Coast Guard to turn back Haitians' boats

MIAMI (AP) — An official says Coast Guard ships will be on the high seas within days to turn away boats suspected of carrying illegal immigrants, but a lawyer for refugees calls President Reagan's new policy on aliens illegal and racist.

"We interpret the president's proclamation as an order to get going immediately," Tom Stewart, associate director of public affairs for the Justice Department, said Tuesday in Washington.

He said the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service will be stopping refugee boats in the Windward Passage between Haiti and Cuba

"within a matter of days." "It's a matter of getting two INS officers and two Creole interpreters aboard a cutter, and that should not take too long," Stewart said.

President Reagan, declaring the entry of illegal aliens "a serious national problem detrimental to the interests of the United States," told the U.S. Coast Guard Tuesday to stop and board vessels outside U.S. territorial waters if there is reason to believe they are transporting aliens to the country.

"The entry of undocumented aliens from the high seas is hereby suspended and shall be prevented by the interdiction of certain vessels carrying such aliens," Reagan said.

He also directed Secretary of State Alexander Haig Jr. to seek cooperative agreements with foreign governments to prevent illegal migration by sea to the United States.

Reagan did not cite any country by name, but two administration officials said the order was focused on Haiti.

Florida Gov. Bob Graham, reached by telephone in San Juan, Puerto Rico, where he is attending a Southern Governors Association meeting, praised the Reagan policy, but reiterated his past complaints about the federal government's handling of immigration problems.

Graham said he would meet later today in Port-au-Prince, Haiti with President-for-Life Jean-Claude Duvalier and U.S. officials to discuss the issue before the interception of boats begins.

Reagan's order leaves room for admission of a "refugee," as opposed to an illegal or undocumented alien. A refugee is considered to be a person who has a valid claim that he would be persecuted if he returned to his country.

In the past three years, nearly 50,000 Haitian refugees have arrived in south Florida. The state has filed suit against the federal government to reduce the population at an Everglades refugee camp.

Ira Kurzman, a lawyer for the National Emergency Civil Liberties Union and the Haitian Refugee Center Inc. in Miami, criticized the order.

"I think it's impracticable, unworkable and illegal, and we certainly intend to challenge it," said Kurzman, whose groups have sued on behalf of the Haitians challenging INS deportation proceedings. He said the policy will be challenged on grounds it violates a United Nations convention and protocol on the status of refugees, which the United States signed in 1967. The document states refugees who claim they will be persecuted in their country will not be returned.

He also accused the administration of continuing a "racist" policy against Haitians.

"People fleeing for their lives and seeking freedom in the United States are not going to be willing to be sent back to a place that is going to mean their imprisonment and their death," he said.

B-1 bomber, MX receive Reagan okay?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, after months of intense study, has decided to base 100 MX nuclear missiles among 1,000 shelters in the western United States, a knowledgeable Senate source said today.

The source also said Reagan, who will announce his long-range defense plans Friday, wants to manufacture the B-1 bomber rejected by former President Carter, develop Stealth bombers able to evade enemy radar and beef up the U.S. continental air defenses.

But the source, who requested anonymity, said he understands the president has not yet decided where to place the missiles — whether to shuttle them between 1,000 shelters that would be built on federal property in Nevada and Utah or to base some of the missiles in existing Minuteman ICBM silos in other states.

Minuteman silos are concentrated in North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana and Wyoming.

Earlier, Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger said Reagan had made a decision on basing the missiles. But news reports, which said the president had picked sites for the missiles, were riddled with error, he added.

Spokesmen for several members of Congress said, meanwhile, that they had been trying to straighten out the conflicting reports.

An aide to Rep. Jim Santini, D-Nev., "We've been up a good part of the night and this morning" trying to confirm what the president has settled on, but without success.

White House officials, according to Santini aide Mary Lou Cooper, refused comment on the reports and did not reply immediately to a request for a briefing on the decision.

Other congressional sources said the White House had not conducted any briefings on the MX decision for members of Congress.

He refused to discuss specifics until the announcement Friday.

Everything is not up to date in London, Harts discover

By TOMMY HART
Former Herald Editor
I don't know who he is but the worthy who sells all those attack cases to the very sober-looking people who walk around the West End of London must be a very rich individual. Chances are he is Japanese.

London's fashionable West End, the obvious center of the universe, has wall-to-wall people and most all of them carry the kind of articles that identify them as representatives of the business community, as if such accoutrements were extensions of their arms.

The inscrutable Oriental, backed by perhaps the strongest and most stable monetary system in the world, can be seen everywhere in London. Oswald Spengler would have been reassured by his presence.

Some of the Japanese are selling, knowing well they can outbid the Americans in almost anything they market. Others are reaping the rewards of their efforts, to contribute to the success of the goods they hawk.

Judged at first glance, the system simply cannot work in London. There are 100 many people trying to live and co-exist in too small an area. The traffic arteries of London were laid out centuries ago for that time when man got about in horse-drawn carriages, when he lived more by the calendar than by the clock. Today, vehicles clog the road ways, the winding alleys, even the yards and somehow the system does work in a most admirable way.

TOMMY HART reports on London

It succeeds perhaps because of the average Englishman's tolerance for his fellow man and for the conditions that prevail. Where the average Texan would be prone to explode and rate at the whole world if he is delayed as much as 121 seconds on his way to and from work, the average Britisher never seems to get unsettled and would be inclined to back up and embark upon a new route rather than surrender any of his aplomb.

One long-time observer of fellow English types told this reporter last week that the average Londoner's ability to cope in such situations could be charged to apathy rather than tolerance. He said the normal Briton has come to the realization that in the end nothing is going to work anyway.

There are over half as many people living in London and environs alone as there are in the entire state of Texas and most of the regulars along Fleet Street and Oxford Street, as distinguished from New Oxford Street, get their impressions of Texas and Texans from the improbable characters who weave in and out of the television production, "Dallas."

The fun part of a Texan's experience in Londontown comes when he tries to communicate with the average resident of Lambeth, Brompton or Chelsea. If a message gets through to the inquiring party or the person approached, it usually is done by a turbaned visitor from Bombay or a committer from Paris. The King's English doesn't come easy for those restless travelers from San Marcos or Amarillo.

One cannot appreciate the convenience and the practicality of an average American motel until he has stayed in a London hotel. Even checking in to a London inn for transients can be a shattering experience. The attendants don't take your money or accept your credit card and hand you the key to your room. Even if your reservation has been made well in advance, as mine was, you patiently wait, sometimes one or two hours, before the computer used by the clerk tells you there likely will

Price of stamps to hit 20 cents

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service today increased the price of a first-class stamp from 18 cents to 20 cents, effective Nov. 1.

The Postal Service said it has lost almost $126 million in the five months since the rate went up from 15 cents.

Without the increase, "the Postal Service would have incurred continuing and dangerously high operating losses for at least another year," Robert L. Hardesty, chairman of the Postal Service Board, said.

Hardesty said that without the rate increase, the Postal Service would have been forced to borrow money to continue operation.

"This course would have been fiscally irresponsible and inconsistent with the legal mandate that the Postal Service be managed efficiently and economically," he said.

He added, "The Postal Service cannot continue to deliver your mail at 1976 prices."

The Postal Service also raised other mail rates today. The charge for mailing a post card was increased from the present 12 cents to 13 cents as of Nov. 1.

The bulk rate for regular third class mail, now 33 cents per pound, goes to 45 cents on Nov. 1, and at the same time the non-profit bulk rate will increase from the present 15.3 cents per pound to 15.8 cents per pound.

Today's rate hikes represent an unprecedented unilateral action by the Postal Service, which in the past has raised rates only after obtaining approval from the separate Postal Rate Commission.

But the Postal Service can raise rates without that approval. Three times already this year, the Postal Rate Commission rejected formal requests for increasing the first class rate to 20 cents.

The Postal Service board met for three hours Tuesday to again consider raising rates, but Assistant Postmaster General Walter Duka said afterward that no decision would be announced until today.

Boosting the price of stamps without seeking the commission's permission will almost certainly be challenged in court.

The Postal Service had another option — trying once again with the Rate Commission. That would have left rates as they are now until next summer, but the eventual hike could make stamps cost as much as 22 cents.

Consumer advocate Ralph Nader sent letters to members of the Postal Service board asking them to "put a stop to the incessant price hikes which are placing unjust economic barriers in front of all citizens who need to communicate through the postal system."

Nader told the board members that approving the 20-cent stamp would signal that "the current regulatory system is a sham."

Postmaster General William F. Bolger has said repeatedly that the Postal Service needs more revenue than it is getting with the 18-cent stamp. The service is losing money at an annual rate of at least $500 million a year and has suspended most of its building plans, he said.

But the Postal Rate Commission said only this month that the public already pays "fair and equitable rates" under the current 18-cent charge.

Stamp rates have already gone up once this year, the March 22 increase from 15 to 18 cents. The rate stood at 6 cents as recently as 1971.

Since the rate commission was established in 1971, the Postal Service has never raised rates without getting its approval.

SIGN LANGUAGE

To form the sign "Home," place the tips of the "and" hand against the mouth and then on the cheek. Or, place the flat hand against the cheek.

To form "and," touch your fingers to your thumb as shown in the illustration.

The sign for home signifies the place where you eat and sleep, as the tips of the "and" hand against the mouth represents "eat."

To sign dormitory, like "Do you live in the dormitory?" place the right "D" sign on the chin, and then low on the cheek.

Here's a tip for left-handed signers. Don't despair, as most signing manuals picture the signs for right-handed people. These signs should be made in reverse by left-handed signers.

In "The Joy of Signing," the author, Lottie Riekehof, advises that for people who feel comfortable signing with either hand, a decision should be made early on about which hand will be dominant. You might try finger-spelling and signs with one hand, then with the other, then decide which is most comfortable.

During the next few days, the Herald will continue offering "survival signs," or signs used frequently, as well as offer tips to remember when signing to others.

Action/reaction: No transfer policy

Q. Why are students required to attend school in the district in which they reside? If it is possible for a student to transfer out of his present district into another, what procedure would he have to follow?

A. According to Lynn Hise, superintendent of Big Spring schools, state law requires students to attend classes in the district in which they reside. Unless a local district has a no transfer policy, a student may request a transfer to another district. It is then up to the discretion of the receiving district to accept or deny the request.

Big Spring schools operate under the no transfer policy, Hise said.

America needs more skilled workers to prosper: Bentsen

WASHINGTON (AP) — America must produce more skilled workers if it is to ever return to prosperous times and a higher standard of living, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen suggests.

More production depends upon modern, efficient equipment and a skilled labor force, the Texas Democrat said Tuesday in a speech on the Senate floor.

"Either factor alone can increase our rate of productivity increase, but if we can improve both, then we can anticipate a substantial increase."

The nation has taken an important first step in shoring up productivity with the investment and savings provisions in the 1981 tax cut bill, and "it is time now to focus on the state of our skilled labor force," Bentsen added.

Thousands of jobs are open nationwide — with no one to fill them — because they require skills the unemployed don't have, he said.

"Look at the classified section and there're all kinds of job offers, but if you read those things, practically all of them require some kind of skill," Bentsen told The Associated Press.

"We will see more than a million jobs in the next decade just in the computer industry. Those are going to be high-paying jobs, but they're going to require skills. One of the real shortages we're going to have will be in skilled labor, and we ought to be doing all we can to encourage that."

The questionable ability of society to satisfy the demand for skilled labor also applies to other industries such as engineering, tool and dye fabrications, bookkeeping and accounting, nursing, transportation and communications, the Texas Democrat added.

"We're going to have to find a way to bridge that gap and get people over into those kinds of industries," Bentsen said.

The federal bureaucracy may not be the best one to address the problem, he added.

Perhaps the best approach, Bentsen said, would be for government to facilitate efforts by private industry to train and relocate the skilled labor it needs.

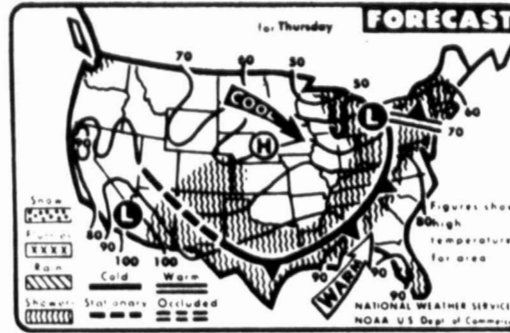

Congress should look at ways to bring young people into the work force quicker, Bentsen said.

