Haitian saga coming to an end

By BILL ELDER
Staff Writer

The saga of the Haitians in Big Spring appears to be drawing to a close.

Only 10 of the original 100 Haitians — all of them men — remain at the Big Spring Federal Prison Camp. Three were repatriated after they asked to be sent to Haiti, and 87 were transferred to a prison with tighter security in El Paso after they staged an all-night demonstration recently.

And as far as prison camp Superintendent John Allman is concerned, "The Haitian story in Big Spring is over." As time wore on and the Haitians became edgy over their confinement, they became an increasing security risk for Allman.

"There will never be any more Haitians in Big Spring," Allman says, anticipating an influx of 90 "regular" inmates between now and December.

"We tried it," says Allman of the temporary detention of the Haitians in Big Spring while the federal government subjects them to deportation hearings, "but I'm not going to do it again. I've already said (to Department of Justice higher-ups) that I don't want any more."

The prison holds 500 prisoners but Allman likes to keep the maximum at about 450, he says. The 90 inmates he's been told to prepare for in the next few months should boost his inmate population to about 350, Allman says.

Already the dormitory where the Haitians were housed apart from the regular inmates is being converted back to normal use. Allman says the prison will fire five employees to handle the new batch of inmates at Sunset Hall, the dorm where the Haitians stayed.

The fate of the remaining 10 Haitians is stalled by court order (as is the fate of some 800 Haitians around the country, who were scheduled to be deported or undergo deportation hearings until a Miami-based Haitian aid center blocked the deportation process in U.S. court).

After a series of temporary restraining orders issued last month, it appears the center has won a permanent injunction against what it claims is an inequitable deportation process. The Department of Justice is appealing the injunction with the Atlanta-based 11th Circuit Court of Appeals, according to Wayne Joy, an associate commissioner with the Dallas office of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

In the meantime, the 10 Big Spring Haitians appear content with their lives.

"They say they'd like to stay here forever — but of course that's not possible," explains Allman. The men keep busy by working in prison facilities and putting together mailbags used by the postal service.

They didn't participate in the demonstration, Allman says, because "they said they felt it wouldn't do any good. They thought we were doing all we could for them."

Joy says it's "not being contemplated" by the central office of the INS in Washington D.C. to send more Haitians to Big Spring.

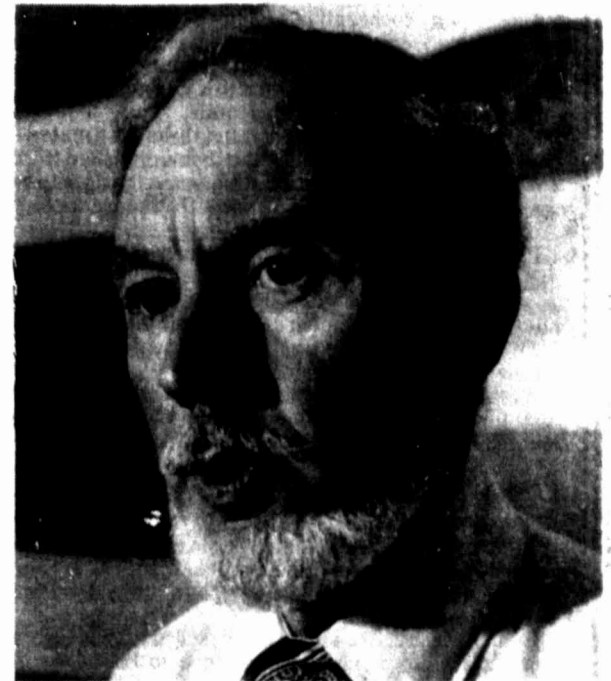

"If they have plans," he says of the INS top administration, "I'm not aware of them."

Area ministers, meanwhile, maintain plans to obtain the release of the Haitians to a sponsoring family or families in Big Spring.

"I'd sure like to (get them released)," says Pastor Bill Henning Jr. of the First Presbyterian Church.

Henning sits on the Haitian Refugee Committee, a group of local ministers pursuing the Haitians' release. Henning says he hasn't checked in with the committee lately to get an update on its efforts, but as far as he's concerned, "Those 10 guys are still here and if we could get them released to a sponsoring group in town, I'd sure like to see that."

INS officials say the question of whether the men will be deported must be resolved before steps to care for them and get them started on a new life in America can be taken.

'Who runs SWCID?' aired at HC trustees meeting

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer

Complaints about the chain of command within the Howard County Junior College District concerning Howard College and the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf were among several items aired at Tuesday's district board meeting.

Members of the board, Dr. Charles Hays, district president, and Dr. Doug Burke, vice-president of SWCID, listened to Mrs. Robert Phillips, Dallas, and Ruben Shaffer during the meeting.

Mrs. Phillips is "the parent of a child at SWCID" who is also actively involved in deaf awareness programs in Texas, such as the Deaf Action Center in Dallas.

Shaffer is also the father of a deaf son, who graduated from Gallaudet College. Shaffer said he maintains his interest in the deaf community in Texas and is the founder of the parents association of the El Paso Center for the Deaf.

Both Mrs. Phillips and Shaffer addressed the board, saying they were "real proud that SWCID is located in Big Spring. We're here to explain the problems as we see them."

During her address to the board, Mrs. Phillips questioned "who is in charge?" and "Who runs SWCID?" Mrs. Phillips read from a Senate Bill 892, which relates to the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf.

The bill states "the institute (SWCID) is under the direct control and management of the board of trustees of the Howard County Junior College District."

Another section of the bill also states "the institute and its programs shall be administered by personnel who are trained and qualified to work with hearing-impaired students and are fluent in manual communication skills."

Shaffer also questioned the board about the chain of command. "Who is the head of SWCID?" he asked. "Dr. Burke is no longer executive director. Dr. Burke is the only one at district level. SWCID is part of the district."

Mrs. Phillips later spoke again, saying "Dr. Burke is a brilliant man. He knows what deaf people need."

She questioned whether Dr. Burke had an opportunity to meet with the board to discuss his opinions on how SWCID should be operated.

"He's in a better position to explain what goes on at SWCID than Dr. Hays," she said. "You get second-hand information from Dr. Hays."

Dr. Hays later addressed the board, Mrs. Phillips and Shaffer.

Concerning the chain of command, Dr. Hays said "I have always been in control of SWCID." He said Dr. Burke is over the instructors at SWCID, and that Dr. Burke answers "directly to me."

Dr. Hays said Dr. Burke makes recommendations to him concerning administrative policies and hiring of personnel. "There have been few cases where I have overruled his decision."

Dr. Hays also said "I'm no deaf educator. I never said I was." He added later he felt the district offered "good, solid education" to both deaf and hearing students.

Things on the SWCID campus, and on the Howard College campus "are not as nice as we'd like. We're hoping to do better."

Dr. P.W. Malone, board member, also had a chance to address the group, and said "We've left the major portion of advising to Dr. Burke. Not a single one of us on the board knows a thing about the hard of hearing or deaf."

Don McKinney, board president, said "Dr. Burke is welcomed to give his input."

Another question that was brought up was the condition of the dormitories at SWCID. The Herald ran a picture earlier this year which showed a section of an ex-military barracks which is being renovated as a dorm for boys at SWCID. The dorm is not yet ready for students, and several boys are being housed in a temporary barracks on the west end of the Industrial Park.

Mrs. Phillips said when she visited her son at the local school several weeks ago, she was dismayed at the conditions of the temporary dorm.

She said her son was living in "filth" and said she found it interesting that "today (there are district maintenance personnel) waxing the floors. They only just began last week to remodel the dorms. What's being going on all this time?"

AIRING COMPLAINTS — Mrs. Robert Phillips, Dallas, and Ruben Shaffer, El Paso, talk with members of the Howard County Junior College District Board Tuesday.

Dr. Hays later spoke about the dormitory situation. He said the boys dorm wasn't ready for the fall semester because "we couldn't get the land from the G.S.A." and said he was afraid to move the dorms until "we had the deed in hand. We finally got the deed in late, late summer."

"It's been a comedy of delays," Hays said, "caused by the bureaucracy of the federal government."

He also said "No state money is allowed to go toward the construction or renovation of dormitories." He said state money is designated to go toward instruction and instructors' salaries.

"Where do you folks think that money is coming from?" Hays asked. He later said "We've done everything we can." See Trustees page 2A

Demo Byrd to oppose AWACS deal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Robert C. Byrd, handing President Reagan a major setback, announced today he will vote against the proposed sale of AWACS surveillance planes to Saudi Arabia.

The announcement by the veteran West Virginia lawmaker could influence the decisions of other Democrats against the deal.

Before Byrd announced his decision, Senate Republican Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. of Tennessee made clear he thought his Democratic counterpart's vote could prove pivotal in the president's battle to win congressional approval of the Saudi arms sale.

Baker had said Byrd's support of the deal "would certainly help" but would not guarantee approval. "I would hope we would win it," the GOP leader said.

With the vote just a week away, Reagan worked without success Tuesday in his lobbying efforts in behalf of the sale.

Mitchell County shooting case is thrown out

AUSTIN — A Mitchell County shooting case was thrown out by the Court of Criminal Appeals today because the judge's charge to the jury was defective.

Jimmy Luera was convicted of aggravated assault in 32nd District Court and sentenced by Judge Weldon Kirk to five years in prison.

Luera had been indicted on two counts — attempted murder and aggravated assault — in the shooting of Charles Robinson.

The appeals court ruled that the judge's jury charge was defective because it said an aggravated assault conviction would be possible upon a finding that the defendant caused bodily harm.

"The indictment made no allegation that (Luera) caused bodily injury, nor did it make any allegation that would include that result," the appeals court said.

As a result of the court's reversal of the conviction, Luera must be retried for the shooting or released from the charge.

SIGN LANGUAGE

Today's sign is "thank you."

Melanie McKay is pictured here in the process of signing the word.

To sign thank or thank you, place the tips of the open hand against the mouth, and throw it forward, sort of as if you were throwing a kiss.

The sign may also be signed with two hands.

In Tuesday's sign language photo, we switched the photos. To sign understand, you first place your hand in the shape of the "S" symbol against your forehead or to the side of the forehead, then snap your finger upwards, sort of like a light bulb going off over your head.

THANK YOU — Melanie McKay, a student at the southWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, signs thank you.

OOPS! — Kim Powers signs "understand." In Tuesday's Herald, we switched the pictures by mistake. "Understand" should be signed as it is pictured here.

Weeks resigns as trustee

Members of the Howard County Junior College Board of Trustees accepted the resignation of board member George Weeks during Tuesday's board meeting.

Trustees Harold Davis and James Barr were named to select a replacement for Weeks.

In other business, board members named John Weeks as coliseum director. Weeks, the son of George Weeks, was given a 12-month contract and will be paid $14,000 a year.

Board members also accepted a bid of used in the district's $56,739.50 for 18 personal drafting department.

Digest

GNP reported down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. economy slid backwards at an annual rate of 0.6 percent in the July-September quarter, the government reported today in the clearest signal yet of national recession.

The Commerce Department report said inflation-adjusted gross national product — the broadest measure of American economic activity — fell for the second quarter in a row, having declined at a rate of 1.6 percent in the April-June period.

Those two consecutive declines meet the most common benchmark for deciding when a merely sluggish economy has slipped into genuine recession, a period characterized by production cutbacks, worker layoffs and slow or falling sales totals.

One month ago, department officials had estimated a 0.5 percent rate of decline for the then-unfinished third quarter, but many analysts had expected the drop to be somewhat larger in light of recently fading factory production and rising unemployment.

