

Deaf poet believes in miracles

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer
George Taylor believes in miracles. He's seen several of them in his life.
Taylor teaches chemistry at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf. He's also a poet and says he's been writing poetry since he lost his hearing following a childhood illness.
Taylor was born in Africa, in the city of Sierra Leone. When he was 10, he became desperately ill with meningitis.
"It almost killed me," he says. "Everybody already had written me off." Doctors told his family they held little hope for his recovery and plans were made for his funeral.
But Taylor lived through the illness, and counts that as the first miracle in his life.
"My middle name is 'Olufemi,'" Taylor says. "That means 'God loves me' in Yoruba, one of the languages of Nigeria. God had a lot to do with the fact that I didn't die."
Shortly after he lost his hearing, Taylor began writing poems which reflected his feelings.
"I knew about sound," he recalls, "but after awhile, I began to forget what it was like."
Taylor says "I remember I enjoyed music. I still enjoy music. I like to make my own music, music in my mind."
"One of the first poems I wrote after I became deaf was 'First Morning.' It's about my becoming deaf."
"First Morning" is one of the first I didn't tear into a thousand pieces. I didn't like what I wrote. I was very fussy."
The chemistry professor is still fussy, and estimates he has written more than 1,000 poems during the last 20 years, and torn up three-fourths of them.
But he's kept many, and has a portfolio of his poetry that he hopes to publish soon. Several of his poems have appeared in the Washington Post.
Taylor's poetry was published in the Post while he was at Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C. Taylor came to the states from Africa because he had read of the college for the deaf and wanted to study there.

GEORGE TAYLOR
...poet at SWCID

In Africa, Taylor attended schools with hearing children. "I was in middle school when I became deaf," says Taylor. "I had another year to go. I don't understand how I got through it. There was no sign language, and I couldn't lip read. That's another miracle in my life."
But Taylor wanted to become a teacher, and took his education seriously.
"In Sierra Leone, deaf people aren't allowed to teach. That's one reason (I'm in the United States.)"
Taylor finished high school in Freeport, Nigeria, by doing extensive research outside of class and by reading the textbooks closely.
"I really worked hard" he remembers. He then worked for the minister of education, and through that department, learned of Gallaudet College.
Gallaudet looked like exactly what he was looking for.

"I'd had it with trying to get headaches every day trying to understand what a person was trying to say." He applied for and received a scholarship, then left Africa bound for Washington, D.C.
"When I got in college, it was a little difficult to adjust," Taylor says. "It was a different system. I had to start a lot of things over again."
But, there, Taylor learned American Sign Language, and got degrees in chemistry and master's in education. He then thought about returning to Sierra Leone, but "I got some negative vibes. That didn't make me enthusiastic about going back."
If he returned, Taylor realized he wouldn't be able to teach. "I can't use my abilities there. I can't teach deaf students there. I'm a teacher."
Taylor remained at Gallaudet, as a teacher at the Model Secondary School for the Deaf, and at Gallaudet College itself.
It was during this period he experienced another miracle. He says he once wanted to play professional soccer, and had played with semi-pro teams. He was seeking a try-out with the Washington Diplomats.

The coach wouldn't let him try-out, Taylor recalls, so to combat this, he held "a one man demonstration" at RFK stadium one Saturday during a Diplomats game. He carried a placard reading "Washington Dips Aren't Fair."
Taylor says "It worked. Monday, the coach of the team called me at work, and invited me to attend the training camp."
But Taylor never made it to camp. A week before he was to leave "I was in a real terrible car accident." He was severely injured, but says it's a miracle he lived through it.
From awhile, the end of his dream to play professional soccer "was a bitter pill to swallow." But he's turned his athletic talents in a new direction, and is putting together a soccer team at SWCID.
"Now I dream of having the best deaf soccer team in the country, or maybe the world" he says.
The accident is one thing which helped steer him to Big Spring, he says.
"I found out about a fantastic dream being set up in Big Spring, Texas," Taylor says. "I'd never heard of Big Spring, Texas. I got out the map and found this little dot."
Taylor applied and was accepted as an instructor at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf.
"Deaf people dream about a college like this, where we can have the freedom to shape our destinies, as we feel they should be."
Here, at SWCID, "we have a chance to build a strong program" for deaf students. On the campus "we have some of the most qualified deaf professionals in education" in the nation.
Taylor says he finds the people in Big Spring "very, very friendly and supportive." That's one of the most positive things about the city, he says.
A sampling of some of Taylor's poetry appears below:

Mercury dips to upper 30s

Remnants of an arctic air mass blew through Big Spring and West Texas yesterday lowering temperatures to the upper 30s and scattering light rains about the area.
The National Weather Service is expecting the weather to stay the same today as it predicts a 50 percent chance of rain today with low temperatures in the upper 30s for the Big Spring area.
The U.S. Big Spring Field Station reported .85 inch in the last 24 hours which brings the city's rainfall total for this year to 17.21 inches. Normal for the year is 16.49 inches.
The CRMWd measured precipitation at four of its pump stations. The Big Spring pump station received .80 inch, Lake Thomas reported .80 inch, Odessa recorded .70 inch and Lake Spence measured .20 inch. Rod Lewis, of the CRMWd, said there was no indication of runoff into any of the lakes.

Red Thomas, 107 E. 13th, said one inch fell at his home yesterday.
Chuck Benz, 2807 Apache, reported .50 inch.
Mrs. Boyce Hale, southwest of the city, said .84 inch had fallen at her place since yesterday.
The NWS said although the threat of rain will prevail today the precipitation should be ending by Friday. Temperatures will remain on the cool side for the next few days, according to the NWS.
In Big Spring the high temperature today and Friday should be in the upper 50s. Low temperature should drop into the upper 30s. There is no freeze warning for the Big Spring area, according to the NWS.
The NWS is predicting freezing temperatures and scattered frost for the Panhandle and the northern area of the South Plains Friday morning.

Bilingual education program attacked in local lawsuit

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer
A position has been filed against the state of Texas and the Big Spring Independent School District by Cecil Gilstrap opposing the Bilingual education program as a violation of his constitutional rights. The petition asks for an injunction freezing all funds for the program.
Gilstrap states in his original petition filed in 118th District Court, that "the institution of a Spanish tongue education in the school district is a discrimination against all nationalities."
If such a program was sanctioned in Texas and the BSISD, the petition states, "additional programs will be, in all probability, instituted in the native tongues of French, German, Polish, Greek, or any other nationality of any individuals... within... the school district."
Gilstrap, further states in his area oilman, petition that bilingual education is a violation of his constitutional rights by discriminating against him, and all other nationalities, in favor of Spanish-speaking individuals.

The petition also states the taking of property through taxes to fund "a select minority group is taking of the Plaintiff's (Gilstrap) property without due process of law and without just compensation for his rights."
However, Big Spring Independent School District Superintendent Lynn Hise says a bilingual program has been in effect in Big Spring and other Texas schools since 1973. He said a previous law had established a bilingual program in the grades kindergarten through the third grade.
Hise said the bilingual program "is from a state statute; it's by legislative action." He said the program is designed to be offered to certain students in all Texas public schools.
"Senate Bill 477 only expanded the bilingual program through the 12th grade," Hise said. He added that the school district's attorneys were working on replying to Gilstrap's petition.

Judge rejects Daniel mistrial motion

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — A state judge struck down a defense motion for a mistrial today and was expected to order testimony in the Vickie Daniel murder trial to resume next week.
However, Visiting District Judge Leonard Giblin first took under consideration a defense request for an instructed verdict of acquittal in the slaying of former Texas House

Speaker Price Daniel Jr.
His ruling on the instructed verdict was expected at mid-morning.
The defense demanded a mistrial on the grounds that a witness testified before the jury Wednesday she first provided attorneys a different version of her story when submitting to a lie detector test.
Lead defense attorney Jack Zimmermann contended the courtroom disclosure prejudiced the jury against the blonde defendant and said, "It's the only testimony so far that gets the state over the hurdle of an instructed verdict."

The judge denied the motion without elaborate comment.
Earlier, attorneys said privately that they expected him to overrule both motions.
The case took an unexpected twist

Wednesday with a series of disclosures surrounding the Jan. 19 shooting death of Daniel, 39, namesake son of a former Texas governor.
His widow, Vickie, 34, is accused of firing the fatal shot during a bitter brawl at the couple's ranch-style Liberty home.
Mrs. Daniel, while never denying she shot her husband, insists it was an accident.
In a stunning turn of events, Mrs. Daniel's 13-year-old daughter testified for the first time Wednesday that she saw her mother with a rifle and heard her twice threaten Daniel moments before the shooting.
She said she neither saw nor heard shots fired, but when the ambulance arrived that rainy winter night, she realized, "My Mama shot Price."
Kimberly Moore, Mrs. Daniel's daughter by an earlier marriage, said she saw her mother come out of the kitchen with a rifle after the couple had quarreled fiercely.
She said Daniel apparently was descending the steps of an attic stairwell with a small white paper sack when she heard Mrs. Daniel say: "Put that sack down or I'm going to shoot."
Speaking in a whisper, her eyes clouded with tears, Kimberly recalled herself saying: "Please don't."
The next thing she heard, she said, was her mother again threatening Daniel.
"If you don't believe I'll shoot, I will," she quoted her as saying.
Kimberly said her mother told her to go to her room and shut the door. When she next saw Mrs. Daniel, she said her mother had a rag over her mouth.

150,000 Polish workers launch general strike

WARSAW, Poland (AP) — About 150,000 workers launched a province-wide general strike in Zielona Gora today, transport workers idled vehicles in Wroclaw and Solidarity was urged to hold a one-hour nationwide walkout next week despite government warnings such a move might bring martial law.
The call for a national warning strike next Wednesday over food shortages was made by Leszek Waliszewski, a delegate to the Solidarity leadership meeting in the Baltic port of Gdansk. If adopted and the strike is held, it will be the biggest protest in Poland since a four-hour national strike in March.

The issue in western Zielona Gora was the dismissal of a Solidarity manager at a state farm. He was later given back his job. The unionists staged a one-hour strike Wednesday, but broadened the walkout today, demanding the officials who fired the manager be dismissed.

RAIN-SLICK HIGHWAY — Juan Tovar, Big Spring, was injured in an accident between his pickup truck and a tractor-trailer rig about 11:45 a.m. Wednesday. Driver of the rig was William F. Pitts, Cherry Valley, Ark. Tovar was transported to Midland Memorial Hospital by Shaffer Ambulance. He is listed in stable condition today in the post-critical care ward of the hospital. The accident occurred near exit 186 on I.S. 20, as Tovar attempted to pull in front of the tractor-trailer. The two collided, and Tovar's vehicle went off the road into the sign.

