Paul Spears' race through time halted by fire tragedy

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

More than anything else, Paul Spears loved to run. At the corner of two dusty streets on the north side of town, he would play virtual non-stop touch football with his neighborhood pals.

The 13-year-old with the swift legs hoped to go out for the track team after he entered Big Spring High School next year.

It's quiet these days at the intersection of Northwest First and Dundee, where the kids used to play. The only sounds now are the far-off yipping of a dog and the wind as it sweeps over the hill and stirs the top of nearby One Mile Lake.

The kids are gone, because Paul is gone. The legs that might have made him a track star failed Paul a week ago in an early morning fire which destroyed the Spears home.

Mildred Spears, seven of her children, two nephews and a niece escaped the blazing house. Paul did not.

No one is sure what happened to the boy who should have been able to run when it counted most. His older sister Demita says she saw him fall as the family raced out the front door of the house. In the confusion, as they struggled to escape the intense flames, they assumed Paul would get up and run out behind them. But by the time they were outside and realized that Paul was still inside, the fire had engulfed the one-story, wood frame house.

"Maybe he wasn't really woke up. Maybe something hit him," suggested a neighbor several days later. She said she could hear Paul crying out from inside the house.

"He was saying, 'Where do I get out? What do I do?' But the way he was saying it was so calm, like he was sleepy or dazed," she said.

Her husband tried to get inside the house, but the quickly growing flames pushed him back, the neighbor said.

There were "10 to 20 foot flames" leaping out from the house when the first fire truck arrived on the scene minutes after the call came in to the station, said a fireman dispatched with the truck.

"We tried to get in but there was just no way," he said. A rescue was "not possible after a fire gets that intense."

Within half an hour the fire was out, the little wood house that somehow managed to accommodate the dozen members of the Spears clan was a hissing, smoking ruin, and Paul's spunky, energetic race through life had come to a halt.

Neighbors and friends and schoolmates were stunned as the news spread about the town during the day.

"We were all pretty shocked. It just happened so fast," said the neighbor. "You just see these things on TV — and then it happens in real life."

Jesse Ybarra, 19, was one of the kids who used to play tag football in the street outside the Spears home. He doesn't feel like playing much football there anymore — somebody's missing and it just wouldn't be right to be playing on as if nothing had happened.

But that's the way Paul was, friends say — always playing, always working up a sweat, always leaping some hurdle in his mind, always heading for some goal line.

"After school they would all go out in the street and play football. That's all they liked — football," a neighbor who used to watch the kids play, said.

"He was all right as a football player," said Ybarra, "but he wanted to go into track. He could run fast."

"He could run real fast," remembers E.C. Roberson, the head coach at Goliad Middle School, where Paul attended sixth and seventh grades.

"Playin' and wrestlin' — that's how I'll remember him," said his mother Thursday morning, the day after Paul was buried at Mount Olive cemetery on Snyder Highway.

He was a lively kid — but he knew his manners.

"Some kids'll come up to your desk and start telling you everything they think they know, but not him," recalled Goliad Middle School Principal Jimmy Holmes.

"He was sweet, easy to get along with, very friendly. No trouble," Claudia Ibarra, his English and reading teacher at Runnels Junior High, said. She had known Paul only a couple of weeks since school started this year, but already he'd made an impression.

"He was the kind you remembered," said Jonel Smallwood, his math teacher from Goliad, said.

Coach Roberson remembers Paul as being "very, very quiet and shy. He was so quiet, you didn't know he was there half the time."

It could have been that he was shy around coaches because he had dreams of becoming an athlete — a dream too big for a small, wide-eyed adolescent to reveal.

Whatever his dreams, they have been transformed by the bitter alchemy of tragedy into the memories others now hold of Paul.

About $2,000 worth of donated cash, food, clothing and home furnishings have been turned in to the city fire department to aid the Spears family, according to a fire department spokesman. The fund began with about $500 collected by the firemen in charity softball games held last summer, said the spokesman, while the remainder of the money poured in during the past week.

"The people were just fantastic. We even had people from out of town — from Ackerly, Lamesa — make contributions," the spokesman said.

"I didn't know people could be so nice," said Mildred

AFTER TRAGEDY — Mildred Spears, temporarily housed in the home of her daughter and son-in-law, is surrounded by part of her family as she recalls the tragedy that claimed her son, Paul.

Spears as her children huddled around her in the home of her daughter Connie and her husband Willie Rabb, who live on East Eighth. In addition to the donations collected by the fire department, gifts have been coming in straight to the Spears family.

"I really don't know who all sent things," she said, "but I would like to thank everybody that helped."

Additional donations are being collected at Goliad Middle School and Runnels Junior High. There can't be any doubt that Big Spring feels sorrow over the tragedy, that a special kid is missed.

Says Coach Roberson: "Paul was great to be around. The picture you had in the paper — that was just the way he looked: big smile."

Trustees discuss bilingual testing in local schools

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer

A bilingual program passed by the Texas Legislature to be implemented in state schools at this time took up a great deal of discussion time at Thursday's meeting of the Big Spring Independent School District's Board of Trustees.

Harold Bentley, assistant superintendent for personnel and instruction, explained the bilingual testing, which is being conducted in Big Spring schools this week. He explained that first, home language surveys were given to students in the district. For each student who indicated in the survey that some language other than English is spoken in the home, a language efficiency test, in the second language and English, was administered.

If the scores of the language efficiency tests indicate a need for further data, the educators then revert to scores on student achievement tests, said Bentley. Language arts and reading scores are studied, and if the language arts and reading scores fall below the 23 percentile, these students are put in the bi-lingual program.

If the student's achievement scores fall in the 40 to 23 percentile, Bentley said a committee will determine the need for a bilingual program for that particular student.

If the student has scored above the 40 percentile range on the achievement test scores, it will not be necessary to attend a bilingual program, said Bentley.

Bentley added that if the committee determines that a student should be placed in a bilingual program, the district must then receive the parent's permission before entering a child in the program.

Bentley said the district estimates 140 students will need bilingual classes this year, in grades kindergarten through twelve.

Lynn Hise, superintendent of schools, told board members that the district has had a bilingual program for students in kindergarten through the third grade since 1974, and many students had already passed through the program.

"We want to comply with the law in a way that will be most beneficial to the students," said Bentley.

The district must abide by the law, added Bentley, or the district could lose its accreditation.

In other business, the board approved the employment of several educators. Those approved included Brenda G. Carr, Washington Elementary; Demencio C. Luna, Goliad Middle School; James McFarland, Runnels Junior High; Ella Morrison, Marcy Elementary; and Laura Nixon, Kentwood Elementary.

Also Nancy Lee Rickey, Goliad; Cynthia Sue Shelby, College Heights; Lana Williams, Goliad Middle School; and Theresa Wiseman, speech therapist.

Also, Clarinda Wright, Goliad Middle School and Rebecca Wright, Marcy Elementary.

A change of assignment for Morris Wade Burroughs, from classroom teacher to instructional officer I, was approved.

Resignations were accepted from Joe McWhirter, Janice K. Richardson, Carolyn J. Stroup, and Paul Landell.

The board also approved the selection of Gary and Company as architects for projects within the district.

Special session restores Shaw's faith in Texas political system

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Larry Don Shaw "fresh" from his freshman year as a representative in the Texas House spoke Thursday to the Governmental Affairs Committee of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

Rep. Shaw reported on activities during the special session of the Texas Legislature. He said the session helped to restore his faith in the Texas political system.

Shaw said the representatives in the session were not working with the dark cloud of redistricting hanging over their heads and, therefore, were more honest and involved in the decisions made.

The state redistricting plan drawn up in the regular session by a committee headed by Speaker Bill Clayton was declared unconstitutional by the Texas Supreme Court on Aug. 31 because some of the new districts cut across county lines.

Shaw said the ruling helped free some of the representatives from Clayton's "team influence." He said they were no longer threatened by Clayton wielding power over geographical changes in districts.

Shaw said redistricting was discussed in the special session and received heated debate from both Democrats and Republicans. He said the current Redistricting Board of Bill Clayton, Bill Hobby, Mark White, Bob Bullock, and Bob Armstrong have until Oct. 29 to come up with a new plan.

Shaw said he expects the new plan to conform to laws established by the Texas Supreme Court.

Under the first plan submitted Shaw would have been paired with incumbent Bill Healy of Paducah who has 28 years of service in the House. Shaw and Healy would have probably opposed one another in an election to see which represented the new district.

Shaw thinks he could win, but he said the race would be close because of Healy's length of service and access to money for a strong campaign. Shaw said he was glad it was one political race he wouldn't have to enter.

Shaw said in other business covered by the special session gasoline was exempted from gasoline tax through 1986. Shaw said this will make gasoline more competitive price-wise with other commodities, and since it will be profitable to grow crops other than cotton the price of cotton should rise and remain stable.

Shaw also said new refineries for gasoline will create new jobs and tax revenues for the state highway fund.

Shaw said he co-sponsored a piece of legislation called the Medical Practice Act which provides consumers with generic subscriptions to help lower the cost of medicine. He said the act helped to establish more fairness for the person who outlays a sizeable amount of money for subscription medicine.

Shaw said the House considered repealing the ad valorem tax — a tax which provides for a percentage of tax money to be used in the construction of building for higher education. Shaw said action was held up on the tax until Gov. Bill Clements provides the House with more information on the future plans for the ad valorem tax.

Shaw said the tax was originally established to provide a fund that state colleges and universities could use for construction purposes. Shaw said that he and other representatives feel the tax has outlived its usefulness and it is time to seek some other form of funding of state institutions.

Shaw said the Property Tax Bill was passed in the session. Shaw said the highpoints of the bill are: (1) No individual property owners next appraisal can increase more than one and a half times the percentage of increase in the appraisal value of property districtwide; (2) farm im-

Reagan told Social Security cuts won't sail

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leaders are telling the administration that President Reagan's proposal to delay cost-of-living increases in Social Security and other pension and welfare programs "would not sail in the House."

Deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes confirmed Thursday that Reagan will propose cost-of-living delays of at least three months in nine pension and welfare programs, including Social Security, veterans' retirement, unemployment compensation, food stamps and school lunches.

Other officials reported that this new round of $13 billion to $16 billion in budget cuts for fiscal year 1982, which begins Oct. 1, also includes elimination of revenue sharing for state and local governments, cuts of 10 percent in non-defense programs, the abolishment of the departments of Energy and Education and the phasing out of 75,000 federal jobs.

Congressional sources said they expect Reagan to unveil his spending reduction plan in a nationally broadcast address from the White House next week, possibly as early as Tuesday night.

Although administration officials still seem to be refining exact details of the plan, its outlines appear set.

Under a strategy outlined by sources who asked not to be identified, the administration is hoping that the Republican-controlled Senate will attach the changes in the benefit programs to a bill to raise the government's borrowing authority to $1.079 trillion. The measure then would be sent to the House.

Without quick action on the legislation, the government's authority to borrow would, in effect, be lost on Oct. 1.

In addition, sources said the administration would attempt to force many of the other reductions on the regular appropriations bills now moving through the House and Senate.

Senate Republican leaders had urged Reagan earlier in the week to consider slashing Social Security, Medicaid and other benefit programs.

But when budget director David A. Stockman met privately Thursday with House GOP leaders, they told him "politely but firmly" that they do not favor attaching the entitlements to the debt ceiling bill, according to a House source.

The source, who asked not to be quoted by name, said the leaders told Stockman that the Social Security proposal "would not sail in the House."

Overall, the source said, the "program the White House has advanced is not the program to make a stand on."