"We have got to find ways to get some of these young people involved. We can't just put them on a shelf. We've got to find ways for them to become productive members of the society," he said.

"I think maybe we ought to do more like they do in Germany in getting the private sector to bring young people in — people in high school and college — and give them a tax incentive if they'll hire these young people and provide training for them."

Bentsen said he intends to take a close look at what Germany and other countries are doing to assure their economies of an adequate supply of skilled workers before he suggests specific proposals for the United States.

Weather

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for Thursday predicts showers in portions of Washington and Florida in a large area stretching from the Southwest to the Great Lakes to the northeast.

Cooler weather forecast Thursday

By The Associated Press

Clear skies and warm temperatures were forecast for most of Texas today although scattered showers and thunderstorms were forecast for the coastal plains and the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

It was to be partly cloudy over the remainder of South Texas and portions of West Texas and clear elsewhere. Highs were to be in the 80s and 90s.

Scattered showers were reported early today in the Valley while the rest of the state had clear skies. Some fog was reported along the coast.

Early morning temperatures ranged from the low 60s in the Panhandle to the mid 70s in North Central Texas and far South Texas. A few readings in the mountains of West Texas dipped into the 50s. Extremes ranged from 61 at Dalhart to 74 at McAllen.

Showers and thunderstorms stretched from southern Minnesota to near southern Lake Michigan while showers were reported in northern Utah and southern Wyoming.

Rain lingered Tuesday across the southern tip of Texas and across southern Florida with fair skies reported across the rest of the nation.

Showers were forecast for Wednesday from the northern plains through the upper Mississippi Valley to the upper Great Lakes and the mid Atlantic coast.

Scattered thundershowers were forecast for southern Florida while snow showers were expected in northern Maine.

Highs for Wednesday were expected to be in the upper 40s and 50s from the northern Rockies through North Dakota and the northern Great Lakes to the northeast. Temperatures in the 80s and low 90s were forecast for the southern Atlantic coast through the middle and lower Mississippi Valley to the southern high plains, and in the southwestern deserts and California valleys.

Temperatures around the nation at 3 a.m. EDT ranged from 33 degrees in Rochester, N.Y. to 82 degrees in Melbourne, Fla.

DPS trooper killed, policeman is wounded

LOS FRESNOS, Texas (AP) — A Texas Department of Public Safety trooper was shot to death and a Los Fresnos policeman wounded in two separate but apparently related shootings in the Lower Rio Grande Valley late Tuesday, a DPS spokesman said.

DPS spokesman David Wells in Austin said David Irvine Rucker, 37, was found shot to death in front of his patrol car on Texas 100 about six miles east of Los Fresnos late Tuesday.

Wells said the shooting was discovered shortly after other DPS officers were asked to assist Los Fresnos police after one of their officers was shot.

He said it appeared that Rucker, who had been shot in the head, had stopped a motorist for a traffic violation at the time of the shooting.

Los Fresnos officer Enrique Carrisalez, shot in the side, was in guarded condition early today at Valley Baptist Medical Center in Harlingen, according to Wells.

A Los Fresnos police spokesman said Carrisalez was wounded after he stopped a motorist for a routine traffic violation.

Officers said a friend riding with the Los Fresnos officer witnessed the shooting and was able to provide investigators with a license number.

Officers traced the vehicle to an Edinburg home and seized it. The man believed to have been driving was not found although an arrest warrant was issued, police said.

Rucker, who had been with the DPS for 12 years, was survived by his wife, Theima, and three children. He was a native of Brownsville and was stationed at Port Isabel.

Texas Ranger Bruce Casteel of Harlingen, several DPS officers from South Texas, state narcotics officers and local police were investigating the shooting early today, Wells said.

Rucker was the second DPS officer killed in the line of duty in 1981, Wells said. Howard W. Jordan was killed June 2 when he was struck by a van while weighing a truck on U.S. 59 at Atlanta.

Three pre-schoolers killed in fire at day care center

HOUSTON (AP) — A fire that killed three pre-school children at a day care center probably started in a wall near one of the building's exits, but the cause is still uncertain, a fire department official said.

"Some of the kids were 5, old enough to play with matches, and some of the adults smoked. There's no telling at this point what started it," said Deputy Chief Carl Hooker.

An investigation will continue today, said Hooker, adding that he did not see any fire code violations at the center and that there were no other casualties in the fire.

Two girls and a boy were killed in the 3 p.m. blaze Tuesday when they became trapped in a bathroom without windows.

"It had to be the most horrible death that can be imagined," Hooker said. "The kids couldn't get out and the adults couldn't get in."

An employee, Sally Thomas, said she knew the three children were still inside the burning building, but heat and smoke prevented a rescue.

"I couldn't get back in," a sobbing Ms. Thomas told reporters. "I went back and got one but then I couldn't go back any more."

Parents began showing up during the afternoon, weeping and looking for their children. Twenty-two children, including two infants, escaped unharmed.

Harris County medical authorities identified the dead children as Shamaron Brooks, 2, Cheryl Starghill, 3, and Randrick Frazier, 2, all of Houston.

Hooker said the fire was put out in about 10 minutes.

"It was confined to half of one room. We make them (fire calls) like this every day. But they were potty-training those kids in a bathroom in the back, and there was no way out except the door they came in," he said.

The rear of the house was charred and soaked, but the front of the building was undamaged. Chairs and tables were thrown haphazardly about the front, and little jackets and sweaters hung unscorched on hooks.

The owner, Charlene Norris, said the children had just gotten up from their naps and were using the bathroom when the fire broke out.

She said she was not there when it started.

"I got back a little after 3, about 10 minutes after the fire had started. By that time they (neighbors) had the children all safe," she said.

"I did what the Lord told me to do," Mrs. Norris said. "He told me to open a school for children and educate them and that's what I did."

She told reporters her facility had been approved by city fire inspectors.

"All my tests were up-to-date, all my fire extinguishers — everything they (fire inspectors) asked me to get, I got. What happened I don't know."

Earthquake rattles Sierra Nevada area

BISHOP, Calif. (AP) — A powerful earthquake awakened residents in a wide area of the Sierra Nevada early today, knocking out electricity in some places and jostling canned goods from grocery shelves, officials said.

There were no immediate reports of serious damage or injuries from the tremor.

The earthquake measured 5.7 on the Richter scale, said Bruce Schecter of the U.S. Seismological Station in Berkeley, and was followed by "numerous" aftershocks, the strongest of which measured 3.5 on the scale.

The quake, which lasted up to 20 seconds, struck just before 5 a.m.

Bishop police, who said they had many calls from residents, reported power outages.

The earthquake was felt as far away as Sacramento, about 150 miles northwest, and early reports placed the epicenter in the Mammoth Lakes region about 40 miles northwest of Bishop, said Schecter.

"We're just rocking and rolling. We have had one, pretty sharp, in the Mono County area," said Inyo County sheriff's dispatcher Bill Jessup. "My wife's plants were swinging back and forth."

He said there was slight damage to stores, with "canned goods falling off shelves."

Wallace Hereford Ranch sale set

The Wallace Hereford Ranch has announced its eighth annual production sale for 12:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 24. The sale will take place 10 miles northeast of Big Spring at the ranch located at the intersection of State Highway 350 and the Snyder highway.

The sale will include 48 registered Hereford bulls, two longhorn bulls, and a select group of Hereford heifers.

All cattle will be tested for Bangs and TB within 30 days of the sale and the cattle can be shipped anywhere. Terms of the sale are cash.

All cattle selling are guaranteed to be breeders. Bulls 18 to 24 months of age or older must be returned to the ranch within 90 days of the sale date if there is any doubt as to their fertility and the ranch reserves the right to try said bulls for a period of 90 days before any settlement is made.

Bulls under 18 months of age and returned to the ranch is thought to be breeders: the same terms as outlined will then apply.

Tackling key issues

WASHINGTON, D.C. — With primary attention directed toward the economic recovery program, which will be continuing, other major issues to be addressed by Congress this year have been overlooked to some degree.

I have discussed the Omnibus Farm Bill, due to be considered by the full House either this week or next, at considerable length, but I would like to touch on some other important issues that Congress will be tackling sometime this fall or the beginning of 1982.

IMMIGRATION — Some heated battles are expected during hearings on the White House's comprehensive immigration and refugee policy during hearings expected in Congress in late September. Most controversial provisions deal with granting amnesty to illegal aliens already in the country, as well as plans to set up an experimental "guest worker" program; create penalties for employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens; and enforce existing statutes more strictly.

Because Texas shares such a large border with Mexico, these proposals will be of special interest to the state and its economy, especially those aimed at stemming the flow of nearly 500,000 undocumented aliens per year into the country.

Congressman

Charles W. Stenholm

Congressional Comment

CLEAR AIR ACT — The Act comes up for renewal Sept. 30, but could be extended in its present form until an agreement on proposed changes can be reached. The White House is seeking to ease the standards, especially those controlling emissions from cars and coal-fired plants.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE — Both the House and Senate are considering legislation aimed at reducing crime and improving the criminal justice system. The House will consider a bill that would reauthorize federal enforcement agencies to use in their fight against crime. We expect this bill to come to the House floor by the end of September.

The Administration also has been considering strengthening existing legislation, but has yet to bring any specific plans to Congress.

AWACS SALE — A negative vote by either the House or the Senate could block proposed sale of five Airborne Warning and Control Systems (AWACS) surveillance planes to Saudi Arabia. The President feels the sale could help slow Soviet inroads into the Middle East, while some members feel the sale, part of an $8.5 billion package, could endanger Israel's national security.

MX MISSILE — Indications point to the White House proposing a scaled-down version of the MX missile, placing about 100 missiles in about 1,000 underground shelters in two counties in Nevada. There had been some discussion of considering portions of West Texas and New Mexico for the sites, but plans for that secondary site have evidently been dropped.

Those are some of the highlights of major legislation that is "waiting in the wings" for action by the House this session, but primary focus of action on the Hill continues to be the economy and related problems.

HAIG IN A HUDDLE — U.S. Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., left, listens intently Tuesday to Brazilian Ambassador to the United Nations Sergio Correa De Costa. The two were talking at a reception in the U.S. Mission to the U.N. in New York City.

Four Iranian leaders killed in plane crash

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Four of Iran's top military commanders and an unknown number of other people died in a plane that crashed in the public square of a Tehran suburb, the government said today.

Defense Minister Col. Musa Namju, the chief of staff Maj. Gen. Valeollah Fallahi, and former defense minister and air force commander Col. Javad Fakuri were killed when a U.S.-made C-130 transport crashed late Tuesday 13 miles south of downtown Tehran in Kahrizak, Tehran Radio said, quoting an air force communique.

It also said Mohsen Kolaheoz, acting commander of the Islamic Revolutionary Guard militia, was killed in the crash.

The four were returning from victory ceremonies in Iran's embattled southwest oil province of Khuzistan to celebrate their weekend offensive that broke Iraq's 11-month siege of the Iranian oil refining city of Abadan, the communique said. The plane was also loaded with war casualties.

There was no word whether sabotage caused the crash in the struggle between the government and leftist guerrillas of the Mujahedeen Khalq organization blamed for a three-month campaign of bombings and assassinations.

"This sort of accident, immense as it might be, not only does not weaken the will of the armed forces and the revolutionary guards, but rather heightens their decisiveness in dealing with the enemy," said the communique.

The military said there were more killed and wounded in the plane that took off from Ahvaz, capital of Khuzistan, with a load dead and wounded Iranian troops in addition to the top military commanders. But no figures were given.

"We do not know at this point, but the plane was totally destroyed," said an official at Iranian joint chiefs of staff when asked by telephone about the cause of the crash.

An official at Tehran Radio who declined to be named said in a telephone interview there were civilian casualties on the ground because of the crash but said exact figures were unavailable.

The government proclaimed a three-day mourning period and scheduled funerals Thursday at the military academy in Tehran.

Spot check: Most states denied compensation to air controllers

By The Associated Press

At least seven states say striking air traffic controllers already are collecting unemployment compensation or soon will be eligible for those benefits, and the Federal Aviation Administration says "there's not much we can do about it."