President Reagan himself declared last weekend that the economy appeared to have fallen into "a slight ... and I hope a short recession." He and his advisers have blamed the downturn on problems inherited from former President Carter, but political foes have blamed Reagan.

As the economy cools down in a recession, inflation also tends to fall, but the new Commerce report indicated that welcome side effect is not occurring.

Death sentence reversed

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals today reversed the death sentence of a Hunt County man convicted of killing a gas station attendant during a robbery.

Kent Anthony Graham won a new trial because a prospective juror was excluded due to his concerns about capital punishment.

Graham was convicted of capital murder in the April 19, 1979, shooting death of Linda Mae Rogers. The appeals court said Jeffrey Scott Graham, the defendant's brother, gave a voluntary statement that he and his brother planned to rob the service station. He said his brother followed the attendant into the station and shot her.

The Court of Criminal Appeals said there was sufficient evidence for the conviction. However, the verdict was overturned because a potential juror was excused after he said the chance that the case would involve a death sentence would affect his deliberations.

The U.S. Supreme Court has said a juror cannot be excused merely for acknowledging the severity of the death penalty.

Corrected tax statements due to be mailed next week

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Chief appraiser Mike Burt, of the Mitchell County Tax Appraisal District, said he expects the corrected tax statements by the end of the week.

According to Burt, the statements will then be double checked and placed in the mail sometime during the week of Oct. 26.

The tax district will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. Thursday on its proposed 1982 budget of $173,000.

Three murder counts returned by jurors

The Howard County Grand Jury returned nine indictments yesterday, including three for murder.

True billed — indicted — for murder were Jose Crecincio Brito, Steve Harper, and Porfirio Rios.

Brito is charged with the Sept. 5 murder of Octavio Olivares Harper, charged with the murder of Harold Boy, was also true billed for aggravated assault and rape. Rios is charged with the April 5 murder of Daniel Ruiz.

The grand jury also true billed the following: Charles Russell Carter, charged with credit card abuse; Barney Glen Cockrum, charged with failure to stop and render aid; and Daniel Morales Martinez, charged with burglary and aggravated assault.

True billed as well were Jimmie Padilla Yanez, charged with attempted aggravated rape; Valerie Brenda Toney, charged with theft by check; and Carl Vanlaningham, charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

The following cases were not-billed (charges dropped): were David Contreras, burglary; John Frank Emerson, rape and Odell Domino, murder.

The grand jury passed the following cases to be considered at a later time: Henry Guzman, charged with rape of a child, and Jesus Diaz Lopez, charged with indecency with a child.

Police Beat Two theft suspects arrested

Police detectives arrested two men on felony theft charges Tuesday morning, according to police reports.

Clayton Coffman, 30, of Coahoma, was arrested on a charge of theft over $200 at 9:06 a.m. in Sand Springs, police said.

James Miller, 28, of the OK Trailer Court, was arrested on a charge of theft over $200 at the trailer court at 10 a.m., police said.

John Holden of the Southland Apartments on Air Base Road complained to police Tuesday that his welding truck was broken into and several pieces of equipment worth $110 were stolen.

A.J. Butler of 206 E. 16th complained Tuesday that someone kicked in a storm door to his home and caused $150 worth of damage, police said.

Claudene Floyd of 2502 Kelly told police Tuesday that shots were fired into her home, causing $420 worth of could do with what we have had to work with."

Board member Harold Davis asked Mrs. Phillips "Do you think the (temporary) dorm is better than nothing?" She replied "Hardly."

"Then we'll disband it" McKinney said. Shaffer spoke up, saying the dorm was better than nothing, but that he and Mrs. Phillips were questioning its condition.

Mrs. Phillips also brought up what she felt were discrepancies in college policies as contained in a district catalogue.

Several of the programs listed in the catalogue "are not being offered" she said.

Another part of the catalogue says TDDs, telecommunications devices for the deaf which are used to make phone calls, are in the dormitories for the hearing-impaired students.

They are there, Mrs. Phillips said "But they don't work. I've made numerous attempts to call my son" she told board members.

Also outlined in the catalogue are sports programs, and intramural programs. "My son lettered in sports for three years in high school. Out here, there's nothing. Not even a P.E. teacher."

Dr. Hays argued that point, saying that SWCID did have a recreational director, and that students could take P.E. programs on the Howard College campus.

Dr. Hays said he felt it was more important that qualified instructors in subjects such as math, history and English be hired for the SWCID campus.

Shaffer, during his talk to the board, Dr. Hays and Dr. Burke, said he wanted to express the appreciation he and members of the deaf community felt to the district for "making it possible for SWCID to exist. We're grateful to the city and to the board for offering a helping hand.

"The deaf community is also grateful to Dr. Hays. He put in a lot of time" on SWCID.

But, Shaffer said, SWCID is similar to the National Technical Institute for the Deaf in Rochester, N.Y. The program there began as it did here, Shaffer said "but deteriorated ... Over the years, the deaf community has been phased out of the picture at NTID."

During the meeting, Mrs. Phillips said she felt Howard College and SWCID "should be two separate entities as far as I'm concerned."

"I don't have anything against anybody. I'm interested in this town. The people have been wonderful."

Following the board meeting, Mrs. Phillips, Dr. Hays, Shaffer and Dr. Burke met with board member Don McKinney.

Dr. Hays said he felt the result of the meeting was that there were those who "want complete autonomy, and complete control of SWCID" separate from the HCJCD.

There are those who "don't want Doug to answer to me," Dr. Hays said. "The board is not in agreement with this."

Beginning Jan. 1 in Texas Drivers must carry liability coverage

AUSTIN — Beginning Jan. 1, 1982, Texas drivers contacted by Department of Public Safety officers during traffic stops and vehicle accident investigations will be required to furnish proof of compliance with the new compulsory liability insurance law.

Under House Bill 197, an amendment to the Safety Responsibility Act approved this year by the Texas Legislature, all drivers must carry minimum liability coverage for medical expenses of $10,000 per person ($20,000 for two or more persons) and property damages of $5,000.

Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director, said troopers will accept as evidence of insurance coverage the policy for the vehicle being operated or a document issued by the insurance company.

"Such a document must contain a statement that the liability coverage for the motor vehicle is the minimum prescribed by the law," Adams said. "The document must also include the name of the insurance company, name of the insured person, policy period and policy number. This document may take the form of a letter or a card, depending upon the preference of the insuring company."

Adams pointed out the DPS troopers will be enforcing the provisions of this law along highways and rural roads.

"Local police officers and sheriff's deputies also have the authority to request this information from drivers," the DPS director said. "I am sure most law enforcement agencies in our state will also be enforcing this statute in their respective jurisdictions."

Drivers who do not maintain the specified coverage risk being fined at least $75 for the first offense and a minimum $200 for subsequent violations. In addition, a conviction under this new law will result in the suspension of the violator's driver license and motor vehicle registration unless the violator establishes and maintains proof of financial responsibility for five years from the conviction date.

Adams also said vehicles which are to be used in the driving test by new driver license applicants must be covered by the minimum liability insurance specified by the law. Applicants will have to certify on the license application that the minimum coverage is in effect for the vehicle before they will be permitted to take the driving test.

The DPS director predicted that more Texans will obtain the required liability coverage when the new law goes into effect.

"Current figures show that approximately 74 percent of the drivers involved in accidents carry liability insurance," Adams said. "This indicates that a substantial number of people must secure the required coverage or face the possibility of heavy fines and loss of driving privileges."

Out-of-state, government-owned and self-insured vehicles are exempt from the insurance requirements of the new law. However, drivers of self-insured vehicles will be asked by DPS officers to produce evidence of self-insurance at accident scenes and traffic stops.

Carnival set at Lakeview

The Lakeview Elementary Headstart Program will present a Halloween carnival Saturday, Oct. 24 from 6 to 9 p.m., according to Esmeralda Vargas, spokeswoman for Headstart.

She said refreshments will be served and many booths will be set up for entertainment. A cake walk, a dart throw, bingo games, a country store, and a makeup booth head up the fun and festivities, Mrs. Vargas said.

Tickets will be on sale at the carnival at five for $1, she said. Mrs. Vargas urged all who are interested to attend the event.

Lamesa Chamber names Hance banquet speaker

LAMESA — The Lamesa Area Chamber of Commerce has announced its annual banquet for Monday, Nov. 9 at 7 p.m. in the Lamesa High School Student Center.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Congressman Kent Hance, of Lubbock.

Chamber officials announced that the theme for this year's banquet will be a salute to the Oil and Gas Industry.

Because of limited seating capacity anyone interested in attending the banquet is urged to make reservations as early as possible.

Tickets are now on sale for $7.50 and can be purchased from Chamber directors or at the Chamber office.

Weather

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecasts rain Thursday in a wide band from Texas stretching northeast to New York.

Cold front moves through Panhandle

By The Associated Press
A cold front entered the Panhandle this morning, bringing cooler temperatures to Northwest Texas. Elsewhere, a veil of high, thin cloudiness covered the state except in portions of North Central and Northeast Texas where fair skies were the rule. Winds were southerly at 10 miles an hour across the state.

Temperatures ranged from the upper 30s and 40s in the Panhandle to the 50s and 60s elsewhere with some 70s reported along the coastal bend. The early morning extremes ranged from 39 degrees at Dalhart to 72 degrees at Galveston.

Partly cloudy to cloudy skies were expected to continue over most of Texas today, with scattered showers and light rain in most sections. Highs this afternoon in the mid 50s in the Panhandle to the 70s and 80s elsewhere.

Snow and icy winds blew across the Midwest today, and the snow showers were forecast to continue through parts of Montana, Wyoming and South Dakota.

The cold front of Canadian air dropped temperatures to the teens and 20s, and travel advisories were posted for parts of Montana, Recluse, Wyoming reported eight inches of snow.

Light rain was forecast for the Mississippi Valley and Michigan to northern Maine. Sunny weather should prevail elsewhere.

Temperatures around the nation today ranged from 15 in Lewistown, Mont. to 77 in both Key West and Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Here are the latest weather reports from selected cities.

Eastern U.S.: Atlanta 49 fair, Boston 50 windy, Buffalo 51 cloudy, Charleston, South Carolina 47 fair, Cincinnati 50 fair, Cleveland 58 cloudy, Detroit 51 cloudy, Miami 76 fair, Nashville 53 partly cloudy, New York 49 fair, Philadelphia 46 fair, Pittsburgh 49 fair, Washington 51 fair.

EXTENDED FORECAST
WEST TEXAS: Partly cloudy. Cold Friday then a warming trend Saturday and Sunday. Lows Friday mid 20s north to mid 40s south warming to mid 30s north to mid 40s south Sunday. Highs Friday 40s north to 50s south warming to mid 60s north to mid 70s extreme south Sunday.

which began after a short chase and shootout with police in nearby Nyack, N.Y. Suspects are identified by police as James Hackford, 33, of Queens, N.Y. and Judith Clark, 31, of Manhattan.

Remington recalls defective cartridges

BRIDGEPORT, Conn. — Remington Arms Company, Inc., today announced the recall of defective 7mm Express Remington cartridges which were manufactured in September and October of 1979.

Remington said the defective cartridges may produce higher than normal pressures which could damage some firearms, and which, under some circumstances might cause personal injury. The company also recommended that fired cases from the ammunition not be reloaded because of possible adverse effects.

The 7mm Express Remington cartridges covered by the recall have the following markings on the packages:
Caliber: 7 mm Express Remington.

Bullet: 150 gr. Pointed Soft Point "Core Lokt," Index No.: R7M061 (on outside of end flap),
Lot Nos.: M20F through M29F and M010 through M110 (on inside of end flap).

