DICK J. REAVIS
...with Oaxaca guerrillas

Writer shuns the easier assignments

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer

Some people might say Dick J. Reavis is in a risky line of work. Reavis, nephew of Howard College librarian Mary Crawford, is an associate editor with "Texas Monthly" magazine. But in an attempt to dig up articles for "Texas Monthly," he has lived among members of the infamous motorcycle gang, the Bandidos, traveled to Mexico to consult with a band of guerrillas in Oaxaca, worked as an orderly on a ward for the criminally insane at Rusk State Hospital and lived among alcoholics and derelicts in a Houston ghetto. In all, he's done 12 feature stories for the magazine. He began with "Texas Monthly" four years ago as a free-lance writer. He usually spends several months on a story, collecting data and often living the lifestyle he intends to write about. Sometimes living that lifestyle gets him into risky situations. "I enjoy adventurous work," Reavis jokes. "But there ain't all that much of it." Looking back over several issues of the "Texas Monthly," it seems Reavis has had plenty of adventure to keep him busy. For a story in the March, 1978, issue called "The Smoldering Fire," Reavis used gunrunners and kidnapers as sources for a story on guerrilla activities in Mexico. Also during this period, he served as a consultant to NBC. The network was working on a similar story about revolutionaries in the country. While working in Mexico Reavis said he told himself, "If I live through this, I'm never going to do it again." That attitude, he says as he sits in his aunt's home, wears off once he's safely out of a dangerous situation. "I've sworn off (this type of work) lots of times, but I just go back and do it again." When Reavis researched possible patient abuses at Rusk State Hospital for a story called "A Season In Hell" in the October, 1978, issue, he worked under a fictitious name and was employed on the ward for the criminally insane about a month. "There were allegations that the patients at Rusk were being beaten up by orderlies," Reavis explains. But during that month at Rusk, he says he discovered "the real danger at Rusk came from patients," beating up other patients. Although no one knew his real name or his real occupation at Rusk, about "two-thirds of the time" Reavis tells people he is a journalist working on a story. When he did a story on the Bandidos called "Never Love A Bandido" in the May, 1979, issue, Reavis told the gang members in Fort Worth who he was and what he wanted to know. "I told them 'anything you don't want me to know, try and hide it.'" During his stint as a Bandido, Reavis "was scared, but not of the Bandidos. Someone kept shooting at them." The Bandidos themselves were helpful, Reavis says. One thing that helped him with the story, he reasons, was the fact he was riding a Harley-Davidson motorcycle and was able to hold his own among the men. One of Reavis' closest calls with death didn't come while he was researching a story. It came while he was out on his Harley-Davidson motorcycle, on the way to see his friends. Reavis was hit by a drunk driver on an Austin highway, and the accident left him in a body cast for weeks. He suffered 11 broken bones, including his shoulder blade, collar bone, hip socket and ribs. One rib punctured his lungs. He also lost his spleen. Doctors who saw him shortly after the accident weren't sure he'd survive. In "The Crack-Up" in the February, 1980 issue, Reavis wrote a painful story of what it's like to "look death in the face." The article also captured how he felt about the man who hit him, and traced his long road to recovery. In the upcoming November issue of "Texas Monthly," Reavis will have a feature on carnival life. "I got a job working in a carnival. They never ask your last name or what you did before. I ran a couple of midway games. "They never would have let me on the carnival if they'd known" I worked for a magazine, he says. Reavis speaks highly of "Texas Monthly" and says "now that we've got the Monthly, things have been better for Texas writers. People like Larry McMurtrey had to leave Texas. Our generation can stay here." Reavis stops by Big Spring frequently on his way to research various stories around the state. His brush with death hasn't stopped him from riding a motorcycle. After brief visits with his aunt, he's usually off on the road again, hot on the trail of future magazine material.

Will it serve as good alternate with cotton? Farmers explore guar as crop

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

Area cotton producers gathered at the U.S. Big Spring Field Station Friday to learn that guar, a bean plant, could be a money-making alternative to cotton. While neither speaker at the guar meeting proposed replacing cotton with guar, both Dr. Bill Fryrear of the farm station and Ken Stevens of Vernon-based Celanese Corp. talked of the gains to be made by planting guar.

Fryrear said the station has been growing guar for several years and in "six (out) of seven years, guar at 20 cents a pound has made more than cotton at 60 to 70 cents a pound." Fry-rear said about 35,000 acres of guar had been planted in Texas, while the state "could stand two million acres before affecting the price."

Stevens, an agronomist for Celanese, said he thought it would take 3.4 million acres before the price would be affected. Stevens said guar costs about $3 an acre to plant "with a possible yield of up to 2,000 pounds per acre."

One of guar's strong points, Stevens said, is that the price of guar is not subject to the same market conditions which causes cotton and other products to have fluctuating prices. However, he said "guar is not a miracle crop, but it can help a farmer in a lot of ways."

One way guar aids the farmer — other than bringing in a profit — is that it improves the soil it is planted in, said Stevens. He said in the Vernon area cotton planted after guar has yielded a 20 percent better crop for 15 years. Rather than alternate cotton and guar on a yearly basis, he said, some producers plant the two side by side.

Fryrear and Stevens told the producers that guar can be planted and harvested without any special equipment. However, Stevens added, "combining the crop is tough on the operator."

In addition to being a crop with a solid market value, guar is a 110-day crop which can survive early planting and late harvesting, said Stevens.

"Guar will hang on through snow and frost," Stevens said. That led one cotton farmer to joke that guar "would be a good crop for a lazy farmer."

Guar is a legume plant which looks something like a cotton plant when it has leaves and looks like a dead weed when it is ready for harvesting. Guar's uses range from being a stabilizer in dairy products such as ice cream to animal feed to use in mudding compounds for oil wells. According to Stevens, more than 425 uses for guar have been found, with about two new uses a month being discovered.

Truck-store collision injures two

Two youths sustained minor injuries and an estimated $20,000 in damages was caused during a traffic accident Sunday night at the Town and Country Store at 3104 Parkway.

Leslie Ted Pachall of Lewisville allegedly was driving a 1969 red Dodge pickup which plowed through the front of the Town and Country Store at 9:31 p.m. Sunday. Pachall drove into the Town and Country parking lot, then accelerated and crashed into the store front, according to police reports.

Pachall, 27, was arrested for driving while intoxicated, police said. Two youths, Jimmy Olivares, 17, and John Olivares, who were inside the store, were taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital where they were treated for minor cuts and bruises sustained in the incident, according to a hospital spokesman.

STOREFRONT COLLISION — Two employees of the Town and Country store received minor injuries last night when a pickup truck plowed through the store window and caused $20,000 worth of damages, according to police.

Stenholm 'frustrated' over farm bill loss

COLORADO CITY (SC) — In town for a meeting Saturday with District 8 Student Council members, Rep. Charles Stenholm (D-17th district) commented on recent congressional action on the 1981 Farm Bill.

"It did not go well at all," Stenholm said. "We lost the peanut program by some 90 votes, which is one of the few programs in which family farmers can make a decent profit out of raising the commodity that's so vital. The sugar program went down and action was postponed until Tuesday."

Stenholm continued, "I am extremely frustrated. It's not looking good. The story behind the scenes is that the administration is pushing for a two-year farm bill, which certainly is better than the earlier four-year plan. My one-year bill is not particularly popular, as many of my colleagues are not wanting to write a one-year farm bill with next year being an election year."

The congressman concluded, "We have two factions ... one which believes if we run the farmers out of business, food will be cheaper in the stores. The other group believes in the free market and the tooth fairy. Some progress has been made, but last week was not a good week for the American farmer."

Reagan concedes U.S. economy in recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, saying what administration officials have carefully avoided, is acknowledging for the first time that the nation's economy is in a recession.

But Reagan says it's mild, and his chief economic adviser says "forces already are in motion" to reverse it. "I think there's a slight recession and I hope a short recession," Reagan said Sunday on the White House lawn before leaving by helicopter to meet with French President Francois Mitterrand at Williamsburg Va. "I think everyone agrees on that."

Later Sunday, Murray Weidenbaum, chairman of Reagan's Council of Economic Advisers, said in a statement "there are increasing signs that the economy has entered what can be called a recession," including a drop in industrial productivity, rising unemployment claims and the weak housing market.

But Weidenbaum said Reagan's economic program and built-in stabilizing elements in the federal budget will assure that the downturn will be short-lived.

"With both short- and long-term interest rates declining, forces already are in motion to reverse current downward tendencies, even though several more months of poor economic statistics are a likely probability," he said.

Although private economists have been saying the economy is in a recession, Reagan's comment caught his advisers and other aides by surprise.

As late as Saturday, White House spokesman David Gergen declined to characterize the economy as being in a recession.

Industrial production fell 0.8 percent in September, the second monthly decline in more than a year, the government reported Friday. Unemployment climbed from 7.3 to 7.5 percent last month.

Jerry Jordan, a member of the Council of Economic Advisers and the administration's chief economic forecaster, said last week that unemployment could go higher than 8 percent by early next year.

Joblessness hasn't been that high since the end of the 1974-75 recession, which has been called the nation's most severe economic downturn since the Great Depression of the 1930s.

The Commerce Department this week will release third-quarter figures for the Gross National Product that are expected to show a slight decline after adjusted for inflation.

In the second quarter, the nation's economic output as measured by real GNP declined at an annual rate of 1.6 percent.

SIGN LANGUAGE

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer

Many of the signs you will be learning in the Herald's sign-language series are signs you may have used before without realizing you were using actual sign language symbols.

Today's sign is "time." To form the sign, crook the right index finger and tap the back of the left hand several times.

The sign pictured here is the one to use if you want to say "What time is it?" If you want to sign a sentence such as "In medieval times ... make a clockwise circle with the right hand sign for "I" in the left palm.

The latter sign indicates the movement of a clock.

According to an article in the Oct. 19 issue of "U.S. News and World Report," sign language is used today by more than two million people in the United States.

Here's a little information on some of the causes of deafness.

According to information in "American Sign Language" by Dennis Cokely and Charlotte Baker, congenital deafness — deafness prior to birth — is generally due to heredity or rubella. Genetic factors are related to 50 to 60 percent of all deafness.

Heredity has been the leading cause of deafness in the twentieth century, the book points out, except during rubella epidemics. From 1963 to 1965, one such rubella epidemic was recorded. Fifteen thousand deaf babies were born during that period.

Crime Stoppers needs funds

The newly formed Big Spring crime-stoppers fund continues to gain contributions, but more money is needed to build the reward fund. The fund will be used to give money to individuals for tips leading to indictments and convictions in connection with major crimes.

Mengden enters Senate race

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — GOP State Sen. Walter Mengden of Houston, saying that U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen is not conservative enough for Texas, today formally announced his candidacy for Bentsen's Washington seat.

"By his own admission, Bentsen does not describe himself as a conservative," said Mengden, 54, three-term state senator.

At a Capitol news conference called to announce his candidacy, Mengden said he expects to face U.S. Rep. Jim Collins, R-Dallas, in the GOP primary. Collins, also a conservative, has not formally announced his candidacy.

Mengden said he believes his "name identification" is stronger than Collins' throughout the state. He conceded that his views are "very similar" to the congressmen's on many topics. He said, however, there is a difference in style and technique.

"Congressmen Collins' philosophy is one of voting against ... I'm just not a negative person," said Mengden.

Mengden, who got the nickname "Mad Dog" from fellow lawmakers, said he expects to spend $400,000 in the primary campaign and up to $4 million in the general election.

Plane crashes at track

SUNLAND PARK, N.M. (AP) — Early arrivals for races at Sunland Park Sunday saw something that wasn't on the bill — the crash-landing of a small airplane in the infield of the track.

Authorities said no one was injured when the single-engine Beechcraft crashed down onto the infield at about 11:30 a.m. and skidded to the edge of the track's manmade lake.

The pilot, Bruce Gordon, 31, of El Paso, Texas, said he and his passengers, Steven and Patricia Sawey of El Paso, took off from a private airport adjacent to Sunland on their way to Deming. He said the plane was airborne for only a few minutes when its engine died.

Gordon said he flew the craft without power under high-tension power lines at 110 mph and crash-landed it at the Sunland track.

The plane crashed into the infield and bounced. When it hit the second time, its landing gear crumpled, and it skidded, coming to a stop with one wing submerged in the track's lake, directly across from the clubhouse and grandstand.

Gordon said from his home Sunday night that he had no idea why the engine quit.

"I had the plane running earlier and there was no hint of trouble," he said.

