificently" in coming to the aid of the Spears family whose home was destroyed in an early morning fire Friday.

The local fire department has set up a relief fund for Mrs. Mildred Spears and her ten children and contributions of clothes, food, furniture, and money are now being accepted at the Central Fire Station of East 4th St.

"We've received about three pickups loads of clothes and we have delivered several pieces of furniture. Cash contributions total somewhere between $1,000 and $1,500 not to mention the approximately $1,000 in goods donated by the merchants and stores in town," said the spokesman.

For the record

Carmel Eugene Moore of Box 467, Route 1, Big Spring, is not the Eugene Moore, arraigned on a felony Friday in 118th District Court.

Maverick Mattox wants out of Democratic doghouse

WASHINGTON (AP) — For most of the nearly five years he's spent in Congress, Rep. Jim Mattox, D-Texas, has been on the outside of the Democratic leadership, wishing someone would invite him in.

The outspoken 38-year-old Dallas native was frustrated at the recent defections of Democratic colleagues that enabled President Reagan to beat his party leaders on the budget and tax-cut bills.

Mattox found the Reagan victories particularly painful because the defections were led by Texans Phil Gramm of College Station and Kent Hance of Lubbock, who got prestigious committee assignments while he was being snubbed.

Honored by the Dallas Women's Political Caucus a few years ago as the outstanding member of the Texas Legislature, Mattox was elected to Congress in 1976 but got quickly in the dog house of House Speaker Tip O'Neill.

Mattox has been routinely rejected every time he asked O'Neill for a leadership role or a committee assignment, such as an open Rules Committee spot in 1979.

"I'm a positive, loyal Democrat. He (O'Neill) used discipline against me in not giving me a (committee) spot, and yet I'm the kind of guy they should have given a job to," said Mattox, who has a record of almost always voting the party position.

"Other guys, who showed absolutely no loyalty, they're the ones they reward. It's the type of inverse leadership that causes problems," he said.

Mattox got into hot water with O'Neill "because I've been one of the folks very difficult to control. I don't like people telling me what to do."

It's the same sort of trouble he found himself in when he was one of the best all-around athletes at Woodrow Wilson High School in Dallas.

"I quit football because I didn't like people telling me what to do. I was the fastest runner on the team, but I never got to play because I was always in some type of friction with the coaches," he said.

Shortly after Mattox began office here, President Carter put an energy conservation program into effect.

"I'm a casual-type guy, and I tried to change the coat-and-tie regulation," Mattox said. He attracted publicity across the country before finally backing away and incurring the wrath of O'Neill.

Later, President Carter vetoed a water project, and O'Neill asked for Mattox' vote to help override the veto.

"It was a bad deal, a boondoggie. They tried to coerce me into voting to override it and I refused," Mattox said. Still later, Mattox collided with Rep. Richard Bolling, D-Mo., another member of the leadership in-crowd.

"Bolling was trying to usurp power from the Budget Committee and give it to the Joint Economic Committee. I led a bruising fight against him and beat him," Mattox said.

Then there were a couple of other times, he recalls, when "I executed an individual-type action."

When a spot opened on the prestigious Rules Committee, Texas Democrats fought to keep the state represented on it and Mattox had more seniority than others seeking it.

"It's one of the spots you pretty well have got to give a commitment you'll vote with the speaker whenever he wants it," Mattox said.

O'Neill refused to give the job to Mattox, handing it instead to newcomer Martin Frost, D-Dallas, although it was almost unprecedented for a freshman to get a spot on the Rules Committee. It was an obvious snub of Mattox.

Lately, however, with Mattox staying aboard ship while other Democrats fled to support Reagan, his stock has risen with O'Neill.

"I think the speaker has come to appreciate a loyal Democrat. He told me so," Mattox said.

When Mattox came to Washington, it was with the intention of being a part of the leadership structure within a short time, he said.

"Now, I don't know. I suppose my goal is just to attempt to be the very best congressman I can be and to help my constituents. I am trying to reformulate my long-range goal," he added.

"I have a reputation of being one of the best fund-raisers here, and last Congress, I volunteered to be chairman of the Democratic Campaign Finance Committee, but the Speaker didn't take me up on it," he added.

"I am looking for a really challenging role. I'm in the middle of seniority on the Banking, Housing and Urban Affairs Committee, not enough seniority to have a subcommittee chairmanship.

"Whether I am going to stay in Congress many more years, I don't know. I just turned 38. I have said before, I don't know what I'll be when I grow up," he said with a smile.

"The problem is, I am an impatient individual, and I do not feel like sitting on the back row and waiting until I get the necessary seniority."

Improvements in party discipline and campaign mechanism are badly needed in the Democratic Party nationally, he feels.

"Discipline takes long-term schooling. You've got to hand pick people who are going to be your troops and stand with the leadership when it really counts," he said.

"I learned that in the Texas Legislature, where there was really strict discipline, the kind that has not existed here in many years, certainly not since Sam Rayburn," he added.

"I learned how to count in the state Legislature and I knew whether I was going to win before my bill went up, and I didn't shed my troops blood. As a leader, you don't make a man take a hard vote unless it's absolutely necessary, and you don't take your troops into a battle you can't win."

The Democrats lost a lot of elections in 1980, Mattox feels, because its members were continually exposed the previous two years to numerous votes designed by Republicans to embarrass Democrats.

Mattox said he thinks the leadership should discipline members with actions as possible to keep members in line and still in the Democratic Party.

"We're not talking about anything drastic like taking away anybody's committee assignments," he said. "You don't want to do anything to chase anybody out of the party. On the other hand, if you've got one individual doing something to deliberately tear down the party, you can't allow that."

Asked if any of Texas' 19 Democratic congressmen fit that description, Mattox said, "Possibly," an apparent reference to Gramm, who has said the Democratic Party ranks low on his list of priorities.

Mattox said past actions of Hance and Charlie Stenholm of Stamford, president of the "boll weevils," had proved them to be "good Democrats."

"You don't discipline people based on one or two votes. It's the type of thing you look at over a period of time. You consider the good votes, the hard votes, the courageous votes a member takes for you."

"If he takes five hard votes for you and then you ask him again and he says no, you don't discipline him for that. If he says no all five times, that's entirely different."

Mattox must overcome an unfavorable redistricting plan if he is to return to Congress. The Texas Legislature re-drew the lines recently, taking away minority districts that have supported him and adding thousands of Republican voters.

He wrote constituents recently, "Reports of my death due to redistricting have been grossly exaggerated. This is not the first time members of the news media have misjudged my health."

Mattox' past tenacity in political wars have brought him victories that surprised observers.

Despite a high school counselor's suggestion that his grades were too poor for college, Mattox went on to Baylor University, where he averaged 60 hours a week on the freight docks, won an academic scholarship and graduated first in his degree field.

Mattox went to SMU law school and was also named Democratic Party precinct chairman, although at the time he hadn't voted in his first election yet.

Later he became a prosecutor for the Dallas County district attorney's office before successfully running for the Texas Legislature.

While at Baylor, Mattox ran for president of the business school student body and overwhelmed two opponents, each of whom represented popular fraternities.

"I was politically astute enough to realize there were a lot more independents than fraternity members," Mattox said.

"Because of my high scholastic standing by then, I got a professor to allow students to go vote during class, which got me a lot of the votes of off-campus students who wouldn't have voted otherwise," he added.

Mattox won by a large margin. He's been winning rather handsily ever since.

Sprinkle new instructor of auto mechanics at HC

William A. (Bill) Sprinkle Jr., has been named instructor of auto mechanics at Howard College, according to Dr. Bobby Wright, vice-president for HC.

Sprinkle is a native of Pecos, and received a BS degree in Industrial Arts and Mathematics from Sul Ross State University, Alpine. He is also an ordained Southern Baptist pastor and Bible teacher.

Sprinkle came to Big Spring from Azle, where he taught high school math. He served as principal of Trinity Christian Academy in Pecos prior to teaching in Azle.

"I'm very happy to have this opportunity to teach at Howard College," said Sprinkle. "I plan to use and develop some new talents in the automotive classes."

Sprinkle and his wife, Margaret, have four children.

Doc transplants boy's toe for missing thumb

CLEVELAND (AP) — The prognosis for Bryan Cavasas' new thumb is thumbs up.

The 4-year-old Texas boy has a left thumb made from part of a toe bone, and his doctor is optimistic that the surgery will succeed and the transplanted bone will continue to grow.

The boy, from the Houston suburb of Cypress, Texas, received the new thumb for his left hand Tuesday in surgery by Dr. Avrum I. Froimson at Mount Sinai Medical Center.

Froimson, a 1965 graduate of Tulane Medical School in New Orleans, said he believes other parts of the boy's deformed hand can be taken care of later.

Meanwhile, the boy was scheduled to be released from the hospital today and will spend a week in Cleveland for observation prior to his trip home.

He'll have a chance to view the Houston Oilers-Cleveland Browns National Football League game on Sunday and see his idol, Houston's Earl Campbell, in action.

"Half these bone transplant grow and half don't," said Froimson, chief of the Mount Sinai department of orthopedic surgery. "In any event, he now has a thumb up to the first joint and I am very optimistic that the bone will grow."

Froimson took a small bone from the fourth toe of young boy's left foot and put it where his thumb was supposed to be.

"We took from the left foot because most people kick with the right foot and use the right foot for the brake and gas pedals. The fourth toe will be the same length as the fifth toe," he said.

AMA offering 'video clinics'

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Medical Association is offering its members "video clinics," professionally produced videotapes that describe the latest diagnostic techniques and methods of treatment.

Similarly, the American Bar Association offers more than 200 videotapes covering topics from estate planning and law office management to trial techniques and witness examinations, says Dan Roberts of US JVC Corp., a video product maker. Other professions, such as accounting and computer programming also use videotape for continuing education programs, according to Roberts.

Road sharing lessons needed

LINTHICUM, Md. (AP) — Automobile drivers need lessons in sharing the road with motorcycles, say many of the nation's motorcycle riders.

In a poll conducted by the Motorcycle Safety Foundation, 91.8 percent of the respondents thought such road behavior should be taught through driver education classes and/or as part of the regular driver licensing procedure. Some 95 percent felt that information also should be included in state motor vehicle manuals.

Assault suspect remains in jail

Klaus Hugo Quernheim, 23, of Gail Route, Box 113, was transferred to county jail Thursday.

Quernheim was charged with assault, and placed under a $3,500 bond, set by Judge Bobby West. He remains in custody.

A problem is an opportunity

Big Spring is having growing pains.

Progress can sometimes cause discomfort, as any child who is teething can testify. The teeth hurt when they are coming in, but that doesn't mean we try to block their growth or cut them out. We certainly would limit our future if we did.

SEVERAL BUSINESSMEN in town have expressed their displeasure with the fact that some of their best employees are being lured away by the oil industry, particularly O.I.L. We sympathize with these businessmen and can understand their frustration.

However, the benefits of having a thriving industry such as O.I.L. in our city far outweigh the temporary setbacks some businesses are experiencing now.

If, as projected, O.I.L. employs 2,000 persons in the future, what a boost to the economy that will be — more customers, more money to be turned over in the community. Every business in town will benefit.

Another factor to consider is the tax revenue the community will enjoy as a result of O.I.L.'s success. The oil industry has long been the state's largest tax payer and the beneficiaries are our schools, our city and our county.

PERHAPS HERE, in the hotbed of oil activity, the answer lies in setting up training centers for skilled tradesmen to fill the demand for workers. Perhaps the city could aid in recruitment of workers.

With the right attitude, optimistic determination and a little brainpower, this little problem of growth will be no problem at all. Truly successful people look at their problems as opportunities, and that is what we must do.

"My vacation," by Reagan

Art Buchwald

I went to California and had a great time. I went horseback riding and slept late and worked on a farm and fed the cattle, and fired 14,000 air controllers.

We had a lot of fun. I cut brush, cleared out trees, hiked with my best girl, Nancy, and shot down two Libyan airplanes. I was sleeping when we shot them down and my best friend Ed Meese didn't wake me up in time. But it was fun hearing about it.

David Stockman came to visit me and after we had a great breakfast of pancakes cooked over an open fire, we cut the federal pay raises by eight percent, saving us at least 10 billion dollars. Then we went fishing and David said to me we had to cut the military budget by 40 billion dollars. I caught a large trout and I told him to go ahead and make the cuts if he would feel better.

A few days later Cap Weinberger came to visit me and we went bird-watching. I saw a hawk and he saw an eagle. Cap said we couldn't cut the military budget and as a matter of fact we might need another 40 billion dollars for a new ABM system to protect our MX missiles.

I told him not to worry, and he and David should work it out because the veterinarian was coming at two to look at one of my horses.

When I got back to the ranchhouse I had a call from Mike Deaver who said everyone in Washington missed me, and there hadn't been any good parties since I left town because everyone was waiting for me to come back. He also said the economy was very sluggish and if it didn't pick up soon the interest rates would continue to rise and businessmen were starting to predict a recession. I told him I would sleep on it, and had a nice long nap.

Saturday was a beautiful day so we decided to ride out and have a picnic. We were enjoying the sunset when I had a radio call from Al Haig who said the South Africans had invaded Angola. He wanted to know how we should vote on it in the United Nations. I told him I couldn't care less, and I wish he wouldn't bother me when I was watching the sunset.

Monday it rained so I stayed inside and wrote a nasty letter to Brezhnev telling him that I planned to start a new arms race unless they became serious about the SALT talks. Then I read a swell book about Herbert Hoover.

Friday, the vet called and said my horse was much better and would probably be able to be saddled in a few days. I chopped wood, and trimmed the avocado trees. Dick Allen called, and told me the North Koreans had shot a missile at one of our spy planes, and this got me real mad and spoiled my day. I told him when I got back from my vacation I would handle it.

I was really sorry to leave the ranch because it was so peaceful and beautiful there and I knew when I got back to Washington I'd have to be in my office from nine to five, and make a lot more cuts in the budget and meet with Prime Minister Begin. But it was probably the best summer I ever had, and Nancy and I are talking about coming back next year for three months, because now that I'm President I have a lot more time on my hands.

"I DO BELIEVE SENATOR EAST HAS A FEW QUESTIONS, JUDGE..."

Outrageous medical ripoffs

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — As an employee of the federal government, President Reagan was entitled to medical care under the Federal Employees Compensation Act after the attempt on his life last March 30. The wound that nearly killed him cost an estimated $24,500 for treatment as an on-the-job injury.

Compare that relatively modest medical bill to one submitted by Dr. Richard Kones for the treatment of another government worker under the same law: The good doctor billed the Department of Labor $123,000 for treating the federal employee for two on-the-job injuries between 1975 and 1979.

Kones is currently being sued by the feds for recovery of $500,000 in workers' compensation payments. He is also under indictment in Houston, Texas, and Westchester County, N.Y., for insurance fraud. He was convicted of Medicare fraud in New York in 1974 and Medicaid fraud in Connecticut in 1980.

Yet, incredibly, no one at the Labor Department raised any questions when Kones submitted 82 separate bills for the same sum — $632 — over the course of several months.

How could a doctor with a criminal record get away with such ripoffs of the government?

My associate Tony Capaccio has looked into the situation, and the answer seems to be that the Labor Department, which is supposed to supervise the $800-million-a-year medical compensation program, has set up precious few procedures to keep Uncle Sam from being overcharged.

Many of Kones' outrageous bills, for example, were routinely OKed by GS-2 clerks — some of the lowest-paid and inexperienced employees on the federal payroll — instead of being scrutinized by competent claims examiners.

Another horrible example is Dr. Allen Joseph. From 1975 to 1980, he got $50,000 from the government for workmen's compensation medical bills. One mind-boggling case involved a mailman who supposedly made 284 visits to Joseph's office between June 30, 1976, and Feb. 8, 1980 — for treatment of a lacerated leg. The bill came to $4,214.87.

Presumably, nearly four years of visits were required to stitch and restitch the mailman's knee. Yet the man was back on his rounds seven months after his injury.

There was another problem with Joseph during this same period: In 1978 he was permanently barred from receiving Medicaid payments in New York. He had been tried on fraud charges, but was acquitted when he agreed to repay Suffolk County, N.Y., $8,000. Under Labor Department rules, however, Dr. Joseph was allowed to get FECA payments because his medical license was still intact.

Even after Joseph was indicted, pleaded guilty and was sentenced to a year and a day in federal prison earlier this year for mail fraud, discovered that he continued billing the Labor Department until four days before he went to jail.

HALL OF HEROES: Courage can consist of unspectacular things like conscience and compassion. I'm nominating for this column's Hall of Heroes three persons who demonstrated these qualities.

— James Branum, city manager of Yukon, Okla., went to the FBI to report that he had been offered bribes by representatives of a New York City chemical company. As a result, four individuals were indicted on bribery charges involving six Oklahoma towns and 15 states. Recently, Branum has received telephone threats against himself and his family. Despite the threats, he is determined to testify at the suspects' upcoming trial.

— Betty Lawrenz and Irene Pearlman of Washington, D.C., learned that a 62-year-old Capitol Hill neighbor, Bruce Sladen, was terminally ill with cancer and wanted desperately to spend his last days at home with an 81-year-old brother. The two women enlisted 25 volunteers to care for Sladen during the day, while a practical nurse took over at night. This enabled Sladen to leave the hospital and live at home until his death last April 2.

Around the rim Digit trouble

Walt Finley

All right, you Reagan tax-cutters — the boss is back to work, so get busy ... chop chop!

ONE OF MY LEADERS, Tommy Hart, and his charming wife, Elvira, leave Big Spring Thursday for a "dream vacation" in England. Tommy says:

We're having digit trouble in Texas double digit inflation and triple-digit weather.

On the Voyager 2 trip, camera trouble is one of the worst things that can happen — second only to losing the entire supply of travelers checks.

This far out observation was made by Herald word maker, Barbara Wood, whose husband, Ray, observes his birthday Saturday and their son, Philip, celebrates his birthday Tuesday.

Herald pressman, "James "Red" Thomas, Big Spring's biggest Houston Astros fan and who plans a "quiet" birthday next Sunday, says there's fear among high-level educators: Some day a brain surgeon will develop an operation that gives the patient the equivalent of four years of college.

WE HAVE TO ADMIT TEXAS isn't one of the leaders among the states in per capita income. But we're right up there in things that really matter, like per capita consumption of catfish.

That traveling man, Kenneth Hart, rolls out three minigags:

GUEST: Who is that terribly ugly man sitting over there?

HOSTESS: That's my brother.

GUEST: Excuse me. I really hadn't noticed the resemblance.

KIDS: Daddy, did you win?

FATHER: Kids, in golf it doesn't matter so much if you win. But your father got to hit the ball more times than anyone else.

SONNY: Grandpa, it says here that there are 20 percent more women at age 75 than men.

GRANDPA: At age 75, who cares?

TV FANS ARE PLEASED that most of the networks' labor disputes seem to be settled. It's good to know people are working on next summer's reruns.

America news media have never had a foreign leader as frustrating as the one in Libya. Why can't he make up his mind whether his name begins with K, G, or Q?

If you know what the score is in Texas Government, why can't you keep it to yourself?

The Scurry Street Cynic has an uneasy feeling about the latest special legislative session. Is the main purpose to allow lawmakers to say, "See, we saved you a million dollars in special elections?"

IT'S HARD TO BELIEVE, but at this very moment someone is hard at work on an early chapter of "The Making of a President, 1984."

Tip O'Neill assures us that he's perfectly willing to support the president whenever he's right ... if it should ever happen ... in jelly-bean land.

Assistant backshop boss Joe Awtrey, who points out there are more OU football players in the National Football League than any other college, overheard:

"This $30 wristwatch is no good. Sure, it gives the time, the day, the month, a stopwatch and wake-up chimes — but where's the weather forecast?"

The only things bugs don't eat, people don't like either.

A good case can be made for Texas' special session. How else could our lawmakers get together to argue whether the session is needed.

YOUTHFUL VOLANDA BAILON, Herald word maker who lived it up on her birthday Thursday, says Richard Nixon is always cheered when he hears a sound that he dimly remembers as applause.

I think it was Herald Managing Editor Linda Adams who insisted starting from scratch isn't half as hard as starting without it. Linda's birthday is next Sunday.

My neighbor and landlady, Delma Hall, back home after three-weeks vacation in Austin with her son, Sam Hall and his family, provides the thought for today:

I never think of the future. It comes soon enough. — Albert Einstein.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor:

In answer to the letter written by Terri Beard Merrick, Sept. 11, 1981.

After I read it I was surprised, and embarrassed for this young lady, who has not learned to "look before she leaps" to wrong conclusions.

The preacher, who is a man of God, advising all people of the errors of advising all people, of the errors of their ways. That should pertain to every aspect of our lives. The things we see, hear, speak and do.

I am not a doctor but I agree with Rev. Copelin. Things that stir the emotions do affect hormone balance. Music does affect our emotions, to soothe and calm or excite and arouse us.

I am glad all ages were present at Rev. Copelin's program. Education is need from the cradle to the grave in order to reach more persons for the Lord.

I am sure Rev. Copelin did remember America the Free. Thank God we can express our opinions in a forceful enough way to capture the attention of those who ignore less drastic measures. I hope more topics will be attacked in a strong impressionable way. Such as dope, drinking, depraved movies, pornography and cult activities in our country and the world.

