Police cut back paperwork on 'fender benders'

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

Starting Sunday at 7 a.m. the Big Spring Police Department implements its new policy of spending less time investigating minor motor vehicle accidents.

Police Chief Elwood Hoherz announced the starting date for the policy at a press conference held this morning in his office.

Hoherz got the city council's approval of the policy last Tuesday at the council's regular meeting.

Hoherz stressed that police officers will respond to "every accident, just as we have in the past" — but the difference is officers will spend about five minutes investigating minor accidents rather than the estimated 15 or 20 minutes officers usually spend on "fender benders."

Accidents involving death and injury still would be completely investigated, Hoherz said, as would accidents involving alcohol and drugs. Accidents in which a party fails to produce a driver's license or fails to identify himself or to stop and render aid also would be investigated fully, he said.

Officers also would reduce the amount of time spent processing accidents on private parking lots, such as apartment parking lots, he said.

In the case of fender benders, all the officers will do is make sure the parties involved exchange highway patrol "blue forms" as well as their names, addresses, vehicle registration and insurance numbers, the chief explained.

Accidents involving city vehicles and city property would be fully investigated, he added.

Primarily, he explained, the purpose of the new policy is "to cut down on paper flow. There's more and more demand on the employees we've got... This is the way a lot of departments are doing it. We're not unique in this."

Hoherz told the city council that during the first three weeks of September his officers investigated 89 motor vehicle accidents. Forty of them would not have been investigated fully had the new policy been in effect, he said.

Councilman Larry Miller suggested implementing the policy on a temporary basis and asked the chief how much time he would like to see used for the program in its trial phase.

"I'd like to see six months," Hoherz responded. "I don't think you'd get a fair evaluation before that."

The council then modified the city code to enable the police department to implement the policy. City Attorney Elliott Mitchell (who announced his retirement Tuesday) told the council they could repeal the code modification at the end of the six-month period if it seemed like the policy wasn't effective.

'Inconsistency' delays senior citizen housing

Canterbury, a complex of apartments for retired and handicapped people, has received word from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development that its request for an expansion loan — a loan which would have provided for an additional 142 new retirement units — will not be funded this year, according to Guilford Jones III, attorney and housing consultant to Canterbury.

"HUD turned down the loan request due to a technical inconsistency between the proposed project and the city of Big Spring's Housing Assistance Plan which HUD uses to determine the city's housing need," said Jones.

Jones explained the Housing Assistance Plan is submitted to HUD every three years and the current plan was last composed in 1978 and thus reflected the need for elderly housing at that period in time.

Jones said HUD referred to the 1978 plan when it reviewed Canterbury's request for a loan to expand retirement housing. He said HUD turned down the additional funding after it discerned Big Spring's projected housing plans did not indicate a need for more elderly apartment units.

Jones said the city of Big Spring had updated the Housing Assistance Plan, to show a need for elderly housing, but HUD evidently had considered the expansion loan before the update was submitted.

City housing director Bill Hall said, "Under the Housing Assistance Plan the city makes a determination of what construction, subsidized housing, and rehabilitation projects the City might need and then the plan is submitted to HUD. When the plan was made up in 1978 we weren't faced with the housing shortage we have now, so when HUD looked at the new Canterbury loan it saw the request was, in fact, inconsistent with the needs of the city."

Hall also said the city of Big Spring had updated the 1978 Housing Assistance Plan to include a revision for the new apartments, but the new plan was not timely enough for HUD to use when considering Canterbury's situation.

Despite the setback, Jones is optimistic that Canterbury eventually will get its loan approved by HUD.

Jones said the current Housing Assistance Plan expires in December of this year and a new plan should be in the making by January, 1982. Jones said Canterbury hopes to resubmit a new loan application to HUD in January.

Hall said the Canterbury expansion is supported by the city and he expects the new Housing Assistance Plan to be revised to reflect the current demand for elderly housing.

Jones said Canterbury has been full since it opened in 1979 and the waiting list for apartments is in excess of 150 people. He said it would take approximately three to three and one-half years to build the additional 142 units.

The new apartments are scheduled to be built adjacent to the existing units at 1700 Lancaster, Jones said.

Electric rates approved

AUSTIN — A Public Utility Commission hearings examiner approved new higher electrical rates for Big Spring and 26 other cities — but the increase already has been felt by customers.

Examiner Mark Zeppa said Texas Electric Service Co. is entitled to collect from customers in the 27 cities at the rate already being collected.

The utility commission gave TESCO a 10 percent revenue hike a year ago, but the cities refused automatically to go along.

The new systemwide rates were billed anyway, but, in effect, under protest by those cities.

That meant a separate but routine consideration before the PUC.

Only TESCO and PUC officials showed up for the hearing held earlier this week in which the rates were approved.

Final approval will come from the three-member commission based on Zeppa's recommendation.

PUC orders lower phone rates for hearing-impaired

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer

Michael L. Moore, a faculty member at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, recently returned from Austin with a report on the Texas Public Utility Commission's ruling on long-distance telephone rates for the deaf.

The Coalition of Texas Organizations Serving the Deaf was seeking an 80 percent reduction in long-distance telephone rates for the deaf. Moore said the PUC ordered a reduction on intrastate rates of about 50 percent. The reductions should become effective sometime after Nov. 1.

Moore explained the coalition sought the reduction because "it takes at least four times longer to use the TTY for a long-distance call."

A TTY is a teletype writer device which features an acoustical coupler, or modem, which enables signals to be transmitted and received over standard telephone equipment.

Conversations between two compatible TTY units are conducted by typing information onto a typewriter-like keyboard. The message appears in printed form, similar to an LED display, which can be read by the receiver of the message.

Moore explained the rate reduction formulated for the hearing-impaired. According to the ruling, evening rates will be applied to day intrastate calls, and night rates will be applied to the evening long-distance calls. Night rates will remain the same.

Moore was president of the Coalition of Texas Organizations Serving the Deaf when it filed a petition against Southwestern Bell Telephone, General Telephone and Continental Telephone in 1979, requesting the rate reduction for TTY users.

The coalition also requested elimination of charges for required accessories, such as amplifiers, light signalers and loud bells, more access to telephone business offices and service (such as operator assistance) and placement of TTY's in public telephone areas.

Moore explained the coalition sought these items because "we were paying full-price for one-fourth of the service."

Many of the services the hearing had access to were inaccessible to the deaf, Moore said, such as operator assisted calls, and the availability of numbers to call in case of phone trouble or a disagreement about a bill. "It wasn't fair to pay for services we couldn't use," Moore said.

Following the action taken by the coalition, Texas can now call three phone numbers which feed into a TTY device. These numbers can be used to report inaccuracies on a phone bill, trouble with the phone, or to contact the telephone business office.

Moore called the services "marvelous" and added the telephone industry "has become more sensitive to our needs."

There is also a toll-free 800 line in Indiana, Moore said, which serves as a national information center to dispense TTY numbers, and to assist in operator-assisted calls, such as collect calls.

Moore then explained the action taken by the PUC concerning special auxiliary equipment such as volume controls, lights and loud bells, which previously had to be paid for monthly on the telephone bill. Now, the PUC ruling says, "auxiliary equipment that have been determined usable by the deaf will be made available for purchase at cost, with no profit to the telephone company."

Moore explained that in order for people to take advantage of these options, some form of certification must be offered to establish deafness.

"We may have to show an audiogram, or produce a statement from a doctor," Moore said. "The exact procedure will be worked out soon."

... discusses phone rates

No action has been taken on the proposal by the Coalition to place TTY's in public places, Moore said.

A similar petition to lower interstate telephone rates for the hearing-impaired has been filed by AT&T with the Federal Communications Commission, Moore said. A ruling on this petition is pending.

SIGN LANGUAGE

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer

Greg Smith, one of many Big Springers enrolled in sign language courses in the city, is pictured here in the process of signing the word "friend."

To sign friend, hook the right index finger over the left, which is palm up, then repeat in reverse.

In Lottie L. Rieckhof's "The Joy of Signing," the origin of the sign is explained as representing a close-knit association.

Smith joins other Big Springers who are taking sign language courses, many of which are conducted at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf campus. Various levels of sign language skills are taught in Sign Language I, Sign Language II and Sign Language III. College credit is available for these courses.

Sign language courses in continuing education also are being conducted through Howard College. Many of these courses are also taught on the SWCID campus.

In addition to these, several area churches are conducting sign language courses, and many businesses sponsor courses for their employees.

FRIEND

Sign language courses for children are being offered through the Howard College Continuing Education department, as well as on at least one area elementary school campus.

Big Spring really is becoming a community of signers.

Stenholm dinner scheduled

By BOB CARPENTER
Staff Writer

Congressman Charles Stenholm will be honored at a community appreciation dinner Nov. 14, it was announced at a press conference held this morning in the Colorado River Municipal Water District board room.

John Taylor, chairman of the event, said plans were started for the dinner after it was suggested Howard County do something to show Stenholm, the 17th district Democrat who represents Big Spring, appreciation for the "fine job he has been doing."

"Response to the project was so good we decided to get in touch with Rep. Stenholm and try to coordinate a time when he could attend a dinner, and so now the affair is scheduled for Nov. 14 at 7 p.m. in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at Howard College," said Taylor.

Tickets priced at $25 each are now on sale at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, the State National, First National, Security State and Coahoma State banks, and also can be obtained by writing to P.O. Box 2271 in Big Spring, said Taylor.

Taylor said five or six other congressmen as well as a number of state representatives, state senators and other officials have expressed interest in attending the appreciation dinner.

Tentatively scheduled to appear at the affair are former legislators Omar Burleson and George Mahon along with congressmen Kent Hance of Lubbock, Kiki Dela Garza of San Antonio and Phil Gramm of College Station, said Taylor.

Proceeds from the dinner will be used to cover the cost of the affair and the rest will be donated to Rep. Stenholm's campaign, said Taylor.

"We want to make the dinner an outstanding affair for Howard County and for Rep. Stenholm. It's our way of saying 'thank you' to him for working so conscientiously and tirelessly for the 17th District and the U.S.," said Taylor.

Taylor said he expects approximately 1,000 people to attend the dinner, so he asks that all people interested in the affair turn in their reservations by Nov. 7.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Trailer discrepancy

Q. Why are the city-owned trash trailers left at some homes for several days while at other homes they're left in place for only a day?

A. According to Big Spring City Manager Don Davis, "They should not be left there for more than one day. I'm trying to reconcile that."

Calendar: Garage sale

TODAY

American Legion Post 355 will meet at 7 p.m.
Jack and Jill School is holding a garage sale at 1708 Nolan from 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 a.m.

'Blondie' illustrator dies

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Raymond, illustrator for more than 40 years of the comic strip "Blondie," has died at age 64.

His death Wednesday at his home in Boynton Beach, Fla., was announced in New York by the King Features Syndicate, which sends the comic strip to more than 1,800 daily and Sunday newspapers.

Raymond had been in failing health for the past year, and illustration of "Blondie" was taken over six months ago by his assistant of 17 years, Mike Gersher.

Gersher will continue to draw the strip, collaborating with Dean Young, son of "Blondie's" late creator, Chic Young.

Raymond collaborated with Chic Young until Young's death in 1973. Then he and Dean Young worked on the strip.

Born in Riverside, Conn., Raymond joined the art staff of King Features after high school. He became Chic Young's full-time assistant, and when, in 1937, Young went to Europe, King Features named Raymond to fill in as artist and writer of the comic strip.

The substitution was successful and when Young returned, Raymond continued to draw "Blondie."

In addition to drawing "Blondie," in the 1940s, Raymond sometimes subbed for his brother, Alex, creator of "Flash Gordon," "Jungle Jim" and "Rip Kirby."

Raymond and his wife, Helen, moved to Florida in the 1950s and also maintained a home in Bermuda. He is survived by his wife, four sons, three stepchildren and nine grandchildren.

A memorial mass will be held Friday in Boynton Beach.

Book on shroud released

DALLAS (AP) — The author of a book that contends the famous Shroud of Turin is evidence Christ was resurrected said Wednesday he is at odds with colleagues on a scientific team that examined the relic.

Kenneth Stevenson, a member of the team that studied the yellowed strip of linen beginning in 1978, said he has found himself in a theological-scientific controversy.

His book was to be released today, a week after announcement of the team's official results. The Shroud of Turin Research Project has declared that the faint image on the ancient cloth is that of "a real human form, of a scourged, crucified man."

Some of the 40 team members "do not have an explanation but are not willing to accept the human image as a positive conclusion," stated one report.

Stevenson said in his book that the 4-by-14-foot cloth is the burial shroud of Jesus and that the faint image is a "scorch" resulting from a supernatural resurrection. He said he wrote from the perspective of a Christian who believes the shroud is authentic. But many scientists disagree that the "scorch" theory indicates a resurrection occurred.

"Going in, I was pretty skeptical," said Stevenson, who joined the team when he was a professor at the Air Force Academy, "but the more I have learned about it, the more convinced I have become that it is genuine."

Evangelist is fired after remark on movie

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — Evangelist Joe Montana says that the manager of a Christian radio station didn't like his penchant for James Bond movies, so he was fired from his job as a talk show host.

Station manager Jack Rabito at KWJS-FM said the promotion of Bond flicks is against the policy of the station because the films are R-rated. But he said Montana was fired because he became physically abusive to Rabito after a disclaimer was added to the show.

"I don't support R-rated movies and I'm not for perverted lifestyles being shown in films," Montana, a former actor, said Wednesday. "I just like the gadgetry and the openings of James Bond movies."

Montana said he hit Rabito on the nose with a manila folder in the manager's office. The evangelist was fired Wednesday after he made the movie comments Monday.

"He totally disregarded my position," Rabito said. "He was disrespectful of this office. He took liberties on the air which are not reflective of KWJS's philosophy, but he was fired for his conduct in my office."

UT plans 'Drag' party

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — If No. 1-ranked Texas should defeat Arkansas on Saturday, the main campus street — "the Drag" — will be the scene of a huge party. Police have given their blessing.

Police officials agreed Wednesday to rope off Guadalupe Street for seven blocks from the end of the Texas-Arkansas game until 10 p.m., when a pep rally in Memorial Stadium would welcome back the Longhorns.

The action was taken, said Police Maj. Kendall Thomas, to prevent the "mixture of alcohol, automobiles and pedestrians" that has occurred in the past after major football victories.

Should Texas lose, the Drag would not be closed and the pep rally would be canceled.

Playing with matches started day-care fire

HOUSTON (AP) — A child playing with matches taken from a teacher's purse started a fire that killed three children in a day care center restroom, arson investigators have determined.

Ike Sherrouse, one of the investigators, said Wednesday the Sept. 29 blaze was started by a boy who was left unattended for about 30 minutes in a rear room of the northeast Houston building. He said the boy, who was not killed, and four other children were being toilet trained when they were left alone.

Another child told investigators he watched the boy take matches from a teacher's purse and begin playing with them, Sherrouse said. Sherrouse said an investigation of the fire's point of origin revealed a pile of combustible materials on the floor, including discarded papers, diapers, clothes and socks.

The three children who died were trapped in a windowless bathroom. The dead were identified as Shamaron Brooks, 2; Chelsea Andrea Staghill, 3; and Randrick Frazier, 2.

Firefighters battled the blaze for about 45 minutes. They said 22 other children, including several sleeping infants, were rescued by three adult employees.

Floods reported in Panhandle

A moisture-laden cold front brought heavy rains and some flooding to the Panhandle today, but forecasters said the front would stall and not hamper recovery efforts in hard-hit North Central Texas.

