Hazards of experimenting with fire eyed by students

What would you do if you or your home caught on fire? These and other questions were answered by Cullie Leslie, assistant safety director for the Texas Farm Bureau, in a graphic fire demonstration and film recently at Lakeview, Bauer, and Moss elementary schools here in Big Spring.

The program was designed to educate elementary students about the hazards of experimenting with fire, and also how to react if confronted by a fire in their homes.

The Texas Farm Bureau sponsored program explained to children how to put out a grease fire, what to do if clothing catches on fire, and how to plan an emergency fire exit in the home.

Leslie said the program is geared to help prevent the unfortunate fire deaths each year of children that panic and perish simply because they don't know what to do.

Higgins enters local mayor's race

The race for mayor of Big Spring is on.

Jerry Higgins, 44, announced his candidacy for the post now occupied by Clyde Angel and said he was basing his platform on a "sunshine policy."

Higgins, who describes himself as self-employed, said he would "run on a straight-forward platform. It's a sunshine policy. My philosophy is that I'm going to open the books wide open, so that citizens can make up their own minds about what needs to be done."

Higgins ran in April, 1980, and finished third behind Angel and Bill Henkel. The next municipal election is slated for April 3, 1981. Higgins is the first person to announce he'll be running in the election, which will also seat two city councilmen.

It's too early to file for candidacy in the election, according to Tom Ferguson, who serves as city secretary in addition to his job as finance director. He said the filing period wouldn't open until the beginning of February.

Higgins said he'd be ready for the day when he can take out papers formally declaring himself a candidate.

"I'm starting campaigning right now," he told The Herald. "I got so many things to do. I'm goin' to be waitin' there for all the boys goin' against me."

Mary Clyde Angel reportedly has said it's too early to discuss whether he will run for re-election.

Repeal of Peveto bill urged by judges

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

The annual conference of the County Judges' and Commissioners' proposed 22 resolutions in El Paso recently including requests to President Reagan and Congress and calls for action from the Texas State Legislature, according to Howard County Judge Bill Tune.

Judge Tune served on the resolutions committee at the conference that gathered county judges and commissioners from all over the state. He said the resolutions were efforts to better serve the people in the various counties of Texas.

The most important resolution, says Tune, is the request for the repeal of the Peveto bill and its amendments revising the property tax laws of Texas.

Tune said this bill which called for a reappraisal of taxes and creation of a tax board cost the county $417,000 the past fiscal year. "Before the bill, our cost was $95,000," says Tune.

Resolutions to the U.S. Congress and President Reagan include requests for the deregulation of natural gas, and opposition to cuts in the Revenue Sharing fund and opposition to the Legal Services Corporation.

Tune said the cut in revenue funds would put a bigger burden on taxpayers while the Legal Services Corporation and its subsidiary, Texas Rural Legal Aid, were harassing Texans with lawsuits and accusations. The resolution states "a waste of Texas' money in Congress."

Another important resolution urges the Sunset Commission and Texas Legislature to review the Texas Historical Commission's authority to unduly interfere in county affairs. Tune stressed that the resolution does not desire removal of the Commission, but just regulation of its actions and powers.

He pointed out a recent letter to him from the Texas Historical Commission requiring six months notice prior to any county work on the courthouse. Tune said "They don't realize the requirements the county must meet," and the Commission just needs some limits on its power to control county business.

A last important resolution requests the Texas Legislature give the counties an optional sales tax. Tune noted the city probably gets close to $1 million in revenue from its one-cent sales tax. "The county would give even more from a similar tax. We could eliminate the ad valorem taxes altogether," said Tune.

Jury clears woman of assault charge

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

A Howard County jury yesterday found Nina Alamasan not guilty of assault. The jury deliberated in county court about 30 minutes before returning the verdict.

Alamasan had been charged with assaulting Ray Alaniz with a pipe wrench during an altercation on March 21 at Alaniz' place of business. Alaniz, an auto mechanic, testified that Alamasan had hit him with a wrench after he refused to allow Alamasan's daughter to take an automobile from his shop.

He explained that the auto, a 1981 Trans Am, had been left for repairs by Alamasan's husband, from whom she was separated. Alaniz said he felt he could not release the car to Alamasan and her daughter when the two women came to the shop. He said they became angry with him, and Nina Alamasan hit him on the shoulder with a large pipe wrench. Subsequent testimony from her 10-year-old son and from Nina Alamasan herself also stated that Alaniz had not been hit.

Defense attorney Wayne Basden and County Attorney Robert Miller waived their final arguments and the jury reached a verdict shortly before noon yesterday. The trial began in the morning.

Jury foreman A.J. Pirkle said the jury felt "the weight of the wrench and the position she was supposed to be in (made it) unlikely" for Alamasan to have hit Alaniz.

Pirkle added the jury believed if Alaniz had been struck with the wrench as he claimed "he would probably be dead or crippled."

Big Spring's sales tax rebate rise recorded

Big Spring's sales tax rebate for October was $73,326.11, according to figures released from State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office.

In 1980, the city received a comparable payment of $50,448.35. Records show that the 1981 payments to date for Big Spring are $998,554.53.

Statewide, checks of $37.9 million were issued.

For Coahoma, $1,818.98 was the net payment for this period, compared to $1,042.37 last year. 1981 payments to date are $27,251.41.

For Colorado City, the sales tax rebate for October is $13,973.37, compared to $8,958.59. 1981 payments to date are $153,757.76.

For Lamesa, the sales tax rebate for October is $25,712.24. Total 1981 payments to date are $349,775.44.

For Stanton, October payments are $1,500.95. 1981 payments to date are $495,320.57.

Coahoma trustees discuss absentee policy

COAHOMA — The Coahoma School Board met Monday evening for its regular monthly meeting to discuss school business. The board heard recommendations from the principals regarding the excused and unexcused absence policy for the school system.

Ronnie Bourland explained that the existing policy was in possible violation of existing state law and recommended the board approve changes to go into effect the beginning of the second semester.

The board also heard recommendations from the principals to review existing aides' pay scales and salaries. The principals recommended that existing scales be reviewed before the beginning of the next school year to be sure that scales are equitable.

A pilot program serving the needs of handicapped students from the Coahoma system required the need of a bus driver to transport special education students to and from the classes which will be held at various locations in Big Spring. The board approved the hiring of a driver with skills necessary to work directly with these students.

The board heard and approved the recommendation that the City of Coahoma be reimbursed $777.34 for additional expenses incurred for supplies to provide sewer and water to the new elementary building.

