STINNES ACQUIRING BIG GERMAN FLEET

Building of 3,000-Ton Ships Is For Purpose of Stealing Russian Trade.

A FORCE IN OCEAN TRAFFIC

Will Have Strategic Position When Red Commerce Opens to Outside World.

BY MILTON BRONNER.

BERLIN, July 4.—One day the captain of a Swedish passenger vessel plying between Sweden and Germany said to a German passenger: "Who is that poor sea-sick fellow? He looks as if he might die before he landed in Sweden."

"He may be very ill," said the passenger, "but he won't die of it. What's more he will probably buy a hunk of Sweden as soon as he lands and has had a reviving cup of black coffee. And, by the way, he is a ship owner himself."

"He may be a ship owner," said the captain, "but he looks like a landsman and he is certainly a bad seaman."

The hero of this little anecdote is Germany's greatest business man—Hugo Stinnes. The Swede was absolutely accurate. Stinnes is a landsman and a bad sailor, but the thirst for ships is in his blood and he is rapidly coming to the fore as a new force in Germany's once more expanding and reviving mercantile marine.

Owens River Craft.
Long ago he was one of the chief owners of German river craft. In fact, the Stinnes family has been associated with this business for about two centuries. And, however widespread have become the interests of Hugo Stinnes, he has never forgotten the family fortunes were started by transporting things on German rivers.

If you sit on a fine May morning on the terrace of a Dresden hotel and glance at the Elbe river below, your attention will soon be attracted to a sturdy tug pulling up stream a long line of barges, each heavily laden with coal. Somewhere you will see the magic name "Stinnes."

Or go over to Coblenz where a few of our doughboys are still keeping watch on the Rhine and the Moselle rivers and once more you will see steamers, tugs and barges bearing the Stinnes name. This, in spite of the fact that under the peace treaty a large number of German river craft were surrendered to France and Belgium.

Boys Ocean Shipping.

But important and money-making as these river lines are for Stinnes, he long ago began to turn his attention to the greater possibilities of ocean traffic. During the first half of the war he bought a large block of stock in the German East African and the Woermann lines. Later he obtained a big interest in the Deutsche Werft, a concern of Hamburg which builds ships. Another which fell into his all-embracing net was the Hamburg Verkehr's Corporation, which is not only interested in shipping but owns hotels in Hamburg, Berlin and Frankfurt-on-the-Main. Furthermore it is interested in German seaside resorts like Travemunde and has vessels that carry excursionists there. At Flensburg Stinnes has a company whose swift small ships ply the Baltic.

Within the past two years he formed the Hugo Stinnes lines and this new concern was the cause of one of the deepest humiliations of his business career. Stinnes owned a considerable block of stock in the once great Hamburg-American Steamship Company and was made a director. The concern, beginning to recuperate from the paralysis caused by the war and the loss of its biggest and best ships, was preparing to resume active steamship service between Hamburg and South America. The latter has always been a favorite field for German exploitation and German business firms have many friends there.

Stinnes Is Humiliated.

Imagine the surprise of the managing directors, therefore, when one fine morning as they sipped their coffee and perused the Hamburg papers, their eyes were claimed by a glaring advertisement in which the Hugo Stinnes lines announced the inauguration of a regular service between Hamburg and Buenos Aires.

For a fellow director to steal a march on them like that wasn't considered "clubby." There was an immediate conclave and Stinnes, the millionaire in German marks, was flung out on his ear. Not, of course, literally and physically. But his name ceased to adorn the board of directors of the

FAMILY RE-UNION

Thirty-three Members Of McBurnett Family Met At Home Of Mrs. S. S. Watts

Thirty-three members of the McBurnett family met in a reunion Sunday at the home of Mrs. S. S. Watts south of Roscoe including the sons and daughters and "in-laws" of the late Mrs. George McBurnett whose funeral occurred at Roscoe Saturday morning. Her death of course being the occasion for the meeting of her sons and daughters, all of whom were present, with some of their wives and husbands.