I am a Christian and try to reflect it in my choice of music, reading matter, code of dress and activities. Very little in today's world shows solid Christian standards. We need more enriched values to overcome the barrage of the non-Christian message that comes across all too strong. Rock & Roll with the lewd lyrics is only a part.

Prayers and blessings to all who stand up and make their opinions known. Those who are witnessing for our Lord shall overcome.

Please notice that Terri's letter and this one come from the same address. Varying opinions do abide under one roof. Love, and understanding abide there too.

Am I overtraining myself?

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 16 years old and have been lifting weights for two years. I lift five to six days a week, three to four hours a day. I am looking forward to bodybuilding contests. I would like to know if you think I am being overtrained. Also, do you think eating a half-dozen eggs a day is harmful? I heard that if you exercise regularly, the cholesterol in the egg yolk will not be as harmful. — P.G.

It's a lot of time, a lot of work, but I don't think you are overtraining so long as you feel great. You ought to include exercise for the heart and lungs in your program, too, not just that for muscular development. I mean running, swimming, rope-jumping or bicycling. Adding that might necessitate reducing the other kind of exercise slightly, but again, it all depends on how good you feel.

Now, about your eggs. The recommendation for cholesterol is around 300 milligrams a day, the amount in a single egg yolk. You are getting six times that just from eggs, a bit much to say the least. Exercise does increase our "good" cholesterol, the kind that protects against heart attack and stroke, but not enough to overcome what you are getting in your daily half-dozen.

You are not the only weightlifter who has asked the egg question. I am wondering where that got started. I did see a famous bodybuilder on TV boasting about the inordinate number of eggs he eats every day. I am sure his success is due to his training and not to his egg eating.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am enrolled in a gymnastic class to trim down. Can you tell me how much exercise I can safely do with arthritic knees? — E.L.

With an arthritic joint, you have to strike a balance between too little and too much. Exercise does help keep the joint limber and muscles strong, and it improves your general good health. Too much stress to an already injured joint can injure it more.

I'd like to be specific for you, but I can't. You have to consider how severe your arthritis is. Certainly, if you have joint pain for more than a half-hour after any exercise, then that kind of exercise is not for you. The continued pain means that damage is being done.

I don't know just what goes on in the class you mention, but you can use this 30-minute plan rule as a guide. I frequently advise swimming as a good exercise for people like you. I could easily be accused of selling swimming pools on the side, but it is true that the buoyancy of water allows exercise without the stress.

Usury law changes prompt high interest rates

Interest rates being charged Texas consumers for automobile, personal and home improvement loans have soared by more than 10 points — to as much as 24 percent — in the four months since the Legislature approved amendments to the state usury law, an informal survey by The Associated Press shows.

Although the higher rates have made more money available, fewer people are applying for major loans, according to banking officials, who say the rates have spawned a new wave of consumerism.

"People are shopping for loans more than ever before," said Jim Greenwood, a vice president at City National Bank of Austin.

The Associated Press survey of banking institutions in 14 Texas cities disclosed a steep dropoff in the number of home improvement loans being issued by banks and savings and loans and a more modest decline in auto loans.

Maximum rates quoted for a 48-month new car loan ranged from 17.91 percent to 24 percent at major Texas banks. Dealer-financed loans, excluding the current rebate and loan subsidy offers by the nation's Big Three automakers, began at 18 percent.

The least expensive automobile loan was a 14 percent, 48-month loan offered by a Corpus Christi credit union. That's only one-half of one percent more than the 13.5 percent ceiling that was in effect before the usury law was amended.

Personal and home improvement loan rates were even higher, with most banks and savings and loans charging at least 19.5 percent. The highest home improvement interest rate was 24 percent quoted by a bank in Corpus Christi.

The usury law changes have made borrowers "very rate-conscious," said David Richardson, vice president of San Angelo National Bank. He said most loans being issued by San Angelo National are "necessity loans" taken out as a last resort "when a girl's car blows up or somebody's old car is about to lay down."

"The public is quite a bit smarter than the politicians give them credit for," he said. "People don't care where they get a loan but they are very rate-conscious."

Richardson said the new 24 percent usury ceiling "definitely has not" increased the bank's loan volume.

Harlingen National Bank executive Vice President David O'Brien agreed.

"The high interest rates aren't helping a little, small-town bank like us," he said. "We'd like to see a little more activity."

Harlingen National charges 18 percent for new car loans and 18 percent for home improvement loans financed for five or more years.

The higher rates have done away with traditional loyalties between depositors and their banks, Richardson said. Several banks said they lend money to longtime customers at the same rate given to a "walk-in" — a borrower who has no funds on deposit with the institution.

"If it's a real good customer and he has real good balances with us, he might get down close to 16 percent (on a car loan)," said Margaret Good, vice president of First National Bank of Mesquite. "But 20 percent is our base, our average."

First National's loan volumes are down across the board, she said.

"We're seeing more people buying only when they need it. You don't see a lot of trade-ins anymore."

The best deals on loans are still at credit unions, the survey showed.

Dick Williamson, vice president of the Texas Credit Union League, said the league's 28 federally chartered and 28 state-chartered credit union members charged an average 15.02 percent on 36- or 48-month automobile loans last month. The average interest rate on unsecured credit union loans was 18 percent, he said.

Rates generally are lower among federally chartered credit unions than among state-chartered unions, he said. Under federal law, a federally chartered credit union can charge no more than 21 percent interest on a consumer loan. A state-chartered union can charge up to 24 percent.

Interest rates also tend to be higher in large urban areas of the state. The Dallas and Fort Worth school system credit unions both charged more than the statewide average of 15.02 percent on auto loans. The Dallas Independent School District credit union quoted a 16 percent rate on new car loans. The Fort Worth Independent School District credit union quoted 17 percent.

"I don't know how long we'll be able to hold this rate," said DISD credit union president Ed Hale. "We may very well have to increase it within a week or two."

After decade, Attica isn't over

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — It's been 10 years since "Attica" stopped being just a small town in western New York and burned itself into America's memory as a synonym for prison rebellion.

Ten years since 1,281 inmates at the Attica Correctional Facility took over D Yard and held the world at bay for four anxious days.

Ten years since Sept. 13, 1971, when it took just under 10 minutes for the State Police assault that still ranks as the century's bloodiest one-day encounter between Americans.

Forty-three employees and inmates died during the uprising — 39 under that police fire. The toll included 10 guards and civilian prison employees shot by State Police. Another guard died of head injuries received when the riot began.

Just as they did when the trouble started 10 years ago, nearly 2,000 Attica inmates sat in silence through their meals Friday and Saturday, apparently to mark the anniversary. On Friday, 15 prisoners in solitary confinement went on an excrement-throwing, window smashing rampage until they were brought under control with tear gas.

Ten years ago, even after the choking gas fumes from the assault had cleared, it took a full day for the world to learn who was responsible for most of the carnage. It took years for a state commission to sort out all the officials' mistakes and produce a blueprint for change.

A decade later, the books on Attica still aren't closed. Damage suits from some victims' families remain in court. Some prisoners transferred out after the uprising are back. Some survivors among the 38 hostages still work there.

Over the past 10 years, prisons have erupted elsewhere. At McAlester, Okla., in 1973, eight days of rioting left three inmates dead and $20 million worth of damage. At Santa Fe, N.M., in 1980, 33 inmates died and the state's maximum-security prison was gutted during a 36-hour rampage.

Yet Attica remains the yardstick.

The town itself is set in lush, rolling farmland about 30 miles east of Buffalo. Working at the prison has been the main industry since the large gray-walled complex opened in 1931.

Inmates note that for some local families Attica is "a family business."

In September 1971, there were 398 correction officers and supervisors on the prison's payroll. Now, there are 534 officers and 33 supervisors.

Superintendent Harold Smith estimates that 50 to 60 reporters and photographers showed up this summer to "do the Attica story."

"Actually, we don't think much about it," he said of the rebellion. "We try to forget. It's the press that keeps reminding us."

At the prison, a parking lot surrounds the only official reminder — a granite monument to the 11 state employees who died. Relatives of the 32 inmates killed were refused permission to erect a memorial.

Dining on a flatbed truck

EAST RUTHERFORD, N.J. (AP) — Tailgating parties will be springing up in football stadium parking lots again this fall.

The pre-game and post-game tradition of staging picnics in or around an automobile or other vehicle can include exotic, multi-course gourmet meals, complete with silver candelabras, says Sg. Regis Paper Consumer Products, which makes paper plates and cups.

While most tailgate parties are not much more than simple picnics, some tailgaters have been known to provide entertainment with a baby grand piano on a flatbed truck, the company says.

Public hearing on budget, revenue sharing set Monday

The Howard County commissioners will meet at 9 a.m. Monday for several items of business, including a public hearing on the 1981-82 budget and revenue sharing funds.

Approval of the 1981-82 budget is slated Monday.

In other business, the commissioners will consider boiler bids, consider permission to advertise for bids on a preventive maintenance agreement and office equipment, hold a discussion on the possible combining of boxes for the November election, and hold a conference with Bonnie Franklin.

Commissioners will also hold a conference with Jerry Foresyth on the fair association, and with librarian Judith Gray.

Holdampf new director of ADN program at HC

Barbara A. Holdampf of Big Spring has been named the director of the Associate Degree of Nursing program at Howard College, according to Dr. Bobby Wright, vice-president for Howard College.

Angelo State University, San Angelo, and recently received a Master of Science in Nursing degree from the University of Texas at El Paso.

Ms. Holdampf comes to HC from the Big Spring State Hospital where she served as the Assistant to the Administrator of the Multiple Disability Unit.

"I have always wanted to be involved in academia. I enjoyed working with HC nursing students while employed at the Big Spring State Hospital, and thought this would be a good opportunity to work more directly with them," said Ms. Holdampf. "I also plan to concentrate on community awareness of the ADN program."

Ms. Holdampf and her husband, Frank, have six children. "I consider my husband and children my biggest support system," she said.

NEW DIRECTOR — Barbara Holdampf was recently named director of the Associate Degree of Nursing program at Howard College. She holds a master of science degree in nursing from the University of Texas at El Paso.

Watt announces water policy

JACKSON, Wyo. (AP) — Federal land managers must follow state laws, rather than federal laws, when considering new allocation of water on federal lands, Interior Secretary James Watt says.

Watt told a meeting Friday of the Western Governors' Conference that the Interior Department's chief lawyer, William Coldiron, had reversed a Carter administration policy that the federal government could claim rights to water that had not been previously assigned.

"There is no such thing as a federal non-reserve water right," as the Carter administration had claimed, Watt said. The Carter administration's claim had been criticized by some Western governors.

After a 3-hour public meeting with the governors and talks with them in private Friday, Watt planned to fly to Yellowstone National Park to take a look at deteriorating facilities he believes will cost more than $1 billion to repair.

Watt said he believes that his relationship with the governors of the Western states could mean the end of the "sagebrush rebellion," even though he supports the spirit of the movement to acquire state control over federal land and resources.

Watt also announced Friday his department will postpone some proposed offshore oil leasing in Alaska.

'Teacher Plus' given award as children cheer

By CAROL HART Staff Writer

As a roomful of Bauer Elementary School children cheered, Mrs. Lillian Hill received the prestigious "Teacher Plus" award Friday from a representative of "Instructor" magazine, a national publication for this country's educators.

Mrs. Hill received the honor during a ceremony held in the Bauer Elementary School cafeteria. Present during the event was a representative of "Instructor" magazine, students and faculty of Bauer Elementary School, and officials from the Big Spring Independent School District.

A host of Mrs. Hill's friends and relatives also attended the presentation.

Mrs. Hill conducts classes for hearing impaired youngsters out of a classroom at Bauer Elementary. The class is a satellite-program funded by the Regional School for the Deaf in Midland. Prior to Mrs. Hill's arrival in Big Spring more than a year ago, hearing-impaired children in and around Big Spring had to be driven to Midland for classes.

Mrs. Hill is featured in the September issue of "Instructor." Mrs. Mary Dalheim, executive editor for "Instructor" magazine, presented the award. She headquarters out of New York City.

"Instructor" Magazine is read by an estimated one million people monthly, said Mrs. Dalheim, and claims the largest readership of any educational publication in the nation.

"We receive hundreds of applications a month" for the "Teacher Plus" honor, said Mrs. Dalheim, adding selections are made after a thorough examination of the nominees, including interviews with co-workers. The honoree is chosen by a panel of educators and editors associated with "Instructor."

Mrs. Dalheim said "I don't usually attend many of these awards ceremonies, but I was particularly interested in this one." She said Mrs. Hill was chosen as "Teacher Plus" due to her enthusiasm in teaching hearing-impaired children in this area, and in her dedication in teaching Bauer students and faculty member sign language after classes on her own time.

"She's extremely proud of what she does, and proud of what she can do to help kids," the editor added.

Harlan Huibregtse,

principal of Bauer Elementary and the man who nominated Mrs. Hill for the award, emceed the awards program Friday, saying "we are fortunate to have an award of this nature presented on our campus," and added Bauer was fortunate to have a teacher like Mrs. Hill associated with its staff.

Following the presentation of the award, Mrs. Hill was in for a couple of more surprises. Her mother, Mrs. Elise Cain from New Orleans, La., presented her daughter with a certificate of merit from the City of New Orleans, signed by the mayor of that city. Mrs. Hill's husband, Sam, who is director of learning development at the Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, also made a presentation of a dozen red roses.

Following the program, Mrs. Hill was honored at a reception. She explained there that she graduated from Spelman College in Atlanta, Ga., and received her masters in the education of the deaf from Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C.

Concerning her profession, Mrs. Hill said "I just decided that was what I wanted to do." She said she comes from a long line of teachers, her mother is a teacher in New Orleans, and she joked that "teaching is in my blood."

She added she tries to make classes fun for her students, and "I like to clown around with them." Included in her classes this year are Tim McNallen, Jennifer Foster, Sandy Patton, Gentry Shortes and Gary Matthews. Mrs. Hill is assisted in the classroom by Mrs. Sharon Minyard. As the class for hearing-impaired students enters its second year in Big Spring, Mrs. Hill said she was pleased with the progress of the program. Two more students were added this year, and she said screenings are under way for students who may be enrolled in the class in the future.

HERE'S HOW — Lillian Hill, a teacher for the hearing impaired who headquarters out of Bauer Elementary School, received the "Teacher Plus" award Friday from a representative of "Instructor" magazine. The ceremony took place at Bauer Elementary.

FEELING BLUE-GRASS — Mike Nelson of Yorba Linda, Calif., dances with Stephanie Langner of Laguna Beach, Calif., during Friday's session of the Bluegrass Music Festival in Louisville, Ky. The festival continues through today.

Reagan's cuts hurt Texas, but not as bad as North

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas cities stand to lose at least $222.75 million in the coming year from Reagan administration budget cuts but won't be hurt as bad as their northern counterparts, says the director of the Texas Municipal League.

Richard Brown said in an interview he was hearing very little outcry from city officials about the cuts, which are concentrated in the employment and wastewater plant construction areas.

"There is a sense of resignation or acceptance," Brown said. "Part of it is that our cities are not dependent on federal largesse. But the Yankees are screaming to high heaven. For every hurt we receive, they are hurt four or five times because the formulas are tilted to the North."

Brown outlined the impact of the budget reductions in an article in Texas Town and City, the league's monthly magazine.

In a number of areas, including housing and mass transit, he said it was impossible to nail down a figure. But he said these cuts could be identified:

— Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) grants for temporary jobs and on-the-job training, $136 million a year.

— Economic Development Administration (EDA) grants and loans for public works projects that provide job opportunities, $6.3 million.

— Wastewater treatment plant construction, $77 million.

— Intergovernmental Personnel Act funding for improvement of personnel management practices, $450,000.

— Planning activities under the Housing Act of 1954, $3 million.

"The demise of CETA will have serious budget implications for a large number of Texas cities, particularly in parks and recreation, streets and other functional areas where CETA-funded employees are heavily utilized," Brown said in his article.

He indicated Houston and San Antonio would be hardest hit, noting that Houston had a $41 million CETA payroll in 1978-79 and San Antonio's was $33.9 million.

But Brown said in a follow-up interview that CETA jobs tended to be in "non-essential public services."

"They enhance the quality of urban environment, but are not necessary to protect life and limb. It is not like these people are manning the police cars," he said.

Brown said the reduction in grants for sewage treatment plants "will require that 58 pending projects be moved to the back burner."

He said he expected a bill would be introduced later this year to restore the funding and predicted it would receive congressional action early in 1982.

"Meanwhile, construction costs will go up 15 percent," he said.

Brown noted that Congress had slashed federal subsidies for mass transit systems by 20 percent. He said Texas cities "obviously will be adversely affected" but did not estimate the amount of loss.

He told an interviewer that Texas cities had budgeted already to "make federal largesse expendable" because they "knew this was coming a long time ago."

"Congress was appropriating more but the real dollar value (after inflation) was dropping. Reagan is culminating a trend that began before he took office," Brown said.

Red stars, white socks and blue ribbon Vodka

HONOLULU (AP) — If they were monitoring local radio broadcasts, Russian sailors aboard four Soviet ships near Hawaii may have been surprised to hear some messages in their native language.

With a Chet Atkins recording of "The Red, White and Blue Medley" twanging in the background, a local radio station on Thursday broadcast such messages in Russian as "Mamas, don't let your babies grow up to be comrades," and "Congratulations, you've just placed last in the 1981 Transpac yacht race."

The announcements were the idea of KDEO Station Manager Ron Jacobs, who said many listeners had called to suggest patriotic songs the station could play while the Soviet ships were within broadcast range. The radio station bills itself as "the westernmost country station in the United States of America."

Q. It appears we may have to move to another town because of an impending promotion. A broker heard about our situation, called and asked for a listing. What is this?

A. When it is definite you are going to move you should call and enter into a listing agreement with a real estate broker. A listing is an arrangement of employment between you and the broker. The broker becomes your agent in selling your home. As the "employer" of the broker, you are known as the principal. The listing states, among other things, that the broker will work for you and on your behalf. In return for these services, you will pay the broker a specific commission when he produces someone willing and able to buy the property at your stated price and other specifics.

Colorado High School grad completes recruit training

Navy Seaman Apprentice Tony L. Clifton, son of Carl and Barbara Clifton of 987 E. 16th St., Colorado City, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

A 1981 graduate of Colorado High School, he joined the Navy in March 1981.

Good Conduct Medal awarded to Galvan

Marine Lance Col. Gerry R. Galvan, whose wife, Frances, is the daughter of Frances and Carmen Rodriguez of Lomax, was awarded the Good Conduct Medal.

The Good Conduct Medal signifies faithful and obedient service during a three-year period. To earn it, enlisted Marines must achieve and maintain an unblemished conduct record for the entire period.

San Diego training completed

Navy Seaman Recruit Douglas L. Johnson, son of Doris L. and Velma Johnson of Route 3, Box 449-A, Colorado City, has completed recruit training at the Naval Training Center, San Diego.

During the eight-week training cycle, trainees studied general military subjects designed to prepare them for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic occupational fields.

Included in their studies were seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

He joined the Navy in June 1981.

Maj. Alexander awarded medal

A 1978 graduate of Austin High School, Houston, he joined the Marine Corps in June 1978.

Galvan is currently serving with Headquarters Battalion, Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Army Maj. Jimmy D. Alexander, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack R. Alexander of 8 Highland Heather, Big Spring, has been decorated with the Meritorious Service Medal at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

Alexander, an executive officer at the Academy of Health Sciences, is a 1967 graduate of Tarleton State University, Stephenville, Texas.

Runnels

Kim Anding; president

By DANA HILTBRUNNER
Several Runnels students running for Runnels Student Council Officers campaigned last week. They decorated the halls with posters urging students to vote for them.

The election took place Friday, September 11th, as Runnels students cast their votes for the person of their choice for office.

Elected were Kim Anding, president; Jance Allen, vice-president; Lisa Phillips, secretary; and John Barkley, treasurer.

Runnels kicked off their football season Thursday, when both football teams traveled to Sweetwater to begin the season. The White Team was defeated by a score of 22-0. Sweetwater defeated the Red Team by a score of 32-0. Coaches for the two teams include: Terry Benner, Jeffery Germany, Thomas Tasma, and head-coach, Bobby Zellars.

Preceding the game was the first pep rally. Activities at the pep rally included a performance by Bill Bradley's Yearling Band. Mr. Bradley spotlighted the cornet section in "Bugler's Rag," their first feature number.

Runnels cheerleaders, Suzanne Bowers, Dana Haney, Anna Jackman, Tracey Kilgore, Shawn Keyes, and Sandra Martinez, along with the Runnels pep squad, The Yearlingettes, led the student body in cheers.

The Runnels volleyball teams traveled to Lamesa Tuesday, September 8th for their first game to start off the season. The White Team out-smarted Lamesa with scores of 15-3 and 15-2. The Red Team didn't fare as well since Lamesa won the game. Mrs. Jane Upton and Miss Barbara Fletcher are the volleyball coaches.

The girls' next game will take place in Sweetwater, September 15th.

Recently, Runnels Band members elected officers for the 1981-82 school year. David Shortes will once again serve as president, with Todd Baggett as secretary, and Melissa McCain as treasurer.