While Reagan can count on the 53-47 Republican majority in the Senate to be sympathetic to his proposals, the situation is different in the House, where Democrats hold a 52-vote margin.

Reagan was able to keep House Republicans in line and attract enough Democrats for victories in earlier budget and tax-cutting battles.

But House Republican leaders consider the president's latest proposals, as one GOP aide said, "politically unworkable."

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr., D-Mass., declared that Democrats "don't intend to let him wreck the (Social Security) system."

The House source said Republican leader Robert H. Michel of Illinois indicated he would "like the opportunity to offer the administration counter proposals."

Reagan decided to seek the additional cuts after projections showed the deficit for fiscal 1982 would be far above the administration's $42.5 billion target.

Michel and Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., are expected to meet Monday to discuss the matter.

Sources said the cost-of-living delays would affect:

- Social Security pension and disability payments, from July 1, 1982, until Oct. 1.
- Railroad retirement pensions, from July 1 until Oct. 1.
- Federal workers' pensions, from March 1 until Oct. 1.
- Supplemental Security Income, which gives cash assistance to the needy, elderly poor, the disabled, the blind and other low-income people, from July 1 to Oct. 1.
- Veterans' pensions, from July 1 to Oct. 1.
- Federal employment compensation for injured federal workers, from March 1 to Oct. 1.
- Food stamps, from April 1 to Oct. 1.
- School-lunch child nutrition programs, from July 1 to Oct. 1.
- Benefits for retired coal miners suffering from black lung disease, which are not due to increase until Oct. 1 anyway.

Ford museum dedicated

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A $7 million museum honoring Gerald Ford's presidency was dedicated before more than 250,000 people today, with President Reagan hailing Ford as the man who "led America because he so thoroughly understood America."

In a speech prepared for delivery at the dedication of the Gerald R. Ford Presidential Museum, Reagan called his fellow Republican "a good president who led us well, a good man who sought to serve others."

"This was and is an unquestioning belief in the soundness of our way of governing and in the resiliency of our people," Reagan said.

"Gerald Ford healed America because he understood the adventure of America; her way of governing, her people, and the source of her strength as a nation," Reagan said.

Ford served 2½ years in the nation's highest office after being thrust into the job in 1974, when the Watergate scandal forced President Nixon to resign.

"Gerald Ford woke us from that nightmare" of Watergate, Reagan said. "And during our bicentennial, he reminded the American people of the collective wisdom of their ways and the remarkable achievements of their past."

"Today, many of us in public life — from this country and others — have come here to speak words of tribute to Gerald Ford," said Reagan, referring to the prominent politicians and international leaders on the dais along the Grand River.

"The millions of Americans who soon hear or read these words will not long remember them but can be sure that in their minds and hearts there will be a flash of recognition and a swell of gratitude... that if put into words would result in a simple statement by his countrymen about Gerald Ford: 'He was a good president who led us well — a good man who sought to serve others.'"

Reagan was od his fan of Ford's old friends and political foes who joined his former hometown neighbors to toast and roast him at the opening of the three-sided chrome, glass and steel building.

At midmorning, Police Chief Francis Pierce estimated at 250,000 the number of people lining the parade route and camped in front of the museum.

Polish plane hijacked

BERLIN (AP) — Nine men and three women brandishing firebombs commandeered a Polish airliner with 49 people aboard on a domestic flight today, forced it to land in West Berlin and surrendered, authorities said. In Poland, the hijackers were reported to have threatened to kill a stewardess.

The Soviet-built LOT Polish Airlines turboprop jet landed at Tempelhof Airport, an American military field in the western sector of this divided city, at 12:33 p.m. (6:30 a.m. EDT), according to U.S. officials.

Base spokeswoman Nora Praeger said no one aboard was harmed. After the hijackers surrendered, a bus ferried those aboard to the terminal where West German authorities began questioning them, officials said.

Gas prices Trinity Memorial tradition both up and down

By The Associated Press

Exxon U.S.A. reduced wholesale gasoline prices by 0.7 cent a gallon in most markets, while Amoco Oil Co. raised prices from one-half cent to one cent a gallon in a number of major markets, the companies said Friday.

Exxon's reductions took effect Friday in its marketing area east of the Rocky Mountains. The company said it also cut wholesale prices by 1.3 cents a gallon in Oregon, California and most parts of Washington and Nevada.

Exxon U.S.A., the marketing arm of Exxon Corp., is the nation's second largest marketer of gasoline. Amoco, a unit of Standard Oil Co. (Indiana), is the third largest.

Amoco said markets affected by its price increase include Baltimore, Philadelphia, northern New Jersey, St. Paul and Minneapolis, Salt Lake City, Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Louis and most of the southeastern United States.

Amoco said the increases were needed to help offset higher operating costs and were "the first increase of any scope that we've had since mid-February."

A new addition has been added to Trinity Memorial Park with the purchase of the Larry D. Sheppard Funeral Home by Steve Childress, president of Trinity Memorial Funeral Home and Cemetery.

The colonial-style building, constructed of granite, is located at 600 F.M. 700, across the street from the Citizen's Federal Credit Union.

The building encompasses 12,000 square feet of floor space and covered area. The parking facilities will accommodate 150 vehicles. Trinity Memorial Funeral Home includes complete funeral undertaking facilities, four staterooms, an oversized foyer room, with a fireplace, and a 300 seat chapel.

Childress said "The facility was purchased to offer the families of our community the convenience and economy of having all funeral and cemetery arrangements at one location."

The purchase of the funeral home will allow families to complete all necessary cemetery and funeral arrangements in one location, said Childress. This "combination" approach has found broad public support throughout Texas and the nation.

Orville Shaplund, founded Trinity Memorial Park, Inc., in 1950. The cemetery has grown from its original 15-acre site to an over-all land area of 66 acres, making it the largest perpetual care cemetery in this area. More than 45 acres are held for future development, which Trinity Memorial estimates should provide burial space to the community for at least the next 175 years.

Shaplund sold Trinity Memorial Park to Childress in 1976, but remains active in the business as a consultant to Childress.

Tommy Whitley, a long time resident of Big Spring, and a licensed funeral director, is the vice president of Trinity Memorial Funeral Home. As a co-owner of the funeral home he will be responsible for coordination of funerals with local churches, cemeteries, and assistance to families.

Ann Lane, the office manager and a long time resident of Big Spring, will manage the secretarial staff and assist families in securing insurance and death benefits.

Childress, directs the staff that helps families to pre-arrange their funeral and cemetery plans before need. According to Childress, Trinity Memorial Funeral Home offers an inflation proof funeral trust plan supervised by the Texas Department of Banking, whereby the money is deposited in trust with a local bank, unlike ordinary burial insurance which normally is inflationary and usually the money is sent to some out of town insurance company.

The trust is a one time, one amount, final price. Childress added that over 80 percent of American families pre-arrange their cemetery property and ever-increasing number of people are taking advantage of before-need funeral plans which allow the cost of funeral services to be frozen at their present level.

Upon request, and without cost or obligation, Trinity Memorial provides an emergency I.D. card and file service. This service helps to notify a person's family or other designated party in the event that the card bearer is involved in accident or emergency. The file service also allows a person to place information on file that would be of help to their family in completing arrangements and legal necessities in the event of their death.

Shaw said the bill is extremely complex and difficult to understand. Shaw said he "could study the bill for 30 or 40 years at the Harvard Law School and still not understand all about the bill."

Shaw urged the people in his district to carefully consider the Water Trust Fund Amendment coming up for a decision by voters in November. The amendment, if passed, will provide for funds to be set up for future water projects, water conservation programs, and flood control.

Shaw said he favors the amendment, but he asked people to consider both sides of the issue. He said Sen. Ray Farabee, a man Shaw admires, is presenting opposition to the Billy Clayton inspired amendment. Shaw stressed the value of listening to both men's viewpoints.

During a question and answer period following Rep. Shaw's presentation he was asked how his first year affected him.

Shaw thinking for a moment said, "After the regular session I was disappointed at the lack of intestinal fortitude some of the representatives had. Some people in high places seemed to abuse their power to make others abide by their wishes. In the special session I felt things were more like a government situation should be... people were involved with causes they believed were right and it was exciting to see real patriots going at each other on the floor."

Shaw said after the special session he was less cynical toward government. He said the Texas system works and although it may not always work the way you want it to, it does work.

Shaw will remain in the district until late October when he will go to California on a fact finding mission about the controversial Agent Orange chemical which may be introduced in Texas as an insecticide and defoliant.

Police Beat 16 dolls stolen from house

Randy Pittman, 1807 Winston, told police that sometime between July and September someone entered his residence and stole 16 Madam Alexander dolls, owned by his wife. Pittman estimated the dolls to be worth $500.

Tammy Sledge, 608 E. 12th, complained to police that sometime Thursday night a person known to her did $500 worth of damage to her 1977 Pontiac while it was parked in the driveway of her residence.

Brad Markham, clerk at the 7-11 Store on 1600 E. 4th, told police that at 2:15 a.m. today someone unknown to him stole a 12-pack of beer worth $5.20 from the store.

John Griffin, 606 E. 15th, told police someone broke into his house Thursday night and stole three silver dollars and an old pocket watch. Police said they have a suspect in relation to the burglary.

Roy Humpherys, 603 George, told police Thursday that someone damaged his 10-speed bicycle in the west parking lot of Big Spring High School parking lot by throwing it on top of a pickup. Humpherys' estimated damage at $56.

David Baker, 603 Circle Dr. told police someone stole a power saw, a drill, an AM-FM 8-track tape player, and three bags of aluminum cans from a storage shed in his backyard. Baker estimated the items at $110.

Tech's honor rolls also included three Ackerly residents: Tracey L. Airhart, Jackie L. McDonald, and Connie A. Shortes. Other area residents included Leola F. Jones of Star Route, Knott; Can X. Vo of Garden City; and Rhessa L. Wolf of Vincent Route, Coahoma.

CRMWD directors approve wage hikes

Salary and wage adjustments of approximately 12 percent on a weighted average for personnel in 1982 were approved by directors of the Colorado River Municipal Water District at their meeting in Big Spring Wednesday.

John L. Taylor, chairman of the Personnel Committee, estimated that this would add about $125,000 to the district's annual payroll. He said his committee felt the raises were necessary because of inflation and to keep rates competitive in the area labor market.

Authorization was granted for construction projects approximating $264,000. These include $195,000 for replacing three bolted 420,000-gallon steel tanks. One of three tanks put up nearly 30 years ago when the system was first constructed collapsed last month at Morgan Creek station northeast of Big Spring, O.H. ivie, general manager, said that two others of similar vintage at the Martin County station would necessitate rationing if either went out during the peak summer pumping season.

An additional $4,000 was authorized for construction of pump station accumulators. The replacement of a frame structure supporting electric apparatus at Martin County station was approved for $10,000. Another $55,000 was voted for equipment, etc. which ultimately will lead to automation of the Martin County pump station, making virtually all the system automatically controlled from the Big Spring station.

Ivie told the board that the proposed budget for 1982 will not be presented until late October or early November in order to obtain a more accurate estimate on power costs next year. Energy charges have increased sharply this year, but now that the summer peak is passed, the district still will finish in the black with required bond coverage, he said.

The water purchase contract of AMOCO, arrived at without operating experience, was adjusted from 420,000 down to 100,000 gallons a day. Another water sales contract is headed for the courts in keeping with previous instructions from the board. R.H. Moore Jr., legal counsel for the district, said a suit will be filed within a week to construe the contracts with the SACROC secondary recovery unit in Scurry County.

