VOLUME 60—NO. 37

BAIRD, CALLAHAN COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1947

MARVIN HUNTER, Jr., Editor

James F. Dyer Rites Friday

James Franklin Dyer, prominent Baird ranchman, passed away at the home of his son, A. E. (Colonel) Dyer at 3:15 o'clock Thursday morning, after suffering ill health for the past five years. His condition became critical a week ago. Services will be held this afternoon (Friday) at 3:30 o'clock at the Baird Church of Christ with J. C. Strickland, local minister, officiating. Interment will be in Ross cemetery beside the grave of his wife who preceded him in death, October 8, 1945. Wylie Funeral Home will direct the arrangements.

Born in Itawamba county, Mississippi, on May 18, 1862, Mr. Dyer was 85 years of age at his death. He came to Callahan county 41 years ago. In the 1880's, he worked for the Blocker Cattle Company putting trail brands on their cattle before they were started on the long trek up the trail to northern markets. Although he never went up the trail, he participated in that historical fete as a cowboy at this end of the line. Starting as a cowboy, he became one of Callahan county's leading ranchmen and was a prominent figure throughout this section of the state. He was president of the First National Bank of Baird for fifteen years.

Survivors include one son, A. E. (Colonel) Dyer; five grand children, Mrs. Marion Windham, Miss Ruth Dyer, A. E. Dyer, Jr., James Dyer, and Miss Gayle Dyer; and one great grandson, all of Baird.

Pallbearers are Tommie Windham, Lee Ivey, Ed Lambert, Slim Dungan, Homer Price, John Berry, Sam Gilliland and W. L. Ray.

PRESERVATION OF 'REBEL YELLS' REQUESTED

A Kentucky historian has called on Boyce House, Fort Worth author, to aid in preserving, if possible, the "rebel yell" for future generations.

I. Hardin, librarian of the Kentucky Historical Society, upon reading House's newest book, "Cub Reporter," wrote:

"One point in the book interested me so much that I am taking the liberty of writing you about it—for information if you can give it, and that is the 'rebel yell.'

"All my life I have heard of the rebel yell but I have never heard it. Since you heard the streets of Memphis ringing with it in 1909, I wonder if you know what it is. Do you know if it has ever been reproduced, on a record, for instance? If it hasn't, it certainly should be."

House says that he does not know of any such recording ever having been made. He was a boy at the time of the Memphis Confederate reunion, which the only occasion he ever heard the famous cry. He recalls vividly the many thousands of spectators and the many marching veterans:

"Suddenly, one or two would give the yell and it would be taken up from rank to rank all along the line. But how can you describe a sound? It was not a word nor a cheer nor was it similar to what I conceive the Indian war whoop to have been, high and shrill.

"It was a yell which continued for several seconds—the spontaneous expression of strong men exalting in their strength; of brave men, thrilling with the excitement of the charge."

Baird Citizens Express Views on Water Situation

A Star reporter asked citizens he met on the street yesterday what they thought of the water problem in Baird, and although only a few were interviewed, we have collected a cross section of ideas that the citizenship might take as food for thought on the subject. We gave members of the city council a special invitation to express their views, and in response Councilman E. L. Woodley wrote the following:

"In view of the fact that Baird has some $90,000.00 water system bonds outstanding and the tax rate being limited to $1.50 on the hundred dollar valuation, it is practically impossible to vote not to exceed $50,000.00 additional water system bonds, so far no one has been found that will finance a balance of $250,000.00 in revenue bonds to make up a total issue of $300,000.00 estimate of the cost of ample, assured water supply, by constructing a lake on Mexia creek.

"This lake can be financed by creating a water District by extending the City limits or creating a water District to take in several miles of additional territory surrounding Baird. "It is my opinion that this lake can be constructed with a property valuation of $1,000,000 and a tax rate of $2.00 per hundred dollar valuation.

"I believe a water rate should be only sufficient to meet the operating cost, possibly $1.00 for the first 2,000 gallons, $1.00 for the next 3,000 gallons and $1.00 for the next 4,000 gallons, which would be $3.00 for 9,000 gallons and after 9,000 a rate of 10¢ per 1,000 gallons. I believe with low water rates, the enhanced value of all property will more than offset the necessary property tax.