The Runnels cheerleaders participated in a cheerleading camp last summer in Snyder where they won first place in the junior high division. On Wednesday, Mrs. Claudia Ibarra, cheerleader sponsor, presented the girls with red, long stemmed roses in appreciation for winning this honor.

Coahoma Homecoming is underway

By TOMMY McDANIEL
Homecoming Week is here for the Coahoma Bulldogs and a week of activities have been planned. To boost spirit for the game against Tahoka Friday night, the cheerleaders have planned Spirit Week. Each day the students will dress up to show their spirit for the Bulldogs. Prizes will be given at the Pep Rally on Friday for the person who shows the most spirit each day.

Thursday there will be a bonfire after the Junior High, Freshman, and Junior Varsity games.

The Student Council will sponsor a dance after the game. The dance is for Coahoma High School students and exes. It will be held in the high school cafeteria.

Nominates for Band Sweetheart are Polly Barbee, Shanna Cobb, Kelli Birkhead, Tracey Spell, Louise Shive, Leisa Reid, Teresa Reid, Geraldine Duffer, Kari Robinson, and Kandy Henry.

The Homecoming Parade will take place Saturday, September 19. The theme for the parade will be the Oil Industry.

OEA elected officers for the 1981-82 last week. The officers are Robin Ethridge, president; Paula Allen, vice president; Teresa Reid, secretary-treasurer; Todd Anderson, reporter; and Shanna Cobb, historian. There will be a meeting for the OEA members Monday, September 14.

The Coahoma AWAKE Teachers have been selected to present a program at the Texas Association of Gifted and Talented schools in San Antonio at the Convention Hall on November 20, 21. The program to be presented will be the community involvement component of the AWAKE program.

Grady Varsity volleyball Monday

By KARA WELCH
The Grady High Varsity volleyball team will open its district play on Monday night at 7:00 p.m. The game will be at Sands High School.

On Friday night, the Sr. class of Grady School will sponsor a Bar-B-Que before the football game.

The tickets can be bought from any Grady Sr. for $4.00 each. The meal will be served from 5:00 until 8:00 and after the game.

At 8:00 on Friday night, Grady High will play Dawson in football at Grady. Everyone is welcome to come to see this 6-man football bout.

Saturday, the volleyball team will go to Water Valley to compete in the Water Valley Volleyball Tournament.

Good Luck, girls!

School lunches may lose nutrition

WASHINGTON — The Agriculture Department has proposed reducing the nutrition requirement for the school lunch program, prompting Texas officials to warn that many of the state's poor children would not get a proper diet.

The proposal, which is expected to be implemented by November, would permit school districts to reduce their selection of bread, milk and meat on the lunch menu.

The action would save $350 million and may be the only way many of the nation's school districts can afford to stay in the school lunch program, according to the USDA.

USDA officials say schools could offer less expensive, and less nutritious, protein substitutes such as nuts and seeds, yogurt, tofu (bean curd) and cooked dry beans.

John Perkins, chief accountant for the Texas school lunch program, said the move would make it more difficult for poor children to get the daily Recommended Dietary Allowances.

Many poor youths, Perkins said, would not eat the less attractive substitutes. Moreover, their diets are already lacking because their parents cannot afford meat and other expensive items.

"It is well known that poor children already do not have the same nutrition as rich children. This (the proposal) could make it worse," Perkins said.

Approximately 2.5 million Texas school children participate in the school lunch program.

Arnold Torres, executive director of the League of United Latin American Citizens, said poor Hispanic youths would be hit hardest.

"Hispanic children are most susceptible to illness. To cut the nutrition level ... it's a very insensitive move.

Goliad Classes hold contest

Goliad's first pep rally was held Friday, kicking off the Mavericks' opening game Saturday against Sweetwater. The players of the black and the white teams were introduced by their coaches, E.C. Roberson and John Velasquez, and assistant coaches Dino Luna and Aubrey Todd. Also introduced to the students were the cheerleaders and the Golden Girls and their leaders. A contest between the 6th grade and the 7th grade was held to determine which group had the most enthusiasm and spirit. The 7th grade winners were awarded the spirit stick for the week.

The girls' volleyball teams played Lamesa last Tuesday. The white team lost both matches, with scores of 15-3 and 15-0. The black team lost its first match 10-15, won its second match 15-9, and lost the third 15-13. The black and white teams will play Colorado City in Goliad gym next Monday from 4:30 to 5:30.

The History Club had its first meeting Wednesday, electing Rocky Sharpneck as president, Hollie Brownfield as vice-president, and Vicki Bradley as secretary-treasurer.

Forsan FHA to attend Fest

By RANDALL McDONALD
The Forsan Band performed its second show of the season Friday night. Drum majors for the year are Deana Clark, head and Kim Kendrick, assistant. The flags for this year are Mary McDiffitt who is captain, Jamie Findley, Sandra Alcantar, Ann Bates, Laura Chandler, Kim Dorland, Elvira Rodriguez, Lee Ann Smith and Paula De La Garza. Twirlers for this year are Vicki Baggett, head; Teresa White, Vicky Baggett, Tiffany Donaghe, and Debbie Holguin.

Class elections were held last week on Thursday and Friday. Results will be announced the first part of this week.

The Future Homemakers of America will attend the West Fest in order to earn money for the March of Dimes. They have two booths at the festival which is from 11:00 until 6:00 today. Mrs. Alta Bristo is the Torres said. But USDA spokeswoman Jane Mattern says the move is necessary to save the school lunch program.

It costs schools anywhere from $1.36 to $1.66 to produce a school lunch and the average charge, nationally, is only 50 cents.

The federal government reimburses the schools 21.5 cents per meal, 11 cents a meal less than last year. Moreover, federal budget cuts and inflation are going to steadily erode that support.

"The children will be receiving a substantial portion of the nutrients," said Mattern. "However, it was never to be the intent of this program to provide all the (nutrients)."

The proposal seems to echo the philosophy advanced last January by Agriculture Secretary John Block who said: "I don't think we should be in the business of telling people what to eat."

But Mattern said the action is designed only to cut costs and had nothing to do with Block's statement.

"This is not the beginning of a campaign to eliminate nutrition," Mattern said.

To reduce federal regulation and program costs, the recommendation proposes, for example, that meat and meat substitutes be cut from two ounces to one and one half ounces for elementary students and from one and one half ounces to one half ounce to one ounce for preschoolers.

Secondary school students would continue to eat two ounces of meat and meat products.

Mattern said that while the government was recommending that school districts reduce the minimum daily Recommended Dietary Allowances from one-third to one-fourth in the lunch program, it would not be destroying the nutritional integrity of the program.

Board of Education wants parenting in curriculum

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The State Board of Education said Saturday that Texas public schools should teach their students how to be good parents.

Board members voted to add to Texas' educational goals a statement that students should gain from their schooling "competence to assume the role and responsibilities of being a parent."

The board will look at the proposal twice more before taking a final vote, probably in November, to add the statement to the state's "Goals for Public School Education."

Mary Ann Leverage of East Bernard, chairwoman of the board's Committee for Priorities, Accountability and Accreditation, said there was considerable demand for parent training at last year's hearings on public school curriculum reform.

"The public wants greater rigor in the curriculum and a strengthening of basic skills, but it also wants integrated into the curriculum things that are relevant to the kind of things people participate in as adults," Mrs. Leverage said in an interview after the board had voted.

She said the need for parenthood education is evident in child abuse statistics and the existence of parents "who don't even know how to provide proper nutrition."

Big Spring

FCA in search for Mr. Ugly

By RHONDA WOODALL
Students are busy working on plans for money-making projects for different organizations. Tri-Hi-Y is selling candy. The Band and the Sophomore class are participating in the Hawk Walk.

Fellowship of Christian Athletes is sponsoring "The Ugly Man Contest" in the cafeteria during lunches on Sept. 14-18. Votes will be 10 cents each. Students and faculty may vote as many times as they like. Everyone is urged to vote for their favorite coach, teacher or boy. The winner will be announced at the Levelland Pep Rally at Big Spring High School Gym on Sept. 18.

Several clubs are working on booths for the Howdy Carnival at 7:30 p.m. on Sept. 19 on the BSHS patio. Following the Carnival, there will be a dance in the cafeteria for high school students only from 9:30 p.m. to 1:00 p.m.

The first issue of the Corral, the school newspaper, was passed out during lunch in the cafeteria on Sept. 11.

The French Club will meet at 3:30 on Sept. 14 in Room 137. Officers will be elected and plans for the coming year will be discussed. All past and present French students are urged to attend. French delicacies will be served.

Students that took the ACT test during the summer may pick up the results in the guidance office. Deadline for the ACT to be given on Oct. 17 is Sept. 18. The deadline for the SAT to be given on Oct. 10 is Sept. 18. Registration forms for both tests may be picked up in the guidance office.

Officers were elected for the General Mechanical Repair VOLT Club. Officers are Benito Paredes, president; Longino Flores, vice-president; Jesse Reyes, secretary; Luis Hernandez, treasurer; Eugene Vanderbilt, reporter; Ida Alcantar, parliamentarian; and Joe Rodriguez, Sgt.-at-arms.

The Boys Varsity Tennis Team won 5-4 against the Andrews Mustangs in Andrews on Sept. 8. Andrews led 4-1 until seniors Kip McLaughlin, Greg Franklin, Cavan McMahon and Aubrey Weaver took four straight single matches to win.

The Varsity Volleyball Team won a Consolation Trophy at the Angelo State University Tournament. They beat Iron County, Crane, Water Valley and Kermitt.

Future Farmers of America elected officers for the 1981-82 school year. They are Wesley Beachum, president; Melissa Maddin, vice-president; Katerica Ramey, secretary; Bo Terry, treasurer; Dana Cannon, reporter; Jay Anderson, sentinal; and Keith Crane, photographer.

Anyone interested in the JETS club should see Mr. Dodson in Room 112.

Seniors must have their pictures made this week at Risters Photography and turned in by Sept. 18 if they wish their picture to appear in the annual.

A Senior Caravan traveled to the Varsity Football game at Sweetwater on Sept. 11.

The 'A' Freshman Football team defeated Sweetwater 22-0 on Sept. 10. The 'B' team tied Sweetwater 0-0 on Sept. 10.

Bible club meets, shares

The first meeting of Bible Club of Big Spring High was held Monday night on Scenic Mountain. After a treasure hunt, everyone participated in a marshmallow hot dog supper. Twenty-four attended.

The climax of the meeting was a musical devotion led by Miss Kathleen Morton from Dora Roberts Rehabilitation Center. She is a former Bible student and she shared with the young people her experience about how to know the will of God.

Officers of the club are: First period, Joan Williams, president; Danny Sparks, vice-president; Kathy Boy, secretary-treasurer; Bradley Cox, social; and Marla Graham, librarian.

Second period: Lorie Hester, president; Shelly Niell, vice-president; Tim Rangel, secretary-treasurer; Raymond Delator, social; and Dominic Martinez, librarian.

Third period: Suzanne Mason, president; Debbie Torres, vice-president; Paula Lee, secretary-treasurer; Lawana Rhoades, social; and president and secretary, librarian.

Arkie college to receive $14.5 million

BATESVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas College, the oldest private college in the state, is to receive $14.3 million from the estate of Jean Brown of Hot Springs who died Aug. 27, officials said.

Miss Brown funded several scholarships and made a large donation for the construction of a fine arts building at the 500-student Presbyterian college before her death. Richard Thomas, vice president of finance for Arkansas College said.

Garden City Classes order rings

By BE-BEE DOE
After a long weekend behind us, people come dragging back from the lakes, and visits to love ones, but school must go on.

Tuesday, classes began again, and Mrs. Miller, the school nurse, checked everyone's eyes and ears after a rigorous holiday.

The Jr. High football team played Greenwood, on the Bearkat field Thursday. The game began at 6:00.

Their team consists of: Mark Flournoy, Aaron Lange, Ricky Halfmann, Tommy Halfmann, David Montgomery, Frankie Ramirez, David Polendo, Paul Bruton, Abelardo Madrid, Charles Pessnell, Jr. Medrano, Troy Calverley, John Brennehan, Willie Sanchez, George Sanchez, Sammy Clifton, Rodney Beasley, Corky Turner, Greg Stringer, Brian French, Brian Dalton, Sergio Rosas, Juan Salazar, Neal Wilde, Bill Romine, Doyle Shafer, and Kenny Bennett. The manager is Richard Cyper, and Kenny Bennett. Carol Hoelscher, Gina Schaefer, Michele Pechacek, Jackie Jost, and Lisa Montgomery are the Jr. High cheerleaders.

Friday night varsity football played Forsan at Forsan.

Skipper Travel made a special visit to the senior class Thursday, with information about various places for a senior trip.

Wednesday, September 16th, a representative from Josten's will be at school. All juniors and seniors that wish to order a senior ring, or order Graduation announcements need to be present. A deposit will be required.

Homecoming this year will be on October 2, against Water Valley. Game time will be at 8:00. The senior supper will begin at 5:30. We look forward to seeing you there.

Jr. Varsity and Jr. High will travel to Forsan Thursday night. The first game will start at 6:00.

September 18, the Bearkats will challenge Loraine Bulldogs in Garden City at 8:00.

Tax & financial planning

$2,000 Non-Taxable Interest (Who Should Bother?)

The new law states, "an individual is eligible for a once-in-a-lifetime exclusion of up to $1,000 ($2,000 on a joint return even if only one spouse owns the certificate) of interest earned on a special qualified tax exempt savings certificate purchased after September 30, 1981."

If your income tax bracket is 30 percent or greater, you may benefit by purchasing this type of certificate; if your tax bracket is less than 30 percent, you may lose. If the C.D. is issued by the bank to yield 12 percent, it would take an investment of $16,667 to utilize the full $2,000 exemption. Since this is tax-free, your net cash earned would be the full $2,000. (Since interest earned beyond the excludable amount will be taxable, it's wise to invest only as much as you have to in order to get the full tax break. To determine that amount, simply divide $1,000, $2,000 for joint returns, by the decimal equivalent of the certificate yield.)

If the $16,667 were invested elsewhere at a 17 percent yield, and your tax bracket is 25 percent, your after tax earnings would be $2,125, and a 40 percent bracket taxpayer would yield $1,700. Therefore, the 40 percent bracket would gain $300 by acquiring the new C.D. and the 25 percent bracket would lose $125.

There will be penalties both by the banks and by the IRS for redeeming your certificate in less than one year or for using it as collateral or security for a loan. Individuals who anticipate a need for some or all of this money, or the use of it as collateral in less than one year will probably want to avoid this certificate. Putting money in several smaller certificates will ease the problem if you end up withdrawing only a part of the total invested.

Several hundred dollars could be yours for the asking; and you must ask. Your bank will not "automatically renew" or replace your old C.D.s with the tax exempt type unless you ask them.

Judge rules 'killer' mentally competent

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Convicted killer Thomas Lee "Sonny" Hays is eccentric and feels the anxiety of his approaching execution, but he is not mentally incompetent, U.S. District Judge Luther Bohanon says.

Bohanon's statements came Thursday in a written order explaining his ruling on Tuesday that Hays competently rejected efforts of his mother, Iola Hays, and her attorneys, to keep him alive.

The judges' findings was filed Friday in federal court in Muskogee.

It was in Muskogee that Hays was found guilty of murdering shoe store owner Everett Vance in March 1977, and where he was sentenced to death.

Bohanon delayed the execution, originally set for Sept. 14, to Oct. 9 to give Mrs. Hays' attorneys 30 days to appeal the order. The appeal, has been made to the U.S. 10th Circuit Court of Appeals in Denver.

Mrs. Hays' attorneys argue that the Death Row inmate is a paranoid schizophrenic, unable to rationally choose between life and death. They claim his repudiation of the appeal processes is evidence of his mental incompetency.

The judge noted Hays' competency was questioned "on at least four occasions" before his arrest in the case. Bohanon said, though, that records indicate Hays has exhibited few mental problems "since his restoration of competency in July 1975."

Syphilis cases jump in Texas

ATLANTA (AP) — The number of reported cases of primary and secondary syphilis in the United States increased more than 33 percent during the past three years, the national Centers for Disease Control said today.

The number of cases reported for 1980, the last figures compiled, was 27,204, compared with 20,399 in 1977, the CDC said in its Morbidity and Mortality Weekly Report.

In 1975 the number of reported cases was 25,561; 23,731 were reported in 1976, 21,656 in 1978 and 24,874 in 1979, the CDC said.

Republicans threaten lenders with 'windfall profits' tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders are threatening to sponsor a "windfall profits" tax on financial institutions if record-high interest rates don't come down soon.

Senate GOP Whip Ted Stevens of Alaska said Thursday he is preparing a bill that would require institutions lending money at interest rates more than 6 percentage points above the inflation rate to turn over 70 percent of the excess to the government.

Stevens said he did not expect such a "windfall profits" tax to become law.

But, if interest rates stay up, "We'll get something through," he said.

Senate Republican Leader Howard Baker also said he would sponsor such a tax if lending institutions don't lower their interest rates.

Meanwhile, 10 of the Senate Judiciary Committee's 18 members went on the record Thursday in support of Sandra Day O'Connor's confirmation as the nation's first Supreme Court justice.

The committee was to wind of three days of hearings on Reagan's nomination of the Arizona appeals court judge with testimony from anti-abortion groups which oppose her.

In other congressional action: — Forty-three senators say they will co-sponsor a measure to veto President Reagan's proposed sale of five AWACS radar planes to Saudi Arabia. A Senate veto would require 51 votes. The House also must act if the sale is to be blocked. Congress has until Oct. 30 to try to veto the $8.5 billion sale.

—Democratic Rep. Bob Stump of Arizona is considering leaving his own party and joining the House Republican minority because of his strong support for President Reagan's economic policies. But he said Thursday he still hasn't decided whether to make the switch.

—The Senate Armed Service Committee began debate Thursday on a bill raising military pay an average 14.5 percent. Some members of the panel want to redistribute the raise to give more money to recruits and less to commissioned and non-commissioned officers.

Expect tough fight with Congress over AWACS

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — The Reagan administration expects to win a "tough fight" with Congress over the sale of AWACS planes to Saudi Arabia, a senior U.S. official traveling with Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. said Saturday. "Right now, it is not that promising," the official said.

Haig arrived in Belgrade for a brief visit designed to underscore U.S. support for Yugoslavia's independent policies. Haig flies Sunday to West Germany, where he is expected to reassure Chancellor Helmut Schmidt that the United States will not deploy neutron weapons in Europe.

The secretary arrived in Belgrade from Spain, where he told Saudi Crown Prince Fahd the administration is trying to deliver AWACS spy planes that the Saudis say is a test of relations with the United States.

However, a senior administration official told reporters that approval of the sale of the five sophisticated radar planes, which are part of an $8.5 billion weapons package, would be in trouble because of congressional opposition.

"Right now, it is not that promising," said the official, who did not want to be identified but who traveled with Haig and who holds a senior position both in the administration and the State Department.

But he predicted victory once the lawmakers have learned the administration's reasons for the sale, which also is opposed by Israel.

He indicated that the Airborne Warning and Control System aircraft are an essential element in the administration's efforts to achieve a lasting Middle East peace.

Dean Fischer, a State Department spokesman, said the weapons package was high on the list of the subjects Haig discussed with Fahd during a three-hour meeting in the prince's villa near Malaga, Spain.

Fischer said Haig "expressed the administration's expectations of its approval."

Fischer said Haig's statement of confidence included both the AWACS and attack-enhancing equipment for a fleet of Saudi F-16 jets.

Fischer said Haig and Fahd also discussed the recent visit to Washington by Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

While Haig did most of the talking, Fischer said Fahd expressed his appreciation for this report and stressed the importance Saudi Arabia attaches to the achievement of a just and lasting peace in the Middle East.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Serving ice cream in the home is not most often done as dessert after a meal, according to Sealright, a dairy and food packaging company.

Instead, ice cream is most often served as a snack frequently in the evening before bed.

Rewards, hotlines won't halt oil thefts, consultant says

HOUSTON (AP) — The problem of equipment and crude oil theft from production sites is so serious that there is no good estimate of how much it costs each year.

"In Texas, the figure is $50 million a year," said Jan Ward, administrative assistant at the North Texas Oil and Gas Association in Wichita Falls. "We feel like that's a very low figure. So many thefts are never reported."

In an effort to combat the problem, the association has joined a number of other producers to fund a theft hotline. Other companies have begun reward programs.

But Joe H. Dickerson, president of Corporate Asset Protection Services, Inc., says those methods should only be part of a solution.

Theft can only be halted, he said, if producers keep better records of their equipment, improve internal security and if firms and legal officials form an information network to track stolen equipment.

"The ultimate job is to identify the areas of vulnerability, and find cost-effective solutions, systems and procedures that will minimize vulnerability in the future," Dickerson said.

Dickerson said demand for stolen equipment is extremely high. The problem is not that machinery is expensive, but that it's scarce. Producers are drilling so

Letting go is hard to do

NEW YORK (AP) — The major stockholder or chief executive officer in many small businesses often doesn't know when to let go of the reins.

"A succession plan is essential," said Donald Ambuhl, vice president, American Association of Advertising Agencies.