Lee, Wilson and Reynolds, Big Spring CPA firm, was engaged to conduct the annual independent audit of the districts 1981 books. At a three-year premium charge of $2,228, a $3,000,000 liability policy protecting directors in the administration of their duties, was approved.

Court dissolves ban on Oswald exhumation

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — The widow of accused presidential assassin Lee Harvey Oswald got support from a state appeals court in efforts to open her slain husband's grave, but she says a shovel — not legal maneuvers — will solve her problem.

The Texas 2nd Court of Appeals dissolved a temporary restraining order Thursday that blocked the opening of the grave and ruled Marina Oswald Porter has the right to exhume the body.

Mrs. Porter's attorney, Jerry Pittman, said his client may seek the necessary additional lower-court approval for an exhumation today.

However, Mrs. Porter said she was sick and tired of the lengthy court battle.

"A shovel would solve my whole problem," she said Thursday. "I don't want all this fancy footwork and these legal procedures. I want the truth to be dug out once and for all. I've been lied to too many times for too many years and I think I am entitled to the truth."

The appeals court decision came in an appeal filed by British author Michael Eddowes, whose attempts to open the grave have been thwarted by Oswald's brother, Robert.

The justices said Thursday that Robert Oswald had "no justifiable interest and no authority to institute suit in the trial court."

"A surviving brother of the deceased does not have the right to control the remains of his deceased brother's body so long as there is a surviving wife, children or parents of the deceased," the court said in its opinion.

Robert Oswald declined to comment Thursday, but his attorney, Craig Fowler, said his client probably would appeal.

"He (Oswald) is willing to take whatever legal measures he has to prevent the exhumation," Fowler said.

The appeals court said Oswald's widow, who earlier withdrew from Eddowes' suit and filed a separate action to fight her brother-in-law's objections, is an "indispensable party" in any suit seeking to open the grave.

District Judge James Wright earlier had issued a temporary restraining order that put a stop to plans by Eddowes and Mrs. Porter to open the grave and determine if the body inside is really Oswald.

Eddowes maintains that the body buried in Rosehill Cemetery is that of a Russian impostor who assassinated President John F. Kennedy on Nov. 22, 1963.

She said she would carry her efforts to open the grave to the U.S. Supreme Court if necessary.

Soviet Union warns Polish leaders to control unrest

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — The Soviet Union called on Poland's Communist leaders to take "determined and radical" action immediately against the Solidarity labor federation.

The Polish government responded with a warning to the labor union that it was jeopardizing Poland's independence. In effect it was saying that Soviet troops might occupy the country if Solidarity's agitation for democratic political reforms continued.

The Soviet Communist Party and government, in a statement made public by the official Polish news agency PAF, accused the independent labor union of a campaign of anti-Sovietism aimed at liquidating communism in Poland and taking it out of the Soviet Bloc.

"We expect the (Polish Communist) leadership and the Polish government to immediately take determined and radical steps to cut short the malicious anti-Soviet propaganda and actions hostile towards the Soviet Union," said the statement, which PAF said delivered to Polish Communist Party chief Stanislaw Kania and Premier Wojciech Jaruzelski.

It was the toughest warning from Moscow since the Soviets in June criticized Kania and Jaruzelski for not putting a stop to "anti-socialist and counter-revolutionary" activity.

PAF did not say when the statement was delivered. But Jaruzelski called an emergency cabinet meeting Thursday and afterward issued the government's warning to Solidarity.

Meanwhile, the union on Thursday had issued a defiant statement of its own rejecting a warning the day before from the Polish Communist Party's Politburo. Solidarity said it would not be stopped from its campaign for economic reforms to save

Poland from "progressive economic ruin."

The Soviet statement said Solidarity's first national congress, which last week called for free parliamentary elections, worker participation in the management of state-owned industries and businesses and free labor movements in other communist countries, "became in effect a permanent tribunal from which slanders and insults sounded" against the Soviet Union.

The Soviets called the federation's support of independent labor movements elsewhere in the Soviet Bloc a "revolting provocation."

The statement said the Polish leaders had been told repeatedly during the past six months to crack down, but the Soviets did not "know of a single case in which the initiators of the anti-Soviet provocations would meet with a harsh reaction on the part of the authorities and would be punished."

Construction industry hits bottom

By The Associated Press

The construction industry, staggering under the effects of high interest rates, hit bottom in the vital category of home building last month, the Commerce Department says.

New construction of single-family houses in August hit its lowest level since the government began keeping track more than two decades ago, the department reported Thursday.

The government, meanwhile, planned to announce today its revisions in the second-quarter gross national product and corporate profits. Preliminary figures showed the GNP, the total of goods and services produced in the economy, falling at an annual rate of 2.4 percent in the quarter, while corporate profits rose 2.5 percent.

In addition to the report about housing construction, there was other sour economic news Thursday.

Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige said the nation's balance of payments could "shift into a substantial deficit during 1982 due to increased imports and slower export growth."

Baldrige's comments followed release of a Commerce Department report showing the nation's "current account" — the broadest measure of financial dealings with the rest of the world — with a $1.1 billion surplus in the second quarter of 1981, down two-thirds from the first quarter.

Despite the bleak construction-industry report, one of the nation's leading bankers said Thursday there is hope for the future "if we hang in there with the president's program."

Tap water

undrinkable

FREDDIESVILLE, Texas (AP) — Health officials warned residents of this tiny Galveston County community — without tap water for nearly two weeks — that water samples taken from a repaired underground well still contains bacteria and is unsafe to drink.

About 250 families have been without pure tap water since Sept. 7 when the well's 16-year-old pumping system failed. The pump was repaired within five days, but health officials said Thursday the water won't be safe to drink until the lines are flushed.

Congratulations in order for scholar Dacia Loudamy

We salute Dacia K. Loudamy, a senior at Big Spring High School, who was named a semifinalist in the 1982 National Merit Scholarship competition. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Loy Loudamy.

TO WIN THIS honor, Dacia scored among the top half of one percent of the state's high school senior class in a battery of scholastic examinations.

Out of more than 1,000,000 students who took the exams, she was in the top 15,000.

Dacia has a few more hurdles to leap to qualify as a finalist.

She has to make the same good scores on another grueling test, be fully endorsed by her principal, submit proof of high academic standing, and write a description of her extracurricular accomplishments.

ONLY AFTER she becomes a finalist can she be considered for one of 5,000 Merit

Scholarships to be awarded in April. Dacia has brought honor to her parents, her school and her community by placing among the top scholars in the nation. We wish her continued success in the competition.

ACCORDING TO the National Merit Scholarship Corporation, which sponsors the contests, many factors can influence the number of Semifinalists in a particular school — for example, the attitude of students' families toward educational achievement, the level of community support for the school, and the standards and objectives of the school itself.

Other influences include the size of the school and the educational level of adults in the community.

Let us work to insure that our community does all it can to nurture and challenge other students like Dacia to grow to their fullest potential.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

Dear Editor: The letter is addressed to the controversy over our prevailing music. To a limited extent I agree with the Rev. Copelin, but he didn't go far enough. The recordings manufacturers that made and profited from the sale of those bonfire tapes and recordings had already got their profit. If they heard of the bonfire they probably laughed all the way to the bank.

I belong to a now small group which began 12 years ago when some 300 members of our area graduated from classes taught by representatives of the Mind Control, Inc. initiated by Jose Silva of Laredo. This is training in self discipline to use and control your own mind for better benefit to yourself and to humanity. This small group meets to study recently published books of scientific discoveries in brain research and in psychology. A 12 year intellectual search has introduced us to some gems of knowledge that apply to this controversy over the type of music in circulation.

The music is basically a simple rhythm of a steady beat with very little variation. It is hypnotic. By it the higher cerebral controls are lulled into inactivity, while the sub-conscious part of the mind listens and remembers. The sub-conscious is incapable of reasoning and logic. It only remembers. It accepts the message in the lyrics which accompany the rhythmic beat of the sound. The message accepted and remembered is the danger.

At a future time, when conscious cerebral control of socially acceptable behavior is relaxed by such conditions as: fatigue, boredom, chemicals that numb higher levels of mental control, then the sub-conscious becomes dominant. The behavior advocated by the remembered lyrics is not challenged by any logic from higher cerebral controls that have been taught social behavior. Now dominant is the message remembered by the sub-conscious. Some people give way to this subconscious control more readily than others.

Highway safety teaching warns motorists against making a fixed stare at the pavement markings that are a repeating pattern of stripe-dash stripe. It lulls one into sub-conscious control. One woman who attended a class in developing the skill in self-hypnosis exclaimed, "This class has showed me that I am easily hypnotized. Now I understand the reason for my accident. This happened to me. I was alone, driving my RV on the highway and watching the centerline dash stripe. When I needed to go to the bath for relief, I moved from behind the wheel and began walking to the back area of the RV, leaving the vehicle to move along the highway without a driver. It quickly was a total wreck, and I spent time in a hospital."

I've no facts about the financial groups which manufacture these recordings. They are into it for profit and the expanding of social conditions which make all their financial investments profitable. Money is the motive, and money is the answer to controlling their activity.

All advertising businesses which buy time on radio and on TV should be held accountable to ascertain that the money they furnish for advertising advocates only socially desirable behavior. Groups interested in this regulatory listening should agree upon what is socially harmful and personally harmful. They must use self discipline here to avoid the temptation to play God in directing the personal lives of others.

Social groups have a right to oppose habits which lead to crime against innocent members of society.

Around the rim Soaps vs. work

Carol Hart

It's funny how some things you used 20 years ago you had to cover up, and now, you can talk frankly about them.

For example, take soap operas, or daytime dramas. I used to be ashamed that I knew the story line of a particular soap. Now, you're a social outcast if you can't at least carry on an intelligent conversation about the woes and worries of at least one soap.

LONG AGO, back in college, I became addicted to soap operas. Between classes or at lunch, there was plenty of time to catch up on the latest daytime dramas. Besides, there wasn't much you could do with those broken little pieces of the day between classes, except study. Soaps looked a lot better after viewing the alternative.

So, instead of studying, I watched soaps. Friends in the dorm also enjoyed tuning in. Now I hear some campuses are offering credit for watching daytime dramas. It's finally become socially acceptable.

BUT JUST WHEN that happened, I got pushed out into the real world, and my soap supply was really cut back. Working during the day outside of the home means less time to watch television from noon to three.

But the other day I made a terrible mistake. On a day off, I tuned into a certain soap I had watched long ago, but hadn't paid any attention to lately. Soap opera fans will know it.

IN JUST ONE HOUR, I found out this show, which all the years up to now had dealt with a large hospital and its staff, had really gone international. First, there are these guys on a tropical island, and underneath the island there is a crazy man about to freeze out the city the hospital is located in.

Of course, the city is in the middle of a blinding blizzard, and none of the people there know why, except the government people who are trying to stop the crazy guy, and some brave townspeople trying to keep a stiff upper lip.

THIS ISN'T the kind of soap opera I remember.

Now, my biggest problem is figuring out a way to sneak away from my job every day from two to three p.m. to watch what happens. With drama like this on TV, who can work?

Smokers called 'very stupid'

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Cigarette smokers will be interested to learn that a leading New York advertising agency considers them to be illogical, irrational and stupid.

That's the description used in a confidential 1975 report by the Ted Bates ad agency to Brown & Williamson Tobacco Corp., the maker of Viceroy cigarettes. The confidential report — seen by my associate Tony Capaccio — notes that many smokers perceive their habit as "dirty" and dangerous, and think only "very stupid people" get hooked by it.