Remington said it recalled several other lots of 7mm Express Remington cartridges in September 1980 because of a similar problem. The lots, which were manufactured in August 1979, were: M021, M031, M061, M071, M081, M091, and M131.

The company said it is informing wholesalers and dealers to withhold from sale all 7mm Express Remington cartridges in their inventories which bear lot numbers from both recalls. Remington representatives will make arrangements for return of the cartridges.

Consumers who have purchased 7mm Express Remington ammunition since October 1979, bearing any of the lot numbers, should return the unused cartridges and fired cases for free replacement. They should be sent collect via United Parcel Service to:

Weather Underground fugitive is arrested

NANUET, N.Y. (AP) — Katherine Boudin, a Weather Underground fugitive since 1970, was arrested and charged with murder in connection with a Brink's armored car robbery in which a guard and two police officers were killed, authorities said today.

The announcement was made by Rockland County District Attorney Kenneth Gribetz.

Ms. Boudin had been a fugitive since an explosion destroyed a Greenwich Village townhouse that was being used as a bomb factory by the radical group.

Rockland County District Attorney Kenneth Gribetz said Miss Boudin had identified herself as Barbara Edson, 38, after she was arrested Tuesday at a roadblock where two Nyack police officers were killed following the robbery. An armored car guard was killed earlier by the team of bandits.

Miss Boudin was being held without bail in the Rockland County Jail in New City, for a court appearance Friday, Gribetz said.

She is the daughter of Leonard Boudin, a lawyer well known for his defense of left-wing figures.

Miss Boudin had been missing since the blast that destroyed the home of John Wilkerson on Manhattan's West 11th Street, killing three members of the Weather Underground.

She and Wilkerson's daughter, Cathlyn, fled the scene naked.

FREE HEARING TEST SET FOR BIG SPRING THIS WEEK

Free Electronic Hearing tests will be given at Beltone Hearing Aid Office Thursday thru Friday 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. Sat. 9:15 a.m. - 1 p.m.

A factory-trained hearing aid specialist will be at the Beltone office to perform the tests.

Anyone who has trouble hearing is welcome to have a test using the current electronic equipment to determine if his loss is one which may be helped. Some of the causes of hearing loss will be explained, and diagrams of how the ear works will be shown. Audiograms available for your medical records. Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all hearing clearly. Even people now wearing hearing aids or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out whether the modern methods of hearing correction can help them hear better.

The free hearing test will be given at the Beltone Hearing Aid Center-406 Johnson, Big Spring, Texas.

Not to worry ...

The subject of stress has become a hot topic lately. Newspaper articles, magazine articles, television specials and books are spotlighting stress and how to cope with it.

We were amused by an article that was featured in a recent newsletter from the Big Spring Business and Professional Women's Club, Inc.

It says: "Why worry? "Either you are successful, or you are not successful. If you are successful, there is nothing to worry about.

"If you are not successful, there are only two things to worry about. Your health is either good or you are sick.

"If you are sick there are only two things to worry about. You are either going to get well or you are going to die.

"If you are going to die there are only two things for you to worry about. You are either going to Heaven or you are not going to Heaven.

"If you are going to Heaven there is nothing to worry about.

"And if you are not going to Heaven and are going to the other place, you will be so busy shaking hands with old friends and won't have time to worry ... so why worry?"

Underground Egypt

Joseph Kraft

WASHINGTON — In Cairo last May I had a long talk with Muhammad Hassanain Heikal about the Egyptian opposition to President Sadat. Heikal, a leading editor whom Sadat had pushed from a post as presidential counselor to Col. Nasser, made no bones about his own position. He called Sadat, among other things, "an actor without a script."

But when I asked him to assess the extent of the anti-Sadat movement in the country, Heikal threw up his hands and said it was impossible. I asked why. He then told the following story:

In 1975, Heikal visited Iran. He saw the shah, and the chief ministers, and the leading figures in banking and business, and in journalism and the academic world. Still he knew he had seen only part of the picture. He tried to make contact with the opposition, and he managed to get the phone number of Karim Sanjabi — a 20-year veteran of resistance to the shah — who had emerged, after years in prison, to head the National Front. Sanjabi said he couldn't talk on the telephone, but would be pleased to receive Heikal at home. When Heikal arrived, Sanjabi said he couldn't talk at his house either. So he and Heikal took a walk. Strolling through the streets of Tehran, Sanjabi spelled out the situation. The opposition in Iran, he said to Heikal, was tiny. Only a few hundred people in Tehran, smaller bunches in other towns, and hardly anything in the countryside. There was bitter infighting among the leaders of the various opposition groups. All the groups, Sanjabi told Heikal, had been penetrated by the shah's secret police, and were being manipulated for the shah's purposes.

Why, Heikal asked, had Sanjabi made such a fuss about secrecy — refusing first to talk over the phone, and then in his own house. Because, Sanjabi replied, we don't want the shah to know that we know how weak we really are.

"You see," Heikal concluded, "even in Iran, when the opposition was breaking through, the leaders didn't know it. They knew they were strong only when they took power. That's Third World politics."

It is indeed. Governments in most of the Third World seek to control all sources of power — the security forces, the media, the universities, and the centers of economic authority, as well as the chief political institutions. The oppositions find no legitimate place in the system. Their leaders are subject to arbitrary arrest, their meetings are regularly busted, and their journals banned. Their plans are subject to penetration by wiretapping and by informers, and to manipulation by provocateurs. So, to be serious, opposition has to go underground. Underground, to persons looking for bearings, means institutions that have a traditional role in society and are hard to control. Religious bodies are thus the most obvious home for subversion. In many Christian countries of the Third World, and especially Latin America, that means the Roman Catholic church. In Islam, the mosque is — for social and political, as distinct from religious, reasons — a base for dissent.

The army is the other place to hide. It too is a traditional institution. Its officers, like those of the church, have a calling that transcends politics. Moreover, armed forces lie close to the heart of power. It is not for nothing that in most Third World countries — from Indonesia through Pakistan and Algeria to Chile — elected governments have been swept out by military coup.

In Egypt, a plot against Sadat was discovered in mid-September. Some 70 people were arrested, including a score in the military. The Egyptian security officials thought they had picked up the lot. Apparently there were two bunches that remained at large.

First, there were the soldiers who actually shot Sadat as he watched them parade past the reviewing stand on Oct. 6. Then there were the Moslem religious fanatics who tried to stir up secular strife by moving against Coptic settlements in Assiut on Oct. 8.

Perhaps others were involved in the plot; perhaps not. What really matters is that control was reasserted before rebellion set the country. For, the opposition in Egypt, as elsewhere in the Third World, is not an inexorable wave bound to break. It is a mass of disconnected fragments that achieve combustion only by coming together in a kind of chemical reaction. The fact that combustion has been prevented, that revolt has not swept Egypt, the fact that a smooth transition is taking place, means that the new president, Hosni Mubarak, has a chance to assert order and govern.

Chasing the deficit

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — The likelihood of David Stockman quietly endorsing a delay of the tax cut to reduce the budget deficit pushes Ronald Reagan toward a moment of truth that could decide the fate of his economic program and even his administration. Reagan's decision has been hastened by the unveiling Tuesday (Oct. 13) of a new economic proposal by conservative Democratic representative Kent Hance of Texas. He wants the 10 percent across-the-board personal tax rate cut scheduled for July 1, 1982, delayed to Oct. 1. But Hance insists this must be linked to postponing cost-of-living allowances (COLA) for the same three months on a variety of federal programs, including Social Security.

Although budget director Stockman recently testified in Congress against any tax cut delay, he is horrified by the prospect of future budget deficits climbing to near $100 billion in the midst of congressional insurrection against new spending cuts. Accordingly, key members of Congress describe Stockman as willing to "slip" the tax cut — but only if the payoff on budget cuts is deep enough.

shift in administration policy, merely acquiescence in whatever Hance and Republican leaders can get through Congress that would leave in President Reagan's hands the decision whether to accept budget relief at the risk of his landmark tax achievement. The pressure to do so would be immense, despite fears of further evisceration of the tax cuts.

This menace to the tax program derives from the long summer battle between economists at Treasury and Stockman's Office of Management and Budget (OMB) over prospective budget deficits. The more pessimistic OMB guesses prevailed, leading to the "fall offensive" of budget cutting and revenue-raising tax "loophole" closers. But predictions shortly after Reagan's Sept. 24 speech that his proposals would get nowhere are being realized.

It is no exaggeration to say that Congress is in rebellion against Reagan's spending cuts, with the Republican Senate only slightly more helpful than the Democratic House. The danger of Reagan vetoes probably means no more appropriations bills will be passed. Thus, the U.S. government would resume its chaotic and unworkable mode of the 1970s.

THE OUTLOOK FOR "loophole" closers is equally bleak. In truth, the Treasury is having trouble even drafting a package with any slight prospect for passage.

Confronting a failed "fall offensive," Stockman sees immense future budget deficits forecast in the next congressional budget resolution, with dreadful effects on Capitol Hill. Since a veto war such as President Eisenhower waged 25 years ago is impractical under present procedures, Stockman wants some arrangement with Congress.

The shape of the arrangement is suggested by Hance, the West Texas congressman who suffered obloquy for co-sponsoring Reagan's tax cut in defiance of the Democratic leadership. Hance's tax cut delay would save $8 billion, and his COLA delays would yield another $5 billion. Since $2.8 billion of the $5 billion COLA savings include delayed Social Security hikes ruled out of bounds by the White House, the Hance package is not acceptable to the administration in its present form.

But statements of absolute surprise by Reagan officials over Hance's initiative ring phony. He has discussed them with key administration figures, who encouraged him. The truth is that the administration will quietly accept an amended version of the Hance plan — if enough budget savings are linked to it. That includes Ronald Reagan, though his asking price (according to a senior aide) of another $15 billion in non-defense budget savings from spending is unattainable.

REAGAN'S MEN contend a three-month delay in the July 1 tax cut will not matter that much. The all-important drop from 70 percent to 50 percent in top tax rates on dividends and interest would go into effect as scheduled Jan. 1, with attendant drops in capital gains rates. Besides, Reagan has the power to veto any subsequent reductions in his tax cuts.

So static an analysis ignores the role of momentum on Capitol Hill. Once Reagan yields to a three-month delay, supply-siders in his administration see an avalanche beginning that would ultimately reduce his tax cut by one-half in an elusive chase after the deficit.

The cost to the president of maintaining his tax cuts is seen by these deficit-chasers as chaos on Capitol Hill and in financial markets as deficits soar. Dissenters within the administration claim the deepening dilemma stems from bloated OMB forecasts of deficits and an exaggeration of their importance. If in his moment of truth Reagan insists on retaining his full tax cut as the cutting edge of his economic program to remake America, he will be forced to rethink his present monetary and fiscal policies, not to mention traditional Republican worship of the balanced budget.

Employer urges hiring of deaf

Dear Editor: I would like to take an opportunity to inform Big Spring employers of an important resource available to us. The students at Southwest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf (SWCID) are like most college students, they need jobs. These students are like students at any college, with one exception, they all have a common physical characteristic — hearing impairment.

Some students do have oral communications (lipreading, speech, etc.), and some have limited oral communication. Due to the fact that most of their lives have been spent in a hearing society, most can communicate in some way with hearing or reading people.

The problem of communication between these students and an employer is minor and can be overcome in a short time. Not only can we as employers obtain good employees, but we can help to open doors for people who have not had them opened before.

They can also open doors for us. We have students from as far east as South Carolina and as far north as Vermont and also from Puerto Rico, Bermuda and the Middle East. We have had two students who have won medals in the Deaf Olympic Games.

The programs at SWCID are designed with the communication, education, and vocational needs of the student in mind. An education is not complete without practical experience of working. We as employers can gain in two ways from this. One, we can help with the education process, and two, we can obtain good employees.