A delegation spoke to the board requesting the football stadium be renamed the Bill Easterling Memorial Stadium in honor of Bill Easterling, former principal at Coahoma High School. A motion was made to create a scholarship in Easterling's name instead of renaming the stadium. Both motions were defeated.

In other business the board agreed to accept bids for painting the trim and provide flashing for the junior high school.

The trustees also approved a state mandated increase in the extra curricular rate to $1.10 per mile.

Individual school board members were assigned specific segments of the Texas Association of School Board development program policies to review.

The board approved the purchase of brown carpet for the new elementary buildings and planned a walkthrough inspection and tour of thenew facilities on Monday Oct. 26 at 5 p.m.

The next regularly scheduled school board meeting was set for Nov. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

$1 million civil suit under way in Colorado City

COLORADO CITY (SC) — A $1 million civil suit got under way Monday in Mitchell County's 32nd District Court.

The plaintiff is Harriett Conner of Odessa, who is asking for damages from MAPCO, Inc.

Court records show Mrs. Conner's husband, Bob, was working for Esperanza Pipeline near Sterling City on Nov. 9, 1977, when a pipeline was ruptured during the laying of a second line. When Conner started his pickup truck, escaping gas from the pipeline caused the vehicle to explode, burning Conner to death.

Mrs. Conner is alleging negligence on the part of MAPCO, contending the existing pipeline was not adequately defined.

Representing the plaintiff is Odessa attorney Warren Burnett, while MAPCO is represented by Roger Glandon of Abilene.

Focalpoint

Action/reaction: Minor problems

Q. How does a person go about having a minor's record (after he is no longer a minor) erased or sealed?

A. An adult who wishes to erase or seal his juvenile record should make the request before the juvenile court that has been supervising him, says County Judge Bill Tune.

Reagan says Soviets believe a nuclear war is 'winnable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says he believes U.S. retaliatory strength could avert a nuclear exchange with the Soviet Union, but that "unlike us" the Soviets believe a nuclear war is possible and winnable.

Asked by out-of-town newspaper editorial writers Friday if he believes such an exchange could be limited or would "simply escalate inevitably," Reagan replied: "I don't honestly know. ... There never has been a weapon that someone hasn't come up with a defense. But it could — and the only defense would be, well, you shoot yours and we'll shoot ours."

"And if you still had that kind of a stalemate, I could see where you could have the exchange of tactical weapons against troops in the field without it bringing either one of the major powers to pushing the button..."

Asked during the interview whether he believes there could be a battlefield exchange without "having buttons pressed all the way up the line," the president replied: "Well, I would, if they realized that ... our retaliatory power ... would be so destructive that they couldn't afford it, that would hold them off."

He added, however, "I do have to point out that everything that has been said and everything in their manuals indicates that unlike us, the Soviet Union believes that a nuclear war is possible, and they believe it's winnable.

"It means that they believe you could achieve enough superiority that your opponent wouldn't have retaliatory strike capacity."

The State Department reinforced and elaborated on the president's remarks in a statement issued late Monday.

"The president's remarks are completely consistent with the (NATO) alliance's longstanding strategy of flexible response: maintaining an assured military capability to deter the use of force — conventional or nuclear — by the Warsaw Pact, preferably at the lowest possible level," the department said.

"It is, in fact, NATO's ability to confront credibly the U.S.S.R. at any level, and to escalate the application of force in a controlled manner, if necessary, that is the essence of NATO's deterrent policy."

"This strategy has kept the peace in Europe since the alliance was formed and ensures that the Soviet Union could perceive no advantage in initiating the use of force at any level."

Ruling says video recorders infringe on copyright laws

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The future of the booming business in video tape recorders was cast into doubt by a federal appeals court ruling that millions of Americans are violating copyright laws when they use the machines to tape television shows.

Under the ruling, the makers of the machines could be required to pay royalties to the owners of television programs or even be forced to halt the manufacture and sale of the devices.

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Monday that the estimated 3 million home video recorders in America exist for "copyright infringement," and makers and sellers of the machines are liable for damages.

The appeals court reversed U.S. District Judge Warren Ferguson in the case, and sent the matter back to his Los Angeles courtroom for consideration of what should be done about what it said was an "exceedingly complex" problem.

The three-man appeals court suggested he look into the possibility of royalties or even an injunction barring the manufacture and sale of the machines. But the court acknowledged that an injunction could result in "great public injury."

Appeal of the decision to the U.S. Supreme Court was a strong possibility.

Kenji Tamiya, top officer of Sony Corp. of America, chief defendant in the lawsuit, said: "All parties to this litigation always have expected that the final decision in this case will be made by the U.S. Supreme Court."

In Tokyo, Naoto Mabuchi, managing director of the parent Sony Corp., also a defendant, called the ruling by the Ninth Circuit Court of Appeals "anachronistic."

He said that video tape recorders sold in the United States are used by consumers "for their own personal use."

Officials of the Electronic Industries Association of Japan also expressed anxiety over the ruling, pointing out that private recording of copyrighted television programs is allowed in Japan and parts of Europe.

The suit was brought by Universal City Studios and Walt Disney Productions against Sony Corp. of America and Sony Corp.; four retailers: Carter Hawley Hale Stores Inc., Associated Dry Goods Corp., Federated Department Stores, and Henry's Camera Corp.; the Doyle Dane Bernbach advertising agency; and William G. Griffiths, a Sony Betamax owner.

1984 presidential hopefuls scouting N.H.

CONCORD, N.H. (AP) — It's been just nine months since Ronald Reagan moved into the White House, but already a lengthening line of Democrats is scouting New Hampshire with an eye on its 1984 earliest-in-the-nation presidential primary.

"John Glenn, Gary Hart, Mondale, Biden. We've had some contact with them all. Everyone wants to come up for a visit," says Richard Boyer, head of the state Democratic Party. Sens. Glenn of Ohio, Hart of Colorado and Joseph Biden of Delaware all have been mentioned as possible candidates.

Joan Mondale, wife of the former vice president, Walter Mondale, visited the state for two days last week to promote the arts, and Glenn, an Ohio senator, is scheduled to speak at a fund-raiser next month for Gov. Hugh Gallen.

Aides to both insist the visits are non-political. But many see it differently.

"Of course they're political visits. There's no question about it," says Dudley Dudley, a member of the state's Executive Council who headed the New Hampshire presidential campaigns of Rep. Morris Udall of Arizona and Sen. Edward Kennedy of Massachusetts.

