Three die in rig blast near Knott

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

Investigations were under way today in connection with a drilling rig explosion which occurred Sunday afternoon about 25 miles northwest of Big Spring, leaving three men dead and badly injuring a fourth worker.

The explosion happened after a rig owned by the Harris Rat Hole Service of Midland ruptured a natural gas pipeline at about 1:30 p.m. Sunday, Martin County sheriff's deputies said. The drilling site is located on a cotton farm just inside the Martin County line and about five miles northwest of Knott, deputies said.

The men were killed instantly when the rig, just minutes after starting drilling operations, ruptured a pressurized gas line about five feet underground, the deputies said. The ensuing explosion burned the three men to death and sent flames 200 feet into the air, deputies said.

The dead men were identified by their employers and law officials as:

• Willie Joe Waller, 41, of Lamesa, who was a maintainer operator for the Britt Trucking and Construction Co. of Lamesa;

• John Paul Hemphill, 32, of Lamesa, who was a roller operator for Britt;

• Joe Greg Dawson, 19, of Midland, who was a rat hole machine operator for Harris.

The injured man was identified as Delmer Olier, 48, of Midland, who also worked for Harris. He was described as being in "stable but serious" condition at Lubbock General Hospital this morning with second and third-degree burns over 45 percent of his body, said a hospital spokeswoman.

A fifth man on the site, Vernon Martins, escaped the blast unharmed and rushed Olier to a Lamesa hospital in his pickup truck.

The men were involved in initial drilling work for the Jet Oil Co. of Cushing, Okla., said Bill Briley, a Britt foreman at the company's Lamesa office.

They were drilling what is known as a "rat hole" — a preparation for an oil rig, said Bill Welch, part owner of Harris Rat Hole Service. Martins said the rat hole machine hadn't been drilling for more than a few minutes when it struck a pipeline owned by the Santa Fe Pipeline Co.

Rescuers said they were held back by an inferno 200 feet high between the time of the blast and shut-off of the gas supply about 90 minutes later. The blast appears to have spread flames over a circular area about 150 yards out from the rig, charring the surrounding cotton fields.

During the hour and a half that the fire burned out of control, and for some time thereafter, rescuers were unsure how many men were trapped by the fire.

This morning it was certain that Hemphill, Waller, Dawson and Olier were the only workers killed or injured, Martin County Sheriff's Deputy Charles Sebastian, said.

A Santa Fe regional superintendent was at the site yesterday afternoon, watching the fire as it burned itself out. Sebastian said the fire had extinguished itself some time during the night.

Martins, contacted at his Lamesa home at about 7:30 last night and "still pretty shook up," said he had been standing about an eighth of a mile from the drill site when the 56-foot-high rig struck the gas line.

"It hit the line and everything blew up," he told The Herald. "It covered the whole (drilling) area when it blew. It was just like a huge blowtorch blowing up toward the west."

He said Olier was burned "real bad" and bleeding from the head.

"I guess when he got blown into the cotton field he cut his head," said Martins.

Martins, 46, said he was a foreman for Britt. His crew was in the process of finishing off the clearing and leveling of the drilling area when the explosion occurred. The actual drill site had been prepared enough for the rat hole machine to begin work, said Briley.

Martin County Sheriff's Deputy Mike Welling said the pipe had a 12-inch diameter and was buried about four and a half feet underground.

At about 4:30 Sunday afternoon, a blackened 10-foot section of the pipeline stood on end in the hole created by the explosion, spewing three to four feet of flames as firemen waited for the gas to burn off. Welling said they had to wait for the gas to burn off before putting water on because of the "possibility of reignition."

The rat hole machine, its tires melted off, listed precariously over the hole, its bent drill seared by the flames pouring out of the pipe which the drill had ripped completely apart.

Officials were tight-lipped this morning about the accident. The state Railroad Commission, which regulates the oil and gas industries in Texas, said the pipe was an interstate pipeline and therefore the commission didn't have jurisdiction over it.

Safety Inspector M.Y. Hibler said he didn't know enough about the incident to offer specific information on it, but commented: "If I was going to go in there and drill, I'd sure want to know where they (any pipelines) are."

Martin County Sheriff Dan Saunders said the accident was "the oil operator's fault. The oil operator tells the rat hole service where to drill."

Spokesmen for Harris Rat Hole Service and Gene Sledge Drilling Corp. (which eventually would have sunk an oil rig on the site) had little to say about the accident this morning.

A spokesman for Sledge, who declined to give his name, said the Midland-based company was "investigating the contracts" and would offer no more information "until we find out exactly what's going to take place."

Bill Decker, an exploration manager with Jet Oil's Tulsa office, said Jet had several wells operating in the vicinity of the accident.

The bodies of the men killed reportedly were transported to Gilbert Funeral Home in Lamesa. A hospital spokeswoman said it would be "six weeks before (Olier) gets back on his feet."

DRILLING ACCIDENT — Three men are dead and a fourth seriously injured after an explosion on an oil lease 25 miles northwest of Big Spring Sunday. Flames from a ruptured natural gas line can be seen above as the rat hole machine which struck the pipeline lists precariously to one side.

MIGHTY EXPLOSION — A piece of machinery at the site of the explosion lies on its side from the force of the blast, its tires melted by the flames.

Moral Majority only a minority?

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — The Moral Majority is definitely in the minority in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, according to a survey conducted by two professors with the University of Texas at Arlington.

The survey, conducted by students and supervised by sociologists Anson Shupe Jr. and Bill Stacey, covered 771 households in 10 cities in the metropolitan area, seeking opinions on the conservative religious group that was founded by evangelist Jerry Falwell.

"We were interested to see if Jerry Falwell had the level of support he claims," said Shupe.

Of those surveyed, Shupe said, 111 people — 14 percent — said they support the Moral Majority. But 220 people — 28.5 percent — said they did not support the religious organization and 389 people — almost half — said they were indifferent to the Moral Majority.

"The thing we really expected was a much larger level of support in the area, which is the heart of the Bible Belt," Shupe said.