"In the advertising business, people are the stock-in-trade. People able to succeed present management are essential. Immortality has not yet been achieved by any agency people I know," Ambuhl said.

Cat cracker

just pet name

SWEENEY, Texas (AP) — Despite its name, a cat cracker has nothing to do with pet food.

It's a type of refinery unit used to convert heavy crude oil into gasoline in the Phillips Petroleum refinery here.

many wells that manufacturers have waiting lists of more than a year for some machinery.

This has led to "custom-stealing" of equipment, Dickerson said.

"We know of one company that's advertising now in journals, newspapers and so forth, that they can get any kind of oilfield equipment, any brand," Dickerson said. "And they don't have a warehouse; they don't have any inventory. You tell him what you want, and give him three to five days — he calls his thief, and the thief goes out and custom steals it for him."

A videotaped interview between Dickerson and a reformed oilfield thief, "Tom," whose face is never shown, reveals another reason theft is skyrocketing.

"I got started because it was so easy — there was nothing to it," Tom says. "I was working for a re-manufacturing firm at the time. I took in the surplus equipment... There was no real accurate way of checking records or cross-referencing of serial numbers. In other words, there was no way to tell if it was hot or legitimate goods."

Oilfield theft is difficult for law enforcement officials to deal with because of the great distances thieves travel to avoid selling equipment near where it is stolen, Dickerson said.

"This crosses so many jurisdictional lines that law enforcement, generally speaking, can't get involved in it," Dickerson said. He said local authorities also lack the expertise needed to deal with theft of the complicated machinery involved in oil operations.

What the oil industry needs, Dickerson says, is a national clearinghouse similar to the one the National Auto Theft Bureau uses to combat car thieves and the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association employs against rustlers.

"The two of those are the type of organizations that the oil and gas industry needs and this is what we hope ultimately to make the Oil and Gas Crime Prevention Bureau (now part of his firm)," Dickerson said. "We will have retired Ranger-type people strategically located throughout the oil patch."

This agency would be able to coordinate investigations across the nation, he said, taking information from law officials where equipment is stolen and distributing it to people who think they may have located "hot" machinery.

Tom Haywood, executive vice president of the North Texas Oil and Gas Association, agrees that a clearinghouse may eventually be the answer, but says it's not just around the corner.

"We're trying to grow one step at a time," Haywood said. "When we started this (the hotline), our attitude was, 'We're gonna run the thieves out of North Texas and let the rest of you guys worry about them.'"

He since has expanded that goal. "Now we're working on Texas," he said.

Pair charged in forgeries at rest home

GALVESTON, Texas (AP) — Cashing of more than $2,000 in bogus checks written to the account of an 83-year-old nursing home resident has led police to arrest a Galveston couple on forgery charges.

Marshall Harris, 36, was held without bond and Delia Marie Hernandez, 19, was held in lieu of $10,000 bond Friday. They were arrested with a $485 check at a southeast Houston bank, then charged with forgery Thursday, detectives said.

The arrests stemmed from withdrawals from the account of Mary Haksell, an 83-year-old resident of Galveston's Moody House Retirement Community, Detective J.C. Baxter said. He said checks totaling about $2,000 were cashed on Mrs. Haksell's account in the last five years.

The couple is accused of taking a $1,120 welfare check from the woman's room, depositing it, then making withdrawals on the money using temporary checks.

Howard County Library loans more than books

DONNA JACKSON Children's Librarian Have you grown tired of that picture you've been looking at for years? Do you have a bare wall or an empty shelf or table that "needs something"? If so, Howard County Library may have just the thing for you.

Though many library patrons use and enjoy the loaned art service, many others are not even aware of its existence. With this service, the patron has the advantage of being able to enjoy a variety of art works without a large financial investment.

Howard County Library now has 69 framed prints and 29 pieces of sculpture available for loan. The sculpture collection includes pieces that range from "Foo Dogs" of the Chinese Ch'ing Period to the contemporary "Mother and Child" by Walter Hannula.

Several new art reproductions have just arrived. Included is "The Island" by Klee which is an impression of the last bright orange and yellow glow in the sky before sunset. Golds, off-whites and deep rose give great warmth to an informally balanced classic flower arrangement from the Ming Dynasty. "Basket Filled With Flowers. The care and concern of a grandfather for his grandson is evident and warmly portrayed in "The Banjo Lesson by Tanner. Though the background is blue, golden-yellow sunlight seems to emanate from the casually arranged "Sunflowers" by W. Birgels.

Other new prints include: "Sheltered Cove" by Garin, "Siamese Cats" by Moti, "Texas Blue Bonnets" by Wood, "Sanctuary" by Thompson, "Spring Is Here" by Armstrong, "Trailing Ivy" by Clark, and "Tour de France" by Boulanger. These prints add to the variety of the collection and should be enjoyed by the patrons for some time to come.

The prints and sculpture reproductions are chosen and donated by The Friends of the Library. Anyone interested in becoming a member is invited to attend the next meeting. It will be held at the Howard County Library Sept. 16 at 3:30 p.m.

Any adult who is a permanent resident of Howard County and has a library card may borrow a framed print or piece of sculpture for six weeks upon signing a lease agreement. The borrower is responsible for any damage done to the piece of art work just as he — she would be with a borrowed book. A fine of 50c per day is charged for overdue prints and pieces of sculpture.

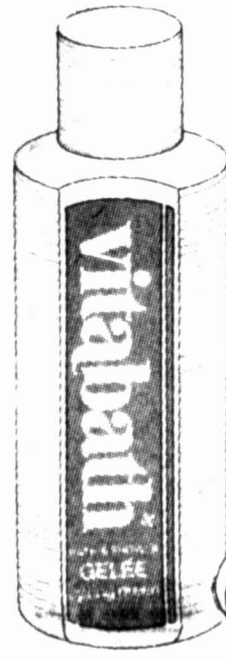

You can see what is available by stopping by the Howard County Library. The collection is hung around the library and those pieces that are out on loan can be seen in an album and put on reserve for you.

Friday Storytime is at 10:00 and is open to children ages 3 to 5. This week the stories will include "The Bear's Toothache," a story about a big bear who climbs through a little boy's bedroom window at night to find help to relieve his pain.

Saturday films include "Morris the Midget Moose" and "Banner in the Sky" and begin at 2:00 p.m.

McEnroe wins semis

NEW YORK (AP) — John McEnroe shook off an ankle injury and a stubborn Vitas Gerulaitis Saturday to post a 5-7, 6-3, 6-2, 4-6, 6-3 victory and advance to the finals of the U.S. Open championships.

The match ended in controversy as McEnroe's winning cross-court overhead landed on the sideline. Gerulaitis disagreed with the linesman and umpire, and as McEnroe stood at the net ready to shake hands, Gerulaitis was standing at the sideline, pointing his racket to a spot just outside the court.

Gerulaitis then stormed the umpire's chair, uttering profanities which were picked up by both the umpire's microphone and CBS-TV's microphone, which was broadcast nationally from the National Tennis Center.

"I wasn't robbed," Gerulaitis said afterward. "I'm not saying I would have won the next point ... but he (McEnroe) was getting very tight."

"He didn't even see it," Gerulaitis said of the linesman, "so there was no way he could make the call. I saw green between the ball and the white line."

"It's not his (McEnroe's) fault," said Gerulaitis. "The guy didn't call the ball out."

Gerulaitis was later fined $750 for "verbal abuse of official" by the Men's International Professional Tennis Council.

McEnroe, on his good behavior through most of the match, was upset in the fourth game of the final set when the umpire ruled a "let" on a point McEnroe had won. The let was called after Gerulaitis pointed to a loose ball behind the umpire's chair when play ended.

McEnroe argued that since no one had seen the ball during play, a "let" should not be called.

During the discussion, McEnroe slammed his racket against a CBS-TV microphone. He had to change rackets because of a broken string.

MARTINA NAVRATILOVA AFTER FINALS IN US OPEN

Austin survives for US Open title

NEW YORK (AP) — Tracy Austin, playing her relentless baseline tennis game to perfection, rallied to capture her second U.S. Open women's singles title, defeating Martina Navratilova 1-6, 7-6, 7-6.

Austin's first title, in 1979, made her the youngest singles champion in the history of America's premier tennis event.

The loss crushed the hopes of Navratilova, who broke down and cried as she received a standing ovation at the awards ceremony immediately following the match. She was seeking her first U.S. Open crown.

Navratilova, who defected from her native Czechoslovakia following the 1975 U.S. Open and became a naturalized American citizen earlier this year, had reached the final for the first time.

And she began the match as if she would crush Austin easily as she won 10 of the first 11 points with her powerful serve and accurate volleys.

"I thought she really had me after the first set," Austin said.

But the teen-ager from Rolling Hills, Calif., fought back with her own game, drilling shot after shot from the baseline, repeating passing Navratilova as the left-hander ventured to the net.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Donnie Little was much maligned as a quarterback because he couldn't pass, so he went out and proved he could catch the ball Saturday night for the eighth-ranked Texas Longhorns.

Little snagged a 65-yard touchdown pass from Rick McIvor, who replaced him as quarterback, to trigger a 31-3 Southwest Conference victory for the Longhorns over the 21-point underdog Rice Owls.

DALLAS (AP) — Craig James and Eric Dickerson combined for more than 200 yards rushing and four touchdowns Saturday as Southern Methodist thumped past outgunned North Texas State 34-7.

James gained 137, Dickerson added 126 and each had a pair of rushing touchdowns as the swift, talented Mustangs ran their record to 2-0. North Texas fell to 0-2.

Dickerson scored on a pair of one-yard runs and set up another touchdown with a spectacular 27-yard sideline burst late in the first half.

Borg slams Connors, McEnroe next

NEW YORK (AP) — Bjorn Borg steadily stopped any attempts Jimmy Connors had at winning here Saturday evening in the semifinal round in the men's competition of the U.S. Open, taking a straight set 6-2, 7-5, 6-4 triumph.

The win moves Borg into the championship match on Sunday afternoon against John McEnroe, who had to go five sets Saturday before disposing of fellow New Yorker Vitas Gerulaitis.

It will be another exciting match between Borg and McEnroe, who have battled in the past two Wimbledon finals and in the finals of the US Open last year. McEnroe has won two of those matches, including the US Open last year.

Sweetwater Mustangs muscle Steers

By NATHAN POSS

SWEETWATER — The Sweetwater Mustangs used first half Big Spring mistakes to take a narrow halftime lead over a seemingly superior team, but dismissed that notion with a ball control attack in the second half that sent the Steers to their first defeat by a score of 34-20 here Friday night.

The win was the final tuneup for Coach W.T. Stapler's Mustangs before District 5-AAAAA action begins. They will take a perfect 2-0 mark into league action.

The Steers, meanwhile, are now 1-1, and play Levelland at home next Friday before entering their rugged District 5-AAAAA slate.

If a person were to read the first half statistics, it would appear that Big Spring would have a comfortable lead. But that was not the case.

After one first down on their opening possession, Steer punter Rod Harris had the ball snapped over his head. As Harris retrieved it, a herd of Mustangs converged on him, dropping the Steer junior for a 31-yard loss and giving Sweetwater a first and goal on the Big Spring seven.

The Mustangs utilized their best player on three straight carries, and Danny Williams third rush resulted in a one-yard run to paydirt. Williams then toed the conversion.

But the Steers came right back, as quarterback Tracy Spence engineered a 69-yard drive in 13 plays to bring the visitors within one Spence climaxed the match with a two-yard jaunt to score. He completed passes of 16 and 29 yards on the drive to Danny Stephen and Harris, respectively.

But the PAT attempt by Spence was blocked, and Sweetwater maintained a 7-6 margin.

Mistakes continued to hurt the Steers in their effort to keep Sweetwater off the scoreboard. On the second play after a short kickoff, Mustang QB Scott Richardson lofted a bomb to split end Fabian DeLeon. The pass fell incomplete, but Steer safety Richard Evans was whistled for pass interference, giving the Mustangs a 36-yard advance into Steer territory at the 23.

After losing four yards on their next play, the Mustangs put on some razzle dazzle to score. Richardson flipped on a split end reverse to Ricky Harris, who went around the left side untouched on a 27-yard TD gallop. Williams toed the conversion for a 14-6 lead.

But just like the Steers did following Sweetwater's first touchdown, they once again answered with a touch-down of their own.

This time, it began on their own 18 and went 82 yards in seven plays, with two big gainers being the key. The first was on a Spence to Rod Harris pass, good for 37 yards to the Mustang 42. Two plays later, Richard Evans scampered for 18 yards, setting up his seven yard burst to touchdown land which narrowed the Sweetwater lead to 14-12 with 10:29 remaining in the half. But the extra point try for two was fumbled, and the Steers remained behind.

Two possessions later, Big Spring's Bobby Earl Williams, who was benched for most of the first half, saw action and returned a Sweetwater punt 21 yards to the 24. But two plays later, a handoff exchange resulted in a fumble, and Sweetwater recovered on their own 19.

Sweetwater then drove until the end of the half, but a Danny Williams field goal try from 38 yards was wide.

While Big Spring had expressed superiority except on the scoreboard in the first half, Sweetwater changed (Con't. on 12-B) "Sweetwater"

TREVINO PREPS FOR TACKLE ... Big Spring cornerback Alan Trevino (80) readies himself to take the legs out from Sweetwater running back Danny Williams (40) in Friday night's game. Trevino made the tackel on this play, but Williams still managed to score 22 points in the contest (3 touchdowns and four PATs) in helping the Mustangs run to a 34-20 win over the Steers. (See Related Story).

Coahoma coach says penalties big factor

By NATHAN POSS

Sports Editor

After viewing the films of the annual grudge match between Coahoma and Stanton, both teams came away seeing bright spots for the rest of the season.

Of course, considering the 3-0 win for the Stanton team, it's no wonder that they had no complaints.

Stanton won the game by driving in the rain late in the third quarter, completing the only two passes of the game to set up Scott Church's 25-yard field goal.

And as Coahoma coaching aide Doug Harriman explained, "That thing (field goal) would have been good from 60 yards, he kicked it so far."

Both teams defenses did bend in the contest, but were never broken. But the pouring rain probably had much to do with that.

"I feel like we would have had a better chance on a dry field," commented Harriman. "Our forte is our speed, and the conditions negated that we could take advantage of it. But you have to play in the conditions as they are, so there's no use worrying about that."

Harriman explained that Coahoma used their power sweep most of the game because of the conditions. Quarterback Bruce Walker had 65 yards for Coahoma, with Manuel Martinez adding 52 and Tony Uranga 40. Stanton's Kevin Newman led all rushers with 114 yards.

"We were pleased defensively with the way we played," said Harriman, who gave special mention to Bulldog defenders in cornerbacks Tony Urganza and Shane Mayhall, and middle linebacker Bobby Joe Tucker.

Urganza had 15 tackles and Tucker was in on 13. Mayhall had one interception and one fumble recovery.

Drawing offensive praise for the Bulldogs were center James Gilbert, tight end Lynn Hinsley and wingback Mike McKinley.

Stanton coaches praised defensive members in end Tracy Spinks, linebacker George Lewis, and halfbacks Maurizio Iaquanello and Kevin Newman, while offensive plaudits were given to Newman, quarterback Wally Hazelwood, receiver Tommy Esparza and tackle Church.

Coahoma moved the ball, but penalties did hurt the Bulldogs' chances.

"We stifled ourselves," said Harriman. "Penalties hurt us a great deal. But after looking at the films, we deserved the penalties."

He mentioned that six of their seven penalties were for holding.

Over Coahoma in rainy game

Field goal gives Stanton 3-0 win

STANTON — Even as a hard rain fell throughout the game, spirits weren't dampened between rival Coahoma and Stanton here Friday night.

Although the wet field and a brisk wind from the north-west caused both teams to play conservatively the two teams battled head to head in the soggy trenches.

Just as the storm was reaching its peak Stanton received the kickoff and aided by a 50-yard return by junior wingback Ray Flores marched progressively down the field, relying on end sweeps and quick traps up the middle. The Bulldogs were able to reach the Coahoma 34 where quarterback Wally Hazelwood faded back to pass only to be intercepted by Shane Mnyall.

After setbacks of penalties for clipping and holding, Coahoma, starting from their own 14, put together an impressive string of three first downs.

A sparkling 24 yard run by Manuel Martinez moved the ball to the Stanton 30, where in four downs the Bulldogs couldn't budget the Stanton defense.

Following this the ball changed hands five times throughout the rest of the first half. Neither team seemed to be able to get any kind of ground game going and two fumbles by Stanton's Kevin Newman thwarted any drive the Bulldogs might have begun.

At the intermission Coahoma had managed 84 total yards and Stanton had amassed only 62. The rain, however, had begun to lighten, which at least promised better ball handling and more sure footing.

The slippery football had dictated a running game from the start and Coahoma, after taking possession of the second-half kickoff at its 20, came out with a very conservative offense. Relying on quarterback draws and sneaks, the Bulldogs, helped by a run off of a fake punt by Bruce Walker and a personal foul against Stanton, struggled to the Bulldogs 44-yard line.

However, the drive stalled against a stubborn Stanton defense, and Coahoma punted giving Stanton possession at its own 16 yard line.

Stanton seemingly not intimidated by the elements, came out throwing with a 16 yard completion from Wally Hazelwood to Tommy Esparza. The play sparked the Bulldogs and the offense began clicking as it ran its way to four first downs.

Using an effective ground game to mount a drive, in which Kevin Newman and Bobby Barnhill battered the Coahoma front line repeatedly, Stanton moved all the way to the Coahoma 10 yard line.

Kevin Newman, who gained 114 yards for the night, was particularly potent on the strong side end sweeps the Bulldogs were using.

Rising to the occasion though, was a tough Bulldog defense that quelled the Stanton drive, which seemed to fizzle in the rain.

It was left up to Stanton's Scott Church, who calmly booted a 25 yard field goal through the uprights on the first play of the fourth quarter. Stanton had drawn first blood as lightning cracked its approval in the western sky. As it turned out the field goal was all that Stanton needed to win.

Coahoma after mounting a drive to mid field punted once more to Stanton who kept the ball on the ground chewing up most of the time left in the fourth quarter.

A "Hail Mary" pass by Coahoma's Bruce Walker was intercepted by Marizo Iaquanello in the waning moments of the quarter which ended the Bulldog's hopes for a comeback.

The teams are both 1-1 for the season. Stanton plays Crane next week, while Coahoma battles Tahoka in Coahoma.

Stephenson still hot

SUFFOLK, Va. (AP) — Jan Stephenson shot a six-birdie, 2-under-par 71 Saturday for a 36-hole total of 137 and kept a 2-stroke lead after the second round of the 54-hole LPGA United Virginia Bank Golf Classic over the Sleepy Hole course.

Stephenson birdied three of the first five holes in the second round and didn't have her first bogey until the ninth hole, her 26th of the tournament. She shot 35-36 over the par 3667 course and had three birdies and four bogeys on the back nine.

Still 2 strokes back, just as she was after the opening round Friday when Stephenson shot a 66 to her 68, was Jane Blalock. Blalock remained even with Stephenson for the day when she parred the 17th hole while the front-runner was taking a bogey-5.

Blalock had a round of 35-36 in the $125,000.

SECOND ROUND LEADER — Jan Stephenson escapes the trap of the 6th hole of the Sleepy Hole Golf Course during the second day of the L.P.G.A.'s United Virginia Bank Golf Classic. Miss Stephenson tied the day at a 71 total with Jane Blalock leaving her nine under for the tournament.

Astros take win over Giants

HOUSTON (AP) — Joe Niekro hit a two-run single and teamed with Dave Smith on a seven-hitter and Alan Ashby singled, doubled and homered to lead the Houston Astros to a 5-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants Saturday night.

Niekro, 8-7, pitched 42-3 innings of no-hit ball before Joe Morgan's single to center. Niekro struck out five and walked four while allowing four hits in 62-3 innings before Smith came in to earn his seventh save.

Concepcion SF gives Reds win

CINCINNATI (AP) — Dave Concepcion's sacrifice fly to center field in the bottom of the 11th inning scored Dan Driessen and gave the Cincinnati Reds a 6-5 victory over the Los Angeles Dodgers Saturday night.

Driessen opened the inning off loser Ted Power, 0-1, with a single and advanced to second on Paul Householder's bunt single. A passed ball by Steve Yeager advanced the runners and Ken Griffey was intentionally walked, bringing up Concepcion.

Mike LaCoss, 4-7, was the winner after working the last two innings.

Chisox extend streak to 5 games

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Tim Corcoran scored the go-ahead run on a wild pitch by reliever Lamarr Hoyt in the sixth inning as the Minnesota Twins defeated the Chicago White Sox 3-1 Saturday night to extend their winning streak to five games.

Pete Redfern, 5-8, worked 62-3 innings to get the victory with relief help from Doug Corbett, who picked up his 12th save in his 45th appearance. Richard Dotson, 8-7, suffered his fourth straight loss for the White Sox.

Brewers bop Orioles, Jim Palmer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Ted Simmons hit three singles and drove in three runs and Cecil Cooper rapped three hits and scored two runs, leading the Milwaukee Brewers to a 6-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles Saturday night.

