INSPECTS DEATH BOAT — A Hillsboro Inlet, Fla. police officer inspects the wreckage of a 25-foot sailboat that was swamped by rough seas off the coast. The boat was loaded with Haitian refugees.

Crew abandoned Haitians during ill-fated voyage

MIAMI (AP) — Survivors of the wreck of a rickety sailboat carrying Haitian refugees say the vessel's crew abandoned them about an hour before the boat capsized and at least 33 of the refugees drowned.

Meanwhile, a medical examiner said autopsies on the bodies washed ashore indicate the refugees had been loaded into the boat from a mother ship a short time before.

The refugees were fed a variety of refrigerated meals about one hour before their open-hulled, 25-foot boat broke up on a reef, Dr. Ronald Wright, the Broward County medical examiner, said Monday night in a telephone interview from his Fort Lauderdale office.

At least 30 more Haitians swam to safety at Hillsboro Beach in the pre-dawn incident Monday. The survivors claimed they had sailed from Haiti to Florida by way of the Bahamas in the mud-caulked, square-rigged boat.

They were taken into custody by the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service and transferred to the Krome Refugee Camp near Miami, 30 miles to the south.

It was the worst such accident since heavy influxes of Caribbean refugees arriving by boat began more than three years ago.

Wright said that as far as he was concerned, the death toll was 35. "There were two ladies pregnant with near-term babies," he said. "We got them born. Then we issued them death certificates."

He described the remainder of the dead as young adults. "They had just eaten the type of meals that come from a really good refrigerator," he said. "Some people had had rice and chicken. Others, potatoes and pork, some vegetables, salad. They were well-fed."

The survivors told immigration officials that four other Haitians, identified as boat captain Charles Joseph and his three mates, anchored the boat just offshore about 5:30 a.m. EST.

"The captain and crew swam ashore, telling everyone to stay put," while they arranged transportation to the beach, said Leonard Rowland, an immigration official in Miami.

A police search turned up no sign of the four. The breakup of the sailboat came less than 12 hours after the Coast Guard cutter Chase halted the first boatload of Haitians to be stopped under a new U.S. interdiction policy.

The 56 passengers aboard that sailboat were returned to Haiti on Monday afternoon. Otherwise, said Coast Guard Capt. Nicholas Schowengerdt, they probably would have died, too, because the sailboat sank shortly after they were transferred to the Chase.

C-City manager resigns

COLORADO CITY (SC) — City Manager Brenda Tarter submitted her resignation to the city council during Monday night's meeting.

According to Mrs. Tarter, "Right now I need more time with my family. The position of city manager is a time-consuming one with lots of responsibilities. I've really enjoyed it, but at this time, I really need more time for my family and me. Of course, I'll remain in Colorado City — it's my home. As for future plans, I'll be able to announce them soon."

Mrs. Tarter said, "I shall continue to work for Colorado City in any way I can. I love the city responsibilities in which I've been involved for seven years, so I want to do anything I can to help in the future."

Mrs. Tarter's resignation is effective Nov. 30.

In other council action, a discussion was held on the proposed rate increase of 2.85 percent by Lone Star Gas Co. Local manager Byron Swank and two representatives from the gas company's Fort Worth office, Rick Vaughn and M.R. Naylor, met with the council to answer questions.

Council member Nina Crout told the three men she questions the cost of the service adjustment portion of the proposed agreement.

Mrs. Tarter commented, "We have spent lots of time studying the rate increase and we want to get legal advice on it. So it is being tabled for right now, pending our getting such advice, as well as giving the matter future consideration."

District clerk's office 'bugged'

By MIKE DOWNEY
Staff Writer

The Howard County Commissioners heard yesterday from Peggy Crittenden that the district clerk's office is overrun with roaches and smells horrible. District clerk Crittenden also told the Commissioners the plumbing in the courthouse needs work.

Mrs. Crittenden requested the commissioners do something about the problems in her office. She noted it had been two months since water damaged the ceiling, and "Nobody's done anything," she said.

The Commissioners discussed the possible failure of the exterminator in doing his job clearing the courthouse of insects. They also decided to look into resolving the problems in the district clerk's office.

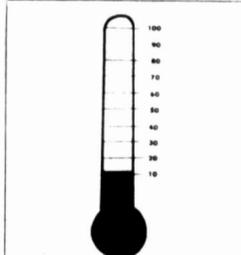

The commissioners heard as well from Tax Assessor-Collector Dorothy Moore and County Engineer Bill Mims. Following a discussion with Mrs. Moore, the commissioners voted to extend the 3 percent discount on the oil tax rolls through the month of November. The commissioners also discussed the condition of county roads with engineer Mims and approved the purchase by his department of cattle guards for the fences being built along new roads near Forsan.

Additional business conducted by the commissioners included opening bids for preventative maintenance for courthouse office machines. After examining the single bid from Gordon's for $5,571, the commissioners moved to refuse all bids for preventative maintenance.

County clerk Margaret Ray explained the commissioners decided to just "pay as you go" with office machine repair. She said when something broke down in the future, the repair would be made then, rather than paying a yearly sum for maintenance.

Other action by the commissioners resulted in the amending of revenue sharing budget and the combination of Election precincts one and eight for the Nov. 3 constitutional election. After approving a minor detail in the 1980-81 revenue sharing budget, the commissioners decided to use Northside Fire Station as the voting site for election boxes one and eight in the Nov. 3 constitutional election.

A resolution approving the bond purchase agreement of $1.3 million of Howard County Industrial Development Corporation was moved to the Nov. 9 agenda by the commissioners. Commissioners also reviewed correspondence and paid bills.

United Way
at 12 percent

The United Way added to its totals over the weekend with the Pacesetters upping their total to $11,600. The Metropolitan division is close behind with a $500 increase to $3,380. The Special division went up $300 to $961.

Other totals include the Out of Town group with $4,573 and the Residential holding at $3,231. The CFC, Rural and Professional divisions have not yet reported.

The new total of $24,245 is 12 percent of the grand total of $200,000 goal of the United Way.

A meeting of the executive committee of the United Way will be held tomorrow at noon at La Posada to discuss the United Way drive.

Amendment 3 would create state financial committee

By JOHN PALMER
Harte-Hanks
Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — Texans must decide Nov. 3 whether a seven-member committee headed by the governor should be calling the state's financial plays while the Legislature is away.

Those pushing Proposition 3, one of seven on the constitutional amendments election ballot, say that like a team whose head coach is seldom around to consult, the state needs some kind of budget leadership to fill the vacuum during the 19 months between legislative sessions.

Opponents, such as the consumer-oriented Common Cause of Texas, are quick to acknowledge the problem, but say Proposition 3 is not the answer for two reasons:

One, it lacks enough safeguards to protect against abuse.

Two, it lacks accountability to the voters because only two of the seven state officials on the committee are elected on a statewide basis.

"Basically, five of the members are locally elected and the voters of the state as a whole have no say-so as to the decisions of these five," says Robert Dahlquist, vice chairman of Common Cause of Texas.

The proposal would set up a committee consisting of the governor, lieutenant governor, House speaker, and the chairmen of the Senate Finance Committee, the Senate State Affairs Committee, the House Appropriations Committee and the House Ways and Means Committee.

Third in a series

Should the proposal pass Nov. 3, the Legislature already has restricted the committee's power for the time being to allocating only a few federal block grants — those that are targeted for more than one state agency.

But opponents add that they expect the committee's power to be broadened considerably after the Legislature has a chance to see how well it works.

"It could be used in the future to meet financial emergencies and would do away with the need for costly special sessions if the Legislature gives it the power," says Don Cavness, an Austin lobbyist and coordinator of the Sound Financial Management Committee for Texas.

Cavness' group is the main force pushing for adoption of Proposition 3 and it claims wideranging support.

"I don't think this is a liberal or conservative issue," says Cavness, but a financially responsible one.

As it is now, state government must make do with a biennial budget that takes more than a year to prepare.

That means state budget experts must look well into the future.

"The idea of having to estimate state needs three years ahead of time is outmoded," Cavness says.

He also notes that the current state budget process is so inefficient that during the recent special session, lawmakers made eight changes to a state budget passed only six weeks before during the regular legislative session.

Other selling points offered by proponents, include:

— State agencies would operate more efficiently and be more accountable to the people if they received supervision from a state finance

13 persons cast absentee votes

Absentee voting for the Nov. 3 constitutional amendment election is still lagging at the county clerk's office in the courthouse. Margaret Ray, county clerk, reports 13 people have voted in the office and seven ballots have been mailed out.

Absentee voting continues through Friday.

Moss Creek Lake will be closed

Moss Creek Lake will be closed during the month of November in order that the Lake Caretaker may have a vacation," Big Spring City Manager Don Davis announced.

"This is done each year, and represents the caretaker's only chance to have a vacation since the lake is kept open seven days per week for the other 11 months of the year," he said.

When the lake reopens Dec. 1, swimming still will be prohibited, since the lake closes to swimmers each winter.

Fishing, camping and picnicking will continue as usual in December.

SIGN LANGUAGE

By CAROL HART
Staff Writer

Barbara Thomas, a student at SWCID, shows one of the ways to sign the word "love."

To sign "love," make the "S" sign with both hands, cross them at the wrist and press them to the heart, as pictured here.

You may also use the open hands, again crossing them at the wrist and pressing them to the heart.

Dr. Lottie L. Riekehof, in "The Joy of Signing," says that pressing the hands to the heart is the origin of the sign for "love."

You have probably seen the symbol for "I love you." The sentence can be signed with one motion of one hand.

To sign "I love you," form a combination of "I," "L," and "Y," (the thumb, index and little finger extended) and direct the palm forward.

University of Texas fans will recognize the sign for "I love you" as a close facsimile to the "hook

"LOVE" — Barbara Thomas signs "love."