Stacey and Shupe said they considered their survey an "acid test" of Falwell's support. "If you can't find it here, it's doubtful that you can find it in the North," they wrote in the report of their findings.

Falwell has used the religious organization as a platform to publicize his views on such political issues as the Equal Rights Amendment and abortion, both of which he opposes.

The UTA survey, however, showed no solidarity on those issues, even among individuals who back Falwell's group.

Of the 111 people who said they supported the Moral Majority, 34 percent said they support the ERA and 34 percent said they do not agree that abortion is a sin.

"A lot of people agree with some of the things Falwell says, but they don't translate that into a group which would give Falwell the political strength he indicates he has," said Shupe.

"What it appears to us he (Falwell) has done," said Stacey, "is take these single-issue groups, such as the pro-life and pro-creation people, and put them under his umbrella and call it the Moral Majority."

"There have been accumulating indications that the new 'religious right' may be largely a media creation," Stacey continued, "the product of systematically conjured imagery and public relations hype."

The two teachers said they planned to refine their questionnaire, based on the first results, and repeat their study at least twice more.

Arkansas native gains Weitbrecht scholarship

Jackie Swofford, an electronics major at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, is the recipient of the Robert Weitbrecht award for the 1981-82 school year.

This $125 scholarship is given annually to a SWCID freshman level student who is majoring in a vocational-technical area in the Howard County Junior College District.

This award is established to honor Robert Weitbrecht who was the inventor of the acoustic coupler making the telephone accessible to deaf people. Weitbrecht was a deaf electronic scientist.

In order to be eligible for this award, a student must maintain a 3.0 grade point average, and be enrolled on a full-time basis with twelve credit hours or more.

Other requirements are that a student should expect to remain a student of SWCID until completion of his degree, and should possess leadership skills as evidenced by his academic and extracurricular activities. Swofford's hometown is Berryville, Ark.

Legislative Council writes most of bills

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas senators and representatives can brag about their achievements in Austin but much of the credit belongs to a seldom heard-of state agency — the Texas Legislative Council.

Although a lawmaker proudly tells his voters that such-and-such bill is "his bill," the council actually writes about 85 percent of the proposed new laws and law changes introduced, according to Executive Director Robert I. Kelly.

By the time both houses have made their respective amendments and substitutions, the council handles almost 95 percent of all legislation that passes through the Legislature.

Kelly performs an additional function by acting as parliamentarian of the House, settling the many parliamentary disputes that arise.

The council has a payroll of about 120 persons at all times, including many veteran and well-qualified lawyers, some of them former legislators.

During legislative sessions the council staff increases to about 200, mostly by addition of typists and printers who work a double shift to keep up with the constant and tremendous flow of paperwork.

"No matter what we do the volume of paper keeps increasing," said Kelly, who is completing his first term with the Legislature. He took the place of Robert Johnson, a former legislator from Dallas who operated the council for many years. Before that, Kelly was an assistant to Johnson and assistant House parliamentarian for 10 years.

"There is a 10 to 12 percent increase in the number of bills and resolutions every time the Legislature meets," said Kelly. "That has been true for the last 10 years. And there is no sign it will decrease."

In addition to helping legislators with proposed legislation during sessions, the council conducts its own studies and research efforts between sessions.

The council also works closely with the Texas Legislative Budget Board, which makes interim studies and recommendations on state spending.

There are three major divisions in the council. — The Legal Division does research, drafting of bills and provides legal advice for legislators. During a legislative session the legal division also reviews and checks all bills that pass either house to catch errors and be sure the proposals are in correct form.

— The Research Division helps individual legislators and committees in drafting resolutions. This includes a survey of other states' laws and programs, library research and the preparation of formal memorandum. After the session, the division prepares summaries of work done and other information about legislation passed during the session. It also prepares the analyses of proposed constitutional changes that will be on the next ballot.

— The Legislative Information System of Texas (LIST) is a big computer system that records and retains all information the council considers necessary to its work. The computer operates a text processing system for typing bills, resolutions, reports and correspondence, along with the daily House and Senate journals. A bill status and history system keeps track of all bills and resolutions.

Two die after 'quarrel'

ELKHART, Kan. (AP) — An Elkhart man and woman have died from gunshot wounds suffered in an apparent murder-suicide that followed a lovers' quarrel, authorities said.

Morton County Sheriff Merlin Stout identified the victims as Frederick Hilderbrand, 30, and Jacqueline Anderson, 24.

Witnesses said the shootings occurred about 8 p.m. Friday on a street corner in this southwest Kansas town of 2,227 people, Stout said. The two died Saturday at a hospital in Amarillo, Texas, 140 miles south of Elkhart.

Stout said Hilderbrand, who was riding a motorcycle, pulled up to Miss Anderson and asked to talk with her.

Two fires leave 100 homeless

HOUSTON (AP) — Investigators sifted through the rubble and ashes today from two fires that left 100 residents of a northside apartment complex homeless and gutted two sections of a Chan relevel church.

Ten fire fighters battling the blazes were treated for smoke inhalation, and a 13-year-old boy was hit by a falling cabinet being moved from the burning church building, authorities said. None were hospitalized.

Authorities said a fire burning in a barbecue grill apparently sparked the apartment blaze but were uncertain what caused the fire at the Dell Dale Avenue Baptist Church.

About 100 residents were forced to leave the Cypress Point Apartments in north Harris County after a fire ripped through the complex Sunday night, heavily damaging three large buildings, said a spokesman for the Harris County sheriff's department.

He said the fire, which was spread by the wood-shingled roof, apparently was started by a grill on a third-story balcony and took firefighters about 2½ hours to bring under control.

Can Reagan personally lower interest rates?

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Ralph Hall, a first-term Democrat from Texas, stood in the door of his second-story office in the Longworth House Office Building and suggested one way to end the high interest rates that have demoralized Americans lately.

"I suggested to President Reagan that he sign an executive order to lower interest rates to 15 percent. Just do it. All by himself," Hall said.

