Union Carbide plans $10 million nitrogen plant for Big Spring

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Union Carbide Corporation is finalizing plans to construct a nitrogen plant in the Big Spring area, according to Granville Hahn, chairman of the Big Spring Industrial Team. Hahn told the Herald Saturday that "They (Union Carbide) have put up an option on land near Cosden for construction of a $10 million compressed gas plant — the primary gas to be nitrogen."

Hahn said, "Efforts to contact the principals at Union Carbide for a formal announcement date were unsuccessful," but construction was "expected to start when all of the papers were processed by Monday or so." LeRoy Tillery, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce said Saturday "the Union Carbide consultant hoped the plant would be under construction by December 1."

"The nitrogen gas will be used primarily in the tertiary recovery of crude oil. The nitrogen will force oil out of the ground, thus doubling the output of wells," said Hahn. Winston Wrinkle, president of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, said "The plant will add to the secondary recovery of oil in West Texas."

Wrinkle said he was "real pleased for a major company to make a commitment to build in our city," and that he expected more plants to be built in the county in the future. He said "the firming up of the property transfer and the selection of the major construction contractor" were the only items of business remaining, and he saw no problems with the final deal being made.

Hahn said the plant would have a "ripple effect on the economy of the area." Trucks would be needed to haul the nitrogen gas; people would be needed to operate the plant and trucks; the reworking of dormant wells would be needed; and our dependence on foreign oil would be reduced," said Hahn.

Tillery said a consultant of Union Carbide had contacted the city several months ago and had made six trips to the Big Spring area looking for a plant site. "There is a possibility to open the door for other concerns with the building of this plant," Tillery said. According to Tillery, the plant should employ about 30 people — some 10 in the plant and about 18 truck drivers.

Wrinkle and Hahn said that the Cosden site had been selected by Union Carbide so that the nitrogen plant could use Cosden's water treatment facilities for waste products.

Wrinkle said a "substantial tax revenue" should come from the $10 million facility, and the plant would be "an addition to the oil business in the area."

Hahn said he expected the formal announcement of the plant to come in mid-November or early December. He said Union Carbide is a "blue chip" company and one of the top corporations in the nation.

According to the September 15 issue of "Financial World," Union Carbide is the nation's leader in industrial gases with overall sales of $11 billion this year. "Financial World" said that Union Carbide is investing greatly in the recovery of crude oil.

The article noted other interests of Union Carbide such as Prestone Antifreeze, Glad Plastic Wrap, and the Energizer and Eveready batteries.

Low cotton prices may hurt some area farmers

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Despite indications of a record-breaking cotton crop this year, farmers may find that the cotton harvest isn't profitable because of the low price they're likely to get. Some cotton producers may even be forced out of business because of the bleak-looking market, says one farm specialist.

High interest rates spell economic disaster for some farmers, said Borden County Extension Agent Allan Day. "The cotton buyers are letting the producers shell out the money to pay for storing the cotton" while the buyers wait for the market to improve, Day said.

Interviews with other regional farm specialists confirm Day's view of the market. Glasscock County Extension Agent Norma Kohls said cotton farmers won't break even by selling at the present price — which is looking to be about 50 cents a pound.

Kohls also blamed interest rates for the low price of cotton and said buyers are "letting the farmer store his cotton on his own account."

"We don't see any large purchases of cotton at present," Kohls said.

Herb Keaton, who's been growing cotton in the area for about 50 years, said "merchants are holding off on buying (cotton) until about November 10."

The only safe thing you can say about this year's harvest, he said, is that it's "unpredictable."

Other factors that may play havoc with the harvest are the weather and the possibility of too much cotton going to the market.

"If the 15 million bale prediction (for the U.S.) holds true, it will be too much for the market," warned Keaton. "There will be a surplus of about 2.5 million bales," he said.

Or more, David Foster, extension agent for Martin and Midland counties, quoted from cotton industry sources and said there is a 2.7 million bale carry-over from last year, meaning a surplus of four to five million bales this year.

And all that cotton, said Kohls, may not be the best cotton.

"There is not going to be that much high-grade cotton because of storms," Kohls said.

Don Richardson, extension agent for Howard County, said producers need about 60 cents a pound to break even and would feel comfortable with a price of 80 cents per pound.

Richardson estimated that Howard County will yield about 95,000 to 100,000 bales this year.

Borden County is expecting to harvest about "three-fourths of a bale an acre," said Day, while Glasscock is looking at a harvest of about one bale per acre, said Kohls.

The recent spell of wet weather "should present no serious problem," said Richardson, although it caused a virtual halt to activity at area gins for most of last week.

The Lomax Gin appears to have gotten a good jump on ginning activity with 450 bales already completed there, a gin spokesman said.

Reports from other gins produced the following run-down of activity as of the middle of last week: Big Spring Co-op Gin: 260 bales; Paymaster Gin in Ackerly: 122 bales; Planter's Gin in Garden City: 95 bales and the Farmer's Co-op in Knott with 26 bales.

Local ginning started about Sept. 22.

CHILLY HARVEST — Cotton harvesting in the Big Spring area was slowed last week due to cold, chilly weather. The cotton crop is expected to be good, but low cotton prices caused in part by high interest rates could spell trouble for many farmers. This scene was shot off the Lamesa Highway.

Air Tour lands in Big Spring

By BOB CARPENTER

The 33rd Annual All Texas Air Tour swooped down on Big Spring's Trans Regional Airport Friday in a precision pattern that would have made the U.S. Air Force's famed Blue Angel squadron proud.

The Tour left Temple last Saturday and so far the travelers have covered such cities as Huntsville, Laredo, San Angelo, Brownwood, and New Braunfels. The flyers spent Friday night in Big Spring and finished their tour in Dalhart on Saturday.

Tour director Bill Jones said the annual mass flights are planned to stimulate community interest and appreciation for their local airport facilities. Jones said he hopes the tour will impress upon local citizens the great use of air transportation.

The weary travelers were greeted Friday by members of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, who hosted them at a barbecue meal. The Chamber also provided transportation for the flyers to and from their motels.

Harold Johnson, who has made the tour 22 times said, "This is our vacation. It's a chance for us to get together and enjoy flying and our airplanes."

Johnson said about half the people in the tour were from Texas with the other half being from states such as Louisiana, Michigan and New Mexico. He said about a dozen states were represented in all.

Tex Anderson from Kerrville, who has made flights on all 33 tours said the thing he likes best about it is "being able to get out and meet new people and see new places in Texas."

"This is the 33rd tour I've been on, if I didn't have fun I wouldn't still be doing them. I look forward to the tour every year."

"We have the whole tour planned out before we leave Temple every year. We have a landing pattern we follow, we know the prevailing winds in each airport we stop at, and we have a layout of every airport and existing runways," said Johnson.

He said the tour has never had a major accident as long as he has been associated with the flights.

"It's just a whole lot of fun, we don't try to make work out of it. Most of the members of the tour work hard during the year so now it's their turn to play hard," said Johnson.

Mark Sheedy, assistant manager of the Chamber of Commerce said the tour helps to promote Big Spring to outsiders and also the money brought in by the flyers helps the economy of the Spring City.

The flyers left Big Spring about 9 a.m. and flew off into the wild blue yonder to discover other parts of Texas.

Teachers profession hurting, says president-elect of TSTA

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Teaching — that long honored profession which used to call up visions of dedicated people training young minds how to learn and think — is on the ropes according to Texas State Teachers Association president-elect Barbara O'Neal.

Mrs. O'Neal, who will start her term as president of TSTA in July, recently was in Midland and Odessa as part of a media campaign addressing the plight of Texas teachers.

Mrs. O'Neal, an elementary school teacher, said Texas is facing a shortage of teachers and the situation could become critical by the mid-1980s. Mrs. O'Neal cited three reasons why the shortage has come about: low salaries, lack of discipline among the students and lack of input into the administration of school districts.

Harold Bentley, assistant superintendent of the Big Spring Independent School district says that the supply of teachers seems to be shrinking.

"We have had a shortage of teacher applicants this year. I started recruiting teachers three or four weeks earlier this summer and I'm glad I did," said Bentley, who is in charge of personnel.

Bentley said the B.S.I.S.D. is reasonably staffed and in good shape, and for the time being — stable.

Bentley said the B.S.I.S.D. hired 50 new teachers this year to replace those who retired or left the profession for one reason or another. He said the B.S.I.S.D. was fortunate that several teachers moved into the district when their spouses took jobs in the area.

Bentley said not as many college students are choosing education as a major and the esteem that used to go with being a schoolteacher has eroded. Bentley added that most new graduates want to stay around the larger cities and he has a hard time getting prospective applicants to consider Big Spring as a place to live and work.

When asked if teachers get paid enough Bentley said, "Well, I'll put it like this: Assume we had a young man just out of college and he was married, but his wife wasn't working and he had a child or two and was making $12,925, then he would have a problem."

Bentley said the B.S.I.S.D. presently pays $2,695 over the state base salary of $10,230 for teachers with a bachelor's degree and no experience. A master's degree with no experience receives $13,690 to start.

A teacher with a bachelor's degree and 20 years of experience currently makes $20,160 and a 20-year teacher with a master's pulls down $21,635, said Bentley.

Bentley also said the lack of discipline among students has caused many prospective teachers as well as working teachers to reconsider making education a career.

"I would say discipline is as much a problem to teachers as money," said Bentley.

A TSTA survey in the spring indicated 40 percent of all new teachers would probably quit the profession within five years because of burn-out — a term which teachers use to explain the disillusionment they feel in their jobs. 30 percent of those interviewed said they would have chosen another job field if they had it to do over again, said Mrs. O'Neal.

Topsoil erosion 'severe'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The erosion of topsoil in the United States and other countries is so severe that it could trigger food shortages in the 1980s surpassing the impact of oil shortages during the 1970s, a new study concluded Saturday.

The study, done by Lester Brown, head of the Worldwatch Institute, said a doubling in world food output since 1950 was achieved at the expense of severe land abuse.

"Perhaps the most serious single threat humanity now faces is the widespread loss of topsoil," Brown, an agricultural specialist said in the study, which is being published as a book titled "Building a Sustainable Society."

"Civilization cannot survive this continuing loss of topsoil," Brown said. "If not arrested, this loss of soil could cause the food problem to unfold during the eighties as the energy problem did during the seventies. Just as the world has come to depend heavily on the Middle East for oil, so it now depends on North America for grain. And just as the Middle Eastern oil is being depleted, so too are North American soils."

Shroud still a mystery

NEW LONDON, Conn. (AP) — After three years of painstaking research, a crack team of 40 scientists has failed to solve one of the world's greatest religious mysteries — whether the Shroud of Turin is the burial cloth of Jesus Christ.

As they gathered here this weekend on the quiet, picturesque campus of Connecticut College, the experts acknowledged the world may never know if Jesus was wrapped in the 14-by-4-foot cloth after his crucifixion.

"I don't think that is a question science in 1981 can answer," said John Heller, a biophysicist and an expert on blood. "We don't have the techniques and we may not have the techniques for a long time, if ever, to be able to answer that type of question."

However, some of the scientists have come up with what they believe are possible answers to the image on the cloth, an outline of a human form.

"We can conclude for now that the shroud is that of a real human form of a scourged, crucified man," said a statement issued by the Shroud of Turin Research Project Inc., the sponsor of the conference.

"It is not the product of an artist. The blood stains are composed of hemoglobin and give also a positive test for serum albumin. The image is an ongoing mystery and until further chemical studies are made, perhaps by this group of scientists, or perhaps by some scientists in the future, the problem remains unsolved."

Try some electric braces

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A University of Pennsylvania orthodontist is hoping his electric tooth braces will give his patients nice smiles in half the time of the old wires.

The electric braces, used with standard metal braces, are fitted with tiny batteries that provide a low-level electrical current that speeds the straightening of teeth, according to Dr. Zeev Davidovitch.

The 46-year-old researcher said he has tested his method on cats for four years and is about to begin a three-year study on humans.

Bail is posted for family arrested in police scuffle

The family members allegedly involved in a scuffle with police on Thursday night have been released on bail, according to the sheriff's department. Bonds for the individuals were set by Justice of the Peace Bobby West.

Roberto Dutchover Perez, 18, is charged with aggravated assault on a police officer and evading arrest. Bonds of $25,000 and $5,000 were posted by Basden & Conway. Perez is the hit & run suspect officers were looking for when the scuffle allegedly took place.

Matias Lopez Perez, 55, is charged with aggravated assault on a police officer, resisting arrest, and hindrance of a lawful arrest. Two bonds totaling $100,000 were posted by Thompson & Hamby.

Margie Perez, 53, is charged with resisting arrest and was released on bail of $15,000, posted by Thompson & Hamby.

These three individuals reside at 201 N.E. 6th in Big Spring.

Joe Dutchover Perez, 32, is charged with aggravated assault on a police officer and resisting arrest. He was released on bonds totaling $50,000, bonds posted by Thompson & Hamby.

Also released on bond was Jose Gomez, 33, who is charged with possession of marijuana and forgery. Gomez, of 1411 Settles, had his $6,000 bonds posted by B & M Bail Bond.

Mitchell County sets 1982 4-H, FFA Livestock Show

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The dates of Jan. 28-30 have been set for the 1982 Mitchell County 4-H and FFA Livestock Show, according to County Extension Agent Bob Benson.

In a recent meeting of the 4-H and FFA Livestock Association, new officers and superintendents were elected for the 1982 show.

Elected president was Billy Bruce Bridgford. Other officers are: George Walker, vice-president; Jim Dockrey, secretary; Bobby Lemons, treasurer; Joe Weaver, finance chairman; C.N. Stubblefield, cattle superintendent; Eddie Gibson, and David Stubblefield, assistant cattle superintendents; Donald Smith, sheep superintendent; Harry Dockrey, assistant sheep superintendent; Arron Carpenter, swine superintendent; Stanley Moore, Allan Boyd, Dewayne Harris, and Doyce Lee, all are assistant swine superintendents; Don Stewart, superintendent of weights and tags; David Maron and Kenneth Dockery, assistant superintendents of weights and tags.

The live-stock association again is offering businessmen and individuals an opportunity to join the "Hundred Dollar Club," chaired by Mayor Elmer Martin. Anyone donating $100 to the association will receive a full-page of program advertisements, caps cards, and a luncheon prior to the show, according to Benson.

Judges for the 1982 event will be Carl Wilson of Albany, Kyle Smith of Seminole-sheep, and Ronnie Woods of Big Spring-steers.

Self defense course set

Learning to handle a crime against yourself will be the title of a course to be offered by Howard College through the continuing education department.

Classes will meet from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. on Tuesdays and Thursdays, beginning Oct. 13, and concluding Oct. 29, in the East Room of the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Instructor for the course will be Barney and Sarah Edens.

Cost is $18.

Constitutional Amendment 4 addresses Texas' water woes

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is another in series of four stories on proposed state constitution changes that will be on the Nov. 3 ballot.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas' first explorers and settlers spent much of their time trying to find water.

Today's Texans are still searching.

Amendment No. 4 on the Nov. 4 ballot gives Texans a chance to vote on an unusual proposition to guarantee future water supplies by socking away some of the state's surpluses caused by booming oil and gas taxes.

"Texas is already considered a water-short state," said Gov. Bill Clements, who supports the constitution change. "Unless we start building new reservoirs now, we will run out of water by the year 2000."