"They can say they're looking at the fall foliage or want to find a place to ski, but politics is always behind a politician's visit to New Hampshire," she says. "They are making initial contacts now...people they can go back to next year."

Ms. Dudley and others cringe at the early start of "silly season." But, on reflection, they say the preliminary incursions into New Hampshire are not early. Jimmy Carter started about the same time, and no one is going to forget it.

"I just can't believe it's starting again. We just finished the last circus," Ms. Dudley says. "Sometimes it seems like the campaigning never ends."

Those testing the political waters will take any opportunity to visit the state, including judging a cattle show or log-splitting contest. In 1974, Carter spoke to a high school civics class.

They jump into the presidential primary pool as often as they can, leaving the warmth of their families and the plush comfort of Washington two or three years before every presidential election and become almost commuters to New Hampshire.

'I just can't believe it's starting again. We just finished the last circus.'

Three-piece suits are replaced with down vests and parkas, and men who hate the outdoors find themselves braving sub-zero temperatures at ski areas to shake hands with people who more often than not are from Massachusetts.

Politicians who routinely draw crowds of thousands become content with expounding their views on international trade credits or nuclear proliferation to three men clustered around a pot-bellied stove in a general store.

No other state gets the fawning attention New Hampshire receives from presidential aspirants, pollsters and reporters. But many people question whether a rural state with a population of 900,000, few minorities and little heavy industry should be a bellwether for the rest of the country.

Nevertheless, since the presidential primary system began in 1952, no one, not Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson, Nixon, Carter or Reagan, has reached the White House without winning the New Hampshire primary.

William Dunfee, a prominent Democrat active in behind-the-scenes machinations of the past five presidential primaries, says courting New Hampshire is something would-be presidents are almost trapped into doing.

"It's almost like a religious ritual. You've got to light the candles, burn the incense, have the ceremony. It's part of the process and if you don't do it, it appears you've somehow lost your religion," he says.

Dunfee believes the primary system must be shortened and streamlined, but says doing that will be difficult. "Not supporting New Hampshire's presidential primary is like being against maple syrup," he says.

New Hampshire law requires that the state's presidential primary be held one week earlier than any other state primary. The state has fought all attempts to include it in efforts to streamline the lengthy primary process, which in 1980 spanned 37 state elections on 17 different days.

A bipartisan panel recently recommended that all primaries be held on one of four specified days, each a month apart.

In 1980, New Hampshire Democrats won an exemption from a similar streamlining effort, but the exemption was supposed to be the last.

"There is no provision for a special exception for New Hampshire's primary as there was in 1980," says Robert Neuman, a Democratic National Committee official.

"The DNC is now armed with a new weapon," he adds. "The Supreme Court, in a case involving Wisconsin, ruled that the DNC is the final authority in deciding its delegate selection."

Nevertheless, state Democrats are preparing to do battle to save the questionable honor of being first. Party leaders are gathering documents to use at a meeting in Washington next month to support their hold on first place.

Whether the effort succeeds or fails, most New Hampshire Democrats believe the primary will survive.

As one active Democrat, Phil Grandmaison, put it at a party meeting last week, the only thing worse than not being first would be not having a primary at all.

Lloyd Bentsen/Senator's Report

Loophole allows Americans to aid terrorists

You're probably familiar with recent stories in the press about a group of former employees of the Central Intelligence Agency who provided material and expertise to the Libyan regime of Colonel Khadafy — knowing it was to be used for terrorist activities.

Government investigators and prosecutors were stymied for some time in the case because some of the activities of the group are legal under current U.S. laws.

Given our vulnerability to the depredations of terrorists it is incredible to think that our government, through a loophole in the law, would condone activities that aid and abet international terrorism. Yet, that is exactly what is happening.

As things now stand it is legal for a U.S. citizen or group of citizens to manufacture or purchase explosive devices in this country and sell those devices to, say, the regime of Colonel Khadafy in Libya.

They could do this even if they knew that the Libyan government planned to use these devices to promote terrorism; to blow up bridges and buildings and airplanes, killing innocent people in the far corners of the globe.

Recently I introduced in the Senate legislation that would close the loopholes in federal law which permits U.S. citizens to aid and abet international terrorism.

The Bentsen International Terrorism Crime Act of 1981 is intended to prevent citizens of this country from taking actions in this country to further the terrorist ambitions of governments like that of Libya.

My bill prohibits the sale of weaponry, explosive devices, munitions, plans and like items to a foreign state, or to an agent of a foreign state, for the purpose of aiding or abetting international terrorism.

Anyone convicted of violating the law would face a prison term of up to 10 years, a fine of up to $25,000, or both.

We live in an age of terrorism, as anyone who went through the decade of the 70's can testify: the massacre at the Munich Olympics in 1972, the siege at Entebbe, the seizure of embassies in Teheran and Bogota and London, the skyjackings, the bombings.

Americans in 1980 remained the primary targets of world-wide terrorist activity, as they have since we started keeping records in 1968. Ten Americans were killed last year and 94 wounded in attacks around the world. Nearly two out of every five incidents involved U.S. citizens or property.

The world is looking to the United States for leadership in efforts to wipe the last traces of terrorist activity from the face of the earth. We must rally civilized nations in an all-out war against terrorism. But, before we can succeed at that, we must insure that our own house is in order.

White House aide warns of Soviet threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — A White House military adviser says the Soviet Union has attained nuclear superiority over the United States and "they are going to strike," The Washington Post reported Tuesday.

Gen. Robert L. Schweitzer of the National Security Council staff made the comments at a meeting of the Association of the United States Army, the newspaper said.

He asserted that the Soviet Union has superiority in both land and submarine-based missiles and in bombers, and he spoke of "a drift toward war," the Post said.

The United States, Schweitzer was quoted as saying, is "in the greatest danger that the republic has ever faced since its founding days."

The Soviets, he reportedly said, "are on the move, they are going to strike."

A White House spokeswoman who asked not to be quoted by name said Tuesday that Schweitzer was speaking for himself, not the White House.

The Post quoted an unidentified White House spokesman as saying the general's comments were much more pessimistic than those of President Reagan.

Schweitzer also reportedly told the meeting of Army officers:

—The Soviet Union knows it has military superiority and thus may be tempted to use nuclear or non-nuclear force.

—Evidence continues to mount that the Soviet Union plans to invade Poland.

—The Caribbean is in flames and there is at least some level of organized communist insurgency in nearly every country of South America.

—Pacifism is sweeping Europe and may threaten the United States.

—Churchmen have not been helpful in trying to deal with the realities of the communist threat in Latin America.