"He said he didn't know if he has the constitutional authority to do that, and I told him, 'Don't talk to me about statutory authority or constitutional authority. You've got the Congress in your hands.'"

"I told him the only problem would be all the extra dictationists and secretarial help he'd have to put on to handle all the calls and telegrams thanking him."

Hall's remarks came a few hours before the president went on national television Thursday night to make known his latest recommendations for making the nation's bank balance look better.

Reagan's advisers were at odds as late as Thursday afternoon trying to agree on the steps to take. Reporters were told the speech was still being written.

"It's a tough problem. I'm sure he wishes he had another day, still," Hall said.

"If you could somehow wave a magical wand and interest rates would be down to 10 percent tomorrow morning, we'd still have 40 percent of our homebuilders who are already busted, that it's too late to help," he said.

"I eat dinner with homebuilders every Saturday. Every Saturday, I think it's a great barometer. I know homebuilders who were high and mighty two years ago that haven't got a thing now. And these are guys that worked their way up from being carpenter's helpers to carpenters to homebuilders."

It's pretty hard to fall all the way down from that and start all over again, Hall said.

"It's a sad shape to be in when even if you've got a miracle cure, 40 percent of the patients are gone to die. Even polio didn't kill that many."

Hall is a member of the "boll weevils" — the nickname for the 47 congressmen who belong to the year-old Conservative Democratic Forum — and gave his backing to Reagan's call for wide-sweeping cuts to social programs around the country.

With the president now looking for more places to cut, Hall has something in mind that he'd like to get first priority — ahead of Social Security, the defense budget, or other social programs.

"Is foreign aid a zero budget item? That seems to me a good place to start. We're selling Russia grain below what our own people have to pay. I'm sure, and I wonder how much aid we're giving to Iraq and Iran and other countries like them?" he wondered.

Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez, D-San Antonio, and Sen. Lloyd Bentsen are a couple of other Texans who have expressed their unhappiness with the part that Paul Volcker, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, has played in the soaring interest rates.

Bentsen and others have criticized Volcker. Gonzalez goes much farther. He has introduced a resolution calling for the impeachment of Volcker and a bill that would abolish the board, turning its authority over to the Treasury Department.

"Businesses are going out like popcorn popping in a machine," Gonzalez said in a speech last week on the House floor.

"The Federal Reserve Board has been not only runaway, but it has been wholly unaccountable to the point that it has reached a degree of unacceptable arrogance... This board has legalized usury on a national level."

The veteran Democrat accused Volcker of being responsive only to the nation's major banks rather than the general banking industry of about 14,000 or so banks that it is charged with representing.

Bentsen introduced a resolution recently calling on Volcker and the Federal Reserve Board to call in the nation's major banks and persuade them to stop granting large blocks of credit for the purpose of mergers.

Someone suggested at Bentsen's monthly press conference Thursday morning that the Federal Reserve Board is the problem, and that perhaps more members should be appointed to dilute the power of those now on the board.

"The chairman of the Federal Reserve Board is generally the man that carries the power, so I don't see that as an answer," Bentsen replied.

Farmers and small businessmen have been unable to get credit at rates low enough they could afford them, while major corporations have tied up $50 billion to $70 billion in credit to use in takeover or merger attempts, Bentsen said.

Volcker should "jawbone" the big banks and tell them to hold off on approving such large amounts of credit for such ventures, Bentsen added, particularly when no increase in productivity results. An example is the takeover of Conoco by Dupont, Bentsen said.

Volcker told Congress last February the nation's credit supply would rise by from 3½ percent to 6 percent this year, Bentsen pointed out.

"Since January, the most widely used indicator of our money supply — M-1B — has risen at an annual rate of only 1.4 percent. He has missed the mark in what he said he would do, and the Fed needs to get back on target as quickly as possible to ease pressure on interest rates," Bentsen said.

It's new. It's beige.

Now is time to take advantage of tax cuts

EDITOR'S NOTE — The first major provisions of the 1981 Economic Recovery Tax Act take effect this week. Here, in the first of a four-part series, is a look at what they will mean and how you can take advantage of the law. By the Associated Press.

There's something for almost everyone in the 1981 tax bill, but you have to do some careful planning to get the best of the breaks and you have to do it now.

"Everyone is going to have to do a little hunting ... in order to take full advantage of the law," said Herbert M. Paul, a partner in the accounting and financial management firm of Touche Ross & Co.

"There are an awful lot of goodies," Paul said. "I really believe there's something in it for virtually everyone who pays tax."

For most people, the first concrete effects of all the rhetoric and all the debate will come this Thursday.

Effective Oct. 1, withholding rates will be cut by 5 percent. "Individuals will benefit from that even if they do nothing at all," Paul said. "All they're going to have to do is file their return and they'll take advantage of that."

When the impact of that 5 percent cut is spread over the entire year, it means a reduction of 1 1/4 percent in your 1981 tax bill.

Oct. 1 also is the day when the highly publicized All Savers Certificates go on sale at banks and savings and loan associations.

Buying a certificate will be just like opening a bank account.

But should you buy?

The certificates, which will be available until Dec. 31, 1982, and will have a one-year maturity, will pay interest at a lower rate than many other investments, including money-market funds and securities sold by the U.S. Treasury. The rate on All Savers Certificates is set at 70 percent of the rate on one-year Treasury bills.

The first batch of certificates — the ones sold Thursday and Friday — will pay an annual rate of 12.61 percent. The interest on certificates issued later will depend on monthly sales of Treasury bills. By coincidence, the next sale is Thursday. If you wait until Friday, you can find out the rate for the certificates which go on sale Monday and decide whether to buy this week or wait until next.

There is no minimum deposit set by law for the new investment; banks and S&Ls can set their own minimums, as long as they make the certificates available in denominations as low as $500.

The attraction of the certificates is that up to $1,000 of the interest — $2,000 for married couples — will be exempt from federal income tax. In some places, where income not subject to federal income tax is exempt from state taxes as well, the certificates also will offer a break from local levies.