They were joined Sunday by nieces and their families living in this vicinity until the party numbered thirty three.

While the occasion of the meeting was sad, it was a pleasure for so many relatives, so widely separated to spend one day together. Mrs. L. C. Tatum, a niece of Mrs. McBurnett, and her family from Sweetwater were present; Mr. and Mrs. Val Forrester another niece and her family of Roscoe; daughters besides Mrs. Watts, were Mrs. Mary Richards two sons and one daughter of Big Spring; Mrs. Hattie Lay of Fort Worth; and the sons were W. H. McBurnett, wife and family of Ada; James McBurnett of Arkansas and A. M. McBurnett of Brownfield.

The remainder of the thirty three relatives were those who lived near the old home.

Those who lived at a distance left for their respective home Sunday evening and Monday morning.

ABSENTEES MAY VOTE

Must File Poll Tax Receipt And Vote With County Clerk Before Leaving

Numerous inquiries have been made regarding the absentee vote at the July primaries. Many people are contemplating excursions and vacations and find their schedule interfered with by the primaries, that is, if they are desirous of voting. This matter may be straightened out, as outlined by Judge H. C. Hord as follows: Democratic Voters please take notice. Any such voter leaving Nolan County at any time between this date and the 19th day of July 1922, and who will be out of the County on July 22nd; may vote before leaving by going to the County Clerk's office taking his or her poll tax receipt and leaving it with the Clerk or making affidavit to his loss, if it is lost.

Also, any Democratic voter resident in any other County in Texas can vote between this date and the 12th day of July through a Notary Public of Nolan County, provided said voter expects to remain here until that date or until a ballot can be secured from the County Clerk of the County of said voter's residence. Such persons are advised to see H. C. Hord, County Chairman who is also a Notary Public he will fix you up.

BOY SCOUTS HIKE

The Boy Scouts who hiked out north of City Lake Friday evening report the best time ever.

The feat of cooking their own supper developed the fact that no matter where they go there will be plenty of "cookies present."

Scout Masters, McLaurin and Arnold Dressler made explanatory talks to the boys regarding their proposed camping trip scheduled to begin July 24 and continue a week.

They will likely go to a place on Oak Creek near Blackwell, which would be an ideal place for such an outing.

Those who made up Fridays party besides Scout Masters McLaurin and Dressler were Armond Castevens Del Cox, Sam Crutcher, Lige Cutbirth Jr., Albert Dyson, John Bledsoe, Carl Knox, Holland Mitchell, Sam Morrow, Gregory Morony, Ralph Shaffer, Bailey Thomas and three others whose names could not be obtained.

"Spirit of '76" Began As A Cartoon

(BY DR. WILLIAM E. BARTON.)

When Archibald M. Willard set out to make a picture of a fife and two drummers as a recognition of the Centennial of American Independence, he had no thought that he was setting his foot upon the threshold of fame.

He meant to add another to his long list of humorous pictures.

But he painted the most popular patriotic picture that America has ever known.

"The spirit of '76."

Willard A Soldier.

Willard had always liked to draw. In his boyhood days, no fence was sacred to him. As a soldier in the Civil War he made sketches and sent them back to the folks at home.

After the war he established himself at Wellington, O., as a painter in a carriage manufactory.

Those were the days of the chromo, and Willard proceeded to make many pictures, which were reproduced by J.

F. Ryder, a Cleveland art dealer and sold to their mutual profit.

Real Characters.

The Centennial year was approaching, and Willard undertook what he hoped would be his most popular humorous picture, a burlesque on the old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration.

He had his characters near at hand. His fife was Hugh Mosher, a soldier of the Civil War; the boy drummer was Harry Devereaux, of Cleveland, or the central figure, Willard got his father to pose.

The old preacher was himself nothing less than heroic. He was tall and grim and of Revolutionary blood, and he imparted to the picture something which from the first made it difficult to treat it in the spirit of the comic.

