CRANE RESIGNS AS POSTMASTER ACCOUNT HEALTH

Requests That Resignation be Made Effective as Soon as Practicable.

Upon the advice of his physician, Dr. A. A. Chapman, R. C. Crane, postmaster of Sweetwater since 1914, has resigned, his resignation to take effect as soon as practicable.

The following telegram, conveying his resignation, was forwarded to the postmaster general at Washington yesterday afternoon by Mr. Crane:

"My family physician, Doctor A. A. Chapman, has just told me my health is such I am on the verge of utter collapse, and that I would soon suffer a serious breakdown unless given complete rest and relief from business cares, which have confined me closely over seven years in office. Upon his recommendation, I ask that you please accept my resignation as Postmaster, effective as soon as practicable."

Mr. Crane was first appointed by Postmaster General Bursleson in March 1914, through the recommendation of the then attorney general, Thomas W. Gregory. He was reappointed in January 1918, his petition to Washington having been signed by all business concerns in this city, specifying that he had given courteous and efficient service. More than 400 citizens of this city signed the petition for re-appointment.

Mr. Crane has always taken an active part in the affairs of Sweetwater. He was mayor for a number of years and is identified with every progressive move. During his administration as postmaster, the office has shown a heavy increase. Satisfactory service has marked his two terms.

The present term of the postmaster does not expire until next January, at which time, according to the rules of the political game, a Republican would have been appointed to the post. After recuperating his health, Mr. Crane may resume the practice of law. Before his appointment he was associated with his nephew, Harry R. Bondies, in practicing law here.

It is generally understood that M. B. Howard, formerly postmaster here, will be appointed in the near future to succeed Mr. Crane.

It is known over this section that Mr. Crane has a most complete law library. He owns the Crane building on West North Second Street, where his office was located several years ago.

Federation of Women's Clubs Close Meeting at Abilene Today

The annual meeting of the sixth districts of Texas Federation of Women's Clubs closes their meeting in Abilene with this evening's session.

The meeting has been largely attended and characterized by perfect harmony and all officers and committeemen being present.

Mrs. E. S. Nobles of San Angelo, District President is presiding over all meetings which are held at Simmons College.

State President, Mrs. Florence C. Floore of Cleburne addressed the Federation yesterday. Mrs. J. D. Sandefer of Abilene, delivered the welcome address to which Mrs. Scott Mack of Ballinger responded. According to reports, this (the Sixth) district won the silk pennant offered by the State Federation for leading in new club organizations in the state, though all districts have made a wonderful growth for the year.

Mrs. Joe Boothe is representing the Sorosis Club at the meeting and Mesdames R. C. Crane, Berry Bowen and A. H. Fortner are attending as visitors. About three hundred ladies are guests of Abilene and many pleasant forms of entertainment are being provided for them. Among which was a special luncheon at noon, yesterday, when the Abilene Lions' Club were their hosts.

Mrs. J. W. Wade has so far recovered from her recent illness, as to be able to sit up a part of the day.

MRS. DUNN GETS 60 YEARS FOR KILLING HUSBAND

Case Most Spectacular Ever Tried in Eastland County.

EASTLAND, Texas, April 29.—One of the longest prison terms ever given to a woman in Texas courts was assessed when the jury in the trial of Mrs. Bell Dora Dunn, charged with the murder of her husband, Will Dunn, returned a verdict of guilty and fixed the punishment at sixty years in the penitentiary.

Counsel for the defense announced after the verdict that a motion would be filed for a new trial. The case was in the Eighty-eighth District Court.

When the jury filed into the courtroom the defendant was not present but soon came. Mrs. Dunn appeared to be composed and the expression on her face did not change in the slightest.

Verdict First Misread
Judge E. A. Hill, under whom the trial was conducted misread the verdict of the jury, reading: "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty as charged and assess her punishment at sixteen years in the penitentiary."

The foreman of the jury corrected the judge who reread the verdict. "We, the jury, find the defendant guilty as charged and assess her punishment at sixty years in the penitentiary."

When the verdict was read, Mrs. Dunn turned and scanned rapidly the faces of the jurymen. Judge Hill thanked the jurymen for their attendance on the court and excused them. As they filed out of the court the brother and sister-in-law of the deceased shook hands with the jury and thanked them for the verdict.

History of Case

The case was one of the most spectacular ever tried in the courts here. Dunn was hit over the head four times with a pole axe. In her confession, signed shortly after the tragedy, Mrs. Dunn stated that she hit him four times and when he ceased to struggle, she pulled back his head and cut his throat with a long barlow knife.