The higher your tax bracket, the better the lower-return, non-taxable investment looks. In a 35 percent tax bracket, for example, you would have to earn about 19 percent on a taxable investment to equal a tax-free yield of 12.61 percent. In a 50 percent bracket, you need a pre-tax return of about 25 percent for after-tax earnings of 12.61 percent.

Financial experts say people in a tax bracket of 30 percent or more generally will find the All Savers Certificate a good deal — if they can afford to tie up their money for a full year.

Your tax bracket, by the way, is NOT simply the percentage of your income you pay in taxes. The federal income tax system is a progressive one. With each few thousand dollars of income, the rate of tax increases. When people talk about a tax bracket, they mean the "marginal" tax rate — the rate on the last dollars of income.

Individuals with taxable income of less than $20,000 and married couples with less than $40,000 generally use the standard tables in the federal income tax return — and the tables do not show the marginal tax rate.

If you want an idea of what bracket you are in, look at the special tax rate schedules — Page 32 in the 1980 package of income tax forms. The schedules DO list percentages. Take your income, after deductions, and subtract $1,000 for each exemption you claim. Compare the result to figures in the schedule to find your bracket.

The tax brackets now go from 14 percent to 70 percent. They are being cut, in three stages, to a range of 11 percent to 50 percent. In addition to the 5 percent cut in withholding rates on Oct. 1, there will be a 10 percent cut on June 1, 1982, and another 10 percent cut on June 1, 1983.

The drop in the tax brackets also will mean a drop in the value of deductions for people who itemize. If you're in a 35 percent bracket, each $100 of deductions cuts your tax bill by $35. In the 25 percent bracket, each $100 of deductions is an after-tax saving of only $25.

Since 1981 deductions will be worth more than 1982 deductions, it makes sense to shift spending for deductible items into 1981. Conversely, you should — if at all possible — delay receipt of income, since it will be taxed at a lower rate next year.

"It is sometimes difficult to defer income," Paul said, "but the area of deductions is very largely in your control."

People who don't itemize will find no change in the standard deduction — officially called the Zero Bracket Amount. But there is a way they can benefit from a spending shift. Under present law, you cannot deduct charitable contributions unless you itemize. Starting next year, however, you will be able to use the standard deduction and still deduct some donations, so you may want to delay that contribution to your favorite charity from December to January.

Cowboys slide past Giants

IRVING, Texas (AP)— Even when the Dallas Cowboys have the blahs they play well enough to win. The Cowboys were one of three unbeaten National Football League teams today because they survived the New York Giants 18-10 on a hot, humid Sunday when Tony Dorsett's blocking broke down.

Dorsett, averaging 7.6 yards per carry and 140 yards per game, managed only 70 hardrock yards on 22 carries but quarterback Danny White and a hustling defense picked up the slack.

"We didn't recover from the Monday night game and the loss of sleep," said Dallas Coach Tom Landry. "We had no zip all week and our offense was sluggish."

White threw a 41-yard touchdown pass to Butch Johnson and Rafael Septien kicked three field goals as Dallas stretched its record to 4-0 — best start for the Cowboys since 1977.

Dallas is tied with Philadelphia for the lead in the NFC's Eastern Division. Miami is the only other unbeaten NFL team.

"It was a game of big plays for us," said Landry. "It was also a day for the defense."

"We weren't moving the ball and ... when you don't block and run hard then you neutralize your offense and we let New York do that to us."

The Giants' record fell to 2-2 but Coach Ray Perkins wasn't discouraged by the loss.

"Overall, I think we had as good a game as we could expect," he said. "If we play this way for 60 minutes every game this season, we are going to win a few."

Dallas was leading the NFL in rushing with an average of 204 yards per game but the Cowboys could produce only 124 yards overland.

The Cowboys led 10-3 at halftime. After tradeout field goals, White hit Johnson with the bomb when the mercurial wide receiver beat two defenders downfield.

New York couldn't move in the second half and Dallas settled matters with eight points in the final period that included a weird safety.

Defensive end Ed "Too Tall" Jones slapped the ball away from Giant quarterback Phil Simms and New York recovered in the end zone after a wild scramble.

Dallas rookie defensive back Everson Walls intercepted his fourth pass, which ties him for the lead in the NFL.

"Everson is from Mars," said Charlie Waters. "He just has a knack."

Wide receiver Drew Pearson blamed the effort of beating New England 35-21 Monday night for the lackluster Dallas performance.

"I think we had a little hangover from that Monday night game," he said.

GET OUT OF MY WAY The New York Jets quarterback, Richard Todd, runs the ball Sunday during first quarter action at Shea Stadium in New York. Todd had a very fine day against the Houston Oilers with three touchdowns, 25-39 in passing for a total of 319 yards in the 33-17 victory.

Jets pound Oilers

NEW YORK (AP)— The numbers notwithstanding, Ken Stabler gets plenty of respect.

The Houston Oilers' immobile quarterback was swamped by the New York Jets' secondary Sunday — sacked seven times for 66 yards, intercepted twice (one leading to a touchdown) and victimized by two fumbles as well, each leading to a score. The result was a 33-17 pounding.

Defensive end Mark Gastineau had four sacks during the rout, two of them on the quarterback nicknamed Snake. "When I get back there," he said, "I know it's Stabler and I have a lot of respect for him. I'm not gonna let him go. But I'm not gonna try and bury him, either. I feel sorry for him. I put him down to the ground as easily as I could."

Stabler, sacked eight times last week in a loss to Miami, now has been trapped 18 times in four games. He suggested it was the fault of the Oilers' coaching staff.

"I'm trying to please this guy. I'm trying to please that guy," he said without elaborating. "I'm trying to do this, trying to do that. All I know is, I'm up to my elbows in alligators ... You can't blame the offensive line, can't blame the defensive line, can't blame the passing game or the running game," he said of Sunday's loss, which dropped Houston to 2-2. "It's not that any one thing broke down. Everything broke down."