Unofficial estimates of property damage in Breckenridge and Haltom City near Fort Worth have risen to about $4 million. More than 200 people still are homeless in Breckenridge, and residents there are being warned not to use municipal drinking water, a city official said.

Water continued rising in lakeside homes and businesses in northern Tarrant County, and at Eagle Mountain Lake, 20 residents had been evacuated Wednesday before waters crested at 7 feet above normal. The level at Lake Worth was expected to crest at 4.25 feet above the spillway.

Seven persons have died this week after the remnants of a tropical storm hammered a nine-county area with high winds and rain. Tornadoes touched down in isolated areas and winds tore into buildings in Waco.

A spokesman for the National Weather Service in Fort Worth said a 20-mile-wide band of thundershowers between Canyon and Pampa in the Panhandle should bring more rain to the area but not threaten points south.

In Pampa, where two inches of rain fell today, streets were flooded and two residents of a nursing home had to be moved after water seeped through the building's foundation. Four inches of rain were reported at nearby Panhandle.

Deaths at low-water crossings inside Palo Duro Canyon State Park near Amarillo measured two feet this morning, but Randall County sheriff's officers said campers had not been stranded. At nearby Lake Tanglewood, 2.20 inches of rain had fallen, and flash flood warnings were in effect for Armstrong, Randall and Gray counties.

Breckenridge City Manager Dwain Tolle said as many as 400 residents had returned to their homes this morning to remove debris and mud from their homes, and the city was still operating under emergency electrical power.

"We know that as far as the city is concerned, our damages are going to exceed $1 million, when we look at the wastewater treatment plant, street damage and the whole thing," he said.

He said that state disaster officials continued to truck in water, but workers were clearing out the city's water lines and had restored pumps to operation.

"People are getting enough water for health and sanitation reasons," he said. "We still advised them to use imported water for drinking purposes."

The city's power plant is still inoperable, he said, after floodwaters from Gonzales Creek washed away trailer houses and moved houses off their foundations. The creek, Tolle said, has receded below its banks.

"We are still in the process now of a general cleanup and refuse removal," he said. "We have streets and roads cleared and we are helping to get the people to locate their lost articles."

At Lake Hubbard west of Breckenridge, the water level has lowered about a foot, easing flooding of homes in that area.

Woman gets 30 years in slaying of realtor

FLORESVILLE, Texas (AP) — A woman who admitted shooting San Antonio realtor Julian Dess one time in 1979 has been sentenced to 30 years in prison.

Irma Zani, 34, a Mexican national who was promised immunity to testify against her husband in the Dess killing, was sentenced Wednesday after being convicted of murder in 218th District Court.

After District Judge Pat Priest of San Antonio pronounced the punishment, Mrs. Zani shook hands across the counsel table with Wilson County District Attorney Alger Kendall Jr. and said, "I hope God forgives you for this."

Mrs. Zani admitted shooting Dess but said her husband — who has been implicated in three killings, including the mutilation death of his mother — forced her to pull the trigger after she thought the realtor already was dead.

Dess' body, which had been ravaged by coyotes, was found on a desolate stretch of the Padre Island national Seashore on Dec. 8, 1979, four days after he disappeared while showing property to a couple in Wilson County.

Dess, 73, was shot three times in the head with a .25-caliber pistol, an autopsy showed. Testimony showed the pistol was found by the FBI in Acapulco and had been purchased by Zani in Austin in September 1979.

In a statement introduced into the trial, Mrs. Zani said her husband, Robert, shot Dess two or three times and "then gave me the pistol and told me to shoot Mr. Dess. I told him 'I think he is dead.' Robert Zani said, 'So what?' and Robert put the gun in my hand. I closed my eyes and shot Mr. Dess one time."

Robert Zani, 37, is serving a 99-year prison term for his March 1977 murder conviction in the death of University of Texas Student George Vizard at an Austin grocery store.

A federal grand jury also indicted him on a murder charge in Dess' slaying because the body was found in a national park.

DOE says heating oil, natural gas will be available, but expensive

WASHINGTON (AP) — No shortages of heating oil or natural gas are expected this winter, but consumers will be paying more for both fuels, the Energy Department says.

The government's forecasters said that because of improvements to pipeline systems and increased storage capacity in the New England area, the severe natural gas shortages which hit the region last winter should not recur.

Nationally, DOE's Energy Information Administration predicted that both natural gas and fuel oil supplies would be adequate to meet needs this winter.

The department projected that there would be a surplus of natural gas through 1982 as residential consumers conserve more because of higher prices.

It also projected that the price homeowners pay for natural gas will go up 18.5 percent this year over 1980 and would rise another 13 percent in 1982.

The government forecasters predicted that residential customers will pay $5.07 per thousand cubic feet for natural gas for the remainder of this year and that the figure would jump to $5.83 by the end of 1982. A year ago natural gas was selling for $4.07 per thousand cubic feet.

The increases are coming about as the result of a 1978 law which is gradually lifting price controls on natural gas. The Reagan administration is preparing a plan that would speed up this decontrol timetable. Critics say the Reagan proposal would hike natural gas prices by 60 percent in one year.

The DOE predicted that the price of a gallon of heating oil will average $1.20 for the rest of the year, compared to 98 cents last year. It forecast the price would be $1.31 a gallon by the end of 1982.

The forecasters said stocks of heating oil are 4 percent higher than they were a year ago and demand is expected to be 4 percent lower than last year.

For gasoline, the DOE predicted an average price of $1.35 for the rest of this year, 10 percent higher than a year ago. It forecast the price would go up another dime in 1982 to $1.45 a gallon by year's end.

Overall energy consumption in the United States was expected to decline 1.6 percent from 1980 with use of petroleum products down 4 percent. However, the department predicted a 3 percent increase in energy use in 1982 if the economy emerges from the current business slump.

Police Beat Refrigerator stolen from home

Vickie Rush, 1513 A Sycamore, told police that between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Wednesday unknown persons stole a refrigerator from her, valued at $190. Police said it appeared a person entered through a window on the west side of Rush's house and then let an accomplice in the front door. The refrigerator, then was removed through the back door, police said.

Mary Thomas, employee of B&M Bail Bond Service at 204 Runnels, complained to police that sometime Tuesday or Wednesday an unidentified person tore down and damaged the B&M Bail Bond sign on West Fourth.

Jo An Keller, 202 Austin, complained to police Wednesday that at approximately 3:30 p.m. a person known to her began making passes at her and attempted to kiss her.

John Mullins, 1701 W. Third, told police that sometime yesterday a black and white portable television was stolen from his home.

Eva Cavazos, 706 Douglas, told police Wednesday that sometime in the last few days a chain and a set of handlebars were stolen off a bicycle that was on her property.

Roberta Beard, employee at Lee's Rental on F.M. 700, complained to police Wednesday that sometime during the previous night someone stole approximately 15 gallons of gasoline from the U-Haul trucks parked in the rear of the business.

Police reports show a vehicle driven by John Oliver Haney, 1101 Lancaster, collided with a parked automobile owned by Sandra Bankhead, 3203 Cornell, Wednesday at 9:29 p.m. in the 3200 block of 11th Place. Police said Haney may have received possible injuries, but he declined treatment.

Vehicles driven by Emma Strawn Childers, 819 N. Lamesa, and Mark Henry of Hobbs, N.M., collided Wednesday at 4:58 p.m. in the 1500 block of Gregg, police said. There were no injuries, police said.

Police said a vehicle owned and operated by David Adrian Alonzo, 1206 Ridgeroad, collided with a parked vehicle owned by Jack Hayworth, 2304 Marshall, Wednesday at 11:35 a.m. in the 500 block of North Main. There were no injuries, police said.

Vehicles driven by Donald Deflitch Jr., 1510 Kentucky Way, and Emily Marshall Wasson, 1702 Yale, collided Wednesday at 9:04 a.m. in the 600 block of Circle, police said. There were no injuries reported, police said.

Absentee balloting begins at courthouse

Absentee voting for the Nov. 3 constitutional amendment election began yesterday in the county clerk's office in the Howard County Courthouse.

One constitutional amendment will provide for the inclusion of livestock and poultry with farm products exempt from taxation.

Veterans may benefit from an amendment authorizing the issuance of bonds to finance the veterans' land program.

The amendments to the Texas constitution also include an amendment to authorize cities and other taxing units to encourage the improvement of areas through property tax relief and the issuance of bonds and notes.

An amendment to allow the General Land Office Commissioner to issue patents for certain public free school fund land held for 50 years in good faith also is on the ballot.

Other amendments would allow the legislature to grant state finance management committees power to manage the expenditure of certain funds. Another amendment authorizes a political subdivision to provide property tax relief.

A last amendment will authorize the use of excess revenues for water development, and to guarantee the bonds of counties and cities.

Absentee voting can be done from 8 to 5 p.m. in the county clerk's office.

Board game reflects Texas oil business

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — An Austin lawyer is marketing a board game called "Texas Wildcatter," which is to the oil business what "Monopoly" is to real estate.

Charles Johanson said players move around the board to 16 Texas oil fields, where they have the option of paying bonuses for leases and drilling for oil on those leases. They also can buy pipeline companies and oil field supply businesses and charge other players for their services.

The beginning stake is $15 million, and the first player to amass $1 billion wins.

Deaths

Ted Pachall

Ted Pachall, 54, died at 3:40 p.m. Wednesday in a local hospital. Services will be at 1:30 p.m. Friday at St. Paul Lutheran Church with the Rev. Carroll C. Kohl of St. Paul Lutheran Church officiating. Burial will follow in Trinity Memorial Park.

Services are under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

He was born April 8, 1927, in Big Spring. He lived his lifetime here and had retired from the U.S. Postal Service. He was a veteran of the Navy.

He was a member of St. Paul Lutheran Church. He was preceded in death by his father, Walter, in 1980, and two brothers, Gilbert in 1970 and Dr. Charles Ray Pachall in 1974.

Survivors include his mother, Evelyn of Big Spring; a son, Leslie of Lewisville; a daughter, Debbie LuForte of Lewisville; and a granddaughter, Nicole LuForte.

Lula Cooper

Mrs. Marvin (Lula) Cooper, 75, died at 5:10 a.m. Wednesday. Services will be at 4 p.m. today in the Nalley-Pickle Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Jack Collier, pastor of the Birdwell Lane Baptist Church, officiating.

The Rev. E.G. Newcomer will assist.

Senator opposes water fund

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A state senator predicts Texans will pay higher property taxes for schools if voters pass the water fund constitutional amendment next month.

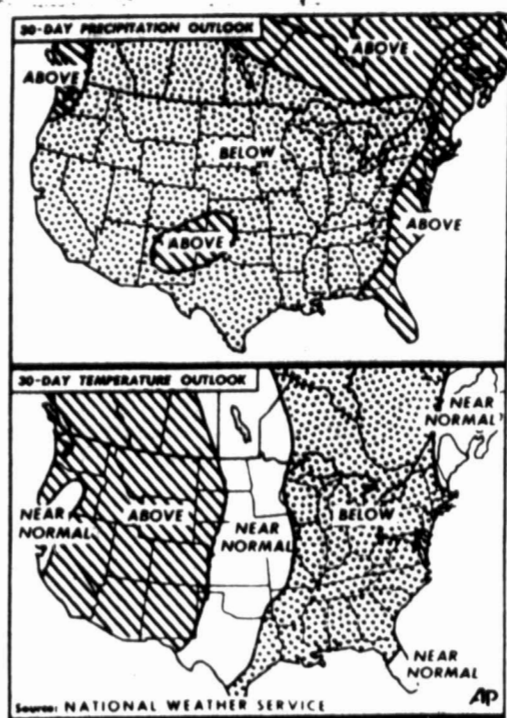

The amendment, Proposition 4 on the Nov. 3 ballot, dedicates half each biennium's treasury surplus to water projects. It defines surplus as the difference between revenue and the state spending limit.

Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, a member of Citizens Against Water Taxes, told a news conference Wednesday the surplus has enabled the state to pay a larger share of public school costs, slowing the growth of property taxes. Without the surplus each session, "property taxes would be out of sight by now," Parker said.

Parker said if the water fund amendment passes, it would "ultimately lead to higher property taxes and a state income tax."

He chided Austin Mayor Carole McClellan, who heads the campaign for the water fund, for saying there would be $340 million in the water fund if the constitutional amendment had been in place this year.

Weather

THIRTY-DAY FORECAST — This is the 30-day forecast for the nation's weather in terms of temperature and precipitation, according to the National Weather Service.

More rain forecast for North Texas

By The Associated Press

More rain fell today in northern Texas and southern Oklahoma, adding to the torrents that have put streams and tributaries of the Red River over their banks for days.

Seven people have died in the flooding this week. Five inches of rain fell in the South Central Texas city of Bryan Wednesday. Some parts of the Red River Valley have received more than 20 inches of rain since Sunday when the storms began.

The rain was expected to continue today, but be more widely scattered and not as heavy. The National Weather Service said some rivers and streams may stay over their banks until Saturday.

On Wednesday, the Red River was 4.5 feet over its 25-foot floodstage at Gainesville, Texas, breaking a 30-year-old record. Muddy Boggy Creek, which runs south of Oklahoma City, crested at 45 feet Wednesday at Farris, Okla. after having been at 14 1/2 feet as late as Tuesday night.

Elsewhere, scattered showers and thundershowers continued to develop ahead of a slow-moving cold front in the central part of the nation. There were showers and thunderstorms from Wisconsin to the southern Plains and light rain fell in the upper Great Lakes and middle Mississippi Valley.

WEATHER FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Flash flood watch in effect Panhandle today. Partly cloudy with scattered showers and thundershowers most sections through Friday. Highs mid 60s north to near 90 extreme south. Lows 40s mountains and north to mid 40s south. Highs Friday 60s north to mid 80s by 8 a.m.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Chance of rain and few thundershowers over much of the area. Cooler over the weekend. Highs mid 60s north to low 80s extreme south Saturday cooling to near 40 north to mid 70s south by Monday. Lows upper 40s north to mid 50s south Saturday down to mid 40s north to low 50s south by Monday.

Coahoma council keeps vacant seat

The Coahoma City Council met Tuesday and decided not to fill the vacancy on the council, according to City Secretary Cindy Bobo. Bobo said the council wanted to wait until the elections are held in April of 1982 to fill the empty seat.

Other action taken by the council included a decision to hold a public hearing on the proposed Energas rate increase.

The council also moved to send Gary Wilkins to Lubbock to attend the Water and Waste Water School. Wilkins will attend the school Nov. 3 to Nov. 5, according to Bobo.

In matters of equipment, the council approved the repair of a maintainer and tabled the motion to purchase a new city pickup. In addition, the council took no action concerning water and sewer for Spiller and Harding's new housing development.

The change of the regular city council meeting nights to the second and fourth Tuesdays of the month also was approved by the council.

In other action, the budget was accepted by council members, said Bobo. The council also decided not to take any action about putting water lines in Sand Springs for a new housing development.

New entomologist picked

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Mitchell and Scurry counties soon will have a new entomologist, Deanna Myers, who recently completed her master's degree from Texas A&M University.

Myers is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Myers of Snyder and attended Western Texas College for two years, then received her bachelor of arts degree from Texas Tech, with a specialty in cotton insects.

The new entomologist replaces Bill Jany, who resigned recently to join a private business firm in Mississippi.

According to District Extension Supervisor Kent Cook of San Angelo, the new entomologist will be on the job in both counties Oct. 21.

House firmly against dairy subsidies cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House, ignoring threats of a presidential veto, is standing firmly behind dairy price supports higher than President Reagan wants.

After defeating two administration-backed attempts to reduce supports outlined in a proposed, Democratic-sponsored compromise on the costly dairy program, the farm coalition in the House faced attempts today to cut support levels for grain.