An Associated Press spot check on Tuesday showed some controllers in Vermont collecting benefits, others in Connecticut are now eligible and those in New Jersey, Oregon, Alaska, Arkansas and Missouri will be eligible within several weeks.

Most states have denied such compensation to the controllers, either because the strike by the Professional Air Traffic Controllers Organization is illegal or because the workers were fired for misconduct. Workers are appealing those decisions in New York, California, Florida and several other states.

In a few states, however, workers fired for misconduct are eligible for benefits after a waiting period that ranges to about two months.

Connecticut Labor Commissioner P. Joseph Ferraro this week decided his state should pay unemployment benefits to striking controllers because the firings were the result of "a single incident of misconduct," not "repeated willful misconduct" that would disqualify them under state law.

About half of Connecticut's 75 fired controllers have applied for the benefits, which could amount to up to $190 a week for 26 weeks.

About 12,000 air traffic controllers went on strike Aug. 3, and President Reagan began firing them a few days later because they had violated both federal law and an oath they had taken not to strike.

Words of hymn come true for woman

MARLIN, Texas (AP) — The old blind woman survived for decades in a world of poverty and constant fear, never leaving the battered wooden shack with windows nailed down and doors boarded with plywood.

Since she lost her vision 21 years ago, Ethyl Pleasant has been robbed twice, the last time in 1977 when a pair of bandits made off with her entire life savings — $43.

But now, at 85, Mrs. Pleasant has been given a somewhat belated second sight.

"Oooh... amazing grace, how sweet it is," the diminutive woman said, tapping her favorite book for words to describe her new view on life. "I was blind, but now I see."

Mrs. Pleasant this summer became the ideal model for Fight for Sight, a pilot program established by the Falls County office of the Economic Opportunities Advancement Corp.

When EOAC rural coordinator Ann Vaughan discovered the rotting back-wood shack where Mrs. Pleasant was huddled up, she also discovered the old woman was blind.

"She hadn't been to a doctor in 25 years and was scared to death when strangers came to her house," Mrs. Vaughan said. "We convinced her she was eligible to have her house weatherized through agency funding, but getting her to have an eye exam was something else."

Once the caseworker had gained the old woman's confidence, however, Mrs. Pleasant made the first of three trips to Scott and White Hospital in Temple, where an ophthalmologist eventually removed severe cataracts from both eyes.

"The dear old lady — we call her Granny like in the 'Beverly' Hillbillies' show — said her father died blind and she was to die blind, too," Mrs. Vaughan said.

"And lo and behold, she can see so well now that she doesn't even have to wear glasses."

Dr. Louis Adams performed initial surgery on Mrs. Pleasant's left eye in May and operated on her right eye in June. Through the summer, Mrs. Pleasant was forced to wear "blind-binders" to ease the transition from total darkness to light.

And now, as Mrs. Vaughan says, Granny is "friskier than a kitten."

"The biggest problem now is getting her to take it easy. It's like she's trying to cram 20 years of lost time into every day," the caseworker said.

"We are letting her work in her garden, but when we drove up last week and the poor old soul was chopping wood, I had to draw the line."

The icing on the story, Mrs. Vaughan said, would be to locate Mrs. Pleasant's long-lost daughter, Willie Mae, who ran away from home as a teenager. Mrs. Pleasant's other five children died as infants, but about five years ago, a friend heard Willie Mae was living in or near Waco.

Recent attempts to track down Mrs. Pleasant's daughter have been in vain, the caseworker said, but she vowed to keep the search alive.

Since the restoration of Mrs. Pleasant's sight, Fight for Sight has bloomed.

New laws will provide tax cures for tax quirks

EDITOR'S NOTE — Millions of Americans pay a tax penalty simply because they are married. Millions more suffer from another quirk in the tax code called bracket creep. The 1981 tax cut attacks both problems. Here, in the third of a four-part series, is a report on the changes.

By The Associated Press

The 17 million working couples in the United States will get a big break from the 1981 tax cut: a reduction in the marriage penalty which forces them to pay more tax than single people with the same income.

The relief will not arrive until 1982; it will show up as a deduction on the tax return due in 1983. It will not eliminate the inequity; it will simply reduce it. But the savings will still be substantial; a couple with a joint income of $35,000, for example, will save over $1,000.

Here's how the law will work: Starting next year, a married couple with two wage earners can deduct, from their income, part of the money earned by the spouse with the lower salary. In 1982, you can deduct 5 percent of the lower of your two incomes, up to a maximum of $1,500. In 1983, the maximum deduction will rise to 10 percent or $3,000, whichever is less.

Here's an example of what the change will mean:

Under current law, a husband and wife with no children and a combined income of $40,000 pay $7,531 in federal income tax, assuming they use the standard deduction and file a joint return. If they were single, with one of them earning $15,000 and the other earning $25,000, they would pay $6,520 in federal income tax. The marriage penalty is $1,411. (If the couple filed separate returns, the tax on incomes of $15,000 and $25,000 would total $6,348.)

Under the new law, the couple in the above example could deduct $750 from their 1982 income — 5 percent of $15,000. Their federal income tax, at current rates, would be $7,553. That's $1,133 more than they would pay if they were single, with the same salaries, but it is $276 less than they would pay without any change in the law. (Note: These figures do not take into account other aspects of the tax cut, such as the overall reduction in withholding rates.)

The higher your tax bracket, the bigger the potential savings. For a couple in a 30 percent bracket — meaning a taxable income of around $30,000 a year at current rates — a $3,000 deduction equals a tax cut of $900. For a couple in the 50 percent bracket — a taxable income of about $50,000 a year — a $3,000 deduction is worth $1,500.

The marriage penalty stems from the fact that federal income tax rates are progressive. This means that the more money you earn, the bigger the percentage of your income you must pay in taxes. The Internal Revenue Service looks on a married couple as one working unit, rather than as two separate wage earners.

You cannot escape the penalty by filing individual returns on individual incomes. The tax rates for married couples filing separate returns are higher than the rates for single people with the same incomes. The overall tax rate on the separate returns of a married couple also is higher than the rate for the combined income on a joint return.

The progressive nature of the income tax structure is responsible for another problem which Congress tackled when it passed the 1981 Economic Recovery Tax Act. The problem is called bracket creep. It happens when you get a raise and your higher income pushes you into a higher tax bracket.

The solution adopted by Congress is something known as "indexation." This means adjusting tax brackets, exemptions and deductions to take inflation into account. Some states and foreign countries have been indexing taxes for years. Many benefit programs, including Social Security, also are indexed; when the cost of living goes up, so do the benefits.

The new tax law provides indexation of federal income taxes beginning in 1985. The standard deduction — now at $2,300 for individuals and $3,400 for married couples — will be adjusted to reflect inflation, as measured by the Consumer Price Index. The $1,000 personal exemption also will be indexed and tax brackets will be changed to make sure that no one moves into a higher bracket unless his or her income increases by more than the cost of living.

Here's an example to show how it would work: Suppose the Consumer Price Index rises by 10 percent in 1984. The standard deduction in 1985 would rise to $2,530 for an individual and $3,740 for a married couple. The personal exemption would go to $1,100. And the upper limit for each tax bracket would rise by 10 percent.

Like the reduction in the marriage penalty, indexation can make a big difference in the tax bill. The Tax Foundation Inc., a research group in Washington, D.C., looked at the effect of indexation on a family of four which has a $25,000 income and uses the standard deduction.

Under current law, the family's federal income tax is $3,497.

Cards move back into East lead

By the Associated Press
For St. Louis third baseman Ken Oberkfell, the way to the National League East "Second Season" title is simple. "We've got to go after all our games and win them," Oberkfell said after powering the Cardinals to an 8-4 victory over the Montreal Expos Tuesday night and straight loss.

We needed it." Oberkfell had four hits and three RBI in the Cards' victory. Gene Tenace chipped in with a two-run double in the 13-hit St. Louis attack. "Everything's a crucial hit at this time of the year," said Tenace. "You just have to take each hit and each day one at a time." The victory, St. Louis' fourth straight, moved the Cards back in front of the Expos. Montreal, which had a 2 1/2-game lead four days ago, suffered its third

A's hurler uses incentive in win

Oakland Manager Billy Martin gave left-hander Tom Underwood the ball — and a little incentive. "I told him that if we face certain clubs in the playoffs, I might use him as a starter," said Martin. Underwood, who only had one previous start during the second half of this season, responded with a four-hitter Tuesday night to lead the A's to a 5-1 triumph over the Toronto Blue Jays. The "certain clubs" referred to by Martin are the Detroit Tigers and New York Yankees — two American League East teams with strong left-handed hitting. But first the A's will have to win the AL West playoffs, of course. "We're not looking that far ahead," said Underwood. "You can be assured I'm being primed for certain teams, but we've got a long way to go before worrying about Detroit or New York." The A's victory kept them 1 1/2 games behind Kansas City in the second-half West race. The Royals held onto their slim lead with a 4-2 decision over Minnesota. Meanwhile, Detroit moved into first place in the East by a half-game after defeating Baltimore 14-0 while Milwaukee was losing to Boston 7-2. The results left the Red Sox in third place, a game back. Elsewhere in the AL, it was Cleveland 3, New York 2, California 5, Chicago 1 and

Lady Steers win; move closer to 5-5A showdown

ABILENE — The Big Spring Lady Steers volleyball team continued their quest for the first half title in District 5-A AAAA by stopping Abilene Cooper 15-5, 15-13 in action last night. The win moved the Lady Steers record to 5-0 in first half action, as they remained tied for the lead with defending champion San Angelo. On the season, Big Spring is 14-6. BSHS Coach Patty Purser noted the blocking at the net of Tracy Williams and Sylvia Randle as being one of the outstanding aspects in last night's win. "They had one girl that was a real good spiker, and we blocked about five straight shots that really helped," noted Purser.

Others drawing the praise of the Lady Steer tutor were Paula Spears at the net, Pam Caudill's defense, and the setting of Randle.

Randle with two and Janie Phillips with one.

In the JV contest, Big Spring emerged with an 8-15, 15-9, 15-4 win. The triumph moved the BSHS JV girls record to 3-2 in district, and their season mark to 6-4. Sherrie McAllister had 12 service points for the Lady Steer JVs, with Tammy Yancey and Debbie Donelson adding eight, and Sherrie Graham, Tris Clemons and Beverly Tubb adding three each.

The Big Spring JV girls finished second in the Seminole Tournament over the weekend. They topped Kermit and Crane in their first two matches, losing to Snyder in the championship round.

Ride to Steers 5-5A opener vs. Abilene available now

The Big Spring Booster Club will be sponsoring a trip to the Big Spring vs. Abilene District 5-A AAAA opener on Friday night at P.E. Shotwell Stadium. A chartered Greyhound Bus will be used for the trip, which will have a fee of $12.50 for adults and $10.50 for students. The price includes both the round trip to Abilene and the ticket for the game. The bus will leave the East parking lot at BSHS at 5:00 p.m. Friday. All those interested in reserving a seat on the bus should contact John Weeks at 3-1246.

As Steers prep for 1st district foe

Abilene stronger than expected

By NATHAN POSS
Before the season started, some observers wrote the Abilene Eagles off as a cellar dweller in the 1981 District 5-A AAAA race, but Big Spring Football Coach Ralph Harris is quick to discount that theory as his Steers prep for their league opener against the Eagles Friday night in Abilene.

The Eagles opened with a 20-7 loss to Wichita Falls Rider, but then came back to beat the fifth ranked team in the state in Class AAAA, Weatherford, by a 14-0 score. In their final non-district encounter, Abilene fell to Longview 21-13.

Harris noted that the strongest part of the Abilene game is their defense and kicking game, although the Eagle offense has shown improvement. "They do a good job defensively," said Harris. "They're always moving around and stunting a lot. They're an aggressive defense."