Stabler completed 10 of 20 passes for 138 yards before coming out of the game midway in the fourth quarter. His counterpart, Richard Todd, had a dazzling day as he directed the Jets to their first victory in four games. Todd completed 25 of 39 passes for 312 yards and three touchdowns — one yard to Kevin Long in the first period and 28 and 39 yards to Wesley Walker (the second on a flea flicker) 1:34 apart in the second quarter.

But Todd wanted no part of anybody after the game. The New York quarterback, criticized by the local media during the team's three losses, snapped that he wasn't talking to anyone, and he stalked out of the locker room.

The Jets' other scores came on Long's 2-yard run, Pat Leahy's 41-yard field goal and a safety when Stabler fumbled a snap into his own end zone and guard-turned-center David Carter fell on it. The Oilers scored on Earl Campbell's 3-yard run, a short loss from Stabler to Kenny Burroughs that wound up as a 70-yard pass play and Toni Fritsch's 36-yard field goal.

"They were hungry. We weren't," Oilers' Coach Eddie Biles said of the Jets. "They executed and we didn't. They'd taken plenty of abuse and they'd made up their minds they were better than that. I guess they proved it to a lot of people — especially to us."

BSSH runners compete in Odessa

The Big Spring High School cross country running team competed this weekend in a meet held at Odessa High. Varsity boys, varsity girls, and junior varsity boys ran in the competition.

The varsity girls were able to manage a fourth place overall finish. Big Spring team results were as follows: 1. Stephanie Russell; 2. Kim Matthews; 3. Janet Fleckenstein; 4. Jane Meyer; 5. Johanna Graumann; 6. Mary Solis; 7. Tammy Smith.

Big Spring varsity boys did not fare quite as well as the girls as they finished in eighth place. Cited for finishing second in the meet and running a personal best was Carl Wolf with a time of 15:30. Also running personal bests were James Hodges, 15:41; Tim McNamara, 16:14; and Curtis Harrison, 16:40. Javier Calderon also ran with a time of 16:37.

Juniors varsity boys mentioned for good performances were Mike Minding, Billy Helm, Preston Harrison, Ismael Carrillo, Bret Crenweige, Quang Mai, and Rolaondo Hallario.

Big Spring coaches said all three teams were improving week by week and attitudes and anticipation are high.

Weekend NFL action

Broncos round-up Chargers, 42-24

While some of his big-name counterparts spent much of the day in a horizontal position, Craig Morton was staying upright and giving the San Diego Chargers the treatment they usually dish out.

The 38-year-old quarterback threw four touchdown passes for the second week in a row Sunday as the Denver Broncos raced to a 35-0 lead and then coasted to a 42-24 victory over the previously unbeaten Chargers. Morton completed a club-record 17 of 18 passes for 308 yards and engineered the Broncos to a whopping 453 yards in total offense.

Meanwhile, San Diego's National Football League-leading attack, led by Dan Fouts, gained 349 yards, but Denver's Orange Crush defense sacked him five times and intercepted three of his passes.

In fact, Sunday was a rough afternoon for several NFL quarterbacks.

Detroit compiled six sacks in a 16-0 victory over Super Bowl champion Oakland and Jim Plunkett; the New York Jets got their first victory, 33-17, over the Houston Oilers with seven sacks of Ken Stabler (eight overall); and the Minnesota Vikings dumped Green Bay QBs Lynn Dickey and David Whitehurst eight times in a 30-13 romp.

In other games, Cleveland beat Atlanta 28-17, Cincinnati outlasted Buffalo 27-24 in overtime, Pittsburgh beat New England 27-21 in overtime, Philadelphia blasted

Washington 36-13, Miami outscored Baltimore 31-28, Kansas City edged Seattle 20-14, San Francisco shaded New Orleans 21-14, Dallas stopped the New York Giants 18-10 and Tampa Bay beat St. Louis 20-10.

Los Angeles visits Chicago tonight. "This is one of the best games I've ever played," said Morton. "We had a couple of long drives, and we were lucky enough to get a couple of breaks. You have to be happy any time you score 42 points on San Diego."

"Craig did a good job, and he also had great protection," said Denver Coach Dan Reeves. "If you give him enough time, he can do a super job."

While Reeves was pleased with the protection given Morton, who is not known for his mobility, San Diego Coach Don Coryell said the Denver defense "played very, very well. I have the utmost respect for (Denver defensive coordinator) Joe Collier."

Morton threw TD passes of 93 and 21 yards to wide receiver Steve Watson, a 19-yarder to tight end Riley Odoms and a 2-yarder to reserve tight end Jim Wright. When Morton left the game with 8:52 left in the third quarter, the Broncos had a 35-0 lead.

Fouts then came alive and flipped two touchdown passes to John Cappelletti and scored another TD himself.

The victories by Denver and Kansas City left them tied with San Diego in the AFC West, all with 3-1 records.

Lions 16, Raiders Oakland was shut out for the first time since 1966 and Detroit got three field goals from Eddie Murray and a key turnover on a kickoff.

Murray gave the Lions a 6-0 lead with a 39-yard field goal with 7:21 left in the game and Luther Bradley recovered a fumble on Oakland's 3 on the ensuing kickoff. On the first play, Billy Sims clinched the victory with a 3-yard TD.

The Lions' Silver Rush defense, in addition to its six sacks for 57 yards, held the defending champion Raiders to 131 total yards.

"I thought it was an outstanding defensive performance and the players and coaches deserve a lot of credit," said Detroit Coach Monte Clark. "We had as good a special teams performance as I've ever seen here or anywhere. And we did it against the world champions, which makes it all the more meaningful."

Jets 33, Oilers 17

New York won its first game as Richard Todd completed 25 of 39 passes for 312 yards and three touchdowns, while Stabler spent a frustrating day on the Shea Stadium turf.

Todd hit Wesley Walker on 28 and 39-yard TD passes, the second on a flea flicker, and Kevin Long scored on two short runs.

The Jets had a darker side to the victory — 15 penalties for 116 yards.