SIGN LANGUAGE

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer
Today's sign as pictured here may be used to sign "wrong," "mistake" and "error."
Mary Payte, a student at the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf, signs the word, which is formed by making the "Y" sign with your hand, then touching the chin, palm facing in. Notice the photograph.
We're running this sign language series in an effort to help Big Springers who have not been able to take sign language classes pick up a few sign symbols. We hope this series is beneficial.

WRONG — Mary Payte signs "wrong." The same sign may also be used for "mistake" and "error."

U.S. officials predict 'consensus' at summit

CANCUN, Mexico (AP) — Despite signs of sharp discord between rich and poor countries, U.S. and Mexican officials are predicting that "some consensus" will be reached at the unprecedented 22-nation economic summit.

The North-South summit was opening today amid mounting demands that President Reagan back away from his conservative economic doctrines and demonstrate more flexibility in his approach to the world's poor.

Nevertheless, Secretary of State Alexander M. Haig Jr. predicted that the two-day conference would yield positive results.

Haig told a news conference Wednesday night that he is increasingly confident the meeting "will achieve some consensus in a number of important areas."

Haig gave no further details, but Mexico's Foreign Secretary Jorge Castaneda told reporters he expects summit participants to agree on ways that industrialized countries can help poor countries in two key areas: food and energy production.

Even before the summit began, there were few expectations that any significant agreements would result. Neither a final communique nor a followup conference is planned.

In a newspaper interview on the eve of the conference, Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo said it would be "futile, Utopian and demagogic to expect immediate and spectacular results" from the summit. But he expressed hope that the meeting would end the longstanding stalemate in North-South deliberations.

Mexican government spokesman Horacio Flores de la Pena said Reagan told Lopez Portillo on Wednesday that the success of the summit "depends on the cooperation of all its participants, especially on that of the industrialized countries."

Reagan appeared relaxed as he prepared for perhaps the most challenging diplomatic assignment in his nine-month-old administration.

Shortly after his arrival from Washington on Wednesday, he slipped into sports clothes and then held separate meetings with five other leaders assembled here, including Lopez Portillo, China's Prime Minister Zhao Ziyang and India's Prime Minister Indira Gandhi. Reagan also took time out for a Caribbean swim.

The format for the summit called for an unstructured give-and-take by the delegates, and Reagan was to be one of the early speakers at today's opening session.

Reagan, faced with a groundswell of complaints about his policies toward poor nations, appeared to be pursuing a lonely course with his insistence that free enterprise, foreign investment and expanded global trade are the keys to Third World prosperity.

Austrian Foreign Minister Willibald Pahr issued a call Wednesday for a "Marshall Plan," such as that provided Europe after World War II, of massive assistance to developing nations.

But a senior U.S. official, who asked not to be identified, said the Reagan administration opposes that idea, favoring instead private investment to promote growth.

The crescendo of opposition to Reagan's formulas prompted Brazilian officials here to warn that isolation of the United States could cast a pall over the prospects for a constructive North-South dialogue.

Castaneda conceded to reporters that there was little hope for any summit consensus on expanded financial assistance to poorer countries and a restructuring of the international monetary system.

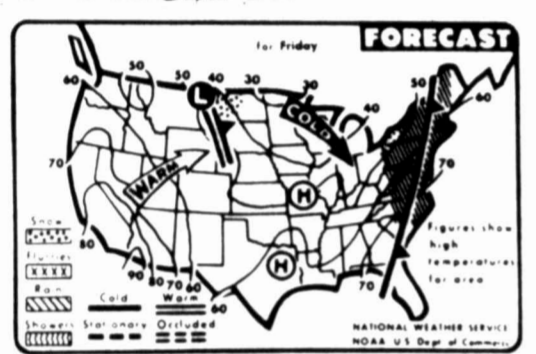

Perhaps the most divisive issue facing the conference centered on whether the United States would be willing to enter into global negotiations, under the auspices of the U.N. General Assembly, to restructure the world economic system.

Reagan and Mrs. Gandhi had "frank exchanges" over India's concern about growing U.S. military ties with Pakistan, including a proposed sale of F-16 fighter jets to Pakistan, the official said.

Weather

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for Friday predicts rain in the East in an area stretching from South Carolina to New England. Snow is predicted for parts of New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and North Dakota.

Panhandle under freeze warning

A cold front moved southeastward across Texas today, triggering widespread cloudiness, rain and fog across much of the state.

A freeze warning was in effect tonight for the Texas Panhandle where readings were expected to drop to near 30 degrees by dawn Friday.

A flash flood warning was in effect for Val Verde County early today and flash flood watches covered Southwest Texas between San Angelo and Midland and another watch covered south and east portions of North Texas.

The front was located along a line from Dallas-Fort Worth southwestward to near Del Rio early today.

FORECAST — WEST TEXAS — Freeze warning Panhandle tonight. Cloudy with occasional rain-most sections today. Decreasing cloudiness with rain ending tonight. Clear to partly cloudy Friday. Continued cold through Friday with freezing temperatures. Panhandle tonight. Highs upper 40s north to lower 40s south. Lows near 30 Panhandle to mid 40s south. Highs Friday lower 50s north to near 60 extreme south.

EXTENDED FORECAST — WEST TEXAS — Partly cloudy. Warmer Saturday but cooler north Monday. Lows 30s north to near 50 extreme south. Highs Saturday 40s north to near 60 Big Bend cooling to mid 50s north to near 80 extreme south.

Harrelson says witnesses are intimidated

HOUSTON (AP) — Paroled hired killer Charles V. Harrelson has testified he didn't know anything about the guns found in his car and told the prosecutor in his weapons possession trial that witnesses who could prove his innocence are afraid to testify.

"Hell, I've got evidence," Harrelson said after court Wednesday when Ted Wilson challenged his statement that he was not guilty. "But my witnesses are intimidated by your Gestapo agents."

"I wish you wouldn't talk," defense counsel Bob Tarrant said, and Harrelson subsided.

State District Judge P.K. Reiter was prepared to send the case to the jury today, the fourth day of the case involving the man federal agents have identified as the prime target in the investigation into the assassination of U.S. District Judge John Wood Jr.

Harrelson testified Wednesday he never saw four of five weapons he is accused of carrying in his car until they were presented as evidence in the courtroom.

He said he saw the other weapon, a pistol found on the floorboard of the front seat, after several officers forced him out of his car and arrested him Feb. 1, 1980.

"It was as big as downtown Dallas," he said. Asked precisely where the 38-caliber Colt revolver was, he said, "It was just there. It was everywhere."

Harrelson testified he thought there was a "possibility" that the guns were placed in the car after he got out.

"I hadn't considered that before," he said. He said he saw no one place the guns in the car, but said his attention had been diverted.

"When I got out, there was what appeared to be the contents of the Remington arms factory leveled at my head," he said.

Harrelson refused to answer Wilson's questions about the Van Horn arrest, citing his Fifth Amendment right to remain silent.

Defense attorney Tarrant objected to the questions regarding the Van Horn incident, saying they dealt with an unrelated charge. Reiter overruled the objection, prompting a sharp exchange.

"I suppose that with that reasoning, his next question would be, 'Did you kill Judge Wood?'" Tarrant said.

Reiter recessed the jury and ordered Tarrant to refrain from criticizing the court and prosecutors.

Harrelson failed to show up for trial in July 1980 and was arrested Sept. 1, 1980, in Van Horn, Texas. He faces a separate gun possession charge there because police say he was carrying a pistol at the time.

Harrelson, on parole for a 1968 conviction of the murder-for-hire slaying of a Hearne, Texas, grain dealer, testified that the fact that he drove his car while he knew police were watching him should make it obvious that he did not know the vehicle contained guns.

Cole Hunt and D'Ann Hall of Knot 4-H Club, and Paula Allen, Coahoma 4-H Club, were among the 120 4-Hers who attended the Citizenship-Washington Focus recently in Washington, D.C. Club members from Texas and 15 other states participated in citizenship and leadership training. The program is designed to help young people understand the structure and function of government, study their heritage and plan active involvement as citizens. The program included a visit to Capitol Hill, where the group visited Congressman Charles Stenholm as well as other members of Congress. Other highlights were a tour of the Capitol building, the Smithsonian Institute, field trips to historical and cultural sites, federal agencies and community organizations. Workshop sessions were held at the National 4-H Center to discuss contemporary issues and meet and share ideas with 4-H members from across the country. Citizenship-Washington Focus is conducted by National 4-H Council in behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service of the State Land Grant Universities and the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Carnival attractions open at 6 p.m. at the school and close at 9 p.m. The carnival supper runs 6-8 p.m. in the Goliad cafeteria.

Tickets are selling briskly for La Posada's Mexican dinner catered by Oscar Zertuche. College Heights students sold tickets for the dinner until today, but meal tickets also may be purchased at the door Saturday night.

Carnival attractions will include a make-up room, go-fishing, hospital, cork-gun shoot, panning for gold, dart throw, lollipop ring toss, two cake walks, football throw, hospitality room, bingo, duck pond and egg crate toss. Students may buy cut-rate tickets five for $1 from 8:30 to 9 Friday morning in the College Heights foyer. Tickets will cost 25 cents each Saturday night. Parents are reminded to bring cakes, pies and cookies for the hospitality room and cake walks to College Heights from 9-12 a.m. Saturday morning. College Heights carnival co-chairmen are Kay Roberts and Diana Bailey. Dinner chairman is Rebecca Pierce.

Bride-elect is honored with shower

Pamela Pope, bride-elect of Lane McMillan, was feted with a bridal shower Oct. 10 in the home of Mrs. Curtis Mullins.

The refreshment table featured an arrangement of burgundy and pink flowers accented by burgundy candles. Punch and cake were served to 60 guests. Hostesses were Mrs. Tom Adams, Mrs. Bill Addy, Mrs. San Anderson, Mrs. Zane Anderson, Mrs. M.A. Barber and Mrs. Raymond Cooper. Others were Mrs. Vernon Cotton, Mrs. Melvitt Daniels, Mrs. Douglas Hedges, Mrs. Jesse Majors, Charlotte Majors and Mrs. Curtis Mullins.

Completing the list of hostesses were Mrs. Max Newsome, Mrs. Cecil Stephens, Mrs. J.W. Tipton, Mrs. Roy Shaffer, Mrs. David Massey and Mrs. John McDiffitt.

The hostesses presented Miss Pope with a stainless steel mixer. The couple exchanged vows Saturday in the home of the bride's parents.

Children and five of her great-grandchildren. Mrs. Chagnon was born in New York City, N.Y., where she was a school teacher 37 years. She came to Big Spring in June, 1929. She has four children, 14 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren. Family members live in Texas, Alaska, Wyoming, Michigan, New York and Virginia.

DEAR ABBY: I have a question which, as you will see, I can't very well ask anyone else. I am nearly 80, quite alone in the world, and have a progressive disease that will eventually make me helpless. Before that time comes, I plan to end my own life, a choice I believe each one of us has the right to make for himself. I am Jewish, but not Orthodox. I want a Jewish funeral, but I need to know if a rabbi would consent to perform a funeral for a person known to have committed suicide. Could I be buried in a Jewish cemetery? Please do not identify me or my town.
ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: According to Jewish law, our bodies belong to God, and only he can take a life. However, out of consideration for the grieving family, suicides are entitled to have a religious funeral and they may be buried in a Jewish cemetery.