"em horns" sign. Just remember to extend your thumb, forming an "L" sign.

40 at BSHS named to all-region choir

In recent auditions at Midland High School, 40 Big Spring High School students were named to the all-region choir, according to Marjorie Dodson, choir director at BSHS. The region includes Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, Monahans, Kermitt, Fort Stockton and Andrews. Students named to the all-region choir will rehearse Dec. 5 at Central High School in San Angelo. Ms. Dodson said, and give a concert there that night. First soprano winners were Cynthia Chavez, Debbie Cowan, Terri Miller, Misty Sink, Laura Warren, and Elise Wheat. Second sopranos were Teresa Alexander, Michele Bowers, Diana Johnson, and Reneah Rybolt. First altos were Leslye Overman and Amy Ragan. Second altos were Debbie Archer, Lupe Bibi, Dawn Ditto, Dawn Estes, Julie Hunter, Kim McClendon and Dawn Underwood. First tenors were Mark Corwin, John DeLeon, Tom Olague, Jaime Sotelo, Todd Strong, and Matt Warren. Second Tenors were Sean Craves, Phillip Koger, Ty Rangel, Jamie Scott, and Glenn Slate. Baritone were Jim Cowan, Jody Martinez, Charley Ragan, and Mike Sauls. Basses were Jimmy Cearley, Pete Crabtree, Chris Harwood, Scott Underwood, and Abel Solis, first alternate.

Fourteen students plus eight alternates ranked high enough in the auditions to qualify for the pre-area audition to be held in San Angelo on Dec. 4. This audition is equivalent to the all-state choir semi-finals.

First sopranos who qualified for the next audition are Misty Sink, Terri Miller, first alternate, and Debbie Cowan, second alternate. Second sopranos are Michele Bowers, and Teresa Alexander, second alternate.

First alto is Leslye Overman, and second altos are Debbie Archer, Dawn Ditto, Dawn Estes, Kim McClendon, and Julie Hunter, second alternate.

First Tenors are Mark Corwin, John DeLeon, Todd Strong, and Tom Olague, second alternate. Second Tenors are Phillip Koger, and Glenn Slate, first alternate.

Baritone is Jody Martinez, first alternate. Basses are Pete Crabtree, Chris Harwood, Scott Underwood, and Abel Solis, first alternate.

Four students ranked extremely high in the auditions. Michele Bowers placed second in second soprano, Dawn Estes placed fourth in second alto, Todd Strong placed third in first tenor, and Scott Underwood placed third in bass.

Colorado High principal recovering from heart attack

COLORADO CITY (SC) — Colorado High Principal Jerry Reynolds is in a Lubbock hospital recuperating from a heart attack. Reynolds was in Lubbock for testing and had returned to his hospital room when he suffered a cardiac attack Monday. The school administrator has been moved to the intensive care unit, and doctors say his condition has stabilized. A member of the family reports a bypass operation probably will be necessary. Reynolds is expected to be hospitalized two weeks, if not longer.

Vickie Daniel claims shooting unintentional

LIBERTY, Texas (AP) — The wife of former Texas House Speaker Price Daniel Jr. says her slain husband was a sexually bizarre tyrant whom she loved, feared and probably killed. She portrayed him as a hard-drinking, dope-smoking, self-centered, occasionally loving enigma who once forced her to have an abortion. But, testified Vickie Daniel, she did not intend to shoot the scion of a rich and powerful Texas family nor does she remember firing the fatal shot. The former Dairy Queen waitress took the witness stand Monday and tearfully told of the events surrounding the Jan. 19 shooting. "Did you pull the trigger and shoot him, Vickie?" asked defense attorney Jack Zimmerman. "No," she sobbed, then added: "I don't remember." Mrs. Daniel returned today for what loomed as a decidedly more hostile cross-examination by Liberty County district attorney Carroll Wilborn. The state contends the blonde defendant "knowingly and intentionally" shot Daniel, 39, her second husband, during a fierce dispute over their pending divorce.

Not so, said Mrs. Daniel, 34, her face alternately ashen and crimson as she recounted the marital pressures and pitfalls of life in the fast political track. She said Daniel abused her verbally, physically and sexually and it got worse after he was an upset loser in a 1978 race for Texas Attorney General. She said her husband, the son of former Texas Gov. Price Daniel Sr., returned home the night of Jan. 19 with divorce financial papers he wanted signed. She refused. Angered by the refusal, and a spilled drink, Vickie recalled, Price Jr. "slapped me, grabbed me and pushed me down." Kimberly Moore, then 12, her daughter by an earlier marriage, shoved him off, Mrs. Daniel testified. She said she ordered Daniel to leave their ranch-style home and when he later demanded to know where his marijuana stash was, she replied: "... I flushed it down the commode." She said he descended the steps from an attic stairwell and "kicked me in the head." She said he told her, "I'll kill you."

TML confab delays council meeting

The Big Spring City Council meets a day later than usual this week because city officials attending a Texas Municipal League meeting in San Antonio won't be returning to town until tonight.

The Tuesday council meeting was postponed to accommodate the schedule of City Manager Don Davis, Mayor Clyde Angel, Airpark Manager Hal Boyd, Councilman Robert Fuller and Police Chief Elwood Hoherz, who are attending the TML meeting. When the council convenes at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in City Hall room 205, it will consider several items of new business.

One of the items concerns the rental policy at the Dora Roberts Community Center. The city Parks and Recreation Board has recommended increasing the deposit for dances and functions which offer alcohol, as well as initiating a fee per chair and per table.

Another item before the council concerns a state grant to the police department. The $25,590 grant — which would cover 40 percent of the annual budget for the department's Major Crimes Task Force, according to Hoherz — must be formally accepted by the city council before the state may dispense the grant.

In other state matters, the council will consider resolutions supporting passage of two of the seven constitutional amendments Texans will vote on next Tuesday. They are Proposition 1, the development-through-tax-incentive amendment, and Proposition 4, the water projects

Amendment 3

Continued from page 1 management committee. — Budget emergencies that can't wait for the next legislative session could be handled with committee meetings of costly special sessions of the Legislature. Opponents, however, don't argue the need so much as they argue the method. They note that only last year the voters firmly rejected another proposed constitutional amendment giving the governor budget power between sessions. Putting such power in the hands of one person goes against the tradition of Texas government and would lead to certain abuse, opponents say. The proposal in its latest reincarnation as Proposition 3, they say, is almost as bad because it still concentrates the budget power, this time in the hands of only seven people — the governor, lieutenant governor, House speaker, two senators and two House members — only two of which are elected by all the voters. Other arguments against the proposal, include: — The current separation of the governor's management powers and

Police Beat Man pulls knife on woman

A 40-year-old Howard County woman complained to police that a man pulled a knife on her and threatened to harm her outside the Gregg Safeway last night, according to police reports.

Sharon Massingill, who said she lives on Sterling City Route, told police the incident happened at about 7:40 p.m. in the store's parking lot, police said.

Ron Ulmer, 24, complained to police he was assaulted by a stranger at the Lamplighter Club in the Homestead Inn off I-20. The incident took place at about 1:30 a.m. today, police said.

James Malone of 1509 Wood told police he was assaulted by an unknown assailant who struck him on the head with a pipe at Malone's home. The attack happened at about 1:30 this morning and Malone was treated for his injury at Cowper Clinic, police said.

Sherry Johnson, 26, complained to police she was assaulted in her 1601 Avion home Monday morning, according to police reports.

Dovie Smith of 429 Edwards told police Monday a diamond watch worth $2,400 was stolen or lost in her home, police reported.

Kenneth DeWees of 4200 W. Highway 80 told police Monday a ring worth $1,000 was stolen from his home, according to police reports.

Bruce Pitts of the OK Trailer Corp told police Monday somebody sprayed red paint on his Ford automobile Sunday night, causing an undetermined amount of damage.

An employee of the Seven-11 on Wasson told police a person pumped out $18 worth of gas and tried to pay for it with a "hot" check Monday afternoon. When told to pay cash, the person left the store promising to return with the cash. The person failed to return, police said.

The Shamrock gas station at 1111 W. Fourth was the victim of theft Monday around 1:30 p.m., police reported. The cash register was left unattended for about 10 minutes, according to an attendant, who returned to find $56 missing, police said.

Norris Pennington of 2106 Johnson filed a missing persons report with police Monday after his seven-year-old son disappeared, according to police reports.

Norris told police the boy may have been driven off in a car registered to his ex-wife Norma. Norris Pennington told police he has full custody of the boy.

Two persons received minor injuries in a collision at the intersection of N.W. Fourth and Trades at about 6:13 p.m. Monday, police said. Vehicles driven by Diane Marquez of 1005 N.W. Second and Freddie White of 901 N.W. Fifth were involved in a collision that also included a vehicle which fled the scene, police said. Police were on the lookout for a tan Pontiac Grand Prix apparently damaged on the right side after hitting a fence to avoid hitting the other two vehicles. Driven home by private vehicles after receiving minor injuries were Ms. Marquez, White and Curtis Williams of 1518 Wood, who was a passenger in the vehicle driven by White, police said.

The Legislature's budget-setting powers would be severely damaged.

The committee's power could be used to harass state agencies; funds could be transferred from one program to another for political reasons; and committee members running for reelection might be tempted to lean toward political favoritism rather than sound and professional financial practices.

Cavness notes, however, that the legislature can limit the power of the committee and establish conditions for it to operate under.

Robert Edward Weber, 28, died at 8:37 p.m. Saturday as a result of injuries he received in a motorcycle accident.

Graveside services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday in the Trinity Memorial Park.

Commissioners call election

LAMESA — Members of the Dawson County Commissioners have called a $1.5 million bond election Nov. 17.

Dawson County Judge Leslie Pratt said the election will seek funds for a remodeling project at Lamesa's Medical Arts Hospital.