—If the AWACS surveillance aircraft deal is rejected by Congress, Saudi Arabia would buy similar equipment from England and France and then Israel would seek U.S. help to balance this.

Dear Abby

Men Don't Measure Up To Big Woman's Standards

DEAR ABBY: I'm 32, single, and all my life I've been just plain big! (I'm 5 feet, 10 inches and weigh 200.) There's a single man who just started working where I work and I think he finds me attractive. He hangs around my desk and greets me every morning with, "Good morning, Beautiful!" Abby, does he really mean it, or is he making fun of me? Are men really ever attracted to big women, or do they think we're desperate?

I like him, but I'm afraid he is just out for what he can get. Not long ago, a man I hardly knew propositioned me, and I said no. Then he said, "Don't hold out too long, Honey. A girl your size doesn't get many chances." I'm beginning to think he was right.

BIG AND HURTING IN N.J.

DEAR HURTING: Don't fall into that trap. Many heavy women suffer from low self-esteem and are inclined to take anything they can get because they're lonely and their chances are few.

Please get IT'S ME — an excellent new magazine especially for the big woman. The current issue addresses itself in particular to the problem of weight-related promiscuity. The article titled, "Sex — A Weighty Problem — In Your Head or in Your Bed?" deals realistically with this problem. I urge you to read it!

DEAR ABBY: I am enclosing a copy of your column I have kept for nearly 20 years. This column was a constant help during a very difficult period of my life when I often felt I just couldn't make it through another day.

"Very Poor" gave me the courage to do so, and perhaps if you print it again it may help others as it did me. I still carry a copy in my purse and reread it when the going gets difficult.

J.J. IN N.Y.

DEAR J.J.: I agree. "Very Poor" richly deserves a rerun. And here it is:

DEAR ABBY: I've been reading the "problems" sent to your column, and I hope you print this because it might do a lot of people some good.

I'm in a charity hospital with arthritis, TB, heart trouble, and I am gradually losing my eyesight. I'm only 38, but I can't remember being free from pain in 22 years. If I could wake up one morning feeling good again I wouldn't care if my wife (if I had one) flirted with another man.

What I am trying to say, Abby, is if a person can get up in the morning and go to work on his own two legs, he should get down on his knees and thank God, for without health, you have nothing — even if you are rich.

VERY POOR

Everybody needs friends. For some practical tips on how to be popular, get Abby's Popularity booklet. Send $1 plus a long, self-addressed stamped (35 cents) envelope to Abby, Popularity, 12060 Hawthorne Blvd., Suite 5000, Hawthorne, Calif. 90250.

CAMPUS WEAR — Each of the 17 contestants in the Miss Howard College pageant modeled her own style of campus wear at a luncheon Monday. Sponsored by the Women's Association of the Howard County Junior

Luncheon and fashion show feature Miss HC contestants

The Women's Association of the Howard County Junior College District were hostesses for a luncheon and fashion show Monday. The noon event, held in the Tumbleweed Room of Howard College, featured contestants in the Miss Howard College Pageant.

Each of the 17 pageant contestants in the first fashion show to be held in conjunction with the annual pageant modeled campus wear. According to Cheri Sparks, president of the association, campus wear is one of the categories in Thursday's pageant. Purpose of the event was to give members a preview of the pageant, as well as give the contestants an opportunity to model in front of an audience.

Members of the association are full-time employees, or wives of full-time employees, of HCJC District. Purpose of the organization, formerly known as the Faculty Maams, is to promote fellowship among employees of Howard College and SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf.

Club officers are Cheri Sparks, president; Debbie

Jones, vice president; Shirley Castetter, secretary; Joy Vaughn, treasurer; and Betty Bruner, reporter.

The Miss Howard College Pageant gets underway Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Howard College Auditorium. Tickets will be on sale at the door. Price is $4 for general admission and $2.50 for faculty and students of the HCJC District. The HCJC

Oversized shawls sweeping latest fall fashion scene

COLLEGE STATION — Excitement of Fall '81 fashion is captured in "The Big Sweep" — a voluminous oversized shawl — if you know how to wear it, says Alma Fonseca, a clothing specialist.

It's the perfect item for updating a wardrobe, creating a whole new look and adding warmth, she says.

Fonseca is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Wear it "elegant" starts with a big paisley or challis shawl, measuring about 54 inches square. Fold it narrow and drape it over the shoulder of a blazer with the ends tucked into a belt.

A second way to wear a shawl is to fold it in half diagonally, crossing two ends behind your neck.

Bring the shawl to the front and fasten bandanna style with a scarf ring or tie. This style can be worn over sweaters and shirts, and it resembles a vest.

For a "folkloric" look to spice up a plain dress, fling a brightly patterned shawl over one shoulder and tie the two ends at the waist.

For chilly nights, wear the shawl around the shoulders to keep you warm and cozy. Knot the ends at the waist or slip them through a scarf ring.

Since today's trend in belts features wider styles and more elaborate textures, use your shawl for an instant belt or cummerbund. Fold it diagonally into a sash, waist-wrap it and tie it.

Child snatching is major problem

At least 20,000 and perhaps as many as 100,000 children a year are "stolen" from one parent by the other, officials estimate in a current Family Circle magazine article. The article tells of the trials and tribulations of one girl who was abducted by her father when she was 11-months old and reunited with her mother 21 years later.

Veterans, Auxiliary plan Armistice Day

Plans for the Nov. 11 commemoration of Armistice Day were discussed at the Oct. 10 meeting of the Veterans of World War I and its Auxiliary.

The event will take place at the Veterans Administration Medical Center, where refreshments will be served and a social hour will be held prior to the formal events which begin at 11 a.m.

The Avenue of Flags will be displayed and the Forsan High School band will furnish music. Colors will be presented by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Color Guard from Odessa, and Jim Baum, Colorado City, will be the speaker. WWI Auxiliary members are urged to attend and wear white and an Auxiliary hat.

Mrs. Mary Forrest, Lubbock, district president, was special guest at the Auxiliary meeting, and seven other guests also attended. The charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Belle Pots.

Plans were made for a Thanksgiving dinner to be held at the next meeting, and preliminary plans were made to help shut-in members during Christmas.

Bernice Micallef, Twila Starkey and Norma Awtry will serve cakes at the VAMC at 9 a.m. Oct. 27. Virginia Younger reported on her recent trip to the National Convention, which included a visit to a farm at Albert Lea, Minn. The farm was donated to the Veterans of WWI by a former member, Walter C. Hendrickson.