DEAR ABBY: Your column telling girls that they don't have to "go all the way" to prove their love has made me sit down and write this. Why is all the blame piled on the boys? Listen to this: I'm a high school senior. I dated a girl last year (I'll call her Angie) and she told me if I didn't go to bed with her it meant I didn't "love" her. Well, I kept my self-respect and my virginity, even though Angie leaked a few rumors around school.

Funeral Arrangements Worry Would-Be Suicide

A friend of mine (I'll call him Tim) was advised by his father to get some "experience" in his teens so that when he gets married he will be able to guide his bride through the honeymoon. Tim followed his father's advice and as a result he contracted syphilis! I know all this because I was the friend who took Tim to the clinic for treatments. I just want to say that it's not only the girl who pays the price for hasty sex. (Consider the boy who has fathered a child out of wedlock.) Please print this to let other boys know that virginity is nothing to be ashamed of. I'm not a religious fanatic, I'm just waiting for "the right time."
IN NO HURRY

DEAR IN: I commend you for your wholesome outlook and manly self-control. It's too bad Tim's father didn't tell his son how to prevent the twin tragedies of irresponsible sex: venereal disease and unwanted pregnancies.

Reagan proposes change in 'secrecy' system

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Reagan administration proposal would require government officials to classify information even if they are not sure that secrecy is needed to protect national security.

The new approach, contained in a draft presidential order obtained by The Associated Press, would reverse longstanding government policy that mandates a firm determination of national security danger before a secrecy stamp can be applied.

That stricter policy was endorsed by former Presidents Nixon in 1972 and Carter in 1978.

The new 31-page draft order, which President Reagan can implement on his own authority, also contains several other changes that would increase the government's power to deny public access to documents related to national security.

As one of the breaks with past policies, the Reagan draft states that "if there is reasonable doubt about the need to classify information, the information shall be considered classified."

By contrast, a 1972 directive signed by Nixon's national security adviser, Henry Kissinger, said: "If the classifier has any substantial doubt as to which security classification is appropriate or as to whether the material should be classified at all, he should designate the less restrictive treatment."

Carter's 1978 order contained similar language, declaring that in cases of "reasonable doubt... the less restrictive (security) designation should be used, or the information should not be classified."

The Reagan draft also would drop Carter's requirement that government secrecy be balanced against the public's right to know. The draft states that "classification shall be determined solely on the basis of national security considerations."

Carter's executive order said government officials must "determine whether the public interest in disclosure outweighs the damage to national security that might reasonably be expected from disclosure."

In another change, the draft would loosen guidelines for what government information can be withheld as "confidential," the classification that is already applied to about 75 percent of the 300,000 government documents kept from public view each year.

Under the Reagan draft, the "confidential" stamp could be applied to documents for which unauthorized disclosure "reasonably could be expected to cause damage to the national security." Carter's order requires government officials to determine that the disclosure would cause "identifiable" damage to national security.

Man gets ten years for rape of child

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A jury that viewed a graphic videotape of an Austin man's sexual activity with two young girls recommended he be given half the maximum sentence, after a defense attorney argued that the children had not been physically harmed.

Stanley Weldon Williams, convicted of rape of a child, should serve 10 years and one day in prison, the jurors said Wednesday after two hours of deliberations.

The rape of a child conviction carried a possible penalty of 20 years in prison.

Williams' wife, Janinne, said her husband is "ashamed of what he's done." She said she was relieved by the sentence, because she needs his help in supporting and raising their child.

The seven-woman, five-man jury took three looks Tuesday at the videotape Williams made. The explicit tape detailed Williams, 31, engaged in sexual activity with his 8-year-old daughter and her friend.

The friend, now 10, testified briefly at the trial. During the punishment phase of the trial Wednesday, defense lawyer Hugh Lowe asked the jurors to recommend probation.

Beginning crochet class will start at HC Oct. 27

The Adult and Continuing Education division of Howard College is offering a course in Beginning Crochet starting Oct. 27 at 7 p.m. The course will meet on Tuesday evenings from 7 p.m. until 9 p.m. in the Horace-Garrett Building, room 106. The session will be for six weeks. Tuition is $18. Supplies are additional, but will be furnished the first class night.

The course will cover the basic stitches, how to read crochet patterns, and how to design original articles in crochet. Special instructions will be given to left-handed persons.

The instructor will be Ms. Susan King of the Howard College English department who does needlework as a hobby. Her crochet classes in the past years have been very popular.

"Crocheted garments and articles for the home are very much in style now," Ms. King said. "My students enjoy making these for themselves and for gifts. Some of my students have sold their crocheted shawls and purses, but most take the course for enjoyment and to learn a new hobby."

Interested persons may register by coming to the Adult and Continuing Education office in the Horace Garrett Building. For additional information, call 267-6311, ext. 21

Deer counts up in local area

Bambi is loose again. Deer counts are up this year in the Big Spring region. According to biologist Don Davis of Winters, the increases are in the 20 to 30 percent range. "Habitat conditions look excellent," Davis said. Davis also noted that the deer are in good condition, and antler development is better than last year. "Turkey and quail hunters should do well because we have seen signs of outstanding reproduction, especially with turkeys," said Davis.

Colorado City band boosters picking up money from streets

COLORADO CITY (SC) — As far as Colorado City band boosters are concerned, the Colorado High marching band hasn't lost a half-time show the entire season.

Travel is in the band's future, according to director Bill Shipp. "We're planning a spring band trip and there's no sense in wasting money that is lying on the streets and off the highways, so the band currently is having a 'Band Can' drive. The kids really are working hard to collect 100,000 cans, which will mean $1,300 for the group for a spring excursion, so Colorado City gonna have a band trip."

Shipp continued, "We've even had a call from the highway department thanking us for helping to keep the highway areas clean as far in town. I often am driving downtown and see a hand reach out from the door of a parked car, pick up a discarded aluminum can and I think, 'It's one of the band kids.'"

Shipp said one of the band Dad's donated a trailer to hold the cans, which also are being given by citizens who have an accumulation of them and when the trailer's full, off to Big Spring it will go, with the cans to be recycled so the band can plan for its spring trip.

Shipp concluded, "You know, there's no scoreboard for the band at half-time, but we're tremendously proud of our kids... from the senior leaders down to the youngest members. They're a wonderful group and they and Colorado City have made my first year here a winner."

Militant group linked to 4 N.Y. heists

NEW YORK (AP) — Police investigating the bloody ambush of a Brink's armored car found a bomb factory equipped with floor plans for six police stations and identified two of the suspects as members of the radical Weather Underground.

Authorities said the gang may be associated with two militant groups — the Black Liberation Army and the May 19 Coalition, which takes its name from the birthdate of Ho Chi Minh — and may be linked to four other armored car heists in the New York area in the last two years.

Meanwhile, the search continued for up to eight more suspects in Tuesday's $1.6 million holdup and gunbattle in Nanuet which left two policemen and a Brink's officer dead. Four people were arrested.

Although they identified two of the suspects as members of the long-dormant Weather Underground terrorist group which sprang from the anti-war protests of the 1960s, police were unsure of the identity of one of the people in custody.

Charged with three counts of murder Wednesday was Katherine Boudin, 38, who had been a fugitive ever since she fled naked from a bomb factory in a Greenwich Village townhouse that exploded on March 6, 1970, killing three people.

Also charged was Judith Clark, who served nine months in jail following the "Days of Rage" demonstrations in Chicago in 1969.

Miss Clark's last known radical association was with the May 19 coalition, which takes its name from the birthdates of the late North Vietnamese leader Ho Chi Minh and the late black militant Malcolm X, according to The New York Times.

The Black Liberation Army has been linked to attacks on police officers and bombings and the Times said police had been searching for links between it and the Weather Underground.

There was "no hard evidence that radical factions have joined forces" or that the Weather Underground had turned to robbery, New York City Police Commissioner Robert McGuire said Wednesday. All of the $1.6 million taken in the Brink's robbery was recovered in a rental van and a getaway car that crashed, authorities said.

FBI spokesman Joe Valiquette said Miss Clark and Miss Boudin had been associates "for years," but added that "we haven't been investigating the Weatherman since July 1979." The Weatherman, a violent offshoot of the Students for a Democratic Society, changed its name first to Weatherpeople and then to the Weather Underground to eliminate sexist terminology.

Police and Brink's officials said Wednesday that the methods and circumstances of the ambush of the Brink's truck in Nanuet were nearly identical to those in a holdup that left one guard dead and netted $292,000 in the Bronx on June 2.

Authorities also drew parallels to armored-car holdups June 11 in the Bronx, last December in Brooklyn and in April 1980 on Long Island.

Police were unable to catch one getaway car after Tuesday's robbery, but its license number led them to an East Orange, N.J., apartment where authorities found 9mm automatic weapons, bomb supplies, a bomb manual and floor plans of six New York police stations, officers said.

Another of the getaway cars was registered to Eve Rosahn, who was arrested at a New York airport during a protest of the Springboks rugby team from South Africa in which a caustic substance was thrown at police, authorities said.

Lawyer Leonard Boudin and his wife, Jean, went to see their daughter Wednesday at the Rockland County Jail, where Miss Boudin, Miss Clark and the two other suspects are being held on the triple murder charges. Attorney William Kunstler accompanied them.

"I and my wife met with our daughter Kathy and we had a long, personal discussion and we are going to defend her as best we can," Boudin said after the 90-minute visit.

Kunstler said he would represent Miss Boudin at a hearing Friday afternoon and would confer with lawyers for the other three suspects.

The Brink's guard, Peter Paige, 49, of East Brunswick, N.J., was shot to death and two other guards were wounded in an ambush Tuesday afternoon at a Nanuet shopping mall about 25 miles north of mid-Manhattan.

The robbers fled in a red van and then split up into three groups, some driving off in an Oldsmobile and the others in a yellow sports car and a rental van. The car crashed in Nyack and police arrested Miss Clark, a man who gave his name as James Hackford, 33, of New York City, and a man who gave his name as Sam Brown.

The name and address given for Hackford proved to be that of a retired New York City police officer who said he did not know how or why his name had been used. Police said they were not sure who the man who said he was Hackford really was.

The rental van was halted at a roadblock at the New York Thruway in Nyack, about five miles from the holdup scene, when robbers with automatic weapons jumped out and began firing. Nyack police officers Sgt. Edward O'Grady, 32, of Pearl River, and Waverly Brown, 45, of Spring Valley, were killed.

Most of the gang members escaped in the confusion, but a woman who gave her name as Barbara Edsen and later identified through fingerprints as Miss Boudin was seized by an off-duty prison guard as she ran down the highway.