Vikings 30, Packers 13

Tommy Kramer threw two touchdowns passes and the Minnesota defense recovered two fumbles in addition to the eight sacks of Dickey and Whitehurst.

The Packers took a 10-0 lead, but the Vikings scored 20 points in the second quarter, highlighted by Randy Holloway's 45-yard run for a touchdown with a fumble recovery.

Bengals 27, Bills 24

Surprising Cincinnati won its third game as Ken Anderson fired three touchdown passes and Jim Breech booted the game-winning 28-yard field goal with 5:27 to play in overtime.

Anderson rallied the Bengals from a 21-10 deficit to a 24-21 lead, but Buffalo's Nick Mike-Mayer kicked a 40-yard field goal with one second left in regulation play to force the extra period.

Steelers 27, Patriots 21

In the day's other overtime game, Terry Bradshaw threw a 24-yard scoring pass to Lynn Swann 3:19 after regulation time ended.

Winless New England tied the score at 21 with 24 seconds left when Matt Cavanaugh threw a 12-yard touchdown pass to Stanley Morgan.

Browns 26, Falcons 17

Cleveland knocked Atlanta from the unbeaten ranks as Brian Sipe ran for a touchdown and passed for two more in the first half to erase a 10-0 deficit.

NL Round-up

Sutton almost imitates Ryan

After watching Nolan Ryan pitch a no-hitter on Saturday, Don Sutton said he was "stupid enough to think about back-to-back no-hitters."

For a while there Sunday, it almost happened. Sutton held Los Angeles hitless for six innings before finishing with a more-than-respectable two-hitter as the Houston Astros defeated the Dodgers 4-1.

"I felt strong and under complete control and I probably had the best fastball of the year," Sutton said. "It felt quick and alive."

Asked if the enthusiasm of the near-capacity crowd at the Astrodome helped him, Sutton replied, "No, they probably made me make a stupid pitch to (Steve) Sax. I thought I was quicker than I was."

Sax homered in the ninth inning for the only Dodger run and their second hit. Ken Landreaux had singled leading off the seventh to break Sutton's no-hit spell and snap a hitless Dodger drought that lasted 161-3 innings.

Sutton, 11-8, said he should have known better than to offer Sax a fastball, but was still thinking about a no-hitter.

"I even thought about it last night and when I came to the park today," Sutton said. "Then, when things started off right, I thought maybe this would be my day."

Ryan's 5-0 no-hitter Saturday, incidentally, was a record fifth for his career, breaking a tie with Sandy Koufax.

Elsewhere in the National League, Cincinnati beat Atlanta 4-2; New York edged Montreal 2-1; St. Louis outscored Pittsburgh 7-5; Philadelphia beat Chicago 5-2 in the opener of a doubleheader before losing the second game 14-0, and San Francisco stopped San Diego 7-3.

Sutton struck out nine, while pitching his ninth career two-hitter.

The victory allowed the Astros to maintain their 1½ game lead over Cincinnati in the NL West.

Reds 4, Braves 2

Tom Seaver allowed only two hits in five innings and Ken Griffey drove in three runs with a second-inning double, leading Cincinnati over Atlanta. After yielding his only two hits and Atlanta's first run in the first inning, Seaver, 14-2, left the game after straining his right thigh beating out an infield hit in the sixth. He retired 13 straight batters before he was replaced by Mike LaCoss, who earned his first save.

Atlanta's Gaylord Perry, 7-9, failed in a bid for his 29th career victory, allowing eight hits, five of them doubles, in six innings.

Mets 2, Expos 1

Rusty Staub and Ellis Valentine hit run-scoring doubles and Mike Scott (7h, a three-hitter over six innings) to help New York stop Montreal's seven-game winning streak.

The defeat, combined with the Cardinals' victory, cut the Expos' first place margin to 1½ games in the NL East.

Scott, 5-10, left the game with tightness in his right elbow in the seventh. He was replaced by Neil Allen, who gave up a run-scoring bouncer in the ninth to Terry Francona before gaining his 18th save.

The Mets took a 1-0 lead against Steve Rogers, 11-8, in the second when Dave Kingman tripled and scored on Staub's double. Rogers allowed the Mets' second run in the seventh when Lee Mazzilli singled, took second on Alex Trevino's sacrifice bunt and scored on Valentine's double.

Cardinals 7, Pirates 5

Tommy Herr broke out of a 1-for-21 slump with a bases-loaded triple in the fourth inning, leading St. Louis over Pittsburgh. The loss officially eliminated Pittsburgh from the second-half title race in the NL East.

Herr's triple, one of only two Cardinal hits off Pascual Perez, 2-7, followed two walks and an error. Herr then stole home, capping a four-run uprising in support of pitcher Dave LaPoint, making his first NL start. Bruce Sutter gained his 25th save for the Cardinals.

AL Round-up

AL East race tightening

"We haven't quit all year and we're not going to quit now."

That was Boston's Carl Yastrzemski's promise, but it probably was offered with variations in at least five American League East dressing rooms Sunday.

As baseball enters its final week of this unique season, Detroit leads the AL East, Milwaukee is in second by one-half game; Boston is third, one game behind; Baltimore is third, 2½ back; New York is fourth, three games off the pace, and Cleveland is fifth, 4½ games out.

The Tigers moved out front by edging Milwaukee 2-1 Sunday. In other AL East games, Cleveland nipped Boston 8-7 in 11 innings and New York stopped Baltimore 5-2.

In the AL West, Minnesota defeated Texas 5-2, Kansas City shelled Seattle 15-3 and Chicago took a doubleheader from Oakland, 9-5 and 10-3. Toronto slipped by California 4-3 in an interdivisional clash.

With an almost perfect script, the exciting second season ending finds the top six teams in the AL East battling each other this week.

On Sunday, Jorge Orta doubled and scored on a double by Bo Diaz in the 11th inning as the Indians squeezed by Boston. The Indians pulled out the victory after the Red Sox battled back from a five-run deficit, knotting the score 7-7 on Dwight Evans' two-out, two-run, ninth-inning homer.