With the growth of SWCID, we as business people and employers are going to be approached by people with hearing impairment for jobs and business concerns. SWCID is growing.

In the fall of 1980, enrollment was 27, in the spring of 1981, they had 51. The enrollment for the fall semester of 1981 is 137. We have a chance to help the college and ourselves.

If you are interested, you can contact SWCID at 267-2511 for further information.

Thank you, LEE GEORGE 403 Galveston

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I know I have sinned, and I pray every day for God's forgiveness, but I don't seem to feel any different. Please tell me what I must do to find God.

—N.G.

DEAR N.G.: There is only one way that you and I can ever be forgiven, and that is because of what Jesus Christ has done for us. As long as we think of God in human terms, we can never be assured of his forgiveness.

What I mean is this: Perhaps you do something wrong to another person. You may go to them and ask for their forgiveness, but how do you know they have forgiven you? Even if they tell you they forgive you, they may not be telling the truth.

But God is not like that. God cannot lie, and when he tells us we are forgiven, we can trust him completely and totally. And he has told us forgiveness is possible because he has provided the way by which we may be forgiven.

The Bible tells us that God is holy and perfect and cannot tolerate sin. The Bible also tells us we have all sinned against God, and we deserve his judgement. "For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God" (Romans 3:23). But the Bible also tells us that God loves us and does not want us to have to undergo his judgement.

That is why God's Son, Jesus Christ, was sent into the world. He did not come just to give us an example of the way to live. He came to die on the cross, to take the punishment for our sins. You and I deserved to die on that cross, but Christ died in our place.

By trusting what Christ did for us, we can be forgiven and reconciled to God. Christ is God's means of salvation, and by trusting him we will be saved. The Bible says, "Salvation is found in no one else, for there is no other name under heaven given to men by which we must be saved" (Acts 4:12).

The Bible also says, "We accept man's testimony, but God's testimony is greater because it is the testimony of God which he has given about his son ... and this is the testimony: God has given us eternal life, and this life is in his Son. He who has the Son has life; he who does not have the Son of God does not have life" (1 John 5:9, 11-12).

Let Christ into your heart, and trust him alone for your salvation and forgiveness. Then trust God's promises that he forgives you because of Christ.

Taste "network" a complex one

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Dear Dr. Donohue: I am an allergy sufferer. I can weather the stuffy nose and sneezing because I've learned to live with it. Pollens seem to be my nemesis. The loss of taste bugs me. Most months of the year a piece of apple pie tastes like a piece of wet cardboard. How is taste affected in this way? What can I do to get it back? — Mrs. G.P.

The causes of changes in taste are many. Allergy is one. The problem there is to find the cause of the allergy and to eliminate it. Then taste will return. You should look into the possibility of desensitization to the pollens.

Therefore, when taste has been altered, one has to look for causes along this sensation network — mouth, tongue, nose nerves, or the brain itself. A stuffy nose (your allergy) can alter food perception. An infection of the tongue will modify the delight of a hamburger or appreciation of vanilla ice cream. A brain tumor can evoke an unpleasant taste.

With aging, taste becomes less acute for the same reasons vision and hearing may decline. If there is a B-12 deficiency, correct that with a B-12 supplement. Some state that zinc is helpful. I can neither contest nor attest to this idea.

Dear Dr. Donohue: Can you recommend an exercise for an older woman who has leg problems caused by poor circulation? — Mrs. R.R.

You can assist circulation by trying to rise on your toes and rocking back on your heels. This squeezes the appropriate muscles and helps push the blood through the vessels.

To find out what causes high blood pressure and what can be done to treat it, send for a copy of "Controlling Your Blood Pressure (Hypertension)." Write to Dr. Donohue in care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, self-addressed, envelope and 50 cents.

Indian Bread recipe requested Funnel Cake secret shared

Remember the Funnel Cakes at the Howard County Fair? Jane Madigan, who is from Pennsylvania, Dutch country, sent in a recipe for the unusual treat, as well as a soup recipe.

Mrs. O.B. Hughes, Gall, RT, has requested a recipe for Indian Bread. Mrs. Hughes describes the bread as "a rubbery type of dough that is rolled into balls, then flattened to the size of a thin plate and fried in hot fat."

The holidays are quickly approaching and everyone is looking for new recipes, so send your seasonal favorites to: Recipe Exchange, c/o Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Tx. 79720. Or, drop them by 710 Scurry.

FUNNEL CAKES (Drechter Kuche) Jane Madigan

3 eggs
2 cups milk
1/2 cup sugar
3 to 4 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 1/2 teaspoons baking powder

Beat eggs; add sugar and milk. Sift half the flour, all the salt and baking powder together and add to milk and egg mixture. Beat the batter till smooth and add only as much more flour as needed. Batter should be thin enough to run through a funnel. Drop from funnel into deep, hot fat (375 degrees). Spirals and endless intricate shapes can be made by swirling and criss-crossing while controlling the funnel spout with a finger. Serve hot with molasses, honey, jelly or sprinkle with powdered sugar.

CHICKEN CORN SOUP WITH RIVELS Jane Madigan

1 stewing hen (about 4 pounds)
4 quarts water
1 small onion, chopped
10 ears corn, fresh or frozen
1/2 cup chopped celery
salt and pepper to taste
(recipe follows)

Put cut-up chicken and onion into water; cook slowly till tender. Remove chicken; cut meat into small pieces and return to broth; add corn, which has been cut from the cob, celery and seasoning. Continue to simmer. Make rivels by mixing 1 cup flour, pinch of salt, 1 egg. Mix well with fork to form small crumbs. Pour slowly into soup, stirring constantly. Boil 15 minutes and serve.

SUPER MOIST COCONUT CAKE Jackie Harris

1 pkg. Duncan Hines Butter Cake Mix
1 16-ounce container sour cream
2 cups sugar
2 packages frozen coconut, thawed
2 cups Cool Whip

Bake cake according to directions, cool. Mix sour cream, sugar and coconut. Remove one cup of mixture and mix with Cool Whip. Split cake into four layers using thread. Frost three layers with sour cream mixture. Place fourth layer on top and frost top and sides with Cool Whip mixture. Store in Tupperware cake container in refrigerator at least 24 hours before serving. Will keep two weeks (if it lasts that long).

TIPS FOR ENERGY SAVERS

How to Save Electricity Before It Comes to You

During late afternoon and early evening hours, the load on the nation's electrical systems usually reaches its peak. To meet the heavy demand, electric utilities often must use back-up generating equipment that is not energy efficient.

Try to use energy-intensive appliances such as dishwashers, clothes washers and dryers, and electric ovens in the early morning or late evening hours to help reduce the peak load.

This energy-saving tip is brought to you by the classified advertising department in the interest of energy conservation.

RED, WHITE AND GREEN SALAD Mrs. B.D. Adams

5 cups broccoli florets (2 bunches)
2 1/2 cups cauliflower florets (1 head)
1 onion, chopped
2 cups cherry tomatoes, halved
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup sour cream
1 Tablespoon vinegar
2 Tablespoons sugar
salt and pepper to taste

Combine broccoli, cauliflower, onion and tomatoes. Stir together mayonnaise, sour cream, vinegar and sugar; pour over vegetables and toss. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Chill 3 to 4 hours. Salad will keep for several days.
Serves 8 to 10.

BOHEMIAN COFFEE CAKE Joyce Wilson

1 cup sugar
1 cup brown sugar
2 1/4 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped pecans
1 cup coconut
1 cup cooking oil
1 cup buttermilk
2 eggs

Mix all ingredients together in a mixing bowl. Then add all liquids and eggs; mix well. Pour batter into well greased and floured bundt pan. Place in preheated oven at 350 degrees. Bake about an hour. You may glaze cake, if you wish.

SPICED PECANS Mrs. B.D. Adams

1 egg white
1 teaspoon cold water
1 pound pecans
1/2 cup white sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Beat egg white and water till frothy, but not stiff. Add pecans and mix all well. Coat with sugar, salt and cinnamon in bowl and add nuts; mix thoroughly. Place in buttered jelly roll pan or cookie sheet and bake at 250 degrees for 20 minutes, stirring after 15 minutes.

CARMEL POPCORN Mrs. B.D. Adams

6 quarts or 12 pints of popped corn
2 cups brown sugar
1/2 cup margarine
1/2 cup corn syrup
Boil mixture of sugar, margarine and syrup for 5 minutes.
Immediately add 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix well and quickly pour over corn in flat pan or roasting pan. Bake one hour at 250 degrees, stirring about every 10 minutes. Corn will be crisp. Yield: two large bowls carmel corn.

Two land amendments face little opposition

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Two proposed constitutional amendments — one to benefit thousands of war veterans and another to help one old East Texas farmer — will be submitted to the voters on Nov. 3.

No concentrated opposition has surfaced to either proposal.

Proposition No. 7 on the ballot would authorize the issuance of an additional $250 million in bonds for the Veterans' Land Fund, which offers veterans 40-year, low-interest loans of up to $20,000 to buy 10 or more acres of Texas land.

The proposal also would allow the Veterans' Land Board to issue bonds at an interest rate of up to 10 percent, unless the Legislature sets a different limit.

Since the fund was started in 1949, it has helped almost 73,000 Texas veterans buy land without costing taxpayers anything. More than 14,300 veterans are on the waiting list for loans.

Currently, $74 million in bonds have not been issued from a total of $700 million authorized because the current 6 percent ceiling on bond interest rates makes it impossible to market them. Even if the $74 million could be issued, more bonds are needed to keep the program going.

"The program is almost unbelievably sound," said state Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong. "Repayment of the bonds is secured not only by the credit of the veterans, but also by land which has uniformly escalated in value."

A spokeswoman in the land office said the default rate on the veterans' loans is "incredibly low" — 0.05 percent.

One argument against the proposal is that the veterans' land program, which covers six-month reservists as well as personnel with years of military service, is large enough already.

Also, some might feel that the state should not subsidize land purchases by one group of people at special low interest rates.

Proposition No. 2 cleared the Legislature after Rep. Senfronia Thompson, D-Houston, generated nationwide publicity on the plight of Jessie Johnson, 81, of Leon County.

Ms. Thompson said Johnson's farm was sold 15 times before he bought it in 1928. He finished paying for the land 40 years ago and has paid taxes on it for 53 years. However, Johnson discovered this year that because of a 140-year-old defect in the original seller's title, the land did not belong to him but to the state. To acquire the land, he would have to buy it from the state.

The proposed amendment would authorize the General Land Office to issue patents — or give up its claim — for certain land if the School Land Board determined that a person qualified for a patent.

"There really is no other way to help the Johnsons," said Ms. Thompson. "They could sue the land office, but the state of Texas is exempt from the laws which apply to land disputes between private individuals. Furthermore, the state is prohibited — by law and the Constitution — from selling or giving away the Johnson farm because it is within five miles of oil production."

Mother Goose for trendy tots

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Special Correspondent

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP) — Here's an update on Mother Goose for trendy tots who might care to skip rope and play bouncy ball in time to the mad music of these belt-tightening times:

"Christmas is coming,
The goose is getting fat,
But we're having meatloaf,
If we can afford that."

"There was an old woman
Who lived in a shoe,
When her building went co-op
What else could she do?"

Modernizing nursery rhymes quite in order and, indeed, points up their piquancy because, according to "The Annotated Mother Goose" by William and Cecil Baring-Gould, serious scholars believe the originals often began as "political diatribes, religious philippics, and popular street songs."

Little Tom Tucker, who sang for his supper, is supposed to have been a shaft aimed at Cardinal Thomas Wolsey, Henry VIII's hit man who compelled bishops to tie his shoelaces.