"Thus," the Bates report observes, "the smokers have to face the fact that they are illogical, irrational and stupid. People find it hard to go throughout life with such negative presentation and evaluation of self. The savors are rationalization and the repression that end up and result in a defense mechanism." Needless to say, the cigarette companies' ad men are more than willing to help cigarette smokers bolster their defense mechanisms against attacks of self-loathing. Their enthusiasm in this endeavor cost the tobacco companies a record $1 billion for advertising in 1979, according to official government figures.

In a section defensively titled, "How to Reduce Objections to a Cigarette," the Bates report acknowledges that there are "not any real, absolute, positive qualities and attributes in a cigarette." So to reduce objections, the advertising must give smokers a rational for their illogical, irrational and stupid behavior.

A Brown & Williamson internal document, dated March 3, 1976, entitled "Viceroy Strategy," notes repeatedly that its advertising campaign must provide consumers with a rationalization for smoking and a "means of repressing their health concerns about smoking a full flavor Viceroy."

The company's strategy report concedes that smokers of "full flavor" cigarettes — those which have plenty of flavorful tars — are particularly prone to guilt trips, and thus badly in need of encouraging advertising.

"Full flavor smokers perceive cigarette smoking as dangerous to their health," the strategy report observes. "Given their awareness of the smoking and health situation, they are faced with the fact that they are behaving illogically. They respond to this inconsistency by providing themselves with either a rationalization for smoking or by repressing their perceptions of the possible dangers involved."

THE B&W BATTLE PLAN pursues its Freudian theme in describing how Viceroy's competitors have health with smoker angst: "To date, major full flavor brands have either consciously or unconsciously 'coped' with the smoking and health issues in advertising by appealing to repression."

In Brown & Williamson's view, the whole smoking scene is rampant with dingbats — irrational puffery repressing their reasoning processes and unconscious puff artists desperately trying to cope with the task of selling a product with no positive qualities.

About the only positive approaches proposed by the B&W strategists are "to communicate effectively that Viceroy is a satisfying, flavorful cigarette which young adult smokers enjoy," and what they call the "feels good" campaign.

The latter is a frontal assault on the smoker of breathtaking, Napoleonic simplicity: It "appeals to the smoker by repressing the concerns he may feel about smoking by justification: If it feels good, do it; if it feels good, smoke it."

Footnote: The Bates report and Brown & Williamson documents I have quoted were placed under a protective order by U.S. District Judge Barrington Parker in 1979. These papers — and hundreds more which the cigarette industry requested be withheld from the public — remain under lock and key to this day.

REVISED RATING: My recent appraisal of members of Congress drew outraged howls from those who were put in a less than favorable light. One of those who protested was Sen. John Melcher, D-Mont.

Labels don't always reflect the human side of a political figure. Melcher is hard-working and dedicated to the people's interests. Indeed, that may be why he is considered ineffective by fellow senators and other Capitol Hill observers: Populism isn't popular with many of his patrician colleagues. And Melcher declines to "go along to get along" in the time-honored congressional tradition.

Melcher is probably the most accessible member of the Senate, and he has developed an expertise about the theft of oil from Indian and federal lands.

DIPLOMATIC DIGEST: Few reporters have made the Soviet Union's enemies list as often as I have. Whenever I expose the Kremlin's anti-Semitism, identify their spies in the congressional press galleries or finger a Soviet diplomat caught in a homosexual caper, I can count on growls from the Russian bear.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My problem is that I seem to be a weak person who is easily influenced by others. I know things I do are wrong, but I do them anyway to go along with the crowd. How can I fight this? — H.J.

DEAR H.J.: It is not good for you to be this way, but I am glad you are at least aware of the problem and that you want to do something about it. This is important, because if you do not learn to resist the pressures of those around you it will harm you as a person and possibly get you into a great deal of difficulty.

The Bible says, "He who walks with the wise grows wise, but a companion of fools suffers harm" (Proverbs 13:20). It also warns, "Do not envy wicked men, do not desire their company... for the evil man has no future hope, and the lamp of the wicked will be snuffed out" (Proverbs 24:1, 20).

The first step in fighting these pressures is to commit your life to Jesus Christ. He wants to forgive you for all your sins, and more than that he wants to come into your life and be Lord or Ruler of it. He wants to give you strength that you do not have, so that you can resist the temptations you face every day.

You can invite Christ into your life by a simple prayer of faith, telling him you want to have him as your Savior and Lord and asking him to come into your heart. The Bible promises, "To all who received him, to those who believed in his name, he gave the right to become children of God" (John 1:12).

Then learn what it means to grow in your relationship with Christ and walk with him every day. Read your Bible regularly — it is God's Word to you, Pray also — you can turn to God any time and ask him for strength.

Finally, take practical steps to avoid the pressures you feel. It may be you need to find some new friends — you will, in fact, want to meet other Christians. Avoid situations where you know you will be tempted. And above all, make it your goal to please Christ and don't worry so much about what others may think of you.

Moles are a pre-natal problem

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I need information on something. On the rush hour bus going home, there is a very pretty young woman, hardly out of her 20s, who has a very unsightly mole on the left side of her chin. It is the size of a dime, black, and has black hairs sticking out of it. What I want to know, and please believe me, I have no intention of letting her know of my interest because she is a total stranger to me, is what causes these things? Is there something in the bloodstream that nourishes the body skin to cause such abnormalities? Were they started when she was in her mother's womb? Did her mother eat or drink something that caused her facial skin to go berserk? What kind of treatment is used to rid her of it? Can they be malignant? Is there some soap she could wash it away with through daily use? I have heard that heavy use of coffee causes this. Is it true that coffee contains ether? — Ms. M.R.

Many moles are present from birth. They are isolated collection of cells that form during development in the uterus. They vary in appearance from flat to dome-shaped to hair-bearing. The average person has about 25 potentially visible moles, although most are tiny and go unnoticed. Some do develop later in life.

Nothing abnormal in the bloodstream produces them and they have nothing to do with the mother eat or drank during pregnancy. They are developmental quirks of unknown cause. I have never heard your coffee theory, and I have no reason to believe it. Coffee contains no ether. Now that I've quit smoking cigarettes, please don't deprive me of my morning sustenance.

Moles can become malignant, but that is distinctly uncommon. If there is a growth of the mole, if it has an irregular border, if it bleeds or ulcerates, or if there is a variety of shades of color to it, then the suspicion of cancer is raised. Such a mole should be examined for that possibility.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can a person bring high blood pressure under control by losing weight only? — M.C.

Losing undesired pounds certainly can help, and if one's pressure is only marginally high, it might be all that's needed. If exercise is part of that weight-loss program, then the chances of pressure reduction become greater. You have to watch both the scale and the blood pressure machine figures simultaneously.

NOTE FOR TOPS UNIT IN ILLINOIS: Please forgive me. I wanted to reply to your request with a personal letter. I made the mistake of putting it away carefully in a special place, after three days intensive search I have not been able to find that special place. Would you mind contacting me again?

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions and comments appear in his column whenever possible.

Records protection is program topic

The Genealogical Society met Sept. 10 in the lobby of Howard County Library. Mrs. Mamie Roberts, president, presided. The treasurer's report and the minutes of the previous meeting were given by Margaret Barnett and Stella Arnold.

Plans for the Society to join with the Daughters of the American Revolution in manning a booth at the County Fair were completed. The booth for both organizations is being sponsored by Richard Atkins.

Also discussed was the number of locations of various cemeteries in and around Big Spring. This discussion was to help with genealogical and historical records of Big Spring.

Two new members, Sue Faulkenberry and Joyce Ellis, and one visitor, Oneita Hardy, were present.

Mark Terry, second vice president, donated a copy of "Bibliography of Genealogical Materials Compiled as Partial Fulfillment of Course Requirements for L.B. 512" by Mark Terry, Aug. 12, 1981.

Mrs. Christine Horn, first vice president, presented a program on "Records Protection in an Uncertain World." The film shown by Mrs. Horn, who is a teacher at the Mormon Missionaries, showed a geological storage complex that has been built by the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. Safe storage is now being provided for millions of microfilm copies of priceless vital records beneath hundreds of feet of solid granite.

This film covered facts about the temperatures, water sources, and arrangements of the interior and precautionary measures.

The next meeting will be at 7:15 p.m. Oct. 8 in the Howard County Library. Visitors are welcome.

Pecans available in October from BPW Club

Top grade pecans from the Stahman Pecan Orchard, Las Cruces, N.M. will be available in October through members of the Business and Professional Women's Club. The pecans are shelled, halved, and packaged in 16-ounce, heavy plastic bags. Anyone wishing to place an order may call Lois Eitzen, chairman of pecan sales, at 267-7137.

The club met Sept. 8 at Lee's Chinese Restaurant.

The 7 p.m. meeting was called to order by Mamie Roberts, president.

Nola Jones, recipient of the club's scholarship award, was introduced. She presented a brief resume of her educational background and her plans of becoming a registered nurse.

Mrs. Roberts announced names of members who will attend the fall District Eight conference in Andrews. Those attending will be Alpha Morrison, Shirin Chino, Marie Affleck, Edith Gay and Mrs. Roberts.

Sharon Andrews, registrar at SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, was introduced as a guest.

Lois Eitzen, finance chairman, will be in charge of the Sept. 22 meeting at Lee's Chinese Restaurant. Mrs. Bobbie Chesney, District Eight director, will be honored.

Western Drifters Chapter concludes summer activities

The Western Drifters chapter of the Good Sam Club began drawing their summer activities to a close when 17 rigs attended the last campout at Fir Camp in Clouderoff, N.M. Aug. 8. The LeRoy Findleys had their daughter Linda and son Randy as guests. The Ray Nichols' guests were Shirley and Sondra Bell.

Seven rigs were present at the last chapter campout for the summer at Florey Park, Andrews, Aug. 21-23. The Jim Berkleys and Harold Jones were co-hosts.

Nine rigs were represented for the business and pot luck supper meeting at the Energas Room Aug. 25. It was reported that the October campout will be at Fort Davis State Park, where full hook-ups will be available. Reservations need to be made now if one plans to make the campout earlier, or to attend the regularly scheduled campout time.

Snyder birth is announced

Bob and Darla Doty, Snyder, announce the birth of their first child, a son, Bobby Jay, Sept. 3 in Cogdell Memorial Hospital, Snyder. The infant made his debut at 2:09 p.m. weighing 8 pounds 5 ounces and measuring 20 1/2 inches long.

The new arrival's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Jack Buchanan, Luther, and his paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Mack Doty, Nugent. Bobby Jay's great-grandmother is S.F. Buchanan, Coahoma.

Dear Abby

Fear Closets Woman Afraid of Open Spaces

DEAR ABBY: My sister's son is being married at this very moment in a church less than a mile from here. My whole family is there having a wonderful time with all of the out-of-town relatives and here I sit. I am physically well, have a beautiful outfit I could have worn, and of course I was invited, so why am I not there enjoying myself with the rest of them? I am ashamed to tell you. I didn't go because I am terrified of leaving this house and going out-of-doors! I know it doesn't make any sense, but this terrible fear hits me as soon as I walk out the door.

Please don't tell me to see a psychiatrist. I am not "crazy." This is the only thing that is the matter with my thinking. I can't explain it, and I can't seem to talk myself out of it. Maybe if one of your readers who has had the same problem would write in, it would help me. Sometimes just knowing how someone else has been able to overcome a problem is much more helpful than any head doctor.