Orta had a solo homer in the first inning, while Boston's Jim Rice slammed his 16th home run of the year in the bottom of the first.

Tigers 2, Brewers 1

First baseman Ron Jackson made two excellent defensive plays and accounted for both Detroit runs as the Tigers knocked off Milwaukee.

Jackson led off the fourth inning with a double, moved to third on a foul pop-up and scored on a wild pitch.

Then, with the score tied 1-1 in the bottom of the eighth, Jackson singled home Kirk Gibson with the winning run.

Yankees 5, Orioles 2

Reggie Jackson's massive three-run homer powered New York over Baltimore. Dave Righetti, 7-4, survived a shaky start and pitched a four-hitter for the victory. Dennis Martinez, 14-5, was the loser.

After consecutive singles by Willie Randolph, Larry Milbourne and Dave Winfield scored one run, Jackson smashed his 14th homer of the season some 450 feet into the right-center field bleachers. It was only the third time a ball has hit in that area since Yankee Stadium was remodeled.

White Sox 9-10, A's 5-3

Harold Baines, Chet Lemon and Carlton Fisk slammed two home runs each to lead an eight-homer attack as the White Sox swept Oakland.

Twins 5, Rangers 2

Pete Redfern, with final-out help from Doug Corbett, hurled a six-hitter as Minnesota stopped Texas to stay in the thick of the AL West pennant chase.

Royals 15, Mariners 3

Amos Otis drove in four runs with two of Kansas City's seven doubles as the Royals buried Seattle. Every Kansas City starter except Frank White hit safely in the 22-hit barrage against five Mariner pitchers as the Royals snapped Seattle's five-game winning streak, its longest of the year.

Blue Jays 4, Angels 3

A two-run homer by John Mayberry in the eighth powered Toronto over California. Dave Stieb, 10-10, limited the Angels to four hits before Joey McLaughlin came on in the eighth to earn his seventh save.

Garth Iorg singled with one out in the eighth off California starter Angel Moreno, 1-2, and Mayberry followed with his 15th homer of the season to put the Jays ahead.

Daryl Scorniers hit a two-run homer, giving the 22-year-old first baseman six RBI in his last three games.

GEOPHYSICISTS

Aramco will be interviewing in Midland/Odessa on Monday and Tuesday, September 28th and 29th.

Aramco needs outstanding people on the energy frontier. We're offering outstanding incentives to get them: up to 40% pay premium, 40 days' paid vacation every year, and a chance to work with the latest of seismic techniques with the world's largest oil-producing company.

Our geophysical department is expanding its Research, Interpretation and Data Processing groups with openings in both Croydon, England, and Dhahran, Saudi Arabia.

These groups will consolidate in Dhahran, Saudi Arabia, in 1982 at the new Exploration & Petroleum Engineering Center (EXPEC).

The EXPEC Complex will provide researchers and explorationists with the newest computer and support systems, personnel, facilities needed to tackle Aramco's difficult and challenging geophysical problems.

Processing Geophysicists
Processing Analysts. Requires 3 to 5 years' experience for work within a seismic processing team. You'll be responsible for parameter selection and quality control of results.
Senior Processing Geophysicists. 5 to 10 years' experience required. You'll lead a processing team, and be responsible for analysis of seismic problems and processing solutions.
Geophysical Processing Supervisors. You'll need over 10 years' experience, including responsible supervisory work in seismic processing. You'll be responsible for integrating/coordinating the work of several processing teams.
Interpretation Geophysicists
General requirements include a degree in geophysics, or an equivalent combination of related degrees and experience.
Candidates should have a strong technical and geological orientation, plus good knowledge of seismic data acquisition, and the basic principles and techniques of processing.
Seismic Interpreters. Requires 3 to 5 years' major oil company type experience, with a capability to assume responsibility for independent analyses.
Senior Seismic Interpreters. Need 5 to 8 years' responsible independent interpretation experience, utilizing all types of exploratory data. You should be proficient in applying the most recently developed interpretational and seismic data quality enhancement technology.
Senior Geophysicists—Interpretation Supervisors. Requires at least 8 years' experience in same areas as Senior Seismic Interpreters (above), but with supervisory experience. You should have demonstrated capability to supervise technical and imaginative geological/geophysical interpreters.
Senior Geophysical Specialists. We need experts in seismic velocity measurement and analyses; seismic-stratigraphic interpretation; or data base analysis and mapping technology and application.
Research and Development Geophysicists
We seek geophysicists, physicists, electrical engineers and computer scientists with proven competence in one or more of the following: elastic wave propagation, wave equation methods, signal and image processing, forward and inverse modeling and interactive graphics.
You'll work on development and implementation of an integrated system of seismic data acquisition, data processing and interpretation designed to solve the most difficult and complex geophysical problems. There is close cooperation of geological, geophysical and R&D functions, with early field testing of newly developed R&D technology.

Candidates should have an advanced degree in geophysics, physics, or related discipline, with at least 3 years' relevant work experience.

Competitive compensation and benefits
Aramco pays a competitive base salary and a cost-of-living differential that equalizes living expenses between Saudi Arabia and the United States. In addition, Aramco pays an expatriate premium of 40 percent on the first $30,000 of base salary and a 20 percent premium on the next $20,000. And there is an outstanding combination of benefits: long vacations, comfortable housing, abundant recreation and an excellent school system.

Grumman opposes LTV bid

NEW YORK (AP) - The board of directors of Grumman Corp., the nation's fourth largest manufacturer of military aircraft, has decided to oppose an "inadequate" takeover offer by LTV Corp. of Dallas.

Grumman Chairman John C. Bierwirth said Sunday the board unanimously concluded that LTV's offer for 70 percent of Grumman was "inadequate, and not in the best interests of Grumman, its shareholders, employees or the United States." The board met Friday.

LTV last week made a surprise $450 million bid to take over Grumman. Paul Thayer, chairman and chief executive officer of LTV, had said the acquisition would be pursued even if Grumman rejected the bid.