In other business during the commissioner's meeting Monday, the men discussed a contract with the city fire department. Negotiations to have the city fire department travel to fires in the country are under way, said Judge Pratt.

Judge Pratt said the commissioner's also agreed to give $1,200 to the Lamesa

Chamber of Commerce to use toward Christmas decorations in the city.

Redistricting board begins voting on new boundary lines

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas lawmakers will get a clearer glimpse of their future today when the Legislative Redistricting Board starts making decisions on new boundary lines for House and Senate districts.

The five-member board has two Senate plans and two House plans to consider. After a two-hour Monday session at which Comptroller Bob Bullock and Speaker Bill Clayton laid out House plans, the board decided to wait until today to start voting.

Bullock, Clayton, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong and Attorney General Mark White have until Wednesday to complete the job.

Clayton upset some of his fellow Democrats with the House plan he proposed. Rep. Carlyle Smith, D-Grand Prairie, said the Clayton plan hurts white, urban Democrats.

"It appears he is on the same program he was on for congressional redistricting," Smith said, referring to Clayton's support of a congressional redistricting plan that favored Republicans. "I understand what has happened. I just don't understand why."

The board got the House redistricting task when a judge said the plan approved by the 1981 Legislature cut across too many county lines.

Clayton's House plan would set up eight pairs, meaning eight districts that would include two incumbents. Bullock's House plan has nine pairs. Both plans probably would add three minority representatives to the House.

Clayton proposed only one pair involving a Republican — Jerry Cockrham of Monahans would have to run against Big Spring Democrat Larry Shaw.

Here are the other pairs in the Clayton plan:

David London of Bonham and Pete Patterson of Brookston; Dan Kubiak of Rockdale and Bill Keese of Somerville; Steve Wolens and Chris Semos, both of Dallas; Joe Hernandez and Tommy Adkisson, both of San Antonio; Clayton of Springlake and Pete Laney of Hale Center; Bill Heatly of Paducah and Foster Whaley of Pampa; and Bobby Webber and Doyle Willis, both of Fort Worth.

Several of those pairs include House members who probably won't run again. Clayton has said he would not seek another term. Adkisson is considering a race for the state senate. Semos might run for the Dallas County commissioners court.

Bullock's plan, which Smith said is more positive for Democrats, includes nine pairs, including Clayton-Laney and Willis-Webber.

Here are the other seven pairs in the Bullock plan (all are Democrats unless otherwise noted):

London and Smith Gilley, Greenville; Jerry Clark of Buna and Larry Browder of Coldspring; Tim Von Dohlen of Goliad and Robert Saunders of LaGrange; Don Rains of San Marcos and Terral Smith, R-Austin; Gary Thompson and Walter Grubbs, both of Abilene; Wolens and Lanell Cofer, both of Dallas; and Alan Schoolcraft and Jim Nowlin, both Republicans from San Antonio.

Nowlin has been appointed to a federal judgeship. When he takes that office, he will be replaced in the House by a special election.

The Senate plan wound up on the board agenda when Gov. Bill Clements vetoed the Legislature's map because it did not include a minority district in Dallas.

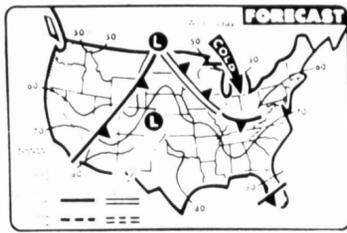

The plans submitted to the board — one by Hobby and one by Bullock — would set up that minority district.

Bullock's plan proposes three Senate pairs, including a West Texas battle between veteran lawmakers and committee chairmen Ray Farabee, D-Wichita Falls, and Grant Jones, D-Abilene.

The Bullock plan also would pair Sens. Mike Richards, R-Houston, and Buster Brown, R-Lake Jackson. The third pair would be Sens. John Leedom, R-Dallas, and Dee Travis, R-Garland. However, Travis is running for Congress.

Bullock proposed a Central Texas district of McLennan, Coryell, Bell and Williamson Counties.

WEATHER FORECAST — The National Weather Service forecast for Wednesday predicts rain in the Pacific Northwest and showers in parts of Florida, California, Oregon and Washington.

Warm temperatures are forecast today

Another nice fall day was in store for all of Texas today as forecasts called for clear skies and slightly warmer temperatures for the entire state.

Highs were to be in the 70s and 80s. Skies were mostly clear around the state early today. Dense fog was reported in the Tyler area in Northeast Texas.

Early morning temperatures were mostly in the 40s and 50s except in extreme West Texas and the Panhandle where the mercury dipped into the upper 30s during the pre-dawn hours.

Rain, drizzle and fog cloaked the eastern third of the nation today, and the wet weather should continue its hold over the Ohio Valley and mid-Atlantic coast north to New England.

Company installing new computer system

Dallas-based Southwestern Life Insurance Company has begun installing a new computer teleprocessing system in its 57 field offices that "will offer the broadest spectrum of support services in the history of the company," according to Executive Vice President-Administration J. Robert DuPuy, FSA, FLMI, CLU.

"Combined with the products and services Southwestern Life will introduce in the near future, this advanced technology will lead to greater agent productivity and more satisfied policyowners," DuPuy said recently.

The Field Accessible Computer Teleprocessing System (FACTS) will be installed in three phases, each providing more advanced services than the one before.

Phase I, developed over the past 12 months, has been produced almost entirely by Southwestern Life staff employees.

A course in Beginning Cake Decorating will be offered by the Adult and Continuing Education Department of Howard College, announced Josie Salazar, acting director. Classes will meet from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. on Monday, Nov. 9 through Nov. 30 in Room 106, Horace Garrett Building.

Instructor for the course will be Billye Grisham, a home economics teacher at Big Spring High School. Cost of the course is $25. A supply list will be available at the first class meeting. Cost of the supplies will be additional.

Interested persons must pre-register in the Continuing Education Office located in the Horace Garrett Building on campus. For further information, call the Adult and Continuing Education Department at 267-6311, ext. 216. Deadline for registration is 5 p.m. Friday, Nov. 6.

Magazine reports 'killer satellite'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Soviet Union has a new killer satellite in orbit capable of destroying several orbiting U.S. satellites, the magazine Aviation Week & Space Technology is reporting.

The report, in the magazine's Oct. 26 edition, called the satellite "an antisatellite battle station equipped with clusters of infrared-homing guided interceptors that could destroy multiple U.S. spacecraft."

"The podded miniature attack vehicles provide a new USSR capability for sneak attack on U.S. satellites," it added.

Aviation Week cited no sources and the Defense Department said it would not comment on the report.

For several years the Soviets have had the only operational killer satellite system. It is a payload that tracks down a target within one or two revolutions after it is launched and then detonates, destroying both.

U.S. observers say that the new killer satellite is capable of striking targets out to 600 miles, which makes America's navigation and reconnaissance satellites vulnerable. Communications and missile-warning payloads are stationed 22,300 miles up, but within a few years they too may come within range of advanced killers or laser beams, both of which the Soviets are researching.

The Defense Department is developing its own satellite destroyer, but it won't be operational for about two years. A spinning cylinder 30 inches long, it would be launched from beneath the wing of an F15 fighter plane and its infrared sensors would guide it to a collision with its orbiting target.

The Soviets last week cited this U.S. weapon when it petitioned the United Nations for a treaty banning all weapons in space.

The Pentagon also plans to test laser beam antisatellite and antimissile weapons within a few years on the manned space shuttle.

Aviation Week reported that presidential science adviser Jay Keyworth opposes spending billions of dollars on high-energy laser battle stations for ballistic missile defense in space. The magazine said this appears to conflict with a decision by President Reagan to "develop technologies for space-based missile defense."

Garden City farmer selected member of A&M's task force

Garden City farmer, Clifford Hoescher, was recently named as a member of Texas A&M's Target 2,000 Project task force. Hoescher is assigned to the Texas Agricultural Extension division of the task force and is in charge of resources.

Hoescher will study issues and concerns of the state's agricultural industry and help develop guidelines to better serve the industry.

Texans who buy cars, trucks to be filling out fewer forms

AUSTIN — State Comptroller Bob Bullock's office reports Texans who buy cars and trucks will be filling out fewer forms in the coming months.

The Comptroller's office has adopted a single, one-page form to replace two separate forms used to register motor vehicles and pay the sales tax.

The new form will replace the Department of Highways and Public Transportation's application for title and the Comptroller's seller, donor or trader's affidavit.

The combined form is expected to be used by more than four million Texans during the next twelve months.

The form eliminates the duplication of information requested by each agency by more than one-third on each motor vehicle sold.

The Comptroller's office and the Highway Department will recognize the use of old forms until supplies are exhausted. The Comptroller's office has been instrumental in developing easy-to-read, shortened forms in an effort to reduce taxpayer paperwork.

The state's postcard-sized sales tax return is used by more than 300,000 businesses and merchants who collect and forward sales tax to the Comptroller.

The state's four percent motor vehicle sales tax during the 12-month period which ended Aug. 31, 1981, produced more than $523.6 million in tax revenue.

Amendment 3 too dangerous

There are several serious drawbacks to proposed Amendment 3 in the Nov. 3 election.

The proposal, if passed, would allow the Legislature to authorize a financial management committee made up of seven people — the Governor, Speaker of the House, Lieutenant Governor, and the chairmen of the Senate Finance and State Affairs Committees and the House Appropriations and Ways and Means Committees.

This "central authority" committee would manage state spending once the Legislature adjourns.

One drawback is that of these seven officials, only two — the governor and lieutenant governor — are elected statewide. Yet officials who are elected statewide — railroad commissioners, attorney general, land commissioner, treasurer, comptroller, agriculture commissions and others — would be required to answer to this committee.

Another drawback is that the committee would consist of persons who have no responsibility for program operations. This would be an unnecessary invasion of the administrative function.