Grover Stephens was welcomed as a new member at the Barracks meeting. Members were reminded that payment of 1982 membership dues will insure life membership in the department and national organization.

Following the meetings, a covered dish luncheon was served.

Women's roles are stressed

Using the theme "The Voice of Working Women," Mrs. Clyde Angel spoke to members of the Business and Professional Women's Club Saturday morning. The breakfast meeting took place at the Holiday Inn, and was the kick-off event for National Business Women's Week, Oct. 18-24.

Mrs. Angel said that BPW is the world's oldest and largest organization for working women. She stressed the importance of women's roles in today's society. "Moral maturity must keep abreast of material growth," she said. "We will make a lasting contribution when we realize our responsibility to impress upon society the supreme importance of a spiritual vision."

Mrs. Angel also stressed the responsibilities that any the new opportu-

Mayor Clyde Angel signed a proclamation decreeing Oct. 18-21 as National Business Women's Week. Following the program, those attending viewed the film, "Women's Health Connection."

The next meeting will be Oct. 27 at Lee's Chinese Garden Restaurant.

Cigarette, alcohol tax eyed by administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Reagan administration is studying higher cigarette and alcohol excise taxes, elimination of credit-card interest deductions and limits on exemptions for health insurance premiums to stay on track toward a balanced budget by 1984, sources say.

However, the president, who persuaded Congress this summer to approve the largest tax cut ever, frequently has expressed reluctance to support new tax-raising measures to meet his balanced-budget target. As a result, he may refuse to propose any major tax-raising plans beyond a package he outlined last month, the sources said.

These proposals, among a variety being analyzed by Treasury Department officials, could increase revenues by more than $9 billion in 1982 and $17 billion by 1984, according to administration estimates.

Faced with a newly estimated budget deficit of nearly $60 billion despite the major spending cuts Congress approved during the summer, the administration in September proposed a revised 1982 budget that would reduce spending by $13 billion and increase tax revenues by $3 billion.

Several sources, who asked not to be identified, said White House budget director David A. Stockman is the administration's leading advocate of increased taxes to curb a growing 1982 deficit and fulfill President Reagan's pledge to balance the budget by 1984.

But congressional opposition to a new spending cut that large has forced the administration to consider plans by Senate Republicans for a package of $8.5 billion in spending reductions and $6.2 billion in tax increases.

Treasury sources said Stockman and other officials at the Office of Management and Budget have been the driving force behind administration consideration of major tax-raising proposals because they believe they cannot persuade Congress to cut government programs enough to balance the budget.

An OMB source, who did not want to be identified, confirmed that Stockman is interested in new sources of revenue but insisted that the budget office "is not pushing for anything specific."

Other administration sources, however, said the OMB has promoted several specific proposals, such as raising cigarette and alcohol excise taxes and narrowing deductions for interest and health insurance.

Pathologist: Evidence shows Daniel struggled

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — A prosecutor in the Vickie Daniel murder trial says it is "conjecture only" that the defendant's husband grabbed the death weapon moments before he was shot to death.

But a Houston pathologist testified Monday metal-trace tests performed on the hands of former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. do not rule out that possibility.

Harris County Medical Examiner Joseph Jachimczyk said the tests reflect a metal-trace pattern "consistent" with such a theory.

The testimony plunges the heart of a defense contention that Daniel might have grabbed the .22-caliber rifle his wife was holding and caused it to discharge accidentally, causing his fatal wound.

"You can't say with any certainty that he gripped that gun, can you?" asked District Attorney Carroll Wilborn.

"No, sir," Jachimczyk replied.

He also said the metal-trace pattern could have been made had Daniel picked up a handful of coathangers.

It was Wilborn who later told newsmen that it was "conjecture only" and that he and the defense could swap such conjecture indefinitely.

Mrs. Daniel, 34, the victim's second wife, all but admitted shooting her husband but said it was an accident.

Daniel, 39, died Jan. 19 at the couple's home on a sprawling 3,000-acre ranch just outside Liberty.

Jachimczyk, the state's sixth witness, told the jury Daniel died of an abdominal bullet wound that severed the body's main artery.

He said the missile entered just below and to the right of the navel, penetrated the intestine, cut the aorta and lodged in a vertebra. Jachimczyk said Daniel might have lived 10 or 15 minutes after the shooting but would have lost consciousness very quickly because of heavy internal bleeding.

The pudgy, widely respected pathologist said the bullet was fired at close range and traveled upwards at a 20-degree angle.

Mrs. Daniel had testified during a bitter child-custody hearing she did not remember firing the fatal shot but said the rifle discharged as Daniel descended an attic stairwell.

Jachimczyk's testimony appeared to corroborate contentions that a physical confrontation between the couple preceded the shooting. He said he found bruises, cuts and scratches on Daniel's nose, chin, chest, knuckle, wrist and shin and said they were

"consistent with a struggle."

Lead defense lawyer Jack Zimmerman asked Jachimczyk if the marks could have been made if Daniel were the aggressor in the struggle.

Could Price's knuckle bruise, for example, be the result "of a punch being thrown?" Zimmerman asked.

"Yes, sir," Jachimczyk replied.

Mrs. Daniel maintains she and her husband argued over their pending divorce and that he struck her shortly before the shooting.

She has portrayed the widely known, generally respected Daniel as a hard-drinking, drug-using womanizer with homosexual tendencies and no qualms about abusing her or her children.

Jachimczyk said at the time of death, Daniel's bloodstream contained the equivalent of one and one-half ounces of hard liquor and he conducted no drug tests.

Outwardly, however, Daniel was circumspect, a reform legislator and the namesake son of three-time Texas Gov. Price Daniel, himself a former U.S. Senator, state legislator and Texas Supreme Court justice.

Daniel might have lived 10 or 15 minutes after the wound but he would have lost consciousness quickly because of heavy internal bleeding

Group wins revisions of funeral pamphlet

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A consumers group that complained about portions of the State Board of Morticians' information pamphlet on funerals has won some revisions, but might have to go to court to force others.

Consumers Union in August asked the board to change several passages in the pamphlet, including those regarding caskets, funeral costs and embalming.

In a letter received by CU on Monday, the board said some of the changes would be made. However, no change will be made in the section on embalming. That long-standing fight could wind up in the courts.

CU lawyer Carol Barger said the organization is considering filing suit against the board.

Embalming is a procedure that has sparked angry words between the funeral industry and consumer groups, who say the industry misleads people into believing embalming is necessary.

CU's complaint about the pamphlet's answer to the question, "What is the purpose of embalming?" The answer begins with the words, "Embalming sanitizes..."