Recooking Mother Goose then, to bring the anonymous rhymes in tune with the idiocies and tragedies of our own age, seems a justifiable enterprise in which we hope readers will feel free to contribute their modish variations

"A diller, a dollar,
A no-show scholar,
The teachers are on strike,
So who's gonna holler?"

"Jack Sprat could eat no fat,
His wife could eat no lean;
They dined on granola and yogurt
And a mousse of soybean."

"Hickory Dickory Dock,
The mouse ran up the clock,
The clock was digital
The mouse grew fidgetal
Its tail gave a jerk,
Caused the alarm to work,
The coffee to perk,
And the Cuisinart ran off with the wok."

Addicts of Mulligan's Stew are invited to send in their recipes for rehashing Mother Goose. (c-o Associated Press, 50 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, N.Y. 10020).

New bingo law needs local option vote

AUSTIN — State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office has warned that it will be early 1982 before Texans can conduct and play legal bingo and cautioned against fraudulent claims that legal bingo has already arrived in Texas.

George Garland, director of the Bingo Regulation Division, said the new bingo law also requires a local option election before games can be held.

He said because of the language in the law the earliest date a local option election can be scheduled would be Jan. 16, 1982. "Any game before that time and before the sponsor holds a license from the Comptroller's office is an illegal bingo game — just like it's always been," Garland said.

The Legislature this year legalized bingo games sponsored by charitable, educational, religious and civic organizations. The law also provides that sponsoring organizations must be licensed by the Comptroller's office.

Garland said local option elections to play bingo can be called on a city-wide, county or justice of the peace precinct basis.

If approved locally, Garland said, the governing jurisdiction can also impose a two percent gross receipts tax on the games.

Garland said each applicant for a bingo license will be investigated to assure that the organization qualifies under the law.

"We are not going to permit any fly-by-night operations, and unauthorized games will be subject to the penal code concerning gambling," he said.

"Nothing's legal without a license from the state," he said.

He also said the new law will also limit bingo games to three a week and the amount of prizes in a single game to $500 and $2,500 for a series of games.

Garland said the Comptroller's office would be ready to issue bingo licenses to authorized organizations as soon as local option elections are certified.

He said the agency would also be adopting rules and regulations in time for Texans to conduct legal bingo games.

Teen arrested after standoff

HOUSTON (AP) — A Houston teenager who held police at bay for six hours undergoes psychiatric tests today at a Houston hospital.

The 19-year-old man, whose name was not released, was arrested Tuesday night at his southwest Houston home by the police department's Special Weapons and Tactics team. However, police said, no charges have been filed.

Tips for fighting crime

One of the most pervasive problems facing American society today is crime. It takes an enormous toll on its victims, of course. But it affects all of us indirectly. When you buy an item in the store, you pay more to make up for the cost of shoplifting and security. When you pay your taxes, you pay for your city's best effort to prevent crime. Worse, you pay a price for crime in fear. Crime has become an increasing problem. Statistics indicate that within any given 30-minute period, one person will be murdered, nine women will be raped, 67 will be robbed, 97 assaulted, and 389 families the victim of burglary. For 1979, the last full year for which FBI figures are available, the number of reported burglaries had risen to 3.3 million, a 50 percent increase since 1970. Robberies were up by one-third. In less than a generation, the murder rate has doubled. But the American people have had enough. A recent poll showed almost half of the respondents named crime as the most important problem confronting their area. This was true both in a large eastern state and in a booming Sun Belt city. Even a relatively trouble-free college community found 55 percent of its voters declaring that establishing law and order was the single-most important issue facing their local government. Solving the growing crime problem won't be easy or quick. But there are some steps we can take. A bipartisan U.S. Attorney General's Task Force has made a number of recommendations to curb the rate of crime and to address some of the problems we have in prosecuting successfully those guilty of crime. For instance, one recommendation would allow courts to deny bail to a defendant who, after careful safeguards to prevent abuse, had been determined to be dangerous or likely to jump even very high bail. Another recommendation is for legislation to permit judges to order criminals to make financial restitution to their victims. Criminal procedure would be modified to protect rights of citizens charged with crimes, but to keep these rules from shielding the guilty. Since space shortages in correctional facilities are one factor inhibiting efforts to keep criminals off the streets, the task force recommended a number of steps to assist state and local governments to provide adequate facilities. Exchange of criminal history information among jurisdictions also should be improved, the task force found. The task force also dealt with narcotics, guns, arson, tax cases, sentencing and parole, apprehension of fugitives, training of state and local personnel and juvenile crime. Together, the task force recommendations represent a comprehensive and thoughtful package which will be considered carefully in Congress. The American people are going to insist that their representatives take steps to make their cities, their streets, and their homes safe. Government — national, state and local — must have no responsibility more important than that.

Reagan's recent speeches were rehearsal for summit

CANCUN, Mexico (AP) — Ronald Reagan's new acquaintances at the Cancun summit conference can learn something about this president of the United States by looking no further than the speeches he has given in recent days as he warmed up for the international meeting. They reflect the world according to Reagan, representing his thoughts on the Third World, international development and how the less-developed nations can pull themselves up. Nations in Africa, Latin America and Asia struggling to fight famine and to educate their people might take heed of the example of the United States when it was a fledgling nation expanding its own frontiers, Reagan said in a speech last week in Philadelphia. "We Americans can speak from experience," he said. "Few countries are less developed than we were when the original settlers arrived here. They faced a wilderness where poverty was their daily lot and danger and starvation their close companions." But, Reagan told the World Affairs Council, the settlers were undaunted and "throughout all the dangers, disappointments and setbacks, they kept their faith," proving "they could make tomorrow a better day." The Reagan philosophy that too much government breeds trouble was exemplified in a speech to the annual meeting of the World Bank's board of governors last month. "We who live in free market societies believe that growth, prosperity and ultimately human fulfillment are created from the bottom up, not the government down," he said. "Only when the human spirit is allowed to invent and create, only when individuals are given a personal stake in deciding economic policies and benefiting from their success — only then can societies remain economically alive, dynamic, prosperous, progressive and free." Reagan's reminder to those at Cancun — whether from capitalist, socialist or Marxist nations — who would want to change the international system, is this: "People flirt with fantasy when they suggest it is a failure and unfair. We know that much must still be done to help low-income countries develop domestic markets and strengthen their exports. But the way to do that is not to weaken the system that has served us so well, but to continue working together to make it better." While one message can be found in Reagan's speeches, a related one is in the dry budget figures found in Washington. While foreign assistance granted by the United States remains greater than any other nation's contributions, the United States ranks 15th of 17 major nations in foreign aid as a percentage of gross national product. In fiscal 1980, $7.1 billion was distributed in foreign aid, but that figure dipped into the $6 billion range in fiscal 1981, which just ended.

Free Arbor Day kits available
To help teachers and organizations conduct more meaningful Arbor Day programs, the Texas Forest Service is offering free program kits. Each kit includes a loblolly pine seed packet with planting instructions, program aids for a local Arbor Day observance, suggested classroom activities for teachers, and a copy of Governor Clements' proclamation. Quantities are limited. Only one kit per teacher or organization will be distributed. Arbor Day, to be observed Jan. 15, 1982 in Texas, has been an annual celebration on the third Friday in January in Texas since 1880. The event is to promote a greater appreciation of the beauty and value of trees, forests and related natural resources. Program chairpersons and teachers should address requests for Arbor Day kits to the Texas Forest Service, College Station, Tex. 77943. Distribution, on a first-come, first-serve basis, will begin in mid-November.

FedMart to shut Texas division
SAN DIEGO (AP) — FedMart Corp. plans to shut its Texas division Saturday. The company says a dozen stores are to be closed in order to save money. However, FedMart won't close its stores in El Paso and Las Cruces, N.M., because they are in the company's Arizona division. FedMart, which bills itself as "America's greatest general store," reported a loss of $6.3 million for fiscal 1980 and a loss of $6 million for the first quarter of fiscal 1981.

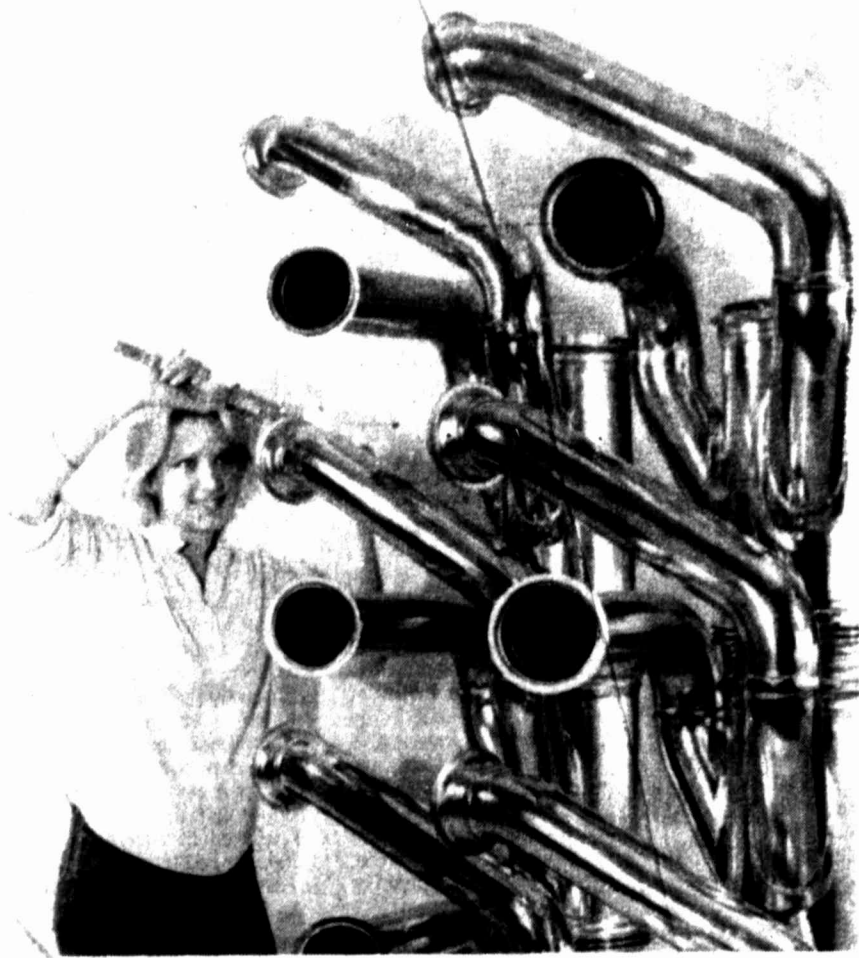

Fina dividend spelled out
DALLAS — The Board of Directors of American Petrofina, Inc., meeting here declared a quarterly dividend of 80 cents per share on the Class "A" and Class "B" common stock of the company. The dividend is payable Nov. 4, 1981, to shareholders of record at the close of business on Oct. 28, 1981.

Texas hunters are arrested in Soviet immigration goof

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Two Texas hunters who traveled to Moscow for a trophy ram bagged only trouble, when Soviet immigration officials placed them under house arrest for five days.

Rep. Gib Lewis of Fort Worth and former legislator Dick Slack of Pecos said Tuesday they arrived in Moscow two days before their visas went into effect. They said they were restricted to a bedroom, the dining room and lobby of a run-down hotel that had no heat or hot water after they returned from the Mongolia leg of a $10,000, around-the-world hunting trip.

"We made the mistake of coming back into Russia two days before the visa said we could," Lewis said. "The visa in Russia is very precise about where and when you can go."

He said a travel agent miscalculated the length of the Mongolia leg of the journey.

