SCIENCE

The voice of president Coolidge floated out over the Court House Square of Sweetwater today. President Coolidge was not in Sweetwater. He was addressing Congress, delivering his annual message. Microphones placed in the halls of Congress picked up the sound waves, carried them on copper wires to Dallas. There they were sent out into the ether by the Dallas News and picked up here by the Sweetwater Vulcanizing Co. radio with loud speaker. Other stations likewise broadcasted his message, so that even as he spoke, his message was carried to the uttermost confines of this continent. It is the first time in history this has ever been done. Does the world move?

Amarillo is planning an advertising campaign to call attention to the many advantages of life on the Plains. One of the best assets Amarillo has, claims the Evening Post of that place, is its climate. The Post laments the practice of imputing all sorts of bad weather to Amarillo. It does not like the rumor that there is nothing between Amarillo and the north pole but a barbed-wire fence. Of course, it does get chilly at Amarillo at times, but it probably never gets as cold there as it does in the immediate vicinity of the Pole.—Ablene Reporter

On a local Hamberger Stand are the words "Pop as cold as Amarillo," and every Amarilloan passing through shakes his fist at it.

Mrs. Royal Headrick is not resting well today, following serious complications which developed Tuesday. She has been ill nine weeks with typhoid fever.

Brevities

"I have never seen conditions around Sylvester so prosperous," said C. M. Webb after a three week's visit to his farm there. He is also president of the Sylvester State Bank. Mr. Webb said that building was going on at an unprecedented rate. In one day one lumber yard sold 25 loads of lumber for building purposes to farmers who are improving their homes and other buildings. More money is on deposit at the bank of which Mr. Webb is president than ever before, not excepting 1919. Many farms have been sold from the Newman ranch and many new settlers are going in.

The large steam shovel at work reducing the grade on the T-P west of town has been moved to the east end of the cut and is now located just outside the city. It is making rapid progress with the work.

Three empty freight cars took a notion to go cross ways of the T-P west of Kent and No. 6 was delayed about six hours as the result.

Speeding Up.—Efficiency Expert (to Central)—"Would you mind if I gave you the number all five times at once."

Several, in Fact—like—"What do you think of Ford as a Presidential possibility?"

Mike—"Fine. He has the makings of another Lincoln."

Breaking the News.—"Your daughter has promised to marry me. Will you forgive me for taking her away from you?"

"Forgive you! Why that's what the party was for."

Real Appreciation.—"I have just called in to say how much I appreciate your treatment, Doctor."

"But I am not your doctor, young man!"

"No. But you were my old uncle's, and I am his heir."

'Tis Better Thus.—Burroughs—"I asked you for a loan of $10. This is only five."

Lender—"I know it is, but that's the fairest way—you lose five and I lose five."

S-s-h-h!—What is this Almanac de Gotha? Any jokes in it?
"Plenty, my boy."

A Pious Hope.—Superintendent of Sunday School (whose enthusiasm runs toward regular attendance)—"Out of the entire school, only one pupil is absent today—little Doris Smith—let us hope that she is ill."

Diplomacy.—Hubby—"Really, Ethel, seven pounds for a hat is the height of extravagance."

Wife—"Well my dear, I simply have to look nice when I am with you; you're so distinguished-looking."

Two weeks ago Uncle "Ben Rogers suggested the organization of a Building and Loan Association here. So far nothing has been done about it that we have heard of, and we do not know whether anything can be done about it or not, but we do know that such associations have been the secret of the growth of some of the cities and towns of Texas. In Dallas there are now eight such associations with a capital of more than $5,000,000, composed of many of the leading business and professional men of the city. Literally thousands of men have been encouraged to save their wages or salaries and have been enabled to build homes by these associations. They are smaller cities nearer by that likewise owe their rapid growth in large measure to such associations. Tahoka certainly needs more residences. If it is possible for such an association to be organized here we feel that it would be a great boon to the town. We wonder what can be done about it.—E. I. Hill in Lynn County News.

Billy Beam, Lone Star Theatre manager, is in Dallas on business.

It looks like the sheepman is going to starve. Last year a man bought a flock of several hundred ewes at $3.50 per head. In the following March these ewes had lambs. In May he sheared an average of $3.50 worth of wool from each ewe. In August he sold the lambs for $5 per head. The gross earning of those ewes averaged $8.50 per head. He paid no taxes on either the wool or the lambs. He paid no pasture on the lambs. It looks like the sheepman is going (nit) to starve. That is one reason why so many of Sterling sheepmen are hawking for the new school building.—Sterling City News Record.

EPISCOPAL AUXILIARY

The Episcopal ladies enjoyed a business and social meeting Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Henry Hill on Crane Street.