Starter All Over.

One day, after many attempts to satisfy himself with the humorous picture Willard threw it aside and started anew. He transferred his three musicians from the hay-field and rustic celebration to the battle-field. Then every suggestion of the comic vanished.

His father was taken sick, and never recovered. Willard worked by day on his painting and by night watched beside his father; and every day he put more of his father's character into the face and figure of the old man.

The painting was completed, and exhibited at Philadelphia. He called it "Yankee Doodle." But the people renamed it, "The Spirit of '76." It made Willard famous as the foremost American patriotic painter. It put wagon-painting far behind him.

It did not occur to Willard when he made his famous painting that the three characters in it might be taken for son, father and grandfather, but other people were quick to think of it, and Willard liked the idea, though he told me it was one he borrowed from the lovers of the picture, and not his original thought.

Willard died in Cleveland in 1918, and is buried in Wellington, where he painted wagons and rose to fame.

She has just returned from a month's visit in Tennessee, with her cousin, Miss Ethel Bradley. All of these young ladies are members of the Sweetwater School faculty but Misses Green and Ola Davis.

J. H. POSEY RETURNS

J. H. Posey, proprietor of the Posey Mattress factory, and family have returned from a weeks visit with Homer Posey in Oklahoma.

A NEW S. S. PLAN

The Sunday School heads of the Newman Community have adopted a new plan to suit the three denominations represented in the community by agreeing to use Sunday school literature gotten out by the three churches, Methodist, Baptist, and Christian, alternate quarters. Heretofore they have been using Methodist literature exclusively and it was thought the new plan would be more satisfactory and all agreed to give it a trial.

THEY MADE YOU FREE.

One hundred and forty-five years ago this Fourth of July, a group of "down-east Yankees" put their heads in a noose by signing the Declaration of Independence.

That document gave birth to the United States. It forever ended rule of Americans by kings. To it you owe your political independence and republican self-government.

When the Declaration of Independence was signed, July 4, 1776, the battles of Lexington, Concord and Bunker Hill had been fought and Washington had taken charge of the Continental Army.

With that much of a start toward independence, it would seem that the Declaration would have gone through speedily.

But Congress was nearly as slow in those days as now.

The first resolution of independence was introduced June 7 by Richard Henry Lee, of Virginia. It was debated, referred to committee, and nearly a month went by before it was adopted.

As with all big questions, the public was divided.

John Adams, who for two years had been boldly advocating independence, wrote: "I was avoided like a man infected with leprosy, and walked the streets of Philadelphia in solitude, borne down by the weight of care and unpopularity."

Of the delegates from the 13 original colonies, those from New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Delaware and South Carolina were at first opposed to severing British rule.

Thomas Jefferson arrived in Philadelphia and was delegated to write the formal Declaration of Independence.

He went about it leisurely—rented a room on a second floor in a quiet neighborhood and had a carpenter make him a special desk three feet high and 14x19 inches on top. On this table, he penned the Declaration, probably with his collar off, for that June was hot.

The document came within an ace of going into the waste basket. Jefferson was gloomy as it was debated. Benjamin Franklin sat at his elbow and tried to cheer him up with funny stories.

Meantime, the public, cursing Congressional delay, melted up lead plate into bullets and shot their way toward freedom.

July 2, not the Glorious Fourth, is really Independence Day for Lee's resolution severing us from England was passed in secret session the second of July. Jefferson's elaborate and formal document was passed and signed two-days later, and was not made public until the sixth.

The date doesn't make much difference.

What really counts is the Declaration's great principles of individual freedom. The best comment was written July 3, 1776, by John Adams and his wife:

"The second day of July will be the most memorable epoch in the history of America. I am apt to believe that it will be celebrated by succeeding generations as the great anniversary festival. It ought to be commemorated as the day of deliverance, by solemn acts of devotion to God Almighty. It ought to be solemnized with pomp and parades and shows, games, sports, guns, bells, bonfires and illuminations, from one end of this continent to the other, from this time forward forevermore."