Cathlyn Platt Wilkerson, who fled the Greenwich Village bomb factory at the same time as Miss Boudin, came out of hiding last year and pleaded guilty to possession of dynamite. She began serving a three-year sentence last January.

In 1978 Miss Clark and nine others sued the federal government for $100 million, charging that the FBI had illegally opened their mail, tapped their telephones, and broken into their homes during investigations of the Weather Underground.

The FBI, asked if there was any information to connect Hackford and Brown with radical causes, declined comment.

House debates police powers for food stamp investigators

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan's drive to wipe out fraud in the multibillion-dollar food stamp program is caught up in a fight over police powers for government investigators.

The debate raging in the House is threatening a bipartisan compromise for cutting another $600 million in food stamp spending, which already has been slashed $1.8 billion for the fiscal year that began this month.

The issue is whether about 100 investigators in the Agriculture Department's inspector general office, who are required to enforce anti-fraud food stamp laws, will get powers to carry a gun and to make warrantless arrests.

Republican supporters of the plan say they think if the police powers are denied, they will force even deeper cuts that would reduce benefits for all 22 million food stamp recipients.

Critics say the police powers proposed by Rep. Tom Coleman go too far, but the Missouri Republican claims it's the only way to control criminal fraud and abuse, estimated to cost the government as much as $1 billion a year.

"We all want to eliminate this massive fraud and abuse," said Rep. Elliott Levitas, D-Ga. "But we don't want to create a police state by giving inspectors general powers that even the FBI doesn't have."

Coleman, however, cited cases covered by the department's investigators involving organized crime to counterfeit food stamps and effectively turn them into a second currency used to buy guns, narcotics and other contraband.

"We're not talking about recipient fraud," Coleman said. "We're talking about undercover work ... a lot of times involving organized crime."

Since the Reagan administration began cracking down on criminal fraud early this year, investigators have succeeded in gaining more than 400 indictments and claim a 90 percent conviction rate.

The investigators are trained at the federal law enforcement center in Georgia, and while Coleman acknowledged that none has been harmed so far, he added: "These guys are placed in life-threatening situations. We've sent them into battle, but we haven't given them the power to defend themselves."

Rep. Frank Horton, R-N.Y., the ranking Republican on the House Government Operations Committee, argues that the mistake may have been letting Agriculture Department investigators enforce criminal laws in the first place.

If that authority is to remain, Horton says, traditional police agencies should provide protection.

Newspaper: Americans are flying for Libya

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans recruited and paid by a fugitive former CIA operative are reportedly flying and maintaining Libyan air force planes, The New York Times said today.

The Americans, and also Canadian and British pilots, have flown U.S.-made transports and helicopters, the Times said, attributing the information to associates of the former Central Intelligence Agency man, Edwin P. Wilson.

It quoted one Western pilot as saying Americans piloted helicopters in Libya's invasion of Chad this year.

The newspaper, in an article from London, a base of operation for companies controlled by Wilson, said the activities of Wilson's American recruits apparently do not violate any U.S. laws.

The unidentified Western pilot said he was paid $3,000 a month.

Wilson, under indictment in the United States for shipping explosives to Libya, has been said to have provided a number of military services to Libya under contract to its leader, Moammar Khadafy.

Previous reports have pictured Wilson as recruiting current and former U.S. Army Green Berets to train terrorists in Libya, trying to sell secret computer technology to the Soviet Union and having links to the attempted murder of an anti-Khadafy student in Colorado.

Wilson began recruiting pilots and aircraft mechanics for Libya about two years ago, the newspaper said.

It said American officials have been mystified about how Libya was maintaining its U.S.-made aircraft and had speculated that it was done by North Koreans or people from other Communist countries.

The Libyan air force's American-made aircraft includes Chinook helicopters and C-130, C-47, 727, and 707 aircraft, the report said.

Senate proposes barring aid from new 'nuke club' members

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate, trying to "exercise a little bit of sanity" in nuclear proliferation, wants to automatically cut off foreign aid to countries that for the first time develop and explode an atomic device.

The aid cutoff, proposed by Sen. Jesse Helms, R-N.C., broadens a Senate-backed amendment to suspend aid to Pakistan or India if either nation explodes a nuclear device.

Pakistan is believed to be developing nuclear bombs. India, which has fought three wars with Pakistan, exploded what it called a peaceful nuclear device in 1974.

Congressional sources said a contingency clause elsewhere in the $5.8 billion foreign aid authorization bill probably could permit the president to waive the automatic suspension if there is a compelling foreign policy need.

Such a clause could keep U.S. aid flowing to such states as Israel, which is suspected of developing nuclear weapons.

In other action Wednesday on the foreign aid authorization bill for fiscal 1982, the Senate turned back, 47-44, an attempt to force a total cutoff of U.S. oil imports from Libya, whose radical regime has been accused of promoting international terrorism and unrest.

Senators opted instead for a substitute measure condemning Libya's support of terrorism and asking President Reagan to report to Congress on possible steps to bring greater political and economic pressure against Libya.

Despite strong administration opposition, the Senate voted 51-45 to bar U.S. aid to Pakistan and India if either uses a nuclear weapon.

Helms' proposal to extend the aid cutoff provision to all countries that do not yet possess nuclear weapons apparently was aimed at softening the impact of the original amendment on U.S.-Pakistan relations. The Senate approved it by voice vote.

The aid cutoff is a way to "reverse a little bit of sanity in terms of nuclear arms proliferation," Helms said.

But Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said, "We should not legislatively pre-empt the administration."

SADAT IN BRONZE — West German sculptor Arno Breker mirrors the pose of his bronze bust of assassinated Egyptian President Anwar Sadat at Dusseldorf, Wednesday. Sadat commissioned the bust, before his death, along with those of Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin and Former U.S. President Jimmy Carter for display in a planned peace memorial in Cairo. Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak has ordered the bust installed in the Cairo mausoleum where Sadat is buried.

Fighting reported in Sahara

RABAT, Morocco (AP) — Morocco claims Mauritania violated a neutrality pact and "directly participated" with Polisario guerrillas in an attack on a Moroccan desert outpost that triggered the heaviest fighting of the six-year-old Sahara war.

Moroccan Foreign Minister Mohamed Boucetta charged Wednesday that Mauritanian troops and political leaders were involved in last week's abortive attempt by Polisario guerrillas to capture Guelta Zemmour, a Moroccan base in the former Spanish Sahara.

Diplomatic military sources said the Moroccan forces retained their overall military advantage over the Polisario because the guerrillas have no planes and are unable to retain control of outposts such as Guelta Zemmour.

Tobacco supports surviving attacks

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal tobacco price support program, subjecting most American farmers to fines if they grow the crop, is surviving congressional challenges.

But even its top defenders acknowledge that there will have to be changes soon if they are to retain key elements of the price support plan, which has meant millions of dollars in income for thousands of Southern farm families.

"Changes must occur and the only blessing... is that the Congress has allowed us (tobacco-state lawmakers) to accomplish it," says Rep. Charlie Rose, D-N.C.

Rose, whose state is the nation's leading tobacco producer, spearheaded an intense six-day lobbying effort that culminated in Wednesday's 231-184 House vote to continue the long-standing price support program in basically its present form.

At the heart of the battle was the apparent conflict in the government's support of tobacco prices while trying to discourage tobacco use and the production restraints that give holders of some 550,000 acreage allotments, control of the domestic tobacco crop.

Last month, the Senate's farm coalition was able to narrowly preserve the plan in what has been the most effective assault yet on the government's only non-food, non-fiber commodity support program.

The allotment franchise, often in the hands of banks, utilities, schools, doctors, lawyers and other non-growers, have kept tobacco supplies down and the price up. The result has been needed cash to small farmers, even if they have to pay substantial rents for the right to grow the crop, Rose said.

"What we're seeing here is not democracy in action but hypocrisy in action," said opposition leader Bob Shamansky, D-Ohio, who cited the Reagan administration's support of the production controls in the face of its free market philosophy.

Suspect fails to post bond

William Arthur Manke, 18, is in county jail following arrest yesterday on charges of theft over $200, possession of marijuana under two ounces, and evading arrest, according to the sheriff's department.

Justice of Peace Bobby West set Manke's bonds at $32,000; $25,000 for theft, $5,000 for possession and $2,000 for evading arrest. Manke listed his address as 710 E. 17th.

'What's right with public education?'

The better question, according to Bill Kopf, Coahoma instructor, is: "What's right with public education?"

Addressing the Downtown Lions Wednesday, Kopf said that public education has taken a lot of bum raps, including the allegation that students can't read, are prone to violence, are making lower SAT scores.

Students are reading better, he declared. They are no more prone to violence in schools than is the society outside, for "we see in schools what you see in society."

As for the SAT dig, he said that the test is not designed as an educational testing tool primarily, but as a college aptitude test. Moreover, one reason for lower scores is that instead of only the top students going to college and taking the test, now more and more students want to go and are taking the SAT.

If America is making such great technological and other strides, where did it get all that learning? Kopf wanted to know.

In 1900 only 6 percent of the scholastic population graduated from high school; in 1975 that was 74 percent. In 1900 only 69 percent attended schools; in 1975 it was 92 percent. In 1900 the average years of schooling was 8.1; in 1975 it was 12.3 years. In that interval illiteracy has practically disappeared — only 1.2 percent.

Schools draw criticism for not dwelling on the three R's, he added, but they might have more time for those studies except they are mandated to carry out numerous extra-curricular courses.

As for discipline, "schools have become the dumping ground of society," he contended, in that homes and other institutions are abrogating their responsibilities to the public schools.

There is today a contemporary competitor, he admitted. The average student, by the time he or she graduates, has studied 18,000 hours, but has witnessed 18,000 hours of television.

Weakening of economy may continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Commerce Secretary Malcolm Baldrige, noting that "we don't have a great deal to cheer about," says the weakening of the nation's economy is likely to continue in the fourth quarter.

Baldrige's comments Wednesday followed release of a new report that showed the inflation-adjusted gross national product declining at an annual rate of 0.6 percent in the July-September quarter.

That was the second straight quarterly decline in "real" GNP — a common definition of recession.

"Real GNP in the fourth quarter is likely to show another decline," Baldrige said. "The indications seem to be pointing that way."

That would probably mean more production cutbacks and worker layoffs with unemployment rising to about 8 percent of the labor force, he acknowledged, adding that "the effect on human lives is not something that anyone likes."

"We don't have a great deal to cheer about at the moment," he said.

But Baldrige contended that President Reagan's economic program will bring a renewal of growth early next year.

The new figures brought congressional accusations and counter-accusations along party lines.

Harsh signs of recession "show the Reagan economic nonsense for what it is," said House Speaker Thomas P. O'Neill. And he called for "rethinking and reconstructing" of the president's economic legislation by Republican supporters.

One such supporter, House Republican Leader Robert Michel, called O'Neill's comments "total nonsense." And he added, "What we're reaping today are the seeds we've sown during the disastrous four years we've just completed."