"Texas deserves a better plan for managing its water resources than this pig-in-a-poke amendment," says the Texas League of Women Voters, one of a number of member organizations in Citizens Against Water Taxes.

The amendment, authored by House Speaker Bill Clayton of water-shy West Texas, got nowhere in the regular session of the 1981 Legislature but passed the following special session with Clements' support.

Every two years, at the end of the state's business period, it would dedicate half of "excess state tax revenues" to water trust funds and would let the Legislature earmark the remainder for other purposes. The water funds could be used for water development, water conservation, to improve the quality of water and flood control.

The amendment would do two other things. If approved, the state could guarantee up to $500 million in local water or flood control bonds. And the amendment would increase to 12 percent the maximum interest rate on all state bonds authorized but not issued. Most state bond programs are limited to 6 percent interest now.

Supporters say if Texas grows from its 14.2 million population now to 22 million in 2005 and 30 million by 2030, the state cannot achieve its maximum population and economic growth without development of more water resources.

Opponents say the water developers are overestimating the amount of water needed by 2030. They said Texas can and must learn to live with its available water resources through conservation and more efficient use.

Those against the water fund program point out that about 75 percent of the water consumed in Texas is used for irrigated agriculture, most of that in West Texas.

East Texas interests, who want to be sure they have plenty of water to attract new industries and population, claim West Texans are trying to steal their water.

"I want to emphasize that water is not a West Texas problem," Clements told a group of Houston businessmen. "It is not an agriculture problem alone. It is, in fact, a metropolitan problem, first and foremost."

Clements and Clayton will join other supporters in trying to arouse voter interest for the election that is expected to produce a low turnout. Austin Mayor Carole McClellan is head of the statewide campaign.

Sing language tips reviewed

By CAROL HART Staff Writer

This week we featured the signs for doctor, sick, fine and stop. Here's a mini-review on those four signs.

First, doctor, or physician, is signed by placing the right "D" sign on the inside of the left wrist. This sign reflects a doctor taking a pulse. Another sign which can also mean doctor, or medical, is the right "M" on the left wrist.

You can also sign psychiatrist by placing the right "P" on the inside of the left wrist. And the word nurse may be signed by placing the right "N" on the left wrist.

O.K., now we can move on to the sign for sick. To sign this, touch the forehead with the middle finger of the right hand and the stomach with the middle finger of the left hand. This reflects that the stomach and head are not well, according to Lottie L. Riekehof in "The Joy of Signing."

Next is the sign for fine, a word that

I use frequently and you'll probably use a lot, also. To sign fine, place your thumb at the chest and point your other fingers outward. Move the hand slightly up and forward.

And on Friday, we published the sign for stop. To sign stop, bring the little-finger side of the right hand down sharply across the left open palm.

In addition to studying these signs, remember many of them relate closely to other signs.

For example, to sign polite, courteous, manners, fancy, formal and elegant, repeat the sign for fine twice. How you use the signs in context helps determine their meaning.

The Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf joins Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C., and the National Technical Institute for the Deaf (NTID) in Rochester, N.Y., as a quality colleges for deaf and hearing impaired students.

According to "American Sign Language" by Dennis Cokely and Charlotte Baker, the first school for deaf students in the U.S. was started by a deaf Frenchman, Laurent Clerc, and a hearing minister, Thomas Gallaudet.

Now, most states have residential schools for the deaf. Residential schools are schools which children may live at during the week. According to Baker and Cokely, until recently, most children attended residential schools. A recent survey shows about 7,500, compared to 17,000 in residential schools, attend public or private day schools, and 17,700 attend public or private day classes.

Big Spring has a program for hearing-impaired children in the elementary grades, conducted on the Bauer Elementary campus. Until last year, these students were sent to Midland to the Regional School for the Deaf. Conducting the classes locally are Lillian Hill and Sharon Minyard.

CRMWD deliveries rise in September

Deliveries by the Colorado River Municipal Water District rose substantially in September over the same month a year ago.

The total was 1,686,042,598 gallons, an increase of 16.68 percent or 241,000,000 gallons for the month.

Gains were balanced between municipal and oilfield uses. The municipal total for September was 1,445,950,000 gallons, up 133,000,000 gallons or 11.04 percent. Oilfield totals were 240,091,798 gallons, up 68.07 percent or 98,000,000 gallons.

Through September, the district had delivered 13,767,726,427 gallons, up 430,000,000 gallons or 3.22 percent. Oddly, due to a few cool and wetter months than usual, municipal deliveries were 11,907,907,800, down 64,000,000 gallons or .53 of one percent. On the other hand, oilfield deliveries of 1,859,818,627 gallons were up 473,000,000 gallons or 36.15 percent.

Egypt buries Sadat while thousands mourn

CAIRO, Egypt (AP) — Egypt buried its fallen leader Anwar Sadat on Saturday to the homage of world leaders, the comforting words of the Moslem holy book and the sorrowful fury of thousands of ordinary Egyptians kept from bidding a final farewell.

Gunfire briefly clattered during the ceremony as police had to drive back a surging crowd trying to reach the burial site.

The assassinated president was laid to rest at Egypt's tomb of the unknown soldier, on the desert outskirts of Cairo, beneath a black monolith memorializing him as a "hero of war and peace."

But his Arab enemies, who saw treachery in Sadat's separate peace with Israel, rejoiced. "The traitor is buried forever!" proclaimed Syrian state radio.

Three former U.S. presidents and dozens of other world statesmen paid final tribute to Sadat and then flew home, leaving behind an Egypt stunned by its loss, anxious over the future and seething with unrest among Moslem fundamentalists, religious extremists blamed for Sadat's assassination.

Security was so tight that the Egyptian public was barred from the funeral ceremony, which took place under the midday sun on the same military parade ground, in suburban Nasr, or Victory City, where the president was fatally wounded in a blaze of gunfire last Tuesday.

After four days of relative restraint, public mourning welled over.

Crowds rushed from boulevard to boulevard in search of a way around the police cordons and to the parade grounds.

"Sadat! Sadat! You will live again!" they shouted. "As long as the peace persists your spirit will remain alive with us."

While the dignitaries were paying respects to the widow, Jihan Sadat, one crowd apparently tried to crash through a police line onto the grounds, and the officers fired into the air to repel them. No injuries were reported.

The three ex-presidents — Richard M. Nixon, Gerald R. Ford and Jimmy Carter — got a first-hand look at the violent grief when their motorcade passed within 20 yards of a stick-waving throng of Egyptians being pushed back by police.

Although the three former chief executives left Cairo immediately after the ceremony, the head of the U.S. delegation, Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr., stayed behind.

He was to meet with Sadat's handpicked successor, Vice President Hosni Mubarak, and with other delegates to the funeral, including Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin.

The 62-year-old Sadat, the Nile Valley villager's son who rose to become his nation's supreme leader for 11 years, was borne to his grave in a solemn military procession along the parade ground's October Sixth Avenue, named for Oct. 6, 1973, Egyptian offensive that opened the last Arab-Israeli War. That victory was Sadat's greatest military moment. It proved to be the date of his death as well.

MEDALS OF FALLEN LEADER — The medals of assassinated Egyptian President Anwar Sadat, with its Sinai Star award at the top center of the center cushion,

The ceremonies began with a prayer service over the casket in a mosque at the Maadi military hospital, where the body had lain since the assassination. The slain president's son, Gamal, 25, and other male family members took part in the private service. The casket was then flown nine miles by helicopter to a stadium at the Nasr parade grounds and a red-white-and-black Egyptian flag was placed in a caisson drawn by six black stallions.

Nine units of blue-bereted presidential paratroopers and other soldiers marched in the lead, many carrying a green thicket of medals. As the procession began on schedule at 10:30 a.m., a military band played the national anthem and martial music.

and foreign mourners trailed behind. The president's widow, Jihan Sadat, holding hands with her son, Gamal, and her daughter, Hani, led the mass of mourners behind, rubbing shoulders with former U.S. Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and former French President Valéry Giscard d'Estaing.

Viewers watching live coverage of the funeral on the American and other foreign television networks, which provided coverage for the American networks, condemned the Egyptian leadership and Sadat's assassination.

Sadat's three daughters did not walk in the procession. They were seated in the reviewing stand, the same place where he was sitting last Tuesday when he was assassinated.

The half-mile to the reviewing stand in 95-minute intervals trooped into the reviewing stand to pay their condolences to the widow and the president.

Among the Egyptian, non-Moslem delegations were the American and other foreign dignitaries, unwilling to violate the Jewish Sabbath, walked to an undisclosed location where they had arrived at the parade ground.

The American delegation, including Gamal Sadat, carried the casket up a carpeted stairway to the gravesite, a pyramid-like monument to the president.

The casket was lowered into the narrow, white-marble tomb. Mrs. Sadat, wearing a black dress, wept and broke down for the first time during the funeral ceremony, bursting into uncontrolled sobs. Her youngest daughter, Jihan, cried on her mother's shoulder. Her daughter, Lubna, held the widow's hand.

After the casket was lowered over the entrance to seal the tomb, a band played a salute, a trumpet band played the national anthem and the mourners dispersed.

The funeral was attended by President Reagan's delegation, including West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt and French President François Mitterrand.

The media, of Syria and Libya, two of Sadat's long-time foes, reported the funeral in the Middle East.

One person dead, 39 wounded in IRA blast in London — more than 250,000 at peace rally

LONDON (AP) — The IRA struck less than a mile from Buckingham Palace Saturday, detonating a booby-trapped laundry van by remote control and sending six-inch nails and bolts slicing into a bus carrying 23 Irish Guards and their families.

Police said a woman passer-by was killed and that 22 guards and 17 other people, including two children on the bus, were wounded in the blizzard of nuts, bolts, flying metal and glass that turned Ebury Bridge Road outside Chelsea Army Barracks into a blood-spattered battleground.

A spokesman for Westminster Hospital said eight of the guards were undergoing major surgery and one was on the critical list with a fractured skull and another was likely to lose an eye. "It was just madness," said witness Debbie Jones. "There was blood everywhere. There was a girl sitting down. She had a hole in her leg. Another girl had a metal bar straight through her foot."

Police identified the dead woman as 61-year-old Nora Field. Hazel Cole, an expectant mother who had been talking to Mrs. Field when the explosion went off, said she "took the full force of it."

The Irish Republican Publicity Bureau in Dublin said the attack — which occurred three-quarters of a mile from Buckingham Palace — was aimed at the soldiers because of the "state of war" existing between the British government and the "oppressed Irish people."

It was the Irish Republican Army's first major attack on a British target since the collapse of a seven-month hunger strike at Northern Ireland's Maze prison a week ago, and police said it could be the start of a new IRA campaign of violence in the British capital. The IRA claimed responsibility for car bombings in three Northern Ireland cities Friday, none of which resulted in injuries.

Richard McAuley, spokesman in Belfast for the IRA political wing Sinn Féin, denied any specific link of the explosion to the hunger strike's end. Asked if the bombing signaled a change in IRA tactics, he said, "If you go back through Irish and British history you will see that on almost every occasion, Irish nationalists have brought the fight back to Britain."

The 81-year-old Irish Guards, famous for their black bearskin headgear and red tunics, were returning from duty at the Tower of London when the blast occurred shortly after noon in a garage undergoing renovation. The queen was in Aberdeen, Scotland officials said.

Germany (AP) — More than 250,000 people gathered Saturday in the biggest anti-war rally since World War II and gave thunderous applause to the West German government to free itself of nuclear weapons.

The rally, which came to the West German capital of Bonn, drew scores of parliamentary deputies and members of the nation's cultural and religious groups.

The rally included Coretta Scott King, the late U.S. civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and singer Harry Belafonte. Mrs. King said "millions of Americans stand by the side of the two Americans joined in singing the national anthem 'We Shall Overcome' at the close of the rally."

Japanese 'cheerful, hard-working, committed'

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first of a four-part series written by Don James, managing editor of the Wichita Falls Times and Record News. James spent three weeks in Japan as one of nine journalists dispatched to the island nation to learn about Japan in the 1980s. The series will run daily in The Herald.

By DON JAMES

Modern-day Japan was born just before the American Civil War when the country was opened to the West by Matthew Perry.

Perry's 1853 visit was followed 15 years later by the Meiji Restoration which returned the emperor to ruling status. This left the samurai, the warrior class, unemployed, and the availability of this pool of talent is credited with modernizing Japan.

After the disastrous expansionist decade of the 1930s resulted in Japan's defeat in 1945, the country underwent another transformation, and the result is today's miracle economy that is making a permanent impression on the world.

Through these upheavals the Japanese people have remained cheerful, hard-working and committed to their country. If there's a secret to Japan's vaunted productivity, it's in this attitude of wanting to belong. The Japanese do everything as a group, and to disgrace the group is the ultimate error, whether it be a school class, an athletic team or a factory production group. This feeling of belonging is what gives the Japanese people their cohesiveness.

Conformity also is one of Japan's biggest problems. In an effort to conform, the Japanese tend to stifle real creativity. This attitude is widely misunderstood by westerners. While we express amazement at Japan's production methods, the Japanese quietly give credit to us for the basic knowledge that made the result possible.

Contrasts in today's Japan are extreme. While expressing love for everything American, including baseball, Japanese have little interest in American football. The Japanese have the world's fastest and smoothest trains and build excellent automobiles, yet the streets are full of bicycles and mopeds and rural women still carry heavy loads on their shoulders.

Many Japanese homes have microwave ovens but few have dishwashers; most housewives do their laundry in automatic washers but dry it on outside lines.

Most restaurants except Japanese-style inns use western tableware and many public buildings, including the emperor's residence in the ancient capital of Kyoto, have both Japanese and western-style restroom facilities.

Japanese are cheerful, tend to be happy but are reserved. They don't speak to each other on the street unless first introduced. In fast food restaurants the quiet is oppressive, although occasionally a couple can be seen in animated discussion.

Women in Japan occupy a peculiar position. Japanese men say the women run the country from behind the scenes, yet many women feel they are treated like second class citizens in employment and personal freedom. Women were granted suffrage during the occupation and even today, only bar hostesses may work past 10 p.m. This eliminates them from shift work on assembly lines as well as preventing their employment on morning newspapers and in many other positions.

Unfortunately, the women's movement has gained little power so far, since controversy has no place in a culture that places such a high value on consensus.

Japanese play as hard as they work. However, with a population of 110 million occupying a mostly mountainous area about the size of California, space is at a premium and this interferes with recreational opportunities.

With green fees at the few golf courses of up to $100, driving ranges are everywhere, including some unlikely places. Buildings in downtown Tokyo frequently have rooftop driving ranges, and it's common to see golfers on their lunch breaks hitting a few balls before returning to work.

Baseball fields are commonly built in the floodplains of rivers on land that can't be cultivated, and on holidays they're crowded with players. Pachinko, a game that resembles pinball, is a national craze, with parlors located in most downtown areas crowded with players from late afternoon to far into the night.

Americanization also is changing Japanese home life. Many houses and apartments have western furnishings. Some have a traditional room set aside for entertaining, but in many no traditional Japanese influence is evident.

School children in Japan enjoy practicing their English with Americans. There's danger that the traditional Japanese farewell, sayonara, soon will be replaced by the Americanism "bye-bye." T-shirts with English inscriptions are immensely popular. It need not make sense as long as it's English. Likewise, name brand sportswear sells for premium prices and Japanese clothing and luggage manufacturers have found that any label including the word "American" boosts sales.