The dictionary says "sanitary" means pertaining to preservation of health, according to CU. The State Health Department has declared that embalming serves no public health purpose.

CU wanted a revised answer, saying, in part: "What embalming achieves is a subject of much scientific debate. ... It is largely a matter of personal choice and no claim that embalming is a sanitary or public health measure should be accepted."

Defending its decision not to make changes in the embalming section, the board said, "The term 'sanitizes' means to reduce the number of bacteria to an acceptable level; the embalming process accomplishes this function..."

Ms. Barger said the funeral industry is against any changes regarding embalming because "it's the big-dollar issue in the industry." She said the word "sanitizes" in the pamphlet has a strong influence on consumers' decisions on embalming.

No early freeze seen

COLLEGE STATION — Most areas of Texas likely will not get an early freeze this year.

Keith Hayes, agricultural meteorologist with the National Weather Service at Texas A&M University, says near normal temperatures should prevail at least through mid-November.

Freezing temperatures can be a boon to certain agricultural operations, such as cotton harvesting in western areas and the plains. Freezing temperatures at the right time can get the crop ready for harvesting. However, an early freeze can damage cotton if the crop is late, as is the case this year in some locations.

With colder weather approaching, cattlemen must prepare for feeding their livestock and also need to remember that a frost or freeze can cause prussic acid poisoning in livestock grazing sudan or sorghum pastures or crop residues.

Home owners need to think about protecting tender vegetation.

TAKING IN THE GLORY — Los Angeles Dodgers pitcher Fernando Valenzuela is doused with champagne by teammate Tom Niedenfuer after the Dodgers won the National League title over the Expos Monday in Montreal. Valenzuela got the win in the 2-1 Dodger victory.

Rick Monday's HR in 9th gives Dodgers NL pennant

MONTREAL (AP) — If Rick Monday decides to retire, he'll always remember that he went out of baseball as a hero. Monday, who smashed the game-winning home run that gave the National League pennant to the Los Angeles Dodgers Monday and put them in the World Series against New York, is considering retiring to take a broadcasting job. But, as he noted, they don't pour champagne on you for good work behind a microphone. "This makes the decision pleasantly more difficult," said Monday, who completed his 15th major-league season as a part-time player. "The question is whether I forego the opportunity of another career offering longevity to come back to baseball for one or two more years. I've been talking with my wife and we'll talk some more." The conversation will have to wait. For the moment, Monday has other things to occupy his mind. The Series — "The Fall Classic," shouted Monday — begins tonight. "I can't wait," chortled Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda, going up against the Yankees for the third time in the last five years. "I believed from Day 1 we could come back and beat them," said Lasorda, whose team rallied in both the divisional playoff against Houston and the League Championship Series against Montreal. "I believed it more than anything in my life." Los Angeles lost two straight against Houston before sweeping the next three in the divisional series, then had to win two straight on the road against Montreal to capture the NL pennant. The clincher was a tense 2-1 victory, decided in the final inning. "This team is not too easy on the heart," said Monday. "If you've got a weak heart, you'd better not come to our games." Monday said he almost missed the most dramatic moment of his career. "I wanted a ball I could handle," he said, "something I could get my bat on." Steve Rogers, working in relief, had offered one on his first pitch to Monday, who fouled it off. "I thought to myself, 'You won't see another one like that to hit,'" Monday said. But he did. On 3-1, Rogers delivered a belt-high fastball. "A mechanical mistake," the Montreal ace said. Monday jumped on it. But it was almost premature. Dodger pitcher Fernando Valenzuela, working on a brilliant three-hitter, retired the first two Montreal hitters in the ninth before walking both Gary Carter and Larry Parrish on 3-2 pitches. That brought Bob Welch into the game, and he needed just one pitch to retire Jerry White and finish the job. Jerry Reuss will open the Series against the Yankees tonight, and Burt Hooton, named the playoff's Most Valuable Player, is almost certain to be the Game Two pitcher Wednesday night. That would leave Friday night's third game in Los Angeles to Valenzuela.

In World Series

Tommy John excited about meeting ex-mates

By the Associated Press. When Rick Monday hit the ninth-inning shot into the right-center field stands of Montreal's Olympic Stadium to move the Los Angeles Dodgers into the World Series, perhaps no one was more excited than the New York Yankees' Tommy John. "You can't play seven years with a team without getting close to the guys," said the crafty All-Star pitcher with the restructured left arm. "Like Tom Lasorda, I still bleed some Dodger blue." If he actually bleeds Dodger blue, it oozes through Yankee pinstripes, because John, 38, is one of owner George Steinbrenner's big weapons in the chamionship series, beginning tonight at Yankee Stadium. As a Dodger, he appeared in three games against the Yankees in the 1977 and 1978 show-downs, winning one and losing one. Now, as the starter in the second game Wednesday night, he could face his old teammates twice before the series is decided over the next 10 days.

"I'll break my knuckles trying to whip 'em," John vowed. Someone asked the tall, lean Hoosier from Terre Haute, Ind., if he thought his long association with the Dodgers would give him any sort of pitching edge. "No, that's kind of ridiculous," he said. "It will be the same as if we faced Montreal or some other team. With no designated hitter, I don't know how I'm going to pitch to Burt Hooton," who may be the Dodgers' starting pitcher in Game 2. Tommy was delighted at the prospect of a Yankee-Dodger series, predicting that it would do more than anything else to heal some of the negative aspects of the six-week strike that chopped the season in half and disenchanted millions of fans. "These are two of the most highly recognized teams in baseball, both of them with a great tradition," he said. John said he had found some striking similarities in the two longtime World Series rivals, but also some marked differences. "The Dodgers are more conservative and more public-relations minded," said the veteran pitcher. "The locker room is looser. There are no off-limits in the clubhouse. The Dodgers give the press wide latitude and demand that players be cooperative with fans and the press alike. They are proud of the nice-guy Dodger image and do everything possible to preserve it." John said the Yankees were just as possessive of their image but treated it in a different light. "The Yankees are more austere," he said. "They say, 'Look, we are the best, the kings — you come to us if you want anything.' And the press does."

Penn State, Pitt make history in grid poll

By the Associated Press. Penn State and Pittsburgh moved into the top two positions in The Associated Press college football today, the first time in 36 years that two Eastern teams have been ranked 1-2. With Texas, last week's No. 1 team, falling to 10th after a 42-11 rout at the hands of Arkansas, the way was cleared for Penn State and Pitt, 2-3 a week ago, to move up in a tight race.