"The only way we've gotten a farm bill passed is to keep the coalition together," said Rep. William Wampler of Virginia, the ranking Republican on the House Agriculture Committee.

For the second Wednesday in a row, the House rejected Reagan's dairy price-support plan that could have effectively frozen milk subsidies for several years. A majority of Republicans joined an overwhelming majority of Democrats in voting against the president.

As for the proposed support program for grains, the first-year price support loan rates proposed in the pending House bill are higher than those endorsed by the administration. But Wampler said they are probably acceptable to the White House.

The target of Reagan's budget-cutting allies is the built-in annual increases in those rates and high price levels to trigger direct federal payments to farmers when market prices fall too low.

Reagan tells poor countries to grow through free markets

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan is telling poor countries to seek prosperity the way the United States did: through more private investment and international trade, rather than massive aid from wealthy nations.

In a foreign policy speech scheduled in Philadelphia today, Reagan planned to set the stage for an international conference in Mexico next week of 22 rich and poor nations.

His message was that poor countries should look at the history of the United States and other prosperous nations and follow their example.

"The president will speak of the importance of free markets, and that free people build free markets, which in turn will spark the kind of dynamic development that is required," a senior administration official said in advance of the speech.

The official said the United States will continue to support international agencies such as the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, "but in an era of dwindling resources we believe that the answer certainly does not lie in the continuation of massive transfers of wealth from the developed countries to the less developed countries."

The official declined to be identified. Reagan planned to speak before the World Affairs Council of Philadelphia and then travel to Whippany, N.J., for a state Republican fund-raiser and a campaign appearance on behalf of Thomas Kean, Republican candidate for governor.

Today's speech outlines the theme of the president's message to next week's conference in Cancun, officials said.

The United States is expected to hear proposals from some countries that wealthy nations shift tens of billions of dollars to the developing world in the form of foreign assistance.

In rejecting that notion, Reagan will express the belief that reliance on government is not the path to prosperity, the White House official said.

In the last two years, developing countries have earned more in exports to the United States than the entire developing world has received from the World Bank in the last 36 years, officials said.

Lloyd Bentsen/Senator's Report

Oil royalty tax relief is needed

WASHINGTON D.C. — Some months back a woman from Clyde wrote to tell me that her widowed 84-year-old mother had been looking forward to her new oil royalty check as "a good supplement to Social Security." However, the woman found that the so-called "windfall profit" tax took $100.50 from her check for one month, leaving her with only $199.64.

In another letter, a retiree from Del Rio, dependent on Social Security and royalty income, says his royalty payments were cut $20.01, to $62.09, by the "windfall" tax.

Last year, I traveled to Austin to preside over a Senate Finance Committee hearing on the effect the "windfall profit" tax has on small royalty owners. This tax, in reality an excise tax on oil production, hits the pocketbooks of millions of individual royalty owners — as many as 650,000 of them in Texas. The typical small royalty owner is a person of modest means, holding title to an average of less than five barrels a day of crude production.

Not even a searing summer heat wave could deter more than 3,500 citizens from coming to the hearing to protest what they consider an oppressive, unjust tax.

Among those testifying at the Austin hearing were elderly people who rely on their oil payments as a major source of income. A 78-year-old woman from Houston said the tax meant she would be unable to cope with rising medical and daily living costs. There are also plenty of farmers and ranchers, who can't stay on their farms and ranches without royalty income.

When Congress debated and passed the "windfall profit" tax, I fought hard against strapping this unfair burden on the backs of hard-pressed small royalty owners. After the tax was signed into law, I co-authored a bill to amend it.

This amendment, which was enacted into law last fall, permitted royalty owners filing their 1980 income tax returns to apply for a "windfall" tax refund (or credit) of up to $1,000.

The tax credit provided some relief for small royalty owners, but not much. After all, they still had to go through the roundabout process of paying the tax and then applying for a refund.

Meanwhile, the government was able to hold their money for up to a year, sometimes longer, without having to pay any interest on it.

Recently I fought to include more permanent and more equitable "windfall" tax relief for small royalty owners in the 1981 tax cut.

Under the new tax legislation, royalty owners will receive a tax credit of $2,500 for "windfall" tax payments made in calendar year 1981. For the years 1982-84, royalty owners will be exempt from the tax on the first two barrels of daily production. Starting in 1985 this exemption will increase to three barrels a day.

According to the best estimates available this new legislation will completely exempt over 80 percent of our country's royalty owners from the so-called "windfall" tax.

They should never have been paying it in the first place.

Reputations are at stake

A gossip column in the Washington Post quite casually has accused former President Carter and his wife Rosalynn of bugging Nancy Reagan's telephone and eavesdropping on her conversations during the Reagans' pre-inaugural residence at Blair House.

The Post stands by its gossip columnist. The Carters are so incensed they have announced plans to file a libel suit.

IF THE GOSSIP item is untrue and was based on a mere rumor, it should never have been printed and the Carters have every right to sue.

But if the story is true, it deserves more than the light approach with which it was handled in the Post.

It's downright serious if one president is bugging another president. If it's true, the newspaper should have produced solid evidence and named sources in its original article. Both sides should have been given a chance to respond in the story. It's not a matter to be treated with the snide flippancy of a rumor monger.

PRESIDENT CARTER is a public figure, and as such he is open to much more public scrutiny than the ordinary citizen.

But that shouldn't grant a mighty newspaper the power to print any casual rumor that comes floating along without substantiation.

Nor does it mean that the former president and his wife should be denied the right to seek redress if they have been wronged.

It's not only the integrity of a former president that is at stake. The reputation of the press is also on the line.

Palestinian founded arms company

Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON — The exclusive contract for shipping American arms to Egypt is held by a company that was founded by a Palestinian and may still be controlled by him.

Egyptian sources say they are "100 percent certain" that some of the U.S. munitions were diverted to Palestinian groups and other elements opposed to assassinated President Anwar Sadat. These sources also suspect the Palestinians and anti-Sadat forces used their connection to gain valuable intelligence about the inner workings of both the American and Egyptian military.

What makes the situation all the more startling is the involvement of Cabinet ministers and other high Egyptian officials in the secret contract manipulations. Amazingly, the arms shipment contracted wound up with the Palestinian, an itinerant merchant named Ali el Shorafa.

My associates Dale Van Atta and Indy Badwar have identified several Egyptian bigshots who have been actively associated with the backroom deal. These include Brig. Gen. Mounir Sabet, chief of military procurement for Egypt and brother-in-law of Vice President Hosni Mubarak; Kamal Hassan Ali, deputy premier and foreign minister, and Defense Minister Abu Ghazala.

THE AMERICAN CONNECTION was Thomas Clines, a former deputy chief of covert operations in the CIA. He is also a close friend of Edwin Wilson, the renegade ex-CIA agent who jumped bail after indictment for smuggling munitions to Libyan dictator Muammar Qaddafi. Wilson, now hiding out in Tripoli under Qaddafi's protection, has also been identified as one of those working behind the scenes to get the arms-shipment contract for the Palestinian firm.

Pentagon, CIA and industry sources describe the Egyptian arms deal as one of the most suspicious they've ever seen. Here's why:

Part of the Camp David peace accords signed in March 1979 provided for American arms shipments to Egypt — billions of dollars' worth. Legitimate American and Egyptian businessmen eagerly went after the lucrative shipping contract. Two companies even submitted elaborate computerized plans covering the freight and accounting requirements for the contract.

But in April 1979, these businessmen suspected that an exclusive contract had already been awarded to a little-known company called Tersam. Two secret letters I've obtained show that they were absolutely correct.

At the time, Tersam was little more than an office in Geneva and another in Washington. It had no experience whatever in shipping. The front man in Egypt was an Egyptian intelligence officer named Hussain Salem; ex-CIA official Climes was the man in Washington. But the silent partner and financial backer was Ali Shorafa.

Shorafa, a merchant in the Gaza strip until 1973, tried to do business in Egypt with no success, and then settled in Abu Dhabi, capital of the United Arab Emirates. It wasn't till he hooked up with Salem that his fortunes dramatically improved. Salem brought in the high officials of the Sadat regime — and Shorafa's dark-horse company won the race for the arms shipment contract.

EGYPTIAN SOURCES SAY it was pressure from the Pentagon and CIA that got Tersam the contract. They quote the deputy premier-foreign minister, Hassan Ali, as saying several times that the Americans insisted that Tersam be used because of its CIA connection.

But a high Pentagon official — and friend of Clines — insists that the pressure on Tersam's behalf came from the Egyptians.

One thing is clear: The Pentagon didn't know Tersam's background, didn't trust the company and refused to let it ship anything for eight months, contract or no contract.

The matter came to a head when then-President Carter and Sadat agreed that some early, visible military support from the United States was essential. They settled on some hardware that would be part of the annual Oct. 6 military parade — the same event that was chosen by Sadat's assassins two years later.

"There's no way we were going to jeopardize the Oct. 6 parade shipments by passing them to that company," said a Pentagon official. So the Defense Department handled the first eight months of arms shipments itself.

Meanwhile, the Defense Intelligence Agency and some honest Egyptian officials were checking into Tersam's credentials. It was soon clear the company was not qualified to handle the arms shipments.

Tersam solved this problem by subcontracting with legitimate shippers — and changing its name to Egyptian American Transport and Services Corp. Clines became 49 percent owner of Tersam's new incarnation. But the predecessor company owns the other 51 percent — and sources believe Shorafa, the Palestinian exile, still owns most of that.

Young employees must be responsible

Dear Editor: I would like to address a problem other than politics, record burnings, or rebuttal to other letters. It's a problem I see where I work now and have seen for the last ten years.

New employees who are hired expect to make the same or close to the wages made by long-time employees or employees who have considerable more experience than they do. They take long coffee breaks, extended lunch breaks, fail to show up for work or come in late, and give every excuse to take time off from work. I've worked at my trade for fourteen years. The quality of work I produce, the skill I have learned all add up to justify the wage I earn. I have to guard against letting new employees see my check or make any mention of my hourly rate in order to keep them from going to the boss to complain about how little they make.

The prevailing attitude with younger employees is that the company owes them a job but a few of them are willing to do a day's work for a day's wages. Not all are this way as I do work with two younger employees who take pride in their work and try to improve their skills.

A suggestion was made that Howard College Vocational Department work with small businesses to train employees for them in exchange for on the job training for students. One required course should be "Employer's Expectations of Employees." Maybe some students might learn why employers have to fire or let so many employees go due to poor job performance. Most of it is not related to their skills but to their attitude. The low wages complaint is often due to coming to work only three or four days a week rather than the hourly rate paid. There are days when I miss work due to illness or other problems but I try to hold it to a minimum as work missed is money out of my pocket. Employers understand these problems but few will long tolerate it happening every week.

Young Employees should consider these things as their responsibility to the employer in exchange for a job, wages, and fringe benefits.

YMCA proud of soccer sponsors

Dear Editor: The Big Spring YMCA throughout the year conducts many programs with volunteers. This fall, the YMCA has been fortunate enough, again, to have the support of the community in developing and carrying out our soccer league.

This fall, we have grown from 80 youths to 116 youths taking part in our leagues. This growth could not have occurred without the enthusiasm of the parents involving the youth in this new sport. Even though soccer has the largest participation level in the world, it is still in a beginning stage in Big Spring. From the first year 1976, of 45 youths and 3 teams, we have now reached 116 youths and eight teams. To work with this many youth it takes valuable time from the 25 coaches and their assistants. They have given unselfish time to help these youths learn and grow as individuals.

We are fortunate this year to have persons volunteer as officials. This allows us to involve more people and at the same time keep our fees lower, not having to pay official cost.

There also have been others in the community who have helped us out also. Ron Logback, Big Spring High School Athletic Director offered a time to scrimmage our soccer teams during the half-time of the J.V., 9th grade and Junior High football games. This allowed for more exposure to the game of soccer.

The Industrial Park Board allowed us to use the land and Chris Christopher, OIL, built us new soccer goals.

Without the above individuals, the YMCA would be hard pressed to conduct soccer and firm its future in Big Spring. Again, many thanks.

Reader responds to presidents' picture

Dear Editor: According to "Profile of a President," published by the Big Spring Herald, on Feb. 9, 1964, page 21: "This rare photograph shows the last four Presidents of the United States together at the funeral of former Speaker of the House Sam Rayburn in November, 1961."

Scop!

(Editor's Note: You apparently are responding to our recent front page picture of Gerald Ford, Richard Nixon, Ronald Reagan and Jimmy Carter which was captioned, "... It is possibly the first time that four American presidents have gathered in U.S. history.")

The picture in our 1964 special edition on Lyndon B. Johnson to which you refer was of John Kennedy, Johnson, Dwight Eisenhower and Harry Truman. However, Johnson was only a vice president at the time the picture was snapped.)

Dear Dr. Donohue: What exactly does a "BUN" test indicate — the beginning of kidney failure? I know the initials stand for "blood urea nitrogen," but what causes urea nitrogen? I wonder, too, what my "creatin" level means. I understand this indicates how the body handles proteins. I thought I might be eating too much protein, but was told this was not the cause of my nitrogen problem. I really just want to know what the BUN test indicates. — Mrs. H.A.

Since you are right at the threshold of understanding this topic, I'll try to give you a little shove across. Urea is left from the liver's breakdown of protein. The urea is then taken by the blood stream to the kidneys, which filter it out into the

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am in high school, and have recently dedicated my life to Christ. When I did, I quit using drugs. However, all my old friends continue to use them and I feel very isolated. How can I deal with this? — B.N.

DEAR B.N.: I am thankful you have come to Christ, and I also am thankful that you have had the courage to turn your back on your old way of living and are seeking to follow Christ. I pray that you will continue to do this more and more each day.

In the first place, you need to realize that it is not necessarily easy to be a Christian. One reason for this is that Christians are usually in the minority, and if you are going to take your stand for Christ you are probably going to find yourself swimming against the stream.

Jesus — who knew what it was to be scorned by men — warned that his disciples would also know what it meant to be in the minority. Jesus warned, "If the world hates you, keep in mind that it hated me first ..."

Remember the words I spoke to you: "No servant is greater than his master" (John 15:18, 20).

Also realize that Jesus Christ is with you every minute of the day. He loves you, and he will always stay with you. Even if you feel isolated from others, Christ is right beside you and wants to strengthen you.

In addition, it may well be that there are other Christians in your school, and you should seek them out. They also may feel isolated, and they too are looking for others who share their faith in Christ. Make this a matter of prayer, that God will lead you to other believers. You need each other and can encourage each other.

Finally, I hope you will be praying for your old friends. They need Christ, and it is good that they have seen the way Christ has changed your life. Don't cut yourself off from them (unless they repeatedly try to get you to sin and become stumbling blocks to you), but pray for them and seek — as God opens the door — to share Christ with them.

Blood test tells kidney status

urine. So when the blood level of urea rises, that indicates that the kidneys are not filtering the blood as well as they should.

The BUN test is one way to tell. You are right. The letters stand for "blood urea nitrogen." It gets that name because, although the urea is composed of carbon, oxygen and hydrogen along with the nitrogen, only the nitrogen need be measured in a test. If urea nitrogen is high, you know the urea level is high and the kidneys are not functioning properly.

Now, to creatinine. This is a substance that comes from muscle tissue. As with urea, a high blood level of creatinine indicates that the kidneys are not filtering out that substance properly. So you have the two tests — BUN and creatinine — either of which, or both, can be used to see how a person's kidneys are working. It's not how much protein you eat, but how the body handles it. Protein by mouth increases the BUN only if the kidney is functioning very poorly. Protein is restricted in severe kidney failure.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am 10 years old and in the fifth grade. For our English class, we are writing business letters and I decided to write to you. I was wondering about cracking your knuckles. Can you get arthritis and will your fingers curl up? If my letter doesn't get in the paper will you please send me an answer to my question? Thank you for spending your time. — K.G.