The blend of traditional and western includes foods as well as language and apparel. It is said that Japanese school students who travel to the United States are surprised to find that we also have McDonald's, Dairy Queen and Wendy's restaurants as well as Shakey's Pizza Parlors.

Japan has almost one car per person, which makes for gigantic traffic jams. Contrary to what Americans believe, most Japanese drive the largest, most expensive cars they can afford. An American car is a prestige possession.

Cleanliness is important to Japanese. Buses and trains, as well as private automobiles and taxicabs, are kept spotless. While they litter, beer cans and cigarette butts and wrappers are regularly swept up. It's quite a contrast to see someone with a traditional short-handled broom made of rushes sweeping up cigarette butts from a sidewalk while modern cars and buses whiz by in the background.

In industrial development, Japan also is a mixture of tradition and western influence. This aspect of Japanese life will be explored next.

Three awarded degrees from hospital program

Three Big Spring students recently graduated from the Malone-Hogan Hospital School of Radiologic Technology, at commencement exercises held at Howard College, in the Cactus Room. Graduation was held August 29.

Maria Morgan, Debbie Wiggins, and Irma Ross were awarded diplomas by Carlos Gonzalez, acting school coordinator, in recognition of their completion of the two year accredited course. They are now eligible for the National Registry Examination to become registered radiologic technicians, scheduled in Dallas and El Paso in mid-October.

A total of 20 local youth have graduated from the hospital-based school in the six years of its operation. Established by the hospital to take care of its own needs for well-trained X-ray technicians, local and area hospitals have benefited as well. By offering this training locally, Malone-Hogan Hospital has furnished technicians that are highly sought by radiology departments of the area.

The three graduates, for instance, are already employed; two locally and the other in Midland. Ms. Morgan will work at Malone-Hogan Hospital, Ms. Ross at Cowper Clinic and Hospital, and Ms. Wiggins at Midland Memorial Hospital.

Speaker for the graduation was P.T. Chacko, formerly chief technologist in radiology at Malone-Hogan Hospital and now in the same position at Longview Regional Hospital, in Longview. Chacko assisted in establishing the school, in 1975. A graduate of the local program, Julian Gonzalez, who graduated last year, is now employed in the Longview hospital's radiology department as a technician.

One hundred guests gathered to observe the commencement ceremonies. Welcoming them was Dr. Buerk Williams, medical director of the school and chief radiologist at the hospital. Hospital administrator John Bingham, Director of Nurses, Jean Connelly, and Father David Bristow, participated in the opening exercises.

A reception was held in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Williams, at 707 Scott Drive, following the graduation, for the students, Mr. and Mrs. Chacko, and guests.

Rowdy 160 arrested at Texas-OU rally

DALLAS (AP) — When the state's largest pep rally finally ended early Saturday, 160 rowdy Texas and Oklahoma fans were in jail and the aluminum can collectors were about to become rich.

The debris-strewn streets of downtown Dallas fell silent shortly after the street-sweeping trucks rolled at 12:10 a.m. with shoulder-high streams of icy water, scattering the several hundred drunken revelers left of the estimated 20,000 who participated in the annual rally.

Police said the arrests mostly were for public intoxication and disorderly conduct, although some were taken into custody for carrying weapons, drug possession and urinating in public.

The number of arrests continued to decline, however, from the record of 800 in 1968. Last year, 177 people were arrested.

The prices of T-shirts and other souvenirs plummeted Saturday as vendors moved their wares to the state fairgrounds, site of the football game that precipitated the Friday night madness.

Doug Wickwire said the price of his orange and red T-shirts — emblazoned with "I survived Texas-OU weekend — but did Dallas?" — would fall from $10 to $2 Saturday. "Tonight they're special; tomorrow, they're not so special," he said.

Humorist to headline Snyder 'Cajun Night'

SNYDER — Famed Cajun humorist Justin Wilson will headline the second annual "Cajun Night" Oct. 15 in the Scurry County Coliseum here.

The dinner and show is sponsored by the Scurry County Chapter of the American Petroleum Institute with all proceeds benefitting the West Texas Rehabilitation Center's facilities in Snyder, Abilene and San Angelo.

In addition to Wilson, Snyder's own Cindy Hataway also will perform.

Tickets for the dinner-show, which starts at 6:30 p.m., are available at $12 at Snyder National Bank, First National Bank and the West Texas National Bank in Snyder. Tickets also will be available at the door.

Out-of-court settlement termed 'one of largest'

One of the largest out-of-court settlements that "we've had in a long time" was handed down this week in 118th District Court, said Peggy Crittenden, district clerk.

Pablo Luna and Benito De Loe Santos, who were suing Custom Ag Services, Inc., for injuries they received in an accident at the plant, received a sum of $225,000 jointly, and an additional $555,000 jointly, the latter to be paid monthly beginning immediately.

Total amount to be awarded to the two men is $780,000.

During a trial earlier this year, a Howard County jury awarded the men $200,000 jointly. Their attorney, Jim Edwards, asked for a mistrial, which was granted.

When the mistrial was granted, Mrs. Crittenden explained that the original $200,000 settlement was voided.

Attend The Church Of Your Choice Sunday

DOROTHY AND FRIENDS — They're coming to town Oct. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the municipal auditorium at City Hall. The Big Spring Booster Club is sponsoring this presentation of "The Wizard of Oz." John Weeks, club president, says this stage presentation of the famous tale should entertain the whole family. Proceeds from the performance will benefit local varsity athletes. For more information, call 263-1246.

Australia native joins SWCID staff

Graham K. Peters has been named instructor of social science and history at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf of the Howard County Junior College District said Dr. Charles Hays, District President. Peters, a native of Melbourne, Australia, came to America in 1974 after he met a group of actors who were members of the National Theater Institute, who were performing a play there.

The actors were alumni of Gallaudet College, Washington, D.C., and told him of the college. "This was the turning point of my life," Peters said. "Up until then, I had been satisfied with my life as it was."

While attending Gallaudet, he was very active in extracurricular activities such as the student body government, International Students Club, and Alpha Psi Omega, a national dramatic fraternity.

GRAHAM PETERS

He received numerous awards and honors, but the most significant to him was being a Quota International Fellow Student said Peters. The Quota invited a delegation from Gallaudet College to attend the conference at Sydney, Australia, to be the "keynote" speakers.

"The International Conference gave me a great opportunity to be involved in deafness on an international level," Peters said.

"It gave me a broader idea of what services and opportunities are being offered in different countries for the deaf and also gave me a chance to express my ideas to those attending there."

What he likes most about America is the equal opportunity for the deaf people to be educated and be employed in the work force.

"In Australia, deaf people are considered to be handicapped and limitations are placed on them," Peters said.

Peters comes from a family of eight children. Everyone in the family, including his mother and father, are deaf. They communicated primarily by sign language. He pointed out that finger spelling in America is different from that in Australia in that two hands are required to spell the English alphabet where only one hand is required in America.

Sports, including sailing, tennis, squash, water or snow skiing, reading and traveling are his favorite pastimes. His biggest hobby, though, is meeting and communicating with new people.

"Some people expect a lot from me in playing tennis because of Australia's reputation," said Peters. "But, I do my best to live up their expectations."

County library to hold book sale

By DONNA JACKSON

Children's Librarian We are cleaning house! We don't have room for all of our books so a book sale will be held October 23rd and 24th from 10 to 4 in the Howard County Library basement.

The book sale offers great variety — fiction, non-fiction, text books, children's books, religious texts, and lots of paperbacks. There are complete sets of encyclopedias (we will take bids on these), puzzles (with a missing piece or two), and even records.

There are a few very old interesting volumes, some from the late 1800's. One we found of particular interest historically is entitled: "Security Speculation: The Dazzling Adventure." It was published in 1926, three years before the stock market crash of 1929. We have an 1898 "Physics" several of Shakespeare's plays published around the turn of the century. "The Newcomes, Memoirs of a Most Respectable Family" by William Makepeace Thackeray, published in 1885, as well as many other intriguing volumes.

Some titles in the non-fiction area include: "The Whole Baby Catalogue," "The TV Jeebies," "My Eight Presidents," and "From Parent to Child About Sex." There are many other equally interesting and unusual volumes in the sale.

If you have a spot in your heart for "National Geographic," we have a large supply of those timeless periodicals from the '50's to the present. Perhaps you have a few issues missing and would like to complete your collection. They are being sold for 10c a copy.

The best bargains of the sale are the Reader's Digest condensed books being sold for only 15c each! Stories chosen for condensation appeal to a wide audience and are of lasting interest so one volume with four or five stories is well worth 15c.

Most books will be sold for 25c an inch ... think how much reading enjoyment and information you can find in four inches of books!

After 2:00 Saturday some books will be reduced to 5c each. The Saturday film showing begins at 2:00 so parents can drop their children off in the film viewing room and continue on down the hall to the book sale.

The book sale is being sponsored by the Friends of the Library who welcome any contributions to the sale. Books may be dropped off during library hours or deposited in the book drop.

Friday Storytime for pre-schoolers starts at 10:00. Saturday movies this week start at 2:00 and include: "Little Toot," "The House in the Woods," "Band Concert," and "The Fur Club."

Hymn-writing contest is sponsored by ACU

ABILENE — A hymn writing contest is being sponsored by the music department at Abilene Christian University. Gary Mabry, instructor of music, is coordinating the competition.

A $100 first prize will be awarded, and the hymn will be performed at the ACU Lecture in February. Two honorable mention awards of $50 will also be made.

The contest is an attempt to add new material to the existing body of hymns and enhance the quality of congregational singing said Mabry.

The piece should be written with music ability of the average person in mind. Difficult alto and bass leads such as those found in quartet arrangements are discouraged.

Selections will not be judged solely on inherent musical worth, said Mabry. Practical value in the area of congregational encouragement, exhortation and teaching will also be included.

Hymns should be no shorter than eight to 10 measures and no longer than 64-72 measures. Lyrics may be original or from existing literature but entrants will be responsible for obtaining releases for copyrighted texts. The name of the composer and lyricist must appear if available.

The hymn may be either strophic (several verses using the same music) or through composed (new music for each verse), but may not be a re-harmonization of an existing hymn.

Winn Dixie earnings up for first quarter

Winn Dixie Stores Inc. recorded a 7.5 percent increase in sales and a 13.9 percent advance in earnings during the first quarter of fiscal 1982, stockholders were told at the annual meeting recently.

Bert L. Thomas, president of the Sunbelt's largest retailer, said overall sales during the 12 weeks ended September 16, 1981, amounted to $1,465,356,000 compared with $1,362,709,000 during the same period last year, a gain of $102,647,000.

Earnings per share were 77 cents compared with 64 cents, while total earnings increased to $19,133,000 from $16,800,000 during the comparable period last year.

Commenting on first quarter results, Thomas said: "We are aggressively working to increase the tonnage of food we put on our customers' tables as well as improving the use of our retail store facilities by increasing the sales per square foot. We also have great emphasis on increasing the display space devoted to general merchandise items to give us a more complete one-stop shopping store and increase the sales of these high gross profit items."

The directors declared monthly dividends of 18 cents per share on common stock, payable Oct. 30, Nov. 30, and Dec. 29 to shareholders of record Oct. 15, Nov. 16 and Dec. 11.

Winn Dixie opened six stores and closed one since June 24, 1981, having 1,225 units in operation on September 17, compared with 1,206 last year. Twenty-five stores are under construction.

Goliad Choirs to present encore program

By JAY BURCHAM
CHARLEY OGLE

On Wednesday, the Goliad choir presented a program featuring the beginning boys, the beginning 7th grade girls, the beginning 8th grade girls, advanced boys, and advanced girls. The program, held in the gym, was attended by all Goliad students and by several parents. A separate program for parents will be held October 20, at 7 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Choir officers were announced at the assembly. Leading the beginning boys' choir is Mike Cahill, as president, Chad Musgrove as vice-president. Ginger Brooks is president of the 6th grade girls, with Rebecca Reed as vice-president. Advanced boys president is Chad Wash, and Matt Hunter is vice-president. Mary Trevino heads the advanced girls as president, with Tessa Underwood as vice-president.

Goliad participated in a volleyball tournament at Denver City last Saturday. The Black team made it to the finals by beating Lamesa 7-15, 15-13, 15-6, and Snyder 15-10, 15-4. They lost in the finals to Denver City 15-8, 15-15, 8-15. It was a close match.

The Goliad black and white volleyball teams were victorious Thursday against Andrews. The black team won by a score of 15-1 and 15-5. High point servers for the black team were Kelli Preston with 11 points, Sheila Chatman with 5 and Lisa Hale with 4 points. Good overall defense was shown by Priscilla Banks and Larrie Norman. The white team also won by a score of 15-9 and 15-10. High point servers for the white team were Charlotte Lang with 8 points, Pamela Palmer with 6, and Karen Brodie and Michelle Husted with 5 points each. Both teams were in the Plains tournament Saturday and will play a home game Monday against Lamesa.

The Mavericks played Stanton 7th and 8th grade football teams this week. The black team lost by a score of 16-0 to the 8th grade team. The white team was defeated 18-6. Stanton scored on Goliad's mistakes, and Goliad fumbles kept the white team from scoring additional points.

Offensively, Mitch Griffin had an excellent game from his wide receiver position, making several good catches as he has all year. His 25 yard touchdown catch from Paul Decker was the white team's only score.

The library began a new activity called the "Calendar Clue" which is a learning game designed to help students learn reference skills. Calendar Clue is a detective-type game played on a weekly basis, during which players receive information in the form of daily clues. When put together, these clues begin to reveal the profile of a person, place or thing. Each game runs Monday through Friday. This week's clues involved something 1.5 meters in length, weighing 150 kilograms, and called "beishung" by the Chinese. The answer? Giant Panda!

The Golden Girls continue to meet on Monday afternoons. They attended the football game Thursday and added some pep to the crowd. They show a lot of spirit, both at the games and at the pep rallies each week. Many Goliad students appreciate the effort they put into their performances.

Vinda Huff and Lori Elliot walked away from the TAJD convention with an award for nearly every photograph they entered. Vinda took second place in the advertising categories with this picture.

Coahoma Huff, Elliot big winners

By TOMMY McDANIEL
Members of the Coahoma High School Journalism Department traveled to Fort Worth, October 4, 5, and 6, to the Texas Association of Journalism Directors Convention. Students competed in contests and went to classes to learn how to better their yearbooks and newspapers. Attending from Coahoma were Renee Blackwell, Lisa Musser, Tommy McDaniel, and Brad Grandon from their newspapers. The yearbook staff members who attended were Vickie Buchanan, Jana Higgins, Tony Torres, and Tonya Sneed. Photographers attending were Lori Elliot and Vinda Huff.

captured 5 photography awards. Vinda won first place in portrait photography, first place in special effects, and second and third place in advertising photography. Lori won third place in special effects.

The Coahoma Big Red Band Boosters will have a meeting tomorrow night in the Band Hall at 7:30.

The junior class is selling magazine subscriptions, records, tapes, and video cassettes. The proceeds will pay for the Junior-Senior Prom this spring. To buy these items contact any junior.

The senior class is selling brass Bulldogs. The cost is $10.00. To purchase one contact any member of the senior class.