"She thought it would be longer than it actually was," Lewis said. "So we just decided to chance it and come on back in."

Lewis said the Russians then took their visas and passports as they arrived in Moscow and took them to the hotel. The Soviets took their trophy ram's horns and confiscated their luggage, leaving them without clean clothes.

"We finally got out of there by bluffing a little over the airline reservations, fudging a little about the time," Slack said. "An Air India clerk helped a lot by convincing the Russians we were legitimate, but there were still some pretty tense moments."

Deadline for closing prison hospital lifted

HUNTSVILLE, Texas (AP) — A federal judge has lifted the Nov. 1 deadline for closing the Texas prison hospital and ordered the hiring of a fire safety expert to inspect Army tents that house 1,800 inmates.

U.S. District Judge William Wayne Justice said he agreed to lift the deadline for downgrading the Texas Department of Corrections Unit Hospital here to a clinic "because the interest of inmates as well as the TDC will be served by, issuance of a stay."

"However, this decision which is based on the needs of inmates who may be treated reasonably and safely at the Huntsville Unit Hospital is conditional," the Tyler judge said.

The TDC hospital has been the subject of stinging reports by the Texas Department of Health and by a New York doctor hired to inspect the facility. Both reports called the hospital unsanitary and the quality of treatment poor.

While Justice granted TDC's request to lift the hospital deadline, he refused to stay other portions of his order to eliminate overcrowding in Texas prisons.

The TDC asked Justice to lift the Nov. 1 deadline for providing at least 40 square feet for each inmate living in a prison dormitory, achieving a 1-to-10 guard-to-inmate ratio, abolishing the use of turnkeys to open and close prison doors and for housing only minimum security prisoners in dormitories.

Rick Hartley, administrative assistant to Prison Director W.J. Estelle, said officials were pleased the hospital would remain open but added they will ask the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans to stay parts of the order Justice has refused to lift.

The appellate court stayed other portions of Justice's order in June, including the Nov. 1, 1983, deadline to house one inmate per cell.

In his order issued Monday, Justice also asked TDC attorneys to tell him whether prison officials can comply with seven suggestions for improving the hospital made by a California attorney representing a former inmate.

San Francisco attorney William Turner, representing former inmate David Ruiz, suggested that no major surgery be performed at the hospital, the emergency room be staffed 24 hours a day by a doctor, terminally ill prisoners be placed in a non-prison environment and that handicapped prisoners be allowed to live outside the hospital.

Hartley said prison officials will meet with the inmates attorney as soon as possible to decide whether they can agree on a future plan for the hospital.

"It's been our hope all along that the hospital remain open until we complete the new hospital in Galveston," he said.

Nathan has questioned the safety of the tents.

BUT, UMP! — Los Angeles Dodgers runner Ron Cey appeals an out call to second base umpire Telly Cooney after being caught on a good throw from New York Yankees leftfielder Dave Winfield while trying to stretch a hit into a double in the seventh inning of Tuesday night's World Series game in New York. Yankees second baseman Willie Randolph put the tag on Cey for the out.

NY wins Series opener

NEW YORK (AP) — Home run thunder and defensive brilliance, a familiar recipe they've used before, have given the New York Yankees the jump on the Los Angeles Dodgers in baseball's 78th World Series.

The thunder belonged to Bob Watson and the defense was provided by infielders Graig Nettles and Willie Randolph. Together, they proved too much for the Dodgers to cope with in the opening game of the battle for baseball's world championship.

Watson became the 17th player in history to hit a homer in his first Series at-bat, drilling a three-run shot in the first inning. Nettles turned in two outstanding plays at third base and Randolph had a couple at second, shortcircuiting the Los Angeles attack in New York's 5-3 victory Tuesday night.

And some less than glowing play by the Dodgers made the National League champions look shoddy by comparison.

Bob Lemon, the philosophical man who manages the Yankees, remembers how Nettles' glove torpedoed the Dodgers in 1978, the last time these two teams met in the fall classic.

"You'd think," he noted, "they'd learn not to hit the ball down there."

They kept trying him, though.

Nettles set the defensive tone for the game with a diving stop on leadoff batter Davey Lopes, shot down the third base line in the first inning. Right away, Yankee pitcher Ron Guidry knew it would be a good night.

"If the ball's got to be hit somewhere," Guidry said, "I'd rather it be hit to him."

The next time the Dodgers came to the plate, they were three runs behind, thanks to Watson. With one out in the bottom of the first, Jerry Mumphrey singled. After Dave Winfield struck out, Lou Piniella hit a ground rule double to right. That brought up Watson, who suspected that with first base open, Dodger Manger Tommy Lasorda might not let left-hander Jerry Reuss pitch to him. Especially with Nettles, a left-handed batter, on deck.

"In that situation, in the first inning, I'm not going to put him on to get to a left-handed hitter like Nettles, who may hit the ball out with that short porch," said Lasorda.

So, Watson hit one out instead. "My knees were shaking and there were butterflies like I dreamed there would be," said Watson as he stepped to the plate for his first World Series swing after 17 years as a professional baseball player.

"I can attest I was nervous." The count went to 1-2 and then Watson drilled a shot to the opposite field, dropping it over the fence about 375 feet from home plate.

"It was a fastball away and he just hit it to the best part of the park," said Reuss.

That, said Watson, was intentional. "I noticed in batting practice that the ball wasn't carrying to left center," he said. "I decided I would look for a pitch to hit the other way."

Armed with the quick lead, Guidry had an easier task. "Anytime you get a couple of runs in the first inning, you don't have to be so fine," Guidry said. "You can just make them hit the ball. I don't like to nip and tuck when I've got a lead like that."

The Yankees got Guidry another run in the third when Mumphrey singled, stole second and scored on Piniella's second hit. That finished Reuss, with Bobby Castillo taking over. In the fourth, New York made it 5-0, courtesy of Castillo, who walked four batters, the last three of them consecutively with two out.

Now the Dodgers were faced with a major job of playing catch-up baseball. The glove work of Nettles and Randolph did not make the task any easier.

In the fifth, Randolph made a tough short-hop stop on Rick Monday and threw him out. It saved a run because the next batter, Steve Yeager, reached Guidry for a home run.

"I got a good jump on it," said Randolph. "The timing was right and I had the good hands to make that play. The ball was knuckling and sinking but with my good range, I could stand up and make that play. I've made that play before."

In the seventh, with the score still 5-1, Ron Cey opened with a shot into the left field corner. He tried to stretch the hit into a double and Winfield cut him down. Lasorda wasn't thrilled with that development.

"You can't get thrown out with nobody out when you're down 5-1," the Dodger manager said.

In volleyball action Lee bops BSBS

MIDLAND — The Big Spring Lady Steers met a rugged test in Midland Lee last night, and according to BSBS Coach Patty Purser, the results were not good. The Lady Steers lost 10-15, 11-15.

"I guess you could say we had two F's," laughed Purser, referring to the fact that the Lady Steer JVs also lost.

"We had trouble with the relays in both games, and our defense wasn't satisfactory. We had no enthusiasm or confidence," said Purser.

"We as a team have not played good volleyball for three games now," Purser added. "Midland Lee had good defense and a good server which hurt our relays."

Amy Ragan had six service points to pace the BSBS crew, with Pam Caudill adding five. Chipping in with two service points each were Lisa Majors, Sissy Doss, Elise Wheat, Sylvia Randle and Leslye Overman.

But while the Lady Steers, now 3-1 in the second half and 2-2 on the year, seem to be in a slump, Purser is confident it won't last long.

"Our team will improve because we look forward to a new challenge," the Lady Steer mentor said.

In the JV game, Lee won 15-12, 11-15, 15-12. Debbie Donelson was a red hot server for the Big Springers, with 13 service points. Sharon McAlister was just behind with 12. Vicki Halfmann and Sheri Rogers added five each, with Tony Gilstrap chipping in two.

Rogers was credited by Coach Sandy Brown for her backcourt hustle and defense.

Cowboys to name Mel Renfro

DALLAS (AP) — Mel Renfro, the Dallas Cowboys' all-time leading pass interceptor, will join the club's exclusive Ring of Honor Sunday at halftime of the National Football League game against Miami.

The induction ceremony will include the unveiling of Renfro's name on the Texas Stadium wall between the suite levels beside the names of the other four members of the Ring of Honor — Bob Lilly, Don Meredith, Don Perkins and Chuck Howley.

Renfro, now 39, will be the first inductee since Howley on Oct. 30, 1977.

Yankees find new, old heroes in Game 1

NEW YORK (AP) — They are both 13-year major league veterans but World Series heroes are new to Bob Watson, while Graig Nettles has been there before.

The two old pros — Watson, a 35-year-old first baseman, and Nettles, a 37-year-old third baseman — teamed up with bat and glove Tuesday night to help the New York Yankees defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers 5-3 in the first game of the 1981 World Series.

There was something old and something new. Nettles, just as he did in the pivotal third game of the 1978 Series, put his magic glove on display with a pair of sensational fielding gems.

"It brought back some memories, a sense of déjà vu," he said.

Watson, meanwhile, became the 17th player to hit a home run in his first World Series at-bat, a three-run shot off Jerry Reuss with two out in the first inning that put the Dodgers in a hole from which they never escaped.

Dodgers unconcerned with disadvantage

NEW YORK (AP) — Being down one game in the World Series doesn't bother Tom Lasorda. Based on what has happened the last couple of weeks, it shouldn't.

"Heck, we were down 2-0 in a five-game series and we're only down one game in the best-of-seven," said the Los Angeles Dodger manager Tuesday night. "All it means is that we lost the first game."

Bob Watson's three-run homer in the first inning gave New York the lead for good and third baseman Graig Nettles made sure they kept it with a diving catch in the eighth as the Yankees downed the Dodgers 5-3.

Right-hander Burt Hooton, who has been exceptional in the postseason with three straight victories, will try to get the Dodgers even tonight when he is opposed by left-hander Tommy John, a former teammate.

The Dodgers have played their best baseball this month when in trouble. They beat Houston three straight times after losing the first two games in the divisional playoffs, then came back from a 2-1 deficit to eliminate Montreal in the five-game National League Championship Series.

"We've shown people what we can do," said Hooton, who has allowed only two runs in his three postseason starts. "This is a four-out-of-seven series."

"We're going out to give it our best shot tomorrow night, but we won't feel like we're out of it if we lose."

Hooton will work on only three days rest for the third straight time.

"No problem," he said. Perhaps not, but the same wasn't true for Jerry Reuss Tuesday night.

Reuss, who pitched 18 consecutive scoreless innings against Houston before losing Game 3 of the championship series, couldn't get through the third inning against the Yankees.

Reuss will probably pitch the fourth game of the Series Saturday in Los Angeles, meaning he will again go highway robbery. With a dive that would have done Nureyev proud, he made a back-handed catch for the second out and the Dodgers done.

"It was hit so darn hard," Nettles said. "I caught it in the webbing of my glove but I didn't really know I had it until I hit the ground and saw it in my glove. I've got so much confidence in my defense that when I make a good play it doesn't surprise me."

For Watson, who signed with the Yankees as a free agent following the 1979 season just to get a shot at postseason action, his home run, an opposite field drive over the wall in right-center, was a dream come true.

"I've played a long time and I've been looking forward to this moment," he said. "This game is without a doubt the biggest I've played in my career. This definitely makes my career. I've been longing to play in a World Series. I've always dreamed of getting to play in the big Fall Classic and this is it."

Lasorda rolled his eyes when asked about Nettles' fielding plays, one which snuffed out the final Los Angeles chance on a line drive by Steve Garvey in the

'I can assure you that what happened to us was not from a lack of effort' Oiler Coach Biles defends effort in loss to Patriots

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston Oilers have added the New England Patriots to their list of reclamation projects.