Randy Lerch, 5-8, pitched 51-3 innings to pick up the win, with relief help from Reggie Cleveland and Hollie Fingers, who pitched the ninth inning for his 24th save and was backed by the Brewers' fifth double play of the game.

Milwaukee knocked out Baltimore starter Jim Palmer, 5-8, in the first inning, scoring four times.

Chambliss lifts Braves in 11th

ATLANTA (AP) — Chris Chambliss belted his eighth homer of the season with one out in 11th inning to pace the Atlanta Braves to a 5-4 victory over the San Diego Padres Saturday.

Chambliss' home run, to right field, came off Padres reliever Mike Armstrong, 0-1, and gave Atlanta its fourth straight victory. Rick Camp, 9-2, earned the victory.

Detroit takes wild 11-9 win

DETROIT (AP) — Lance Parrish's two-run homer in the 12th inning off Sid Monge carried the Detroit Tigers to a wild 11-9 victory over the Cleveland Indians Saturday.

John Wockenfuss walked to lead off the 12th, then Parrish followed with his 10th homer of the season.

Dave Rozema, 5-5, worked 32-3 innings of hitless relief to pick up the victory. Monge, the fifth pitcher used by Cleveland, absorbed the loss and fell to 2-5.

The Tigers, trailing 8-4, rallied for five runs in the eighth, keyed by a double by Champ Summers and Bill Fahey's first home run of the season, which pulled Detroit within 8-6. Lynn Jones delivered a pinch-hit single. Lou Whitaker also singled and Rick Peters doubled to score both runners off Mike Stanton.

Royals move into AL West lead

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — Dennis Leonard pitched 51-3 innings of no-hit ball Saturday on his way to a three-hit shutout as the Kansas City Royals defeated the Oakland A's 4-0.

The victory lifted the Royals back into first place in the American League West with a 17-15 record, one game ahead of the A's in their race for the second-half championship. Oakland won the first half.

Expos use pitching on Cubs

CHICAGO (AP) — Chris Speier singled and scored the go-ahead run and Larry Parrish belted his seventh home run of the year to lift Steve Rogers and the Montreal Expos to a 2-0 victory Saturday over the Chicago Cubs.

Rogers, 10-6, pitched six shutout innings, striking out eight and allowing only two hits, both harmless singles by Leon Durham. He was unable to start the seventh inning after straining his back on a check swing. Woodie Fryman, who gave up the other hit, another single by Durham, and Jeff Reardon finished up, with Reardon getting his sixth save.

Red Sox lose no-hitter, but win

Ojeda, 23, walked Lou Piniella in the first inning, then retired the next 22 batters. But Cerone lined a double to right-center field, with Red Sox right fielder Dwight Evans barely missing a lunging catch. Then Dave Winfield pinch-hit a double to left, scoring Cerone and Ojeda was lifted for Mark Clear, who picked up his eighth save, striking out Willie Randolph and Jerry Murphy and getting Reggie Jackson on a fly out to left field.

Pirates, Phillies end streaks

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Omar Moreno and Jason Thompson each drove in two runs, leading the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 6-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies Saturday night.

Winning pitcher Eddie Solomon, 7-4, needed relief from Rod Scurry in the seventh inning as the Pirates halted their three-game losing streak and ended Philadelphia's three-game winning streak.

At facing 'Hartless' Cardinals Cowboys seem relieved

IRVING, Texas (AP) — When the Dallas Cowboys and St. Louis Cardinals tangle Sunday in Texas Stadium, fear won't be in the hearts of the Dallas Doomsday Defense like it usually is with Jim Hart and Mel Gray around.

Gray, who has caught 14 career touchdown passes against the Cowboys, will be on the sidelines with a shoulder injury.

Hart, who has had some of his biggest days in the National Football League against Dallas, also won't play because of a knee injury.

"Gray always made the day more exciting," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry who became frustrated more than once at his team's inability to corral the Cardinal speedster.

Hart will be replaced by rookie Neil Lomax as Coach Jim Hanifan goes with seven new starters against the 10-point favorite Cowboys.

John Floyd has been installed as the starting wide receiver in place of Mark Bell who had replaced Gray.

Also, veteran cornerback Roger Wehli has been replaced by Tim Collier in another of Hanifan's changes.

While Gray and Hart won't be around for the 3 p.m. kickoff to bedevil the Cowboys, running back Otis Anderson will.

Anderson's best single game performance came against Dallas on Sept. 2, 1979 when he rushed for 193 yards in his pro debut.

He enters the game with 490 yards rushing against Dallas in four games, an average of 122 yards per outing. His average per carry is 6.1 yards and is the only running back to ever gain 100 yards on the ground against Dallas three times in a career.

The Cardinals feel 20-6 to Miami last week and the Cowboys drilled Washington 26-10.

"We know the Cardinals will be tough even without Gray and Hart," said Landry. "The Cardinals always play us tough. They have a high-caliber, competitive team. We'll have to get the big plays to beat them. We never have run on them very well."

Lomax completed 14 of 30 passes for 151 yards after Hart was hurt last week.

"Neil did an admirable job," said Hanifan. "He was a little jittery at first, as anyone would be, but he settled down and responded very well."

The Cowboys passed and ran effectively against the Redskins with Tony Dorsett gouging out 132 yards overland and quarterback Danny White throwing two touchdown passes.

Dallas has won 10 consecutive regular season games in Texas Stadium and has not lost a home opener since 1974.

Colorado prediction comes true vs. Tech

BOULDER, Colo. (AP) — He made the bold prediction a month ago that Colorado's offense would be awesome this fall, and sophomore quarterback Randy Essington made good on it Saturday as the Buffaloes romped over Texas Tech 45-27 in a college football opener.

Essington fired three long touchdown passes, two of them to sophomore wingback Walter Stanley, and the mercurial Stanley returned a punt 70 yards for another score to stake the explosive Buffs to a three-touchdown edge at halftime.

Essington completed 14 of 23 passes for 345 yards to set a school record for passing yardage in a game. Stanley had five catches for a whopping 222 yards to set a CU standard for receiving.

In all, the Buffs had 564 yards in total offense, compared with Texas Tech's 281.

"I thought we'd come through, but I didn't think by this much," Essington said in the locker room. "It's a great feeling, it's been a long time. We've been hearing for so long that when we come around we'll be all right. I think we've come around."

Stanley said he "wanted this game bad. It was real important to get the fans behind us. Now we are ready to play some ball. We are really together. Today we played as one."

"It was a great start for us," said coach Chuck Fairbanks, whose team won only one game all last season. "I was very pleased with the performance of our team. We got contributions from all phases. The kicking game was good, the defense played well and the offense made some big plays."

"I hope the win will give this team a sense of confidence and develop momentum."

Shepard guides OU win

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Third-ranked Oklahoma, behind a flashy second-half performance by reserve quarterback Darrell Shepard and the running of a group of swift backs, overcame scrappy Wyoming 37-20 Saturday in a college football game.

Shepard, who ran for two touchdowns and passed for another, replaced starting quarterback Kelly Phelps late in the first half after Phelps had guided the Sooners to a 17-13 lead.

After unranked Wyoming took the lead 20-17 early in the third quarter, Shepard got the Sooners' wishbone offense in high gear, scoring on 23-yard and 1-yard runs and tossing a 37-yard TD pass to halfback Buster Rhymes. Rhymes had raced 39 yards for a touchdown in the second period, tying the score 10-10.

Wyoming surprised the Sooners, who amassed 453 yards rushing in the game, by racing to a 10-0 first-quarter lead. Michael Keeling began the Sooners' comeback with a 42-yard field goal in the second period.

Halfback pass spurs Arkansas by Tulsa

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — When Arkansas put in the halfback pass and Jessie Clark didn't show much of an arm, Thomas Brown volunteered to do the throwing.

"Thomas Brown told us if he hadn't been a black in Alabama, he would have been a quarterback," said Coach Lou Holtz. "So, we let him throw it."

Holtz called the play once Saturday and Brown responded with a less-than-perfect, toss that 5-foot-8 Derek Holloway turned into a 41-yard scoring play.

The TD and Darryl Mason's two-point conversion catch cut the Tulsa lead to 10-8 in the third quarter and Arkansas went on to a 14-10 season-opening victory.

Brown said he wasn't nervous about the pass. "I just love to throw the ball anyway," Brown said. "I didn't think we would call that play — I wasn't thinking about it."

Linebacker Blake Bjorkman said the call surprised Tulsa's defense. "We figured third and 3 was a pretty risky time to pass, especially for a college team trying a halfback pass," Bjorkman said. "I guess it was just a good play to call. It was really a rerun of the Kansas game."

Tulsa led Kansas 11-8 last week when the Jayhawks intercepted a pass and returned it for a 15-11 victory.

"It's the same old story," said Coach John Cooper of Tulsa. "We played good and didn't win. We thought we'd have to throw more, but we scored on our first series and went into our little shell. I think this is the best Arkansas team since the Orange Bowl."

He was referring to the Arkansas team that upset Oklahoma in the 1978 Orange Bowl.

Gutter ball for Bowling Green

WACO, Texas (AP) — Interceptions by safety Vann McElroy and cornerback Vic Vines and a fumble recovery by tackle Paul Mergenhausen set up three Baylor touchdowns Saturday night as the Bears trounced Bowling Green, 38-0.

Baylor's All Southwest Conference backfield got untracked as quarterback Jay Jeffrey threw two touchdowns passes, and running backs Dennis Gentry and Walter Abercrombie sprinted 12 and 47 yards respectively for scores.

In the wake of Baylor's opening game 18-17 loss to Lamar, only 20,000 fans watched the defending Southwest Conference champions in the first regular season game ever by an SWC school against a member of the Mid-American Conference.

McElroy's interception and two-yard return to the Bowling Green 33-yard line set up Gentry's touchdown run as Abercrombie — the SWC's offensive player-of-the-year in 1980 — threw a block that knocked his helmet off.

On Bowling Green's next possession in the first quarter, Mergenhausen recovered quarterback Greg Taylor's fumbled snap at the Ohio school's 36.

Jeffrey threw 24 yards to Bruce Davis, who made a diving touchdown catch in the left corner of the end zone. It was his first college reception.

Baylor exploded for 21 points in the third quarter. Alfred Anderson ran over Bowling Green defensive back Jac Tomasello for an 11-yard touchdown, Abercrombie broke loose on his scoring dash, and Jeffrey tossed a 12-yard touchdown pass to Gerald McNeil.

McNeil scored after Vines returned an intercepted pass five yards to the Bowling Green 13.

No. 1 Michigan upset

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Sophomore Jess Cole passed for touchdowns on plays covering 17 yards to Marvin Neal and 71 to John Williams, sparking Wisconsin to a 21-14 upset of top-ranked Michigan in Big Ten college football Saturday.

Williams, a tailback, caught a Cole screen pass about 5 yards behind the line of scrimmage and raced down the left sideline to score on a 71-yard play, giving Wisconsin a 21-14 lead with 5:13 left in the third quarter.

The Badgers, beaten by a combined margin of 176-0 by Michigan in the teams, last four games, held on to defeat the Wolverines for the first time in 15 games since 1962. It was Michigan's first defeat in a season opener in Bo Schembechler's 13 seasons as the school's coach.

Wisconsin safety Matt Vanden Boom helped preserve the victory by intercepting three Steve Smith passes. The third interception gave the Badgers possessions at their 17 with 2 seconds to play.

Notre Dame gives Faust 1st game win over LSU

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — Blair Kiel and Tim Koegel each threw a touchdown pass and Stacey Toran intercepted two passes Saturday as fourth-ranked Notre Dame coaching debut a smashing success with a 27-9 victory over Louisiana State.

The Irish set the tone for the emotion-packed opener when Joe Rudzinski forced an Alan Risher fumble on the third play from scrimmage and Kevin Griffith recovered on the LSU 20-yard line.

Five plays later Kiel hit Larry Moriarty with a seven-yard touchdown pass and Harry Oliver's kick made it 7-0. The next time the Irish gained possession, they marched 72 yards in five plays for another touchdown with Todd Bell providing the big play, a 41-yard scamper to the Tiger eight-yard line. Tony Hunter smashed for seven and Phil Carter went across for the one.

Early in the second quarter, Notre Dame put on a 69-yard march which featured passes of 22 and 18 yards from Tim Koegel to Hunter, a 13-yard run by Hunter and Hunter's one-yard touchdown smash. Oliver's kick was wide but the Irish led 20-0.

Warner continues 1st game heroics

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Junior Curt Warner flashed his third straight opening game spectacular with three touchdowns and 122 yards Saturday as ninth-ranked Penn State wiped out Cincinnati 52-0 before 84,342 fans, the second-largest home crowd in State's 95-year college football history.

Two years ago, Warner debuted with three touchdowns and 280 yards, and last year he ushered in his sophomore season with 149 yards and two scores. The game never was a contest as Penn State took advantage of 0-2 Cincinnati's mistakes, which set up three first-half touchdowns and helped the Nittany Lions build a 28-0 lead.

Warner scored the first three touchdowns on runs of 8, 5 and 2 yards, while tight end Mike McCloskey caught a 14-yard touchdown pass from quarterback Todd Blackledge.

Georgia wins 15th straight

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Buck Belue scored one touchdown and passed for another and All-American Herschel Walker rambled for 167 yards as sixth-ranked Georgia, in a sluggish performance, beat California 27-13 in college football Saturday.

It was the 15th consecutive victory for the defending national champions, the longest winning streak in the nation. Belue fired an 18-yard scoring pass to Ronnie Stewart in the first quarter and raced 14 yards on a keeper in the second quarter as the Bulldogs struggled to a 17-10 halftime lead. Georgia's other scoring came on a 6-yard run by Carnie Norris, fields goals of 24 and 30 yards by freshman Kevin Butler and a safety when Jimmy Payne blocked a punt which the Golden Bears recovered in their end zone.

California, 0-2, twice held leads in the game, 7-2 when J. Torchio connected with Mariet Ford on a 3-yard scoring pass and again at 10-8 when Joe Cooper kicked a 29-yard field goal. Cooper booted a 47-yard field goal in the final quarter.

Nebraska upset by Iowa

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP) — Eddie Phillips scored on a short run, Lon Olejniczak kicked a 35-yard field goal and Iowa held on in the second half to upset seventh-ranked Nebraska 10-7 Saturday in a college football season opener.

A record Kinnick Stadium crowd of 60,160 saw Iowa avenge a 57-0 loss to the Cornhuskers last year. Iowa capitalized on a short punt and an interception for its two scores in the first half and the Hawkeyes' defense contained Nebraska's offense throughout the game. Nebraska had several chances to tie the score or go ahead in the fourth quarter, but the Cornhuskers were thwarted by a missed field goal, a fumble and Lou King's diving interception that sealed the victory for Iowa with 39 seconds remaining.

Phillips, a sophomore tailback, dove over left guard from the 2 for a touchdown on Iowa's first possession of the game. The Hawkeyes had started on the Nebraska 44 after King tipped a Cornhuskers' punt and the ball traveled only 20 yards.

Steer cross country opens impressively

LEVELLAND — The Big Spring boys cross country team opened their 1981 season in fine fashion here Saturday morning, running to a third place finish in the 15-team Levelland Run.

Big Spring had three runners finish in the top 10 places, and according to Coach Randy Britton, that is the best showing in many years at BSHS. District 5-A powerhouses San Angelo won the affair with 53 points, finishing just one point better than Hobbs' 54 points. Big Spring had 84 points for their third place finish.

There were two other 5-A powerhouses competing Saturday. Odessa High was seventh with 154 points, and Midland High eighth with 175 points.

Big Spring was paced by Karl Wolfe, Javier Calderon and James Hodges, who placed sixth, seventh and eighth, respectively. Wolfe ran a 16:14, Calderon at 16:37 and Hodges a 16:22. Calderon and Hodges both had times that displayed 40 seconds of improvement from last year's district meet. "We've got a super chance of giving San Angelo a run this year," said Britton. "The improvement that we've shown can be attributed to the summer's work that these kids did."

Big Spring's Tim McNamara was 27th with a time of 17:31, and Gene Warren 6th with a time of 17:51. Curtis Harrison and Bret Crenweige had times of 17:53 and 18:19, but did not figure in the Steers point production.

In the JV division, Big Spring's Mike Mindling finished seventh, and Britton stated that he will soon be running in varsity competition. Others running for the JVs were Preston Harrison, Ismael Carrillo, David Yanez and Rolanda Hilario.

Both the Steer boys and girls return to action next Saturday at the Abilene Meet.

Brownfield scores on whoppers

Big plays burn Lamesa

LAMESA — Big plays were too much for the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes to overcome here Friday night in a 27-12 loss to the Brownfield Cubs.

To give an example of the extent of the big plays on the part of Brownfield, the Cubs managed only six first downs in the contest with their 222 yards rushing totals. And three of those first downs were counted on the touchdown runs, which is an automatic first down. Lamesa fumbled on their opening series, with Brownfield recovering on the Lamesa seven. Mike Reed then scored for Brownfield, with D.C. Burse booting the PAT.

Lamesa narrowed the deficit to 7-6 with just over three minutes remaining in the first half when Steven Archer barreled over. The pass for the two points failed, leaving Lamesa with a one point deficit.

But the big plays began shortly afterward for Brownfield when Reed burst open and raced 94 yards to paydirt. The PAT by Burse gave Brownfield a 14-6 halftime lead.

Brownfield's Todd Grano extended the Cubs margin in the third period when he fielded a punt and ran 80 yards for a touchdown. Burse's PAT was true for a 21-6 Cub lead.

But with 19 seconds remaining in the third quarter, Lamesa tailback Steve Alexander rambled over from 35 yards to narrow the deficit to 21-12.

But not to be outdone, the explosive Reed burst open just 13 seconds later on a 51-yard run to finalize the scoring for the evening.

Brownfield had all of their net yardage on the ground, as they did not attempt a pass. And except for the two big runs by Reed totalling 145 yards, the Lamesa defense controlled the contest.

Alexander had 101 yards rushing on 30 carries for Lamesa, who ran a total of 65 running plays to 28 for Brownfield.

The win was the season opener for Brownfield under first year Coach James Rust.

The loss dropped the Golden Tors' record to 0-2. They meet the rugged Monahans Lobos next Friday in their District 2-AAA opener. That game will be played in Monahans.

THE WAY IT WAS... Lamesa football fans had to be of the die hard breed Friday night when their Golden Tor football team hosted Brownfield in a non-district game. Rain poured heavily throughout the game, making conditions miserable for both the players and fans, as well as the photographers. And for the home town Lamesa fans, it had a bad ending, as the Golden Tors fell by a 27-12 score.

Grady turnovers spell doom

LLENORAH — Three Way rolled to a rain shortened 42-0 win over the Grady Wildcats in a six-man football contest here Friday night.

In six-man football, a game is called at any point from the halftime on when one team has a 45 point advantage. But due to the lightning involved close to Tunnell Field, the superintendents of the two school agreed to call the game early.

"That made no difference in the outcome," said Grady

Coach Richard Gibson. "They had the superior team and had already proven it."

Grady was down 26-0 after the first quarter, with some early fumbles allowing the Three-Way team to score from short distances.

In fact, in reading the stats the Three-Way team didn't have much more yardage than Grady. But Grady lost four fumbles and had three passes intercepted in the first and only half.

Three-Way's Tommy Brown opened the scoring on a one-yard run, and Louis Peacock added runs of eight and 65 yards in the first stanza. Bobby Barnett then hurled a 22-yard scoring strike to Peacock to finalize the scoring in the opening stanza.

Brown ran over the one-point conversion twice in the first quarter.

Brown added a three-yard scoring run and Peacock hurled a 35-yard scoring pass to Kevin Reeves later in the second frame.

Brown booted the two-point conversions after both second period touchdowns.

"Mistakes in our end of the field in the first quarter just killed us," explained Gibson. "You can't do that with a team with as much speed as Three-Way."

Grady is now 1-1 on the year, and hosts a tough Dawson crew next Friday at eight. Three-Way improved their season record to 2-0 in the win.

Renner avoids lightning for Pleasant Valley lead

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — Young Jack Renner, admittedly trying "to save my life" in a race with streaking lightning, finished with a hurried par to tie Tommy Valentine for the third round lead Saturday in the $300,000 Pleasant Valley Jimmy Fund Golf Classic.

Literally chased by the lightning and booming thunder, Renner got down in par on the final hole for his third straight 3-under par 68 and a 54-hole total of 204.

Valentine, enjoying his finest year as a pro while approaching 32, finished several minutes earlier with a 67, beating the late afternoon storm, for his 204.

"I think it was the most scared I've ever been on a golf course," the 25-year-old Renner said. "It began fumbling on the 16th green, continued on the 17th and then lightning chased us on the fairway after we had teed off."

"I hit a perfect drive and had a good chance for a birdie, but I just wanted to finish and rushed. I thought saving my life was more important than making birdies."

Renner, playing in the day's last threesome, fashioned three birdies without a bogey. Valentine, an intercollegiate All-American at Georgia, had four birdies without a bogey on the 7,119-yard Pleasant Valley course.

"It was just another good solid round," Valentine said. "I shot a 69 in practice last Monday and I've been shooting solid golf ever since."

At 9-under par for 54 holes, Renner and Valentine took a two-stroke lead over Tom Kite in the 72-hole chase for top prize money of $54,000.