Quarterback Karl Kearney is described by Harris as "a good athlete, capable of hurting a defense both running and passing." While Harris feels that the open date will probably help the Eagles improve their new offense, the Steer mentor also feels the extra time before district action starts has been

The Big Spring Bass Club will meet Thursday night at 7:30 at the Kentwood Activity Center. Guest speaker for the event will be city manager Don Davis, as well as Jim Byers of Moss Creek. There will also be a film shown. Jerry Avery and W.C. Earnst were

Ageless fungo hitter loved by young and old

By The Associated Press
There's no category in the baseball record books for such items as the most fungoes hit in a season or consecutive years of putting on a uniform. But, if there were, Jimmie Reese would hold both marks — carved in stone, undisputed and unmatchable. "I guess I've hit more than 2 million fungoes in my time," says the tall, silver-haired coach of the California Angels. "It's hard for me to remember a time that I didn't have to rush to the ball park." Reese celebrates his 76th birthday Thursday. He will observe it as he has for the last 64 years, with a bat in his hand. There's not a man alive who has had a longer, unbroken association with the game. "Me, retire?" he repeated a question over the telephone from Chicago, where the Angels closed their series with the White Sox before moving on to Texas for the season windup. "Guess they'll have to tear this uniform off me." No one is so inclined. Reese, once a Yankee roommate of Babe Ruth, has become an institution, one of the most respected and admired men in the sport although relatively unknown outside its environs. Los Angeles born, Reese started as a bat boy for the old Angels in the Pacific Coast League when he was 11 years old. There hasn't been a break since.

He lugged bats for six years, broke in as an infielder with Oakland of the PCL, did a brief stint in the majors with the Yankees and St. Louis Cardinals, then took root as a minor league player and coach with LA, San Diego, Seattle, Hawaii and Portland before returning to the majors as an Angels coach 10 years ago. His specialty is hitting fungoes. He may be the greatest fungo hitter who ever lived. A ramrod-straight 6-footer, Jimmie is always one of the first at the park and one of the last to leave. He makes all the road trips and participates in all of the Angels' outside activities. He is more than an ornament. "I keep active and take 80 vitamins a day, 40 at breakfast and 40 at supper," he says. "For a hobby, I make picture frames. I don't sell them. I give them to my friends. It keeps me out of the saloons." For all his baseball longevity, Reese can't look forward to a fat pension, a luxury of the modern ball player. But the veteran coach is never neglected; in fact, he is pampered by his admiring associates. This was reflected earlier this month when Rod Carew threw his annual team party at his home in Anaheim. Reese, who lives alone in Westwood, begged off, saying, "I'm afraid my old jalopy can't make the 80-mile trip." Carew, insistent, got Don Baylor to pick up the team's favorite fungo-hitter. When Reese arrived on the scene, cars were parked everywhere.

STILL A COACH — California Angels' Jimmie Reese, shown during a recent road game in Chicago, will celebrate his 76th birthday, Thursday, as he has for years: with a bat in his hand. "I guess I've hit more than 2 million fungoes in my time," he said.

Korean capital bid impressive for 88 Olympics

BADEN-BADEN, West Germany (AP) — It looked like a photo finish today in the contest to stage the 1988 Olympic Games. Seoul, capital of South Korea, a developing country with a 10 per cent economic growth rate, apparently made a good impression on the International Olympic Committee when it presented its bid for the Summer Games Tuesday. The alternative is the Japanese industrial city of Nagoya, which has been a runaway favorite for months. In recent weeks, Seoul has steadily gained ground. IOC members and sports officials reported favorably on its sports facilities. The IOC was choosing the 1988 host city by secret ballot today. It was also deciding between three rival candidates for the Winter Games — Calgary in Canada, Cortina d'Ampezzo in Italy and Falun in Sweden. That apparently was an equally close race. The IOC spent all of Tuesday listening to the bids of the five candidate cities. Seoul came last, and it was clear its presentation made a good impression. Afterward, the IOC went into an unscheduled meeting with the international federations which run the sports in the Olympic Games. The federations, which had attended the bids presentation for the first time in history, requested the extra meeting to discuss technical points. At the meeting with the federations, one of the principal speakers was Adriaan Paulen, who recently retired as president of the International Amateur Athletic Federation. He has been a strong supporter of Seoul. It has always been the policy of the IOC to send the Games round the world as much as possible. Nagoya's biggest drawback may have been that Japan has had the Olympics twice in recent years — the Summer Games in Tokyo in 1964 and the Winter Games in Sapporo in 1972. At last week's Olympic Congress, involving the IOC, the federations and the 140 national Olympic committees, the mood was strongly against setting up a permanent home for the Games in Greece.

Billy Martin drops boycott threat after proving point

OAKLAND (AP) — Oakland A's Manager Billy Martin has dropped his threat to boycott the first round of American League playoffs following assurances that the club will compensate coaches for the games. "It's a dead issue now. I think we made our point," Martin said Tuesday. Martin — together with his coaches — had vowed to sit out the playoffs in protest of the player-owner agreement that provided no guarantee managers and coaches would share in the divisional playoff revenue. "I still think it's 100 percent wrong, but now everybody knows about it. I don't think it will happen again," Martin said. A's President Roy Eisenhardt said he would allot part of the club's 18.5 percent share of the revenue from the first three games to compensate the coaches and team support personnel. Many of the A's players already had said they planned to vote a share of their playoff winnings to the coaches.

"My intention will be to give them roughly the same share as the players," Eisenhardt said. "Billy won't be paid, which should illustrate that he was pursuing fairness, not his own well-being." The A's, winners of the AL West first-half title, will open the divisional playoffs next Tuesday, probably in Kansas City. The Kansas City Royals held a 1 1/2-game lead over Oakland in the division after Tuesday's games and will clinch a playoff spot if they win the second half or finish second to the A's.

As Biles says team will move back to I-attack

Oilers trade Rob Carpenter to Giants

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers finally did what Rob Carpenter begged them to do in the off-season — trade him — but now it may be too late.

"At this point I don't anticipate playing any more football in the National Football League," Carpenter said Tuesday after learning that head coach Ed Biles had traded him to the New York Giants for future draft choices. "I didn't get a clear explanation why I was traded but I anticipated that I would be the scapegoat in this situation."

Carpenter had demanded a trade after last year, until Biles convinced him that Houston's new offense would be more suited to Carpenter's skills.

But in four regular-season games, Carpenter netted only 74 yards on 18 carries and 80 yards on 13 pass receptions.

"I'm not bitter about this but I think it is comical," Carpenter said. "I wanted to be traded and they practically begged me to stay. I told them all during the off-season that it wouldn't work out and you see I was right. They traded me."

Carpenter, a versatile running back capable of catching passes out of the backfield as well as running inside, apparently does not fit in with Biles' planned offensive changes.

"I thought we had to do some things differently on offense," said the coach. "It's unfortunate Rob feels like the scapegoat. That's not our intention. We're just trying to win football games. This was in the best interests of the Houston team."

The Oilers offense has been dismal through four regular-season games. The Oilers have converted only eight of 51 third-down chances and quarterback Ken Stabler has been sacked 15 times in the last two games.

Biles said the Oilers would operate more out of the I-formation with Tim

Wilson starting at fullback, and Earl Campbell at tailback.

"You can't keep everyone happy," Biles said. "We will not be using some of the formations that would utilize Rob's skills, so he would not be happy."

Campbell said a return to the I-formation might be better for the football team.

"But I still go back to my statement that you can have Tim Wilson, Earl Campbell and Jim Brown all in the same backfield and not get it done if you don't execute."

MAD AT HIMSELF — Houston Astros Phil Garner throws his helmet down in disgust after being doubled off first base in the eighth inning Tuesday night in the Astrodome. Astros Tony Scott lined to Padres second baseman Juan Bonilla who made a leaping catch to end the inning. It was a frustrating evening for the NL-West leading Astros who lost 2 to 1.

Cowboy rookie Walls gets Gray test Sunday

DALLAS (AP) — Rookie cornerback Everson Walls has finally received a coveted starting job just in time to face Mel Gray, who has caught 14 career touchdown passes against the Dallas Cowboys.

Dallas Coach Tom Landry announced Tuesday that Walls, who has intercepted three passes in four games as a backup, will replace Steve Wilson Sunday against the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cardinals also announced that Gray will come off the injury list for the game in Busch Stadium.

"Walls just hasn't been getting beat out there, but I'm sure Gray will give him some interesting moments," Landry said.

Landry said, "It's not that Steve has been playing bad. It's just that Walls has been playing good enough to be the starter. We want to look at him more."

The Grambling product also intercepted three games during the preseason.

Landry said the Cardinals would be a lot tougher than the team that fell 30-17 during the second week of the season without quarterback Jim Hart and Gray.

"The Cardinals play much better at home and their offense will be different than the one we faced earlier," said Landry. "They may be 1-3 but I've never seen a Cardinal team quit."

The unbeaten Cowboys were early six point favorites over the Cardinals.

On another topic, Landry denied a rumor he was going to be in the front office instead of the sidelines next year.

Harold Ballard, owner of the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Football League, was quoted Monday as saying Coach Frank Kush had been offered a job with the Cowboys.

"I don't think there is a lot to it," Landry said with a smile. "Of course, you will have to ask somebody besides me."

Landry has coached the Cowboys in all 21 years of the team's existence.

Tex Schramm, president and general manager of the Cowboys, was more candid, saying "somebody up there (in Canada) must be smoking something. It irritates me to even have to recognize that kind of a story."

Kush himself called the report "ridiculous. I have never talked with anybody from Dallas. My chances of becoming a coach at Dallas are as good as my becoming Pope."

"The only similarity is I'm Polish and so is the Pope and I'm with a football organization and so are the Cowboys."

Schramm said Landry "is a lot of years from retiring. We have not had one shred of conversation with Kush coming here in any capacity."

Starting quarterback Danny White was a Kush protege at Arizona State.

Schramm said the Cowboys had a lot of respect for Kush's coaching ability but no job for him.

Rough weekend for Ivy League

By the Associated Press

It was a rough weekend for the Ivy League. The members of the Ancient Eight all played outside opposition and the results were calamitous.

Massachusetts 10, Dartmouth 8; Army 23, Brown 17; Holy Cross 33, Harvard 19; Lafayette 28, Columbia 13; Colgate 34, Cornell 10; Lehigh 58, Penn 0; Delaware 61, Princeton 8. Only Yale was a winner, 27-18 over Connecticut.

Of the teams that took it out on the Ivies, Massachusetts and Delaware are Division I-AA schools. The Ivy League hopes to remain in Division I-A when the NCAA holds its special convention on reorganization in December, but the question has arisen whether it even belongs in Division I-AA football-wise, much less I-A?

Coahoma JHS romps in doubleheader

In Junior High action last Thursday both Coahoma's 7th and 8th grades won their games against Stanton.

In the 7th grade duel the Bulldogs buffaloed the Buffaloes 32-8 behind a three touchdown performance by Kenny Martin. Martin scored on runs of 7, 5, and 89 yards as the Stanton defense could not contain young Martin. Martin also scored a two-point conversion. He was helped in the scoring by Todd Coker who ran across a conversion and DeeJon Douglas who scored a safety.

Stanton's lone score came in the first period on a 60-yard run.

Outstanding players for Coahoma were Martin, Coker, Lanie Reid, Stacy Ream, Douglas, Kevin Ball, and Greg Karse.

The 8th grade game was a bit closer as the Coahoma team squeaked by Stanton 16-14.

Stanton went ahead early in the first quarter with a 20-yard touchdown pass. The conversion failed and the score stood at 6-0 as the first half ended.

Coahoma came roaring back in the third quarter as Bryan Calaway ripped off a eight-yard run and he also scored the two-point conversion which made the score 8-6.

Not wasting any time Coahoma score again with Calaway once more scoring on a sweep. He ran the conversion and the score stood at 16-6.

Stanton final score came off an intercepted pass which was run back for a touchdown. The two-point conversion was good leaving the final tally at 16-14.

Outstanding offensive players were Calaway, Doug Hutton, Barry Stafford. Defensive stalwarts were Jimmy Trawick, Lewis Salazar, Terry Wright, Darrell Abernegg, and Ismo Ontiveros.

The Coahoma Jr. High teams will travel to Colorado City this Thursday to take on the Cubs. Game begins at 5:30.

Coahoma, Stanton JVs play to defensive tie

The Coahoma Junior Varsity and the Stanton Junior Varsity played to a 6-6 tie in gridiron action this past week.

Stanton scored in the first quarter with a 12 yard run, but the conversion failed leaving the score at 6-0.

Coahoma waited until the fourth period to do any scoring when Chuck Stevens went over from four yards out to even the score at 6-6. The point after touchdown failed.