The tragedy occurred in October of 1920. The woman then dressed the body of the man in a blue shirt and overalls, washed the blood from his body and from the floors, proceeded to cook breakfast and to attend to the chores around the house. She then drove several miles to Mangum to the home of her brother-in-law, told him of the killing. Her brother-in-law called in the officers and the woman gave herself up. The next day, in the presence of the county attorney and deputy sheriff she made a written confession, stating that she had killed him because she was afraid he would kill her.

RED WHO STOLE RED CROSS FOOD PUNISHED BY PALS

Officers Unable to Locate Senator Russell Indicted by Eastland Grand Jury

EASTLAND, April 29.—County authorities are unable to locate Senator John A. Russell, former district clerk of this county who was indicted at the last session of the grand jury on eleven counts which allege a shortage of $32,800 in his accounts while he was district clerk.

Senator Russell disappeared about February 15 and it is believed that he went either to Mexico or the Klondike. He left Austin to return to Eastland but never came here. A short time after he left his resignation as senator was mailed to the governor from Eastland and immediately a spirited race arose between Representative Joe Burkett and Rev. Arthur Jones of Eastland for the vacant post. Burkett offered to leave the question of who should make the race to an "arbitration" committee, composed of friends of both men, in order that an Eastland county man would have a chance for the post. Jones offered to leave the issue to a county convention and Burkett refused. Several other men in the district announced that they would run. Then the senate settled the imbroglio by reseating Russell, and he is today officially a member of that body.

Meanwhile the auditors continued to investigate the accounts of Russell's office, and their final report was submitted to that body during its last session. A strict investigation of any shortage was enjoined by Judge Hill, who said an indictment should be returned if the shortage was found and it was believed there had been any fraud in connection with the shortage.

The first hint of a shortage in Russell's accounts appeared on February 25, when County Attorney Dunnam in the name of the governor filed a civil suit for the recovery of $8,185 alleged to be due the state from Russell. Efforts to locate Russell in Austin, where he was supposed to be sitting in the state senate, revealed that he had ceased attendance and there was no clue to where he went or how. Since then, so far as public knowledge of his movements goes, Russell has been unseen by anyone who knows him.

The committee then made the thief strip, although the weather was bitterly cold, formed a long line in the woods, including about 150 men, and made the guilty man run naked 100 times from one end of the line to the other, shouting "I'm a thief."

Discipline in these refugee camps has been excellently maintained, through the orders of Stephen Petrichenko, the 29-year-old sailor who was president of Kronstadt and the leader of the revolt. Yet the Finnish authorities are much worried over their presence in Finland. The Kronstadt men, while opposed to the Communists, are a bit too radical in their views to suit the Finnish authorities, who have had a "red" problem at home for a long time.

This, and the fear that the American Red Cross cannot continue to feed them indefinitely, has caused Finland to consider various means of getting rid of these 8,000 and the 25,000 other Russian refugees who are in the country. The government would like to have the League of Nations take them off its hands.

ROMANCE OF YOUTH ENDS IN HAPPY MARRIAGE

Leo Fowler of this city and Mrs. Maude Powell Smith of Kaufman, were married Wednesday in Kaufman, the pastor of the Methodist church performing the ceremony. This marriage was the culmination of a romance dating back to school days when they were school girl and boy in Sweetwater. They are expected to arrive in the city at some time within the next few days.

FORMER DISTRICT CLERK IS WANTED IN FRAUD CHARGE

Officers Scour City for Boy While He Takes Nap Behind a Trunk

What seemed to be a tragedy for several hours Wednesday was caused by one small boy changing his bed for a nice dark corner behind his mother's trunk to take his afternoon nap.

Little four year old Hansford Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Williams, at Mrs. Myres' home, tired of play in the yard with his little playmate, slipped in his mother's room while she was out and feeling like "nappy time," chose a nice dark corner over behind his mother's trunk, as a more desirable place than his own little bed. A small table near the trunk shut off all view from the corner, and for three hours Master Hansford was in dreamland.

In the meantime—as the funny paper puts it—Mrs. Williams missed her small son and all the inquiries and a thorough search about the house and premises, and all the neighboring homes failed to elicit any information as to his whereabouts. The police were notified and search parties were formed to no better purpose until, someone suggested a search of the house again, where the little fellow was found.

S. D. Gleason, evangelist and lecturer, representing The Volunteers of America, will lecture at the First Methodist church at 8 o'clock Sunday night on the subject of "The Bowery, New York, As I Knew It Forty-five Years Ago, and As It Is Today." He declares that he has seen the darkest spot on this continent changed to one of light by the power of the gospel being carried there by consecrated men and women.