The Oilers already have helped the New York Jets remove themselves from the low-rent district of an 0-3 record to a 3-3-1 standard.

Sunday's 38-10 loss to the Patriots, who won for only the second time this season, was just another Oiler effort to spruce up depressed areas of the NFL.

"Since we played the Jets they have gone on to show the type of club they really are," Oiler Coach Ed Biles said. "I think New England is in that same category. I don't think it was a case of us losing to a team we were supposed to beat."

"According to the so-called experts, we were the underdogs."

After lending a friendly hand to the Jets and Patriots, the Oilers must now try to rebuild their own playoff hopes. They must go on the road the next two weeks to face divisional foes Pittsburgh and Cincinnati.

Biles said one area of concern is the Oiler secondary but he wanted to study the problem before making any decisions.

"We've got to see if it is a lack of an adequate pass rush, a lack of concentration and preparation or if it's the nature of the game right now,"

Biles said Monday.

Biles also stopped short of castigating cornerback J.C. Wilson, the youngest member of the Oiler secondary, who gave up a touchdown bomb.

"This was the first time he was truly responsible for a play that went for a touchdown," Biles said. "Other than that one play, I thought J.C. played a good game."

Biles is also convinced Sunday's loss was not from a lack of effort.

"I've looked at the films again today and I can assure you that what happened to us was not from a lack of effort," Biles said. "We were playing hard. If I had seen some guys not trying to get to make a tackle it would be different."

"But we were trying to make the tackles, we just missed them when we got there."

Mosi Tatupu rammed 43 yards in the fourth quarter, bouncing off at least six would-be Oiler tacklers before he finally was brought down by linebacker Robert Brazile. The run set up a 15-yard touchdown run.

"People feel you are laying down when they see people break some tackles on a run like that late in the game," Biles said. "I'm embarrassed for the whole team but in now way shape or form did they lay down in the second half."

Garvey's shot came with one out, a runner at first and the Dodgers trailing by two runs. Yankees reliever Rich Gossage then retired the final four Los Angeles batters to end the game.

Garvey was reminded that Nettles had shown the Dodgers that kind of defense before, in the 1978 World Series.

Landry to junk Cowboys signal system

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Coach Tom Landry sometimes talks about the National Football League season like it was a horse race.

Landry doesn't go to Oaklawn Park or Louisiana Downs but he can pretty well handicap his Cowboys.

He's talking about "jockeying for position" now to make a second-half stretch run against the Eagles, who are a furlong ahead in the National Conference Eastern Division.

"The 29-17 victory over the Rams was important because it got us into position to make a run for it," said Landry.

The Cowboys historically start out strong, drop back during the middle of the season and charge to the wire.

Dallas is 5-2 with Sunday's game against Miami in Texas Stadium closing out the first half of the season. The Cowboys are a game behind Philadelphia.

The Cowboys won their first four games then dropped two in a row. Landry was worried the Eagles would get too far ahead to catch.

"The Eagles finally found out that you don't play 16 good games in a row in this league," he said. "We just need to stay close until we can make our move."

The longer the season goes the more Landry has a tendency to return to things that have worked well for him. Landry has decided to all but junk his sideline signal system to quarterback Danny White.

The Cowboys used the tight end shuttle for the most part against Los Angeles Sunday.

Asked if he was afraid somebody was stealing Dallas' signals, Landry said "Anybody could break the code if they took the time to do it ... We will not completely junk the hand signals ... but we will continue now to operate with the tight end shuttle."

Landry said he did not think any team had intercepted Dallas' hand signals which are relayed from Landry to assistant John Mackovic to White.

"I wish I could use it (the signal system) as an excuse for the way we had been playing," said Landry.

Landry had good news for the Cowboys Tuesday, saying wide receiver Drew Pearson, who was hospitalized Monday night because of blurred vision, was improving rapidly.

Pearson was accidentally poked in the right eye during the Ram game.

Star SMU punter out for UT game

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Methodist punter Eric Kaifer is healing faster than expected but still will miss Saturday's big game against the Texas Longhorns, SMU coaches said Tuesday.

Kaifer was the nation's No. 4 punter last year and had been averaging 42 yards a boot this season until he strained his knee in SMU's win over Houston.

However, Pony coach Ron Meyer said offensive guard Joe Beard will start against the Horns after missing two games with an ankle sprain and wide receiver Bobby Leach, out with a bruised back, suffered against Baylor, also will return against Texas.

SMU is ranked No. 8 in The Associated Press college football poll this week while Texas slipped to 10th after a stunning loss to Arkansas.

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY, OCT. 22, 1981

GENERAL TENDENCIES: It could be easy to get involved in a confrontation with an associate over a petty matter so make a point to avoid all such likelihood by maintaining a pleasant attitude.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Daytime is likely to be difficult except for late afternoon when an interesting person relieves tensions. Express happiness.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Be sure not to react bitterly to remarks made by a careless person. Take steps to improve your health and appearance.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Don't become involved in an altercation between two associates and it will soon blow over. Use care in motion.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Use extra care in whatever work you are involved in today and get excellent results. Sidestep a spendthrift.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Keep busy at important business matters and gain benefits. Your mate may be in difficult mood but take this in stride.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Be more concerned with home duties than outside affairs today. Follow all regulations that apply to you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Put your finest ideas to work and gain the support of associates. Take no risks in travel when it gets dark. Be wise.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Handle monetary matters wisely now and postpone less important affairs until later in the week. Be logical.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study long-range plans and be patient, since they do not come to fruition quickly. Improve your appearance.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Be sure to obtain the data you need from the right sources. The planets are now favorable for getting ahead in career matters.

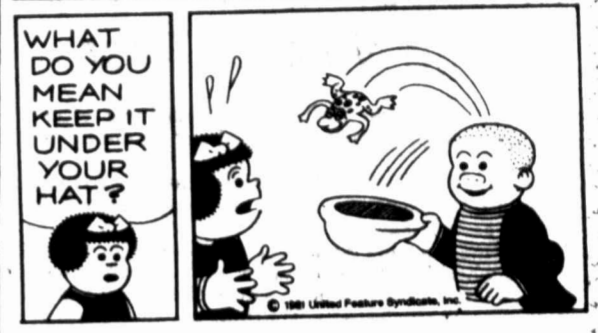

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Good day to be your gregarious self. Try to understand the problems of others. Avoid one who is too talkative.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Carry through with outside chores in an efficient manner and gain added benefits. Plan the future wisely.

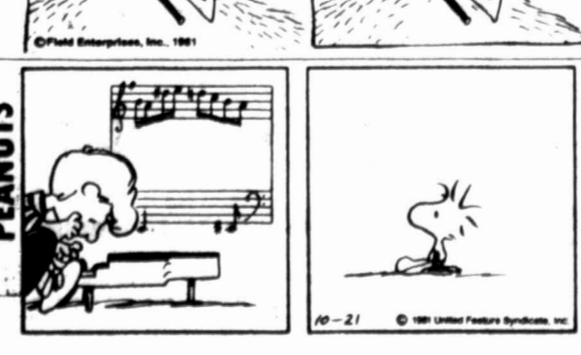

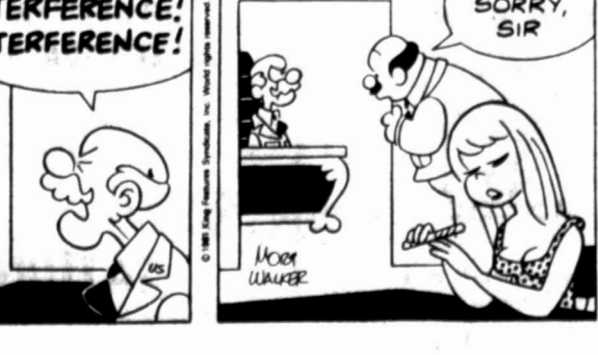

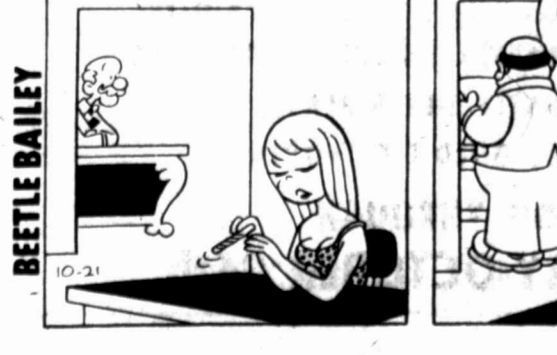

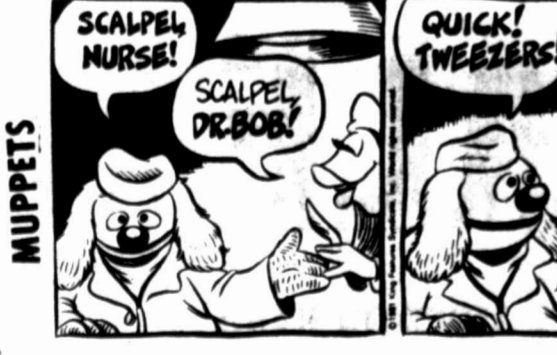

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be endowed with many talents, so be sure to give a good education that could lead to a most successful life. Teach to be patient since your progeny is likely to be impulsive. Don't neglect religious training.

Dear Abby

Woman Cries Her Way Through Vale of Tears

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of brides who come down the aisle crying at their own wedding? Or doesn't it ever happen?

I am a 20-year-old college girl and I'll probably be getting married within the next two years. I cry "at the drop of a hat," as my parents say.

I cry at sad movies and I cry when I hear a nostalgic song. I even cried when I found a picture of my boyfriend's old girlfriend in his Bible. My boyfriend's sister had a pet raccoon that I saw maybe twice. The thing got hit in the jaw by a car and died. As they were looking it over and talking about skinning it to save the hide, I started to cry like a baby. Anything can set me off.

I am so afraid I will cry rivers at my own wedding. What do you make of this?

CRYBABY

DEAR CRYBABY: So you cry easily. It's no crime to give in to your emotions — such sensitivity these days is refreshing. You have a fortune in liquid assets. Don't knock it.

DEAR ABBY: I have searched for help for years with no success. I am a "pederast." (I like young boys.) I cannot tell you how difficult it is for me to even write those words. For people who read about child molestation, every individual who has sex with a child ranks among the most evil deviates of our society. Perhaps the act is, but often it is performed by an otherwise responsible, well-adjusted man. I consider myself such a man. Nothing could be further from my mind than wanting to hurt a child. In fact, my greatest joy is working with children, and my success in dealing with them has been remarkable.

My point in writing is to try to locate someone who is doing research in this area. I know I could make an important contribution toward a serious study.

I will freely work with any qualified group or individual. I have been to therapists, but they know less than I about this compulsion I have.

I have the problem under control, but the desire still rages within me, and I would like to eliminate it if possible. I know there must be thousands of men like me who are active and would like to overcome this urge, but there is simply nowhere to go for help.

There are many good men in prison who could also contribute to society if this problem could be solved. Please answer me in a "confidential." I cannot take any chances of being identified. There are many of us who desperately need your help.

JEKYLL AND HYDE

DEAR JEKYLL: I am publishing your letter, and if I hear from any qualified researchers who want to work with you I will let you know. Please send me your name and address. You can trust me.

PTA announces winners in membership drive

Big Spring PTAs now have 1,838 members, announces the Big Spring Council of the Parent-Teacher Association at the end of the city-wide membership campaign. "Happiness is PTA."

This figure fell only 242 members short of the city goal of 2,080 PTA members.