Penn State, a 41-16 winner over Syracuse, received 36 1/2 of 66 first-place votes and 1,283 1/2 of a possible 1,320 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters. Pitt, which trounced Florida State 42-14, received 26 1/2 first-place votes and 1,277 1/2 points. The loss sank Florida State from 11th to 20th. The other three first-place ballots went to North Carolina, which defeated North Carolina State 21-10 and rose from fourth to third with 1,155 points. The last time two Eastern teams led the poll was in 1945, a war year, when Army and Navy finished 1-2. Penn State is the fifth team to be ranked No. 1 this season. There have never been more than five No. 1 teams in one year since The AP poll began in 1936. The other 1981 leaders were Michigan, Notre Dame, Southern California and Texas. Clemson, a 38-10 winner over Duke, jumped from sixth place to fourth with 1,033 points. It marks the first time that two Atlantic Coast Conference teams —

North Carolina and Clemson — have ever been among the top five. Southern Cal climbed from seventh to fifth with 994 points by defeating Stanford 25-17 and giant-killer Iowa shot from 12th to sixth with 928 points for a 9-7 upset of Michigan, which skidded from fifth to 18th. Georgia's defending national champions moved up from ninth to seventh with 902 points after mauling Vanderbilt 53-21, while Southern Methodist climbed from 10th to eighth with 848 points after a 35-22 trouncing of Houston. Missouri, last week's No. 8 team, dropped to 19th after losing to Iowa State 34-13. Rounding out the Top Ten are Mississippi State, up from 16th following a 14-10 triumph over Miami, Fla., that knocked the losers out of the Top Twenty, and Texas with 641 and 618 points, respectively. The Second Ten consists of Alabama, Arkansas, Brigham Young, Iowa, Nebraska, Washington State, Arizona State, Michigan, Missouri and Florida State. Last week, it was Florida State, Iowa, Alabama, Wisconsin, Alabama, Mississippi State, BYU, Washington State, Nebraska and Arizona State. Miami's loss to Mississippi State cost the Hurricanes their spot in the Top Twenty and Wisconsin disappeared after losing to Michigan State 33-14. Meanwhile,

Arkansas vaulted back into the Top Twenty for the second time this season and Iowa State returned after a one-week absence. Booster Club meets tonight

The Big Spring Sports Booster Club will meet tonight at seven o'clock in the BSHS coaches office. At that time, films of the Steers 24-6 loss to undefeated and defending state champion Odessa Permian will be shown, as well as a report of this week's foe, the Midland Lee Rebels. All those interested are urged to attend.

Lady Steers in big test tonight

MIDLAND — A pair of girls volleyball teams still with high hopes of claiming the second half title in District 5-A meet here tonight when the Midland Lee Rebels host the Big Spring Lady Steers at seven o'clock. The Lady Steers are a perfect 3-0 in the second half, but Lee is not far behind at 2-1. The Lee girls lost to San Angelo last week. A loss would be costly for both teams, as they would have to win the second half title outright over San Angelo, the first half winner.

The Lady Steers will return home on Thursday for a clash with Abilene Cooper. There will also be a JV game tonight beginning at six. BSMS freshmen rally to win. The Big Spring freshmen volleyball team rallied to defeat the Sweetwater ninth grade girls Monday evening, taking the win by scores of 7-15, 15-9, 15-11. Gloria Bustamante had 12 service points to pace the BSMS crew, with Adrienne Allen adding nine, Teresa Adamson seven and Rosie Garcia and Lisa Subia three each. The freshmen return to action this weekend in the Snyder Tournament.

C-City girls take biggie. COLORADO CITY (SC) — The Colorado High girls' varsity volleyball team served, spiked, set and saved their way against Breckenridge Monday night in Wolf Gym to tie for the district lead 15-8 and 15-10. Local fans jammed the gymnasium to cheer the team on to victory for which Coach George Martin expressed his gratitude. "We believed we could win. But the great number of fans gave us the impetus to get on the court and hustle. Last night's efforts showed the girls to be the most aggressive they've been all season. We're proud of them, as well as grateful to the fans. We wanted to pack the gym and we did." The playoff game will be in Abilene with the date to be announced.

Goliad girls split matches

The Goliad White volleyball team won their match over Sweetwater, but the Black was not as fortunate. The White team won 16-14, 13-15, 15-12 in a hard fought match. Michelle Husted had 12 service points, with Michelle Cox adding eight and Pam Palmer five. The Black team lost 15-5, 10-15, 7-15. Leading server was Connie Swinney with 15, with Joann Herrera and Tabatha Green adding seven and five, respectively. Outstanding net play was shown by Priscilla Banks. The Goliad girls host Monahans on Thursday.

Runnels, Sweetwater split

Two girls volleyball teams from Runnels JHS split their matches with Snyder yesterday. The White team rallied for a 7-15, 15-11, 15-10 win. Dana Hiltbrunner was the high point server with 10, followed by Delia Leal with eight, Traci Wilkerson and Jana Whitehead with seven, and Tracy Kilgore with three. The Red team lost 13-15, 12-15 to the other Snyder eighth grade crew. Leading server for the Red was Denisa Brown with 10, followed by Tammi Green and Lana Fletcher with four, and Amanda Solis with three. Both Runnels teams play Monahans at home on Thursday.

You'll learn many simple do-it-yourself ideas for conserving energy by attending one of Texas Electric's Operation Tighten-Up workshops. They're free, and last only about an hour.

Learning to save energy and money at home is important, especially since electricity will cost more next year. This is partly because the last of our contracts to buy low-cost natural gas expires December 31.

We'll show you how you can help hold down your bill at one of our Operation Tighten-Up workshops. To find out when and where there will be a workshop in your neighborhood, just call Texas Electric.

NEW YORK (AP) — includes some fine comedic actors, far superior to the stand-up comedians who helped unravel last year's "Saturday Night" bomb.

But it's never going to be the old show of the mid-'70s and should quit trying. Originals benefit from creating forms, even to the extent that those new molds help overcome deficiencies of content. The new "Saturday Night Live" must now emphasize its own strengths.

That means continuing to shoot for a pseudo-variety show, centering on comedy, but avoiding a laugh factory, showcasing the marvelous singing talents of Christine Ebersole; doing musical parodies, and inviting fresh comedy talent from the outside (juggler Michael Davis the first week and magician Harry Anderson last Saturday).

It's tough to fill 90 minutes with yuks each week, particularly since the troupe doesn't appear to have the strong personalities that allowed Chevy Chase, Gilda Radner, John Belushi, Dan Ackroyd and Bill Murray to rise above their material.