POULTRY THE HOPE OF TEXAS FARMER

Specialist Advocates Stamping Out Scrub Stock in Showing Possibilities of Industry.

ATTRACTIVE PRODUCT DESIRED

Census Reveals Extent and Value of Chicken Business—Mexico a Potential Market.

"More and better poultry for Texas" and a thorough and systematic stamping out of the scrub chicken forms the basis of an article by Miss Myrtle Murray, poultry specialist of A. & M. College, in the Extension Service Farm News. Declaring that the poultry industry is the hope of Texas agriculture, particularly West Texas, Miss Murray says that standardization of both poultry and poultry products is needed.

"Just so long as we have the Duke's mixture, just that long will we have a variation of sizes, shapes and colors of eggs," she says.

"The egg that brings the best price is the egg that is uniform in size, shape and color. The egg itself should not only be attractive, but it should be put up in attractive containers. Standardization of breed would mean much to the poultry industry."

"Not only is an attractive product desirable, but a product that will keep is absolutely necessary. The infertile egg will keep indefinitely. Texas loses annually about $1,250,000 on fertile eggs from May until October. The male bird is not needed on the yard except during the breeding season. To produce infertile eggs during the season means the death of thousands of roosters. It also means a saving of bushels of feed, in addition to the amount of money saved by the production of eggs that will keep, because the demands for poultry and poultry products are still on the increase.

Now a Man's Sized Job.
"There was a time when the chicken business was a woman's job," Miss Murray asserts. "A woman with both a weak back and a strong mind could easily manage it. That was when we raised chickens and not poultry. Chickens are small creatures covered with various colored feathers which contain still a greater variety of tones and hues that live in back yards and abandoned back lots. They depend on 'swip-in' a bite here and there for their food because she does not produce enough to pay for her feed. Poultry is a bird that has been bred for certain color or combination of colors that the Divine Being designed for that particular type of bird.

"Every bird of the entire flock is so near alike that you can not tell at which bird you are looking. She is so constructed that she not only produces enough eggs to defray the expenses of herself but she bears her part of the upkeep of the family. She has become a real business hen and oftentimes assists materially in paying off mortgages and sending children to school.

"The poultry industry has been growing by leaps and bounds the last ten years. According to the United States census bureau in 1919 there were 12,719,572 fowls in Texas ranking sixth among the forty-eight states. In 1920 the number of chickens had increased to 18,062,744, the State moving up to fifth place in importance.

Hen a Billionaire.
"Nationally speaking the hen is a billionaire. The poultry industry in Texas is of much greater value than many of us realize. It overtakes dairying according to the United States census bureau of 1920.

"The value of poultry products produced in this State was $38,190,568. It equals the combined value of swine and wool.

"While the Texas hens lay enough eggs in one year to reach around the world at the equator and start on the second lap with only 19,000 miles to go, she has not yet produced enough to supply the needs of Texas consumers. Her efforts would pave a road sixteen feet wide from the Gulf of Mexico to the Red River, and allow 65,000,000 eggs for breakage and careless handling, yet she does not do enough. We must have more hens and better ones.

Coal Storage Plants Needed.
"It is true that many carloads of eggs are shipped into other States. But it is also true that we buy these same eggs in their cold storage condition, at fancy prices later on. This suggests the advisability of the establishment of a few cold storage plants and a saving of freight to both producers and consumers.

"There are 435,633 farms in Texas, 60,000 of which have no poultry at all. The average farm has about 58 birds. Every farm should have from 100 to 200 good standard-bred-to-lay hens. At a very conservative estimate each hen will produce a net profit of $2.00. This alone would make the eggs worth $35,125,485. The average hen in Texas produces about 61 eggs per year while it takes an average of 100 eggs to pay the expense of a hen.