"Property values will certainly decline with a situation as Baird has had to put up with all along. Now if Baird is to be attractive and a good place to live, the only way to do it is to pour the water on the yards and gardens, by having water in abun-

FIRST DAUGHTER OF CALLAHAN COUNTY

Mrs. Jane Morgan Looper

The Star staff photographer made the above portrait of Mrs. Jane Morgan Looper when she came here from Las Animas, Colorado, to attend the Callahan County Old Settlers Reunion in August. Mrs. Looper, born in this county April 23, 1877, captured the prize for being the Oldest Native Daughter. This was her first time to attend the old settlers reunion, although she has been back a number of times since she married and left here in 1898. The grand time she had and the many courtesies she received at the hands of her old friends has caused her to begin planning now to come back again next year. While here she was the guest of Fannie Maltby Price. She was accompanied to Baird by her husband, who also enjoyed the hospitality of Callahan county people.

Donald Melton of Houston visited his family during the weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Zolon Melton of Coleman visited Misses Lorena and Myrtle Gunn Friday.

R. H. Barr resigned his position as assistant cashier of the First National Bank of Baird to accept employment with the National Banking Department as assistant bank examiner. Mr. Barr had been employed at the local bank for two years. He came to Baird from Cross Plains where he was reared.

Mrs. Viva Tucker was promoted to 2nd teller and Miss Sarah Parks became a teller. Fred Goble was employed as a beginner at the bank recently.

New Students

As the school term opened this year, we had a number of new students. They are freshmen: Sarah Hoggat of Arizona, Ruth Lofton of Oplin, Seleta Herring of Burkett. A new comer to the senior class is Douglas Wagner. Douglas was a former student of B.H.S., but the past year attended Schreiner Institute. Of course the freshmen were new to B.H.S. The boys were welcomed by a trip through the belt line while the girls wore their dresses backwards and shined upperclassmen's shoes.

Seriously, though, we do welcome the freshmen to B. H. S. After all, we were all freshmen once.

Watch Beauty Care During Housecleaning

DON'T forget beauty care during housecleaning. Jean Gray advises homemakers in an article in nationally-circulated Capper's Farmer.

"Too often good natures as well as rooms are upset by taking out rugs and moving furniture," she writes. "The family will be happier in the cleaning confusion if you remain unruffled and well groomed. And feeling neat will keep your spirits high as you attack the grime!

"Even though it may be old, your cleaning dress can be clean, neat and mended. Wear an apron or smock that can be whisked off to reveal a clean dress.

"Protect your skin from dirt by applying a powder base before starting to work. After dusty duties, wash vigorously with a turkish washcloth or complexion brush—this in addition to usual morning and evening washing.

"Benefit from the exercise of cleaning. When dusting and making beds, stretch your middle, keep it tense. This keeps muscles firm. When sweeping or running the vacuum, keep shoulders back and don't bend in the middle. Carrying your body straight and tall is slenderizing since much waist thickness is slump. If you get tired, lie down for 15 minutes with your feet on a couple of pillows."

BUSY WOMEN APPRECIATE OUR SERVICE

Most homes have too little storage space. Crowded, stuffy closets, bulging with unneeded summer garments are a constant worry and a daily source of irritation. Clean clothes take less space . . . mean less work. No wonder that busy women appreciate the service we render.

Can Your Home "Measure Up" to modern standards of Convenience and Comfort?

to modern standards of Convenience and Comfort?

MODERN people don't want old-fashioned transportation—they want 1947 automobiles. Modern people are like that, too, about their homes. They want them to "measure up" to 1947 standards of convenience and comfort. But many a lovely-looking home has grown "old before its time."

Does your home measure up? Only the all-electric home can meet today's standards. With electric appliances, the last word in cleanliness, convenience, and safety, you can make your home "measure up." A modern home deserves modern electric living.

Electric service is a bargain! Living costs continue to increase, yet the cost of a kilowatt hour of service to residential users has decreased one-third in the last 14 years.

COAST-TO-COAST TRAINS
IN FUTURE PICTURE

NEW YORK, Sept. 6—Coast-to-coast trains are definitely in the future transportation picture despite the seriousness of current obstacles.

Highest hurdle to be surmounted is the railroads' lack of adequate equipment to sustain such service.

Relatively few new cars of the type needed for transcontinental trains have been delivered. Until these come in volume, and none will predict just when that will be, don't look for through trains across the continent.

Operating problems—the meshing of schedules east and west of the Chicago and St. Louis gateways, provisions for motive power and train crews—can be met with less difficulty.

Present through service between the coasts is limited to individual cars operating by way of Chicago, west of which the lines fan out and offer the traveler a variety of routes.

When transcontinental trains are scheduled, many of them will follow the Chicago course. But at least one new route has been listed as a probability.

Pennsylvania Railroad officials said consideration had been given to the operation of a through train over its line to St. Louis, thence over the Missouri Pacific and Texas & Pacific through Ft. Worth to El Paso and Southern Pacific to Los Angeles. They stressed, however, that this was one of many possibilities and that there was no near prospect of its establishment.

