Also Condensed Statement of Entire System For First Six Months Of Year 1923 Show Loss.

A recent statement in The Sweetwater Reporter under an Austin date line to the effect that the "Orient Made Money In June" was an error, according to a communication from E. H. Shauler, Acting Manager of the Orient system at Wichita, Kansas, which states that the Orient lost money every month this year so far.

"Your subscribers may get the idea that the Orient is making a net earning and for that reason, I have prepared a condensed statement of the operation for the first six months of this year which I am enclosing and from which it will be noted that the line in Texas shows a deficit for each month," Mr. Shauler writes.

"The gross earnings for the Texas line for June was $144,924, and the total operating expenses was $159,988, or a deficit of $15,064."

According to the attached report referred to above, the deficit in June was the lowest of any month since January on the Texas line of the Orient railroad. The condensed statement for this line follows:

ENGLAND AND FRANCE AT ODDS

England Sends France Stiff Note Suggesting Occupation of Ruhr Illegal—Break Feared.

By The United Press.
With the downfall of the Cuno government in Germany and the publication of new correspondence between the allies and especially with premier Poincare of France, the reparations question became decidedly more acute over the week end.

In anticipation of a definite break between France and Great Britain, the French franc fell to the lowest point in its history, or 17.95 to the dollar.

From Hanover, Germany comes reports of new and fatal rioting in which 12 were killed and 50 were injured.

The resignation of Cuno was forced by the Socialists who supported the Communists in a vote of lack of confidence.

Herr Spersmann, a leader of the Volk Partei, is forming a ministry. Great Britain sprung a sensation when a note from her to the Allies in which the legality of the occupation of the Ruhr was flatly questioned was published.

Rumors of a definite break between her and France and Belgium are not lacking.

Berlin circles believe that Stresemann will continue the policy of passive resistance and will, if anything, favor intensified Ruhr resistance to France.

E. C. Brand Says Hamlin Cotton Crop Very Promising This Year.

Hamlin is preparing to gin at least 20,000 bales of cotton this year, according to E. C. Brand, who spent Sunday in Sweetwater. The crop around Hamlin is in fine shape he says, and with larger acreage, a much larger crop is expected to be ginned.

Continued dry weather is causing the cotton to open fairly early and first bales are being reported in San Angelo, Abilene and other nearby counties. The higher altitude around Sweetwater is apparently delaying the crop in this immediate vicinity, however.

TWO MEN FINED.

Two men were tried in Corporation Court Sunday morning before Judge Yantis on charges of drunkenness and vagrancy, respectively. Both were found guilty and fined $12.50 in each case.

COGHLAN SPEAKS

Advises Farmers of Importance of Co-Operative Cotton Marketing—Association is Necessary

E. R. Coghlan, of Ennis, Texas, spoke to a large number of Nolan County farmers at the auditorium of the Nolan County Court House Monday afternoon, in the interest of the Cotton Co-Operative Marketing Association.

In a short talk in which he told of the work, Mr. Coghlan was doing and the importance of the association, George Lackey of Sweetwater introduced the speaker of the afternoon.

"Nearly 60 per cent of the cotton in this county," declared Mr. Lackey, "does not go through the association. As long as this is the case, the system will not render the help to Nolan County farmers that it should."

Mr. Coghlan is a farmer himself, and understands from experience the situation faced by the farmer. He has studied the Cooperative Marketing system from all standpoints and is heartily in favor of the movement. He has talked the matter over with men who are in a position to know, with bankers, merchants, wholesale merchants, with farmers and cotton men and after a close study of the situation he has thrown himself into the work or organizing and in getting members for the association.

"It is a pleasure for me to talk to farmers in their own interest," said Mr. Coghlan, "because the farmer's interests are my interests."

"If the farmers and farm life succeed," he continued, "they will have to organize their business like other businesses are organized."

In speaking of the old system of marketing, Mr. Coghlan declared that he was willing for the banker to have the exchange for handling the cotton, willing for the broker to have his commission, but that he "hated to see seven or eight get their commission and money that belongs to me."

"The way I see it from a farmer's view point, is that the spinners are the ones that want my cotton, and the straightest path to the spinner is the way I want my cotton to go," he continued.

"I got $23.50 more per bale for my cotton when sold through the organization. What went with the $23.50 the non-members didn't get? O small part of it went to the local buyers, part to the bankers, but the bulk went to the cotton brokers in the big cotton centers and helped in making them millionaires."

In concluding his talk, Mr. Coghlan said:

"Co-operative marketing is as sure to succeed as times goes on. There are too many in it for it to fail. It is your organization and it will grow in proportion to the way you want it to grow."

After the talk by Mr. Coghlan, Mr. Lackey announced the opening of a membership drive and urged that the farmers present to work for new members for the organization. After the meeting, many of the farmers remained to talk with Mr. Coghlan of the marketing system and other farm matters.

Mrs. M. L. Turney and son, M. L. Jr., of Alpine, are vacationing in Sweetwater this month with Mrs. Turney's sister, Mrs. P. B. Neblett, Mrs. Turney's husband, Dr. M. L. Turney, is taking a post graduate course in the laboratory of surgical technique in Chicago.

SELECTING SEED VERY IMPORTANT

County Farm Agent Calvert Advises That Plants Which Have Withstood Local Condition Best.