Bierwirth said LTV's offer "raises substantial issues of antitrust violation by virtue of the extensive head-to-head competition between Grumman and LTV." He said Grumman lawyers would seek to bar the takeover on that ground.

Moreover, the offer is not in the national interest. It raises questions such as whether the combination of the two companies would result in a weaker defense capability," Bierwirth's statement said. "The government is likely to lose the benefits of independent research and development by Grumman and of other competitive benefits produced by its existence."

Guards strike at nuclear assembly
AMARILLO, Texas (AP) - Guards at the Pantex nuclear assembly plant near Amarillo went on strike early today after rejecting a contract offer from the plant's management.

The contract was rejected Saturday and pickets went up at the plant at midnight. There are about 185 guards at the plant who are members of Local No. 38 of the International Guard Union of America, a union spokesman said.

Company and union officials have declined to give any information about the contract or the issues involved in rejection of the contract. Plant manager Charles Poole told reporters last week he planned to use an auxiliary guard force made up of regular plant workers if the union called a strike. A strike would pose a security problem, Poole said.

Guards went on strike for 20 days at the plant about two years ago.

Citrus season looking good barring freeze

McALLEN, Texas (AP) — The state's $70 million citrus industry is off to an early shipping start as growers anxiously eye California's ongoing battle against the Mediterranean fruit fly.

"It looks good. We are in as good a condition as we have been in a number of years," said Mike Wallace, executive vice-president of Texas Citrus Mutual, a growers organization.

"We've had a lot of good rain, a lot of fruit, good sizes and quality."

Texas' citrus harvest generally goes into high gear in mid-October. Prices for early oranges and red grapefruit often stay high at about $100 to $125 a ton until after the Christmas demand for gift fruit.

Texas ranks third behind California and Florida in citrus production. Last year's crop included 360,000 tons of grapefruit, 149,000 tons of early oranges and 89,000 tons of Valencia oranges.

In the last four weeks, state and federal agriculture officials have more than tripled the number of traps set in the Rio Grande Valley for the destructive medfly.

"It would be a disaster if we get it in here," said Ray Burns, executive vice president of Interstate Fruit and Vegetable Co. of Donna.

The medfly lays eggs in fruit, destroying its commercial value. It prefers an estimated 50 varieties of fruits and vegetables but can infest a total of 200 wild and domestic plants.

After the eggs hatch, the larvae eat the fruit, then drop and bury into the ground. They emerge later in warm weather as adult flies.

Additional traps have been set locally around citrus groves, along the international boundary of the Rio Grande and in neighborhoods with backyard citrus trees — the type of environment where California's outbreak began.

California's infestation was discovered in June 1980 in a suburban area near San Jose in Santa Clara and Alameda counties.

Wallace and Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown urged California to begin immediate aerial pesticide spraying. California Gov. Jerry Brown resisted until threatened with a national quarantine of all California fruit.

Reagan Brown recently called the California governor a "moonbeam idiot," to which a member of the governor's staff responded by calling Reagan Brown "another Texas idiot."

While the medfly controversy continued 2,000 miles to the west, Jim Walsh of Mission Shippers last week shipped the first early oranges this season from the Valley.

"I've been here since '51 and that's the earliest anybody has shipped," said Walsh. "We've got a good crop, good clean fruit. All that we sent went to Cincinnati."

California is the second largest market for Texas citrus, after Texas itself, said Walsh.

He termed the medfly situation "exaggerated."

"You get a bunch of politicians involved in something, then a bunch of bureaucrats involved and they can make a story out of anything," he said.

Wallace and others are more vocal about the problem.

"They're finding fewer of the flies now, as they did at this time last year," he said.

"Come December and January with cooler weather, they'll say they've eradicated it but then they'll start popping up again in June."

He blames both California and federal officials for letting the medfly situation worsen until aerial spraying was used. Texas successfully fought a 1967 medfly outbreak with the pesticide malathion sprayed by airplanes.

"Control of the program lies with Gov. Brown, but because of his U.S. Senate race, he's backing off and the USDA is becoming more visibly in control," Wallace said.

"The USDA is proceeding to screw up as bad as the state of California."

Texas monitors trucks entering the state at El Paso and Amarillo for fruit coming from the infested areas. The state tried unsuccessfully to require that all California fruit be fumigated before entering Texas.

The Texas and California harvests do not coincide, said Bill Weeks of the Texas Citrus and Vegetables Shippers and Growers Inc.

"Our season does parallel the Florida season," he said. "I would say the medfly situation, unless it spreads, wouldn't have any significant affect on our season in terms of prices and such. Unless we get repercussions from Japan about not letting in certain commodities. Then the domestic market might be flooded and prices would go down."

Last year, Texas growers benefitted from the Florida citrus freeze, which increased demand for Texas fruit and raised prices.

However, Hurricane Allen in 1980 damaged many trees and some groves still were recovering from a killing freeze in 1978.

C'mon Scarsdale, show us your Guccis

SCARSDALE, N.Y. (AP) — Sloppy dressers are sulling the image of this posh New York City suburb, according to a strict coat-and-tie man who wants a dress code adopted for all public places.

"I'm a square, and I've always been one. I wear a coat and tie all the time — except in the shower," said Charles Harwood Jr.

Harwood, who has lived in this wealthy village of 19,000 for five years, made his proposal after a recent visit to Village Court, where he saw people in "short shorts" and cutoff blue jeans.

"It dims the image of our town to have nakedness walking around on our streets," he said in a letter to the village board.

An economist who gives his age as "over 60," Harwood notes there are certain dress requirements for swimming and tennis, nice restaurants and places of business. He did not spell out what kind of code should be required for public places.

The Village Board took the letter under advisement at its meeting this week.

But Janet Sieck, speaking for both the mayor and village manager, said no action is contemplated on Harwood's proposal. And although some village trustees said a form of dress code may not be a bad idea, objections are starting to surface.

"The next thing you know, there'll be a sign at the border saying, 'Entering Scarsdale — Jackets and Ties Required,'" said Peter Schweich, a resident.