Student teacher suspended

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A student teacher who was suspended from Crockett High School after drug-sniffing dogs found marijuana in his car has been condemned what he calls the Austin Independent School District's "ridiculous piece of neo-Nazi policy."

Joseph Kahler, 25, a University of Texas graduate student, had been teaching at the school until last week.

Searchers found a marijuana cigarette and the remains of another under some cigarette butts in an ashtray, he said.

Kahler said he loaned his car often to members of the co-op house and didn't know how the marijuana got in his car's ashtray.

"Have you read that (AISD) search-and-seizure policy?" Kahler asked. "You give away any right you have when you step on that property."

Jury selection begins in two local trials

Jury selection began today in Howard County court for the trials of Nina Alamasan and Gaudalupa M. Fierro. Alamasan is charged with simple assault and her attorney is Wayne Basden.

Fierro is charged with criminal mischief and also is defended by Wayne Basden.

County Attorney Robert Miller will prosecute the cases. Judge Bill Tune will preside.

No bond for probation rap

Jose E. Ramirez, 18, is being held without bond in Howard County jail on charges of revocation of probation. Sheriff's deputies said Ramirez, of 310 S. Sixth, was transferred from Lamesa to Howard County Saturday.

Michael Howard Bias, 23, is free on bond after being charged with theft in Howard County and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle in Mitchell County. Bias, of 1502 Wood, had his bonds totaling $4,000 posted by Fred Coleman.

Also released on $2,000 bond was Noel Noyala, 20, who is charged with possession of marijuana, (half an ounce). Bond was set by Judge Bobby West and posted by Basden & Conway. Noyala's address was listed as 1611 Cardinal.

Other recent action by the sheriff's department includes the release of John Edward Griffin to the custody of the Levelland Sheriff's Department. Griffin, of 1109 W. Fourth, was being held without bond in Levelland charges of revocation of probation and forgery, according to the sheriff's department.

C-City sales tax rebate increases over year ago

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado City continues to receive "healthy" sales tax rebates from the state comptroller office, with latest figures released showing Colorado City will receive almost $14,000 for the current payment period, compared with approximately $9,000 a year ago.

Over all, the city's revenues from sales taxes total $153,757, which is an increase of more than $20,000 over last year and a 15.39 percent increase, according to city officials.

Demo defections make 'boll weevils' think

WASHINGTON (AP) — The decision last week by Rep. Gene Atkinson, D-Pa., to become a Republican has resulted in some interesting conjecture concerning Texas conservative congressmen and other "boll weevils."

Rep. John LeBoutillier, a New York Republican who has incurred considerable wrath because of aggressiveness not appreciated in a first-term, played a leading role in Atkinson's conversion.

In a television appearance a few nights ago, he suggested Atkinson might try to keep his Democratic-assigned spots on the Government Operations and Public Works and Transportation committees.

House Speaker Tip O'Neill already had served notice, soon after Atkinson's announcement, that House Democrats will meet Wednesday to expel Atkinson. And unless Atkinson resigns in the meantime, O'Neill said, the Democrats will bring before the full House a resolution to strip Atkinson of his committee assignments and other party benefits.

That's fine, LeBoutillier said, except the full House has to concur before either party can remove a member from a committee. A party names congressmen to a committee, but can't remove them of their own volition.

But, a reporter pressed, don't the Democrats control the House with their 243-191 edge?

Yes, LeBoutillier replied, "but the boll weevils will vote with us (Republicans)."

But LeBoutillier's prediction drew only lifted eyebrows from Texas conservative Democrats, who have been front and center in the boll weevils' successes so far.

"Mr. Booty-Booty, or whatever his name is, ought to pull his head out and find out what's going on. The Republicans want him to be a member of their party. It's up to them to find him a seat on a committee," said Rep. Marvin Leath, D-Marlin.

"It has nothing to do with punishment. It's just not up to Democrats to furnish Republicans with a seat on the committees; it's just that simple," Leath added.

An aide to Gramm, a Democrat from College Station, added:

"That's nice of LeBoutillier to speak for the boll weevils, but I think he's just hoping. I think most people would be prone to believe that if a man switches parties, the new party ought to take care of him, rather than it having to come to the floor of the House anyway."

Rep. Sam B. Hall Jr., D-Marshall, also downplayed the possibility of a boll weevil-GOP coalition on the issue.

"To let a member keep a Democratic seat while a member of the Republican Party, I don't think I could vote that way. And I can't see the boll weevils getting involved in something of that nature. Certainly nothing like that has ever been discussed at all by the Democratic Forum," Hall said.

Rep. Charlie Wilson, D-Lufkin, not a boll weevil but a member of the Democratic steering and policy committee, also found the scenario hard to imagine.

Of O'Neill and House Majority Leader Jim Wright of Fort Worth asked that Atkinson be removed and made it a party matter. "It would be my judgment such a move would succeed. After all, the guy has changed parties," Wilson said.

"Why can't the Republicans put him on Public Works and Government Operations? I don't consider either committee that much of a plum. Those are not major committees, and I would certainly think the Republicans would do that for him."

Atkinson is the Republicans' second recent convert. Rep. Bob Stump of Arizona announced last month that he was switching, but said the change won't be effective until next June.

Republican national leaders say a few more Democrats may switch in coming weeks. Congressional sources said the White House and Republican House leaders are devoting their attention to about a dozen conservative Democrats as possible converts.

On the GOP "want" list are a pair of Texans — Gramm and Hall. That report kept both of them busy last week denying they have any plans to switch.

"That story hit East Texas in big banner headlines, and I just want to try to stop it and end it, once and for all," Hall said Friday.

"I'm not joining the Republican Party. I haven't contemplated it. I don't intend to. I have a lot of friends on both sides of the aisle, but I have no intentions of leaving the Democratic Party," added Hall, a strong supporter of the president's budget and tax bill legislation.

"I'm just trying to put this rumor to rest, that's gotten wilder and wilder all across the country. It's not true, and I want to let that be known."

Gramm told 1,100 people in Dallas in late August that — despite all the threats of party punishment for his support of Reagan's economic programs — he planned to remain a Democrat and would run again as a Democrat.

Gramm said a few days ago he can't rule out a switch in the future.

"I certainly would welcome the opportunity to elect a conservative speaker," Gramm said. "If I ever feel that by staying in the Democratic Party I'm part of the problem rather than the solution, I may change."

LeBoutillier perhaps came to that conclusion because several of the boll weevils were a bit concerned this past summer that they were in danger of losing committee assignments. They were counting on Republican votes to help preserve the seats if such a confrontation did arise.

Some Democrats were urging party leaders to boot Texans Phil Gramm and Kent Hance, in particular, off their committees for being lieutenants in President Reagan's budget and tax cut battles.

- A man was arrested for allegedly walking out of Gibson's Discount Center Sunday afternoon with two packages of cigarettes, police said.
- A burglary was reported at 1:26 p.m. Sunday at Custom Building and Wood Work, 1600 W. Fourth. Entry was gained to the building through a bathroom window and the building was ransacked, according to police reports. A list of items taken wasn't available this morning.
- A seven-year-old boy told police Sunday afternoon that someone had taken his bicycle parked in front of his home at 1703 Aylford. The bike was valued at $75, police said.
- Marie Dominguez of 510 N. Runnels told police Sunday that someone had stolen her purse while she was at the Dora Roberts Community Center Saturday night. The purse, valued at $6, had a watch and cash totalling $161 inside it, according to police reports.
- Mable Wilson of 303 11th Place told police Sunday that someone had taken the screen door off her home and entered the premises. Nothing was reported missing in the incident.
- An employee at the Seven-11 store at Third and Owens told police someone put $2.90 worth of gas in their car then left without paying about 8:14 p.m. Sunday.
- A student in the dormitory at the SouthWest College Institute for the Deaf reportedly took too much of an unknown substance and was taken to Malone-Hogan Hospital by a Shaffer ambulance at 12:02 a.m. today. The student was treated and released, the hospital said.
- Charles Vieregge of 1400 Runnels reported the theft of a chain saw valued at $200 from 819 W. Third Sunday afternoon, police said.
- Cars driven by Debra Torres, 2619 S. Chanute, and A.J. Montgomery, P.O. Box 2012, collided at 7:01 p.m. Saturday, police said. There were no injuries.
- Beverly Yarbar of Route 2 told police her car was hit by a driver who left the scene on Highway 87 about 8:44 p.m. Saturday.
- Cars driven by Dennis E. Ausbie, 1803 Hamilton, and Gregorio L. Martinez, 1007 N. Runnels, collided at 1:38 a.m. Sunday, police said. There were no injuries.

Court to rule if death penalty applies to accomplices in murder

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court today said it will decide whether the death penalty can be imposed on "non-triggerman" murderers who never intended to kill anyone.

The justices must decide whether death can be proper punishment for people involved in crimes that the evidence suggested that he drove the getaway car after participating in the planning of the robbery. It said he in no way knew that the crime would involve killings.

The appeal said Enmund was not in the Kersey's home when they were murdered, and that he played only a minor role in the crime.

The Florida Supreme Court rejected Enmund's appeal and upheld his death sentence.

The state court ruled that the Constitution's 8th Amendment — prohibiting cruel and unusual punishment — is not violated by use of capital punishment in cases in which the evidence does not establish that a defendant intended to kill anyone.

Thomas Kersey, 86, was shot three times. His wife, 74, was shot six times.

Coahoma board mulls water, sewer expense

Members of the Coahoma Independent School District board of trustees will meet at 8 p.m. today in the administration office at High School and Main streets in Coahoma.

Members will discuss additional expenses for sewer and water to a new district building, employment of personnel, and a recommendation from the high school principal concerning excused and unexcused absences.

A recommendation to take bids on painting the junior high school will be considered, as will the adoption of TASA localizing policies for the district.

Homecoming will be discussed, and a recommendation to raise the extracurricular transportation reimbursement rate to $1.10 per mile will be considered.

Boy, 9, hospitalized after car-bike mishap

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A car-bicycle accident Sunday evening near Fuller Foods resulted in the hospitalization of a 9-year-old boy in serious condition at Root Memorial Hospital.

The youngster, Bobby Wilburn, son of Mrs. Clara Elizabeth Wilburn, suffered head injuries, according to police Sgt. Billy Ray Williamson.

The mishap occurred when the boy rode his bicycle into the path of a car driven by 16-year-old Michelle Franco and was "unavoidable," according to Williamson.

Young Wilburn later was transferred to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock where he was listed in serious condition.

Nursing conference slated for Lubbock

LUBBOCK — Nursing recruitment methods will be the focus of an Oct. 21 conference held here.

"Enrollment declines in nursing schools alarm hospital and nurse employers who already are suffering from nursing shortages," said Teddy Langford, dean of Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center School of Nursing. "Many factors have contributed to this decline including nurse salaries, wider career opportunities for women and publicity about the work situations of nurses."

"Many of these issues cannot be resolved by nurse educators alone," Langford said, "but recruiting students to schools of nursing is something we can do now."

Speakers assembled for the conference include Fay Carol Reed, R.N., Ph.D., dean, Riverside School of Nursing, Ohio Wesleyan University; Kay Kiefer, R.N., associate dean, health occupations, Dallas; John Garris, executive director, Dallas-Fort Worth Hospital Council; Anthony Owens, vice president, health careers programs, Texas Hospital Association; Jackie McAlpin, associate director of student services, Northwest Hospital School of Nursing, Amarillo; Opal Hipps, R.N., Ph.D., dean, Baylor University School of Nursing; and John Logan, executive director, Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Conference topics include challenges and choices in recruiting students to nursing, partnerships in recruitment, mistakes not to make in recruitment, and developing community involvement in school recruitment programs.

All conferences will be held in the South Park Inn of Lubbock. Registration information may be obtained through the Continuing Nursing Education Program office (806) 743-2734.

Report says TDC staffer ordered drugs for inmate.

HOUSTON (AP) — Federal and state officials say they are investigating allegations that an unlicensed employee of the Texas Department of Corrections prison hospital has been prescribing medicine for inmate patients.

Copies of prison prescription forms bear the signature "W.M. Ancheta" according to a copyright story in Sunday's editions of the Houston Chronicle.

Drug Enforcement Administration officials in Dallas and Department of Public Safety officials in Austin say they are investigating allegations that Ancheta and other prison hospital personnel not licensed as physicians are writing prescriptions.

A State Board of Medical Examiners in Austin has no record of a license being issued to a Virginia M. Ancheta nor has the board ever received an application for a license.

The DPS has not record that a registration number, necessary before controlled substances can be prescribed, was ever issued to Ancheta by that agency.