BUT THE MAIN problem is that Amendment 3 has too much potential for abuse. The committee's power could be used for harassment of agencies. Funds might be transferred from one program to another on the basis of purely political considerations. During election time, professional administrative judgment might give way to political favoritism and backscratching.

Giving a few committee members the power to transfer funds among agencies is in effect giving them the authority to change state policy. Some programs now supported by the Legislature could in effect be eliminated by transfer of funds. Legislative intent would be bypassed.

Supporters say there needs to be a "central authority" for budget management. But having no central authority may be better than setting up a powerful committee where great opportunity for abuse exists.

IN SHORT, THERE would be too much power concentrated in the hands of too few people.

Granted, the state needs certain reforms in its budgeting process. There certainly is unnecessary spending that could be cut and increased efficiency that could be brought to agency programs. Currently, each state agency has sole authority over its budget, within the limits imposed by the appropriations act.

Also, if federal funds come to the states increasingly in the form of block grants, there will need to be a method of determining use of those funds without calling a costly special session.

But Amendment No. 3, in its present form, is not the answer. Voters defeated a similar budget-execution amendment last November. They would be well advised to do so again.

ABSCAMers should be probed

Jack Anderson.

WASHINGTON — The Senate machinery for grinding down transgressors is humming in its inexorable hum. Caught in the wheelworks is Sen. Harrison Williams, D-N.J., the Senate's lone ABSCAM victim, who has been marked for expulsion.

Operating the machinery by remote control is Thomas Puccio, the chief ABSCAM prosecutor, who has been funneling "evidence" against Williams into the Senate Ethics Committee. Puccio's confederate on the committee staff, Donald Sanders, has been briefing senators in the backrooms.

Williams has begged for the chance to participate in the briefings and present his side of the case. He has been turned down coldly. The senators want to remove the ABSCAM taint from their institution with as little commotion as possible.

Williams is guilty, all right. He is guilty of consorting with undercover agents who sought to corrupt him while the FBI filmed the scene with hidden cameras. There had been other congressional performers, who had walked off the FBI set, their pockets and briefcases stuffed with $100 bills pressed on them by the undercover men. But Williams refused the bribe, protesting, "No, no, no, no."

Yes Williams is guilty of appearing on the ABSCAM videotapes in the role of a politician on the make. He is guilty of getting himself tagged with the ABSCAM label, which has become the new buzzword for political corruption. He is guilty of having his face projected on the front pages in the same company with congressmen who took bribes.

Puccio even persuaded a jury that Williams was guilty. Guilty of what? He turned down a $50,000 bribe. He rejected the G-men's suggestion that he illegally hide his interest in a titanium mine. He also refused to have any part of a tax-avoidance scheme.

Then what crime did Williams commit? He boasted of his influence with high government officials. But he was coached by an FBI hireling who assured Williams that the statements would be meaningless — just "b.s." to persuade an Arab sheik to invest $190 million in a titanium mine.

The senator sought no government contracts; in fact, he had no intention of doing so. Essentially, he was convicted of dealing in hot air and empty promises, which are every politician's stock in trade.

My associate Indy Badhwar has spent months investigating the Williams case. He has found more misconduct by the government than by Williams.

For example, vital exculpatory documents were withheld from Williams' attorneys. These were shown after the trial to one of the jurors, Salvatore Ottoviano, who had voted to convict Williams.

Ottoviano swore out an affidavit, under penalty of perjury, that he would have "voted not guilty on all counts and would under no circumstances have changed my vote to guilty" if he had seen the suppressed Justice Department documents.

All it would have taken was one juror to block Williams' conviction. In fact, the other jurors might have joined in acquitting the senator if only the hidden evidence had been made available to the jury.

The real guilt in the Williams case, I believe, should be laid on the prosecution team. Here's the shameful rollcall:

Thomas Puccio, chief prosecutor — He spent 13 months trying to draw Williams into a criminal conspiracy. Yet Puccio could cite nothing in the senator's record that warranted an investigation. Puccio covered up misconduct by the prosecution team and misled the U.S. attorney's office into believing that Williams had a hidden interest in the titanium mine. It was Puccio, in fact, who had the hidden interest. He was an unnamed collaborator in a book about ABSCAM. The sales might be hurt if his biggest fish should escape from the net.

Mel Weinberg, convicted con man and perjurer — He was paid by the FBI to pose as the representative of a phony sheik. He used all the tricks of the con man's trade to lure Williams into the ABSCAM trap. Again and again, the senator refused the bait, but Weinberg kept coming back with something more enticing. Weinberg even produced a forged letter, with Williams' copied signature, in an attempt to incriminate him.

Anthony Amoroso, undercover FBI agent — There is sworn testimony that he "lost his professional judgment" and began soliciting improper conduct by Williams. He tried to put incriminating statements into the senator's mouth. When Williams refused the $50,000 bribe and tried to explain his ethics, Amoroso rushed into the room and interrupted the exculpatory remarks on the pretext that a long-distance call awaited the phony sheik.

Billy Graham

My answer

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I believe Jesus was a great moral teacher, but what makes you think he was anything more than that? — M.N.

DEAR M.N.: Yes, Jesus was a great moral teacher. However, I also believe he was more than that. I believe he was also the Son of God who came into this world to deal with our greatest problem — our sins.

Why do I believe this? One reason is because Jesus himself made the claim that he was God, come in human flesh to die as a sacrifice for the sins of humanity. "I and the Father are one," he said on one occasion (John 10:30), and this thought is echoed throughout the Gospels. The enemies of Jesus recognized that he made this claim, and it was in part due to this claim that they plotted to crucify him. (See, for example, Luke 22:66-71)

I also believe Jesus was more than just another great man because of the works that he did. The miracles we find recorded in the Gospels are vivid testimonies to the power and authority of Jesus over the forces of nature.

The Gospels make it clear that these acts were signs, pointing to the divine nature of Jesus. Incidentally, you should remember that the Gospels were written while many, many eyewitnesses to the life of Jesus were still alive.

No Gospel writer would have dared claim that Jesus had done such miracles before crowds of thousands if such things never had happened. The Gospels are accurate, and portray Jesus as one who was more than man.

I also believe Jesus was the Son of God because he rose again from the dead. This is a staggering event — if it happened, it sets Jesus apart from every other individual who ever lived. It proves that Jesus not only was the Son of God, as he claimed, but that he is able to help us and save us.

I urge you to look carefully at what the Bible says about Jesus. As you look at his moral teachings again, you may be surprised to see just how high a standard he sets for us — a standard we frankly could never keep. But the good news of the Gospel is that Jesus died on the Cross and rose again so we could be saved from our sins, and know God personally.

The political spectrum

Art Buchwald.

One of the most fascinating things to watch in world politics is how once-militant governments suddenly become "moderate" ones and vice-versa. Prof. Heinrich Applebaum of the "Institute for Political Spectrums" keeps track of who are the militants and moderates on the global scene.

When someone from the media wants to know how to refer to a personality, or a country, or organization, he first checks with Applebaum, who charges a $2.00 fee for each consultation.

Curious as to how Applebaum arrived at his conclusions, I visited his office. On one entire wall he had a detailed map of the world. It was covered with white pins, red pins, blue pins and black pins. On another wall, he had a large blackboard, listing various rebel organizations.

"The white pins stand for 'moderates,' the red pins for 'militants,' the blue pins for 'freedom fighters' and the black pins for 'anarchal militants,'" Applebaum explained. "Now any country that's anti-Soviet, no matter what its ideology, is considered to have a 'moderate' regime."

"And a country that has thrown in its lot with the Soviets is considered 'militant' and gets a red pin. The blue pins are reserved for movements trying to overthrow a pro-Soviet regime, and black pins are for groups trying to overthrow a pro-American government."

"That seems simple enough," I said.

"It's not as easy as you might think. Take Kadafi of Libya. A few years ago, because of his oil fields, he was considered a 'moderate.' He was exporting revolution at the time, but he wasn't bothering the U.S. So I gave him a white pin. Then he started putting out death contracts on Libyan students in the United States and I had to change his classification to a fanatic."

"It took a long time for you to recognize what he really was," I said.

"If it was easy," Applebaum replied defensively, "we wouldn't be in all the trouble we're in right now. Let me show you something. Up here in Northern Iran is where the Kurds live. At one time, since they were fighting for their independence, the U.S. considered them 'freedom fighters' and was giving them aid. Then the shah complained to our State Department, and we changed their status to 'Communist-led rebels' and cut off all help."

"After the shah was deposed, and Khomeini and his religious fanatics took over the country, we reinstated the Kurds as 'freedom fighters' and gave them back their blue pin."

"I see you have Arafat of the PLO down as a 'moderate'."

"He is a 'moderate' compared to the radicals in the Palestine Liberation Organization. Although he wants to drive the Israelis into the sea, we think we can deal with him. So on the political spectrum, we changed his classification to 'moderate' so we could differentiate between him and the fanatic militants in the PLO, who are trying to kill him."

"You don't have any pin in Iraq," I said.

"Iraq presents a problem. They're fighting Iran, and being supplied by France, Italy and the Soviet Union. They're also selling their oil to the West. We really don't have a pin to fit this kind of situation, so we've decided to ignore them."

"That makes sense," I said.

"Someone came in and handed Applebaum a message."

"He went over to the blackboard and erased the word 'totalitarian' against South Africa, and replaced it with 'moderate.'"

"What gives?" I asked.

"It's a personal favor to United Nations Ambassador Jeane Kirkpatrick."

Around the rim Ted Tooter

Richard Horn

Ted Turner, TV's foremost cable advocate and the man behind the Cable News Network, likes to think of himself as a Rhett Butler for the 1980s. Being from Atlanta, he's got the right heritage. He's a bit of a gambler and a bit of a cynic, but most of all he likes to make people mad and stir up controversy.