Grady

Going to region

By KARA WELCH
 Tuesday night the Grady Volleyball team traveled to Klondike for Grady's last district game this year. The girls played a duel match. Grady won both matches with the scores being 15-11, 15-1, 15-8, 15-9.
 Gloria Garza was the high point scorer for the night and was also named the best defensive player.

"Rhonda Farrington and Sonya Deatherage did a good job of spiking," Coach said. Now that Grady has defeated Klondike, they will advance to Regionals. They will play in the Region Volleyball Tournament on November 14.

Monday night Mertzon will come to Grady to play some practice games. The games will start at 6:30 p.m.
 Thursday evening the Grady Jr. High football team will travel to Hermleigh for their third game of the season. They will kick off at 6 p.m. in Hermleigh.
 Friday night Trent will come to Grady for a six-man bout. The game will start at 7 p.m.

Runnels

TARC active locally

By DANA HILTBRUNNER
 TARC is a volunteer organization for youth between 12-25. Teens aiding retarded citizens has active projects on three distinct but closely coordinated and independent organization levels — local, state and national.

Local units of TARC work directly with the mentally retarded. Their efforts include such activities as dances, parties, field trips, camp outs, sports competition which includes the Special Olympics, arts and crafts, social outings to movies, etc. These activities not only are intended to be recreational but also to help develop greater self-confidence. The ultimate goal is to help the retarded to develop to their full capacity.

TARC is sponsored by Mrs. Carol Green. Runnels students interested in helping with this organization should see Mrs. Green.

Winners of the September computer contest were: Ismael Holguin, English, and Roland Montana, Math. Mr. Bobby Grant's third period class and Coach Jerry Benner's second period tied for the winning math class. Coach Thomas Tasma and Mrs. Sharon Kelly's fourth period won in English.

During Fifth period Wednesday the name of the winner of the yearbook Sweepstakes was drawn from a box in the principal's office. Names of all who had bought annuals by Wednesday noon were entered in the contest. The winner was Dana Hiltbrunner. The prize was a Runnels T shirt and $2.00 or $10.00 cash. Dana chose the cash money.

Winners of the Calendar Clue Game was Michael Dodd, Troy Riley and Roy Puga. The category was Animal Kingdom and the answer was Hog — Nore Snake.

Runnels Red Volleyball team spiked their way to victory in Snyder with scores of 15-13, 12-10. Elizabeth Hernandez was noted for outstanding play. Losing to Snyder was the Runnels White Volleyball team by scores of 5-15, and 15-17. Joy Tate and Tracey Kilgore were recognized for outstanding play.

The Runnels Yearling Red Volleyball team were defeated by Andrews with scores of 15-13, 15-13, and 15-12. The White team was victorious over Andrews with scores of 15-4, and 15-6.

In football the White team was defeated by the ninth grade B Team with a score of 22-18. The next football game will be October 15th against Snyder.

Tarzan native flies historic rescue mission

Headquarters Military Airlift Command, Scott AFB, Ill. — First Lieutenant David Pribyla of Tarzan was the aircraft commander of an H-3 Jolly Green Giant helicopter that participated in a milestone lifesaving mission performed Sept. 22 by the Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service.

The joint Air Force-Navy operation saved 14 people who survived the wreckage of a Philippine destroyer. The rescues moved ARRS' active-duty cumulative save total past the 20,000 mark since the service was formed 35 years ago.

Lieutenant Pribyla led one of two aircrews from the 31st Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Squadron at Clark Air Base, the Philippines, that flew to the accident scene 90 miles north of Luzon Island.

The destroyer, the Datu Kaliantau, with 100 people on board ran aground and broke apart in the wake of Typhoon Clara.

A call for help went to the Western Pacific Rescue Coordination Center at Kadena Air Base, Japan. From there, the Rescue Coordination Center people directed a response by ARRS units from Kadena and Clark.

Military Airlift Command's Aerospace Rescue and Recovery Service consists of about 4,000 active-duty people and almost 200 aircraft assigned to 60 units around the world.

Its Far East squadrons responded with Lieutenant

Crandall earns silver wings

Second Lt. Richard E. Crandall, son of retired Air Force Lt. Col. and Mrs. Edmund H. Crandall of 501 Penn. Big Spring, Texas, has graduated from U.S. Air Force pilot training, and has received silver wings at Pribyla's and another H-3 from Clark and an HC-130 Hercules aerial refueling tanker from Kadena.

An hour and a half after they launched, they met at the Datu Kaliantau wreck and began their rescues.

In addition to assistance provided by a Philippine Coast Guard ship, the Air Force crews were aided by the Navy's ammunition ship, the USS Mount Hood, a Navy P-3 aircraft and SH-3 helicopter.

It was high tide when the rescuers reached the destroyer, and water covered one-third of the vessel. The HC-130 crew soon sighted eight survivors on a ridge just above the grounded ship.

The HC-130 directed Lieutenant Pribyla's aircrew to the victims, and the helicopter safely recovered the sailors. The other Air Force and Navy helicopters simultaneously picked up two more survivors each and two others were found later in the day.

As recovery operations got underway, pararescue specialists left the ARRS helicopters to establish an emergency treatment center in a nearby village's school yard.

Intense shore and sector search operations were hampered by the island's severe terrain and typhoon-tangled dense vegetation.

As the day drew to a close, the Air Force and Navy rescuers could account for only 18 survivors, four of whom were not injured and helped with the missions.

The remaining 14 — four of them in serious condition — were given emergency treatment, boarded on Lieutenant Pribyla's and the Navy helicopter and flown to the nearest hospital 90 miles away.

Rescue officials said because of the difficulty of the mission, the 14 saves were credited to all four aircraft involved in the mission.

By the time the aircraft returned to their bases at the end of the day, each crew had logged at least 10 hours of flight time.

Parnell assigned to Keesler Air Force Base

Airman Gregory W. Parnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Parnell of 4104

Dixon, Big Spring, Texas, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training. During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the avionics systems field.

2nd half UT explosion buries OU Sooners

SWITZER SCREAMS — Oklahoma head football coach Barry Switzer screams instructions from the sideline during action against Texas in the Cotton Bowl in Dallas Saturday. It came during a time out and he was shouting for quarterback Kelly Phelps to come to him on the sideline.

DALLAS (AP) — For two quarters Saturday, the unbeaten and No. 3-ranked Texas Longhorns gave a good fumble imitation of the Oklahoma Sooners.

Once they quit giving the ball away, the Longhorns overwhelmed the 10th-rated Sooners 34-14 in their annual collegiate football blood feud in Texas' biggest runaway in 11 years.

Texas fell behind 14-3 at halftime thanks to fumbles, including one on the opening kickoff.

Oklahoma, which had lost 11 fumbles in three games, coughed the ball up four times in the second half in what became a nationally televised rout before 75,587 fans in the sold-out Cotton Bowl.

"It was like two different ball games," said Texas Coach Fred Akers, who enjoyed his third straight victory over Oklahoma Coach Barry Switzer. "The second half showed this team has a lot of will and heart. We didn't think there was anything wrong with the way we played the first half except for the fumbles."

Texas held Oklahoma to no passing yardage as the Sooners missed on eight attempts.

"We gave them (the Sooners) too much and it was a challenge to our defense which we accepted," said All-American tackle Kenneth Sims. "We beat a good football team and beat them decisively. It shows we are as good as anybody in the country."

Quarterback Rick McIvor threw two second-half touchdown passes as the Horns scored 31 points in the second half.

Switzer said, "The way I take it is Texas made a big surge in the second and we couldn't make the fourth-down play. Our defense got tired out there in the second half."

"We can still come back and be a good team. Texas is good, a very good football team."

Aggies use stingy defense to stop UH

COLLEGE STATION, Texas (AP) — Quarterback Gary Kubiak broke a scoreless tie by sprinting 43 yards untouched for a touchdown against Houston's stingy defense as Texas A&M defeated the Cougars 7-6 Saturday in Southwest Conference football.

Houston drove 80 yards and scored with 1:04 remaining in the game on a 12-yard pass from quarterback Lionel Wilson to tight end Mark Ford, who dove over the goal line, but Houston missed on the two-point conversion when the Houston receiver slipped for a Wilson pass.

Kubiak ran an option to the right, cut inside the Houston defensive end and outran the Cougars' secondary for the A&M score with 1:35 remaining in the third quarter.

A&M cornerback Greg Williams pressured Patrick Franklin and forced him to miss a 37-yard field goal attempt in the second quarter and blocked a 34-yard, three-point try by Omar Perez in the fourth period.

Perez also was wide on a 43-yard field goal attempt in the final play of the first half. A&M started its touchdown drive at its 46-yard line. Kubiak got three at left end, Earnest Jackson ran for 3 yards and 5 yards and a first down at the Houston 43, and Kubiak scored on the next play.

Safety Donnie Love of Houston kept the score close with four crucial tackles, including two that saved possible A&M touchdowns and two others that prevented long gains.

The victory raised A&M's season record to 4-1. The Aggies are 2-0 in the SWC. Houston is 3-2 and 1-1.

BYU win streak stopped

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Quarterback Sam King fired a 20-yard touchdown pass to Jim Sandusky with 19 seconds left as Nevada-Las Vegas stunned eighth-ranked Brigham Young 45-41 and snapped the Cougars' 17-game winning streak Saturday before a disappointed homecoming crowd.

King, who marched the Rebels 79 yards for the final score, threw another touchdown pass, ran for a third score and set up two other UNLV touchdowns with long passes.

In all, the 6-foot-1 senior completed 31-of-57 passes for 473 yards.

BYU's winning streak had been the nation's longest, but the Cougars were playing without injured All-America quarterback Jim McMahon.

Browns ready for big test

By The Associated Press

Those with weak hearts, stay home.

When the Cleveland Browns and Pittsburgh Steelers meet, strange things happen, usually with the game's best action packed into the final minutes.

Sunday, the 2-3 Browns travel to Pittsburgh, where they haven't won since 1969, to meet the suddenly red-hot Steelers, who have won three straight after dropping their opening two.

Last year, the Browns survived 27-26 on a frigid day in Cleveland. The Steelers returned the favor a few weeks later when Terry Bradshaw hit Lynn Swann with a 3-yard touchdown pass with 11 seconds remaining for a 16-13 victory.

"It's obviously a game of great emotion, but with an element of respect," Browns quarterback Brian Sipe said.

The Browns are off to their customary slow start and, with the other three teams in the AFC Central all at 3-2, they can't afford to lose this game. It's tough to call a game in the sixth week of the season crucial, but Cleveland needs this victory for the standings and for its confidence.

"We're not in a critical situation," Browns Coach Sam Rutigliano contends.

"Critical situations are in war and surgery."

"It's the single most important game we've had coming up," Steelers Coach Chuck Noll said. "We're getting into the meat of it. The further you go down the line, the more critical things are."

Browns defensive end Lyle Alzado, the inspirational leader of the team, put the game in its simplest terms.

Dodgers set Astros back

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Fernando Valenzuela breezed through the first eight innings and struggled through the ninth and Manager Tom Lasorda of the Los Angeles Dodgers was going to stay with him all the way, no matter what.

"There was no way I was going to take Valenzuela out of the game in the ninth inning," said Lasorda. "It didn't even enter my mind. It didn't look as if he'd lost any of his stuff."

As it turned out, he didn't. Valenzuela, pitching on only three days rest, finished with a four-hitter as the Dodgers edged the Astros 2-1 to square their National League West championship series at two games apiece.

Valenzuela, the 20-year-old left-handed rookie phenom from Mexico, had given up only two hits and no runs until the final frame, when the Astros reached him for two hits and their only run.

"Yes, I was a little tired in the ninth, and I've pitched a couple of better games, but this was the most important for the team," said Valenzuela, through an interpreter.

"He never ceases to amaze me," said Lasorda about his young star. "He was calm, cool and casual before the game, while signing baseballs."

Steer runners tough on Saturday

Big Spring Steer cross country teams took advantage of their improvement and running at home here yesterday morning at Comanche Trail Park, taking home second place in both the boys and girls varsity competition.

But as is usually the case in the boys competition, San Angelo managed just enough to edge Big Spring, which has been closely pursuing the Bobcats this year. San Angelo had 43 points and Big Spring 50. A total of seven boys teams competed.

In the girls competition, Abilene Cooper won. They accumulated only 37 points, while the second place Big Spring team had 50 points.

Andrews' Paul Hernandez won the boys competition, with San Angelo Richard Lamas and Ruben Augullion managing second and third.

Midland whomps Steers

By NATHAN POSS

MIDLAND — With Big Spring's outstanding running back-cornback Bobby Earl Williams on the sideline with a knee injury, Midland produced a Williams of their own, and the results were a 33-13 Bulldog Homecoming victory.

Midland's Wesley Williams was the show here Friday night, rushing for 231 yards on 31 carries from his 1-back position, and also tossing an early 66-yard scoring pass in the first quarter that set the tone of the remainder of the game.

On the second play of the game, Williams rolled to his right on an apparent sweep, stopped and threw a 66-yard scoring pass to Bobby Gotovac with less than a minute gone on the scoreboard. Big Joe Goebel booted the PAT.

That set the stage for Williams' outside running, and the fleet senior was the main cog on the Bulldogs' next possession, picking up big yardage on runs of 23 and 26 yards as Midland drove 90 yards in 11 plays to score. Williams capped the drive on a two-yard run, with Goebel's PAT giving the host team a 14-0 lead.

The Steers defense tightened somewhat in the second quarter, but Midland helped by making some mistakes. The first Midland mistake was a fumble, with Donnie Pavlosky recovering.

On Midland's next possession, Williams took off from his 13 for an apparent 67 yard gallop to the Steer 10, with only the play of Steer defender James Woodard keeping him from going all the way. As Woodard squeezed through a pair of downfield blockers to help stop Williams, a clipping penalty was called.

Midland then had the ball on the Steer 36, and proceeded to move it to the 20. But Midland quarterback Allen Chick was intercepted by Steer safety Richard Evans in the end zone. Evans ran the ball to the 20, but he fumbled and Midland recovered.

The Steer defense tightened, however, and Midland's Goebel missed a field goal attempt.

And despite the fact that they were outplayed in the first half, the Steers managed to get back in the game just before halftime. Cont. on 7-B "Turnovers"

A's claim AL West; Martin praised

OAKLAND (AP) — Outfielder Dwayne Murphy of the young, brash Oakland A's believes this season is the start of a long reign for the new American League West champions.

"If we continue the way we're playing, we could do this for a few years," Murphy said in the joyous din of the A's locker room following Friday night's 4-1 victory that completed a three-game playoff sweep over the Kansas City Royals.

The A's planned to work out at the Oakland Coliseum today, then head east for the start of the league championship series against the winner of the New York-Milwaukee East Division playoffs.

The strange odyssey of the A's, who went from world champions during the early 1970s to the depths of despair and now have their first division title in six years, left pitcher Rick Langford with "wonderful feelings."

Standing at a podium in the hot lights of an interview room, dripping with sweat after pitching 7 one-third innings in sinking the Royals, Langford gave the credit to Manager Billy Martin and the men who resurrected baseball in Oakland after buying the team from Charles O. Finley.

"The lean years that I went through, I think I drew strength and experience from them, and it makes something like this all the more beautiful to be a part of," said Langford.

"You have to bring up Billy's name. He's come in here and done such a great job," he said. "And we've had such a beautiful changeover here — everything's so positive."