Thank you, Abby.
ASHAMED BUT HELPLESS IN OMAHA

DEAR ASHAMED: No need to be ashamed. You have a condition known as "agoraphobia" — a fear of open spaces. It is much more common than you think. Please consult a psychiatrist for this condition. There is a new form of drug treatment for agoraphobia that helps a large percentage of sufferers within a relatively short time. Any competent psychiatrist will know about this treatment. Good luck.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I have been married only three weeks, and we just had our first really serious argument. The two of us were having dinner at a very nice steak house where the tables are quite close together.

Two couples were sitting at the next table, just finishing their steaks, so I leaned over and very politely said, "When you're finished, may we have your steak bones for our dog?" One of the women said in a very snotty tone, "Sorry, but we happen to have a dog of our own!" Then they all laughed. My husband gave me a tongue-lashing all the way home. He said he had never been so embarrassed in his life.

Now, tell me, Dear Abby, what was so terrible about asking for their bones?
LOVES MY DOG

DEAR LOVES: Nothing. But in the future, perhaps you should first ask your steak-eating neighbors if they have a dog; then your husband will have no bones to pick with you.

DEAR ABBY: Now that "back-to-school" clothes are on everyone's shopping list, it might do well to caution mothers, especially grandmothers, that sweaters, mittens, caps and schoolbags with children's first names on them are not just "cute," they are dangerous. It gives strangers an opportunity to address the child by name and claim a family or friendly relationship, thus disarming an otherwise wary youngster.

Department stores should be discouraged from "personalizing" children's clothes.
NO NAMES PLEASE

DEAR NO NAMES: Ten years ago I would have said, "Oh, don't be so paranoid!" Today, I say, "Thanks for pointing out yet another danger in these troubled times."

ABWA Cactus Chapter plans fall enrollment event Sunday

The Cactus Chapter of the American Business Women's Association will hold a fall enrollment event Sunday from 2-4 p.m., according to Laverne Rogers, chapter president.

The theme, "Focus On ABWA" will provide a closeup view of meeting personal and professional goals through ABWA membership. The event promises to be a festive highlight of ABWA new member enrollments.

Enrollment events are held semi-annually to introduce ABWA and the local chapter to business women in this area. Throughout this period, similar events will be held across the country by more than 1,900 other chapters.

The goal of ABWA is to help women in business advance through education, increased competence, and through upgrading of professional skills and business attitudes. The association, founded in Kansas City, Mo. in 1949, now has more than 105,000 members. ABWA chapters throughout the United States and Puerto Rico awarded more than $1,400,000 in scholarships to women students last year. In addition, the ABWA National Scholarship Fund, awarded another $200,000 in scholarships during the same period. Cactus chapter has awarded local scholarships totaling $1,500 and one $600 grant to worthy recipients.

Membership is by invitation only. For further information, interested

Bride-elect is honored at shower

A bridal shower honoring Danita Minchew, bride-elect of Chris Burnett, was held Monday evening in the home of Mrs. Bob Carlile.

Corsages in the bride's chosen color of yellow were presented to the honoree and her mother, Mrs. Jim Minchew. Other special guests were her sisters, Mrs. Shae Howard and Kama Minchew, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Minchew.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Conny Wade and Mrs. Emily Easley. Assisting in displaying gifts were Mrs. Mike Craddock and Mrs. Sherrill Carroll.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Harold Hicks and Mrs. Wayne Burns. The serving table was covered with a lace-edged, yellow linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of fall flowers. Appointments were of silver and crystal.

Hostesses included Mrs. Carla Warrington, Mrs. Fred Phillips and Mrs. Bob Zellars. The hostesses presented the honoree with a hand-painted wooden canister set.

Miss Minchew and Burnett will exchange wedding vows Sept. 26 in St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Save one or two of those empty potato chip tube cans. A tip in a recent Family Circle magazine says they make ideal holders for five-ounce paper cups for picnics. Once the plastic cover is on, the cups stay clean and uncrushed.

Edge of America

A barren beach — some plunging waves — and then for thousands of miles, the sea. Poets might think that way. But millions share the thought... this is the edge of America!

But the edge of our nation has been closing in. Within our restless society we have confronted a new edge of America — a shoreline of freedom, of justice, of mutual respect of men for one another and for their institutions. When you leave that shore behind, there is nothing.

Look rather at the heart of America. Look at the spiritual treasure which inspired patriots to crown religious liberty as the supreme freedom.

Each week our churches pursue their sacred mission. More and more they've been welcoming families like your own — folks who have seen the edge of America — and are seeking the heart!

Presbyterian Church women elect officers

The Women of the Church of the First Presbyterian Church held a joint meeting on Monday. The outgoing officers were hostesses for the meeting and luncheon.

An invocation was given by Mrs. Eugene Peters. Joy Henning moderated the Bible study and previewed the new study book, "Called by Grace to a Life of Love."

Dorothy Kennemur presided over the business meeting. The Rev. William Henning installed the following officers: Mrs. Mildred Beckcom, president; Mrs. Mattie Watson, vice-president; Mrs. Margaret Cooper, secretary; and Mrs. Ruth Stovall, historian.

Plans were made for the District III meeting to be held at the local church on Wednesday. Year end reports from the four committee chairmen and the circle chairman were given.

In an effort to become more involved with the activities of the youth group meetings, several women agreed to invite the young people into their homes for an evening meal. Once a month a different family will host the youth group meeting in their home. Jerry and Katie Grimes are the youth group sponsors.

The next general meeting will be Oct. 5 at 10 a.m. in the Elizabeth McDowell classroom.

Church Relief Society holds monthly work night Wednesday

The Relief Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints met Wednesday for their monthly work night with 20 members attending.

Mrs. Elaine Wallace delivered the Visiting Teaching message. The group then adjourned and reassembled in the dining area, where they participated in a recipe exchange fest. Afterward the groups divided into two classes, the first held by Mrs. Johnnie Lou Avery.

Mrs. Avery spoke on time management. She stressed physical, mental, spiritual, and financial organization. "Long range and short range goals must be set, and one must be able to tell the difference between a goal, a dream and a wish," she said.

The work meeting is held the second Wednesday night of each month.

Coahoma Baptist to celebrate ninetieth anniversary Sunday

On September 20, 1891, 16 people met in the C.J. Robinson home in Coahoma to organize the Central Baptist Church. This Sunday, 90 years later, members and friends of the church, now the First Baptist Church of Coahoma, will meet to commemorate that day.

The service will begin at 10:30 a.m. with special music. The Rev. Wayne Perry, Lubbock, the Rev. H.B. Graves, Graham, and the Rev. Guy White, pastor of East Fourth Baptist Church, all former pastors, will deliver messages. The morning service will be followed by a noon luncheon. More special music plus a church history will follow at 1 p.m.

ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATED — The Coahoma Central Baptist Church celebrates its ninetieth birthday Sunday. Services conducted by former pastors along with lunch, special music and recognition presentations will highlight the day.

Baptists in Lamesa meet

The Lamesa Baptist Association met Thursday at St. John's Baptist Church in Lamesa. The Rev. Scott Pool, pastor of Crestview Baptist Church, spoke in the evening worship service.

Recommendations for the new Associational year were presented by the Nominating and Budget Committees.

Sand Springs PTA installs new officers

The Sand Springs Christian School P.T.A. met Monday night. The Rev. Dan Sanford, pastor of the Sand Springs Baptist Church, opened the meeting with prayer and a devotion.

New officers installed were Mrs. Eddie McCormick, president, Mrs. Deantha Cotton, vice-president, Mrs. Juanita Shaeffer, secretary, and Mrs. Mattlyn Merrick, treasurer.

Mrs. Mattlyn Merrick gave the treasurer's report. The parents plan a fall festival and are continuing their membership drive.

The Rev. Wiley Madewell closed the meeting.

Prairie View revival to begin Sunday

Nightly revival services with speaker Bro. Ronnie Bostick will be held Sunday through Sept. 27 in the Prairie View Baptist Church.

Bro. Bostick, pastor of the church in 1970 through 1972, is now a Southern Baptist missionary to Africa. Appointed by the Foreign Mission Board in 1972, he holds a bachelor of arts degree from Baylor University and finished Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Fort Worth.

Bro. Bostick, wife Sally, and their three children, James, 17, Susan, 14, and Scott, 9, are home on a year's leave and living in Winnewood, Okla.

Music will be led by Dr. Jerry Pitman, interim pastor and associate chaplain at Big Spring State Hospital.

A nursery will be provided.

Arrests top 900 at nuke protest

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP) — Their ranks thinned by more than 900 arrests, anti-nuclear protesters said they had only 300 people left to throw into an attempted blockade of the Diablo Canyon power plant today.

Police stepped up their resistance to the protesters on Thursday, the third day of demonstration, with helmeted officers twisting arms and using nightsticks to clear the non-violent demonstrators from the plant's driveway and main gate. Busloads of construction workers then entered with scarcely a delay.

The demonstration at the main gate of the still-unfinished and idle twin reactor complex consisted of a thin line of blockaders — bolstered by well over a hundred non-blockading demonstrators — who tried to prevent the workers from entering and leaving. On Tuesday, the first day of the protest, hundreds gathered in front of the gate and 700 construction workers had to be evacuated by helicopter.

On the sea side of the plant Thursday, protesters landed swimmers on a beach for the third day in a row, despite Coast Guard warnings to stay away. All 15 were promptly arrested, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Despite the reduced numbers of protesters Lt. Jerry Dooley of the San Luis Obispo County sheriff's department, said early today that police are not scaling down their operations.

"We don't see that we can deplete our ranks. They can still muster quite a crowd," he said. "We don't know what kind of support they can pick up from the outside or how many people can make it for the weekend."

Dooley said he could not predict when the attempt to blockade the plant might end.

Dooley said more than 100 people were arrested Thursday, bringing the total to 929.

UNIDENTIFIED PROTESTOR ESCORTED
Blockade is in third day

The protest leaders say nuclear power is unsafe, particularly at Diablo Canyon, which is near an offshore earthquake fault.

About 200 arrested protesters were arraigned Thursday on misdemeanor charges of trespassing and failure to disperse. Most pleaded not guilty and returned to jail to await trial, virtually all of the rest entered no contest pleas and were fined up to $120. A handful met bail of $630 by posting $63.

The few released on their own recognizance were required to promise that they would not participate again in the blockade.

Reagan may change AWACS terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Senate opponents claim to be one vote from veto strength, President Reagan's forces are hinting that terms of the sale of AWACS radar planes and jet weaponry to Saudi Arabia could yet be changed.

But supporters say the deal as it now stands is not dead and they hope to convert some of the 50 senators — one short of the necessary majority — co-sponsoring a resolution to veto it.

Oregon Republican Bob Packwood, R-Ore., the leading Senate opponent, said Thursday that six more senators unwilling to be identified also would vote against the sale. At the same time, House GOP leader Bob Michel of Illinois told the White House that a veto by the Democratic-controlled House is assured.

A Senate leadership source, meanwhile, said some terms of the $8.5 billion sale may be compromised if congressional opposition is determined to be fatal.

Specifically, the source said, it may be possible to negotiate the use of more Americans in Saudi operations to quell complaints about turning over total control of the Airborne Warning and Control System surveillance planes to the Arab kingdom.

Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. also appeared flexible as he traveled to Capitol Hill to promote the sale.

Asked by reporters if he is telling Congress that the deal cannot be altered and to "take it or leave it," Haig replied: "We never tell them to take it or leave it."

Packwood's listing of co-sponsors for his veto resolution was accompanied by a chorus of criticism from opponents. "This is one of the worst and most dangerous arms sales ever proposed," said Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass. "We are being asked to submit to a kind of blackmail — the price gouging of oil," added Sen. Donald W. Riegle, D-Mich.