Such a route, which includes that used by the "Sunshine Special" in hauling through cars between the East and a number of Texas cities, would amount to slightly less than 3,300 miles, New York to Los Angeles. Most of the through cars now operated cover from 3,100 to more than 3,400 miles in crossing the continent.

HEALTH FOR ALL

What You Can Do About Polio

During late summer parents are apt to think with dread of the possibility that poliomyelitis, or, as it is often called, infantile paralysis, may strike and cripple their children. Although there is as yet no definite means of prevention and cure, there are measures parents can take to help ward off the disease. By keeping close watch over children during late summer and early fall, when polio is at its peak, any cases that develop may be discovered in the early stages so that recent advances in treatment can be most successfully applied.

The disease is caused by a virus so small it cannot be seen through an ordinary microscope. The virus attacks the nerve cells that control the body's muscles, most commonly those of the legs and arms. It may weaken them or it may cause paralysis. Despite its name, infantile paralysis may strike older age groups and may cripple adults as well as children. The majority of people affected by polio never suffer from weakened muscles or paralysis. Of those whose muscles are paralyzed, more than half recover without serious after-effects.

Recent developments in treatment, plus the fact that they are now more generally available to victims of the disease, have done much to allay fear of infantile paralysis. The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, through its national office in New York and county chapters throughout the United States, is ready to assist communities where outbreaks occur and to help individuals who get the disease.

A polio outbreak is a time for parents to keep their heads. Panic never prevented or cured a disease. During an outbreak, children should be kept out of crowds and away from polio patients. They should be kept away from persons who have just come from an epidemic area.

Since people who are over-tired are more apt to get the disease, it is well to see that children get plenty of rest and do not exercise too hard. It is usually wise to postpone tonsil and adenoid operations until after the polio season is over.

Since flies may be carriers of infection, waste and uncovered garbage should be eliminated from all communities. Sewage must be properly treated. Every effort should be made to protect food from flies and other insects. Children should be kept away from bathing places polluted by sewage or other filth.

During the infantile paralysis "season" children should be watched carefully for any symptoms of illness. A headache, a cold, slight fever, sore throat, or an upset stomach may indicate the onset of polio or any one of a number of childhood diseases. If any of these symptoms appear, a doctor should be called at once. The important thing is to get the patient under a doctor's care so that, if the illness is serious, the best treatment can be given promptly.

Further information about infantile paralysis and its treatment may be obtained from local chapters of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis or from the national office, 120 Broadway, New York 5, N. Y.

In the next article malaria will be discussed.

RENOVATE YOUR LAWN

Has your lawn failed to come up to your expectations this summer?

If so, there's something you can do about it now, say Extension horticulturists at A. and M. College.

Filling in the low spots to make mowing easier is a good September lawn job. And if there are spots where your grass hasn't grown well because poor lawn grasses like Dallis or smut grass have crowded it out, you can dig those grasses out, and fill in the holes when you do your smoothing job. And while you're at it, you can make yourself a nice green winter lawn by sowing two pounds of Italian rye grass over 100 square feet of lawn area. Just scatter the rye grass seed over the surface of the lawn and cover it lightly with rich loam soil.

In some localities in Texas, say the horticulturists, San Augustine grass has been damaged by a disease known as brown patch. Areas several feet in diameter turn brown, the grass looks like it is dying out and the general appearance of the lawn is spoiled. A pound of seed disinfectant mixed in 8 gallons of water applied to the browned areas ought to clear up the trouble. A few days later, follow up with an application of commercial fertilizer, one pound to 100 square feet. Best fertilizing time is late evening, when you can sprinkle the area and wash the fertilizer down into the soil.

UNITED STRENGTH

Combination main dishes offer a two way economy, especially important for low cost meals when food costs are up. Such combinations as macaroni and cheese, spaghetti and meat sauce, rice and meat stew, or creamed eggs on toast are familiar examples.

The economy in such dishes is that the inexpensive cereal foods stretch the meat, cheese or eggs and make them go farther in serving the family. A more important economy, however, is the other way around, the meat, eggs, milk, or cheese stretch or build-up the nutritive value of the cereal foods.

The protein in grains or cereals is not complete. To be fully useful for growth and body repair, grain protein can be reinforced with animal protein. Therefore, if cereal foods, such as, bread, flour and rice are to be used to the best advantage in the diet, thrifty housewives will combine them with at least a little milk, cheese, meat or egg. In the union there is added strength and added flavor.

Dried skim milk at current prices is the cheapest food and one of the best for building up cereal protein.