So far, only one member of the ensemble can cause the studio audience to stir whenever he's in the wings — Eddie Murphy. Only when John Candy of SCTV made a cameo appearance did the audience register similar excitement Saturday night.

Saturday, Murphy scored with a wicked parody of Fred Rogers, the super subdued kid-show host, in "Mister Robinson's Neighborhood," and a pimp-for-profit-pitch to women wanting big bucks without leaving their bedrooms: "The Velvet Jones School of Technology."

Miss Ebersole and Mary Gross appear to be the next best bets to gain stardom. Two Saturdays ago, Miss Ebersole's haunting song about lonely women and lonely bars was as touching as it was beautiful. And on Saturday, Miss Gross, as Marilyn Monroe, did a biting production number about writers exploiting the foibles of celebrities.

Executive producer Dick Ebersol, past producer of the "Midnight Special," is more conscious of music and its parody possibilities. He's also well-connected here. Getting Rod Stewart, The Kinks and Miles Davis in the first three weeks were musical coups.

Saturday nights have the lowest viewership of the week, and this is reflected by the slim TV fare. It looks like late Saturday nights, though, are in good hands again.

Three draw prison terms

In 118th District Court yesterday, three individuals pleaded guilty before Judge Jim Gregg and received prison sentences to the Texas Department of Corrections.

Anthony Harold Limuel, 17, entered a guilty plea to charges of aggravated robbery of a Mobil service station in Big Spring on July 14, 1981. Limuel, of San Angelo, received an eight-year sentence.

Leroy Alridge, 26, pleaded guilty to burglary charges and received a three-year sentence.

Alridge lists his address as 1506B Virginia.

Mark Lee Smith, 21, pleaded guilty to revocation of probation and was assessed a three-year sentence. Smith, of 1804 Dixie, was on probation for a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

- If you live in a warm climate, remember that light-colored roofing can help keep houses cooler.

A dozen drugs said to be found in Elvis Presley's body

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — When Elvis Presley died, his blood and tissues contained toxic levels of the sedative methaqualone, 10 times more codeine than needed for therapy and low levels of 10 other drugs, including morphine, a biochemist testified.

The testimony Monday in the drug trial of Dr. George Nichopoulos, Presley's physician, marked the first official release of any of the evidence that went into the rock 'n' roll idol's autopsy.

Presley's death on Aug. 16, 1977, at the age of 42 was said by the medical examiner of Shelby County to be the result of heart, disease. Published reports have said

Presley's death was related to drug abuse, but the autopsy itself, requested by the singer's family and conducted by nine doctors, including Nichopoulos, has been kept secret. "I have not seen the number of drugs in one serum or blood sample as we found in this person," said Norman Weissman, a biochemist with Bio Science Laboratories of Van Nuys, Calif., one of five laboratories that tested tissues and blood from Presley's body.

Nichopoulos, a 53-year-old internist, went on trial Sept. 30 charged with prescribing excessive amounts of amphetamines, barbiturates and painkillers for himself.

'Project Pompeii' under way

POMPEII, Italy (AP) — Italy launched an international "Project Pompeii" today to build a giant umbrella or dome over the 2,000-year-old ruins and save one of the world's most popular tourist sites from the ravages of nature and mankind.

Announcement of the $100 million plan coincided with the retrieval in West Germany of six marble and bronze statuettes stolen three years ago from the often plundered city.

Trying to drum up interest — and funds — for the project, Culture and Environment Minister Vincenzo Scotti is setting out today on a week-long trip to inaugurate major exhibits from the ancient Roman city in Washington, in Lille, France, and in Mexico City.

"We have already lost a lot (from decay of the ruins). Humanity has lost a lot, which will never be recovered," Scotti told an auditorium packed with archaeologists, local officials and members of the European Parliament.

In the year A.D. 79, a blanket of volcanic ash and cinders from nearby Mount Vesuvius buried one of the Roman empire's most bustling cities and its 20,000 inhabitants.

In 1748, archaeologists unearthed the city and Germany's classic writer Johann Wolfgang von Goethe declared prophetically: "Of all the world's catastrophes, none has provoked so much joy to successive generations."

Thieves also have plundered the city in nighttime incursions.

In 1978, a gang made off with six statuettes of cherubs and ducks from the archaeological museum. The statuettes had originally been in the House of Vetti, the most popular building of the 635,000-square-yard city.

Col. Pio Alferano, of the Culture Ministry's investigative paramilitary police section, tracked down the thieves in Munich, Cologne and Frankfurt and recovered the works.

Thatcher to tighten budget

LONDON (AP) — Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher is considering new curbs on state spending even as criticism mounts that her tight-money policy is exacerbating unemployment — already at 12.4 percent and expected to go higher.

She was planning to call a Cabinet meeting to discuss further restraints, while forecasters were suggesting that new figures due out today would push the October unemployment toll closer to the 3 million mark.

The two events symbolize the record of Mrs. Thatcher's Conservative Party administration, elected with a sweeping majority in 1979 on a promise to tackle inflation and encourage free enterprise.

In September, 2.9 million people were out of work — 12.4 percent of the nation's work force. As a result, there are calls from within and outside the Conservative Party for Mrs. Thatcher to ease her tight-money policy.

Britain's rightist prime minister remains undaunted in her belief that monetarist limits on state spending and borrowing will eventually curb inflation, while British industry will emerge more competitive from the present slump.

But her policies have coincided with a deepening world recession in which industry stagnates, high interest rates prevail and unemployment in Britain has soared to its highest level for 50 years.

The Confederation of British Industry, representing big business, predicted Sunday that 3.5 million will be out of work by next year and that 1 million of them will be teen-agers.

Most of the young people questioned in polls taken after last summer's rioting in British cities said unemployment was a major cause behind the trouble.

Small business frustrations

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — You can't talk to small-business people today without the subject of interest rates coming up, accompanied by frustration and anger, and it seems, mounting hostility to the Reagan economic program.

Their anger isn't confined to President Reagan alone. It goes back a long way, well into the 1960s and the beginning of almost constant inflation, years in which small business feels it suffered too quietly. An economist of the National Federation of Independent Business, which has more than 500,000 members, summed up the growing despair in testimony late last week before a House Small Business subcommittee. "The state of small business is dangerously weak," said Edison Zayas, the economist. "Over the last year, thousands of small firms have gone out of business, and today many more are just holding on." "For years now, the balance sheets of small firms have been eroded by an extensive period of sluggish real sales, along with high, unexpected in-