Work was planned for the coming months and Christmas celebrations were discussed. The meeting closed when Mrs. Hill brought forward a course of refreshments. The next meeting will be held Dec. 17th at the home of Mrs. J. C. Babb.

REASONS

The value and service of the Hughes Electric Hotpoint Range to the housewife are summed up in five major points

1. The burdensome supply of fuel is eliminated. There is no carrying in of coal or wood. There is no ash disposal
2. The disagreeable task of early morning fire building is disposed of. What a pleasure it is to have breakfast cooked the Hughes Hotpoint Way.
3. Smoky kitchens, the result of inefficient stoves, is eliminated. Not only is the smoky kitchen made a worry of the past, but the choking fumes as the result of starting fires are forgotten.
4. There is no smoked kitchen utensils.
5. Special range rates makes this household necessity economical.

What the World Is Doing

AS SEEN BY POPULAR MECHANICS MAGAZINE

Hair Nets So Fine Machines Can't Make Them

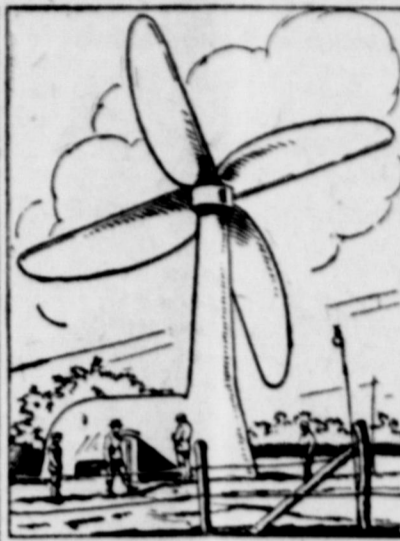

Owing to the fine texture of human hair and the shortness of the strands, no machine has been invented that can knit delicate hair nets, so they must all be made by hand, says an eastern manufacturer. More than 95 per cent of the world's supply of this article is produced in the native homes of northern China, from where the hair is first shipped to the United States to be dyed and made sanitary by chemical process. It is then returned for knitting into nets. The strands are tied end to end to form one long string. This is wound on a shuttle which is worked round a bamboo stick or bodkin. The knots are fastened similar to those in fish nets and hammocks, and require skill created by years of practice. One net an hour is considered to be a good average for the ordinary worker.

Horses in Hospital Treated on Operating Table

Injured horses and those needing medical attention receive careful treatment from doctors in an animal hospital maintained by an eastern city. Everything the sick beast needs to repair his health, from fresh air to a surgical operation, can be provided at the "rest farm." When broken bones or wounds are to be treated, the horse is strapped to an operating table while the veterinary performs his work. After the operation the table is moved to a specially constructed stall where the "patient" is again placed on his feet.

Electricity from Windmill Takes Place of Coal

To generate electricity cheaply without using coal, because of a fuel scarcity and its consequent high cost, a European inventor has built a windmill that charges storage batteries. It is operating so successfully he is making eleven more. Mounted on a tower about 50 feet in height are big propellers that generate 40 horsepower in a moderate breeze and 70 in a strong wind. In a roundhouse on the ground, connected with the top by a shaft, are the generator and batteries.

Radio Receiver Held on Ear Without Head Bridles

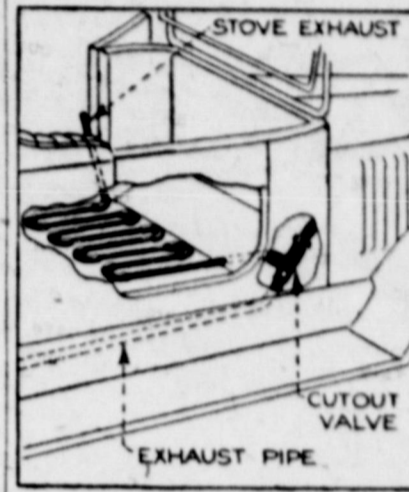

Fitting over the ear, a radio receiver is being made in Europe that does away with head bridles. It allows greater freedom of movement, yet is not uncomfortable, since its light weight is evenly distributed. As the ear is entirely inclosed in the device, with a cushion of air between it and the diaphragm, external noises are shut out, and voices sound more natural, and the wearer can hear more distinctly. Sets of two are also being turned out.

Earth's Age Is "Set" at Two or Three Billion Years

After long investigation, scientists have announced that the earth has been in about its present state for two or three billion years. Geological measurements previously made were all lost in a maze of time before they had traced the history of the planet beyond 100,000,000 years. The present discovery rests on the rate by which radio-active substances change form. These materials are not permanent, but in time turn into lead.