Rick Hartley, administrative assistant to prison director W.J. Estelle Jr., said prison officials are aware that Ancheta does not have a license. He said Ancheta practices only under the supervision of licensed physicians at the Huntsville prison hospital, although Hartley would not identify which doctor supervises Ancheta's work.

Ancheta could not be reached for comment.

Americans, Swede win physics Nobel

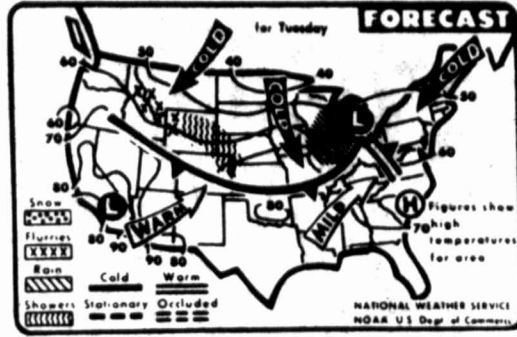

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Two American and a Swede won the 1981 Nobel Prize in Physics today for work with laser-beam studies of the atom. Another American shared the chemistry award with a Japanese professor for "milestone" theories on chemical reactions.

Professor Kai Siegbahn of Uppsala University, who followed up on research that won his father the same prize in 1924, got one half of the $180,000 award in physics. The other half was shared by professors Nicolaas Bloembergen of Harvard University and Arthur Schawlow of Stanford University.

The 1981 Nobel Prize in Chemistry was awarded to Roald Hoffmann of Cornell University and Kenichi Fukui of Japan's Kyoto University. They split the prize, awarded by the Swedish Academy of Sciences, of $180,000.

The awards underlined a continued American dominance in the Nobel science categories, particularly by researchers at Harvard. In addition to American winners today in physics and chemistry, Dr. Roger W. Sperry of California Institute of Technology and Harvard professor David Hubel shared this year's Nobel Prize in medicine with Torsten N. Wiesel of Sweden.

Weather

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecasts showers Tuesday for parts of Wyoming, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas and Colorado. Rain is also predicted for parts of Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Iowa. Flurries are forecast for parts of Idaho, Montana and Wyoming.

Mild temperatures throughout Texas

Clear to partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures were to dominate the Texas weather scene today after the end of torrential rains that left seven dead, hundreds homeless and caused millions of dollars in damage.

The torrential rains were swept out of the state by a cold front that brought clearing skies and cooler temperatures to the state.

A few showers lingered along the coast until early today when they moved offshore into the Gulf of Mexico.

Forecasts called for a few thunderstorms in the mountains of Southwest Texas, but most of the state was to have clear to partly cloudy skies and mild temperatures today.

It was to be clear over the northern half of the state and partly cloudy over the southern half. Highs were to be in the 70s except in the Panhandle where afternoon readings were to reach only into the 60s.

Skies were mostly clear around the state this morning with the only shower activity reported off the lower Texas coast.

Early morning temperatures were in the 40s and 50s with extremes ranging from the mid 30s in the Panhandle to the lower 60s along the lower coast.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy. Mild Wednesday, then turning cooler Thursday and Friday. Highs 70s and 80s Wednesday, cooling to the 50s north to 70s south Thursday and Friday. Lows in the 40s except 30s north Friday morning.

FORECAST
WEST TEXAS — Fair north and partly cloudy south through Tuesday. Widely scattered showers mainly west of the mountains today. Highs mid 60s to near 80. Lows lower 40s north to lower 50s south. Highs Tuesday 70s.

Dayan receives simple burial

NAHALAL, Israel (AP) — He called himself a farmer, a peasant of the land, and he was laid to rest among the Galilee fields he loved. But Moshe Dayan left a legacy of peace born out of the battles he helped win.

He asked for and received a simple funeral, this man who more than any symbolized the emerging nation of Israel and went deepest to the ancient roots of its warrior kings.

His plain timber casket was buried Sunday on a hilltop overlooking the fields and orchards of his boyhood home on this collective farm his parents helped establish and he helped defend.

There were no eulogies and no rifle fire over the freshly dug grave, but thousands came to mourn.

There were diplomats and politicians in suits, farmers in their khaki work clothes, soldiers under arms and white-robed Arabs among those who filed past the flag-draped casket to pay final respects.

Prime Minister Menachem Begin stood alone at silent attention to pay tribute to the man who as his foreign minister helped negotiate the peace with Egypt, the first, and so far, only Arab nation to recognize the Jewish state.

Butros Ghali, Egypt's minister of State for Foreign Affairs with whom Dayan worked closely on the 1979 peace treaty, led a large delegation. The United States was represented by Attorney General William French Smith.

Dayan died in the arms of his wife, Rachel, at suburban Tel Aviv hospital Friday at age 66 after suffering two heart attacks. He had battled cancer for several years and was in failing health.

Though he spent little time in Nahalal in later life, it was his wish to be buried in the settlement's pastoral Jezreel Valley cemetery. He told of having a recurring dream in recent years in which he climbed the hill to graveyard and came upon a cave where, exhausted, he found peace.

Socialists sweep Greek elections

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Andreas Papandreou and his left-leaning Panhellenic Socialist Movement swept the Greek elections on a platform calling for withdrawal from NATO, the closure of American bases and a referendum on continued membership in the European Common Market.

Premier George Rallis conceded the defeat of his conservative New Democracy Party Sunday evening as returns from the day's balloting signaled a radical shift in the nation's pro-Western policy.

With nearly two-thirds of the vote counted, the charismatic Papandreou's Panhellenic Socialist Movement — Pasok — had 47.7 percent of the popular vote, more than enough to control the 300-seat unicameral Parliament.

"We will build a socialist Greece," Papandreou, a Harvard-educated economist, told reporters in a victory news conference at his home in suburban Athens.

Papandreou, 62, is awaiting the formal mandate of President Constantine Caramanlis to form a new four-year government. He told reporters he could be ready to swear in a Cabinet by this evening.

"We are determined to carry out our program. You have given us a strong overall majority in Parliament so that we can unhesitatingly achieve our program," Papandreou said in a nationally broadcast victory speech.

However some analysts said security considerations might force the new government to re-evaluate its proposed withdrawal from the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance, and money might play a role in heading off the possible shutdown of U.S. military bases.

He told the Greek electorate one thing and his foreign listeners another, said one observer, who suggested that based on Papandreou's statements to foreigners the U.S. installations might be saved if Washington comes up with better terms for more military credits and modern equipment.

On the domestic front, Papandreou won support from women by promising complete equality, and from the young by pledging sweeping social and economic reforms.

Polish Communists oust leader Kania

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — Premier Wojciech Jaruzelski, taking over the ruling Communist Party after the ouster of Stanislaw Kania, warned the Solidarity labor movement that the regime's "possibilities for retreat have been exhausted."

The 200-member Central Committee that elected Jaruzelski Sunday demanded the independent trade union stop strikes, obey the law and help restore the nation's shattered economy. It also demanded renegotiation of worker rights won during last summer's strikes and threatened to impose martial law.

The 58-year-old Jaruzelski, who is also defense minister and a Soviet-trained army general, became the first Polish leader to run the military, the government and the Communist Party at the same time.

"We haven't sought confrontation," Jaruzelski said in his acceptance speech. "We have always avoided it. Today we are not striving for it either, but one thing is certain — our possibilities for retreat have been exhausted."

The water meter problem

A city, to operate efficiently, must have the proper tools and manpower to get the job done.

A story in Sunday's Herald gives every indication that the City of Big Spring is woefully behind in its ability to accurately assess charges for water usage.

City officials cite two reasons for the shortcoming: lack of manpower and broken down equipment.

Whenever a water meter is malfunctioning, the city is forced to assess a minimum charge because it does not know what the true charge should be. There is no telling how much city money is going down the drain, literally, because of the dead meters. (We noticed that one malfunctioning meter is at a car wash!)

IT'S POSSIBLE that the money to be gained by accurate meter readings would more than offset the cost of purchasing new meters or hiring additional personnel.

City officials say a new computer should solve some of the problems. But already it has created new problems. Many citizens who were used to having their bills paid by automatic bank draft are without that service now because the new computer hasn't been programmed to handle it yet. City officials say it will be "several months" before the deficiency is corrected. In the meantime, the city must spend additional money on postage to mail the bills.

THIS IS NOT AN editorial to criticize City Hall employees for their handling of the problem. Apparently they are doing the best they can with what they have. Rather, we encourage the city council and top city management to look at the problem critically and see what steps must be taken to restore efficiency to the system. A study should be made; recommendations should follow. If it takes more manpower, authorize it. If it takes better equipment, buy it. If it means speeding up the programming of a computer, full steam ahead. Water service is one of the primary responsibilities of a city, and the orderly operation of the water department should be a top priority.

Perhaps now would be a good time for the city to re-assess priorities. There may be other areas from which funds could be better spent solving the water meter problem.

Big Spring is a city on the grow; the last thing we need is an antiquated water billing system.

CITY FATHERS and city management should take this problem for what it is: a challenge and an opportunity. There's an old saying in management circles that bears repeating at this time. Its author is John Wesley Lord and it goes like this:

"Be thankful for your troubles identified with your job. They provide you with about half of your income. If it weren't for the things that go wrong, the difficult people you are required to deal with, the frustrations, the problems and the unpleasantness of your working day, someone could easily be found to handle your job for about half of what you are being paid.... The 'jobs' that command high respect — and usually correspondingly high salaries — are the ones that demand unusual accomplishment!"

Egypt officials involved in scandal

Jack Anderson

WASHINGTON — The sinister figure of fugitive ex-CIA agent Edwin Wilson lurks disturbingly in the background of a multimillion-dollar scandal involving the highest officials in Egypt today.

I have uncovered evidence that established direct links between the surreptitious award of a lucrative arms shipment contract and the men who are now the deputy prime minister and defense minister of Egypt. Another official deeply involved is the brother-in-law of Egypt's new president, Hosni Mubarak, who as vice president learned of the background deal but did nothing to stop it.

The company that was secretly given the exclusive contract to ship billions of dollars' worth of U.S. arms to Egypt was called Tersam. It is ostensibly headed by an Egyptian businessman named Hassan Salem.

IN A TELEPHONE interview with my associate, Indy Badwar and Dale Van Atta, Salem acknowledged that an Abu Dhabi merchant, Ali Shorafa, helped create Tersam. Shorafa happens to be a Palestinian, and he continues to have a hidden interest in the firm.

The tie to Wilson is through a former CIA official, Thomas Clines, who was deputy director of covert operations before his retirement in October 1978. Salem turned to Clines when Tersam's secret contract appeared to be in trouble; the Pentagon considered the company totally unqualified to handle the arms shipments.

Salem needed an American with good Washington connections, and Clines filled the bill. He was an old CIA buddy of Wilson; the two have been linked with companies secretly owned by the agency. At the time Salem came along looking for an American partner, Clines was already running a company with financial backing from his friend Wilson.

The solution to Tersam's difficulties was twofold: The company was reorganized into the Egyptian American Transport Services Co., with Clines as a 49 percent owner. Then the firm's competitors for the juicy shipping contract were to be bought off or forced out of the running.

The experience of the last potential rival to Egyptian American Transport bordered on the melodramatic. It took place in September 1979 in a suite at the ritzy Madison Hotel in Washington.

THE BUSINESSMAN was confronted by Clines, who began bragging about his connections in the CIA and elsewhere. The visitor was impressed by the presence of armed guards and the Egyptian military attaché, Gen. Abu Ghazala, who is now defense minister.

After Clines and the Egyptians got him to agree to a phony subcontract in return for his silence, the competitor was taken to a nearby room, where more armed guards ushered him into the presence of the then-minister of defense, Gen. Kamal Hassan Ali, now deputy prime minister.

Ali asked the businessman if he was satisfied with the under-the-table deal. The competitor assured him he was, though ultimately the payoff was never consummated.

There is another mysterious link between the high Egyptian officials and Wilson, who jumped bail on charges of smuggling explosives to Libya and is now hiding out in Tripoli under the protection of desert dictator Muammar Qaddafi. Both Ali's and Ghazala's names were found in notes confiscated from a former Wilson mercenary arrested for the attempted assassination last year of a dissident Libyan student in Colorado.

The suspect is known to have talked with Wilson before the Colorado shooting, and investigators believe the notes were made at that time. The two Egyptian officials' names were misspelled but unmistakable. In one significant reference to Ali, the notes say, "Defense Minister often finishes up his official business in a few days, and then takes time to clean up personal business at (Egyptian American Transport)."

This astonishing notation supports evidence I have already reported that links Ali and Ghazala personally to the secret arms shipment deal.