The new GNP drop and the second quarter's decline at an annual rate of 1.6 percent seem relatively small in comparison to the robust first-quarter growth at a rate of 8.6 percent.

But the decline now appears likely to last longer than some analysts had thought, especially in light of Baldrige's comments that a variety of government statistics showed the economy weakening rather than reviving as the third quarter was ending.

The president himself, jumping the gun on the Commerce figures, said last weekend that he thought the economy was in "a slight...and I hope a short recession."

The current recession, if finally judged to be one from future perspectives, would be the eighth since World War II and the second in two years.

However, last year's was much sharper and shallower. Baldrige said high interest rates that have stifled the economy have lingered most of the year because investors and others were slow to believe the new administration would really hold the line on spending and credit growth as other administrations had not.

Health, Safety Fair scheduled Saturday

The Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce has announced a Health and Safety Fair to be staged Saturday Oct. 24, from 1 to 5 p.m. in the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum at Howard College. Admission to the event is free.

The fair is being co-sponsored by the Chamber's health and safety committee and Howard County Junior College. LeRoy Tillery, vice president of the Chamber, said.

"We hope to have the fair set up like the Arts and Crafts Festival with different booths sponsored by health related organizations," said Tillery.

Tillery said the Red Cross, the Salvation Army and Howard College already had booths planned for the fair. He said the Chamber currently is contacting other health organizations in the city in hopes of garnering support for the fair.

As an added attraction the Howard College Hawks and Hawk Queens will be scrimmaging Saturday afternoon for people's entertainment, Tillery said.

For more information about the Health and Safety Fair call the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce at 263-7641.

CRASH COURSE — New York Yankees third baseman Graig Nettles tumbles over and the ball bounces away as Los Angeles Dodgers runner Steve Garvey moves safely into third in the fifth inning of Wednesday's World Series game in New York. Garvey was safe when Nettles couldn't handle the throw from Yankees shortstop Larry Milbourne who had fielded a grounder from Dodgers batter Pedro Guerrero. Milbourne was given an error on the play.

Giving Yankees 2-0 World Series advantage John, Gossage Blank Dodgers

NEW YORK (AP) — Call it formula baseball — you get seven good innings from your starting pitcher and then just hand the baseball to the Goose.

The Goose is Rich Gossage, boss of the New York bullpen. And when this Goose is loose, it's usually game, set, match for the Yankees.

New York has used that flawless recipe twice now on the Los Angeles Dodgers and that's why the American League champions traveled to California today, halfway down the road to baseball's world championship.

The Yankees beat Los Angeles 3-0 Wednesday night with Tommy John delivering the impressive first seven innings and Gossage cruising through the final two. The combination left the Dodgers staggering on the brink of big trouble as they return home to Dodger Stadium.

The LA hitters are stuck in a stifling slump and the heat that Gossage showed them in the final stages of the first two games of this Series hardly helped their condition.

"That's no secret," said the Goose. "Everybody in the ball park knows what I throw."

It's wall-to-wall fastballs and hit them if you can. So far, the Dodgers can't. Complicating their task Wednesday night was the fact that Gossage's heat followed John's sinkers into the game. It was a devastating combination that resulted in a four-hit shutout.

For Gossage, it has been merely a continuation of some marvelous post-season production. He has relieved seven times in the playoffs and Series and been credited with six saves in 13 1-3 innings of work. He has allowed six hits and struck out 15 batters.

"We've seen some outstanding pitching in these two games," said Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda. "Our guys aren't hitting, but they're throwing some great pitching at us."

Still, Lasorda thinks the Dodgers can recover once they get home to their own ball park. He remembers 1978, when his club beat the Yankees in the first two games at LA and then lost four in a row, the first three when the Yankees played on their home turf. But the Dodger recovers in 1981 postseason play against first Houston and then Montreal spark hope.

"We're two down," said Lasorda. "It was a tough loss. Now we must come back. Anytime you are down 0-2, it is tough to come back, but I believe we can do it again."

Not unless they can generate some more offense than they did against John and Gossage Wednesday night. They were hitless for four innings and had only one real scoring opportunity.

That came in the fifth when Steve Garvey opened with a single and moved up as Graig Nettles made a sharp play — yes, again — to throw out Ron Cey. Pedro Guerrero hit to shortstop and Larry Milbourne tried to cut down Garvey at third. But the throw was bad and both runners were safe on the error.

Now John was in a jam but he squirmed out of the trouble. First, he struck out Ken Landreaux. Then he got two strikes ahead of Steve Yeager. The next pitch was a forkball and Yeager drove it right back at the pitcher.

"I didn't think he hit it real hard," recalled John. "If he had, it would have been by me. He hit it toward the end of his bat."

John speared the liner, knocking it down. He recovered, but his throw to Bob Watson was high and pulled the first baseman off the bag. Watson came down and tagged Yeager in a collision, ending the inning.

It would be John's only tight spot in a game which must stand out above what has been a difficult season for him. There were some troubling injuries and a frightening brush with death for his 2½-year-old son, Travis, who tumbled from a window in August.

"After all I've gone through with my arm and Travis, everything is less (important)," he said.

In the bottom of the fifth, the Yankees gave John a run against hard-luck loser Burt Hooton. Willie Randolph reached base on an error by Davey Lopes and moved to second on John's sacrifice. Then, with two out, Milbourne doubled into the left field corner. It was the only run the Yankees would get off Hooton, but it was enough.

"I don't think I pitched that well," the Dodgers right-hander said. "The ball didn't feel right and I didn't have that zip. I had seven or eight base runners and for me that is not a good game."

Now, armed with the lead, John cruised through the sixth and seventh, allowing harmless singles in each inning. By then, just about everybody in Yankee Stadium knew it was time for Gossage.

"I didn't think I was tiring," said John, "but when you've got the Goose out there, what the heck."

Those were Manager Bob Lemon's sentiments exactly.

Goose admits psycho relief

NEW YORK (AP) — It's quiet as a haunted house in the bullpen and suddenly the air is rent by the sharp ring of the telephone.

Then it's almost like a movie.

A slumbering Frankenstein's monster awakens, starts waving his arms and in a few moments is rushing from the bullpen to the baseball pitcher's mound — a monster on the loose.

That's the way it is with Goose Gossage, the relief ace of the New York Yankees, whose blazing 96 mph fastball is in the process of helping project the New York Yankees to a 23rd World Series championship.

"It's a scary feeling," the hulking, mustachioed relief ace said after preserving a 3-0 Yankee victory Wednesday night over the Los Angeles Dodgers, his second consecutive save of the series and his sixth in seven of New York's postseason games.

"It's hard for me to describe the feeling. I'm so hepped up I feel like I am on the edge of a cliff about to go over. I feel my body blown up with intensity.

"In my wife came out to the mound and looked me in the eye, she would walk away. 'That's not the man I know around the house,' she would say."

Gossage is one of the premier practitioners of a relatively modern baseball art that includes such names as Rollie Fingers, Bruce Sutter and Sparky Lyle.

In the trade, they are called firemen. It is the delicate way of putting it. In Gossage's mind, they are more like ghouls. Their job is to drive the nails into the coffins of their victims.

"There has to be a certain amount of hate in your psychological makeup," said Gossage. "Every time I go out there, I see people trying to take something away from me. I've got to keep them from doing it."

"But I love it. I love the challenge. When I'm right, when my fastball is working, I don't think there's anybody in the world I can't get out."

"I tell myself that I'm the boss. I have the ball. Nothing can happen until I get rid of that ball."

An imposing figure at 6-foot-3 and 217 pounds with a reddish Fu Manchu mustache, Gossage said that he decided to specialize in relief pitching after suffering a 7-19 season as a starter in 1976.

On successive nights, Gossage was called upon to relieve a strong Ron Guidry and a consistent 20-game winner, Tommy John, although both appeared capable of going all the way.

"It's exciting to go out there knowing everything depends on you," Gossage said. "Sure, you build up a psych. You can't help it. I'm a different person."

The ultimate thrill, Gossage said, is executing that final out.

WAITING AND WATCHING — New York Yankees relief pitcher Rich "Goose" Gossage assumes a comfortable pose while watching the early innings of Wednesday's World Series game with the Los Angeles Dodgers in New York. Gossage came in to relieve starter Tommy John and got his second save of the Series as the Yankees shutout the Dodgers, 3-0, to take a 2-0 lead into Friday's third game in Los Angeles.

UH hopes QB regains confidence for Hogs

HOUSTON (AP) — University of Houston offensive line coach Billy Willingham would like to capture the Arkansas defense on film, but there is a problem.

"They are kind of like a 'covey' defense," Willingham said of Saturday's opponent in Little Rock. "We haven't even found them all yet on film."

The Razorbacks, fresh from a 42-11 upset last week of previously No. 1 ranked Texas, will use their variety of defensive formations to try to confound UH sophomore quarterback Lionel Wilson, who suffered through a rough game in last week's 38-22 loss to Southern Methodist.

Wilson threw five interceptions and fumbled twice, one that could have turned the momentum in Houston's favor. Wilson fumbled into the end zone for a touchdown in the third quarter.

"I had seven interceptions in three years in high school and I throw five in one game," Wilson said. "I can't ever remember playing a game like that, junior high, high school, playground, vacant lot, whatever."

Wilson winced the most over his fumble into the end zone.

"I felt bad because I'd let my teammates down," Wilson said. "When I fumbled at the SMU five and they got the ball at their 20, it just took everything out of us."

Coach Bill Yeoman has tried to rebuild Wilson's wounded confidence in time for Saturday's Southwest Conference game against the Hogs.

Cubs expected to name Elia boss

CHICAGO (AP) — "Every year, Chicago goes out on the field hoping to do well. That's not the way we want to approach it. We want to go out looking like a winner, with the idea we'll be a winner."

So spoke Lee Elia, the Philadelphia Phillies' third base coach, Wednesday, on the eve of today's news conference at which he was expected to be named Chicago Cubs manager.

According to published reports, the 44-year-old Elia is the hand-picked choice of Dallas Green, the former Phillies manager who took over as the Cubs' general manager and executive vice president last week.

Elia, a shortstop for the Cubs and Chicago White Sox in the late 1960s, was expected to introduce three members of his new coaching staff at the news conference:

—John Vukovich, a 34-year-old Phillie infielder who has spent most of his career in the minor leagues.

—Billy Connors, 39, a former teammate of Elia's at Tacoma in 1967 and, for the last two years, the pitching coach for the Kansas City Royals.

Lady Steers host Cooper tonight

The Big Spring Lady Steers girls volleyball team plays a must game tonight in District 5-AAAA when they host the Abilene Cooper Cougars at seven o'clock.

The game pits the BSHS crew, 3-1 in the second half, against a Cooper team that stands 2-2. But the Lady Steers are one game behind San Angelo in the second half race, and must make that game up and then beat the first half champion Lady Bobcats.