I am not absolutely certain about the answer to your question. I have not seen it discussed in medical journals or heard it talked about. I would guess that it would not cause arthritis unless it was done repeatedly and often. Constant, repeated unnatural stress on any joint can end up as arthritis — osteoarthritis, not the other kind, rheumatoid arthritis. Osteoarthritis is sometimes called the "wear-and-tear" kind of arthritis.

It will not cause your fingers to curl up. It will, however, and I am positive about this, annoy the people around you. Your teacher ought to give you a good mark in English, Kim. I did.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around the rim Taking the cure

Carol Hart

I recently decided to look fear in the face and sign up for a public speaking course.

Actually, it's not that I'm afraid to speak before a group of people. It's just that there are plenty of things I'd rather do, like visit the dentist and have a tooth filled, or maybe get run over by a car.

Yes, actually I hate to speak before more than a couple of people. Some find it strange that a person in my business would be timid, but usually I'm one of those out in the audience, focusing upon some poor soul giving the speech. Seldom am I on the other end.

EVER SINCE I graduated from high school and began to notice I hated to speak before a crowd, I began to go to great lengths to get out of a speech. In classes, whenever we had to give a mini-lecture on a certain topic, I tried to be absent for as long as possible, hoping the instructor would forget that I had yet to deliver my little talk.

If people ask me to speak before a group, I'm always very busy on that particular day. I've got a million and one handy little excuses ready in case someone needs a speaker.

But, like the alcoholic who finally decides he could use a little help, I decided to try a public speaking course. My instructor is Cecelia McKenzie, and I'd recommend her to anyone who's afraid to speak in public.

We recently had our first session in Public Speaking, and already I feel more confident.

For instance, Cecelia told us that she sometimes feels nervous when she has to speak before a crowd. I was amazed, because I've seen her talk to little theater groups and others and never knew she was scared, too.

Then she told us about actors who experience extreme stage fright. We read an article that exposed people like Sir Laurence Olivier and Louise Lasser, who are genuine cowards when it comes to addressing an audience.

WE ALSO LEARNED something I'd rather not have learned. Some people never get over a tough case of the jitters before they have to speak. There are even those who throw up before having to go before a crowd, but they still manage to go on stage or deliver their lecture.

I was hoping for a sure-fire cure that was a little less drastic. But we did learn it's O.K. to be afraid, because almost everybody is. And we learned that we need to be confident, or at least fake being confident, as the first step in conquering the over-powering fear of speaking.

Unfortunately, the only real cure to this problem is really getting up in front of somebody and talking away. If I can find a better way to cure it, I'll let you know.

HOMECOMING SMORGASBORD — Members of the Forsan Study Club will serve an International Smorgasbord Friday at the Forsan High School cafeteria. The buffet meal will be served from 5:30-7:30 p.m. prior to the homecoming game. Susan Alexander, left, and Susan Gaston are wearing costumes that represent the countries whose foods they will prepare.

Americanism stressed at Study Club meeting

The GFWC Study Club met Monday in the home of Susan Gaston. In remembrance of Columbus Day, Americanism was stressed throughout the evening. Loretta Yarbrough read the American's Creed and Nola Story read the Poem "America." Donna Parker, federation counselor, read part of a speech given by Staff Sergeant Steven L. McLeary at the 89th GFWC Annual Convention.

Judy Williams reported progress of the preparations for the Forsan Homecoming International Smorgasbord to be held Friday at the Forsan High School Cafeteria. Members are required to have their dishes at the school by 5:15 p.m. Buffet will be served from 5:30 until game time at 7:30 p.m.

Mrs. Story reported on the TFWC State Board Meeting and District Convention which took place Sept. 29, 30 and Oct. 1 in Odessa. Members of the club attending the convention were Eunice Thixton, Emily Elrod, Shirley Summers, Kathy Pickett, Sue A.

Hoiguin, Mrs. Story, Mrs. Gaston, and Mrs. Parker. Mrs. Thixton presented the club with a list of items needed at M.D. Anderson Hospital, Houston. She also reminded members to plan to take an item to the Big Spring State Hospital Arts and Crafts Sale Nov. 14 at Highland Mall.

Cardiopulmonary resuscitation manuals were distributed so that members could prepare for classes to be held Oct. 19-20 from 7-9 p.m. at the Forsan High School Cafeteria. The classes are open to the public at a cost of $6.50 per person.

Mrs. Parker gave an informative and humorous review of the book "The Life and Times of Columbus." Mrs. Gaston and Mrs. Williams, hostesses, carried out the Columbus Day theme on the refreshment table with miniature American flags and ship replicas. Brenda White won the door prize.

The next meeting will be Nov. 9 at 7:30 p.m. in the home of Susan Alexander. An orientation for new members will begin at 6:45 p.m.

Outstanding students receive invitations to Phi Theta Kappa

Eleven Howard College students have been invited to become members of Phi Theta Kappa, Iota Beta Chapter, at Howard College, according to Mrs. Susan King, English instructor at Howard College.

Those asked to become members are: Irene Smith, Janis Whitehead, Mindy Claxton, Toya Rivers, Terri Poteet, David Ross, and Greg Wright, all of Big Spring.

Others invited are Javier Martinez of Welch; Kellie Mull of Denver City; Lynn Simpson of Post, and Marion Lindsey of Loop.

Phi Theta Kappa was founded in 1918 at the Missouri Junior College to recognize the intellectual achievement of college students and to promote scholarships in American colleges.

Members chosen for this honor comprise the upper 10 percent of the total college enrollment and are judged according to good moral character, good citizenship qualities and proven scholarship, said King.

Man's Short Stature Looms Large in Romance

DEAR ABBY: I've been a big fan of yours for a long time, but I've never written to you before.

I am 27, white, male, and I'm 4 feet, 6 inches tall and weigh 96 pounds. I have never had a date with a girl because all the girls I know are bigger than I am and they don't want to go with a runt.

Abby, I don't want to live the rest of my life single. I'd like to find a nice little lady and get married.

I've been told that there is a club somewhere in the U.S.A. for small people. Do you know anything about it? Please help me if you can. Thank you.

YOUR FAN IN ORANGE, TEXAS

DEAR FAN: The club you've heard about is "Little People of America." It was organized in 1957 to bring together people of smaller stature to help them meet others like themselves and to share valuable information, such as how to get the right kind of jobs, where to buy clothing in sizes for adults, not children, etc.

There are chapters of this organization all over the U.S.A.; they hold district and national conventions and publish an informative newsletter. They even have a teen membership. For information about the chapter nearest you, write to: Little People of America, Inc., National Headquarters, Box 126, Owatonna, Minn. 55060. Please enclose a S.A.S.E. as it is a non-profit organization. I recommend it highly.

DEAR ABBY: I have five daughters. My only son was killed when he was 16. How do I answer people when they ask me how many children I have? I feel bad saying I have only five, because my son is still in my heart. Also, if I say "I have five girls," I have to listen to jokes about having no boys. Then I have to tell them of my only son's death, and they and I feel bad.

So what is the correct answer? My head tells me to answer five, but my heart says six.

MRS. H.

DEAR MRS. H.: Listen to your heart, and say "I have five daughters; I lost my only son when he was 16." That will eliminate any "jokes," and you will feel better.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (35 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 12080 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

FAIR ART — Charlene Lewis, one of five Abilene artists to exhibit at the upcoming Big Spring Arts and Crafts Festival, uses real eggs to create her unique decorative pieces. Lewis uses eggs ranging from the tiny finch to the Ostrich, with prices ranging from $12-$200. This piece is made from an extra large goose egg and features hinged double doors. The festival will be Saturday and Sunday in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum.

Aerobic dance topic of Beta Kappa meeting

The Beta Kappa chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma met recently for their October meeting at the Tumbleweed Room at Howard College. Jean Wilder, president, presided.

Nancy Wiseman transferred to the chapter from Andrews, and Mary Fortson changed from active membership to reserve membership. The current membership in the honorary society for women educators is 86.

Women educators accepted for membership for 1981-82 are Lillian Hill, Bauer; Carol Baldaser, South West Collegiate Institute for the Deaf; Ruth Salisbury, Runnels; Carol Simmons, Washington; and Sarah Tipton, Moss. They will be initiated Nov. 7 at a luncheon meeting at the Big Spring Country Club.

Hannah Coleman gave a program on aerobic dance. She defined the program as a way to insure the use of heart and lungs at capacity. Benefits include weight and measurement loss, muscle toning, healthy complexion and good hair condition.

Porcelain painter to present BS Art Association program

Ara Burns, Stanton, well-known porcelain painter, will present the program at the Big Spring Art Association meeting Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will take place at the Kentwood Center. Admission is $1.

Ara Burns is a member of the International Porcelain Art Teachers Guild, Texas Teachers Porcelain Art Guild, and the Midland and Lamesa Porcelain Art Guilds. She began painting in 1961 and started teaching in 1965.

The public is invited to attend this demonstration on porcelain painting techniques.

GOP welcomes new converts

WASHINGTON (AP) — After winning two converts, Republican leaders are inviting other conservative Democrats to cross the aisle in Congress. But strategists in both parties say they doubt many others will make the trip — at least until the 1982 elections.

Rep. Eugene Atkinson, a second-term conservative from western Pennsylvania, on Wednesday became the second Democrat to announce his intention to become a Republican.

He was joined at a White House Rose Garden news conference by President Reagan, who made the same switch himself in 1962. Atkinson "is showing the outstanding political courage that symbolizes a new era of politics in America," Reagan said.

Atkinson, who has supported Reagan's budget and tax cut plan in the House, said he was switching because "today's Democratic Party bears no resemblance to the one I proudly joined thirty years ago."

Democratic House leaders, however, characterized Atkinson's conversion, and that announced last month by third-term Rep. Bob Stump of Arizona, as local situations involving the makeup of their districts — not the start of a stampede to the GOP.

House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill Jr. accused Atkinson of "bartering his principles to run in a district where he can't win as a Democrat."

And Rep. Tony Coelho of California, chairman of the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, said that under reappointment in Pennsylvania, Atkinson stands a much better chance of winning as a Republican.

"Most politics are local," Coelho said. "So far all they (Republicans) have got are Stump and Atkinson. Neither one is a leader in the party. Neither one will carry anyone with them. If they start getting heavyweights, then we'll start to be concerned. I don't worry about it."

According to congressional sources, the White House and GOP House leaders are devoting their attention to about a dozen conservative Democrats viewed as possible converts, including Reps. Phil Gramm and Sam B. Hall of Texas, Ronald M. Mott of Ohio, Buddy Roemer of Louisiana, Richard Shelby of Alabama, Dan Mica of Florida and Larry McDonald and Billy Lee Evans of Georgia.

Reagan has more time to sell AWACS to Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, chipping away at opposition to his AWACS sale to Saudi Arabia, is getting an extra week to try to salvage the deal in the Senate after an overwhelming defeat in the House.

The House rejected the $8.5 billion arms sale — the largest in U.S. history — 301-111 Wednesday, a vote that Reagan shrugged off by saying, "That was expected. We knew that."

And Reagan, who convinced two Senate Republican opponents and a previously uncommitted GOP leader to back the Saudi deal Wednesday, added: "It takes both houses to say no."

The White House already had focused its attention on the crucial showdown in the Republican-run Senate.

The first Senate action was due today, with the administration expecting a split decision: endorsement by the Armed Services Committee and rejection by the Foreign Relations Committee.

Reagan gained more time when Senate leaders decided to postpone their vote from next Tuesday, as originally scheduled, until sometime the following week.

Tom Griscom, an aide to Senate Republican leader Howard H. Baker Jr., said Baker and Democratic leader Robert C. Byrd agreed on the delay because Reagan is to be in Mexico next week for an economic summit.

Saudi Arabia's Prince Fahd also is scheduled to attend the summit, perhaps giving Reagan one last chance for Saudi concessions to calm Senate opponents' fears that the sale of five Airborne Warning and Control System planes and F-15 jet weaponry could threaten Israel or compromise secret AWACS technology.

Despite the president's gains in one-on-one lobbying at the White House on Wednesday, an Associated Press count showed him still behind 55-34.

"We do not think we have the votes...yet," conceded deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes. "We still have a ways to go — man by man."

But Reagan's aggressive drive to save the sale suffered a backlash when one senator, said the real reason was that Grassley miffed at what he considered strong-arm tactics, snubbed Reagan and another senator said he might have been offered an improper deal.

Sen. Charles E. Grassley, R-Iowa, leaning against the sale, skipped a scheduled meeting with Reagan on AWACS, saying he was "too busy."

But an aide, who insisted on anonymity, said the real reason was that Grassley "feels he was strong-armed" when an unidentified White House official appeared to link Grassley's AWACS vote to White House approval of the senator's choice for U.S. attorney.

And Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., told reporters that a Republican friend suggested Reagan would not campaign against his re-election next year if the senator would vote for the AWACS sale.

Saudis push own peace plan

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Saudi Arabia is stepping up its campaign on behalf of an alternative to the Camp David peace process following the assassination of Egyptian President Anwar Sadat. But Israel says it will make no concessions.

The oil-rich kingdom is expected to present Crown Prince Fahd's eight-point blueprint for Mideast peace to the Arab summit scheduled Nov. 25-27 in Fez, Morocco.

Habib Chatti, secretary-general of the Jidda-based Islamic Conference Organization, which comprises 41 Moslem countries and the Palestine Liberation Organization, asked the summit to adopt Fahd's formula as the "Arab plan."

"There is no better framework for negotiations than the Fahd plan," Chatti was quoted by the Saudi news agency as saying.

Three Saudi state-supported newspapers also campaigned for the Fahd plan Wednesday.

The prince, who runs Saudi Arabia's day-to-day affairs, unveiled his plan Aug. 8 after private contacts with Arab states. It calls for Israeli withdrawal from lands seized during the 1967 Middle East War and creation of a Palestinian state with Arab Jerusalem as its capital. In turn, the plan asserts, Arabs will recognize all states in the area. It implies, but does not state, Israel's right to exist.

Nobel for literature awarded to Bulgarian

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — The Swedish Academy awarded Bulgarian-born writer Elias Canetti the 1981 Nobel Prize in literature today "for writings marked by a broad outlook, a wealth of ideas and artistic power."

The 76-year-old Nobel laureate, who writes in German, has produced novels, plays and memoirs since the 1930s.

One of his most well-known works is a memoir of his youth "Die Gerettete Zunge" (The Saved Tongue), published in 1977.

Canetti has lived in London since 1938. For a time he lived in Austria and Switzerland, where he learned German, the language in which he writes. He carries a British passport.

Academy sources said Canetti has long been in line for the prize.

Canetti got his literary breakthrough in 1935 with the novel "Die Blendung" (Auto da Fe). He has published numerous works through the 1960s and 1970s, including travel notes, plays and essays.

Translated into English are "Die Blendung" (Autodafe or The Tower of Babel), "Masse und Macht" (Crowds and Power), "Die Befristeten" (The Numbered or The Deadlined) and the travel book "Voices from Marrakesh."

This year's Nobel Prize in literature carries a $180,000 award.

State Supreme Court overturns rape ruling

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The state Supreme Court overturned a rape conviction in an attack on an 80-year-old widow because the sexual assault may have occurred after she was dead.

The court decided 4-3 Wednesday that the jury that convicted Albert A. Sudler for the slaying murder of Lillie M. Katzenmoyer and the burglary of her apartment didn't have enough evidence to convict him of rape.