Proper credentials from the organization he represents are carried by Mr. Gleason, who has numerous endorsements, among them one from A. E. Amermann, mayor of Houston, who says that the work is in every way worthy and entitled to the full support of all good people.

No admission will be charged and everybody is welcome. Volunteers, a Christian organization was formed about 25 years ago by Mrs. Maud B. Boothe, who was known in prison circles as "The Little Mother."

He will make a ten-minute talk at the Baptist Church Sunday morning. He says that the association is not connected with any other organization.

LOCAL ARTISTS GIVE SUCCESSFUL CONCERT

The concert given last night at the Christian Church has been pronounced one of the best affairs of its kind given by local talent in a long time in this city.

Miss Henthorne, who is studying grand opera, sang and her wonderful voice held her audience spell bound. She graciously responded to numerous encores. Her notes were clear and sweet and seemed to fill the auditorium with a melody unsurpassed by anything ever heard here.

Mrs. Hutchinson gave especially enjoyable readings with that rare, elusive finish belonging peculiarly to Mrs. Hutchinson's work. The debate was given by Sweetwater's two champion teams. The negative won. Our own wonderful Ted Myers gave numbers on the violin that were encored with enthusiasm.

Miss Ella Brand has returned from a six weeks' visit with friends at Fort Worth, Dallas, Oklahoma City, Ardmore and Marietta, Okla. She reports delightful visits at each place.

THEY ARE STILL THROWING TEA OVERBOARD

Division of the state of Texas, long advocated by thousands of West Texans with the best interest of the West at heart, is beginning to be accepted by others, only reluctantly after watching and waiting for many years during which time East Texas politicians have run the affairs of the state to their own liking and left West Texas with plenty of taxation and very little representation to like their ways or not.—Floydada Hesperian.

This condition shall not obtain indefinitely, Brother Hesperian. All citizens of West Texas (except those with blonde livers) have decided to get justice and get it quick.

The Detroit Federation of Labor has started an investigation into the honeymoon of Samuel Gompers, charging that he and his bride stayed in a "open shop" hotel, ate meals prepared by non-union cooks and happens investigations may bring to light the fact that the bridal couple wore non-union clothes, attended non-union theatres and otherwise conducted themselves contrary to the rules of form prescribed for honeymoons by organized labor. Imagine the consternation this will cause in union circles if it should become known that they were married by a non-union clergyman.

Now that night aerial mail service has been established it must be understood that midnight flyers and other owls are to keep out of the established air lines. If the heavens are to be cluttered up with joy riders a Mercury with a regular beat is liable to be bothered. People have had a lot of merry conversation about the possible need of an aerial traffic cop, says Los Angeles Times, but he may be quite important when itinerant flyers get to speeding up along the Milky Way or interfere with the transportation of Uncle Sam's mail.

A prominent feminist answers the question: Why is it that the men have been the great poets? Because, she declares, it was the boys who were given a classical education; they were steeped in Homer and Horace; the girls were given "Curfew Shall Not Ring Tonight."

The next war, it is said by experts, will be fought in the air, and already its horrors and immensely increased destructiveness are being described in detail. We are getting a long way from the war that was paradoxically fought to produce lasting world peace.

The time to begin the fight against the mosquito plague is now. One of the most efficient measures to be employed is proper drainage to eliminate the breeding places of these carriers of disease, to say nothing of annoyance due to their stings.

We are still of the opinion that the United States should take Germany's offer to pay her debts to the Allies through the United States. An account against Germany is about as safe as against most of the nations, owing the United States.

How can we mortals get by when the biggest corporation, the Shipping Board, has to draw continually on the United States treasury for funds with which to function?

Spring is here. When thoughts turn to love and young onions.

T. G. MARKS TO HOLD FARMERS INSTITUTE; TO SPEAK HERE MAY 7

Special to Reporter
AUSTIN, Texas, April 28.—T. G. Marks, representing the State Department of Agriculture, will hold Farmers' Institutes at the following places on the dates mentioned below: Sweetwater, Saturday, May 7, 2 p. m. Maryneal, Monday, May 9, 2 p. m. Blackwell, Tuesday, May 10, 2 p. m. Robert Lee, Wednesday, May 11, 2 p. m. Bronte, Wednesday, May 11, 8 p. m. Ft. Chadbourne, Thurs, May 12, 2 p. m. Miles, Friday, May 13, 2 p. m. Ballinger, Saturday, May 14, 2 p. m. Mr. Marks is a good speaker, and every farmer and business man should hear him, and join the movement for a reduction of the cotton acreage, according to George B. Terrell, commissioner of Agriculture.