Coahoma offensive standouts were Dean Cagle and Todd Engel. Noted for defense were Ron Clayton, Rickey Dela Cruz, and Dean Cagle.

The Coahoma ninth grade and junior varsity plays Colorado City at home this Thursday at 5:30 p.m.

Briscoe: 'I have made no political decisions'

By DANA PALMER
Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Former Democratic Gov. Dolph Briscoe simply laughed Friday about published reports that he definitely will make a comeback bid against Republican Gov. Bill Clements.

In a telephone interview from his Uvalde office, Briscoe chuckled a number of times before saying, "I have made no political decisions. Isn't that about as accurate as I can be?"

He added that he has not set any deadline for making a decision on whether to run.

The Fort Worth Star-Telegram reported Friday that "insiders" said the Uvalde rancher-banker would be calling close backers and political allies before making a formal announcement of his decision.

Asked about those reports during his weekly press conference, Gov. Clements, who has all but formally announced he will run for re-election, said, "My insiders don't tell me he is going to run."

He said he knows Briscoe has been talking about it, and "after he makes his decision pro or con, I will talk to him."

Also, the newspaper reported that state Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong is planning to file as a gubernatorial candidate within two weeks.

Armstrong said late Friday afternoon that he will not file as a candidate, but will file a campaign treasurer designation report with the secretary of state in the next week or two "unless some tornadic activity occurs or lightning strikes."

Such a report would allow him to raise money for a campaign, but would not commit him to running.

After reading the Fort Worth story, Briscoe said he assumes "some well-meaning friend, who meant to be helpful" started the rumor.

"It's not accurate," he added.

He agreed, however, that he is certainly thinking about the governors' race. "I've said before that I haven't closed any doors," he noted.

Briscoe hesitated when asked if he's going to be spending a lot of time over the next month or two contacting friends about the possibility of running.

"Well, I don't have any specific plans at this time at all," he said.

Earlier, Briscoe explained that he will be tremendously busy with business and personal commitments in Uvalde and San Antonio from now through much of November.

That, he said, will keep him tied up enough to delay any final decision on whether to run.

During the interview, Briscoe reiterated several times that he has not made up his mind.

"If I'd made a decision, don't you think I'd want to talk about it," he added.

Last spring, Briscoe formed a political action committee, with himself as treasurer, to allow fundraising for an unspecified office.

Others talking about running for the Democratic nomination, include Attorney General Mark White, state Sen. Peyton McKnight of Tyler, former Attorney General John Hill and state Sen. Pete Snelson of Midland.

Armstrong, who has helped in Hill's gubernatorial campaigns, said he would not hesitate to run against the former attorney general in the Democratic primary next spring. "If I thought it was the right thing to do," Hill is in Italy on vacation, and Armstrong said he plans to talk to his friend about the situation when he returns to Texas.

The land commissioner also noted that as a fairly well-known state official, he believes he can run a successful campaign for $1.5 million to $2 million—much less than it would take an unknown to get elected.

In any case, whoever is designated as the Democratic candidate to go against Clements next fall, Armstrong said he believes get-out-the-vote drives by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen should go a long way in helping beat Republicans, including Clements.

Earlier in the day, Briscoe confirmed that he had talked about politics recently with his old friend and former state Democratic Chairman Calvin Guest of Bryan.

Guest said, "I don't really believe there has been a decision reached" by Briscoe.

Armstrong also talked with Guest last week about politics and the governors' race.

"But I don't think anyone... has reached a firm decision," Guest said.

He added, however, that if Briscoe decides to run, "I'll support Dolph because of our personal friendship and because I think he'll make the best governor."

One consideration going through every Democrats' mind, Guest said, is whether the party can get behind one candidate — one that can beat Clements.

Armstrong said such expectations go against party tradition and is a "vain hope."

Some Democrats, including AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard, contend that polls are showing Briscoe is the one who can raise the money and beat Clements.

Briscoe lost his bid for re-election in 1978 by losing to former Attorney General John Hill in the Democratic primary.

Hill lost the general election to Clements.

In his press conference, Clements also noted that "everytime I pick up the paper, there's somebody else that's been added to the line" of gubernatorial hopefuls.

Competition tough for military schools

NEW YORK (AP) — Freshmen at the nation's five military academies and at top engineering schools withstood stiffer competition than ever in gaining admission this fall, according to a survey of leading colleges and universities.

The number of applicants for this fall's freshman classes at West Point, the Naval Academy, Air Force Academy, Coast Guard Academy and the Merchant Marine Academy rose 42 percent over a year ago — from 31,895 to 45,128, according to the survey by Peterson's Guides, Inc., a Princeton, N.J. publisher of educational references.

The academies accepted only 14 percent of 1981 applicants — making them nearly twice as tough to get into as Ivy League schools, which accepted 26 percent of applicants. About 80 percent of those accepted actually entered the academies this fall, compared with the typical school average of about 50 percent.

"All five academies are completely free, and with all the current talk about the high cost of college education, more and more families see the academies as an excellent alternative," said publisher Peter Hegener in an interview.

"Second, there aren't any wars right now, and academies offer the opportunity for immediate employment after graduation. And finally, with the new conservatism, the current sense is it's OK to be a military officer," said Hegener.

The survey, conducted by telephone between Sept. 14 through Sept. 18, looked at application trends at 182 of the nation's most competitive public and private universities. A total of 788,695 students applied to those top schools, up 6 percent from 732,945 a year earlier. A total of 146,331 were accepted, up just 1 percent from 144,852 in 1980.

Of the 182 schools surveyed, 133 had an increase in applicants, 48 had a decrease and one had no change. The average increase at top schools was 300.

"This means members of the 1981 freshman class withstood more rigorous competition," the survey said.

Three of the most competitive engineering schools — Massachusetts Institute of Technology, California Institute of Technology, and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute — received an average of 9 percent more applications for this fall than a year ago. A total of 13,936 applied to the three schools, compared with 12,778 last year. One out of three students was accepted.

WT Horse Symposium scheduled at Odessa

Howard County Extension Agent Don Richardson today said several local horsemen will take part in an October symposium at Odessa.

The first West Texas Horse Symposium will begin, he said, with registration at 8 a.m. Saturday in Barn A of the Ector County Coliseum Complex. An $8 fee will be charged.

Richardson said the nationally known trainer, Suzanne Jones of Tatum, N.M. will teach the use of different kinds of bits and riding techniques, with the emphasis on English equitation.

Specialists at the morning session will talk on such topics as the health and nutrition of West Texas horses as well as the trends in marketing today's horses.

Mike Hughes of Sanger, Texas, will discuss the marketing trends. He is among the nation's largest producers, sellers and buyers of horses.

Richardson said other subjects in the afternoon will have to do with factors affecting the cycle of broodmares, the reproductive performance of broodmares, and the operation of the horse breeding farm Contact Richardson at Howard County Extension office

Self defense for kids course slated Saturday

A course in Self Defense for Kids will be offered by the Adult and Continuing Education Department of Howard College, announced Josie Salazar, acting director. Classes will meet from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday in Tumbleweed Room of Student Union building.

Instructor for the course will be Roy Osborne. Cost of the course is $5.

Interested persons must pre-register in the Continuing Education Office located in the Horace Garrett Building on campus. For further information, call the Adult and Continuing Education Department at 267-6311, ext. 216. Deadline for registration is 5 p.m. Friday.

DA seeks investigation of police beating case

LAMPASAS, Texas (AP) — District Attorney Arthur Eads has asked federal officials to investigate allegations that Lampasas police chief Jerry Weems struck and threatened a burglary suspect.

Eads, district attorney for Bell and Lampasas counties, said he called Edward Prado, U.S. Attorney for the Western District of Texas, to request the probe.

Eads asked that Prado's office join with the FBI in conducting an investigation.

Last week, two law enforcement officers, one of them a Lampasas County deputy sheriff, testified in state district court they saw Weems slam a burglary suspect's head against a wall at the city police station last July 6.

The burglary suspect was identified as Richard Wayne Sparks, 18, of Copperas Cove.

When Weems was called to testify about the alleged incident during a pretrial hearing last week, however, he invoked his fifth amendment right against self-incrimination 17 times.

Armstrong, Strake ready for '82 governor's race

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong says he's in the 1982 Texas governor's race "barring a lightning stroke."

Armstrong said Monday he would file a name for treasurer for his political campaign later this week. A formal announcement will come later.

Also on Monday, Secretary of State George Strake said he would make a formal announcement of a Republican race for lieutenant governor Oct. 6. Following the announcement in Austin, Strake will make a quick tour of San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Houston, Dallas, Wichita Falls, Amarillo, Lubbock, El Paso, Midland and San Angelo.

Armstrong announced earlier he would not seek re-election as land commissioner. He said he was interested in a race for lieutenant governor but would not run if Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby sought re-election. Hobby has announced for another four-year term.

"I've been traveling the state and thinking about this for seven months," Armstrong said. "Unless something happens now that I can't see, I think it's worth making a race."

Gov. Bill Clements, the state's first Republican governor this century, also announced recently that he wants a second four-year term.

Former Gov. Dolph Briscoe and former Attorney General John Hill are considered possible gubernatorial candidates but have made no announcements.

Briscoe said last week he had not made a decision but still was considering a race.

Hill was reported in Europe on vacation. State Sen. Peyton McKnight, D-Tyler, has been making numerous appearances over the state and is considered a possible candidate for governor.

Former El Paso Mayor Tom Westfall announced Saturday he would not be a candidate for governor.

Reagan stuck with Social Security

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Social Security is an issue that has nagged President Reagan for years, and he now says he wants to take the topic out of politics forever.

That won't happen.

Neither party is going to stop talking, and campaigning, about the federal program that directly affects more voters than any other. About 36 million people now receive benefits.

And Democrats are not about to drop a subject on which they consider Reagan vulnerable, because of his own pronouncements and proposals. Reagan long ago disowned his early criticism of the system itself, and he has backed away from cost-cutting proposals that were part of his federal austerity program.

No politician and no party has a monopoly on the problem. Each side blames the other for the fragile financial state of the Social Security fund.

Reagan is likely to gain approval of the measures he now seeks to tide over, simply because he has tailored them to the mood of Congress. House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. said the Democrats will work with the administration for legislation to permit borrowing among the three trust funds. That way, the financially strapped old age insurance fund can borrow from the disability and hospital insurance trust funds.

Reagan called that a temporary solution, one that will buy time while the government figures out a way to put the whole system on a sound financial footing.

The president also recommended restoration of the $122 monthly minimum benefit for most of the people who get it now. Congress voted to drop it at the behest of the administration, but even the Republican Senate was moving to reinstate it. Reagan said it should be restored for the truly needy.

In his second-round budget reduction proposal,

Reagan repeated — and defended — his recommendations for cuts in the benefits of people who retire before age 65, and for a three-month delay in the 1982 cost of living increase in Social Security benefits.

But he didn't push for their enactment. He simply said they were reasonable, sound ideas.

Reagan said many Americans are concerned "and even frightened" about the future of Social Security. The most frightening accounts are those that have come from the Reagan administration. Reagan's aides have called it a crisis, warned of bankruptcy. Budget Director David A. Stockman has said the real question is whether the people who depend on Social Security benefits "can count on any check at all" a year from now.

The subject is a difficult one for any president bent on curbing federal spending. Jimmy Carter and Gerald R. Ford both proposed limits on the annual cost of living increases in Social Security. Neither of them got anywhere.

Muppets Marine Band to perform Saturday in Midland

The United States Marine Band, traditionally referred to as "The President's Own," will be in Midland Saturday for a 7:30 p.m. performance at the Chaparral Center at Midland College.

Reserved seats are available for $5 and may be purchased at Citizens Federal Credit Union in Big Spring or the Chaparral Center in Midland.

The band dates its beginning from Nov. 10, 1776, the official birthday of the marine Corps itself. However, the band did not become "official" until July 11, 1798 when President John Adams signed a bill bringing into existence the Marine "Musicians."

The Marine Band became a favorite of early presidents. In 1801, the band made its debut in the White House at a New Year's Day reception given by President John Adams. Since Thomas Jefferson's time, the band has played at every Presidential Inauguration.