He may have done that last week at an Associated Press convention in Toronto. Before an audience of managing editors (who had no doubt hoped to forget their newspapers' troubles) Turner predicted that much of the print media would be out of business in 10 years. Electronic media is where it is at, he implied. More specifically cable TV. Most specifically the Cable News Network.

ONE OF THE FUNNIEST things about Turner is the way everything he says seems to be a commercial for his million-dollar baby. Again last week, at congressional hearings on TV violence, Turner was plugging and criticizing. He testified that "a great majority of our population is sick, and the principal culprits are ABC, NBC, CBS and the motion picture companies." The message was clear: Don't watch those public molesters. Watch cable.

Turner no doubt finds little to apologize for, and there's no reason he should. Starting a 24-hour news network was quite a risk, especially for a man who had been previously known only for winning sailing trophies and buying struggling pro-sports teams.

His gamble seems to have paid off. He doesn't offer much that's different from the major networks, he just offers more of it. Despite his pious assertions that ABC, NBC, and CBS are sending America down the road to destruction, CNN and his other cable station WTBS have about the same general content as anybody else. CNN is neither more liberal nor more conservative than the major news organizations, but it does offer a wider scope of both viewpoints.

How much do newspapers have to fear from CNN and other forthcoming all-news networks? Probably every newspaper executive has lain awake nights thinking about the answer. Most major newspapers are taking steps to fight TV news by offering in-depth reporting and interpretation. Unfortunately that costs money and papers can't generate as much revenue as they would like. The majority of people in the U.S. would rather watch TV than read.

It used to be easy for newspapers to compete against TV news. TV news was show-biz fluff with more personality than information. It gave only headlines. There wasn't time for the stories.

AND THEN ALONG came Turner. I don't know a soul who reads every single story in the daily paper, but I know people who can watch cable news a couple of hours a day and absorb nearly every story that is presented. And it is not so much show-biz; Dan Rather, Frank Reynolds and Tom Brokaw each have more star quality than anybody on CNN.

Will Turner's dire warnings about newspapers come true? I doubt it. There will always be a sizable number of people who would rather read than sit lifeless in front of a tube. Magazines and newspapers can also provide a means of historical record that is far better than even video tape.

Like Rhett Butler, Turner is a cocky, crafty fellow. He's likely to pretend that he doesn't "give a damn" about his print competitors, but I'm sure he's just as wary of them as they are of him.

Dr. Paul G. Donohue, M.D.

Lice: a really lousy topic

As school swings into full gear, letters on head and body lice increase. Some general thoughts, then:

Hair and body lice look very much alike. The body louse is a little larger. The female louse pierces the skin for a blood meal. She lays up to five eggs a day. These stick to the hair with a cement-like substance and in eight or nine days the babies emerge and the population grows.

For head lice, a shampoo with gamma benzene hydrochloride is effective. You leave it on four minutes, then rinse it out. A repeat is advised in seven days. The eggs are so firmly attached to hairs (nits) that even though killed, they have to be removed with a fine comb. Gamma benzene is also used for the body louse. It should be used with caution on infants, children and pregnant females. Lice in the eyelids are treated with a very weak yellow oxide of mercury or with physostigmine drops.

Garments should be boiled, steamed or heavily ironed. The entire unpleasant episode should be over after two applications of the medicine. If you continue to use the medicine, you irritate skin and make it itch. You think you still have the lice. That makes the person even more zealous in medicine use to rid himself of them — a vicious circle. Use medicine as directed. Don't overuse. An encounter with lice can make one realize why Webster's definition of the word "lousy" includes terms like "totally repulsive...contemptible."

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: What is the difference between vaginal itching associated with menopause and the itching caused by vaginal infection? — Mrs. R.B.

The itching is the same, the skin's response to irritation. With the itching that is associated with menopause in some women, the cause is a drying of membranes. Dry skin any place will itch. The treatment for the dryness is use of lubricating agents. That will not be the answer if the cause is infection. The usual cause is a fungus, and you treat that with antifungal creams. The booklet "Vaginitis: The Hidden Ailment" discusses the more common causes of such discomfort. If you want a copy, write me care of the Big Spring Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

DEAR DR. DONOHUE: When a person has post-nasal drip and wakes up coughing, does that mean the drip has shut off the windpipe? — J.J.

The material does not drip into the windpipe. The coughing is from irritation of the swallowing mechanism — the throat and esophagus — where the drip might travel.

To learn of the many factors involved in the treatment of hiatal hernia (which concerns the esophagus; write to Dr. Donohue, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for a copy of his booklet, "Hiatal Hernia and Eight Ways to Combat It." Enclose a long, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Donohue welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Senate Republicans mull tax hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — As Senate Republicans study between $50 billion and $70 billion in tax increases, White House budget director David A. Stockman says the administration is not "making a fetish" out of a balanced budget by 1984.

Sources say the $50 billion to $70 billion figure is included in a memorandum drawn up for Senate Majority Leader Howard H. Baker Jr. and House Republican leader Robert H. Michel and based on private meetings last week among GOP congressional leaders.

The tax increases are part of a strategy GOP leaders hope will lead to paring budget deficits by $115 billion over the next three years.

Baker and Michel are expected to meet with Reagan later this week to discuss the strategy.

But the sources emphasized that House Republicans are not committed to a tax increase of any given size.

Instead, the House Republican leadership promised only to seek higher taxes and more cuts in benefit programs if the budget deficits for the next three years appear to be higher than the estimates contained in the budget outline passed by Congress earlier this year.

According to one source, the Senate Budget Committee has drawn up a list of 24 possible tax increases which the Treasury Department estimates would raise $84.4 billion in revenues in 1983 and 1984.

Sources said Senate Republicans have reached no consensus on which of the proposals to pursue.

President Reagan has asked for $22 billion in higher taxes over the next three years as part of his plan to balance the budget by 1984. Of that, $3 billion would come in the current fiscal year.

In recent days, however, administration officials have conceded that much higher tax increases may be necessary to meet Reagan's goal.

One source said tentative GOP plans to trim $115 billion from the deficit over the next three years included about $40 billion in cuts in benefit programs such as government pensions and food stamps, and about $15 billion in cuts in domestic and defense programs.

Stockman said Monday that hopes for a balanced 1984 budget may be slipping due to high interest rates and ballooning spending on various government programs.

Fall Festival planned

The St. Lawrence Fall Festival will be held Sunday at St. Lawrence Parish Hall. The Parish Hall is located 10 miles south of Garden City on Hwy. 33, then five miles west on Hwy. 2401.

Booths will be open at 11 a.m. and remain open throughout the afternoon. Booths include spin-a-wheel, grab bag, religious, Country Kitchen, Bingo, Coke Ring and others. Cookbooks, containing over 800 recipes of parish members, will be sold.

Dinner will be served 11 a.m.-2 p.m. Homemade German sausage, barbecue, and all the trimmings will be served, as well as homemade cakes and pies. Plates to go will be served only during the noon meal. Prices of the dinners are $4 for adults and $2 for children.

Sausage sandwiches, a dessert and beverage will be sold for $2 from 5-7:30 p.m. Uncooked sausage will be sold by the pound.

An auction, featuring bales of cotton and other items donated by businessmen, will begin at 2 p.m. Raffle tickets will be sold for items including a handmade, king-sized quilt, pillow, handmade afghan, rifle or shotgun, and half a beef.

Drawings will be held at the dance, which begins at 8 p.m. and features "West Wind." Raffle winners do not have to be present to win.

Parish Council members are Richard Wilde, Jody Schwartz, Jerome F. Hoelscher, Tex Halfmann, Alan Dierschke, Eugene Jost and Mary Lou Jansa. Women's committee members are Marie Pechacek, Kay Donna Machicek, Karla Hoelscher, Diane Eggemeyer and Rose Peizek.

Daughter's birth is announced

Mr. and Mrs. B.B. Billingsley, McKinney, announce the birth of a daughter, Susan Kate, Oct. 18 at Presbyterian Hospital, Dallas. The infant arrived at 11:21 p.m. weighing 4 pounds 9 ounces.

Susan Kate's maternal grandmother is Mrs. W.B. (Susie) Grant, 1803 Morrison, and her paternal grandmother is Mrs. Wilma Billingsley, Houston.

The new arrival is welcomed home by her brother, Grant, 22 months. Mrs. Billingsley is the former Peggy Grant, formerly of Big Spring.

Halloween safety tips given by association

Tiny spooks and goblins are busy getting their scary costumes and masks ready for the big night. Halloween is coming!

Although Halloween has been tamed somewhat in recent years, and many parents and schools organize parties to replace the traditional neighborhood rounds, a lot of kids will still opt for that old standby, trick or treating. You can help make this Halloween a safe and memorable one for the little ones by giving some thought to safety, suggests the Texas Medical Association (TMA).

It's a good idea to accompany youngsters on their neighborhood treks, since in their excitement they may be less than cautious about traffic hazards. Also, encourage them to go trick or treating early in the evening while it's still light outside.

When making your small spook's costume, use bright colors for visibility. You might even sew on some reflective tape that can be easily seen in the dark. Don't make loose-fitting costumes that may catch on fences or other obstacles. And make sure that costumes aren't so long that little ones trip over themselves.

Masks that cover the entire face can be dangerous. They often block vision and, if they slip, they can even block breathing. A "skin mask" made of grease paint or make-up is safer, and a lot more creative, too.

If the giddy goblin wants a light, give him or her a flashlight, not a candle. Never allow small children to carry around sharp objects that can hurt them if they happen to fall.

Difficult though this may be, convince your children not to eat any goodies until you have inspected them first. There have been a few incidents of twisted individuals giving children fruit or candy with needles, razor blades, glass or drugs hidden within.

Be considerate of other people's children. Try to make your yummies nutritious. Also, keep pets indoors — bands of noisy children may excite them. Keep outdoor lights on so small ghosts won't stumble.