Exhaust-Gas Cook Stove for the Tourist

When equipped with a stove of the kind shown, the tourist does not have to worry about fuel for his stove, as his gasoline is also his fuel supply. The whole apparatus consists of pipe and fittings arranged so that it can be connected to the exhaust pipe of an automobile. The stove is made of several short lengths of pipe connected together by return elbows to form a hot plate. A cutout valve is inserted in the exhaust pipe at the point shown so that the stove can readily be attached and detached. It is, of course, necessary to provide a thick sheet of asbestos between the hotplate and the floorboards to prevent burning the latter.

California Adopts Gay Christmas Berry

LOYAL to its own products, California has adopted the "Christmas berry" as its holly, and from some points of similarity it makes a very good substitute for the well-known holly of the eastern states.

The California holly—Christmas berry—today—is not very similar to the regular holly in structure, but the tint of the leaves and of the berries approximates the colors afforded by the regular sort.

The leaves of the California holly are not of the form of holly leaves, but the berries easily suggest the regular species. To make the effect seem more real, some florists of coast cities mix the berries of the California holly with the prickly foliage of the live oak.

The shrubs of the California holly grow 4 to 25 feet tall, and the flowers appear in July and August, and the berries, which grow in large clusters similar to cherries, are ripe by Thanksgiving and remain on the trees for some time; although they do not keep well after being plucked.

The plant is common in most of the southern half of the state, and at Christmas time the rich cardinal berries contrasted with the full green of the foliage adds a gay note to the florists' windows and the baskets of the street vendors.

The berries have a rather pleasant taste, somewhat acid and astringent, and are "sometimes eaten by the Indians with great relish," according to Mary Elizabeth Parsons Cunningham, in "Wild Flowers of California."

Such has been the wild scramble for California holly at Christmas times in recent years that it has been necessary to protect the shrubs by law, it now being a misdemeanor to gather the holly in the hills and along the highways without the permission of the owner of the property. Landowners, however, usually are willing for motor parties to avail themselves of a reasonable supply of the rich red and green decorating material for home use, but dealers are often at a loss to supply the demand at Christmas time.—C. F. Wadsworth.

Mysterious Kindness Bound Up in a Bundle

AFTER the joyous excitement of Christmas Day they all sat about the blazing hearth fire with happy reminiscences and thoughts and called upon the doctor to tell them a story.

"I will," he said, "upon one condition; each one of you must throw a small fagot upon the blaze and tell a story as long as it burns, then I will tell my story."

So they did, and pleasant and laughing interest went round until the turf came to the doctor.

"Well," said he, as he threw a larger fagot into the fire, "my story is not yet a day old, and still it is not a little one, for, as I went my round of calls this morning I was surprised to see a large bundle lying in front of the door of a cottage by the roadside that looked as if it were in need of paint and everything else. Curious to understand the matter, I stopped to investigate it and discovered by a card that was pinned upon the wrapper that the bundle was designed for Mrs. Cafferty. Knocking upon the door, I at last induced the woman herself to open it. Reading the card to her, I lifted the bundle into the room, whereupon she called out in a loud voice: 'Here, you, Mike, Nora, Rose, Timothy, Patrick, Bridget and Kate, come here you spalpeens and see what the leprechauns have brought ye!'

"They came, from above, below, and from all sides they came, and it is many a day since I have seen as much joy as came out of the mysterious kindness that was bound up in the good things of that bundle."

Before they went to bed they voted the doctor's story the best Christmas story of them all.—Christopher G. Hazard.

CHRISTMAS ALONE

A fellow that is far away from his home folks on Christmas day may make an effort to be gay, but doesn't have much luck, says a writer. For though he occupies no chair, across the miles his heart is there, with mother, dad and sis to share the dressing and something in his throat grows tight and makes him dream of home.

THE FIRST CHRISTMAS CAROL

Fear not, for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you; ye shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger.

PACKAGE SALE SUCCESS
West Ward P.T Working For Piano in The School Building

The Package Sale held Tuesday afternoon by the ladies of the Parent-Teachers Association at the West Ward school building was a big success both financially and socially. The ladies gathered in time for the fun to begin at 3:30 o'clock.

A "Fish Pond" had been arranged behind a curtain and as the ladies paid their "fees" they were given a hook and line to go "Fishing" with. Each "fish" was unwrapped eagerly and man peals of laughter were heard as their "catch" was revealed. Each "fish" was worth the purchase price and each "fisherman" was well pleased. When the results were counted they found they had made $9.50, which will go into their new piano fund.

Every one was so well pleased with this sale that talk of holding another early in the New Year has already begun. These ladies have paid a debt of $15 on their play ground equipment left over from last year and have a bout $50 in the bank toward the piano fund.

Mrs. George Parker is president of the Parent-Teachers Association and Miss George Stiles is principal of the West Ward School.