It wasn't always so. From 1975, when the A's won their last division title, until last season, when Martin arrived on the scene, the A's floundered as Finley dismantled the team by trading many players who had earned world championships in 1972, '73 and '74.

Then Wally Haas and Roy Eisenhardt of the Levi Strauss Co. family took over the team, and "Billy Ball" took over the Bay area.

"I think the promotion people did a great job of calling it 'Billy Ball' to create an interest," said Martin, "but it's not really 'Billy Ball,' it's Oakland A's baseball."

"It's aggressive baseball, and you saw it tonight — taking extra bases and forcing the opposition to make mental and physical mistakes."

Vuckovich's HR makes Phils even

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pinch-hitter George Vukovich led off the 10th inning with a home run over the right field wall off ace reliever Jeff Reardon, giving the Philadelphia Phillies a 6-5 victory over the Montreal Expos Saturday and tying their National League East Division championship series at two games apiece.

It was only the fifth earned run off Reardon in the last 40 innings in which he posted an 0.97 earned run average. Reardon had saved the Montreal victories in the first two games of this series.

Vukovich, who has three-pinch hits in the series, batted for winning reliever Tug McGraw. He hit an 0-2 pitch for his winning shot.

The fifth and decisive game will be played Sunday at 4:05 p.m. EDT, with the first game pitchers — Steve Carlton for Philadelphia and Steve Rogers for the Expos — matched again.

The Phillies grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first inning off Montreal starter Scott Sanderson.

With two out, Bake McBride singled and major league home run leader Mike Schmidt slammed a homer over the left field wall for his first of the series. The Phillies boosted their lead to 4-0 in the third.

Rose opened with a single and Schmidt walked with one out. Gary Matthews then grounded to shortstop Chris Speier, who flipped to second baseman Jerry Manuel trying to start a routine double play.

But Manuel missed the bag and Schmidt was safe on the error. Rose advancing to third. Montreal Manager Jim Fanning then removed Sanderson in favor of Stan Bahnsen, whose first pitch was grounded into right by Keith Moreland, scoring Rose and Schmidt with two unearned runs.

The Expos reached Phillies' starter Dickie Noles for a run in the fourth when Gary Carter slammed a 1-0 pitch for his second homer of the series.

Montreal knocked out Noles in the fifth. Center fielder Lonnie Smith broke the wrong way and just missed Speier's leadoff high fly which fell for a double. Noles then walked Manuel and pinch-hitter Brad Mills, loading the bases.

That was all for Noles and brought on right-hander Warren Brusstar, whose first pitch was lined toward right-center by Warren Cromartie but was speared by second baseman Manny Trillo.

Jerry White then hit a sacrifice fly scoring Speier. The Expos tied it in the sixth and had the go-ahead run at third when Sparky Lyle struck out Cromartie for the final out.

Brewers tie series with Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — Pete Vuckovich, battling tonsillitis and a fever, held New York to one hit for five innings and relievers Jamie Easterly and Rollie Fingers baited Milwaukee out of late-inning trouble as the Brewers beat the Yankees 2-1 Saturday and evened their American League East Division playoff at two games apiece.

In staving off elimination for the second day in a row after dropping the first two games at home, the Brewers produced just enough offense against Rick Reuschel in the fourth inning.

Cecil Cooper drove in a run with a sacrifice fly and Ben Oglivie, hitless in 12 previous playoff at-bats, delivered the decisive tally with a two-out double.

The final game of the best-of-five series is scheduled for Yankee Stadium at 7:10 p.m. EDT Sunday, with Ron Guidry pitching for New York and Moose Haas for Milwaukee. They were the starters in Wednesday's opening game, with the Yankees chasing Haas in the fourth inning and pinning the defeat on him. Guidry, knocked out in the fifth, was not involved in the decision.

Vuckovich, who was unable to pitch Thursday and Friday and had to go to a Milwaukee hospital for antibiotics, walked three and struck out four, while allowing a leadoff single by Reggie Jackson in the second inning.

But the big right-hander, who tied for the AL lead with 14 victories during the regular season, ran into trouble in the sixth when first baseman Cooper botched Jerry Mumphrey's grounder for an error and Dave Winfield ripped a double down the third base line.

That brought on Easterly, a journeyman left-hander, to face Jackson, the Yankees' celebrated Mr. October, with runners at second and third and no one out.

Graig Nettles, who has not had a hit during the series fled out to end the inning.

LITTLE MAN GETS BIG ASSIST — Travis John, son of New York Yankees starting pitcher Tommy John, is held aloft by Yankees slugger Reggie Jackson at New York's Yankee Stadium Friday night during a ceremony in which he threw out the first ball to start the game. Travis was injured earlier this year when he fell out a window. The Yankees lost their game to the Milwaukee Brewers 5-3.

Woolfolk leads Michigan to win over arch rival

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Butch Woolfolk rushed for 253 yards and Steve Smith ran for two touchdowns as No. 6 Michigan rallied to defeat Michigan State 38-20 in Big Ten Conference football Saturday.
 Lawrence Ricks also scored twice for the Wolverines, who trailed 20-16 early in the third quarter before taking charge.
 Woolfolk, carrying 39 times, gained more than 100 yards for the eighth straight game and became the first Wolverine since 1975 to surpass 200 yards rushing in a game.

Pitt blanks West Virginia

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (AP) — Bryan Thomas ran for two touchdowns as fourth-ranked Pitt, forced into a running game because of an injury to passing star Dan Marino, ground out a 17-0 football victory over previously unbeaten West Virginia on Saturday.
 Pitt's backup quarterback, seldom-used junior Danny Daniels, failed to complete a pass in six attempts as he subbed for Marino, who was the nation's top-rated passer going into the game. But with Marino on the sidelines because of a strained right shoulder, Daniels effectively ran the Panther offense by handing off extensively to Wayne DiBartola and Thomas.
 Thomas scored the game's first touchdown on a 43-yard run with 1:57 left in the first half, and the Panthers, 4-0, held a 7-0 halftime lead. He broke open at the line of scrimmage, raced down the sidelines, slipping three tackles on the way, and accelerated into the end zone as Pitt took just two plays to complete a 55-yard scoring drive.

Penn State routs BC

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — Tailback Curt Warner scored twice and cracked the 100-yard mark for the fifth straight time to lead second-ranked Penn State to a 38-7 demolition of Boston College Saturday.
 Fullback Mike Meade rushed for a career-high 107 yards and a score, while quarterback Todd Blackledge, who threw for one touchdown, had his best day ever with 182 yards in the air.
 The Nittany Lions, 4-0, totally dominated Boston College, which had seven turnovers and didn't cross midfield until the second half. The loss was the third straight for the Eagles, 1-3.
 Penn State lost its bid for a third shutout in four games when backup quarterback Doug Flutie threw a 23-yard touchdown pass to Scott Nizolek in the fourth quarter.
 Warner, who had 105 yards on 22 carries, scored from 7 yards out to cap a 76-yard, 11-play drive on Penn State's first possession. He also scored from a yard out in the third period.

Tour vet ties rookie entering final round

COLUMBUS, Ga. (AP) — Tour veteran Jeff Mitchell went on a birdie binge on the back nine Saturday to carve out a 65 and gain a share of the lead with rookie Payne Stewart at 8-under-par 202 after the third round of the $200,000 Southern Open Golf Tournament.
 Mitchell, whose only triumph in five years on the tour came in 1980 at Phoenix, had six birdies and bogey in his round over the soggy 6,791-yard Green Island Country Club course.
 The 27-year-old from Lubbock, Texas caught second-round leader Stewart after three consecutive birdies starting at No. 13.

Austin College whips McMurry

SHERMAN, Texas (AP) — David Simmons rushed for two touchdowns and Larry Shillings tossed for another as Austin College whipped McMurry 30-7 Saturday in a Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association game.
 Simmons scored on runs of 10 and 3 yards. Greg Garrison ran one yard for another touchdown and Shillings hit Clay Oliphant with a 34-yard scoring pass. Gene Branum also kicked a 42-yard field goal for the Kangaroos.
 McMurry got its only touchdown on a 15 yard run by Dudley Woodard.

Tar Heels don't care if Bryant's missing

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Sophomore Tyrone Anthony scored two touchdowns and rushed for 224 yards on 26 carries No. 5 North Carolina romped to a 48-10 victory over Wake Forest in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game Saturday.

Anthony, starting in place of injured tailback Kelvin Bryant, amassed the fifth-highest single-game rushing yardage total in Tar Heel history. His touchdowns came on runs of 30 and 2 yards.

The North Carolina individual rushing record is 286 yards, set by Amos Lawrence against Virginia in 1977.

The Tar Heel offense moved the Demon Deacon defense at will and gained 543 yards in front of a record home attendance of 51,962 and scouts from the Orange Bowl.

In addition to Anthony's performance, quarterback Rod Elkins threw three touchdown passes. Two of the scoring strikes, covering 5 and 2 yards, went to tight end Shelton Robinson. The third, coming when Elkins scrambled out of a heavy rush, went for 25 yards to Larry Griffin.

5-A-A-A-A-A ROUNDUP Permian nips Abilene

ODESSA — The Odessa Permian Panthers won their fifth game of the year without a defeat, but it wasn't until the fourth stanza that the defending state champions managed to take a 7-0 win over Abilene.

The contest was a defensive affair from the beginning, as there were only 11 first downs gained in the contest, seven by Permian and four by Abilene.

But neither side could score until just under four minutes remained in the game when Permian's Dale Carr raced 28 yards to paydirt. Julian Suarez booted the PAT to give the Mojo their final point.

Permian managed 184 yards total offense, while Abilene netted only 64 total yards.

PERMIAN 7 0 0 7-0

OHS surprises in tie

ABILENE — The Odessa Bronchos surprised the favored Abilene Cooper Cougars here Friday night, scoring late in the first half and then holding on for a 7-7 tie.

All the scoring came in the second period. Cooper scored first on a 10-yard pass from quarterback Brad Morrison to Michael T. Royals. Dennis Bryson's PAT gave the Cougars a 7-0 lead.

But with less than a minute remaining in the half, Odessa's Carl Powell banged over from the one, and Abel Mendoza's PAT boot tied the count at 7-7.

Cooper had a slight statistical advantage, scoring 12 first downs to Odessa's eight and 220 total yards to the Bronchos 177. But they couldn't take enough advantage to muster any points, despite four OHS fumbles.

ODESSA 7 0 0 7-0
COOPER 7 0 0 7-0

Lee wins on defense

SAN ANGELO — After playing the underdog San Angelo Bobcats on even terms for three stanzas, the Midland Lee Rebels used two short drives for a pair of touchdowns and a 13-0 win in a District 5-A-A-A-A-A contest here Friday night.

Calvin Riggs was the big gun for the Rebels, and his ball totting in the final stanza was a key in the win. After San Angelo turned the ball over on its own 31 early in the final stanza, Riggs carried five straight times, the final to paydirt from a yard out with 8:34 remaining in the game. Van Gravitt's PAT was true.

On San Angelo's next possession, the Rebels recovered a Bobcat fumble only 36 yards from paydirt. The Rebels moved downfield and scored on an eight-yard pass from quarterback Bart Ryan to receiver Kenneth Brown.

Riggs finished the night with 23 carries for 164 yards, and the Rebels had 271 yards rushing and 309 yards total offense. San Angelo had 119 yards rushing and 41 passing.

MIDLAND LEE 13 0 0 13-0

FAN ASSAULTS UMP — Umpire Mike Reilly has the upper hand as he and New York Yankees third baseman Craig Nettles struggle with a fan that attacked the ump in the beginning of the seventh inning. The fan was apparently upset with the call made by the ump ending the sixth inning when he ruled the Yanks' Dave Winfield out at third base. Assisting are two security guards and Yankees Larry Milbourne and Dave Winfield.

Crenshaw edges fellow Texan Rogers in World Match Play

VIRGINIA WATER, England (AP) — Ben Crenshaw edged fellow Texan Bill Rogers on the last hole after 36 holes of see-saw golf in the rain Saturday to reach the final of the $230,000 Suntory World gmatch Play Championship.

Crenshaw lost a three-hole lead, but regained it with a dramatic chip out of a bunker to win, one up.

Severiano Ballesteros of Spain, eight under par for 32 holes, downed Bernhard Langer of Germany 5 and 4 in the other semifinal.

Crenshaw and Ballesteros meet Sunday for the top prize of $69,000.

Rain beat down almost all day on Wentworth's 6,945-yard, par 72 course. The fairways played long and puddles formed on the greens.

"The water on the greens destroyed all the pace I had had in my first two matches," Crenshaw said.

Crenshaw gained revenge for his defeat by Rogers on the first hole of sudden-death overtime in the Texas Open last Sunday. He also stopped Rogers' winning streak at three straight tournaments.

Crenshaw led most of the way. He finished the morning round two up in 34, three under par.

In the afternoon, Crenshaw went to three up at the 19th. Rogers had two straight birdies and was one back after 24 holes.

But Rogers' putting lapsed and he bogeyed the next two holes, giving Crenshaw a three-hole lead again.

With the rain still lashing down, Crenshaw missed from six feet at the 28th and Rogers was two back.

With two holes to go, Rogers rolled in a birdie putt from 12 feet and now was only one down.

At the 35th, Crenshaw needed to sink only a 15-foot birdie putt to win the match. He hit the ball 2 1/2 feet past the pin, then remarkably missed the return putt.

"It was a perfectly flat putt and there was no water there," Crenshaw said. "It went past. Then I completely misjudged the return putt."

So Rogers won the hole, and they went to the last tee even.

The drama reached a climax on the last hole. It had stopped raining at last. Rogers' second shot landed behind a tree and Crenshaw hit into a bunker near the green.

Rogers hit out of the woods, then pitched to 18 feet from the flag. Crenshaw pitched out of the bunker to 18 inches from victory.

Rogers walked over to him, put his arm around his shoulder and gave him the putt.

Anwar Sadat: seeker of peace

They say leadership is the other side of the coin of loneliness. And he who is a leader must always act alone.

Anwar el-Sadat was such a leader. His name forever will be linked to the cause of peace in the Middle East.

IT TOOK PROFOUND courage for Sadat to stand up against his former longtime friends in the Arab and communist worlds in order to walk alone down the path toward peace.

Other Arabs were eager to fight Israel to the last drop of blood left between them, but Sadat saw the futility of this endless combat.

He wanted to make a peace pact. In doing so, he put himself on the hit list of such radical Arabs as Col. Khadafy in Libya, who made no secret of his desire to assassinate Sadat.

Sadat had come to see the Soviet Union as a menace to the stability of the Middle East.

Thus he reversed the policy of his predecessor, Gamal Abdel Nasser, by expelling the Soviets from Egypt. Before that, Egypt virtually had become a Soviet satellite.

BY THWARTING the Soviets, and by standing alone against his fellow Arabs in a world of hate, Sadat in effect signed his own death warrant.

No one knows for sure exactly what group was responsible for his death.

What matters is that Sadat was a friend of the United States. He put his life on the line to wrench his nation out of the Soviet orbit and align it with the West. He was our hearty ally.

Yes, peacemakers lead lonely, dangerous lives. President Reagan and Pope John Paul II can testify to that, having recovered from the assaults on their lives. But fate was not as kind to Sadat. The world will miss him.

Blessed are the peacemakers*

*Offer void in the Middle East.

Pity the KGB

Art Buchwald

Pity the poor KGB spy who has just been recalled to Moscow from the United States to explain his recent reports on President Reagan's military decisions.