"These figures do not apply to the hen on the range which receives but little attention, for as producers they rank lowest. They do their own foraging a large portion of the year. Such poultry may be classed as neither profitable nor unduly expensive."

In speaking of pre-war and after war condition Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Dr. Ball, says, "Poultry showed an actual increase in purchasing power, while all other farm crops except buckwheat showed decreases." According to the Federal Crop Reporter the prices of chickens are 67 per cent above the five year pre-war average; eggs are 73 per cent higher.

"There has been no material slump in poultry and egg prices in spite of the fact that the hen has continued on the job every day in the year. Instead, there has been an increase in production and consumption of both eggs and poultry.

"Mexico furnishes an attractive outlet for the poultry market in Texas. Reports and data obtained at the port of Laredo indicate that during the period from January, 1921, to September, 1921, 3,947,907 dozens of eggs passed through into Mexico City through that port. As there are a number of points of entry in Texas, New Mexico and Arizona, the total business of all the places is great. During the same period 5,957,247 bushels of corn, 811,141 bushels of wheat passed through Laredo. Those figures are given to indicate the importance of the relationship of the poultry industry in this State and Mexico.

"The greater part of the poultry and poultry products used in Mexico are bought in the United States. Previous to the Revolution, poultry shows were regularly held in all the largest cities. At these places active poultry associations fostered the industry. At present considerable interest is being aroused to revive these shows.

"The National school of Agriculture at Mexico City is devoting much time to agriculture. Good breeding

WILL RETIRE NOTES EARLY.

Maxwell Corporation in Healthy Condition—Settles $1,000,000.00. Further indication of the healthy condition of the Maxwell Motor Corporation is given in an announcement just issued to the holders of its outstanding Seven Per Cent Gold Notes, Series "B." In this announcement, the corporation invites tenders for the immediate sale to it of these notes to an aggregate amount of $1,000,000. The maturity date of the notes is June 1, 1922.

This step to retire the notes almost a year before their maturity is strictly in line, it is said, with the Maxwell's getting in March when it retired upwards of $1,000,000 of Series "A" Gold Notes from 60 to 75 days before their maturity.

The corporation advises that the tenders for the sale of the Series "B" notes must be delivered to B. E. Hutchison, Vice President and Treasurer of the corporation, at its Detroit office before noon on Wednesday, July 5, 1922, and must be firm for acceptance until the close of business July 2, 1922.

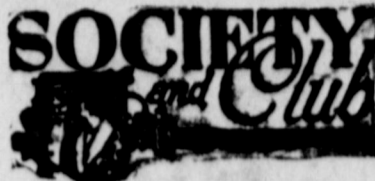

The tenders must also state the serial numbers and face amount of each note offered; the name in which the note stands if registered, and the name and address of the owner—the corporation, of course, reserving the right to accept of reject any and all tenders.

"The gradually increasing ratio of our current assets, as compared with our current liabilities, and the quick surplus thereby available enable us to take this action at this time—if the tenders are presented on an equitable basis," says Wm. Robt. Wilson, President of the corporation, "credit for which should go largely to the executives of our various departments who have made it possible for us to reduce operating costs and expenses to the minimum without sacrificing any part of the quality of our product."—Adv.

HISTORY OF NAZARENE CHURCH

A continuation of a series of articles giving a history of the different church organizations in Sweetwater.

The Nazarene Church was organized in this city with a list of thirty-nine charter members about two years ago. For sometime the little band held their church service at the homes of the members.

Last fall it was decided to tear down the old Nazarene church building which has stood for several years four miles north of Roscoe an move it to Sweetwater. This has been done and the building is nearing completion together with a home for the resident pastor on the church lots on Crane and W. N. 3rd streets. Rev. W. B. Howard is the pastor of the church and assisted by a visiting evangelist, conducted a successful revival at the church early in the spring.

The Nazarene Church is the result of a movement begun in New York City in the year 1854 when a mission was founded and called "Utica Avenue Pentecostal Tabernacle." Later the mission was organized into a church with a membership of 25. These churches were organized in that year and 1895 were formally organized into an "Association of Pentecostal Churches of America."