Through the years the United States Marine Band has marched and played its way into the hearts of the American people, musically representing them before presidents, kings, queens, and commoners, in war and peace, in triumph and in tragedy. John Philip Sousa was undoubtedly the band's most illustrious leader. He served two enlistments with the Marine Band and in 1880 became its leader; he resigned in 1892. It was during this 12 year tenure as leader of the band that Sousa began to write those inspiring marches which were

The All Savors Certificate of Deposit (ASC) will be available October 1, with a lifetime maximum of $1,000 interest exempt from income tax per person ($2,000 for joint return). These can be purchased from 10-1-81 to 12-31-81 and must have a 1 year maturity. The interest rate is 16.75% of the yield on the 1 year treasury bill which is determined by an auction every 4th Thursday. The auction on September 3 determined the ASC rate of 12.61% for 10-1 and 10-2. The Auction on 10-1 will determine the rate effective 10-5, so with your permission, we will wait until 10-2 to decide whether to date your C.D. 10-2 or 10-5. If you deposit $7,930.21 at 12.61%, your return is $1,000. Our minimum C.D. is $500. If the taxable income on your 1980 Form 1040, line 24, was above $12,000 (individual) or $24,000 (joint), you may benefit by this new investment. At least 75% of these funds will be used to fund real estate loans. And, as one "Thank You" for your deposit, we have a $10.00 negotiable gift certificate (spends like cash) waiting for you on your first purchase of an ASC ($50.00 if you purchase the maximum allowed).

Art Association cookbook features variety

Ernestine Day's "Stack-a-Biscuit Stroganoff" and 75 other taste-tempting recipes from members of the Big Spring Art Association can be found in the group's first cookbook, The Kitchen Artist. The idea for a cookbook originated from several covered dish dinner meetings the club has had throughout the year. Members often wanted to exchange recipes for the dishes, so a cookbook was the solution.

The Kitchen Artist Cookbook is divided into categories much like that of an art show: Basic Colors (breads, beans), Mixed Media (salads), Collage (casseroles), Tromp l'oeil (desserts), Realistic (recipes by men). Proceeds go towards funding the Big Spring Art Association Art Scholarship awarded each year to a Howard College Art student. Proceeds also help secure out-of-town guest artists for public demonstrations. The Kitchen Artist Cookbook sells for $2 and can be purchased from any association member or by calling Roberta Ross, club president, at 263-4936.

STACK-A-BISCUIT STROGANOFF
Ernestine Day
Sand Springs
1 pound ground beef (drained)
4 ounce can mushrooms
1 can French fried onion rings (reserve one cup)
1 can mushroom soup
1/2 cup sour cream
1 large can Hungry Jack Biscuits

Topping:
1/2 cup sour cream
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 egg
1/2 teaspoon salt
Brown ground meat, drain off fat, then put in an ungreased casserole dish. Combine meat, mushrooms and onion rings in a sauce pan, heat soup and sour cream, pour over meat mixture. Cut each biscuit in half and place cut side down around edge of casserole. Sprinkle reserved 1/2 cup onion between biscuits. Combine topping ingredients and pour over biscuits. Bake 375 degrees for 30-40 minutes.

LIMA BEANS AND DUMPLINGS
Dalmar (M.) Conway
Sand Springs
1 pound large lima beans
Salt pork
1 teaspoon cumin powder
1 package biscuits
onion
pepper to taste
Wash limas thoroughly. Place in slow cooker with salt pork, onion, cumin and pepper. Cover with water, about 2 inches over beans. Cook until very tender, adding hot water if necessary. About an hour before serving, cut biscuits in half and drop on top of beans (they should be soft and juicy). Cover, and cook at high setting until done.

QUICK PEANUT BUTTER COOKIES
Becky Smiley
1 cup peanut butter
1 egg
1 cup white sugar
Mix together, then drop by spoonfuls on cookie sheet. Bake 10 minutes at 350 degrees.

MONKEY BREAD
Mrs. Genny Brown
2-3 cup sugar
1/2 cup melted shortening
1 cup mashed potatoes (may be instant potatoes)
1 cup scalded milk
1/2 cup lukewarm water (no hotter than 115 degrees)
2 eggs
2 packages dry yeast
1/2 stick butter
1 teaspoon salt
5 cups flour or more.

Mix together sugar, shortening, potatoes, milk and eggs. Dissolve yeast in lukewarm water. Add yeast to first mixture. Add salt and flour. Mix well and let rise no more than one hour. Let dough rise in unheated oven with a pan of hot water on the shelf below it. After dough has risen, turn onto slightly floured surface and shape lightly into round loaf. Melt the butter. Tear off small pieces of dough (size of apricot) and shape into balls. Dip each ball into butter and stack in ungreased bundt or tube pan. Bake at 350 degrees till brown.

GREEN FRUIT SALAD
Elsie K. Merrell
1 orange
1 apple
1 banana
1 slice cheese, grated
1 Tablespoon sugar
About 3 Tablespoons Miracle Whip
Add approximately 2 cups shredded lettuce
Mix. Keep cool until serving time.

Herald Recipe Exchange by Tina Miller Lifestyle Editor

MUSHROOM AND RICE HEALTH SALAD
Becky Smiley
1/2 pound fresh mushrooms
1 package cooked Uncle Ben's Wild Rice
1 diced tomato
1 cup bean sprouts or alfalfa
3/4 cup prepared Italian Salad Dressing
Rinse, pat dry and slice mushrooms. Place in a medium bowl with rice, tomato and sprouts. Add salad dressing — toss gently. Cover and refrigerate at least one hour before serving.

CHEESE GARLIC ROLL
Janie Harmon
Sand Springs
1 pound cheddar cheese, grated
1 pod (small) garlic clove, finely chopped
1 cup pecans (ground fine)
8 ounce Philadelphia cream cheese
Mix cream cheese (room temperature) and grated cheese, mix all ingredients together and make into log. Roll in paprika, chili powder, etc. Store in refrigerator for three days. Makes about four 6 inch rolls.

DIET SALAD
Adelle Smith
1 - 16 ounce carton creamy cotton cheese
1 package diet orange gelatin
1 medium can unsweetened crushed pineapple
1 envelope diet Dream Whip
Prepare Dream Whip according to recipe on box — set aside.
Add dry gelatin mixture to cottage cheese, mix well. Stir in drained pineapple, plus 2 Tablespoons of the juice.
Fold in Dream Whip. Whip mixture.
Refrigerate 2 or 3 hours before serving.

BAR-B-Q DEER ROAST
Murphy Daniels
Deer roasty
2 pods sweet pepper
Potatoes
1 apple
Butter
Honey
Several stalks celery
2 large onions
Carrots
Bacon
Seasoning
1/4 can beer
Make a pan of heavy aluminum foil. If two pieces are needed, fold a seam down center to keep it from leaking. Lay several strips of bacon in pan. Season roast to taste and lay it on the bacon. Crisscross the top with bacon and 1/2 stick of butter, and add 1/4 cup honey.
Slice vegetables about 1/2 inch thick, season and spread over top of roast. Add about 1/2 cup catsup.
After simmering about 1-1/2 hours over a good hot grill, add Bar-B-Q sauce and 1/2 can beer. If the roast is large, sit in the shade for about 2 hours and drink the remaining half can of beer. More may be needed depending on the taste of the chef.

APPETIZER
Ruth Sweatt
2 cups Bisquick
1 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1-3 cup milk
1 Tablespoon caraway seed
1 egg
1 Tablespoon parsley flakes
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
2 Tablespoons vegetable oil
1/2 teaspoon salt
Heat oven to 425 degrees. Mix all ingredients until stiff dough forms. Drop by rounded teaspoonful 1 inch apart on ungreased cookie sheet. Bake until light brown, about 8 minutes. Makes about three dozen.

HUMMINGBIRD CAKE
Ruth Sweatt
3 cups flour
2 cups sugar
1 teaspoon soda
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoon cinnamon
1 cup pecans
1-1/2 cups vegetable oil
3 eggs
1 teaspoon butter flavoring
1 - 8 ounce can crushed unsweetened pineapple
3 cups chopped bananas
Mix by hand first 8 ingredients. Add pineapple, bananas and pecans. Stir only to mix. Bake in well greased tube pan at 350 degrees for 1 hour and 5 minutes. Cool in pan.

TUNA FISH SANDWICH SPREAD
Hubert Ross
1 small can tuna (grated if possible), when using chunk style, mash as fine as you can.
10 or 12 stuffed olives (chopped)
1 small onion (chopped)
2 small dill pickles
After the first hour, baste at least every 15 minutes. Slice into roast; when it is gray to center, add several chips of mesquite, oak or hickory to the charcoal fire. Fold top of foil back to expose meat. Close top of barbecue pit and let it smoke about 15 minutes more. Now you are ready for some good grazing.

BELL PEPPER PICKLES
Billie Dillon
Brine:
3 cups water
1-1/2 cup red vinegar
6 Tablespoons salt
Bring to boil:
Put in each pint jar:
6 chili Pequinis
1 to 4 clove garlic
1 teaspoon Bean Monde or Bon Appetite Seasoning

Pack each jar tightly with 1/2 inch strips (cut length wise) of bell peppers, standing them on end.
Fill with boiling brine and seal.
Let stand 2 or 3 days before serving for best flavor.

CUCUMBER DIP
Roberta Ross
Peel two large cucumbers and put through shredder, drain off liquid, and mix with a large pkg. of cream cheese which has been softened to room temperature. Add 1/2 teaspoon of garlic salt and 1/4 teaspoon seasoned salt. Chill slightly. Makes a good dip or a good spread for finger-tip sandwiches. (More garlic may be added to taste.)

NEW YEAR'S DIP
Paul D. Warren
1 cup Kraft Mayonnaise
1 teaspoon celery seed
Schilling's Hamburger Salt or Lawry's (to taste)
1 or 2 cloves of garlic (crushed)
3 Tablespoons jalapeno

SALAMI WILLIE CARTER
2 lb. lean ground beef (round)
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1 Tablespoon Accent
1 1/2 teaspoon liquid smoke
1/2 teaspoon onion powder
2 Tablespoons Morton's Tender Quick
1/2 teaspoon peppercorns
Mix all ingredients together and pack tightly into 1 lb. coffee can. Cover and refrigerate for 24 hours. Place on rack with can tilted down so grease will run out. Bake in 350 degrees oven 1 1/2 hours. Remove from can and return it to oven for 5-10 minutes to dry out.

STACK-A-BISCUIT STROGANOFF — This quick and easy casserole combines ground beef, mushrooms, mushroom soup, French fried onion rings and biscuits for a perfect family dinner. Add a tossed salad and dessert to round off the meal.

SWEET AND SOUR PORK
Bess Wagner
Pork chops or ribs
1 No. 303 can pineapple chunks
3 Tablespoons soy sauce
1 Tablespoon brown sugar
Flour
1/2 teaspoon ginger
2 Tablespoons vinegar
Brown floured pork pieces. Add juice drained from pineapple chunks. Add soy sauce, ginger, vinegar and simmer until meat is tender. Add pineapple chunks and reheat.

LEMON CAKE
Ruth Sweatt
Mix one box lemon jello with 3/4 c. boiling water. Set aside to cool.
1 box lemon cake mix
4 eggs, one at a time
1 Tablespoon lemon extract
3/4 c. oil
Then add jello
Bake 60 minutes at 350 degrees in tube pan.

TOPPING:
1 cup sugar, 1/2 cup lemon juice, 1 teaspoon lemon extract. Poke holes in cake with ice pick and pour this mixture over cake slowly so it will soak in, while hot.