Current memberships at PTAs are: Washington, 543; College Heights, 300; Kentwood, 401; Marcy, 400; and Moss, 294.

Top classes at Washington were Mrs. Becky Dorton's second grade, Mrs. Marjorie Morris' fourth grade, and Mrs. Shirley Bradshaw's fifth grade. Each class will receive a cake party for recruiting 85 to 89 members per class.

The personalized Snoopy banks Washington PTA awarded to anyone recruiting more than seven PTA members went to Gene Rogers, Staci Rogers, Michael Hatfield, Tarie Henson, Karie Sue Henson, Paige Griffin, Marci Weaver, Jason Murphy, Sonny Stiles, Amy Warrington, Scott Hardy, Gregg Sims, and Mrs. Shirley Bradshaw. Top PTA salesman was Marci Weaver who sold 80 PTA memberships.

Receiving top honors at College Heights was Mrs. Nelda Callarman's fourth grade class with 30 PTA members.

At Marcy, Mrs. Selma Hicks' fourth grade was the winner with 191-percent PTA membership.

Marcy student Jeni Flores won a stuffed Snoopy for recruiting 20 members, and Mrs. Viola Merritt won Marcy's teachers' drawing for a dinner for two at La Posada.

Mrs. Rulene Freeze's fifth grade class at Kentwood recorded 259-percent PTA membership to win the traveling Snoopy award, while Mrs. Laura Lowrey's Kentwood kindergarten won the traveling Woodstock award with 114-percent membership.

Top salesmen at Kentwood were Andrea Figueroa with 11 members and Brad and Erin Roberts with 9 members each.

At Moss, the winning classes were Mrs. Linda Alexander's fifth grade and Mrs. Sarah Tipton's special ed class, each recording 200 percent membership.

Top over-all salesmen at Moss were Aaron Bradley and Kara Claxton. Winners in each grade level were Amy Osinski, first grade; Belinda Banks, second grade; J.P. Shanks, third grade; Cari and Christi Starritt, fourth grade; Austin Bell, fifth grade; and Josh Hughes, special ed.

October 15 was the cut-off date for sending first membership lists to the state PTA office for allocation of state convention delegates.

However, new PTA memberships will be accepted until March 15.

Long hair care, styling tips given in 'Seventeen'

NEW YORK, N.Y. — Long hair looks great — but only when it's kept in shape. If your hair is shoulder-length or longer, check out these styling tips from a recent issue of "Seventeen."

The longer your hair is, the older — and more easily damaged — the ends are. And since they don't get oily, they don't need the same kind of shampooing that the scalp requires. Apply shampoo to the scalp only, letting it run down to the ends. And avoid tangling by shampooing gently.

When rinsing shampoo out, work out tangles with your fingers, or take a wide-toothed comb right into the shower with you and, beginning at the ends and working up to the crown, gently comb out tangles.

Regular conditioning and trims every eight to ten weeks are a must.

Use an oval-shaped brush — it has a large brushing surface, good for flat, even stroking.

Long hair should be in proportion to your height. If you're petite, very long hair will make you look shorter.

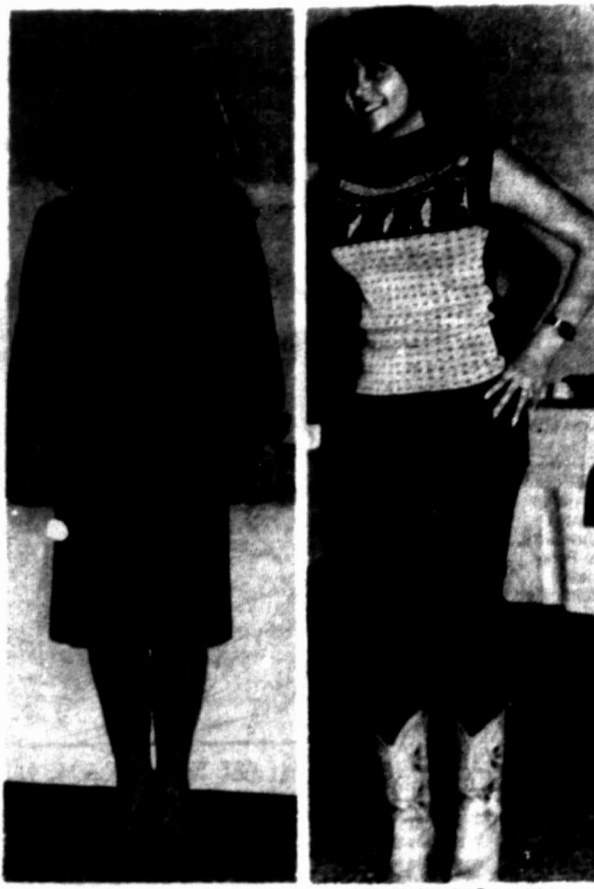

When parted in the center, long, straight hair can look flat and lengthen your face. A side part is a more flattering frame for most face shapes and features.

GIBSON'S STOCKED TO THE BRIM
...grand opening will be on Thursday

THE "NEW" GIBSON'S DISCOUNT CENTER
...located at 2309 Scurry Street

Gibson's has fresh new look

Grand opening of the "new" Gibson's Discount Center at 2309 Scurry Street is slated for 9 a.m. Thursday. The store is now under ownership of Gibson Distributing Company, Inc. - Permian Basin. The privately held corporation was formed in the early 1960's in Odessa and it has since become the most successful Gibson franchise, employing 1,500 people with stores in Odessa, Midland, El Paso, Plainview and Amarillo plus a distribution center in Odessa.

The store is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday through Saturday and from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Sundays. Many specials in all departments are being offered during the grand opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday including "buy one - get one free offers" in the grocery department.

"IT IS OUR GOAL to maintain a wide selection of quality merchandise at competitive prices with efficient and courteous personnel," said Richard Anthony Sr., vice president of marketing. "We look forward to having the opportunity to meet and serve the people of Big Spring."

Anthony added, "We pioneered full line grocery service among the Gibson stores, and combined with a wide selection of hard goods and a clothing department serving every member of the family, we believe we have a lot to offer our customers."

President Tom Nennell said, "While the corporate offices of the company are in Odessa, we have no intention of being an absentee landlord." Rather, he indicated that while the store will be managed and staffed by local people, there would be frequent visits by the Odessa personnel.

He is hopeful that the people of Big Spring will feel free to contact the Odessa office if the company does not live up to its stated objectives in regard to the store itself or the company's fulfilling its role as a good corporate citizen of Big Spring.

THE GIBSON'S STORE has undergone extensive remodeling and rearrangement to make for more spacious aisles and easier location of various items.

Computerized cash registers highlight the store front that now has 10 check-out stands including two express lanes.

The grocery section is better stocked and includes a counter exclusively devoted to generic label foods which provide considerable savings. Gibson's Select Beef is featured in the meat market. Fresh produce, milk and other dairy items are available.

The toy section, sporting goods, hardware, clothing, housewares, drug and beauty aids departments are fully stocked and offer a wide selection of brand names. TVs, stereos, records, tapes and other electronic items, cameras and film, and books also are offered at Gibson's.

"We're proud of our new ownership and our new look and we invite everyone in this area to come take a look at the new Gibson's," said Manager Ed McCauley.

ED McCAULEY
... with Gibson's since 1973

Store manager is Ed McCauley

Ed McCauley is store manager of the "new" Gibson's at 2309 Scurry.

He started with Gibson's in 1973 in Clovis, N.M., as head of the soft goods department. He has worked as assistant manager and store manager of several stores in New Mexico and Texas since that time.

A native of Flemington, West Virginia, he is active in Big Spring Kiwanis Club, serving on the board of directors.

He and his wife Becky, who works in the bookkeeping department at First National Bank, reside at 2614 Ann. They have three children, Tonya, 17, Robby, 14, and Dwayne, 11.

McCauley enjoys all sports. His retail career began in 1964 with G.F. Wacker Stores as assistant manager of a store in Hobbs, N.M. He was promoted to manager and served in that position until going to work for Gibsons in 1973.

TOO LATE 'Day at Weasel Creek' TO CLASSIFY is a strange outing

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Television Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — "A Few Days at Weasel Creek" starts off nicely as a warm, offbeat road movie about two opposites attracting while chasing different dreams. But then it takes a bad turn halfway through and crashes in a thicket of strange behavior and some shootings that come out of nowhere.

"Weasel Creek," a two-hour TV movie on CBS tonight, is based on a book by Joanna Brent. The movie is worthwhile for half the trip on the strength of engaging performances by Mare Winningham and John Hammond. He's Beldon Stokes, running away from a dead-end farm life in rural Georgia to become a crop duster in Texas. She's Locksley Clairor, a roadie using her companionship to reach California and respectability.

He has a pickup truck; she has a camper — a marriage made on the highway. "I'm real good company," she says, trying to persuade him to hitch her camper to his wheels. There's a cute scene when Locksley, acting kittenish, strikes a pose to pass his inspection.

She does, and love soon blossoms in the camper. They're not all that much alike, except they both dream to be different. She's experienced sexually; he's not. She's attracted by family; he wants no ties.

Hammond displays an energetic adolescence in his first starring role. Miss Winningham is a charmer with a strong streak of vulnerability. Because they aren't household names, Colleen Dewhurst is thrown into the mix, making an appearance that doesn't have much meat to it.

Tonight's other original programming, "The Hunter and the Hunted" on PBS, is a documentary about the pursuit of Nazi war criminals 35 years later. Its content makes for a compelling hour, but a confusing format makes the broadcast a bit incoherent.

With narrator Jose Ferrer creating the appropriate seriousness, the broadcast tracks three men: Josef Mengele, the "Angel of Death," Klaus Barbie, the "Butcher of Lyon," and Walter Rauff, the creator of mobile gas chambers.

Mengele used the concentration camps for human experiments, injecting blue dye into children's eyes, surgically transforming men into women. Mengele was traced to Paraguay. In 1979, his citizenship was forfeited, under pressure from the U.S. Congress and famous Nazi hunter, Simon Wiesenthal.

"He's not sleeping more than two weeks in the same bed," said Wiesenthal. "That's part of his punishment."

Suspect posts $15,000 bail

Michael Carey Carlile, 19, was released on bail, following arrest on charges of theft over $200. Carlile, of 1110 Mt. Vernon, had his $15,000 bond posted by Basden & Conway.

Also released on bail was Earl Dennis Kolden, 49, on DWI charges. Kolden, 1400 State Park Drive, had his $3,500 bond posted by Basden & Conway.

JUST YOUR TYPICAL TOURISTS — Trio of unusually clad would-be travelers arrive at Los Angeles International Airport Monday to take part in a raffle of 59 roundtrip tickets to Australia, each priced at 59 cents, staged by Continental Airlines to mark the opening of their new route "down under." Among the winners of the tickets, normally priced at $1,800, were Cipora Francke, left, who came as a flying kangaroo, complete with airplane in pouch; Petey Taylor, decked out as a can of Australian beer; and Elissa North, made up as a eucalyptus tree with koalas in it.

Adapter of 'Home on the Range' is buried

BALLINGER, Texas (AP) — Composer David Guion, who helped make the cowboy ballad "Home on the Range" a national favorite, was returned to this West Texas town for burial today.

Guion, a Ballinger native, died Saturday in Dallas. He was 88.

He wrote several original compositions but was best-known for his adaptation of traditional American folk songs, most notably "Home on the Range," which is now the state song of Kansas. It originally was written in the mid-19th century by Brewster Higley.

"There was an old cowboy lament that just traveled around from ranch to ranch, from state to state," Guion once said of the piece. "It was about a cowboy that loved his place on the range. When I was about 15, I changed the words around and set it to music."