Senate Republican leader Howard H. Baker Jr., however, said he talked to all 50 senators on Packwood's list and was confident some could be persuaded to support the sale.

"This thing is not over by a long shot," Baker said. "Their count is not solid."

Congress has until Oct. 30 to veto the sale of five AWACS planes plus missiles and gear to increase the firepower and range of 62 Saudi F-15 jet fighters.

Robinson, grandson to sell Hill mansion

HOUSTON (AP) — The grandson of oil baron Ash Robinson has decided to sell the family mansion where his mother, Joan Robinson Hill, died of a mysterious illness and his father, plastic surgeon John Hill, was shot to death.

The Houston Post reported in today's editions that Robert Hill, 21, said he and Robinson, who now lives in Pensacola, Fla., decided six weeks ago to sell the family home. Hill said the home should be listed on the Houston real estate market by the end of October.

The asking price will be in the $1.75 million range, the Post said.

"I just can't afford to keep it up. I don't have the kind of money to live in the thing for the rest of my life. Owning a big house is a big responsibility, particularly for someone as inexperienced as I am," he said.

Hill said the decision to sell the mansion, which includes a second-story music room believed to be one of the most acoustically advanced in the country, was hastened because his stepmother, Connie Hill, will marry Houston oilman Jim Calaway on Saturday.

"Mother (Connie Hill) could no longer take care of the place," said Hill, a student at Colorado College, in Colorado Springs, Colo. "It's up to me. I have the reins. But I'm in school and it's not easy for me to take care of it either."

Hill said a complex formula to divide profits from the sale has been devised by the two men, their attorneys and the First City National Bank, who has administered a trust fund set up by John Hill.

Robert Hill's portion of the sale will automatically go into the trust fund, which he will not control until he is 33. Joan Hill's will left her share of the mansion to Robinson.

Forty-two fathers jailed

MIAMI (AP) — A Dade County judge cleaning out a huge backlog of child-support cases swept more than 42 men into jail and told hundreds of others they'd be going there soon if they didn't pay up.

"I've heard the same story all week," acting Dade Circuit Judge James Rainwater told one man's attorney, "that putting someone in jail won't work. Well, you see how some of them come up with the money."

They came up with it by the thousands of dollars. One man found $25,000 when told he would be in jail by nightfall; a lawyer was being taken to jail when his partner came up with $5,000, officials said.

But the tactic has prompted a class-action lawsuit on behalf of the 400 men threatened with jail. The suit is being handled by a legal services lawyer, who concedes that state attorneys have found an effective way to get some people to pay up.

"We don't contest that putting people in jail is a great way to collect money," said Elizabeth Baker of Legal Services of Miami. "It's just illegal."

The lawsuit says the more than 42 fathers in two Dade County jails should be freed and asks that judicial orders holding the men in contempt of court for failing to make child- and wife-support payments be lifted. Some of those jailed had been released after paying.

Ms. Baker planned to go to Miami's 3rd District Court today to appeal the judicial orders.

Rainwater attacked a huge backlog of delinquent-payment cases — some went back 6 years — earlier this month, calling as many as 100 men a day in front of the bench.

"Tell me, sir," the judge asked each man, "just what should we do about your children?" Few had anything to say.

But court records show an unprecedented $135,000 in delinquent payments were collected since the hearings started Sept. 8.

Injured Steers host Levelland tonight

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

The Big Spring Steers enter tonight's final non-district tune-up against Levelland both injured and still stinging from an unexpected loss to Sweetwater, and Coach Ralph Harris isn't sure what to expect. "I had a bad feeling last week (going into the game) because practice was poor," said the Steer grid boss. "This week we've had the full cycle in practice. We had some mistakes at the first part of the week, but that was to be expected with the new people in the positions where we have people hurt. But they've started to pick up. "So I really can't say how we'll play," concluded Harris.

Tonight's opponent, the Levelland Lobos, can be taken in two ways. The first is that they have been defeated handsily by Littlefield and Hobbs, N.M. In that respect, they look weak, although Harris is quick to point out that Littlefield is the top ranked team in Class AAA and Hobbs has outstanding potential, good enough to be considered an even match for Odessa High this weekend. The second respect is to look at last year. In 1980, Levelland lost their first two games handsily, and was expected to roll over and play dead against the heavily favored Steers. But in true Homecoming celebration atmosphere, Levelland rose to the occasion and stopped the Steers by a score of 15-8.

"And Levelland is better than last year, and we haven't been playing any good at all this year," Harris pointed out. Levelland has the ability to explode at any point on the field, with quarterback Tom Anderson and tailback Willie Jones, both of whom victimized the Steers last fall, the big guns. "They both have more speed than we'll have on the field, especially with Richard Evans out," Harris explained. But the weapon that could prove most useful for the visitors tonight is senior transfer Eric Franklin, the younger brother of Philadelphia Eagles placekicker Tony Franklin. Franklin's dad, Spec, is a former

AREA FOOTBALL ROUNDUP

Coahoma hosts state toughie

COAHOMA — The Coahoma Bulldogs celebrate their Homecoming here Friday night, but it isn't against a team that will allow the hometown folks to enjoy a lopsided win during the festive occasion.

The Bulldogs host the state's No. 4 rated team in Class AAA, the Tahoka Bulldogs. It is a squad with excellent scoring potential that whipped Coahoma 43-0 in 1980.

The two teams do have common opponents in Stanton. Tahoka scored on a long bomb with two minutes to go to defeat Stanton 14-10 in the season opener, and Coahoma was beaten by Stanton 3-0 on a fourth quarter field goal. After the Stanton win, Tahoka came back to topple Seminole 7-6 last week.

And while the Tahoka offense has not shown the explosiveness of last year, Coahoma Coach Roy Winters still feels his foe in tonight's Homecoming tilt is more than capable.

"They show the possibility of having excellent scoring potential. Their strength appears to be in their skill people, and their line is capable," said Winters.

Coahoma might be without the services of stellar linebacker Bobby Joe Tucker, who has not fully recovered from a wound suffered last week.

Garden City welcomes Loraine

GARDEN CITY — The Garden City Bearkats host a Loraine team that is still looking for their first win, but still can't be regarded as lightly as their record would indicate.

Loraine stands at 0-2, while the Bearkats are 1-1. The Bearkats defeated Merton in their opener before falling to Forsan last week.

Loraine has lost to Miles and Abilene Christian High School.

"They just lost 6-0 to Miles, and Miles is a very tough team," noted Garden City Coach Stu Cooper. "They (Loraine) are exceptionally quick and have good overall size, and that concerns us, because we're not quick."

The Bearkats will be playing without the services of wingback Erby Lopez, who will miss four games with a dislocated shoulder. Victor Mendrano will move to that position.

Lamesa visits Monahans

MONAHANS — The Lamesa Golden Toradores couldn't manage a win in their two non-district contests, and it won't get any easier for them in their 2-AAAA opener here tonight against Monahans.

The Golden Tors lost to Lubbock 7-0, and then let the big plays of Brownfield overcome them in a 27-12 setback last week.

The powerful Monahans team, meanwhile, disposed of Kermit by a count of 15-6, and then thrashed Crane 46-0.

"They no doubt will be the best team we've played this year," said Lamesa Coach Jim Warren.

Monahans is led by quarterback Monte McGuire, tailback Ricky Boysaw and center Randy Roark. "Those three youngsters are excellent football players and the key to their attack," Warn noted.

Sands in Saturday home game

ACKERLY — Still seeking their first win of the year in the third game might be embarrassing for some teams, but in the case of the Sands Mustangs, it isn't quite that bad. Their defense, you see, still has yet to allow one point in two games.

But their offense hasn't scored, and Sands Coach Jim White stressed that 80 percent of the workouts this week have been directed toward making the Mustangs a more potent team.

They will be carrying their record of 0-0-

2 into tomorrow afternoon's contest against Throckmorton, a team that has won both of its contests.

While Sands was tying Robert Lee and Water Valley by 0-0 scores, Throckmorton was routing St. Joseph's 36-0 and edging Archer City 7-6.

The two teams tied last year, 14-14, but White noted that the Mustangs opponent tomorrow afternoon is much improved this year.

Game time is two o'clock.

Colorado City Goes for 1st win

COLORADO CITY — Winless after two games and still looking for their first points of the year, the Colorado City Wolves meet Denver City here tonight in a non-district battle.

After playing Slaton on even terms for 46 minutes before falling by a 7-0 count, the Wolves couldn't do anything right in a 30-0 loss to Post.

"We were very flat," explained Colorado City Coach Tom Ramsey. "Maybe we got it out of our system. I hope so."

The Denver City team comes in with a record of 1-1. They opened with a 3-0 win over Frenship, but lost to a tough Kermit team by 15-7 last weekend.

Colorado City has been hit hard by injuries in their first two games, and Ramsey acknowledged that there will be some personnel changes for tonight's game. In fact, the top four defensive tackles will not play tonight, making regular defensive end Randy McPhaul move down to the interior.

"It's going to be two or three weeks before everybody gets well," noted Ramsey.

Forsan tries for 3rd straight

ROBERT LEE — The red hot Forsan Buffaloes, already having surpassed last year's win total by claiming their first two games of the 1981 season, travel to meet the Robert Lee Steers tonight.

Forsan opened with a 21-0 romp over Bronte, and then stopped Garden City by a 19-8 count last week. Robert Lee tied Sands in their opener 0-0, then bowed to Bronte 6-0 last weekend.

But that doesn't mean any easy win for the Jan East coached Forsan team. "They have the talent to be a good team," said East during the week. "They haven't got it going yet, and I hope they wait another week to do it."

The Forsan team goes into tonight's game relatively injury free. Joining the team will be Philip Harrison at defensive end. Harrison missed last week's game.

Grady hosts Dawson Dragons

LENORAH — The Grady Wildcats hope to have recovered from last week's 42-0 loss to Three-Way when they host the Dawson Dragons in a six-man football bout.

The Grady loss last week was called at halftime due to wild weather, but Coach

Richard Gibson didn't feel his squad would get any better in the final half.

But they must in order to stay on the field with Dawson, a team that drubbed them last fall.

Grady, after winning their opener, is 1-1. Dawson is 2-0.

Stanton visit air minded Crane

CRANE — The Crane Golden Cranes will test their aerial game here tonight when the Stanton Buffaloes come to town for a non-district battle.

Crane has put the ball in the air 61 times in their first two games, a 42-36 loss to Reagan County and a 46-0 loss to Monahans.

Stanton lost their opening game to the No. 4 rated team in the state in AAA, Tahoka, by a slim 14-10 margin. The Buffs then bounced back last week to beat Coahoma 3-0 in the rain.

"Crane is young and quick," said Stanton Coach Steve Park. "After playing Monahans last week, I imagine they'll be ready for 'ole Stanton. I expect them to throw the ball a lot."

Stanton won last year's contest by a 24-0 score.

Klondike, Greenwood meet

KLONDIKE — Klondike and Greenwood hook up tonight in a non-district contest, and the rivalry should produce another exciting bout if past results are any indication.

Last year, a rugged Klondike team rallied behind the passing of first time starter Mike Arismendez to take a 20-14 triumph. And it could take more of the same for the Klondike team, which displayed big improvement last week.

After opening with a 52-0 loss to Wink, Klondike lost a 25-12 decision to another toughie, Plains.

Greenwood lost their opener, but came back to rout Whiteface 28-0 last week.