"It is clear that the Legislature intended the crime of rape to encompass only indignities to the living," Justice Samuel Roberts wrote for the majority. He added that abusing a corpse was a less severe offense under state law.

The court upheld the murder and burglary convictions, for which Sudler is serving consecutive prison terms of life and 10 to 20 years.

Justice Rolf Larsen said in his dissenting opinion that the decision makes it impossible to convict a person of rape when the victim is killed, an outcome that he said "makes the law absurd."

"There is no question that the 80-year-old victim was alive when the appellant began his murderous assault, and that brutal and lethal force was used on her," Larsen said.

Mayor declares war on 'Caligula'

HOUSTON (AP) — Mayor Jim McConn says he will ask managers of five theaters not to show the movie "Caligula," called "degrading" by a representative of the group Morality in Media who complained about the film at a City Council meeting.

"I can just request that they not show it," he said. "I can't actually do anything about it."

McConn said he has not seen the film. But he said he agreed to have a letter hand-delivered to operators of five local theaters scheduled to begin showing the R-rated film Friday.

But McConn said Wednesday he doubted his action would do any good.

CAUGHT IN FLOOD — A bighorn sheep that could not escape the flood waters that swept through the zoo in Gainesville, Texas Tuesday remains entangled on a zoo gate with flood debris Wednesday afternoon. Police said water was 15 feet deep in some parts of the zoo and many animals were freed to use their instincts to save themselves.

Elephant caught in flood used her trunk as snorkel

GAINESVILLE, Texas (AP) — An elephant missing and presumed dead in the deluge that swamped the city zoo used her trunk as a snorkel to survive 30 to 40 hours snaggled in the branches of a fallen tree, her trainer said.

"She's just utterly exhausted," Zoo Superintendent and trainer Vince Reynolds said Wednesday night. "I really don't see how she survived it."

Reynolds said the elephant escaped with a slight cold, a scarred trunk and a sore neck.

"Right now, we've got her on high ground. I started to take her back to her cage ... but she just wouldn't go. She got in that soft mud and she just wouldn't go any further. She'd had enough of that."

Gerry II, a 13-year-old female elephant that was reported missing and presumed dead Tuesday, was found snared in a fallen tree and stranded by the swift current of floodwaters that hid most of her massive body from rescuers.

"We could see her, but we just couldn't get to her because of the swift water," said Assistant Police Chief Carl Dunlap.

"She was able to keep her snout above water and breathe after she became entangled in the treetop. When we finally got to her, there was about a foot of her back sticking out of the water and her snout. We could see her eye every once in a while," he said.

Cowboys in this North Central Texas town began a roundup Tuesday of the animals that broke out when rising water from three days of heavy rain submerged the Frank Buck Zoo.

But some of the animals who escaped the rising waters still were on the loose late Wednesday.

"We don't have a full count of what animals are missing, but none you could consider dangerous. Mostly they're fleet of foot, like deer," said Dunlap.

The elephant, happily, is present and accounted for.

Reynolds, 61, said he has cared for Gerry II since the popular pachyderm came to Frank Buck Zoo about 12 years ago from Six Flags Over Texas.

"Our relationship? It's about like father and daughter. We got her when she was just a little more than a year old and I nursed her with a bottle for over a year and fed her five times a day. I got pretty close to her," he said.

The zoo is fashioned in a sloping valley-like environment, which filled up with the heavy rains until its banks were overflowing, Dunlap said.

"That flood came down on us so fast we didn't know what was taking place," Reynolds said. "We had very little water in the zoo when the rain started so we thought we'd get boats and open the door on monkey house."

Fifteen minutes later, he said, the whole zoo was submerged.

Gerry lives in a cement-block building in a low-lying area of the zoo.

"I don't know how she got out of her cage," Reynolds said. "But Tuesday night I realized she was alive. I had been sure she didn't live through it. I heard her trumpet lightly and I knew she was alive, but we still had a world of water."

"She was having to keep her trunk in upward position to get air. There were some boys down there and whether they called her and got her to come out of her house, I just don't know."

Reynolds said he stayed out on the bank well after Gerry was discovered snaggled in the tree late Tuesday night, but finally went to bed.

'Boll weevils' vote in favor of AWACS sale

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan had the support of Texas "boll weevils" but not its Republicans on the 301-111 vote Wednesday in the House of Representatives to disapprove Reagan's proposed AWACS sale to Saudi Arabia.

All five of the state's GOP members voted for the resolution that expressed disapproval of the sale, while seven of the state's eight Conservative Democratic Forum members voted with the president.

The vote among Texas' 24-member delegation was 13-10 against the sale, with Jack Brooks, D-Beaumont, not voting.

An aide to Tom Loeffler, R-Hunt, the deputy minority whip of the House, said Loeffler's opposition "was based essentially on what happened when the shah was overthrown in Iran."

"Sophisticated material fell into the wrong hands. He sees that as something that could happen again," said Loeffler's press secretary, Jim Overton.

Charlie Stenholm, D-Stamford, chairman of the 47-member Democratic conservative coalition, smiled when someone mentioned the GOP congressmen voted against the president while he and other CDF members supported Reagan.

"I thought that was interesting," Stenholm said.

"When you look at the total package, including the commitment made by the president, I believe it is in our best interests for the sale to be made. It's important that we begin to build on our support in the Middle East."

Both the House and Senate must disapprove prove the sale of Airborne Warning and Control System planes before the plan is scuttled.

The House's action had been anticipated. The sale of Airborne Warning and Control System planes to Saudi Arabia will still go through if the Senate okays it. Before the president's proposal can be scuttled it must be disapproved by both the House and Senate.

Voting for the resolution — against the AWACS' sale — in the House Wednesday were 193 Democrats and 108 Republicans, while 33 Democrats and 78 Republicans voted no.

Among the 33 Democrats who supported Reagan's commitment to supply the sophisticated aircraft to Saudi Arabia, almost a third were from Texas.

Ralph Hall of Rockwall was the only CDF member from Texas voting to disapprove the sale.

Vickie Daniel recounts shooting of her husband

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — The widow of slain former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. told two medical aides she shot her husband, but insisted it was accidental, the aides testified.

"She said she did not mean to do it," Oscar Cantu, an emergency medical technician, told jurors Wednesday in the Vickie Daniel murder trial.

Mrs. Daniel, 34, is accused of killing her wealthy, widely known husband at the family's stylish ranch house last January.

Cantu, 20, and co-worker John Anderson, the lead-off prosecution witnesses, told of arriving at the Daniel home within minutes of the nighttime shooting.

The medical aides and family friend Bill Buchanan, a broadcast executive, said they found Mrs. Daniel crying and screaming and Daniel lying in a pool of blood.

"She was in a high state of hysteria," said Buchanan, whose Tuesday testimony was interrupted by the overnight recess.

Cantu, looking nervous and tense, said Mrs. Daniel met him inside the front door and recalled her saying, "He's in the back."

The witness said he located the body in a hallway near a back entrance and that he checked but found no vital signs.

"What happened?" Cantu said he asked Mrs. Daniel.

"I shot him," he said she replied.

Later, on cross-examination, Cantu elaborated. "She said they were arguing," he recalled. "She said he went upstairs to get some pot or something. She said she went to get a gun to try and scare him."

"He said, 'Oh, no!' It went off," he quoted Mrs. Daniel as saying.

Still later, a defense attorney produced a statement Cantu gave authorities after the shooting. The witness then recalled Mrs. Daniel saying, "It was an accident" and that "She did not mean to do it."

Anderson's testimony largely matched his colleague's. He called Mrs. Daniel "totally hysterical" and said it took four people to restrain her.

"Do you recall observing any blood ... bruises ... cuts ... or scratches on Mrs. Daniel's face?" a defense attorney asked.

"No, I did not," Anderson replied, but later conceded that he did not make a close inspection.

That testimony went to the heart of one major defense contention — that Daniel beat his wife a short time before the shooting.

Roughly 100 spectators partially filled the Liberty County courthouse for Wednesday's opening testimony, including one avid supporter of Mrs. Daniel.

A woman grabbed and hugged the blonde defendant the moment testimony ended and it appeared someone might need to free Mrs. Daniel from the grip.

The incident vaguely reflects the emotional depth of the case, which has split this Southeast Texas city of some 10,000.

Reagan lending hand to GOP's candidates

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, his economic plan reaching a critical point and a major poll showing his popularity slipping, is sending top officials to Virginia and New Jersey to campaign in races for governor that could become referenda on Reaganomics.

Reagan himself plans a stop in New Jersey this evening on behalf of Thomas H. Kean, who is seeking to end eight years of Democratic rule in the governor's mansion. Reagan is expected to visit Virginia before the Nov. 3 election to campaign for J. Marshall Coleman, the state's Republican attorney general who is running for governor.

Labor Secretary Raymond J. Donovan, a Republican who grew up in the rough-and-tumble world of the Democratic-controlled Hudson County, N.J., and Vice President George Bush have gone to bat for Kean.

Kean spokesman Carl Golden did not quarrel with the view that the vote could reflect the public's view of Reagan's economics, rather than its views of Kean or his Democratic rival, Rep. James J. Florio.

A late September poll by Rutgers University's Eagleton Institute of Politics said Florio had a lead of six percentage points.

But neither Kean's nor Florio's campaign has caught fire, and the picture there is clouded by Florio's ability to attract Republican votes in South Jersey, and pollsters' findings that more New Jersey voters identify themselves as Republicans than are actually registered as members of the GOP.

In addition, New Jersey voters have elected a Republican governor only once since 1953, and both its U.S. senators are Democrats.

In Virginia, Coleman is trying to turn the election into a referendum on Reagan. "We are closely tied to his policies," said Coleman's spokesman, David Blee.

But at the White House, there is an attempt to put some distance between the president and Coleman's race against Lt. Gov. Charles S. Robb, the Democratic candidate and son-in-law of the late Lyndon B. Johnson, just in case the Republicans lose.

The contest between Coleman and Robb is close, the Republicans say. A recent Washington Post poll showed Robb ahead.

Bush, Treasury Secretary Donald T. Regan, Special Trade Representative Bill Brock, budget director David Stockman and Interior Secretary James Watt have been to Virginia.

Blee, sensing Reagan's popularity in what is considered one of the most conservative states in the nation, took pains in a telephone interview to tie his candidate to the president, even as Reagan and his aides scurried to lop federal dollars from politically popular programs and a New York Times-CBS News poll showed his popularity nationwide was down from last June.

Post finds bugging rumor hard to believe

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post said today it finds "utterly impossible to believe" a rumor printed on its own gossip pages that said a government residence was bugged while Ronald and Nancy Reagan stayed there before Reagan's inauguration.

The point of the item, in the Post's "The Ear" column on Oct. 5, was "that a story was circulating," the Post said in an editorial.

"It is one thing, however, to read that item to say that such a tale is circulating and being given currency by estimable public figures who repeat it — and quite another to conclude from this that the place was in fact bugged and that the Carters did in fact perpetrate such a scheme," the Post said.

The Post said that such bugging was not Jimmy Carter's style and "based on everything we know of the Carter instinct and record on this subject, we find that rumor utterly impossible to believe."

Carter's former press secretary and his lawyer have said Carter is thinking about suing for libel.

"He finds it incredible," lawyer Terrence Adamson said today after the editorial appeared in the Post. "They said they published a rumor knowing it was false."

Adamson said Carter hasn't made a final decision, but wrote this comment after reading the Post editorial:

"I consider the owners and publishers of the Washington Post responsible for their libelous action and for their failure and refusal to correct it in a timely fashion."

Morren named to board

COLORADO CITY — Joe H. Morren was appointed to the board of directors of the City National Bank here during a recent board meeting.

Morren was picked by Charles C. Thompson, chairman and president of the bank.

Morren operates a certified public accounting firm at 345 Walnut here, and has oil, farming and other interests.

He was an accounting major at Howard College, Texas Tech and the University of Texas.

He and his wife, the former Mary Beth Lewis, are the parents of three children: Lesa, Kari and Hal.

OSHA, Dow seek cause of blast

FREEMONT, Texas (AP) — Three investigators from the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration have joined Dow Chemical Co. officials in seeking the cause of a gas explosion that killed six men and injured six others.

OSHA official Ben Bare said a team from his agency began its investigation Wednesday morning. Bare, an official in OSHA's Houston-area office, said he expected the investigation to last two or three weeks.

The explosion in the concrete-enclosed separator unit occurred at 8:50 p.m. Tuesday as workers who had performed routine repairs and maintenance on the unit were leaving, Dow spokesman Jim Hansen said.

'Margin for Murder' has 'certain charm'

NEW YORK (AP) — Everything in "Margin for Murder" is inevitable — the girlfriend named Velda, the friendly cop who can get tough when he has to, the floozy called Daisy, even the hard-as-nails dialogue:

"Man has a friend," Mike tells Velda, "they go through life together, good and bad, thick and thin. The friend gets killed, you do something about it."

Kevin Dobson is Mike Hammer, the latest reincarnation of Mickey Spillane's tough-guy private eye. Despite its flaws — besides the inevitables, "Margin for Murder" is too long, as most two-hour shows are — there is a certain charm to CBS' made-for-TV movie, to be broadcast tonight, 9-11 EDT.

The good guys win, and that's appealing. But no small amount of credit is due Dobson himself, one of TV's rising young stars. "You know," Velda says early on, "inside that tough exterior, you're quite a guy."

And she's right. Hammer is summoned to the scene of a car wreck by his cop-friend, played by Charles Hallahan, and he's convinced right off that Joey DeFellita's death was no accident. He shoves all of his other cases aside to pursue Joey's killers, though New York's kinky disco scene, past the crooked cop to head-on confrontation with a mob boss named Marchetti.

There's a noble effort to maintain the side-of-the-mouth Spillane style, and that's not easy these days. It hasn't really worked since Bogart played Raymond Chandler's Philip Marlowe in the '40s.

"Want a drink?" Hammer is asked. "No," he replies, "just some answers." They talk like that a lot in "Margin for Murder."

Through it all, Hammer is pursued by Velda, who has marriage on her mind, enjoys a too-brief fling with Daisy, the disco groupie and aspiring actress who says things like, "I believe in nudity, if it's important to the story, of course," and manages to comfort Mama DeFellita, who dreams of spending her declining years at home in Italy.

"Thanks for helping me with funeral," Mama says. "You're a good boy, Mike. Grazie." Another of those inevitables.

While on the subject, there is the inevitable red herring. The coroner tells Hammer that Joey may have been beaten to death by a woman. The detective's next stop? Grundy's gym, to meet with Joey's girlfriend, who's just finished a workout on the heavy bag.

Cindy Pickett, once a regular on CBS' daytime series, "Guiding Light," plays Velda, Donna Dixon, from ABC's "Boomer Buddies," is Daisy, and Renata Vanni is featured as Mama DeFellita.

Dawson commissioners hear report on jail

LAMESA — At their recent meeting the Dawson County Commissioners heard from state jail inspector Joe Slater about the condition of the Dawson County jails.

The commissioners also heard from Jane Praag, a nuclear civil protection planner, concerning emergency procedures for the area.

Slater reported to the commissioners that the Dawson County jail was in fine condition and successfully met all structural requirements.

Praag, from the Texas Department of Public Safety, conferred with the commissioners about emergency planning for the city and the county. She said she was checking on fall-out shelters in the area and would continue to work with area concerns about protection should an emergency occur.

In other action, the commissioners opened bids on two automobiles for the sheriff's department. David Jones Buick was awarded the sale, pending a final check with the county auditor. County Clerk Billie Bingham said a few minor details had to be checked, such as the color of the autos, and she expected no problem with the bids.