Preceding the varsity contest tonight, there will be a JV tilt between the two schools beginning at six o'clock.

BSHS netters tough in regional play

The Big Spring Steer tennis team continues to show steady progress this season, as they proved their worth last weekend in the Texas Tennis Coaches Association's Regional Tournament in Lubbock by finishing sixth out of 17 teams.

It was the best finish at a regional event by a Steer tennis team in recent history.

The Steer netters take a combined record of 6-5 into this week's match against Odessa Permian, with the Steer boys sporting an impressive mark of 9-1.

In other recent action, the Steer netters have beaten Snyder twice, Midland and Wichita Falls Hirsch while falling to Abilene.

The Steer tennis team also finished second in the Andrews Tournament in early October, beating Lubbock Coronado, Brownfield, Midland Lee and Seminole.

Area high school football honor roll

Danny Stephen
Big Spring

By NATHAN POSS
Sports Editor

Quarterbacks and the linemen were in the spotlight during last week's area high school football action, as teams accumulated combined records of 3-6-1.

At Big Spring, the Steers played defending state champion Odessa Permian, who came to town boasting a 23-game winning streak, or even terms for one half before falling by a 24-6 count. A number of players were worth mention, but BSHS Coach Ralph Harris was especially impressed with the play of junior running back-linebacker DANNY STEPHEN. Stephen ran for 57 yards offensively and "was an active force defensively" according to Harris.

The Stanton Buffaloes stayed unbeaten in District 5-AA with a second half runaway from Morton. In that game, tailback Kevin Newman rushed for 272 yards, but Buff Coach Steve Park cited the play of the blockers, especially tackles SCOTT CHURCH and POLO MENDEZ. Others drawing praise for their blocking were guards Tracy Spinks and George Lewis, center Fabian Villa, ends Tommy Esparza and Lupe Sanchez, fullback Arthur Ruiz and wingback Ray Flores.

Lamesa fell to Snyder by 28-7, but not because of the efforts of tailback STEVE ALEXANDER. Alexander rushed for 94 yards on 15 carries.

The Coahoma Bulldogs tied a rugged Kermit team by 7-7, giving the Big Red Machine a bit of momentum heading into district action. Coach Roy Winters said of nominating a player for this week: "The fact that we can't single out any one individual is because everyone played well. It was the best team effort of the year."

The Garden City Bearkats held on for a 7-6 win over Klondike in a game of West Zone toughies in District 3-A, and Coach Stu Cooper was especially pleased with the efforts of quarterback-safety RICHARD BATLA and offensive and defensive tackle BRYAN STRINGER.

FRANCIS lost to Ropes 15-14 in the final minutes, but

Coach Jan East still found some reason to be happy in the setback. Two big reasons were the play of linebacker PRESTON DANIELS and quarterback ROBERT EGGLESTON. Daniels was in on 17 tackles, while Eggleston, who scored on a 63-yard touchdown run, played his best game of the year.

The Colorado City Wolves roared to their fourth straight victory, a 28-7 rout of Abilene Wylie. Coach Tom Ramsey singled out the offensive performance of running back VICTOR JACKSON, while citing his entire defensive unit. Jackson had 20 carries for 147 yards and three touchdowns and threw for another score. The Colorado City defense limited Wylie to 10 yards rushing and 54 total yards.

The Sands Mustangs could do nothing right offensively in a 12-0 loss to Meadow, but Coach Jim White still felt the defensive play of linebacker STEVE, BLAUGRAVE was worth mention. "Steve's pulled us out of the pot a lot of games this season, and he did again against Meadow," White said.

Milbourne even surprised Lemon

NEW YORK (AP) — New York Yankees owner George Steinbrenner says he predicted last winter that the acquisition of utility infielder Larry Milbourne from the Seattle Mariners could prove more important than the signing a month later of superstar Dave Winfield.

If Steinbrenner really made that observation, it wasn't widely quoted, if it was quoted at all. But — surprise! — Steinbrenner may be right.

Winfield has been everything the Yankees thought he would be. Milbourne, on the other hand, has been a revelation.

He filled in superbly during the last month of the regular season when shortstop Bucky Dent was injured. He batted .462 and scored eight runs as the Yankees won the American League East Division playoff from Milwaukee and then beat Oakland for the American League pennant.

And Wednesday night, after committing a glaring throwing error that didn't prove costly, he collected the game-winning RBI with a fifth-inning double as the Yankees defeated the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-0 and took a 2-0 lead in the World Series. Winfield, by the way, is looking for his first World Series hit.

"It's probably the first time he (Milbourne) has had a chance to play with any regularity," said Manager Bob Lemon. "He's done an outstanding job since Bucky has been hurt. I don't think we really knew what we had, but thank God we had him."

Milbourne, who was acquired from Seattle for catcher Brad Gudden and cash, shared the spotlight with pitchers Tommy John and Rich Gossage, who stopped the Dodgers on four hits. John and Gossage are long-time major league stars; Milbourne has never been a regular for a full season, although he is a seven-year veteran.

"It feels good playing every day now. I really like it here. It's close to home (Port Norris, N.J.). But I won't have any problem going back to the bench. I know I'm a good utility man, and this regular playing now has given me an opportunity to prove that I can play when given the chance. I felt flattered that an organization with such class as the Yankees wanted me," Milbourne said.

LA feels breaks must change soon

NEW YORK (AP) — They seemed to want to be careful about making their feelings sound like sour grapes, but clearly the Los Angeles Dodgers believe they've been unlucky in the first two games of the World Series.

Certainly, they weren't very fortunate Wednesday night in a 3-0 loss to the New York Yankees.

The fifth inning was the epitome of bad fortune. Steve Garvey led off with a single, the first Dodger hit, and Ron Cey followed with a drive into the right-field stands that tailed off and went just foul. Cey then grounded out, sending Garvey to second.

Later in the inning, with runners at first and third and two out, Steve Yeager lined a shot up the middle that winning pitcher Tommy John knocked down before throwing Yeager out.

"You've got to give Tommy John and the Yankees credit, but they've done everything they've had to do to bail themselves out," said Cey, whose team lost the Series opener Tuesday night at Yankee Stadium 5-3.

"But we've hit a lot of balls right at people. That ball I hit right down the right-field line, it curved at the last second. If it doesn't, we have two runs, we're ahead and maybe we stay ahead. It hooked at the last second and went around the (foul) pole."

Yeager nodded when asked if he thought his liner was going to be a hit. Then he shook his head in seeming frustration.

"Yeah, I thought it was a hit," he said. "TJ (John) just made a hell of a play. When he came up the next inning, he told me the ball was behind him and he just flaged at it."

Los Angeles Manager Tom Lasorda was effusive in his praise of the Yankee pitching, but he couldn't resist several rhetorical questions.

"Did they hit the ball harder than we did tonight?" he muttered. "Did they hit the ball harder than we did last night? Which ball was hit harder, Yeager's or (Larry) Milbourne's?"

That referred to Milbourne's two-out double in the bottom of the fifth that drove in Willie Randolph and broke a scoreless tie. New York clinched the victory with two insurance runs in the eighth.

Burt Hooton, the Dodgers' hard-luck loser, said the 3-2 pitch Milbourne hit was "a high knuckle-curve. I made a lot of mistakes, that's the one that beat me."

Hooton, who was taken out after walking the first batters in the Yankees seventh, said he didn't have one of his better outings.

"I lost it in the third or fourth inning," said the veteran right-hander, who has allowed just one earned run in four postseason starts. "I felt fine physically, but I didn't have any zip (on his pitches)."

The run Hooton gave up Wednesday night was unearned because Randolph got on base when Los Angeles second baseman Dave Lopes couldn't handle his hard grounder and was charged with an error.

Proposition 5 gains support of Rep. Shaw

State Rep. Larry Don Shaw today announced his support for proposed Constitutional Amendment Five, saying that passage of Proposition Five would be a positive step toward helping hold down rising food costs.

Proposition Five proposes to include livestock and poultry with other farm products already exempt from property (ad valorem) taxes, and is one of seven proposed Constitutional Amendments to be considered by Texas voters on Nov. 3. Those products are currently taxed inconsistently across the state because of a 1976 Attorney General's opinion that livestock and poultry are not "farm products."

Texas is the only state among the large cattle-feeding states which allows such a tax. "Any producer of any product must recover the cost of production, including taxes, and show some profit, if he is to stay in business," Shaw said. "Without passage of Proposition Five which would remove property taxes on livestock and poultry, some producers may conclude that they cannot afford to remain in that business. Then, we'll see a drop in production, meaning eventual increases in consumer prices."

"On the other hand," Shaw continued, "passage of Proposition Five will be of significant help in holding down the cost of livestock and poultry production in Texas, meaning this is one step we can take to help hold down rising food costs."

other food products are taxed in Texas. And, he noted that the present system of taxing meat is "inequitable and unfair."

"Many school districts and most counties do not tax livestock or poultry at all, while others do. With Proposition Five, we could assure fair, uniform tax treatment for all food producers."

Shaw said that total revenues generated by livestock and poultry taxes accounts for less than one-fourth of one percent of all Texas property tax receipts each year.

Addressing the effect of the amendment on school districts, Shaw said that school districts will be partially offset by increased state aid when livestock and poultry are removed from each school district's state aid formula. "Statewide, this increased state money will average one-half of the lost revenues and some school districts will actually receive more aid than the revenue they will lose," he said.

"In addition to helping consumers and producers alike, encouraging a healthy livestock and poultry industry in Texas will contribute to the vitality of the state's overall economy, thus increasing overall tax revenues from many other sources," Shaw said.

The "Vote for 5 Committee" is chaired by State Rep. Susan McBee (D-Dallas) and consists of representatives from nine agricultural groups who have united to support passage of the amendment.

Colorado City to host historical society

COLORADO CITY (SC) — The fall meeting of the Permian Historical Society will be held Oct. 31 in the Colorado Opera House, 337 Walnut St.

According to Mrs. A.W. Rowe, chairperson of the Mitchell County Historical Commission, Colorado City certainly extends a cordial invitation to all members of the Society to attend this fall event and we are looking forward to being the host city for the occasion, as well as planning to make yr day in our community a worthwhile as well as, an eventful one.

Registration will begin at 9:30 a.m. followed by a business meeting, after which papers will be given by Mrs. B.D. Gassham, "The renderbrook-Spade Ranch of Mrs. J.S. Seakley," "The Old Colorado City Opera House,"

A Coffee Break," followed by a paper on "Trial and Error: Early Martin County Agriculture" by Sandra Heller, and County Historical Commission reports.

Following a dutch-treat luncheon at Loyd's two historical tours will be offered. One will be a bus tour of the Renderbrook-Spade Ranch headquarters with Mrs. Bassham as tour guide, and the second tour will be of historical Colorado City sites, including several older homes, All Saint's Episcopal church and Colorado City Museum with Mrs. Mattie Hines and Mrs. Rowe as tour guides.