BLUEBERRY TORTS
Willie Carter
2 cups Graham Cracker crumbs
1/2 cup nuts
1/2 cup powdered sugar
1 stick oleo
Melt and press in 9 x 13 pan.
With mixer, beat 1-8 oz. pkg. cream cheese, 1 cup granulated sugar, 2 whole eggs and dash of lemon. Pour over crumb crust and bake in oven 350 degrees for about 20 minutes. Let cool, then pour 1 can Blueberry pie mixture over other mixture.
Whip 2 pkg. of Dream Whip and spread on top and chill. Cut into squares and serve.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The morning is fine for delving into whatever you don't understand and getting a better picture of the problems confronting you. Be more open-minded in all your dealings.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Gain from the viewpoints of others who do not think as you do. Alter your plans if you are undecided about making a trip.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Come to a better accord with allies and then carry through with any work connected with joint enterprises.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Plan your schedule so that your activities will go like clockwork. Take health treatments and improve your appearance.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Try to be more understanding with family members and spread more happiness. Be more active.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Show more interest in associates and follow advice given for greater success and happiness. Sidestep a troublemaker.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Make sure you do more than your share of the work that must be done. Use extreme care in motion at all times today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Try to improve the monetary side of your life so that you can enjoy more security in the future. Be wise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Concentrate upon improving your personal well-being during the morning. Strive for increased happiness.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Make plans early in the day for business and social activities. Steer clear of one who wants to waste your time.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Plan your time well so that you are able to see good friends and yet not neglect work you have to do. Know what your aims are.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Decide what is best to do regarding career matters and then engage in favorite hobby with congeniality. Be sensible.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) The morning is the best time to study a new project you have in mind. Make sure to keep promises you have made.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY he or she will be interested in many activities and will want to know scientifically how things operate. Be sure to give education for this fertile mine and your progeny will apply this knowledge upon reaching maturity.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Proper preparation and storage vital

Freeze or pickle home-grown fruits, vegetables

PITTSBURGH — Now's the time to consider freezing your home-grown fruits and vegetables. The advantages are many. You can enjoy your favorite foods year-around, save money, add variety to meals, and save time and work.

If food-freezing is in your future, these suggestions from Janet Felmeth, director of White-Westinghouse Appliance Company's Home Economics Institute, will help you preserve your foods properly.

"As a safety precaution, never use iron utensils, chipped enamelware or poor quality tinware when preparing fruits and vegetables for freezing," says Ms. Felmeth. "With fruits, avoid the use of galvanized cookware because it contains zinc that could be leached out by fruit juice, creating a poisonous liquid."

Most fruits and vegetables can be frozen, except vegetables which are normally eaten raw, such as salad greens, radishes, celery, onions, etc.," she says. "Some fruits, including bananas, avocados, pears and grapes, are difficult to freeze in their natural form."

Tips on which varieties are best for freezing are available from your local county agent or state agricultural college.

"Freeze fruits and vegetables only at the peak of their ripeness. Better yet, freeze them the same day they are picked or purchased for maximum flavor and minimum vitamin loss," Ms. Felmeth advises. "If you can't freeze them right away, be sure to refrigerate and cool them until you can."

"Most vegetables must be blanched either in boiling water or over steam for a short period of time before freezing," she says. "Blanching stops the enzyme action responsible for the vegetable's maturation process. It also removes surface dirt and organisms, brightens colors, and helps to retain nutritive value. Vegetables should then be washed with ice-cold water and drained."

"Some fruits, such as apples, peaches and pears, will discolor when exposed to air. These fruits should be treated for a few minutes in a solution of one teaspoon of ascorbic acid, one tablespoon of citric acid, and one gallon of cold water. Refer to a freezing guide for tips on handling specific fruits and vegetables," she adds.

When freezing, package foods in individual or family-sized portions to avoid waste, and always use quality packaging materials to insure an air-tight seal. It's also a good idea to label packages with the food's name, freezing date and number of servings.

"After the foods are packaged, put them in single layers on shelves in upright freezers, or against the sides in chest freezers," says Ms. Felmeth. "Don't stack foods until they're frozen solid — usually overnight in a freezer at a temperature of 0 degrees F."

She also advises against refreezing thawed foods. In extreme cases, some partially thawed foods still containing ice crystals may be refrozen, but there will be a noticeable difference in quality.

"As a rule of thumb, use frozen fruits and vegetables within 8 to 12 months, and frozen citrus fruits within 4 to 6 months for best results," she concludes.

PICKLED GARDEN VEGETABLES
2 teaspoons mixed pickling spice

2 cups white vinegar
¾ cup sugar
½ cup water
1½ tablespoons salt
2 cups carrots cut into ½-inch pieces

1 cauliflower (¾ lb.) cut into flowerettes (3½ cups)
½ pound green beans cut into 1-inch pieces (about 2 cups)

The pickling spice in cheesecloth. In a medium saucepan place spice bag along with vinegar, sugar, water and salt; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, for 15 minutes. Add carrots; simmer, covered, until crisp-tender, about 6 minutes; remove with a slotted spoon to a large bowl. Repeat, separately cooking cauliflower, about 4 minutes and green beans about 3 minutes. Pour vinegar mixture with spice bag over vegetables. Cover and refrigerate until chilled. Remove spice bag before serving. Serve as a relish. Keeps refrigerated at least 4 weeks. YIELD: 1 quart.

SPICED FRUITS
2 teaspoons mixed pickling spice

1½ cups water
1½ cups sugar
1 cup cider vinegar
1 cantaloupe
2 apples, unpeeled and cut into ½-inch chunks
1 pound seedless green grapes, stemmed (about 2 cups)

The pickling spice in cheesecloth. In a large saucepot place spice bag along with water, sugar and vinegar; bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, for 10 minutes. Meanwhile, cut cantaloupe in half. Scoop out seeds. Using a melon baller, scoop out melon or cut melon into cubes (makes about 4 cups). To vinegar mixture, add cantaloupe, apples and grapes. Continue to simmer, covered, until fruits are tender, about 4 minutes. Remove spice bag. Pour fruit into a 2-quart jar with a tight fitting lid. Refrigerate. Serve with meat, poultry or fish. Keeps refrigerated at least 4 weeks. YIELD: about 2 quarts.

GARDEN CUCUMBER PICKLE SLICES

5½ pounds firm cucumbers, cut into ¼-inch slices (4 quarts)
4 cups chopped onions
2 cups chopped green peppers
2 garlic cloves
¼ cup salt
½ cup sugar
3 cups cider vinegar
1½ tablespoons mustard seed
1 teaspoon celery seed

In a large bowl combine cucumbers, onions, green peppers, garlic and salt. Cover and refrigerate overnight. Drain well; remove garlic. In a large sauce pot combine sugar, vinegar, mustard seed and celery seed. Add cucumber mixture bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, uncovered, for 3 minutes. Spoon cucumber mixture and hot liquid into 6 hot sterilized 1-pint canning jars, making sure cucumbers are covered with liquid and leaving ½-inch head space. Seal with lids and screw bands according to manufacturer's directions. Place jars on a rack in a large kettle of boiling water to come 1 to 2 inches above jars. Return water to the boiling point. Cover and simmer to process, 5 minutes. Remove jars from a rack to a rack to cool. YIELD: 6 pints.

For easy removal spear each garlic clove on a toothpick.

TOMATO BUTTER
6 pounds ripe tomatoes, sliced (5 qts.)
2 cups chopped onions
1 cup water
1½ cups firmly-packed light brown sugar
1½ cups sugar
1 cup white vinegar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ground allspice

In a large sauce pot place tomatoes, onions and water. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer, covered, stirring occasionally until tomatoes are partially softened, about 20 minutes. Uncover and simmer until tomatoes are soft, about 20 minutes, stirring often. Remove from heat; puree half of tomato mixture at a time in blender until smooth. Return to sauce pot. Add both sugars, vinegar, salt, cinnamon, cloves and allspice. Bring to a boil. Simmer, uncovered, stirring frequently, until thickened, about 45 minutes. Pour into 3 hot sterilized 1-pint canning jars leaving ¼-inch head space. Seal with lids and screw bands according to manufacturer's directions. Place jars on a rack in a large kettle of boiling water and cover 1 to 2 inches above jars. Return water to the boiling point. Cover and simmer to process, 10 minutes. Remove jars from kettle to a rack to cool. Serve with cold sliced meats, chicken, ham or on bread or crackers as a relish. YIELD: 3 pints.

Yugoslav officials report drug epidemic

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A 17-year-old youth has become the seventh heroin addict to die here of a drug overdose in less than two months. Authorities say drug use, virtually unknown in this communist country 10 years ago, has become a national epidemic.

The youth, who was identified only by his initials — Z.G. — because of his age, died last week, the latest victim of a "social ill" once thought to belong exclusively to the capitalist West.

White heroin addiction in Yugoslavia is on a far smaller scale than in the West, the sharp rise in drug use, particularly the use of heroin, has alarmed local experts who are to meet here next month to seek ways to combat it.

There were only 250 heroin addicts known to police nationwide in 1970. By 1978 there were 5,878 "registered" addicts, those who were caught, either using or selling drugs, and some experts believe that for every known addict there are up to 10 who have not been identified by police.

The latest available police records indicate there were 90 new addicts identified in Belgrade, the capital, in the first six months of this year, all of them between the ages of 15 and 23.

Experts speculate that in the capital's population of 1 million there are between 2,000 and 3,000 heroin addicts. Belgrade Police records in 1966 listed only six known addicts.

Yugoslavia, a favorite gateway on the smugglers' route from the opium and hashish fields of the Middle East to the lucrative underground drug markets in Western Europe, had long enjoyed relative immunity from drug abuse.

The youth revolution of the late 1960's, brought a flood of Western fashions, rock music and ideas to Yugoslavia as well as a small-scale surge in drug use that authorities viewed as a "passing fad."

Later the "fad" began to spread among young people, many of whom would gather around an open-air coffeehouse in Belgrade's Republic Square. A police crackdown drove drug users from the square, but as the newspaper Politika put it, "a disturbing spreading of a social ill" had already taken root.

"The fast spreading of drug abuse is mainly due to the appearance of heroin, some three years ago," says Dr. Stevan Petrovic, a leading Yugoslav expert on drug addiction.

Authorities say one gram of heroin currently costs the equivalent of $165 on the Belgrade black market.

The government has stepped up its border checks and seized more than 800 pounds of heroin last year. Officials say 292 smugglers were caught, most of the Turks, West Germans, Lebanese and Iranians.

Petrovic said another problem was the lack of proper facilities to treat addicts.

Previn signs contract

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Andre Previn, the conductor whose name is linked with Pittsburgh as closely as that of U.S. Steel, will remain in the Steel City for at least another two years.

Previn has signed a two-year contract to remain music director of the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra. "There is no orchestra that has given me greater pleasure and satisfaction than the Pittsburgh Symphony," Previn said Monday. "I am grateful to be invited to remain at its helm and look forward to a long and productive relationship."

Terms of Previn's contract for the 1982-83 season were not disclosed.

Previn, music director of the London Symphony for 11 years and now conductor emeritus there, has been Pittsburgh's music director since 1976. He also had been music director of the Houston Symphony for one year.

Progeria victims to meet

LONGVIEW, Texas (AP) — Two young boys who live continents apart but who suffer from the same rare and deadly disease will get a chance to meet each other next month while enjoying the fantasies of Disneyland.

Several private citizens and an airline will send 9-year-old Mickey Hayes of Hallsville, Texas, and his family to the California amusement park. He will meet Franie Geringer of South Africa there Nov. 29. Both suffer from progeria, a rare disease that has aged them prematurely.

Almost $700 was contributed to a fund established at a Longview bank in early September. Braniff International has offered to fly the Hayes family to Los Angeles free of charge.

Any leftover money will be donated to the Sunshine Foundation, a Philadelphia organization created to help terminally ill children realize their dreams. The foundation is helping bring the South African boy and his family to America.

Ted Key, a father of three from nearby Tyler, Texas, volunteered to pay for the family's accommodations in Disneyland.

New Zealand defies Black Commonwealth

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP) — New Zealand Prime Minister Robert D. Muldoon said today he will challenge the human rights records of other Commonwealth leaders if they criticize New Zealand for allowing sporting contacts with South Africa.

"I have a dossier of the human rights record of the whole Commonwealth," Muldoon told a news conference on the eve of the 41-nation Commonwealth Heads of Government Meeting.

He said New Zealanders, including himself, were insulted by the cancellation of the Commonwealth finance ministers meeting in Auckland this month to protest a visit by the Springboks, a South African rugby team.

"There are some people who think that only folk with black faces have feelings," Muldoon said. "I can assure you that people in my country have got very strong feelings about this issue and felt deeply insulted when in a totally unconstitutional manner the finance ministers meeting was moved away from New Zealand."

"We can do without the conference. We can also do without the insult."

Commonwealth Secretary-General Shridath Ramphal has been trying to defuse the issue before the conference opens Wednesday.

Black African Commonwealth nations claim the Springboks tour of New Zealand violated the Gleneagles agreement drawn up by the 1977 Commonwealth meeting. In 1976 black African nations boycotted the Montreal Olympics to protest the participation of New Zealand because of its sports contacts with South Africa.