"Federov, up until recently your work in the United States has been impeccable. But lately we can't make head or tail out of anything that you have sent us."

"Is confusing, comrades, I confess. But is not my fault. I only report the truth."

"Let's start with this report. What is 'Window of Vulnerability'?"

"Is window president looks out of from White House and sees missile gap with Soviet Union. He said on television he wants to close window."

"That leads us to this second microfimed report. You said he would close the window by building an underground MX missile system in state of Nevada, and move live missiles around so we wouldn't know where they were."

"Is not my fault I sent that message. I saw it on NBC and confirmed it in New York Times."

"Then you sent us a third coded cable that president had decided not to build new MX system, but to put MX missiles in old Titan holes and add more cement."

"Comrades, I know sounds crazy, but I only reported what the president said."

"Furthermore you told us that the president is going ahead with building the B-1 bomber, which will be obsolete by the time it flies. The cost is $180 billion."

"I have the tape where he announced it on television."

"All right, Federov, assuming the president said it, where is he going to get the $180 billion and still balance the budget by 1984?"

"Is simple, comrades. Is called supply-side economics. You cut federal spending, give everyone 25 percent tax cut, and the less taxes people pay, the more money you get back from the working people. Look, is all here on Laffer curve."

"Is not funny, Federov. And nobody in Soviet Union believes it."

"Comrades, I am aware on paper it makes no sense, but our mole in the Treasury says Reagan people are serious about it."

"Shall we continue? You left message in Rock Creek Park for Boris, which said, 'Half of U.S. Army and Navy were 'stoned.' What is stoned?"

"Drugged. They go on trip by smoking cigarettes and taking pills."

"You want us to believe U.S. military chiefs would let stoned people near nuclear weapons and billion-dollar military ships and planes?"

"Is all in Congressional Report, comrades. I left out those who were drunk because I knew you wouldn't believe me."

"And now, final message which you sent in diplomatic pouch Monday. You say U.S. is now preparing for limited nuclear war, on assumption if they keep it small, we will do same thing."

"What kind of idiots do you think we are, Federov? You made this all up, or else you're being fed by CIA disinformation agents."

"Federov, you need a rest. It's time you came in from the cold. Perhaps six months in a nice sanitarium will do you a lot of good."

"No, please, comrades. I'm not insane. I just reported the facts."

"Go quietly, Federov. Here is a present from all of us in the KGB's North-American section."

"What is it?"

"A pad and crayon. Just think. You will now have time to draw all the Laffer curves you want to."

Whistleblowers need help

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — Federal employees who see things going wrong and decide to blow the whistle on their agency realize they won't endear themselves to their bosses in the bureaucracy. President Reagan has promised to protect whistleblowers who expose waste, mismanagement or outright fraud. I wish him success in this venture.

One whistleblower the president might want to listen to is Victor McKay, whose career with the Agency for International Development began back in 1973. McKay saw problems and reported them to his superiors; his reward was to be harassed continually as a "wavemaker," and eventually to be effectively blackballed from government service.

McKay was assigned to work with foreign students whose education in the United States is supported by AID funds. The idea is that these "best and brightest" will go home and put the expertise they have acquired to the service of their native countries.

But McKay discovered early on that many of these foreign students were what are known as "no-gos." A no-go is a student who is brought to this country to study at AID expense and then refuses to go home. Beguiled by the good life in America, they stay or illegally instead of returning to work for their homeland.

AID officials have for years been assuring Congress that there simply wasn't a significant "no-go" problem. Fewer than 1 percent of AID-subsidized foreign students failed to go home, the agency bureaucrats claimed.

BUT MCKAY SOON realized that the no-go figure was at least 10 times greater than the official AID estimate. His figures — supported by investigations by the General Accounting Office and AID's own inspector general — show that at least 10 percent, and probably as many as 20 percent of foreign students brought here under the AID program were not going home. The whole purpose of the program was being defeated.

The situation disturbed McKay. It not only represented a waste of U.S. funds, which were being used to bring freeloaders to this country; it resulted in a "brain drain" from the Third World countries involved. The engineers, doctors, teachers and technicians who were chosen for advanced training in the United States were not returning to help their own countries' struggle to move from the primitive conditions of colonialism into the 20th century.

McKay had the audacity to challenge the AID bureaucrats' figures, which were based only on unconfirmed no-gos. His were based on students whose whereabouts were unknown. AID officials dismissed McKay's estimates as speculation.

"That's like saying there were three pot smokers in Washington last year because only three were arrested," McKay told my associate Don Goldberg. Whether his estimate is correct or not, McKay said, the important point is that AID just isn't interested in keeping track of the no-go population.

McKay, a political appointee in the Nixon administration, was "ruffed" in 1974, under President Ford, but was reinstated after he charged that the elimination of his job was simply a device to silence him. That made him even more suspect, and he was again fired in 1977 — on the excuse that a new administration had taken over.

McKay later was hired at the Interior Department's Young Adult Conservation Corps, but was soon fired when his boss found out that he had been telling Congress about the AID mess. He has now taken his case to the courts.

DELAYED REACTION: The near-disaster at the Three Mile Island nuclear plant two-and-a-half years ago scared the facility's neighbors in Pennsylvania worst of all — but it is now costing consumers around the country at least $50 million in hidden costs.

What happened is that investment firms, worried about TMI-type accidents, are charging power companies higher interest rates for financing of nuclear electric plants. The utilities are passing on the additional costs to their customers.

At least 15 electric companies have already jacked up their customers' bills to cover the costs of the higher interest rates, investigators for Rep. Allen Ertel, D-Pa., told my reporter Corky Johnson. The longer it takes to clean up Three Mile Island, the more nervous the bankers become. And their nervousness is reflected in the interest rates they charge to utilities that want to borrow money for nuclear power plants.

HEADLINES & FOOTNOTES: "Everyone else seems to be looking for gold or silver treasure," says underwater explorer Clive Cussler of his deep-sea diving colleagues. "I'm looking for treasures of history." In the past two years, Cussler has spent more than $100,000 of the royalties earned from his novels "Raise the Titanic" and "Night Probe" searching for sunken ships of the Civil War era. He's already found the Confederate raider Florida and the Union ship Cumberland near Hampton, Va. The artifacts pulled up from Davy Jones' locker by Cussler and his crew are donated to museums.

—No one has yet perfected a gun that can shoot around corners, but the Federal Election Commission has accused the National Rifle Association of doing just about that with political contributions. In a little-noticed lawsuit, the FEC claims that campaign donations by the Political Victory Fund — the only arm of the NRA that's legally entitled to make such contributions — were made with money borrowed from another NRA branch, the Institute of Legislative Action. The FEC says this was an illegal ruse. The NRA says it's all a plot inspired by the assassination attempt on President Reagan. The FEC says the suit was authorized on March 27, three whole days before the president was shot.

Real patriot

Walt Finley

You're a real patriot if you run for jury duty.

Once again the United States government is being forced to defend the dollar — for impersonating money.

I noticed a new magazine called "Working Mother." Is there any other kind?

SINCE NOBODY wants nuclear garbage, the government is scouting land expanses in Texas and Wyoming, seeking places to bury the radioactive waste.

Remember back when life was uncomplicated and the only thing we had to worry about burying on the lone prairie was a cowboy?

HERALD AD-VISOR, Cheryl Parrish, who celebrated her birthday Thursday, overheard a frustrated housewife:

"I'm not saying we have a lot of trouble with our TV set — but we do have a live-in repairman."

The mint is working on a new penny, made partly of zinc.

Pill-pusher Mike Daniels repeats he'll withhold judgment until he sees if it bears the likeness of Susan B. Anthony.

NITA TARBET, deaf since birth, yet articulately creating a golden melody from her soundless world, is the most amazing person I've ever met. Besides being a dynamic speaker, Nita dishes out some touching poetry. For example:

WHO ARE YOU?
Who are you?
Really — truly — are you?
I wonder as we stand and talk,
slowly feeling our way.
You show yourself as STRONG —
POWERFUL — FEARLESS,
And yet —
Tho we have only just met,

there is something about you that draws me, making me want to know you. Somehow I feel that there is a part of you that lays hidden, that sometimes grows weary from the battles you have fought.

Could it be that you need a friend to understand those days when it seems that the whole world is against you?

Someone to understand when you cry and not ask why?

Someone to feel for you when you are hurting.

Someone to listen and never tell a soul what you say.

Someone to feel free with, no matter what your mood is, laughing, crying or just sitting quietly.

Can my words warm you and help us weave our way toward that rare fragile thing called friendship?

And so I wonder as we stand on this uncharted shore.

Is there something in me that you have need of?

Will you — can you — let the barriers down and show me, who you really, truly are.

FORMER HERALD ad chief, Oliver Cofer, who observed his birthday Wednesday, is convinced, there's only one way to grease a political machine and that's with money.

A gentleman farmer is one who has plenty of spare time in which to write his Congressman.

THE LONGER the summer vacation, the harder the fall. This is reverse English for saying I'm on my annual vacation, which is usually highlighted by OU defeating Texas in the Cotton Bowl.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: My son is in seventh grade. Several of his friends are deeply fascinated with horror movies, and they are always trying to get my son to go with them. Do you think I am right in refusing him permission to go? — Mrs. R.S.P.

DEAR MRS. R.S.P.: I do not know the exact situation you face, but in general I am convinced parents today need to exercise discernment in what they allow their children to see and do (and read) in the way of entertainment. I know that many films today (according to reviews I have read of them) are not wholesome and can have a bad impact, particularly on a younger person. Films which depict demonic or evil forces at work often leave the impression that Satan is all-powerful, which is not true.

I fear that many parents today have a false idea about loving their children. Some parents feel that if they love their children they must allow them to do whatever they want to do, and not put any restrictions on them. But in the long run this is not real love, because it will ultimately harm the child. Sometimes the most loving thing you can do is say no to a child — not in a harsh way, of course, but in a way that lets him know that you love him and want what is best for him.

I hope you not only will guide your son in things such as this, but that you also will seek to develop in him a set of solid Biblical values. He needs to learn that it is more important for him to have God's approval than the approval of the crowd. He also needs to know what is right and wrong in many areas of life. The Bible commands, "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and with all your strength. These commandments that I give you today are to be upon your hearts. Impress them on your children" (Deuteronomy 6:5-7).

Let this be your guideline: "Whatever is true, whatever is noble, whatever is right, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is admirable — if anything is excellent or praiseworthy — think about such things" (Philippians 4:8).

Stretching exercises are basic precautions

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Will you please explain for my boys why stretching exercises are so important? I think it might help other coaches of every young athletes to know there is sound reason for them. I think most of them figure it's just part of the show, like the loss of the coin. I'll pin your answer up in our locker room. — Coach.

I think it is very important that young athletes not only know what exercises are good, but why. Here is how I would try to explain:

If you have only limited ability to flex your limbs — that is, if you are stiff — you have a greater chance for injuring a joint. If you are able to bend your arm or leg to its fullest, then you are less likely to pull a muscle and get muscle strains. Muscle strains usually happen where the joint is extended suddenly to its fullest in any motion. If the muscles there have not been stretched and are not flexible, you can tear strands when you have to use it to its maximum — which is what happens too frequently, as in tackling an opponent in football. In addition, stretching helps warm up muscles.

Cold muscles are injury prone. Stretching helps prevent strains of ligaments around joints, too. So you've got some good logic to work with. If you can find a good anatomical rendering of joints, muscles and ligaments, you can make these points very dramatically.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: No medical question. I just want to know if the marathon is the longest run there is. — B.E.

Have you heard of ultra marathons, runs of 100 miles? One doctor-runner records his experience with such a run, which he finished in 19 hours. He had to "rest for awhile" afterward because of tendonitis in his leg. He trained no differently for this run than he did for regular marathons. As far as I know, this is the longest run studied.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: Does exercise tighten sagging thigh skin? — Mrs. B.D.J.

Exercise will not tighten sagging skin anywhere. It may add a little to muscle bulk and tone, which would fill out the skin a little. But it won't tighten the skin. Neither will exercise stretch the skin.

You can lose weight if you really want to! The booklet, "Lost Secrets of Reducing," tells you how — naturally and without gimmicks — to the level best suited to your individual needs. For a copy write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Midland uses tailback workhorse on Steer defense

Pavlosky's second fumble recovery on the Midland 25 set the Steers in motion. After a personal foul moved the ball to the 13, the Steers used just three plays to score, with Evans getting the honors on a six-yard jaunt. Greg Scarbro's kick was good, and with 53 seconds left in the half, Midland's lead was only 14-7.

The Steers received the second half kickoff, and appeared to be on their way to tying the score before Midland defensive back Jim Sutherland intercepted a Tracy Spence pass on his own 20 and ran 70 yards to the Steer 10.

The momentum the Steers had gained was suddenly lost, and the Midland High team quickly capitalized, as Williams ran in from the three. Goebel missed the PAT, leaving the score at 20-7.

On the Steers next possession, Spence, under heavy pressure, was sacked and fumbled, with Midland recovering on the Steer 13. Five plays later Williams banged in off left tackle from the two, and the Bulldogs held a commanding 26-7 lead.

The Steers most impressive drive of the night took off nearly six minutes on the clock in the final frame, as Spence directed the Big Spring crew 95 yards in 17 plays. 40 of the yards were on four Spence pass completions, with three of them going to Rod Harris.

Evans finally took scoring honors on a one-yard jaunt with 3:29 remaining to play. The PAT boot was blocked.

But Midland came back to add a little salt to the Big Spring wounds, driving 50 yards in five plays. Big play in the drive was a 23-yard completion from Chick to Jeff Nelson, who made a nifty one-hand catch falling down after a Big Spring defender had tipped the ball. Ricky Madrid finally ran in from the six, with Goebel's PAT giving the Bulldogs their final point in their Homecoming win.

The Midland team is now still in the 5-A-A-A-A-A chase, supporting a league mark of 1-1 and a season record of 2-3. The Steers fell to 0-2 and 2-3 on the year.

The Big Springers will try to regroup next week when they host the defending state champion Odessa Permian, which is currently riding a 23-game winning streak.

Cowboys vs. 49ers matches top NFC passers

 "Intensity," he said. "The cities are so much alike — similar industries, same weather and same type of devoted fans."
 Elsewhere Sunday, the 2-3 Green Bay Packers host the 3-2 Tampa Bay Buccaneers in an important NFC Central game; Philadelphia, the only unbeaten and untied team left in the National Football League, is at New Orleans; the New York Jets host the New England Patriots; Minnesota is at San Diego; Detroit is at Denver; Los Angeles is at Atlanta; Dallas is at San Francisco; Oakland is at Kansas City; St. Louis is at the Giants; Seattle is at Houston; Cincinnati is at Baltimore; Washington is at Chicago and, Monday night, the Miami Dolphins are in Buffalo to play the Bills.
 Tampa Bay may be without star defensive end Lee Roy Selmon, who strained a knee last week in Detroit. Bombs away in Green Bay.
 The Eagles, meanwhile, return to the Superdome, scene of their Super Bowl disaster against the Oakland Raiders. Philadelphia is coming off a tough Monday night victory over Atlanta while the Saints are still without quarterback Archie Manning and are worried about rookie George Rogers' (490 yards, third best in NFL) chronic leg cramps.
 The Patriots broke a four-game losing streak last week with a victory over Kansas City, while the Jets disappointed their fans playing for a tie in overtime against the Dolphins. Jets have four injured running backs and signed ex-Giant Billy Taylor during the week. Taylor probably will play against New England.
 The Vikings and the Chargers are each tied for their divisional leads. Minnesota is surprisingly No. 1 in NFC offense, while the Chargers are, well, the tops in the NFL, is coming off 17-0 blanking of Oakland. Two weeks ago, Detroit whipped Oakland 16-0. The Lions are without quarterback Gary Danielson, out with a dislocated wrist.
 The Rams and Falcons are tied for NFC West lead at 3-2. The 49ers, with Joe Montana, and the Cowboys, with Danny White, come together in a matchup of the NFC's top-rated quarterbacks.