It's not surprising that Wilson would know these men. For years, his job in the CIA was to infiltrate international shipping associations and learn all he could about arms shipments. His contacts throughout the Middle East were extensive, and he has maintained them since leaving the agency.

A final note on Wilson: The CIA denies my report that the renegade spy met in Rome last July with an agency official. But my sources insist that the CIA desperately wants to know what sensitive operations Wilson might reveal if he is brought back to face the charges against him. As one source said enigmatically, the agency is most afraid he'll blow the whistle on "CIA involvement in deaths in the Middle East which he is aware of — and CIA activities in Egypt."

SOMETHING FISHY: Auditors for the General Accounting Office have detected a suspicious odor in the Army Engineers' purchase of an Idaho trout hatchery for $3.4 million. The hatchery was bought last March to replace trout killed off by dam construction on the Lower Snake River. But GAO investigators concluded that the Corps of Engineers paid more than three times the hatchery's true value.

According to the GAO, the Army apparently accepted the hatchery owner's figures without checking them out. A much larger hatchery nearby sold recently for half what the government paid for the Crystal Springs hatchery — and the government is planning to spend an additional $9.4 million to renovate the facility so it can produce steelhead trout instead of rainbows. The GAO concluded that the Army Engineers could probably have put more steelheads in the river at less cost by buying them from commercial sources.

Taxpayer is fed up

Dear Editor: By what right has the state, local or federal government got to force me to pay extra tax for bilingual education? By what law can this be done? Why couldn't the people have voted on this issue? Where in the constitution is this legal? When did it become legal to take from "A" and give to "B"? If you know, please send the name of the case and the citation to me, so I can look it up and read about it myself, because I can find none!

People now work from January to June to pay taxes. This figure is probably more because of all the "hidden taxes" we pay without knowing it.

If our local school board had any guts they would tell these people in Austin and Washington to take their bilingual program and "shove it!" Our country is going like the story of the "Wild Pigs."

Around the rim Making it happen

Bob Carpenter

I was talking on the phone with a friend of mine the other day about the general depression we were feeling in our lives. We were both running on empty and feeling a bit older it seemed, but my friend was really down.

I WAS CONCERNED that my friend, at age 26, was talking about giving up the ghost, but he certainly was among the majority of my friends who are feeling burned out and depressed of late.

too late for them to do anything about their lives. I can't understand why no one is willing to take a risk anymore or even to dream about taking a risk. I can't agree with my friend when he said there is no room for dreaming.

Singer-songwriter Bruce Springsteen wrote a song called "Racing in the Streets" which divides the dreamers from the living-dead and tells of those of us that go a step further to dream and to act on those dreams.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: I am 44 years old and recently was hospitalized with a mild case of pancreatitis. The stomach pain lasted only a day. Now I am to remain on a low fat, bland diet for a few weeks. My doctor did say, however, that I should never touch another drop of alcohol. I had not had any alcohol for several weeks before the attack and my normal alcohol intake consisted only of an average of six or seven bottles of beer a week. Every day I get letters from people who are living illustrations of those verses. Perhaps they have disobeyed God's laws about sexual morality or they have sought their own pleasures rather than God's will and are now caught in the grip of some harmful habit. But whatever the problem, it has come about because they have disobeyed God and are now paying the price.

PTA celebrates 72nd birthday

Texas PTA is 72 years old today, and Big Spring's Parent-Teacher Association isn't far behind, according to the Big Spring PTA Council.

In fact, there may have been groups like the PTA at work in Big Spring before the Oct. 19, 1909 date when representatives of 25 Mother's Clubs met in Dallas to organize a State Congress of Mothers.

The Decade of Development edition of the Big Spring Herald, published April 26, 1936, reported that as far back as any woman in Big Spring can remember, there was some sort of a mother's organization that worked for the betterment of the area school.

The Mother's Club later became the Home and School Club, which eventually reorganized itself as the Parent-Teacher Association. The association affiliated with the state and national PTAs in 1926.

The first president of the old Home and School Club was Mrs. S.A. Penix.

Superintendent W.H. Brasher was head of the school system when that club was organized. The club helped provide materials for the schools that the system couldn't buy.

When the Big Spring PTA was organized in 1926, the area schools were Big Spring High School, North Ward, Central Ward and South Ward. Each of the schools had a PTA.

In 1934 the PTA conducted a tuberculosis survey, reported the Herald's Decade of Development edition.

Some presidents of the early Big Spring PTA period were Mrs. B. Reagan, Mrs. J.C. Douglass, Mrs. Albert M. Fisher, Mrs. Charles Koberg, Mrs. Wayne Rice and Mrs. Hayes Strippling.

From its small beginning in October 1909, Texas PTA has grown to a statewide force of 728,000, and Big Spring PTAs have swelled to a membership of nearly 2,000 working currently in five of Big Spring's ten schools.

'Protective Parenting' will be Auxiliary topic

A leading area and national expert on child abuse will speak on "Protective Parenting" Wednesday in a program sponsored by the Permian Basin Medical Society Auxiliary.

Dr. Edgar O. Ledbetter, chairman of the Department of Pediatrics of the Texas Tech University School of Medicine, will speak at 10 a.m. Wednesday in the Fireplace Room at the Veterans Administration Hospital.

Local school administrators and staff, PTA and church members, and anyone interested in child welfare is invited to attend, according to Mrs. Bernard Zilberg, auxiliary president.

"The incidence of infanticide, child abuse and neglect, rape, incest, and adolescent murder and suicide vividly portrays the many parenting failures," says Dr. Ledbetter.

A starting place for parents would be establishing a lifelong friendship with their children," according to Ledbetter, "and in so doing to treat him/her with the kindness and respect that every child deserves."

The father of seven children, Ledbetter is current president of the board of the West Texas Children's Foundation and also a member of the South Plains Child Abuse Advisory Committee.

The pediatrician has made numerous presentations on child abuse to area and national conferences; and he has authored many articles and television-video productions.

While in the military service, Ledbetter was co-participant in a $600,000 Office of Child Development grant for provision of services to military families facing problems of child abuse-neglect.

Ledbetter also will meet with local physicians and Howard College nursing students in two other programs Wednesday.

Hyperion Club begins programs on the American humanities

The 1905 Hyperion Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Aubry Stokes to begin this year's course of study entitled "Kaleidoscope of American Humanities." The study is a concentration of American art, music, drama, literature, humor, and their origins and effects.

The opening program in the study was on music. Mary Anderson, Midland, presented a history and technical description of the oldest stringed instrument, the harp. She then performed several selections on the instrument.

Mrs. D.O. Gray, president, presided at the business meeting. The next meeting, with a program on American dance presented by Mrs. Ora Burson, dance instructor, will be Nov. 19.

For the Record

In Sunday's edition of The Herald, it was incorrectly stated that the wedding of Tonya Shortes and Phillip Schumpert will take place Nov. 7. The correct date of the wedding is Nov. 14.

Business major is selected head cheerleader

Robin Regail Robinette has been selected to represent the Howard County College District as the Howard College Hawks and Hawk Queens head cheerleader, announced Cheri Sparks, associate vice president for Student Life of the district. Robin is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D.K. Robinette, Lamesa.

A graduate of Klondike High School, Robin participated in school activities such as Future Homemakers of America, Beta Club, choir and student council. She was a member of Acteens. Also, Robin was selected FFA Sweetheart, Football Sweetheart, was runner-up to Miss Klondike High School, and was selected to Who's Who in Music.

Planning to major in business at HC, Robin enjoys showing quarterhorses, sewing, singing, playing racquetball, tennis and basketball.

Robin brings with her seven years of cheerleading experience. Ann Applegate, director of Student activities, will sponsor the cheerleading squad.

FCA to sponsor Bike-athon

Big Spring High School Fellowship of Christian Athletes is sponsoring a Bike-athon Oct. 25 from 2-5 p.m. at the Industrial Park. Big Spring High School athletes are riding for donations per mile. Money raised will help pay for national membership, a banquet at the end of the school year and to send FCA members to camps.

To sponsor a biker, contact the Girls' Athletic Department at BSHS and leave your name, address, phone number and the amount you wish to donate, and someone will contact you.

Dear Abby

Woman Wants Full Loaf, Not Man's Proffered Half

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 60-year-old, attractive, marriage-minded widow who's been dating a 65-year-old, well-to-do, fun-loving widower. He recently moved into my building, and every unattached woman in the building is after him. He propositioned me once in a cute way, saying, "What's another slice off a loaf of bread that's already been cut?" I made it plain that I wasn't interested in any kind of relationship that didn't include marriage. He insists that marriage is not in his plans.

Now he has a new approach. He told me that his urologist told him that men who are not sexually active are 100 times more susceptible to cancer of the prostate than men who have sex regularly. Is this true, or do you think he's just trying to get me into bed?

LAUDERDALE LIBRA

DEAR LIBRA: It's not true. He's looking for a treat as well as a treatment. Tell him you're sorry, but you can't practice medicine without a license — a marriage license, that is.

DEAR ABBY: I have taken singing lessons and am told that I have a lovely voice. I love to sing and am frequently asked to sing at weddings. The problem is that many people I know only slightly (and some strangers) ask me to sing for free.

People don't realize that the soloist must meet with the church organist several times to practice, and gasoline costs money. Also, I have to look nice, which means getting my hair done and my dress dry-cleaned or even buying a new one.

On occasion I've been requested to sing certain songs for which I must buy the sheet music. Nobody seems to take this into consideration.

Abby, when I'm invited to sing at a wedding, I sometimes receive an invitation for the dinner and reception. Do I have to bring a gift? Or can my services be considered my "gift"? Last week I sang at a Catholic wedding and was given $30, which I was delighted to get. (I never know whether I am going to get paid or not.)

Please print this with a few letters for brides as well as musicians.

FROM MISSOURI

DEAR FROM: When you are asked to sing at the wedding of a friend, bring a gift. (Instead of paying you, they should present you with a gift for your services.)

When you are asked to sing at the wedding of a stranger, state your fee. If you're invited to the dinner and reception, bring a small gift as a token. Professionals do not sing for their supper.

Getting married? Whether you want a formal church wedding or a simple, "do-your-own-thing" ceremony, get Abby's new booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed, stamped (35 cents) envelope to: Abby's Wedding Booklet, 12060 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

Hit the slopes, but not too hard, says specialist

COLLEGE STATION — Make your ski-trip dreams come true this winter and hit the slopes—but not too hard—warns Mary Ann Shirer, a health education specialist. Dr. Shirer is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Thousands of Texans migrate north to the mountains each year for a snow-skiing adventure, but without proper equipment and instruction, a ski trip can become a misadventure. An estimated $3,000 led to hospital emergency rooms in 1977. Of all their injuries those to the lower leg account for approximately half. Here are a few suggestions for a safe and fun skiing vacation.

Boots and bindings are the most critical components of your ski wear. When you are buying or renting boots, be certain that they are not too tight, since good circulation to your toes is a "must" for preventing frostbite. Test the boots' comfort by walking around the store for at least 15 minutes.

Wear colored goggles or sunglasses to protect your eyes from the biting wind and the bright sun's reflection off the snow.

Do not tackle a slope beyond your capabilities. Each slope should be adequately marked with color-coded signs indicating the level of difficulty of each slope. Check with an instructor or ski patrol if you are not familiar with the meaning of the signs.

Any beginning skier would do well to take a lesson from an instructor.

Gold Star chapter elects 1982 officers

The Gold Star Mothers Chapter met recently in the home of Mrs. Herbert Smith, 901 Scurry, and elected officers for 1982. These officers are Mrs. Herbert Smith, president; Mrs. A.W. Moody, 1st vice president; Mrs. S.R. Nobles, 2nd vice president; Mrs. Truett Thomas, chaplain; Mrs. E.L. Perkins, secretary; Mrs. T.D. Peacock, treasurer; Mrs. Arthur Hernandez, historian; and Mrs. Domingo Abreo, Americanism chairman.

The community service report showed that 12 trays of food and six vases of flowers were given to friends and shut-ins during the month of September. Also, three memorials to charity organizations and eight visits to the nursing homes were reported.

Mrs. Perkins, hospital chairman, reported that 40 patients were served refreshments at the Veterans Administration Hospital Sept. 16.

The next meeting, in which the 1982 officers will be installed, will be Nov. 10.

Yorktown ceremony ends as Reagan affirms America's role

YORKTOWN, Va. (AP) — President Reagan today affirmed the United States as a "beacon of freedom" shining on totalitarian nations as he and President Francois Mitterrand of France celebrated their countries' victory at Yorktown, which ended the Revolutionary War 200 years ago.