"To control the price, we must control the supply and to control the supply, we must reduce the acreage. All agricultural organizations are cordially requested to come and take part in these meetings. The County Superintendents, the Teachers of schools are requested to announce same. We especially request the press to publish an announcement of the above dates," says J. W. Neill, director of the institute.

Taking daring risks in motion pictures are commonplace to the veteran Hobart Bosworth. However, the confidence with which he performs his under-water feats in "Below the Surface," showing at the Lyric Theater today might have been shaken a little had he known something of the history of the diving suit he wears in the picture.

When Thomas H. Ince, the producer, was just starting the film, "Below the Surface," a certain live-wire young man approached Hobart Bosworth and proffered him the use of a brand new diving suit, explaining that he represented the manufacturers of the device. After a hurried examination of the suit, the star agreed to use it—and did. The young man was an interested spectator while the under water episodes were being shot. When the film was finished and Mr. Bosworth returned the suit to him the youth thanked the star and said, "You've done us a big favor. This is a new type of suit and we could n't get a soul to go down in it out at the factory and make a test. It didn't look good enough to the regular testers."

AMERICAN FORCES ON THE RHINE BEGIN BIG PROGRAM OF MANOEUVERS FOR SPRING

COBLENZ, April 28.—If Americans at home imagine that the life of the soldiers composing the American Army of Occupation on the Rhine is one of idleness they will be a long way from the truth.

The little fighting force of 10,000 men has to be kept hard, trained and ready for quick action, and that means work—eight hours of it a day at drill, study, target practice or manoeuvres, for it is the purpose of the General Staff here to maintain union hours.

Most of the American doughboy's eight-hour day is spent in drill which occupies from three to five hours daily, varying according to the circumstances and needs of the different units.

A visitor to this American community transplanted into the center of Europe would find the American boys just now preparing for a Summer of grim war manoeuvres, for the open training season has just commenced and will continue until October 31.

The regular target season, which is now in full swing, will last until July 31. It is being held on the target ground ranges built by the Germans a few miles east of the fortress of Ehrenbretstein. It includes known distance practices, combat firing and company proficiency tests.

Problems, terrain exercises and manoeuvres including night operations and combats in woods for units up to and including a company are also part of the day's work.

Field work for the battalion will commence as soon as battalions have completed all firing.

The second period, from August 1 to September 15 will include, battalion, regimental and brigade manoeuvres and terrain exercises. During this period, one week for each brigade will be reserved for battalion combat problems with live ammunition and in conjunction with auxiliary arms. As General Allen puts it: "We do everything that is done in war except kill men." During this period, units will be required to carry out exercises involving movements on short notice to distant locations, followed by the occupation or attack of positions.

The third period from September 15 to September 30 will be taken by manoeuvres of the full Army of Occupation and the result expected at the close of the period is through preparation for war of the American Forces in Germany.

About 50 soldiers to each company were permitted to employ three hours of their eight-hour day to the pursuit of these studies but from now on, all will be suspended and it will be war manoeuvres for the American soldier. With the schedule enumerated above, it will be seen that he has his work cut out for him until October 31.

At the conclusion of the work hour the hostess served a most tempting two course luncheon; assisting were Misses Wilda and Louise Drago.

Drys of Nation Called Upon To Seal Leak in The National Beer Keg

WASHINGTON, April 29.—Characterizing the forthcoming new beer regulations, as a break in the dyke of prohibition, Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, issued a call for the dries of the nation to seal the break.

"These beer regulations merely help the drinker to get beer for beverage purposes by getting a physician to certify to an imaginary illness," said Wheeler. "All the medical prop-

"It's all a fake and its up to the friends of prohibition to uphold the principle for which we have fought for so many years."

Four major measures touching on the liquor question are now before Congress. One bill seeks the repeal of the Volstead act; another is the new Volstead act to prohibit the prescribing of beer for medicinal purposes and tightening the liquor regulations. A third bill would give American ships the right to carry liquor for sale when out of the three mile zone and a fourth bill would transfer the prohibition enforcement department to the Attorney General's office.

SWATTERS TAKE ANOTHER 6 TO 3

The Swatters won a brilliantly contested game from Cisco yesterday by the score of 6 to 3, the game going ten innings. Dare Baldrige pitched a wonderful game and each of the Sweetwater players played his part in the victory.

The score stood three to one in favor of the Swatters in the ninth, when Lyall for Cisco knocked out a triple with two men on, which tied the score.