Kite, the most consistent low scorer on the PGA tour this year, had a 68 for 207 and a tie for third with Scott Simpson (70) and Jeff Mitchell (70).

Dave Lundstrom fired the day's lowest round, a 66, which moved him into a tie at 208. Also in the traffic jam at that score were George Burns, Gary Trivisonno, Lanny Wadkins, Ed Dougherty, Bruce Douglass, Gibby Gilbert and Strange.

New England amateur champion Brad Faxon of Barrington, R.I., who was one stroke back with 137 at the halfway mark, tired and took a 74 for a total of 211. He is the first amateur to make the 36-hole cut since the PGA first came here in 1965.

Another 0-0 tie for Sands

Penalties hurt Mustangs in game vs. Water Valley

ACKERLY — The Sands Mustangs played to their second consecutive 0-0 tie in the young 1981 season, battling Water Valley without a score here Friday night.

The tie had to be especially frustrating for the Mustangs of Coach Jim White, as they had 12 first downs to only three for Water Valley. But they were whistled for an unbelievable 210 yards on 16 penalties.

penalties killed numerous Sands scoring opportunities.

"We got close many times, but then we'd get a holding penalty, and instead of it being second and five, it would be first and 25," moaned Coach White. "It seems like every play we got a holding penalty."

The Sands defense was tough throughout, limiting their visitors to only 51 yards in total offense. Linebacker Steve Blagrove was the leader of the Sands defense in the scoreless tie.

Sands did score one touchdown that was called. That occurred in the third quarter when halfback Santos Ybarra raced 25 yards to paydirt. But as in many instances, a holding penalty wiped out the score.

The Mustangs also drove to the Water Valley 12 yard line in the final minute, but ran out of downs.

Sands opened the season with a 0-0 tie with Robert Lee. The second straight tie gives them a record of 0-0-2. They go for their first win next Saturday afternoon when they host Throckmorton in a 2:30 p.m. contest.

Water Valley is now 0-1-1 on the year.

Forsan Buffs stop Garden City

FORSAN — The Forsan Buffalo defense continued to be of the stout nature, stifling the Garden City attack and keying a 19-8 win here Friday night between these two long time non-district rivals.

The Forsan defense still has not been scored on in two games. The only Garden City points were as a result of the Forsan offense and the kicking game.

The win moves the Forsan team to a record of 2-0 under Coach Jan East. That is more wins than they managed in the entirety of the 1980 season.

The visiting Bearkats struck first, as a misfielded Forsan punt went out of the end zone, giving Garden City a 2-0 lead with 5:21 remaining in the first quarter.

But Forsan got the lead for good in the second stanza when Lewis Booker, the leading rusher in the game with 101 yards, capped a 53-yard drive on a one-yard run. The PAT failed, leaving Forsan with a 6-2 halftime lead.

The Buffs used a 52-yard drive in the third stanza to move the count to 12-2, with Preston Daniels getting the honors on a three-yard jaunt. The try for two failed.

With the Forsan defense continuing to dominate, the Buff offense cranked out a 56-yard scoring drive in the final stanza. Wade McMurray climaxed the march by achieving paydirt from the two, and Booker booted the PAT for a 19-2 Forsan advantage.

Garden City gained a touchdown with just over two minutes to play when linebacker Robbie Creswell intercepted a Buff aerial and galloped 50 yards to score. The PAT failed.

Forsan Coach East was pleased in the win, but said many areas needed improvement.

"We played real well defensively. That was the key to the whole game, I felt," stated East.

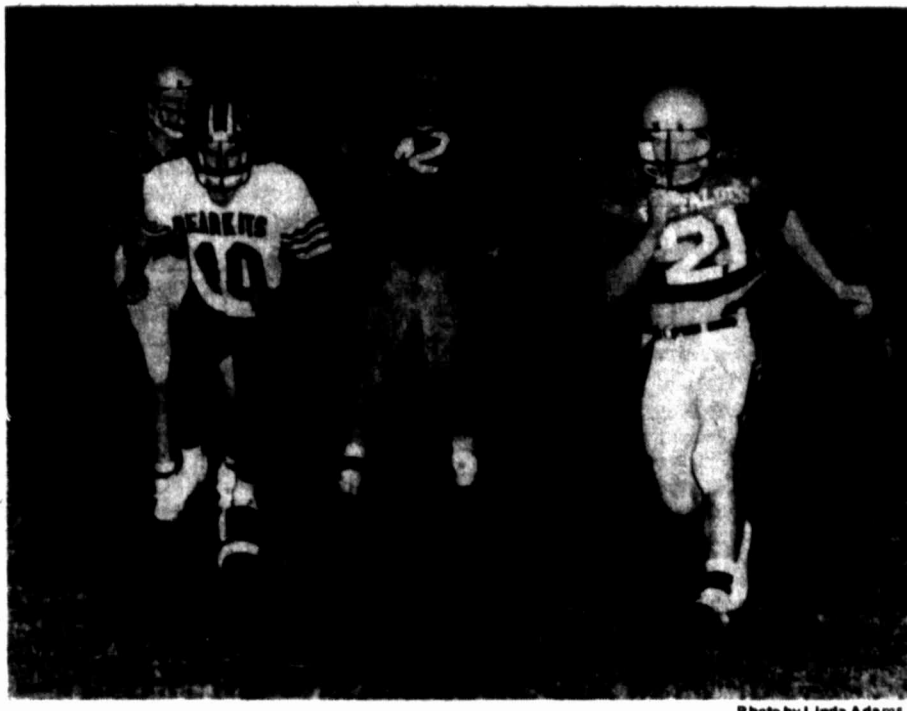

"We feel real good about winning, but I've got to do a better job of getting our kids ready to play in the first quarter," commented East.

"We had two turnovers in our first four offensive plays, and that usually means you're not ready."

Forsan also controlled the statistical battle, gouging out 20 first downs to the Bearkats six.

Garden City, meanwhile, returns home to face Loraine.

LOOSE BALL ... Forsan's Preston Daniels (21) and Garden City's Doug Hoelscher (40) go for a loose ball in the final minute of their game Friday night, but it is the Buffs Lewis Booker (42) that seems to be already celebrating. He had every right to, as he rushed for 101 yards and his team was the winner by a score of 19-8.

Colorado City finds Post too much

By TOM JAY GOSS II
Colorado City Correspondent
COLORADO CITY — Colorado City's Wolves lost their home opener to the Post Antelopes 35-0 Friday night.

The Wolves lost to Slaton last week and are scoreless for the year. Post is 1-2.

Friday night's outing might well be titled "Too Many Turnovers" — Too Much Tannehill." The turnovers included two fumbles and three interceptions.

And Tim Tannehill is the junior quarterback from Post, Texas. His expertise in handling his team was a considerable factor in the Antelope win.

The turnovers blunted Wolf efforts to hold their own, and a fumble ended the most promising drive of all — an 80-yard drive that carried to the Antelope one-yard line before ending in the Wolf miscue.

Post scored 15 seconds into the second quarter on a 60-yard drive that used eight plays to score. Quarterback Tannehill bootlegged the ball and went in from seven yards out. Tailback Will Kirkpatrick kicked the EP.

With 3:55 left, Kirkpatrick kicked a 22-yard field goal. This score was set up by a Colorado City fumble.

Sophomore tailback Milton Williams scooted 37 yards for the fourth Antelope score. Kirkpatrick missed one.

Five seconds deep in the fourth quarter, the exciting Milton Williams, who weighs all of 130 pounds, scored again, taking it in from the 12-yard line.

Williams set up the score by taking a Colorado City pass on the Antelope 12 and junking his way back down the field to the Colorado City 40. "Best ball carrier I've ever seen at Post," said one veteran Post fan.

Denver City plays at Colorado City next week.

Coahoma underclassmen win two of three from Stanton

COAHOMA — Coahoma scored wins in two of three games played here Thursday evening in seventh grade, eighth grade and junior varsity football games. The Coahoma seventh graders used the 189-yard rushing effort of Kenny Martin in rolling to a 20-0 win over their Stanton counterparts.

Coahoma's Todd Cocker tackled the Stanton quarterback in the end zone for a safety in the first quarter for a 2-0 Bullpup lead, but after that, all the scoring was from Martin.

Martin tallied touchdowns on runs of 50 and 47 yards in the second quarter, and added a 57-yard gallop in the final frame. All of the PAT's failed.

Besides Martin's rushing heroics, other offensive stars for the Coahoma seventh graders included running backs Cocker and Randall Crawford. Defensive stalwarts were Cocker, Martin, Richard Barnes, and Jesse Gossett.

In the eighth grade game, the two schools played a tremendously violent affair for three quarters, with neither side scoring. But Stanton broke the ice in the final frame by moving in for a 6-0 lead on a 15-yard sweep. The PAT failed.

Coahoma tied the contest with just 2:59 remaining on a 50-yard pass from Brian Calaway to Louis Salazar. Calaway then boosted the Coahoma eighth graders to the win by running an option for the two-point conversion.

Offensive stars for the Coahoma team were Calaway, Salazar, Jimmie Paul and Barry Stafford, while the defense was headed by Ben Neel, Ismael Ontiveros and David Hutton. Stanton gained a measure of revenge in the final

Georgia Tech pulls shocker

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) — Robert Lavette 2-yard touchdown drive in the fourth quarter gave Georgia Tech a stunning 24-21 victory over second-ranked Alabama Saturday in college football.

For the Yellow Jackets, 24-point underdogs, it was their first opening game victory in 11 seasons and delayed Alabama Coach Bear Bryant's drive to become the winningest coach of all time.

His record now is 307-79-17, still seven victories shy of Amos Alonzo Stagg's record 314.

Alabama led 21-17 when Tech started its winning drive at its 20. Two runs gained only 2 yards, but Mike Kelley connected with Ken Whisenant on a 54-yard pass play to the Alabama 24.

Kelley passed to Glenn Etheridge at the 12. Then, Kelley scrambled to the 5, and two plays later, Lavette scored.

Alabama got the ball twice after that, but Tech held the first time, and a 50-yard field goal attempt by Peter Kim on the game's final play fell short.

Those drawing mention of- fensively for Coahoma were James Sanders, Ron Clanton and Tony Burnett, while Scott Mayhall and Dee Cagle were lauded for their defensive play.

Both the Coahoma seventh and eighth graders host Tahoka next Thursday, while the freshmen and JV's travel to meet Tahoka.

McIvor, a strong-armed junior from Fort Stockton, completed two touchdown passes as the Longhorns rolled over the Owls to delight the crowd of 68,497 fans in Memorial Stadium.

Texas Coach Fred Akers said before the game, "Quarterback is the key for us ... we're not proven there ... it's a big question mark and you have to be honest about it."

Akers was delighted with the results Saturday night.

"We controlled the line of scrimmages and McIvor played well," said Akers.

Rice Coach Ray Alborn said "Texas has a very good team, and it doesn't take a Dick Tracy to figure that out. They have a lot of depth and it helped them tonight."

carries of two and 29 yards. It was the fourth consecutive game, and the fifth time in their SMU careers, that the two junior tailbacks each gained more than 100 yards on the ground.

The only North Texas touchdown came on a twisting 41-yard dash by sophomore tailback Carlen Charleston early in the second half. Charleston finished the night with 117 yards on 18 carries.

The SMU defense forced four Mean Green turnovers and kept North Texas pinned deep in its own end of the field for most of the game.

contest between JV units of the two schools, claiming a 6-0 triumph.

Stanton's score came on a 12-yard run in the second period.

Most of the game was played inside the Stanton 40-yard line, but Coahoma could never score on the stingy Stanton defense.

Rangers win SWT romps, 59-0

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Left-hander Rick Honeycutt won his 10th game and Billy Sample and Mario Mendoza hit run-scoring singles in the second inning to help the Texas Rangers to a 3-2 victory over the California Angels Saturday night.

Mark Mercer got the last two outs to earn his second save.

SEGUIN, Texas (AP) — Quarterback Mike Miller passed for three touchdowns and handed off to his running backs for five more as Southwest Texas annihilated Texas Lutheran Saturday, 59-0.

Miller passed for 193 yards to complement Southwest's 297 yards rushing.

Questions concerning foliar feeding of soybeans are still up in the air, along with pros and cons, advantages and disadvantages. In particular, agronomists agree that making generalizations concerning recommendations for foliar fertilization are difficult. One agronomist, however, does offer the following guidelines: First, foliar sprays work best on crops that already have high yield potential. For example, soybeans should have a good pod set initially in order for foliar fertilization to be beneficial. Plants should have plenty of pods at the base and pods on the upper nodes should be 0.25 to 0.75 inches in length when spray is applied. If plants are under stress, or if rain falls within 48 hours following application, chances for success are reduced. However, in some cases, foliar feeding can reduce crop losses from hail and other crop injury.

Only 2 Years in Business, ERA Sales Associate Surpasses $1 Million Mark in Real Estate Sales For 2nd Year

Big Spring, Texas — Debby Farris of ERA-REEDER REALTORS, 506 E. 4th, has surpassed the coveted $1 million mark in annual real estate sales, and in addition, has listed over $2 million of homes in Big Spring, it was announced today by Lila K. Estes, Broker-Owner.

Farris, Sales Associate, attributes her success to the exclusive consumer aids she can offer through ERA (Electronic Realty Associates, Inc.), a nationwide home marketing service.

"Consumer aids such as ERA's two home warranties — the Home Buyers Protection Plan and Home Sellers Protection — and photo-by-wire listings, mean most to people," Farris said, "I have more to offer home buyers and sellers and this gives me an edge when it comes to offering a complete range of services."

Under ERA's Home Buyers Protection Plan, the buyer is protected for one year against the operational failure of the home's central heating, electric air conditioner, plumbing and electrical systems, built-in appliances, water heaters, softeners and accessible sheet metal ducts.

"Home Sellers Protection coverage begins 15 days after the home is listed with an ERA Broker, for up to six months, or until the home is sold. The coverage is identical to the buyer's plan."

In the next 12 months, more than $5 billion worth of homes will be covered under the two warranties and in excess of $1.8 million in claims will be paid to home buyers and sellers, she said.

"A person moving long distance has to travel back and forth to find the right home. Up until five years ago there was no one who would make the search easier. ERA's 'Moving Machine' has changed all that. The 'Moving Machine' transmits six photos at a time of homes and descriptive data to prospective buyers practically anywhere in the country. The buyer could be looking at these photos as they come off the machine while he's sitting in the living room of my office. The transmission only takes six minutes from the time the request is made to the central bank of homes on file at ERA's headquarters in Overland Park, Kan.," Farris said.

According to Farris, more than 600,000 photos have been sent in five years. There are more than 20,000 active listings on file.

Debby Farris has been with ERA-REEDER REALTORS for two years. She and her husband, Ford, and two children, live at 2504 Central in Big Spring.

Cedeno thanks fans for support

HOUSTON (AP) - Houston's Cesar Cedeno, despite a $5,000 fine hanging over his head, says the only thing he can think about is playing baseball.
 "I came to the ballpark with baseball on my mind and I didn't think about anything else," Cedeno said Friday after he was fined but not suspended for charging into the stands in Atlanta Tuesday when a fan called him "killer."
 National League President Chub Feeney levied the fine prior to Friday's Houston-San Francisco game, adding that the severity of the offense was lessened by Cedeno's letter of apology.
 Cedeno declined to speak fully on the incident but said he was pleased with fan support.
 "But I do appreciate the fans that stayed behind me. It gives me a great feeling that for once I was no longer a kid and people treated me the way I wanted to be treated."
 "I'm very happy that I am playing. Just to be able to play makes the world happier for me."
 Although Feeney chose not to suspend the Astros' first baseman, he did not condone the conduct by any means.
 "People who attend baseball games have the right, and it is part of the enjoyment of the game, to root vociferously for their favorites or on the other hand, vent in a sportmanlike fashion feelings toward players that are negative and players expect this as part of their profession," Feeney said in a prepared statement to the Astros.
 "Yet, in this case, the evidence is compelling that the remarks made by the fans went beyond the realm of decency. This type of spectator behavior is not only unfair to the players but it is unacceptable to the vast majority of the fans who go to the games for entertainment and enjoyment rather than to express such antisocial behavior."
 Tom Rich, Cedeno's agent, said he was delighted with the verdict.
 "Cesar knew he shouldn't go into the stands, but we're glad the league realized there were several mitigating circumstances involved," Rich said. "This was a planned attempt to get Cedeno thrown out. It had been going on for two days."
 Cedeno returned to action against the Giants, scored two of Houston's six runs and singled in the first inning and said the incident was the last thing on his mind.
 Astros manager Bill Virdon said he was pleased to have Cedeno back.
 "I'm not surprised at the fan response favoring Cesar," Virdon said. "The fan (in Atlanta) was way out of line. I think Mr. Feeney took that into consideration."

Not everyone in Texas wants Cowboys on TV

NEW YORK (AP) — The CBS television network has discovered that not everyone in Texas loves the Dallas Cowboys.

The network gave in a little Friday to the Cowboys' most ardent fans who objected to CBS replacing Sunday's game between the Cowboys and St. Louis Cardinals with the men's finals in the U.S. Open tennis championships.

The game will be shown live in Dallas, as scheduled, and a spokesman for the network said the other 16 CBS affiliates in Texas have been given a choice of taking the Cowboys game on a tape-delay basis or taking the live feed of the Green Bay-Atlanta game. Both will get the tennis.

But network affiliates in Waco, Bryan, Amarillo and Odessa chose to take the live broadcast of the Green Bay-Atlanta game. The tennis will follow and they will not see the Dallas game at all.

CBS spokesman Jay Rosenstein said a National Football League rule prohibiting showing four games to a single market in one day made those two the only possible choices available for the affiliates. NBC has a doubleheader scheduled Sunday.

He said 12 of the stations chose to pass up the Green Bay-Atlanta game and will get the live telecast of the Open and the taped Dallas-St. Louis game, beginning at 11:30 p.m. EDT.

Rosenstein said stations outside Texas which normally are part of the Cowboys' network, were not given a choice and will automatically get the earlier game and the tennis.

The NFL, which normally insists on live television for its games, originally turned down the proposal by CBS to do the games on a tape-delay basis. But it relented on Thursday after another try by CBS officials, who cited a "passion for the Cowboys" by the people of Texas.

There are three NFL games being broadcast Sunday at 4 p.m. EDT on CBS, with the Cardinals at Dallas, Chicago at San Francisco and Detroit at San Diego.

Rosenstein said viewers in Dallas, San Diego, St. Louis, Chicago and Detroit all would get the game involving their home teams live. The stations will then join the tennis broadcast live in progress at approximately 7 p.m. EDT.

"If they get a full set or at least an hour of tennis, and last year's men's final went until about 8:30, then we will be done with tennis for everyone," Rosenstein explained. "But, if they get less than a set and less than an hour of tennis, there will be a specially-made, one-hour highlight tape of the finals put together to be broadcast following the late news programs."

things completely in the final 24 minutes. The Mustangs, who had only 51 yards rushing in the first half, grinded out 251 on the ground in the final half. In the process, they controlled the clock and kept the Steer offense, which had moved well in the first half, off the field. The Mustangs took the second half kickoff and marched 70 yards in 13 plays to score, with Danny Williams' one-yard plunge giving the host team a 20-12 lead. His PAT added another point. The Steers couldn't move on their possession, and Sweetwater took the ball and march to the Steers 19. But after picking up nine yards, Sweetwater fullback Greg Harvey was upended and fumbled, with the Steers recovering.

But the turnover was a scary one for all involved, as Steer linebacker Marty Rice suffered a neck injury that required an ambulance and stopped the game in silence for 15 minutes. Rice's injury was later diagnosed as a sprained neck. That is far from good, but still not as serious as most of the stadium seemed to feel at the time of the happening.

nothing to help the Big Spring cause. The Steers couldn't move, and punted to their own 36.

On Sweetwater's first play following the exchange, Harvey fooled nearly everyone by taking a handoff up the middle and running without any heat for a 36-yard touchdown. Williams' PAT boot gave the Mustangs a 28-12 lead with 10:23 remaining in the game.

The Steers, working against both the clock and the Mustangs, moved on their next possession to the Sweetwater 44 behind Spence's arm, but a fumble resulted in the Mustangs taking over on their own 47. Nine running plays later, Danny Williams led the game for the host team on a one-yard dive, with the PAT failing.

To the credit of the Steers, they did not quit. With Spence completing four passes on their next possession, Big Spring moved to the Sweetwater 10 where Bobby Earl Williams, not used for much of the game, took a quick pitch and simply outran the Mustangs and done over one of them for the final TD of the game.