The Gleneagles agreement discourages contacts with South Africa because of its racial segregation policies. Muldoon claims it did not prohibit the Springboks tour of New Zealand because it was arranged and authorized by sports personalities, not government officials.

The tour, which provoked the worst civil disturbances in New Zealand's history, ended this month. Muldoon called it a disaster.

"I do not think even the South Africans will get any joy out of it," he said.

Plunging sugar prices trigger increased import fees

WASHINGTON (AP) — Plunging world sugar prices have triggered increases in U.S. import fees that probably will slow or stop the decline in retail prices consumers have enjoyed this year.

After nearly two years without an import fee on raw sugar, Agriculture Secretary John Block has been forced to reinstate it and then increase it.

The increase of just over a half-cent a pound was announced Monday after the spot price of sugar on the

New York Coffee and Sugar Exchange averaged just slightly more than 11.9 cents a pound over a period of 20 marketing days.

It is the lowest New York spot price for sugar since the last quarter of 1977. Less than a year ago, the spot price was more than 37 cents a pound.

"World prices have been falling for seven straight months," said Robert Barry of the Agriculture Department's Economics and Statistics Service.

Wholesale and retail prices have been falling," Barry said. "So all this might do is slow that decline. It won't increase (consumer) prices."

From December through July, the national average retail price of sugar has dropped from 56.5 cents a pound to 35.5 cents, he said. Wholesale sugar prices fell another penny in August, suggesting a further decline in the retail average as summer ended.

Effective Sept. 11, Block imposed an emergency import fee of 1 cent a pound on raw sugar because of falling world prices. A regular quarterly review verified the need for an even higher import fee, and Block added another 0.53 cents, effective Thursday.

Imposition of the fees is mandated by a 1978 presidential proclamation that in effect sets up a protection mechanism to stabilize domestic raw sugar prices at no less than 15 cents a pound. Other fees and duties are also used to keep the price at least at that level. Refined sugar prices are kept about a half-cent higher.

The United States, which imports nearly half the sugar it consumes, last had an import fee on raw sugar in October 1979.

The decline in world sugar prices has been triggered by expectations of bumper crops in many major producing countries and prospects for heavy subsidized exports from the European Economic Community.

Because of that situation, a quick return to rising retail sugar prices would come only if Congress decides to support domestic sugar production at higher than the 15-cent level set out in the 1978 presidential proclamation, Barry said.

The Senate has already approved a sugar support program at 18 cents a pound, and Block has accepted it.

Critics contend that each penny increase in the price of sugar adds $300 million a year to consumer shopping bills. But supporters say only a price higher than 15 cents a pound will guarantee a strong domestic sugar industry and adequate sugar supplies.

On a more positive note, a strong market in 1980 gave the nation's potato farmers the bright spot they needed in a harvest that was well below previous years.

The Agriculture Department says record market prices turned that reduced 1980 crop into the most valuable in history.

The department's Crop Reporting Board said the same for sweet-potato growers, who harvested their smallest crop on record but took to the bank earnings substantially higher than in early years.

Total potato production last year of 30.3 billion pounds was 12 percent below 1979 and 17 percent less than 1978, the board reported Monday. The average yield of 26,200 pounds per acre was 800 pounds lower than a year earlier and 500 pounds under 1978 yields.

But an average market price over the year of $6.55 a hundred pounds, nearly double the price of the two previous years, pushed the value of the 1980 crop to a record $1.98 billion.

That was more than 60 percent higher than either of the two previous years and the first time in five years the value of the potato crop had increased, the board said.

The smaller 1980 crop came off of 1.15 million acres compared to 1.27 million the year before. But the board said shrinkage and loss last year was only 2.3 billion pounds compared to more than 3 billion pounds in 1979.

The 1980 sweet potato harvest was less than 1 billion pounds, 18 percent below the 1979 crop. The average yield of 10,700 pounds an acre was a 1,000-pound loss from the two previous years.

But again, the board said the small crop was offset by a record market price of $13.60 a hundred pounds, up more than 50 percent from the previous year. The overall value of the 1980 sweet potato crop was $1.46 billion, 25 percent higher than a year before.

Separation of twins possible

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — Doctors here say there is a good chance that Siamese twins born in a set of triplet girls can be separated — although physicians are unsure when the operation could be performed.

Dr. Jose Alva, the babies' pediatrician, said Monday that the twins, joined at the chest and upper abdomen, were receiving oxygen in Sierra Medical Center's intensive care nursery and were in stable condition. He said the third triplet is in good condition and may go home in a few days.

Alva said surgical separation of the adjoined twins will not be possible until they can breathe on their own.

But, "there's no rush," he said.

Alva said the twins "have a good chance" of having two livers but probably can be separated even if they only have one as long as they have separate gall bladders and bile systems. The twins' intestines are connected.

The family, whose name has not been released, were expecting triplets but did not know before the birth that two of the infants would be joined.

The mother took special care because she was expecting triplets and that probably helped the joined twins survive, said Dr. Joe Mendoza, the obstetrician who delivered the babies.

The mother, who is 28 years old and in good condition at Sierra, had not been taking any fertility medication, Mendoza said. But both sides of the triplets' family have histories of twins.

The mother, who has two other children, carried the triplets for 36 weeks, Mendoza said. The typical pregnancy is 40 weeks but multiple births usually come early, he said.

Mendoza said the mother was in the hospital the last three weeks to help her carry the triplets longer.

She had gone into labor before Mendoza decided it was time to perform a Caesarean section birth on Thursday.

Alva said he did not think Siamese twins in a set of triplets were unique, but said it is extremely rare.

"I don't think I'll see or hear of this again in my lifetime," he said.

Judy Prate, head nurse of the intensive care nursery, said the twins respond well, are active and frequently hug one another.

Tips help you avoid the 'why did I buy it' blues

NEW YORK, N.Y. — In the exciting atmosphere of a sale, it's all too easy to lose your shirt. Remember, a bargain is not a bargain if everything else about your purchase isn't as attractive as the price. Some of these tips from a recent issue of Seventeen's Magazine may help you to avoid those "Why did I buy it" Blues.

Don't buy on impulse! If you wouldn't love that eye-catching item as much at full price, it's worth thinking about overnight.

Have a clear idea of what your needs are — there's no point in buying a dress if you live in pants.

Consider the care requirements of anything you buy; if that pale suede jacket is at the cleaners more that it's in your closet, there goes your bargain!

Don't be intimidated by pushy or over solicitous salespeople — you're your own best judge of what looks good. And don't be talked into a two-for-$29 deal when one at $16 is all you really need.

Compare prices. Some retailers mark up the initial price, making the reduction seem greater. Shop around to find the garment's true value, so you'll know how good a deal you're really getting.

Keep an eye on fashion trends, and avoid marked-down merchandise that'll be out of style next year. On the other hand, this year's sale item may be next season's hottest look.

Plan for Christmas now to save money

COLLEGE STATION — Plan ahead for Christmas gift-giving to save time, money and frustration, advises Bonnie Piernot, a family resource management specialist.

First, decide how much money to spend, and resolve to stay within that limit, she says.

Mrs. Piernot is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

After setting a spending limit, use the following money-saving tips to reduce gift expenses:

Take advantage of sales and specials to buy gifts. Buy gifts at bargain prices whenever possible.

Use imagination in choosing gifts. Try new types of stores and items.

For example, instead of one large present, consider several small, related gift items, or combine purchases with homemade items.

Make your own gifts if you sew, bake, paint or are skilled in other crafts. These may mean more to the receiver than a bought item.

Buy Christmas cards, supplies and decorations for the following year during after-season markdowns have gone into effect.

Loan fund donation approved

Alpha Kappa Omicron chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held their second September meeting in the home of Celi Bedell. A salad supper was served.

Members approved the motion that a donation be sent to the loan fund at Beta Sigma Phi International.

Also planned was a rush banana split social to be held Oct. 13 in the home of Verna Grimes. Barbara Kennedy and Mrs. Grimes will present a program on "Child Rearing."

It was announced that the city council invited all members of the chapter to their pot luck supper Thursday.

After the closing ritual, Celi Bedell and Janie Swafford presented the program, "Marriage."

When the family or group is large, consider drawing names instead of buying gifts for everyone.

Be realistic in the amount of money you budget for special occasions. Spend only what you can afford. Substitute money with time, effort and skills.

Make gift-giving a joyful experience for the giver and receiver. Don't kill the pleasure by wrecking the family budget, the specialist continues.

Bridge weekend is enjoyed

Mrs. Helen Hendricks was hostess for a dinner held Friday evening which began a weekend of bridge for Louise Nall, A.A. Porter, Minnie Earl Johnson and Mrs. Hendricks.

On Saturday, bridge was in the home of Louise Nall. A dinner was served at 5 p.m.

The ladies continued their weekend of bridge on Sunday in the home of Mrs. A.A. Porter. A western dinner was served.

DEAR ABBY: Most of our friends are in the 25- to 35-year-old age group, and although they are lovely people, they occasionally smoke marijuana (especially the husbands) as a casual recreation. I've never approved of this, but I figure what people do is their own business. However, we have a new baby and I do not want her exposed to this — especially when she gets older. I'm sure our friends will respect my wishes if I ask them not to smoke pot in our home, but I can't expect them to abstain when we are guests in their homes.

To make matters worse, my husband sometimes joins in the pot-smoking, although he never smokes it otherwise. This infuriates me because he knows I hate it. He claims he enjoys it once in a while, and it's harmless.

Do you see a solution here? Our friends are nice people and I'd hate to lose them over this issue.

POT SHOT IN CALIFORNIA

DEAR POT SHOT: Your biggest problem is persuading your husband to change his mind. Recent studies show that marijuana is not the "harmless" drug it was thought to be. If he's not willing to accept that, ask him to forgo that "enjoyment" as a favor to you. (Marriage is a series of trade-offs, you know.)

And as for your lovely friends: Explain that you don't want to be where marijuana is being smoked, and if you lose their friendship, it won't be the first friendship that has gone up in smoke. (Or gone to pot.)

Debbie Reid feted with bridal shower in Knott

Debbie Reid, Coahoma, was honored with a bridal luncheon Saturday in the home of Mrs. Joe Mac Gaskins, Knott. Debbie is the bride-elect of Tommy Scott, Coahoma.

The foyer entrance was decorated with palm leaf fans accented with foliage, silk flowers, and ribbon in autumn colors. A basket of yellow mums centered the registry table.

A hot appetizer was served from a silver coffee service on a glass-topped cart.

The guests were seated at tables covered with ecru linen and centered with crystal chandeliers. The honoree's table was centered with a round mirror reflecting a trio of crystal taper holders of holding ivory tapers and a crystal bell tied with brown ribbon.

The 14 guests presented the honoree with gifts for the bedroom and bath.

Special guests were Mrs. Randall Reid, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Larry Nix, mother of the prospective bridegroom. Also attending were Mrs. Arnetta Burch, Mrs. Clay Reid, both of Coahoma, and Mrs. Roy Henderson, Hyman, grandmothers of the betrothed couple.

The couple will be married October 10 in the Midway Baptist Church.

Wife Wants Husband To Keep Off the Grass

DEAR ABBY: For years I constantly complained about my health. I couldn't sleep, couldn't stay awake and was always taking pills. Then I discovered Recovery, Inc. It's a wonderful organization and I'm sure it saved my life. This support group taught me specific techniques for handling sleeplessness, depression, nervousness, etc.

You would do your readers a wonderful service by telling them about Recovery, Inc. There are 1,000 groups in the U.S. and Canada.

GRATEFUL AND FUNCTIONING

DEAR GRATEFUL: The organization you praise is everything you said it is.

Literature is available by writing to Recovery, Inc., 116 South Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill. 60603. It's non-profit, so please send a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

DEAR ABBY: Our problem is a lady who sings so loudly in church that she drowns everybody else out. She is a regular churchgoer and is getting up in years, so nobody wants to hurt her feelings by calling this to her attention, but I can tell you it sure doesn't make for very good listening. Suggestions? She gets louder every Sunday.

ANOTHER CHURCHGOER

DEAR CHURCHGOER: The poor woman could be losing her hearing. However, she goes to church to pray, right? And so do you. So next Sunday, throw in an extra prayer for her, and practice the virtue of tolerance.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. Write to Abby: 12060 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.