It was not until October of that year that the Nazarene church was formerly organized at Los Angeles, California, with 135 charter members. The union of the Pentecostal and Nazarene churches took place at Chicago on October 1907, and a rapid growth has marked the churches progress ever since, according to Rev. Howard, the local pastor. They sent out 35 missionaries to foreign fields last year. The church now numbers over 4,900 congregations in the United States. In many respects the Nazarene church is a revival of the Wesleyan movement of 1700 especially in regard to the use of it.

NOTICE TO PUBLIC GENERALLY.

Asks Co-Operation Of Sweetwater And Vicinity In Regard To Band.

Bandmaster Leavell of the Sweetwater Band desires to build the present band membership up to fifty pieces, and in order to accomplish this trying task it will take some time in starting out with raw recruits for the organization.

Prof. Leavell has offered to give free instruction to those who desire to become members of the band and work on up to where they can play with the old band. He wants to make the largest Class A band in West Texas by the time the 1923 West Texas Chamber of Commerce Convention is held in San Angelo next year. It is a desire to enter the Band Contest in that city and walk away with the $1,000 prize for having the best band at the Convention.

Five saxophones, five clarinets, five trombones, two baritone, four melophones or alto, two tuba, or basses, two more drummers, four cornets, two French horns, two bassoons, and one kettle drummer, two assemble players and one bell player are very much desired. The present band can enter the contest without further membership being added, but the desire is to organize the largest band in the west here in Sweetwater, and gain a statewide reputation; one which will be in demand all over the country on special occasions. Some of the best musical talent to be found anywhere is located in Sweetwater and vicinity, and if the proper co-operation is extended, no trouble will be entertained in establishing the largest brass band

In this city west of the Mississippi. If you know of a person, or persons, who would like to become members of the Sweetwater Band, you are urged to inform them to go to the City Hall in Sweetwater on Monday or Thursday nights and consult the management in regards to becoming a member. Any and all are given a cordial and urgent welcome to enlist with the local organization just as soon as practicable, the quicker the better. Take up either of the instruments above listed desired.

THE FRIEND OF SINNERS

Their scribes and Pharisees murmured against his disciples, saying, Why do ye eat and drink with publicans and sinners? And Jesus answering said unto them, They that are whole need not a physician; but they that are sick, I came not to call the righteous but sinners to repentance.—Luke 5: 30-32.

WEST TEXAS NOTES

Dragged To Death—Lee Williams, who lives near Midland, was found dead with his hand caught in a rope which was attached to the saddlehorn, when his horse was found standing near one of the gates on his ranch. He had left for work in the morning with instructions to get back by noon and when he failed to arrive, a search was instituted. From all evidences, his hand had become caught in the coiled rope and he had been dragged for a long distance. He had been dead several hours when discovered by the search party.

Installs Linotype—The Slaton Station has installed a model 14 Linotype, which makes the equipment of the Slaton office one of the best of the local plants in this section of the country. The biggest part of the straight matter and advertisements are now being set on the machine. Increase of business in the past two years is given as the cause of the addition.—Slaton Stationite.

Gapaz, as the great shipping company is known all over Germany. Stinnes' report was two-fold—he advertised and pushed his South American lines more than ever and he immediately took some of his ever-ready cash and invested it in the North German Lloyd, the great Bremen rival of Hamburg.

It was in connection with his shipping interest that Stinnes got some of the publicity he so much shuns and hates.

There were built for him three new 12,000-ton ships. Stinnes decided to name them Luedendorff, Hindenburg and Tirpitz. As representatives of Germany were then conferring with the allies, the latter took this action of Stinnes as a good sign that Germany was still kaiserist, militarist and unrepentant. Inside Germany many of the Socialist leaders went after Stinnes with a sharp stick.