CALL FOR SEALED BIDS ON MARY GREEN REED ESTATE FARM
 Sealed bids on the Mary Green Reed Estate Farm will be accepted until Noon, November 3, 1981, by mailing to Mary Green Reed Estate Co. Attn: Dallas Woods, The First National Bank of Lamesa, P.O. Box 241, Lamesa, Texas 79721. Bids should be submitted in gross for tract as it lies, rather than on a per acre basis, with purchase price to be paid one-half prior to January 1st and the other one-half by January 5, 1982.
 Farm is located in Southeast Dawson County and is described as the Surface Estate of the South 300 acres of Section 25, Block 34, T-4-N, T & P Ry. Co. Surveys in Dawson County, Texas, consisting of 256 acres, more or less. All oil, gas and other minerals will be reserved by owner, but future leases will contain covenants to protect surface in the event of drilling or exploration. Farm is approximately 3 1/2 miles North of Ackerly, Texas and 1 1/2 miles East of U.S. Highway 87.
 Bids must include bank money order to escrow agent, The First National Bank of Lamesa, in the amount of 5 percent of bids. Bank money orders for all unaccepted bidders will be returned and seller reserves right to reject any and all bids. Sale of property will be subject to approval of the County Court of Dawson County, Texas, in pending administration and also subject to ratification by heirs of Mary Green Reed, Deceased.
 Bids will be opened at 2:00 P.M., November 3, 1981, at The First National Bank in Lamesa, Texas, and bidders are welcome to be present.
 Buyer receives no part of 1981 crop and possession to be delivered on January 1, 1982 or within a reasonable time thereafter if present crop is not then harvested.
 The above named bank has no formal connection with the Mary Green Reed Estate and has agreed to accept bids as a convenience and assumes no liability in connection with receiving or opening of bids.

Goal setting important to success

Firm tackles wide variety of assignments

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer

The offices of Avery and Associates located on the second floor of the Permian Building are bright and attractive. They match the personality of the driving force behind the multi-faceted firm, Johnnie Lou Avery.

If you've ever worked on any public-service committee in Big Spring, you probably already know Mrs. Avery. She's worked many long hours for a variety of causes locally, in the state and in the nation.

She's also been involved in a variety of careers. Most of them have been people-related.

"It thrills me if I can help someone look at themselves differently," Mrs. Avery says. She also works hard at stamping out "negative feelings."

"It's amazing what kind of talent we have in this town."

something she feels holds too many people back from becoming all they can be.

Mrs. Avery said she learned early in life that organization and goal-setting are important building blocks in anyone's life.

"When I was a little girl, I made lists of what I wanted to do during a certain day," Mrs. Avery says. "I wouldn't allow my mother to put me to bed until I finished everything on my list."

Mrs. Avery was born in Abilene. Her parents "didn't understand the drive I had. It frustrated them to have a daughter like me."

She laughs and adds they often wondered "what in the world kind of strange person have we raised?"

When Johnnie Lou was 12 she taught herself to type. She recalls watching typists and thinking "I could do that."

For the next six years "I did all types of clerical jobs for regular customers, including two oil companies, a chemical company, a car dealership and an insurance-real estate company."

In 1956 she took a job as secretary to the Lincoln Junior High School principal in Abilene. She worked for the Abilene school district until 1963.

In 1966, shortly after she and her husband, Jerry, and daughter, Joni, moved to Big Spring, she took a job as a counselor in the student financial aids department at Howard College. In 1975, she became the assistant to Dr. Charles Hays, president of Howard College. She worked in that job until 1979.

"When I quit my job at the college, people said 'My gosh, you're giving up that super job?' I answered them with 'There are other worlds to conquer.'"

In 1979, Mrs. Avery served as president of the board of directors of the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce. Serving as president capped a long career of public service from within the Chamber.

In 1980, she established Avery and Associates, which is a consulting firm in management and personnel. The company also deals with personal development and private counseling.

Although the company is young, Mrs. Avery says "I'm willing to work, and willing to struggle" to see it thrive.

The company has its roots in the 1960s, when Mrs. Avery worked as a free-lance consultant for colleges, businesses, industries and private individuals.

Avery and Associates has a public relations division and a speaker's agency division. The firm also sponsors seminars on motivation, personal development, self-concepts and leadership development.

Mrs. Avery explained some of the divisions of Avery and Associates. The first was the West Texas Program Bureau.

"When I was at the college, I was in charge of programs" for the school. "I couldn't get any information from which to write introductions about a speaker," she recalls. It was also difficult at times to find anyone willing to speak, and difficult to find out the price for speakers and when they were available.

"I don't think there's such a thing as a lucky person. A person makes his own destiny."

Avery and Associates has contacts with "more than 100" speakers with whom contracts can be made. Every speaker signs "an official contract" with Avery and Associates.

Avery and Associates handles the speaking contract from there, prepares a written introduction, sends out a news release and photo, and provides a sample tape of that speaker's style.

The firm also provides a back-up speaker ready in case the original speaker can't make a certain engagement. After the speech is done, Mrs. Avery follows up. She sends out an evaluation sheet to find out if the group requesting the speaker was pleased.

"I want to keep posted on whether to keep a person on the job," Mrs. Avery says.

Not all of the 100 speakers are from Big Spring. Avery and Associates contracts for speaking engagements both in Howard County and across the state.

Among area people who participate in the West Texas Program Bureau are Pat Porter, a humorist from Gail, and Nita Tarbet, a local woman who has been deaf from birth.

"It's amazing what kind of talent we have in this town," Mrs. Avery says as she looks over the lists of speakers.

There is not a professional speaker's bureau in this whole area. There is one in Dallas and one in Phoenix."

She cited a need for a West Texas bureau. "I want to meet our needs right here in West Texas."

Another division of Avery and Associates is Business Services. Within this division is a secretarial service with five secretaries at present who can work with businesses that experience an "overflow of typing."

Mrs. Avery says "I've got people who would rather do typing at home, and others who operate like the Kelly Girls, who will go into offices" and help during a busy period.

"I want my people to look sharp, be sharp and do sharp work," Mrs. Avery adds.

The business services division will soon offer a variety of special business machines which may be rented out. Mrs. Avery says, "Equipment such as engravers and printing machines will be available to businesses that have small jobs but that don't want to invest in such equipment."

"We can go wherever we need to go" with this division, Mrs. Avery says. "With vision and foresight, we can make it fit the needs of this community."

Another division of Avery and Associates is involved in coordinating courses for the public, like public speaking. Courses in how to become a better public speaker will begin Monday, and continue for the next eight weeks. Courses in parliamentary procedure are also planned.

"There are a lot of good people in this town who can help with these projects," Mrs. Avery says. "I don't want to be in competition with the college," she adds, explaining that Howard College also offers many self-help courses.

"We want to have services no one else offers."

Courses offered through Avery and Associates are geared to show people "their ability to control their own destiny. We're interested in building people-potential."

Mrs. Avery believes wholeheartedly in people. "You need to know where you want to go," she stresses. "I don't think there's such a thing as a lucky person. A person makes his own destiny."

She adds "People need positive attitudes and confidence. I don't like negative attitudes."

Having a positive attitude should be instilled "in young people," Mrs. Avery believes. "Young people are my favorite thing. I want to help them know how to set goals."

Mrs. Avery's enthusiasm is contagious. Working hard is "worth all the effort" she stresses, because if you know your goals then really strive to reach them, they really can be reached.

And Johnnie Lou Avery seems to be a testimonial to that belief.

Trapshooter sets his sights on 1984 Olympics

By VICKI SHERRILL
Lifestyle Writer

He flies his own handmade bi-plane. He's an accomplished helicopter pilot. He's killed elephants in Africa. He was an Olympic alternate in 1976. And, he's only 22 years old.

Mike Coleman, a life-long resident of Ackerly, has many accomplishments, but his number one goal is to represent the United States in the 1984 Olympics. He's the youngest member of the 1981 National Rifle Association U.S.A. International Championship Trapshooting Team. Mike's place on the four-man Clay Pigeon Team was won by shooting a score of 383 out of a possible 400 at the 21st U.S. International Shooting Championship contests held in Salem, Ore., earlier this year.

Trapshooting, a sport which is more popular in Britain than in the U.S., is an outdoor sport in which a mechanism called a trap releases a clay pigeon and throws it upward at an angle unknown to the marksman. The marksman then fires at the disk while it is still in the air. The sport derived its name from the former practice of placing a series of traps in the ground. Each trap contained a live pigeon, and at a given signal from the marksman the operator of the trap freed one of the birds.

That's not how it's done today, however. Mike does give a signal for the "bird" to be released, but the pigeon is now made of cinder. And no live pigeon ever flew out of a trap at 120 miles per hour, which is the speed at which the cinder disk travels. The trap is a mechanism located in an underground dugout which moves automatically in an interrupted pattern. The gun Mike uses is a 12-gauge double-barrel shotgun.

A bird can fly out of the mechanism in any direction within a 90 degree angle from the marksman, and at a height ranging to 20 feet above the ground. Since the mechanism has no set pattern for release of the birds, the person shooting never knows in which direction the bird will fly. Therefore, hitting 383 birds out of a possible 400 is a remarkable accomplishment. And, Mike Coleman usually shoots better than that.

"You try to get your mind blank and concentrate on one bird at a time," Mike said when asked what he did to prepare himself for a shoot. It must work, because Mike has done well in his sport. He competes with five other marksmen at a time, and in a day when 100 rounds of ammunition are fired by each competitor, it takes at least a score of 96 to lead in the competition. "You don't think about the guy next to you," he said. International trapshooting is a strictly regimented sport. Every round (25 shots from each competitor) has three referees. If a contestant is late to a match, he could be fined three birds, that is, his final score could be reduced by three. If he stands in the wrong place, he could be fined one bird. Another one-bird fine is imposed if the gun fails to fire.

Mike's interest in the sport began at an early age. His father, Dudley Coleman, is probably responsible for this interest. Mike began American Trapshooting at the age of eight following a trip to San Antonio with his dad. "They opened up a practice field and let us shoot," Mike said. He had his first shoot in International Competition in 1975.

Since then, Mike has traveled to France, Mexico City (five times),

"It's a sport that older people seem to do better than younger people"

Canada and to many states within the U.S. to compete in the trapshooting events. When asked which trip had been the most memorable, Mike replied, "The trip to Cannes, France. Everything they say about the topless beaches over there is true!" However, Mike talks mostly about the interesting people he has met while traveling. One way he has met people is through trading personal items with team members from other countries. He has memorabilia from several places, including a tie he got from a Russian team member. Mike usually takes along an array of trading material, including Olympic pins. He said, "You can get anything for them (the pins)". Another good trading item is a baseball cap with a U.S.A. emblem sewn on the front. "Caps are good — they like caps," he said.

But Mike doesn't spend all his time shooting. He finds time for skiing, flying his handmade Great Lakes bi-plane, (the only one of its kind made so far this year), and helping run the family ranch. His sister, Joann

ZEROING IN — Mike Coleman, a contender for the 1984 Olympics in the trapshooting division, fires one of 25 rounds during a practice session at his

Howard, is an accomplished horse-woman, but Mike says the only use he has for his horse is working the ranch. "And we use the helicopter for most of that," he added. Mike earned his pilot's license in 1977, soloing on the day he graduated from high school.

The family also travels to Rhodesia, Africa, almost every year to hunt big game. The hunts have been successful — the family trophy room boasts lions, bears, cape buffalo, impala, zebra, and almost every other kind of game imaginable. Mike has killed several elephants, but those trophies were too big and too much trouble to bring home.

Mike probably won't be hunting much in the near future, though. This week he is in Fort Benning, Ga., competing in the Gulf Coast International Clay Pigeon Shoot. This is one of the largest shoots in the U.S.

and has been approved by the U.S. Olympic committee.

The 1981 team will then train at the U.S. Marksmanship Unit in Fort Benning for three days prior to departing for Miami, Fla. From Miami they will travel to Tucuman, Argentina to represent the U.S. in the trapshooting competition at the World Moving Target Championships in mid-October.

Teams from 35 countries will compete in the III Championship of the Americas in skeet and clay pigeon events in San Paulo, Brazil. The teams will have three days of practice prior to the contest Nov. 12-14. The winning teams at this event will be World Champions.

Mike will remain a team member at least until the tryouts next year. The next World's Moving Target Championship contest will be held in Edmonton, Alberta, Canada in June home in Ackerly. Coleman is wearing a headset to protect his ears from the deafening shotgun blasts.

1982. The shotgun team consists of 20 members, ten skeet shooters and ten trap shooters. The ten trapshooters are made up for four main shooters, three women shooters, and three junior shooters (under age 20).

When asked what he thought his chances are of making the 1984 Olympic team, Mike answered, "As good as anybody — better than some." The non-Olympic competitions are as stiff as those for the Olympics, but don't get as much publicity. Mike works as hard for the non-Olympic events as he does for the Olympic tryouts. Only two team members from the United States will be invited to the 1984 Olympic games which will be held in Los Angeles.

Mike was second alternate for the Olympic games held in Montreal, Canada, in 1976. He also set a record by winning the U.S. Junior International Championship three years in succession, 1976-78. He has accumulated an impressive number of medals, trophies, and plaques.

Mike doesn't get paid for being a member of a trapshooting team. If he did, he would no longer be qualified to compete. The rewards Mike enjoys are traveling, meeting new people, and just having fun. Mike says trapshooting "improves your concentration and keeps you in good shape."

Mike's age is probably the most unique fact about him. Compared to the average Olympic medal winner in his field, whose age is 37, Mike is just a youngster. "I'm about the youngest one to ever make the team," he said.

"It's a sport that older people seem to do better than younger people," Mike adds. He's setting out to disprove that theory.

MRS. JACKIE RAY RINARD JR.

St. Paul's is site for Friday ceremony

Charlyn Michelle Jonas became Mrs. Jackie Ray Rinard Jr. in a 7:30 p.m. ceremony Friday at St. Paul's Lutheran Church. The Rev. Carroll C. Kohl, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudy C. Jones, 514 Edwards Circle. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Ray Rinard Sr., Rt. 3.

The altar was decorated with matching arrangements of Rubrum lilies, pink roses and baby's breath. Flanking the altar were spiral candelabra adorned with flowers and greenery. The altar rail was entwined with huckleberry foliage, grapevines and clusters of Rubrum lilies, and dendrobium orchids.

Organ music was provided by China Long.

The bride's gown featured a sheer yoke, wedding band neckline and long sleeves of schiffli lace. The A-line skirt fell to a floor-length train of candlelight chantilly lace with a flounce lace ruffle. The candlelight, fingertip-length veil of silk illusion was at-

Rainbows install worthy advisor

Anne Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard C. Thomas, 1609 Stadium Dr., was installed as Worthy Advisor of Rainbow Assembly No. 60 in a ceremony held Oct. 3.