Preparations for the celebration of Arbor Day were discussed at the Thursday meeting of Council of Garden Clubs of Big Spring. The meeting took place in the home of Mrs. Luke Fortenberry.

Mrs. Lavelle Hill, past president of the Council, will be honored during the Arbor Day ceremonies.

The Council is composed of the president and one representative of each garden club in Big Spring. This year's members are Mrs. Paul Guy and Mrs. Luke Fortenberry, Planter's Garden Club; Mrs. Lona Croker and Mrs. Neva Clinckales, Texas Star Garden Club; Mrs. John Balch and Mrs. Mary Greer, Big Spring Garden Club; Mrs. Edna Womack and Mrs. Suncha Christensen, Rosebud Garden Club.

Dear Abby

Incest Illness Is Too Lightly Treated

DEAR ABBY: Please give more publicity to a problem that has been "in the closet" much too long. It concerns incest and child molestation.

When this catastrophic crime hit my family of highly respectable, educated people, I handled it all wrong. In our case, it was a grandfather. Half the family was outraged. The other half thought the first half was overreacting, or possibly that we were mistaken about the intentions of a loving old grandfather.

Out of family loyalty, we did not prosecute. We were wrong. Consequently, nothing has been done to get the offender the help he needs.

Abby, this crime must be stopped. I am certain there is much more of it going on than most people realize. The child must be the first concern. Then treatment (forced, if need be) for the sick offender. Please let your readers know that ignoring child molestation hurts everyone.

WITHHOLD MY NAME AND CITY

DEAR WITHHOLD: Child molestation and particularly incest already have one foot out of the closet. There is an organization that has proven to be very helpful.

"Parents United and Daughters and Sons United" chapters have sprung up in many parts of the country. This self-help group is affiliated with a professional treatment program and works closely with the courts. While protection of the child is always given top priority, support is provided for families who want to work out their problems and stay together, and even for those who don't!

Medical Auxiliary plans pre-holiday fashion show

Winter Fantasy, the gala pre-holiday show of fashions sponsored by the Permian Basin Medical Society Auxiliary, will be held at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 14 at the Big Spring Country Club.

Fashions and furs from Swartz, jewelry from James L. Wilson and children's clothes from The Kids' Shop will be featured. Hair styles will be by La Contessa. Proceeds from the auxiliary's traditional fashion show will benefit the children's department of the Howard County Library, according to Mrs. John Rhodes, fashion show chairman.

Tickets are $5.00 per person and may be purchased from any auxiliary member or at Swartz, The Kids' Shop, Accent Shop, La Contessa and Howard County Library.

DEAR ABBY: I'm 39 and work in the stockroom of my father's sportswear store. A man about my father's age (60), who happens to be a good friend of my father, works with me. This "friend" steals merchandise all the time. I'm the only one who knows it because there are just the two of us back there. He makes no effort to hide his stealing from me — he just takes whatever he wants as though it belonged to him!

Should I tell my father, or should I say something to this man?

DEAR "C": First, tell the "friend" that you've noticed him helping himself to your father's merchandise, and ask if he has some kind of arrangement with your father that permits him to take what he wants without cost. Then check it out with your father.

Mother tells court son thought he was a vampire, had to kill

BROCKTON, Mass. (AP) — A man who believed he was a vampire admitted he shot his grandmother to death with gold-tipped bullets and said he tried to drink her blood, his mother testified in his murder trial.

James P. Riva, 24, of Boston said a voice told him he would die if he didn't kill his 74-year-old grandmother, according to testimony for the prosecution given Monday by his mother, Janet Jones.

Riva is charged with murder and arson in the killing of Carmen Lopez in her Marshfield home April 10, 1980.

Mrs. Lopez was shot, stabbed and beaten, and state pathologist Ambrose Keeley said she died either of stab wounds or a head injury.

Assistant district attorney Henry Cashman said Friday in his opening statement that he would prove Riva shot Mrs. Lopez, stabbed her "and in an effort to conceal his crime, he lit her body on fire, as well as the house, and left the area."

Defense lawyer John Spina told the Brockton Superior Court on Friday he was seeking a verdict of innocent by reason of insanity. He said Riva had been institutionalized frequently since 1975 and told the court he planned to call psychiatrists to testify.

FTC leader says consumers not gullible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission should no longer protect consumers from defective products and should review its 11-year-old requirement that advertisers substantiate their claims, the agency's chairman says.

"Consumers are not as gullible as many people and many regulators tend to think they are," FTC Chairman James C. Miller said at a news conference Monday, his first since being named to the post two weeks ago.

Miller said the FTC's efforts to improve product quality have been ill advised. "Imperfect products should be available, he said, because consumers have different preferences for defect avoidance." He said, "Those who have a low aversion risk — relative to money — will be most likely to purchase cheap, unreliable products."

A majority of the commission's five members are Republicans. His proposals could be put into effect by majority vote of the commission. Under a law passed last year, Congress could veto the provisions if both houses acted.

Saying that the government has issued too many regulations in the name of consumers, Miller commented, "There's no free lunch." He suggested that the FTC staff should analyze the advertising substantiation program and determine how much it adds to product costs.

"Costs are passed on to consumers for substantiation studies," Miller said, and "consumers are better judges of products and services than a lot of people in Washington give them credit for."

Net income for Denny's breaks record

Denny's, Inc. (NYSE) today reported that net income for the first quarter ended Sept. 25, 1981 increased 41.4 percent compared to the same period a year ago and that revenues increased 15.7 percent. Net income and revenues were records for the quarter.

Revenues for the quarter were $241,251,000 compared to $208,461,000 a year ago. Net income was $10,704,000 compared to $7,569,000. Earnings per share were $1.08 compared to 87 cents. There were about 1,179,000 more shares outstanding in the quarter ended Sept. 1981 than in the previous year, principally as the result of a stock offering in May 1981.

Vern O. Curtis, president, said that the rate of increase of sales at the Denny's Restaurant Division continued during the first quarter at the fine level achieved during the past few months. He said that operating income and margins of the Winchell's Donut House Division continued to improve and were considerably better than the comparable period a year ago.

EDITH HEAD DIES — Edith Head, whose costumes for glamorous stars such as Sophia Loren and Elizabeth Taylor won her a record eight Oscars, died Saturday of a rare bone disease, her attorney announced Monday. Miss Head never revealed her age, but she was believed to be in her 80's.

Housing industry weakened

NEW YORK (AP) — Faced with perhaps its biggest challenge ever, larger even than the job of housing new families formed after World War II, the American housing industry is disillusioned and weakened.

Unless matters change, it seems unlikely it will be able to supply Americans with affordable, commodious homes in the style to which they had become accustomed during much of the past three decades.

At today's 17.5 percent mortgage interest rate, the payment on a modest $60,000 mortgage loan is $880 a month, almost double the payment of two years ago. It requires an annual income of almost $40,000.

That means "virtually no first-time buyers qualify," said Herman Smith, National Association of Home Builders president. If interest rates don't come down, he said, "our members will break with any elected official who doesn't cooperate in trying to get them down."

Homebuilding appears to have left the mass market for the luxury market, said Robert McNeil, chairman, and Allen Cymrot, president of Robert McNeil Corp., a large West Coast housing firm.

The housing situation has vast implications for social, economic, political and business goals and customs.

STRIKING EARL — Pittsburgh Steeler defenders Anthony Washington (42), Jack Lambert (58) and Jack Ham (bottom) pounce on Houston Oiler running back

Earl Campbell in the second half of Monday night's game in Pittsburgh. The Steeler's shot down Campbell's running all night and won the game 26-13.

Oilers drubbed, 26-13

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Nobody seems to know who the real Pittsburgh Steelers are — least of all the Steelers themselves.

"I hope these are the real Steelers 'cause we sure didn't play like ourselves last week," linebacker Jack Ham said after Pittsburgh rebounded from a 34-7 pounding in Cincinnati eight days earlier to beat the Houston Oilers 26-13 Monday night.

The victory put the Steelers, 5-3, back into a first-place tie with the Bengals in the American Conference Central Division. The loss dropped the Oilers a game back into a tie with Cleveland.

"I don't know who the real Steelers are, but I'd like to think we're getting back to where we used to be," said quarterback Terry Bradshaw. He threw two touchdown passes, a 46-yard bomb to Jim Smith in the first quarter and a game-winning 6-yarder to John Stallworth to break a 13-13 tie with 3:41 to play.

"A game like this does a world of good for your confidence," added Bradshaw.

The Steelers beat the Oilers the way they've always beaten them, by virtually shutting down Earl Campbell. The National Football League's three-time rushing champion, whose best game against Pittsburgh was a mere 109 yards two years ago, was held to just 56 on 23 carries over Three Rivers Stadium's rain-soaked artificial turf. He also fumbled four times, losing two of them, to kill a pair of scoring threats.

Quarterback Ken Stabler intimated he wasn't pleased that the Oilers relied so heavily on Campbell. "The I-Formation works if Earl's getting 150-175 yards," he said. "When they're stopping the run, that makes it tough. We've been successful with it at times and at times, we haven't been. I think maybe we hung our hat on the run a little too much — but that's hindsight and I'm not gonna second-guess myself."

The Steelers dominated the first half, building a 13-3 lead on David Trout's two 19-yard field goals and Smith's catch while Toni Fritsch kicked a 34-yard field goal for the Oilers following Vernon Perry's interception deep in Pittsburgh territory.

It was still a 10-point spread heading into the fourth period when the Oilers suddenly struck for a touchdown on a 52-yard pass play from Stabler to Dave Casper.

Casper caught the ball at the Pittsburgh 30, was enveloped by linebackers Jack Ham and Jack Lambert, then was jettisoned free when safety J.T. Thomas barreled into the trio.