"Our Revolution was won by and for all who cherish the timeless and universal rights of man," Reagan told celebrants who gathered on the battlefield where George Washington finally defeated the British on Oct. 19, 1781.

"We have come to this field to celebrate the triumph of an idea," Reagan said.

The dramatic finale of the four-day Yorktown commemoration ended six years of Bicentennial celebrations that began in the Massachusetts communities of Lexington and Concord in 1975 and peaked on Independence Day, 1976, the 200th birthday of the Declaration of Independence.

It was Yorktown in '81, however, that fulfilled the promise of Philadelphia in '76, and some 175,000 American came here to see the celebration end on a high note of fun and prayerful remembrance.

"The surrender at Yorktown was a victory for the right of self-determination," Reagan said. "It was and is the affirmation that freedom will eventually triumph over tyranny. It is and always will be a warning to those who would usurp the rights of others: time will find them beaten.

"The beacon of freedom shines here for all who will see, inspiring free men and captives alike, and no wall, no curtain nor totalitarian state can shut it out."

Reagan also took advantage of the historic occasion to promote his own political program, attacking big government and opponents of his defense spending plans.

"The men and boys who fought on this field somehow understood that government must be close to the people and responsive to them," he said. "Today, in our country, those concepts are threatened by government's bloated size and the distortion of its true functions."

"Our people are struggling under a punishing tax burden many times heavier than that which ignited our first rebellion," Reagan said.

"Regulations that inhibit our growth and prosperity would be incomprehensible to the colonists who revolted because of the Stamp Act."

Mitterrand joined Reagan in commemorating the oldest alliance in American history. Britain, the enemy of 200 years ago, was represented and pledged the three nations "in everlasting friendship to remain."

The final pageantry featured a grand parade of today's finest fighting forces and costumed copies of the 18th century troops who fought here.

Top oyster shucker is named

LEONARDTOWN, Md. (AP) — Aw shucks, Ruth Smith won again. For the third straight year, Mrs. Smith claimed title Sunday as the nation's premier oyster shucker. And it looks as if it's turning into a real family affair: Her brother, for the second year, was runner-up in the annual contest. "It's no secret, just practice and concentration," the winner of the U.S. National Oyster Shucking Championship here said of her victory at the 18th Annual St. Mary's County Oyster Festival. Mrs. Smith repeated as champ by shucking 24 oysters in 3 minutes, 51 seconds. Her brother, Cornelius Mackall of Lusby, came in at 4:08. The champ, who placed third in the International Oyster Shucking Championship last year in Galway, Ireland, is to travel there to compete again in the worldwide competition next September.

Artificial blood is used to save two lives

NEW YORK (AP) — Artificial blood has been tested on humans for the first time in this country and enabled five Jehovah's Witnesses who refused regular transfusions on religious grounds to stay alive in surgery, a researcher reported today. Dr. Kevin Tremper of the University of California at Los Angeles said the tests prove the artificial blood, a milky chemical soup called Fluosol, can carry oxygen and deliver it where it is needed. The main ingredient is perfluorodecalin, a chemical cousin to the non-stick coating used on kitchen pans. "It does not replace blood, but it is a temporary emergency replacement when red blood cells are not available," Tremper said in a telephone interview last week. The research was reported today at a meeting of the American Society of Anesthesiologists in New Orleans. The patients were all Jehovah's Witnesses who refused human blood transfusions on religious grounds. Last week, Dr. Stephen Gould of the University of Chicago reported at the meeting of the American College of Surgeons in San Francisco that he had kept baboons alive with the artificial blood. Fluosol can be frozen, Tremper said, and it should be possible to thaw it in a microwave oven and deliver it within a few minutes. It can take 20 minutes to prepare human blood for emergency transfusion, he said. The artificial blood might also be used to treat carbon monoxide poisoning and to treat patients whose arteries or veins have become smaller because of disease.

Developing countries to call for new world economic order

CANCUN, Mexico (AP) — Bangladesh is desperately poor and needs foreign food aid. The Philippines is growing rapidly and seeks larger export markets. Saudi Arabia is rolling in oil money but wants to diversify its economy.

Despite vastly different needs and stages of development, these and other Third World countries are bringing a common program to the Cancun summit here this week: They want a new international economic order.

Developing countries, represented as the south in the so-called north-south dialogue, say the current structure of world economic relations is unfair to them and in the long run, not even beneficial to the rich countries of the north.

They say that because the richest nations set the rules of the game, the poor are condemned to export their raw materials cheaply and import increasingly expensive finished products from the industrialized states.

They want to redress this imbalance with a set of new rules that would include international agreements to protect commodity prices, changes in the world monetary system and new rules to govern the transfer of technology.

If developing countries are given better opportunities, they say, their economies will expand and rich countries will benefit from larger markets for their exports.

President Reagan set the tone for the likely U.S. response to Third World demands in a speech last week to the World Affairs Council in Philadelphia. He said critics "flirt with fantasy" when they suggest the international economic system is unfair.

He also reaffirmed his administration's belief that private investment is the key tool for developing the underdeveloped world. The developing nations hope to reach a breakthrough on global negotiations on trade and money issues at the two-day summit opening here Thursday.

Mexican organizers of the conference say the purpose of Cancun is not to negotiate the complex disputes but to provide "political impetus" for lower-level negotiations that the poor nations hope will begin next year.

Leaders from 22 nations are attending the summit, including Reagan and leaders of seven other industrialized nations — Britain, Japan, West Germany, France, Canada, Sweden and Austria.

The developing nations participating are Algeria, Bangladesh, Brazil, China, Guyana, India, Ivory Coast, Mexico, Nigeria, Philippines, Saudi Arabia, Tanzania, Venezuela and Yugoslavia.

Meanwhile, in Peking, Chinese Premier Zhao Ziyang chided the Soviet Union over its "negative" attitude toward the Cancun summit, which Moscow refused to attend.

Zhao said on Mexican television that "a superpower which keeps on styling itself the 'natural ally' of the Third World countries has adopted a very negative and indifferent attitude toward the meeting for which the Third World countries show so much concern and attention. Does this not provide food for thought?"

Budget 'juggling' predicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the White House saying the next move is up to Congress, Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. is predicting "a lot of juggling" in President Reagan's latest budget plans.

A growing possibility, sources said, is more selective tax increases and fewer budget cuts than Reagan has proposed.

Baker met Sunday at the White House with presidential counselor Edwin Meese III, chief of staff James A. Baker III and budget director David A. Stockman to discuss mounting opposition to Reagan's package.

Baker refused to reveal details of the session but was expected to have an announcement today on how Senate Republicans intend to proceed.

"There is going to be a lot of juggling," the Tennessee Republican said Sunday, in Reagan's call for $3 billion in new tax revenues and $13 billion in extra budget cuts for the fiscal year that started this month.

Chief White House spokesman David Gergen, with Reagan in Williamsburg, Va., for today's bicentennial celebration of the French-American victory at Yorktown 200 years ago, said no final decisions on GOP budget strategy were reached Sunday.

And deputy White House press secretary Larry Speakes, also with the presidential party, added, "They (top White House officials) are having continuing discussions with (Senator) Baker and the leadership. We are listening and suggesting that Congress come up with something if they disagree with us. The ball's in their court."

Baker insisted the administration is not wavering in its commitment to cut spending by $100 billion over the next three years to balance the budget and to save $16 billion this year to hold the 1982 deficit to $43.1 billion.

But there has been increasing speculation that the deficit will exceed Reagan's goal. And the president acknowledged Sunday for the first time that the nation is in at least a mild recession, which could drain government revenues.

Pokes regain pride vs. Rams

IRVING, Texas (AP) - There's nothing like a week of scathing derision by Coach Tom Landry to buck up the Dallas Cowboys.

Give Landry a 45-14 beating like the Cowboys took from San Francisco last week and he'll give you a victory the next week.

Such is the Cowboys' bounce-back history and it proved true again Sunday night as Dallas took out the Los Angeles Rams 29-17 to get back into the National Conference Eastern Division title picture.

Dallas upped its ledger to 5-2 just a game behind the Philadelphia Eagles who tumbled from the unbeaten ranks 35-23 to Minnesota.

The Rams dropped to 4-3 in a tie with Atlanta a game behind the 49ers in the NFC West.

Landry was strictly on a "last name" basis with his team this week, reminding them they had grown complacent.

Ram Coach Ray Malavasi could see it coming.

"The Cowboys played a real good game and I knew they would, especially after last week's game," he said. "They are professionals and have a lot of pride."

Tony Dorsett rushed for 159 yards on 26 carries, including a 44-yard touchdown run, and quarterback Danny White threw the longest touchdown pass of his career, a 63-yarder to Tony Hill.

"The team aspect was so important for this game," said Landry, who felt the Cowboys were getting too selfish about individual statistics. "I thought every area of our game was hustling...really working hard."

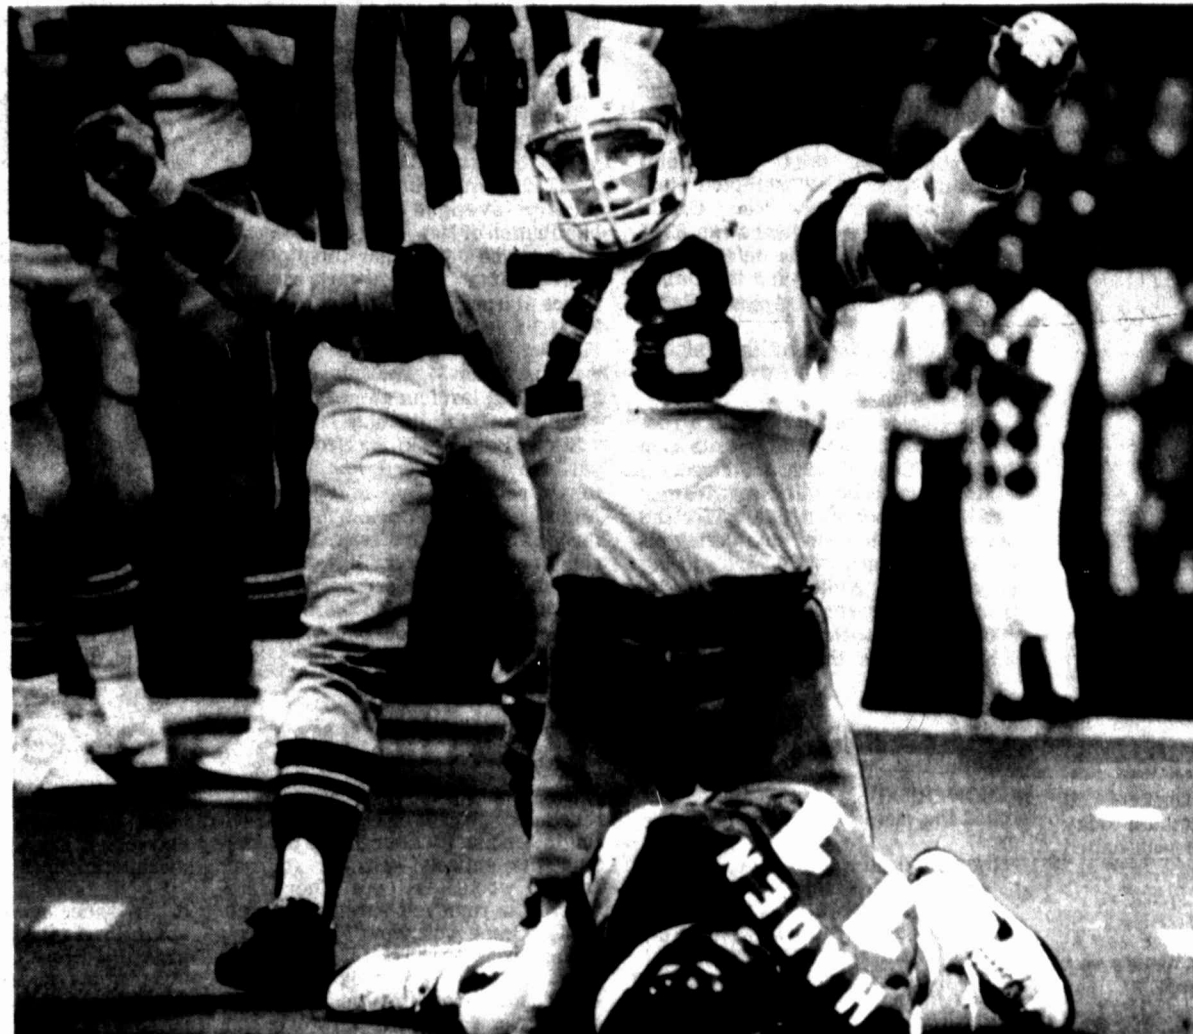

Strong safety Charlie Waters, the wily 13-year veteran of the team, said "You hate to embarrass yourself in front of your family, friends, and coaches... we had a lot to prove... we are not there yet, but we showed good intensity."