The commissioners then moved to ask for bids on unused land at the Lamesa Cemetery. Bingham said the three or four acres available would be leased for surface rights only.

Other items considered by the commissioners included the approval for the following companies to cross county roads with pipelines or electric lines: Phillips Petroleum Co., Saxon Oil Co. and Lyntegar Electric Co-op.

Man released to San Antonio

The Howard County sheriff's department released Leonard Mark Parchman to the custody of the San Antonio police Wednesday, according to department records. Parchman, of Houston, had been arrested in Coahoma on a forgery charge and was being held on $10,000 bond set by Judge Lewis Heflin.

Parchman was turned over to San Antonio Police because he was already wanted on a charge of forgery in San Antonio.

Ray Gonzales, 35, was released on a $2,500 bond after being charged with theft, according to sheriff's records. Bond was set by Judge Lewis Heflin. Gonzales listed his address as Route 2, Big Spring.

The sheriff's department also investigated two reports of theft. Delbert Chesney complained someone had taken a two-shot pearl-handled derringer, the front windshield for a Ford and three eight-track tapes from him, plus damaging his vehicle. He estimated loss and damages at $185.

The Playpen on the Snyder Highway reported to the sheriff's office that someone had taken a Picapoo poodle from the area. The poodle was valued at $175, according to records.

BAD DAY FOR BILLY — Oakland A's manager Billy Martin wears a grim expression as his team goes to bat in the eighth inning of Wednesday's game against the New York Yankees at Yankee Stadium. Martin, who formerly managed the Yankees, received a loud ovation from the New York crowd prior to the game. It was downhill from there, as the A's lost, 13-3.

4th inning too much for Billy Ball

Yankees put A's at big disadvantage

NEW YORK (AP)—Down two games to none with no margin left for error, Oakland Manager Billy Martin took his team home today determined to prolong the American League Championship Series against the New York Yankees.

"We are fighters," said Martin. "We are a battling ballclub. We'll win Thursday and we'll win the next day and then we'll see who's singing that song."

"That song" was Frank Sinatra's recording of "New York, New York" which blared over the public address system at Yankee Stadium as the A's ran for cover after Wednesday's 13-3 shelling. But Martin may be whistling past the graveyard. The Yankees buried his A's under a barrage of a record 19 hits — the 13 runs were a record, too — including three-run homers by Graig Nettles and Lou Piniella. Now, New York goes for the kill tonight with rookie left-hander Dave Righetti pitching against Matt Keough for the A's.

New York wants to finish Martin's A's fast. The Yankees well recall last week's scare against Milwaukee when they won the first two games of the AL East Division playoffs before the Brewers bounced back to win the next two and take the early lead in the decisive fifth game.

When the Yankees staggered against the Brewers, owner George Steinbrenner threatened a wholesale housecleaning of his ballclub. Piniella, 38, coined a slogan after that, saying, "Win One for the Veterans," and "Veteran Power." It has caught on in the clubhouse and the irony of it is that the vets did most of the damage in Game Two. Piniella's homer capped a seven-run Yankee fourth inning that wiped out a 3-1 Oakland lead. Nettles, who had four hits in the game, started that rally with a booming single off the right field wall that just missed home run territory. The third baseman got his homer in the seventh, wrapping up another four-run rally.

Nettles' shot was more majestic, soaring deep into the right field seats. It looked very much like the ball he hit in the fourth inning for a tape-measure single. Nettles was still on first when Rick Cerone was hit by a pitch by A's starter Steve McCatty. Martin wasn't so sure about that. "I think," said the A's manager, "Cerone won an Academy Award."

Willie Randolph followed with an RBI-single and when Jerry Mumphrey, who also had four hits, walked, loading the bases, Dave Beard relieved for the A's. Larry Milbourne singled for one run and Dave Winfield's double delivered two more.

Series goes back to Montreal at 1-1

Expos even series in shutout win

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The Montreal Expos, bolstered by a masterful pitching performance by Ray Burris, return home on even terms in the National League Championship Series after beating rookie sensation Fernando Valenzuela and breaking the Dodger Stadium jinx in the process.

And patience was the key to Wednesday night's 3-0 victory as far as rookie outfielder Tim Lincecum was concerned. Raines, Valenzuela's only serious challenger for the NL Rookie-of-the-Year award, collected three hits because he refused to chase the 20-year-old left-hander's out pitch — the low screwball.

"I was just thinking about laying off those screwballs down and away and waiting for a fast ball I could handle and he came with those pitches I could hit," Raines said after the Expos evened the best-of-five playoffs with the Dodgers at one victory each.

The five-hit shutout by Burris not only tied the series, but enabled the Expos to break a 10-game Dodger Stadium losing streak. They had lost 19 or their last 20 games in Los Angeles.

Now the series shifts to chilly Montreal, where the nighttime low temperature for the week was recorded at 28 degrees on Monday night. The teams square off Friday night and Saturday afternoon. A fifth game, if necessary, would be played Sunday afternoon.

Left-hander Jerry Reuss will pitch Friday for the Dodgers against Montreal ace Steve Rogers.

Reuss was 10-4 during the regular season and blanked Houston 4-0 when the Dodgers clinched the NL West title. Rogers beat Philadelphia twice in the East playoffs.

Manager Jim Fanning was happy taking his team back to Olympic tied.

Steer tackling must improve for Permian

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

Things didn't go well for the Big Spring Steers in their 33-13 loss to Midland High last Friday night, but unless some full scale improvement is made for this weekend's home game against Odessa Permian, it will probably be worse.

Permian, you see, is the state's fourth ranked team, the defending state champion and currently boasting a 23-game winning streak. The Panthers of Coach John Wilkins last lost to Abilene Cooper in 1979.

But Big Spring Coach Ralph Harris doesn't seem to be too concerned about the mighty Mojo, the name pinned on the Permian football team some 10 years ago during their successful regime in Texas football.

"We're just trying to tackle better," Harris said yesterday before his troops went to the practice field. "This week we haven't been preparing much for Permian. We're just trying to tackle and block better. That's our main concern."

The Steers tackling was not good last week, as it appeared at times that the Big Spring defenders had forgotten the important technique of wrapping up. That helped Midland tailback Wesley Williams rush 31 times for 233 yards.

"We must do a better job tackling," emphasized the Big Spring grid mentor. "We're also got to try and do a better job in the offensive line to give our quarterback a little more time to operate."

Harris was obviously referring to Tracy Spence, the Steer signal caller that was under pressure throughout last Friday night's loss. Of course, the presence of Midland defensive tackle

Joe Goebel, who stands 6'8" and weighs a healthy 255 pounds, didn't help. Goebel stood like the Settles Hotel in comparison to the rest of Big Spring.

Harris also mentioned that the Steers have worked hard on improving their kicking game, an aspect that hasn't helped the Bovines much this year. But with Greg Scarbro getting healthier each game, that should improve.

"We'll start working on the recognition of Permian more this afternoon," Harris said Wednesday. "They run about 40 different formations and it can get confusing, but when it comes down to it they still run the same plays out of each different set."

"Right now, we're (the Steer coaching staff) more concerned with improving ourselves than Permian," Harris concluded.

Parseghian knows troubles Faust having

Ara Parseghian won 96 games as Notre Dame's head football coach. Obviously, he can't remember them all. But there also were 17 losses and they stand out at a place where losing is, to put it mildly, sacrilegious.

In 1964, the first of Parseghian's 11 seasons under the Golden Dome, Notre Dame won its first nine games, then lost a heartbreaker to Southern Cal. "We came within an eyelash of winning that game. We lost in the last few seconds after a dramatic comeback," Parseghian remembers.

"Then, we opened the 1965 season with an impressive win, but I can't remember who we beat (it was California 48-6.)"

Parseghian does remember the next game, a 25-21 loss to Purdue.

"I was having breakfast a few days later with a guy I thought was my friend. I was down in the dumps. I was bemoaning the fact that people were on my tail — you know, the normal criticisms when you lose."

"The guy I thought was my friend said, 'Well, after all, you've lost two of your last three games.' Something like that really drills home 'What have you done for me lately?'"

Parseghian, who still lives in South Bend, knows what Gerry Faust is going through these days with the Fighting Irish sporting a 2-3 record on the heels of a 2-2-1 windup under Dan Devine last season.

Parseghian feels for Faust, the rookie head coach who was plucked from a fantastically successful prep program at Moeller High School in Cincinnati.

"They've had an unusually difficult schedule," Parseghian says. "They beat LSU, which was pretty well thought of in the preseason. They lost to Michigan, which was rated No. 1 in the country before the season by just about everyone. They lost to Purdue, which is always a Notre Dame nemesis. They beat Michigan State, a traditional Notre Dame opponent, and lost to Florida State, a tough team."

"They lost to Florida State by six points on a late interception. They lost to Purdue on a last-minute touchdown and a two-point conversion after a linebacker dropped a sure interception. It was a game they could have very easily won. They caught a Michigan team on the rebound after a loss to Wisconsin. They're very, very close to being 4-1."

"It's a combination of things — the difficult schedule, the bad breaks, the team hasn't jelled together yet. That's not unusual for a new coach coming in."

"And he's saddled with two things — one, he hadn't lost a game since 1977, and two, Notre Dame has had winning teams for close to two decades. Faust is such a personable guy, such a good human being, that the expectations became great. The expectations were beyond the ability to realize them this year."

Tight pro golf race decided this weekend

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP)—Pro golf's tightest money-winning race in 17 years will be decided this week in a four-man showdown at the $200,000 Pensacola Open, the last individual tournament on the 10-month tour.

The 72-hole test began today on the 7,133-yard, par 72 Perdido Bay Club course with Tom Kite, Ray Floyd, Tom Watson and Bruce Lietzke in the chase for the prestigious money-winning title.

Only $27,953 separate the four leading contenders. All four are competing, some at personal sacrifice, and provide this event with the strongest field in its 52-year history.

Floyd had to make major adjustments in his schedule, canceling some big-money guaranteed foreign appearances, in order to join the fight for the important seasonal titles that also include the Vardon Trophy and Player of the Year.

Kite, who leads the money-winning list and tops the Vardon Trophy standings (for the low-stroke average on the tour) left home only five days after the birth of his first child.

Watson, who hadn't planned to compete in this country again this year, had an 11th hour change of mind, beat the deadline for entries by minutes and is making a last-gasp defense of the money-winning and Player of the Year titles he has won for four consecutive seasons.

The titles usually are decided long before the final tournament comes around and this event often is centered only on the struggle for the 60th spot on the money-winning list, the last position to gain an exemption from qualifying for the following year's tournaments.

This time, however, the race is the closest since Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer went to the season-ending Cajun Classic in 1964, with Nicklaus taking the title by an 862 margin.

Kite, who has won only once this season but has an amazing record of consistency that includes finishes of eighth or better in 16 of his last 17 events, tops the money list with $354,099. Floyd is next at $354,926, followed by Watson at $345,660 and Lietzke at $338,146.

With this tournament offering $36,000 to the winner, any one of the four could take it.

"It's very important," said Floyd, winner of three American titles and the Canadian PGA this year. "It's a career highlight, a milestone, something you'll look back on when your playing days are done."

Floyd and Watson also have a chance to overtake the absent Bill Rogers in the race for Player of the Year honors. The PGA said early in the season that title would be determined solely from a point list.

Rogers, winner of the British Open and three American titles, leads with 20 points. He is not playing this week so his total cannot change. Floyd, with 74 points and Watson with 73, are the only men who have a chance to overtake him, and each must win here to do it.

Kite appears to have the Vardon Trophy locked up. He has a 69.84 average, compared with runnerup Lietzke's 70.06. Lietzke would have to beat him by 22 strokes this week to stage an upset.

Texas Sports Hall of Fame announces latest inductees

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas (AP)—Former Heisman Trophy winner John David Crow of Texas A&M University and Texas Tech's former All-American and All-Pro E.J. Holub are among six athletes who have been elected to the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

Other to be formally inducted in ceremonies at the new Hall of Fame building here next June 5 include

Johnny Rutherford, three-time winner of the Indianapolis 500, former major league baseball star Pete Runnels, Kathy Whitworth, a $1 million winner on the LPGA tour, and the late Fred (Firpo) Marberry, who won 147 major league games.

The honorees will be feted by the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association during Cotton Bowl week, including appearances at the annual luncheon Dec. 31 and in the New Year's day parade.

Crow, a native of Louisiana, won the Heisman in 1957.

Area high school grid Players of the Week

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

Most of the area football teams are in the midst of district competition as the season hits the halfway point, and the specialists seemed to be in the spotlight in honoring last Friday night's outstanding players in this week's Players of the Week.

The Stanton Buffaloes scored all of their points in the first half of a 21-0 white-wash of Forsan, and then preserved that with some tough defense in the second half. Biggest reasons for that win were the play of tailback safety KEVIN NEWMAN and guard-linebacker GEORGE LEWIS.

Newman rushed for 158 yards and two touchdowns, with 129 of those yards coming in the first half. In the second half, Lewis made sure that any Forsan threats were thwarted, as he had a game high 21 tackles.

"George also did a good job offensively," said Stanton Coach Steve Park.

The Big Spring Steers didn't have much to be happy about in their 33-13 loss to Midland, but one person that did perform with rave notices was wide receiver ROD HARRIS. The 155-pound junior hauled in four passes for 45 yards, with three of those coming on the Steers' final touchdown drive. "He also did a good job blocking and played hard throughout the game," said

Steer Coach Ralph Harris.

The Garden City Bearkats won their 3-A opener over Sands, with ROBBIE CRESWELL leading the way with 29 carries for 186 yards, including an icing 72-yard touchdown gallop that sealed the 14-0 win.

Coahoma ran into yet another tough foe, the Post Antelopes, and fell by a 23-0 score. But that score might be a bit misleading, as the Bulldogs held their opponent's scoreless for the middle three quarters of the game.

In that Coahoma loss, Coach Roy Winters singled out the play of defensive tackle ROBERT WALKER and fullback JUNIOR YANEZ. Walker was the Bulldogs leading tackler, while Yanez had his best game of the year.

The Forsan Buffaloes lost to Stanton, and Coach Jan East opted not to name any one performer this week. "We played fairly well, but not as well as we should have," said East.

The Colorado City Wolves won their third straight contest, and will head into this week's district opener with Abilene Wylie with steams of momentum.

Wolves' Coach Tom Ramsey singled out the performances of running back safety VICTOR JACKSON, running back Michael Scott, defensive tackle RANDY MCPHAUL, center RANDY USELTON and wide receiver STACY TARTER. Jackson scored two touchdowns and had a pair of interceptions, Scott rushed for 127 yards, Tarter had a touchdown catch, and Useton and McPhaul did outstanding jobs in the line.

The Lamesa Golden Tors generated some nifty offense under the direction of quarterback SAM HANSARD, but it was not enough to overcome the rugged Sweetwater Mustangs.

Hansard completed 13 of 28 passes for 169 yards in the contest.

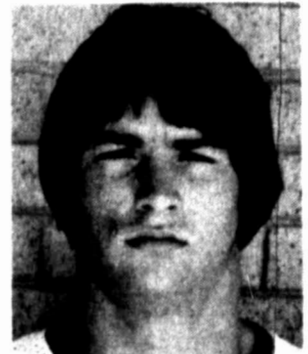

The Grady Wildcats were trounced by the Trent Gorillas, but the play of LYNN KEY was again a positive note for Coach

Richard Gibson's team. Key had 11 tackles defensively in the six-man game, and offensively rushed 11 times for 37 yards and caught two passes for 28 yards.