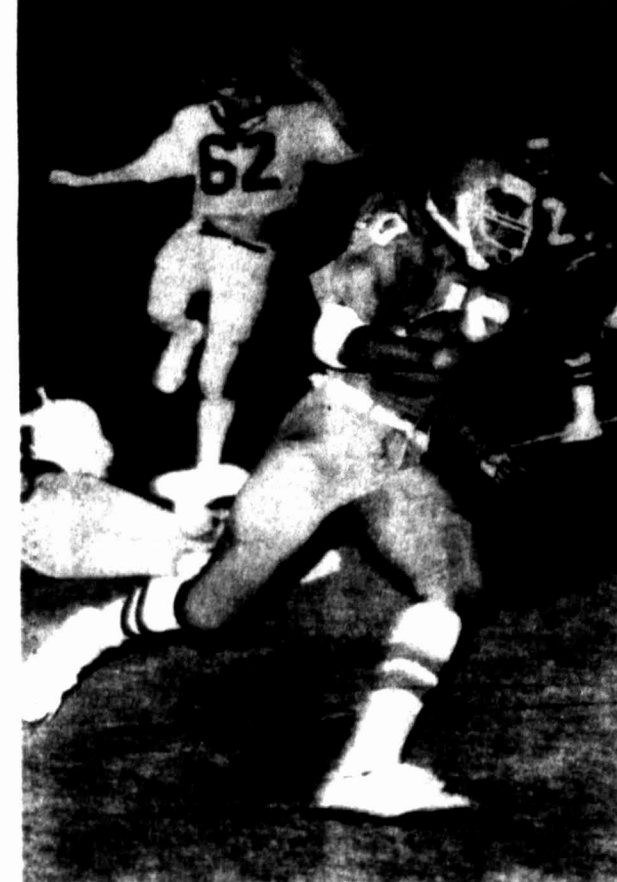

Spence then hit Rod Harris on a look-in to narrow the score to a final of 34-20.

Big Spring was hurt in the game with more than the Rice injury. Evans did not suit up in the second half due to a groin injury, and Tony Molina, who was already hurt, had to leave the game.

5-A-A-A-A FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

San Angelo wins second straight

AUSTIN — The San Angelo Bobcats used three touchdown runs by Kel Crain and a stiff defense to stop Austin Anderson 19-7 and record their second win in as many outings. Crain scored in the opening stanza on a one-yard run, only to be matched by Anderson's Jeff Johnson. Both PAT's were good and the game was tied at 7-7 after one quarter. Crain gave the Bobcats the lead for good in the second quarter on another one-yard jaunt, with the PAT nixed.

Permian moves win skien to 20

ODESSA — Defending 5-A-A-A-A and state champion Odessa Permian continued their winning ways here Friday night, rolling to a 17-0 win over the Amarillo Golden Sandies. Permian's win was their 20th consecutive, and moved their record to 2-0 on the year. Amarillo is 0-2. Permian touchdowns came in the first and third stanzas. Billy Howell had the first on a 15-yard run, and Robbie Brown the second on a 33-yard jaunt. Bobby Knott booted both PATs, and also drilled a 28-yard field goal in the second frame. Permian had 15 first downs and 298 yards total offense in the game to Amarillo's seven first downs and 102 yards rushing. Dale Carr of Permian was the leading rusher with 78 yards on 12 carries. Permian ends its non-district slate next Saturday when it hosts Fort Worth Wyatt.

Brooks, Andrews beats Midland

ANDREWS — Andrews blue chip quarterback Keith Brooks did it all here Friday night in lifting the Mustangs to a 27-6 win over the Midland Bulldogs. Brooks rushed for 149 yards on 25 carries and scored three times. He also threw a touchdown pass, ran for a two-point conversion and returned on interception 29 yards to set up a score. Brooks opened the scoring less than two minutes into the game on a 21-yard run, with the PAT failing. Early in the second quarter, Brooks fired a six-yard touchdown pass to Brent Petross, and then he ran for the two-point conversion. Midland rallied with six minutes left in the half for their only score on a four-yard run by Wesley Williams. There was no score until 1:25 remaining in the third quarter when Brooks rolled out and scampered 66 yards to score. He finalized the scoring on a six-yard run in the final frame. The win boosts the Andrews record to 2-0 on the year, while Midland fell to 1-1 with the loss. Andrews hosts Snyder in their 2-A-A-A-A opener next Friday, while Midland ends their non-district slate at Lubbock Monterey.

Lee Rebel 'D' stifles Snyder

MIDLAND — A rain soaked football field produced a low scoring 13-0 win for the Midland Lee Rebels over the Snyder Tigers in a non-district football game Friday night. Neither team expressed much offense under the rainy conditions. Lee managed five first downs and 161 yards total offense, all on the ground. Snyder had but four first downs, and 52 yards rushing and 51 passing. Lee scored both of their touchdowns through the kicking game. After blocking a punt in the period, Lee used a two-

WICHITA FALLS — The Abilene Cooper Cougars looked near awesome here Friday night in rolling to an easy 34-0 win over the Wichita Falls Coyotes. Cooper scored all of their points in the first three stanzas. John Williams opened the scoring on a 70-yard punt return in the first stanza, and the Cougars scored three times in the second period. Michael Royals scored the first two touchdowns of period two, the first on a nine-yard run and the second on a 20-yard interception return. Kent Strain capped yard run by QB Bart Ryan to go ahead. Van Gravitt booted the extra point. Neither side scored until the final frame when Lee's Calvin Riggs rambled 84 yards off a fake punt to ice the contest. Riggs had 118 yards rushing to lead all runners in the game. Snyder's Raymond Jeffrey had 47 yards against the stingy Rebel defense which has not allowed a point in two games. Lee hosts Plainview next Friday in a non-district game while Snyder, now 0-2, meets Andrews in their 2-A-A-A-A opener.

Abilene upsets Weatherford, 14-0

ABILENE — The Abilene Eagles scored once each in the first and second quarters and held off Weatherford in a 14-0 non-district game Friday night. Scott Hamilton ran four yards for the first touchdown following a 73-yard kickoff return by Wayne Coffey. Leo Parrish scored the other Eagle touchdown on a

OHS edges by El Paso Burges

EL PASO — The Odessa High Broncos scored in four different ways here Friday night to edge El Paso Burges 12-6 in a non-district football contest. After a scoreless first quarter, Burges' Joe LaPuma ran over from the six, but the PAT failed. Odessa countered on a 45-yard pass from quarterback Derrick Shepard to receiver Dean McCann, with Paul Rangel's PAT kick giving the Broncos a 7-6 halftime lead. Odessa counted five more points in the final frame. The first was on a 36-yard field goal by Abel Mendoza, and the second on a safety when OHS defender Kenneth Lisenbe tackled Burges quarterback Bill Bowen in the end zone.

Cedeno

(Con't.) Cedeno said he had been heckled repeatedly by a particular group of fans throughout the Atlanta series with comments of "killer, killer, killer." Cedeno is sensitive to such comments because he was convicted of involuntary manslaughter in 1973 in his native Dominican Republic after a 19-year-old girl was fatally shot with a pistol in Cedeno's motel room.

Area shortage of foster homes critical

By TINA MILLER
Lifestyle Editor

Some people tell them they're crazy. Other people think of them as "wicked step-mothers". But it takes a special kind of person to be a foster parent, and many people don't realize just how special foster parents are.

According to Pat Sherwood, Foster Home Developer in the Big Spring area, Howard County presently has only four foster homes. "We could use 20," she said, "and a hundred wouldn't be too many."

Why is the shortage of foster homes so critical? Mrs. Sherwood believes there are several reasons. The bureaucratic red tape, the traditionally bad image of foster parents, the low pay and lack of understanding of the role of foster parents are all contributing factors.

But even with all the negative aspects the rewards can be great. The Rev. and Mrs. Tim Winn, Knott, have cared for approximately 20 foster children since they first fostered a child in 1976. Though most of their work has been with teenagers, the couple has cared for smaller children for short periods of time. According to Winn, children under nine years of age "adapt real well." When caring for infants, "you can see him go through months of development in a week," said Mrs. Winn.

With older children and teenagers, however, the story is quite different. "By the time a kid has been abused eight, ten or twelve years, he has serious emotional problems," said Winn. There is often a great deal of pressure and tension when dealing with teenagers. "They change," he said, "but it's so slow. Little things set them back. The kids need to see their parents, and the law says they have to, but it often causes a relapse." The Wwins have also found that teenagers are afraid of attachment and love. To encourage their foster children to open up and share their feelings, the Wwins utilize the Big Spring State Hospital counseling services.

Though many people hesitate to become foster parents because they are afraid of being hurt when the child goes back to his natural parents, the Wwins realize that reuniting the family is what the program is all about. "One thing people don't realize is that kids are suffering now," he said. "I would rather suffer in the future than let them keep suffering."

The advice Mrs. Winn would give to a new foster parent or someone considering becoming a foster parent is, "Learn to love the kids' parents.

Regardless of what the kids have been through, they still love their parents."

Winn is disturbed by the fact that most people hesitate to report child abuse. "People need to report abuse when the kids are little," he said. "Abuse breeds abuse." The Department of Human Resources does not simply snatch a child from his home at the first sign of trouble, but does everything in its power to help the family solve its problems. Only when the situation becomes potentially dangerous or harmful to the child will they take the child from his family. Unless the abuse is reported, however, DHR can do nothing about it.

Mr. and Mrs. Ron (Woody) Wood, are relatively new to foster parenting. They became involved in the program in Lubbock and have cared for four foster children to date ranging in age from seven months to 16 years. Though being a foster parent is often frustrating and "you don't make any money in foster care," the Woods have received rewards for their efforts. "Foster care can provide so much more for a kid than the parent ever could," said Wood. Among the services provided by DHR are counseling and homemaker services. The homemaker service enables the foster parent to leave the children with a qualified person in order to run errands, take care of an emergency, or just get away for a few hours.

Medical expenses of foster children are covered by Medicaid and DHR also provides some clothing.

"Not everybody is meant for it," said Wood of foster parenting. He believes that love of kids and "three days of worth of patience" along with discipline are the major requirements for being a foster parent. The Woods also believe that society needs to overcome the "evil step-mother" concept of foster homes.

When accepting an older child to live with them, the Woods experience a "honeymoon" period which usually lasts about two weeks. "The kids want to be real good and get on your good side," he said. "The ones we've had feel insecure and feel like they're not loved," said Mrs. Wood.

After the honeymoon period, however, the kids begin to test the foster parent by misbehaving. The Woods take this in stride and believe all children test their parents. The couple believes that most of the problems they encounter are the problems of any parent.

The Woods do not believe that the requirements for being a foster parent are too stringent. A health and fire inspection, background check, per-

'THREE DAY'S WORTH OF PATIENCE — Patience and discipline are the Woods' formula for foster parenting. The couple has cared for children from ages seven months to 16 years. Though they are expecting a child of their own soon, the Woods plan to continue to be involved in the foster parent program.

'LEARN TO LOVE THE KID'S PARENTS' — Since the Rev. and Mrs. Winn accepted their first foster child in 1976, the couple has cared for approximately 20 children of all ages and backgrounds. The Wwins have two children of their own, Brian, 3, and Rusty, 5, and believe having foster children with them teaches their children many valuable lessons.

sonality interview and financial statement are among the requirements. There is no required income level, however, and the statement is only required in order to be certain the foster parent can meet his or her financial obligations.

The Woods stress that communication between the foster parent and the DHR case worker is vital in order to learn more about the child, his family and their problems. Sometimes a child must be taken from his home and placed in a foster home on short notice and neither the case worker or the foster parent will have any information about the child's background. If communication is open between the foster parents and the case worker, information about the child can be pieced together. There is usually no contact between the child's natural and foster parents.

Although the couple does become attached to the children they care for, they realize, as do the Wwins, that their goal is to reunite the child with his family. Generally, they are not upset over losing the child. Their main concern is that the child will be returned to the home before his parents are ready.

According to Mrs. Sherwood, most of the kids picked up in a seven county area are from Howard County. The children may be runaways, suffering from emotional or physical problems, or may be victims of neglect or abuse. They come from all backgrounds and range in age from infants through teenagers. They may need care for one night, a month, a year or more.

The shortage of foster homes is a nationwide problem, according to Mrs. Sherwood. The shortage of foster homes in this area means that children who must be taken out of the home must be relocated outside the county, sometimes as far away as Austin. The DHR does everything in its power to find a facility to meet the needs of the child. Relocating the child makes it difficult to arrange for the parents to visit the child and also for the case worker to work with the family.

Mrs. Sherwood describes the requirements and standards of foster homes as "minimal" and stresses the most important things are "Lots of TLC (tender loving care) and patience." A foster parent need not be married and there are no age limits. Homes in which both the husband and wife work are also acceptable as long as the child receives some type of adult supervision. "We want the foster parents to treat the child like their own," said Mrs. Sherwood. If the foster parent's own children go to a day care center, that is where the foster child should be.

Foster parents are "A-number-one on our list," she said. "Foster parents are the program. They can make or break the child." DHR does everything possible to protect the foster parents. The foster parent may refuse to take a child into their home, and the child will be relocated if problems occur that cannot be worked out.

Mrs. Sherwood discourages those who are looking for adoption from becoming foster parents since the goal is to reunite the child with his family. She encourages anyone interested in the foster parent program to contact her at (915) 263-7671, or by the Department of Human Resources at 707 East 3rd.

Bonnie Burt with Red Cross 47 years

Mitchell County disasters recalled

By MICKIE DICKSON
COLORADO CITY — Bonnie Burt has been executive secretary of the Red Cross chapter here for 47 years.

In those years she has witnessed several disasters, including the flood of 1939.

She remembers vividly coming to Colorado City from a picnic in Loraine to find Roy Dozier, Bennett Scott and Bun J. Pritchett floating down the middle of Third Street in a boat.

Bonnie had her friends drop her off at the courthouse where she found mayor J.A. Sadler's pickup with the keys in it and drove to the West side of town near the old depot, where several families lived in a low spot. She found both the highway and railroad bridges washed out so she phoned Elton Skelton, commissioner from Westbrook, to bring food for the people whose houses were under water except for the roof peaks.

THE NEXT DAY, she recalls, someone came with a motorcycle and took her across a skeleton bridge to take care of the people.

"I must have been crazy in those days."

Bonnie called a Mr. Bridge of the Red Cross in Abilene to come and show her how to write a voucher to buy food and clothing since this was the first disaster she'd worked. He sent Rob Merritt, an executive of Works Progress Administration (WPA) to help, and Ruth Dozier and Bob Charters helped.

Red Cross thus took care of several families for three weeks until homes could be built for them.

When the water receded, the roofs of their adobe houses were flat on the ground.

Bonnie Burt came to Mitchell County in 1912 when she was 14. After working for two dentists, she was in charge of commodities, a sewing room and certified all workers for WPA. The late Jim Green was chairman of WPA and Red Cross. She then became a volunteer case worker for Red Cross.

A cyclone hit Colorado City in 1923 when she was working for Dr. Dulaney, DDS. Dr. Charles L. Root came by and asked her to go with him. Dr. T.J. Ratliff and a Dr. Hester from Loraine helped. She worked all day in the operating room at the hospital. Seventeen people were killed in Mitchell County. One family lost five members.

Relief headquarters for injured cyclone victims was set up in the Baptist Church and clothing was collected in the Methodist Church a block away.

Red Cross tents were sent in to house people until homes could be rebuilt.

A room in an abandoned schoolhouse was used as a sewing room. A room in the High School building was used to roll bandages in. "It was easy in WWII," she said, "National sent us all the materials needed for sewing, knitting and making bandages."

A CYCLONE AT LORAINÉ in 1962 was Mrs. Burt's next disaster to work. Jack Walker was then RC chairman. Fifteen families were hit and 23 people killed. Red Cross provided tents, linens, bedding, clothing and food for them.

During the bad snow and ice storm of December 1976, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Wistand and Mr. and Mrs. Junior Sadler had charge of feeding people stranded in Colorado City. The Junior High School provided shelter and a place to eat for several servicemen and civilian families who were stranded. Hot meals were served to them and the Red Cross notified army posts, requesting extensions for leaves and their families.

liaison agency between United States servicemen and civilians. Mrs. Burt keeps a record of all servicemen, arranges leaves for them in family emergencies, clips all news of them from the Colorado City Record for a file and keeps in touch with their families each six months.

Eleven Mitchell County boys were killed in WWII in the service. Mrs. Burt delivered every death message in person, arranged with Kiker-Seale Funeral Home to accept the bodies and attended the funerals. There are 125 boys in service now from Mitchell County. She has a record of each name, address, social security number, parent's name and telephone number.

The Red Cross teaches a first aid class twice a year in Mitchell County, and will start one this month. Kenneth Rogers and Milton Bodzin are the instructors.

Mrs. Burt collects clothing and loans out hospital beds from her office across the street from the drug store. Transients are cared for in addition to service men.

ANOTHER PERSON who has been deeply involved with the Red Cross in Colorado City over the years is Ruth Dozier, who has been with Red Cross since 1917.

She and Bonnie have a combined total of 111 years of service to Red Cross.

Ruth started out as a bride in Baird in 1917 rolling bandages of old sheets in private homes and knitting socks for World War I soldiers. "I love to knit socks," she said. She and her husband soon moved to Colorado City. After the cyclone of 1923 she helped

Mrs. Dozier was chairman of Volunteer services during World War II, and she said that response to calls for volunteers was tremendous. However, response to calls was not good during the Korean and Vietnam wars, she said. Mrs. Burt has one son, Clarence C. (Mike) Burt, who is tax assessor and Mitchell County appraiser, and a granddaughter.

Mrs. Dozier was county librarian for 50 years before retiring in 1978.

MRS. RAUL VELA

Morning ceremony unites Garcia-Vela

Sandra Garcia became the bride of Raul Vela in a ceremony held Aug. 29 in the Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Deacon Arnulfo Diaz officiated the 10 a.m. rite.

The couple stood before an archway covered with greenery and white gypsophelia and accented with blue carnations. Two baskets of white dahlias carnations, blue gladioli and carnations enhanced the setting and two seven-branch candelabra completed the scene.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin C. Garcia, 511 N.E. 11th and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Vela, 708 N. Scurry.

Music was performed at the organ by Eva Mendoza, cousin of the bridegroom. Lucy Vela, cousin of the bridegroom, and Patsy Gonzalez were vocalists.

The bride chose to wear a formal-length gown of silk organza fashioned with an Empire bodice, Chantilly lace yoke and Victorian neckline adorned with seed pearls. Fitted lace sleeves ended in points at the wrists. A chapel-length train was attached, and the fingertip-length veil of bridal illusion edged in lace fell from a headpiece of seed pearls and Chantilly lace.

The bride carried a cascade of white carnations and blue rose buds laced with baby's breath.

Elizabeth Escanuelas was maid of honor and Rosa Ramirez, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Lupe Vela, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Cathy Porras; Katie Rodriguez, cousin of the bridegroom; Debbie Puga, Nora Yanez, and Christy Garcia, cousin of the bride. Other bridesmaids were Leticia Escanuelas, Helinda Claveran, Debbie Torres, Irma Franco, Martha Ramirez, Viola Barraza and Monica Bustamante.

Arthur Palomino was best man. Groomsman were Cosme Ramirez, uncle of the bride; Louie Vela, brother of the bridegroom; Ben Garcia, brother of the bride; Marty Harris, Paul Gutierrez, Benny Rodriguez, Henry Viera, Chris Limon, Ismael Palomino, Manuel DeLeon, Billy and Johnny Yanez and Victor Garcia, all cousins of the bride and Sammy Ortiz, cousin of the bridegroom.

Flower girls were Stephanie Ramirez and Tammi Garcia, cousin of the bride. Cushman maids were Margie Garcia, sister of the bride; Frisilla Ramirez, Cindy Garcia and Rosie Yanez, all cousins of the bride.

John Paul Ramirez, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. Train bearers were Charlie Garcia, brother of the bride, and Tessa Olague.

A reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Vela followed the ceremony in Sacred Heart youth center. The bride's table, covered with a blue lace cloth, was centered with an arrangement of blue carnations, white roses and baby's breath flanked by candelabra. A white, lace covered table held the three-tiered wedding cake and four bottom cakes. The cakes were decorated with rosebuds and blue roses. And topped with bride and groom figurines.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School and attended Howard College. She is employed by Leonard's Pharmacy.

The bridegroom attended BSHS and attended Howard College. He is employed at Morris Robertson Body Shop.

The couple is making their home in Big Spring.

Tarzan Baptist is site of Saturday afternoon wedding

The Tarzan Baptist Church was the setting for the Friday afternoon wedding of Tamara Fay Nelson and Timothy Brian Tate. The Rev. Dan Royall, pastor, performed the 5 p.m. rite before an archway of greenery and baby's breath. Candelabra and peach flowers flanked the archway and a Unity candle completed the setting.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. T.E. Nelson, Tarzan, and Mr. and Mrs. Newell W. Tate, Tarzan.

Music was performed by Mrs. Lavoy Leach, pianist, and Gary Harrell, vocalist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose to wear a formal-length gown of sheer organza over taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a waist band of embroidered lace and a yoke of lace. Lace ribbon centered the length of the Bishop sleeves which ended in cuffs of lace. The gown fell to a chapel-length train and a headpiece of lace held the chapel-length veil of illusion and wide lace.

The bride carried a bouquet of peach colored silk roses and baby's breath.

Debbie Parum, Seminole, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Ginger Tunnell, Tarzan, Jennifer Jones, Stanton, and Kristi Boyd, Lubbock, cousin of the bride. Dawn Woodward, Tarzan, was flower girl.

Terry Tate, Tarzan, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Groomsman were Kelly Tate, Rochester, N.Y.; Mark Tate, Abilene, brothers of the bridegroom; and Ronald Chee, Knott, Jeremy Pinner, Monahan, cousin of the bridegroom, was ring bearer.