TEAMWORK — Big Spring's Sissy Doss and Tracy Williams (right of net) go high to slam the volleyball back for a point during the Lady Steers win over the Midland Bulldogs here last night. The win moved the Lady Steers record to 2-0 in District 5-AAAAA play and 9-4 on the year. They enter the Denver City Tournament today before resuming their district action at Odessa Permian on Tuesday.

Verdict on Celtics due in court today

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A jury returns today to decide whether Boston Celtics players Larry Bird and Dave Cowens attacked a San Antonio Spurs' fan last year, or whether the fan provoked the incident by spitting in Bird's face.

The jurors deliberated 45 minutes Thursday, then decided to return today to render a decision on the $825,000 lawsuit filed by San Antonio truck driver Johnny Merla, 27, a longtime member of the Spurs' Baseline Bums organization.

The jurors were asked to answer six questions to decide whether the Boston players or Spurs' fans provoked the incident.

Merla alleged that Bird, an all-star forward, and former center-coach Dave Cowens spat on him and that Bird knocked him to the ground with a duffel bag after a Jan. 5, 1980, game at HemisFair Arena.

However, three policemen, a paramedic, bus driver and the two basketball stars contradicted testimony given by Merla, his wife and three of their friends.

The defense witnesses told the jury that Merla was drunk and belligerent and provoked the incident by spitting in Bird's face as a group of drunken fans shouted obscenities at the Celtics.

"I hit him with my bag because he assaulted me and spit in my face," the towering blond player testified.

"Did you hit him very hard?" defense attorney Robert Summers asked.

"Man, it was just a Swat," Bird replied.

Cowens said it appeared that drunken fans who gathered near the Boston bus, "were going to try to do something to us."

Merla contended he suffered back and neck injuries when hit by Bird's tote bag, plus embarrassment and humiliation from being spit on.

Both Cowens and Bird denied spitting on Merla, while police Sgt. Robert Rudewick and patrolmen Walter Scharf and Carl Seacroft confirmed their version of the incident.

"The only pain and embarrassment he suffered was caused by his own conduct," Summers said, motioning to Merla.

Summers said he agreed with bus driver J.J. Valdez who told the jury he was embarrassed by the conduct of the San Antonio fans.

THE LIGHT TOUCH By Sherry Wegner

Here is some food for thought.

Why is it... a pound of steak at $1.80 is 'high', but a 3 oz. cocktail at $2.00 is acceptable... a $3.00 ticket to a movie is 'not bad', but $3.50 for a bushel of wheat, that makes fifty loaves of bread is considered unrealistic... a 50c Coke is 'O.K.' but a 20c glass of milk is inflationary... corn is 'too steep' at 3c worth in a box of flakes, but the flakes are sold for 50c a serving... cotton is 'too high' at 65c a lb., but, no one questions a 3 oz. bag of cotton balls at 99c or a single cotton ball at 50c.

Runnels flea flickers stop Lamesa, 16-14

The Runnels Yearlings White team used a pair of flea flickers in defeating Lamesa JHS 16-14 in a football contest Thursday afternoon.

Both Yearling touchdowns were on flea flickers, but it was also a sturdy Runnels defense that limited Lamesa to only 26 total yards that helped immensely with the win.

Runnels opened the scoring in the first stanza when quarterback Randy Hayworth threw to Billy Franklin. Franklin accepted the delivery and pitched to Robert Garcia, who hit paydirt to complete a 65-yard scoring play. Hayworth ran the two-point conversion with 1:41 to play for an 8-0 lead.

Lamesa scored in the third quarter when they recovered a fumble on the Runnels 35 and moved in for the score. But the try for two failed, and Runnels maintained the lead.

On the first play of the fourth quarter, Garcia completed a flea flicker from 51 yards out with the same people, and he then ran for the two point conversion and a 16-6 advantage.

Late in the contest, Lamesa intercepted a Runnels pass and set up shop on the Yearling 18. Two plays later a pass netted a touchdown, and the successful extra point narrowed the count to 16-14.

Drawing the praise of the Runnels staff in the win were fullback-defensive tackle Garcia, quarterback Hayworth, cornerback Alex Minter, and linebackers Mike Dodd and David Shortes.

Runnels girls sweep foe

The Runnels girls volleyball teams swept two matches from Seminole JHS in action here Thursday evening.

The White team scored a 15-11, 4-15, 15-8 win over their Seminole counterparts, with Shaundra Wrightstill starring as a server. Wrightstill had 20 service points, with 15 coming in the first game. Tracy Wilkerson also had some notable servers, and Jana Whitehead drew praise for her court coverage.

The Runnels Red then walloped Seminole by 15-1, 6-15, 15-2. Lana Fletcher was the big arm serving with 20 points. Clara Hamilton added eight, Monique Jones five and Millie Correa and Tammy Green four each. Jones and Correa were praised for their setting in the match, with Green being the outstanding spiker.

"These girls are the best team we've had here in a few years. They are really playing as a team," said Coach Jane Upton.

The White team is now 2-1, while the win was the first for the Red squad. Both teams host Snyder on Monday at five o'clock in the afternoon.

Goliad girls split pair

The Goliad girls volleyball teams split two matches with Seminole JHS in seventh grade action Thursday afternoon.

The Goliad Black squad won by a count of 15-11, 15-6. Connie Swinney was high point server with 12, while Kelli Preston and Lisa Hale added five each. Sherry Myrick and Preston were acknowledged for their defensive play.

The Goliad White squad dropped a decision by 14-16, 6-15. Charlotte Lang had six to pace the White servers, with Paula Jolly adding four. Outstanding team plays came from Sonya Evans and Larri Norman.

The White team is now 1-2, while the Black squad is 2-1. They return to play at Colorado City on Monday.

Red Sox complete sweep, Yanks next

BOSTON (AP) — Bring on the "Damn Yankees." The Boston Red Sox, playing with an "all-for-one-and-one-for-all" attitude, are ready for the New York Yankees after sweeping the Detroit Tigers.
With Jim Rice driving in four runs with his 15th homer, a double and two singles, the Red Sox made it four in a row over Detroit in a 6-1 victory that moved Boston to within one-half game of the Tigers in the American League East.

AL Roundup

In the only other AL action, the Baltimore Orioles defeated the Cleveland Indians 6-2 as Scott McGregor boosted his record to 11-3 while tightening the division race even more.
The idle Milwaukee Brewers moved to within one-half game of the lead, just .004 points behind Boston. Baltimore closed to within one game and the Yankees, marking time in Boston while off, remained fifth, but now just 1 1/2 games back.
"Before, we had a ball club with a lot of talent and didn't win," Rice said after the sweep of Detroit. "Now we've got a ball club that's joined together."
"Believe me, they're playing for real," said Detroit Manager Sparky Anderson. "Never in my wildest dreams did I think they'd beat us four straight here. But we'll regroup. I don't know what we'll do, but we'll regroup."
"This series was important for us to get back into it (race), but I was hoping for three wins that would leave us 2 1/2 games back."
Ralph Houk said "It would have been crazy to think of a sweep. We just got great pitching in this series."
As for the series with the Yankees starting tonight, while Detroit invades Cleveland, Houk said:
"I'm not thinking of the Yankees' series as much as I am of the 16 games we have left. That's the way I have my pitching lined up. However, I like our club's attitude. I'm an optimist, always have been, and I think the players have to be, too."

Holmes embarrasses promoter on bet

LAS VEGAS, Nevada (AP) — At a news conference to formally announce that he will defend his share of the heavyweight title against Gerry Cooney at Caesars Palace sometime in March, Larry Holmes asked reporters, "Did anyone here bet on Hearns?"
A few hands were raised, then Holmes reached over and lifted the arm of promoter Don King. King smiled sheepishly.
King came very close to winning his bet on Thomas Hearns. At the end of 13 rounds, Hearns was ahead on all three official cards in his battle against Sugar Ray Leonard for the undisputed world welterweight championship at Caesars Palace Wednesday night.
But Leonard, stung in the days leading up to the fight by charges from the Hearns' camp that he was no longer a hungry fighter, stopped Hearns at 1:45 of the 14th.
Now, Leonard looks forward to new challenges, while Hearns faces the challenge of rebounding from the only loss of his 33-bout pro career. It is a hurdle already cleared by Leonard, who lost his only fight in a 15-round decision to Roberto Duran that had cost him the World Boxing Council welterweight title in Montreal last year.
Leonard rebounded in the now-infamous "no mas" rematch with Duran in New Orleans, and the 22-year-old Hearns is confident he will come back, too.

Valenzuela ties rookie shutout mark

STARTING OVER — A more relaxed infielder Garry Templeton responds to newsmen during a news conference at which he apologized for actions leading to his suspension by the St. Louis Cardinals.

By The Associated Press
Tommy Lasorda is never at a loss for words, but sensational rookie pitcher Fernando Valenzuela has even the voluble manager of the Los Angeles Dodgers searching for new superlatives for his young left-hander.
"Amazing, amazing, he's some pitcher, what games," Lasorda sputtered after Valenzuela pitched a record-tying three-hit shutout Thursday night as the Dodgers beat the Atlanta Braves 2-0. "He's simply unbelievable. He just makes that big pitch when he has to have it."
It was the eighth shutout of the season for Valenzuela, equaling the major league record set by Ewell Russell of the Chicago White Sox in 1913. Three National Leaguers — Irving Young of Boston in 1905, Grover Cleveland Alexander of Philadelphia in 1911 and Jerry Kosman of the New York Mets in 1968 — had seven shutouts in their rookie season.
The 20-year-old Mexican pitcher didn't seem all that impressed by the accomplishment, though.
"It's another win for the team, that's what it means," said Valenzuela through an interpreter when asked what the eighth shutout meant. "It pleases me to get records, but the main thing is I am winning."

NL Roundup

Valenzuela, 13-4 with a 2.37 earned run average, leads the National League in victories, complete games (11), shutouts and strikeouts (162). He walked two and struck out six against the Braves.
The husky pitcher, now hitting .259, also drove in his seventh run of the year with an infield single in the sixth inning. That gave him 15 hits in 58 times at bat.
In other National League games Thursday, St. Louis beat Montreal 7-4, Philadelphia nipped New York 3-2, Houston ripped San Diego 9-0 and Cincinnati tipped San Francisco 1-0 in 10 innings. The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cubs were rained out for the second straight day at Chicago.
Cardinals 7, Expos 4
The Cardinals pounded the Expos as catcher Darrell Porter drove in five runs with a double and his fourth career grand slam homer to support the eight-hit pitching of Joaquin Andujar, 6-4. The victory extended St. Louis' lead over the second-place Expos in the NL East to 3 1/2 games.

Andujar now has a 9-0 record against Montreal in 10 career starts.
Phillies 3, Mets 2
The Phillies beat the Mets behind the pitching of starter Dickie Noles, who threw a three-hit shutout over seven innings. Larry Bowa provided the key hit, a two-run, bases-loaded double in the second.
Astros 9, Padres 0
Craig Reynolds ripped a bases-loaded triple and Danny Heep drove in four runs to help Joe Niekro to his ninth victory of the year against seven losses. Niekro scattered five hits en route to his second shutout of the season, striking out two and walking none as he raised his lifetime mark against San Diego to 18-6.
Houston scored five runs in the first off Padres starter Steve Mura, 5-13.
Reds 1, Giants 0
Dave Concepcion's single drove in Paul Householder to give Tom Seaver the victory after the veteran right-hander worked his way out of a bases-loaded jam in the ninth. Householder led off the 10th with a double, went to third on Ken Griffey's single and scored on Concepcion's hit.