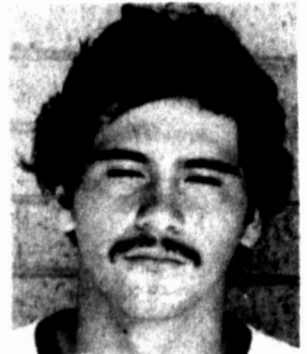

Sands played rugged defense in keeping Garden City from scoring more than they did in the 14-0 Mustang loss, and the biggest stopper of them all was linebacker

STEVE BLAGROVE. Blagrove was in on a game high 22 tackles. Offensively, Sands Coach Jim White cited the play of halfback Mitchell Gutierrez.

UH defense ready for SMU ground attack

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Houston Coach Bill Yeoman finally has the answer for all those defensive teams that have been trying to stop the forward progress of Southern Methodist's tailback combo of Eric Dickerson and Craig James.

"The only way to stop that pair is with horrendous pursuit," said Yeoman, whose defense will try to short-circuit the highly ranked duo in the Astrodome Saturday. "One guy in front of them is not enough and sometimes two can't do the job."

The Cougars have had to contend with elite running backs for the past three weeks with mixed results.

Baylor's Walter Abercrombie and Dennis Gentry, who ranked 1-2 on the school's all-time rushing list, netted only 34 yards in a 24-3 loss two weeks ago. Gentry had to make a four-yard run late in the fourth quarter to even out at zero yards on seven carries.

The Texas Aggies broke out with Alfred Jackson's 77 yards and Johnny Hector's 69 yards last week in a 7-6 loss, leading up to Saturday's chore against the Mustangs. A&M's 237 yards rushing was the first time this season the Cougars had yielded more than 100 yards in a game.

Yeoman says he may even put tear-away jerseys on his defensive tackles this week.

"I don't know what it'll take but we've got to get some people out in front of those two backs," Yeoman said. "I'm not saying anything by making the move. I'm just saying we've got to get some extra pursuit."

Dickerson has gained 703 yards this season, scored 12 touchdowns, is tied for second in the nation in scoring and has a string of seven consecutive 100-yard rushing games, a school record. James is third in SWC rushing with 556 yards and is averaging 111.2 yards per game.

The pair hasn't attained glittering statistics against the Cougars however. In the past two seasons, Dickerson has netted three and 27 yards and James has gained 11 and 18 yards.

"I haven't met anyone who couldn't be stopped but we're going to have to hit the field like wildmen to do it," said

UH defensive end Leo Truss, who must try to contain the Pony sweeps.

The Mustangs come into the game ranked No. 10 in The Associated Press major college poll despite being on one-year's NCAA probation that prohibits them from post-season competition. The punishment has not affected SMU's morale as far as Yeoman can tell.

"The linemen are just as big and the backs are just as fast," Yeoman said. "I can't tell a bit of difference."

Top teams face rugged road tests

DALLAS (AP) — Three undefeated Southwest Conference football teams are all on the road Saturday, traveling to extremely unfriendly locales.

Texas takes its No. 1 ranking in The Associated Press college football poll to Fayetteville, Southern Methodist risks its 5-0 record and No. 10 AP ranking against Houston and Texas A&M visits defending SWC champion Baylor.

Texas visits Texas Tech in the fourth conference game and TCU hosts Utah State in a non-conference match.

There is a look at each game, in order of starting times:

Texas A&M (4-1, 2-0 in SWC) at Baylor (3-3, 1-2) — Bears have beaten Aggies three straight but have never won four in a row. Ags hold 44-26-7 series lead in defense. Aggies rank 11th nationally against the run at 92.8 yards per game. Bears are fourth in SWC pass defense at 167 per game.

Four of league's top 10 runners are in the contest. Aggies' Johnny Hector and Ernest Jackson rank 5th and 6th, Bears' Walter Abercrombie and Dennis Gentry are 7th and 10th of 20 points.

Southern Methodist (5-0, 2-0) at Houston (3-2, 1-1), 7:30 p.m. — SMU is third nationally in scoring with 39.6 points per game, but Cougars are fifth nationally against scoring, allowing just 7.8 points per game. Mustangs enjoying best start since 1950. Cougars lead series 4-2 but Mustangs have 2-1 edge in Astrodome. Mustangs lead conference in total offense (419.6 yards per game) and rushing offense (321.6). Houston's total defense of 229.8 is tenth in nation.

Rice (2-3, 1-1) at Texas Tech (1-4, 0-3), 7:30 p.m. — Rice win would give Owls best start since 1967. Tech suffering worst SWC start since 1966. The series is knotted at 15-15 but Tech leads 7-4 in Lubbock and has won six straight since 1974. Rice surged from 15 points back to smother TCU, 41-28, a week after Frogs had beaten Arkansas. Rice QB Mike Calhoun this week's AP SWC Offensive Player of the Week. Tech defensive coordinator Jim Bates calls Calhoun "the best quarterback we have faced since I've been at Tech."

Arkansas (4-1, 1-1, 2-45 p.m. — Regionally-telvised (ABC-TV) game. Arkansas rebounded from TCU loss to beat Texas Tech 24-16. The winner of this one has won or shared SWC title five of last nine years. Texas leads SWC in all three defensive categories, ranks fourth nationally in total defense, fifth in rushing defense. Razorbacks are 12th nationally in rushing defense.

Hog QB Tom Jones, out with injury since TCU game, will start against Texas. Longhorns have won eight of last nine and 12 of last 14 to take 47-15 series lead, 39-15 in SWC and 18-7 in games played in Arkansas — but last four games have been decided by total of 20 points.

Southern Methodist (5-0, 2-0) at Houston (3-2, 1-1), 7:30 p.m. — SMU is third nationally in scoring with 39.6 points per game, but Cougars are fifth nationally against scoring, allowing just 7.8 points per game. Mustangs enjoying best start since 1950. Cougars lead series 4-2 but Mustangs have 2-1 edge in Astrodome. Mustangs lead conference in total offense (419.6 yards per game) and rushing offense (321.6). Houston's total defense of 229.8 is tenth in nation.

Rice (2-3, 1-1) at Texas Tech (1-4, 0-3), 7:30 p.m. — Rice win would give Owls best start since 1967. Tech suffering worst SWC start since 1966. The series is knotted at 15-15 but Tech leads 7-4 in Lubbock and has won six straight since 1974. Rice surged from 15 points back to smother TCU, 41-28, a week after Frogs had beaten Arkansas. Rice QB Mike Calhoun this week's AP SWC Offensive Player of the Week. Tech defensive coordinator Jim Bates calls Calhoun "the best quarterback we have faced since I've been at Tech."

Scoreboard to light for BYU vs. San Diego

By the Associated Press

This one is destined to set all kinds of records.

Doug Scovil, the architect of Brigham Young University's famed passing attack, has been laying the foundation for a similar offense at San Diego State, where he became the head coach last December.

After four games, Scovil's Aztecs show signs of being just as proficient at throwing the ball as the Cougars, but a more accurate comparison should be possible after Saturday's regionally televised meeting between the two teams in San Diego.

The teams are tied for the lead in the Western Athletic Conference with 2-0 records. SDSU is 4-0 overall, having upset nationally ranked Iowa State 52-31 last week. BYU, which dropped out of the top 10 to the No. 17 position nationally after bowing to Nevada-Las Vegas 45-41 last week, is 5-1 overall.

BYU, playing the last two weeks without All-America quarterback Jim McMahon, is in the No. 2 position nationally among passing teams, averaging 315 yards per game, while SDSU is No. 4 at 292. The Cougars led the nation in total offense, gaining yardage at a 490-yard clip, while the Aztecs' Matt Kofler is tops in individual total offense at 310 yards per game.

BYU has been putting the ball in the air an average of 43 times a game, SDSU 39.

And neither team has been playing much defense. Last week, BYU generated 511 yards but gave up 628 to UNLV. San Diego State rolled up 569 compared with Iowa State's 557.

four teams on television. The Chicago Cubs and Chicago Bears will not take part in SportsVision, which will start in April 1982.

The service, airing three hours each night with some weekend telecasts planned, will offer 250 selected games of the White Sox, Bulls, Black Hawks and Sting. Also planned is a variety of national and regional sporting events such as college football, professional tennis and boxing, said Einhorn, president of the new service.

Chicago sports fan find pay TV problem

CHICAGO (AP) — The medium is the message in the new all-sports pay television service unveiled for Chicago-area fans. You can't have your cake and eat it too in an age of millionaire athletes.

All the fans expect miracles — they expect free television, they expect the ticket prices to stay the same and they expect you to win," said Chicago White Sox co-owner Eddie Einhorn.

It's not going to happen that way. But SportsVision is the answer — the additional income to be competitive in the free-agent market, and to keep the good players you have," he said.

Amid great pomp and splendor in a luxury hotel this week, Einhorn and owners of the Chicago's Black Hawks, Bulls and Sting raised the curtain on SportsVision, a jointly run, subscription TV service with English and Spanish announcing staffs.

SportsVision will cost fans in the nation's second-largest sports market $21.95 monthly to see live games of the four teams on television. The Chicago Cubs and Chicago Bears will not take part in SportsVision, which will start in April 1982.

The service, airing three hours each night with some weekend telecasts planned, will offer 250 selected games of the White Sox, Bulls, Black Hawks and Sting. Also planned is a variety of national and regional sporting events such as college football, professional tennis and boxing, said Einhorn, president of the new service.

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR FRIDAY, OCT. 16, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: You may want to make some startling changes now but take a few moments out to think deeply and decide whether or not the changes will be beneficial in the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19): Study every angle of a new project you have in mind and then act carefully. Take no risks where your reputation is concerned.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20): Get busy at those chores ahead of you early in the day so you'll have more time for pleasant activities later. Be wise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21): Steer clear of an overly dynamic acquaintance and seek company of persons who have more poise. Use common sense.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21): Take it easy if confronted with an annoying situation and use diplomacy instead of forcefulness for best results.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21): You may want to run off to new interests, but it's best to complete current tasks. Be more encouraging to others.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22): It's to your interest to keep promises you have made. Avoid a co-worker who is confused and could get you in trouble.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22): Plan how to have greater income in the days ahead. Concentrate on how you can be more productive in the future.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21): Get busy at regular routines and complete what you have started. Make practical plans for the days ahead.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21): Others could be pressuring you to do things you don't like, so be more resolute in carrying out your wishes.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Do nothing that could upset conditions at home. Not a good day to start a new project. Be logical.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Know your true position in a financial matter before going ahead with future plans. Use care in motion.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Make constructive plans that could give you added income in the days ahead. Take steps to improve your health.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be very ambitious, so give the best education you can afford in preparation for a most successful life. Religious training is important early in life. Teach to work with hands. One who will be fine in sports.

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Harvard Lampoon issues send-up of People Magazine

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (AP) — Take a look at the people in People this week. Brooke Shields is on the cover, holding a dead fish. There's a snappy story about a boxing nun and an outrageous interview with the man TV star Erik Estrada, humble as ever. If the fishy theme from the cover photo doesn't give it away, the price will. The undergraduate satirists at the Harvard Lampoon want $2 for their parody of People magazine, which hits the newsstands today. One million copies have been distributed around the country, and even the people at the real People — which sells for 95 cents — think it's funny. "I got a few chuckles out of it," said Hal Wingo, assistant managing editor of the genuine People. "I think there were points at which they had our style down pretty well." The parody issue matches People's graphics exactly, and it is full of real advertisements, including one from the authentic magazine that reads: "Compliments from the real thing." For the Harvard students who spent last summer on the 112-page project, People was a perfect target. William K. Kimball, a Lampoon staffer, said Bo Derek, Dick Cavett, Brooke Adams, Liza Minnelli and most of the other celebrities pictured in the fake magazine posed willingly. Like its model, the fake People is filled with gossip stories about movie stars, TV personalities, folks with odd businesses, offbeat fads and people with problems. But everything is made up. Covergirl Shields was voted in a fake poll to be both the prettiest and ugliest woman in the world — "illustrating the fine line between a goddess-like beauty and a walking garbage scow." Her love-hate relationship was sharpest with males age 16 to 18," the magazine went on, "93 percent of whom said they would give their right leg for a date with Brooke but none of whom would finish a Coke from which she had taken a sip." Among other bogus reports: — Sister Mary Stigmata of the St. Vincent the Enforcer Convent in the South Bronx is undefeated in 16 amateur boxing bouts. "Mary has proved that a nun can make chin music as easily as she trills a psalm." — In an interview from hell, the late Shah of Iran says he "feels hurt and betrayed because his old ally, the United States, has not lifted a finger to help him since his damnation." — CHIP's Star Erik Estrada admits he is plagued by insecurity, but in a fake first-person account he says his example shows that "anyone blessed with the gifts of dashing looks, a very intelligent brain, one hunk of a body and an expensive dentist can win the battle against self-doubt." — Upcoming television shows include "Topless Detective," a three-part White Paper called "Heat Vs. Humidity: The Cop-troversy Rages," and, on PBS, "Battle of the Classical Music Festivals."

Big Spring city council bites the bullet

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

The Big Spring City Council bit the bullet last night and accepted without complaint the news that the city stands to lose a substantial portion of federal funds in the near future.

The money is federal revenue sharing funds divvied out to cities across the nation each year. This year, as part of President Ronald Reagan's belt-tightening policies, the amount of revenue sharing may be cut by 12 percent.

In fact, it appears inevitable that the cut will come, so council members — who had before them a resolution protesting the cut — decided to be philosophical about the matter and accepted the city's fate.

"The quicker we can get away from taking money from the federal government, the better," said Councilman Larry Miller.

"Everybody's got to bite the bullet, but when it comes time, people say, 'Don't give it to me, give the bullet to somebody else,'" remarked Councilman Jack Y. Smith, suggesting Big Spring should bite down hard and accept the pain of the cut.

The council then ignored the resolution and moved on to other matters. After the meeting, Finance Director Tom Ferguson told The Herald the city would lose $35,000 a year "if the full twelve percent filters down to us."

The money typically is used for capital outlays such as equipment and vehicle purchases, Ferguson explained.

An article in a National League of Cities publication which was distributed to the council pointed out that overall the cut means a savings of $50 million in the current fiscal year. The Reagan administration would like to curtail the revenue sharing program in its entirety in fiscal 1984, the article said.

The Big Spring City Council ponders the bad news that a cut in federal revenue sharing funds is likely. The council met in a regular session at City Hall last night when the item came up.

In other matters, the council approved settling two claims brought by citizens against the city which arose out of accidents involving police cruisers.

Johnny Munoz was awarded $523.97 was involved in a collision with a police vehicle Oct. 3. The award equalled the lowest of three estimates submitted to the city for repairing Munoz's car.

That claim was awarded with little discussion, while the second claim generated a little more head-scratching by the council. Ricky Sneed was asking for a payment resulting from a collision with a police cruiser Sept. 22. The lowest of three repair estimates was $1,490.66, but City Attorney Elliott Mitchell recommended paying Sneed only $800, which he determined to be the fair market value of the car.

Councilman Robert Fuller told his colleagues he thought it would be best to give Sneed both the market value and salvage value of the car, which Fuller figured to be around $1,100. The council then approved an award in that amount.

Sneed appeared disappointed in the award and remained standing at the podium where he had made his pitch for an award. He told the council, "I hope I can replace (my car) for $1,100."

Councilman Russ McEwen told Sneed "we're attempting to be as fair and equitable as possible." Sneed then returned to his seat.

In other action, the council approved the signing of an agreement with Howard County which would give the county tax collector the job of collecting the city's property taxes. The county made overtures to the city in 1977 about setting up such a system, according to Tom Ferguson, but a formal agreement between the county and the city council — which liked the idea — was never executed.