Seating the guests were Eddy and Tim Nelson, Tarzan, brothers of the bride; Kim Roberts, Brownfield, and Tina Moore, Breckenridge, cousins of the bride, lighted candles for the ceremony.

Following the ceremony, the couple was feted with a reception in the Fellowship Room of the church. The bride's table, covered with a peach cloth and lace overlay, was centered with bouquets of the bride and her attendants on a crystal compote. Crystal candle holders flanked the center piece, and a three-tiered cake, was featured at the table. The cake was decorated by a white wedding bell and a miniature bride and groom, which was used in the bride's parents' wedding.

The bridegroom's table was covered with a rust colored cloth and white crocheted overlay. A silver candle, decorated by a cascade of brown and rust flowers, centered the table. Coffee and red velvet cake were served.

Serving at the reception were Mrs. Joy Woodward, Mrs. Lee Anna Wilkins, Tracy Chandler, Judith Yates and Debbie Romine.

Parents of the groom hosted the rehearsal dinner Thursday evening in their home. Red and white gingham cloths covered the tables at the backyard barbeque.

The bride is a graduate of Grady High School. The bridegroom is also a Grady graduate and is currently engaged in farming and ranching near Tarzan.

Following a wedding trip to the Grand Teton Mountains in Wyoming, the couple will be at home in the Tarzan community.

Future program topics announced by Auxiliary

"Make It Happen" will be this year's theme for the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary, learned members attending the group's first meeting Wednesday.

Mrs. Bernard Zilberg, new auxiliary president, hosted the meeting in her home. A special cake with the message, "Wishing the Permian Basin Medical Auxiliary a Very Successful Year," was served.

Plans for the luncheon Sept. 22 honoring Texas Medical Association Auxiliary president Mrs. Virginia Brown of Fredericksburg were finalized.

Other upcoming programs announced for the year are: "Child Abuse" by Texas Tech professor of pediatrics E. Ledbetter; a charity fashion show; "Surgery Made Her Beautiful" by a plastic surgeon; a Texas War on Drugs symposium; a "Shape Up for Life" luncheon; a "Doctors' Day" cocktail party; a book review by Mrs. Clyde Angel; and the traditional installation luncheon.

New auxiliary officers in addition to Mrs. Zilberg are Mrs. John Rhodes, president-elect; Mrs. Dudy Haddad, treasurer; Mrs. Bruce Cox, secretary; and Mrs. Jim Mathews, ex-officio president.

Mrs. Zilberg urges auxiliary members to send dues to Mrs. Rudy Haddad and turn in reservations for the Sept. 22 luncheon as soon as possible.

How you sit affects chance of success

There are two common mistakes women make when sitting down which interfere with their projecting a successful image in the business world, according to image consultant John T. Molloy in a recent Family Circle article "Project Success: Proven Ways to Get What You Want."

The first mistake is sitting too close to the edge of a chair; and two, sitting with one's legs bent to one side. Molloy suggests in the article that the most effective sitting position for a woman who wants to be regarded professionally is one with her legs crossed.

Oasis Garden Club members display dried and pine cone arrangements

The Oasis Garden Club met Wednesday in the Parish Hall of St. Paul Lutheran Church for a workshop and luncheon. Hostesses were Lela Hansen and Bea Bonner.

Mrs. Hansen, president, opened the meeting with the club prayer. Field and dried pine cone wreaths were coordinated with palm fan and pine cone wreaths that provided the club with a variety of "What you can do if you want to" projects.

The study in pine cones was done by Allene Lawrence and Ms. Hansen. Palm fan and fall was presented by Nan Walker.

Salad recipes were shared and the yearbook program was discussed by Jewel Tubb, program chairman. Study of cotton, the garden program for exceptional children at Moss Elementary, was planned by Myrtle Walker, Thetus Dunagan, and Ms. Tubb.

Mary Atkins presented a short review on "A Roving Dictionary of North American Wild Flowers," by Mary Durant, titled "Who Named the Daisy? Who Named the Rose?" her poem depicting the unusual way Bougainvillas were introduced to Americans.

Lois Smith's correspondence expressed her ap preciation for the reception and "honor day" provided by the club and her friends.

Planning your retirement budget is now a matter of "must" rather than "maybe when there's time." No longer can individuals wait until age 60 to start retirement planning.

How much should you plan to have as retirement income, and how long can you expect to live once the retirement years arrive? No one knows for sure, of course, but there are some guidelines.

Plan for a long period of retirement. Men should plan for at least 14 years of retirement, and women should figure on at least 18 years — if they will retire at age 65.

Now, consider inflation — it may rise five percent each year until you retire, or it might rise 10 percent or more. Then your living standard will be a factor. Do you plan to retire at your current standard of living, or do you expect to have a bit lower standard during retirement years?

A middle-income couple will retire in 1990 would need about $25,000 per year if the inflation rate is 10 percent a year from now until then.

For a middle-income couple who will retire in the year 2010 — with a 10 percent inflation rate until then, the retirement plan should call for a retirement income of $150,000 per year.

Now let's look at your own case.

Step 1. Decide on the living standard you want for retirement years. Do you expect to travel, take up neglected hobbies, go back to school or what?

Determine the living arrangement you want — your present home, a condominium, apartment, mobile home or other. Try to predict your transportation and clothing needs, your health-care plan (Medicare or additional plans) and any other expenses you may have during retirement.

Step 2. Write down a retirement budget based on today's prices — just as you would your present household budget. Figure what you need for one retirement year in total dollars.

Step 3. Once you get your total, you're ready to do a little arithmetic. Here's a formula you might want to use: $A \times (1+B)^n$ equal X.

The formula looks complicated, but it's really easy.

For the letter "A," use the total dollars you came up with when you figured your retirement budget based on your present household budget in Step 2.

For the letter "B," use .10 — that stands for 10 percent inflation rate between now and when you retire. (Of course, if the inflation rate levels off at five percent, you would want to re-figure this using .05 for "B.")

The letter "n" stands for the number of years between now and when you retire.

Then just do the arithmetic. The answer you get will be "X" — and it's the annual amount of income you will need for your first year of retirement.

Here's an example of what your figures might look like:

Let's say your one-year of retirement budget totals $22,652 (A). Remember, that's your retirement budget based on today's prices. Then, let's say the rate of inflation is .10 (B), and say it will be 15 years (n) until you retire. So, your formula would look like this: $$22,652 \times (1+.15)^{15}$. Your answer: $94,623.03.

In other words, when you retire, your retirement income for your first year of retirement should be $94,623.03. You will need to account for inflation for each year thereafter.

Another method for estimating your retirement-money needs is simply to plan for 65-75 percent of your pre-retirement annual income each year of your retirement years, compounded for inflation if you plan to maintain your present standard of living.

Once you know how much retirement income you'll need, you can start figuring out how to make this happen.

Study your pension plan at work. Federal law entitles you to a full explanation, in plain English, of the benefits your pension plan provides and when you are entitled to those benefits.

Visit your Social Security Office for an estimate of the benefits you can expect from this plan. Add expected earnings from other plans, such as savings and investments.

Compare your figures. Will actual programs you have now live up to your expected needs?

If you think they won't, you may need to reassess your retirement hopes and dreams, or you may want to make additional plans to increase your retirement income.

Another factor you may want to adjust is the date of retirement — perhaps you will want to retire later in life than you originally planned.

MRS. JOE WESLEY BEHRENS

Newlywed couple to live in Voca

The St. Lawrence Catholic Church was the setting for the Saturday afternoon wedding of Jacquelyn Ann Frerich and Joe Wesley Behrens. The Rev. Bill deHaas, cousin of the bride, performed the 4 p.m. rite before an altar adorned with English ivy, roses and candles.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Frerich, Garden City, and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Behrens, Voca.

Vocal selections were performed by Jeanagayle Behrens, Nancy Hillger and a choir led by Mrs. Jody Schwartz. Accompanying were Diane Eggenmeyer, organist, and Mike Hillger, guitarist.

The bride chose to wear a formal-length gown of ivory jersey chiffon. The Empire bodice was overlaid with embroidered Venice lace and featured a portrait neckline. The sleeves of embroidered lace were long and tapered, and two tiers of wide, matching lace edged the hemline of the skirt and chapel-length train.

A wide picture hat of horse hair braid with open crown was covered in layers of chiffon and lace. The hat held the chapel-length veil of illusion.

The bride carried a bouquet of roses to complete her ensemble.

Lani Kay Frerich, Garden City, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Andrea and Stephanie Frerich, Garden City, sisters of the bride; Mrs. Greg Frerich, Garden City, sister-in-law of the bride; Mrs. Steve Bird, Big Lake, cousin of the bride; Jane Drennan, Ackerly; and Judy Childers, Lubbock.

Larry Stuteville, Sweetwater, was best man. Groomsmen were Johnny Peugh, Knott; Norman Kohls, Garden City; Greg Frerich, Garden City, brother of the bride; David Graf, Vernon; Rusty Lampton, Marion; and Steve Jackson, Versailles, Ky.

Seating the guests were David Frerich, Scott Hillger, both of Garden City, Kenneth Adams and Kim King, both of Brady. Tandy Peugh, Knott, Lee Ann Maxie and Kallie Kohls, both of Garden City, were flower girls.

Following the ceremony, the couple was feted with a reception in St. Lawrence Community Center. A dinner and dance followed the reception.

The bride is a graduate of Garden City High School and Texas Tech University Lubbock. She received her Elementary Certification from Angelo State University, San Angelo, and is a teacher at South Ward Elementary, Brady.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Brownwood High School and Texas A&M University, College Station. He is presently engaged in farming and ranching.

The couple will make their home in Voca.

Dear Abby

Husband Has No Interest In Wife's Desired 'Bond'

DEAR ABBY: I am a 28-year-old professional woman who recently married a 39-year-old professional man with four children from a previous marriage. Although Rob claims not to care for his ex-wife, they still have frequent contact, allegedly over the children. When she asks him for money "for the children," he gives it to her. When I ask for something, he'll "think about it."

I've worked hard for four years and want to stay home and raise a family. Rob says no to both. He says he has enough children, but I believe that if he really loved me, he would want us to have a child.

My question: Is there a way to convince Rob that since he loves his four children so much, he would also love and enjoy any children we might have together? I also believe that a child would "bond" us and bring us closer together.

HATES WORK

DEAR HATES WORK: If I knew of a way to "convince" Rob to let you quit work and have a child, I wouldn't recommend it, because Rob has already said he has enough children. Furthermore, if you were able to convince him to have a child in an effort to "bond" you together, it would be a mistake.

Be honest. You are hoping to compete with Rob's ex-wife by giving him a second family, which he doesn't really want. You can't win. The "ex" is holding four aces.

DEAR ABBY: Please, please put something in your column about the futility of sneaking around to date married men! My beautiful 24-year-old daughter is having an affair with a married man, and nothing I say can stop her. He's twice her age and gives no hope of leaving his wife. He works in our small town and goes home to his wife on his days off, but my daughter sees him when she can.

I am afraid the whole town (including his wife) will find out about it, and I don't want to see my daughter dragged through a divorce court, but she won't listen to me. Maybe she will listen to you.

NO TOWN, PLEASE

DEAR NO TOWN: Love is not only blind, it's deaf as well. The best case against going with a married man is not the futility of it — it's finally getting him. Then what do you have? A husband who cheats on his wife. Some bargain!

DEAR ABBY: I hope you think the enclosure is worth passing on to your readers. I found it in the Wall Street Journal. It's a message by United Technologies Corp., Hartford, Conn.

FAITHFUL READER

DEAR READER: It is, and I thank you.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TODAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1981
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to carefully consider what your goals are and to work out a sensible plan to gain them. The day grows better as it advances so try to avoid any drastic actions early.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Morning is not a good time to ask for favors from friends, so wait until later in the day. Attend the social tonight.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Be sure not to argue with an outsider who could give you trouble today. A good time to attend a worthwhile group meeting.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Seek advice from an expert on how to improve yourself so that you can get ahead faster. A good time to plan a trip.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Don't give up present commitments and take a chance on something that could prove worthless. Make future plans.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Know what it is that associates expect from you do your best to please them. Avoid the limelight today.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): The afternoon is the best time to do a favor for one who has been good to you in the past. Show more devotion to loved one.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Attending the services of your choice and meditating can make this a most happy day for you. Relax at home tonight.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Please family members is your first responsibility today, although outsiders may want to occupy some of your time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Be sure to attend services that will be helpful to you. Later engage in favorite hobby with congenials. Strive for happiness.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): You have much personal work to do now, so clear up small tasks first for best results. Later tackle the most important.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Take time to improve your appearance after you can easily gain a personal goal with the help of a good friend.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Don't take any risks today with your reputation. Make plans to have increased income in the days ahead.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: he or she will have a great need to be gregarious and upon maturity your property will want to deal with others successfully since the life's work here is connected with the humanities. Love for religion is in this chart.

The Stars Impel: they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to you!

FORECAST FOR MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1981
GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to let changes work themselves out rather than forcing a new set of circumstances. Adopt the right philosophy of life under which to operate in the days ahead.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): You are able now to obtain the information that will make it possible for you to put a new project in motion. Be logical.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Keeping promises you've made and cutting down on expenses is wise at this time. Use modern ways of handling tasks.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Long talks with associates bring fine results now. Be sure you have the right facts and figures. Be wise.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Get busy with an important task instead of wasting time. Make sure you handle any legal matters wisely.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): Attend to important duties early in the day before engaging in social activities. Gain the support of influential friends.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): Talk over with an associate mutual plans for the future and be sure to keep your part of the agreement.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Exercise extreme caution at all times today. Strive for more harmony at home. Sidelstep one who is very demanding.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Be careful you don't invest unwisely in your desire to add quickly to your income. A financial expert can be helpful.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Handling business affairs wisely gets you out of the doldrums early in the day. Take time to improve your health.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Discuss the future wisely with a higher up. Show more thought for one you love. Strive for increased happiness.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Handling personal affairs early in the day permits you to spend more time with friends later. Show that you have wisdom.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Planning how to please those you control your affairs is wise. Be sure to attend a civic affair in the evening.

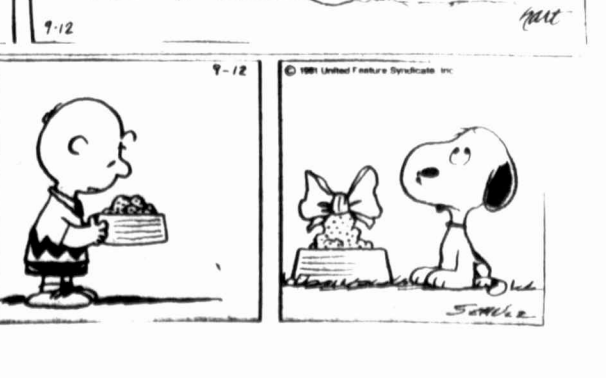

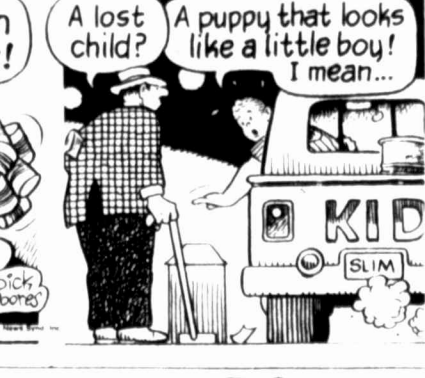

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY: he or she could have much trouble if ethical behavior is not taught early in life. Teach the value of helping others. Give as fine an education as you can afford. Stress psychology and religious training. Sports are a must here.

The Stars Impel: they do not compel. What you make of your life is largely up to you!

MR. AND MRS. GUY L. PRATER

Katherina A. Morris and Guy L. Prater exchanged wedding vows Sept. 6 at the Brandin' Iron Inn. Justice of the peace, Lewis Heflin, officiated at the noon ceremony.

The couple stood before an arched brass candelabrum decorated with lilies of the valley. A spray of carnations, gladiolas and wheat from the bride's family farm and unity candles also decorated the scene.

Taped wedding music was used.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond W. Morris, Deer Trail, Colo. and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Prater, 3215 Eleventh Place.

The bride chose to wear a white polyester knit gown fashioned with applique lace gathered around the Empire waistline and a Queen Anne neckline with Bishop sleeves. The skirt flowed into a chapel-length train. The waltz-length veil of bridal illusion edged in lace fell from a headpiece of lace and pearls. A cascading bridal bouquet of carnations, spider chrysanthemums and wheat completed the bridal ensemble.

Nancy Gettman served as matron of honor. Gary Prater, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Larry Sandridge seated the guests.

Gidget Ann Morris, Deer Trail, Colo., niece of the bride, was flower girl.

A brunch and reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. Prater followed the ceremony. The bride's table, covered with an eggshell colored lace cloth over blue polyester, was centered with an arrangement of yellow and blue carnations and wheat. The table featured a two-tiered, octagonal-shaped cake decorated with blue and yellow flowers and topped with blue satin wedding bells.

The bridegroom's table was covered to match the bride's table. An octagonal-shaped chocolate cake was featured.

The bride is a graduate of Woodlin High School, Woodrow, Colo. and the University of Texas of the Permian Basin. She is employed at Oilfield Industrial Lines.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and is employed by Coastal Oil and Gas Company.

Following a wedding trip to Amarillo, the couple is at home in Big Spring.

More than 200 persons are expected to attend the District 2 area meeting of the Texas Association of Hospital Auxiliaries Tuesday at First United Methodist Church in Big Spring.

Featured speakers of the day will include Mrs. G.E. Manning of McAllen, president of TAHA; Bob Lewis of Big Spring, better known as Tumbleweed Smith of radio fame; Dan Wise, director of social services at Malone-Hogan Hospital; and Linda Adams, managing editor of the Big Spring Herald.

Registration begins at 9 a.m. Business meetings begin at 10 a.m.

MRS. MANNING will preside at the morning sessions and conduct an afternoon leadership seminar; Lewis will be the luncheon speaker; Wise will conduct a workshop on stress; and Mrs. Adams will lead a workshop on media communication.

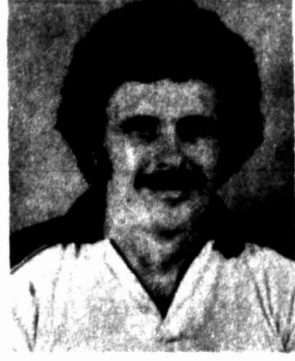

Malone-Hogan Hospital Volunteers are hosting the meeting, with Mrs. Jerrye Hull and Mrs. Margarita Palmer in charge.

OTHER MORNING participants will include Mrs. Harvey Turner of Pasadena, TAHA vice president; and Mrs. Meredith Hook of Dallas, president-elect.

Assisting with the meeting are Mrs. Jo Lipscombe, registration; Mrs. Madeline Schwarz, morning coffee; Mrs. Helen Draper, decorations; Mrs. Esther Trantham and Mrs. Clarinda Harris, goodby bags; and Mrs. Helen Ebling, door prizes.

This is the first time that Malone-Hogan volunteers have hosted the area meeting. District 2 encompasses the El Paso and Permian Basin regions.

Malone-Hogan volunteers were organized in 1975 by Mrs. Kate Irons and there are now 65 active members working under the direction of Emily Ward, director of volunteers.

THE TAHA HAS a membership of 330 auxiliaries, represented by 60,000 volunteers in the state. Last year, 297 of these auxiliaries reported having worked more than 6 million hours in Texas hospitals. More than $4.5 million was collected in gifts to hospitals and scholarships were given students choosing health careers.

Malone-Hogan has three members on the state TAHA board, including Mrs. Jo Lipscombe, Mrs. Hull and Mrs. Palmer.

All hospital auxiliaries and volunteers, hospital administrators, director of volunteer services and others interested health care personnel are invited to attend.

Placebo pills have powerful effect

Most scientists have always looked at miracles with a rather skeptical eye. But even the most cautious scientists are now beginning to admit that medical miracles of a special kind happen even today, although the name for them now has a coolly scientific ring: the placebo effect.

Apparently, reports September's Science Digest, expectations and belief can play a crucial role in making us better — as well as in making us ill. And the means by which they work can be as unimposing as a simple sugar pill.

The placebo effect is so powerful that at times it can even reverse the known effects of extremely strong drugs. Some years ago, for example, Dr. Stewart Wolf, then at New York Hospital, studied women in the early stages of pregnancy who were complaining of nausea.

He sympathetically offered one of them a drug he assured her would immediately soothe the discomfort. Within minutes, her nausea disappeared.

But in fact, the "medicine" given the woman was ipecac, one of the most powerful emetics known.

These days, we here at the ACCENT SHOPPE hear more and more brides bemoaning the fast-rising cost of sterling. The price of sterling flatware is much higher today than in the past because the pieces reflect the cost of the silver used to make them. Sterling is solid silver ... 925 parts pure silver and 75 parts of an alloy (usually copper) to give it added strength and durability. As silver bullion increases in price, so does sterling flatware ... and so does the value of the knives, forks or spoons you receive for your wedding. Today more than ever, sterling silver flatware is as much an investment as it is a pleasure.