The Cowboys intercepted three passes, and sacked Ram quarterback Pat Haden four times.

Haden could retaliate only with a 43-yard third quarter scoring pass to Drew Hill.

The Cowboys built a 26-10 halftime lead on Ron Springs' one-yard run, Rafael Septien's 41-yard field goal, a safety when Harvey Martin tackled Haden in the Ram end zone, Dorsett's cross-country touchdown run.

Wendell Tyler's two-yard scoring run and Frank Corral's 40-yard field goal was all of the Ram first half scoring.

A FINISHING TOUCH ... Dallas Cowboy defensive lineman John Dutton (78) celebrates his sack of Los Angeles' Pat Haden during fourth quarter action in the Cowboys 29-17 win. This sack deep in Ram territory forced a punt.

Grogan returns to drill Oilers

FOXBOROUGH, Mass. (AP) - Steve Grogan had played about as often as New England's defense had stopped the run - very infrequently.

Those were two big questions as the Patriots faced a major test Sunday. But the team had the right answers and whipped the mistake-prone Houston Oilers 38-10 in an National Football League game.

Houston, 4-3, had a two-game winning streak broken and fell out of a first place tie in the American Conference Central Division. New England climbed to 2-5 as Grogan threw for two touchdowns and ran for a third, and the defense, last in the NFL in stopping the run, allowed only 120 rushing yards.

Grogan was benched after starting the season's first two games, both losses. He didn't win his starting job back from Matt Cavanaugh until he threw for 330 yards in the second half in a 28-24 loss eight days ago to the New York Jets.

"The rest paid off, not only physically but mentally. I learned to relax a bit and not worry," said Grogan, who had a 76-game starting streak snapped last season by knee problems.

"I got my perspective back in focus. Now I know the worst thing that can happen is that they can bench me, and I know I can live there now."

Grogan got excellent protection and completed 11 of 19 passes for 164 yards and one interception Sunday. He was the force behind a third-quarter eruption in which he sandwiched scoring strikes of 42 yards to Stanley Morgan and 10 yards to Andy Johnson around a 21-yard field goal by John Smith.

That erased the Oilers' 10-7 halftime edge. The Patriots led 24-10 into the fourth quarter and scored on touchdown runs of 15 yards by Vagas Ferguson and 24 yards by Grogan.

"His job speaks for itself. It was a fine job, and he put 38 points on the board," Patriots Coach Ron Erhardt said of Grogan. "Our offense controlled the ball."

NFL rushing leader Earl Campbell had chugged for 368 yards in his previous two games but was held to 86 yards in 27 carries Sunday.

"They did a really good job defensively," said Houston quarterback Ken Stabler. "The key to stopping us is stopping our first-down run, and they did that very well."

The Oilers ran 18 times on first down and gained 41 yards.

Super Bowl teams end streaks

NFL Roundup

Good things...and bad things...eventually come to an end. And in the seventh week of the National Football League season, last year's Super Bowl teams stopped streaking.

For the Philadelphia Eagles, week No.7 meant their first loss, a 35-23 decision to the Minnesota Vikings, a team on a streak of its own with five straight victories.

For the Oakland Raiders, the defending NFL champions, week No.7 was a happier time. Not only did the Raiders end a three-week scoreless streak, they escaped with a hairy and much-needed 18-16 victory against Tampa Bay.

The "Pride and Poise" gang from Oakland had endured the embarrassment of becoming the first team in over 30 years to get shut out three weeks in a row. At the New York Yankees-Oakland A's baseball game Thursday night, a fan held up a banner, "Where's Jim Plunkett? We need a shutout."

Plunkett, the most valuable player in January's Super Bowl, was benched Sunday in favor of Marc Wilson, who did not distinguish himself, but nonetheless helped get the Raiders get on the board.

Early on, Oakland ended any thoughts of making it a full month without a point when Chris Bahr connected on a 51-yard field goal 3:03 into the first quarter.

The Raiders added a safety and a touchdown in the first quarter but needed a 44-yard field goal by Bahr with 2:21 left in the game for the victory after Tampa Bay came back from a 15-0 deficit. But Oakland couldn't rest easy until Ted Hendricks blocked his NFL record 22nd kick on Bill Capece's 30-yard field goal attempt with eight seconds remaining.

In other NFL action, the Cincinnati Bengals downed the Pittsburgh Steelers 34-7. The New York Jets trounced the Buffalo Bills 33-14; the New England Patriots knocked off the Houston Oilers 38-10; the Cleveland Browns edged the New Orleans Saints

Expos and Los Angeles Dodgers will return to the Olympic Stadium today to play the game which was called after several hours of rain.

Yankees Winfield ready for anyone

NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Winfield, the New York Yankees' $21 million man, had reservations about picking an opponent for his club's 33rd World Series appearance.

"You never want to wake up the opposition," he said.

Later, he added, "Let's just say that whoever we play, it'll be a good matchup, but I'd rather be on this team."

"You've always got to be careful how you word this; you don't want to give the other team anything to hang on the locker room wall," the Yankees left fielder said.

Winfield, acquired as a free agent from San Diego and signed to a long-term contract worth an estimated $21.3 million, was just one of Yankees who was asked Sunday whether he'd rather play Los Angeles or Montreal in the World Series.

The Yankees expected to know which team they would be playing Sunday night, but the Dodgers-Expos game at Montreal was rained out and rescheduled for Monday.

"With the hitting we have, and the pitching we have," Winfield said, "we can stop just about anybody from scoring and score on anybody at any given time."

The theory was that the Yankees would rather face Montreal, with its predominantly right-handed pitching, than Los Angeles, which has two fine left-handers in Fernando Valenzuela and Jerry Reuss.

"With two switch hitters in our lineup (Jerry Mumphrey and Larry Milbourne), we're not that bad off against left-handers, but we are a better-hitting club against right-handers," Yankees Manager Bob Lemon said.

Against left-handed pitching, the Yankees actually would have only two left-handed hitters in the lineup, Graig Nettles and Reggie Jackson, Lemon said, while acknowledging that both Mumphrey and Milbourne are better left-handed hitters than they are right-handed.

During the playoffs, Lemon moved the right-handed hitting Willie Randolph from the leadoff spot to ninth spot. Randolph broke out of a slump with a homer in the deciding game of the American League Championship Series against Oakland, and he could be moved back into the leadoff spot against left-handers, Lemon said.

Since this World Series will be played without the designated hitter, that also left Lemon with another decision — what to do with platooned DH's Lou Piniella, a right-handed hitter, and Oscar Gamble, a lefty. Piniella is considered one of the best professional hitters in baseball, and Gamble hit 10 homers during the season.

Lemon also announced that his starting pitcher for Game One of the Series would be left-hander Ron Guidry, followed by Tommy John, Dave Righetti and Rick Reuschel, "no matter who we play."

20-17; the Atlanta Falcons swarmed all over the St. Louis Cardinals 41-20.

The San Francisco 49ers topped the Green Bay Packers 13-3; the San Diego Chargers embarrassed the Baltimore Colts 43-14; the Miami Dolphins took the Washington Redskins 13-10; the New York Giants whipped the Seattle Seahawks 32-0; the Kansas City Chiefs defeated the Denver Broncos 28-14 and the Dallas Cowboys beat the Los Angeles Rams 29-17.

The Detroit Lions host the Chicago Bears tonight at the Silverdome in Pontiac, Mich.

The Eagles simply ran into a red-hot Minnesota club that now sits atop the NFC Central with a 5-2 record. Vikings quarterback Tommy Kramer fired four touchdown passes for the second week in a row, completing 24-of-46 for 257 yards. A 50-yard scoring play to Sammy White highlighted a 21-point second quarter for Minnesota.

Bengals 34, Steelers 7
Ken Anderson threw for 346 yards and a pair of touchdowns, including a 73-yarder to David Verser, as the Bengals took over first place in the AFC Central with a 5-2 record. The loss snapped a four-game winning streak by Pittsburgh, which managed just 210 yards of offense. Cincinnati racked up 494 yards of offense.

Jets 33, Bills 14

Bobby Jones scooped up teammate Mike Augustyniak's fumble and ran 61 yards for a touchdown to climax the Jets' 21-point third quarter. The victory avenged the Bills 31-0 humiliation of New York in the season opener. The Jets' other third period scores came on a 29-yard run by Bruce Harper and a 19-yard Richard Todd to Jerome Barkum TD pass. Buffalo quarterback Joe Ferguson was just 15-for-34. The Jets, 3-3-1, are 3-0-1 in their last four games.

Falcons 41, Cardinals 20
Steve Bartkowski passed for 288 yards and four touchdowns, two each to Alfred Jenkins and William Andrews, as Atlanta, 4-3, stopped a three-game losing streak. Andrews caught eight passes for 132 yards and took fourth quarter screen passes 18 and 70 yards for touchdowns. St. Louis, 2-5, has been blown out two weeks in a row after defeating Dallas.

Giants 32, Seahawks 0
Joe Danelo kicked a club record six field goals, including a 54-yarder, and Rob Carpenter ran for 116 yards and a touchdown as the Giants, 4-3, went over .500 this late in the season for the first time since 1978. The Giants are the only team in the NFL to give up less than 100 points.

49ers 13, Packers 3
Johnny Davis plunged 1 yard for the go-ahead touchdown late in the third quarter and Rex Werschling kicked two field goals in the 49ers fourth straight victory, which, combined with the Rams loss in Dallas, gives the 49ers sole possession of first place in the NFC West. San Francisco held Packers wide receivers James Lofton and John Jefferson to a combined four catches for 60 yards. Green Bay quarterback Lynn Dickey suffered a jammed neck late in the third quarter and was replaced by David Whitehurst.

Dolphins 13, Redskins 10
Rookie fullback Andra Franklin scored from 1 yard out and Uwe von Schamann kicked a pair of field goals, including the game-winner with 9:39 left. The victory enabled the Dolphins, 5-1-1, to extend their lead over the Bills in the AFC East to 1½ games after Miami lost to Buffalo last week.

Browns 20, Saints 17
Benny Ricardo missed a 37-yard field goal with 1:11 remaining to enable the Browns to improve to 3-4. Rookie George Rogers stunned the Browns defense with a 79-yard TD run and New Orleans, 1-6, got its other touchdown when Wayne Wilson went eight yards with a fake field goal. Mike Pruitt's 1-yard fourth-quarter plunge was the difference for Cleveland.

Chiefs 28, Broncos 14
Whitney Paul returned a fumble 47 yards for one TD and rookie Joe Delaney raced 82 yards for another as the Chiefs tied the Broncos and Chargers for the AFC lead at 5-2. Denver quarterback Craig Morton threw for 342 yards. Delaney, who rushed for 149 yards, became the first Chiefs back to gain 100 yards in three straight games.

Chargers 43, Colts 14
Dan Fouts passed for 298 yards and three touchdowns. Chuck Muncie scored twice on runs of 3 yards and John Cappelletti scored on a 12-yard pass and 1-yard run. It was the sixth straight loss for Baltimore, whose quarterback, Bert Jones, was sacked six times.

Weather conditions move NL finals back

MONTREAL (AP) — Baseball rolled the dice and it came up snake eyes.

Remember the old adage. It's not nice to fool with Mother Nature.

Canada is lovely at this time of the year — for hockey, not baseball. But, because of the player strike, baseball insisted on an elongated schedule this season and a new tier of playoffs that will carry the World Series to the threshold of Halloween — or, if of Ma Nature gets annoyed again, perhaps even Election Day.

Two years ago, when the climate got a little winterish for a normally scheduled World Series between Baltimore and Pittsburgh, the players took the entirely sensible step of donning woolen ski caps. They were ordered to remove them. Bad image for The Game, you know.

There were no reports of pneumonia following the Pirate-Oriole chiller, but that could change this year. The ski parkas were out in full view over the weekend in Montreal and it was appropriate garb. The weather was... well, you'd call it chilly if you were an optimist or downright cold if you were a realist. That was for Friday night. For Sunday, the weatherman delivered some Canadian dew, masquerading as steady rain.

So, the National League pennant had to be decided today. It was a vital game for Los Angeles and only the most important one in the history of Montreal's franchise. The dress code dictated gloves and scarves. And a fur hat would have been entirely appropriate — for all three games.