On Houston's next possession, the Steelers forced a fourth-and-three at the Oiler 35. But punter Cliff Parsley's 31-yard pass to Adger Armstrong revived the Oilers.

"Gamble?" said Steelers Coach Chuck Noll. "When they work, I don't think you can call them gambles." Four plays later, with 5:43 to go, Fritsch tied it with a 44-yard field goal.

But on Pittsburgh's first play from scrimmage, Franco Harris broke loose through the left side for 35 of his 84 yards, running out of bounds at the Houston 34. And when linebacker Ted Washington was flagged for a late hit, the penalty put the ball at the 19.

Three plays later, offsetting penalties wiped out a 14-yard pass to Smith in the end zone. But Bradshaw, on third and five, scrambled eight yards to the six, then found wide-receiver John Stallworth in the left corner of the end zone.

Trout's missed extra point left the Steelers' lead at 19-13. Three plays later, though, safety Ron Johnson intercepted Stabler and four plays after that, at the two-minute warning, Harris bulled in from the one.

UT rises to sixth

Penn St. still No. 1 in AP poll

Penn State is only the second team in seven weeks not to fumble away the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press college football poll, while intrastate rival Pittsburgh has held on again for the second spot.

The Nittany Lions avoided the upset jinx that had knocked Michigan, Notre Dame, Southern California and Texas off the top perch over a six-week period. Only Southern Cal was voted No. 1 for two straight weeks until Penn State did it in the poll released Monday.

Clemson climbed into third place, but its Atlantic Coast Conference rival, North Carolina, slipped from third to ninth after suffering its first defeat of the season, 31-13 to South Carolina.

Penn State defeated West Virginia 30-7 and received 45 first-place votes and 1,259 of a possible 1,280 points from a nationwide panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Pitt turned back Syracuse 23-10 and received the other 19 first-place ballots and 1,235 points. Last week, Penn State led Pitt 1,283½-1,277½ in total points and 36½-26½ in first-place votes.

Clemson jumped from fourth place to third with 1,105 points following a 17-7 victory over North Carolina State and Southern Cal rose from fifth to fourth with 1,079 points following a 14-7 triumph over Notre Dame.

Georgia's defending national champions moved up from seventh to fifth with 990 points after blanking Kentucky 21-0 and Texas, which skidded from No. 1 to No. 10 a week ago, skipped back to sixth with 893 points after a 9-7 decision over previously unbeaten Southern Methodist. The loss dropped the Mustangs from eighth to 13th.

Iowa, last week's No. 6 team, also fell out of the Top Ten, slipping to 16th after losing to Minnesota 12-10.

Mississippi State went up from ninth to seventh with 796 points for a 21-17 victory over Auburn, Alabama jumped from 11th to eighth with 730 points for a 31-7 triumph over Rutgers, North Carolina was ninth with 630 points and Arizona State cracked the Top Ten for the first time this season, climbing from 17th to 10th thanks to a 62-36 victory over Stanford.

Iowa State, Nebraska, SMU, Washington State, Michigan, Iowa, Florida State, Washington, Oklahoma and Arkansas make up the Second Ten.

Last week, it was Alabama, Arkansas, Brigham Young, Iowa State, Nebraska, Washington State, Arizona State, Michigan, Missouri and Florida State.

Brigham Young fell out of the Top Twenty after losing to Wyoming 33-20 and Missouri dropped out following its second consecutive loss, a 6-0 setback at the hands of Nebraska.

Washington defeated Texas Tech 14-7 and returned to the rankings after a three-week absence, while Oklahoma made it back after a two-week lapse following a 42-3 trouncing of Oregon State.

Arkansas fell from 12th to 20th as it lost 20-17 to Houston.

New York struggling

Series heats up tonight

NEW YORK (AP) — Looking like a bloodied but unbowed patriot right out of a Revolutionary War portrait, owner George Steinbrenner leads the New York Yankees into tonight's sixth game of the 1981 World Series against the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Will team turmoil rally around its battered and bandaged boss, who says he was injured defending their honor in a hotel brawl?

Or will the Dodgers, baseball's huggiest team, nail down their first world championship in 16 years?

Stay tuned for the next exciting chapter in this thrilling soap opera. It arrives tonight with Tommy John trying to keep the Yankees alive against the Dodgers' Burt Hooton.

Steinbrenner promises that his team will rebound in a topsy turvy World Series that has had a little bit of everything so far.

"We'll win it in New York," he stormed after the Yankees had dropped three straight games in California to slip perilously near the brink of elimination.

When two men got into a heated debate with Steinbrenner following Sunday's 2-1 loss, one thing led to another and the Yankee owner emerged with a cast on his hand. It's a good thing he wasn't scheduled to be in the lineup tonight. He'd have trouble holding a bat.

But outfielder Jerry Mumphrey, benched for the fourth and fifth games after getting just two hits in 10 at-bats earlier, will get that chance. Yankee Manager Bob Lemon was expected to restore Mumphrey to the lineup and return him to center field.

The Dodgers hoped to have third baseman Ron Cey in their starting lineup. Cey suffered a slight concussion when he was hit in the helmet by one of Goose Gossage's 94-mile per hour fastballs in the eighth inning Sunday. He was x-rayed and stayed in Los Angeles overnight before flying to New York Monday to join his teammates.

Dodger Manager Tommy Lasorda said he would use Cey as long as the third baseman had no dizziness or aftereffects of the beating.

Hooton and John were the starters in Game Two of the Series won by the Yankees 3-0. Hooton has not worked since and will have five days of rest for tonight's assignment. John volunteered to go to the Yankee bullpen Saturday and pitched two innings in an 8-7 Dodger victory that deadlocked the Series at 2-2.

Los Angeles then used consecutive seventh-inning home runs by Pedro Guerrero and Steve Yeager to beat Ron Guidry Sunday and move within one victory of the world championship.

To nail it down, the Dodgers must break a six-game losing streak in Yankee Stadium. Los Angeles has not won a game in New York since the second game of the 1977 World Series. Hooton was the winning pitcher in that one and the Dodgers hope he can repeat that tonight. If he can, it will complete a perfect turnaround from the 1978 Series when Los Angeles won the first two games at home only to lose the next three in New York and Game Six and the Series in Los Angeles.

Hooton remembers. "I tell everybody I don't think back to the last Series we played in," he said. "But the same thing happened in '78. We won the first two and the Yankees won the next four. We'll have

While the Dodgers battled their Yankee Stadium hex, the Yankees had World Series history working against them.

Since the present 2-3-2 Series scheduling system was adopted in 1924, no team has captured the championship by gaining all four required victories at home and none on the road. If the Yankees are to take the crown, they will become the first club to achieve it that way.

But Series history also seemed to dictate that this showdown would stretch into a decisive seventh game. Of the 46 times a team has held a 3-2 advantage in games, it has won Game Six and the Series only 17 times.

Still the Dodgers were delighted to win the pivotal fifth game at home. "We go into the Stadium with just one game to win before we know we're champions," said Dusty Baker. "That's a lot different than going in there one game down."

If the Dodgers fail tonight, they would turn to rookie sensation Fernando Valenzuela for Game Seven. Valenzuela struggled to a 5-4 victory in Game Three, triggering the Los Angeles recovery. The Yankees would use Dave Righetti, also a rookie, who was knocked out early in Game Three against Valenzuela.

Both teams had scheduled workouts at the Stadium canceled by rain Monday. And tonight's forecast was bleak with showers predicted. This already is the latest World Series in history because of the player strike and the extended playoff schedule. The Dodgers hope it lasts just one more day, but the Yankees aren't ready to end the season quite yet.

Texas proves itself with SMU victory

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas got back in the Southwest Conference football race with a 9-7 victory over previously unbeaten Southern Methodist, a defensive struggle that Longhorn coach Fred Akers described as a "joy to watch."

"That's the most hitting for 60 minutes I've seen in a long time," Akers told his weekly news conference Monday. "Texas, with tackle Kenneth Sims making 15 tackles — including six sacks, held SMU to 206 yards total offense, while SMU shut down Texas with 177 yards."

Sims, a 6-foot-6, 270-pound senior, received the Longhorn coaches' nod as the team's most valuable player on defense against SMU and punter John Goodson and placekicker Raul Allegre, who had three field goals, shared the offensive nod.

Sims was named The Associated Press Southwest Conference Defensive Player of the Week for his job on the Mustangs.

Goodson punted eight times for a 40.5-yard average, with three coming to rest inside the SMU 20 and one inside the 5. Akers said a couple of Goodson's kicks went so high he thought they would go out the hole in the roof of Texas Stadium at Irving, where SMU and the Dallas Cowboys play.

Allegre's field goals included a 52-yarder, his longest of the year. "The two (on offense) who made the difference happened to be our kickers," said Akers. "We outkicked them."

Only a week before, a disastrous kicking game had led to a 42-11 thrashing by Arkansas, a loss that knocked Texas from No. 1 to No. 10 in college football.

Texas' new kickoff returner, Mike Luck, twisted an ankle on a 32-yard return, and Akers said the chances of him playing against Texas Tech on Saturday are not good.

Ninth grade wins

The Big Spring Lady Steers ninth grade volleyball team defeated Sweetwater yesterday by the scores of 15-10 and 15-4.

High point servers for Big Spring were Gloria Bustamente, 10; Adrienne Allen, 6; Tanya Ferguson, 4; Teresa Adamson, 4; Rosie Garcia, 3; and Pam Grant, 2.

The ninth grade finished the season 6-14. The varsity and junior varsity will play Odessa High tonight at 6 and 7 p.m.

Steinbrenner defends Yankee pride

Leave it to George — he had no intention of allowing his New York Yankees to leave Los Angeles with their tails between their legs. He took matters into his own hands.

By his own account, he punched out an unofficial decision over two hecklers when they began saying bad things about the Yankees in an elevator in the Los Angeles headquarters hotel Sunday night.