MILK AFTER FIFTY

A pint of milk a day is a must if older people are to keep healthy and active. Men and women in their fifties, sixties, and seventies often neglect milk in their diets, a neglect that deprives bones of necessary minerals.

To help furnish enough calcium, protein and phosphorus for the proper upkeep of their bodies, a daily pint of milk is the minimum. A condition of de-mineralization of the skeleton may come from too little calcium in the diet and often leads to broken bones in later years. Some investigators have suggested that many a fall, which supposedly results in a bone break, is actually due to weakened bones which break and cause the person to fall.

Relatively little is known of the nutritional needs of the older age group. Recent studies do show that older people have not lost their ability to store calcium and other minerals and that their diets should include milk.

BE READY FOR BERRIES

Most of us don't think about planting strawberries until October, but horticulturists of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service are thinking about it now, and saying that the battle to grow strawberries is largely won through soil preparation before the plants are set out.

Here's how they do it. First, they take care of drainage, to be sure that water won't stand around the plants during the winter when they are growing. Then there's the question of soil fertility. Two or three hundred pounds of compost or ripe barn lot fertilizer to each 100 feet of row space takes care of that fertility. Six to eight pounds of 5-10-5 commercial fertilizer in that 100 feet of row will improve your chances. Mix these materials in the soil and plow it into beds, 24 to 30 inches apart. Leave the beds in this shape until just before you're about ready to plant, when you will want to grab a rake and smooth them off on top so they'll be about a foot wide. Then your plants will go into moist soil.

If you're placing your orders for October delivery, here are some order tips. Take about one plant for each foot of row. For central and East Texas, try Blakemore variety, for West Texas, either the Gem or the Mastodon varieties is a smart choice.

And if you're carrying over a planting of old berries, remember that September is the month to do your re-fertilizing and thinning. Leave the most vigorous plants for late winter and early spring production.

'ANGEL AND THE BADMAN' EXCITING ENTERTAINMENT

John Wayne, the screen's ranking romantic screen star, has chosen well his first subject as a producer. Republic's "Angel and the Badman," which comes to the Plaza Theatre, Sept. 21, reveals the rangy, rugged Wayne in a characterization equally appealing to male and female fans.

After starring in scores of outdoor epics for Republic and other producers, Wayne decided to try his hand at producing for himself. Naturally, his choice was an action drama with a western background, distinguished, however, by a unique locc theme. Gail Russell was selected as the object of his affections, the long-time action favorite Bruce Cabot as the villain, Irene Rich as Gail's mother, and the inimitable Harry Carey as the lovable marshal, "Wistful."

The action in "Angel and the Badman," revolves around a tough man of the West, played by Wayne, and a simple Quaker girl, played by Gail Russell. It is an unusual and intriguing romance both because of the contrasting personalities and the Quaker girl frankly and openly admits her love for him.

For dramatic lights and shadings, for moments of hilarious comedy and real suspense, John Wayne has never had a more impressive vehicle. The director and author of the screen play, James E. Grant of "Boom Town" fame, has written a story to equal the roaring action of that epic western spectacle.

"Angel and the Badman" possesses all the ingredients to make it top movie fare throughout the country. As John Wayne's first production, it heralds the arrival of another great producer to Hollywood's distinguished legion.

ATTEND 4-H ROUND-UP

Attending the 4-H Club Round-Up at College Station on the 3rd, 4th and 5th of September were Johnny McKee and R. G. Farmer from Eula. They were accompanied by Fred Farmer, adult leader for the Eula 4-H Club.

The main topic of the meeting was the improvement of county 4-H Clubs, which was carried out by group discussions.

Besides the planned program the boys from Callahan county were shown about A. and M. College campus. They went through several of the buildings, visited the beef barns, horse barns, the dairy, sheep barns, the poultry and swine farms.

There was an estimated 1200 boys, girls, and adult leaders present on the A. and M. campus for the 3 days.

The boys were selected on their achievement in 4-H Club work and had to be over 14 years old. The trip is one of the rewards for good 4-H Club work.

The 2nd and 3rd of September were taken up for showing the county agents around. The group was addressed by President Gibb Gilchrist, D. W. Williams, Vice-President of Agriculture, Dr. Lewis, head of the Experiment Stations, and Dr. Trotter, Director of the Extension Service, on the future plans of their respective departments.

The agents were shown new developments in farming equipment and were able to witness the machines in action on the newly acquired A. and M. Foundation Farm where these new machines are tested for adaptability to farming in this mechanized farming world. They also saw several of the grass demonstration plots, and new spray machines for controlling cattle insects. At present, the price of the new equipment is prohibitive, and until they have been tried and tested and put in mass production, they won't be available to farmers.