Understand that this is only the beginning. The World Series is scheduled to begin Tuesday night in

New York. Granted, it does not have to cope with climate quite as extreme as Montreal's, but the Big Apple's October evenings aren't exactly balmy. A seven-game Series would produce four night games in New York — another dice roll for baseball.

It is somehow sweet justice that in its most embarrassing season, baseball has had to cope with the climatical vagaries of Montreal and the North country. This is already the most unique season in history. What more perfect explanation point for this sorry year?

East powers college tops

It looks like the East is not going to be least in the college football world this week.

"For someone who has been a long-time advocate of Eastern football for many reasons, I'm pleased," Penn State Coach Joe Paterno said after digesting the weekend's customary rash of upsets which somehow missed his second-ranked Nittany Lions and third-ranked Pitt.

"I'm pleased regardless of which team is No. 1. It's great that two Eastern teams will be ranked 1 and 2. I think that speaks well for the kind of football we are playing in the East, and that includes our opponent this week, West Virginia."

Penn State, a 41-16 winner over Syracuse, and Pitt, which mauled No. 11 Florida State 42-14, figure to be the top two teams in this week's Associated Press poll thanks to Arkansas' 42-11 rout of No. 1-rated Texas, the fourth time this season the top team has been knocked off.

Since Texas jumped over Penn State a week ago after trouncing Oklahoma, it is possible Pitt might do the same after decisively whipping another ranked team.

In upset of No. 1 Texas Longhorns

Holtz praises Arkansas seniors

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — With Texas' second-half turnaround against Oklahoma fresh on his mind, Arkansas Coach Lou Holtz made a brief halftime speech to his seniors.

"This is the last time you're going to play Texas," Holtz told them. "You just bring the team out when you think they're ready to play the second half."

Then, Holtz and the other coaches left the dressing room.

"Evidently, the seniors did a heckuva job," Holtz said Sunday.

The first two times Arkansas got the ball in the third quarter, it drove 44 yards and 40 yards for touchdowns and a 39-3 lead over the top-ranked Longhorns. The final was 42-11. The Razorbacks' most decisive win over Texas since a 42-6 decision in 1938.

"The one thing you have to remember is how Texas dominated Oklahoma in the second half," Holtz said. "We had to make sure that didn't happen and treat the game just like it was 0-0."

Texas trailed Oklahoma 14-3 at the half and won 34-14.

The tone of the game was set early. Arkansas, backed up at its own 20 and going into the wind, ran right at All-American tackle Kenneth Sims and Jessie Clark popped for 25 yards. After a punt, Texas took over on its 21 and quarterback Rick McIvor fumbled on first down. Billy Ray Smith recovered at the 19 and on third down Tom Jones passed to Gary Anderson in the right flat for 14 yards. On the next play, Jones scored from the 1.

Texas' next possession ended in a safety when the center snapped the ball over the punter's head and out of the end zone.

One play after Jeff Goff recovered a fumble at the Texas 5, Anderson scored to make it 15-0. A 16-yard punt return by Anderson set up Bruce Lahay's 47-yard field goal and an 18-0 lead early in the second quarter.

At that point, Texas did not have a first down. The Longhorns managed four in the first half and three of those came in a 78-yard drive for a field goal.

"I've never had a day where everything went so well," Holtz said. "I would love to have a day like that on a golf course."

"We have tremendous respect for Texas, but I thought a lot of people undersold Arkansas. We were not awed or intimidated by them. We felt we could have beaten them without any help. As it turned out we got a lot of help."

"I had a lot of confidence in the players and coaches," he said.

Vegas Grand Prix draws criticism

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — The top Grand Prix drivers in the world agree that the newest stop on the route to the world driving championship was literally a pain in the neck.

Drivers complained of the physical toll taken by the tight, 14-turn Caesars Palace Grand Prix course. Ironically, the 75-lap race on the new course Saturday determined the year's Formula One driving championship, with Nelson Piquet emerging with the crown.

The 29-year old Brazilian fought extreme pain on his way to a fifth-place finish that clinched his first world championship.

Lady Steer JVs lose in consolation finals

The Big Spring girls JV volleyball team lost in the consolation finals to Abilene Cooper in the 5-A AAAA JV Tournament here Saturday in Steer Gym.

Cooper defeated the Big Spring crew by a score of 16-18, 18-16, 15-2.

Big Spring's JV team had lost their opener to Odessa Permian 15-12, 12-15, 12-15, but then come back to defeat Odessa High 15-11, 15-8.

San Angelo proved that their younger squad will amply replace their varsity heavyweights who won 5-A AAAA the last three years and the first half of 1981, capturing the JV Tourney title with a win over Midland Permian with a win over Midland.

The JV girls return to action tomorrow evening at Midland Lee at six o'clock. The varsity units of the two teams play at seven.

The BSHS freshmen teams travels to Sweetwater today, and then enters the Snyder Tournament this weekend.

Runnels Red 2nd in Kermit Tournament

KERMIT — The Runnels Red girls volleyball team won second place in the Kermit Tournament held Saturday, losing to Monahans in the final round.

The Red squad defeated host Kermit in their first match 15-9, 16-14 before topping Wink 15-11, 15-13 in the semifinals. That set up their match with Monahans, with the Red crew losing 6-15, 4-15.

High point server in the tourney for the Red team was Tammi Green with 21 points, followed by Denisa Brown with 18. Susi Brown and Amanda Solis had eight points, with Lisa Phillips adding seven and Kerl Myrock five.

The White team from Runnels was not as fortunate, falling in both of their matches. They lost to Wink 8-15, 3-15 in the opener, and then fell to Kermit 4-15, 8-15.

Shandra Wrightsil, Carletta Lewis and Tracie Wilkerson all had five service points, with Jana Whitehead adding four.

Both teams play Snyder today.

Piquet crossed the finish line in his 49th Grand Prix two positions ahead of Carlos Reutemann to snuff out the Argentinian's hope for his own first world championship.

"It is difficult to believe that I won the championship," said Piquet. "I only realized it when I saw the flag come down."

Reutemann and Frenchman Jacques Laffite were the only other drivers with a mathematical shot at the championship. Laffite finished sixth, a scant two seconds behind Piquet, while Reutemann was eighth.

The demanding track, built in three weeks on 75 acres of parking lot and field along the Las Vegas Strip, bothered Piquet in pre-race practice.

Defending world champion Alan Jones, an easy winner Saturday, also said the course left him battered.

Jones led from the start, averaging 97.9 mph for a 20-second margin over runnerup Alain Prost of France, who averaged 97.6 mph in his Renault-Elf.

The victory moved Jones up to third place in the final championship standings with 46 points to 50 for Piquet and 49 for Reutemann. Laffite finished fourth in the season standings with 44 points, just ahead of Prost's 43.

Monday night game looks crummy

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Tonight's nationally televised National Football League game between the Detroit Lions and Chicago Bears might not be one of the country's chief offensive weapons doesn't start.

But with or without Billy Sims, the game is a "must" for the Lions, 2-4 and winless in two Central Division games. A loss would hobble Detroit's hopes of overtaking the division-leading Minnesota Vikings.

Practice all week, but maintains he still will line up with the help of a support designed to shift the weight on his ailing left foot.

Eric Hipple, the No. 3 quarterback behind Gary Danielson at the beginning of the season, will make his first start for Detroit.

Hipple, the Lions' No. 4 draft pick in 1980, says he is eager to play, although he is wary of the extra pressure generated by the circus-like atmosphere surrounding the Monday night games.

PERMAN TOUCHDOWN — Odessa Perman's Dale Carr (36) dives over backward for a touchdown in the third quarter of the Panthers 24-6 win over the Big Spring Steers here Friday night. The touchdown put the defending state champion Perman team, which holds a 24-game winning streak, on top 13-6 at this point. Among the Big Spring defenders pictured is George Bancroft (45).

Pate wins Pensacola golf, but Kite wins two bigger honors

PENSACOLA, Fla. (AP) — Jerry Pate won the tournament, but Tom Kite picked up two larger, more important titles in the Pensacola Open, the final official event on the 10-month pro golf tour.

Bruce Lietzke at 70.01. "I really haven't had a chance to think about it, but I'm sure it's something I'll be able to look back with a lot of pleasure 20 years from now," said Kite, who finished eighth or better in 17 of his last 18 starts of the season.

winning list with $359,359, followed by Watson with $347,600 and Lietzke at $343,446.

Watson and Floyd also had a chance at the Player of the Year title, but each needed a victory here to go past the absent Bill Rogers on the point list that determines that title.

Floyd had a closing 73 and a 278 total, seven strokes back of Pate's winning total. Watson, who opened the tournament with a 64, closed it with a round of par 72 and was at 281.

Holub, Crow among Texas Hall of Famers

GRAND PRAIRIE, Texas (AP) — Former Heisman Trophy winner John David Crow of Texas A&M University and Texas Tech's former All-American and All-Pro E.J. Holub are among six athletes who have been elected to the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

Other to be formally inducted in ceremonies at the new Hall of Fame building here next June 5 include Johnny Rutherford, three-time winner of the Indianapolis 500, former major league baseball star Pete Runnels, Kathy Whitworth, a $1 million winner on the LPGA tour, and the late Fred Firpo Marberry, who won 147 major league games.

The honorees will be feted by the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association during Cotton Bowl week, including appearances at the annual luncheon Dec. 31 and in the New Year's day parade.

information director at Texas and president of the Texas Sports Writer Association made the announcement which brings to 128 the number of persons who have been chosen for the Hall of Fame in the last 30 years.

Crow, a native of Louisiana, won the Heisman in 1957. His coach, Paul Bryant, said of Crow "is the greatest athlete who ever lived, for my money."

America honors in 1960. He played both linebacker and center and later performed for the Dallas Texans-Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League.

Woman mixes music, law enforcement

COMMERCE, Texas (AP) — If Joy Arnold misses a note in the cello concert at East Texas State University Tuesday evening, no one will mention it.

The lady packs a gun.

From 6 a.m. to 2 p.m. five days a week, the 5-foot-10 blonde is a commissioned patrol officer, cruising the streets for the Commerce Police Department while listening to country and western music.

But in recent weeks, Mrs. Arnold has spent 15 to 20 hours practicing Joseph Jongen's Deux Pieces, pour quatre oawk-CELLES, Op. 89, Legende Danses for the concert, which also will include three ETSU faculty members and a student.

Actually, Mrs. Arnold was a musician first, then a policewoman. She has a bachelor of music degree from Texas A&I University, and she performed with the Corpus Christi Symphony 12 years while teaching music in King High School in Corpus Christi and Dubose Middle School in Alice.

And despite her South Texas background, she admits that she has had to learn to appreciate country and western music.

But, she added, "There's no question, my favorite music is classical orchestra."

She moved from career to career — from music teacher and free lance musician to policewoman — because of economics. Her husband, James, enrolled in ETSU's doctoral program in psychology, and she needed to help with the finances.

"When we came to Commerce, the best job available at the time was dispatcher for the police department," she said. "Then the department needed a records clerk, and I took that job. The next logical step was to go out on the street as an officer."

With her husband's blessings, she was commissioned as an officer on Feb. 11, and she completed certification school in May. On Feb. 11, 1982, her certification as a law officer will be official.

"My husband encouraged me to become a patrol officer," she said. "He's a member of the Hunt County Sheriff's Reserve, and he has no objections to a woman being a law officer."

"You're more likely to see me helping motorists or directing traffic than making arrests. I'm convinced that in this business you'll use a pen and typewriter more than you'll use a gun."

But she admits that she's not just another pretty face around the police station.

"One time, I was confronted by a guy who weighed about 400 pounds. I've never had to physically defend myself from a subject, but I've had to restrain a few. Usually they are women, because men are ashamed to have a physical or verbal confrontation with a lady."

Her first confrontation with a cello was at King High School in Kingsville 20 years ago.

"I played the clarinet in the band and orchestra. The band director, Joe Rogers, asked me to try the cello. I did so reluctantly, but I found out I liked it," she said.

While she appreciates good music, she also appreciates a good book. Since living in Commerce, she has completed a degree in English literature while taking classes in music and law enforcement at ETSU.

"Literature is a way for people to express themselves, and writing is a way for people to organize their thoughts and express themselves," she said. "And that (communication) helps people get along with each other."

Mrs. Arnold's desire to learn perhaps led to her career in law enforcement.

"I've learned quite a bit about people and about other things since I have become a police officer," she said.

Fire destroys gallery

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The second suspicious Boardwalk fire in less than a week has destroyed the Garden Pier, including its art gallery, senior citizens' center and outdoor concert area.