Houston Cougars underdogs in Miami

SWC Roundup

The Southwest Conference, off to one of its best starts since the 1960s, is favored in seven of nine non-conference football games Saturday.

The Rice Owls were 14-point underdogs to Missouri on the road and the Houston Cougars were a field goal underdog to the tough Miami Hurricanes, also an away game.

The No. 6 ranked Texas Longhorns were a 25-point choice over North Texas in Memorial Stadium; Arkansas was a 26-point favorite over Big 10 foe Northwestern; Texas A&M was a field goal selection over Boston College away; Southern Methodist was a two-touchdown pick over Grambling in Texas Stadium; Texas Tech was a one-point nod over New Mexico in Jones Stadium; Texas Christian was a 21-point pick over Texas-Arlington in Amon Carter Stadium; and Baylor was a 17-point favorite over Louisiana Tech at Shreveport.

The Houston-Miami matchup was the class of the card.

"Last year our players thought Miami had the best football players we played against," said Houston Coach Bill Yeoman. "They beat Florida so they are just as good this year as we thought."

"We will have to get 100 per cent better if we want to play with Miami."

He added "Miami has never been lacking for football players. They are a very, very physical team. It's just hard playing Miami. Every game is a real thumper."

The Grambling-SMU game is a unique matchup, the first between the two schools.

Eddie Robinson, the fourth winningest coach in the history of college football, will take his Louisiana Tigers on the field against an SWC team for the first time.

Grambling is the defending Black National Collegiate champions. They went 10-1 last year to win the Southwestern Athletic Conference title, losing to Boise State in the NCAA Division I-AA playoffs.

Both SMU and Grambling are unbeaten.

"I'm worried how we are going to block all those big guys on the line of scrimmage," said SMU Coach Ron Meyer. "And wingback Trumaine Johnson is the best back I've seen since Earl Campbell."

Grambling has such big defensive linemen as 6-8 Robert Smith and 320-pound, 6-11 James Polk.

The Grambling publicity department calls the Grambling defensive front "The Trees of Terror."

Should the SWC maintain its current pace of 667 against outside schools it would match the best won-loss record for the league since 1963 when it went 18-6.

LaJet leader more concerned with Georgia game

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — Tommy Valentine has got his eye on the LaJet Classic golf title, but he says his heart and mind are on football and his beloved Georgia Bulldogs.

"During football season, I might as well quit playing golf," the glib University of Georgia graduate confessed with a smile. "I'm really an avid fan."

"When the Bulldogs play good, I play good."

Valentine acted more concerned with the unbeaten, nationally ranked Bulldogs' rendezvous Saturday with Clemson than his tentative two-shot lead in the $350,000 LaJet.

"Yeah," he grinned, "I'm worried about the Clemson game."

But the 31-year-old Georgian said he also harbored certain qualms about his putting as he led today's second-round charge of pro golf's maiden venture into West Texas.

"I've never been a great putter," deadpanned Valentine after he slashed six shots from Fairway Oaks testy par-72 to seize a two-stroke lead over three of his colleagues.

He carded his 66 early, before the legendary West Texas wind moved in, and jumped ahead of Hubert Green, Bill Calfee and Mark O'Meara, all at 68.

In game vs. Notre Dame Odds favor Michigan

In only the second week of the college football season, Bo Schembechler's Michigan Wolverines face a must-win situation. Playing top-ranked Notre Dame will add to that problem.

The Irish, coming off a convincing 27-9 victory over Louisiana State in Coach Gerry Faust's debut last week, invade Ann Arbor Saturday to meet Michigan, the preseason No. 1 pick but a shocking 21-14 loser to Wisconsin last week.

Schembechler wasn't kidding about how poorly the now 11th-ranked Wolverines played. Wisconsin had 23 first downs compared to eight for Michigan and held a 439-229 edge in net yardage.

Meanwhile, Notre Dame was awesome in Faust's first game. They ripped off 376 yards in total offense, while holding LSU to 230.

But Faust was wary about the game that is expected to draw a sellout crowd of more than 105,000 and a national television audience (1:50 p.m. EDT, ABC-TV).

Or the Irish might get lucky — again. They beat Michigan 29-27 last season on a 51-yard, last-second field goal by Harry Oliver, while the year before, linebacker Bob Crable blocked a last-ditch Wolverine field goal, preserving a 12-10 Irish victory.

However, Faust feels the odds are in Michigan's favor this year.

Second-ranked Southern Cal, 1-0, also will appear in the Midwest Saturday to play Indiana's Hoosiers, 1-0.

The Trojans crushed Tennessee 43-7 in their opener last week.

Levelland has pro's brother

resident of Big Spring who still has some ties here, too.
"That guy can kick it through from anywhere inside the 50," said Harris. "They haven't used him that much so far because they've been behind by too much for a field goal to do any good."
Franklin also plays fullback for the Levelland team.
"If the game's close, he (Franklin) could be a big factor," said Harris.
A big factor in the Steers outlook are the abundance of injuries. Nine would be positions of injuries suffered either in the Sweetwater game or before.
One of the biggest will be at running back and free safety, where Richard Evans will be missing due to a pulled groin. Evans, who rushed for over 600 yards last year and is the leader of the Steer secondary, will not suit up. Neither will guard-linebacker Marty Rice, who sprained his neck and back in the Sweetwater game.

Defensive replacements include Johnny Rawls at end (up from the JV team), Mike Schooler at tackle and Woodward at cornerback.
Woodward will move to right corner to play for Alan Trevino, who moved to safety to take Evans' position. Trevino has a broken hand, but will still play both ways.
One positive aspect of the many injuries the Steers have suffered in the non-district is that there should be plenty of experienced hands ready to begin 5-AAAAA in two weeks against Abilene, that is if the injured can recover and the survivors heading into tonight's game can avoid any serious injury.

Another positive aspect heading into tonight's game is that the Steers breakout running threat, Bobby Earl Williams, should play both ways the entire game. It is something that the Steers haven't seen yet this year, and Harris and the rest of the crew are no doubt hoping that the 195-pound senior can live up to last year's success.
And injuries or not, the 1-1 start is disappointing to the Steer team.
"The main thing we're looking for tonight is just playing," Harris explained. "Just turning loose and playing, we haven't done that this year, and we need to start against Levelland."
"We all talked about how good we were going to be this year," continued the Steer head mentor, "and it's time to quit talking and start doing something about it."

Jaworski beats team he cheered as child

ORCHARD PARK, N.Y. (AP) — The hostile crowd was fine with quarterback Ron Jaworski, a hometown boy in enemy colors, when his Philadelphia Eagles met the Buffalo Bills Thursday.
Jaworski had all the friends he needed in his own offensive line, supplier of stand-up protection on all but one play while the Lackawanna, N.Y., native threw for 240 yards and two touchdowns in Philadelphia's 20-14 National Football League triumph over the Bills.
The game left the Eagles with a 3-0 record and marked Buffalo's first loss in three contests.
"I'm a Bills fan," said Jaworski, who completed 20 of 32 passes in his first regular-season appearance in Rich Stadium a few miles from his home. "I hope they win the next 13 games. I held a season ticket in the Rock Pile (Buffalo's old War Memorial Stadium) for years, sitting by myself. I feel for them."
Jaworski, however, exhibited little pity for the team he idolized as a boy, lofting a 1-yard pass to tight end Keith Kreple for the first points of the game and sending the Eagles ahead 17-14 with a 15-yard toss to wide receiver Harold Carmichael early in the third period.
The crowd of 78,331 also showed little affection for Jaworski, booing so loudly he had to step away from the line of scrimmage after a roughing-the-passer penalty on defensive end Sherman White with about five minutes to play kept alive a drive to Philadelphia's second field goal.
Bare-footed kicker Tony Franklin, who earlier booted one 29 yards, kicked a 46-yarder to round out scoring.
Buffalo tallied twice in the second quarter, leading 14-10 at halftime on a 4-yard run by Joe Cribbs and Joe Ferguson's 20-yard pass to Frank Lewis. Ferguson hit just 14 of 30 passes for 187 yards and had two picked off by Eagles free safety Brenard Wilson.
Twelve game are on tap Sunday with the key matchups featuring San Diego, 2-0, at Kansas City to meet the surprising Chiefs, 2-0, while Miami visits Houston, in another pairing of undefeated teams.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR SATURDAY, SEPT. 19, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Fine day for carrying through with new plans that you have thought up recently. Use a modern approach to gain your goals. Make an effort to enjoy the simple pleasures in life.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) This is the right time to make plans to gain greater abundance in the future. Contact experts for advice you need.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Take time to analyze regular activities and know where to make changes to gain greater benefits. Express happiness.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Obtain data you need to be successful in career activities. Be sure to arrive on time for appointments you have.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Take a look at your surroundings and make plans for improvement. Strive to gain your aims today.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Talks with close ties now can prove beneficial. Know what is expected of you. Show more devotion to loved one.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Attend to duties that need your personal guidance. Make plans that will bring you added income later on.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Engage in pleasurable pursuits and make this a pleasant day for you and others. Be more active and more cheerful.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Attending to regular chores early in the day can give you more time to engage favorite recreations later.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) A good time to handle duties which you have postponed earlier in the week. Take time to improve your environment.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Study your financial position and budget your money wisely. Make necessary repairs to your property.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Handle personal duties early so that you attend to more important matters later. Become more interested in outside affairs.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Follow your intuition today and gain your personal aims. Find the right ways to achieve greater happiness.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be always engineering new ways of getting things done, which is fine, but be sure you first teach tried-and-true methods to gain the best results. There is an artistic nature here that should be trained.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

TIPS FOR ENERGY SAVERS

Appliances

Use appliances wisely. Use the one that takes the least amount of energy for the job. For example: toasting bread in the oven uses three times more energy than toasting it in a toaster.

This energy-saving tip is brought to you by the classified advertising department in the interest of energy conservation.

Pickle will preside at history meeting

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Mitchell County Historical Commission will host the fall meeting of the Permian Historical Society Oct. 31 at the Old Opera House in the 300 block of Walnut St., according to an announcement by Mrs. Gene Bassham, a co-owner of the ranch, as a tour guide. At the same time, J. Lee Jones, local historian, will guide a group to historical site in Colorado City. Mrs. Rowe said the public is invited to any of the meeting that interests them.

Immigration officials begin crackdown on illegal aliens

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Federal agents who have arrested nearly 700 illegal aliens in raids on businesses in three East Texas counties said the crackdown would continue for several more days. Immigration and Naturalization Service officials said agents raided 20 Tyler industrial plants Thursday and arrested 135 undocumented workers. Thursday's raids, combined with raids earlier this week into businesses in Smith, Gregg and Harrison counties, raised to 694 the number of illegal aliens arrested, said INS officials. "This has just cut the surface of a very major problem with aliens in East Texas," said INS criminal investigator Easu Flores, who added the crackdown would continue for several more days. Flores denied that the three-county area had been singled out for a major crackdown. However, a spokesman at Rep. Ralph Hall's office in Washington said the action came after government officials received "numerous" letters from residents asking that something be done about the influx of illegal aliens into Northeast Texas. INS agents arrested 81 illegal aliens in Tyler Monday, 305 persons in Longview Tuesday and 78 in Marshall Wednesday. Flores said only one company in Tyler refused to cooperate with INS agents Thursday. Loggins Meat Co. initially denied INS agents access to the company but let federal authorities on the property when they returned later with a search warrant, Flores said.

He said officials arrested 35 illegal aliens at the Loggins plant.

"The vast majority of companies were willing to assist with the checks," Flores added.

Flores said most of the aliens, Mexican nationals, were put on buses back to Mexico.