The whole furore surprised him immensely. A total misreader of popular and political psychology, he had chosen the offensive names for his ships thinking of the men who bore them as persons whom Germany once idolized and imagining the people still did so. When he realized his error, it was too late. But that is about the only mistake that can be charged up to Stinnes in the shipping game. One of his greatest strokes has been to plan two fleets of ships. One is to consist of 12,000-tonners and the other of 3,000-tonners. His experts have advised him that 12,000-ton ships are not only much cheaper than the titanic vessels, are not only run more economically, but ton for ton will perhaps earn more money and give better service than the huge floating hotels.

Has Eye on Russia.

The Stinnes 3000-ton ships are being built for a specific purpose. Stinnes, like every wide-awake German business man, has his eyes on Russia. Some day and not very long off he expects that immense country to be opened once more to the commerce of the world. With the almost total breakdown and ruin of the Russian railways, the main means of transport of goods to and from Russia for some years will be by sea. Stinnes has an entire department of his executive branch here in Berlin devoted to the study of Russia. They are experts on Russia.

Only recently the director of this department returned from a personal visit and reported to his chief that eight years of war, blockade and neglect have put Russian harbors into a terrible state. The big freight ships that America and England have will probably not be able to negotiate those harbors. But where they fail, the Stinnes 3000-tonners will glide in like ducks on a mill pond. So will the Stinnes tankers built at Kiel.

Already Stinnes' ships are busy at work feeding other branches of the Stinnes business. They bring iron ore from Sweden and timber from Finland. Thus they fetch raw material for Stinnes' blast furnaces and Stinnes' paper, pulp and cellulose mills. And they carry back to Sweden and Finland, from Stinnes' mills, some of the manufactured materials those countries

Oklahoman Praises Black-Draught, Having Used It "Can Safely Say for 50 Years."

Grandfield, Okla.—One of the best known farmers of Tillman County, Mr. G. W. Tisdale, who owns and manages a wagon yard here, says:

"I have used Theford's Black-Draught—I believe I can safely say for fifty years.

"I was born and reared in Texas, Freestone County, sixty-four years ago. I have been married forty-four years. My father used Black-Draught before I was married, and gave it to us. . . . "For forty-four years of my married life, it has had a place on our medicine shelf, and is the only laxative, or liver medicine, we use. We use it for torpid liver, sour stomach, headache, indigestion. . . . I don't think we could get along without it, knowing what it has done for us, and the money it has saved. It is just as good and reliable today as it was when we began its use. My boys use it and they are satisfied it's the best liver medicine they have ever used."

Theford's Black-Draught is purely vegetable, not disagreeable to take and acts in a prompt and natural way. So many thousands of persons have been benefited by the use of Theford's Black-Draught, you should have no hesitancy in trying this valuable old well-established remedy, for most liver and stomach disorders. so badly need. As they ply back and forth, these vessels also pass another interesting set of Stinnes' ships. These are mere snappers, but they carry the Stinnes house flag and they are engaged in the very important job of helping to feed Germany. They are the Stinnes herring fleets.

TO THE PUBLIC.

In explanation and answer to the accusations made against me in regard to shortage of cotton in Sweetwater yard, I will say that my office was destroyed by fire. I was first of the impression that a few of the shipping orders were burned. I have since found that these orders were stolen. The tickets detached, the gin and bale numbers erased, and replaced with numbers corresponding with cotton still on hand, thus destroying yard tags. This was showing a sale of these receipts a second time. These records and shipping orders are open for inspection, should any one desire to see them. Number of bales taken from yard was nineteen, amounting to approximately a hundred dollars a bale, most of which belonged to farmers. This I have paid. To do so, I have been forced to mortgage my home. I am not coming to the public with a hard luck story, but am only presenting the facts to you. I will appreciate your support and influence and, if re-elected, will endeavor to show you my appreciation by giving you good service. Respectfully, R. C. SHEPPARD.