Jean Alice Knox served as installing officer. Installing marshal was Ronda Beene. Rhonda Woodall was installing recorder, and Karen Woodall served as installing chaplain. Installing musician was Holly Parham.

Miss Thomas was presented with a Rainbow Bible by her parents. A gavel was presented to Susanne Stamey.

Anne chose "Love" as her theme, using the heart and dove as her symbols. She chose to use I Corinthians 13:4-7 as her scripture. Her color was gold on white, and her song, "The Rose," was sung by Juli Holler.

Chaplain Lee Butler was the speaker for the evening.

Other officers installed were Kim West, worthy associate advisor; Susanne Stamey, hope; Jence Shaughnessy, faith; Kim Blount, chaplain; Dana Anderson, drill leader;

ANNE THOMAS

Christi Moore, love; Amy Dwire, fidelity; Kathleen Crooks, patriotism; Shelly Brasel, confidential observer; Sherry Keller, outer observer; Jami Norwood, musician; and Keri Murphy, choir director.

Following the installation, a reception, courtesy of the Assembly's Advisory Board, was held. The serving table was laid with gold cloth and a white eyelet overlay. An arrangement of red roses and white baby's breath adorned the center. The cake was iced in gold and red and decorated with a heart and dove. Gold punch was served from a crystal bowl.

YMCA announces classes

The Big Spring YMCA is now registering for enrollment in their fall classes of swimming, judo, exercise and yoga.

Swimming classes will be on Monday and continue through Oct. 29. The Tadpoles, (three to five year olds) meet Monday through Thursday from 6-6:45 p.m. Waterbabies (ages six months to two years) meet from 6:30-7 p.m. for three weeks. The fee for 12 lessons is $7.50 for Y members and $15 for non-members. A minimum number of 6 students per group is required in order to conduct each class.

Judo classes will be held from 6-7:30 p.m. for youth and from 7:30-9 p.m. for adults. There will be separate classes for beginners and intermediates, and both classes will be taught by Eric Evans. Fees are $25 for youth members and $30 for youth non-members. Adult member fees are $30 and non-member fees are $35. Classes will be held Mondays and Wednesdays through Nov. 13.

Exercises classes for ladies will begin Monday at 4:15-5:15 p.m., and will be held each Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday for five weeks. Hannah Coleman will lead a jazzercise class, and Linda Ward will lead a Fitness Fantasia class from 6-7 p.m. Fees for either class are $11 for members and $22 for non-members.

Yoga classes will be open to both men and women. Beginning Tuesday night, they will be held each Tuesday and Thursday night for five weeks. Classes will run from 7:30-8:30 p.m., and fees are $20 for members and $30 for non-members. The first class may be attended with no obligation to join.

Open lap swim times are from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Monday through Saturday for adults. Since no lifeguard is on duty at this time, a release must be signed before swimming. Minimum age to swim at this time is 18. Other adult lap swimming times are from 5:30 to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Youth open swim times are on Saturday from 1:30 to 3 p.m. Family swim times are from 7:30 to 9 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays. Youth members pay nothing, non-members pay 50c. Non-member families pay $2 per family.

Dear Abby

Chiropractor Breaks Patient's Temper

DEAR ABBY: I had a bad pain in my back, so I picked the name of a chiropractor out of the Yellow Pages and phoned for an appointment.

He spent about half an hour taking X-rays but he didn't even touch my back. He told me to talk to his receptionist about setting up "some appointments." I told him all I wanted was one adjustment to relieve the pain in my back, but he insisted I talk to his receptionist anyway, so I did. She said the doctor couldn't give me just one treatment - I would need a series of 12!

I asked her how much it would cost, and she said $200. I asked her why the doctor couldn't give me only one treatment while I was there, and she said chiropractors don't work that way. I told her I didn't have that kind of money and I asked to see the doctor. She said he was "busy," so I started to leave. She then said, "The X-rays are $55 - cash only; we don't accept checks."

I was furious. I threw $50 on her desk and walked out. What I want to know is this: Where can a person call or write to complain about this kind of ripoff? It's chiropractors like this one who give the profession a bad name.

MAD IN MICHIGAN

DEAR MAD: There is a State Chiropractic Association in every state. Look in your telephone book under "State of Michigan." Write to the association in Lansing and file a complaint. There are unethical practitioners in every profession, and the ethical ones appreciate it when the unethical ones are reported.

DEAR ABBY: After 17 years of marriage, my husband passed away at age 41. He suffered from cancer for 13 months and died at home. I was left with four sons to raise.

His co-workers gave a gift of money to my husband's sister, with instructions for her to outfit the children with clothes for school this fall.

I really think it was cruel of them to give my sister-in-law the money and leave me out. I would have enjoyed shopping for my children's school clothes. I can't understand why they wanted to hurt me that way after all I've been through.

Now that all the clothes are bought, should I send my own money back to them?

VERY HURT

DEAR HURT: I'm sure your husband's co-workers did not mean to hurt you. Knowing how much you had been through caring for your beloved during his long illness, they thought it would be a kindness to relieve you of the chore of shopping for your children's school clothes. Thank them for their kindness, for a kindness it was. Good luck and God bless.

MR. AND MRS. HERMAN WILKERSON

Wilkersons to celebrate 50th anniversary today

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilkerson, 502 Edwards Blvd., are celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary today with a reception in their home. Mrs. Evelyn Vise, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Wilkerson, and Hardy Wilkerson will host the festivities which began at 2 p.m.

Wilkerson was born in Franklin, Tenn. Mrs. Wilkerson, the former Opal Eunice Clark, was born in Vernon. The couple met at a circus in Big Spring and were married Oct. 10, 1931. The late Rev. J.J. Daily, Baptist minister, performed the ceremony.

The couple has two children, Mrs. Evelyn Vise, 801 W. 16th, and Homer Wilkerson, 1718 Yale. One child, Mary Lou, is deceased. They have one grandchild.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilkerson have lived for 50 years in Big Spring. They are the present owners and operators of Herman's Restaurant and the Miss Royale Dress Shop. They have been in the restaurant business for many years.

The couple has been attending First Assembly of God Church since 1935. They attribute their long, successful marriage to a strong religious commitment, communication and open discussion of problems.

All friends and relatives are invited to the celebration.

Daughter's birth is announced by couple

Mr. and Mrs. Jody Nix, Gail Rt., announce the birth of their first child, a daughter, Lindsey Brooke, Oct. 7. The infant arrived at Malone-Hogan Hospital at 12:07 a.m. weighing 7 pounds 11 1/2 ounces and measuring 19 inches long.

Lindsey's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. R.D. Carpenter, 1421 Stadium. Her paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hoyle Nix, Gail Rt., and Mrs. Lee Nix, 1102 East 4th.

Baptist Chapel is site of Saturday wedding ceremony

Debbie Diane Gressett became the bride of Bryn Thomas Humphrey in a Saturday evening ceremony in the Park Heights Baptist Chapel, San Angelo. The Rev. Roger Blocker, pastor, performed the rite before an altar decorated with heart-shaped candelabra entwined with greenery.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Gressett, Forsan. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell Humphrey, San Angelo.

The bride chose to wear a gown of imported organza trimmed in schiffli lace. The ruffled, sheer, V-neck yoke was edged with a wide ruffle of matching lace. The long, fitted sleeves ended in a schiffli ruffle. The full bell silhouette on a raised waist was accented at the hemline with three rows of schiffli lace ruffle and fell to a court train. A schiffli lace-edged veil completed the ensemble. The bride carried a colonial bouquet of white roses with baby's breath.

Wedding music was provided by Mrs. Mark Schafer, pianist. Vocalists were Danetta Gressett, Candy Overton, Crystal Overton, and Stacy Wilkerson.

Maid of honor was Ellen Gressett, San Angelo, sister of the bride, and the matron of honor was Danetta Gressett, Forsan, sister-in-law of the bride. Donna Kinder was bridesmaid.

Dean Feathers, San Angelo, was best man. Craig Kleypas and Erik Olsen, both of San Angelo, were groomsmen. Ushers were

MRS. BRYN THOMAS HUMPHREY

Randy Hutto, Abilene, and James McClellan, San Angelo.

A reception followed the rite in the Fellowship Hall of the church. The bride's table, covered with a white lace tablecloth, featured a three-tiered cake topped with a wedding bell and embellished with smaller wedding bells.

The bridegroom's table, draped with a white cloth, featured a German chocolate cake in the shape of a boot. Crystal and silver appointments were used. Zena Clark registered the guests. Serving at the reception were Susan Daniel, Sherra Bennett and Terry Feathers. Kathy Hinds, Cindy Hutto, and Jill James, all sisters of the bridegroom, also served.

The bride is a graduate of Forsan High School and is employed by Robert Hicks, C.P.A. The bridegroom graduated from Central High School, San Angelo, and works for Energy Conservation Systems.

Following a wedding trip to an undisclosed destination, the couple will make their home in San Angelo.

EXTENSION HOMEMAKERS HOTLINE

The area Extension Homemakers Clubs have begun their fall meetings. The clubs meet regularly and discuss homemaking hints, feature guest speakers, and plan fundraising drives to benefit various groups in the area.

CENTER POINT
The Center Point Extension Homemakers Club held its first fall meeting in the Kentwood Activity Center Sept. 14.

The main topic of discussion was the Howard County Fair. Mrs. Irena Griffith, general chairman of the Women's Division of the Howard County Fair, mapped out the assignments of the work schedule for the council booth and arts and crafts displays. The Center Point club was assigned to the booth on Sept. 22. Jen Davidson, president, presided over the business meeting. The thought for the day was "What you see is what you look for." Those present answered roll call by giving the recipe for their favorite quick dessert. The club sent three cakes to the state hospital for September parties.

Former resident receives degree

Wanda Lou Simpson, Houston, former resident of Big Spring has received a Master of Science degree in nursing from the University of Texas at Austin. She graduated in September and is now employed at the Veteran's Administration Medical Center, Houston. Wanda's sub-specialties are in administration and gerontology. She is the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Simpson, and niece of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilkerson, 502 Edwards Blvd.

A drive is continuing for the collection of aluminum cans, foil, newspapers and glass bottles for recycling. The proceeds will be used for a 4-H scholarship fund and the Boy's Ranch in Tarrant County.

Hostesses for the meeting were Florence Rhotan and Cleo Eggston. Ruby Rutledge won the door prize.

ELBOW CLUB
Janet Rogers, county agent, brought an informative and fun program to the Elbow Club Oct. 1 in the home of Myrl Soles.

Her program explained how to buy ready-made clothes and wear them with style. "A look through the closet," Janet said, "will tell you what you need for a coming season. You will then have time to look for your choice of fabrics, compare prices and see what stores offer services such as free alterations. All of this will keep down impulse buying and keep your spending within your budget."

She suggested spending more money for clothing worn most and less money for items seldom worn, for instance, a party dress which might only be worn once. She added that trying on garments and looking for wrinkles, which tell you if the garment is too small or too large, was important.

Eleven members and one guest participated in a quiz called "The Quiz of 14 Points" in which all participants checked their costumes for the day.

The next meeting will be Oct. 15 in the home of Mrs. L.Z. Rhodes.

BILLY BOB WHITE
 Austin. She received a degree in Business Administration and Finance from Texas A&M University, College Station.
 The groom is a graduate of Big Spring High School and holds a masters degree from Texas A&M in Agricultural Economics. He is employed as a commercial loan officer for the Texas Commercial Bank, Houston.
 Following a trip to Aruba in the Caribbean, the couple will make their home in Houston.

WEDDED — Mr. and Mrs. Allen E. Edgar, Marble Falls, announce the engagement and wedding of their daughter, Alandra, to Donnie Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. Derrell Dean, Marble Falls. The wedding ceremony will be exchanged Dec. 12 at the First Baptist Church, Marble Falls, with the Rev. Max Copeland, pastor, officiating.

Annual Texas PTA convention to be held in San Antonio

Moss Elementary School was the host for the Tuesday luncheon and meeting of the Big Spring Council of the Parent-Teacher Association. Members were reminded of the annual convention of the Texas PTA, which will be Nov. 18-19 in San Antonio. "It's very important to attend conventions," said Leslie Earnst, council president.
 Last Friday's deadline to turn in room reservations for Big Spring's delegates has been extended a few days. If membership figures reach Big Spring's goal of 2,080 members, Big Spring PTAs will be entitled to more than 40 voting delegates.
 PTA members should call Leslie Earnst, 267-1736, or Kim Wooten, 267-1035, for additional convention information.
 In other business, the Council emphasized the importance of each school having two persons attend the Oct. 20 War on Drugs training session in Big Spring.

MRS. TOMMY BRUCE SCOTT

Reid-Scott unite in evening ceremony

The Midway Baptist Church was the setting for the Saturday evening wedding of Deborah Kay Reid and Tommy Bruce Scott. John Snider, minister of the Church of Christ, officiated. Vows were exchanged before an altar adorned with a 15 branch candelabra flanked by spiral candelabra, entwined with fresh greenery. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randall Reid, Coahoma. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Larry Nix, Rt. 3.

The bride's dress, made by her mother, was of candlelight peau de soie covered with imported candlelight organza and edged with galloon lace, and falling to a chapel length train also of candlelight peau de soie. The bodice and sleeves of chantilly lace fastened at the neck and wrists with covered buttons. The fingertip length veil of candlelight illusion was edged with matching galloon lace. Her bouquet was a cascade of miniature silk ivory roses, orchids, stephanotis, and brown daisies, carried on a white Bible given to her by her great-grandmother.

Tracy Spell was vocalist. Mrs. Lorene Barbee provided piano music. Mrs. Dianna Osburn, cousin of the bride, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Leisa Reid and Teresa Reid, Coahoma, sisters of the bride, and Cindy McAdams, College Station.

James Nix, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Groomsman were Charles Roberts, Odessa, Van Gaskins, Bryan, brother-in-law of the

MANY OF THE FORMAL TABLESETTING RULES OF THE PAST HAVE BEEN RELAXED

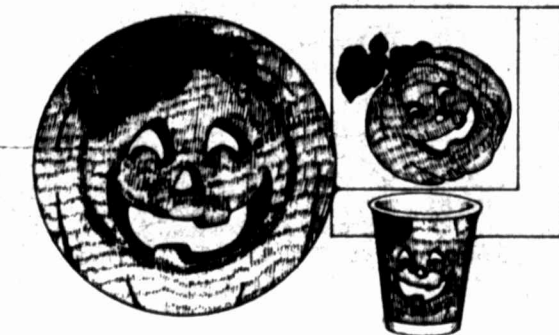

As a new bride, you'll be happy to know that many of the formal tablesetting rules of the past have been relaxed. Nevertheless, here at THE ACCENT SHOPPE we feel there are certain time-honored traditions for setting a table which remain constant. Consider flatware, for example.

For everyday dining, forks are placed to the left of the plate and knives to the right, with the blade turned towards the plate. Spoons are on the far right. Cutlery is set in sequence of use, starting furthest from the plate, and handles should be placed about an inch from the tables edge.

The idea is that being practical can also be correct!

Halloween Parties Are Fun...

...and Hallmark paper partyware makes them easy, too. Our perky pumpkin design is festive and makes clean-up a snap.