Joe Pickle, of Big Spring, is president of the Society, which encompasses counties from El Paso to Colorado City.

Supreme Court upholds newspaper libel ruling

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court today left standing a lower court decision that the Texas Daily Newspaper Association predicted would "result in a rash of libel suits."

Without writing an opinion, the court said it could find "no reversible error" in a decision of the Beaumont Court of Civil Appeals ordering trial of a libel suit against The Enterprise Co., publisher of the Beaumont Enterprise and Beaumont Journal.

A district judge in Beaumont had granted the newspaper company a summary judgment throwing out the case, but the appeals court said there were fact issues for a jury to decide.

The suit was filed by Aaron Rose, Felix Burrus, C.C. Moss and Russell Adkins following publication of stories on Dec. 7, 1979, about some indictments for gambling promotion.

Rose, Burrus, Moss and Adkins were not indicted but were mentioned as persons from whom the accused persons had accepted bets.

They contended the stories were worded in a way that suggested to the reader that they were among those indicted. The newspapers published a clarification the following day.

The district court judge agreed with the newspaper's contention that the stories were not actionable because they were "substantially true" and were privileged as reports of court action.

But the appeals court said in sending the case back to district court for a jury trial that the summary judgment granted to the paper was inappropriate because the stories were ambiguous. This ambiguity created a fact issue of whether the stories were actionable, and fact issues must be decided by juries, the appeals court said.

"It is sufficient to state that several of defendant's editors and executives testified that the articles in question were poorly worded and could be misconstrued by the man on the street to the effect that the plaintiffs had been charged with gambling promotion," the court said.

TIPS FOR ENERGY SAVERS

Building A Home

- Place your refrigerator in the coolest part of the kitchen, well away from the range and oven.
- Install the water heater as close as possible to areas of major use to minimize heat loss through the pipes; insulate the pipes.
- If you live in a warm climate, remember that light-colored roofing can help keep houses cooler.
- Install windows you can open, so you can use natural or fan-forced ventilation in moderate weather.

These energy-saving tips are brought to you by the classified advertising department in the interest of energy conservation.

Two theft suspects arrested

Police detectives arrested two men on felony theft charges Tuesday morning, according to police reports.

Clayton Coffman, 30, of Coahoma, was arrested on a charge of theft over $200 at 9:06 a.m. in Sand Springs, police said.

James Miller, 28, of the OK Trailer Court, was arrested on a charge of theft over $200 at the trailer court at 10 a.m., police said.

John Holden of the Southland Apartments on Air Base Road complained to police Tuesday that his welding truck was broken into and several pieces of equipment worth $110 were stolen.

A.J. Butler of 206 E. 16th complained Tuesday that someone kicked in a storm door to his home and caused $150 worth of damage, police said.

Claudene Floyd of 2502 Kelly told police Tuesday that shots were fired into her home, causing $420 worth of damage to a door, windows, curtains and a dresser. She filed a similar complaint the day before, reporting shots had been fired at her home.

Police received a call of a suspicious-looking person with a gun at the Quail Run Apartments, 2609 Wasson, around noon Tuesday. Officers arriving on the scene failed to locate the person, according to police reports.

Police arrested a 14-year-old boy on a disorderly conduct charge at 6 p.m. Tuesday, according to police reports. The arrest was made at the Seven-11 on Highway 80 and Willa. The boy's name was not released.

A windshield was smashed on an automobile at Shroyer Motor Co., 424 E. third, at about 10 p.m. Tuesday, police said. No additional information was supplied to police officers.

Drivers must carry liability coverage beginning January 1 in Texas

AUSTIN — Beginning Jan. 1, 1982, Texas drivers contacted by Department of Public Safety officers during traffic stops and vehicle accident investigations will be required to furnish proof of compliance with the new compulsory liability insurance law.

Under House Bill 197, an amendment to the Safety Responsibility Act approved this year by the Texas Legislature, all drivers must carry minimum liability coverage for medical expenses of $10,000 per person ($20,000 for two or more persons) and property damages of $5,000.

Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director, said troopers will accept as evidence of insurance coverage the policy for the vehicle being operated or a document issued by the insurance company.

"Such a document must contain a statement that the liability coverage for the motor vehicle is the minimum prescribed by the law," Adams said. "The document must also include the name of the insurance company, name of the insured person, policy period and policy number. This document may take the form of a letter or a card, depending upon the preference of the insuring company."

Adams pointed out the DPS troopers will be enforcing the provisions of this law along highways and rural roads.

"Local police officers and sheriff's deputies also have the authority to request this information from drivers," the DPS director said. "I am sure most law enforcement agencies in our state will also be enforcing this statute in their respective jurisdictions."

Drivers who do not maintain the specified coverage risk being fined at least $75 for the first offense and a minimum $200 for subsequent violations. In addition, a conviction under this new law will result in the suspension of the violator's driver license and motor vehicle registration unless the violator establishes and maintains proof of financial responsibility for five years from the conviction date. Adams also said vehicles which are to be used in the driving test by new driver license applicants must be covered by the minimum liability insurance specified by the law. Applicants will have to certify on the license application that the minimum coverage is in effect for the vehicle before they will be permitted to take the driving test. The DPS director predicted that more Texans will obtain the required liability coverage when the new law goes into effect. "Current figures show that approximately 74 percent of the drivers involved in accidents carry liability insurance," Adams said. "This indicates that a substantial number of people must secure the required coverage or face the possibility of heavy fines and loss of driving privileges." Out-of-state, government-owned and self-insured vehicles are exempt from the insurance requirements of the new law. However, drivers of self-insured vehicles will be asked by DPS officers to produce evidence of self-insurance at accident scenes and traffic stops.

Corrected tax statements due to be mailed

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Chief appraiser Mike Burt, of the Mitchell County Tax Appraisal District, said he expects the corrected tax statements by the end of the week.

According to Burt, the statements will then be double checked and placed in the mail sometime during the week of Oct. 26.

The tax district will hold a public hearing at 8 p.m. Thursday on its proposed 1982 budget of $173,000.

Grady graduates to meet Friday

There will be a meeting of Grady High School graduates Friday night to organize and elect officers of the Grady Ex-Students Assn. The meeting will be in the Grady school board room immediately following the homecoming game.

Refreshments will be served. Persons with any questions regarding the event can call 915-459-243.

Randy Callison receives degree

Randy G. Callison of Big Spring received a bachelor of science degree in forest management at Stephen F. Austin University in its summer commencement exercises. Callison, of Gail Route, was one of 613 students graduated by the university located in Nacogdoches during summer exercises.

Carnival set at Lakeview

The Lakeview Elementary Headstart Program will present a Halloween carnival Saturday, Oct. 24 from 6 to 9 p.m., according to Esmeralda Vargas, spokeswoman for Headstart. She said refreshments will be served and many booths will be set up for entertainment. A table will have a dart throw, bingo games, a country store, and a makeup booth head up the fun and festivities, Mrs. Vargas said. Tickets will be on sale at the carnival at five for $1, she said. Mrs. Vargas urged all who are interested to attend the event.

One of the m society today i victims, of cour When you bu make up for th pay your taxe prevent crime. Crime has b indicate that person will be will be robbed.

John Tower/Capitol Update

Tips given for fighting crime

One of the most pervasive problems facing American society today is crime. It takes an enormous toll on its victims, of course. But it affects all of us indirectly. When you buy an item in the store, you pay more to make up for the cost of shoplifting and security. When you pay your taxes, you pay for your city's best effort to prevent crime. Worse, you pay a price for crime in fear. Crime has become an increasing problem. Statistics indicate that within any given 30-minute period, one person will be murdered, nine women will be raped, 67 will be robbed, 97 assaulted, and 389 families the victim of burglary. For 1979, the last full year for which FBI figures are available, the number of reported burglaries had risen to 3.3 million, a 50 percent increase since 1970. Robberies were up by one-third. In less than a generation, the murder rate has doubled. But the American people have had enough. A recent poll showed almost half of the respondents named crime as the most important problem confronting their area. This was true both in a large eastern state and in a booming Sun Belt city. Even a relatively trouble-free college community found 55 percent of its voters declaring that establishing law and order was the single-most important issue facing their local government. Solving the growing crime problem won't be easy or quick. But there are some steps we can take. A bipartisan U.S. Attorney General's Task Force has made a number of recommendations to curb the rate of crime and to address some of the problems we have in prosecuting successfully those guilty of crime. For instance, one recommendation would allow courts to deny bail to a defendant who, after careful safeguards to prevent abuse, had been determined to be dangerous or likely to jump even very high bail. Another recommendation is for legislation to permit judges to order criminals to make financial restitution to their victims. Criminal procedure would be modified to protect rights of citizens charged with crimes, but to keep these rules from shielding the guilty. Exchange of criminal history information among jurisdictions also should be improved, the task force found.

Indian Bread recipe requested

Funnel Cake secret shared

Remember the Funnel Cakes at the Howard County Fair? Jane Madigan, who is from Pennsylvania Dutch country, sent in a recipe for the unusual treat, as well as a soup recipe.

Mrs. O.B. Hughes, Gail Hitt, has requested a recipe for Indian Bread. Mrs. Hughes describes the bread as "a rubbery type of dough that is rolled into balls, then flattened to the size of a thin plate and fried in hot fat."

The holidays are quickly approaching and everyone is looking for new recipes, so send your seasonal favorites to: Recipe Exchange, c/o Big Spring Herald, P.O. Box 1431, Big Spring, Tx. 79720. Or, drop them by 710 Scurry.

FUNNEL CAKES
(Drechter Kuche)
Jane Madigan

2 eggs
1/2 cup milk
1/4 cup sugar
3 to 4 cups flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon baking powder

Beat eggs; add sugar and milk. Sift half the flour, all the salt and baking powder together and add to milk and egg mixture. Beat the batter till smooth and add only as much more flour as needed. Batter should be thin enough to run through a funnel. Drop from funnel into deep, hot fat (375 degrees). Spirals and endless intricate shapes can be made by swirling and criss-crossing while controlling the funnel spout with a finger. Serve hot with molasses, honey, jelly or sprinkle with powdered sugar.

CHICKEN CORN SOUP WITH RIVELS
Jane Madigan

1 stewing hen (about 4 pounds)
2 quarts water
1 small onion, chopped
1/2 dozen ears corn, fresh or frozen
1/2 cup chopped celery
salt and pepper to taste
rivels (recipe follows)

Put cut-up chicken and onion into water; cook slowly till tender. Remove chicken; cut meat into small pieces and return to broth; add corn, which has been cut from the cob, celery and seasoning. Continue to simmer. Make rivels by mixing 1 cup flour, pinch of salt, 1 egg. Mix well with fork to form small crumbs. Pour slowly into soup, stirring constantly. Boil 15 minutes and serve.