GIN RUM OF SEED IS NOT GOOD

Much Easier to Select Proper Seed From Plants In Field Which Show Vigorous Growth Told.

Careful selection of seed is very essential, according to County Agent Calvert, who says:

"The greatest teacher the world ever knew, spoke a truth that has been demonstrated over and over again.

"Whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

"If we sow mixed seed, or seed of different type, the yield will vary in quality and quantity. When practiced from year to year, the yield becomes less in both respects. Yet, the cost of production is the same. This practice of planting seed of poor quality and of low germination is one element of expense, and really a loss, can be easily eliminated. The proof of this is to be found in many fields in Nolan and Fisher Counties planted to field selected mho and kafir seed. Fields planted to selected seed from the fields can be distinguished from those planted to seed in the crib by the uniformity of height of the stalks, while fields planted to crib selected seed vary in height, size or heads, irregularity in maturing, and rather uncertainty in yield.

"In the selection of cotton seed for planting, bolls on the ends of the limbs and on top of the stalks should be avoided. Select only from the center of the stalk, and only from stalks that closely approach the ideal, the kind we would have our entire crop like. The ideal type can be found by a study of the individual plants, observing the leaf formation, the limbs, joints of limbs, method of fruiting, and the shape of bolls. Seed selected from the ideal plants have the tendency to reproduce those characteristics in the new crop.

"The improvements to be expected in the new crop will be an increased yield, better staple, and the farmer will have a consciousness of achievement that is inspiring and gratifying. We have only begun farming and have not made much progress until we select from the fields our planting seed. The dry weather now prevailing reveals those plants having the greatest plant vigor, the weakly ones show wilt as the effect of the weather. The survival of the fittest is a law that prevails in the plant kingdom. Observe it, and perpetuate the best, should be the goal of every cotton producer. Home-grown seed will produce better than seed produced in lower altitudes. The man who selects your planting seed by culling gin run seed takes your money, but does not give you quality you can get when you select your seed in your own field. This man is a high salaried man, and the average farmer cannot afford to keep him on his pay roll. If you want anything done well, do it yourself, is the only safe rule and practice. Study closely the cotton crop, and from those plants showing prolificness, vigor and uniformity of type select planting seed for a seed patch at least. From this seed patch, select seed for a seed patch the following year and save the seed from the patch for the main crop another year. The rewards will be ample, the results gratifying, and farm practice greatly improved."

LUBBOCK AND THE TECH SCHOOL.

(From The Lubbock Avalanche)
There is much being said about the Tech School and about Lubbock. It is often referred to as a Lubbock school. This is a mistake, and Lubbock does not claim it as such. Lubbock fought for the school to be located on the South Plains, and while her committee worked for the location of the school at Lubbock, still she did not confine her information in her brief to Lubbock county alone, nor did she endeavor to detract from other plains towns.
We do not want to think of it as a Lubbock institution and our people should not refer to it as a Lubbock school. It is a state institution. It was intended to represent the large territory west of the 98th meridian, which is a tremendously large area, and which is peculiarly different in many respects to any other section of the state. It is a territory that is developing rapidly, and there will be many thousands of people make their homes in that section within the next few years, and the school will be here ready to take care of the rising generation, and fulfill a need of the

FOR CONSTIPATION

Black-Draught Recommended by an Arkansas Farmer Who Has Used It, When Needed, for 25 Years.

Hatfield, Ark.—Mr. G. W. Parsons, a well-known farmer on Route 1, this place, says: "I keep Black-Draught in my home all the time. It is the best all-around medicine I have ever found for the liver and for constipation. We began using it 25 or more years ago and have used it whenever needed since. I have never found any other medicine as good for constipation, and that was what I suffered with till I began using Black-Draught. Black-Draught corrected this condition, and now we use it for the liver and for indigestion—a tight and sluggish feeling after meals, for bad taste in the mouth and sour stomach.
"My wife uses it for headache and biliousness. It sets on our shelf and we don't let it get out. It has been a great help to us. I believe a great deal of sickness is caused by hurried eating and constipation, and Black-Draught, if taken right, will correct this condition."

Lubbock is going to back up this school in every way possible. Lubbock is going to try to prove to every town in the state that Lubbock was

Chesterfield

CIGARETTES

"That's no fish story!
It's the best cigarette
I ever tasted."

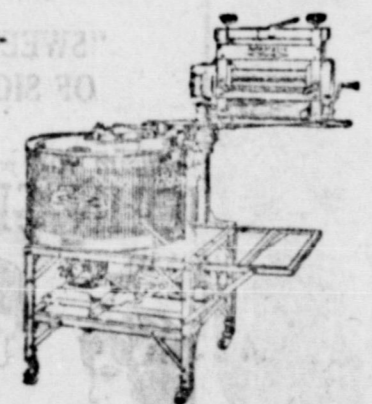

Taste is a matter of tobacco quality

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality (and hence of better taste) than in any other cigarette at the price.

The New Auto Matic Washer

You Use An AUTOMATIC Washer
—It's Scientific Construction
Makes It Doubly Valuable

In the New Model AUTOMATIC Electric Washer an entirely new method of operating the "Dolly" or clothes agitator has been perfected.

Dolly is operated direct from an upright drive shaft which runs wringer, thereby eliminating those parts usually attached to the side of tub. The AUTOMATIC Copper Tub is therefore neater and stronger, and lid more convenient to handle because there are no parts to raise before opening it.