Volunteer curators at the art gallery managed to save their paintings and other art objects from the fire Sunday by throwing them over the railing onto the beach.

"It's suspicious," said Battalion Chief John Brenner. "We haven't determined the cause, but our arson people are investigating it."

One week ago, a fire of suspicious origin destroyed the Million Dollar Pier, which was in the process of being demolished.

State lays out case against Vickie Daniel

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — Week No. 2 of Vickie Daniel's murder trial began in state court here today, with prosecutors still intent on clearly depicting the scene at the Daniel home the night Price Daniel Jr., a former Texas House Speaker, was shot to death.

"I think we have to account for everyone at the scene," explained Darroll Wilborn, district attorney for Liberty County and chief prosecutor of Mrs. Daniel. "We're still setting the scene, making sure everything is clear in the jury's minds. I'm not worried about boring the jury..."

Wilborn began his case slowly when testimony opened Wednesday, calling as witnesses most of the people who arrived at the scene of the Jan. 19 murder.

Defense attorney Jack Zimmerman questioned each witness at length, often inquiring about the actions of Daniel's brother, Houston, who was also at the house.

"He's just trying to plant another seed of reasonable doubt in the jury's mind about what happened that night," Wilborn said, adding that he may call as many as eight more people who were at the scene.

Zimmerman said no decision has been made as to whether Mrs. Daniel, the only person who witnessed the shooting, will testify.

In trial last spring to determine the custody of her children, Mrs. Daniel testified she did not remember shooting Daniel but said if she did shoot him, it was an accident. She said the couple had argued about marijuana and he had beaten her.

She said she pulled a rifle out of a closet to scare her husband, fired a warning shot, then shut her eyes and heard a "funny noise."

So far, each side has introduced stacks of photographs, and the state also has entered into evidence Daniel's bloodstained clothes and the rifle. Both sides promise some evidence not brought out in the child-custody case.

With the trial expected to last a month, visiting State District Judge Leonard Giblin has threatened to extend working hours into the evenings and weekends.

Two guardsmen killed, third hurt by tank

KILLEEN, Texas (AP) — Two National Guardsmen were killed and a third was injured when they accidentally drove their tank over a brushy embankment during a maneuver that had been cancelled without their knowledge.

The accident was witnessed by fellow Guardsmen who had been dispatched to tell the tank crew that the exercise had been postponed because of threatening weather.

May David Cottom said the Dallas-based National Guard battalion had just begun its nighttime training exercises Saturday when officers received word of the poor weather conditions near Fort Hood, in Central Texas.

Cottom said the battalion was ordered in because of possible thunderstorms and hail, but officials were unable to reach the ill-fated platoon.

"They had reached two other platoons by radio and had sent out runners to notify the other one. The runners arrived just in time to see the accident," he said.

"The tank was off the trail and going along the edge of a bluff, hidden by brush, when the front end of the tank slipped down the front edge of the embankment, hit a boulder and flipped over on its back," Cottom said.

"The driver (Garcia) was thrown clear," he said.

Cottom said 2nd Lt. Charles Lee Herrington Jr., of Carrollton, and Pfc. Chester Paul Roberts, 24, of Dallas, died when the $900,000 tank toppled over.

Spec. 4 Ruperto Garcia Jr., 34, was slightly injured and was treated and released at a base hospital, he said.

Cottom said National Guard and Fort Hood officials are investigating the incident.

The three men were in the 1st Battalion, 112th Armor in the 49th Armored Division of the Texas Army National Guard.

Texans benefit from gift

HANOVER, N.H. (AP) — Dartmouth College says an alumnus and his wife have given the school $500,000 to set up a scholarship fund.

Dartmouth says preference for the scholarships will go to students from three Texas counties: Harris, Hockley and Garza.

The donor was identified as Kenneth Montgomery, a Chicago lawyer who was graduated from Dartmouth in 1925.

Montgomery says he and his wife decided to make the gift because of their concern about cuts in federal support for college scholarship programs. The Montgomeries live in Northbrook, Ill., but say they have both business and personal ties with Texas.

In a news release, Dartmouth said the gift was not the first to Dartmouth from the Montgomeries. The school says they earlier gave $2 million to pay to bring prominent people from various fields to Dartmouth to teach on fellowships.

Dartmouth says more than one-third of its students get scholarships based on need.

Businesswoman is found slain

DALLAS (AP) — A North Dallas businesswoman was found slain in her home Sunday by her teen-age son.

Accountant Naomi Benjamin, 46, apparently was strangled late Saturday or early Sunday, police said.

Her 15-year-old son Richard discovered her body on the master bedroom floor when returned home at 4 p.m. after spending the night with friends, police said.

Investigator Russell Graves said the woman was clad in a nightgown.

Saturday's Puzzle Solved:

DENNIS THE MENACE

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

Your Daily HOROSCOPE

from the CARROLL RIGHTER INSTITUTE

FORECAST FOR TUESDAY, OCT. 20, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A good day express your talented ideas so that they can soon become a part of your life and activities. Your mind is brilliant now and you can gain benefits in a logical manner.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) A good day for advancement, but take no risks with your work. Listening to suggestions of co-workers is wise.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Get busy with financial and property affairs and you can make rapid progress. Don't force any issues at this time.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Put those ideas to work that will bring you advancement in the business world. Rest on your laurels tonight.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make sure you know what you have committed yourself to and discharge your duties well. Use care in travel.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Seeing good friends is fine but don't get involved in any financial deals. Take no risks with your money at this time.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Handle civic affairs well and handle business affairs wisely.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You have new ideas that should be put in operation without delay. Sidestep one who is jealous of you and could cause trouble.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Use new methods that will help you advance in your line of endeavor. Take no risks with your health at this time.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Figure out the best way to operate with associates and make the future brighter.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Forget about going on a fun spree and get busy with all that work ahead of you. Enjoy pleasure in the evening.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You are bored and want recreation, so seek the right kind and you feel much better. Relax at home tonight.

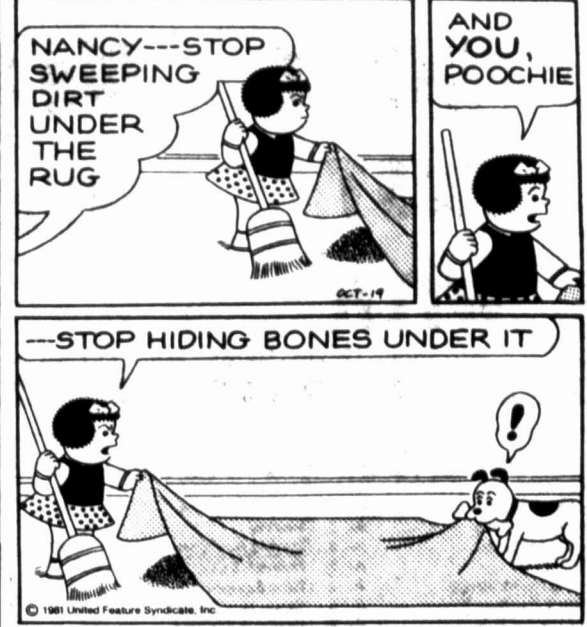

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Don't permit an outsider to take advantage of you and thus avoid trouble this person could bring. Use care in motion.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be most clever at reaching right decisions and should have the finest kind of academic education you can afford. A good salesperson in this chart and one who can easily put ideas across to others.

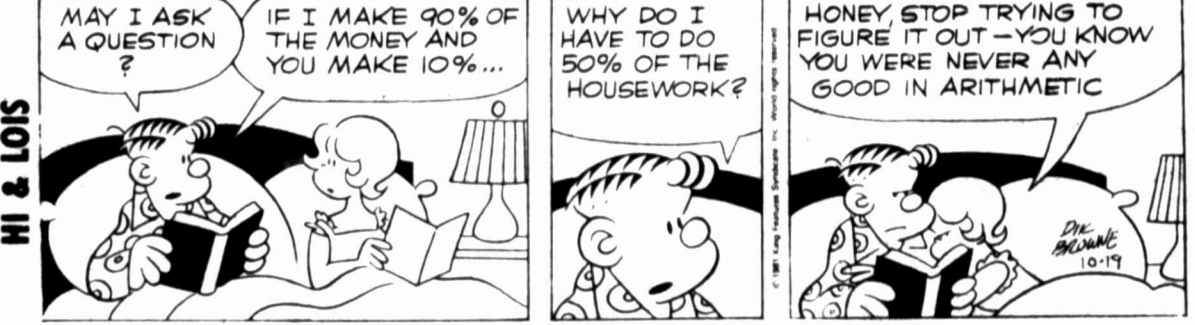

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to you!

Nationwide search for man ends with Texas traffic stop

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — A nationwide search for a man wanted in five states on charges ranging from bank robbery to murder ended without incident when a Texas Highway patrolman arrested the fugitive during a routine traffic stop, officials said.

Marion Albert Pruett remained in Potter County jail here Sunday night after being picked up near Stratford, in the Texas Panhandle, by a Department of Public Safety trooper running a drivers license check, authorities said.

Pruett, 32, named in at least five felony warrants, was using the alias Leroy Esmond and offered no resistance, arresting officers said.

Pruett is wanted in connection with savings and loan robberies, the abduction of a bank employee, the slaying of a convenience store clerk and the murder of his wife. Warrants for his arrest have been issued by police agencies in Jackson, Miss., Seattle, Wash., Bridgeville, Pa., Little Rock, Ark., and Albuquerque, N.M.

In addition, Colorado police want to question him in Friday's robbery-slayings of convenience store clerks in Fort Collins and Loveland, Colo.

Federal agents in Mississippi sought Pruett in the Sept. 17 robbery of a Jackson savings and loan office and the abduction of bank employee Peggy Lowe. Officials said Ms. Lowe still is missing and was not with Pruett when he was arrested Saturday.

Pruett was named last Thursday in a warrant charging him with capital murder in the shooting death of Bobbie Jean Roam Robertson, a Fort Smith, Ark., convenience store clerk.

Mrs. Robertson, 30, was abducted early Oct. 12 and her bullet-riddled body was found later that day in a wooded area south of Fort Smith, police said.

Pruett, from Gastonia, N.C., is wanted by Sandoval County Sheriff's officers in Bernalillo, N.M. on a first-degree murder charge in connection with the slaying of his wife, Michelle Lynn Pearson.

Sheriff Jerry Ferrara said the woman was killed March 2, 1981 and her badly-charred body was found April 16 at Rio Rancho, N.M., an Albuquerque suburb.

Pruett is named in a warrant out of Seattle charging him with robbing a savings and loan association June 26th and abducting the bank manager, said Allen P. Whitaker, special agent in charge of the FBI in Seattle.

The Bridgeville, Pa., man also charged Pruett with robbing a savings and loan institution and taking a hostage.

Hunters could be set free to help control alligators

BEAUMONT, Texas (AP) — Just like too many cooks spoil the broth, state biologists are contending that too many alligators are making a nuisance of themselves in Southeast Texas. A limited hunting season on the gators may be opened as early as next year to curb the population explosion.

Alligators can't be hunted, however, until the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service removes them from the endangered species list, said Floyd E. Potter Jr., Wildlife biologist with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The department asked the service early this year to end the American alligator's endangered species status in Southeast Texas — where gators sometimes leave their marshy homes and wander into city streets, swimming pools, drainage ditches and even freeways, sometimes causing minor traffic jams.

"They even find one in a doghouse once in a while with the dog gone," Potter said in an interview.

Wildlife officials have published a set of proposed alligator rules that eventually would be amended to establish a hunting season on gators. The rules apply only along a strip taking in Vidor, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Liberty, Houston, Victoria and Corpus Christi, and running east of Vidor to the Louisiana line.

Under the proposed rules, gators would be hunted very much like they are hunted in Louisiana, where the hide of a 10-foot-long animal brings about $140 at one of two tanneries in the United States which accepts them, wildlife officials say.

"We don't think alligators are endangered," Potter said. "There are over one million of them ranging over 10 states."

Pruett is wanted in connection with savings and loan robberies, the abduction of a bank employee, the slaying of a convenience store clerk and the murder of his wife. Warrants for his arrest have been issued by police agencies in Jackson, Miss., Seattle, Wash., Bridgeville, Pa., Little Rock, Ark., and Albuquerque, N.M.

In addition, Colorado police want to question him in Friday's robbery-slayings of convenience store clerks in Fort Collins and Loveland, Colo.

Federal agents in Mississippi sought Pruett in the Sept. 17 robbery of a Jackson savings and loan office and the abduction of bank employee Peggy Lowe. Officials said Ms. Lowe still is missing and was not with Pruett when he was arrested Saturday.