The way the plan would work is that the county would collect current taxes for a fee of one percent and delinquent taxes for a five-percent fee. The city estimates it would be cheaper to pay the county to collect the taxes rather than have a city tax office in operation.

"An added inducement," Ferguson said in a memo to the council, is "the fact that this would give a one-stop centralized location for paying property taxes, since the county would be collecting for the city, county and (Howard) college."

In other business, the council:

- Approved Delia Hogue's request to open a day care center for up to 17 children at 1514 E. 17th. Hogue was granted a specific use permit allowing her to remodel a building she owns at that address — zoned for single-family dwelling — and convert it to a day care center. She said she had no opposition from neighbors and needs state approval before she can begin remodeling.

- Delayed action on granting Fran Hooper a dangerous animal permit for Clyde, her children's four-foot boa constrictor. Hooper said she bought the snake three months ago and initially wasn't aware she needed a permit. City Inspector Dewey Byers told the council 14 letters were mailed to neighbors of the Hoopers to gauge their reaction to Clyde's presence and out of seven letters returned, five were opposed to the request for the permit.

To get the permit, Hooper has to satisfy city ordinances and state inspections mandating the safety of keeping the snake, Byers said. He also said Hooper needed to be able to respond to up to $100,000 liability in case of death or injury resulting from the snake. Hooper said her insurance covered the liability and the snake's safety was assured since he is kept in a lidded aquarium. The council declined to act on the permit request since the Hoopers recently moved and the council wants to find out how the new neighbors feel about Clyde.

- The council also approved a pair of temporary mobile home permits — one to James Horton for a mobile home on his property near the intersection of I-20 and Birdwell, and another to Glen Hughes for his property at 1003 E. Third (with the stipulation that Hughes seek a zoning change for his property — zoned for light commercial structures — should he decide to create a mobile home park at the address).

- The council approved a bid by NCR to sell the city some computer equipment for $12,720. Although bids were solicited from two sources, the sale could be awarded to just one company — NCR — since only its equipment would be compatible with the city's existing computer setup, according to Tom Ferguson. Federal funds will cover the cost of the equipment, he said.

- The council heard from City Manager Don Davis that a transfer of easements to gas lines at the city Industrial Park should be completed this month. The city is turning over the pipes to Energas, basically so the city can avoid upkeep and repairs of the pipes. The transfer was delayed because part of the pipe system runs through federal property — the Federal Prison Camp — and it wasn't until recently that the federal government okayed the transfer of its portion of the system.

"This was all accomplished in a mere two-and-a-half years," Davis noted wryly.

Police Beat

Officers are involved in two accidents

Big Spring police were involved yesterday in two accidents while pursuing a man they suspected of stealing a motorcycle from 1810 Monticello, they said.

According to police reports, Officer Ron Wood responded to a call about a possible theft at the above address at 12:22 a.m. Tuesday. Wood was able to locate the suspect and pursue him until the suspect lost control of the motorcycle at the intersection of N.W. Eighth and Lamesa Drive, police said.

Wood was unable to avoid the accident and ran over the motorcycle.

Police said the suspect William Arthur Manke, 110 E. 17th, had to be transported to Malone-Hogan Hospital by Shaffer ambulance where he was in stable condition.

Meanwhile, Officer Dean Boyd, who was responding to the same call, collided with a vehicle driven by Raven Sherre Chiamblee, 1402 Princeton, at 12:27 a.m. at the intersection of Highway 350 and the I-20 south service road, according to police reports. Both Boyd and Chiamblee were taken to Malone-Hogan by Shaffer ambulance. Boyd was treated and released, while Chiamblee remains hospitalized in guarded condition, a hospital spokeswoman said.

Leslie Youngblood, No. 79 OK Trailer Park, told police that sometime Tuesday night someone stole a .357-caliber pistol from the bedroom of his home. Police said point of entry could not be determined.

Katie Rodriguez complained to police Tuesday that while her car was parked at 310 W. Seventh between the hours of 8 and 10:30 p.m. someone broke the windshield on the vehicle with a rock.

J.L. Carroll, 2508 Ann, complained to police Tuesday that someone at an unknown time cut the vinyl top on his 1981 Oldsmobile causing approximately $200 worth of damage.

Elvis Johnson complained to police that Tuesday at approximately 6 p.m. while he was in the 200 block of N. Johnson he was assaulted by a middle-aged black male.

Vickie Smith, 4003 Dixon, complained to police that sometime Tuesday night someone damaged her car by jumping up and down on the hood. Smith estimated damage at $388, according to police reports.

Charis Earl Tate Sr., an employee of the T-Club No. 2 at 3704 W. Highway 80, told police that sometime Monday night someone broke into the business and stole several items and damaged a jukebox, a cigarette machine and two pool tables.

Rodriguez completes course

Staff Sgt. Ray Rodriguez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gabino Rodriguez of 1504 Robin, Big Spring, Texas, has completed the respiratory specialist course at Brooke Army Medical Center, Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

The course is designed to provide enlisted personnel with a basic knowledge of aerosol-humidity therapy, ventilation therapy, pulmonary function testing, infection control, cardiopulmonary drug administration, and critical patient care performed under the supervision of a Medical Corps officer.

Crandall earns silver wings

Second Lt. Richard E. Crandall, son of retired Air Force Lt. Col. and Mrs. Edmund H. Crandall of 501 Penn, Big Spring, Texas, has graduated from U.S. Air Force pilot training, and has received silver wings at Reese Air Force Base, Texas.

Crandall will now serve at RAF Lakenheath Air Force Base, England.

He is a 1980 graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Jones earns masters in social science

Second Lt. Dennis D. Jones, son of D.L. Jones of Stanton, Texas, has earned a master's degree in social science from the University of Northern Colorado at Greeley.

Jones has completed college studies through participation in the U.S. Air Force off-duty education program.

He is assigned at Francis E. Warren Air Force Base, Wyo., with the 400th Strategic Missile Squadron.

His wife, Diana, is the daughter of retired Army Lt. Col. and Mrs. Walter E. Burrell of 5229 Chateau, El Paso, Texas.

Parnell assigned to Keesler

Airman Gregory W. Parnell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Parnell of 4104 Dixon, Big Spring, Texas, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airman who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Buchanan is promoted

Lewis E. Buchanan, son of Lewis E. Buchanan of 26 Prospect, Saugas, Mass., and Lilly Y. Buchanan of 3322 Y. St., Sacramento, Calif., has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of captain.

Buchanan is a tactical operations officer at Fort Rucker, Ala., with the 6th Battalion, 1st Aviation Brigade.

'West Texas Women' theme of pageant

Seventeen Howard College coeds will be vying for the honor of becoming Miss Howard College, announced Cheri Sparks, Associate Vice-President for Student Life at Howard College. This year's theme for the pageant is "West Texas Women" with an emphasis on the area's various industries, including cotton, oil and cattle. The pageant, sponsored by the Student Government Association, will be held at 8 p.m., Oct. 22, in the Howard College Auditorium. Tickets may be purchased at the door the night of the pageant. Prices are $4.00 for general admission and $2.50 for faculty and students of the Howard County Junior College District. Competition includes casual wear, swimsuit, formal wear, and an interview. This year's contestants and sponsors are: Sherie Blalack, Big Spring Automotive; Felicia Key, Smith and Coleman Oil Company; Sheila Grice, McCutcheon Oil Company; Lori Phinney, Goodyear-Dunnam Tire and Supply; Debbie Kincaid,

Bettle-Wornack Construction Company; Cindy Mann, Turner Properties; Leny Sanchez, Broughton Implement Company Inc.; Shelley Wood, O.I.L.; and Lisa Connelly, Price Construction. Other contestants and sponsors are: Mary Payte, Taylor Implement Company, Inc.; Beverly Wheeler, Feagin's Implement; Jamie Sink, Cosden Oil and Chemical; Andrea Fowler, Reid Brothers Oil Company; Carol Adair, Cunningham Oil Company; Melissa Luna, Howard Properties; Carolyn

Torres, Jay Turner Enterprises, and Shirley Moore, director of the HC Choralliers. Serving as master of ceremonies for this year's pageant will be Sam Hill, director of Division for Learning Development at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf. Fashion moderator and choreographer will be Cheri Sparks. David Partlow, director of College Information at HC will be responsible for the program and public relations for the pageant. Music will be provided by Art Castetter and the HC Jazz Band and Joe Whitten, director of the HC Choralliers. In charge of sponsors and choosing judges will be Carrie Dunnam, director of Student Recruitment at HC. Art work and program cover design will be done by Becky Smiley, art instructor at HC, and set design will be done by Bill Griffin, Dean of Students at HC. Special entertainment will be presented by The New Dimension, Fantasy, the Continuing Education Country and Western dance class, and the Rodeo Team. Dom Bonura, Dean of Students at SWCID, will be in charge of lighting and providing interpreters. Doug Peercy will be in charge of make-up.

Legislative assistant makes visit

Kelsay Meek, Washington, D.C., visited his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Meek, Sunday. Meek, a native of Howard County, had been traveling with a delegation from Washington as a representative for the Housing and Urban Development committee. His group visited Dimmitt, Hereford, Levelland and other Texas cities. Meek is a graduate of Big Spring High School and Trinity University, San Antonio. He now serves as research and legislative assistant to Congressman Henry B. Gonzalez, San Antonio. He is also a HUD representative and is on the sub-committee for Senate Banking and Finance.

Past Matrons chapter plans Christmas party

Twelve members of Laura B. Hart 1019, Order of the Eastern Star, met Thursday at La Posada Inn for a dinner. Hostess was Dee Martin. Clara Smelser gave a devotion entitled "Worry" to begin the business meeting. Ruth Sweet was elected club reporter. Dee Martin thanked everyone for the cards, flowers, visits and calls she received during her stay in the hospital. The Christmas party will be held Dec. 5 at 7 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Slim Fiveash, 803 E. 14th.

Food Program elects officers

The Big Spring School Food Program was held Thursday at Runnels Junior High School. Due to the resignations of the newly-elected officers, new officers were elected. Mary Jo Allen will serve as president, and Gylene Copeland will be vice president. The business meeting consisted of discussion of the year's upcoming projects. The next meeting will be Nov. 12 at the Big Spring High School cafeteria.

ROBIN ETHRIDGE

Ethridge wins 4-H Award

COLLEGE STATION — Interests such as refinishing furniture and redecorating her bedroom have helped Robin Ethridge, a Howard County 4-H member, become state winner in the 4-H Home Environment Program.

She will receive an expense-paid trip to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago, Nov. 29-Dec. 3, sponsored by The S&H Foundation, Inc., announce state 4-H officials with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. At the national level, S&H Foundation also sponsors six $1,000 scholarships. Robin's record book will be entered in national competition.

The 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rob Ethridge, Coahoma, Robin is a nine-year member of the Coahoma 4-H Club.

"The biggest rewards I have received in the home environment project are a sense of well-being and pride in my accomplishments in my room and the contributions I have made toward making our home a better place to live," notes Robin.

Robin's success in her Home Environment project stems from the gift, an iron bed, her aunt gave her. She reworked it into a canopy bed and added some other antiques, which she refinished herself. Since then, she has redecorated her room once adding shutters, a new bedspread and carpet.

She also has been active as a junior leader assisting younger 4-H'ers with various environment projects. She has also attended Texas 4-H Congress three times and has competed at State 4-H Roundup three times, in method demonstrations and dairy cattle judging, in addition to competing in the State 4-H Food Show two years.

Last year she won the Howard County Gold Star Award and the J.T. Rutherford Award as the most outstanding 4-H member in the district.

The winner also has served in several offices in Howard County, including president, vice-president and secretary. She is presently serving as the District 6 co-chairman and is a member of the Texas 4-H Council.

Robin has also been active in clothing, horse, foods and nutrition, leadership and citizenship projects.

After graduating from Coahoma High School next May, Robin plans to attend Texas A&M University to major in veterinary medicine or Agri-business.

Germany is featured at meeting

The 1970 Hyperion Club met Friday in the home of Mrs. John Key. Mrs. Ray Alexander served as co-hostess. Attending were Mrs. John Marshall, a new member, and Mrs. John R. Middleton, a visitor, along with the regular members.

Rose Thomas, an employee of Skipper Travel, showed a film on Germany. The country's variety in landscape, art heritage, cuisine and hospitable people were featured. "The German people work hard and play hard," commented Ms. Thomas. She distributed brochures entitled "Happy Days in Germany" and lists of flight prices to Germany, London, and Hawaii.

Mrs. Skip McKenzie reported the final plans concerning the club's nacho booth for the Arts and Crafts Fair Saturday and Sunday.

JESSE RIOS (LEFT) AND WALT USERY Trust your car to them at Walt's Chevron

Quality car service now at Walt's Chevron

If you want professional service you can trust, take your ailing car to Walt's Chevron, 2509 Wasson Rd. They are well-trained to spot what is wrong with your car and fix in the quickest, cheapest way. The service station is managed by Walt Usery, who has 25 years experience as a Chrysler specialist. That gives him vital knowledge and skills that will make needy automobile owners into steady customers.

Walt's Chevron wants to introduce Jesse Rios, a new mechanic who has been a long-time employee of a Chrysler dealership in the service department. He brings with him a great deal of knowledge and experience on brake and engine work and will add to the excellent service at Walt's Chevron.

Walt's Chevron is designed to handle a variety of basic automobile needs. They can do quick tune-ups that will get your car starting right and running smoothly. A tune-up will also give your car a better mileage so you can get the most out of the money you put into gasoline. If you need your car's spark plugs checked, timing adjusted, or even oil changed, Walt's Chevron is a good place to go.

Hester-Robertson can help cut energy costs

Home energy costs are going up fast and it looks as though consumers can expect them to go higher in the coming months. Hester-Robertson mechanical contractors on N. Birdwell Lane has the equipment necessary and the programs designed to help consumers beat the spiraling costs.

Hester-Robertson offers new energy-saving units such as Carrier, General Electric, Lennox, and Singer. The newer the model, the more fuel efficient and cheaper to operate the unit is.

As an added incentive to use more efficient energy systems, Hester-Robertson wants to remind consumers of the TESCO rebate program now being offered. If you replace your existing unit or heat pump with a high efficiency system with an 8.5 Seasonable Efficiency Rating (8.0 for heat pumps), TESCO will give you a rebate on some of the costs.

Hester-Robertson services all the equipment they sell. They can price any work they may do. And since it is close to wintertime it may be the time for you to install a new system or let Hester-Robertson update the system you have.

The friendly staff at Hester-Robertson will be glad to answer any questions you may have. They invite you to come by and pick up one of the free brochures they offer. It will give you all the information you need about the new energy saving systems.

Now is the time to call Hester-Robertson for estimates for spring change-outs and winter heating estimates. Their phone number is 263-8342.

Extension Service offers tips on cutting budget

By JANET ROGERS County Extension Agent
Stretch your meat dollar — and make a major impact on your food budget.

During 1981, food-price hikes will be due mainly to upward trends in prices of meat and meat products, forecasters predict.

How can you know the number of servings different cuts of meat will yield? Use this guideline: meat that is mostly lean with no bone, gristle or fat makes about four or five servings per pound. Round steak and ground beef are examples.

Since meat costs are usually the largest part of the food budget — 25-30 percent, follow several meat-stretching basics and save.

Generally the most economical meats are those that take longer to prepare — including chuck or rump roasts. These are as nutritious as other meats, providing high-quality protein, iron, B vitamins and some fat.

Now compare that with ribs. Say a pound of ribs costs 60 cents. Ribs only yield about two servings per pound. So divide 60 by two. The answer is 30 cents, so ribs, in this case, costs 30 cents per serving.