SWATTERS SPLIT WITH AMARILLO

Revamped Local Club Loses First Contest 1 To 0 And Take The Second 2 to 1

BREAKS RESPONSIBLE FOR LOSS

Gresett Effective in Second Tilt—Doubleheader Today Starting At 3:15 O'clock

Playing the first of three consecutive doubleheaders in as many days with the Amarillo Gassers, champions of the first half, the revamped Swatters divided with the colorful visitors, losing the first affair by the lowest possible score and copping the abbreviated contest by a two-to-one count.

The second game was to be a seven inning battle by agreement, but an extra round was necessary on account of a tie score. Both games were bitterly fought, well played and intensely interesting from beginning to end. It was a case of "Greek meet Greek" no odds were asked nor given and the fortunate fans who witnessed those two struggles will be arguing pro and con long after the present season has waned.

Brooks opposed the veteran Roy Morton in the first setto and both pitched wonderful ball, the latter getting the breaks at a very critical stage.

After Fitzgerald opened the sixth inning by whiffing, Johnson singled to left but was forced a moment later when Badger tapped to Brooks. Brooks heaved to Bupp who relayed the ball to Pipkin in ample time to complete a double play but Freddie dropped the ball and the former Broncho hurler was given a life. He promptly pitched second and scored the only run of the game when Chaney doubled to left. Brooks deserved a far better fate, but after all, it is the very uncertainty of baseball that makes it the most popular of sports and, too, the breaks will even up in the long run. The locals accumulated nine healthy swats off Morton, but he was invincible in the pitches and really was never in serious danger.

Charlie Gresett, the sterling right-hander, had the Gassers eating out of hand the second struggle and but for a mixup on an easy fly ball in the third, would have scored a shut out. Douglas hit a high fly directly behind second base and both Frierson and Shell attempted to make the catch with the result that a near dangerous collision spoiled the beans for Smiling Charlie. While Frierson and Shell were having their tete a tete the bustling Douglas legged it all the way to third and scored on Comstock's screaming two-bagger down the right field line.

The locals evened the count in their half of the fourth. Brick Mason led off with a two-play wallop over third, a tantalizing fly that curved away from Douglas. Frierson popped out to Chaney. With Hornsby at bat, somebody missed a squeeze signal, but Johnson obligingly hit Pepper in the cocoa, the ball rolling just far enough to allow Mason to trot joyously home. Currin ended the inning by hitting into a double play, Douglas to Meador to Johnson.

The winning run was made in the eighth spasm. Mayhew fanned, but Shell was credited with a two sacker when his fly back of third fell safe. Bupp heard the plea of the mob and responded with a ringing single to right. Badger, after fumbling the ball, shot it home in time to nick the fleeing Shell but Big Bill Byers played finger billiards with the horseshoe and Shell's slide safely across the old home town plate was the end of a perfect day.

The same clubs will play a double-header today, the first game beginning promptly at 3:15.

SWATTER NOTES BY "Humpy."

"Give me a capable backstop and I'll finish one-two," said Manager Smith just after the matinee. How about Tony Whitney?

Frierson and Hornsby covered acres of ground in both contests. Johnny went miles for Chaney's long wallop and Pepper Box snagged liners like a French maid picking grapes.

Mayhew, while not rattling any boards, looks every inch a ball player and will bear watching. He takes a healthy cut at that old adage and appears to be a young man who attends strictly to the business of winning ball games. Stay in there kid.

Shell, another newcomer, made an auspicious debut before the local populace. He took care of everything that came his way and generally handled himself like a polished performer.

Brick Mason looks like eight million dollars in the outfield, but at third he—well, never mind about third. We repeat, reiterate, maintain and declare that Mason sure looks natural in center.

I've run out of nice things to say about Jess (Blind Tom) Price. You never heard a single solitary complaint, did you? You won't either, as long as Sightless Sir Timothy is on the job. Yes sir, when Blind Tom is out there you can depend on seeing a ball game. You're entirely welcome, Tom. 'Sal'rite kid.