It was the only victory in the Yankees' "lost weekend" in the City of Angels.

Call him George M. Steinbrenner III, "M" for "Manassa Mauler," undisputed light-heavyweight champion of frustrated club owners.

Somewhere today, roaming the streets of L.A., is a guy with a few front teeth missing and a friend who might be suffering bruises.

That is, if George is giving it to us straight. And we have to take his word for it. There were no other eyewitnesses.

The culprits, according to George, took off like frightened rodents.

The hotel manager could add no details. The L.A. police said nothing was reported to them. An angry Steinbrenner, it seems, takes no prisoners.

The controversial Yankee boss, a stickler for rigid ethics codes, showed more relish than embarrassment when he called a late-evening press conference in Los Angeles to show a left hand in a cast, possibly fractured, a bruised right hand, a cut lip and a bump on the head from a whack with a beer bottle.

Meanwhile, the baseball world buzzed with mild amusement over the irony of the incident.

It was two years ago almost to the day that the then Yankee Manager Billy Martin, similarly taunted beyond his endurance, belted a marshmallow salesman in a Bloomington, Minn. hotel lobby.

Runnels wins

The Runnels Junior High Volleyball teams played Sweetwater yesterday and came out victorious in both contests.

Runnels Red won 5-15, 15-8 and 15-4. High point servers were Denisa Brown, 9; Amanda Solis, 3; Lisa Phillips, 5; Clara Hamilton, 2; Tammi Green, 6; and Lana Fletcher, 6.

The White team won 15-9 and 15-8. Leading the scoring were Dana Hiltbrunner and Carleita Lewis with 7, followed by Jana Whitehead, 6; Shellia Schmidt, 3; and Delia Leal with 2.

The Runnels team will end play Thursday in Snyder.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Wait until later in the day to patch up strained relationships with certain family members. A good time to organize your life so you can make rapid progress in the future.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) You are able to relieve yourself of pressures that have been annoying you earlier in the day. Be more optimistic.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You may find it difficult to communicate properly with others during the daytime, but the evening is fine for such.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Get busy with details of finance, but big investments are not wise now, since there are unusual forces at work.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Make plans to have more abundance in the future. The planets are most favorable for getting ahead in career matters.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Be sure to complete any work left undone before taking on new work. Discuss important business matters with financial experts.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Plan early for whatever you want to do, then carry through intelligently. This can be a particularly fine day for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Take time to put your business affairs in better order. Await a better time for looking into new outlets. Use care in motion.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Support persons who have been loyal to you in the past. Show increased devotion to loved one. Plan for the future.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Study your money situation and make plans to have more financial security. Strive to be more efficient in your work.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Have conferences with higher-ups early and gain their support and goodwill. Take time to improve your appearance.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Obtain the information you need from the right sources. A financial expert can give advice for a plan you have in mind.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Keep busy at tasks that can bring you added income in the days ahead. Handle important business matters wisely.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY ... he or she will be one who can solve difficult problems, so direct education along lines of investigations for best results. Give as fine a religious training as you can in order to maintain an optimistic manner. Sports are a must.

ABC World Series Talking baseball

NEW YORK (AP) — ABC will have the nation's attention tonight for the sixth game of the World Series. For at least three hours, ABC again will give viewers a mixture of baseball, commercials and promotional. Some thoughts on how the multi-pitch experience has gone so far:

Don't you hate the way ABC tried to prevent dial-switching by not giving any pro football scores until the fifth inning Sunday? But there were plugs for ABC's Monday night game. On Saturday there were plenty of college football scores. That's ABC's game, and it wasn't competing with the Series.

Don't you love commentator Jim Palmer? He's perceptive, telling us that Dodger shortstop Bill Russell should be closer to the hole because Dave Goltz was pitching right-handed batters inside. Nobody misses ABC's regular season commentator Don Drysdale.

Don't you hate the extra 30 seconds of commercials — compared to normal prime time — between innings? That means more time for annoying ads, like McDonald's "Uhyeeees" and Chevy Citation's Everyman. And more time for ABC's promotions.

Don't you love it when ABC has a replay from a different angle? But what was ABC on Yankee third baseman Graig Nettles' great catch in Game 1? NBC still does baseball better.

Don't you hate it when they try to make heroes out of baseball players? They talk about courage and guts. What's so courageous and gutsy about playing a little boys' game?

Texas mayors support propositions 1 and 4

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Delegates planned to end the 69th Texas Municipal League Convention today by officially endorsing two constitutional amendments appearing on the Nov. 3 Texas ballot.

The TML's resolutions committee was to present for a vote measures backing Proposition 1, designed to stimulate investment in urban areas through a tax incentive plan, and Proposition 4, which would establish a dedicated fund for water projects from state budget surpluses.

Austin Mayor Carol Keeton McClellan, outgoing president of the organization, and Lubbock Mayor Pro Tem Alan Henry of Lubbock, president-elect, joined 99 other Texas mayors Monday in endorsing the water fund as critical to maintaining healthy water and sewerage facilities in Texas towns and cities.

San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros and 19 other mayors were to appear at a news conference today to speak in behalf of the urban investment amendment prior to the afternoon vote on resolutions.

Mrs. McClellan termed "absolute nonsense" a statement by the Texas State Teachers Association in Austin earlier Monday that passage of the water fund could set education back 100 years in Texas.

"And I say that as a former teacher. If education had not had the same kind of dedicated funds (as sought in the water amendment), it would not be where it is today in Texas," she said.

TSTA President Brunham Robinson said in Austin that Proposition 4 would authorize the spending of an amount of money that could equal $350 a year for every man, woman and child in Texas for the next 25 years.

But Mrs. McClellan said it would save localities money by allowing them to sell bonds at lower rates of interest, and that the legislature could "interrupt" the flow of state funds at any time another priority arises.

"The way to raise taxes, the surest way to do it is not to plan now — put it off as long as possible," Mrs. McClellan said.

Out-of-wedlock births soaring

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than half of all black babies in the United States now are born out of wedlock, and the trend is increasing sharply among whites, especially teen-agers, a new government report shows.

Overall, according to federal census and health statistics, out-of-wedlock births increased 50 percent in the last decade to at least one in every six American babies.

In 1979, the most recent year for which comprehensive national statistics were compiled, an estimated 597,800 out-of-wedlock babies were born in America, accounting for 17 percent of all births. In 1970, unwed mothers had 399,000 babies, 10.7 percent of all births.

The report shows that in 1979, 55 percent of all black babies were born to unwed mothers, up from 38 percent in 1970. The percentage of white babies born to unwed mothers rose even more sharply — to 9.4 in 1979 from 5.7 in 1970.

"Regardless of age, the increases were much greater for white women than black women," the report says.

Experts attributed the increases to women wanting to wait until they are older to marry, a diminishing social stigma for unwed motherhood, and economic disadvantages, particularly for blacks.

Also, most studies show there is more sexual activity among white teen-agers than there was a decade ago.

"It's clear that the propensity to keep out-of-wedlock children is rising," said Kristin A. Moore, a specialist in teen-age pregnancy and out-of-wedlock births at the Urban Institute in Washington. "This has always been true among blacks, but now it's true among whites. It's more acceptable."

The Urban Institute's analysis of the figures shows that 29 percent of births to white teens and 83 percent of births to black teens occurred outside of marriage.

Despite those figures, the report said, the percentage of all women giving birth out of wedlock increased among whites and decreased among blacks.

Although there are no figures available for 1980 or 1981, Stephanie Ventura, a statistician who helped compile the report for the National Center for Health Statistics, said the rate of birth to unwed mothers rose substantially between 1978 and 1979. "We have no reason to believe that this will decline in the next few years," she said.

The report was based on records in 39 states and the District of Columbia which require marital status on birth certificates. Nationwide figures are estimates based on the 39-state information.

Ms. Moore said one reason so many black babies are born out of wedlock is that a large number of black males have trouble getting jobs and many who do work have jobs which don't offer health benefits.

Permian Historical Society hosts two C-City tours

COLORADO CITY — The Permian Historical Society will have its fall meeting here Oct. 31.

Papers on the Randerbrook-Spade Ranch, the Old Colorado City Opera House and early Martin County agriculture will be presented in the morning. After a Dutch treat luncheon, two tours have been planned — a bus trip to the famous Randerbrook-Spade Ranch headquarters and a car caravan trip to places of historical interest in Colorado City.

Senate Judiciary panel okays selection of Texan

WASHINGTON — The Senate Judiciary Committee has approved the selection of Corpus Christi resident Hayden Reed Jr. as U.S. District Court Judge for Southern Texas.

The full Senate is expected to clear the nomination in a few days, according to a committee spokeswoman.

Head, 36, has been a partner with Head, Kendrick and Head since 1976. The Sherman, Texas native is a 1968 graduate of the University of Texas Law School.

In hearings earlier this month, Head assured committee members that his relatively brief legal experience would not be a handicap on the bench.

He maintained that he has a strong judicial background: his first four years in private practice was in administrative proceedings and he was a judge advocate in the U.S. Navy from 1969 to 1972.

Also this week, the committee approved the nomination of Jim Nowlin as U.S. District Court Judge for Western Texas.

Nowlin this month told the committee that he would not be an activist judge who would interfere in political matters.

The 42-year-old Nowlin has served in the state legislature for 14 years. A 1963 graduate of the University of Texas Law School, he has a private practice in San Antonio and Austin.

The San Antonio resident told the committee that the death penalty is a "worthwhile deterrent" and should be enforced in "certain extreme cases," such as murder of prison guards, murder with "malice" and treason against the U.S. government.

Firm says new name needed

DALLAS (AP) — If shareholders of First International Bancshares, Inc. agree to a name change, the largest bank holding company in the southwest will soon be known as InterFirst Corp. The firm says a new name is needed to provide an easily recognized banner for the institution made up of 47 subsidiaries.