SUPER MOIST COCONUT CAKE
Jackie Harris

1 lb. Duncan Hines Butter Cake Mix
1 16-ounce container sour cream
2 cups sugar
2 packages frozen coconut, thawed
8 cups Cool Whip

Bake cake according to directions; cool. Mix sour cream, sugar and coconut. Remove one cup of mixture and mix with Cool Whip. Split cake into four layers using thread. Frost three layers with sour cream mixture. Place fourth layer on top and frost top and sides with Cool Whip mixture. Store in Tupperware cake container in refrigerator at least 24 hours before serving. Will keep two weeks (if it lasts that long).

BOHEMIAN COFFEE CAKE
Joyce Wilson

1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup chopped pecans
1 cup coconut
1 cup cooking oil
1 cup buttermilk
2 eggs

Mix all dry ingredients together in a mixing bowl. Then add all liquids and eggs; mix well. Pour batter into well greased and floured 9x13 inch pan. Place in preheated oven at 350 degrees. Bake about an hour. You may glaze cake, if you wish.

CARMEL POPCORN
Mrs. B.D. Adams

6 quarts or 12 pints of popped corn
2 cups brown sugar
2 sticks margarine
1-3rd cup corn syrup

Boil mixture of sugar, margarine and syrup for 5 minutes.

Immediately add:
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon vanilla

Mix well and quickly pour over corn in flat pan or roasting pan. Bake one hour at 250 degrees, stirring about every 10 minutes. Corn will be crisp. Yield: two large bowls carmel corn.

RED, WHITE AND GREEN SALAD
Mrs. B.D. Adams

5 cups broccoli flowerets (2 bunches)
2 1/2 cups cauliflower flowerets (1 head)
1 onion, chopped
2 cups cherry tomatoes, halved
1 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup sour cream
1 Tablespoon vinegar

2 Tablespoons sugar
salt and pepper to taste

1 teaspoon almond extract

Mix sugar and flour, then combine with juice, salt and coloring. Cook till thick, stirring constantly. Add butter and extract. Add drained cherries. Cool before spreading over pizza.

Dear Abby

Woman Cries Her Way Through Vale of Tears

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of brides who come down the aisle crying at their own wedding? Or doesn't it ever happen?

I am a 20-year-old college girl and I'll probably be getting married within the next two years. I cry "at the drop of a hat" as my parents say.

I cry at sad movies and I cry when I hear a nostalgic song. I even cried when I found a picture of my boyfriend's old girlfriend in his Bible. My boyfriend's sister had a pet raccoon that I saw maybe twice. The thing got hit in the jaw by a car and died. As they were looking it over and talking about skinning it to save the hide, I started to cry like a baby. Anything can set me off.

I am so afraid I will cry rivers at my own wedding. What do you make of this?

CRYBABY

DEAR CRYBABY: So you cry easily. It's no crime to give in to your emotions — such sensitivity these days is refreshing. You have a fortune in liquid assets. Don't knock it.

...

DEAR ABBY: I have searched for help for years with no success. I am a "pederast." (I like young boys.) I cannot tell you how difficult it is for me to even write those words. For people who read about child molestation, every individual who has sex with a child ranks among the most evil deviates of our society. Perhaps the act is, but often it is performed by an otherwise responsible, well-adjusted man. I consider myself such a man. Nothing could be further from my mind than wanting to hurt a child. In fact, my greatest joy is working with children, and my success in dealing with them has been remarkable.

My point in writing is to try to locate someone who is doing research in this area. I know I could make an important contribution toward a serious study.

I will freely work with any qualified group or individual. I have been to therapists, but they know less than I about this compulsion I have.

I have the problem under control, but the desire still rages within me, and I would like to eliminate it if possible. I know there must be thousands of men like me who are active and would like to overcome this urge, but there is simply nowhere to go for help.

There are many good men in prison who could also contribute to society if this problem could be solved. Please answer me in a "confidential." I cannot take any chances of being identified. There are many of us who desperately need your help.

JEKYLL AND HYDE

DEAR JEKYLL: I am publishing your letter, and if I hear from any qualified researchers who want to work with you I will let you know. Please send me your name and address. You can trust me.

'Who runs SWCID?' aired at HC trustees meeting

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer

Complaints about the chain of command within the Howard County Junior College District concerning Howard College and the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf were among several items aired at Tuesday's district board meeting.

Members of the board, Dr. Charles Hays, district president, and Dr. Doug Burke, vice-president of SWCID, listened to Mrs. Robert Phillips, Dallas, and Ruben Shaffer during the meeting.

Mrs. Phillips is "the parent of a child at SWCID" who is also actively involved in deaf awareness programs in Texas, such as the Deaf Action Center in Dallas.

Shaffer is also the father of a deaf son, who graduated from Gallaudet College. Shaffer said he maintains his interest in the deaf community in Texas and is the founder of the parents association of the El Paso Center for the Deaf.

Both Mrs. Phillips and Shaffer addressed the board, saying they were "real proud that SWCID is located in Big Spring. We're here to explain the problems as we see them."

During her address to the board, Mrs. Phillips questioned "who is in charge?" and "Who runs SWCID?" Mrs. Phillips read from a Senate Bill 892, which relates to the SouthWest Collegiate Institute for the Deaf.

The bill states "the institute (SWCID) is under the direct control and management of the board of trustees of the Howard College Junior College District."

Another section of the bill also states "the institute and its programs shall be administered by personnel who are trained and qualified to work with hearing-impaired students and are fluent in manual communication skills."

Shaffer also questioned the board about the chain of command. "Who is the head of SWCID?" he asked. "Dr.

AIRING COMPLAINTS — Mrs. Robert Phillips, Dallas, and Ruben Shaffer, El Paso, talk with members of the Howard County Junior College District Board Tuesday.

Burke is no longer executive director. Dr. Burke is the only one at district level. SWCID is part of the district."

Mrs. Phillips later spoke again, saying "Dr. Burke is a brilliant man. He knows what deaf people need."

She questioned whether Dr. Burke had an opportunity to meet with the board to discuss his opinions on how SWCID should be operated.

"He's in a better position to explain what goes on at SWCID than Dr. Hays," she said. "You get second-hand information from Dr. Hays."

Dr. Hays later addressed the board, Mrs. Phillips and Shaffer.

Concerning the chain of command, Dr. Hays said "I have always been in control of SWCID." He said Dr. Burke is over the instructors at SWCID, and that Dr. Burke answers "directly to me."

Dr. Hays said Dr. Burke makes recommendations to him concerning administrative policies and hiring of personnel. "There have been few cases where I have overruled his decision."

Dr. Hays also said "I'm no deaf educator. I never said I was." He added later he felt the district offered "good, solid education" to both deaf and hearing students.

Things on the SWCID campus, and on the Howard College campus "are not as nice as we'd like. We're hoping to do better."

Dr. P. W. Malone, board member, also had a chance to address the group, and said "We've left the major portion of advising to Dr. Burke. Not a single one of us on the board knows a thing about the hard of hearing or deaf."

Don McKinney, board president, said "Dr. Burke is welcomed to give his input."

Another question that was brought up was the condition of the dormitories at SWCID. The Herald ran a picture earlier this year which showed a section of an ex-military barracks which is being renovated as a dorm for boys at SWCID. The dorm is not yet ready for students, and several boys are being housed in a temporary barracks on the west end of the Industrial Park.

Mrs. Phillips said when she visited her son at the local school several weeks ago, she was dismayed at the conditions of the temporary dorm.

She said her son was living in "filth" and said she found it interesting that "today (there are district maintenance personnel) waxing the floors. They only just began last week to remodel the dorms. What's been going on all this time?"

Dr. Hays later spoke about the dormitory situation. He said the boys dorm wasn't ready for the fall semester because "we couldn't get the land from the G.S.A." and said he was afraid to move the dorms until "we had the deed in hand. We finally got the deed in late, late summer."

"It's been a comedy of delays" Hays said, "caused by the bureaucracy of the federal government."

He also said "No state money is allowed to go toward the construction or renovation of dormitories." He said state money is designated to go toward instruction and instructors' salaries.

"Where do you folks think that money is coming from?" Hays asked. He later said "We've done everything we could do with what we have had to work with."

Board member Harold Davis asked Mrs. Phillips "Do you think the (temporary) dorm is better than nothing?" She replied "Hardly."

"Then we'll disband it" McKinney said. Shaffer spoke up, saying the dorm was better than nothing, but that he and Mrs. Phillips were questioning its condition.

Mrs. Phillips also brought up what she felt were discrepancies in college policies as contained in a district catalogue.

Several of the programs listed in the catalogue "are not being offered" she said.

Another part of the catalogue says TDDs, telecommunication devices for the deaf which are used to make phone calls, are in the dormitories for the hearing-impaired students.

They are there, Mrs. Phillips said "But they don't work. I've made numerous attempts to call my son" she told board members.

Three counts returned

The Howard County Grand Jury returned nine indictments yesterday, including three for murder. True billed — indicted — for murder were Jose Crencio Brito, Steve Harper, and Porfirio Rios.

Brito is charged with the Sept. 5 murder of Octavio Olivares. Harper, charged with the murder of Harold Boy, was also true billed for aggravated assault and rape. Rios is charged with the April 5 murder of Daniel Ruiz.

The grand jury also true billed the following: Charles Russell Carter, charged with credit card abuse; Barney Glen Cockrum, charged with failure to stop and render aid; and Daniel Morales Martinez, charged with burglary and aggravated assault.

True billed as well were Jimmie Padilla Yanes, charged with attempted aggravated rape; Valerie Brenda Toney, charged with theft by check; and Carl Vanlandingham, charged with unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

The following cases were no-billed (charges dropped); were David Contreras, burglary; John Frank Emerson, rape and Odell Domino, murder.

The grand jury passed the following cases to be considered at a later time: Henry Guzman, charged with rape of a child, and Jesus Diaz Lopez, charged with indecency with a child.

Free Arbor Day kits available

To help teachers and organizations conduct more meaningful Arbor Day programs, the Texas Forest Service is offering free program kits.

Each kit includes a lobby pine seed packet with planting instructions, program aids for a local Arbor Day observance, suggested classroom activity for teachers, and a copy of Governor Clements' proclamation.

Quantities are limited. Only one kit per teacher or organization will be distributed.

Arbor Day, to be observed Jan. 15, 1982 in Texas, has been an annual celebration on the third Friday in January in Texas since 1889. The event is to promote a greater appreciation of the beauty and value of trees, forests and related natural resources.

Program chairpersons and teachers should address requests for Arbor Day kits to the Texas Forest Service, College Station, Tex. 77843. Distribution, on a first-come, first-serve basis, will begin in mid-November.

Fina dividend spelled out

DALLAS — The Board of Directors of American Petrofina, Inc., meeting here declared a quarterly dividend of 80 cents per share on the Class "A" and Class "B" common stock of the company. The dividend is payable Nov. 4, 1981, to shareholders of record at the close of business on Oct. 26, 1981.