Errors on the part of Halslip and Westfall of Cisco gave the Swatters a 3 score lead in the tenth. Jimmie Thrash played a wonderful game for Cisco. The attendance was poor.

MOVE ON FOOT TO OPEN BALL GAMES AT 3 O'CLOCK

It has been suggested that ball games played here start at 3 p. m. instead of 4. Sentiment seems to be pretty evenly divided, however, as one hour is too early for some while others say that four o'clock is too late.

An effort is being made to try out the 3 o'clock time for opening next week.

FIVE MILLIONS TO LEND STOCK RAISERS ASKED

WASHINGTON, April 29—Under the terms of a bill introduced today by representative Hudspeth of El Paso, the Secretary of the Treasury is authorized to create a livestock fund having a maximum of $5,000,000, which will be available for loans on cattle and other livestock.

Under the law, as it now stands, a national bank may not loan more than twenty-five per cent of its capital and surplus on agricultural loans which include livestock and these may run for but six months.

Furthermore, the present day law stipulates that loans may be made on cattle only when such cattle are fully insured and Hudspeth's bill would remove or greatly modify these requirements. The section of the bill providing for the creation of the livestock loan fund is as follows:

"Immediately on the taking of effect of this act, the Secretary of the Treasury shall return to the several Federal Reserve Banks the net earnings of such banks for the year 1920 for the purpose of creating a special fund in each of said banks which shall be designated and known

You Can't Get Steak And Milk From The Same Cow! Germany

(Associated Press)

COBLENZ, April 29.—America's representation on the Interallied Rhineland Commission, while described as unofficial, wields as much influence in a consultative capacity upon the decisions of the commission or when unable to be present is tried officially represented, according to Mr. Roly-Jacquemyns, Belgian High Commissioner on the Rhine.

General Allen, acting in his dual capacity of Commander of the American Forces in Germany and representative of the Department of State attends every sitting of the commission or when unable to be present, is represented by Colonel Stone of Mississippi.

No decisions were taken without having first been submitted to the American representatives and in many cases American suggestions have been acted upon and have caused agreements to be reached when it seemed as if a hopeless deadlock was to be feared.

Lately when the question of the application of the new customs regime in the occupied zone decided upon at the London conference on March 3 was discussed, the British and the French points of view were very far apart.

The discussion had been some what acrimonious and General Allen while not endorsing unreservedly proposed a medium solution. To the French who were advocating the sternest measures, he said: "You can't get both steak and milk from the same cow."

To the British he demonstrated that better results could be obtained by adopting another course and after a few hours of discussion upon details of execution the commission drafted its report which was sent to the Council of Ambassadors the next day.

The American viewpoint upon a momentous question of penalties was adopted.

It is the consensus of opinion among delegations to the Rhineland Commission that America's participation in the deliberations of the commission had a restraining influence upon extremists in both French and German officialdom.

Hereford Grain Farmers Join Compulsory Pool

HEREFORD, Texas, April 29.—The farmers of Hereford, Texas, met with E. M. McCracken and A. Slaughter, officials of The National Wheat Growers Association with thirty new members signing their 1921 wheat crop to be sold in the compulsory pool of the association.

A large crowd of farmers listened to Mr. Slaughter, national organizer and Mr. McCracken explain the contract. The expressed sentiment of the farmers was that the association had the only plan that they had ever heard of that offered any relief for the farmer from the present unjust marketing system and organized grain trade. Great interest was taken, many more expressed their desire to join the forces of justice and fair prices.

Apartments Unpopular For Turkish Harems; Women Like Privacy

(Associated Press)

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 29.—The Turkish harem is quickly passing as a part of the Turkish home. Poverty and the need of house room are the causes.

The Turkish pashas, effendis, beys and all the well-to-do of other days whose homes were divided into the harem and the haremlik, that is, one half of a mansion or palace for the women and the other for the men, are parting with this luxury as they have parted with their carriages, horses, jewels and lands. The peasants still keep a division of their houses for the privacy of their wives and daughters and children.

Many Turkish women deplore the necessity which compels them to live like the "poor European." They declare that they were happier when living apart, that the home was easier to manage and their husbands, too.

In Constantinople the majority of the private houses show this division, but the chance to rent one side of the house, or else the requisition of Allied troops, has caused families to live together in only one half of their home.

Foreigners are getting for the first time a peep into the more aristocratic of these old homes, until now hidden in the mystery of protecting garden walls, latticed windows and huge gates or doorways. The visit often reveals a charming interior, with room walls and ceilings decorated with fresco paintings and mosaics showing charming view of mosques, mountains, seas, forests, or rivers of the old empire.
